Demands burials

WOMAN PLEADS with California Gov. Ronald Reagan to order the burial of her husband who died July 4 and still has not been buried. Mrs. Rachel Kluger of San Francisco is a relative of one of the city's 1,400 unburied dead. She and others met with Reagan to seek an end to the long strike of cemetery workers in the Bay Area. House backs tight belts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's anti-inflation order delaying a 5.5 percent pay raise for 4 million civilians and military federal employees, upheld by the House, faced a new challenge today in the Senate.

The House voted 207 to 174 Monday to reject a resolution that would have vetoed Nixon's order to delay for six months a $2.6 billion pay increase scheduled Jan. 1.

Nixon, who took the step as part of his campaign to stop inflation, hailed the House action as "a courageous stand which deserves the applause of all Americans."

"This deferral is a vital part of the new economic program which I have recently proposed, and (the) vote demonstrates a gratifying and cooperative atti-

Lucky no. 126

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Selective Service System said today draft lottery No. 125 would be the ceiling for draft calls the remainder of this year.

That means young men who got a number above 125 in the 1970 lottery are safe from the draft.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr said all men with a lottery number of 125 or less, with a 1A classification, must go through the induction process.

Thieu's vote tally now 94%

SAIGON (UPI)—The government issued updated elections figures today which said President Nguyen Van Thieu won his one-man election by an even larger percentage than originally announced—94.3 per cent instead of the 91.5 per cent reported Monday.

The election brought quick reaction from North Vietnam. Hanoi radio said Thieu's reelection against no opposition, had made the United States the laughing stock of the world and kept "an incapable henchman in power."

There also were troubles in Saigon. Representatives of an "antidictatorship" group backed by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky announced plans to file a taxpayer's suit with the nine-man supreme court asking that the returns be invalidated.

Reagan asked to bury dead

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Mourning relatives protesting a cemetery strike that has left 1,400 bodies unburied in the San Francisco area asked Gov. Ronald Reagan Monday to call out the National Guard to bury their dead.

Led by a white hearse, 250 persons drove from San Francisco in a motorcade and met Reagan on the west steps of the California Capitol.

Many were weeping as they asked the governor to call out the guard.

Reagan stopped short of promising that step, but said he has asked both sides to submit to binding arbitration in the 124-day-old strike and would take further steps if they did not reply within "one or two days."

In San Francisco, Mayor Joseph Alioto called both sides together in the strike and said he was prepared to meet with

Dock shutdown draws big stick

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, who tried and failed to settle the three-month-old West Coast dock strike by personal diplomacy, reluctantly has turned to the Taft-Hartley Act.

Nixon Monday night took the first step in a chain of actions that could lead to a court-ordered 80-day return to work by 15,000 striking West Coast longshoremen and possibly by 45,000 other dock workers in East and Gulf Coast ports.

He invoked the Taft-Hartley Act for the first time in his administration when he signed a formal order at the White House shortly after returning to Washington from a four-day weekend at Key Biscayne, Fla., and Grand Cay in the Bahamas. The order created a five-member board of inquiry that will report back to him on or before Wednesday on the status of negotiations in the dock strikes.

Nixon will decide whether to seek a federal court order halting the walkouts after he receives the board's report and the administration makes an assessment of the strikes' economic impact.

Elsewhere, a strike by 80,000 soft coal miners entered its fifth day.

Talks between the United Mine Workers Union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association were to resume today in Washington following

Prisoners subdued in jail fight

DALLAS (UPI)—Three hundred prisoners in Dallas County Jail smashed windows with broken pieces of cast iron toilets Monday night and threw flaming mattresses from the 11th and 12th floors of the County Courthouse onto one of the city's busiest intersections.

"We don't want no more damn talk," one prisoner yelled. "This time we fight."

The jail was brought under control after hand-to-hand combat between deputies and inmates.

The fight started on the 11th floor at 6:30 p.m. when prisoners armed themselves with homemade knives and pieces of cast iron broken from the toilets. They began banging on the steel walls. Prisoners on the 12th floor, who almost rioted 10 days ago, joined the 11th floor inmates.

Ten days ago, 12th floor prisoners set fire to mattresses but then handed over homemade "weapons" to Sheriff

13 remain in T.F. campaign

TWIN FALLS — Two nominating petitions were filed in Twin Falls Monday afternoon, bringing to 13 the field of candidates for the four positions to be voted on in the Nov. 2 municipal election.

City Clerk Edythe Koontz said the two petitions are those of R. Dee Jenkins, manager of Maple Valley Pharmacy, and J. Clifton Smallwood, General Building Supply manager.

She said names on the petitions have not yet been checked against registration lists to determine if they have the necessary 40 qualified voter signatures.

Earlier in the day, Mike Thompson, 18, CSI student, qualified when he brought one final signer in to register.

Others in the race whose petitions have been verified are Winston Jones, lone incumbent and his running mates, Michael P. Gray, Stephen Bancroft and Stephen Lincoln; Raymond Crandal and Lynn Goodman, running as a team, and Ann Cover, Rex Ulrich, Stephen Carter and Dave Killen.

George Hansen said candidate

By O.A. (GUS) KELKER, Times-News Editor

TWIN FALLS — George V. Hansen, former Idaho Congressman who served two terms in the House as representative from the Second District, will run for the Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Senator Len Jordan, the Times-News learned today.

An unimpeachable source close to Hansen said this morning in a telephone conversation from Washington, D. C. that "Mr. Hansen has definitely decided he will make the Senate race and the only thing that is undecided is the timing of the formal announcement."

A check by the Times-News today showed several individuals in Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassin counties are actively backing Hansen at the present time and that supporters are being contacted. The Washington source confirmed these findings and said "steps are underway in all counties of Idaho to line up backers."

Hansen was elected on the Republican ticket in 1964 to the 80th Congress. He won against the tide of a Presidential land-

China jaunt set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, will visit Peking later this month to make arrangements for the President's planned trip to Red China, the White House announced today.

Kissinger told reporters at the White House that while he is in Peking, he and Chinese representatives "will zero in on a date" for Nixon's visit.

Kissinger said he would be accompanied by two members of his staff, a State Department official and members of a White House advance party.

Kissinger said the United States was in direct contact with Peking despite the absence of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Kissinger was asked repeatedly if reports of internal political struggles in China would affect either his visit or the Nixon trip.

Kissinger replied that there was no evidence the Chinese had changed their minds about the Nixon visit.

Kissinger made a secret visit to Peking last July 9 and held talks with Chinese leaders, including Premier Chou En-lai.

Board delays kindergarten choice

BY RICHARD G. HIGH, Times-News Managing Editor

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school trustees Monday night postponed for two weeks a decision on whether to set up a public kindergarten program.

The delay, approved unanimously, was ordered to permit time to conduct a survey of parents of both kindergarten-age children and all pupils now enrolled in school.

Acting on a motion by Trustee Ruth Day, the board instructed Superintendent George Staudaher to ask state department of education officials to determine if federal funds earmarked to pay salaries of four kindergarten teachers for the Twin Falls system could be held until the school board comes to a decision.

It was agreed by the trustees that in the event the teacher slots could not be held open the survey would be cancelled. The trustees did not say whether such an event would cause them to turn down the offer of the teacher's salaries.

A common theme appeared in the school trustees' discussion of the issue: The district has no money available to spend on the program without cutbacks in other school programs.

High School principal John Lawrence told the trustees that the high school was "right on the line" in its accreditation.

He said any cuts in staff or program there would cause the high school to lose accreditation.

Each trustee expressed support of a kindergarten program, but only if the addition would not undercut existing programs.

The board's surprise decision to keep the question open during the survey period followed a strong appeal by a Twin Falls

League of Women Voters representative.

Suzanne Pack, a certified kindergarten teacher who is chairman of the League's education committee, urged the board to consider the possibility of cutting program costs by using volunteer teacher aides.

She said the recent school survey sponsored by Staudaher and the League indicated strong support for kindergartens and revealed a large number of parents willing to serve as volunteers in such a program.

She said the survey — which reached only a fraction of five-year old children's parents — showed 42 per cent of the respondents willing to undertake volunteer work. She said a total of 666 hours of volunteer time per month was offered by the small sample.

Demos try to shed suicidal complex Seen...

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some top Democrats are concerned over lingering traces of a "suicidal complex" within the party.

Among them is Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien—even though he believes the party has accomplished a 90 per cent cure of its 1968 fascination with self-inflicted injury that left the organization in shambles and the White House lost.

O'Brien is convinced that a potentially harmful residue of that 1968 paranoic persists and that if Democrats lose the presidential election next year, they will have themselves to blame.

One year and one month before the 1972 presidential election, O'Brien displays quiet confidence in the outlook for Democrats, but only a slight boost in the President's own standings.

O'Brien has several important recommendations for the party. He warns that the Democrats must have good faith at all levels in adopting more open, equitable procedures for the selection of delegates to the national convention and the operation of the convention itself. Many Democrats fear that any small of smoke-filled rooms would be fatal to the presidential candidate's chances.

O'Brien is prodding the party to adopt clear alternatives to White House programs and is convinced that a successful campaign strategy cannot be built solely on criticism of the President.

He expected the credibility of President Nixon also to be high on the Democratic list, with stress on the President's reversals of previous positions on handling the economy and on relations with Mainland China. The Vietnam War will be an issue but not among the top ones, in O'Brien's view.

O'Brien does not believe that Nixon has been able to blunt the economic issue—high unemployment, high prices and the like—by his adoption of a wage-price freeze. O'Brien cites public opinion polls showing overwhelming support of the freeze, first proposed by

Misunderstandings resulted in false rumors about Attica

NEW YORK (UPI)—The four-day rebellion at Attica State Prison was sparked by a misunderstanding by a prison guard who thought inmates were scuffling instead of playing a game of touch football, according to The New York Times.

In a 10,000 word chronology of the prison uprising, the Times said in its Monday edition it sought to clarify a series of misunderstandings that resulted in erroneous rumors, such as a report that guard William Quinn was thrown from a second story window and that hostages had their throats slashed by inmates.

Another report, published by the Daily News in Monday editions, also shed light on the controversy over certain details of the uprising and the subsequent retaking of the prison which resulted in the deaths of 32 persons.

The Daily News reported that State Police Capt. Henry F. Williams, who was in charge of the assault on Attica on Monday, Sept. 13, gave the following order over his walkie-talkie: "Move in. Move in. The drop (of tear gas canisters) has been made."

The News said that available evidence gives no indication the troopers ever were ordered to fire their weapons.

Both newspapers said a series of misunderstandings resulted in erroneous rumors

Bill set to break Soviet Premier visits Algeria fee hike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration is preparing legislation to break increases in doctors' fees, hospital charges and other medical costs as part of the Phase II economic program.

Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare said Sunday an amendment to the administration's health proposals was being drafted, but he refused to reveal its contents.

Work on the amendment started before the economic freeze was announced Aug. 15, Richardson said, but it has been altered to be more far-reaching.

"It is fair to say these would have been considerably more limited than what may be proposed as a follow-up to the freeze," he said.

Richardson was interviewed on NBC-TV's Meet the Press.

In Sun Valley, Robert O. Beatty, assistant secretary for public affairs, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, attending the Idaho Hospital Association convention, commended the proposed move.

In an interview between conference sessions, Beatty said the legislation "is in keeping with the general effort to put the lid on inflation. Obviously the rising cost of health care is one of the most pressing problems facing our country."

ALGIERS (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew in from Moscow Monday on a four-day visit that sources said was intended to patch up Middle East policy differences between the Soviet Union and Algeria.

Kosygin was met at the airport by President Houari Boumediene and his cabinet.

Although the Soviet government did not announce the visit until a few hours before Kosygin's departure from Moscow and the Algerian government kept details of the agenda secret, the city of Algiers gave the Soviet official a colorful welcome.

The visit was announced in newspaper headlines and civil servants and school children in Algiers were given the afternoon off to welcome the Soviet premier at the airport.

After the visit to Algeria, Kosygin goes west to Morocco. His host, King Hassan II survived a bloody coup attempt last summer when his palace was raked with gunfire.

Diplomatic sources said Kosy-gn, Moscow's No. 1 foreign policy salesman, went to Algeria in line with a Kremlin diplomatic offensive, to counter Communist Chinese influence.

President Nikolai V. Podgorny is currently conducting talks with North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi. Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who recently returned from visits to Yugoslavia, Hungary and Bulgaria, leaves for France Oct. 25.

Moscow has suffered serious setbacks in the militant Arab capitals of the Middle East and Northern Africa where several countries led by Sudan, have cracked down on pro-Soviet leftist elements.

Boumediene's party has banned a Communist party in Algeria. But Moscow has tried to have good relations with Algerian nationalists since the 1954-62 independence war against France.

The Soviets have become Algeria's second largest trading partner, after France. Podgorny visited Algeria in 1969.

U.S. holds off on request for planes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has informed Foreign Minister Abba Eban that the Nixon administration still is holding off on the Israeli request for more advanced fighter planes, U.S. officials said today.

The officials reported that Eban renewed the Israeli request, considered vital to Israel's security, during an hour-long meeting Monday with Rogers.

Israel is understood to be seeking a regular "pipeline" of F4 Phantom fighter-bombers, and possibly more Skyhawk aircraft, to safeguard its security. Diplomatic sources reported that Israel is thinking in terms of receiving two Phantoms per month.

Both U.S. and Israeli sources reported that Israel, at this stage, is not linking an agreement by the United States to supply the aircraft to an agreement by Israel accepting U.S. proposals on reopening the Suez Canal under the "interim agreement." Rogers is seeking.

Some Israeli diplomats believe that the United States' hand will be forced in the months to come when the presidential election draws near. These diplomats believe that the administration will seek to curry favor with Jewish voters by granting the Israeli request.

U.S. sources disclosed that the Rogers-Eban meeting dealt largely with the six points which Secretary Rogers outlined before the U.N. General Assembly Monday on an "interim settlement" for the Middle East.

Particular stress was laid, in the meeting, on prolonging the Middle East cease-fire for a definite length of time. Rogers also was reported to have stressed that "an interim settlement" should be only a first step towards an overall, negotiated peace settlement in the Middle East.

Podgorny denounced the United States for refusing to accept the Communist proposals at the Paris peace talks and said the Soviet Union gave its complete support to the Viet Cong's program.

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny promised continued military, political and diplomatic aid to North Vietnam in a banquet speech in Hanoi, the Vietnam news agency said Monday.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted Podgorny as saying Sunday night the assistance would continue because the United States was unwilling to restore a "just" peace.

The Soviet president arrived in Hanoi with eight other high-ranking Soviet officials Sunday after visits to India and Burma. A Communist Chinese delegation left Hanoi five days earlier after signing an economic and military aid agreement.

Hearing slated at Driggs

DRIGGS, Idaho (UPI)—Seventh District Judge Willard C. Burton of Roxburg says a hearing will be held on a defense contention of mental illness in the Michael Wren Rempage murder case.

Rempage, 27, Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Joyce Diane Frye, 22, San Diego, also known as Joyce Diane Turner, are charged with murder and attempted murder.

An attorney for Rempage filed a motion asking he be allowed to plead mental illness in any defense he presents on behalf of Rempage.

Meantime, a lawyer representing Mrs. Frye asked that her place of trial be changed and that she be given a separate trial from that of Rempage.

Both suspects have pleaded innocent to the charges against them. They are accused of the gunshot deaths of three Mexican-American farm workers near Driggs Aug. 28 and with wounding a cousin of the boys and town Marshal Melvin Jones

Government must turn over notes

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The government Monday was ordered to turn over to Daniel Ellsberg any notes made on the contents of 31 cartons of his possessions seized from a storage firm here.

U.S. District Court Judge Matthew Byrne Jr. also granted Ellsberg's motion to appoint an impartial party to compile an official inventory of the boxes, which now have been returned to Bekins Moving and Storage Co. in Beverly Hills.

Ellsberg, under indictment for leaking the Pentagon papers, claimed the cartons contained nothing "but some interesting mementoes"—including his high school yearbook, Harvard diploma and his old Marine uniform.

However, his attorneys have filed a motion to suppress the use as evidence of any information the government may have learned through seizure of the boxes.

"We are asking for an inventory to be made of the contents of those boxes, so that if in the future we want to be able to trace tainted evidence to them, we will have a credible list of what was in them," said Charles Nesson, a Harvard law professor representing Ellsberg. Ellsberg was not present.

Trash fire occurs at Shelby's

TWIN FALLS.—Slight damage occurred at the rear of the Shelby Market on Addison Avenue Monday night when paper being prepared for burning in the incinerator caught fire, Fire Chief Bobby K. Bopp reported.

He said the alarm was received at 7:30 p.m. and one room at the back of the store in which the boxes and other material were kept prior to burning, was singled and filled with smoke. Firemen had the fire out within a few minutes, he said.

Revised zoning measure tabled

BY HONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Proposals for a revised Twin Falls zoning ordinance were tabled Monday night by the City Council after members agreed the revised version needed even further modernization.

The question of multiple housing units such as condominium or cluster type buildings on a single lot was presented by the zoning commission with a notation the present and proposed regulations make no provisions for such construction on one lot.

City council members agreed modern building trends such as park or court like plans which provide ideal solutions to housing needs are not provided for and should be considered and possibly incorporated into the revised zoning regulations before action is taken.

Zoning board members presented a revised zoning ordinance some time ago for council consideration.

Council members, after studying the recommendations, voted Monday night to return the ordinance to the zoning board for further possible changes including the cluster building suggestion.

proposed new mobile home court ordinance which council members said might be combined with the court or park housing regulations. Several revisions were suggested in a commercial-central zone along regulation and action was also deferred on the Planning and Zoning Commission's recommendations for now sign regulations.

Fluoridation of the city's water supply was discussed and council members asked for a report on cost of equipment needed to add the fluoride to the water supply.

In 1955, City Manager Jean Milne said, the city entered an agreement with the Department of Health to add fluoride to the system to keep it at the recommended one part per million gallons of water in the domestic supply. At that time the city was using Snake River water which already met the minimum requirement, he said.

Now that wells and water from Alpheus Creek in Snake River Canyon supply the city's water needs—the fluoride content is down to between .28 and .42 part per million, he said.

The health department has asked the city to meet minimum requirements or to drop the 1955 agreement.

Action was also tabled on a minimum space for each animal but any acreage may be used for livestock.

Several councilmen said this results in livestock bedding down at the rear of some of the most expensive homes in the city with little protection for the home owner who then faces odor and fly problems.

Planning and Zoning Commission members will be asked to make recommendations for updating the ordinance, giving consideration to the home owner and the owner of acreages near housing developments.

Livestock ban study

TWIN FALLS — City Council members in Twin Falls decided Monday night the city has reached a point where livestock should be prohibited in many outlying residential districts and will ask the Planning and Zoning Commission to look into the matter.

Councilman John Christofersen said about the only place horses and cows cannot be kept is in the old townsite. Many of the first class residential areas have acreages in or bordering them and these usually become pastures for livestock. Present regulations provide for a minimum space for each animal but any acreage may be used for livestock.

Several councilmen said this results in livestock bedding down at the rear of some of the most expensive homes in the city with little protection for the home owner who then faces odor and fly problems.

Planning and Zoning Commission members will be asked to make recommendations for updating the ordinance, giving consideration to the home owner and the owner of acreages near housing developments.

Indian rights guard proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton Monday announced a series of actions involving Indian water rights, roads, contracts, self-government and legislative programs.

Morton put most emphasis on a plan to protect Indian water rights and conceded that they had not been protected despite the department's clear responsibility for doing so.

"I intend to change that. I intend to do my best to see that Indians get their fair share of water."

cinded after protests by members of Congress and Indian leaders.

Asked whether the transfer had been rescinded, Morton said he did not know.

"Let me ask Mr. Bruce," he said, turning toward the commissioner.

"I think so," Bruce responded hesitantly before other department officials assured him that the transfer had indeed been cancelled.

The secretary announced he was establishing an Indian Water Rights Office and $2 million would be budgeted for its first year of operation.

Personnel for the office has not yet been named, but Morton and Indian Commissioner Louis Bruce said William Veeder, a departmental critic of the handling of Indian water rights, was one of those under consideration.

Veeder, a lawyer, was recently ordered to transfer from Washington to Phoenix, Ariz., apparently as a result of his criticisms of the department's failure to protect Indian water rights. The transfer was rescinded after protests by members of Congress and Indian leaders.

Morton said Veeder would be asked "either to participate in the office or to counsel it."

He also promised an increase in contracts by the Bureau of Indian Affairs to tribes for various services on reservations as a step toward greater self-government.

He said tribes would not be forced "or pushed" into more self-government, but that they would be given the opportunity for taking over "as fast as they want to do it."

The secretary announced work with White House budget officials to get more funds for roads to fill a gap he said had been caused by years of failure to construct roads on reservations.

Juveniles held in mail thefts

TWIN FALLS — Two juveniles, ages 15 and 16, were awaiting court appearances today in connection with a number of burglaries in Twin Falls including the theft of a large quantity of mail from patron boxes in the Post Office, city police said.

Officers said a third youth was questioned and released to his parents.

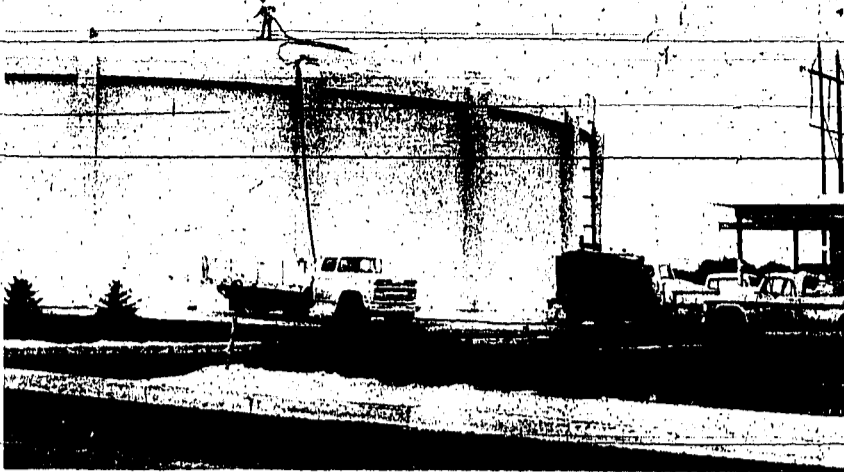

The two others are alleged to have taken mail from customer boxes in the Post Office over a period of several days last month. Some of the mail was found Sept. 18, leading to an extensive investigation by city police and postal inspectors.

Detectives said about $5,500 in checks has been recovered but many more were probably destroyed before they were found. Out of the project, officers said, the juveniles are believed to have gained only about 10 quarters. Investigation indicates no checks were cashed, officers said.

Lloyd Tibert, postmaster, said today the boxes in the post office were apparently opened by the youths because customers at the post office closed their boxes after removing mail, and left the combinations in the final setting of the combination. This does not properly lock the boxes, he said.

Officers said more than 300 pieces of mail were recovered, being found and reported by citizens. Mail was found in the desert north of Twin Falls, in a rest room in the Rogerson Hotel, and in trash cans behind business buildings. Most of the checks were personal checks from residents paying their regular bills to local business firms, officers said.

Clean dome

A PRECARIOUS PERCH indeed is that of a workman for Stuart Brothers Contractors, busy sandblasting the domed roof of the five-million-gallon city water reservoir at Harrison Street and Falls Avenue. The huge structure will be sandblasted to remove all existing paint and dirt, then two coats of acrylic paint will be applied, in a contract with the City of Twin Falls. Weather permitting, the job will be completed this fall, according to City Manager Jean Milne.

Hansen trying Senate

The Hansens maintain a permanent residence in Pocatello but at the present time the family — father, mother and five children — reside near Washington where Hansen is deputy administrator for the agricultural stabilization and conservation service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this position he is responsible for nationwide administration of Federal farm programs through some 3,000 offices in 50 states and Puerto Rico. He also serves as deputy vice-president of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The source said Hansen sees only spotty support for former Gov. Robert E. Smylie and senses negative opinions as to his campaign style. Hansen also sees no strength for Bill Bergeson, Pocatello, who was first to announce, and he also believes that Rep. James McClure, who may announce, will not take a chance in a three-way race.

In a three-way race Hansen believes that McClure and Smylie would divide the Adg county vote with the result that his (Hansen's) strong eastern Idaho support would give him the victory. The source also said Hansen said his defeat by Senator Church was not something to stop his running now and that he entered that race on the Republican ticket because he just couldn't see giving in to Senator Church by default.

Kimberly spud plot digging set

KIMBERLY — Gene Rinebold, potato specialist announced the variety potato plots will be dug starting at 10 a.m. Wednesday, at the Kimberly Experiment station.

The variety plots of potatoes is part of the University of Idaho and USDA co-operative efforts to improve size, quality, disease resistance in the various variety of potatoes, Rinebold reported.

The plot potato diggings will be available for the public to compare their own potato crop with the newer varieties being developed.

Final detail report on the plot will be made this winter as soon as the tubers are graded for color, size, cooking ability and storage.

Kindergarten study set

She estimated that a kindergarten program with three certified teachers would require about 350 hours of volunteer time per month — less than offered in the sample respondents.

"I think if we don't look at the volunteer aspect we miss a great deal of this," she said.

She cited the Boise kindergarten program that is based on volunteer assistance, arguing that the use of volunteer both improves the program and involves parents.

Earlier Staudaher had refused an offer of three slots in a letter to Dr. Roy Truby, special assistant to the Idaho Superintendent of Public Instruction, in charge of allocating the kindergarten teacher slots.

Later, Staudaher had asked Truby to hold the letter, as the Twin Falls trustees would consider the question.

The original three slots had been reallocated to other districts at that time. Later four Twin Falls teacher slots were rejected.

Truby told the Times-News on Monday that of 63 school districts in the state offered teachers under the program, 52 had accepted definitely, with the remaining 11 districts — including Twin Falls — either rejecting the offer or remaining undecided.

At Monday night's meeting, Superintendent Staudaher recommended to the board that the offer of the four teachers be rejected.

He said an adequate program would cost a minimum of $25,000 for room rental, heating and supplies expenses not covered by the federal grants.

He said that the district had no information on the number of children that would be involved in such a program.

He estimated the total number of 5-year-old children in the district to be 550. Of these, he said, about 110 5-year-olds are involved in the Head Start program. He had no estimate of private kindergarten enrollment.

Twin Falls private kindergarten operator Donna Mauldin estimated about 370 children are currently attending private or parochial kindergartens.

Mrs. Mauldin said a survey of four Twin Falls elementary schools showed that about 90 per cent of the entering first graders had had attended kindergarten classes either at private, parochial or Head Start programs.

Staudaher said he had estimated that a half-year program for each child would require six teachers working two class shifts a day.

The trustees voted to create a six-member committee to draft survey questions. The survey, at the Board's request, would be carried in full in the Times-News, in order to reach all district parents.

The committee would include one trustee, two school officials, and three laymen. The board selected Mrs. Day as trustee member, Superintendent Staudaher and an elementary principal of his choice, to represent the schools. Mrs. Pack, Mrs. Mauldin and Marge Slotten, a vice president of the Idaho League of Women Voters, to serve as lay members.

Plans examined

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of the Twin-Falls School District inspected floor plans and photos of the new Valley View School in Boise, recently constructed to serve elementary students in the Boise School District, during Monday night's special board meeting.

Supt.-George Staudaher said the first priority of the school district must be construction of additional school buildings to relieve overcrowded classrooms and make way for future growth of the community.

Valley View School in Boise contains 18 classrooms on a unique plan designed to provide the maximum use of all facilities and to enhance learning opportunities for all children, Staudaher said.

The trustees also heard a report on estimated insurance costs for the district's buildings, but took no action. Monday's special meeting was called principally to discuss the controversial kindergarten issue. The board's regular October meeting is scheduled next Monday night.

Frank DeLuca, a Twin Falls trustee who is also a member of the executive board of the Idaho State Trustees Association, discussed plans for the scheduled state convention of the trustees, to be held at the College of Southern Idaho during the first week of November.

The convention will draw at least 500 trustees from throughout the state to Twin Falls, DeLuca said.

Texan pads lead in rodeo ratings

DENVER (UPI) — Phil Lyne of George West, Tex., gradually is beginning to pull away in the race for this year's all-around cowboy championship honors.

The 23-year-old cowboy picked up $2,646 in bull riding and calf roping at Omaha, Neb., this past week and now has $42,674 in prize money for the year, the rodeo cowboys association said.

Lyne's closest competitor is Bob Berger of Norman, Okla., with $39,394. Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., the cowboy who has won the title five years running, is back in fourth place with $33,224.

Lyne also leads the calf roping standings with $24,452.

The Rodeo Cowboys Assn. said other current leaders are Bill Smith, Cody, Wyo., saddle bronc riding, $24,202; Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., bareback bronc riding, $24,525; Bill Nelson, San Francisco, bull riding, $20,246; Billy Hale, Checotah, Okla., steer wrestling, $22,400; John Miller, Pawhuska, Okla., team roping, $1,407; and Walter Arnold, Silverton, Tex., steer roping, $5,291.

Firms move

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — During the first nine months of 1971, manufacturing firms announced plans to locate 244 new industrial plants in Texas. About 181 industrial plants were expected to be completed.

Petitions were presented by residents of Fourth and Third Avenue West protesting conditions of the alley. Ray McBride, Magic Valley International, told the council he would take necessary steps to clear up water and debris from the operations of the business.

Council members voted to approve curb cuts for property on Clouche Avenue providing concrete curb, gutter and sidewalk be installed.

The council transferred $150,000 from the water and sewer revenue fund to the airport and other city funds to meet current obligations. Funds will be returned when final tax money for the year is received.

Plants up

DETROIT (UPI) — Twelve of Michigan's 83 counties showed gains in the number of manufacturing plants during the past two years according to the 1971 Directory of Michigan Manufacturers.

Misunderstandings resulted in false rumors about Attica

NEW YORK (UPI)—The four-day rebellion at Attica State Prison was sparked by a misunderstanding by a prison guard who thought inmates were scuffling instead of playing a game of touch football, according to The New York Times.

In a 10,000 word chronology of the prison uprising, the Times said in its Monday edition it sought to clarify a series of misunderstandings that resulted in erroneous rumors, such as a report that guard William Quinn was thrown from a second story window and that hostages had their throats slashed by inmates.

Another report, published by the Daily News in Monday edition, also shed light on the controversy over certain details of the uprising and the subsequent retaking of the prison which resulted in the deaths of 42 persons.

The Daily News reported that

State Police Capt. Henry F. Williams, who was in charge of the assault on Attica on Monday, Sept. 13, gave the following order over his walkie-talkie: "Move in. Move in. The drop (of tear gas canisters) has been made." The News said that available evidence gives no indication the troopers ever were ordered to fire their weapons.

Both newspapers said a series of misunderstandings resulted in erroneous rumors that were quickly accepted by prison guards, state troopers, prison officials and even high state officials. Many of these rumors later were issued to newsmen as matters of fact and were reported in the news media.

The Times also reported that the citizen observer committee talked by telephone with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for 40 minutes Sunday afternoon, beginning for more time to negotiate.

Trash fire occurs at Shelby's

TWIN FALLS — Slight damage occurred at the rear of the Shelby Market on Addison Avenue Monday night when paper being prepared for burning in the incinerator caught fire, Fire Chief Bobby K. Bopp reported.

He said the alarm was received at 7:30 p.m. and one room at the back of the store in which the boxes and other material were kept prior to burning, was smogged and filled with smoke. Firemen had the fire out within a few minutes, he said.

Demos try to shed suicidal complex

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some top Democrats are concerned over lingering traces of a "suicidal complex" within the party.

Among them is Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien—even though he believes the party has accomplished a 40 per cent cure of its 1968 fascination with self-inflicted injury that left the organization in shambles and the White House lost.

O'Brien is convinced that a potentially harmful residue of the 1968 paranoia persists and that if Democrats lose the presidential election next year, they will have themselves to blame.

One year and one month before the 1972 presidential election, O'Brien displays quiet confidence in the outlook for the Democratic candidate, no matter who he is. His strategy for 1972 is shaping up as pretty much of a repeat of 1970, with heavy emphasis on pocketbook issues.

He expected the credibility of President Nixon also to be high on the Democratic list, with stress on the president's reversals of previous positions on handling the economy and on relations with Mainland China. The Vietnam War will be an issue but not among the top ones, in O'Brien's view.

O'Brien does not believe that Nixon has been able to blunt the economic issue—high unemployment, high prices and the like—by his adoption of a wage-price freeze. O'Brien cites public opinion polls showing overwhelming support for the freeze, first proposed by Democrats, but only a slight boost in the President's own standings.

O'Brien has several important recommendations for the party. He warns that the Democrats must have good faith at all levels in adopting more open, equitable procedures for the selection of delegates to the national convention and the operation of the convention itself. Many Democrats fear that any smell of smoke-filled rooms would be fatal to the presidential candidate's chances.

O'Brien is prodding the party to adopt clear alternatives to White House programs and is convinced that a successful campaign strategy cannot be built solely on criticism of the President.

Bill set to break Soviet Premier visits Algeria

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration is preparing legislation to break increases in doctors' fees, hospital charges and other medical costs as part of the Phase II economic program.

Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare said Sunday an amendment to the administration's health proposals was being drafted, but he refused to reveal its contents.

Work on the amendment started before the economic freeze was announced Aug. 15, Richardson said, but it has been altered to be more far-reaching.

"It is fair to say these would have been considerably more limited than what may be proposed as a follow-up to the freeze," he said.

Richardson was interviewed on NBC-TV's Meet the Press.

In Sun Valley, Robert O. Beatty, assistant secretary for public affairs, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, attending the Idaho Hospital Association convention, commended the proposed move.

In an interview between conference sessions, Beatty said the legislation "is in keeping with the general effort to put the lid on inflation. Obviously the rising cost of health care is one of the most pressing problems facing our country."

ALGIERS (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew in from Moscow Monday on a four-day visit that sources said was intended to patch up Middle East policy differences between the Soviet Union and Kosygin was met at the airport by President Houari Boumediene and his cabinet. Although the Soviet government did not announce the visit until a few hours before Kosygin's departure from Moscow and the Algerian government kept details of the agenda secret, the city of Algiers gave the Soviet official a colorful welcome.

The visit was announced in newspaper headlines and civil servants and school children in Algiers were given the afternoon off to welcome the Soviet premier at the airport.

After the visit to Algeria, Kosygin goes west to Morocco. His host, King Hassan II survived a bloody coup attempt last summer when his palace was raked with gunfire.

Diplomatic sources said Kosygin, Moscow's No. 1 foreign policy salesman, went to Algeria in line with a Kremlin diplomatic offensive, to counter Communist Chinese influence.

President Nikolai V. Podgorny is currently conducting talks with North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi. Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who recently returned from visits to Yugoslavia, Hungary and Bulgaria, leaves for France Oct. 25.

Moscow has suffered serious setbacks in the militant Arab camp—the Middle East and Northern Africa where several countries, led by Sudan, have cracked down on pro-Soviet leftist elements.

Boumediene's party has banned a Communist party in Algeria. But Moscow has tried to have good relations with Algerian nationalists since the 1964-62 independence war against France.

The Soviets have become Algeria's second largest trading partner, after France. Podgorny visited Algeria in 1969.

TOKYO (UPI)—Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny promised continued military, political and diplomatic aid to North Vietnam in a banquet speech in Hanoi, the Vietnam news agency said Monday.

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted Podgorny as saying Sunday night the assistance would continue because the United States was unwilling to restore a "just" peace.

The Soviet president arrived in Hanoi with eight other high-ranking Soviet officials Sunday after visits to India and Burma. A Communist Chinese delegation left Hanoi five days earlier after signing an economic and military aid agreement.

Podgorny denounced the United States for refusing to accept the Communist proposals at the Paris peace talks and said the Soviet Union gave its complete support to the Viet Cong's program.

U.S. holds off on request for planes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has informed Foreign Minister Abba Eban that the Nixon administration still is holding off on the Israeli request for more advanced fighter planes, U.S. officials said today.

The officials reported that Eban renewed the Israeli request, considered vital to Israel's security, during an hour-long meeting Monday with Rogers.

Israel is understood to be seeking a regular "pipeline" of F4 Phantom fighter-bombers, and possibly more Skyhawk aircraft, to safeguard its security. Diplomatic sources reported that Israel is thinking in terms of receiving two Phantoms per month.

Both U.S. and Israeli sources reported that Israel, at this stage, is not linking an agreement by the United States to supply the aircraft to an agreement by Israel accepting U.S. proposals on reopening the Suez Canal under the "interim agreement" Rogers is seeking.

Revised zoning measure tabled

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Proposals for a revised Twin Falls zoning ordinance were tabled Monday night by the City Council after members agreed the revised version needed even further modernization.

modern building trends such as park or court-like plans which provide ideal solutions to housing needs are not provided for and should be considered and possibly incorporated into the revised zoning regulations before action is taken.

proposed new mobile home court ordinance which council members said might be combined with the court or park housing regulations. Several revisions were suggested in a commercial-central zone sign regulation and action was also deferred on the Planning and Zoning Commission's recommendations for new sign regulations.

Livestock ban study

TWIN FALLS — City Council members in Twin Falls decided Monday night the city has reached a point where livestock should be prohibited in many outlying residential districts and will ask the Planning and Zoning Commission to look into the matter.

Councilman John Christoffersen said about the only place horses and cows cannot be kept is in the old townsite. Many of the first class residential areas have acreages in or bordering them and these usually become pastures for livestock.

minimum space for each animal but any acreage may be used for livestock. Several councilmen said this results in livestock bedding down at the rear of some of the most expensive homes in the city with little protection for the home owner who then faces odor and fly problems.

Is Control Of Profits Next?

WASHINGTON — A radical proposal to control profits if and when they pass the peak dollar levels of 1968 sometime next summer is now under secret study here by President Nixon's economic high command.

Now, however, the proposal to transfer surplus profits into lower prices has high attraction in the Nixon administration.

administration pressure on business not to raise dividends to stockholders; and third, because Presidential jawboning against excess profits would be both good politics and anti-inflationary.

Despite rumors planted by the White House that ousted Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel took the initiative in inviting President Nixon to a joyous peace-pipe party in Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 26, the truth is exactly the opposite.

Productivity Crisis

While the United States has steadfastly refused to devalue the dollar by raising the price of gold, the fact remains that we are seeking to devalue the dollar in terms of other currencies.

generosity in economic and military aid. But it's not easy to help us now.

To say we have only ourselves to blame for our present plight is only partly true. Our long-range interests and those of the free world were served well by the unprecedented help we gave our friends and former enemies.

During the 60's U.S. productivity gained only 34.7 per cent smallest of any large industrialized nation.

Failure to keep productivity growing while boosting wages is a direct cause of inflation. Only an improvement in American productivity promises victory over inflation or ability to compete in world markets.

Americans, who freely taught others skills and "know-how," should now take a lesson from the Japanese. Japanese workers consider strikes costly and counterproductive, and see slowdowns, makework and absenteeism as hurting their companies and themselves.

At the same time, the Managing Director of the International Monetary Fund was urging the members meeting in Washington to cooperate with the United States to improve its trade balance.

It is a mitty-gritty fact that nations are determined to maintain their own prosperity. American gains must be offset by corresponding losses by other industrial nations and this prospect displeases them.

"NOW KEEP A SHARP EYE OUT, FANG"

Consequently, the prospect of reasonably high corporate profitability by next summer already has some Presidential advisers worried about the political effect of corporate presidents "shooting off their mouths about how much money they're making" at a time of rigid wage controls.

Paget's Disease

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told by my orthopedic doctor four years ago that I have Paget's disease. He said he was sorry there was nothing that could be done for me.

This action is quite apart from the drug's essential purpose, which is to subdue bacterial infections. For reasons we do not understand, the mithramycin has some effect on calcium metabolism which appears to arrest the process involved in Paget's disease.

Club meets

SHOSHONE — Burmah Club met at the home of Mrs. Sadie Magoffin Thursday. Mrs. H. A. Ross, president, read articles and presented early dry club minutes for the program. Mrs. R. O. Bell won the hostess prize. Mrs. Eva Sorensen, Richfield, will be hostess Oct. 14.

Hints

Store dishwasher detergent in a dry place and keep the box closed. It's a good idea to buy detergent where the product has a rapid turnover and hasn't been sitting on the shelf for a long period.

The very hot water and strong detergent used for dishwashers can harm some kitchen items. They include oxidized aluminum, hand-painted items, wooden handled knives, iron skillets and wooden salad bowls.

Rupert BPW represented at meeting

RUPERT — Members of the Rupert Business and Professional Women's Club traveled to American Falls Saturday to attend the South Eastern District BPW meeting. The business session was held in the Catholic Church with other clubs attending from Soda Springs, Pocatello, Bear Lake, American Falls and Blackfoot. Rupert members attending were Mrs. Jackie Allen, president; Mrs. Shirley Porter, treasurer, and Mrs. Lonni Lindstrom. Several state officers were special guests.

Good packaging of foods for the freezer takes only a few seconds longer than a slipshod job, so why take a chance on spoiling good food.

T.F. lodge has business session

TWIN FALLS — Royal Neighbor Lodge held a brief business session at the IOOF hall Friday evening.

The camp charter was draped, under direction of Oracle Lillian Armiga, by Frieda Evans and Laura Morlenson's marshalls, and Mary Stearns serving as chancellor.

Because of the Friday evening fire nearby and the outage of power, the last half of the meeting was conducted in the downstairs hall by candlelight. Planned was the second meeting, set for Oct. 15. It will be a stew supper and a Halloween party for families and juvenile members and their families. Casual clothes will be required attire.

Dorothy Treadwell and Julia Samples will be in charge. Stew will be served at 6:45 p.m. and games will be played. Lena and Grant Kunkle, Kimberly, served refreshments by candlelight. Halloween decorations were featured. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

TWIN FALLS — The next pinocle party for folks and their wives will be Wednesday at the lodge room in Twin Falls. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. and the card party will start at 8 p.m.

TWIN FALLS — War Mothers are asked to meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at White Mortuary for the funeral of member Lillian Ross.

TWIN FALLS — A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watkins, Germany. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Watkins, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neumann, Lewiston, formerly of Twin Falls.

Buhl — Buhl Chapter No. 38, Order of the Eastern Star, will celebrate the chapter's 60th anniversary at 8:15 p.m.

news about the people you know Valley Living

DEAR ABBY: We entertained a family of six at our summer place last weekend. The children ranged from 9 years old to 17.

The children invaded my kitchen, helping themselves at all hours to whatever they found in my refrigerator.

The first day they ate everything I had planned to serve for the entire weekend. The 18-year-old drank nine cans of pop in one afternoon.

I served a buffet supper. The children got into line first and loaded their plates, and came back for seconds before some of the adults could help themselves.

I was appalled. But worse than that, I was disappointed in myself for not having found some way to control the situation.

Needless to say, they will never be invited back. How would you have handled it? APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: Probably much the same way you handled [or didn't handle] it. The temptation to teach those ill-mannered children something about manners and consideration for elders must have been overwhelming. But because their parents were present and made no attempt to discipline them, it would have been extremely awkward for you to have done so. It's history now. Your decision never to invite them back is understandable.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I watch television from our bed at night and we aren't ashamed to admit it. We keep switching from Johnny Carson to Merv Griffin to Dick Cavett, and there's also David Frost and now Steve Allen. So what's our problem? Some of our intellectual friends who never watch "that garbage," and make us feel like morons because we do.

But what's really funny is when I mention something I saw on television these "intellectual" friends who never watch the boob tube just happen to have caught it, too. HA! JUST PLAIN FOLKS IN MPLS.

DEAR FOLKS: Move over. You have plenty of company.

DEAR ABBY: I wrote you a letter several years ago. I was another angry teen-ager, complaining because my parents didn't trust me, wouldn't let me grow up, bleach my hair, wear a lot of makeup and date older boys when I was young. They seemed to want to keep me a baby forever. I hated them for being so unreasonable. Since then I have seen many letters in your column so much like my own.

Then I got into a serious automobile accident and suffered neck and back injuries that partially paralyzed me for many long months. At first they said I'd never walk again. My friends flocked to see me while I was in the hospital, but when I went home and was confined to a hospital bed, they forgot me. The painful process of learning how to sit up and walk again was so discouraging and agonizing.

The two friends who never let me down were my parents. During the time I was on my back, I had plenty of time to think, and it was then I realized I had been the unreasonable one, and my parents had kept a watchful eye on me because they loved me. I am glad I found out how wonderful parents can be before it was too late. We are closer than ever now.

Oh, by the way, I never mailed that letter to you. I've kept it all this time in my top drawer. WISER NOW

ARMS IN EVENING DRESS

By Mary Sue Miller

The evening dress—undress?—season is upon us. It follows that numerous lovelies ask for ways to improve bony arms and shoulders.

Well, you can finesse it by getting a dress with a high neck and long sleeves. Such designs continue in favor. There's renewed interest, though, in plunging necklines and low backs. Halter necks come on the scene and the strapless decontortage waits in the wings.

A direct attack on the problem seems the best solution. The following routine gradually builds up thin contours when performed very slowly every day: 1. Kneel on a carpeted floor with the feet together. Keeping arms rigid, rest the hands on the floor directly beneath the shoulders. Now, by bending the elbows, lower forehead to floor and then push upward until in starting position. Be sure to make the arms do all the work. Repeat 10 times daily for the first week. Thereafter, increase the count gradually until you reach 20.

If you work diligently, the shoulders and arms take on fuller contours in about two months. Meanwhile, review your weight. Are you a bit under par? If so, eat up. Not sweets, but substantial foods like eggs, whole grain bread, whole milk and baked potatoes.

Just so, you'll gain for sure—in time to look your best in a holiday evening dress.

NATURAL GAS: THE CLEAN AIR FUEL

FBI scans hijack halt effort

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The FBI is going to take "a complete scrutiny" of its attempt to stop a private plane hijacking with gunfire that may have caused the hijacker to kill his estranged wife, the pilot and himself, a federal law enforcement source said today.

The president of the small charter airline that owned the plane said the FBI made "a cardinal mistake" Monday in refusing to allow the plane to be refueled for the hijacker's intended flight to the Bahamas. "They tried to bluff them and the bluff failed," said Mack Brothers Jr., of Nashville, Tenn.

Special Agent W.H. Alexander, in charge of the Jacksonville FBI office, refused comment on why the decision was made to disable the plane. The FBI said a statement would be made today regarding the hijacking.

FBI agents shot the tires and right engine of the twin-engine

Hawk Commander after the cockpit, Randall S. Crump, 32, and an alleged accomplice of the hijacker, Bobby Wayne Wallace, 42, left the craft to plead with the FBI for fuel.

FBI Agent Jim O'Connor said several shots from the plane narrowly missed him. Moments later, more shots were heard aboard the plane. Agents rushed into the craft and found all three occupants dead of gunshot wounds.

The hijacker, Mallory Giffe Jr., 35, shot once in the head, was sprawled in the rear of the plane. His pretty estranged wife, Susan Litch Giffe, 28, shot twice in the head, lay nearby. The pilot, Brent Downs, 29, was slumped in the pilot's seat with two bullets in the back. All were from Nashville.

"I love you so much that you could stick a blade through my heart and all I would ever do would be to look in your eyes and kiss you."

Brothers said Crump, who sat sobbing with his head in his hands after the shooting, had begged the FBI to allow the plane to be refueled.

"He said that the man (Giffe) is crazy, he's a maniac, and they (FBI) said the plane is not going to be refueled. I think the FBI goofed. I think the FBI should have allowed them to refuel," Brothers said.

A federal law enforcement source told UPI "a complete scrutiny of what transpired and what went wrong" will be made by the FBI.

Medina resigns his rank

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) — Capt. Ernest L. Medina has submitted his resignation from the Army less than two weeks after he was cleared of all charges in the My Lai massacre.

"It is with deep sorrow and regret that after 16 years I leave the Army which has meant so much to me and my family," Medina said in a statement read Monday by his military attorney, Capt. Mark Kaddish.

Medina, 35, of Montrose, Colo., asked for an honorable discharge and complete separation from the Army in the resignation which went to the Adjutant General of the 3rd Army here for forwarding to the Department of the Army for final action, expected in two weeks.

Medina will go to work following his discharge for attorney F. Lee Bailey, his chief counsel at the court martial where Medina was cleared of murdering 102 civilians at the Vietnam village of My Lai on March 16, 1968. Bailey said Medina would become a corporation executive with the helicopter firm Bailey heads at Menominee, Mich.

Another postal hike proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service said Monday it probably will seek another raise in the price of stamps next spring, meaning it would cost at least 9 cents to mail a first-class letter.

A postal spokesman said scheduled pay raises for mail workers would be the compelling reason for the increase, assuming that President Nixon's economic controls would allow it.

The newly organized Postal Service raised the price of first-class stamps from 6 cents to 8 cents and air mail from 10 cents to 11 cents last May. The increases were put into effect on a "temporary" basis even though they have not yet been formally approved by the Postal Rate Commission. New increases can be put into effect in absence of action within 90 days by the rate group on a requested hike.

"It appears as though we will have to ask for another raise next spring," a spokesman for the Postal Service said.

The spokesman said the exact amount of the increase had not yet been determined. He said the minimum increase, however, probably would be 9 cents for first class letters and 12 cents for airmail.

Tells desire

PHRASE CHALKED on gun mount protective shield probably accurately expresses opinion of GI tank crew member as elements of U.S. armored units return to base recently turned over to South Vietnamese units near Tay Ninh. At the same time, in Washington, D.C., the Senate voted for total pullout of American forces from Vietnam no later than Spring, 1972, in second rebuff of President Nixon's policies. (UPI)

Boycott proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount urged Americans Monday to boycott French products to force Paris to take stronger action to cut off the flow of French-processed heroin to the United States.

"Why should the American people buy French goods when an estimated 80 per cent of the heroin which finds its way into this country, and into the bloodstream of our young still comes from France?" asked Blount. "There is no reason why the individual American citizen cannot have a role in the war against the international drug traffic."

Said Blount: "I call on the American people to institute a boycott of all French goods now until the French clean up this cesspool with which our young are being contaminated."

Blount, a Cabinet-level official as head of the U.S. Postal Service, urged the boycott in a speech prepared for an appearance in Dallas, Tex. A postal service spokesman said it was presumed that Blount's proposal had administration endorsement.

Blount cited France as a major source of heroin sold illegally in the United States, smuggled into this country by international narcotics peddlers.

Government officials have said previously that the French Mediterranean port of Marseilles was the main processing point for heroin, produced from opium poppies grown mostly in Turkey. It is also processed at clandestine laboratories in other French ports that have direct access both to the United States and Turkey.

The United States has been seeking cooperation of all nations to choke off the flow of illegal narcotics into the U.S., but officials have said privately that substantial progress is being made only in the case of Turkey and Mexico, the latter one of the major sources of marijuana.

Dominican envoy leaves Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Dominican Consul-General Tiolina Frias and her adopted son, Fausto, were dismissed from their diplomatic posts and expelled from Venezuela Monday for faking a kidnap of Mrs. Frias in an attempt to collect $1 million in ransom.

Police took the pair to Caracas' International Airport and put them aboard a Venezuelan Viasa Airlines plane to Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital where officials said both will face criminal charges.

They were accompanied by two policemen on the flight.

Mrs. Frias, a divorcee, had served as consul-general in Caracas for the past two years. Her adopted son, who also is her nephew, was vice consul. She was a former vice president of the Dominican senate during the administration of former President Juan Bosch in the early 1960s.

Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer announced the dismissal of Mrs. Frias and the son through his press office in Santo Domingo prior to the expulsion order issued by the Venezuelan government.

At the airport before boarding the plane to Santo Domingo, Mrs. Frias accused the Dominican ambassador here, Rafael Bonilla Aybar, of masterminding her abduction.

Funds OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Consortium for Education Professions Development approved five educational priorities for upgrading public school instruction Monday.

Dr. Harold Gaff, executive director, said the group will make funding requests to the U.S. Office of Education for programs in fiscal year 1972-73 dealing with early childhood education, instructional leadership and regional inservice training, pupil personnel, teacher aides and inservice training.

He said the requests will total some $350,000.

My Lai probe ordered

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI) — An Army aviation officer testified Monday he heard the deputy commander of the Americal Division, order Oran K. Henderson to investigate reports of civilian slaughter at My Lai.

The testimony by Lt. Col. John Holladay came as Henderson's court-martial on charges he tried to cover up the massacre entered its seventh week.

Holladay said he was present when Brig. Gen. George Young told Henderson, who was commander of the division's 11th Infantry Brigade, to investigate reports from helicopter crews that troops sweeping through My Lai were shooting civilians.

He added that Young gave Henderson "an extremely short period of time" to conduct the investigation—about two or three days, as best as he could recall.

Holladay's statement corroborated testimony by another prosecution witness, Lt. Col. Frederic Watke, who also told of being present in a command trailer when Young told Henderson to investigate.

Holladay testified that Watke had told Young that more than 100 civilians had been killed, that one helicopter pilot had warned ground troops against firing on civilians, and that one American sergeant had been seen shooting civilians in a ditch.

Later, Holladay told the jury of two generals and five colonels, he saw a report by Henderson which mentioned the deaths of about 20 civilians caused by artillery and helicopter gunfire fire, rather than by small arms fire from infantry.

Asked what Henderson's reaction was to Young's order to investigate, Holladay replied: "I don't recall Col. Henderson saying anything, in my memory he was passive throughout."

Quit Thieu, Adlai asks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., wants the United States to withdraw all military support of the South Vietnamese regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu. Stevenson told the Senate Monday that Thieu's re-election without opposition Sunday meant "an ugly war is now stripped of its one decent purpose."

"A war for self-determination is now clearly a war for the self-perpetuation of a corrupt and autocratic regime in South Vietnam," Stevenson said.

Season changes

GOLDEN LEAVES and snowfall attest to the changing seasons in the South Hills, where snow this past week blanketed the ground — as on this little used roadway — while aspen trees were attired in coats of gold not yet having dropped their leaves for this year. Colorful foliage tells of the arrival of autumn in the Magic Valley area. Deeper and longer lasting snow blankets will be arriving soon as winter approaches.

New water line probed

BY TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer

KETCHUM — Questions about the proposed $2 million water system were raised during the Ketchum City Council meeting Monday night. Ross Fitzpatrick, owner of the Heidelberg Inn and representative from the Ketchum-Sun Valley Visitors Bureau, asked whether residents will vote on the water system in November or February. Fitzpatrick said more information is needed on the system. "This is information which he said 'no one seems to have,'" he said the visitors bureau wants to meet with the council as well as the engineers and lawyers who prepared the study on the system to discuss the issue. "It's important to us — it's a lot of money," Fitzpatrick said. He said presently visitor bureau members all have their own wells. Restaurants now pay, he said, about $8 a month for water, but with the new system they would pay about $100 a month. In other action, David Wolford, president and general manager of Wood River Cable Vision Inc., requested that a new franchise and a corresponding rate structure be granted. The present franchise expires in 1975. Wolford said the company wants to provide additional services for the customers, including an educational television channel and public service programming from Ketchum and Sun Valley. He requested an "immediate" resolution that he be allowed to video tape city council and city planning and zoning meetings. And he invited all candidates for the city council to present their platform on the air. Wolford said the new rate structure would be about a $2.50 a month per set increase over present rates. And he said the structure includes payment to the city of about three per cent of the gross television signal fees paid. The present franchise, he said, provides no compensation to the city. He cited as reasons for the new franchise "the area's growth, the additional services, and the cost of living increase." Mayor Ken Hickey said the proposed franchise was an "involved" issue. He said the board could not grant the franchise without hearings. In other action the council renewed a five year franchise with the Kirkman Brothers Taxi Company, subject to an annual review of hours and requested that the company's rate scale be filed with the city. The council also approved the company's request to change hours from the present 6 a.m. to 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. when Sun Valley is closed.

No contest 4 seek Richfield offices

FILER — The Filer City Council will have two new members after the Nov. 2 general election, but no contest has developed over the two seats to be filled. Incumbent Councilmen Ralph Eaton and Max Henry, each completing his first four-year term, have not sought re-election. They will be succeeded by the only two candidates to file before Monday's deadline — Charles Crawford, Jr., plant superintendent for Chester Brown Seed Co. for the past 18 years, and Russell Sheridan, a filer electrician.

RICHFIELD — Four candidates have filed petitions for re-election to the Richfield City Council with one incumbent, John Lenimon, seeking another term. Two will be elected for four year terms. The candidates are Keith Sinston, Wendell King and Ronald Ralls. A petition was circulated for Howard DeWitt, an incumbent whose term expires this year. DeWitt was out of town however and was unable to put his signature on the petition to be notarized before the deadline. Mayor C. W. Ward was nominated for re-election and will run unopposed.

Gooding's election field cut Mayor, 2 councilmen run again

GOODING — The city election field at Gooding narrowed Monday with the announcement by City Clerk George Silva that one of the challengers, Harold Road, did not qualify. Of the 40 signatures on his petition, only 18 were registered voters, Silva said. This leaves only one newcomer, Doris Vaughan, challenging the two incumbents, Valdo Gray and Gene Kelly, for the two posts to be filled Nov. 2. A potential fifth candidate, Duane Johnson, withdrew from the race Monday.

Buhl — Buhl Mayor Dr. M. W. Thompson and incumbent Councilmen Joseph P. Fehrenbacher and David A. Munroe, whose terms are up for election in the Nov. 2 balloting, have filed their petitions of candidacy for re-election, according to the city clerk. The lone challenger for the three seats is Jerry A. Hawkins, an employe of Rangan, Inc. Filing ended Monday, according to state law.

Ulster violence slows

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The wave of violence that followed Monday afternoon's bombing of a British Army post tapered off today to a low scattered shooting incidents, an army spokesman said. A soldier of the 3rd battalion the Queen's Regiment suffered a minor wound in the leg from a sniper in the Roman Catholic Lower Falls Road area early today. Fire was returned by the army patrol and a man was seen to fall. Monday's explosion at an army post on the "peace-line" separating the falls road area from the Protestant Shankill Road killed one soldier and injured five others, none seriously. The dead man was identified Monday night by the army as Guardman Brian Hall, 22, married and the father of one child. He was the 24th British soldier killed in Northern Ireland this year. Several passersby were injured in the incident. The spokesman said explosives experts believed the 50-100 pound bomb was planted at the rear of the three-story house being used as the observation post. Soldiers, firemen and residents dug with their bare hands and shovels to free victims from the wreckage. They uncovered two troopers, their faces blackened and bleeding and their uniforms in shreds. The explosion was followed by five other bombings Monday night in Belfast which injured at least six civilians. Shooting and sniping incidents injured at least two soldiers, six other civilians and a policeman. At one point the bombings and shootings were occurring so fast that the army spokesman could only give a casualty toll but no details of the incidents. A 10-year-old girl jumped through the flames after she was caught on the upper deck of a double-deck bus set on fire by three men who stopped the vehicle in a Roman Catholic area and ordered all the other passengers off at gunpoint. She was not seriously hurt, the spokesman said. Masked gunmen forced employes out of a car rental agency office in Grosvenor Road and planted two bombs which blew the roof off and set the building afire. The spokesman said two of the women were hospitalized for shock.

Ketchum race has 9 trying Burley Halloween curfew proposed KETCHUM — A wide-open race has developed for the two seats up for election to the Ketchum City Council of Nov. 2, with nine candidates, including two incumbents, filing petitions of candidacy on Monday before the 5 p.m. deadline. Incumbents Ben Jewel and Carl Mullins will face three women and four men, some expressing dissatisfaction with the lack of progress the community has made in recent years. One of the most vocal young challengers is Mark Abel, 29, a Ketchum contractor, who said he has "watched the same people do the same things for the past 10 years," and hopes to change the tempo of life in Ketchum.

BURLEY — Mayor Garis Robertson, appearing before the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday, said he would ask the city council to consider a resolution which would impose a 7 p.m. Halloween curfew on youths 17 years or younger who are on the streets unaccompanied by their parents. Robertson addressed the businessmen on the city's planned efforts to head off what he termed "the Halloween festivities and degradation." He also asked for ideas from the businessmen for consideration in formulating plans for the annual trick-or-treat harassment. The mayor also said he was considering a resolution which would set a 9 p.m. curfew for youthful trick-or-treaters and appealed to the children of the city to patrol only their immediate neighborhoods in search of Halloween treats. Also being considered, Robertson said, is a resolution setting Saturday night, Oct. 30, as the "official" Halloween holiday. Police Chief Kenneth Barry, appearing before the city council two weeks ago, said he had to plan for two to three nights of holiday festivities since the night of Oct. 31 is Sunday. Robertson's plan would seek to eliminate the need for extended precautions. The city's chief executive briefed the chamber members on the results of a meeting held last week in the chamber office which was attended by nearly a score of city police and education officials. One result of the meeting, he said, is that a group of students is investigating the possibility of staging a rock concert the night of Oct. 30. Robertson said he doubted the feasibility of the idea, largely because of anticipated costs. In response to Robertson's request, various solutions were offered to the anticipated Halloween problems, including a moonlight sale, businessmen's patrols in front of the stores, and organized parties for city youths, and scheduling the annual PTA carnival on the same night.

Mary Pichon, owner of the Sun Valley Mobile Park, also cited a lack of progress in the community in explaining her interest in the campaign. Other challengers include Ted Werry, Glenn Branan, Joseph Clement, JoAnn Algiers and Constance Hilton. Jewel has been a Ketchum councilman for four years. Mullins, who had served a four-year term previously, was called back last July by appointment to fill a vacant position.

Displays mark 4-H activity

SHOSHONE — National 4-H Week is being observed in Lincoln County with various types of projects, county extension personnel said today. Displays are set up at the city library, an area radio station is carrying 4-H news flashes and club members are advertising their projects. The latter part of October will feature a bicycle safety course at the Lincoln School. Extension Agent Ivan Hopkins and Penny Fixsen, high school student, 4-H leader, will teach the course. The course will include lectures, demonstrations and a possible tour of a bike shop. Fluorescent protective tape has been ordered for the bicycles of students participating in this program. Richfield club members have carried out a vacant lot clean up and have painted fences, and trash barrels to add to the attractiveness of the lots at the dump. Shoshone club members volunteered their services to Mayor Ellwood Werry for cleaning up and trimming up of any condemned property or vacant lots, but due to the installation of the city sewer at this time, the work must be delayed. This is all part of an anti-litter program adopted by the Teen club members. They have also secured envelope stickers as well as window and bumper stickers and distributed them on the subject. Litter bags were distributed to service stations, and card-board posters were placed in downtown business houses.

SV race draws 5 2 women held in escape case

SUN VALLEY — A 10-minute flurry of interest in the Nov. 2 municipal election saw five petitions of candidacy filed for three seats on Monday, including the post of mayor of Sun Valley. Incumbent Mayor Winton S. Gray and challenger Mrs. Roberta Dibble both filed their completed petitions Monday morning to seek the mayor's position, according to City Clerk Robert Ackerman. With two seats on the city council up for election, incumbent Harry Holmes, the president and general manager of Sun Valley Co., Inc., who has been a councilman since the formation of the city five years ago, faces challengers Royce Asher and William D. Innes. Both are businessmen in Sun Valley.

TWIN FALLS — Two women remained in custody today in connection with the escape of Edward Ray Butler, 20, Twin Falls, from the Idaho State Penitentiary on Sunday. Sheriff Paul Corder said Rayola Wilson, 36, 874 4th Ave. W., has been charged with aiding a prisoner in escape, and her 18-year-old daughter, Mary Elizabeth Wilson, is being held as a material witness. The two were taken in for questioning by Twin Falls city police Monday afternoon and turned over to the sheriff for further questioning. Corder said the women were taken into custody after city officers located spotted a vehicle seen in Twin Falls earlier in the day with Butler in the back seat. The car reportedly stopped near the old St. Edward's school with a woman driving and Butler in the back seat. His wife, Petra Butler, was on the sidewalk near the old school and was called to the car and picked up, witnesses told officers. Butler escaped from the prison Sunday along with Clarence Lee Bender, 20, Minidoka County. Both were still at large today and Sheriff Corder said he believes Butler and his wife were taken to Nevada and have left this area. No report has been received on Bender since the two were reported missing from the Boise prison.

Hansen has unopposed candidates

HANSEN — The community of Hansen will have its third mayor in a little more than a year after the Nov. 2 election, as three candidates are running unopposed for the three seats open. Mayor Allen Bourn, who succeeded the late Virgil Ball, is not running for re-election. He will be succeeded by Harold Miller Jr., who has filed for the mayor's post, abandoning his position on the city council. Incumbent City Clerk Robert Perkins is the only candidate for his post, and new councilman-to-be John Braahler, who will fill out the remaining two years of Miller's Council term, is the third candidate to file.

Pair contests on North Side

JEROME — Jerome City Council incumbents S. N. (Shorty) Weeks and Marshall Everheart will face two challengers in the Nov. 2 general election, as the four campaigners vie for the two positions open. Ray Wright and Von Morley have filed petitions for election to the Jerome City Council, according to city officials. In Hazelton, three candidates will vie for the two seats up for election, including incumbents Leonard L. Hamilton, who was appointed about three months ago to succeed Richard Bloxham, and Robert Stokesberry. They will face challenger Ellsworth Hensley in the general election. In Eden, all incumbents are running unopposed in a lackluster election campaign. Mayor James E. Lulow and Councilmen Don McFarland, Glen Teter and P. J. (Chuck) Eisenhauer have filed their petitions of candidacy.

8 seeking Kimberly offices

KIMBERLY — It'll be a new ball game in the Kimberly City Council this fall, as Mayor Walter Slaughter and Councilmen Don Whitehead and Robert Hoos, whose terms are up for election, have decided not to run. Eight challengers for the council and one for the mayor's post, Von Nebeker, have filed their petitions in one of the most spirited elections in the Magic Valley, according to City Clerk Mrs. Edythe Widmer. Candidates for election to the council include Charles Stanley, Russell Eller, Mrs. Mary Russell, Mrs. Judy Kadlec, Ron Larsen, Robert Koren, Max Galey and Lewis Porter. Mrs. Widmer said registration for the Nov. 2 city election has been unusually heavy. While only 133 voted in the last city election, Mrs. Widmer said today she has registered 175 new voters already this fall.

Tickets available

BURLEY — Tickets for the Burley annual farmer-businessman's banquet, sponsored by the Burley Chamber of Commerce on Nov. 11 at 7:15 p.m. at the Ponderosa, are on sale in the Chamber office in the basement of the City Hall at $5 each.

Crippen had a letter from the Jerome Chamber of Commerce extending the invitation during the Council meeting. The mayor also discussed erecting a cautionary sign asking traffic to slow down on Roosevelt Street near the lumber yard. He said he has received numerous complaints of trucks traveling too fast along the street. In other business, the city clerk said anyone wanting to buy irrigation pipe from the city to use instead of open canals must pay for the pipe in advance. The council discussed the possibility of irrigating every 10 days instead of every week. City firemen may wear uniforms containing fluorescent stripes to increase visibility at night. Their black waterproof uniforms make them hard to see during a fire or whenever they are on duty, a department spokesman said. Six building permits totaling $29,000 were approved by the Council, and a master plumber's license was granted to Ed Strout.

Air pollution 187 index

Forecast
Today: Good
Tonight: Very poor
Tomorrow: Good

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South-Central Health District at the Burley city hall. The reading was expressed in micrograms of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24 hour period.

Ending at 8 a.m. today. Federal pollution regulation is 332 micrograms per cubic meter per 24 hour period and should not be permitted to rise above 760 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Candidates file before deadline in Mini-Cassa

BURLEY — Six persons filed by deadline Monday for the three seats on the Burley City Council. Filing were John Croft, Les Morgan and Rex Stanley, all incumbents, Calvin Heiner, Cloyd Taylor and George Warrell, Jr.

Heiner is serving as Cassia County Assessor; Taylor operates Price's Cafe and Warrell is employed by Safeway's Inc.

ALBION — Three candidates filed for two seats on the Albion City Council. Jay Nielsen, and Frank Adams, both incumbents, are seeking re-election, opposed by Alva Winder.

Nielsen is vice-president manager of D. L. Evans Bank, Adams is a retired carpenter and Winder is a pastor of a local church.

MALTA — A mayor and two councilmen are to be elected at Malta and all three filed for re-election. Wallace Briggs, mayor for four years and manager of General Mills Elevator also served for many years as chairman of the village board. Osmer Smith operates a dairy business and Boyd Booth is line foreman for Raft River Rural Electric. The trio is running unopposed.

DECLO — George Schrenk filed for re-election as mayor of Declo. Councilmen filing were James Leonard and Myrl Ridding, both incumbents. Schrenk and Ridding are both farmers and Leonard operates a service station.

OAKLEY — Nauman Tanner filed for re-election as mayor of Oakley. Denver Altom filed for re-election as councilman. No one filed for the other seat as councilman.

Rad Layton who served 12 years as councilman did not seek re-election. Tanner operates the service station and Altom is a carpenter. The other post can be filled by a write-in vote, according to Tanner.

RUPERT — Six residents filed for the two posts on the Rupert City Council with incumbents Charles Dalry and Grover Newman seeking re-election.

Others filing are William Strasser, president of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce and owner of Strasser Drilling Co.; Mrs. Hene Benward, housewife; John Hilling, is a contract painter and Clark Cameron, operates the Cameron Sales Inc.

HEYBURN — Harold Hurst filed for re-election as mayor of Heyburn and is opposed by Ivan Ellason who filed just prior to the deadline Monday. Ellason is an electric superintendent at J. R. Simplot plant.

Filing for councilmen were J. R. Brown and C. Fred Dayley, both incumbents. Also filing for councilmen were William G. Hellewell, maintenance superintendent for Minidoka County Schools; Ralph Butters, owner-manager of Heyburn Food Center; John Carlisle, employee at Burley Processing; Wilford Wilcox,

Crash kills Idaho pilot

BOISE (UPI) — First Lt. Ronald B. Rueppel, 23, Boise, has died in the crash of an army helicopter of which he was copilot in Vietnam.

Cueppel, a native of Moscow who attended Deary High School and the University of Idaho, was serving with Troop B, Seventh Squadron, 1st Air Cavalry Division, at the time of his death Sept. 27.

Survivors include his widow, Judith; a son and a daughter, all of Boise.

The Royal Palace in Madrid covers about five acres.

Spending attacked

BOISE (UPI) — The Executive Director of the Office of Higher Education said Monday the state board of education has no policy regarding entertainment expenses for college and university presidents.

Dr. Donald Kline said such expenditures were already guided by the Idaho Code and existing regulations and that for the board to write a policy "would be redundant."

Kline was asked about the policy in the wake of an audit of the Boise State College business office. Results showed $502 for country club membership dues and $300 for food and

Teske condemns mine law repeal

BOISE (UPI) — The executive secretary of the Idaho Mining Association agreed Monday there could be some changes, but objected to the "current clamour by some elements of our society for immediate and complete repeal of the mining law of 1872."

A. J. Teske told the National Advisory Board Council of the Bureau of Land Management the 1872 law has served "reasonably well for 100 years."

He said he would not propose that the law could not be improved, but added, "Certainly a system of law that has served the nation and the people so effectively for so long should not be discarded lightly or in haste."

He said under the 1872 law the domestic mining industry had supplied a substantial proportion of the mineral raw material requirements of a national economy which had demanded a nine-fold increase. That was done, he said, while disturbing less than two-tenths of one per cent of the nation's total land area.

Teske said the mining industry urged and supported enactment of the multiple-use law which restricted claim holders in use of surface resources on unpatented claims.

"The industry cannot agree, however, with those critics of present law who charge it is an infamous give-away — a license to steal valuable national assets for the benefit of a few at the expense of the general public."

He said the mining industry felt any individual or company spending months or years of time, effort and personal funds in search of new ore deposits "can hardly be accused of getting something for nothing through the rights of discovery when the prospector or company finds one."

He said the mining industry feels it needs in a mining law "adequate incentive to explore, a freedom of access to exploration targets on public lands and security of tenure on its right of discovery."

Harrison Loesch, Washington, D. C., assistant secretary for public land management, Department of Interior, said a proposal by President Nixon for a department of natural resource is one of the "boldest, far-sighted" plans to date.

Loesch said the proposed department would include all bureaus and offices in the Interior Department along with other agencies and functions to include management of energy and materials, land, water resources, earth science and programs for American Indians, the Alaska natives and peoples of the trust territories.

The National Advisory Board Council, Loesch said, represents part of a move toward "humanization of government," one of the goals of the reorganization plan.

"Without a positive spirit of cooperation by the public, efforts to protect the public lands and resources seem almost hopeless," he said.

The meeting of the board will continue through Tuesday with reports from the various committees.

Hospital meeting sought

SANDPOINT (UPI) — A staff member at Bonner General Hospital here has asked the chief of staff to call a meeting to decide the direction to take in dealing with "lack of communications between administration and its employees and staff."

Dr. J. P. Munson, local physician and staff member at the hospital, charged "any progressive deteriorating care of our patients at Bonner General Hospital is directly related to this lack of communication."

The physician, also a member of the State Board of Education and a regent of the University of Idaho, called for hospital employees to "organize your energies at a time and place of your choosing, so that you may bring the consensus of your opinions to the people of Bonner County through the hospital board of directors."

He told the employees in a letter dated Sept. 20, "the present bad employee - employer relationship at Bonner General Hospital can seriously affect the medical care of the people in Bonner County... It is your responsibility as well as mine to see that this problem is corrected as soon as possible."

Passage pleases Jordan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, expressed pleasure Monday at passage of an amendment to the military procurement bill to hasten the transition to an all-volunteer military for the United States.

The amendment which Jordan had joined in co-sponsoring with Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., provided for comparatively greater benefits for men in the lower ranks.

The amendment would defer the effective date of the military pay increase, which was scheduled for Oct. 1, until the end of the wage-price freeze Nov. 15. The cost of the Allott amendment would be about $100 million less than the cost of the pay increase currently scheduled.

lose two aces, the king of trumps and a heart ruff.

On the other hand, South should have no difficulty bringing home 10 tricks at no-trump.

He wins the heart lead in his own hand and analyzes the lead as fourth best, probably from a five-card suit. He wants to guard against West getting the lead after the hearts are cleared. He proceeds to do this by leading a diamond toward dummy. If West rises with his ace, South can take the spade finesse later on with complete safety.

If West sneaks South it comes to his hand with a club, loses the spade finesse but winds up with four spades, two hearts, three clubs and one diamond.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to three hearts. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

By Oswald & James Jacoby

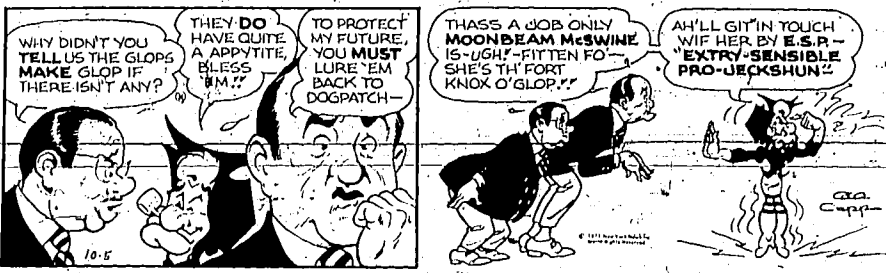

You don't have to bid a five-card major suit opposite an opening no-trump. Even if you play Jacoby Transfer you should not feel bound to bid one automatically.

The North hand illustrates this. He has 12 points and five spades with no other suit stopped. Some would just raise to three no-trump. We favor the three no-trump bid to check if partner holds four spades. When he rebids two diamonds we target about spades and jump right to the no-trump game.

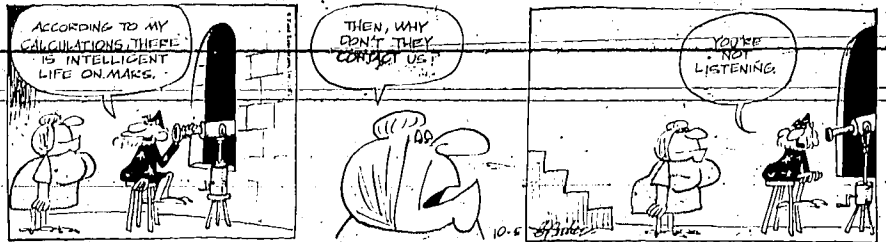

It is just as well. Four spades will probably make, but a heart opening and continuation will give the de-

JUDGE—a woman by her conversation, not her looks. That was Anso's advice. Our Love and War man, who's not always wrong, isn't in complete agreement with Mr. Anso. He contends a woman's conversation is not apt to reveal much. Three best ways to judge a woman, says he, are: 1. The way she decorates her living room. 2. How she puts on her makeup. 3. What sort of clothing she wears. Incidentally, he says a woman who likes a job of extra padding—i.e., extraneous colored cushions on the couch, pancake makeup in excess, or little body-building devices—discloses an exceedingly senuous nature.

NATURE LOVERS, please note: Odd thing about the pelican, once it deposits a fish in its pouch, it can't swallow said fish without tossing it first into the air... EVEN a baby gazelle that's only a few days old can outrun a horse... TO STAY alive, a shark must swim constantly, day and night.

IT HAS BEEN reported the most widely printed sentence in English is: "Close cover before striking." Am asked to identify the genius who created this bit of classic literature. Henry C. Traute was the fellow's name. In 1896 he modified book matches by switching the striking bar from the inside of the cover to the outside, stamping same with the aforementioned four words. This gladdened a certain Philadelphia lawyer named Joshua Pusley. He had invented book matches in the first place. But for a while there, a sizable number of citizens with burned fingers thought he never should have done it.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: O "What's the commonest town name in the United States?" A. As far as geographical place names go, there are more spots called "Summit" than called anything else. But as for town names, now there's your game. Will check further... O "Which kills the more people, murderers or airplane crash?" A. About 100 a month die in airplanes, about 1,000 a month in murders.

ALL ABOUT TRAFFIC: Quick, which one of these United States issues no automobile license tags? That's right, Hawaii. Counties there impose charges, however... TAKE ANY 100 men who die in car wrecks. Statistics show five of them either will be suicide drivers or the victims of suicide drivers... A POLICEMAN told me last night, "What I hate about freeway duty is those hotshots can't ever hear the siren once they pass through the sound barrier."

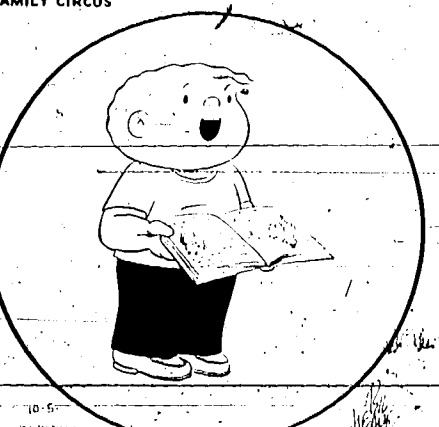

THESE several pairs of dice are in the Chicago Natural History Museum. Archeologists found them in ancient Egyptian tombs. They look just about the same as modern dice. Some are bone, some soapstone. What irritates the science boys, however, is said dice are loaded. To throw deuces and fives.

China hate drive ominous, scholar says

HONOLULU (UPI) — An Asian scholar said Monday that an ominous aspect of the development of mainland China is that Chinese children are being taught to "hate designated enemies" and to glorify "just wars."

Dr. Robert A. Scalapino, in an address to the 1971 United Press International Conference of Editors and Publishers (EDICON) also said these children are being taught to accept violence as the most probable method of resolving fundamental differences.

Scalapino, professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley, prepared his remarks for a panel discussion on China.

Speaking on the precept that violence can be justified, Scalapino said:

"In many respects, it is this latter element within nationalism—combined with a deeply entrenched xenophobia that bears watching with respect to China, not her communism per se. The aggressive, expansionist potential in this element has been contained to date by China's basic weaknesses and her necessary preoccupation with internal tasks—together with the political-military equilibrium that has prevailed in East Asia. It may be contained in the future as well by these factors and the complexities which ensue from the Chinese People's Republic (CPR) participation in the international community."

Scalapino, who has served as a State Department consultant, said the leaders of mainland China appear determined to acquire modern military power.

"If we may trust trained observers such as the British Institute of Strategic Studies, the Chinese currently have some three million men under arms—some 2800 military aircraft, 40 diesel powered submarines and about 20 operational ballistic missiles," he said.

"They reportedly have constructed their first jet fighter in the past year, have their first nuclear powered submarine under construction, and are working full speed upon increasing their nuclear weapons arsenal."

Scalapino said that from the American viewpoint, some political interaction with the Chinese Peoples Republic is inevitable and necessary as "our posture in East Asia is reduced and redefined and a new power confrontation begins to take shape."

Referring to President Nixon's proposed visit to Peking, Scalapino said:

"No doubt every president wants one spectacular diplomatic moon-shot to his credit, despite the fact that such ventures frequently appear to promise more than they can deliver."

He said that the new directions signaled for U.S. policy have their roots in a combination of realism and political sophistication regarding the nature of the current world.

"Unfortunately, this political style surrounding the policy shift — and especially the projected Nixon trip—was exceedingly clumsy and hence costly—especially to American-Japanese relations," he said.

Solon assails BSC, city link

BONNERS FERRY (UPI) — Rep. Marlon Davidson, D-Bonnors Ferry, Monday charged relations between Boise State College and the Boise business community should be completely severed.

Davidson, a longtime member of the Appropriations Committee, said, "to allow a situation to develop where the people of the state are paying debts of a private corporation is intolerable."

He based his claims on the Sept. 24 report of the legislative auditor.

"This report showed that in 1969-70, $75,000 of state of Idaho public funds were used to assist a private corporation pay for Boise real estate," said the state representative, who claimed the money came from funds appropriated for Boise State College. He said the private corporation is the Boise State College Foundation, Inc.

Davidson said while the State Board of Education has requested the corporation pay the money back, the report said "our review indicates that as of the date of this report, no reimbursement has been received by Boise State College or the state treasurer."

Davidson said this is but one example of the "slipshod" manner in which the school has been operating.

The report of the auditor made additional recommendations including:

- The use of student fees to purchase student clothing should be stopped;
- The school should stop using general fund money to pay dues, food and beverage costs at a Boise country club, and;
- The school should stop using general fund money to pay food and beverage costs at a Boise business for the convenience of Boise State College President John B. Barnes.

Ex-justices praised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With two empty chairs at the extreme ends of the bench, the Supreme Court opened its new term Monday with praise from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger for the justices who once sat in them.

The 11-minute ceremonial session was the first term opening in 34 years in which Hugo L. Black did not sit behind the mahogany bench.

There was no indication whom President Nixon would name to fill the vacancies left by Black's death and the retirement of Justice John M. Harlan, who stepped down because he is suffering from cancer of the lower spine.

Black served on the court 34 years—second longest tenure in history—and a court spokesman said he never missed an opening day. Black died Sept.

25 at the age of 85, eight days after he sent his resignation to the White House.

Harlan, 72, who served for 16 years, retired two days later.

With just seven justices, the court has put off some of its important cases until later in the term, although Nixon has said he would try to fill the vacancies quickly so the court could get on with its work.

Speaking from the bench, Burger said of Black: "Throughout his entire life he never wavered in his unbounded faith in the people and in the political processes of a free people under the American constitution. He loved this court as an institution and contributed mightily to its work, to its strength and to its future. He revered the constitution; he had enormous respect for the presidency and for the Congress, but above all else, he believed in the people.

"In a period when institutions are under attack and when people themselves are having doubts about their own capacity to govern—themselves, this should give heart to all, for Hugo Black had no doubt whatever about the ability of an informed and free people to govern their own destinies."

The chief justice voiced the hope of the court for the recovery of Harlan, who was on the opposite side of the liberal Black.

Burger said that only ill health persuaded Harlan to leave the court and remarked that Harlan's opinions during his 16-year tenure "attest to his prolific and erudite contributions to the work of the court."

November deadline announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has announced Nov. 15 as the deadline for submitting application to him for the Naval, Military, Air Force and Merchant Marine academies.

Hansen said he has six vacancies in the Second District to the U.S. Service academies for the entering class of 1972.

He said two vacancies to be filled are to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, two at the Military Academy at West Point and two to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. Two more cadets may be selected from the state at large for the Merchant Marine Academy.

Hansen said he is entitled to nominate 10 candidates for each of the vacancies and said students may apply to more than one academy.

Final selection will be made by the academies on a competitive basis.

Limit cut on trout proposed

BOISE (UPI) — The director of the Idaho Fish and Game Department said today the Fish and Game Commission will be asked to lower to statewide daily trout bag limit to 10 from the present limit of 15.

Director Joseph C. Greenley said the department will present its complete slate of recommendations for fishing seasons and regulations for next year during the quarterly meeting of the commission on Oct. 14 in Boise.

Other changes to be recommended by the department fieldmen include placing the Middle Fork of the Salmon River on a catch-and-release-only basis due to the rapidly increasing numbers of float fishermen and a declining cut-throat fishery.

Another recommended change would place restrictions on the daily bag and season limits for salmon and steelhead trout following the recent nitrogen supersaturation crisis.

During the period of the nitrogen crisis, it will be proposed that the salmon limits be cut to one per day, two in any seven day period and five per season.

Presently, the salmon limits are two, four and 10. This year the steelhead limits are two per day, four in any seven day period and 20 per season. The recommendation is for possibly one per day, two in any seven-day period and 10 per season.

Additional recommendations including:

- The use of student fees to purchase student clothing should be stopped;
- The school should stop using general fund money to pay dues, food and beverage costs at a Boise country club, and;
- The school should stop using general fund money to pay food and beverage costs at a Boise business for the convenience of Boise State College President John B. Barnes.

Rupert student hailed

POCATELLO (UPI) — Randy Thomas, Rupert, is the 1970-71 outstanding park and recreation student at Idaho State University, according to the Idaho Recreation and Park Society.

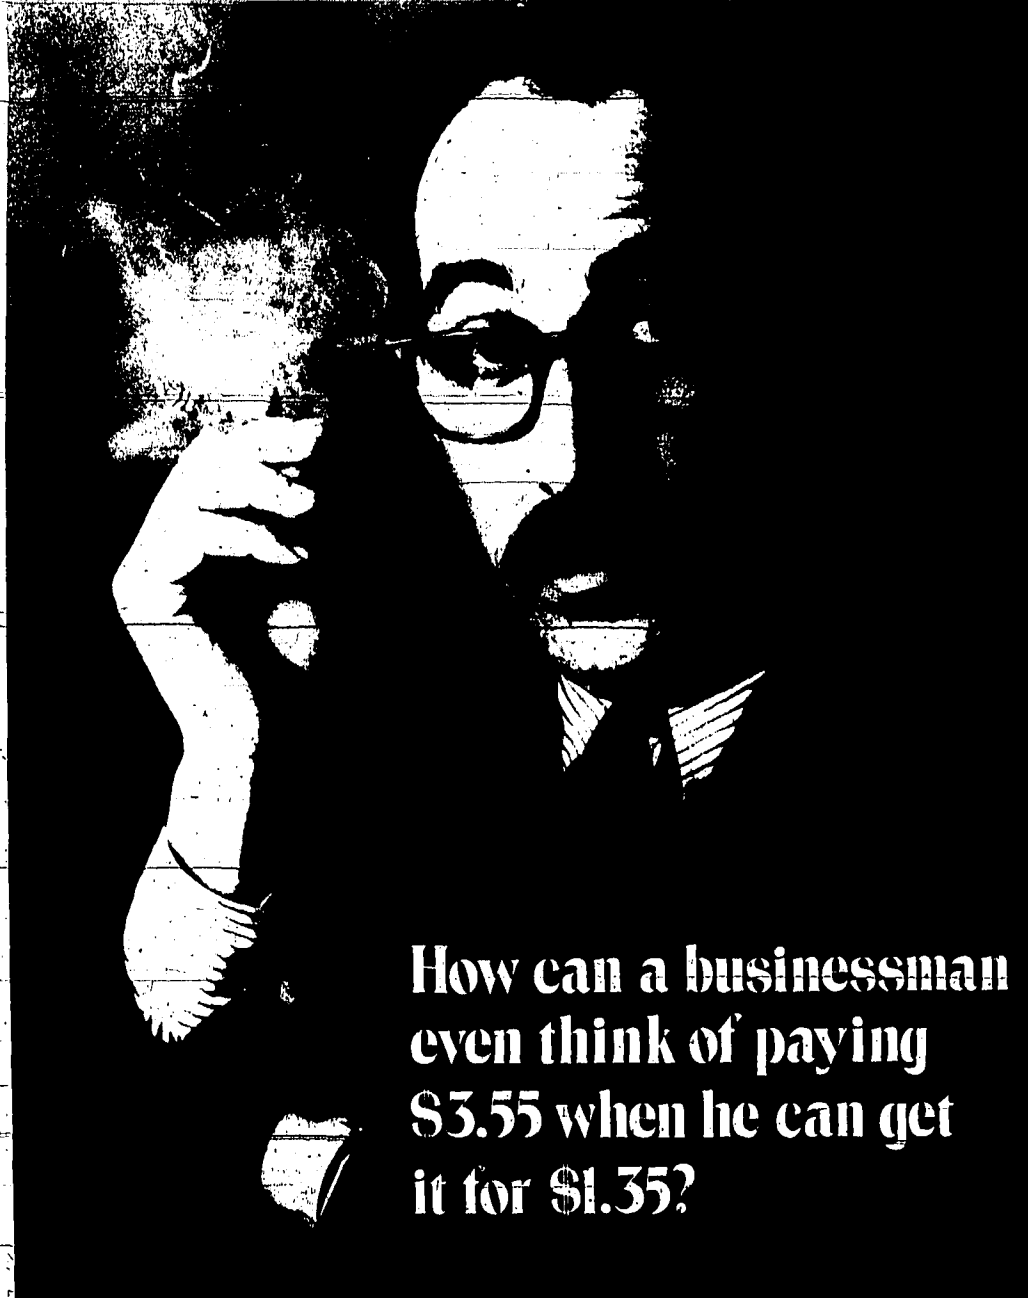

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will be guest speaker at a banquet Oct. 8 in Lewiston at which the award will be presented to Thomas.

During its annual conference in Lewiston the conference will consider "Challenge: Leisure and Environment."

Pair hurt

TWIN FALLS — Two persons suffered minor injuries and two vehicles were demolished in a traffic accident early Sunday in the 1100 block of Blue Lakes Blvd.

City police said a vehicle driven by James Alan Marth, 22, Oakland, Calif., was traveling north and signaled for a left turn. A second vehicle driven by Mark Edwin Bruner, 20, Twin Falls, also traveling north did not see the signal and crashed into the rear of the first vehicle, police said. The accident occurred at 1:50 a.m.

Weekends 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sat. and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Sun.	70¢ first 3 mins.	$1.40 first 3 mins.
Evenings 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sun. Through Fri.	80¢ first 3 mins.	$1.40 first 3 mins.	$3.55 first 3 mins. All times
Nights 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily	90¢ first minute (minimum call)	$1.35 (first 3 mins. minimum call)
Weekdays 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mon. through Fri.	$1.35 first 3 mins.	$1.35 first 3 mins.

Rates (plus tax) are minimum on calls made coast-to-coast. Rates are even less on most out-of-state calls of lesser distance. Where direct dialing facilities are not available, direct-dialed rates apply on operator handled, station-to-station out-of-state calls within the continental U.S., except Alaska.
