It's curtains

NEW YORK artist Christo's art project called "Valley Curtain" flaps in the wind after a heavy gust ripped the curtain's fabric Sunday. The $500,000 "masterpiece" was to have spanned Rifle Gap near Rifle, Colo. (UPI)

Winds shred giant curtain 'masterpiece'

RIFLE, Colo. (UPI)—The curtain came down Sunday on artist Christo Javacheff. He gave up his attempt to hand-drape a 1,250-foot wide orange curtain across Rifle Gap in the Colorado Rockies.

The 35-year-old Bulgarian artist, whose wrappings have covered ocean coastlines and Chicago buildings, gave up his latest art project, but said he would try again next spring.

He blamed his defeat on "mechanical failure," but tricky canyon winds were the real reason for his defeat.

A 17-man construction crew attempted Saturday to unfurl the 250,000-square-foot drape when winds came whistling through the valley and caught the massive curtain.

A quarter of the curtain began flapping wildly in the wind, clapping like thunder through the narrow canyon. It ripped on heavy machinery, trees and bushes.

Mrs. Jeanne-Claude Javacheff, wife of the artist, said Christo watched helplessly for

Colorado wreck kills Albion man

ALBION — Ray Adams, 26, Albion, was killed early this morning in a truck accident near Brighton, Colo.

Funeral services are pending and will be announced by Payne Mortuary, Burley.

Details of the accident were not available.

TF firemen probe blaze at school

TWIN FALLS — Investigation of possible arson in a fire which caused extensive damage to the basement of St. Edward's Catholic School Saturday was continuing today.

Bobby Bopp, Twin Falls fire chief, said fire marshal Fred Higgins was to complete his report of the fire today and that his department, in cooperation with the Twin Falls Police Department, was continuing the investigation.

He said men from his department would be at the fire scene today. "You never know what you might find," he said.

Twin Falls Police also continued working on the case.

The fire, which was discovered at 1:45 p.m. Saturday by Father Thomas Lafay, caused an estimated $15,000 damage to the building.

Russian buildup reported

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Soviet Union has been engaged in a major buildup of arms and the situation has become so serious that American experts estimate the United States has only one more year to negotiate an agreement at the SALT talks before the United States will be forced to re-enter the arms race, according to Life magazine.

Hugh Sidey, Life's White House correspondent, wrote in the Oct. 15 issue of Life that the subject of balance of military power has knocked Vietnam to fourth on the list of Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's list of priorities. The Soviet buildup is at the top.

Sidey wrote that the United States still holds a slight edge over the Soviet Union, but that American defense experts fear the Russians may soon have a technological breakthrough comparable to Sputnik or the giant hydrogen bomb of 1951.

Sidey said Defense Department officials are in a quandary over how to present the evidence at hand to the public. According to Sidey, Pentagon officials are afraid that the statistics will evoke ridicule or derision on the part of congressional doves and the American public. Moreover, a major Russian breakthrough could trigger a reaction in Congress, according to Sidey.

GIs refuse orders to patrol at border

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. infantrymen defending the embattled Fire Support Base Pace on the Cambodian border refused direct orders to go out on night patrol Saturday, military spokesmen said today.

Reports reaching U.S. command headquarters in Saigon indicated that when the patrol was ordered to leave the base, which has been under heavy Communist pressure for two weeks, "some of the members expressed a desire not to go."

There were, however, conflicting reports from the field that six men refused to go on patrol after six others from Bravo Company walked into a claymore mine trap laid by allied troops earlier in the day.

The men walked into the midst of the mines, set in elephant grass and undergrowth to go off automatically when tripped, the field reports said. The ambush, apparently laid by other U.S. troops, or South Vietnamese 200 yards from the base perimeter, did not go off, however. And the patrol returned to the base unharmed.

The company commander tried to form a patrol to go out at dusk. He issued direct individual orders to six men during a formation of the 90-man company and when all of them refused, he gave up, the reports said.

The story told by military sources in Saigon indicated in a brief statement that the commander prepared to send out a 12-man patrol at dusk—and "some of the members expressed a desire not to go."

"The infantry company commander repeated the order and the men prepared to move out when they learned that an ARVN (South Vietnamese) artillery battery of two 175mm and two eight-inch guns.

the ambush position," the statement said.

"At this point the order was withdrawn and no further action was taken," the statement added.

Field reports said that after the commander gave up, he called off the patrol because of "bad weather," but ARVN units went out the same night.

Spokesmen said the incident was under investigation.

The joint U.S.-South Vietnamese base on Highway 22, some 75 miles northwest of Saigon, is manned by a U.S. artillery battery of two 175mm and two eight-inch guns.

2 blasts precede VP visit

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Two bomb explosions hit the U.S. Consulate and a Consulate automobile early today shortly before Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived for an official two-day visit.

The Agnew plane touched down at Ankara Airport at 10:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. EDT). The bomb explosions had been reported at 12:45 a.m. and 1 a.m.

There were no immediate reports of trouble in Ankara, but in Istanbul, two bombs exploded at the U.S. Consulate, and two automobiles, one of them belonging to U.S. Cultural Attache Kenton W. Keith, were reported destroyed.

"It's because that man Spiro Agnew is coming," one Istanbul resident told UPI.

Turkish Premier Nihat Erim greeted Agnew and his wife at the airport.

In a short statement at the airport, Agnew said that "since 'Kemal' Atatürk, Turkey's first president, gave the new republic its direction and inspiration, Turkey has become and has served as an example and inspiration to several developing countries."

Sadat flies to Russia

By United Press International

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat flew to Moscow today to discuss with Kremlin leaders what action the Arabs will take if the Middle East peace dispute has not been settled within the next 12 weeks.

Sadat, who stopped over in Kuwait and Iran on his way to Moscow, has said in past months that a solution—either peace or war—must be found in the Middle East by the end of this year. He repeated this viewpoint just before leaving Cairo.

Allies release prisoner

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Embassy disclosed today that U.S. and South Vietnamese officials had negotiated with the Communists on release of a North Vietnamese army lieutenant and expressed hope his release would lead to the freeing of more war prisoners.

The lieutenant was flown in an unarmed helicopter today to a point inside Cambodia and released near the area where U.S. Sgt. John C. Sexton was released by the Communists on Friday. A spokesman said the lieutenant was freed as a reciprocal gesture in hopes there would be other exchanges. Sexton left for home today.

The release occurred near the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krok where new fighting was reported today between North Vietnamese and South Vietnamese units. A spokesman said 52 Communists were killed in the latest flareup there and that the government lost four killed and 20 wounded.

Rogers sees 'danger' in U.N. ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers believes expulsion of Taiwan from the United Nations might set "a very dangerous precedent" that could result in 10 other countries losing their seats.

He did not identify the other 10 nations.

The United Nations is expected to take up soon the question of the Chinese seat, now held by Taiwan, which soon will be contested by Communist China. The United States wants both Peking and Taiwan represented, but reports indicate that some nations are against a so-called "two Chinas" situation.

Rogers said Sunday that the issue of retaining Taiwan, if Peking were admitted, is "a horse race." But the secretary expressed confidence that Taiwan would continue its representation.

"It's a very dangerous precedent indeed to expel a nation by a majority vote," Rogers said. "Regardless of how you justify it, whether you justify it on the grounds of representation or what, it's a very dangerous precedent and will be very, I think, detrimental to the future of the United Nations because I can think of 10 other nations that would be on the list in the future."

China army shaken up

HONG KONG (UPI)—A major shakeup of Communist China's top military command may be under way, diplomatic sources said today. They said it could involve Lin Piao, China's defense minister and the chosen successor to Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

The sources, who specialize in Chinese affairs, said the apparent command changes could be the result of the "incapacity" of Lin Piao. There have been rumors he is ailing or dead, since he has not been seen in public for several months.

The first sign of a possible command shakeup was the apparent transfer and possible promotion of the commander of one of the 13 military regions in China, Hsu Shih-yu.

Hsu has been commander of the important Nanking military region for about 15 years. He also is a vice defense minister and, more important, a full member of the powerful 25-member Political Bureau (Politburo) of this Communist Party's Central Committee.

Ailing?

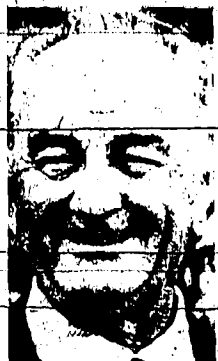

LIN PIAO, Communist Chinese Defense Minister and constitutional successor to Mao Tse-tung, was reported seriously ill by the New York Times. The illness reportedly has caused repercussions inside China. (UPI)

LBJ memoirs coming in T-N

Beginning Sunday, the Times-News will carry a series of articles excerpted from Lyndon Baines Johnson's memoirs.

LBJ view

"The Vantage Point: Perspectives of the Presidency, 1963-1969" is the first official statement by LBJ of his personal role in the White House in the years following the assassination of President Kennedy.

The series should give Magic Valley readers a clearer understanding of the personality and impact of the man who shaped American policy through the 1960s, an era of assassination, racial turmoil, widespread disillusionment in the growing U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, and growing cynicism about America's future.

Johnson tells, in his own terms and with an eye to historical justification of his policies, what he felt as he approached the key decisions of his Presidency.

The whole man emerges, beginning Sunday in the Times-News.

Vote set on full rights for women

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House votes Tuesday on a proposed constitutional amendment to guarantee women equal rights with men, then turns to subjects ranging from consumer protection to military withdrawal from Vietnam.

The vote on the equal rights amendment, which has been a major goal of Women's Lib groups for years, was postponed from last Thursday until the day after the long Columbus Day holiday weekend when the House put off all business following the death of Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa.

At issue is not whether an amendment will be passed, but whether it will be the straight uncompromising version demanded by women's groups or an amended version that would exempt women from the military draft and would allow laws aimed at protecting women.

The original amendment proposed by Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., says, "Equality of rights of any person under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

But Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., won Judiciary Committee approval for adding a proviso saying, "This article shall not impair the validity of any law of the United States which exempts a person from compulsory military service or any other law of the United States or of any state which reasonably promotes the health and safety of the people."

A close vote is expected on the Wiggins amendment.

A two-thirds House vote is needed to send the rights amendment to the Senate, which last year allowed a similar amendment to die.

Following a vote by the amendment, the House will begin debate on a bill to create a consumer protection agency, which consumer advocate Ralph Nader opposes on the grounds it has been weakened to the point that it is useless.

There also is a chance the House will vote this week on the amendment to the military procurement bill by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield which calls for withdrawal of all U.S. military forces from Indochina within six months after release of all American prisoners of war.

In Twin Falls today, Norma Herzinger, a member of the U.S. Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services, said she favors the amended version of the equal rights amendment.

"I'm not the 'burn your bra' type woman liberalist," she said. "I'm like the majority of the women in Idaho, we just want to compete on an equal level without having to give up our womanhood to do so."

Mrs. Herzinger said the idea of women being drafted into the military at this time defeats the purpose of the all-volunteer services President Nixon seeks by 1973.

The essence of "volunteer" has been the backbone of the women in the armed services since its inception, she said. Many laws have been enacted during the past 20 years, many of them within the past two or three, enabling women to compete right along side their male counterparts for rank.

She said the laws pertaining to women in the services are "obsolete and need to be updated." For example, she said, if a military woman nurse is married to a civilian, her husband is not eligible for military medical care. But if roles are reversed, the woman is entitled to all benefits.

Women in the services are ahead of civilian women, however, in as much as their pay is rated on the same pay scale as men, she said.

Black killed by policemen in gunbattle

DENVER (UPI) — A man who claimed he was instrumental in the escape of Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver from the United States was killed Sunday in a gunbattle with police.

James Elbert Young Jr., 30, was shot to death in northeast Denver following a police chase and gunbattle which began with a knife attack on several women outside an after-hours night club, according to Detective Robert Shaughnessy.

Young, whose police record dated back to 1953 with at least two dozen arrests and numerous convictions, was the former defense minister for the Denver Black Panther party until he was expelled two years ago during a nationwide purge within the organization.

In an exclusive interview with a Denver radio station in 1969, Young claimed he helped Cleaver escape from the country to Tunisia by way of Cuba. He also was reputed to be a close friend of Panther leader Huey Newton.

Shaughnessy said police were called to the club to investigate a disturbance and saw four women struggling with a man when they arrived on the scene.

Police identified one of the women as Young's wife, Virginia. One of the stabbing victims, Pamela Watkins, 21, was reported in serious condition at Denver General Hospital with a knife wound in the chest. A second victim was in fair condition and a third was treated and released.

The police, after a 10-minute chase, converged on Young in a northeast Denver residential section. Patrolman Dan Rieley cornered Young when he tried to make a U-turn and the van ran over the curb.

Diane Vasil

BURLEY — Diane Marie Vasil, 10, Meridian, was killed Saturday in an auto accident enroute to her home.

She was born May 1, 1952 at Santa Monica, Calif. She was a junior attending Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. She was a member of the LDS Church.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Vasil, Meridian; one brother, Michael Vasil, Meridian; one sister, Mrs. Robert (Linda) Vinson, Los Angeles, Calif.; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Phillips, Meridian.

Funeral services and final rites will be held in Meridian. Local arrangements are by McCulloch Funeral Home, Burley.

British soldier dead of wound

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British Army Pvt. Roger Wilkins died in a Belfast hospital today, two weeks after being shot in the head by gunmen in Londonderry, an army spokesman said.

The death of Wilkins, 33, father of five, brought to 25 the number of soldiers killed in the British province in 1971. In all, 87 persons have died in this year's bloodshed.

Announcement of Wilkins' death came as the army sought to solve a problem: British soldiers in Northern Ireland have orders to shoot anyone throwing a bomb at them. "What if the bomber is a child?"

"It's a very perplexing problem: How can you shoot when the enemy is an 8-year-old boy?" an army spokesman said today. "We're just as human as anyone else."

He spoke after an incident Sunday in which two boys thought to be about 8 flung nail bombs at an army patrol in Belfast. The troops held their fire.

Neither bomb went off. One of the youths dashed out, retrieved the bomb and sprinted to a nearby house. Still, no soldier fired a shot.

"We don't have any directive for this sort of situation," the spokesman said. "It's just difficult, bloody difficult. Until recently the kids just carried out aggression — with bottles and stones and things.

JEROME — Services for John Woolley will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Hove Funeral Chapel. Final rites will follow in the Jerome Cemetery.

Teacher, four students die

MARIETTA, Ohio (UPI) — At 11:28 a.m., the Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church was discussing the religious implications of Charles Manson's hippie commune. In 17 minutes, Michael Murphy, 30, would dismiss his class.

Suddenly a boiler encased in concrete on the middle floor of the three-story church annex exploded. The floor "crumbled like an eggshell" and tons of concrete, metal and scalding water cascaded down on Murphy's first floor classroom.

The teacher and four of his teen-age students were killed. Fourteen others attending his and other classes in the annex building were injured, one critically.

William Hickman, teaching an adult class 20 feet from the boiler, was flung to the floor by the blast and cut by flying glass. He groped his way through smoke and blackness into an adjacent nursery, where he heard two-year-old children crying.

He told police he dug through the rubble of a fallen wall and rescued the three infants.

"I found all three babies and handed them to someone who was standing beside me and I guess they took them out. I think the babies might have suffocated had they not been removed quickly."

Dobbie McLendon, 15, recalled from her hospital bed later: "Our teacher, Mr. Murphy, was interested in the Manson case and we were talking about the religious cults that surrounded the case.

"Then the explosion hit, everything went dark — almost completely black," she said. "For about a minute or two I couldn't see anything. Finally it started to get light in the room and it was filled with steam. Someone yelled, 'get out.'"

The blast, according to Mayor John Burnworth, came only three minutes after the church custodian shut off the boiler when he found the boiler room full of steam and the temperature 30 degrees above normal. The boiler had been started an hour earlier because of the crisp October weather.

"The floor crumbled like an eggshell," Burnworth said. "It just opened up and the boiler, concrete and steel fell onto a class beneath it. It just blew all to hell."

The three-story annex was built on a slope. Half of Murphy's classroom was above ground, the section on the upward slope was below ground. The boiler was on the floor above.

The church, which was not damaged, is connected to the annex by a small, enclosed vestibule walkway.

The boiler exploded sideways and upwards as well as down, collapsing a stairwell and a wall. Their weight brought the floor down on Murphy's class. A group of 6 to 8-year-olds attending classes on the top floor were uninjured.

Six other youngsters were treated and released.

Inmates surrender

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UPI) — Seven inmates in the Security Treatment Center at the Connecticut Valley Hospital seized a ward for a brief time Sunday night but surrendered after setting fire to mattresses in the state hospital.

Dr. Abraham Zolchner, acting coordinator of the center, said the 24-hour disturbance in the maximum security ward for the criminally insane was caused by men "who apparently felt they couldn't take it any more."

He also said the men had been drinking.

The patients, abandoned by the 11 other residents of Ward A in the still-incomplete treatment facility which houses 50 patients, surrendered voluntarily in two groups of three and four each in a walled courtyard about midnight after a second request by hospital officials.

"They made a number of complaints concerning what they thought was inadequate treatment and conditions and they expressed a sense of helplessness, Zolchner said.

Sorority has book review

BURLEY — Mrs. Iva Lou Badger reviewed the book "Never Cry Wolf," written by Farley Cowart, during the October meeting of the Alpha Delta Kappa chapter of the teachers' sorority on Friday.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Ellen M. Oberholzer in Burley.

New members, including Mrs. Joyce Evans and Mrs. Maurine Whittle, were welcomed, and Mrs. Mary Curl, president, announced that the November meeting is scheduled for the home of Mrs. Floyd Eilers.

Mrs. Dean Hammond will direct a program on holiday ideas during the November meeting.

Buttars

BURLEY — Graveside services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Buttars will be conducted at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Pleasant View Cemetery, Burley.

The infant was still born Thursday at a Bountiful, Utah, hospital.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Buttars, Bountiful, Utah; two brothers, Brian Buttars and Gregg Buttars, both at home in Bountiful; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. DeVon Smith, Paul and Mr. and Mrs. DeVal Buttars, Burley.

Arrangements will be directed by the McCulloch Funeral Home, Burley.

German voters attend polls

BREMEN, Germany (UPI) — Voters in West Germany's smallest state returned the Social Democratic party to the state legislature Sunday with an absolute majority in an election seen as an expression of confidence in Chancellor Willy Brandt's Eastern policy.

The election committee for the Bremen state legislative elections announced Brandt's Social Democrats received 55.3 per cent of the vote, up 9.3 per cent from the previous election four years ago. The increase meant the Social Democrats will have 59 seats in the new house, against the 50 they held before.

The Christian Democrats, who predicted a "resounding success" for themselves in the elections, increased their representation in the 100-seat legislature by two seats — 34 against their earlier 32. They polled 31.6 per cent of the vote, compared with the 29.5 per cent in the 1967 election.

The Free Democrats, junior partners to the Social Democrats for 20 years until they broke the alliance in June over radical educational policies proposed by the major party.

Question...

Our high school age son is interested in your profession as a career. Please tell me the requirements he must have to qualify.

Answer...

There are no uniform national standards which apply to all of the states except formal examination and licensing. Several basic minimums are common to most states:

- Age 21 and at least a high school education is required universally. Twenty-two states have specific college subject requirements.
- Not less than nine months attendance in a school of mortuary science is a requisite of all states. Some states require twelve months, Oregon and New York require two years.
- One year of apprenticeship is a minimum requirement of 21ll states; two years are required by twenty-seven states. Florida and New Jersey demand three years.

There is a need and a place for sensitive and dedicated people in our profession. We would like to talk with you and will suggest some appropriate reading for you. After a little research he will be able to determine for himself whether he has the basic aptitudes for a career in funeral service.

Inferno hits Chicago...

The scene today...

Chicago survives 1871 holocaust

A CENTURY AGO on Friday, fire devastated downtown Chicago, destroying 17,500 buildings and killing at least 300 people. Damage was estimated at $186 million after the 30-hour conflagration was finally conquered. The top photo shows the scene at the corner of State and Madison Streets several days after the fire, looking northeast with Lake Michigan in the background. Horses-drawn street cars are running again, and bricks from destroyed buildings have been piled in neat stacks. In the bottom photo, the same scene, taken from a slightly higher point, shows Chicago a century later. The great Chicago fire started sometime between 8 and 10 p.m. on Oct. 8, 1871, and raged unchecked for nearly 30 hours. It was believed to have started when a cow in a barn belonging to a Mrs. O'Leary kicked over a kerosene lantern and ignited a pile of straw. (UPI)

'Favorite sons' concept assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) task force Saturday announced it will use "all possible means" — including going to court if necessary—to block "favorite son" candidacies in the 1972 presidential nominations.

The ADA charged such tactics are in "direct violation" of both parties' reform movements designed to insure "full participation by rank and file party members" in choosing the nominees.

In years past, state delegations have often backed a "favorite son" for president—a ploy used to hold the bloc of votes for back-room bargaining with serious candidates. The task force said such strategy already is being mapped in seven states and the District of Columbia for next year's Democratic convention. It said these states have 1,003 delegate-votes—nearly two thirds of the votes needed for nomination.

In other political developments: —Republican National Chairman Robert J. Dole said that during the Nixon administration, annual farm income has risen from $13.8 billion to $16 billion.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said that as far as victory in 1972 is concerned, the Democratic party "has moved from the impossible to the possible, but we haven't moved to the probable as yet."

O'Brien was interviewed by newsmen Joseph McCaffrey on WMAL-TV here.

The task force said it would use "all legal means" to make sure each favorite son candidate is entered, "with or without his consent" in other presidential primaries — thus forcing him to become a serious candidate nationwide or to drop out of the race entirely.

The task force said it would also encourage serious contenders to challenge favorite sons "through whatever means necessary"; encourage state and party officials to prohibit favorite son candidacies, and discourage party members from giving "support of any kind" to favorite sons.

Rogers is optimistic on peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is optimistic his Middle East mediating mission still has a chance for success, U.S. officials said today.

Rogers returned to Washington Friday after a week-long series of meetings in New York, where he had been to attend the U.N. General Assembly session. During his stay he met with 70 foreign ministers in town for the session.

The secretary of state returns to New York Tuesday to confer with another 20 foreign envoys, including Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban.

U.S. officials said two main points came out of the talks: —There still is hope Rogers will be able to get an Israeli-Arab agreement to reopen the Suez Canal as part of an interim Middle East settlement.

—Rogers is less confident about his efforts to lobby votes for the U.S. two-China proposal, which would allow the seating of Communist China in the United Nations while retaining a seat for Nationalist China.

The skin of the beaver was often used as money in early Canada.

Turkish terrorists sentenced to death

ANKARA (UPI) — A Turkish military tribunal Saturday sentenced to death 18 members of a terrorist group which kidnaped four U.S. airmen in Ankara last March.

The chief judge, Col. Ahmet Tok, announced the sentence against Deniz Gezmiş and 17 other members of the self-proclaimed "Turkish People's Liberation Army" (TPLA).

The court said Gezmiş and members of his cell within the outlawed "liberation army" seized four U.S. enlisted men March 4 and held them hostage for three days at a suburban apartment only a short walk from the U.S. Embassy. They were released unharmed when the Turkish government refused to negotiate or pay the $300,000 ransom demanded by the terrorists.

The U.S. servicemen were Airmen 1C Larry Heaver, Denver; James M. Gholson, Alexandria, Va.; Richard Carrazi, Stamford, Conn.; and Sgt. Jimmy J. Sexton, San Angelo, Tex.

Proclaiming themselves Turkey's "urban guerrillas," the left-wing extremist organization took public responsibility for much of the civil disturbance which led to the downfall March 12 of the government of former Premier Suleyman Demirel.

Burglaries seem 'popular' crime

NEW YORK (UPI) — Companies dealing in anti-burglary devices are in a growth market if the latest annual FBI report on crime is any indication.

Analysis of the 207-page report released Aug. 21 indicates that in 1970 a burglary was committed every 15 seconds with an average dollar loss of $310. Amateur burglars, driven by drug habits or looking for thrills, and the professionals broke into homes and apartments and carried off some $407 million worth of goods and valuables.

Roy Bolt, the aptly named president of Kwikset, the Anaheim, Calif., division of Emhart Corp. of Bloomfield, Conn. and a major producer of residential locks, thinks a telling statistic in the report is the 13 per cent increase in daytime burglaries. They accounted for more than half the losses in homes and apartments and since 1960 have risen 337 per cent. Bolt said 77 per cent of all burglaries in 1970 involved forcible entry and only six per cent were thwarted.

Although big cities still accounted for 38 per cent of all burglaries, according to the FBI, suburban and rural areas showed a 12 per cent rise.

Even Bolt, who has a vested interest in the problem, admits that no home can be made 100 per cent burglar proof. There are simple, inexpensive ways to discourage the average amateur burglar, and that's a major part of the problem. About 83 per cent of those arrested for burglary in 1970 were under 25, and there has been a 72 per cent increase in arrests involving burglars under 18. So what can be done to protect the home?

You can add a deadlatch for all outside doors at a cost of as little as $1.50 per door. This little piece of hard brass slides on the latch face and prevents jimmying with a celluloid strip or plastic card.

Cylinder deadlocks are recommended for all front, back and side doors in addition to existing locks. They should be made of steel and brass with a heavy-duty 5/8-inch or 1-inch deadbolt and an all brass cylinder ring that will turn free at any attempt to remove with a pipe wrench or saw.

On doors with glass panels, Bolt recommends installing double-cylinder deadlocks with a key that locks from either side.

Spiro Agnew's Gift To Greece

WASHINGTON — Despite a half-baked effort by President Nixon's foreign policymakers to portray Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's official visit to the Greek dictatorship as "routine," the trip — privately opposed by U. S. diplomats — badly undermines the President's policy aimed at restoring parliamentary government in Greece.

That conclusion is inescapable considering the publicly now pouring into the government-controlled press in Athens, which is promising that the reception for Agnew will be the most lavish in postwar Greece and that the son of a Greek immigrant will be treated like royalty in the land of his father. That's justifiable. No other Greek-American has ever reached so high a political pinnacle in America.

What is not justifiable is the corollary: this outpouring of emotion for Agnew will be instantaneously converted by President George Papadopoulos, the Greek military dictator, into proof that the Nixon administration, despite words to the contrary, is surreptitiously all the way behind the dictatorship.

The facts are quite different. U. S. Ambassador Henry Tasca, after months of kowtowing to Papadopoulos, recently has been making ostentatious visits to leaders of the outlawed political parties who ran Greece before the 1967 coup d'etat of the Colonel.

This private talk with exiled former Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis, a highly respected conservative, in Paris last week so infuriated the regime that it threatened to ban all contacts between U. S. diplomats and the ex-parliamentary leaders, most of whom still live in Athens. That threat will not stop Tasca's overtures to the silenced opposition.

In short, the Nixon policy remains as is: to keep the dictatorship at semi-arm's length and to encourage the regime to end the long period of martial law and schedule free elections.

But Agnew's six-day visit (two days as the official guest of Papadopoulos, four to visit his family's village of Gargalianoi on the Peloponnese) will crown out the effect of Tasca's tentative gestures toward the intensely anti-Papadopoulos democratic forces.

It is no wonder, then, that the State Department cried in vain to stop the Vice President's junket to Greece. On Agnew's worldwide trip last summer, top State Department officials succeeded in persuading the White House not to permit Agnew to stop in Greece, even though his visit took him to the eastern Mediterranean area and he beseeched the President to let him include Greece on his itinerary.

But when Mr. Nixon designated his Vice President to represent the U.S. in Iran at the 2,500th anniversary of the Persian Empire, Agnew renewed his request for permission to visit Greece with such fervor that the President (in the words of one aide) "could not say no."

Now, having lost the main battle, State Department operatives are preparing briefing papers they hope will convince Agnew to say the right things to Papadopoulos. But that effort is likely to fail.

Agnew was popping off exultantly about the military takeover as long as three years ago. In a speech on Sept. 27, 1968, he said the Papadopoulos junta "has not proven itself to be as horrendous a spectre to contemplate as most people thought it would." Rather, he said, it had "done a bit to stabilize the Communist threat" and would "provide a salutary climate in which a free elective system can take place."

In short, Agnew is philosophically and ideologically tied to Papadopoulos and his military regime, an historical fact not likely to make him an earnest advocate of President Nixon's public policy of coolness toward Greece.

His visit also will be of inestimable value to Papadopoulos in smothering the impact of the Congressional ban on all U.S. aid to Greece passed by the House and pending in the Senate. Finally, it has been allowed to take place despite new evidence under study here that Papadopoulos will not consider free elections until 1973 at the earliest.

So, the "routine" Agnew visit to his ancestral land is another episode where this most controversial of Vice Presidents is running counter to the President's stated policy.

COMMENT Bill Of Rights

St. Louis Post-Dispatch In seeking legislation to enable prosecutors to gain easier convictions, the Nixon Administration has made another move in what appears to be a systematic effort to undermine the Bill of Rights.

Attorney General John Mitchell's Justice Department has already led a frontal assault on the First Amendment, in the Pentagon Papers cases, in subpoenaing newsmen and in prosecuting and harassing dissenters. Mr. Mitchell has favored (successfully for the District of Columbia) no-knock police invasion of citizens' homes and has advocated Justice Department eavesdropping on their phone conversations, without court authorization, despite the Fourth Amendment's guarantee against "unreasonable searches and seizures." He has favored (successfully for the District of Columbia) so-called preventive detention of suspected but unconvicted offenders, despite the Eighth Amendment's prohibition against "excessive bail."

Now Mr. Mitchell's Justice Department is proposing:

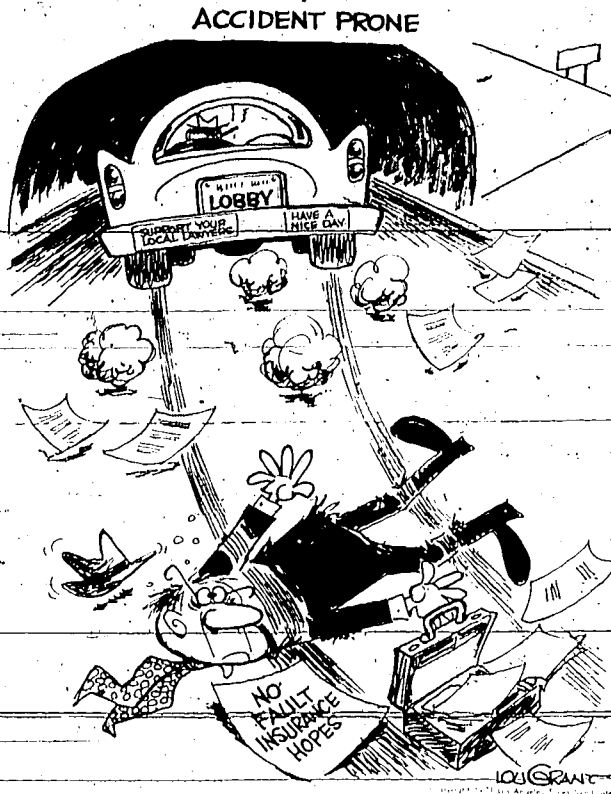

(1) To allow juries to convict defendants without a unanimous vote, despite seven centuries of Anglo-American tradition to the contrary, supported by the Sixth Amendment's guarantee of a jury trial (which has been held by the Supreme Court to be applicable to the states as well as the federal government).

(2) To admit evidence obtained in violation of the Fourth Amendment's prohibition of unreasonable searches and seizures, despite an exclusionary rule against such evidence in effect in U.S. courts for decades and despite a ten-year-old Supreme Court decision against the admission of such evidence in state courts.

(3) To limit defendants' rights of appeal based on claims that the prosecution violated constitutional protections against illegal searches (Fourth Amendment), against self-incrimination (Fifth Amendment) and requiring the assistance of counsel (Sixth Amendment). The Justice Department would short-circuit these safeguards of the Bill of Rights by restricting the use of the writ of habeas corpus, as guaranteed in Article I of the Constitution.

In thus trying to nullify Supreme Court decisions implementing constitutional protections for the accused, the Nixon Department of Justice seems to be totally oblivious of two important considerations: (1) that the Bill of Rights was designed to prevent unjust convictions of the innocent and (2) that, even with the Supreme Court's more stringent requirements in criminal procedure, the overall national rate of acquittals or dismissals has not changed appreciably (15.4 per cent in 1964 compared to 15.2 per cent in 1970). Study after study has shown that, while new rules of criminal procedure may have forced the police and the courts to engage in more meticulous and time-consuming work, they have not had a significant negative effect on law enforcement.

The failures of the criminal justice system lie in the vast numbers of crimes that are unreported, for which no one is apprehended, and in the ineffectiveness of the correctional system to divert those who are convicted from lives of crime. The failure of law and order does not stem from enforcement of the Bill of Rights, whose bulwark against injustice and despotism the Nixon Administration seems to be determined to breach.

ANDREW TULLY

Really Annoyed

WASHINGTON — Past-master General Winton Blount's call for a boycott of French goods until Paris cracks down on drug traffic to the United States was instantly disavowed by the State Department, which recalls a remark once uttered by that plain man of the people, Harry S. Truman.

"If you want to join a foreign government," Truman once told a gaggle of newsmen, "arrange for an American official to say something critical about them. Then quickly have the State Department repudiate his statement. That way, the foreign government knows we're really annoyed with them!"

In Blount's case, the administration was acting on Truman's advice. It is the feeling on high that the French are moving altogether too slowly against the illicit shipment of heroin to these shores, but protocol says the U.S. cannot say so officially. Thus, Blount's statement in a speech in Dallas dedicating a new postage stamp with the slogan "Prevent Drug Abuse." There is not the slightest doubt that the White House knew in advance of Blount's blast at the French, and condoned — if it did not indeed encourage — his harsh language.

Blount, of course, has nothing to do with catching dope peddlers except as an irate citizen. But I expect the French got the message of American impatience because he is the second U. S. official in the past two months to express that impatience in print. The first was John Cusack, Paris-based chief of European operations for the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics, who told a Socialist newspaper in Marseilles that the leaders of the drug trade were "perfectly known" to the French authorities, and that there were at least five and probably 10 processing laboratories in the Marseilles region along.

Blount's heavy-handed assault on our allies. A meaningful boycott of French goods is hardly likely, and perhaps not even sensible: After all, Washington has a trade surplus of $542-million with France, one of the few silver linings in our grim balance of payments problem. But it is comforting to hear an American official express his outrage over an outrageous situation. Blount was citing official figures when he said that an estimated 80 per cent of the heroin which finds its way into this country "and into the bloodstreams of our young" comes from France. For the French, this is a business that runs into the billions of dollars, and it is a strain on human credulity to suppose some of that big dough is not employed to corrupt French officials.

(Even one might add, as the domestic dope traffic has become a financial windfall for some of our own political creeps.)

The fact is that France's illicit heroin industry could not exist without official collusion and corruption. The industry is just too big to escape detection. This is our business because of another fact — the official statistic that says 90 per cent of the heroin sold in the U. S. comes from abroad.

Thus, Blount's statement that "this nation is being victimized by those nations that overlook the production and export of illicit drugs from their territory into our own" is overly polite. All that heroin doesn't penetrate these shores, and Junior's vbins, merely because the French government has been seized with an attack of absent-mindedness.

With every passing day, it will get harder for President Nixon to remove his controversial 10 per cent surcharge on imports. And there is no sign, anyway, that it can help much to check this country's worsening competitive position in world trade. Judgment is wide in the trade field that the President botched it by not making clear at the outset what, specifically, he wanted to use the surcharge to bargain for with our trading partners abroad. In the absence of such indications, the tax obviously has become simply an irritant inviting serious retaliation from others.

The worst of it is, the longer the surcharge stands, the more it is seen for what it is: a jerry-built wall which speaks louder of our trading weaknesses than of the "unfair" practices of our competitors. The embarrassing truth is that the United States is steadily losing its trading advantage, and a good part of our decline has nothing to do with our rising prices. The real problem is that we don't work very hard any more, aren't terribly inventive and innovative, and don't use resources too efficiently.

A lot of learned stuff is being turned out these days about the "work ethic." Stripped of philosophic gloss, the issue is whether the notion of hard work may not be antiquated and square, whether it might not be more sensible for us to lie down in the park and just let the affluence flow over us.

On top of this, a good many American business managers apparently have fallen in love with their press notices telling them how great they are — and they haven't been doing much lately to earn them. Well, all this has its price. In 1970, for the first time in this modern era, we yielded the title of world's foremost exporter of manufactured goods — to West Germany. In 20 years, our share of world exports of manufactures has dropped from 20 per cent to less than 20.

Economists and trading experts find many reasons. For one thing, we aren't spending as much, proportionately, for private research and development as we should. In 1968 our outlays for this were 1.6 per cent of our gross national product, while West Germany was spending 2.7 per cent and Japan 2.2 per cent. The years 1969 and 1970 were similar.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Breast Surgery

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After 19 years of marriage, I never overcame a strong complex about being flat-chested. I had read and heard of plastic surgery and decided to have it.

Now, seven months later, I regret ever having it done, especially as I was never warned of the end results. I feel no more like a woman than I did before. Can you answer some questions which disturb me?

1 — Will time soften my breast? Right now it feels hard and unnatural.

2 — Is there anything I can do to help change it?

3 — What signs of trouble should I look for in the breast area, if any or ever?

4 — Can I ever have this artificial breast removed without complications? — Mrs. U. G. Without doubt, your operation involved the use of silicone, contained in a sac to keep its shape, and implanted under the muscle that is under the breast. (This is accepted procedure, not to be confused with injection of silicone into the breast tissue, which is not approved.)

Your letter will be of interest. I have no doubt, to women contemplating such an operation; I receive countless letters on this topic. I must say, however, that yours is the first letter I have received from anyone disappointed with the results. It would be interesting to hear what others have to say, pro and con, after the surgery.

Now to answer your questions to the best of my ability:

1 — Texture of the breast depends on the amount of fat in the breast itself. The lean person should expect more firmness. Adding weight may help soften the texture because, if you can accumulate some fat in that area, the fat will be on top of the implanted sac. I do not know of any other way to reduce the firmness that distresses you.

2 — I do not know of any trouble you should expect; therefore no signs to watch for.

3 — I think the sac can be removed, if you so decide, but by all means discuss it first with the surgeon who implanted it.

Dr. Thosteson, welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Calming Viewing

Honolulu Advertiser

Most television viewers knew it all the time. So it was no surprise to them when a gorilla in a Tokyo zoo, which had suffered a nervous breakdown, was completely cured and calmed after he was allowed to watch color television in his cage.

Video critics can easily understand the success of this astonishing experiment. Most of the industry's new fall shows appear aimed at an ape's intelligence and are considered an excellent way to get to sleep at night.

Morse Returns

Portland Oregonian

Wayne Morse's decision to again become a candidate for the U. S. Senate is unsettling news for the Democratic Party, which is hardly recovered from Morse's support of Sen. Mark Hatfield, a Republican, in the 1966 election. Sen. Hatfield nosed out former congressman Robert B. Duncan by a margin of 24,017 votes, so Morse must be given major credit for the Republican victory. In contrast to Morse's efforts in 1966, Duncan, after his defeat in the primary, supported Morse in his campaign against Packwood to retain his seat in 1968, and worked for party unity. Meanwhile, Sen. Hatfield stayed out of Oregon, spent a vacation in Bermuda and otherwise did nothing to help Packwood defeat the Democratic nominee.

Now we have the possibility of Morse winning the Democratic primary and meeting Hatfield in November, assuming the senior senator decides to run and gets through the Republican primary. What will they argue about? Not the war, which they agree on, nor its economic impact; nor can they fight about civil rights or crime and punishment issues about which they agree.

What is left is Morse's age and ego. The former senator will be 71 by primary time and 72 by the November election. He will also be a freshman (if elected) starting for the third time at the bottom of the Senate's seniority ladder. Here he would find agreement with Sons, Packwood and Barry Goldwater who are leading a campaign to change the Senate's system, a campaign not likely to succeed in the lifetimes of either Morse or Packwood.

Sen. Packwood, supported by an army of youthful campaign workers, delivered Morse a stunning defeat, and survived a tedious Morse recount that only confirmed the Packwood victory. It would not seem that when the Morse record, aside from his position on the war, is again aired there will be much there to attract the new voters, particularly if Vietnam is defused as an issue. And that is what most Democratic candidates believe will be the case by 1972.

BERRY'S WORLD

"YOU, WITH THE BUBBLE GUM—GET 'IN THERE' AND... Oh, forget it!"

Dispute flares on Byrd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination gave opposing views Sunday of whether Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was qualified to be a Supreme Court justice.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., predicted Byrd would be confirmed by the Senate if he is nominated by President Nixon, and called him a man of "enormous industry and personal pride." But Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., said he would oppose Byrd as a "man whose record did not warrant his appointment to the high court."

Both men were reacting to published reports that Nixon was considering Byrd, now assistant Senate Democratic leader, to fill one of two vacancies on the court brought about by the resignation of Justices Hugo Black and John Harlan.

Harris was interviewed on Meet the Press on NBC-TV, and McGovern was interviewed on Issues and Answers on ABC-TV.

Harris, asked if he would support Byrd for the court, said, "I would not. Sen. Byrd has not had the depth of legal experience of a man you would want to see appointed to the Supreme Court for life."

Harris also attacked Byrd's record as an opponent of civil rights legislation.

But McGovern said Byrd had moderated his view toward civil rights in recent years.

McGovern said if he were President, he would not nominate Byrd, and he refused to say whether he would vote for Byrd's confirmation if he is nominated, but McGovern indicated he would not oppose Byrd.

"I think the probability is that if the President sends up his name, he will be confirmed," McGovern said.

Both Harris and McGovern voiced similar views on Nixon's new economic plan. Harris said Nixon's plan to create boards to oversee wages and prices was "too much of a mass of bureaucracy," while McGovern said the new plan was "still loaded in favor of big business."

Panamanian fete attracts throng

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — Thousands of peasants arrived from the interior Sunday in preparation for a rally Monday expected to be the largest political demonstration in Panama's history.

Because of its timing the government sponsored "Day of Definition" has set off speculation as to its purpose and consequences.

President Omar Torrijos will address 150,000 persons in Cinco de Mayo Plaza, only 200 yards from the Panama Canal Zone. The "Day of Definition" comes while Panama is negotiating a new canal treaty in Washington with the United States.

In the Canal Zone, the Columbus Day holiday was canceled for U.S. military forces. It normally would have been observed Monday. Thus all U.S. forces will be on duty during the rally. The official reason given was to "avoid traffic complications." Hundreds of trucks and busloads of Panamanians will cross the Canal Zone en route to and from the rally Monday.

The government of Panama imported 50,000 machetes for distribution to campesinos as souvenirs. Each sugar cane knife carries a sticker that says "Defend what is yours. Defend your revolutionary government. Omar."

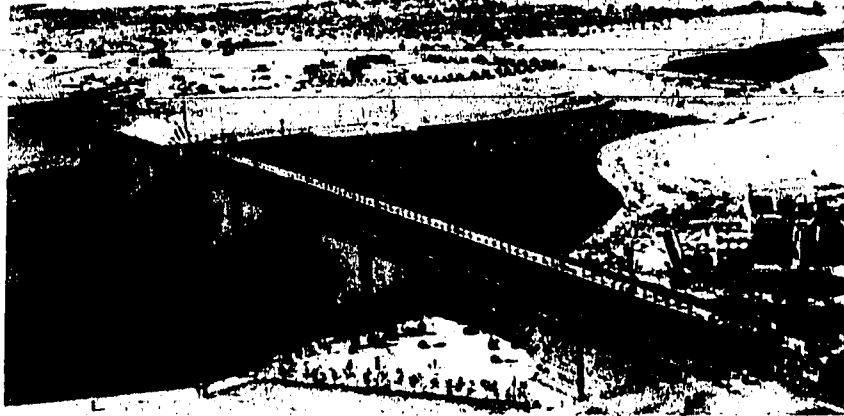

However, the government said the machetes will only be delivered to the campesinos.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H. Ointment or suppositories.

'Falling'? Hardly!

THE FAMED LONDON BRIDGE, far from "falling down," is in fine shape but in a new location — Lake Havasu, Ariz., where the largest "antique" ever sold is open to the public after being reassembled stone by stone, all 10,276 of them. A crew of 40 men worked for 23 months to reassemble the bridge in precisely the same design it had when it spanned the Thames. (UPI)

London Bridge reopens

LAKE HAVASU CITY, Ariz. (UPI) — A bit of English history and legend was reborn in this desert vastness Sunday when the Lord Mayor of London dedicated the reopening of London Bridge across a segment of the Colorado River.

The British contingent at the ceremony, numbering 35, was in stark contrast to its southwestern hosts. The Britons — in formal attire of their offices — were greeted by gun-toting sheriff's deputies at the 140-year-old granite bridge.

Lord Mayor Sir Peter M. Studd said on seeing the rebuilt bridge for the first time, "Marvelous! I am thrilled to see it here. We had to take the bridge down because it was sinking and out of date. All it could have been is wrecked, demolished and scattered. But here it has been re-established intact and on it stands a bond of strength between our two great nations."

"This grand bridge will continue to inspire men and friendships we've made over the years. What an act of generosity this has been. I hope it will be as hallowed here as it was in England."

The Lord Mayor carried a camera and took pictures of the bridge from a helicopter. Later he dedicated an enormous replica of a London pub on an acre of ground given to the Corporation of the City of London by the McCulloch Oil Corp., which developed this city in the barren desert.

The bridge, first opened by King William IV in 1831, has been reconstituted precisely as it stood in London until three years ago.

Gov. Jack Williams of Arizona joined Sir Peter in formal ceremonies and toasts at the pub where the Lord Mayor noted, "what better purpose to bring us together than the environment of an English pub." There was beer and stout for all hands.

Col. Peter M. Milo, city marshal of London said of the London Bridge's new home, "I'm delighted someone put it to jolly good use."

An estimated 50,000 persons jammed the desert oasis for the ceremonies, which included a tennis tournament, Indian canoe races, a fireworks display and an Indian arts show.

Sudanese vote endorses regime of major-general

BEIRUT (UPI) — A majority of Sudanese voters elected Maj. Gen. Jaafar Numeiry as the first president of the Democratic Republic of the Sudan, the Middle East News Agency (MENA) said Sunday night.

Numeiry, who has ruled the country for the past two years, was elected by a majority of 98.6 per cent of the votes cast, the agency said.

In a dispatch from Khartoum, monitored here, the agency said the results of a nationwide referendum on "Numeiry for President" were announced Sunday night by Vice Premier Babiker Awadallah.

Numeiry was the only candidate in the referendum, which began, last Sept. 15 and continued in various parts of the country for nearly 20 days due to the difficulty of communications.

Awadallah said 3,901,810 persons cast votes in the referendum out of a total of 4,191,784 registered voters.

Valid ballots numbered 3,895,688, Awadallah added. Of those 3,839,374 said yes and 56,314 voters said no. "This is a per centage of 98.6 per cent," Awadallah said.

Numeiry, who previously announced he would not accept the president's post unless he won an overwhelming majority, will be installed in office next Tuesday, the agency said.

Numeiry has ruled the country as chairman of the Revolution Command Council since he seized power in a military coup on May 25, 1969. He survived a Communist-led coup last July which deposed him from power for three days.

He ordered the release of more than 1,000 prisoners, including many who were detained for political reasons, in decrees issued Saturday and Sunday.

Insurgent actors vie to head actor guild

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Donald Sutherland, the Rhoomy-eyed star of "M-A-S-H," "Kluge" and others, spearheads a group of insurgent actors who seek to take over leadership of the Screen Actors Guild. The guild, now in its 38th year, is undergoing an election of officers. Charlton Heston is current president. Gov. Ronald Reagan is a past president. Traditionally, guild members have voted a slate approved by the incumbent officers, not unlike the recent Vietnam election. Sutherland is a dissident and is running for first vice-president with Bert Freed heading the Independent ticket. Says Sutherland, "I'd like to see a unified union of actors, crafts, stagehands and all the rest. Then we could bargain with the studios, producers and networks all at once." The opposition candidate for the guild presidency is John Gavin, an actor who is following the guild's tried and true elective traditions. Sutherland, a Canadian citizen, is determined to see Gavin defeated. "For the first time we can't have a popularity contest because of the distressed condition of the membership. "Did you know that 85 per cent of the actors earn only 15 per cent of the income, and that 15 per cent of the actors earn 85 per cent of the money. That's not quite right, is it?"

"I'm on the ballot because I want to change our union's position. I don't want it to be a token organization under producers. Actors are in jeopardy of losing the health and welfare plan and their pensions. I would institute a grace period for credit and extensions for those facing loss. I would also seek government subsidies." "I cannot see why honorable actors starve while others prosper," said Sutherland. "Remember actors represent only 4 per cent of production costs— not counting the high salaried stars (of which Sutherland is one). "I think we'll get out the vote this time. Every actor in the unemployment lines is for us."

Where'd you get the idea we needed a matchmaker

Transfer suspect

DUGWAY PROVING GROUNDS, Utah (UPI) — The Army Friday transferred the suspect in the knife-slaying of Mrs. Oksana Murray to Fort Carson, Colo., but did not file charges against the soldier. The victim's husband, S-Sgt. William T. Murray, returned from his post in Vietnam Friday and saw his daughters, Cindy, 1, and Katy, 3, at a base hospital where they were recovering from neck wounds like those that killed their mother.

US cities overspend their income

WASHINGTON, D. C. — City governments in the United States received $22.7 billion in revenue while spending $34.2 billion during the 1970 fiscal year, a report released today by the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Commerce shows. Fiscal 1970 covers the year ending June 30, 1970. This was a $3.0 billion (10 percent) increase in revenue and a $3.7 billion increase in expenditures over the previous fiscal year. A total of $26.0 billion of the revenue total was from general revenue sources, the remainder coming from utilities and employee-retirement systems. Detroiters make more than 8 million calls a day on 1.5 million home and business phones.

More than half of all general revenue came from city-imposed taxes, which yielded $13.6 billion. Property taxation continued as the predominant source of city-imposed taxes, supplying $9.1 billion. Other municipal tax monies included approximately $2.4 billion from general and selective sales taxes and $2.1 billion from license and miscellaneous taxes. Municipal spending, other than for operation of utilities and employee-retirement systems, totaled $27.7 billion. Municipalities also received about $6.1 billion from state governments including Federal grants channeled through the States. Total intergovernmental revenue of cities, including grants received directly from the Federal government, amounted to $7.0 billion, or more than one-fourth of general revenue from all sources.

Victory in termite war?

Smooth sailing!

THIS CYGNET has the best seat in the pond as he keeps high and dry under the protective wing of his mother in Centennial Park, Sydney, Australia. The "easy rider" is five inches of grey-white fluff only a few days old. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Navy believes, or at least hopes, it may be on the verge of winning a few battles in a long war it has been waging against termites.

Termites, as the Navy and many a householder well know, are fiendish anti-social creatures with an insatiable appetite for wood. They organize themselves into social colonies, complete with caste systems.

They attack anything made of wood, whether old locust tree or naval barracks. It is not true that they have developed a hunger for steel and concrete. But if they ever do, don't blame the H-bomb prematurely for what happened to civilization.

Anyway, the Office of Naval Research (ONR) reported recently that it is "making progress" in efforts to destroy entire termite colonies "without the use of insecticides" which might endanger the general environment.

But, ONR unhappily reported, scientists have discovered that termites "breed more profusely and are more wily than they anticipated."

The Navy's current target is the Formosan termite which infests Hawaii and the naval installations there, and has made its way to continental United States.

With special construction methods, use of resistant materials, and erection of "chemical barriers" you can reduce termite infestation. But these methods are not entirely effective, and they add considerably to building costs.

Insecticides didn't work. The termites were too smart for the Navy. They walked off sections of their underground empires where insecticides had been applied and proceeded on their business of eating the remaining unpoisoned wood.

So ONR gave the University of Hawaii a contract to find ways of wiping out termite colonies with epidemic diseases. The Hawaiian researchers enlisted a parasitic worm called nematode DD-136. It was known to be "highly infectious to all stages and castes of the termites family."

This nematode takes about seven days to infect and kill a termite. This presumably would give a diseased termite time to wander through the colony, spreading the infection and starting an epidemic.

But it developed that in some colonies the termites were able to recognize their diseased relatives. So they collected them, quarantined them behind walls, and thus prevented the epidemic plotted by the Navy.

The Navy has another big gun in the armory of weapons it is deploying against termites. It is a "highly infectious" fungus. But it doesn't spread in the midnight gloom of the termite galleries.

So now the Navy is looking

Men torture rattlesnake

VERNAL, Utah (UPI) — Two men have been charged with torturing a rattlesnake by sewing its mouth shut.

The Humane Society filed the complaint against Gary Serrano and Dallas Rowley, both 20-year-old Vernal residents.

Thomas A. Little, Humane Society director here, said the mouth of a four-foot rattler was "stitched tight" with what appeared to be fishing line.

Little said two rattlers were stitched up but that he confiscated only one because the men ate the other snake.

Many forces affect man

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Man, for as long as he has lived, has been subject to many forces—gravity, the earth's magnetic field, cosmic rays from space far beyond the world, radiations from the earth's depths, and the never-ending beat of light and charged particles from the sun.

There also have been the effects on earthly life of the tidal tug of the moon and the many aspects of weather, from gentle rain to violent storms breeding everything from lightning discharges and tornadoes to the great winds and ocean surges of the hurricane.

Many of these effects are harsh, horrible, and obvious. Many others are too subtle for human senses to perceive. They nevertheless have had their part in shaping the evolution of all living beings and such well being or misery as they have experienced.

To these subtle influences man himself has contributed in such various forms as additives to food and variations in the magnetic and electromagnetic fields to which earth dwellers are exposed.

Man-generated radio waves assault us around the clock. So do microwaves, whether from our television sets or our electronic ovens. Meanwhile, we consume preserved foods which, though they may not be demonstrably poisonous, may contain traces of chemicals which affect our lives.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology recently began a study of the biological effects of tiny amounts of food chemicals "much more subtle" than the known dangers of large quantities of mercury in fish or the massive amounts of DDT in milk products.

The earth's magnetic field changes in strength from time to time and over periods of thousands of years has been known to reverse itself. What does this do to man and his fellow creatures?

Douglas Dunlop, a University of Wisconsin botanist, has reported that old yucca comes early to plants grown in a high magnetic field. Their cells develop abnormalities which speed the aging process.

All plants are well adapted to the earth's magnetic field. But they "suffer stress or damage with prolonged exposure to unusually high or low magnetic fields," Dunlop found.

If the magnetic field is only slightly stronger than normal, the changes "in a plant or animal can be very subtle."

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — With many investors at home observing Columbus Day, trading on Wall Street slowed to one of the quietest sessions of the year. Leading market averages pointed slightly lower at the halfway mark.

Some analysts observed that many traders were holding to the sidelines waiting to see if labor will participate in the pay board outlined in President Nixon's phase two program last Thursday evening. An announcement from labor was expected Tuesday.

Of the 1,485 issues traded near 1:15 p.m., declines led averages, 732 to 410. The Dow Jones Industrial average was off about 2 1/2 points at 891.43. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was down 0.38 at 88.98.

Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 4,660,000 shares, down sharply from the 8,600,000 shares traded at a comparable period last Friday.

Motors and steels surrendered fractions, while airlines, chemicals and rails also pointed lower in most instances.

Motrolora, one of the softest spots in the electronics, was off more than 3/4.

Louisville, the day's most active stock, gained 5/8 on 137,100 shares. Other stocks among the actives were Riegel Paper up 1/8 on 93,500 shares, American Natural Gas unchanged on 88,200 shares, and Occidental Petroleum 1/8 lower on 81,600 shares.

School clothes

Casual, comfortable clothes are in back to school scene

NEW YORK (UPI) — Call it the new freedom in fashion for the young set. But what they are wearing back to school is the casual and comfortable in clothes.

Sum up the look with the whole range of denims — dungarees, levis, jeans. Add in the return of the blazer, continuation of the poncho, the boosted look, the tie-dyed fabrics, the "gunny" dresses down to the ankles.

CLOTHING STYLES may have changed, but the age-old custom of hand holding is still with us as shown by this photo of a student couple at Manhattan's (N.Y.) Washington Irving High School. He's wearing a form fitting tie front shirt and ball bottom jeans buttoned up the front. She's wearing a form-fitting short-sleeved blouse and hot pants. Her footwear is similar to shower shoes. The general trend is away from materialism and children seem more healthy not worrying about clothes, according to one mother interviewed. (UPI)

The casual trend is not designer-dictated. The school set dresses up its own variations, from dungarees set off to look like hot pants, to sneakers worn on sockless and stocking-less feet.

What effect this casual, "worn" look has had on Mom and Dad's back-to-school clothing budget is difficult to determine. One West Philadelphia mother of 10 said her family would be hard-pressed if all the children had to be outfitted in spiffy new fashions. "In a family this big, they have to learn pretty quickly to share anyway," said Mrs. Lois Flately. "But I think the general trend away from materialism is a good one. The children seem more healthy not worrying about clothes."

But Mrs. James Hines of Cincinnati, didn't think the casual dress trend really was any less expensive so far as buying school clothes was concerned.

"Most of the casual clothes cost just about as much as regular skirts, slacks and shirts," she said. "I don't think anyone saves any money." Mrs. Hines has five children ranging from 16-year-old twin girls to a 10-year-old.

When you feel clumsy you are clumsy. You dribble the soap and drop the saucer. The very notion that your hands are ungainly causes them to stiffen further. Tension mounts and your performance grows increasingly inept.

Just as much gauche comes from a careless approach. Uncontrolled, the hands flutter, fidget and flop — break the pearl necklace and knock over the water glass. The graceful hand is neither tense nor uncontrolled. It is managed, and you are the boss.

The idea comes clear if you stand before a mirror and spread your hand flat on your chest. Now relax your hand by shaking it hard from the wrist. Holding the relaxed position, again place your hand on your chest. Note how your fingers close ranks and curl naturally.

The principle carries over into most gestures. You find new poise at your fingertips. And that's handy-dandy.

A Lovelier You

IT'S DANDY TO BE HANDY

By Mary Sue Miller

Hands are among the most appealing feminine attributes. If they are graceful, could be that more lovelies should give thought to the grace of their hands.

Perhaps you are already hand-conscious. Teens write that their hands often feel awkward, especially when they wear sleeve-date and party clothes. Women seem to be more aware of hand grooming than grace. Both attitudes lead to awkwardness.

When you feel clumsy you are clumsy. You dribble the soap and drop the saucer. The very notion that your hands are ungainly causes them to stiffen further. Tension mounts and your performance grows increasingly inept.

headbands, the old-style (tank top), undershirts and bell bottom trousers for the boys. School dresses nearly out with the teen-age girls. Replaced by minis, hot pants, grannies and pants. The "hip" or cool look reaching down to the grammar school ranks with long-haired boys almost as prevalent in the sixth grade as in the 12th.

Charlotte, N.C. For early fall, the same as summer wear, that is bell-bottom jeans, decorated T-shirts and bar feet. The jeans-T-shirt combination is the basic element of the teen wardrobe. But to add individuality, Charlotte's kids decorate them with their own handicrafts. Take plain jeans and patch them, stud them, and embroider them with stars, names, flowers or quotes, said Jim Pietras, 18, manager of the "Infinity's End" shop featuring the unisex look.

A saleswoman in a Charlotte boutique for girls said they are adapting the bra-less look "for the sense of rebellion and freedom it gives them."

Los Angeles. High schoolers are in jeans, raggedy shirts, sweat shirts, boots, sandals, beads and fringe. The smaller children, the ones whose mothers still shop for them, are not quite so "sloppy" but the trend is to the casual. Bill Ross, owner of Tot Toggery catering to the 12 and under set, said he is selling mostly pants for boys and girls, and when the mother does select a dress, it's usually the ankle-length granny.

Chicago. Anything from hot pants to granny dresses for girls at a typical junior high school. The boys' more traditional but one boy showed up with a purple shirt, lacrimated, and purple trousers. A spokesman for Carson, Pirie Scott and Co., a large Chicago-area department store, said high school boys are buying mostly denim or corduroy shirts, knit tops, skinny ribs or flannel shirts. He thought the 1971-72 crop of students would be "cleaned up a little but not back to the Ivy League look."

The emphasis is on the casual and "all the kids want to look like their peers."

Boston. A more conservative look, report major stores in the Boston area. Blazers are back — "will be as big as hot pants," said Susan Gupitill, 23, junior wear buyer for Conrad and Chandler. "The basically tailored all-American look is back in," she said. Loafers have reappeared for both sexes. Knee socks are back on the scene.

Philadelphia. Dungarees and shirts or sweaters as of now. There are a number of stores in the Philadelphia area that sell unisex fashions — shirts, trousers and even jewelry that can be worn by either sex. But one merchandiser, Richard D. Wagner, an executive at John Wanamaker, says girls going back to school in tailored, pleated slacks instead of faded jeans, or plaid skirts and blazers again. He called it the "clean wholesome look of the period from 1948 to 1950."

Officers elected during homemakers council meet

POCATELLO — Mrs. Conrad Chisholm, Coeur d'Alene, was elected president of the Idaho Extension Homemakers' Council at the 22nd annual convention held in Pocatello.

Mrs. Oni Beth Sigman, Boise, was elected secretary; Mrs. Lucille Derrington, Declo, was elected director of the South-Central district, and Mrs. C. H. Forsman, Lewiston, was elected director of the northern district. The new officers were installed at the close of the convention.

Holdover officers are Mrs. C. J. Boss, Twin Falls, vice president and Mrs. Paul Patee, Emmett, treasurer. Mrs. John Ortel, Filer, is director-elect of the South-Central district. Voting delegates from this district were Mrs. Donald Joergel and Mrs. Maurice Allan, both Twin Falls.

Theme for the convention was "Happiness Is" and seminars and study groups demonstrated that happiness is growing, learning, helping, seeing, understanding, loving, doing, sharing and giving.

Registration at the Bannock Hotel was followed by an executive board meeting and the opening session with Mrs. Ralph Goffe, Boise, IEHC president, in charge. Girl Scout Cadet Troop 383, Pocatello, with Mrs. John Jesse, leader, presented the colors, and the National Anthem was sung by the group with Mrs. Ben Lindsay, Blackfoot, song leader, and Mrs. Merlin Farnes, accompianist.

Rev. James Airey, pastor of the Pocatello United Methodist Church, gave the invocation, and Lavern C. Johnson, mayor of Pocatello, extended the welcome.

Mrs. Allan Tigert, Soda Springs, presented greetings, and Mrs. Dennis Moser, Soda Springs, general chairman of the convention, introduced the county committees. Mrs. Lucie Wilson, Boise, was in charge of introduction of state board members and state and county extension staff members.

Guest speakers were Mrs. Linda Russell, Blackfoot, patient activities director of the Blackfoot Hospital, who told of Idaho's progressive health program, and Howard Tankersley, Boise, who discussed "Declaring Your Sovereignty."

Seminars included one in cultural arts, with Mrs. Dallas Howell, Ashton, and Willma Shryack, Moscow, in charge; family life, Mrs. Ben Eldredge, Twin Falls, and Roy Taylor, Moscow; international relations, Mrs. Leon Hoffine, Sandpoint, and public information, Mrs. Sigman and Bill Stollman, Moscow.

Mrs. Dennis Moser, Soda Springs, was toastmistress for the evening banquet, with the Rev. George Nye, Pocatello, pastor of the First Baptist Church, offering invocation. Speakers were Mrs. Ruth Spidahl, Moscow, and Monte Later, St. Anthony, Mrs. J. P. Shepherd, Boise, installed the new officers. Mrs. Leon Hoffine, Sandpoint, told of the "Pennies for Friendship" project.

County council presidents gave their reports at the morning breakfast and Mrs. C. J. Boss, Twin Falls, presided at the general business session. Reports were given on citizenship by Mrs. Jenkin Palmer, Malad; health, Mrs. Robert Norris, Twin Falls, and safety, Mrs. Floyd Pinney, Boise, Mrs. Alda Strong, Twin Falls, and Mark Gibson, Boise, spoke on "Surviving on our Highways".

Lee Childs, Rupert, director of the Boys' Ranch, spoke at the second day luncheon at which Mrs. Allan Tigert, Soda Springs, served as toastmistress. Mrs. Sam McNabb, Pocatello, pronounced the benediction.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a very attractive older man. He is 36 and I'm 24. He's talented, intellectual and successful. He has been married and divorced twice.

I am a virgin and intend to stay that way. He knows this because I've told him so.

I was completely fascinated with this man until he lent me a book of poetry, in which I found a list of 36 girls with whom he had been intimate. He rated them "one star, two stars, three stars and four stars." On the bottom of the list he had my name written in pencil with a four star rating. That turned me off fast.

Two questions: What kind of man would keep such a list? And what kind of man would have left it in the book?

TURNED OFF IN L. A.

DEAR TURNED OFF: A very immature man would have kept such a list. And a careless man would have left it in the book accidentally. And a concealed card would have left it intentionally, which is probably what he did.

DEAR ABBY: I have four children, one of whom is a Mongoloid. I'll call him Johnny, but that's not his real name.

I recently received an invitation to a wedding and reception. It was addressed to my husband and me and family. However the following P. S. was added: "Please leave Johnny at home. He is a darling boy, but he might feel out of place."

I think this was inexcusably rude. I would like your opinion of this. After all, Johnny is human too.

JOHNNY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Rudeness is only the absence of manners. Your friend lacks much more. Namely, understanding, compassion and judgment.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor I'll name "Mrs. Tricky." Mrs. Tricky has young children who come over here regularly and ring my doorbell, asking for Helen, my teen-age daughter, to play with them. Helen likes kids and is very good with them. Besides, we have a lot of playground equipment in our yard, which makes it nice for children to play here.

But here's what I don't like: When Mrs. Tricky wants a baby-sitter to hire, she never asks Helen. Always somebody else. But Helen is good enough for her kids to play with — which really amounts to sitting for free.

Is there some way I can let Mrs. Tricky know she shouldn't send her kids over here for my daughter to watch if she's not qualified enough to hire for pay?

HELEN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. You could tell her. But better check with Helen first. Maybe she enjoys playing with children without pay.

DEAR ABBY: To the man who complained it's a "woman's world" because people always ask how the mother is when a baby is born:

When men start giving birth to babies — people will ask how the father is.

Grandma's Chill Sauce
24 Large tomatoes peeled and chopped
4 green pepper chopped
5 large onions chopped
3 1/2 cups vinegar
2 1/2 cups brown sugar
3 heaping teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon mixed spices
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves

Chop peeled tomatoes, peppers, and onions; place in large kettle and bring to a boil, slowly. Add vinegar, sugar and salt. Stir in spices. Simmer about two hours or until cooked down to a desired consistency. Spices may be placed in a cloth bag and removed when chill sauce is done if desired. Yields about seven pints.

Queens named at TOPS club

TWIN FALLS — Jessie Nelson was KOPS queen when the TOPS Measure Ups met Thursday at the home of Grace Tucker.

Others honored during the quarterly crowning were Beverly Anderson, Division 5 queen, and Helen McWilliams, runner-up; Pat Lucich, Division 4 queen, and Sharon Burgess, runner-up, and Shirley Robinson, who was runner-up to the KOPS queen. They were given corsages made by Abbie Becker.

Sharon Burgess and Barbara Schnitker were in charge of Halloween decorations for the event.

A skit was presented by Susan Burnickel, Barbara Schnitker, Lois White and Sharon Burgess, with Tony Federico acting as mistress of ceremonies.

Hints

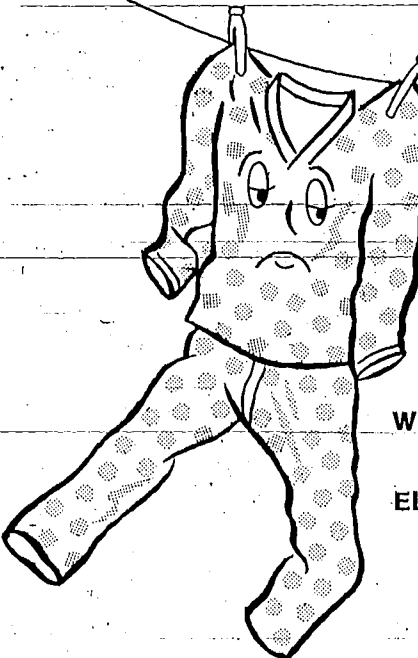

Car wax is good for polishing wood also. It gives good protection and a low gloss shine, reports National Family Opinion Inc., a consumer market research firm that gathers information from 100,000 homemaker consultants.

Use baby oil to remove stains from the chrome trim on kitchen appliances. Just apply a small amount with a soft cloth. Then polish.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC LIVING FOR A NEATER, CLEANER WORLD

LIMITED TIME MASS ENROLLMENT OFFER—JUST $1

$1,000 CASH A MONTH

TAX-FREE

each and every month
as long as you live

...WHEN YOU GO TO A HOSPITAL
EVERY TIME YOU'RE SICK OR HURT

■ No matter what other kind of insurance you carry, group, personal, or Medicare and no matter what company you carry it with — this Mass Enrollment Plan will give you $1,000 extra cash a month protection in addition to all other insurance benefits!...

YOU GET EXTRA CASH DIRECT TO YOU

Everyone is worried about the way living costs are constantly going up. Even if you think you have enough hospitalization, couldn't you use an extra $1,000 cash a month, paid direct to you to spend any way you want? There is no red tape, no medical examination. 24 hours a day world-wide coverage.

YOU'RE PAID FOR EACH AND EVERY MONTH EVEN FOR LIFE!

There's no "stop" to the cash payments you get when you're sick or hurt—for as long as you're hospitalized. For here, at last, is an entirely new, remarkably low cost plan that pays you at the rate of $1,000 cash a month—even after some of your other plans may have run out of benefits. You are paid from the very first day of hospitalization for accidents, and after just seven days of sickness. And you continue to get $33.33 for each and every day—$1,000 cash a month—as long as you're hospitalized (other than a sanitarium, rest home, or Federal hospital). Without any time limit—even for the rest of your life. And there's no limit on the total amount of cash you can receive.

AND WHAT'S MORE —

- 1. You're Covered for Both Sickness and Accidents—Imagine a plan that doesn't have all kinds of exclusions or that's not limited to particular kinds of sickness and accidents. Imagine a plan that excludes ONLY acts of declared or undeclared war, suicide or attempted suicide, alcoholism, drug addiction, mental or nervous disorders and pregnancy. And you are covered even for sickness you now have when your policy has been in force two years.
- 2. Pays you on top of other benefits You are paid the full amount in addition to any other benefits you may receive from Workman's Compensation, Medicare, Group Insurance or any other insurance you may have. And the cash is paid directly to you. And you can spend it any way you please.
- 3. Tax-Free Cash—Now you can get tax-free cash paid directly to you no matter how many times you go to a hospital. When you are sick or hurt.

Use Your Policy as Often as You Want

Your benefits can never be reduced as you grow older. Your low premium cannot be individually increased no matter how many claims you make or how many times you go to a hospital. You, of course, always have the privilege to cancel, but you can never be singled out for cancellation. In fact, we would have to cancel the protection or increase the rate by class on everyone in your entire state with this policy before we could ever cancel or raise the rate on your policy.

How Do You "Cash" In?

No problem. You get a supply of claim cards along with your policy. What do you do? Just fill out a card and send it in whenever you go to the hospital. It cuts through all red tape. Your claim is handled speedily, efficiently—and paid at the rate of $1,000 cash a month. Tax-Free.

You Get a Full Month's Coverage For Only $1.00

Take advantage of this low introductory cost. Send No Money. When you receive your policy, read it carefully. Only after you agree it does everything we claim, send in your dollar. There's no obligation. You pay nothing until after you receive your policy and decide you want to keep it.

NO MONEY LIMIT! NO TIME LIMIT!

Compare This With Others

We welcome comparison. There are important differences. We pay you $1000.00 every month for Life. Most others have a time limit—We have no limit to the length of time you can receive your benefits. Most others cut you off after you collect a "maximum" amount of dollars—On our plan there is no maximum or limit to the total amount of dollars you can get.

After the first month, the very low monthly cost is:

Ages 1-44	$ 5.00
Ages 45-59	7.75
Ages 60-69	10.50
Ages 70-79	17.00

Once you enroll at the rate for your age, your cost does not increase as you grow older.

Here's how you apply...

No agent or salesman will call or bother you. There's no red tape, no medical examination. Your policy will be sent directly to you. All you do is simply fill out and mail one of the applications below. Act now. Don't wait until it's too late—it's easier to fill out this application now than to pay big bills later.

Your application will be accepted only if mailed before the expiration date. This offer must be limited to only one policy per person.

Idaho unemployment rises in mixed economic outlook

BOISE — There is some good news and some bad news in Idaho's September economic condition according to the Idaho Department of Employment.

In the good news column, two all-time highs including average hourly earnings and bank debits were reached. Building permits increased in residential valuations statewide for the year but fell below the July valuation. Non-residential permit valuation climbed well ahead of July and was up for the year.

As for the bad news, unemployment increased, settling at the 6.4 per cent mark, the highest recorded for the entire year and a full one per cent ahead of August of last year. The report shows there were 1,127 unemployment claims filed each week in August compared to 871 claims averaged weekly in August, 1970.

An index of five leading indicators declined: On the other hand, the index of coinciding indicators rose with 71 per cent of the indicators showing an improvement over the previous month.

The report shows bank debits increased by an average of $15,000 for a total of $24,400 for the Boise Standard Metropolitan statistical area. The hourly-earning average rose to $3.66.

In 1971 the five leading indicators declined except for the bank summer months. While a sizable climb was shown in August, the average level reflected economic declines. The coinciding and selected indicators have shown a steady rise since July 1.

Average daily non-agriculture job placements declined sharply during the past month while the weekly average initial unemployment claims rose.

There was a slight decline for August in the average work-week on an hours worked basis in manufacturing jobs.

Salaries paid non-agricultural workers dropped and job openings for non-agricultural workers also declined. Personal income as a whole leveled off. Cash receipts from farm marketing for the month dropped and electrical power sales were about the same with some declines. Gasoline sales were also down but new car registration, which dropped sharply in July, took a slight upswing.

There were fewer persons employed in food and products handling jobs and about the same number of persons worked in lumbering. There was little change over the past month in either construction or retail-trade employment standings.

Trash pileups scored

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Manager Jean Millar complained Friday that many city residents are becoming lax in following regulations covering disposal of solid waste.

He said the city street crews are preparing to begin the fall grading program for alleys in preparation for winter weather. Crews are finding large collections of trash which must be moved if the alley maintenance is to be completed, Millar said.

This summer the city sanitation department mailed information pamphlets to all residents explaining the city's trash collection contract, burning regulations and packaging of waste material. He urged residents to read these again and make certain they are complying.

Leaf collections will soon begin, Millar said, and residents should package them in plastic trash sacks, boxes or other suitable containers and leave them at the trash-collection point, either the alley or street in front of their homes. Persons may haul trash to the sanitary land fill there is no charge made providing the hauler has his current water bill receipt with him.

Millar said the city regulations prohibit burning of leaves and other trash except for paper and paper products, but any items properly packaged will be collected by Park and Sons, sanitation contractors for the city.

Boise girl dies in car smashup

BURLEY — A young Boise man, Dann W. Hone, 21, was listed in improved but serious condition today at Cassia Memorial Hospital, suffering from injuries received in a traffic accident which claimed the life of Diane Marie Vasil, 19, also Boise.

The youths, both students at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, were reportedly en route to Boise during a school holiday.

State police said Hone, driving north on Interstate 80 about 54 miles south east of Burley Saturday morning, apparently lost control of the car. The vehicle swerved into the median strip, traveled several hundred feet and rolled over twice, landing on its wheels. The vehicle was demolished.

Miss Vasil was thrown from the car, landing about 100 feet away. Hone remained in the vehicle, officers said.

Three escape in plane crash at Mountain Home

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — Three persons escaped injury Saturday night when their light plane crashed near the Mountain Home Air Force Base.

The private aircraft was piloted by Orrin R. Ormsbee, 32, Coos Bay, Ore.; passengers included his wife and small son.

The Elmore County Sheriff's Office said the family was on the way to visit with relatives at the air base.

Library story hour thrills youngsters

TWIN FALLS — Pre-school children who may not be able to read about dragons, ponies, witches, dragons or their other favorite subjects are enjoying the stories each Thursday during the Twin Falls Public Library story hour.

The next story hour will be Oct. 21 at 1:30 p.m. in the children's room of the library and the theme will be "Witches and Goblins." All pre-school children are invited to attend.

Members of the Bo-Peep kindergarten classes attended last week's program presented by AnnLaurie Burton—Mrs. Burton presented two stories, "Too Much Noise" by Ann McGovern, and "The Story of Olaf" by James McCren.

Each child received a picture of a dragon to color in his or her own design and return to the library. A total of 53 children attended last week's program with kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Richard Ryall, Mrs. Dennis Messenger, Mrs. Carol Slaughter, Mrs. Don McKnight, Mrs. Gerald Conrad and Mrs. Eayo-Hoffman, assisting.

Deputy auditor resigns position

SHOSHONE — Mrs. Dunnie Helsey, deputy auditor for Lincoln County, has resigned her post here effective Nov. 1.

She will move with her husband, and family to the Burley area and has accepted a position with Mrs. Helen C. Dickinson, a certified public accountant.

Mrs. Helsey has been deputy auditor and clerk for Lincoln County for 10 years.

Story time again

Atom-spud link discussion set

TWIN FALLS — A pilot study linking atomic radiation with potato processing waste treatment will be discussed in detail during a two-day conference on the topic of "agronuclear" information in Twin Falls Oct. 27-28.

The term "agronuclear" is a newly coined word to indicate the potential relationship between nuclear technology and agriculture, according to the Idaho Nuclear Energy Commission, sponsors of the Twin Falls conference.

K. Lynn Sirrine, representing the R. T. French Co., will discuss irradiation of potato wastes, a project conducted by the engineering committee of the Potato Processors of Idaho to develop feasible methods of concentrating and "dewatering" potato-processing residues.

The ultimate goal of the pilot project is to convert potato waste into a usable animal feed. The study has not been completed, however, according to Sirrine.

The speaker will also discuss the concept of utilizing spent fuel cells as a source of radiation for treating the potato waste.

Sirrine, a member of the Idaho Water Pollution Control Advisory Council and past chairman of the Potato Processors of Idaho engineering committee, has been associated with the food industry for over seven years. His work with the R. T. French Co. at Shelley includes analytical research and waste-treatment studies.

He was the project director for French's $600,310 waste-treatment plant which was constructed and operated under a grant from the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Another speaker at the Twin Falls seminar, Dr. James Buckham, assistant general manager of Idaho Chemical Programs for the Allied Chemical Corporation, will review waste-management technology at the National Reactor Testing Station at Arco.

Buckham will discuss new techniques of utilizing nuclear technology in treating food-processing, lumbering and mining waste products, as well as municipal sewage.

Dr. Buckham has authored or co-authored 22 technical papers presented at national meetings of the American Nuclear Society and the American Institute of Chemical Engineering in the fields of nuclear fuel processing, radioactive waste management and use of nuclear poisons for process safety.

He has also been wholly or partially responsible for 38 technical reports on NRTS work projects.

The Twin Falls agronuclear seminar will be conducted at the Holiday Inn. Reservations and full details are available from Dr. Gene P. Rutledge, Idaho Nuclear Energy Commission, at P. O. Box 2234, Idaho Falls 83401.

Damage high as car hits motel unit

TWIN FALLS — About $1,500 damage was done to a Twin Falls motel late Saturday when a vehicle ran into one of the buildings at the facility.

Twin Falls Police said the Suptel Motel on Washington Street was damaged when a car driven by Shelley L. Hays, 19, Jerome, ran into the No. 1 cabin.

Hays told officers that he and some friends were parked near the motel when another group of youths approached the vehicle. He told officers the other young men wanted to fight and when he attempted to drive away, one of the intruders grabbed the wheel, causing his vehicle to strike the building.

Neither Hays nor Ron Moore, 18, or Gary Larson, 19, both passengers in his vehicle was injured.

TF school kindergarten survey form

Dear Parents:

The Twin Falls Board of Trustees has directed us to complete a survey of all the parents in our district concerning the distribution of kindergartens. One other survey was undertaken but was limited in scope so we ask your cooperation at this time.

This survey is concerning the type of kindergarten program that is now being offered through the State Department of Education with Federal Funds. It isn't a fully funded program and covers only the salary of the teacher.

The Board of Trustees feels that the people of this community are not aware of all the facts of this kindergarten program. There are additional costs other than the salaries involved. It is estimated the transportation, rent of a facility, aides, instructional materials and snacks would cost approximately $11,000 based on 120 students each session and two sessions a day.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Solon sees hope of Chinese 'evolution'

CALDWELL (UPI) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Penn., Senate minority leader, told a Caldwell audience Saturday night that "we must hope for evolution in China, leading to renewal of that cultural heritage so long imbedded in Chinese life."

Scott appeared at the Idaho Art Association conference on the College of Idaho campus. He said he had faith that the wisdom of Chinese history and culture will "overcome the present period of completed dictatorship."

Scott, a leading authority on Chinese art, said the character of Chinese society and culture two to three decades away will be different from the traditional and Communist society.

He added the traditional society and culture put emphasis on the individual's role with others. He said the impact of the Western World on China had a "shattering impact" on these values.

Scott stated, "The effort to destroy traditional Chinese cultural systems will not be successful," despite the Communists aim to alter the entire nature of China's society.

3 hurt in wreck in Nevada

ROGERSON — Three people injured late Saturday in a head-on collision about seven miles south of Jackpot, Nev., remained hospitalized today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital in Twin Falls.

Idaho State Police said a vehicle driven by Al Callard, 40, Emmett, was apparently traveling south on U. S. Highway 93 at a high rate of speed when it attempted to pass a car driven by Margaret Kress, 40, Richland, Wash. The Callard auto clipped the rear end of the Kress vehicle and continued on, skidding into the left lane, officers said. The vehicle then went back into the right lane, climbed a guard rail and flew for about 60 feet. The vehicle traveled another 40 feet, crossed the road and crashed head-on into a pickup truck driven by Layle Talbot, 40, Burley.

The Talbot vehicle went over a guard rail and crashed into a concrete abutment, officers said. The Kress vehicle went off the right side of the road, but neither the driver nor a passenger was injured.

Taken by ambulance to the hospital were Talbot, Callard and his wife and Arthur and Leona Chapel, both of Bonners Ferry.

Talbot is reported to be in fair condition today and Callard and Mrs. Chapel, 38, are in good condition. Mrs. Callard and Chapel were treated and released.

Officers said citations are pending.

Car wrecks hurt six near Wendell

WENDELL — Two automobile accidents near Wendell Saturday resulted in the hospitalization of six people.

The Bud Murray family of Puyallup, Wash., was involved in a one-vehicle accident Saturday morning. The accident occurred about 9:15 a.m. a mile and a half east of Wendell on Interstate 80N.

Jim Burke, Gooding County deputy sheriff, said Mrs. Murray was driving when she apparently fell asleep at the wheel of the family's small foreign car. The vehicle went off the left side of the highway. Mrs. Murray apparently tried to bring the vehicle back onto the road, but the car began sliding sideways and rolled over.

Injured in the mishap were Bud Murray, 20; Larry Murray, 5 months; and Mrs. Murray, 20. Another child, Ted Murray, 1, was not injured but was admitted to St. Benedict's Hospital to be with his family.

Mrs. Murray's mother, arrived from Washington Sunday and took the injured child back to Washington.

The other accident occurred about 9:30 p.m. Saturday west of Wendell beyond the end of the freeway.

Officers said Conrada Cedilla Jr., 21, Edinburg, Tex., was driving west at a high rate of speed, failed to negotiate a curve and collided head-on with a vehicle driven by Andrew R. Link, 29, Pocatello. Both men were taken to St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, and later were transferred to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Link is reported to be in critical condition and Cedilla is listed in fair condition.

Both accidents are still under investigation.

Damage to the van was estimated at about $600, Bolton said.

Idaho State Police Officer Gene Baltor said Miss Houston was driving north in the late-model vehicle Sunday afternoon on Highway 93 just north of the Galena store. As she rounded a curve, she drove off the shoulder of the road, tried to

Nixon's 'phase 2' jolts Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon's "phase two" disappointed Wall Street this week by that it created new uncertainty. It left unanswered two questions that most concern workers, businessmen and consumers — "how much will wages increase?" and "what will happen to prices?" as a result, stock backed off from best levels, and finished mixed for the week.

"Phase two is fussy enough so there still is a lot of uncertainty," said Robert H. Stovall, a general partner of Reynolds Securities, Inc. "And the one thing investors dislike is uncertainty."

The Reynolds executive said "we need some good business statistics and labor's willingness to accept Nixon's plan before Wall Street will believe 1972 is going to be a very nice year. Right now, it doesn't shape up that way," Stovall concluded.

Nixon Thursday evening announced the creation of two new citizens' boards responsible for establishing the guidelines for the second phase of his inflation control policy. The first phase, which includes the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze, expires Nov. 13.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally elaborated a bit on the President's program in a Friday afternoon news conference but still left unanswered the vital questions about wage and price increases. And there was some concern it may take several weeks before the entire plan is clarified.

Connally said the boards would have the power to make all case-by-case decisions but stressed the government will have the final say.

"Nixon hung out a skeleton and Connally didn't put much flesh on the bones," said Monte J. Gordon, senior vice president of Bache & Co. "You still have to wait on the various criteria to be set up by the boards and even after this you have to see how they will administer it," Gordon observed.

Although the Bache executive was a little concerned about the stock market's near term prospects, he was optimistic for the long term. "In the shorter term the market is confronted with how the president's program will be administered, but over the long haul you have the intense commitment by the administration to stimulate the economy and control inflation," Gordon concluded.

Newton Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. looked for a better market. He said "soon there will be a realization of the president's plan has positive implications for Wall Street." He said the reason for some of the hesitancy is to see what the final reaction of labor will be.

The Nixon report overshadowed a couple of key government items which appeared to have negligible impact on the stock market.

Wholesale prices declined .44 per cent in September, the first full month under Nixon's 90-day freeze. The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the decline, adjusted for seasonal factors, was the first drop in wholesale prices in ten months.

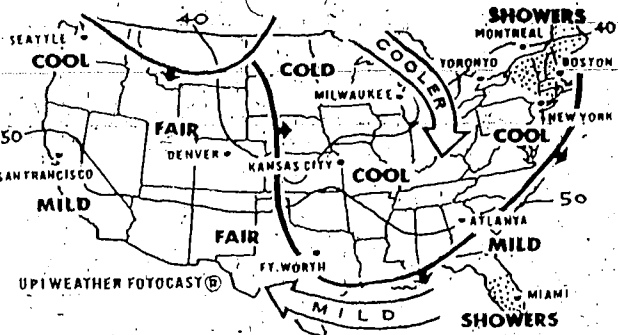

Top Washington officials hailed the decline in wholesale prices as encouraging and said it was "evidence of cooperation by all Americans" with the freeze.

In addition, the government reported unemployment declined to 6.1 per cent in September from 6.1 per cent a month earlier.

Fair skies, cooler temperatures

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area: Fair tonight and Tuesday. Highs days in 70s. Overnight lows 35 to 45. Outlook for Wednesday, generally fair and cooler.

Camas Prairie, Hailley and lower Wood River Valley: Mostly fair tonight. Variable high clouds and a little cooler Tuesday. Highs Tuesday 65 to 75. Overnight low 28 to 38. Outlook for Wednesday, generally fair and a little cooler.

Synopsis: High pressure prevails over the far western states. Weak disturbances moving around the top of the high pressure ridge at 24 to 36 hour periods are bringing sufficient moisture so as to cause some upper cloudiness but otherwise not affecting the weather over the northwest states. Temperatures yesterday showed only slight variation from the previous day.

Surface winds continue to be light but will increase slightly during the next 24 hours. Pollution dispersal conditions will improve by Tuesday morning so there will be light winds with improving conditions for vertical mixing.

The upper air circulation will be mainly northwest and will bring some lowering of temperatures over Idaho through midweek.

Tuesday afternoon readings will range from the mid 60s in the upper Snake River Plains and highlands to the upper 70s in the lower Snake River Valley. Overnight low temperatures will be in the 30s to low 40s.

The extended weather outlook through Friday indicates fair but cooling. High temperatures in 70s Wednesday dropping to 60s and low 70s Friday. The lows 35 to 45 dipping to 30s to low 40s Friday morning.

Excellent fall harvest conditions will prevail to last of the week.

Bog in '33 — prize in '71

NEW YORK (UPI) — In 1933, the late Robert McElroy, a land developer, bought 450 acres of the barren Hackensack salt meadows across the Hudson River from New York.

These desolate tidal marshlands, populated mostly by rats and mosquitoes, contained dangerous bogs. Here and there one could see an isolated warehouse or a smelly small chemical plant. There also was a concentration around Secaucus of pig growers who fattened their porkers on garbage trucked from Manhattan. The aroma of the Secaucus pig barns enjoyed national renown.

Today the salt meadowlands are blooming into an industrial and residential metropolis, and New Jersey Gov. William Cahill is getting ready to build a sports complex there. The New York football Giants have agreed to move across the Hudson and the baseball Yankees could follow. The governor also wants to build a racetrack there.

So McElroy's 450 acres of cat tails, bogs and mosquitoes have become priceless. His grandson, John J. Merritt, Jr., who heads Bellemont Development Corp., founded by McElroy, is embarked on Bellemont's third major development in the marshlands — the Lyndhurst office park.

Bellemont, a subsidiary of Chubb Corp., an insurance holding company, began developing the Hackensack meadowlands 10 years ago amidst expressions of wide disbelief by other developers and realty experts. But Merritt had decided that the meadowlands were the last reservoir of vacant land close to Manhattan and that almost any development cost would be justified. He hired soil experts and skilled engineers to solve the problems.

They recommend a diking technique similar in basic principle to the one used in Holland to drain and reclaim marshlands for centuries. It looked expensive to start with but, in the long run, it more than recovered its cost over other land reclamation methods. Savings were made on road building and other construction costs because the diking system actually lowered the water table.

Bellemont built two industrial parks, the Rutherford and Lyndhurst parks, on the diked protected lands. Both were successful.

When Merritt two years ago suggested putting an office center in the meadowlands, skeptics again laughed. Now the first big building in the office center is completed and almost fully occupied. Tenants include Blair & Co., a Wall Street house and Toyota Motor Sales of USA, which has two whole floors.

Condominiums offer pitfalls for buyer

BY ROGERS FRANKLIN

Is it safe to buy a condominium? I've been asked this question many times, and I've heard good reports and bad from people who have bought a condominium.

As you know, when you buy a condominium you have title to your unit. You are then charged a monthly maintenance fee and you pay your own taxes.

It sounds simple, but some folks tell me they've been "stung" in at least two ways: (1) In many cases the monthly maintenance fees were "escalated" to exorbitant heights; (2) if they wanted to sell their units, they found many "restrictions" blocking them.

Because of these and other problems, I was more than interested in a "fact sheet" issued by the Royal Palm Beach Colony, Inc. on "Pitfalls to Avoid in Buying Land and Condominiums."

While some of the information might be self-serving, I feel that a number of points apply to any condominium deal, especially the following recommendations and cautions:

1. Ask the developer to disclose the terms of the recreation area lease — the extra cost of the pool, golf course, or game room.
2. Be wary of exorbitant management agreements. A ruthless developer assign himself a high management fee.
3. Be wary of unrealistic advertising claims about monthly maintenance charges.
4. Check with people who have already moved into the condominium.
5. Check the business backgrounds of the people behind the company. Also check with local banks, chambers of commerce, Better Business Bureau.
6. Insist on a firm date in the contract. Check with other condominium residents to see if the builder delivered on his contracts with them.
7. It's wise to deal with builders with a proven track record in the condominium field. Check on the builder's earlier developments to learn if he has kept his commitments there. Chances are that if there are no gripes in his earlier projects, you won't have any if you buy into his new ones.

These are all important cautions, but I'm going to add what I feel is the most important: never enter into a contract for retirement housing — a house in a retirement village, a condominium, a cooperative — until you check the contract with your lawyer.

For instance, while many states now have laws governing condominiums these laws are general and don't cover specific features that may be vital to you. Especially watch for "escalator clauses" concerning maintenance and services... refund arrangements... restrictions on your personal life... rights or restrictions on selling or willing the property.

Only a lawyer can interpret the "fine print" in these contracts and point out any possible hazards. His fee will be modest in comparison to the risks you could take in sinking your life savings into a condominium that will leave you tied down or broke.

'Sweat equity' proves worthwhile guarantee

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a new kind of security for small business loans in the American banking world. It's called "sweat equity."

Atlanta's big Citizens and Southern National Bank has made 77 sweat equity loans in the past three years through its subsidiary, Community Development Corp.

"We haven't had a single default," says Mills B. Lane, president of the subsidiary. "The sweat equity is all we ask for security. If they're willing to work, we're willing to put up the money."

Sweat equity loans are being made increasingly throughout the country, according to Banking Services of America, a Philadelphia offshoot of the American Bankers Association.

Banks always have made some "character loans," in which the negotiable security for a loan was small or even non-existent, but there has not been in the past any organized movement to extend such loans to the poor and members of minorities to achieve specific social goals. Now there is such a drive.

Moreover, these small business sweat equity loans are only one aspect of a radical change in the dynamics of banking.

"Bankers are having to get out from behind their desks and go out in the community to search for worthwhile projects that need their help," a spokesman for banking services said.

This help may be in buying and giving away thousands of shade trees to replace those destroyed by the Dutch-Elim disease epidemic, financing a large day care center for the children of unwed mothers, or finding a way to raise money to make loans for ecological projects.

The sweat equity loans of the Citizens and Southern Subsidiary in Atlanta were for projects ranging from a "soul food" restaurant to an interstate trucking firm.

National Bank of North America in New York recently lent $1.1 million to build day care centers for the children of unwed mothers in Brooklyn's learning section.

touchdown after recovering an Atlanta fumble. That came on a one-yard plunge by MacArthur Lane 3:23 into the second period and they got their other touchdown on a two-yard run by Roy Shivers midway through the third period.

It followed the second of four interceptions against the passing of Atlanta quarterback Bob Berry, who started the day as the leading passer in the National Football Conference.

Bakken kicked field goals of 37 and 45 yards in the first period, added a 33-yarder in the second period and then kicked a 26-yard field goal with 4:20 left in the game. He had another 26-yard attempt in the first period but was wide to the right.

Atlanta, which turned the ball over six times on interceptions and fumbles, got its lone touchdown on a defensive break of its own early in the final period when John Small blocked Chuck Latourette's punt and Tom Hayes scooped it up at the Cardinal 25 and ran unopposed to the goal. But even then, the Atlanta offense sputtered as the extra point attempt was blocked.

Patriots shut out Jets 20-0

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI)—Prize rookie Jim Plunkett connected on third period touchdown strikes to ex-college battery mate Randy Vataha and Ron Sellers Sunday to guide the New England Patriots to a rain-soaked 20-0 win over the New York Jets.

Fullback Jim Nance went 50 yards with 3:21 remaining for the winners' third touchdown and boosted his career rushing total past the 5,000-yard mark. The dash, keyed by a block from Sellers in the New York secondary, gave the former Syracuse star 5,034 yards. The two clubs battled to a scoreless deadlock in the first half during a steady rain before a record 61,357 at Schaefer Stadium before Plunkett directed the Patriots to scoring drives of 75 and 80 yards. It was the Pat's first regular season win over the Jets since 1965.

After an exchange of punts to open the second half, Plunkett hit three straight passes to give the Patriots their first score. He connected with Sellers on a 49-yard toss at the Jets' 26, and then hit Vataha, who played with Plunkett at Stanford, in the end zone.

The Patriots, who overcame their American Football Conference mark at 2-2 while New York dropped its third decision in four games, went 50 yards in six plays for a touchdown on their next series.

In for a touchdown Sunday as the unbeaten, untied Washington Redskins downed the Houston Oilers, 22-13, before the largest crowd in Washington sports history.

On a day their offense was sputtering, the Redskins defense drew the cheers of the turnout of 53,041 as they held the Oilers in check and provided most of the Washington scoring opportunities.

the Washington scoring opportunities.

In addition to McDole's 16-yard scoring run in the second quarter, the Washington defenders set up a key Knight field goal on an interception by Jack Pardee in the third quarter with the Redskins leading by a slim 16-13 margin.

On the third play of the final period, Knight booted his fourth field goal from 17 yards out and then set a new career record with a 39-yarder midway in the quarter. The defense ended up with three interceptions and two fumble recoveries as Washington opened its season with fourth straight victories for the first time since 1943.

The touchdown return of an intercepted pass by McDole and the first three field goals by Knight staked the favored Redskins to a 16-10 halftime lead.

McDole picked off a screen pass by Charley Johnson and raced for his score with 2:11 left in the second quarter and the Redskins leading only 9-7. Knight booted his three field goals earlier from 15, 36 and 13 yards out when Washington offensive drives stalled.

But the winless Oilers chalked up a touchdown on a five-yard Johnson toss to rookie Leroy Sledge after Floyd Rice captured a fumbled punt on the Washington 24.

Following McDole's touchdown, Mark Mosley kicked a 42-yard field goal with only three seconds left before intermission to keep Houston in contention. Mosley added a 25-yard field goal for the only scoring in the third quarter.

The Chiefs snatched 61 yards in seven plays for the go-ahead touchdown. Big play was a 27-yard run by Weidell Hayes, giving the Chiefs a first down on the San Diego 20. From the 15, Dawson drilled Taylor at the goal line for the score on a third-down play.

Dawson's 19-yard pass to Morris Stroud keyed a 60-yard scoring drive early in the fourth quarter. From the San Diego 30, McVea carried three straight times for 6, 9 and 15 yards, the last one for the score.

Ed Padolnak ran 7 yards for another touchdown, capping a 70-yard drive, with 16 seconds to play.

Bucks bang Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Oscar Robertson scored 27 points and Bob Dandridge scored 24 Sunday to lead the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association to a 129-115 victory over the Pittsburgh Condors of the American Basketball Association in an exhibition game.

Dureen Jabbara, formerly known as Lew Alcindor, aggravated a recurring eye injury and sat out the game to the disappointment of 8,883 fans.

Detroit piles up early lead, outlasts Green Bay by 31-28

DETROIT (UPI)—Greg Landry had his best day as a professional quarterback Sunday...

Zeke Bratkowski, 39, relieved rookie quarterback Scott Hunter in the second half with the Packers trailing 2-7 and rallied the Packers for three touchdowns but it was a case of not enough and not soon enough as Detroit, No. 1 against rushing, contained the National Football Conference's top rushing attack.

The difference eventually turned out to be a brilliant 60-yard touchdown pass from Landry to Larry Walton, who earlier had scored with a catch of 10 yards. Walton took the ball on his own 42 and amazingly broke five tackles on his way to the end zone.

Colts humiliate Buffalo by 43-0

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Norm Bulaich caught a 30-yard touchdown pass from Earl Morrall in the first quarter and returned four plays later for a one yard scoring run to start the Baltimore Colts on a 43-0 rout of the Buffalo Bills in an American Football Conference game.

Morrall hit Bulaich just inside the Buffalo five yard line and passes for 60 yards and suffering one interception. Don Nottingham gave Baltimore a 29-0 lead on a 36-yard run up the middle with 1:11 gone in the fourth quarter and McCauley made it 36-0 three minutes later on his one yard run.

Cleveland powers by Steelers

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Bill Nelsen tossed a 19-yard touchdown pass to Milt Morin and Bo Scott scrambled 18 yards for another tally to power the Cleveland Browns to a 27-17 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday, giving the Browns a one-game edge in the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

Nelsen, who hit on 12 of 17 attempts in the first half for 179 yards, capped a 64-yard, five-play attack with a 19-yard scoring pass to Morin with 2:02 left.

Scott ran 18 yards around left tackle and fooled rookie defensive back Mike Wagner to give the Browns a 16-0 advantage with 7:47 remaining in the half.

Don Crockett, who was only three-for-nine going into the contest, booted a 25-yard field goal in the first period to start the Browns' scoring after Nelsen moved the ball 42 yards in 10 plays.

Vikings blank Philadelphia for second shutout

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Minnesota Vikings, using a pass interception to set up their only touchdown, spoiled the debut of Philadelphia Eagles head coach Ed Kelly with a 13-0 defensive gem Sunday for field goals of 20 and 35 yards by Happy Feller and a blocked 15 yard field goal attempt by the Vikings' Carl Eller.

	Minnesota	Philadelphia
First downs	15	10
Rushing yards	43-135	24-30
Passing yards	48	73
Return yardage	126	79
Passes	11-24-0	14-27-2
Fumbles lost	1	4

field goals of 20 and 35 yards by Happy Feller and a blocked 15 yard field goal attempt by the Vikings' Carl Eller. Fred Cox scored the other Viking points on field goals of 14 and 17 yards in the first half. The Eagles, keeping the game plan devised by Jerry Williams before he was suddenly fired last Wednesday after three lopsided losses, did not get a first down on the ground until the fourth quarter and totaled 50 yards rushing.

The Eagles defense, however, was up for its challenge against veteran quarterback Norman Snead on his return to Philadelphia after the Eagles traded him to Minnesota after last season. The Eagles held Snead to 60 net passing yards and sacked him twice in the last eight minutes. Starckman stepped in front of receiver Harold Jackson at the Eagle 27 for his interception and raced down the sidelines to the five. After Clifton Jones carried to the two, Osborn scored behind a block by guard Milt Sunde.

Nix, Bears overpower New Orleans

CHICAGO (UPI)—Kent Nix, a sort of Cinderella man getting his first starting assignment as a pro football quarterback in almost three years, brought the stuttering Chicago offense to life for the first time this season Sunday in a 35-14 conquest of the New Orleans Saints. The Chicago attack also had the services of the brilliant Gale Sayers, running in a regular game for the first time in just a day short of a year.

	New Orleans	Chicago
First downs	18	26
Rushing yards	19-75	41-201
Passing yards	168	278
Return yardage	78	59
Passes	16-37-2	16-32-0
Fumbles lost	1	2
Yards penalized	33	27

Sayers gave a good account of himself, carrying seven times for 29 yards, but he had to take a back seat to running back Don Shy, a wandering journeyman like Nix who threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to George Farmer and bucked a yard for another.

Coach Dan Devine ordered the obvious on-side kick attempt but Wayne Rasmussen snared Lou Michaels' soft line drive and Landry run out the clock himself.

Earl McCullough made good on a 17-yard touchdown pass from Landry, who completed 18 of 29 attempts, when safety Doug Hart slipped in the end zone 5:01 into the game. Mike Weiger took the first of two interceptions Hunter threw and on the next play, Landry hit Steve Owens with a 26-yard scoring toss over the middle. Owens also added 87 yards in 17 rushing attempts. Errol Mann kicked a 12-yard field goal 10, seconds into the second quarter before Green Bay, now 2-2, scored against Detroit, 3-1, for the first time since 1969 when running back Donny Anderson threw a left-handed touchdown pass of four yards to John Brackington.

Johnson meets Palmer as series resumes after rare rain out

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles sent their hard-throwing righthander Jim Palmer to the mound against the Pittsburgh righthander Bob Johnson today in the second game of the world series after a day's rain delay that, if anything, benefitted the Orioles.

Johnson today in the second game of the world series after a day's rain delay that, if anything, benefitted the Orioles.

Starting time for the game, in which the Orioles seek to take a 2-0 lead in the series, was 7 p.m. EDT despite a brief, in-vain effort by the television folks to get it scheduled for 7 p.m.

Sox, Brewers make 10-player trade

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox swapped six players including outfielder Billy Conigliaro and pitcher Jim Lonborg, to the Milwaukee Brewers Sunday night in return for four players in the first big trade of the baseball winter season.

starting pitcher, O'Connell said, while Krausse, 8-12, will be used either as a starter or in relief assignments.

Skrabe, a 23-year-old left-handed hitter who hit .268 with 11 home runs and 43 RBIs for the American Association was described as a "fine, young major league prospect," by Lane, who completed possibly his 300th major league deal of his career.

Also in attendance when the deal was consummated were the two rival managers, Eddie Kasko of the Red Sox and Dave Bristol of the Brewers, as well as Raymond Sullivan, O'Connell's assistant.

"The key to this whole thing for us is Conigliaro and Scott," Bristol said. "We're thinking of Conigliaro as one of our regular outfielders. Scott also will get a shot at a regular job. At the present time we consider Scott our third baseman."

The 10 player deal served to add balance to the last place Brewers lineup and provide them with some additional run-scoring ability, sadly lacking in their performance this year.

Of the six players they obtained, Scott comes with the most impressive figures. He had 70 RBIs and 24 homers while batting .263 for Boston this year while Conigliaro.

Miami pins third loss on Bengals

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Bob Griese brought the Miami Dolphins back from last week's upset defeat by the New York Jets Sunday, firing touchdown passes to Paul Warfield and Howard Twilley to hand the injury-weakened Cincinnati Bengals their third straight defeat 23-13.

There appeared little danger of another delay. The Monday weather forecast was "mostly sunny" with the chance of rain "near zero."

The day's postponement, caused by 2 1/2 inches of rain in the Baltimore area that turned the natural grass outfield of Memorial stadium into a morass, wiped out the scheduled "off day" today in the series and the third game will be played as originally planned in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

Only two results of the rainout on the series were seen, and both favored the defending champion Orioles.

The second-game pitcher will have only two days rest if he has to come back in a fifth game. That means nothing to the Orioles, the first team in 51 years to have four 20-game winners, but it further strains the hard-pressed Pirate mound corps.

The aching right wrist of Oriole slugger Boog Powell gets another day to stop throbbing.

As far as the pitching is concerned, Orioles manager Earl Weaver announced definitely that Pat Dobson, his 20-6 righthander who hadn't been scheduled to start in the series, will be the fourth game pitcher (following Mike Cuellar in the third game.)

That means his fifth game pitcher undoubtedly would be first-game hurler Dave McNally, coming back with four days rest.

Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh has Stovo-Blase ready for the third game, but probably will have to come back with his first game hurler, Dock Ellis in the fourth game with three days' rest.

As for Powell, the huge Baltimore first baseman said, "My hand was feeling better Sunday and one more day can only help it."

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn called off Sunday's game 1 1/2 hours before the scheduled 2 p.m. EDT start. By 2:30 p.m. the rain had stopped, which Kuhn had expected, but the controlling factor was the condition of the field.

The outfield at Memorial Stadium does not drain especially well, and there were many puddles all over it. Stadium superintendent Jim Pantorini explained that the outfield was not covered — as it was a week earlier when rain delayed the American League Playoffs one day — because in the meantime newly-planted sod has "knit."

As soon as Kuhn announced the postponement, TV people suggested the game be rescheduled for tonight rather than this afternoon.

United States retains Davis cup as Smith defeats Romania's Ion Tiriac

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — Powerful U.S. Army Pfc. Stan Smith easily mastered scowling Ion Tiriac of Romania in three straight sets Sunday in a defense of the Davis Cup that, for the first time, gave the United States teams an overall lead over Australia.

The tall Californian, once turned down for a job as a ball boy on grounds he was too chunky, dispatched the former Olympic hockey player 6-4, 6-3, 6-0 to give the U.S. team three out of a possible five matches in the tournament.

A driving rain cut off play in the final match of the tournament with Romanian Ilie Nastase leading; Frank Froehling, Nastase and the first set 6-3, and had the lead in the second 2-0, but in the third game it was Froehling's advantage at deuce.

The match was to be continued Monday afternoon at 1 p.m. (EDT).

Smith, a muscular 6-foot-5, started off with unusual caution against Tiriac, but managed an 8-6 victory in the first set.

For the second set onward, Smith simply overpowered Tiriac, a brooding player with wild swirls of hair and a horseshoe mustache. Smith glided through the third set with ease, winning the final game on Tiriac's serve without giving the Romanian a point.

The Californian slipped during a warmup on the rain-slick clay court. "I took a pretty bad fall and hurt my wrist a little," he said, "and I both started out a little tentatively."

The Smith-Tiriac match had to be postponed for about two hours while tournament officials worked to dry the court, using everything from the blade wash of a police helicopter to flaming gasoline.

"It was a most vital match of the year for me and also for Ion," said Smith. "I felt I played pretty well and didn't make too many errors."

Smith got the U.S. team off to a fast start Friday, defeating Romania's number one player, the Nastase, in three sets 7-5, 6-3, 6-1. Tiriac and Nastase teamed for Romania's sole victory Saturday by defeating the American doubles team of

Smith and Erik van Dillen 7-5, 6-4 and 6-4.

Froehling won a crucial duel with Tiriac Saturday in the extension of a singles duel called Friday because of darkness, nudging three straight shots by Tiriac in the final game to capture the match 3-6, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3 and 8-6.

"I didn't think I could win this easily," said Smith after his final match.

Barry hits 40 in Nets' win

WEST HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. (UPI) — Rick Barry scored 40 points to lead the New York Mets to a 121-107 exhibition victory over the Baltimore Bullets Sunday night.

The win was the second straight for the American Basketball Association team over a National Basketball Association opponent. The Mets defeated the Boston Celtics 116-115, a week ago.

New York, led by Barry's 21 first-half points, went to the intermission with a 56-55 lead.

Milk lost after kids' joyride

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A group of juveniles described as being high on drugs took a milk tanker holding 8,000 gallons on a joy ride Friday, and dairy officials say they are going to dump every bit of the cargo.

"We just can't take a chance (the kids) may have put some LSD or something in there," said Allen Nielsen, supervisor at Federated Dairy Farm, Inc.

The milk, weighing about 54,000 pounds and worth $35,000, will be poured down the drain because "there's just no way to know if it's been contaminated."

Nielsen said a new tanker had been delivered to Arden Meadow Gold Dairies in Salt Lake City about 1:30 p.m. Friday after being trucked from Snydette County.

"An employee discovered the truck was missing about 6:30 a.m., and police found the stainless steel tanker, valued at $44,000, parked at 2nd West and 1st South.

A number of juveniles were arrested in connection with the theft and have been referred to juvenile court.

Council appoints rapist

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Aldermen who were "flabbergasted" to learn they had chosen a man once convicted of rape, to fill an unexpired Common Council seat term are now wondering if his criminal record will disqualify him.

The city attorney was asked Friday to determine whether Jimmie G. Davison, Milwaukee's new 6th Ward alderman, could hold office in view of his criminal record.

"I'm flabbergasted," said Alderman Robert Salkowski when told of Davison's record. "I think a resolution should be introduced to rescind our action. I'm going to check with the city attorney to find out what we can do."

Davison was elected by the Common Council Wednesday to fill the seat vacated by Mrs. Vel R. Phillips who recently became a Children's Court judge.

Robert Malmgren, an assistant state attorney general, said "any individual convicted of a felony cannot hold public office unless he is granted a full pardon."

On July 23, 1959, Davison, now 35, was sentenced to 30 years at Waupun State Prison after being convicted of the rape of a 13-year old girl. He was paroled on Sept. 7, 1962, and on Aug. 16, 1967, then Gov. Warren P. Knowles commuted his sentence to the time he had already served.

Commutation of a sentence is not the same as a pardon. Davison also pleaded guilty Oct. 10, 1955, to a burglary charge in Macon Ga., and was sentenced to 12 months in a public works camp.

Two aldermen said they knew of Davison's rape conviction before the election.

Art Hanging?

GIANT ORANGE CURTAIN begins to take shape under the eye of artist, Christo, second from left, as workmen begin to hang the "masterpiece" between two peaks of Rifle Gap near Rifle, Colo. The project will cost an estimated $500,000, and must be taken down in November unless a highway department permit is extended. (UPI)

Police seize 233 pounds of pure heroin

PARIS (UPI)—Police seized 233 pounds of pure heroin destined for the United States illegal drug market and arrested five persons, including one in New York, a police spokesman reported today.

It was the largest such haul ever made in France.

The spokesman said 40 narcotics detectives from the Paris and national police trailed suspected drug traffickers for 10 months before arresting Andre Labay, a parttime film producer and businessman, at his home in suburban Marly-le-Roi Wednesday. He said the heroin, worth millions on the streets of the United States, was found inside five expensive suitcases inside Labay's rented car.

Three other men were arrested in Paris Thursday. They were identified as Georges Burait, race horse owner Andre Lajoux, and Antoine Grisoni. A fifth man, Frenchman Roger Preiss, 35, was picked up Thursday in the bar of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York, according to French police.

Police said Labay, 50, was one of the backers of a film, "The Second Sigh," and owned a clothing factory in Port au Prince, Haiti.

UK Parliament to approve mart

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On Oct. 28 the British parliament is expected to approve by a comfortable majority Britain's entry into the European Common Market. It is a move disapproved by 60 per cent of all Britons.

Among those opposing it is former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, whose Labor government applied for Common Market membership in 1967.

The Labor party, just winding up its annual conference at the seaside resort town of Brighton, went on record against it nearly four to one.

Common Market entry also fully expect it come about. And the opposition therefore, rather than expressing an alternative to the Common Market, may be taken more as an expression of regret for the passing of a time when the sun never sets on the British empire and Britons stood proudly aloof from the continent.

The issue has split Britain as few others could and the division is not confined to party lines.

Britain stands at more than the crossroads of history and departure from tradition. Although Britons are members of an affluent society and Britain's balance of payments reflecting income and outgo are at record highs, her economy is close to a state of crisis.

A main source of British opposition to the Common Market is the prospect of higher food prices. Yet food prices already are higher and there seems little likelihood the process can be reversed.

SBA aide visits TF

TWIN FALLS — Small Business Administration Loan Officer Robert Kopps will be in Twin Falls, Thursday, October 21, 1971, to counsel small businessmen on the services of the Federal Agency.

Mrs. Kopps will be available at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Office according to Ray Rostron, Chamber Manager. Her visit is a cooperative venture with the Chamber of Commerce.

Among the agency programs to help small businessmen are financial assistance and a wide variety of management strengthening aids, Rostron said.

Grumbles come uninvited.

Steam Clean gives 'em the business!

Grumbles are the deep down dirt in your carpet. They move in with the first muddy shoe and keep building up in layer after layer of cookie crumbs, cat fur, snappers and peanut butter. Grumbles are a stubborn Surface scrubbing drives them in deeper. Chances are they'll reappear just as your mother-in-law walks through the door. There's only one way to really clean a carpet. Steam soil extraction! It leaves no residue and gets the Grumbles!

Mechanical scrubbing agitation and foam can drive the soil laden tufts deeper into the carpet pile.

Steam clean injects wet steam with a cleaning additive and instantly vacuums out the loosened dirt.

Your carpets are not only clean but sanitary clean impacted areas are left removed, the pile clean and lifted.
