Rock test set

BELLEVUE — A legal showdown appears likely over a rock festival planned near here over Labor Day weekend.

Blaine County commissioners were meeting with the festival's promoter, Jack Teater, Kimberly, this morning to discuss the issue.

County Atty. Stephen Boller said County Ordinance 72-7, passed Aug. 9, would bar any large assembly unless the promoter applies for a license 30 days in advance.

He said the county has not yet taken any action.

The ordinance states that if a gathering is held without a license, it would be considered a public nuisance. And steps could be taken to "enjoin the assembly." Boller was not available for comment on whether the ordinance would ban any large assemblies between Aug. 9 and Sept. 8. And Boller made no comment on the ordinance's constitutionality.

Teater said he is going ahead with festival plans. He said the ordinance is only a resolution.

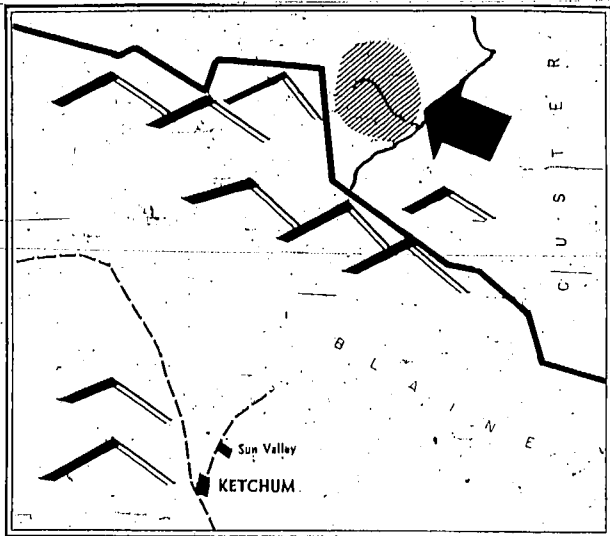

"They didn't have time," he said, "to make it an ordinance or in other words they suspended the rules and put through something to stop me. And this was at a time when I already had my money involved and my attorney said there was no way legally that they can stop me."

He said he started work on the festival in July. Teater hopes to sell 10,000 tickets at $15 apiece to the festival, set for Sept. 3-5. Tickets are reportedly on sale in Western cities, including Seattle, Portland and Spokane, and strong interest has been reported from many areas.

At any rate, Teater told the Times-News, "I'm in far enough now that I can't stop." He estimated the rockfest may cost as much as $30,000, including payment of the master of ceremonies, musicians and other performers. He said he will have to recoup his expenses through admission prices.

Moly lode

A U. S. FOREST Service report says there is a possible major deposit of molybdenum of the "same magnitude" of the ore deposits in the White Cloud Range. The new ore body lies only 12 miles northeast of Sun Valley.

Molybdenum Machine workers hit freeze

TWIN FALLS — Molybdenum deposits discovered in 1969 and being explored by the Norandex Inc., Denver, Colo., in an area between the Pioneer and Boulder Mountain ranges have been revealed in the Comprehensive Land Use Planning Study the U. S. Forest Service is currently conducting in the White Cloud, Boulder and Pioneer Mountain ranges.

The mineral study phase of the initial reports which are now available for study shows the Norandex, Inc., head geologist, R. J. Miller and field geologist, Kirk McCabe discovered 100 lode claims of molybdenum on Little Fall Creek in the Lost River Drainage.

The firm has built roads to the claim area and has done some diamond drilling. Vern Dow, Sawtooth National Forest, who authored the mineral division of the study said "the claim is probably of the same magnitude as Little Boulder Creek."

The Little Boulder Creek claims of the American Smelting and Refining Co.'s claim in the White Clouds has caused a controversy of long standing between economists and ecologists and requests from the mining company to develop the mining claims have been strongly protested.

The Norandex claim is one of 46 covered in the report, including several in which molybdenum mining is the prime interest. Another in the same general area as the Norandex claim is held by Joe Shartz, Ketchum, and C. A. Hoffman, Wheatridge, Colo.

Garth Baxter, field officer, Challis National Forest, Mackay district, in which the Norandex claim is located, said a shack had been put up about two years ago at the site but no work has been going on in the area recently.

Robert Hoag, Sawtooth National Forest recreation staff officer, pointed out a relatively good road from Mackay leads to within a short distance of the Little Fall Creek claim.

In the legal phase of the report, Dean Gardner, Ogden, Utah, Forest Service attorney rendered an opinion stating any management decision of the Forest Service which would result in "degradation of a substantial tract of land would be in violation of the law."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The machinists union today accused President Nixon of a "cold-blooded plan" to put thousands of federal workers out of work as part of his economic recovery program.

It was the latest of a series of harsh attacks by labor on the President for the 90-day wage-price freeze he ordered 10 days ago. Labor contends the impact falls far more heavily on working people than business. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said this morning in Miami Beach that much of the criticism was partisan or ill-informed.

The International Association of Machinists (IAM), claiming it represents many government blue-collar workers, said in a statement it would use its "full resources" in a lobbying effort to override Nixon's plan to cut federal employment by 5 percent.

The 5 percent federal cut, which Nixon said would be effected mainly by attrition rather than dismissals, is part of the overall economic uplift plan.

The AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers (UAW) have mapped plans to fight the Nixon program in the courts and in Congress. AFL-CIO President George Meany and UAW President Leonard Woodcock, arranged a meeting today in Washington to discuss strategy.

Explosives discovered

SAN QUENTIN, CALIF. (UPI) — An elaborate escape map, plastic explosives and bullets were found hidden in San Quentin Prison's High Security Adjustment Center where an escape attempt brought death to six persons, prison sources say.

The sources quoted in San Francisco and San Rafael newspapers said a zip gun and the barrel of a .22-caliber revolver were found in the cell of "Sololeda Brother" George Jackson, who pulled a 9-mm pistol from his afro-style hair Saturday in an attempted breakout during which he was killed.

A detailed map traced an escape route through the prison confines and south to Marin City, a distance of 10 miles, according to sources quoted Tuesday by the San Rafael Independent Journal. Marin City is a predominantly black community in wealthy Marin County.

Associate Warden James Park of San Quentin said an afro-style wig was found in a toilet in one of the adjustment center cells.

Common Market hints trade war

GENEVA (UPI) — The Common Market called on President Nixon Tuesday to rescind his package of measures to safeguard the dollar and said it reserved the right to retaliate if he refused.

The market said in a statement that the United States was to blame for its balance of payments difficulties and not the trade and financial policies of America's trading partners.

The Common Market statement was delivered to a special session of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) by Commissioner Rolf Dahrendorf, a West German responsible for external trade affairs.

The European Economic Community (EEC) declares itself "disturbed" because of the protectionist, even profiteering, tone of the statements of American authorities which accompanied the announcement of the measures. Dahrendorf told the 64-nation GATT council.

Dahrendorf said the Common Market "counts on the international sense of responsibility of the United States to rescind within the briefest delay the trade measures already taken and to abstain from putting into force those measures envisaged which violate the GATT."

The EEC reserves its rights within the general agreement, particularly those deriving from Article 23. "The article permits GATT countries to take retaliatory action if any member violates the rules."

Dahrendorf concentrated his attack on the 10 per cent surcharge on imports imposed by the United States.

But Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans served notice the administration does not intend to back down and "will have no part of a fake prosperity built on the shifting sands of war-induced inflation."

"I am confident that President Nixon has the full support of the American people in his determination to build a strong and healthy economy whose foundation is an enduring peace," Stans said today in remarks prepared for a meeting at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

Egyptian mutineers on trial

CAIRO (UPI) — Egypt opened its trial today against 91 persons accused of attempting to overthrow President Anwar Sadat last May and quickly adjourned it to Sept. 4. Cairo radio said among the defendants were former Vice President Aly Sabry and six ex-cabinet ministers.

The broadcast said the trial at a renovated courthouse in Heliopolis five miles northeast of the capital was adjourned to give defense attorneys time to study the state's case against the accused.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said 12 of the 91 defendants, including Sabry and the former ministers, were the first to appear before the court. There was no mention of former War Minister Mohammed Fawzi, also charged and expected to be tried by a court martial.

In the group were former Ministers Sharawi Gorman, Interior Sami Sharaf, presidential affairs; Saad Eddin Zayed, housing; Mohammed Fayek, information; Hilmil el Said, electric power; and Ahmed el Tabidin Saleh, transport.

All could be sentenced to death or life imprisonment at hard labor, and Prosecutor-General Mustafa Abu Zaid said he would ask for the maximum penalty against at least 10 of the alleged ringleaders.

Organized labor, however, continued to withhold its confidence from the new Nixon policies, adding the threat of a railroad strike to other potential labor disruptions. C.L. Dennis, president of the 190,000-member Brotherhood of Railroad and Airline Clerks, said his union would consider its contracts void on Nov. 13 unless its members got scheduled raises and unless controls are placed on corporate profits and dividends. The 90-day wage-price-rant freeze is scheduled to expire Nov. 12, the day before the threatened rail walkout. Stans said Tuesday, however, that some form of mandatory controls would be necessary after that date.

Viet crisis

Thieu will hold election despite foes' withdrawal

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today the presidential elections will go on as scheduled Oct. 3 despite the withdrawal of his only two opponents — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Quong Van "Big" Minh.

Thieu in announcing plans to continue the election indirectly rejected Ky's proposal that both the President and vice president resign and set a new date for the balloting. Both Ky and Minh charged Thieu with rigging the election.

In a closed meeting with delegates from South Vietnam's 44 provinces, Thieu mentioned the withdrawal from the race of Minh and Ky but did not criticize either man. Delegates said following the gathering that Thieu "told us election day will still be fixed as before, on Oct. 3, despite the fact he will be the only candidate in the race. He will run alone."

The delegates said the president told them "we should go home and work for his election."

Before the meeting, Thieu talked with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth T. Bunker for an hour, but they made no comment on their discussions of South Vietnam's worst political crisis since 1966. Tension has been mounting and the U.S. command ordered all American soldiers to stay inside their bases except on official business. Similar advisories were given to U.S. civilian government personnel in South Vietnam.

Thieu was meeting with the delegates from Vietnam's 44 provinces to exchange views on the next step in the campaign, which he apparently is going ahead with despite lack of opposition at the ballot box.

Reports circulated by Thieu's aides indicated he had decided to reject a suggestion made by Ky that they both resign from office and reorganize the election, holding it in 90 days. The withdrawal by Ky and Minh has left the nation in the worst political crisis since 1966, when the Buddhists tried to topple then Prime Minister Ky.

The United States officially has adopted a hands-off policy in the elections, but the Americans have made no secret of their concern that the entire U.S. aid and Vietnamization program may be jeopardized.

Ambassador Bunker has held a series of meetings with Thieu, Ky and Minh, apparently in an effort to work out some compromise where the contest will involve more than one man.

Spiro's hope top GOP team

MIAMI (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday he wants President Nixon to have the strongest possible running mate in the 1972 campaign, whether or not it's Agnew.

Agnew said he probably is "closer" to Nixon than ever before, but it would be up to the President to decide who his running mate will be.

"I want the president to be re-elected and I want anybody to run with him who can give him the most help," Agnew told newsmen. "Six months from now that might be someone else."

Agnew, who will speak to the American Society of Association Executives today in Miami, said it would be wrong to assume he was falling out of favor with Nixon because he was not included in recent decisions about the nation's economy.

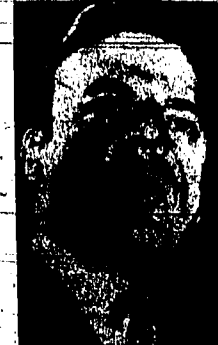

"He said the fact he did not attend many of the meetings, did not mean he was not advised."

"I'm obviously not going to be involved to the extent Treasury Secretary (John) Connally is," he said.

Grand jury charges anti-Panther raiders

CHICAGO (UPI) — State's attorney Edward Hanrahan, the city's top prosecutor, has been indicted with 13 other law officials on charges of conspiring to obstruct justice in a 1969 police raid in which two Black Panthers were killed.

Chicago Police Superintendent James B. Conlisk was not indicted.

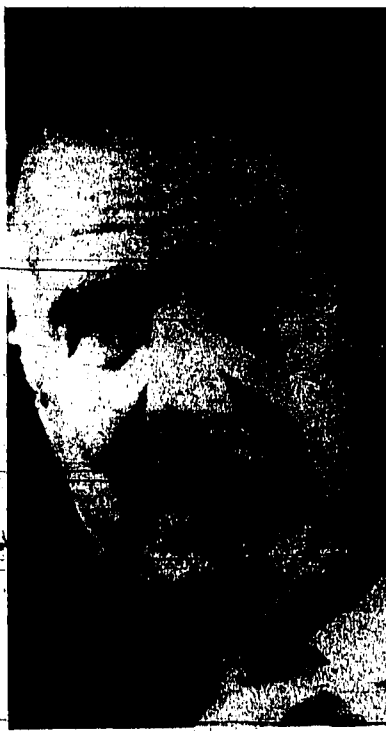

Indicted

information." It said Hanrahan, 50, one of the top men in Mayor Richard J. Daley's Democratic organization, made "false and inflammatory" statements while obtaining an attempted murder indictment against seven Panthers who survived the raid.

The charges were later dropped for lack of evidence. Besides Hanrahan, the indictment names Assistant State's Attorney Richard Jalovec, who planned the raid; Police Sgt. Daniel Groh, who led the raid; and police raiders Ray Broderick, Edward Caymody, James Ciszewski, William Corbett, James Davis, Joseph Gorman, and George Jones.

It includes former Deputy Police Superintendent John Mulchrone, who led the police investigation of the raid and was later demoted; and John Meade, John Sadunas and Charles Koudrovic who worked on the police investigation.

Not indicted but named as co-conspirators were Conlisk; Hanrahan aides Sheldon Sorosky and James Meltreger, and police investigators Harry Ervanian and Earl Holt.

'Closer'

VICE PRESIDENT Spiro T. Agnew says he is probably "closer" to President Nixon than ever before, but it will still be up to the President to choose his running mate for the 1972 campaign. "I want the President to be re-elected and I want anybody to run with him who can give him the most help," Agnew said, conceding it could be someone else. He said he and Nixon have not fallen out. Nixon confers with negotiator

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon spent more than an hour with his new chief Vietnam negotiator Tuesday...

Press Secretary Ronald J. Ziegler said Nixon was keeping in touch with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker on developments in the South Vietnamese capital where U.S. troops have been put on special alert because of the crisis.

Sitting in on the meeting between Nixon and Ambassador William W. Porter was Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser and a chief architect of the U.S. Vietnam policy.

The White House refused to comment on Saigon's political turmoil beyond saying that the President was concerned and confirming that Bunker was engaged in "vigorous diplomacy."

The crisis stems from resentment by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Brig. Gen. Duong Van Minh over what they consider to be high-handed political tactics by President Nguyen Van Thieu which have effectively eliminated their chances of success in the October presidential elections.

Both have withdrawn from the race, leaving Thieu as the only candidate. Their actions have challenged the credibility of the election which President Nixon has been counting on as an example of the democratic process in South Vietnam and have caused him acute embarrassment.

Young judge overrules Gov. Wallace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A young federal judge described recently by Gov. George C. Wallace as lacking the brains to try a chicken thief...

The Oxford City and Calhoun County Boards of Education were ordered by another Federal District Court judge, Frank H. McFadden, on Aug. 8 to pair Oxford's two schools with all-black Calhoun County Training School at nearby Hobson City.

Wallace traveled to Hobson City last Wednesday and publicly signed an order directing school officials to ignore the federal decree and operate the schools on a non-discriminatory basis under the federal placement plans used last year.

With classes at the school scheduled to start this Thursday...

day, the school boards sought Tuesday's hearing before Judge Pointer in hopes of determining whose order—Wallace's or Judge McFadden's—they should obey.

Wallace was invited to attend the hearing but declined to come, sending instead his legal advisor, John Harris.

"The governor's position is when you cause massive busing—in this case it's cross-busing—there is a danger to life and a disruption of the education process," Harris said.

Wallace's lawyer said the governor was convinced his executive order "transcends the order of this court."

Pointer, however, cited sections of the Supreme Court's Charlotte-Mecklenburg ruling which authorized busing and gives district judges wide discretionary powers to eliminate all vestiges of state-imposed segregation. The judge said Wallace's order must fall before constitutionally guaranteed rights.

"It seems to me the Alabama Supreme Court has ruled in an advisory opinion, on the request of the persons now occupying the (governor's) office, that the governor did not have the power to open and close schools," Pointer said.

Boise firm lays off 40 employees

BOISE (UPI)—A Boise Cascade Corp. official confirmed Tuesday the company has laid off or rejected "possibly 40 employees" as part of a cutback in one of its programs.

John Fery, executive vice president, said the change was "just a program to adjust our personnel complement as we reduce our commitment in on-site housing construction and recreation communities."

The 40 employees are in the Boise area, with possibly more to be affected outside of Boise. Department heads, supervisors and clerical staff were among those involved.

"This is not an abnormal situation," Fery said. "We are reducing our commitment."

The decision to get out of some residential and recreation community projects was announced earlier this summer by Boise Cascade.

Obituaries

- B. Johnson - BURLEY - F. Bruce Johnson, 72, Burley, died Monday at Portland, Ore., while visiting a son. He was born May 16, 1899, at Decatur, Ill. He moved to Heyburn in 1909 and attended grade school there. In 1914 he moved to Buhl and graduated from Buhl High School in 1917. He was a veteran of World War I, having served in France. Mr. Johnson attended the University of Idaho for two years and the University of Washington for two years. In 1929 he was married to Ilda Romine in Twin Falls. He worked in the laundry business in Twin Falls for nine years. In 1937 he purchased the Burley Laundry and Dry Cleaning which he operated until 1962. He was associated with the Truman Bradley Agency from 1962 until he suffered a stroke three years ago. He was a member of the Burley Presbyterian Church, the Burley Masonic Lodge No. 68, AF and AM, and was a past president of the Idaho Launderers and Dry Cleaners Association. Survivors include his widow, Burley; one son, James Bruce Johnson, Portland; one daughter, Ilda Jean Johnson, Burley; one grandson, Bruce Michael Johnson, Portland. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Burley Presbyterian church with Rev. Dr. David E. Buzza officiating. Concluding rites will be held at the Pleasant View cemetery, Burley. Friends may call at the Payne Mortuary Wednesday afternoon, evening and Thursday prior to time of services. The family suggests memorials be made to the Heart Fund or the Idaho Youth Ranch at Rupert.

Influence peddler dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nathan M. Voloshin, aged and shadowy influence peddler convicted of using the office of former House Speaker John W. McCormack to bring pressure to bear on a host of government officials, died Monday in the coronary care unit of Mount Sinai Hospital. It was disclosed Tuesday.

A hospital spokesman said the 73-year-old Voloshin died at 2 p.m. EDT, two hours after he was admitted.

Voloshin was indicted with Martin Swift, McCormack's administrative assistant, by a federal grand jury in New York on Jan. 2, 1970, on charges of conspiring to exert pressure on federal agencies from McCormack's office. They also were accused of perjury.

Voloshin pleaded guilty June 17, 1970, and cooperated with the government. He was given a suspended sentence, placed on a year's probation and fined $10,000 for perjury and conspiracy. Swift, 48, was convicted July 9, 1970, of one count of perjury; sentenced to 30 months in prison and fined $2,000.

Although Voloshin spent much of his time in Washington and was licensed to practice law in Maryland, he had an office here and lived in a Park Avenue apartment.

Opening set for business

TWIN FALLS - Grand opening for the Quick Copy Center is scheduled for Monday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. according to Lloyd Peterson, owner.

The shop, located at 117 Second Street West, offers quick printing service for all types of copy, Peterson said.

The service can reproduce typed, handwritten or drawn copy as well as newspaper or magazine clippings. Postups of several kinds of copy also reproduce satisfactorily, he said.

Office hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Peterson, a native of Wendell, has lived in the Twin Falls area since 1950 and has 12 years experience in printing.

M. Mulconerny

ABILENE, Tex. - Mark Mulconerny, infant twin son of Airman I-C and Mrs. Philip E. Mulconerny II, formerly of Twin Falls and Buhl, died Tuesday at his Abilene home.

Mark would have been six months old on Thursday.

Survivors include his parents and his twin brother Craig Mulconerny, Abilene, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mulconerny, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Lauritzen, Salt Lake City, Utah. Funeral services will be scheduled in Salt Lake City.

Curbs Needed

Unbridled power of large labor unions, led by some who seem imbued with the spirit of the rail tycoons that legend has it once said, "The public be damned," poses the major domestic crisis of President Nixon's efforts to stop inflation and to help employers provide more jobs.

Unemployment doesn't seem to concern some union bosses, who complain the working man must bear the brunt of the wage-price freeze and that Nixon has offered "a bonanza" to business. This is not true and Leonard Woodcock of the Automobile Workers, Harry Bridges of the Longshorem, and George Meany of the AFL-CIO, know it isn't true.

Treasury Secretary John Connally branded it for what it is — demagoguery. President Frank Fitzsimmons of the giant Teamsters' Union was a notable exception. He said his union will cooperate with the President's 90-day freeze. The others, or some of them, seem bent on a show-down, matching union power against the government, which too often has been reluctant to curb their arrogance.

This time may be different. Employment is truly productive only when it is provided by private enterprise. It becomes an added burden to taxpayers when government jobs and welfare doles are substituted for work that creates products.

This is a competitive world without any safe snuggery for anyone, especially those who refuse to work.

The economic union of Western Europe in the Common Market will bring a challenge from the west matching that of industrial Japan in the east.

International power is created by competitive strength in productivity, by the industrial complex, if you please, which gives the sinews to the military. A small minority has rallied at this source of our national power, which has brought us to world leadership.

When Japanese steel products can be shipped halfway around the world and sold for less in Cleveland than a local mill can manage, when appliances made in America can be shipped to Italy for assembly and shipped back at a cost savings, there can be no question but that American labor, with astonishing lack of judgment, has been pricing itself out of the market, and in the long-run, out of jobs.

A breathing space of 90 days will do no lasting damage to anybody. It should be used to better advantage than indulgence in bickering and defiance.

By Sen. Edmund S. Muskie
In Seattle a highly trained engineer, having just made a down payment on a new house, drives to work one morning and finds himself without a job. In Bridgeport, Conn., a train conductor with 25 years' experience on the railroad fears that his job, along with passenger service, is on the way out. In Saltville, Va., a polluting plant "shuts down" rather than pay the cost of controlling its pollution, and 600 jobs are lost. Economic dislocation is the technical name for this problem. The reality is that the problem presently threatens the livelihood of over a million

American. The demand for the products they once made and the services they once offered is declining or disappearing. This kind of change is an inevitable and continuing process in our economy. But, as a society, we are not doing enough about the human impact of economic dislocation. The government's failure is particularly unacceptable. It seems to me, in time of rising unemployment and declining opportunity, a just society must do better than exiling people with skills and a will to work to reliance on relief, dumping the resulting tax burden on the already overtaxed citizens of America's cities and towns.

One solution to this problem — and I believe it is the wrong solution — is to deal with necessary changes in the economy by stubbornly denying that they are taking place. To protect jobs in the defense industry, the Nixon administration now asks us to purchase more arms than the country needs, when we should instead be preserving old jobs and creating new ones by encouraging industry to use its potential to meet pressing domestic needs.

In the alleged interest of aerospace workers, we are asked to spend hundreds of million of dollars more on an environmental disaster called the SST — so thousands of men and women can waste their talents and their time instead of applying them to our most urgent national tasks. Like developing essential mass transit systems for our cities, ironically, we hear those requests from the same administration which spent over a year delaying the enactment of a federal system to fund jobs in vital public services — in hospitals, neighborhood schools, and local government — where the need for workers is as real as the unemployed's need for work. With the problem of economic dislocation, as with the problem of the economy in general, the Nixon administration is playing out a losing game plan. The President's game plan promised to avoid a painful choice between galloping inflation and soaring unemployment. In a sense, at least, it worked. We have ended up with both. And we have ended up with a similar disaster in the defense and aerospace industries.

We hear about a choice between a high defense and aerospace budget and high unemployment in these industries. Yet in defense industry areas, unemployment has climbed to intolerable levels, while the military budget is still over $70-billion a year. Since 1968, aerospace employment alone has fallen by a staggering 30 per cent.

Should we respond with more of the same failure — with an artificially high defense budget? I believe there is another, better alternative. I believe that reducing defense expenditures and diversifying the defense industry can help to rebuild our economy and put the unemployed back to work. Defense industries can be adapted to produce better housing instead of bigger bombs — and the federal government can use the money cut from the defense budget to make adaptation profitable for both the nation and the industry.

We can do something about the fact that, for every dollar we are spending on mass transit systems, we are spending $500 on defense. And that something could mean new contracts for aerospace industries, new jobs for engineers and machinists, a new assignment on a new train for the conductor in Bridgeport, and reduced taxes for all American wage-earners.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

About Juries

As one attempt to speed the judicial process in the United States, some attention has been directed at releasing juries from the concept of unanimous consent on their verdicts. The movement is progressing slowly and meeting stiff resistance.

An important precedent for the idea has existed all along, but has been largely ignored. Many decisions of the Supreme Court have been handed down on a 5-4 vote. Few important decisions are rendered unanimously.

Even though the nine justices are presumed to be men of comparable legal expertise, a mere majority of one can invalidate the opinions of the minority four.

Such a slim difference is not acceptable, however, when 12 laymen are considering a judgment of much lower national importance. A unanimous verdict is required. One result of this procedure is that the intransigence of a single member of the jury can and frequently does result in no verdict at all.

As a result, costly retrials must be held if the guilt or innocence of the accused is to be pursued, and the guilty have a better opportunity to escape punishment.

There are procedural as well as judicial difference between the Supreme Court and lesser tribunals to consider, but the idea of accepting an overwhelming verdict such as 11-1 or 10-2 — in place of unanimity may be a concept whose time has come.

The Great Stories

Easy Way

There were many great news stories that never made the papers. These were my favorites.

It was a cold winter's night in Secret Falls, when patrolman Sean Morgan was cruising around in his car. Suddenly the radio barked, "Go to 107 Maple Street; a pregnant lady needs help."

Sean turned on his siren and at 80 miles an hour sped to the address. Waiting in front of the house was the nervous husband, who explained "his wife" was about to have a baby, but he couldn't get his car started and he didn't know what to do.

Sean said he would take the wife in his car, but the husband said it was too late. His wife had started giving birth to the baby in the house.

The patrolman rushed inside and shouted to the husband, "I want hot water, lots of hot water." The husband dashed into the kitchen and started heating up kettles while Sean went into the bedroom, took off his jacket and rolled up his sleeves.

In a few minutes the husband dashed in with the boiling water.

Sean smiled sickly and didn't say anything.

"Here's the water," the husband said. "What are you going to do with it?"

"How the hell do I know?" Sean said, shrugging his shoulders, "I'm not a doctor."

Charles Weatherspoon-hated abstract art and the cult that went with it. When he heard there was going to be an abstract art exhibition he submitted a painting done by a chimpanzee and then wanted to see the results.

The day of judging arrived, and a group of distinguished art critics walked down the aisles studying each painting.

Then they came to Weatherspoon's entry. They all stopped and stared an finally the alliance was broken by James Corrigan, the greatest abstract-art expert in the United States, who said, "That's the loudest abstract painting by a chimpanzee that I've ever seen."

Major Roy McMullen, World War II ace, who was shot down in his fighter plane near the end of the war, was stationed in Germany in 1961 as commander of a squadron. One day he was visited by Friedrich von Ralston, a Luftwaffe fighter pilot who had been appointed liaison officer to Major McMullen's outfit. The two started exchanging war stories and Von Ralston told of the day he shot down a P-38 over Stuttgart.

"I was shot down over Stuttgart," Major McMullen said, "on November 12, 1944, in a P-38."

"That's the day I shot down the plane," Vol Ralston said excitedly. "It was number 345."

"Then you shot me down," Major McMullen said.

"Yah," Von Ralston said, "it was me."

"Why you no good S.O.B.," Major McMullen said, and hit Von Ralston right in the teeth.

Chuck Winthrop, who weighed only 140 pounds, was too light to make the Wallaboo University football team, but he tried so hard that the coach took pity on him, and let him suit up for every game, though he always kept him on the bench.

In the final game of the year against Wallaboo's archrivals, Gazonga Tech, Wallaboo's first-string quarterback was injured in the second quarter. In the final quarter, Wallaboo's second-string quarterback was also injured. Gazonga was leading 6-0.

The coach looked down the bench and his eyes met Chuck's. "Please, coach," pleaded Chuck. "My parents came 2,000 miles to see me play. Send me in."

The coach shook his head. "You're too light."

"It's my last year. Just let me play for a few minutes," Chuck cried.

The coach got up from the bench and walked over to Chuck. He put his hand on his shoulder and he said, "No, you're too light. We'll finish up the game without a quarterback."

And Wallaboo did. The final score was still 6-0.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like all information concerning an operation I read a lot about recently. It involves removing part of the intestine and it is supposed to get rid of, in a short time, all excess weight.

I have had a weight problem all my life and would like to know where an operation such as this can be performed and the approximate cost.

I've read where persons have lost hundreds of pounds after the operation and will never gain any back, no matter what type of eating habits they have. Is this possible and how safe is it?

I will appreciate an immediate response because I really want to know the medical facts about it. — D. H.

You may not be so optimistic when you get the facts.

You possibly have read of people losing hundreds of pounds with more conservative methods, too.

The method you've read about (and not all you read was true) is a drastic method, used for obese people who can't or won't use ordinary methods to reduce. It is called an intestinal shunt, and amounts to short-circuiting part of the intestine.

Under such circumstances, only a small part of the food you eat is absorbed. That includes vitamins and necessary minerals, so while the shunt is in effect, the patient has to be studied constantly, to avoid risk of serious deficiencies.

It definitely is not true that such patients will not gain any weight back "no matter what type of eating habits they have." They will get fat again — unless they learn new eating habits. And it is the general experience with such patients that they require psychiatric counseling before they learn what drives them to have such unmanageable appetites.

Some do learn this and stay slim. Some don't and get fat. As to cost, remember this involves two major operations — plus the required hospitalization, plus the constant tests that are required, plus the psychiatric or other counseling which is necessary if the whole thing isn't to be a costly waste of effort.

It is being done in some of the bigger hospitals, but it is expensive, and sort of a last resort for people who can afford it but can't control their huge appetites.

It is not what so many people hope it will be: an easy way to stay thin without any effort.

You still have to learn better eating habits — so why not learn them without all the surgery?

MR. SPECTATOR

Magic Yesterdays

We can remember when, with Dad, we used to climb out of a warm bed at about 4:30 in the morning, eat a hasty breakfast prepared by Mother while we were getting washed and dressed, then head for the railroad yards where the circus train was being unloaded.

We were not the only ones there. It was sort of a ritual in those days. When the big circus came to town there were several hundred people who made the same early-morning trek. Then after the train was unloaded — mostly through the efforts of the big elephants — we would all go to the unfenced baseball park where the big tent was put up — together with the sideshow tent, of course.

Well, we went through the process the other day in Salt Lake City. Of course, we didn't get up early because the circus had been there a few days. We didn't get to see the tent go up because there was no tent.

Rather the performance Mr. and Mrs. Spectator went to — and we made it an event by taking along our two youngsters, and their spouses — started promptly at 8 p.m. and it was inside that big, wonderful Salt Palace.

It was the 100th anniversary performance of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus. It was billed the "Greatest Show On Earth." That has been their slogan for as far back as we can remember.

And it is just about that. It was impressive and the talent of the performers was for real. The costumes were sparkling clean and unwrinkled. The animals were scrubbed.

How different than the old days. We can remember the dirt and the dust of the circus way back. The water wagon would cruise around and turn the dust into mud. People waded right through. The seats were hard and dirty and of wood. At the Salt Palace the seats were upholstered!

But it was still the circus — even without the old dirt and confusion. There is something about a circus that lingers on in memory long after other memories are faded. We wonder how long it will keep going, though, in this age of "different" entertainment.

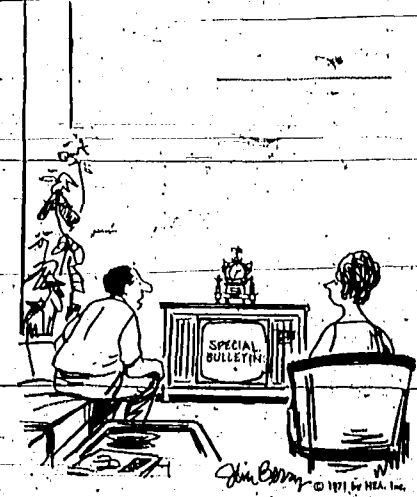

For a long while, we hope, because all kids — even old ones — should see the circus!

Airport, wine votes Oct. 26

TWIN FALLS—Qualified electors in eight Magic Valley Counties will go to the polls Oct. 26 to vote on establishment of a regional airport authority with the goal of a multi-million dollar airport project just north of Twin Falls in Jerome County.

The date was set by Darrell Manning, Idaho director of aeronautics, who advised the commissioners in Magic Valley yesterday.

Voting simultaneously on the airport issue will be residents of Twin Falls, Cassia, Blaine, Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Camas counties.

In Twin Falls County, at least, there will be two elections on that date. County commissioners previously agreed by resolution to hold an election on the question of legalized sale of table wine in grocery stores at the first county wide election.

Voting machines in the county have been programmed for two "yes" and "no" votes in anticipation of the two elections. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. and voters must be registered.

Books in Twin Falls county are now open for registration of 18 year old voters and others eligible for voting this year. Persons may register at the county clerk's office for the two elections.

At the time the regional airport authority election date was announced, a workshop session was underway in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building to discuss new Idaho election laws. County clerks' offices throughout the valley were represented. In discussion sessions the question of holding the airport authority and wine elections at the same time was discussed and it was agreed a resolution could be adopted by the county officials designating the county clerk as the election official for both.

Only a simple majority is needed to pass either issue. Members of the Interim Airport Commission point out the Oct. 26 vote is only to authorize a permanent Airport Authority, the members of which will be responsible for determining if a regional airport is feasible on a financial basis and otherwise.

Should one or more of the counties defeat the airport issue and others approve it, any three contiguous counties can form the authority and any non-contiguous county can then participate, committee members explained.

If the airport region is to include all eight counties each must approve the question Oct. 26 in their individual counties. An area wide general majority would carry the issue only in the counties where the majority of the voters approved it.

Several months ago, Twin Falls county commissioners agreed to let the voting public decide the wine issue although the new law gives them the right to authorize wine sales and county residents who disapprove could then petition to have the matter brought to a vote.

Commissioners felt the voters should make the original decision and most other county commissioners in the Valley indicated a similar feeling. To save the cost of an additional special election, other counties may announce plans for wine sales question on the same ballot.

Old guide hung anew

BOISE (UPI)—A building directory believed to have been the original one in the Idaho statehouse has been brought out of storage and hung in the building's north wing.

Robert Lenaghan, acting director of administrative services, said the directory apparently was stored for many years and was discovered by building superintendent E. T. Reeves. Reeves took the brass directory to Lenaghan, who has been furnishing his offices with pieces of furniture found in statehouse storage.

Court setup said costly

TWIN FALLS—City council members and county commissioners of Twin Falls, in a noon luncheon meeting Tuesday concluded the new Idaho magistrate court system is not saving taxpayers money but is costing more than the previous system.

City Manager Jean Millar said the city has received about $4,000 less in fines and court fees over the past eight months, but the city no longer pays for a police judge and court but it has hired an additional prosecutor.

County officials say their fees and fines have increased but not in a proportion which offsets the much higher cost of operating Magistrate Court compared to the old Probate and Justice courts.

County Commissioner Heber Loughmiller said the idea of the new Magistrate Court system was to save taxpayer money by combining court operations but as yet it has shown no trend in this direction.

Cost of setting up the new system and cost of operation thus far in 1971 have not balanced with the court income at this point although it may level off as the system continues, county officials said.

Costs spark clash

TWIN FALLS—City and county officials came to odds Tuesday over their contract setting the price of prisoner meals at $1 each on a basis of two meals per day.

The contract requires the city to pay the county $1-per-meal for prisoners taken into custody for violation of city ordinances or otherwise charged under city ordinance.

The county would pay at the same rate for any prisoner placed in the city jail and arrested under state law, or county ordinance.

Discrepancies appeared when the city received bills from the county for all prisoners arrested by city police whether under city ordinance or state law.

Sheriff Paul Corder says he has no way of knowing in most cases what circumstances of the arrest may be, but knows if the prisoner came from the city, county or state and has been using this as a guide.

It was agreed for the remainder of the year the city would be billed only for those arrested under city ordinance, and the sheriff would ask the county clerk for the cash register code records showing the source of each arrest. This will be matched with the jail meal records to determine proper billing.

Both groups admitted the system has many weaknesses and suggested the office of the attorney general be contacted for an opinion on more equitable division of prisoner costs and other counties be contacted to determine how the divisions are made there.

Collision hurts woman

TWIN FALLS—Muriel Moss, 45, Chicago, suffered minor injuries Tuesday in an intersection collision at Second Avenue East and Third Street East.

City police said Mrs. Moss was a passenger in the vehicle driven by John Bowen Moss, 73, Buhl. Another passenger, Ester Moss, 69, Buhl, escaped injury.

The Moss vehicle collided with one driven by Florence M. Thornton, 60, Route 2, Eden. Mrs. Thornton was cited for failure to yield right of way. Damage was estimated at $300 to the Moss vehicle and $150 to the Thornton auto.

driver while he went off to call American MPs, eyewitnesses said.

While he was gone, the Vietnamese, an army private, broke away from the three GIs and ran for his truck. The Americans used their rifles to shoot the tires of the vehicle, witnesses said.

They dragged the Vietnamese private out of the truck, beat him, stripped him to his undershorts and painted him with turpentine. Afterward they smashed the truck's windshield and headlights, slashed the canvas cover over the bed and ripped out the ignition wiring.

When the MPs arrived, they took the Vietnamese air to the U.S. 18th Surgical Hospital, where orderlies cleaned the tar off him with gasoline, treated his bruises and put him in bed, although he was not seriously injured.

Vietnamese military sources said the soldier will be punished, and U.S. spokesmen said the Americans involved were being investigated. They said "appropriate measures" will be taken against them if it is found they committed a punishable offense.

GI's strike at thieves

QUANG TRI COMBAT BASE, Vietnam (UPI)—American GIs, outraged by a series of thefts and burglaries in their barracks here, shot the tires out from under a truckload of stolen goods and then beat and tarred the South Vietnamese driver.

Ever since the largest American unit that occupied this base, the First Brigade of the 5th Mechanized Division, pulled out a month ago, South Vietnamese soldiers and civilians have been stripping and looting the base.

In addition to dismantling abandoned barracks, they also have begun breaking into buildings still occupied by other American units. They even have started rifling the personal belongings of GIs.

There has been increasing anger among the Americans against the Vietnamese, and it apparently came to a head Monday when a U.S. officer became suspicious of a Vietnamese army truck parked near a U.S. barracks.

When the officer looked inside the weapons carrier he found it filled with what he believed were stolen goods. He told three GIs to hold the truck

Prove claims, firms ordered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eleven air conditioner makers and four electric razor firms have been ordered by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to furnish proof of advertising claims within 60 days.

The FTC acted Tuesday under a policy requiring advertisers to substantiate claims for their products on demand.

On July 13 the agency gave the big four domestic auto makers and three foreign auto firms until Sept. 15 to make replies.

Electric razor firms ordered to furnish proof were North American Phillips Corp., New York; Sperry Rand Corp., New York; Shick Electric, Inc., Lancaster, Pa.; and Sunbeam Corp., Chicago.

The air conditioner firms were Raytheon Co., Lexington, Mass.; General Electric Co., New York; Carrier Corp., Syracuse, N.Y.; Westinghouse Corp., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Trane Co., La Crosse, Wis.; White Consolidated Industries, Cleveland; McGraw-Edison Corp., Elgin, Ill.; Chrysler Corp., Highland Park, Mich.; City Investing Co., New York City; Borg-Warner Corp. and Whirlpool Corp., Benton Harbor, Mich.

The orders cited advertisements in newspapers and magazines and commercials on radio and television.

The air conditioning and electric razor firms were ordered to furnish documentation concerning safety, performance, quality and comparative price.

For example, Whirlpool was instructed to furnish proof of its claim that a "special panic button to cool off extra fast" is a unique feature of its air conditioner.

North American Phillips was asked to submit proof for a claim its Norplex microgroove shaver shaves "up to 44 per cent closer, up to 50 per cent faster... than they ever could before."

Hansen asks probe of training flights

TWIN FALLS—Cong. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has asked John H. Shaffer, administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, to investigate concern expressed by general aviation pilots over the heavy helicopter training program now in progress at Hill Field in Utah.

Cong. Hansen told Shaffer in a letter he had received communications expressing fear for the safety of both pilots and passengers of private and commercial planes while flying into and out of Salt Lake City. The air force training program calls for some practice flights and refueling from the air directly in the area which is the approach to the big Salt Lake City airport from the north.

The Times-News in a recent editorial outlined the concern of Magic Valley airmen and said that although safety measures are no doubt being taken, the training exercises should have been in the non-populated nearby areas of Utah and Nevada.

Cong. Hansen said that his letter to Shaffer, which urged him to correct, "if necessary, any practices which might jeopardize the safety of other pilots and passengers." Included a copy of the Times-News editorial. The editorial, the congressman said, "sums up the feelings of those who have been in touch with me."

Welcome prepared for queen

JAKARTA (UPI)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands is scheduled to arrive in Jakarta Thursday to the most elaborate welcome this country has ever given a visiting head of state. Along the 200-mile route the Dutch monarch will travel during her 10-day visit in Java and Bali, old feudal traditions—purposefully forgotten since the revolution for independence in the 1940s—will be revived, to add touches of elegance and glamor to the official welcoming ceremonies. Court dancers are being trained with rigorous discipline to present Java's oldest dance, the srimpi, once favored for the eyes of royalty alone, to the millions of rupiahs are being spent to build a resthouse at the site of Borobudur, Central Java's famed Buddhist temple ruin which Sir Thomas Stamford Raffles discovered and Dutch archeologists reconstructed. In Jakarta itself, parts of the city which used to be known as old Batavia and which was the core from which the Dutch East Indian empire spread in the 17th and 18th centuries, are being cleaned for an inspection by Queen Juliana. Foreigners have observed a certain nostalgia among Indonesians for things Dutch. Dutchmen are struck by the complete absence of any feelings of resentment.

Crazed intruders kill zoo animals

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI)—Practically the entire animal population of a small children's zoo in this Westchester County community was slaughtered during the night by intruders who may have been "psychos or crazed on dope," officials reported Tuesday. One zoo official said the animal killings were as bizarre as the Sharon-Tate murders in California. Patrolman John Guarino said ears were ripped off rabbits while they were still alive. He said blood was smeared all over the windows, animal ears put on door knobs and a sign which read "snack bar" was placed on top of some mutilated carcasses. "Some rabbits were slammed against the building, breaking every bone in their bodies and a few were thrown on the roof," Angelo Valentino, the zoo supervisor, said. "Clown heads which we use on our waste receptacles, were taken off and placed among the mess." Valentino said the toll was 11 rabbits, three pigeons and one chicken. The zoo's one monkey managed to escape up a tree, but with a severe wound on his head, Valentino said.

RE-INVENTED — RE-INVENTED — RE-INVENTED — RE-INVENTED

Here's why we say "Frigidaire! re-invents the washer"

Never before so many improvements at one time. Including 1 piece to 18 pound capacity, a better way to fill and rinse, infinite water level control, exclusive RapidDry, 630/650 Spin Speed, even a removable console for quick, easy servicing. If it's ever needed.

IF YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR SOMETHING NEW IN HOME LAUNDRY — TAKE TIME TO READ THIS — YOU'LL FIND EVERY WORD MOST INTERESTING!

Here's how simple it is to use the Re-invented Washer

- 1-18 Start with the biggest load you've got. Sort your laundry exactly as you would with a conventional washer. And don't worry about load size. The Frigidaire Jet Action 1-18 washer and its companion dryer can handle from one piece to 18 pounds with ease.
- 1-18 Put your detergent, bleach, and other laundry aids in the automatic dispenser. It's beneath the measuring cup cap on top of the Jet Cone Agitator.
- 1-18 Set the infinite water level control at any point from Mini to Maxi, depending on the size of your load. You'll get the right water level automatically.
- 1-18 Set the controls for a perfect wash. Set wash and rinse water temperatures (or the Goof-Proof automatic Fabrics Selector on models so equipped). Select the desired wash time. The Timer is calibrated in both minutes and degree of soil. Pull the Timer, and you're on your way!
- 1-18 Now... relax. Immediately, the Jet Cone Spray Fill and Rinse System starts drenching the clothes. 12 pressurized water jets spray down from around the top of the tub, to get clothes wet before agitation begins.
- 1-18 Jet Action Agitation takes it from there. As agitation begins, diluted detergent and laundry aids enter the tub. The bladeless and down action keeps clothes underwater. They plunge deep, circulating, turning top-to-bottom, over and over. The agitation is tough on dirt, but so gentle, even apron strings seldom tangle.
- 1-18 The most thorough rinse you can get. After agitation, during spin, the Jet Cone Spray System sprays excess suds off the laundry. Another spray fills the tub for deep rinse agitation. Then again during the final spin, the Jet Cone Spray gives a just-to-be-sure rinse, and clothes are spun dry.
- 1-18 The fastest spin on any automatic washer. Exclusive RapidDry 630/650 Spin Speed whips out water. The finished load is lighter and almost dry. Many pieces can be ironed right from the washer.
- 1-18 Then to the Frigidaire Flowing Heat 1-18 Dryer for a fast finish. Faster because it will dry any load the washer will wash. Because the large opening (240 sq. in.) makes it easier to load and unload. "Sorting Fingers" separate clothes as they tumble. And Flowing Heat leaves them sunshine fresh. Permanent Press Care, of course.

Every Frigidaire Jet Action 1-18 washer has these features

- Jet Flow Lint Filter Traps even the finest lint particles. Easy to get to, easy to clean. Out-of-the-way for loading and unloading clothes.
- Washer Sanitize Setting Helps you keep your washer fresh and sanitary. Just add chlorine bleach according to directions and dial Sanitize setting (+). Especially helpful during family illness.
- Permanent Press Care A combination of gentle agitation, proper water temperature and controlled spin. Helps keep wrinkles from setting. Saves ironing.
- No gears to wear — No oil to leak Patented Roller-Matic Mechanism is one of the simplest washer transmissions you can buy. Tough urethane rollers deliver the power. No gears, so there's no need for oil.
- 5 year nationwide protection plan 1-year Warranty for repair of any defect in the entire product, plus a 4-year Protection Plan (parts only) for furnishing replacement part in the complete Transmission (except belt), Drive Motor and Water Pumps.

All this for less than you'd expect to pay!

Come in today and see it demonstrated.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices were firm in heavy turnover as trading rounded the halfway point on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Advances led declines by a two-to-one margin, while the Dow-Jones industrial average showed a gain of more than 6 1/2 points at 910.78. Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 11,930,000 shares, down slightly from the 12,160,000 shares traded at a comparable period Tuesday.

Strength continued to reflect the enthusiasm that has been mushrooming on Wall Street since President Nixon unveiled a new economic game plan on Aug. 15.

Among the day's most active stocks were Interstate Stores off 1 1/2 on 259,700 shares, Bunker-Ramo up 3/4 on 189,500 shares, Bethlehem Steel 3/4 higher on 161,000 shares, Transamerica 3/4 higher on 118,000 shares, and National Steel up 1 1/2 on 95,200 shares.

Less active Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad scored a gain of 4 1/2 points, while Wall Disney added 4. Xerox, KLM, Royal Dutch Airlines and Magnavox rose a point or better.

IBM, however, slipped 3/4 and Control Data lost more than a point. Motors lost fractions. Chemicals traded in narrowly mixed fashion.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—About three years ago, a firm called Cybermatics, Inc. was called to my attention. I have, over a period of time, managed to acquire some of this and would appreciate your telling me just what you think of this stock.—T.M.

A—Cybermatics provides a diversified line of computer-oriented products and services, specializing in on-line communications-computer systems. Efforts to date (company is only a little over three years old) have proved successful. Sales for the year ended March, 1971, were posted at $5.4 million, up from $3.4 million, while earnings per share jumped to 38 cents from 10 cents the year before.

Two of our airline certificates carry a medium grade rating—no of borderline nature. And, while the return is above average, I question the advisability of placing such a large portion of your assets in two nearly-identical securities. In order to have more diversification and better quality, you should cut your airline holdings in half. Funds could be transferred to General Motors Acceptance 6 1/2 of 1977 near 90, Philadelphia Electric 6 1/2 of 1975 and Ford Motor 8 1/2 of 1974.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail questions, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Although both the stock and bond markets have reacted favorably to President Nixon's new economic policies, Halsey, Stuart & Co. does not believe bond prices have embarked on a prolonged bull market.

Halsey, Stuart warned unless there are some fundamental changes to deal with the inflation problem at its source, fixed income investments will reflect the erosion in purchasing power. It believes those changes may come however.

Nixon's economic program should "sharply accelerate" business activity as well as enhance the investment outlook, Argus Research Corp. said in its weekly staff report.

"The economic and investment research firm said 'it would be hard to conceive of a more powerful program of economic stimulation.'—The key Argus said—was the 'de facto devaluation' of the dollar.

Israel attacks U. S.

By United Press International
American-Israeli relations soured today following a rare Israeli attack against its staunchest ally on grounds the United States misinterpreted Israel's policy toward occupied Arab territory.

The Israeli foreign ministry charged in a statement Tuesday that the U.S. State Department's reactions to events in Israel and Damascus last week "do not create the proper impression" in Jerusalem.

A foreign ministry spokesman also accused the United States of "ignoring Israeli clarifications" designed to clear up a statement by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan last Thursday when he said Israel should take "unilateral and immediate" measures to establish a government in the occupied Arab territories.

State Department spokesman Robert McCloskey said in Washington Dayan's speech was "harmful" to peace prospects in the Middle East.

Saturday, Dayan said he was not proposing annexation of the lands Israel captured from its three Arab neighbors during the 1967 war.

Monday, McCloskey commented on a declaration of federation agreed to in Damascus Friday by the leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria and said the Arab union would meet with acceptance in the United States if it was "a genuine reflection of the public will."

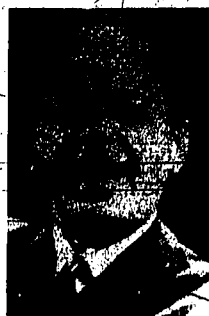

The declaration in part called for no negotiations with Israel on the return of occupied Arab territory, and apparently took a dim view of the U.S. approval in contrast to U.S. disapproval of Dayan's remarks.

"The defense minister's remarks, to which the State Department spokesman addressed himself, were in the nature of an assessment of the situation and the expression of an opinion and were not intended to alter the decisions of the government, as those decisions have been formulated and adopted," the foreign ministry statement said.

"The Damascus declaration announces specific political principles and aim of the federation, and therefore much gravity must be attached to its emphasis on there being no peace or negotiation with Israel," it said.

"We regretfully have to point out that these statements (by McCloskey) do not create the proper impression.

Rule of law promised

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Bolivia's new rightwing military president, Col. Hugo Banzer, promised a government of law and authority Tuesday in the wake of a four-day revolt in which at least 128 persons died and hundreds of others were wounded.

Banzer, backed by the armed forces and the country's two biggest political parties, the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR) and the Bolivian Socialist Falange (FSB), held his first news conference since seizing power Sunday.

"We are going to reestablish the principle of authority, of respect for the law," the 44-year-old, former war college president, said. He said he was not interested in being personally popular—"I am not interested in being liked by anyone—our ultimate objective is the happiness of the people."

Banzer denied rumors that the armed forces had demanded general elections by May, 1972. He said he agreed with leaders of the political parties which supported his revolt that "elections under the circumstances in which we are living now are not important."

In a reference to the people killed in the revolt, Banzer said, "I regret enormously the bloodshed, but when you are fighting for freedom, life is worth little."

Banzer said that Bolivia wished to continue having relations with all nations presently recognized which respected its sovereignty. But asked if Bolivia would resume relations with Communist Cuba, he replied: "Bolivia's people still cannot forget the Cuban interference in our national problems, by sending troops headed by Che Guevara. The people considered this an invasion."

Banzer did not commit himself on future economic and social policy. He said he would respect those measures taken by previous governments, including nationalization of the multi-million dollar Gulf Oil interests in the country, as long as they were beneficial to the nation.

Treaty stand hit

GENEVA (UPI)—The Soviet Union charged Tuesday that the Western powers oppose a treaty for complete demilitarization of the ocean floor because they plan to build submarine and military supply bases on the seabed.

Soviet negotiator Alexei A. Roshchin told the 25-nation Disarmament Conference, "The reason certain Western powers oppose demilitarization is that they are already realizing a package of military measures of the seabed and that plans of considerable expansion of their military activities—in this environment are being elaborated."

Roshchin said the treaty adopted last February prohibiting emplacement of nuclear and other mass destruction weapons on the seabed should be extended to include complete demilitarization.

Western spokesmen rejected the charges and said no such plans were being made.

No Cuba sub base, naval chief says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt, the chief of naval operations, said Tuesday that the Russians are maintaining missile-firing submarines off both U.S. coasts, but he did not think they had built a base in Cuba to serve them.

Appearing at a Pentagon news conference with Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee, Zumwalt was asked whether there were any indications the Soviets had developed facilities for servicing nuclear powered subs in Cienfuegos Harbor.

"I believe there is not a Soviet submarine base there," Zumwalt replied.

"I believe it is generally known that the Soviets are maintaining Y-class subs (the equivalent of the U.S. Polaris-firing sub) off both our coasts. Had they obtained a base there (in Cuba) they could have maintained a larger number."

He said Russian subs must now return to their Soviet bases for resupply and because of this, they keep only a relatively small number on patrol off U.S. coasts.

He said this number will increase even without a Cuban resupply base if the Russians keep up their present "fantastic rate" of nuclear submarine production.

Voting 'charade'

BOISE (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Tuesday called the forthcoming election in Vietnam a charade.

Church, speaking before the clergy of Idaho at St. Michael's Cathedral, said, "President Thieu cannot find an opponent who is willing to dignify his rigged election."

"That's what comes of our war to give the people of Vietnam a 'free choice'."

The senator said the United States had "neither the need nor the right to sacrifice a single American life for any objective exceeding our own vital interest, which is the preservation of the freedom and safety of the American people."

"If this be thought ungenerous or unaltruistic, I put it to you that no nation has the moral right to be generous or altruistic with the lives of its own citizens," Church said.

"Perhaps a totalitarian nation, conceiving itself a spiritual entity transcending its individual citizens, may claim that right. A democratic nation cannot; it's very existence is for the purpose of protecting and serving its citizens."

Church will leave for Pocatello Thursday to preside Friday at hearing scheduled by the Senate's committee on aging, of which he is chairman. The hearings will cover the problems of unemployment along older workers.

DEMOCRAT PRIMARY winner Bill Waller, Jackson, Miss., attorney, flashes victory sign to crowd gathered outside his headquarters after announcement of his selection as party candidate in Mississippi gubernatorial race. His opponent will be Charles Evers, black mayor of Fayette, Miss. Waller, 44, prosecuted white man in 1964 slaying of Evers' younger brother, Medgar. He upset Lt. Gov. Charles Sullivan, making his third bid for governorship. (UPI)

Strip mining, power plant control backed

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI)—The Rocky Mountain region faces "environmental degradation on a scale never anticipated" unless innovative action is taken soon in several areas, a conservationist warned Tuesday.

The warning comes from Tom Bell, former head of the Wyoming Outdoor Coordinating Council. He said action is needed to control strip mining for coal and uranium and the construction of new power plants.

Bell said he personally believed only Colorado Gov. John Love of all chief executives in the Rocky Mountain region had begun questioning the validity of continued uncontrolled growth.

He said Governors Stanley Hathaway of Wyoming and John R. Williams of Arizona "are sneeringly contemptuous of the environmental considerations of impending growth and development."

Montana's governor "gives lip service but opts for growth," he said, adding, New Mexico's

Bruce King and Idaho's Cecil Andrus "seem to be too new at their jobs to have been able to wrestle with serious population and environmental problems."

"Today the states of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona find that digging into the Earth's surface has literally opened up Pandora's box," he said in the Wyoming Wildlife Federation August newsletter.

"The huge deposits of coal mean strip mining on an incomprehensible scale, and along with that the siting of huge power generating plants. As if to add insult to injury, both Wyoming and New Mexico have huge deposits of uranium which entail strip mining—again to provide fuel for power generators."

He said such developments bring more people and more problems which add up to "environmental degradation on a scale never anticipated by the residents of the wide-open spaces."

"The once clean air is being sullied, rivers are, or will be, reduced to trickles as millions of gallons of water are used up in the steam generators and oil shale processing plants, and the impact on the land by more people will be irreversible."

"What is needed is bold, innovative and immediate action if environmental disasters are to be averted. The means would appear to be available if the leadership were forthcoming. At this point in time that does not seem likely."

Bell recommended that governors appoint a council of environmental advisors to lay the groundwork for legislation, while giving the governors an idea of some of the problems.

"This, of course, is assuming the governors have the knowledge, the feeling, and the disposition to appreciate and deal with the problems," he said.

Most of the Belgian people are Catholics.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS HEMINGWAY

Vonda King, Hemingway recite nuptial promise

TWIN FALLS — Vonda King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard King, and Douglas Hemingway, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Hemingway, all Twin Falls, were married Aug. 6 in rites at the Church of the Nazarene.

Rev. Lennie Anderson officiated at the candlelight ceremony before an altar setting which featured two candelabra and baskets of hot pink gladioli and lavender spider chrysanthemums. The bride also was decorated with lavender and purple satin bows.

The bride wore a floor-length, A-line silhouette gown of alpaca lace, fashioned with an empire waistline, a Victorian neckline, bishop sleeves and a three-tiered cathedral train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of lace and flowers.

She carried a white Bible, given to her by her mother, covered with a cascade of baby pink roses and gardenias. She carried a handkerchief which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. Bernard Pike, and wore a cross necklace belonging to her mother.

Susan Penton, Phoenix, Ariz., served as maid of honor, with Vicki Snyder, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Yvonne

King, sister of the bride, Maureen O'Brien, Debbie Mathis and Tammi Thompson. Don Hemingway, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, with Mitch Campbell, Jim Primus and Howard Morris as ushers.

Soloist was Lori Thompson, accompanied by Leilah Thornock at the organ. Pat Wildman recited a poem for the couple.

At the reception, the bride's table was covered with lavender satin with an overlay of white lace embroidered with lavender and purple satin streamers. It was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by two sweetheart cakes.

The gift tables were skirting in pink with lavender and purple bows. Centered above the gift tables was a cluster of pink bells and satin streamers. Decorations for the serving tables were made by the bridegroom's mother.

After a honeymoon trip to Seattle and Canada, the couple will reside at 100 Polk St., Twin Falls.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial miscellaneous shower hosted by Debbie Mathis, Suzanne Hedrick and Tammi Thompson.

Garden ceremony performed

TWIN FALLS — A summer garden wedding united in marriage Christy Ann Emerick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Emerick, and Jerald Blaine Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine C. Anderson, all Twin Falls.

Bishop Garth Galloway of the Fifth Ward LDS Church performed the double ring ceremony beneath an arch adorned with wedding bells, doves and yellow pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length cotton lace gown with an old-fashioned high neckline and mutton-leg sleeves. Her jewelry was a cameo brooch, inherited from her great-grandmother, Eva Ann Willis. In her hair she wore a laurel of white roses and white leaves and carried a nosegay of white and yellow roses centered on a white Bible with ascending streamers adorned with rosebuds.

Mrs. Jane Martin Blumires, Jerome, served as matron of honor, with Mrs. Lois Connell Emerick as bridesmaid. Flower girl was Cheryl Lynn Deubols, Denver, niece of the bridegroom.

Best man was Phillip R. Hafter, presently with the Air Force stationed at McChord Air Force Base, Wash. William Deubols, Denver, and David Anderson, Twin Falls, served as groomsmen.

A garden reception was held immediately after the ceremony. A white lace floor-length flounce adorned the sides of the bride's table with yellow satin draping the edges, along with clusters of orange and yellow pompons and bows.

Flower arrangements of yellow pompons, white doisy pompons and orange roses flanked the four-tiered wedding cake. The all-white cake was decorated with white roses and scrolls and topped with doves, with a scalloped floor forming the base. Punch was served from a punch bowl which belonged to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Willis Jensen, Concrete, Wash.

Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Robert Johnston, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Lynn Goodman and Mrs. Roy Brown, Twin Falls, all aunts of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. JERALD ANDERSON

White lace over lime-green covered the quarter tables for the guests. Small white baskets of yellow and orange pompons centered the tables.

Pamela Browne, Twin Falls, attended the guest table which was draped in a white crocheted tablecloth over white satin. The cloth was made by the bride's great-grandmother.

Gifts were displayed unopened at the base of a cherub statue topped with white chrysanthemums which stood near a flower garden.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone National Park and Jackson Hole, Wyo. They will reside at Schubert Heights on the campus of Idaho State University, where both will be attending school.

A kitchen shower was given for the bride by Mrs. Lynn Goodman and Mrs. Roy Brown and a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Gordon Cox and Mrs. Bud Hansen.

Horsemen compete for trophies

KETCHUM — The Ketchum Riding Academy staged an all-day Quarter Horse Show Sunday as a part of the "Ketchum Celebration." One hundred fifty horsemen from Idaho, California, Utah and Wyoming competed for trophies, ribbons and prize money.

Oliver Dibble, from Sun Valley, served as announcer and Linda Smith, Ketchum, was the ring steward. Jack Ryberg, Buffalo, Wyo., judged the show. First place winners in the Grand and Reserve Championships included the mar class — Tammany Tank, owned by the Rose Acro farm, Twin Falls; stallion class — Little Town, owned by Roy Carter of Wyoming; and gelding class — Cowpoke Pete, owned by Diana Thorson a Nampa.

In the largest performance class — The Western pleasure event — Spanish Roulette, ridden by Joe Taylor of Salt Lake City, won first place. And Mr. Pop Up, ridden by Bob Crombie of Salt Lake City, collected the $100 purse in the Open Cutting event.

Farewell fete slated Sunday

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Camp Fire Girls will hold a farewell reception for Mrs. Ruth Vandenberg, Aug. 29, at the Twin Falls Methodist Church.

Mrs. Vandenberg is retiring after serving as the Camp Fire Girls' executive director for 14 years.

Mrs. Norman McIntosh is the reception chairman. Potpourri will include Mrs. John Hayes, Mrs. W. A. VanEngelen, Mrs. Don Wallace, Mrs. K. Gibson, Mrs. Cal Wilson, Mrs. Cora Ainsworth, Mrs. Doris Harper, Mrs. E. W. Wilson, Mrs. Earl Walker and Mrs. Frank DePew. In charge of the guest book will be Mrs. Shirley Reed Burnett, Mrs. Peggy Nutting Wubker and Mrs. Marita Schmidt Wright. Mrs. Ethel Martin will take pictures and Mrs. DePew will make the cakes. The women of the Methodist Church are in charge of the reception table and the kitchen. The reception is from 2 to 5 p.m. The public is invited.

Jay-C-Ettes announce project

KING HILL — The Glenns Ferry Jay-C-Ettes have taken the Hammett Head Start and Day Care Center as a community civic and welfare project.

The school has been in need of volunteer workers for sometime and this will give each child more individual attention, as well as give the teachers more time to help in areas where they have special training.

The school is in need of used toys, clothing and art objects. Anyone wanting to donate items to the school is urged to contact the Jay-C-Ettes.

Anna Hadley and Jane Born, Jay-C-Ette-sponsored queen contestants, was ushers at the meeting Monday.

Attend meet

TWIN FALLS — Linda Garrett, Vickie Smith, John Warren and Maggi Wilson, all members of the Toons Organization for Retarded Children (TORCH), and Mrs. John Stevens, advisor, attend the fifth annual youth convention of the National Association for Retarded Children at St. Charles, Mo. They were among about 400 attending the five-day convention.

Anniversary observance set Thursday

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Skeen will observe their 25th Wedding Anniversary during a family gathering at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Skeen, 1084 11th Ave.

The couple has nine children, Robert, Martha, Russell, Renetta and LaVern, all residing at home. Mrs. LaDonna Holbrook, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Donald Hanson, Beaverton, Ore. and Michael Skeen, Fort Hood, Tex.

Mrs. Holbrook and her two daughters, Chanele and Dawnette, along with Mr. and Mrs. Hanson and their two daughters, Holly and Heidi, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Skeen will be present for the observance.

Club meets

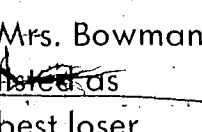

HOLLISTER — The Happy-Hollister 4-H Livestock Club met Tuesday at the home of members, Norma and Bill Jones, in Filer.

Members observed various types of swine. A contest was held to guess the combined weight of two swine: Marcia Chadwick was first, Dixilyn Noh, second, and Teresa Jones, third.

Teresa Jones gave a demonstration of leathersmith, showing one method of lacing. Refreshments were served by Mary Nell Pastoor and Kathy Jones.

"Fashion Follies" slated Thursday

SUN VALLEY — Adventure will present "Fall Fashion Follies," a light-hearted revue to reveal the directions fashions are taking this year, at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Duchin Room of the Sun Valley Lodge.

Mrs. Bowman best loser

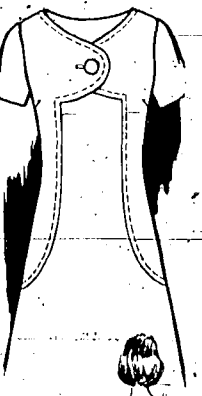

HANSEN — Mrs. Paul Bowman was best loser of the week at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith. Mrs. Bowman presided in the absence of Mrs. George Gay.

Gainers read penalties to be given at next week's meeting. Since this was the end of the "Lucky Bucks" contest, Mrs. Bryson Vinyard announced the winner, Mrs. Bowman won the most "Lucky Bucks," with Mrs. Reed Lyons and Mrs. Frank Admire as runners-up. Gifts were then auctioned to the members, with Mrs. Vinyard as auctioneer.

Mrs. Lyons gave a hint for helping to cut calories. She cut pictures of women which were about her height and weight, and pinned the before and after pictures in her kitchen work area as an incentive to how she cut away after losing weight.

Shoshone class has reunion

SHOSHONE — A 26-year class reunion was held for the 1951 Shoshone high school graduating class this past weekend here. A dinner meeting was held at the Manhattan Cafe, with a family picnic at the city park the next day.

At the dinner, recognition was given Mrs. J. O. (Trudy Hubert) Simpson, Shoshone, for having been married the longest, having the oldest child and having the most children, eight. Bert Brookbank, Seattle, and Warren Kenaston, Southern California, came the greatest distance to attend; Ed Hahn, Pocatello, had lived in the most homes; Keniston the most states; Gordon Sorensen, Shoshone, was the first grandfather of the group; Clarence Tanaka, Shoshone, married the shortest length of time and with the youngest child.

Letters were received from several class members who were unable to attend.

Teachers of the class who were present along with their wives included Camden Meyer, Twin Falls; Clinton Bugg, Kimberly, and Harroll Thorne, Shoshone.

Plans were made to hold another reunion in five years, with Tanaka again to assist Kenaston on the planning committee.

PREPARE FOR FALL FASHION

By Mary Sue Miller

When the fall fashion season rolls around, the next most important thing to a chapeau on your head is a shaper on your hips. These new skirts, with a relaxed or flippy hemline hang from a snug hipline.

No fitting! — The undershapers, from bras to body suits and girdles, long or short, are designed to mold the body with a minimum of construction and a maximum of natural effect. In other words nobody knows you wear one. More seams and darts have been eliminated or hidden. Materials are more than ever malleable and pretty. The quintessence!

Tricsots have a luxury silk-stain finish. Laces come with the look of the handmade. Lace-payed satin straps offer a bonus in the looks department.

But, nuthinks, color is the appeal feature of underpinnings. Shades aim to blend with outerwear. Wearing them makes you feel better — as attractive as you are.

Such colors as tawny amber and subtle nude compliment fashion's spex shades like chili and ginger. Amethyst and gray pearl keep company with the purples and berry colors. Try coral or pastel red with gray outerwear; navy under red; prints under black; black under background prints or browns.

Could be, new undershapers would start the fall-off night.

DEAR ABBY: I am a bright, well-educated girl. Just turned 30, and I work as a secretary for a fascinating gentleman who's 57. I've been around a bit, and ever since I've known this man (some seven years) I haven't met anyone my own age who is as attractive. They haven't the sophistication, sense of humor, ability to enjoy life—you name it, he has it. I guess I'm in love.

I've seen this man thru a couple of superficial office affairs—nothing alarming. His wife is his age, charming, knowing, and holding on.

He's been giving me some pretty long looks lately, and I don't know how much longer I can hold out. I know I'll never find another job as good as this one, and I doubt if I'll ever find a man as attractive.

Should I try to win him? Or would that be dirty pool? I've heard that no woman can break up a really good marriage. What do you say?

CONFEDERATE

DEAR CONFEDERATE: It's not only "dirty pool," it's asking for a kick in the pants. You could probably get your name added to his list of "superficial office affairs," but your chances for anything lasting and "real" look mighty slim from this side of the typewriter.

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather large rump and my husband doesn't like me to wear a girdle. I am far from "firm," and I feel so sloppy without one, but every time I wear a girdle my husband starts in on me.

This has caused a slight rift between us. What should I do?

RUMPELSTILSKENS

DEAR RUMP: Wear pantyhose. They'll sort of bring everything together.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry "MR. WONDERFUL" in three months. Well, yesterday I found out that he has been seeing a girl who works at the union to which he belongs. When I asked him if it was true, he said it was, but she was only his "pipeline" of information about what's going on.

He said he wouldn't stop seeing her and calling her at home and I was silly to be jealous of this girl as she means nothing to him.

Do you think I am being silly to ask him to give up his pipeline?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: If she's only his pipeline, yes.

DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation: Last winter my boy friend and I took out a marriage license, but lots of things have come up since then and we have had to put off getting married for a while yet. In order to save on rent we are living together. Doesn't our marriage license prove that we are serious about our relationship and not just fooling around? I mean, in a way isn't it just as good as being married?

TWO-IN LOVE

DEAR TWO: A "license" to marry is just that and nothing more. It may indicate that at one time you were seriously considering marriage, but it's not "as good" as being married.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69790, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jordan stresses moratorium need

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Len B. Jordan told a news conference Tuesday he believes if the middle Snake must be developed the dams should be built, the water controlled and the power sold by the state.

But until the need for such development is shown clearly by studies now under way, he said, he believes it is imperative that the Congress enact the Jordan-Church-Hansen bill calling for a moratorium.

"The important thing is that we do not have to make this decision now," he said. "Nor do we wish to be forced into a decision by others outside our state who are motivated by single-purpose use for power only or by the equally single-purpose use of recreation alone."

He spoke out against both the Pacific Northwest Power Company's proposal for a dam and Oregon Sen. Robert Packwood's bill to make the stretch a national river.

"Most of the principals in the consortium have no interest whatever in Idaho's future water resource requirements," Jordan said. "As a matter of self interest they would prefer no further depletion of the river flows."

"Granting a license to Pacific Northwest Power Company would set the stage, especially in critical water years, for an avoidable confrontation between those who want the water to turn the turbines and those who wish to divert the water upstream to new lands or new industrial or new recreational uses."

"For this reason I am unalterably opposed to the issuance of a license to PNWP Company," Jordan said. "Let the downstream utilities who are members of this consortium build their dams in the downstream states."

Jordan said he will oppose the Packwood Bill, too.

"If enacted it could well be called the Idaho water export act of 1971."

Saying Idaho now is at the crossroads, Jordan said within seven years a decision on direction must be made — whether it be toward achieving "our high reclamation potential with clean electric energy from water power or whether we maintain an open river."

"It may well be that when all the studies now going forward are completed and when all the ecological data is assembled and evaluated that the case for development of the middle Snake will be most persuasive," he said.

"If this should be our judgment and impoundment proves necessary I recommend that the state of Idaho build the dam or dams and control the water," he said.

"The state should sell the energy to the utilities, both private and public, which hold the franchises for distributing electricity to Idaho customers."

"Such an arrangement would permit absolute state control of the water supply by Idaho for the highest and best use of Idaho's water by Idaho citizens."

Deduction increases advised

BOISE — The Internal Revenue Service has advised employees to increase their withholding tax deduction in order not to end up owing income taxes next April 15, IRS director Calvin E. Wright said today.

Analysts report taxpayers in the following situations will probably not have enough taken out of their salaries to cover their tax liability unless they amend their W-4 forms now on file with their employers:

Employees who expect to earn more than $11,500 in 1971 and take the $1,500 standard deduction commonly called the short form; single taxpayers who expect to earn $15,000 or more in 1971; married employees who expect to earn $25,000 or more in 1971 and whose spouses are not employed, and all working couples.

Those who wish to amend their W-4 forms should ask their employers or call their nearest IRS office for advice, Wright said.

Budget requests $4 billion over

BOISE (UPI) — General fund budget requests for the 1972-73 fiscal year are expected to total about $4 million more than asked for the current year, acting Budget Director D. E. Chilberg said Tuesday.

Chilberg said the requests are expected to total approximately $165 million for the next fiscal year. He said this includes a request of $1,530,154 for the legislative branch and $2,658,474 for the judicial branch of government.

Current general fund spending is $125 million. It was financed with anticipated revenue of $116 million plus roll-overs and other devices employed to bring it into balance.

"We would expect to attempt to balance agency appropriations with available revenue," Chilberg said of the budget requests.

"We have not yet developed an analysis of what revenues will be for next year."

However, he said, he hopes to have a revenue estimate within the next two or three months.

Until that revenue estimate is made, Chilberg said, and the governor makes decisions on what level of spending to ask from the legislature he is unable to say whether any tax increases may be necessary to balance the budget next year.

Chilberg said a few of the general fund budget requests still have not been received. But he said the budget analysts are computing the cost for continuing the present state programs.

He said this "continuation" budget will be computed by using the current appropriation as a base and adjusting for inflation, salary increases due to longevity and increased workload.

"In all probability, the cost for the continuation of present state programs will exceed available revenues in the 1972-73 fiscal year," Chilberg said.

McClure studies Senate

BOISE (UPI) — Congressman James A. McClure, R - Idaho, said Tuesday he is "definitely interested" in running for the United States Senate next year now that incumbent Len B. Jordan has decided to retire.

"I am surprised," McClure said when his staff reached him by long distance telephone at a congressional subcommittee hearing in Anchorage, Alaska.

"I fully expected Senator Jordan to run for re-election and, if he had, I would have given him my full support."

"His announcement not to run of course creates a 'new ball game,'" McClure said. "I would be less than candid with my supporters if I did not say at this time that I am definitely interested."

"However, it will take careful appraisal. I will talk with party leaders and key people throughout the state in the next few weeks before I begin to arrive at any sort of conclusion."

"The candidacy to the United States Senate should not be taken lightly," McClure said. "The party must avoid the kind of blood-letting in the primary that would make the nomination itself meaningless."

"Any potential candidate should evaluate his decision in terms of unity and party harmony and certainly that will be a part of my own decision."

"I hope that we won't let our eagerness to discuss potential candidates keep us from taking proper note of the career of Sen. Len Jordan," McClure said. "Every citizen of Idaho has in some way been touched by his distinguished career."

"I am sure all Idahoans will deluge him with the thanks he deserves."

McGovern switches issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said Tuesday he is dropping the Vietnam War as his main campaign issue in favor of the economy.

In a major shift in strategy, the Democratic presidential contender — known principally for his outspoken opposition to the war — told a group of financial writers "I expect to say very little about Indochina in the next year."

"I will have very little public comment on the war from here on out," he said.

McGovern said he had "come to the conclusion that the economic issues will most likely be the ones on which the 1972 election will turn."

While he said he personally felt that ending the war should be the nation's top priority, "I am a political realist and I believe the state of the economy is more decisive politically."

"I think my position on the war is pretty clear now," he said. "What I need to do as a presidential candidate is to familiarize the American people with my views on tax reform, the condition of the cities, crime control, drug addiction and other domestic issues."

In fact, McGovern said he had been trying to do this all summer. He estimated that 90 per cent of his speeches and statements were devoted to non-Vietnam issues. But he said he was "not taken too seriously" by the press on economic issues and he was still regarded in some circles

Church 'regrets' decision

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Tuesday he regrets "very much" Sen. Len B. Jordan's decision to retire at the end of this term in office.

"As a colleague, Senator Jordan has been all a man could ask for," Church said. "He and I have consistently worked as a team without regard to partisanship in promoting Idaho's best interests in the Senate."

"I regret very much his decision to retire."

Strike talks resume

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Negotiations aimed at ending the longshoremen's strike which has tied up West Coast shipping for nearly eight weeks, will resume Wednesday.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association, in a joint announcement, said the talks would resume at 10 a.m. and be on "all items" except local issues.

The chief roadblock in the strike was a demand by the ILWU that its members have jurisdiction over loading and unloading shipping containers on areas near the docks.

The decision to resume talks came after a three-day meeting of the union's coastwide negotiating committee, with representatives from all 24 struck ports.

About 150 ships have been tied up in Pacific coast ports since the walkout began July 1. The clamp on shipping has severely hurt the economy of Hawaii and affected worldwide shipping.

as a "one issue candidate."

In an effort to solve the problem, McGovern called together a half-dozen top financial writers for a luncheon gathering at the Capitol and again scored President Nixon's new economic game plan.

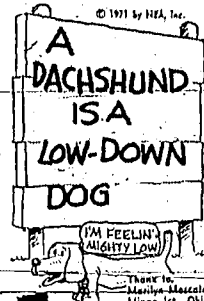

Pocatello woman dies

POCATELLO (UPI) — A Pocatello woman died early Tuesday morning when her automobile collided with a parked semi-truck-trailer.

Pocatello City Police reported Betty Colleen Hess, 19, died instantly when she smashed into the rear end of the parked truck about 1:30 a.m.

Officers said the woman was seen travelling down Fifth Ave. at a high rate of speed. They said there were no skid marks prior to the impact.

Manila guards against Red danger

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos said Tuesday he had to order emergency security measures in the Philippines because Communist terrorists were planning to burn down Manila and kidnap and assassinate government leaders.

Marcos appeared on nationwide radio and television for the second time in two days to explain his proclamation suspending the writ of habeas corpus which allows national police authorities to search without warrants, arrest and detain suspects for as long as necessary.

Marcos said military authorities have in their possession a list of suspected Communist subversives and that arrests were being carried out. He said he had referred to a panel of lawyers "voluminous documents" linking an opposition senator, Benigno S. Aquino Jr., with the subversives.

The proclamation was issued shortly after the grenade attack at a political rally in Manila Saturday night that killed eight persons and wounded nearly all the top leaders of the opposition Liberal Party. The attack was followed by at least six more bombing incidents in the greater Manila area.

Tax form discard approved

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Connecticut residents can legally destroy their state income tax forms today even though they're faced with boosted sales-investment taxes and reduced state services.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill completed repeal of the 54-day-old income tax Monday with the signing of a 6 1/2 per cent sales tax—1 1/2 per cent higher—and a 6 per cent investment levy.

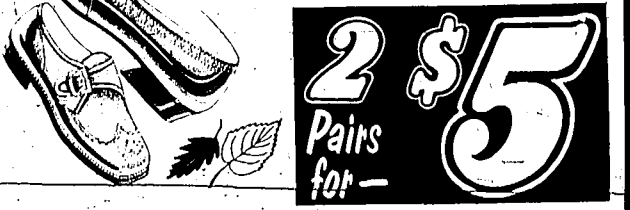

Income tax forms were sent to the state's 61,000 employers, but it was never collected.

The repeal, that will force more than $84 million in state expenditure cuts principally directed at municipalities, came after 11 days of deliberations by the state's first GOP executive in 16 years.

Meskill, caught between the sales-investments tax package which he called "miserable failure" and the income tax that "drew public outcry," said grim-faced at the signing "people want reduced spending and they're getting that; they don't want an income tax; they're not getting it."

The Democrat-dominated General Assembly passed the state's first income tax July 1 as an alternative to an "incredible mixed bag of taxes."

Panthers said 'no danger'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Internal Security Committee has investigated the Black Panthers and decided that the revolutionary group does not present a clear and present danger to the American way of life.

The committee issued a 145-page report, concluding that the "Panthers' rhetoric regarding revolutionary activity has always exceeded performance." It contended, however, that the arming and training of Panther members has contributed to an increase in acts of violence.

The report was authored by the Democratic majority on the nine-member panel. The four Republican members disagreed with the "tone and emphasis" of the report, saying that it failed to portray the "insidious purposes" of the party.

Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., chairman of the subcommittee which conducted hearings on the Panthers, replied: "Some might say it (the report) is too sympathetic to the Panthers for it would be possible without departing from the facts to write a real zinger of a report which would carry a stronger sense of outrage than the present report. Such a report would run the risk of making martyrs of the Panthers."

"A cooler and more balanced report would avoid any possibility of reviving a flagging Panther party by making available the charge of 'oppression'."

The committee's basic finding said: "The Black Panther party, through its deliberately inflammatory rhetoric and through the actual arming and military training of its members, has contributed through increase in acts of violence and constitutes a threat to the internal security of the United States."

"The committee does not hold that the relatively small group of Black Panthers has at any time constituted a clear and present danger to the continued functioning of the U.S. government or any other institutions of our democratic society."

Gem agency seeks funds for classes

BOISE (UPI) — The State of Idaho still is negotiating to see how many kindergarten teachers it could have under the Emergency Employment Act, Human Resources Council director Martin Peterson said Tuesday.

Peterson said Idaho received $2,044,000 under the act passed by Congress recently.

Under the plan, he said, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus listed his priorities for jobs, listing his first goal to replace as many laid-off state employees as possible and as his second to obtain kindergarten teachers.

Peterson said a State Department of Education survey showed the state's school districts could use a maximum of 289 teachers. The Emergency Employment Act would pay for only salaries, and not for any operating costs such as classrooms or materials.

But, Peterson said, the problem is that regulations for the act established by the Department of Labor require that one-third of all positions under the act be filled by Korean or Vietnam veterans who have served since 1964.

"This creates a problem," he said. "Therefore the Department of Labor won't let us fill our whole kindergarten system with these teachers."

"Right now we are bargaining to find out just how many slots they will have for kindergarten teachers."

Peterson said he hoped to know how many jobs could be filled within the next few days. He said the state's proposal must be submitted by Sept. 8.

However, he said, the fact that the jobs cannot be filled until at least October creates no problem.

"Kindergarten is not an accredited program," he said. "It won't matter if we don't start until October."

Peterson said he estimated the state could fill "close to 100" kindergarten teacher openings.

The next problem, he said, will be to decide just where throughout the state to place the teachers.

Amyx backs Idaho fund share plan

BOISE (UPI) — Mayor Jay Amyx says a proposal for a state revenue sharing program is a "sensible approach" to the financial problems confronting local government.

State Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, has suggested the state share $25 million with the cities and counties.

Amyx told a news conference he believes Kidwell's plan is a "step in the direction of the state becoming more involved in local government."

PROMOTE fair — PAINTINGS are displayed in many store windows in Jerome, promoting the Jerome County Fair and rodeo which opened today. These paintings are, from top, located in Prescott and Craig Insurance, Hamilton Drug Store and Sullivan Music.

Jerome firemen busy on 20 runs in month

JEROME — Jerome rural and city fire departments have been kept busy this month on fire calls. The city fire department answered three calls and the rural department has been called on 17 fires.

The Jerome City Fire Department was called at 9 p.m. Sunday to assist the Wendell Fire Department at a blaze at a sheep ranch two miles east of Jerome on the Bob Barton Highway.

According to assistant fire chief, Mario Dalry, the Wendell fire called for assistance from the Seventh. A fire of unknown cause was burning between the firemen stayed on the blaze until midnight, at which time the front wall of the home and the fire was brought under control. Wendell department members stayed all night. The fire was in stacks of loose hay. The rural fire department put out a blaze at the Leonard Kunz farm northwest of Jerome Wednesday evening. A loafing shed burned next to a dairy barn. The loafing shed held small items including a bean pie which was damaged in the blaze.

According to a spokesman from the rural fire department, the firemen were able to save the other building and damage was confined to the loafing shed.

Fair activity sparks Jerome

JEROME — The first rain storm of the approaching fall season today threatened to muddy plans for the 1971 Jerome County Fair and Rodeo, scheduled to open today with a late-afternoon parade throughout downtown Jerome.

A steady drizzle throughout the morning dampened dust at the fairgrounds while worrying livestock growers and carnival operators, hoping as always for the "biggest turnout ever" in the annual county extravaganza.

Today's parade, with the theme of "Hospitality, Western Style," saw competing organizations vying for cash prizes in three categories, including theme, riding groups and novelty. Leroy Weigle, Jerome, was parade chairman.

The fair and rodeo opens this evening with the first night of the rodeo at the fairgrounds, featuring the Ada County Blacklight Posse, a skillful group of horsemen riding in complete darkness. Ultraviolet "black lights" mounted atop the arena cause portions of the posse members' clothing and horses' trappings to glow in various colors as they perform their intricate maneuvers.

New this year to the Jerome County Fair is the "Jay Sizzler" dog act, to be performed between events each night of the rodeo. Sizzler's trained dogs will perform a variety of tricks on command.

The quarterhorse show has been granted the sanction of the Intermountain Quarter Horse Association for the first time, adding luster to an important feature of the fair, according to Fair-Board Chairman John Stelle.

The Ray Cammack carnival has arrived, and will be in full swing tonight and until the fair closes Saturday night.

Highlights of the 1971 edition of the Jerome County Fair will include—the Country-Western music event Friday, beginning at 8 p.m., featuring Hank Thompson and Mary Taylor, and Saturday's double-pronged Jamboree in which the Jerome County Jamboree team will compete with the Wood River Riding Association.

Jamboree events will include cow-cutting, calf-roping, a ribbon pull, an eighth-mile race, a half-mile race and a complex walk-trot-lead-run event. The Jamboree will be presented at 2 p.m. and at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Fairgrounds.

The queen competition began ahead of the fair, with a banquet Tuesday evening at Wood Cafe, in which the five queen contestants and their parents, met members of the fair board and their judge.

Each of the contestants gave a short speech on her reasons for competing and her goals in life. Contestants include Gull Hunt, Carey; Sherie Qualls and Terrell Yast, Twin Falls; Bette Will, Eden, and Debbie Scheer, Jerome. This year's event marks the first time that contestants have been welcomed from throughout the Magic Valley, Stelle said.

TF gets funding for park

FILER — Merle Allison, Idaho Park Board member, Filer, today announced the presentation of a warrant in the amount of $2,500 to the City of Twin Falls for land acquisition at Dierke's Lake.

The money comes from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund program and represents 50 per cent of the costs of acquiring a 34-acre parcel of property fronting on the northwest shore of the lake. The other share of costs was paid by the city.

Allison said the land and water program was initiated by Congress in 1965 to provide financial assistance to States and their political subdivisions in an attempt to alleviate the shortage of outdoor recreation facilities in the country.

The program reimburses project sponsors for half the costs of acquiring or developing land for outdoor recreation use.

The Idaho Department of Parks administers the program at the state level and the federal administrator is the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Allison commended the City for its foresightedness in acquiring this desirable recreation property for public use in perpetuity.

Elmore parade set Saturday

KING HILL — The Elmore County Fair parade is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday.

The parade will begin at the riding arena, cross the railroad tracks and go through Glens Ferry to the Elmore Fairgrounds.

Jim Carpenter and the Glens Ferry Riding Club are in charge of the parade. Individuals, riding groups, floats, or any other parade entries are invited to participate. Floats featuring queen contestants and the present queens and her attendants will also be in the parade.

Saturday has been designated Military Day at the fair, with servicemen admitted free upon presentation of their identification card. Mayor Doyle Messerley of Glens Ferry has been working with the Special Services under Robert Hyer at the Mountain Home Air Base to make arrangements for the day.

The open class horse competition and the 4-H dog show will begin at 8 a.m. The tractor driving contest is scheduled for 9 a.m. the fat stock sale at 2 p.m. horse racing at 4 p.m., miniature rodeo and fair queen crowning at 8:30 p.m. A dance honoring the new fair queen will begin at 10 p.m.

Vi Carpenter, racing chairman, said stall reservations are filling up and entries were coming in from Boise and other areas. Pony girls this year are Ann Knox of King Hill, Jamie Jenkins and Susie Hicks of Mountain Home; Craig Gillespie, Mountain Home and Carl Phares from the air base will assist the veterinarians.

Concession stands at the races will be sponsored by the Lions Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars from Glens Ferry and the LDS church and Boy Scouts of Mountain Home. The Glens Ferry Jay-C-Ettes will have a program concession. On Friday and Saturday post time will be 4 p.m. The Miniature Rodeo will follow the racing event.

Special awards will be made by the new Elmore County queen between the ninth and tenth races on Sunday.

Prizes for the races have been donated by Lewis Auto Parts, Gooding; Chevron Oil and Catalano Insurance of Mountain Home, the Mountain Home Chamber of Commerce, Mountain Home Air Force Base credit union, Messerley's Market of Glens Ferry, the City of Glens Ferry, the Glens Ferry Lions Club, Koffee Kup Cafe and Motel and American Oil Distributor of Glens Ferry.

Fair plans completed by Grange

KING HILL — Final plans for the King Hill Grange exhibit and dinner booth for the Elmore County Fair were made Tuesday.

Master Frank Jones urged all members to bring fruits, vegetables and flowers for the open class display as well as the grange booth.

Mrs. Horace Lite, womens activity chairman, urged both men and women to work in the dinner booth.

A report was given on 12 grange members who met to strip grain for sheaves for the fair booth. Mrs. Lite also reported on her meeting with the womens activity committee.

Mrs. Denver Allred and Mrs. Cecil Bont and Horace Lite presented readings.

It was noted that parsnips, rutabagas and strawberries were badly needed for the open class exhibit.

The group enjoyed a watermelon feed.

Agency elects Lindsay

BURLEY — Clive Lindsay of Burley, president of the Idaho Warehouse Department, was named national president during a four-day national conference in Coeur d'Alene.

The National Association of State Warehouse Departments is composed of personnel who examine and audit agricultural warehouses in each state.

Other new officers included Sam Heda of Kansas, vice president, and Lloyd Froer, Wisconsin, secretary-treasurer.

Magic Valley delegates included Lindsay, Lynville Brown, Filer, and Dorothy Stanley, Burley.

Recall backers confer

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — Instigators of a move to recall State Rep. Wilbert Cammack, D-Blackfoot, planned to meet with Blingham County officials today to iron out problems in the recall petition campaign.

Tom Woodland said he and Gary Lindsay would meet with County Prosecutor Kenneth F. Clarke and County Clerk Grace Williams to discuss requirements for correct petitions.

The reason for the recall proposal is Cammack's affirmative vote on legislative pay proposal during the 1971 legislature. Earlier this month voters in Legislative District 30 successfully recalled a state senator and representative.

Earlier, two petitions filed for Cammack's recall were declared invalid because one name on each petition of 20 names was not acceptable, the forms listed the wrong district, and they named the wrong elected auditor.

Air pollution 131 index

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed in the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period.

ending at 8 a.m. today. Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 250 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Good
Tonight: Poor
Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning at permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Probe continues at state prison

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho State Penitentiary investigating committee goes behind closed doors at the prison today to hear inmate testimony after a witness testified "there's more trouble brewing" Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Warden Raymond W. May told the committee appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to investigate conditions at the prison that there had been a breakdown of communications among staff and he could not rule out sabotage of his orders by staff members.

Robert Salter, a moderator on a Boise radio talk program, testified that the same sources who tipped him to impending trouble at the facility have also told him that the trouble is not over yet.

But when questioned about the sources by committee chairman Edward V. Williams, Salter would say only that the persons called his station with the information but did not identify themselves.

methods of correctional work and made them more difficult to administer.

He said his policy now will be to "consolidate the gains and hold tight, but not make any more changes."

May said the new type of convict is younger and more aggressive and not adverse to murder if gaged on.

He said the guards had not had enough training and preparation to understand the program that relieved the long-term occupants there of many prison restrictions.

But Dr. Monroe Fairchild, ISP clinical psychologist, said prison expectations frequently depend on their state of mind.

"If an inmate's expectations are up," Fairchild said, "he will read more into a counselor's statements than if he was pessimistic."

But Dr. Fairchild, whose office was in the first building burned by the convicts during the riot, admitted in explaining the significance of the arson that prisoners might have resented the power represented by the counseling clinic.

Salter, who said he had prompted former Gov. Don Samuelson to launch a prison study in 1967, said the problem has been going on for years and "something is radically wrong there."

He said some of the convicts had been coddled by present and past administrators and that there should be a merit system as well as a demerit system for the inmates.

Displays trophies

GARY MUCKEL, general chairman of the Burley Jaycees gun show, planned for Saturday and Sunday at the Ponderosa Inn Convention Center at Burley, looks over trophies to be awarded for the best display of pistols, rifles and cartridges.

Burley Jaycees set gun show

BURLEY — The Burley Jaycees is sponsoring a Gun Show Saturday and Sunday, at Ponderosa Inn Convention Center.

expected to display what is believed to be the only wheellock gun in Idaho dating back to about 1600.

The event will be open to the public from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, and a fee of 50 cents will be charged per person to view the outstanding displays, according to Gary Muckel, general chairman of the show.

Trophies will be awarded for the best pistol display, best rifle display and best cartridge display, Muckel said.

Exhibitors are now being registered and Tuesday morning 33 display tables have been reserved. Persons interested in setting up a display must register with Muckel, 1260 Elba Ave., Burley. Displays will be accepted the day of the opening of the show.

Exhibitors will be attending from Caldwell, Boise, Idaho Falls, Rupert and Pocatello, and Clearwater, Utah.

Rupert Theta Rho girls to perform

RUPERT — The Theta Rho Girls Club of Rupert has been selected to perform a special drill during Vancouver Youth Day, Sept. 18 at the Sovereign Grand Lodge Session in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The girls have had rummage sales, bake food sales, and garden produce sales. Their most unusual fund raising is an egg sale.

The girls prepared and presented the drill for the Idaho State Theta Rho workshop held in June at Ponderosa Inn.

This is the first Youth Day to be held in conjunction with Sovereign Grand Lodge Session. It is an international session with lodge members from all over the world attending, and this is the first time the session has been held in the Western area.

FOODS PROVIDE ENERGY USE THAT ENERGY TO ENJOY LIFE, STAY TRIM!

Foods provide vital nutrients to keep your whole body in good condition. Foods also provide energy, which is measured in calories. To avoid gaining weight, you must use up your daily intake of calories... in your daily work, and enjoying your favorite sport or exercise. Swimming's a sport the whole family can enjoy together. And, if your teenage daughter weighs 117 pounds, she can expend 260 calories in a 1/2 hour continued swim.

For special dietary problems and exercise programs, consult your physician.

WHO NEEDS THE HELP OF MEATS AS BODY BUILDERS?

Protein is needed by children for building muscles, by adults for repairing muscle and other body cells. A lean, cooked portion of meat, fish or poultry provides high quality protein. Other foods rich in protein are eggs, dry beans and peas, peanut butter and nuts. You need 2 or more servings of these protein-rich foods every day. Milk and cereal foods also give you protein.

Cowboys' Metzger stops Angels 4-2 on five hits

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI)—The Magic Valley Cowboys, behind the five-hit pitching of Butch Metzger, downed the Idaho Falls Angels 4-2 Tuesday in Pioneer League play.

Los Angeles snaps Montreal's eight-game winning streak

MONTREAL (UPI)—Willie Davis went 5-5 at the plate and drove in three runs with a triple as the Los Angeles Dodgers exploded for five runs in the sixth inning Tuesday night to snap Montreal's eight-game winning streak with a 6-4 triumph over the Expos.

The standing room crowd of over 28,000, which boosted the Expos' attendance over the million mark for the third straight year, saw 10 Dodger batters face three Montreal pitchers in the sixth.

Tom Haller started it off with a single and Bill Russell went in to pinch-run for him. Al Downing walked and Maury Willis singled to lead the bases. Bill Buckner's single brought in one run to tie the score at 2-2 and Davis greeted reliever Dan McGinn with a triple to clear the bases. The runs were charged however to Bill Stone-

Stottlemire, Yankees outduel A's, Blue 1-0

OAKLAND (UPI)—Mel Stottlemire stopped Oakland on three infield hits for his sixth shutout of the season Tuesday night while outpitching Vida Blue as the New York Yankees scored a 1-0 victory over the A's.

Stottlemire did not give up a hit until the seventh when Rick Monday lead off with a bunt single. Dave Duncan followed with another bunt single for the second hit and when Mike Hagan tried the same strategy, Stottlemire threw out Monday at third and then induced Larry Brown to hit into a double play.

Stottlemire pitched a 100-0 game, striking out 10 batters. He pitched 7 1/3 innings, allowing only one hit, a single by Rick Monday in the seventh.

Stottlemire's record is 11-11 with a 2.75 ERA. He has pitched 100 2/3 innings, allowing 44 runs, 44 hits and 10 errors.

Johnson must have surgery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Running back Ron Johnson of the New York Giants will undergo surgery on his right leg at St. Vincent's Hospital Wednesday, the club announced Tuesday.

Johnson, who gained 1,027 yards rushing last season to finish among the leaders in the National Football League, has been bothered by a deep chisel horse under the thigh bone in his right leg for the last two months and the injury has failed to respond to preliminary treatment.

Johnson injured the leg while playing basketball with friends.

Dr. Anthony Pisani will perform the operation, which will consist of draining fluid from under the thigh bone. The club said it expected Johnson to be back in action by the opening game of the season on Sept. 8.

The 23-year-old former Michigan star had appeared in only two of the Giants' three preseason games and found the injury greatly hampered his lateral movement.

Johnson's injury is similar to one suffered by running back Eugene "Mercury" Morris of the Miami Dolphins last year. Morris missed the first two games of the season but made a quick recovery and had an outstanding season.

Birds of prey refuge, free-flowing river supported by Morton

BOISE (UPI)—Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Tuesday while he heads the Interior department there will be "no willy-nilly damming of the Snake River."

Morton made his statement just before keynoting ceremonies officially dedicating the 26,255 acre Snake River Birds of Prey natural area. The land 30 miles southwest of Boise at a point overlooking the Swan Falls reach of the Snake River will be a protective withdrawal area for eagles, falcons and other birds of prey.

The interior secretary urged final congressional passage this year of a bill to put a moratorium on dam building along the Middle Snake River until ecological studies are completed.

The moratorium proposal is backed by Sens. Frank Church and Len B. Jordan and Rep. Orval Hansen. All three looked on as Morton dedicated the new site.

The natural area was dedicated for the late Ed Booker, the Bureau of Land Management's Boise district manager from 1962-69 who recognized the meaning of the canyon and set the course to preserve it.

As Booker's family watched, a plaque was placed as the site for him.

Morton said the canyon "is one of the few places the golden eagle can exist. The prairie falcon already has been declared rare by the Audubon society and other natural species may be doomed."

To show what the natural area could produce, world-renowned expert on birds of prey, Mervyn Nelson, Boise, a soil conservation service hydrologist, introduced Morton to a beautiful golden eagle by the name of "Odis."

Then, as a prairie falcon and a red-tailed hawk were produced, Morton quipped to Nelson, "If we let you keep going, there will be more birds than people here."

Morton said more sites will be dedicated to protect endangered species where environment is sensitive to the encroachment of man.

Morton also said he will ask for a legal opinion regarding the possibility of repealing grazer's licenses on public land for violating the eagle act.

He said the opinion would be in regard to the killing of eagles in the state of Wyoming recently, allegedly carried out by ranchers on public land where they graze stock.

Notre Dame reprimand clarified

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association Tuesday, in order to clarify the instance of the violation of the University of Notre Dame, stated that no illegal financial aid had been granted by the university, but rather the violation involved use of an improper form.

The NCAA Monday announced it had reprimanded and censured the Irish for the violation.

NCAA Constitution 3-4(a) prohibits award of financial aid by any source other than the university's regular financial aid body and the form used by the university's head football coach obligated Notre Dame to award financial aid to the prospective student athletes to whom it was presented.

Atlanta club goes in merger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Securities and Exchange Commission Tuesday approved the merger of the Atlanta LaSalle Corp., which owns 88 per cent of the stock of the Atlanta Braves, and the LaSalle Street Capital Corp., an investment firm which owns securities worth about $7.3 million.

It said under the merger, each share of LaSalle Street Capital Corp. common stock would be converted into one share of Atlanta common stock.

ISU frosh shows up in cast

POCATELLO (UPI)—A top freshman prospect for the Idaho State University football team reported for the first day of fall practice Tuesday with both hands in casts.

Head coach Ed Cavanaugh said Jim Witkowski, who was all state in Connecticut after gaining 1,600 yards, broke the knuckle on one hand and badly sprained the other hand Friday while playing in a high school all-star game.

Team doctors estimate the cast will be off for three more weeks.

The 68 Bengals who reported for first day practice will work out three times each day for at least one week. The first three days of practice will be on conditioning drills only.

Senators sued for back rent

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI)—The District of Columbia Tuesday filed suit against the Washington Senators for non-payment of back rent for use of Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium.

The suit, which was filed in U.S. District Court by Gilbert Hahn, Jr., chairman of the City Council, charges that the Senators owe $136,847.93 in rent over the last two years. The D.C. Army Board which runs the stadium, was named as the defendant.

Hahn declared in the suit that because of the Senators' refusal to pay rent, the city government was forced to borrow $97,000 from the Federal Government to pay principal and interest on construction bonds.

Bob Short, owner of the Senators, had no comment on the suit.

Buhl must rely on youngsters in 1971 season

BUHL — "We're young," says new Buhl Football Coach Jon Jund of his 1971 Indians who run into some tough competition Saturday night when they travel to Wendell.

Coach Jund, replacing Rod Hohnhorst who left Buhl at mid-basketball season last year to go to Boise State, has 10 lettermen among the 42-man turnout. But the bulk of the depth will have to come from underclassmen.

He has two proven ball packers in 190-pound senior fullback Joel Watson, who was the team's leading rusher last year, and 180-pound halfback Steve Dennis.

In the line are Mike Nelson, 175-pound center; Barry Watson, 181-pound guard, Kim Dunlap, 180-pound end; Mike Morrison, 207-pound linebacker, and Arlyn Meier, 202-pound tackle.

With the early game Coach Jund has been largely occupied with preparing his two quarterback candidates — Mark Machecek, 150 pounds, and Junior Pat Charlton, 155 pounds, will carry those duties. But neither has had much varsity experience.

Junior counted on for help are Cal Chatfield, guard; Jim Caughey, 185, tackle; Bob Thornborrow, 191 tackle; Sam Miller, 187, tackle; Gary Arford, 187, tackle; Gary Keith, 205, tackle; Tim Tverdy, 228, tackle; Dennis Barnes, 176, halfback; Chuck Gillette, 160, offensive end; Terry Cook, 165, end; Steve Abshire, 185 tackle; Rick Thometz, 180 split end; Dave Clark, 161 halfback, and Dave Dana, 172, center.

Rick Long, described as having good speed, is trying for his first letter as a senior, and sophomore Brent Watson, 6-2, 221, will take a good shot at the tight end position.

Following Saturday's Wendell game, the Buhl schedule includes Sept. 3, Bury at Buhl; Sept. 9, Buhl at Vallivue; Sept. 24, Gooding at Buhl; Oct. 1, Emmett at Buhl; Oct. 8, Buhl at Wood River; Oct. 15, Mountain Home at Buhl; Oct. 22, Filer at Buhl; Oct. 29, Buhl at Valley, and Nov. 5, Buhl at Jerome.

Declo boasts 19 returning veterans

DECLO — With 19 returning lettermen, the Declo Hornets, under new Coach Mike Matthews, have little way to go but up from last year's 1-8 record.

The losing record may be more than a little deceiving, however, since the Magic Valley Conference had one of its best top-to-bottom strength years in some time.

Only five men are gone from the 1970 squad and Coach Matthews will have at least some depth at every position. Matthews is returning to the playing fields where he enjoyed fine success in football, basketball and track as a prep athlete. He attended Boise State and Idaho State to obtain his degree and spent last year in the Burley Junior high school, working with the Robert frosh.

The Hornets will be drawing largely from eight seniors including Gaylen Osterhout, 170-pound halfback; Rod Osterhout, 220-pound quarterback and tackle; Keith Osterhout, 190-pound tackle; Craig Spanbauer, 190-pound end; Randy Tremayne, 180-pound center; Randy Kidd, 170-pound halfback; Pete Alajares, 150-pound end, and Levin Loveland, 150-pound end.

Kelly Taylor, 150-pound junior halfback, figures to see considerable action and two sophomores, Robble Riddling, 150-pound quarter, and Randy Brackenbury, 165-pound fullback, have looked good in pre-season drills.

Declo opens its campaign Saturday night by traveling to Glens Ferry. Its three home games are tentatively scheduled for the new Hornet field, providing the turf has taken sufficient hold.

The remainder of the Declo schedule includes Sept. 3, Declo at Shoshone; Sept. 10, Declo at Hagerman; Sept. 18 (homecoming), Murtaugh at Declo; Sept. 24, Castleford at Declo; Oct. 1, Hansen at Declo; Oct. 8, Declo at Oakley; Oct. 15, Declo at Raft River, and Oct. 22, Declo at Kimberly.

Purdue sees junior team 'improving'

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — Bob DeMoss can see a lot of "ifs" on his Purdue football team, and perhaps his best chance for success will come a year hence.

"Basically," he said, "we're a junior team, and we can improve this year as well as next."

The basic "ifs" hinge on his defensive backfield, his offensive line, his quarterbacking and his players coming off the injury list.

Running could be the Boilermakers' strong point, particularly if Otis Armstrong returns to his sophomore form of a year ago. Then he finished fifth in rushing in the Big Ten, but in the off season underwent abdominal surgery which resulted in a loss of 25 pounds.

A healthy Armstrong could combine with fullback RN North to give Purdue a strong running threat, particularly if quarterback Gary Danielson can get the ball to Ashley Bell, a senior switched from tight end to split end where he should be one of the best receivers in the league.

Another receiver, who could add to the running attack as well, will be Darryl Shingley, switched from end to halfback in a three back offense.

But neither the running nor the passing can go without an offensive line, bearing out DeMoss' concern. The strong points on the line should be Tim Huxhold, Tom Luken and Ken Watkins, but both Huxhold and Watkins will be in new positions, and the other spots will be marked by inexperience.

The defensive front five, described by DeMoss as "excellent," averages over 240 pounds, headed by Dave Baiz at 284, and will be hard to move. Linebacking should be adept too with Jim Teal returning for a third season. But in the backfield only cornerback Arnold Carter has extensive experience, so the Boilermakers might be vulnerable to a strong passing attack.

Defensive tackle Steve Nurenbers and center George Buchanan as well as Armstrong are coming back after operations, and if they're fully recovered, they will be keys in the Purdue line performance.

DeMoss, whose team is one of two in the Big Ten playing only 10 games, can't see any schedule break either since he must open against Washington and Sonny Sixkiller.

South Plays with Finesse

and that East's analysis had been correct. In that case East would be void of spades.

Acting on that premise South came to his hand by ruffing a club, led a small spade and called for dummy's 10. Then he drew the rest of the trumps, ruffed another club and led a diamond toward dummy's king.

He had come to the conclusion that West had a singleton.

America's top experts explain their tournament-winning techniques in a new 128-page book on JACOBY MODERN. For your copy send $1 with your name, address and zip code to: "Win at Bridge," (c/o this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

leton Diamond and he hoped that it would be the 10 or the jack.

It turned out to be the 10 and after this start it was a simple matter to finesse against East's jack and make his doubled contract.

For our final hand from "Tiger Bridge" we go to a tough team of four game. South wasn't proud of his four spade bid, but he was not going to let East shut him out. Anyway, South wasn't vulnerable.

After West doubled and East ran to five hearts, South passed in the hope that his partner would be able to take three tricks against West. Then South suddenly found himself playing five spades doubled.

South looked over dummy unhappily. His first thought was, "I should have doubled five hearts to keep my partner from bidding on." Then he thought a little more and decided that maybe everyone, or almost everyone, knew what he was doing. That East had bid five hearts because he thought his partner would make it

QUESTION ARISES repeatedly about snoring and cures thereof. Regret to report I have no list at hand of flatout "never-fail" snoring cures. It has been claimed, however, any wife can stop her husband from snoring simply by sewing an empty thread spoon to the back of his pajama top. Might try that.

OLD NAVY MEN remember President Richard Nixon as a brilliant poker player who won up to $50 a night, frequently bluffing. IF YOUR BONES were hockery, they'd only be half as strong, remember that. STATISTICS out of the Federal Aviation Administration indicate lady pilots are just about three times safer than gentlemen pilots... AVERAGE WEEKLY allowance among 10-year-olds is 75 cents... AGE 55 is coming to be the customary retirement age for executives in Japan, I'm told.

ARITHMOMANIA is what it's called, that compulsion to count. It's pretty common. Not all arithmomanics count everything. They specialize. One counts stair steps, a second counts window panes, a third counts cracks in the sidewalk. Once knew a man who, when home invariably paused to count the times his clock struck. Know another who'd daily keep track of the number of parked cars in a lot he could see from his sixth-floor office window. Arithmomanics, both. Odd quirk.

CUSTOMER SERVICE Q "Didn't Ava Gardner once have quite a fling with the great Humphrey Bogart?" A Never heard that. In fact, understand they loathed each other... Q Where in the Bible does it say "Give the Devil his due?" A That's not biblical. It's in Shakespeare's "King Henry IV"... Q "Do cannibals use knives and forks?" A They do—Ceramomously. Failure to use knives and forks among South Sea Island cannibals is regarded as uncouth.

A KINDLY CLIENT asks what I'm working for. That's personal, but not too "What I mean," he writes. "Is column-writing looks like a darned good pastime. So what else could a man want?" Something else, sure enough. A trout farm, that's what I'm after. Like a flea saving up to buy a dog.

HANDWRITING EXPERTS contend only a woman with a severe inferiority complex ever will dot her i's with a mark that looks like a flying saucer... Q OUT OF EVERY 10 opening hands in poker, five will be worthless, four will have a pair, and one will be better than a pair... ARGUMENT CONTINUES as to whether St. Conan Doyle caused Sherlock Holmes to say, "Elementary, my dear Watson." He did not. Holmes said, "Elementary," yes, indeed. But not the other.

FIGURE A 40 mph wind blows a pressure of about seven pounds per square foot. Figure the side of your car is about 30 square feet. So figure, such a wind will hit your machine with a nicely noticeable 210 pounds... DID I MENTION more men than women fall through picture windows? True, true. Researchers say 40,000 persons a year, mostly men, go crashing through plane windows and glass doors.

Richfield hires aide for school

RICHFIELD—Richfield school board met in special session Monday to hire a new secretary, discuss the wage freeze and a kindergarten program.

Mrs. Robert Ford was hired as part-time secretary, replacing Mrs. Rodney Pridmore who resigned to move to Boise. Mrs. Ford has secretarial training and is the wife of the manager of Bank of Idaho at Richfield.

In discussing the wage freeze the board decided that former contracts would be honored as soon as permissible by law. Carry-over teachers would receive the same salary as last year, but new teachers would have their contracts honored.

Board decided against participating in the federally funded kindergarten program. Richfield school district never has had a kindergarten program.

Rated excellent

HANSEN—A Pride in Excellence Certificate has been awarded to the staff at the Hansen Postoffice in recognition of the exceptional manner in which the postal facility is maintained, it was announced today by Lena Bohm, postmaster.

The certificate was awarded by Fred Hulien, regional director, after the annual inspection.

Great emphasis is placed on the image presented to the customers and the maintenance and cleanliness of the facilities is a most important factor in a favorable image, the letter accompanying the certificate stated.

Two clubs tie at riding event

RICHFIELD—Richfield and Carey riding clubs tied for high points at the Wood River Riding Club Association Jamoree at Richfield, it was announced today.

Each club received 21 points and one-half point now divides Richfield and the Shoshone riding club to gain second place in the association.

Carey has a total of 136 points for the seven jamorees, Shoshone has 107 and one half points and Richfield 107 points.

The final jamoree will be Sept. 4 at Gooding. The association will participate in the state association meet at Jerome Aug. 28. Times for the events at Jerome are set for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

At the Jackpot rodeo held during the jamoree, barrel race winners were Bonnie Laughlin, Shoshone, first; Lorayne Wolverson, Richfield, second, and Mrs. Carol Pugh, Richfield, third.

In men's barrel racing, Ben Laughlin, Shoshone, first; Dee Farrisworth, Carey, second, and Ray Seals, Hailey, first in calf roping.

Retaliation against import tax foolhardy

HONOLULU (UPI)—Shigeo Nagano, the chairman of Nippon Steel and one of the nine Japanese delegates to the U.S.-Japanese Economic Conference, said Monday he believes any retaliation against the 10 percent American import tax would be foolhardy.

Nagano and eight other Japanese industrialists met for nearly nine hours Saturday in a guarded, secret discussion of trade and money problems, particularly those imposed upon Japan by the new Nixon economic proposals.

Other sources said the Japanese delegation would recommend that the Tokyo government adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude on surtax after listening to detailed explanations from the nine American members of the conference.

Nagano emphasized that "quarreling will get us nowhere, Japanese should not think of reprisals."

The steel maker said he personally believed Japanese-American economic relations should not be allowed to deteriorate under any conditions.

The meeting was the first between financiers of Japan and America since the new Nixon economic proposals were announced, and gave the Japanese their first opportunity to discuss and question American authorites on the proposals.

Both sides said they would make recommendations to their governments "probably at cabinet level" on their views resulting from the talks.

As spokesmen for the Americans, Najeb Halaby, board chairman of Pan American Airways, emphasized that his group had no connection with the American government, nor did it speak for the Nixon administration.

Sources said, however, that Halaby and the Americans spent a good part of the conference giving the Japanese detailed explanations of the aims of the new proposals.

The sources said the Americans also went out of their way to convince the Japanese that the 10 percent surtax was not aimed specifically at Japan, or at any one particular group, but was an attempt by Washington to straighten out America's unfavorable trade balance and balance of payments deficits.

The sources said a large part of the meeting was devoted to intensive questioning by the Japanese about the 10 percent tax on foreign imports.

Man's kidney ailment changes family's life

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI)—What would happen if the man of the house was suddenly taken ill, couldn't work for a while and, as a wife, you were faced with astronomical medical bills and a young family to take care of? This may sound like the beginning pitch of an insurance salesman, but it recently became a frightening reality for Betty Babcock when her husband, Richard C. Babcock Jr., 32, became Oregon's most recent kidney failure victim.

Three months ago, Babcock suffered severe kidney failure and was rushed to the Kidney Association of Oregon's (KAO) intensive care unit in the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland.

He spent three months recovering from the attack and learning to use the dialysis machine which will now be part of his life.

Babcock, originally from Casper, Wyo., and at one time a professional baseball player for the Milwaukee Braves, first realized he had kidney disease about four years ago, and it got steadily worse until now he must dialyze three times a week to stay alive.

He stays on the machine for nine hours at a time.

Life has altered drastically in the Babcock household. Mrs. Babcock spends far more time shopping to suit her husband's restricted diet. He is not allowed salt, baking powder, baking soda or dried yeast so all convenience foods are out, and she must look for unsalted canned goods.

On top of this, Mrs. Babcock must weigh all the food consumed by her husband and send a daily list of his menus to the KAO for the next six months, to make sure the nutrition balance is correct.

7% Excise Tax Cash Refund

We are proud to be one of the first to be willing to improve the economic situation of our country. We are starting by not waiting for congressional approval of the removal of the 7% excise tax on all new car purchases. With the purchase of any 1971 new car in stock we are giving to you the 7% excise tax of a cash refund, which will range from $140 to almost $300! With each new car purchase at the time of sale, you will also receive another 7% tax rebate upon the passing of this measure by Congress by the Ford Motor Company. In other words you will receive a 7% excise tax in the form of a cash refund plus our tremendous discount on all 1971 automobiles remaining in stock. We guarantee you will never be able to buy a car at such great savings.

A message to the People of Magic Valley from the NEW CAR DEALERS ASSOCIATION of Twin Falls

To Clarify the 7% Federal Excise Tax Refund on New Automobiles

In his statement to the nation Sunday night, August 15, President Nixon said he would propose repeal of the 7% excise tax on automobiles effective immediately. The President also stated he would insist that the American auto industry pass on this tax reduction to customers who buy automobiles this year. This means that if Congress repeals the excise tax, as proposed by President Nixon, new car purchasers from the effective date of retroactivity onward WILL RECEIVE REFUNDS FROM THE GOVERNMENT THROUGH THE MANUFACTURERS of the amount of any excise tax included in the price of new cars they purchase.

We can assure the people of Magic Valley the full amount will be refunded by the Government under terms and conditions of the proposed excise tax repeal. The refund will be made directly to the original owner of the new car. Please understand it is conditional upon action on the part of the Congress of the United States.

The New Car Dealers Association encourages you to buy at this time to realize the 7% excise tax refund, and year end prices on all 1971 models.

Communication gap admitted

BOISE (UPI) — Warden Raymond W. May told a committee investigating conditions at the Idaho State Penitentiary "there had been a breakdown of communications" among staff.

May admitted it was "quite possible" he didn't know everything that went on at the prison but without exception defended his administrative and supervisory staff. But May testified that not enough training and preparation had been given to correction officers in modern rehabilitative methods.

May, director of state corrections and the first witness before the committee appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to appear this week, said the social structure of the prison is changing and to meet this change — "I poured into that staff too much too fast."

But May said his policy now will be "to consolidate the gains and hold tight, but not make any more changes."

May said he thought the morale of the staff was "quite good," but added that his assessment "doesn't imply that there aren't some staff members who are not resisting change."

May said the changes he has instituted have made some staff members "quite uncomfortable."

May, who has 35 years of penal experience, said changes in the type of convict within the prison has made correctional methods more difficult to administer.

He said the new type of convict, primarily youth, is aggressive and "not adverse to murder if egged on."

Court sees color photos

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI) — The prosecution introduced as evidence Tuesday color photographs of slain Vietnamese civilians in an effort to prove that Col. Oran K. Henderson saw some of the dead in the My Lai massacre.

As the court martial went into its second day, the prosecution said it would show that Henderson, charged with trying to cover up the incident, was at low altitude in a helicopter over the areas where the photographs were made March 16, 1968.

In seeking admission of the photographs, Maj. Carroll Tichenor, the chief prosecutor, argued that Henderson was in a position to see slaughter on the ground but that he did not attempt to follow up with an investigation.

Henry B. Rothblatt, chief civilian defense attorney, objected to nine of the 47 photographs because he said their depiction of gore would serve only to "inflame the emotions of the jury," composed of two generals and five colonels. But the military judge, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, admitted all but two of the photographs as evidence.

One of the disallowed photographs showed a man with his entrails protruding and the other showed the gory death of a man near his hut.

To prove that Henderson was in a position to see such sights, Tichenor said he would call three helicopter pilots who were in the air over My Lai that day to tell what they saw on the ground.

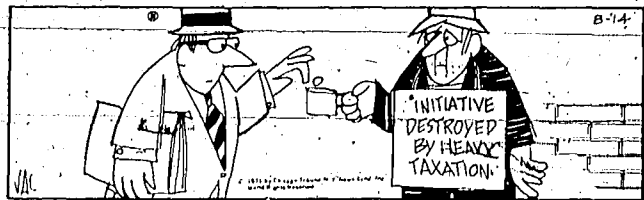

Henderson, 61, was serving his first day as commander of the brigade which sent a rifle company on a sweep through the hamlet. The company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina, is now being tried at Ft. McPherson, Ga., on charges of being responsible for My Lai deaths. One of his platoon leaders, 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., is facing a 20-year sentence for killing 22 Vietnamese civilians.

Henderson faces no criminal charges but is accused of lying to a special commission which inquired into the Army's investigation of the incident, of dereliction of duty for failing to investigate it himself, and failing to report the incident to his superiors.

The prosecution's photographs, which Tichenor conceded were "inflammatory," were made by Ronald L. Haebler, an Army photographer at My Lai and now a free-lance photographer in Cleveland. He said he took his color shots with cameras for his official photo- his personal camera, while graphs.

Signs of the times

Time for living

By ROGERS FRANKLIN

I've just finished reading a magazine article that left me deeply moved and reflective. Have I been harboring prejudices all these years without knowing it?

The truth is, I've never gone to a woman doctor. Here and there I've occasionally heard a woman talk enthusiastically about a woman doctor who sympathetically treated her childhood illnesses. Later, as mothers, these women called in women doctors for their children, too. And now it's their grandchildren.

Frankly, like all too many men, I suppose I'd never thought of a woman physician. But now I learn from this article, "Women Doctors Preferred?" by Helen Alpert, Associate Editor of Harvest Years magazine (the August issue), that since the dawn of history, tradition has been on the side of the woman doctor.

It was the women who took care of the sick, including domestic animals. The woman doctor is in the Old Testament. The greatest doctor of the Middle Ages was Trotula, a woman, on the faculty of the Salerno Medical School at the height of its fame. From then on, Italy's medical schools have been open to women on equal terms with men.

What about the United States? Ay, there's the rub, as Shakespeare would say. Very likely this explains my present regret — or should I call it prejudice? The plain fact is that women have not been wanted in our medical schools, nor in our hospitals as interns or resident physicians. Yet women have special attributes and aptitudes that make them near-brilliant in such fields as pediatrics, anesthesiology, obstetrics, gynecology.

In psychiatry, male psychiatrists recently confessed that women have a double advantage with the "mother image" on their side. To male patients, possibly overloaded with hostility to their father, the woman psychiatrist offers fewer roadblocks to recovery. To the emotionally sick, who often regress toward childhood and look for mother, the woman psychiatrist symbolizes mother who can chase away nightmares.

Able women are in every branch of medicine — from surgeons to medical administrators. But of the 300,000 practicing physicians in this country, only 22,000 are women physicians. Discrimination has barred them out more severely than any other group. Those who persevered had to use every ounce of their strength and determination to make it as doctors, then as wives and mothers. Yes; prejudice dies hard. Not until 1962 did Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia (founded in 1824) admit women, finally.

In Germany, three out of ten doctors are women. In the Netherlands, 20 per cent are women. In India, Finland, the Philippines, Israel, 25 per cent. In the Soviet Union, 75 per cent. The United States, with only ten women to 100 male physicians, is pegged right down there at the bottom, sharing the booby prize with Brazil, Spain, Madagascar.

Figures like this shocked me. Here we are, desperately in need of more doctors yet we've made only token efforts to pry open medical schools and hospital training for more women.

A few constructive things, however, are happening, spearheaded by the American Medical Women's Association that was born in 1915 by women doctors to help all their sister doctors.

Just organized, Helen Alpert reports, is a special committee of members of the American Medical Women's Association to go into every hospital in each state to persuade them to ease the barriers against women. They want part-time internships so that women can give time to their families. They want hospitals' near-slavery rules relaxed to accommodate women's special needs in marriage, child-rearing and homemaking. This has already been done in two big hospitals, with resounding success.

Other helps are — also necessary to see that our talented women become full-fledged doctors. Unlike some men physicians, women have never regarded their M.D. as a quick touch on a pot of gold. I wish them all the best.

USE NATURAL GAS

The flowers and trees will love you

When a natural gas flame burns, only water vapor and carbon dioxide go up the chimney. Plants love carbon dioxide; they use it like you use oxygen. You are doing our environment a favor when natural gas is the energy servant in your home. And you'll make your family very comfortable in the bargain.
