TEN CENTS

Scramblers

SACRAMENTO POLICE chase youths through the California State Fairgrounds during the second night of rioting. About 300 officers clashed with hundreds of rock-throwing youths. At least six patrol cars were shattered by rocks and two overturned. Two officers were injured and several youths arrested. (UPI)

Yank ammo destroyed

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today that half the ammunition stored in a mile square compound at Cam Ranh Bay was destroyed Wednesday in a Viet Cong commando attack that set off 13 hours of explosions.

Military spokesmen declined to say exactly how much ammunition was blown up and denied that the blasts destroyed any 15,000 pound "daisy cutter" bombs, the largest conventional weapons in the U.S. arsenal. To the north along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), South Vietnamese spokesmen reported one minor shelling attack at Fire Base Alpha 4. There was no explanation of the decrease in Communist attacks along the DMZ defense network which has been under pressure since the Communists began an offensive Aug. 11.

It was actually the quietest day in two weeks despite a U.S. and South Vietnamese official prediction of an imminent "high point" in North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks.

American B52 bombers kept up their raids on suspected Communist positions north and northwest of Fire Base Fuller and near the abandoned fortress of Khe Sanh.

At Cam Ranh, the U.S. command said explosives experts still could not approach the ammunition dump more than 30 hours after the chain reaction blasts but aerial surveys indicated half the U-shaped bunkers had blown up. The spokesmen said the surveys also showed that the bunkers containing the 15,000 pound "daisy cutter" bombs were unaffected. The bombs are so big they have to be dropped from C130 freight hauling planes.

Military sources said U.S. Army security troops in bunkers and watchtowers along the desolate beaches near the ammunition dump spotted a group of men, believed Communist commandos, moving out of the area just before the first of the explosions went off.

Viet police stop rally against US

SAIGON (UPI)—Police today broke up an attempt by backers of an anti-American candidate in Sunday's National Assembly election to organize a demonstration in front of the Assembly building in downtown Saigon.

Tran Tuan Nham, whose party symbol is a picture of President Nixon wearing an Adolf Hitler-style mustache, was arrested along with four of six demonstrators. Some 300 spectators watched the brief scuffle with police.

Nham, apparently had no permit for a political demonstration. Police ordered him to get rid of the posters carrying Nixon's picture.

Police, youths tangle

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The California State Fair for the second straight night Wednesday in a renewed clash between police and rock-hurling youths.

At least six patrol cars were damaged by rocks and bottles and two others overturned by roving bands of juveniles in the second consecutive night of trouble at the fair.

Stunned fairgoers, stampeding for the exits, found themselves caught for a time in a crossfire between police tear gas volleys and debris being hurled at officers.

One officer was struck in the head by a rock and taken to a Sacramento Hospital. His wounds were not believed to be serious.

Irish wound 2 troopers

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A gunman shot two British soldiers today in a saw-saw battle with a crowd over the building of barricades in Armagh, an army spokesman said. The soldiers were not wounded seriously.

The incident came as an explosion damaged an electricity board showroom in Dungannon. The board's main Belfast office was bombed Wednesday, and the official wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) condemned the bombing as "criminal and murderous" today in a statement that blamed the blast on the Provisional wing of the illegal organization.

US sees better business outlook

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Commerce Department today predicted a sustained period of growth in the rest of 1971 and into 1972 for the national economy, but said the aircraft industry is in a lull that will probably deepen next year and possibly will not be reversed before 1975.

The gloominess about the aircraft industry's prospects stood out in an otherwise optimistic forecast published in a midyear report on the state of the economy, prepared before President Nixon undertook his new economic program.

Nixon's moves, the report said in a late one-page addition, will enhance the "prospects for full economic recovery with a slowdown in inflation." Forecast by the report.

Of 23 industries surveyed in the 84-page report, 15 were expected to show gains in 1971 of 5 per cent or more, five were to increase by lesser amounts, three were expected to decline but only one—air-space—was expected to have reduced sales through 1972.

Declines this year were predicted for the machine tools industry and the electronic components industry, but both were expected to bounce back next year.

Of business conditions generally, the report said: "After accelerating continuously from 1965 until mid-1969, inflation leveled off thereafter and has recently given evidence of slowing down. Simultaneously, economic activity has embarked on an expansion that has halted the rise in unemployment and has begun to reduce it.

"This upturn, coupled with the revival that is taking place in business and consumer confidence, promises to be only the first stage of a sustained period of economic growth."

It foresaw an 18 per cent increase in the value of shipments of new cars this year and a 6 per cent increase in 1972. That forecast was made before Nixon proposed repealing the 7 per cent auto excise tax and the imposition of a 6.5 per cent additional duty on imported cars—both expected to stimulate car sales even more in 1972.

It said an upswing in the manufacture of large commercial jet engines "is not expected prior to 1975."

It noted a declining foreign market for American planes after the peak of 1972 and said imports of planes rose by 17 per cent this year and will remain at that high level next year.

SEC eyes single stock mart unit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Securities and Exchange Commission Wednesday announced plans to investigate possible integration of all stock exchanges into a single national stock market system and other reforms to protect 100 million American stockholders.

SEC Chairman William J. Casey said broad public hearings will open here Oct. 12 into "what changes are needed." A SEC source characterized the hearings, expected to last weeks and possibly months, as "possibly the most significant ever held by the SEC."

The hearings will consider sweeping changes proposed in a five-month study conducted by William McChesney Martin, the former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and a former president of the New York Stock Exchange.

The Martin report calls for the merger of the New York, American and regional stock exchanges into one national securities market.

Going beyond the Martin study, Casey said the hearings will consider whether huge financial institutions which hold billions of dollars worth of stock—such as mutual funds, pension funds and insurance companies—should be granted the advantages of membership in the stock exchanges. Martin rejected that proposal.

The world's largest mutual fund operator, Investor Diversified Services, has applied for membership on the New York exchange, threatening a suit if its application is denied.

Casey said recommendations for legislation may grow out of the SEC study, which will be held either by the commission itself or by an examiner appointed by its members.

Casey said reforms are needed because some of the most critical problems in the industry are being resolved "not as a duly deliberated matter of broad public policy, but as an expedient to effect short-run savings or to settle or to avoid private lawsuits."

He said the commission has an obligation "to maintain a market in which some 30 million individual shareholders are protected and can have confidence, which will protect and establish fair values for the pension, insurance and mutual funds interests of another 70 million Americans, which will contribute to the economic progress of 207 million Americans and which will attract capital from other parts of the world."

Imported car price hikes set

By United Press International
Three major distributors of foreign cars, reacting to President Nixon's 10 per cent surcharge on imports, raised their prices Wednesday to help offset the increase levy.

Nissan Motor Corp. in U.S.A., maker of the Japanese Datsun, increased the prices on its 1972 models late Wednesday following similar moves by Volkswagen of America Corp. and Toyota Motor Sales U.S.A., importer of the Japanese cars.

Nissan said the price increases for its 1972 cars, scheduled to go on sale Sept. 1, will range from $133 to $265. Volkswagen 1971 model increases will range from $70 to $163 and from $138 to $487 for its Porsche and Audi models. Toyota will raise its prices between $65 and $153.

On Aug. 20, the British Leyland Co., maker of Jaguar, Austin and Triumph cars, raised its prices 2 1/2 per cent on cars that had cleared U.S. customs after midnight Aug. 15, when the surcharge went into effect.

Trade loss cited

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. foreign trade deficit—a major factor in President Nixon's new economic program—continued into a fourth month in July, the longest stretch in the nation's history, it was disclosed today.

The Commerce Department reported the United States imported $204.1 million more from other countries than it shipped abroad in July, raising the trade deficit to $67.4 million for the first time seven months of the year.

Nixon's decision to let the dollar "float" on the international market and to impose a 10 per cent tariff on a wide array of imports was taken to alleviate the deficit problem.

There were these other developments at home and abroad in connection with the 90-day wage-price freeze and other aspects of Nixon's program for U.S. economic recovery.

The AFL-CIO and the independent United Auto Workers' union (UAW) conferred with a battery of lawyers on the possibility of bringing court suits against the price-wage edict.

The dollar dropped sharply on British foreign currency markets, depreciating nearer the target of the Nixon devaluation goal of more than 10 per cent in relation to other strong currencies such as the mark and yen.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has predicted—as recently as Wednesday—that the United States may have a trade deficit this year for the first time since 1963 when records were kept on a different basis.

The Bank of France also moved in today and bought what it called "important amounts" of dollars to prop up the U.S. currency after the rate opened at the dollar's old official floor price of 5.5125. In private deals between French banks the dollar was off 3 per cent as compared with 2.7 per cent Wednesday.

In Frankfurt dealers set the price at 3.3810 marks to the dollar, a devaluation of 7.62 from the old official 3.66 rate in force until the West German government floated the mark May 10. Trading was described as "very light."

The 7.62 figure was the lowest since May 10. Joseph Wagner, a Frankfurt money dealer, predicted "the dollar will continue its slow downturn" and he said.

CSI vote signup lags

TWIN FALLS—A directive from Idaho Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa to the Twin Falls County Clerk's office to set up a voter-registration program at the College of Southern Idaho has been held up due to a "snag in communications."

Cenarrusa has asked all Idaho counties to register voters, particularly the newly enfranchised 18-to-20-year-olds, at the state's institutions of higher education and in the high schools.

College voter registration was ordered during enrollment for the fall term, but CSI registration ends on Friday and the program has yet to be initiated.

Twin Falls County Clerk Harold Lancaster and his staff met with Assistant Idaho Attorney General John Croner and Assistant Secretary of State Ron Stephens on Tuesday in a one-day session to plan the voter-registration drive. Also attending were county representatives from all Magic Valley counties except for Blaine County.

August Bethke, Minidoka County clerk, conducted the session.

In Twin Falls, Helen Thorne, in charge of voter registration, said her staff has been attempting to contact CSI President James L. Taylor to set up the registration on campus, but Dr. Taylor has been unavailable for the past several days. Not knowing whom else to contact, the county officials have let the program slide until the CSI president can be located, she said.

Dr. Terry Smith, dean of students at CSI, said today he had heard nothing of the state program.

Lancaster said that the voter-registration drive will be scheduled at CSI after classes start next week. If arrangements can be made. (Continued on p. 15)

Inmates support tale about prison condition

BOISE (UPI) — Inmates testifying in secrecy Wednesday told essentially the same story: a special committee investigating conditions at the state penitentiary has heard all along, a committee member said.

Edward V. Williams, administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, said the 10 or 12 prisoners interviewed in a closed session at the prison reported "there's a communications gap or lag between the administration, the correction people, and between inmates and inmates." Williams said the special investigating committee will meet again in closed session next Tuesday and Wednesday with a final report to be made public next Wednesday afternoon.

Williams said the report would also include transcripts of the entire investigation, although those testifying Wednesday will not be identified by name. Williams said the inmates discussed the riot at the prison two weeks ago and told the committee some of the public reactions Raymond W. May, said the prisoners called their warden really "the straws that broke the camel's back."

Specific complaints made by the prisoners, Williams said, included an inexperienced group of counselors, non-uniform enforcement of rules, lack of sufficient activity, and a need to move to the new site, a transfor still two years away. — But Williams asked how inmates felt about director of corrections Raymond W. May, said the prisoners called their warden really "the straws that broke the camel's back."

"They had nothing but praise for Mr. May," Williams said. "They thought maybe his programs were inflated too much or too fast, but we heard that from the warden himself."

May's program at the prison — rehabilitative rather than punitive — has been criticized during the hearings. But Williams said while the prisoners prefer May's methods, they would still prefer to see strict and uniform enforcement of prison rules.

District remap plan proposed

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the public schools task force on legislative planning Wednesday approved a plan calling for reorganization of local school districts with a built-in three-year time table before implementation.

Byron Johnson of Boise, chairman of the task force, said he will meet with the state board of education next Wednesday to report on the reorganization plan and other areas of legislative action the task force is considering.

Johnson said legislative proposals including school reorganization, finance, kindergartens, accountability, vocational education and a definition of the role of the state department of education will be drawn up by October and submitted to the board for final action.

Mrs. Marilyn Schuler, of Boise, a member of the reorganization subcommittee, said the legislation would authorize the state board of education to establish a commission to develop a tentative statewide plan for school district organization.

The commission's plan would be heard in public sessions before a final plan is adopted. Mrs. Schuler called the plan highly controversial and said the committee would concentrate its selling efforts in five areas.

Statistical information on resulting economies. — Development of information on advantages of a regional service center concept centered in Idaho's institutions of higher education.

Advantages of better education systems available to districts. — Proposed programs for phase-out of surplus personnel brought about by reorganization.

And formulation of a plan for statewide education of the advantages of reorganization in order to obtain popular support from a majority of citizens.

Mansfield calls Viet vote help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield believes the collapse of South Vietnam's presidential election into a one-man race may improve his chances of legislating a pullout date for U.S. troops.

"It won't hurt it," Mansfield said Wednesday in an interview, shortly before leaving for Europe. He referred to his amendment calling for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina within nine months of enactment.

San Quentin relaxes visitor restrictions

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — While 500 persons demonstrated outside the walls, some shouting, "three dead pigs is not enough," San Quentin prison officials said Wednesday they would relax visitor restrictions imposed after a bloody escape attempt in which three guards and three prisoners died.

Associate Warden James Park said attorneys, barred from the prison since the Saturday rampage, would be allowed to visit their clients again starting Thursday.

He said lawyers with active criminal cases would be given first priority, then those with civil cases. All will be thoroughly searched, he said, and "no tape recorders will be allowed, of course."

Prison officials believe a 9-millimeter pistol smuggled to black revolutionary George Jackson, one of the three slain inmates, was brought past the prison's metal detectors in a tape recorder.

and the bodies of the three guards, along with two convicts who refused to take part in the escape attempt, were found inside.

Some had their throats slashed and others had been shot and garrotted with electric cords.

Prisoners in the adjustment center are usually handcuffed on the way to and from the visitors center, but Jackson was not, a guard said, because "he had never given us any trouble."

While grieving widows, children and fellow officers attended funerals of the slain guards, the revolutionary led continued a full-scale campaign claiming Jackson was set up to be murdered and accusing the prison of brutality and torture.

Attorneys for the 26 surviving adjustment center prisoners filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in San Francisco asking that the prison be taken over by the federal government, prison officials be prohibited from making "public statements" and each of the 20 inmates be given $2 million damages.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — The father of attorney Stephen Bingham says authorities believe his son brought in a gun to San Quentin inmate George Jackson but that he might not have known it and could be in serious danger.

Attorneys for the 26 surviving adjustment center prisoners filed a lawsuit in U.S. District Court in San Francisco asking that the prison be taken over by the federal government, prison officials be prohibited from making "public statements" and each of the 20 inmates be given $2 million damages.

U.S. District Judge Spencer Williams heard two of the requests, and turned both down.

Attorneys will be permitted inside the prison today for the first time since the incident, but visits to inmate clients will be by priority only and after being thoroughly searched.

Family help said top need

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Marriage counseling expanded to include the concept of counseling for the entire family is the greatest mental health need in the Twin Falls area.

This was the consensus expressed at a public meeting Wednesday evening at the College of Southern Idaho, sponsored by the Twin Falls County Mental Health Assn.

The information is being sought by a regional board currently seeking for a federal grant to open a mental health center to service the Magic Valley.

Roger Abernathy and Mrs. Royal Stotton, Twin Falls County representatives to the South Central Idaho Mental Health, Inc., reported on progress of the regional board's efforts. Assisting is Larry Burman, Boise, staff member of the Idaho Department of Health.

Specific local needs and plans to meet them must be outlined, Mrs. Stotton said, before federal money will be approved. A series of meetings have been held in the valley to learn needs from teachers, judges, ministers and other professional persons dealing with people and their problems.

The strongest statement of need at the Wednesday meeting came from Douglas Bashaw, sociology teacher at Filer. He said he and his wife "saw the need for reviving failing marriages to save the family in the interest of children."

"The real emphasis should be in providing skilled counselors working under the direction of a psychiatrist to operate an effective public education program," Bashaw said.

The greatest need is for an impartial third party to assist in re-establishing communication between husbands and wives, and between parents and children, he said.

Rev. Leslie Brown, president, Twin Falls Mental Health Assn., opened the meeting and presented a list of written suggestions made by those attending.

Principal emphasis was given to family group counseling as the greatest need, he said, with psychiatric care — both with children and youth — and geriatrics care placed second among community needs.

Ranking third was the need for community consultation and education programs, which would include public education and professional training. Education of the public would include availability of help in solving family and personal problems.

It would also include emergency treatment for drug, alcohol and other substance abuse cases.

Abernathy said the orientation of mental health centers in Idaho and elsewhere is toward staff and not buildings. The intent is to have trained persons go to the people and work through existing institutions, such as area hospitals and schools. Several offers of office space have been received by the regional group, he said.

Mrs. Stotton said it is hoped the state's share of the project can be included in the 1973 budget. Since Idaho has been declared a disaster area relative to federal funding, the regional mental health center is eligible for 80 per cent federal funding, she said, with the state providing the balance.

TWIN FALLS — Laura Vincent, Filer, current Miss Twin Falls, and Helen Henderson, current Idaho Mother of the Year, addressed Twin Falls Lions Club members and their wives in a luncheon meeting Wednesday in the Rogerson Round Up Room.

Mrs. Henderson who also works with the club in their annual Miss Twin Falls Pageant, read excerpts from letters she has received from previous title holders expressing their appreciation for the contest and the opportunity to work with contestants and contest directors.

Mrs. Henderson said Velma Guyer, whom she was able to visit while in New York for the Mother of the Year contest, attributed her, future, career plans to her experience in winning the Miss Twin Falls title.

Education alcohol answer

Hulbert

TWIN FALLS — The best answer to alcoholism is education, John Hulbert, director of the Schick Laboratories, Human Relations Division, La Jolla, Calif., told the Twin Falls Rotary Club Wednesday.

Hulbert told the club that he believes alcoholics should be called "alcoholics" — his own coined phrase — because alcoholism is looked upon as a physiological instead of as a mental illness.

Hulbert, who was once an alcoholic, related the circumstances of his cure. He said that he believes alcoholic beverages should carry labels warning that alcohol is a drug and a depressant.

Hulbert said the addictive effects of alcohol are more pronounced on certain races and ethnic groups.

Initial Hereford show set at fair

TWIN FALLS — The 1971 Twin Falls County Fair will feature the first Hereford Register of Merit showing ever held during a county fair, and the first of its kind in the state of Idaho, according to Robert Howard, Murtaugh, president of the Idaho Hereford Association.

Howard spoke briefly during the annual publicity banquet of the Fair Board, held at the Rogerson Hotel Tuesday night to acquaint news media with fair highlights.

The Hereford show is scheduled for 8:05 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 9, Howard said.

Winners in the Register of Merit showing will gain nationally recognized points for champion Herefords.

Other fair highlights will include presentations by the Marine Drum and Bugle Corps Wednesday and Thursday afternoons during the fair, which opens formally on Wednesday, Sept. 8, with a flag-raising ceremony at 8 a.m.

Sgt. Fisher, Twin Falls Marine Corps recruiter, told the gathering that the Marine group of 35 musicians will arrive by bus from Twentynine Palms, Calif., where they are stationed, on Sept. 7, and may perform downtown in the mill area the next two mornings, Sept. 8 and 9.

Despite requests to "borrow" the military musicians for the full four days of the fair, Sgt. Fisher said, they could be spared from other assignments for only two days.

During Tuesday night's banquet, Fair Board member Bill Moore, Hansen, introduced a "Cavalcade of Queens," attending as honored guests. They included Debbie Howard, Murtaugh, Idaho Hereford Queen; Karen Lavens James, Miss Rodeo Idaho and America, 1962; Laura Vincent, 1970 Junior Miss; Christian Peterson, Idaho-Mother of the Year in 1967; Bonnie Bruning Walverton, Miss Rodeo Idaho, 1965; Margaret Vincent, Mrs. Idaho, 1965; Caroline Harvey, Miss Rodeo Idaho, 1969; Barbara Brown, Miss Idaho, 1950; Helen Henderson, Idaho Mother of the Year for 1971; Maxine Larsen, Idaho and national Cowbelles president; Betty Bever, Mrs. Idaho, 1958; Zoe Ann Warberg Shaub, Miss Idaho, 1952, and Irene Hammond Link, Miss Idaho, 1962.

Gene Hill, queen-contest director, said this year's competition should be one of the best ever, with "10 or 12 entrants" anticipated. The deadline for entrants is this Friday, he reminded would-be queen hopefuls.

Jack Pierce, Malta, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, read a proclamation from Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus proclaiming the week during which the Filer Fair will be held as "Idaho Hereford Week" in honor of the Hereford show, and calling on all Idahoans to observe the week by noting the importance of the cattle industry to Idaho's economy.

Pierce noted that Idahoans consumed an average of 53 pounds of beef per capita in 1950; raised the per-capita average to 85 pounds in 1960, and consumed 113 pounds last year.

The Hereford show will be termed the "Big Western" showing, exemplifying the importance of the cattle industry to Idaho and the entire West, Pierce said. The Hereford show has already attracted 182 entrants, with 33 others promising to enter before fairtime, making it one of the largest ever held in the Western States. Pierce added. Breeders will compete for $1,000 in prize money.

Other featured events of the fair will be a trained buffalo act by Jerry Olsen and his 1,600-pound "partner," a bareback riding act by Olsen in which he rides two galloping horses simultaneously, jumping over a moving vehicle at the same time; free entertainment from 2 to 4 p.m. each afternoon and a free rodeo each night, and demonstrations by four junior riding clubs.

The Miss Rodeo Idaho competition is scheduled Friday and Saturday evenings, with Miss Rodeo Idaho to be crowned at the conclusion of the event Saturday night.

With youngsters competing in calf riding, a Charolais show on Friday, and the scheduled performances by the Twin Falls County Sheriff's Posse, the 1971 Fair and Rodeo will undoubtedly be one of the best ever, according to Mrs. Earl Peterson, sponsor with her husband of the afternoon and evening entertainment.

Alice Reed, Filer, president of the Idaho Wranglerettes, outlined her experiences during nine years of managing the Wranglerette horse show. This year's event will feature 32 working classes with an added demonstration of 4-H horsemanship for entrants 17 and under.

Mrs. Reed said she may have a "slight problem" with scheduling all the potential entrants as "103 4-H members may qualify for the event."

The Filer American Legion post will conduct each day's flag-raising and lowering event, with the exception of one day when the Marine Drum and Bugle Corps will be asked to preside.

Tom Shouse, secretary-treasurer of the Fair Board, told the group "We hope for an attendance of at least 60,000 people this year." Rodeo tickets are on sale at various locations, and reserved seats may be obtained by calling 733-4398. The reserved seats will cost $2.50 per person.

Other members of the Fair Board were introduced, including Ben Mottern, said to be the "oldest" in years of service; Cecil Calhoun, produce division manager, and T. W. Richmond, cattle division manager.

Calhoun said the junior garden and produce divisions have proven very popular, and that a junior flower display division is being added this year. He urged all fair-goers to "come see the very backbone of all Idaho farms — produce."

Richmond said the dairy cattle division is being eliminated this year due to lack of interest over the past several years, but that other cattle divisions would be strengthened and expanded.

Initial activities leading up to the formal opening of the 1971 Fair will begin at 1 p.m. Monday, Sept. 6, with weighing of steers from 1 to 6 p.m. Fat lambs and hogs will be weighed at 4 p.m. on Sept. 6, with 4-H members' animals weighed first, followed by FFA members.

The traditional judges' day of all exhibits is scheduled Tuesday, Sept. 7, with swine, poultry, dairy and beef and home economics judging scheduled for 9 a.m., and 4-H Horsemanship events scheduled all day.

Eagle woman slain

EAGLE, Idaho (UPI) — An elderly Eagle woman was pronounced dead on arrival at an Emmett Hospital Wednesday after she was accidentally shot by her grandson.

Ada County detective Sgt. Ralph Snell said Stella Boehm, 77, Pearl Route, Eagle, was lowering her grandson, 12-year-old Bill Boehm, when the incident occurred. Snell said the boy was carrying a .22 rifle which accidentally discharged, striking the woman.

Snell said the incident occurred one mile east of Highway 16 on Chapparral Road.

Zero Population

Simple arithmetic long ago made it clear that the only question regarding zero population growth is "when," not "if."

A new nonprofit Coalition for a National Population Policy, formed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., with representatives from 15 major conservation and population groups on its executive committee, has called for the United States to declare zero population growth—ZPG—official national policy.

"Either we must act now to develop national, voluntary policies and programs to stabilize U.S. population size or face the possibility of a drastic deterioration in the quality of national life and the collapse of many of our cherished institutions under the sheer weight of numbers," warns Tydings.

This is the accepted wisdom today. But is doom inevitable and just around the decade unless we act now?

A zero rate of increase in the United States starting immediately is not only "not feasible but I believe not desirable," says Ansley J. Coale, director of the Office of Population Research at Princeton.

He points out that to attain ZPG immediately, it would be necessary to cut the birth rate about in half. For the next 15 to 20 years, women would have to bear children at a rate that would produce only a little over one child per completed family.

"At the end of that time we would have a very peculiar age distribution with a great shortage of young people," says Coale, "...much like of a health resort."

The resulting social and economic disruptions represent too large a cost to pay for the advantage we might derive from reducing growth to zero right away, he says. A gradual approach is better, to allow us to adjust to a drastically changed population structure in which half of all Americans would be over 37 instead of 27, as is the case today.

How gradual? Chicago University sociologist Donald J. Bogue flatly predicts that no more babies will be born in the year 2001 than will be born in 1971.

Already he points out, the WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestants) and Jewish populations are reproducing below replacement levels. Most of the country's recent slackened growth has been contributed by minority groups, such as blacks, Spanish-speaking Americans and Roman Catholics, whose birth rates are moderately above average.

The birth rate among these groups is now declining, he says.

Thus zero population growth is not only a desirable situation but one that apparently is coming whether Congress passes a resolution about it or not.

Certainly the government should take advantage of what Bogue calls the "heaven-sent opportunity" of the "fertility recession" by encouraging its continuance.

And what is not needed is panic or ill-advised crash programs of one sort or another.

WASHINGTON — An inexcusably blunt suggestion that the coal-and-oh-industries-ear-make Rep. John Blatnik of Minnesota, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, dance to their soft-pollution tune has vastly improved prospects for an extremely tough anti-pollution water bill now moving through Congress.

The suggestion came in a privately-circulated, unsigned memorandum from an industry lobbyist warning his clients that the bill approved by Sen. Edmund Muskie's Public Works Subcommittee is far too tough for industry to swallow.

"We must take immediate action to get a better bill out of Blatnik's committee in the House." When a copy of the memorandum came into Blatnik's hand, he exploded. Blatnik instructed his staff and the staff of the House Public Works Committee that under no condition would there be any deal with the coal and oil industries.

The reason (as one of Blatnik's colleagues told us): "The industry lobbyist apparently thinks he has John in his hip pocket and John didn't like that."

Rather, the unprecedented clash between Annenberg and Greene stems from an unbridgeable personality conflict, in which key Embassy department heads, working through the direct lines of command to the Ambassador that Annenberg has fostered, sided with Annenberg.

Greene is now awaiting reassignment from the State Department, with an outside chance that he will resign outright.

A footnote: Despite the comedy of errors that he committed when President Nixon first sent him to London in 1969, Annenberg's overall performance is now rated as good, although highly unorthodox.

The failure of President Nixon or any top Administration official to soften up AFL-CIO president George Meany, when the 90-day wage-price freeze was announced, was bitterly resented at AFL-CIO headquarters and may have helped spark Meany's cold fury.

Secretary of Labor James Hodgson was under wraps until the President made his announcement. All he did was call Meany's home and leave word with Meany's son that his father should be sure to watch Mr. Nixon's televised speech that night — the identical treatment given to leading Washington journalists.

Hodgson talked to Meany on the phone Monday, but as of Thursday the President himself had made no effort to reach Meany, either in person or by phone. The White House attitude was that to brief Meany would require briefing other labor leaders not in the AFL-CIO. But top White House politicians now admit that Meany's position is unique; a little backscratching might have gone a long way.

Two Sides of Democracy

ANDREW TULLY

Capital Fare

(Editor's Note: Andrew Tully is on vacation. During his absence his column will be written by leading figures on the Washington governmental and political scene.)

By SEN. BOBDOLE Republican National Chairman It is time for Republicans to start being positive about the state of the nation and the accomplishments of the Nixon Administration.

It is time for them to look at the record and, indeed, to point with pride at that record. Republicans have much to be proud of.

They have a President whose efforts in ending an unpopular war have been a spectacular success. They have a President who for two and a half years has steadily inched the entire world toward an era of peace and negotiation.

They have a President who, despite Democratic control of both houses of Congress, has a record of achievement that includes the first meaningful draft reform in more than 20 years, major steps toward cleaning up the environment, and significant success in ending the galloping inflation brought on by the guts and butter policy of the previous administration. No one can overlook the President's efforts to combat drug abuse, find a cure for cancer, or bring peaceful integration to Southern schools.

But just as important as his accomplishments in the face of overwhelming obstacles is President Nixon's record of integrity and bellowability.

Admittedly, there have been complaints about credibility gaps in this Administration, but these have largely fallen by the wayside almost as quickly as they have been issued, for one simple reason.

There is no record in this Administration of deliberate deceit. Yes, there have been mistakes and errors and, yes, some news has been withheld for security reasons. But there is no record in this Administration of any concerted effort to deceive or lie to the American people.

Compared in the cold light of day this President's record of leadership, of accomplishment and integrity with the records of those who seek to unseat him or succeed him and they pale by comparison.

Too many of the President's political foes have forsaken their early principles and discarded their convictions while they flounder about trying to find some reason why the American people should elect their President. They are, almost without exception, hawks turned doves, spend-thrifts turned savers, Johnson supporters turned Johnson deniers, and internationalists turned neo-isolationists.

Yet each continues to attack the President on trumped-up charges on the theory that if you can't fool all the people all the time you can fool enough of them on election day 1972.

This time, however, as was the case in 1968, I think they will be wrong.

When the American people have a chance, as they will in 1972, to compare the record of Richard Nixon with the record of Muskie or Humphrey or Kennedy or Harris, then the rhetoric is stripped away and two candid candidates remain—Richard Nixon and the Democrat—have no doubt whom the American people will choose.

For by then the war issue will be a peace record and it will be a Nixon record; the economy issue will be a prosperity record and it will be a Nixon record, and the issue of "who said what" will be the record of who did what and that, too, will be the Nixon record.

On those issues and that record the Republicans should be not on the defensive, but on the offensive. And on those issues and that record, I am convinced, the American people in 1972 will again elect Richard Nixon President.

ROBERT ALLEN

Rocks?

PEOPLES VALLEY, Arizona

In every direction the eye sees many more mountains than people and they serve the visitor well by walling him off from much of what lies beyond. But no modern outpost is self-reliant and the intent young plumber, out from town, raised the dilemma of President Nixon's new economic policy.

"I've argued for years that everyone is being paid too much," he said, "but with four children you need everything you can get and I am glad the freeze will end before my next raise is due in January."

This sense of blind is national. It pervades companies and individuals and it is the reason why Mr. Nixon's move to hold the line for 90 days is being swallowed as a bitter pill. The freeze, many like the plumber believe, is no lasting remedy to the discomfort of the chronic squeeze.

The problem is deeper than the fever of inflation, it is rooted in an affluence which has inspired assumptions that no one need pause on a plateau of material demands. The road of income expectations has risen steadily for so long, its ascent is taken for granted. The pressure is to grade the road so it can be climbed without strain or short breath.

revolution but prevents the development of the consciousness of servitude," wrote Herbert Marcuse. "It has developed the awesome capacity to make its members want and need its products and achievements."

The revolution is going nowhere because its advocates, while denouncing society's "false needs," see no way of snuffing them. Marxism has proven to be merely a less successful reach for the same needs. Even young idealists in communes find they face failure when their experimental sub-cultures become burdened with unproductive members.

In all modern societies, capitalist and socialist, the most dangerous tensions spring from unreal, swollen levels of needs and expectations. In the Soviet Union, the leaders placate impatient consumers with the promises of a new five-year plan. In this country, these illusions can plainly lead to an awkward stalemate. Cicero wrote that a slippery property is the national climate of a democracy.

The economy can do a better job than the radicals in revealing what is wrong with America, but it will need help from leaders willing to pay the price of talking as realists. When politicians, labor leaders, and reformers play to popular aspirations without stressing discipline and restraint, they induce folly.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Glaucoma

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why is glaucoma not discovered until it is too late? Does it affect both eyes or can it damage just one? What can a person look for as a warning sign? I have a scratching in one eye but am scared to go to the eye doctor? — M. U. M.

Why isn't glaucoma discovered in time? Because people are "scared to go to the eye doctor." There, I've answered your question. Now you answer mine. Why are people "scared to go to the doctor?" Why, for instance, are you?

Glaucoma starts with increased pressure inside the eyeball, and this time can cause such nerve damage as to destroy vision.

There is only one way to detect it in its earliest stages, and that is to measure the pressure. You can't do this yourself. It is, however, a simple and painless test, and takes only a few minutes. A special small instrument is required for it.

For an eye specialist, it is just a routine sort of a test, but naturally it does take some training. In recent years some general physicians have learned to do it.

"As glaucoma progresses, one sign is seeing halos around lights at night. It isn't a certain sign (as if it can denote other things too) but it's a warning to have your eyes checked. Other signs are disturbances of vision, and sometimes pain in the eye. But having a test before any such signs develop is better, because the earlier steps are taken to control pressure in the eyes, the better the chances of not losing your eyesight.

Ordinarily glaucoma develops in both eyes. "I don't know what the 'scratching' is in your eye, but I'll tell you one thing: if it were my eye, I'd go to an eye specialist. I wouldn't be exactly disappointed if he told me it wasn't glaucoma, but whatever it is, I'd want to find out and do something about it.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of Times-News, requesting a copy of the booklet, "How To Control Emphysema," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

MR. SPECTATOR

Pleasant Interlude

History as a hobby gets you into the most interesting places and you get to spend time with interesting people, too.

For instance, working on material for the September, 1972 history section of the Times-News "Progress '72" to come off the presses about 12 months from now, Mr. Spectator decided that if he wanted pictures of old-Ghost-Town areas in the Stanley Basin and Sawtooth Valley area he had better get them before the snow-flies. So off to the north country for a day-off-at-work. That took care of part of the wants, but more pictures were needed.

Well, Mr. Spectator no longer owns a four-wheel drive vehicle so the situation looked somewhat dark until Ted Schiermeier, who has a summer-winter home in the Sawtooth-Valley and who is also a Twin Falls businessman, said he has such a vehicle and would be glad to go the hauling wherever we would like to go.

So a date was made. It was a beautiful day and we pulled into Ted's place about 9:30 a.m. after a two-and-one-half-hour run from Twin Falls.

But what made the day complete—in addition to photographing the hard-to-get-to areas—was the fact that when we started out on the trek from Sawtooth City there were, in addition to Ted, his wife, and son and also Dr. George Brown, Twin Falls, his wife and two sons. And to top it off the women had brought a big picnic lunch which we consumed by a beautiful lake.

So that's what we said—you meet the most interesting people when you get into this history hobby.

Next year when you once more read about Idaho history, just remember some of the pictures would not have been available for you to scan if it hadn't been for the nice people like the Browns and the Schiermeiers.

Of course you will not get the benefit of that nice picnic lunch but then you can't have everything—can you?

NEW FLAGPOLE

Hail to the Buhl Green Giant plant people. They've put up a new 50-foot flagpole. Though a cooperative effort of all plant departments—and their budgets—we were informed the pole became a reality. The Buhl Idaho Power Co. bunch joined the act by contributing labor and equipment necessary to set the flagpole. So now at the Green Giant plant at Buhl "Old Glory" tops the pole and the "green" flag of the Green Giant flies below.

500 acres burned by BLM

TWIN FALLS — The Bureau of Land Management burned about 500 acres south of the Hollister Port of Entry Wednesday afternoon in a controlled burn designed to clear the acreage for a cattle grazer.

Bob Brock, Burley, area BLM manager, said the bureau cooperates with livestock men in periodic burns of needed acreage to reduce sagebrush and cheatgrass. The grower, in this case Leonard Peters, will then plant crested wheatgrass for livestock forage.

The average hotel occupancy rate in Twin Falls increased from 64 per cent in 1960 to 81 per cent last year. Banquets accounted for 47 per cent of the total revenues; rooms only 25 per cent.

ASC has data on freeze

BOISE — Anyone wanting official answers to specific questions about the recent economic stabilization actions taken by President Nixon can contact the nearest county office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to George L. Blick, chairman of the Idaho State ASC committee.

For all locations except highly-urbanized areas, ASC county offices have been designated as information centers regarding the stabilization of prices, rents, wages, and salaries, Blick said. The ASC offices will provide information only. They are not authorized to handle complaints nor to help resolve them. The nearest Internal Revenue Service office will handle all complaints as well as provide information.

Bridge over troubled waters.

It's easy to forget that emergencies do happen. And when there is a crisis, you'll need a nest egg to fall back on.

The Payroll Savings Plan is one of the easiest ways to make sure you've got something saved for when you need money fast. When you participate in the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside from each paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's an effortless way to build up a reserve.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds — for E Bonds, 3 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Let's hope there are no troubled waters in your future. But remember, emergencies don't always happen to the other guys.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Mind Your Money

Q—In your column on vodka you stated that all vodka must have the same taste—that is, no taste. Isn't Russian vodka alcohol that comes from potatoes? American vodka is made from ordinary grain alcohol diluted with water. They are two different things. American vodka is tasteless. Russian vodka has some slight flavor. — J.H., Washington, D.C.

A—The revenuers (at Internal Revenue Service) say there is nothing to prohibit American vodka from being made of potatoes, corn or even fermented garbage. Alcohol comes from a number of sources and that's all vodka is—straight alcohol, cut with water.

Q—The "proof" of distillation, according to the revenuers is the thing that decides whether alcohol is classified as bourbon, rum, vodka or whatever. For example, if sugar cane is refined and distilled until it has a proof of distillation rated at 170, it's rum. If it is distilled further so as to have a proof of distillation of 190, it's vodka. Bourbon comes from grain squeezings of around 160 proof of distillation.

Possibly, some Russian vodka imported into this country has a slightly lower proof of distillation and therefore some trace of taste. Agents say they aren't too fussy about such things, claiming such wisps of taste are often "psychological."

The "proof" rating you see on bottles is something else. It shows how much the liquor has been cut with water. You can make your own 80-proof vodka by cutting 94-proof vodka with water. I've often wondered whether you can save money by cutting, say, a half-gallon of 94-proof vodka with water to make a half gallon plus of 80-proof.

Q—My home is 30 years old and has aluminum window frames that have become dark and discolored. Can they be brightened up? — Mrs. S.P.M., Philadelphia, Pa.

A—You'll have to paint the window frames to improve their appearance. They were undoubtedly installed before aluminum building materials were "modernized" to resist corrosion.

Q—What can you tell me about "seamless, lifetime floor"? What do they mean by "lifetime"? I've heard of "liquid wood" you apply to a floor. Is this it? — V.L., Turanton, Pa.

A—This sounds like one of those "miraculous" paint-on floors. Many companies have come and gone attempting to sell these floors. Two main problems: (1) Poor application results in a poor floor. (2) Imperfections in the old, beat-up floor will show through the newly coated job.

You should check around town with established painting and building contractors to see what they know about the company that sells the floor. You might, at the same time, get some estimates on how much it would cost to refurbish your old floor in the conventional manner, especially if your floor is old and in poor condition.

You may pay more initially for a regular floor repair job but you might save in the long run by not having to repaint a "lifetime" liquid application.

Building limits set

POCATELLO (UPI) — The Southeastern Idaho Health Department has announced that new construction in the Chubbuck area will be limited to one new dwelling unit per half acre until next April 1.

Ivan Frazier, department administrator, said the restriction is being imposed because there is no sewage collector or treatment system for Chubbuck. He said his staff estimates that more than one million gallons of raw sewage per day are allowed to percolate into the soil of the Chubbuck area.

A thought for today: Naturalist John Burroughs said, "Time does not become sacred until we have lived it."

Freeze facts listed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest questions and answers, issued by the Cost of Living Council, on how the wage-price freeze will work:

Q: Are welfare payments covered by the wage-price freeze?

A: No. Welfare payments are not payments for services rendered and therefore are not wages.

Q: Are teachers who were eligible to be paid over a 12-month period but in fact are being paid over a 10-month period eligible for a pay raise which was in effect in the school district before Aug. 15?

A: Yes.

Q: Can a company institute a profit sharing program for which it had previously planned, during the freeze?

A: No. Fringe benefits cannot be increased from the base period level during the freeze.

Q: Are the prices of school lunches which are supported by the Department of Agriculture covered by the freeze?

A: Yes.

Q: The food industry relies heavily on promotional discounts to encourage retailers to carry a particular item. When such discounts were offered in the month prior to Aug. 15, must they be continued through the entire freeze period?

A: The answer depends on the price at which substantial transactions were made in the firm's normal marketing area during the base period. If an item was discounted to certain retailers within a marketing area who had not previously carried the item while substantial transactions were also being made to other retailers in the same marketing area at regular prices, the price can be increased to the non-discounted rate. Otherwise, the discounts must be offered throughout the freeze.

Q: Will increases in rent, related to family incomes at rates established prior to Aug. 15, 1971, be permitted? State-aided and federal low-cost housing programs mandate that rents raise according to the income of the individual.

A: Yes, as long as rates per given amount of family income are not raised.

Q: If a tenant's lease expires, can his rent be raised to the level which is being paid by new tenants in similar units?

A: No.

Studies of China for Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon is studying books on China and keeping a top secret notebook on plans for his trip to Peking which may take place late this year.

A high White House official who earlier had indicated that Nixon's "journey for peace" would be undertaken in early 1972, now is saying the President will travel "sooner rather than later."

The only deadline the White House has given is "before May" to keep it out of the realm of partisan politics during an election year.

Nixon said at his news conference Aug. 4 that there would be extensive negotiations for the historic visit to the Chinese mainland within the next two or three months.

But there are no further hints on the preparations. Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen in response to a question Monday that neither the President nor Henry A. Kissinger, his national security affairs adviser, has been in touch with representatives of the Peoples Republic of China.

Ziegler also said flatly "no conditions" have been set by either side on the visit or the agenda. Arkansas Rep. Wilbur Mills, a possible Democratic Presidential candidate, had suggested that some conditions may have been placed on the trip which would put a ceiling on Nixon's travel plans.

Florida, with 14 1/2 per cent of its population 65 or older, leads the nation in the percentage of elderly residents. New Jersey state has the greatest number of oldsters — over 2 million.

Jordan move sends interest ripples across Magic Valley

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Idaho Sen. Len B. Jordan's announcement that he will not seek re-election next year sent shock waves of surprise and strong ripples of interest through Magic Valley political circles today.

Jordan's announcement came as a surprise to Republicans and Democrats alike, though at least two often-mentioned candidates indicated definite interest in seeking the Senate seat.

Walker, a strong contender, told the Times-News that he isn't turning down a chance to run for the Senate, but that he hasn't definitely decided either way.

"It depends on the finances, mostly, and on what backing I can get," Ravenscroft said. "I can't really decide until after the 1972 Idaho legislative session."

Walker admitted, however, that "I'll be in there kicking up some dust, no doubt." Later in the campaign period, "After all, it's a little early right now."

Walker, who campaigned for governor in 1968, said that the organization he set up could undoubtedly be revived to give support should he decide to campaign next year. The

"Just" he stirred up in the 1968 campaign gave him statewide publicity, making his name known in all quarters of Idaho, Walker said.

Jordan told newsmen when he announced his decision to retire on Monday that he was announcing 14 months early to give "Republican contenders" a chance to make their plans.

'New ball game' in '72 for Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Len B. Jordan's surprising decision to retire has created a brave new world for those who want to succeed him.

By calling it quits at the end of this term the veteran Republican lawmaker has made real races out of next year's primary and general elections for the Senate and possibly for Congress.

Although nobody can be considered unbeatable, Jordan — even at the 73 years of age he will be next May 13 — would have been tough competition for aspirants in either major political party.

Now, as Congressman James A. McClure — one of those taking a look at the race — put it, it's a "new ball game."

With an incumbent of their own party out of it a whole bevy of Republicans now are looking at the race, including McClure and the state's other congressman, Orval Hansen.

Not having an incumbent to face also has made the race more attractive to the Democrats.

Should one or both of the congressmen decide to run for the nomination there will be another flurry as additional candidates for Congress come on to the scene.

In announcing his decision, Jordan told newsmen — in response to a question about whom he would support — that "all residents of Idaho over 30 years of age are eligible" to run for the post.

Rent balk has island tottering

ISLE OF LINOSA, Sicily (UPI) — Linosa's chief executive said Wednesday the tiny island's economy is about to collapse because 15 alleged Mafia leaders in exile here refuse to pay their rent.

Dr. Pasquale Bonadonna said the reputed master criminals sent here by the government refuse to pay room rent on the grounds that they have no income.

"In a few days the presumed Mafia won't pay for their food store bills, either and will hasten the economic collapse of the island, already gravely disturbed this year by a fall in tourist visits due to the publicity surrounding the transfer to the island of the best known names of the Sicilian Mafia," Bonadonna said.

Other GOP possibilities include former Congressman George Hansen, now with the U.S. Department of Agriculture; state Sen. Wayne Kidwell of Boise; former House Speaker W.D. Eberle, retiring board chairman of American Standard; and Robert V. Hansberger, president of Boise Cascajo Corporation.

Democrats mentioned as possible contenders include Edward V. Williams, former House minority leader and now administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus; Carl Burke, Boise attorney and key backer of Sen. Frank Church; State Rep. Vernon F. Ravenscroft of Tuttle; former Congressman Ralph Harding of Blackfoot, now a national committeeman; Bergeson, Kitwell, Williams, Burke and Evans may be known in legislative or party circles but they will have the problem of becoming generally known statewide should they choose to run.

Murphy has a problem if he runs for the nomination — a Democratic governor who will appoint a Democratic successor should he get the GOP nod and win the general election as well.

For Eberle there may be a residency problem. For Hansberger there may be some unforgiving Republicans who recall he supported Lyndon Johnson in 1964.

Shredded checks nearly restored

BOISE (UPI) — Officials at First Security Bank of Idaho say that 97.4 per cent of the more than $84,000 worth of checks accidentally shredded by a janitor have been reconstructed.

They employed some 102 young people at various times during the process. The crews used about 150 rolls of adhesive tape. Jerry Wickham, supervisor of the project, said the crews hope to have all the checks reconstructed or accounted for within the next two weeks. Eight persons are working on the project this week.

Red China gains wider recognition

TAIPEI (UPI)—Communist China now has gained diplomatic recognition of more countries than Nationalist China and the margin is expected to widen in the future.

When Turkey, once considered a staunch ally of Taipei,

Sympathy in lottery win sought

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI)—Seven persons with the same problems will meet Saturday to seek sympathy from each other.

They've found little sympathy elsewhere, because they share the problems of becoming "overnight millionaires" in the New Jersey lottery.

"The first year's income tax is the biggest problem for all," said Edward Henry, 39, elected spokesman for the millionaires. Henry, a telephone company employe and a resident of the Newark suburb of West Caldwell, also listed "the cost of lawyers and accountants" among the "mutual problems" of the lottery winners. They will meet at an undisclosed restaurant.

Each of the seven will receive $50,000 payments each year for 20 years. So far, they have received only the first installment.

switched recognition from Taipei to Peking Aug. 5, the score stood at an even 62-62. Iran tipped the balance two weeks later on Aug. 18 and made it 63 to 61 in favor of Peking.

Sierra Leone in Africa confirmed its establishment of diplomatic ties with Peking Friday, nearly three weeks after its delegations announced it in Peking, and pushed the margin to 64 to 60.

So far as it is known, several more countries—such as Belgium and Peru—are negotiating diplomatic relations with Peking. Other countries in Africa and South America also may shift recognition without warning, diplomatic sources said.

Despite Peking's numerical superiority in the diplomatic ring, the Nationalist Chinese government still believes that it has more friends than Peking does in the world community. Nationalist China up until early last year held a comfortable margin of more than 10 nations in what it called "diplomatic struggle" against Communist China.

It was Canada which surprised the world by announcing its decision to recognize Peking on Oct. 10, 1970, that started the domino reaction against Taipei.

Since then a total of 12 nations have followed suit. Nationalist Chinese officials, while feeling helpless, are watching for a sign that this trend is stopping it not reversing.

"It is like an avalanche. But even an avalanche has to end somewhere," one official in Taipei remarked.

But the Nationalist Chinese authorities said that they could not foresee the end until after President Nixon returns from his planned trip to Peking next year.

BOISE—The Circle K Corp., which operates 30 convenience food stores in Idaho, achieved record sales and net profit for the first quarter of its 1971-72 fiscal year, according to Gary Pipkin, Idaho division manager.

Sales for the period ended last July 31 were $30,221,515, compared with $22,284,787 for the first quarter 1970-71, a 35 per cent increase. Income after taxes rose to $940,643 for the first quarter this year, compared with $693,165 a year ago, also a 35 per cent increase, he said.

Pipkin also noted that even with a stock issue during fiscal 1970-71, earnings per share of common stock for the first quarter 1971-72 were 30 cents per share, compared with 27 cents for the same period last year, an increase of 11 per cent.

IF YOU WERE A SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKET
WHAT WOULD YOU DO
IF YOU HAD TO COMPETE WITH THE FOUR BIGGEST GROCERY STORES IN TWIN FALLS?!!

What to do! What to do???? . . . Poor little fifth place Swensen's Magic Markets are always wondering . . . What to do Next. Some of the most outstanding ideas so far are:

- Sell Gremlins, Hornets and Javelins
- Get a bigger grocery store (we keep dreaming)
- Try to get Ralph Nader to make little grocery stores out of all the big grocery stores
- Move to Brazil (There's a little escapist in all of us)
- RETIRE — this is the funny part of the ad.

If anyone else has any ideas please let us know. In the Meantime, we hope some of our low weekend prices will help a little — PLEASE KEEP READING.

SMV emblems said mandatory Friday

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Slow moving vehicle emblems on any vehicle designed to move at 25 miles per hour or less on a public road will become mandatory Friday under the Williams-Stolger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, according to George C. Guenther, assistant secretary of labor.

The emblem consists of a fluorescent yellow-orange triangle with a dark red reflective border. The yellow orange fluorescent triangle is highly visible during daylight exposure. The reflective border defines the shape of the fluorescent-color-in-daylight and creates a hollow red triangle in the path of motor vehicle headlights at night.

The emblem is intended as identification for vehicles which move slowly on public roads. The emblem is not a clearance marker for wide machinery nor is it intended to replace required lighting or marking of slow moving vehicles, he said.

Fines of up to $10,000 can be assessed for violations.

Fir timber sale slated

CHALLIS — The Challis National Forest is offering approximately 820,000 board feet of Douglas fir saw timber for sale. The sale is located in Park Creek and Moose Creek on the Challis Ranger District.

District Ranger Sam Warren said bid forms were mailed to prospective bidders last week. The sale will be awarded Sept. 26.

Tax break

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—What parents of college students need is a tax break, says Jerome C. Epler, chairman of the board of ISI Corp., a national financial services organization based here.

"While deferred tuition plans and government-backed loans are welcome," he said, "a system of tax credits to parents for money spent on education is the only way many children will be able to get college credits for graduation. We are talking about $12,000 to $20,000 for a college education."

U.S. will take over inspection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials are preparing to move federal meat inspectors into one state — possibly two — on grounds that state supervision of intrastate meat plants has slipped below federal standards.

The actions, the first Agriculture Department moves against states which had earlier been given the right to continue control of intrastate inspection, are being taken under terms of the 1968 Wholesome Meat Act. This law requires the department to take over supervision of intrastate meat plants unless state controls are kept "at least equal" to the department's federal inspection standards.

Some consumer critics had been skeptical about the department's willingness to crack down on states which might let inspection standards sag after once gaining federal approval. An Agriculture Department official said, however, that the agency has the state programs under "continuous review" and will take action to see they are kept up to federal standards.

The 1968 meat act had given the 50 states and Puerto Rico until Dec. 15, 1970, to bring their inspection programs for intrastate plants up to federal standards, and on June 18, 1971 — six months after the terminal date — the Agriculture Department finally completed its evaluation of all states. Federal inspection was required for Puerto Rico, Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota, but state authorities were left in control of intrastate inspection in the 47 remaining states.

(Now, however, Agriculture Department officials say they have determined that state inspection in Nebraska — which was ruled "equal to" federal on Jan. 28 — has since fallen below federal standards. Nebraska authorities were given official notice of the situation on Aug. 2, and the Agriculture Department will officially proclaim a federal takeover of the state's intrastate meat plants on Aug. 31, a spokesman said.)

Under Agriculture Department procedures, the actual takeover will come 30 days after the Aug. 31 "designation" said James K. Payne, an official in the Consumer & Marketing Service.

Under the 1968 law, the early August notice to Nebraska authorities gave them 30 days in which to correct shortcomings in their inspection system. But the state has indicated it plans to allow the system to move under federal control, Payne said.

In addition, other spokesmen said a notice giving one other state 30 days in which to correct substandard inspection has been issued. An official said the state would not be publicly identified here until its governor has had a chance to receive the letter and decide whether he wants to make his own announcement.

Horse gets shots
DR. DONALD OPSTAD grimaces as he injects horse with vaccine at San Luis Obispo, Calif., to protect it against Venezuelan equine sleeping sickness as mandatory immunizations of all San Luis Obispo county horses began this week. (UPI)

USDA to pay for vaccinating horses in eight states, D. C.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said Tuesday the government will pay for vaccinating horses against sleeping sickness in eight additional states and the District of Columbia.

The government already is paying for vaccination of horses against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) in 11 states, including the southern tier from California to Florida plus Georgia, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The disease can affect humans as well.

In an announcement, Hardin said the government will pay for vaccinations in 2 more states adjoining the lower Mississippi valley and 6 along the Atlantic coast, plus the District of Columbia. The states are Kentucky, Tennessee,

North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey.

Officials said their goal is to vaccinate all horses in the 19 states and Washington before Nov. 1 when the threat of VEE will be reduced as cold weather kills mosquitoes and other carriers. The 19 states have about half the nation's horses.

We want to block the potential spread of VEE by immunizing a high percentage of the horses in this country," said Dr. Ned Bayley, the department's director of science and education.

VEE entered the United States from Mexico in early July. Despite fears the disease would spread rapidly through this country a massive control effort so far has kept it confined to 16 South Texas counties.

Harvest scene dominates state

BOISE — Crop harvesting operations continue to dominate the agricultural scene in Idaho, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Potato harvest is starting in the southwestern area where the harvest of prunes, peaches, onions, sweet corn for processing, hay, grain, mint and hops is also underway.

Small grain and hay harvesting are the main activities in the most localities of the state. A few fields of beans have been swathed in the southern and southwestern area.

Irrigation is a major operation in the southern part of the state as demand for water by crops continues heavy because of the extended warm weather.

In the north, most of the winter wheat crop has been harvested. Nearly 80 per cent of the peas are combined in this area. Spring grains are about 15 per cent harvested.

In the southwest and south-central areas nearly 90 per cent of all spring grains are harvested, while in the east about 50 per cent are combined.

Harvest weather is ideal and harvesting operations are advancing at a satisfactory rate.

Growers to meet at Burley

BURLEY — Potato growers will hold a general meeting tonight, according to Gerald Conrad, district chairman for the Potato Growers of Idaho.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at the Ponderosa Inn. All District 5 growers, including Twin Falls and Cassia County, should attend.

Conrad said the meeting will be concerned primarily with the proposed advertising tax increase. Three proposals will come before Congress in the next session. Conrad said he would like the growers to review the proposals with their authors before they are printed in bill form.

Astro turns teacher

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Neil A. Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon, said Wednesday he will leave the U.S. space agency this fall for a teaching and research job at the University of Cincinnati.

Armstrong, 41, said his departure from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was without bitterness or disappointment. But he said only another space flight would keep him in the space agency, and that would be impossible.

"People who know me well know that for a long time I've talked about going back into the academic community," he said. "This seemed to be the right time."

He said it was something he had considered "really, seriously, for about 20 years."

Armstrong and Edwin E. "Buzz" Aldrin landed on the moon July 20, 1969. A few hours later Armstrong stepped from Apollo 11 onto the dusty surface and radioed back to earth: "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

corps in July of 1970 to become a deputy assistant NASA administrator in Washington, heading research in new airplane design.

Armstrong told a news conference he felt he had been able to take part in many advances in aviation in his job here. But he said that in his new university job, which starts Oct. 1, he will be able to participate more directly both in furthering man's flying future and in transferring to everyday life the technology that put him on the moon.

Although Armstrong lacks a doctoral degree, the university accorded him a full professorship. It also accorded him the title "university professor" so he would not be restricted to the engineering school, but could do research in medicine, biology, geology, astronomy, physics, chemistry and psychology.

Armstrong, who now makes $36,000 a year, declined to say how much his new job pays, but said "my salary will be consistent and typical of a full professor at the University of Cincinnati."

Tourists stranded

LONDON (UPI)—Hundreds of young American tourists are selling their watches, cameras and guitars to raise money to fly home because air charter companies are refusing to honor return tickets sold in the United States, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Wednesday.

The spokesman said the U.S. State Department is investigating.

"We've had around 200 Americans come to the embassy in the last few days saying charter companies refuse to recognize voucher tickets sold them in America," the spokesman said.

WEDNESDAY'S DISASTROUS deal largely with the development of desert, mountain and seacoast land for homes and industry. The report accused numerous state and local officials of conniving with land speculators in the destruction of these resources.

Nader said the use of land was "a very fundamental" consumer issue. California was chosen because the state "has within it all the problems we wanted to study," he said, and the state has "a level of administration touted to be the best."

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader raised his sword in the cause of conservation Wednesday, accusing California public officials and businessmen of a "suicidal propensity" for destroying the state's natural resources.

Judge bars 'bad' Mick poster sale

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal judge who says he found posters of Walt Disney creations "personally offensive" has barred the sale of the posters on grounds they may violate copyright laws.

One poster depicts Mickey Mouse and his friends smoking hashish. Another has Mickey using a hypodermic needle, and a third shows Disney characters involved in a love-in.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. McGarr Wednesday issued a preliminary injunction against Hip Products Inc. and 10 stores, barring them from selling posters or T-shirts with pictures resembling Disney's cartoon characters.

Attorneys for Walt Disney Productions Inc. said the posters "debased the image of innocence which these characters stand for throughout the world."

Poster company attorneys argued that the Disney company has no copyright on Mickey and his friends.

Forest use agreement concluded

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Regional foresters and an officer of the Idaho Mining Association have signed a memorandum of understanding to improve cooperation between the Forest Service and the mining industry.

Purpose of the memorandum is to protect the quality of environment and esthetic values of the land. It was signed by Intermountain Regional Forester Vern Hamre, Northern Regional Forester Steve Yurich and Association Secretary A. J. Teske of Boise.

"We feel this is a real step forward in trying to minimize the problems which sometimes arise from mineral entry on national forest lands," Teske said. "Both the association and the Forest Service agreed that some past activities of mining companies and independent prospectors have not been consistent with good land management practices."

Good half nickel?

PHARMACIST Tom Miles, Tallahassee, Fla., opened a roll of new nickel coins to put in the cash register when he discovered something went amiss at the mint. One of the coins was only a half nickel. In the coin stamping process, half the metal circle was left blank. Another side effect of the devaluation of the dollar, perhaps? (UPI)

Lockheed aid vote delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A decision on whether to grant a $250 million government-guaranteed loan to the financially troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was postponed Wednesday by the board created by Congress to deal with the issue.

After meeting for 2 1/2 hours the board announced only that it "will meet again later, at a date to be set, to continue consideration of the Lockheed loan application."

While Congress narrowly approved the loan guarantee last month, its legislation set up a three-man board to make the final ruling on whether the government would give its backing to the loan which Lockheed would get from private lending firms.

At least two of the three members must approve the loan guarantee before it can be made.

Lockheed, the nation's 33rd largest corporation and the largest defense contractor, says it needs the $250 million to complete building the L1011 TriStar jetliner which will compete with the McDonnell-Douglas DC10, already in service.

Without the loan, Lockheed says, it will lose the $1.4 billion already invested in the airplane and be forced into bankruptcy.

The TriStar project was placed in jeopardy when the British firm Rolls Royce went bankrupt. Rolls was to supply the jet engines for the TriStar, but the British government said after the bankruptcy the price of the engines would have to be raised.

President Nixon's 10 per cent added import tax, which the administration said would apply to the jet engines, raised the price even more.

The federal board is composed of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr., Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve System and Chairman William J. Casey of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

GI killed

BOISE (UPI)—Army officials Tuesday announced the death of PFC. Johnny Howard Chapman, 19, Boise, in Vietnam.

Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie J. Chapman, served with the 101st Airborne Division. He was killed in action last Friday, officials said.

San Juan Capistrano, the Mission of the Swallows, was founded in 1776.

Lewis Showman dies of seizure

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ted Lewis—known for his battered top hat and the question "Is everybody happy?"—died in his sleep of a heart attack Wednesday at the age of 80.

Lewis, one of the last of the great vaudeville performers, sang, danced, played several musical instruments and led his own band for a time. He had been ill only briefly. He died in his apartment on Central Park West.

Lewis was born Theodore Friedman on June 6, 1891, in Circleville, Ohio, and broke into vaudeville in a theater in his home town at the age of 15. He changed the name at the insistence of a theater manager in South Carolina who said Friedman was too long for the marquee. Another Lewis was appearing on the bill, so the manager made the marquee read "Lewis & Lewis."

He never regretted changing the name "because Friedman is a long name. Like that fellow Englebert Humperdinck."

Last December, Lewis talked to his nephew, Kenneth M. Becker, a United Press International newsmen, about turning 80. "When I was a young man, I used to think a man 80 years old was already prepared for another life and I never realized I would reach that wonderful age. But the longer that you live, the longer you want to live, especially when a man has all his faculties, as have," he said. "I want another five years of living—but I'll settle for two."

Lewis, who was appearing as a trio at Hammerstein's Theater in New York by the time he was 20, learned many of the tricks he did with his top hat from W.C. Fields. "I never considered myself a musician," he said, "I always considered myself a showman."

Bolivian president's future insecure

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
A new president has taken over in Bolivia by way of the military coup, but with a future no more secure than his 57 predecessors in the country's 146 strife-torn years as a republic.

He is a 45-year-old army colonel named Hugo Banzer who takes over from Gen. Juan Jose Torres, a non-Marxist, leftwing nationalist who seized power in October, 1970, from a short-lived rightwing military junta, which in turn had overthrown President Alfredo Ovando Candia, another army general who had vacillated from the political right to left and back again.

From that breathless sentence one is supposed to grasp the kaleidoscopic nature of Bolivian politics which persists despite a continuing flow of nearly $500 million in U.S. aid since the revolution of 1952.

And since Banzer's coup bears a rightwing label, it may be considered certain that the left will lay it at the doorstep of U.S. Ambassador Ernest Siracusa or at the very least to the CIA.

Other candidates for blame are—the rightwing military governments of neighboring Brazil and Argentina.

Banzer had gone into political exile in Argentina after an unsuccessful attempt at a military coup last January. Earlier he had been director of the military college in La Paz but had been banished to the hinterlands on suspicion of plotting political mischief.

He owes his present position to a split in the military forces, whether he can maintain it becomes doubtful in view of the formidable power base which continues to be the support of his predecessor in office, General Torres.

It came not only from leftwing forces within the army but also from the powerful trade unions, leftist students and various other revolutionary movements, most of them fiercely anti-United States.

Last May Torres marched at the head of a May Day parade of workers cheering nationalization of the largest U.S. mining investment in Bolivia.

This was the Matilde lead and zinc mine operated by U.S. Steel and Phillips Brothers, a New York mineral trading firm. Under a contract signed in 1968 the companies paid the Bolivian government $250,000 a year.

The government of Ovando Candia had nationalized the Gulf Oil Company's important oil and natural gas operation in eastern Bolivia. The government and Gulf had worked out an agreement for $80 million in compensation, an agreement which Torres had kept despite mounting Marxist pressures.

Landing support to the new Banzer government is Victor Paz Estenssoro, a leader of the 1952 revolution and former president who gave Bolivia 12 years of relative peace and whose Nationalist Revolutionary Movement (MNR) remains Bolivia's strongest political party.

But it was mounting popular unrest that led to Paz's ouster in 1964 and despite the millions in U.S. aid and many promises, Bolivian national annual income remains at about $120 per capita and the causes of unrest persist.

Operating on the theory that alcohol is good for "all living systems," Paul Harvey Green fed it to a sunflower at his Sydney, Australia home. While the plant did not respond too quickly to beer or spirits, it shot up at the rate of four inches a day—to a height of over 13 feet—when fed weekly cocktails of champagne.

Asian oil war growing hotter steadily

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As the United States winds down its war in South Vietnam, another, so far unmarked by violence but nonetheless serious, is winding up.

This is the continuing struggle among the world's nations for that currently most precious of all sources of industrial power—oil. In Asia, it centers on the Continental Shelf running from the waters off Burma in the southwest to the seas between China and Japan in the northeast.

The United States is involved but only incidentally, and its role is mostly that of trying to extricate itself without losing friends.

In the thick of it are Japan, Nationalist China, Mainland China, South Vietnam and the Philippines.

Involved are virtually unheard-of desert islands which are desirable not for what lies on their surface but for what may lie beneath it.

For instance, Japan, Taiwan and Mainland China all lay claim to one little group.

The United States holds them now, regarding them as part of the Ryukyus to which Okinawa also belongs and which are to be returned to Japan next year. Japan's historical claim goes back to the last century. But the Chinese, also citing history, claim them from the 15th century. On this the Taiwan and Mainland Chinese agree, differing, of course, on whether they belong to Taipei or Peking.

Among the Chinese it is a highly emotional issue and has led Hsinhua, the Communist Chinese news agency to declare:

"We warn the Japanese militarists outright that the Chinese people will never permit the Japanese gangsters to trample on our sacred territory again."

The United States just wants out and has warned Gulf Oil that it cannot promise protection to Gulf's exploratory vessels in the area.

The dispute over Senkaku or Tiao Yu Tai is only the better publicized one.

The Philippines have asked Nationalist China to remove its troops from an island in the Spratly group lying between the Philippines and South Vietnam. The Filipinos base their claim less on territorial waters than on their assertion that the group lies within the Philippine archipelago.

Also in dispute are the Paracel Islands where the Communist Chinese have a garrison. They lie to the northwest, not far from Hainan.

Another dispute concerns tiny Takeshima Island between Japan and South Korea. It is occupied by a Korean police detachment.

Even in the midst of a war for survival South Vietnam also has time to enter the controversy. The government announced in June it would take bids to explore and exploit 100,000 square miles of water off South Vietnam. It says 18 companies have bid on concession rights.

Urban growth in the United States is expected to expand by an area the size of New Jersey every 10 years.

Park funds to Payette

BOISE (UPI)—Federal matching funds totaling $66,000 have been obligated for recreational facilities in Payette County, the State Parks Department disclosed today.

Acting Director Phil Peterson said the monies will be used on three separate projects in the cities of Payette, Fruitland and New Plymouth to provide such facilities as ballfields, tennis courts, picnic areas, playground areas and horseshoe courts for public use.

The pigeon hawk is also known as the American merlin.

Aide, Nixon agree

CHICAGO (UPI)—Secretary of Health Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson says he and President Nixon see eye to eye on using a means of integrating public schools. They both think it should be used sparingly.

"The President believes, and I agree, that the use of busing to achieve racial balance in public schools, can be educationally counter productive," Richardson told newsmen Tuesday. "So the question is: When is busing necessary to eliminate the vestiges of a dual school system?"

Richardson said Nixon's recent remarks playing down busing as a desegregation tool do not mark a change in policy either by the President or HEW.

"The President was only restating what he had said on many previous occasions regarding the problems of implementing a requirement of minimal busing to eliminate a dual school system," he said.

Nixon tries to soften sting of moves

Crowned

WEISER, Idaho (UPI) — Barbara Kinzell, 18, a second-year freshman at the University of Idaho, is the new Miss Washington County. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kinzell, she was crowned by the retiring queen, Mary Anderson. She played a piano medley in the talent division of the contest. Patti Linck, 20, a student at Boise State College, was first runner-up in the pageant.

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
UPI Foreign Editor

After having dealt the Japanese government two hard blows in succession, President Nixon has tried to soften the sting to Japanese sensibilities by arranging to go out of his way — all the way to Alaska — to greet Emperor Hirohito there next month.

The first blow to the Japanese government was Nixon's announcement on July 15 that he would visit Peking sometime before next May.

What made it a blow was that he did it with no consultation and little warning, leaving Prime Minister Eisaku Sato high and dry with a policy supporting the previous U.S. position of recognizing only Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan as representing China.

The second blow, perforce

Without warning by its nature, was the 10 per cent surcharge on foreign imports and the freeing of the dollar from the promise it would be redeemed in gold, announced as part of Nixon's new economic policy on Aug. 15.

By now everybody knows what the Japanese knew from the beginning — that the measures were directed internationally mainly at Japan, whose industry has been underselling U.S. industry in U.S. home markets and has a heavy balance-of-trade in its favor.

Since one-third of Japan's exports go to the United States and the United States also provides a nuclear shield of protection, relations with the United States are important, even vital, for Japan.

Japan is also important to the United States, however, and the credibility of the U.S. commitment to defend her is as important to the United States as it is to Japan.

Japan is the present super power of Asia — an economic super power in fact and a military one — in potential. Maintaining the present friendly relations with her as long as possible is more important for the United States in the foreseeable future even than relations with China. The latter should not be at the expense of the first.

Japan's present direction as a peaceful, powerful and cooperative ally of the United States naturally depends on its trust of the United States.

So does Japan's renunciation of nuclear weapons. Its reversal would have incalculable effect on the world balance of terror and power.

There is anti-American sentiment present in many sections of Japanese society from business on the right through several shades of left. Furthermore, a certain deterioration in relations between the two countries already had set in before President Nixon's intention of visiting China.

The President's decision to make a public gesture by going to Alaska to meet Hirohito warm, humid summers and when the emperor stops there long, cold winters in the north en route to Europe is undoubtedly useful. More concrete actions will be required, however, to preserve Japan as a firm U.S. ally.

China's climate ranges from hot in the extreme south to tropic in the extreme south.

Gem insurance rate check stirs hassle

BOISE (UPI) — State Insurance Commissioner John Blaine and a state senator disagreed today on the question of whether Blaine's office should approve automobile insurance rates in advance.

"I don't believe our automobile rates in the state of Idaho are out of line," Blaine told a Legislative Council interim committee.

"I think they are," replied Sen. C.C. Chase, D-St. Maries.

"If they have to file them and be approved by you they just won't arbitrarily raise them," Blaine said.

Blaine said he felt Idaho's auto liability rates were comparable with those of Montana and Nevada which have problems similar to Idaho's.

"I've seen some charges on vehicles which are simply out of reason," Chase said.

Blaine said that while he did not favor prior approval of rates by his department he does believe the State Insurance Department needs a rating examiner. He noted he had asked the legislature for one at its last session.

"This is a way you can tell when rates are discriminatory," Blaine said. "Personally, I believe in open rating."

Wine sales pinch state dispensary

BOISE (UPI) — Competition with grocery stores, in wine sales is beginning to pinch the State Liquor Dispensary.

Superintendent William Webster said that since it became legal July 1 for some grocery stores to sell wine the sales in the state liquor stores have dropped as much as 75 per cent.

"Since the wine has gone into the grocery stores we just aren't selling any at all," Webster said.

Last year, when wine could be purchased by the bottle only from the state liquor stores the sales amounted to $475,000.

Webster said.

"I would say that if we do a fourth as good this year we will be lucky," he said.

However, he said, he was not concerned about this because overall liquor sales are up considerably. They have increased about five per cent from last year, he said.

While sales of wine are down in counties which permit grocery stores to sell wine, Webster said, wine sales in state liquor stores are "still going fairly good in the dry areas around Pocatello."

Teachers may get pay hike

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

BOISE — From the Idaho Department of Education to the smallest school district, superintendents, principals and teachers alike are puzzled by the latest change of pace by the federal Cost of Living Council.

The Council ruled that the nation's school teachers will qualify for salary increases this fall if their contracts were effective on or before the critical date of Aug. 14.

Previous rulings indicated that the educators and school district officials would receive increases only if they were actually "performing their duties as assigned," whether or not they had signed contracts for the higher pay.

In Twin Falls, school Superintendent George Staudaer said his teachers' contracts were effective last May, well ahead of the August cutoff date.

College of Southern Idaho President James L. Taylor said that his academic personnel are regarded to be "on duty" as of August 1 each year, even though they are not teaching classes. The instructors are "making their plans and drawing up lesson plans," Dr. Taylor said. He insisted that his personnel, academic and administrative, would qualify for pay raises averaging 5.5 per cent.

The city school district, however, was out of luck under previous Council rulings, since Twin Falls school teachers, and nearly all others in the state and nation, are not on duty until they meet for pre-school faculty sessions the week before school opens.

In Twin Falls, all teachers are to meet at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, for the annual faculty meeting at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School, Staudaer said.

Now, the new Council ruling has thrown a new light on the situation, albeit a most pleasant light for harassed educators trying to plan their budgets. But no formal orders have yet trickled down from the Council in Washington to the local level, and administrators are facing fast-approaching paydays for their personnel without knowing what they should pay.

"I wish I could see something on paper; all I hear are rumors and reports," Staudaer said today. "When are they going to formalize their rulings?"

In Boise, Harold Farley, Idaho state assistant superintendent of public instruction, told the Times-News that he, too has yet to receive any "formal" decisions from Washington which would guide him in advising school-district officials what to do.

"There are so many conflicting reports coming out, but we haven't had anything come into this office," Farley said. "It seems that everything is being passed around among the federal agencies, but we at the state level have no formal statements to study or to rule on."

"We hear and read much the same things the general public does, but we have nothing official," Farley added.

Some Idaho school districts are converting to data processing for computing their payrolls, and are unable to complete the work until a final decision is reached, Farley said.

"That payday is coming up pretty fast, and we've got to know what to do."

D. F. Engolking, state superintendent of public instruction, has been ill for several days and is out of his office temporarily. He could not be reached for comment.

CSI vote signup snagged

All other colleges and universities in Idaho were conducting registration of young voters this week, according to the Idaho Secretary of State's office.

Lancaster said he will ask members of the League of Women Voters to conduct registration of all voters during the Twin Falls County Fair, which begins Sept. 8 at the Filer Fairgrounds. According to the new state election law, all Idaho voters must re-register this year.

Lancaster said Magic Valley high schools will be called later this fall to set up registration for 18-year-olds still in school. Twin Falls School Superintendent George Staudaer said today he and his staff will cooperate readily with any request from Lancaster.

Registration books are also available at the County Courthouse during office hours for all voters, including the 18-to-21 year-old group, Lancaster said.

The young voters may decide their place of residence, according to an opinion from the Idaho attorney general's office, written by Croner. Thus, students attending college may cast their votes at college, rather than writing for absentee ballots.

Conarrusa ordered the college and high school registration when he received Croner's opinion. The move is believed to be unique in the nation.

The young voters must, of course, meet other qualifications, including residency of at least six months within the state, Conarrusa said.

Registration cards will be mailed to all voters who have been registered since 1965 about Oct. 1, Lancaster said. This will establish a new file on registered voters throughout the state, and will provide a more uniform registration record. This new form of enrollment is ordered by the new election law.

Cassia accident hurts 4

BURLEY — Four persons are listed in serious condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital following a one car accident Wednesday, 40 miles southeast of Burley on Interstate 80.

Susan Feveryear, 17, driver of the vehicle; her brother, Brian Feveryear, 14, and Shane Farekoff, 20, all Bellview, Wash., and Neva B. Gatherum, 67, Salt Lake City, were removed from the accident by ambulance.

Miss Feveryear was traveling north on the interstate when she lost control of the vehicle.

The car went off the right side of the road, came back across the road, rolling once on the highway and twice in the barrow pit, coming to rest on its wheels.

The accident was under investigation with citations pending, according to O. J. Brannan, Idaho state police officer. The vehicle was demolished.

All interested persons are urged to attend.

Big crowd for parade at Jerome

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — A big turnout lined Jerome's downtown streets Wednesday afternoon to applaud the parade which opened the annual Jerome County Fair.

"Hospitality, Western style" — the theme of the fair — was carried out in over a dozen floats entered in the parade. Top honors went to the entry of Towle's Service Center, which was awarded a prize of $50 by judges.

Second place went to the entry of the Jerome Buttons and Bows Square Dance Club, with third place awarded to the entry of Don Allan. It depicted a girl milking a cow.

Fair activities were centered on the fair grounds and rodeo arena the rest of the opening day.

Among riding groups, the Jerome County Sheriff's Mounted Posse was first, with the Jerome Junior Posse second and the Purple Sage Riding group, Gooding, third.

The Jerome drill team took top honors in the drill team competition, with Valley drill team second and Wendell team third. In the novelty group, the Jerome High School cheerleaders were first; North side club, second, and the Jerome Junior High School cheerleaders third.

Deanna Ricketts, Jerome county fair queen, and the five candidates for next year's title, rode in the parade along with Appaloosa Queen Sue Billington, Twin Falls, and Hagerman Pioneer Day Queen Lynn Sherrel, Burli.

Del Haslam, rodeo producer, furnished the color guard. Parade judges were John B. Campbell, LeRoy Graub and Alan Mencher.

Today's fair events include the pre-rodeo show at 8 p.m. with crowning of the queen by Deanna Ricketts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dean Ricketts, the reigning queen.

Jay Slater's dog act, the Jerome County Sheriff's Mounted posse and the Ada County blacklight posse will be featured in tonight's final rodeo performance.

Gooding teacher disagrees

GOODING — The new music teacher at Gooding High School does not agree with his predecessor who resigned in protest over what he termed "inadequate facilities."

Lonny Gunther, who will teach music here this year, told the Times-News he feels the music department in the new high school is "the most beautiful music room in the state" and he thinks that storage and practice rooms are ample.

Joe Goss, former music teacher, resigned last May in protest over the facilities in the new structure.

Supt. James Muscat said Gunther comes from Mannheim, Germany, where he taught music in the American School operated by the U.S. Defense Department.

Trailer Dump burns rig flips on I-80N

BURLEY — Paul Wesley Chism, 44, Kellen, Tex., was cited for negligent driving following a truck and semi-trailer accident at 6:40 a.m. Wednesday 28 miles southeast of Burley on Interstate 80.

Chism was driving a 1969 International tractor pulling a 1970 Hobbs, semi-trailer.

He apparently dozed at the wheel and the vehicle left the right side of the road.

Chism turned the vehicle to the left, lost control and the unit traveled across the highway, with the tractor rolling to its right side, separating the trailer from the tractor.

The trailer came to rest ten feet from the tractor partially blocking the highway.

The relief driver, William J. Rycklik, 31, North Worth Tex., was asleep in the trucks sleeper and escaped injuries.

Chism was taken to Cassia Memorial by another trucker who passed the scene and was treated for head and hand injuries and released.

O. J. Brannan, Idaho State Police investigating officer, estimated the tractor at $5,000, damage and the trailer at $3,000, plus an undetermined amount of damage to petroleum products in the truck.

Bulldog record set at Jerome

JEROME — A new arena record of four seconds was set in the steer wrestling competition by Wayne Jennings, Las Vegas, Nev., in the first night of the rodeo at the Jerome County Fair. The final competition is slated for tonight, with a pre-rodeo show at 8 p.m. and the rodeo beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Randee Munns, Garland, Utah, was second in last night's first go-round, with 4.3 and Jackie West, Jerome, third, with a time of 5.4.

Gerald Hedge, Sandy, Utah, with a time of 11.2 took first place in calf roping. Jay Hadley, Ogden, Utah, was second with 12.8 seconds, and Warren Euthier, Banner, Wyo., third, with a time of 13.3.

Saddle bronc riding results were Don Farney, Elko, Nev., first; Mike Marvel, Battle Mountain, Nev., second, and Wally Wickam, Tooele, Utah, third.

Bull riding — Larry Davis, Hometown, Calif., second, and Joe Winn, Nephel, Utah, third.

Bareback bronc riding — Dewayne Sorensen, Hyde Park, Utah, first; Bill Phillips, Jono, Calif., second, and Jim Bannell, Melba, third.

Barrel racos — Peggy Jo Koll, Wendell, first, with 17.6; Yo. Morts, Caldwell, second, with a time of 17.8, and Mary Agnes Aller, Pocatello, 17.9.

Larry Mahan, rodeo's all-around champion, will compete in tonight's rodeo. In 1970 he was third in saddle bronc riding and sixth in bull riding. In addition to all-around honors: Also appearing in tonight's performance will be Dean Oliver, Boise, considered by many to be the sport's all-time great calf roper. He was calf roping champion two years and is again eyeing a national victory.

Walt Linderman, Belfry, Mont., who holds the second spot in steer wrestling and whose 1970 total earnings were nearly $20,000, also will be at the fairgrounds tonight.

Also competing will be Bob Ragdale, eighth in calf roping; Warren Wuthier, world champion in steer wrestling and calf roping, and Kenneth Call, popular calf roper who is compiling an impressive record on the circuits, and Jim Gladstone.

Case lid sought

TWIN FALLS — Arguments were heard Wednesday afternoon by Magistrate Court Judge Daniel Meehl on the case of the "plastic marijuana plant."

Lee Arambula, Twin Falls, is charged with possession of marijuana as a result of a search of his apartment by city police. During arguments Wednesday, police said they saw what appeared to be a marijuana plant in the window where Arambula resided and obtained a search warrant.

The warrant was for a search of the home "for marijuana." The search revealed the object seen through the window was a plastic marijuana plant, but officers allegedly found an envelope of the genuine plant on a table in the room, city prosecutor Harry Turner pointed out.

Defense Attorney Golden Bennett filed a motion to controvert the search warrant and suppress evidence. He argued the search warrant was prepared because of the plastic plant and did not pertain to what may have been found elsewhere in the home.

Judge Daniel Meehl took the arguments under advisement and asked for briefs from both attorneys.

In another case in which a motion to suppress evidence was also argued, Judge Meehl ruled procedure of the city police was proper and legal and asked for briefs on the "plain view" matter.

The case involves a charge of possession of marijuana brought against Thomas J. Roy, Twin Falls.

Attorneys Turner and Bennett also argued the motion in this case.

Turner stated officers were pursuing Roy for reckless driving when they lost the vehicle but later saw what they believed to be his automobile parked on a street.

In checking for the vehicle's registration the visor was pulled down and marijuana fell from behind the visor.

Import auto tax effect said slight

TWIN FALLS — President Nixon's new 10 per cent surcharge tax on imports is not expected to have much effect on Volkswagens sales, according to Robert Youree, owner of Volkswagen Sales & Service.

The new surcharge will go into effect locally at about Sept. 20, Youree said, and will increase the price on the lowest priced Volkswagen $60.

"We think the price increase may affect us a little bit. Anytime you raise the price of any article it hurts, but across the board we won't suffer too much," he said.

The consumer won't be affected one bit by the surcharge he said, and the availability of good foreign imports should remain the same here, he said.

"I personally am very much in favor of the President's program and will support it in every possible way," Youree said.

A thought for today: Statesman Sir John Buchan said: "We can only pay our debt to the past by putting the future in debt to ourselves."

Air pollution 103 index

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulations set pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Good

Tonight: Poor

Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Antique theatre slates final run

HAGERMAN — When the Antique Festival Theatre performs in the Hagerman City Park the last three nights of the month, the company will have completed its eighth season with 44 performances in 28 locations throughout Idaho.

Support for the extended tour, which took the theatre bus as far north as Camp Heyburn and the Farragut State Park to the resort at Fish Haven in the south, comes largely from the Idaho Commission on the Arts and Humanities and the National Endowment for the Arts.

In a June letter to the Buhl-based theatre, Sen. Len Jordan commended the staff for scheduling performances in so many small, rural communities. This season the A.F.T. added Challis, Troy, Shoshone, Montpelier, Moscow and Elk City to the roster of towns visited.

Aldrich Bowler, producer-director, feels that the theatre has successfully demonstrated a number of important things. First, that in Idaho's forest recreation areas and small towns, there is a ready-and-waiting, receptive, enthusiastic audience for medium-priced or free-donation live entertainment.

Bowler adds that frequently, in the larger towns, a few people are saturated with capital-C culture while a sizeable segment of the population gets to few plays, concerts and exhibits. He notes that in Troy, where the total population is 530, there were 150 in the theatre's audience this summer and that Elk City, total population 300, had 116 out for the A.F.T. performance.

The traveling theatre has also succeeded with simple, inexpensive, low-wattage lighting equipment, more universally practical than heavy high watt, costly stage lamps, and with a folding cyclorama so that setting, effects, costumes and company can all travel in one vehicle cutting costs to a minimum.

The 1971 summer repertory will be played Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the Hagerman City Park with all three shows starting at 8:30 p.m.

On Sunday, the theatre will perform "Rokoff Dolster"; Monday "Box and Cox" is scheduled and Tuesday the season will end with "Where is my Teddy?"

Now I'll have to worry about that!

Auto insurance plan outlined

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's insurance commissioner outlined a modified no-fault auto insurance plan Wednesday which he said would benefit accident victims regardless of blame.

John Blaine told the Legislative Council Interim Committee on Automobile Liability Insurance his proposal would also abolish an individual's right to sue for damages, although there would be some exceptions.

But, he said, present liability insurance is not designed to reimburse accident victims, which is what his program would do. Under his proposal, such policies would provide lifetime medical expense coverage, loss of income coverage not to exceed $750 per month and death and dismemberment coverage.

He also suggested incentives to reduce the number of persons who do not purchase insurance. One plan would be to make it a misdemeanor to fail to purchase the basic insurance plan.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, told the committee a special American Bar Association group is currently drafting uniform no-fault insurance legislation at the request of the department of transportation.

Couple recites vows in Filer ceremony

FILER — Donna Blakeslee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Wright, Filer, became the bride of Charles R. Mollerup, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Mollerup, Caldwell, in afternoon rites Aug. 15 at the Filer LDS Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Raymond Hepworth. Two large cathedral baskets of multi-colored gladioli and greenery decorated the altar with a matching arrangement on the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a gown of pearly silk with an overskirt of sheer organza falling into a full train. It featured a rounded neckline. Her elbow-length illusion veil was enhanced with tiny seed pearls and held by a matching lace headpiece.

Linda Sherwood was honor attendant, with Carol Lookingbill and Bonnie Chamberlain, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids.

Tom Mollerup was best man. Ushers were Roy Wright and Bruce Chamberlain.

Leona Wright, step-sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Wanda Kohntopp was organist, with Gary Jensen, Pocatello, as soloist.

The reception was held at the bride's home, with the refreshment table covered with satin skirted with white gathered lace and enhanced with a yellow bow at each corner. The table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and lattice work. The cake was surrounded with greenery at the bottom and topped with a pair of white doves and wedding rings. Mrs. Robinson made and decorated the cake.

Serving were Wendy Mollerup, Bonnie Vance and Linda Wright, all sisters-in-law of the bride, assisted by Jerrie Carrier and Vickie Mallard.

Guests attended from Boise, Caldwell, Pocatello, Burley and many surrounding towns.

After a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park and Jackson Hole, Wyo., the couple will reside in Boise.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old divorcee with three children. I am going with a 22-year-old fellow who wants to marry me. He's a real sweet kid, just back from Viet Nam and he doesn't know what the score is.

I prefer older men, but I've dated several, and the minute I mention marriage, they run like rabbits. I've decided to marry this kid, Abby, and as soon as we're married I'd insist that he adopt my children so in case the marriage falls apart he will have to support all of us.

I realize this guy is too young for me, but I am only thinking of my children. Do you think it will work out?

GEORGIA PEACH

DEAR PEACH: Probably not. It's a cold business proposition whereby you are using marriage to trap a young man into supporting you and your children. He won't be young and immature all his life, and when he realizes that he has been used he will resent you and your children.

I know that life for a young divorcee with three children is no breeze, but your chances for a successful marriage would be far better if you started out with a more mature man who knew what the score was.

DEAR ABBY: Having just read the letter from "HURT," I decided to write my first Dear Abby letter.

The lady was hurt because her husband told her that her body was "repulsive" because she had stretch marks on her stomach from numerous pregnancies, and her breasts sagged from having nursed his babies.

I would like to tell HURT's husband that any changes a woman's body goes thru as a result of motherhood should be viewed with pride.

My husband would have gladly tolerated stretch marks and sagging breasts if I had been able to bear his children. Unfortunately, at 25 I had a hysterectomy and never had the chance.

We have two lovely adopted children, so please don't get the notion that I am complaining. I simply had to get this off my chest. Sign me...

BEAUTIFUL BUT BARREN

DEAR BEAUTIFUL: Any animal can reproduce. True "motherhood" is in REARING children. And in my book, adopting a homeless child is more noble than bearing one.

DEAR ABBY: I read about that poor woman who had birthed five children from her man, and now he tells her that her body is "repulsive" to him because her bust has fallen and her stomach has stretch marks.

I'm an old trapper, and believe me, I'd never discard a trap that is capable of catching game just because it got a little rusty.

Kindly convey my opinion to this dear lady; the fault is not hers. I opine her man has just run out of bait.

PETER W. IN PHOENIX

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO TIME TO WASTE" IN LYNCHBURG, VA.: When a man warns a woman "not to get serious" because he doesn't want to hurt her, he's usually trying to protect himself against HIS getting too serious, and being taken seriously.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Julie Jensen, Gary Stevens say vows in Utah ceremony

SOUTH OGDEN — The 58th-65th LDS Ward Chapel in South Ogden, Utah, was the setting for the evening wedding which united in marriage Julie Ann Jensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jensen, South Ogden, and Gary M. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Stevens, Halley.

The marriage was solemnized by Bishop Arah Martineau Aug. 14.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a full-length original A-line creation which was designed with a fitted bodice of white cotton daisy lace. The lace design was repeated on the top and cuffs of full chiffon sleeves. The skirt of double tiered white chiffon over crystal charm swept into a chapel train.

Her bridal veil of double silk illusion was bouffant in design and attached to a tulle of the daisy medallions. Her daisy motif was again accented in her sash arrangement of Esther Reed daisies.

Mrs. Louis Loggreen, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants included LuAnn Stevens, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Kay Matsumura, Mrs. Keith Holjeson and Natalie Washburn.

Bill Reese served as best man. Groomsmen included Ray Edwards, Shern Andrew, Kay Matsumura and James Deering.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held at the Edgewood where the bride's table was covered with white lace and centered with a five-tiered cake topped with a basket of flowers and decorated in the bride's chosen daisy yellow and pale green.

After a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe and San Francisco, the couple will reside at 5220 S. 570, Salt Lake City.

The new Mrs. Stevens is a graduate of BYU and will be on the faculty at Skyline High School. Stevens, also a graduate of BYU, is associated with Sales Training, Inc., Salt Lake City.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted at Harmon's by the bridegroom's parents.

Buhl-Wendell, Blackfoot-Minico games top opening 10-tilt week

The Wendell Trojans, boasting an 18-game winning streak, will meet the Buhl Indians in a big season-opener but football will be spread throughout Magic Valley Friday and Saturday with 10 games.

Burley will be at Gooding, Wood River at Mountain Home, Hansen at Mackay, Rockland at Raft River, Oakley at Kimberly, Blackfoot at Minico and Valley at Murtaugh in Friday action. Saturday Buhl will be at Wendell, Declo at Glens Ferry and Rimrock at Castelford. Wendell, which lost its eighth game three seasons ago, and then started building the win streak in the finale, will have largely a veteran crew waiting for Buhl's Indians. However, Buhl will have a new look under new coach Jop Jund and the Indians, while young in the line, have some strong, veteran backs. A year ago Blackfoot thought it could be the scourge of the east, but Minico spoiled that kind of thinking the first night.

This year Minico opened with ideas of being "competitive" in all its games but that was before two starters decided to quit the game. That created vacancies at running back, defensive secondary and offensive end-defensive secondary for Coach Corky Hill. The Spartans might have picked up some timely help, however, in the transfer of Patterson from Richfield. He could wind up being the Spartans' starting running back.

200 limit placed on entries in Magic Valley golf tourney

A deadline and/or limit on entries for the Magic Valley amateur golf tournament will be committed before then. Host professional Clyde Thomson said the early deadline will allow the committee to set flights, pairings and tee-off at the Twin Falls Municipal course, carries a Sept. 2 entry deadline unless a final of 200 is committed before then. Host professional Clyde Thomson said the early deadline will allow the committee to set flights, pairings and tee-off times well in advance rather than the usual first-day confusion. The 200 restriction will keep the late finishers from fighting the gathering twilight. The cup money will offer $25 per day per flight for the low score and a minimum of six flights is guaranteed. In addition, Don Pieper again is offering 1,000 gallons of gasoline for a hole-in-one, an offer he hasn't had to pay up on in 10 years. "I think this will be the year someone will stick him," Thomson said. "We've got too many three pars."

Pirates erupt early to belt Braves, protect lead; Aaron hits 38th homer

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates broke on top with six runs on eight singles in the first inning Wednesday night and went on to beat the Atlanta Braves, 13-6, to maintain their five-game lead in the National League's Eastern Division.

Youth, size lack to hamper Vikings

EDEN-HAZELTON — A lack of size and experience indicate the Valley Vikings and Coach Bob Brulotte will spend a lot of this fall learning lessons for the future, the hard way.

The Vikings return only five senior veterans and the newest of the prospect crew is listed by Coach Brulotte at 170 pounds. The lack of senior players wasn't unexpected since last year's 3-7 record was at least partly attributable to small turnout of the junior class.

Graduation took one of the best arms in the game from Valley's offense arsenal. Larry Richman took it with him to Eastern Oregon. Also gone are Dave Steward, Kim Gergin, Kent Moore, Jeff Gooding and Wes Krohn—to name a few.

The Vikings return only five senior veterans and the newest of the prospect crew is listed by Coach Brulotte at 170 pounds. The lack of senior players wasn't unexpected since last year's 3-7 record was at least partly attributable to small turnout of the junior class.

Graduation took one of the best arms in the game from Valley's offense arsenal. Larry Richman took it with him to Eastern Oregon. Also gone are Dave Steward, Kim Gergin, Kent Moore, Jeff Gooding and Wes Krohn—to name a few.

On the other hand, Burley will be facing one of the veteran quarterbacks of the area in big Gary Gorrell, who is starting his third year at calling signals for the Gooding Senators. Coach Leroy Johnson has some veteran and big backs to send at the Bobcats but the Bobcats should have a little more size and depth in the line.

Wood River, with not quite a bus full out for the team, will have a lot of experience to throw at Mountain Home. The Tigers ripped Wood River last season as the Wolverines blew several chances. It will be a South Central Idaho Conference battle.

Oakley, which just about everything off a team that had two fine years, will bring virtually an all new lineup to Kimberly. Kimberly lost several men that will hurt and also has a new coach in Bernard Strough, who was an assistant at Bishop Kelly high in Boise last year. Graduation took Kimberly's outstanding speed in Rod Rudolph and Mike Erickson. But Wes Remaley is back and the Bulldogs are anticipating a good halfback season from him.

Dallas favored over Oilers in Texas title battle tonight

HOUSTON (UPI)—The unbeaten Dallas Cowboys, 3-0, with Roger Staubach at quarterback this week, are favored over the Houston Oilers, 2-2, in their Thursday night battle for the unofficial football championship of Texas.

A standing-room-only crowd of more than 45,000 was expected for the 8 p.m. kickoff. The game will be televised in Dallas, Waco, Sherman, Denison and Tyler. It will be broadcast on both the Oiler and Cowboy radio networks.

The game will be the fifth and last Ralph Neely Bowl, named for the Cowboys star, offensive tackle, the Oilers won over the Cowboys in a court-battle. Neely decided to stay with the Cowboys and one of the stipulations in an ensuing deal was the Cowboys would play in Houston five years.

Dallas holds a 3-1 edge in the series, losing 37-21 last year, but then coming back to beat the Oilers 52-10 in a regular season game. The exhibition winner gets the Governor's Cup, but Gov. Preston Smith said he would not be able to present it and could not send a representative from Austin to the game.

Staubach, who has completed 16 of 35 passes for 295 yards and 11 touchdowns in a court-battle. Neely decided to stay with the Cowboys and one of the stipulations in an ensuing deal was the Cowboys would play in Houston five years.

Now it's Staubach's turn. But he will be without star receiver Lance Alworth and his understudy Reggie Ruckey, both out with injuries.

Margene Adkins will start in Alworth's spot and Bob Hayes will be the other wide receiver. Calvin Hill, who gained 167 yards in 21 carries against the Browns, and Walt Garrison will be the running backs.

The Oilers will start rookie Lynn Dickey at quarterback. Dickey, who sat out last Saturday night's 21-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles, has completed 21 of 43 passes for 223 yards and one touchdown.

NBA strengthens power of Kennedy

NEW YORK (UPI)—The powers of Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association were increased Wednesday as the league owners met to discuss procedures for the upcoming Senate and House debates on the pro basketball merger.

Under the new ruling handed down by the owners, Kennedy will have the power to suspend and/or fine up to $25,000 "any person whose conduct is either prejudicial or detrimental to the NBA." For the time being the fine portion of the ruling cannot apply to players because of the existing contract of the league has with the Player's Association, which limits the commissioner's fining power to a maximum of $1,000.

Kennedy's new "muscle" given him by the owners is subject to an appeal by an individual which, to be overturned, would have to be approved by a 2-3 vote of the Board of Governors. In contrast to Kennedy's new fining limit, football commissioner Pete Rozelle is restricted to a $5,000 fining ceiling while baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn's fining powers are unlimited.

His wide receivers will be Charlie Joiner and Jim Beltrone and his tight end will be Frazier. The Oiler running backs will be Joe Dawkins, who scored twice against the Eagles, and Woody Campbell.

WILLINGTON, Ohio (UPI)—Coach Paul Brown said he may have made a mistake by sending in so many substitutions at the start of the second half of the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh exhibition game Monday night but the mistake was rectified in time to win the game—the Bengals third in a row.

"I think we made a mistake from a coaching standpoint, when we put too many new guys in there to start the second half," said Brown. "Once you get ahead and then put new kids in there, a sort of lull settles over you, a sort of satisfaction thing."

The Bengals led 20-3 at the end of the first half but the Steelers behind quarterback Terry Bradshaw, managed to cut the margin to 20-13 by the time the game ended.

"After we began to have all the trouble on penalties, fumbles on the exchanges and things like that I became a little afraid," said Brown. "I finally decided to just play to win, that's all. There's still something good for morale in winning."

Head Coach J. D. Roberts said Manning's performance these next two days would determine whether he would see action against the San Diego Chargers in the Saints' final pre-season game Saturday night.

Running backs Tony Baker and Don McCall also remained out of practice Wednesday with injuries, and Roberts said both are still questionable to start Saturday.

Roberts said he was not yet ready to name a starting lineup for the game against the Chargers, but that he would probably make public Thursday any changes from last week's starting team.

Kimberly to debut under new coach

KIMBERLY—The Kimberly Bulldogs bow into the 1971 season Friday night by hosting the Oakley Hornets under new coach Bernard Strouth.

Strouth comes to the Bulldogs' helm after graduating from Boise State and serving as an assistant at Boise's Bishop Kelly high school.

What the coach has found is a situation that will demand a lot from sophomores, at least in the back-up ranks.

Graduation took the speedsters like Rod Rudolph and Mike Erickson and the class of 1971 left a lot of vacancies everywhere.

Kimberly has Wes Remaley back at halfback, the respectable youngsters having considerable experience carry over from last season, Randy Stangler approved by a 2-3 vote of the Board of Governors. In contrast to Kennedy's new fining limit, football commissioner Pete Rozelle is restricted to a $5,000 fining ceiling while baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn's fining powers are unlimited.

Kennedy said his new powers "had nothing to do with the merger," but were just an added recognition of his nine years of service to the NBA. He added however, "there has been at least one instance in the past that I would have exercised the entire power."

Kennedy also announced that the supplementary draft of "hardship case" college players whose appeals have been granted by the NBA will be conducted Sept. 10 with the list of players eligible to be released next week. Those teams selecting a player in the supplementary draft will forfeit their subsequent draft-choice in the regular 1972 draft of college players.

As for the merger, Kennedy disclosed that the NBA owners in council with former Senator Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) are discussing the procedures to follow in Congress when the Hruska-Tunney Bill in the Senate and the Brooks Bill in the House come up for debate in late September.

Kennedy also said that negotiations are going on the Players' Association pension plan and requests on liberalization of the health plans and insurance.

3 police suspended for 'brutality' to Carty

ATLANTA (UPI)—Atlanta Mayor Sam Massell said Wednesday night the brawl that left Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty with two black eyes, a split finger and bruises was "blatant brutality" and suspended the three policemen involved.

Massell issued a statement denouncing the incident but refused to say what actually happened.

Carty, the majors' leading hitter last season with a .368 average but out all this season, with a knee injury, was charged before dawn Wednesday with "creating a turmoil and ample battery on an officer."

The officer, J.R. McEachern, said Carty struck him when he was trying to break up a brawl between the outfielder and two white men. The white men, McEachern said, fled while he was subduing Carty. The white men, according to Massell, were off-duty policemen C.E. Turner and L.B. Smith.

"The men involved, are hereby suspended without pay and cited to stand trial before the Alderman Police Committee at the earliest lawful date," Massell told newsmen at police headquarters Wednesday night.

Cowboys begin last home stand with I.F. tonight

The Magic Valley Cowboys begin their final home appearance of the season tonight, hosting the Idaho Falls Angels in the first of a four-game series.

Three special events are planned for the series. Thursday will be Shelby Markel night at the park with families being admitted for $1 if they pick up a coupon at the sponsoring market. Friday is "bonanza night" during which many prizes ranging from bicycles, fishing tackle and baseball equipment will be given away. Sunday will be player and fan appreciation night. All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Cowboys also will be shooting for the franchise record crowd for a short season. That was set in 1964 when the Cowboys drew 26,000 their first year as a rookie team. Co-general managers Kip Horburgh and Carl Fazio report the attendance thermometer in the Joyce Park foyer currently stand just slightly under 23,000.

Jets lose tackle to religion

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (UPI)—Steve Thompson, a starting defensive tackle with the New York Jets, became pro football's latest dropout Wednesday when he suddenly retired because "I received a direction to do something else from the Lord."

Although he said, "I really enjoy the 30 minutes a week that I play football," Thompson added, "football is no longer my type of life."

Thompson is the second member of the Jets to retire this season because he wanted an alternative to football. Wide receiver George Sauer was the first.

"I have looked for many years for true Christian type of life," Thompson said, "but I've never seen it before now. I've heard lots of how to live like Him but people seemed only to do it outwardly. I've seen people talk about love but not really love. To see a group of people live a life which to me is an expression of Jesus Christ is a new experience. Jesus Christ is more my type of life. I have a relationship with Him that does it all for me."

Thompson said he will return to Eugene, Ore., with his wife and two children to look for a job. He has his college degree from Oregon and has been interested in teaching.

He said he met a group of people in Eugene who've changed his life for him. They don't belong to an organized religion or to a commune and they don't work or live together.

Nicklaus, Player upset in opening round of match play

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player suffered opening round defeats Wednesday, leaving Arnold Palmer the only golfing superstar still in contention in the U.S. Professional Match Play Championship.

Nicklaus, despite a three-under-par 69 in the $200,000 tournament, lost to Ray Floyd by two strokes. Player, deadlocked at 71 with Honore Blancas after 18 holes, was ousted by a stroke on the third hole of a playoff.

Palmer doped Bruce Devlin by three strokes with a four-under-par 68 on the rambling 6,973-yard sandhill and pine course of the Country Club of North Carolina.

The tournament is not ordinary match play, in which the match is scored by holes. Instead, the winner of each match is determined by low score at the end of the round, with a playoff in case of ties.

Royals maintain mastery of Boston

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Lance Clemons, a 24-year-old rookie southpaw, posted his first major league victory with brilliant relief hurling as the Kansas City Royals beat the Boston Red Sox for the 11th straight time this season, 7-5, Wednesday night.

Clemons took over for starter Al Fitzmorris with one out in the fifth and struck out six batters and allowed only two hits the rest of the way.

The Royals exploded for five runs in the third off starter and loser Gary Peters to wipe out a 4-0 deficit, which the Red Sox had built in the second inning.

McBreen sets mark in AAU swim test

HOUSTON (UPI)—Tom McBreen set a world record Wednesday night in the men's 400-meter freestyle at the National AAU swimming championship with a 4:02.08, beating the old mark by two-tenths of a second.

McBreen, 18, of San Mateo, Calif., was not bothered by a steady rain during the meet, but there were two false starts, and that bothered me," he said. "I was real tight at the start."

Defending champion John Kinsella, 18, of Oak Park, Ill., finished the disappointing sixth with 4:06.53.

Peter Dahlberg of Chicago won the men's 100-meter breaststroke with a 1:09.912 second time—ahead of second place Brian Job of Santa Clara, Calif., with a time of 1:07.338 and Nebutaka Taguchi of Japan at 1:07.790.

Mark Spitz of Sacramento, Calif., won the men's 100-meter butterfly with a time of 55.300 slower than his preliminary time of 55.01 which lowered his world record mark by more than half a second. Roff Wales of Santa Ana, Calif., finished second at 57.596 and John Tremblay finished third at 57.290.

Dana Daurdurf of Cincinnati won the women's 100-meter butterfly with a time of 1:05.036 and Mayumi Aoki was second with 1:05.125. Ellie Danigel of Carmichael, Calif., was third at 1:05.210.

In the 200-meter backstroke, Susie Atwood, successfully defended her National AAU title. Miss Atwood, 18, won the event in a steady downpour at the Glenbrook Olympic Park pool in a time of 2:22.01. She also holds the world record of 2:21.5.

"I wasn't worried about the rain, just getting some points," she said. "I got stuffy sitting in a car waiting out the downpour and I was more psyched up before the storm."

A message to the People of Magic Valley from the NEW CAR DEALERS ASSOCIATION of Twin Falls
To Clarify the 7% Federal Excise Tax Refund on New Automobiles

In his statement to the nation Sunday night, August 15, President Nixon said he would propose repeal of the 7% excise tax on automobiles effective immediately. The President also stated he would insist that the American auto industry pass on this tax reduction to customers who buy automobiles this year. This means that if Congress repeals the excise tax, as proposed by President Nixon, new car purchasers from the effective date of retroactivity onward WILL RECEIVE REFUNDS FROM THE GOVERNMENT THROUGH THE MANUFACTURERS of the amount of any excise tax included in the price of new cars they purchase.

We can assure the people of Magic Valley the full amount will be refunded by the Government under terms and conditions of the proposed excise tax repeal. The refund will be made directly to the original owner of the new car. Please understand it is conditional upon action on the part of the Congress of the United States.

The New Car Dealers Association encourages you to buy at this time to realize the 7% excise tax refund, and year end prices on all 1971 models.
