Chinese enigma puzzles

HONG KONG (UPI)—The mysterious crash of a plane in Mongolia. A cancelled rally and parade. A missing editorial. Rumors that deposed President Liu Shao-chi had tried to defect to Russia. Rumors that he was dead.

These were all parts of the Chinese puzzle that clouded celebrations of Communist China's National Day today. And to analysts in Hong Kong the bits and pieces of the puzzle slowly falling into place meant Peking was in the midst of one of its most critical power struggles.

There was only circumstantial evidence to support this view, but some of it was convincing. The latest, and possibly the most convincing piece of evidence, was the failure of the Communist party and army newspapers to publish their usual National Day editorial.

On past National Days there always has been an editorial boasting of China's progress, denouncing her enemies (mainly the United States) and commenting on policy issues. Analysts saw this omission as indication of deep differences among the leadership already known to be involved in a power struggle involving ultraleftists and a moderate faction believed to consist mainly of military men.

Lending credence to the reports of a new power struggle was a report in the GREAT CHINA Evening News in Taipei which said Liu Shao-chi was among nine persons killed in the crash of a Chinese air force jet in Mongolia two weeks ago. The well-informed Chinese language newspaper, quoting unidentified intelligence sources in Taipei, said Liu had been under house arrest in Peking since being removed from his official post four years ago by Mao Tse-tung in a move that was to toughen the cultural revolution.

Lost pay recovery proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., recommended today repayment to American workers of any wage increases they lost because of the wage-price freeze. Organized labor has estimated the total at more than half a billion dollars.

Proxmire, chairman of the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee and a critic of much of President Nixon's new economic program, told a news conference he felt wage increases agreed upon before the freeze should be paid retroactively—money provided to enter the freeze ends should also be paid, he said.

Whether to allow pay increases to be paid retroactively is one of the chief questions confronting Nixon as he considers at the Florida White House this weekend the details of his Phase 2 policy that will follow the end of 90-day freeze next month.

On the basis of recent hearings by his committee, Proxmire proposed a Phase 2 program under which Nixon would have power to use "legal action to stop or reduce price increases" considered excessive by a presidentially appointed wage-price board.

The board he envisioned would have power to police price increases of concentrated industries where a handful of corporations set prices for the nation and for industries faced by inflation-creating shortage of materials.

Under Proxmire's proposal, workers would be permitted future wage increases equal to one-half of the percentage increase in the annual cost of living plus the full amount by which productivity grew. Productivity is output per man-hour—a measure of efficiency.

That could permit annual wage increases of about 5 per cent and result in an inflationary rate of no more than 2 per cent a year, Proxmire said.

She's prepared

DRESSED FOR A DRENCHING, Sandy Hewett, a sixth-grade safety patrol girl at Lincoln School, waits bravely amid a heavy rain-snow-slush downpour this morning at the corner of Second Avenue West and Addison Avenue, one of the busiest intersections in the city. The heaviest rainstorms of several months assailed the Magic Valley this morning, bringing more than a hint of winter to harassed citizens heading for work and school.

Tot help proposal revives

TWIN FALLS — The controversial kindergarten issue gained new impetus Thursday with reports that the state Department of Education has renewed its offer, but that School Supt. George Staudaher acted without board sanction in refusing to participate in the program.

Dr. Roy Truby, assistant to Idaho Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking, told the Times-News on Thursday that the state has renewed its offer of funds to pay the salaries of three kindergarten teachers for the Twin Falls School District.

The state had reassigned the "slots" as the funding setup is termed, when it was indicated that the Twin Falls district would not participate. Dr. Truby said that after several other districts' requests were filled, funds still remained in the federally sponsored program to renew the offer to Twin Falls.

In Twin Falls, E. J. Sommer, chairman of the school district board of trustees, confirmed earlier reports that the board did not authorize Staudaher to act in its behalf on accepting or rejecting the kindergarten program.

In the September meeting, when the program was first discussed by the board and Staudaher, the trustees agreed to table any action until further information on costs could be obtained. No further vote was taken, and no authority was granted Staudaher to take final action, Sommer said.

The school board will meet again Monday, with action on the kindergarten issue almost a certainty, Sommer said. Staudaher said Thursday that he is now "not sure" about accepting the state offer, and will have to "talk to some board members," presumably Monday night.

Nationwide port tie-up threatens

NEW YORK (UPI)—East coast dockworkers today began a strike that could close all the nation's seaports and force the Nixon administration to invoke the Taft-Hartley law.

President Nixon said last weekend he would use the act's 90-day no-strike clause, if both east and west coast longshoremen struck at the same time. West coast dockworkers have been on strike since July 1.

Longshoremen from Maine to Louisiana refused to report for work today following the breakdown of negotiations between the International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shippers Association. Some Gulf coast dockworkers had voted to stay on the job but Louisiana's two largest ports—New Orleans and Baton Rouge—were virtually closed today.

However, longshoremen reported for work along the entire Texas Gulf coast and a Port of Houston official said he feared this port could become swamped with ships seeking to unload in the Gulf coast area.

If all east coast and Gulf ports are struck, it could close every port on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the Gulf of Mexico. Only the Great Lakes ports are not involved in the Other I.L.A. locals, representing 45,000 persons on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, said they would follow the New York local's lead. Longshoremen began walking off the job at midnight.

Many Gulf Coast dockers, however, had voted to stay on the job.

Walkout closes soft coal mines

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's soft coal mines refused to work today in observance of their traditional "no-contract, no-work" position.

An estimated 80,000 men took part in the walkout in the major coal production states after the old contract expired at midnight Thursday.

As-stalemate bargaining sessions with industry representatives resumed, United Mine Workers President W.A.

"Tony" Boyle indicated the work stoppage would not be easily ended.

Boyle issued a statement declaring his union "has been unable to reach an agreement with the coal operators on wages, welfare fund contributions and other significant contract language."

He said that while the administration's wage-price freeze had complicated the situation, "it is not of itself a significant stumbling block to a new contract."

Boyle added: "Our contract has terminated and the miners have no desire to extend it on a day-by-day basis. It is our position that a new contract can and must be negotiated without further delay. The wage-price freeze is no excuse for procrastination and we have no intention of permitting it to become such an excuse."

Wildcat strikes occurred at various mines prior to the expiration of the contract and when bargaining talks adjourned Thursday night without result, the formal walkout followed in seven states.

It appeared likely no settlement could be reached before Monday although it was indicated some progress had been achieved at the Thursday negotiations.

"We didn't call a strike," said one UMW source early today. "But the independent walkouts because there is no binding contract are 100 per cent effective."

Surveys by UPI in Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Colorado and New Mexico indicated that the miners left their jobs at midnight Thursday.

Five thousand West Virginia miners and 1,000 Ohio men struck earlier in an apparent attempt to influence the course of the bargaining.

The bituminous Coal Operators' Association, bargaining agent for the miner owners, called on the UMW to extend the contract from day to day while negotiations continued. Union leaders would not agree on an interim agreement.

2 more prospects obtain petitions

TWIN FALLS — Two candidates for the Twin Falls City council election Nov. 2 filed petitions Friday morning and at least two additional prospective candidates entered the picture.

Petitions were filed with City Clerk Edythe Koozitz by Mrs. Jerre (Ann) Cover, and by Rex Ulrich. Both had previously announced their candidacies.

David Killen, professional at the Blue Lakes Country Club golf course, began circulating petitions Friday and said he is a candidate for one of the four council vacancies. R. Dee Jenkins, 223 Pierce St., of Magic Valley Drug Co., also requested a petition and said he plans to seek office.

Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for filing petitions and each requires 40 signatures of registered voters.

The developments Thursday afternoon and Friday morning bring to 15 the number of persons seeking election, providing all file their petitions with sufficient signatures.

Killen, who resides at 1734 Poplar Ave., said he will announce his position after filing his petitions if he obtains sufficient signatures by the filing deadline. Jenkins said he has lived in Twin Falls most of the time since he was five years of age. He has lived in other areas briefly and returned to Twin Falls four and one-half years ago to enter business. He has since managed Magic Valley Drug Co. Jenkins is 49 and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He said he has not previously run for office and plans to learn about city government from the ground up. Jenkins said he is interested in preserving freedoms and keeping the government in the hands of the people.

Mrs. Koozitz said there may be 10 candidates in the race as two petitions were taken out at the time the one was picked up for Killen and the man calling for the petitions declined to say what his plans called for and name the prospective candidates.

Other announced candidates include one incumbent, Winston Jones, and his running mate, Stephen Lincoln, Mike Gray and Stephen Bancroft, all supported by the Citizens Committee for Good Government; Lynn Goodman and Ray Crandall; Mike Thompson, J. Clifford Smallwood, Bill Waggoner, Stephen M. Carter, and William F. Hoops. None of these had filed petitions at deadline time today.

"The regional concept, Call explained, involves cooperation between the 15 community libraries in the Magic Valley, through trading of advice and discussion of mutual problems in order to serve the reading public more efficiently.

A major challenge facing the Twin Falls Library in the next few years, Call said, will be the construction of additional facilities to allow room for the continually growing number of books and patrons.

Senators ask pullout of spring by spring

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate, in a second rebuff of President Nixon's Vietnam policies, voted Thursday for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina by spring.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's amendment setting a six-month timetable for withdrawal and release of 30,000 U.S. prisoners was adopted 57 to 38 as a rider to a $2 billion weapons bill. That bill will be returned to the House, which has refused so far to impose any restrictions on President Nixon's Vietnam policies.

"It is hereby declared to be," reads the amendment, "the policy of the United States to terminate as early as practicable date all military operations of the United States in Indochina and to provide for the prompt and orderly withdrawal of all United States military forces not later than six months after the date of enactment of this section subject to release of all American prisoners of war held by the government of North Vietnam and forces allied with such government."

There were numerous reports of flooding in towns and villages near the coast as the storm dumped up to 8.5 inches of rain on the Outer Banks and up to 5 inches inland. Forecasters warned there may be more flash flooding today.

At mid-morning, Ginger was located about 60 miles southeast of Raleigh, its 50 mile-an-hour winds showering corn and soybean fields with more heavy rain.

Morehead City, N.C. (UPI)—The remnants of Hurricane Ginger started today in eastern North Carolina's rich farm belt which already had taken a multi-million dollar beating from the hands of Ginger, the longest-lived hurricane on record, spent its 90 mile-an-hour winds Thursday after it moved a short distance inland from this port city and paused. It later was downgraded to a tropical storm as it plodded slowly northward across the coastal plains.

Presently, as book listing grow and the stacks become more crowded, the library staff has no choice but to remove some of the seating capacity to allow for growth, he said. The Twin Falls Library will continue to concentrate on books in the present form, rather than expanding greatly into the new field of audio-visual instruction, leaving that for the colleges and schools to develop. Students utilize microfilms and audio-visual aids more than the general public, Call said.

New librarian takes over in TF today

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A 1961 graduate of Twin Falls High School, who has since moved into an executive position at the Hibbing, Minn., public library, became librarian at the Twin Falls Library today.

Arlan Call, who received bachelor's and master's degrees from Brigham Young University, and has earned additional master's degrees in library science and the Russian language, became chief of the library upon retirement of Robert R. Bruce.

Bruce, acclaimed the "Dean of Idaho Librarians," ended a tenure of nearly six years in Twin Falls. Bruce closes a career that has seen work in a wide variety of positions, ranging from the film industry to the fields of industry and music.

He came to Twin Falls from Port Angeles, Wash., where he served as "head librarian" for several years. Previously, Bruce had held research librarian at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayor in Hollywood, Calif., and served as music librarian for the Los Angeles Public Library.

He also has been service as a "special librarian" for the Naval Department of the U. S. government, and with a number of industrial firms.

In Idaho, Bruce was named Idaho representative of the American Library Association, and was widely known in professional circles for his expertise in the field.

His successor, Call, dialled to talk about himself or his training, deferring to his predecessor, Robert Bruce, whom he also claims as the site of the parking lot. The library will expand into the area when funding and other details can be worked out.

Funds will be provided largely by state and federal appropriations, though some local participation will undoubtedly be required, Call said.

Presently, as book listing grow and the stacks become more crowded, the library staff has no choice but to remove some of the seating capacity to allow for growth, he said.

The Twin Falls Library will continue to concentrate on books in the present form, rather than expanding greatly into the new field of audio-visual instruction, leaving that for the colleges and schools to develop. Students utilize microfilms and audio-visual aids more than the general public, Call said.

New complex opens today

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Walt Disney World threw open its gates more than two hours ahead of schedule today, and thousands of visitors streamed into the vast entertainment complex.

The first visitors to the $400-million showplace when it opened at 7:30 a.m. were a Lakeland, Fla., couple and two small children who spent the night in a small foreign car to be the first in line.

The state patrol had expected about 20,000 visitors on the first day and a spokesman said it appeared the prediction would be about right. Traffic was backed up for two miles on Interstate 4 near the Disney World turnoff.

The William J. Windsor family beat the traffic by arriving Thursday and became Disney World's "first family." They got the V.I.P. treatment, which included a lifetime pass to the park.

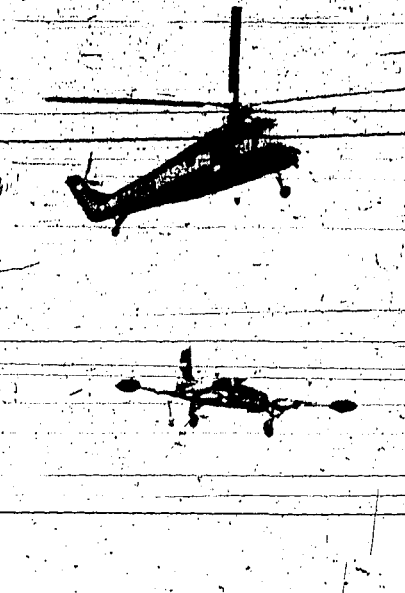

"It was worth sleeping all night in that car," said Windsor, a 21-year-old apartment owner and manager. His wife called it "just fantastic." Newsmen and hundreds of school children got an advance look Thursday at what some call Disneyland East.

From the fields of tourism, real estate, transportation, and traffic control have come predictions that Walt Disney World would cause a metamorphosis of central Florida, and perhaps the tourist flow throughout the state.

But the statisticians will have to wait awhile, and the opening day crowd was interested more in Donald Duck and Goofy than in Chamber of Commerce reports.

The 30,000-acre amusement complex not only encompasses the familiar Disney rides and attractions, but new features, resort hotels, golf, horseback riding, and plans are being made for the Disney organization to run an ocean-front resort 50 miles east of here for families who wish to combine an amusement park vacation with a trip to a Florida beach.

It will cost the average family of four about $5 per day at the park, including a meal, and visits to several of the big attractions.

Solons rap objections to hospital conversion

GOODING — District 22 legislators have labeled objections to converting the Gooding Tuberculosis Hospital into a state veterans home as "obvious nitpicking."

They had raised opposition to proposal at a hearing of the Health Facilities Committee of the Governor's Advisory Council on Comprehensive Health Planning. Elger called the proposal "ridiculous."

The Gooding TB Hospital is a three million dollar institution that now stands idle and the state is annually spending $35,000 just to maintain the buildings and grounds, the legislators said.

Reps. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle; Earl Greenawald, R-Jerome, and Sen. Don Fredrickson, D-Gooding, made a joint statement saying "Veterans Administration personnel know fully what they are talking about when they say there is a growing need for VA nursing home facilities."

As far as professional staff is concerned, the TB Hospital, operated for years and never had problems obtaining either common labor or professional staff, the legislators said.

"It would not be intelligent for the state and federal government to consider spending millions for the construction of new structures when such highly satisfactory facility already exists and with only minor renovation is ready for immediate use," the legislators said.

TF officials leave for trial

TWIN FALLS — County officials from Twin Falls left early today for Pocatello for the start of the trial of Karl (Jack) Lewis, Buhl, former county justice of the peace charged with misuse of public funds.

The trial will be held before District Judge Gus Carr Anderson, Pocatello. It will be scheduled to be heard in Emmett last spring but was transferred to Pocatello after the judge disqualified himself because of news reports concerning a civil suit brought by Lewis against one of the key witnesses the day before the trial was to begin.

Lewis is charged with misuse of public funds in connection with his services as justice of the peace in the Buhl area in 1960.

Prosecuting Attorney Leon W. Smith and special prosecutor Douglas Kramer will represent the county. Also in Pocatello to testify in the case are County Clerk Harold Lancaster and county commissioners, William Chancy and Heber Loughmiller.

Post-freeze controls necessary

TWIN FALLS — Studied controls will follow at the end of the 90-day wage-price freeze, Cong. James McClure, R-Idaho, told members of the Kiwanis Club here Thursday noon.

The congressman, prominently mentioned as a candidate for the United States Senate next year, said he was of the opinion that these "follow-up" controls in so-called phase two of the freeze had not yet been determined by the President or members of his staff.

He said Americans do "not like" compulsion, that they cannot tolerate strong controls as a way of life and that the wage-price freeze is just about as popular now as it ever will be.

He touched briefly on the role of the United States in the United Nations organization and said he does not think withdrawal from that organization is the answer. Rather, he said, "We must not place too much reliance on it."

"We cannot become isolated from the rest of the world," he said. "That is not the route for us to take. We cannot, on the other hand, act as policeman for the rest of the world. Rather we must help other nations but not fight their battles for them."

Installation of new officers for Kiwanis will feature at the meeting next Thursday. Lawrence Knigge, Piler, district lieutenant-governor, will be installing officer.

He said after the initial freeze order terminates, control of price escalation is absolutely necessary.

"But in our system we cannot live with wage or price controls very long," he said. "The present inflation rate has lowered but it is still at an unacceptable high level. We are in a very critical condition right now and some kind of flexible mechanism must come after the initial period comes to an end."

Northern route cancelled

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission said today it has cancelled the authority of Trans Magic Airlines Corporation to serve a Boise to north Idaho route.

The IPUC said it ended the temporary certificate of convenience and necessity issued to the airlines for flights between Boise, McCall, Lewiston, Moscow, Coeur d'Alene and Sandpoint at the request of Trans Magic.

The IPUC's decision was based on a letter of affidavit signed by Fred M. Frazier, president and chairman of the board for Trans Magic, which said the northern route had been unprofitable from the beginning or operations.

The letter said the operating loss for the period April 1, 1970, through Jan. 31, 1971, was $49,513.

The letter also said boardings on the northern route were declining, and added that Trans Magic Airlines was no longer able to absorb the losses required to sustain the service.

The letter asked that the northern route authority be terminated.

The IPUC noted there were no protests filed with the commission over possible termination of the service.

The student housing units should be ready for occupancy by January, according to Craig Nelsen of the contractors.

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. James A. Sinclair, Twin Falls, recently named Republican national committeewoman for Idaho, was honored at the annual membership meeting of the Twin Falls County Republican Women's Club, Wednesday.

Mrs. John Detweiler was chairman of the reception which honored Mrs. Sinclair. A large group of Toastmistress club members also attended the meeting to honor Mrs. Sinclair who is president of that club.

Mrs. Jack Scott read the prayer given at the opening of Congress. Mrs. Robert Stradley is local club president.

Mrs. R. L. Ullman, program chairman, introduced Rep. James McClure who praised Mrs. Sinclair for her long service to the party and spoke on current legislation.

Mrs. G. W. Brown, state president of the Republican Women, urged members to be active in all civic organizations as well as their own group.

Bankers launch 4-H fund

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Bankers began their annual 4-H fund-raising campaign today according to Idaho Bank Chairman, Curtis T. Eaton, executive vice president of Twin Falls Bank and Trust.

Bankers in Idaho are joining with bankers all over the nation in a unified effort to support 4-H through the National 4-H Club Foundation.

Last year nearly 2,000 bankers helped to support 4-H by contributing to the annual program. Their support helps support programs conducted for over 20,000 4-H'ers annually by the 4-H Foundation in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Memo gives idea of land value unit meets in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — A memorandum to Idaho Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley dated Sept. 17 gives some idea of the value of land in the Sun Valley-Ketchum area.

The memo, from William J. Mitchell, division chief, lands, was dated nine days after the state land board agreed to sell 620 acres of land near Sun Valley for $356,000, based on a figure of $575 per acre.

supply, utilities, and highway and river frontage.

Some examples given included:

- One sale for $1,000 per acre, which would be higher than the state land price because of an abundant water supply, the close proximity to utilities, and its location immediately adjacent to Ketchum and Sun Valley.
- Another sale at $1,000 per acre, again with better location and facilities.
- A sale at $600 per acre which a realtor said would now sell for about $800 per acre.
- A number of smaller sales of 20 to 40 acres for $5,000 to $7,000 per acre.

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Commission on Women's Programs will meet in Boise Friday and Saturday to finalize task-force reports and adopt legislative proposals and recommendations.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, chairman, said task forces on educational development, jail conditions, migrant labor housing conditions, day care and women's wages will meet separately Friday afternoon in the statehouse to finalize their written reports.

Saturday the reports will be summarized and the group will decide on legislative proposals.

In Business

The Twin Falls City-County Airport is back in business...

That project is now complete and the field was once more opened to all traffic this morning.

Lack of adequate air service into and out of this area proved the old proverb that you never miss the water until the well runs dry.

from here to all points on earth. And people can once more get to Twin Falls and Magic Valley with relative ease.

In the rush of day to day living, the importance of air transportation is sometimes overlooked.

And it is the only airport served by Hughes Air West that is served exclusively by jets.

America Lucky

Perhaps because it is because the College of Southern Idaho is in our midst...

For instance, we note that it is now believed that perhaps Kent State's hour of tragedy can be transformed into a victory in the universal quest for a new kind of world with new meaning and brotherhood.

Pointing to a world in revolution, Olds says that the communications link has reduced us to a small spinning space ship.

Would that it were so. And perhaps it is so in America, where the deafening silence on campus suggests that students have become disenchanted with change through violence.

Elsewhere in the world, unfortunately, students are not constructing something wonderful but something horrifying.

In Saigon, students claim to have destroyed some three dozen American vehicles since they launched a campaign a month ago to force the United States to withdraw from their country more quickly and more completely.

At a time when so many hoped for an end to the war and an age of reason, the level of violence in Saigon has never seemed higher, says one reporter.

The students are not necessarily Communists or Communist sympathizers (though it is useful to the Saigon regime to characterize them as such).

Yet if North Vietnam eventually takes over South Vietnam, as some Americans hope and just about everybody seems to expect will happen, it will be in large part thanks to the chaos created by these students.

In Japan, students opposed to the enlargement of Tokyo airport killed three policemen in a confrontation that makes even Kent State look mild.

In the Philippines, students are a factor in the growing subversion and violence that threaten to destroy democracy in that nation.

South America, of course, is a place where student activists have long made a mockery of the concepts of a university and education and democracy.

Where on earth, and when in history, for that matter, has organized student activity resulted in other than tragedy and the loss of liberties?

Students around the world oppose dictatorships and champion "a new kind of world with new meaning and brotherhood."

Maybe we are lucky in America. Maybe we have learned a lesson. Maybe Glenn Olds is right.

A Feud Appears

WASHINGTON - With the high cost of living still the plain citizen's major concern, as shown by every poll from New York to Pocatello, Phase II of President Nixon's anti-inflation program is endangered by a feud among some of Nixon's top advisers.

From the consumer's point of view, the villain of the piece is John D. Erlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs.

Erlichman is pushing the trickle-down theory, which means he argues in favor of giving "bigger breaks" to business on the theory that prosperity in the executive suites eventually will be reflected in the purses of the people.

Unfortunatly for the consumer, Erlichman is much closer to Richard Nixon than Rumsfeld, Finch and Hodgson.

"Chief, I'm stumped on the Logan murder case. We've tracked down every possible clue and hit a dead end. There are no motives, no fingerprints and the guy had no enemies. It's baffling."

"I didn't have time to, it meant going to her aunt's house on Staten Island, and so I said the hell with it."

What the consumers have going for them is the sensitivity of Nixon's political antennae. He knows there's a Presidential election next year and that the natives are restless.

Erlichman, among others, is pressing this point on the president. He is reminding Nixon that he cannot expect large contributions from organized labor.

All this is too bad, because the plight of the everyday shopper is very real. Despite the Presidential wage-price freeze imposed last Aug. 15, prices continue to rise - by 0.3 per cent last month.

must face the fact that Main Street expects Phase II to do more, not less, to ease the cost-of-living problem.

In short, high prices are THE issue today and will be in November, 1972, unless Nixon rejects John Erlichman's counsel and gives first priority to the cost of living.

Meanwhile, Democratic critics are gleefully spreading the story that petroleum companies were tipped off to the freeze and duly raised their prices before Aug. 15.

Anyway, despite widespread acceptance of Nixon's New Economic Policy, the President

"There was a Miss Fan Fan LaTulpe who danced at the Pink Gypsy. Kelly was supposed to find out her connection with the victim, but he was suspended last week during the graft scandal in the 12th precinct."

"From what you've told me, you seem to have done a thorough enough job. I guess you'll put this down as an unsolved murder. If we spent all our time on one murder, we'd never get anything done around here."

"Yes, sir, Dr. Fauntleroy, you asked to see me?"

"I was curious about that little old lady who almost died in Room 506. They say you forgot to replace her oxygen bottle."

"It wasn't just the little old lady in Room 506, Edwards. I was thinking of the man in the emergency ward the other night - the one whose leg you amputated after the automobile accident."

"What was wrong with that?" Dr. Peters said it was one of the best operations he had ever seen.

"It was, except you cut off the wrong leg."

"So that's why it took him so long to recover?"

"You owe my father a favor?"

Congressional reductions of this threshold level could stifle resistance to the North Vietnamese. In particular, a Congressional proposal to ban U. S. payment of salaries for some 5,500 volunteer troops from Thailand would be fatal.

There is no realistic diplomatic alternative. Hanoi's Pathet Lao puppets will not even admit the existence of North Vietnamese troops in Laos, making negotiations impossible.

Given such bleak diplomatic prospects, there is doubt how long Laos can hang on with American aid.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

More Sleep

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a man, 64, in fairly good health except for insomnia. I can take tranquilizers, sleeping capsules or nothing at all-but try as I may, about two hours is as much sleep as I can get.

I exercise, work outside, get plenty of fresh air, but nothing seems to help. - E. E. M.

I'll give you several thoughts on this, hoping that at least one will help you, but I wish you would give some attention to the first remark I'll make.

It is known that most people who complain of lack of sleep get more than they realize.

Nurses have observed it often: patients say they can't sleep, but the nurses repeatedly find these "sleepless" patients snoring and sometimes snoring.

"I'll admit that it's no fun to wake up repeatedly. It's no fun to feel that you want to go to sleep and can't. But what actually happens in many cases is that a person is consciously awake, drops off to sleep for a time, again becomes conscious of being awake without realizing that a period of sleep has intervened.

This may be your answer. Since you work outside, get plenty of fresh air, you may in truth be getting enough more sleep - in snatches - to amount to substantially more than two hours. Anyway, it would look as though you must be getting enough for your needs. And as we grow older, we often don't need as much sleep. You may not really need the six to eight hours you used to get!

One important factor in insomnia is psychological depression, anxiety, and worry, often not recognized by the individual.

Stimulating beverages (coffee, tea, or any of the cola drinks, which contain caffeine) should be avoided late in the day.

Vague aches and pains can disturb sleep; but you don't mention any, except to say that loss of sleep makes you "sick to your stomach."

Breathing difficulty (as with emphysema or with heart disease) can be a factor in disturbed sleep, although you gave me no indication that you are troubled with either.

Hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) can cause a restlessness that can disturb sleep. A bedtime snack such as a glass of warm milk and a meat or cheese sandwich can offset that trouble.

Finally, have you tried different pillow arrangements, using two or three pillows if you customarily use one? A different sleeping position can sometimes make quite a difference. Handling in bed also is a way to induce sleep.

Wars, saloons and dirty streets are still with us (though the hem problem has been solved), and part of the reason may be not that women have not yet won enough power but that they are really equal to men, in ignobility as well as nobility, in foolishness as well as wisdom.

House vote OK's anti-poverty aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has approved a new anti-poverty bill that would reform the program of free legal services for the poor and create a multi-billion dollar plan of child care designed to help youngsters of working mothers. The measure, approved

Thursday on a 251-115 roll call vote, is similar to a Senate-passed bill, but differences will have to be worked out in a conference of House-Senate members.

The House bill would extend Office of Economic Opportunity anti-poverty programs for two years, until June 30-1973, with a total two-year authorization of $5 billion, the same figure as in the Senate-passed measure.

OEO's legal services program, under fire from mayors and governors who have been brought into court by project attorneys representing minority groups, would be transferred to a private corporation run by a 17-member board of directors.

President Nixon, who favors the corporation setup but wants power to pick his own people for the board, compromised with the House bill which restricts his appointments to the board. Six of the directors must come from national bar associations, four from among the poor aid project attorneys, and the remaining seven would be the President's choice. All appointments would be subject to Senate confirmation.

The House measure would ban corporation attorneys from representing clients in criminal cases and prohibit the attorneys from aiding clients in demonstrations against federal, state or local governmental policies.

A move to block transfer of legal services to the corporation plan was defeated on a 210-152 vote.

The huge child care program for which the Senate authorized $2.1 billion over two years would provide 80 per cent federal matching grants to private, public and nonprofit groups to construct, equip and staff day care centers offering educational, health and nutritional services.

Celibacy top topic

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The question of priestly celibacy cast a shadow over the third World Synod of Roman Catholic Bishops today—despite the fact everybody involved has avoided using the word.

Pope Paul VI did not mention celibacy directly when he addressed 210 delegates Thursday during the solemn opening ceremony in the Sistine Chapel. Nor did an Italian bishop when he delivered a major, 45-minute report on the state of the church.

The word was not even likely to come up during today's discussions by the cardinals,

Senate favors trading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One quarter of the Senate's membership is on record in favor of wide-open trade between the United States and all Communist countries, including China.

With 24 co-sponsors, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., introduced a bill Thursday under which Communist countries could trade in the U.S. market under the same favorable tariff terms now extended to capitalist nations.

A co-sponsor, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said the bill's enactment could lead to a three-fold increase in trade between the United States and Eastern Europe. It could reach $2 billion by 1975, he said.

Now, he said, the United States accounts for only 3 per cent of $18 billion worth of annual trade between the Free World and the Soviet Union and its Eastern European allies.

Magnuson said the current U.S. policy of imposing high 1930-level tariffs on imports from all Communist nations except Poland and Yugoslavia "has proved self-defeating, much to the delight and enrichment of the business and industry of our allies in Western Europe and Japan."

The bill gives the President authority to grant the same non-discriminatory tariff treatment—known as "most favored nation" treatment—to Communist countries that "it now extends to capitalist countries."

Ribicoff, who toured Eastern Europe this summer as chairman of the Senate's international trade subcommittee, predicted—on the basis of talks with officials of the Boeing Corp.—that Romania and other Eastern-European countries would buy hundreds of billions of dollars worth of Boeing 707s if trade were expanded with the United States.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE war veteran wielding crutch chases pro-Thieu demonstrator down Saigon Street Thursday as Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky called meeting of "national coalition of people against dictatorship." Combat police used tear gas to scatter pro-Thieu demonstrators near meeting. Unrest continued as Sunday's South Vietnamese elections—with Thieu only presidential candidate—neared. (UPI)

Ignore polls, Ky tells Viets

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said today the people of South Vietnam should stay away from the polls in Sunday's one-man presidential election—to show they oppose the "tyranny" of President Nguyen Van Thieu. Thieu reportedly has said that he will not consider himself re-elected unless more than half the seven-million-plus registered voters actually vote for him.

Ky, who dropped out of the race last month charging fraud, made his speech on the front lawn of the white-columned government guest house—six blocks from the presidential palace.

Ky spoke at the "National Convention of People Against Dictatorship" which convened after a series of scuffles between Ky and Thieu supporters outside the guest house.

At one point, a pro-Ky disabled veteran attacked a pro-Thieu demonstrator with his crutch—and chased him down the street. Another pro-Ky veteran twice hit a policeman with the flat of his machete.

Ky told his supporters to "show courage and patriotism by standing side by side with the people to realize the mission against tyranny."

Ky's audience was composed of delegates from all over the country and from all walks of life—white-bearded village elders in Mandarin dress, Buddhist monks in saffron robes, Roman Catholic nuns in bluish-white habits, legless war veterans in uniform, opposition politicians, and students.

SAIGON (UPI)—A South Vietnamese commander said today government troops with massive U.S. air support had "broken the back" of a major North-Vietnamese offensive along the Cambodian border designed to disrupt the South Vietnamese election Sunday.

The overall situation along the Cambodian border 85 miles northwest of Saigon was so improved that American forces were able to withdraw a long range gun battery from Katum Fire Base 15 miles due east of SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Antiwar activist Leslie Bacon was illegally arrested in April in a Washington, D.C. commune and flown 3,000 miles to Seattle for questioning about the bombing of the U.S. Capitol, a federal appeals court ruled Thursday.

Miss Bacon, 19, arrested by the FBI as a "material witness" to the March 1 bombing, was granted a petition for habeas corpus, and her "invalid" arrest warrant was ordered quashed by the U.S. 9th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Mike Itosen, one of Miss Bacon's attorneys, called the court decision "a great victory for civil liberties in this country."

BLM chief raps bill ending dispute on land along Snake

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress was told Thursday that a plan to let holders of government-claimed lands in Idaho buy it for $1.25 an acre would result in a "windfall" for little companies.

The charge was made by acting Director Irving Sanzel of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management in opposing legislation intended to end a dispute between the government and private claimants over ownership of land along the Snake River. The legislation also was opposed by Assistant Attorney General Shiro Kashiyu in testimony before the Senate public lands subcommittee.

Sanzel contended if the government gave up its land claims for $1.25 an acre, the beneficiaries in many cases would be title companies which insured earlier sales rather than the people living on the land.

Ownership of the lands is in dispute because the government claims "fraud or error" in land surveys made nearly a century ago.

The new legislation calling for the $1.25 price would replace a 1902 law which permits the private owners to gain full title by paying "fair market value"—less the value of any improvements on the land.

Kenneth Scott, secretary of an organization of land owners, said the legislation would correct "inequities" in the administration of the existing law.

Scott said the price paid by the present holders of the land to gain full title ranged as high as $1,000 an acre. At the time of the survey the land would have been worth only the $1.25 an acre proposed in the new bill.

"The government now claims title to numerous home sites and business sites in the city of St. Anthony, Idaho. It can be documented in many cases there are elderly people living on minimal incomes and payment of more than $1.25 an acre would result in an extreme hardship," he added.

Action cleared on tax bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Rules Committee Thursday cleared a $15.4 billion tax-cut bill for passage next week under rules barring any change in the measure on the floor.

The action virtually assured approval of the bill on Tuesday in exactly the form as it emerged Wednesday from the Ways and Means Committee.

The bill would reduce corporate and individual taxes by $15.4 billion over three years, through personal tax cuts, an investment tax credit, and repeal of the 7 per cent auto excise tax.

The House could kill the measure or amend it, but this rarely has happened in the past and it is almost certain not to happen this time either.

Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., a Rules Committee member, said the House should be allowed to vote separately on the 7 per cent investment tax credit for business equipment purchases.

Trustees against program

NEW PLYMOUTH, Idaho (UPI)—Trustees of the New Plymouth school decided not to attempt a kindergarten in the public schools at this time.

Trustees decided that the district doesn't have enough money to initiate the program.

But the trustees voted to submit to voters a five-million plant facilities levy on Oct. 20.

Anderson pledges full cooperation of students

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association (PTSA), which seeks to involve the students in improving their own education by affiliation with the PTA, heard a pledge from student-body president Larry Anderson for full cooperation from the students during the first meeting of the school year Tuesday night.

Student teacher . . .

CHARLES BERRY, on right, a student teacher assigned to Twin Falls High School by the University of Idaho, confers with a parent during the annual parent-teacher-confrontation session of the PTSA. Berry teaches chemistry under the direction of Mrs. Ida M. Olson, a veteran teacher who entrusts the young man with much of the teaching chores. Berry, a resident of Moscow, will complete his nine-week assignment in Twin Falls in about two weeks, then will return to the university classrooms as a student.

Annual meet set Tuesday in Buhl

BUHL — The ninth annual meeting of the Antique Festival Theatre will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the banquet room of the It and R Cafe, Buhl.

Sen. John Barker will present a report on the national meeting of the Arts and Humanities Commission held in Sun Valley this summer.

Coffee and dessert is planned with special entertainment featured. The entertainment is being kept "secret" by the committee. Some exciting possibilities for the coming year will also be presented.

The annual meeting will provide Antique Festival Theatre patrons an opportunity to look back over the past year and see "what's been happening." Mrs. Joe Fehrenbacher is historian for the Antique Festival Theatre.

Buhl OES drapes altar

BUHL — The altar was draped in memory of the late Laura Gough, past grand matron of the Grand Chapter of Idaho, when the Order of Eastern Star Chapter No. 38 met this past week, with Mrs. T. W. Richmond, worthy matron, presiding.

Guests introduced were Lucille Huston, grand representative of the grand jurisdiction of Texas, and Oliver Marsden, a 50-year member.

Reports of Grand Chapter were given. Hosts were Grace French, chairman, Ann Fall, co-chairman, assisted by Mary Constant, Mrs. Francis Decker, Twin Falls, Mary Peck and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Cobb.

Literary group meets

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Don Williams was the hostess for the September meeting of Le Livre et La Plume Literary Arts Society when a biography of Queen Mary of Scotland, taken from Antonia Fraser's book "Mary Queen of Scots," was given by Mrs. James Dods.

Mrs. Ben Ward was welcomed as a new member. She gave a short history of herself.

The gifted thought was given by Mrs. Jesse Summers, and the author's sketch by Mrs. Melvin Van Noy.

Mrs. Lynn Pettigill, Mrs. Edgard Dury and Mrs. Dell Timpson were co-hostesses.

Fashion show presented

BUHL — "Fall Fashions in Poetry" was the theme of a fashion show which highlighted the first meeting of the season for the Buhl High School Girls' League Association.

League members served as models and Pat Burbank was narrator. Wendy Parrott was in charge of the fashion show. Kay Brown and Jerry Dilljorg were chosen "Girl and Boy of the Month," respectively. The meeting was conducted by Denise Fingerson, president.

A SCENE FROM "The Madwoman of Chaillot," to be presented by the Twin Falls High School Drama Department, shows, from left, Kathy Bayless as Madame Josephine, the Madwoman of La Concorde; Jackie Hovey, Mademoiselle Gabrielle, the Madwoman of St. Sulpice; Peg Mead, Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillot, and Patti Staudaher, Madame Constance, the Madwoman of Passy. The play will be presented Oct. 28, 29 and 30 at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School Auditorium.

Rehearse play . . .

Record visit museum

CUSTER — A record of 14,545 people visited the U. S. Forest Service Historical Mining Museum at the old ghost town of Custer, in 1971; Clayton District Ranger Dan Pence reports.

This represents an increase of over 1,500 people from 1970 visits, the previous record. The increase is especially significant as limited financing forced the museum to be operated 17 days less this year than in 1970.

Ranger Pence reports that the Forest Service's prepaying program for development of historical values in the entire Yankee Fork area. This program represents a significant step in interpreting historical values offered by the early gold rush era in Idaho. Development will depend upon financing.

H.S. drama class plans fall play

TWIN FALLS — "The Madwoman of Chaillot" by Jean Giraudoux will be presented by the Twin Falls High School Drama Department to open its fall season, directed by Bradford T. Heckerson, drama instructor, with Dwight Baker as student director.

The play is scheduled for Oct. 28, 29 and 30 at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School Auditorium.

Portraying Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillot will be Peg Mead; Madame Constance, the Madwoman of Passy, Patti Staudaher; Mademoiselle Gabrielle, the Madwoman of St. Sulpice, Jackie Hovey; Madame Josephine, the Madwoman of La Concorde, Kathy Bayless;

Worthy grand-matron feted at Chapter No. 29 meeting

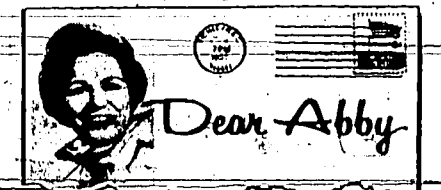

TWIN FALLS — Sixteen Order of Eastern Star Chapters from Idaho Falls to Boise joined Twin Falls Chapter No. 29 this week to honor Worthy Grand Matron Laura Callender.

Grand officers present were Hope Clemons, treasurer, Sid Clark, marshal, and Wilma Wert, Warder.

Presiding at the meeting were Lorraine Nelson, worthy matron, and Jim Clark, worthy patron. Substitutes in office were Dorothy Carter, treasurer, and Elsie Mossely, chaplain.

A luncheon was held at noon, followed by a school of instruction at 1 p.m. conducted by Mrs. Callender.

A memorial service was held for John Simpson, past grand patron. The worthy grand matron's talk was entitled "Stop Look and Listen." Her song, "My Father Watches Over Me," was sung by Clarice Potter, accompanied by Chapter Organist Rilla Rider. A gift was presented Mrs. Callender with an addenda by Associate Matron, Cleo Robinson and Associate Conductress Arlene

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: When we're out in company, my husband makes remarks like, "I think a man should be able to trade in his wife for a new model, just like he trades in his automobile." Abby, we've been married for 40 years and I don't think this kind of talk is a bit funny. He calls me his "1969 model." I'm not very witty, but I wish I had a snappy comeback for him when he talks like that. Can you think of one? OLD MODEL

DEAR OLD: Tell your wisecracker that just because a model is "new" doesn't mean it's better. Then ask him if he's priced a 1969 Rolls-Royce lately.

DEAR ABBY: My sister became a widow a year ago, and out of necessity she returned to work. She has two sons, ages 10 and 12. They are good boys, and have shown themselves to be responsible and obedient. Now the problem:

My sister refuses to give the boys a key to their apartment. She says she's afraid they might lose it or maybe leave the door unlocked and the apartment will be robbed.

Abby, the boys get out of school at 3:30 and their mother doesn't get home until after 5 p. m., and those poor kids have to hang around the building or sit on the sidewalk like a pair of stray dogs until their mother comes home. The apartment building is locked and they can't even get into the hall without a key.

I've pleaded with my sister, but she is stubborn. There are no friends or relatives in the neighborhood the boys can stay with. I'd let them stay with me, but I live in Brooklyn and they live in the Bronx. She trusts you. Say something. CONCERNED UNCLE

DEAR UNCLE: Your sister should be more concerned about the safety of her sons than her worldly goods, and should realize that the boys are better off inside than outside. In any case, she shouldn't assume that they are incapable of having a key without giving them a chance to prove they are.

DEAR ABBY: I share an office with eight other women. One has a habit which is about to drive us up a wall. She breathes very loudly. It sounds like the cooling of a dove—only it's louder and much more annoying.

We complained to the supervisor who spoke to her about it. She told him she couldn't help it as she suffers from asthma, and he believed her! I think she is just trying to attract attention because if someone whispers, she immediately stops her heavy breathing and breathes normally so she can hear what's being said. Now you can't tell me "asthma" can be controlled that easily.

How can we shut her up? She can be heard above nine typewriters. LOUISVILLE

DEAR LOUISVILLE: The best way to shut out annoying sounds is with ear plugs. Of course, you won't be able to hear the telephone, the fire alarm, or the boss when he talks to you but if you believe this woman is making annoying sounds just to attract attention, this solution will attract so much attention that the boss will have to isolate her if he wants to get some work out of the rest of you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Farm employment dip continues trend

BOISE — The monthly reduction of agricultural employment in Idaho is continuing the average trend, with about four per cent fewer employed in August than in July, according to the Idaho Department of Employment.

A slight decrease is expected in September, followed by the usual October increase with potato, apple and sugar beet harvests requiring more workers.

The monthly decrease in intrastate worker levels is exactly the same as recorded during the same July-August period in 1970. A reduction in the number of farm operators is reflecting the trend of consolidation of agri-business into larger organizations and corporations.

August agricultural activities were centered primarily in irrigation, hay harvest and work in fruit orchards. The total number of irrigators was slightly higher than the average for August, due to the unseasonably warm, dry weather. Relief came to the South-Central and Eastern portions of the state in the last days of August, but some temporary irrigator shortages were reported. This shortage is the usual thing, as students employed during the summer report to classrooms for the fall term.

Sugar-beet weeding hand labor tapered off during the first part of August and was completed by mid-month. A wage survey indicated the average pay was about $2.10 per hour.

Fruit prospects continue to look good for the remainder of the year. The late prune harvest was not completed due to depressed market prices, while early harvesting in many crops, including sweet corn, peas, grain and mint have been concluded with good yield reports. Onion harvesting is more mechanized this year with the limited use of seed harvesters.

Labor camps in some areas, particularly Southwestern Idaho, are near capacity, with housing for new laborers reported scarce. Officials of the recently completed Paul labor camp said growing numbers of occupants are finding housing there as more families take advantage of the facilities.

Crop losses from the grasshopper infestation have been minor. The primary impact was felt in May and June in rangeland, where exact determination of the loss is difficult to compute. The late prune crop suffered up to 50 per cent loss from the market-price situation.

Total agricultural employment continued the seasonal decline, from 53,000 in July to 51,600 in August, while 52,000 were employed in August, 1970. Other statistics for July and August, 1971, and August, 1970, respectively, included: operators and unpaid family workers, 30,700, 30,600, 31,600; hired workers, 23,100, 31,000, 20,400; including regular hired seasonal workers, 9,700, 9,800, 9,900; and non-local seasonal workers, 13,400, 11,300, 10,500, while local seasonal workers totaled 7,200, 7,300, and 6,600, and non-local seasonal workers totaled 9,200, 8,000, and 3,900.

Field trial

JULIUS KILMER is shown at the wheel of the large combine which did test-threshing in the William Watt contract bean field, east of Buhl, as well as in other area bean fields. The machine was built at the Oregon State University, Corvallis, a project of the United States Department of Agriculture. It was brought to the Magic Valley by Leonard Klein, engineer.

New combine performs in area bean fields

BY MAJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Writer

FILER — Magic Valley farmers were given a chance this past week to watch a new type of combine in operation. Twenty-three acres in 11 different bean fields in the area were harvested by the machine, a shop project of the United States Department of Agriculture at the Oregon State University, Corvallis.

The work on the machine was all done at the university under the heading of the small seed and harvester processing investigation, which helps develop equipment for farmers to help them realize better crops and seed growing.

The machine was originally designed for use in grasses and legume seeds. However, several years ago the Idaho Bean Commission became interested and subsidized research to try the combine on bean threshing. It was brought to Magic Valley to harvest contract beans.

Main component of the machine is the belt-threshing principle which utilizes a rubber belt for threshing rather than the cylinder or spike-toothed rub-bar which other combines use to separate the beans from the hulls. After soak-tests and germination tests, it has been proven that the rubber belt does less damage to the beans while being harvested, resulting in less cracked beans.

Other features of the new machine are the pneumatic compressors which take the place of shoes or sleeves in other combines, and the rotary cylinder screens which replace the regulation flat screens. The machine is self-propelled and can open up a field in any place or condition.

Leonard Klein, engineer, brought the machine to Idaho, accompanied by two other engineers and three mechanics. They are now through with the harvest season and are heading back to Corvallis.

Claims depict jobless jump

BOISE — The slump in employment for Idaho during August is markedly shown by the fact that unemployment insurance claimants increased by 500 at midmonth for only the second time in the past 12 years.

Normally, according to the Idaho Department of Employment, fewer claims are recorded during August each year than during July. Only one other time in the past 12 years has the decline failed to appear.

Though most industrial claimants did in fact decrease, the total count was forced upward by an additional 615 food-processing claimants above the July level. This unexpected increase in claimants came when several firms continued their seasonal summer shutdown later than in past years.

Manufacturing claimants accounted for more than half of the midmonth count, with 3,390 claimants. Of these jobless people, 84 per cent, or 3,335 were associated with the food-processing industry. Claimants associated with the lumber and wood-products segment of manufacturing accounted for the largest single per centage decrease as 15 per cent fewer were entered — 293 in July to 249 in August.

Organizations in the state bitterly criticized McCall's veto because they said it would put them at the mercy of farm labor organizers.

In addition to Justice Sloan, McCall appointed Attorney General Lee Johnson and former University of Oregon Law School Dean Orlando Hollis to the committee.

Almost simultaneously, House Speaker Robert Smith appointed his own task force of legislators and charged them with conducting public hearings and drafting a new bill.

Employment opportunities in the service industry continued to grow as evidenced by a 4.6 per cent decrease in claimants below the July level.

A major shift in the length of insured unemployment was noted in August, as workers unemployed in the short-term classification of four weeks or less declined from 55 per cent in July to 39 per cent in August.

On the other hand, those claimants drawing benefits for five weeks or longer increased to 61 per cent in August from 44.9 per cent during July.

Women continued to outnumber male claimants in August, mainly as a result of the continued increases in food processing. During August 1, women claimants increased by 19.2 per cent to reach 4,334 claimants. Men continued their return to work during the month, with 6.2 per cent fewer filing claims in August than in July to reach a low in the midmonth count of 2,516.

Oregon panel unveils latest farm labor law

SALEM, ORE. (UPI) — A new farm labor bill which its drafters say is constitutional and offers a workable procedure for settling disputes between farm workers and their employers, was unveiled by Gov. Tom McCall Wednesday.

It culminated nearly three months of work by a three-man panel headed by former Oregon Supreme Court Justice Gordon Sloan.

State Agriculture Director Irvin Mann said the measure probably will be hailed by farmers and condemned by farm worker organizations.

Said Sloan, "We are confident that this bill provides a workable framework for the organization and representation of agricultural employees; for workable negotiation between the selected representatives of the employees and the employers; for the prompt disposition of disputes and for the enforcement and protection of rights of employees and employers."

McCall appointed the task force shortly after he vetoed a legislative farm labor bill on July 9. At the time he called the bill unconstitutional and unworkable. But he decreed what he said were "Promises of civil disobedience" made by farm worker groups opposing the bill.

Even Cesar Chavez, California farm labor organizer, came to the capitol to threaten a nationwide boycott of all Oregon products "the moment after he signs the bill."

McCall, trying to placate the farmers, promised to call a special session of the legislature to handle the new bill if there was unrest in the farm fields of Oregon. There was no trouble, and the need for quick legislation passed.

Adjustors study loss in Oakley store blaze

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Writer

OAKLEY — Insurance adjustors were studying the loss in the Oakley Drug Store and newspaper office today, after fire of undetermined origin damaged the building heavily early Thursday.

Oakley Fire Chief Orlo Garrard said the fire apparently started in the basement of the drug store, in the vicinity of a newly new oil furnace, as the wood structure around the furnace was heavily charred by the flames. The fire followed a heat duct through a fire wall into the basement of the pharmacy, burning into the prescription room and through the rear of the building.

The fire wall in the basement kept the fire "pretty well contained" to the back of the building, Garrard said, except for the area around the heat duct which allowed the fire to spread.

"The wiring in the basement was all in good shape, so it wasn't the wiring, but we don't know just yet what caused the fire," the chief said.

All prescription records of the drug store, some dating back to 1904, were saved, according to Mrs. Lonnie Stringham, who owns and operates the drug store with her husband.

The alarm was given by Mrs. Jerry Stanger, an employe of the drug store, who was working in the office at the back on the mezzanine. She said she smelled smoke, then saw the smoke coming from the furnace vents leading from the basement.

Firemen said later that the fire apparently started in the basement but the cause was undetermined today.

Mrs. Stanger found the drug store telephone line was inoperative, apparently due to the fire, so she ran next door to the Oakley Tavern, where an employe there called for the fire department.

As Mrs. Stanger re-entered the drug store, she could see flames in the back of the building. She ran to the cash register to remove the firm's money, and met firemen coming in through the back door.

Mrs. Stanger called Mrs. Stringham at a drug store in Paul, and her husband, who was working at the Spudnik Equipment Co. in Burley. Several Oakley residents called the school to check on children of the Stringhams since heavy smoke prevented access to the apartment above the drug store. All were safely in school, except for the youngest who was being cared for by a babysitter.

Garrard said he received the fire call about 9:45 a.m., turned the fire siren on to call the volunteers, then drove a block to the drug store. Eight volunteer firemen remained at the scene until 11 a.m., when the fire was believed controlled, Garrard said.

Firemen had to break down the back door of the drug store with axes when they found it locked. They also broke windows on the building's mezzanine to bring fire hoses inside, Garrard said.

Mrs. Denver Altom, an employe of the post office, said she closed the doors and helped area residents move equipment outside. Other items of value were locked in the fireproof safe and were not damaged, Mrs. Altom said.

The post office was reopened for business about 11 a.m., with all doors and windows left open to allow smoke to clear out.

An inspection of the building following the fire indicated the drug store would be a total loss, Mrs. Stringham said. The ceiling was heavily damaged, windows were blacked by smoke and extreme heat and all interior furnishings were destroyed.

Offices of the Oakley newspaper, in the back of the drugstore, were also damaged. "All of the newspaper equipment looks like it just melted," Mrs. Stringham said. "My newspaper records also appear to have been burned."

Back issues of the Oakley Herald were water-soaked, and some of the edges were charred by the heat.

The Stringhams will continue to live in their apartment, which was not damaged by the fire, but was well smoked, Mrs. Stringham said.

Andrus declines invite

JEROME — John Hough, press secretary for Gov. Cecil Andrus, told the Times-News today that Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has declined to accept the invitation to the ground-breaking ceremony for the new Tupperware plant to be held Oct. 13 at 10 a.m.

The governor, however, expressed regrets that commitments already made for that day would prevent his attendance. However, Gov. Andrus said in the telegram, he would be honored to attend dedication ceremonies upon completion of construction of the plant.

John R. Ainsley, president of Tupperware International, Robert A. Bussiere, Jerome plant manager, and James G. Hagen, vice president of International relations for the firm, will be at the ceremonies Oct. 13. A special invitation has been sent to Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, and to other Idaho congressional delegates but at press time today, no commitment had been received from the Congressional delegation.

The ground breaking ceremonies, which will be under direction of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, are open to the public. A coffee hour at Wood Cafe and a no-host luncheon will follow.

Snow gauge set Baldy peak due

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus announced Thursday he will provide $1,000 from the governor's emergency fund to establish an isotopic snow gauge at Mt. Baldy above Sun Valley.

Andrus said the snow gauge would provide valuable data in the prevention of emergencies on several of Idaho's rivers, particularly the Wood River, as well as the multiple purpose operations affecting wildlife, irrigation and power.

He said it is the consensus among numerous technicians who have participated in the development of the project that the gauge will be a significant water management tool of the future.

The request for emergency fund assistance was made by the U. S. Agriculture Department, Soil Conservation Service.

Burley leaders confer on Halloween problems

BURLEY — A group of city and police officials as well as businessmen and leaders of the education community met Wednesday in a two and one-half hour session to seek solutions to the Halloween ills which have plagued Burley in recent years.

Among those attending were Mayor Garis Robertson, City Councilman Rex Stanley, Grant Willmore, chamber of commerce president, Thomas Gruwell, high school principal, and Kenneth Barry, chief of police.

The meeting was a forum for exchange of ideas, Barry said, and another meeting will be held Wednesday in the chamber of commerce office.

Halloween eve problems were the topic of an hour-long conference involving Barry and the city council at the Sept. 20 meeting. At that time the police chief presented tentative plans he had formulated to counter Halloween trouble he said could be anticipated.

Some of the councilmen criticized Barry at the time for placing too much emphasis on

"I am familiar with the problem of the city from the lower echelons," said Hilling, who has done contracting work with the city for several years.

Newman, seeking his third term in office, called for economy in government spending.

"Excessive spending by governments is the principal cause of inflation and unless we get it stopped we face disaster," he said.

Newman said he would vote against any increase in the city property tax rate, until "some of the fat is trimmed" from the city operations.

Teletype link set in Blaine office

HAILEY — A law enforcement teletype that links the Blaine County sheriff's department with 45 Idaho city, county and state police departments has been installed in the Blaine County Court House, according to Sheriff Orville Drexler.

The sheriff's department will be able to both send and receive information about stolen cars, wanted individuals, road conditions and other police business. The system also connects with 36 Montana police departments.

Sheriff Drexler said, "We will have information available to us that we have never had before."

Costs of the new teletype are partially provided by the state under a program to install teletypes in each county sheriff's department.

Meet opens to basin

SUN VALLEY — Four hundred and seventy-six members of the Idaho Hospital Association will meet in the Sun Valley Lodge beginning today.

The meeting will continue through Oct. 6. The Blue Cross board of directors will meet Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon. Meetings have been scheduled throughout the week for hospital specialists.

Included will be separate sessions for physical therapists, pharmacists and administrators.

Bailey returns to basin

HEYBURN (UPI) — A hunter who spent 53 days in Idaho's primitive area last winter before hiking through the snows to safety plans to return to the same area this weekend for the opening of deer hunting season.

Bob Bailey said, however, he plans to take the right road this year.

Bailey and his hunting partner, Joe Conquest, Jerome, left home last Nov. 28 to try for deer in Copper Basin. Their vehicle stalled and they were stranded by a blizzard.

The day after Christmas Bailey began to walk out of the backwoods but it took him 25 days to reach the Devil's Bedstead guest ranch and safety.

Conquest remained behind with his feet frozen. Before Bailey returned, he died of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Bailey returned to the area this summer to fish, adding, "I guess I know my way around there pretty well."

Postponed

SHOSHONE — Dr. William A. Turska, Shoshone naturopath, has received a grant of postponement of his trial on a charge of assault and battery.

The trial was to have been Tuesday in Magistrate's Court before C. M. Wilson, but was postponed to an indefinite date upon arrangements made with the court by Turska's attorney, Golden Bennett, Twin Falls.

Turska was arrested by Sheriff Thomas W. Connor in September upon a complaint of battery charged from the alleged beating of his wife.

He is also free under a $2,000 bond on a charge of having illegal possession of a controlled substance. He posted a $250 bond on the battery charge.

Bids sought

BOISE — The Idaho Highway Department will open bids Oct. 26 for a project in Blaine County, officials said today.

The work includes construction of a bridge, plus grading and drainage for roadway approaches over the Big Wood River.

Man hurt in mishap

SHOSHONE — A half-ton pickup truck was demolished when it left the highway and rolled over twice 13 miles east of Shoshone on U. S. Highway 20-26, Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson said Thursday.

The pickup was driven by David Scott Colliers, and owned by Darwin J. Colliers, Hagerman, Route 1.

Young Colliers said he fell asleep. The accident happened at 1 a.m. Thursday, Anderson said.

Darwin J. Colliers was treated for a broken collarbone and cuts and bruises. He was riding in the truck.

Young Colliers was cited for failure to observe the basic rule.

BLAINE COUNTY SHERIFF Orville Drexler stands beside the new teletype that will keep the county posted on police business. Drexler said the system will save on long distance telephone calls and also record information broadcast when the department is closed at night.

Air pollution index 44

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate matter per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulators say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms per cubic meter per 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to exceed 360 micrograms per cubic meter for a short period of time.

BURLEY — A state-wide Parent-Teacher Association organization Thursday labeled a "great disappointment" the announcement the Twin Falls Schools will not participate in a partially state funded kindergarten program.

State education officials said last weekend the funds originally earmarked for the salaries of kindergarten teachers in Twin Falls, have been reassigned because press reports indicated the district had declined funds.

Robert Mavity, chairman of the newly organized Voters for Five Year Olds, said Thursday the Twin Falls decision was upsetting, coming "at a time when most school budgets are at starvation levels."

"Partial funding support is not the ideal," Mavity said, but he called on trustees and school administrators to work toward some compromise solution.

The newly designed program, Brian Lamb said at the luncheon meeting, would allow high school students to visit the Idaho State University campus for a three-day weekend, so "they could experience all the rights and responsibilities of college life."

The first such visit is set for Oct. 25. Groups from across the state will be invited to a week end at various times of the year, Lamb said, and would spend their stay in dormitory rooms and attend normal university functions.

"In addition, Lamb said, plans are under way to arrange for lectures by student leaders in state high schools. Tentative ideas call for a slide show with question periods to follow.

The efforts will be supplemented by an expected state-wide advertising campaign aimed at making the programs known throughout the high school communities.

"The high school student should have some idea of what college is like before deciding if he wants to apply," he said.

Lamb, 1968 graduate of Buhl High School, replaced current association president Jerry Robinson in speaking before the group. Robinson is attending the students' conference in Washington, D. C.

The council approved the installation of the asbestos pipes with the stipulation the contractor reimburse the city's general fund for the total cost difference of $4,000. The amount is to be credited to the water department.

Reed, Dr. McNees claim wins in pro-am for open

Twin Falls amateurs Dick Reed and Dr. John McNees posted individual bests Thursday to claim victories in a pro-am tournament at the Twin Falls municipal golf course.

Ali expected to meet Buster Mathis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former champion Muhammad Ali is scheduled to sign Friday to meet Buster Mathis, the heavyweight who has not fought since March 1969, in a 15-round fight at Houston on Nov. 17.

The bout will be announced at the American Hotel in an 11 a.m. news conference by the promoter, Top Rank, Inc., with both fighters attending.

Mathis' last fight was a loss against Jerry Quarry, dropping his record to 29 victories in 31 bouts. His other loss was against Joe Frazier, an 11th round technical knockout in 1968.

The 27-year-old, 6-foot-11-inch heavyweight has victories over only one well known opponent, George Chuvaub.

That set the stage for the Idaho Open, which began Friday morning at the Twin Falls municipal golf course.

The 29-year-old Ali will be having his second comeback bout since losing to Frazier in a heavyweight title bout. In his last bout, Ali ran his record to 32-1 with a TKO victory over Jimmy Ellis in Houston.

The bout with Mathis appeared to cancel plans for a fight in Tokyo between Ali and Mac Foster on Nov. 29. The promoter for the Tokyo fight had run into problems raising the guarantees for the fighters and getting permission from the Japanese Boxing Federation to permit a bout that does not involve a Japanese fighter, a violation of the Federation's rules.

Top rank hopes to put on another fight between two ranking boxers on the Ali-Mathis show.

Reed shot a three-under par 65—two strokes less than he's ever done—to win the gross division while Dr. McNees scored his decision in the net division with a 61. "I've never had a par round on this course and I still haven't," smiles Dr. McNees. He fired a one-under par 33 and wound up with a gross score of 71, also his best.

In the best ball division, Bob Bonsignore, Salt Lake City, and amateurs Woody Kerbel, Pocatello, and Speck Leizer, Twin Falls, were second with 56. Tied at 57 were the teams of pro Mike Renshaw, Pocatello, and pro Betty, Wayne Peterson and C. Poltier, Arnold Hancke and Dr. McNees and D. Nall shared fifth with pro Gale Parcell and amateurs G. D. Anderson, Burley, and David.

At the conclusion of Thursday's pro-am, most of the talk of favorites in the open, Friday through Sunday, centered around Bob Betley of Las Vegas. He turned in a 62 during a practice round Wednesday and beat the rain and wet for a 65 Thursday.

Hopes for a homegrown champion appeared to ride highest on the shoulders of Kinsey who has been playing well over the past couple of months.

Dr. McNees had a two-shot lead over Porter Ingram, Twin Falls, and Meyers while Ora Wildman and Joe Tomes, Great Falls, shared fourth net at 64. Dick Payne, Salt Lake, Ken Sparks, Nampa, and Bob Betley, Nampa, fired 65 to second Kinsey in the pro sweeps while John Peterson, Caldwell, and Craig Ridd, Salt Lake City, shared fifth with 66.

Browns' defense faces toughest test of year against Oakland Monday night

UPI Sports Writer

The surprising Cleveland Browns, whose 2-0 record includes a 31-0 shellacking of the Houston Oilers at home and a 14-13 win over the World Championship Baltimore Colts on the road, will put their revitalized defense to perhaps its toughest test yet Monday night when they entertain the Oakland Raiders in a game televised nationally (ABC).

After a sub-par pre-season performance, the Browns, who slumped to 7-7 last season, were not expected to be especially strong in 1971. Now, however, the experts are hesitant to predict whether or not the Browns are for real. Oakland, with an offense led by quarterback Daryle Lamonica and running back Marv Hubbard, hopes to provide a negative answer.

In games scheduled for Sunday, Washington is at Dallas, Atlanta at Detroit, Baltimore at New England, Chicago at Los Angeles, Buffalo at Minnesota, San Diego at Pittsburgh and New Orleans at Houston.

Also the New York Jets are at Miami, San Francisco at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at Green Bay, Kansas City at Denver and the New York Giants at St. Louis.

One of the more pleasant additions to the Browns' defense has been cornerback Clarence Scott, the club's No. 1 draft pick from Kansas State. Scott, who beat out veteran Erich Barnes in pre-season play, has intercepted three passes in the first two games.

"Scott has lived up to all the ratings of our scouting system," new Browns' coach Nick Skorich says. "Besides the speed, he has great quickness and fine reactions."

It would appear the Cleveland defense, which has yet to surrender a touchdown, has finally jelled. The front four of Joe Jones, Jerry Sherk, Jack Gregory and Walter Johnson, with a year's experience together, has led the defensive unit in contributing 14 turnovers thus far.

On offense, Jimmy Knead Bill Nelson is back at quarterback after last year's No. 1 draft pick, Mike Phipps, again failed to fill the bill in pre-season play. Nelson has hit on 62.6 percent of his passes for 415 yards and one touchdown.

Complementing Nelson are running backs Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott—both off to impressive starts. Kelly has 116 yards and four touchdowns to his credit while Scott has 121 yards on 30 attempts for a 4.0 average.

The Raiders (1-1), who have rushed for over 200 yards in both games, can be expected to mount an explosive offensive attack.

Lamonica has 20 completions in 40 attempts for 267 yards and two touchdowns with one yielding an interception. Hubbard, Pete Bjugasak and rookie Clarence Davis are all running neck and neck in rushing.

Bjugasak leads the trio with 118 yards while Hubbard has 117 and Davis 114.

Another team causing surprise among the experts thus far, the Washington Redskins, will provide some answers Sunday when they journey to Dallas for a matchup of NFC Eastern Division unbeaten.

Giants nab title behind Mays, Kingman, Marichal

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Willie Mays, the old pro, and rookie star Dave Kingman struck the key blows and Juan Marichal stopped San Diego on five hits Thursday night as the San Francisco Giants won the National League West title with a 5-1 victory over the Padres.

40-year-old star, drove in a run with a 420-foot double to center and stole two bases on the same play. Kingman, called up from the minors July 30, hit a two-run homer for all the runs Marichal needed to hold down N.L. West flag. It was the Giants first title since 1962.

San Francisco mayor leads cheers in Giants' clubhouse

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—"On to Pittsburgh," San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said while dodging champagne spray Thursday night after the Giants won the National League West pennant.

"We'll take them and then take on either Baltimore or Oakland. That's it, Oakland."

Fans cause forfeit in last Solon game

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Senators lost their final game in the nation's capital by a forfeit Thursday night when fans streamed onto the field with one out to go in the top of the ninth and the New York Yankees were given a 9-0 victory.

Centerfielder Willie Mays, who broke Ty Cobb's record for a 40-year-old base stealer by pilfering 23 sacks this season, slumped in a chair away from the furor and sighed: "I'm tired."

The umpires announced over the public address system that the game would be forfeited if the Washington club, responsible for order on the field, could not restore order. After a wait of five minutes, there were so many fans on the field that it was obvious order could not be restored.

Manager Charlie Fox was soaked with champagne and couldn't find his glasses but managed an unusual comment: "I haven't felt like this since I was in the Navy in World War II and was returning from a second run to Murmansk and I saw the Statue of Liberty."

Eleven records in the game, including Frank Howard's 26th homer of the season and homers by Rusty Torres, Bobby Murcer and Roy White will stand, although the official score of the game will be New York 9 and Washington 0.

Winning pitcher Juan Marichal commented, "The victory shows the Giants aren't a second-place team."

The end leading to major league baseball in Washington came after a cheering, singing crowd of 18,000, applauding every hit, pop-up and foul, filled the field with confetti in cheering on the Senators.

Manager Charlie Fox was soaked with champagne and couldn't find his glasses but managed an unusual comment: "I haven't felt like this since I was in the Navy in World War II and was returning from a second run to Murmansk and I saw the Statue of Liberty."

There were 14,400 paid and 4,000 gate crashers, according to a spokesman for the Senators. The crowd noise at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium rattled the Yankees into making five errors, including two in the key eighth inning when the Senators scored two runs to break a 5-5 tie.

Eastern Michigan brings top halfback into battle at ISU

POCATELLO — Larry Ratcliff will be in Pocatello Saturday night and all are advised to come to the Mindome and watch him perform. Mr. Ratcliff just may be the best collegiate running back in the United States and his Eastern Michigan team just may be the best College Division football team in the country.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Neither threatening rain from hurricane Ginger nor the arrival of the Oakland Athletics dampened the spirits of the Baltimore Orioles as they went through an intra-squad game here Thursday.

Idaho sees Montana as best loop team

MOSCOW — "We are facing the toughest team in the Big Sky Conference," Don Robbins, Idaho head football coach said today.

While the A's were flying here for Saturday's American League playoff opener with Baltimore, a team with Brooks and Frank Robinson defeated a squad that included Merv Rettenmund and Paul Blair. Jim Palmer hit a home run and pitched well in a game without baserunning and featuring pitchers playing to give.

Pirates trim team to limit

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates dropped second baseman Renie Stennett from their eligible roster for the National League playoffs Thursday to get their squad to the 25-man limit.

In the dugout, the players were very loose, joking and occasionally yelling, "Palmer's throwing a splitter." There was almost no mention of the Athletics. Dugout chatter centered on the National League western division race and Oriole injuries.

Cuba 5, Expos 3

MONTREAL (UPI)—Jim Hickman drove in two runs and Ferguson Jenkins registered his 24th victory of the season, the most in the National League Thursday night as the Chicago Cubs closed out the season with a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Outfielder Don Buford was at a local hospital having fluid drained from his swollen left knee that was injured Tuesday night sliding into third against the Boston Red Sox.

Mets 6, Cards 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ken Singleton drove in the first four runs with a pair of homers to hand Tom Seaver his 20th victory Thursday night as the New York Mets routed the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-1.

Blue must shake second-half doldrums to beat Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Vida Blue has a leg up on two awards—MVP and Cy Young. He's going after a third one now.

Orioles' one run in 18 innings by this season and I see no reason he can't pitch the same way now.

Comback of the Year. Blue, the precocious 22-year-old left-hander for the Oakland A's who goes against Baltimore southpaw Dave McNally here Saturday in the opener of the American League's best-of-five divisional playoffs, hasn't been anywhere near the pitcher the last half of this season he was the first half.

In any three-of-five series such as this one, the first game always is tremendously important and Williams says it will be more so now.

Horseshoes Take Skill

Hand analysis table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH (D), and a grid for card suits (Spades, Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs).

By Oswald & James Jacoby. We aren't concerned with the merits of today's bidding, but the final contract of six diamonds looks fairly reasonable at first glance.

South rose with dummy's ace of clubs and led a low diamond to his ace. There was no reason to take a first round finesse. West showed out of diamonds and South paused.

"Horseshoes!" yelled East. "You played for a 5-1 club break and gave up the chance to get a quick discard on a good heart."

"South had done nothing of the kind. Instead he had made an excellent play and had been properly rewarded."

East was marked with six spades for his vulnerable jump-overcall. He had also shown up with four diamonds and one club. There was no way he could also hold three hearts, so there was no way to make the hand by an immediate attack in the heart suit.

It materialized.

Site of conference World Mormon leaders gather at Salt Lake City for confab

SALT LAKE CITY—Thousands of Mormon leaders from throughout the world are gathering in Salt Lake City today for the 141st semi-annual World Conference of The LDS Church. The convalescence runs through Sunday.

Joseph Fielding Smith, 85, president of the three-million member church, will preside over all of the conference sessions, which will be held in the famous Mormon Tabernacle on Temple Square. President Smith is a grandnephew of Joseph Smith, the man who organized the church in western New York April 6, 1830. He and 39 other men in the leading councils of the church will be the speakers at the conference's six general sessions and also at a session for members of the priesthood. Assisting President Smith in the overall direction of the conference will be his counselors: President Harold B. Lee and President N. Eldon Tanner.

One of the features of the Mormon conference will be the appearance of the world-famous Salt Lake Mormon Tabernacle Choir. The 375-voice ensemble is known widely for its network radio broadcasts, television and concert appearances and recordings. The choir, under the direction of Richard P. Condie, will provide music during the three-day series of meetings, accompanied by the great Tabernacle Organ, one of the most famous musical instruments in the world.

The choir has been heard every Sunday on network radio for the past four decades. It has also performed in concert in various parts of the U. S., in Europe and Mexico and at the inaugurations of Presidents Nixon and Johnson. Its repertoire includes more than 1,000 songs ranging from classical to contemporary, both religious and secular.

The speakers at the conference are expected to place considerable emphasis on the teachings and commandments of Jesus Christ, with reminders that these teachings have not become outmoded in our day despite the claims of anti-Christ forces in the world.

The church believes in the literal divinity of Jesus Christ, his ministry upon the earth and in his resurrection. Indeed, it considers the Savior as the head of the church today.

Not only do the Mormons believe wholeheartedly in the teachings of Jesus Christ as found in the Bible, but they also believe he spent time among the people of ancient America and that these people also recorded his teachings. This record of the Savior is contained in a volume of scripture known as the Book of Mormon and used in the church as a companion volume to the Bible.

Among the many matters of great significance to be treated by conference speakers will be that of the family and how to strengthen family unity.

While prophets of doom are foretelling the demise of the family, and certain elements of society are actually encouraging said demise, the Mormons have taken steps to solidify traditional family relationships which they feel provide the bulwark of any society's strength.

The church has long emphasized family solidarity, but with the seeming deterioration of principles which tend to bind the family unit, the call has gone out to church members everywhere to sandbag their previous efforts lest they, too, fall victim to the tide unleashed by the anti-family force.

Fete may be held in park

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ceremonies marking the 100th birthday of Yellowstone National Park may be held at the park after all, according to Congressman John Melcher, D-Mont.

The celebration was scheduled to take place in nearby Grand Teton National Park, south of Yellowstone.

Melcher, a member of the National Parks Centennial Commission, protested plans to hold the event outside the park soon after he was named to the commission.

Melcher said that a meeting in Washington, D.C., of the commission, other members of the commission joined with him to protest the site selection for the festivities marking 100 years of the national park system.

Yellowstone was the first national park.

Yellowstone Park Superintendent Jack Anderson has said the park's facilities can't handle the crowds expected for the centennial celebrations.

Highest to be reliably recorded loomed 550 feet above the water, yet seven-eighths of it was below the surface.

Cleric gets master's degree

JEROME—The Rev. John N. Garrabrاندt, minister of the Jerome United Methodist Church, has been awarded the Master of Divinity Degree in theology by Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa.

Rev. Garrabrاندt is a graduate magna cum laude of De Pauw University, Green Castle, Ind., where he majored in political science. He holds a Master of Sacred Theology degree in Philosophy from Temple University, Philadelphia, and has completed his doctoral residents in church history at the same school.

While serving in Jerome Rev. Garrabrاندt has served as a director of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Jerome Housing Authority, chairman of the CIVIC CLUB Memorial Library committee and president of the Jerome Ministerial Assn.

He is presently chairman of the board of trustees of the College of Southern Idaho and is chairman of the committee on nominations and membership for the newly established St. Benedict's Hospital Foundation.

Methodists set Jerome events

JEROME—Rev. John N. Garrabrاندt, minister of the Jerome United Methodist Church, announces special events of October for the Methodist Church.

Today has been designated a day of self denial. Members and friends of the church are asked to deny themselves one meal on that day, and to contribute the money saved to the communion offering which will be sent to Meals for Millions, a non-profit organization which provides low cost high protein food for the hungry in the United States and foreign countries.

Sunday Oct. 3 at 11:00 a.m. the sacrament of holy communion will be observed. The service is obligatory for all members. The minister will give a brief communion meditation on the Christian Grace of Love.

Laymen's Sunday will be observed Oct. 10, at 11:00 a.m. with members of the laity to lead the worship.

Superintendent of Schools John Campbell will speak on promoting the cause of Christ in the community and Mrs. Orville Dean will speak on promoting the cause of Christ in the world.

Rev. Garrabrاندt said the public is invited to attend these services and urged parents to bring their children to Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Sunday. Students from 8 to adults are given Bible-centered instruction in graded classes: Mrs. Roger White is superintendent.

Rev. Garrabrاندt conducts a weekly bible class for members, friends and others each Tuesday at 8 p.m. in his study located at East Avenue B and Buchanan St. Presently, the class is engaged in a survey of the New Testament.

Edward Whimper, an English wood engraver, was the first man to find a route up the Alps' Matterhorn, in 1865.

Jehovah's Witnesses open meet at Meridian

TWIN FALLS—Vernon Shaw, presiding minister of the Twin Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, and J. D. Shaw, assistant minister, have been appointed by circuit supervisor C. S. Kalaj to the program and staff of the group's semi-annual convention in Meridian today through Sunday.

Shaw was put in charge of all food service requirements for the expected 1,000 delegates. Kalaj said a cafeteria is provided for the convenience of those attending.

Shaw will also meet with H. C. Flood of the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. They and other presiding ministers of the 16 congregations meeting in Meridian will review the evangelical ministry of Jehovah's Witnesses and plan their activity for the next six months.

J. D. Shaw was selected by Kalaj to speak today. The program theme will be "Preach Without Hindrance." Kalaj said Shaw will encourage the delegates to consider carefully the way they use their time so that they may carry God's word to everyone.

Seminary Tyler St. Baptist officers church slates talk named

SHOSHONE—New officers have been named for the Shoshone LDS Church Seminary, Mrs. Ferry Hadlock, teacher, said today.

The officers are Allan Stowell, president; Kelvin Rands and Connie Peterson, counselors; Brenda Scott, secretary; Chris Harris, treasurer, and Rhonda Blackburn, historian.

The seminary classes are held at the church from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. each school day. Text this year is 'The Old Testament.'

TWIN FALLS—Ivan King, who will soon move to Borneo as a missionary, will describe his work in Indonesia at the Tyler Street Baptist Church during both services Sunday.

The Rev. Kenneth Himple, pastor, said King will speak at the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Services.

King will teach in an academy at Sungai Betung, a jungle station in Borneo, largest of the Indonesian islands. The academy is for education of children of missionaries serving on that island.

King and his family served as camp missionaries for the junior boys' and girls' camp this past summer at Warm Lake near Cascade.

In Indonesia, King will work with the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society of Wheaton, Ill.

Our world diminishes from natural beauty, to ugly clutter. A painful contrast that raises the question "Why?" In fact, why poverty in a land of plenty?
