Yen floats, Nixon wins

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan yielded tonight to American pressure and announced it will permit the yen to start floating to its own level Saturday. The move meant an effective revaluation upward and the first major victory for President Nixon's drastic economic reform program.

The U.S. Treasury Department issued a statement in Washington today saying, "We welcome the decision of Japan as a further step toward a more realistic realignment of international exchange rates which the President envisioned in his address to the nation on Aug. 15."

In simpler terms it meant Nixon had won—for the time being—his fight to raise the price of Japanese imports to the United States and decrease the price of American exports to Japan to reverse the U.S. balance of payments deficit, now running about $3.3 billion a year.

The Japanese decision brought momentary confusion to European money markets and halted some exchange transactions. European economists predicted the yen would appreciate up to 15 per cent over the dollar but were awaiting developments.

Finance Minister Mikio Mizu made the yen announcement after a day of frantic efforts to keep the yen at its present parity of 360 to the dollar. The Bank of Japan bought up $1.6 billion in dollars today but could not stem the tide of events. It has bought more than $3 billion since the Nixon announcement and now holds $12.6 billion in foreign currency and gold reserves.

In Washington, the Nixon administration has invited organized labor to help draft the second phase of the program, which will follow the current 90-day wage-price freeze.

The offer was carried personally Thursday by Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson to AFL-CIO President George Meany, the leader of a chorus of labor complaints the economic program favors big business at the expense of working people.

It was the first time the administration had consulted labor on the program, announced by President Nixon Aug. 15.

The council said that if at least one teacher or school employee covered by such a contract had actually worked under that contract all his colleagues under the contract would enjoy the raise.

The council listed two other conditions under which scheduled raises could take effect:

If a teacher or other school employee had performed work before Aug. 15, when the freeze started, under a new contract providing a pay increase, or if the teacher "was eligible to have earned a salary at the new rate before Aug. 15."

To be eligible, it said the employee must have in fact accrued earnings "under the new contract 'although' he or she may not have actually performed any work during that period."

That language was designed to cover teachers who work 10 months but are paid in 12 monthly checks.

The council issued its latest ruling in an attempt to cope with confusion in school districts across the country that arose from two earlier and somewhat cryptic announcements concerning teachers' salaries.

In a statement issued before the council spelled out its decision, the National Education Association (NEA), which said it speaks for 2 million "educators" said that its interpretation of the council's rulings and its conversations with council officials led it to conclude that most teachers would get raises this fall.

The NEA said it calculated that 80 per cent of the nation's 2.1 million public school teachers would go to work under higher salaries, the freeze notwithstanding.

It left out only the 400,000 teachers for whom contracts had not been negotiated by Aug. 15, when the freeze started.

Teachers get hikes after all

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Cost of Living Council issued a ruling Thursday night clearing the way for pay raises during the 90-day wage-price freeze for school teachers employed in school systems which negotiate system-wide contracts.

The ruling, issued in a 700-word "clarification" of its previous declarations, appeared to carry the promise of pay raises during the freeze for many—perhaps a majority—of the nation's 2.1 million school teachers, especially those employed in urban school systems.

They most often negotiate "system-wide" contracts.

Aide eyes Russ arms technology

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Russia will probably gain an across-the-board technological superiority over the U.S. military in the last half of this decade because of Moscow's decision almost four years ago to drop out of the race to the moon, the Pentagon's research chief believes.

Dr. John S. Foster said in testimony released today by the House Appropriations Committee that in 1967 or 1968 the Soviet Union stopped a rapid expansion of its space effort which had kept Russian military research and development spending level for almost seven years.

Since then, Foster said, the Russians have channeled much of this money into a growing military research and development program. He estimated the Soviet Union now has a research effort 40 to 50 per cent larger than that of the United States, costing about $3 billion a year more than the United States is spending.

Foster told Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, it is impossible to tell at this time what the increased Russian research effort is directed toward.

Court melee

SOLEAD Brothers' pre-trial hearing at San Francisco is the setting for a melee between police tactical squad officers and a number of spectators. The violence erupted when bailiffs tried to remove the mother of one of the Soledad Brothers from the chamber. (UPI)

Battle erupts at court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Spectators battled riot police in the courtroom Thursday at another chaotic hearing for the two surviving "Soledad Brothers."

Two of the predominantly black crowd of spectators, almost all of them supporters of the two defendants, were seen bleeding from head wounds. Two persons were arrested and charged with assaulting policemen.

The melee broke out just after defendants Floeta Drungo and John Clutchette, whose co-defendant, black revolutionary George Jackson, was killed trying to escape from San Quentin Saturday, were brought in to the courtroom behind a barrier of bullet-resistant glass.

Drungo, Clutchette and Jackson were accused of hurling a guard off a third-floor balcony to his death at Soledad State Prison last year. Their trial was moved from Salinas, Calif., to San Francisco on a change of venue and the three defendants already had become heroes of the revolutionary left before Jackson's death.

The hearing on several defense motions, including one that the glass barrier be taken down, resumed after order was restored.

After Judge Carl Allen turned down a defense offer to show proof that Clutchette and Drungo had been beaten at San Quentin Saturday, Mrs. Doris Maxwell, Clutchette's mother, began screaming at him.

"I checked out of (San Quentin) at 9:55," she shouted. "They say it happened before that."

Judge rules no rockfest

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong ambushed an American unit bivouacked near Da Nang and killed five GIs, wounded seven others and blew up two U.S. armored cars and a tank in the heaviest fighting involving U.S. forces since last April, military spokesmen said today.

Five other GIs were wounded in the same region along South Vietnam's upper coast.

Despite the American losses, battlefield action across Vietnam Thursday and today fell sharply, allied communiques showed. South Vietnamese military spokesmen reported 19 "enemy-initiated incidents" compared with 38 in the previous 24 hours.

The Viet Cong attacked a unit of the U.S. Army's Americal Division 16 miles south-southwest of Da Nang just after dark Thursday. The Americans were camped for the night. The Communists fired machine guns and B40 rockets and the Americans called in helicopter gunships and artillery and finally drove off the attackers.

But the GIs lost five killed, seven wounded and two armored personnel carriers and a Sheridan tank to the Communists.

Webb's countering petition for a writ of prohibition declared that the event has involved expenditure of nearly $20,000 to date, and that Teater was not warned of an upcoming prohibition. The location is "sufficiently far removed from any incorporated area that it will not disturb the peace of any city."

Webb also claims that "no activity is planned or promoted in violation of the laws of the state of Idaho or the United States. There is nothing inherently dangerous or disruptive about a rock festival of the type planned."

The provisions of the county ordinance, Webb said, are "arbitrary and capricious... not reasonably related to the type of activity found at a music festival." The provision for a "bond" of $2 per person, required by the county ordinance, is "oppressive," Webb's petition declared.

The county ordinance "subjects the petitioner (Teater) to undue harassment and potential criminal penalties and detracts from the spirit of the gathering."

Though Teater said earlier that he hoped for "at least 10,000 young people," his petition for a writ of prohibition pledged that the "peak crowd would be in the neighborhood of 5,000 to 7,500 people and will not exceed 10,000."

Blaine law questioned

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — A question has been raised over the constitutionality of a Blaine county ordinance which, in effect, bans large public assemblies during a 30 day period.

An ordinance approved by the Blaine County Commissioners to regulate large public assemblies calls for anyone wishing to hold such an assembly to apply for a permit at least 30 days in advance of the assembly.

Once the ordinance takes effect, no assemblies could be held until at least 30 days had passed to provide any applicant the necessary waiting period.

proposed rock festival scheduled over the Labor Day weekend just outside Bellevue.

Twin Falls attorney Lloyd Webb, representing Jack Teater, Kimberly, sponsor of the projected rock festival, today called the Blaine ordinance "flagrantly unconstitutional."

Webb said today that the ordinance in effect bans all public assemblies for a 30-day period by stating that a sponsor would have to apply for a license at least 30 days before the scheduled event. In the interim, no public assemblies could be held, Webb said.

In Boise, Idaho Attorney General Tony Park declined to issue a formal opinion, saying he would have to study the ordinance. "In order to render an opinion of that, one would have to do a great deal of research," he said.

The Blaine County "deputy prosecutor" told Park on Thursday that "the ordinance has been in the mill for a long time and he just hadn't gotten around to having it drafted. The Attorney General told the Times-News today.

"As far as he was concerned, there was no deliberate attempt to rush it through just to get at these fellows that are putting on this rock festival."

Teater said, however, that he had contacted a member of the Blaine County commission he identified as George McCoy concerning the legality of putting on a large rock festival.

McCoy told him the county had no licensing ordinance and that as far as he knew there was no objection.

Teater said he contacted McCoy early in July, when he learned of the apparent "success" of the gathering in Farragut State Park.

"The Blaine County commission formally enacted their crowd-control ordinance on Aug. 9. Teater's festival is planned for Sept. 3-5.

Park said today, in answer to a statement that the site of the proposed rockfest is private property, that "The government does have the right to regulate the use of property, as it pertains to public health and safety."

Wage-price board asked by Romney

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Housing Secretary George Romney recommended today creation of a wage-price review board after the current freeze. He said the time had come for government curbs on "abuse of accumulated power" in business and organized labor.

The 90-day wage-price freeze announced by President Nixon Aug. 15 ends Nov. 12 and Romney said at a new conference he favors following that with a review board—backed by enforcement powers through the courts and the Justice Department.

Romney said the wage-price board he advocated should have the power to put a lid on profits as well as wages, "even though generally speaking, profits at present are low, not high."

VA may use TB hospital

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Writer
BOISE — Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy today suggested converting the unused former state tuberculosis hospital at Gooding into a convalescent home for the Veterans Administration.

At a news conference in Boise in which he reiterated his interest in the senate seat being vacated by Len B. Jordan, the lieutenant governor said he has written to Doc Summers, chairman of the Idaho Veterans Affairs Commission, to suggest investigation into the feasibility of converting the Gooding facility to use by the VA.

The former hospital, which was vacated in July, 1970, is costing the state about $45,000 a year in maintenance costs, Murphy said. While it is listed for sale, there have been no takers.

Murphy told the Times-News by telephone he had discussed this possibility earlier with Donald Johnson, Washington, D.C., national VA director, when the federal official was in Boise, and their talk had "left the door open."

The Gooding hospital presently has facilities for about 85 beds, but with remodeling could be enlarged to handle 123, Murphy said.

The facility would be ideal for a convalescent home, in contrast to one providing intensive treatment, Murphy said.

It could be an "annex" to the VA facilities in Boise, administration wise, he said.

While there is some question as to whether the VA could participate in the cost of acquisition, when it would not be new construction, there are federal matching funds available.

Murphy said he understands there is a $350,000 endowment fund in existence and he is checking to determine the availability of using these funds to maintain such a project.

"Considering the existing budget of the Idaho veterans administration, the reported endowment and federal matching funds, it would seem a distinct possibility that the Gooding institution could be utilized without asking for additional general funds revenue," the lieutenant governor said.

Gang fight kills 1, injures 3

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—One person was killed and three others were injured, one critically, Thursday night in a shootout involving two Minneapolis motorcycle gangs.

Authorities arrested 23 persons—10 members of the Grim Reapers and 13 members of the BPM's motorcycle gang.

Police said the dead man, John William Peterson, 24, of suburban Richfield, was a member of the BPM's.

Police said the shootout apparently began when members of "the BPM's" pulled up in a camper truck and surrounded a house where the Grim Reapers were holding a meeting.

MEMBERS OF TWO motorcycle gangs lie on the ground as police search for weapons Thursday following a shootout between the gangs in south Minneapolis. One man is dead, three are wounded following the fight. (UPI)

Transfer completed

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Title and Trust Co., a home-owned business since its founding in 1907, has completed negotiations to transfer its trust assets to the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., according to an announcement today by Michael Gray, president of the Title and Trust.

Gray, who became president of the firm in January, 1970, will become vice president in trust development for the bank. Janice Stover, escrow officer, trust officer and assistant secretary at the Title and Trust, will also join the Bank and Trust as an officer in the trust department.

Twin Falls Title and Trust was founded by Gordon Gray, who has remained as chairman of the board in an honorary position. He will continue to be available for consultation on trust matters.

Other officers of the Title and Trust include R. P. Parry, senior vice president, and Leo Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Harry Eaton, chairman of the board of Twin Falls Bank and Trust, and John J. Wolfe, vice president, trust department, said they were gratified at the successful negotiations to acquire the trust accounts of Title and Trust.

"The acquisition of the trust assets of Twin Falls Title and Trust by the Twin Falls Bank and Trust affords this community a trust department with increased experience and efficiency through the employment by the bank of Mike Gray, president of the Title company, and Mrs. Janice Stover, with 14 years of experience," a joint statement said.

"We in the bank feel this addition will enable the bank's trust department to better serve the trust needs in this area and we welcome the opportunity to serve."

Michael Gray, speaking for the stockholders of Twin Falls Title and Trust, expressed "sincere thanks to Twin Falls and the Magic Valley area for over 64 years of support and patronage."

U.S. aide admits to borrowing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Attorney General Will Wilson, the government's chief criminal prosecutor, has admitted borrowing more than a quarter of a million dollars from a Texas financier later involved in a stock scandal.

But Wilson, himself a former Texas attorney general, said his transactions with Houston promoter Frank W. Sharp involved nothing illegal.

Wilson issued a nine-page statement Thursday saying he borrowed $257,000 from Sharp and tripled his personal wealth while serving as Sharp's lawyer during the mid-60's.

He noted that Sharp's "implication in a stock fraud case has led to insinuations that I am, or have been, involved in illegal activities as a result of this association. There's absolutely no truth to this."

Sharp was the principal named in a civil suit filed last Jan. 18 by the Securities and Exchange Commission, which accused him of systematically looting at least three banks and two insurance firms under his control. Sharp, however, was permitted to plead guilty to lesser charges and was put on probation for five years and fined $5,000.

Wilson, who heads the Justice Department's Criminal Division, said he disassociated himself from Sharp's case.

The Sharp case triggered a political scandal in Texas. Gov. Preston Smith and Democratic Party Chairman Elmer Baum, among others, were alleged to have made quick profits in stock deals in return for supporting a banking bill sought by Sharp. In the end, however, Smith vetoed the bill.

Wilson said Sharp became one of his law clients in the spring of 1963, the year after Wilson lost the Democratic gubernatorial primary to John B. Connally, later governor of Texas and now treasury secretary.

"In addition to our lawyer-client relationship, business interests controlled by Mr. Sharp were a source of legitimate credit for me — similar to other lending institutions I used to increase my land holdings," Wilson said.

He said he had "engaged in very few land transactions during the time I was attorney general."

Parents to decide on busing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace called upon parents Thursday to decide whether their children should be bused to schools against their will and he asked the Alabama legislature to pass an anti-busing law.

Accelerating his push to test President Nixon's "sincerity" on the busing issue, Wallace went before the state house of representatives and suggested parents rather than federal judges and federal agencies know whether their children should attend schools they were assigned under federal court orders.

He said parents should make that determination and if busing was detrimental to their children's welfare to ask school officials to admit them to the schools they attended last year. "I am not advocating civil disobedience," he said.

He said he was merely recommending the method of relief set forth by the U.S. Supreme Court in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg, N.C., case where a "valid objection" to busing would be one where the "time or distance of travel is so great as to risk either the health of the children or significantly impinge on the educational process."

Wallace asked the legislature to pass a bill that would support school officials. The bill traced the Supreme Court except regarding the safety of a child in the busing proposition.

A few hours after the bill was introduced, a senate committee reported it out for debate next week. A rules committee will meet next week and likely will give it swift approval.

Early 1971 aid totals off for TF

TWIN FALLS — Welfare statistics for Twin Falls County and the Magic Valley seem to reflect the national decline in the number of recipients receiving public assistance, according to Richard Atwood, Boise, director of research and statistics for the Idaho Department of Public Assistance.

Atwood told the Times-News Thursday a tabulation of Twin Falls County welfare statistics indicates that there were 105 fewer people on welfare in July than in January of this year — 1,889 in July against 1,994 in January.

By month, the number of recipients in the county, including children receiving "ADC" or aid to dependent children funds, was: January, 1,994; February, 1,999; March, 1,940; April, 1,975; May, 1,879; June, 1,849, and July, 1,889.

Month-to-month fluctuations are anticipated in the welfare rolls as jobs fluctuate and varying federal regulations take effect, Atwood said.

Welfare payments usually diminish in May and June to some extent as summer work picks up.

However, changes in federal Social Security regulations affected state welfare statistics, since the two are closely linked. Recipients of Social Security benefits lose state aid as their federal contribution increases, Atwood explained.

The number of children on ADC rolls "soured straight up" from June to November, 1969, then held steady since, Atwood said. This was brought about largely because of changes in work patterns, a Social Security provision regarding allowable income and a Supreme Court decision that the state could not require a specific residency within the state to qualify for welfare.

Check classes

SCHOOL DAYS are fast approaching, and the curiosity of the young knows no bounds. Eager youngsters flocked to Morningdale School Thursday to compare room assignments with their friends, and to make plans for countering the school's strategy in separating best pals in separate rooms. One sober young man, when asked if he was anxious for school to start, commented sardonically that "I can wait. I can wait a long time." Others were eager for the resumption of the annual round of textbooks, teachers' looks and the "Aw-shucks" of report-card time.

TF teachers at work

TWIN FALLS — Summer vacation for Twin Falls schools teachers and pupils is over and while students will not report for classes until 9 a.m. Monday, teachers were on the job Friday morning with an orientation session beginning at 8:30 a.m. in the O'Leary Junior High School.

Among those attending the orientation session Friday were 38 new teachers, joining the faculties of various schools in the district Monday. Camden Meyer, assistant superintendent, is also now to the system this year.

This year the local public school program will be expanded by 300 students as a result of closure of the St. Edward's School. These children have been assigned classes in the elementary schools nearest their homes except where such regular assignment would make one grade exceptionally large in a specific grade school.

Registration has been underway this week at all schools and in addition to the new first graders, all other students new to the system or those attending new schools will have registered by late today.

At Morningside, first grade registration has been somewhat light, Ralph Messenger, principal reports. He said it would not be possible to tell until Monday just how full some of the first grades will be.

At Harrison, Francis Anderson, principal, said there will be a heavy load of students in most rooms, according to present registrations. Heaviest will be the fourth grade with 39 to 40 students in each room and some may have to be shifted to lighter schools.

Miss Anderson said there has been a number of new families moving into the Twin Falls area this year, as many of the new registrations are from out of state or even from Canada.

Downtown work plan meet set

TWIN FALLS — A general meeting concerning Phase Two of the Twin Falls Downtown Redevelopment Program has been called for 4 p.m. Monday in the Rogerson Roundup Room, officials of the Downtown Coordinating Committee said today.

The meeting is open to all those interested in the project, a spokesman for the committee said.

Representatives of the contractor, utility companies and participating agencies will outline the construction timetable for the work planned for this fall.

Phase two of the improvement involves surfacing and placing meters on off-street parking lots and improvement of alleys including placing all utility lines underground.

Nelson Construction Co., has been approved by the city council as contractor for the work subject to approval by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Buying, court changes sought

BOISE (UPI) — A legislative council committee was urged Thursday to give consideration to changes in state purchasing methods and court reform.

Spokesmen for schools, cities and counties all urged the committee to consider consolidation of supplies purchasing by the state as a means to save money. The committee is considering possible legislation to provide for central purchasing on a cooperative basis for all branches and levels of government in Idaho.

State Purchasing Agent Dan Pilkington said he felt his office could undertake such a project with the addition of approximately two more persons to the staff.

Don Adams, chairman of the Idaho Association of County Commissioners and Clerks, told the committee court reform is needed because sheriff's departments are not only required to act as clerks of a district court, but in actuality, are acting as magistrates also.

Adams said the sheriff's departments assess fines and set bonds during the sixteen hours that the magistrate's division of the court is not open for business.

Adams said, "That means that sixteen hours out of every twenty-four, the sheriff's office is the magistrate division of the court."

Adams told the committee the action was an "unreasonable burden" and a "misuse of sheriff's manpower."

Adams noted that the situation in which the sheriff could be the arresting officer and the sentencing judge at the same time is of doubtful legality.

In other matters, Leon Fairbanks of Boise, chairman of the newly-formed Ada County Highway District, told the committee there still are some "gray areas" between the County and City of Boise.

Fairbanks said the questions of signalization and sidewalks still have to be worked out as to jurisdiction and responsibility. He said a plan is in the process of being formulated.

Order thaws pay for US teachers

The Cost of Living Council said that instances where teachers sign "individual" contracts with school boards would be treated differently. In those instances, the teacher would have actually had to perform work under the contract before Aug. 15 to get the raise it provided.

In cities where multi-year contracts call for annual increases which were to have taken effect after Aug. 15, the increases may not go into effect, the council said.

It ruled out longevity increases which were due after Aug. 15, too.

But teachers who earned higher pay by completing additional courses or receiving additional degrees may get the raises, the council ruled. "This is a promotion, not a raise," it said.

Church hits bureau moves

POCATELLO (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, charged Thursday recent personnel changes in the Bureau of Indian Affairs have "downgraded" key officials instrumental in forming the administration's policies.

Church said until recently, Indians were in top administrative positions, but said now the "old line bureaucracy is being reinstated."

"The latest actions taken by the Bureau of Indian Affairs have, at the very least, widened the credibility gap between the American Indian and the government," Church said.

A Precedent

George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, has come up with what he believes to be a precedent for the seating of the two Chinas...

Peking would be amenable to two China votes in the U.N. if she could control both. This, of course, is not what the Nixon administration has in mind.

Those U.N. seats for the Ukraine and Byelorussia are like political fossils. They represent what once were, conceivably could be again but certainly are not now, independent national entities...

The United States could have insisted on a seat in the U.N. for the Confederacy. Even more logically, Great Britain could have demanded representation for Scotland and Wales.

The "three-Russia" precedent is no precedent at all—except for mischief.

Midhusband?

Women's a reverse side to their liberation. A 38-year-old man in Germany, who was refused admission into a school of midwifery...

The Nixon administration's two-China policy, says Bush, is this nothing new and should be acceptable to the Communist Chinese.

Unfortunately, there is a small catch. Soviet Russia's three votes are all cast in Moscow. No doubt midwifery, cases of job discrimination cannot be satisfactorily dealt with.

Nursing and midwifery are very much female occupations in "the Six." Women account for over 80 per cent of the total employed in this category.

Surely there is room for one "midhusband."

MR. SPECTATOR

Is It That Cheap?

Real estate advertisement for a 17,633 sq. ft. property for sale at $100 per square foot. Includes phone number 343-9498.

Our newsroom sleuth was driving through Boise the other day when his eye (or eyes, we should say) fell upon the sign pictured in today's columns.

He alighted from his auto, took out his trusty camera, and snapped away.

The sign was unattended so it was impossible to ask questions. But the one big one which came to the top of the bucket when he brought the picture back was:

Does a prospective purchaser have to buy the whole thing or is it open for speculation by 17,633 people at $1 a square foot? And with that thought in mind—we move on!

LADY SLEUTHS Most ladies have never had the occasion to meet a genuine FBI agent on official business, and thus have only stereotyped images of what he ought to look like. But not many would expect the agent to be a woman.

Which might be a good argument for lady agents. The FBI, however, doesn't see things that way, and two would-be special agents—Mrs. Cynthia Edgar and Mrs. Sandra Nemsor—are suing the agency, charging discrimination against their sex under various job opportunity laws.

An FBI personnel officer who turned down the applications, said women "do not command enough respect," and "could not handle combat situations."

What was that about stereotyped images?

Notice how nippy it is when you climb out of bed at 6 a.m. nowadays? And it was only a few days ago that you were complaining of the heat. So now comes the time to turn off the old air conditioners and turn up, and adjust, the furnace.

ROWLANDEVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

The Federals And Ben Barnes

DALLAS — An admitted swindler's hearsay testimony which has blighted the meteoric political career of Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and is turning Texas politics upside-down is regarded by this state's Democratic politicians as the culmination of a long Nixon campaign.

There is no hard evidence that the Federal government is politically guided in its investigations here. What is indisputable, however, is that investigators have concentrated on key Texas

Democrats — particularly Barnes, at 33 the state's top Democrat.

The results have surpassed the fondest dreams of Texas Republicans. Barnes's career hangs by a single thread, ruling former liberal Sen. Ralph Yarborough into a vicious primary fight against him for Governor. The upheaval counteracts a Texas Republican slump and may yet save President Nixon and Sen. John Tower here in 1972.

Taking office in 1969, the Nixon administration noticed that Barnes, newly-elected as lieutenant-governor, seemed ripe for investigation. A poor but clever young man from the country, first elected to the legislature in 1960, he had on a $4,800 state salary—lived quite well, thanks to the assistance of rich supporters, and had amassed a net worth of $83,000 at his own estimate.

Barnes has since been investigated remorselessly by the feds—by the FBI, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., the Internal Revenue Service and the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). Early this year, Barnes's friend and mentor newly arrived in the Nixon administration, Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, asked Atty. Gen. John Mitchell what was going on. Mitchell replied that Barnes seemed clean.

Indeed, the investigations resulted in no charges. Nor did the messy financial scandal involving Houston developer Frank Sharp, which entangled several Texas Democratic legislators, including Gov. Preston Smith, seem to touch Barnes.

As Barnes's political agents spread out across Texas this summer, they were dismayed to find many voters equating Barnes and Smith as equally culpable in the scandal despite no such evidence. Nevertheless, Barnes's polls showed him a comfortable winner for Governor.

Comfortable, that is, until Wednesday, Aug. 11, when Sharp testified in Houston behind closed doors before SEC investigators. The central figure in the scandal, Sharp had become the government's star witness. In return, some 80 counts against Sharp were dropped, he was let off scot free with five years probation on two counts to which he pleaded guilty and was granted immunity from self-incrimination. The universal political conclusion: the Nixon administration let the scandal's biggest financial fish get away to hunt for possible big political fish.

When the SEC hearing began, however, SEC interrogators suggested immunity granted Sharp before a Federal grand jury might not apply to the commission's proceedings. If so, snapped Sharp's lawyer, he would take the Fifth Amendment. Word was quickly gotten to Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, in Houston that day. Kleindienst ordered that Sharp's immunity did apply to the SEC.

Sharp then exploded his political bombshell, asserting that an associate, John Osorio, told him "Ben has delivered for us" on a banking bill and "he deals only in cash." At that dramatic point, the proceedings adjourned. The testimony was promptly leaked to the press.

It's a Wise Father Who Knows His Own Child

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Lots Of Salt

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 18, craves salt at any time of day, with his meals and between meals. He puts it on everything, and even sprinkles it on his palm and eats it straight.

Can this be harmful to him? We thought he would probably grow out of it. — F. C. H.

This sort of problem is usually a matter of habit, just as some people develop a habit of dousing everything with ketchup or other seasonings. About the only really physical cause of salt hunger that comes to mind is Addison's disease, a deficiency of the adrenal glands, but if that were the case here, you would have noticed other symptoms, too.

How or why people develop such an abnormal taste for salt otherwise, I do not know, but they'll shake salt on everything they eat, even before tasting it, and get it so salty that other folks wouldn't eat it.

On a short-range basis, I don't know that this does any harm, but it's wise to start breaking the habit early, because later on it can become part of more serious problems — high blood pressure, for one, or congestive heart disease, or edema from any of several causes.

When some such condition as that develops, it may (and probably will) be urgent that salt be restricted drastically, and if somebody has become a confirmed salt-eater, it's difficult then to break the habit.

Oh, yes, he'll have committees for him in places like California, and maybe Pago Pago (America Samoa). That's pretty far away. He should have real support there.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Only A Dream

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Behind the golden glow lighting up his dramatic switch to the Democratic party, New York's Mayor John Lindsay faces a very tough prospect as a potential 1972 presidential candidate.

The first thing a serious candidate needs is a strong base at home. This means strength in delegates at the national convention, not simply stature as a party leader. Some hard-nosed New York appraisers don't think he's going to develop this vital home support.

One veteran New York Democrat says Lindsay would be lucky if he were to capture 1972 delegates from just two of the state's 39 congressional districts in the big June 20 primary. The two embrace West Side Manhattan.

Another says the natural place for the mayor should be with the well-established reform Democrats, who hold 60 of the 300 seats in the state party committee. But the man adds: "I'd be amazed if, right now, three of those 60 reform people are for Lindsay."

Some party leaders are, of course, offering the mayor considerable vocal encouragement since his switch from the Republicans. The hard-nosed types believe this is largely a response to Lindsay's huge patronage power.

They don't see this vocal backing as convertible to delegate strength because they judge the mayor to be highly unpopular in New York City, and even worse off in upstate areas. A reform Democrat puts it this way:

In 1969, three of every five New Yorkers voted against Lindsay while he was winning as a minority candidate. Today I'd say about 3 1/2 of every five voters oppose him."

The animosity is rooted in the broad conviction Lindsay is heavily responsible for the fact New York City is a steadily thickening jungle of unworked problems. It may be argued that nobody on earth could solve them. The point is, a majority blame Lindsay — for higher taxes, crippling public service wage settlements, crimes, the flight of business, etc.

Notwithstanding this embedded impression, Lindsay is seen by Liberals away from

New York as a dedicated, charismatic champion of the nation's ravaged inner cities and their anguished black and other minorities.

Indeed, he and his aides and some supporters talk as if Lindsay's hope for the Democratic presidential nomination rests in putting together a national coalition of such minorities — under an "urban" banner.

Seasoned party hands just don't believe there is enough of that kind of stuff around to bring the necessary big delegate numbers to Lindsay's side. They contend that, even granting substantial delegate selection reforms for 1972, the professionals are going to play a crucial role in the next nomination, as before.

In short, Lindsay's potential, both at home and beyond, is seen as terribly thin. The old joke about his being steadily more popular as the distance from New York increases is surfacing again. Says one leader:

"Oh, yes, he'll have committees for him in places like California, and maybe Pago Pago (America Samoa). That's pretty far away. He should have real support there."

RAY CROMLEY The Mideast

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is usual these days to point to our failures in the Middle East. And they are many.

It has also become commonplace to state that a final solution to the Arab-Israel war is not in sight despite our efforts.

That also seems to be true. But this is a good time to note how far we have come in the Middle East since the 1967 six-day war.

President Sadat of Egypt has said publicly that Egypt is prepared to recognize the existence of Israel as a state when and if a peace treaty comes to pass.

In the past decade every American expert on the Middle East has pointed out that Mideast peace would be impossible until the Arabs were ready to recognize Israel as a country and until the Arabs gave up destruction of Israel as an objective.

Guerrilla extremists among the Palestinians definitely are losing their power, losing their influence among the Palestinian majority and losing ability to pressure Jordan, Egypt and other Arab states.

Not too long ago leaders in some Arab countries paid considerable sums into the coffers of extremist Palestinian groups, leading the trouble these militants could stir up in their countries. This effectively prevented moderation.

The Soviet Union, which helped spark the conflict, has not played its hand well. It was caught in a box in the Sudan coup, with the defeat of the rebels and the roundup and sentencing of Communists.

It was connected with some very crude internal anti-Sadat machinations within Egypt and got caught.

Syria has not worked out well for Moscow.

The more actively the Russians have operated in Arab lands, the more enemies they have made, especially in those countries ruled by staunchly anti-Communist men.

The Russians have a fatal weakness: they cannot refrain from political intrigue with power groups in "friendly" countries, which inevitably enrage the leadership.

Pressure is mounting within Israel to reach a compromise on some sort of limited withdrawal from the Suez Canal.

Even a partial settlement (one that would permit the opening of the Suez Canal) may be a long way off. And a final solution may not be possible in the foreseeable future. But no major outbreak of sustained shooting has occurred in months.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I can't ask anyone but you about this. Last winter my husband took some LSD that a "friend" gave him. He had promised not ever to touch any drugs again, so I

Field-service student to attend T. F. High School

TWIN FALLS — Andreas (Andy) Antonlou Patsalides, 17, of Letymbou, Paphos, Cyprus, arrived Aug. 13 to become the Ninth American Field Service Student at Twin Falls High School.

He was met in Boise by Dr. and Mrs. Howard Ronk and family with whom he will make his home for the school year. Andreas will spend his senior year in Twin Falls and will be graduated with the class of 1972.

Mrs. John Christoffersen, president of the local AFS Chapter, explains that the youth's year is made possible by the high school membership as sponsoring unit. The visiting student is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonlos Michael Patsalides, Letymbou, Paphos, Cyprus. He has three younger brothers and one younger sister. He has been attending the American Academy at Kiti, Larnaca, Cyprus, where he has studied English for five years. In his home country, Andy was president of the Centre of Youth of Letymbou, secretary of the theatre group of Letymbou, member of the British Council Library and Larnaca Public Library. Besides being president of his class and member of the Quiz team, he had time to participate in football and hockey. Already he is practicing with the Twin Falls High School football team along with his host brother, Jay Ronk.

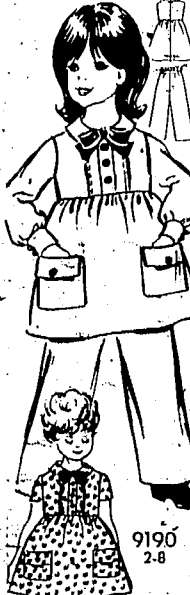

ANDREAS PATSALIDES

His hobbies include the study of folklore. He has a large collection of stories of his village; how it received its name, old songs and stories of how early inhabitants lived. One of his reasons for coming to the United States was to find out customs of our country as this is his first time to travel. He hopes to return to the United States to pursue his profession which will be a science branch, "probably chemistry," he states.

Officers of the AFS Chapter are Mrs. Christoffersen, president; Mrs. John Massey, vice president; Mrs. Marguerite Montgomery, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Vern South, student-family liaison; Mrs. John Breckenridge and Mrs. Rob Paine, Americans abroad; Mrs. Breckenridge, publicity; and John Lawrence, high school principal, adviser.

A Lovelier You

SKIN MAY DRY BEFORE TIME

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovelier writes: My complexion is seriously dry. There are patches of flake around my nose, and little wrinkles are beginning to form at the sides of my eyes. The trouble has not improved over the summer and the summer sun. Please advise.

The Answer: The early thirties is indeed a bit early for dry skin to become a real problem. If your health is normal, however, the condition can be controlled by proper skin care and diet. The trouble is most likely caused by a care and diet deficiency.

The place to begin a care program is with this treatment — cleanse face with creamy, deep-pore makeup remover; wipe off with water-dampened washcloth. Next compress comfortably hot water to face with small terry towel. Continue for several minutes and pat dry. Immediately slather on rich night cream or oil and let it remain for ten minutes. Then tissue off, apply cold water compresses, finish with pads of witch hazel or mild freashener.

Make a habit of wearing a foundation when out of doors. Whether or not you wear a foundation, apply a moisturizer to the skin before anything else. At bedtime a rich night cream is in order, the same one you use for treatments. And that brings us to diet. Be sure your daily intake includes extra amounts of vitamin A foods.

For just that much doing the skin comes to look as young as it is.

NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN For ways to keep post-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN. It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. To obtain your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Bike safety project set Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's Club will sponsor a bicycle safety project Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at O'Leary Junior High School.

Acting Chief of Police Roy Lindell said the program has been approved by the local police department. All children who will be riding bicycles to school or otherwise using them for transportation and recreation may bring them to the school for taping with reflector tape.

This will help motorists see the bicycles after dark. Mrs. Lawrence Harper is in charge of the BPW project.

Willia Davis named loser

TWIN FALLS — Willia Davis was best loser of the week with a 1 1/2-pound loss it was announced during the Nix-On-Pix TOPS Club meeting this week.

Nellie Horejs and Mary Powell were named biggest gainers and gainer of the week was Bonnie Fry.

Wanda Mort gave the consequences, noting all gainers are to make calorie sheets and keep them for a week.

It was announced all charter members of the Nix-On-Pix are asked to write Marie Whelan, Box 432, Filer, giving addresses needed for the birthday party.

Winners

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Ralph Riley, Jr. was top prize winner when the Merlettes Bridge Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. S. J. Piper.

Other prize winners were Mrs. Lyle Piper, Mrs. C. F. Chatfield and Mrs. Oela Porter, Shoshone, a club guest. Mrs. Bruce Sorensen was also a club visitor.

Miss Calder, Satterwhite say vows in local rites

TWIN FALLS — Carole Marie Calder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen G. Calder, Twin Falls, and Denzal R. Satterwhite, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Satterwhite, Rupert, were united in marriage Aug. 14 in rites at the First United Pentecostal Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. G. Wallace Vos performed the double ring ceremony before an arch decorated with greenery and flanked by large bouquets of white gladioli and yellow Fugli chrysanthemums, tied with yellow ribbon bows. Lighted candelabra completed the decorations.

The bride wore a Bridal Original gown of satin with Venise lace outlining the princess lines. A Victorian styling with a high neck band and long full sleeves with Venise lace trimmed wrist bands. The dress featured a removable wattleau chapel train.

A princess tulip crown of lace and tulle ruffles held her elbow-length veil with butterfly face veil of nylon illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white Fugli chrysanthemums, Elegance carnations entwined with ivy and yellow roses.

Matron of honor — Mrs. Keith Johns, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Cindy Vos, Karen Stallones and Yvonne Satterwhite, sister of the bridegroom.

Candlelighters were Shirley Satterwhite, sister of the bridegroom, and Cindy Orr.

Best man was Gary Visser and groomsmen were Gary Kantola, Darry Crossley and Mitchell Glover, all Bible College Classmates of the bridegroom.

Ushers at the door were William Willoughby, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Ricky Satterwhite, cousin of the bridegroom, and Alan Stallones.

Miniature bride and bridegroom were Jeanette Johns, niece of the bride, who scattered petals down the aisle from her bouquet, and Timmy Orr carrying the rings on a heart-shaped pillow fashioned by the bride's mother.

Rodney Calder, cousin of the bride, was organist. Soloists were John Calder, uncle of the bride; Ronald Calder, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Everett Messner.

Kathy Scott, Bible College roommate of the bride, attended the guest book. Carrying gifts were Beverly Messner, cousin of the bridegroom; Kathy Vos and Michelle Gard.

Mrs. Don Stansell, aunt of the bride, was in charge of the gift table, assisted by Donna Ghan, cousin of the bride; Barbara Messner, cousin of the bridegroom, and Angela Doramus.

Mrs. Wallace Vos was in charge of the reception, assisted by Mrs. Newell Stallones, Mrs. Lowell Gard, Mrs. Dale Orr and Mrs. Ivan Johns. Mrs. Gene Messner, cousin of the bridegroom, served punch and Mrs. Ronald Calder presided at the silver-coffee service.

The reception table, setting under a canopy of yellow and white, was centered with the wedding cake made to resemble a church, complete with a cross on top of the bell tower featuring a real bell. The miniature bride and bridegroom emerged from the front door to join the bridal party standing on the stairs.

The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. William Willoughby, sister of the bridegroom. She also served the cake.

Special guests attended from Washington, Oregon, California and from throughout Idaho.

The bride was honored with a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Keith Johns, sister of the bride, and Cindy Vos.

After a honeymoon trip to the Oregon coast, the couple will reside in Portland, Ore., where the bridegroom will complete his studies at Conquerors Bible College.

Rush party set by BSP

TWIN FALLS — The annual rush party was planned by members of Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi when they met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Steve Swope.

A Mexican theme will be used for the party set for Sept. 22 at the home of Mrs. David M. Ward.

The cultural was given on parliamentary procedure by Marsha Gletzen, president. New yearbooks were distributed and it was decided names for new rushes must be in by the next meeting, Sept. 8, at the home of Mrs. Tom Moschetti.

Mrs. Gary Motzner was a guest.

Dominican situation little changed

UPI Foreign News Analyst
The years have gone by and since 1965 the Dominican Republic has known relative peace but the script still reads the same and even the leading roles are played pretty much by the same cast of characters.
There are even those who profess to see in today's events a resemblance to the situation which preceded the 1965 uprising in which some 3,000 persons died and which ended only after massive intervention by the United States.

Two obscure news items illustrate the point.
One reported the finding of the bodies of two unidentified youths on the sports field of a Santo Domingo high school. Both had been beaten. They were the 26th and 27th persons to have suffered similar fates in recent weeks.

The other item reported a Chamber of Deputies rejection by a vote of 44 to 14 of charges brought against the government of former President Juan Bosch. Bosch, president from 1962 to 1963, had denounced what he called a "wave of official crimes and physical and moral outrages."

A leader of the non-communist left, Bosch has played a leading, if ineffectual role, in Dominican politics since before the assassination in 1961 of the dictator Rafael L. Trujillo. Elected president in 1962 in the country's first free election in 38 years, Bosch was ousted less than a year later by a rightwing military coup.

Another leading character is President Joaquin Balaguer, a one-time Trujillo follower now serving his second term as elected president.
His opponents accuse him of taking several leaves from Trujillo's book to preserve the country's stability, including political assassination.

Route set
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School Supt. George Staudaer said today that Bus No. 15 will return to its usual route down Falls Avenue when classes open next Monday.
The bus had detoured around the construction zone along Falls Avenue last spring, but will run the usual route this fall, Staudaer said. Times will remain as before.

Range burns.
BLISS — Two range fires started along the highway near Bliss, Wednesday, burning 220 acres of rangeland, according to Bureau of Land Management officials at Shoshone. The fires were apparently man-caused, officials said.

Objections stall trial

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—The My Lai court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina bogged down Thursday when the prosecution offered as evidence depositions taken from two Vietnamese interpreters and defense attorney F. Lee Bailey demanded that the government produce the two witnesses in court.

Medina, 34, of Montrose, Colo., is charged with the murder of 102 civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Bailey said Medina's military defense lawyer, Capt. Mark Kadish, made a "whole bunch of calls" to both the White House and State Department "in an effort to try to get those people over here personally."

The White House response, Bailey said, "was that a response would be forthcoming."

Bailey said the two witnesses, Sgt. Duong Minh and Sgt. Nguyen Dinh Phu, were willing to come to America to testify, but the South Vietnamese government "won't let them come."

Bailey charged that the U.S. government had failed to make adequate efforts to get the men to come to the United States to testify.

Bailey said with all the economic and military aid the U.S. has given to South Vietnam, "if the government wanted them to come, they would be here. It's a joke. They either don't give a damn or don't want these people here."

"They have given no reason why they can't come. They haven't even said it would be inconvenient. If the President of the United States wants Captain Medina to get a fair trial, which means the presence of these witnesses, then he can arrange it."

Stronger Russ tie endorsed

The United Press International, the editor of Cairo's authoritative Al Ahran newspaper called on Egypt, Libya and Syria today to improve relations with the Soviet Union. Otherwise, he said, the Arab conflict with Israel will find itself in a tight spot.

"Arab capability will always remain limited without the weapons we have secured and will get from the Soviet Union," wrote Al Ahran Editor Mohammed Hassanain Hekal. The Soviets have supplied Egypt with arms since 1955 and rebuilt its military machine after the Arab defeat in the 1967 Middle East War.

"He said the fence mending with Moscow was a major task facing Syria and Libya as well as Egypt since the three nations are to unite loosely in the Federation of Arab Republics Sept. 1."

"Unless relations are normalized, the Arab struggle will find itself in a tight spot regardless of whether or not future developments will move toward a settlement or war (with Israel)," said Hekal, a candidate for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Senate bid considered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Congressman George V. Hansen, R-Idaho, says he is interested in returning to Idaho to run for the United States Senate next year.

Hansen, 40, who gave up his House seat in 1968 to run unsuccessfully against Democrat Frank Church for the Senate, now is deputy administrator of state and county operations for the U.S. Agriculture Department's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Sen. Len B. Jordan's decision to retire at the end of this term has renewed Hansen's interest in seeking a seat in the Senate.

He said that shortly after Jordan made his announcement Tuesday a number of persons contacted him, urging he run for the GOP nomination.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the President would stop at Wright-Patterson Air Force base near Dayton, Ohio in late afternoon to participate in ceremonies dedicating a new Air Force flight museum.

Then he will fly on to Chicago to address a convention of the American Milk Producers Association at Convention Hall before returning to Washington Thursday.

PEACE CORPS worker Marsha Lynn Ragno, 23, Winthrop Harbor, Ill., was found slashed to death in remote part of Liberia, officials announced Thursday. Her death was termed first murder in 10 year history of corps. Miss Ragno had been in Liberia since December, 1970. She was found dead in agricultural extension station about 210 miles east of Liberian capital, Monrovia. (UPI)

Kennedy asks job as guide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy repeated Thursday that he will not run for President next year, but he said he hoped to influence the direction the Democratic Party takes.

"I would hope to have an impact on the party's direction on foreign and domestic policy," Kennedy told a questioner at the National Press Club. "I think there is a role to play and I hope to be active."

Kennedy laughingly brushed off questions about his possible candidacy. He skipped over several questions without giving an answer and then in reply to them all said:

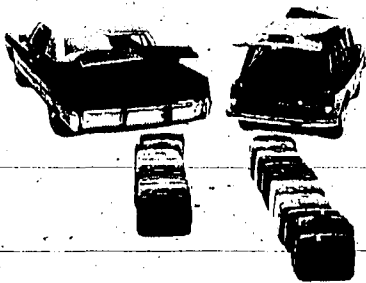

"My position is unchanged." Later Kennedy said, "I don't have any intention of endorsing anyone before the convention."

Woman dies in crash

MARSING (UPI)—Idaho's 1971 traffic toll rose to 192 Thursday with the death of Mary F. Haumann, 64, Caldwell, in a two-vehicle collision 2 1/2 miles north of Marsing.

Officers say the woman stopped at a stop sign, but then pulled out on State Highway 55 and into the path of a truck driven by Marlin L. Gaines, 26, Caldwell.

On the same date a year ago, 213 persons had died on Idaho's roads.

Things are seldom what they seem.

Big cars often pass as big cars, when they're really small cars.

For instance, notice how much bigger the big car seems than the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan. Then count the number of suitcases it can take on only 12.

Now, notice how small the Squareback seems to be. Then count the number of suitcases it can take on only 16.

That's because the Squareback has 32.8 cubic feet of carrying space. Which is one and a half times as much as that of the largest sedan trunk.

Of course, if you really have a lot to carry you can always fold down the Squareback's rear seat. Then you'll have more than twice as much carrying space as the largest sedan trunk.

So which would you rather have—a sedan that looks like a big bully but really is a 12-suitcase-wheeler?

Or a little fella who's really a 16-suitcase giant? You're Motor Company 351 Main Avenue East Twin Falls, Idaho

Farmer loses to middleman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Another jump in the middleman's share of the consumer's food dollar accounted for most of the 0.9 per cent increase in retail food prices in July, an Agriculture Department report said today.

The report, a monthly review of farm-to-market price spreads by department economists, said the retail cost of a typical "market basket" selection of farm foods rose 0.9 per cent from June to July.

There was a 0.7 per cent increase in the farm value of the foods, but most of the jump felt by consumers was due to a 1.1 per cent increase in the farm-to-retail spread, the report said.

The spread is the gap between what farmers get and the price the consumer pays. It averaged 5.8 per cent wider in July than a year earlier, while farm returns on the market basket were 2.9 per cent below a year earlier for eggs, fruits and some vegetables. Beef declined from June but remained 4 per cent above a year earlier. Retail pork prices increased but were 11 per cent below a year earlier.

Farm-to-retail spreads in July widened for frying chickens and fresh fruits and vegetables, the report said, but increases in July were biggest for eggs, fruits and some vegetables. Beef declined from June but remained 4 per cent above a year earlier. Retail pork prices increased but were 11 per cent below a year earlier.

The farmers' share of the consumer food dollar in July remained at the June level, 38 cents. His was 2 cents below the level of July, 1970.

SHOSHONE—Magic Reservoir contains 145,500 acre feet of water, compared to 129,100 acre feet a year ago on this date.

Some water users who have drawn 150 per cent delivery almost straight through the water season are running low on their regular allotment, Leon Grieco, manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., said today.

The ditch-riders will have the "swindle" shoot in within a few days and anyone concerned about running out of water may call them.

Grieco said chances are that company directors will allot extra water before the end of September. This has been the procedure on good water years.

American Falls Reservoir is holding up well with 300,000 more acre feet this year than a year ago at this time.

The prankster who turned a lateral full has been at work two more nights, Grieco said. The water has either been turned on or off and he warns that "farmers have enough of a gamble with ordinary weather; diseases, insects, and other difficulties without the added troubles caused by a mentally deficient joker."

Two farms in the Hunt area were flooded severely last week as was a road there when the lateral was opened full one night last week. People of the area are working to apprehend the person or persons doing the "trick."

Farmers to gain in shift

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "The American farmer stands to gain from the shift in the administration's economic policies," John W. Scott, master of the National Grange, said in Washington today.

"Farmers have been victims of inflation, not a contributing factor," he said, "and exempting agricultural products, in their raw and natural state, from the price freeze is economically justified."

"Due to inflation, production costs have constantly stayed three to four percentage points ahead of farm price increases, resulting in lower net farm income," Scott said. "The President's program, if given an opportunity to work, will halt inflation and farmers can look ahead to brighter days."

In a letter to President Nixon, Scott expressed the appreciation of the national farm organizations for the "bold display of national leadership."

The total package of economic proposals must be considered in determining the benefits to agriculture, Scott said. "The decisions other than the wage-price freeze should act as a catalyst in further improving the exportation of U.S. farm commodities. However, the West coast dock strike and threats of strikes at other ports negate the total effect of such actions," he said.

Excellent stand

A NEARLY PERFECT 16 acres of field corn grown by Hayden Bowlin, Hazelton, took only about 25 days to grow from knee-high to its full height of nearly 11 feet. The stand of corn is unusually uniform throughout the whole field with no "holes" or low and high spots. Bowlin said he put 80 truckloads of manure on the land before he planted the corn.

Harvest begins

FIRST POTATOES of the season are being hauled to the Idaho Frozen Foods warehouse, Twin Falls, by Black and Comers, Castleford, from a field located east of Wendell. Fred Folk, operator of one of the harvesters, said the 80-acre field is yielding about 400 sacks per acre with 74 per cent No. 1's. This is the first potato field to be opened this season in Magic Valley, according to John Wert, president of the Wendell Chamber of Commerce, who said there are about 5,000 more acres to be harvested this season.

Temperatures of Western soil planned

BOISE — Four-inch soil temperatures will be tallied weekly by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), which operates the revamped U.S. Weather Service, as a service to Idaho growers, according to the Idaho office of the NOAA.

The weekly crop weather bulletin will carry the soil temperatures.

Soil temperatures are important to potato growers, particularly during harvest, as potatoes bruise much easier at cooler temperatures, particularly below 45 degrees. Growers may adjust their harvesting procedures and hour to take advantage of more favorable temperatures, if they are aware of the relationship, the NOAA said.

Soil temperatures lag behind air temperatures by two to three hours. Usually, for each 10-degree change in temperature, bruise resistance changes by 10 per cent. The best 12-hour period for harvesting, from the standpoint of preventing bruises, is from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Harvesting during this period of time could reduce bruising by up to 35 per cent over the more familiar schedule of 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Idaho research has shown that bruising increases as much as 50 per cent at temperatures of 40 degrees when compared to 45 degrees, and doubles when the temperature is lowered to 35 degrees.

According to the Weather Service at Kimberly, nine-year four-inch soil-temperature averages for late summer and early fall include:

Week ending Aug. 13: 81-60; Aug. 20: 80-65; Aug. 27: 79-64; Sept. 3: 77-63; Sept. 10: 76-61; Sept. 17: 72-59; Sept. 24: 69-56; Oct. 1: 65-54; Oct. 8: 62-52; Oct. 15: 59-49; Oct. 22: 56-46; Oct. 29: 52-43.

Gem fair opening

BOISE — The Western Idaho Fair will begin Aug. 31 at the new fair grounds west of Boise. The 1971 Western Idaho Fair will feature as free entertainment, a variety stage show "Fun-tastics of 1971" produced by Bardine Productions of Portland, Ore. On Sept. 3, 4, and 5, an outstanding display of fireworks will be presented by the Rosmark Professional Fireworks Co. of Bozeman, Mont.

The Ray Cammack Shows and Carnival are scheduled for the full week of the fair. A special feature will be circus acts on the carnival-midway. The final day, Sept. 6, will be senior citizens day.

Sweden is the largest and most populous of the Scandinavian countries.

Halt asked

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — A member of the Idaho Water Resource Board wants construction of the Lower Teton Project halted immediately on grounds it cannot be justified economically.

Scott Reed, Coeur d'Alene, wrote Chairman Russell Train of the Council on Environmental Quality, asking that the project be stopped.

The Panama Canal was opened Aug. 16, 1914.

Mackay rodeo slated

MACKAY — The Eastern Idaho Rodeo Association has approved the big two-day rodeo at the Darlington Arena Saturday and Sunday afternoons, Aug. 28 and 29, which features a Bullarama.

All bull riders are accepted to compete for the prize money plus the $35 entry fee. The grand entry is set for 1:30 p.m. sharp each day.

At this time there are about 90 bullriders who have indicated they will be here for the event.

Besides the bull riding there will be saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, wild horse race girls' barrel racing, goat tying, calf roping and team roping.

The entry fees have been set at $35 for bull riding, other events are $30 except barrel racing and goat tying which are $15.

The books open at 8:00 a.m. Aug. 24 and close at 6:00 p.m. Aug. 24, the phone number of the secretary is 588-3301.

Farmer candidates guests of C. of C.

RUPERT — Farmers who are competing for the title "The Farmer of the Year" for Minidoka County were luncheon guests of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce Thursday at Elks dining hall.

William Strasser, chamber president, introduced the seven farmer candidates, Pete Wakewood, Steve Dalloilo, Joe Studer, Jake Koraus, Bernard Scott, John Ottman and Richard Blinn.

The tour of each of the candidates' farms was held today. The farmers will be judged on crops raised, methods used to grow the various crops and an overall use of their various plots to get the most out of the soil for the minimum costs and the presentation of the soil for future use.

The winner of "The Farmer of the Year" and the "Grassman of the Year" will be honored at a banquet in November.

Dr. Fred Bullard, University of Texas, a noted volcanologist, was guest speaker during the chamber luncheon.

While no volcanoes have attracted Dr. Bullard to the Snake River area, the great rift of the Snake River plain has been studied by him the past three years with his headquarters at the Craters of the Moon, near Arco.

He has studied volcanoes all over the world both active and inactive and is still very interested in this research.

Dr. Bullard reported the lava flows of the Snake River plain consist of two flows one overlapping the other. The old flows were much bigger and covered more space. Age of this flow is not determined yet, but it is a long time ago, he added.

Comparatively speaking, the later flows such as the Craters of the Moon are new, he stated.

From tests on the Craters of the Moon flow made by Dr. Bullard, "It was some 21 hundred years ago when the flow occurred, give or take some 80 years to compensate for human error," he said.

He arrives at this conclusion by carbonized material which was found where the late flow had covered over the old flow including vegetation such as plant life and trees.

"When the lava flow hits the plant life it covers it and forms a carbon material which is charcoal."

They have tunneled under the late flow and collected considerable charcoal which changes into a nitrogen compound as time goes on and by studying this process a time can be determined, according to Dr. Bullard.

"The cinder mounds of various sizes in and around the Craters of the Moon are cinder ash which has blown out and built up around volcano eruptions," Dr. Bullard stated.

"The Great Rift is not one fissure but a series of cracks leading from the vicinity of the Craters of the Moon in a southerly direction to Snake River. It is clearly visible from the air," he reported.

"A number of places were checked on the ground and this fissure or crack varies in depth, and some places have been found to be 800 feet deep," stated Dr. Bullard.

"The surface is barely scratched and as more scientific research is made many secrets of the past will be uncovered," said Dr. Bullard.

After Dr. Bullard's talk one Chamber member stated, "he could look on those immense lava flows and see them under a different perspective and not just a pile of rocks."

Enrollment in Cassia down

BURLEY — Students in Cassia County have returned to school throughout the district with a total of 4,223 registered in the county for the first day of school.

On the last day of school in May there were 4,508 registered in the district. Attendance is always down the first few days of school, according to Harold Blauser, superintendent.

At the Burley High School there were 759 students attending the first day of school. This includes seniors, junior and sophomores. The first day of school recorded 751 students at the Burley Junior High School.

Declo High School had 207 attending for the first day; Oakley High School had 188 and Raft River High School reported 113 students.

Elementary schools in the district attendance for the first day was Dwarlak, 555; Miller, 374; Overland, 172; Southwest, 315; Almo, 29; Albion, 54; Declo 186; Malta, 210; Oakley, 181; Springdale, 153; and Opportunity, 0.

Football practice started several days prior to opening day of classes at all four of the high schools in the district.

Revival services slated at Rupert

RUPERT — Rev. Lonnie Rolan, of the Free Will Memorial Baptist Church, Fresno, Calif., will conduct revival services Sunday through Sept. 5 at 8 p.m. nightly, at the Rupert Free Will Baptist Church, 128 East 6th St. The public is invited.

The Sunday morning service also will be conducted by Rev. Rolan. A youth rally is planned for 8 p.m. Sept. 4 at the church.

"All area residents are invited to attend the evangelistic services and residents need not be members of the Baptist Church to attend.

Members of the church expressed special thanks to Trevino Equipment Co., Rupert for leveling and tilling the ground at the church and the parsonage in preparation for planting lawn.

Sunday school classes for all ages are held at 10 a.m. each Sunday and church services are conducted at 11 a.m. each Sunday at the church. Visitors are welcome.

Son describes work in Peru

RICHFIELD — Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jensen, Richfield, report that their son, Jack Jensen, has been moved to Cuzco, Peru, where he is serving an LDS Mission there where it is now winter and very gloomy, cloudy, and misty. He says the sun shines on an average of one hour each week, usually on Sunday.

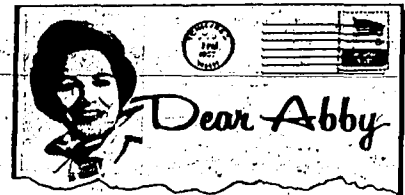

The contrast in customs of the country with ours was most evident to the missionary recently in Ica, a city of 60,000. A young boy had died and the father made the pine casket himself. In the funeral procession the father carried the casket on his shoulder to the cemetery with flag-fiber members of the family walking with him. The street were lined with spectators.

Jack Jensen is a 1969 graduate of Richfield High School and attended Hicks College for one year. His six-week course in Spanish at BYU was equivalent to a year's study in the language. He writes he manages very well when people talk slowly, but has difficulty when Peruvians talk at a fast pace. He has been in Peru since January.

Helps children

FATHER LUKE TUPPER, a Franciscan priest who works with the needy in the state of Para, Brazil, returns next week, but not empty handed. He has 10,000 toothbrushes and dental floss to fight cavities for Brazilian children. Father Tupper, who is a graduate physician and also works at dentistry, has also obtained an option to buy a ferryboat in California which he hopes to convert into a hospital ship to go up and down the Amazon River where the medical needs of the people can be administered along a 500-mile stretch. (UPI)

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: There is a widow in our neighborhood who always makes a big fuss over the men, but she doesn't bother to speak to their wives. She cries on the men's shoulders and gets them to do her gardening and household repairs for her. The man across the street keeps her yard looking better than his own.

My husband is one of those she's been crying on lately and it's just eating me up. Last Sunday I looked for my man for two hours and I finally found him in her house laying her lineaments!

I told my husband this woman was hurting my feelings, but he says he is just being neighborly.

Give you any advice for the other wives and me in this neighborhood who are in the same boat? This home wrecker is no spring chicken (she's 55 if she's a day), but she has red hair and never wears a grille. Thank you. JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: The problem is not your neighbor—it's your husbands. If they are being more than neighborly, let them know you are jealous and refuse to put up with any nonsense.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister is a twice-married, twice-divorced grandmother of two has been living with a man for several years, and plans to marry him as soon as his divorce comes thru.

Recently this prospective bride asked my husband if he would give her away when she gets married again. And to top it off, she would like him to finance the nuptials.

Abby, at first I thought she was kidding, but my husband assures me she is dead serious, and he asked me to write to you and find out if this is something he is obligated to do since their father is dead.

For years, this nutty sister has used my husband to get her out of the crazy messes she got herself into, and now this ridiculous request.

Does he have to give her away, Abby? I hope you say he doesn't. SIS

DEAR ABBY: A gracious hostess must serve refreshments, right? But why must a chairman of a committee meeting serve each guest a rich dessert, loaded with calories?

You have no choice but to accept it, and ooh and aah, and eat it. And then regret having come to the meeting. To make up an excuse about doctor's orders is phony.

Why can't a hostess serve something such as small assorted cookies? Then her dieting guests can take one without being conspicuous. I just hate to go to meetings because it ruins my diet. Any comment?

DEAR ABBY: A quick note to the newly married gal whose husband protests because she rubs mayonnaise in her hair before she goes to bed. This is great for the hair, so don't quit doing it. Only don't do it at night, do it during the daytime while your husband is away. And rub some mayonnaise on your face, too. It's marvelous for the complexion. Give yourself plenty of time to shampoo and set your hair and have it combed and lovely when hubby gets home. You will get compliments galore. Enjoy them while you can because in a few years you can wear a death mask to bed and he won't even notice it.

DEAR ABBY: The truly gracious hostess considers all her guests. And since so many people are calorie conscious these days, a low cal alternate should be offered, too. If you have no choice, either decline the dessert, or take a token taste of whatever is served—and leave the rest. And don't apologize.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Special day set Sept. 5

MINNEAPOLIS — In a second thrust at raising $1,500,000 for "Project Neighbor," a social concerns endeavor, congregations of the American Lutheran Church throughout the country have been asked to designate Sept. 5 as "Good Samaritan Sunday."

Responding to a 1970 convention directive that the Project Neighbor campaign be "sprung on to a successful conclusion," George A. Parks, Los Angeles, national chairman, has addressed a letter to the 422 congregations of the church suggesting additional cash gifts.

Funds raised by the special drive are used to augment a $500,000 annual appropriation by the ALC, originated in 1965, to alleviate national crisis conditions in community originated projects. Although the 1970 goal was $1,500,000, receipts have totaled less than half that amount—$603,232.

Stake confab slated

MALTA — Elder Milton R Hunter, a member of the First Council of Seventy of The LDS Church, will speak at the Cassia East Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday in Malta.

Elder Hunter is a widely-known author and former educator and has held his present church leadership post since 1945. He is the author of 22 books on history, religion and archeology and is an ardent student and explorer of ancient American archeology. He has taken many trips to South and Central America gathering information to support the Book of Mormon.

The conference session will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. in the stake center. Stake President Joseph A. Gillett, Declo, says visitors are welcome.

Pay queries answered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Coast of Living Council Wednesday issued a new definition of what "wages and salaries" are covered by the 90-day wage-price freeze that is so broad that even expense accounts are covered.

In the sixth set of questions and answers issued by the policy-making board about the freeze, the council said no "form of remuneration or inducement to employees by their employers" may be increased during the freeze, including any fringe benefits or the benefits of a shorter work week.

Among the forms of remuneration which are frozen, it said, are vacation and holiday pay, bonuses, layoff and supplemental unemployment insurance benefits; premiums for night shift or overtime work or other premiums, employer contributions to insurance, savings or welfare payments or to pension or annuity funds, payments in kind, job perquisites, cost-of-living allowance, expense accounts, commission, discounts, stock options, payments for deferred compensation or any changes which result in more pay per hour worked.

On other matters, the council also ruled:

Colleges and universities may raise room- and board- rates during the freeze if they had received a "substantial volume"—defined as 10 per cent—of deposits on higher rates which were announced before the freeze started Aug. 15.

The wages are frozen for Americans who work abroad for U.S. firms which are subject to the freeze.

Taxol agents may raise prices on foreign tours during the freeze, but only to reflect increases in foreign prices.

Landlords may not evict tenants who refuse to pay higher rents.

Employers may not cut their work week or increase any fringe benefit in lieu of a wage increase during the freeze.

Here is the text of the council's latest statement dealing with these and other matters:

General

Q: Are state payments to people disabled in job-related accidents under workmen's compensation laws subject to the freeze?

A: No. These are not prices, wages or rents.

Q: How is a broker to determine his freeze price when he buys from many different mills at several prices and sells to different customers?

A: The broker essentially provides a service, since he legally never takes title to the product. Therefore, he should freeze his fee for the service. If his fee is determined on the basis of a percentage of the value of the product shipment, this percentage is frozen at the same level as during the month prior to Aug. 15, 1971.

Q: How is income from family-owned businesses affected by the freeze?

A: Profits from family-owned businesses are not subject to the freeze. However, the amount of income to family members active in the management of the business, if paid as a salary under an agreed formula during the base period, is frozen at the formula rate. It is important to point out that ceilings have been established for prices and wages and the president has asked that dividends be voluntarily frozen.

Q: What is the definition of "wages and salaries"?

A: As used in the executive order, the term "wages and salaries" includes all forms of remuneration or inducement to employees by their employers, including but not limited to: vacation and holiday payments; bonuses; layoff and supplemental unemployment insurance benefits; night shift, overtime, and other premiums; employer contributions to insurance, savings, or other welfare benefits; employer contributions to pension or annuity funds; payments in kind, job perquisites, cost-of-living allowances, expense accounts, commissions, discounts, stock options, payments for deferred compensation, and all other "fringe" benefits. In addition, there may be no changes in working conditions which result in more pay per hour worked (for example, a schedule which shortens the workweek without a proportionate decrease in pay).

Q: Can an employer reduce the official work day from eight hours to seven hours, and pay overtime beginning after the seven hours?

A: No. Wages and salaries include all forms of compensation including overtime. In direct means to increase compensation above ceiling rates are not permitted.

Q: Can an employer increase the number of days allowed off for purposes such as funerals, etc.

A: No. This constitutes an increase in fringe benefits.

Q: Are Americans working abroad for companies which are incorporated in the United States subject to the freeze?

A: Yes.

Q: Are college and school room and board rates exempt from the freeze?

A: No. School and college room and board payments are handled just like tuition. If there were a substantial transaction during the base period (confirmed by deposits), the increase may be charged. If there was not a substantial volume, the increase is not allowed.

Q: Can travel agents raise prices on tours abroad?

A: The travel agent can raise prices on tours to the extent that the costs of foreign services offered in the tour package are increased, i.e., foreign hotel rates, restaurant meals, transportation costs, etc. He cannot, however, raise prices on that part of the tour, package relating to services in the United States nor can he raise his markup for overhead and profit above that prevailing during the base period. His records must clearly establish that each increase meets this test, and if he cannot so demonstrate, this exemption will not apply to his increase.

Q: If quantity discounts are offered, can customers who purchase large volumes eligible for the discount be charged the applicable higher price if it reduces the amount of its purchases and thus falls into a lower quantity (higher price) bracket? In other words, may prices be charged so long as the rate structure on which they are based is not changed?

A: Yes. During the 90 day freeze, customers may be charged in accordance with rate or price schedules established in the base period prior to Aug. 15, 1971, but may not increase charges applicable to various categories of rates or prices set out in effective schedules.

Rents

Q: Would a landlord be in violation of the freeze if he attempted to evict a tenant for refusal to pay rent in excess of the ceiling rent applicable to his rental apartment or house?

A: Yes. Section 10(A) of OEP economic-stabilization regulation No. 1 prohibits any practice which constitutes a means to obtain a higher rent than that permitted under the freeze. Therefore, such an eviction would constitute a violation of the freeze.

Imports

Q: Many businesses have a serious inventory problem due to the import surcharge. How can such businesses pass on the surcharge when they have thousands of different items in inventory, with many new shipments arriving daily, and they can pass on the surcharge on some items and not on others.

A: Where possible, surcharge and non-surcharge items should be stored separately. Where this cannot be done, the wholesaler may elect to charge the base period ceiling price for each item that was in effect prior to Aug. 15, 1971, until a quantity has been sold for each item equal to the quantity on hand prior to the arrival of items with a surcharge added. He may then charge at the old rate plus the exact surcharge.

Student talks to women

HANSEN—Rick Nelson, a high school student, read "Diary of a High School Student or How to Succeed in High School Without Losing Your Cool" as the program at the Kimberly Women's Society of Christian Service meeting at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

He discussed the ideas brought out in the diary and conducted a question session. He was introduced by Mrs. Ron Ballard who presented devotions.

The district WSCS meeting was announced for Sept. 11 at Rupert. Reservations are to be made by Sept. 1. Mrs. Ralph Simmons and Mrs. Bryan Harris were hostesses.

City shop hand hurt

TWIN FALLS — An employee at the Twin Falls city shops, Chester Berkey, apparently sustained minor injuries when he fell while at work Wednesday afternoon, according to a report from city police.

Berkey was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance, and admitted overnight for examination. He was released Thursday morning.

He apparently slipped and fell to the floor, injuring his back, follow employees said.

States subject to the freeze? A: Yes.

Prices

Q: Are college and school room and board rates exempt from the freeze?

A: No. School and college room and board payments are handled just like tuition. If there were a substantial transaction during the base period (confirmed by deposits), the increase may be charged. If there was not a substantial volume, the increase is not allowed.

Q: Can travel agents raise prices on tours abroad?

A: The travel agent can raise prices on tours to the extent that the costs of foreign services offered in the tour package are increased, i.e., foreign hotel rates, restaurant meals, transportation costs, etc. He cannot, however, raise prices on that part of the tour, package relating to services in the United States nor can he raise his markup for overhead and profit above that prevailing during the base period. Picnic set

TWIN FALLS — Freewill Baptist church will hold a picnic at 3 p.m. Saturday for high school and junior high youths at Harmon park, according to Rev. Bill Schilleroff, pastor.

Games will be played in the afternoon and the youth will have pizza at the parsonage in the evening.

This is critical fire weather. If you are driving, pull your ashtray out and use it. Throwing burning material from a car is not only against the laws of Idaho, it's against the laws of common sense. Use your head when fire weather threatens.

South worked all this out before playing to the first trick. Then he carefully overtook dummy's eight of trumps with his 10. He had seen that it was essential to start his cross ruff with a diamond.

The next seven plays were a diamond ruff; the ace of clubs; a club ruff with the four of trumps (South could not afford to ruff high); two more diamond ruffs and two more club ruffs.

This left South with two high trumps, two diamonds and a spade. Dummy held the good queen of clubs and the four spades that were there at the start. South's two trumps pulled West's; the ace of spades was an entry to dummy and the queen of clubs was the 12th trick.

Nixon's thoughts interest

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai "is particularly interested in the psychology" of President Nixon when he visits Peking before next May, American Journalist James Reston said today.

He also said China's primary concern is a possible invasion by the Soviet Union and that defense measures are being undertaken in the capital of Peking and other major cities.

"It was emphasized to me many times that the Soviet union had a million men on their (common) borders," Reston told a news conference after a seven-week visit to China during which he interviewed Chou and other leaders. He is vice president and a columnist of The New York Times.

"We (the United States) do not have a direct threat of that kind," he said. "They took it (a possible Soviet invasion) seriously enough to take defense measures in Peking and other major cities."

Reston said Chinese leaders also told him that a common defense treaty with Japan was possible if Japan gives up "ambitions on Taiwan (Nationalist China) and Korea."

Boise's climate said best in U.S.

BOISE (UPI)—Would you believe Boise has the most ideal climate in the United States? A weather forecaster at Portland, Maine, does.

According to a report by Columnist Bruce Roberts in the Portland Press Herald, forecaster Augusto Sardinha and a climatologist in Connecticut set out to find a community where the climate is ideal around the span of the four seasons.

Their research, he said, led them to Boise.

Sardinha said that "most people live for the summertime."

"I looked for a place with lots of sun, no rain and low humidity," he said. "That turned ed-out to be Boise."

"He said Boise's normal high for July is 90 degrees yet, he said, "nights are cool for sleeping." He said the normal high for January in Boise is 35 degrees or "just right for a crisp winter's day."

"The city gets an average of 21 inches of snow a year—and if you want more, Sun Valley is not too far away."

"So if you like that heat, but not the humidity; if you like the snow, but not too much, then Boise fills the bill," Sardinha said.

And he added: "I'd love to go out there some day."

Sheds, pen destroyed

MURTAUGH — Several hog sheds, sheep pens and a storage shed were destroyed by fire Tuesday on the Glen Briggs ranch, one mile south and two miles east of Murtaugh, fire officials said.

The blaze began when fire from a burning ditchbank got out of control about 1 p.m. The Murtaugh Fire Department was assisted by the Kimberly Fire department at the scene.

No estimate was available on the damage.

Objector resigns Army rank

PLANTATION CAMP, Vietnam (UPI)—Maj. Joseph A. (Bert) Westbrook, who won three Silver Stars as a combat commander in Vietnam, said Thursday the Army has decided to accept his resignation as a conscientious objector after two earlier rejections.

The West Point graduate from Atlanta, Ga. said his experiences leading infantry troops into battle against the North Vietnamese during his previous tour of duty here made him change his mind about the war.

The 30-year-old Westbrook, in an interview, said he twice tried to resign because of his beliefs, but was turned down on the basis of technicalities both times: His resignation was finally accepted, however, about 10 days ago after he refused two assignments he said would have helped the war effort.

Westbrook said he is now under orders to return to the United States to be released from service.

"I tried to resign because I wasn't thinking then in terms of causes, or trying to undermine the Army," Westbrook said.

"The military is really embattled these days, and it didn't need me against it as well. I just wasn't going to participate in it any more."

Westbrook commanded a company of 101st Airborne Division paratroopers from August 1967 to August 1968. He fought through some of the toughest battles of the war, including the recapture of Hue, after the 1968 Tet offensive, and the A Shau Valley campaign that followed the siege of Khe Sanh.

"He won his first Silver Star when he led his men up a hill near the A Shau Valley after two other 101st companies tried and were driven back by entrenched North Vietnamese troops. The other awards came for valor in rescuing wounded men under intense enemy fire.

Westbrook said he came to Vietnam already convinced that the war was a mistake, and his experience here, and in the United States afterward, convinced him that not only Indochina, but all wars, were immoral.

"I made it a point never to look at the people I killed," Westbrook said. "But one day I decided to do it, and I was devastated. We had set up an ambush with claymore mines, and they killed a lieutenant and two of his men.

"I took his wallet and saw the pictures of his wife and baby."

IN THE GALA ROOM BUD BREWER and THE BREWMASTERS

AT THE GALA BAR Sally & Her Guitar

"When you're out of Bud Brewer you're out of country music." This phrase is winning many believers these days and the list grows after every personal appearance by "Bud" Brewer and his band the Brewmasters.

Reinforcing the above fact is the response being garnered by Bud's first and current RCA release, "Tell Me Not To," which immediately upon release was chosen as the pick hit at nearly 40 country music stations across the country. The song was written by Merle Kilgore whose songs include the near classic Johnny Cash hit "Ring of Fire." It is also the first copyright in Kilgore's own Red Couch Publishing Company to be recorded. Merle told Bud that he was unaware that the song had been recorded until he heard Bud's record on the radio while returning from an engagement in Las Vegas. It was, Merle said, one of the biggest and most pleasant surprises of his life.
