Indian, Pakistani guns exchange fire

Towns shelled

NEW DELHI (UPI) — As artillery shells crashed on border towns, Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi told members of parliament Tuesday she has no objections to an impartial, outside evaluation of the Indo-Pakistani crisis.

Indian Army sources reported Tuesday that Pakistani artillery shelled villages on both borders.

Reports said 10 rounds fell on Bakshnagar village in Tripurateritory along the eastern flank of East Pakistan, killing or wounding at least 75 refugees who had fled into Indian territory.

Indian and Pakistani forces also were reported exchanging artillery fire around the border outpost of Shikarpur, but no casualties were reported. Shells also hit Agartala, capital of Tripura.

Mrs. Gandhi, who returned a few days ago from a tour of the west, told senior members of parliament she would not object to a study of the crisis by foreigners as long as it was not confined to the issue of East Pakistani guerrillas operating in border areas.

It was not immediately clear if Mrs. Gandhi's statement reflected a shift in policy from her earlier refusals to permit United Nations observers to enter border areas.

New Thai coup

BANGKOK (UPI) — Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, who already was prime minister, seized full power in Thailand tonight with the backing of the military, Radio Thailand announced.

The broadcast said the government was now in the hands of a new revolutionary party headed by Thanom, that the constitution was suspended, parliament and the cabinet abolished and martial law imposed.

The action appeared to have been triggered by a dispute within the cabinet over whether Economic Affairs Minister Bunchan Athakor should be forced to resign because of his recently published memoirs criticizing members of the government.

Thailand, considered the United States' strongest ally in Southeast Asia, has undergone a series of military coups since 1932 when a civilian and military group ended the absolute monarchy that had ruled the country for centuries.

Thanom assumed power in 1958 upon the death of Field Marshal Sarit Thanarat, ruling in an authoritarian style. He continued as prime minister when the country became a parliamentary-type regime in 1968 under a limited monarchy.

Radio Thailand announced that King Bhumibol Adulyadej would continue to reign. The king, who was born in Cambridge, Mass., has had little real power since the original 1932 coup.

The move was not expected to change Thailand's foreign policies. Thanom has rejected neutralism and aligned Thailand with the United States, helped form the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) and sent 12,000 troops to fight in Vietnam.

Reds converge on Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Major Communist forces were reported converging on Phnom Penh today in what captured documents said was an effort to seize or isolate the capital. The advancing troops were under heavy U.S. air attacks which have killed an estimated 200 Communists.

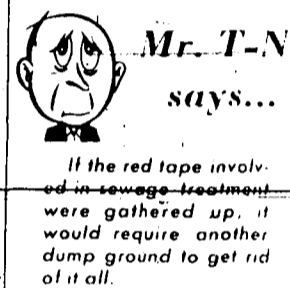

While government reinforcements poured into the capital, four Russian-made 122mm rockets slammed into Phnom Penh's airport today in an apparent Communist attempt to sever communications. One of the rockets hit the airfield and another wounded four persons.

A squadron of government tanks was sent to the southwest and fresh troops were setting up camp on the city's outskirts. Some soldiers were seen digging fox-holes on the lawns of the university midway between the city center and the airport.

Intelligence sources said a North Vietnamese division seen last week moving west from the Cambodian border town of Krek was now positioned within a day or two's striking distance of Phnom Penh, south of Highway 7.

The sources said another unidentified North Vietnamese unit was moving towards the capital from the north-northwest and another, the 52nd Regiment, was heading north from the sugar refinery town of Kompong Tram, 20 miles south of the capital.

Cambodian field officers directing operations at Taol Leap, only 12 miles southwest of the city center, said today they had identified their opponents as the 101-D North Vietnamese regiment, estimated to be 1,000 strong.

If the red tape involved in sewage treatment were gathered up, it would require another dump ground to get rid of it all.

Sewage plants stalled

HEYBURN — Regional water quality plans are required before more federal funds will be granted for construction of sewage treatment plants, Environmental Protection Agency officials told a four-town meeting here Tuesday.

The immediate impact of the announcement was two-fold. It stalls Burley's long-standing plans for the North Burley area. It also delays any development of facilities in Paul or Heyburn, pending completion of a regional plan linking Burley, North Burley, Heyburn and Payl into one sewage treatment system.

EPA sanitary engineers Ross Egbert and Richard Thiel met Tuesday afternoon with officials of those towns to discuss specifics of the regional plan.

They told the meeting the federal government is requiring both basin and regional plans. The basin plan for the Upper Snake, they said, is virtually complete. The regional plan, they said, is to be prepared by individual counties in Idaho with Cassia and Minidoka counties working in conjunction.

Single landfill proposed

TWIN FALLS — Creation of a county-wide solid waste collector system utilizing the present Twin Falls city landfill was recommended Tuesday night.

R. P. Fasolino, Pocattello consultant employed by the county to make a six-month solid waste study, made that recommendation in his preliminary report.

Fasolino recommended establishment of 12 hopper-type collector stations in the county, with one large compressor truck operating between the stations and the city landfill. Fasolino said the system could be ready to start by the coming July.

All towns in the county would continue their own collection programs. County equipment would pick up the trash from the hopper areas and transport it to the landfill, Fasolino said.

Financing of the county wide collector system, Fasolino said, could be handled through present maximum two mill solid waste levy permitted by state law until the hopper units are installed and equipment purchased.

China talk angers US

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador George Bush showed official anger over Communist China's maiden United Nations speech Tuesday.

He said China's attitude was disappointing, surprising and disturbing — and the speech fired "empty cannons of rhetoric."

Bush, a former congressman from Houston named to the U.N. post almost one year ago, made the reply in a formal statement handed out to delegates.

China's top man at the U.N., Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua made a surprising attack on the United States and the Soviet Union Monday in a 30-minute speech accepting his country's seat in the world body. His talk followed 5 1/2 hours of speeches welcoming the new delegation.

"Yesterday's inaugural address of the representative of the People's Republic of China was a disappointment for all those who wish to see the United Nations promote the goals of peace and progress," Bush said.

"There was nothing new in the intemperate language — the phrases are familiar to those who have seen the standard propaganda of the People's Republic of China. What was surprising — and disturbing — was the decision to launch participation in this world body by firing these empty cannons of rhetoric," Bush said.

Chiao, casting his country's first U.N. vote, went along with the majority Tuesday in approving a resolution expressing "grave concern" over Congressional action permitting U.S. purchases of chrome from Rhodesia.

The U.N. has put an embargo on Rhodesian chrome in protest against the country's split with Britain to maintain rule by the white minority.

A bill permitting the purchases is now awaiting Nixon's signature.

The statement indicated Communist China will disregard whatever past U.N. action it dislikes.

Nixon to ignore pullout date bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon signed into law today a $21.3 billion procurement bill but said he would not be bound by a section calling on him to set a "final date" for the total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina.

In a strongly worded statement, Nixon said: "To avoid any possible misconceptions, I want to emphasize that Section 601 of this act — the so-called 'Mansfield amendment' — does not represent the policies of this administration."

The amendment requests that Nixon set a final withdrawal date subject only to the release of American prisoners of war and an accounting of GIs missing in action.

This was a dilution of the original wording of the amendment, sponsored by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, which would have set next spring as the time for total withdrawal, provided POWs were released.

Even without a specific time, however, Nixon refused to be bound by the amendment.

Black troops 'angry'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A report to a congressional hearing on military racial policies said today black servicemen "are already talking in terms of revolution and some type of violence is inevitable."

Thaddeus Garrett Jr., assistant to Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., co-chairman of the hearing with Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., said he drafted the report after a six-week tour of U.S. military bases abroad.

"The feeling among blacks stationed in Europe is that military standards apply in different degrees to whites than to themselves," Garrett said in the report's as Negro lawmakers known as the Black Caucus opened the second day of their unofficial hearings.

Dellums marked the start of the sessions Tuesday with release of what he called secret Pentagon papers allegedly showing an agreement between the State Department and the government of Iceland against stationing blacks in that country.

'Laura' now teetering

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Laura, often teetering near hurricane strength, looped slowly away from the Cuban mainland today on an undetermined path in the northwestern Caribbean.

If the aimless drift to the southeast continues as forecast through this afternoon, the first of 25,000 Cubans evacuated from the rich tobacco lands of Pinar del Rio and the citrus groves of the Isle of Pines would be allowed to return to their homes, Radio Havana said.

Monitored in Miami, Cuban radio changed the status of the storm to "hurricane" Tuesday night with winds of 75 m.p.h.

But forecaster Joe Pellisier at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said air reconnaissance this morning showed that a sustained level the winds were still below hurricane force.

Surcharge hike OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a protectionist mood on trade, the Senate voted 53 to 29 Tuesday to empower President Nixon to raise the 10 per cent surcharge on imports to 15 per cent and to ban any product from any country from the American market.

The administration said it had not sought and would not use so broad a grant of authority. Opponents of the measure said the Senate had committed a symbolic error.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said it sent "the wrong signal to the world." And Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., called it an "economic Gulf of Tonkin resolution" and said it "could lead to an economic war and in many ways could lead to a military war."

Panel says race bars hold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Rights Commission says strong forces are holding back the progress of civil rights while the American people are growing somewhat weary of the issue and the national sense of injustice is dimming.

In a 217-page report on federal civil rights enforcement for the past year, the commission staff blamed President Nixon for a lack of leadership and said his anti-busing stand might even be interpreted as a sign to slow down school desegregation. But the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, commission chairman and President of Notre Dame, and his five fellow commissioners, refused in a separate statement to go along with "those who keep pinning the blame entirely on the President."

To do so, they said, is "to forget the wide discretion that federal officials have in performing their duties. Always to point accusingly at the President permits many of these career and politically appointed officials a false excuse for inaction." In sharp contrast the staff report said: "Unless the bureaucracy is given to understand that civil rights is a matter of personal concern to the President, it is unlikely to alter the status quo." The commission is aware of the strength of forces that serve to impede progress in civil rights," added the 11 page statement. "We also are aware that the American people have grown somewhat weary, that the national sense of injustice, which was the foundation on which the legislative victories of the 1960s were built, has dimmed." The staff report said the department of Health Education and Welfare was reluctant to use its compliance procedure to cut off federal funds to still-segregated schools, and was slow in bringing 17 states which maintain segregation in institutions of higher education into compliance.

It accused the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) of ignoring a federal court ruling which prohibited tax exemptions for private schools that discriminate by refusing to apply nationwide standards set for Mississippi.

In the housing area it found the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) slow to correct widespread segregation in federally financed housing projects. Similarly, government sponsored plans for increasing minority employment in private trades were said to be discouraging.

Master spy dies

MOSCOW (UPI) — Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, who master-minded a Soviet spy ring from a hideaway in the shadow of the Brooklyn Federal Courthouse where he was eventually tried and convicted, has died in Moscow at the age of 68, unofficial Soviet sources said Tuesday. Abel, who had been ill for six months, was returned to Russia by the United States in 1962 in a swap for U-2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers. Abel died Monday of lung cancer, the sources said.

Abel was considered the most important Soviet spy ever caught in America. A colonel in the KGB, Abel was arrested in Brooklyn in 1957 on charges of conspiring to transmit U.S. defense and atomic secrets to the Soviet Union, gathering the information and failing to register as a foreign agent. He was convicted on all three counts and sentenced to 30 years in prison. Abel, then 55 years old, lean, sharp-featured and balding, did not testify in his own defense.

Attica inmate tells newsmen of intimidation by prison guards

ATTICA, N.Y. (UPI)—Three inmates said to have been leaders of the Attica Prison rebellion told newsmen Tuesday conditions had not changed since the takeover that ended with 43 killed. One inmate predicted the grand jury investigation into the Sept. 9-13 uprising would not give the prisoners a fair hearing on any criminal charges that may arise from the revolt. Roger Champerv, 39, New York, who has served 14 years of a 20-30 year term for armed robbery, was one of six inmates whom newsmen were allowed to interview in Housing Block Z (HBZ), the prison's isolation area. Champerv, clad in white overalls and slippers, gripped an ancient wooden podium as newsmen asked how life in HBZ had been since he was placed there Sept. 18. "Intimidating," he said. The prisoners stood at the podium. Each was represented by counsel and each, in turn, declined to answer questions about leadership of the uprising. The prisoners entered the room one at a time and as each left, another was brought in to take his place. Frank Lott of New York City said he wasn't shot during the state police assault on the Cellblock 'D' yard because "I was just lucky." Lott testified in U.S. District Court last month that he had seen an inmate identified as L. D. Barkley alive in the prison after the uprising was quelled. But Barkley was later reported dead by authorities. He said that after giving the testimony, "two guards advised me to write a letter back to (Judge John T.) Curtin telling him I made a mistake." Lott did not say if he wrote the letter, but Curtin, contacted by UPI in Buffalo, said he has not yet seen such correspondence.

Car owners warned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—General Motors Corp., agreeing to a government request, warned owners of 760,000 1961-69 model Corvairs Tuesday that defective heaters could allow carbon monoxide to seep into the passenger compartment. General Motors said it would notify Corvair owners by certified mail within 30 days, but would not pay the bill for repairs unless the car was still under warranty. Ralph Nader immediately attacked GM's decision not to pay for the repairs. "Once again, GM has placed its massive profits ahead of public safety," he said.

Reviews policy

By United Press International U.S. refusal to sell more Phantom jets to Israel means a major review of Israeli policy, political sources in Tel Aviv said today. "Everything has been altered because of this development," the source said. "I guess a great deal depends on the cabinet." The source said the matter probably would come up for discussion when Prime Minister Golda Meir holds her regular Sunday meeting with the cabinet. State Department Spokesman Charles W. Bray said Tuesday in Washington the United States will not provide Israel with more Phantoms for the time being, although "we will be keeping that one (matter) under continuing study and review." He noted that Secretary of State William P. Rogers had said there has been no shift in the balance of power in the Middle East to cause the United States to give the jets to Israel.

Council elects Meridian youth

TWIN FALLS — The smaller schools won the day when new officers were elected for the Idaho Association of Student Councils Tuesday afternoon.

Students from Meridian, Moscow and Blackfoot high schools were elected president, vice president and secretary respectively in a spirited secret-ballot election that required three ballots to select the new president.

Randy Kim, junior class vice president at Meridian High School, will succeed Larry Anderson of Twin Falls next May as president of the IASC. Dwight Bell, junior class chief executive at Moscow High, was elected vice president. Teresa Konishi, student body vice president at Blackfoot High School, will serve as secretary during the 1972-73 term.

Kim's election required three ballots, as a majority could not be reached among the four candidates on the first vote. The top three were voted on a second time, but again no majority was tallied. Finally, in the third balloting between Kim and his chief rival, Alan Kibble, Boise, junior class vice president at Capital High School, Kim won out.

Other candidates for the president of the IASC were Diane Marshall, Pocatello, and Moyle Wilson, Twin Falls.

Vice-presidential hopefuls, in addition to Bell, included Bill Miller, whose school was not announced, and Kelly Thompson, Malad. Candidates for the position of secretary included Mary Fanning, a student at Bonneville High, Idaho Falls, and Kim Peterson of Murtaugh High School.

Each candidate was formally nominated by a fellow student in a brief nominating speech, then each outlined his or her reasons for seeking the position. Delegates were then allowed to question each candidate in detail on his position.

The IASC constitution allows a six-month "lame-duck" period between election of new officers and their taking office to allow a familiarization period during which the incoming officers can confer with their predecessors on problems of the organization.

The IASC convention emphasized "swap shops" during which students from the various schools throughout the state met in small groups to compare ideas and swap solutions to problems.

Tuesday's closing session included a discussion of the spring workshop for high-school class officers, sponsored each year by the IASC to help incoming student officers become acquainted with their positions.

Last spring's workshop was conducted at Lewiston, Anderson said, and school officials in the northern Idaho community have invited the IASC back for the 1972 session. Anderson suggested the delegates accept the invitation, but a number of schools in eastern Idaho objected, saying it should be held at Idaho State University in Pocatello.

Following considerable discussion, a show of hands on a motion to place the workshop at Lewiston indicated a slight majority. Several delegates called for a roll-call vote by schools on the motion, which passed by a margin of 23 in favor of Lewiston to 13 against.

Official City and County Newspaper Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and UPI Pursuant to Section 60-108 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83401, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83401, under the act of March 8, 1879.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 — Congressional critics who quite properly pressured President Nixon into revoking licenses for $3.4-million worth of military equipment scheduled for shipment to Pakistan seem curiously silent about Communist China's role in the Indian-Pakistani feud. Perhaps Sen. Teddy Kennedy, who has the ablest research staff on Capitol Hill, can find and profit from Shakespeare's question on a subject relevant to the romance between Peking and the dictatorial regime of Pakistani President Yahya Khan. In King Henry VI, the Bard asked it very well: "For how can tyrants safely govern home—Unless abroad they purchase great alliance?" Now, the gospel according to Lenin and Mao has always proclaimed as imperative the continuing struggle against fascist rule—as well, of course, as against rich bankers in India. Yet we have had in recent days a pledge from Peking's Acting Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei that Red China will "resolutely support" Pakistan in a war with liberal, Socialist India. It's not my fault if this reminds readers of the 1939 Stalin-Hitler pact. Yet I have heard no ringing denunciations of Peking from liberals and left-leaningers on the Hill, who for months portrayed Richard Nixon as an ally of tyrants for selling arms to bullyboy Yahya Khan. Indeed, one gets the impression from their comments since Peking was hustled into the United Nations that a Chinese government every bit as repressive as Pakistan's is expected to be a great moral force in international affairs. Some moral force. Unless men have changed overnight, I expect Yahya Khan has been greatly bucked up by peace-loving Peking's promises of all-out military support should Pakistan and India go to war. Chi made no mention of East Pakistan's pathetic refugees for whose succor the United States, under Nixon, has contributed millions of dollars. Unlike the U.S., Peking has always limited its aid to Pakistan to strictly military stuff. In recent years the Chinese have supplied Pakistan with tanks, fighter aircraft and small weapons, and even built a munitions factory outside Dacca, in East Pakistan. Now a Pakistani delegation has returned from Peking with a pledge of greatly increased military assistance, none of which is designed for use at a peace table. It is unlikely of course that Red China would physically intervene in a war between India and Pakistan, although Washington might recall that Peking did just that in Korea when the situation became a touch messy for the North Korean forces. At any rate, Chi Peng-fei followed his promise of "resolute support" for Yahya Khan's regime with a statement urging the Pakistani people to seek a reasonable settlement of the East Pakistan dispute. Chi also made a point of denouncing what he called Indian "meddling" in Pakistan's internal affairs. There is some evidence this is a valid charge, because Premier Indira Gandhi's government has long agitated for independence for the Bengali population in East Pakistan, and I am not convinced that the deployment of Indian troops along the borders of both East and West Pakistan was ordered merely to give the fellows a little outdoor exercise. Meanwhile, India in the last few weeks has increased her orders of arms from the Soviet Union and has asked for earlier delivery of munitions already in the pipeline. This, despite the fact India already is militarily superior to Pakistan and has its own armaments industry, whereas Pakistan's munitions-making capability is negligible. Sadly, these recent developments indicate that Peking and Moscow are using Pakistan and India as pawns in their back-room political maneuverings in Asia. Contemplating such sordid diplomacy a 1971 Shakespeare would be constrained to add a warning that governments which "purchase great alliance" often find themselves living dangerously.

Nixon's Courage

Everybody is relieved that the Amchitka atomic test produced none of the disasters the doom-sayers profess to dread. Exaggerated fears of the environmentalists that the blast might trigger earthquakes or tidal waves or leak radiation into the Pacific proved groundless. AEC scientists and administrators were vindicated in their judgment. As a result of the test and the new knowledge it provided, the Spartan Anti-Ballistic Missile now can become available for our defensive arsenal. What the nation may owe to the courage of the AEC and President Nixon, who gave the final go-ahead despite the volume of protests, is a question only the future can answer. If the Spartan proves to be a deterrent in the arms race, the risk, if any, was eminently justified. There was no protest when Soviet Russia made a similar test but opponents of the Amchitka test exhausted every means to prevent it, arguing any risk whatever was too much and disregarding the AEC's contention it was essential to national security. Comments in the wake of the test noted the AEC was vindicated but little or no credit was given Nixon for his unflinching courage. Had the tests proved disastrous, Nixon would have been the target for the most bitter recrimination. It is easy to play upon public fears in an area such as ecology where experts admit man's knowledge is distressingly small and his anxiety born of ignorance is great. Dr. Norman Borlaug, who won the 1970 Nobel Peace Prize for development of high-yield cereal grains, took note of this in a speech in Rome. He blamed "hysterical gossip" for attacks on DDT and other pesticides, which he said have contributed greatly to more abundant food crops, reduced disease and hunger, and kept food prices from rising sharply. Even the most ardent environmentalists should realize he doesn't have a corner on his concern. It is shared by all.

Heartburn

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My stomach burns most of the time and I have been X-rayed for ulcers and gall bladder, but the X-rays were normal. My doctor said I might have an ulcer that doesn't show or that there was too much acid in my stomach. I am now on a bland diet. Is it possible to have an ulcer without its showing on X-ray? The doctor said if I didn't have an ulcer, it would turn into one if I don't control the acid in my stomach. Is there any way to control it? — H. D. Sounds like heartburn — which is a burning sensation in the area of the lower part of the breastbone. (Despite its name, it has nothing to do with the heart.) Common causes of heartburn, which is a pretty common ailment, are excess acid in the stomach contents into the lower gullet (esophagus); the regurgitation of bile when the outlet of the stomach is incompetent; belching. Hiatal hernia also can cause heartburn, and a special technique is required to show that with X-ray, but I trust that was part of your examination. Only a very small percentage of ulcers (2 per cent or less) are missed by X-ray and anyway the gnawing pain of an ulcer is usually lower down than the site of heartburn misery. However, excess acid or regurgitation of stomach contents carries the possibility of developing an ulcer, so you have more than one reason for wanting to get at the root of your trouble. Since your trouble continues, you evidently have NOT got at the real trouble. Therefore, further examination is in order. Continue the bland diet, for that is one step in combating excess acid, but there are other ways. Possibly smaller, more frequent feedings (say milk between meals) may help. Antacid medications taken an hour after meals can reduce acidity, but that doesn't get at the basic trouble. If regurgitation is the real problem, remember that obesity plays a role: too much fat in the abdomen exerts pressure. Losing weight gives relief. Or, if you are an air-swallower and belch quite a lot, then make yourself eat more slowly. (And don't gulp when you drink.) Hypoglycemia and some other conditions can contribute to heartburn, but first I'd take a thorough look at the suggestions I've already made.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been reading that the IUD (intra-uterine device) compares favorably with the birth control pill in effectiveness. Let's get down to the nitty-gritty. Has there been a known case where a woman using an IUD has become pregnant? I am too old to take any chances at all. — Mrs. J.A. It's true that the coil, or IUD, compares favorably with the pill — meaning that it is pretty reliable but not quite as yes, there have been pregnancies by women using an IUD. Last figures I saw said that the pill, properly used and no forgetfulness, was virtually 100 per cent effective; the IUD something like 98 or 99 per cent.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Warning From Voters

The November elections brought out one pertinent fact quite clearly — the voters are rebelling against governmental spending. From New York to San Diego, the voters rejected big bond issues with crushing unanimity, whatever the purpose of the proposed expenditures. Weariness with higher and higher taxes was evident, even though Maine voters kept their two-year-old state income tax law as the lesser of evils. However, the unwillingness to support massive new bonded debts has not been accompanied by any diminution for public services from the cities, states and federal government. The administration favors revenue sharing — and so do the cities and states. But Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas Democrat who is Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, refuses to have any truck with this scheme for giving back to localities some of the income tax revenue taken from them. Mills holds that the federal government, having had the onus of laying on the taxes, should have the pleasure and privilege of spending the money, and if cities and other local governmental units want the fun of greater spending, they must endure the heat of taxing to provide the money. There is a certain logic in Mills' reasoning. The flaw is that the federal government has virtually preempted the rich income tax field and left the rocky acres of real property and sales taxes for local governing bodies. It looks as if it will be a long time before the voters approve bond issues and perhaps even longer before local governments share in federal revenues. How about a little belt-tightening all around?

He Will Not Run

WASHINGTON — If the American people are suspicious of Sen. Edward Kennedy's political intentions, they certainly cannot be blamed. Every time you pick up the newspaper there is another story about Teddy Kennedy confirming he is not a presidential candidate in 1972. It isn't the denial that has people confused as much as where Sen. Kennedy denies it. As the campaign heats up we can expect more and more news stories on the subject. They might look like this: WINDY FALLS, Iowa — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told a cheering throng of 10,000 persons at the Windy Falls County Fair that he would not accept the presidential nomination under any circumstances in 1972. The senator from Massachusetts said that the people must defeat Nixon or the country would be faced with inflation, unemployment, drought and financial ruin. He called on the citizens of Iowa to turn out the Republicans in 1972 and elect a Democratic President from the fine list of candidates who were now running, of which he was not one. After his speech Sen. Kennedy visited an Indian reservation, a Mexican-American migrant labor camp, a United Auto Workers union breakfast, a chamber of commerce awards banquet and made a short speech during half-time ceremonies at the Iowa State-Nebraska Tech homecoming game reiterating his determination not to run for the highest office in the land. NEW YORK — Sen. Edward Kennedy spent 14 hours in New York City yesterday in a whirlwind tour. A Kennedy aide said that the senator from Massachusetts wanted to take his message that he was not a presidential candidate personally to all the five boroughs. The senator unequivocally denied any higher political ambitions at a rally in Flushing, a Jewish temple in Queens, the Sons of St. Patrick in Staten Island, the Brothers of Italy in Brooklyn and the Save Yankee Stadium Citizens League in the Bronx. Sen. Kennedy also met with Democratic Party leaders of

New York State in his brother-in-law Steve Smith's Fifth Avenue apartment, to discuss ways of keeping his name off the ballot. He then talked for an hour with Mayor John Lindsay in an effort to persuade Lindsay to start a grass-roots Kennedy presidential campaign. Before leaving New York, Kennedy rode up Fifth Avenue in an open convertible with his wife, Joan, hoping to discourage New Yorkers from considering him as a Democratic hopeful. After the ride Kennedy appeared on the Johnny Carson Show, the Dick Cavett Show, the David Frost Show and the Late-Night Movie, stating he would not even accept a draft at the convention in Miami. Before leaving the city Kennedy visited a children's hospital, the women's house of detention and made a surprise visit backstage to shake hands with the cast of 'Jesus Christ, Superstar.' WASHINGTON — A spokesman for Sen. Edward Kennedy said today that while the senator was flattered that he was leading Muskie in both the Harris and Gallup polls and was half a point behind President Nixon, he still would not consider under any circumstances the race for President of the United States. Sen. Kennedy was unavailable for comment as he was en route to Ireland, Italy and Israel where he hoped to explain to those countries' leaders why he would not run in 1972.

Soft Belly

WASHINGTON — The entire Gulf Coast of the U. S. is wide open to hostile air intrusion. There is no radar or other detection equipment to deter an enemy plane from flying all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian border without detection or interception. That's the sensational charge that will be made in a forthcoming report by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, on the shocking lack of an adequate air defense system on the strategically vulnerable southern border of the country. The report will say flatly that no such protective network exists. As irrefutable evidence, Hebert will cite two striking incidents: The recent sudden arrival in New Orleans of a Russian-made transport carrying a score of so-called "sugar experts" from Cuba. The plane flew from Havana to New Orleans undetected and unchallenged. The Castroites, denied visas by the State Department to attend an international sugar conference, embarked on a Soviet plane and headed for the meeting anyway. They were stopped only after reaching New Orleans, where customs authorities sequestered them in a nearby military base. Last year, a MIG-17 piloted by a Cuban defector landed at the Boca Chica airbase, near Key West, Fla., also without being observed or intercepted. Several weeks later, the State Department permitted the Castro regime to reclaim the Russian fighter plane. Primary reason for the glaring absence of safeguards against a surprise air attack in this crucial region was the removal of radar and other detection equipment on orders by former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara — with the approval of President Kennedy. McNamara did this as an economy measure at a time when he was vigorously pressing a loudly-touted "austerity" program to cut military spending. The House Armed Services Committee's report will caustically cite the failure of subsequent Administrations to take forceful measures to remedy this grave security weakness despite repeated Congressional and other protests and alarming demonstrations of air intrusions.

Pay Showdown Coming

Organized labor and the administration are on a collision course regarding retro-active pay increases under contracts negotiated before the August 15 wage-price freeze. President Nixon has said retroactive payments would give special treatment to one segment and jeopardize the whole anti-inflation program. A majority of the Pay Board voted against retroactivity and for a 5½ per cent guideline on future wage increases, an action Meany denounced as a decision "to rob the workers." Meany, AFL-CIO President, has insisted neither the President nor anyone else has the legal right to nullify contracts. He has declared labor will insist upon payment of wage increases from the effective date regardless of the freeze. Labor's decision as to its future course of action will be made at the AFL-CIO Convention last week. Representative Wilbur Mills, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, said the Pay Board "must recognize the validity of contracts." Congress lacks legal authority to abrogate contracts, he said, and therefore could not give such power to the President or the Pay Board. "It isn't a question of what you want," the Arkansan said. "It's a question of what you can do." The House Banking Committee also got into the act with approval of retroactive pay. Secretary of Commerce Stans observed business would be penalized unfairly by retroactive wage increases because prices cannot be raised retroactively. Mills admitted retroactive pay would add greatly to inflationary pressure. Perhaps for that reason Mills said he thought breaking inflation would take a long time. That might mean as much as three years since a lot of labor contracts run for that period with annual increases of about 10 per cent. The state appears to be set for a series of legal and political battles, with scant regard for inflation, the real enemy of the working man.

Indians check level, claim lake drying up

RENO (UPI) — Indians gathered here from across the nation took a dusty bus ride to shrinking Pyramid Lake Tuesday to see for themselves if the desert lake is threatened by the white man's water policies. So much water is being drawn from nearby rivers for irrigation projects that the Indians say that the lake no longer is fed enough water and is drying up and dying.

The Indian contingent going to the lake is part of the 2,000 members attending the 28th annual National Congress of American Indians in Reno.

A move by a group of mostly young urban Indians to hold an early election of officers was turned down Monday by NCAI President Earl Old Person.

The request for a change in the constitutional election laws came from the American Indian movement group during the scheduled discussion of the Pyramid Lake water rights controversy.

The Pyramid program was delayed for 45 minutes as spokesman from the American Indian movement called for "strengthening of the NCAI into an action oriented and viable organization" by having the election of officers moved up at least two days. The election is scheduled for Friday.

"We want the election before we go home or go broke (referring to Nevada's legalized gambling)," one spokesman said. Another spokesman added, "We want to see our leaders in action before they go to Washington, D.C., to represent us with any voiced input of what Indians want."

But Old Person, after some heated discussion, instructed the Nevada Indians to proceed with their Pyramid Lake presentation.

Police investigate half dozen deaths

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Six persons were shot or stabbed to death Tuesday at two homes in the same middle-class neighborhood, but police said there was no apparent connection in the slayings.

Police said four of those killed were victims of a murder-suicide in the same family. The other victims were a doctor and his wife who were shot to death while watching television in their home a half-mile away.

The ruling of murder-suicide was made in the deaths of Robert Eder, 30, a statistician employed by the state, his wife, Pat, and their sons, Jerry, 9, and Randy, 5.

Detectives said Eder, who had an appointment with a psychiatrist later today, apparently shot both his sons to death with a shotgun as they lay sleeping in bed, then fatally stabbed his wife to death with a butcher knife. Eder was found dead of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound in an upstairs hallway of the home.

Several blocks away, in the same Fort Hill section, Dr. Charles P. Cottrell Jr., and his wife were found dead in the recreation room of their split-level home.

Police said the victims were discovered by their daughter Terri, 14, who awoke for school and found the house unusually quiet. An older brother attends an out-of-town university.

Detectives said no murder weapon was found at the home of Cottrell.

Yorty after Demo choice

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty, a maverick Democrat, said Tuesday he will seek the presidential nomination in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary March 7.

Yorty, who made this third political pilgrimage to the state earlier this month, is the second Democrat to announce his bid for the Democratic nomination in 1972, following Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

"Encouraged by the advice of many friends and supporters I have decided to become a candidate for president," Yorty said in a statement prepared for a Los Angeles news conference.

"Our campaign is already well underway in New Hampshire," Yorty said.

The Los Angeles mayor said, however, he has no intention of entering all the primaries, and at this point the California primary will "climax our campaign."

"The first step is New Hampshire. After that we shall see," Yorty said.

"Other states may be added as the campaign progresses," Yorty said. "We will be selective. We have no intention of trying to raise the huge sums of money necessary to enter all of the primaries."

Yorty said he has no illusions about the difficulties in winning the support of the voters in

New Hampshire, which is considered to be strongly behind Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

"My position on the issues will be that of a moderate Democrat," Yorty said, "a position I hope will appeal not only to a majority of Democrats but also many Republicans who are disillusioned with the current resort to sheer political expediency by the Nixon administration in its efforts to win the election at all costs or by any means in 1972," he said.

"Prior Nixon promises, positions or commitments seem to me nothing as 1972 approaches," Yorty said. "I am sorry to see this. I do not like to see any President fail because when a President fails, the nation suffers."

Yorty has made a strong bid for conservative voters in New Hampshire and has won the endorsement of the Manchester Union Leader, the state's largest newspaper and the only morning newspaper.

SEN. HUBERT Humphrey, D-Minn., said in talk in Atlanta, Ga., he made mistake in 1968 presidential campaign by ignoring south. Humphrey said he won't make the same error if he is the Democratic candidate in 1972. He said he has not made up his mind about trying for the nomination. (UPI)

Rails, union reach agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's railroads announced Tuesday they had reached agreement with the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen on a new 42-month contract covering 11,000 workers.

Terms of the agreement were not announced, but were expected to follow the pattern of 42 per cent wage and benefit increases over three and a half years established with other rail unions earlier this year.

The signalmen are the last of the major rail unions to reach agreement with the carriers during a prolonged series of negotiations.

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads said final agreement was reached Monday at the Labor Department with the aid of Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. and Chairman George Ives of the National Mediation Board.

The new contract, subject to ratification by the members of the union, was made retroactive to January, 1970, with an expiration date of July, 1973.

It was not clear how the agreement would fit into President Nixon's wage controls.

The average 12 per cent annual increase is more than twice the 5.5 per cent annual limit established as a general rule by the pay board. And on the surface, the board's ban on retroactive increases before Nov. 14 would appear to nullify nearly two years of extra pay for the signalmen dating back to when the new contract period began on Jan. 1, 1970.

But union sources indicated that the signalmen would claim exemption under the equity clause of the Pay Board's guidelines on the basis that most other rail workers have already gotten the pay raises scheduled to go into effect before Aug. 15. The signalmen went on strike for about 40 hours last May 17-18 to back up their contract demands.

GOP aides meet

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (UPI) —Some 20 Republican governors began arriving here today for a conference at which President Nixon's current programs and future plans are major topics, on and off record.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will meet with the governors Thursday morning for a talk described as a discussion of key programs of the Nixon administration and important matters connected with federal-state relations.

Federal-state relations are somewhat strained in some states in which skyrocketing welfare costs and unresolved emergency employment problems are being blamed by some governors on federal bureaucracy.

Indiana Gov. Edgar G. Whitcomb, host for this three-day Republican governors' conference, devoted his entire message to his state legislature this week to what he termed "the intervention of the federal government through a multitude of bureaucrats." Whitcomb said that a 250 per cent increase in welfare costs occurred in Indiana during the past four years.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman, also will address the Republican governors Thursday morning. A panel of White House experts on Nixon's economic programs to discuss Phase II on Friday.

Troops smash barricade

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Several hundred British troops escorted army bulldozers and tractors into a Londonderry Roman Catholic area today to smash three-month-old barricades, an army spokesman said.

The soldiers briefly came under sniper fire as their convoy rolled into the darkened streets of the Creggan Housing Development, part of the Bogside District. One trooper was hit in the leg, but fire was not returned.

The unit searched two houses and destroyed several barricades. Three rubber bullets had to be used to disperse a protesting crowd, the spokesman said.

In Belfast, soldiers made selected raids on houses in the Roman Catholic Ardoyne area, arresting at least six men, the spokesman said. Since Nov. 1, nearly 200 suspects have been seized in the city, some of them leading members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

A small amount of weapons and ammunition was found in Belfast and Londonderry, he said.

Fears aired on new bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has expressed fears through White House aides that water cleanup legislation passed by the Senate could prompt some industries to relocate in less developed nations.

The message was given to Republican members of the House Public Works Committee in a White House meeting Tuesday.

Several of the GOP lawmakers said they would press at a committee meeting today for full public hearings on the bill, although the House committee held its own extensive hearings on water pollution legislation last summer.

The dispute threatens to become a major 1972 presidential campaign issue since the sponsor of the Senate bill is Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine. The bill passed the Senate 86 to 0 two weeks ago. The White House subsequently confirmed newspaper stories saying Nixon was dissatisfied with the bill, but gave few details.

Throwaway car developed

WOLSBURG, Germany (UPI)—European car manufacturers are developing a throwaway automobile costing $300 to $400 that can be scrapped after about 9,000 miles, a European magazine reported Tuesday.

At the Volkswagen plant they laughed at the idea.

The report in the magazine Europa said several manufacturers, including Volvo of Sweden, Toyota of Japan and Volkswagen were studying the idea and one European firm had tested a prototype to be displayed at the New York auto show next spring.

"What's it going to be made of, paper?" laughed a Volkswagen spokesman Tuesday. "Here we are looking for ways to make cars safer and safety costs money."

"It's impossible to make cars cheaper than they are now," he added. "I think that's the attitude of all manufacturers. Believe me, there's absolutely no truth in this as far as Volkswagen is concerned."

Europa said the first model is not expected to be offered to the public until 1975. The magazine said the vehicle's body would be stamped from a single sheet of metal and would have an inflatable rubber bumper around it for safety purposes.

Coal mine strike ends

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The 48-day coal mine strike was over today, except in the centers of dissent against the United Mine Workers (UMW) union leadership, in western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia and parts of eastern Ohio.

A back to work movement began Monday, two days after the signing of the national contract, picked up Tuesday and accelerated further today. UMW leaders in the nation's soft coal fields held a series of briefing sessions to dispel the rank-and-file members' suspicions of President Nixon's Pay Board and their own union. In West Virginia, at least three quarters of the estimated 40,000 soft coal miners had returned to work. In Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Virginia and all coal states west of the Mississippi UMW leaders Tuesday reported all of their men would return on regular shifts, starting at midnight.

And in Ohio, where 9,000 miners remained off the job Tuesday, miners began trickling back on the midnight "hoot-owl" shift, though five mines employing 1,000 men remained shut along the Ohio River. Pickets were reported still marching in front of the huge, steel-company owned mine in southwestern Pennsylvania and miners stayed away in Fairmount and Morgantown, W. Va., where sentiment is strongest for the dissident Miners for Democracy (MFD) movement. Incidents of violence were reported in a couple of West Virginia strip mines. Michael Budzanoski, president of UMW District 5 in the heart of the continuing strike in this area, blamed resistance to the settlement on the MFD movement.

9,658 killed

NEW DELHI (UPI)—A total of 9,658 persons were killed in the cyclone and tidal wave that struck India's Orissa state three weeks ago, the minister of irrigation and power said Tuesday.

Minister K. L. Rao, reporting to the upper house of parliament, said 5.9 million persons in 8,540 villages were affected by the Oct. 29 storm.

Nearly 400,000 houses were damaged by the storm, which packed winds of up to 105 miles an hour and stirred up a tsunami that inundated areas as far in as 15 miles from the coast.

A weather satellite photograph indicated the storm was heading towards Orissa about eight hours before the cyclone struck, Rao said. Warnings were sent to the area by telegram, he said, but radio stations in the area did not receive the information until only an hour and a half before it hit the coastline.

Wool growers back new import quotas

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Wool Growers Association commended President Nixon Tuesday for the new restrictions and import quotas which the association said would be of "great benefit" to the wool industry.

The commendation was one of several resolutions approved by the association which ended its 79th annual convention.

The association noted that for many years the textile industry and wool growers have "suffered from imports from countries which have an abundance of cheap labor. These products have been priced below our domestic products."

The association also approved several resolutions on predatory animal control, the subject of several discussions and a panel during the convention. One resolution urged that only properly trained and regulated personnel of the U. S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife be permitted to use toxic agents for predator control purposes.

Another commended the Bureau of Land Management, the U. S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Sports Fisheries for the "calm and rational" approach to legitimate predator control programs and urged Congress and other interested parties to support research in "more specific and humane methods of reducing economic losses to livestock from wild animals."

The association also recommended federal and state governments recognize that "the issuance of a permit to graze on their lands carries with it, automatically and implicitly, the right to protection from loss of livestock from predatory animals."

The association announced its endorsement of a new program in the Department of Veterinary Science at the University of Idaho for veterinary medical technology, pathology and toxicology.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus appeared before the association to seek its "input" for the Idaho agriculture department.

Andrus said the new commissioner of agriculture, Oscar Arstein, has "got to have your input" to do an effective job for agriculture.

Andrus said he understood that in the past wool growers pulled away from the department and said he understood the reasons for the move.

But now, he said, Idaho has an active agriculture department. He said wool growers are a major part of Idaho's agriculture industry and whatever improves the position of the wool growers improves the position of Idaho.

Officers re-elected by the association included Roscoe J. Rich, Burley, president; Phil Soulen, Weiser, vice-president; John Faulkner, Gooding, director, and members re-appointed J. M. Williams, Boise, as executive secretary.

Officers of the Idaho Sheep Producers Council chosen included Kenneth Westfall, Aberdeen, Chairman, and board members Jay Wrigley, Burley, and Tom Stroschein, Sterling. Williams was chosen secretary of the council and board members re-elected were Guy Carlson, Riggs; Laird Noh, Kimberly, and Faulkner.

Lianne Fullmer, Coeur d'Alene, Miss Wool of North Idaho Junior College, was named Miss Wool of Idaho for 1972. Miss Fullmer, 19, a sophomore, won the Miss Hollywood title in junior miss of California in 1969.

First runnerup was Cathy Garcia, Vacaville, Calif., Miss Wool of the University of Idaho, and second runnerup was Tracy Lyn Bennett, Miss Wool of Boise State College.

Begins job

BOISE (UPI) — James D. Burris, 49, has begun duties as special assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus as part of a two-year assignment from his post as special assistant to the assistant secretary for administration, U. S. Treasury department.

Burris' salary will be paid by the treasury department and the federal regional council in Seattle. He is a 27-year veteran of government service and is in his ninth year with the treasury department.

Burris will serve as a consultant to the budget division for the development of a program budgeting system.

The American Bible Society distributes more than 100 million Bibles and portions of Scripture annually.

Workshop held on land use methods

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives from the Federation of Rocky Mountain States began a two-day workshop in Boise Tuesday on land use projection methods, including means of establishing uniform procedures.

George Nez, Denver, director of land use planning for the federation, told the group land use plans extend beyond state boundaries and noted the federal government often uses regional patterns, such as river basins, when doing its land use work.

"This is not to deny the importance of promoting local plans of community investments and regulations to improve local conditions," his report said.

"However, such local plans cannot simply be added up into a mosaic of the state plan, even if all communities would actually perform local planning for some common target date. There are simply too many factors on resource development."

Glenn Nichols, director, Idaho state planning and community affairs agency, said part of the goal of the workshop is to plan for "some uniformity in land use planning so it can be done on a regional basis so there can be some consistency."

He added, however, "Right now all we're doing is looking." Nichols said Idaho lacks a state agency with control over land use planning. He indicated there is a need for a central agency to exert over-all control of any such program.

Nichols warned the federal government may force states to upgrade land use planning facilities.

He said part of the proposed National Land Use Policy Act is that the federal government will give 90 per cent of the funding to a state agency with such responsibility provided the state agency meets the qualifications.

Loan made to Indians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Commerce notified Idaho Republican Rep. James McClure's office Tuesday it is making $32,550 available to the Nezperce Indians.

The funds will be used for education, job training and counseling programs administered by the Economic Development Administration.

The grant will help pay the cost of training coordinators to recruit adults for enrollment in the Lewis-Clark Vocational-Technical School at Lewiston.

The Nezperce Tribe will provide $14,300 of its own funds toward the program.

82 Idaho road signs removed

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Highway Department removed 82 roadway signs during October as part of the outdoor advertising sign removal program, the highway board of directors was told Tuesday.

Earl Turner, assistant right-of-way chief, told the board permission has been received to remove 115 more signs.

Howard E. Thomason, Sandpoint, board chairman, said the program is being given a high priority to conform to federal and state standards.

The board was also told the highway department is investigating the possibility of installing electronic warning devices at bridges in an effort to end damage caused by overweight trucks.

The highway department, by law, is required to seek reimbursement from the responsible parties.

Vic Richardson, assistant state highway engineer, estimated bridge damage is costing an average of $100,000 each year to repair the damaged structures.

Rites set for former state aide

COTTONWOOD (UPI) — Funeral services are scheduled Thursday for Tony Wessels, former Idaho state representative and longtime Idaho resident who died Monday.

Wessels was stricken by a heart attack while attending St. Mary's Catholic Church here and died a short time later at St. Mary's Hospital at the age of 79.

Born in Hanover, Kan., he came to Idaho in 1915 and farmed near Green Creek about 60 miles south of Lewiston until 1957 when he retired and moved here.

He served in the State House of Representatives from 1955-67.

A rosary is slated Wednesday evening at St. Mary's Church with a funeral mass scheduled Thursday morning at the same church. Wessels is to be buried at Green Creek Cemetery following the services.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, at the family home; two brothers, six sons and three daughters.

Senate candidate sets Burley visits

BURLEY — George Hansen, former Idaho Republican Congressman, has returned to Idaho to reacquaint himself.

Hansen has not made an official announcement of his intention to seek the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho. But he has quit his post with the U. S. Department Agriculture to run for the Senate.

Hansen, who said Tuesday he will be spending most of the rest of this week in the Burley area, said he will make a formal announcement after he gets his campaign organization running. He said he wants to attend the Idaho Farm Bureau convention here to visit informally about "the real concerns of agriculture and rural areas."

The Cassia area visit, Hansen said, is part of a circuit which he will be conducting for a period of time in which he wants to talk to "agriculture, business and political leaders" of the state. Hansen said he will "emphasize a grass roots look-and-listen policy" in which he will try to get a feeling of the "sentiments of the average man or woman on the street." Hansen said "this has always been my prime interest."

Hansen said that while it may be too early for an organized campaign, "I have felt so strongly about the need for rural America to establish a strong support group in the U. S. Senate and other key areas of government, that I want to discuss this and other issues as early as possible."

He feels that by starting on an informal state tour he can lay a "foundation for adequate corrective action" of agricultural problems.

Friendly contest

LIQUIQUE, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro challenged Raul Choque, the world spear-fishing champion, to a friendly contest Tuesday in Cuba. Choque took him up on it.

The bearded premier took a launch from the Cuban tuna ship Jagua, which is based here, to the point where Choque was diving. Castro leaned over the prow of the launch, touched the water, and pronounced it very good for skin-diving, one of his favorite sports.

Supreme Court to hear surveillance complaint

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed Tuesday to consider whether a group of 13 persons and organizations whose public activities were the object of monitoring by Army intelligence may contest in the courts the constitutionality of such a domestic surveillance system.

The court will schedule arguments this term and hand down a written opinion. The government appealed after the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia on April 27, 1971, ordered a lower court to hold hearings on the issue.

Ario Tatum, executive director of the Quaker-sponsored Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors, and 12 other persons and groups filed suit Feb. 17, 1970, claiming the existence of the Army's domestic intelligence system had a "chilling effect" on the First Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The suit, which also sought a court order to destroy all Army records gathered on domestic groups, was dismissed by Federal Judge George A. Hart of the District of Columbia. He refused even to take testimony, saying the Army was only gathering information that is available to news media in the country.

Tatum filed suit backed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) after learning that a computer card prepared for his Army file at Fort Holabird, Md., contained only the information that he once made a speech about legal rights at the University of Oklahoma.

A similar case filed in Chicago was also dismissed.

The District of Columbia appeals court reversed Judge Hart on a 2-1 vote and ordered hearings to determine if the Army's intelligence gathering "does not go beyond that which would be justified by the army's mission."

Specifically, that court ordered a hearing to determine: The exact nature of the surveillance system and the recipients of its information.

What part, if any, of the system was necessary to the Army's statutory mission.

Whether the system had or might have had an inhibiting effect on domestic groups.

What relief might be called for.

The appeals court called for the hearings despite the fact that on March 6, 1970, the secretary of the Army issued a directive limiting such intelligence activities.

It said if the secretary could make such a judgment based on facts within his departmental knowledge, "the United States District Court can hear evidence, ascertain the facts, and decide what, if any, further restrictions on the complained-of activities are called for to confine the military to their legitimate sphere of activity."

Guard units expand

TWIN FALLS — New men are now being accepted in all Magic Valley units of the 116th Armored Cavalry, Idaho National Guard, Col. Samuel K. Magaw said today.

The units have been alerted to take immediate action to carry out the order of Gov. Cecil Andrus that all guard units meet full strength by the end of the year, Col. Magaw said.

In the Magic Valley regiment units are now only 71 men short of this goal, the commanding officer said, adding he is confident by starting now the quota can easily be reached by the end of next month.

National Guard Armories in Magic Valley communities will be open each day and two nights per week until 10 p.m. to assist young men wishing to join the guard units, he said.

Units and their vacancies include Buhl, 11; Gooding, 12; Jerome, 25; Hailey, 3; Rupert, 4; Burley 5, and Twin Falls, 11.

Concert planned Thursday

TWIN FALLS — The fall concert of the Twin Falls High School Music Department will be held in the high school gymnasium, beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday, according to instructors Richard Smack and Del Slaughter.

The first concert of the school year will feature the school concert choir, orchestra and band in a variety of numbers designed to demonstrate the students' skills.

An earlier report indicated the concert was scheduled for the CSI Fine Arts Center. This week's activities at the CSI auditorium include the fall music clinic Friday and Saturday, climaxing with the joint concert Saturday night.

CSI sets cooling course

TWIN FALLS — A course in basic refrigeration will be taught from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday nights at the College of Southern Idaho Vocational School.

The class will be taught for a total of 60 hours. According to Frank Schell, technical and industrial coordinator, registration is limited to those students who already are employed in either of the two trades and who wish to upgrade their education for their profession.

Cost of the refrigeration course is $12 plus books. Registration will be held Nov. 18 at the CSI vocational school on Kimberly Road.

More pets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pets now outnumber people three-to-one in the United States, according to an insurance company survey.

The U.S. pet population is more than 600 million and growing 15 to 18 million pets each year, reports the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Blaming a "small, wilful minority of citizens," Idaho Atty. Gen. W. Anthony (Tony) Park said Monday the State of Idaho will file suit against "one or more" communities, charging failure to meet state waste disposal standards.

Park told the Times-News in an exclusive interview that legal action is contemplated "before the end of the year" in an attempt to force a number of communities to construct and operate waste-treatment facilities in line with state law. Park said the communities themselves are not as much to blame as the "small, wilful minority of thoughtless citizens" who have repeatedly voted against community bond issues in sufficient numbers to kill the issues under the Idaho law requiring a two-thirds majority vote.

Under this law, Park explained, a minority of third of the voters has the power to overcome the two-thirds majority in a bond vote, giving the minority voters twice the voting power of the majority.

"We feel that a long, hard look will have to be taken at the Idaho law requiring a two-thirds majority," Park said. "The constitution may well have to be amended to change the required vote to a simple majority."

The attorney general said "We can't force the communities to build them. We can only punish them if they don't build the facilities." The state action, he said, cannot raise the funds needed or insure passage of a bond issue to build a treatment plant. Park said he could not name the communities at this stage, since it has not been decided if the suit will single out one community in Idaho for "exemplary action," or if a number of communities will be named as defendants in a joint lawsuit.

The southeastern Idaho community of Paris has been suggested as one of the worst offenders in failing to meet state standards. Park agreed that the community is "certainly one of the worst," but could not say if Paris would be named as a defendant.

Nixon policy assailed

POLICIES of President Nixon have put America in trouble economically and created an uncertain future in foreign affairs for the nation, AFL-CIO president George Meany said in report to labor federation convention at Miami Beach, Fla. "The economy is in a state of uncertainty," Meany said. (UPI)

'Honesty' policy set

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Examiners agreed in principle Tuesday to make state employees "honest" by allowing them their full per diem and not make them itemize meals eaten on the road. Auditor Joe R. Williams brought the problem to the board, saying he felt it would be better to allow the employees the flat $6 in-state and $7.50 out-of-state per diem permitted by law. Not only would this save his staff time in checking out the paper work, he said, but the "breakdowns are not true anyway." "This would eliminate a lot of work in our office and make everybody honest," he said, smiling.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa — the only board members present for the meeting — agreed with Williams. But they said they did not believe it would take formal action by the board.

Meantime, the board served notice on the Health Department and other state agencies it will approve on a one-shot basis state purchase of college textbooks for three state employees — but this time only. Future such requests, the board said, will be turned down.

Board members made it clear they were approving the textbook purchases in these three cases only because the employees had been promised by their Health Department bosses the state would pay for the books.

Dr. John Mather told the board he had encouraged some of his employees to further their education at Boise State College at night and that they therefore had put in for textbook costs. The state sometimes approves tuition and fee payments for employees when the education they receive is of benefit to the state in their jobs.

However, the board felt it should not be in the position of approving purchase of personal property such as textbooks for the employees.

Board members held up until Attorney General W. Anthony Park returns the question of whether to pay Dr. John Marks, new commissioner of public assistance, $2,836 in terminal leave from his former post with the Health Department.

When Andrus named Marks to the new job — one filled at the discretion of the governor — Dr. Marks resigned from his classified position in the Health Department.

In question was whether the state could pay him for his accrued leave from one department and a regular salary from another at the same time.

"He's an appointee of mine," Andrus said. "I would hate to take action on it."

He and Cenarrusa therefore decided to wait until Park, the third member of the three-member board, returns.

Following an attorney general's opinion outlining the separation of powers between the three branches of state government, the board shied away from the question of whether it should approve pay raises for magistrates in the Second Judicial District.

Williams said he would ask the Supreme Court to give him a ruling from the International Revenue Service on whether the raises are lawful under Phase Two of the President's economic plan.

"If they are right I'll pay them," Williams said.

Originally proposed last April, the raises were held up by disapproval by the acting director of administrative services. Later, the attorney general held that official had no constitutional authority to block raises proposed by another branch of government.

In other action, the Board of Examiners:

— Approved purchase for $9,000 of 128.2 acres sought by the Fish and Game Department in Kootenai County.

— Okayed proposed purchase of 1960.39 acres along the Snake River in Nez Perce County for the Craig Mountain wildlife management area. Harold Gaiser has offered to sell the land for $80,000.

— Authorized the Public Utilities Commission to employ Gary Lee Montgomery, a Boise lawyer, as a consultant during December. In January he will join the PUC staff as an attorney — replacing Larry Ripley who has resigned to enter private practice.

A thought for today: Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "The life of the law has not been logic; it has been experience."

Canning idea started with contest

CHICAGO (UPI)—The idea of canning food originated in France and came about because of a contest.

In 1795, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, the French government was having a revolution at home and a war with several European nations. Consequently, there was an acute need of food supplies for the military.

The government offered a prize of 12,000 francs for the discovery of a practical method of food preservation. The prize was not won until 1809 when Nicholas Appert, a Parisian confectioner, displayed an assortment of food preserved in glass bottles.

Appert's method was to put the bottled food in boiling water for varying lengths of time.

Mardi Gras planned

KING HILL — Final plans for Mardi Gras were made at the meeting this past week of the Adult Scouters.

Mrs. Thomas Hart reported on training for Cadette level Scouting at Mountain Home Air Force Base.

Reports were given on bicycle trips by troops 58 and 28 and a Brownie troop nature walk and investiture. A report of a bicycle safety talk given by State Patrolman Pat McDonald to Junior Troop 58 was heard.

Mrs. Eldon Allen will soon be starting a Red Cross first aid course. Scouters interested in getting a first aid card, or renewing their old one, may join the class.

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the letter from the bachelor who refused the request of his best friend and the friend's wife who asked him to attempt to impregnate her. It seems to me that the bachelor was inordinately selfish, as is true of most bachelors.

Should the bachelor have agreed, the attempt might have resulted in a conception and birth, making at least three people happy, the husband, the wife, and the offspring. Respectfully, A LOUISVILLE M. D.

DEAR M. D.: Surely, you jest! The possibilities of multiple regrets in such a bizarre arrangement are endless. Man is not like the May fly, whose only purpose in life is to propagate, and having performed that function once, he drops dead.

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't use names or locations, so I'll be perfectly candid. I am in my late 30's and divorced. No children. I am very well off financially because of my divorce settlement. My husband wanted the divorce, not I. [Another woman I loved and trusted him and was disillusioned and hurt when he told me

A few months ago I renewed my acquaintance with a handsome, charming gentleman. Gary [not his real name] is intelligent, sensitive, kind and warm. He is talented and self-supporting, and I love being with him. We've talked of marriage and I am considering it.

Now the problem. Gary is a homosexual, which I knew all along. He is satisfying in every way, and I am not jealous of his male friends. I was so deeply hurt by my husband, I never want that kind of love again. Give me your honest opinion of marriage between Gary and me.

CONSIDERING IT

DEAR CONSIDERING: I have often said, "All that is necessary for a marriage to succeed is that the two people really need each other."

Be sure you and Gary "need" each other for reasons that will endure. It is possible that you were so deeply hurt by a husband who replaced you with another woman that you'd feel more secure in a marriage which is not likely to be threatened by another woman. Enjoy Gary's company for the time being, but don't marry him unless you are sure of your own motivations.

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged. My fiance lives with his widowed mother and wants to continue to after we are married. He says his mother will let me take over the house completely, and that we wouldn't be living with HER—she would be living with US!

Furthermore, he says if we don't live with his mother, she will have to sell her house and live in an apartment because she won't be able to run the house on her check alone. Besides that, he has already bought his mother a washer, dryer, television, etc. and he doesn't want to have to buy these things twice.

Abby, I don't think it is possible for me to live in her home and "take it over" with her living there, too. It would still be HER house, and I can't see starting married life with my husband's mother living with us. [Or us with her, however you want to look at it.] Maybe your readers have had experience with this type of set-up. Does it ever work? What do you think? CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I am sure it has worked for many. But with very few who have the doubts you express. Tell your fiance exactly how you feel.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to, ABBY, Box 67700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90066. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Nader, aides seen wrecking enterprise system

WASHINGTON (UPI)—General Motors Chairman James M. Roche, head of the corporation most often lashed by Ralph Nader, believes the free enterprise system could be destroyed by the lanky consumer advocate and his followers. "Their ultimate aim is to alienate the American consumer from business, to tear down long-established relationships which have served both so well," Roche told a Chicago audience last March.

Nader didn't find instant allies for his consumer crusade in the press. He tried to interest newspapers in his auto safety crusade several years ago but reporters said they couldn't quote him because he was unknown.

Then, in January, 1965, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., ordered his Senate subcommittee on Government Reorganization to investigate auto safety. Nader, who was writing his muckraking book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," helped set up the hearings and testified in February, 1966.

The real bombshell came after an appearance when he told reporters his personal life was being investigated, presumably by the automakers. Ribicoff promptly ordered an investigation of whether congressional witnesses were being intimidated; a federal offense.

On March 9, General Motors acknowledged it had hired detectives to check up on Nader and promised to call them off. Two weeks later, Roche appeared before the subcommittee to apologize, saying the inquiry had been instigated by other GM officials and he was not aware of it. That was Nader's key to the news media.

"A business can be wiped out by a news story," said the FTC's Pitofsky. "The fear of this makes everybody careful not to be vulnerable to a Nader attack: They all pull in a bit."

Critics of Nader believe the press accepts his statements too uncritically.

"The press ought to do some checking," says FDA Commissioner Edwards. "It's one thing to use Nader's statements, but I'm still looking for the story that says: 'on further investigation, however, it was learned that Nader was wrong.'"

Nader's enterprises spent about $500,000 during fiscal year ended last September and expect to spend $600,000 in the current 12 months.

Nader raises $125,000 a year from lecturing and writing. The rest comes from contributions from foundation and private sources. He also got $425,000—minus $280,000 in lawyer's fees—from General Motors stemming from an invasion of privacy suit filed after Nader found detectives on his trail.

HIS TRAIL.

According to the National figures Nader projects during the past year or so received $100,000 from the Midas International Foundation, $49,000 from the Stern Fund, $25,000 from the Norman Foundation, $20,000 from the Jerome Levy Foundation, $15,000 from the Public Welfare Foundation, $9,500

Nader is moving this year to broaden his financial base. He established a fund-raising corporation, Public Citizen, Inc.

National Journal said the first mailing went to 200,000 people and brought in more than $100,000. The cost was $22,000. Nader hopes to net $1 million with a follow-up mailing to 1 million people.

Has Nader spread himself too thin? "He's franchised himself out like a fried chicken stand," said Chairman Walter B. Wriston of New York's First National City Bank. "Like any corporation, he has a problem of quality control." Wriston's bank was the subject of a critical study by 16 "raiders." Others also have questioned whether Nader's technique can be transferred to more and more underlings engaged in more and more projects.

Understandably, those who think Nader is spread too thin and predict his decline tend largely to be people who have no sympathy with his activities.

Rep. Chet Holifield, the California Democrat, who tangled with Nader on creation of a consumer advocacy agency within the federal government, says flatly that "Ralph Nader has reached his zenith in effectiveness and is on the downhill grade."

"He's relying on immature and inexperienced assistants who—however zealous—fail to get or understand all the facts," Holifield said in an interview. Nader calls such charges "ridiculous" on two counts. First, he stresses that the consumer movement is not just Ralph Nader but many people working on many projects. The proliferation is that of the public, not just Ralph Nader, he says.

Second, he defends the accuracy of his raiders. "I read and edit every report closely," he said. "Every one is sent back repeatedly for corrections. I insist that every statement be backed up and verified. The reports are amazingly accurate, very few errors."

Although Nader's targets often criticize his accuracy, he has yet to be sued for libel or slander.

A congressional aide who worked with Nader on the auto safety bill five years ago said the charges against Nader have a familiar ring.

"When Ralph started jumping into other issues in 1967, after the auto bill passed, people said he was over the hill, spreading himself too thin," the aide recalled. "They said he should go back to autos, the only thing he knew anything about."

Valley study hints 'era of migrants'

BOISE — A study of graduates of 10 Magic Valley high schools has led an Idaho professor to predict a "new generation of migrants" into the state.

The new in-migration, he believes, may come from the high value the graduates place on features linked with the state's low population density.

According to LaMar Bollinger, head of the economics department at the College of Idaho, the new in-migration could reverse a decades-old net out-migration of the state's residents.

"Low population density, long an economic and political liability to Idaho, has become the number one advantage of this state," Bollinger said.

His conclusions were drawn from a 20 per cent poll of high school graduates of Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln and Camas counties. Graduates from 1957 to 1966 were included.

Only four per cent of the 538 respondents failed to state the values regarded most advantageous. The respondents showed a strong preference for low population density with its attendant advantages as the "number one criteria for evaluating the livability of a geographic region," Bollinger said.

On the other hand, disadvantages associated with low population — low pay scales and lack of professional job opportunities — were judged important by the graduates.

Bollinger linked the graduates' preference for sparsely populated areas with recent estimates of new population increases in the state.

A July 1 report by the U. S. Census Bureau estimated the Idaho population to have increased by 15,000 over the previous year. The rate of gain was up sharply from the 4,800 per year average gain during the decade of the 1960s, Bollinger said.

Excess of births over deaths accounted for only about 8,000 of the gain, leaving a net in-migration of about 7,000 during the year.

According to Bollinger, the figures indicate that the "thirty-year drought of out-migration" has been reversed.

Bollinger said that current economic conditions "undoubtedly" are partially responsible for the reversal of migration.

But, Bollinger said, his survey "signifies" a recent fundamental shift in personal values of the American people. "The shift," he said, "may portend a whole new array of problems for Idaho as it copes with a new generation of migrants."

Bollinger said that the group of respondents to his survey questions was in a "unique position" to assess the strengths and weaknesses of the quality of life in Idaho for several reasons:

Eighty-one per cent of the respondents were born in Idaho and all of them graduated from Valley High schools. They shared a common economic, social and geographic background in Idaho.

After graduation, 85 per cent of the respondents took some form of advanced education. Of these, 68 per cent stayed in Idaho for their advanced education — ranging from trade school short courses to doctorate degrees.

After its advanced education, the group split roughly in half, with one group remaining in Idaho and the other migrating elsewhere.

Of the respondents, 293 remained in the state, while 254 moved elsewhere.

Bollinger said that the "especially interesting finding" was that those who left the state viewed the state's advantages very similarly to those who remained.

But twice as many out-of-state graduates as in-state graduates found Idaho's "relaxed atmosphere" an advantage.

Out of state graduates tended to protest lack of job opportunities in their home towns, while in-state graduates tended to stress the low pay scales for the jobs they had found in-state.

State employes plan no request

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — The Idaho State Employees Association will not bring any major requests to the state legislature this year, the group's executive director said here Tuesday night.

Bob Stille, Boise, addressed a dinner meeting of the Magic Valley chapter of the organization at Wood Cafe. He said there will be requests for two minor changes — one upgrading the present insurance programs, specifying health insurance as one needing change, and asking for an increase in the travel expense for state employes.

Stille said the association is asking that the $6 per day for meals while employes are traveling within Idaho be increased, as well as the $7.50 for meals while out of state travel, which he said, is "absolutely impossible."

The official told the Magic Valley members that a request has been submitted to the President's Phase II pay board and an answer is expected within a few days on the status of state employes' pay raises which have held up during the wage price freeze.

He said he foresees no problem in having the raises approved as they are not a cost of living increase but rather a prevailing rate increase to try to keep qualified state employes working within the state. Even if the increase is approved, state employes still will be five to 10 per cent below the prevailing rates paid employes in surrounding states, he said.

Gov. Cecil Andrus' office told the Times-News today no directives had been received from the pay board on the request about the status of state employes pay increases. All state employes will be held at the 5.5 per cent fiscal year increase until further notice.

Officials in the governor's office said no decision has been reached on the state level implementation of the 5.5 per cent increase and no action will be taken until a directive is received from the pay board.

End dispute

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council resolved the utilities dispute with the Union Pacific Railroad Tuesday night by agreeing to charge the company a flat rate of $4.50 monthly sewer charge, for three bathrooms.

United Fund day brings $1,315

TWIN FALLS — The final one-day wrap-up drive for the 1971 United Fund campaign Tuesday brought in $1,315 in cash donations, bringing the total in cash and pledges to $75,135.05 according to Executive Director Darl Glead.

"We still have a number of cards and pledges to come in from companies which we solicit by mail and from a few other people, so we anticipate additional pledges will raise the final total to about $84,000 to $85,000," Glead said today.

On a day-to-day basis, the 1971 total is "about $2,000 ahead of where we were last year at this time," Glead said. The announced goal of $112,000 is admittedly out of consideration, however, Glead said. The UF volunteer staff will now be pleased merely to exceed the 1970 total collections of "just over $80,000." The United Fund budgetary committee will allocate the donations to the member agencies on a fair-share basis, appropriating a percentage of each agency's requests on the basis of the percentage of collections to the original goal. Each agency should receive slightly more than it did following the 1970 campaign, Glead said.

Glead commended all the volunteers and campaign workers, from Campaign Chairman Jim Sinclair to the many volunteers who worked to collect their assigned pledges and donations.

"We could not have even come close to last year's total without the help of all the volunteer workers. My hat is certainly off to all our helpers," Glead said.

Pilot project at CSI draws praise

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A pilot project believed to be the only one of its kind in the nation is providing employment for two senior citizens who are assisting students at the College of Southern Idaho vocational school, according to Ray Pruett.

Pruett, director of the South-Central Community Action Agency's Senior Citizens Agency, told CAA tri-county board members Tuesday night the two senior citizens, employed under a state grant, are serving as teachers' aides, for vocational instructors at CSI. The two are "working out well," Pruett said.

The program envisions a corps of at least 16 senior citizens working with vocational classes, dividing their time equally between working with the instructor, working with individual students in the classroom situation and "helping" the teachers oversee the program," Pruett said.

Initially, funds to employ the senior citizens were to have been provided by the Idaho Office on Aging, but legal complications interfered and for a time the program appeared to be unworkable. However, "other funds" have been obtained, and the program has been initiated," Pruett said.

Vocational school director Orval Bradley has expressed enthusiasm for the senior citizens' program, working with the CAA personnel to work out details. The Senior Citizens Agency has applied for "mainstream" funds, including CSI budget funds, for 16 senior citizens "slots," Pruett told the board. Pruett also said two Magic Valley delegates, Mrs. Edna Bell Oslund, Twin Falls, and Manuel Lopez, Burley, will attend the White House Conference on Aging, scheduled in Washington, D. C. from Nov. 29 to Dec. 5. They will leave the Twin Falls airport on Nov. 28 to fly to Washington.

Sun Valley eyes project

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

SUN VALLEY — Recommendations that the city of Sun Valley assume responsibility by 1973 for "certain roads and facilities presently maintained by the Sun Valley Co. are currently before the City Council.

The proposals were submitted jointly to the council Monday by City Clerk-Treasurer Robert Ackerman and two representatives of the Sun Valley Co., Phillip Conger and Clayton Stewaft.

Ackerman told the Times-News Tuesday "Due to the city's rapid expansion and increased tax base, both the city and the company feel that Sun Valley is able to take over the functions currently provided by the company at its own cost."

He said the proposals are tentative and subject to review and discussion by the council. The three-man committee recommended that the Sun Valley Co. make a study this winter of land to be donated to the city and the Sun Valley

Water and Sewer District. The land would be made available to the city by May 1, 1973, and would be used for administrative offices and housing for equipment and supplies.

"The sooner this can be accomplished," the committee said, "the sooner these municipal entities will be able to assume their responsibilities."

Other proposals included the present company-owned fire truck be donated to the city and be housed by the Sun Valley Co. until the city could obtain the necessary facilities. The city would take over fire fighting responsibilities as soon as possible.

Ackerman said Tuesday the city police department will assume official responsibility by Feb. 2, 1972.

The committee report also proposed that certain roads, including the Saddle Road to the Big Wood Development and the Trail Creek No. 2, Prospector Wells, Prospector Knolls and Prospector Subdivision roads, be dedicated to the public.

Reciprocal use of facilities okayed

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council Tuesday night gave Mayor O. Wendell Johnson discretion in reaching an agreement for the reciprocal use of facilities by the Mindoka School District and the city.

The action by the council brought the school district and the city one step closer to a working agreement which would allow nearly free use of both school and city buildings.

The school board had granted School Supt. Darrell J. Hatfield similar discretion at a meeting last week.

The basis for agreement was worked out in a series of meetings by Dr. Hatfield and Terry Duffin, city director of parks and recreation. City and school board attorneys were asked to reach final agreement on the wording of the pact.

The trustees voted to approve the offer. The conference will convene Friday in Boise, concentrating on problems of housing for minority groups, low-income persons and others including students. While the tri-county board was meeting in the CAA headquarters located in the former St. Edward's School building, two representatives of the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare, Region 10, Seattle, met with the Head Start, Parents' Council and Norman McIntosh, Twin Falls Head Start director, to review budgets and funding for the coming year.

The Seattle representatives included Don Yearout, field representative for the Office of Child Development, a division of HEW, and Frank Jones, an "early childhood" specialist for the OED. No action was taken or required by McIntosh or the HEW spokesmen, as the session was principally designed to study needs and expenses.

Jerome Annexes property sought by school board

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — Annexation of property being sought by the Jerome School District was approved by the Jerome City Council Tuesday.

Councilmen told School Supt. John Campbell they would agree to annex lands southeast of Jerome being considered as the site of a new school.

Campbell told the council the school board has an option to purchase a tract of property owned by Harold Gray and has options pending on other properties in that area. In order to annex the Gray property, however, it will be necessary to bring in the land property owned by Mrs. Susan Leonard.

Campbell said the school board will meet tonight to decide what land it will annex so plans for either a new high school or a new grade school can continue.

The annexation is sought to obtain water and sewer service for the school. In other business, the council approved purchase of a new sludge pump for the sewage plant for $1,246.

City Atty. Richard Seely told the council no agreement has been reached in negotiations between the city and Idaho Video Cable Television Co. At the last council meeting, the firm asked for permission to place an antenna on a water tower in the east part of Jerome. The council awarded a contract for spraying alleys to eliminate weeds for a period of three years to Terminix, Inc., Twin Falls. The contract is for $2,364.

The salaries of Fire Chief Lynn Bingham and city employes Bill Taylor, Raymond Bartlett and Gib Anderson will be raised $25 per month, the council ruled.

Search for 2 suspects continues

JEROME — The search for two suspects in the knife-point robbery of Towle's Motel continued today, Police Chief C. H. Puntney said.

About $200 was taken in the robbery early Tuesday.

Puntney said three men picked up at a roadblock shortly after the robbery have been cleared of suspicion in connection with the holdup but one is being held for military police.

LeRoy Jacob Smith, 30, Charleston, S. C., is reportedly absent without leave from the Army. Two juveniles with Smith were released. The car driven by Smith was reportedly stolen in California, but had been taken by him in lieu of money owed him by the owner of the car, Puntney said.

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council Tuesday night introduced, read and passed a city ordinance regulating the sale of wine in the city.

The council then granted six wine distributor's licenses to local merchants.

Licenses for the balance of 1971 were granted to B and B Market, Safeway, Jerry's Market, Reed's Market, Bandy's Market and Clover Farm. The Mindoka County board of commissioners last week approved the sale of wine in grocery stores. The city licenses will become effective when the merchants have gained approval of the state and county and when the city has legally advertised its ordinance.

The council also adopted City Ordinance 521 placing restrictions on the gathering of large numbers of people within the city limits for extended periods of time. The bill was introduced last fall by Councilman William F. Whitton in the wake of a protracted Blaine County legal hassle centering around the Wood River Rock Festival. The bill passed Tuesday night by a unanimous rollcall vote.

In other business at its meeting the council:

Ratified a new agreement between the city and all future subdivision contractors.

Turned down a request for what amounted to a 14-year extension on leasing of city property.

Agreed to install utility wiring for a new cemetery maintenance building, only if the money were recovered in full through utility charges to the Mindoka-Acequia Rupert Cemetery District.

Approved in-step raises for two city employes.

Approved the purchase of $350 worth of fire fighting clothing. Called for bids for a new municipal garbage truck. Gave approval for the city to hire a new journeyman lineman for the electrical department.

The new builders agreement which comes following disputes between the city and the American Pacific Corporation, developer of the Sharron Heights Subdivision, stipulates that the responsibility for providing hookups to city utility services rests with the contractor. The agreement stops short, however, of requiring the posting of a performance bond by the contractor, a measure that had been discussed by the council.

Saxvik addresses Farm Bureau meet

BURLEY — State Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, welcomed delegates to the 32nd annual Idaho Farm Bureau convention today.

Saxvik emphasized the importance of agriculture to the Idaho economy in his talk.

Delegates began a three-day convention at the Ponderosa Inn with a morning work session. Other speakers scheduled today are State Sen. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle; Warren Newberry, field services director of the American Farm Bureau Federation and Roger Fleming, director of the Farm Bureau Washington office.

Tuesday evening, Bill Field, Grand View, was named winner of the state discussion contest. He qualified to compete in the national contest in Chicago in December, speaking on farm labor problems.

Tiger day at Jerome

JEROME — Jerome Mayor J.A. (Jack) Russell, in full agreement with City Council members, has proclaimed today as "Tiger Football Day," in honor of Jerome's unbeaten high school varsity squad.

Players, coaches and managers were special guests of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce at its lunch meeting at Wood Cafe today.

Mayor Russell made the proclamation at the City Council meeting Tuesday night. He said "the community is very proud of the accomplishment of these fine young men in achieving an exceptional record during the 1971 season."

Air pollution index 162

The pollution reading was taken by the staff at the South-Central Health District of the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24 hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Forecast
Today: Excellent
Tonight: Poor
Tomorrow: Excellent

The forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health was based on a study of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is so dirty, unable to disperse air pollutants.

Collector system recommended in TF

A landfill such as the new Twin Falls city facility should be able to handle as much as 75,000 tons without stress. Nationally, he said, landfills are operating at about 50,000 tons of waste per year as an average.

He said he believes the same number of employes and the same equipment could handle a more concentrated operation.

Fasolino said he knows of no other county with a collector system such as he is proposing in Twin Falls County, but said Salt Lake City follows a similar method.

Each hopper site, he said, would require about an acre of ground. A large metal hopper or bin would be installed with a ramp for vehicles to dump trash into the top portion. A loading area for the compressor trucks would be built below the ramp at the base of the bins. Each site would be landscaped and fenced and a "butler" type cover would keep solid waste inside the large hopper until the compressor truck removed it.

W. L. (Bill) Chancey, county commission chairman, said he is pleased with the initial report and feels it may be a very feasible in the county.

State law allows a full two-mill levy but the county is not presently budgeting this amount, he said. One mill under the present county's assessed valuation brings in about $58,000 per year.

City Manager Jean Milar said he feels the recommendations of the consultant have a great deal of merit and not only would bring the county up to standard in solid waste control but could well benefit the city of Twin Falls by a more efficient landfill operation because of a higher capacity system.

For the city, he said, it would involve some additional equipment and a few technical changes only. It costs about $30,000 per year to operate the Twin Falls City landfill, Milar said.

State laws are becoming more restrictive as to solid

Amende again heads grange

ALBION — Walter Amende is again master of the Albion Grange. He served as the first master when the group was formed many years ago.

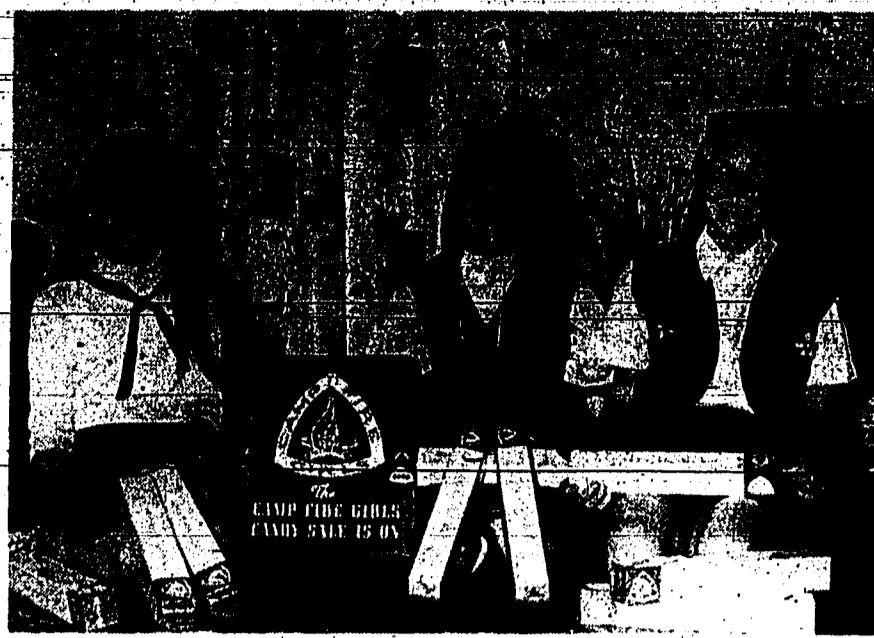

Officers installed at the last meeting included, in addition to Amende, Jon Fillmore, overseer; Mrs. Tom Chatburn, lecturer; Julius Goettsche, steward; Mark Bowlden, assistant steward; Mrs. Zella Chatburn, chaplain; Mrs. Zalona Mahoney, treasurer; Mrs. Keith Amende, secretary; Bill Chatburn, gatekeeper; Mrs. Jon Fillmore, ceres; Mrs. Alma Bidgood, flora; Mrs. Mark Bowlden, lady assistant steward; Mrs. Dick Anderson, Keith Amende and J. Vard Chatburn, executive committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Bergener, Oakley, former members of the Burley Grange, were received as members in the Albion Grange.

It was announced that the Albion youth scrapbook placed first in the district competition at the State Grange session. Jim Chatburn, youth committee chairman, reported the 4-H Greenhorns Club conducted the Red-Cross Drive in Albion.

Members voted to hold a turkey and ham shoot starting at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 21 behind the grange hall. Refreshments will be sold by the women's activities committee in the grange hall.

A report on the State Grange Session held recently at Ponderosa Inn was given by members who attended.

Candy sales set

BURLEY — The Cassia County Camp Fire Girls Council will begin the annual candy sale Nov. 20-30, announces Pat Underwood, candy sale chairman.

Proceeds from this annual candy sale are used for the support of group activities and local council expenses. The candy sale, along with nuts sold at fair time, are the only fund raising events of the Cassia County Camp Fire Council, she said.

The Camp Fire Girls movement, started in 1910 by Dr. and Mrs. Culick, has grown each year to become one of the largest youth organizations for girls in the United States. The law of the Camp Fire Girls is to "worship God, seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work and to be happy."

Camp Fire is for girls age 6 through 18 years.

Now that the candy sale is about to begin, Mrs. Underwood expressed the hope that the entire community will support the project and that each home will buy at least one box from the girls in red, white and blue.

Governor proclaims duck week

BOISE (UPI) — It's Ducks Unlimited week in Idaho by proclamation of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

The governor said Monday the international conservation organization of Ducks Unlimited was conducting a campaign to increase the awareness of the state's citizens to the plight of ducks.

Andrus urged all citizens to become involved in helping to protect Idaho's ducks and geese as a valuable natural resource.

Historical society sets special program Friday

BURLEY — The Cassia County Historical Society will have a special program in honor of its first anniversary Friday at the Ponderosa Inn.

Featured speaker at 8 p.m. will be Prof. Earl H. Swanson Jr., Pocatello, head of the anthropology department and director of the museum at Idaho State University.

He is an educator, anthropologist, archaeologist, world traveler, lecturer, historian and museum director. He has been associated with the university since September, 1957.

Bureau of Land Management, National Parks Service, Smithsonian Institution and the U.S. Forest Service.

As a university professor at ISU he developed the B.A. and M.A. degree program in anthropology at the university.

Professor Swanson's writings on scientific and historical subjects have appeared in various educational publications in the United States and abroad.

As a lecturer he has been in demand in many foreign countries throughout the world.

He lectured on archaeology at the University of London in fall of 1970. During the same tour Prof. Swanson was the featured speaker on the same subject at Copenhagen.

On invitation by the Russian government he spent considerable time studying the archaeological collections of that country at the University of Leningrad.

A no-host dinner is planned for 8:30 p.m. which is optional, and will be followed by the program at 8 p.m., according to George Warrall Sr., program chairman. There is no charge for the program.

Reservations for the dinner may be made by phoning Al Dawson, historical society president, at 878-9240 by Nov. 17.

Three directors will be elected. Terms are expiring for Bennie Chatburn, Albion; Mrs.

BPW foundation outlined at Rupert

RUPERT — The Business and Professional Women's Clubs Foundation was explained to the Rupert BPW club during a dinner meeting at the Rupert Elks Lodge.

Mrs. Mary Grace Cox, Jerome, past state chairman and Foundation chairman, showed slides and told the "Foundation Story of Business and Professional Women."

"The BPW's foundation is the only research and educational organization devoted exclusively to working women. Its many areas of service include research, publications, library, scholarships, training conferences, and historical collections, all of which concern business and professional women," she said.

Established on Feb. 27, 1956, by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., the foundation was granted a federal tax exemption in 1959. The Research and library center at the national executive offices in Washington, D. C. was created by federation members as their gift to the nation.

A gift to the foundation is included in each BPW member's annual dues as continued support.

Rosalie Pierce, foundation chairman, introduced Mrs. Cox. Club reports were given by Mrs. Irene Whitton and Mrs. Shirley Porter. Mrs. Dixie Walker displayed the Santa Claus which the club is using for its scholarship donations. The Santa will be displayed in Shirley's Beauty Salon and at the Lemmon Tree.

It was announced that magazines are being collected for the Indians at the Blackfoot Reservation as a club project.

It was reported the mid-winter board meeting was held recently in Boise and Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Melba Seal, Mrs. Elizabeth Greene, all Rupert, and Mrs. Beth Jones, Burley, attended.

Mrs. Dora Rue, President of the Jerome Business and Professional Women's Club, also was a guest.

Reports given at Cassia DUP meet

BURLEY — Reports were given during a meeting of the Cassia County Daughters of the Utah Pioneers Monday at the Burley Public Library.

Mrs. Blaine Curtis, new president, conducted the afternoon session. Other officers assuming their offices for the new term were Mrs. Shirley Thompson, vice president, and Mrs. Ellen Larsen, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Curtis reported on the DUP Convention she attended in Salt Lake City. Members are asked to donate $2 each toward building a carriage house.

The carriage house was started as a memorial by Mrs. Saramarie J. VanDyke who left $194,000 for the fund. The house will be constructed at the DUP museum site in Salt Lake City. Donations of $25 or more will receive certificates.

Items to be housed in the proposed building are the wagon in which Brigham Young crossed the plains, a stagecoach, handcar, and manikins wearing authentic attire of the pioneer period.

A lesson on the "First Primary" relating to the religious auxiliary of the LDS Church was given by Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Curtis gave the history of her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Smith Ingram.

Youth services studied

BOISE (UPI) — Services available in Idaho to delinquent and non-delinquent youth will be further studied before recommendations for changes are made by the Interdepartmental Committee on Children and Youth.

A member of the committee, Roy Haney, said the group accepted a report Monday on problems involved but decided to name a task force to work up recommendations.

The report noted confusion resulting from limited communication among agencies involved in the area, which it said resulted in duplication of some services.

The report was directed by Dr. Kay Dea, professor at the University of Utah.

One ragweed plant can pollute the air with 5 to 8 billion grains of pollen.

Harvest of Idaho crops is slowed by wet weather

TWIN FALLS — Harvest of Idaho crops was slowed by wet weather in October, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Record low temperatures Oct. 29 caused loss of some potatoes and curtailed stockpiling of sugar beets in some areas.

The 1971 potato crop is forecast at 75.85 million hundredweight, a decline of 305,000 hundredweight from the Oct. 1 estimate, but 1.19 million hundredweight above 1970 production. Acreage for harvest is now estimated at 319,000 acres, 10,000 less than planted this year.

Yield is estimated at 230 hundredweight per acre, up 5 hundredweight from the Oct. 1 forecast and 10 sacks above the 1970 outputs.

Idaho's sugar beet production is placed at 3.135 billion tons, up one per cent from last year. By the end of October, beet harvest ranged from 70 per cent complete in the southwest to 85 per cent complete in Magic Valley and eastern Idaho.

Temperatures dropped to about 10 degrees on Oct. 29, curtailing digging. However, favorable conditions prevailed in early November and digging is nearing completion in most areas. Nationally, sugar beet production is up 1 per cent from 1970, but down 5 per cent from 1969.

Commercial dry bean production is set at 1.98 million hundredweight, unchanged from last month's report. Quality is reported to be excellent in most areas.

The Idaho corn for grain crop is estimated at 2.85 bushels, up about 500,000 from 1970.

Prospective production of feed grains including corn, oats, barley and sorghum, increased 2 per cent during October to 208 million tons nationally. This is 29 per cent more than last year and the largest crop on record.

Feed nitrate in small portions

SHOSHONE — Feeding nitrate rations in smaller portions is a prudent way of avoiding nitrate poisoning in dairy cattle," Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln County Extension agent, said today.

In quoting George Cleveland from the University of Idaho, a dairy specialist, Hopkins said "for example, rather than feeding 40 pounds of high-nitrate silage at one time, feed 10 pounds four times a day."

There have been some suspected cases of nitrate poisoning in Idaho. Symptoms are staggering gait, tremors, blue coloration of mucous membranes, labored breathing and marked dilation of eyes.

Cleveland relayed suggestions on the problem by the University of Wisconsin. "Whether nitrate is at a safe or toxic level, depends on such factors as daily intake of nitrate, previous adaptation of the animal, feeding practices, nutritional quality of the ration and general health of the animal. Total nitrate intake is a more critical than the amount in any single feed in the ration. A dangerous level in the total ration could be perfectly safe if only half as much were fed."

"The nitrate content of suspicious feeds should be determined and the amount of questionable feed should be limited. Forages are the most common source of excess nitrates, but one should be aware of the possibility of nitrate in drinking water.

"Questionable feed should be started in a small amount and increased slowly for a week. Excess nitrate is used in the body and if fed slowly, the animal can utilize it without harm.

"Feed a well-balanced ration to cows so they maintain a good quantity of micro-organisms in the rumen. Proper function of the rumen is needed for use of nitrogen."

"Nitrate tests will show the amount of nitrate-nitrogen in the feed in terms of parts per million. If the figure is under 1000 parts per million, the feed is assumed safe. If it is between 1000 and 2000 parts, it might be considered generally safe if fed in a balanced ration. The test is between 2000 and 4000 parts per million, it is wise to limit feed to one-half total dry ration."

NFO attacks Nixon's choice

CORNING, Iowa — The National Farm Organization stepped up its attack Monday against Earl L. Butz, president Nixon's choice to take over as secretary of agriculture.

In a telegram sent to the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Orrin Lee Staley, NFO president, requested a chance to testify before the committee against Butz.

Staley cabled Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Georgia, committee chairman, that if Butz were confirmed he would "throw government support toward a policy of liquidating all but 600,000 farmers, hundreds of thousands of rural community businesses and thousands of our small towns."

Late last week Staley attacked Butz' appointment by President Nixon, claiming the secretary is regarded by many as "a symbol of the betrayal of agriculture by some of its educational institutions to its giant corporate interests, including supply manufacturers, the commodity handlers, the conglomerates and such integrators as Ralston-Purina."

Butz was named last week to replace Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin who resigned to accept a job with Ralston-Purina. Butz had previously served in the department during President Eisenhower's term under Ezra Taft Benson.

National Grange holds 105th annual session

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — The National Grange, in its 105th annual session, adopted a resolution opposing President Nixon's government reorganization plan.

Delegates to the session decided to exert every possible effort to maintain the Department of Agriculture with a secretary of agriculture in the President's cabinet.

In other resolutions passed, grangers supported:

- Admission of mainland China to the UN.
- Successful negotiations for the sale of 2.9 million metric tons of mixed grains to the Soviet Union.
- Appointment of a qualified agriculturalist to the price commission.
- Review of current foreign aid programs.
- Separation of military assistance from other foreign aid.
- Revision of welfare laws.
- Continuation of the Food

Stamp Plan.

Protection of the bargaining status of cooperatives.

Secret ballot by farm laborers on union representation.

Development of balanced programs to determine the effect of pesticide laws.

Organization of dairy producers into marketing groups.

The delegates, in other resolutions, opposed: Action of the office of management and budget to slow the release of funds from the Rural Environmental Assistance Program.

Use of inspection procedures to limit agricultural imports.

Banning chemicals valuable to agriculture without research to determine the effect of such a ban.

Andrus cites sheepmen

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told Idaho woolgrowers Tuesday the State Agriculture Department needs their "input" to do a successful job for agriculture in the state.

Andrus told the woolgrowers that he understands in the past they pulled away from the department by their own design. He said he understood their reasons and felt it was their right.

But now, he said, Idaho has an active Agriculture Department and he hopes the woolgrowers will become more familiar with the services available to them.

Andrus recalled a campaign promise to revitalize the department and make it more responsive to farmers. He said he believed this was being accomplished.

He noted that he named Oscar Arstein commissioner — a man who is a former woolgrower and who knows the sheep raisers problems.

Ex-champ faces Mathis tonight, but he'll be thinking about Frazier

HOUSTON (UPI)—Muhammad Ali takes his comeback campaign into the Astrodome tonight super-confident he can whip two opponents at the same time—the hulking Buster Mathis in the opposite corner and the unseen spirit of heavyweight champion Joe Frazier.

Devils must blend youth and veterans

MURTAUGH — A lot of youth and not much height will be the major obstacles the Murtaugh Red Devils will have to overcome this year but new Coach Dick Anna will have a couple of individuals that might be able to blend the team into a contender.

The matter of youth also is a trifling misreading in that 6-1 sophomore Roblin Wright cracked the starting unit in the second half of last season and turned in some fine performances.

Sullivan may lose crown

NEW YORK (UPI)—The time is running out for national football titles and while this does not concern Ed Marinero of Cornell, it is becoming extremely important for Pat Sullivan of Auburn.

The latest statistics released by the National Collegiate Sports Services show Sullivan, the defending champion in the total offense department, in fifth place. He will need a big game against Alabama in the Nov. 27 match-up of the unbeaten clubs if he is to overtake Virginia Tech's Don Strock, Florida State's Gary Huff, Stanford's Don Buncie and Joe Ferguson of Arkansas.

Marinero, on the other hand, has a lock on the rushing title. The Cornell Heisman candidate has a magnificent per game yardage figure of 206.1. His nearest challenger is Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma, who has 158.1, not a too comfortable edge over Bob Newhouse of Houston who has 156.4.

The scoring title has probably eluded Marinero, however, after Lydell Mitchell's performance for Penn State against North Carolina State. Mitchell's four touchdowns have a record 25 for the season.

Marinero's rushing title is not a too comfortable edge over Bob Newhouse of Houston who has 156.4. So big a lead does Marinero have that if he were to be held to zero yardage Saturday by Brown, Pruitt would need 595 yards in his final two games to pass him.

The scoring title has probably eluded Marinero, however, after Lydell Mitchell's performance for Penn State against North Carolina State. Mitchell's four touchdowns have a record 25 for the season.

Kennedy said Tuesday any plans for expansion of the NBA would be held in abeyance until a decision is made on the legislation. The NBA favors the proposal "because it wouldn't be in the best interests of basketball to have 120 to 150 basketball players out of work," Kennedy said.

"We'll do everything possible to continue our merger plans," he said. "If there is no merger, it would take two or three years to reevaluate our expansion program. But I believe that at the end of the 70s or early 80s we should be an international league with teams in such places as Rome or Milan; Barcelona or Madrid, Honolulu, Mexico City and Montreal or Toronto."

Mathis returns to the ring, the big man, who has been beset by many personal problems, went into seclusion. During his idleness, his finances dwindled and now he returns allegedly with his belief in himself renewed and a hope he can earn himself once again an important spot in the heavyweight picture.

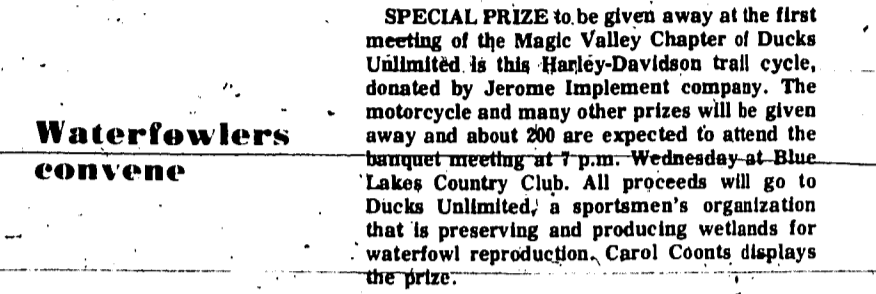

Mathis' claim to fame is his three fights with Frazier—two victories over Smoking Joe as an amateur and an 11-round knockout by Frazier in a title fight in 1968. In that last fight, Mathis was strong in the early rounds and still in contention after 10, but went out in the 11th.

"All I know is Frazier got $160,000 the time he beat me and I got trophies the times I beat him," Mathis said ruefully.

Goodman said poor treatment of the players has caused morale to drop to an all-time low. He said though the Globetrotters play twice as many games as National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association teams, they are paid much less than NBA and ABA players.

The team plays seven days a week and occasionally twice on Sunday, Goodman said. He said team members are given only one uniform which they themselves must wash at night in their hotel rooms.

The only time between October and March that the team is not required to play is during a four-day Christmas break, Goodman said. He added that team members must pay their own transportation if they travel home for Christmas.

Oklahoma rekindles hopes for grid offensive triple crown

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oklahoma's bid for an offensive triple crown in the major college statistics is looking bright again. The Sooners, who fell to second place in the scoring column a week ago, are back on top this week with an average of 45.0 points a game.

The Sooners have a commanding lead in both total offense and rushing offense. Oklahoma is averaging 563.2 yards a game in total offense while Arizona St. is second at 473.6. The Sooners lead in rushing with an average of 481.4 yards and New Mexico is second with 385.8 yards a game.

Oklahoma's top rival, Nebraska, is eighth in total offense and fourth in scoring. The Cornhuskers aren't ranked in rushing offense but are 15th in passing offense.

The best race is in the passing offense department with Virginia Tech averaging 248.6 yards a game and Washington just behind at 246.1. Florida St. is a close third at 244.9.

Oklahoma has been so powerful on offense this year, the Sooners rarely get hit third down. The Sooners made the first down on the first two plays two-thirds of the times this season.

Neumann scored 14 of his 32 game points in a nine-minute span during which the Pros outscored the Floridians 28-8.

Castleford returns four of top six

CASTLEFORD — With four of the top six or seven men back from last year's squad, the Castleford Wolves and Coach Bud Watkins won't change much this season. But like last year, the major problem will be height.

Helping to offset that somewhat is the graduation to varsity ball from one of the top sophomore teams last year. "All of the juniors should help," says Coach Watkins, starting his second year at the Wolf helm. "They'd better," he added with a smile, "or we'll have to zone."

Tallest man on the club is 6-2 Steve Peterson who started last year. Coach Watkins continues the lessons of last season, trying to get Peterson to use his left hand.

The Wolves are solid at guard with Larry and Lynn Reese back. They spearheaded a tenacious defense last year and also worked as the floor generals in a deliberate offense. Larry, a senior, is 5-9, and Lynn, a junior and better than average jumper, is 5-10.

The other senior veteran is Bill Watkins who served as the sixth man through much of last year. Seeking their first letters are Denny Easterday, 5-11 junior; Marty Becker, 5-11 1/2 junior; Mike Bowers, 6-1 junior; Curt Carter, 5-8 junior; Mike Nikell, 5-9 junior, and Tim Severa, 5-5 junior.

The Castleford schedule was not available.

Pilots open with five lettermen

GLENN FERRY — With five returning lettermen, the Glenns Ferry Pilots and Coach Gordon Brown should again be a team able to make its presence felt in the Little Five and Big Six Conferences.

However, the Pilots lost a lot of rebounding and defensive power to graduation last year and Coach Brown thinks it may take a while for this year's team to jell.

The key question now will be the Pilots' offensive. Last year Glenns Ferry could give anyone trouble right up to the point of shooting the ball. Some nights the Pilots hit and won, other nights they shot less than 30 percent as a team—and lost.

Tallest returnee is 6-3 Rob Black who gives the Pilots good strength and ruggedness at the pivot in addition to offensive punch. One forward spot will be filled by Paul Shrum who could well be the Pilots leading scorer throughout the year. The other three lettermen are guards, including 5-8 Ron Belliston; 5-0 Ernie Rivera and 5-8 Tim Nichols. All are seniors.

The other forward spot probably will be filled by 6-2 junior Ray Hansen who has some talent and played football well enough to let the conference know that shooting under the boards isn't going to intimidate him. The other man at six feet is Jim Hoyer, a junior forward. Up with those two from last year's sophomore club are guards Nate Jones, 5-11; Ed Garcia, 5-7, and Jody Allen, 5-8.

College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles will meet Mountain Home Air Base in a public scrimmage at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the CSI gymnasium. Coach Jerry Hale said there will be no admittance charge.

Pros wallop Floridians

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Johnny Neumann scored 25 points in the first half and the Memphis Pros turned a 38-18 advantage in the second quarter into a 119-109 victory over the Floridians Tuesday night in an American Basketball Association game.

Neumann scored 14 of his 32 game points in a nine-minute span during which the Pros outscored the Floridians 28-8.

Denver ends Indiana jinx

DENVER (UPI)—Denver scored a crucial win Tuesday night over the ABA Western Division pace-setting Indiana Pacers 111-108.

It was the first win for the Rockets over the Pacers in six games extending back to last season.

The score was tied a total of 20 times throughout the game, including eight times in the last period. The last tie came with 1:44 remaining and was promptly broken by a 14-foot jumper by Denver's Larry Brown.

ISU takes on Weber in finale of established goal to win last five

POCATELLO — One month ago Idaho State Football Coach Ed Cavanaugh told a group of ISU boosters, "We've had three straight defeats but don't give up on us. Stick with the Bengals and we'll reward you with some fine football. We're going all-out to win our last five games." Cavanaugh is 80 per cent of the way to completing his goal. Idaho State won its fourth in a row Saturday, 21-17 over fourth-ranked nationally Boise State. The only obstacle, and a big and formidable obstacle it is, is powerful Weber State. ISU hosts the Wildcats Saturday at 7:30 in the Minidome.

Wayne Dzabak will air the contest starting at 7:20 over the Bengal Sports Network. Weber was idle last week and had a chance to heal the wounds of a heart-stopping last-minute loss to Idaho. The Wildcats were ranked in the top 10 until a pair of close losses dropped their record to 5-2-1 and out of the Big Sky title picture.

The Wildcats were 5-5-1 last year and Coach Sark Arslanian decided a few changes had to be made. His first change was to get Dick Gwinn to tutor the defense. Gwinn added the 4-4-3 (or 6-2-3 if you prefer) defense to the Wildcat repertoire and it's paid off, as the Weber number two defensive ranking in the conference shows. The Wildcats are number one in pass defense, and that bodes ill for the throwing Bengals.

Linebacker John Smith is a familiar name around Pocatello. Smith quarterbacked Weber past ISU 28-25 in 1969 and the past two years has been one of the better linebackers around. Tackle Don Ritchey was conference lineman of the week a month ago and is nationally ranked among punters with a 40.9 average.

Offensively the big change is the Wishbone installed by Arslanian after a number of summer conferences with fellow Armenian Ara Parseghian, whom you may remember as having some success with it at Notre Dame. Arslanian installed it to take advantage of QB Dale Mager, who promptly was injured and is out for the season. John Edwards has taken over in fine style. He hands the ball to a pair who were linebackers at Walla Walla—JC, Rick Bojak and Terry Bulych, as well as Jim Nichols and Al Butler. Weber has a huge offensive line to open holes for the triple-option offense.

Perhaps Weber's best offensive weapon is Chilean soccer-style placekicker Jaime Nunez, whose 15 field goals are an NCAA College Division record with Weber still having a pair of games to go.

Although on paper it might appear the Bengals are outmanned against such an outstanding team as Weber, they do have a few things going for them.

The win against Boise ensured ISU of a winning season, something not seen in Pocatello since 1964. A win Saturday would close the season at 7-3, the winningest record here since 1957, when the Jim Wagstaff, Ken Peterson Bengals of Babe Caccia were 9-0.

The longest winning streak an Ed Cavanaugh-coached team has had at Idaho State was equaled by beating Boise. The Bengals won four in a row to start out the 1969 campaign.

Secretary won't vote for ouster

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Jose Sulaiman, secretary of the World Boxing Council (WBC), declared Tuesday that he will vote in favor of world lightweight champion Pedro Carrasco, of Spain, in the controversy around his victory over Califor: Manolo Ramos.

Conigliaro to get full 1971 salary

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Doctors' examinations showed that Tony Conigliaro's eye trouble has worsened during the past year and California Angels General Manager Harry Dalton said Tuesday the team was putting him on the disabled list; with back pay retroactive to July 13.

Conigliaro was injured when beaned by former Angel pitcher Jack Hamilton on Aug. 18, 1967. As a result, he missed the entire 1968 season with the Boston Red Sox.

However, he returned to action the following year and hit 20 homers and drove in 82 runs. The following year with Boston he had 36 homers and 116 runs batted in before being traded to the Angels.

In 74 games with the Braves rally past Royals

BUFFALO (UPI)—Walt Hazzard and Elmore Smith rallied the Buffalo Braves to a 102-98 NBA victory over the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night.

Nate Williams sent Cincinnati off to a 31-17 first period lead and the Braves lost their leading scorer, Bob Kauffman, with a leg bruise in the second before Hazzard turned the game around.

Hazzard scored 11 points in the third period and then fed Mike Davis to put Buffalo ahead for the first time, 81-80, as the period ended.

Californians, Conigliaro batted .222 with four homers and 15 RBIs.

He announced his intention to retire July 10 in Oakland following a 20-inning game with the Athletics and six weeks later he filed a formal grievance with the Major League Players Association, seeking disabled status because of a recurring eye problem.

Upon further review, based on medical evidence, we feel that Tony C. is entitled to be on the disabled list and he will be paid accordingly," Dalton said.

Bulls defeat Sonics 95-87

CHICAGO (UPI)—Six of eight Chicago Bulls players scored in double figures Tuesday night, led by Bob Love with 23 points, in a 95-87 victory over the Seattle Supersonics in a National Basketball Association game.

The Sonics were in front only once in the game, at 3-2 in the opening two minutes, and had the score tied only four times, all in the opening seven minutes. Love scored 10 points in the first period as the Bulls worked to a 24-15 advantage.

Chicago was ahead 49-38 at the half, 69-82 after three quarters, although the Sonics outscored the Bulls in that session, and then netted 26 points, to Seattle's 25 in the final quarter.

BSC falls to 20th in rating

NEW YORK (UPI)—The University of Delaware continues to lead the pack of the top 20 small college football teams as the United Press International Board of Coaches ratings go down to the final week.

The Blue Hens, who crushed major college Boston University 64-0 last Saturday for their eighth victory in nine games, picked up 18 first-place votes from the 34 coaches participating in this week's balloting and out-distanced McNeese State by 28 points. The second-ranked Cowboys received six first-place nods.

Eastern Michigan, which completed its season at 7-2 with a 35-2 win over South Dakota State, was awarded four first-place votes and was third again this week with 241 points.

Tennessee State, now 7-1 after thrashing Wisconsin-Superior 54-7, moved up a notch to fourth place and got two first-place votes. Moving into fifth place this week was Gary Richardson of C.W. Post (8-1), which rolled 47-0 over Kings Point.

Arkansas Tech advanced from seventh to sixth after capturing its 10th straight and Samford College of Florida came from 13th to seventh after upping its record to 7-1 with a 21-0 win over Newberry.

SEMESTRALIZED CURRICULUM poster is displayed by Will Spalding and Marg Huff as depicted from the viewpoint of Chris Bertus, a former student, who is majoring in art education at Washington State University, Pullman, Wash.

Eye to future

New curriculum plans successful

BY MYRTLE SCHRENK Times-News Writer

WENDELL. — A "semesterized Curriculum" may be the answer for high schools of the future, says Will Spalding, principal of Wendell High School.

He compares a need of the high schools of the future with the supermarket of today because they will offer students almost everything they desire in the way of academic and vocational courses.

Spalding has been invited to present his theory of a nongraded school to educators, students and other interested patrons of the Valley schools since the publication of the curriculum which he developed for the 1971-72 school year in the Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory magazine.

He reports the new curriculum has increased the courses offered in a four year period in the Wendell school from 40 to 65. In some cases he credits the curriculum with the revitalization of some of the existing courses. Also the percentage of students receiving above average grades was increased during the first grading period of the year. The students and faculty are highly receptive to the next step in the program which he is currently working on, he said.

In most cases the new curriculum places students in classes with no regard to class standing or age. For example, students ranging from the freshmen through the senior levels will attend classes according to interest rather than requirements set up by the state or district.

He said there will be exceptions such as American government and history that will remain senior and junior requirements. Also math and science classes in most cases will be taught on a yearly basis rather than just a semester. Registration is currently held twice a year and general graduation requirements for the future will be 34 credits instead of the conventional 17 units that were previously required in the Wendell district.

New classes for the students interested in vocational agriculture are equipment repair and crop production.

Mrs. Annette Eaton plans to teach a course dealing with Shakespeare and his writings. She is working on a class that will be devoted to drama.

Ceramic, leather work and jewelry will be offered in the Arts and Crafts Department. Dorothy Berni, home economics advisor, will offer classes on child care, advanced sewing, home decorating and furnishing. A part of this course she said is the "hows" of refinishing old furniture and using taste when decorating a home.

School funds available

WENDELL. — Dale Tilley, counselor of Wendell High School, said a student wishes to attend a college or vocational school but does not have money there are funds available from several sources.

He is currently advising all juniors and seniors that do qualify for financial aid and scholarship programs they must first take an approved college entrance test. At this time only five seniors have taken one of the tests. If students have a college or trade school in mind they should consult with him and he will give them the proper forms to fill out.

There are three kinds of financial aid available — grant, scholarship or loan. For students whose parents are in the lower income bracket most universities have Education Opportunity Grants which are often matched with a loan and supplemented with a Work-Study Program. However most of the available money is allocated on a first come basis. Tilley said that he received word this week from Idaho Universities that if a student wishes to attend he shouldn't designate an aid program but file with the scholarship committee of the university.

Monies are given in different fields of study, based on aptitude test scores, financial needs and more frequently for special skills. For instance a field that has great possibilities is law enforcement.

He said that he is available to meet with students during regular school hours and would meet with their parents on request.

Another facet of the guidance program of the Wendell school is to help students to understand discrepancies between their ambitions and apparent abilities through the use of achievement and aptitude tests as well as their academic record.

Also to identify and counsel students with personal-social adjustment problems, and if necessary, refer them to professional clinics that are available in the area.

He said that a guidance committee composed of faculty members Ellen Cox, Les Snyder, and Ray Herd consults with teachers on the interpretation and evaluation of group test. This provides insight of problems that are sometimes hard to detect in classroom situations.

He said he feels the most important part of any guidance program is communication between the teacher and student as well as the parents

Volunteer force needs expansion

GOODING — Mrs. Blanche Loewen, Gooding, state secretary of the American Cancer Society, told volunteer workers of the American Cancer Society of Gooding, Blaine, Camas and Lincoln Counties here Monday that if cancer is to be conquered the volunteer forces of the nation must be expanded.

She said that volunteer services in Idaho must be expanded by a better public education program, expansion of the existing professional education program, increased public service, such as homemaker services for the patient on a volunteer basis.

Additional funds could be raised, she said, by a better public information program.

She urged those present to write to their elected representatives urging that the sales tax be taken off of medical supplies purchased by the American Cancer Society so this money can be used for actual services to cancer patients in the area.

A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Kathryn Gardner, Gannett; Mrs. Esther Coates and Mrs. Bill Stewart, Fairfield, and Mrs. Leowen was appointed to select a slate of officers for the newly formed District Five, Area Two, of the American Cancer Society, Idaho Division by Dec. 1.

She said officers to be elected by the four-county group will be a chairman, vice chairman and two members at large.

Donkey game

WENDELL. — Mrs. Manuel Dias, publicity chairman of the Wendell Booster Club, announced the annual fund raising project of the club will be a donkey basketball game on Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. in the Wendell High School gym.

She said all the riders or participants in the game will consist of local talent and will be selected from the yell leaders, faculty members, local businessmen and members of the Booster Club.

The trained donkeys for the event have been rented from the nationally known Crosby Donkey Ball Company, Chippewa Falls, Wis. Proceeds from the game will be used to help pay for the new bleachers that were installed this fall on the football field.

Enforcement now marginal over poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission reported Tuesday that in the past year the federal civil rights enforcement effort had progressed only from "poor" to "marginal." It said President Nixon had failed to instill a sense of urgency.

"The President's posture, as gleaned from his statements and other actions over the last six months, has not been such as to provide the clear affirmative policy direction necessary to assure that the full weight of the federal government will be behind the fight to secure equal rights for all minorities," the commission said.

"Chief among the inadequacies is the failure to develop and to communicate to the public a sense of urgency over the need to end discrimination." A year ago, the six-member commission headed by Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University, assessed the Nixon administration's civil rights effort and found it suffering from inertia and hostility that could nullify civil rights laws.

Warning devices on bridges investigated

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Highway Department is investigating the possibility of installing electronic warning devices at bridges in the state in an effort to end damage being caused by overweight trucks.

The highway board of directors was told there is a recent rash of damage at bridges and Vic Richardson, assistant state highway engineer, estimated it is costing an average of $100,000 each year to repair the damaged structures.

The department, by law, must seek reimbursement for damages from the responsible parties.

Earl Turner, assistant right-of-way chief, told the board today 82 signs were removed from Idaho's roads during October as part of the outdoor advertising sign removal program. He said permission has been received to remove 115 more signs.

and state laws. He said the Highway Department is in the process of selecting certified public accountants who would contact various sign companies to establish equitable reimbursement.

Thomason told the board Monday it will take a two cents per gallon increase in the gasoline tax to provide enough funds to match available federal grants next year.

Day changed

WENDELL. — The November meeting of the Mary Martha Circle of the United Presbyterian Church was changed to Friday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Roy Bishop on scheduled of Thursday as scheduled.

The study will be given by Mrs. Earl Schrenk on "Israel, Today and Biblically." Mrs. Roy Bishop and Mrs. Lois Carpenter will serve as hostesses.

McClure declares for Senate seat

BOISE—Idaho Congressman James A. McClure today announced his candidacy for the United States Senate.

McClure will seek the seat now held by Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, who announced three months ago he will retire in 1973.

McClure

McClure ended speculation about his plans by announcing his candidacy at a press conference here today. McClure has served three terms as representative from the First Congressional District. He is the latest Republican to enter the race.

On Monday, United Press International reported that McClure had sent a letter to party leaders stating his intention to run for the Senate.

"On Aug. 24 Senator Jordan announced that he would not seek re-election to the United States Senate. I said at that time I was definitely interested and would carefully consider it," McClure said in a prepared statement.

"The decision has not been an easy one to make, but I have decided that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate.

"Nearly six years ago I had to make a similar decision — whether or not to run for election to the House of Representatives. I said then that I liked living in Payette — I appreciated the chance to live in a state that has that indefinable quality of life which all Idahoans cherish — that above all else I wanted the chance to raise my family in the wholesome surroundings that characterize Idaho; where honesty, hard work, self-reliance, faith in God and pride in country are still admired and appreciated.

"I decided to run then because I feel very deeply that the kind of life we lead in Idaho and the very values that make it most worthwhile are being lost in our nation today. Unless we make changes in the directions our country is taking, my children and their children won't have the chance to live the kind of life that means so much to me, and to you. Because I wanted to help make those changes I ran for Congress," McClure said.

"I still think those challenges to our way of life are here; I still believe it is important to redirect our government's attention to serving — not mastering — our people. If I have been able to help Idaho through my service in the House of Representatives, I can help even more effectively from the added influence of a Senate seat," he said.

"It is somewhat early for a formal announcement of this kind, but I think it is only fair to let others know now who are interested in running for the First District House seat and any who may be waiting on my decision before making their own final decision on the Senate race. "I have carefully considered all the alternatives and tested all the arguments. I have used every method of evaluation I know, from professional studies to a family conference. But of course, the final decision is mine. I am convinced that this is the right choice, not only for the responsibility I have to the citizens of Idaho and the First District, and to the Republican Party, but also for my family and myself."

McClure, 46, is a native of Payette. He graduated from the University of Idaho's College of Law and practiced law with his father in Payette prior to his election to Congress.

His early public service included terms as Payette city attorney, prosecuting attorney for Payette County, and six years as state senator. In 1965-66 he served as the Idaho Senate assistant majority leader. He is a past president of the Payette Chamber of Commerce and Payette Kiwanis Club. He is a member of the Masons, Elks, American Legion and the Idaho Bar Association. He is an active lay leader in the United Methodist Church.

The Congressman now serves on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee in the U. S. House of Representatives and the subcommittees of parks and recreation, irrigation and reclamation, and mines and mining. He is also a member of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

After being elected to his third term he was appointed as a member of the Republican Whip Organization, representing the Rocky Mountain Region. He was also chosen chairman of the Republican Task Force on Energy and Resources.
