Nixon won't extend wage-price controls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon announced today that his 90-day wage-price freeze would not be extended beyond the Nov. 13 expiration date but said some form of stabilization machinery would be necessary after that.

In an unusual appearance before joint session of Congress, the President also set as a national goal the creation of 10 million additional jobs over the next 10 years.

He said such a program was needed to cope with a new era in America's international economic relationships which have seen a radical shift in the balance of economic power and "new challenges to our leadership and to our standard of living."

After telling the assembled senators and House members the freeze would end Nov. 13, Nixon declared: "But I assure the Congress and the American people that when this first temporary and necessarily drastic action is over, we shall take all the steps needed to see that America is not again afflicted with the virus of runaway inflation."

"The system of wage and price stabilization that follows the freeze will require the fullest possible cooperation not only between the executive and legislative branches, but also by all Americans." The President urged the Democratic-controlled Congress to enact as its first post-recess priority the $5.9 billion in tax cuts he proposed Aug. 15 when he announced his drastic new economic policies.

The proposed tax breaks—totaling $3.2 billion for private individuals and $2.7 billion for business—will create half a million new jobs in the coming year, Nixon contended. Some labor leaders have disputed this, claiming the tax approach favored business and would not help unemployment.

Nixon's appearance before the joint session was his third since assuming office. It indicated the importance he attaches to rapid consideration of the economic measures which are aimed at cutting unemployment and halting inflation, both of which he claimed were legacies of a war now ending.

Earlier today, Nixon's budget chief said a slump in business profits would cut the government's anticipated corporate tax take by $13 billion to $14 billion this fiscal year.

George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, joined Treasury Secretary John B. Connally in forecasting a budget deficit of between $27 billion and $28 billion.

Shultz warned, the deficit is "a potent danger signal to us all." It would be some $2 billion to $3 billion more than the administration previously had mentioned.

Shultz testified before the House Ways and Means Committee on Nixon's tax proposals this morning before the President went to Capitol Hill to address a joint session of Congress on his new economic program.

The new budget deficit forecast for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, would be $16 billion greater than predicted by the President in his January budget message and the heaviest red ink year since World War II.

Shultz cited "disappointingly low corporate profits" as a contributing factor to the gloomier new outlook and commented:

"Despite the encouraging recovery of profits in the first half of calendar year 1971, the 1970 experience necessarily raises questions in our minds whether receipts from corporate income taxes in fiscal year 1972 will be as high as we estimated in January."

Volcanic heat may generate electrical power at Bridge

by GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Writer

MALTA—Representatives of the Snake River Power Association, which includes cooperatives from Afton, Wyo., to Burley, will meet here Tuesday at the Rural Electrification Administration office to discuss sponsorship of efforts to develop a volcanic steam-driven electric plant southeast of Burley.

Edwin Schlender, manager of the Raft River Rural Electric Co-op, said his firm has filed for 50 second feet of water for geothermal uses in the Bridge community. The application was filed with the Idaho Water Administration—Department in Boise, Schlender said.

He said geologists have been in the area for several months and a report from the consultants will be given at the Tuesday meeting. The Raft River Co-op wants to have the association assume interest in the project, Schlender said, because the larger group will have more developmental capital.

The project poses several legal questions, the director said.

He said there are no laws covering this type of filling and it is not known if or when hearings on the filling will be held. He said Keith Higginson, director of the water administration department, is studying this aspect.

The project would produce an estimated 250 megawatts from the plant, making it the third largest plant in Idaho. Schlender said if also would be only the second geothermal plant in the U.S.

Part of the hot water which would be used is now used as surface water and heats a greenhouse operated by Mrs. H.

P. Crank. After being used in the greenhouse it goes on to landowners in the vicinity.

Another problem facing the development of the proposed steam-driven power plant is that part of the hot water needed is underground and drilling has been prohibited in the area. The location, south of Malta, was termed a critical water area in 1963 by the state.

Several ranches in the area have wells with hot water which is cooled in ponds before being used for irrigation.

L.B. Jardine, Burley realtor, and former owner of the land now owned by Mrs. Crank, said the water rights on the 10 acres she owns are included in her property.

The proposed site for the plant is on two sections of land about two miles west of Bridge near the Raft River Narrows. Plans call for drilling as many as 32 new wells to tap the underground hot water source.

In addition to wells already drilled on ranches and now being used for irrigation, there is one hot springs which flows from a hill and provides the water for Mrs. Crank's greenhouse.

Oldtimers in the area say the pool where the spring flows from the hill once was used for scalding hogs.

Geothermal plants produce electric power "without much pollution or environmental impact" Schlender said. He emphasized that if developed, the plant would be on a non-profit basis and the power produced would be included in the Bonneville Power system.

All sides lose 1,987 in combat

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today 16 Americans were killed in the Vietnam war last week and 84 wounded. Fifteen other GIs died from accidents and disease in the highest nonhostile death toll in a month.

The combat death toll was three less than the previous and brought to 45,487 the number of Americans killed in battle since Jan. 1, 1961.

The new total of American wounded is 301,540.

Allied spokesmen said 230 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 579 wounded, the lowest toll since the beginning of August: when 170 government troops were killed and 464 wounded.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong lost 1,741 killed last week and allied records said that brought to 769,778 the total Communists dead in the war.

Idaho judge disqualified for probe

BOISE (UPI)—Supreme Court Justice Clay V. Spear voluntarily disqualified himself from the high court bench Wednesday after the Judicial Council recommended an investigation into some undisclosed activities.

The council chaired by Chief Justice Henry McQuade, had made the recommendation Aug. 27 that Spear be suspended from sitting with the Supreme Court for 90 days pending the investigation.

McQuade refused to comment on the circumstances leading up to the recommendation. McQuade said the information is confidential and he added that no date has yet been set for the investigation hearing.

Spear will remain in Boise while the Supreme Court conducts its Pocatello term through Friday.

Hurricane menaces Gulf coast

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI)—Hurricane Fern veered north through the Gulf of Mexico today, threatening 450 miles of Texas coast with 90-mile-an-hour winds and forcing beachside residents to board up and move out.

An Air Force plane flew into the eye of the hurricane and relocated the storm's center at 140 miles south-southeast of Galveston. It was almost standing still.

Fern's fringes already were ashore, driving squalls inland and sending whitecaps flooding beaches. Fishermen were told to head their boats ashore.

The National Weather Service extended a hurricane watch area from Brownsville to Port Arthur, Tex.—the full 450 miles of Texas shoreline.

"Persons in that area should take precautions and safeguards and be ready for quick action in case hurricane warnings are issued later today," the weather service said.

At 11 a.m. the hurricane was located near latitude 27.4 north longitude 94.3 west or 140 miles south-southeast of Galveston.

"The surf, with likely heavy undertow and rip currents, is dangerous and should be avoided," the weather service said. "Persons near beaches and in other low areas should have plans for leaving in case warnings of rising water are indicated later."

Hurricane force winds extended 40 miles from the storm's center, with gales blowing outward 150 miles to the north and 75 miles to the south.

Frenchmen balk at dollar

By United Press International
Most major airlines began turning down U.S. dollars in Paris in payment for tickets Wednesday in line with the French government decree that francs be used. Complaints were few among Americans in France arranging to go home.

Most of them luckily had purchased round-trip tickets before flying to Europe on vacation. To those who had not, the major problem seemed to be the inconvenience of having to get their dollars changed into francs at a bank before going to ticket offices.

In Europe's main currency markets, the dollar refused to shift far from its recent price levels. In Tokyo, the American dollar rose slightly in relation to the yen, trading at 338.60 compared with the Tuesday close of 338.55.

The French government decree on airline tickets came in the wake of the dollar's unsteady market value following President Nixon's new economic measures announced Aug. 15.

Only two major airlines in Paris, Air France and Alitalia, continued accepting dollar payments, but at the floating rate that is 5 per cent below the rate effective before the Nixon moves. The two were able to do so by special arrangements with their respective banks, which empowered to act as cashiers for the banks.

Some European dealers said uncertainty about prospects for forthcoming international meetings finding an agreed solution to money and trade problems kept big operators on the sidelines.

In Brussels, Mario Ferrari-Agradi, Italian treasury minister, who will be chairman of a European Common Market meeting Monday, convinced his Belgian, Dutch, and Luxembourg colleagues that the search for a common six-nation policy on the dollar problem should be postponed. "We will first turn our attention to reforming the international monetary system," he told a news conference.

His statement implied the absence of a compromise between divergent West German and French views.

On the London exchange, the dollar fluctuated gently in quiet trading, closing unchanged on the day. In West Germany, the dollar closed at 3.35 marks, or an effective local devaluation of U.S. currency of 7.33 per cent, compared with the old rate.

In Brussels, Amsterdam and Copenhagen, the dollar was largely unchanged from Tuesday.

McClure seen making Senate race

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure is expected to announce by the end of the month — possibly next week — whether he will seek the GOP nomination for the U. S. Senate next year.

It's an odds-on bet the three-term congressman will throw his hat into the ring. Usually reliable sources say his potential finances look good and that he's getting some green lights from the right places.

"He will make a decision within the month of September," James A. Goller, McClure's district representative, said, adding, "It will be at the earliest possible opportunity."

with some members of the Congressional Campaign Committee and, apparently, was not discouraged from making the race. He wants to talk to some more members and, possibly, some White House staffers before making an announcement.

"In all sincerity, he hasn't made up his mind," Goller said. However, usually reliable sources said if McClure has not yet made the final decision to go for the Senate it's strictly a matter of time and that such a decision definitely is forthcoming.

Such a decision will open up McClure's congressional seat in the First District for next year's election. Two Republican legislators already are being mentioned as possible contenders for that post should McClure decide to try for the six-year post: State Senate Majority Leader Wayne Kidwell and State Rep. Larry Jackson, both of Boise.

Kidwell, a former prosecutor, is an attorney in private life. Jackson, a former major league baseball pitcher, is a public relations man for Boise Cascade Corp.

Entry of McClure into the Senate race, especially an early entry, quite well may freeze out many others of his conservative political persuasion. So far, only former State Sen. F. W. (Bill) Bergeson of Pocatello has entered the race from the conservative camp. Former Gov. Robert E. Smylie formally announced his candidacy last Friday and this alone is prodding McClure supporters to get the congressman to move.

Although he has some fences to mend, Smylie still commands a large camp in the moderate wing of the Republican party and they could swing a plurality for him if too many conservatives run.

Even so, McClure still may have one if not two conservative opponents in the primary election next year if he does — as many believe he will — decide to run.

Bergeson still is in the race and some of his followers believe he's there to stay. Former Congressman George Hansen, a young man who just hates to take "no" for an answer, also is itching to run and may give up his plush federal job in Washington, D.C.; to do so — regardless of who else runs.

Still not to be counted out is Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy, a conservative who appeals to the legislative "cowboys" but who also appeals to others in the so-called "mainstream" of things. Whether Murphy will meet McClure head-on, however, remains to be seen.

Congressman Orval Hansen could be another factor, although McClure indicated to a Twin Falls newsman recently the two have agreed not to fracture the party by running against each other.

There are some who feel that even if McClure does not have to meet either Murphy of Hansen head-on his confrontation with Smylie, if McClure runs, will split the party wide open again.

They say there are some die-hards on both sides and an out-and-out Smylie-McClure confrontation could give a solidly-backed Democrat just what he needs in November, 1972 to capture the prize.

Jew league charged

NEW YORK (UPI) — Members of the Jewish Defense League (JDL) were charged Wednesday with bombing the Manhattan offices of the Soviet trade corporation Amtorg and the unsuccessful attempt to blow up the Russian U.N. mission at Glen Cove, N.Y.

The indictments handed down by a Brooklyn grand jury named seven JDL members in the April 22 Amtorg bombing and two of those, plus another unnamed person, in connection with the June 12 Glen Cove conspiracy.

Rabbi Meir Kahane, founder and head of the JDL, said the charges were "totally false" and "based on a frantic need of the federal government to build a detente with the Soviet Union." Since its founding, the JDL has harassed Soviet officials in protest to alleged discrimination of Russian Jews.

A bomb placed in a 19th floor fire stairway outside the Amtorg office blew down part of a ceiling, knocked out doors and windows, tore a hole in a concrete stairwell and caused minor damage to the office interior. A second bomb on the 20th floor was defused by police before it went off.

Named in the four count indictment were Eli Schwartz, 21, JDL national youth chairman; Chaim Bieber, 41; Stuart Cohen, 18; Eileen Garfinkle, 20; Sheldon Seigel, 25; Jacob Weisel, 25, and Avraham Hershkovitz, 26.

Nerve gas removed

HIGASHIONNA, Okinawa (UPI) — The United States removed the last of 13,000 tons of poison nerve gas from Okinawa today, ending a controversy which has lasted several years.

Three convoys of 10 trucks carrying 184 tons of the gas drove the eight miles from a storage area to a pier to complete a 56-day operation to move the gas to Johnston Island near the Hawaiian Islands.

The final shipment of gas will be loaded aboard a Navy transport ship which is scheduled to sail from Okinawa to Johnston Island Friday. Local residents have long insisted that the poison gas be removed. But once the United States agreed to the removal, the residents began protesting an alleged lack of safety precautions.

The residents threatened to stage demonstrations to halt the transport of gas through populated areas when an initial shipment was made last January.

Residents living along the route have evacuated themselves several times during the summer out of fear that an accident might have occurred, but the removal was accomplished without incident.

Guerrilla hijacks jet

BEIRUT (UPI) — A Palestinian guerrilla sentenced to death in Jordan pulled the safety pin from a grenade and hijacked a Jordanian jetliner to Libya Wednesday with 56 other persons aboard. The plane returned safely to Amman.

It was the first Palestinian guerrilla hijacking of an Arab airliner. Jordanian Prime Minister Wasfi Tel announced the hijacking today and said in a statement, "If the guerrilla leadership believes this kind of action is going to achieve anything they are greatly mistaken. We in Jordan have made our attitudes very clear, and this kind of act will not affect us."

Lt. Mohammed Gabr, 35, a member of the largest and most moderate guerrilla organization, Al Fatah, hijacked the French-built Caravelle of the Royal Jordanian Airlines when it was over Egyptian territory on a regular Amman to Beirut flight.

Gabr is a follower of Abou Ali Iyad, a guerrilla leader who fought King Hussein's troops in northern Jordan for two weeks in July. Gabr was sentenced to death in absentia. Guerrillas said Iyad was captured and executed.

Price suit filed

BOISE (UPI) — The attorney general's office filed a suit Tuesday seeking damages and injunctive relief against several gypsum wallboard manufacturers, alleging price fixing to eliminate competition.

The suit, brought in Illinois District Court, charged the United States Gypsum Co., National Gypsum Co., Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp., Flint Kote Co., Fibreboard Co. and the Gypsum Association with a conspiracy to "raise, fix, stabilize and maintain gypsum wallboard prices" in Idaho.

The action is similar to suits brought against the companies by the states of New Mexico, New Jersey, Maryland and Connecticut.

Gold, silver hijacked

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A Railway Express Agency (REA) truck en route to Newark Airport with $426,000 worth of liquid gold and silver was hijacked near Clifton, N.J., by eight armed and masked bandits, it was disclosed Wednesday.

An REA official said the driver had picked up the gold and silver in West Paterson and was on a road in a desolate area of Clifton when two cars boxed in his truck on the highway Tuesday night.

J.G. Weinrich, supervisor of REA's West Paterson office, said the hijackers waved shotguns at the driver, Alfred Basile, and forced him into one of the cars.

Alonzo Conrad
BOISE — Alonzo W. Conrad, 67, Boise, former resident of the Twin Falls area, died Tuesday, at St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise following a lingering illness.

He was born Nov. 22, 1903, at Billings, Mo., and married Mable Engeldorf on Aug. 13, 1925 in Verona, Mo. They came to Twin Falls in 1939. He was employed at Ida Gem Dairyman's Association, Jerome, 24 years before retiring in 1968. He was a member of the Kimberly Nazarene Church.

Survivors include his widow; three sons, John W. Conrad, Auburn, Calif.; Howard E. Conrad, Milner, and Gerald (Jerry) L. Conrad, Burley; three daughters, Mrs. Clifford (Irene) Ferguson, Nampa; Betty Ann Conrad and Ruth Conrad, both Boise; 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren; one brother, Ernest Conrad, Wichita, Kan.; three sisters, Ola Blades and Alice Blades, Pharris, both Verona, Mo., and Grace Girard, Aurora, Mo.

He was preceded in death by one son, his parents, two sisters and one brother.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at the Kimberly Nazarene Church with Rev. Charles Miller, Rev. Earl Hunter, and Rev. W. T. Armstrong officiating. Burial will be in the Sunset Memorial Park. Friends may call at White Mortuary until 9:30 a.m. Friday. The family suggests memorials be made to Kimberly Nazarene Church.

B. McBride
HEYBURN — Brock James McBride, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger D. McBride, Heyburn, died Wednesday at the University Hospital, Salt Lake City, Utah, following a long illness.

He was born July 24, 1958 in Rupert. He was a member of the LDS Church. He had completed the seventh grade at West Minico Junior High School this spring.

Survivors are his parents, one sister, Teesa Ann McBride, at home in Heyburn; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lenard B. McBride, Heyburn; maternal grandparents James Anderson, Pocatello, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Overstreet, Nysse, Ore.; two great-grandmothers, Mrs. Effie Crocker, Burley, and Mrs. Addie McBride, Heyburn.

He was preceded in death by his 9-year-old sister Kathaleen last December.

Funeral services are pending and will be announced by Payne Mortuary, Burley.

SUBLETT — Shaun King George, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil E. George, Sublett, was stillborn Tuesday at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

He is survived by his parents, one sister, Taunya Laralee George, at home in Sublett; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Zollinger, Sublett, and paternal grandfather, J. M. George, Malta.

Graveside services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Beaver Dam-Utah Cemetery with Bishop Jay Harper of the Malta LDS Ward officiating. Services will be under the direction of Payne Mortuary, Burley.

Escapee sentenced

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Court Judge Alfred C. Hagan has sentenced Craig Hooke, 23, Boise, to four years in prison for escaping from two Ada County jailers last July 26.

In imposing the sentence, however, the judge said he will delay Hooke's commitment to the penitentiary until final determination of pending charges.

Hooke, who will remain in sheriff's custody until then, is scheduled for trial in November on charges of attempted murder and drug use. He was charged with attempted murder in the dynamite bombing of the car of Pamela Anthony, 24, a former police narcotics undercover agent, last March.

Funeral Services

BELLEVIEW — Services for Mrs. Vesta Barnes will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Bird Funeral Home, Hailey. Final rites will be in the Bellevue Cemetery.

Park trade proposed

FORT BRAGG, Calif. (UPI) — Boise-Cascade Corp. has proposed giving the state some of its coastal property in exchange for redwood acreage in an inland state park.

Doug Westonhaver, Boise regional manager, said Tuesday that it would give 1,500 acres at Mendocino Headlands north of here in exchange for acreage in Jackson State Park.

He said the park acreage would have to be "of mutually agreed equivalent value."

Valley school heads skeptical

TWIN FALLS — The new state program to establish a limited number of kindergartens through a federal grant of $2.25 million is stirring second thoughts about the practicality of the concept among several Magic Valley school superintendents.

The program, announced by D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction, would allocate funds for 125 kindergarten teachers to 36 Idaho counties, including 14 in the Magic Valley. A new federal employment program would pay the salaries of the teachers.

Dr. Tom Utterback, Hazelton, superintendent of Valley School District No. 261, however, said he is doubtful of the program's worth. Though his district has been offered one teacher's pay, Utterback said his board of trustees will have to decide on Monday night whether to accept the offer. He may recommend that the district decline the offer, he said Wednesday.

A major flaw with the program is that only about one-third of the state's 14,800 5-year-olds can participate in the limited program, Dr. Utterback said. This would give the participants a strong but unfair advantage when they enter the first grade next fall.

Transportation of the kindergarten students throughout his 17-square-mile district is a problem, Dr. Utterback said. The district would have to provide buses twice a day for each half-day class session, or would have to ask parents to bring their children in, a task which would be difficult for many families.

In Twin Falls, Supt. George Staudaheer said the board of trustees, also scheduled to meet Monday night, will have to make the decision. The district would have to pay about $5,500 for teaching materials and rental of space for the three kindergarten classes offered in Twin Falls, Staudaheer said.

"This may not sound like much, but it is one teacher's salary," he explained.

Staudaheer said he was hesitant to initiate the limited kindergarten concept, since only about half of the estimated 550 5-year-olds could be enrolled.

"How do you select the fortunate few?" he asked. "You can't put all the names into a hat and pick out half — that's gambling with their future! How do you tell one parent her child has been selected, yet tell another her child is out of luck?"

Staudaheer said his position is that "I'm just waiting to see what I get from Boise in the mail. I'll discuss it with the board on Monday, but at present I'm very hesitant to recommend the program."

In Jerome, Supt. John Campbell said he disapproves of the program. He did not ask for any kindergarten teachers and was not allocated any by Engelking.

"We have adequate private kindergarten facilities in operation now," he said, adding that the district has no facilities to house a kindergarten class.

In Rupert, Minidoka County School District Superintendent Dr. Darrell Hatfield said he will "probably" accept the two teachers offered his district, but will await a formal decision by his board of trustees next Tuesday.

Dr. Hatfield echoed the other superintendents in puzzling over the selection of the students.

Teacher pay rule varies with mail

TWIN FALLS — There seems to be a major communications gap between the state government and local authorities, particularly school districts, according to Twin Falls School Supt. George Staudaheer.

The announcement by Idaho Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking on Wednesday that Idaho school teachers will not be allowed their annual pay increments came as a complete surprise to Staudaheer, who said he has received no direct notification of any sort from Engelking.

"We're sitting on a quarter-million-dollar payroll in this district, and we don't know what to do," Staudaheer said today.

He received a formal letter only last Friday from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, saying the Council on the Cost of Living in Washington, D. C., had authorized payment of higher pay for all teachers.

HEW had been authorized to notify school districts, the letter said.

Later the same day, however, the school district's attorneys called Staudaheer to say that the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness in Seattle had reversed the pay issue — no higher pay was to be allowed.

"We still have not heard either from the OEP, or from HEW, or even from Engelking," Staudaheer said.

Gooding levy set for 1971

GOODING — Gooding City Councilmen have certified the mill levy for the 1971 budget which was approved last winter.

City Clerk George Silva said the certification is required by law for each city at this time of year, and the four mill increase is to provide funds for the budget already approved.

Councilmen approved transfer of $15,000 to the water department from the sewer funds. The funds are needed to help pay for the pump in the new city well.

Mayor Harley Crippen said the new well project was installed at a cost of $100,000, but was possible without a bond election.

Councilmen Earl Greenawalt suggested the city refuse to pay for the ski bus and winter basketball program until persons stealing and damaging street signs are reported.

Mayor Crippen asked for volunteers for the Gooding Fire Department.

Shoshone teacher cited for service

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Begie Hatmaker, Lincoln Elementary School fifth grade teacher, has been selected among the "Leaders of American Elementary Education for 1971," Jack D. Bowlin, principal of the school said today.

Bowlin said the educators so named are selected for the national honor on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Leaders of American Elementary Education is an annual program honoring the men and women who have distinguished themselves by their services and leadership in the field of elementary education.

In announcing the award winners to the principal, Dr. V. Gilbert Beera, director of the program, cited them for their outstanding service.

Mrs. Hatmaker said, "I feel that the only thing that could have prompted my having been selected for this honor may be the extra work I have done along the lines of conservation. I feel very average as a teacher, otherwise."

Pair join TF police roster

TWIN FALLS — Appointment of two new men to the Twin Falls Police Department was announced today by Chief of Police Frank Barnett.

He said Gary H. Andreason, 29, Filer, has been hired as a radio operator and Richard W. Shawver, 31, Twin Falls, as a patrolman.

They replace Frank Lumm, who resigned to accept a position with the state of Idaho in liquor law enforcement work, and Jack Richards, who is returning to college this fall at Weber State College, Ogden, Utah. He has completed three years of college toward a law degree and plans to complete his education at Weber State and the University of Utah.

Chief Barnett said Andreason has been employed as an electrician for a number of years and has been associated with several electrical firms in Twin Falls. He has no previous law enforcement experience.

Shawver has about four and one-half years in law enforcement work. He served on the Idaho Falls Police Department one year and with the police department in Las Vegas the past three and one-half years. He is originally from the Jerome area.

Report pending

DENVER (UPI) — Leonard Campbell, assistant U.S. attorney for Colorado, says he is still awaiting a report on hunting deaths of eagles over his Rocky Mountain state.

Most of the nationwide publicity over the killing of eagles has focused on the neighboring state of Wyoming, but some of the large birds reportedly have met their deaths in the skies over Colorado.

Campbell said federal fish and wildlife officials were to have completed a report Wednesday on the Colorado aspect of the case. The report will be mailed to Campbell for study and possible future action.

Campbell says from what he already knows of the case, it apparently parallels a situation in Wyoming where hundreds of eagles allegedly were gunned down by hunters riding in helicopters.

But he is being cautious not to prejudice the case. "After we've reviewed the report, we'll make public what we can so we won't prejudice the case," he said.

"There may not be much I can say even when the report comes out," Campbell said.

He also could not say definitely whether any charges would eventually be filed in the Colorado incident.

The governmental momentum is picking up in its investigation and possible prosecution in eagle killings in Wyoming, Colorado and other Western states.

Nathaniel Reed, Assistant Interior Secretary for Fish and Wildlife, says a federal grand jury is being sought in Wyoming, possibly by December, to investigate the reported slaughter of eagles there.

And Reed says the secret panel action will be part of a West-side probe of the "entire predator control situation."

TF auto strikes, injures Canadian

TWIN FALLS — A Hussar, Alberta, Canada, man is listed in fair condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with injuries received in a vehicle-pedestrian accident early this morning.

Twin Falls Police said Roy Hood, 35, was injured about 12:40 a.m. when he was struck by a car in the 400 block of Addison Avenue West. Officers said Hood had just left a bar on the north side of Addison and was walking to the south side of the street when the accident occurred.

They said Hood was standing in the center east-bound lane of Addison when he was struck by a car driven by Lewis Vern Hoffman, 57, Twin Falls. Neither Hoffman nor four passengers in his vehicle, Pearl Hoffman, 57; Virgil Malone, 57; Carol Greenup, 14, and Cheryl Greenup, 12, all Twin Falls, was injured.

Hood is an employe of Reg Kesler Rodeo Co. which is producing the Twin Falls County rodeo.

Zoning requests approved

TWIN FALLS — Two zoning requests were granted Tuesday by Twin Falls County Commissioners following public hearings at which no protests were heard.

County commissioners approved changing the zone from agricultural first class to residential third class on property immediately north of the College of Southern Idaho. Greater Idaho Inc., has announced plans for a $15-million student housing development there.

Members of the county planning and zoning commission had recommended approval of the zone change to allow multiple housing units.

Another request approved was for a variance on the old city filter plant property. The county action permits use of the building and 15-acre site for the manufacture of electronic alarms. The area is agricultural zone and avariance was recommended by the planning and zoning commission.

Greater Idaho Inc., headed by Fred Frazier, president of Sierra Life, proposes to spend $2 million this year as the first phase of the proposed project. It is designed for student housing and college faculty. An 80-acre tract has been acquired with the construction in several phases extending over the next few years.

Modules built by Regal Manufacturing Co., Twin Falls, will be hoisted into place to form more than one story. Construction of the first portion of the project is scheduled to begin this fall.

City Manager Jean Millar said no request has been made as yet for city water and sewer services for the site. City approval of zoning is not necessary because of the county zoning ordinance covering areas outside of the city limits. The site is north of the city limits.

Fair bus rides set for seniors

TWIN FALLS — The Senior Citizens Agency of Twin Falls will provide free bus transportation for all senior citizens to the Twin Falls County Fair Friday, Ray E. Pruett, director, said Wednesday.

Transportation is being provided courtesy of Kirkman Brothers and the Twin Falls County Fair Board. The bus will arrive at 10 a.m. at the fairgrounds and return to Twin Falls at 2 p.m.

Pruett said persons wanting to take advantage of the free transportation should be at the following pickup points:

Sunny View courts recreation hall, 9 a.m.; Duvall and Terry Courts at Maurice Circle, 9:10 a.m.; Washington Courts at housing office, 9:15 a.m.; city park at Shoshone and Sixth Avenue, 9:25 a.m.; Justamere Inn, 9:30 a.m.; Pioneer Courts at Fourth Street South, 9:40 a.m.; Canyon Villa apartments, meet at Magic Valley Drug, 598 Addison Ave. W., 9:45 a.m.

Liberal Arts

Parents of grammar and high school students are aware many changes are taking place in the "foundation years" of education. Homework in the first grade, reading in the second, foreign languages by sixth and economic studies in the eighth grade are a few of the changes which make Mom and Dad feel a bit insecure in their own educations.

What is happening is that colleges are changing their academic directions by pressures from three main sources, not by choice. First and probably most powerful is the reenergized high school, which frequently has given the student at least a year of what used to be considered college work.

When he arrives on the campus, he is greeted by little challenge and much repetition. By the second year he has lost interest.

Another heavy hand on the college-official's shoulder is the competition in industry and science for persons exceptionally talented and well educated in one narrow field. The age of technological advance has brought with it a narrower scope of vision.

Accompanying these outside pressures is an internal problem based on the desire of many professors to make a reputation for themselves. This ambition can be satisfied only by involved research in a problem of the times, usually scientific, or writing a paper on an important question of the day, again usually scientific.

Combined, the three pressures have dealt a death blow to liberal education in many former advocates of the well-rounded person. The number of colleges which have changed to university status tells the tale plainly. So far, about the only facet of education which has not accepted the inevitability of the trend is the commencement speaker.

He still preaches of the wisdom of a smattering of learning in all fields, but the gradual disappearance of the educated jack-of-all-trades proves how widely his advice is ignored.

Pollution

Whatever the intention of the congressmen when the 1899 Rivers and Harbors Act was passed, the ancient statute is providing a cause celebre among modern environmentalists. The act prohibits dumping, except treated sewage, into a navigable waterway without a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Various court decisions have defined navigable waterways as any waterway which will float a small boat or log. In short, almost any body of water.

The act provides maximum fines of $2,500 for each violation, and further provides the government split the fines 50-50 with whoever supplies the evidence. That is the point which has drawn ambitious antipollutionists into the picture.

Several expeditions through rivers and streams by students and others who carry large stocks of sample bottles and other paraphernalia and are able to pinpoint the source of water pollutants have resulted in convictions, fines and division of the fines with those who provided the evidence.

Bounty hunting, it appears, is not an obsolete profession, although those who engage in it are forced to operate without wanted posters.

That Rock Festival

Now that most of the dust has cleared, and the rock festival near Bellevue is a thing of the past, it's time Mr. Spectator said something concerning it.

Phineas T. Barnum, who was born in 1810 and who died in 1891, would have rolled over in his grave if he had heard of the publicity given the event.

Barnum was America's first great showman. His was the greatest show on earth. He knew how to get publicity. Well, after reading all about the Bellevue rock festival for days and days, we have come to the conclusion Barnum's principles are still being practiced.

Barnum — who said there was one fool born every minute and two to take him, or something like that — established the principle that there's no end to the free publicity the press will give you if you stir up a controversy.

Well, Barnum's methods were carried out by those backing the Slaughterhouse Gulch affair.

Near the end of his long career, Barnum was asked what one thing had helped him most.

"The press," he answered. So like we said, it just had to be the ghost of Barnum who stalked the Bellevue area and stirred up the controversy that the press swallowed!!

Do you realize city streets are the most neglected item when it comes to federal help? Aid for city streets seldom gets as high as 30 per cent while highways many times receive 90 to 100 per cent. Yet traffic on city streets is far and away what it is on the highway!!

Want to hear about something interesting and unusual? Mrs. Ellsworth A. Clark, who lives at 205 East Avenue G in Jerome, told us that she and her husband were both delivered by the same doctor and that they weighed the same amount — nine and three-quarters pounds each. She's been around the Magic Valley long enough to remember when it was the Twin Falls Daily News and the Idaho Evening Times. They have also subscribed to the Times-News for 23 years.

Mrs. C. E. McNulty, Kimberly, wrote in to say the "for sale" sign we ran last week and which advertised (in Boise) a piece of property at $1 a square foot, brought back memories. The sign was on property owned and lived on for about 35 years by her sister, Mrs. Elsie Lamb, now living with a daughter in California. Mrs. McNulty says there used to be a house, lawn, several large trees and a workshop on the property. It was sold to the present owners about two years ago. We were told that the saddest part for her sister was returning to Boise on a trip and passing by the old house just at the time it was being burned down for removal.

ANDREW TULLY

Creator Of Dr. Fu Manchu

CAPE MAY, N.J. — Wringing dry the summer's last holiday weekend, I dropped in at the neighborhood library to borrow some early Agatha Christie, and felt a nostalgic chill in the vicinity of my spine. There in a neat row was a collection of the terrifying works of Sax Rohmer.

A reference book informed me that the man who created Dr. Fu Manchu died in 1959, probably unremembered by the exquisites of the literary set. (But no boy who read him in the days of Saturday afternoon serials at the local Palladium will ever forget him.)

Sax Rohmer's real name turns out to have been Arthur Sarsfield Ward, but his pen name was much more appropriate. Indeed, as a sprout, I always thought of him as an Oriental, despite the Germanic name, and would have been crushed to learn that he was, in fact, a relatively pedestrian Englishman.

Anyway, what mattered in those days was Fu Manchu himself, one of the unholyest villains in lower-case literary history. An unmistakable Chinese of the utmost friendliness, Fu Manchu for years kept me in a state of almost constant, though delighted, terror. Today, his children, kept in a kind of snap-crackle-and-pop thrall to such exercises in TV flummery as Mission Impossible, little know how cheated they are. Fu Manchu would have taken those preposterous Mod Squad types in the first round and then polished off the Bonanza boys for dessert.

A child of stubbornly precocious reading tastes, I dipped into my first Fu Manchu book at the age of 10. (Joyce came much later — at 14.) That night it took the combined assurances of both parents, two older sisters and an older brother to get me to bed. My dreams filled with Fu Manchu's trapdoors, torture chambers and ghostly disappearing act, I woke the next morning with what surely was history's first non-alcoholic hangover.

Thereafter, the nighttime hours were a mixture of fascination and fright. Ma banned further exposure to the evil doctor's machinations, but the bug had bitten and within a week, I had smuggled a second volume of Fu Manchu into my eyrie and hidden it under a pile of Dr. Doolittles.

Night after gloriously terrifying night, I dreaded falling off to sleep lest the greenish visage of Fu Manchu suddenly appear in the room to drag me off to his chamber of horrors. Sometimes I got away with keeping the light on, but too often that small comfort was denied me by a parent sweeping in with an unfeeling comment about wasting electricity. (Next to references to the starving Armenians when I balked at eating liver, I hated most the phrase "Waste not, want not.")

I concealed my defiance of the ban on ol' Fu from my parents, but an older sister discovered my guilty secret and added to my terror. Each time I tentatively ventured down cellar for firewood, she followed me furtively and, when I had reached the darkest part of that dirt-floored, medieval dungeon, gave vent to an authentic Yellow-Peril shriek.

Neighborhood dogs who had been my friends suddenly were suspect as possible members in good standing of Fu Manchu's bestial arsenal. The fiendish doctor lurked in a clump of trees in my own backyard after dark, and skulked in the hitherto-cozy back kitchen, lighted by an oil lamp that cast suspicious shadows. For months I crossed the street whenever approaching the town's Chinese laundry.

Still the lure remained irresistible. I read every Fu Manchu book I could lay trembling hands on, while submitting to monumental nightmares that would have boggled the senses of the sharpest head shrinker. Yet, I maintain that Sax Rohmer's stories were an indispensable part of growing up. They filled a crying need in a quieter if not duller day. When a boy picked up the latest Fu he had the awful-wonderful assurance he was going to be scared to death.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Foodaholic

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a "foodaholic" — a human garbage disposal, a compulsive overeater. I turn to food, especially man-made carbohydrates, much as an alcoholic turns to liquor (for the same reasons — or lack of reasons).

Since childhood, food has been overly meaningful to me. When depressed, resentful, anxious, rejected, frustrated, in pain — as well as happy, satisfied or excited — I would turn to enormous quantities of food. A "binge."

I would eat, eat, eat all day and all night perhaps; hating myself, yet continuing. When literally stuffed, I'd force myself to throw up, only to eat more.

This is definitely a non-answer to coping with life.

In order to lose weight and control myself, I joined every commercial weight group and tried every diet that came along. I'd lose weight, only to gain it back plus 10 or 20 pounds.

About a year and a half ago, I discovered that I was not alone in my sickening obsession with food. There are thousands of us who run to food for many neurotic reasons, eat in secret, and can't lose weight.

I discovered that, as the alcoholic has "Alcoholics Anonymous," the compulsive eater has "Overeaters Anonymous" (O.A.).

Since I have been an O. A. member I have come to understand that I have an illness that I can control just for today one day at a time.

I am learning to place food in the proper perspective. It is merely a necessity of life, as is sleep. It is not the answer to my problems. It only made my problems worse because I hated the fat me for running to food, instead of helping myself. Obesity is a serious medical problem, but there is hope through this program — V.J.G. Physicians who specialize in treating obese patients are well aware that overeating is often an emotional reaction, and the "secret eater" has to understand why he eats so much — or why she does.

V.J.G. enclosed a pamphlet about "Overeaters Anonymous," and it is, indeed, patterned very much after Alcoholics Anonymous. V.J.G.'s letter explains cogently why that makes sense.

I do not know how widespread O. A. is, but it has been in existence since 1960, and has groups in various places, just as A.A. does.

For anyone interested, I'll give the address to which to write to find out if there is a group in your vicinity. It is Overeaters Anonymous, P. O. Box 3372, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My hands shake and seem to be getting worse. What causes this and what can I take to help me? I have been this way for about two years — Mrs. L. C. M.

There are different causes of hand tremors, the commonest ones being Parkinson's disease, aging, and overactive thyroid. Treatment depends on what the cause is, and you will have to have your doctor diagnose the cause.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain what my doctor called carpal tunnel syndrome. What is the treatment? Is it cancerous? — M. M.

The carpal tunnel is a passageway in the wrist through which nerves pass. If because of injury, infection, etc., there is insufficient space, you can encounter the pain or lameness that you are having. It is NOT cancerous. If it is troublesome enough to warrant it, surgery is the treatment.

ART BUCHWALD

On Book Reviews

WASHINGTON — The average newspaper reader may wonder how a book editor goes about selecting someone to review a newly published novel or work of nonfiction. Except for the few books that the book editor chooses to review himself, the editor usually assigns the job to:

- (A) A college professor.
- (B) Someone who has written a book on a similar subject.
- (C) A reporter friend who can use $25.

Now, each one of these people can cause trouble for an author. The college professor usually doesn't review the book assigned to him, but uses it as an opportunity to discuss everything he knows about literature. His review may start off "Murray Slotnick is no Marcel Proust. When Proust was a boy..." Slotnick is lucky if the professor mentions his book even once in the review.

While the college professor is always getting sidetracked in his review, he is usually not malicious about Slotnick. If he ignores the book, he only does it because the professor knows the reader is much more interested in his knowledge of writers of the 20th century than in Slotnick's latest work.

The second category of reviewer is the most dangerous. When the book editor turns over a newly published work to an author who has written on the same subject, the writer of the book is sunk.

Let us assume that Stump has just written "The Definitive History of Staten Island." The book editor assigns the work to Carstairs who two years ago wrote "The Definitive History of Staten Island." Carstairs has no intention of letting Stump's history place his own and so he lacerates Stump in the review for factual inaccuracies, lack of depth, shoddy writing, poor illustrations and outdated street maps.

In fiction the situation is even worse. When an editor asks one fiction writer to review another writer's new book he is signing the latter's death warrant. There are very few writers of fiction who are capable of reviewing another writer's book without slashing off an ear.

Brubaker, the author of "Sit" starts off his review of Templebar's new novel "Big Toe" as follows: "Templebar, who showed so much promise in the Fifties with his first novel, 'Postage Due,' has once again disappointed his readers. What nobody knows is that Templebar reviewed Brubaker's last book in a similar manner, and Brubaker is finally getting his revenge. (I know from personal experience that book editors operate this way because every time Russell Baker comes out with a new book I am asked to review it, and every time I come out with a book Baker is asked to write about it. Since I have nothing good to say about Baker, and he has nothing good to say about me, we have a deal. We each write our own reviews of our own books and sign each other's name. This is the only reason we've been able to remain friends for so many years.)

If the author had his choice of reviewers, he would probably choose the third category — the editor's reporter friend who needs the extra $25.

The reporter, who is more interested in the money than he is in criticism, doesn't have time to read the book so he just types up everything printed on the inside book jacket and hands it in as his review. Publishers know this and that is why most inside book jackets read like favorable book reviews.

What of the blurbs that appear on the back cover and in the advertisements recommending the book in glowing terms? Those, dear reader, are written by friends of the author who haven't read the book but owe the poor guy a favor.

ROWLAND EVANS

No To Israel

WASHINGTON — Shortly before the arrival of Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco in Israel in late July, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan tried to gain cabinet approval for a hard-line policy that would have put U.S.-Israeli relations, already badly frayed, into acute crisis.

Dayan proposed that the government of Prime Minister Golda Meir inform the United States that Sisco in effect should cancel his projected diplomatic mission to Israel unless he had authority to break the deadlock in Israel's favor over new F-4 Phantoms for the Israeli air force.

Dayan put his motion to a formal vote in the cabinet. Voting with Dayan, the most charismatic leader in Mrs. Meir's cabinet, was Shimon Peres, the extremely able minister of transportation and communications and perhaps Dayan's closest political ally.

The proposal lost, rather badly, but its sponsorship by Dayan raised the most serious policy question between the Nixon administration and the Meir government since Secretary of State William P. Rogers launched the U.S. peace plan in 1969. For what Dayan was proposing amounted to nothing less than a squeeze plan on President Nixon: If you don't give us a guarantee of an open pipeline for the Phantom, we won't make any more concessions on your Suez Canal interim peace plan.

If Dayan, Peres and other top Israeli political leaders had been bluffing about this squeeze play, the extraordinary Dayan motion in the cabinet could be dismissed as a tactical diplomatic ploy.

But far from bluffing, Dayan was expressing what is becoming a cardinal tenet of Israel's policy in the simmering Arab-Israeli conflict: that without public displays of strong U.S. support for Israel, coupled with enough high-visibility arms to convince the Arabs of overwhelming Israeli superiority, Israel won't risk an interim Suez Canal settlement except on terms totally unacceptable to Egypt.

In attempting to convince President Nixon that this is hard Israeli policy, not a negotiating tactic, Mrs. Meir persuaded Sisco himself to make a furtive trip to the Suez Canal cease-fire zone during his six-day diplomatic mission.

That unpublicized inspection by the President's Middle-East expert was designed to show Sisco that any pullback from the natural barrier of the canal and the Bar-Lev defense line could be suicidal. To make the risk tolerable, in the Israeli view, the delivery of more and still more U.S. arms must be assured.

Although Sisco's visit impressed him rather forcefully with the strategic importance of the canal, which he had never seen before, it has not led to any change in the Nixon administration about the central question of more Phantoms for Israel's powerful air force.

High arms cost said dangerous

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee believes American weapons are becoming so expensive and complicated that even a sharp increase in the defense budget may not meet minimum national security needs.

The committee Tuesday denounced weapons that cost more per pound than gold, aircraft munitions which cost hundreds of thousands of dollars per round and tanks which cost four times more than they did a decade ago.

If the trend is not reversed, "then even significant increases in the defense budget may not insure the force levels required for our national security," the committee said.

The warning came in a report on a $21 billion weapons procurement bill, which the committee shaved by $1 billion in a continued drive for economy.

It was possibly the most critical analysis of weapons costs to date by the committee, which is dominated by long-time friends of the armed services such as Chairman

John Stennis, D-Miss., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Unlike other congressional critics of military spending, however, the committee did not argue for defense savings to reorder national priorities in favor of vital domestic needs. Its contention was that costs must be brought down to maintain an adequate defense posture.

"If we can afford a permanent force structure of only one-fifth as many fighter aircraft or tanks as our potential adversaries—because our systems are about five times more expensive than theirs—then a future crisis may find us in a sharp numerical disadvantage," the report said.

A burst of .50 caliber machine gun fire cost $2 during the Korean War, the committee declared, but "we are now developing tactical air-to-air munitions costing several hundred thousand dollars per round—an increase by a factor of tens of thousands."

By 1975, the cost of one tank will equal the cost for four a decade earlier, it said. And fighter aircraft cost "five to six times more than comparable planes at the beginning of the 1960s."

"Whatever the cause, it is striking that in many cases we have developed and produced aircraft of extraordinary capabilities without demonstrably reliable and effective air-to-air munitions, bombers without long-range air-to-surface missiles, submarines without reliable and effective torpedoes or antiship missiles and surface escorts without any surface-to-surface missiles of any kind," the committee said.

Bias charge rejected

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Judge Richard E. Arnason Wednesday denied a defense motion that murder-killings charges against Angela Davis should be dismissed because the grand jury which indicted her was improperly composed.

"The court does not find sufficient basis for a finding that the judges of Marin County consciously, deliberately or arbitrarily discriminated against any definable class of citizens" in selecting the grand jury, Arnason ruled.

He set Friday for hearing arguments on more pretrial motions by the defense, including one that Miss Davis' scheduled Sept. 27 trial be postponed because of the bloody Aug. 21 escape attempt at San Quentin Prison.

The escape attempt, in which black revolutionary George

Jackson and five others were killed, has so "poisoned the atmosphere" in Marin County that it will be impossible for Miss Davis to receive a fair trial now. "If ever," the defense motion contends.

Defense attorneys also said they intended to ask a change of venue to move the trial out of Marin County, where both the shootout and the San Quentin escape attempt took place.

Miss Davis is accused of buying the guns for the Aug. 7, 1970, Marin County shootout in which a judge was kidnapped from his bench by San Quentin convicts and shot to death. Three of his kidnapers also were killed in a shootout.

Judge permits pilot's words

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—The prosecution has won a preliminary legal round in its effort to prove that Col. Oran K. Henderson received reports of atrocities at My Lai in 1968 but failed to follow up with a thorough investigation.

The military judge at Henderson's court-martial, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, ruled Wednesday after a round of arguments by the government and Henderson's chief defense attorneys that a witness could describe the angry complaints of a helicopter pilot about operations he said he found on the ground in the sweep during which an estimated 50 to over 100 unarmed civilians were killed.

The witness, Maj. Thelmar A. Moe, now stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., then told the jury that he heard WO Hugh Thompson, the pilot, report heatedly to his commanding officer on at least two incidents which he said disturbed him.

Moe testified Thompson twice confronted Maj. Frederic Watke, his commanding officer. One time, Moe said, Thompson told of a sergeant who was going to wound a child Thompson was evacuating.

Moe said that at another point Thompson told Watke how he talked to a lieutenant about "women and possibly old men" and how he "wanted to get them out of there."

"I would say Mr. Thompson was angry, indignant and emotional," Moe said when questioned about Thompson's attitude and demeanor at the time.

Medina counsel calls officers

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—Defense attorneys demanded Wednesday that the government produce Lt. William L. Calley Jr. and Col. Oran K. Henderson as defense witnesses in the My Lai court-martial of Capt. Ernest L. Medina.

Calley, one of the platoon commanders in Medina's company, has been convicted of murdering 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. His life sentence recently was reduced to 20 years.

Henderson, who became commander of the 11th Infantry Brigade the day before American troops swept through My Lai in 1968, currently is on trial at Ft. Meade, Md., on charges of covering up the atrocities.

Calley is scheduled to appear Friday.

The prosecution had been expected to rest its case Wednesday afternoon, but a dispute arose over the testimony of the last scheduled witness, and the trial was recessed for the day.

Robert A. Brisentine, who administered a lie detector test to Medina, was to have been the final prosecution witness; but his recollection of several of the answers given by Medina are at variance with the defense version. The court ordered the retest so tapes of the conversation could be reviewed to determine which side is right.

The government called three witnesses Wednesday morning, including two South Vietnamese interpreters who accompanied Medina on the sweep through the village. They said Medina dismissed questions about the killings there with the comment:

"That is the order. Don't ask any questions."

Parliament ousted

CAIRO (UPI)—President Anwar Sadat dissolved the nation's Parliament Wednesday and worked to finish the draft of a new constitution for the Arab Republic of Egypt.

During the day, Sadat presided over a meeting of the 230-member Central Committee of the Arab Socialist Union to complete the 193-article constitution that will replace the present one. It will guarantee equality for women, supremacy of the law, and individual and public freedoms.

The final draft will be submitted to Egypt's 8 million voters this Saturday.

The dissolution of Parliament and promulgation of a permanent constitution are part of Sadat's reorganization plan launched after he ousted political opponents last May. The plan has included free elections to reshape the Arab Socialist Union—Egypt's sole political party—which was accomplished last July.

A New People's Council (Parliament) will be elected Oct. 27 and hold its first session Nov. 11.

US bars Cahill

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Cahill, leader of a militant wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) was barred from the United States Wednesday on the ground that he did not possess a valid visa.

Examiner Francis Lyon ruled at an immigration and Naturalization Service hearing that Cahill, who arrived here last Wednesday to begin a speaking tour and appeal for funds was excludable. The 51-year-old Irish leader said he would not carry the decision to court.

No testimony was heard at the afternoon hearing. After a conference between the government and defense, Cahill's attorney agreed to ask for an immediate ruling.

Maltese has top hand

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Dom Mintoff, who squeaked in as Malta's prime minister in a close election last June, is in the happy position of a poker player sitting with a foyal flush in his hand.
He is using it against Britain, from whom Malta achieved independence in 1964, and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).
So far as NATO is concerned the island's strategic importance has declined. But other factors have entered the picture. Included among them are Russian ambitions in the Mediterranean, the Arab-Israeli conflict and Spanish ambitions to re-occupy Gibraltar.
Angling for influence on Malta, long with the Russians, has been Libya which sees it as a waypoint in the shipment of Mideastern oil and an important element in the fight against Israel. Mintoff already has told the U.S. 6th Fleet to stop its calls at the Maltese ports of Valetta and the Maltese and Libyans are hoping for failure of the negotiations with Britain.

"Total" Support
Moscow has promised "total" support in "liquidating colonial domination" from Malta and has promised to examine question of economic aid.
Libya also has been talking with Mintoff on questions of defense and aid.
The Libyans would like to use Malta as a base for a fleet of Arab oil tankers. Her own port facilities are inadequate.
The question of air control over that portion of the Mediterranean also has come up. There has been speculation that when Valetta air controllers refused to let a BOAC airliner land they may have enabled the Libyan government to force the liner down at Benghazi and seize two leaders of the short-lived coup in Sudan.
The Libyan moves have brought Israel into the picture, presumably with counter-offers. These could include orders for Malta should build up its merchant fleet.

Spain's sudden interest in NATO also is traced to Malta's status, or lack of it, in the matter of Mediterranean defenses.
The Reasoning
The reasoning is that if the British-NATO negotiations with Malta should break down, then Gibraltar might take on new importance as a NATO base. If Spain were a member of NATO, then her ships could call on Gibraltar and possibly become an opening wedge in Spain's efforts to break Britain's 267-year-old hold on "The Rock."
These are some of the "iffy" questions posed by Mintoff's determination that Malta shall determine its own destiny after some 2,000 years of being controlled by others.
But despite his tough talk about throwing the British and NATO out, there he is no disposition to believe there is no turn his island over to the Russians.

British officials remain quietly optimistic about an early agreement permitting British troops to remain.
Britain had been paying "rent" of $12.5 million a year, and, with some help from NATO, has offered to bring it up to $20.4 million. Mintoff has scaled his demands down from $72 million to $36 million. The final settlement probably will be somewhere in between, ending the risk that a Soviet naval base might be established there.
The British, it is said, will not object if Mintoff allows repair work to be done on Soviet ships in Malta's dry docks.

Aims bring rejection

LONDON (UPI)—A British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) program director said the government-owned television network turned down "Sesame Street" because of its "authoritarian aims."
Monica Sims, head of children's television at the BBC, said Monday she shared opinions of educational experts who said the program portrayed "essentially middle-class attitudes, lack of reality, and attempted to prepare children for school but not for middle life."

Old Chinese remedy cures ailing elbow

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — An NBC-TV newsman described on television Tuesday night how he underwent the ancient Chinese treatment of acupuncture for his case of tennis elbow, and now feels like playing a couple of good hard sets.
In the Chinese treatment, the body is punctured with needles to cure disease or relieve pain. The newsman, David Weber of the network's London bureau, appeared on NBC-TV's "First Tuesday" and also interviewed the physician who treated him, Dr. Yung Chi, slow, a leading acupuncturist in England.
Weber said he took a crack at acupuncture because "everything else had failed—the cortisone shots, the deep friction treatment, even wearing a copper bracelet... so Dr. Yung needed me, as the acupuncturist people like to say, and, I must say it was an unnerving experience, although not particularly painful, just watching that stainless steel needle about an inch and a half long and the thickness of a human hair go sliding into my arm...

"Well, now, a week after this treatment, I find I can move my wrist freely. I can make a very tight fist and not feel any of the old pain. Of course, my acupunctured tennis elbow has not been subjected to the acid test, but I can say for the first time in two years that I at least feel like picking up the tennis racket and playing a couple of good hard sets."
According to Dr. Yung, acupuncture "mainly is to function the nerves and increase the blood corpuscles, strengthening the muscles."

'Buoyos' set CSI concert

TWIN FALLS — "The Buoyos" will present the College of Southern Idaho's first concert of the season at the fine arts center on campus.
The five-member musical group is being sponsored by the Associated Students of CSI and Barefoot Productions of Boise. It will perform at 8 p.m. Friday.
"The Buoyos" scored well with their album "Timothy" and have just released a new single, "Bloodnot," this week.
The rock group is composed of five versatile performers whose music ranges from hard rock to soft ballads which use the soft sounds of flutes in several of the lighter numbers.
Tickets for CSI students are on sale at the student union building and general admission tickets are available at several locations in the valley. John Sims, director of student activities, said tickets will be available at the door if seating is still available, but there is a limited amount of seating and advance tickets should be obtained.

China question rises

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
For more than 20 years Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has been selling Brooklyn Bridge to the out-of-town yokels.
Not literally, of course. In Chiang's bracket the Brooklyn Bridge is peanuts.
What he has been selling is the myth that some day he and his aging army of 600,000 men would return to the mainland from which they retreated in 1949.
Only in Chiang's case it was not a myth. He believed it. And he believed it so hard that many others believed it, too, including leaders of the United States, who spent billions of dollars supporting Chiang and his army.
For more than 20 years, Chiang served as a sort of Asian Don Quixote, shattering his lance against the windmills of time and fate, lending strength to the hope that perhaps, after all, chivalry was not dead.
Never mind that Chiang's one-man rule of Taiwan bore little resemblance to the West's concepts of democracy. He had been among the early founders of the United Nations set up as the guardian of man's ideals.
As he approaches his 84th birthday on Oct. 31, he is the last of the big five—Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, De Gaulle and Chiang.

Within coming weeks men who profess to be able to see through the mists which hide reality and give form and substance to unreality will debate Chiang's right to a seat in the world body he helped to found.
The debate will not be over whether China has a right to the seat.
It will be asked who and what is China. Are Chiang and 15 million men, women and children on Formosa China? Or are the mainland Communists China?
The returns already are in. This year or next Chiang will lose his last status symbol as leader of a great nation.
Then another decision will be forced upon him—whether to swallow his words that for him it is all or nothing, or to try to stay in the U.N. on whatever terms he can get.

It may be progress, but it is sad.

Single Women's life in couples world

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The life of a single woman in the modern social world of couples is difficult. However, it is possible for a single woman to keep in the swim of things if she frees herself of embarrassment about going places alone.

So says Eleanor Searle Whitney, who speaks from experience. For 17 years, she was married to the scion of two wealthy historic families, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who kept her on a constant move, jumping from continent to continent, as they took part in the exciting and glamorous life of the beautiful people of the jet set. Then suddenly her marriage crashed, ending in divorce in 1958.

In her autobiography, "Invitation To Joy," published by Harper and Row, she tells of the help given her in her sudden loneliness by such older friends as Mrs. Marjorie Merriweather Post, Mrs. Perle Mesta and Mrs. Elizabeth Nightingale Graham (Elizabeth Arden), who rallied around her with advice on being a successful single woman.

They advised her never to refuse an invitation to a dinner or party because she did not have a husband to escort her, and pointed out that if a partner was not provided by the hosts, she could ask whether it was convenient for her to take one. Or she could simply be an extra woman.

"If you will think it over, you will realize there are many interesting and attractive women who are widowed. Also, there are many who never chose to marry, while many others have husbands whose business causes them to travel a great deal," she was told. "I still feel uneasy about walking into a party alone," she admits, "but I go regardless. And I found it strange at first to attend a lecture or concert with another woman, or by myself, but I realized if I didn't wish to be forgotten or filled with self-pity, I must be my own ticket-getter and transportation and go fearlessly anyway."

It is particularly important, she says, for a single woman to be cheerful and not burden friends with complaints, and she must use discretion to avoid the wrong men and the wrong places.

State meet set in Pocatello

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ben Eldridge, Twin Falls, and Lee Childs, Rupert, will participate in the annual meeting of the Idaho Extension Homemakers Council at Pocatello Oct. 5 and 6, the program committee announced today.

Mrs. Eldridge is in charge of the family life section during a panel discussion and Childs will be a featured speaker.

Mrs. Ralph Geffe, Boise, president of the association with units throughout the state, said various phases of happiness will be emphasized by speakers, with about 200 delegates expected. The Soda Springs Club is host. Mrs. Allan Tigert, district director, and Mrs.

Dennis Moser, both Soda Springs, are co-chairmen. Mrs. Lucia Wilson, Boise, program leader for the University of Idaho extension service, is coordinator.

The theme of "Happiness Is..." will be followed in general sessions and panel discussions. The keynote speaker will be Mrs. Linda Russell, a member of the staff at State Hospital South, Blackfoot. Her topic is "Happiness Is Idaho's Progressive Health Program."

Howard Tankersley, community and resource development leader for the extension service, Boise, will talk about "Happiness Is Declaring Your Sovereignty."

Mrs. Ruth Spidahl, Moscow, state leader for extension home economics, will be speaker at a banquet. Her remarks will be on "Happiness Is Knowing We Are Serving." Monte Later, St. Anthony, will show pictures of mountaineering in the Tetons. The "Soda Pope" of Soda Springs will sing.

There will be panels on cultural arts, family life, international relations and public information. Mrs. Dallas Howell, Ashton, is chairman of cultural arts; Mrs. Leon Hoffine, Sandpoint, chairman of international relations, and Mrs. Ona Beth Sigman, Boise, chairman of public information.

A president and secretary will be elected. Mrs. Geffe is concluding her term as president. Mrs. Millard Clark, Sandpoint, is the retiring secretary.

TWIN FALLS — The Singles Club will have a dance Saturday night at the Odd Fellows Hall, Twin Falls. There will be live music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. All single persons between the ages of 30 and 60 are welcome. Married former members are invited.

TWIN FALLS — I Do (ESP) Research Center, 519 Main Ave. W., meeting open to public from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday.

HAGERMAN — The Golden Age Club, Hagerman, will resume regular meetings after a summer recess at 7 p.m. Monday with a potluck dinner at the IOOF Hall. Officers will be elected and all members are urged to attend.

TWIN FALLS — American War Mothers will meet at 2 p.m. Friday at the American Legion Hall.

The Vatican Library contains 500,000 bound volumes and 60,000 manuscripts.

Shower held

HANSEN — A bridal shower was held this week at the home of Mrs. Ralph Simons, with Mrs. Vergil Ball as co-hostess, honoring Mrs. Wayne Daw, the former Kay Steelsmith.

At contest games, prizes were awarded to Mrs. V. L. Wilson, Mrs. W. I. McFarland and Lena Bohrn. Each person present wrote advice to the bride.

Since the bride was absent, Mrs. A.F. Daw, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Steelsmith, mother of the bride, were seated at opposite ends of a table heaped with the gifts. Each was provided a ruffled heart-shaped pillow made with net, on which they placed the ribbons from the gifts.

A lavender cake, decorated with a yellow umbrellas with a bride's name on it, centered the reception-table. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Roger White, Jerome.

Area TOPS club reports weekly meet

HANSEN — "Say well and do well, end in one letter, say well is good, but do well is better," was the opening thought brought by the leader, Mrs. George Golay at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Mrs. Reed Lyons was the best loser and received a gift. Mrs. Roy Dopson and Mrs. Lyons were 10-pound losers and received gifts.

Mrs. Bryson. Vinyard reviewed a new contest to be started next week, "Slimmer Silhouettes," a team contest. Weight loss, attendance of eight or more members on each team and also weigh-ins will count toward points. There will be no time limit. The team first getting their silhouettes down will be the winner and the contest ends.

Penalties this week were to count calories. It was decided fines will be imposed on those who do not do the penalties assigned to them.

Monthly queens will be honored at next week's meeting.

Mrs. Steelsmith was hostess and program chairman. She reviewed an article from the Readers Digest, "Are We Overfed but Undernourished?"

Reading program completed

KETCHUM — A record 82 young people participated in the Mission Possible Force summer reading program sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library, according to Mrs. Daniel Hart, librarian.

Those who reached the highest grade of "Super Sleuth" by reading 30 books or more are Corky Brannen, Darcy Glean, Paul Schollmeyer, Anna Borchers, Suzy Shultz, Tracy Hughes, Anne Harding, Charles Keshian and Paula Mullins. All youngsters who entered the program were presented reading certificates.

Mrs. Hart said the library will be closed the entire week of Sept. 13 for interior painting. Regular hours will resume Tuesday, Sept. 21. Library hours are Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 3 to 8 p.m.; Wednesday and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 6 p.m. The library is closed Sundays, Mondays and holidays.

New books added to library

FILER — A number of new books have been added to the shelves of the Filer City Library and are ready for circulation, according to Mrs. F. E. Albin, librarian.

These include "Then There Grew up a Generation," Bjorn; "Wild Goose, Brother Goose," Ellis; "Triple Ridge Farm," Pochman; "Savannah Purchase," Hodge; "The Winter of the Fisher," Langford; "The Secret of Santa Vittoria," Chrichton; "The Good Life," Wallop; "Stories for Late at Night," Hitchcock and "Waterway," Dark;

For younger readers newbooks include "The Secret in the Wall" Bothwell; "A Time for Tenderness," Cavanna; "Follow My Leader," Garfield; "Mystery of the Fat Cat," Bonham; "Viva Chicano," Bonham; "Old Ben," Stuart; "Desmond and the Peppermint Ghost," Best; "The First Four Years," Wilder; "Story of George Washington Carver," Bontemps; "Harry S. Truman; President From Missouri," Martin; "Gaudalcapal Dairy," Tregaskis, and "Clear Air — Clean Water for Tomorrow's World," Millard.

Reading for small children includes "Over in the Meadow," Langstaff (replacement); "Peter Pan," adapted by Wilson; "In the Night Kitchen," Sandack; "Harry, the Dirty Dog," Zion; "Hattie, Backstage Bat," Freeman; "The Marvellous Merry-Go-Round," Ipcar; "The Little Witch," Mozley; "Debbie Goes to Nursery School," Lenski, and "The Dog Who Came to Dinner," Taylor.

Total circulation for August was 571, reports Mrs. Albin. Library hours are from 3 to 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Friday.

DEAR ABBY: My problem doesn't really concern your generation, Abby, but the younger generation will understand.

I am a 17-year-old guy who has a souped up car. My car is nice looking and is pretty noisy, but I'm sure it is legal. The police are constantly following me for no reason at all. I have been driving for nearly two years and have never had an accident or a ticket.

Why do the police bug me all the time? I don't break any laws and I don't intend to. Is it because my car looks fast and I'm a younger guy? FED UP

DEAR FED: I think you've answered your own question. But don't be so sure you're not breaking any law by driving a "souped up" car that's "pretty noisy." There IS a law against disturbing the peace, and a souped up car has disturbed the peace of many a sick and sleeping citizen.

DEAR ABBY: You contradicted yourself. A husband complained because his wife had a trunk full of old love letters, pictures and souvenirs from her dating days, and she dragged this trunk around the country whenever they moved. You said, "It's HER junk, and if she wants to drag it around the world for the next 50 years, it's all right."

Next comes a letter from a wife complaining because her husband still carries a picture of his old girl friend in his wallet, and you say, "Nix! HER picture doesn't belong in your husband's wallet."

To me the principle is the same. Defend yourself. HOWARD IN SALT LAKE

DEAR HOWARD: Aw, come on! Letters, pictures and souvenirs from dating days represent scads of old beans. But one picture in a man's wallet is special, and no wallet is big enough for a man's wife and his old girl friend.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "HUNGRY FOR LOVE" made me wince.

For 11 years I was married to a charming, kind, bright and sweet man who had little or no need for sex. But my desire made him uncomfortable, then angry, finally hostile.

"Surely, there is something wrong with me," I thought, "I must be oversexed. What is normal? Once a day? Once a week? Once a year?" I didn't know.

My physician suggested a psychiatrist for each of us. We each spent several years on the couch, after which my husband died of a tumor of the pituitary gland—undiagnosed.

After 15 years of marriage to my present husband I learned much about life and sex. To put it succinctly, "If one has an itch, he will find a way to scratch it."

A disinterested husband, who has no "itch," may be physically sick. Look for a medical cause, not a psychological one. BEEN THERE IN TRENTON

DEAR BEEN THERE: A psychiatrist is first of all a medical doctor, and one who is competent will look for both medical and psychological reasons.

DEAR ABBY: We just came home from a trip thru Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado and it was especially nice for us because we had our dog with us and there were "pet areas" plainly marked all the way. And we saw very little litter in any of these states.

But I would like to pay a special tribute to Colorado. They not only had pet areas, but they had rest rooms with one stall for invalids. (Rails on the wall with high-seated toilets.) What a state, and I am not an invalid.

LOVES TO TRAVEL
DEAR LOVES: Orchids to Iowa and Nebraska. And carnations to compassionate Colorado!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Kiwanis session Friday

BURLEY — The 52nd annual Utah-Idaho Kiwanis District convention will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at the Ponderosa Inn, with the Burley Kiwanis Club as host.

Registration will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday in the convention center. Also planned for Friday are golf tournaments for both men and women. The men will play on the Burley Municipal Golf Course and the women will play on the Ponderosa Golf Course.

Gov. Dean W. Schultz, Idaho Falls, will call the session to order at 10 a.m. Friday and Gov. Elect Dr. Drew M. Petersen, Ogden, Utah, will present district goals.

A film on the "Theme and Objectives of Kiwanis International" will be viewed.

Training session for officers will begin at 1:30 p.m. under the direction of Dr. Petersen; past Lt. Gov. Howard Maycock; past Dist. Gov. John A. Clawson, Pocatello, and Dist. Sec. Howard E. Watts, Ogden.

An informal reception is planned at 6:30 p.m. to greet International and district officials.

The governor's banquet will be at 7 p.m. and Mayor Garis Robertson will welcome delegates. Dinner music will be played by Robert Hamblin. Choral selections by the Bal Canto Choir of Burley High School, will be directed by Eldon Wood and accompanied by Jean Graham.

Aubrey E. Irby, Kiwanis International Trustee, Tyler, Tex., will be the featured speaker.

The general session will resume at 9 a.m. Saturday. Irby will address the session at 11 a.m., explaining objectives of Kiwanis International.

Lt. Gov. E. L. (Lew) Moldenhauer, Buhl, division 5, will preside at the Saturday noon luncheon. Special entertainment will be "The Canticle Folk Singers," Ogden. Featured speaker during the luncheon will be J. R. Simplot, president of Simplot Co.

'Pupil' studies Senate

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise political writer today said Williams Campbell, 49, a former Republican state chairman, is a "sincere, potential candidate" for the GOP senatorial nomination next year.

In his column, "Politically Speaking," John Corlett said Campbell "wants to succeed in the U. S. Senate the man who has been his mentor since 1950 — Len B. Jordan."

Campbell, a Boise insurance man, long has been a "behind the scenes" organizer for the Republican party in Idaho and is a former president of the University of Idaho Alumni Association. He was party chairman in the early 1950's.

Shoshone classes smaller

SHOSHONE — Enrollment in the Shoshone School system is down by 14 students this year over last, reports Kenneth Crothers, superintendent.

High school enrollment is up from 180 in 1970 to 198 this year, while at the junior high level the enrollment was 81 last year and is 77 this year and at the elementary school it was 201 last year and only 173 this year.

There are 27 first grade students this year compared to 29 last year.

Seventh grade students number 42 this year, 33 last year, while eighth grade pupils number 35 this year compared to 48 last year.

There are 49 freshmen this year, 39 last; 40 sophomores this year with 52 last year; 52 juniors this year, 56 last year and 57 seniors this year compared to 53 last year.

There are 22 second graders this year, the same as a year ago; 24 third graders, compared to 33 a year ago; 33 fourth graders, 36 a year ago; 39 fifth graders, 36 a year ago and 29 sixth graders compared to 45 a year ago.

Expos up

NEW YORK (UPI) — The exposition industry is gaining popularity in the United States and national, regional and local trade shows should reach a total of 10,000 annually by 1980, according to a trade source.

This would compare with an estimated 4,500 in 1971, with annual gross revenues doubling to $4 billion during the decade, says Jay Thalheim, president of Thalheim Exposition Management Corp. of Great Neck, N.Y. Face to face contact between buyer and seller in an exposition center achieves a basic rapport, Thalheim said.

Shoshone sets council ballot

SHOSHONE — A city election has been set for Nov. 2 by the Shoshone City Council, to elect two councilmen to four-year terms of office.

The terms expiring are now held by Norval Rutherford and Wilson F. Churchman, Mrs. Claude Chess, city clerk, said. The polls will be at the city hall from noon to 8 p.m. on Nov. 2 and registration will be open up to 9 p.m. Oct. 30.

Persons who voted in the last election or who have registered for any election in the past two years, need not register. Petitions of nomination must be filed anytime between Sept. 23 and 5 p.m. Oct. 4, Mrs. Chess said.

No taxing unit in airport vote

TWIN FALLS — The Oct. 26 election in eight Magic Valley counties to authorize formation of a regional airport authority will create only the authority, and does not formally create a "new taxing unit," George Forschler, chairman of the interim regional airport board, said Tuesday.

Forschler presided over a meeting of the interim board called to iron out details for the election in Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka, Gooding and Twin Falls counties.

The election is the culmination of lengthy planning by the advocates of the regional airport, tentatively planned for an area north of Twin Falls, south of Interstate 80 and east of Highway 93.

Under state law, petitions were signed in each county asking the Idaho Aeronautics Commission to authorize the election. When the signatures were qualified and approved by county and state authorities, the election was set for Oct. 26.

Forschler said misunderstanding about the election has created the idea that taxes may be assessed immediately in each county after the election. He said board members must spread the word that the election is only to authorize creation of an airport authority.

When approved, a formal board of trustees can be elected, and planning can begin, with financial help by the federal government, Forschler said. Funds will be allocated to pay a major portion of all planning costs, but the funds will be granted only if the airport authority is approved by the voters.

Trustees discussed a planned informational "newspaper" to be formulated for distribution in all Magic Valley newspapers shortly before the election. The brochure, to be in the form of a tabloid-size newspaper announcing the election and providing background on the issues involved, will include statements from a wide range of people, including farmers, business and professional people and industries, endorsing the regional airport concept.

Jerome veterinarian Dr. L. V. Rubel, a member of the interim board, said he had received a good deal of favorable comment about the airport from area businessmen, including bulleting and bull sale officials. Buyers from many distant points prefer to fly in to the Magic Valley on buying trips, and valuable animals are often flown out for efficiency and speed, Dr. Rubel said.

The regional airport, situated so as to relatively free of crosswinds and other weather factors plaguing the present Twin Falls City-County Municipal Airport, would insure on-time arrival in Twin Falls for these businessmen, instead of overflying and landing at Boise or Salt Lake City, as is frequently the case with the present airport, board members said.

Forschler said the trustees should emphasize the value of the present smaller airports, including the Twin Falls facility and the fields at Jerome and Burley. They will undoubtedly remain in business after the regional airport is built, serving spray planes, forest service fire crews and other groups and individuals.

Twin Falls firm's bid accepted

By MELBA THORNE
Times-News Writer

SHOSHONE — Whether or not Ed Messenger, Lincoln County real property appraiser, was still employed by the county was debated today, but Assessor Sanford Connell said a letter was in the mail officially informing Messenger of his termination.

Connell reportedly fired Messenger last week in the wake of an argument over a reappraisal file on the Floyd Silva property.

Messenger said today he had never been notified in writing of his discharge and had not been given a reason for pending dismissal. In an outburst of anger last week, he said, Sanford Connell did say he would replace him. "I have had good reception by the majority of Lincoln County taxpayers to my reappraisals," he said. "In fact, less than 5 percent have voiced any objection to my work and I have enjoyed the work and intend to complete it as efficiently and soon as possible."

Messenger said he had received a certificate of completion of a special appraisal technique course he attended last year in Moscow. He said this places him as one of about 25 men in Idaho to have qualified for upgraded appraisal work, he said.

Connell said today he had definitely dismissed Messenger and replaced him with James Holt, a minister who had been working for the assessor part time on his farm. Connell said he and Holt would complete the reappraisal together. He said Oct. 1 is the effective date at which Holt replaces Messenger.

Connell said insubordination and "what you might call personality conflict" had been the basic reasons for his action. "To clarify the point," Connell said, "I am sending by certified mail, a letter to asked for the file Messenger also had declined to give it to him, resulting in the "firing."

Real property reappraisals had been ordered by the state legislature in all counties in an effort to bring about a uniform basis for assessments throughout the state.

In Lincoln County, the late Ray E. Oyer, assessor, had ordered the reappraisal to begin in 1967 and had hired two men to conduct the program. At a large meeting of taxpayers in January, 1967, so many objections had been raised that Oyer had ordered the reappraisal postponed.

The following February, Oyer had died of a heart attack and his deputy, Shirley Two, had been appointed by county commissioners to fill the vacancy. It had been under her administration and with the approval of the county commissioners that Messenger had been hired and reappraisal work begun in January, 1970.

Messenger said today, "Floyd Silva objected to my being hired and to the reappraisal program from the first day it began."

Many taxpayers in the county had objected because of the reappraisals in the county, which had been unusually low, had been brought up to true market value, increasing their tax payments.

Fair crowd at 13,000 first day

FILER — Twin Falls Day at the Twin Falls County Fair here today was expected to bring another surge of attendance to the event after Wednesday's opening crowd of 12,379 persons.

Fair officials said the first day attendance was down slightly from 1970, but crowds on other days are expected to make up for that minor deficit.

This morning, the Register of Merit Hereford show began in the beef arena at 8 a.m., with a large crowd viewing the entries of that breed from 12 states. Show officials termed the exhibits "outstanding."

Grand champions of the show will be announced this evening.

In another category, quarter horse working events were conducted in that area.

Debbie Howard, Murtaugh, was awarded the grand champion beef fitting and showing award during the opening night rodeo performance Wednesday. Greg Hall, Twin Falls, received the reserve grand champion trophy.

Results of the first night rodeo:

Barback riding, Chris LeDoug, Kaycee, Wyo., first with 69; Dale Trotter, Clarkston, Alberta, Canada, 68; Danny Tatum, Prescott, Ariz., 66.

Steer wrestling, Bob Christopherson, Sioux City, Iowa, 4.3 seconds; Merle Muchmore, Helena, Mont., 5.1 seconds; Tommy Puryear, Austin, Tex., 5.3 seconds.

Saddle bronc riding, Gene Erickson, Prescott, Ariz., 70; John Holman, Kaycee, Wyo., 67; Ralph Menard, Eagle Butte, S.D., 59.

Calf roping, Bob Ragsdale, Chowchilla, Calif., 12 seconds; Bob Johnson, Caldwell, 13.1 seconds; Gerald Bedge, Sandy, Utah, 18.6 seconds.

Women's barrel racing, tie between Mary Agnes Allert, Pocatello, and Louise Finnerty, Slater, Wyo., 18 seconds; Linda Otun, Harding, Mont., 18.2 seconds.

Steer wrestling, Chuck Boatwright, Clarkston, Wash., 4.5 seconds; Tom Elliott, Colorado Springs, Colo., 4.5 seconds; Rex Bland, Trent, Tex., 5.8 seconds.

Bull riding, Benny Stoddard, Rexburg, 77; Bobby Berger, Norman, Okla., 73; John Dodges, Alberta, Canada, 71.

The youth department at the fair has more exhibitors this year than in previous ones, according to Mrs. Cecil Brown, superintendent, with special emphasis on science or nature projects.

One of these is a large display of hay grasses collected by Andy Tingstrom, Three Creek, and used as the background for several pheasants on which Mike Briggs, Twin Falls, did the taxidermy work.

Another interesting project in this building is a space project made by Gary Thompson, Kimberly, who has displayed his large collection of space craft.

Mrs. John Moore, Kimberly, again won the sweepstakes award for bringing the most entries in cakes, breads and cookies to the kitchen and pantry department. Mrs. Moore, who is in her 80s has been sweepstakes winner for several years. She also brought one of the four quilts she made this year.

The Twin Falls Grange received first award for the best original arrangement and general appearance in the grange competition. A Miss Universe Theme stressed the role the farmer and his produce play in the nation's well-being. A red background set off the gold pageant stage. Granges this year all carried out the theme "Cavalcade of Queens."

Fairview Grange received second and Kimberly Grange third, in the best original arrangement and general appearance class.

Cedar Draw Grange took double honors receiving first in the best artistic and also the best quality. The theme, "Queen of the House," shows a farmer's wife washing clothes in an old-fashioned tub with a small baby underfoot while her husband takes a nap on the back porch.

Lucerne Grange received second and Knoll Grange third in best artistic. Lucerne also received second and Twin Falls third in best quality.

126 new electors sign up

TWIN FALLS — One hundred and twenty six new voters were registered Wednesday during the first day of the Twin Falls County Fair at the League of Women Voters booth in merchants building no. 1.

The county clerk's office has engaged the help of league members to register 18, 19 and 20-year olds, as well any voter who is not registered.

Voters who did not vote in 1970 must re-register, Mrs. Laird Noh, league voters-service chairman, said.

Registration will be accepted from all persons who will be 18 by Aug. 1, 1972. This is part of a new registration system for Idaho.

During October all registered voters will receive a new registration card in the mail which must be returned to the county clerk's office. This new system will be in effect for the primary election in August, 1972.

Mental health unit sets fair display

FILER — The Twin Falls Mental Health Association is conducting a "cross country race" fueled by donations from patrons of the Twin Falls County Fair.

According to Rev. Les Brown, Twin Falls association president, examples of artwork created during therapy sessions by patients at State Hospital South at Blackfoot are on display. Brochures are available describing the programs and related activities in the mental health field.

"A penny a Pace," race across the county enables fair visitors to contribute to the mental health association as well as giving them a chance for a wig, donated by Moselle's Beauty Shop.

Rev. Brown, urges residents to stop at the booth and learn the many facets of activities, including the Hot Line, which provides referral services for persons needing counseling, and the new Magic Valley Rehabilitation Center.

police authorities and city police have been notified and are investigating the theft.

However, the pastor of the church is hoping the thief will have a change of heart and will return the mechanism so the chimes may again be heard. He is appealing to the person to place the tape cartridge in a plain box, mark it Box 58, Filer, postage guaranteed and drop it in the mail.

Air pollution index 69

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regular air quality levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse pollutants.

The State of Idaho Sends greetings to MORRIS E. OLSON, the above named defendant.

You are hereby notified that a Complaint has been filed in the District Court of the Fifth Judicial District of the State of Idaho, in and for the County of Twin Falls, for the purpose of obtaining a Decree of Divorce, severing absolutely, the bonds of matrimony now existing between you and the plaintiff and determining custody of the minor child of the parties hereto.

That said cause of action is based upon articles 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 67

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were mixed in brisk trading after more than three hours Thursday.

The market showed little reaction to President Nixon's announcement that his 90-day wage-price-rent freeze would not be extended beyond the Nov. 13 expiration date.

In an appearance before a joint session of Congress, however, the President declared: "I assure the Congress and American people that when this first temporary and necessarily drastic action is over, we shall take all the steps needed to see that America is not again afflicted by the virus of runaway inflation."

On Wall Street, the Dow Jones industrial average was off a fraction at 920.41. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index also dipped slightly, but advanced here a narrow lead over declines.

Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 10,390,000 shares, up from 8,180,000 shares at a comparable period in the previous session.

Steels and motors were fractionally irregular. In the oils, Atlantic Richfield was off 1 1/2. Jersey Standard and Natomas, however, picked up fractions.

Control Data, a weak electronic, was off a point. IBM surrendered 1/4.

Gillette, the most active issue, dropped a point. Heavily traded Clorox and Plessey were 7/8 lower and unchanged, respectively.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR
Q — What industries and companies could be hurt or helped by the recent Nixon statement? — P.C.
A — Let me start with the negative, that is companies and areas which will be hurt. In this category are issues such as Japan Fund, which invest in foreign securities. Foreign manufacturers doing a large amount of business in U.S. will certainly feel the pinch. These include Sony, Teclor, Volvo, Volkswagenwerk and others. International passenger and flying air transports including Flight Tiger and Pan American will probably suffer. Cutting our monetary life with gold may cause near-term weakness for gold issues but for longer term may be beneficial.

Gas supply said best

BOISE (UPI) — The president of the Intermountain Gas Co., R. D. Grimm, told a meeting of security analysts in New York City Tuesday that the company has a better gas supply than any other distribution company in the country.

Wall Street Chatter

Newton Zinder of E.F. Hutton & Co. has seen nothing recently to alter his favorable outlook for the market. "Profit-taking pauses are a part of any advancing phase and each one that has occurred since the current advance began just four weeks ago has been kept within normal technical bounds," he says.

As a result, he says, a series of ascending lows has been traced out and last week's decisive move above the resistance around the 910 level of the Dow Jones Industrial Average has enhanced the near term outlook from a technical standpoint.

Wright Investors' Service believes the market is headed "for a substantial further advance with only minor interim reactions and we continue to advise a fully invested position in prime-quality equities."

In a post-Labor Day analysis, the firm says one reason for its optimism is "the world's stock exchanges are sending out signals which would scarcely be more favorable for the future of equity values in the United States and Britain, which have historically been closely aligned."

Teenager continues to hold net open spotlight

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —Center court darling Chris Evert, a pony-tailed teenager among seasoned professionals, forced her way past Lesley

Hunt of Australia Wednesday, striking back for a 4-6, 6-2, 6-3 victory to enter the semi-finals of the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Just as in her two previous matches, the 16-year old schoolgirl threw away the first set and was forced to battle from behind. She did it in convincing style with three service breaks at love in the final set. To the veterans, the annoying little lady with 46 consecutive singles victories has been a scene-stealer, but she has brought glamour to a tournament suffering from the absence of many leading stars and nearly owns the center court where she has won three matches.

The familiar faces from former years get their best chance to end her spree on Friday when she must play top-seeded Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. King, a former champion, made the semi-finals with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over Laura DuPont of Wilmington, Del., who had upset Nancy Richey Gunter in the previous round.

Even the U.S. men have been ignored in the shadow cast by Miss Evert although they are moving ever-closer to an all-American finale. Two seeded Americans — No. 1 Stan Smith, and No. 7 Clark Graebner — moved into the quarter-finals Wednesday joining compatriots Arthur Ashe, seeded third, and Frank Froehling in the round of eight. Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., was leading Yugoslavian Nikki Pilic, 7-5, 4-4 when their match was suspended by darkness until Thursday.

Smith won his fourth-round match, leading 7-5, 3-2 when Czechoslovakian Milan Holccek was forced to quit because of a pulled hamstring-muscle and Graebner defeated South African Ray Moore, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

Fourth-seeded Tom Okker of Holland was the only foreign winner in the four men's matches, beating Britain Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

However, only when Chris took the court did the crowd of 8,901 finally come to life. After losing the first set, the second and third sets belonged completely to her. From her opening-game breaks in the final two sets, the match was in her grasp as tightly as the racket she clutches with both hands.

Miss Evert got her vital breaks in the first and seventh games, coasting to a 6-2 victory in the second set although she had to fight from a 15-40 deficit to take the eighth game. She took the third set, breaking in the first seventh and ninth game at love, and showing her poise by bouncing back after losing her own serve on the sixth game.

"I guess I need a few games under my belt before I start," she explained. "I gained confidence in my strokes as we went along and I think the turning point was in the middle of the second set when all of a sudden she started to make bad shots." Although some of the other professionals openly applaud Miss Evert's opponents, Mrs. King has joined Chris' cheering section.

ISU coach sees good season if team continues to improve

POCATELLO — "If we can progress in the next two weeks as we have in the first two weeks of football practice Idaho State will definitely be ready to field a fine team in 1971." Ed Cavanaugh is obviously pleased with his ISU football team. That is he thinks he's pleased. Actually he's not too sure.

"A coach always says he can't say anything about a game until he sees the films. A lot of people think a coach is fudging when he says that but it's true. Our scrimmage last Saturday, the only scrimmage and full contact we've had, looked good to me. But the man we had filming the game fouled up and we got zero footage of the hour and a half workout. We had lots of good contact in the field, but that's nothing to the contact there'll be if I ever get my hands on that guy."

"Our offense appears to have a lot of potential, but it has been inconsistent. (Tom) Lee and (Dan) Halt threw well to our four main receivers, Tom Ude, Tom Hofmann, George Thompson, and Jim Clark, but we fumbled the ball several times. Our pass protection was also good. However the defense is always ahead of the offense at this time in the fall. That's because the defense is playing reaction football and the offense is playing its assignments and is a little slow to react to changes. That should change by September 18." That's the date ISU opens against South Dakota.

"We've been having a limited amount of contact," says Cavanaugh, "but it's been good. Right now we have to guard against lethargy. The kids have worked hard for two weeks and they know we have two more weeks to go before we play South Dakota. Our attitude is very good right now and I don't think it will slip. It's our job to make sure it doesn't."

Defensive Coach Randy Tyson likes the way things have gone for his "Wild Comanches," as Coach Cavanaugh calls the defense. "We changed the positions on several players and it's worked out very well. Dennis Shorrock has gone from linebacker to end and Craig Ellis from end to tackle and both have done a fine job. The hard work we began in the spring is continuing to pay off. We were good then and we're good now. The main thing we'll try to do the next two weeks is improve our pursuit. We have begun to be a little lax. We don't want individual tackles. We want several players to help each other."

Continuing on things that had to be done the next few days, Tyson said, "We'll have to work on stopping the triple option. South Dakota uses it almost exclusively and rarely passes." Tyson also singled out sophomore outside linebacker Brian Vertefeulle.

L.A. tops Giants, cuts deficit to 5

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bill Singer pitched a two-hitter for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night and with relief from Jim Brewer shut out the San Francisco Giants 3-0 as the division leaders took their fifth straight loss.

The Giants' lead over the second-place Dodgers in the National League West was cut to five games with 19 left to play in the season.

Set by a series of injuries this season, Singer notched his eighth victory against 16 losses. Leadoff man Ken Henderson got a double to right field in the first inning and the only other Giants' hit was by Chris Speler, who beat out a hit to the right side of the infield in the second.

Singer, who struck out five, had good control of his blazing fastball until the ninth inning when he walked two men with one out. Brewer came in and walked the bases loaded but got Bobby Bonds to hit into a game-ending double play.

The loss went to Juan Marichal, now 14-10. The Dodgers nipped him for a run in the opening inning when he walked Wes Parker and Richie Allen, and Willie Crawford bounced a single up the middle.

In the third, Maury Wills singled to lead off for the Dodgers and scored when Parker banged a double against the center field wall.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Al Oliver drove in five runs with a homer, double and single and Steve Blass pitched a six-hitter Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Chicago Cubs, 10-1, to move 6 1/2 games ahead of idle St. Louis.

The Pirates, who've won nine of their last 10, reduced their title clinching number to 13. Pittsburgh has 18 games left and St. Louis 19.

Carty's hearing postponed

ATLANTA (UPI)—An attorney for Atlanta Braves outfielder Rico Carty Wednesday won a postponement for the hearing on charges that the slugger struck a police officer and "created a turmoil."

Frank Hester said he wanted the case delayed because he had numerous witnesses he planned to present in Carty's behalf. The case was reset for Sept. 22.

Carty and his 19-year-old brother-in-law Carlos Ramirez, were beaten so badly in the incident Aug. 25 that they required hospital treatment. Three police officers, two of whom were off duty at the time, were fired as a result of the incident. Carty accused the two off-duty policemen of harassing him and provoking a fight.

Starting pitchers

Net group won't lift ruling

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—United States Lawn Tennis Association president Bob Colwell replied to the threat of cancellation of television sponsorship of the U.S.—Open Wednesday by stating that while he regretted the action taken by Philip Morris, Inc., the USLTA would stand by its rules, which, relaxed during the year for women players, will be enforced next year.

Colwell denied that the USLTA had threatened to bar women professionals for 1972 as it has already barred men contract players in accordance with International Tennis Federation decisions.

"We have no intention," Colwell said, "of suspending any one or any group of players as long as they abide by the established rules of the ILTF and the USLTA."

CSI opens fall baseball with Friday twin bill against ISU

College of Southern Idaho moves into fall athletics for the first time Friday night but in — of all things — baseball. Coach Bob Banfield's Golden Eagles will meet the Idaho State Bengals in a doubleheader beginning at 7 p.m. Friday at Jaycee Park. Wednesday night he nominated two Tulsa, Okla., pitchers to start the twin bill. Kurt Barron will open the first game and Ralph Bollinger will go in the second — after playing first base in the opener.

Idaho State is expected to go with Curt Kinghorn, a righthander from Twin Falls and a junior this year, and a freshman from California. The team undoubtedly will be the best CSI has fielded but coach Banfield wants to see his pitching and hitting under actual conditions before going to far out on the predicting limb.

"I think our team speed is better than average and our defense looks very sound," Coach Banfield said. "The pitching will survive pretty well because of the defense. The hitting is just something we'll have to wait and see about." The tentative starting lineup for Friday's first game will be Tom Hofer, Mountain Home, at catcher; Bollinger at first base; Tony Reynolds, Astoria, Ore., at second base; John Wilson, Tulsa, at third; Jim Dunsmore, Tulsa, at shortstop; Mike McGraw, Omaha, in leftfield; Bob Leise, Omaha, in right; and Ben Plaza, Ontario, Ore., in rightfield.

Following Friday night's game the Eagles will return the visitor to Idaho Falls for a twin bill Sept. 25, then return home on the 26th for a triple header with Treasure Valley Community College. They wind up the fall season with a return tripleheader at TVCC Oct. 2.

When 600 pounds collide

OAKLAND (UPI)—Nearly 600 pounds of football meat could collide headon Saturday night when the Oakland Raiders play the Baltimore Colts at Jacksonville, Fla. There's a chance Bob Brown, the Raiders' 290-pound offensive right tackle, might be ready to take a few licks against Bubba Smith, the great 295-pound defensive end of the Colts.

Browns put 3 on taxi squad

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Browns announced Wednesday that waivers had cleared on defensive back Erich Barnes, quarterback Don Gault and receiver Charley Brinkman and all three have been placed on the club's taxi squad and can be reactivated at any time.

If any of the three, all considered valuable by Coach Nick Skorich, had been claimed by another National Football League team, Skorich would have recalled the waiver and substituted another player. The action Wednesday was considered important because it brought the club down to 44

Minico-Burley rivalry renewal features slate

Minico invades Burley, Shoshone goes to Gooding and the Magic Valley Conference chips in with a full slate of area high school football enters its third weekend of action.

Only Twin Falls leaves the area, the Bruins going to Nampa Friday night for a non-conference battle.

Coach Norm Thomas and his Bruins go against Nampa, which is having its first outing, rather in the dark about personnel. The Bruins know something about the way Coach Karl Elliott coaches but just what manpower he'll have to execute will be another matter.

"We didn't feel that Nampa had too much returning but we've seen their roster and they have much better size than we expected. But it is an SIC team so, although the game doesn't count in the conference, we know it will be a tough one," he said.

But the spotlight always returns to the Mini-Cassia country when the Spartans and Bobcats get together. Friday night's battle should be a donnybrook and at least closer than the past couple-three years.

Burley brings a 1-0-1 record into the fray and has definite team characteristics. Minico is trying to forget the first three quarters and the final score in an opening loss to Blackfoot — 25-20.

It will be largely a matter of speed against superior size. Burley has good overall team speed and has proved it isn't afraid to hit — both ways. Fullback Brent Larsen at 140 pounds is totally reckless with his body and probably won't last the season since he bangs harder than most 195-pound high school fullbacks.

Against Blackfoot, Minico showed it was rather slow foot, at least by comparison to the pony-backs coach Bob Mathews will send at their flanks. The Spartans, the word is, have made a lot of changes in both offensive and defensive lineups and probably have overcome much of the problem it faced in the first three periods against Blackfoot.

The outcome of the battle would seem that Burley would have to hit early and often to pile up a good lead. Minico showed good late charge in scoring three times and threatening a fourth against Blackfoot.

The reasons to expect about the same are there. Burley, against a bigger Buhl defense, ran extremely well in the first half and was worn down physically in the later stages — offensively more than defensively but there was a decline in both. Minico had superior manpower and size against Blackfoot and stuck with two platooning, wearing down the Broncos badly and romping in the final period. Since Burley, with only a 28-man turnout, has to use men both ways, the two-platoon could hurt the Bobcats late.

The Gooding-Shoshone game also features neighbors to love to hit each other. Shoshone

Coach Bill Closson said he was pretty well pleased with about 44 minutes of the Indians' opener against Declo. But in the last four minutes, Declo scored to win 8-6.

Yanks edge Boston 2-1 in 11 innings

NEW YORK (UPI)—A sacrifice fly by John Ellis drove in Roy White from third base with one out in the 11th inning Wednesday and gave the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The victory kept the Yankees' slim third place chances alive. They trail the Red Sox by three games.

White opened the 11th inning by drawing a walk off reliever Bob Bolin and advanced to second base when Bolin threw Danny Cater's bunt too late to second. Ron Swoboda sacrificed both runners along and Ellis won the game with a 350-foot fly ball to right.

Condors lose draft pick to TB

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Condors announced Wednesday that Levi Wyatt, their No. 2 draft pick this year, is suffering from a rare form of tuberculosis and will not play this season.

Mark Binstein, Condor general manager, said Levi, a 6-8 center-forward, has been sent back to his home in Fayette, Miss. "Where he will undergo medical treatment and get a complete rest for the next six months."

"He has been hospitalized on and off for the past three or four weeks and tests which were conducted under the supervision of Dr. A. J. Cipriani indicated a rare form of TB throughout his entire respiratory system," Binstein said.

Dr. Cipriani, the Condor's team physician, said Wyatt's ailment was "100-per cent curable and he possibly could progress to a point where he may play ball again."

Binstein said he ordered Wyatt, a small college All-American at Alcorn A&M last season, into the hospital for tests after a July 13 clinic in New Jersey.

"I knew his poor performance in our rookie camp could not have been the result of a lack of ability or a poor attitude and after I worked with him at the clinic I felt that there was something physically wrong with Levi," Binstein said.

Rams claim Jets' White

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Rams bolstered their running attack Wednesday by picking up Lee White from the New York Jets and at the same time released four players to get down to the playing limit of 44 men.

The changes came as the Rams finished preparations for their final preseason game Thursday night at the Coliseum against the San Francisco Forty Niners.

Released were: Quarterback Tommy Lutz; running back Larry Brown; wide receiver Tommie Agee; and defensive back Willie Davis.

White was a second-round pick by the Jets in 1968. He played in 1969 and 1970, but was released after the 1970 season.

Nebraska, Northwestern and Alabama rated favorites in football openers

By United Press International Nebraska, Northwestern and Alabama are picked to win three of the top games in the nation this weekend as college football opens its 1971 season in every sector except East.

And some shockers are in store, according to UPI regional experts close to the scene. Picked to lose: Michigan, Mississippi, Southern California.

Around the nation, with eastern debuts still a week away: The Midwest By Ed Salsbury, UPI CHICAGO

Northwestern 20, Michigan 17 — A close one that might settle the Big Ten title. Michigan State 34, Illinois 7 — Bob Blackman gets a cruel initiation into the Big Ten coaching fraternity.

Minnesota 17, Indiana 10 — A battle to escape last place in the league. Ohio State 24, Iowa 7 — Woody Hayes shows his new talent. Also: Wisconsin 48 over Northern Illinois, Cincinnati 6 over Dayton, Western Michigan 13 over Illinois State.

The Midlands By Charlie Smith, UPI Kansas City Nebraska 28, Oregon 22 — 67,000 home fans may make the difference. Stanford 24, Missouri 7 — Two excellent defensive teams but Missouri's offense is over-matched.

Kansas 41, Washington State 27 — Offensive fireworks rule this one. Oklahoma State 18, Mississippi State 7 — Cowboy sophomores grow up in a hurry. Kansas State 20, Utah State 14 — Isaac Jackson makes his debut with a flourish.

The South By David J. Moffit, UPI Atlanta Georgia Tech 28, South Carolina 14 — No time wasted in deciding which is the south's top independent. Georgia 21, Oregon State 13 — Bulldogs hoping to return as a national power with sophomore quarterback Andy Johnson.

Louisiana State 27, Colorado 14 — Bengals eyeing another outstanding season. Florida 35, Duke 10 — Gator quarterback John Reeves starts his drive toward Jim Plunkett's NCAA total offense record.

Long Beach State 20, Mississippi 14 — Surprise! Ole Miss is down without Arch Manning and former coach Johnny Vaught.

Also: Texas Tech 7 over Tulane, William and Mary 6 over The Citadel, Wake Forest 21 over Davidson, Kentucky 7 over Clemson, Toledo 14 over East Carolina, North Carolina State 6 over Kent State, North Carolina 28 over Richmond, Florida State 10 over Southern Mississippi, Vanderbilt 26 over Chattanooga, Virginia 10 over Navy.

The Southwest By Mike Rabun, UPI Ferguson shows Razorbacks have lost nothing at quarterback with the departure of Bill Montgomery.

Houston 42, Rice 7 — First meeting for two schools less than five miles apart but Rice just doesn't have the bodies to compete. Texas A&M 27, Wichita State 15 — Aggies launch a "must win" year for coach Gene Stallings.

Also: Memphis State 13 over West Texas State, New Mexico State 28 over Drake, North Texas State 2 over Brigham Young.

The Far West By Joe Sargis, UPI San Francisco Alabama 27, Southern California 21 — Many west coast observers think USC will climb back to the top but coach John McKay says he is a bit worried about his defense. The guess here is that Alabama won't have much trouble scoring. Washington 49, University of California at Santa Barbara 12 — Huskies have a new offense built around quarterback Sonny Sixkiller.

Also: Pacific 14 over Miami of Ohio, Fresno State 21 over Hayward State. The Rockies By Tracy Ringolsby, UPI Cheyenne Wyoming and University of Texas at El Paso are the only Western Athletic Conference teams opening this week. Both figure to be easy winners.

Wyoming 31, South Dakota 7 — Wyoming's veteran offense and quick defense should prove too much for smaller South Dakota in its first game under new coach Fritz Shurmur. Texas-El Paso 52, Arlington 7 — The Miners from Lee Trevino's home town are strong in the air.

WATCH IT, COACH Washington Redskins coach George Allen wasn't upset when defensive back Speedy Duncan ran into him and fractured one of the coach's ribs during a practice session. Allen remembered 1966, when he incurred a broken hand that became a good luck charm as the Los Angeles Rams whom he coached then, ran off eight straight wins.

Blacks to seek club in NBA

BOSTON (UPI)—A group of black athletes and entertainers have been planning for more than a year to petition the National Football League for an expansion franchise, the Boston Record American said Wednesday.

The report said Memphis had been selected as the site for the new club with "strong sentiment" towards naming the team the Memphis Kings in honor of the late Rev. Martin Luther King who was slain there in April, 1968.

Financial backing for the club, estimated to be between $12 million—$14 million, will be sought through the King Foundation, affluent blacks and successful black-owned businesses, the newspaper said.

spades, five hearts and two clubs and therefore was left with four diamonds.

East only held one card in that suit. If it were the queen it would drop on the first lead; if it were a small card, South would have a sure finesse against West.

South smiled happily. He announced that he was going to make his grand slam and then threw it away.

He led the seven of diamonds from dummy! He took his ace; led a second diamond and finessed but had to win that trick in dummy and couldn't finesse again.

He had forgotten to lead dummy's 10 or jack the first time!

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♠	Pass	3♥
Pass	3♠	Pass

You, South, hold:

AK87♥KQ94♠6♣KQ75

What do you do now?

A—Just bid four spades. Your partner needs two aces and the queen of spades for a slam. If he has those cards he knows it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid four spades and your partner bids four no-trump. You bid five diamonds to show one ace and he bids five spades. What do you do now?

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A little learning is apt to prove a dangerous thing. South had learned all about counting distribution and about planning the play of the hand at trick one. He hadn't learned how to end it.

He studied the hand carefully before playing to the first trick and noted that his whole problem lay with the queen of diamonds.

Then he ran off the hearts and noted that East shed a spade. Next came three rounds of clubs. The drop of a heart from West was also noted and filed away. Then South ran off the spades winning the last one in dummy. West let the last heart go and South had a complete count of the hand. West had started with two

A YOUNG LADY on her first date with a new gentleman friend ought to observe how he doodles, if possible. Should he absent-mindedly draw circles or wavy lines on the napkin, he is a romantic fellow who is apt to say, "Darling, let me take you out of all of this..." Or words to that effect. But if he sketches crosses, checks or rectangles, he's a practical character who's more likely to phrase it, "Let's make a deal, baby." Such is the contention of a doodle analyzer. This peculiar theory has caused our Love and War man some mild sorrow but no real pain.

DID I TELL YOU it's against the law in Louisville, Ky., to walk behind a mule without speaking to the animal first?... CONSIDER a woman's leg. Not one in a million looks as good bare as when encased in a nylon stocking, contends a models' agent... PLEASE NOTE ALSO, approximately 25 babies a year are born in Los Angeles taxicabs.

HAVE YOU EVER eaten snails, mister? If not, why not. Nevermind; only 8 per cent of the grownup men nationwide have done so. Pollsters found that out. No connection certainly, but that is exactly the same proportion of men, they say, who have tried to write something to sell to magazines.

CUSTOMER SERVICE Q "Wasn't the vacuum cleaner invented by a man named—Hoover?" A, W.H.—Hoover of North Canton, Ohio, didn't invent it James Murray Spangler, an asthmatic janitor, put together a contraption out of a pillow case, a soap box and a little electric fan. To keep the dust down when cleaning up, that dust made him sneeze something fierce. Hoover looked over the rig and financed improvements. That wasn't the earliest vacuum cleaner, however. An Englishman devised the first one.

ANY OLD UNIVERSITY can teach History, but where can you find a scholarly course in The Future? Tell you where. In at least 350 universities now, I'm informed. Don't have a list at hand of the gifted sages who'll teach these classes, unfortunately. Too bad. What a valuable roster that could be! Approximately 350 professors who know what's going to happen! Make good weathermen, what?

Shoshone hikes insurance limit

SHOSHONE — Increases in municipal liability limits were approved by the Shoshone City Council Tuesday night. The council approved raising the level of bodily injury liability insurance from $100,000 to $300,000 and boosting the property damage coverage to $100,000. The cost of the increase will be $390. City officials also announced a pre-construction conference this afternoon at Shoshone City Hall at which the sewer project was to be reviewed. Work is expected to begin next week, and city officials, engineers, and contractor representatives were to attend. Mayor Ellwood Werry told the council he has asked police to take all possible actions to control the noise made by motorcycles within the city limits. He read the council a letter complaining about the noise. The council accepted the audit for the 1970 fiscal year, prepared by Mrs. Helen C. Dickinson, Rupert, certified public accountant. The council tentatively approved an application by Raymond Oneida for a washer connection on the Mott Addition, pending location of a water main. Bartender's permits for Jeannette C. Carpenter and Kenneth B. Crabtree were approved.

Governor, aides set meet trip

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. and Mrs. Cecil D. Andrus and four of the governor's aides leave Friday for Miami, Fla., and then San Juan, Puerto Rico, and the National Governors' Conference. Saturday, Andrus plans to attend a Democratic governors' caucus before going on by Air Force plane to San Juan. Andrus said he will be accompanied by his administrative assistant, Edward V. Williams, press secretary, John Hough, secretary, Jean Taylor, and by acting Director Robert Lenaghan of Administrative Services. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Hough also will accompany the party at private expense.

Plane down, 4 swim out

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — A plane carrying four persons landed in the Salmon River at Lantz Bar Monday and all swam to the bank safely as the aircraft drifted downstream and sank, it was reported Wednesday. Reports in Salmon indicated the plane was piloted by Joe Watts, Osburn, and belonged to the Shoshone Air Service at Kellogg. Two other men and a woman were aboard the plane which was returning to Kellogg from Moose Creek airstrip in the Idaho primitive area. The name of the woman was not learned immediately. The men were identified as Robin Perkins, Kellogg, and Jim Benning, Pinehurst. Watts, contacted at Osburn, confirmed the accident but withheld details until completion of the official report. Duane Williams, manager of the Shoshone Air Service, was flying Wednesday and could not be reached for immediate comment. Unconfirmed reports, however, gave this story of what happened: The plane had taken off from the airstrip Monday morning and had iced up as it climbed out of the overcast. It later ran out of gas over the Salmon River.

Soup firm to escape prosecution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has no plans to prosecute the Campbell Soup Co. for shipping canned soup contaminated with botulism. "All the evidence we have indicates that Campbell has acted responsibly in trying to track down and eliminate this problem," an FDA spokesman said Tuesday. The spokesman said the government would not hesitate to prosecute "should reason to prosecute arise..." Prosecution was suggested in a letter to the FDA by Peter H. Schunk of consumer advocate Ralph Nader's Center for the Study of Responsive Law.

Boise firm low bidder

WENDELL — Officials of the Idaho Highway Department said Tuesday Miller Construction Co., Boise, was the apparent low bidder for construction of two steel underpasses on Interstate 80 North between Gooding and Wendell. Officials said the firm's bid of $598,237 was lowest of five for building of one 509 foot long underpass and one 340 foot long underpass at Grade Separation No. 3 and Interchange No. 1 on the interstate segment.

Bellevue Gem trophy hunts commence Saturday

BELLEVUE — Bellevue will stage its annual barbecue after all. Delayed because of the Rock Festival over the Labor Day weekend, the celebration will be billed as the "Labor Day Belated Celebration," and is slated for Sunday. Boyd Jones and Bill Showalter, co-chairmen, said the celebration will include, in addition to the annual barbecue, an "Old West" shootout and street sports. Activity will begin at 12:30 p.m. Sunday with a stage robbery and shootout on Main Street, put on by the Hailey "Hellers." At 2 p.m. a free barbecue will be served in the old Bellevue City Park. The feed includes barbecued beef sandwiches, corn-on-the-cob and coffee. Live music will be provided. Street sports and contests will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Main Street. Showalter said donations are needed; they can be made at the Silver Dollar Bar and Cafe or at Sam's Club.

BOISE — Bighorn sheep, mountain goat and moose hunters take to the field Saturday for what has become known as Idaho big game trophy hunts, according to Game Chief, Roger Williams. He said 2,563 hunters were successful in drawing permits for these hunts. Williams said non-residents were limited to not more than 10 per cent of the permits in any one hunt, and not more than 1 per cent in a hunt with 10 or fewer permits. The new policy on non-residents dropped their participation on moose hunts from 23 per cent in 1970 to 13 per cent this year. Out-of-state goat hunters dropped from 25 to 7 per cent. A comparison couldn't be made on bighorn sheep since last year the hunt was mostly on a general hunt basis with no drawing required. Actually, non-residents drew 9 per cent or 6 of the 67 sheep permits, he said. Antelope permits continued to be taken up by residents at a rate of about 96 per cent. The new restriction on non-residents didn't affect hunts for this species because of its great popularity with the Idaho residents, Williams said. Idaho hunters simply apply en masse and exclude non-residents by the sheer weight of numbers, he said.
