Sen. Jordan to retire

Will leave politics

BOISE (UPI)—Sen. Len B. Jordan told a news conference today he will not seek re-election to the United States Senate next year.

Jordan said he was making the announcement—14 months ahead of the 1972 elections to allow other Republicans interested in seeking the post to make plans for their campaigns.

He said that his health is good and that he believes at 72, he could be elected to a third term in the Senate. But he said he was bowing to the wishes of his family who want him to retire after this term.

His announcement immediately opened speculation on who in both political parties would seek to succeed Jordan in office.

Among the possible candidates are Idaho's two Republican congressmen, James McClure and Orval Hansen, former Gov. Robert E. Smylie and former House Speaker W.D. Eberle.

Democrats believed interested in running include Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls attorney, and Edward V. Williams, former House minority leader and now administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Smylie was present at the news conference when Jordan announced his retirement. He said he "certainly" was interested in running for the Senate but as yet has "no plans" to do so.

Williams, contacted as he was opening another session of the Prison Investigating Committee he is chairing, said "I'll have to give it some thought."

Jordan's announcement came almost as an after-thought in response to a question near the end of a news conference on which he reasserted his desire for a moratorium on middle Snake River dam building.

In that announcement Jordan said he was opposed both to the Pacific Northwest Power Company's proposal for a dam, and to Oregon Sen. Robert Packwood's bill to make it a national river.

Jordan served in the state legislature in the late 1940's and served one term as governor of Idaho, from 1951-55. He was appointed to the U.S. Senate by then-Governor Smylie in the summer of 1962 to succeed the late Henry C. Dworshak. Later that year he won his first term in the Senate, a four-year term. Jordan was re-elected for six years in 1966.

U. S. eases home credit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government took action today designed to stabilize interest rates on mortgage loans and to make more money available for loans to home buyers.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB), which regulates savings and loan institutions, announced a reduction in the amount of cash those institutions must keep on hand in reserve for emergencies, freeing up to $800 million for lending to home buyers.

At the same time the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (FHLMC), which buys mortgages from S-and-L's, cut its charge which would reduce the cost of a $20,000 mortgage by $200 and also announced it would make $300 million available to buy FHA and VA mortgages.

Preston Martin, FHLMC chairman, told a news conference he was confident the two actions would halt an upward climb in mortgage interest rates.

The upswing started in June and accelerated in July after a sharp decline from historic highs reached during the tight money period of 1969 and 1970. At that time interest rates paid by home buyers were as high as 9 per cent.

Said Martin: "This action and the signal it represents is to say to lenders, 'Go ahead and make your loan. We want you to continue to make funds available to your community.'"

Martin said hundreds of savings and loan associations were "bumping up" against the reserve requirements, causing them to refrain from making additional mortgage loans and putting an additional pressure on interest rates.

He said S-and-L's were underwriting $3 billion worth of mortgages a month, but the growth of recent months had leveled off, threatening to curtail a boom in the housing industry.

On another front it was revealed that an 8 per cent price hike announced by the basic steel industry nine days before the freeze began would not be affected by the freeze. Without the ruling the industry might have been pinched trying to cover the 15 per cent wage increase that went into effect for steelworkers Aug. 1, the government said.

Under the general freeze rules, a firm can not sell its products at prices higher than those at which it was selling a substantial number of its products in the 30 days before the freeze began. Since steel sales were sluggish, it was doubtful the industry would have qualified to extend the price rise into the freeze period.

In California the Western White House announced that the government would drop its case against Texas Gov. Preston Smith, now that Smith has been overruled by his own attorney general in his defiance of the wage freeze.

Dollar hits sudden drop

LONDON (UPI)—A sudden rush to sell dollars for West German marks today broke the quiet calm ruling on currency markets for the past two days and the dollar suffered a sharp new setback. The dollar also dipped on the Dutch, Belgian and Swiss markets.

The Frankfurt money market fixed the official quotation for the day at 3.3960 marks, equivalent to a dollar devaluation of 7.2 per cent compared with the official 3.66 marks rate which existed before the mark was allowed to float on May 10.

Foreign exchange dealers in some British based banks said they detected in this selling what could be the start of big international funds again moving across Europe's currency markets. Such a big money movement would be the moment of truth for President Nixon's new economic policies.

Until the surprise dollar selling bout today in Frankfurt trading volume was modest and markets mainly handled ordinary essential commercial business for day-to-day trading and there had been no sign of big speculation.

A report that the International Monetary Fund (IMF) had produced proposals listing recommended currency revaluations upward against the dollar by European countries and Japan was blamed for today's sudden burst of activity.

The improvement of the mark in value against the dollar was mirrored by the Dutch, Belgian and Swiss currencies which all appreciated against the dollar. These currencies all gained against the British pound which itself held steady against the dollar.

The sharp dollar drop on the Frankfurt market to 3.3960 marks compared with the 3.4250 mark when quotation fixed Monday when money markets reopened after a week's closure to review the situation created by the new U.S. economic policies.

Economic clamps may be extended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said today "some form" of mandatory wage-price controls would be required after expiration of President Nixon's 90-day wage-price-rent freeze on Nov. 12. Stans is a member of the Cost of Living Council which has been given the task by Nixon to work out a long-term anti-inflation program when the present freeze runs out.

Stans' statement followed an announcement by the government of action aimed at stabilizing mortgage interest rates—which were not included in the freeze—and to make more money available for loans to home buyers.

In his assessment of what will follow the 90-day freeze, Stans went beyond Treasury Secretary John B. Connally who said Monday that some measures would have to be taken following the 90-day period.

Connally said it would be "highly unlikely" that there would be no action after the 90-day freeze ended.

"I would think there would have to be more than that," Connally said in the ABC-TV interview, "What it will be, how intensive it will be, how pervasive it will be, what it will be called, I don't know."

Stans held a news conference following a 90-minute session with the heads of 11 business corporations.

"Uniformly—the businessmen

I spoke to are willing to accept some form of continuing controls for the purpose of controlling inflation," he said. "I agree that some sort of control system is necessary after the termination of the 90 days."

Stans said the only two options which could now be ruled out was to do nothing when the freeze ended and to impose "permanent wage and price controls of the World War II type."

The government moves concerning interest rates were announced about two hours before Stans' statements.

Chill morn harbinger of autumn

A chilly touch of autumn tinged the air in the Magic Valley area today as temperatures dipped to freezing at Fairfield and into the upper 30's at other points.

The cool air rolled into southern Idaho in the wake of a cold front which whipped across the state Sunday evening.

Monday's highs were topped by a 75 at Jerome and the U.S. Agricultural Entomology Laboratory at Kimberly reported at 70. Twin Falls' high was 71.

This morning, Fairfield reported 32 degrees, while Castleford had 37. Twin Falls recorded a low of 40, but other reports ranged upward to 49 at Buhl.

Pilots chart hamlet toll

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—Two helicopter pilots testified today that they saw more than 100 bodies at My Lai but neither was asked to connect their deaths with Capt. Ernest L. Medina, on trial for murdering 102 civilians in the Vietnamese village.

Dan R. Millians, who commanded a helicopter gunship the day American troops swept the village in 1968, testified at Medina's court-martial that he saw 50 to 75 bodies piled in a ditch east of the village.

Another 10 to 15 bodies were at the intersection of two trails south of the village, Millians said, and 10 to 15 more were seen at the northern edge of the hamlet.

Still more bodies were scattered throughout My Lai, he said, and the total in the area was "approximately 150."

Capt. Jerry R. Culberhouse of Ft. Eustis, Va.—who was Millians' copilot the day of the sweep—agreed that he saw the same groups of bodies witnessed by Millians.

GI's held on bases in vote

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. command today ordered all American servicemen off the streets of South Vietnamese cities and towns because of possible political unrest in connection with Sunday's parliamentary elections.

On battlefronts, U.S. B52 bombers and artillery pounded North Vietnamese rocket emplacements, troop concentrations and artillery positions inside the Demilitarized Zone.

The U.S. command also reported that two American F4 Phantom jets attacked an anti-aircraft site inside North Vietnam Monday after it fired on a third U.S. F4 flying a reconnaissance mission nearby. Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, ordered American servicemen to remain on base or in barracks when off duty at least until Sunday.

A "grey alert" took effect early today, a U.S. command spokesman said. A "grey alert" restricts military men to their base when off duty.

The American Embassy last week issued a directive that all U.S. government civilian personnel should stay off the streets of Saigon and all major cities after working hours until further notice.

'On job' date pay hike key

By LEE TREMAINE Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The date when teachers are "on the job" is apparently the determining factor in whether they are eligible for pay increases.

College of Southern Idaho faculty members, who officially reported to work Aug. 1 — a week prior to the wage-price freeze — are eligible for a 5.5 per cent pay hike this fall.

Teachers in the Twin Falls school district aren't, apparently. They don't report until this week. Therefore, they aren't considered eligible for higher pay.

Howard Hardman, Boise, regional coordinator for the Internal Revenue Service, designated as inquiry point by the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness, said federal regulations stipulate that any person under contract for a higher wage who is "actually on the job, performing his duties as assigned" may receive the pay boost. Others, such as city school teachers, who did not report to their classrooms before Aug. 14 are out of luck.

CSI President James L. Taylor said, today that his academic personnel work on contracts running from Aug. 1 to July 31 of each year. The faculty members are "required to begin work" and must report to the college on Aug. 1 each year, Dr. Taylor said.

Many faculty members teach during summer school, and their contracts run from June 1, which would fully qualify them for the annual raise, Dr. Taylor said.

Hardman told the Times-News today that "if he (Dr. Taylor) can justify their activities as being on the job, there's no problem." The instructors do not actually have to be holding formal class sessions to be considered working full-time, Hardman said.

By contrast, city school teachers, including those new to the system, are not formally "on the job" until this week, when faculty meetings are scheduled, Hardman said, so they don't qualify for the raises.

Teachers new to the system must begin work at last year's minimums for their education and experience, while those qualifying for annual increments will not be allowed their raises until the federal wage freeze expires.

The CSI tuition increase to $82.50 for students in Jerome and Twin Falls Counties, with corresponding increases for out-of-district and out-of-state students will be allowed under the federal directive, Dr. Taylor said.

A few CSI faculty members who would have qualified for raises in September, however, will be out of luck until after the federal clampdown expires.

The federal regulations also forbid payment of retroactive increases at the end of the wage freeze, Hardman said. Teachers will have to "pick up their new salaries" at the then-current scale, but cannot be reimbursed for their lost wages in one lump sum. School districts can, however, write the contracts for the remaining portion of the school year to incorporate the entire raise.

Thus, Hardman explained, if a teacher would have received an increment of $300 for the 1971-72 school year, the $300 can be incorporated into his new post-freeze contract, to be paid over the remaining months of the year.

Twin Falls school Supt. George Studahr said his personnel are "taking it very well." He said he has heard few complaints.

Other problems still remain, however, with fringe benefits. The school district had budgeted an increased district contribution for group insurance, which will "just have to be left out for the present," the superintendent said.

In Boise, Hardman said some complaints are coming in, particularly about alleged rent increases in violation of the federal directives. "Some landlords are apparently trying to find ways to raise their rent," Hardman said.

All complaints will be investigated thoroughly by IRS personnel, he added.

Trial date set for nine anti-war demonstrators

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Magistrate Alan M. Schwartzman set trial dates Monday for nine anti-war demonstrators accused of disturbing the peace.

The attorney general began an investigation into their arrests.

Schwartzman set 10 a. m. Sept. 23 as the time and date for trial of Mark Lane, 44, Mountain Home, a social-activist author who has served as spokesman for the group, and the others on the disturbing the peace charges.

He then set 10 a. m. Oct. 5 as the time and date for trial of Lane and two others — Carolyn Mugar, 28, and Thomas Derrick, 25, both of Mountain Home, on charges of obstructing an officer.

Both trials are to be in front of jurors at the defendants' request.

Lane asked the judge to order the arrest of Sheriff Paul Bright on charges of assault, theft and malicious mischief but the magistrate said Lane would have to go through proper channels to bring such a charge.

After a conference with Schwartzman and Prosecutor James E. Risch in the judge's chambers, Lane, who is acting as his own attorney, asked for a meeting with Attorney General W. Anthony Park.

He said Risch has refused to prosecute Bright on the charges brought by the defendants and therefore he was turning to the attorney general for help.

Park and his staff met with the defendants for more than two hours. Afterward, Deputy Attorney General Martin Ward said a full investigation of the entire incident would be made. He said his office already has obtained testimony from the defendants about the incident.

Lane and the others were arrested by Bright and other law enforcement officers last Friday night when they staged an anti-war demonstration at a Boise-area hotel where Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U. S. Army chief of staff, was making a dinner speech.

They accused Westmoreland of being a "war criminal," a charge Westmoreland later told newsmen was "too absurd" on which to comment.

Derrick contends that Bright hit him in the mouth while arresting him even though he, Derrick, offered no resistance. Bright said Derrick was interfering with an arrest.

Miss Mugar claims the sheriff grabbed her around the neck to restrain her. The sheriff said he grabbed her around the shoulders.

Additionally, Miss Mugar contends the sheriff or his agents took film from two of her cameras which were taken from her when she was arrested. Lane said this film contains pictures showing "illegal" activities of law enforcement officers during the time the arrests were made, and therefore constitutes evidence in the cases.

Schwartzman told Lane in chambers that he could not issue a warrant for the sheriff's arrest until and unless a person properly authorized by law brought action.

It was at this point that Lane turned to the attorney general for help.

"I'm satisfied that the attorney general's office will conduct a thorough and serious investigation into the illegal conduct of the sheriff," Lane said.

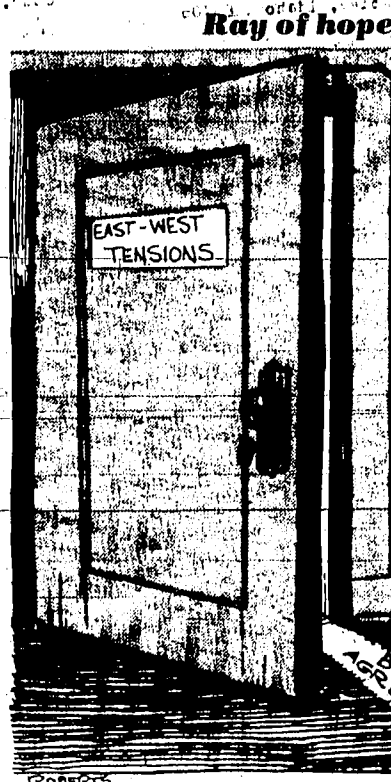

He said he will try to see Gov. Cecil D. Andrus later this week to ask that the incident and conditions at the Ada County Jail be investigated by a governor's committee already investigating the State Prison and conditions there.

In addition, Lane said, he wants the governor or the attorney general to have a psychiatric examination ordered for Bright.

Later, he said, the group plans to bring civil action against the sheriff in addition to its attempts to force criminal prosecution of the official.

Ward said the attorney general does not intend to do anything "until we have all the facts."

But he said "I would suppose a decision will be made within a week."

Veteran burns self to protest rigged election

SAIGON (UPI) — A disabled Vietnamese war veteran burned himself to death today in Da Nang to protest the alleged rigging of the presidential elections by President Nguyen Van Thieu — the second such fiery protest in eight days.

The South Vietnamese political situation faced the nation with its greatest crisis since the 1968 Buddhist uprisings when a wave of such burnings swept the country. Both the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands took precautions today against further expected violence.

The U.S. command ordered all American servicemen off the streets of South Vietnamese cities and towns because of heightening tension over the presidential election and the Sunday parliamentary elections. South Vietnamese troops ringed Thieu's presidential palace.

The English language Saigon Post said Thieu had rejected an appeal by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky that both resign to set the way for new elections within 90 days, and that Thieu had informed U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of his decision at an urgent conference Monday night.

The war veteran who burned himself to death today was Nguyen Minh Dang, 37, father of six. Da Nang dispatches said he poured gasoline over himself and set himself ablaze while a crowd of veterans stood around in front of the Veteran's Association office. No one tried to stop him.

While Dang was burning other veterans handed out leaflets to passersby saying the immolation was to protest Thieu's electoral maneuvering which has left him as the sole

Council OK's downtown job

TWIN FALLS — Approval of the contract for the 1971 Downtown Improvement Project in Twin Falls was voted Monday night by the city council in an adjourned session.

The action is subject to final approval from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The low bid, submitted by Neilson Construction Co., Twin Falls, was in the amount of $615,233.55 for all items listed in the specifications.

City Manager Jean Millar told the council meetings have been held during the past 10 days with the seven funding agencies to firm up local financing of the 1971 program.

He said, as was anticipated at the time of the bidding, the financing will not cover the full package, curbs and gutters on parts of the project and by deleting some of the center parking lot lighting, about $80,000 to $100,000 can be eliminated from project costs to bring it within available finances.

Millar suggested the contract be approved on this basis and as work nears completion some of the deleted work can be restored if funds appear adequate.

John Rosholt, attorney representing Twin Falls Futures Unlimited, a group of businessmen who volunteered funds in the early planning stages of the downtown redevelopment, asked the city to repay at least part of the organization's donations.

He said at the time the money was collected it was the hope of the group to be able to repay some of the money. He estimated 40 to 60 per cent of the funds dealing directly with the local improvement district formation would be a logical amount. Council members approved the 40 per cent or about $4,000.

This would reduce local funds for the 1971 project by this amount, but Evan Robertson, Urban Renewal Agency, said he believed the project has enough credits toward federal funds so as not to reduce the federal matching money.

The second phase of the downtown program involves placing all utility lines underground and improving and metering parking lots cleared by the first phase of the project. Alloys will also be paved.

Millar said some additional local revenue is planned through temporary and immediate metering of the new lots so they can be bringing in money between now and the end of the year.

Council members instructed the city attorney and city manager to prepare the contract with Neilson Construction Co. for signature.

Paint job, sweeper, building bids called

TWIN FALLS — A call for bids Sept. 17 at 4 p.m. was authorized Monday night by the Twin Falls City Council in an adjourned meeting.

The city will ask for bids for painting the top of the Harrison Street Reservoir, purchase of a sweeper attachment for a tractor at the airport to remove snow during winter months, and for construction of a prefabricated steel building for the city landfill.

City Manager Jean Millar said repainting of the reservoir is not just for "show," but is needed to preserve the exterior of the gunite covered structure. He said money is included in the budget and it should be done as soon as possible to prevent deterioration of the top.

The building at the landfill, he said, will be used to house equipment and provide a small office and shelter for the landfill attendant.

At the landfill, he said, they are now being dumped at a rate of 24,000 gallons per day. He said it is carried onto the landfill soil where it is absorbed or evaporates and is proving to be a satisfactory means of disposing of the product which formerly was going into a lava area at the Kimberly city dump and was finding its way into the Snake River.

The rent could be paid by the federal government. To qualify, the city must include approval of such a program in its Workable Program, Millar said.

Several members of the council criticized such a program as unfair competition to other builders in the city and to persons with rental property in which no federal subsidy is available.

Millar also suggested the council review an offer from the Environmental Protection Agency and list any needs they have for environmental improvement.

Burglary hearings pending

TWIN FALLS — Five juveniles were awaiting hearings today before Magistrate Court Judge Daniel Mechl on burglary charges.

City police signed petitions against the five, requesting juvenile hearings after they were taken into custody during the weekend. Two were arrested at Dierkes Lake and three at the home of one of the group.

Officers said several hundred dollars worth of items were recovered and the arrests cleared up a number of home and automobile burglaries in Twin Falls in the past few months.

The whey is an excellent soil builder and fertilizer and will leave the landfill area better for grass production, he said.

City council members tabled action on a request to include a resolution for including a federal rent supplement program in the city's "Workable Program."

This, he said, was requested by Willis Inc., which plans to build a low cost rental housing facility in which about half of TWIN FALLS — Seal coating on Second Avenue North and East was completed Sunday by the Department of Highways to improve the westbound one-way couplet which carries U.S. Highway 30 traffic through Twin Falls.

City Manager Jean Millar said part of Second Avenues South and West were resurfaced two years ago. Traffic lane striping will be done when the surface becomes packed by traffic.

FBI slates crime control conference

TWIN FALLS — A staff psychologist with the South Central Child Development Center has resigned and will join a community consultation team in Denver.

The psychologist, Dr. Fred J. McCabe, was born and reared in Magic Valley. He has been at the center for 18 months.

In Denver, he will become a faculty member at the Colorado Medical Center and a part of the John-F. Kennedy Outreach Program. The program sends a team of medical specialists to poverty areas in and around Denver.

The team treats underprivileged children with developmental — intellectual, physical, social, or emotional — handicaps.

The Twin Falls conference is one of a series scheduled throughout the Intermountain region and throughout the United States, Itard said. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the conferences are designed to familiarize state and local law enforcement agencies with the FBI role in the federal Organized Crime Control Act of 1970.

Hoover said the federal legislation broadened FBI jurisdiction to include some infrastate as well as interstate gambling activities, including bookmaking, numbers games, lotteries and slot machines. Specifically, the legislation makes it a crime for two or more persons to "conspire to obstruct the enforcement of criminal laws of states or municipalities with intent to facilitate an illegal gambling business."

Carpet thief stealthy

GARDEN CITY, Idaho (UPI) — How do you steal an oriental carpet, 14 feet in diameter and weighing 300 pounds, from the lobby of a convention center without somebody noticing you?

That's what police in Garden City would like to know.

Officer Ed Sterbenz said the carpet, with a large "R" monogrammed in its center, was removed from the lobby of the Roadway Inn Convention Center sometime, after midnight Sunday.

He said the theft was discovered late Monday morning when an employe discovered he was walking on bricks — not on carpet.

Jail remodeling set for October

TWIN FALLS — About Oct. 1, county commissioners here hope to be able to begin work on county jail improvements which will provide visiting areas, juvenile facilities and additional prisoner space.

Commission Chairman William L. (Bill) Chancey said the county has earmarked $25,000 for the project. At least part of the improvement should be completed this year with the remainder of the work to be completed when funds are available, he said.

When the remodeling program is completed, he said, only a jailor will be housed on the fourth floor jail area of the courthouse. Meals for the prisoners will be catered by an outside concern.

Presently Sheriff Paul Corder and his wife reside on the fourth floor. Mrs. Corder prepares prisoner meals.

Sheriff Corder said by using no more space but taking advantage of what is now vacant and wasted area, a new visitor arrangement can be provided. It would be possible to have about 15 persons visiting at one time, without danger of the visitor being alone or in contact with the prisoner, under plans approved for the remodeling program, he said.

To provide visitor space and facilities for juveniles, an open area in the center of the building with a skylight overhead will be enclosed. Walls, floor and ceiling will be built to provide the added space.

Corder said two juvenile cells are planned, each 10 by 20 feet which can house a minimum of 12 juveniles at a time. Other minor remodeling is proposed to expand facilities.

He said the present capacity of the county jail is 45 prisoners and this is expected to increase to 60 through remodeling.

Presently no facilities are available to segregate juveniles from other prisoners — if the women's cell is occupied. This is one of the primary needs of the facility, he said.

Corder said if present trends continue in which persons are released on bond more rapidly and in which offenders no longer serve out fines, the jail needs should be met for a number of years through remodeling existing space.

By using the present area which has served many years as the sheriff's apartment the county will be in good shape for jail facilities, he said.

General repair and painting are planned in other areas of the jail, the sheriff said.

Mental patients, if not hospitalized, are now kept in what was formerly the solitary confinement area. Steel wall beds have been installed along with toilet and drinking facilities, to make the area suitable for such cases and give the prisoner proper protection.

Sheriff Corder said he expects the visitor area will be the first to be improved, followed by juvenile quarters.

Presently it often requires two officers to handle visiting hours and on a busy day it is difficult to assign two men to this single duty, he said.

District sessions scheduled

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioners from throughout Magic Valley will meet in Twin Falls Monday to discuss budget needs for the South Central Idaho Health District for the coming year.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, Twin Falls county commission chairman and chairman of the district health board said, the noon meeting at the Holiday Inn will follow a special meeting at 11 a.m., also in the Holiday Inn, for health board members.

Man dies

FORT HALL (UPI) — Frank Tinno, 22, of the Fort Hall Indian Reservation, died by self-inflicted bullet wounds a coroner's inquest jury ruled Monday.

Tinno was found shot to death at his home Aug. 15 following a party with relatives and friends. He had been shot in the heart.

Bingham County Coroner Charles Daley ruled then that it had been a suicide.

DENVER (UPI) — A lady approached a silver-haired man who was dining in a restaurant Monday and asked him if he was a judge on the Colorado Supreme Court.

"I regret to say I'm not because what could be better than to be a supreme court judge in these mountains," the man replied.

The man, discussing the story at a meeting of federal court judges in Denver, was Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Will Deficit Be Enlarged?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's startling economic package contains some shrewd handwork cloaking the prospect that it may enlarge the current fiscal year budget deficit by $2 billion or more.

On the surface it doesn't look that way. The President is proposing tax cuts which net out at around $4.2 billion, and spending reductions totaling $4.7 billion.

People who think federal budgets are like the family money chest can buy that, and so can powerful Wilbur Mills, House money chairman. With a fiscal 1972 deficit in the range of $35 billion being forecast, Mills could not swallow any big, visible additions.

Some economists, however, will tell you privately (they have friends in the White House economic circle) that nearly half the purported savings may prove illusory. To the extent they are, the revenue loss from tax cuts would increase the flow of red ink. The clever stuff in the spending-cut proposals has to do with revenue-sharing and the President's suggested welfare reforms.

He is saying he wants these programs postponed awhile, and that this step alone will slash 1972 fiscal spending by $2.9 billion.

The catch, of course, is that neither revenue-sharing nor welfare reform is deemed likely to pass Congress this year or early next. Consequently, the sums attached to them weren't going to be spent anyway, so the President's "savings" in these two fields are "bookings on paper."

Obviously, the advocates of welfare reform and revenue-sharing are up in arms at Nixon's postponements. But the reality is that they aren't losing anything that wasn't already lost for this fiscal year. Nevertheless, as one economist puts it, "The symbolism is bad."

The President appears to be putting constants on spending in the very far future, where the clamor for action is the greatest. By this gesture, then, he reinforces the view which blacks and other poverty-ridden minorities have of him—and of most Republicans—as a man willing to wield the economic knife first on programs for cities and the poor.

In this regard, it doesn't help that in his suggestions for a $4.7 billion spending cut there is no proposal to reduce defense expenditures. Again, bad symbolism. Money for guns but not for welfare.

Actually, here again the reality is better than the appearance. Several items in the Nixon package are specifically designed to stimulate U.S. industry—with the clear hope this will produce many more jobs and cut that menacing unemployment rate. It would hardly do to slash defense outlays and cause new layoffs. The President's neat handwork is found also on the tax-cut side. The plan for a "job development credit" of 10 percent for industry can be sold to Chairman Mills and others as costing no more than $3 billion in revenue losses this fiscal year.

One budget expert says, though, that this figure results from the accident of the way corporate tax collections will come in the remainder of the 1972 fiscal year. In the longer range, he says, the revenue loss from the "development credit" may reach $5 billion.

Fancy-dan maneuvers on the budget front, admittedly, are not new. First impressions seem to be the important thing. If the original presentation is somehow made acceptable, even by the most strained fictional devices, what happens months later doesn't hurt too much. Nixon's 1971 budget predicted a surplus of $1.3 billion. There wasn't exactly a huge outcry when, at year's end this June 23, he was shown to have a deficit of $23 billion.

At this present critical economic pass, the President can't giddily pile on more deficit billions. But if they do build up, what are a few billions among friends when the deficit total may approach $48 billion?

Irony Of It

There's irony — and possibly some lessons — in the attacks by ecologists on the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A practice of the service is the current target of a probe by a Senate subcommittee on flood control, harbors and rivers.

The attack is on what the service formally calls "stream channelization." It calls for deepening and "straightening of streams to ease the flow of flood waters and to help reclaim land for conventional farming.

It's a relic of the Dust Bowl of the '30's and the reason for the service's existence. The Soil Conservation Service was created in 1935 to open up waterways clogged by silt from overfarmed land.

This was only the start. The service has worked closely with county agricultural agents to preserve natural balances. Its people were working in ecology a generation before the word passed into popular usage.

There is every indication that stream channelization is simply a victim of too much use. Whatever the subcommittee's findings, a few lessons should be contained for today's ecologists. Time was when the Soil Conservation Service basked in affection. Its new ideas were hailed because so many of its old ones had worked.

Today some ecologists give the impression they are competing with each other in finding new sources of pollution. There is an immediacy to their demands. Some goals are clear to all, lending a unanimity of opinion on meeting them.

Opinions do differ on how to go about it. The long-rang view, on the best information, should dominate.

A Clean-up

Former government officials who seem to do quite well for themselves in private industry include a number of ex-Pentagon officials who gravitate to responsible positions in the defense industry. But poverty seems to pay well, too.

The Office of Economic Opportunity, at the end of fiscal 1970, had in force more than $56 million worth of contracts signed with private management and consulting companies. Nothing wrong with that, of course.

Nor is there anything necessarily wrong with the fact that one out of four of these contracts was held by 16 companies staffed largely by former antipoverty officials. At least that is one segment of the population which is unlikely to require assistance under the antipoverty program.

Danger Trend

(Editor's Note: Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by lending figures on the Washington governmental and political scene.)

By Senator HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

We have witnessed in recent years a gradual and potentially dangerous isolation and insulation of power within the executive branch of government. I am particularly sensitive to this situation, having had the special experience of serving both in the United States Senate for 16 years and as Vice President for four. Nowhere is the tendency toward isolation more apparent than in the field of national security.

The President and key government officials meet occasionally with the leaders of Congress on an informal basis. There are several Congressional committees that deal with some aspects of national security. But decision-making is fragmented.

I have proposed that we end that fragmentation and provide for closer consultation by establishing a permanent Joint Congressional Committee on National Security. I believe such a committee will enable Congress to address itself in a more comprehensive way than ever before to a thorough and on-going analysis and evaluation of our security policies and goals.

The committee would have these main functions:

To study and make recommendations on all issues concerning national security. This would include review of the President's report on the State of the World, the defense budget and foreign assistance programs as they relate to national security goals, and U.S. disarmament policies as a part of our defense considerations.

To review, study and evaluate the "Vietnam Papers," and other documents, whether published heretofore or not, covering U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

To study and make recommendations on government practices of classification and declassification of documents.

To conduct a continuing review of the operations of the Central Intelligence Agency, the Department of Defense and State, and other agencies intimately involved in foreign policy.

The committee's unique feature would be the composition of its membership. It would have representation from those individual and committee jurisdictions that have primary responsibility in military, foreign relations and Congressional leadership. It would include the President Pro Tempore of the Senate; the Speaker of the House; the majority and minority leaders of both Houses; and the chairman and ranking minority members of the Committees on Appropriations, Foreign Relations and Armed Services and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

There are reasons for the concentration of power which has developed within the Executive Branch which are quite understandable considering our experience in World War II and afterwards. But times change, and so must our institutions and responses.

A new framework for the formulation of national security policy can bring us closer to the ideal we all share for lasting peace.

PAUL HARVEY

Superstar

Starting Sept. 5, visit a Salvation Army Sunday school, something new will be added. A major change in the Sunday school curriculum.

Young people, trying to revitalize religion outside the church, will find Jesus Christ a Superstar inside this one.

What would you think of a group of young people whose slogans proclaimed, "Christ Is Coming," yet their religious services were noisy, unstructured, consisting mostly of individuals in the congregation emotionally relating their personal religious experiences? Their theology is negligible, and their songs are outrageous and their salute is an index finger pointed heavenward.

What I have just described is the founding membership of the Salvation Army in London 100 years ago.

Any similarity to the Jesus movement today is too obvious to require elaboration. As the Salvation Army attuned itself to changing worship patterns of the 19th century, it is continuing to adapt.

Starting Sept. 5, it will adopt livelier, more youth-oriented Sunday school study materials.

What initiated this "modernization" of Salvation Army Sunday school?

Recent increasing youth involvement in religion seems to date from, or be coincident with, release of the British popera, "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Defenders of it contend that it purposely leaves the Calvary story incomplete. Thus it affects many moderns who are willing to be led up to the church door but unwilling to be dragged through it.

Afad or a trend, who cares? Billy Graham, watching young people attend crusades and respond in ever-increasing numbers says, "This may be the renaissance we've been praying for; let's not deride it."

He remembers at Oakland busloads of Berkeley students attended. Many, admittedly on their way to create a disturbance, "stumbled and fell at the foot of the Cross."

The recent generation of young people was turned off and turned out by churches which lapsed into routine religiosity; "a scripture, two dirgelike hymns, an uninspired, uninspiring sermon and an impassioned plea for money."

Their hunger for something transcendent unsatisfied inside church they're seeking outside. A Dallas minister, Dr. Howard Hendricks, remembers a troubled and troublesome boy who, attending church in the 1920s, was inquisitive, but his questions were answered with platitudes.

Five fundamentalist but impatient Sunday school teachers refused to tolerate his interruptions until one day the Sunday school superintendent took the boy to the door and said, "John, don't come back." He didn't.

Critics of the rock-opera contend it "does not go far enough."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

A Rag Doll

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wish you would answer this to help some young parents. Their baby is only a few weeks old. They pitch it up in the air (holding on, of course), tickle its feet, or grab at him while he is sleeping. All this just to see him jump, throw up his arms, and his little chin quivers.

I fall to see anything amusing about this. Could this cause stuttering or some emotional problem later in life? — Mrs. W. T.

An infant isn't a rag doll, to be played with like that. Babies need cuddling, and they need gentle play — but as you describe what's going on, these parents are not playing with the baby for the baby's sake. They are teasing, scaring, and annoying him for the sake of seeing his reaction to it.

I doubt if it is the sort of thing that will cause stuttering, but such antics certainly can cause fears, anxiety, and other emotional damage later on. If parents will stop and think for two minutes, maybe they'll see the light. I hope so.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know what "severe malabsorption syndrome" is. Do you have any literature on it? — F. M.

It means the inability to absorb certain types of food which, not surprisingly, leads to digestive symptoms. Only literature I have on it is included in the booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," because malabsorption is the underlying explanation for certain colon problems. If you'd like the booklet, send 25 cents in coin and a V.I.P. self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of Times-News.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a retracted nipple but can feel no lump, no discomfort, other than itching at time. Condition persisted about one year. Can this become serious? — X.

Yes, it can. When a nipple, previously normal, inverts, it can be a danger sign, even though there is no pain or no lump. It may be innocent, but again it may not, and I urge you to have it examined without delay.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: People I know insist the reason teen-age boys break out with acne on their face or back is because they lack and need sexual relief. When my son broke out, one relative even said, "It will clear up when he marries."

I say this is an old wives' tale, and a lot of hogwash. But when I tell people that acne is caused by glandular changes in the body and a difference of oil output of the skin, I am not believed. — Mrs. D. F.

You are quite right, but I've long since given up hope of changing the mind of anyone who is thoroughly wedded to some old wheeze or other.

Another long-lived bit of hogwash that has been caused by masturbation," which is just the opposite of what you've been told — and equally incorrect. The one thing that is true is that your son's complexion probably will clear up about the time he marries — depending on when he marries. It will probably clear up about the same time if he doesn't marry, too.

At about the usual marriage age, the glandular system customarily settles down. The "acne age" is a trying one for youngsters and parents alike, but there's nothing to be gained by circulating false folklore as an "explanation."

MR. SPECTATOR

The Arrests Abroad

An alarming increase in the number of arrests of young Americans abroad on illicit drug charges continues to be reported by U. S. consular officers. By January of this year 700 Americans were under detention in foreign countries on charges of possession, use, or trafficking in illicit drugs. This represents an increase of more than 70 per cent over last year.

This situation is of particular concern in view of the severe penalties involved, the primitive prison conditions in some countries and the very limited ability of the U. S. officials to assist those arrested.

Nearly all of the U.S. nationals arrested on drug charges in foreign countries are under 30 years of age. Many of these young Americans appear to have had the impression that foreign governments are more permissive than our own in drug laws and law enforcement. In fact, however, prosecution of offenders is being intensified as a result of an international drive to suppress the illicit drug trade and the penalties for violations in many foreign countries are very severe ranging up to the death penalty. A jail term of six years, plus a heavy fine, is the rule in some countries for mere possession of narcotics. In others the sentence is one to three years in a "detoxification asylum" — usually a mental hospital — for possession or trafficking.

So those who have drugs in mind — one way or another — and end up in a foreign country are warned by the U.S. Department of State to remember these things.

Their "trip" abroad may be a long one.

THAT PARIS TRIP

That deal which ended up in Ray Rostron and his wife being presented with more than $1,700 cash so they could take a trip to Paris was something. Ray, you remember, is secretary-manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

But the peculiar thing about it is how many people are now taking

BELIEVE IT?

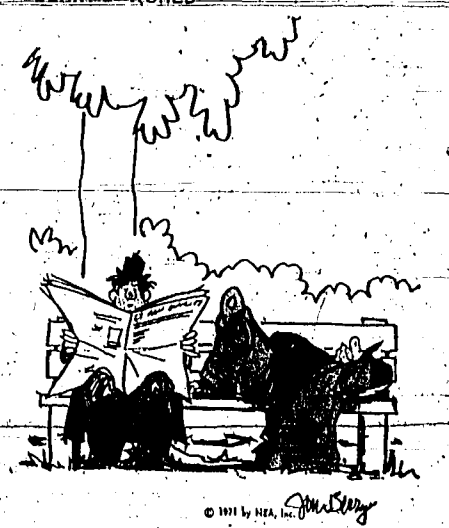

Mrs. Claude Brown, Jr., had something to ponder the other day. Two bicycles belonging to two of her sons were stolen within a short time of each other. One was taken at the city swimming pool and the other — would you believe it — was taken from a parking spot beside the Brown house. Both bikes were used in newspaper delivering.

We can see why Mrs. Brown and the boys were disturbed. There ought to be a special treatment reserved for people who steal bicycles.

It is small comfort, but about all I can suggest to Mrs. Brown is that any more bikes owned by her youngsters should be chained to a tree, perhaps. But then, someone might have a saw or an ax. There are people like that, you know.

But this incident should at least serve as a warning to all "bike owners."

Judge refuses Lane's petition

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE, Idaho (UPI)—Magistrate Alan M. Schwartzman today scheduled jury trials for Mark Lane and eight other anti-war activists but deferred for now the question of possible prosecution of the sheriff.

Lane asked the judge to issue a warrant for the arrest of Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright—charging the law enforcement officer with assault, theft and

YOUNG ROBERT F. Kennedy Jr., son of the late Senator, 17, was fined $50 in District Court in Hyannis, Mass., Monday on a charge of loitering in downtown Hyannis after he failed to heed a police officer's order to disperse, then spat ice cream in the officer's face. Kennedy recently ended a probation period on a narcotics charge. (UPI)

Deficit noted in plan

SPOKANE (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said Monday the central deficit in the Nixon administration's recent wage-price freeze announcement was its lack of emphasis in reversing the spiraling problem of unemployment.

Jackson, in an address before the Washington State Labor Council, said the announcement failed to recognize the need to reduce unemployment as fast as possible.

malicious destruction of property. After conferring in chambers with Lane, who is acting as his own attorney, and with prosecutor James E. Risch, the judge said he could not act until somebody with official capacity to prosecute for the state of Idaho brings charges against Bright.

Lane said Risch refused to prosecute and that he, therefore, will ask Attorney General W. Anthony Park to do so. Risch declined any comment on the case or on Lane's charges.

"I'm satisfied with the discussion we had," Lane said when he emerged from the magistrate's office. "I expect the attorney general now to investigate."

Lane said he wants Park as well as Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to look into the arrest of the nine demonstrators who protested the appearance in Boise at a dinner in his honor last Friday of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Army's chief of staff.

Lane said he will also ask the two state officials to see if a psychiatric examination can be ordered for Bright.

Draft exams slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although it cannot induct anyone, the Selective Service said Monday it will begin physical examinations Sept. 1 of the 250,000 young men who hold lottery numbers 1 through 50 in next year's draft.

The Selective Service said it traditionally examines young men as soon as possible so that both the men and the government will know where they stand and can plan accordingly.

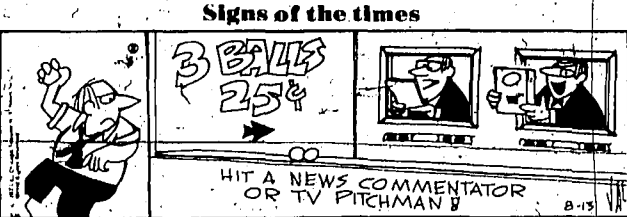

The Selective Service, however, will not be able to draft next year's crop of 20-year-olds until at least Jan. 1. Even this depends on an extension of the expired draft law that has been tied up in Congress over an antiwar amendment.

A spokesman for the Selective Service said that young men with Nos. 1 to 50 in the 1972 lottery drawing would not be first to be called next year. He said the first to be inducted after Jan. 1 would be a carry-over group of young men who had low lottery numbers this year but whose deferment kept them from being called up.

The Selective Service made known its intention to begin the Sept. 1 examinations in a letter to state draft directors Aug. 9. In the same letter it repeated its instructions handed down in May to keep examining young men who turn 20 this year with lottery numbers between 125 and 175.

When the draft law expired June 30, the highest number that had been inducted this year was 125. The July and August draft calls had been placed at 8,000 each.

Congress is expected to make the draft extension one of its first pieces of business after returning from its summer vacation Sept. 8.

'Blues' documentary explains migration

By ROBERT MUSEL
NEW YORK (UPI)—Martin Carr calls his new documentary "Leaving Home Blues" for threading through the migration of Americans from rural to urban areas over the past three decades is the same heartbreak that gave birth to the sad songs of the South.

BERNADETTE Devlin, 22-year-old activist member of Britain's Parliament gave birth to a baby daughter on Monday—a daughter which Bernadette declared was premature. She was on a tour of the Ulster counties to urge Catholics to back a civil disobedience campaign when she was taken to the Magherafelt hospital for the delivery. She has refused to name the father. In 1860, California had only 370,000 residents.

In history—wrenched themselves away from their farms and villages and headed for big cities only because they could no longer earn a living where they were.

"What we say," said Carr, "is that we are forcing people away from rural areas, that they would not leave if they did not have to go, that we are making already crowded cities even more crowded. People leave the country for the city for jobs. Jobs is the reason."

Carr says a lot more in the NBC News White Paper of Rural Migration which will be broadcast Friday night. And he talks about what was a deeply involving personal as well as professional experience in an interview.

The program was filmed in North-Carolina—in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas and in Nebraska. In North Carolina Carr interviewed a grandmother who wept in front of the cameras. She had seen nine children and four grandchildren start on the long trek north.

"We must realize we're dealing with human beings," Carr said. "We're tearing families apart. Children hardly know their parents who have been up north earning money to send back home. When people leave the South they are gentle, unprepared. But when you stick them in rabbit warrens for a couple of years they become embittered and frustrated and then you get rioting and looting."

Those who seek welfare living are a minority.

"If they wanted to live on welfare," he said, "they would mostly rather stay home where they may get less but it's cheaper to live."

Carr found no easy solution to the Southern problem which is compounded of increasingly mechanized farms using fewer workers and inability to attract better paying industries.

Nebraska was a totally different picture. Here farmers worth perhaps $100,000 on paper were selling their spreads at auction because of an unequal struggle to match skyrocketing costs with crops that bring in no more than they did last year.

In Texas along the Mexican border Carr filmed Mexican-Americans who used to grow $250 million a year worth of fruit and vegetables in the Rio Grande Valley but are being forced out because of cheaper labor in Mexico where supermarkets and chains are now beginning to buy.

Loggers may lose trucks

PORTLAND (UPI)—Western regional log truckers meeting here Saturday were told proposed regulations would remove 80 per cent of the trucks now in service.

Two key speakers came to that conclusion at the Western Regional Log Truckers Exposition here. Two thousand truckers attended.

Edward Shea, technical editor of Commercial Car Journal, said the proposed new Department of Transportation regulations would add $5,000 to the cost of a $20,000 truck.

Thum Shierard, highway engineer for the Western Highway Institute, San Francisco, said a proposal to increase horsepower from one horsepower per 250 pounds to one per 200 pounds might not increase uphill speed at all.

Where does the country produce its softwood lumber? Out of nearly 30 billion board feet cut annually, the 12-state western pine region accounts for one-third; the Douglas Fir Region, just under 30 per cent; Southern Pine, nearly 28, and California Redwood, over seven.

Freeze order affects futures mart trading

CHICAGO — The Chicago Merchants Exchange advised its members Monday that the presidential wage-freeze order will affect the sale of cash pork bellies, skinned hams and lumber, but in accordance with Commodity Exchange Authority interpretation, it does not preclude continued trading activity in futures markets of these commodities.

Everett B. Harris, exchange president, said the presidential order does not apply to the cash or futures prices of fresh eggs, live beef cattle, live hogs, fresh Idaho russet potatoes or grain sorghum, which are also traded on the exchange.

Harris said that during the 90-day freeze, "the federal government may deem it a violation for a participant in the market to make or accept delivery of actual pork bellies, hams or lumber on a futures contract, at a price higher than the highest price at which substantial quantities were sold in the cash market in the 30-day period prior to Aug. 14, 1971."

In the case of the expiring August, 1971, frozen pork belly contract, the November, 1971, skinned ham contract, and September and November, 1971, lumber contracts, Harris said, "we feel that they can and will continue to liquidate in an orderly fashion."

Trading was active on the exchange this past week with averages up as compared to the first two weeks of August.

Open gate floods hit area farms

SHOSHONE — Damage from flooding may have occurred on the Delbert Waters and Kelley Rutherford farms on the Hunt tract, Leon Grivo, manager of the Big Wood Canal Company, said today.

The possible damage to the farms and the lateral road was caused when someone raised the gate on the large lateral of the irrigation canal.

Grivo said it was definitely a deliberate act, by someone with a "perverted sense of fun" who broke the chain used to lock the gate and raised the gate as high as possible. The road was washed in many places.

Milo Caster, son of Glen Caster, noticed water running across the road and reported it to Delbert Waters. Repair of the washout was started.

Grivo said Magie Reservoir contains 154,900 acre feet of water at this time, compared to 130,200-acre feet a year ago.

Poultry checking decisions pend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administrators of food inspection officials will take one to two months beyond the apparent legal deadline to make final decisions on which states can continue to operate their own intrastate poultry inspection programs.

The 1968 Wholesome Poultry Law says the Agriculture Department must take over inspection of intrastate poultry plants in states which have failed by Aug. 18 to develop inspection systems "at least equal to" the department's federal program.

As of Friday night, however, no final rulings had been announced on the programs of 26 states and Puerto Rico.

Clayton Yeutter, head of the Agriculture Department's Consumer & Marketing Service, said in an interview his agency is following a correct interpretation of the 1968 law by delaying final rulings.

By making final checks on the condition of state inspection systems after the Aug. 18 deadline, Yeutter said, the department is making sure that the states were given up to the deadline to complete needed improvements in inspection systems.

When a similar delay procedure was used earlier for state red meat inspection programs, Ralph Nader aides charged the Agriculture Department was allowing states more time than Congress intended to upgrade consumer protection systems.

Yeutter said final review on the 26 intrastate poultry programs are already under way and will "go quickly."

"It will take two months at a maximum, and we may clean it all up within 30 days," Yeutter said.

The state programs involved are responsible only for inspection of plants which ship products solely within home-state borders. Most of the nation's poultry comes from federally inspected plants which ship in interstate commerce under the surveillance of the marketing service.

Eight states have already had their poultry programs rated "equal to" the federal system and thus eligible for continued state control, with the Agriculture Department paying 50 per cent of the cost. They are Arizona, California, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, South Carolina, Vermont and Washington.

In 16 other states, the Agriculture Department has either already taken over intrastate inspection or announced plans to do so. These are — Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Kentucky, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia and Utah. In most cases, these states had asked for the takeover because they had too few intrastate plants to warrant setting up a state system.

The remaining 26 states which, with Puerto Rico, are awaiting final rulings on whether their programs are "equal to" the federal system were listed as: Alabama, Alaska, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming and Maryland.

Snake's volume at peak

IDAHO FALLS — Reports from the Department of Interior and Geological Survey measuring stations along the Snake River and storage reservoirs continue to show near record amounts of water.

Reservoir readings as of Friday in gage height and content shows: Jackson Lake, 64.39 ft.; 731,200 acre feet in storage; Pallsades Reservoir, 17.55 ft., and 1,160,700 acre feet; Island Park Reservoir, 50 ft., and 115,900 acre feet; American Falls, 48.41 ft., and 1,375,600 acre feet, and Milner, 11.12 feet, gage heights, and Lake Walcott, 45.13 ft. and 94,750 acre ft.

Reports of stream flow include 2,940 cubic feet per second at Moran; 9,800 cfs, Halse, Snake River at Minidoka, 9,380 cfs; and Milner low lift, 288 cfs; Milner Southside Canal, 3,940; Gooding project, 1,550; Northside in Gooding, 930; Milner Northside Canal, 2,980.

Figures were reported by Arthur L. Larson, Engineer in charge USGS, and Snake River Watermaster.

JEROME — Jerome county's annual 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Sale will be Aug. 28 at 12:15 p.m. at Producers Livestock Marketing Association, according to Extension Agent W. C. (Bill) Priest.

Livestock

OMAHA (UPI) — Livestock: Hogs 7,000. Barrows and gilts steady to 25 lower; 1-3 200-250 lbs 19.00-19.50; 180-200 lbs 18.00-19.50; 2-4 250-300 lbs 17.25-19.00. Sows steady to 25 up; 300-400 lb uneven; 280-550 lbs 15.25-17.25; 550-850 lbs 13.75-15.25.

Cattle 7,500. Calves 100. Slaughter steers and heifers moderately active, with some buying interest rather cautious. Steers mostly steady; heifers weak, some 25 lower; cows 25-50 down. Steers load prime 1,227 lb 33.50; high choice and prime 1,150-1,345 lbs 34.25-35.00; choice 975-1,300 lbs 32.50-34.00; good and low choice 28.00-32.75. Heifers high choice and prime 550-1,025 lbs 32.85-33.35; choice 825-1,025 lbs 31.50-32.75; good and low choice 26.50-31.75. Utility and commercial cows 20.50 to 22.50; canner and cutter 18.50-20.50.

Sheep 800. Lambs steady although trend not well tested. Ewes not established. A few small lots choice and prime lambs 90-100 lbs 27.50.

Priest said animals purchased would be paid for following the sale so that the committee will be able to pay the 4-H and FFA members as soon as possible.

Members of this year's sale committee are Ron Metcalf, Jim Brooks, Ike Muir, Otis Hughes, Jim Messersmith, Jim Rupert, Leroy Welgie, Ralph Scott, Allan Stasny and Priest.

Priest said the committee is cooperating with producers in holding the sale.

"A small premium would encourage and maintain the interest of young people in the livestock industry which is an important part of the economy of Jerome county," Priest said.

He noted that bidders unable to attend the sale can designate one of the local packers or a committee member to act as agent.

If bidders don't want the meat, the animal will go to a packer buyer at a price established prior to the sale, and the bidder will be billed for the difference, Priest said.

There are nearly 300 different oak trees, of which about 50 are American.

Trade, farm leaders get freeze briefing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — According to the formal protocol of Washington "background briefings," almost nobody is supposed to know that Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin had Thursday privately briefed a roomful of trade and farm organization officials on the administration's price-freeze program.

Representatives of the National Association of Food Chains and the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers know all about it, however. So do officials of the American National Cattlemen's Association and the American Farm Bureau Federation. They were there.

So, too, were representatives of such groups as the National Soybean Processors Association, the American Cotton Shippers Association, the National Canners Association, the Animal Health Institute, the National Grange, National Farmers Union, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Also present, among others, were representatives of Cargill, Inc., the giant grain and commodity firm, and officials of the National Turkey Federation, National Grain Trade Council, National Milk Producers Federation, American Meat Institute, National Cotton Council, Tobacco Associates, Great Plains Wheat, Inc., a local law firm, economic consultant Martin Sorkin, and the American Forestry Association.

Newsmen, who learned of the meeting from participants before it was held at the Agriculture Department, were told it was a "background session with the press barred. The rules for such a session, officials said, require that nobody present disclose who addressed them and answered questions.

But, according to one participant in the meeting, the organizations and business firms who had men or hand will know it was the agriculture secretary who spoke.

"Why certainly, the men who were there will have to tell their people what happened," the source said.

"Of course, if they're smart they'll do it on the phone so there won't be any written records to embarrass anybody," the source added.

In theory, the general public would not be allowed to know that Hardin was the source of whatever was said at the meeting.

"But when you get such a roomful (about 70) of people, how are you going to keep it quiet?" one participant asked.

Grain

PORTLAND (UPI) — Cash grain, coast delivery basis:

White wheat no bid

Soft white 1.50

White club no bid

Hard red winter no bid

Oats no bid

Barley 40.00

As usual in such cases, reports of what was said, and by whom, quickly leaked.

Hardin reviewed some price freeze decisions already made by the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) which is running the price program. He said, participants agreed; almost nothing on specifics that had not already been reported.

The day before Hardin's meeting with the farm and industry groups was held, a similar "background" was conducted for the news media to clarify OEP actions affecting food and agriculture. It was conducted by a high government official whose identity, under the rules, cannot be revealed.

Nuptial mass celebrated - Aug. 8 rites unite Miss Novak, Watson

TWIN FALLS — Nuptial Mass was celebrated Aug. 7 in St. Edward's Catholic Church for Angela Marie Abundis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond I. Abundis Sr., Twin Falls, and Max David Huntsman, Idaho Falls.

Miss Abundis and Huntsman were married Aug. 7 in an afternoon ceremony, with Father Thomas J. Lahey and Father William Thompson as celebrants. Jeff Osterkamp and Brian Wewers were acolytes. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max O. Huntsman, Idaho Falls.

The bride wore a lace over taffeta gown with a high neckline and lily point sleeves accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequin designs. The skirt featured a straight front panel enhanced with side and back flounced panels falling into extended chapel train.

She wore a rose design lace veil with a high Spanish comb, given her by her aunt, Mrs. Ernest Partida, Los Angeles, Calif. She carried two 80-year-old handkerchieves, one a gift from her grandmother, and another carried by her mother when she was married and handed down by her great-grandmother.

Her bridal bouquet was an arrangement of daisy pompon chrysanthemums, bachelor buttons, baby carnations, rosebuds and baby's breath.

Serving the couple were Marilyn Abundis, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Mrs. Doug Moser, sister of the bridegroom, Idaho Falls, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Anita Abundis, sister of the bride, Kathy Davis and Mrs. Chris Heib, all Twin Falls, and Sherry Wood, Pocatello, Junior bridesmaids were Laura and Betty Abundis, sisters of the bride, Amy Joan Abundis, sister of the bride, was flower girl and Peter David Abundis, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

Paul Huntsman, Idaho Falls, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Paul Abundis, brother of the bride; Lynn Woodvine and Rich Johnson, both Seattle, Wash., and Doug Jorgenson, and Doug Moser, both Twin Falls.

Assisting were Charles Abundis and Andrew Abundis, brothers of the bride, as gift bearers. Mrs. Phil Blicek, Castleford, and Mrs. Jim Thell, Nampa, were in charge of the gift table.

Ann Leonardson was in charge of the guest book and John D. Lopez Sr., and Mrs. S. M. Fritzer, both Jerome, and

MR. AND MRS. MAX HUNTSMAN (Mike's photo)

Mrs. D. H. Baltzor cut and served the cake. All are aunts of the bride. Punch was served by Mrs. Jay Green, Idaho Falls, aunt of the bridegroom, and coffee was served by Mrs. Dean Jorgenson, Idaho Falls. Music for the wedding was provided by Mrs. Robert Frias and Barbara Crister, Pocatello, soloists, with Mrs. Jack Cubit, organist. Chris Heib was in charge of the bridegroom's table.

The bride's table was covered with white linen and skirted with nylon net. The five-tiered wedding cake featured floral decorations in the bride's choice of pastel colors and was topped with an arrangement of silk wedding bells and lilies of the Valley.

Reception tables were adorned with long pencil tapers in flower garden vases.

Miniature flower garlands encircled the tapers, nesting in clouds of pastel net.

Guests attended the wedding from Idaho Falls, Jerome, Hansen, Castleford, Nampa, Pocatello, Seattle, Wash., San Jose, Calif., and Montana.

The couple took a wedding trip to Island Park, Yellowstone National Park and several points of interest in Montana and Wyoming.

The couple will reside in Pocatello, where both will attend Idaho State University this fall. Huntsman has been employed by Albertson's Stores, Pocatello, and the new Mrs. Huntsman by the Blue Lakes Trout Farm.

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Mrs. Chris Heib and Kathy Davis. A rehearsal dinner was given by parents of the young couple.

TWIN FALLS — Gerylann Ann Novak and James B. Watson exchanged afternoon nuptial vows Aug. 8 at the First Presbyterian Church in Twin Falls.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle D. Novak and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Watson.

Officiating the double ring ceremony was Rev. D. Robert VanNest before a background of tall brass baskets filled with white carnations and gladiolus and white and blue-tipped chrysanthemums. Highlighting the altar were brass candelabras. Mrs. Howard Allen played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length princess-line white gown. The gown made by the bride's aunt was fashioned of white chandilly lace over white pique tulle. The cathedral length train also was white scalloped chandilly lace. The bouffant bridal illusion veil was centered with a white beaded star-shaped crown. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations with a cascade of white roses. She wore a silver heart-shaped pendant centered with a solitaire diamond, a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Gaylene Novak, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Linda Watson, sister of the groom, Nancy Flannery, and Cindy Tews, cousin of the bride, and the flower girl was Jayne Tews, cousin of the bride.

Tim O'Connor, Payette, was best man. Serving as ushers were John Rude, Doug Hull and Warren Novak, brother of the bride.

The reception was held in the fireside lounge. A white floor length flounce over blue covered the bride's table. The three tiered cake led in white was decorated at the base with four heart shaped cakes encircled with blue mums. On each side of the cake were two smaller heart shaped cakes with the bride and bridegrooms name on each. The cake was made by Mrs. Charles Robinson.

Serving the cake and punch were Mrs. William Flannery, Mrs. Lloyd Adamson, and Susan Williams.

Diana Willman presided at the registration book. In charge of the gifts were Debbie Hagler, Julie and Gina Tews and Beth Novak, cousins of the bride.

Special guests were Mrs. Esther Richardson and Mrs. Robert Powell, aunts of the bridegroom, and Earl Watson, uncle of the bridegroom, all Colorado. Also attending were Mrs. Don McCardell, Nevada, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Amanda LeValle, Nebraska. Others attended from Idaho Falls, Burley, Buhl, Shoshone, Castleford, Soda Springs, Piler, Boise, and Yakima, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Canfield, great-grandparents of the bride, also attended.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Blue Lakes Country Club Saturday evening.

Showers were given by Mrs. Harold Tews and Susan Williams and Nancy Flannery.

After a honeymoon to Yellowstone Park and Jackson Hole, the couple will live in Twin Falls.

High heels take lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is the year of the boot, whether you are a gentleman or a teenage faddist. It is also the year of the track or bowling shoe (but in red, white and blue). And if you feel snappy or kicky or whatever the phrase is these days, there are high heels.

The heels aren't all that high, two inches being extreme, and they are sometimes called "sculptured column," which means they are simply great big heels like a Texas walking boot and not at all like anything the female of the species would be caught dead in.

There are as many laced up shoes as there are slippers, and the hardware arrangements are a lot fancier. Striped or checked laces contrasting with the color of the shoe are likely to run through big brass rings or snake through little leather tunnels held on by brass or copper brads.

And if you wore the hefty boots of last year, they are even heavier this year.

Probably the strangest development for fall is the emergence of what can only be called "the orthopedic look"—broad, paddle toes that couldn't possibly provide a corn or a bunion, made sometimes with walled toes and sometimes with big knobby toes.

Nancy Knox, the president of Renegades, calls it the back-to-nature, Levi Strauss look which may or may not have something to do with ecology. Many come in an oiled leather look, which is unshiny, and they might come in slip-on, ankle high, calf high or knee high.

Miss Heldt, Kulick repeat wedding vows

FILER — Cheryl Dyanne Heldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heldt, became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Terry J. Kulick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kulick, Filer, in rites Aug. 7 at the First Presbyterian Church, Egeland, N. D.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Father William Crane, Blyssie, N. D., and Rev. Morris Shawchuck, Belcourt, N. D. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of sheer imported nylon with an empire bodice and long puff sleeves gathered at a wide cuff, a high wedding ring neckline with a Venice lace trim to form scallops over the shoulder and down the front to the hemline with lace bouquets on the shoulder and scattered over the front panel.

The detachable wattleau train was trimmed with matching scalloped trim and was held by an organly bow. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a modified camelot headpiece of appliques of Venice lace and baby seed pearls on a crown of interwoven pearl detail. She carried a colonial bouquet of white asters and pink roses.

Lynette Heldt was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Patricia Heldt, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Darrell Smith, Nampa, sister of the bridegroom.

Darrell Smith, Nampa, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were John Hampton, Langdon, N. D., and Larry Martz, Calvin, N. D. Steven Heldt, Rock Lake, N. D., and John Hampton were ushers. Rev. and Mrs. Shawchuck sang, accompanied by Mrs. Bland Grove, Egeland.

At the reception following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Richard Horner, Minot, N. D., served as host and hostess. Mrs. Emery Stepleton, Verdala, Minn., and Mrs. Glen Heldt, Rock Lake, poured coffee. Mrs. Carl Jacobsen, Rock Lake, and Mrs. Kenneth Martz, Condo, N. D., cut and served cake. All were aunts of the bride.

Jackie Heldt and Laurel Jacobsen, cousins of the bride, were in charge of the gifts. Judy Westphal registered guests and distributed rice packets to guests.

Grandparents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Heldt, Rock Lake; Mrs. Marguerite Martz, Condo, and Mrs. Emily Kodesh, Buhl, attended the wedding.

After a trip to Canada and Yellowstone National Park the couple will live in Boise where the bridegroom is employed.

He is a 1958 graduate of Hatley High School and attended Buhl schools for several years. Prior to returning to BYU for his masters, he coached and taught school in Aberdeen for two years. He also taught at Buhl for one year.

A Lovelier You

HOW'S THE HAY CROP

By Mary Sue Miller

The ill effects of swimming without a cap, sunning without a hat and walking in a sooty city without a head cover begin to show up about now. Subjected to such treatment, hair simply turns to straw by mid-summer. Even pretty good hair.

To repair the damages before autumn, a reconditioning program must be set in motion now. A thorough one includes these steps:

- Use a shampoo formulated for dry or abused hair. For this purpose protein shampoos are recommended. Also useful are protein after-shampoo conditioners. Besides improving the health of the hair, applications offer increased body and control.
- Have brittle ends trimmed off. And change your hairstyle, so as to bring undamaged hair to the surface and thus "rest" ailing strands.
- Keep the surface and ends of the hair supple by pulling on pomade and gently stroking with a very soft hair-brush.

Of course all that care could go for naught were abuse continued. Permanent coloring and permanent waving or straightening, tight roller sets and hot dryers should be avoided for awhile. A temporary color rinse will boost color. As already stated, a protein conditioner-setting lotion makes for body and bounce. What else? A hat!

HOW TO HAVE LOVELIER HAIR

Overcome your hair problems! Send for my booklet, HOW TO HAVE LOVELIER HAIR. Aids included: corrective care of dry, damaged, cut and damaged hair; expert coloring methods and treatment of tinted hair; hair-style formulas; tips on perfecting cut, perm, permanent, straightening and grooming. Write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper for your copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Beauty Hint: Schroeder joins university faculty

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Proper complexion care is a vitally important phase of total beauty perfection, according to famed make-up authority Max Factor, who points out that the golden rule is to cleanse, tone, nourish and protect the skin regularly.

BOISE — A well known snowmobile racer and expert on small engines has announced plans to join the faculty of the University of Montana at Missoula, Mont. Myrl D. Schroeder, area representative for the past three years for Western Power Sports, Inc., Boise-based distributor for Polarix Snowmobiles and other recreational vehicles, will take up his new position on Sept. 2. record of snowmobile race victories including 1968 North American Champion and 1970 Grand Prix Champion, both sanctioned by the Western Snowmobile Association. In 1970, Sno-Goer Magazine named Schroeder to their "Hall of Fame." Schroeder, who shares a great love of snowmobiling with his family (his wife, Marcella, is a powder puff champion and teen-age son, Jeff, has a room full of trophies) will continue snowmobile racing although it won't be company sponsored. "I love the sport and hope my new position will leave enough time during the winter to race in major events throughout the Pacific Northwest," he says.

Magic Valley Favorites

MARY BETH TOUCHETTE 1420 11th Ave.-E., Twin Falls

- WALNUTTY CARAMELS
2 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup light cream
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 1/4 cups coarsely chopped walnuts.

In an 8 by 8 by 2 inch pan with lightly buttered foil. In a heavy 3 1/2 quart saucepan, combine sugar, corn syrup, cream and butter, cook over medium heat, stirring with spoon until sugar is dissolved. Stir occasionally and continue cooking until mixture reaches 245 degrees on candy thermometer. Remove from heat and add vanilla and walnuts. Put in pan and let cool for an hour.

Refrigerate

Purchase eggs that are stored in a refrigerated case in a grocery or supermarket. Refrigerate the eggs promptly at home, large end up, to help maintain quality. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that shell eggs kept at temperatures between 70 and 80 degrees Fahrenheit will lose more quality in one day than in one week under refrigeration.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

SHOSHONE — Harold Tanaka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tanaka, Shoshone, has received his masters degree from the University of Oregon. Tanaka is a coach and a math instructor.

TWIN FALLS — The Goodwill Club will meet Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lewis Hoffman, first house on the right side of the road on Addison Avenue East past Blingham Dairy.

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Grange will have a work party Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the grange hall to prepare for the Twin Falls County Fair. All members are urged to attend.

Boosters Club has picnic

TWIN FALLS — The Union Pacific Boosters Club held its annual picnic this past weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hargraves, Inkom, former Twin Falls residents. The invocation was given by A. L. Richardson. Special guests were Beverly Richardson, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Anna Waters, Inkom. Games were played to complete the afternoon entertainment.

TWIN FALLS — Mountain Rock Grange will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the hall. All members are urged to attend.

Scrub well — Chopping boards are great helps in food preparation. But they need thorough cleaning to prevent any chance of bacteria spread. Scrub well after cutting fish, meat or poultry and always wash the board before using it for something else.

DEAR ABBY: My story which my wife and I have agreed never to mention, might help others:

"Torchy" (fictitious name) was the most attractive young gal in our office, and all the men, including myself, shared her "favors" with which she was very generous. I was a swinging young bachelor in those days.

Next thing Torchy informed us that one of us had impregnated her! Now who would want to marry such a situation? Her attempts to pin the deed on each one of us terminated her charms overnight. Torchy played it cool and continued to work, growing bigger right before our gullible eyes. My conscience got the better of me and I married the Office Problem.

The baby was born and he is the cutest kid you've ever seen. Furthermore, he is the living image of ME!

Now, the most important part—Torchy—straightened herself out and became the kind of wife and mother every man hopes for. We have moved to another city, leaving our pasts behind us. And now every time I look at that beautiful kid I think of how close I came to walking out on my responsibility as well as handing my own son over to someone else. Sign me, DUPLICATE IN UTAH

DEAR DUPLICATE: You were one of the luckier ones. The moral of your story is, "Never fish off the company dock."

DEAR ABBY: Last week my eldest son (whom I shall call "Jimmy") had his seventh birthday and I had a little party for him. My mother-in-law came with a present for Jimmy, and another one exactly like it for his younger brother, Billy, who is five. Needless to say, the birthday boy's nose was a little out of joint.

Now I am not saying that my mother-in-law was out of line to have brought a gift for Billy, too, but I don't think a child's birthday should have to be shared with brothers or sisters. It is HIS day, and the others will have their day when their birthday comes.

Am I wrong to feel this way? Or is my mother-in-law? BETWIXT

DEAR BETWIXT: I think it's a rather thoughtful gesture to bring the other child a little something, but your mother-in-law went overboard in bringing the younger boy a gift identical to the birthday boy's.

DEAR ABBY: A Pennsylvania minister asked you to spread the word about how difficult it is to get those tiny multi-colored tissue paper hearts off trees and church property. (They're used to throw at married couples after weddings.) He suggested going back to throwing RICE!

DEAR RICE: Ever try getting rice and confetti off carpeting half an hour before a funeral? Our pastor here in Indian Orchard, Mass., has a better solution. He informs the bridal couple that there is a $25 "cleaning service charge" for cleaning up after the wedding. This must be paid BEFORE the wedding, and if there is no litter (confetti, rice, or anything else thrown at the bridal couple) inside or outside the church, the service charge is refunded.

We haven't seen any litter from weddings since. NEW ENGLANDER

DEAR NEW ENGLANDER: Smart pastor you have there. DEAR ABBY: Apropos "litter" after weddings: I've attended several weddings where wild bird seed was passed among the guests to throw at the bride and groom. It solved everyone's problem; nothing to clean up afterwards, no waste, and a gay spirit prevailed. WILLIAMSTOWN

DEAR WILLIAMSTOWN: One might say such weddings are "for the birds." What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 89700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90089. For a personal reply, please stamp, address envelope.

Fund help given

TWIN FALLS — The city of Twin Falls will act as fiscal agent for the newly established Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center to provide the center a means of obtaining federal assistance under the Law Enforcement Planning Program.

City Council members voted to serve as fiscal agent Monday night at the request of Bruce Glandon, center manager. But councilmen said they cannot participate in local financing or assume responsibility for the center's operation.

City Manager Jean Millar explained the center is required by the federal agency to name a fiscal agency so funds for the planning program can be paid to the local community and then turned over to the center.

Glandon said the fund will amount to about $14,000 for the coming year and the center, if successful, may be eligible for assistance for up to three years. City Manager said the matter is a formality, and will require only about two hours of bookkeeping and signing of papers to accept the money.

Glandon said the center is now open in the old St. Edward's convent on Seventh Avenue East. He said the center can save the city some money by taking the alcoholics from city jail and hopefully reducing their frequent arrests and housing by the city.

Local matching funds, Glandon said, will come from donations and other contributions. Those using the center will pay a daily fee providing they are able to pay. This is expected to make the center somewhat self-sustaining in the future, he said.

Aides eye prisoner meal cost

TWIN FALLS — City and county officials scheduled a meeting today to determine just how much the city owes the county for prisoner meals.

Several months ago the Twin Falls city council and county commissioners agreed on a rate of $1 per meal for prisoners for which the city is responsible but who are housed in the county jail.

In the past two months, City Manager Jean Millar said Monday night, the bills from the county have not been correct. He said the first bill in the amount of $2,500 could only be verified to the extent of $1,400.

There appears to be a question now, he said, as to whether the city is responsible for anyone arrested under a city ordinance or for anyone who is arrested by city police.

In addition, the city manager said, some of the billings received by the city are for prisoners arrested in Kimberly or other towns or those being fed by the city at the jail.

The city manager said the last bill received from the county was returned for correction because of many "errors" found in meal listings.

Alcoholics at the wheel account for about half — some 25,000 — of the accident fatalities each year.

Jerome waits for salary directive

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — Jerome school trustees will wait for a directive from the State Board of Education before deciding what to do about implementing salary raises included in teachers' contracts.

Supt. John B. Campbell told trustees at a special school board meeting Monday night the new contracts already signed by teachers in the district include raises which would become effective Sept. 1. It is not known whether or not new contracts will have to be signed, he said, depending upon the State Board of Education's interpretation of President Nixon's wage freeze.

Trustees agreed to pay $1,100 to Ivan Stone and Associates, Twin Falls architects, for preliminary work done on the district's proposed building program for a new elementary school. The bill had been questioned at the last meeting, but Supt. Campbell said he had conferred with the architects and decided the bill was fair. Campbell said he would have a complete breakdown of the bill at the next meeting.

The board accepted the resignation of Joe Skaug, seventh grade teacher and coach, who has taken a position as employment consultant with the Idaho Department of Employment in Twin Falls.

I-80 bids requested

SHOSHONE — Construction of a new link of Interstate 80-North in the Magic Valley is scheduled, with bids to be opened Aug. 31 by the Idaho Highway Department, according to District Engineer Howard Johnson, Shoshone.

The project calls for construction of 6.9 miles of Interstate 80-N extending from two miles east of Tuttle to the Wendell interchange, now under construction.

When the Wendell-Jerome link currently under construction and the new Wendell-Tuttle link are completed, the four-lane, divided-highway Interstate will stretch from a few miles west of American Falls to two miles east of Tuttle.

Bids will be opened Sept. 7 by the Highway Department for construction of two steel underpasses, 509 feet and 340 feet in length, on the new stretch of Interstate between Jerome and Wendell.

Mental health meet set

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Mental Health Assn. has scheduled a public meeting in Room 104 of the CSI Shields building for 8 p.m. Wednesday to determine the most pressing mental health needs of the area.

The meeting will be conducted by the Rev. Les Brown, president of the county group, and two representatives to the South Central Idaho Mental Health Center, Inc. Mrs. Royal Stollen and Roger Abernathy.

The regional group has requested this information from the affiliated county organizations so it will have the best advice from workers in the social services before planning the types of personnel most necessary to staff the center, Brown said.

Although all interested persons are welcome at the meeting, specific invitations have been sent to doctors, lawyers, ministers, judges, teachers, counselors, welfare workers, public health nurses, hospital administrators and others who work with needs in the field of mental health, Brown said.

Gooding man buys buffalo

GOODING — "Give me a home where the buffalo roam," may be the hope of Chet Floyd, who recently purchased 6 bison.

Floyd says he has loved buffalo for as long as he can remember.

"I have always wanted to have some of my own and increase their population so future generations can enjoy them, too," he said.

He purchased five yearling heifers and one yearling bull from Robert Schall, Arlee, Mont., who owns ninety head which he runs with his cattle.

Floyd hopes to buy more later from the federal bison range near Arlee. A game farm permit is necessary to own them.

The buffalo are gentle and do not mind having someone in the pen with them, Floyd said.

They are also very fast, Floyd learned, when one broke loose in his pasture and Floyd's fastest horse couldn't catch it. A tranquilizer gun finally slowed the buffalo down, he said.

The yearling bison weighs about 700 pounds and costs about ten cents higher per pound than cattle. Bison belong to the same family as cattle and eat hay and grain, however, they do not crossbreed or catch cattle diseases, Floyd said.

Highway projects progress

SHOSHONE — Plant mix aggregate is being laid at the Flors-West road project on US Highway 30. Controlled traffic is expected, Howard Johnson, State Highway Engineer, said today.

Minor traffic interferences can also be expected on State Highway 24 and Camp Road in Minidoka county. Grading, the roadway and placing aggregate base material is being done.

Work is progressing on the Murtough Loop project, Johnson said. Construction of road mix pavement is currently underway and should be completed this week.

The remaining work of seal coating the project will be done within the next week. Controlled traffic can be expected here also.

Seal coating of 42.8 miles of US Highway 93, CHIMES-NORTH and East Fork-Red Cliff, and 3.8 miles of State Highway 21, Stanley West was completed earlier this month.

Work is progressing on the project on US highway 26-Shoshone West, with drilling, blasting and hauling rock being done. There is no traffic interferences here.

Minor traffic interferences on county roads can be expected at time of seal coating, expected to begin this week, on State Highway 68 Junction US 83-Plebo and Timmerman Rest Area. All other work is completed on this project.

Heard by the residents of the area, the mayor said they were "very definitely against" the festival.

"This is quite a conservative valley even though Sun Valley is here. The people are against a festival of this type."

He said law enforcement action would be taken if the festival goes on.

Ballard said he had not talked with Teater yet, and was not sure if the promoters were going to use city property for the festival.

He added, "It was better to pass the ordinance. It is something we had been contemplating — and it seemed like the appropriate time."

Resentment boils over rock event

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Idaho's second rock festival of the summer is due to break over the Labor Day weekend, and while it may draw 10,000 young people, it has already drawn resentment.

The site of the proposed Sept. 3-5 festival is 13 miles from Sun Valley and one-fourth mile outside the community of Bellevue, on a private 250-acre ranch owned by Larry Boyd, Burley.

The festival, which has been on the drawing board for three months, is being sponsored by Twin Falls nightclub owner, Jack Teater, a resident of nearby Kimberly.

Teater, who said the festival, if allowed, would cost approximately $30,000 to produce, said he had been thinking about the idea for two years but didn't think a crowd could be drawn there — until he heard what happened at Farragut State Park over the July Fourth weekend. A total of 15,000 persons attended that controversial rock festival.

He already has under contract such rock groups as "Pacific Gas and Electric," "Gypsy" and "Help," plus the recording "Help," plus the recording artist, Oliver.

Publicity for the three-day event has reached Seattle, Portland and Spokane and a number of other cities in the Pacific Northwest. Tickets for the festival are going for $15 in Seattle, Salt Lake City, Portland and Spokane, and will be sold in Boise starting Wednesday.

The master of ceremonies scheduled for the event is California radio personality "Wolfman Jack" from Los Angeles.

There is no specific law governing rock festivals per se in the area, but Blaine County commissioners enacted Aug. 9 an ordinance which would discourage such events. The ordinance calls for a license to be granted for large gatherings.

A spokesman for the Blaine County Clerk's office said Monday no license application for the festival had yet been made. The license costs $100 per day and in order to obtain it, the applicant must apply for it 30 days before the event is to take place.

Blaine County deputy prosecutor Steve Boller of Hailey said Monday night said he "would imagine" the 30-day waiting period would end all hope of the festival being held.

Other provisions of the ordinance said the applicant for a license must provide fences, meet all regulations of the county, and must furnish water, toilets, medical personnel, telephones, fire protection and lights — if the guests stay overnight.

Teater said he was fixing facilities for an expected 20,000 persons and said a conservative estimate of ticket takers would be 10,000.

Onsite parking and camping, 200 outhouses, several carnival type food arrangements, generating equipment for electricity have been planned, he said, adding that drinking water would have to be brought into the area.

Teater said, "The citizens of Blaine County seem to be quite irate. They haven't started an injunction yet. I am going to meet with the county commissioners, and I will do as much as I can to comply with their resolution."

But it looks like Teater is in for more trouble. Monday night the Bellevue City Council passed the same ordinance as Blaine County passed regarding large gatherings.

Mayor Claude Ballard said, "We did pass an ordinance prohibiting any type of large gatherings without going through channels."

Gem AG probes Boise arrests

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho attorney general began an investigation Monday into the arrests of nine anti-war demonstrators accused of disturbing the peace.

Author - lawyer, social activist Mark Lane, 44, Mountain Home, and eight others were arrested Friday evening by Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright and other officers during an anti-war demonstration at a Boise motel, where Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Army chief of staff, was making a dinner speech.

During arraignment proceedings of the nine in Magistrate Court Monday, Lane asked magistrate Alan M. Schwartzman to order the arrest of Bright on charges of assault, theft and malicious mischief but the magistrate said Lane must go through proper channels to bring such a charge.

After conferring with Schwartzman and Ada County Prosecutor James Risch, Lane asked for a meeting with Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park.

He said Risch refused to prosecute Bright on the charges brought by the defendants, and, therefore, was turning to Park for aid.

After a two-hour meeting between Park, his staff and the defendants, deputy Atty. Gen. Martin Ward said a full investigation of the incident would be made.

Earlier in the day, Sept. 23 was set for the trial of Lane and others on the disturbing the peace charges. Oct. 5 was then set as the time for trial of Lane and Carolyn Muqr, 28, and Thomas Derrick, 25, both of Mountain Home, on charges of obstructing an officer, in connection with the incident Friday evening.

Director R. Keith Higginson of the State Department of Water Administration said the Parks Board has applied to appropriate waters in five fresh water spring sites in the Hagerman Valley.

He said that some of these applications are in conflict with those made by private citizens and currently pending before his department.

Authorized by the 1871 legislature, the Parks Board's applications are for waters in Malad Canyon, Thousand Springs, Niagara Springs, Box Canyon and the Big Springs area.

Higginson said the next step will be to advertise the proposed appropriations in the county newspapers where the water is located.

After suitable advertising, time will be allowed for protests.

Water test case slated

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's State Parks Board appears to have triggered a test case to determine if water can be appropriated in this state for recreational use.

Director R. Keith Higginson of the State Department of Water Administration said the Parks Board has applied to appropriate waters in five fresh water spring sites in the Hagerman Valley.

He said that some of these applications are in conflict with those made by private citizens and currently pending before his department.

A group of traveling artists that brings "art to the people" stopped off in Ketchum this weekend and drew a large crowd of onlookers.

The group — "Travel Art '71" — parked their trailers and set up their art show in front of the Saint Thomas Church. The artists are part of a group of 100 painters and sculptors that tour the western United States year-round. They said that their traveling show gives their art "more exposure" than if it was displayed only in galleries.

George E. Lee, who is from Prospect, Oregon, has toured with "Travel Art" for five years. He specializes in painting seascapes and portraits of old sailing vessels.

His paintings have won 87 first place ribbons in West Coast art shows. Lee said that he tries to get a mood of serenity into his works. And he said "that mood usually turns out to be a ship."

In contrast, Jesse Brimhall, who is from Phoenix, Arizona, tries to get "humor and happiness" into his steel and bronze sculptures. His specialty is whimsical airplanes.

An unique feature of the show was Les Parish's gold-leaf paintings. The gold-leaf technique originated in China; and Parish said he is the only artist in America who uses the style. "It is 30 to 40 times harder than working with water colors," he said.

Parish starts his paintings by spraying a masonite board 30 times with red lacquer. Then he applies 10 layers of gold-leaf sheeting. Most of his paintings have an Oriental flavor; and the gold-leaf gives the painting an opaque, faceted look.

Brimhall said "Travel Art '71" stopped in Jackson Hole two weeks ago and displayed their art in Utah last week. But he said, "Next week I don't know where we're going."

Grant given to youth ranch

RUPERT—The Idaho Youth Ranch has received a donation from The Laura Moore, Cunningham Foundation, Inc., educational and charitable grants for 1971-72.

The Youth Ranch was given a grant of $2,000 to aid in its work during the coming year, from the Idaho banking family foundation.

The Laura Moore Cunningham Foundation, Inc., is administered by members of the Moore family, one of the founders of the 104 year old Idaho First National Bank. The Foundation was organized in 1963 by the will of Laura Moore Cunningham for the purpose of aiding education and charities in Idaho.

Christopher W. Moore and his partner, B. M. DuRell, in 1887 received the second national bank charter issued west of the Missouri River.

The bank now has 55 offices serving the state, and it is in these communities where grants to charities and educational institutions are made by the Foundation.

Julie starts her teaching career

ATLANTIC BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Publicity shy Julie Nixon Elsenhower dodged newsmen as she began her teaching career Monday but was praised from her principal as an "outstanding personality."

Julie slipped through a rear entrance into Atlantic Beach Elementary School for the start of a two-week pre-school workshop but she later allowed photographers two minutes to shoot pictures.

Newsmen were not allowed to ask questions.

"She really didn't want to meet with the press," said principal Ray Bailey. "She has this idea that she wants to be a teacher and that's all. She just doesn't want anything special."

Wearing an lavender and white midi dress, Julie discussed textbooks with Miss Tanya Yoche, chairman of the third grade teachers, when newsmen were admitted.

When one teacher hastily put out a cigarette, Julie joked: "No teachers can smoke?"

"Her personality certainly lends itself to teaching," said Bailey, adding Julie had been "accepted well" by other teachers.

"She has a sincere and warm interest in people—a very outgoing type of personality... which children see easily and respond to."

Results listed on Burley stock sale

BURLEY—The 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Sale totaled $36,210.10 at the little arena at Cassia County Fairgrounds—it was reported Monday.

There were 36 head of lambs sold for a total of $3,388.36; 10 head of swine for a total of $1,875.85; and 68 head of beef for a total of $30,955.00. All of the livestock sold were blue or red ribbon winners.

Scott Taylor sold the grand champion fat lamb weighing 112 pounds for $359.40 to Klopfer Concrete, Paul.

Other lambs sold were Mike Preston, 97 lbs., Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., $195.00; Tammy Brackenbury, 82 lbs., J.R. Simplot, $90.20; Roxanne Snyder, 102 lbs., Union Seed Co., $79.50; Grant Clark, 107 lbs., Shelby's $80.25; and Ricky Mahoney, 82 lbs., Parr Brothers, Malta, $98.40.

Record Heyburn holds school reunion

MOSCOW (UPI)—The world's oldest man has become the great-grandfather of triplets, the Tass news agency said Monday.

Shirral Mislmov, whom the Soviets claim is 166, took a rare automobile ride down from his mountain village in Azerbaijan to congratulate the parents.

The triplets, all girls, brought the size of his family to 220, Tass said.

HEYBUR—The Heyburn School Alumni Reunion was held Saturday with over more than 100 persons attending.

A luncheon was served at noon and a program was presented in the evening.

Prizes were presented to Mrs. Inez Warner Jensen, most grandchildren; Marilyn Warner Paskett, for traveling the greatest distance; Genevieve Surrage Hellewell and Lottie Surrage Peterson, most children; and Ordama Surrage Knodel, most recently married.

Herschel Brown, the only member of 1921 graduating class attending, also received a prize.

Seven of the Surrage sisters and four of the Hellig brothers and four members of the LaRue family attended.

New alumni officers were elected including Glayde Wilcox, president; Louis Stimpson, vice president; Verla McLaws, secretary; Wanda Stimpson and June Drage, both corresponding secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Handy, historians, and LaTue Cheney, program chairman.

Members will hold a reunion annually and set the last Saturday in July for the next reunion. Leo Handy was appointed to prepare tributes to the late J. M. Whitting, a former Heyburn school superintendent, and the late Anon Moller, a high school teacher.

Stevens Heiner served as master of ceremonies during the evening program. Mrs. Arvetta Surrage listed the alumni who have died since the last reunion.

Lynn Heijner and Laura Wilcox sang selections and Lard Christensen played a piano

AGREEMENT SOLVING most of problems of isolated West Berlin is being hammered out by United States, Great Britain, France and Soviet Union. While famed wall will not come down, it may become more porous, perhaps allowing few more persons being able to cross between East and West Berlin. About 2.2 million live in West Berlin, about 1.1 million in East Berlin, which is Communist controlled sector. Berlin is about 100 miles inside East Germany. (UPI)

Envoys set Berlin meet

BERLIN (UPI) — Ambassadors of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union probably will meet again next month to approve talks by the East and West Germans to work out practical details of the agreement to end tension in West Berlin.

An allied spokesman said the Big Four ambassadors in their next meeting would initial the agreement after their governments approve it, then authorize the talks by the East and West Germans.

Political observers said the projected talks between East and West Germany could encounter many snags, but American Ambassador Kenneth Rush said he felt those talks would not take an inordinate amount of time.

Rush, Soviet Ambassador Pyotr A. Abramov, British

Ambassador Sir Roger Jackling and French Ambassador Jean Sauvagnargues signified their agreement on the pact with handshakes Monday.

The accord ended nearly 17 months of negotiations toward an agreement to ease a quarter century of strife over the divided city, which is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany. The climax of the years of tension came when the East Germans blockaded all land routes to the city and the allies maintained a 24-hour-a-day airlift for 11 months in 1948-49 to sustain the city.

The agreement could be followed by ratification of the West German-Soviet non-aggression pact and preparations for the European Security Conference sought by the Soviets.

In the past, the West had Soviet concessions that would lead to a "satisfactory Berlin agreement were the price for West German ratification of the pact and holding of the security conference.

The heart of the agreement apparently was the concession by Russia that supply and passenger traffic into Berlin should be unimpeded. It also recommended opening the Berlin Wall so West Berliners may visit East Berlin and accept the ties between West Berlin and West Germany that have grown since the war, conference sources said.

In return, the Soviets got the right to open a consulate in West Berlin and a ban on what the Russians termed demonstrative West German political activity in the city, the sources said.

As an example, the West

German Parliament may not meet in West Berlin and the West German Electoral College will be banned from meeting here to elect the president.

Combined missions forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The commander of America's Apollo 15 moon landing said Monday the United States and Russia hope to begin planning this fall for a joint flight by astronauts and cosmonauts.

Flanked by his two Apollo 15 crewmates, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden, flight commander David R. Scott told an overflow audience at the National Press Club he knows six Russian cosmonauts personally "and I'd be glad to fly with them anywhere."

"I hope we get that chance," he said. "In this manner we can tie the two countries together. Science has a common language. And among pilots, flight has a common language."

In a question-and-answer session, Scott said the United States and the Soviet Union plan to resume in October their already "very fruitful" talks about developing a common linkup system for their manned spaceflights. These talks, he said, "will lead to producing real hardware and real plans for a flight."

Asked why money was spent on space flight when there are so many pressing needs on earth, Scott said each citizen should consider he spends $40 per month to support welfare programs compared to $1.30 per month for space exploration.

Cons charged in pen fire, knifing

BOISE (UPI) — Two Idaho State Penitentiary convicts Monday were charged with knife attacks and two others with arson during a riot at the century-old institution Aug. 10.

Authorities said more charges would be filed in connection with the rebellion which left two inmates stabbed and $25,000 damage to the prison.

Inmate Alfred Mellinger, 21, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in the knifing of fellow inmate David Bortz, who today remained in critical condition at a Boise hospital.

Mellinger also was charged with threatening a prison guard with a knife and with destruction of prison property.

Ronald Lee Macik, 23, was charged with stabbing inmate Charles Rice, 30, who has been recovering from his wounds but remains hospitalized.

Benjamin Graham, 21, and Johnny Salazar, 25, were charged with arson.

The four men were arrested at the prison by sheriff's deputies and taken to jail cells in the Ada County Courthouse.

Sheriff Paul Bright said the arrests were "the result of intensive investigation by our department with the cooperation of the personnel of the penitentiary. The arrests were made on the basis of both physical evidence and the testimony of witnesses."

No charges have been filed in the stabbing death Aug. 14, four days after the riot, of convict William H. Butler, 28, Bayonne, N.J. Officials said they believed Butler was murdered because of his peacemaking efforts the day of the riot.

Hearings scheduled

BOISE (UPI) — Magistrate Alan M. Schwartzman set a Sept. 21 date for preliminary hearings in the case of three prison inmates who escaped last month and abducted a Boise man.

The three convicts, Phillip Mendy, 32, Ralph Poindexter, 39, and John Jesse Ramero, 21, had kidnapped Dale Adams, 45, Boise, the morning following their escape from minimum security at the Idaho State Penitentiary.

Their unsuccessful escape attempt ended in Idaho Falls nearly 24 hours later when state police and Idaho Falls city police apprehended them.

The trio, who had used Adams' car for the cross-state getaway, had released their hostage an hour before their capture and Adams was uninjured.

The three are facing charges of escape, theft and kidnapping.

Honolulu ship line plan told

HONOLULU (UPI)—Mayor Frank Fasi declared a state of emergency in Honolulu Monday due to the West Coast dock strike and said he intended to set up a city-run shipping line to get food and cargo to Hawaii if the walkout continues.

Fasi told a press conference that he was flying to San Francisco to meet with Harry Bridges, president of the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union to discuss the strike and the shipping proposal with him.

"If the city can own or operate a shipping company, we will do so," Fasi said.

Fasi already has put Honolulu into the bus business after a strike last January tied up the city transit system.

Hawaii has been hit hard by the 54-day old strike, which has frozen shipping in 24 West Coast ports.

In San Francisco, longshore officials met Monday to decide whether to resume negotiations with the Pacific Maritime Association, a 124-member employer's council.

There was no comment on proceedings in the session.

Corona bail, trial change sought

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Warning that a long confinement in jail might "kill him," the attorney for mass murder suspect Juan V. Corona asked Monday that he be released on bail and his trial moved to another location.

Richard Hawk said the physical and mental condition of his 37-year-old client was deteriorating and feared "a long period of incarceration will kill him."

Corona, a farm labor contractor, faces an Oct. 5 trial for the murders of 25 transient farm workers found buried along the banks of the Feather River. He has suffered two heart attacks since his arrest May 20.

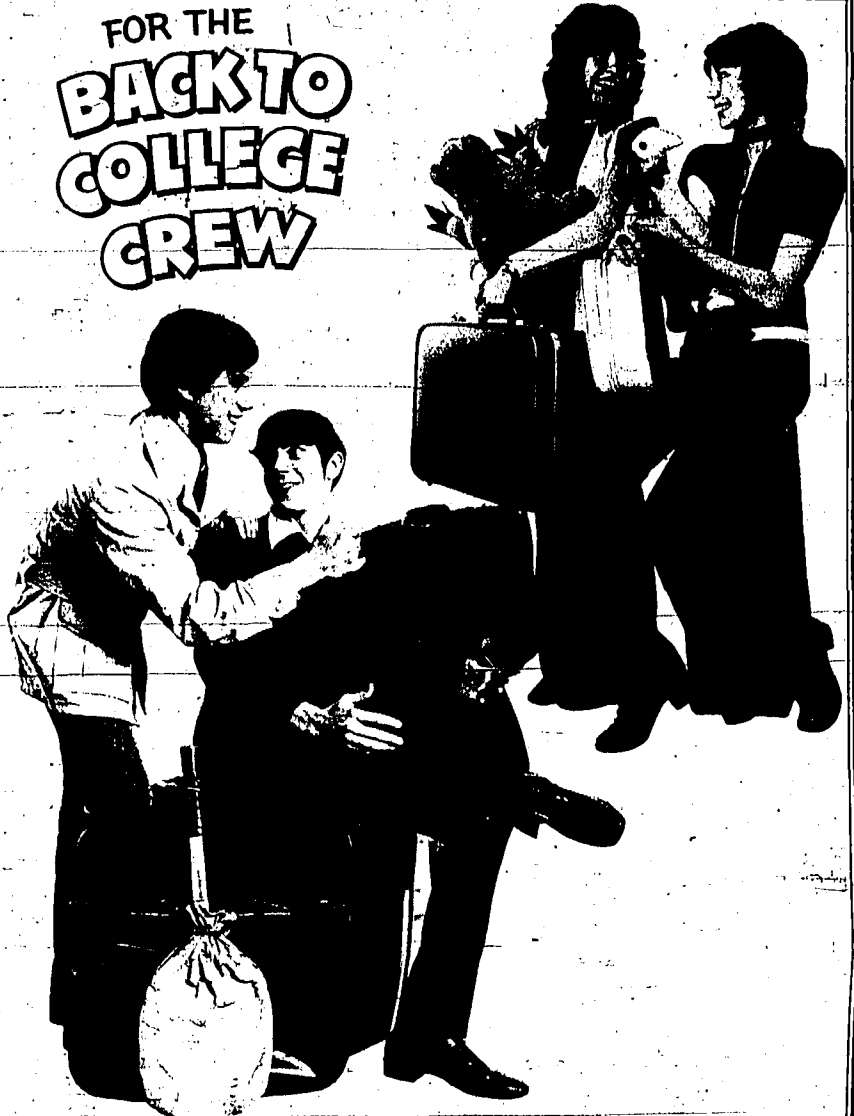

"I have medical evidence that it is doing him harm mentally," Hawk told newsmen.

Hawk requested a change of venue on grounds a fair jury could not be selected in Sutter County.

Pending his release on bail, Hawk also asked that Corona's wife be allowed to visit him three times a week instead of the once weekly one-hour visit now allowed. He said Corona talks mainly about his wife and four children.

Chuck Gibbons pitches Idaho Falls into 4-2 victory over Cowboys

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—The Idaho Falls Angels behind left-hander Chuck Gibbons downed the Magic Valley Cowboys, 4-2, Monday night.

Gibbons struck out 13 Cowboys en route to picking up his seventh Pioneer League win.

Pizarro pitches Cubs past Reds 6-3

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ron Santo batted in three runs with a double and a single, Cleo James hit a two-run home run and Juan Pizarro allowed only five hits Monday in a 6-3 victory for the Chicago Cubs over the Cincinnati Reds.

Pizarro, racking up his fifth win against two defeats, worked his fourth complete game in seven starts.

Expos 12, Dodgers 6

MONTREAL (UPI)—Rusty Staub drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and sacrifice fly, and Boots Day added four more with a double and two-run homer Monday night as the Montreal Expos routed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 12-6.

Staub hit the grand slam homer in the bottom of the ninth inning when he singled, stole second base and scored on Marquee's single.

Cards 3, Astros 2

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob Gibson, who struck out his first three times at bat, singled with two outs in the eighth inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros Monday night.

Gibson struck out Mike Cuellar, who struck out three times in the ninth, and Ed Brinkman, who struck out three times in the eighth.

Pirates 4-1, Braves 3-1

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates swept a doubleheader from the Atlanta Braves Monday night, winning the first game 4-3 on Manny Sanguillen's two-run triple and romping to a 14-4 victory in the nightcap as Al Oliver led the way with five hits including two homers and a triple.

Sanguillen hit a grand slam homer in the eighth inning to give the Pirates a 4-3 lead.

Giants 3, Mets 4

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bobby Bonds drove in two runs with his 24th homer of the season and a double and Jerry Johnson pitched 3 2/3 innings of scoreless relief Monday night as the San Francisco Giants edged the New York Mets, 4-3.

Bonds hit his homer off Met starter and loser Jim McAndrew (0-5), leading off the fourth inning to give the Giants a 3-0 lead.

Nicklaus regains cash lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus, regaining the lead in the weekly money-winning race, has also established a new record for tournament earnings, it was announced Monday by the Professional Golf Association Tournament Players' Division.

Nicklaus picked up $10,650 third place money in the Philadelphia Classic to increase his earnings this year to $205,463, eclipsing Billy Casper's three-year-old mark of $29.5.

Syracuse expected to be grid power in east with Penn State running second

NEW YORK (UPI)—Coach Ron Schwartzwelder survived a major crisis at Syracuse University last fall, and this year he is going to be rewarded for his patience.

That's the way it looks on paper at any rate. Syracuse, which at the beginning of last season looked as if it might not even finish the campaign, this year looms as the leading contender for the Lambert Trophy in the pre-season prospectus of Eastern college football teams.

Howie Goodman returns intact

The Black problem appears to be completely resolved with the return of Greg Allen and John Lobon, two of the eight who didn't play last year, so the only thing Schwartzwelder will have to guard against is overconfidence.

Syracuse's major competition, as usual, will probably come from Penn State. Coach Joe Paterno faces a partial rebuilding task on his offensive line and defensive backfield, but the Nittany Lions are strong in the offensive backfield with Lydell Mitchell, Franco Harris and John Huftngal returning. Mitchell gained 751 yards last year and Harris 675 while Huftngal quarterbacked five straight victories.

Pittsburgh's chances hinge on the development of its sophomores and the shaking of the injury bug that hit the team last year. The Panthers have 21 sophomores to go with 12 lettermen, including 11 starters.

The days of gridiron glory have long passed for Army and Navy, but both teams can be expected to improve from last year. Navy thinks it has found a remedy for its inconsistent offense in quarterback Al Dixon and sophomore flanker Larry Van Loan, while Army believes it has patched up its offensive deficiencies by adding some beef to the line.

Colgate is hoping to have one of its best seasons in many years if sophomore quarterback Tommy Parr comes through.

U.S. wins 2 singles matches to retain Wightman net cup

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Sixteen-year-old Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. and substitute Valerie Zeiglenfuss of San Diego, Calif. retained the Wightman Cup tennis championship for the United States Monday. Miss Evert stopped Virginia Wade in the decisive singles match after Miss Zeiglenfuss had defeated Winnie Shaw, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

AL to host first world series game

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1971 World Series will open on Saturday, October 9, in the home park of the American League champion, it was announced Monday by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

A's buck Yanks, hike lead to 16

OAKLAND (UPI)—Tommy Davis, Angel Mangual and Dick Green each drove in a pair of runs Monday night as the Oakland A's defeated the New York Yankees, 8-2, and extended their lead in the American League West to 16 games.

Davis drove in two runs with infield outs in the fourth and seventh, Mangual got his two RBI's with a seventh-inning double and Greene drove in the two with a sacrifice fly in the fourth and his 12th homer in the eighth.

Pistons sign two regulars

DETROIT (UPI)—Jimmy Walker and Bob Quick both have signed new contracts with the Detroit Pistons, it was announced by the National Basketball Association club today, despite President Nixon's freeze on wages and prices.

Walker signed a two-year pact and Quick's agreement for one year, contained the following provision, said Ed Coll, general manager of the Pistons:

49ers' top pick goes to Canada

TORONTO (UPI)—Frustrated in attempt to deal with the San Francisco Forty-niners of the National Football League, the Toronto Argonauts Monday signed a three-year contract to play with the Canadian Football League.

Olivares came back strong in the same round but it was the South American veteran's round by a wide margin.

Wendell takes 18-game win skein into '71

WENDELL — The return of 13 lettermen and some outstanding size in the line, the Wendell Trojans appear in good shape to offset the loss of premier back Kirk Dennis as they prepare for their opener Saturday night against Buhl and defense of an 18-game winning streak.

Coach Vogl Behrens will have a Dennis at halfback and that also will help ease the loss of Kirk. This one is Kip who already has started one year for the Trojans and if he isn't as fast as brother Kirk, he is bigger at 170 pounds.

Coach Behrens lists five men 200 pounds or bigger and has about that many more in the 180 to 200 pound class.

Offensively, he has Dennis as the break away threat and Rod Adams, 195 pounder, as the man for hammering the middle. Kirk Webb, returns for his second year as starting quarterback and Russ Host could well fill the split end vacancy created by the loss of Fred Blackburn. Randy Chandler, 150 pounds, is the other halfback with experience.

In the line are center Frank Isaacs, 6-2, 185; ends Pat Bennett, 6-0, 200, and Tony Madalena, 5-11, 155; tackles John Howsden 6-0, 210, and John Dixon, 5-8, 215, and guards Tom Harris, 5-11, 150, and Rolie

Marlow, 6-0, 160.

All but Dennis are seniors. Juniors expected to help are George Ambrose, 5-10, 225 tackle; Tony Host, 5-10, 165, halfback; Don McCloud, 5-9, 145 guard; Jim Orth, 5-11, 155, center; Brian Wills, 5-8, 165, guard; Jim Parr, 6-3, 245, tackle; Joe Sites, 5-7, 130, halfback; Mike Eaton, 5-9, 140 guard; Vince Dias, 5-8, 145 guard, and Kevin Andres, 5-8, 160, junior.

Two seniors trying for their first letters are Dave Hansen, 6-2, 155, end, and Bill Powell, 5-5, 120, end. The lone sophomore listed on the varsity thus far is Matt Bunn, a 6-1, 190-pound end.

Wendell romped through the Big Six and Little Five Conference with undefeated marks for championships and wound up with a perfect 9-0 record. Coach Behrens lost 10 of his top 22 men to graduation.

The Wendell schedule includes Saturday, 'Buhl' at Wendell; Sept. 3, Jerome at Wendell; Sept. 9, Filer at Wendell; Sept. 1, Wendell at Shoshone; Sept. 24, Hagerman at Wendell; Oct. 1, Wendell at Gooding; Oct. 8, Valley at Wendell; Oct. 15, Kimberly at Wendell; Oct. 22, Wendell at Wood River, and Oct. 29, Wendell at Glenns Ferry.

Gooding returns veteran backfield

GOODING — The Gooding Senators will have to fill in a couple spots in the offensive and defensive lineups but Coach Leroy Johnson has pretty much the same backfield punch that was available in last year's 4-5-1 year.

Returning for their third letters are quarterback Gary Correll, a 6-4, 205-pound senior, and 170-pound fullback Fred Cheslik. Jim Thompson, a 6-1, 190-pounder, has had one year at halfback and Leff LaCroix, up to 6 feet and 160 pounds, will give the Senators a strong outside receiving threat. The combination of those could well give Gooding the biggest backfield in the South Central Idaho and Big Six conferences.

The biggest lineman available to the Senators is 6-1, 250-pound Cory Btz, a junior who had one year's experience behind him. Mike Anderson, 150 pounds, returns at safety and Bill Conrad, a 185-pound junior, is back at center.

The Juniors include Cash Nichols, 185 pounds halfback; Terry Byers, 188-pound tackle and transfer from Utah, Les Shobe, 155-pound tight end, and the sophomores are Saul Cook, 160-pound guard; Gaylen Edwards, 160-pound guard, and Bruce Case, 200-pound tackle.

Gooding bows into action Friday night by hosting the Burley Bobcats. The rest of the schedule includes Sept. 3, Gooding at Valley; Sept. 19, Shoshone at Gooding; Sept. 1, Gooding at Glenns Ferry; Sept. 24, Gooding at Buhl; Oct. 1, Wendell at Gooding; Oct. 8, Jerome at Gooding; Oct. 15, Gooding at Wood River; Oct. 22, Mountain Home at Gooding, and Nov. 5, Gooding at Filer.

Hansen faced with rebuilding season

HANSEN — The Hansen Huskies, who will go under lights at home for the first time in history, will be depending on a lot of underclassmen for the 1971 season. The Huskies taste their first action Friday afternoon when they travel to Mackay High School.

Coach Gordon Hogan saw graduation strip the team of most of its experience and talent and he then lost three-year letterman fullback-kicker Jim Hopkins for medical reasons. With that in mind, the coach believes he will have the youngest team in the Magic Valley Conference.

He has to find a lot of replacements for four-time lettermen like Walt Freestone and Lynn Pearson, who both were awarded first scholarships at Boise State. Speed left in Perkins and Moore.

Hansen starts rebuilding with only four lettermen which indicates how last year's senior class carried the burden of competition. Dave Caudill, who has grown enough in the last year to win a prize, is the biggest at 200 pounds. Back at tackle with him are Rex Clark at 160 and Ler Pollard at 170. The other letterman is Ralph Hopkins, a 140-pound junior fullback.

The untested men who will have to pick up the burden include Dave Lockwood, 150, senior; Dennis Pollard, 150, senior end; Butch Stanger, 150, senior guard; Ted Christensen, 120, transfer junior wide receiver; Mike Hollis, 160, junior guard; Roger Slevers, 150, junior end; Randy Clift, 265, sophomore tackle; Andy Clift, 180 senior guard; Ron Motherhead, 160 sophomore fullback; Marvin Norris, 190 sophomore guard; Marly Shepherd, 155 sophomore quarterback and Mark Standlee, 190 pound sophomore center.

Lack of depth to hurt Wood River

HAILEY — With only 23 men out, the Wood River Wolverines should be facing a long hard football year. But Coach Bill Bowman, with his fingers crossed, believes the Wolverines could have a pretty successful season—if the injuries stay away.

"We will be fairly strong, one deep," he says at a gallant effort at optimism since in football injuries never stay away.

But he will have 10 seniors who have picked up three letters in this sport and a lot of experience in how to avoid injuries. Backing them are four Juniors who have won letters.

Basically, the Wolverines should be able to move the ball since they return the starting backfield. Highlighting that is Kim Crofts, 168-pound halfback who had a couple of 150-yard plus games last year. Last year Coach Bowman split the quarterbacking between Ken Uhrig and Jimbo Hurst-but has moved Hurst to running back. However, Hurst's quarterbacking ability gives the coach another move if needed. Uhrig is 145 pounds and Hurst is 160.

Back at fullback is Dan Litzinger, 170 pounder and Dave Bergh has won a letter at halfback.

The returning senior guards are almost a size at 160 pounds, and the spots are held by Rich Kimball, Pat Kriley and James Hurst. At end is Lonnie Linderman, 155, and Phil Stelling, 150, both seniors, and junior Bill Shaw, 176.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were strong in brisk trading after more than three hours Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average surged ahead—more than 10 points at 962.53, while advanced raked up a 938 to 395 bulge over declines. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.83 to 100.17.

Volume at 1 p.m. amounted to 12,160,000 shares, up from 8,370,000 shares traded at a comparable period Monday.

Analysts attributed the rise to the "sudden improvement in market psychology" in the wake of President Nixon's new economic policies announced a week ago Sunday.

Among the day's most active stocks were Amerad Hess, up 1/2, on 301,500 shares; Holladay Inns unchanged on 330,100 shares; Unroyal down 1/4 on 223,700 shares; Southern California Edison 3/4 higher on 154,300 shares; Sony Corp. up 1/4 on 128,400 shares; and Bethlehem Steel 3/4 higher on 123,200 shares.

Lead active and firm were U.S. Steel up 1/2, Du Pont 1/2, Dow Chemical 3/4, Superior Oil 5/8, National Airlines 1/2, Westinghouse 1/4, Control Data 1/8, IBM 3/8, Burroughs 1/4, Walt Disney 1/4, and Bausch & Lomb 1/4.

Coming Glass, however, surrendered nearly 3 points.

Freeze queries, answers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President's Council on Living Council has released another list of questions and answers, the second such set, designed to explain the wage-price-rent freeze:

GENERAL
Q: Must auto dealers continue to charge the 7 per cent excise tax on 1971 year-end automobile sales?

A: Yes, the excise tax remains in effect and must be collected until such time as Congress rescinds it. The President has requested authority to rescind the excise tax, retroactive to Aug. 15. If this authority is approved by Congress, rebates will be made to automobile purchasers.

RENTS
Q: If a rent agreement is signed Aug. 1 but effective date is after Aug. 15, does the increase apply?

A: No.
IMPORTS
Q: Can the 10 per cent import tax surcharge be applied to goods already in stock?

A: No.
WAGES
Q: Does the freeze terminate bargaining for wage changes during the 90-day period or can these proceed, with understanding that they cannot take effect until the federal government permits?

A: The freeze does not terminate bargaining for wage changes during the 90-day period. However, no wage increase negotiated during the 90-day period can go into effect during the period of the freeze.

Q: Can a union and management negotiate for pay increases to be effective after the date of the freeze but also retroactive to cover the freeze period?

A: No.
Q: In the case of a negotiated increase that became effective Aug. 9, 1971, with payment for that week received by the employees on Aug. 13, 1971, is it permissible to pay the retroactive portion of the increase which is currently being computed for the employees involved?

A: Yes.
Q: If a salary increase was granted and the employee actually performed under the new rate prior to Aug. 15, 1971, can he be paid at the higher rate if the pay day is after Aug. 15?

A: Yes, if there are adequate records to demonstrate that the increase was put into effect prior to the freeze date.

PRICES
Q: What is the selling price for a material if there have been dual price situations, i.e., a published price and a discounted price at which actual transactions were made?

A: Sales may be made at the highest price at which substantial volume of actual transactions were made during the 30-day period of time ending Aug. 14. If products have been selling at a discounted price and not at the published price during the base period, the maximum price would be the highest discounted price at which substantial transactions were made.

Q: I want to sell something I own. I have no idea what its price was during the month prior to Aug. 15. What should I do?

A: Inquire locally as to what comparable items sold for during the period July 15 to Aug. 15. Note down and retain these facts for your own records before selling.

Q: What is the price-freeze basing-point for national or regional retail chains?

A: Price ceilings are to be set on the basis of the normal procedures used in establishing market prices. Market price ceilings are to be established at no greater than the highest price at which substantial volume transactions were carried out by the firm's individual normal pricing areas, regardless of whether these pricing areas are national, regional, or individual stores.

Wages
Q: Can an employer reduce wages and other benefits to employees and use the President's freeze as a justification?

A: The President's program does not require a reduction in compensation levels below those in effect on Aug. 15.

Prices
Q: If a business reduces services and maintains the same price, is this permitted by the freeze?

A: No. This amounts to an increase in price for a product.

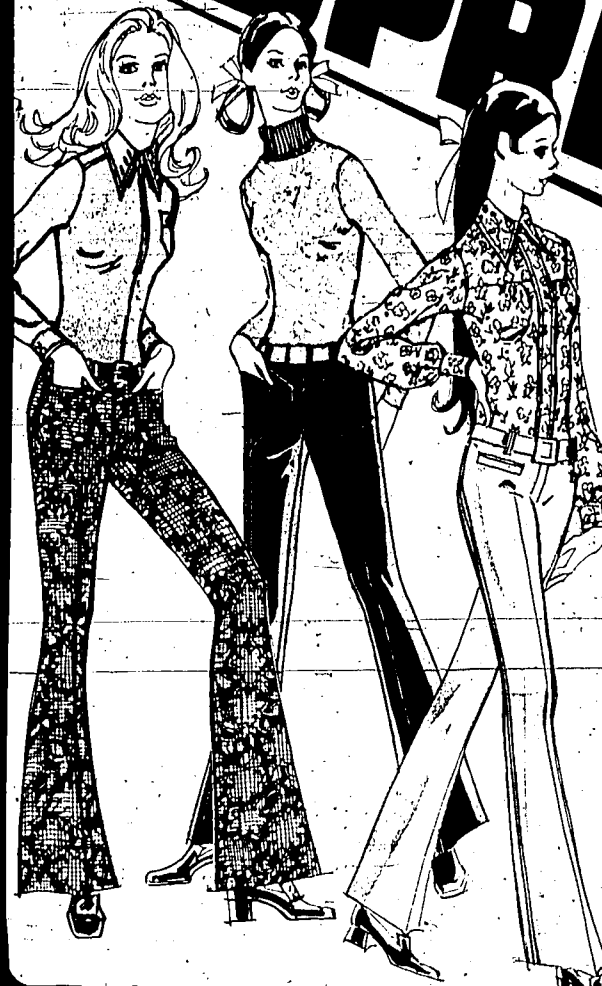

Four pounds of corn can be converted into a pound of pork.
