Huge blaze razes full Rupert block

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Writer
RUPERT — A raging fire, buffeted by winds of 25 miles per hour, roared through the Rupert industrial area Monday night, destroying one square block of buildings and causing damage in excess of $1 million. There were no personal injuries reported.

The fire broke out shortly after 8 p.m. in the Big "O" tires building on Highway 24, and quickly spread to nearby buildings. The Rupert fire department was called to the scene by a worker at the recapping plant.

A total of 13 fire trucks were needed to bring the fire under control, including companies from Minidoka and Cassia Counties, with help from the Idaho Youth Ranch.

Other buildings destroyed in the blaze were occupied by the Magic Valley Foods, Inc. and used as warehouses.

Firefighting efforts were hampered by the high winds in the area and by the crowd of people which had gathered to watch the spectacular flames shooting 200 feet into the air. Police were called to the scene to clear the area for the firemen.

Dan Howarth, owner of the Big "O" Company, said Monday night their entire plant was destroyed, including 15,000 new winter tread tires which had been stored for resale. In addition, all company records were lost in the blaze.

The Rupert plant served as company headquarters for the 13 Big "O" outlets across the state.

Roger Jones, an official of Magic Valley Foods, Inc. said damage to his plant was total, but that his men had attempted to salvage a quantity of the potato flakes being stored in the building. These efforts were blunted by the intermittent thunder showers which moved across the area.

Both firms reportedly carried partial insurance for the buildings.

Adjustors had been notified of the fire, both companies said, and were expected in a few days.

Firm owner Burger finds house ransacked

Dnn Howarth's Big "O" Tire Company burned to the ground Monday night in a fire in Rupert, and while the owner and his wife were at the scene, their house was ransacked.

The Howarth's were gone from their house from 8 p.m. when the fire was reported, until 2 a.m. when it was brought under control.

Upon their return, they found their rooms ransacked, with their drawers upset and several items stolen. Including among the things taken, Mrs. Howarth reported, was a transistor radio.

Police are investigating the robbery.

Burger won't block school plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger observed today that racial balance is not constitutionally required in public schools, but he refused nevertheless to block one local school plan dedicated to that objective.

The plan was proposed "under protest" by the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County Board of Education in North Carolina in the wake of a Supreme Court ruling earlier this year in a series of test cases which approved busing, school pairing and other means for eradicating state imposed dual school systems.

Burger agreed with a recent opinion in another case by Justice Hugo L. Black that the situation "is in an undesirable state of confusion." Burger said it was impossible "on the record now before me" to determine whether lower courts considering the Winston-Salem case correctly read the high court's instructions in test cases.

He referred particularly to "explicit language" as to a requirement of mixed-race, mathematical or racial quotas and the limits suggested as to transportation of students.

The local school board appealed to the high court an order of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court, sending an earlier board plan back to the district court following the Supreme Court's supposedly definitive opinions last April 23, mostly involving Charlotte, N.C., commonly known as the Swann case, for the name of one of the parties.

Court kills school tax

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — California's public school financing system, largely based on the local property tax, was ruled unconstitutional Monday by the State Supreme Court on grounds it "unfairly discriminates against the poor."

The court in a 6-1 opinion written by Justice Raymond L. Sullivan, said dependence on local property taxes was the "root of the constitutional defect" in educational financing.

The landmark decision resulted from a lawsuit filed by a group of Los Angeles County school children and their parents as a class action against both state and county officials.

The court said that as a "practical matter districts with small tax bases simply cannot levy taxes at a rate sufficient to produce the revenue that more affluent districts reap with minimal tax efforts."

Thus, the court said, "affluent districts can have their cake and eat it too. They can provide a high quality education for their children while paying lower taxes. Poor districts, by contrast, have no cake at all."

More than half of education funds are raised from property taxes; 35 per cent from state aid and the balance from federal and other sources. The amount a local school can spend depends largely on its property tax base. The court noted that tax bases vary widely throughout the state—ranging from a low of $103 a student to a high of $852,156—a ratio of nearly 1-to-10,000.

The court said the current financing system "makes the quality of a child's education a function of the wealth of his parents and neighbors."

The court said "such a system cannot withstand constitutional challenge and must fall before the equal protection clause."

No alimony pay freeze

School tax blow foreseen

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Superintendent of Schools George Staudaer told the Times-News today he believes the California Supreme Court decision making school funding from local property taxes unconstitutional, will eventually affect Idaho's schools.

He said it is possible that a similar court decision could come about in Idaho. Staudaer said if local property tax for school funding is ruled out in Idaho, state income tax and sales tax would have to be raised to support the schools. "The schools now receive about 45 per cent of their money from local taxes and the rest comes from state and federal funds. Staudaer said the federal money received by the district is from 13 different project funds and laws.

Staudaer said "We will have to sit back and see what happens."

He said he thinks it will eventually go to the Supreme Court for final ruling.

Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, doesn't think Idaho will be affected much by the decision.

He said Idaho is already on a system where state funds go to the districts according to the number of pupils.

Sen. Barker said that a new formula is being developed to increase state and county property taxes 12 mills to support public education. He said this money will be distributed on the basis of number of pupils in each district.

He added the state is trying to reduce the amount local schools can levy or would have to levy. Under the new plan, 75 per cent of education money would come from the state. He said the state would eventually assume 100 per cent of the funding of public schools.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest government rulings on details of the wage-price-rent freeze carried bad news for alimony-paying husbands, coal sellers and some importers.

The Cost of Living Council, which settles questions and disputes arising during the 90-day freeze period, has ruled that alimony and child support payments are not frozen and may be increased during the standstill. It said such expenses are considered transfer payments, not prices—and as such, are not frozen.

It told coal companies they may raise their prices to the same levels they charged during last winter's heating season, but said the rates could not be hiked to account for freight costs which have risen during the summer.

"And the council" said importers probably would be stuck for price increases caused by the deadline of the dollar's value in relation to other currencies. Thus if someone had been importing a television set for $125 and the cheaper dollar overseas caused the import price to rise, the importer would still have to charge his buyers $125. He can, however, pass on the new 10 per cent import tax.

Blaine fest test nears

BELLEUEVE — Advance planning for the Labor Day Weekend Wood River Rock Festival continued on several fronts Monday, but the real decision concerning whether the fest would go on as scheduled rested in the hands of Fifth District Court Judge Theron Ward.

Ward was scheduled to rule Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. on a request from festival backers for a writ of prohibition, an order which would deny Blaine County the right to ban the festival.

County officials had been granted a temporary restraining order against festival promoters. The order followed close on the heels of a hurriedly passed county ordinance setting strict regulations for mass gatherings. Promoter Jack Teater has charged that the ordinance is unconstitutional, and was passed merely to harass his plans for the festival.

In anticipation of the judge's ruling, however, state and local police, as well as the backers of the music festival, continued laying plans for the expected influx of 10,000 young people into the primitive Slaughterhouse Canyon in Bellevue.

Superintendent of State Police Col. E. Claborn joined other state and local police officials in a two-hour meeting Monday in Bellevue. Plans call for the Blaine County law enforcement police department to handle security for the festival, but with a "backup force" from the state officials.

Col. Claborn said today he did not expect any trouble at the festival site, but his concern was with "keeping the roads moving." He declined to say how many state officers would be at the field, but said he didn't anticipate any more men to be on duty in the area than normally.

Also at the meeting with police officials was John Hough, a press aide to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus. Hough said yesterday he would brief the governor on the plans for the festival.

Gov. Andrus' office issued a statement today saying the governor is aware of the proposed festival, but he has no plans to become involved in any of the problems surrounding it.

A festival backer, who declined to be identified, said Tuesday morning plans were going ahead with the construction of the necessary facilities. He said workmen were due at the scene by 8:30 a.m. As of 11 a.m., however, there were no men at the scene, and no work done.

The backer also reported he has sold approximately 1,000 tickets to the festival, at $15 per ticket. He also said he has spent nearly twice that in date in promoting and planning for the event.

The backer claimed to have secured signed contracts with the rock groups "Pacific Gas and Electric," "Gypsy," and "Help," as well as recording artist, "Oliver." The Times-News has learned that "Oliver" is definitely scheduled to appear. The backer said he had verbal agreements with several other groups, as well.

Wolman Jack, a radio personality in Los Angeles, is scheduled to serve as master of ceremonies for the three day event. He will arrive Wednesday in Salt Lake City, and later travel to Boise, where he will broadcast radio programs

Reds strike U.S. armor

SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnamese troops ambushed an American armored unit near Da Nang and killed three GIs, wounded four others and blew up two armored personnel carriers and a Sheridan tank the U.S. Command said today.

Despite the second attack in five days on an American unit near Da Nang, allied spokesmen reported a sharp decline in Communist attacks.

Military spokesmen reported North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces carried out 14 attacks across South Vietnam in the 24 hours ended at 8 a.m. (8 p.m. EDT) compared with 86 in the previous 48 hours coinciding with National Assembly elections.

Nixon announces trip to Canada in spring

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—The White House announced Monday that President Nixon will visit Canada sometime next spring.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said the specific date for the visit would be announced after details are worked out. He declined to say whether it would occur before or after Nixon's visit to Peking which is scheduled sometime before May 1.

Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau extended the invitation to President and Mrs. Nixon during a visit he made to Washington in March, 1969.

Ziegler also announced that Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew would represent the United States at ceremonies in Iran next October marking the 2500th anniversary of the founding of the Persian empire.

The celebration, which marks the founding of the empire by Cyrus the Great and his declaration of the rights of man which enunciated the principle of religious tolerance, is to be held Oct. 13 to 18 but the specific date for Agnew's visit has not yet been worked out, Ziegler said.

"The United States, which enjoys warm and friendly relations with Iran, is pleased to participate in these celebrations," Ziegler said.

Ziegler also was asked about reports that Nixon would visit Japan sometime early next year, possibly in conjunction with his trip to Peking. He said the President had expressed to Prime Minister Eisaku Sato a desire to visit Japan but no date has yet been set.

Nixon, here on a two-week working vacation, conferred privately with aides Monday and scheduled a meeting Tuesday with Elliot Richardson, the secretary of health, education and welfare.

Ziegler said the meeting was to discuss the new budget, but the session also would afford the two an opportunity to discuss the politically explosive school busing issue.

Plumber held for extortion

MIAMI (UPI)—A 25-year-old unemployed plumber was arrested by FBI agents Monday after a harrowing two-hour chase in which he held a bank president and his wife hostage during an attempt to extort $100,000.

The arrest was mostly the work of one man, Kenneth Whittaker, 44, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, who confronted the man as he sat in the rear of a stopped car with a pistol pointed at his hostages.

According to the FBI, the gunman, identified as Dennis Clyde Bennett, 25, of Homestead, Fla., went into the home of Homestead's First National Bank President Paul Losner and ordered Losner's wife, Bea, to call the bank. Mrs. Losner told her husband she was being held hostage and then turned the phone over to the gunman, who demanded that Losner come to the house with $100,000.

Losner notified the FBI in Miami, then phoned his home and told the gunman there would be some delay in raising the money.

The bank president took the $100,000 in small bills to his home where he, too, became a hostage. The three were left in Losner's car with the bank president driving and his wife sitting beside him. The man sat in the back seat with

Troops withdrawn from S. Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command will withdraw 42,000 American soldiers from Vietnam during a three-month period beginning Wednesday to meet President Nixon's Dec. 1 deadline for cutting troop strength to 184,000, military sources said Monday.

Withdrawals so far have cut the peak GI strength of 543,400 in April, 1969, to the present 210,000.

One-third of the 19 American maneuver battalions are earmarked for withdrawal by Dec. 1, the sources said. The 101st Airborne and the Americal divisions will remain in the five northernmost provinces making up Military Region I, according to the sources.

The sources did not indicate whether eight other U.S. combat battalions in the rest of the country will be affected by the latest pullouts.

The withdrawals will close out Nixon's current program to reduce U.S. forces by 100,000 soldiers from May 1 to Dec. 1, when the maximum strength allowed will be 184,000.

The allied-Free World force in Vietnam dropped by 1,900 men to 61,300 men last week, spokesmen said. The Free World force—made up primarily of troops from South Korea, Thailand, Australia and New Zealand—dropped largely because of the pullout of the Thai forces, they said.

The U.S. 7th Fleet, has been cut back to about 16,000 men from about 18,000 men, military sources said.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — All Farmers Home Administration offices in Idaho will be closed at noon Thursday, Sept. 2, for the remainder of the day in memory of Robert J. Harrison, veteran FHA employe and chief of rural housing program, who died in Boise Sunday.

TWIN FALLS — The fall opening of the Scotch shop at the Presbyterian church will be Wednesday.

TWIN FALLS — The Class of 1962 will have a 10 year reunion planning meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Rosalee Cameron Dingwall, 231 Buchanan. All class members are urged to attend.

TWIN FALLS — Larry Raitz, Kimberly, told city police someone broke into his parked automobile and stole a stereo and 20 tapes valued at about $240.

He said the theft occurred Sunday night while the vehicle was parked and locked at Jaycee baseball park. He said he was attending a baseball game and on returning to the vehicle found it had been forced open apparently with a wire or coat hanger.

TWIN FALLS — Two persons suffered minor injuries and three vehicles were damaged in an accident Monday afternoon at the intersection of Fifth Avenue East and Second Street East.

City police said Carrie Irene Beal, 20, 219 5th Ave. E. suffered minor injuries when her vehicle turned right onto second street east and was struck by a vehicle driven by Sylvia Briggs, 1611 Kimes St.

Miss Briggs also suffered cuts and bruises. Officers said the Briggs vehicle swerved to miss another vehicle coming out of the city park exit and collided with the Beal auto. The third vehicle involved was parked at the curb and was owned by James Glodowski, Route 3, Jerome.

U.S. hit on plane delivery

By United Press International Yitzhak Rabin, the Israeli ambassador to Washington, said today the United States is withholding delivery of F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers to Israel, for political reasons and that this is obstructing Middle East peace efforts.

Rabin returned to Jerusalem today for consultations on an Arab call for a fullscale United Nations Security Council debate on Jerusalem which was virtually annexed from Jordan by Israel during the 1967 war. Israel was putting pressure on Washington to try to forestall the debate.

Asked at Lod International Airport outside Tel Aviv whether Washington was withholding the supply of Phantoms, Rabin said: "It is a fact."

Asked if this was being done for political reasons he replied: "One can say this."

"This policy is a mistake on the part of the Americans because the only chance for achieving an interim or an over-all agreement is when the Arabs and Russians reach the conclusion they have no military chance of vanquishing Israel," Rabin said.

L. Sumner

HAILEY — Lee Sumner, 72, Hailey resident for 10 years, died early Tuesday morning at Blaine County Hospital following an extended illness.

He was born March 24, 1898, at Galax, Va. He came West as a young man to join a brother, Emory Sumner. The two brothers purchased ranches in the Pocatello area and farmed there for 40 years. They retired in the early 1960's to live in Hailey.

Emory Sumner died in 1967. Lee Sumner had spent his winters in Shoshone the past four years.

Surviving are three cousins, Mrs. Theo B. (Nita) Brush, Richfield, who managed his affairs; Mrs. Melvin (Lorna) Biggers, Sweet; and the Rev. Martin Sumner, Nampa. Funeral services are pending at Bergin Mortuary, Shoshone.

Detectives check slaying reports

DRIGGS, Idaho (UPI) — Los Angeles County homicide detectives are here checking the story of a woman who says her boyfriend shot six people, killing four, including three brothers and a California man. St. Cecilia Kienast and Sgt. Harold Meyers of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's homicide division arrived in Driggs late Monday night to verify the statement, signed earlier by Joyce Diane Turner, 22, Elko, Nev.

Teton County Sheriff Alben Stevens said Miss Turner, who calls herself "Angel" and wears a blue tattoo on her bosom saying "Property of Evil," told him she witnessed Michael Wren Henrpage, 28, Sacramento, Calif., kill four people in order to steal their cars.

Both are charged with first degree murder in the shootings of three teenage Mexican-American brothers Saturday morning.

Miss Turner said she also saw Henrpage, who calls himself "Evil," shoot Joe Warmuth, of Saugus, Calif., Aug. 7. Stevens said a car registered to Warmuth was in Henrpage's possession. Miss Turner said Henrpage killed Warmuth and hid his body in a culvert.

Meanwhile the bodies of Ruben De Luna, 18, and his brothers, Antonio, 17, and Robert, 19, are to be shipped today to Bryan, Texas, for burial.

A Catholic mass was said for the brothers last night at a Driggs church, attended by their family and relatives and migrant workers in the area.

A fund has been started to help pay the cost of sending the bodies and family members to Texas. The two De Luna families involved are reportedly unable to cover the cost.

The boys, a cousin, Richard De Luna, 18, and Driggs Marshal Melvin Jones, were all shot Saturday morning with a .38 pistol.

Stevens said Richard De Luna told him an assailant approached them as they sat in their car on a lonely road to a Grand Teton ski resort and without saying a word shot the driver, Robert.

As the others jumped from the car to disarm the assailant he shot each in the head. Only Richard survived and when the assailant left in the car, he ran to town with a bullet in his head and summoned authorities.

Jones came to the scene and found a man and girl in the car.

230 jobs provided by CSI

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho has provided jobs for 230 students in the federally sponsored work-study program this semester, according to David Perkins, dean of students.

Though the federal criteria call for students to work 15 hours per week in the program, Perkins said some CSI students were asked to work fewer hours, in order to reserve funds for other needy students.

The work-study program allows students needing financial help with college expenses to work at college jobs. Federal funds provide 80 per cent of the student's pay, with the college paying the remaining 20 per cent.

Federal cutbacks in funds during the summer virtually eliminated the work-study program in many colleges, including CSI, but limited restoration of monies allowed the continuation of the program.

Perkins said that some off-campus jobs are available for students needing employment. Jack Sims, director of student activities, has information on the positions available, Perkins said.

Gas engine course set by CSI unit

TWIN FALLS — A course in repair of small gasoline engines, such as lawnmowers and similar equipment, will be presented by the College of Southern Idaho vocational school beginning Sept. 13 at 7 p.m., according to Frank Schell, coordinator of training and instruction.

A number of Magic Valley homeowners, including several housewives, have called the CSI vocational school asking for a course in repairing lawnmowers, Schell said. The course is designed to meet their needs.

Topics covered will include orientation, a buyers' guide to purchase of small-engine equipment, maintenance, diagnosis and repair techniques.

The course will cost $15, and will be taught on Monday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m., Schell said. Registration and other information may be obtained by calling him at 733-8654, Extension 291, or by visiting him at the CSI vocational school, 1300 Kimberly Road.

Historical unit visits TF schools enroll 6,271

TWIN FALLS — About 40 members of the Twin Falls County Historical Society traveled from Twin Falls to Salmon via Lemhi Valley, Arco and Leesburg over the weekend to inspect historical sites and hear a talk by Dee Ainsworth on Leesburg.

The members also visited the museum at Salmon, then returned by way of Cobalt, an old-time mining area.

Ainsworth reviewed the history of the Leesburg area, telling of the millions of dollars in gold that had been taken from the region, almost entirely by placer mining. No "mother lode" was ever located, however, despite the richness of the ground.

The historical society members stayed in Salmon overnight, enjoying the music of a number of old-time fiddlers, joined by Harold and Vera Waggoner.

The group's next tour is scheduled for Sept. 26, for a trip to the Crystal Ice Caves east of American Falls.

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School District No. 411 registered 6,271 students on the first day of school on Monday, according to Supt. George Staudaher.

Another 100 are expected over the next 10 days from late enrollment.

No major overcrowding problems have developed so far, Staudaher said, though all elementary schools except Morningside reported increased enrollment.

By school, the totals included Bickel, 271; Harrison, 634;

Lincoln, 708; Morningside, 543, and Washington, 538.

Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School listed a total of 1,005 students in the seventh through ninth grades; Robert Stuart Junior High reported 578, and Twin Falls High School enrolled 1,501.

There were also 97 special-education handicapped students in class on Monday, Staudaher said.

Tallies per grade and per classroom will be reported later this week, the superintendent said.

New firm planned

BURLEY — The former home of the Baker Motor Co., on Overland Avenue in Burley, is being demolished to make way for a new firm, the Bonanza 88 Variety Store.

Klopfers Concrete Co., of Paul, has the contract to demolish the old building. They began work last week on the $20,000 project.

The property is owned by Olin Baker, who operated the Buick dealership for many years in Burley. Later, the building housed Bonanza Motor Co. before their move to new quarters.

The new Bonanza variety outlet, one of a large chain throughout the West, will be housed in a modern building sitting square with the sidewalk and corner, in contrast to the old building which housed a service station as part of the dealership.

Service cut approved

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Public Utilities Commission has given Richard L. Edgar, doing business as Samson Truck Line, Mountain Home, permission to discontinue bus passenger service to Mountain Home Air Force Base.

First lesson

A BIT FRIGHTENED, perhaps, by goings-on, especially by the photographer, a first-grader at Lincoln School, Daren Brown, is coached by his teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Herzinger, to give his name. Mrs. Herzinger was incorrectly identified in Monday's Times-News as another first-grade teacher at Lincoln, Mrs. Lena Schmechel.

Elmore man charged

BRUNEAU (UPI) — A Mountain Home man was charged Monday with involuntary manslaughter after Inez M. Ortiz, 45, Bruneau, was shot and killed Sunday evening.

Owyhee County Deputy Sheriff Hank Acosta said Pedro E. Ramirez, 40, appeared before Judge James Morfitt, Caldwell, on the charge and was scheduled to appear again at a later date.

Ortiz was shot and killed on a ranch north of Bruneau with a .38-caliber automatic pistol. Ramirez allegedly was showing two companions how to fire the gun in his trailer house next door to where Ortiz was cooking dinner in his trailer.

The gun was fired twice, one of the bullets hitting Ramirez's trailer door and ricocheting into the side of the Ortiz trailer. Ortiz was shot in the back when the bullet went through the wall.

Ramirez was free on bond.

Viet Election

Now you see them now you don't is the name of the game in South Vietnam's October 3 presidential election.

General "Big" Minh has withdrawn his candidacy, claiming that the contest has been rigged by incumbent President Thieu.

When Minh's departure left Thieu as the only candidate in the "race," South Vietnam's supreme court suddenly decided Ky was eligible to run after all and has to run even if he no longer wants to.

This, says Ky, is carrying the farce to its outer limits. Not so funny are his mutterings about a revolt against the very regime of which he is a part.

(History is a cracked record. When Ky and Thieu were running as a team in 1967, 10 civilian candidates temporarily withdrew, charging K&T with intimidation, fraud and rigging.)

But does all this mean that Americans can leave Vietnam with a clear conscience, secure in the knowledge that we have done all we can for these people and that this farce of an election proves they just aren't worth any further sacrifices?

The latest Harris survey on the subject finds that by 47 per cent to 24 per cent, most Americans do not believe that the South Vietnamese army is capable of keeping the Communists from taking over the country, and that 65 per cent of Americans want the United States to continue withdrawing its troops even if it means the collapse of the South Vietnamese government.

The desire to extricate American fighting men from Vietnam now runs so deep, says Harris, that the clear and prevailing attitude can be summed up: "If the South Vietnamese want to control their own country, they will have to do it by themselves."

But a funny thing is happening on the way to the ships.

"How is it," asks the Wall Street Journal, "that those who are willing to write off all future for South Vietnam can work themselves into a dither over the fairness of the elections there? How is it that Nguyen Cao Ky, for years an especially black villain in some eyes, becomes in those same eyes essential to the workings of Vietnamese democracy?"

As for Gen. Minh, his withdrawal may reflect his conclusions not about the honesty of this election but about his prospects in any election, says the Journal.

Given spreading prosperity in the Vietnamese countryside and a general tendency to support incumbents, most analysts believe it unlikely that President Thieu could be defeated in even a scrupulous election. Thus Minh probably has more status as a vague alternative to the current regime than he would have if he ran against Thieu and lost.

Well, if that's so, what is Thieu afraid of? Why, for instance, does he still keep in prison Truong Dinh Dzu, his chief opponent in the 1967 election?

There are no satisfactory answers to those questions. But we must remember that we are judging a nation which has never known democracy or even much self-rule, which is still emerging from decades of foreign colonial domination, which is in the midst of war — we are judging that nation by political standards the English-speaking peoples have laboriously been building for more than seven centuries since Magna Carta.

The real question, suggests the Journal, is what kind of election will there be if North Vietnam succeeds in its effort to annex the South?

In Saigon, an opposition can at least rise and make itself heard. Try that in Hanoi.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

Nixon vs. Meany

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration's gamble on toughness in the face of rising labor union anger over the wage-price freeze is a carefully orchestrated strategy planned and executed in the White House with the aid of Charles W. Colson, the President's special counsel and a specialist in back-room political arts.

It was Colson, for example, who was ordered to draft Secretary of Labor James Hodgson's hard-line Aug. 17 riposte to AFL-CIO president George Meany that Meany was "sadly out of step with the needs and desires of America's working men and women."

Colson was operating in a direct line of command extending from the President himself through Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, the strong man in complete charge of the Administration's day-to-day strategy both on the President's new economic program and on the political tactics needed to make it work.

When Meany attacked the wage-price freeze on Aug. 18 as "patently discriminatory" to labor, Connally, Colson and other White House political operatives decided Meany was taking "a partisan whack" at the President. They viewed him as motivated more by his instinct as a Democratic party gut-fighter, trying to damage Mr. Nixon politically for the 1972 Presidential election, than by genuine conviction that the freeze was anti-labor. They were furious that Meany, long a supporter of wage, price and profit controls, had leaped to the attack before the new policy had been fully explained to the AFL-CIO executive council.

Moreover, the attack by Meany was quickly perceived as the first major challenge to the new Nixonomics. In a mood reminiscent of the President's warning to the Communist world at the time of the Cambodian invasion that the U.S. could not act "like a pitiful, helpless giant," Connally decided the President could not let the Meany challenge pass without a powerful counterattack.

The gamble was buttressed by supporting evidence in private White House contacts with other leaders of big labor and public opinion polls that Meany's defiance was by no means fully shared by American wage-earners. Thus, the White House had in its hands last week a California poll conducted by J.D. Powell & Associates in 400 households, 100 of which had at least one union member. It showed 75 per cent approval for the wage-price freeze and only 13 per cent disapproval. The union members alone gave the President an approval rating of 75 per cent on the wage freeze.

Finally, Connally and his advisers suspected that, in addition to 1972 Presidential politics, Meany and his AFL-CIO council were engaged in hard bargaining with the White House to make certain that when the 90-day freeze ends they would have a major voice in what comes next. Despite the careful calculation that went into this hard-line strategy, however, it is still very much a gamble, and it has been made more so by self-defeating statements from lesser Administration officials.

Thus, when Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans emerged from a meeting on Tuesday with 11 of the most powerful corporate executives in the nation, he trumpeted their opinion that mandatory wage-price controls would definitely be needed when the 90-day freeze ends. That played right into the hands of Meany's charge that the freeze hurts business less than labor.

The real danger in the Administration's gamble in waging a mailed fist at Meany's cooperation with the Administration will be essential when the freeze is replaced by some form of voluntary wage-price restraints; and the prospect that his rising anger at the Administration will persuade Democrats in Congress to dilute the effect of the freeze with pro-labor amendments to Mr. Nixon's new tax package.

Meany may now have made himself unwelcome at the White House, but with the 1972 campaign already started, his political clout with the Democrats is getting stronger every day.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Rocks Have It

Well, the great day has arrived. Mr. Spectator's rocks are ready to go — and we might point out they still have those Moon rocks in cages.

You remember awhile back Mr. Spectator spent a couple of weeks picking up very pretty rocks from Agate Beach up in Washington State. The idea was to polish them all up and then give them away.

Here's the deal: Just drop Mr. Spectator a note saying "I want a rock." Right pronto Mr. Spectator will mail you an ocean rock, all clean and polished and ready for you to keep forever.

Now these are not just ordinary rocks. We suspect that they have some magic in them because they are "tranquil" rocks. In other words, carry one with you all the time and when you are upset just take out the rock and rub it between your fingers. That will settle everything down and get you going on an even keel again.

We have little rocks, medium rocks and some larger ones — not great big ones, just larger ones. If you have a particular size want then let us know in your note.

So if you want a real nice "rubbing" rock for free — one patiently polished by Mr. Spectator over the period of a month — just drop us a line.

Supply is limited so if you are interested then get that note in the mail.

Like we said — these rocks have it!

Connie Sterner, about 14, was to have entered the ninth grade at the Twin Falls High School this year. But she has undergone several major operations and will not make it just yet. Mr. Spectator thought it would be nice for her friends — those kids who were in the eighth grade at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High last year — to drop her a note or card at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

GIVEAWAY DEPT:

We have two puppies to give away. Part Border Collie. Will be small dogs. Should be good stock dogs. Call 537-5620 at Castleford.

Would like to find a farm home for a young Australian Shepherd dog. He is white, gray and black with white eyes. Quiet and good around livestock. Please call 734-3624 in Twin Falls.

Mr. Spectator notes with dismay that coffee is discoloring the bottom part of some of those new mustaches being exhibited by the younger set.

Power Balances On Technology

EDITOR'S NOTE: This series of articles is based on many interviews and briefings with diplomatic, military, political and economic analysts at the White House, State Department, Defense Department, Agency for International Development, National Science Foundation, Library of Congress and other governmental agencies.

By RAY CROMLEY, NEA Military Analyst (Third of Three Parts.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In the curious arithmetic of the 1970s, it may mean very little to the security of the United States if the Soviet Union builds the most missiles or assembles the greatest warhead megatonnage — all within certain limits.

What is critical is whether Moscow's scientists achieve technological breakthroughs which could make it possible for the Soviet Union to produce radically new weaponry able to overwhelm American defenses.

Concurrently, what also counts is whether the Soviet

Defense In the '70s

Union has the engineering capability and technical base to exploit the scientific advantage before the United States can develop effective countermeasures.

In this regard, the U.S. triumph in coming from behind to place a man on the moon may ultimately turn out to be a most expensive triumph indeed.

It may have convinced too many decision-makers that the United States is technically so far ahead of the Soviet Union that it can, as in the moon effort, come from behind and win.

But the Russians, spurred by the No. 2 "we fry harder" syndrome, have been moving ahead in a number of areas of space and military technology.

The Russian unmanned moon vehicle is a scientific instrument of superb quality and ahead of what the United States is turning out at this time. This remarkably controlled go-cart tells us a lot about their defense-related technical competence. The Russian unmanned long-range probes to other planets show finesse and versatility.

There are other clear indicators of Soviet military competence. The Russians regularly fire ICBMs down their Pacific test range. We can judge the quality of those weapons. We observe their new submarines and surface ships as they patrol the Mediterranean or Caribbean. We see their tactical weapons in combat in Vietnam and the Middle East.

Today the United States is believed technologically ahead of the Soviet Union by two to three years in most major areas of military research. But Dr. John Foster, chief of Pentagon research and engineering, says Moscow is possibly spending the equivalent of $3 billion a year more on military research and development than the United States is. Defense analysts estimate that scale of effort would make it possible for the Russians to gain about one year on us technologically every 36 to 49 months.

If these trends should continue unchanged, Foster predicts the Soviet Union could achieve technological superiority in military research and development some time between 1976 and 1979.

Even before that, perhaps as early as the 1974 to 1976 time frame, according to Foster's calculations, we are likely to see what the Pentagon technocrats call "spunklike" surprises, marking the appearance of Soviet weapons prototypes which clearly could make major U.S. weapons systems technologically obsolete if the Soviet Union decided to build them.

Foster's predictions have not gone unchallenged, however. A committee of two scientists and two economists professors under the auspices of the Federation of American Scientists (themselves not completely free of political bias) have called Foster's statements political.

They claim, in effect, that there is no convincing evidence the Soviet Union is spending more than the United States on military scientific research and that in any event the relative backwardness and inefficiency of Soviet technology makes spending figures meaningless.

Their credibility is perhaps weakened somewhat by the fact that members of the committee have held responsible military-scientific positions in past administrations when weaponry secrets tactics were used for political ends.

But if Foster's projections prove to be accurate, U.S. security could be seriously jeopardized by the early 1980s.

There are two ways the United States could react to such predictions. One would be to boost research and development now in an orderly, determined way to enable this country technically to cope quickly with any Russian breakthroughs.

Or the United States could first determine if the Soviet research and development "trend line" begins to sag — a sag — development, of course, we might have to work.

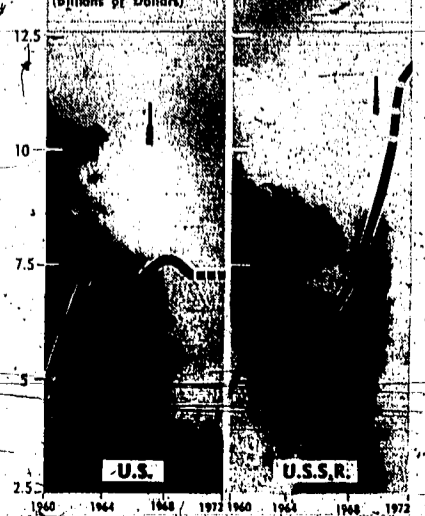

If the United States chose the second alternative and the Soviet military scientific technological push continued at a fast pace, we would have either to accept a severe shift in the balance of power or rush through an expensive and inefficient crash program.

In other words, recovery from a loss of U.S. technological leadership would require enormous expenditures over many years.

Two men carry cause of Indian to capital

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Milton Campbell and Vincent Randall are large size Apache who come from Indian communities so small you probably never have heard of them.

But everywhere they went recently, on a schedule so tight they attracted attention—Campbell in his cowboy hat and string tie, Randall almost twice the width of an ordinary man.

Articulate, quietly, they presented their case: They want trust title for their people to the 85,9 acres of land they live on in the Tonto National Forest in Arizona, and, more importantly, legal recognition of the 18-member Payson Apache Indian community as a tribe.

They went from congressional offices to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and then to the Interior Department and its Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). The department long has been opposed to granting the Payson Apache recognition as a tribe. Their story goes back to Arizona's gold discoveries in the 1860's. The Rio Verde reserve was established in 1871 for the Tonto and Yavapai Indians. But it was dissolved four years later, and the Payson Apaches claim their Tonto ancestors were forcibly removed to the San Carlos Reservation.

About the turn of the century, some of the Tontos returned to the forest just south of town. Now, about 70 years later, these Payson Apaches are considered squatters in the eyes of the law.

Campbell is chairman of the Payson Apache Indian Community. Because the Payson Apaches are not considered a tribe and live on National Forest land, they have not been able to bring in electricity, running water or sewage facilities.

"We're limited in everything," Campbell said. "It's ridiculous," said Randall, chairman of the Yavapai and Apache tribes on the Camp Verde Reservation. He came along to support Randall's

DEAR ABBY: As a nonplaying member of a country club, I very much resent women golfers who "borrow" my husband for a game of golf. Some even ask me if I "mind."

I have decided from now on I will say, "I don't mind," providing you grant me equal time with your husband. We'll start with a movie, followed by drinks such as you have with my husband at the 19th hole."

Abby, don't say, "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." I've tried golf and it's not for me.

Please comment on this in your column. Many of my friends who are also golf widows are as resentful as I am of these gals who "borrow" our husbands for golf—and then who knows what?

DEAR GOLF WIDOW: I took a survey and learned that most men prefer to golf with men. They also said in a mixed foursome a man is more concerned with his swing, than with "swinging"—and even the there's a lot of talk, there's rarely any follow-thru.

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl need to be well-liked besides beauty, brains, personality, clothes, talent and charm?

DEAR GIRL: Humility.

DEAR ABBY: I am the only offspring of parents who are not rich, but are very comfortable. Fortunately my husband has always been able to support me and our daughter and we have never relied on my parents for anything.

In the last few years my mother has been going down to the Goodwill a couple of times a week. She wears garden gloves to pick over the items as they come off the truck. She doesn't look for antiques as many do, she looks for bargains in clothing, not for herself, but to give to others as "gifts," which she passes off in boxes bearing the name of a high class department store in town.

Last year she gave my 16-year-old daughter a pair of rusty ice skates. [We live in Richmond, Va., and don't skate here.]

She gave me a beat up straw purse and a badly snagged sweater [four sizes too big] last Christmas.

For my birthday she gave me costume jewelry I had been given by a cousin when I was 10, but I gave to my mother because I was too young for costume jewelry at the time.

My husband says she is just "stingy." I say it's a slap in the face to us because she feels we don't deserve anything better. What is your analysis?

DEAR PUZZLED: I say she could be getting senile.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I attended a wedding and reception and we brought along a wedding gift. They received many gifts at the reception, none of which were opened. They were just piled up and carted off to be opened later.

A month later we received a nice note from the bride thanking us for the lovely "ice bucket!" [We had given her a breakfast cloth with six napkins.]

My husband says I should skip it. I say we should let her know about the mix-up. What do you say?

MARCIA AND MIKE,

DEAR M AND M: I'm with you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Indonesian president disliked 'democracy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fifteen years ago, President Sukarno of Indonesia warned President Dwight D. Eisenhower that the United States would fall if it tried to drape the mantle of Jeffersonian democracy around the shoulders of any newly independent Asian nation.

Sukarno was paying his first visit to the United States. Publicly he lauded the United States and its form of government. But privately, according to his autobiography published in 1965, he told Eisenhower flatly that the countries of Asia just freed from their colonial masters would have nothing to do with Western-style democracy.

"Ivy League doctrines," said Sukarno, were not "desirable import commodities for us."

Sukarno's warning to Eisenhower came just a few months after the soldier-President and his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, had detected and seized what they saw as an opportunity to reverse the intent of the 1954 Geneva Conference. At that conference, large and small Communist and non-Communist nations had established the "Republic of North Vietnam" with its capital at Hanoi and its President Ho Chi Minh.

Under the Geneva Conference, South Vietnam was to be a state in the "French union" pending elections in all Vietnam to unify the country.

The United States had declined to endorse the Geneva agreement since it was clear that the elections, supposed to be held in 1956, would result in Ho Chi Minh's ascendancy over the whole territory.

When Ngo Dinh Diem, premier of the interim government in South Vietnam, proclaimed it a separate republic and himself its first president, Eisenhower and Dulles declared their full support for the regime. They backed this up with large-scale economic aid and military assistance to Sukarno supervised by a military advisory group, which numbered almost 600 men by 1956. Sukarno fell from favor with the United States. Washington saw him drift closer and closer to Russia and Communist China, a circumstance which ultimately led to his downfall in 1965.

Sukarno died last year, generally discredited. However, his warning to Eisenhower that the United States should not "meddle" in Southeast Asian affairs — particularly not to try to encourage democratic government — appear to have pertinent application to the current crisis.

The United States finds itself embarrassed because its long and costly battle to give the South Vietnamese "freedom of choice" is bolstering a regime which has arranged matters so that there is only one candidate in the presidential election scheduled Oct. 3.

Teachers find few openings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Right now, thousands of qualified teachers looking for jobs are running into "no help wanted" signs.

In addition, a growing number of teachers — notably those most recently hired — are recipients of pink slips terminating their contracts.

Teachers, once in short supply, now are a surplus across the land, it would seem.

Two factors are involved in the teacher unemployment situation, according to the National Education Association. One is the general economic slowdown. The other is the change in the nation's population growth and makeup.

Economic conditions have created a money pinch that the NEA says most school districts nationwide are feeling. Philadelphia, for example, in the fall will offer only straight academic courses and other state mandated services. Other programs eliminated are coupled with firings.

Detroit recently dismissed 192 "emergency substitutes" holding regular teaching jobs. Cincinnati hopes to balance its budget by allowing 400 teacher vacancies to go unfilled. Los Angeles eliminated 1,000 teaching jobs through attrition. And so it goes.

Dwindling birth rates keep down the demand for additional teachers. It holds back the total school-age population in years ahead.

NEA studies show the trend to decreasing teaching jobs will continue through 1976.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that if past patterns hold true, some 4.2 million individuals will be looking for teaching jobs between now and 1980. It will take only 2.1 million teachers to replace those who retire, die or leave the profession during that period.

Despite the picture of surplus in regular teaching jobs, there are shortages in certain fields. These include vocational and early childhood education, and education for the handicapped.

The NEA says further that more teachers also are needed to reduce the size of classes and for enrichment programs. However, in the current money pinch, school districts have been increasing class size and cutting back on programs from art to speech.

Just about the last thing most of us do when we're getting ready to leave home for a weekend in the forest is to check and make sure that there is no chance for a fire to start in the house while we're gone. But a great many of us will drive off and leave a fire burning at our favorite camping spot. Be sure your picnic or camping fire is out before you leave.

L.A. buys homes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The city of Los Angeles is spending almost $300 million to "graduate" 1,094 private homes around the ocean coast airport, the nation's second busiest, to deal with the protest over the noise of jetliners.

The city is buying the homes, some with the sea views and swimming pools, at prices ranging from $28,000 to $115,000 and either demolishing them or reselling them for movement elsewhere.

The homes are spread over 400 acres on the outskirts of Los Angeles International Airport which is exceeded only by Chicago's O'Hare Field in volume of traffic.

In the most extreme method ever devised to deal with airport noise, the city, for example, bought one house for $97,000 and paid a wrecking company $360 to destroy it.

The project will take about two years.

UP-TO-DATE SHEIKHS on closer inspection turn out to be American astronauts Alfred M. Worden, left, and Gerald P. Carr using a transistor radio to maintain contact with surveillance aircraft during desert survival training near Pasco, Wash.

Arthur Garfunkel · Ann-Margret in "Carnal Knowledge" with Rita Moreno · Cynthia O'Neal · Producer

Mike Nichols, Jack Nicholson, Candice Bergen, Arthur Garfunkel, Ann-Margret and Jules Feiffer.

Carnal Knowledge.

"Carnal Knowledge" is a feast of a film. It is very funny and very cruel, and very sad film. Mike Nichols uses the screen as it has rarely been used heretofore. Arthur Garfunkel and Jack Nicholson are superlative. Unlike too many of today's films, "Carnal Knowledge" lasts beyond the watching; it sticks to the mind-ribs and balls long retroaction. The film is brilliant."

Miss Dietz, Jensen wed

TWIN FALLS — Cathleen Dietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin C. Dietz, became the bride of James Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Jensen, all Twin Falls, in rites Aug. 14 at the First Church of the Nazarene, Twin Falls.

Capt. D.W. Duff, Seattle, Wash., uncle of the bride, officiated at the candlelight ceremony before a background of candelabra decorated with pink gladioli, lavender pompons and ivy. The aisles were decorated with garlands of stephanotis and pink pompons, leather leaves and pink bows.

The bride wore a Bridal Original gown of polyester organza in an empire a-line style accented with a coat effect. The gown was enhanced by embroidery work and Chantilly lace. An organy petal bandeau held her elbow-length veil, with a butterfly face veil, of English nylon illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Cymbidium orchids, pink carnations and starflowers accented with ivy.

Darla Wilcox, sister of the bride, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carla Howells, Puyallup, Wash., cousin of the bride; Shauna Jensen, sister of the bridegroom, and Bunny Dietz, Salt Lake City, cousin of the bride.

Candlelighters were Becky Duff and LeAnn Duff, Seattle, cousins of the bride. Lu Ann Jensen, sister of the bridegroom was flower girl.

Jon Jensen, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Dan Dunham, Boise; Bob Watts, Anchorage, Alaska, and Roger DeBoard, Dennis Duff, Seattle, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer. Back-up ushers were Terry Howells, Seattle; Calvin Wilcox, Twin Falls, and Ron Barry, Salt Lake City.

Ron Barry, Salt Lake City, cousin of the bride, sang the song of dedication and Marclone Howells, Puyallup, Wash. and Velta Dugg, Seattle, aunts of the bride, sang a duet.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the church fellowship hall. Janet Berney was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by candelabra entwined with ivy and pink and white pompons. A side table held a fountain accented with pink lights. The gift table was covered with nylon tulle holding arrangements of pink gladioli and lavender pompons accented by cherubs.

Idaho labor laws discussed for club

TWIN FALLS — Eldon C. Ryals, Filer, Idaho Department of Labor, was featured speaker during the Twin Falls Altruistic Club meeting this past week at the home of Mrs. Floyd Sanders, Jerome, immediate past president.

Ryals explained the labor laws of Idaho, stressing the minimum wage law of $1.40 per hour effective July 1, 1971, and $1.60 per hour effective July 1, 1972; female overtime law, and wage payment law summary. Ryals conducted a question and answer period, with all members and guests participating. Dealing with the club's theme for this year, "The Sweet Voice of Reason," other educational programs of this type are scheduled.

HIPS, HIPS AWAY!

By Mary Sue Miller

Don't dream of smaller hips. Exercise! Use the routine below. It works three ways.

1. Sit erect on a straight chair or stool. Raise knees until only toes touch floor. Trough right knee to chest and return toes to floor; repeat with left leg. Alternating sides, perform 10 times. Throughout, center weight on "sittin' bones."
2. Stretch out on floor, back to wall. Extend arms to sides, under heel and toe. Sit across top of hips. Now swing legs straight up, perpendicular to floor; alternately stretch legs hard toward ceiling and then touch knees to chest. 20 times, slowly and rhythmically. The idea is not a leg workout but a high-hip massage.
3. Lie on right side and center weight on side hip by raising torso. To hold raised position, anchor right elbow to floor and prop head with hand. Next raise left leg six inches, bring right leg up to touch left leg, and hold position for 5 slow counts; slowly lower legs. Relax, repeat twice and perform on left side.

As you work you will feel the routines working like stiff massage. In a month's time you can lose up to an inch—two inches, if you diet a bit.

To aid the cause, make a point of standing with the hips tucked under the body. Many women flip the hips up, and that's a pose that causes even a slim hip to look heavy.

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES. Based on the Isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Miss Waite, Bendorf exchange promise

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman LDS Chapel was the setting for the marriage uniting Susan Waite and Fredrick K. (Rick) Bendorf, Aug. 14.

The bride is the daughter of the late May Waite and Mrs. Waite, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Bendorf, all Hagerman.

The early evening double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop C. W. Choules. The family prayer was given by Louise Durfee, Gooding, uncle of the bride. Chapel baskets filled with yellow gladioli flanked the altar.

Mrs. Bill Snapp, Hagerman, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Cheryl Sandy, soloist.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, John Waite, Hagerman, the bride wore a Bridal Original gown. The fashionable floor-length gown of silk organza featured cotton and nylon Chantilly lace shaping the bodice. Scalloped Chantilly edging accented the empire waistline and the deep ruffles edging the elbow-length sleeves. Deep pleats at the back waistline gave fullness to the skirt which dipped to a soft chapel train. Chantilly lace and seed pearls trimmed the forward headpiece which held her elbow-length tiered veil of English nylon illusion.

She carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds.

Jayne Waite, Maria Waite and Debbie Waite, all sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids. Peggy Hendrickson was maid of honor.

Russell LeMoine was best man. Ushers were Pete Skennates and Jeff Tupper, Hagerman, and Steven Misseldine, Ashton.

Amy Pugmire, Hagerman, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Rance Pugmire, Hagerman, cousin of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

A reception was held in the LDS Cultural Hall immediately after the wedding. LaNora Bendorf, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest book.

Gifts were arranged under the direction of Mrs. Darrell Drake, Wendell, aunt of the bride. She was assisted by Joyce Gibbons, Diane Durfee and Pam Durfee, all Gooding and all cousins of the bride, and Kelly Watson, Castleford.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Sylvia Clark, Hagerman.

Presiding at the refreshment table were Mrs. Bill Brooks, Richland, Calif., aunt of the bridegroom; Mrs. Wallace Reed, Salt Lake City, Mrs. Eugene Gibbons, and Mrs. Louise Durfee both Gooding, all Hagerman.

Background music for the reception was played by Katie Choules.

Special guests included paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waite, Hagerman; and Mrs. Ann Durfee, Gooding, maternal grandmother of the bride.

After a short honeymoon trip, the couple reside at Rexburg, where both attend Ricks College.

The bride was feted at a pre-nuptial kitchen shower hosted by Miss Hendrickson and Miss Sandy at the Sandy home.

Early start

IDAHO FROZEN FOODS had the earliest starting dates, beginning Aug. 24, for the 1971-72 potato year. Van Stokes, left, of Idaho Frozen Foods, shows William Spillers, director of purchasing for Shrimp Boats, Inc., a restaurateur chain in the Southern states which uses nothing but Idaho potatoes, some of the French fried potatoes that will be shipped to his firm. Next to Spillers is Henry Johnson, broker from Atlanta, Ga., who brought Spillers out to Idaho to check over the starting of the 1971-72 packing season and Mrs. Spillers.

Shamrock club ready for fair

TWIN FALLS — The Shamrock Busy Bees 4-H club will meet at 3 p.m. Sept. 5, to decorate their fair booth, according to Mrs. Louise Koonz, leader.

During the last meeting demonstrations were given by Jeanette Annis on how to make a spudnik special and how to clean silverware; Cathy Houser, how to balance the money management record book; Heidi Walker, basketry; Tammy Walker, how to wash clothes, make a toasted tuna fish sandwich and how to read negatives and prints; Anna Koonz, what to do with patterns and how sandwiches were invented and types of sandwiches; Bonnie Wood, how to make a homemade sewing basket; Mary Sharp, how to thread a needle and how to thread the top part of the sewing machine; and Alice Ghan, how to thread a bobbin.

Chemical studied as inhibitor

By WALTER C. SPARKS, Research Prof. of Horticulture U. of I. Aberdeen Branch Agricultural Experiment Station

ABERDEEN — Considerable interest has been shown in the last few weeks concerning the use of Maleic Hydrizide as a sprout inhibitor for potatoes. One of the chief reasons for the increased interest is the price of Maleic Hydrizide in 1971 has been reduced to less than one-half of its previous cost. Secondly, when this chemical is properly applied, using the correct dosage and at the right stage of growth, it does not allow internal sprouting. Thirdly, when the correct dosage of Maleic Hydrizide is properly applied at the proper stage growth it does an excellent job of inhibiting the sprouting of potato tubers. If they cannot sprout, they cannot produce volunteer plants which may act as the source of inoculum for leafroll.

When Maleic Hydrizide is applied after the leaves have turned a light green to yellow, insufficient material may be absorbed and translocated from the leaves to the tubers thus giving unsatisfactory sprout control.

One of the most common questions asked is, "Will Maleic Hydrizide reduce yields?" In the several years of trials at the University of Idaho Aberdeen Branch Agricultural Experiment Station, no reduction in yield has been experienced when Maleic Hydrizide was properly applied 2 or 3 weeks after full bloom. Only when applied at the full bloom or within 2 weeks after the full bloom stage, did a reduction in yield result.

The percentage of tubers sprouting at the end of 11 months storage was less than 2 per cent on all treatments.

ounces or larger in size. The majority of Russet Burbank tubers will show the characteristic long, slightly flattened shape of the Russet Burbank variety.

applied on or before Aug. 26 (an average of 4 weeks after full bloom). When Maleic Hydrizide was applied on Sept. 2 (5 weeks after full bloom) the leaves of the plants were beginning to turn color and become light green or yellow, and 4 times as many tubers showed sprouts as when sprayed on or before Aug. 26. The proper timing of the application has also resulted in a reduced amount required to effect sprout control. Excellent sprout control has been obtained in Idaho with a dosage as low as 3 quarts per acre applied by ground rig or by airplane. If applied at the proper stage of growth which is 2 to 3 weeks after full bloom, Datowise at Aberdeen, this is approximately Aug. 10 to Aug. 25.

A very controversial subject has been the question of yield reductions which has been mentioned before, but again it must be pointed out, that in the several years of trials at Aberdeen, no yield reductions have been experienced under our conditions when Maleic Hydrizide was applied 2 weeks or longer after full bloom.

Blasts rip bus fleet

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Nine school buses which were to have been used in a court-ordered school desegregation program were destroyed and two others were damaged by explosives Monday night.

Police said they found evidence of wires leading to incendiary devices placed next to the gasoline tanks on six of the vehicles. The buses were in a parking lot adjacent to the Pontiac school district garage.

Improved

BOSTON (UPI) — Edwin Finlay, 39, was reported in improved condition today with a transplanted kidney he received from his 80-year-old mother, Mrs. Ethel Finlay, Mrs. Finlay was the oldest kidney donor in history.

"I've had my life," Mrs. Finlay said Monday from her hospital bed. "If anything happens, that's all right. My daughter-in-law Marian needs Edwin to help her five children. That's what's important."

Mrs. Finlay was reported in satisfactory condition from the two-hour operation Sunday. Her son had a deteriorating kidney condition since he was 21 and both his kidneys were removed in February.

McEldowney named

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Monday announced the appointment of Tom D. McEldowney, 45, Boise, as state commissioner of finance — a post McEldowney has held twice on an acting basis.

McEldowney, who will continue to receive $19,500 per year in the post he assumed for the second time on an acting basis since last Jan. 4, succeeds John D. Silva.

A graduate of Boise High School, McEldowney attended Boise Junior College for two years. Except for military service with the U. S. Air Force, McEldowney was employed by Paramount Theaters for some 12 years, and later for two years

About 40 other buses were damaged.

Dana Whitmer, Pontiac school superintendent, said that despite the loss of the buses, valued at $10,000 apiece, the desegregation program — the first of its kind ordered in a northern school district — would begin as scheduled when classes start next Tuesday.

A police spokesman declined "for security reasons" to say whether the parking lot had been guarded, but Whitmer said there had been no security before. He said security would be tightened as of today.

Several rallies have been held, the latest last weekend, to protest the busing orders which would affect about one-third of the 24,000 students in the district. Sunday, Mayor Robert F. Jackson had proclaimed the starting week of classes "Let's Make It Work Week" in an effort to quiet turmoil over the busing issue.

In a Feb. 17, 1970 decision, U.S. District Judge Damon Keith had ordered the Pontiac School Board to "prepare a plan for complete integration of the system."

Keith's decision followed a lengthy trial of a suit filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) on behalf of Donald Davis Jr., a black student then in the Pontiac Schools.

Agency set to oppose air merger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Transportation Department has decided to oppose any mergers among U.S. airlines that would create any new super-sized airline, it was learned today.

The department has prepared a 23-page report, which it planned to release today, outlining its criteria for mergers. Part of the document indicates the department, after consultations with the Justice Department, is against any merger that would result in an airline much larger than United Air Lines — the nation's largest carrier — already is.

Sources said the long-awaited guidelines also indicated the government would oppose mergers between any two airlines which would result in giving the merged airline an unfair size advantage over other competitors in the same markets.

The Transportation Department still plans to support the proposed merger of American and Western Air Lines, the sources said. However, it will call for certain restrictions on the merger. Details of the restrictions were not immediately known.

Station attack seen part of plot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The shotgun attack that riddled a police station, killing a popular desk sergeant and wounding a woman dispatcher, may have been part of a conspiracy to steal an arsenal of weapons that involved as many as five persons, homicide investigators said Monday.

"Indications are that more than two persons were involved," said Lt. Charles Ellis, who heads the investigation into the death of Sgt. John V. Young, the sixth officer slain on duty since early last year and the 1st in the department's history.

Ten inspectors were assigned full-time to the case as extra guards with shotguns patrolled all city stations and other police installations.

"We're under full security," said Supervising Captain Jeremiah Taylor. The new measures augmented existing precautions put into effect after a dynamite blast killed one officer and wounded eight others at Park Station near Haight-Asbury in February, 1970.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca said he was convinced Sunday's attack was meant "to wipe out the station — no survivors."

"We know that shotguns and a 9mm automatic pistol were used," Ellis told newsmen, adding that there were more than 18 shotgun blasts plus pistol shots, leading investigators to believe as many as five persons were involved.

Asked if it could have been a conspiracy, Ellis replied: "I would think so."

A $10,000 reward was offered for information leading to the

Officer supported

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI) — Three witnesses supported Col. Oran K. Henderson's contention Monday that he did investigate My Lai and said he asked some soldiers if they had seen anything "unusual" during the sweep through the South Vietnamese hamlet in 1968.

Their testimony contradicted several witnesses who said during the opening week of Henderson's court martial last week that they were not questioned after the My-Lai operation March 16, 1968.

The charges against Henderson, dereliction of duty; failure to report war crimes to his superior and lying to a special Army investigation, center on the government's charge that although he knew what happened, he did not follow the rules and investigate.

George A. Garza, 24, San Antonio, Tex.; Nicholas Capenza, of the Queens, in New York; and Charles A. West, 25, of Chicago, all testified they were questioned by Henderson when they returned to the Task Force Barker operations center after the My Lai sweep.

Killer or killers who entered the Ingleside Station about 9:40 p.m. Sunday night and unleashed a hail of shotgun and pistol fire through a small circular, spiking hole in a bullet-proof glass door. Sgt. Young, 51, slumped over at his desk, hit fatally by a blast in the chest. Mrs. Ellen Lipney, 30, a dispatcher, was wounded in the shoulder in a second blast and another officer dove safely behind cover.

IN THE GALA ROOM... JIMMY WAKELY

The many talents of the ever popular Country and Western singer, Jimmy Wakely, is one of the reasons Country Music is enjoying so much success in the popular Music Field.

Born in Arkansas and raised in Oklahoma where he started his singing career on WKY, Oklahoma City. As a teenager, Wakely first faced the public from a piano... where he played for Church Choirs and learned his music in "Singing Schools" taught by traveling Music Teachers specializing in gospel music... a sound that is big today in so-called Modern Country Music.

Gene Autry discovered the Wakely Trio and brought them to Hollywood for his CBS Radio Show, Melody Ranch, where upon Wakely decided he wanted to be a singing Cowboy... Quick success followed... singing parts... up to second tenors... then Stardom in 30 Western Features.

The Wakely voice had become familiar to millions by then as his records on Decca were hitting Big Country hits like "GOD LATE", "CIMARRON", "CATTLE CALL".

Then he moved to Capitol Records where he recorded his first million seller — "ONE HAS MY NAME" followed by "I LOVE YOU SO MUCH IT HURTS", "MY HEART CRIES FOR YOU", "HEALTHFUL BROWN EYES" — including close and closer to the "POP" Music field.

Then the big change... Teaming with Margaret Whiting with instant success with such hits as "SLIPPING AROUND" (Over 3 million), "WEDDING BELLS", "SILVER BELLS", "I'D GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY", "BEYOND THE REEF" and others... Jimmy Wakely as the first Country and Western Artist to be voted onto the Top Charts as a "POP" male vocalist.

A natural follow-up to all this was TV, resulting in guest performances with BOB HOPE, BOB SULLIVAN, STEVE ALLEN, KATE SMITH, KEN MURRAY and other Big Name TV shows.

After appearing in large theaters in New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit and the Big Redwoods, and with Country Music being swallowed up by Rock and Roll... Wakely ceased his recording activities and built a Modern Night Club group and played Theatre Lounges in Nevada 28 weeks a year for 7 years... 1961 through 1967.

Lightning fires sear Gem deserts

SHOSHONE — Two lightning caused fires Monday night and Tuesday-morning blackened 9,000 and 1,200 acres respectively in the vicinity of Gooding and Wendell.

The largest fire burned eight miles southeast of Gooding, starting about 8 p.m. in a cheat grass and sagebrush area. Don Runberg, Bureau of Land Management official, said the soil was rocky and sandy and burned cheat grass and sagebrush. About 200 acres of private grazing land was included in the area.

Fighting the fire were 70 men including a tanker crew from Boise, two tanker crews from Burley, and a Gooding rural fire truck. Three Shoshone tanker crews and three tractor crews. It was declared out at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The other fire began at 7 p.m. about four miles northwest of Wendell and was battled by 38 men. Two tankers were sent from Shoshone and a tractor also assisted from Shoshone.

Two Wendell and two Gooding rural fire department trucks assisted. The fire was under control and declared out by 1:30 a.m.

Severe lightning across southern Twin Falls county triggered six small fires in the Sawtooth National Forest, nearly all of them south and west of Nat-Soo-Pah.

Darrell Smith, fire dispatcher, Twin Falls, said forest crews brought all six fires under control during the night and the largest covered 20 acres. He said all burned in brush and grass.

They were located in the Williams Reservoir area, Goat Springs, Cottonwood Creek and in open range southwest of the Nat-Soo-Pah swimming resort but inside the Sawtooth National Forest.

Heavy rain fell Monday night along the foothill areas, helping dampen areas where lightning was heavy.

A fire southeast of Hansen was reported that was a controlled fire with burning permit.

In addition, three other fires broke out in the Burley BLM district as the result of lightning strikes. Shortly after 8 p.m., just moments after the alarm was sounded for the Rupert Industrial fire, a field in Acquias, four miles east of Burley, caught fire.

At 10:30 p.m., lightning struck a haystack at the Idaho Youth Ranch and required firefighting equipment.

Shortly before midnight a pole at 42 North Meridian outside of Rupert was hit, and firefighters were needed to quell the blaze.

None of the fires was serious, although they reduced the number of men battling the blaze in the industrial area.

Promoter pressing fest plan

TWIN FALLS — Jack Teater says he is disappointed and disheartened, but he's going ahead with his plans for the Wood River Rock Festival, scheduled to start on Friday near Bellevue.

Teater told the Times-News on Monday that "I wish I'd never heard of this thing. If anybody even mentioned the words 'rock festival' to me now, I'd tell them to forget it. But I've got to go ahead. I'm committed to go ahead."

Teater said he had no idea his plans would stir up such a storm of angry protest. He himself has been subjected to personal abuse from opponents of the event, and finds it difficult to continue in the face of the vilification.

He said he has spent or committed nearly $20,000 in payments to rock "combos" and other entertainers.

Teater said he would begin preparing the site today. He held off because "they'd just tear it up if I built it up too far ahead." He said he has a backhoe and other equipment at the site in Slaughterhouse Gulch about half a mile east of Bellevue.

Teater faces a critical court test of his plans on Wednesday afternoon in Fifth District Court in Halley. Judge Theron W. Ward will consider a motion of prohibition, ordering a halt to the festival, issued last week by Fifth District Judge Charles Scoggin.

Judge Scoggin, who heard the first arguments in the debate between Blaine County officials and Teater, was disqualified on a motion of prejudice filed by Teater's attorney, Lloyd Wobb, of Twin Falls. Judge Ward was assigned to continue the court action.

At the same time Blaine County's petition is heard on Wednesday, Judge Ward will hear arguments on an opposing petition filed by Wobb, asking that the county be restrained from enforcing an apparently hastily passed ordinance designed to control Teater's crowd.

Meanwhile, ticket sales are continuing, though at a slower pace than anticipated, Teater said. He had no tally on how many tickets have been sold, but said "adverse publicity" concerning the opponents has hindered ticket sales considerably.

Quiet valley may soon resound to rockfest

Panel planned at motor meet

BURLEY — State officials, engineers, national industry leaders and a professor will share the rostrum when the Idaho Motor Transport Association holds its annual convention at Burley's Ponderosa Inn, Sept. 15-17.

Appearing on one panel will be: Harry Nock, president of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission; John Bender, commissioner, Idaho Department of Law Enforcement; Ellis Mathes, state highway engineer, Idaho Department of Highways and Homer Ross, Chief of Sales Tax, Idaho Tax Commission, according to LaVar Ward, Boise, IMTA president.

Humorist I. E. Solberg, a professor of economics from North Dakota, will be the luncheon speaker on the final day, September 17.

Drawing much interest will be the IMTA's third Truck and

Idaho bean panel picks Morrison

GOODING — Tom Morrison, Gooding, has been elected chairman of the Idaho Bean Commission, it was announced today at Commission headquarters in Boise.

Morrison succeeds Robert Colner, Twin Falls, in the Bean Commission chairmanship.

As manager of Bonkan Bean Company in Gooding, Morrison has been a dealer representative of the Bean Commission for more than five years.

Morrison is a native of Iowa who graduated from Colorado State University before moving to Idaho. He is a past president of the Western Bean Dealers Association and the Gooding Rotary. He served two terms on the Gooding School Board.

Dick Fuqua, Declo, was elected vice chairman of the Bean Commission.

Richfield schools add 20

RICHFIELD — Richfield schools opened Monday with an increase of 20 new students.

The high school enrollment is 77 and was 71 when school closed in May. The elementary school has 117 pupils compared to 104 last year. First grade had 11 students; second 12; third 13; fourth 12; fifth 14; sixth 19; seventh 16; and eighth 20.

No Richfield students will travel to Carey for the auto mechanics class. The enrollment for this class was limited to seniors but no seniors signed up.

New subjects being offered this year in the high school include Business English, Speech, Juvenile Delinquency in Sociology, Economics, Business Law, French 3 and Home Economics for a part of the year for eighth grade girls.

At an assembly Monday morning, Supt. Neil Anderson reviewed the dress code which allows girls to wear slacks but no blue jeans. Otherwise, it remains the same as last year, calling for presentable clothing at all times, he said.

500 due to attend meeting

SUN VALLEY — Five-hundred members of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity are holding their 132nd general convention here this week.

A full slate of events is scheduled. Wednesday, leadership seminars convene from 9 to 11 a.m., a ladies' style show starts at 10:30 a.m., and in the evening a barbecue is planned at Trail Creek Barbecue grounds.

The convention ends Saturday.

Appraisal appeals in Lincoln set

SHOSHONE — Lincoln county taxpayers will be given an opportunity to appeal their real property taxes as determined under the new reappraisal program, according to Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey, county clerk. She has been instructed by the county commissioners to send appeal forms to the persons who have verbally objected to their taxes.

Final determination on the taxes, however, will not be made by the commissioners until after the county attorney studies the appeals and figures. If the taxpayers are not then satisfied with the ruling, they may file an appeal to the State Tax Committee, and if the ruling from that body is not to their liking, they may appeal to the district court, Mrs. Kinsey said.

Some county taxpayers have expressed objection to their new taxes, under the reappraisal program, stating they have been taxed unfairly and disproportionately.

Men show, stand idle

FILER — A large crew of men from the Twin Falls Construction Co. showed up today for work on the U.S. Highway 30 construction project west of Filer, but no work started because of continuing wage disagreements between union workers and the company.

A lone picket stood at the site as other workers waited for further orders from union and construction company officials.

Duane Schrank, vice president, Twin Falls Construction Co., was at his attorney's office and unavailable for comment.

The attorney for the Laborers Union Local 296, Pocatello, and Operating Engineers Local 370, Spokane, Wash., was also unavailable.

Workers at the site of the project said they wanted to start work if at all possible. They said that if work wasn't resumed soon, the road would be in bad shape all winter. The projected date of finish was the end of September.

Union workers charge the construction company does not pay union wages. The subcontractors are also working on the project with Twin Falls Construction Co. They are the Lone Pine Construction Co. and Nelsen Construction Co.

Schrank said Saturday about 50 to 60 men are out of work because of the strike. He said the highway project which began last fall is about 85 per cent complete at this time.

Schrank told the Times-News Saturday he was unable to increase the wages on the union and non-union workers on his payroll because of the wage freeze. He said officials of the Internal Revenue Service had advised he would be in violation of the order if wages were increased.

Lightning hits door

TWIN FALLS — Last night's electrical storm got almost too close for comfort for Mr. and Mrs. Chick Hayes, who live on Falls Avenue West in Twin Falls.

Hayes said he and his wife were watching television in their living room when "what sounded like a pistol shot rang through the living room", followed by a tremendous clap of thunder.

He said he and his wife, both saw a shaft of light go from the television set which was between them and travel to their front door. The lightning silenced the TV set for a time, but it came back on and neither of the Hayes was injured.

Last show tonight

HAGERMAN — The last performance of the Antique Festival Theatre for the season is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. today at the Hagerman American Legion Hall. The popular Toby show "Where's my Teddy?" will be presented.

Mrs. Alrich Bowler said the final three-night run of the theatre went on as usual beginning Sunday night in Hagerman despite the fact the group's bus threw a rod Sunday while coming over Galena Summit.

Private cars, a U-haul vehicle and wrecker had to be dispatched to transport the players and equipment to Hagerman. Despite the difficulties, the Sunday night show was only 15 minutes late, Mrs. Bowler said.

The performances had to be presented in the Legion hall instead of outdoors as planned since the outdoor stage is attached to the back of the bus. The bus will probably need a new motor and extensive repairs, Mrs. Bowler said.

Air pollution index

72

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 760 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Good
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution burning at permit level by law should be curtailed where the vast majority of air pollution is dispersed.

Stresses blamed for prison riot

BURLEY — "Too much, too fast" may well describe an underlying cause of the Aug. 10 prison riot at the Idaho State Penitentiary, according to Cassia County State Sen. Robert Saxvik.

Leutenants and administrators carried the same theme. The seven man committee inspected the 100-year old prison and the general consensus was that the aged structure was incapable of handling a stepped up rehabilitation program.

Saxvik said, "The new concepts from a whole new set of administrators brought on an old guard v.s. the new guard battle within the ranks." Saxvik added, "I can't help but feel that a long build-up of discord between the prison administrators and their officers helped build the uneasiness on which the riot was founded. In other words, inmates know when the house isn't in order and will take advantage of the situation."

The committee will hear one nesday with a report of more day of closed-door recommendations which will be testimony Tuesday from former made public and handed to prisoner employes and in-Governor Cecil Andrus and the State Board of Corrections.

Burley merchant presented buckle

BURLEY — Dean Draper, manager of the Merc, presented a belt buckle during the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday luncheon meeting for winning the businessmen's calf tying event at the Cassia county rodeo. Bob Sagers, secretary-manager of the fair board, who presented the buckle, said Draper tied his calf in 28 seconds.

Valley on Oct. 26. Main goal, he said, will be to provide for air transportation needs within the county either by upgrading present airports or building new ones. If the three smallest counties approve the airport issue and the other five counties turn down the proposal, he said, the project would be dropped, as the smaller counties can not fund a regional airport. If voters in four counties approve the airport and later one of the counties which voted against the airport wanted to be included in the district, another election could be held and, if approved, that county could become part of the regional airport district, Manning said. He listed ground transportation, such as the Interstate highway, and railroads to the regional airport as a must. Grant Fillmore, chamber president, said the next chamber meeting will be held at noon Sept. 13 at Bryan's Cafe and the group will not meet next Monday because it is Labor day. Merchants were warned that "hippies are passing through Burley on their way to Bellevue for the rock festival." Some merchants have already reported problems with "hippy types" stopping in their stores and picking up items which they can use to sell or trade.

Minidoka adding open class produce division

RUPERT — Residents are reminded that a new division has been added for this year's Minidoka County fair. Community produce will be a first and time open class division at the county fair. All individuals except commercial producers may enter as exhibitors as they wish. Individual prize money will be awarded for first second and third place. Each individual entry must be arranged on a white paper plate. All exhibits must be entered between 3 and 5 p.m. Wednesday with the superintendent, Mrs. Barbara Studer. Vegetables which must have one inch stems or tops are cucumbers, carrots, kohlrabi, turnips, rutabaga, parsnips, melons, cantaloupe, peppers, egg plant and table beets. Squash and pumpkin must have at two inch stem. Radishes must have one-half inch top and onions need one and one-half tops. Green onions must have six inch tops. Stems are to be left on strawberries and apples. Stems must be removed from raspberries and the tops are to be removed from sugar beets. Persons interested in entering this new community produce division are urged to check with Mrs. Studer or Mrs. Ella Mae Mahler on the number of each item that must be entered as an exhibit, for the numbers range from one to 20 items. Activity at the fairgrounds Tuesday will be decorating of booths during the morning hours and from 1 to 7 p.m. all home economics, health, safety, leadership projects, and open class home arts are to be entered. Wednesday the home economics building will be closed to the public while judging is under way. The pig scramble will be held in the rodeo arena at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. Friday starting at 9 a.m. will be the judging of horses, swine, sheep, open class in dairy and other exhibits. The miniature rodeo will begin at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the rodeo arena. Vern Oyler and Sons, Garland, Utah, will furnish the stock for the miniature rodeo. Boys and girls age 8 through 14 who weigh 120 pounds or less may register for the events. All applicants must have a written signed liability release from their parents. Interested youth may register through Sept. 1 at the County Agent's office; and at the fairgrounds from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Commercial Building. The 4-H and FFA fat stock sale will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at the 4-H arena on the fairgrounds. The sale will be under the direction of Valley Livestock Commission Co., Rupert owned by Wayne May. Pari-mutuel horse racing will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the fairgrounds. Exhibits may be checked out after 9 p.m. Saturday, according to fair officials.

Members of the fair board are Delmar Hollinger, chairman; Elayne White, secretary-treasurer; L. W. Burns, groundkeeper; John Chubb, Jack Hillbrand, Clyde Kendall, Ralph Juregenis, Oris Gibson, Jewell Lowery, Elmer Ketterling, LaMont Smith, county agent and Mrs. Annjean Scholer, home economics agent.

Kiwanians install big sign

BURLEY — Huge letters were emplaced Saturday in the Kiwanis Park at the east edge of Burley, which read "Welcome to Burley". The project was started four years ago by the Burley Kiwanis Club when the members cut weeds and cleaned up the three cornered piece of land between Burley Airport, U.S. 30 and road to airport. The area was cleared, and a mound built to hold letters reading "Welcome to Burley", grass was seeded and all looked well. Concrete blocks, each weighing 700 pounds, were donated by Kolper Concrete Co., Paul. The letters were painted by Hansen Sign Co., Burley, and the huge crane which lifted the letter blocks into place was donated by Larry Wright Construction Co., Burley. Next year the Kiwanis Club plans to plant flowers around the sign.

Barneson hurls Magic Valley to 5-2 victory over Ogden's Dodgers

OGDEN (UPI) — The Magic Valley Cowboys came up with 11 hits to drop the Ogden Dodgers 5-2 in Pioneer League action Monday night.

The Cowboys collected three runs in the sixth and added single runs in the second and ninth frames. Two runs in the sixth came on a two-out double by second baseman, Richard Stumpy.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus lead in the Professional Golfer's Association's weekly money-winning derby was not affected by his first round loss last week to Ray Floyd in the U.S. Professional Match Play at championship at Pinehurst, N.C.

Magic Valley starter Dennis Barneson scattered seven hits while holding the Dodgers to two runs, one a homerun by left fielder Bobby Johnson in the eighth inning.

Loaing pitcher Greg Rejnecker struck out 13 Cowboys over eight innings, but gave up nine hits and four runs. He walked only one batter.

Lotz takes first in L-M meet

NIAMENSA LAKE, N.Y. (UPI) — John Lotz calmly played out of trouble on the final hole Monday to win his first major tournament and take down $12,000 in the $60,000 Ljggott and Myer's Concord Open with a one over par 289.

Lotz, leading runnerup R. H. Sikes by one shot coming into the 72nd hole, put his ball in the woods on the par-4, 18th while Sikes landed in the middle of the fairway. When Sikes was short with his second, Lotz, refusing to gamble, chipped onto the fairway and then fired a nine-iron four feet from the pin. Sikes chipped on and two-putted while Lotz sunk his four-footer for a two-stroke margin.

Packers turn to Bratkowski

DULUTH, Minn. (UPI) — Coach Dan Devine said Monday veteran quarterback Zeke Bratkowski, who has seen only limited action this season, would start Saturday night against Cincinnati in the Green Bay Packers' fifth exhibition game.

Jim Wiechers and Sikes ended up with 291 and 45,850 each for the four rounds over the par-72, 7,205-yard "Monsteur" course at the Concord Hotel.

Bratkowski has been hampered the past two weeks by back problems and he missed one entire game and threw only two passes last Saturday night.

Johnson's hearing set today

DETROIT (UPI)—A grievance filed by Alex Johnson, the 1970 American League batting champion, against the California Angels who suspended him indefinitely in June will be heard by an arbitrator Tuesday.

Lotz had rounds of 72-74 Monday to overtake second round co-leaders Sikes, who had rounds of 73-76 and Jim Jewell, who had rounds of 76-76. Jewell ended up in a tie for seventh with a 294 total.

Devine made the announcement shortly after an hour and a half drill at the University of Minnesota, Duluth. Some 3,000 fans were on hand to watch the workout.

Johnson hopes to collect about half of his $52,500 season's salary if the arbitrator rules in his favor in the grievance against the Angels. It was filed through the Major League Player's Association.

Richard Crawford and Rick Massengale tied for fourth with 292s and Gene Farrell took sixth with a 293.

Devine said no outs would be announced Monday, but announcements would be made Tuesday concerning the lowering of the squad to the NFL limit of 49.

The closed door hearing will be chaired by Louis Gill, a member of the National Academy of Arbitrators, and was expected to get under way Tuesday morning.

Mets won't share park with Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets made it clear to city authorities Monday that they are not prepared to share Shea Stadium with the Yankees "under any circumstances."

THE TIMES-NEWS SPORTS

Lindsay never has advocated the use of Shea by the Yankees, although the idea has been advanced by City Council President Sanford D. Garell and some other officials.

Pac-8 hires Hill

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jess Hill, athletic director of University of Southern California since 1967, was named commissioner of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association Monday.

During an hour-and-a-half luncheon session with Mayor Lindsay in the Mayor's City Hall office, Mets Chairman Donald Grant said his club is prepared if necessary to use the veto power provided in its lease to keep the Yankees out of Shea.

Grant said it would "damage the distinct images of the two teams" if the Yankees and the Mets were to share a stadium.

The council have been reported cooling toward the Yankee Stadium plan since the football stadium in the Bronx with the Yankees—announced last week that they will move in 1975 to New Jersey's proposed Meadowlands Sports Center.

Hill, 64, will be the first full-time commissioner of the PCAA. "Obtaining the leadership of a man with the qualifications of Jess Hill virtually assures the continued success of the conference," Tig said.

No. 3, maybe: The several "mazy oceanfront" bistros along the Southern California coast. Many waiters there are known to pick up about $300 a week.

CLIENT INQUIRES if I'm old enough to remember that famous nude painting called "September Morn." Not really, but read up on it. Where is it now? In New York City's Metropolitan Museum of Art. And who was the model? All I can tell you about the model is she married a wealthy fellow, had three children, and gained weight. Paul Chabas painted that thing in 1912. Seasoned citizens say it created an international furor about nudity in art. It's known somebody, maybe Chabas himself, hired a couple of leering old men and several wide-eyed little boys to pose for photographs in front of it. When newspapers published said photographs, the clergy screamed, the proper lady lowered its eyes, and the price of the painting jumped to $10,000.

CUSTOMER SERVICE Q "Can a mule reproduce?" A. A male mule never, a mare mule rarely... Q "Any truth to that claim a girl with the habit of winking is easy to kiss?" A. Our Love and War man says that widely accepted belief remains unconfirmed... Q "Can you milk an elk?" A. It has been done... Q "How many students in this country are getting to school by bus right now?" A. About 34 per cent.

DIVORCE hits men harder than it hits women, that's generally understood. Just take the suicide rate among the divorced, for example. With women, it's three times that of the married. With men, it's four times that of the married.

Time for living

By ROGERS FRANKLIN
When school resumes this fall, you'll see a number of gray-haired students loaded with books, heading to classes. You may spot John Webster, 72, enrolling for the fall semester at New York University to study government and contemporary literature. His reason? "I refuse to let my mind stagnate," he says. "The world is constantly changing, and I intend to stay on top of what's happening." Or take Mrs. Minnie Pearl Huntley, 68, who never got to any kind of school. A great-grandmother now, she sits with first-graders in Federal Way, Wash., learning to read and write. Why? "I always knew that if I had the opportunity, I'd go to school. Then if I couldn't learn, I'd die happy, knowing at least I tried."

Current U.S. college campus scene not all grim protests

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's not all protest marches and grim reports among students on college campuses. Buoyant spirits still prevail on the campus and an appreciation for the lighter side of life mixes with the business of learning. Bumper stickers, seals and lapel pins with fun slogans are stock items for the upcoming school season. Bumper stickers in vibrant colors contain such messages as: "Hitterite—Write Now for Eye Help." Another reads: "Live in the past. It's cheaper." And there is this one: "This is not a bumper sticker. It's a flat banana."

Martha weeps because she can't go to Viet

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Martha Mitchell is getting a backlash of caustic letters as a result of her observation "The Vietnam war is over." And it makes her miserable. Teary-eyed, the wife of the attorney general has been reading mail which says: "What do you know about Vietnam?" and "Why don't you shut your mouth?" Her correspondents, she is certain, do not know that she has a son in Vietnam, Lt. Jay Jennings, 21, who is living and fighting "in the most primitive conditions." She defends her remark on grounds of the dwindling number of American casualties in Vietnam. "Do you know there is not one Marine in Vietnam," she said. Besides, she pointed out, she guesses I can quote the good Senator George McGovern who says the war is no longer an issue." The vibrant outspoken Washington personality was interviewed at lunch. As always the blonde Mrs. Mitchell, flashing a dimpled smile, attracted a lot of attention. "I want to go to Vietnam," she said. "I want to go over and see what it's really like ... the drug problem. They won't let me. I think they're afraid I'll get killed." Mrs. Mitchell did not back away one inch from her flip comment "We're thinking of running Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally for Pope." "I just think that would be a good place for him," she said when asked about rumors that Connally was becoming the "strong man" in the Nixon administration. The only time she hedged was when she was asked whether her husband would leave the Justice Department post to become Nixon's campaign manager in the presidential election, as he was in 1968. "The President and I haven't decided what to do with John yet," she quipped. Speaking of the attorney general, Mrs. Mitchell said: "He was an ultra-liberal, a few years ago and I had to convert him. He was pretty much on the side of the poor man." Mrs. Mitchell was the ranking female guest at a Nixon dinner party last week when the First Lady flew to Florida to be with her daughter Julie Eisenhower, who suffered a broken toe. "I came the closest to being the first lady in my life," she said.

Portland, Yakima youth take top honors at S.V.

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Karen Ralle, 21, Portland, and Joe Thola, 20, Yakima, Wash., took top honors Saturday at the Sun Valley Summer Ice Skating Championships. Nearly 250 figure skaters from 13 states and one Canadian province competed in the two-day championships that ended Saturday. Miss Ralle was awarded the Hartshorn Memorial Trophy, given for outstanding achievement in ice dancing each year. She scored the highest cumulative point total by passing all four of the gold dance tests, also won the ladies dance title. Thola is the first winner of the Hans Johnsen Memorial Trophy, awarded to the senior men's champion. Other class winners included: Novice pairs: Allison Blake, Ontario, Calif., and Greg Boyvin, Torrance, Calif. Junior pairs: Vickie Carr and Paul Fassone, both Ogden, Utah. Senior women: Sylvia Menzies, Los Angeles, Calif.

Gold dance: Linda Salter and Russ Salter, both Sun Valley, Silverdance: Hermine Vreengoer and William Ve Grott, both Santa Anna, Calif. Junior men: Scott Cramer, Wyncote, Penna. Junior ladies: Wendy Burgo, Tarzana, Calif. Novice men: Terry Jewell, Santa Monica, Calif. Novice ladies: Kerl Schmer, Portland, Ore. Men's dance: Russ Salter, Sun Valley. Ladies dance: Karen Ralle, Portland. Bronze dance: Lisa Mosatt and Andrew Mowatt, Vancouver, B. C. Veterans' dance: Linda Sloth, Covina, Calif., and Robert Amodei, Garden Grove, Calif. Intermediate men: Walter Kelley, Berkeley, Calif. Intermediate ladies: Robin Levi, Portland, Ore. Special team girls: Louise Davidoff, Sherman Oaks, Calif. Juvenile ladies: Cynthia Kawano, Portland, Ore.

Subjuvenile girls: Kim Di Metro, Portland, Ore. Special team boys: Randy Braca, La Mirada, Calif. Juvenile boys: Michael Lettenberger, Seattle, Wash. Subjuvenile boys: Chuch Abbott, Littleton, Colo.

Doodles tell all

NEW YORK (UPI) — Careful with your doodles — those seemingly aimless things you put on paper, usually when talking on the phone at home or office. The habit's as widespread as the common cold but what you may not know is that your doodles frequently tell something about your psyche. Dr. S. Harvard Kaufman, a psychiatrist who uses children's drawings as a diagnostic tool, in an interview in New York told what some of the more common doodles signify to him. "Take people who make the old Palmer Method drill: connected up-and-down lines or continuous, connected spiral figures. For many well over their 30s, filling pages with these was a first grade assignment. "These people," the Seattle psychiatrist said, "seem to be in regression or expressing a wish to go back to the comfortable experience of doing something that gained approval. You can't see this in younger persons because those exercises aren't taught anymore."

Another type of doodle will put his initials down and keep running pen or pencil over them, making the initials over them, or in some cases a signature heavier and heavier.
