Solons can't see aid plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has invoked executive privilege to avert a confrontation with Congress and an immediate halt to the Foreign Military Assistance Program.

Congress and Nixon over requests for secret information, and beyond that the more basic question of what role Congress should play in the foreign policy field.

It was the second time the administration has used the tactic—the previous case being in June, 1970, when it was invoked to keep FBI reports out of the hands of a House subcommittee.

Nixon used the procedure Tuesday to keep the Senate Foreign Relations Committee from obtaining a copy of a five-year plan on military assistance to foreign countries. He contended the document was a private exchange of views within the executive branch and if it were shared with Congress "the full, frank and healthy expression of opinion which is essential for the successful administration of government would be muted."

But it marked another chapter in the battle between

But Foreign Relations Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said the committee must have the plan before it can make a judgment on whether to continue the $705 million-a-year Military Assistance Program, which contains funds to arm Cambodia, Laos and 28 other countries and which he contends could draw the United States into another Vietnam-style war.

TF aides give plan for vote

TWIN FALLS — Two of the four Twin Falls City Council members whose terms expire at the end of this year have announced plans for the forthcoming Nov. 2 election, one to seek re-election and the other to retire from the council.

The action ended a threat by the General Accounting Office (GAO), the Congressional watchdog on federal expenditures, to stop further expenditures from the $705 million-a-year military aid account until the report was furnished. The GAO had acted after the committee voted 15 to 0 to invoke a little-known 1961 law that required all requests for foreign aid documents to be furnished within 35 days unless executive privilege were invoked. The deadline came up at midnight Tuesday.

Eugene Stacey will retire, and Winston Jones will run again.

Nixon had declared in his second month in office that executive privilege would be invoked "only in the most compelling circumstances and after a rigorous inquiry into the actual need for its exercise."

Initial steps for the Nov. 2 municipal election will be taken in the next regular council meeting Sept. 7 with the council expected to approve a declaration of election and establish polling places and times.

City Clerk Edythe Kooztz said as soon as the election has been declared, nominating petitions will be available at her office for prospective candidates. The first day for filing petitions is Sept. 23 and the deadline is Oct. 4.

The four council members whose terms expire at the end of this year are Mayor Frank Feldtman, Eugene Stacey, Frank Cook and Winston Jones.

Mayor Feldtman said today he is not ready to announce his election plans at this time.

Eugene Stacey had been appointed on the death of John Flatt to complete nearly one year remaining in his term. He served another four-year term. Stacey also serves as city council representative on the public library board and the planning and zoning commission.

Winston Jones, appointed to fill the term left by the death of George Bennett, will have served two full years at the end of the present term. Jones was an unsuccessful candidate at the time of the election of Bennett and was appointed by the council two years ago. He serves as a representative on the downtown coordinating committee and directs the water and sewer departments.

Feldtman has served eight years on the council, being mayor the past two years, succeeding Egon Kroll who did not seek re-election two years ago.

On European exchanges the dollar staged a mixed performance. It was a bit higher in France, Belgium, West Germany, Switzerland and in Scandinavia.

Frank Cook who has also completed four years on the council has not made an announcement yet.

Festival fencing

WORKMEN drive steel fence post at border of proposed site for a rock music festival scheduled north of Bellevue over Labor Day weekend. Crews installed toilets, strung fence and began site improvements on Tuesday. (See related stories p. 15)

Tensions eased in festival area

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer
BELLEVUE — Tensions seemed to have eased today in Slaughterhouse Canyon, site of the Wood River Rock Festival scheduled to begin Friday.

but Jack Teater, festival promoter, said he has a 50-foot easement across the property. Paul Clontz, Kimberly, who contracted to build the fence, said he has no feelings pro or con about rock festivals.

In anticipation of a favorable ruling, Boyd said work has begun on preparing the site for the expected crowd of 8,000 young people.

Workmen said they have not had any trouble and do not expect any. Peter Cooper, Los Angeles, who arrived early for the rock concert and talked with several townspeople said "When they find out we're just here to groove on the music, everything will be all right."

Cooper said "We're trying to maintain peace and tranquility out here. A lot of townspeople are thinking that if we keep a lid on it here, they will try to keep a lid on in town."

Several incidents have occurred in the past several days. Teater's car was vandalized, its tires slashed and its headlights broken, when he left it to make a telephone call.

This morning workmen set up a string of steel fence posts across the mouth of the canyon. Barbed wire will be installed and wooden fence posts will be used.

Today's atmosphere at the rock festival site north of Bellevue contrasted to reaction Tuesday of the owner of the land where the festival is scheduled, Larry Boyd, 60. He said a small minority of citizens in Blaine County are creating more problems by their actions and are "acting like small children who've lost their suckers in the sand."

To meet the threat of further violence and individual acts of sabotage, Teater said, three security guards have been retained by the backers. "Nobody better start any trouble," he commented.

A backhoe was brought to the site Tuesday evening and the operator said he contracted to dig holes for the sanitary facilities and to level the entrance road. He also may plow out several fire guards. Plans call for 200 sanitary units.

At the same time Boyd expressed confidence the court battle over the festival would be quickly resolved and the event will go on as planned Friday.

A county ordinance passed Aug. 9 places numerous restrictions on large gatherings. Boyd and Teater have charged the law is unconstitutional and merely an attempt to stop the festival.

Crews will mark with flags a second road to the site along the floor of the canyon to the Muldoon Canyon road. That road would cross private land.

A ruling to determine the fate of the proposed festival was expected at a hearing set for 1:30 p.m. today from District Judge Theron Ward.

Ky name off Viet ballot

SAIGON (UPI)—The government announced today that presidential elections will be held as scheduled Oct. 3 with President Nguyen Van Thieu as the sole candidate. Reversing itself again, the Supreme Court ruled Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky off the ballot.

Retired Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh already had removed himself from the presidential race on the grounds that Thieu had rigged it. Minh issued a statement today obviously aimed at U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker accusing him of slanderous and insolent colonialism in his efforts to persuade Minh to remain in the campaign.

government agencies have been ordered to make preparations to carry out the elections on schedule. The Supreme Court ruling on Ky was its second reversal. He was first ruled off the ballot on grounds that he did not have enough valid nominating signatures under a new election law pushed through by Thieu. Then it reversed itself and put him back in the race. Today it ruled him off again.

The announcement came as combat police battled two separate groups of students taking to the streets in Saigon in demonstrations against the government, the war and Americans.

A communique from the prime minister's office said that Thieu and his running mate, Sen. Trau Van Huong, are now the only ticket running for the presidency and vice presidency of the Republic of Vietnam in the next Oct. 3, 1971, elections.

The communique said that the meaning of Bunker as slanderous, insolent colonialists. Minh was angered by a statement attributed to U.S. diplomatic sources that he had asked the Americans to run the Oct. 3 elections.

Gem board sets TMA hearing

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's Public Utilities Commission today scheduled a public hearing in Boise Sept. 22 on its own complaint Trans Magic Airlines is no longer serving northern Idaho.

In a formal complaint and notice of hearing, the PUC said if it finds that Trans Magic has abandoned its temporary operating authority to serve that area that authority will be removed.

One student was injured, 40 to 50 of the demonstrators were arrested, and an American GI was pulled from his motorcycle by students and beaten.

It was the first open violence of the current political turmoil in South Vietnam.

Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, who withdrew from the presidential race charging that Thieu had rigged the Oct. 3 election, today criticized U.S. officials for implying Minh wants the United States to supervise the balloting.

About 1,000 university students marched seven miles in a funeral procession to bury a student allegedly killed in military training. The government said the student, identified as Pham Hanh, died of meningitis.

Police hit Thieu foes

SAIGON (UPI)—Combat police fired tear gas and M16 automatic rifles today to break up a column of students marching in a funeral procession and handing out leaflets attacking the regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The students carried banners that said "Thieu Is War and Paramilitary Training." As the students marched, they tossed handfuls of anti-Thieu leaflets into crowds lining the streets.

When the students arrived at Phu Lam Bridge on the city's sparsely populated western edge and two miles from the cemetery, Vietnamese combat police and civilian officers blocked their way.

600 work as spud lines open

HEYBURN — The J. R. Simplot potato processing plant in Heyburn started its season today with about 600 people back at work, according to Hugo Daboglio, area general manager.

The potatoes going through the plant are being trucked in from the Wendell area and from west of Pocatello.

He said the plant will be shut down over the Labor Day weekend. Any adjustments needed in the plant's equipment will be made at that time.

The plant will reach full production capacity by Sept. 7, Daboglio said.

Fire loss set at over $1 million

RUPERT — Fire crews are still standing by at the scene of the fire that destroyed buildings owned by Big O Tires Inc. and Magic Valley Food, Inc. Monday night.

The fire destroyed the warehouse of the Big O Co. which supplies 12 Big O stores and 27 other retail outlets. Total loss was estimated at more than $1 million.

Rolland Jones, president of the food concern estimated the damage to his storage warehouse at about $400,000. He said that this was actually a conservative estimate. He said the value of the inventory of potato flakes, the building, some equipment and machinery, supplies and containers were included in the damage estimate.

TF students shift schools

By LEE TREMAINE, Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — A number of students at Bickel School located at Second Avenue and Second Street East, got their first "note from the teacher" today — asking them to attend Morningside School, on Morningside Drive south of Addison Avenue.

Superintendent George Staudaber said a sizable discrepancy in class size between elementary schools is requiring a shift of some students in the first six grades. Notes were sent to the parents explaining the situation and asking that the students change their classrooms.

First-grade classrooms in Morningside School are very small, with 73 first-graders spread over four classrooms of 18 and 19 students. At Bickel, 134 first-grade boys and girls enrolled in classes ranging from 27 to 30 pupils each. Some of these will be asked to move.

TF students shift schools

being the first to move, Staudaber said. The discrepancy between schools, apparently brought on by a shift in residential patterns, may require minor changes in boundary lines, Staudaber said, but no major boundary changes are anticipated in the foreseeable future.

Late registrants are continuing to increase the school district's student load, with 90 more signing up on Tuesday, the superintendent said. The total of 6,388 represents about five per cent increase, when the additional students from the former St. Edward's parochial school are considered. Their addition cannot be considered an annual increase in district population, Staudaber explained. Initial enrollment figures show a marked disparity in many grades, particularly in the first and third grades, with Morningside's 18 student first-grade classrooms contrasting markedly with the 30 students in a first-grade classroom at Bickel and 28 at Harrison School.

WASHINGTON — Working quietly back home in Kenosha, Wis., Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, has just about decided to push hard for a tax break for low-income families that could cost up to $1 billion a year.

Such an increase would affect only the lowest income groups and would have an immediate impact on consumption spending. The reason: families with incomes low enough to take the minimum standard deduction

PARTIAL ECLIPSE

ANDREW TULLY.

A Sexual Junk

WASHINGTON — The State Department, which often goes to inordinate lengths to suppress a good story, is frantically trying to persuade a Congressional investigating team to hush up a tale of high sexual junks by U.S. diplomatic personnel in three Iron Curtain countries.

All the cases for which the investigators claim documentation involve the use of foreign nationals in the role of irresistible seducer. The girl who used the suicide gimmick was French — or at least she had a French passport.

As told by defectors who have been given asylum here, the story involves several American staff members, both male and female, who have been compromised by romantic adventures with Communist intelligence agents.

Whether these gay dalliances will become a matter of public record apparently is now up to Secretary of State William Rogers. The probers' material has been bucked up to Rogers' office, and a source at State says the Secretary probably will decide within a few weeks how much cooperation the department can afford to give the Capitol Hill sleuths.

PAUL HARVEY

Next Move

We can and will do something drastic about skyjacking. But historians are holding their breaths because historically we react adequately only after a major tragedy.

for skyjacking and the increased risk increases the challenge. If this theory is valid then two remedial measures can resolve 90 per cent of the problem.

This position could prove to be a mistake. If State can come up with a good argument, a Congressional big wheel has offered assurances that information on the cases will be treated confidentially.

Diplomacy first. All nations must agree to return all such pirates to wherever they came from.

Meanwhile, probably as a hint to State, some of the material has been made available to this space, with what seems to be ample documentation. It is a saga of more or less tender passions, experiments in group sex and gay partying in secluded villas owned and operated by Communist secret police organizations.

And once returned they should be committed to an unglamorous beige-walled mental hospital where they belong.

In the only case made available in substantial detail, for example, a lower-level male diplomat fell for what is probably the oldest confidence game in the espionage dodge. He allegedly agreed to deliver a few documents of less-than-routine importance to a beautiful redhead when she threatened to commit suicide in his apartment.

Castro did return skyjacker LaBadie a year ago. Thereofore 75 per cent of all sky pirates headed for Cuba; since then only 25 per cent have. Does this suggest a mission by Kissinger to Castro? No. Politically oriented overtures to Castro are unbecoming. Besides, they've been attempted, however clumsily, and failed.

Fortunately, the poor devil had sex thoughts and told all to his sister before he could make delivery to his girl friend. He was recalled to Washington a few days later.

Medical diplomacy, on the other hand, penetrates frontiers without friction. Archonemies can co-operate in the common social good.

Castro would like to make a deal. He no longer gets paid ransom for diverted aircraft. In fact he pays the considerable cost of harboring these average children and armor-plating cockpits and armed-guarding his own planes. A reciprocal extradition treaty would benefit both parties.

These masters would cost a fraction of the $200 million we are presently spending on magnetometers, sky marshals and court proceedings. If it is agreed that they are worth the skyjacks, let's try them this side — rather than the other side — of a swarc of the govern-ment's major tragedy.

Mills has made no final decision, but he advised President Nixon to explore a possible increase of the minimum deduction during White House talks Aug. 17 on Mr. Nixon's new tax program. The President promptly ordered Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, masterminding the President's new economic program, to look into it.

Mills is also toying with other changes in the Nixon program. He may support an immediate $50 increase in exemptions, instead of waiting until Jan. 1, 1972 for the $100 exemption increase in the President's plan. He also leans toward last April 1 as the effective date for the proposed 10 per cent investment tax credit, instead of August as Mr. Nixon asked.

A footnote: Despite a rising demand by Democratic party liberals and organized labor for an excess profits tax, Mills remains adamantly opposed. Such a tax, he tells aides, would siphon off profits at the top that otherwise might go into new plant and equipment.

The continuing popularity of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in the face of rising criticism that the old man (now 78) has abused his power and ought to quit is stunningly revealed in the fund drive by a pro-Hoover lobby called Friends of the FBI (FOF), Inc.

Organized only in late May, FOF has now received well over $100,000 in cash gifts from a direct-mail campaign that has solicited contributions from backers of right-wing causes, and what Lee Edwards, its public relations adviser, calls "middle Americans."

Thus some contributors to FOF, who sent their checks on the promise of tax-exemption in solicitation letters signed by television actor Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. (star of "The FBI"), may now not be all that certain of getting it.

In short, unless the IRS declares FOF a legitimate tax-exempt outfit, the pro-Hoover organization has lost its tax shelter.

A footnote: The $100,000-plus collected by FOF will finance what is described as a blue-ribbon commission of lawyers and scholars to study the FBI's history and write a report titled: "The FBI: Its Record and Performance."

Editor, Times-News: This is the day when young and old alike are becoming more aware of the moral implications of individual and corporate behavior. I am persuaded that we should be more consistent in pin-pointing the responsibility for more of our social ills.

Therefore, I believe this is the time to demand that industries which make and sell alcoholic beverage be made financially as well as legally responsible for the care and rehabilitation of those incapacitated by the use of their product.

Editor, Times-News: The 1971 legislature passed H.B. 241, referred to as the Farm Labor Bill. It became law without the governor's signature.

The opponents of this law say it is unconstitutional and the attorney general has concurred by stating that the bill is "fatally defective from a constitutional standpoint." We must remember this is only an attorney's opinion even though he is attorney general. Other attorneys also well qualified, believe the law is constitutional.

It must be considered so, until declared otherwise by the courts. So far no one has seen fit to challenge the law in the courts. Perhaps the idea is to create enough confusion so the 1972 Legislature will not renew the legislation as it is effective only until March 31, 1972.

The law prohibits picketing by anyone who has not worked on the premises to be picketed, for a minimum of six days. This provision protects not only the grower but also the workers and the consuming public.

In conclusion let us remember that laws must be obeyed even though we may not be in total agreement with them. There are legal ways to get these laws changed or revoked. Only by living within and supporting our laws can we Americans expect our nation to advance and prosper.

After The Freeze

Repercussions from President Nixon's drastic reversal of economic policy have been settling down and attention has begun to shift to the questions of what will be done after the 90-day freeze on wages and prices.

Continue to be effective, and the effects of the 10 per cent surcharge on imports and the free-floating dollar are favorable, the transition could be easier.

Plainly, the freeze cannot be thawed as quickly as it was started without unacceptable risks of suddenly ballooning wages and prices. No one, least of all President Nixon, wants a strait-jacket of mandatory wage and price controls.

The dollar apparently remains the sun around which other world currencies revolve. It remained surprisingly steady as foreign currency managers supported it rather than accept the invitation to devalue the dollar and thereby raise the value of marks, yen, francs and pounds.

Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans has stated some form of mandatory controls will be necessary during transition from the freeze to free market status. While the President and his economic advisers ponder their future course, rigors of the freeze may be eased in a few cases.

The July reduction in the pace of living costs indicated Nixon's original "game plan" was working, but with such slowness that a startling reversal of policy was decided upon to stimulate the economy and to force our international trading partners to deal more equitably with us after 25 years of profiting from American generosity.

At the same time, pressures for other scheduled contractual increases will mount. And if business profits do not improve, pressure for higher prices also will be inevitable.

Nixon could not accept the "do-nothing" label being pinned on his economic stance by Democrats, eager to repeat their success of 1932 when President Hoover was blamed for the Depression and his unspectacular efforts, although measurably effective, did not change his image of being unable to cope with the crisis.

Non-inflationary guidelines and some kind of review mechanism to monitor wages and prices must get hard study in the time remaining.

Today, the resurgence of American confidence in the future and in themselves thanks to a bold and adroit President, augers well for the nation's ability to weather the freeze and whatever comes thereafter.

Meantime, if the inflation breaks that began to take hold in July

(1) — Students going full-time at the College of Southern Idaho are required to take out a health-accident insurance policy. We have heard ripples of complaint because of this rule. Why? The insurance is required of all full-time students regardless of other insurance they may have in force. For instance, we know a man and wife who work days and who will go to school nights. They are taking enough courses so that they are considered full-time students — and were required to take out the insurance at the school. In both instances they are insured at their jobs — in the same insurance company insuring them at the school. Now anyone in their right mind knows the insurance company will not pay for duplicate claims filed in case of illness or accident. Why stick these kids $17 each for coverage they do not need? To our way of thinking that is just one of the UN-NECESSARY reasons going to college costs so much these days!

"Oh, dear, not again!" said the upstairs official, "they do it all the time." And that's just as far as it went. The theft was overlooked, apparently as something that happens so often there is nothing new or really disturbing about it. We would like to point out that with the attitude shown by store personnel as in this instance, is it any wonder shoplifting is costing merchants in Twin Falls thousands of dollars a year — and is causing honest people to have to pay more for what they buy!

Landing planned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. William C. Westmoreland and his command staff in Saigon drew up plans in 1968 for an invasion of North Vietnam by sea and air, Westmoreland's personal spokesman said today.

Maj. Gen. Winant B. Sidle told UPI that the invasion plans were presented to President Lyndon B. Johnson as perhaps "the only way to win the war."

Sidle said Westmoreland, then U.S. commander in Vietnam and now Army chief of staff, was well aware Johnson might rule out the invasion plan on the basis of other than military considerations. These included the political climate at home and international repercussions.

"The word we got (after the massive Communist Tet assault on South Vietnam's cities in February 1968) was that the administration was going to reconsider its strategy in Vietnam," Sidle said.

"This (the invasion plan) was the recommendation of the administration was going to step up the war. But as you know, Johnson decided to do just the opposite."

On March 31 Johnson announced a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam and then said he would not seek re-election.

Sidle made his comments in reply to reporters' questions about an article in a magazine, Foreign Policy, by John B. Henry II of Harvard University.

Westmoreland himself refused comment.

The article said that Westmoreland believed the United States would need 206,000 more troops in Vietnam in addition to the nearly 550,000 then there. The additional troops would have been necessary for the invasion as well as other measures Westmoreland was considering.

Sidle said Westmoreland did not make a flat request of 206,000 troops, Sidle related, "he said, 'If you (President Johnson) want to do this and this and this, it will take 206,000 more men.'"

Sidle said the magazine article was "not completely accurate" in describing Westmoreland's plan. Sidle said it did not show that Westmoreland knew the plan was only one of several that Johnson might choose.

Business firm suit dismissed

BOISE (UPI)—Federal Judge Ray McNichols has dismissed a case in which a former Buley farm equipment dealer contended he was "forced out of business illegally by International Harvester Co."

Ruling from the bench on the eighth day of a jury trial, McNichols said International Harvester was entitled to costs it incurred in defending the law suit brought by Chisholm Brothers Farm Equipment Co.

Chisholm Brothers, charging the firm violated the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, accused the farm-implement company of forcing it out of business in 1968 as part of a plot to replace it with a "factory store."

Dance as commercial art suffering

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The dance as a commercial art form is enjoying the same popularity boom as big pole-sitting and intercontinental spellin' travel.

The observation can be documented by Miss Juliet Prowse who is perhaps—in fact, assuredly—the most successful contemporary commercial dancer extant.

She also is probably the only one who works steadily.

While dancing may not be a dead art, it is suffering fallen arches.

"Where can a dancer dance today?" Miss Prowse asked, knowing full well what the answer would be.

Hardly anyplace.

"In the very old days night clubs always included a dance team along with a comedian and a singer or magician," the South African-born beauty said.

"Today there are almost no night clubs except in Las Vegas.

"Even there the dancers are in the chorus, not featured."

Juliet is the exception. She can be seen there this week with her own specialized act which includes singing, comedy numbers along with the coifing.

"If a dancer wants to appear on television there is only Carol Burnett's show and Dean Martin's Ed Sullivan's gone and none of the other musical shows are not set up for dancers."

A trained ballerina, Juliet recognizes that modern dance troupes and ballet groups travel around the country presenting concerts.

But none of the dancers, excepting a star or two, ever become rich, famous and footlose so to speak.

"That is the 'arty' side of dancing," Juliet explained. "There is a limited audience for that sort of entertainment."

"Fortunately I keep busy with summer stock, playing Vegas and doing occasional television guest spots. But I'd advise anyone thinking of becoming a dancer to develop another talent or career on the side."

Miss Prowse is unsure whether audiences deserted dancing or vice versa, making a point of the few star dancers around these days.

There are no big names to attract audiences—people like Carl Haney, Gwen Verdon, Gene Kelly and Fred Astaire," Juliet said.

Toe, tap, ballroom, modern, funky, soft shoe, all of it is going begging. It's enough to make a hooper cry, unless her name is Juliet Prowse.

Youths top Teton dam backed road hazard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Driving or riding with other youths is the greatest hazard standing between American young people and reaching adulthood.

The National Transportation Safety Board in a report on young drivers issued Monday said 17,700 young people between the ages of 15 and 25 were killed in traffic accidents in the United States in 1969.

This was 7,400 more than would have died if their fatality rate had been the same as that of drivers 25 and older.

LEWISTON (UPI)—John Streiff, chairman of the Idaho Water Resources Board, has sent a letter to the chairman of the National Council on Environmental Quality expressing strong support for Lower Teton Dam and Irrigation Project on the Snake River in eastern Idaho.

Streiff said Sunday he wrote the letter in objection to one received by the environmental council last week from Scott Reed, board member from Coeur d'Alene, calling for an immediate halt to construction of the project, saying the dam could not be justified economically.

"Mr. Reed's conclusion that the Teton Dam should not and cannot legally be constructed as proposed is a classic instance of a passionate preservationist's devotion to the rocks and hills of Idaho which is oblivious to the needs of the fruited plain," Streiff said.

The chairman asked the environmental council to take no action which would deprive Idaho of power and irrigation provided by the dam.

Movie season on tube here

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The time to catch up on movies you have missed is almost here as the television networks prepare to launch their new seasons with popular motion pictures for maximum ratings impact.

On Sept. 18, for instance, CBS-TV begins the seventh season of its Thursday night movies with Paul Newman in "Harper," about the private eye created by the splendid novelist Ross MacDonald. Also in the film are Lauren Bacall, Julie Harris, Shelley Winters, Janet Leigh, Arthur Hill and Robert Wagner.

Hepburn portray lifelong liberals who "find their beliefs put to the test when their daughter returns from a holiday with a prospective husband in tow," a black research doctor (Stoney Polter). Cecil Kellaway and Beah Richards are also in the cast.

Movies made specifically for television are, of course, the current rage because of ratings success. Truman Capote, for example, is reported writing an original screenplay for CBS-TV's new series of 90-minute films, which debuts this fall. The story, says the network, "deals with a power struggle among a prison population."

On Sept. 18 and 20, meanwhile, NBC-TV will use John Wayne's big-style Western "The Alamo" as a two-part presentation that will kick off both the network's Saturday and Monday night motion pictures. The story, of course, concerns the epic battle of the war for the independence of Texas, and Wayne produced and directed the movie as well as starring in it along with Richard Widmark and Laurence Harvey.

On Sept. 19, CBS-TV, starting its new season of Sunday night movies, will offer "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," in which Spencer Tracy and Katharine Albertson, Ann Sothern and Diane Baker.

Policy change coming

DENVER (UPI)—The U.S. Forest Service Monday announced it will make changes in its policies because of an in-house study critical of the organization's clear-cutting practices in Wyoming's national forests.

Clear-cutting has triggered much controversy in Wyoming, with U.S. Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., leading the call for a moratorium on the practice.

The year-long study was released July 12. It showed that forest values have suffered in the Teton, Bridger, Shoshone and Big Horn National Forests because of widespread clear-cutting.

The study was led by Carl M. Bernstein of the Rocky Mountain Forest and Range Experiment Station in Fort Collins, Colo.

In a joint statement released Monday regional foresters W. J. Lucas of Denver and Vern Hamre of Ogden, Utah, said "We recognize that a definite and visible change in approach to management of our timber resources from that practiced a few years ago is required."

Clear-cutting is the complete harvesting of timber in a given area—rather than cutting only mature or over-ripe trees. The study showed clear-cuts of up to a thousand acres in size were authorized in Wyoming.

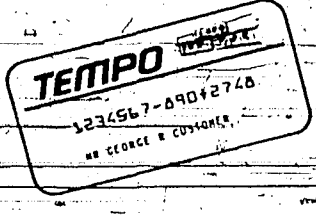

The two foresters said the four Wyoming forests now have a 35-acre maximum-size limit for new timbering contracts.

Assault victims file suit

CHICAGO (UPI)—A $1.25 million damage suit has been filed in circuit court against the Palmer House Hotel on behalf of two Japanese-American girls whose throats were slashed by an unknown assailant in July, 1970.

The suit was filed Monday by Carol Ranko Yamada, now 18, who was seriously injured in the incident, and Mabel Okubo, mother of Evelyn Okubo, who was stabbed to death.

The girls, both from Stockton, Calif., were stabbed at the hotel while attending a convention of the Japanese-American Citizens League.

The suit charged that the hotel failed to provide adequate security for its guests.

Miss Yamada was able to describe her assailant to police, but no one has been charged in the case.

Raw fish unfrozen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An unprocessed fish may be a "raw agricultural product" as far as the Cost of Living Council is concerned, but one blithe spirit in the bureaucracy thought that definition was too stodgy.

In ruling that raw fish are not covered by the price freeze, this verse appeared in the council's daily announcement: "A fish or other denizen of the seas, when once netted or fished; is not subject to the freeze, until shelled, skinned, skinned or scaled."

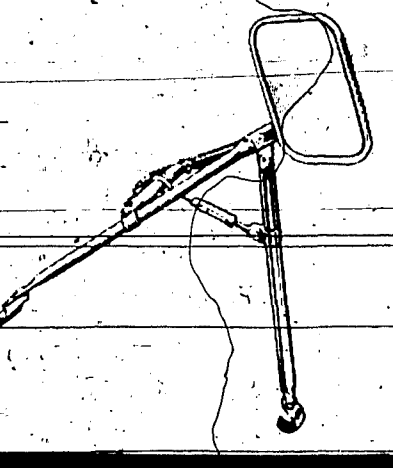

Unemployed list grows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has added eight more metropolitan areas to the list of major cities experiencing "substantial unemployment" of 6 per cent or more.

The additions brought the total metropolitan areas in the category to 62—the highest number since 63 were listed in March, 1962, and 62 the following month. The all-time high since the statistics were started in 1965 was 101 cities in April, 1961.

The eight areas listed in a report issued Monday were Boston, Philadelphia, Fort Worth, Tex., Dayton, Ohio, Shreveport, La., Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton, Pa., Charleston, S.C. and Davenport, Iowa-Rock Island-Moline, Ill.

Eagles occupy one dwelling place for generation after generation.

Health fund not settled

Wine sale vote asked

Valley highway jobs cancelled

TWIN FALLS — Members of the South Central Idaho Health District board will meet Sept. 15 in Jerome to discuss spending priorities for the 1972 health department budget, which is still in doubt pending approval by county commissioners in the seven-county district.

In a meeting here Monday afternoon, members of the health board voted 5 to 2 after a lengthy debate, to support a budget request based on a $2.25 per capita assessment from each taxing unit in the district. This was one of three budget alternatives proposed by Dr. Wayne Carte, medical director of the district.

Following the meeting of the health board, a district county commission meeting was held in which all proposals were turned down by the county officials as too costly.

W.L. (Bill) Chancey, Twin Falls County Commission chairman and chairman of the district health board, said a solution will be sought in a Sept. 15 meeting in Jerome with the hope of giving county officials an idea of budget needs prior to making up their 1972 levies.

Dr. Carte proposed budgets based on $2.45 per capita assessment in each county; $2 per capita and $2.25 per capita.

The state law allows a levy of up to two mills for health districts which in Twin Falls County would be a maximum of $120,000. Chancey said one mill brings in about $60,000. Last year the county budgeted $33,520 and had discussed a 15 per cent increase or $38,000 to meet the salary increase of 15 per cent granted state department employees.

The 15 per cent increase, which representatives of four of the seven counties favored in the county commission district meeting, would be about $1.47 per capita.

Chancey said Twin Falls County last year paid about $1.04 per capita. District wide, it was pointed out, the $2.25 per capita rate approved by the split vote of the health district board would be about a 40 per cent increase.

Chancey said he did not favor the $2.25 per capita basis for the 1972 budget in either of the meetings. He said a chairman from each county commission makes up the budget committee for the district organization and will meet later to discuss budget plans with the district health board.

Districts across the state face a shorter budget as a result of reductions in state participation. Dr. Terrell O. Carver, state health director, advised Chancey the state's allocation for the South Central District in the coming year will be $74,192, a cut of about $10,000 from anticipated state funding.

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Religious leaders in Cassia County have filed petitions containing approximately 7,000 names asking for an election on the question of grocery store sales of table wine.

County Clerk Walter Fry said he may have to hire as many as four persons to check the names for validity. He said at least 6,089 qualified electors who have been registered for any county election in the past eight years must sign petitions to set up an election.

Originally, the religious group hoped to have enough signatures by the June 22 deadline set by county commissioners to bring about an election prior to the new wine sales law going into effect in the county July 1.

However, they were unable to get the required number of signatures in time.

They hope to ban such wine sales through an election.

TWIN FALLS — Two highway projects in the Magic Valley area, including improvement of Addison Avenue in Twin Falls, have fallen victim to a tight Idaho highway budget.

Meeting Monday in Boise to formulate the 1972 fiscal budget, the Idaho Highway Board voted to curtail seven projects totaling $7.5 million because the state does not have matching funds to complete the items even though federal money is available.

In addition to Addison Avenue through Twin Falls, the board voted to delay a section of State Highway 25 east of Dietrich which had also been planned for 1972.

Lloyd Barron, Fairfield, member of the board, said there isn't enough state money to meet all proposals for 1972.

Plans have been announced to widen and improve the section of Addison Avenue between Blue Lakes Boulevard and West Five Points which now serves as part of U.S. Highway 30 and U.S. Highway 83 through Twin Falls. Right of way appraisals have not been obtained for widening of the route, but would have been an initial step toward construction.

Highway officials say the Addison Avenue project is still in the design and planning stage. An environmental study involving school land and access is in process at this time.

The postponement of work does not involve the Five Points project. Officials say this is separate and some appraisal work should start this month.

Gem setup in danger?

BOISE (UPI) — D.F. Engeling, superintendent of public instruction, said Tuesday Idaho finances its schools under a system similar to the one just declared unconstitutional in California.

Engeling referred to a decision of the California State Supreme Court which held unconstitutional California's system of financing schools with property taxes on grounds such a method does not provide quality throughout the state.

In Idaho, Engeling said, there are "pockets" where there are few tax dollars for the schools and other areas where there is more money available.

Class set in welding

TWIN FALLS — A welding class for tradesmen and farmers will be held at the College of Southern Idaho's vocational school welding lab, 1400 Kimberly Road, beginning Sept. 14.

The class will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. The 60-hour class will cost $30 plus $5 registration, according to Frank Schell, vocational coordinator.

Registration will be held at 7 p.m. Sept. 13. Additional information may be obtained from Schell, telephone 733-9554, extension 291.

Hikes expected

TWIN FALLS — Ronald Finn, president of the Idaho Education Association, said Tuesday he expected area school teachers would receive their anticipated wage increases despite the 90-day wage freeze announced by President Nixon.

then all members of the organization are entitled to the raises. That situation applies locally in several instances, Finn said.

Theft told

TWIN FALLS — Loss of a stereo player and tapes valued at $141 from his parked automobile was reported to Twin Falls Police Tuesday by Gregg Wolf, Hillcrest Apartment 2, Twin Falls.

He told officers he parked the vehicle on the lot behind the First Federal Savings and Loan building Sunday and when he returned found the door had been opened and the player and tapes removed.

The President's Cost of Living Council, established to handle questions arising from the newly announced freeze, has ruled that school teachers with master agreements were eligible to receive their raises. Finn said Idaho has no master agreements but rather individual, locally negotiated contracts, which constitute a master agreement type set-up.

Finn said he expects the teachers will receive their raises also because of a ruling which holds that if any member of a local organization accrues extra earnings because he was under contract and working at the time of the announcement,

Finn was enthusiastic about the lobbying efforts by the National Education Association and similar efforts by state organizations. As a result of the lobbying, Finn said, an estimated $380 million dollars was unfrozen in wages for teachers.

Finn declined to call the pay increases "raises," however, referring to them as "cost of living adjustments."

A thought for today: British writer Lytton Strachey said, "Perhaps of all the creations of man language is the most astonishing."

Repression said riot factor

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—The chaplain at the Idaho State Prison cited the "dehumanizing" of prison inmates Tuesday as one of the contributing factors in the Aug. 10 disturbance at the penitentiary.

Harold L. Christman told the special committee investigating the event the rehabilitative programs undertaken by Director of Corrections Raymond May are needed, but are "simply a drop in the bucket" compared to the national trend toward rehabilitation.

Some members indicated, however, they may need more time to digest the mass of material gathered over the past three weeks.

Christman told the committee a prison has a "repressive environment in which the person is made to feel less than human and worthless."

When asked whether the rehabilitative programs were permissive, Christman said, "Just to let the men off...might be permissiveness. Beginning to treat a person with dignity and giving him some sense of worth to me is not permissiveness."

Another counselor, Eugene Larson, said he felt since the disturbance security guards were making an attempt to require uniform conformity with rules. Convicts testifying before the committee cited a lack of uniform enforcement of rules as one of their problems.

Battle brewing over job agency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bitter congressional fight is shaping up over the question of granting enforcement powers to the government agency charged with ferreting out discrimination in job hiring.

Women's liberation groups, mainly the National Organization for Women, which will be picking up next week when the lawmakers return from their summer recess.

The business groups have lined up behind a substitute measure that would give EEOC power to issue cease-and-desist orders when it finds discrimination by employers of eight or more persons or by labor unions, with eight or more members.

The committee measure would also bring the nation's estimated 10 million state and local government employees under commission jurisdiction and transfer the office of contract compliance from the Labor Department to the EEOC.

Campbell calls in 2nd batch

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—The Campbell Soup Co. Tuesday recalled 1,110 cases of vegetarian vegetable soup packed at its Paris, Tex., plant which produced the chicken vegetable soup recalled less than two weeks ago.

Bearing the code number 15CT-7B1X, the cases were shipped to 13 wholesale customers in nine states. All of the products still in the hands of wholesalers have been placed on hold.

Draft choices due physicals

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Men selected last month for possible induction into the armed forces next year must begin reporting today for their physical examinations even though no authority now exists to draft them.

A Selective Service spokesman said these men, whose lottery numbers were drawn Aug. 5 for next year's draft calls, are being ordered to take their physicals in anticipation of the resumption of the draft.

Blacks retaliate in raid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A group calling itself the "Black Liberation Army" says it is responsible for Sunday's shotgun attack on a police station, saying the raid was in retaliation for the killing of black revolutionary George Jackson at San Quentin Prison.

San Rafael, Calif. (UPI)—Stephen Mitchell Bingham, 28, radical attorney from one of Connecticut's most illustrious political families, Tuesday was charged with five counts of murder in the Aug. 21 San Quentin prison-escape attempt.

Petition said valid

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI)—Two men seeking the recall of State Rep. Wilbert Cammack, D-Blackfoot, for voting to override the legislative pay initiative have submitted an initial and valid petition.

Since June 30, when the old draft law expired, only those whose lottery numbers were drawn last year and those just emerging from student deferments had been called for physicals in preparation for the time when Congress may pass a two-year extension of the draft law.

A search centered today on finding a dark-haired young white woman in a micro-mini skirt who may have "cased" the station minutes before it was riddled with 18 shotgun blasts and several pistol shots.

Bales said he believed Jackson killed at least one of the five himself with the smuggled gun, a foreign-made automatic pistol formerly owned by a Black Panther chieftain. The district attorney said Jackson concealed the gun under a black "Afro" wig.

Woman murder suspect to aid canyon search

DRIGGS, Idaho (UPI)—A young woman charged with murder in Idaho will fly to Los Angeles Wednesday to help in the search for a California youth missing since Aug. 7 in what is believed to be a related killing.

Forbush said no date has been set for preliminary hearings for either Miss Turner or Rempage. Miss Turner is being held in Driggs, but Rempage was moved to Idaho Falls for his safety after citizens in the tiny community, particularly the Mexican-Americans, expressed anger over the incident.

The brothers came from a family with 13 children and the family was unable to pay the shipping costs of $1,500 per body for the trip back to Texas.

Busy visit for Church

BOISE (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church has scheduled several speeches and other appearances in Boise and nearby communities during the next three days, his office announced Tuesday.

Later, Miss Turner, told Stevens that Rempage killed Joseph William Warmuth, 19, Sylmar, Calif., near Sergus, Calif., Aug. 7, stole his car, and hid the body in a vault.

Forbush said he had conferred with the attorneys all Tuesday afternoon, but had not yet set a date for the preliminary hearing, which he said would probably be held in Idaho Falls.

Richard De Luna, 18, the cousin of the three dead brothers injured along with Driggs Town Marshall Melvin Jones, said the youths were parked in a car celebrating the end of the pea harvest. He said a man approached the car and shot the driver then picked off the other two as they got out of the vehicle.

A Lovelier You

RING AROUND THE ROSIE

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: Lines are playing ring around the Rosie on my long scraggly neck. Three lines are especially deep and dark. The skin, in general, has coarsened. I'd like to end the game. But how?

The Answer: Long, thin necks seem to attract lines of this kind. Shorter, plumper necks are left to the crepey crinkles. Neither type is exactly easy to deal with, but deep, ringing lines are the more difficult.

Complete erasure is seldom possible. However the lines can be rendered less noticeable by the processes of stimulation, lubrication and makeup.

To stimulate the circulation in the area, gently scrub with a soft, sudsy brush at bathtime. Use a creamy soap most times; twice weekly use a grainy cleanser. Continue until the skin is pink. Rinse well.

Lubrication takes the form of throat cream, applied each day at your convenience. When applying throat cream, spread on a generous amount, tip back the head, and clasp the base of the neck with hand. Then massage to the jawbone with one slow, deliberate stroke. Follow-up at once with the other hand, rotating hands, continue for several minutes.

When you apply throat cream during the day, leave it on for a half hour. Then remove any excess and spank the neck with a freshener-dampened absorbent cotton patten. But, if the cream is applied at bedtime, leave it on and do your spanking in the morning.

The makeup step is easy. Simply treat your neck as part of your face, veiling the exposed areas with powder base.

Prizes were awarded to Johnny Hanges for having the youngest baby; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Betty, youngest married couple; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cozad, Bakerfield, Calif., for traveling the greatest distance; Mrs. Waldo Jones, most pictures in purse; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Betty, couple with most children in elementary school; James Betty, son of Melvin, won the special prize, and Mrs. Ladora Jones won the guessing game of the day.

There were 29 members of the Lester Betty family present, with only two absent because of illness.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been acting funny for the last few months, so I finally wormed out of him what was bothering him. Willie said it all started when he gave his bookkeeper a few kisses because he couldn't afford to give her a raise.

Willie says now she isn't satisfied with a few kisses, and she's after him to meet her someplace. He swears he doesn't want to get involved with her, and I believe him because she is pushing 60 and still an old maid.

Willie says he can't let her go because she's an excellent bookkeeper and he couldn't run his business without her. How should this be handled? WILLIE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Tell Willie the cheapest solution would be to give the woman a raise.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a person puts a stamp upside-down on an envelope? DELAWARE

DEAR DELAWARE: It could mean, "I love you," "I'm in a hurry," or "I need glasses."

DEAR ABBY: Seeing as how I was new in town, I stopped a nice-looking man on the street and asked him for directions. He said it wasn't far and since he was going that way he would walk me there. Before we parted he asked me if he could see me again and I said yes.

To make a long story short, George and I started going together, and now, six months later we are very much in love, and have even talked about marriage some time in the future.

Abby, George never talks about his parents, his life or anything to do with his past. He says he has no living relatives. No parents, no sisters or brothers. He doesn't talk about his job either. He just says he "sells" for a living.

I am 28 and have never been married. George says he is 32 and has never been married either. He has been to my flat but I have never been to his. [I don't even know where he lives!]

Is it possible that he has no living relatives? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Possible, but not probable. Before you invest more time in this mysterious character, find out what it is he "sells" and for whom. Then check up on him. I have a hunch it's a line you don't need.

DEAR ABBY: Shall we write "fnis" to the foolish squabble about whether a "PhD" should use his title with this amusing story.

The late Stephen Leacock had just received his PhD in economics and being quite proud of his new title, listed himself as "Dr. Leacock" on the passenger list of the ship on which he sailed for England.

One morning, the steward burst into Leacock's cabin and said, "Dr. Leacock, come quickly, there's been an accident!" Leacock was about to explain that he wasn't a medical doctor when the steward added, "A beautiful young lady passenger fell and hurt her hip."

Leacock thought that since he had had some first aid training, he would try to help the lady—and perhaps get to know her better, so he rushed to the injured lady, but alas, he was too late. Two Doctors of Divinity and an Optometrist got there ahead of him.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6780, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Severed strand

FENCE on the property of Derris Head was cut Tuesday by Jack Teater, rock festival sponsor, in order to permit heavy equipment access to the site. Teater said he had thought the fence was on his leased easement, and apologized. Here, Head's son, Mitch, 10, looks at severed wire.

Bellevue bracing

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer
BELLEVUE — The Wood River Rock Festival is not scheduled to begin for another two days, and may not take place at all, pending today's expected court decision, but the citizens of Bellevue are bracing for the influx of thousands of young people to Slaughterhouse Canyon.

The townspeople are in general agreement that holding a festival in their town is a poor idea, and an invitation for serious trouble.

But they are sharply divided on methods to head off the trouble.

Bellevue businessmen are talking seriously of closing their stores for the three day Labor Day weekend, a move which would result in the acknowledged loss of income but would be worth it, they say, if trouble can be prevented.

Another group is making plans for routing festival traffic away from the town center in an effort to head off what they fear could be a serious outbreak of violence between "a few people in town" and "a few of the hippies."

Some men expressed concern late Tuesday for the safety of their families. Others predicted importation of narcotics by festival fans. The feeling seems to be that drugs have not yet come to Bellevue.

One visitor in town however, was able to arrange for purchase of marijuana with relative ease Tuesday evening. There is talk of shooting here if "the wrong people get together" under the wrong circumstances, but it is difficult to know how serious the talk is. Also, it is difficult to determine whether there are really rattlesnakes in the canyon, as has been claimed by several men.

Jack Teater, a backer of the festival, said three of his men Tuesday night camped on the festival grounds to protect site preparations already made. The party carried at least one rifle.

But there were indications Wednesday that some of the problems were being ironed out and tensions eased somewhat.

Teater had an impromptu meeting Tuesday evening with several citizens and law enforcers, he noted.

But Wednesday morning, with a court ruling a few hours away, the preparations proceeding for the festival, the talk of the citizens had shifted slightly from the festival to the weather. The temperature in Bellevue dipped near the freezing point last night, right on schedule, they say, with the beginning of September.

Teater had an impromptu meeting Tuesday evening with several citizens and law enforcers, he noted.

Teater said that he felt "100 per cent better" following the 20-minute discussion about security and emergency preparation. He also indicated he would have security assistance from the Trail Cycle Club of Idaho. The group's members were "real good security and all cool

Valley comment

SHOULD the Wood River rock festival be held? That was the question asked of several Blaine County residents by Terry Campbell, Times-News staff writer. Here are some of the answers she received.

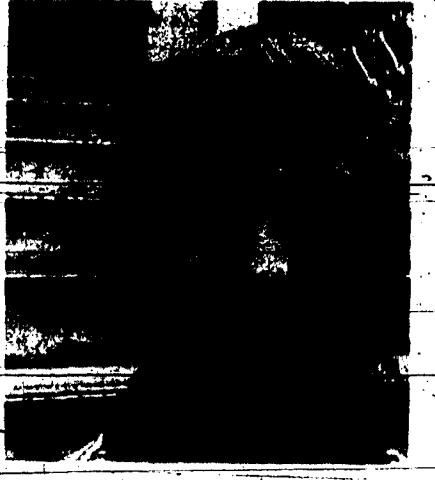

RALPH JENKINS, Sun Valley. "I think it should be held. It might give the people a better understanding of life. The whole thing will be a concert of life."

ROBERT SMITH, Ketchum. "This area has always promoted tourism. What's the difference between an Old West celebration and a rock festival? The kids around here have a right to hold their own celebration."

MRS. GERALD BLAKE, Bellevue. "Definitely not, I'm not for it at all. It would not be good for kids morally. I am against the drug abuse. But if it is held, we the people of Bellevue and surrounding communities would be better off if we would keep our cool and not agitate them. Some good could come out of this festival, if Christian workers could go amongst the young people and give them the gospel, like what was done at some of the other rock festivals."

DEBBIE BARNEY, Halley. "I like rock groups and we haven't got many here. We should have some entertainment for Blaine County at least."

ARTHUR SCHULTZ, Heyburn. "This is supposed to be a free country. Let them do what they want. Until they've done something wrong we can't stop them."

SANDRA REIMERS, Halley. "It would bring the wrong kind of people in. With this kind of people the drug problem will get a lot worse than it already is."

Marshal talks of trouble, efforts to keep town cool

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News Managing Editor
BELLEVUE — Bellevue City Marshal Duane Dudley stood on one side of a hastily erected fence Tuesday and talked of trouble.

The steel fence posts had been set Tuesday in an effort to separate the site of a proposed gathering of thousands of young rock music enthusiasts from land owned by unenthusiastic Blaine County residents.

Marshal Dudley had been called to the fence line when rock festival organizer Jack Teater and two Bellevue youths reportedly cut through a neighbor's fence a quarter mile to the south to permit trucks to drive into the festival site about a mile north of Bellevue in Slaughterhouse Canyon.

The marshal had talked to small groups of men knotted on both sides of the fence line but made no arrests. He said no complaint would be filed by the landowner because local youths were involved along with Teater.

Teater, who admitted he had cut the fence, said he had understood that his easement included the fence that had been cut, and apologized.

The brief incident had ended. The crews building facilities at the festival site now use a road hugging the canyon's wall on

Early arrivals

Bureau of Land Management land.

Groups on both sides of the fence had talked angrily of shooting. Teater said his armed guards would not start shooting first.

The marshal and his deputy, Tom Barratt, said the townspeople would not start shooting first. Both groups said their people were prepared for trouble.

The topic of discussion was not about disagreements, but about shooting people.

Both sides said they feared shooting could get out of control.

The conversation at the fence gradually became muted, with both sides pledging to do everything possible to cool their own people. Handshakes were exchanged across the fence.

The incident was typical of the latent confrontation between Bellevue residents and expected festival visitors.

After the fence line talk, Marshal Dudley told of his fears of violence.

"The town is a powder keg," he said. "It wouldn't take much of any kind of thing to set the town off. Anybody might not like somebody's looks, and take a swing and the battle would be on."

"I've been telling people downtown to take it easy, be prepared for trouble but don't start it," he said.

When asked what sort of preparations he was talking about, he said most people in town had guns and ammunition. "Most people have reloading outfits, so they don't need to go out and buy shells."

He said city officials hoped to do two things to eliminate possible confrontation. First, he said he hoped to reach agreement with the backers of the festival to seek their cooperation in cooling the situation.

In addition, the marshal plans to seal off the town from the expected visitors.

Only one route would be kept open from U.S. 81 to Slaughterhouse Canyon, with the side roads leading into the town blocked. Marshal Dudley said the roads would be blocked, and deputized citizens probably stationed at the intersections to keep the visitors out of town.

Deputy Marshal Barratt told why. "They can't run over Bellevue like they do Los Angeles with only a few bloody noses," he said. "If they go into just one house there'll be dead people."

"It won't be him (Teater). It'll be these kids." "We'll keep them out of town."

"The first time a rough character plops down on someone's front yard there won't be any question. He'll be shot."

"It won't be any single group — middle class, old folks, everybody."

Marshal Dudley made an appeal for hostile factions to let law enforcement officers serve as a go-between in any disputes, instead of direction action.

"Don't take the law into their hands. They would get a lot of innocent people hurt."

BOISE (UPI) — A five-year program to remove all billboards which do not conform to federal highway beautification standards has been drawn up for Idaho. Mathes said the program will cost an estimated $5.5 million. He said a $814,000 federal allocation recently received by the state is about one-fifth of the federal funds needed to assure completion of the project. The federal government will pay 75 per cent of the bill and Idaho highway users the remaining amount.

RUPERT — Judging of home economic exhibits was in full swing today at the Minidoka County Fairgrounds in Rupert as last minute touches were being put on booths in preparation for the official opening Thursday. Health, safety and leadership

Vern Oyer and sons, Garland, Utah, will furnish the stock for the miniature rodeo. Boys and girls age 8 through 14 who weigh 120 pounds or less may register for the events. All applicants must have a written signed liability release from their parents.

The 4-H and FFA fat stock sale will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at the 4-H arena on the fairgrounds. The sale will be under the direction of Valley Livestock Commission Co. The fair will conclude Saturday with the opening of the three-day pari-mutuel horse racing from 2-6 p.m. The races will run through Monday at the fairgrounds.

Cassia girl named Gem winner in dairy 4-H

BURLEY — Anita Monson, Burley, has been selected as the state winner in the Dairy program sponsored by Idaho Dairymen's Association, Inc., and will receive an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress, in November at Chicago.

Miss Monson is the first Cassia County 4-H member to receive this award since Connie McKenzie received the honor in 1953.

Also Miss Monson has been selected as the alternate in crops projects. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Monson, Burley.

Other alternates selected for Cassia County are Paul Warr, Murtaugh, in agriculture and Helen Parke, Malta, horses.

Miss Monson joined the 4-H program in 1967 and she has been active since, with a total of 35 projects. She received blue ribbons on 34 of the projects. Also she has received 22 trophies in dairy fitting and showing and crop science;

Big check

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho received Tuesday a federal check for $2,701,679, the state's share of 25 per cent of national forest fund receipts, Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon reported.

The money is for the period ended last June 30, she said, and will be apportioned later to counties on the basis of national forest acreage in each of the counties.

Team mobility brightens grid prospects for Burley Bobcats

BURLEY — The run of huge linemen at Burley High School has ended — at least for this year — but Coach Bob Mathews' Bobcats proved against Gooding in their opener that quickness can be every bit as effective.

The Bobcats, appeared to have good team mobility, particularly in the offensive backfield. But Coach Mathews believes the situation may have been overstated since Gooding was using some sophomores in key positions.

However, everyone knows that halfback Larry Bell can run since he proved that on the track last spring. He turned in some 10.1 clockings and that puts him up there with the fastest in the district. Bell shook loose on a couple of runs against Gooding. But the scoring punch in that game was provided by 180-pound fullback Brent Larsen, who scored four times.

Overall, Coach Mathews can call on 14 lettermen. Kent Sager is a 175-pound senior fullback, and Kerry Karlson, 155-pounds, adds depth at halfback. Gary Hanks, who plays a lot of defense, is the back up fullback at 170 pounds.

In the line are Dan Knight, 180, and Wayne Johnson, 155, both senior ends; Glenn Ramsey, 185, Steve Jones, 185, and Garth Beck, 180, senior tackles; Mike Sandman, 175, Russ Taylor, 165, and Rich Hunter, 180, senior guards, and Jack Johnson, 185, senior center.

Burley also expects good help from several juniors, including halfbacks Scott Crane and Wes Heward, both of whom already have a varsity touchdown to their credit; Phil Schenk, 190 fullback; Mike Sagers, 185, end; Bob Randklev, 170 center; Paul Garrett, 170, guard, and Lynn Mills, 180, tackle.

Pat Pike, the junior quarterback with that crew, cut his hand severely just before the season started and estimates of his convalescing time range from six weeks to the entire season.

Burley travels to Buhl Friday night and returns home Sept. 10 for the traditional battle against Minico.

The remainder of the schedule includes Sept. 17, 1, Bliss at Camas County; Oct. 6, Camas County at Dietrich; Oct. 15, Richfield at Camas County; Oct. 22, Carey at Camas County; and Oct. 29, conference playoff at site to be determined.

Experience, depth make Musersh rough

FAIRFIELD — Manpower and experience should be the strength of the Camas County Musersh this year as they battle for the Snake River eight-man conference football championships.

Coach Phil Brackenbury welcomed out 32 candidates, a percentage of the student body that should shame just about every other school in the state, and 11 of them are returning lettermen.

Graduation took some of good ones off last year's club that posted a 7-2 mark. Those basically were Randy Baucher, Steve Shippy and Buz Vanski.

But Coach Brackenbury has four halfbacks, four guards, two centers and his quarterback coach. All the boys have great attitudes and have been working hard. And they're all very coachable."

PASSING TIME

Some off-season jobs held this spring and summer by NFL players: Junior Coffey of the Giants, apprentice horse trainer; Doug Hart of Green Bay, vice-president of a snowmobile company; Don Hultz of Philadelphia, deputy sheriff in Memphis; Ron Jones of Atlanta, sheriff in Dallas; Deacon Jones of Los Angeles, singing and dancing act in nightclubs; Danny Abramowitz of New Orleans, delicatessen owner.

Returning to the team are 6-5 Russ LeMoine, Hagerman; 6-3 Pete Evan, Boise; 6-4 Daryle James, Hailey, and 6-1 Gene Strobel, Kuna.

"Basically, what we have is a team of guards," says Coach Hale. "We will have to get a lot stronger on the boards. And we'll have to learn how to run."

"I think our overall speed will be very good. Our big men can move and they are all hard workers. Kelly just beamed when he saw how Dessen changed ends of the floor. Vic likes that," Coach Hale said.

"I think Swanson is going to be a fine one," he continued. "He does things very smoothly now and I don't believe he really knows how good he can be in another year. He's going to help us this year."

Coach Hale said perhaps he could best acquaint area fans with Williams by comparing him to Davis. "He isn't the flashy kind of player, feeds well, works on defense. He isn't as one-on-one conscious as so many boys are now, but when he makes that one-on-one move, it's pure vanilla."

A couple three men Coach Hale expected to show didn't. Randy Lee from Dietrich hasn't shown up and neither has the 6-3 all-Oregon guard, Randy Freeborne. The 6-11 New Jersey man, originally scheduled in here 10 days ago, changed his mind and went to San Jacinto, Tex.

"What we really need is a 6-7 or 6-8 forward who can board," says Coach Hale. "We're still talking to some boys but I'm not going to take one just to have him. If we feel he can really help the team and wants to come here, we'll get him. But we only have 21 days before school starts to get him enrolled and make him eligible."

"I'd say we are going to have a new look. It might be 12-15 but it will be a new look," Coach Hale laughed. "No, really, I think this will be an exciting team to watch and a good one to

Thorn Creek partially restricted

GOODING — A partial closure on Thorn Creek reservoir has been called by the Idaho Fish and Game Department in cooperation with the Thorn Creek Cattlemen's association.

Stu Murrell, regional conservation educator, said Tuesday the closure would go into effect Wednesday, or Thursday or as soon as the location can be defined through sign placement.

He said the closure will effect only the east side of the impoundment, noting that since the reservoir is privately owned, the partial closure is in fact a boon to area anglers. This will leave the west side and dam for bank fishermen and no restriction is planned on boats.

Cause of the action was the disturbance by fishermen of cattle when they came off grazing land for water. Murrell added the reservoir has provided excellent success in the past two weeks.

Owens, Laggis share honors

Tod Owens of Idaho Falls and Stratton Laggis of Sun Valley shared honors over the weekend in the Southern Idaho Sailing Association's 10th regatta of the season.

Owens sailed a Clark and Laggis piloted a Coronado 15. Third went to Ron Bradley, Ketchum, in a Lido-14 while Mel Cope of Caldwell was fifth in a Falcon.

The association's next competition is set for Sept. 11-12 at Lucky Peak reservoir near Boise and Oct. 4-5 at Lake Lowell near Nampa.

The first-year organization now boasts a membership of 75. The regattas race all classes together and establish handicaps for balance.

Castleford eager after opening win

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford Wolves, after debuting impressively with a 30-0 decision over Rimrock last week, will take on the Rockland Bulldogs Friday night.

Maybe after that Coach Ralph Hatch will be able to give a fuller opinion of what he thinks his 1971 Wolves can do.

"I was very pleased (in the Rimrock game)," he says. "The first team got us a lot of points early and we were able to look at everyone the rest of the way. But I don't know exactly how to look at the season. I don't think Rimrock is as strong as several of the conference teams we'll be playing from here on out. They (Rimrock) lost a lot of good boys to graduation."

Castleford has several good ones back. Lynn Reese, the Wolves' top ground gainer as a sophomore, is back 10 pounds heavier and just as shifty and quick. He carried 10 times against Rimrock for 104 yards. Kirk Thompson, 165-pound halfback, weighed in with four touchdowns against Rimrock.

Castleford also has a veteran back at quarterback in Larry Reese, a 160-pound senior.

"Larry throws well, I think. Very well for a Castleford quarterback," Coach Hatch laughs, reminding listeners of the past few years when pass wasn't even in the Wolf ofensive play book.

Coach Hatch has nine other veterans to go with those three. They include Steve Peterson, 6-2, 158, end; Mike Bowers, 6-0, 150, center; Marty Becker, 6-2, Ogden pitcher Stan Watkins allowed four runs, all of them unearned as the Dodgers committed six errors behind Thad Philyaw hit a solo homer run for the Dodgers in the eighth inning.

Farm prices unchanged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the third consecutive month national average farm prices remained unchanged, the Agriculture Department reported Monday.

The sideways price movement for the period ending Aug. 15 came after prices rose 2 per cent in the month ending May 15, but held unchanged for months ending June 15 and July 15. The mid-August price average was 4 per cent above a year earlier.

The Crop Reporting Board said prices for cotton, cattle, milk and eggs rose during the month, but the gains were cancelled by lower prices for corn, hogs and tomatoes.

The report indicated although farm prices averaged above a year earlier, farmers lost economic ground because costs rose during the year.

Farm costs for the month ending Aug. 15, remained unchanged for the third straight month at an all time peak reached June 15.

The combination of unchanged farm prices and costs kept prices at 70 per cent of the traditional "fair earning power" parity ratio. This compared with 70 per cent last month and 71 per cent in August, 1970.

The index of prices received by farmers remained at 113 per cent of the 1967 base in mid-August compared with 113 per cent a month ago and 109 per cent a year ago. The index of farm costs was 120 per cent of base compared with 120 per cent a month ago and 114 per cent a year ago.

The report said prices received for livestock feed grains and hay during the month declined 11 per cent, leaving the grain-hay index 1 per cent below a year earlier. Actually, feed grain prices declined more, with corn off 17 cents per bushel for the month, but an increase in hay prices softened the index drop.

The meat animal price index showed increases for all types except hogs, with the overall index up 1.5 per cent from a month and a year earlier.

Price increases at the farm level for eggs and turkeys raised the poultry-egg index 4 per cent during the month, but it was 2 per cent below a year ago. Broiler chicken prices declined 10 per cent during the month,

'A lousy tax'

W. GARDNER ACKLEY, who served as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors during the Johnson administration, told House-Senate Joint Economic Committee Tuesday "an excess profits tax is a lousy tax" and criticized labor leaders for suggesting it be combined with wage-price freeze. Ackley said committee profits will not and should rise because they have been depressed. (UPI)

FBI says crime up 11 per cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Statistics showed a tapering off of the sharp upward swing recorded during the mid-1960's, Mitchell said. He referred to 1967, when the crime rate jumped 16 per cent, and 1968, when it climbed 17 per cent, the sharpest increase in the decade. The FBI's "crime clock" showed that 11 serious crimes occurred every minute of every day in 1970. Sometime was a purse, wallet, or car stolen every 13 minutes, as in the big cities, the odds saulted every 96 seconds, robbed every 91 seconds, and burglarized every 18 seconds. Larceny of $50 or more occurred every 18 seconds and a car was stolen every 34 seconds. The FBI said its report is based on information from law enforcement agencies representing 91 per cent of the total population. The report said 100 policemen were killed in 1970, bringing the total for the decade to 633, and the report, Attorney General John N. Mitchell noted, the alert than ever before a climb in the number of crimes.

Packer gives up

GRANGEVILLE (UPI) — Ronald Danayer, 28, Orofino, says he is going to hang up his pack for good after being lost for four days last week in the Idaho wilderness area east of here. Danayer and a companion were backpacking in the wilderness area when they became separated last Tuesday. The companion went to a ranger station and requested help in finding Danayer who ultimately was discovered 15 miles east of here Friday by a plane used by the Idaho County sheriff's office. He was picked up a day later by a Forest Service helicopter and was reported tired but in good health. Idaho County Sheriff Gene Fuzzell, who rarely handles numerous cases of lost persons in the popular hunting area of northern Idaho, praised Danayer for keeping his head and feet from moving around after he became lost.

Promises fight

JERRY WURF, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said Monday the union will fight for wage increases for public-employees despite wage-price freeze. Wurf said union is asking for "separate consideration of the wage problems unique to the public sector of employment under the freeze." (UPI)

Cuban freedom flights ending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Fidel Castro government has advised the United States it plans to terminate the U.S.-financed "freedom flights" of Cubans to America after allowing a final group of about 1,000 persons to make the exodus, the State Department said Tuesday. The Cubans said the flight would be suspended for several weeks while the final group was being processed, a department spokesman said, after which Havana said no further flights would be allowed. The department official said while it had no accurate figures on the number of Cubans who will be allowed to leave their country, it believed there were far more than Havana was willing to permit to leave. The flight, established under an agreement with Cuba in November, 1965, has brought about 246,000 Cubans to the United States on twice daily, five-day-a-week flights.

A State Department spokesman, Robert J. McClosky, said the department, which deals with Cuba through the Swiss Embassy in Havana, had "urged the Cuban government to permit the airlift to continue until all those Cubans who have asked to be reunited with their families in the United States have left Cuba on the airlift." McClosky said the United States feels Cuba is operating an end of the operation prematurely. Officials said 33,000 persons who registered in Cuba and were approved by both governments to make the flights had not yet arrived in the United States. In addition, more than 94,000 Cubans whose names were submitted by relatives in the United States and approved by the U.S. government — but not yet by Havana — had not arrived in Miami, the U.S. terminus.

Appeal rejected

SEATTLE (UPI) — The regional office of the National Labor Relations Board here Monday rejected an appeal by the independent Northwest Metal Workers Union to represent miners at the Bunker Hill Co. in Kellogg, Idaho. A majority of union members voted last April to merge with the steelworkers union, but some of the members had attempted to block the merger through the NLRB. The Northwest Metal Workers Union was organized in 1960 when the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union had failed to negotiate an agreement with Bunker Hill after a seven-month strike. The independent union quickly settled the dispute with the company and had represented about 1,000 miners at Bunker Hill since then.

led a club and Russ was in trouble. He could take the club finesse but Russ knew his left-hand opponent was a firm believer in the old rule of never leading away from a king. Therefore, Russ wasted no time with that first trick. He just hopped up with the ace of clubs, and led the six-spot right back.

This put things squarely up to East and East went wrong. He played the three of clubs. Russ cashed his jack, drew trumps and eventually conceded a trick to the ace of diamonds.

The play shouldn't have worked but, as Russ pointed out in his letter, it was the only way to bring the slam home.

Our column is 22 years old and for the first 20 years Russ checked every word. It was part of his job, but he treated it as a labor of love. He retired a couple of years ago but kept his interest in the Jacoby column and helped us develop JACOBY MODERN.

Russ was an enthusiastic bridge player and sent us many hands but never let us use his name. Now that he can't stop us, here is one he played about 10 years ago.

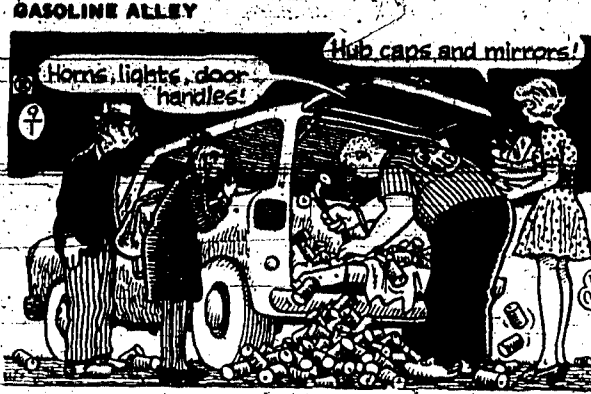

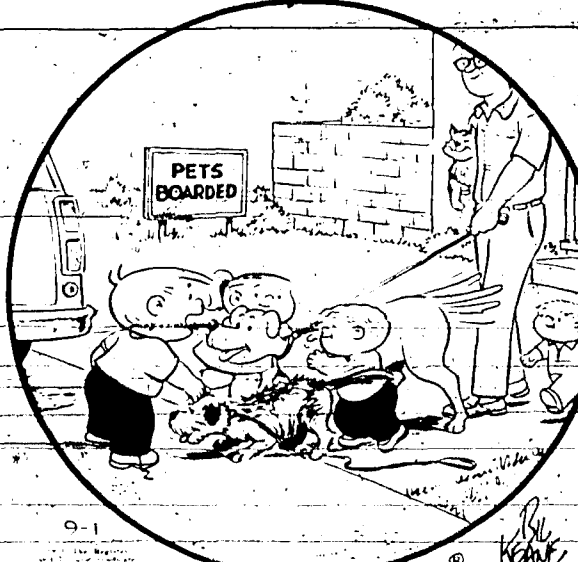

His use of Blackwood was slightly unground, but he expected North to hold a better hand. At that, the slam would be a cinch without a club lead. However, West

THE OLD SOUTHERN GENTLEMAN returned from the hunt with his dogs. They barked at the back door, hungrily. But the man's dinner came first, certainly. To quiet down the dogs temporarily, the cook dipped little pieces of corn dough into hot fat, then tossed said tidbits to the hollering hounds. "Thus came we by the word 'hushpuppies,'" reports our Language man.

MILK of a whitetailed doe is two maybe three times richer than the milk of a Jersey cow. Two maybe three times harder to get, too. IN THE ANCIENT Babylonian Talmud, it's writ: "Ten measures of speech descended upon the world; women took nine and men one." PURISTS will tell you the penny is a British coin, that there's no such thing as a United States' penny.

WHICH 10 MOVIES of all time would you like to see again? In Fort Worth - Cowtown - a motion picture popularity poll was conducted among seasoned citizens who confessed to be film fans. The top 10 named were: 1. "African Queen," 2. "Gone with the Wind," 3. "Citizen Kane," 4. "Treasure of the Sierra Madre," 5. "Wuthering Heights," 6. "A Streetcar Named Desire," 7. "Rebecca," 8. "Casablanca," 9. "Ben-Hur," 10. "Lawrence of Arabia." Personally, could do without both "Streetcar" and "Lawrence." Would prefer "Dr. Zhivago" and "On the Waterfront."

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q: "Last year we had this pumpkin in the backyard. But a guy on a motorcycle knocked it loose from its roots. So my dad took a carpet needle and laced a real long candlewick into the busted stem. He put the other end of the wick into a bottle of tonic water. And would you believe the darned pumpkin perked up and went on growing? A bottle-fed pumpkin. Ain't that the weirdest thing you ever heard?" A: It comes just awful close. Q: "Do dogs ever get tonsillitis or appendicitis?" A: Tonsillitis yes, appendicitis no.

BLESS 'OLD BRAHMA, he loved love. Said he: "When the one man loves the one woman and the one woman loves the one man, the very angels leave heaven and come and sit in the house and sing for joy." Read the foregoing to the Ladyfriend and asked her to look at me closely and report if she heard any music. "Indeed," she said, "I hear Tennessee Ernie singing 'Sixteen Tons.'" Very humorous.

SO YOU'RE under the impression mosquitoes like to bite you more than the other fellow? Maybe so, at that. The men of science now say that chemical in the human skin which most attracts mosquitoes is lactic acid. Certain souls are said to possess a super abundance of same. What's needed now is an anti-lactic-acid pill. Expect it.

Your question and comments are welcome and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 17076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102.

Haystack burns in storm

HANSEN — Ed King lost a haystack in Monday night's storm located on the old Iverson place, east of his present home.

Mrs. King reported that about 35 tons of first and second cutting of this year's hay burned after the stack was struck by lightning. No other damage was done. A severe electrical storm accompanied the rain and wind.

Fire crews stated that a fire in the McMullin basin, started by lightning, was averted when rain doused it. Several thousand head of cattle are in the area.

Statement made about tax ruling

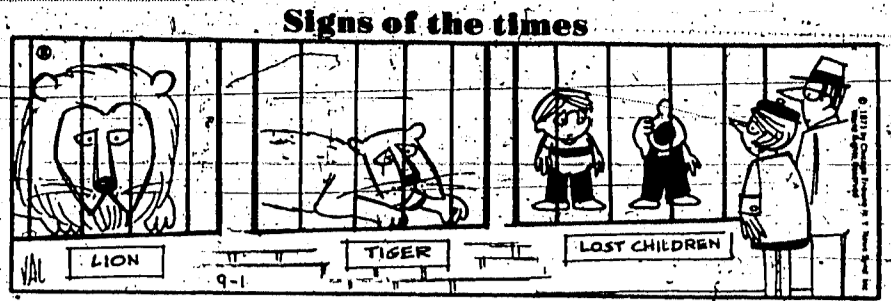

BOISE (UPI) — Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking said Tuesday that Idaho generally is in the same position as California with regard to property tax inequalities.

Engelking issued the statement in the wake of a California State Supreme Court decision which held California's school finance system unconstitutional because it was based on local property taxes.

"There's no question in my mind that our property is not taxed equally," Engelking said. "We have pockets where there is more funding for education than in some other districts."

"I think the legislature is aware of this and is trying to make corrections."
