

Sawtooth plan advances

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Writer

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The House Interior Committee recommended Wednesday about 1,200 square miles in Idaho's Sawtooth area be set aside primarily for recreational use.

The committee's approval had been the major hurdle for the Sawtooth plan, which had been passed twice before by the Senate only to languish in the House.

According to Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, the bill would establish a 537,492-acre Sawtooth National Recreation area. The Sawtooth Primitive Area would also be designated as a 216,383-acre Sawtooth Wilderness Area in the mountain country.

McClure told the Times-News today he expects the bill to be sent to the House floor as soon as possible.

The committee included appropriations of $19.8 million for land acquisition for the recreation area and $26.2 million for recreational development in the bill.

The recommendation provides for hunting and fishing in the recreation area in accordance with state and federal laws. However, the federal government has primary control over wildlife management in the area.

The forest service will administer the land and the secretary of agriculture has control. He may ban hunting and fishing for reasons of public safety, administration and for fish and wildlife management after consulting with Idaho state officials.

McClure said he wanted the fish and game control turned over to the state. This measure was rejected by the committee in a 7-7 tie vote.

Under the bill, privately owned lands may be condemned if they are used in a manner incompatible with regulations applying to the recreation area.

An amendment by McClure was adopted to permit condemnation of land if needed to provide public access, McClure told the Times-News that up to five per cent of an owner's property could be condemned by the government to make a public right of way through private land.

Hunting and fishing in the Sawtooth Wilderness Area will be regulated by the Idaho Fish and Game Department and not the federal government.

McClure said there are three main technical changes from the original proposal. The wilderness area is outside of the recreational area.

Second, wildlife management in the recreation area is the responsibility of federal agencies and not the state fish and game department.

Third, the inverse condemnation policy has been removed. In other words, a land owner cannot force the government to buy his land if it does not want to.

"The bill isn't exactly what I wanted," McClure said, "but it is important that we get legislation passed."

He said it is important to get legislation on the books to protect land in Idaho.

In the recommendation passed by the committee, eight boundary expansions were made in the recreation and wilderness area.

Gene Bergoffen, division of legislative affairs, Forest Service, Washington, D.C. said the committee's action Wednesday expanded the proposed boundaries of the wilderness area to take in three areas recommended for exclusion.

He said the area known as the North Fork, Boise River, The Queens River area, South Fork of the Payette River and the Graylock Mountain areas were put back into the wilderness designation area by the committee.

Forest service recommendations called for excluding these. Taken out, however, as recommended by the forest service were two small areas encompassing about 275 acres and including Pettit Lake and Alpine Creek. Both would be in the national recreation area.

As revised by the committee, the wilderness area would cover 216,383 acres and the national recreation area 537,492 acres, Bergoffen said.

McClure said one important change in the boundary of the Sawtooth Recreation Area lies between Stanley and Clayton. He said the original proposed boundary was at the highway. The U. S. Forest Service recommended that the boundary be extended one-quarter mile north of the Salmon River, including the highway and the river in the recreational area. He said the proposal was approved on the recommendation that this boundary change would provide a buffer for protection of the river land surrounding it.

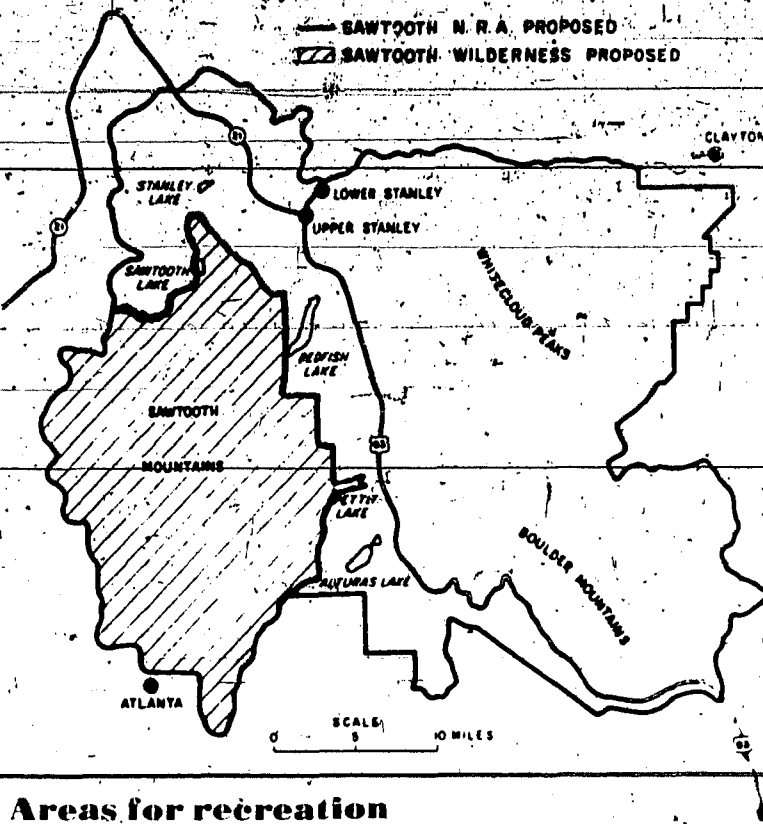

The federal government already owns all but 15,000 acres in the new recreational area. The remainder is in state and private ownership.

The new bill bans new mineral exploration, claim filing and exploration in the proposed area. Existing mining operations would be closely regulated by the federal government.

As a part of the national wilderness preservation system the proposed Sawtooth Wilderness Area would be subject to mining and mining exploration on through 1983.

As a primitive area mining and exploration are almost unlimited.

The House committee accepted several minor and clarifying amendments including one intended to protect state water rights in both areas.

Senators reject aid slash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rejected today, 64 to 24, an attempt to slash $185 million more from a stripped down, $1.2 billion foreign military aid bill as Congress worked against a Monday deadline to continue the worldwide U.S. assistance program.

The measure is the second part of a two-bill package to revive aid legislation that the Senate voted to kill Oct. 19. Its companion $1.1 billion economic-humanitarian aid measure passed the Senate Wednesday.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., proposed to slash the military aid bill to an even $1 billion.

P. Schwarz, businessman, dies in TF

TWIN FALLS — Paul J. Schwarz, 66, owner of Schwarz Office Machines, Twin Falls, died early this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Schwarz was born April 11, 1905, in Germany and immigrated to the United States in 1926. He lived in Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Francisco, Calif., before moving to Twin Falls in 1945.

He had been in business here since that time.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday.

(Obituary p. 2)

The administration originally wanted $2 billion and sought to increase the bill by $318 million, contending that more money was vital to support Vietnam's beleaguered neighbors and to permit continued U.S. troop withdrawals.

The Senate approved the economic bill 61 to 33 after turning back efforts to increase it and to relax its toughened lending requirements.

One of those requirements would force interest rates on foreign aid loans up to levels that most participating countries would not be able to afford. This restriction practically gutted what was left of a key section authorizing development loans to indigent nations.

In addition, the measure passed Wednesday was $425 million less than the administration requested.

A tougher test was ahead for a companion $1.2 billion bill for military assistance, set for a vote today. Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said the measure would slow down withdrawals from Vietnam unless the money is increased; but opponents said it was too much already.

Stennis introduced an amendment to increase the measure by $318 million. He claimed that the funds remaining in the bill would not be enough to pay for ammunition for the Cambodian army.

The Monday deadline resulted from a ruling by the General Accounting Office.

Fed cuts rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board Wednesday lowered its official discount rate from 5 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent effective Thursday. That is the rate it charges member banks for short term loans.

The action was taken "in recognition of reductions that have taken place in other short term interest rates and is intended to bring the discount rate... into better alignment with short-term rates generally," the FED said.

The rate has stood at 5 per cent since July 15 when it rose from 4 1/4 per cent.

AGRICULTURE Secretary Clifford M. Hardin plans to leave President Nixon's cabinet soon. See p. 6 for details.

Hard luck, tour ends

CHU LAI, Vietnam (UPI) — The Americal Division folded its colors on a windswept parade ground here today and was laid to rest with a brass band and honors from U.S. and South Vietnamese officials.

The Americal had its troubles during its four years of service in Vietnam, gaining a reputation as a hard luck division with such episodes as the My Lai massacre.

Okinawa rampage at end

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Thousands of unionists angered by the American military presence on this Western Pacific island returned to their jobs today, ending day of bloody rioting and strikes.

In street confrontations Wednesday, a police sergeant was burned and beaten to death and at least 80 persons injured.

Police said rampaging students with their faces wrapped in towels hurled firebombs at a police box which Sgt. Matsuzo Yamakawa, 48, was guarding. One Molotov cocktail exploded in flames, setting the policeman on fire.

As he writhed on the ground, the students beat him on the head and body with clubs until he died, witnesses said.

Yamakawa's death came just a few hours before the U.S. Senate voted 84-6 to return Okinawa to Japanese rule.

Police said about 100,000 labor union members and their sympathizers took part in the 24-hour general strike which virtually closed down the island. They returned to work today.

The brunt of the protest was a provision in the Okinawa Reversion Treaty.

China aides arrive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuang-hua of the People's Republic of China arrived today at the head of a 46-member delegation to take the China seat in the United Nations that Peking says was wrongly and illegally withheld from it for 22 years.

With Chiao was Huang Hua, who will be the permanent Communist Chinese representative to the United Nations. Huang is an experienced diplomat who is expected to hold a series of backstage meetings with U.S. officials to complete arrangements for President Nixon's trip to Peking.

There was a minimum of protocol for the historic occasion and a maximum of security against possible anti-Communist demonstrations. There was no official welcome by the city, state or federal governments, and only a small U.N. delegation was present.

A six-member advance Chinese delegation had made arrangements with immigration, customs and other authorities to waive the usual formalities and speed the entire 46-member delegation off to the Roosevelt Hotel in midtown Manhattan aboard a fleet of 17 rented, chauffeur-driven cars.

Candidate quits

Empty coffers shut out Harris

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After a quarter of a million dollars, the well went dry for Sen. Fred R. Harris, the poor man's candidate. He was a victim of poverty in the cost arena of presidential politics.

"I'm broke," Harris said when he withdrew Wednesday as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. "I owe a lot of money and I'm out of money."

With that announcement, Harris ended a hectic six-week campaign in which he sought to form a coalition of new Populists and win the nomination. He never was given much chance. He also announced he would not seek re-election to the Senate.

Harris' withdrawal was expected to have little, if any, effect on Democratic presidential politics. But the list of possible contenders continues to shrink. The current lineup has: Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota as the only announced candidate.

Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Henry M. Jackson of Washington certain to formally declare, probably before the end of the year.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York — strong possibilities to mount full campaigns for the nomination.

Surcharge hinges on payments

TOKYO (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John Connally said today the United States will remove its 10 per cent surcharge on foreign goods when its balance of payments problem is solved.

He ended two days of talks with Japanese leaders on the world monetary crisis by inviting three Japanese cabinet leaders to come to the United States within six weeks for detailed talks.

Connally's work day concluded with a two hour and 10 minute meeting with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato. The two men were alone except for two interpreters. Neither Japanese nor American officials discussed the content of the talks at the meeting.

"We have made it abundantly clear we will remove the surcharge when it is clear that we can obtain an equilibrium in our balance of payments," the former Texas governor told a news conference before his meeting with Sato.

"I assure you it is a temporary measure. We are not protectionists."

Connally denied that he had given the Japanese a specific list of demands to help end the financial losses the United States has suffered almost yearly since the Korean War. However, he left little doubt that he wanted Japan's contribution to be substantial.

"It can be in many forms," he said. "It can be in the form of revaluation of currency — it can be in the form of lifting restraints and restrictions and tariffs."

But the government added a new list of items which will also be exempt from price control, largely those which are custom made, hand-crafted or in some other way difficult to set value on. This included taxidermy items, wigs, jewelry, coins and stamps in collections, and furs.

Phase II: Big Brother eyes big firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has laid down the framework for the next phase of its economic controls. General Motors will be covered but your neighborhood used car dealer escapes scot-free.

Rents will remain under government control except for houses or apartments which took in their first tenants after Aug. 15, or those on which major improvements have been made.

In the second of three major policy announcements on the post-freeze economy, the Cost of Living Council Wednesday revealed which companies will have to ask permission from the government to raise their prices, and wages when the freeze officially ends at midnight Saturday.

It also unveiled a large list of items whose prices were frozen during the last three months but which will now be free of all controls. These included all used products — such as houses, cars and machinery — plus army surplus equipment, antiques, wigs and even stuffed animals.

The Phase II control structure will be largely complete today when the Price Commission announces the standards it will use to govern requests for price increases.

The Cost of Living Council decided Wednesday that all U.S. corporations with annual sales of $100 million or more must ask the government in advance for permission to increase prices. This will cover such giants as General Motors and, in general, the 1,300 biggest American firms doing 45 per cent of all U.S. business.

Firms with annual sales between $50 million and $100 million will have to report to the government every three months on changes in prices and profits and those with sales under $50 million will not have to report that will be monitored on a spot basis.

Companies with 5,000 or more employees will have to notify the government in advance if those employees are due for a pay raise. It is estimated that 10 per cent of the U.S. work force is employed by firms with payrolls of that size or larger.

Companies employing 1,000 to 5,000 persons will have to make reports to the government when their workers get raises, but not in advance.

The bulk of the American work force — 83 per cent — is employed by firms with 1,000 or fewer workers. These firms will not have to report their wage raises but the government will make spot checks on them to see if the raises fall within the 3.5 per cent increase standard laid down by the Pay Board earlier this week.

Rents will not be controlled on commercial property, such as office space, or on industrial and farm property. But most rental units, houses and apartments alike, will remain under some form of rent control. If rental property is improved in such a way that the rehabilitation costs at least a third of the property's value, then the rent can be raised without control.

Houses put up for sale, if they have been lived in, will not be subject to control since they are "used" items. The same "used" proviso also covers used cars, although new cars prices will be controlled. New houses and extensively remodeled ones will also be free of control.

Items such as stocks and bonds and raw agricultural products not covered by the current freeze likewise will remain free of controls during Phase II.

But the government added a new list of items which will also be exempt from price control, largely those which are custom made, hand-crafted or in some other way difficult to set value on. This included taxidermy items, wigs, jewelry, coins and stamps in collections, and furs.

Mr. T-N says... Today is still Armistice Day to some of us, old timers — no matter what the new holiday calendar says!

Mariner 9 nears Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—America's Mariner 9 closed in on Mars today, its cameras taking a picture every hour to show scientists the extent of the most severe dust storm ever seen on the puzzling planet.

The $65 million spacecraft, less than half a million miles away, will attempt to orbit Mars late Saturday, for the first time to give its two television cameras and other instruments an unmatched view of the planet for at least three months.

Mariner 9 began its scientific examination of Mars late Wednesday by starting a 24-hour sequence of photographs planned to show the whole planet during one Martian day. The camera also was programmed to snap six shots of the tiny Martian moon, Deimos.

Engineers at the Mariner control center at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory monitored the camera operation and reported the spacecraft was operating normally. The pictures were being recorded on tape aboard Mariner and were to be radioed back to earth, 72.5 million miles away, between 6:16 p.m. and 9:23 p.m. EST today.

Dr. Bradford Smith, a Mariner project scientist from New Mexico State University, reported Wednesday that the massive yellow dust storm first observed by earth-based telescopes in September is still raging on Mars although recent observations indicated it might be starting to subside.

"We can, however, be quite certain that the storm will not have cleared up by the time we arrive Saturday," Smith said.

Parents attend meeting

TWIN FALLS — Financial aids available to college-bound students were reviewed by student counselor Kenneth Kail during Tuesday's Parent-Teacher Student Association meeting at Twin Falls High School.

Kail discussed the three principal forms of financial aid, including scholarships, work grants and loans for members of the association during the November meeting. Kail introduced his counseling staff of Frank Scherer, Mrs. Chris Charlton and Mrs. Doris Watts. He said they are available at any time to advise students on their goals and problems in selecting a college to attend.

Parents visited with teachers following a business meeting, following the class schedule of their high-school youngsters. Teachers presented a review of the year's activities and goals.

Paul Schwarz

TWIN FALLS — Paul J. Schwarz, Twin Falls, died early Thursday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of a long illness.

He was born April 11, 1905, in Wuppertal, Elberfeld Rheinland, Germany.

Mr. Schwarz was owner and operator of Schwarz Office Machines and had been in business since coming to Twin Falls in November, 1945.

He received his schooling in Germany, then came to America in 1926, living first in Salt Lake City, Utah, and later in San Francisco, Calif., where he became a citizen of the United States in 1934.

Mr. Schwarz served eight years in the Merchant Marines shortly after coming to the states and also three years during World War II in the Air Corps.

He was an active member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, serving in many capacities.

He married Anna Lou Jones, May 5, 1942, in Albuquerque, N. M. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

Preceding him in death were his parents and one brother, William.

Mr. Schwarz is survived by his widow and a son, John Earnest Schwarz, both Twin Falls; a daughter, Mrs. John (Owassa) Landis, Sacramento, Calif.; two brothers, Friedrich Schwarz and Rudolph Schwarz and two sisters, Mrs. Rudolph (Martha) Noss, and Mrs. Hans (Hanna) Walferls, all of Salt Lake City, and three grandsons: Services will be conducted by Bishop LaVar Steel at 2 p.m. Saturday at the LDS Eighth Ward Building. ## Power line downed

By United Press International A large territory from Sandpoint, Idaho, east to Libby, Mont., was without power Wednesday night.

Local Pacific Power and Light Company manager Charles McQueary said the Washington Water Power line between the Cabinet Gorge Dam and Western Montana and Sandpoint had failed.

He said the 115,000 volt line transmission line was downed somewhere between the dam and the Bonneville Power Administration substation at Bronx in Sandpoint.

Libby was receiving partial power from the St. Regis standby facilities located in Libby and Troy, Mont.

Three Pacific Power and Light Company crews and three

Washington Power crews were searching for the trouble in an area 30 miles east of Sandpoint where a flash was observed just before the power failure.

The world's most famous bicycle race is the 2,500-mile Tour de France, says National Geographic.

The famous town whose citizens supported themselves by taking in each other's laundry was purely mythical, of course. But there's a for-real town in Virginia that hopes to solve its economic problems by taking in garbage from Washington, Baltimore and other nearby big cities.

the processing of coal and which sells for $30 to $40 a ton. Other materials that are not sold for recycling will either be shredded into a growing medium for mushrooms or used as fuel in the cans-into-magnetite process.

LOS ANGELES — The still-secret decision by California's most powerful black politician to support Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey for President is part of a swiftly changing Democratic climate here which carries potential menace for front-running Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

Visiting California last weekend, Muskie set aside time to chat with State Sen. Mervyn Dymally of Los Angeles, the most potent political leader in southern California's big Negro community. But, in fact, Dymally — still steaming over Muskie's statement against a Negro Vice President — had already decided to back Humphrey.

Dymally's prospective endorsement means Humphrey, having cornered important Jewish money here and collected unpublishable endorsements among state legislators, has shown his first progress toward mass support against Muskie in next June's vital California primary. Thus, Muskie has squandered away the unequalled opportunity to wrap up California over the past nine months when he had no serious opposition.

Now, however, Humphrey has suddenly emerged here as a full-blown candidate carrying a June ambush for Muskie. If Muskie cannot clinch the nomination by winning early primaries (which remains a quite realistic prospect) he cannot count on California positively to recoup losses elsewhere. Among all high-population industrialized states, California is now Muskie's weakest.

Moreover, Wyman has short-circuited Muskie's support. Muskie men here complain that State Sen. George Moscone, senate majority leader, was ready to endorse Muskie until Wyman intervened. Their theory: Moscone, one of many 1974 candidates for governor, was not about to alienate Wyman-connected money.

Preliminary hearing asked

TWIN FALLS — A Washington man accused of grand larceny of an auto requested a preliminary hearing Wednesday when he was arraigned in Twin Falls Magistrate Court.

Cleo Dobbs, 48, remains in the Twin Falls County jail in lieu of posting $1,000 bond. Dobbs was arrested Tuesday by Twin Falls Police after a series of incidents Monday in Magic Valley.

The complaint against Dobbs alleges he stole a car in Twin Falls on Monday. The car was involved in an accident later that day four miles east of Wendell on Interstate 80N.

Jim Burke of the Gooding

County sheriff's office said the stolen auto struck the rear of a tractor and disc driven by Bruce Campbell, Jerome. Part of the disc was broken from the equipment, officers said, and rolled onto the highway into the path of a 1971 automobile driven by Darla Culley, Paul.

In the confusion of the accidents, Burke said, the driver of the stolen vehicle ran from the scene into a field. Later, officers began a full scale search for the suspect. Dobbs was arrested in a Jerome bar after the manager of the club complained to police.

Dobbs was charged with being drunk in public and held at the Jerome jail. He appeared on that charge Tuesday before Magistrate Russell Shaud, and was fined $37.50. The fine was suspended, however, and Dobbs was arrested by Twin Falls police.

Burke said Dobbs apparently caught a ride from the accident scene into Jerome.

Gem aide to trace new plan

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' reorganization plan for Idaho's executive branch will be outlined at a meeting here Nov. 18.

Edward V. Williams, administrative assistant to the governor, will present the plan at 11:30 a.m. at the College of Southern Idaho. Williams is scheduled to make similar presentations the same day in Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

Members of the legislature, officials of both political parties, state agency department heads and representatives of citizens' organizations have been invited to attend the meetings.

Gov. Andrus will present his plan at a meeting in Boise. A week ago, he briefed legislative leaders on the proposal at a closed meeting. State agency heads received a preview of the plan Wednesday at another closed meeting in Boise.

Bruin Day set

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls High School students will celebrate "Bruin Day" Friday.

"Bruin Day" is designed to honor high school athletes. A pep assembly is scheduled, including class skits and a pie-eating contest.

Students will be dismissed early today and Friday to allow the faculty time for in-service seminars and conferences.

The final football game of the season is scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday when the Bruins meet the Minico Spartans in Bruin Stadium.

Almost ready

STUDENT HOUSING is being put together by Regal Homes, Twin Falls. The six man semi-completed modular home units were being stacked two stories high Tuesday. Officials said they hope the homes will be ready for students to move in second semester.

General aviation fliers attend second clinic

TWIN FALLS — Cause and prevention of aviation accidents were detailed Wednesday evening when area general aviation fliers attended the second of three scheduled clinics featuring officials of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Riet, Boise, accident-prevention specialist with the general aviation district office of the FAA. He told the pilots that most accidents can be attributed to pilot error and that statistics show 80 per cent of all accidents occur through no fault of the plane.

"Path To Safety" and "All It Takes Is Once." Much of the discussion centered on winter flight rules and care of power plants. The meeting was sponsored by the Twin Falls Fliers, Inc., with Lloyd Shewmaker, president, presiding.

Third and final meeting will be in Twin Falls Jan. 19 and will feature a medical research team of the Civil Aeromedical Institute at Oklahoma City.

He also showed two films, "Path To Safety" and "All It Takes Is Once."

Sec. Hardin may leave cabinet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, who has been under fire from some farm state congressmen for not aggressively protecting agriculture, is expected to leave President Nixon's cabinet by early 1972 or sooner.

One of the farm state critics, Rep. William Sherle, R-Iowa, said "reliable sources" high in the administration told him Tuesday night Hardin would be "quitting by the end of the year."

A Republican senator, who is a member of the Agriculture Committee and close to the administration, said he had heard Hardin's resignation would be effective in early 1972. The senator, who asked not to be identified, said "a lot of political consideration" would focus on a successor. There were other indications that Hardin might be leaving sooner.

White House officials refused comment, and Hardin, who returned Wednesday from a trip to Turkey, would not make himself available to reporters. Administration officials said there had been no dissatisfaction with Hardin's performance. Hardin, 56, a native of Knightstown, Ind., joined Nixon's cabinet when the President took office in 1969. Hardin had spent the previous 14 years as Chancellor of the University of Nebraska and before that was Dean of Agriculture at Michigan State University.

Hardin's selection to the cabinet came as a surprise, but he has built a reputation as a quiet, low-key but effective workman in the always-hectic arena of farm politics. In 1970, after a drawn-out series of negotiations with farm bloc lawmakers in both parties, he engineered passage of a major new farm bill which drew a surprising amount of bipartisan support in Congress.

The new program continued payments to farmers with idle acreage, but struck out in new directions by switching to a more flexible production control system which gives farmers more leeway in deciding which crops to grow.

It was this extra flexibility which contributed to some farm belt grumbling against Hardin this summer. When a feared attack of corn blight disease failed to materialize and grain production zoomed to record, price-depressing levels, critics attacked the move away from the old system of putting specific acreage limits on major grain crops.

Hardin launched a series of moves he said would improve the situation, including plans for sharply expanded acreage retirement in 1972, but he so far has refused to bow to demands for massive government purchases of surplus grain.

One GOP Senate member said there would be a good deal of consideration over the picking of a successor to Hardin because of the impending presidential election.

"Do you pick another man from the Midwest or one from the South?" The Senator asked. "Geography is going to be a big factor — along with what the new secretary can do."

Hitchhiker found drowned in bathtub, others beaten

HOUSTON (UPI) — A teenage hitchhiker, his hands and legs tied, was found drowned in a bathtub Wednesday in a house where four companions were beaten by a beefy man who picked them up on a Louisiana highway.

One of the youths was choked by the suspect and begged for his life with $50. The suspect then hogtied the boy and hanged him from the door of a closet he had nailed shut after throwing three other youths inside.

George Albert Whittington, 27, who police said was discharged from a mental hospital eight years ago following a brief confinement for schizophrenia, was arraigned on suspicion of murder.

Police said Whittington held the Tennessee youths at gunpoint and beat them during the night after giving them a ride from near Shreveport, La.

Whittington said he and the youngsters had smoked marijuana during the night.

"I don't know what happened," Whittington told police. "The last thing I know one of them guys had some marijuana. I got sleepy, and the next thing I knew the police were waking me up. Sometimes I remember something like I dreamed it." Police said no narcotics were found in the house.

Robert Franklin Davis, 16, hanged from the closet door handle, broke free and ran outside where he stopped a motorist and called help. Police broke into the house and found Eddie Eugene Seat, 18, face down in a bathtub.

U.S. refusal on jets criticized

By United Press International
An Israeli cabinet minister said Wednesday that U.S. refusal to grant Phantom jet fighters to Israel has sabotaged chances for a Middle East peace settlement.

Minister Without Portfolio Israel Galili, a close confidant of Prime Minister Golda Meir, said the result has been "a serious argument with the U.S.

government."

In Cairo, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was making a major speech to the nation today (at 1:30 p.m. EST), an address political sources said could give an indication whether Egypt will make another attempt at reaching a political solution with Israel or is making preparations for war.

Sadat, who last week assumed direct command of Egypt's 800,000-man armed forces, was speaking to the opening session of the new 360-man People's Assembly.

UPI State Department Correspondent Nicholas Daniloff said that sources who insisted on remaining anonymous outlined the Israeli plan to break the current Middle East stalemate. Among other things, it included an unlimited cease-fire, which the Egyptians have termed unacceptable.

It also provided that Israeli forces would withdraw slightly from the occupied east bank of the Canal.

Martha quiet for two weeks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell recently had two weeks of silence.

His wife, Martha, revealed Wednesday that she was so angry she didn't speak to him for two weeks when a woman wasn't nominated to the Supreme Court.

"We're just now back on good terms," Mrs. Mitchell said with a grin.

In a staccato-news conference before appearing at lunch of the California Federation of Republican Women, Mrs. Mitchell was asked whether Pat Nixon shared her disappointment.

"Oh yes," she replied. "I told her I had finished packing my bags and I would come over and help her. We were both moving out."

Asked if her husband would resign his post to direct Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign, Mrs. Mitchell said, "Mr. Nixon and I have not decided that yet."

Other exchanges:

Castro given warm welcome

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro reflected on the tumultuous welcome he got Wednesday from a million Chileans, grinning and said, "I would sincerely recommend that they make a movie of this arrival and send it to Nixon."

Police said one third of Santiago's population of three million lined the 14-mile route into town from Pudahuel Airport as Castro rode in an open convertible with President Salvador Allende. It was Castro's first visit outside Cuba in seven years.

"The imperialists have again lost the ideological battle. Because, this meeting (with Allende) would never have occurred if they had been able to buy the revolution in a sea of lies," Castro said.

In spite of everything, the imperialists could not prevent us coming. If I would have listened to the threats of the imperialists, I would have had to bring an armed car."

Asked whether he was wearing a bullet-proof vest, Castro laughed.

"I am not even wearing an undershirt," he said, smiling.

Castro was completing the ceremonial part of his 10-day visit to Chile today with a courtesy call on Allende at La Moneda, the presidential palace. He will fly to the northern Chilean city of Antofagasta Friday to start a tour that will take him nearly the length of this 2,600-mile-long nation.

Castro arrived aboard a Soviet-made Ilyushin IL62 jetliner with a Russian crew on a nonstop flight from Havana for his first trip abroad since visiting the Soviet Union in 1964.

As Castro's motorcade passed through some of Santiago's more poverty-stricken neighborhoods, the reception was wildly enthusiastic.

Women rushed up to the car to press bunches of flowers on Castro and tossed rose petals into the car.

"Buca Si! Yankee No!" children chanted. Thousands waved tiny Cuban flags.

Smokey gets heir

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After nine years of waiting in vain for Smokey the Bear to produce an heir, the Forest Service is about to give him one.

Officials said Wednesday that "Little Smokey," a young cub born in the Lincoln National Forest of New Mexico is being brought here to become a full-time resident of the National Zoo.

The cub will be "adopted," as Forest Service officials put it, by Smokey, the 21-year old bear who is the symbol of the service's Smokey the Bear fire prevention campaign.

The cub's foster "mother" will be Goldie, a female bear brought in nine years ago to be Smokey's mate. Officials hoped Smokey and Goldie would produce a son to carry on in the forest fire prevention campaign.

HIGHWAY SIGNS without words, as easily understood in Asia or Europe as in Ada or Twin Falls Counties, will soon appear along Idaho highways. The changeover is part of an international move toward greater uniformity and clarity in highway signs. Here are some samples of the old style signs now in use, at left, and their counterparts under the new system, at right. State highway officials say the only sign to remain unchanged will be the red octagonal stop sign. Colors will indicate movements allowed or prohibited, with red, green, yellow, black, white, and orange being used.

Single school policy sought

ATLANTA (UPI)—The 1971 Southern Governors Conference ended Wednesday with the Dixie chief executives urging Congress to enact a single national policy on school desegregation.

The southern governors also named Gov. Luis A. Ferre of Puerto Rico as their new chairman, succeeding Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi, and chose Hilton Head Island, S.C., as the site for their 1972 convention. Gov. John C. West of South Carolina was named vice chairman.

The resolution on schools urged that a national policy "be applied uniformly throughout the nation by all branches of the federal government, including the Department of Justice, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the courts," and reaffirmed the 1970 stand of the conference in opposing "the busing of school children from one neighborhood to another for the purpose of attempting to achieve numerical balancing of the races."

The stand was recommended by the resolutions committee, which earlier had rejected two stronger anti-busing resolutions introduced by Williams and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

The resolution also initially commended the Nov. 4 action by the U.S. House of Representatives, which passed a bill forbidding the use of federal funds to finance court-ordered busing of school children.

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland challenged this section, arguing that federal funds should not be cut off to school districts under court orders to bus. He and Gov. Robert Scott of North Carolina asked the conference not to commend the House's action.

But West offered an amendment that won the day—commending the House action as "a first step" in creating a single national policy, but cautioning that federal funds should not be cut off until Congress enacts a national policy that is "uniformly applied."

The southern governors also unanimously endorsed two other resolutions offered by Wallace—dealing with federal income tax exemptions. One of them asks that Congress give "first priority" to increasing the income exemption tax for dependents, and the other asks for an in-depth study of tax-free charitable organizations. Wallace has often complained that many tax-exempt organizations have an unjustified tax shelter.

In parlance of the drug culture, sedatives are called goofballs, sleepers and downers. These include prescription pills: sleeping pills and some of the minor tranquilizers such as Miltown.

Cassia mulls new landfill standards

BURLEY — The 13 Cassia County landfills have been declared unhealthy even before their completion.

Cassia county commissioners are mulling over advice received earlier this week from representatives of the State Health Department who suggested one centralized landfill, instead of the 13 sites already planned.

Commissioner J. Weldon Beck said the commission probably will meet later this week as soon as all three members are back in town to decide what course to pursue, and indicated they may continue with the plans already nearing completion.

The proposed sites are mostly on Bureau of Land Management land, with some on private land, and arrangements have been made for the locations. These 13 sites would be a change from about 50 unauthorized dumps which were scattered throughout the county.

The Health Department aides told commissioners that "regulations are being gradually changed to bring state landfill and sanitary regulations up to a set standard."

Instead of the 13 sites which are planned, the county should have one centralized landfill which must be fenced. Pickup stations were suggested throughout the county and any dump site in Idaho or landfill must be covered each night, the state officials said.

Commissioners pointed out cost of covering the landfills daily would be "prohibitive" and Beck asked the state officials if they ever had driven in Cassia county to understand the long distances between the communities.

Commissioners previously have made arrangements with highway districts at Malta, Albion and Oakley to have the dumped material covered as often as is needed.

Max Bruce, BLM district manager, who has worked with commissioners in establishing the 13 dumps, pointed out that two years ago commissioners were told they should establish 13 dumps and "Now, today, you tell them this is wrong. Who is changing the rules?"

The state officials advised commissioners to set up a scale at the landfill and charge persons according to the weight of their material to be dumped. They suggested a $2 to $3 charge per ton and passing of an ordinance to strictly enforce litter laws. The state also suggests that all trucks hauling litter should be covered.

By charging for the service a centralized landfill could become self-supporting, the state department health officials said.

Magistrate Gleason Anderson, who met with commissioners regarding strict enforcement of litter laws, asked the state people to send copies of litter laws which have been adopted in other parts of the state.

Commissioners were told that federal funds are available for a demonstration of how to operate the landfill, but funds are not available for purchasing equipment.

Bruce also reported to commissioners on the use of lands to their use in the county, and suggested improvements for the lands.

J. Wayne Cole and Mrs. Joan Parr, county agents, met with commissioners and showed them the plaque the 4-H Builders Club received at the state 4-H convention for assisting in cleaning up the roadsides in the county-wide Johnny Horizon campaign last spring.

Cassia historical society sets meet

BURLEY — Dr. Earl Swanson, director of the Idaho State University Museum and head of the anthropology department at the university will be the featured speaker at 8 p.m. Nov. 19 at the Ponderosa Inn, at the anniversary meeting of the Cassia County Historical Society.

A no-host dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. which is optional, according to Al Dawson, president. Three directors will be elected.

Bids are now being taken for the bricklaying work at the society's museum building.

Membership renewals are being mailed this week and persons not now members are welcome to join and may contact Mr. Dawson, president.

Reservations for the no-host dinner must be in by Nov. 17 and may be made by writing the Cassia County Historical Society, P. O. Box 331, Burley, or phone 678-9240.

Burley chamber hears of welfare plans

BURLEY — Jay Schofield, vice-president of the Burley Chamber of Commerce reported on the recent national chamber meeting he attended in Portland at the chamber weekly meeting at Bryan's Cafe.

Schofield urged the chamber members to keep abreast of pending legislation and keep the elected officials informed on how they wish them to vote.

Some of the topics discussed were welfare, health insurance and re-organization of executive government.

There never has been greater need for organized action, he said.

Welfare and health care program proposals of many kinds are pending, Schofield said. Only one of the proposals is supported by the national chamber. Charles Skaggs, owner of Skaggs Furniture, discussed advertising by new firms in the area. It was reported that the City of Burley has an ordinance regarding new merchants moving into town and setting up business.

Grant Fillmore, chamber president, said more than 600 tickets have been sold for the annual farmer-businessman banquet sponsored by the Burley Chamber of Commerce set for 7 p.m. today at the Ponderosa Inn Convention Center. Miss Idaho, Karen Herd, Idaho Falls, will furnish the entertainment at the banquet.

Earnest Blauer will present the businessmen award and Schofield will present the farmer award.

KIMBERLY B. C. (UPI) — Earl Kitchener Bennett, 54, Kimberley, was back behind bars Tuesday, charged with the kidnaping of a wealthy British Columbia industrialist's son in June of 1969.

Bennett was arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers as he left the lower mainland correctional center at Vancouver after serving two years of a three-year sentence on a conviction of extortion.

I.F. girl wins third in contest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alice Brown, 17, Idaho Falls, has won a $300 third prize in the nationwide teenage artist contest sponsored by "Seventeen" magazine.

Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Brown, was chosen from over 125 finalists in the competition that attracted a total of 2,000 entries.

She submitted a drawing for "country music" to illustrate a story in the magazine.

Ski swap set at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY — Outgrown ski boots and clothes, used skis and other equipment are being called for by the Sun Valley Ski Education Foundation for their annual "ski swap" Nov. 19 and 20.

Skiers of all sizes and ages are asked to bring their discarded or outgrown equipment to the swap headquarters, the IOOF Hall in Ketchum, by Nov. 18 for sale. Items will be on sale from noon to 7 p.m. each day.

The seller is asked to label each item with his price and to have equipment in usable condition and clothing clean.

Mary Lou Simpson, ski swap chairman, said the sponsoring organization charges 15 percent of the selling price to cover cost of staging the event and to provide a small profit which is donated to the Sun Valley and foundation members will assist buyers in selecting proper size boots and skis and will give advice on purchase of equipment.

The ski swap provides an excellent opportunity for parents to outfit their beginner skiers or to trade in those too small items for a larger size at great saving, Mrs. Simpson said.

Mrs. Simpson said coaches

Man sentenced

JEROME — Steven Gifford, 19, Jerome, has been sentenced to five years in the state prison on two charges of first degree burglary.

Sentencing of the young Jerome man Tuesday in Fifth District Court in Jerome was by Judge James Cunningham, who stipulated the two terms are to run concurrently. The judge, however, also stipulated that the court will retain jurisdiction in the case for 120 days. Gifford will be taken to the Idaho State Penitentiary where he will be incarcerated for 120 days, at the end of which the court can review the case.

Gifford was arrested Oct. 6 by Jerome County and city officials. The arrest culminated investigation into several thefts in the area.

Persecution is charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., charged today that William H. Rehnquist had been "badly persecuted" by some witnesses seeking to kill his appointment to the Supreme Court.

Eastland, who had said little previously during hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which he heads, on the nominations of Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell to the Supreme Court, spoke out and said he intended to rectify some of the "falsehoods" which have surfaced.

Eastland called Rehnquist, who is being opposed by organized labor and civil rights groups, "an honorable man."

"He is an outstanding lawyer and he will become an outstanding justice," said Eastland. He also said "I think he is a badly persecuted man, persecuted by those opposed to him."

The committee chairman said he would enter into the panel's records later today statements to rebut what he described as falsehoods uttered against Rehnquist.

Eastland made clear that he was not referring to testimony of an AFL-CIO spokesman, Andrew Blomiller, who was testifying at that point, but to the strong opposition in charges made Tuesday by representatives of civil rights groups.

Senate loses CIA control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said today that President Nixon had reshaped the nation's intelligence network to vest more control in the hands of White House adviser Henry Kissinger without congressional advice.

Symington, in a Senate speech, called for a full review by the Senate Armed Services Committee. He charged that critical aspects of intelligence analysis had been taken out of the hands of career professionals and vested in the military and the White House staff.

Fulbright, asked for comment by a reporter, said the reorganization was "a further erosion of congressional control over the intelligence community" on the ground that Kissinger, in his position as the President's national security adviser, was insulated from congressional scrutiny.

The White House announced last Friday that intelligence activities were being restructured to improve their "efficiency and effectiveness."

CIA Director Richard Helms was given control over all intelligence activities while Kissinger was placed in charge of a subcommittee of the National Security Council to review intelligence operations.

Symington said the reorganization might turn out to be "a constructive move." But he said it was impossible for Congress or the public to know since the White House announcement did not explain what caused the shakeup or the remedies "which have now been unilaterally decreed."

He said the White House apparently "does not consider either the organization, or the operation, of the intelligence community to be matters of concern to the Congress. To my knowledge there was no advance consultation whatsoever with the Congress regarding this reorganization, or even any advance notice of what had been decided."

Amchitka test provides clues

AMCHITKA, Alaska (UPI)—The five megaton nuclear test under Amchitka Island has left behind clues which may help man predict and control future earthquakes.

Seismologist E. R. Engdahl of Alaska's Palmer Observatory said Tuesday the explosion provided the "best data in the world—the best we've ever had" on Earth stresses.

The data may help man determine whether earthquakes can be prevented by relieving natural earth strains, he said.

Also left after the explosion Saturday were dead birds, sea otters, seals and fish found in the area around the island. Autopsies were ordered to determine what killed them.

Another scientist, Dr. Phil Romeg of the Colorado School of Mines said, "We hope, by use of our instruments, to move toward a solution to finding a way to predict earthquakes."

Before the explosion, environmentalists argued that the blast could cause earthquakes and tidal waves and destroy sea life.

When it was finally triggered a mile below the surface of the island Saturday, the ground shook, dust flew and trailers overhead tipped, but there was no earthquake or tidal wave. A crater formed on the island Monday when the surface soil crumbled inward.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists scouring the area have found dead birds and sea animals in offshore kelp, and were attempting to determine if they died from effects of the blast or a windstorm which battered the island Friday.

Sierrans fear geothermal uses

RENO (UPI) — A Sierra Club spokesman fears environmental protection will be ignored if federal lands are opened up to extensive exploration of geothermal steam resources.

Dr. Richard Sill of Reno, a member of the national board of directors of the conservation organization, testified Tuesday at a Department of Interior hearing on proposed regulations for leasing public lands for development of steam deep beneath the surface.

The regulations, published in July but not yet in effect, deal with department plans to lease steam resources on public lands for exploration by private industry. There are several huge areas of the west where geothermal steam might prove economical for the production of electricity, minerals and fresh water.

"We fear the environment will be ignored or given lip service," Sill said. "However, we are not categorically opposed to any specific power plant or development scheme unless it adversely affects the environment."

He said he understood there had been instances of drilling in southern California in which the drillers' statement of how it would affect the environment was inadequate and had been accepted without challenge.

However, George Nielsen of the Bureau of Land Management said the BLM issued a special permit for one test hole only, and that any other drilling had been on state land.

Dr. Carol Ott, manager of the geothermal division of Union Oil Co., said holders of public land leases should have the authority to develop, but the proposals as drafted are unclear about whether a driller also has the right to provide surface facilities that a complete exploration plan he submitted with an application for a noncompetitive lease.

"This is akin to putting the cart before the horse, since only after there is exploration will there be any knowledge of the pool," he said.

He said competitive leases should not be put up for bid unless the interior department agrees the developer should have the right to utilize the land's resources. On competitive leases, he said provision should be made for the government and developer to work out land use terms after there has been some exploration to determine the potential.

Jim Vasey of the Nevada State Engineer's office said the proposed rules appeared oriented to steam to the detriment of other resources such as minerals, heat, hot water or demineralized water. The hearing moves to Sacramento Wednesday and to Portland, Ore., Friday.

No tax on commuters

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Attorney General's Office Tuesday said Salt Lake City cannot impose a tax on commuters.

The ruling, requested by Mayor-elect E.J. "Jake" Garn, said that while the legislature has granted cities authority to tax and license businesses within their boundaries, no provision was made to allow taxing of employees.

"The opinion backs up what we believed was the case," Garn said. "That is, that we couldn't impose such a tax without legislative approval."

Bourguiba rule brings Tunisia stability

Steady prices ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Food prices will remain steady or be slightly lower through most of the rest of 1971, but some further increases can be expected in the first half of 1972, according to the latest government estimates.

Agriculture department economists said seasonally heavy supplies of pork, eggs, and fresh fruits and vegetables, coupled with the wage-price freeze, have stemmed the sharp rise in food prices which came during the first seven months of this year.

As a result, prices in the fourth quarter will not top third-quarter averages and may be down slightly, although they will average above a year ago. For 1971 as a whole, economists said, this means the all-food Retail Price Index should average about 3 per cent above 1970. This represents an improvement over previous government forecasts that the increase for the year would reach 5.5 per cent.

Looking ahead to the first half of 1972, economists predicted in a report that:

"Food prices in grocery stores likely will increase from current levels with pork, fresh fruits and vegetables and eggs leading the way in response to smaller prospective supplies."

Teachers may test new law

BOISE (UPI) — If necessary, the Boise Education Association is willing to go to court to make a new teacher negotiations law binding in the Boise School District.

A BEA spokesman made that statement following a 15-minute meeting Tuesday when a BEA negotiating team and Boise School board representatives met under the law for the first time.

Dave Imel, a member of the school board, said before it would discuss negotiations it asked for proof that the BEA represents the total certified teaching staff in the district.

Vacation use OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council said today workers may now begin using newly earned vacation leave and do not have to store it for future use.

In another modification of its freeze policy, the council said companies may issue stock options to employees as part compensation for a particular job.

Both stock options and newly earned vacation time, considered fringe benefits by the council, had been tied up during the wage-price freeze.

Promoted

JAY O. COLE, Boise, former Filer resident, has been promoted to assistant manager of the Eagle office of the Idaho First National Bank. Cole has been with the bank since 1966. He was educated in the Filer schools, graduating from high school there in 1959.

New bank planned at Filer

FILER — Idaho First National Bank will construct a new branch office building at the corner of Fair Avenue and U. S. Highway 30.

Fred C. Humphreys, executive vice-president of the bank, said the site is an acre in size. It adjoins the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds and across the street from Fairways Shopping Center.

The bank will take possession of the property on March 15, 1972. Clearing of the site for construction of the new bank will follow.

Airline asks end to trips

BOISE (UPI) — Trans Magic Airlines has filed with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission to temporarily suspend scheduled intra-state common air carrier service to two Idaho cities and cancel another route.

Trans Magic Airlines Corporation seeks in its petition to the commission to temporarily suspend service to Pocatello and Idaho Falls and to discontinue service to the Mountain Home Air Force Base.

The petition states the reason for requesting suspension of service to Pocatello and Idaho Falls is that "in spite of every effort on the part of the petitioner to minimize expenses and still provide service to the public."

Trans Magic states the reason for requesting cancellation of service to the air base is that the route authority has become inoperative because of the "inability of the personnel at the Mountain Home Air Force Base, because of higher administration orders and cutbacks, to use said service."

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As revolutions have changed the political faces of Algeria and Libya, Tunisia, sandwiched between them, has been a model of stability — thanks largely to its president, Habib Bourguiba.

Bourguiba has guided Tunisia's destinies with an absolute, though benevolent hand, throughout the 15 years of its independence from France. Now, in ill health and committed to a promise not to seek office again at the end of his present term in 1974, he seeks to prepare the way for his successor.

But power once attained becomes a habit and Bourguiba, while paying lip service to encroaching time, finds it increasingly difficult to institute the government reforms which a little more than a year ago he himself promulgated. The Tunisia he seeks for the future is to be in his own image but he argues that the people are not yet mature enough for democracy and that they must be led to it slowly.

He is particularly concerned that Tunisia is squeezed between two military dictatorships, and he believes a regime with a strong executive is necessary to insure Tunisia's survival between the two.

As "supreme combatant" during Tunisia's struggle for independence, Bourguiba has had no real rival for his authority. But now a political crisis is developing, brought on by the same emotions that war within Bourguiba himself, the one that tells him to start relaxing his grip on power, and the other that tells him he cannot. The crisis had been simmering below the surface for two years and broke into the open in late October at the 8th congress of Tunisia's ruling Neo-Destour Socialist party. It was the first such congress in seven years, having been long delayed because of Bourguiba's falling health, and even then taking place only because Bourguiba yielded to pressure.

Analysis

The opposition emerged quickly. A large group led by Ahmed Mestiri, a 76-year-old lawyer recently forced from his post as minister of interior, demanded democratization of the party and liberalization of Tunisia's political life, including greater press freedom and the right of the party and the people to select Bourguiba's successor. Further controversy developed over selection of the 14-man Political Bureau which is the party's chief executive group.

It had been Bourguiba's practice to select by himself the men to hold important posts both in the government and the party.

He compromised in the end but not before Mestiri had been suspended from the party and accused of sedition in the controlled press.

Bourguiba further made it clear he believed the congress's only accomplishment had been to divide the country.

On the whole it is a melancholy picture. Bourguiba has done a good job for his country. He has been a friend of the West and was one of the few Arab leaders with the courage to talk back to the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser. The voices in opposition were relatively moderate and in stifling them Bourguiba may bring about the very power struggle over his successor he sought to avoid.

BANANA STUFFED TURKEY

Swensen's answer to the high price of bread crumbs this year, is the 7' banana. Of course, with Swensen's super low prices on turkeys you can afford to stuff that bird with anything you'd like, but why use nasty old expensive stuff like oyster, livers, gizzards, etc. to stuff your turkey when you can stuff it with big beautiful ripe bananas for only 7' lb.

You could mix bananas with bread crumbs, but the more bananas you use the more money you save. 7' Bananas are also boona for stuffing hungry kids (and 2 bananas strategically stuffed will effectively take care of a nagging wife for approximately 2 minutes) - optional. # Minidoka school district ends fiscal year in red

BY DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Minidoka School District ended the 1971 fiscal year over $250,000 in the red, an audit presented to the board Wednesday night shows.

The district's maintenance and operation budget showed a deficit of $252,527.69, according to the audit presented by Helen C. Dickinson, Rupert. Of the deficit, $119,349.91 was accumulated in the past fiscal year, including slightly more than $95,000 in excess expenditures over revenues.

The additional $24,000 deficit results from school money not yet reimbursed by the federal government.

School officials said it will take several years for the district to climb out of the red, although the 1972 fiscal budget, approved earlier this year, calls for a contingency fund of $70,000 which would help pay off part of the debt.

Dr. Darrell J. Hatfield said today he anticipates a possible maintenance and operation referendum to be presented to the public next spring when the 1973 budget is under discussion by the board. Trustees have not yet discussed the idea officially.

In other action Wednesday night, Dr. Hatfield said he would appear before the Idaho Board of Education at its January meeting to appeal the board's refusal to grant emergency certification to Robert Larsen, school psychologist. The state board refused Larsen's certification last week in Twin Falls.

Dr. Hatfield said Larsen is attempting to complete his academic requirements but was unable to take the required courses within the state and had met with little luck in scheduling the remainder of his program in Utah colleges.

Hatfield also said he was charging the district PTA with raising funds to aid a suit filed several months ago against the Idaho Board of Education and other state officials to reclaim money from the alleged improper sale and transfer of school lands across the state.

A letter from the PTA to the school board had requested a contribution of 10 cents per child toward legal costs.

The board also approved changes in contracts for 11 teachers, including Genevieve Wodskow, Djaná Hansinger, Connie Nelson, James Mendenhall, Maurine Smith, Harold Hurst, Dorothy House, Phyllis Hanchette, Floyd Schrenk, Maude Ratini and Lorn Duff.

The board also approved a trip by Gene Snapp to the migrant education workshop to be held in Oregon early in December. The majority of his expenses will be covered by the Migrant Education Fund.

Okay given for Saturday flight

LOS ANGELES — Western Air Lines today received Civil Aeronautics Board approval to operate a non-stop Saturday-only jet service between San Francisco and Twin Falls.

The flight, to operate over a period of some 17 weeks, will leave San Francisco in the afternoon and will return to the Bay City the same evening.

The flight, primarily for skiers traveling to the Sun Valley resort, will mark the initial entrance of Western Air Lines into the Twin Falls area. Previously only Hughes Airwest has served Twin Falls.

Hugh C. Earley, director, market development for Western, said Boeing 737 equipment will be used for the flights. The 737 carries more than 100 passengers. He said a roundtrip fare for the flight has been established at $88.88 and that this will be tied into a "ski package" being put together by a San Francisco tour operator.

Western is one of the nation's biggest airlines, having routes from Minneapolis to Honolulu, Mexico and Alaska through Salt Lake City, Pocatello, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

In Twin Falls, Idaho, Jean Millar, city manager, William Chancy, chairman of the Twin Falls County Commissioners, and O. A. (Gus) Kelker, chairman of the Twin Falls

City-County Airport board, said they were pleased with the approval granted Western for this flight. In a statement they said they viewed the step "as a step closer for Twin Falls and Magic Valley to obtain the permanent services of a second major airline." They added that present and planned improvements at Joslin Field would permit such an arrangement.

Police probing 3 thefts

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police are investigating three thefts reported Wednesday in which a combined loss of about $2,000 has been listed.

Officers said more than $1,000 damage was done when the Harmon Haven Kiddie Rides stand in Harmon Park was broken into. The only item taken from the scene, according to preliminary reports, was a telephone receiver. A soft drink machine, popcorn maker and windows were broken or damaged extensively, accounting for the high loss.

The theft of a mink stole and mink hat from the Mayfair Co. on the mall in Twin Falls also was reported Wednesday. Bob Harvey, owner of the firm, told officers the items had been taken from the store several days previously. Value of the items was listed at more than $750.

Eric Evans, Twin Falls, reported Wednesday that his automobile had been broken into and a tape deck, 13 tapes and a carrying case were taken. Loss was set at more than $200.

Ladies of Moose convene

TWIN FALLS — Several hundred members of the Loyal Order of the Moose and the Women of the Moose began gathering in Twin Falls today for their annual Idaho State convention.

Both groups began registration at noon at the Moose Home on Falls Avenue. The grand opening of the state session will be at 8:30 p.m. at the Moose Home, a joint ceremony for both men and women.

The convention, which concludes Sunday, is being headquartered at the Moose Home and at the Holiday Inn. The agenda includes election of officers on Saturday and the presidents dinner and dance that night.

A thought for today: American poet Ella Wheeler said, "No question is ever settled until it is settled right."

Film slated

JEROME — A public meeting on venereal disease, sponsored by the National Venereal Disease Institute will be held at 7 p.m. today at Wood Cafe.

Terry Blundell, Salt Lake City, will show a movie on the disease. The movie is approved by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It is entitled "A Quarter of a Million Teen-agers."

The film will describe health problems associated with venereal disease. A question and answer period will follow. There is no charge and all interested persons are invited.

Wendell to probe opening of avenue

WENDELL — Vernon Mason and John Wert were appointed by Mayor Eugene Soares to investigate the cost of opening Fifth Avenue East for the Regal Home subdivision development.

The appointment was made during the Wendell City Council meeting Wednesday night.

The council authorized a waterline into Bud Barkley's pasture in the west end of town, and members plan further investigation before giving Mark Koll permission to open Boise Street which is located north of the Wendell Elevator.

Councilmen also approved purchase of a compressor for the water works and street department and approved wine licenses for Simerly's and Cash Grocery.

A discussion was held on planning a new dog ordinance and increasing dog license fees.

Members went on record as being in favor of a full interchange on west entrance to Wendell instead of the one-half interchange presently being planned by the Idaho Highway Department.

Suit limits fuel flow, Idahoan says

BOISE (UPI) — A lawsuit pending for the past 15 years has meant no additional development of natural gas pipelines or supplies for the Northwest since 1957, according to Harry Nock, president of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

Nock said the federal antitrust case against El Paso Natural Gas Co. asking that the firm be required to sell its Northwest gas pipeline, has been to the U.S. Supreme Court three times and is again before a U.S. district court jury in Denver.

Nock said settlement is necessary to end the threat of a natural gas shortage in the Northwest. He said the lack of gas could also mean a stop to any growth in the Northwest.

"El Paso is not going to go out and spend several million in improvements just to turn them over to someone else," he said.

Nock said El Paso is running full at all times to meet demands of customers and said some curtailments have taken place. He said El Paso already has orders "not to hook on any big customer like a potato factory."

Driver escapes

DRIVER OF THIS pickup truck, Gerald H. Ingls Jr., 28, Sanger, Calif., was hurt about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday when it left Interstate 80N and crashed into a rock wall four miles east of the Highway 93 interchange. Ingls was released following treatment at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Idaho State Police said he apparently fell asleep as he was driving west.

Conclave begins

TWIN FALLS — The annual meeting of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau began here today with election of new officers and discussion of resolutions on the agenda.

Bureau President Clyde VanAusdell said the all-day meeting at the organization's Twin Falls office would focus on recommendations to be presented at the upcoming state meeting.

Aerial search halted in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The aerial search for a missing, pilotless Navy jet was officially suspended Wednesday while Naval photo interpreters scan aerial photographs of the area.

A Utah Civil Air Patrol spokesman said scrupulous of the approximately 2,000 square miles of pictures could take at least a week.

Mission coordinator Russ Bateman said a Navy photo-reconnaissance plane photographed the search area Tuesday after a visual search by the Utah CAP failed to locate the craft that has been missing since last Thursday.

Bateman said the photographs were returned to the Naval Air Station at Lemoore, Calif., for examination. They cover an area stretching between Provo and Nephi on the west and the Green River on the east.

The CAP spokesman said the cut off range on the A7E Navy fighter's fuel should be close to the Price-Green River area, but the craft may have gone down in the Wasatch Mountains.

He said heavy snows above the 8,000 foot level have hindered the visual search. "If the Navy can't locate it in the photos, we may have to wait until summer," Bateman said.

The craft flew over 400 miles after its pilot accidentally ejected from the jet while flying a practice bombing mission at Fallon, Nev., about 50 miles south and east of Reno.

Radar at the Salt Lake International Airport tracked the plane as far east as Provo Tuesday evening, before it dropped off the scanner.

Area woman hurt

GOODING — Mrs. Bata Juker, 42, Gooding, was injured Tuesday evening in a car-pickup truck collision 3.5 miles north of here.

Sheriff Earl Brown said Mrs. Juker was driving south when she came over a rise in the road, saw a cow and swerved to miss it. Her car hit a pickup truck parked along the road, then veered into a field and came to rest about 100 feet from the road.

The car and pickup were demolished. Brown said. The owner of the parked truck is not known since it bore no license plates.

Mrs. Juker was admitted to Gooding Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Andrus gives challenge

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the Mobile Home and Recreation Manufacturer's Association Wednesday that maintaining the quality of Idaho life is the most critical challenge facing the state.

Andrus said "Those who are flocking to the state to escape pollution and crime must not be allowed to bring with them the very things they are trying to escape."

Burley opens drug conclave

BURLEY — About 25 Magic Valley public health employees are meeting here today and Friday to explore ways of living "in an incredibly drug oriented society."

The conference, sponsored by the Idaho Department of Education, is being conducted by the Region Five Health District Drug Education Team. The Rev. Mike Fitzgibbons, Episcopal minister at Shoshone and Gooding, is leader.

He said there are three major areas for the two-day event. The first deals with "what kind of drugs there are, what they do, how they act and what motivates people to use them."

The second area of concern, Rev. Fitzgibbons said, is "how to live in an incredibly drug oriented society." The third focus will be "What kind of community changes do we have to look for to have people not using drugs to feel good." He said.

Rev. Fitzgibbons, a member of the Idaho drug education team, has been trained to lead this type of conference, he said. He said it is the intention of the drug education officials to offer similar conferences in communities and churches throughout the state.

Asks counsel

SHOSHONE — A young Kuna man arrested early Monday by Lincoln County sheriff's officers on a first degree burglary charge requested a public defender Wednesday in Magistrate Court.

Judge C. M. Wilson said bond was set at $1,500 on Michael K. Shipley, 19, when he appeared in court. Arraignment was postponed until Shipley has had time to confer with the public defender.

Shipley is charged in connection with break-ins at an auto agency and at a barber and watch-repair shop in Shoshone.

Air pollution 159 index

The pollution reading was taken by the National Air Quality Control Administration at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of foot-candles of particulate matter per cubic meter of air. The 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms per cubic meter per day and should not be permitted to rise above 200 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast
Today: Excellent
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

The forecast provided by the National Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse pollutants.

Idaho threatened with highway funds cut

By LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — Once again Idaho has been threatened with a 10 per cent cut in federal highway construction funds, this time as a result of financial programs over driver education.

Mark Gibson, director of the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission, said his office was informed that unless the legislature appropriates sufficient money for the program sanctions outlined in the Highway Safety Act of 1968 — the 10 per cent cut — could be used.

Gibson said he was also informed by William Hall, regional administrator, National Highway and Traffic Safety Commission administration, that while the Idaho commission received its full funding of $433,000 the federal government was signing the agreement "reluctantly."

Gibson said the federal agency is disturbed that the state is funding only 60 per cent of eligible students rather than 100 per cent.

He said the state is required to report legislation to the federal agency involving highway safety standards. He said he has done so in the past but "this is the first time we've ever retrogressed, whatever that means."

Monday the Idaho Department of Education notified school superintendents not to start any new driver education classes for the balance of this year because of lack of funds. Of the $530,000 appropriation to driver education for fiscal year 1972 only $15,400 remains because part of the money paid for a deficit of $218,789 remaining at the end of the fiscal year 1971.

D. F. Engelking, superintendent of public instruction, said another request will be made of the 1972 legislature, but warned, "We're not going to spend or cause a district to spend any more money than was appropriated."

"The thing that's happened is that when we set up programs the law says we're supposed to educate all these kids but we don't know how many will be in it because everybody's eligible," he said.

In the future, he said, alternatives are to either cut back the age of eligibility for driver education or increase funding for the program.

"We're going to suggest that possibly the driver's license fee be raised $2," Engelking said. "We think this will come pretty close to doing the job for us."

"But we're not going to go on any more deficit spending as far as we're concerned."

State Sen. John Mix, D-Moscov, chairman of the driver improvement and counseling program, said another alternative is to charge $15 per student for the course.

"One thing that's come out of this is that since they cut back the total number of kids to 60 per cent there are at least 40 per cent of those eligibles' parents who now realize the value of driver education," he said.

"I'm sure we're going to have to come up with a formula which will allow for money to be pumped into this and I'm sure it's going to involve those in the program."

The threat of the cut in highway construction funds was used before to get an automobile inspection law passed.

Wayne Summers, secretary of the Idaho Highway Board of Directors, said a threatened cut is not unusual but added the cut would not only affect the Idaho Highway Department but cities and counties as well.

FIRE SPREAD from burning weeds into a pile of discarded tires at the Burley airport Wednesday, sending a cloud of dense smoke rolling across the Union Pacific tracks toward Heyburn. The fire was set by a Burley City crew. Two telephone poles were damaged by the fire.

Members of House test air

By FRANK ELEAZER
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many senators consider themselves presidential material. It's just that at any given time there are a few who haven't announced. Now, with the nominating conventions set for next summer, even some House members are getting their lightning rods up.

Patsy Takemoto Mink, D-Hawaii, for instance, has adorned the House for seven years. She's a lawyer, plenty smart, and currently is lending an ear to contentions the White House ought to be tidied up by a woman.

Shirley Chisholm, a Democrat from Brooklyn, believes if a woman candidate is good, a black woman candidate has got to be better. She will enter primaries in Florida, North Carolina, California and Wisconsin.

William Anderson, D-Tenn., is the nuclear submarine commander turned dove who spoke an unkind word about FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. He's warming up on the lecture circuit and has tested the New Hampshire and Florida primary waters.

Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, hasn't said much, which isn't like him, but there are bumper stickers around proclaiming his availability for the Democratic nomination on a "sense-not nonsense" platform.

Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey, R-

Calif., has committed the ultimate political sin of announcing against his own President. McCloskey is a Marine combat colonel who wants out of Vietnam and says the Commander-in-Chief bungled both the war and the peace.

Oh, yes. There is also Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. But there are a number of reasons he couldn't win and he knows it. In fact, all Mills has to offer the voters is ability, brains, experience, honesty, demonstrated leadership and general good sense.

He will be 63—people say that's too old—when the Democrats nominate their man next July in Miami. He is a southerner. He has voted against every civil rights bill. He has never been outside the United States. He smokes small cigars (no cigarettes) and even so uses a filter.

Glamorous he isn't. Charisma (whatever that is) he hasn't got. On TV he comes across like a banker disapproving a loan. His closet hides nary a skeleton; only neat rows of conservative suits.

But since May he has made 62 public speeches including 12 to state legislatures. He says he isn't running for president but if nominated could beat Richard Nixon. He has a manager, bumper stickers and even a campaign song.

So what is he running for?

Some informed congressional sources, well, there is, me anyway—think what he's shooting for is the best job in the government, all right, but not the one at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

It's at the other end of the street, where the pay is not quite as good—$72,500 instead of $200,000 a year—but where the workload is as heavy or light as the incumbent desires and where decisions don't mean go or no-go for the world.

Soviets reverse policies

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the first 10 months of 1971, the Soviet Union has permitted some 7,500 Jews to emigrate to Israel, nearly three quarters as many as were allowed to leave the Soviet Union in the entire preceding 10 years. That total came to 10,330.

The natural question then is what happened to reverse a policy under which the Soviet government frowned on the departure of any useful citizen? And what compelling force led so many Jews to apply for exit visas and thus risk government anger?

The answer to the first question may lie in the fact the Soviet Union is in the midst of a campaign in which it seeks to project to the Western world a policy of moderation and that it is a question that has been put to Soviet leaders as they barnstormed world capitals.

Outside the government level, other pressures also have been applied.

One has come from the noisy Jewish Defense League as led in the United States by Rabbi Meir Kahane. Probably more effective than the league's harassment of Soviet representatives in the United States was the Brussels meeting of some 750 delegates from 27 countries that included most of the prominent national and international organizations in Jewry.

This meeting concentrated upon the Soviet Union probably the heaviest international criticism of Soviet internal policy it has experienced since the purge trials carried out by Josef Stalin in the 1930s.

As to what happened to lead Soviet Jews to risk Kremlin wrath not merely by applying for exit visas but by demonstrations to insure international publicity for their actions, observers inside Russia trace it to the 1967 Arab-Israeli War.

The war, these observers say, gave Soviet Jews a new sense of religion and ethnic origin.

Analysis

The Soviet Union denies all charges of anti-Semitism, although anti-Semitism has a long history in Russia. It further declares that assimilation is reducing the number of Jews in the Soviet Union. The total is uncertain but is believed to be about 2.7 million. Of these, it is said perhaps 300,000 would like to emigrate.

A unique bond links Soviet Jewry and Israel.

Settlers from Russia and neighboring states in Eastern Europe played a huge early role in the early building of the state of Israel.

Approximately half of the top officials in today's Israeli government have their cultural origins in Russia. Until the

Thursday, November 11, 1971/Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 15

Soviet Union broke relations with Israel in 1967, Russian ambassador serving in Israel had no difficulty being understood in their native tongue.

The lowering of Soviet bars to emigration to Israel has been carried out over the objections of the Arabs who see in it an addition to Israel's economic and military strength.

This alone has led to the further speculation that Soviet planners are looking ahead to settlement of the Mideast conflict and to a renewal of relations with Israel.

Latest economic decisions given

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Questions and answers based on the government's latest economic decisions:

Q. Will prices go up when the freeze ends at midnight Saturday?

A. Some undoubtedly will, but which ones and the amounts by which they will rise should become clear today when the Price Commission hands down its guidelines.

Q. Will wages go up as of Sunday?

A. Some will — specifically those for persons due a raise during the freeze, or for whom a new contract was negotiated since Aug. 15. But the raise will start as of Sunday and will not be retroactive to when the freeze began, except in a few special cases.

Q. Then is it correct to say the freeze really expires at midnight Saturday?

A. Not exactly. Most wages and prices will be allowed to rise but only to a specified level determined by the Pay Board and Price Commission. Other areas may stay frozen until government policy makers come to a decision. The rule is: Your pay, price or rent is frozen until the government specifically says it isn't.

Q. What companies will have to tell the government in advance that they are raising their prices and will have to ask for permission to do so?

A. Those with annual sales of $100 million or more. This covers the 1,300 biggest U.S. firms who account for 45 per cent of all U.S. sales.

Q. What about smaller companies which want to raise their prices?

A. Those with sales of from $50 million to $100 million will have to tell the government every three months — but not in advance — of changes in prices, costs and profits. This covers 1,100 firms doing 5 per cent of the total U.S. business. Firms with sales under $50 million will not have to report but will be spot-checked by the government.

Q. What firms must get advance government approval before giving their employees a raise?

A. Those with 5,000 or more employees covered by the raise.

Q. What about smaller firms?

A. Those where from 1,000 to 5,000 employees are covered by the raise must tell the government what the raise is and how many are covered, at the time the raise becomes effective. Those with fewer than 1,000 workers will not have to report but will be monitored by the government.

Q. What if the government decides a pay raise or a price hike is bigger than its guidelines?

A. It can order the firm involved to roll back the increases to an acceptable level. If the firm refused the government could file a civil suit against it.

Strong position urged by Andrus

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's delegates to the White House Conference on Aging ended a two-day session Wednesday after they were urged by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to seek a strong federal position on senior citizens' problems.

The 22-member delegation to the Nov. 28 conference in Washington, D. C., laid final plans for assuring Idaho's proposals, drawn up earlier this year, will be included in policy proposals to come from 14 section conferences on different areas of concern.

Andrus told the delegation "Golden Age people need equal treatment and they need a national framework to insure that equity."

He said the Idahoans' participation will be helpful to state government when the national conference report is finalized.

Among the numerous proposals the Idaho group has submitted to the conference are those recommending:

— Federal funding for residential surroundings for elderly persons who need attention but not the nursing home care;

— State and local responsibility for safety, comfort and convenience of pedestrians or drivers or users of transportation in conformance with federal and local regulations;

— Development of comprehensive health problems on a national level to encompass all ages with specific consideration provided to meet the needs of the elderly;

— Increased emphasis on undergraduate and professional education, research and in-service training for health workers and — A federal policy assuring older people a basic income floor through use of general revenue funds in addition to the contributory social security system.

Gen. Westmoreland speaks in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — General William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, told a Veterans Day observance that the United States must maintain its military guard in the face of a growing Soviet threat.

"Growing Soviet capabilities at a time when we are substantially cutting back our forces should concern all Americans," he said Wednesday night in the tabernacle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. "Clearly we are assuming risks in our search for peace. And certainly there is a level below which our Armed Forces cannot be prudently reduced or denied resources," he said.

But he said there is a danger that current anti-war feeling can become anti-military.

"Not only does this create difficulties in attaining the quality Americans needed for a first-rate defense force, but the anti-military sentiment that we currently see in our land can only serve to distort the view that any potential adversary takes of us," he said.

In dress blues with the golden pipes of the famed tabernacle organ behind him, Westmoreland said, "In the realpolitik environment of world politics, it is the demonstrated attitudes of the people, the apparent national will, that greatly influence the actions of nations."

The Army chief also pointed out that reserve components are playing a much greater role in contingency planning and total force calculations. He said that the Army is placing great emphasis on the ROTC as its primary source of commissioned officers.

River corridor study agreed

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — The Bingham County Regional Planning Commission and the State Planning and Community Affairs Agency agreed Wednesday on terms of a study of the populated Snake River corridor.

The agreement calls for the plan to be handled through the State Planning Agency with two-thirds of the $18,000 cost to be financed by a grant from the federal Housing and Urban Development Department and the other third by the commission.

The plan will be prepared by Arlo Nelson of Environmental Planning Group, Inc., with concentration on the corridor and the cities of Aberdeen, Blackfoot and Shelly. Nelson is to begin work next week.

The commission agreed to pay the state agency $4,000 by Dec. 31. Work is to be completed by June 30, 1972.

Hansen conducts pollution poll

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressman Orval Hansen said today voters favor placing the burden of financing pollution abatement programs on the polluters themselves, according to a poll he recently conducted in the second district.

Hansen said he offered several approaches to fighting pollution and asked constituents to select one or more they would support. Some 43 per cent said they favored user fees taxes on all polluters and users of water for complete financing of federal water pollution abatement programs.

He added that 36 per cent supported requiring manufacturers to prevent pollution even if it meant they charged higher prices for their products.

The Idaho Republican said 24 per cent favored leaving pollution problems up to the states, 21 per cent favored spending more money and passing stricter laws and 19 per cent favored enacting the president's $10 billion clean water program. Two per cent were undecided.

Scouts meet in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told a gathering of Eagle Scouts in Boise Wednesday night "that the advantages of youth and good health must not be allowed to vanish into drug dependency."

The scouts were attending the annual eagle recognition dinner sponsored by the Ore-Idaho Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

2 solutions to money bind

(Editors note: A taxpayer can find himself in a financial bind from time to time and exactly the same thing can happen to a state agency. Here, in the fourth of five dispatches on the state budget system, are the two alternatives open to state agencies.)

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI) — Almost every teenager dependent on an allowance has had to face the prospect at one time or another of asking his parents for a little extra cash to tide him over.

That can happen when available money just won't stretch which could happen if the price of school lunches suddenly rises — or when an extraordinary expense, such as the yearly prom, arises.

State agencies can find themselves in the same situation and when that happens there are two solutions available: A supplemental appropriation or a payment from the governor's emergency fund.

The governor's emergency fund could be called the state's "sugarbowl." It is a fund to be spent only for costs not foreseen by the legislature and requests for money from the fund must be made directly to the governor.

In the 1967-69 biennium the legislature appropriated $250,000 to the emergency fund, in 1969-71 $400,000 and for the current fiscal year $200,000.

But unlike a sugarbowl, the money can't accumulate for a long period of time. Any money left over at the end of a fiscal period reverts to the general fund and the legislature appropriates a new sum.

Acting Budget Director D.E. "Skip" Chilberg reports there is a "lot of pressure on the governor" for payments from the emergency fund.

"It gets to the point of the ridiculous sometimes," he said. A brief check of in the state auditor's office shows some of the withdrawals made from the fund:

—$15,000 on July 9, 1969, to the Buhl Highway District to repair flood damaged roads.

—$2,671 on April 22, 1970, to a living service to fight grasshopper infestation in Clearwater, Latah and Nez Perce Counties.

—Various withdrawals totaling $778 to pay some expenses for the inauguration of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

—And three withdrawals of $22,205, $34,051 and $60,530 to pay off some firefighting bills incurred in the 1966-67 fire seasons.

Another way to get more money is to ask the legislature for a supplemental appropriation.

A homeowner facing unforeseen expenses could go to a bank for a loan. But when a state agency gets more money from the legislature it does not have to repay the amount and is not charged interest — it is simply given the amount needed if the legislature approves.

In 1971 the Department of Public Assistance got an extra $732,000 from the legislature and in 1970 the State Health Department received a $1,221,724 supplemental appropriation.

It's not always easy, of course, to ask for a supplement-

Latest figures released by the United States Department of Agriculture notes there are more than 4.7 million bee colonies in America with the average colony yielding 41.9 pounds of honey a year.

al appropriation. Some agencies might not want to be reminded for the next few years about the time the legislature had to bail them out of their financial difficulties.

Chilberg said a request for a supplemental appropriation should mean one of three things: The agency had costs it had not anticipated the agency did not budget its money properly, or the legislature itself "had just not accepted the responsibility of funding the agency properly the first time." (Tomorrow: The battle of the budget)

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—A slow, early morning stock market decline accelerated as trading turned the halfway point Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off more than 7 points at 818.85 after being off around 4 points at 11 a.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.80 at 92.61, and declines led advances, 929 to 337, among the 1,575 issues on the tape.

Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 7,810,000 shares, up from 7,140,000 shares traded at a comparable period the previous session.

Uncertain about the economy, world monetary concern and selling for tax purposes were among the items pressing on the stock market.

The Federal Reserve Band of New York noted an overall sluggishness in the nation's economy, but pending legislation and other factors should aid the improvement.

In its November review, the Bank said that while the recovery in production and employment has been weak, the drop in the unemployment rate in September and October is encouraging.

Steels and motors surrendered fractions on the New York Stock Exchange. Monsanto lost 1% in the chemicals, and Superior Oil dropped 2 in its group. Atlantic Richfield fell a point.

UAL Inc. eased 1% among the airlines, while weak electronics included IBM down 6%, Burroughs 1%, Magnavox 1%, Motorola 1%, and Zenith 2%.

United Aircraft, by far the day's most active stock showed a loss of 1/4 on 222,700 shares traded. The aerospace manufacturer reported lower third quarter earnings early in the week.

T.F. hosts Minico; Shoshone, Wendell, Jerome set playoffs

Twin Falls hosts Minico in the finale regular season game of the year while Jerome, Shoshone and Wendell all taste playoff competition in the final weekend of Magic Valley football.

Twin Falls will entertain the Spartans at 2 p.m. Friday in a rare afternoon clash; Jerome, SCIC champion, will be at Bishop Kelly at 8 p.m. Friday; Shoshone travels to Homedale at 1 p.m. Saturday while Wendell entertains Middleton at the same time.

Twin Falls holds an 8-1 series advantage over Minico and is favored to win again in this battle of Southern Idaho Conference also-rans. Twin Falls started well and ran up a 5-1 decision before running into a three-game losing spell. The Bruins have to win to finish above .500.

Minico, which has had its share of problems since before the season began, is looking for victory No. 3.

"I really can't understand Minico's record or at least the way some teams have piled up big scores against them," says Twin Falls Coach Norm Thomas. "They really hit and they hit hard throughout the game."

Minico's biggest problem has been a lack of speed, overall as well as in the backfield.

Coach Corky Hill also believes his charges are capable of winning this one and could have won a couple more. The Spartans held Idaho Falls to minus yardage which is difficult even against a losing-record team.

"That was our best team effort," Coach Hill said afterward. Last year's meeting between the two produced a real offensive explosion with Twin Falls piling up a big lead at halftime and then fighting off its back through the second half. The game was filled with wild plays and freak situations.

First, third quarters pose problems for BSC opponents

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State head football Coach Tony Knap must be telling his squad something special because the Broncos have been decimating their opponents in first and third quarter scoring.

After the pre-game pep talk, Boise State has gone out and outscored their nine foes in the first period by a cumulative 86-24 margin. After the halftime speech, the count is 73-38 in favor of BSC.

By comparison, Boise State is just slightly ahead of opponents in second period scoring, 58-51, and behind in last stanza scoring, 64-57.

The outcome of Saturday night's Big Sky clash with Idaho State University in Pocatello may hinge on how well the Broncos do in their two big periods all season.

A Boise State win over the Bengals will lock up the Big

Jerome will be seeking a school record of 11 victories in a season but more importantly trying to nail down an undefeated season. The only comparative score is Sky crown for the Broncos in only their second year of league competition. BSC is 4-1 in loop play, 8-1 overall, and fourth-ranked in the latest United Press International small college poll.

Boise State leads the University of Idaho by a half step in the Big Sky standings. The Vandals are 3-1 with one game against Montana State this Saturday remaining on their league schedule. A Boise State win would give them a 5-1 final mark and the crown. But even if both teams played the same number of games and finished tied, Boise State would get the nod by virtue of a 42-14 thumping of the Vandals in the season opener.

Idaho State, 5-3, is coming off two straight shutout wins, 37-0 over Portland State and 27-0 over the University of Nevada-Reno. The Bengals are 1-2 in conference action and are seeking their first win over BSC in four years. Last year the Broncos came out on top 24-3.

But Knap said Wednesday of the Bengals, "Offensively, they have put a lot of points on the scoreboard and trying to stop them is sure to put grey hairs on anybody's head."

He said Idaho State "wants to make up for three years of frustration and they'll be coming as hard as they can."

The job of stopping the Bengal offense will fall largely to Bronco linebacker John Walker and defensive end Ray Rodriguez. Walker with 76 tackles and Rodriguez with 71 lead the team.

On offense, Bronco quarterback Eric Guthrie is within range of the 2,000 mark for total offensive yardage.

The "Canadian rifle" has 1,829 yards and 18 scores and his favorite receiver, sophomore Don Hutt, has grabbed 59 aerials for 801 yards and eight touchdowns.

For Idaho State, Tom Lee leads another strong passing show with 1,415 yards and six scores. His favorite receiver is sophomore Tom Hofmann with 55 receptions for 913 yards and six touchdowns. Hofmann is battling Hutt for the conference reception lead. Hutt has 59 going into the Bengal game.

found against common opponent Burley. Kelly nipped the Bobcats 7-5 while Jerome defeated 28-13 after an air tight first half. The Tigers take the SCIC's leading passer in Bill Childers and the season rushing champion in Jeff Weigle into the fray.

Wendell hopes to continue a late season rush that carried the Trojans from a 1-3 record into a 7-3.

Coach Yogi Behrens saw Middleton play last week and believes the teams match up pretty well. "They have a couple of small, quick backs and like to use a lot of rollouts and wide action with them," he reports. "I think the lines will be close to the same size."

Middleton is the runner-up in the Southwest Idaho Conference and Wendell, although a co-champion in the Little Five, got the runner-up designation through a flip of the coin.

The winner of the coin flip, Shoshone, appears to have the toughest chore of the lot against Homedale. Homedale raced through everything in its league last year and used 10 sophomores and two freshmen doing it. Homedale is expected to be tough for the next couple of years, needless to say.

Shoshone will take 14 seniors into the battle who, as Coach Bill Closson says, are "too little but they like to play football." Sharing of the Little Five loop crown marks the first ornamental hardware the Indians have earned since 1954.

Also-ran Idaho State can settle which rival will cop Big Sky title

POCATELLO — No matter how you look at it, Saturday's Idaho State-Boise State football game is THE game of the year in Idaho. If ISU wins that hands the conference championship to Idaho. If the Broncos win their reward is first place in the Big Sky Conference.

The contest will be held in the ASISU Minidome starting at 7:30 Saturday, and if you don't have your tickets, forget it and listen on the Bengals' Network to Wayne Dzubak and Larry Eckenrode.

Idaho State has never beaten Boise in the three meetings since Boise became a four-year school. It is definitely not coincidental that Boise's quarterback in the three games has been Eric Guthrie. The Canadian who has been Big Sky Back of the Week three times this campaign will again be at the controls for Coach Tony Knap's Broncos.

As Boise goes, so goes Guthrie, and Guthrie has gone well for the seventh-ranked BSC team. He leads the conference in passing, total offense, scoring, and punting. His passing stats read: 286 throws, 125 completions, 1833 yards, 18 TD's. His total offense is 1829 yards, and he's scored 78 points. Guthrie finds a different way every week to beat you. His five field goals (an NCAA Record) beat Northern Arizona 22-17 last week. Idaho State is well aware that the chance of a win hinges on stopping the versatile Mr. Guthrie. The Bronco running game is led by Gary Hoshaw, 487 yards, fullback Ken Johnson, 289 yards, and halfback Pat Riley, 383 yards.

When Guthrie throws, it's to wide receivers Don Hutt and Al Marshall, 59 and 37 receptions respectively.

Boise rolls up 407 yards a game, but allows 390. The latter is a deceiving figure. Big Sky foes get nothing, and teams from the Evergreen Conference like Eastern Washington and Central Washington get all the yardage, but no victories.

Bronco defensive strong point is a linebacking crew that includes Ray Rodriguez, Steve Vogel, and John Walker.

To call this weekend's game a civil war wouldn't be out of line as far as the family of Salvador Rodriguez, Pittsburg, Calif., is concerned. He has sons playing on both teams, Ray for BSC, and Larry for Idaho State.

The Bengals will counter Mr. Guthrie and company with a fine defense that has posted back to back shutouts over Nevada Reno and Portland State and a passing attack that was rated eighth in the country last week. Tom Lee, fifth-rated passer, throws to Tom Hofmann, third ranked receiver, plus Tom Ude, Mike Hancock, and a host of running backs who can all catch the ball.

Dog Creek lake clean-up started

GOODING — A vegetation house cleaning of Dog Creek Reservoir, seven miles west of Gooding, will be completed in the next week to 10 days as the Idaho Fish and Game Department already has begun lowering the warm-water impoundment.

Bob Bell, regional fishery biologist, reports the project will duplicate one carried out in 1962. By clearing the vegetation, the department will increase fish growth and space and also that open to anglers.

Bell said stunted bass and blue gill are predominant in the lake and while there are some trout, their size and growth rate is negligible. Bell explained the heavy vegetation provides hiding sanctuary for minnows and young fish that otherwise might be eaten by the older and larger fish. This compounds the problem since it means greater survival and increased foot competition.

When the amount of food is not sufficient to go around, the fish begin stunting, characterized by large heads and short, thin bodies. The fish in the impoundment will be caught in a catch basin immediately below the dam and they will be transplanted into Carey Lake and Bray Lake, eight miles west of Dog Creek. Some will be retained over the winter at the Hagerman hatchery and spawned, with the fry being put back in Dog Creek Reservoir. Bell added trout would also be planted next spring.

Idaho staff reported in good shape

MOSCOW (UPI) — All season long coach Don Robbins has been reporting daily on the condition of his University of Idaho Vandals. Wednesday he reported on the condition of his coaching staff during Tuesday's practice session.

Robbins said Ray Fulton, defensive coordinator, was a little slow getting onto the field because of a heavy cold but said "he rounded into shape as the session progressed."

The coach also said offensive coordinator Bobby Thompson was pleased that his new elevator coaching shoes had finally arrived to put him on equal footing with his quarterbacks. Thompson is 5-foot-7 and Tom Ponciano and Bruce Cole are 6-foot-2, while Rick Seefried and Bucky Bruns stand six foot even.

Robbins said the team was in fine physical shape, better than the coaching staff, as it prepares for its final Big Sky conference game of the year—against Montana State here Saturday.

Leaders hold spots in AFC data

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a familiar note to the American Football Conference individual statistics this week.

All the leaders from last week, including Bob Griese of Miami; Billy Parks of San Diego and Larry Csonka of Miami in the passing, receiving and rushing categories, retained their No. 1 positions.

But there were some new faces on top of the AFC standings. Roger Staubach of Dallas, handed the No. 1 job by coach Tom Landry, took over the top position in the AFC passing statistics. He replaced Billy Kilmer, the Washington quarterback who was booted by the fickle Redskins fans last week for his inability to move the Skins against Philadelphia. Kilmer dropped to sixth in the standings.

Another Washington player, Larry Brown of Washington, dropped to second in the rushing department behind Steve Owens of Detroit.

But Curt Knight of Washington stayed on top in the scoring category and Dick Gordon of Chicago stayed in first place in the receiving department.

Nicklaus and Trevino rated heavy favorites

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Defending champions Bruce Devlin and David Graham of Australia were first on the tee today to start the 19th World Cup golf tournament, but the heavy betting was on the U. S. team of Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino.

Two-man teams from 46 countries are entered in the 76-hole tournament over the PGA's 7,096-yard East course, a tough layout anytime and tougher now because of rains that have made the ground soft and the grass long.

The golfers will be playing for glory and not for money. First prize for the winning team is $1,000 each and another $1,000 goes to the individual low scorer. As Nicklaus says, it's less than he makes for a one-minute television commercial.

But the blond "golden bear" of the U. S. professional golf tour and "Super Mex" Trevino say they'll go all out to win for the United States. They were scheduled to tee off shortly before noon, among the last of the teams.

Given the best chance of beating the Americans were Devlin and Graham, the English team of Tony Jacklin and Peter Oosterhuis, and South Africans Gary Player and Harold Henning. Player and Henning won in 1965.

Neither of the Americans was spectacular in Wednesday's pro-am round, which they played with Jackie Gleason and Bob Hope. Nicklaus shot a 70, two under par, and Trevino a 74 over the breezy course.

"The course is going to be a little tougher than it was for the PGA," said Nicklaus, who won that tournament in February. He said he figured if he and Trevino can each average 282—for a team total of 564 for the four-day contest—"that ought to be pretty good."

"I didn't play well," Trevino complained after his pro-am round. "But I had fun." His biggest trouble was with his putting.

Low individual scorer in the Wednesday round was Chi Chi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico with a 69. Player had a 70, and so did Japan's Haruo Yasuda.

Most of the players will be using the European "small ball," which weighs the same as the ball used on the U. S. golfing tour but hits longer. Nicklaus complained Wednesday that the smaller ball "makes golf too easy."

Stars pull past Nets

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Utah Stars began mounting a balanced attack late in the third period and carried the momentum through the final quarter for a 127-110 victory over the New York Nets Wednesday night.

The Stars maintained a slim edge as the American Basketball Association Western Division leader, despite a combined 60-point scoring performance by Nets Bill Melchionni and Rick Barry. Melchionni was game-high with 34, while Barry scored 26.

New York played cat and mouse with the Stars through 2 1-2 quarters, keeping in front by slim margins and always stalling any Stars' spurts.

Pacers hit 154 points

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers put on their biggest offensive show of the season Wednesday in rolling to a 154-125 American Basketball Association victory over Pittsburgh.

The Pacers, who trailed early at the half, never got closer than eight points in the second half, but Indiana didn't put the game away for good until the final period.

Alston signs 19th one-year contract with Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—For the 19th season, Walter Alston will manage the Los Angeles Dodgers next year, making quiet news in his unflappable fashion.

The Dodgers made it official Wednesday when they announced that he has been "rewarded with his 19th one-year contract."

Dodger president Walter O'Malley, a lawyer among other accomplishments, wouldn't give his own grandmother a contract of more than one year's duration.

Alston, who will be 60 Dec. 1, got the Dodger job in the first place because he was willing to sign for just one year and he's never complained since. Charlie Dressen who had the job wanted a long-term contract and when O'Malley wouldn't give him one, they parted.

That was in 1954 when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn and Alston was an unknown minor league manager who had one time at bat as a player in the majors.

Alston won his first pennant and World Series with the Dodgers in 1955. After the Dodgers moved West in 1958, he captured the pennant and the World Series again the next year.

He thus became the only man to manage a club on both coasts and win pennants and World Series with it.

During his 18 years as Dodger manager, Alston has won six pennants, four World Series, has finished second five times, third once, fourth twice, and has had only four clubs under the 500 mark at the season's end.

In 1970, he matched the tenure of the late Wilbert "Uncle Robbie" Robinson, who had 18 years from 1914 through 1931.

History shows only three managers with more longevity—John McGraw of the old New York Giants with 31 years (1902-1932); Connie Mack of the old Philadelphia Athletics with 50 years (1901-1950), and Cap Anson of the Chicago Cubs with 19 years (1879-1897).

The Dodgers did not disclose Alston's salary. Some years ago he went over $50,000 and it seems certain he now is approaching the $100,000 milestone.

Alston is most admired among baseball men for his ability to take success and failure without emotional turmoil. During 1971, his team came into contention late after being 11 games off the pace.

The stretch run fell short and the Dodgers ended in second place one game back of the San Francisco Giants. During the hectic last days of the season, Alston was always the calmest man on the field and in the clubhouse.

Georgia, Auburn pit undefeated records

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Coaches Vince Dooley of Georgia and Shug Jordan of Auburn are in firm agreement about one thing in connection with Saturday's showdown between the Bulldogs and the Tigers: it's the biggest challenge either team has faced in years.

"I guess you would say this is the biggest game we've ever prepared for here at Georgia," said Dooley as he got his sixth-ranked, unbeaten, untied Bulldogs ready for a visit from the fifth-ranked, unbeaten, untied Tigers.

"This game is the biggest Auburn's been associated with since I've been at Auburn," said Jordan who became head coach of the Tigers back in 1961. "There hasn't been a buildup for a game like this one that I can remember."

Georgia, featuring a strong running game and a strong defense, is rated a 3-point favorite over aerial-minded Auburn for their 75th meeting in the South's oldest rivalry.

Sanford Stadium, which holds about 60,000 when you count temporary seats on the bridge, has been sold out for weeks and some frantic fans reportedly are offering up to $50 for a ticket.

Dooley seems to feel that the outcome of this battle of unbeaten—an outcome that is expected to decide the Southeastern Conference race and a berth in the Sugar Bowl depends on how well Georgia defends Pat Sullivan.

Sullivan, the South's leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy, has passed and run for 1,737 yards and 18 touchdowns this season and for 4,485 yards and 67 touchdowns in three seasons. He needs one more touchdown pass to equal the SEC record of 50 set by Babe Barritt in four seasons at Kentucky.

"Sullivan is an amazing athlete," said Dooley. "Together with (split end) Terry Beasley, Auburn has the best passing combination I've ever seen."

L.A. pins big loss on 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Los Angeles Lakers handed the Philadelphia 76ers their second worst defeat in history Wednesday night, 143-103, behind Gail Goodrich's 34 points and high-scoring performances by four of his teammates.

Los Angeles picked up its fifth consecutive victory with ease, rolling to a 39-20 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 72-45 halftime advantage. It was also Los Angeles' fourth victory in a row at the Spectrum.

Pistons top Trail Blazers

DETROIT (UPI)—Earl Lloyd's debut as coach was good Wednesday night the Detroit Pistons could even afford to give the opposition a basket in their 139-122 National Basketball Association victory over the Portland Trail Blazers.

The Pistons led 104-82 at the start of the fourth quarter when Bob Lanier won the tip and Curtis Rowe went down and dunked a bucket at the wrong end of the court. It was Detroit's fault for lining up the wrong way and the basket was credited to Portland's Dale Schlueter, as he was the nearest player to the play.

Bucks rally past Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks fought their way back twice from behind to beat the Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night 116-110.

For Milwaukee, it was the fifth straight victory and 14th of the season against one loss. It was Atlanta's fifth straight loss. Atlanta took the lead early in the second quarter and held it until late in the third quarter, and then took it back again and led by five with nine minutes left.

But turnovers and spotty defense gave Milwaukee the win. Lou Hudson of Atlanta led all scorers with 39 points and Walt Bellamy had 27. Kareem Jabbar led the Bucks with 33 and Bobby Dandridge had 24.

Celtics rip Rockets

HOUSTON (UPI)—Dave Cowens and John Havlicek pumped the Boston Celtics to a 43-point third quarter and an easy 142-103 triumph over the sagging Houston Rockets Wednesday night.

Cowens scored 11 points and Havlicek 10 in the big third period. Cowens had 29 points after three quarters and Havlicek 28 to lead the Celtics' scoring. Both sat out the final quarter.

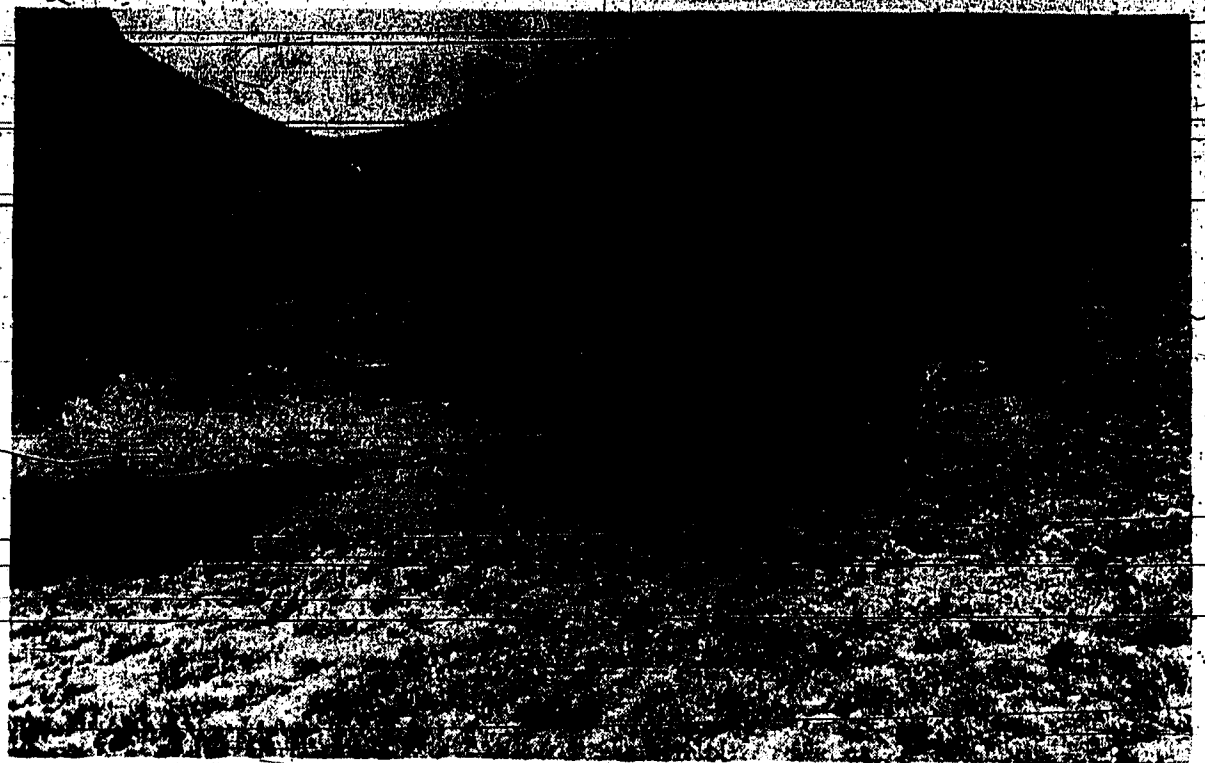

Elvin Hayes of the Rockets led both teams with 30 points. The victory was the sixth straight for the Celtics and their 10th in 12 games this season. Houston is now 2-13.

Squires nip Floridians

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Roland Taylor's layup on a stolen in-bounds pass with 1:34 left to play sealed a 119-116 victory for the Virginia Squires over the Floridians Wednesday night.

Taylor's steal, with the Squires leading 117-116, broke the momentum with which the Floridians rallied from a 110-103 deficit in an effort to overtake the Eastern Division leaders.

A tap-in and a free throw by center Ira Harge narrowed the gap to one point and the Floridians regained possession when Harge rebounded an errant shot by the Squires' Charlie Scott.

SALMON FALLS CREEK is undergoing a change with installation of a barrier that will prevent trash fish from Salmon Reservoir going up stream into Shoshone basin and Nevada streams. Slated for completion about Jan. 1, the barrier is being installed by the Bureau of Land Management. Flow now is possible through a diversion to the right of the barrier site.

Construction starts

Fish barrier set for Salmon Falls

JACKPOT—With the aid of two wildlife departments and a $117,300 barrier installed by the Bureau of Land Management, Idaho's trash fish population in Salmon Falls Reservoir will be kept out of Nevada and Southern Idaho tributary streams.

Footings for the project, located about eight miles west of Jackpot and 12 miles above the impoundment, have been poured by contractors and completion is expected by the first of the year.

The venture is part of Nevada's bid to return Salmon Falls Creek into a productive trout stream. Next summer the Nevada department will conduct an extensive chemical eradication throughout the drainage. Idaho will participate by putting fish toxicant through Shoshone Creek and its tributaries. The barrier then should prevent an easy reinfestation by trash fish.

Bob Bell, regional biologist for the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said all the streams will be restocked with trout.

The barrier also will blunt Idaho's bid to start a natural run of Kokanee (redfish) up the Salmon Falls reservoir tributaries but Bell said this should prove no inconvenience to Idaho anglers.

A weir will be installed in conjunction with the barrier and the upstream migrants will be caught in it. The Idaho department then will artificially spawn the bulk of the run, perhaps dipping a few over the barrier to continue upstream if the numbers are sufficient. He added almost all the resulting fry would be returned to Salmon Falls Reservoir.

Last year was the first big run of Kokanee out of Salmon Falls Reservoir with about 1,200 counted on a gravel spawning bar in Nevada.

Revitalized Gem panel given help

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—A revitalized Idaho Commission on Women's Programs worked hard enough this year to pick up some high-level support for its annual plea for financial backing.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said he plans to include in his executive budget a request for $5,000 to fund the commission which exists by statute but has never had an appropriation.

The commission, he said, has done an "outstanding job in analyzing some of the problem areas in state government and coming up with constructive suggestions. I certainly hope that the legislature will see fit to fund them in the coming year."

The commission's life has not been a particularly easy one. Created by executive order of former Gov. Robert E. Smylie in 1965, the commission had little support and no money to work with.

It managed to win statutory approval in the 1970 legislature, but its members were not appointed until December of that year, and then by former Gov. Don Samuelson—who made his choices known just four days before he left office.

Without money, members who had to pay for their own meals and transportation were of times reluctant to attend the meetings. It was not until Andrus agreed to pick up the tab from his emergency fund that things picked up.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, chairman of the commission, said the new outlook is "just a combination of circumstances because we've always been interested, we've always been concerned with the problems women are facing."

But, she admitted, people are more receptive to the commission partly because "we've been able to do more because we are financed somewhat."

Dividing itself into task forces to study various areas, the committee managed to submit its first report to Andrus and members of the legislature. Areas of study included educational development and career choices for women, jail conditions in Idaho, day care and other child development needs, low income housing problems including migrant housing conditions and women's wages.

"Still to come is a new study on financial problems facing women: Credit ratings, insurance privileges and tax exemptions for such things as child care costs."

The first step in that direction was taken by former State Sen. Diane Bilyeu, D-Pocatello, a commission member who drew up the report on women's wages.

"If Martinis and trips and taxis and numerous entertainments are legitimate expenses necessary for nearly all business enterprises, surely the expense necessary for the care of her children should be legitimate ones for a working mother and totally so," Mrs. Bilyeu said.

The report said the "as yet untapped resources of woman power can so work that every citizen can receive his just portion of the great riches of the greatest nation on earth."

Andrus appears to agree, noting he has and intends to continue appointing women to "significant positions" in state government.

Crowd taunts lass

VICTIM OF tar and feather attack in Londonderry, Northern Ireland, was Martha Doherty, 19. Witnesses said three masked women dragged Miss Doherty from her home in Roman Catholic Bogside district Tuesday, tied her to post, shaved her head and poured tar over her. Crowd taunted girl as "soldier lover," accused her of dating British soldier. (UPI)

MOLINE, Ill. (UPI)—A full-bearded man, described by a doctor as "on a high flight of something or other," proclaimed there was a bomb aboard an American Airlines plane carrying 83 persons Wednesday and prompted an emergency landing at Quad Cities Airport.

All the passengers were evacuated safely, although one woman collapsed of an apparent heart seizure. FBI agents and other law officers moved in and arrested a 23-year-old man believed to be from New York City.

As the man was hustled from the 707 airliner, he was heard

Bomb report halts airliner flight

to tell an FBI agent, "just because I was scared I made all this up."

A demolition squad from the Savannah, Ill., Army Ordnance Depot, arrived by helicopter to make a search of the airliner along with FBI agents and bomb squad experts. However, it was not believed an explosive was aboard.

The flight, carrying 76 passengers and seven crew members, originated in Syracuse, N.Y., and landed at Detroit before heading for its final stops at Los Angeles and San Diego. An American 727 plane was dispatched from Chicago to Moline to carry the passengers on the remainder of their journey.

An American Airlines spokesman in Chicago said the plane's captain, Norman Andrews, made the decision to land at Quad Cities—an airport unaccustomed to receiving planes the size of a 707.

"He elected to land at Moline because the guy looked serious. He indicated he had a bomb," the spokesman said.

A doctor who boarded the plane at Detroit, Henry Schoch of the staff of the Veterans Hospital at Ann Arbor, Mich., said he noticed a slim, six-foot young man with a full black beard roaming the back of the plane.

"He appeared to be on drugs and looked ill so I went back to see if I could be of help," Schoch said. "He said he was all right but upon looking closer I felt he was on a high flight of something or other."

"The man said there was a bomb aboard that would explode at 3,000 feet."

Schoch said, "everyone took positions for a crash landing but there was no trouble leaving the plane."

Texas leads the nation in oil refining and is near the top in chemical making.

Chaplain received no death reports

FT. MEADE, Md. (UPI)—The head chaplain of the Americal Division at the time of the "My Lai" massacre testified today that he received no reports from troops of civilians being killed in the 1968 operation.

Col. Francis Lewis, the fifth witness called by the defense in the court martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson on My Lai cover-up charges, said that "not even in confession (to Catholic chaplains) was there any information brought out that anything had happened."

Lewis, a Methodist chaplain now assigned to Thailand, said that one of his chaplains, Capt. Carl E. Cresswell, relayed one complaint from a helicopter pilot about slaying of unarmed civilians.

But Lewis said that he later questioned Col. Frank Barker, head of the task force which made the assault on My Lai, and was told in effect that the complaint was unfounded.

The defense is seeking to rebut prosecution testimony to the effect that Henderson received full reports about wholesale killings of civilians at My Lai. Henderson is charged with failing to follow orders to investigate the incident and report on it, and with making a false official statement in pretrial investigations.

Russ plans won't change grain cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Even if Russian buyers expand their recently announced purchase of U.S. feed grains, administration farm officials probably won't change their plan to seek a sharp cut in American production next year, a government source said today.

Officials last week announced Russia will buy 80 million bushels of corn, 28 million bushels of barley and 21 million bushels of oats from private U.S. traders with deliveries running up to next June 30. Trade rumors since have hinted at the possibility of further feed grain sales to Russia for delivery during the current 1971-72 marketing season.

But even if Soviet corn purchases go to 160 million bushels this season, a high-ranking agriculture department official said, the administration is expected to stand by its announced plan to seek idling of 38 million acres on feed grain farms, more than double the 18 million acres retired in 1971.

This situation could change only if new export prospects for this season go well beyond the point officials currently consider possible, the source said.

The record-breaking 1971 corn crop, it was pointed out, was estimated by administration planners before

Producers study 1972 ASC options

TWIN FALLS — Between now and the sign-up period for the 1972 farm set-aside programs, Jan. 17-Feb. 25, producers will be carefully studying farm management options, said Carl Boyd, chairman of the Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation (ASCS) Committee.

Details of the feed grain programs for 1972 were announced in mid-October by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The 1972 wheat program had been announced by USDA in mid-July.

For feed grains the 1972 program raises the qualifying set-aside to 25 per cent of the base acreage and offers farmers two new options for additional voluntary set-aside. It also raises the feed grain set-aside payment. Included in the 1972 Feed Grain Program are corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

A wider choice in making their 1972 plans is offered to farmers with feed grain bases or wheat allotments since they may sign up for program participation and plant corn, grain sorghum, barley or wheat singly or in any combination to protect their farm base or allotment history.

As in 1971, set-aside programs put no limits on crop acreages. On feed grain grown on participating farms, loans will be available on all production, with national average loan levels of $1.08 per bushel for No. 2 corn, $1.79 per hundredweight for grain sorghum, and 86 cents per bushel for barley.

The loan level for oats will continue at 54 cents per bushel, and for rye at 89 cents per bushel. All oats and rye

Wool growers conclave slated

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Wool Growers Association will begin its 79th annual convention Sunday at the Rodeway Inn, with first-night activities to include the naming of the state winner of the Miss Wool Competition.

The general program will begin Monday, with speakers to include Gov. Cecil D. Andrus; Vern Vivion, Rawlins, Wyo., president of the National Wool Growers Association; Henry Hibbard, Helena, Mont., president of the American Sheep Producers Council, and G. H. Bishop, Portland, Ore., president of Pendleton Woolen Mills.

Those appearing Tuesday to discuss predators and their control include Dr. Richard Hall, Moscow, University of Idaho veterinarian, and Dr. Maurice Hornocker, Moscow, leader of the University of Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research unit.

Lincoln's 4-H awards night set

SHOSHONE — The annual 4-H awards night for Lincoln County members has been set for 8 p.m. Friday at the Magic Grange Hall north of town.

Fair premiums and award pins will be presented, Ivan Hopkins, county extension agent, said. Four-H members, parents and friends are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served by Magic Grange.

Another factor working against any dilution in the 1972 crop cutback program, is the possibility that this year's crop could turn out even bigger than the record 5.4 billion bushels already predicted. A new agriculture department estimate is due out at 3 p.m. EST. Thursday, but some private forecasters are already predicting the estimate will go up to over 5.5 billion bushels—enough to wipe out the effect of the Soviet sale.

The 38-million-acre cutback program, which administration leaders hope will help bring feed grain prices back from the low levels produced by this year's record crop, may cost the government about $1.8 billion in farm payments compared with $1.2 billion this year. Officials had said they were prepared to push retirement as high as 40 million acres and spending to $2 billion if export prospects weakened this season.

production is eligible for loan without being tied to farm program participation.

Farmers who sign up will set aside a qualifying acreage equal to 25 per cent of their farm's corn base, for which they will earn payments of 80 cents a bushel on the established farm yield times the acreage set-aside. (Same as 40 cents times established yield x 1/2 corn base).

At sign-up, a farmer may also, if he chooses, agree to set-aside up to 10 per cent more of his corn base, for which he will receive payment of 52 cents a bushel times the established farm yield on this additional acreage.

To assure that sufficient land is taken out of production Secretary Clifford M. Hardin is asking farmers, also at sign-up, to offer to set-aside an additional 5 or 10 per cent, at the 52 cents-a-bushel rate. If the regular set-aside is less than 38 million acres the Secretary of Agriculture will announce by Mid-March whether one or both of these offers will be accepted.

FOR BARLEY — Farmers who sign up will set aside a qualifying acreage equal to 25 per cent of their farm barley base, for which they will earn payments of 64 cents a bushel on the established farm yield times acreage set-aside. (Same as 32 cents times established yield times 1/2 barley base). At sign-up a farmer may agree, if he chooses, to set aside up to 20 per cent more of his barley base, for which he will receive payment of 42 cents a bushel times the established farm yield on this additional acreage.

QUOTATIONS ARE provided as a service to both farmers and buyers. Quotations are given the Times-News daily by each buyer. The newspaper, in addition, re-checks each firm twice-weekly. Responsibility for the price listed is solely the buyer's. NQ indicates the buyer does not wish to quote a price.

Girls get ready for pageant

Twin Falls picks new Junior Miss Nov. 27

Reigning Junior Miss, Janice Cook

TWIN FALLS — A field of 10 high school students from Twin Falls County has entered this year's Twin Falls Junior Miss Pageant.

Tom Hewlett and Mrs. Larry Utley, chairman of the pageant sponsored by the Twin Falls Jaycees and Jay-Cettes, said contestants from Twin Falls, Filer, Kimberly, Castleford and Hansen are entered.

The pageant, set for Nov. 27, will be at 8 p.m. at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

Reigning Twin Falls Junior Miss, Janice Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cook, Twin Falls, will be on hand to crown the new Junior Miss. She also will act as mistress of ceremonies and hand out awards.

Miss Cook, a 1971 graduate of Twin Falls High School is attending Utah State University, Logan, where she is majoring in genetics.

This Saturday the 10 contestants will be featured in a parade through Twin Falls. At that time the girls will draw winning tickets for the downtown merchants first anniversary celebration.

Judges for the contest are Mrs. Margaret Vincent, former Mrs. Idaho and mother of Laura Vincent, past Twin Falls Junior Miss; Mrs. Helen Henderson, runner-up to the National Mother of the Year and county youth probation officer; Ken Mann, district manager for Mountain Bell; Denis Vollmer, Jaycee, and Juan Manchaca, Twin Falls hair stylist. Tom Wojcik is chairman of the judges committee.

Choreographer for the pageant is Beverly Hackney and charm and model consultant is Nancy Haven.

Contestants in the pageant will compete for the right to enter the Idaho Junior Miss contest in January at Moscow, at last year's state pageant there were more than 50 girls entered.

Contestants in the Twin Falls Junior Miss Pageant this year are Pam Miller, Filer; Carla Homan, Kimberly; Judy Gott, Kimberly; Charlette Presnell, Kimberly; Linda Ripa, Castleford; Rene LaGrone, Castleford; Susan Greenup, Twin Falls; Sandra Casperson, Twin Falls; Jeannine Berry, Twin Falls, and Katie Rasmussen, Hansen.

The 10 girls entered in the pageant have been practicing two nights a week since the first of September. They also have been working individually on their own talent presentations.

Jeannine Berry, a senior at Twin Falls High School, will present a piano solo for her pageant talent.

Miss Berry is drill mistress, a member of National Honor Society, president of the music club, belongs to Girls League and is active in her church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berry, she is being sponsored by Macie's.

A Junior Miss — what is she?

TWIN FALLS — What is a Junior Miss? She is not necessarily the most typical or the most outstanding teenage girl.

She is what is termed the "ideal teenager." She is a girl you would be proud to have for your own daughter.

She is natural, and has the freshness, purity, vitality and ambition to make her life better. She isn't necessarily a "real brain" but she is intelligent.

She isn't a polished professional, but is poised in keeping with her age.

She is beautiful, but Junior Miss pageants use a different definition of beautiful than most other pageants.

Pageant officials say that external beauty is important, but they would add to it what Bacon had in mind when he said, "That is the best part of beauty which a picture cannot express."

A Junior Miss has the freshness and loveliness of youth.

She has the courtesy and manners of a lady. She has enthusiasm for life, meeting new people, seeing new places, learning new things. She has the ability to inspire others.

She has a natural beauty, without too much glamour.

She has a youthful confidence.

She is mentally and morally immaculate. She is delicate, but strong, like a nylon string. She is genuinely interested in continuing her education.

The 10 contestants in this year's Twin Falls Junior Miss Pageant will be judged on how they rate in these and other things.

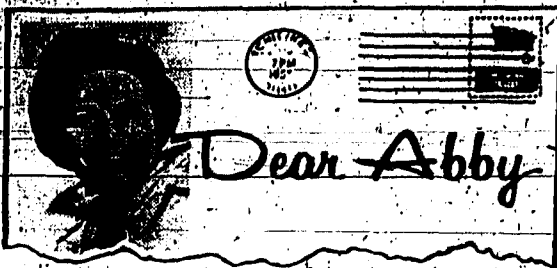

They can receive a possible 35 points from a judges' conference, 20 points from creative and performing arts, 15 points from youth fitness, 15 points from poise and appearance, and 15 points for scholastic achievement.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Teen-agers have a very common problem. Will you help us, please?

I asked my very understanding grandfather why so many teen-agers hate their parents, and he said, "Probably because of the parents' snooping."

I think my grandfather is right. Lots of parents (especially mothers) open their children's mail. My grandfather says it is a federal offense to open another person's mail. Does this include teen-agers?

If kids have a legal right to such privacy, how can they enforce it? STEVE

DEAR STEVE: My legal beagle says, "It is federal offense to tamper, interfere with, or improperly obtain possession of mail addressed to another."

However, if a minor resides with his parent, the parent may (a) open the minor's mail without his consent, (b) destroy the mail of the minor without his permission, (c) instruct the postal authorities to send the minor's mail directly to the parent instead of to the minor, (d) instruct the postal authorities to withhold the mail from the minor.

In plain language Steve, parents DO have a legal right to open their children's mail.

But HAVING a right, and exercising it are two different things, and since children learn from example, the best way to teach children to respect the privacy of others is to respect theirs.

DEAR ABBY: Recently at my mother in law's house, my child asked me a direct question about sex. I gave my child a direct answer. My mother in law was horrified and said as much. She then let me know in no uncertain terms that she thought the child was too young to be told. I then replied that if a child is old enough to ask the question, he's old enough to be told the answer.

I then asked my husband how old he was before he had sex explained to him. He said, "I asked my mother where I came from when I was six, and she said, 'Ask your father.' I asked my father and he said, 'You probably know more than I do already,' and that was the end of it."

My husband sides with his mother by saying, "Nobody ever told us kids anything, and we never got into trouble?" I say, it's darned lucky what do you say?

MODERN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER—I'm with you.

DEAR ABBY: We recently married off our youngest daughter at a lovely church wedding. We had a reception and sit-down dinner for 364 guests. Since this was our third wedding, and we were more experienced, we would like to tell you how we handled guests who failed to acknowledge our R. S. V. P. invitations but showed up anyway:

First, we did not telephone those who failed to acknowledge our invitation to ask, "Are you coming?"

We simply planned on entertaining the ones who responded, and we assumed that those who did not, were not coming.

Those who didn't respond, but showed up anyway, were not given the same cordial welcome as those who responded in the affirmative.

No last minute rushing around to set more places at the table, and no hastily scribbled place cards for them. They were treated like "drop in" guests, and had to wait until they could conveniently be served.

Care to comment? NO ULCERS IN N. Y.

DEAR NO ULCERS: If anything could cure one who ignored an R. S. V. P., but showed up anyway, this would. But too few hostesses have the courage to follow your example.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FRIENDSHIP RUINED": What did you expect? The only person lower than a woman who would live it up with her best friend's husband while she was in the hospital having a baby, is the husband who would confess to "get it off his chest."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Contest division winners named

TWIN FALLS — Senior division winner in the District No. 3, 1971-72 Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool contest is Melva Goodwin. She was selected from a group of 30 participating in a fashion show at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room in Twin Falls.

Miss Goodwin is 17 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Goodwin, Hazelton. A senior at Minico High School, she modeled a cobalt blue knit jumpsuit with long sleeves, accented with top stitching. Over this she wore a maxi skirt of blue tweed which opens down the front and features a two-button waist band and large lap pockets.

Junior division winner was Susan Southwick, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Southwick, Buhl. She modeled a coat of purple wool in belted princess style with wide lapels and a double breasted front and hidden side seam pockets.

Senior runner-up was G'Leen Ward, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ward, Twin Falls. Junior runner-up was Patti Quigley, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Quigley, Buhl. They received lamb pelts.

In order to be in the contest, girls had to make and model their own garments, selecting the fabric, pattern and accessories. All fabrics used had to be 100 per cent wool loomed in America.

Miss Goodwin and Miss Southwick will participate in the state competition which will be held in Boise, Nov. 15. Winners in the junior and senior division at the state level will go on to the national event to be held in Phoenix, Ariz. Jan. 20.

The Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool program is sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers Association and the America Wool Council, a division of the American Sheep Producers Council with national headquarters in Denver, Colo.

Additional winners, senior division include Marlene Barkdull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Barkdull, Burley; Marilyn Bickford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bickford, Gooding; MarJean Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Brown, Hailey; Mary Cutler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cutler, Sun Valley; Terry Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Davies, Hailey; Beth Ferlic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ferlic, and Susan Greenup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Greenup, Twin Falls.

Lark Kyles, daughter of Mr. Vernon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Vernon, Hailey; Cindy and Teresa Wagner, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wagner, Buhl, and Sally Weatherwax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Weatherwax, Jerome.

Other winners in the junior division were Jean Burkhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burkhardt, Twin Falls; Robin Carle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. N. Carle, Twin Falls; Brenda Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clark, Jerome; Thelma Cloughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cloughton, Bellevue; Paula Cofer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cofer, Heyburn; Carol Dutcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dutcher, Mountain Home; Jolene Lickley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lickley, Jerome; Carol McClellan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale McClellan, Jerome; Cheryl McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCord, Jerome; Connie Meuleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Meuleman, Hazelton; Helen Parke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Parke, Malta, and sub-deb entry Hannah Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Perkins, Buhl.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Zan Payne, Mrs. Earl Faulkner and Mrs. Mike Quesnell. Mrs. Jim Fitzpatrick gave the girls some tips on modeling. Mrs. Miriam Breckenridge was mistress of ceremonies.

The contest was conducted by Mrs. Allen Osborne, director and Mrs. Dennis Pratt, co-director, assisted by Mrs. Fred Faulkner, Mrs. Jim Patterson, and Mrs. Bob Enyart, Gooding, and Mrs. Jim Olson, Twin Falls.

CSI unit participates in National Circle K Week

TWIN FALLS — This is National Circle K Week and the College of Southern Idaho chapter is one of many participating in the event. The week has been set aside to recognize the involved student leaders of Circle K International. The CSI Circle K, sponsored by the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, currently is initiating a program in which its members will be working with mentally retarded children at the Child Development Center in Twin Falls. Circle K on campus also was active in getting 18, 19 and 20 year old residents of the area registered so they could vote in the recent elections. The club formed a committee and actively supported one of the City Council candidates. At the college, several Circle K members helped run voting machines during the student elections. The club has been active in promoting activities at CSI and helped with ushering and ticket taking at the Up With People Concert. The CSI club also is currently looking for a service project in which its members can involve the mentally retarded children. Anyone who has any ideas on projects which might be suitable is asked to call Jack Strimms at CSI.

A Lovelier You

A PERFECT SPLASHDOWN

By Mary Sue Miller

New stormwear goes anywhere. Wraparound and belted shirt coats take you about town. Chubbies and battle jackets topping warm pants and rainskirts lead a sporting life. For the evening, long and fitted, coats plunge to the floor.

Capes, capelets and hoods make an impression as gadabouts. Real and lookalikes, furs profusely border cuffs, closings and hemlines. In icy weather you can snuggle in coats with bulkless fur and pile linings.

On the whole, fabrics are innovative. Suede-like cottons, no-wale corduroys, cut velours, wool melton, quilts and more quilts come to the fore. Cotton gabardine and poplin, brushed denims, canvas, twill and double-knits continue in good standing.

Colors follow top fashion trends from off white to pale topaz, camel to russet to brown, from plum to navy, light to dark red and black. Prints—floral, animal, argyle—brighten the scene on leaden days and dark nights.

Add slick accessories to your turnout—spanking waterproof boots and gauntlets, a colorful ascot or turtle dickey at the neckline, smooth hair at the hemline and brilliant lipstick at the smileline.

Nothing short of a deluge can quell your splashy looks.

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES. Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Mind Your Money

BY PETER WEAVER
Q — Is it true that individual citizens can collect money by pointing out polluters to the government? — N.W.A., St. Louis, Mo.
A — Yes, you can collect up to one-half the fine imposed on water pollution violators, according to a law passed in 1969. This law requires an Army Corps of Engineers permit for anyone dumping wastes into "any tributary of any navigable water." "Hardly anybody has a permit."
You can get more information on how to catch polluters from the nearest U.S. attorney's office (call information under Federal Government in your phone book). The U.S. attorney should have a printed checklist which gives tips on how to gather such evidence as samples of polluted water, photographs of the pollution and testimony from witnesses.
— number of individual citizens have already collected thousands of dollars as their share in pinpointing violators. There's one catch. Polluters are now scrambling to get permits and this will make it harder to catch them.
It's a good idea to check on permit applications to make sure regulations are being followed. Ask the nearest Army Corps of Engineers office to put you on their mailing list (check information under Federal Government in phonebook).
Catching air polluters is more complicated. For expert guidance, you can get an "Air Pollution Manual" by sending $1.50 to The National Resources Defense Council, 36 West 44th St., New York, N.Y. 10036.
Q — Four years ago I bought an insurance policy from the National Casualty Co. My wife died of cancer and upon attempting to collect my insurance I was informed that her disease was not covered under the policy's "dread disease" list. This list contained such things as polio, smallpox and rabies. Aren't these diseases almost extinct? — C.E.T., Somerville, Mass.
A — The policy you bought was extremely limited. To collect death benefits under the dread disease clause, the odds against you were many millions to one.
For example, the last death caused by smallpox in this country was back in 1949. There were only two cases of rabies last year and only 33 polio cases. When insurance policies seem to be "bargains" (your policy cost less than $10 a year), you have to read the fine print to see if all the limitations make it worthwhile.
Severely limited policies are legal but they tend to lull consumers into a false sense of security. If you need health insurance, get into a group policy that covers common ailments. If you want life insurance, get a relatively inexpensive 5-year renewable term policy. Look for the limitations and ask questions before you buy.

Reminder given on age limit

TWIN FALLS — Employers in the region were reminded today by the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Division that a minimum age of 18 is required for employment in 17 non-agricultural occupations declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor.
Clayton Guy, Seattle, and Don Henry, Portland, who direct the division's enforcement program in the northwest, said higher standards prevail where there is a variance with state law.
Occupations listed as hazardous were:
— Occupations in or about plants or establishments manufacturing or storing explosives or articles containing explosive components.
— Occupations of motor vehicle driver or outside helper.
— Coal mine occupations.
— Logging occupations or those in the operation of any sawmill, planing mill, shingle mill or cooperage-stock mill.
— Occupations involved in the operation of power-driven woodworking machines.
— Occupations involving exposure to radioactive substances and to ionizing radiations.
— Occupations involved in the operation of elevators and other power-driven hoisting apparatus.
— Occupations involved in the operation of power-driven metal forming, punching and shearing machines.
— Occupations in connection with mining, other than coal.
— Occupations involving slaughtering, meat packing or processing or rendering.
— Occupations involved in the operation of certain power-driven bakery machines.
— Occupations involved in the operation of certain power-driven paper products machines.
— Occupations involved in the manufacture of brick, tile and kindred products.
— Occupations involved in the operation of circular saws, band saws and guillotine shears.
— Occupations involved in wrecking, demolition and ship-breaking operations.
— Occupations involved in roofing operations.
