Pollution fight fund said short

By DAVID ESPO Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An Environmental Protection Agency official said Saturday "the state isn't appropriating enough money" to fight pollution in the Snake River area.

Hurlon Ray, EPA Region 10 assistant administrator for management, said Idaho returned over $3 million in federal funds last year because of a lack of matching state funds.

A total of $3,787,400 was appropriated to the state under the matching fund program, but only $510,843 was spent.

The matching program calls for federal funding of 55 per cent of the cost of a project, with the state providing 25 per cent of the costs and local areas paying the remaining 20 per cent.

Ray made his remarks before a day-long agricultural pollution conference at the College of Southern Idaho. Over 100 persons attended the event. "A Clear River," sponsored by the League of Women Voters Education Fund with financial help from the EPA.

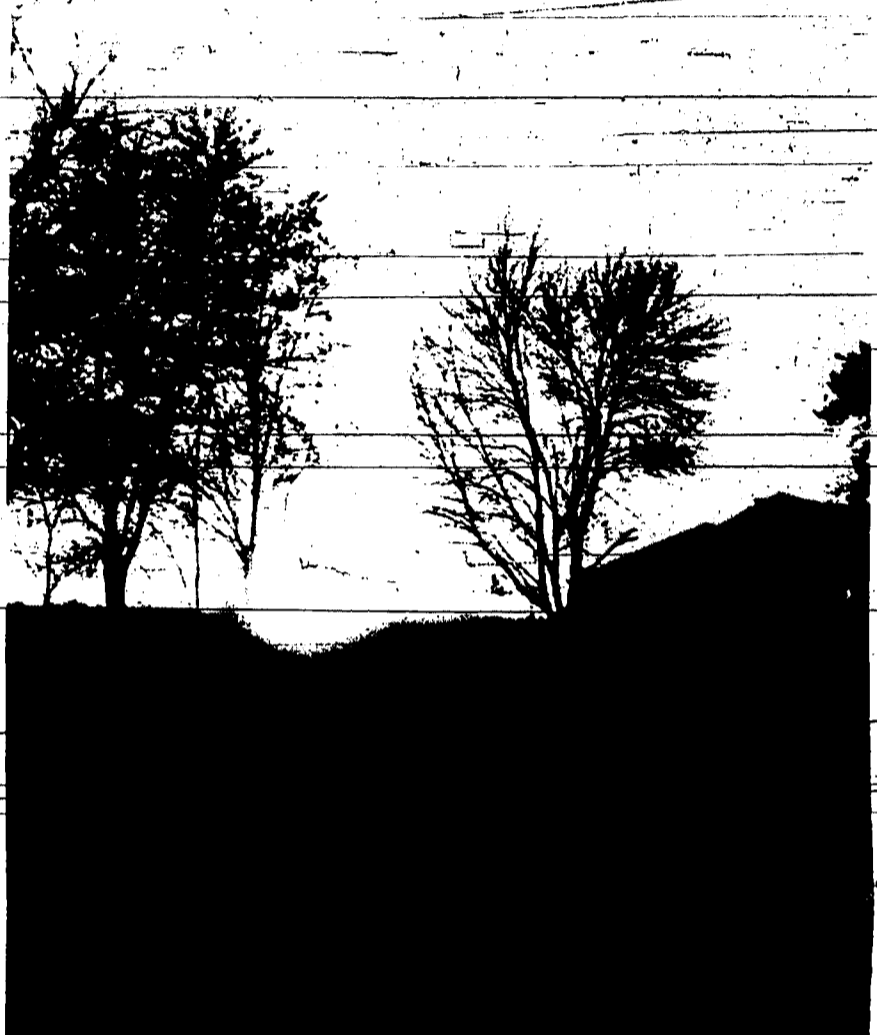

About 15 speakers addressed the conference on aspects of pollution along the Snake River. Included were health officials, legislators, water resource engineers and irrigation officials.

In the principal address, Ray said there can "be no silent partners" in the effort to combat pollution. He identified the adverse effects of agricultural pollution "third only to industrial and other sources" and ranking ahead of damage caused by mining, power and municipalities.

There are seven types of agricultural wastes being dumped into the Snake River, Ray said, including silt, nutrients, pesticides and herbicides, salts, animal wastes, other wastes in agricultural drains and temperature, in the form of heat, he said.

Ray said his agency is working closely with state and local officials to stop the flow of pollution. "We do have obligations. We have the environment to clean up, federal laws to enforce, federal funds to help you with," he said.

Bright spot

DREARY, DAMP weather has its brighter spots, notable when the sun beams through a narrow strip of clear sky between clouds and horizon at sunset. Golden light silhouettes leafless trees and paints the underside of the cloud layer over the Magic Valley after the rain ended Friday afternoon. Brilliant and striking sunrises and sunsets have made mid-November days memorable.

Tank crushes Rupert noncom

RUPERT — SFC Dennis Huber, 28, Rupert, was crushed to death Saturday morning between two National Guard tanks while participating in a maneuver northwest of Rupert.

Lt. Henry Lynn Schodde, second in command of Huber's group, Company H, 2nd Squadron, 116th Armored Cavalry, termed the death a tragic freak accident.

He said he and Huber were standing near the front of a tank which had stalled as the line of tanks was preparing to move out. Lt. Schodde said it is believed the automatic transmission on the heavy tank failed, then suddenly engaged, throwing the tank ahead and into the rear of another tank in the line just ahead of it.

He said he jumped clear but Huber apparently did not have time and was caught.

Minidoka County Coroner Robert C. Walk said he was called to the drill scene about 9:45 a.m. Saturday. He said Huber apparently died instantly. No inquest is planned, Walk said, but the National Guard will conduct a hearing later.

The coroner said he held a hearing Saturday afternoon with the three principal officers providing information. He said the death was accidental.

Lt. Schodde said the drill involved a once-a-year effort to move the unit's tanks from summer storage at the Simplot corrals to the armory in Rupert. The tanks had been lined up, he said, with men preparing to start back to Rupert when the accident occurred.

He said he did not know how many men were involved in the exercise but it was a combined effort by Guardsmen from Burley, Jerome and Rupert.

Spec. 5 Douglas Klamm, Route 1, Paul, was operating the rear tank, but Lt. Schodde said he was powerless to stop the tank when it suddenly jumped forward. Capt. Norman Edwards, Paul, was convoy commander.

Each tank carried a driver and one crew member, Schodde said. He said Guardsmen completed the equipment transfer after the investigation.

Huber was employed a driver for Van Gas Co., Rupert. He is survived, by his widow, two small children and his parents, all in Rupert.

Negotiators in accord on new soft coal pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — Union and management negotiators agreed Saturday night on a proposed contract to end the 44-day-old soft-coal strike which has idled 100,000 coal miners.

The agreement had the blessing of the 50-man board of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association (BCOA), and was expected to win speedy approval from the United Mine Workers which scheduled a 9 p.m. EST meeting at the Roosevelt Hotel to vote on the pact.

A signing ceremony was tentatively scheduled for 10 p.m.

A spokesman for the BCOA said the board of directors authorized BCOA President Joseph E. Moody to sign the contract.

A union source said the new contract calls for a raise in daily wage from the present $37 to $50 over the three-year period. It provides for doubling of the management's contribution of 40 cents per ton of coal mined to the miners' Welfare Fund.

The source said the contract would exceed the 6.5 per cent a year limit placed on wage increases by the Pay Board through the exact percentage was unknown.

He said the union would argue in seeking a variance that the auto and steel industries already had received their increases before the price freeze and that the coal industry was just catching up.

He said they would also point out the excellent productivity record of coal miners.

A source close to the negotiations said the official announcement would be made later Saturday night by Gov. Arch Moore of West Virginia who was called in to mediate the negotiations.

Panel clears few pay hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On the eve of the first economic controls in U.S. history short of full-scale wartime, the Pay Board announced Saturday that longevity and in-grade pay raises under existing contracts would be exempt from post-freeze restraints.

The board said increases for longevity and automatic progression within pay ranges would be paid starting Sunday without regard for the 5.5 per cent guideline for annual wage increases nationwide and without being subject to challenge.

All other scheduled general wage and benefits increases for nongovernment workers that had been deferred until after the freeze—including merit pay—will be subject to the Pay Board's guidelines.

This includes provision for a challenge of a proposed pay increase by management or at least five members of the 15-member Pay Board, presumably in cases where the increase is well above the 5.5 per cent yardstick.

The government previously exempted federal civilian and military pay from all controls once the freeze expired at 12:01 a.m. Sunday. This will allow government employees to collect a scheduled $2.6 billion pay raise July 1, as well as longevity, merit and in-grade raises starting Sunday.

The Pay Board also said the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee would continue to oversee wage contracts in the construction industry during Phase II, as it has since last spring in an administration effort to reduce settlements running as high as 15 per cent.

With the birth of Phase II controls scheduled for midnight Saturday, Pay Board and Price Commission regulations were published in Saturday's Federal Register, giving them the force of law.

The Price Commission made a last-minute change in language to clarify the point that retailers and wholesalers with annual sales of $100 million or more must notify the government of price increases in advance for approval within 30 days, just as all manufacturers of that size are required to do.

Senate OK's tax boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate refused Saturday to postpone next year's $3 billion increase in Social Security taxes that would sharply diminish the benefits of the 1972 income tax cut it has already approved.

By a 41 to 25 vote, the Senate bowed to the argument that deferring the Social Security tax increase for a year would preclude Congress from passing a politically popular increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million retired Americans in the election year of 1972.

Existing law raises Social Security taxes by $62.40 for taxpayers with earnings above $9,000 a year. Those earning under $7,800 a year would pay nothing extra.

While Senators debated that and other tax bill amendments on the floor in a rare Saturday session, a backstage battle shaped up over whether to bring to a vote a Democratic amendment to finance next year's presidential campaigns through tax dollars.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said he had drafted an amendment that would give the nation's 80 million taxpayers the option of checking a box on their 1971 tax returns, to be filed next spring. If they checked the box, $1 of their taxes would go into a special fund to finance presidential election campaigns.

Long estimated the device would provide $18 million for the Democrats, $18 million for the Republicans and $8 million for George Wallace's American Party if Wallace chooses to run. In addition, a fourth party would receive reimbursement for its campaign expenses if it drew enough votes to qualify.

A "sleeper" in Long's proposal—one sure to draw Republican fire—would limit each major party to spending no more than the $18 million on its 1972 presidential campaign if it agreed to accept federal funding.

Mariner reaches target

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's Mariner 9 spacecraft swung into a historic orbit around the planet Mars Saturday on a pathfinding expedition to give man his longest and closest look at the strange, dusty Martian world.

The automated television scout, with the U.S. eagle emblazoned on its side, performed the difficult orbital maneuvers on cue from an onboard computer standing in for controllers on earth 76 million miles away.

Utah queen wins crown

LAS VEGAS, NEV. — Susan Merrill Ogden, Utah, was chosen Miss Rodeo America for 1972 Saturday, succeeding Lana Brackenburg of Jerome.

Miss Merrill, who competed as Miss Rodeo Utah, was chosen at the close of the week-long event. First Runner-up was DeeDee Dear, of Montana. Miss Rodeo Idaho, Ruth Campbell, Caldwell, did not place in the five categories.

Ax fells psuedo-Irish rebel

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI) — A psuedo-Irish rebel who hijacked a Canadian airliner with a sawed-off shotgun and a bundle of dynamite was semiconscious in a hospital Saturday with a severe injury induced by the blunt end of an ax.

At least one shot was fired and $50,000 ransom was paid during the bizarre six-hour adventure that began Friday night over the U.S.-Canadian border. The shot did not hit anyone, nor did it do any notable damage.

Mounted Police Inspector J. D. Benthon identified the suspect Saturday as 27-year-old Paul J. Cini of Calgary. The motive was not known for the skyjacking, which ended when Cini was knocked cold by an axe-wielding crewman.

The Air Canada plane was seized shortly after takeoff from Calgary Friday night, forced to fly twice to Great Falls, Mont., and eventually returned to Calgary after the hijacker had been overpowered by Capt. Vernon Ehman and his crew.

The ransom was picked up during the first stop in Great Falls and the hijacker released the plane's 115 passengers on the second landing.

The hijacker, who demanded $1.5 million ransom and insisted the plane be flown to Ireland via the polar route, said he was a member of the Irish Republican Army (IRA). IRA spokesmen, however, denied any connection with the hijacking and police said Cini is not of Irish descent.

Cini was described as a transport truck driver, born in Glasgow, Scotland, who came to Calgary about 10 years ago. There were reports that he had served in the U.S. Marines, but when and where could not be determined immediately.

The ransom was recovered by the mounted police and will be returned to Great Falls, where a number of bankers had put together the money.

"There is a suspected concussion and he is in the intensive care unit for observation. He mumbles occasionally but most of it is still incomprehensible. We don't know whether that is due to emotional factors or to the actual injury," a hospital spokesman said.

Passengers said an unshaven, stocky, dark-haired man entered the first-class compartment with two paper bags. Police said one of the bags contained the shotgun which passengers said he held on one of the plane's stewardesses throughout the flight.

The other bag contained 60 sticks of dynamite, with which the hijacker allegedly threatened to blow up the plane. The Calgary bomb squad detonated enough dynamite to fill a small suitcase at a spot near the airport Saturday.

Felled by ax

LYING ONLY partly conscious in hospital in Calgary, Alberta, a man identified as Paul Joseph Cini, 27, Calgary, would be felled by an ax wielded by member of plane crew as he tossed parachute to jump from airliner Friday night. (U. I.)

Nixon accelerates Viet pullout by 45,000 men

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Friday ordered a speed-up in U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam that will remove 45,000 more men in December and January. But he warned Hanoi some American forces will stay in Indochina until there is a negotiated settlement.

"If we do not get a negotiated settlement, then it is necessary to maintain a residual force," Nixon said. He said there was "no reason for encouragement" that he could speak about publicly that American prisoners of war might be released. But he promised the United States would "never give up" on the issue.

Congressional critics of Nixon's war policies expressed dissatisfaction with the statement a residual force would stay in Vietnam. Communist negotiators at the Paris talks have set complete American withdrawal as the price for releasing U.S. prisoners.

"I'm sorry about it," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said of Nixon's statement. Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said he was disappointed because there was "no indication of any termination of the war."

And Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said a residual force could serve as a "trip wire" that could keep American forces involved indefinitely.

It was Nixon's sixth troop withdrawal announcement. He said an additional 25,000 men would leave Vietnam in December and 20,000 in January, dropping the U.S. force in Vietnam to 139,000 men. The current withdrawal phase, which continues through November, will bring the level down to 184,000, from a high of 543,000 men in April, 1969.

The current phase has withdrawn an average of 14,300 men a month. Nixon said he would make another troop withdrawal announcement by Feb. 1.

The President said U.S. air power would continue to be used in support of the South Vietnamese until there is a negotiated settlement or "until the South Vietnamese have developed the capability to handle the situation themselves." He repeated earlier statements that the American offensive role in Vietnam has been concluded and that U.S. troops are now in defensive positions.

Fidel Castro leaves Cuba on visit

ANTOFAGASTA, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro visited — bachelor workers' camps around the nitrate mines of northern Chile's Atacama desert Saturday.

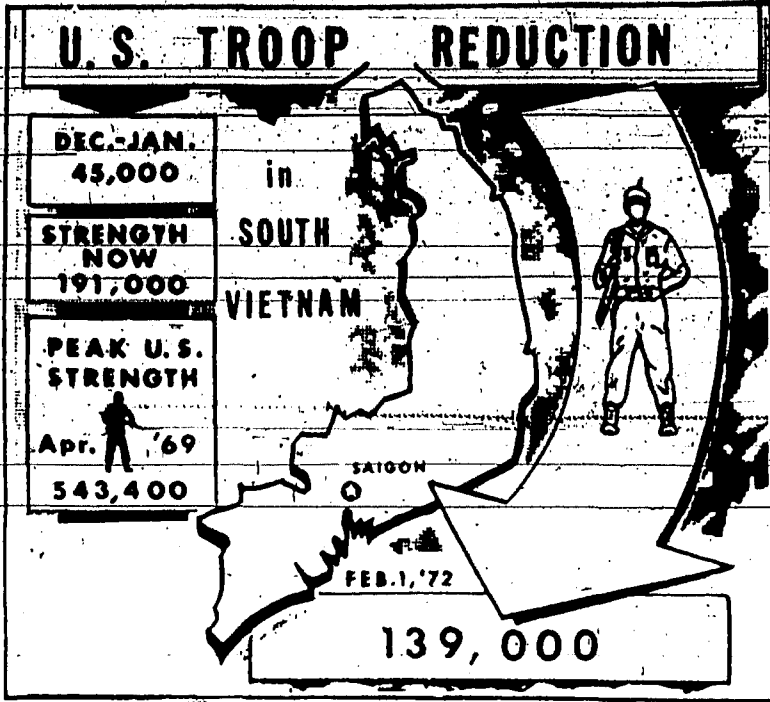

Castro, making his first trip outside Cuba in seven years, visited the workers in their dormitories of tin and wood that make up the camps of Maria Elena and Pedro de Valdivia in the heart of the desert, which has one of the world's largest deposits of natural nitrate.

Chile's trade union movement was born in the nitrate camps in the 1920s under Emilio Recabarren, who was one of the founders of the Chilean Communist party in 1921.

Castro, who arrived in the Chilean capital of Santiago last Wednesday, came to Antofagasta Friday and addressed separate rallies of workers and university students.

To the students, he spoke of the United States.

"The United States is a consumer society in decadence," he said. "A nation that uses a billion tons of gasoline, which destroys all its natural reserves and has to suck the rest of the world for gasoline to keep 100 or 200 million automobiles moving, which has set up a world police force and on top of that has enormous wastage, cannot maintain itself."

Troops to come home

A NEW WITHDRAWAL order for Vietnam troops will pull 25,000 Americans out of Southeast Asia in December and 20,000 more in January, reducing U.S. forces in Indo-China to a level of 139,000 by Feb. 1, 1972. (UPI)

Funeral services are pending at the Payne Mortuary, Burley.

BURLEY — Dennis Max Huber, 28, Burley, died Saturday in an accident while on National Guard drill training northwest of Rupert.

He was born Aug. 5, 1943, in Burley, and on June 22, 1965, married Cheryl Hackman in Burley. He was employed as a delivery man for Van Gas Co., Rupert.

He was a member of the LDS Church, the Heyburn Lions Club, Burley Elks Lodge 1384, the NCO and the National Guard Assn.

Surviving are his widow, Burley; one son, Shane Huber, and a daughter, Shauna Huber, both Burley; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Huber, Burley; a brother, Ray Huber, Burley; and his grandmothers, Mrs. Fannie Tanner, Declo, and Mrs. Adelaide Huber, Burley.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Burley LDS First Ward Chapel. Final rites will follow in the Declo cemetery with military graveside rites by the Rupert National Guard.

Friends may call at McCulloch Funeral Home Burley Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday prior to time of services.

LOS ANGELES — John A. Baisch Jr., 76, a pioneer Idaho resident and early-day Twin Falls businessman, died Friday in Los Angeles, where he had lived for the past 18 years.

Mr. Baisch was born in Palisades, Colo., and moved to Idaho about 1906, living here until 1953, when he moved to California. He owned and operated the Union Oil Co. and Twin Falls Home and Auto Supply, and served at various times as a local commission agent for the Shell and Standard Oil Companies, in addition to his service with Union Oil.

He was a member of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club, the Elks Lodge, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans. Survivors include two sons, John Baisch, Twin Falls, and Donald Baisch, Mission Viejo, Calif., and three brothers, Ralph and Art Baisch, both of Hazelton, and Walter Baisch, Detroit, Colo. He was preceded in death by one son and one brother.

Funeral services will be conducted on Monday at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Los Angeles.

C.E. Showers

TWIN FALLS — Clifford E. Showers, 80, 1730 Third Ave. E., died of a long illness Friday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

He was born Feb. 11, 1891, in Orient, Iowa, and came to Twin Falls from Iowa in 1914 where he farmed until retiring in 1958. He married Ethel Moreland on Nov. 11, 1908, in Orient.

Surviving, besides his wife, are two sisters, Mrs. Lilly Petzoldt, Kimberly, and Mrs. Helen Robinson, Payette. He was preceded in death by a daughter, Mrs. Violet Lansdown in 1970, and a brother and two sisters.

Graveside services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Monday at Twin Falls Cemetery by Pastor Kenneth Himptre of the Tyler Street Baptist Church, Twin Falls. Reynolds Chapel, Twin Falls, is in charge of arrangements.

REA employees told to work

CHICAGO (UPI) — The president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks has ordered REA Express Co. employees back to work from a wildcat strike in several cities in the eastern half of the nation, the union said Saturday.

U.S. envoys to SALT have orders

VIENNA (UPI) — The U.S. delegation to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) carried orders from President Nixon Saturday to keep up "significant progress" toward agreement with the Soviet Union.

The American team, led by Gerard C. Smith, was flying in Saturday night by special airliner. The Soviet delegation, led by Vladimir S. Semenov, was to arrive by train Sunday morning.

The Vienna round of SALT is the sixth since the talks began in Helsinki in late 1969 — was to open Monday with a ceremonial greeting from Austrian President Franz Jonas.

In a press conference in Washington Friday, Nixon confirmed diplomatic reports that most progress so far has been toward limitations on anti-ballistic missile KAMBI defenses.

Arabs plot strategy to recover land

By United Press International Delegates from the 17-member Arab League gathered Saturday in Cairo to plan common strategy in efforts to recover Arab territory captured by Israel in the 1967 Middle East War.

Taking part in the talks at the Arab League headquarters in downtown Cairo were the foreign ministers, or their representatives. The foreign ministers meeting was billed as the first of a series of conferences by senior government officials aimed at preparing for an Arab summit conference early in 1972.

Political sources in Cairo said the foreign ministers would place special emphasis on the need for a United Arab front against Israel in the forthcoming U.N. General Assembly debate. A joint working paper, agreed on previously by the various governments and calling for coordinated military, political and economic policies, will serve as the basis for the conference's major discussions, the sources said.

TF clinic gets eye bank kit

B.L. (Sonny) Ward, president of the Twin Falls Lions Club, and Dr. S.T. Hendry, chairman of the sight-preservation program of the club, presented the equipment to Dr. G.T. Newcomb, chief of staff of Twin Falls Clinic.

Lions Clubs throughout the nation collect funds for their sight-preservation program, providing participating hospitals with all equipment for removing and transporting donated eyes, including the surgical equipment and styrofoam transporting containers.

Donors are asked to sign cards indicating their willingness to donate their eyes upon death to any needy person. Ward told physicians at the clinic. Each donor is given a card to carry with him, indicating that his or her eyes are to be removed upon death by the nearest participating hospital or clinic.

A nationwide network of Lions Club members, amateur radio operators and other interested persons will flash the word throughout the country when the eyes become available. Since they must be used within 48 hours, the recipient and donor must be linked as fast as possible.

Lions Club members will transport the donated eyes personally if the recipient is near at hand. Air transportation is also frequently used for long-distance utilization, Ward said.

Physicians can utilize several portions of the human eye to restore sight to blind or near-blind persons. Dr. Hendry said. The cornea is the most often used to transplant to persons with corneal occlusion, and this is the part that must be used quickly.

Any Lions Club member has the donor cards for persons willing to donate their eyes, and many hospitals, including the Twin Falls Clinic, will provide them, Ward said.

T.F. grade school principals say new conference plan OK

TWIN FALLS — Parent-teacher conferences conducted Thursday and Friday in Twin Falls grade schools brought an overwhelmingly favorable response from parents and teachers alike, according to principals of the schools.

This was the first time classes have been dismissed for the conferences, with appointments carefully scheduled with parents. Frances Anderson, principal of Harrison School, said she believed her response was "close to 100 per cent," with only a few parents missing their appointments. Many parents expressed enthusiasm at the opportunity to confer with teachers in private and away from the hustle and bustle of classroom activities, Miss Anderson said. At Bickel School, some teachers had been skeptical about the idea, doubting that the parents would respond, according to Clarence Parker, Bickel principal. However, the heartening turnout of concerned parents pleased all teachers without exception, Parker said. Dennis Messenger, principal of Morningside School, also voiced pleasure at the cooperation between the parents and teachers, reporting a "very strong feedback" of enthusiasm from the teachers. "We've had at least 97 or 98 per cent of all parents come to the school," he said. Lincoln School principal Keith Turner and Washington principal Mary Helen Perry echoed their compatriots' enthusiasm, both reporting a strong majority of parents meeting their appointments despite Friday afternoon's heavy rain.

Council to study three ordinances

TWIN FALLS — Three proposed ordinances will be considered Monday night by the Twin Falls City Council. Council members meet at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall with the agenda including further discussion of the proposed mobile home park ordinance which was introduced two weeks ago. It would pertain to new mobile home parks and contains restrictive new regulations to deal with the current larger type of mobile home now on the market.

Other ordinances to be considered include one to change the name of Fall Street to Russett Street and another regulating ground transportation parking at the City-County Airport. City officials said Fall Street, in the industrial area is frequently confused with Falls Avenue and several requests for a name change have been received. Parking regulations at the airport have been under consideration for some time and suggestions include parking meters on the public parking area.

New aide on forest

TWIN FALLS — Dewayne Ide, civil engineer, has joined the Sawtooth National Forest staff succeeding Jay Commander who has transferred to Utah.

Ide comes from Kemmerer, Wyo., where he has served on the Bridger National Forest since June, 1968. He will work in the engineering department of the local office.

A native of Cadillac, Mich., Ide began as an engineer with the Huron Manistee National Forest there in June, 1966 and transferred to the Bridger in 1968. He is a graduate of the Michigan Technical University and is married. He and his wife, Sheri, have one daughter, Kimberly, 10 months old.

Pocatello man heads Moose

TWIN FALLS — Delegates to the 41st Idaho State Moose Association convention here Saturday elected Corwyn Tilley, Pocatello, as state president and approved Nampa for the 1972 convention. The Moose convened here Friday for their annual business session with several hundred men and women attending the three day convention at Moose Hall and the Holiday Inn. Other new officers announced Saturday night during the president's banquet included S.E. Perry, Glenn Ferry, re-elected secretary treasurer, and the three vice presidents including Melvin Curtis, Boise, Capital District; Leonard Severa, Buhl, Magic Valley District, and Boyd Bunter, Pocatello, Gateway District.

Delegates approved Jerome as the site for the spring conference, with a date to be selected later. The Moose sports carnival will be held in March in Pocatello.

Burglars strike

TWIN FALLS — Police reported four vehicles were burglarized Friday night and early Saturday with loot including guns, tools, a cue stick and one stereo player.

midnight Friday. Taken was a rifle, a .270 Winchester with scope. She said two rounds of ammunition were also missing. Loss was estimated at $260.

Delegates approved Jerome as the site for the spring conference, with a date to be selected later. The Moose sports carnival will be held in March in Pocatello.

Roy Hawkins, 710 Poplar St. Buhl, told officers someone entered his pickup truck just before 1:30 a.m. Saturday while it was parked near the Military Inn. Taken were a .22 caliber single shot rifle and scope, a cue stick and case and one cassette tape player. Total loss was set at $140 by the owner.

Jack Radtke, owner of Radtke Construction Co., said someone opened the hood of his pickup truck Friday night while it was parked at 289 Locust St. S., and removed a 12 volt battery. He estimated his loss at $39.50.

On Sunday officers and committee chairmen will hold final business sessions. Women of the Moose highlighted their convention festivities with the queen coronation ceremonies Friday night in Moose Hall. Mrs. Paul (Maxine) McCollum of the Twin Falls Lodge, was crowned queen during the formal

ARE DAMS NECESSARY?

An Idaho editor, pondering the announced intention of a few people to "put an end to dam construction," recently wrote:

"Without dams, southern Idaho would still be a forbidding, arid plain, the home of sagebrush, jack rabbits and rattlesnakes. All the good things we have going in the Snake River Valley — homes, churches, schools, beautiful farms, people — wouldn't be here except for two things: water in the Snake River and its tributaries, and dams to divert it onto the Snake River plains."

Today in some quarters, water developments are being opposed bitterly, whether they are for irrigation, power or multiple uses.

Have some of us lost sight of the fact that for southern Idaho and eastern Oregon — irrigated farming is probably the greatest single factor in producing a livable environment as well as a livelihood, directly or indirectly, for most of our population?

We should be praising agriculture for being a mainstay of the economy. Skilled farmers are of necessity conservators of the environment too. They are by far the most expert practical ecologists among us — they have to be to survive.

In the years since pioneers came to the Snake River Valley, men and women have built out of wilderness a thriving economy by making wise use of natural resources. Water and land have served multiple purposes quite successfully.

There's scant reason to believe progress lies in any other direction.

Minor Impact

Political observers, searching for signs of what may happen in the 1972 presidential and congressional elections, have found slim pickings in the results of the nation's latest venture to the ballot box. Among the slimmest is in the area of the so-called "youth vote."

In Idaho the study still goes on but those in the know report all indications are that the younger vote amounted to very little and, likewise, changed few results. In some instances over the country a few "old timers" were tossed out of office but there was nothing like a trend or pattern. There was certainly nothing that could be called a radical development — in Idaho or elsewhere.

In fact the most outstanding example of youth taking over suggests once again the truth of the old bromide that the more things change, the more they remain the same.

The new mayor of Newcomerstown, Ohio, population 4,500, is Ron Hooker, 19, a college junior. But Ron owns the success of his write-in campaign for the office not to the votes of his under-21 peers but to his own efforts and to his ability to persuade older voters that he was the best man for the job.

A self-described conservative, his campaign promises included ending hot-rodding on the town's streets to attracting new businesses and industries to the area. In other elections, a 22-year-old Harvard graduate was elected to the Pawtucket, R. I., school committee, and a 24-year-old unseated the incumbent mayor of Cedar Falls, Iowa. There were perhaps a half-dozen similar achievements elsewhere.

The lowering of the voting age has infused new and decidedly welcome, blood into the body politic, but nothing like a major transfusion has taken place.

Anyway, it didn't happen this year in Idaho or anywhere else.

Next GI Cut

On Nov. 15, the President has scheduled his next major announcement on troop withdrawals from Vietnam. Everything points to an accelerated withdrawal rate, exceeding the current average of 14,300 men a month.

U.S. troop strength in Vietnam of about 195,000 is due to drop to at most 14,000 by the end of the month, and may be nearer to 175,000. That level, however, is still far from the residual strength of 20,000 to 40,000 the Pentagon envisions by mid-1972.

An accelerated winddown announcement would be a welcome Christmas message.

MR. SPECTATOR

Fresh Point Of View

Don't be afraid to speak your parents' language. Try using those strange-sounding phrases, such as "I'll wash the dishes, I'll be happy to be home at a reasonable hour," and "Yes."

Try to understand their music. Play Glenn Miller's Moonlight Serenade on the stereo until you become accustomed to the sound.

Be patient with your parents who are under achievers. When you catch your mother sneaking salted nuts, don't show too much disapproval. Tell her you love her just the way she is.

Encourage your parents to talk about their problems. Try to keep in mind that, to them, things like earning a living and paying off the mortgage seem important.

Be tolerant of their appearance. When your father gets a haircut, don't feel humiliated. Remember it's important to him to conform to the appearance of his peers.

And most vital of all, if they do something you consider wrong, let them know it's simply their behavior which you dislike, not themselves. Remember, that parents need to feel that they are loved.

(Mr. Spectator received the above, originally printed in the William Feather Magazine, by way of Kenneth G. Mann, the local "big numbers" man.

HE'S DISTURBED

We assume that a few of you know James L. Koutnik. It is very seldom he is disturbed about anything.

But he seems to be this time. The Idaho aeronautical chart and also the Airport Facilities book just issued by the Idaho Department of Aeronautics, lists the length of the main runway at the Twin Falls City-County Airport as being 5,900 feet. Actually it is 7,200 feet long and is brand new. It was lengthened from the 5,900 to the 7,200 last year and replaced this year.

What James can't figure out is why the state aeronautics department officials missed such an important thing — especially since $100,000 of state money was part of the cash going into the improvement.

So James is disturbed. And he ain't the only one!

KNOW THE MAN?

Police Chief Frank Barnett has been asked to locate a certain man. He is asking your help.

He received a note from H. P. Benedict of Jacksonville, Florida, asking the whereabouts of one Maxwell Clark who, in 1920 at the age of 16, moved from Crossville, Tennessee, to Twin Falls. Mr. Benedict has heard no word from his friend since that time. Mr. Clark would now be about 67 years old. If you know his whereabouts then get in touch with Chief Barnett.

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We have some puppies to give away. The mother is a German Shorthair. They are seven weeks old. You may see them five miles west and one-half north of Jerome or can call 324-2012. Ask for Mrs. Tom Sauer.

We have five beautiful puppies to give away around the end of November. The mother is a lively Australian Shepherd and the father a strolling troubador. Please telephone 788-2579 or write Mrs. A. L. Hall, Box 446, Hailey.

AWAY AWHILE

Mr. Spectator will be out of town for about a week. The column will be resumed when he returns. Until then, just hang on and he'll tell you all about it when he gets back.

WASHINGTON — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has done some timely and most significant talking, but remarkably what he had to say has gone unreported.

With characteristic bluntness and forthrightness, the FBI chief replied to the furious and rancorous Anvil Chorus of denunciations that has characterized radical-liberal fulminations lately. He pulled no punches about them, the news media and the courts. Yet not a line of his bare-knuckle observations has been published — in striking contrast to the prompt dissemination the media give to virtually every attack on him and the FBI.

In Hoover's ignored discussion — as guest speaker at the 25th anniversary of the Washington chapter of the Society of Former Special Agents of the FBI — he sternly warned that "the publication of 'drive' while admitted a right, is not the best way of discharging the precious responsibilities of a free press."

"Incredible as it may seem," he continued, "there have been instances in which the news media, particularly television, have accepted without question wildly improbable allegations made by hate groups and, even when the facts have been readily accessible, certain segments of the media have chosen to ignore and disregard them. Unfortunately, the truth never seems to catch up with the 'big lie,' and even if it does, it is too late to undo the harm that has been done in denigrating the forces of law enforcement.

"The foundation of any news media should be truth, objectivity and justice. Criticism, of course, is essential in our democratic society. But criticism without basis is demoralizing and serves the interests of those subversives and criminals who seek to serve only themselves and not democracy. No man has the inherent right to place himself above and beyond the law, even though he may personally consider that law to be onerous."

"If we are to survive as a nation, we must challenge the attitude of those who have been selling America short, who want to destroy, and who want rights without responsibilities, and who encourage disrespect for law and order."

With equal severity, Hoover castigated "indulgent judges," "midguided attorneys" and others favoring the "coddling of law breakers."

"Society to survive must protect itself, the FBI Director held, from criminal, subversive and disruptive elements. Justice is not served when innocent victims and society suffer while law breakers go free."

"Too long we have concerned ourselves with the plight of the criminal," warned Hoover. "We have coddled him, we have shown him compassion, mercy and leniency, and all too often, he has shown us contempt and non-repentance. It is time we stopped coddling the hoodlums and the hippies who are causing so much serious trouble these days. Let us treat them like the vicious enemies of society they really are regardless of their age. Let the punishment fit the crime, not the age."

"Justice cannot be served when the rights of society are trampled in our courts by overindulgent judges and misguided attorneys whose overriding concern for the criminal and obsessions with legal technicalities have all too often distorted the true meaning and purpose of our constitutional guarantees. Justice is not a separate thing; it is inherent in law and order."

Citing that in the past 12 months 105 FBI agents were assaulted and that in the last few years agents have engaged in 67 gun battles, Hoover zeroed in squarely on "a few journalistic prostitutes."

"In their jaundiced outlook upon realities and truth," he said, "they have attributed the increase in crime as somehow the fault of the FBI or the result of inadequate performance by it. They completely ignore the fact that the overwhelming part of the increase in crime has been in areas where the FBI has neither the authority nor jurisdiction — namely at the local and state levels."

The FBI has exacting standards and apologizes to no one for them, Hoover asserted proudly. Further, it has no intention of compromising those standards to "accommodate kooks, misfits, drunks and slobs."

"Maybe those of us in the FBI are narrow-minded when we frown on indiscretions involving unmarried couples," Hoover said. "Maybe we are intolerant when we refuse to permit our personnel to participate in the activities of groups and organizations hostile to our government. Maybe we are old-fashioned when we frown upon extreme hair styles and wearing apparel. If we are, I am confident that the majority of the American people share our views."

"We live in a period of great stress and turmoil. If this country is to wage an effective war against crime, it cannot be done by lessening the severity of the present laws, but by enforcing them. The going will be tough, but when the going gets tough, the tough get going."

Thyroid Scan

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I noticed a small, soft enlargement along one side of my windpipe. It doesn't show at all on the outside.

I went to the hospital and had what they call a thyroid scan. The doctor said it "showed nothing, which is good."

Just what did he mean by that, because two weeks later he said my thyroid was very underactive: What are the symptoms of that?

What is Proloid? If one has to take medication, do you have to continue with it for a lifetime? — W. M. N.

By the scan "showing nothing," he meant that there was no confirmation of an active tumor of the thyroid gland — which is good, certainly.

Other tests and observations could indicate an underactive thyroid which, it appears, was the case. Symptoms of that are ease of fatigue, dry skin and hair, low blood pressure, slow pulse, possibly a tendency to gain weight.

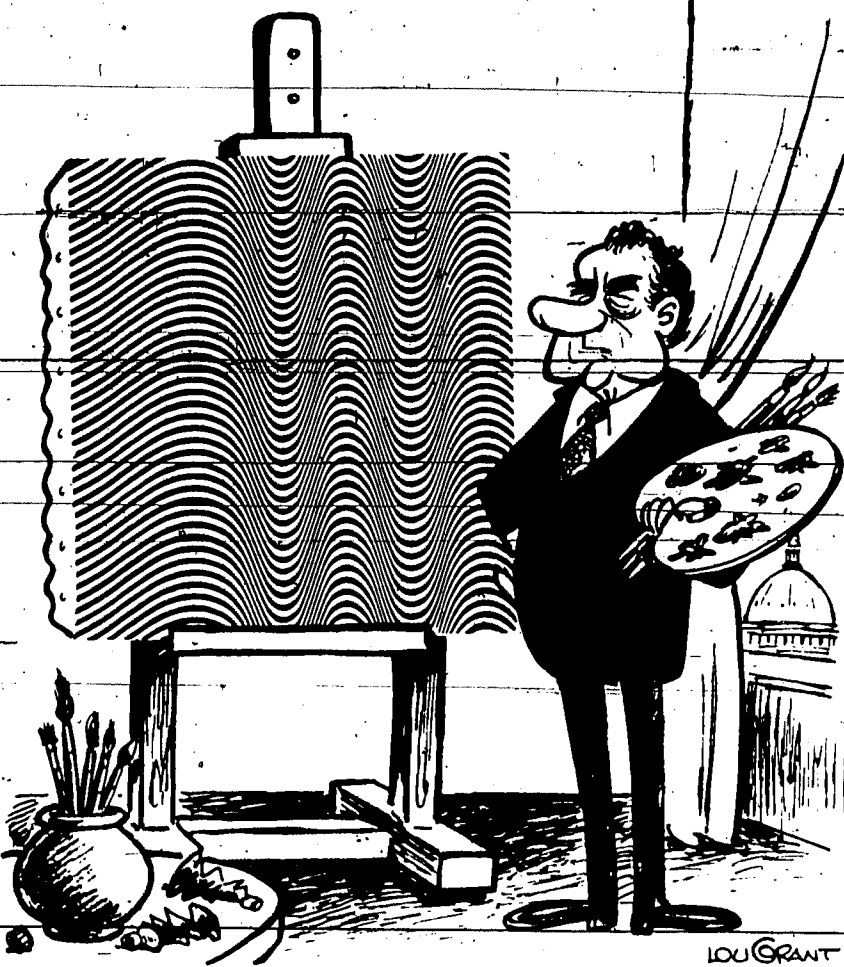

Proloid is a thyroid extract used to treat that condition. The length of time you have to take it depends on how you respond to the medication, but usually it is continued for a prolonged time.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the instrument used for vaginal examinations? My neighbor says it is a "spectrum." If so, why is it called this? — Mrs. B. T.

Her ears played tricks on her. The term is speculum. "Spectrum" means a band of colors, such as in a rainbow.

Our Roadblock

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If sound judgment has anything to do with it, those in and out of Congress who want to bring home half or more of our NATO force in Europe will have a harder time making a case next time than they did in mid-1971. The debate is just months off.

The "bring 'em home" arguments were so inaccurate and cavalier last time that reality was nearly lost. That the vote was close on cutting our NATO force in half says much about the flimsy quality of American public debate today.

As a prior report indicated, responsible studies like the newest one by the Brookings Institution put a hard knock on the claims that troop-cutting would save us billions of dollars.

In the strategic sphere, the big contention has been that our army in Europe was merely a "trip-wire" which, if struck, would touch off a nuclear response by us. Accordingly, it is argued, a force of 50,000 would do just as well as the existing 300,000.

To hear pretentious U. S. senators talking in that vein is nothing less than shocking. Our force in Europe is not and never was just a trip-wire. It was designed to be an effective ground-force counterweight to possible conventional military aggression by the Soviet Union and its Iron Curtain allies of the Warsaw Pact.

Here again, Brookings' new studies on the troop issue get to hard, realistic judgments which are at great distance from the gossamer fantasies spun by the cutters on Capitol Hill.

In a report on the military balance, Brookings associate Timothy Stanley asserts that the quantitative non-nuclear balance, even when measured in gross numbers, "is not so adverse to NATO as has often been claimed, and is even less so when adjusted for qualitative factors."

Stanley says comparisons which relate respective numbers of divisions on each side are misleading. A Warsaw Pact division is about equal to two-thirds of a NATO division, and has a weaker supporting military structure. Moreover, less than two-thirds of Russia's nearly 100 divisions are at or near a high state of readiness.

It is judged with some care that by almost every measure, NATO air forces are superior to those in the East. Our tank disadvantage in numbers is less than sometimes recited, since comparisons, often leave out 5,000 tanks held in NATO reserve. NATO has 50 per cent more anti-tank weapons, more vehicles and helicopters, as many mortar tubes and as

ROWLAND EVANS

The Majority

WASHINGTON — The surprisingly lopsided vote by which the senate refused to ban military aid to the Greek dictatorship was the clearest confirmation yet seen of President Nixon's boast that the 1970 election gave him an "ideological majority" in the Senate.

That claim was used to minimize the President's disappointment last November when the Republicans gained a mere two seats in the Senate election, leaving them far short of their hoped-for majority. But no single vote this year has gone so far to confirm Mr. Nixon's "ideological majority" boast.

Unaware of the changed complexion of the Senate, the State Department assumed the House-passed ban on military aid to Greece would be routinely approved by the Senate, heretofore always more liberal than the House on such issues. But when the votes were counted, a mere 31 Senators voted to impose the ban, while 49 voted against any ban at all.

Last year, in dealing with a somewhat similar aid ban, 42 Senators voted for it. Even if the full 100-member Senate had been present and voting last week, the maximum vote against the aid ban could not have exceeded 40 votes, and the reason lies in the defeat of four liberal Democrats and one liberal Republican (New York's Charles Goodell) in last November's election.

In addition, five Senators who favored Greek military aid last year switched against it last week but they were exactly offset by five who switched the other way.

much artillery. Stanley's inquiries suggest that 30 days after breakout of conventional war in Europe, the East could field ground forces roughly 2-to-1 greater than NATO's. But the attacker always needs an edge at least that great even to try.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

defeat of the whole aid bill. Proposed by Alabama's conservative Democratic Sen. James Allen, the amendment passed despite the fact that Administration lobbyists had long since reconciled themselves to living with it.

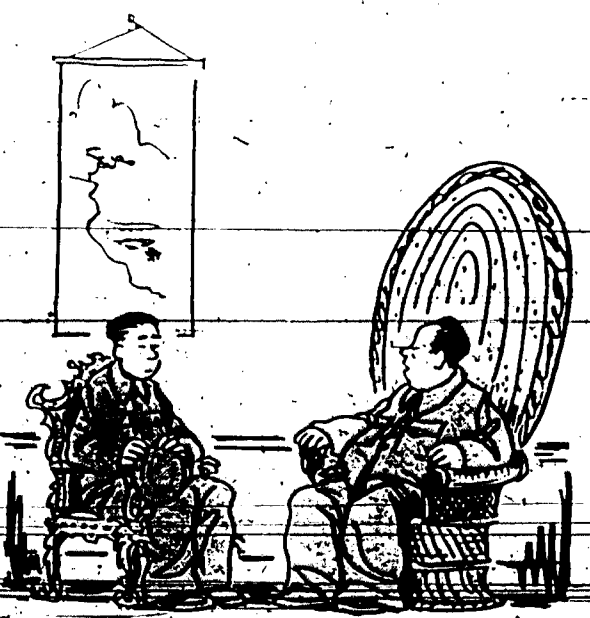

The result showed for the first time that on a strictly ideological foreign-policy issue — U. S. aid to a dictatorship which refuses to end martial law or hold parliamentary elections — the House now leans more liberal than the Senate.

Recent surveys commissioned by Republican politicians in the widely separated states of California and North Carolina showed that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine scored dramatic gains among rank-and-file Democratic voters following his much-assailed statement of Sept. 7 that he could not be elected President with a black running-mate.

The results tend to confirm a growing gap between Democratic leadership and Democratic voters. Whereas party leaders privately lament Muskie's statement as an inexcusable blunder in his drive for the Democratic Presidential nomination, it seems to have won him grassroots party support.

Muskie's backing from California Democratic voters, among the most liberal in the nation, jumped sharply following the Negro Vice President statement, according to a private Republican statewide poll. As a result, Muskie led President Nixon in a survey of all California voters. His gains were even more startling in North Carolina, one of the most progressive Southern states regarding racial attitudes.

An Open Appeal

Editor, Times-News:
This letter is an appeal to the residents of the Magic Valley area to open their hearts to those people far from home and a greater distance from the comforts we all experience everyday, not realizing the hardships of others. HOPE is assisting Mrs. Jason L. Hurd, whose husband is a chief warrant officer in the U.S. army in Vietnam. Two areas are being emphasized in the current program. One is items for servicemen, the other, gifts and collecting for orphans.

Collection boxes have been left at all the schools, (principal's offices), Safeway, Paul's, Hamilton Drugs, McCleery Drugs, Kings, Featherstons, Buttrey's Market, C.S.I. (all buildings) and HOPE.

The boxes were checked for pickup on November 8th and not even enough for one box to be packed was collected. I realize that it is not a matter of not wanting to contribute but just putting other things first and thinking, "maybe tomorrow." Please collect your items TODAY and see that they are placed in the central collecting places.

Items needed for SERVICEMEN: stationery, pens, pencils, shower shoes, paper back books, bars of soap, combs, toothpaste, tooth brushes, items of personal comfort, hard candy, presweetened drinks, shaving lotion in plastic containers, etc.

Items needed for ORPHANS: Children's clothing, lightweight, clean, in good repair, soap, needles, thread, blunt-end scissors, toys, crayons, color books, pencils, notebooks, small picture books, deck of cards and simple games.
These items do not need to be new. Please check your present cupboards, drawers and toy chests. Decide what you can share with those who have so little.

CASH DONATIONS URGENTLY NEEDED TO COVER POSTAGE: Small change may be placed in envelopes and dropped in the boxes and checks should be made payable and mailed to HOPE, Jerome, Idaho. Residents are reminded that these donations are tax deductible.

Hope offers their sincere thanks for your cooperation.

A Thank You

Editor, Times-News:

Thanksgiving is a time to be thankful and we in Twin Falls have so much to be thankful for. We recently elected four councilmen. The citizens of Twin Falls can be very thankful first, that thirteen citizens were willing to get involved and run for the city council and second, that they elected four fine responsible people to serve on that council. The next four years will be trying to the four elected and the three others who have two more years to serve. I am sure that only those who have served on the council can fully appreciate the time our "city fathers" put in for our benefit. Those who have served know the frustrations and thanklessness of the position. It's impossible to please all the people, many of whom not only do not take the time to find out how many things the council can't do, no matter how much they would like to, but who don't even bother to register and vote. The non-voter can be very thankful that some 3100 people cared enough to vote and again, thankfully voted for an able group of councilmen.

Study the names, John Christoffersen, Paul Ostyn, Tom Nelson, Ann Cover, Win Jones, Mike Gray and Steve Lincoln. All interested, concerned and dedicated people who are willing to serve for one reason — they wish to develop their community into an even better place to live than it already is. We should be thankful that the only, but imperfect, system of election has presented us with such outstanding people to guide our city government.

I am very thankful for the 903 people who voted for me in that recent council election. But, I am not disappointed in not being elected because our city government is in good hands, and that is why I ran in the first place.

So next time you see one of our councilmen, instead of criticizing him for what he can't get done to suit you, thank him for the time and effort he is putting forth for all of us.

Little Business

Editor, Times-News:

This past week, because I had the interests of my son at heart, I went with him to collect for his papers.

I couldn't help wondering if some of his customers realized how inconsiderate they really are. At least one-third of them couldn't pay for some reason or another. Perhaps these customers didn't realize how small the profit is for the time and work involved. Many asked him to come back tomorrow or a couple of days later. What would they say if he brought today's paper back tomorrow?

Perhaps it is because many of these customers do not understand the policy between the paper and the carrier boy. The carrier has to pay for the papers by the tenth of the month whether he has collected for them or not. Each return trip to the customer to collect means just that much more time and work and less profit for the carrier boy.

I am wondering if any other carrier might have a suggestion as to how this problem could be made easier. Perhaps one of your customers could suggest something.

RAY CROMLEY

Hanoi's Next Move

WASHINGTON — The North Vietnamese politburo, grudgingly coming to terms with the new realities of great power politics, is expected soon to submit a new but still unyielding proposal at Paris. Although time is fleeting, Hanoi might yet unveil its new proposal before President Nixon delivers his Vietnam statement on Nov. 15. Whatever it's covering, the contents of the package are safely predictable: using American prisoners of war in Vietnam as a pawn in Communist demands that Washington withdraw not only its troops but also military aid from Indochina.

What makes restating this hard-line demand essential for Hanoi is its unease over the new three-cornered diplomatic game between Washington, Moscow and Peking. The North Vietnamese leaders are known to feel propaganda impact of their Seven Points proposed July 1 was obliterated by Mr. Nixon's China bombshell of July 15. Accordingly, Hanoi wants to regain the international spotlight. All this shows the ridiculousness of the theory, widely held in dovish circles here, that North Vietnamese regulars will lay waste to South Vietnam once the last U.S. trooper leaves. In fact, Hanoi is stalemated by U.S.-aided South Vietnamese forces and still hopes the Paris talks will cut off that vital aid from Washington.

The view from Hanoi is revealed with unusual thoroughness in an Oct. 20 article in Hoc Tap, North Vietnam's Communist ideological journal, written by Nguyen Duy Trinh — member of the politburo, foreign minister, and vice premier. For the past two weeks, Trinh's article has been given close attention at the highest levels of Washington. Trinh continues Hanoi's hard-line opposition to the new diplomacy, referring to Washington-Moscow-Peking summitry as "deceitful peace tricks of the Nixon administration." But its tone is restrained compared to Hanoi's recent blasts.

By admitting "our diplomacy has some weak points and has not fulfilled all its talks," Trinh conceded the new diplomacy is here to stay and Hanoi will have to make the best of it. He hails North Vietnam's "military solidarity" and friendly relationship with both the Soviet Union and Communist China and goes on to call for new diplomatic initiatives from Hanoi. "Diplomacy is a front of strategic importance," he writes. "By itself alone, it has real strength and capability."

Consequently, "analysts are certain the politburo is preparing a new initiative at Paris. But like the Seven Points, any new proposal will attempt to delude American public opinion by seeming to soften demands while actually stiffening them.

North Vietnamese leaders no longer conceal that withdrawal of U.S. troops alone is not enough to release American POWs. In his Hoc Tap article, Trinh specified troop withdrawals must be accompanied by an "end (of) U.S. military assistance to the puppet administrations in Saigon, Phnom Penh and Vientiane."

Five days later, at a banquet in Hanoi honoring a North Korean delegation, Trinh was still more specific. Fundamental to the Seven Points, he said, is the demand that "the U.S. government must... stop U.S. military aid to the puppet administration in Saigon and remove all U.S. military bases from South Vietnam."

This is scarcely compatible with Washington scare talk of a million-man army poised across the border in North Vietnam for liquidation of the Saigon regime. The truth is that Hanoi is hard-pressed logistically to maintain its present invading legions in South Vietnam much less bring down the estimated 600,000 soldiers stationed north of the border. Nor is it likely that Hanoi would ever denude the home provinces of troops.

Actually, the overriding theme of Trinh's remarkable article is a long hard fight ahead on both military and diplomatic fronts. "Before achieving final victory," he says, "our people will have to wage a fierce, complex and protracted struggle."

The prospective new initiative in Paris will attempt to shorten that struggle by getting the U.S. to choke off its vital military lifeline to Saigon. In a Washington where the Senate is on a neo-isolationist rampage against foreign aid and reasonable public figures overestimate North Vietnamese military forces, such folly is within comprehension — if not this year or next, perhaps in a new Administration in 1973.

Today the Perrine Coulee which leaps over the south rim of the Snake River downstream from the Perrine Memorial Bridge is a source of interest. It was the same way back in the spring of 1905 when it came into being.

A story about the "new born" falls — which plunges 400 feet to the canyon floor — was the subject of a newspaper article on April 7, 1905.

At that time it had been flowing for three days. The coulee run was so dry that it "lapped up" a day's supply of water before the torrent reached the rim and jumped toward the Snake River.

The article read: "The water poured over the grade at noon Wednesday. At first it clung to the overhanging rocks and trickled down upon the roadway. (Editor's Note: The stage road from Shoshone to Twin Falls used to run out of the canyon at Blue Lakes by traveling under the falls).

"As the flow increased the water leaped sharply from the rim rock and splashed angrily against the smooth boulders far below the grade. Clouds of spray were tossed about by the breeze which blew up the canyon wall and teamsters paused in amazement to gaze upon the beautiful spectacle.

"It is fortunate that the stage drivers are obliged to stop frequently while ascending the grade in order to let their horses blow, as passengers never tire of admiring the cascade.

"In most cases those who are able to walk up the grade halt in the cove behind the cascade and watch the rainbows formed by the reflection of the sun's rays upon the cliffs on the opposite side of the canyon. The water going over the rim is clear and pure."

TIMELY QUOTES

People think "open admissions" is a euphemism for black admissions, but the benefits accrue to all ethnic groups, and to the Irish and Italians the most.

—Dr. David Lavin, director of open admissions at the City University of New York, reporting that since the 18-campus college opened its doors to all high school graduates, the greatest proportional rise in enrollment has been among working-class Irish and Italians.

When Lincoln freed the slaves in the United States there was no compensation paid to the planters.

—Eduardo Novoa, legal adviser to Chilean President Allende Gossens, on the nationalization of U.S. copper companies without compensation.

We are well on our way to repealing the American dream of individual accomplishment and replacing it with a system in which the diploma is the measure of a man, a diploma which usually bears no relation to performance.

—David Hapgood, author of a book called "Diplomatism"

Let the president not make further wars without seeking congressional approval. Let Congress face up to its responsibilities in this area and insist upon being adequately informed before sanctioning a war. And let Congress not pass the buck to the president by ratifying undeclared wars through appropriations to wage them.

—Arthur J. Goldberg, advocating limiting the President's war-making power.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

What is security, God? We seem to feel secure when we have a little extra money in the bank to take care of emergencies or have for our old age. Locking our houses at night gives us a sense of security. We even feel a little more secure to think of what the Psalmist said, "Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." I guess you want us to find our real security in You.

ANDREW TULLY He Moonlights

WASHINGTON — Dr. Henry Kissinger by now is known to most Americans who are interested in the news as a White House personality who moonlights as a man-about-town with an eye for a pretty girl. Since this is evidence that President Nixon's assistant for National Security Affairs is human, I am capable of restraining my enthusiasm for the role Kissinger has been given in Nixon's reorganization of the intelligence community.

Indeed, I find myself wondering whether Kissinger's power over foreign policy rivals that of the President, which is not good. It is not good because the doctor would be less than the human being...he has revealed himself to be if he did not enjoy power, and use it.

Most reports on the reordering of our spy shop have emphasized that CIA Director Richard Helms will be the czar of all intelligence agencies, including those inside the Pentagon. His most powerful weapon, in a government where one name for the power game is the dollar, will be in his new assignment to draw up one budget for the entire espionage establishment.

That's splendid because Helms was not born yesterday and he is aware that President Nixon is annoyed at the high cost of international snooping — some $5-billion a year. No one has to tell Helms his No. 1 priority is to get intelligence, as wholesale as possible.

But it says here that the real boss of intelligence could very well be Henry Kissinger, whose new title is chairman of the new National Security Council Intelligence Committee, charged with providing "guidance and direction" to Chief Helms. In effect, Kissinger through his committee, not only will tell Helms how to run the show, but will decide which intelligence assessments find their way to the President's desk. Power in Washington lies not only in having the ear of the President; it is also in refusing the President's ear to others of a dissenting viewpoint.

In his new role, Kissinger will have it both ways. His committee and his personal staff will initiate intelligence studies, and then will edit the resulting opinions and options before presentation to the Oval Office.

To be sure, Helms has the power to submit his own recommendations directly to Nixon, and so have Secretary of State William Rogers, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But since Kissinger's job is to take the task of reviewing options off the Presidential shoulders, a dissenter already will have two strikes on him. Nixon does not often give a subordinate an assignment and then second-guess him; he lives by the executive book. And you can count the occasions on the fingers of one hand when the President has overruled his highly competent national security aide.

Indeed, Nixon's reorganization has merely put into fine print what Kissinger has been doing for three years. Without any spelled out authority, Kissinger's Senior Review Goup has always been Nixon's personal State Department. Under a Presidential directive, the Group invites policy options from State, Defense, CIA, then recommends what action the President should take.

The difference now is that there is a document bearing Richard Nixon's signature which says no intelligence assessment or proposed operation will be approved until it has gone through Kissinger's shop. Richard Helms is the czar of all the intelligence czars, but only at Henry Kissinger's pleasure.

The new system may be the best possible solution to bringing the sprawling intelligence community, with its more than 200,000 employees, under Presidential control. At the same time, I don't consider it overly boorish to point out who's got the real power in this one. Contemplating Kissinger's new role, in some leafy haven across the Styx, Richelieu must be frantic with envy.

Actor swims against tide

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Gene Hackman is a rare fish in today's entertainment picture, swimming against the current by working solely in movies while other newcomers are rolling along with the television tide.

His success is all the more interesting inasmuch as he lacks the explosive qualities of a Steve McQueen, the profile of a Warren Beatty and even the forlorn charm of Dustin Hoffman.

Hackman's great asset is his acting ability.

In the past six years he has appeared in 16 motion pictures, a startling number compared to what other newcomers—with the possible exception of Elliott Gould—are doing.

He looks as if he has a broken nose, his hair is receding and his face gives the impression of being lumpy.

Yet Hackman had top roles in "I Never Sang For My Father," "The Gypsy Moths," "Marooned," "Bonnie and Clyde."

For the first time Hackman will star on his own in "The French Connection" a tough, fast movie about two New York narcotics squad police officers. As usual, Hackman is good. Very good.

"This is the best opportunity I've had yet," the actor said at 20th Century-Fox.

"Actually, the film carries itself but it really doesn't require a handsome leading man in the protagonist role. I'm not kidding myself about that."

"I don't think movies have overcome the good-looking hero. Guys like Beatty, Bob Redford and other handsome leading men are the ones producers and directors think of first for romantic heroes."

Joyful reunion

MRS. NORA Ryerson cries out in joy at reunion with her son, David Garland, 20, in Chicago after 19 years separation. A local newspaper arranged to help David find his real parents. Mrs. Ryerson, who has had eight children, had left him at a Chicago orphanage for safekeeping when he was 1-year-old because of overpowering family trouble. His name was Elmer Ryerson before he was adopted by Phillip and Lee Garland at age 4. (UPI)

Shirley MacLain guest on Dick Cavett show Nov. 30

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by: The headliners: Shirley MacLain, whose new situation comedy series on ABC-TV finishes last in one national rating after another, is the sole guest on the same network's Dick Cavett Show Nov. 30.

Bette Davis, meanwhile, is the only guest this Wednesday on the Cavett program ... Former Beatle George Harrison turns up with Cavett Nov. 23 ... and Cavett's substitute host Dec. 3 will be baseball great Willie Mays, whose guests will include his first manager, Leo Durocher, and ace Oakland pitcher Vida Blue.

Jack Lemmon will be the host Jan. 17 of a 90-minute tribute to the music of George and Ira Gershwin on NBC-TV's "Bell System Family Theatre," and he will also sing and play the piano ... guests on the show include Fred Astaire, Ethel Merman, Leslie Uggard and Peter Nero ... Guy Lombardo, a television fixture on New Year's Eve, will be back at his old stand again this Dec. 31, offering a 90-minute CBS-TV broadcast from New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel ... It begins at 11:30 p.m. EST, and the title, naturally, is "New Year's Eve With Guy Lombardo."

In the New York overnight ratings, at least, Bob Hope did what NBC-TV hoped he would with his comedy special of last Sunday that featured John Wayne, Jack Benny and Debbie Reynolds ... pre-empting "Bon-

Jackson ready for bid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington will formally announce his candidacy for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination next Friday, it has been learned.

Jackson will join Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota as announced contenders in the thinning ranks of Senate Democrats who are prospects for the nomination. Jackson and McGovern hold widely disparate views on the nation's defense.

Jackson is expected to make his announcement at a news conference here, and then fly to Florida where he hopes a strong showing in that state's primary election next March will boost him to the role of a major candidate.

of John F. Kennedy's campaign for the presidency in 1960 and at one point was favored to be Kennedy's vice presidential nominee.

Jackson is chairman of the Senate Interior Committee and a ranking Democrat on the Senate Armed Services Committee. He has a liberal voting record on most social issues, but his views on defense have made him more appealing to conservative Democrats than other more dovish presidential prospects like McGovern. "I'm not wild-eyed or way out, one-way or in an extreme in any direction," Jackson told an interviewer the other day. "I just think we need a prudent defense posture and that's been my record all the time I've been in Congress."

Jackson told the same interviewer that although he was opposed to massive busing to achieve school desegregation, his daughter attends a school in the District of Columbia that is 30 per cent black and she has a black principal and a black teacher.

So far, Sens. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa, Birch Bayh of Indiana, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma have formally removed themselves from contention for the presidency.

Tension greets Indira

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi returned from a tour of western nations Saturday to face an increasingly tense Indo-Pakistan border confrontation which she said is becoming "less and less tolerable."

Fresh fighting was reported along the East Pakistan border. It was reported that the Pakistani government has been in contact with rebel leaders in East Pakistan.

Mrs. Gandhi was greeted on her return from a three-week swing through the United States and other western nations by about 1,000 cheering supporters. She said she believed her trip resulted in better understanding abroad of the East Pakistan situation, but she had no idea when a solution could be found.

Asked about remarks she made abroad about the Indo-Pakistani situation becoming intolerable, she replied: "I think it is obvious that if the tension goes on increasing it becomes less and less tolerable."

As the prime minister returned, there were reports of a fresh clash between Indian and Pakistani troops at Shikarpur on the East Pakistan frontier, as well as further casualties in shelling incidents.

(Radio Pakistan reported that Indian army soldiers in battalion strength attacked an army position Saturday at the Jogaigar border outpost in East Pakistan's Kusthia district about 60 miles north of Calcutta. The official radio said the Indian attack was beaten back with 24 Indians killed and six captured.)

Quiet day for Nixon

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon spent a quiet Saturday at Camp David, working and relaxing.

Nixon and his wife and their daughter Tricia and son-in-law Edward Finch Cox went to the retreat in the Catoctin Mountains Friday night after the President announced his new goal for additional U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

The weather was cool and sunny Saturday, and the Nixons scheduled nothing more ambitious than perhaps a stroll around the compound. The President had two briefcases full of papers to work with in the study of Aspen Lodge, the main lodge at the camp.

Faces death-penalty

Slayer given death penalty

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI)—A penalty of death in the electric chair was set by a jury Saturday for Aubrey W. "Buddy" Martin, 23, convicted in the New Year's Eve, 1969, slayings of United Mine Workers (UMW) official Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

A jury of seven women and five men, which on Friday found Martin guilty of first degree murder, met again at 10:26 a.m., EST, Saturday and needed only 40 minutes to decide on the penalty. It had the choice of death or life imprisonment.

Martin, of Cleveland, Ohio, was the first of five defendants to be brought to trial in the triple slaying.

He sat coasting at the defense table and stared at the jury as foreman Frank Costello, a former coal miner, handed the jury's decision to Judge Charles Sweet.

The trial judge read the decision: "We the jurors impaneled in the above case, having heretofore determined that the defendant is guilty of first degree murder, do hereby fix the penalty at death."

The judge, on whom the verdict was binding, will set an execution date, but Martin's ultimate fate still was uncertain.

Gov. Milton J. Shapp, whose term of office runs until Jan. 1, 1975, has said there would be no executions while he is governor.

Under Pennsylvania law, a jury which returns a verdict of first degree murder must deliberate again and decide on one of two sentences—death or life imprisonment.

Martin's trial, which began Nov. 1 with selection of a jury, left unanswered the question of who ordered the slayings and paid the killers $5,000.

The Yablonskis were shot to death in their beds in their home at nearby Clarksville, Pa., Dec. 31, 1969—three weeks after Yablonski was defeated in an election for the UMW presidency by the incumbent, W. A. "Tony" Boyle, after an unusually bitter and violence-marked campaign.

Yablonski had been the leader of an insurgent group within the UMW.

The other defendants in the slayings were Claude E. Vealey, 27, Cleveland, who made a confession after his arrest; Paul E. Gilly, 37, Cleveland, and his wife, Annette, 31, and Annette's father, Silous Huddleston, 62, of Latollette, Tenn., president of a small UMW local composed of pensioned coal miners.

Martin denied he took part in the killings. He said he sat in an automobile outside the Yablonski home while Gilly and Vealey went inside.

Prosecutor Richard Sprague said Gilly would be the next to be brought to trial, some time in January.

Questions, answers on latest price rulings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Questions and answers based on the government's latest price and rent control decisions:

Q. Has the government ruled exactly how much prices will be able to rise when the freeze ends at midnight Saturday?

A. The only standard the government has laid down is a general one—that it wants to hold average price increases across the economy to 2.5 per cent per year. Administration economists estimate this standard will apply to roughly 80 per cent of the items that affect a family's cost of living. The rest, including such things as raw agricultural products and all used goods, are exempt from controls.

Q. Can a store then just go ahead and raise its prices Sunday?

A. The smallest ones can. This includes everything from the corner grocery up to firms doing $50 million a year in sales. Those that do between $50 million and $100 million worth of business annually can also increase their prices Sunday but they have to report their increases every three months and, if the Price Commission thinks the increases are too high, it can order a rollback. In any case

Q. What justification must a seller use in figuring out how much to raise his prices?

A. Price increases must reflect cost increases—not attempts to enlarge profit margins.

Q. Will rents remain frozen after Saturday midnight?

A. Yes they will, but for an indefinite time. New houses and apartments which took in their first tenants after Aug. 15 are exempt from the freeze, as previously announced, but all others will remain frozen until a new rent board can determine some guidelines. No one knows how long this will be.

Q. Will anyone be allowed to increase prices retroactive to when the freeze began Aug. 15?

Gem unit into Teton dam suit

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Water Resource Board voted 6-1 Friday to enter the Teton Dam project lawsuit as a "friend of the court" after defeating a similar motion to enter as a defendant along side the Interior Department.

The decision came despite objections the board should not petition federal court to enter under any circumstances and objections the board would show a stronger stance by asking to be admitted as a full defendant.

The lawsuit was filed by several environmental and conservation organizations asking for a halt in construction of the project in southeastern Idaho. A federal court hearing is scheduled on the suit in Boise Nov. 22.

Scott Reed, board member from Coeur d'Alene, who cast the lone dissenting vote, recommended the board not enter the lawsuit at all.

To do so, he said, would give the board the reputation of "knee jerking irrigationists" and "when the button is pushed something happens."

Arguments during the morning session centered around which route the board should take, with only Reed contending the board should not enter at all.

John F. Strieff, Lewiston, board chairman, said he "felt a majority of members wanted to enter the suit to show support for the project which the board has already endorsed."

To intervene, he said, would be to "in effect stand side by side with the Department of Interior" and said the alternative — to enter as amicus curiae — would be to "simply make ourselves available."

Charles Marshall, Jerome, a board member, said he felt "we have to show all the strength we can... to show we back this thing 100 per cent."

Thomas Olmstead, Twin Falls, a member of the board, said if the board were to enter as amicus curiae "it looks to me like all you've got there is a ringside seat. If you directly intervene, you're a participant, you make it happen."

"I want to be practical and I want to win it," Olmstead said. "If it's won, I want to say we were there."

The board will have to hire legal counsel during the proceedings. The board's attorney, Assistant Attorney General Phillip Barber, is unable to assist the board because the state of Idaho is involved in legal proceedings surrounding the Palisades project and for Barber to enter the Teton suit would create a conflict of interest.

Streiff urged members to "limit ourselves to where we are the most effective, which would be the state water policy."

He said the project is a federal one and the board should look "very carefully" at establishing a precedent such as entering as a full defendant in a suit which covers more than the board's realm of authority.

Money Box

By Frank Schell

From F. V. Jerome, Idaho: Am anxious about the value, if any, of some coins I have.

English pennies: George III, 1788. I have several of these coins but they are worn very smooth. Date barely discernible.

Queen Victoria: Bun Penny, 1863, in Good Condition.

Several Victoria pennies dating up to 1901.

Edward VII: Good condition. Also have a French coin, Napoleon III, 1854. This is a copper coin, about the size of our quarter. Also have a wooden nickel with an Indian Head on one side and the letters CFC on the other. If this is a token you are looking for you are welcome to it. Let me know through your column where to send it. Enjoy your column immensely.

Answer: Thank you for the kind comments. Wooden nickels are not trade tokens, per se. I collect only the metal types. Thanks for the offer. I appreciate it very much.

Your English pennies are as follows:

George III reigned from 1760 until 1820 — so the date on your coin cannot be 1708 — unless it is another George. The first of the George III pennies is dated 1797, the second issue dated 1806 and 1807. If they are worn as smooth as you say, they would have little value, since an almost uncirculated specimen brings about $2 on the present market.

The penny of Queen Victoria, dated 1863, is valued at $1. in "extremely fine" condition. Victoria pennies from 1895 to 1901, in "extremely fine" condition bring 50 cents each. Pennies of Edward VII, in "extremely fine" condition, from 1902 to 1910 are valued at 55 cents each. Copper coins of Napoleon III sell from 15 cents to 25 cents, in "extremely fine" condition.

There is little collector value on foreign copper coinage since it exists in large quantities.

From A.B., Twin Falls, Idaho: Is there a collector value on the following two coins from England?

1. Half crown, Face side has around the edge of the coin, "Georgius V Dei Gra: Britt: Omn: Rex and the back side has Fid: Def: Inv: Imp., Half Crown, 1923.

2. Half crown, around the edge of the coin: Tace side, Georgius, VI D: G: BR: OM: N: REX, and on the back side, FID: DEF: IND: IMP., Half Crown, 1940.

Answer: Both of these coins are standard British issues. The half-crown of George V, issued from 1911 until 1927, sells up to $1.75, depending upon condition. The half-crown of George VI, 1937 up to and including 1946, sells up to $1.25, depending upon condition.

From D. D., Burley, Idaho: I have a large silver coin, dated 1947. On the front is a man's head, and around it something like "Vasco Nunez de Balboa. The man has a helmet on his head. The back of the coin has a woman, standing, with something in her left arm. The words: "Republica De Panama" There is a word like "Ley 0900" and GR2673 on this side.

What can you tell me about the coin? Is it valuable?

Answer: This is the standard coin of Panama, coined from 1931 to 1947, and called a "Balboa" after the explorer. The words you quote — Gr2673 and Ley 0900 — indicate the silver content and its fineness.

This particular coin is called "crown" size — similar to our silver dollar and is eagerly sought-after by collectors. Present value to a collector, if the coin is new, is about $8.

A "very fine" specimen would bring you about $4.50.

(This column is still searching for merchants' tokens (trade tokens) and would appreciate any information you might have on them. If you have any, or know of any we might acquire, please drop a card or letter to us. We need, particularly, tokens from the Almo-Albion area.)

Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Crash kills 10 on plane

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A huge C130 Air Force cargo plane, trying to take off with a full load of 20 tons of jet fuel, crashed and exploded in flames Monday, killing 10 of the 11 airmen aboard.

The flaming fuel gushed into a lake of fire around the four-engine turbojet, trapping the victims inside.

The survivor, S.Sgt. Louis F. Hiribar, the loadmaster in the crew, was thrown clear of the wreckage. He was taken to Brooke Army Medical Hospital in San Antonio, Tex. He was listed in critical condition.

fireman was injured fighting the flames. He was treated at the base hospital and released.

Maj. William R. Wirth, base information officer, said the plane used up about 11,000 feet of runway on takeoff. It was taking off on a west-bound runway into a clear morning on an ideal flying day.

The Hercules transport struck and turned completely around from its takeoff direction. The nose and tail sections were intact but the rest was charred rubble.

US retains 88 Okinawa bases

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News analyst

As the United States Senate and the Japanese Diet completed the formalities leading up to the return of Okinawa to Japan, happiness is not wholly unconfined among the Okinawans themselves.

Okinawa's change of sovereignty ranges from a $194,000 sentry dog training center to multimillion dollar projects covering repair and maintenance of runways and airfield facilities and construction of a new freight terminal.

Leftist Okinawan students protest the fact that of 134 military installations on Okinawa, the United States will retain 88 of them even after Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands return to Japanese sovereignty.

Also to be constructed are an addition to the existing elementary school for children of military families, new warehouses, a new chapel and a theater.

Okinawa businessmen fear for the economic effects of gradual U.S. withdrawal.

The Japanese government also is taking steps to ease for Okinawans the shock of transfer. Integration into the Japanese economic, legal and governmental system will be phased over several years.

And older Okinawans with memories going back to before World War II fear they will be treated as second class citizens by Japanese of the home islands as had happened to them under prior Japanese rule.

On the other hand, a major sore point for Okinawans will be removed by a status of force agreement which provides that Japanese courts will try Americans who commit crimes off post or off duty. Up to now American military courts have handled all such cases, often to the dissatisfaction of Okinawans.

Actually, this appears to be the case: Most of the 50,000 or so American servicemen, plus their many dependents, will remain at least for the foreseeable future.

To reassure Okinawan businessmen and workers whose livelihood has depended upon the goods and services they supply to the American military community, the U.S. command has disclosed plans for a $60 million construction program which will be extended over the next seven years despite

Checked cat clean

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Betty Johnson has succeeded in unchecking a cat.

The 24-year-old employe of Washington radio station WAMU-fm became concerned earlier this fall when she saw a magazine ad for Ralston-Purina cat food featuring a checkered cat.

She wrote the firm to point out that impressionable children might be tempted to daub their own cats in checkerboard style.

Miss Johnson received a note in return that the cat in the ad had been painted with harmless vegetable dye. This week she received a further letter from J. E. Corbin, director of the Purina Cat Care Center in St. Louis, advising her that because of her letter a proposed multimillion dollar advertising campaign which would have featured the checkerboard cat was being dropped.

Firms find students little changed

NEW YORK (UPI)—People who worry about radicalism and bizarre life styles on college campuses can take comfort from the experience of life insurance companies with students.

Many life companies have special organizations to sell policies to students. Often a full-time professional agent runs an office on campus and uses students as part time agents.

These companies rather uniformly have a favorable impression of today's undergraduates, according to the Institute of Life Insurance. On the basis of a recent survey, says the Institute, "it's not true that traditionalism has gone the way of the dinosaur on the campus."

Northwestern Mutual of Milwaukee has one of the largest college sales departments with offices on 66 campuses. College Life Insurance Co. of Indiana polls started in business selling policies to students. Equitable Life Assurance, Home Life of New York, Mutual of New York, Provident Mutual and Fidelity Mutual, both of Philadelphia, American National of Galveston and many others are active on the campuses.

David Reeder, the 32-year old head of Northwestern Mutual's College Sales Organization, says "undergraduates haven't really changed tremendously since his student days. "Most of them will admit that, in the long run, they look forward to settling down to a conventional life style with a wife and kids," Roeder said.

The Merry Pet

By DR. LINDA M. MERRY, D.V.M.

Question: I would like to have my dog spayed but I've heard it will make her fat and lazy. Is it best for them to have one litter first?

Answer: To begin with, the only way one can "spade" a dog is to bury her with a shovel. No one knows how the word "spay" came into the English language — but the past tense is "spayed."

Spaying technically is performing an ovariectomy, removing both ovaries and the uterus. With removal of the ovaries, the production of female hormones comes to a stop and this lack can cause a slight slowdown in metabolism. However, there is no reason, and really, no excuse, for the dog's becoming "fat and lazy." If the animal shows a tendency to obesity, it simply involves cutting down the diet somewhat and providing adequate exercise.

The ideal time to spay your dog is at about six months of age. By that time she should just be approaching her first heat, will have developed the typical female characteristics of her breed, and be old enough to withstand anesthesia. Unless there is a particular reason for you wanting a litter of pups, it is to the dog's advantage that she be spayed as soon as she has reached early maturity.

Question: I know that I shouldn't give my dog chicken bones but will our steak bones hurt him?

Answer: There are two schools of thought on bones for dogs. The first says absolutely no bones. Instead, substitute chew sticks, a rubber bone, or dog bone biscuits.

The second (and one I belong to) says that dogs like bones and people get gratification from giving their dog a bone, so go ahead. But give him the right kind of bone. Go to your butcher and ask him for the large raw shank bone (femur) of a beef. Rover can chew on that until his teeth glisten and still not get enough off to harm him.

Never give your dog cooked or small bones of any type. These are soft enough that he can break them down and have severe problems with bones wedged in the mouth or esophagus, intestinal impaction, even intestinal lacerations.

If you have a question about your pet, send it to The Merry Pet column, care of the Times-News, Box 548, Twin Falls, 83301.

Dr. Merry will attempt to answer it, if possible in her column.

Where the rails met . . .

PROMONTORY, Utah — Only ghost trains pass this historic place, where in May, 1869, the golden spike was driven to complete the transcontinental railroad.

Except for a quarter mile or so of rebuilt trackage, these 'spectral trains' follow overgrown, long unused grades climbing to and passing through this valley bisecting a mountain range north of the Great Salt Lake.

While the trains may be spectral, hundreds of visitors to this spot unique in American history aren't. Aided by well-marked and paved roads, they come throughout the year with the late spring, summer and early fall producing the heaviest traffic.

Up until a couple of years ago — when the centennial of the driving of the golden spike was celebrated — the visitor found only a concrete obelisk bearing a bronze plaque marking the point where the United States' first transcontinental railroad was completed.

For the centennial, a modern visitor center was built. A couple of segments of track were laid on the original grades of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific lines. Rolled into place on these rails were two ancient steam locomotives, refurbished as replicas of the UP's No. 119 and the CP's Jupiter.

Flanking a marked crosstie, the engines stand as a monument to the men who conceived and built that rail line.

Inside the visitor center, tools, signs, drawings, films and literature tell the tale of rails laid to Promontory. That tale includes hardship, danger, death, and determination in its chapters.

To the east and west of the center which stands where once the rail junction of Promontory was located, traces of the old grades remain. Over part of the grades to the east of the visitor center at the national historic site, a marked tour has been established. A guide booklet available at the center tells the history of the parallel rail grades, the reason for the cuts and fills and unused trestle foundations, and about the unique Chinese arch.

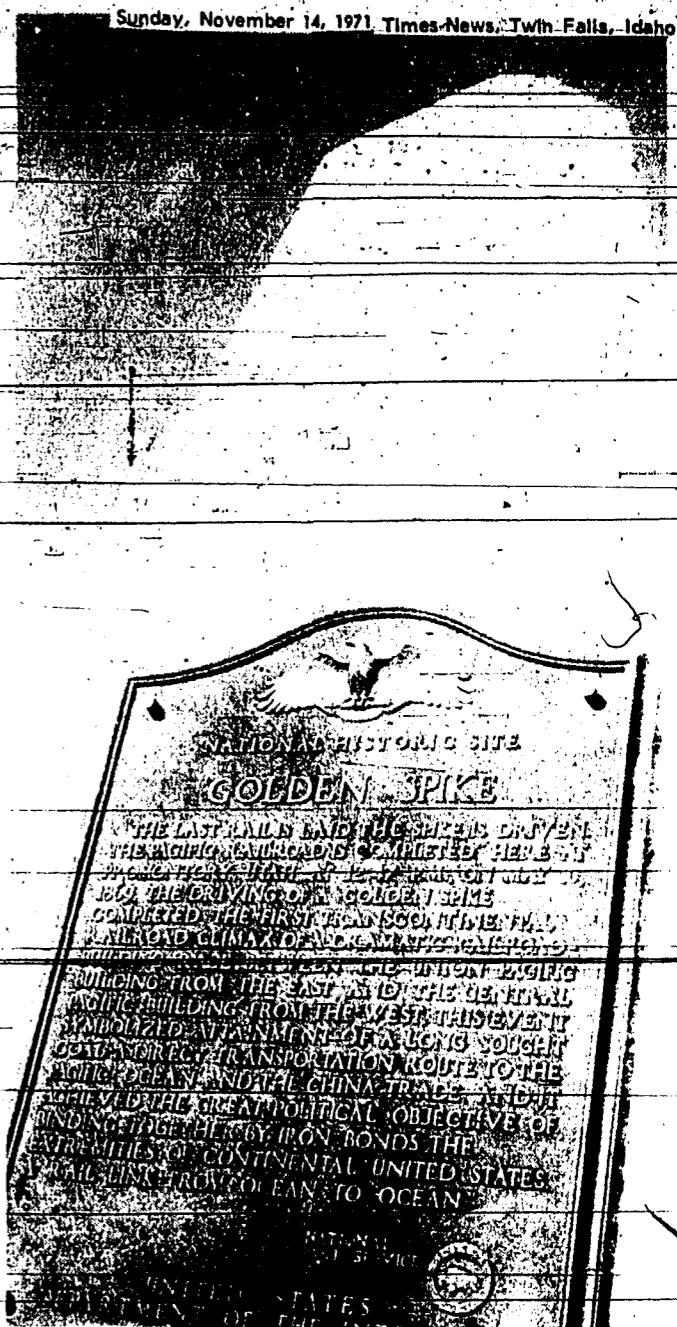

The latter is a rock formation pierced by a passageway resembling an Oriental arch. It is near the site of a construction camp occupied by the CP's Chinese crews.

Promontory as a town went into eclipse when the rail junction was moved east to Ogden a year or so after the lines met. Then the line north of the Salt Lake lost much of its traffic about 65 years ago when the Southern Pacific—successor to the CP — Built a cutoff across the lake. Three decades ago, early in World War II, the rails were pulled up and smelted for scrap.

Today, the Promontory visitor who walks a few rods beyond the relaid tracks and gravel paths can find among the grass and sagebrush disintegrating ties marking the location of sidings.

While cultivation of the valley floor in some areas has erased all but a trace of the parallel grades — built in a bid to secure as much track mileage as possible for the UP and CP lines — an observer can still see the rails' route up the grades east and west of Promontory.

Standing on that grade on an autumn day, a visitor may — if he listens closely — hear on the desert wind the coughing exhaust of steam locomotives battling their way toward the point where the rails met.

Former resident in ballet

TWIN FALLS — John Nelson, former Twin Falls resident and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, will be featured in Ballet West Dec. 1 in Twin Falls.

Nelson began his study of ballet at the age of 15 while a student at Twin Falls High School. After only 18 months of study, he won the top state scholarship to Sun Valley Music Camp, where he studied under the direction of Gordon Paxman, chairman of the department of ballet and modern dance at the University of Utah.

Paxman realized the talent of young Nelson and offered him a scholarship to the University of Utah Ballet Department. Nelson moved to Salt Lake City where he finished his senior year of high school at East High and studied at the university. A year later Nelson was accepted as a member of the Utah Civic Ballet Co., a predecessor of Ballet West. "He has developed into a fine and sensitive young artist. He possesses a sense of drama with an artistic perception that makes younger members of the company call on him for advice and help with their dancing," company officials said.

Nelson dances in "Irish Fantasy," "Filling Station," "Serenade," "Bravura," as well as several other ballets. He also has appeared as a guest artist with the Sacramento Civic Ballet. He is married to Janice James, leading soloist of the company.

Ballet West will appear here at CSI Fine Arts Auditorium. Proceeds from their performances will go for scholarships for young artists in Magic Valley. District No. 5 Junior Music Clubs with help from the Idaho Arts Commission and the Federation of Rocky Mountain States is sponsoring Ballet West. Two performances are Doris Youtz, ticket chairman, reports tickets for the matinee are going very well and encourages any student interested in attending to get his ticket at his school. Seats are still available for the evening performance and may be purchased at Warner Music, Garth Music, Rice Music or Sullivan's in the Lynnwood.

Demonstrations presented

FAIRFIELD — The November meeting of the Prairie Extension Homemakers Club featured demonstrations by some of the members.

Mrs. Jack Frostenson demonstrated making stained glass cookies for Christmas decorations. She made a cookie crust outline of the design and filled it with broken hard candy which was then melted in the oven. Mrs. Thomas Spackman demonstrated the making of mock "coal oil" lamps using footed tumblers, bowls, ash trays and other accessories and then gave the finished product an antique finish.

She also made hurricane candle holders from glasses. Mrs. W. D. Simon demonstrated making dried apple doll faces and dolls made of plain and dyed corn shucks and corn silk.

December wedding planned

JEROME — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Juanita Mauldin to Larry Golay is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Mauldin, Jerome. Golay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Golay, Jerome.

Miss Mauldin is a dance instructor and has her own studio in Jerome.

Golay is an ex-Marine, a student at the College of Southern Idaho and is presently employed at Volco Builders, Twin Falls.

A Dec. 4 wedding is planned with an open house reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 12 at the home of the bride's parents.

Pinochle winners

HANSEN — Mrs. Earl Tridle was high score winner when members of the Jolly Twelve Pinochle Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Wayne Smith.

Mrs. Virgil Ball was second high and Mrs. A. F. Daw, low. Special gifts were presented to Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Daw and Mrs. Smith.

School concert slated Thursday

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls High School Music Department will present a colorful, varied concert of orchestral, choral and band numbers during the fall concert Thursday at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

Del Slaughter, instrumental director at the high school, will open the concert at 8 p.m. Thursday with the high school symphony orchestra version of Bach's "Little Suite," a four-movement number from the Anna Magdalena Notebook.

The orchestra will continue with "Festival Overture" by Merle J. Isaac; four waltzes by Johannes Brahms; "Overture on French Folk Songs" by Laurence Powell, and the Mazurka from "Swan Lake" by Tchaikovsky.

The concert choir will take the stage next, opening with a religious number, "Give us Peace, Lord," by Heinrich Schütz. They will follow with "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by Bach; "Drop Slow Tears" by Wesley M. Harris; "Flower of Beauty" by John Clements; "Soft Rain;" by Janet Cox, and will conclude their portion of the program with a favorite of the students, "Rebirth" by Gershon Kingsley.

Choral director Richard Snack will direct the choir in their numbers.

Slaughter will return with the symphony band and the rousing "Emperata Overture" by Claude T. Smith, followed by the coronation scene from the opera "Boris Godunov" by Moussorgsky; "An Irish Rhapsody" by Clare Grundman; "March of the Magnificents" by John Cacavas, and will close with "Sounds of the Carpenters," also a Cacavas arrangement.

The next high school music department concert is scheduled for Dec. 16 at CSI. The Fourth District Music Clinic will work on its music Friday and Saturday, presenting a public concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, also at CSI, in which Magic Valley high school choral groups and bands will join forces to demonstrate their musical skills.

attends conference

TWIN FALLS — Marvin Glasscock, director of continuing education at the College of Southern Idaho, attended a five-day conference on adult education at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, Calif.
Glasscock, a board member of the Mountain Plains Adult Education Association, was named a delegate to the conference, during which all phases of adult education were investigated and differences in learning were discussed.
Glasscock said that CSI participates to the fullest in the adult education concept, offering classes in many subjects, including courses in learning to speak English and completing requirements for a high school equivalency diploma. Classes in other subjects will be scheduled when sufficient interest is shown. Anyone interested should call Glasscock at 733-9554, Extension 221.

Committees appointed

JEROME — Syringa Rebekah Lodge appointed a committee to discuss the possibilities of installing gas heat in the lodge hall with the Odd Fellows during a meeting this past week.
Members were reminded that the Nov. 22 meeting will be to honor the Past Noble Grands. Members are to dress in costume.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gerald Hite, Mrs. Lois Heading, Mrs. N. A. Spofford and Mrs. Laurel Ploss.

"Romeo and Juliet" scheduled Nov. 22

TWIN FALLS.—The National Shakespeare Co. of New York City will present "Romeo and Juliet," Nov. 22 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center.

Jointly sponsored by the CSI Lyceum Committee and the Idaho State Commission on Arts and Humanities, the acting company will offer two performances, a 1:15 p.m. matinee for area high school students, and an 8:15 p.m. performance for the public.

The professional acting ensemble, attired in finely detailed period costumes, will perform on an imaginative aluminum set especially designed and constructed to create a classical stage in almost any performance facility.

In staging Shakespeare, the company starts with the premise that the audience must understand the play it is seeing. To compensate for the barrier the Elizabethan language sometimes poses, the group uses varied stage action. Their aim is to "play Shakespeare straight."

Chartered as a non-profit educational organization, the National Shakespeare Co. first began touring the classics in 1963. Over the past eight seasons, the company has performed at almost every major educational institution, participated in numerous cultural enrichment projects, and has been sought as an audience builder by community arts councils and performing arts organizations across the country.

Tickets for the Twin Falls production of "Romeo and Juliet" are on sale at the CSI student union information desk and Helen's Record Shop. Tickets also will be available at the door.

CSI students will be admitted free if they pick up tickets by Nov. 19.

JULIET, portrayed by Sharyn Martin of the National Shakespeare Co., refutes a suitor in a tense exchange. "Romeo and Juliet" will play two performances in Twin Falls on Nov. 22. Both will be at the College of Southern Idaho.

DEAR ABBY: I've read you for years, but this is my first letter to a newspaper column.

I love and care for an aging parent. She is in her eighties and requires constant care. Bathing, feeding, etc. I do this routinely, 365 days a year.

My husband and I haven't had a vacation in 11 years. I get a "sitter" for a few hours occasionally, but it's expensive, so I don't do it too often. I need dental work, a physical, a chance to shop for clothes and shoes.

Those who bear the full responsibility of an aging parent, or a severely handicapped relative, know how mind-weary and bone-tired one can become in caring for that individual.

There are lots of people who are looking for hobbies to occupy their free hours. Why don't they ever think of telephoning people like me and saying, "I'll come over tomorrow so you can be free for a few hours."

Perhaps those lucky people who play golf and bridge and go to club meetings have never thought of what it's like to have a responsibility from which there is no relief.

"Generous" folks give freely of their money, but they give nothing of themselves for others.

Each day I think, maybe someone will call today. Or tomorrow. I am so tired. NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Readers? Have you a friend, or neighbor who could have written the above letter?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 22-year-old college senior, engaged to marry a 21-year-old girl (also a student) after graduation next spring.

While attending college away from home, my fiancée and I started attending church in this little college town, and we became very fond of the minister. In fact, we found him so much better able to meet our spiritual and personal needs than our pastor back home, we would like to have him preside at our wedding.

My parents see nothing wrong with this. But my fiancée's parents object strenuously. They say it would be like slapping our home pastor in the face in front of his whole congregation. They then suggested having both ministers preside at our wedding.

Having attended several weddings in which more than one clergyman presided, my fiancée and I agree it would be too much like a "circus," and we prefer only the minister of our choice. We would appreciate your opinion.

ENGAGED IN IOWA

DEAR ENGAGED: Clergymen have shared ceremonies for any number of occasions, and have done so with dignity and taste. But it's your wedding, and you should have the right to do it your way.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. I was all for her going back to work part-time now that our kids are in school, but little did I know where it would lead.

She got a part-time job in an architect's office, which she enjoys. Now her boss is trying to talk her into going back to college for one more year to get her degree, then get some additional training in urban planning! She's all excited about it.

We're not rich, but I do well enough as a salesman so she doesn't have to take a full-time job.

I think a woman should regard her husband and children as her first responsibility and let her husband bring home the bacon. Even if our income is doubled [which she thinks it will] she'd have to spend a lot on extra clothes, a cleaning lady, baby sitters, and I think the whole thing is crazy.

How can I get her to forget this career business and stick to a woman's most important job, being a wife and mother? Thank you. HER HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: If the women libbers get a hold of her, you'll have to throw in the towel. Tell your wife that while you still have children to raise, since she doesn't have to work full-time to balance the family budget, she should leave well enough alone.

Club Thanksgiving dinner planned

TWIN FALLS.—The annual Thanksgiving dinner for the Goodwill Club members and families was planned during the meeting this past week at the home of Mrs. George McGinnis.

The dinner is set at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 19 at the Twin Falls Moose Hall.

Mrs. Ed Orndorff, president, conducted the business meeting, with Doris Scherupp leading the flag salute and Marie Waring leading the prayer.

It was announced members are to have their dolls dressed and ready by the first meeting in December. These dolls will be given to the Twin Falls Firemen to be distributed to the needy children at Christmas time.

Jean Carr, parliamentarian, read the bylaws of the chapter and conducted a quiz for the parliamentary drill.

Chloe Carr paid her birthday pennies and secret pal gifts were received by Zorada Freeman, Evelyn Tyner, Nellie Orndorff and Jean Carr.

Food stamp program outlined

WENDELL.—The food stamp program was outlined by Mrs. Frank Orth and Mrs. Kirby Hill at the November meeting of the Home Improvement Club.

Members met at the home of Mrs. Jesse Dean and Mrs. Esther Gunther.

Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, president, opened the meeting with an article on friends. Roll call topic was holiday table decoration ideas.

Guests were Mrs. B. M. Callen, Mrs. Orth and Mrs. Hill. The December guest potluck luncheon is slated for 11 a.m. Dec. 7 at the Civic Club rooms. The Christmas program will be given by Mrs. Gunther, Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Ruth Waller.

Plans changed

HANSEN.—Plans were changed from a pancake supper to a mother-daughter banquet when members of the Hansen PTA met Thursday evening.

Time and date of the event will be announced.

Ted Crockett gave a report on legislature concerning a suit against property taxes in California.

Delegates named for Boise meet

BY HELEN WALKER
TWIN FALLS — This column will be devoted to answering a number of questions received on use of the dryer.

No. 1. "How can shrinking of knit underwear and T-shirts be avoided?"

The best way to guard against shrinking knit underwear and T-shirts is to dry them in the same load as Turkish towels. This helps to prevent the knits from getting too dry. Also, if T-shirts are removed from the dryer and shaped while slightly damp, shrinkage will be avoided. Cotton knits will shrink if allowed to become over-dried.

No. 2. "Will the dryer yellow clothes?"

NO — the dryer itself does not cause yellowing, but yellowing could be caused by one of the following. White cottons which have been heavily bleached may become yellow after being dryer-dried. Yellowing of clothes is often the result of poor washing because unremoved soil turns yellow when heat is applied.

Yellowing may also be caused by poor rinsing, because it allows a detergent or soap build-up in the clothes. Water containing a high iron content may cause clothes to yellow when heated in either a dryer or during ironing. Soft or softened water will help rinse clothes clear.

No. 3. "Can I dry just one or two items in the dryer?"

The answer is YES, but a couple of towels or other articles should be added to keep the clothes tumbling or billowing and to prevent them from riding around the surface of the drum.

No. 4. "What causes dryer-dried sheets to wrinkle?"

If your dryer is wrinkling sheets excessively, this might be due to over-loading or over-drying. Over-drying removes moisture content. When the dryer is overloaded, the sheets do not have room to tumble freely. Therefore, the drying time and the size of the load should be slightly reduced. This will eliminate heavy wrinkling and shrinkage.

No. 5. "What is the best way to test for dryness?"

Take some of the clothes out of the dryer, after it shuts off. You can then accurately test for dryness. Clothes tested in the dryer will always feel damper than they really are because of the warm moist air inside the dryer. If more drying time is needed reset the timer for additional time. Many of the newer models have sensors which turn the dryer off automatically when the proper dryness is reached.

No. 6. "What causes heat damage to sheer fabrics?"

Heat damage or heat fusing of items such as sheer Dacron curtains and sheer lingerie is caused by drying at too high a temperature for too long a time, or by the garments not tumbling freely. To avoid garments sticking to the sides of the drum, and becoming overheated, start with a cold dryer drum. If drying only a few pieces, add one or two bath towels to keep the garments tumbling freely. If your dryer offers a choice of temperatures always select the lower temperature or delicate setting for drying sheers. The air fluff setting may be all that is necessary for drying sheer Dacron curtains.

No. 7. "I still prefer to starch clothes; can these be dryer-dried?"

YES — But slightly heavier starch should be used. Starched garments should be dried separately so the starch will not rub off on other clothes. Check dryer to see that clothes are tumbling freely. Remove starched clothes from the dryer before they are completely dry.

No. 8. "Why is an automatic dryer recommended for permanent press garments?"

Permanent press fabrics have been cured by resin and heat either during or after construction. They tend to return to their original shape when heated air is applied, therefore, they require gentle, even heat and tumble dry action to shed wrinkles that have been set in the garment during the washing process.

Mail questions to Helen Walker, Home Service Representative, Idaho Power Co., P O Box 8, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301.

KING HILL — Plans for the "thank offering ingathering" were made at the November meeting of the King Hill United Presbyterian Woman at the home of Mrs. Charles Finlayson.

The thank offering will be held Nov. 21 at the regular church hour at the King Hill church, with Mildred Brown, Boise, a missionary who has been serving in Japan, as speaker.

Elected

TWIN FALLS Three Twin Falls women were elected to office when members of the Idaho Cosmetologists Association met this past week in Boise.

They include Lorene Nelson, secretary; Carolyn Pierce, treasurer, and Rita Lewis, financial secretary. Mrs. Kenneth R. Richey, Boise, was named state president.

A fellowship dinner will be held at 12:30 p.m. after the dinner. Miss Brown will show slides. She will speak to the young people of the church during the regular Bible School hour.

Presbyterian reports were given by Mrs. Nathan Miller and Mrs. E. B. Lawson on "Roles of Women in the Church."

Mrs. Finlayson was in charge of the Prayer Cycle, using India for the ecumenical, and Texas for the national. Mrs. Lawson, sewing secretary, asked for good clean used clothing for the overseas relief.

Mrs. Karl Carnahan, secretary, read a letter from Barbara Thorp, president of the Boise Presbyterian, with plans of activities for 1972. She also read the itinerary of Lois Star, moderator from the Presbyterian General Assembly. Miss Star stresses "Share Bread, Strike Hunger."

Mrs. Lawson gave a report on

Mrs. Harper Anderson Boise, who until her retirement was a dietitian at St. Luke's Hospital. She is preparing to leave for Cusan, Korea, to work as a dietary consultant.

The Presbyterian committee for interpretation urges all members to write area missionaries. Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Polly) Kurtz, P.O. Box 1111, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Africa.

Mrs. Carnahan used "Temperance" for the ceremony of the least coin, and prayer from Irene Kovaks.

The Dec. 6 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carnahan at 6 p.m. with a potluck dinner featured. Husbands and children are invited for the Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Jack Crane assisted Mrs. Finlayson in serving refreshments.

Soloist featured at meeting

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ogle Wall, Kimberly, sang popular and sacred songs, accompanying herself on the piano, at the Unity Club meeting last week.

The potluck luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Attee. Esther Noble gave the collect and roll call was on "Things I am Thankful For" with many members expressing appreciation for living in America and also in Idaho.

November birthdays were observed for Eva Olson and Viola Atwood. A gift exchange will be held at the Christmas Party Dec. 8 at the home of Elizabeth Brizee.

Mrs. Albee was assisted by Marjorie, Deters, Verda Knablock and Wanda Vanausdell.

SHOSHONE — Delegates from the Shoshone Idaho Education Association chapter to the state delegate assembly to be held in Boise Dec. 4 will be Joe Nishimoto and Gene Harris.

They were named at a meeting of the Shoshone unit this past week.

Harry Haines, Boise, a representative of the IEA, spoke regarding the wage-price problems and teacher's wage increases.

Supt. Kenneth Crothers reported on plans to begin construction immediately for the new serving kitchen for hot lunch service at the high school. Shoshone district will pay 25 per cent. of the little more than $8,000 cost with the state and federal funds handling the remainder.

Gifts were presented Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jenkins for the new baby recently born to them; to Mrs. Ann Jansen on her recent marriage.

Sorority has model meet

TWIN FALLS — Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a model meeting this past week in the home of Marsh Gietzen. Each officer and committee chairman explained duties for the coming year to new pledges.

Providing a Christmas basket for a needy family was discussed as service project of the year.

Candy sale begins Monday

TWIN FALLS — Do mixed chocolates make your mouth water? Perhaps apples or cotlets or even mixed nuts turn your thoughts to candy snitching (in the privacy of your own home.)

Whatever your fancy, you haven't long to wait to satisfy your palate. From Nov. 15 through Dec. 13, industrious youngsters will be knocking at your door to herald the annual Camp Fire Girls' candy sale. Camp Fire Girls was begun nationally in 1910 by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick to provide wholesome activities for America's youth. Its Twin Falls Chapter was established in 1931 and later merged with neighboring cities to become the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls. Both locally and nationally the organization has strived to satisfy the needs of America's youth from the ages of 6-18. Receiving less than 25 per cent of its budget needs from the United Fund, the Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls finds its major means of funding in its annual candy sale effort.

The Magic Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls offers that a candy order placed after Nov. 15 will serve the double purpose of pleasuring satisfying your own fancy and of ensuring continuance of the worthwhile programs of the Camp Fire Girls organization.

AARP meet site changed Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Chapter No. 425 of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet Tuesday, Nov. 16, in the Methodist Church basement instead of the Parochial School basement as previously announced.

There will be a board of directors meeting at 1:30 p.m. and a regular meeting at 2 p.m. Officers will be elected and installed, with Mrs. Hannah Sessions, Pocatello, serving as installing officer.

Music will be furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig. Donations of trading stamps are needed for the coffee maker, officers announced.

Guests are welcome. Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Mary Bolton, 733-8209.

Educational seminar set Wednesday

TWIN FALLS — The Southern Idaho Regional Licensed Practical Nurses of Idaho, Inc., will meet for an educational seminar Wednesday at the Holiday Inn.

Registration is set from 8:30 to 9 a.m. with the introductions at 9 a.m. Paul Victor is the featured speaker at 10 a.m. with the film topic, "Positive Thinking." A no-host luncheon is set from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Dining Room.

Reports and exchange of ideas will be featured during the afternoon session.

Diehl wins blue pencil

TWIN FALLS — Homer Roberts won the red pencil for table topics and Ted Diehl won the blue pencil for best speech when members of the I.B. Perrine Toastmasters Club.

Leon Grieve was table topic chairman, with Ray Assendrup as toastmaster.

This meeting was a joint gathering with the Jerome Club at Wood Cafe. The Jerome group will meet with the Twin Falls club Monday.

Speakers were Kent Kirt, Twin Falls; Ray Baker, Jerome; Charles Green, Twin Falls, and Ted Diehl, Jerome.

JULIA YOUNG

Miss Young, Ploss plan May rites

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Young, Rupert, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Julia Denese, to Warren Robert Ploss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurel D. Ploss, Jerome.

Miss Young is a 1969 graduate of Minico High School and attended the University of Idaho and the College of Southern Idaho. She is employed at Hudson's Shoe Store, Twin Falls.

Ploss is a 1969 graduate of Jerome High School and will be graduated from CSI this spring with a degree in business. He is employed by CSI as a dormitory resident assistant.

A May 20 wedding is planned at the First Christian Church, Rupert.

Couple weds

KING HILL — Mrs. Irene Parish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tompkins, and William Carnahan, son of Mrs. Ida Carnahan, all Glenna Ferry, were married at Elko, Nev., Oct. 28.

They were joined at Jackpot, Nev., by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Carnahan, Pocatello, where they spent the weekend. Everett is a brother of William Carnahan.

The couple will reside in Glenna Ferry, where Carnahan is employed by Shrum Motor Co.

Annual benefit set Nov. 18

TWIN FALLS — A sure sign of the approaching holiday season is Junior Club's annual "Toast To The Holidays" style show and card benefit scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. at the Episcopal Church Auditorium.

This is the 12th annual fashion show sponsored by Junior Club, and is the club's oldest continuous project. The accent the last few years has been on presenting the year's current fashions in a new and exciting manner, and this year's show, complete with tuxedoed escort and formal background, is no exception.

General chairmen for the event are Mrs. Bill Warner and Mrs. Robert Paine. The fashions from Edsons will include the latest styles in sports clothes, day wear and evening dress.

Models include Mrs. William Routh, Mrs. Craig Neilsen, Mrs. Wayne Thiessen, Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Jay Sudweeks, Mrs. Rick Allen, Mrs. Grag Kadlec, Mrs. Robert Donnelley, Mrs. Fred Harder, Mrs. Gordon Edgar, Mrs. John McNeas, Mrs. Fred Ott, Mrs. Bill Cook, Mrs. Robert Hatting and Mrs. Lowell Lytle.

Highlighting the styles will be shoes from Hudson's Shoes, and hairstyles by The Stylist, the Springin' Set and the Holiday Inn Beauty Salon. Door prizes and favors will be given during the style show and card prizes will be awarded at the completion of the card benefit.

Narrator for the fashion show is Mrs. Gary Wignall, with background music played by Mrs. Leon Smith. Roger Vincent, Filer, will act as an escort for the models in formal attire.

Mrs. Tom Schafer is ticket chairman, assisted by Mrs. Bill Morrison. Tickets can be obtained by calling Mrs. Morrison at 733-3990, or from any junior club member. Other committee members include Mrs. Wesley Startin, programs; Mrs. Greg Kadlec, refreshments; Mrs. Robert Hatting, state decorations; Mrs. Rick Allen, table decorations, and Mrs. Terry Smith, door prizes and favors.

Mrs. William Kahn is publicity chairman; Mrs. Michael Glenn, lighting; Mrs. Barry Barlow, seating, and Mrs. Gary Jenkins and Mrs. James Purves, clean-up. Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase a telebinocular machine for the adult services division of the Child Development Center. This machine will be used for testing eyes and eye-hand coordination of handicapped children and adults. Last year's style show proceeds were used to purchase a drug film for the Magic Valley Film Library.

Business mushrooming

SHOSHONE The mushroom business is mushrooming! The 1971 season is the biggest in the commodity's history, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, Jeanene Annet, home economist, here said today.

Total production of mushrooms in America during the year ending June 30 was 207 million pounds, an increase from 194 million the year before. Pennsylvania produced more than 60 per cent.

Strong retail demand boosted prices. The crop brought growers nearly $90 million. Average price per pound reached 43 cents near the end of the season, according to the USDA.

Air shipments from Philadelphia amounted to more than half a million pounds. Processing of the fragile fungi increased. Use of the fresh mushrooms also advanced as more customers became interested in the delicacy. The report said that as the new season gets going in November, canners and retailers of the fresh product are expected to bid actively to replenish drained supplies.

More growing houses are being constructed. Commercial firms expect to boost their capacity by seven per cent.

Washable wallpaper comes in some way-out designs sure to please the school crowd. If you have some left over from a wallpaper job, cover the children's schoolbooks. Wallpaper usually is heavy enough to provide good protection and folds easily into covers.

Glass lamps for outdoor lighting are both decorative and functional. The newer designs are also easy to clean. Look for the types with glass panes that lift out or have hinged hoods

DAJA POSPICHAL

MIKE BATT

Sponsors needed for 2 students

TWIN FALLS — Two College of Southern Idaho students, Drahomir (Daja) Pospichal and Mike Batt, hope to join one of the four Up With People casts next January — if sponsors can be located who will donate $2,000 apiece.

The Up With People organization, which presented two concerts in Twin Falls in September, recruits new students during its travels. Each cast member works and travels with his cast for only one year, receiving qualified college-level instruction en route from traveling teachers.

The organization is contacted during its travels by a great many students wishing to join the cast, but can accept only a small number of the would-be performers. Sherry Machamer, a CSI student working to secure the sponsors for the two young men, said it is "highly unusual" for Up With People to accept two students from the same institution.

Since Up With People provides collegiate instruction, a "tuition" fee must be charge for each new member who joins. Miss Machamer said. Sponsors often include service clubs whose members conduct fund drives for the tuition.

"We haven't found anybody yet, but we're hoping," Miss Machamer said. The two students are both athletes and musicians, but vary as widely in background as can be imagined. Daja Pospichal, 21, a Czech refugee from communism, left his homeland for good in April, 1969, leaving his parents and other relatives. He corresponds only irregularly through the heavily censored mail allowed occasionally by the Communist masters of Czechoslovakia.

Daja played professional ice hockey before leaving his homeland, but is majoring in engineering at CSI, where he is now in his sophomore year.

Mike Batt, an Idaho native, graduated from Caldwell High School last spring and is attending CSI on a baseball scholarship. He has traveled to Mexico and Canada and several western states.

Both youths said their reasons for seeking to join Up With People include the close friendship among cast members, the concept of caring for other people that is developed by the organization and the ease in communicating they found when Up With People cast members visited Twin Falls homes for several days during their performances.

The Up With People organization includes four

Movie Review

By DAVID WOODHEAD
TWIN FALLS — "They Call Me Trinity" is a type of a western — Trinity, the "hero," is sort of a rambler — and the whole affair is best described as KIND of a movie.

The plot revolves around the age-old theme of "lets - help - the - poor - defenseless - farmers - against - the - mean - land - hungry - rancher." Naturally, the rancher wants the farmers to get out of "his" valley. The sooner the better, in fact. And, of course, the farmers would rather not leave.

Normally, in a story such as this, the rancher would try and fail to push the farmers out. He would be stopped in most cases by the sheriff of a nearby town. Usually, this sheriff is aided by someone — often an old acquaintance — who is just as fast and efficient a gunfighter as the sheriff. The odds are invariably bad for the sheriff, but somehow he always manages to win.

In "Trinity," this idea is twisted somewhat. The farmers are Mormons; the rancher is a horse breeder; the sheriff is a crook, and the man who comes to help is Trinity, the sheriff's brother. The intricate action that follows the combination of so many gnarls in one movie is, at best, difficult to describe. The plot remains simple, however, and probably nothing is more easily summed up than the underlying point about "Trinity": surely someone must be joking!

Nevertheless, while "Trinity" IS a put-on; it is not necessarily a put-off. If will, I'm sure, appeal to anyone interested in no more than a fun-time at the movies.

After all, it is occasionally amusing to laugh AT a movie instead of WITH it. It is sometimes even entertaining to see a movie for no other reason but to see one. Sort of a viewing for viewing's sake proposition.

Incidentally, "Trinity" is rated "G" (presumably because it contains only "mock" violence and shows no skin). It stars Terence Hill and countless Italians whose names I absolutely refuse to remember.

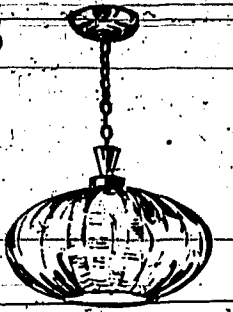

separate casts of about 120 performers each who travel throughout much of the world. The four casts will assemble in Quebec, Canada, next January to organize. The cast which the CSI students hope to join plans to travel to Munich, Germany, to perform during the 1972 Olympic Games, then to Mexico City for a tour.

The other casts will tour Canada and the United States. Daja, who speaks German fluently in addition to English, Russian, Polish and Yugoslavian, should have no trouble with the European tour, Miss Machamer said.

TF man elected to post

GENE KOPP

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls lounge owner was elected vice president of the National Licensed Beverage Association at its meeting in Chicago.

Gene Kopp, who operates the Cove Lounge on Addison Avenue West, will serve as vice president of the National Licensed Beverage Association at its meeting in Chicago.

Gene Kopp, who operates the Cove Lounge on Addison Avenue West, will serve as vice president, Rocky Mountain Region, of the association. Kopp also heads the Idaho Licensed Beverage Association.

The national meeting, which concluded Wednesday night, was attended by about 2,400 of the 87,000 members of the association. Kopp said the group is the largest trade association in the United States.

At the convention Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois signed a bill which will make it lawful for bar owners in his state to sell "hard" liquor on election days. Kopp said less than half the states still hold to an old law which permits sale of beer, but not "hard" liquor on election days. He said he advocates Idaho adopting a law similar to the new Illinois draft.

Kopp said another major item being faced by the national association is a trend by some to compare alcohol and drugs. He said that alcohol "is a drug" but

Allies will refuse to pay more on defense

BRUSSELS (UPI) — America's European allies will refuse next month when Washington asks them to start paying more for their own defense, a high North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) official said Friday.

"The Europeans are going to be unwilling and, in some cases, unable to meet the demands," the NATO official said.

The topic of more money from NATO members along with the possibility of negotiated East-West troop cuts likely will dominate the Dec. 8-10 meeting of NATO defense and foreign ministers.

American requests that the Europeans pay more for NATO defense led last December to adoption of the so-called European Defense Improvement Program. Under that arrangement, the nine European NATO members promised $1 billion for improvements in communications and air base facilities.

When Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird visited Brussels recently, he praised progress in the European Improvement Program. He also welcomed a West German offer to improve living conditions for U.S. troops stationed in Germany.

"But the Americans don't see this as being the end of the road," a NATO official said. "The Europeans can rightly point out that their program is spread over five years and that they will consider a new program at the end of that period."

"For the Americans, this is not enough," he said. "There has been great progress in the improvement program — although some countries cannot find the money to pay for it — but at the same time the national defense programs of many countries are falling way behind. The notable exceptions are Britain and West Germany."

there is no comparison of its effect and the effect of drugs. He said the national association plans to sharply oppose any move to classify drugs and alcohol in the same category.

The convention adopted a resolution urging an effort to obtain solutions to the problems of letter control and solid waste management and urging cooperation with organizations and companies outside the beverage industry.

The beverage association totally supports the Sky Ranch for Boys, a rehabilitative facility for young boys with problems, in northwestern South Dakota. Kopp said $40,000 for the center was collected at the national meeting.

Kopp plans to attend the next national association meeting in February in San Francisco.

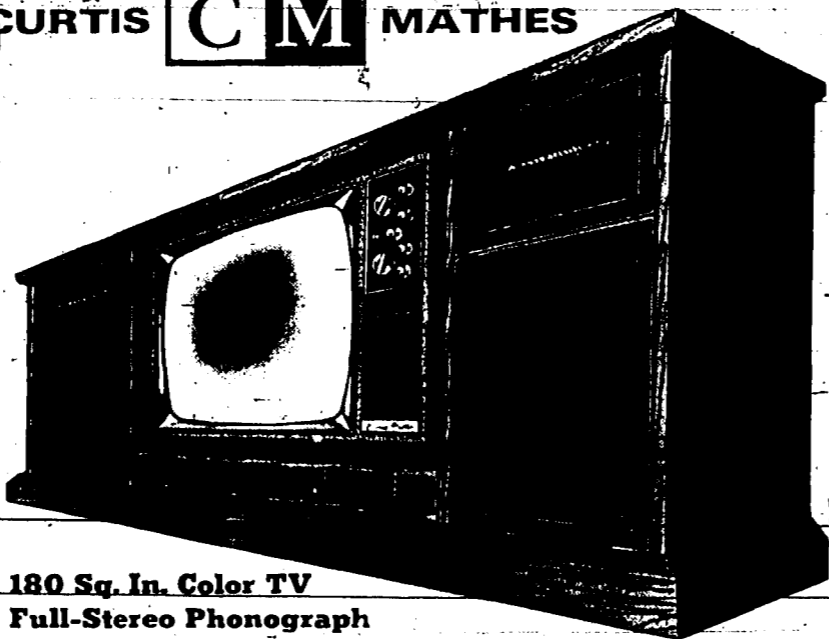

Others from Idaho attending the Chicago meeting were Edward Middlemist, Boise, state secretary, and Ed Pilkerton, Sun Valley.

United Fund slates final push Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls 1971 United Fund effort will make a final drive to top last year's record of $80,000 with a one-day all-out push on Tuesday, according to Darl Glead, UF executive director. Glead said all volunteer workers are asked to assemble at the UF offices in the Scout Service Center at 9 a.m. Tuesday to complete pledge cards which have not been turned in. New cards will be re-issued where needed by the UF office, Glead said.

As of Friday morning, the total in pledges and contributions equaled about $74,000 of the $112,000 goal. Though the full goal will probably not be realized this year, "anything over last year's record of $80,000 will make the campaign an unqualified success," Glead said.

Free refreshments will be provided for the volunteers, and 12 turkeys will be given as rewards for the day's top producers. Regardless of previous efforts, the turkeys will be awarded to the volunteers raising the largest donation total on Tuesday, Glead said.

This year's initial goal of $112,000 represented all member agencies' requests in full, and was set largely "to let the community know what the total needs were," Glead said.

The Twin Falls United Fund annual campaign usually averages about $4 per capita for the Twin Falls population, a figure close to the national average.

"We hope we can raise the per-capita figure to $5 in the near future, however," Glead said Friday.

Times for trees

TWIN FALLS — Persons planning to cut their Christmas trees in the South Hills were advised by Sawtooth National Forest officials today the tree permits will be sold on two weekends only this year.

They may be purchased Dec. 4 and 5 and again Dec. 11 and 12 from forest officials at the Diamondfield Jack Snowmobile parking lot just a mile above the Magic Mountain Ski Area and Rock Creek Ranger Station. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be no permits sold at the ranger's office in Twin Falls this year.

A permit allows the individual to cut a lodgepole pine or alpine fir of up to eight feet in height.

Trees must be cut and removed from the forest on the same day the permit is acquired. Only lodgepole pine or alpine fir may be taken and trees are not to be cut within 300 yards of a summer home area, organization site, campground or other developments.

Other regulations prohibit topping of large trees, and anyone found doing this will be prosecuted.

Forest officials reminded prospective tree cutters removing a tree from National Forest land without a valid permit will result in prosecution with the penalty not more than $1,000 fine or imprisonment for more than one year, or both.

Tall Texan

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI) — A six-foot tall jackrabbit has become one of the major tourist attractions in the West Texas town of Odessa. Many local residents thought it was a hare-brained idea when a travel director suggested the city build a monument to the area's number one resident. But the fiberglass replica of the long-eared bear has proved popular with visiting children since it was erected in 1962.

TF officials will participate in All-Idaho Week ceremony at Boise

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will participate in "All-Idaho Week" ceremonies at Boise State College next week with a display to be set up in the BSC Student Union.

Ray Rostron, Twin Falls chamber manager, said he and Evan Robertson, director of the Urban Renewal Agency, will be in Boise Monday, Tuesday and part of Wednesday, answering questions about the College of Southern Idaho and the Twin Falls economy.

All-Idaho Week was initiated by the University of Idaho in 1968 with the goal of emphasizing education in Idaho, with the focus on the state's colleges and universities and their communities. Since 1968, the aim has grown to include all advancements made in Idaho from year to year, including education, industry and commercial.

One college or university hosts All-Idaho Week events each year, with the focus on Boise State College this year. The week formally begins this Saturday with a BSC-Idaho State football game in Bronco Stadium, and continues on Sunday with the focus on religion in Idaho.

A number of civic and conservation groups in the state will set aside part of Sunday for a clean-up campaign.

On Monday, the emphasis shifts to commerce. Chambers of commerce from throughout the state, including Twin Falls, will present displays of their areas in the BSC Student Union during part or all of the week.

Rostron said the Twin Falls display will include photos of the CSI campus, the model of the downtown mall and other material on the Twin Falls area.

Other All-Idaho Week activities in Boise will focus on industry and the news media, Idaho government, education and recreation.

7 housing aides to attend meet

TWIN FALLS — Seven Magic Valley housing "specialists," including two College of Southern Idaho students, will attend the Governors' Conference on Housing in Boise next Friday and Saturday.

Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus is calling the conference as a follow-up to a housing workshop sponsored last spring by the Idaho Economic Opportunity office.

The featured speaker will be Samuel J. Strmons, assistant secretary of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, an arm of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Strmons will speak during a banquet on the evening of Nov. 19, with group discussions to follow on equal opportunity in housing.

Magic Valley delegates will include CSI students Mark Story and Bob Holland, representing the student-sponsored housing commission. They will attend with the approval of Dr. Adele Thompson, CSI housing director and dean of women, who said today she gave the pair a letter of approval.

Dr. Thompson said she emphasized the college's two principal problems in the field of housing — married students' facilities and housing for handicapped students.

The CSI Student Senate approved funds to send Holland and Story during the weekly senate meeting on Thursday, according to Story.

Others attending the conference will include Betty Wooten, representing the South-Central Community Action Agency, and four low-income spokesmen, including Ray Weatherbee of the Senior Citizens Agency; Sharon Farmer, sponsored by the Department of Public Assistance; Gary Krefl, speaking for the CAA Housing Committee, and Margaret Carter, Cassia County Head Start representative.

Zoning board divides action

TWIN FALLS — Action was taken on one request and delayed on another Thursday night by the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission.

Ed Woods, zoning administrator, said the board recommended for approval a proposal to rezone a plot of ground south of Filer from A-1 (agricultural) to RA-1 (residential agricultural) to allow for installation of a mobile home court. The change still must be approved by the board of county commissioners.

In other action the board postponed a decision until next Thursday on a preliminary subdivision plat presented by G.K. Hargrave. Woods said members of the board wish to view the site one mile west and two and a half miles south of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital before a decision is reached.

The planning board will meet in adjourned session next Thursday to reach its decision.

Woods said the board is investigating regulations or standards the county should follow to allow for construction of condominiums. Woods said there have been "two or three" requests to allow condominium construction and the board is polling other areas where such construction has taken place to determine problems this type of development might present.

Phone backlog

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI) — Malaysia has a backlog of 12,000 applications for telephones, says Chew Kam Pok, director of telecommunications. Chew said the backlog will be cleared by 1974 when the whole telephone system is overhauled.

Senator seeks to honor fellow solon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Easygoing Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire has been around the Senate long enough (21 years) to know that late in the evening the only welcome sounds are the ringing of four bells, signalling the end of the working day.

So it was a little out of character when Cotton rose from his chair the other night long after the standard-time sun had set to share some thoughts with his colleagues.

For a change, a late speech was a pleasant interlude. All Cotton wanted to do was honor his friend and colleague, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., by naming the consumer bill under consideration the Magnuson-Moss bill.

It came to him, Cotton said through a chance remark from an aide that a bill had never been named after Magnuson.

Mr. President, if a standpat, conservative, hide-bound, moss-back Republican wants to honor a fine, liberal Democrat who loves the people as the senator from Washington does, who is going to stop him?"

State welfare rolls shrink

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cutbacks resulting from extraordinary cost increases resulted in a net total of 84,000 Americans being dropped from state welfare rolls in July, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare reported Friday.

children, and 39 states reported withdrawing old age assistance from 11,000 persons. Some of the states also reduced welfare payment levels.

"Several factors appear to be contributing to the apparent leveling off of the welfare case loads," an HEW spokesman said, "the most notable being the recent efforts of states to cut back on payments and recipients because of the extraordinary cost rise in the past year."

Those designations, Ervin reminded Cotton and Sparkman, were accolades of the press and public, not the Congress.

Let Cotton explain—"A New England Yankee always has an ace in the hole. Congressman (John E.) Moss was the man who introduced the bill in the House. I understand he is a distant relative of our esteemed colleague from Utah in the Senate (Sen. Frank E. Moss), who is chairman of the consumer subcommittee."

It was the third straight month that declines in welfare enrollment exceeded additions, compared to an average monthly increase of about 2 per cent earlier in the year.

Hardest hit by the cuts were the elderly and needy families headed by women: Twenty states and the District of Columbia dropped 70,000 mothers and children under the program of aid to dependent

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Right now when every one is closing up the garden for winter many are wondering if diseased plants will be safe enough to put on the compost pile.

Generally speaking, most diseased plants can be cut down and composted without danger of re-contamination. There are a few exceptions. Peonies which have been attacked by fireblight or leaf spot should be cut off and tops destroyed. Infected leaves of iris should also be cut back and destroyed. Black spot of roses can be carried over on dead leaves laying on the ground. If the leaves are gathered and destroyed instead of tossed on the compost, you can greatly slow down or prevent the rate of leaf spot infection next year.

Compost containing diseased materials, if allowed to heat in "curing" process, has little chance to carry much insect or disease problems.

A fall clean-up will do a lot to reduce insects or disease troubles since these pests overwinter in leaves and rubbish left in the ground. Removal helps keep down infections next year. Even after crop residues have been removed from the garden, it doesn't mean you won't have some troubles next year.

Remember, insects and diseases are carried by wind, water, animals, and even people. Does winter cold kill off insects? You can't count on even a bitter cold winter to do this, since most bugs have a great tolerance to cold weather.

How about spading, or fall plowing? It covers much of the remaining refuse and causes it to decay faster, so less disease can survive the winter.

FREEZE YOUR PARSLEY: There are three different ways to have parsley during the winter months: you can freeze, dry or grow it. A pot of parsley in the window gives the average family all it can eat. If you've never frozen parsley, try it now. First, wash the stems and while still moist, roll a batch up into the shape of a cigar, cover with aluminum foil and put into the freezer. When ready to use, simply shave off what you want. You'd be surprised to see how green and tasty it is.

RENOVATE YOUR VIOLETS: As a violet ages, it often becomes ungainly looking. As it grows it sheds its lower leaves from time to time, and soon the plant looks like a small palm tree, with a bare stem. Renew the plant by taking off lower leaves, and cutting off some of the roots. Repot it in deeper than it grew originally. Do not water reset plants too much at first as crown rot may set in immediately.

ARALIA: Many homeowners are growing a foliage plant known as Aralia, or "false aralia," listed as Aralia elegantissima. It grows on foot-long stalks, with leaves narrow and toothed. This is a fussy item and will lose its leaves quickly if you don't give it warm temperature (80 degrees in day, 65 degrees at night); prefers good light, but not direct sun.

Soil mixture should be one third each sand, peat and loam, kept evenly moist but not wet. Incidentally, we don't want to scare you with jaw-breaking terms, but to show you how difficult it is for a garden writer to keep up with the names of some plants consider this — Aralia is also called Dzigothea, Fatsia, Polyscia and Tetrapanax.

LANDSCAPING STEP SLOPES: Slopes present a problem to many home owners. If you don't keep them mowed, they grow into a jungle and detract from the beauty of your home.

If grass is out of the question, then consider ground covers. Crownvetch is OK on steep, rocky slopes but don't expect it to compete with all weeds. Once it gets started, it'll do a good job of covering a slope. Needs full sun. Should be started by seed treated with a bacteria inoculum, or by plants.

Other suggestions include bittersweet (Euonymus) Hall's honeysuckle, pachysandra, and vinca. Pachysandra or Japanese spurge tends to develop yellowish foliage in full sun, dark green leaves in semi-shade. If you have the space, few things beat shrubs with attractive fruits and berries for winter effect and food for birds.

Some include Indian currant, red and green leaf barberry, snowberry, and honeysuckle, to name a few. Shrubs for shady banks include Indian currant (coral berry), snowberry and sweet honeysuckle. Vinca and myrtle also do well in a shady situation.

S-T-A-K-E-Y-O-U-R-RHODODENDRON: These shrubs often have a tendency to lie flat on the ground. If you happen to get a heavy snow it will really flatten them. It's a good idea to stake them to overcome this tendency.

Drive an iron stake into the soil. Then use a piece of rubber hose to loop around the branches. This will train and prop the plant so it will grow upright. We do this to upright arborvitae evergreens, especially if there's any chance of snow or ice to weight them down and bend them over.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. F. of Twin Falls: "Last summer we had bad luck with our tomatoes. They started out fine, but in August they wilted one right after another. The plants were growing near a walnut tree. A neighbor had tomatoes almost under a walnut tree and not a one of them wilted! A seedsman told us we should send a soil sample to a state college for testing. We want to know what to do for a better crop of tomatoes in 1972."

I'll list some possible causes of your trouble: Let's start with walnut wilt. Walnuts exude a poison from the roots and it will affect tomatoes and other members in the tomato family. Some tomatoes are more resistant to it, and this may account for your neighbor's good fortune.

Verticillium wilt is a fungus disease which causes leaves to wilt and turn brown. Verticillium is internal, hence no spraying is effective. Most home gardens are so small it's not practical to rotate crops, thus the disease builds up in the soil. Control: Plant disease-resistant types in 1972, such as Heinz 1350, Galaxy or Campbell 1327.

Fusarium is another fungus disease that lives in the soil for many years. It enters the root system, plugs up the plants' plumbing. A sure method of diagnosis is to cut into a branch. If inside is brownish-black, you have fusarium wilt.

Control consists of using wilt-resistant types such as Manalucie, Homestead, Heinz 1350, Campbell 1327, or New Yorker. Most garden soils harbor the fungus of the fusarium wilt for many years, so rotation is of little value. You won't be blue in '72 if you grow resistant varieties.

D. F. of Shoshone: "Our roses have lots of seed pods (hips) and we'd like to make a tea from them. Please give us a simple recipe."

Try this one: Wash the hips or pods, dry a little, then take both ends off, cut in half, dry thoroughly, put into glass jar and put lid on. For tea, using 1 heaping teaspoon of hips, pour over 1 cup boiling water, steep for 5 minutes, strain, and add a little lemon juice or honey, if you wish.

Rose hips are ripe when a bright scarlet color, and overripe when dark maroon; unripe when orange.

Use them when ripe, or bright scarlet color. Best hips are produced by the wild type Rugosa rose, but such hybrids as Tallismans, Herbert Hoover and others are good sources of Vitamin C.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

Q—I signed a contract with a reducing salon for treatments. I paid for 80 treatments. After 65 treatments, I had to stop for a while due to an illness. I had the definite understanding that I could continue my treatments when I recovered.

I went back to the health salon to renew my treatments and found that the place had closed. There was no notice, no forwarding address, nothing. My contract runs to 1973. Is there some way I can get my money back? — C.A.B., Lynn, Mass.

A—Lawyers tell me chances of getting a rebate on your health club treatments are slimmer than the beauty queen's hips on the ad they use. Lure you into membership. Most of the so-called reducing salons or spas are franchised chain operations. When one operator goes out of business, it's almost impossible to collect from the franchiser or any of the other chain outlets. They're protected through the contract which you probably didn't read very carefully.

According to the Federal Trade Commission, many thousands of consumers are hooked into signing long-term contracts with chain-operated health spas only to find that the spa folds or that many of the advertised services are nonexistent.

The FTC says prospective health club members should never sign long-term contracts without a lawyer's assistance. It's better to work a pay-as-you-go arrangement even if you miss claimed "savings" by signing for a long-term.

Best bet is to investigate the facilities of your local YMCA (most allow women members). The Y is reliable, often has good equipment and prices work out over the years to be considerably less than most "bargains" offered by clubs.

Q—Are there any laws that regulate mailing lists? Does subscription to a magazine or purchase of a mail-order product give them the right to sell my name and address to any interested buyer? How can we protect ourselves? — A. G., Los Angeles, Calif.

A—It's perfectly legal for any company to sell or rent your name and address to another company, providing information you give on the order blank isn't of a confidential nature (such as an income tax preparation company selling information on your personal financial status).

If you object to advertising sales pitches coming in through your mailbox, you can write: Direct Mail Advertising Assn.: 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. Ask for a "Mail Preference Service" application blank. DMAA has 1,600 members who sell through the mail and your name will be removed from each member's sales list.

Q—During the past two months I have noticed prices on several products offered for half price or for several cents off the regular price. When I went to buy a can of dog food and some shampoo offered at the special, reduced prices, the price was the same as I have paid in the past. What can we do to stop this defrauding of the public? — Mrs. R.N.H., Landing, N.J.

A—Get all the evidence of product names, prices and any printed advertising showing "cents-off" sales. Get in touch with your nearest Federal Trade Commission office (in the phone book under Federal Government). An FTC attorney said this may be a deceptive advertising practice which can be stopped if you can supply the right evidence.

TAKE NOTE: According to the Charlottesville (Va.) Consumer newsletter, several courts have recently ruled that accident victims cannot collect much, if any, damages if they're injured in an auto accident and are not wearing seat and shoulder belts.

Gas rates stable

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has authorized Intermountain Gas to continue its present rates until prices for its supplies are decided by the Federal Power Commission.

Intermountain Gas was given an interim five per cent rate increase March 10 on the understanding that if an application by El Paso Natural Gas Company to increase its rates is denied by the FPC, the Idaho increase will be returned to customers.

In the meantime, El Paso has applied for still a second increase with the first application still before the FPC. El Paso has, however, been allowed to raise its rates pending a final decision.

Intermountain Gas suggested it be allowed to maintain the current rates rather than seek another interim increase to match the increase of its supplier.

The IPUC said if by April of 1972 the FPC has not entered its decision on El Paso's original application the Idaho commission will without further hearing either issue an amended order or a new order.

Idahoan offers silver buying bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, has introduced legislation which would permit the secretary of the treasury to purchase silver at any price in the market.

The present law requires the secretary to purchase only silver tendered to the treasury at $1.25 per fine Troy ounce.

McClure's proposal would amend the law to authorize the secretary to buy silver "at such greater price (if any) as he may determine from time to time to be appropriate."

"Passage of my bill would put the silver producers on an equal footing with those who produce other coinage metals," McClure said.

"There is no reason in this world why this prejudice against silver should be permitted to continue down at the Treasury Department."

Earlier this year several bills were introduced providing for medals and coins to be issued in conjunction with the American bicentennial celebration in 1976.

Many of the measures left the metallic content up to the discretion of the Treasury Department.

McClure later asked the Treasury Department why it did not prepare for the coins by purchasing silver at the below-normal price prevailing at the time and was told the existing law prohibits them from making purchases at any price other than $2.35 per fine Troy ounce.

Sedative drugs are manufactured for medical purposes to reduce tension and anxiety, to treat certain psychosomatic disorders and to induce sleep, the Public Health Service reports.

BY UNTEDPRESS INTERNATIONAL
Earl L. Butz has been a farm boy, an editor, a debater, an educator, and a politician.

Butz, born and raised on a Noble County, Ind., farm, Butz above all has been close to the soil for all his 62 years.

He lost in a three-way race for the bid to Edgar D. Whitcomb, who was elected governor of Indiana.

Butz served as editor-in-chief of the student newspaper and a member of the varsity debate team during his undergraduate years at Purdue. He received both his bachelor of science and Ph. D. degrees in agricultural economics from the school.

After getting his advanced degree, Butz stayed at Purdue as an instructor in agricultural economics. He rapidly moved up through the ranks first to the post of full professor and then in 1948, was chosen head of the Agriculture Department.

Butz was chairman of the department until 1954 when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower named him assistant secretary of agriculture and a member of the board of directors of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

While serving as assistant agriculture secretary, Butz headed the U. S. delegation to the International Food and Agriculture Organization based in Rome in 1955-56.

In 1967, Butz, his wife, whom he met at a 4-H Club camp, and their sons Bill and Tom, returned to familiar Lafayette, Ind., after Butz was named dean of Purdue's Agriculture School.

When Butz stepped down from the post to run for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Purdue President Frederick Hyde persuaded him to keep his faculty status.

He was named and accepted the posts of vice president for special projects for the Purdue Research Foundation and dean of continuing education.

As an officer of the foundation, which supports much of the research of the school by channeling contributions, Butz directed the just-completed Purdue centennial fund drive which raised over $26 million. It is this job that he resigned to accept the President's appointment.

Hardin predicts prices up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Outgoing Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin predicted today that farm prices will go higher and President Nixon will have "very good" prospects among farm belt voters in 1972.

Nixon Thursday announced Hardin's resignation, effective early next week, to accept a high-paying job with Ralston-Purina Co., of St. Louis. Nixon nominated as his successor Earl L. Butz, a Purdue University official who served as an assistant agriculture secretary during the Eisenhower administration. Undersecretary Phil Campbell will serve until Butz is sworn in.

In his farewell news conference, Hardin refused to predict what steps might be taken by Butz, who had said that corn prices are "too low." But Hardin indicated he did not expect Butz to move away significantly from basic administration policies.

Asked about farm lawmakers' proposals for government grain purchases and support increases, Hardin said these would be "great mistakes." He said that officials will want to study a new crop report estimating the record 1971 corn crop will be about 152 million bushels greater than anticipated.

Hardin acknowledged there had been "a lot of chatter" about farm belt discontent because of current low grain prices. But he said cattle and hog raisers are currently pleased about their price outlook and most corn farmers know they can hold their crops under federal support loans until prices improve.

Egg producers may ask control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farm sources report they expect a major group of egg producers to ask congress for a new production-control plan designed to rescue the egg industry from its current price slump.

A congressional source said the proposal was expected from United Egg Producers (UEP), a major cooperative marketing federation representing producers in parts of the southeast, northeast, midwest and Pacific coast regions.

The plan is being pushed, sources said, because many producers report they are currently losing money on every dozen eggs they sell.

"They're very definitely operating at a loss," confirmed William E. Hauser, head of the Agriculture Department's poultry branch here. Hauser said many producers have been operating in the red since the beginning of summer.

Many, he said, are not getting enough on current markets to pay for feed. Some are losing Small farmers with flocks of under 5,000 or 10,000 hens would be exempt from the cutback regulations, sources said. But the larger producers affected by the plan would face penalties if they failed to comply.

Initial administration and congressional reaction to the plan so far has been cautious. One farm official predicted here that if widespread backing from all segments of the egg industry can be demonstrated, the proposal will draw administrative support and strong congressional backing.

But if the egg industry appears divided, the plan would have tough sledding.

1971 corn crop rises to record-breaking levels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 1971 corn crop, zooming to record, price-depressing levels this year despite a feared attack of leaf blight disease failed to make serious inroads, improved 3 per cent during October and was estimated on the basis of Nov. 1 conditions at 5,551,769,000 bushels, the Agriculture Department reported Thursday.

The new estimate, record high, was 152.1 million bushels above the Oct. 1 forecast of 5,399,670,000 bushels. The increase over last month's estimate more than offset the recently announced Soviet Union agreement to buy some

Dairymen to discuss pollution

TWIN FALLS — Dairymen will discuss disposal of animal waste from feedlots and other areas in a series of five meetings during December in southern Idaho, according to George Cleveland, dairy specialist for the University of Idaho Extension Service.

Cleveland said meetings are scheduled for the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls on Dec. 16, and the Ramada Inn, Burley, the preceding day, Dec. 15. Other conferences will meet at Preston, Idaho Falls and Caldwell.

Paul Shea, an agricultural engineer for a Minnesota power utility and W. C. Fairbanks, a California extension service agricultural engineer, will offer their suggestions based on their experience during the regional meetings.

Representatives of public health agencies will attend the meetings, while cooperative financing will be discussed by spokesmen for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Don Papenberg, manager of the Idaho Dairy Products Commission, will discuss operations of the commission during 1971 and will present plans for the 1972 season.

80 million bushels of U.S. corn. The bumper crop is far above domestic and export use prospects, and the resulting surplus situation has been complicated by dock strike tie-ups of exports. In response, the administration has already announced plans for more than doubling the acreage to be retired on feed grain farms under next year's farm support program.

The new corn estimate was 35 per cent bigger than last year's blight-ravaged crop.

Overall, prospects for all crops improved 1 per cent during October. As of Nov. 1, the crop reporting board's all-crop production index was a record 13 per cent above the 1967 average. The index of per-acre yields was also a record high at 8 per cent above 1967.

The crop board also said Nov. 1 prospects indicated (a record) soybean crop of 1,200,201,000 bushels, up 2 per cent from last month and 6 per cent above last year's record harvest of 1,135,769,000 bushels.

Grain sorghum was estimated in the Nov. 1 report at 689,894,000 bushels compared with 892,108,000 bushels last month and 697,050,000 bushels last year.

The estimated total production of all livestock feed grains — corn, grain, sorghum, barley and oats — at a record 206 million tons, up 2 per cent from a month earlier and 29 per cent from a year earlier.

The forecast for wheat production was unchanged from last month at a record 1,627,575,000 bushels compared with 1,378,465,000 bushels last year.

Potato growers file suit

BOISE (UPI) — Four eastern Idaho potato growers have filed an anti-trust action in federal court alleging they lost $2.5 million because of manipulation of potato futures market on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Kent Gnetting, R. Lon Walker, Oscar Ellsworth and Ronald Ball brought the suit, asking it be declared a "class action" on behalf of all persons who acquired a "short or hedge position" on the market last May.

They alleged anti-trust violations on the part of 18 individuals and corporations handling potatoes on the exchange, claiming they conspired to control exchange prices of Idaho potatoes at an "artificially" high level by creating a short supply situation not justified under normal supply and demand conditions.

Bengals fashion upset on four interceptions, make Idaho loop champ

BY LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor

The basketball season is just around the corner and the rules boys have come up with another of those changes that will make it tough to remember the game. This year the five-second rule will be in force about all the time. The five-second rule previously meant that whenever an offensive man, while closely guarded, held the ball for that amount of time, a jump would be called. The offensive man could break that if he held it for four seconds, then started dribbling. In the forecourt area, starting to dribble means nothing. A man holds it for four seconds and dribbles for one, it's a jump this year.

The forecourt area consists of the floor from the baseline to a point 28 feet toward the center. From that point it is called mid-court. In that area, an offensive player may actually control the ball for 12 seconds thusly — hold for four seconds, dribble for four seconds and hold again for the same amount of time. So the dribble can take the count off in the mid court.

There is one instance where the count is suspended. A man at four seconds on the count, makes a definite move for the basket and the count is suspended. If the man dribbles on through, the jump is called. However, he may either shoot or pass off without the rule being invoked.

This rule is insane because it makes officiating even more impossible. It appears the rules committee is moving to the 24 or 30-second clock ala the pros. That would be preferable to their halfway measure. All an official will do now is count. In fact, the Big Ten conference is hiring three officials for every game — two to call the usual infractions and the third simply to count.

Some coach like Eddie Sutton isn't going to like the new rule much. It is evident the national body is moving to the "early offense," the latest slang for the old run and gun.

Loren Shockey, son of former Twin Falls footballer Lyle and Mrs. Shockey now of Boise, has a start in motorcycle racing that might defy comparison. Only an eight-year old, Loren, racing in the 60 CC mini-bike class and against people twice his age, he placed in 14 of 18 races this past summer. His biggest win came in the Idaho state mini-bike championship race.

POCATELLO — The opportunistic Idaho State Bengals build up a 21-3 lead midway through the third quarter on pass interceptions and then fought off a furious Eric Guthrie-led rally to defeat the Boise State Broncos 21-17 Saturday night.

The victory was the first ever for ISU over Boise State — although the series was waged only four years — and as a sideline knocked Boise State out of the Big Sky Conference race and presented the championship to University of Idaho.

But the victory came hard as Guthrie, who was the victim of the four pass interceptions, turned to the short passing game and five times took the Broncos into Bengal territory — three times seriously in the final 20 minutes. The first two times Boise State scored and the third time moved to a first down at the Bengal three. But at that point, ISU threw two running plays for a minus three yards, a pass went incomplete and then Guthrie's field goal — at near point-blank range hit the right upright and bounced back onto the playing field.

That came with seven minutes left. Twice thereafter Boise State put together three first downs to move inside the 40 but Guthrie missed prayer-like field goal attempts of 51 and 50 yards. After the third one, Idaho State, which didn't have a first down in the fourth quarter to that point, then gambled on a fourth and two-inches situation at its 29-yard line and got the first down. The Bengals added another one in controlling the ball the last 2:38.

The game was filled with key mistakes that cost both teams dearly and penalties seemed the rule rather than the exception.

The first mistake came in the early going when BSC took the opening kickoff and stuck to the group for seven plays. The Broncos covered 69 yards and got a first down at the eight. It appeared BSC had a touchdown on the next play but the runner was hit just short of the goal, causing a fumble that bounced into the end zone where ISU's Phil Spain fell on it.

ISU had to punt soon after and the Bronco, starting from their own 11, drive to the Bengal 18 before running out of downs. Guthrie drilled a 35-yard field goal with 7:35 left.

ISU's second break came on the second play of the second period when West intercepted a Guthrie pass and returned it to the Boise State 13-yard line. James Jackson scored from there on a pitchout and Steve Beller converted to make it 7-3 with 13:33 left in the half.

After a punt exchange, Boise put together another drive with Don Hutt catching three passes of eight to 13 yards and Hoshaw picking up 12 to get into ISU territory. The Broncos moved to a first down at the IS 20 but two plays later Phil Price picked off a Guthrie pass at the ISU 10 and waved his way for 60 yards to the Boise State 30. With 1:30 left in the half, Jackson took a pitchout and started a sweep, then suddenly straightened up to hit Mike Hancock in the end zone 22 yards away. Beller converted.

Boise had a chance with 23 seconds left when it recovered a fumble at the ISU 28. But Louie Hurst of Bellevue intercepted in the end zone to kill that.

The second half opened with the teams getting two first downs each, then punting. Boise's Dave Ober fumbled at the BSC 29 and Dennis Shorrock fell on it for the Bengals. A pass interference call gave ISU a first down at the nine but that came back on a 15-yard penalty against the Bengals on a play that saw Tom Lee hit Davis in the end zone. ISU blew the chance on the next play when Joe Larkin intercepted at the three.

A pass interference call gave BSC a first-down but two plays after that Jim Jones picked off another Guthrie pass and romped 34 yards for he clinching touchdown.

From then on it was all Boise. Guthrie hit Hutt, Reiner,

Marshall and Reiner again for 41 yards, then came back with a 15-yard to Hutt to the ISU one. Bill Stevens went in form there. ISU had to punt on the final play of the third period and BSC came right back. The touchdown came on a 13-yard pass to Johnson and Guthrie converted to make it 21-17 with 13:00 left.

Then came the big goal line stand. BSC covered a fumble at the 23 and moved to the three when ISU held, the field goal bounced away and only the long field goal attempts remained. Idaho State's upset of the fourth-ranked small college team in the nation gave the Bengals a 6-3 record and lowered Boise to 8-1. Boise is 4-2 in the conference against 4-2 for Idaho State which hosts Weber in the Minidome next week.

Ali gets 7-1 nod over Buster Mathis

HOUSTON (UPI)—Muhammad Ali, moving toward another shot at heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, is a 7-1 favorite to annihilate 255-pound Buster Mathis in their 12-round fight in the Astrodome Wednesday night.

The fight will be the first for the 6-foot-3 1/2 Mathis since he lost a 12-round decision to Jerry Quarry-March 24, 1969. The 32-month layoff is a major reason why Mathis is given such a slight chance of winning.

The fight is expected to draw about 25,000 fans at a live gate of almost $200,000. There will be no home television or radio, but it will be televised worldwide on a closed circuit network.

Texas Tech shuts out Baylor

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Tech, led by sophomore quarterback Joe Barnes and Jimmy Carmichael capitalized on Baylor mistakes Saturday to defeat the Bears 27-0 in a battle to stay out of the Southwest Conference cellar.

Barnes, directing the Raider attack the first three quarters, ran for a pair of three-yard touchdowns and Carmichael threw a fourth-quarter 30-yard scoring pass to sophomore tailback Benjie Reed for the third touchdown. Sophomore kicker Don Grimes added field goals of 23 and 33 yards and all three extra points.

The victory left Tech with a 2-4 conference record and a 4-6 season mark. Baylor is winless through five league games and is 1-7 for the year.

Baylor, which had not lost a fumble in its last six games, turned the ball over on three mistakes and also had three passes intercepted by the conference's top pass defense.

Colorado St. has first win

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—A record 157-yard running performance by Lawrence McCutcheon sparked a Colorado State first-half scoring splurge Saturday and the Rams went on to win the first game of the season 38 to 14 over West Texas State.

The non-conference contest broke a nine-game Ram losing streak that extended to last year as a gusty 60-mile wind nullified both teams' passing efforts.

McCutcheon set a school and Western Athletic Conference (WAC) career rushing record in the game.

He now has 2,661 yards for three years, breaking the league mark of 2,649 set by Art Malone of Arizona State.

Ali, who will weigh about 225 pounds for the fight, will be making his second start since he lost a 15-round decision to Frazier in their epic championship bout last March 8. Ali, who has won 32 of 33 fights and 26 by knockouts, stopped Jimmy Ellis in 12 rounds in his first fight after the Frazier loss.

Ali, 29, is keeping active for another fight with Frazier, possibly within six months. All also is making money, being guaranteed $300,000 or 40 per cent of all receipts in the Mathis fight.

Mathis' owners, who wanted their man to get a crack at Ali, put up $200,000 of the guarantee. Mathis is to receive 15 per cent of the receipts.

Ali calls the fight "Buster's Last Stand."

"I'm going to do to Buster what the Indians did to Custer," Ali says in taunts to the hulking Mathis.

The fight will be the most important of Mathis' career. If he wins, he has earned a shot at Frazier's crown. If he loses by a lopsided margin, he will be retired or relegated to second-rate fights.

Mathis, 27, has won 29 of 31 fights and at one time was considered a top-flight contender for the heavyweight championship. He fought Frazier for the New York state heavyweight title March 4, 1968.

Ali and Mathis both say that Mathis beat Frazier for 10 rounds, but Frazier knocked him out in the 11th.

"We studied the movies of that fight before I fought Frazier," Ali said. "He did better against Frazier than anybody."

Mathis said his quick hands gave him an advantage over Frazier for 10 rounds and they will be the key in his fight with Ali.

Homedale overpowers Shoshone

HOMEDALE — Ray Garcia romped for four touchdowns and 164 yards Saturday afternoon to pace Homedale to a 52-18 victory over the Shoshone Indians.

Garcia led a rushing game that amassed over 400 yards and Homedale, which wound up with a perfect 11-0 record, turned to the air for 59 yards. Two of the aerials went for touchdowns. Homedale was the Southwest Idaho Conference champion.

Shoshone, which wound up co-champion in the Little Five Conference and won the first-place designation through a flip over Wendell and Glenns Ferry, was held scoreless until the third quarter.

Garcia shoved Homedale ahead with a two-yard burst in the first period and Echevarria threw to Hoyer for the two points. In the second quarter, Echevarria scored from a yard away and Yamamoto ran for the extra points. Garcia then scored the next two touchdowns. He got the first one from a yard away, then took a 13-yard pass from Echevarria. He also caught the conversion pass after the second one.

Tim Pagoaga got Shoshone on the scoreboard in the third quarter with a four-yard run but Yamamoto nullified that with a two-yard plunge and he also converted. Pagoaga got the second Shoshone score from two yards away.

Homedale added two more touchdowns in the fourth quarter, Garcia shaking loose for 51 yards and Takasuki winding it up with a four-yard burst. Campbell booted the last two points.

Fed Evert took a 40-yard pass from Pagoaga and broke two tackles to score standing up.

The game was marred in the third quarter by a fight that saw one Shoshone player sent to a hospital.

Houston batters Va. Tech

HOUSTON (UPI)—Fullback Robert Newhouse scored three touchdowns and quarterback Gary Mullins passed for three and ran for one to power the University of Houston to a 56-29 triumph over outclassed Virginia Tech Saturday night.

Newhouse, the Nation's No. 3 rusher, gained 201 yards on 27 carries to bring his season's total to 1,408 for nine games. His touchdowns came on runs of 18, 3 and 2 yards.

Mullins sneaked one yard for a touchdown and threw scoring passes of 13 and 8 yards to tight end Riley Odoms and 33 yards to split end Pat Orchin. Second team quarterback D. C. Nobles hit flanker Willie Roberts with a 38-yard pass for Houston's other touchdown.

The victory gave the 14th ranked Cougars a 7-2 record and kept them in contention for a bowl bid.

Fullback Jim Polito scored twice for Virginia Tech, on plunges of one and two yards.

LSU quarterback ties record in win over Mississippi St.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Quarterback Paul Lyons ran for two touchdowns Saturday night to tie a 25-year-old school record and lead Louisiana State to a 28-3 Southeastern Conference victory over Mississippi State.

Lyons, a junior, raced 13 and 15 yards for touchdowns as the potent LSU offense kept mainly on the ground to subdue the stubborn Bulldogs. Quarterback Bert Jones, alternating with Lyons, scored on a two-yard run and tailback Chris Dantin added the other touchdown on a three-yard dash. Jay Michaelson was successful on all four extra point attempts.

The only scoring for Mississippi State came on a 23-yard field goal in the first quarter by Glen Ellis. The rugged LSU defense managed to contain the Bulldogs' new wishbone offense for the remainder of the night.

The two touchdowns by Lyons tied a record set in 1946 by Y.A. Tittle for most touchdowns scored and responsible for in a single season. Lyons boosted his record to six touchdowns running and nine passing.

LSU scored one touchdown in each quarter to rebound from two consecutive setbacks which began two weeks ago in the same Mississippi Memorial Stadium in a loss to Ole Miss.

Dantin returned the game's opening kickoff 59 yards to the Mississippi State 36 to set up the first Tiger touchdown. Lyons and tailback Allen Shorey alternated on a fourplay series that moved the ball to the 13 where Lyons dashed into the end zone. A 21-yard sprint by Dantin and a 15-yard penalty against MSU moved LSU into position for its second touchdown midway in the second period from the Bulldog 20. After a couple of short LSU runs, Jones rolled around right end for the final two yards. Ellis booted his 23-yard field goal midway of the first period when a Bulldog drive stalled at the Tiger six.

After exchanging punts, LSU launched its third quarter scoring drive with an 18-yard pass from Lyons to Gerald Keigley and a 17-yard run that moved the ball to the Mississippi State 24.

Michigan edges Purdue, clinches Rose Bowl trip

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Deadly Dana Coin booted his second field goal from 25 yards with 43 seconds left Saturday to squeeze unbeaten Michigan to a 20-17 victory over Purdue, the Big Ten title and the Wolverines' second Rose Bowl trip in three years.

Three times the lead changed hands before the third-ranked Wolverines shook off aroused Purdue. Michigan's winning drive started from its own 38 with 4:12 minutes left. With 52 seconds to play, Coin was sent into the field to boot his gamewinning three-pointer from the 15-yard line. Only 38 seconds were left when Purdue regained possession. The Boilermakers, with substitute quarterback Steve Burke at the controls, reached the Michigan 38 when time ran out and Purdue took its fourth consecutive big ten loss.

Big Ten athletic directors will go through the formality of declaring Michigan the conference choice for the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day at the conclusion of next Saturday's final league games.

Purdue scored touchdowns in the first and third periods on the passing of Gary Danielson, who was injured for the third time this season in the third period. Otis Armstrong took a 9-yard scoring pass from Danielson and Darryl Stingley grabbed a 66-yard bomb.

Michigan, held scoreless in the first period, scored its first touchdown in the second quarter, Ed Shutesworth smashing over from the one-yard line. Coin then kicked his first field goal from the 10-yard line for Michigan's 10-7 halftime lead.

Northwestern shocks Ohio State in upset

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (UPI)—Fullback Randy Anderson scored from the one-foot line midway through the final period to hand Northwestern a 14-10 win Saturday over Ohio State which dropped its second consecutive game.

Ohio State took a 7-0 lead in the first period on a seven-yard run by quarterback Don Lampka but the lead was short lived as Greg Strunk returned the ensuing kickoff 93 yards to tie the score at 7-7. The other Buckeye score came on a 27-yard field goal by Fred Schram to give Ohio State a 10-7 halftime lead.

After a scoreless third period, Northwestern drove 63 yards in 18 plays for the winning touchdown by Anderson. The drive, which consumed seven minutes 35 seconds was all on the ground with the exception of a 17-yard pass from quarterback Maurice Diagneau to tight end Steve Craig.

Anderson carried eight times for 29 yards and Al Robinson carried seven times for 28 yards in Northwestern's winning drive.

Ohio State's first touchdown came with 4:19 left in the first quarter after guard Jim Kregel recovered a fumbled punt on the Northwestern 16-yard line.

On fourth and one, Lampka faked to fullback Rick Galbos, then raced untouched into the end zone.

But Strunk took the ensuing kickoff on the Northwestern seven-yard line and raced straight up the center of the field behind a wedge of blockers, broke clear at the Wildcat 40 and was gone.

Ohio State's second-period field goal was set up by Harry Howard's second pass interception of the day which he returned 17 yards to the Northwestern 12.

San Jose defense stymies Stanford in 13-12 surprise

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Larry Lloyd and Lawrence Brice scored the touchdowns but it was San Jose State's defense, anchored by Dave Chaney, and five missed field goal tries by Stanford's Rod Garcia that paved the way Saturday for the Spartans 13-12 victory over the highly favored Indians.

San Jose State, beating

Stanford for the first time since 1960 and only the third time in 28 meetings, scored both of its touchdowns on Stanford mistakes. The Indians, ranked 10th in the nation and favored by 20 points, suffered their third loss in 10 games.

San Jose State took a 7-0 lead in the first half when Lloyd smashed over from the one after Stanford turned the ball over on a bad snap from center in a kicking situation.

Indians punter Steve Murray tried to run the ball out of his own end zone and was hit by Chaney at the one. Two plays later, Lloyd scored for a 7-0 lead.

Rose Bowl-bound Stanford appeared to have tied the score in the third quarter when Don Bunce connected on a 13-yard pass to Don Alvarado but Garcia, who missed field goal tries of 53, 43, 24, 32 and 20, booted wide of the goal posts on the extra-point try.

Garcia, who came into the game with 14 field goals, had a chance to pull it out for the Indians with 17 seconds left after Bunce had taken Stanford from its own 30 to the San Jose 10. But the soccer-style kicker booted it off and San Jose State fans poured onto the field as their Spartans pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the year.

Brice scored his touchdown on a 12-yard run after safety Don Tribble intercepted a pass at the 30 to set it up. But Larry Barnes missed the PAT try and Stanford had a chance to tie it midway through the fourth after Jackie Brown bolted 38 yards for a touchdown.

USC edges Huskies on late kick

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Mike Rae drilled a 28-yard field goal with 2:08 left in the game Saturday to give Southern California a 13-12 Pacific-8 football victory over Washington before 59,800 disappointed Husky homecoming fans.

It was the Trojans' fourth consecutive victory of the season after a disappointing start and their seventh straight win over Washington.

Rae, the backup quarterback, kicked an earlier field goal and starting USC quarterback Jimmie Jones accounted for the other Trojan points with a seven-yard run in the third quarter.

Washington took a 12-10 lead with less than six minutes to play when fullback Pete Taggares crashed over for a touchdown from the Trojan two.

That score was set up when Husky linebacker Bob Ferguson recovered Lynn Swann's fumble on the Southern Cal 48. Sonny Sixkiller, who had been stymied for a good portion of the second half, then got his passing arm warmed up and moved the Huskies to the Trojan four.

Oregon St. sloshes past WSU

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—Unheralded fullback Roger Smith, working like a plowhorse in heavy going, sloshed and slashed to two touchdowns Saturday in leading Oregon State to a 21-14 Pacific-8 football victory over Washington State.

Smith, who almost single-handedly beat Rose Bowl-bound Stanford with a three-touchdown performance two weeks ago, stomped out of the Beavers' Power-T backfield behind a line using veer blocking from a wishbone offense. He garnered 210 yards in 43 carries.

The contest, which saw Oregon State leading 3-0 in a slow first half, was a battle of defensive boom and bobbles in the rain before 20,385 umbrellaed fans and a regional television audience. Each team lost the ball four times on fumbles.

Arkansas tops SMU

DALLAS (UPI)—Dickey Morton, demoted to the second team because of fumbling, came off the bench in the fourth quarter Saturday to steady Arkansas' stumbling offense and bring the Razorbacks to an 18-13 decision over Southern Methodist.

The victory kept alive Arkansas' hopes of winning the Southwest Conference title and appearing New Year's Day in the Cotton Bowl. Arkansas is now 1-1 in league play.

But Morton came in midway through the final period to spring for 25 and 22 yards on the drive that brought Arkansas its winning touchdown.

California rallies by Ducks 17-10

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—California rallied behind a strong defense and the running of Steve Kemnitzer Saturday to come from behind to beat Oregon 17-10 in the rain and keep alive a slim chance for the Rose Bowl.

Kemnitzer carried seven straight times to set up a winning four-yard touchdown run by halfback Rick Jones with 54 seconds to play.

So far California's games have not counted in Pacific-8 Conference standings. But the Golden Bears have gone to court to appeal an NCAA decision which ruled them ineligible for post-season play because two players—Isaac Curtis and Larry Brumsey—did not take the 16 freshman predictability test on time.

Should California beat Stanford next week and obtain a favorable court decision in U.S. District Court, the Bears would be 5-2 in the conference and get the Rose Bowl bid ahead of Stanford.

Arizona State belts Wyoming

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI)—Steve Holden raced 90 yards and Woody Green 71 yards to score on punt returns and spark ninth-ranked Arizona State to a 52-19 win over Wyoming Saturday, giving the Sun Devils their third straight Western Athletic Conference title.

ASU, now 8-1 for the season and 6-0 in conference play, splattered on offense most of the way but used the punt returns and two pass interceptions to clinch a spot in the new Fiesta Bowl.

Green, along with his TD on the punt return, scored twice more on short runs and Holden added another on a 58-yard pass from quarterback Danny White before a homecoming crowd of 50,347.

The Cowboys, 5-6 over-all and 3-3 in the WAC, controlled the ball in the first half for nearly 20 minutes and held a 6-3 edge at intermission on field goals of 36 and 36 yards by Randy Hudman. Don Ekstrand had a 36-yarder for ASU.

Nebraska tops K-Staters in second period

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI)—Top-ranked Nebraska, its proud defense stung by a touchdown and a field goal within three minutes, roared back to score three times in the last six minutes of the second quarter and dumped aroused but out-manned Kansas State, 44-17 Saturday.

The victory, Nebraska's 10th this season and 29th straight game without a loss, set up a Thanksgiving Day showdown between the unbeaten Cornhuskers and No. 2-ranked Oklahoma, 56-10 conqueror of Kansas.

Kansas State's point production was the most allowed by Nebraska this season.

Nebraska jumped to a 14-0 lead, then watched it dwindle to 14-9, before punishing the Wildcats with two touchdowns and a safety for a 30-9 halftime margin.

Tailback Jeff Kinney set a Nebraska career record when he scored his 29th touchdown and slotback Johnny Rodgers set a school record by catching his ninth and tenth scoring pass in a single season.

After Kansas State pulled close in the second quarter, the Cornhuskers traveled 79 yards in nine plays, Kinney popping over from the one with 5:37 remaining.

That's when the Cornhusker defense lived up to its reputation of being the best in the nation. Defensive end Willie Harper nailed Kansas State quarterback Dennis Morrison at the goal line; the ball popped loose and rolled out of the end zone for a safety.

Kansas State had to kick off and quarterback Jerry Tagge took Nebraska 33 yards in five plays, Gary Dixon crashing over from the two.

Nebraska added second half touchdowns on 56 and 17-yard touchdown passes from Tagge to Woody Cox and Rodgers.

MINICO'S BILL HADDEN, just hanging onto the ball, goes down in the grasp of two Twin Falls Bruin defenders while a host of linemen try to get into the ball. Hadden came around on a sweep but lost two yards. Twin Falls won 21-0.

Attracting a crowd

Nelson leads Twin Falls to 21-0 win over Minico

Kevin Nelson exploded for two touchdowns in a two-and-one-half minute span of the third quarter to spark the Twin Falls Bruins to a 21-0 decision over the Minico Spartans on a cold, wet Friday afternoon.

Dartmouth surprises Cornell

HANOVER, N.H. (UPI)—Underdog Dartmouth, containing national rushing leader Ed Marinaro on all but one play, handed Cornell its first loss and regained an Ivy League first-place tie Saturday in a 24-14 win over the Big Red.

Nelson romped 63 yards for the go-ahead points four plays into the third quarter and sailed 59 yards on a punt return just a couple minutes later to seal the victory.

Up to that point the teams had been battling to a scoreless draw with Minico holding the best of it statistically. And it occurred about the time that the rain, wind and cold were bringing up ideas of a scoreless tie as the field became a quagmire, particularly in the middle.

Through the first half Minico held Twin Falls well, the Bruins managing only 23 yards by intermission. The Spartans meanwhile picked up 93 yards on the ground as 255-pound Kelly Feil had his best day since being converted from tackle to full back.

But Minico lost its best bid on a fumble at the Twin Falls 10-yard line midway through the second period. The Spartans were in Twin Falls territory a couple-three times thereafter but never able to seriously threaten.

The cold and wet brought about 13 fumbles during the game with each side losing half their mistakes.

In addition to the drive that died at the 10, Minico had a one-play chance in the first period. A halfback hit the line and the ball was jarred loose and squirted about four yards behind the line. Quarterback Bill Hedrick picked it up; circled the end and got in the clear but didn't have sufficient speed to outrun two Bruin chasers. He went for 43 yards to the Twin Falls 28 but the Bruins held.

Twin Falls received the second-half kickoff and bucked three times for a first down before Nelson shook loose on his first touchdown gallop. After a penalty, Twin Falls tried for the two-point conversion but was stopped.

The Spartans had to punt four plays after the kickoff and Nelson took it at his own 41. He got a freeing block from Tom Shaw to turn upfield and then two more solid blocks which he used well to go into the end zone. Jerry Barbour worked the option play for the two-pointer.

In the fourth period, Barbour went to the air to hit Joe Swope and Rick Spriggs for gains that carried to the Spartan eight-yard line and then hit wide receiver Bill Long on a short slant-in for the score. Brent Fenstermaker converted.

Twin Falls wound up the season at 6-4 overall and an even four-four in the Southern Idaho Conference. Minico was 2-8 and 2-6 in the conference.

Auburn knocks Georgia from unbeaten list

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI)—Pat Sullivan passed for four touchdowns, two to his favorite receiver, Terry Beasley, and two to Dick Schmalz, in carrying the unbeaten, fifth-ranked Auburn Tigers to a 35-20 victory Saturday over previously unbeaten, sixth-ranked Georgia.

Sullivan, the South's leading candidate for the Heisman trophy, threw 34 and 70 yards to Beasley. He hit Schmalz with 15 yard and five yard touchdowns and set up a fifth score in a tremendous one-man show. It was a 27-yard pass from Sullivan to Schmalz, which the Auburn senior threw while being dragged to the ground by two Georgia defenders, that set up the Tigers' first touchdown. That pass put Auburn at the Georgia two-yard line and two plays later, Tommy Lowry plunged over from one yard out to put Auburn in the lead with 4:45 gone in the game.

Sullivan hit Beasley for the Tigers' second touchdown with 5:46 left in the first period, and Auburn, a three-point underdog, appeared on its way to a rout with a 14-0 lead.

But Georgia came back on the running of sophomore quarterback Andy Johnson to tie the score early in the second period. A 67-yard run by Johnson put the Bulldogs at the Auburn two-yard line and Jimmy Poulos ran it across with 3:50 left in the first period.

Navy dooms Syracuse to ## losing record

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Fred Stuvek passed for a touchdown and score-another in guiding Navy to a 17-14 upset victory over Syracuse Saturday, dooming coach Ben Schwartzwalder his non-winning season since QORO when he took over the Orangemen.

Stuvek completed 13 of 22 passes for 240 yards in the final tuneup for Navy's Nov. 29 clash with Army. Halfback Bert Calland grabbed six aeriels, five in the second half, including a fourth quarter touchdown with the Middles trailing 10-17. Larry Van Loan caught Stuvek passes of 53, 51, 35 and four yards in the first half.

Michigan State tops Minnesota

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Eric "The Flea" Allen smashed a Big Ten season rushing record and became the first player ever to score more than 100 points in a Big Ten season, Saturday as he led Michigan State to a 40-25 win over Minnesota.

The 161-pound tailback carried the ball for 179 yards on 34 carries and scored four touchdowns on runs of one, 37, three and 10 yards.

In seven conference games Allen has picked up 1,171 yards rushing to surpass the old mark of 1,053 set last year by Northwestern's Mike Adamle. He has scored 104 points in conference games this year, Erasing the old record of 92 set in 1968 by Michigan's Ron Johnson.

Allen's 17 touchdowns also are a new record, surpassing the old standard of 15 held jointly by Johnson and Leroy Keyes of Purdue.

Air Force ends brief loss spell

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Steve Hill intercepted a fourth quarter Tulsa aerial and scampered 37 yards to score Saturday as Air Force snapped a two-game losing streak and downed Tulsa 17-7.

Tailback Brian Bream had put the Falcons ahead 7-0 in the first quarter on a 20-yard run, and Craig Barry booted a 19-yard field goal after Jim Janulus fell on a Hurricane fumble in the second period. Barry also added two conversions.

Ed White plunged one yard to pull Tulsa within three points in the third period after Air Force had been called for pass interference on its two-yard line.

Illini stop Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Illinois countered Wisconsin's powerful ground game with a bruising running attack of its own Saturday to beat the badgers 35-27 for a fourth successive Big Ten victory.

A pair of Sophomores George Uremovich and John Wilson led the Illinois attack with Uremovich battering away for consistent gains and a total of 116 yards and Wilson breaking loose for a clinching touchdown on a 73-yard sideline dash midway through the fourth quarter.

Texas eyes fourth loop crown

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Alternate quarterback Donnie Wigginton engineered three second half touchdown drives Saturday to fuel Texas to a 31-0 victory over Texas Christian University and leave Texas just one victory away from an unprecedented fourth straight Southwest Conference title.

Wigginton, a 5-8, 167-pound senior, scored twice himself on runs of five and one yard, and sophomore fullback Dennis Todd added two more touchdowns on plunges of three and one yards.

Knicks drop Pistons

NEW YORK (UPI)—Walt Frazier scored 24 points and Jerry Lucas added 23 Saturday night as the New York Knicks posted their highest point total of the season in defeating the Detroit Pistons, 127-105.

Lucas, now the permanent New York center while Willis Reed is out indefinitely with tendonitis, had an amazing first half

Notre Dame tips Tulane comeback

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Sophomore quarterback Clifford Brown scored two touchdowns and passed for another in a second-half drive Saturday to bring Notre Dame from behind to a 21-7 triumph over underdog Tulane.

The Irish victory, however, was unimpressive and probably didn't help the Notre Dame bowl prospects despite running their season record to eight wins and only one loss.

Scouts from four bowl games—the Sugar, Gator, Liberty and Fiesta—were on hand to watch the display.

They saw nothing to impress them until the second half as Tulane limited Notre Dame to only 63 yards rushing and 74 passing in the opening 30 minutes. Meanwhile, Tulane controlled the ball most of the time and earned a 7-0 lead when Rusty Lachaussee completed a 14-yard touchdown pass to Steve Barrios.

Tech nips Fla. State

ATLANTA (UPI)—Eddie McAshan's longest pass of the afternoon, a 24-yard strike to flanker Larry Studdard in the end zone, gave Georgia Tech a 12-6 win over Florida State Saturday in a game dominated by defense.

McAshan moved the Yellow Jackets 50 yards in 10 plays on the drive which led to the game-winning touchdown. The Tech quarterback completed four passes in the march, including the touchdown throw to Studdard on a third down play.

Gary Huff, Florida State's passing ace, had a wretched day.

He was sacked seven times by the Yellow Jacket line, three times in the final quarter.

Vandal defensive unit, running of Rembert pave easy 40-2 romp

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Junior running back Bernard Rembert rambled for two touchdowns Saturday and the University of Idaho defense was brutal as the Vandals slaughtered Montana State University 40-2 in the final Big Sky Conference game of the year for the two teams. The win gives Idaho an 8-2 season mark while MSU is 2-7-1 for the season.

Lockman reportedly new Cub manager

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — Carroll "Whitey" Lockman is the new manager of the Chicago Cubs.

He succeeds the man he once played under, Leo Durocher, and the switch will be officially announced before the major league meetings begin in Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 28, it has been learned.

Ernie Banks, the Cubs' popular 40-year-old super star, will be Lockman's first lieutenant as the club's first base coach.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs who eliminated Banks as Durocher's possible successor earlier in the week, cleared the way for the managerial change by already announcing he would have "a talk" with Durocher shortly.

To expedite matters, coach Joey Amalfitano, long a Durocher favorite, resigned with the Cubs Tuesday and joined the San Francisco Giants as a coach. Similarly, Larry Jansen, a former teammate of Lockman's and a long-time friend, left the Giants Wednesday and was hired as the Cubs' pitching coach.

Before the manager goes, the coaches generally do and that little matter has been taken care of already. The Cubs already have announced that the contract of Harry "Peanuts" Lowrey will not be renewed. Lowrey also was a long-time favorite of Durocher. Simultaneously, Al Spangler, another one of the Cub coaches,

Arizona tips BYU in 4th period

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Arizona scored three touchdowns in the fourth quarter to take a come-from-behind win over Brigham Young University, 27-14, Saturday.

The Wildcats went into the final period trailing, 14-7. They tied it when Joe Petroskus went in from the one-yard line at 10:25 after Arizona moved the ball 88 yards in 13 plays.

It would have been Brigham Young's first tie in 75 games, but quarterback Brian Gunderson fumbled after running 15 yards and Arizona recovered on its own 21.

After one incomplete pass and a penalty for intentional grounding, Wildcat quarterback Bill Demory found himself on his own eight-yard line, with slightly more than two minutes remaining.

Demory broke the game open with a long pass to Charlie McKee, who snatched the ball from in between two defenders and raced down the field for the winning touchdown. The total play went 92 yards.

The kick failed and the scoreboard read Arizona in front, 20-14.

Gunderson, the third quarterback playing in the game for the Cougars, attempted a pass from his own 18, but it was intercepted.

accepted a position in the club's farm system as a manager. When Wrigley eliminated Banks as Durocher's successor a few days ago, he called the managership "a dirty job" and implied he did not wish to saddle Banks with it. The Cubs owner also said Banks did not want the job.

That isn't quite true. Banks would love to become the first black manager in history, but he has been with the Cubs 19 years, has appeared in 13 All-Star games for them and if cannot be their manager at this time, there is always next time. In the meantime, at $80,000 he will be the highest paid coach in baseball history.

Lockman was supervisor of the Cubs' Player Development, and has been handling the club's instructional league team in Arizona for the past few weeks.

Cubs deny decision on skipper

CHICAGO (UPI) — P.K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, and general manager John Holland Saturday denied a report that Carroll "Whitey" Lockman has been chosen to succeed Leo Durocher as manager of the team.

"Nothing's been done about the manager and nothing will be done for a while," Holland said angrily. "Lockman isn't the manager and he isn't going to be the manager."

Wrigley said, "We haven't got a manager yet. Nobody's under contract. No decision has been made."

Wrigley reiterated earlier statements that he would talk to Durocher at the baseball meetings in Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 28. A decision on a manager for the 1972 season will be made after that, he said.

New Mexico shreds UTEP

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., (UPI) — Quarterback Rocky Long, New Mexico's wishbone wizard, ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth Saturday to lead the Lobos' to a 49-13 victory over the University of Texas-El Paso.

New Mexico, which owns the second best rushing machine in the nation, tore the Miners' supposedly strong defense apart with the 5-10 Long leading the assault.

The senior quarterback tossed a 35-year scoring strike to Paul Labarrere and broke loose on touchdown runs of three, eight and one yards.

New Mexico, which took a 28-7 halftime edge and was never threatened, also got scores on a 23-yard run by halfback Fred Henry, a one-yard plunge by fullback Tony Letulligasenoa and a 15-yard burst by reserve Bruce Boone.

game of the year for the two teams.

The win gives Idaho an 8-2 season mark while MSU is 2-7-1 for the season.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt from the first series of plays when Montana State lost 10 yards against the Idaho "wild bunch" defensive unit. The Bobcats wound up with a minus four yards for the first quarter and a total of one yard lost at the end of the half. They also failed to get a first down during the initial 30 minutes of play.

Against Idaho's reserve defense unit in the second half, MSU gained 88 yards for a game total of 87 yards passing and running.

The Vandals got on the scoreboard first with a 20-yard run by Rembert midway through the first quarter and they added a 27-yard field goal by Ricardo (Poncho) Castillo with just over two minutes left in the quarter.

The boot by the Guatemalan kicker set a new Idaho season record of 10 field goals.

Idaho's second touchdown of the first quarter came with only 15 seconds remaining in the period when Bobcat kicker Bob Banaugh dropped back on fourth down with only one blocker back to defend him. The whole Idaho line came blowing in and defensive tackle Bill Cady got a big hand in front of the ball. End Tom Jarman picked off the punt and went 22 yards for the tally.

Idaho got its lone second quarter touchdown midway through the period when running back Fred Riley blasted in from three yards out to give the Vandals a 24-0 halftime lead.

Montana State got its first down of the game about two minutes into the third quarter but it did no good as the Vandals defense held. Rembert picked up his second touchdown of the game as he broke loose around left end and rambled untouched for 54 yards to score. Idaho scored again on the first play of the fourth quarter on Castillo's 11th field goal, a 31-yarder.

A pass interference penalty about midway through the fourth quarter gave Idaho its next and last touchdown. On the next play Malcolm Smith swept his own right end, broke a tackle and went four yards to make it 40-0. Catillo's attempted point after was blocked.

Montana State finally got on the scoreboard with four and one half minutes left in the contest when third string Vandal quarterback Bruce Cole was trapped in his own end zone for a safety.

Nicklaus fires 9-under 63, U.S. cops cup lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus rode a red-hot putter to an "absolutely unbelievable" record nine-under-par 63 Saturday and boosted himself and his country into the lead of the 19th World Cup Golf Tournament.

The blond "Golden Bear" of the U.S. pro tour took apart the tough, 7,096-yard PGA National Course with an eagle, eight birdies and a bogey. Teammate Lee Trevino added a 71 to give the United States a 134 for the day and a three round total of 415, 17 below par.

South Africans Gary Player and Harold Henning, leaders in the first two rounds of the 72-hole international tournament, blazed within three strokes of the lagging Nicklaus-Trevino team until the final hole, when Player hit a shot into the water and took a double-bogey and Henning had a bogey.

Player, 8-under-par for the first two rounds, wound up Saturday's play with a 71, one under, and Henning was even-par 72. Their 54-hole total of 421 left them six strokes behind the United States. They started the day three strokes in the lead.

New Zealanders Bob Charles and John Lister were at 427, 12 strokes off the pace heading into Sunday's final round. Charles shot a 73 and Lister 68.

Argentina was at 431 in fourth place after Roberto De Vincenzo shot a 71 Saturday and Florentino Molina a 70. England was fifth at 433, with Tony Jacklin firing a 75 and Peter Oosterhuis a 72.

Nicklaus was seven strokes ahead of Player in the contest for the international cup, which goes to the individual "low scorer," with his tournament total of 200. New Zealand's Charles and Liang-Huan Lu of China were tied for third at 213. The 63 shot by Nicklaus broke the course record of 67 posted in February by, Gibby Gilbert. However, Nicklaus was using the smaller European golf ball while Gilbert used a standard U.S. pro tour ball. Both balls weigh the same.

It was one of Nicklaus' finest days. Trailed by a huge crowd of fans as he and Trevino toured the course in perfect weather, the three-time Masters champion split the fairways with blooming drives, threaded a shot out of the rough through a hole in the trees to the green, and holed out the long ones time and again.

"Actually, I played better yesterday, but today I just holed out everything I looked at — it was just one of those putting rounds," said Nicklaus.

His eagle was on the 663-yard sixth hole, on which he drove the green in two, going between a lake on one side of the fairway and bunkers on the other, and dropped an 8-foot putt for a three.

On the 10th, he was in trouble, in the rough with a line of trees blocking him. "But I saw an opening up in the branches and I decided to aim for it, and the ball went through," said the obviously pleased Nicklaus.

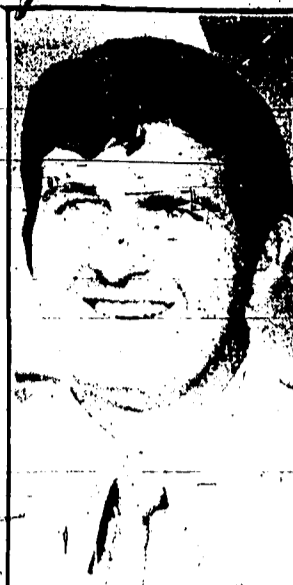

He holed 35-foot putts on the 14th and 18th holes for birds and had his bogey on the 15th when he went from one bunker into another.

"Absolutely unbelievable," said Trevino of his partner's play. "I tell you, though, when he's playing like that, it puts a lot of pressure on me, trying to be a little help to him in a team tournament like this."

The chatty "super Mex," the reigning U.S., British and Canadian Open champion, dusted the chair for Nicklaus as the two sat down for a talk with newsmen. "I'm going to take care of you, baby," he said.

Of his problems on the 18th hole, Player said, "It was just a stupid shot" that put his tee shot into the water and led to the double-bogey.

"I would feel a helluva lot better going into tomorrow's round if we were only three strokes behind instead of six," said Player. "If we had both

Utags rally to overhaul Utah 21-17

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah State rode the throwing arm of Tony Adams to three touchdowns and a 21-17 come-from-behind victory over downstate rival Utah Saturday.

The Aggies, down 17-7 late in the second quarter and apparently headed for their fourth loss, cut loose their defensive machine and turned the game around.

Adams hit on TD passes of 10, 16 and 28 yards and the Big Blue defense came up with eight turnovers — five interceptions and four recovered fumbles — for USU's seventh win.

Utah moved easily against the Aggies the entire game, gaining 174 yards rushing and 145 through the air, but the eight turnovers — five in the second half — scalped the Redskin attack.

Alabama shellacks Miami 31-3

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — Fourth-ranked Alabama, stung by a first-period field goal, followed scrambling quarterback Terry Davis to a 31-3 rout of Miami (Fla.) Saturday to cement the team's chances for an Orange Bowl berth.

Davis, a 6-foot junior from Bogalusa, La., scored two touchdowns on runs of 22 and six yards and added a two-point conversion. Running back Wilbur Jackson, substituting for the injured Johnny Musso, scored for the Tide on a 67-yard run with 12 seconds left in the first period.

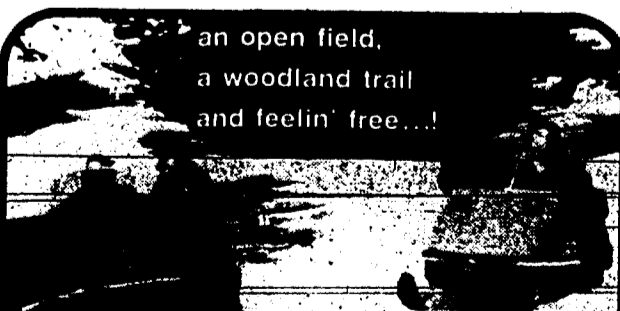

Substitute quarterback Butch Hobson added a touchdown in the final period with a 10-yard run.

Kicker Bill Davis booted his 12th field goal of the year in the second period from 34 yards out to tie an Alabama record and send the Tide to the dressing room leading 16-3 at the half.

Texas A-M drops Rice

HOUSTON (UPI) — Quarterback Joe Mac King passed seven yards to tight end Mitch Robertson midway the fourth quarter to give Texas A&M an 18-13 triumph over Rice Saturday, the fourth straight victory for the Aggies since King became quarterback.

Lanky Mark Green, a 6-foot-3 wingback, reced 14 yards for another A&M touchdown and little Pat McDermott, a 5-foot-9 kicker, booted field goals of 27 and 28 yards for the other Aggie points.

Intercepted in end zone

MIDDLETON SAFETY Phil Selby cuts in front of Wendell's Rod Adams to pick off a pass and end a Wendell scoring threat in the end zone. Wendell thumped Middleton 28-8 in the inter-conference playoff.

Trojans assume second-half command, drop Vikings 28-8

WENDELL — The Wendell Trojans took control of the game in the second half, broke away for an 8-8 deadlock and defeated the Middleton Vikings 28-8 Saturday afternoon in an inter-conference playoff.

Wendell, co-champion of the Little Five Conference, fought off its back through the first half as Middleton, led by long Don Hopkins, made four separate scoring thrusts but was able to get in only once. But Wendell scored the first two times it had the ball in the third period and its defensive unit kept the Vikings bottled up over the last two periods.

Middleton, Southwest Conference runner-up, took the opening kickoff to the Wendell five but that drive ended when Wendell's Don McCloud intercepted at the two-yard line. From there, Wendell got one first down, then shook Kep Dennis loose on a 48-yard scamper. But Wendell's opening bid also was thrown back.

It went to midway in the second period before the Vikings became the first on the board. Dennis Evans threw a 17-yard touchdown pass to Drew Miller and the same combination clicked for the extra two points.

Wendell replied immediately, opening with a 35-yard pass from Kirk Ebb to Al Stevenson that carried to the Middleton 15. The Trojans picked up another first down at the five but it wasn't until fourth and eight that Webb threw to Kip Dennis for the first Wendell touchdown.

Big Rod Adams belted in for the tying two-pointer.

Late in the half Middleton completed three passes, a halfback option, throw back and a straight play, to the Wendell nine. But on the last play of the half, with Middleton at the two, Wendell's Chuck Morgan broke through to hit Hopkins for a three-yard loss and end the bid.

Wendell took the second half kickoff and immediately went to work. On the second play, Dennis broke for 46 yards and two plays later Webb threw to Stevenson for the final 18 yards.

Wendell immediately forced a punt and on the first play Webb passed to Stevenson for 64 yards and the crushing touchdown.

Later the Trojan defense racked up two scores. The first came when a bad pass from

Oklahoma shatters Kansas

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI)—Wishbone wizard Jack Mildren engineered seven first half touchdowns to pace No. 2 ranked Oklahoma to a 58-10 victory over Kansas Saturday, to set the stage for the Sooners' "dream game" against top-rated Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day.

The Sooners, who have two games remaining, piled up 502 yards on the ground with reserves playing all the second half. The performance gave Oklahoma a total of 4,333 rushing yards for the season, breaking the old NCAA mark of 3,910 yards set by the Sooners in 1956.

Mildren galloped 55 yards for one touchdown and flipped a 30-yard aerial to tight end Albert Chandler for another.

Oklahoma fullback Leon Crosswhite scored twice on runs of 38 and 24 yards, Greg Pruitt tallied on a two-yard scamper, split end Jon Harrison dashed 31 yards to score, halfback Everett Marshall scored on a 14-yard trot, and reserve quarterback Dave Robertson plunged one yard for a final touchdown.

center went out of the end zone for a safety and with 58 seconds left in the game, Frank Isaacs scooped up a Middleton fumble and trotted 12 yards for the final points.

Jerome outlasts Kelly to complete 11-0 season

BOISE — The embattled Jerome Tigers picked off three passes in the second to turn back thrust after thrust by the Bishop Kelly Knights and claim a 14-6 victory in an inter-conference playoff game.

Jerome, undefeated and the South Central Idaho Conference champion, struck for a touchdown on its first possession, but it wasn't until the final two minutes that it could do so again — Kelly helping with two key penalties: In between, the Knights played the game on Jerome's side of the 50-yard line, but the Tiger defensive unit always managed to turn them back. Kelly's only touchdown came as the result of a Jerome fumble that a tackle, Pat Beiter, plucked out of the air and rambled about seven yard early in the second period.

It was the 11th straight victory for Jerome, a record for the school since it marks the first time the Tigers have played 11 games.

Jerome took the opening kickoff and stuck to the ground in moving 62 yards in 11 plays — overcoming three penalties. Jeff Weigle, the SCIC's top scorer and seasonal rushing leader, had runs of 12 and 16 yards as the Tigers drove to the Kelly 11. There a penalty and two plays left Jerome facing a third and 12 situation. Weigle moved to the two-yard line on a pitchout and quarterback Bill Childers then sneaked for the first down. He used the same play to score the touchdown a play later. Herd took the pitchout in for the two extra points.

After a punt exchange, Jerome took over on its own 13-yard line. Childers faded to pass, was hit and Beiter wound up with the ball in the end zone. The two-point conversion pass was incomplete.

From then on Kelly kept the pressure on. Never really getting deep, but seemingly a resident at the Jerome 30 to 40-yard lines, Rich Watson picked off one pass and Jerome held on downs in the third quarter. During that time, Jerome had the ball only eight plays.

Kelly, after a short punt, moved from its 40 to Jerome's 42 in the fourth period when Greg Jewell picked off a pass and returned it to the Kelly 43. Weigle hit three times for four, zero and three yards but on the last one Kelly was hit with a piling on penalty that moved the ball to the 20. An offside penalty moved to the Kelly 15 and Jerome punched down for two first downs before Weigle belted in from the one.

Kelly had the ball twice after that, moving to the Jerome 35 where four passes fell incomplete and the last time with 34 seconds left and throwing desperation passes. Jewell picked the last one off with nine seconds left and Jerome let the clock run out.

EPA spokesman scores pollution in Idaho

At the same time, he said, action is available through the court system to force municipalities to develop and install waste treatment plants. At the present time, he said, a total of 14 Idaho cities and towns are in violation of laws requiring treatment plants.

Part of the difficulties in expanding the statewide system of treatment plants, he said, lies in the requirement for two thirds voter approval of public bonding.

Ray also said it was imperative that means be devised for wholesale recycling of water. "We're going to have to recycle our water," he said, "we're going to have to use it over and over again."

The EPA official admitted to the conference that "agricultural practices must disrupt, to a certain extent, the complex and delicate balance of the environment." At the same time he said, "the social and ecological consequences of failing to subject the agricultural sources of water pollution to meaningful control are too far-reaching to neglect any longer."

Ray called for a careful evaluation of ecological and agricultural needs. "Planning and abatement measures must

Critical

IDAHO'S LACK of sufficient money to fight pollution on the Snake River was hit Saturday by Hurlen Ray, assistant administrator for management for the Region 10 of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Irrigation runoff adds to Snake River pollution

TWIN FALLS — A soil research scientist told an agricultural pollution conference here Saturday that irrigation runoff waters add to the concentrations of salt and nitrogen nitrate in the Snake River.

Dr. David L. Carter, an official of the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, said the addition of pollutants left the water "not bad, but not as good as when it came in." At the same time, Carter said, the concentration of polluting phosphates was lowered as the result of the irrigation along the river.

Dr. Carter made his remarks before a conference sponsored by the League of Women Voters Education Fund at the College of Southern Idaho. Over 100 persons attended the day-long event.

Dr. Carter's conclusions were drawn from a study conducted in 1968 and 1969 along the Snake River. Noting a "pressing need in irrigation agriculture to develop and evaluate procedures to improve the quality of irrigation return flows," Carter and a team of researchers took samples at bi-weekly intervals at several water outlets along the river.

The results reveal that 64 per cent of the irrigation water eventually returned to the river after use in the fields. Results also show that the concentration of nitrates in subsurface drainage water was "many times greater" than in diverted water, but "low compared" to the public health standard for drinking water. "In other words," the report notes, the "nitrogen in subsurface drainage water is in the safe range for drinking water."

The report notes that the decrease in phosphates in the irrigation water returned to the river "was removed from that water by reactions in the soil."

The study goes on to say none of the phosphates left the irrigation tracts in subsurface drainage water.

Results of this study have shown that using water for irrigation can decrease the phosphorous load in a stream and that there is no danger of phosphorous fertilizers dissolving and leaving farmland in subsurface drainage water. Irrigation can be a useful technique to decrease what is often referred to as phosphorous pollution of our rivers and streams.

The report notes that the increase of salts in returned irrigation water results from "solubilization of soil minerals," although provision is made for other, "unknown" sources.

McClure calls for proper Snake River management

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Writer

JEROME — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, called for proper management of Snake River water in a meeting here Friday night.

The meeting was arranged by the Jerome and Gooding County Farm Bureaus.

McClure said Idaho has three million acres of land under irrigation, with no less than six million acres of additional land which can be irrigated if the Snake River water supply is used carefully.

Another six million acres probably could be irrigated in high water years, bringing to 18 million the maximum amount which could benefit from the Snake River, McClure said. However, that water will be available only through proper management, he said.

"We must maintain our water if we are to continue economic growth," McClure said.

The Idaho First District Congressman said that the Magic Valley is affected by the controversy over the middle Snake River reach because the water which flows down the river into that region passes through southern Idaho.

Much of the discussion surrounding the Middle Snake River controversy has been by people who do not understand the value of water to the Idaho economy, McClure said.

"Generally speaking, historically, we have had enough water to do the things we have wanted to do. It's only as we get to the point of allocating that we have to establish priorities," McClure said.

This means that the state must look at its land and water assets to determine how

T.F. police probe 4 burglaries

TWIN FALLS — Burglars removed about $45 in cash from a change box after breaking into the Harmon Travel Service Inc., 1605 Addison Ave. E., sometime Friday night, city police said Saturday.

Mary Eddy, manager, called officers about 8:55 a.m. Saturday after she discovered the file cabinet where the money had been kept was pried open and the money missing.

Officers said this was one of several burglaries in Twin Falls Friday night. Four vehicles were burglarized, a home and the office of Dr. Dean Affleck, 231 4th Ave. N., were also entered.

At the travel agency office, officers said, someone broke into a vacant room in the building by knocking out a window. They then went to the office where they removed the money and ransacked desks. A chair was used to reach the same window used to enter and the burglar apparently left by the same route.

Mrs. Christine Petersen, 368 Pierce St., told officers she left her purse by a chair in her living room when she retired for the night. When she awoke Saturday morning the purse was missing and her back door was open.

Officers said someone broke out a window at the rear of Dr. Affleck's office and entered the building. Desks and medicine supply cabinets had been ransacked.

2 injured in truck, car crash

RUPERT — Two persons were hospitalized early Saturday morning following a car and pickup truck accident at the rural intersection of 200 North and Meridian Road.

Officers said Mrs. LeVetta Baker, 48, Burley, was listed in critical condition at Minidoka Memorial Hospital. Leyoni Plocher, about 37, Rupert, was listed in good condition at the same hospital Saturday afternoon.

Charles Pratt, 22, Rupert, was driving the pickup truck north on the county road when he came over the rise made by the canal bridge. He told officers he saw a car in the intersection, apparently making a U-turn. Pratt said he changed lanes in an attempt to miss the car, but hit it broadside.

Pratt was alone in his vehicle and the other was driven by Mrs. Baker. Plocher was a passenger in the Baker vehicle. Pratt escaped injury, officers said. Minidoka County Sheriff's officers are continuing the investigation.

shortages of water are to be handled, he said. At the same time, the push for preserving the environment enters the picture, he said.

Idahoans shouldn't forget that in fighting for the environment, water is needed to sustain the state's economy, McClure said. He said two conflicts of that nature now have developed in the Thousand Springs and Box Canyon areas.

Too many people take the attitude that what happens downstream does not affect their area, McClure said.

"We are going to be faced with demands in the future throughout all the watershed exactly like the demand being made in Lewiston today for increased water release from storage in the Snake River, so navigation and recreation interests above Lewiston can be satisfied," he said.

That water will come from existing upstream storage, McClure said, unless future storage is provided up the river.

Men stay on port board

BURLEY — Two Twin Falls County members of the Interim Regional Airport board will retain their positions with the group until Aug. 1972, when a permanent authority will be elected.

Idaho Deputy Atty. Gen. John F. Croner, told George Forschler, Burley, chairman of the interim group, in a letter Friday the two may continue to serve until a permanent board is named although Twin Falls County voted against joining the regional airport program.

Members of the Interim board asked the attorney general's office to research the matter following the Oct. 10 election in which five counties in Magic Valley approved the formation of a permanent authority and three, including Twin Falls, voted the issue down.

Croner listed five points of law to support his opinion after researching the Regional Airport Law. Harry LeMoine, Twin Falls, and Barton Sonner, Buhl, have served on the interim board during the ground work for the regional airport authority election.

"The interim board shall serve until the permanent board is established through an election held in conjunction with the

Higher water needs outlined

TWIN FALLS — A sanitary engineer told an agricultural pollution conference here Saturday that the Upper Snake River will have to irrigate an additional 725,000 acres in the next 50 years to meet "projected food and fiber needs."

Danny Fouladpour, an official of the Idaho Water Resource Board, said the increased need comes at a time when "water quality declines moderately but progressively through the reach of the Upper Snake" River.

Fouladpour cited the major causes of pollution as food processing industries, municipal wastes, agricultural animals and irrigation return flows.

Fouladpour told the conference that "dissolved oxygen concentrations are usually above levels necessary to support salmonid fish," although several local depressions of oxygen rates have occurred. Considerable next primary election which will be in August, 1972.

The permanent board is to be named from legislative districts in the proposed region which will be Legislative Districts 21 and 23 including the five counties of Cassia, Minidoka, Lincoln, Gooding and Jerome. Elctors of Blaine, Camas and Twin Falls Counties cannot participate in the election since those counties voted down the regional airport authority Oct. 26.

Ben Jewell, Ketchum, will also continue to serve as an alternate member until the August, 1972, election.

Croner said any county where voters turned down the authority proposal in October, may petition to affiliate by the same process as that required for the Oct. 26 election. A five per cent minimum of registered voters must sign a petition and a simple majority would be required in the election for affiliation.

Croner said elections for permanent trustees will be conducted on the same basis as the election of junior college district trustees.

The Croner opinion, said the powers of the interim board, until such time as the permanent authority is formed, are the same as those allocated to the permanent authority.

Three men honored at Burley chamber

By GEORGIA LAYTON, Times-News Writer

BURLEY — Three citizens from agricultural and business fields have been honored by the Burley Chamber of Commerce.

The annual banquet at the Ponderosa Inn was attended by an overflow crowd Thursday night. Honorees were Walter Amende, Farmer of the Year award; Glen Jensen, Cassia county grassman, and R.O. Hatchman, businessman of the year. Mr. Hatch was ill and unable to attend. His daughter, Mrs. Lucille Nielson, accepted the engraved plaque for her father.

Grant Fillmore, chamber president, welcomed guests and Rev. Earl Hunter gave the invocation.

Karen Herd, Idaho Falls, Miss Idaho, played the two selections on the organ she used in competition at the Miss America pageant where she was first runner up. She also told of her experiences in the pageant.

Jay Schofield presented the Farmer award to Walter Amende who came to Albion in 1909 and lived in a tent until he built a cabin and homesteaded the next year. In 1912 he married his wife, Bessie, and they were among the earliest dryland wheat farmers.

Mr. Amende took classes at the Albion State Normal and purchased adjoining land until he owned 1,800 acres. He had the first tractor on dry land farms in Albion valley, Schofield said.

The honoree has been Scoutmaster of a Boy Scout troop was first master of the Albion Grange in 1932 and currently holds the same post. He is active in the Masonic Lodge, Woodman of the World Lodge and has served as Sunday School superintendent.

The Amendes are parents of three children, Robert Amende, Twin Falls; Keith Amende, Albion, and Mrs. Mark (Maxine) Bowlden, Albion; have nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

In 1947 the couple sold their farm to their son, Keith, and moved into Albion. After

A special event of the evening was the presentation of a certificate of appointment from Gov. Cecil Andrus to Keith Amende, Albion, to the state Wheat Commission. Robert Saxvik, Cassia county state senator, made the presentation. Amende was a charter member of the Wheat Growers Association in 1950 and has been active in wheat programs since.

Miss Idaho was introduced by Mrs. Agnes Anderson, chamber secretary-manager. Floral arrangements were presented to Miss Idaho, her mother, Mrs. Bill Herd, Mrs. Amende and Mrs. R.O. Hatch.

Blauer, Don Chisholm and Hugo Dalsoglio were in charge of arrangements for the chamber banquet.

WHEN SPEAKING, a politician ought to make sure his remarks fulfill three requirements. They should be pleasant, necessary and truthful. In an emergency, maybe he could forego one of the three, but never two. Such was the published contention of the late Dean Acheson.

ONE BRITISH Admiral Nagle greatly admired a cream-colored horse owned by King George IV. And said so. Next day, the king sent Nagle such a horse. Unfortunately the weather turned beastly that afternoon, and the gift horse streaked black in the rain. He ho, cried the court, or some such. The king, that humorist, then sent Admiral Nagle, who was a brick through the whole thing, another cream-colored horse, the real thing. But the joke circulated. And the language experts seriously say it accounts for our use today of that expression "A horse of a different color."

It is apparent that he has lost none of his old-time expertise. In a recent duplicate game Willis was one of several to reach four spades. They all won the opening heart in dummy, led a trump and finessed the queen. When West produced the jack, everyone else overtook a club honor to get to dummy to pick up the entire suit. Later, when clubs broke 4-2 they could get only one discard on a club and when the diamond finesse lost they wound up with exactly 10 contract tricks. Willis saw a chance to gain one or two tricks by

Rupert plans for Junior Miss fete

RUPERT — Rupert Chamber of Commerce members heard plans for the second annual Junior Miss Pageant for Minidoka County at their luncheon Thursday.

Framed photos of each of the 14 contestants for Junior Miss were displayed on the head table. The pageant will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 23 at Minico High School.

Larry Edgar, co-chairman of the pageant, reported the event is again sponsored by the Minico Jaycees and they have a budget of $1,000 for the pageant. Last year $375 was given in scholarships and this year the Jaycees hope to spend $500 for scholarships.

"Funds for the scholarships are the funds donated by the merchants in the county and every dollar from the donations goes to the girls in the form of scholarships for their college education," stated Edgar.

"After expenses are paid funds left over from the ticket sales also go into the scholarship fund," Edgar added.

The contestants will be judged by a panel of five judges. A personal interview during a tea in the afternoon; talent, youth fitness, scholarship achievement; poise and appearance during the evening program.

The chamber meeting was conducted by Pete Ford. He announced the ballots for election of chamber officers will be mailed and must be returned prior to Dec. 6 to the chamber office so the votes may be counted at the board meeting.

Sales okayed

RUPERT — Minidoka County Commissioners have approved the sale of table wines in grocery stores in Minidoka County.

The commissioners passed the new ordinance said Wayne Hollenbeck, chairman, as a result of the decision in other counties. The subject was not put to vote on a ballot by the people because of the cost.

The fee was set at $25 license for the county. Grocery store owners must first, purchase a state, county and city license prior to the wines going on sale.

Remodeling of the county sheriff's office and the county jail was discussed by commissioners. Also discussed was changing the garbage dumps to sanitary landfills.

Opening for bids set Dec. 7

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Highways will open bids Dec. 7 for several highway projects in Minidoka, Cassia and Jerome counties.

Included in the list of projects is construction of two concrete bridges over canals on State Highway 24; replacing pipe culverts and approaches on State Highway 27 from Oakley to Burley and widening two structures on State Highway 25 from Barrymore Junction to Rupert.

Heyburn to enforce codes on modular home projects

HEYBURN — Heyburn City Council members have reaffirmed their intention to enforce the state and city building codes.

Mayor Harold Hurt told representatives from three building firms at this week's council meeting they must comply with the Idaho Uniform Building Code on the modular homes which are being moved into the city.

The representatives, from Star Craft, Boise; Regal Homes, Kimberly, and Interstate, Salt Lake City, were told by the council that all lumber construction must be left open or exposed to Ellory McClung, Heyburn building inspector, can inspect the structural makeup of structure and make sure it complies with the state codes.

Mayor Hurt reminded the aides the council has passed a resolution a month ago to uphold the state code and all plumbing and electrical work is inspected by state inspectors.

After some discussion, the representatives agreed reluctantly to cooperate with the Heyburn City Council's ordinance.

It was reported the improvements on the sewer system are progressing according to schedule.

Ambulance confab slated for Burley

BOISE (UPI) — Two national speakers will be featured Nov. 17 at the first Idaho ambulance conference at the Ramada Inn in Burley.

Dr. R. J. Huszar, a Hartford, Conn., heart specialist, will describe the possibilities of special equipment to monitor a patient's heart while in the ambulance so doctors could prescribe certain treatment before the patient even reaches the hospital.

Bill Leonard, Eugene, Ore., national membership chairman of the Ambulance Association of America, will discuss the advantages of formation of an Idaho state chapter of that organization.

The meeting will be sponsored by the emergency medical services program of the state health department, statewide emergency medical services advisory council and many local ambulance services in Idaho.

Seminar set

BURLEY — The annual Seed Potato Grower Seminar will be held Nov. 23 at Idaho Falls Elks Lodge. Certified Potato Seed Growers are urged to attend, said Gene Rinebold, area potato specialist.

Raising certified potato seed is a specialized field. Information on up to date certified potato seed on production, and marketing will be presented at the seminar.

Commission firm will build new facilities after fire

TWIN FALLS — Reconstruction of the Stockgrowers Commission Co., which burned Aug. 18, was announced today by Gene Larsen, owner.

He said it will be necessary to construct a complete new sales barn which will give the company an opportunity to incorporate all of the newest livestock sales planning and facilities.

The new main building will be 60 by 120 feet, considerably larger than the old sales barn, and will include a cafe with large windows looking into the sales ring. This will give buyers an opportunity to keep an eye on animals coming into the ring while pausing for lunch or coffee. Other windows in the restaurant area will overlook Rock Creek Canyon and the fish hatchery area, he said.

There will be a direct connection between the sales area and restaurant so buyers may come back to bid if the animal they wish to buy is brought into the ring during the lunch break.

In addition to the new sales barn, Larsen said the firm plans additional corral and yard space for about 800 head of livestock. This will mean the company can handle up to 3,000 head in any one sale day.

An overhead walkway will give buyers a chance to inspect the cattle without going into the pens or lanes prior to or during sale time.

Larsen said crews are now installing the scales and these will be located so cattle will be weighed before going into the sales ring which will give the buyer the exact weight of the animal at time of the bid. Under the old system the animal was not weighed until after it had been sold and was taken from the ring.

Larsen said it is hoped the construction will be completed and the firm can resume weekly livestock auctions by the first of the year. Until that time he has established an office on the site and is continuing to buy and sell cattle without the benefit of an auction.

The new building will be of cinder block and laminated beam construction. There will be no posts blocking view of the sales ring, Larsen said.

The office area will join the cafe for additional convenience and all facilities will be larger and more modern than in the old structure which was destroyed by fire in August. Larsen, whose partner was killed in a traffic accident just prior to the fire, said he will continue to operate the business

Bones slid

MOSCOW (UPI) — Excavations at a Bronze Age settlement in Kazakhstan have revealed that the prehistoric residents used ice skates made from the bones of large domestic animals, the Tass news agency said today. "The shape of the skates closely resembles modern ones," Tass said.

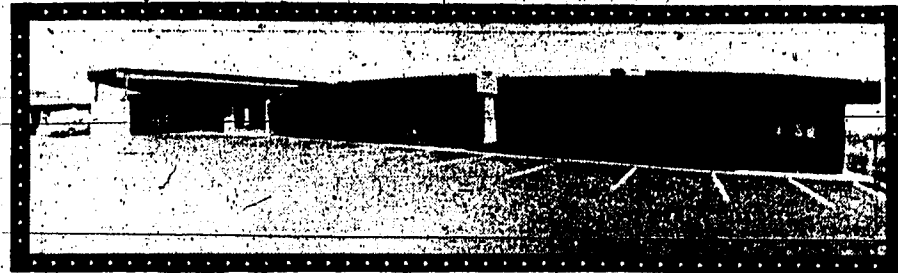

alone at least for the time being — utilized in the new construction Street at the "Singing bridge" He said the same site will be plan. It is just east of Shoshone over Rock Creek.

Keith's store has new face

TWIN FALLS — Keith's Interiors has a new exterior after 25 years.

The Twin Falls interior-decorating firm operated by Keith Malone for the past quarter-century has completed a new building designed by Malone which may be the most unusual structure in Twin Falls. Located on Second Street East, it features a multi-level open design that gives customers an idea of imaginative interior design far easier than any textbook can do. Malone offers every conceivable type of wall covering, carpeting and even furniture to meet any need and solve any decorating dilemma.

The building is designed largely along the Mediterranean motif with a strong element of medieval. The tall, narrow Gothic windows tastefully framed in brickwork include a unique interior design space in that the tree floor levels are wrapped around the windows to allow a three-floor-deep display area.

Thus, Malone said, a tall mobile can hang inside a window and have plenty of room as it sways and dances to air currents. Another window features a hanging lighting display that utilizes the three-floor space to the utmost.

Malone also designs furniture to meet customers' needs. An apparently weather beaten sea chest, 17th Century vintage, contains a complete stereophonic record player and speakers, while another "aged" chest holds a liquor cabinet and glasses. Both were designed and built by Malone. Wall carpeting is another feature not too often seen locally, Malone said, but it is gaining rapid popularity in larger midwest and East Coast cities, where it helps muffle exterior sound.

In addition to wall coverings ranging from paper to fabric and burlap, Malone offers a line of etchings, paintings and varied artwork, displayed along a well-lighted wall. Overhead spotlights can be arranged along tracks to highlight any area of the store at will, adding variety to Malone's designs.

Malone said the trend in Magic Valley interior decorating seems to be toward the Mediterranean and away from the ultra-mod, according to the orders he is receiving. Customers seem to prefer the heavier, solid appearance of mahogany and similar woods, he said.

Commended

MALTA Douglas Nye, student at Raft River High School, has received a letter of commendation in the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test.

Principal Kenneth Crump said Nye is among 35,000 students in the U.S. who scored in the upper two per cent of their high school class. These commended students rank just below the 15,000 semifinalists announced this fall by the national corporation.

AREA RUGS

are no longer simple "cover ups" for problem areas, heavy traffic lanes where you want to preserve the regular carpet, or to give you a warm spot to step on over cold floors.

Today's colorful area rugs are one of the most exciting developments in decorating. They actually function as "floor paintings," introducing living colors and designs to your floors just as painting do to your walls.

Today's area rug designs are created by artists who have been given free rein to design imaginative patterns, use textures in exciting new ways, and especially to go as far as they like in using bright colors and color combinations.

in keeping with the colorful look of today's homes.

Look over your rooms, especially the floors. Can the room use a splash of color? A striking design? A "floor painting" to key your decorative scheme? Area rugs offer imaginative ways to go.

Come in and look over the striking designs and colors in our area rug displays. There are sizes and patterns to fit every need... and every budget, too. Come in... for all your carpet needs.

a hell of a way to start your day.*

We hate to remind you of it first thing on a Sunday morning, but thousands of young Americans now start their day just this way.

Every year you'll find the tell-tale punctures of the junkie on younger and younger bodies. Heroin addiction is spreading.

As a parent, you've got to be prepared to face the problem of heroin. You may have lost a few earlier battles over the dangers of marijuana. But if marijuana is a debatable subject, heroin is not. It is vicious, and totally destructive. It breeds terrible and pathetic dependence. And it almost certainly ends in death.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY—Clip a wire coat hanger at the bottom and insert a roll of paper towels. Use the hook for hanging this on a ladder when washing windows, or to catch drips when painting. It can also hang from a branch or tent pole when camping.—MAE

DEAR POLLY—To store blankets neatly and in minimum space, I fold a blanket in thirds lengthwise and roll it within a foot of the end. Turn this top piece down over the roll, envelope fashion. No need to worry about unfolding several blankets accidentally when one is pulled out for use. Great for carrying blankets in the car, too.—MRS. J. W. D.

Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, c/o this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—As our garage is quite narrow, my husband was always afraid I would scratch the car fenders, so he nailed a piece of used carpet to the wall. Now if I do get a little too close to the wall there is less chance of damage to the car.—MRS. J. W. D.

DEAR POLLY—I was packing a lunch for a long auto trip, and had no little salt shakers for the boiled eggs. To solve this I stapled a turned-up end (about 1/2") of a plastic drinking straw, filled it with salt, turned the other end the same way and stapled it shut. This made a dandy traveling salt shaker that could be thrown in a trash can.—MRS. D. W. E.

DEAR POLLY—When I clean glass ash trays, glass candle holders or the glass on pictures I use spray window cleaner and they shine like new.—P. S. F.

DEAR POLLY—Set a small electric fan that vibrates on a rubber mat, to keep it from skidding and slipping around on a surface. There are various small mats in the market, and some are even shaped in flower designs. That frisky fan stays put!—G. V. T.

DEAR POLLY—After four years of use at college, the twin-bed sheets my daughter brought home were still in good condition. Our Early American couch in the family room is occupied most of the time by our large dog, so I put one of these fitted sheets over the back of the couch, even the wings, and then neatly tucked a straight sheet over the seat. The pillowcases are used to cover "resting" pillows so our couch has a brand new look (covers are washable).—JEAN

DEAR POLLY—Butter a cake pan, then criss cross two strips of buttered waxed paper in the bottom of the pan, leaving a tab at each end. When the cake is done I turn it upside down, pull the tabs and it comes out easily. Remove papers to cool cake.—MARY

DEAR POLLY—When a clamp is needed to hold recently glued small wood pieces together, cut a piece of garden hose the desired length (the longer the better), split it lengthwise and the split segment can be sprung open to slip over the pieces and hold them in place.—D. H.

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ARTHUR HAILEY, author of "Airport," "Hotel," and "Wheels"
Your novels all give in-depth pictures of industries (airports, hotels, and—in your new book "Wheels"—the automobile industry). How do you do all the research to write books like that?—F. Lee, Grand Rapids, Michigan

● I go into research without knowing what I'm seeking. I just learn as much as I can by meeting with people in these various industries (all of whom know my purpose). Later, I dictate what I've learned into a tape recorder, to be typed by a secretary. At the end of a year, I go over these notes and begin to think of characters, subplots, a central thread. It's complex, hard work. Finally there comes a point when I can't put off the writing any longer. I make a pact with myself to write 600 finished words a day, five days a week for a year and a half—no excuses. I toil over each paragraph as I go along, sometimes writing it twenty times, usually first in long hand. As for how I get my inside information: before I went to Detroit to do the research for "Wheels," I wasn't sure whether I would be able to get behind the scenes. But I met a few people in the industry at a supper party and they introduced me to others. I literally got to know hundreds of people who became variously friends, acquaintances, and informants. By the way, I have already started on my next book—about banking and finance. It will probably be in print in the usual three years.

FOR LUCIANA PALUZZI, actress

You were the first woman to be granted a divorce under Italy's new divorce law. How?—Mrs. R. O'Neil, Boston, Mass.

● For nine years I had been trying to get a legal Italian divorce from my ex-husband, whom I married and divorced in the course of one year in the U.S. But the divorce was not recognized by the Italian government, which meant I couldn't remarry and return to Italy. My lawyers were prepared to challenge the government and had all the paper work completed when the new divorce laws took effect.

FOR EMMETT KELLY, clown

What has been your most rewarding experience in show business, and what was your saddest experience?—Gyula Hoffman, Waterbury, Conn.

● My most rewarding experience was clowning before a group of blind children, each of whom was allowed to feel my face and touch my nose. I seldom talk while in make-up, but I did then. My saddest experience was the burning of the Circus tent in Hartford, Conn., in July 1944, where many lost their lives. My hopeless feeling still is with me.

FOR RAYMOND BURR, actor

Have you ever wanted to become a law enforcement official or a lawyer?—Rose Marie Valdez, Key West, Fla.

● By the time I was 20, I had so many part-time jobs I figured I could do anything I had to. Everything interests me. When a particularly interesting "Perry Mason" script or "Ironside" script has come along, I've toyed with the idea of what I would have done, faced with the same problem in real life. But in the last analysis, I enjoy being an actor. I am, however, an honorary lawyer and an honorary police official—and that will have to suffice.

FOR BOB HOPE, comedian

When you go on your Christmas tour of GI bases overseas, do you take your own clothes, suitable for each climate change?—Mrs. Elizabeth Garrison, Gordonsville, Va.

● Yes, the clothes I take to Vietnam are my own. In some places—such as Alaska—the Army will provide me with a fur parka for comic effect, but after the show I give it back. They usually let me keep the caps I wear in each place and I'm saving them to put in a museum which I hope to build some day.

FOR IRENE RYAN, actress

I understand you have set up private scholarships for aspiring actors and actresses and plan to will your entire fortune to it. Why?—Linda Wiseman, Lancaster, N. Y.

● I had an awfully good nine years financially on the Beverly Hillbillies. I have no relatives, so I thought, why not give it to a business that has been good to me? So I set up the Irene Ryan Foundation. Thirteen annual scholarships of $500 each will go to winning performers in as many regional competitions. Two $2,000 scholarships will be for top performers among regional winners.

FOR TAYLOR CALDWELL, author

What do you think of American men?—Mrs. R. L. Kane, Utica, New York

● I would say they are the kindest, most indulgent, most family-centered, most generous, most permissive, men in the world. And that's no compliment, it's an indictment.

FOR FRANK CAPRA, director

Who were the most professional of all the stars you directed in the movies?—Mrs. William McDonald, So. Weymouth, Mass.

● The most professional actors I ever worked with were Lionel Barrymore ("You Can't Take It With You") and Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn ("State of the Union"). Those two were dolls!

FOR DICK HAYMES, singer

I saw you on TV recently, and it reminded me I hadn't seen anything of you since the movie, "State Fair." What have you been doing all these years?—Joan Smith, Los Angeles, Cal.

● I gave up the movies in the 1950s, because I was too old to play the boy next door and too young to do character roles. I went to Europe, settled in Spain. I've been writing screen plays, and now I'm finishing my autobiography. And, yes, I do expect to get back into acting now. It does no good to dwell on the past.

FOR JULIAN BOND, Georgia State Representative

Whom do you consider to be the greatest black man alive today? Why?—Janet Askins, Carbondale, Ill.

● The greatest black man alive today is a man of indeterminate age, with or without a family, with or without gainful employment, with or without any prospect for a future brighter than his past, who manages yet to wake up every morning with the notion that another day must be endured: He is and was the underpinning of Martin Luther King, Jr., Stokely Carmichael, Booker T. Washington, Malcolm X, and a host of others. Without him, they would not have existed. With him, they and others will build a better tomorrow for us all.

Your Child Needs to Know You Are Listening

Tips from experts that can make for a happier homelife now—and avoid heartache later

Again and again anguished young people cry: "Nobody listens to us!" And they are often right. In many ways parents "turn off" their children when they try to discuss their problems, air their feelings or express their frustrations.

Yet when a child runs away from home, experiments with drugs or gets a venereal disease, too often it's those same parents who wail, "Why didn't he come to us? He never tells us anything!"

Are you building future trouble by cutting off your child's confidences—by shutting him up when he expresses "bad" feelings? You may be doing exactly that, psychologists say. They offer the following tips for more effective listening:

Don't be critical or disapproving. "A child who learns that his behavior and feelings are forever being weighed, judged or evaluated is not likely to be very communicative," says Don E. Hamachek, professor of Educational Psychology and Child Development, Michigan State University. "After all, who wants to be judged or criticized when the need is to be understood and accepted?"

In his National Education Association booklet, "How to Listen to Your Child," Dr. Hamachek has this advice for parents who are tempted to criticize: "Simply reflect back to a youngster what you think he's feeling—without placing value judgments on his feelings." For example, instead of saying, "I think it's silly to be so upset because a boy hasn't called you. You should be worrying about your homework instead of a phone call," try a quiet, sympathetic answer: "You sound very upset because Jimmy hasn't called." This opens the way for the girl to sound off, to get some relief from her feelings by getting them out in the open.

When Billy shouts "I hate Daddy!" avoid answers like "You shouldn't say such things!" or "You're a bad boy to feel that way!" Keep your cool. Encourage him to discuss his negative feelings.

If he really does hate his father, it will do him no good to keep his feelings bottled up inside, say Mary G. Ligon and Sarah W. McDaniel of the School of Education, Hofstra University. "Feelings of hostility, anger, rage or bitterness must be allowed to come to the top where they can be looked at and understood before they can be dissipated and replaced by more positive feelings."

If we talked to our offspring as we talk to our neighbor's children, they would be more likely to seek us out as confidantes.

In other words, your child should be allowed to blow his stack, express his anger, before happier feelings can bubble up.

Don't be too busy to listen. How many times have you snapped, "Don't bother me now. Can't you see I'm busy?" If you see that Billy is upset, or bursting with happy news, don't fluff him off. If you're doing something you can't conveniently stop, set a definite time for talk with Billy. Assure him that in five or 10 minutes he'll have your full attention. Don't make vague promises like "Some other time." They sound to him like "I'm not interested."

Don't preach or moralize. Many parents feel they're not doing their duty unless they continually lay down the law about right and wrong. It's important to set standards, psychologists say, but when every discussion turns into a sermon, young people soon learn to clam up.

Allow disagreement. As they enter their teens, children start exploring new ideas about religion, marriage, money, education. Sometimes they flaunt their ideas just to shock you; sometimes they are trying to test their own thinking.

"The fact that their views are different does not necessarily mean that they are correct or that they actually believe in them," says Dr. Millard J. Bienvenu, head of the Department of Sociology at Northwestern State College of Louisiana. "To start the communication process we must be willing to listen to and acknowledge their opinions. Then we should give them our own viewpoints as plainly and as honestly as we can."

Don't nit-pick. "How many times have I told you not to say 'ain't'?" The mother broke rudely into her child's enthusiastic report of a fishing trip.

"Poor listeners seem to take perverse delight in finding some little error or deficiency in the speaker and magnifying these details out of all reasonable proportion," says Dr. Paul P. Hunsinger, a national authority in the field of oral interpretation.

While a young child is pouring out his feelings about a mean thing his sister did or how well he read in school, resist the urge to correct his mistakes in grammar or pronunciation.

Never use ridicule or sarcasm. The most destructive thing you can do to a child is "put him down," make him feel unworthy or look ridiculous. I recently had dinner with friends whose young son talked with some maturity and insight about student unrest. In the middle of a sentence his father said in a sneering tone: "Why don't you send those brilliant thoughts of yours to the President? I'm sure he'd appreciate the ideas of a 14-year-old!" The boy flushed, gave his father a hostile look, and was silent through the rest of the meal.

"A serious mental health hazard is a parent with a gift for sarcasm," says Dr. Haim Ginott in his best-selling book "Between Parent and Child." "A wizard with words, he erects his own sound barrier to effective communication."

Don't censor the subject matter. "I have a teacher I can say anything to," a teen-ager told me once. "I can ask him anything and he never gets uptight. I wish my parents were like that. There are things you just don't talk about with Mom and Dad."

If you won't discuss with your child such topics as pregnancy, abortion, drugs, homosexuality, you can be sure he'll look for answers elsewhere—probably from misinformed friends.

One final clue to better parent-child communication: when you're tempted to criticize your child, ridicule him, preach to him, or shout when he disagrees with you—stop short and pretend he's not your child at all, but a friend or neighbor.

"If we talked to our offspring as we talk to our neighbor's children," says Dr. Bienvenu, "they would be much more likely to seek us out as confidantes."

And chances are we'd save ourselves a lot of heartaches in the years to come. □

Take this simple quiz to see if you need this book. The wrong answers could cost you money.

1. THE CHIEF DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A STANDARD AND INTERMEDIATE SIZE CAR IS:
 500 pounds     $200-$300     Standard is approx. 12" longer

2. YOU NEVER GET YOUR MONEY OUT OF AIR CONDITIONING WHEN YOU TRADE OR SELL:
 True     False

3. A LARGER, OPTIONAL ENGINE COULD BE WORTH THE EXTRA COST IF YOU:
 Drive in city traffic     Drive with air conditioning     Drive in hilly country.

4. THE PRINCIPAL ADVANTAGE OF DISC BRAKES OVER DRUM BRAKES IS:
 Better stopping     Longer wear

5. AUTOMATIC SPEED CONTROL CAN:
 Save on gasoline     Earn lower insurance rate

We Listen. In the next 12 months, 10 million Americans will buy a new car.

For most, that car—next to the house they buy—represents the biggest purchase of their life. If you're one of those people—and you had difficulty answering any or all of the questions above—you're not alone. Most people can't.

Today, with more than 40 different makes of domestic and imported cars on the market, with 400 different models and literally thousands of equipment combinations, buying a car can be pretty complicated.

Which is why Ford Motor Company has written a 144-page book called, "Car Buying Made Easier." And why over 175,000 people have written for it.

And if you plan to buy a new car in the year ahead, chances are you'll need it. Best of all, it's free.

THE BOOK NEEDED WRITING. IS IT BIASED BECAUSE FORD WROTE IT?

To a degree—yes.

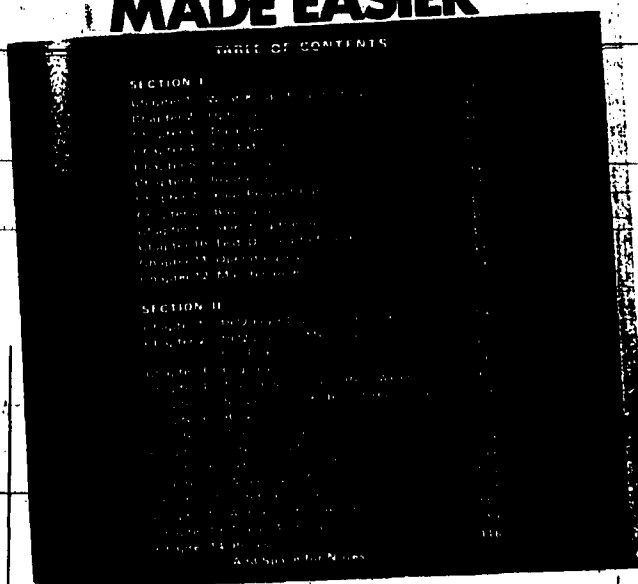

As Ford Motor Company, we must confess a preference for our own products.

But to minimize the problem, we purposely divided the book into two sections. The information in the first section of the book applies to cars in general—Chevrolets, Plymouths, Cadillacs—as well as Lincolns, Mercurys and Fords.

CAR BUYING MADE EASIER

SECTION I

How to buy the right car—even if it isn't one of ours.

Section I of "Car Buying Made Easier" is devoted to helping you determine the right car for you.

It covers subjects like these:

- Compacts vs. subcompacts—what are the real differences?
- How to buy only as much engine as you really need. (The range includes everything from 50 cu. in. "fours" to 500 cu. in. V-8s.)
- What you should know about axle ratios. (The right one can improve gas mileage.)

SECTION II

Ford Motor Company cars.

Section II is the "biased" part. It deals exclusively with Ford, Lincoln, and Mercury automobiles. It offers important facts, figures and specifications you need to know. We wrote it because, frankly, we want your business—and we figure a little information might just do the trick.

We have confidence in our products. We believe that if you become a smarter car buyer, we'll get our share of the business—and then some.

Do write for the book. While you're at it, let us know what's on your mind. Tell us how we can better serve you as a company.

We listen. And we listen better.

...has a better idea

Jobmanship

A feature dedicated to helping you understand and improve your on-the-job relationships

By S. R. Redford

FOREMAN: TOUGHER JOB THAN COMPANY PRESIDENT?

In some ways it may be easier to be president of a company than a foreman of a work group. Industrial psychologists often rate being a foreman as the most difficult of all supervisory positions. Most supervisory positions allow time for a good amount of quiet paper work. But the foreman's main activity all day long is face-to-face confrontations. Without great skill in human relations, a foreman cannot succeed.

People who were leaders in high school activities, it has been found, often make excellent foremen. They may, not have earned the best school marks, but their ability to start and keep people moving on various school projects indicates they have an instinct for human relations and talent for directing others.

"The Foreman's Letter" is a twice a month four-page publication which specializes in job ideas and handling-people ideas to help foremen succeed in their work. "The Foreman's Letter" is available to any supervisor or member of a company who requests it (use company stationery). Address: "The Foreman's Letter," 24 Rope Ferry Road, Waterford, Conn. 06385.

Celebrity Soapbox/By William Wolf

"Give Us Better Stories," Demands Claudia Cardinale

Miss Cardinale is starring in Paramount's film "The Red Tent."

"It's time there were deeper stories about women in the movies," complains Italian actress Claudia Cardinale. "Mostly, women are put there because the public likes to see a woman in a picture. Love scenes and nude scenes—that's what we're supposed to be for."

"You don't find many good scripts written about us. Why? Because the writers are mostly men, and naturally they know men better than women. Also, to know women deeply, you have to like them or love them. Our movie profession is filled with men who don't like women. Some even try to make us look like men. Ten years ago the beauties were all expected to be curvy. But the tendency has been to look for slimmer actresses. It is true that women may like to look at slim women, but the men still prefer their women with curves. I don't think women like me should be kept out of style."

40 DIAMOND?

A $105.00 two-carat perfect engagement ring?? A $65.00 full-carat pendant??

Not really diamonds, but so identical in every way you can't tell the difference and neither can your friends! Or your family! Or anyone else, for that matter, including diamond experts for sure, unless they actually subject them to scientific testing! Even the jewellers are fooled! That's how fantastic they are!

HERE'S THE STORY...

For years scientists have dreamed of developing a synthetic diamond, a stone so perfect it could pass for a real diamond anywhere. Recently, after years of experimentation, one of the world's largest Billion Dollar Corporations has done it. They have actually developed a simulated stone virtually identical to diamonds in most important respects.

We call them Diagem and they are generally acknowledged to be the finest simulated diamonds ever created. As a matter of fact, they actually have several important advantages over genuine diamonds!

LESS RISK!

Buying diamonds can be a risky business. Unless you are an expert yourself, or have a trusted friend who is, you can be stuck!

Diamonds are found in the earth. Big ones, little ones, good ones, bad ones, none of them are thrown back! Since most diamonds have flaws, your chances of getting a perfect stone are rare. (Why do you think jewellers are always peering at diamonds through a magnifying glass?)

Not so with Diagem, however! Diagem are made in the laboratory. They have a perfect in every respect. Any stone that doesn't meet the most exacting scientific standards is rejected! The only Diagem you can buy is a perfect Diagem. There is no other kind! That is one of the reasons Diagem are getting so popular. Another is the increasing crime rate! As insurance costs soar more and more wealthy women keep their diamonds in the vault and wear their Diagem instead. And why not? Nobody can tell the difference anyway!

Your friend's beautiful diamond engagement ring may really be a Diagem but you'll never know because she isn't telling! Those fantastic diamonds you may have admired on that glamorous actress or the boss's wife may not have been diamonds at all! They may have been Diagem but you'll never know!

After all, even if you are wealthy, why pay 8-12 hundred dollars a carat for a real diamond when a Diagem looks as good or better and only costs $40 a carat? No wonder everyone is getting on the bandwagon! No wonder Diagem are getting so immensely popular!

WHAT ABOUT YOU?

Stop and think a moment.

Right now, would you like to look down and see a magnificent diamond ring sitting on your finger? Yes? Does it really matter if it isn't genuine if none of your friends or family can tell the difference anyway? Then why not a Diagem?

BUY DIRECT AND SAVE

Simulated Diamonds are being sold in increasing numbers in department stores all over the country. None of these can beat our quality! Diagem are the finest simulated stones available, they are exclusively ours, and sold only by us through the mails!

None of them can beat our prices! We are specialists. You buy directly from the source, avoid middleman's profits and save!

None of them can beat our service and reliability! We don't sell shoes or hats or washing machines! Because we sell by mail and because we have no other business to fall back on, we have to give you quick, efficient honest service or we would soon be out of business!

Perhaps you are afraid to buy by mail. That's understandable. But remember this. We are completely trustworthy... just as reliable as any store you have ever dealt with! We have sold thousands and thousands of Diagem rings, earrings, etc., to thousands of satisfied customers. Our service is quick (we start to process your order the minute it arrives, and in most cases we ship within a few days thereafter), and our prices are extremely reasonable. We cut and mount our own stones to your specifications so you buy direct from the source and you save middleman's profits.

And we are certainly well-known in the field. We run full-page ads in LADIES HOME JOURNAL, AMERICAN HOME, TV GUIDE, PARADE, FAMILY WEEKLY and the most important publications, and we have for years.

But most important, we make instant refunds if anything we sell is not what we say it is. Our guarantee is also backed by the magazines and newspapers in which we advertise.

If you really would like to wear a Diagem, there is no logical reason to stop you unless you just can't spare the money now, and in that case, send us a 10% down payment and we'll lay away the item you want

Money-Back GUARANTEE

When your Diagem arrives, examine it for 10 days at our risk. If you aren't convinced it is everything we claim, indistinguishable from a genuine diamond in appearance, don't keep it! Simply return it in its original condition via Registered Mail, for a full and immediate refund, no questions asked!

until you are ready for it! What could be fairer than that?

Why not order your Diagem now? We know you will be happy you did.

Here is what our customers say about us...

"...I gave a Diagem for inspection to a friend of mine who has been a jeweler for over 40 years and he could not tell the difference. I am sold..." R.B.

"My son recently purchased a carat Diagem from you and I thought it was beautiful. I would like to order a ring from you as follows..." R.M.

Please rush the Diagem(s) I have indicated below by insured mail with the understanding that I may examine them for 10 days without obligation. If, at the end of that time, I am not completely satisfied, I will return for a full and immediate refund, no questions asked.

Handsome FREE presentation case with each item.

What the Well-Dressed Man Wears— When He's Not on the Job

An impeccably tailored greatcoat (left), in a longer length, will keep the wind out and look great at the same time. Double-breasted in basketweave wool, it sports a shaped waist and "bellows" patch pockets. The leather coat (right), paired with suede slacks, has a seamed waistline, flap pockets and a wool-pled lining.

Count on versatile wear from this handsome basketweave-wool sport jacket (right) and matching flared slacks. The jacket is trimmed with suede on one shoulder, elbow patches, and pockets. Go even more casual, wearing the same jacket but switching to rope-textured corduroy slacks and a turtleneck sweater. By Robert Lewis

Try a knit suit for your casual hours. It's comfort personified. This silky doubleknit tweedlike shirt jacket with side vents works equally well with matching trousers (left) or hardy textured corduroy slacks.

The revolution in men's clothing is no secret. But the mystery to the average man is how to pluck the styles that are right for him and not destined to be "out" by next year.

Assembled here is a pictorial guide of clothes for weekends and vacations. A "basic" leisure wardrobe, like this one from Robert Lewis, should let one sample a little of everything: a knit suit, a classic elbow-patched wool suit, a pair of corduroy and/or suede trousers, one dress coat and a sportier one, lined-for-warmth, in leather.

Many of the current, and now stabilized, menswear trends are represented: wider lapels, shaped waists, broad pockets, and back vents. Since practicality is important, we've illustrated how an extra pair of trousers can be used to coordinate with jacket tops to double the size of the wardrobe and give it and the wearer a change of pace. All the clothes shown can be purchased as separates.

Now the "lion" in the house need not complain he hasn't a thing to wear!

At Last! A Plastic Surgeon's Diet!

Designed to carve twenty pounds off your figure in one month! But leave your face looking years younger — and far more beautiful than you have known it for years!

A Vital Note:

Scientifically, you cannot avoid losing weight on this diet, unless you are a glandular case.

We repeat: If you are in average health, you cannot avoid losing weight on this diet. As much as twenty pounds the very first month. But this is the LEAST important benefit it will give you. Far more startling is the beautifying effect it will have on your face. Like this...

You Will Not Feel The Least Bit Hungry!
You Will Have No Craving For Sweets!
And Your Face Will Gain In Beauty Each Day,
As Your Body Loses 4 To 5 Pounds A Week!

We must repeat again: You cannot fail to lose weight with this diet, if you follow it religiously. As much as twenty pounds must melt off your body in a single month.

But your face will not show it! Your face will not develop those "diet-lines". Your face will not give way to that "diet-sag". Your face will show no trace whatsoever of diet-punishment, or diet-nerve, or diet-fatigue!

Why? Because this is a plastic surgeon's diet! This diet was invented by a man who treats the most beautiful, the most glamorous, the richest women in the world. Women who simply will NOT, under any circumstances, go on a reducing diet that adds years to their face, at the time same that it forces a few meager pounds off their body!

So a new concept of dieting had to be evolved! Literally a new way to diet — that protected the face at the same exact moment that it slimmed the body! So that a new glow of health poured into that face — a new sparkle — a new seeming-youthfulness that made even old friends stop in astonishment when they saw the dazzling change in the face, before they even noticed that twenty full pounds had been carved off the body!

What's The Secret? Super-Proteins! And A Step-By-Step Way To Beautifully Reduce That Means
YOU Don't Have To Worry About A Thing!

Once you send in the Coupon below, you are given everything you need. And we mean everything. What happens, in effect, is that for one full month your free time is devoted to the principles of one of America's leading physicians — adapted from the same methods used at his clinic in Hollywood, California.

No deviation is permitted. This diet will not work for you if you substitute one morsel of it for another. It is a scientifically balanced formula for beauty — unlike anything you have ever seen before — and therefore it completely overcomes the terrible traps that have always existed for you before in other diets.

(For example, the average low-calorie diet is also inevitably low in nutrients. This causes chronic fatigue, and flabby tissues throughout your entire body. On the other hand, with the ordinary "high protein" diet — not super-proteins as you are given here — you run into the problem of high calories and high cholesterol. This means you simply don't feel good, and therefore that your body just won't stick to the diet. So the fat comes pouring back, uglier than before.)

All these traps are avoided here. You eat super proteins, which are not high proteins. But they do have a marvelous effect inside your body. What one gram of them will burn up three grams of sugar in your blood stream. Add the fat melts away day after day!

So — this time — you eat scientifically. And you eat well. And you feel no starvation pangs — no craving for sweets. And you have more than enough energy to keep you happy. And you lose up to twenty pounds in the very first month. And you don't "slip back" when that month is finished — you just keep right on losing!

But This Is Still Just The Beginning!
Because The Real Pay-Off Comes Right
Now — IN THE BREATHTAKING NEW FLOOD OF BEAUTY THAT POURS INTO YOUR FACE!

But remember that this is a plastic surgeon's diet — and therefore a plastic surgeon's beauty regime comes right along with it!

At the exact same time that you are carving almost a pound a day off your body, you are also performing "medical magic" on every inch of your face, your neck, your hands and your hair! Hollywood beauty secrets that can transform your entire appearance like this:

How to suck pore enlarging blackheads right out of your face, using nothing but ordinary breakfast cereal.

A simple at-home treatment for thinning hair, requiring almost no effort and time! (Show this one to your husband—he'll thank you for the rest of his life).

How to use ordinary sand as an instant-sedative.

How cold water — yes, cold water — can often work apparent "miracles" on the shape and firmness of your breasts.

How simple massage can de-contract vital facial muscles, and therefore discourage in a wink many of your most hideous wrinkles. (These ingenious little "finger-tricks" are, especially effective against crows-feet and under-the-eye pouches.)

Do-it-yourself cosmetics — fresh, organic, natural — and so effective that they may literally cause you to throw away the expensive artificial ones you have on your bathroom shelf today!

(As just a few examples: A simple fruit night-cream, that helps dissolve away the dead tissue from your skin, at the same time it protects the living. A super-gentle shampoo-rinse, that does not kill the natural oils on your skin when you rinse it off, and therefore does not make your face look older every time you clean your hair.)

Plus Yoga made easy, for busy women who can't give it more than five minutes a day — and therefore have to have its benefits condensed.

Plus Super-Exercises, that trim inches off your problem spots, quickly! (Some of them take only fifteen seconds a day — and show whistle-provoking results in a week!)

Plus a complete guide to Super-Streamlined Plastic Surgery. That can be completed in minutes, requires no hospitalization has you up and around instantly. And another method that simply "peels away" your deepest wrinkles, without the slightest trace that they had ever existed on your skin before!

Plus Dozens Of Other "Plastic-Surgeon's Secrets" — All Yours To Read Without Risking A Penny!

So here it is — the medically proven breakthrough that puts you only one month away from a breathtaking new face and figure! A figure that weighs up to twenty pounds less! And a face that looks years younger!

All yours in one month — one short month — or you don't pay a penny! It's as simple as that! Up to twenty pounds gone in a single month — and with a face that looks years younger — or you just don't pay a penny!

Remember — once again — if you are in average normal health, you simply cannot avoid losing weight with this diet! And you will not feel the least bit-hungry. And your face will grow more beautiful... more glowing... with more apparent youth flowing out of it every day!

It is never too late to become what you might have been. The opportunity is here, on this page, in the Coupon below. Why not send it in — at our risk — today!

Thanksgiving Dinner

This year, along with the turkey, highlight cranberries—in relishes, hot vegetables and pies...

ROAST TURKEY

Prepare a turkey for stuffing. Rub body and neck cavities with salt. Fill lightly with desired stuffing (packaged herb-seasoned stuffing croutons may be prepared and used for stuffing the bird), allowing about  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup stuffing per lb. of ready-to-cook weight of bird. (Extra stuffing may be put into a greased, covered baking dish or wrapped in aluminum foil and baked with turkey the last hour of roasting time.) Fasten neck skin to back with skewer and bring wing tips onto back. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, or tie together with cord.

Set turkey, breast side up, on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Roast turkey in a 325°F. oven (see the Note and Guide for Roasting Turkey). If desired, baste occasionally with butter or margarine, or pan drippings.

When turkey is two thirds done, cut band of skin or cord at drumsticks. If using a tent of aluminum foil, crease a large lengthwise piece, and place loosely over bird. Continue to roast until done (drumstick twists out of joint easily; or see Note).

Transfer turkey to a heated serving platter; let stand 20 to 30 min. for easier carving. Garnish platter, surrounding turkey with overlapping, alternating slices of orange and pineapple accented with parsley sprigs. Prepare gravy from drippings. Note: If using a meat thermometer, insert it so that tip is in the center of inside thigh muscle or thickest part of breast meat; be sure that tip does not touch bone. Thermometer will register 180°-185°F. when turkey is done.

GUIDE FOR ROASTING TURKEY

Time indications are approximate but should be helpful guides. Decrease total cooking time if turkey is not stuffed.

Purchased Ready-to-Cook Weight—Pounds	Guide to Total Roasting Time—Hours

Announcing the easy-on-the-cook Thanksgiving turkey. Thanksgoodness.

It's the Reynolds Wrap and Kellogg's Croutettes Stuffing No-Work Way.

No endless chopping, mincing, dicing. With Kellogg's® Croutettes® Stuffing Herb Seasoned Croutons, all you do is add liquids. These modern croutons are oven-toasted with eight savory seasonings, so you get all those wonderful old-fashioned aromas and flavors... with none of the work.

No constant basting. Roast your bird to a luscious golden-brown under a "tent" of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. The foil keeps the bird moist and tender, without over-browning. No oven-spattering. And for easy clean-up, first line your roasting pan with strong, tear-resistant Reynolds Wrap. It's oven-tempered for flexible strength.

MINCEMEAT AND CRANBERRY RELISH

2 cups prepared mincemeat
2 cups fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped pecans

1. Mix mincemeat, cranberries, and sugar lightly in a saucepan. Cover tightly and simmer 15 min., or until cranberries are tender. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Stir in nuts.
2. Remove from heat and cool. Spoon into a container and store in refrigerator. 6 servings

CRANBERRY-ORANGE RELISH

1 lb. fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained

1 cup orange juice
2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cardamom
Peel of 2 oranges, coarsely chopped or ground

1. Turn cranberries into a saucepan. Mix in orange juice, sugar, a blend of the spices, and orange peel.
2. Bring mixture to boiling; stir occasionally. Reduce heat and simmer 10 min., or until cranberries are tender, continuing to stir occasionally.
3. Remove from heat and cool. Spoon into a container and store in refrigerator.

8 servings

HARVEST APPLE PIE

Pastry for 2-crust 9-in. pie (use a pie crust mix)

Grated peel of 1 orange
1 can (20 oz.) apple pie filling (prepared with apples, sugar, spices, and starch)
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
½ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
½ cup golden raisins

1. Prepare pastry following package directions, mixing grated orange peel with the dry ingredients. Roll out one-half of the pastry and line a 9-in. pie plate.
2. Roll out the remaining pastry large enough to fit top of filled pie. Cut out several leaf shapes using a pastry wheel, and set leaves aside with the rolled pastry.
3. Mix remaining ingredients lightly in a large bowl; turn into the unbaked pie shell. Place the rolled pastry on top of filling and flute (see photo). Brush top of pie with water, and arrange pastry leaves attractively on top. Sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar.
4. Bake at 425°F. about 40 min., or until crust is browned. Cool thoroughly on a wire rack. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar before serving.

One 9-in. pie

A hint of onion accentuates the flavor of Brussels sprouts in their attractive purée.

BRUSSELS SPROUT PUREE

- 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen Brussels sprouts
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup chicken broth
- Salt and pepper to taste

1. Cook Brussels sprouts following package directions; drain, if necessary. Using an electric blender, purée all ingredients until smooth, or force Brussels sprouts through a food mill into a bowl and mix with remaining ingredients.

2. Reheat if necessary and spoon into a serving bowl. Garnish with sprigs of parsley.

LIMA BEAN-BERRY PLATTER

- 2 pkgs. (10 oz. each) frozen Fordhook lima beans
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup well-seasoned chicken broth
- 6 slices bacon, snipped
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1½ cups fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 4 slices bread, toasted and diced
- ¼ cup chopped parsley

1. Turn lima beans into a 1½ qt. casserole. Dot with butter or margarine and pour on the broth. Set aside.

2. Fry bacon in a skillet until almost crisp; stir in onion, cranberries, and celery. Cook, stirring occasionally, about 5 min. Mix in bread and parsley. Spoon carefully over lima beans to form the top layer.

3. Bake at 350°F. 40 to 45 min. Spoon cranberry topping onto the center of a heated serving platter, and surround with the lima beans (see photo). If desired, garnish with diced toast lightly browned in butter or margarine and tossed with finely shredded Parmesan cheese.

CORN SCALLOP

- |                                   |                                 |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 can (17 oz.) cream-style corn   | ¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk |
| 2 eggs, beaten                    | ¼ cup finely shredded carrot    |
| ½ cup crushed soda crackers       | ¼ cup chopped green pepper      |
| ¼ cup butter or margarine, melted | 1 tablespoon chopped celery     |
|                                   | 1 teaspoon chopped onion        |

- 6 drops Tabasco
 ½ teaspoon sugar
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese

1. Combine corn and all remaining ingredients except the cheese. Mix thoroughly and turn into a greased 8 x 8 x 2-in. baking dish. Top with cheese and sprinkle with paprika.

 2. Bake at 350°F. 30 min., or until mixture is set and top is golden brown.

About 8 servings

CRANBERRY LATTICE PIE

- ¼ cup orange juice
 2 tablespoons water
 2¼ cups sugar
 ¼ teaspoon salt
 4 cups (1 lb.) fresh or frozen-fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
 2 tablespoons cold water
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 2½ tablespoons butter or margarine
 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
 Pastry for 2-crust 9-in. pie (use a pie crust mix)
 Melted butter or margarine

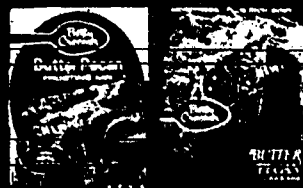

1. Put the orange juice, 2 tablespoons water, sugar, and salt into a saucepan. Stir over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Bring to boiling; mix in cranberries. Cook slowly 3 to 4 min., or just until skins of cranberries begin to pop.

2. Blend the 2 tablespoons cold water and cornstarch. Gradually add to hot cranberries, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boiling, continuing to stir; cook 3 min. Remove from heat. Blend in the 2½ tablespoons butter or margarine and grated peels. Set aside to cool.

3. Prepare pastry; divide and shape into 2 portions, one slightly larger than the other. Shape the larger portion into a ball and put on to center of a lightly floured pastry canvas. Roll pastry into a round about 2 in. larger than over-all size of pie plate. Fit pastry gently into pie plate, leaving an overhang; evenly trim pastry edge. Roll second portion into a rectangle about ¼ in. thick and at least 10 in. long. Cut pastry with a sharp knife or pastry wheel into strips ½ in. wide; set aside.

4. Brush pastry shell with melted butter or margarine. Turn cooled filling in to shell. Arrange pastry strips, twisting slightly if desired, to form a lattice design over filling. Trim the strips even with the edge of the pastry; moisten with water. Fold pastry over ends of strips and flute edge.

5. Bake at 425°F. about 35 min., or until crust is browned and filling is bubbly. Set on a wire rack to cool. Serve with thawed, frozen whipped dessert topping. One 9-in. pie

RAISIN BREAD

Thin slices of leftover turkey spread lightly with cranberry jelly and cress-buttered slices of the bread make elegant sandwiches for snacking.

3½ to 3¾ cups all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
2 pkgs. active dry yeast
½ cup milk
½ cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1¼ cups dark seedless raisins

1. Thoroughly mix 1¼ cups of flour with the sugar, salt, and undissolved yeast in a large mixer bowl.

2. Put the milk, water and butter or margarine into a saucepan and heat until warm. Gradually add to the dry ingredients, beating until blended. Beat 2 min. at medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally.

3. Beat in the eggs one at a time, orange peel, extract, and ¼ cup of the flour, or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 min., scraping bowl occasionally. Mix in the raisins and enough additional flour to make a soft dough.

4. Turn dough out onto a lightly floured pastry canvas and knead about 5 min.

5. Put dough into a greased bowl large enough to allow dough to double; turn to bring greased surface to top. Cover; let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 1 hr.

6. Meanwhile, remove both ends and labels from empty fruit or fruit juice cans (two 46-oz. or five 16-oz.). (Use only fruit cans since the dough may tend to take on flavors from stronger-flavored canned foods.) Thoroughly wash, rinse, and dry cans. Grease inside of each can. If oval loaves are desired, press cans down lengthwise to form oval cylinders. Set aside.

7. Punch down dough and round up into a ball. Turn onto a lightly floured pastry canvas, cover, and let rest 15 min. Divide dough into portions and shape into loaves that will almost half fill cans lengthwise. Insert dough into cans. Cover the ends of cans with caps of aluminum foil.

8. Allow loaves to rise on their sides in a warm place until doubled and cans are about two-thirds full, about 25 min.

9. Bake at 375°F. 30 to 40 min. (depending on size of loaf), or until golden brown.

10. Run a spatula around loaves to loosen; remove to wire racks. Brush surface of loaves with soft butter or margarine; let stand until cold before cutting.

About two 1¼-lb. or five 7-oz. loaves

Bake a little Holiday History

of old fashioned Pumpkin Pie...

2 Pet-Ritz Picrust Shells

3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 15-oz. can (2 cups) pumpkin
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoons cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups PET® Evaporated Milk
¼ cup BRER RABBIT® Molasses
2 Unbaked PET-RITZ® Picrust Shells
Makes 2 pies.
Read Label for Salt Flavor; Green Label for instant flavor.

Old Fashioned Pumpkin Pie

Preheat oven to 375°. In large mixing bowl, combine eggs and pumpkin. Add sugar, salt and spices to pumpkin mixture. Stir in evaporated milk. Add molasses; blend.

Place pie crust shells on cookie sheet; pour one-half mixture into each shell. Bake on cookie sheet 40 to

Cool. Garnish with whip topping. Each pie serves 6.

(Optional: For crimped appearance—thaw crust slightly. Crimp edge. Return crust to freezer until ready to use.)

"I love all food! You see, I just have a thing about food. I mean I just start salivating when I start thinking about it: Pizza! Beef Stroganoff! Chocolate malts! Steak Tartare! I could make a whole meal out of a baked potato with sour cream and chives—I adore caviar; I had some the other night, and I'm still salivating!

"I don't do much cooking, but I eat. Mostly, I just open the refrigerator door. My Swedish mother's an incredible cook. When I close my eyes, I can just taste her specialties: Swedish meat balls and Swedish cookies—literally every kind of cookie imaginable—from spritsar [spritz rings] to mandelskorpor [almond rusks] to pepparkakor [ginger snaps]. And the bread! Limpa! Sockerkaka [Sunday cake made in round mold]! And the koldomar [stuffed cabbage rolls]!

"Holidays have always been important in our home. On Thanksgiving we had two dinners, one with my mother and one with my husband and his mother. [Ann-Margret's husband is Roger Smith]. My mother doesn't like turkey, so she fixes a chicken.

"I'll never forget our family Christmas dinners: lutfsk [dried fish soaked by plunging into water before cooking] and white sauce (delicately flavored with mustard), julgrot [Christmas rice pudding] and glogg [Christmas wine].

"We love being by ourselves—but we do entertain small groups. I won't have anyone in my home whom I don't like. I'm very sports minded. Typically, we start off the day with a little tennis and a quick dip in the swimming pool, then a little volley ball. It's like a spa at our house. We do all the things you do when you're a kid. There are kids running around; cats running around. Everyone's running around. I love that.

"We eat everywhere—in the den, by the pool, in the formal dining room. Only sometimes I have to be content just watching other people eat. I've become what you might call a food voyeur. You have no idea of my weight problem. It's just a constant battle!"

MANDELSKORPOR (Almond Rusks)

2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
½ cups almonds, chopped
1 tsp. baking powder
1½ cups all purpose flour

Beat eggs and sugar until fluffy. Add almonds and flour sifted together with baking powder. Stir until well blended. Pour mixture into well-greased baking sheet in two 1½ inch wide rows. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven about 10 minutes. When done, cut in one-half inch slices. Separate slices, return to oven (reduce temperature to 250°F.) about 8 minutes. Turn off oven. Allow rusks to dry off in oven (about 20 minutes). Serve with coffee or with breakfast. Makes 4 dozen.

SPRITSAR (Spritz Rings)

1 cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
6 blanched bitter almonds, grated
2½ cups all-purpose flour

Work butter and sugar until creamy and fluffy. Add egg yolk, almonds, flour and mix thoroughly. Chill dough slightly. Put dough into cookie press. Shape in rings or S's with cookie press. Placed on well-greased baking sheet. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven until golden (about 8 minutes).

Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

ANN-MARGRET'S STEAK TARTARE

1½ lbs. freshly ground lean beef round
4 egg yolks
½ cup finely chopped white onion
1½ tps. capers, chopped
1 cup finely diced dill pickles (about three 4 inches long)
1 can (2 ounces) flat anchovy fillets, chopped
Salt, pepper to taste
Swedish limpa bread (or rye bread slices)

Divide meat into four portions and place on individual plates. Surround meat with one-fourth each of the onion, capers, pickles and anchovies. Top each portion of meat with one egg yolk (placed in egg shell, if desired). Each serving will be tossed individually (with egg shells removed) at table and seasoned to taste with salt and pepper. Serve tartare with bread slices. Serves 4

Note: Entire recipe can be made ahead of time by beating egg yolks with salt and pepper and mixing lightly in a bowl with onion, capers, pickles, anchovies and meat until all the ingredients are combined. To serve, mound meat on serving plate, score with knife forming diamond-shaped pattern. Surround with bread slices. For exotic touches, garnish with smoked salmon (or tiny canned shrimp) and sliced hard-cooked egg. Top with minced pickle, minced white onion (or freshly grated horseradish).

KALDOLMAR (Stuffed Cabbage Rolls)

1 medium-sized head cabbage
Boiling salted water

FOR THE FILLING:

¼ cup rice
1 cup water
1 cup milk
½ lb. beef, ground
½ lb. pork, ground
¼ lb. veal, ground
1 egg
½ cup cream (or milk)
1½ tps. salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
Hint allspice, optional

TO COMPLETE:

2 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. brown sugar (or molasses)
2 cups bouillon (or water)
1½ tbsps. flour
½ cup light cream
Salt, white pepper to taste

Discard outer wilted leaves from cabbage; cut out core of cabbage head. Plunge cabbage in boiling salted water to cover (2 tps. salt to every quart water). Cook until leaves separate easily; drain. Rinse, scald rice. Bring water to boiling point, add rice, simmer until water disappears. Add milk, cook slowly until rice is tender (about 30 minutes), stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Cool, mix with ground meat, egg, cream (or milk) and seasonings. Trim thick center vein of cabbage. Place 2 tbsps. meat mixture in center of each leaf. Fold leaves folding outside flaps towards center, then roll up jelly-roll fashion. Fasten with toothpicks or string. Heat butter in skillet; brown cabbage rolls lightly on all sides. Place in Dutch oven with a little boiling water, pour over rolls. Add more bouillon (or water), cover and cook slowly 1 to 1¼ hours (or until tender), basting occasionally. Arrange in deep serving dish, removing toothpicks (or string). Prepare sauce by mixing flour and cream to pan drippings while stirring. Simmer for few minutes to cook and thicken. Add more milk or cream if too thick. Season to taste, pour over rolls. (Typically, the Swedes serve this with boiled new potatoes.) Serves 4 to 6.

"Dear Mother of Barbie..."

The Story of A Woman Whose Ingenuity Earned A Giant Fortune

When Mrs. Handler created "Barbie" 12 years ago, toy dealers across the country told her it was a "bomb." Little did anyone foresee how that "bomb" would suddenly take off.

By Martin Abramson

"Dear Mother of Barbie," the girl wrote. "I'm a member of the Barbie Fan Club and I wear my hair long like Barbie does. But when my big sister combs my hair she hurts me and she says it should be cut short. What should I do?"

This letter came from a nine-year-old child in Lima, Ohio. The "Barbie" who is the object of her idolization is not a movie or TV star but a miniature doll—the most successful and most famous doll in history. Her popularity is such that she and her little circle of doll friends have accounted for a half-billion dollars in sales around the world. Her unique fan club recently enrolled its one millionth member, making it the second largest girls' organization in America (the Girl Scouts of America still cling to first place).

The woman behind the Barbie doll is petite Ruth Mosko Handler, president of Mattel, Inc. When she created Barbie 12 years ago, toy dealers across the country insisted it was a "bomb." It took the most strenuous salesmanship on Ruth Handler's part to get them to stock it, but her efforts were rewarded when the "bomb" suddenly took off.

Mattel took off, too, to the tune of becoming the world's largest toy company with more than 15,000 employees and over $300 million a year in sales. Along with its Doll Division, it now has a "Hot Wheels and Wings Division" of miniature racing cars and gliders, a "Hobby Craft and Games Division," and a "General Toy Division." It recently bought the world's largest circus, Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey.

The soft-spoken Mrs. Handler is still somewhat bewildered by the scope of her success. Born as one of 10 children into a family of limited means, she was only 16 when she met Elliot Handler at a dance in their home town of Denver. The two were drawn together immediately — a courtship which finally resulted in marriage.

Moving to Los Angeles, the young Handlers settled into a $27.50-a-month flat with a pull-up bed. Elliot began to turn out fixtures and plastic cigarette boxes in an abandoned Chinese laundry, while Ruth worked as a stenographer in a movie studio. She found, however, that she had a gift for selling, and soon she became his partner. During the forties, she took a short time out from business to have two children. Their names were prophetic: Barbie and Ken.

From plastic items, the Handlers switched to making doll furniture and toy ukuleles. Then Ruth opened the golden trove. "I had observed that when my daughter played with dolls and coloring books, she kept pretending to be older and kept creating play situations involving teenagers," Mrs. Handler recalls. "It brought home to me the fact that children were maturing earlier than they used to. I decided that a high-quality doll with a teen-age figure and imaginative clothes would be much more exciting to children than the traditional, one-dimensional cut-out doll."

The doll was named after the Handlers' daughter Barbie. Later on, when it was decided that the Barbie doll should have a boy friend, he was named after Barbie Handlers' brother Ken. Mrs. Handler subsequently expanded her dolls' horizons, until now there is a whole "World of Barbie." This world includes classmates and friends from all ethnic and racial groups. As most parents know, the dolls have a wide range of clothes and accessories.

There are some parents, of course, who think of Barbie primarily as a temptress luring children into seeking ever-new purchases for their doll's wardrobe. The Handlers insist, however, that the wise parent knows how to control his child and to keep her appetite for new doll accessories within the family budget.

The flood of letters from owners of Barbie dolls seeking information about clothes and grooming impelled the organization of the Barbie Fan Club. Members and their mothers get together periodically to discuss fashion, hair styles, social behavior, health habits, and the problems of growing up.

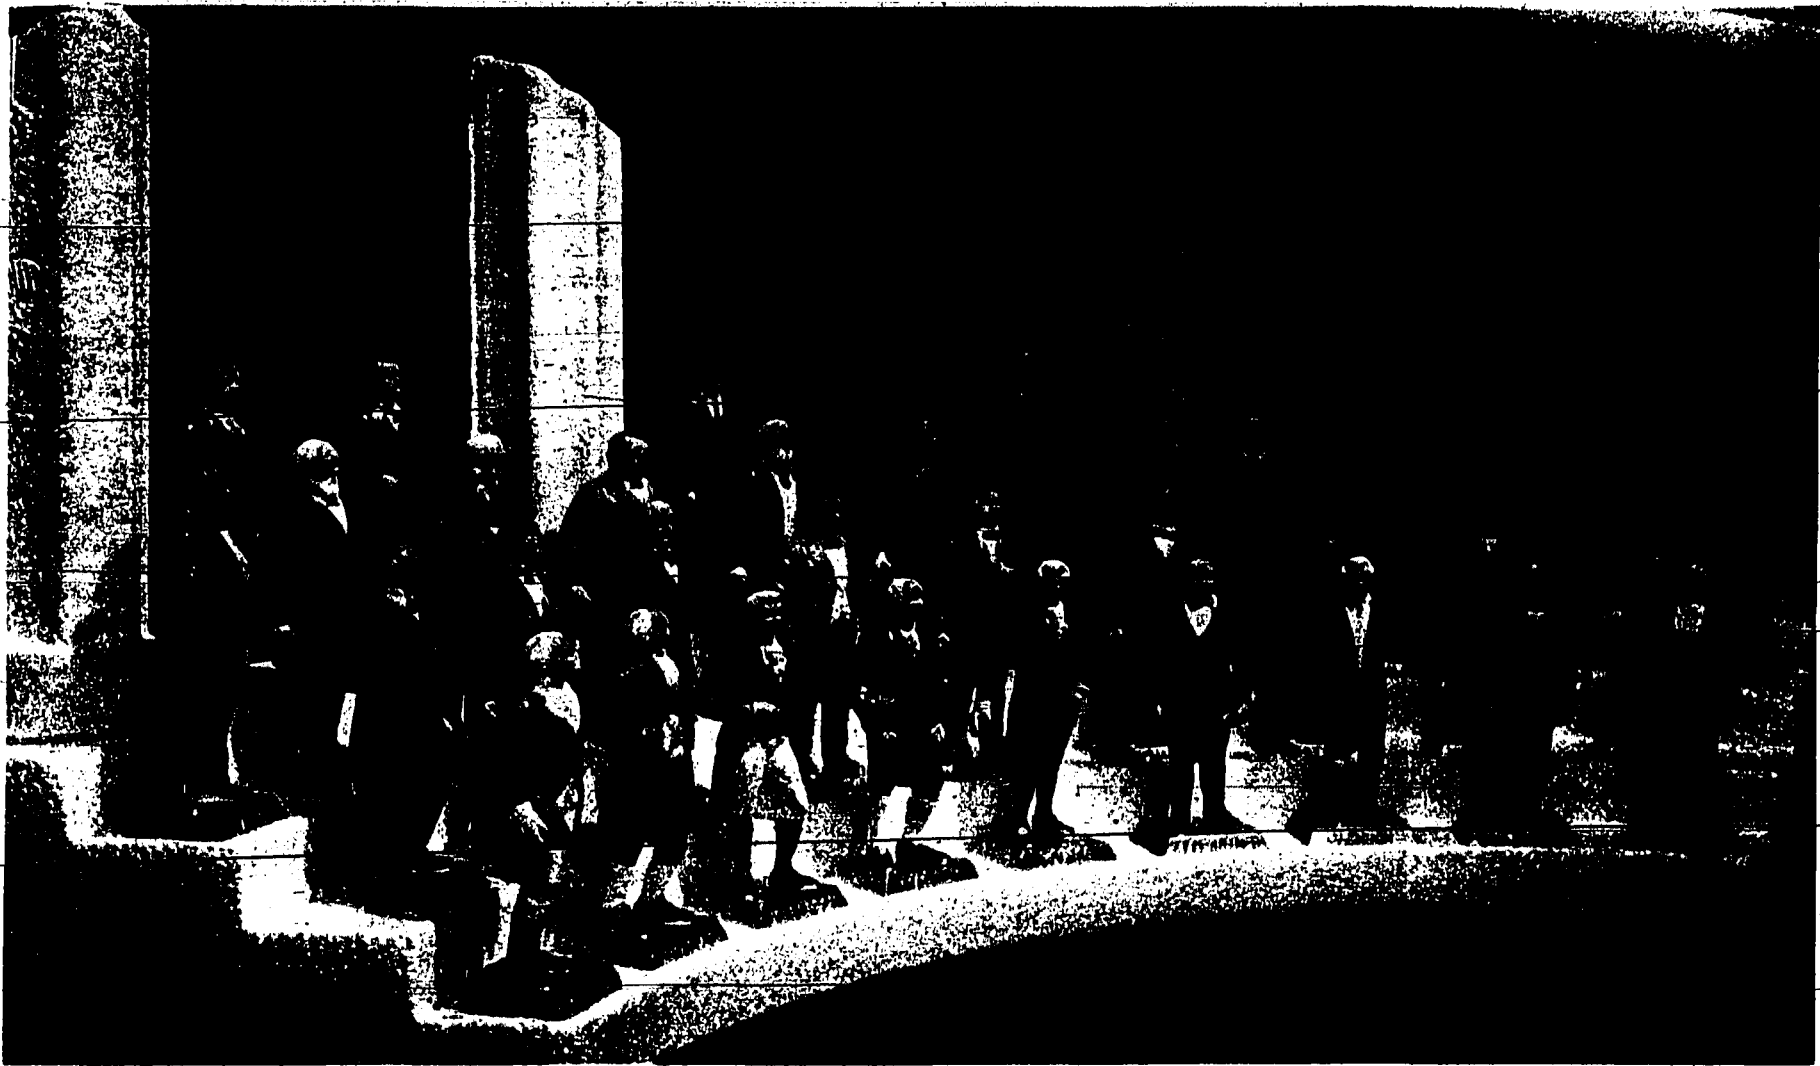

And what of the real-life Barbie and Ken? They both married young, as their parents did, and there are two grandchildren for the busy grandparents to dote on come Sundays. One of the grandchildren is a girl. Naturally, she has been given life membership in the Barbie Fan club. □

HERE INDEED IS HISTORY COME ALIVE... in a thrilling collection of miniature sculptures any lover of Americana would be proud to own! It offers a unique opportunity to enrich, to beautify your home, your office, at most modest cost. It is a provocative conversation-piece arousing interest and enthusiasm for all who view it; or use it to provide your child with lasting inspiration.

EVERY AMERICAN PRESIDENT FROM WASHINGTON TO NIXON...
AUTHENTICALLY DRESSED... PERFECTLY SCALED...
EXQUISITELY HAND-PAINTED

They're all here—Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Roosevelt, beloved JFK... dramatically portrayed, instantly recognizable in perfect miniature sculptures. So authentically detailed, so realistically hand-painted, you can actually see the gold buttons on Washington's blue coat... the look of "give 'em hell" on Harry Truman's face... the twinkle in Lincoln's eye... the serious dedication of Wilson. Each lifelike replica takes its place proudly in commanding 4-tiered Reviewing Stand, with name and dates of office inscribed on golden pedestal base. Each sculpture is 2 3/4" high.

You will be thrilled and proud to display this unique art sculpture collection in your home, or your purchase price will be refunded. Included Free: American Presidents Album with complete biographic data.

Presidential Sculptures Grace Homes of Distinguished Citizens!

What Is Happiness, And What Helps Us Possess It?

True or False: You can buy happiness with money—if you know where to shop for it (see number 3)

Happiness—which the dictionary defines as the state of being pleased and content—is a subject which interests almost everyone. In fact, it has been described as just about the best thing around. This quiz helps us take a closer look at it, to see what makes it tick.

TRUE OR FALSE

1. Most Americans are unhappy.
2. Men are happier than women.
3. You can buy happiness with money—if you know where to shop for it.
4. There's no such thing as a happy pessimist.
5. Education is conducive to happiness.
6. Young people are happier than old people.

ANSWERS

1. False. A nationwide survey polled men and women of all ages and walks of life on this question. Over 40% said they were very happy, and almost 50% described themselves as fairly happy. Nine percent described themselves as either unhappy, or so confused they weren't sure what they were.

2. False. The same survey showed the difference in happiness between the sexes to be so slight as to be negligible. The percentage of men and women who rated themselves as "very happy," "fairly happy," or "not happy" was almost identical.

3. False. People who are rich, bored, and unhappy have been shopping for it since time immemorial without finding it. This doesn't mean to say that money may bear no relation to happiness. For having plenty of money may help or hinder in the pursuit of happiness. It depends entirely on the individual, his attitude and personality. It isn't without some significance that surveys show that more people in the higher income brackets describe themselves as happy than those in the middle and lesser brackets. 4. True. And since pessimism is the enemy of happiness, it's interesting to consider what makes a pessimist tick and how he gets that way. Psychological studies show that the chronic pessimist tends to be "failure-prone." He unconsciously sets himself life goals which will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to achieve. Thus, in effect, he invites failure and develops a pattern of failure expectancy. This is why, when things do go right, it has an unsettling effect on him—and he feels something closely akin to disappointment.

5. True. It has been truly said that "education makes possible the enjoyment of a greater number of things—and the greater the variety of sources of pleasures and satisfactions, the greater the possibility of achieving sustained happiness." Education is also conducive to happiness in that it makes it possible for us to exercise more knowledge and perspective in our choice of goals and activities.

6. False—according to a psychological study conducted at Georgia Southwestern College, on the general happiness and life satisfaction of young and old people. Subjects consisted of over 200 persons. One group consisted of men and women who had retired. Each was given tests designed to measure morale, well-being, and general good feeling. Findings: test scores "indicated no difference in degree of life satisfaction; however they showed significant differences in the sources of satisfaction for each group."

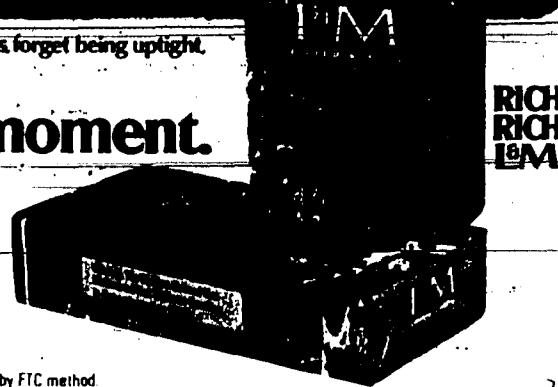

Happy old people tended to derive their satisfactions from the past, feeling they had lived a good life, gotten their share of the breaks, still presented a good appearance, and didn't feel down in the dumps. Happy young people's sources of satisfaction were: "The feeling that these are the best years of my life; the anticipation of having pleasant things happening in the future; not feeling old and tired."

As the research psychologist who conducted the study observes: The old are better satisfied with their past, the young are more optimistic about the future. □

Now... Plastic Cream Revolutionizes Denture Wearing

Fixodent

For the first time, science now offers a unique plastic cream that holds dentures—both "uppers" and "lowers"—as they've never been held before. It forms an elastic membrane that helps hold your dentures to the natural tissues of your mouth.

It's FIXODENT—a revolutionary discovery for daily home use. So different it's protected by U. S. Patent #3,003,988.

FIXODENT not only holds dentures firmer, but it holds them more comfortably, too. It's so elastic you may bite harder, chew better, eat more naturally.

The special pencil-point dispenser lets you put FIXODENT exactly where it's needed. Resists oozing over and gagging.

Just one application may last for hours. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get easy-to-use FIXODENT Denture Adhesive Cream at all drug counters.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, mighty contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

What I Like About My Family— And What I'd Like to Change

Family Weekly President and Publisher Morton Frank hands over one of the precious awards to Hugh Hocker, while Marilee Morin looks on.

Marilee Morin's Essay

—A father who grooves on logging boots, a mother who excels in fly-extermination, children who are the number-one promoters of the polywog population...oh, and there's always the worm worshiper, popcorn fan, and the peanut-butter nub. These are things I like about my family. And where else but in a family could you find such a menagerie of personalities, not only surviving but actually enjoying life.

Together-ness is one of the most important elements of my family life. For as long as I can remember, one night a week has been reserved for activities as a family. This activity might consist of anything from an ice-cream bust, to a discussion of family problems, to programs and other family-oriented functions.

We have learned to become included in one another's problems and triumphs. A few years ago, when Dad was having a difficult time paying his bills, all of the children gathered their pennies and dollars, then placed them in an envelope on my dad's desk. Last year, after being without money for a few weeks, I called home from college and requested $100. Dad wired me $100.

The group usually turns out in full-force to support family football players, champion calf riders, members of musical and dramatic casts (or whatever the case may be). Then there's always the things I'd like to change:

Oftimes I think I'd like to change the way my father rouses us in the morning! As he clomps up the stairs in his logging boots, singing, "Oh, it's great to get up in the morning in the good ol' summertime," the thought always strikes me, "there's got to be a better way!" Yet, I fear the fault lies in my love of sleep.

Sometimes, in moments of frustration, it seems perhaps a few less kids would be desirable. But who would we throw out? Each person contributes a part, and each child adds something which makes our home a better place to live.

One thing that definitely needs changing is my family's love for people. After all, it is only with great difficulty that I am able to recall a time that we have not had a cousin of one sort or another, staying at our home. The number ranges anywhere from one to 15. But then again, I remember no severe fatigue caused by over-exertion, and what is life but a heap of experiences?

All-in-all, I think my family is rather unique. But, of course, all families are unique—which is marvelous! After all, what a boring thing life would be if the world were made up of stereotyped families?

Two Winning Essays From a Family Weekly Competition

FAMILY WEEKLY is proud to introduce Miss Marilee Morin of Richmond, Utah, and Mr. Hugh R. Hocker of Morgantown, Ky.—two teen-agers we wish others could get to know better. Children of families participating in the 1971 ALL-AMERICAN FAMILY SEARCH, held at Lehigh Acres, Fla., Marilee and Hugh were co-winners of a $1000 oratorical scholarship awarded by FAMILY WEEKLY. Addressing themselves to the subject "Things I Like About My Family, And Things I'd Like to Change," they and dozens of other contestants were required to sum up their basic attitudes toward homelife in a brief two-minute speech. Marilee and Hugh came out on top—and we think, after reading excerpts of their essays, you'll understand why. —The Editors

Hugh Hocker's Essay

I am in college, and one of the things I like about my family is that I can sit and talk with them on any subject. Since I was about 12 years old, I have known about the family's business. I knew what we could afford and what we couldn't. Also, when something was being bought for the family, every member got to express his opinion and what he would be willing to pay for it. My older sister and I were included when our parents discussed the tearing down of our old home, the building of our new one, the buying of our first new car, and the purchasing of carpet for the basement. Even my little sisters had an opportunity to tell which color of carpet they liked best.

I like my family because they are respectful of my property. My little sisters do not bother my personal articles or prowl in my room. Not only is my family respectful of my property, but also my plans. Being young, I don't spend all of my time at home, and my family is considerate and usually arranges for me to have a car when I want it.

There are two things about my family that I would change if I could, and they are closely related. Number one would be that they rush me too much: From the time I get up in the morning until I go to bed at night, someone is always saying hurry! If I get in the bathroom to shave, someone is always wanting to know when I will be out. In the morning, when I am trying to get ready to go to work, I can't eat breakfast for people telling me to speed up.

The other thing that I would like to change about my family is that I would like for them all to be a little more patient with each other. This lack of patience sometimes leads to hard feelings, which is very unnecessary. Also, I am not the fastest person in the world, and when I am taking some member of the family somewhere, I wish they'd be more patient.

If I could change these two things about my family, I believe that I would be in agreement with them more of the time.

What in the World!

LOIS WYSE, POET
Despite herself, her stuff sells

"Some of the poetry I write is written when I feel very confident and very sure, and some is written when I am very frightened," FAMILY WEEKLY learned from Lois Wyse, who is one of the very few poets whose works get into book form and make a good profit. A sample is from "Love Poems for a Wedding Day" (Bantam $1.50):

Should you ever stop loving me,
Please do not tell me.
Let me sense it
When I can.
And, my love,
Do not be impatient.
It will not take too long
For me to know.

"It would not really matter to me if the poems were never published. What matters is that I have said what I must, and I have put on record some hidden part of me that I may finally see. When I read the things I have written, I understand myself better. All the poetry that I have written has not been published because there are poems that are so intense I do not want to share them."

You can learn fantastic things about plants from Jerry Baker, "America's Master Gardener." When we talked with him recently, we learned some surprising tips: 1) For nongreen-thumb gardeners, an easy way to start a plant from seed is in three-fourths of an eggshell, with a pinprick on the bottom. Come transplanting time, just crush the shell (but not the plant) into the soil. 2) To keep roses or other woody-stemmed fresh flowers, use a mallet to beat the bottom inch of stem—so it absorbs water. 3) For a practically permanent corsage, pour a thin layer of Borax into a tin can, gently place the corsage in it, fill the can with more Borax, gently brushing it around the petals. Fill to top and seal. Seven days later, you've got a fresh-looking corsage that could last about 10 wearings (if not crushed), especially if toughened with a little hair spray to keep out humidity. 4) Water defrosted from the refrigerator is better for plants than tap water. Jerry Baker's new book of similar helpful hints is "Plants are Like People" (Nash $6.95).

A SILENT SIDEWALK CRUSADER
Does he win any converts?

It takes a lot of viewpoints to make up a world. This old man has been carrying placards with his points of view around Manhattan streets for years. It seems doubtful that the short-skirted young lady plans to change her life-style because of his message. But nobody seems to get mad, even when he carries his sign through crowds of young people—few of whom can boast of covered knees.

Quips & Quotes

HEAR, HEAR
By Richard Armour

Because of exposure to hard rock music, some young people under 25 have the hearing of 65-year-olds.—News item

Thanks to youthful ear exposing
One generation gap is closing.
Both young and old will, I'm afraid,
Soon have to wear a hearing aid.
Another way to put it's this, (Explaining what you've thought amiss):
The youths who seemed to hate or jeer you
And wouldn't listen, couldn't hear you.

Experience is recognizing the mistake you made again.—E. J. Munter

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

I was trying to soothe my five-year-old daughter. "Look, honey," I reminded, "I thought you said your earache was better. Then why do you keep on crying like that?"

"I'm waiting for Daddy to come home," she replied. "He's never seen me with an earache."
—Mrs. A. T. Q., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A man filling out a job application form came to the question, "Have you ever been arrested?"

He filled in "No."

The next question was "Why?" and was meant for those who answered in the affirmative.

Nevertheless he answered the question with, "Never got caught."

—Henry E. Leabo

A little boy and his mother stood looking at a dentist's showcase.

"If I had to have false teeth, Mommy, I'd take this pair," said the child, pointing.

"Hush," said his mother, shaking his arm, "haven't I told you it's bad manners to pick your teeth in public?"

—Dorothea Kent

Advice to dieters: When asked if you'd like something to eat, the best reply is, "I'd like nothing better."

—Frank Tyger

"My wife swears that if I die," Billings confided to a friend, "she will remain a widow for the rest of her days."

"H'm, I'd consider that a compliment," declared his companion. "She thinks there's no other man just like you, eh?"

"No," was Billings' gloomy response. "She's afraid there is." —F. G. Kernan

TELEPHONE PROGRESS
The advantage of dialing direct!
I can get a wrong number in nothing flat.

It used to take four or five operators
To make a mistake like that.

—Georgie Starbuck Calbmith
