Tight health budget brings pullout threat

JEROME — The finance committee of the South Central District Health Department Tuesday set a level of county support for the district of $1.66 per capita.

The allocation, much below the $2.25 requested by the District Board of Health, brought an immediate threat from District Health Director Dr. Wayne Carte.

Dr. Carte said today that the cutback could result in the district's offices being removed from Twin Falls.

"This year, for the first time, each county of the eight-county health district is required to make the same per capita contribution.

This has brought outcries from the larger counties which had made much smaller per capita contributions than had other counties.

Twin Falls County made an 80 cent per capita contribution last year, the district's lowest.

In contrast, Lincoln County paid $2.19 per capita.

W. L. (Bill) Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls

County commission and chairman of the health district board, said that speaking for his county commission he was "vehemently opposed" to the rate of $1.66 per person as "far too high."

By contrast, Minidoka and Lincoln County commissioners voted against the $1.66 rate as "insufficient to operate the health district properly."

Commissioners for Cassia, Camas, Jerome, Gooding and Blaine Counties voted in favor of the $1.66 rate.

Chancey said the $1.66 rate would mean he would have to "ask the taxpayers for $35,855 more next year" to support the district health department. He said "you may find the money is just not going to be there."

Twin Falls County can contribute a maximum of $51,000 to the health department next year, representing a "sizeable increase" over the present budget of $33,528, Chancey said. However, the $1.66 per-capita levy would cost Twin Falls County $69,400, while the board's original request of $2.55 would mean an outlay of $94,065 — nearly three times the present contributions.

Dr. Carte told the commissioners he will appeal the decision of the eight counties to the Idaho attorney general's office, and that "if we don't get the money we need," he will have to move the district offices out of Twin Falls.

If the per-capita levy is cut below $2, Carte said earlier, health services in all eight counties would have to be cut back. The only hope under the proposed levy would be for the City of Twin Falls to increase its contribution, he said.

If Twin Falls will increase their payment of $10,000 by 30 per cent, Carte said following the meeting, the health district could conceivably get by, but "I would have to sit down and figure percentage increase."

However, if the city refuses to increase its levy, city health services will also be cut back.

"We'd have to hire a sanitarian to do the work and we just can't hire one for only $10,000," Carte said. "If we don't get the money we will quit giving them (the city) their services."

Bar unit supports nominees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special 12-member committee of the American Bar Association today unanimously endorsed Supreme Court nominee Lewis F. Powell Jr. with its highest qualified rating and all but three gave the same recommendation to William H. Rehnquist.

The ABA's evaluation report was made public at the opening of confirmation hearings for the two court appointments by President Nixon.

The ABA committee studied the qualifications of the two nominees at the committee's request after being bypassed by President Nixon before he announced his choices for the court vacancies Oct. 21.

Richfield approves 1st sewer

RICHFIELD — Residents here gave overwhelming approval to a $151,000 sewer bond issue Tuesday.

The proposal passed by a vote of 112 to 11.

The money will partially finance the first sewage treatment and disposal system here, with federal funds expected to provide the balance.

Mayor C. W. Ward said "Total cost of the project is placed at $245,800."

"Now the city will move forward as fast as possible to get the project started," the mayor said. Blueprints will be completed and bonds sold this winter so construction can start next spring.

Among the supporters of the sewer project was Mrs. Billie Swainston, who became the first woman council member elected at Richfield Tuesday.

Of the funds to be provided in addition to the bond issue, Richfield has received a $23,500 federal grant already. Another $21,500 is expected from the Idaho Department of Health, a grant of $40,700 from the Environmental Protection Administration and Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, and $30,500 from the Nelson-Ricks cheese processors.

Youth vote impact small

TWIN FALLS — The new youth vote apparently had only a slight effect on the outcome of Tuesday's city elections.

Eighteen-year-old Mike Thompson, the only teen-age candidate in 31 municipal elections in Magic Valley, ran only 9th in a field of 13 candidates in the Twin Falls City election.

He received 838 votes, in comparison with the best vote getter, Ann Cover, who received 1,962. Thompson said he was disappointed in not being elected to the council but he said four well qualified candidates were elected. He said he will support them wholeheartedly.

Thompson said he found the young voters were not as interested in getting to the polls as he had anticipated.

He estimated that half of the votes he received came from persons over 21 years of age.

He said there appeared to be some confusion among college and high school voters who thought they were registered because of having registered for the county elections.

Another Twin Falls candidate said to have strong youth support was Stephen Carter, an assistant professor at the College of Southern Idaho. He finished seventh with 873 votes.

City Clerk Edythe Koontz in Twin Falls said she did not keep a record of how many 18, 19, 20 and 21 year olds registered. She said she thought youth registration was relatively light and the vote apparently ran accordingly.

Mrs. Koontz said the young voters may not have been well informed on election laws since many were turned away from the polls in Twin Falls, election boards reported.

Many told election officials they had registered in special registration programs conducted at the high school and CSI and thought they were therefore registered for the city election.

1st woman picked for TF Council

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — The first woman ever picked to serve on the city council in Twin Falls, Ann Cover, was elected Tuesday. She led a field of 13 candidates in what officials said was a heavy election turnout.

Elected along with Mrs. Cover were incumbent Councilman Winston I. Jones, Michael P. Gray and Dr. Stephen Lincoln, all running as a ticket.

Mrs. Cover received 1,962 votes, leading 11 of the 10 city precincts. Jones was second with 1,506 votes while Gray received 1,310 and Lincoln, 1,158.

Other candidates in the race for the four council positions included Stephen Bancroft, fourth member of the Citizens Committee for Good Government ticket, 903 votes; Stephen Carter, 873; Ray Crandal, 504; Lynn Goodman, 361; Dee Jenkins, 379; David Kellen, 407; J. Clifton Smallwood, 855; Mike Thompson, an 18-year-old College of Southern Idaho student, 838, and Rex Ulrich, 1,009.

A total of 3,148 voters went to the polls, that was 73 per cent of the 4,311 registered voters.

Election officials said many voters, and especially those in the 18-to-21-year-old age bracket, were turned away at the polls because of misunderstanding about their registration.

Many had registered at League of Women Voter County registration booths at the College of Southern Idaho or at Twin Falls High School and thought they were registered for both county and city elections instead of only for the county election.

Other persons did not realize that they had been dropped from the registration books after failing to vote in one city election.

Goodman and Crandal, who campaigned on an anti-city-manager platform, trailed in several precincts, but gathered most of their votes in Precinct 3, which includes the south and west parts of the city.

This was the first election to be held in the city with the new county automatic voting machines. Returns were in and being tabulated at the city clerk's office within 53 minutes after the polls closed.

Russell Wilcox, voting machine maintenance superintendent, said there were no mechanical problems.

Thompson, the 18-year-old resident who was a candidate in the first city election in which he was qualified to vote, finished ninth. Mrs. Cover is the first woman office holder in the city history and the second to seek a council post, officials said. Mrs. Harry A. Elcock, no longer a resident of Twin Falls, ran for the council in the 1950s but was defeated.

The four officials elected Tuesday will take office in January.

They will fill vacancies left by Mayor Frank Feldman, veteran of eight years on the council, and Councilmen Frank Cook and Eugene Stacey. Of the four whose terms expired only Jones chose to seek re-election. City council members will meet Friday at 11:45 a.m. to canvass the vote.

TF market sells wine prior to license nod

TWIN FALLS — Shelby's Market apparently can't wait to sell wine. The store was selling wine today despite the fact that it had not yet received a required license for wine sales from either the city or county.

A Times-News reporter was able to purchase a bottle of Chianti at Shelby's for just under $2 today without difficulty.

According to Shelby's assistant manager, Dee Melsenheimer, "We're not selling it. But if someone comes in and picks up a bottle we won't turn him away."

"We're putting up our displays and preparing to promote the sale of wines when all the licenses are issued," he said today.

Twin Falls County voters approved sale of wine at licensed retail stores at a special election on Oct. 26.

But in order to sell wine, grocery stores must first be licensed three times. Licenses are required by the state, county and city.

According to Twin Falls City Clerk Edythe Koontz, only two stores have been licensed by the city. Shelby's has not.

She said that an application by Shelby's for a license has been submitted, but not approved by the city council. Twin Falls County assistant recorder Helen Thorne, said today that Shelby's had applied for a county license, but no action had yet been taken by the county commissioners. She said action was expected to be taken today.

A spokesman for the Idaho State Liquor Enforcement Office in Boise said today that Shelby's had been issued a state license, along with five other stores in the county. He said county and city licenses are also required prior to sales.

Melsenheimer said, "We understand that if we have the state license we can sell wine. It's just a matter of formality. We have paid our fees to the city and county, and are waiting for all the paperwork to be completed."

China's delegation able, impressive

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China's delegation to the United Nations is carrying impressive diplomatic credentials and is well-backgrounded in journalism. The composition of Peking's 10-man delegation, led by Chiao Kuan-hua, was announced Tuesday.

The delegation consists of people who are genteel—at least abroad—supremely capable and confident, familiar with the workings of the press and information business and who can hold their own on the cocktail circuit, said one Western diplomat who has known Chiao and his deputy, Huang Hua, intimately in the past.

Chiao, 63, is a veteran newspaper and news agency man who did post-graduate study in Germany and speaks excellent English. His deputy and permanent representative, Huang Hua, 58, was educated in the American-operated, Harvard-sponsored Yenching University in Peking. Huang was one of the first graduates of the university to join the Communist party and now is one of China's senior diplomats, serving also as his country's first ambassador to Canada.

entative, Chen Chu, is a diplomat about whom little is known. Some of the other members of the delegation also are not known outside China. However, three who do have a foreign reputation include: —Fu Hao, a diplomat who has served in embassies in Mongolia and India. —Hsiung Hsiang-hui, a veteran diplomat whose last post abroad was charge d'affaires of the Chinese embassy in London. —Tang Ming-chao, a veteran newspaperman who once lived in New York City where he was editor-in-chief of the Overseas Chinese Daily from 1945-49.

Diplomats say they will go to New York to do business rather than to make noise.

Manila police capture boastful ex-convict

MANILA (UPI)—An ex-convict who held an American teen-ager hostage for 10 hours and used her to bargain his way to a helicopter escape said today he already has killed 10 persons and did not fear death. "I just want to feel how it is to die in an electric chair," he said.

The man, Silvestre Abad Mate, 31, said his hostage, Susan "Suzie" Butler, 14, was "a good girl" but "my mind was made up that if anything happened to me I would pull the trigger and kill her."

Mate and three other men were robbing the house of Charles R. Butler, an American businessman, Monday morning when they were discovered. The three other men escaped but a maid was killed, Mrs. Butler shot and seriously wounded, and Mate took Suzie hostage. He held her for 10 hours in the air-conditioned master bedroom of the Butler house before negotiating a promise from the 200 police outside that he could escape. Mate, with Suzie, her uncle and a Manila crime reporter who did the negotiating, took a helicopter to a wild area 75 miles from Manila. Mate left the helicopter without harming Suzie or the others, but was captured later by a 14-man police patrol.

'Die-in' is held

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — A crowd of 50-75 persons gathered in the downtown area here Tuesday to hold a "die-in" protesting the scheduled atomic test on Amchitka island in Alaska's Aleutian chain and then sent a telegram to President Nixon registering their disapproval.

Following a speech by University of Idaho Assistant Professor Fred Rabe, the group dropped to the ground as if they were dead. Then they rose and signed the telegram.

Australia's lady Seen... causes sensation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Australia's first lady, Sonia McMahon, caused a sensation at the White House Tuesday night when she wore a daintily sexy long white gown, slit up both sides. It was the talk of the dinner party.

Not since Joan Kennedy wore a show-stopping see-through blouse to the White House on one occasion and a sequined mini dress on another has there been so much comment about a woman's attire.

McMahon, too, had belled the traditional concept of husbands wanting their wives to wear the covered-up look while admiring the décolletage of other women.

School officials meet

TWIN FALLS — An estimated 600 school board members and their wives from throughout Idaho began arriving in Twin Falls today for the 1971 Idaho State Trustees Association Convention.

Convention activities will be scheduled at the College of Southern Idaho, host of the three-day event.

With the overall theme of "Trustee Accountability," the convention includes a busy agenda of panel discussions, addresses by officials and conferences on all phases of school-board activity.

Officials of the Idaho Department of Education met this morning with trustees, superintendents and other interested educators to explain recent provisions on Title III funds. The meeting is required annually by state law, and is held in conjunction with the trustees' conference to allow the board members confer with state spokesmen.

Conference delegates registered today at the fine arts building, while superintendents from throughout the state met at 2 p.m. for a state conference on mutual problems.

The executive board of the Idaho State Trustees Association will meet at 6 p.m. today at the Blue Lakes Country Club for an initial board meeting.

The ISTA conference will get under way at 9 a.m. Thursday in the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium with the formal call to order by ISTA President Norval Wildman, Burley. All delegates in the auditorium by 9 a.m. will be eligible for an "on-line drawing" of names, with prizes totaling $20 to be awarded by the Idaho Power Co.

Following a short concert by the Twin Falls High School band, Rev. J. L. Tankersley will offer the invocation; a Boy Scout color guard will present the flag, and addresses of welcome will be presented by Twin Falls Mayor Frank Feldman on behalf of the city; Superintendent of Idaho public instruction, on behalf of the department of education, and Dr. James L. Taylor, president of CSI, on behalf of the college.

The first formal business discussion of the convention will begin at 9:40 a.m. Thursday with a three-pronged review of "What school boards may expect from the next session of the legislature" by Sen. Wayne Kidwell, Rep. Ernest Allen, chairman of the House Education Committee, and Rep. Steve Antone.

Following a coffee break, a discussion of "How public schools can be improved" will be led by Jack Newell, Twin Falls, speaking for parents; Chris McKim, student-body president of Minico High School, presenting the students' point of view; Rev. J. L. Tankersley, Bethel Temple Church, Twin Falls, speaking on the ministerial aspect, and John Christoffersen, Twin Falls, viewing the schools from the businessman's vantage point.

A luncheon will be served at noon Thursday in the CSI Gymnasium, with musical accompaniment by Julienne Slaughter's "Junior Violins," a group of elementary and junior high students.

J. C. McCollum, Twin Falls, president of the state board of education, will speak during the luncheon on Thursday.

Thursday afternoon will be devoted to business sessions for ISTA members, including the president's report by Wildman; treasurer's report by J. C. Eddy; secretary's report, Alan Smith; nomination committee report by Bill McDonald; and an overview of the many resolutions to be discussed by Allen Staley, chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

The resolutions will be discussed and voted on during a business session beginning at 3:30 p.m.

A variety show of musical selections will conclude the day's activities at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

On Friday, school board-news media relations will be discussed by Craig Kohlman, Idaho Falls; Alice Delter, Boise, and Terry Schick, Coeur d'Alene, in the morning session beginning at 9:20 a.m. Special reports on insurance and other technical matters will follow at 10 a.m.

At 11 a.m. Friday, assistant Attorney General James Hargis will discuss the implications of the recent California Supreme Court ruling disallowing the use of property tax for school support, and Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft will outline progress of the 75 per cent funding concept in Idaho.

During Friday's noon luncheon, Ed Williams, administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, will be the featured speaker. The Harrison Elementary School Choir will entertain the delegates during the luncheon.

Music events set for aides

TWIN FALLS — From the organ music of Miss Idaho to the lulling strains of the Bel Canto Choir of Burley High School and the harmony of the Twin Falls High School concert choir, a musical feast is on tap for Idaho school trustees at their annual convention this week in Twin Falls.

Area school musical groups will be on hand to demonstrate their skills throughout the convention, including the Twin Falls High School Madrigals, who will serenade wives of the trustees during a luncheon Friday at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

The Twin Falls High School Band, directed by Del Slaughter, will open the convention proceedings Thursday at 9 a.m., playing during the opening ceremonies in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

Del Slaughter's wife, Julienne, will present her Junior Violins, a group of young violinists, during a luncheon at noon Thursday in the CSI Gymnasium.

The Minico High School Dorian Choir is scheduled next, playing before the second business session at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. The choir is directed by Alan Hale.

Thursday evening, a variety show featuring Karen Herd, Idaho Falls, Miss Idaho 1971 and first runner-up in the Miss America Pageant, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

The variety program will include the Gooding High School Boys' Quartet, directed by high school principal Bill Bade; the "Modern Matters" cast from CSI, directed by drama instructor Fran Tanner; the Jerome High School Chorallers, directed by Carson Wong; a selection by Twin Falls High instructor and tenor John Van Buren; an appearance by the high school concert choir, directed by Richard Smack, and, closing the program, organ numbers by Miss Herd.

On Friday, Slaughter will return with the high school orchestra, opening the day's business at 9 a.m., followed by the Harrison Elementary School Choir during a luncheon at 12:30 p.m., directed by Claire Theener.

No injury reported in crash

TWIN FALLS — No serious injuries were reported in a two-car collision Tuesday at an intersection on State Highway 74.

Twin Falls County sheriff's officers said a car driven by E. M. Rayborn, 70, Twin Falls, was traveling west on Highway 74 when it collided with a car driven by Virginia Short, 47, Twin Falls.

Officers said the Short vehicle had been traveling west on a county road prior to entering Highway 74. Mrs. Short was issued a citation for failure to obey a stop sign.

Mrs. Rayborn was a passenger in the car driven by her husband and Mrs. Short was alone, officers said.

Italian ensemble opens TF Community Concert

BY DOUGLAS HILTON

TWIN FALLS — The "Orchestra Michelangelo di Firenze" drew a record crowd Tuesday night at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium for the first concert of the community concert series.

The group proved itself a truly professional one. Special mention should be made of the gorgeous playing of the concertmaster and the superb musicianship of the double bass player, Giuseppe Federici.

A slight pitch problem in the second movement of Vivaldi's "Concerto in C Major" did very little to detract from an exquisitely colored performance. This was lyrical, not pushy, vivaldi. The phrasing was tasteful, never overly lush or exaggerated. The tempos were relaxed, never rushed.

The program was obviously chosen to complement the Italian style of the performers. Italian style is limpid, elegant and above all, sonful—it is essentially an homophonic style, as opposed to the more contrapuntal style of the Northern countries. This style was not especially suited to the Bach "Brandenburg Concerto No. 4," and the use of a piano for the continuo part did little to clarify Bach's contrapuntal textures. A harpsichord would have been preferable. The finely drawn lines of the first movement, though not in a truly baroque style, were nonetheless effective.

Bocherini's "Musica Notturna Nelle Strade Di Madrid" was charming, but the high point of the concert's second half was Handel's "Concerto Grosso in C Major." A cavalier metric approach is too casual for Handel. If Handel were to have heard this performance of his concerto, he would have noted the relaxed and smooth pulse he required for his sequences and spellbinding imitations.

The Mendelssohn symphony which concluded the program, offered as rousing a finale as one can hope to hear from a string orchestra. The standing ovation seems to be becoming a tradition in Twin Falls. This kind of acclaim should be reserved for those performers who truly generate that kind of spontaneous enthusiasm in their audiences. When a standing ovation becomes a social gesture rather than an expression of sincere appreciation, it embarrasses the performers as well as those in the audience with musical sensitivity. The "Orchestra Michelangelo" did not generate the kind of mood that would warrant a standing ovation. The performance, however, was musically subtle, professional and of high quality.

Actress Brett Somers will join husband Jack Klugman for one segment of his "The Odd Couple Series" in which he co-stars with Tony Randall.

not voting you actually lost your voice.

Your next opportunity to use your vote will be next August in the primary, and then after that, in the general election of November, 1972.

Just keep this in mind. A lot of people gave all they had to give you that right to vote.

So, if you didn't vote yesterday, then about all you are entitled to is another chance next August. Nothing more!

Packaging

The manner in which facts are presented can often make them look good or bad when in reality they should look nothing but just plain facts.

What happens is that farm products are transported, processed, packaged, retransported and merchandised before they reach the dinner table.

study said consumers bought $101.6 billion worth of farm-originated groceries last year, excluding imports and seafood, and that about $68 billion of it represented post-farm costs.

A press report of the study topped the information with this beginning: 'Of each dollar consumers spend on food grown on U.S. farms, nearly nine cents goes to pay for wrappings which wind up in the trash can, not on the dinner table.'

For most of us who want to get our food reasonably purified and securely packaged, this is not a very high price to pay.

Defense Continues

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The United States will continue without reservation to guarantee militarily the defense of Nationalist China on Taiwan against invasion.

After talking with key officials in the White House, Pentagon and State Department, it can be stated that the United States will be prepared to use air, naval and technical units in that defense and to supply arms, equipment and munitions.

No U.S. ground troops would be used. Chiang Kai-shek's forces are sufficiently large and well-trained to handle all infantry requirements.

For some time the State Department had been informally discussing whether it would be practical and advisable to reduce the small contingent of U.S. troops maintained on the island.

Officials have cut back the activities of the Seventh Fleet in the area so that this government would not "antagonize" the People's Republic of China.

As a result of the U.N. vote to expel the Nationalists, informed officials say in fact that there may now have to be a delay in reducing the U.S. military contingent on the island because of the psychological repercussions such a move would have at this time.

These decisions do not imply that the Nixon administration would stand in the way of friendly relations between the governments in Peking and Taipei, or even a union of the two nations if that developed as the result of direct negotiations.

The United States will continue to defend Taiwan stance for the foreseeable future, even though U.S. officials can now be expected to recognize mainland China and end their diplomatic relations with the Nationalists.

But all these actions which conceivably could be involved in the military defense of Taiwan voted for the retention of that island country in the U.N. These included Japan, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines.

With diplomatic recognition or without, with U.N. membership or without, Taiwan still has considerable political and economic clout.

bership or without, Taiwan still has considerable political and economic clout. It does considerable exporting and importing, and its major trading partners are not about to let go of that trade, even if they are required to set up "unofficial" arrangements.

There are already done. There are British government commercial representatives in Taipei and Nationalist Chinese commercial representatives in Great Britain.

It is likely that after the reaction has set in to the United Nations vote and the countries involved have second thoughts on what they have done in expelling a loyal member of their congregation, the U.S. position in defending Taiwan may gain more respect.

Hollow Laugh

WASHINGTON — When school buses were dynamited. There was a boycott of the public schools by white parents that kept 32 per cent of the city's children at home.

Michigan has produced: 1. A bill proposed by Michigan Sen. Robert P. Griffin, a white Republican, asking a constitutional amendment that would bar all busing on racial grounds.

2. A bill co-sponsored by seven members of Michigan's House delegation, two Republicans and five Democrats, all white, that would delay the effective date of court busing orders until all appeals had been exhausted.

That is not all, my friends. One of the co-sponsors of the House bill is Rep. James G. O'Hara, an ultra liberal who formerly chaired the ultra-liberal Democratic Study Group.

O'Hara has been telling protesting constituents in a form letter that "I am prepared to do whatever is necessary by way of further legislation or a constitutional amendment to prevent cross-district busing."

So much for principle, although it can be argued that Griffin, O'Hara & Co. did not act precipitately. None of this group, to my knowledge, raised so much as a quizzical eyebrow last April when the Supreme Court upheld widespread busing in three Southern cases.

That time was granted them when busing reacted to the busing order with massive and sometimes violent protests.

WELFARE—In fiscal 1970, last year in which welfare investigators were used, the average case load with 19,803 and total expenditures were $34.814 million—local funds $17.932 million, Federal funds $16.882 million.

With no investigators, the case load jumped to 29,771 and costs to $57.256 million—local funds $29.972 million, Federal funds $27.284 million.

This skyward climb continued in the current fiscal year, with the average case load reaching 37,712 as of Sept. 30, and the estimated outlay for the year way up to $75,967 million—of which $39.423 million is in local funds and $36.541 million in Federal funds.

Straight line projection for welfare in the capital for fiscal 1973 is—average case load 51,500; total cost $123.792 million, of which $63.927 million will be in local funds and $59.864 in Federal funds.

CRIME—So far, there have been 230 murders this year as against 228 for all of 1970. In a grisly way, this is still a slight improvement. In 1969, there were 292 homicides—record to date.

Similarly, rapes have soared, being nearly double the 100 last year. Robberies and burglaries also are up.

All this while the capital's population has declined and the black ratio has increased. Another intriguing statistic is that the nearly $1 billion D. C. budget, submitted by the predominantly black local government, calls for an outright Federal grant of $153 million.

Toilet Paper

I've mentioned once or twice that fancy toilet paper can cause rectal itching, and folks who have run into that trouble may be interested in the following, from William V. Driscoll, of the American Paper Institute.

The dyes and scents used by members of the tissue industry are all thoroughly analyzed and medically tested periodically to insure their safety. They are subjected to dermatological patch testing to make certain there will be no adverse effects for the consumer.

With respect to the scents used in our industry, I must point out that they are generally added to the core stock of the bathroom tissue roll or the wrapper, and are not an integral part of the toilet tissue sheet itself.

From that information, I would guess that I was probably wrong in suspecting scented paper; some people are allergic to perfumes, but I would doubt that a scented core or wrapper would have much effect.

But colored tissue sometimes does cause trouble. I am certainly not opposed to colored tissue; the majority of us use it without trouble.

Some folks are hypersensitive to cosmetics, jewelry, the nickel in a five-cent piece, girdles, milk, carbon paper, ink, no-iron clothes, green vegetables, wool, wheat, nylon, and you name it.

So it's not surprising that some happen to be sensitive to coloring matter in paper, even though most of us aren't. It's something worth suspecting if you have rectal itching without any other discoverable cause.

I never had one (but only one) letter from an individual who had trouble because modern paper is too soft. Her doctor (or maybe it was a man, I don't recall) suggested using a harder surface tissue, and that itching and irritation subsided.

Business Meetings

Some convention centers in the United States are sort of driving businessmen to find other places to hold annual meetings.

We were attracted by an advertisement prepared by PanAm and appearing in the last issue of Business Week. It had to do with holding a business meeting in Tahiti or in Miami with those attending either one originating their flights to each community from Los Angeles.

The "ad" said lots of times you can do it for less in some "exciting place" than you could at home. Or for just about the same cost, in any event. They then went on to prove it.

Here's how: Based on 50 attendees spending five days and six nights at destination, the cost would be as follows:

In Tahiti: guest rooms, $3,900; meals, $3,600; refreshments (not including liquor) $370; audio visual, no charge; set up (labor) $128; transfer $180; and air fare $21,500.

In Miami: Guest rooms, $6,791; meals, $3,816; refreshments (not including liquor) $689; audio visual, $239; set up (labor) $1,108; transfers, $250; and air fare $15,400.

Total cost to hold the meeting in Tahiti, $29,678 or $594 per attendee. Cost in Miami, $28,203 or $564 per attendee.

So, for only $30 more, per person the convention could be held in far away Tahiti. Not bad, huh? And the advertisement says there are other places, such as some in South America, where the cost would be even less.

THE GRAVEYARD

From old tombstones: Blown upward, out of sight; he sought the leak by candlelight. She lived with her husband for 50 years, and died in the confident hope of a better life.

Here lies old Aunt Hannah Proctor who purged but didn't call the doctor. She couldn't stay, she had to go; praise God from whom all blessings flow.

Beneath these stones do lie, back to back, my wife and I. When the last loud trump shall blow, if she gets up I'll just lie low.

FINALLY!

Dear Mr. Spectator: I was glad to finally see a picture of Joseph Clement in Sunday's paper. I knew someone by that name was running for council up here but I thought it was the guy who had the oil business in Twin Falls and figured he must own property up here so was running for office.

Nader launches study of Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the ambitious venture of a congressional career, Ralph Nader and 80 of his "raiders" launched a study of Congress designed to provide a voters' handbook in the 1972 elections. The remote comparison of Congress as the hope of a new America, Nader National Press Club Tuesday. Accordingly, we are what is probably the most comprehensive and detailed study of the Congress since its establishment. The nonpartisan Congress project will enlist the assistance of hundreds of citizens covering nearly every congressional district. "Here in Washington about 80 graduate students and young professionals will conduct research during portions of this year-long study," he said. It will range from an analysis of the electoral and campaign process to individual profiles of members of Congress to the internal workings of the legislature and its interaction with the executive branch and private constituencies.

Trial ordered transferred

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis Tuesday was ordered transferred from the vaulted Marin County Civic Center, site of the 1970 kidnapping and shootout Miss Davis is accused of helping plot.

Miss Davis' attorneys objected. They said she "probably cannot get a fair trial" in San Jose and indicated they might appeal, further delaying the protracted developments. In granting Miss Davis' request for a change of venue, Amason ruled there was a "reasonable likelihood that Angela Davis could not receive a fair trial in Marin County."

The defense, using a public-opinion poll by a University of California professor, had argued that San Francisco was the only city in Northern California where the necessary atmosphere of racial and political tolerance existed that would allow a fair trial. Miss Davis, the avowed Communist and former UCLA faculty member, is accused of furnishing guns and of helping in the Aug. 7, 1970 Marin county incident in which a judge was kidnapped from his bench and shot to death along with three of his kidnapers.

Tito's visit ends

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Yugoslav President Tito wound up a six-day visit to the United States Tuesday expressing hope for increased friendship and understanding between the two countries. Tito, 79, who was scheduled to visit an Iowa farm as part of his last stop in the United States, canceled the plans after his departure was delayed for nearly 40 minutes in Los Angeles.

After landing under tight security at the Iowa Air National Guard terminal in Des Moines, Tito posed briefly for photographers, then retired to a lounge for the remainder of his 42-minute visit. Tito changed planes in Des Moines. He was scheduled to arrive in Canada later Tuesday. Gov. Robert D. Ray, his wife, wife, and two daughters were on hand to greet the Commander at the airport. Ray and Tito discussed agriculture and Tito's meeting with President Nixon last week.

Nixon called treaty relations with the ANZUS countries "one of the fundamental pillars of our policy in the Pacific." Nixon told reporters "after walking McMahon to his car, "I was glad to restate our past support of our commitment."

Leaders welcomed

TE AVIV (UPI)—Israeli cabinet and the entire diplomatic corps were at Lod International Airport to welcome the African leaders. Egyptian President Nasser, Nigerian head of state, and Senegal and Ahmadou Ahidjo of Cameroon arrived first in a green-and-white Nigerian Airlines jet plane. Soon after a 21-gun salute and the playing of national anthems, pink and blue pamphlets fluttered from the balcony of the terminal building down among diplomats standing before a red carpet. The leaflets, distributed by the Jewish Defense League (JDL), protested the Israeli government's welcome of the Nigerian head of state. A police spokesman said later four JDL members were arrested on the balcony after the leaflets had been thrown.

Suit filed against CAB

THE AVIATION Consumer Action Project (ACAP) backed by Ralph Nader Monday, filed suit against the Civil Aeronautics Board to prevent it from "rubber-stamping" international airline fares. By giving International Air Transport Association fare packages "perfunctory approval," ACAP claimed the CAB was violating the rights of air travelers. (UPI)

How can a busy man even think of paying $5.55 when he can get it for $1.55?

I'm talking about out-of-state calls. Coast-to-coast phone calls, for example. Some businesses insist on making them person-to-person. For which they happily pay $3.55 for three minutes. While I happily pay $1.35 for three minutes. But then I dial the call myself, which is the cheapest way (see chart). After all, $2.20 saved is $2.20 earned. I put that rather nice didn't I?

	Direct-Dialed Station-to-Station Calls	Operator-Handled Station-to-Station Calls	Person-to-Person Calls
Weekends 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sat. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sun.	70¢ first 3 mins	$1.40 first 3 mins
Evenings 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sun. through Fri.	$5.40 first 3 mins	$1.40 first 3 mins	$3.55 first 3 mins
Nights 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily	35¢ first minute (minimum call)	$1.40 first 3 mins (minimum call)	All times
Weekdays 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon. through Fri.	$2.35 first 3 mins	$1.85 first 3 mins

Rates shown on chart (plus tax) are minimum on coast-to-coast calls within the continental U.S., except Alaska. Rates are even less on most out-of-state calls of lesser distances. Where direct dialing facilities are not available, direct-dialed rates apply on operator-handled station-to-station calls.

Gem aide says dormant board worth reviving

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa Tuesday described the dormant Natural Resources Advisory Board as a "good vehicle" for communication and suggested it be retained with an expanded role. "It can be a good medium for establishing communications amongst a broad spectrum of knowledgeable people throughout the state," Cenarrusa said, in an interview. "I would like to see it function properly." Created by the 1967 legislature as an advisory board to the constitutionally established State Land Board, the advisory board is supported by law to meet twice a year. Records show it has not met for the past 19 months. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, its chairman, indicated Monday he will not call it into session unless he can be shown the meeting will be "productive."

membership may have been too busy to utilize the advisory group properly. "I think we should give it a chance and members of the board should be consulted and if a majority of members feel it would be unproductive we should look at abolishing it," Cenarrusa said, adding if the board should be activated. "I can see good in it — primarily to establish communication among many agencies involved in this board," Cenarrusa said. There are 10 members on the board, including all five members of the State Land Board the advisory board was expected to counsel. Some critics of the board have felt it was too large. "It is unwieldy," Cenarrusa said. He said if the only purpose of the board is to counsel the Land Board perhaps the Land Board should be removed from the advisory group's membership.

But he said if the Land Board is retained in advisory board membership perhaps the role of the advisory board should be expanded.

Smallest network makes big showing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There is jubilation these days at the smallest commercial television network, ABC-TV, because it is suddenly making a very big showing in the national ratings. It is no fluke either. ABC-TV has been coming on steadily and with strength, for some time now, building originally on its potent Tuesday lineup — "The Mod Squad," "Movie of the Week" and "Marcus Welby, M.D."

AT NBC-TV, there is no secret that many top executives are quite unhappy about the network's showing in the ratings this season. As one executive there put it, "We aren't used to losing." NBC-TV is a very proud company, and the bitterness at being behind is genuine. It is also a patient, solid company that doesn't rattle easily, and that is its strength. At any rate, the turnaround in the statistical rankings is caused by the fact that NBC-TV has only two of the top 10 shows in the latest ratings, four of the top 20 and just five of the top 30. Fortunately for the network, one of those shows,

Flip Wilson's, is No. 1, with great audience pull. If not for Wilson's steady big draw, the network's ratings could be disastrous. He could probably name his own deal now. The other NBC-TV show in the top 10 has the special "Snoopy and the Ice Follies." The other NBC-TV programs that did well were "Mehols" (15th), "Adam-12" (20th) and "NBC Mystery Movie" (21st). As for ABC-TV, "Welby" and "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law," which shared a two-part story, came in second and third respectively among all shows — a tribute to the tremendous pull of the "Welby" series. Another series on NBC-TV,

"Longstreet," about a blind insurance investigator, ranked fifth (its competition was "Nichols" and that CBS-TV documentary). And the ABC Sunday movie, "How The West Was Won," placed seventh. ABC-TV's "Movie of the Week," a drama called "Suddenly Single," with Hal Holbrook as a newly divorced man seeking a different life style, was 10th. The same network's "The Partridge Family" was 14th, and another ABC-TV series, "Room 222," was 17th. Other ABC-TV shows faring well were "The Brady Bunch" (23rd), "Love, American Style" (27th), "The Odd Couple" (29th), "The FBI" (30th) and "The Mod Squad" (33rd). CBS-TV, meanwhile, continued to do rather well, as it has all season in the ratings, with such strong entries as "Gunsmoke," Lucille Ball, "Mannix," "Medical Center," Doris Day, "Hawaii Five-O," Dick Van Dyke, "Funny Face," Mary Tyler Moore, "My Three Sons" and Carol Burnett. Back at NBC-TV, the suddenly erratic "Bonanza" was down to 34th place, and "Laugh-In" was 36th. It is possible, though, that Jimmy Stewart's new NBC-TV situation comedy might conceivably be showing signs of making an upward move. After a dreadful ratings start, it has ever so slowly been edging up, and placed 38th in the new rankings. If it keeps moving and gets anywhere near the top, he will be tough to dislodge because of the real audience affection for Stewart.

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, Nov. 3, the 307th day of 1971. The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. Those born on this day are under the sign of Scorpio. American poet William Cullen Bryant was born Nov. 3, 1794. On this day in history: In 1783 Congress ordered the Continental Army demobilized. In 1917 Americans at home learned of the first World War I deaths of U.S. soldiers fighting at Nancy, France. In 1936 Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected president for a second term. In 1964 a record 67 million American voters went to the polls as Lyndon B. Johnson was elected president by the largest majority in history. A thought for today: American novelist Dorothy Canfield Fisher said, "A mother is not a person to lean on, but a person to make leaning unnecessary."

Chilean plans greater dominance of economy

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—President Salvador Allende starts his second year in office Thursday, launching a plan to nationalize 200 companies in his bid to socialize Chile.

The 62-year-old physician and his "popular unity" coalition dominated by Socialists and Communists has seriously strengthened the government's dominance over the economic life of this nation nearly 10 million since taking office Nov. 4, 1970.

Socialist Allende in his six-year term with 38 per cent of the popular vote, 44 per cent plurality over his closest competitor in a tight race. Chile's anti-Marx majority divided its vote between the rightists and Populist Christian Democrat candidates.

The Allende government plans to submit to congress a bill permitting nationalization of the 200 companies that were worth more than $500,000 each on Dec. 31, 1969. Newspapers are exempt from the measure.

The Christian Democrats hope to slow the pace of nationalization by introducing their own bill calling for an act of congress for each expropriation or forced sale. It is given little chance of passage.

The copper industry, cornerstone of the Chilean economy, was nationalized last July when Allende signed a constitutional amendment that had been unanimously approved by congress.

"Industries as diverse as textiles, cement, telephones and some beer plants have been brought under state supervision. The government has purchased control of 11 of 21 Chilean banks, all of which are slated for nationalization, giving it tremendous political leverage through credit and loan operations.

The Allende coalition has also authorized the State Development Corporation to buy majority interest in "Papeles y Cartones," the nation's largest newsprint producer. The government claims the company is in financial trouble. The opposition says the move is a threat to muzzle press freedom.

The president's support at home is difficult to determine. However, in its last test at the polls in April, the Allende coalition won 50 per cent of the vote in municipal elections. It was aided by a retail price freeze, a free milk ration for children and increased minimum wages.

Water threat seen

BOISE (UPI)—Being a threat to orderly development of lands and water in the Idaho State Reclamation Association has petitioned federal court to appear as a friend of the court in the Ton Dam suit.

Several organizations concerned with outdoor sports and preservation of the environment, as well as two Boy Scout men, brought the suit Sept. 1 to block construction of the projected Lower Teton Dam.

In its petition to appear as a friend of the court, the reclamation association said a court decision in this case will affect rights of its membership. The association claims its membership includes 152 water user organizations, 35 associate members and 66,000 individuals.

Roger D. Ling, Rupert, the association's attorney, called the suit an attempt to have the Teton River declared a wild and scenic river by judicial process rather than by legislation.

Ling said if the action is successful it could be a precedent for enjoining pending projects and he said this could substantially alter orderly development of Idaho's lands and water.

Poplars, aspens and cottonwoods are distributed widely throughout the northern hemisphere.

Isolation out of new policies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon faces the task of convincing Americans and the world that adoption of what he considers a more realistic U.S. foreign policy does not involve returning to isolationism, either diplomatically or economically.

The treasurer's experiences in the administration underwrote the administration's approach at the United Nations and in other international forums.

Analysis

The U.S. Senate last week showed this is going to be a painful process at times.

The Senate's rejection of the Foreign Aid Bill eventually will be overcome. Meanwhile, the administration will provide assistance from the pipeline, under the authority of a continuing resolution from Congress.

Viet fund cut said 'disaster'

SAIGON (UPI)—Two high American officials said today a "drastically" A total cutoff of aid would have quite a disastrous effect.

Officials said this likely would cause rapid inflation, serious shortages of consumer goods and a possible panic-buying here if Congress refused to extend the commercial import program, now running at about $300 million annually.

Willard Sharpe, chief of the Joint U.S. Economic Office, and Jerome Jacobson, legal adviser to the U.S. agency for International Development (USAID), were commenting on the U.S. Senate's killing of foreign aid legislation last Friday.

What's really at issue here is the ability of the Vietnamese government to support its current military force levels.

One American was wounded in the loss of an OH6 observation helicopter west of Pleiku and 230 miles north of Saigon. No injuries were reported in the shooting down of a UH1 Huey helicopter near Kontum, 280 miles north of Saigon. Both were hit on Monday.

Surveyor finds his work interesting livelihood

By MYRTLE SCHRENK
Times-News Writer
WENDELL — Jim Burcham, a newcomer to Wendell from Elko, Nev., finds surveying an interesting way of earning his bread and butter.
He said that most surveyors work on subdivisions and other routine jobs but working for himself he has had an opportunity to lay a lowly plat.

In terms of the layman that is to map or draw a parcel of land for a townsite.
That is just what he did when Jackpot was built in 1957. He also surveyed and drew a map creating a new county line between Lander and Eureka counties in Nevada.
Although he has a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo, Calif., he finds it much more interesting and rewarding searching for old section corners and monuments that were laid as long ago as 100 years.

In Wendell he recently dug old corner stones of lava rock dating back to 1909 on the corners of Fourth Avenue and Halley Streets and Fourth Avenue and Wendell Streets. He said the lava stones are about six by six inches and 12 inches and have X's chiseled on top of them. At the time they were laid Wendell was situated in Lincoln County instead of Gooding.

He said he cannot establish property lines but that he verifies old lines, presents the situation, writes a description of boundaries, and at times can give an alternative to those he serves.

Mrs. Burcham, the former Burva Stombaugh, is a native of Magic Valley and wished to return to the area to be closer to her family so the Burchams have purchased an acreage two and one-half miles west and one-half south of Wendell. They have six children ranging in age 9 through 17.
Before coming to Wendell, Burcham worked the Chilton Engineering Co. in Elko and for the San Luis Obispo County surveyor's office.
He has been in the area since September and has worked for private individuals in Wendell, Hagerman, Gooding, Jerome, Mountain Home and Bellevue. He also plans to work in southwestern Idaho.

Although he has been working in the area since September he has just moved into an office on Idaho Street in the McNutt Building. He is licensed in both Nevada and Idaho and has been a surveyor for about eight years. He said that he can take care of aerial photography and all other phases of surveying.

JIM BURCHAM points to the area on a map of Wendell where he found old lava corner stones designating the townsite of Wendell that were laid in 1909 when Wendell was part of Lincoln County instead of Gooding.

T.F. man to speak at Wendell

WENDELL — Tom Lane, Twin Falls, will be guest speaker at the monthly Wendell Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Motor Inn Cafe at 7 a.m. Nov. 10.
Lane will present a market report that is pertinent to the Wendell area. He will tell chamber members how many families there are in the Wendell area, their average income and average expenditures during the year.
John Wert, president, will name a nominating committee for a slate of officers for the coming year. All members are urged to attend.

Snow needed

GRAVEL MAY BE sticking through the snow, but Scott Barkley, 12, and his pony are giving little friends a thrill by pulling them through what white stuff there is on the Wendell farm road.

Furniture store opens in Wendell

WENDELL — Frank Raine will become the operator of the newest business in Wendell when he holds open house Monday for a new and used furniture store.
Raine returns to Wendell after being away for the past 24 years. He and his wife, the former Lucille Fluharty, are both natives of Magic Valley and attended Wendell schools. They say they returned to Wendell because they enjoy the advantages of living in a small community.
Raine served in the Navy for four years during World War II and has worked in California and Washington as a wholesale distributor for building materials.

He said that his hobby is viewing sports events and hunting.
Mrs. Raine, who will manage the store, has an interest in antiques and collects cups and saucers.

The site of the store, 190 East Ave. has been an empty lot for a number of years and John Wert, president of the Wendell Chamber of Commerce, said that Raine is to be complimented for the improvement that he has made just off of the city center.

Wendell girl wins trip to capital

WENDELL — Elaine Ambrose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Ambrose, Wendell, has been chosen one of 10 students at the University of Idaho to fly to Washington, D. C. Monday through a $2000 grant from the Jewett Foundation.

Concert Choir that toured Europe last spring. They visited five countries and presented 11 concerts.
Miss Ambrose also represented the university as a public relations director two years ago. She traveled to Youth Legislature in Boise and Syringa Girls State to speak to high school seniors.

Halloween observance still planned at Wendell

WENDELL — Halloween isn't yet over in Wendell. Youth groups from both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will make a house-to-house canvass for UNICEF Sunday.
Police Chief Dale Bunn said Tuesday the city fared very well during the weekend Halloween activities and the youths of the community should be complimented for their excellent behavior.

No destruction, accidents or unpleasant incidents were reported and the usual soaping of windows in the business area was not as numerous as in past years, he said.
About 250 children dressed in a variety of costumes participated in the annual costume parade sponsored by the chamber. Bunn, who was chairman of the event, was assisted by James Burke, deputy sheriff, and members of the Wendell City and Rural Volunteer fire departments.

Firemen were George Wehler, chief; Mel Thaele, assistant; and Wayne Hope, Lloyd Little, Jim Benson, Ellis Thomson and Charles Irtan, firemen.
Judges were Mrs. Earl Schrenk, Mrs. James Dunn, Mr. Russel Carpenter and Rev. William Pinkerton.
Candy treats were furnished by chamber members and baked by members of the Wendell home economics class, under the direction of Dorothy Barn.

Twenty cash prizes were awarded. Patty and Michael LaRue, as Annie Oakley and Lone Ranger were judged as the most "outstanding." Sheila Shannon and Sharlene Hurd, "most appealing" were dressed as little clowns. Shannon Rose, most cuddly, as Raggedy Ann. Marlene Strong was the scariest, as a red devil.

Other winners were Julie Kimbrough, Darlene Wert, Jeannie Mitler, Tammy Stockham, Cliff Askew, Patricia Walker, Ronnie Klimes, John Evers, Claude Webb, Sandra Higgenbotham, Cherie Holmes, Darlene Peterson and Curtis Peterson.

Best dressed

PATTY AND MICHAEL LARUE, as Annie Oakley and Lone Ranger, were selected as most outstanding participants at the annual Halloween kids parade sponsored by the Wendell Chamber of Commerce Saturday night.

Equal work discussed for Altrusans

TWIN FALLS — District Lawley, CPA, Twin Falls, was guest speaker during the Twin Falls Altrusa Club meeting this past week at the home of Mrs. Jane Peterson.
Speaking on "What Is Equal Work," Lawley noted experience is too narrow and not applicable in many cases and women do not negotiate well for wages.
It was announced Katherine Wise, district governor, will make her official visit during a special meeting Nov. 12. The next dinner meeting is set for Nov. 9 at the Colonial House.

Perrine Toastmasters have meet

TWIN FALLS — The regular meeting of the I. B. Perrine Toastmasters Club was held Monday at Kay's Supper Club with Devert Douglas as presiding officer and Ken Glasby giving the invocation.
Ken Glasby, representative at the area humor speech contest recently held in Burley, returned as the winner. Glasby will now represent the area in the District No. 15 humorous speech contest Saturday in Boise. There will be no meeting next Monday, Nov. 8. Instead the club will meet with the Jerome Club Wednesday, Nov. 11, at Wood Cafe, Jerome, at 7 p.m.
Table topic chairman was Frank Robinson; toastmaster, Ed Barker; Timer, Ken Glasby, and general evaluator, Ken Reid.
Speakers were Bill Foster, Elmer Little, Harold Metz and Wayne DeSpain.
Blue pencils for the best speech were awarded to DeSpain and Little. LeRoy Baker received a blue pencil for table topics.

Karen Brashear, Bridge say vows

TWIN FALLS — Evening candlelight rites at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension united in marriage Karen Elaine Brashear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Brashear, and Robert Dale Bridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Bridge, all Twin Falls.
The double ring holy communion ceremony was solemnized Oct. 22 by Rev. Kale R. King before a background of spiral brass candleabra with pink chrysanthemums and white daisy pompons in the altar vases. Cathedral baskets of pink chrysanthemums and white daisy pompons tied with pink satin completed the setting.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length gown in acetate and nylon rose point lace featuring a tiered bouffant skirt with chapel train. The fitted lace was styled with a high-nylon lace neckline enhanced with pearl beads and sequins on lily point sleeves. Her illusion veil was held by a beaded pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses accented with baby's breath and camillia leaves and tied with moss green velvet.

The bride carried a hand-made handkerchief over 70 years old, made by her great-grandmother.
Sherry Kingston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Brenda MacFarlane, sister of the bride, and Pam Bridge, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.
Bud Rountree was best man and Bill MacFarlane, brother-in-law of the bride, and Curt Flinn, were ushers. Terry Kingston was ringbearer. Flower girl was Lori Ann Kingston, niece of the bride. Mrs. Mary Howell, organist, played the traditional wedding music.
A reception was held in the Bishop Rhea Auditorium. The bride's table was covered with white nylon flounces and a pink satin cover held in place by corsages of rosebuds, pompons and baby's breath. It was centered with a four-tiered cake flanked by candles and bouquets. Quartet tables were covered with lace cloths and centered with bowls of pink chrysanthemums. The cake was decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, flanked with pink hearts and bells in candy tuff.
The cake was served by Mrs. Ernest Blades and Mrs. Loren Blades. Coffee was served by Mrs. Wiley Dodds and punch was served by Mrs. R. C. Turner.
Carcie Hall and Tawni Blades received the gifts, with Mrs. Gary Hall and Mrs. Jack Mattison displaying the gifts. In charge of the guest book was Mrs. Janie Moon.
Out-of-town guests attended from Jackson, Wyo.; San Angelo, Tex.; Jerome, Piler and Gooding.
The couple will reside in twin Falls, where the bridegroom is employed by Haney Seed Co. and the bride is employed by Kellwood Co.
Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by Mrs. Wiley Dodds, Mrs. Ernest Blades, Mrs. Janie Moon and Mrs. Harold Blades.

PTA asks grass roots support

BY DWIGHT JENSEN (Special to the Times-News)
POCATELLO — What may be the worst-attended Idaho State PTA convention in many years has ended at Pocatello, with a chief item of business being efforts to win back membership that has been lost to apathy and the rival PTO.
Ninety persons attending the opening session approved an experimental program for restructuring the board of managers of the organization in a way that its leaders hope will build more grass roots support and do away with some of the top-heavy bureaucracy.
The "grass roots" theme was hit by everyone who discussed the problem, including President Arlyne Kisling, of Dietrich. She said the PTA has strayed too far from an organization in which local people are doing things to help local schools. She warned that parents and other volunteers should only do things they're qualified to do and should only work with the consent and approval of the school administration, but within those limitations she encouraged volunteer help by parents in carrying out school programs and functions.

"We lost some members two years ago because of the sex education controversy," Mrs. Kisling says, referring to the fust caused when the state PTA endorsed sex education in the public schools.
"But this year we've had so many requests for the little membership envelopes that we've run out of them," she said.
Although she believes that local-level activity is the key to a successful PTA, Mrs. Kisling is also pleased with the statewide project of going to court to demand more productive management of the school endowment lands. That, she says, has generated a lot of interest in the organization.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking also likes that project, and he suggested that the PTA tackle more statewide jobs. He specifically mentioned in a conversation with the Times-News, that the group support revision of the tax base, reduction in the number of counties, and consolidation of school districts. He called the PTA an excellent means of communication between his department and the citizens on matters pertaining to education.
Former state president Geri Plumb, Boise, was one of many expressing approval of the experimental restructuring. She said the PTA had become too inflexible, too slow to respond to current developments and problems.
Hope Kading, Boise, whose husband is the attorney handling the state endowment lands lawsuit, said the organization had become bureaucratically top-heavy because it would add officers and committees to handle special problems, such as the sales tax referendum of 1966, and then would not do away with the positions after the problems became obsolete. She said the restructuring should place key responsibility back on the shoulders of the district presidents where, she said, it belongs.

The restructuring consolidates nearly three dozen functions, many of them earlier handed by separate committees or chairmen, under three chairmen. In odd-numbered years, the chairmen for program and education and for legislation will be appointed. In even-numbered years, the chairman for administration and field service is to be appointed.
The second, third and fourth vice-presidents will be elected in odd-numbered years; the president, first-vice president, secretary and treasurer will be elected in even-numbered years.

DEAR ABBY: The first day of school, Paula, my 7 year old, brought a classmate home from school. [I'll call her "Debbie."] Debbie asked if she could stay here until her mother got home from work at 6 p.m. She said her mother had told her to either play outside or go to a friend's house as the house would be locked.

I said it would be all right, then I fixed snacks for Paula and her little guest.

Well, the "little guest" has been coming home with Paula every afternoon, and she stays here until she hears her mother's horn outside.

I wonder what would happen if I had to take Paula somewhere after school and couldn't take Debbie? Or if the girls had a fuss, as children sometimes do? Also, it will soon be dark before 6 p.m., and Debbie can't stay outside alone.

Abby, I resent being saddled with the responsibility of looking after someone else's child without even having been asked.

What do you suggest I do? I have never even met the woman.

DEAR TRAPPED: Introduce yourself. Telephone, to avoid any embarrassment to Debbie. Tell Mamma you don't mind having Debbie occasionally, and even frequently, but she shouldn't assume that you will look after the child daily, so she had better make some other provisions for Debbie's care.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for eight years. I have never had any reason to distrust him, but lately I have been getting a number of strange phone calls, all women, asking for my husband. They always call when he is at work. Today a woman called up, and when I said hello all she said was: "Your husband wants a divorce." Then she hung up. I suppose it could be somebody just playing a joke on me, but I can't be sure.

I haven't said anything to my husband about it, and I don't know whether I should. He just isn't the type that would fool around—I would like your advice.

DEAR PUZZLED: Don't pay any attention to anonymous phone calls. And if they get too bothersome, tell your husband that you've been annoyed with some crank phone calls and you'd like to have your number changed. Or "unlisted."

DEAR ABBY: This is for the person who wanted to know if taking ashtrays from restaurants was considered "stealing".

Recently, my two daughters and I were in Las Vegas. As we were packing to leave, just to get my dander up, they were discussing how many hotel ashtrays they should put in their suitcases.

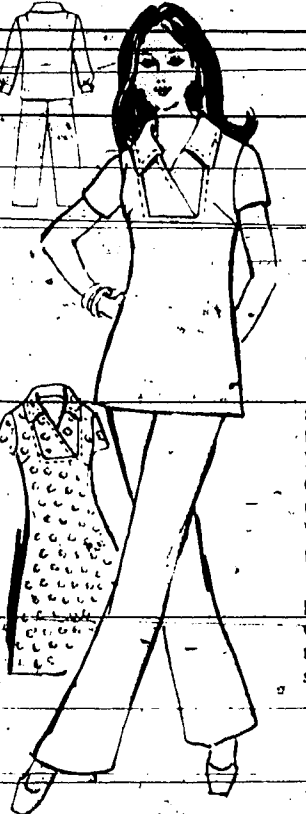

I picked up the phone and asked the desk clerk, "How many ashtrays may we swipe?"

After he got over the initial shock, he busted up laughing and said, "One apiece." And we weren't billed for them either.

DEAR HONESTLY: Since YOU asked, and were given the ashtrays, there's no dishonesty on your part. But the room clerk could be in big trouble if he makes a practice of giving away that which is not his.

Funds help

Children benefit from birth defect clinic

TWIN FALLS — Direct benefit to children of Magic Valley is given in many ways through the March of Dimes, and one illustration is the clinic held in Twin Falls last week for Magic Valley children suffering various forms of birth defects.

Defects Center, Primary Children's Hospital, has visited the area for a second time this year to examine young patients and recommend further treatment.

The local community clinics, says Douglas Vollmer, March of Dimes Chairman, saves travel expense for many families who would otherwise have to travel to Salt Lake City. In the most recent clinic, 15 youngsters received special care from Dr. Myers during a two-day visit. March of Dimes officials say more than 100 children in south central Idaho are known to suffer some form of birth defect and are given help through March of Dimes funds.

Bid delay marks turning point in water plans

BY DWIGHT JENSEN
(Special to the Times-News)
IDAHO FALLS—The factors that forced the 22-day postponement of the bid opening on the Lower Teton Power Plant and Pumping Station during October may mark a major turning point in thinking about water development in Idaho.

Friday morning, about 150 persons, most of them representing contractors and subcontractors wanting a piece of the Lower Teton action, gathered at the Westbank Motel. At about 10 minutes before 10 a.m., Robert Robison, chief engineer for the project, announced over the microphone, "We're sure we will have a bid opening this morning." The remark drew appreciative but apprehensive laughter from the crowd.

Because three weeks earlier, on Oct. 7, about 250 individuals had gathered in the same room for the same bid opening. But at the last minute it was canceled when a telegram came from the Interior Department postponing action in order to give environmental factors some further study.

Friday, sure enough, the ceremony got started, and in slightly more than 20 minutes seven bids were opened.

Morrison—Knudsen Co. of Boise, combining with Peter Kiewit and Sons of Omaha, submitted the apparent low bid of $30,476,142—about $6 million less than the nearest competitor and $3.5 million higher than the engineer's estimate. The Bureau of Reclamation retired to ponder the results and decide whether and to whom to let the contract.

Whether the dam will actually be built still awaits the outcome of a lawsuit brought by environmentalists. But even if it's built—and the odds probably are that it will be—the thinking about water is changing in Idaho.

Lower Teton got its big impetus in 1962. There were floods in the general area of Rexburg that year. Congressman Ralph Harding was among those who spent a lot of time on his projections to go with the authorizations.

So the Lower Teton is not at all a new project, but the ecological fuss about it is. To worry about the environment was not in fashion in 1962 and 1964. Now it is, and objections have arisen.

Environmentalists make a number of charges. First, they say, the farmers in the area can get along without the additional water. Second, to dam the stream would be to destroy all or good part of its fish life and other wildlife—destroy or disrupt its ecological system.

Third, plans are to take fill for the dam from the same river downstream—thus further damaging its ecology and its scenic value.

The objections go on, culminating in the claim that the dam is not economically feasible—that studies saying it is have omitted some important financial considerations, such as its value as a fishing stream, scenic area, and future resource.

These objections were taken seriously enough by the secretary of the interior that he postponed the Oct. 7 bid openings. There are some reports that he intended to cancel the dam altogether, but that President Nixon stepped in, at the urging of Sen. Len Jordan and other members of the Idaho Congressional delegation, and instructed Interior to let the project go ahead.

Whatever the facts of that case, and whether Lower Teton is eventually built or not, it seems fair to assume that the development of water in Idaho is going to have to be fundamentally reconsidered, and new values and new priorities assigned. That will be a key factor in Idaho politics for some time to come.

Firm's earnings drop

WALLACE (UPI)—"Extraordinary items" caused American Smelting and Refining Co. to experience a 50 per cent drop in its first nine months earnings, Asarco officials reported here Monday.

The company reported an income of $35,461,000 or $1.32 a share, compared with last year's figures of $78,292,000, or $2.74 per share.

Asarco officials said the difference was that in 1970 there were "extraordinary items" in the third quarter that resulted in additional earnings.

Conversely there were no "extraordinary earnings" in the first nine months of this year, company spokesmen said.

One company spokesman attributed the decline to a two month long strike at the company's copper plants and major copper mine in Arizona, continuing inflationary cost influences and lower metal prices.

Asarco Board Chairman Charles F. Barber said the outlook for earnings the rest of the year "is clouded by weakness in demand for metals in the United States and more particularly in Western Europe and Japan."

'71 tourist season equals last

BOISE (UPI)—State Commerce Secretary Lloyd Howe says Idaho's 1971 tourist season appears to have been equal to or better than last year.

Howe said most reports he has received from northern Idaho indicate tourism was up as much as 5 to 7 per cent in the 10 northern counties.

He said Sun Valley indicated it has had a good year and in Boise, he said, the Capitol's tour guide service had an increase over previous years.

"In eastern Idaho," Howe said, "I get conflicting reports. Some say it was as good as last year and some worse."

TF man receives award

TWIN FALLS — Merwin Helmbolt, CLU, a Twin Falls life underwriter, qualified for his 26th consecutive National Quality Award during the annual meeting of the South Idaho Life Underwriters Association on Monday at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

To qualify for the national honor, an agent must select his prospects with such care that 90 per cent or more of all his policies remain in force, awards chairman Thomas Good explained.

Other agents receiving National Quality Awards included Glen Terry and Ross Prather, CLU, 17 consecutive years each; John Snow, CLU, 11 years; Kenneth Johnston, 10 years; Elmer Meyer, eight years; George Nesbitt, six years, and Doug Neville, five years.

Other awards went to Jim Winkle, four years; Earl Vinsant, Lyle Uscola and Jim Hawley, CLU, two years each, and Orvel Thompson, who received his first-year award.

The National Sales Achievement Award, honoring members who excelled in placing a substantial amount of life insurance on a large number of lives. Good explained went to Jay Buhler, and Jim Winkle, three years; Ross Prather, two years, and Harlon Baker, William Lyda and Wallace Stocking, one year apiece.

Burt Hulsh, Twin Falls, was awarded a diploma as a graduate of a two-year training course sponsored by the Life Underwriters' Training Council, while Lloyd Hann was honored as the volunteer Training Council instructor.

During the luncheon meeting, Grant Russell, Twin Falls, national director for the Idaho Life Underwriters Association, discussed problems of all underwriters and insurance agents, commenting that "a national insurance plan, ordered by the federal government, is inevitable."

Russell added, "The main question is how deeply involved the government will become."

In connection with the problems of acquainting the public with the benefits of proper insurance, Russell said that "many high school and college instructors are giving their students too much of a negative attitude toward insurance."

Statewide meet set Saturday

TWIN FALLS — The first statewide Institute for Legal Secretaries, sponsored by the Idaho State Bar Association, will be held in Boise Saturday.

As befits a first institute, the course curriculum is specifically designed to present a broad educational opportunity. Featured speaker will be Murray Hardesty, Topeka, Kan. Various workshops designed to fit the individual needs of the secretaries and panel discussions of general office procedures featuring attorneys and their secretaries will also be present.

Registration closed for the institute Monday.

A luncheon will be served, the cost of which is separate from the registration fee. Anyone needing transportation is asked to contact Mrs. Doris Paxton, president of the Twin Falls Legal Secretaries Association, at the offices of May, Bennett and Sudweeks, Twin Falls.

Committee recommends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended Tuesday Senate ratification of the U.S.-Japanese treaty to return the island of Okinawa to Japan next year.

The resolution of ratification must be approved by the full Senate before it can be sent to President Nixon. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has indicated he will schedule the treaty for floor action within the next two weeks.

Green bean warning rescinded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) rescinded Monday its warning that a batch of Stokely-Van Camp green beans might be contaminated with botulism.

The FDA said tests by the Center for Disease Control of the Public Health Service in Atlanta and by the FDA showed botulism was not the cause of the illness late last week of a Pensacola, Fla., boy and that the botulin toxin was not present in some canned green beans he had eaten.

The FDA said it had not yet been determined what made the child ill, but said the green beans were not the source of his illness and that they are now considered safe to eat.

Preliminary tests had showed the possibility of botulism poisoning, and the FDA ordered a recall of Stokely-Van Camp's Finest French Style green beans with the code number SB72-E213D. The FDA said recall of the batch "is no longer considered necessary."

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards praised the Stokely-Van Camp company for its cooperation in the recall, and said such recalls were necessary when there is even an unconfirmed danger of a deadly poison like botulism.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) - Advances maintained a commanding lead over declines as trading passed the halfway point on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Much of the buying was in the form of bargain hunting in issues that had become attractively priced as a result of the recent slide which early in the week pushed the market to its lowest levels of 1971.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead about 9 points at 837.03 near 1:15 p.m., while Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 1.11 at 84.92.

A three-hour volume of 9,110,000 shares compared with 9,820,000 shares traded at a comparable period the previous session.

Among the day's most active stocks were International Nickel up 4 1/2 on 243,300 shares, Lincoln-Temco "A" unchanged on 150,500 shares, Marcor down 1/4 on 135,400 shares, First National City 1/4 higher on 105,700 shares, and General Electric ahead 1 1/2 on 97,800 shares.

Less active and firm were General Motors up 1/4, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak 1 each, Superior Oil - 5/8, Bausch & Lomb 1/4, Wrigley 2/4, Westinghouse 1/4, Burroughs 1/4, IBM 1/4, Motorola 1, Xerox 1/4, and Walt Disney 1/4.

BSC climbs to seventh in ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Suddenly it's Eastern Michigan. A one-two knockout punch delivered to last week's two top teams—Delaware and Akron—propelled Eastern Michigan from third place to the top of the United Press International Board of Coaches' small college football ratings this week.

Jenkins selected National League's Young award winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—The balloting conducted by the Baseball Writers Association of America Jenkins was selected on 17 of the 24 first place ballots and received a total of 97 points while Seaver, the 1969 winner, topped first place votes and finished with 61 points.

Jenkins also received three second place votes and three for third. He was mentioned on all but one of the 24 ballots. Points were awarded on a system of five for first, three for second and one for third.

Jenkins had pitched in the shadows of the National League's other star hurlers, Bob Gibson, Juan Marchal and Seaver, for the last several years but his patience and determination finally paid off.

Jenkins says award caps his season

ATHAM, Ont. (UPI)—Spending the off season "training, my hunting dogs, going duck hunting and just relaxing at the local pub," received 17 of the 24 first place ballots as compared to six for Seaver.

Jenkins had a "24-13 record this past year, the fifth straight season he has won 20 games or more. He pitched over 300 innings (325) for the fourth consecutive year and struck out 263 batters."

Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers received another first place vote and wound up third with 40 points. Downing made a remarkable comeback after his acquisition from the Milwaukee Brewers a year ago as he won 20 games.

ONLY ALL-NEW PICK UP for 1972.

DODGE

DO NOT BE DEPEND ON IT.

GREAT NEW RIDE.
This all-new '72 Dodge has a brand-new, independent front suspension. Combining this with wider front and rear track, plus longer wheelbase (131"), and you have a great new pickup with a great new ride.

TOUGH CONSTRUCTION.
Even though this is an all-new pickup you still get all the toughness you'd expect in a Dodge. For example, the cargo box has thick, double walls and ribbed inner panels for greater strength.

ROOMIEST CAB AROUND.
The Dodge designers gave this all-new pickup doors that are two inches wider and open nine degrees farther—for easy exit and entry. Shoulder room has been increased by over four inches and the taller cab gives you a full 13 inches of seat height for greater leg support.

The Good Guys put an end to the Rough Riders.

Marinaro could rewrite NCAA rushing record book, by end of month total to 4,132 yards to surpass Oklahoma's Steve Owens. Now he's shooting for average per game, yards per season and career per game records held by Ollie Matson of San Francisco, set in 1951.

Makers can't agree on safety of turf

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two manufacturers of artificial turf disagreed Tuesday at a congressional hearing on whether it is possible to tell if there are more serious injuries on grass than on turf.

son between synthetic turf and natural turf could be made." He said, "this, of course, we do not believe to be true. Since that time, we have made no injury claims statistical or otherwise."

According to official statistics released Tuesday by National Collegiate Sports Services, Marinaro has 1,298 yards this season, an average of 216.3 per game. Matson's record is 174.0 per game. McCauley's yardage mark for a single season is 1,720 yards.

Marinaro alone is averaging better than 89 major-league teams per game. Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt ranks second to the Cornell senior with 181.7 per game and Houston's Robert Newhouse is third at 156.6. Eric Allen of Michigan State, who has an NCAA record for single game rushing with 350 yards Saturday, is fourth at 140.5 followed by Penn State's Lydell Mitchell.

Gene Troy, enterprise manager for Monsanto's AstroTurf, told a House subcommittee probing the safety of artificial turf that studies show AstroTurf "does not accelerate or extend the rate of injury" as had been claimed by witnesses Monday.

On Monday, the representatives of the National Football League Players' Association testified there should be a halt to installation of artificial turf until its safety can be fully determined.

Dr. James G. Garrick of the University of Washington claimed high school players in Seattle suffered 50 per cent more injuries on synthetic turf than grass.

But James F. Higgins, manager of the Recreation and Athletic Products department for 3M Co., declined specifically to claim his company's Tartan Turf was safer than grass.

But Troy said Tuesday that the study was "superficial" and his (Garrick's) results are inconclusive. In the last few years, stadiums around the country have been outfitted with artificial turf but many teams and stadium managers are beginning to have second thoughts about the turf.

Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt ranks second to the Cornell senior with 181.7 per game and Houston's Robert Newhouse is third at 156.6. Eric Allen of Michigan State, who has an NCAA record for single game rushing with 350 yards Saturday, is fourth at 140.5 followed by Penn State's Lydell Mitchell.

Higgins admitted that early promotional brochures several years ago described Tartan Turf as specially designed to reduce knee and ankle injuries caused by cleats catching in natural sod.

Some players claim it's more difficult to play on turf than on grass and others claim it's more dangerous. Plans to install turf at the Atlanta Stadium have been held up and the teams playing in the Orange Bowl have had major difficulty playing on the Poly turf installed there.

Marinaro is the nation's leading scorer with 15.0 points per game and Mitchell ranks second at 13.7. Utah's Larry Bateman holds a wide lead in punting honors with a whopping 50.0 average.

"We later withdrew this statement, not because we thought Tartan Turf would not reduce injuries, but because we realized the statement implied that data was available by which a valid injury comparison

Owners to reveal TV income

Trevino cuts up in Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Lee Trevino, golfdom's "Super Mex", stole the show in the land of his forefathers Tuesday, two days before the start of the Mexican Open.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Major League Baseball Players Association scored a victory over the owners Tuesday when the owners agreed to supply detailed information on baseball's radio-TV contract with NBC.

Table with columns: Player, Team, Points, Yards, etc. Includes names like Strook, Va Tech, Pruitt, Auburn, etc.

Joking in Spanish and English with fellow pros and gallery alike, Trevino shot a one-under-par 71 practice round on the 7,350-yard Club de Golf Mexico layout in South Mexico City.

The Association filed an Unfair Labor Practice Charge with the NLRB (National Labor Relations Board) on June 30, 1971 after the clubs refused to provide the information. The general counsel of the NLRB said he would institute a formal complaint against the clubs charging a violation of the law.

Table with columns: Player, Team, Points, Yards, etc. Includes names like Marinaro, Cornell, Pruitt, Oklahoma, etc.

Trevino, the highest money-winner in pro golf history with earnings of $225,243 so far this year, is a heavy favorite to win the 72-hole Mexican event.

Miller said the receipt of the information "will facilitate the forthcoming negotiations on the 1972 pension plan and major league baseball."

Table with columns: Player, Team, Points, Yards, etc. Includes names like Bateman, Utah, Benen, Oklahoma, etc.

Miller wanted the information because of the "historic connection between the financing of the pension plan and the national radio and TV revenue."

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Association, said the owners' decision to "supply the necessary information instead of making a protracted appeal was a constructive decision."

Table with columns: Player, Team, Points, Yards, etc. Includes names like Hayes, Houston, etc.

On the driving range, Trevino, who wore electric blue and white golf shoes, showed a crowd of spectators his "walk-on-by" shot, beginning to walk off the tee immediately after hitting the ball.

Miller said the receipt of the information "will facilitate the forthcoming negotiations on the 1972 pension plan and major league baseball."

Final rites held for TCU coach

The field will be reduced to the top 60 pros and ties and the top 10 amateurs and ties following the first 36 holes of competition on Friday.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Jim Pittman, head football coach at Texas Christian and a native Mississippian, was buried here Tuesday in suburban Lakewood Memorial Park.

Hayes, who was second in the National Basketball Association in scoring and third in rebounding last year, was taken out in the first half of Sunday night's game with Buffalo when the Rockets were behind five points.

The Rev. Jack Moore of Fort Worth and the Rev. Bob Marisbury of New Orleans officiated at the services.

Pittman, 46, suffered a fatal heart attack during the TCU-Baylor game Saturday night. Funeral services were held Monday at Fort Worth, Tex.

Coach Tex Winter told Hayes to go back in at the start of the fourth quarter when the Rockets had pulled to a commanding 13-point lead and Hayes refused saying he had a leg injury.

Hayes' refusal to come to practice is an automatic fine, Winter said. He would not disclose the amount, but one source said $100 was "a close round figure."

Computer becomes medical ally in battle against 3 big killers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The computer is becoming an important ally in the fight against three of the biggest killers of humankind — lung cancer, cervical cancer and heart attacks.

Millions of people get periodic checks to guard against these killers. There's a shortage of pathologists and technicians. Doctor appointments are difficult to come by. So the computer has been adapted to help break this logjam. It's fast, economical and convenient for analysis work.

This entry into the clinical laboratory area also is big business. It's estimated that the 13,500 clinical labs around the country generate a $3.5 billion market which is growing about 15 per cent annually.

Lab tests taken in a hospital can cost $80 or more. The same test in a regional lab serving a 100-mile radius on a 24-hour basis might run about $7 or $8. But time is even more important than the cost factor. Take lung cancer, for instance. Less than 7 per cent of those who wait until the condition is detected by X-rays will reduce the manhours needed to come up with an analysis. The machine can work round the clock.

Then there is the heart attack which kills millions annually because patients aren't aware of their weaknesses until it's too late. The traditional protection against an attack is a yearly electrocardiogram taken by a doctor. Data Display Systems, Inc., New York, has patented a method of translating standard ECGs through the "Omnicardiogram."

DDS claims its instrument can detect a possible heart attack situation as much as three years in advance. The machine, with computers supplying all the mathematics, sees things the human eye misses. It transforms ECG tracings to a form which permits the physician to detect coronary artery disease otherwise masked within the bounds of a regular ECG.

The new system, which has posted an 87 to 94 per cent detection rate, was first tested with the help of Dr. Russell W. Brancato, director of the Cardiac Catheterization laboratories at St. Michael's

Board reorganizes

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — The Bingham County Regional Planning Commission reorganized Monday and appointed a 12-man advisory board to be chaired by Bingham County Commissioner Robert Lee, Aberdeen.

Appointed to serve in the board were Mayor Delwyn Daniels, Blackfoot; Mayor Bill Kirkham, Shelby; Mayor Thede Wren, Aberdeen; Richard Lyon, Sterling; Robert Jackson, Pinedale; Fred Nelson, Arth; Edward Barrus, Groveland; Boyd Arellano, Fire Chief; Milo Cooke, and John Schwarz, all of Blackfoot, and Alvin Funk, Aberdeen.

In other action, the group reviewed the by-laws and decided on a cooperative agreement between the cities and county. The county is scheduled to take over the operation of the landfill Jan. 1, 1972, financed by a two-mill levy.

While women will still have to visit a doctor to get the smear, the "screener" can speed up the total process. It's planned to make the Cytoscreener available to laboratories around the country. And this mass screening instrument

Sorority chapter meets Thursday

BURLEY — Members of Xi Omega Chapter Beta Sigma Phi are reminded meeting dates have been changed and the group will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Rex Weech, announced Mrs. Rodney Murphy, chapter president.

The meeting date was changed so members could attend the annual Farmer-Businessman banquet Nov. 11 sponsored by Burley Chamber of Commerce at Ponderosa Inn. During the last business session conducted by Mrs.

Murphy, Mrs. LePaga Layton and Mrs. Odeen Hedman were appointed to look into selecting and honoring a First Lady of our area.

The group voted to order two kinds of small cookbooks as a ways and means project, during the meeting at home of Mrs. Ransom Brown with Mrs. Eddie Harlow as co-hostess.

The lesson "The Written Word" was given by Mrs. Murphy. She discussed the various types of letter writing as personal, business and formal.

"Letter writing is but a different name for conversation," she said. "Through out history many letters written by now famous men are re-recorded giving meaning to that period."

Mrs. Redman presented the lesson on "Civic Responsibilities."

"The vote is our most important tool in civic life," she said. She urged the women to vote on all issues which are up for election in county, city, state and nation. Study and be informed prior to going to the polls, but vote, she said.

PAUL — "A Ladona Mingo Fund" has been set up at the Paul Idaho Bank and Trust for Mrs. Floyd Mingo of the Kasota area, who was seriously injured in a potato harvester accident in Nevada.

Mrs. Mingo has been released from the hospital and is now staying with a daughter, Mrs. Dennis Maughan, Salt Lake City. She is still under doctor's care.

While working in the potato harvest in Nevada, Mrs. Mingo was accidentally run over by discs on the harvester, and one arm had to be amputated. She also received severe lacerations on her leg and head, according to word received "here" by friends.

In time it is hoped Mrs. Mingo can be fitted with an artificial limb. Persons wishing to donate to the fund may send donations to the Paul Idaho Bank and Trust.

Mrs. Mingo's two sons are now staying with their sister, Mrs. Maughan, in Salt Lake City and have enrolled in school there.

Cassia county cancer group names chairman

BURLEY — The Cassia County Cancer Society elected Mrs. Robert Saxvik as unit chairman at their organizational meeting Monday in conference room of Idaho Bank and Trust.

Mrs. Ted Smith has held the unit chairmanship for the past three years and resigned to accept a position as a lay member of the board of directors for Area III. Mrs. Smith and Dr. Hayden Ellingham, Burley physician, were elected to the board of directors in September at the Idaho Division annual meeting in Boise.

Mrs. Smith will serve on the field services committee including Jerome, Twin Falls, Minidoka and Cassia counties.

Mrs. Dean Draper was appointed as crusade chairman for the coming year. Other appointments were Mrs. T. R. Nielsen, public health nurse, as a member of the public education committee, and Mrs. Harlow Cheney, public information chairman.

Officers of the Cassia unit who will be working with Mrs. Saxvik are Mrs. Alvin Temple, treasurer; Mrs. Keith Stoddard, secretary; Mrs. William Parsons, service chairman; Mrs. Frank Spencer, medical advisor and Mrs. William Morgan, public education.

Persons working with Mrs. Morgan are Mrs. Gus Esquibel,

Mrs. J. W. Young, Mrs. Mary Curl and Paul Wood.

One of the goals for the coming year is to make the public education committee more active in the community.

"Presently the best cure for cancer is early diagnosis, and informing the public of the danger signals and early signs of cancer is one way we can help save lives," Mrs. Saxvik said. She suggests, "that the community go one step further in the fight for cancer control by making an appointment now for a yearly checkup."

Terrace construction demonstrated at ranch

SUBLETT — A demonstration on building a terrace was sponsored by the East Cassia Soil Conservation District on the Cleve Smith Ranch, Sublett.

Smith, an alternate supervisor of the East Cassia Soil Conservation District, led the discussion and demonstrated construction of the terrace with the use of a large tractor and carryall.

Terraces are earthen structures forming a dike and channel which run on the contour across the field to capture and hold runoff water. Several dryland farmers attended the demonstration and viewed terraces in three stages of construction — just starting, half completed and finished terraces.

The purpose of a terrace is to divide long slopes into short ones so runoff has less chance to form channels and gullies. As runoff accumulates downhill from the graded terrace and begins to cut new erosion scars it is intercepted and held by the level terrace. Terraces divide long runoff slopes into short controlled sections, but do not necessarily divide the farming slope.

The terraces were surveyed and designed by Soil Conservation Service personnel prior to construction.

Smith used a five-yard scraper rented from the East Cassia Soil Conservation District and pulled it with a regular tractor.

By cutting above the flag line and dumping below the line, Smith constructed over 6,000 feet of terraces and several gully plugs in a week.

Glasby speech wins contest

BURLEY — Ken Glasby, Twin Falls, member of the I. B. Perrine Toastmaster Club 793, placed first in the Area 3 Humorous speech contest Saturday at The Ramada Inn.

Glasby will represent Area 3 in the District 15 speech contest Nov. 6 at Boise. "It's a Boy" was the title of Glasby's speech.

Other local winners were Leon Grieve, Jerome Club 670, second, using the title "Nothing Funny Ever Happened to Me" and Golden Bennett, Twin Falls Club, placed third, using the title, of "Don't Call Me, I'll Call You."

Devert Douglas, Twin Falls Club 793 was the chief judge and Paul Reid, Burley, was chief timer.

Table topics were directed by Duane Broadhead, Burley. Each participant broke open a fortune cookie and spoke on the subject named in the cookie.

Toastmaster for the evening was Leo Henschel, Burley, who also served as speech contest chairman.

Frank Robinson, Area 3 governor, reported on coming events including the District 15 Toastmasters Conference Nov. 6 at Boise. Dr. Russel G. Herron, Toastmaster International president, will attend the conference.

Jack R. Holland, Burley, District 15 Lieutenant governor, urged all members to attend the conference and said educational session will be held at that time.

Costume winners listed

BURLEY — Costume winner at the Burley Elks Costume Halloween dance Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Pickett, Oakley; Bill Walker, Declo; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arbogast, Heyburn, and Sonnie Cox, Burley.

The hall was decorated with cornstalks, bales of straw and Halloween posters. A black light was installed by Haven Gierisch above the dance floor which gave a special lighting effect.

At midnight a smorgasbord dinner was served.

The Elks, their wives and guests danced to the music of Lilla Turner Orchestra.

There are 10,000 species of fern.

Minidoka cancer unit sets organizational meet Nov. 8

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold a reorganization meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, in the conference room of Minidoka Memorial Hospital, said Mrs. Delpha

Smith, local county chairman. The meeting is open to the public and all interested persons are urged to attend, she said.

Field services representative, Mrs. Ted Smith, Burley, will also attend. Mrs. Smith assists units in Jerome, Twin Falls, Minidoka and Cassia counties in organization.

Mrs. Delpha Smith announced that four official positions for the county will be filled during the meeting of the local unit.

Harvest dinner slated

RUPERT — Plans for the annual harvest dinner of the Rupert Christian Church are being coordinated by Mrs. Marrion Fisk, Christian Women's Fellowship president.

The event will be held Nov. 13 and food preparation will be under the direction of Mrs. LeRoy Denton. Decorations for the smorgasbord event will be under the direction of Mrs. Lynn Manning and Mrs. Ellery McClung.

Publicity is being handled by Mrs. Allan Turna and Mrs. Frank Woods. A country store will feature home baked foods, needlework and homemade candy. Quilts will be available through a silent auction.

The public is invited, Mrs. Fisk said.

Ruling on DDT delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Monday rejected another bid for an immediate ban on DDT but said it would rule on the pesticide's fate by next March.

The agency responded to a federal appeals court order that it reconsider its decision of last March to let DDT use continue while evidence concerning the pesticide's alleged benefits and hazards is presented at public hearings.

The hearings are expected to end in December. EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said it would make more sense to await all the evidence before ruling.

The court order was in response to a suit by Environmental Action Inc., seeking to overrule the EPA and force an immediate ban on DDT. The court on Sept. 22 told Ruckelshaus to answer by Nov. 1, taking into consideration a new report by a scientific advisory committee to EPA.

Senate takes up bill aimed at nation-wide water cleanup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said today America's rivers had become "little more than sewers to the sea" and urged approval of a multi-billion dollar program aimed at cleaning up the nation's waters by 1985.

Muskie made his plea as the Senate began consideration of a water pollution bill designed to eliminate discharges of pollutants into lakes and streams. The cost was estimated at more than $16 billion.

The legislation would maintain provisions in present law aimed at cleansing all waters in the country by forcing states to set clean water standards acceptable to the government by 1974.

But under a measure hammered out in months of hearings before Muskie's Public Works Committee, the federal government also would crack down directly on pollution of navigable streams, over which it has direct enforcement powers.

Under the new provision, it would become illegal for cities or industries to dump any pollutants at all into navigable waters at the end of a 14-year period.

"Today, the rivers of this country serve as little more than sewers to the sea," Muskie said in a prepared Senate speech. "The danger to health, the environmental damage, the economic loss can be anywhere."

"Rivers, lakes, and streams are being used to dispose of man's wastes rather than to support man's life and health. The use of any river, lake, stream or ocean as a waste treatment system is unacceptable."

The legislation would crack down hard on any city or industry still dumping pollutants after 14 years.

If they did, the polluters would be subject to both civil and criminal penalties. If they were found guilty of polluting a second time, the penalties would rise to $50,000 per day in addition to jail terms.

The measure embodied a revolutionary new concept of water quality control: instead of setting clean water standards and aiming at them by a fixed date, as now, the bill simply puts a flat ban on any discharge that would make running streams or navigable lakes unfit to swim in or to support wildlife.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., prepared an amendment to the bill that would tax polluters to such an extent that it would be cheaper for them to discharge clean effluents than dirty.

Colonel's recipe attracts throngs to new TF business

TWIN FALLS — Fried chicken is popular in Twin Falls, especially when it is cooked according to the recipe concocted by the famed Colonel Sanders.

Colonel Sanders' Kentucky Fried Chicken outlet has opened for business, and found the business almost more than the 13-member staff, including manager Ken Schmidt, could handle.

Though a formal opening is still in the planning stages, traffic has been piling up nearly every afternoon and evening at the restaurant on Blue Lakes Boulevard a half block south of North Five Points.

Schmidt came to Twin Falls from Lewiston, where he managed the Sanders franchise. It is owned by Darrell Janner, Las Vegas, Nev., who built and owns the new Twin Falls business.

A specialty shop, the Sanders franchise concentrates on fried chicken, pressure-cooked with a secret combination of seasonings and spices to provide a unique flavor that is the same with every franchisee.

The local "KFC" outlet brought a lengthy debate in governmental quarters, with arguments over a requested zoning change delaying the opening for several years.

Initial planning sought to place the restaurant along 11th Avenue North between Blue Lakes and Shoshone Street.

Strenuous protests by residents of the area to the proposal delayed action by the city zoning commission and city council for several years, until the building was moved to its present location adjoining the Pizza Hut, in the area already zoned for commercial locations.

Lauds credit code

BOISE (UPI) — State Finance Commissioner Tom McEldowney says the new Uniform Consumer Credit Code has created what he calls "an era of better relationships between the consumer and the merchant" in Idaho.

Administered by the State Finance Department, the new code governing credit transactions in Idaho went into effect last July 1.

By Sept. 1, McEldowney said, 1,600 firms had registered. He called that a "pretty good job of covering the state."

But he said "we still find there are a lot of businesses that aren't aware of it."

McEldowney said the new laws prevent many so-called "fly-by-night" operators who used to come into the state.

He added it gives the consumer someplace to complain besides the Better Business Bureau.

Aide asks tri-state freight rate brake

BOISE (UPI) — A freight traffic consultant from Seattle called today for a three-state effort to hold down long haul rail freight rate increases.

Fred H. Tolan also told a Public Utilities Commission-sponsored meeting of shippers from Idaho, Washington and Oregon the three states should have at least five program goals to guide them in their efforts.

He recommended they get:

- A top quality cost study to prove line haul costs have not increased as much as terminal and other expenses not related to the length of haul.
- A top quality, area-wide "shipper" traffic flow study oriented to transportation considerations to show what has happened to the long-haul rail business since 1966.
- A top quality, area-wide "carrier" traffic flow study to show which carriers have got what business that was rail traffic in 1966.
- A freight rate history study for all major commodities from 1966 on by truck and rail on selected long-haul traffic.
- A first class rail car equipment report giving cars available and car shortages and piggyback, by carriers from 1966 through 1971.

He said a cost study will be the "finest possible justification for a maximum holddown that now increases terminal and line-haul and overhead cost factors on one flat basis."

A shipper traffic study, he said, will prove or disprove the shippers need a holddown to keep long-haul business.

He said a carrier traffic flow study will prove or disprove whether the business has shifted to truck from rail or whether it has just gone to other shippers in other areas.

Briton thinks Amtrak system doomed to fail

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Amtrak approach to solving the railway passenger train problem in the United States most likely is doomed to fail, says Ernest Marples, the minister of transportation who put Britain's passenger train service in the black a few years ago.

Marples has been in Parliament as a Tory since 1945. He visited New York recently to join the board of directors of American Courier Corp., which operates armored cars, banking courier services and high-priority, time-sensitive transport on both sides of the Atlantic. It is a subsidiary of Puroator, Inc.

Marples reorganized Britain's rail services while serving in Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet. He wiped out the deficit of the passenger trains and generally improved the service, eliminating a number of trains in the process.

"But I don't believe I could have done the job if the British railways hadn't already been nationalized before I tackled it," he told United Press International.

He said he couldn't have persuaded a number of separate privately controlled railroad companies to cooperate and accept his decisions about revamping the nation's passenger train service. They would have filed lawsuits and exercised other obstructionist pressures to pursue their own aims.

"Although inflation has forced fares up substantially, Britain has excellent rail passenger service today, and it breaks even," said Marples. "Since it is government owned, it is not expected to show a substantial profit."

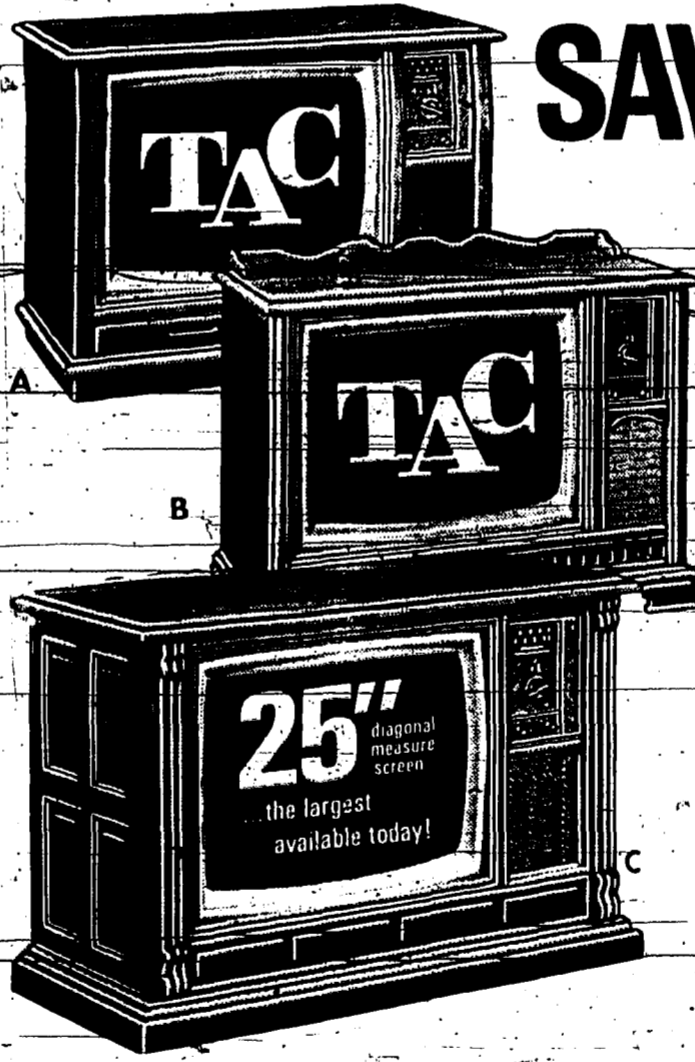

Marples said he revamped British services by taking a map of the country with no passenger service shown and having his staff try to imagine they were creating a new network with new equipment without regard to existing service or facilities. He concentrated on making the service fast, comfortable and reasonably priced. He decided the railways could compete with the airlines on intermediate trips because they take people in and out of the heart of town. They could compete with buses on many routes because they had right of way.

"Highway traffic congestion is much worse in Britain than in the United States," he explained.

6th ANNIVERSARY 60 VALUES FROM Magnavox

CELEBRATING LEADERSHIP IN ELECTRONICS SINCE 1911

SAVE $101 on each of these TOTAL AUTOMATIC COLOR consoles! NOW $548

Your choice of seven styles

Magnavox Total Automatic Color is a complete electronic system! TAC lets you kick that bothersome tuning habit by automatically keeping flesh tones natural and pictures sharp. It eliminates the need for jumping up and down to adjust controls. For it remembers to give you a perfectly-tuned picture—with the right colors—instantly and automatically—on every channel, every time! The new ultra-rectangular and ultra-bright Matrix Tube—unlike many others—has a black, opaque substance surrounding each color dot—resulting in far better picture contrast, sharpness and far more brightness. The new Magna-Power Chassis, with predominantly solid-state components, assures better performance and greater reliability. UHF/VHF Remote Control is optionally available—also at great savings. Don't settle for anything less than a magnificent Magnavox with TAC. Come in today!

Magnificent to see—on or off! A. Contemporary—model 7152. B. Early American—model 7154. C. Mediterranean styling—model 7156. French and Italian Provincial, plus Danish Modern styling also available.

Senate OK's import car tax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seeking to force Japan and other countries to drop taxes which keep American cars out of their markets, the Senate Finance Committee has voted to give President Nixon power to retain excise taxes on foreign-made automobiles.

The decision Monday was yet another example of Congress' yet again authority against imports in general and against discrimination aimed at American products.

Nixon did not seek that authority and his spokesmen fought against giving it to him in the closed committee session. They termed it "overkill," pointing to the burden of the 10 per cent surtax which foreign autos already have to bear in competition with American cars.

But some committee members wanted to go further and retain the excise tax on all foreign autos, making them 17 per cent more expensive than competing American products.

Some wanted to go along with Nixon and sought to repeal the excise tax on both domestic and foreign cars.

The compromise, giving Nixon on discretionary authority, was shaped by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, chairman of the board of Salt Lake City's Bennett Motors Co., one of the largest Ford dealerships in the West.
