Mars veiled

CONTRASTING VIEWS of Martian terrain show difficulties created by gigantic dust storm raging over planet. Upper view is made up of frames taken by Mariner during first orbit, including south polar cap which is dimly visible through dust screen. Lower view was taken by Mariner 7 in 1969 when atmosphere was clear and polar cap clearly defined. Bright curved appendages in top photo are unexplained, scientists say. (UPI)

UN members welcome Red China delegation

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Communist China took its seat in the United Nations today, welcomed by nations from every region of the world. Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua led the Chinese delegation into the world body at a special session of the U.N. General Assembly called to welcome them.

The first item on the agenda afterwards was scheduled to be debate on a Soviet proposal for a world disarmament conference, one of the major questions which was awaiting the participation of the Chinese.

The Chinese delegation drove from the Roosevelt Hotel in midtown Manhattan to the skyscraper headquarters of the United Nations a short distance away on the East River three weeks to the day after the same assembly delegates voted to admit the Communists and simultaneously expel the Chinese Nationalists.

The jubilation of some U.N. delegates at the defeat of months-long efforts by the United States to prevent the expulsion of the Nationalists brought criticism from the White House and calls in the U.S. Congress for a cutback in American support for the United Nations.

Since the arrival of the Chinese delegation last week, the U.S. reception has been cordial but U.S. Ambassador George Bush was not among the speakers scheduled to welcome the Chinese today.

The only mark of public disapproval the Chinese have met so far, however, was a demonstration by about 500 anti-Communist Chinese from Chinatown outside their hotel on Sunday.

Chiao, a tall, imposing man with an impressive list of diplomatic jobs behind him, occupied the same place in the assembly as did the Chinese Nationalists, between the delegates of Chile and Colombia in the alphabetical seating.

He presented his credentials to ailing U.N. Secretary General Thant yesterday in Thant's hospital room.

Chiao and Huang Hua, Communist China's former ambassador to Canada, met for 50 minutes Sunday with Secretary General Thant in Thant's 11th floor room at Le Roy Hospital in Manhattan. Thant is recuperating from a bleeding peptic ulcer and may leave the hospital today or Tuesday. Huang will be the permanent delegate at the U.N. and will represent Communist China on the important Security Council.

For the most part, the time since the new delegation arrived last Thursday has been uneventful.

About 500 demonstrators gathered outside the delegation's temporary headquarters at the Hotel Roosevelt Sunday.

Senate seat McClure goal

BOISE (UPI) — U. S. Rep. James A. McClure has advised fellow Republicans he will announce his candidacy Wednesday for the GOP nomination for the United States Senate.

In a letter to the party faithful, dated Nov. 12, McClure said "because of your demonstrated interest in our party I wanted you to know of this decision before it was released to the press."

McClure enclosed a copy of the statement he plans to give to the news media on Wednesday.

"This decision has not been an easy one to make," the three-term Congressman said. "I wish it had been possible for me to talk to each of you personally before the final decision was made."

"I do want you to know that I have carefully considered all the alternatives and tested all the arguments."

"As I stated in my announcement, I have used every method of evaluation I know."

"I am convinced that I have made the right choice, not only for the responsibility I have to the members of the Republican Party the citizens of the First Congressional District of Idaho but also for my family and myself."

McClure noted that primary elections "are difficult because they make friends choose between friends." But he said he considers this "healthy process" and added "if we keep our mind on the final goal and that goal is victory for the Republican candidate in November."

He called the list of potential candidates for the senate and the First Congressional District "impressive."

He added that "it is significant that nearly all of the preliminary discussion on both races has been directed to the Republican candidates."

McClure made an oblique reference in his letter to GOP critics of his senatorial ambitions — those who want him to run again for the seat he now holds.

"When I first ran for that seat I was opposing an incumbent Democrat, and this made it an uphill battle," McClure said.

Chinese picket

CHANTING PRO-TAIWAN demonstrators picketed Roosevelt Hotel in New York Sunday, objecting to mainland China's 52-member UN delegation. Most of 500 shouting protesters were residents of Manhattan's Chinatown. Rally came few hours after leaders of Peking group presented credentials to UN Secretary General U Thant. (UPI)

Phase II limits dividend increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced today that the Phase II 1% per cent limit on dividend increases will apply to approximately 10,000 of the nation's largest businesses which account for all but a small portion of the annual dividends paid stockholders.

The estimate was made public by the Committee on Interest and Dividends headed by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns.

The announcement came as the most intensive price-wage controls in peacetime history went into effect with a few immediate signs of how business would respond to Phase II of President Nixon's economic policies.

The dividend limitation announced previously would be based on a company's highest payments in the three past fiscal years.

The committee said the controls would apply to: Companies with more than $1 million in total assets and a class of equity securities held by 500 or more persons.

Those subject to the reporting requirements of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or insurance companies with capital stock.

These guidelines will therefore apply to about 10,000 of the largest corporations which account for all but a small portion of the dividends paid each year by U.S. corporations," the announcement said.

Exempted under the guidelines were regulated investment companies, real estate investment trusts.

Kendrick lawyer into Senate race

BOISE (UPI) — Dr. Glen Wegner, 32, Kendrick lawyer and medical doctor now serving on the White House staff, today announced his resignation to run for the United States Senate next year.

Wegner, a Republican, joined former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, a Boise lawyer; F. W. (Bill) Bergeson, a Poetello advertising man, and former Congressman George V. Hansen in the race.

Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, is retiring at the end of the present term.

Wegner said he is concerned about maintaining and improving "the quality of life we now enjoy."

He said Idaho is "that most rare thing — a state which still retains most of the beauty, the resources and the livability with which it was originally endowed."

New storm stronger

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Laura gathered strength in the northwest Caribbean today, pointing 55-mile-an-hour winds at western Cuba. Forecasters said it might grow into a hurricane.

"All interests along the northwest Caribbean and south Florida should keep in close touch with future releases, since indications are that Laura might reach hurricane strength," the National Hurricane Center said.

Babysitter deduction wins Senate approval

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted today to give middle-class couples a tax deduction covering up to $4,800 of the cost of hiring someone to look after their children under 14 while both husband and wife are out working.

The vote was 59 to 24. Approved over administration opposition was an amendment to President Nixon's tax bill allowing the full deduction for couples who have a joint income of up to $18,000. A smaller deduction would be available to those with joint incomes of up to $27,600.

that the new tax deduction would cost the government $250 million a year in reduced tax revenues.

Reds mum on troop cut offer

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has ignored a request by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to begin talks on the mutual reduction of the number of troops in Europe, Western diplomatic sources said today.

The proposal, offered by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., was favored by Women's Liberation groups. They argue it is unfair to allow businessmen to deduct the cost of dining and driving customers while working wives cannot deduct the cost of hiring someone to babysit while they are at work.

Treasury Department opposition was based on the estimate that the new tax deduction would cost the government $250 million a year in reduced tax revenues.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., an advocate of the proposal, said the option of mothers to take jobs while someone else cares for their children has become "recognized as a right of women."

"Some women make a lot better secretaries or business executives than they do housekeepers," he said.

But Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, opposing, said the proposal would grant tax relief for women who do not have to work but take outside jobs to be able to afford new clothes or a new car.

Rupert youth dies of mishap injuries

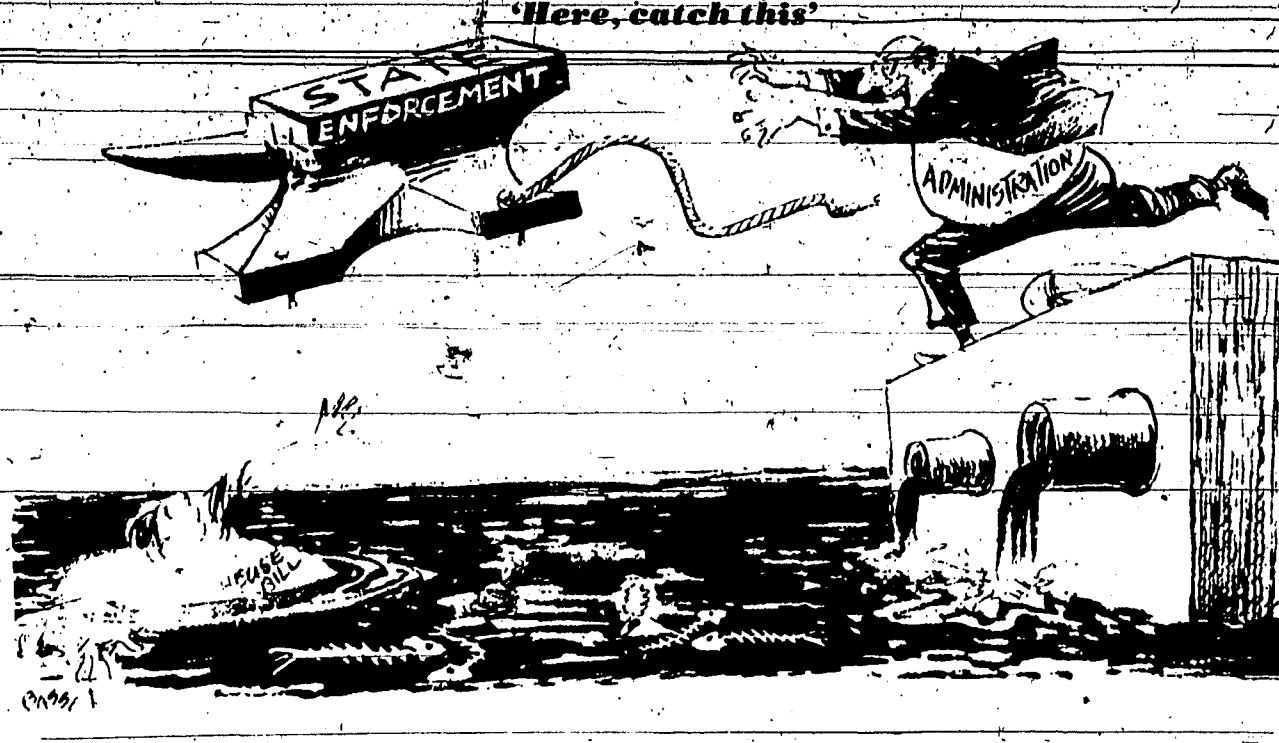

RUPERT — Kyle Wilson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chase Wilson, Rupert, died today in Minidoka Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in an accident at the Mack sugar beet station northeast of Rupert.

Sheriff's officers said the youth was working at the beet dump when he was accidentally crushed between a beet truck bed and equipment at the dumping station.

Robert C. Walk, Minidoka County coroner, said an inquest is pending in the death. He brought the injured youth to the hospital in Rupert Saturday.

Medina testifies once more

FORT MEADE, Md. (UPI)—Former Capt. Ernest L. Medina, who commanded an infantry unit in the 1968 My Lai assault, testified today that he kept from Col. Oran K. Henderson, his brigade commander, the information that his men had killed unarmed civilians in the village. Medina, 37, now back in civilian life after being acquitted of murder charges in connection with My Lai, testified as the 15th and perhaps most crucial witness in Henderson's courtmartial on My Lai cover-up charges.

Medina said he did not want to believe that the civilians had been shot by members of his command. "I didn't want to tell him this," he testified. Medina testified that Henderson flew into the village by helicopter on March 18, two days after the My Lai operation, and questioned him about complaints from helicopter pilots about noncombatants being slain. At one point, he testified, Henderson said to him: "Ernie, is there anything else I should know?" Medina said he told Henderson there was not, that "I'm a father, I have three children, I would not have allowed anything like that to happen." Medina resigned his commission on Oct. 15 and now is employed by a helicopter firm in Michigan.

SALT talks open today

VIENNA (UPI)—The first two weeks of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) here will determine whether President Nixon will be able to sign a SALT treaty when he goes to Moscow in May, diplomatic sources said today. The sixth round of SALT was opening today with a ceremonial greeting of the Soviet and American delegations by Austrian President Franz Jonas. The first business session will be Tuesday at the Soviet Embassy.

The U.S. and Soviet delegations toasted each other in champagne before going into an adjoining room for a 10-minute private conversation. The sources agreed with Nixon that any SALT treaty before the end of the year is "highly improbable." But they said the atmosphere set in the first two weeks of the sixth round will show whether an agreement is possible during this round, which is expected to last until spring. A White House-Kremlin agreement May 20 broke an earlier deadlock by ordering the Soviet-American delegations to concentrate on a treaty limiting Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) defenses this year, while continuing to talk about offensive limitations. The two sides met in Helsinki over the summer. When they left, the chief U.S. delegate, Gerard C. Smith, said prospects for an agreement were "not so bad." On his arrival here Saturday, Smith held out hope for "something after the beginning of next year or not too long afterwards." But the sources pointed out that no one will know whether the Soviets still want an ABM agreement until the talks resume. The first two weeks of meetings—expected to be held on a twice-weekly schedule—will be devoted to a restatement of positions, they said, and these restatements will give the U.S. team its first insight into current Soviet attitudes. The sources said the main problem now revolves around "equality"—whether each nation is to be limited to an equal number of ABM missiles and ABM sites. The United States wants at least two sites, to protect two, offensive missile emplacements. The Soviets want each superpower to have only one ABM site. Russia already has its site—around Moscow. Beyond that looms the exact number of missiles. U.S. Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard already has said that "the question of whether you have a few more or a few less... is not really the issue." But it was thought that the Russians consider it a key issue.

Historical society will meet

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Historical Society will meet at 8:00 p.m. this Wednesday night, not Tuesday as stated in the Times-News Sunday.

A program of slides of the society's field trips held this summer will be featured, according to Mrs. Harold Waggoner, society museum director.

The meeting will be held in the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Yorty may run for President

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty says he will announce Tuesday whether he will run for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Yorty, whose campaign machinery is already in high gear in New Hampshire for the primary there, is expected to announce he will be a candidate. He said last week that he had not announced his decision formally as yet because to do so would expose television networks he has appeared on to equal time claims from other candidates.

Valley Obituaries

G. Messley

BUHL — Mrs. Gladys Fern Messley, 70, Lincoln Courts, Buhl, died of a long illness Saturday evening at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. She was born at Seiden, Kan., on April 24, 1901. Loses citizenship and nationality

LONDON (UPI)—For 45 minutes, Lady Amalia Fleming sat on the Olympic Airlines jet at London's Heathrow Airport refusing to get off. She insisted it take her back to Greece. Finally, the 62-year-old Greek-born widow of the discoverer of penicillin agreed to leave the aircraft Sunday—but only after being told the plane had to be locked for security reasons. "In a country where there is a rule of law, I have no intention of making trouble," Lady Fleming told newsmen later. "So I left the plane."

Women to be ordained

LONDON (UPI)—The Church of England will ordain its first two women priests in the near future, a spokesman said today. Jane Hwant Hsien Yuen, a Chinese national and London-born Joyce Bennett will be ordained in Hong Kong, he said. No exact date was announced. The two women will be the first female priests in the four centuries since the church's founding by the English King Henry VIII.

Question...

I was not eligible to receive a Social Security monthly benefit when my husband died. I am remarried now and over 60. Does my remarriage affect my entitlement to benefits?

Answer...

If you remarried before you became 60 you still are not entitled to any benefits from your deceased husband's earnings. If you remarried after you became 60 you are entitled to benefits even though your second husband may not be retired. If you remarried before 60 and this marriage ends whether by death, divorce or annulment you may become entitled to benefits based on earnings of your first husband.

In our estimation few private or public agencies match the knowledge and helpfulness of the personnel in our local Social Security office. We suggest you discuss this problem with them. You will find them very helpful.

Phase 2 opposition sends stocks to 11 month low

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks plunged to an 11-month low on the New York Stock Exchange this week in the wake of a chorus of labor and business opposition to Phase Two of President Nixon's sweeping economic program.

In a surprise news conference at the weekend, Nixon conceded there was uncertainty on Wall Street and in the business community over the new economic controls that replace the 90-day wage-price freeze. His advice on the stock market slide, however, was "Don't sell."

The President reiterated his prediction that next year will be "a good year" for the economy, and said the rate of inflation will be cut in half during 1972. Many Wall Street analysts thought otherwise, as the Dow Jones Industrial Average was battered down by 27.45 points to 812.94. It marked the lowest closing level for the blue chip barometer since it finished at 808.53 on Dec. 3 of last year.

Other market indicators also slumped, and declines overwhelmed advances. 1,300 against 422 of the 1,857 issues crossing the tape. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index fell 2.34 to 92.12, while the NYSE Common Stock Index dropped 1.31 to 50.85.

good for next year, but said the big worry is whether labor will cooperate with Phase Two. Theodore Bukowski of E. F.

Hutton & Co. said "What we are seeing is an emotional market, and there's no telling where the decline will end." He said he expected the market decline either would wind up in a dramatic selloff of "simply burn itself out."

Saul Smerling of Standard & Poor's said "The market is dispirited," he said. "A great deal of concern exists among traders.

that the guideline for price increases will put pressure on corporate profits. Such action," he concluded, "tends to be a limiting factor regarding stock trading."

said there is a great fear there are so many loopholes in the economic program that it might not work.

Analysis

Volume for the five days aggregated 61,862,680 shares, down from 65,438,420 shares a week earlier, but slightly ahead of the 60,874,060 shares traded during the year ago period.

All but one of the week's 20 most active stocks were in reverse gear. Losses of three points or more were spread throughout the list, with oils and electronics among the hardest hit.

The pay board voted to restrict future pay increases to about 5.5 per cent. Labor voiced bitter opposition and will take up the question at the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach next week.

The price commission imposed a 2.5 per cent average ceiling on price increases, and the cost of living council said firms with sales of $100 million a year or more would have to get prior approval of price increases during the period of economic controls. This will cover such giants as General Motors, and, in general, the 1,300 biggest American firms doing 45 per cent of all U. S. business.

Events on the international scene also provided little cheer for investors.

Treasury Secretary John Connally, ending two days of talks with Japanese leaders on world monetary problems, said the currency crisis may continue into 1972 because European nations are finding it difficult to arrive at a common policy with regard to the U. S.

Connally said the American rate of economic growth has been zero for the last two years, and it needs help from its friends in solving the problems that beset the American economy.

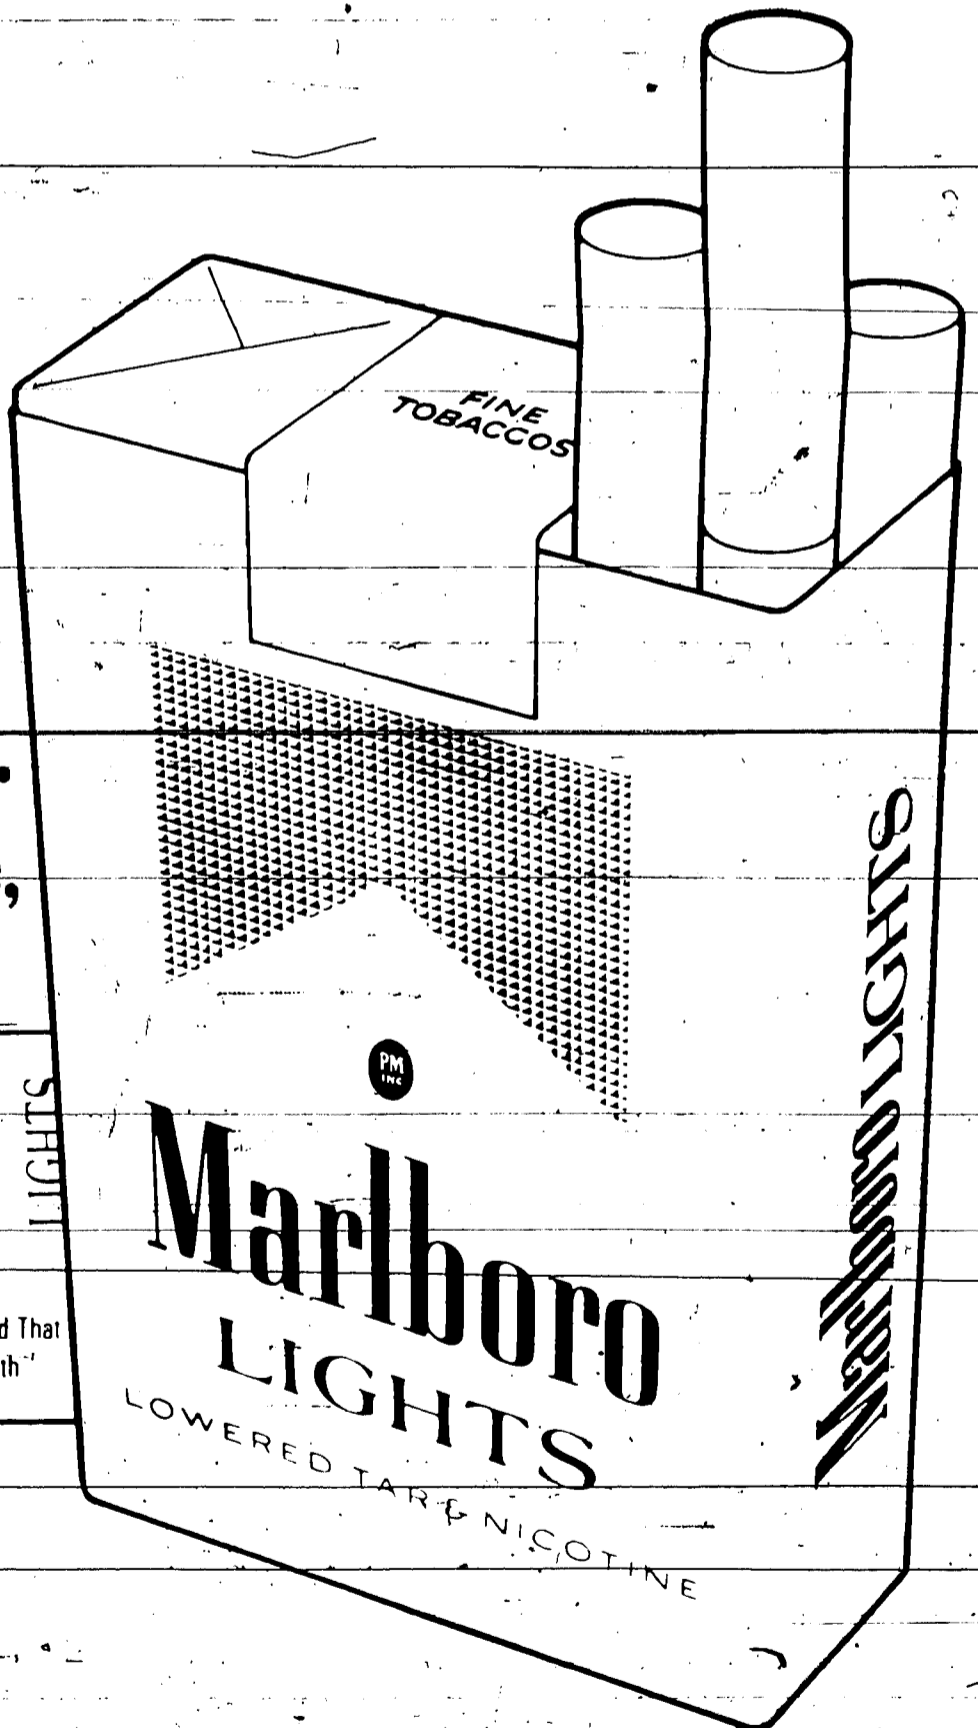

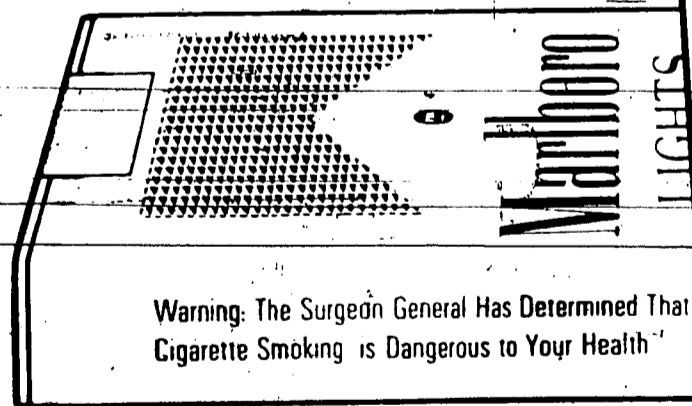

The United States has asked Japan to revalue its yen in order to bring trade between the two countries into better balance. So far, however, Japan has resisted pressure for revaluation.

Commenting on the stock market's tumble, Leo Lancer of Bruns, Nordeman & Co. said "The labor situation has everybody on the street shook up." He observed that profits and the economy in general look Abraham Lincoln's wife Mary Todd Lincoln was officially declared insane following his 1861 murder, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The Way It Goes

WASHINGTON — The best quote to come out of the Amchitka H-Bomb test can be attributed to Maj. Gen. Edward B. Giller, who has the title of "assistant general manager for military application" at the Atomic Energy Commission.

history who allowed a Shashlik missile to get through our Spartan missile defense system. "Precisely, sir. This test has given the Soviets added confidence and, unless we prove to them that we have something to stop the Shasklik, we might have to blink in our next eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation."

"Are there any environmental hazards?" "None comparable to the risk of our national security. We might lose part of Alaska in the explosion and there could be some cracks in the Western half of Canada, but that's the way the world goes."

PAUL HARVEY

The Paper Died

If you are, as I am, given to anthropomorphism, you hear anguished cries when even an inanimate thing dies. A newspaper just died in Toronto. I went there for the wake.

Or it may be argued that in the new era of multiple media competing for advertisers' dollars no city is big enough indefinitely to support two newspapers, and Toronto had three.

home, tied up a man and two women, forced two other women to "marble, raped one, and then fled with $75 when the second escaped, still nude, into the street."

The suspect was arrested a couple of days later. At a hearing before Magistrate Lawrence Margolis, the prosecution urged that the defendant be placed in protective detention on the grounds that, while still a juvenile, said defendant had been charged with three prior offenses involving rape and robbery and was in effect on probation. Neope, said Margolis, and thereupon set bail at $50,000.

"This extraordinary statistic," says Geoffrey M. Alprin, general counsel for the police department, "may be the chief reason why carrying a pistol without a license is not viewed throughout the criminal justice system as a serious crime."

As a result, citizens of the District and other big cities no longer are surprised to read in their newspapers that the suspect arrested in the latest murder or murder-rape was on parole or probation. In Hell City, at any rate, professional criminals get not only a second chance but a third, fourth and fifth.

Apparently, the judges who turn these animals loose on unprotected public never read the newspapers. They seem to be unaware of the plight of old ladies living alone who have become favorite victims of the sex-cum-killing mob, or of the daylight rapes committed in the toilets of downtown office buildings, some of them within spitting distance of the White House.

Let us consider one example out of the many of the incredible leniency practiced by Hell City's judges. Recently a gunman invaded a Capitol Hill

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss causes of goiter other than lack of iodine? All the women in my family seem to have goiters, and prescribed iodine doesn't seem to help us.

other factors. Foods in the genus Brassica, if eaten to excess, can contribute to simple goiter. Cabbage, turnips, and soy beans (but not soy bean milk) are in this category. Brassica in particular has been indicted. Others in genus Brassica include broccoli, brussels sprouts, cauliflower, collard, kale, kohlrabi, rutabaga. There may be others, but those are the ones I know.

I read that certain foods contain substances which interfere with the body's acceptance of iodine. Could you list such foods? The book said they were members of the genus Brassica.

All, of course, are good foods, but it seems to be a rule of life that almost anything in excess, may have some harmful effects, or may be harmful because excesses in one direction can mean deficiencies in others.

The reason I ask is that our family eats more than the usual amounts of green vegetables such as poke salad, green beans, spinach, turnip greens, etc.

Well, anyway, treatment of simple goiter sometimes is something more than just giving iodine. Thyroid substance also is helpful. And, of course, if a goiter, because of its size, obstructs breathing or is unsightly, surgical removal is in order.

I in particular have been eating large amounts of lettuce for six years or so, sometimes two heads a day to keep my weight down. Could there be a connection? Mrs. Q

Goiter (enlargement of the thyroid gland) develops most frequently in adolescent females, and particularly in inland areas where the soil is low in iodine. But there are

Hansen asks for expenditure data

WASHINGTON — U. S. Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has suggested the government prepare information showing how expenditures by federal agencies are to be divided between rural and urban areas. Hansen has asked the comptroller general of the United States for such information, saying Congress lacks full background for evaluating efforts to assist in rural revitalization.

If we had some comprehensive method to determine the fiscal impact of federal spending rural areas," Congressman Hansen said, "we would be able to judge more effectively the true federal effort to fulfill promises to help rural citizens. Hansen said there are several examples of short-changing rural areas. Less than 20 per cent of funds for the war on poverty go to rural areas although 43 per cent of the poor live in rural areas, he said. Mortgage assistance and public housing for the elderly are in short supply in rural communities and yet these rural areas contain 60 per cent of the nation's unsound housing and a disproportionate number of elderly citizens, he said.

MRS. ROBERT DINGMAN, owner with her husband of G and G Gifts in downtown Twin Falls, inspects her array of LDS Church-sponsored candy, one of a number of lines for parties, fun and gift-giving the shop has for sale.

Downtown gift shop

New gift shop offers variety of novelties

TWIN FALLS — From spicy novelties to church-sponsored-candy, Twin Falls' newest business, G. and G. Gifts, 245 Main Ave. W., offers a wide variety of low-cost items for many occasions. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dingman, formerly of Albuquerque, N. M., have moved to Twin Falls to live after visiting the area several times on Dingman's road trips. He wholesales novelty items and travels widely, but has decided to settle in Twin Falls and let Mrs. Dingman keep busy with the "shop," she said. "We love Twin Falls," she said. "We've been here several times and always have wanted to settle down here. It's smaller and less crowded than Albuquerque and people are so much more friendly." G and G. Gifts is a franchise operation, headquartered in Boise, owned by two Boise men, Neal Dennison and Dee Olsen. The Dingmans plan a grand opening shortly after Dec. 1, concentrating on gifts for the holiday season. Mrs. Dingman said the shop will offer a line of stag-party-type gifts and novelties, "gimmicks" for young and old such as sneezing powder, cigarette "loads," which explode harmlessly when a cigarette is lighted, and similar items.

The cigarette "bombs" are proving popular with younger customers, many of whom buy them to put in their parents' cigarettes, ostensibly to help the "old folks" break the smoking habit, Mrs. Dingman said. "One young fellow said sadly that 'My Mom didn't think it was very funny. She slapped me!'" Mrs. Dingman recalled. The shop will also offer a line of LDS Church-sponsored candy, a large variety of comic greeting cards and a full stock of party items such as paper hats, plastic eating utensils and confetti. With the Christmas season fast approaching, they will also offer a Santa Claus costume for rent.

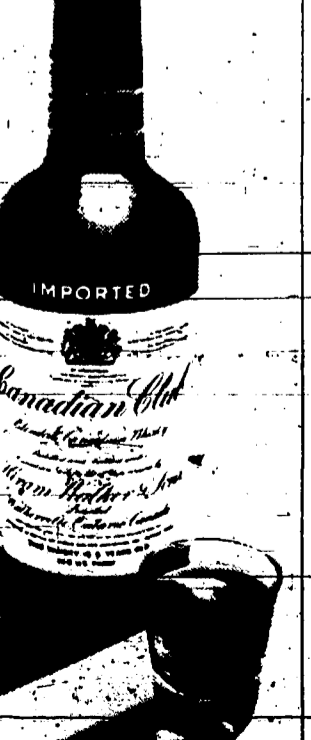

4 vehicles damaged in TF accident

TWIN FALLS — Four vehicles were damaged and one driver suffered slight injuries in an accident in the 300 block of Addison Avenue West late Saturday night. City police reported an automobile driven by Don S. Hartzell, 51, Portland Ore., which was towing another vehicle owned by George Selene, Lewiston, was making a left turn to pull into a service station and drove in front of a vehicle driven by Steve John Lockwood, 20, Twin Falls. Witnesses stated they did not see lights on the Lockwood vehicle at the time of the accident. The fourth vehicle, driven by Mark Anthony Martin, 17, Twin Falls, collided with the rear of the Lockwood automobile. Martin suffered cuts and bruises and the other drivers and Selene, who was a passenger in the Hartzell auto, escaped injury. Officers estimated damage at $300 to the Lockwood vehicle, a 1965 sedan; $300 to the Selene automobile, a 1960 sedan; $60 to the Hartzell 1960 Sedan and $300 to the Martin 1963 sedan. The accident was reported at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Meet slated on ESP in mankind

TWIN FALLS — The "Inner Peace Movement," an attempt to enhance the extra-sensory perception in mankind, will be explained at a public meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Idaho Power Service Center on Blue Lakes Boulevard South. Admission will be in the form of a $1.50 donation to the two speakers, Cyndi Kramer and Dale Calkin. The donation is designed to meet their expenses as they travel throughout the northwest explaining their crusade. Tonight's discussion will introduce the concept of Inner Peace to all interested persons. Hopefully, a local group will be formed to continue the studies in developing the psychic creativity that lies dormant in all mankind, the speakers said. The speakers will be available later to conduct workshops in the basic concepts of the movement at a charge of $1 per hour or $3 for a three-hour session. In addition, participants may wish to subscribe to the continuing "Accelerated Personal Growth Program" provided by the headquarters staff. The Inner Peace Movement, currently headquartered in Osceola, Iowa, is described as an "educational, non-profit personal development program with tools for effective living." It was founded by Francisco Coll of Osceola in 1964, after 25 years of research and self-realization. Coll developed the concept of teaching others to help themselves by increasing their personal creativity, rather than by doing the work himself. He did not wish to create a "cult of worship," where he would dispense the healing skills while leaving others unable to develop their own techniques. "We want to show others how to solve their own problems," Calkin said. "We hope to be able to pass on the knowledge rather than have others depend on just one person. If a person knows a lot about himself he will have inner peace, but if he doesn't know where he stands he will be defensive and unsure of himself." The movement is neither religious or anti-religious, Calkin said. It is "the common experience of all men," designed to help man identify and balance the physical, mental and spiritual forces in life so he can mold his own destiny and become the architect of his own success.

Officers probe TF burglaries

TWIN FALLS — City police reported several burglaries during the past weekend, most of them involving automobile break-ins. Tools, a stereo player and records and a shotgun representing a value of $361 were reported stolen from a parked vehicle owned by Kenneth Marshall, Jr., 185 Blair Drive. He discovered the break in at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. Officers said a window was broken to gain entry. Also under investigation was a break in at the dental office of Dr. B. J. Hawkins, 241 45th Ave. N., and another at the Husky Service Station, 1112 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. Officers said the station was entered through a window on the northeast side of the building which was broken and then unlocked by reaching through the broken area. Officers said it was not known immediately if anything was taken from the building. The business is owned by Bill Durbin and Ed Prater. Loss of $199, including two power saws and a power drill, resulted from a burglary of a pickup truck owned by Milt Seefried, 1874 Shoup Ave. Seefried told officers the tools were in the pickup parked across the street from his home and someone broke into the vehicle sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning. Several other burglaries and petit larceny reports were under investigation Monday morning by police.

Gem State promotion scheduled

BOISE (UPI) — All-Idaho week is being sponsored this week by Boise State College in an effort to promote the good things about the Gem State. The event, which started on the University of Idaho campus three years ago, is alternated between the colleges each year. Congressman Orval Hansen will officially start this week with a ribbon-cutting ceremony in the BSC Student Union Monday. Wednesday, state legislators and students will attend a luncheon where BSC president Dr. John Barnes will deliver an address. Later that day Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will discuss "Caps in American Society." Thursday, State Board of Education members and presidents of Idaho colleges and universities will attend the program. "Recreation in Idaho Day" is scheduled Friday with films, and displays will be exhibited in the Student Union. An all-Idaho Week banquet will be held that evening. Climaxing the week will be a football clash Saturday between the BSC Broncos and the College of Idaho Coyotes.

Council project aired

BOISE (UPI) — The Permanent Building Fund Council announced Saturday its project recommendations to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, including $1.47 million for a multi-purpose building at the new prison site during the next fiscal year. The council noted that it had received $22.7 million in requests from state agencies for building projects in fiscal-1973 but that it had only $4.5 million in funds. In addition to the penitentiary allocation, major council recommendations included $552,979 for a general science building at North Idaho College; $450,000 for a youth detention and diagnostic facility in the Boise area; and $340,000 for patient residential cottages at Idaho State School and Hospital. Other projects recommended to the governor for funding were an industrial arts building and upholstery shop at the State Youth Training Center, $250,000; a vocational technical facility at Boise State College, $250,000; and a similar facility at Idaho State University, $146,950. The council also recommended $150,450 for a public lands office, shop, warehouse and related facilities at Coolin, Sandpoint, Orofino, St. Maries and Idaho Falls; $140,000 for repairs and remodeling to the state-house; $138,000 for development, planning and utility expansion in Capitol Mall; and $80,000 for paved parking at 18 armories statewide.

Probe continues

MURTAUGH — Sheriff's officers in Twin Falls County were continuing investigation today in a burglary reported at the Community Builder Supply store in Murtaugh. Rufus Turner notified officers of a break in Sunday morning and officers said it appeared someone may have climbed the fence around the building supply yard and then entered the building. It was not known Monday if anything had been taken.

Contract talks under way

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Negotiators for the Greyhound Bus lines and the Amalgamated Transit Union held contract talks today following postponement of a threatened strike affecting 39 states. A strike of 11,700 bus drivers and other workers in 39 states east of the Rockies had been set to begin at noon Sunday after negotiations broke down over wages and fringe benefits. William Rose of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced an hour before the scheduled strike that both sides had agreed to continue talks through noon Friday. Rose said the union rejected an offer which the company said would total $34 million over three years for wages and fringe benefits. He said the dispute centered on 11 items the union wants changed or added to the contract and five items of the company's original proposal which remain to be added or corrected. The union represents drivers, baggage handlers, ticket agents, terminal janitors, mechanics and other garage employees.

Price control replaces freeze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has some enforcement machinery for the wage-price controls that replaced the 90-day freeze Sunday, but it is clear to all that the key to its success will be voluntary compliance.

Under the control structure set up by the Cost of Living Council, the nation's largest businesses and groups of employees will have to get advance government approval for price and wage increases. These 1,300 firms account for 45 per cent of U.S. sales and the wages of eight million of the nation's 800 million workers.

Below that level, close enforcement of the new guidelines will be far more difficult.

An estimated 1,100 "medium sized" business firms and 5.6 million workers are covered by a requirement that price and pay changes are reported four times a year to the government. The Price Commission and Pay

Board will determine from those reports whether guidelines have been observed. For all other businesses and workers—10 million companies and about 66.4 million employees—enforcement will be strictly on a spot check and investigation basis. These "small" economic units account for 50 per cent of all sales and 23 per cent of the U.S. work force, so it is obvious that the entire system must stand or fall on its acceptance by a large part of labor, business and the public.

However, an enforcement process has been provided for wage and price controls on the smaller businesses and worker groups. The Internal Revenue Service, through its many local offices and centers, will deal with citizen complaints about wage, price or rent increases. Officials said the IRS will establish a special telephone system to handle most complaints and inquiries. When complaints come in, IRS agents will try to deal with them by telephone, but on-the-spot investigations may follow. $5,000 Fines If problems arise that can't be solved locally, they will be passed on to the Price Commission, Pay Board or Cost of Living Council in Washington. Those agencies, in turn, can refer violations to the Justice Department for prosecution. Potential penalties for "willful violations" of the Economic Stabilization Act under present law are fines of up to $5,000.

Arms shipment very moderate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday that Soviet arms shipments to Egypt in the last four or five months "have been very moderate" and that the military balance in the Middle East "has not shifted."

His remarks were the first high-level administration acknowledgment, on the record, that the recent Soviet-Egyptian arms agreement has not shifted the military balance against Israel.

In a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, Rogers said: "Up to now, the military balance has not shifted, Rogers said. President Nixon has made it quite clear that he is going to be sure that the military balance is continued... now, the Soviet Union in the last four or five months has operated with some restraint as far as shipments are concerned. In the last four months, as I said, their shipments have been very moderate. We will continue to watch the situation closely."

Rogers had warned Oct. 14 that the new Soviet-Egyptian arms agreement which was concluded in mid-October might oblige the United States to resume shipments of strategic weapons, such as F4 Phantom aircraft to Israel, which has been pressing unsuccessfully for a pipeline of such aircraft.

Responsible officials said that intelligence reports showed that since July the Soviet Union had shipped to new aircraft to Egypt and that since May there was no evidence that the Soviet Union had bolstered its own air force stationed in Egypt.

Newspapers can print details

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The Israeli government finally has permitted newspapers to print details of its worst intelligence blunder, an abortive 1954 attempt to sabotage U.S.-Egyptian relations by blowing up the U.S. Embassy in Cairo.

The apparent reason for lifting the 17-year-old censorship on the case is the wedding of one of the participants, Victorine Marcelle Nino. She is getting married Nov. 23 and Prime Minister Golda Meir will be on hand personally to give the bride away.

The plot became known as the "Lavon Affair" after the Defense Minister Pinhas Lavon.

According to the newspaper accounts Sunday, Egypt arrested 14 Israeli spies in 1954 and charged them with plotting to blow up the U.S. Embassy in Cairo and the U.S. Consulate in Alexandria in order to dissuade Washington from getting involved in Egypt following the British withdrawal.

What led to the ring's downfall, the newspapers said, was the capture of Philip Nathanson when a detonating device went off in his hands near a Cairo movie theater. Nathanson changed his name to Ben Nathan and is now a news photographer in Tel Aviv. According to the newspapers, two of the ringleaders escaped, one committed suicide, one person was tortured to death, two were executed, two were acquitted, and six, including a woman, served all or part of their sentences before being released to Israel in a 1968 prisoner exchange.

All were recognized by the government as Israeli emissaries upon their return, according to the newspapers, receiving an equivalent of an army officer's pay with combat allowance for all their time in Egyptian jails.

Important witness summoned

ET MEADE, Md. (UPI) — The defense today summoned former Army Capt. Ernest L. Medina as its 15th — and perhaps most important — witness in the My Lai court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson.

Medina, 37, now a civilian after being acquitted of murder charges in connection with the 1968 My Lai incident, commanded an infantry company which took part in the assault under Henderson's 11th Brigade of the Americal Division.

Henderson, 51, a much-decorated veteran of three wars, is charged with failing to obey orders to investigate reports that over 100 unarmed civilians were killed in the operation on March 16, 1968.

He also is accused of failing to report his findings, and of lying to Pentagon investigators. Defense attorneys started presenting their case to the jury of two generals and five colonels on Nov. 9, after a two-week recess in the court-martial which began Aug. 23.

Nomination runs into outright opposition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's nomination of Earl Butz to be secretary of agriculture has run into some outright opposition, and the Senate Agriculture Committee decided to hold more extensive hearings on the appointment than had originally been planned.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., was among the more blunt, calling Butz the worst choice Nixon could have made. He said he would work to defeat the nomination.

"He is identified," McGovern said, "with the big corporate farming interests and while he was in the Eisenhower administration working with Ezra Taft Benson he did everything he possibly could to work against the interest of family farmers who are the backbone of American agriculture."

McGovern, a member of the Agriculture Committee, is the only announced Democratic presidential candidate. The committee now has decided to hold at least one day of public confirmation hearings for Butz, according to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

The committee had planned to consider, and possibly confirm, the nomination without hearings. But the committee could now hold extensive public hearings if the demand is sufficient and possibly call Butz as its first witness.

"Mr. Butz was one of — if not the chief architect of — and spokesman for — Secretary Benson's farm policies," Humphrey said in a statement Sunday. "Those of us who were around during that period remember only too well the adverse impact that Mr. Benson's farm policies had on American agriculture."

Humphrey added that he was making the comments "not for the purpose of suggesting that it should be used to bar his nomination, but merely for the purpose of stressing the importance of our asking now what policies and programs he intends to pursue for family farm agriculture in this country if he is confirmed by the Senate."

Butz was assistant agriculture secretary from 1954 to 1957. He was a professor of agricultural economics at Purdue University before working with Benson, and he returned to that post when he left the government.

Threat delays plane

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — A Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 carrying 86 passengers and seven crewmen made an unscheduled landing at the municipal airport Sunday night when the company received a telephone call in New York saying there was a bomb on the plane.

No bomb was found and the plane resumed its flight to Los Angeles 3 1/2 hours after it landed in Wichita.

The plane was Flight 903 that departed New York's Kennedy Airport at 3 p.m. EST and was originally due to arrive in Los Angeles at 5:40 p.m. PST. The plane landed in Wichita at 5:58 p.m. CST.

A spokesman said passengers were not upset with the delay, and when the craft finally took off for Los Angeles they complimented the crew for taking the precautionary measure.

When the plane landed, the passengers and crew immediately disembarked and airline officials, Wichita police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents searched the craft and baggage.

Real tears

Legislative fund cut predicted

BOISE (UPI) — State Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said Sunday the coming legislative session will probably look at areas where funds can be cut back to avoid a tax increase—possibly in building and special projects.

Kidwell, appearing on KTVB's "Viewpoint"—through the Television Network of Idaho—fielded questions from Boise Valley newsmen.

"Asked if interim committees planning for the session will come up with revenue raising proposals," Senate Majority Leader Kidwell said, "I don't think it has been determined that we need all this additional new revenue."

"We are looking at an economy that is going to produce somewhere in the neighborhood of $125 million. I think we very seriously have to ask ourselves if we have spent the money properly that we can ask the Idaho taxpayers to dig a little bit deeper."

Fielding another question of a possible tax hike to aid the Idaho Highway Department, he said he had not concluded the answer was necessarily to raise the gas tax another penny.

"I think the Highway Department is something that is going to have a close look taken at it in the next session. I'm not sure we are getting the proper leadership that we should from the State Highway Board," a part-time body.

He added he was not sure it had "properly used the money they have to allow them to ask the taxpayers to dig a little deeper."

Kidwell said he felt there were areas where expenditures could be cut to meet existing programs without a tax increase. He suggested maybe the emphasis should be away from building and special projects to help out some services feeling the fiscal pinch—such as health and education.

With regard to the Idaho state penitentiary, Kidwell was asked if he thought the legislature would try to get more funding to carry out programs recommended by Corrections Director Raymond May.

"I think the Idaho Legislature will meet the problem head on. But the decision to give them, say, the $7 million they requested will be made by the legislature."

Noting there were two approaches to expansion of the corrections system—whether to centralize it in the Boise area or decentralize it around the state, the latter being May's approach—Kidwell said, "I think it's unfortunate that a lot of money was committed to the prior concept of centralizing under one roof."

He added, "In my opinion, we have to get back to the priorities question."

And what are those priorities? "I was talking about whether we are going to spend the dollars on such things as education and health programs as opposed to the buildings. But we also have priorities between buildings."

"I would say, the vocational buildings would be a priority, probably the number one. I would say some of the other facilities that are desperately needed for classroom space would take a priority over bricks and mortar of some other institution where you would improve it."

IRS gets new duties

BOISE (UPI) — Some responsibilities formerly assigned to the Office of Emergency Preparedness will be assumed by the Internal Revenue Service beginning Monday.

IRS district director for Idaho Calvin Wright, Boise, said the move was an effort to carry out the economic stabilization program within present guidelines and those to be issued by the Pay Board, Cost of Living Council and Price Commission.

He said the IRS would act on requests for interpretations and on challenges to government decisions which are objectionable to the persons involved.

He added that enforcement activities in connection with smaller businesses—which are not required to report their increases to the Pay Board or Price Commission—will also be taken care of by the IRS.

Recruiting set at BSC

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of the Peace Corps and VISTA programs will be on the Boise State College campus this week to recruit volunteers.

Four field representatives will be at the college Union Building starting Monday, according to team leader Dale Hultengren.

Hultengren said the action program seeks persons with background or training particularly in farming, dairying and ranching as well as skill tradesmen.

Campus liquor at BSC

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise State College student senate is scheduled to conduct a hearing Tuesday concerning alcoholic drinks on campus.

Senate chairman and student body vice president Marty Miller said the primary purpose of the hearing "is the BSC policy on alcoholic beverages on campus is discriminatory against the single students who live in dormitories."

Miller said the policy states "possession, furnishing or use of alcoholic beverages on college-owned or controlled property in college-related housing for single students, or at any college-sponsored function is prohibited."

He said the policy says nothing about married students living in on-campus housing and asked "why shouldn't a single student of age living on campus have the same right as anyone else in the state?"

Student body president Pat Ebright is to comment on research of alcohol on other Idaho campuses and studies on the nationwide trends for beer on campuses.

Students protest treaty

TOKYO (UPI) — Thousands of radical students protesting terms of the treaty returning U.S. control of Okinawa to Japan rampaged through 12 square miles of Tokyo Sunday, hurling fire bombs, building street fires and ripping signs and timbers from boarded up stores.

A battalion of 3,300 riot police mobilized by the government churned through the area of northwest Tokyo in buses trying to keep abreast of the demonstrators. Major sections were blanketed with tear gas.

By early Monday, 330 students had been arrested, including 61 women from Japanese universities. Twenty-four policemen and 19 civilians had been injured, one policeman critically, police said.

Eight of the civilians were hurt when a fire bomb carried by a woman student in a shopping bag exploded in a crowded train, police said.

To wed

GRANDDAUGHTER of Generalissimo Franco is to marry a descendant of Spain's last ruling king according to a report in a San Sebastian newspaper. It says the engagement between Prince Alfonso — Jaime Borbon Y Dampierre and Franco's granddaughter, Maria Del Carmen Martinez-Bordie, 20, was announced in Paris. (UPI)

Strained situation continues

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — A strained situation continues between the Seattle Office of Economic Opportunity and the Canyon County Community Action Program concerning a decision not to re-fund the program.

Two-county newspapers reported that regional OEO Director James Young, Seattle, decided not to re-fund because, as he said, OEO programs had not been carried out efficiently there.

Young reportedly told the papers the decision to not go on with the local anti-poverty programs was made because those in charge failed in "maintain good management practices."

William Wood, Nampa, CCAP administrative board chairman, said the "record will show" they have operated frugally over the years he had been associated with the program.

County Commissioner William C. Norberg Jr. said they carried out the program "exactly the way it was supposed to be done," to the best of his knowledge.

He said if CCAP did not operate efficiently in recent months it was because of the "harrassment" by OEO officials in Seattle.

Sentence could spur confessions

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — The prosecutor who won the death penalty for a convicted killer of United Mine Worker Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter says he hopes the sentence will scare other defendants into telling who set up the murders.

A jury of seven women and five men, after deliberating only 40 minutes Saturday, set the penalty of death in the electric chair for Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, 23.

Martin, Paul E. Gilly, 37, and Claude E. Vealey, 27, all of Cleveland, were accused of killing the Yablonskis on Dec. 31, 1969, three weeks after Yablonski lost an election for the UMW presidency to W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

Gilly's wife, Annette, 31, and her father, Silous Huddleston, 62, president of a small UMW pensioners local in La Follette, Tenn., were accused of helping plot the murders.

Thus far the investigation into who actually set up and paid for the killings has been fruitless.

Vealey, the state's star witness in Martin's trial, has pleaded guilty and in a confession said Gilly got the payoff money from a man in Tennessee he identified only as "Tony." Boyle has said he was not the "Tony" involved.

Special prosecutor Richard Sprague, in his argument to the jury for the death penalty, Saturday, said that when Martin testified in his own behalf "he tried to send a message to Paul Gilly saying 'don't worry Paul, I am not going to testify against you.'"

Gilly, also accused of being the payoff man, is scheduled to go on trial sometime in January but as yet does not have an attorney.

Sprague, whose booming voice echoed off the walls of the old fashioned mahogany courtroom told the Martin jury:

"Let Paul Gilly start to waffle. Let the other people who set the whole assassination in motion know that the law is going to move. We're going to go forward one by one and we're going to get to the people who initiated this whole dastardly deal."

Vealey said Martin shot all three Yablonskis with a .38 caliber pistol.

Hollinger to talk at Burley

BURLEY — Herb Hollinger, former Burley resident, will be the featured speaker through Nov. 21 at the Burley Baptist Church.

The public is invited to the services at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. each week night.

The Baptist Church is engaging in an evangelistic crusade, according to Rev. Willis Blair, pastor.

Hollinger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hollinger, Burley. He is a former editor of the South Idaho Press and lived most of his life in Burley area.

Last year he moved to Mill Valley, Calif., where he is now a student at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary. He serves as the pastor of the First Baptist Church, Graton, Calif. He is working toward a masters of divinity degree.

During the three years in seminary, he majored in theology, and in depth studies of the Bible, both Old and New Testament.

He will also take courses in the history of the Christian church, Greek, Hebrew, pastoral psychology and counseling, ethics, missions, and evangelism.

Hollinger and his wife, Mary, and children are residing at Sebastopol, Calif., and he commutes to school each day.

ERNE HABECKER

Speaker planned at Filer

FILER — Evangelist Ernie Habecker, Tampa, Fla., will be guest speaker at the evangelistic services to be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday to Nov. 28 in the First Baptist Church, Filer, according to Rev. Roy Watson, pastor.

Rev. Habecker also will speak at the two 11 a.m. Sunday services. The public is invited to attend any and all of the services, noted Rev. Watson.

Rev. Habecker was a successful pastor in Maryland, Oklahoma and Florida before he entered the full-time evangelistic field. He identifies with the local church, the

MARY ANDERSON

Missionary slates two area talks

TWIN FALLS — Mary Anderson, who has spent 33 years in India as a missionary with the Church of the Nazarene, will speak in two Magic Valley churches this week.

She will speak at the Filer Nazarene church at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and on Wednesday at the same hour she will speak at the Twin Falls First Church of the Nazarene.

Mrs. Anderson was called to be a missionary at the early age of 8, according to Rev. Joseph E. Chastain, Twin Falls pastor. She attended Eastern Nazarene college where she met her future husband, John Willis Anderson.

She was ordained in 1931 and on July 26, 1936, she and John Anderson were married. They served together in India where she taught in a Bible school and worked with her husband in evangelistic work.

Answers given on post freeze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Here are questions and answers on four decisions released Friday by the Cost of Living Council covering post-freeze pay for federal workers and servicemen, insurance premiums, minimum wage and pending pay increases.

Q. Is the military going to collect that huge $2.4 billion, 15 per cent pay raise when the freeze expires?

A. Yes. President Nixon proposed the pay boost and Congress approved it as a step toward an eventual all-volunteer Army. As such, the council decided to overlook the 5.5 per cent guideline for wage increases under new contracts.

They have one son, John William, also a missionary in India. The couple served five terms, for a total of 33 years and nine months, before retiring in May, 1970.

That applies to the rest of the economy.

Q. How about civilian workers on the government payroll? A. They are exempt, too. Starting Sunday, they can collect longevity merit and upgrade pay increases. Next July 1, they will share a $2.6 billion pay raise with the military that averages 5.5 per cent.

Q. Has this been done before? A. Federal workers escaped wage controls in both World War II and the Korean conflict. Q. How about my insurance premiums? A. Most life insurance rates will be exempt from controls. But health insurance — such as Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Group Insurance plans — plus property and casualty policies, are all controlled.

Q. What about low paid workers?

A. Wages may be increased to federal minimum wage levels, now $1.60 per hour. This was also true during the freeze.

JANICE DRAPER

JEROME — Janice Marie Draper, daughter of Mrs. Emil

Wyatt, Jerome, has completed a 10-week basic training assignment as a Navy WAVE at Bainbridge, Md., graduating during a military review on Oct. 29, according to the Nval recruiting office in Twin Falls.

Seaman Apprentice Draper, a former Jerome High School student, is spending a 14-day leave with her family before reporting to the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., for training as a storekeeper. She enlisted on Aug. 5 at the Twin Falls recruiting station.

KIMBERLY — Army Pvt. Larry M. Seebold, 17, son of Mrs. Irma M. Talkington, Kimberly, has completed an eight-week course of training as an Army cook at Ft. Ord, Calif.

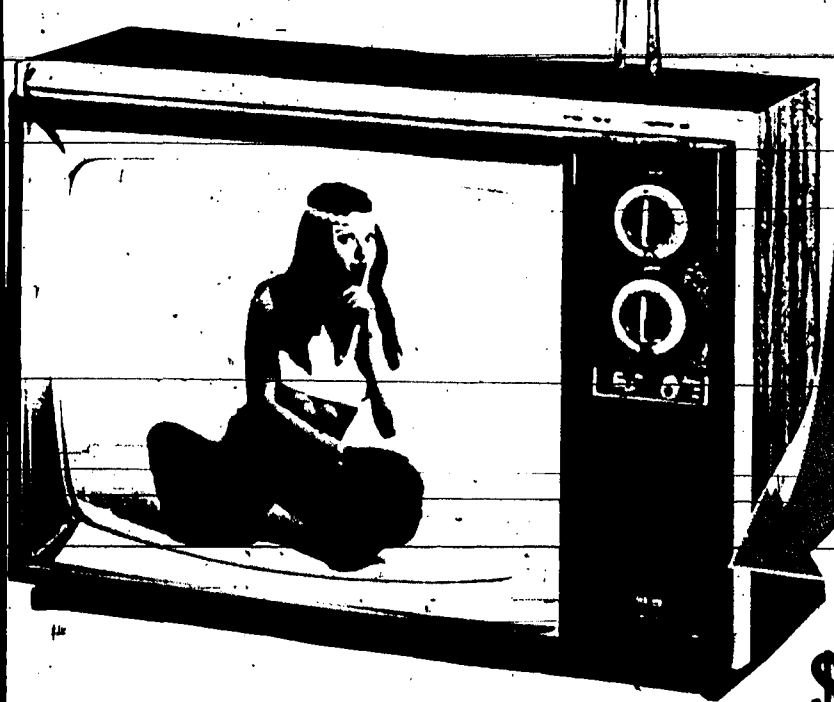

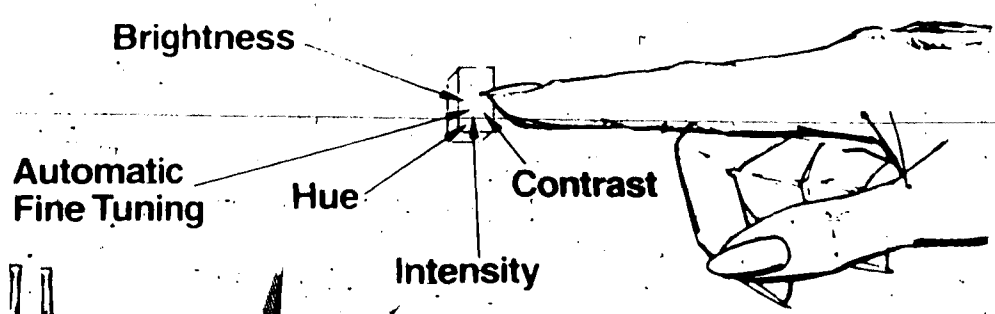

pastor, and the needs of the congregation each place he speaks, Rev. Watson said. For several years the evangelist has conducted meetings for churches and groups of churches in area-wide crusades. He has traveled in nearly every state plus many mission areas beyond the United States, and has returned to many of the churches for return engagements.

Rev. Habecker has a special appeal to youth, who support his campaigns in great numbers. Youth problems and questions are discussed in seminars, especially for teenagers.

Highway pierces jungle

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — It makes the laying of the railroad in the American West look like a stroll through New York's Central Park.

For 18 months, thousands of workers have been fighting dust, heat, insects, poisonous snakes, disease, wild animals and hostile Indians to build a 3,000-mile dirt and gravel highway across one of the wildest areas in the world — Brazil's Amazon Jungle.

So far, men working 12-hour shifts, seven days a week for about $30 a month have built 200 miles of highway and cleared land for another 800.

But to South Americans, the Transamazon Highway will be more than a road. It will be a new avenue to the promised land for the farmers hacking plots out of the jungle along the way.

The road, which is expected to be finished in 1973, will link the Atlantic coast with Peru for the first time. It will also open a vast new area to settlement and government officials hope to have three million persons in the area — which is about two-thirds the size of the United States — by 1977.

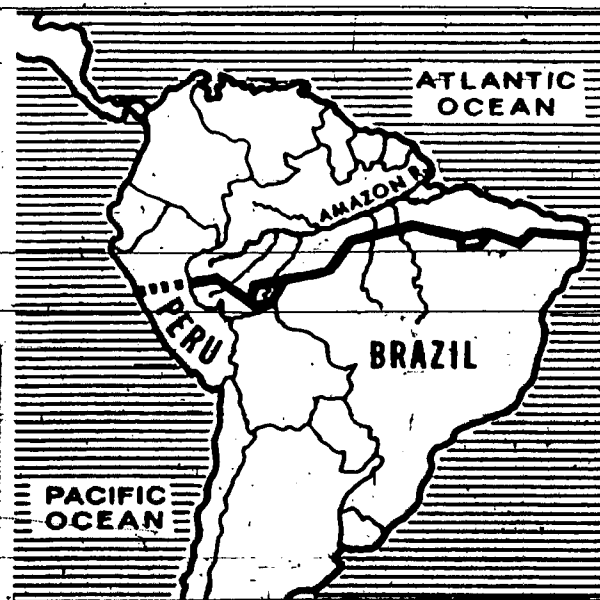

In the meantime, the government is having little difficulty luring settlers with the promise of 250 acres to farm. So far 700 families have gone into the jungle and more are on the way.

In football parlance, Nixon faces win-or-lose third down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For football fan Richard Nixon, Phase II may be third down and long yardage, with the whole ball game to win or lose in the next play.

In other terms, it comes to this: If the President's plan to slow down inflation and boost employment doesn't work, he could lose the 1972 election.

Specifically, the Nixon must get results from the wage and price control apparatus he set up to replace the 90-day freeze that ended Saturday. If there has to be a Phase III, the President's political troubles will be bigger than his economic problems.

Nixon does not have to "succeed" in his new foreign policy ventures. If he can't do business at the summit with the Red Chinese or Russians, he'll still get credit for trying. But it is almost imperative that he produce an improving economy — stable prices and less unemployment — by mid-1972 to approach the fall campaign with confidence of re-election.

Nixon realized as long ago as January, 1971, that the Democrats were gearing up to make the "bread and butter" issues of jobs and high prices their prime campaign themes.

The President's first response was to abandon the balanced budget — a Republican political sacrament — in favor of a so-called "full employment budget." Based on the new economics of the 1960s, the 1972 Nixon budget conceded an $11.6 billion deficit, but was supposed to stimulate the economy and raise federal tax revenues enough to end up with a small surplus.

If Nixon's budgetary break with fiscal conservatism was a daring departure for a GOP President, the imposition of national wage and price controis in mid-August, after repeated declarations of faith in the free market, was positively radical.

Politically, these economic turnabouts constituted a riskier bet for the President than anything else he has done since taking office.

The risk grew with Sunday's start of Phase II of Nixon's economic stabilization plan because he had to give up at least partial control of its operation. On paper at least, the President can control federal spending, and his men were in charge of freezing wages and prices. But in Phase II, he had to share some of his authority, especially in the case of wages.

Now, even before it really has started, Phase II is at the brink and the people who can either rescue it or push it over the side are not the President's men.

Election at stake

Japanese stir 3 Yank gripes

TOKYO (UPI) — If the Japanese are unhappy about President Nixon's fiscal policies, American businessmen are equally unhappy with Japanese trade restrictions.

Americans, in brief, don't think Japan is giving them a square deal.

The American complaints about Japan fall into three categories:

Arbitrary import restrictions that still bar 40 types of foreign goods, including many agricultural products from the Japanese market.

"If you apply for one of the vital ones, the application can take two or three years. Even then, you're apt to get delicate hints that your application would be processed faster if you'd agree to accept less than 50 per cent of the stock."

Even Detroit's big auto makers were not able to crack the investment wall to their satisfaction.

The Japanese Minister of International Trade made it plain that takeovers of Japan's biggest auto makers, Toyota and Nissan (Datsun), wouldn't be tolerated. Since most of the stock in these companies was owned by banks and insurance firms responsive to the Japanese government's guidance, the ministry's position was formidable.

Eventually Chrysler, General Motors and Ford all settled for buying minority interests in small Japanese automotive firms. Ford's deal has yet to be consummated.

The lure of Japan to the international corporation remains strong. Those who do contrive to get in do well. U.S. Embassy economists estimate that between royalties paid patent holders and returns on investments, between $600 million and $800 million flows back to the United States from Japan annually.

In fairness, the complaints about Japan's trade practices should be measured against the fact that she bought $4.654 billion worth of American goods in 1970. She was second only to Canada as a market for American products.

Udall son in Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scott Udall, 22, son of former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, deserted the Army when he learned of the My Lai massacre and has been living in Canada the past two years.

The elder Udall, who now practices law in Washington, made the disclosure Friday, saying his son has the family's approval.

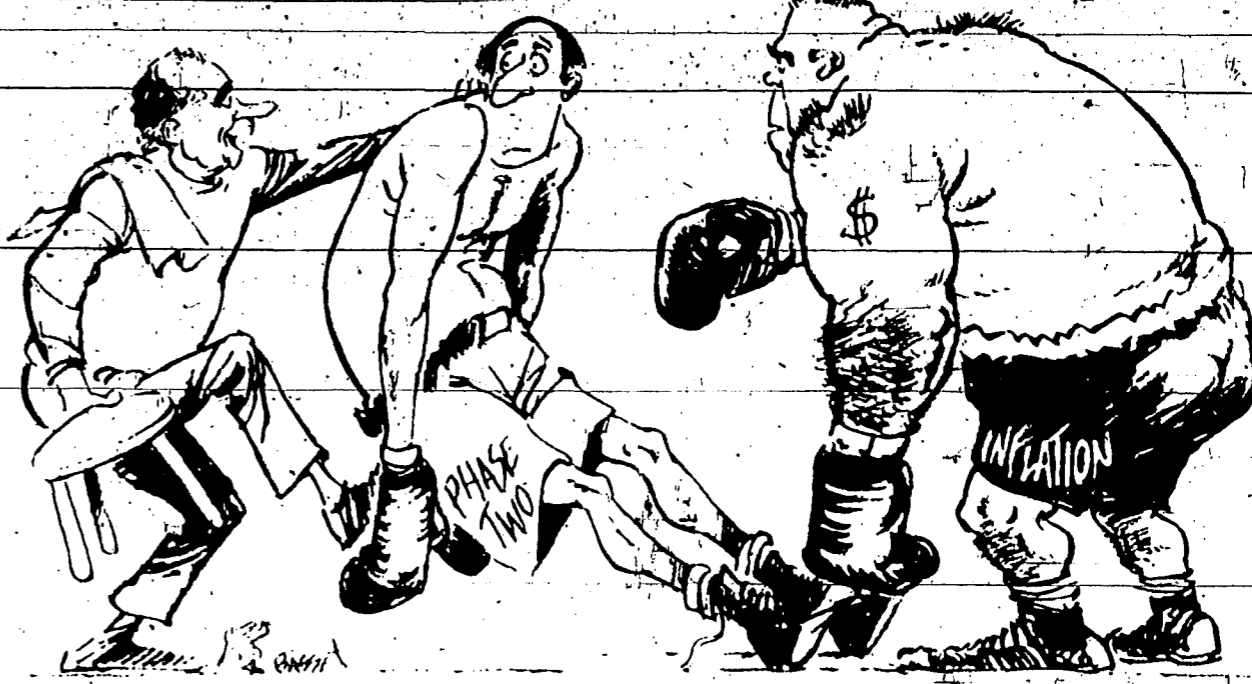

"I went to Canada during the Christmas holidays and talked to him about the whole thing," Udall said. "It was a decision of conscience, and the whole family supported him."

Democrat reform commissions ready to hear fresh ideas

By RAYMOND LAHR WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democrats' two reform commissions are ready to listen to new ideas for overhauling the party's command structure for its perennial election combat with the GOP.

The policy voted last week to restrict future pay increases to an average of 5.5 per cent a year and to ban retroactive payment of most wage boosts that were supposed to take effect during the Aug. 15-Nov. 13 freeze.

Labor fought hard for full retroactivity, and while its five representatives didn't walk out of the board when they lost, the threat of boycott was very real as the union leaders departed for their big convention.

Democrat reform commissions ready to hear fresh ideas

Fraser of Minnesota, both decided that they had jurisdiction and agreed to go ahead in a joint study.

As it now operates, the 110-member national committee gives two votes each to Guam and the Canal Zone, equal in weight to the vote of the heavily populated states of California and New York.

Analysis

The commissions profess to be ready to hear a multitude of proposals to strengthen the party. But the most attention-getting proposal heard so far would give weighted voting to the states, more in line with their population or Democratic support.

With national committee approval, the O'Hara commission did recommend a measure of weighted voting for the platform, rules and credentials committees at the 1972 national convention.

But the national committee, in its convention call, modified an O'Hara commission plan for apportioning delegates among the states to give a better break to small states than the commission proposed. That disagreement resulted in a lawsuit now awaiting a decision of the Supreme Court.

O'Brien, drafted as the unity candidate for the party chairmanship 20 months ago, now is billed as a villain by his no-compromise, liberal critics who see him as a verbal but not an active supporter of reform.

The November issue of the New Democrat, a publication identifying itself as a voice of the liberal left, opens with an editorial under the heading, "It's Time to Go, Larry." The editorial concludes:

"O'Brien today is an anti-Democratic figure, a negative, hostile chairman and a man whose very tenure threatens any party harmony in 1972."

Analysis

Japanese business practices and rules that favor the home team against the foreign seller, even after he gets his wares into the country.

American corporations now have $7 billion invested in Britain, and $11 billion in the six countries of the European Common Market. In contrast, American investment in Japan totals only $1 billion.

A substantial part of the investment comes from the oil industry, which moved into the country in the wake of Japan's World War II defeat.

Legally, 228 of the 800 types of industries operating in Japan are open to 100 per cent foreign investment. Another 565 are open to the foreign corporations, providing Japanese hold at least 50 per cent of the stock.

"Sure they give you the right to invest 100 per cent in running bath houses, or making kamons, or other things that are indignously Japanese, where the outsider doesn't have a chance," said one American business executive in Tokyo.

Northwest top source for power

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — The Pacific Northwest has the potential of becoming the power center of the North American continent, the Washington state legislative interim committee on nuclear energy was told here Friday.

Dean Carl Hall of the Washington State University, College of Engineering told committee members the Northwest "has the potential strength for great utilization of nuclear energy — if and when we develop a few things to go along with it."

Hall said that the ultimate development of an electrical power research development center, now proposed for Grand Coulee dam, would do much towards production of electrical energy.

"It is vital that we provide the leadership in research and production facilities to achieve this end," Hall said. "We should start our planning immediately."

Eugene W. Greenfield, director of WSU's College of Engineering Research Division, told members of the joint commission the power industry is now at a point of transition. "It is spending over $1 billion a year to keep up with the need for power development," Greenfield said.

Fights bug

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (UPI) — A radiologist just returned from Vietnam warns that the tissue-destroying bug which causes amebic dysentery is a rover and can spread to the liver and lungs, sometimes carefully covering its tracks to confuse the medical diagnostician.

However, there are enough X-ray features which, when combined with a careful history of the patient, can provide a diagnosis of the disease in the lungs (pleuropulmonary amebiasis), says Dr. Edwin S. Wilson, Jr., now at Burlington County Hospital. Properly diagnosed, medical treatment with drugs produces a high percentage of cures, he indicates, with only 10 per cent of the patients requiring surgery.

Barker preparing bill boosting school funding

TWIN FALLS — Idaho State Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, said today he will introduce in the 1972 Idaho Legislature a bill for state support of schools at a 75 per cent level.

The bill, he told delegates to the Idaho Student Council Association meeting here, will also set up a funding system where money is distributed through the state rather than by district, to equalize disparity between districts.

Sen. Barker was among several speakers at the opening session of the meeting at Twin Falls High School.

Proposed diversion of Idaho sales tax revenues to support public schools was the principal topic at the opening session.

Sen. Barker said that the total non-allocated sales tax income of $68.1 million for the 1969-71 biennium could not come close to the public school allocation of $78.3 million.

The sales tax was enacted to provide relief from property and income taxes and to "strengthen the revenue structure of Idaho." The sales tax was also utilized to ease inventory tax phaseout, replacing some of the lost income.

Emphasizing the continual increase in school funding at the state level, Barker said that in the 1964-65 biennium, total school funds, including endowment funds, were $22.7 million. In the 1971-72 biennium, the school allocation will reach $62 million, for an increase of 27 per cent.

A student who earned $2,300 in 1964 such as a student who worked during the summer and part-time during the school year, would have paid about $64 in income tax in 1964. In 1971, the same income, $2,300, would require an income tax of only $21, less the $10 sales-tax refund, for a total of $11. Barker said, emphasizing the drop in state income-tax levels.

In explaining the reasons for his proposed legislation, Sen. Barker cited several examples of disparity between school districts.

In Idaho, the average per-pupil assessed valuation in school districts ranges from a low of $3,301 in the East Bonville District of southeastern Idaho to a high of $142,350 in the Three Creek District of south-central Idaho. Sen. Barker said his bill will equalize these disparities.

In addition, Barker said, the 1972 session will be asked to allocate surplus funds from state liquor tax revenue after other commitments are met. If the liquor-levy income reaches $8 million, Barker said, the public schools would receive $830,000 under the new proposal.

New trustee zones at Hagerman

Hagerman school remap plan told by trustees

HAGERMAN — Hagerman school trustees have completed rezoning the district in accordance with Idaho law requiring equal voter representation.

Supt. Kenneth Black said the board has rezoned voluntarily to more nearly the requirements of the one-man one-vote concept.

The proposal has been approved by the Idaho Board of Education and Hagerman trustees will officially advertise the re-zoning in January, preparatory to an election later that month.

All five of the trustee zones within the district have been changed to give more equal population to each zone, Black said.

Zone 1 will include all of the former Zones 1 and 2, as well as the area beneath the rim from the Justice grade north to the Malad River and west to Highway 30.

The new Zone 2 will include area from the Malad River between Highway 30 and the Snake River, south to Hagerman, also south under the canyon rim from the Justice grade to the Tupper grade road, west to the Hagerman City limits.

Zone 3 will be the part of town on the west side of Highway 30 and the farming area from Hagerman to the Snake River, and also the east part of town from the north limits to the first valley south of Main Street.

Zone 4 will include the southwest part of the valley, between Highway 30 and the Snake River from south of town; south of the Idaho State Fish Hatchery Road and all of the school district in Twin Falls County.

Zone 5 will include the area between Highway 30 and the valley rim from town to the state fish hatchery road; and the area of town east of Highway 30 from the first alley south of Main Street to the south.

Current trustees are Dean Williams and Gene Turner, both in the new Zone 1; Louis Koopman, Zone 2; Frank Henslee, Zone 4; and Alfred Sandy, Zone 5. Zone 3 has no trustee now.

Hagerman bank breaks ground

HAGERMAN — Ground has been broken and construction started on the Hagerman branch of the Idaho State Bank.

Lloyd Jensen, Idaho State Bank president, officiated at the groundbreaking Saturday at the site next to Hagerman High School on the west side of the city's main street.

The building is being constructed at a cost of about $50,000, according to Jensen who said another $20,000 to $30,000 will be spent on interior fixtures. Jensen said he did not know when construction will be complete because of the weather.

Others at the groundbreaking Saturday were Mrs. Jensen, chairman of the board; Kent Giles, vice president; G. P. Russell, Hagerman mayor; Bill Choules, Hagerman postmaster; Harlan Jensen, Burley, contractor; Herb Lange, construction superintendent, and Marion Pugmire, Hagerman.

The new bank, Jensen said, will feature drive-in windows and a night depository. A lot between the bank building and the Hagerman High School will be blacktopped and available for school parking after banking hours.

Norman Hansen, assistant manager of the Cambridge branch of the Idaho State Bank, will move to Hagerman about the first of the year to become manager of the Hagerman branch.

Other employees in the Hagerman branch will be Mrs. Barbara Bolduc, assistant loan officer and teller; Mrs. Pat Wilson, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Georgia Clark, teller and secretary. Jim Kevan, agriculture adviser for the bank, will be available at Hagerman for agricultural information.

The bank is now operating in temporary headquarters across from Cady Motor Co. in Hagerman.

Fewer GI's

SAIGON (UPI) — The number of American troops in Vietnam has dropped below 190,000 for the first time in nearly six years, the U.S. command announced today.

A command levelled 2,500 U.S. troop strength fell 2,000 last week to 188,300, the lowest since American troop strength stood at 184,300 in December, 1965.

Mini-Cassia hit by snow

BURLEY — Heavy snow in the Mini-Cassia area over the weekend kept county and state police and wreckers busy as a number of cars slid off slick highways.

No major injuries were reported as of this morning, according to police.

The snow started about midnight Saturday, continued most of Sunday and continued today.

A series of five cars skidded on old Highway 30 nine miles west of Burley Sunday afternoon, bringing wreckers to the scene to pull the vehicles back on the road. A group of seven cars was stranded on the Albion Hill, also on Sunday.

Several snowmobiles operating illegally on the highway were dispatched by officers Sunday afternoon, police said.

Six to seven inches of heavy, wet snow had fallen by this morning, according to area reports.

KH plans school visits

KING HILL — Residents may tour classrooms and facilities of the King Hill schools Wednesday.

According to School Supt. George Powell, in the past only the elementary school has been open. This year, however, the other schools also will be participating in the open house program.

Powell said the schools will be open and teachers at their stations between 7 and 9 p.m. Wednesday. Anyone interested in acquainting themselves with the school system in Glens Ferry is invited to attend, he said.

Applications for a secretary at the elementary school in Glens Ferry are now being accepted in Powell's office to replace Mrs. Glen Larsen who has held the position for the past five years.

Mrs. Larsen will be leaving Wednesday to join her husband who was recently transferred to Montana. He was the station agent in Glens Ferry and has been promoted.

Pollution control meet set

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Air Pollution Control Implementation Plan will be unveiled at a free public workshop at the Rodeway Inn Nov. 23, sponsored by the Idaho Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

This "master plan" for air pollution control details plans by state agencies to control air pollution and meet standards of the 1970 Federal Clean Air Act amendments, according to the executive director of the association, Pat Carr, Boise.

Mrs. Carr noted the workshop will show citizens what the plan is and how they can alter it if they are not satisfied, because the Clean Air Act provides for citizen participation.

Burley sets school meet

BURLEY — The Idaho School Trustees Association and Idaho State University will jointly sponsor a workshop in Burley on Dec. 10-11 for school-board members and school superintendents.

Dr. R. Laverne Marcum, professor of education at ISU who is project director for the session, said a similar series of discussions is scheduled for the previous week, Dec. 3-4, at Idaho Falls, for southeastern Idaho trustees.

Preliminary planning with representatives of the trustees has developed a series of 14 topics to be covered in each two-day workshop, Marcum said. The topics cover teacher tenure, dismissal and policy; utilization of citizens' advisory committees; school policies and critics; school law trends and others of concern to all trustees.

In Burley, the workshop sessions are scheduled for the Ponderosa Inn, beginning at 1 p.m. on Dec. 10 with group meetings on specified topics, and continuing at 3:15 p.m. with other topics considered.

A no-host dinner will follow at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 10 at the Ponderosa, Marcum said.

A similar agenda will be followed on Dec. 11, with the group meetings on the various topics followed by evaluation and adjournment by the trustees en masse.

Moose conclude TF convention

TWIN FALLS — Approximately 200 Loyal Order of Moose and Women of the Moose concluded their annual convention Sunday in Twin Falls with the installation of new officers and convocation ceremonies.

Thomas Novacek, Buhl, was re-installed as president and Stephen E. Parry, Glens Ferry, continues as deputy supreme governor. Other Moose officers include Kenneth James, Albany, Ore., state director; Parry, secretary-treasurer; John Rock, Boise, vice president of the capital district; Lewis Hoffman,

One new director was elected and installed. He is Tom McCollum, Twin Falls, director of convocation, succeeding Steve Foukal. Three new directors were added including Martin Floret, Nampa, civic affairs; Barth Combe, Idaho Falls, Christmas season and Nile Casten, Twin Falls, by-laws.

Others re-elected are Max Kirkland, Pocatello, ritual; John Rock, publicity; R. D. Clark, Glens Ferry, Big "M" Club; Carl Roberts, Pocatello, acting sports director, and Henry Wavra, Buhl, membership.

Officers were announced Saturday night at the conclusion of the annual president's banquet.

Officers approved dates for the sports carnival to be held the second weekend in March in Pocatello; the spring conference, May 6 and 7 in Jerome, and the convention next Nov. 2, 3, 4 and 5 in Nampa.

Women of the Moose conducted the convocation ceremony, presenting special "green cap" awards to four outstanding members of the past year. The capping ceremonies honored Hazel Curtis, Boise; Mrs. Melvin Jones, Emmett; Mrs. Cleve Combe, Pocatello; and Ruby Murphy, Twin Falls. Vivian Dais, Buhl, former deputy grand regent of Idaho, conducted the ceremonies. Capping officers were Nadean Wool, Sussie Barnett, Clara Fordyce and Mable Holmgren.

Charlotte Wavra, Buhl, addressed the 101 women delegates Sunday on the program covering the College of Regents Administrative Fund. Members of the group expressed appreciation to Twin Falls merchants who provided door prizes and convention favors.

Idaho State Police said a truck, driven by Everett Fisher West, 35, went out of control as it was traveling east. The truck slammed into a guard rail and flipped onto its side into the road. Officers said about 100 feet of railing was taken out in the accident.

U. S. Highway 30 was blocked for about two hours after the 2:40 a.m. accident and remained one-way traffic for some time after that.

The truck, en route from Kamiah to Denver was loaded with cedar stakes. It was owned by the Cedar Corp., Provo, Utah, was taken by ambulance to Elmore Memorial Hospital, Mountain Home.

Youth obtain jobs

BOISE (UPI) — Disadvantaged youth applicants accounted for about two-thirds of Idaho's total youth placements by the Department of Employment during the summer Jobs for Youth drive.

John L. Chamberlin, director of the employment service division, said this group filed 5 per cent of the total new applications during the period and had 7 per cent total placements.

Some 15,000 high school and college students under 22 years of age registered with the department during the 1971 Jobs for Youth campaign. Chamberlin said this was a third more than the 1970 total for the same period.

The department recorded for the period 57 per cent placements among disadvantaged youth who applied for jobs in Idaho, and 41 per cent placements were recorded for youth not in the disadvantaged category.

A disadvantaged youth is a poor person under 22 years of age. One in this category may also be handicapped, a minority group member or have less than 12 years of education.

Air pollution index 48

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period.

Federal pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period and should not be permitted to rise above 700 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Excellent
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Music club sets dinner Friday

BURLEY — The Burley Music Club will sponsor its annual semi-formal dinner-dance Friday at the Ponderosa Inn Convention Center.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. Cocktail hour and dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. with the program to follow. Dancing will be held to the music of Dale Plotts, according to Mrs. Charles Peugh and Mrs. Gary Lee, co-chairmen.

"What Price Love?" is the title of this year's program under the direction of Mrs. Harlow Cheney, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Dennis Powers and Mrs. Bob Cazier.

The program will feature famous lovers through the ages. Well known musicians and performers in the area will participate in the program. Starring as the mother and father will be Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Helner. Singers will include Mrs. Elden Wood, Mrs. Robert Dean, Mrs. Crandell Dunn, Doug Mills, Tamra Turner, Kim Critchfield.

Others, scheduled on the program are Andy Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Powers, Mrs. Mills, Bruce Bowcut and Julie Turner.

Mrs. Sam Hammond is in charge of the ticket sale. Tickets are available from all Music Club members and the public is invited. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door. In previous years tickets have been sold by invitation and mailed.

Mrs. J.W. Young, Burley Music Club president, announced the proceeds will be used for the club's scholarship fund.

SUSAN ROSENBAUM

December wedding slated

KIMBERLY — Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Rosenbaum announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Susan Frankley, to Paul John Dwyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Dwyer, Rochester, N.Y.

Miss Rosenbaum was graduated from Utah State University in 1968 with a degree in journalism. She currently resides in Seattle where she is employed as a television news reporter for KOMO-TV.

Dwyer was graduated from Gannon College in Erie, Pa., in 1967 and continued his studies for a master's degree at the University of Rochester. He is employed as district distribution manager for the Eastman Kodak Co. in Seattle.

A December wedding is planned in Kimberly.

TWIN FALLS — Winners of the Twin Falls Friday Night Duplicate Bridge club are announced.

Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Hartrutt were first, Mrs. M. McCall and Mrs. J.M. Kingsbury, second, Mr. and Mrs. Faren Faler, third, and Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Peay, fourth.

Nursing seminar planned in TF

TWIN FALLS — Improvements in nursing services furnished by licensed practical nurses and new nursing techniques will be discussed Wednesday during a nursing seminar in Twin Falls.

The educational seminar will begin at 9 a.m. in the Holiday Inn with licensed practical nurses from all Southern Idaho districts attending.

Paul Victor, Twin Falls, will be featured speaker during morning sessions and Mrs. Grayce Painter, state president of the Licensed Practical Nurses of Idaho, Inc., will preside during a meeting of all district presidents.

The meeting is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. Topics discussed will also include the national convention, changes in bylaws, legislation, the Nurse Practice Act and other business.

Mrs. Jeanne Nutsch, president of the North Side Licensed Practical Nurses, including the areas of Jerome, Wendell, Shoshone, Gooding, Sun Valley, Hailey, Carey, Dietrich and Richfield, is chairman of the seminar.

She said districts represented will include those from Pocatello, Blackfoot, Idaho Falls, Rexburg, Boise, Nampa and Caldwell.

Mrs. Nutsch said the seminar affords licensed practical nurses an opportunity to get acquainted and exchange ideas and discuss mutual goals and problems. She said officers from all chapters in the southern part of the state are especially urged to attend.

Auction set

RUPERT — Members of Beta Eta Chapter Beta Sigma Phi will sponsor a public auction starting at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Rupert Camp fire building.

Waikiki Beach first tour stop

TWIN FALLS — The first stop on an 11-day excursion to the Hawaiian Islands for Magic of Hawaii tourists this coming February will be Waikiki Beach and the Cinerama Reef Hotel.

The tour group, arriving by Pan American jet flight, will be met with the traditional aloha greeting including a fresh flower lei.

At the Cinerama Reef, which is right on Waikiki Beach, the tourists will receive packets of folders, maps and an itinerary showing times of events and instructions. Suggestions for tours and activities for leisure time also will be given at this time.

A poolside get-together at the Cinerama Reef overlooking the Pacific Ocean and featuring Hawaiian entertainment will begin the Times-News Magic of Hawaii winter holiday in the islands.

The tourists will arrive in Honolulu on Feb. 14 and spend four days there.

Waikiki, tourist mecca of the Hawaiian Islands, offers a cosmopolitan appearance along the beach — sun and tropical palms.

Hotels, including the Cinerama Reef, are many-storied and offer the most in modern rooms, shopping arcades and a variety of restaurants and entertainment.

Kalakaua Avenue extends along the length of Waikiki. It is a shopping promenade fronted by major hotels and a variety of shops, restaurants and night clubs. Palm trees shade the sidewalks and the beach is only a few short steps away.

The Cinerama Reef offers a sun-drenched view of the surfers and canoe enthusiasts by day and the twinkling lights of the shoreline as it curves toward Diamond Head at night.

This is all in addition to scheduled activities for the Magic of Hawaii '72 tourists.

On Tuesday, Feb. 15, there will be a mini-tour of Waikiki, and in the afternoon the tourists will board the "Adventure" for an historic tour of Pearl Harbor. The shoreline of Oahu and a view of the famous Aloha Tower will precede entrance to Pearl Harbor. The tourists will see Battleship Row, the historic battleships USS Arizona and Utah and the site of the Arizona Memorial Monument.

A description of the Dec. 7, 1941, attack of Pearl Harbor by the Japanese also will be given and the tourists will be told of occurrences following the attack.

On Wednesday there will be another morning free, followed by a visit to the Polynesian Cultural Center. Dinner and entertainment at the center will follow the tour.

On Thursday the group will have a full day free to explore Waikiki, Honolulu and the Island of Oahu.

The group will transfer Friday morning for a flight to Kauai Island, second stop on the fun-filled tour.

Reservations are now being accepted for the tour. Anyone interested in participating in a tour may write to Ruth Miller, tour hostess, at the Times-News, Box 548, Twin Falls, or Magic Carpet Travels, Box MM, Twin Falls.

RIGHT ON WAIKIKI Beach, the Cinerama Reef will be tour headquarters for four days in February for Magic of Hawaii '72 tourists. The group arrives in Hawaii by Pan American jet flight on Feb. 14 and will spend until the morning of Feb. 18 on Waikiki, in Honolulu and surrounding area. The winter vacationers will spend 11 days in the islands, arriving home on Feb. 25.

work afoot" and lovers of old-fashioned melodrama will enjoy hissing and booing at the villain's antics when the Community Players present "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" next March.

This play was presented by the group a number of years ago and has remained an alltime favorite. The decision to produce it again was made at a group meeting of the directors in the home of Mrs. Charles Cunningham, director.

Tryouts for the presentation will be held Dec. 1 at the Filer High School and will be open to anyone in the area. College and high school students and teachers are welcome to try out for any of the roles, as well as former members of the Community Players and prospective ones. Also needed will be stage crews and the many other assistants all of whom are necessary for the production of a good play.

Randle Bristol, business manager, states the proceeds of the play will go toward high school projects. Mrs. Don Albin will be producer, and Terry Lancaster, stage manager. Mrs. Harold Peterson will be in charge of makeup and Gilbert De Klotz, lighting. Mrs. Margaret Youree will assist in publicity.

TF Presbyterian Women meet

TWIN FALLS — Religion is the sum total of relations between God and man, Father Simon Vandervoort told United Presbyterian Women this past week.

To practice true religion, he said, man must have faith, prayer, worship, morality and love. Above all, religion must teach Jesus Christ, he said.

Christianity in general needs people who are visionaries as well as tacticians. Christianity has three circles today — apathy, absence of belief and attack, meaning persons who try to downgrade Christianity.

The speaker said true Christians should become heralds of the good news. They must be willing to work or theories have no value. It all depends upon what people really want, he said.

Mrs. Hugh Phillips presented devotions on "The ABC's of Thanksgiving." Mrs. Ray Harris conducted a short business meeting during which it was decided the women's association will have only four meetings next year. Two will be luncheon meetings and two programs with refreshments following.

A potluck luncheon, will be held Dec. 9 with new officers installed.

It was announced the annual Christmas workshop will be held at 5 p.m. Dec. 5 in the church gymnasium. A booth for a cooked food sale will be sponsored by the women's association.

The Living Room Dialogue will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ken Ward, 49 Sunrise Blvd. N. Circle one will meet at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 18 at the home of Mrs. Roy Painter, 1222 11th Ave. E. Circle two will meet at 2 p.m. Nov. 18 with Mrs. Clifford Evans on Kimberly Road.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with an arrangement of fall flowers by Circle two with Mrs. T. G. Gray chairman, assisted by Mrs. Warren Daigh, Mrs. Earl Peck, Mrs. Clifford Evans and Mrs. Bruce McMillan.

The five new initiates were Diane McKinney, Becky Wike, Roxanne Rider, Dana Steel and Becky Moore.

Debbie Sullivan, librarian, dedicated a poem to the new girls. The grand guardian, Mrs. Erma Scott, was honored.

Money which the girls earned was presented and it will be divided between the Sisters

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old ex-nun. I have been out of the convent for two years and am now in my fourth job. I do office work and am well trained for it, but here is my problem: When I am asked about myself, I have always told the truth, and as soon as it is learned that I am a former nun, I am viewed with curiosity, suspicion and in some cases, contempt. The fact that I was a nun fascinates people (especially men), and wherever I go, I am questioned about it. I would like to forget it, but once someone knows, I am sunk.

I like this new job and want to stay. So far I haven't mentioned my background. I don't want to lie, but I don't want to pour out my life's story too soon because the truth might prejudice people right off the bat. Can you advise me?

EX-NUN

DEAR EX-NUN: Your problem is your excessive concern over what people will think about you when they learn the truth. Don't try to second guess them. If they're "fascinated" with the fact that you were a nun, so what? That's their problem. Don't make it yours.

DEAR ABBY: More than 25 years ago, I rescued two battered, unwanted babies from a 20-year-old mother and a cruel 22-year-old stepfather. The young mother tried to force her mother to take them, but her mother had a large family and refused to take on such an added burden. [The boys were two and three at the time.]

Finally the young mother put them out, and told them never to come back into that wretched little apartment over someone's garage. When darkness fell, a neighbor told me that these children were huddled on her back steps, like abandoned puppies, dirty, hungry and asleep.

I took the boys and asked their mother to let me keep them and she agreed gladly with no more emotion than one would show giving away some unwanted kittens. She promised to make the break clean and to never contact them in any way. The town was so bitter toward her and her husband, they left town.

The older boy has been a trial and heartbreak to us. I took him to psychiatrists, and psychologists. They all told me that his personality was damaged by his early mistreatment. He was hysterically nervous, a chronic bed-wetter, prone to steal, and a victim of screaming nightmares. He spent ten months in a juvenile ward in a state psychiatric institution, which didn't seem to help him.

The younger boy did better, spending four years in the Air Force. He married a nice little girl (I'll call Anna) and they moved in with us. While my husband and I were on vacation a few months ago, their natural mother came to town and looked the boys up. Anna became very friendly with her, and now for the shocker: Anna and her husband have just become parents of a baby girl, whom they named for that woman! I was stunned, crushed and amazed.

We have signed notes for them, given them money, and treated them as our own children. Please ask a psychiatrist, why, why, WHY?

NUMB

DEAR NUMB: Intensive psychological studies are necessary to determine what motivates people to behave as they do. On the face of it, it's hard to believe that this young couple didn't know how you would react, which leads to the natural conclusion. They didn't care.

Notice!

The Times-News finds an increasing number of stories appropriate for its women's pages. Because of the premium on available space, stories must be selected on the basis of currency.

All stories pertaining to the women's pages must be brought to the Times-News no later than two days after the meeting to be considered for publication.

Wedding pictures and stories must be in within two weeks of the wedding. As in the past, a $5 fee will be charged for two column wedding pictures and a $2.50 fee for engagement pictures.

Club project...

LARGEST PROJECT taken on this year by the Circle K Clubs at the College of Southern Idaho is helping at the adult Child Development Center. Here Diane Parrott, center, helps two of the students mix up a batch of cup cakes for the young men at the center. Miss Parrott is with the girls section of Circle K, which joined with the boys' unit last week in observing Circle K Week. Anyone having old jewelry, scraps of material or ideas suitable for activities for retarded young men and women at the center is asked to call Jack Sims at CSI, 733-9554. Circle K for girls is an auxiliary of the young men's group. Both are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. This is the second year for the girls' club, which has an active membership of 14.

10-yard pass lets Saints upset 49'ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Edd Hargett hit Virgil Robinson on a 10-yard scoring pass with 57 seconds remaining Sunday to lift the underdog New Orleans

Saints to a 26-20 win over San Francisco. It was the first win on the road for the Saints since they beat the New York Giants in 1969. They had played 13 games away from home before tasting victory. The loss cut San

ISU-BSC film set

Idaho State's 21-17 upset of Boise State will be shown in "living color" through television tape at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.

Dave Perkins, ISU alum, said the color tape will be provided by Idaho Falls television station KIFI. "All Idaho Vandal fans are welcome," smiles Perkins, noting the ISU win gave the Vandals the Big Sky Conference championship.

Van Arsdale escapes injury

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Royals said Sunday that Tom Van Arsdale showed no signs of a serious injury from a fall in Saturday night's 110-101 victory over the Golden State Warriors here, but the star forward would be sidelined for the next game or two. Van Arsdale fell on his neck and elbows as the Royals won the fourth of their last five games here, and was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital. He was examined by Dr. Edward Zenni, team physician, and Dr. Richard B. Budde, neurological surgeon.

Scrambler scrapping

IRVING, Tex. (UPI)—Jolly Roger Staubach had a rollicking fine time outwitting would-be Philadelphia Eagle trap artists Sunday to run and pass the Dallas Cowboys to a 20-7 victory which jumped them back into the National Confer-

Argonauts pad cushion

HAMILTON (UPI) — The Toronto Argonauts combined tough defense, two big plays by Joe Theismann and some errant field goal kicking by Hamilton's Tommy Joe Coffey to produce a 23-8 win over the Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday. The win provides the Argonauts with a comfortable 15-point margin over the Tiger-Cats going into the second game of the Eastern Conference total points final that will be played Saturday in Toronto. Toronto's defense set the stage early when Dave Knechtel downed Hamilton quarterback Wally Gáber in the end zone for a safety touch. The Argos went on to pile up a quick 12-0 lead on a converted touchdown by Jim Henderson and Ivan MacMillan's 41-yard field goal. Theismann, who was only six for 18 in passing, hit Henderson with a 52-yard scoring toss and MacMillan converted.

SCRAMBLING QUARTERBACK Roger Staubach is tackled by Eagles' Bill Bradley (28) and Nate Ramsey (24) after a 25-yard gain during action Sunday in Texas. Staubach scrambled six times for 90 yards and hit 14 of 28 passes for 16 yards to lead Dallas to a 20-7 victory. (UPI telephoto)

Oakland romps to win over Houston

OAKLAND (UPI) — Darryle Lamonica threw two touchdown passes, Pete Banaszak ran for two more scores, and George Blanda booted a pair of field goals Sunday as the Oakland Raiders took advantage of five Houston mistakes for a 41-21 victory over the Oilers. The Raiders won the game in the first quarter when they scored three times and they added two touchdowns and a field goal before the intermission for a 38-0 lead. The Oilers, 14-point underdogs, scored all their points in final quarter as they suffered their seventh loss compared to one victory and a tie. The Raiders held on to their half-game in the AFC West by scoring their sixth victory against one loss and two ties. Lamonica threw 63 and 25 yards to Drew Buie, Banaszak ran one yard twice, and Blanda got his field goal on kicks of 18 and 33 yards. The other Oakland touchdown was scored by Jimmy Warren on a 59-yard run with a pass interception. Rookie quarterback Dan Pastorini accounted for the three Houston scores. He ran one yard for the first and threw 14 yards to Jim Beirne and one yard to Ward Walsh for the other two. Oakland went 83 yards in four plays the first time it got the ball with Lamonica hitting Buie with his 63-yard "bomb" for the score. Nemiah Wilson intercepted a pass by rookie quarterback Lynn Dickey and on the first play Banaszak went over from one yard out for a 14-0 lead. Jack Tatum intercepted another pass by Dickey and ran it to the 25. On the first play, Lamonica connected with Buie again to make it 21-0.

Chiefs hang fourth loss in row on Browns

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Wendell Hayes danced 26 yards down the sideline with a swinging pass from Len Dawson Sunday, sparking the Kansas City Chiefs to a 13-7 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

The Browns suffered their fourth straight defeat, the first time in the 26-year history of the franchise the team has lost that many in a row. Jan Stenerud kicked 14 and 27-yard field goals after 45 and 59-yard drives before the Chiefs touchdown.

The touchdown march covered 86 yards in the second quarter. Big play was a 24-yard loss from Dawson to Morris Stroud. From the 26, Dawson flipped in the flat to Hayes. A covey of blockers sprung him, he hurred a defender at the five-yard line and lunged into the end zone.

Cleveland's lone score came on a 73-yard march in the last two minutes. Bill Nelsen passing 18 yards to Milt Morin for the score with the Chiefs' defense yielded only once, with cornerback Ermit Thomas intercepting starter Mike Phipps twice and linebacker Willie Lanier pouncing on a Bo Scott fumble.

DENVER (UPI) — The Cincinnati Bengals struck early Sunday with a surprise double-reverse play ending with a 71-yard Virgil Carter to Bruce Coslet scoring pass and went on to snap a seven-game losing streak with a punishing 24-10 win over Denver.

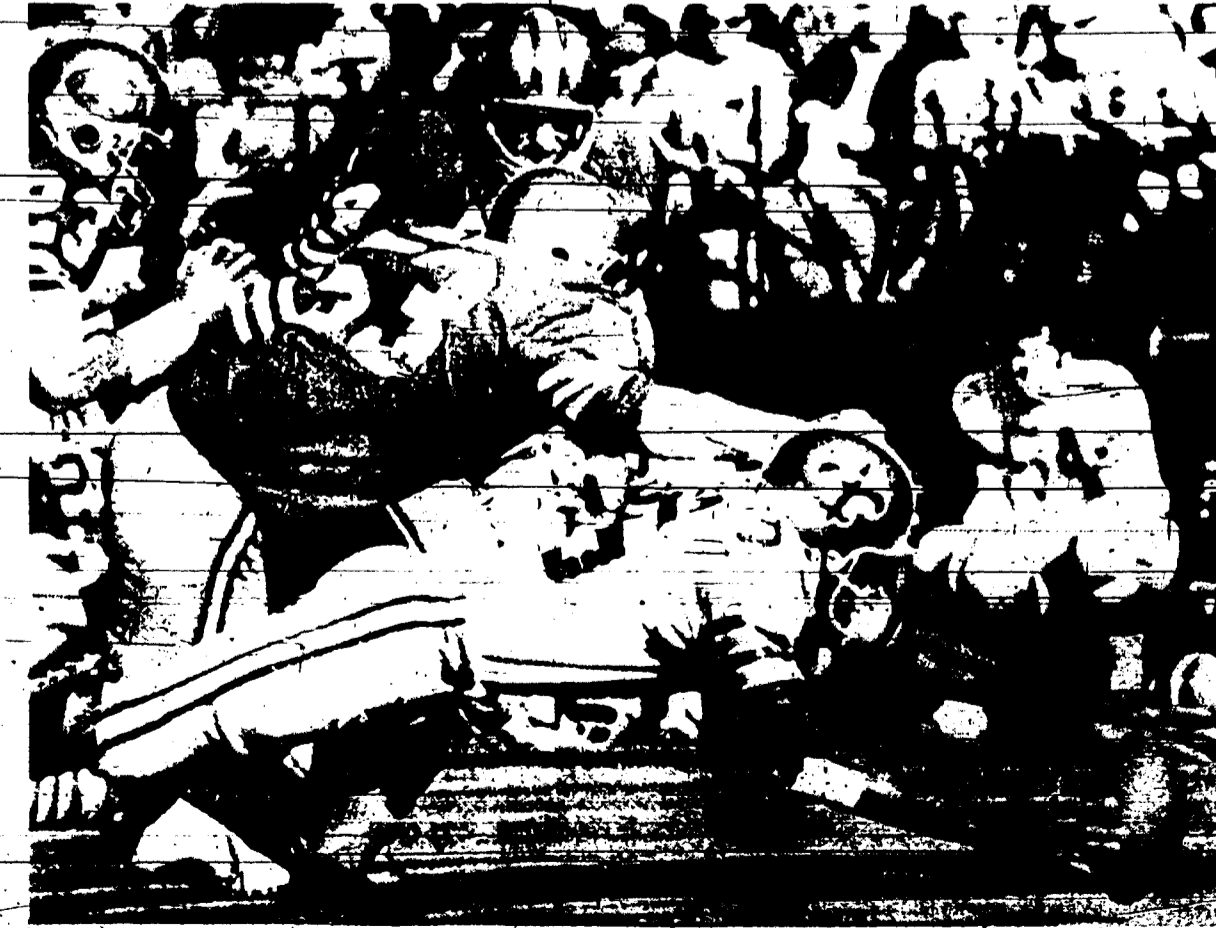

Carter threw a 67-yard scoring pass to Essex Johnson and Fred Willis bulled in from the three for the other Bengal touchdowns. Horst Muhlmann added a 14-yard field goal for Cincinnati.

Denver's Jim Turner had a 37-yard field goal and a conversion following Denver's only touchdown, a 43-yard pass to Dwight Harrison by reserve quarterback Steve Ramsey with 1:19 gone in the fourth quarter. The four points gave Turner a career total of 760 and moved him into a tie with Paul Hornung for 10th place for all-time BFL scorers.

However, for a Denver team which lost its starting quarterback, Don Horn, after a bruising tackle by Bengal Nick Roman in the second quarter. Horn suffered a shoulder separation and may be out for the season, officials said. Bronco right end Lyle Alzado also left the game with a sprained left ankle. Alzado, a rookie, replaced veteran Denver end Pete Duranko earlier this year after Duranko was injured.

The Bengals, who have lost five games this season by four points or less, seized the momentum at 5:41 elapsed in the first quarter after Carter passed 71 yards to Coslet. They built a 14-0 half-time lead after Willis scored with 24 seconds left to cap a 55-yard drive in eight plays.

In the fourth quarter, Johnson, who had been shaken up in the third quarter and left the game, returned for the Bengals. With 6:33 remaining, he broke loose to catch the 67-yard Carter pass for the third Bengal touchdown and put the game out of reach.

Air mishap kills three coaches

GAVIOTA, Calif. (UPI)—Three members of the Cal State Fullerton football coaching staff and a charter pilot were killed when their light plane crashed in mountainous terrain three miles east of here Saturday night. Aboard the single-engine aircraft were Joe O'Hara, offensive coordinator for the 12,000-student Fullerton School's second-year football team; Dallas Moon, defensive specialist; Bill Hannah, offensive line coach, and Ernie Mariette, the pilot.

The wreckage was found Sunday after the coaches' families had notified the Federal Aviation Administration that the aircraft was missing. Ground crews were sent in to recover the bodies. The plane was believed en route from San Diego to San Luis Obispo, Calif., although Mariette did not file a flight plan with the FAA.

The coaches were in San Diego Saturday afternoon for Cal State Fullerton's 40-30 victory over U.S. International University. They apparently were going to San Luis Obispo to scout Cal Poly-Santa Luis Obispo's game with UC Santa Barbara.

'Sold too cheap' man says in regretting old car sale

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Royce Goolsby has sold his brand new 1951 Oldsmobile 98, but not without pang of post-sale regret.

"I sold it too cheap," Goolsby said Friday, holding a $2,750 check. "I could have got at least $3,500."

Horace Wells, owner of Wells Construction Co., handed Goolsby the check and drove in the coal black, four-door sedan with only eight miles on the odometer.

Goolsby placed an ad in a local paper less than 24 hours before Wells gave him the check. The two-line ad in the "antique car" section read, "Brand new 51 olds 98, stored 20 yrs., 81 mi. $2750. 3993754."

Rate boost planned

SPOKANE (UPI)—Certain hospital rates will be increased when Sacred Heart Medical Center transfers services next week into its new $35 million structure, Sister Peter Claver, administrator, announced.

The daily service charge patients in private rooms will be $69 while the charge for two bed rooms will be $66 daily. Sister Claver said the advance represents only a $3 to $5 increase over the average charge during 1971.

"There are a number of reasons that cause us to make this adjustment," Sister Claver said, "many of which are beyond our control."

Goolsby, who owned a 1911 Ford roadster he picked up 30 years ago, bought the Olds from a friend in Marion, N.C. The car sold for $4,600 new in 1951. It was equipped with radio, heater, automatic transmission and wide-striped whitewalls. A similar model car today would cost $7,000.

Spokane attorney says LSD cause of son's death, not police bullets

E. Glenn Harmon is a successful attorney in Spokane, Wash. His 21-year-old son Larry is dead — killed by police Thursday after a gun battle at St. Aloysius Church in Spokane in which another man was killed and four wounded. In the following statement, Marmon talks about his son's brief, brilliant and tortured life.

By E. GLENN HARMON — SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — My son Larry is dead. Killed by police bullets, the record will say. But he was not killed by bullets. He was killed by LSD. There is little doubt in my mind that, as far as the police are concerned, they had no choice than to kill Larry. Were I in their shoes, I would have done likewise. Where did this happen? Even to tell it seems unreal. It happened at MIT — Massachusetts Institute of Technology — the university which his mother and I firmly believed was the greatest university in the world for a budding nuclear scientist. For that is what Larry J. Harmon was three years ago when he enrolled at MIT. He entered a dormitory at MIT. He told me later that just about "anything goes" in the dormitories, or the one he was in, Friends... finally induced him to try smoking "pot." He told me later he found pot "extremely enjoyable." But his friends did not stop there. They kept telling him of the marvelous/mind expanding properties of LSD, "acid," to the initiates. On his 18th birthday, June 27, 1968; he took a half a pill which his friends told him was LSD.

His first trip on LSD produced incredible hallucinations. His friends said he had a bad trip. He told me he went to hell and back, literally, saying "Dad, I know you don't believe me. But there is a hell. I went there."

He proclaimed independence unilaterally. It did so after failure to agree with Britain on a new constitution that ultimately would give political power in the country to its 4.5 million Africans. At present it is held almost exclusively by the 250,000 strong white minority.

The former British Labor Party government headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson at once applied economic sanctions.

The doctor told us we would have to hope and pray that the LSD had done no permanent damage to his brain. Then we heard for the first time, the words "irreversible damage to the brain by LSD." We could not believe it could be true.

Quarrel patch sought

LONDON (UPI)—Six years have passed since Rhodesia defied Britain and proclaimed herself independent on Nov. 11, 1965.

She was the first British colony to do so since the 13 American colonies declared their independence on July 4, 1776.

Now the two countries are making a new effort to patch up their six-year old quarrel. British officials say it is likely to be the last one in the foreseeable future.

Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home flies to the Rhodesian capital of Salisbury Sunday for peace talks with Premier Ian Smith. He will be accompanied by a 20-man delegation, including Attorney General Sir Peter Rawlinson, the British government's top level expert, and Lord Goodman, a British lawyer who headed four exploratory missions earlier this year.

When he announced it to Parliament Tuesday he warned "I suffer from no illusions that my task will be easy." British newspapers were virtually unanimous in rating settlement prospects as low. But Douglas-Home added "that the effort is, in the widest sense, in the public interest. I have no doubt at all."

What he meant was that the British Conservative Party government is anxious, if a way can be found, to get rid of the political millstone of the continuing quarrel with a former colony. In particular, it would like to be rid of the economic sanctions that were intended but have failed to "bring Rhodesia to her knees."

The quarrel dates back to 1965 when Rhodesia, a former self-
