Nixon agreed devalued dollar

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores (UPI)—President Nixon and President Georges Pompidou of France announced agreement today on plans for devaluation of the American dollar as one means of solving the international monetary crisis.

A joint communique issued following 10 hours of talks between the two leaders did not specify how the dollar devaluation might be carried out or by how much it would be devalued. It also spoke of undefined "reevaluation of some other currencies."

The key part of the communique stated that Nixon and Pompidou, in the second of five little summit meetings Nixon is having before going to Peking and Moscow next year, "agreed to work toward a prompt realignment of exchange rates through a devaluation of the dollar and reevaluation of some other currencies" in cooperation with other nations.

The statement said at another point: "President Nixon underscored the contribution that vigorous implementation by the United States to restore domestic-wage stability and productivity would make toward international equilibrium and the defense of the new dollar exchange rate."

Neither the communique nor statements by the two presidents after the meeting told how a U.S. devaluation would be carried out. The principal U.S. trading partners have been urging a devaluation, through an increase in the $35 ounce price of gold set by the United States in 1933.

Congress would have to approve any change in the gold price. In Washington, Chairman Wilbur

D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee made that point but withheld immediate comment on the Azores announcement.

By devaluation, the dollar would buy fewer French francs, West German marks, Japanese yen and other currencies on world markets. That would make imported goods more expensive in the United States and U.S. exports cheaper on foreign markets.

The objective of devaluation would be to ease the chronic U.S. balance of payments deficit.

The communique's reference to "reevaluation of some other currencies" apparently referred to an increase in the price of strong currencies but none were named. Nothing in the statement indicated whether the value of the franc would be increased.

At the U.S. Treasury in Washington, a spokesman confessed, "I do not know what it (the announcement) means. If they agreed to work toward devaluation, it sounds the same to me as actual devaluation."

Nixon headed back to Washington in his "Spirit of 76" jet after the final session with Pompidou.

Nixon and Pompidou did not mention currency realignment directly in a brief meeting with reporters after their final session, although Nixon said they "made significant progress in the problem of the international monetary situation."

Another major session is scheduled this weekend in Washington of finance ministers of the 10 big non-Communist trading nations.

Nixon and Pompidou agreed to sponsor jointly efforts with other nations to permit a wider fluctuation of currency rates, giving more play to the market forces of supply and demand in determining the relative values of money.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary and his French counterpart, Denis Baudouin, read the joint communique in English and French at the newsmen in the sun-drenched courtyard of an 18th century building where Nixon and Pompidou met Monday and today.

Neither spokesman would go beyond the language of the communique in describing the agreement.

"President Pompidou and I have just completed very extensive discussions," Nixon said. "We made significant progress in the problem of the international monetary situation."

Nixon added: "Our talks contributed to good relations between our two countries and a better understanding between the nations of the world. We believe the meetings were very successful."

Agreed Pompidou, "I am glad to say our conversations were most constructive."

This was the second of five meetings Nixon arranged with key allied leaders over a five-week period to precede his historic trips to Peking in February and Moscow in May.

Government folds as Dacca battle begins

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The battle for Dacca began today with Indian air and artillery strikes against the heart of the East Pakistani capital. All India radio said part of the Dacca garrison had surrendered.

The East Pakistan government resigned and placed itself under the protection of the International Red Cross, and a Pakistani brigadier surrendered on the outskirts of the city with his staff and men, estimated at as many as 3,000.

An Indian military spokesman said Indian paratroopers which reached a ferry crossing six miles from the heart of the city on Monday had linked up with other armored columns, one of which entered an industrial suburb of Dacca.

No actual ground fighting was reported inside Dacca, but a pooled dispatch from American correspondents there said there were Indian bombing attacks against targets inside the city and that government houses in downtown Dacca was set on fire.

Most of the foreigners in Dacca were evacuated by plane before the battle was joined, and about half of the city's normal population of 1.5 million had fled into the countryside.

An Indian Foreign Office spokesman said there were 47 Americans left in Dacca and that 114 American nationals were evacuated Sunday. The spokesman gave the estimate after being asked about reports the nuclear carrier USS Enterprise with units of the 7th Fleet might be en route to the Bay of Bengal to help evacuate Americans.

An Indian foreign ministry spokesman said only that the "highest East Pakistan government officials" had resigned but the pool dispatch said Pakistani Governor A. M. Malik had resigned with his cabinet and asked for refuge in the Intercontinental Hotel.

Reports in New Delhi said Lt. Gen. A.A.K. Niazi, the military commander in Dacca, had broken with the governor and with Maj. Gen. Rao Farman Ali

Congress may approve economy measure today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two million school teachers would get deferred pay raises, 4.1 million federal civilian and military employees would get a Jan. 1 pay boost and President Nixon would get extended authority to control the economy under a bill expected to clear Congress today.

The measure, to prolong until April 30, 1973, Nixon's power to control wages and prices, was hammered out by House-Senate negotiators through a day of bargaining Monday, then rushed through the Senate in 26 minutes. House passage was expected today.

It would give Nixon basically what he sought, but overrode him on two key issues:

- The $1 billion pay increase for 2.6 million servicemen and 1.5 million federal white collar workers. Nixon had planned to postpone it to July 1 to save money, but Congress overrode him and the White House bowed to his wishes.
- The issue of retroactive pay for workers who were denied raises during the 90-day wage-price freeze which ended Nov. 15. Under the compromise bill, most of those pay hikes would be paid. Millions of workers will benefit, including, according to the National Education Association, 2 million of the nation's 2.7 million teachers.

range from $2 billion to $8 billion.

Workers would qualify for back pay if one of two conditions exist. They would get it if the increase is not "unreasonably inconsistent" with the 4.5 per cent guideline established by the Pay Board, or if the employer had raised prices in anticipation of paying wage increases subsequently blocked by the freeze.

Teachers qualify if taxes or state or local appropriations for salaries were raised. In most cases, such increases were made before Aug. 15, when the freeze started.

Back pay check for TF teachers

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls schools are drawing up an extra payroll this month in anticipation of the expected congressional approval of back pay for teachers.

Supt. George Staudacher said Monday night that unless Congress takes action, the teachers will receive pay at the old contract level.

Should President Nixon sign the bill into law before the checks are mailed out, an additional check for the back pay will be mailed to each teacher.

Back pay would bring a bonus of between $50 and $150 for teachers, depending on salary level, Staudacher said.

He said the back pay differential is running at about $12,000 per month for the district.

Rupert child killed

TUTTLE — A small Rupert child was killed Monday when a car driven by her father slid out of control on State Highway 25 a mile southeast of here and rolled headfirst with another vehicle.

Bill Bunn, Gooding County deputy sheriff, identified the victim as Teina Mickelsen, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Mickelsen, Rupert. The accident occurred shortly after noon. Bunn said, when the south-bound car skidded on the snow-covered road and collided with an oncoming car driven by Aubert Frahm, 65, Nampa.

Bunn said the victim was sitting in the right-rear seat of the family's car at the point of impact. She was dead on arrival at Gooding Memorial Hospital. Other passengers in the Mickelsen auto, Mrs. Linda Mickelsen, 24, and Nicki Mickelsen, 3, and Nicki Mickelsen, 3, and Dorothy, 63, were reported in good condition at the hospital. Mickelsen was transferred by helicopter to St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise, where he was in serious condition with head and neck injuries.

Bunn said Mickelsen is a serviceman and had arrived home a week ago for 30 days leave.

Israel asked to pull back

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The U.N. General Assembly overwhelmingly adopted an Egyptian-sponsored resolution Monday night urging that Israel withdraw from all occupied Arab territories and demanding a "just and lasting peace" in the Middle East.

The resolution, sponsored by 22 nations, also urged reactivation of the Middle East peace talks under the guidance of Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring. Israel broke off those talks in February.

Despite Israel's effort to water down the resolution by amendment, the vote was 79-7. There were 36 abstentions, among them the United States. Ambassador Christopher H. Phillips explained that United States supported the aims of the resolution but did not like some of its language.

Israel and six Latin American nations cast negative votes.

It was the first time since 1967 that the United States and Israel had not voted similarly on the overall question of withdrawal and negotiations.

Phillips stressed, though, that the U.S. abstention should not be interpreted as a change of American Middle East policy.

Units link in Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—A force of 6,000 Cambodian troops has joined a 6,000-man South Vietnamese task force seeking two North Vietnamese divisions in the ruins of the Chup rubber plantation in eastern Cambodia, military sources reported today.

The sources said South Vietnamese reconnaissance teams of up to 30 men each jumped today into the plantation from the steel ladders of U.S. helicopters to try to guide the allied task force to the 10,000-man Communist force.

Flu, snow shut area schools

Heavy snow, high wind and flu combined today to close several Magic Valley schools.

Twin Falls schools were to remain open through today, but will close until next Monday morning because of the high incidence of flu among students and teachers, according to Supt. George Staudacher.

All school-related activities, including the annual Christmas concert and two basketball games, will be postponed or canceled.

Wendell schools closed because of heavy flu-caused absenteeism, while the Oakley, Fairfield, Gooding and Mindoka County schools were shut down this morning by heavy snow.

In Twin Falls, student absenteeism hit 15 per cent today and many teachers were reporting to work but feeling ill. Principals reported that substitutes were nearly impossible to find.

Students of Camas County schools at Fairfield were sent home shortly after 9 a.m. today. Officials at the school said two school buses got stuck on snow-covered roads during their morning rounds and the "viability was awful." There was some drifting on Camas Prairie and a heavy snowfall there today was adding to more than two feet of snow already on the prairie floor.

No schools were closed in Blaine County, but officials there said the "situation is being closely watched." An estimated average of 15 to 20 per cent absenteeism from influenza was reported throughout the district and heavy snow was reported. Officials said illness and weather may cause the closure of schools in some parts of the county.

In Cassia County, Oakley schools were the only ones closed as of noon today. Students there were sent home shortly after arrival at school. Officials said there has been some absenteeism because of flu.

Students at Gooding were scheduled to be let out at noon today because of drifting snow. Supt. James Muscat said there was heavy drifting on roads south, southeast, north and northwest of Gooding.

Sheriff Earl Brown inspected the rural areas of Gooding County this morning and recommended schools be closed. There were about eight inches of snow in Gooding about 10 a.m. today and it was still snowing heavily.

Residents of Richfield are hoping weather predictions for so wind hold true today.

Wendell schools closed today and will remain closed until Friday morning because flu caused nearly one-fourth of all students to be absent Monday.

New Jerome high school approved

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME—Jerome School Board of Trustees approved construction of a new high school Monday night.

A motion by Clare Fife to hold a bond election for $1.9 million to be used for construction of a new high school was approved. The bond levy election is scheduled for Feb. 15, 1972. Four members of the board voted in favor of the election, with one trustee abstaining.

The trustees will meet with the CTA architect firm of Twin Falls to plan for a high school that can be constructed for the proposed $1.9 million. Trustee Gordon Hollifield, who abstained from voting, said he does not see how the district can afford to build a new high school.

"The first estimate we received from CTA was for $2.7 million. Now they have cut it down to $1.6 million. I don't see how we can now build that new high school for that much less money," Hollifield said.

Ed Peterson, architect with CTA, met with the board and presented plans for a high school. Peterson told Hollifield that the quality of the school has not been lessened, just the size.

"After going over the exact needs for the district, this is what we have now determined the cost to be. We will now go into the matter even deeper and may find we can do the total construction for maybe even less."

The board felt it should not spend a great deal of money on additional to existing buildings only to be faced soon with space shortages. The board earlier obtained an option on an 86-acre site a mile east of town.

According to Supt. John Campbell, the price of the land was $1,000 an acre. He estimated sewer and water costs at $17,480.

The option expires March 15. Should the bond election be approved and the high school built it would house four grades. Other students would be redistributed in this manner:

Jefferson schools would house first through third grades. Fourth through sixth grades would move to the present junior high. Seventh and eighth grades would be placed in the present high school.

Peterson said he has complete confidence that a high school can be constructed that will meet the district's needs within the amount of money allocated by the board for the bond levy election.

Lincoln School would be demolished. Washington and County selects jurors

TWIN FALLS — Questionnaires went into the mail Monday to 350 Twin Falls County residents to determine their eligibility for jury duty. County Clerk Harold Lancaster said — the persons receiving the questionnaires must, by law, return them properly filled out to the county office. Those who qualify have about a 50-50 chance, Lancaster said, of being called for jury duty during the winter term of court.

This is the second time in the past six months the county clerks have had to establish master jury lists under the new jury selection law. From now on, he said the procedure will have to be repeated only once each two years, but because of the emergency clause carried in the new bill, counties were advised to make the selections to complete the 1971 district court juries and to redo the process for the start of 1972.

Those selected from the 320 name list will not be called on to serve until after Jan. 1, Lancaster said. These names were selected from 19,825 prospective jury names in the county's large jury wheel. Names which go into the large wheel come from voter registration lists, utilities such as telephone and power company billings and driver's license records. Lancaster said about 2,000 names were added this month.

TWIN FALLS — Post office patrons are spreading out their mailing of Christmas packages and greetings, avoiding the traditional last-minute pileup, according to Postmaster Lloyd Libert.

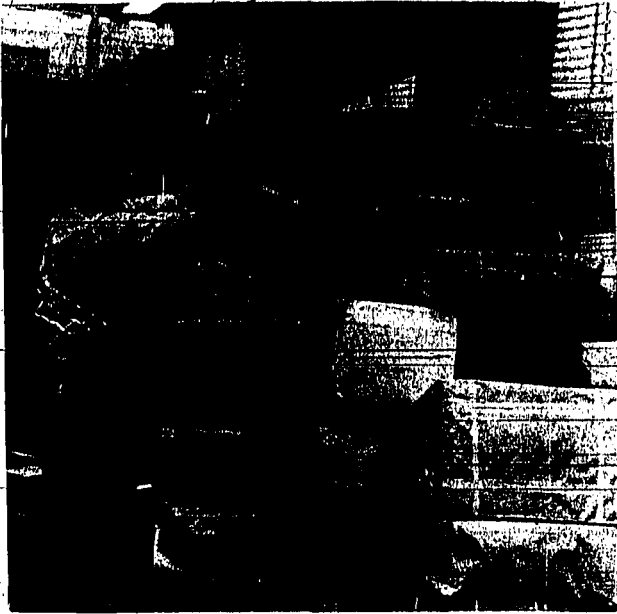

Although lines of package-bearing customers occasionally grow long at the post office windows, the heavy crush of holiday mailing has yet to develop, Libert said Monday. Package mailing is continuing at a higher rate than last year, while letter volume is down slightly.

During the week ending last Friday, the post office mailed 740,000 pieces of mail, both incoming and outgoing, Libert said.

An unusual holiday gift soon to be offered by the post office will be the "album" containing all commemorative stamps issued this year, for collectors and other stamp buffs.

Road closure in effect Wednesday

KETCHUM — Closure of the Warm Springs Canyon above the lower Board's Ranch to all unauthorized vehicles will continue in effect this winter from Dec. 25 to March 15, Gilbert Farr, district ranger, Sawtooth National Forest, said today.

The closure was imposed last winter to keep snowmobilers and other over-the-snow travel out of the area.

The winter closure is necessary, Farr said, to protect elk and deer in the winter range in the canyon and to promote public awareness by restricting winter travel in areas where avalanche danger is high.

Winter travel in the area is not recommended, but the closure does not prohibit travel by snowshoes or skis.

Included in the closure is a one-eighth-mile width on either side of the canyon including the Ketchum-Featherville road, known also as the Warm Springs Road.

Copies of the closure order are posted at the area entrance and information is available from the Forest Service offices.

Private property owners in the area may have access to their property by vehicular travel and other authorized vehicular travel is permitted upon registration with the Forest Service through the Ketchum Ranger Station. Fish and Game Department officials will assist the Forest Service in enforcement of the program and violators will face prosecution, Farr said.

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of the Twin Falls School District discussed closing all schools during a flu outbreak which is causing high absenteeism Monday night, but agreed to delay any action temporarily. School Supt. George Staudaher said the schools reported 638 students and 14 teachers absent on Monday, for a student absentee rate of 13 percent.

"How high can we let it go?" Staudaher asked the trustees. The Idaho Department of Education has ruled that school districts can declare an emergency, as Jerome did last week, and close the schools without requiring later makeup classes. Staudaher said he would check with Dr. Wayne Carle, director of the South-Central District Health Department, on the severity of flu cases, before taking action. Trustees authorized Staudaher to close the schools if necessary, upon consultation with board chairman E. J. Sommer, but without calling the entire board into session. In Twin Falls, one classroom in Washington grade school reported 11 students absent Monday.

Explains plans

Blueprints for school viewed by trustees

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of Twin Falls School District No. 411 heard architect Harold Gerber discuss school-building construction Monday before the regular December board meeting. Gerber presented blueprints of an elementary school he has designed for the Hansen School District as an example of the ultra-modern unstructured design now popular in many districts. The Hansen School District may call for a bond issue to build the new structure in the near future, but has run into a snag on the site which has forced a delay in planning, Gerber said. The six-grade school, designed for 120 students, features an open design with no specifically delineated classrooms, allowing the teachers to place their students in varying configurations for different types of activity. The overall design is based on a hexagonal or six-sided shape. "Cloakrooms," for coats and outdoor garments may be entered directly from the outside of the building, saving teachers from having rain or snow tracked through the room. Rest rooms for boys and girls are accessible from outside or inside. Trustees of the Twin Falls district had earlier agreed to hear proposals from several architects before going further with plans for new buildings. Gerber said a school similar to the Hansen grade school could be built for about $15 per square foot.

Trustees refuse use of tape recorders at meets

TWIN FALLS — History repeated itself Monday night during the December meeting of the Twin Falls School District Board of Trustees. The suggested use of tape recorders during a negotiation session between a three-member faculty committee and a committee of two trustees and the district superintendent was firmly refused by the trustees. Two months or more ago, trustees refused to allow the use of any "electronic recording equipment" during board meetings, including the use of tape recorders by newsmen. Scott Tingey, a basketball coach at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School and chairman of the committee representing the Twin Falls Education Association, presented five suggestions on how to proceed with collective bargaining as authorized under state law. Before he began, trustees appointed Supt. George Staudaher and board members Dr. H. W. Honk and John Wolfe to the trustees' committee. These three will meet with Tingey and his committee of Rold Pfeffler and Carl Shaner to negotiate salaries, fringe benefits and other matters. The five "areas of mutual concern" included setting meeting times and places, release of news to the press under stipulated conditions, an agreement to recess negotiation sessions for "caucus" meetings, placing a limit on negotiation sessions, and the controversial use of tape recorders. Tingey specified that the negotiation teams must not meet during public board meetings, and that meeting times should be specified in advance so all concerned could plan to attend. This met with the general agreement of the trustees and Staudaher. Wolfe, however, questioned Tingey's second request that news releases be made only when both sides agreed "in writing" on what was to be released. Following discussion it was agreed to negotiate further on this point. The third proposal, to allow "caucus" sessions during negotiations, was explained by Tingey. The faculty committee might need to discuss an administration offer in private before continuing negotiations, and wanted the right to withdraw in private without adjourning the session. This also was agreed to by the trustees, as was Tingey's suggestion that a two-hour time limit be set on negotiation meetings. The committee's suggestion that negotiations be tape-recorded, however, drew a firm "No" from Wolfe, speaking for all trustees and Staudaher. The trustees held to their refusal even when Tingey explained the only reason a recorder would be used would be to insure accuracy of later reporting and discussion. Staudaher suggested that "a third party," not participating in the negotiations, be allowed to take notes for writing of minutes during the negotiation sessions. Tingey said his committee would consider the suggestion. Staudaher and Tingey agreed to set the time for first formal negotiation session.

Panel OK's price hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Price Commission approved eight more price hikes Monday on a variety of products from tennis rackets to bakery goods.

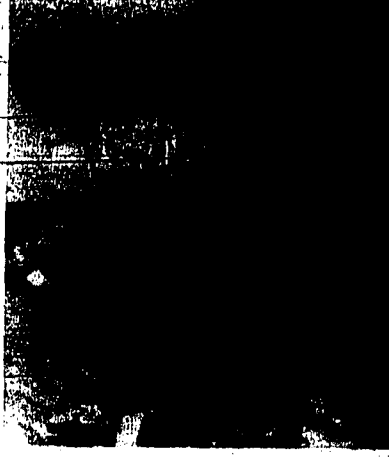

The action brought to 136 the number of price increases cleared by the commission since it began operations a month ago.

With 83 new price increase applications from 37 firms reported Monday, the commission has received 1,066 requests for higher prices from 736 businesses in the $100 million-plus yearly sales category. The commission has rejected five applications since Nov. 14.

Approvals announced Monday: Burlington Industries, 1.75 per cent on cotton products giving it an estimated gross revenue increase of .81 per cent; Rath Packing Co., up to 2.5 per cent on meat products and 0.4 per cent on animal feed and protein products for a 0.82 per cent revenue increase; MTD products, 6.2 per cent on contract metal stampings for a 1.2 per cent revenue increase.

Holman Baking Co. of Hawaii (Ward Foods Inc.), 2.62 per cent on baker products for a 0.17 per cent revenue increase; Interstate Brands, 3.2 per cent on peas, beans and bakery products for a 1.6 per cent revenue increase; Whittier Corp., Kettnerburg Marine, Inc., 4 per cent on unspecified products for increased revenue of less than .01 per cent; American Viscose Division, FMC Corp., 9.8 per cent on rayon and rayon staple, for a .06 per cent revenue increase; and Popsicle Inc., Wilson Sporting Goods Co., 0.82 per cent average on golf clubs and tennis rackets for a .06 per cent revenue increase.

Poor must get court records

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that states must provide a convicted indigent with a free copy of his trial record in nonfelony as well as in felony cases.

Justice William J. Brennan Jr. emphasized in an opinion for the court that the trial transcript need not be made available automatically but only after an individual's claims to it have been properly considered.

The ruling came in the case of Jack L. Mayer who was convicted of violating two Chicago ordinances and fined $250 for each offense. Illinois denied him a free transcript for appeal purposes on the ground that state court rules allow one only in felony cases.

Mayer's claim now goes back to state courts.

Justice Harry A. Blackmun noted in a concurring opinion that Mayer may now have completed his professional training as a physician and may no longer be indigent.

At the time of the conviction, Mayer was a third-year student in New York University Medical School.

In a second case from Craven County, N.C., the court ruled 5 to 2 that Charles W. Britt was properly denied a free copy of the record of his first trial—which ended in a hung jury—for use in his second trial.

Costa Rican chief stymies hijackers, leads capture

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In an unusual phone call, President Jose Figueres of Costa Rica said he personally intervened to halt an airliner hijacking because "this is the only way to stop this sort of Communist subversion."

Figueres, carrying a sub-machine gun, led more than 200 civil guardsmen in surrounding and capturing a hijacked Nicaraguan plane Sunday at El Coco Airport in San Jose, the Costa Rican capital.

Two of the three hijackers were killed, the other seriously wounded after the airliner, originally bound from Miami to Managua, Nicaragua, landed for refueling. The hijackers had ordered the crew to fly to Cuba.

Several hours after the incident, Figueres called this reporter in Washington to explain: "We are prepared to deal vigorously with this sort of Communist threat. And this was the only way to do it."

Figueres said he was visiting in his country's interior when he got word that the jet plane had been forced to land in San Jose. "I became angry when I heard," he said, "and made immediate arrangements to be driven to the airport after giving orders that the hijackers should be stalled." After arriving at the airport, with the civil force, Figueres said his first inclination was to shoot it out with the hijackers. But he added: "Then I saw that one of the hijackers had a gun pointed at the head of one of the stewardesses in the cockpit. At that moment I ordered that our gas be fired at the plane."

Then, under Figueres' orders, the guardsmen shot up an engine on the BAC111 jet and flamed its tires. The hijackers left the burning plane after being told they would be furnished with another craft, and were shot down by the guardsmen.

Yank Viet losses decline during '71

SAIGON (UPI)—American war casualties in 1971 dropped to the lowest point since former President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the first U.S. combat units to Indochina in 1965.

Incomplete figures issued by the U.S. command list 1,406 American servicemen killed in action and another 9,068 wounded this year through the first week of December. If the low American casualties of the past three months hold through the end of the year, total American war deaths in 1971 should be about 1,440.

That would be the lowest annual death toll since 1965, when 1,369 Americans were killed in action.

Pools gain Satirical sheriff next rating victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge officials reported more than 1,010 car pools used a special free lane for vehicles with at least three occupants.

The number was up from 1,002 last week when the experiment began. A bridge spokesman said the idea seems to be "picking up."

The free lanes were instituted in an attempt to encourage car pooling and speed up traffic.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's an old show business axiom that satire is what closes on Saturday night. There are exceptions, of course—especially in the hip new movies aimed at bright young audiences—but television is generally about as hip as the Fox Trot, and the old belief about satire applies as before. Just as James Garner is on view this season in a new one-hour NBC-TV series called "Nichols," and he is back at his old stand as a very reluctant hero who really would prefer almost anything to getting involved in trouble, especially if violence is threatened. His show is a Western with a nontemporary, tongue-in-cheek attitude toward frontier codes and escapades, and he plays the title role, a fellow literally forced against his will to become sheriff of a mangy little town.

Medici at power peak

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — President Emílio Garrastazu Médici has returned from his four-day visit to Washington last week at the height of his popularity and prestige.

If there is any doubt of his command of political life in Brazil, it is only because he himself has cast a shadow over it.

On two occasions this year Médici has said he did not like his job.

Only three days before visiting the United States, where President Nixon personally endorsed the Brazilian-American partnership in inter-American affairs, Médici gave an emotional birthday speech in which he said "the load was heavy" and that he wanted to leave "as soon as possible."

On Oct. 30, speaking in a similar vein, Médici abruptly cancelled all official ceremonies commemorating his second year in office and, in a public cabinet meeting, broke into tears and said the day he became president was "a sad day for me."

Few believe that Médici will

leave office before his term expires in 1974. On the day he took office the former army commander said he did not want the presidency, but he accepted the job as a soldier accepts an order. The military high command chose Médici to be president, and the general could not decline the most important command that he received in his 45-year army career.

If Médici is likely to remain on the job until 1974, he has made it abundantly clear that he will not accept a second term. Since last June he has prohibited members of the progovernment party, Arena, from even talking about his name as a second term candidate.

This leaves the question of just who will succeed him.

While it is far too early for clear choices to emerge, there is no doubt as to who will decide on Brazil's next president: The decision will come from the military high command.

If a general is chosen from the ranks of those on active duty, four-stars will be a prerequisite for office. This opens the field for almost any one of the 16 four-star generals on active duty. A retired four-star general such as Ernesto Gisel, president of Petrobras, the state oil monopoly, also would be among the favorites.

Not to be counted out as candidates are the civilian cabinet members of the Médici government who are considered contenders, though their chances are less than the army generals.

Military observers have suggested that a civilian may get the top job as a compromise between rival military factions. The civilian candidates follow the right-of-center political leanings of the military, but they have earned prestige in both the armed forces and the civilian elite because of their technical ability.

Deposed Pole writing

WARSAW (UPI) — What was former Communist party First Secretary Władysław Gomułka doing now? The television viewer asked.

"Gomułka lives in Warsaw now and is not taking part in any political activity," answered pollburo member Stefan Olaszowski. "He has retired and we can expect that he will start writing his memoirs or a work of a historical character."

"It was the first official word of Gomułka's whereabouts since he fell from power following riots in Poland's Baltic Coast cities last December, and the fact that the question could be publicly answered was due to new party leader Edward Gierek's efforts to make the party and government leadership more accessible.

Olaszowski was appearing on the third program of a new television series called Trybuna Obywatelska (Citizen's Tribune), which gives Poles a chance to write or phone in questions for their leaders to answer.

"Why was it still impossible to get enough copies of the newspapers to go round?" a viewer wanted to know. Why were politicians discredited during the December riots still holding important posts?

About 800 questions were telephoned in during the 90-minute broadcast, and another 3,500 mailed in an advance. Since only a fraction of these can be answered on the air, whoever is in the hot seat has a chance to duck the most embarrassing queries and select those he is able to answer.

But this does not mean some searching questions do not get through. A worker in Gdansk, where the December riots started, asked Olaszowski: "Why do some compromised people like (former trade union boss Ignacy) Loga-Sowinski get new posts?"

Loga-Sowinski, who was blamed for ordering police to open fire on striking shipyard workers, lost his seat in the pollburo but later was named ambassador to Turkey.

"While justly weighing merits and errors in several cases," Olaszowski replied, "the pollburo has found it advisable to offer people with services to their credit posts compatible with their political experience. "But there can be no question of their appointment to high government or party positions in the future," he said.

It is the closest thing to a press conference any Polish leader has faced, part of Gierek's effort to rip away the curtain of bureaucracy and red tape separating party leaders from the people. This was one of the first goals he announced when he took over from Gomułka last December.

Cookies decorate Christmas trees

TWIN FALLS — The custom of decorating fresh green Christmas trees with cookies is centuries old.

But, it is a source of delight to each new generation of children who love to share in the cutting, decorating and hanging of gingerbread stars, Santas, elves and colored balls.

The variety of shapes and frosting decorations is limited only by the household's collection of cutters and the creativity of the cookies.

This type of tree also is highly practical (low cost if eager hands knock a decoration to the floor or tip the tree over) and is much fun for the whole family.

Some families decorate two trees, one in the living room, complete with shiny ornaments, tinsel and lights and another in the play area or family room for just the children. Cookies, strings of popcorn and cranberries and other edibles or child-created ornaments are ideal for "their" tree.

Two recipes which make ideal tree decorations are Gingerbread Cut-Outs and Creative Molasses Cookies.

GINGERBREAD CUT-OUTS

- 2 1/4 cups unbleached flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 1/4 teaspoons ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- 1-3 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 egg
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

Sift dry ingredients. Mix margarine and brown sugar until blended. Stir in corn syrup, egg and lemon rind until smooth. Add dry ingredients, about 1-3 at a time, mixing until smooth. Chill if desired. Roll onto lightly floured surface to 1/4 inch thick. Cut into desired shapes. Bake for 8 minutes in 400 degree oven on ungreased cookie sheet. Remove from baking sheet immediately. Cool and trim with frosting. Makes about 4 dozen.

CREATIVE MOLASSES COOKIES

- 1-3 cups butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup light or dark molasses
- 1/2 cup boiling coffee
- 6 cups unbleached flour
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons ginger
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind

Cream butter and stir in sugar and molasses. Add coffee. Stir in remaining ingredients until soft dough is formed. Turn dough onto floured board and knead until smooth. Wrap dough and chill for two hours. Shape dough as desired and bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 375 degrees for 7 to 10 minutes. Cool on rack and decorate if desired. Makes about 4 to 5 dozen. (This is a resilient dough which can be handled almost endlessly without loss of texture. Dough can be either rolled out and cut with cutters or pinched off and rolled with hands to shape.)

Booster Club has project

DIETRICH — The Booster Club, organized last year, has undertaken a project to help the school district replace the front doors at the school.

Some of the projects they have carried out include helping the "D" Club earn money for its new basketball warmups. A spaghetti dinner was held and foods sold at the football games with the club raising $115.91 of the $471.33 for the warmups.

They also sponsored an open house for parents to visit each classroom at the school and talk with teachers.

They raised 210 chickens for the hot lunch program and just last week cleaned and packaged the chickens.

Mothers in the organization are helping students by working in concessions at the home ball games.

Mrs. Roger Stoddard is the president of the Booster Club.

DEAR READERS: Yesterday I published the letter which I asked my readers to help me answer. Briefly, an employe was invited to a housewarming party by his boss, whose wife had been sent to Europe to die following cancer surgery. The boss's girl friend moved in as soon as the sick wife moved out. The employe said if he didn't go he would lose his job. The wife disagreed. Should they go, or shouldn't they? I asked my readers. Here are some of the most quotable replies:

- "Don't go. Instead, send them a donation to the American Cancer Society in his wife's name with the following message, 'Why a housewarming for you two? Wait a while. Where you will be spending eternity you won't need to warm anything.'" (Chicago Today, Man and wife.)
- "Go! I think the boss rates an A Plus for living the way he wants to without giving a damn what others think." (Male, Seattle Times.)
- "Whatever happened to decency and honor? Don't go, but make up a good excuse." (Male, Buffalo Courier-Express.)
- "Don't go. Who needs this 'crumb-bum'? He's incapable of loyalty to either wife or employe." (Male, Philadelphia Bulletin.)
- "Go. And don't prejudice. Just because the wife had cancer surgery doesn't qualify her for sainthood." (St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Female.)
- "Don't go. I would rather support an unemployed husband than have him work for such a rat!" (Omaha World-Herald.)
- "Go. How others live is none of my business. My husband's job is!" (San Diego Union.)
- "Don't go. A man has to have guts and principles if it costs him his job." (Milwaukee Sentinel, Man.)
- "I'd find somebody with mumps and expose myself and my husband to them and say we're in quarantine!" (Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
- "Stay home! If the boss invited you and your wife to a weekend wife-swapping party, would you feel compelled to go?" (Atlanta Constitution.)
- "Go. Why be a moralist? That's God's job!" (Louisville Courier, Female.)
- "The trouble with society today is too many people are closing their eyes and holding their noses and going 'Decline!'" (Boston Record-American, Female.)
- "I'd tell my boss to shove his invitation and I'd start job hunting." (Male, Detroit News.)
- "The husband should go and say his wife couldn't make it as she is dying of cancer, but she always lets him get away for a good cause." (Minneapolis Star, Male.)
- "Go! Judge not, lest ye be judged." (Female, Portland Oregonian.)
- "Go to the party. Not because your first consideration is to your husband (what utter rot!) but because you refuse to sit in judgment of another human being." (Woman, Cincinnati-Inquirer.)
- "I vote go, but leave early. Why make waves?" (Woman, Washington Star.)
- "Say hell no, we won't go!" (Male, Baltimore News.)
- "Decline. Don't let a guy you'll be out of town. Then leave town." (Female, Honolulu Star-Bulletin.)
- "A boss with no loyalty to a wife could have no loyalty to his employes. I'd quit!" (Male, Kansas City Star.)
- "Only in America do people put money before honor. Don't go." (Male, Rome Daily American.)
- "Go. If Jesus could stand being in the company of thieves, prostitutes and murderers, it wouldn't hurt you to stand a couple of sinners for one evening." (Female, Hartford Times.)
- "Not only would I not go, I'd contact everyone I thought might be invited, and boycott the party." (Female, Dallas Times Herald.)
- "I'd go, if I accepted the hospitality of only those who were morally pure, I'd never go anywhere." (Male, Houston Post.)
- "If we keep laying down with dogs, the whole country will soon be full of fleas." (Female, Greenville, S. C., News.)
- "We vote DON'T GO. We're sick of mud." (Some guys in Viet Nam.)

Christmas tree sale set Monday

SUN VALLEY — Thirty-one live Alberta spruce trees will be sold Monday during the annual Sun Valley Hospital Auxiliary Christmas Tree Sale.

Mrs. Rita Hogg, publicity chairman for the event, said each tree will be decorated with a different motif by auxiliary members. The trees, she said, are two to three feet tall, potted and are "ideal for condominium owners." Leadville Gallery, Ketchum, donated the trees to the organization.

The sale is scheduled from 6-10 p.m. in the Sage Room of the Sun Valley Lodge. A no-host bar will be available to the public. Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase needed equipment for the Sun Valley Hospital. The auxiliary, Mrs. Hogg said, has already donated a blood warmer, used in transfusions, and a portable whirlpool to the hospital.

At the same time as the tree sale, instructors of the Sun Valley Creative Workshop will sell handcrafted jewelry, ceramics and paintings. The workshop is a non-profit art program founded last March.

Are You "The Other Woman"?

All women are not created even. Mother Nature doesn't do things to accommodate brassiere manufacturers.

If she gave you a 35 inch bust, why should you be squashed into a 34 bra? Or loosely into a 36?

After all, for every woman who happens to take an even size (32-34-36 or 38), there's the other woman who's 33-35-37 or 39.

Finally somebody has done something about it. Kayser-Permalift has made "The Other Woman" for the other woman. A great collection of beautiful bras that fit right down to the inch.

For the cups they used ultra smooth warp knit lace of Du Pont nylon with a designed in pattern of circles... for a superior mold plus stretch-in-every-direction. The underbust, sides and back are silky smooth powernet of Du Pont's nylon and Lycra® spandex with tricot overweave.

Style #35—soft cup, White—B, C and D 33-37 $5.50.
Also in fiber-filled style #335, A, B and C 33-37 $6.00.

Drug film featured at rally

TWIN FALLS — A "teen challenge" rally is scheduled at the Assembly of God Church, 178 Piler Ave. W., at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Rev. Phillip Breithaupt, national Teen Challenge representative, will present a film entitled "Unhooked" on drug control. The Teen Challenge movement seeks to foster rehabilitation for victims of drug abuse through religious emphasis, according to Pastor Clay H. Stephens of Twin Falls.

A nationwide program to aid troubled youth has been initiated by Rev. David Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the Switchblade," a book about Teen Challenge, which has been translated into 32 languages and has been made into a film starring Pat Boone.

No inquest in death of child

IDAHO CITY, IDAHO (UPI) — Boise County Sheriff John Williams said Monday he does not plan to call an inquest into the death of an eight-month-old child who froze to death Sunday after he, his mother and his brother were stranded in the snow.

The mother, Wilma Ruth-Lindsey, 26, Emmett, was listed in fair condition at St. Alphonsus Hospital, suffering from exposure, shock and frostbite of the feet. Hospital officials allowed no telephone calls to her.

"As far as an inquest goes, I don't believe one is necessary at this time," Williams said. "There's a lot of unanswered things here, but I'm sure there's no criminal negligence."

Mrs. Lindsey, eight-month-old Andrew, and his brother Matthew, 3, were driving near More's Creek, virtually impassable during winter because of snow.

When asked why they were driving in the area, Williams said, "This is something that gets personal" and declined to comment further.

After her Volkswagen slid off the road, Mrs. Lindsey left Matthew in the car and apparently began to walk for help while carrying the baby. She was barefoot and wearing no hat or coat when she was found.

Department maintenance man, found the woman sitting in the middle of the road early Sunday morning. Fleck's snow plow was the first vehicle over the road since early Saturday evening.

"When Forrest found her she was incoherent, she didn't even know what she was saying," Williams said.

The infant was found under a layer of snow about 200 yards away from his mother. He had frozen to death under eight to ten inches of snow.

The mother and older son — found in apparently good condition in the car — were taken to Boise. Matthew was turned over to his father, David Lindsey.

"We know she couldn't pack both kids," Williams said. "The mother was in such shape from the cold, not wearing shoes and all, that when found she was next to being frozen, and otherwise would not have left the (younger) baby."

Water resource board airs Raft River project

BOISE — The progress of the Lower Raft River Project, which envisions development of 12,500 acres of land along the Snake River, will be outlined for the Idaho Water Resource Board during a meeting on Friday in Boise.

Verd King, assistant director for development of the board, will discuss the project, which would extend an irrigation canal into federally-owned lands south of Raft River to open up 12,500 acres of land for development. The plan was developed after an initial proposal to develop land along the east side of the Raft River area brought little interest from landowners, King said.

The project would require water pumped from the Snake River during high-water periods, with groundwater wells backing up the irrigation in slack-water periods. In addition, water would be pumped from the wells back into the river during low-water periods to replace water taken for the project, King explained.

The Water Resource Board will also consider allocation of Pacific Northwest River Basin study funds, groundwater recharge legislation and other items during the day-long meeting at the Rowdway Inn.

Brandt launches treaty

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt's government Monday launched the process of getting Parliament to ratify the treaties Brandt signed with the Soviet Union and Poland in 1970.

The move followed the signing in Berlin Saturday of accords between East and West Germany designed to complete the Four-Power Berlin agreement.

The government submitted the treaties to the upper house of Parliament—the Bundesrat—as the first step in a process that will not be completed before the end of April, at earliest.

The attempt to ratify the treaties was expected to be politically hazardous for the 57-year-old chancellor and his coalition government. The government commands only a four-vote majority in the lower house of Parliament and the opposition Christian Democrats are pledged to fight ratification.

The key feature of the treaties is that the Bonn government accepts as inviolable the frontiers imposed on West Germany at the end of World War II. The opposition charges that they gave away former German territories without getting any political concessions in return.

The non-aggression treaties, signed with Moscow Aug. 12, 1970, and with Warsaw Dec. 7, 1970, were keystones of Brandt's policy of achieving reconciliation with the Communist states of Eastern Europe which the Nazis overran.

Trade problem talks snarled

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A U.S. attempt to "railroad" talks on short-term trade problems in negotiations with European Common Market officials, has failed, a U.S. official said Sunday, making impossible any solution to the world monetary crisis before the turn of the year.

The foreign ministers of the six market nations—accompanied by Britain which is for the first time officially endorsing a Common Market stand—said the European Economic Community is ready to negotiate trade problems with the United States, but not in time to end the crisis before New Year's.

The ministers issued a declaration of intent after seven hours of intensive talks Saturday.

U.S. officials in Brussels said the decision of the ministers not to open talks on short-term trade problems this week meant a "squelch" of the monetary crisis would be postponed probably until the new year.

"Our tactics may have been wrong," one U.S. official said. "We tried to railroad through the trade talks. We failed."

Market officials said the United States wanted to obtain trade concessions from the Common Market as a condition for the removal of the temporary U.S. 10 per cent import surcharge.

"We can't accept that," a high market official said. "The surcharge must be removed when the new money parities are worked out. And we won't put any trade concessions into effect until the U.S. Congress has ratified the devaluation of the dollar."

The United States had hoped William D. Eberle, President Nixon's special trade negotiator, could have solved the short-term trade problems.

Time for living

By ROGER FRANKLIN

Editorial Research Reports (ERR) recently stated that seniors as a protest group are more skillful than anti-war forces in moving the government.

Seniors, said ERR, "know how to work within the system, but they're no more disposed than their grandchildren to say 'yes sir' to the government."

Every day I hear about more seniors mobilizing for better housing, increased Social Security, reduced transportation costs. The strongest supporters and activists for a better life come right from our own ranks.

Take the Texas Senior Citizens Association. "We work with anyone who's in office," reports its president, R. L. Jones. "We publish politicians' voting records on issued pertinent to us . . . send questionnaires to aspiring candidates asking their position on certain legislation, and print their answers in our newspaper, too."

For five years the Texas seniors have worked as a non-partisan group. They were instrumental in getting legislation passed to reduce the fare on state bus transportation. In fact, Jones became so involved in legislation affecting seniors that he registered as a lobbyist during the recent Texas legislative session.

He stayed there four months, going from office to office to talk to legislators. "If it's necessary again, I'll give a repeat performance," he promises.

Two powerful seniors, Andy Kenagy and R. D. Lewis, are responsible for creating the Brazos County (Tex.) Forums on Aging and setting up a library gerontology center. Last year Kenagy handed the librarian a list of recommended books from the Texas Society on Aging; at once a complete gerontology center at the library took root. Today hundreds of books on retirement and aging fill the library shelves. Included are large-type books, the Bible, the classics, and American literature.

In San Francisco, Rev. Edward Peet, 69, is the potent force behind the Legislative Council for Older Americans. "When I came here four years ago, I found older persons with housing and community health problems that called for political answers," he said. "So I looked around for a plan. We modeled our organization after the Massachusetts Legislative Council for Older Persons, which was going strong and doing a great job."

About 20,000 seniors are now enrolled, and the number grows every day. Rev. Peet and his gray-haired supporters make frequent city hall appearances vigorously lobbying for and against various issues. Typical of their activities: circulating petitions to demand a fair rent control board.

What keeps alive such senior power spirit? Rev. Peet gives the best answer. "Seniors are tenacious."

No experiments

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers broke off discussions Monday on the feasibility of a short work week after the company refused to test a work week of four 10-hour shifts in one of its plants.

Douglas A. Fraser, a UAW vice president and director of the union's Chrysler Department, said "Chrysler was not interested in going for an experimental four-day week. I think it is regrettable."

William F. Bavenger, director of industrial relations for Chrysler, said there were too many obstacles in the way of the four-day work week—a work week that could have given the company's 100,000 production employees three-day weekends.

Medical proposal

BOISE (UPI) — The Health Manpower Committee of the Governor's Advisory Council heard a proposal Monday to help ease the physician shortage problem in Idaho.

The associate dean of the University of Washington Medical School described the WAMI (Washington, Alaska, Montana, Idaho) program as a new concept in medical education.

Dr. Roy Schwarz, Seattle, said the program would permit Idaho to make use of its universities and colleges in training medical students.

$20 million damage suit brought against firm for phosphate slime

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Phosphate slime on the Peace River is "killing" but angry Florida officials have filed a $20 million damage suit against Cities Service Oil Co., whose equipment allegedly unleashed the fish-killing tide.

The damage suit, largest ever filed by the Florida Pollution Control Department, asked the Polk County Circuit Court Monday to shut down Cities Service's Fort Meade phosphate plant unless it complies with state antipollution laws. Biologists and chemists from the Pollution Control Department's regional office in Punta Gorda reported that 80 to 70 percent of the slime had settled to the bottom. But the slime had choked thousands of bass, snook, bream, catfish and the celebrated tarpon for which the river is famous.

Residents and fishing camp owners on the river, which meanders from the phosphate plateaus of Polk County to the Gulf of Mexico, said the latest spill was worse than a spill in 1967.

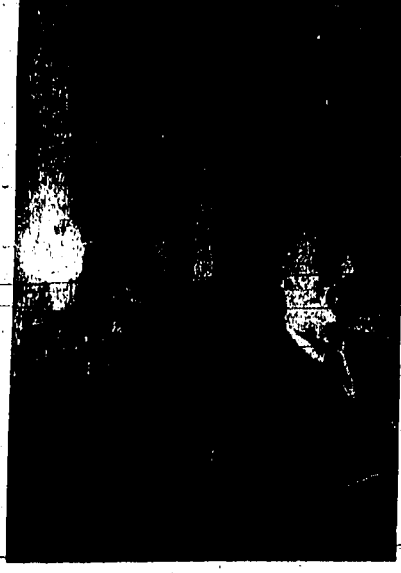

"The river will never be the same," said Ernest Purdy, owner of the Liverpool Fish Camp near the Gulf.

"I weathered the 1967 phosphate spill, but it's doubtful whether my business will be able to make it through this one. I'm renting no boats and selling no bait."

Kata Turbak, part owner of the Peace River Fish Camp in Charlotte County, looked at the turgid gray mass in the river and shrugged. "This is the worst pollution of this river I've ever seen," she said. "We couldn't sell our interest in this fish camp if we wanted."

Jim Brindell, an attorney for the Pollution Control Department, said the state's concern was reflected in the request for $10 million in punitive damages, as well as $10 million in compensatory damages.

"Punitive damages are not often asked for. It's a form of punishment and it exemplifies to others the type of thing they'll be subject to," Brindell said.

APOLLO 16 Command Module Pilot Thomas K. Mattingly II speaks to newsmen as the Saturn V launch vehicle rolls out of the vehicle assembly building at Cape Kennedy, Fla. (UPI)

Astronaut lauds space program

CAP. KENNEDY (UPI) — Apollo 16 astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly watched the next to last moon rocket move to its ocean-side launch pad Monday and said the space program is just beginning.

Mattingly, John W. Young and Charles M. Duke are scheduled to set out March 17 on the nation's fifth moon landing expedition. Monday's move marked a major step in launch preparations.

The final moon mission is set for next December. It will be followed in 1973 by the eight-month Skylab space station program.

After watching Apollo 16 leave its assembly building on the back of a massive tractor, Mattingly told a crowd of 10,000 onlookers that he recently inspected full-scale models of the Skylab and he was impressed with its capabilities.

"You can't escape the impression and belief that we have just taken our first baby steps," he said. "I can tell you the space program is just beginning."

After Skylab, the space agency hopes to have a space shuttle or orbital transport under development, Mattingly said he expected the space shuttle would open up space just as freeways provide quick and easy access to major cities on earth.

The 363-foot Apollo 16 rocket and moonship combination crept out of the vehicle assembly building at dawn on the eight-tread crawling machine. It covered the 3 1/2 miles to the firing pad in about five hours.

"That to me is a particularly impressive sight," Mattingly said, "particularly when you have an opportunity to think about what this all represents."

Young and Duke, who were on a geological field trip in Hawaii Monday, are scheduled to land in the moon's central highlands March 21. They will spend a record 73 hours there, examining the type of terrain that makes up 70 percent of the moon's surface.

Mattingly, who lost a son on the abortive Apollo-13 flight when he was exposed to measles, will spend six days in lunar orbit in the Apollo 16 command ship. He will use a pair of telescopic cameras and other sensors to map a large portion of the moon.

Black leader pleads innocent

NEW YORK (UPI) — H. Rap Brown, still recovering from wounds he received during a police shootout Oct. 16, limped into court Monday and pleaded innocent to charges of attempted murder and robbery.

A small group of followers of the militant black leader greeted him with clenched fists as he entered state Supreme Court. Brown returned the gesture.

After admitting he was the person named in the indictment, Brown entered his plea. He then was returned to Bellevue Hospital's prison ward. At the time of his arrest, Brown claimed his name was Roy Williams.

In a separate proceeding, Justice George Carney reduced Brown's bail from $250,000 to $200,000 and the bail of three codefendants from $150,000 to $50,000 each.

The four, who were named in a 24-count indictment last week, were accused of staging a robbery at the Red Carpet Lounge, a tavern on Manhattan's Upper West Side, where they allegedly forced 25 persons at gunpoint to surrender their cash and valuables.

Police responding to the robbery said the four fled the bar, shooting at them. Brown was captured on the roof of a nearby building after being wounded in the exchange of gunfire with officers.

His codefendants are Levi Valentine of Chicago and Sam Petty and Arthur Young, both of St. Louis.

Kidnaped victim alive, letter says

ESSEN, Germany (UPI) — The family of kidnaped millionaire Theo Albrecht received a letter from him Monday assuring them that he is still alive, police said.

Police gave no other details of the letter but said it apparently was designed to offset newspaper speculation that the chain store proprietor was dead.

Albrecht, 49, vanished Nov. 29, apparently while on the way home from his main office at Herten, 18 miles from his Essen home. Police said Friday the kidnapers were demanding a ransom of $2.1 million for his release.

Police said Albrecht's family was ready to pay the ransom, but apparently were having difficulty making arrangements through a go-between.

At a news conference in Essen Monday Public Prosecutor Gerd Lindenberg said police were keeping out of the dealings with the kidnapers in order not to endanger Albrecht's life.

Minidoka county might okay housing authority

BY DAVID ESPO
Times-News Staff Writer
RUPERT — The Minidoka County Commissioners "may, very possibly go along" with a request to establish a county housing authority, according to Wayne Hollenbeck, chairman.

Hollenbeck's statement came in response Monday to a request from about 100 county farmers for the creation of the authority as an important step in the construction of a new labor camp in the Norland district, north of Rupert.

Vern Kinnear, chairman of the board of directors of the Ikon Association, said Tuesday the group will meet Wednesday to consider possible further action in the wake of Ling's appearance before the commissioners.

Hollenbeck said Monday no action will be taken before the first of the year, although he said it was "very possible" that the request would be granted.

The present attempt to secure federal funds is the latest to have taken place over a period of several years. Two years ago, Kinnear said, his group's request for the money was effectively blocked when the federal government demanded the farmers guarantee the full amount of the loan. Under the new proposal, the housing authority would secure the loan.

The situation is similar to one which exists already in Paul, where the city housing authority has responsibility for a labor camp situated in the authority's jurisdiction.

In other business the commissioners gave final approval to a licensing ordinance to provide control on gatherings of 500 or more people for 18 or more hours within county boundaries. Passed in response to the Wood River-Rock-Festival in September near Bellevue, the county law differs slightly from the one passed several weeks ago by the Rupert City Council.

The commissioners also approved the rezoning of several subdivisions as agricultural residential. They include Rio Villa, Minico Subdivision, Emerson Heights Subdivision, Clyde Coats and Adam Hill's Subdivision. Each had previously been zoned A-1, agricultural.

School near completion

BY PEGGY CHU
Times-News Staff Writer

GOODING — Gooding's new high school is 85 per cent complete and should be ready for occupancy in mid-February, Ed Peterson of CTA architects engineers, planners, told the Gooding School Board Monday. Bleachers have been installed in the gymnasium, carpet is being laid and lockers should arrive this week, he said.

Trustees voted to accept a cash settlement of $1,500 from Neilson Miller Construction Co. for the gymnasium floor. The floor is not in the condition called for in specifications.

The board earlier turned down a $1,000 settlement offer from the contractor. Rather than remove the bleachers and tear up the gym floor and re-lay it, the $1,500 settlement was agreed upon by the contractor. Trustees also voted to lower the contractor retainage fee from 10 per cent of the cost to five per cent. This means that $66,868 or five per cent, is being held back at this point. The contractor requested the reduction last month, but trustees denied the proposal.

Trustees expressed apprehension about tiling in the kitchen and asphalt paving in the parking lot of the new school. Neilson-Miller officials said the company has replaced the tile in the kitchen, but Chairman Dick Graves said he did not think it was any better than before.

Neilson-Miller assured the school board that in the spring any open places in the paving will be corrected when a penetrating oil is poured over the asphalt.

Supt. James Muscat suggested the school no longer sent its teachers to Idaho Education Association teachers' institutes, but have teacher workshops at Gooding two days before school begins. He suggested consultants be brought in. He said transportation of teachers to IEA institutes is expensive and the money could be used to hire consultants to come to Gooding. Muscat said the new high school would require about $3,500 worth of new cleaning equipment, mostly because of carpeting.

Shoshone okays Yearly contest lounge study

SHOSHONE — Members of the Shoshone School Board approved a request Monday night by student body president John Johnson to allow a feasibility study by the student council for a student lounge at the high school.

The board hired Mrs. Martin Luaders as part time cook to handle serving of hot lunches at the high school when the new phase of the hot lunch program goes into operation Jan. 3. Previously, high school students have gone from their school on the south side of the city to Lincoln School on the north side of the city for lunch.

Kitchen facilities at the high school have been remodeled to accommodate serving lunches which will be prepared at the elementary school and transported to the high school.

In other business the board voted to pay increased health insurance premiums for all district employees.

Supt. Kenneth Crothers reported the two state department of education members appointed to assist in evaluating the Shoshone school system are Orville Reddington and Richard Kay. The first meeting to begin the study will be at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The board approved a $15 a month salary increase to custodians Martin Luaders, elementary school, and Joe Gonzales, high school.

Twin Falls

A total of $150 in awards will be divided among the four top winners and two honorable mention selections in this Yuletide's display lighting competition sponsored by the Idaho Power Co. and the Times-News.

J. W. (Wag) Coryell, division manager of the power company, and C. A. (Gus) Kelter, editor of the Times-News, said there will be $50 for the first place winner, $40 for second, $25 for third, $15 for fourth and $5 each for two honorable mentions.

Those entering the competition must be residents within the limits of Twin Falls and displays cannot be commercially sponsored. The entry blanks must be mailed to the Times-News before Dec. 22 and a panel of judges will inspect all displays the evening of Dec. 23. Winners will be announced in the Times-News of Sunday, Dec. 26.

All winners will be required to leave the displays lighted each evening through Jan. 1. The official entry blank will be published in the Times-News Wednesday and will be contained in each issue through Dec. 21.

Trustees told of priorities need

BY TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Staff Writer
HAILEY — Priorities in education must be re-examined, Idaho State Rep. E. V. McHan told the Blaine County School Board of Trustees Monday.

We go down the same path every year," McHan said. "I am interested in a change in education funding as well as in education philosophy."

McHan listed his first priority as elementary education, followed by vocational education. Higher education and kindergarten, he said, are third and fourth priorities, he said.

The representative said he spoke to the group to exchange ideas before the legislature meets in January.

"We're spending too much money on higher education," he said. He recommended more funds be channeled into elementary public education. Speaking about higher education, he said, "I am against the different schools doubling and duplicating curriculum, jockeying for money."

Assistant Supt. Ray Jefferson said "I would surely push on the vocational concept. We have increased federal allotments but keep putting them in the same format."

Jefferson said in the county school districts in Idaho, there are not enough students or money to have a complete vocational education program. An alternative, he said, would be an area vocational school, and to secondarily fall back on business.

But, he said, "We have no choice. Funding will go to Boise where they have a large concentration of population."

McHan agreed there are few alternatives for Blaine County students who want to leave school after their sophomore year and complete their education at a vocational institute.

He said higher education institutions have a 40 to 60 per cent dropout rate while vocational schools have "less than a 2 per cent dropout rate."

"If you look at it in terms of cold hard cash," he said, "40 to 60 per cent of the money is going down the drain."

On kindergartens, he said, the state program would cost $10 to $12 million. "We don't even have funding for elementary education. I can't buy taking on a new program."

"I hope you realize," he said, "that when I vote against an education funding bill, it is not because I am against education. It is because I am for priorities."

Official rehired

BURLEY — Dr. Harold Blauer was rehired Monday night for a third year as chief administrator of Cassia County schools.

Meeting briefly in executive session at the conclusion of the regular meeting, trustees approved contracts for Dr. Blauer, Norman Hurst, assistant superintendent, and Mat Warr, school district business manager.

Architect William Richardson told the board Monday the district could build a consolidated high school for 1,100 students, enough to combine the present high schools in Burley, Declo, Oakley and Raft River, at a cost of $2,765, million. The figure includes an auditorium large enough to seat the entire projected student body population.

Richardson also presented two proposed sites for the structure, the first at the base of the Albion Hill, 750 East, and the second at 250 East 300 South.

Vacation

HOLLISTER — Eighty grade school pupils here had a surprise holiday today when the town water system broke down. Principal Howard Kinasther said the pupils were dismissed after the pump for the water system burned out. He said repairs should be completed today and the classes for the six grades in the elementary school should resume Wednesday.

Jerome school cleared

In other matters, the board denied a request from Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meyers to have their 40-acre farm put into the Wendell School district so their children may attend Wendell schools. Campbell said "We have already given away part of the school district, referring to an 80-acre site in the same area, and I hesitate to give away anymore. This is a simple dollar and cents answer that if we start giving up a little land here and a little land there, we will soon be giving up land all over the place."

In a letter to the board, Mrs. Meyers indicated regardless of the school board's decision, she was going to place her children in the Wendell School District and pay the tuition.

The board approved hiring Mrs. Phyllis Jackson as Spanish teacher for the junior and senior high. Mrs. Jackson replaces Mrs. Jan Scott, who resigned. She has been working the past month as a substitute teacher.

The board approved acting on the directive from D. F. Engelking, State superintendent of schools, to pay the teachers the total amount of contracts including the amount lost during the pay wage and price freeze. In the letter from Engelking, it was suggested the district add up the amount deducted from the salaries during the freeze and beginning with the December check, prorate the amount over the remainder of the year.

Hollfield raised the objection "if we are going to pay this, do it all at once."

"This institutes a retroactive pay raise and opens the teachers' contracts for renegotiation. I do not understand how the district can do this, since the President's pay board has made it clear there will be no retroactive pay raises," Hollfield said.

Salary hike approved

RICHFIELD — School board members of District 316 in Richfield Monday night approved a district-wide increment salary increase. The increase has now been approved under the wage freeze program and this will be the only raise for teachers this year.

The raise will begin in December and will be prorated to cover the entire school year. A new contract for bus drivers with higher pay for extra duty long hours only was also approved.

At the same time the district board said insurance costs for teachers in the system will go up in January.

An audit report presented by the firm of Carrio and Oakley, Gooding, reported school books are in good shape. The firm's representative, William Oakley, gave special praise to the student body treasurer of last year, David Brush, an accounting student now attending Boise State College. The accountant said the student books were unusually well done during the past year. He also complimented the 1968-70 student body treasurer, Norlyn Pope.

Board members approved plans to hire two student clerical workers for the vocational program.

It was announced the community Christmas play will be held Friday at 1:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Hearings held on five tax appeals

SHOSHONE — The Idaho State Tax Board of Appeals held an all-day meeting Monday in Shoshone to hear five appeals on property tax assessments.

The hearings were held individually and the taxpayers were told they would be notified of rulings at a later date. Conducted as a court case, the taxpayers called their own witnesses and testified on their own behalf as to reasons for requesting lowered property tax assessments.

Howard E. Adkins, Lincoln

County prosecuting attorney, handled the cases on behalf of the county.

Those appealing taxes to the state board of appeals after failing to receive reductions upon appeals to the county assessor and county commissioners were Floyd Silva, Elwood R. Werry, Carl Schuppenies, Clarence Magoffin and Glen Young. They all claimed their property had been taxed too high for its value and that there had been inequities in appraisal.

Shoshone chamber elects officers

SHOSHONE — Roy Hubert, an employe of First Security Bank, was elected president of the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce Monday night. Hubert succeeded Myron D. Johnson, Clarence Magoffin, was named vice president. Mrs. Reed Newby is an employed secretary.

Speaking at the dinner meeting at the Manhattan Cafe was Jerry Meyerhoeffer, Twin Falls, director of admissions and records at the College of Southern Idaho. He showed a film of the campus and gave a brief history of the junior college.

Meyerhoeffer said tuition fees at the college were not raised this fall as in most similar institutions in the state. In some instances, he said, including Lincoln County, the fee per student was lowered.

He outlined the adult education classes available and said the purpose of a junior college is to serve the community, which, he said, he believed CSI is doing.

Redfish lake lodge sold

STANLEY — Sale of the Redfish Lake Lodge and Resort for $300,000 to a California family is now final, Harry LeMoine of LeMoine Realty, Twin Falls, has announced.

The buyer is Jack See, San Diego, Calif. He plans to move his family to Idaho soon to make their home at the resort. Previous owners, Redfish Lake Enterprises, Inc., included Robert Colner, and Melbourne Jansen, both Twin Falls; Arthur Harnburger, Whittier, Calif., and C. R. (Bob) Tucker, who managed the resort. Tucker will stay on as manager, the new owner has announced.

Mr. and Mrs. See and their 10 sons and daughters hope to take an active part in the resort operation as soon as they can wind up business matters in California and move to Idaho. The family consists of Jack See, Jr., 21, who has spent the past summer working in County Cork, Ireland, and will graduate with a degree in biology from the University of Southern California next spring; Sharon, 20, a junior at Northern Arizona University and an education major who has worked summers as a cook for the Salmon River float crews; Darby, the oldest daughter, who is married to a veteran helicopter pilot; Danny, 13, and Sally, 14, Linda, 18, a student at San Diego State, majoring in biology; Dennis, 10; Bridget, 11, and Eileen, 16, and Molly, 6.

LeMoine said there is a U. S. Forest Service lease on the site and the forest service has agreed to grant more space for expansion of parking for trailers and construction of motel and cabin facilities. Forest service plans to relocate the road which will allow for construction of a two-story motel on the lake beach. Additional area will be granted for a trailer park. There are now 12.5 acres included in the lease. The owners plan a new store with lunch counter and other improvements, LeMoine said.

Filer plans swimming pool despite weather

BY MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News Staff Writer

FILER — A community swimming pool moved closer to reality Monday evening when a unanimous vote to proceed with plans was cast by a group meeting in the Filer elementary school.

Bill Brake, chairman of the pool committee, asked for proposals of the proposed pool and for suggestions from the crowd. He stated the committee has visited a number of other pools in the state and estimates were taken from the costs of the pool built by the people of Homedale.

Building estimates for the total cost of $62,878 include equipment, $1,807; dressing rooms, $20,420; pool and equipment, $27,476; plumbing, $6,700; electric wiring, $3,470; fencing, $1,500, and decking, $1,460. A well, with a temperature of 110 degrees, is at the pool site, the northwest corner of the Filer City Park.

A proposed pool measuring 75 by 32 feet would meet standard requirements and would accommodate high school or collegiate meets, if desired. The group discussed having a covered pool for 12 months' use and many present favored the idea.

The need for lifeguards, whenever the pool was in use, was noted. The question of pool maintenance after completion brought suggestions to charge for use of the pool, with the money to go toward that cost.

Howard Huston, park board secretary, asked the group for views on canvassing Filer and the surrounding area for pledges. Many signified willingness to help in the canvass. He estimated 1,200 families in the area would benefit from the pool. An alternate method of raising the money would be to form a swimming pool district and levy a tax.

The Idaho Parks Commission will match funds raised for the pool as it did in building the city park, which was completed this year at a total cost of $20,000. It was originally begun on a three-year plan but was completed in three years.

Top money winner

THE LINDERMAN trophy of rodeo was awarded to Phil Lyne of George West, Tex., during award ceremonies at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. The ceremony followed the final performance of the National Finals Rodeo. Lyne earned the trophy, which goes to the all-around world champion cowboy, by edging out Bob Berger of Norman, Okla., as the year's top money winner. Lyne picked up $4,339 in the National Finals Rodeo to boost his RCA earnings to $49,244 this year. The Linderman Trophy is named in honor of the late Bill Linderman, who at the time of his death in a plane crash in Salt Lake City several years ago, was serving as president of the Rodeo Cowboys of America. Linderman, former rodeo great, had lived in Idaho periodically during his colorful career. (UPI)

Fate of school formula draws divided opinions

(Editors note: This is the eight of several dispatches outlining problems confronting the forthcoming session of the 41st Idaho Legislature. Today — The proposed school formula.)

By LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — Results of a recent UPI questionnaire show legislators who think a proposed new school formula will pass are evenly matched with those who don't think so or just aren't certain.

The formula — approved by the House in the 1971 session but held in the Senate for further study — would in its most basic form fund 75 per cent of public education from a state-controlled source, leaving local districts to pay for the rest.

An interim committee has worked the measure over since the 1971 session and it appears the new proposal will be one of the more important items of legislation in 1972.

Of those responding to the poll, 52 per cent think the bill will pass, 22 per cent think it will not pass and 26 per cent have indicated uncertainty over the bill's future.

Many, however, pointed to the ruling of the California Supreme Court which held unconstitutional a property tax method for financing public education, a system similar to that now used in Idaho.

Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, one of the prime movers behind the original idea, said he feels the proposed formula represents a "forward step that would be a vehicle to carrying out the California decision."

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Boise, added in light of the California decision the plan "may well be the promptest and best solution."

But Rep. Don Brennan, D-Pocatello, predicted the proposal would not stand a court test because it "does not go far enough."

Just how far Idaho's current method of financing goes is the subject of a suit filed by two school districts and parent contending the present use of property taxes is unconstitutional. The outcome of that suit may be a spur to changing the formula.

The reasons for not endorsing the proposed change are as varied as the legislators themselves. Some object to changes made, lack of changes, use of utilities in the formula, a possible lack of local control and the question of a state-imposed ad valorem tax.

"I question establishing a state ad valorem tax once again," said State Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, adding there is a statute now on the books prohibiting such a tax as long as the state continues to charge a sales tax.

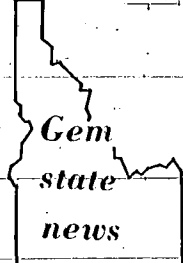

"After all," Budge said, "California was just one state's opinion."

Another legislator — who declined to be identified — warned that the folks back home will play an important part when each lawmaker decides how to vote.

"Legislators tend to vote on or amend such bills to protect their constituents who have long been subsidized by the present formula," he said. "The California court decision may prove helpful."

Presenting his own alternative, Sen. Charles E. "Chick" Blyeu, D-Pocatello, suggested the state pay salaries for all teachers while local districts pay for buildings, buses, administrators' administrative costs and equipment.

"This action would aid local school districts in making long over-due decisions to consolidate," he added.

Contest prizes listed

RUPERT — An over all grand prize will be awarded in the annual Christmas Home Lighting Contest along with first and second prizes in each of four divisions.

The event is sponsored by Rupert Chamber of Commerce. A five-member judging team has been selected and they will judge the homes Dec. 20.

Persons who wish their decorations judged, and anyone knowing of an outstanding decoration in the county are asked to phone 436-3846 the chamber of commerce office giving name and address.

Contest officials said anyone who has won a grand prize or first prize in the last three years will not be eligible for a prize this year, but may receive honorable mention.

The four divisions which will be judged individually include: Division One, the area in the city of Rupert which is south and east of railroad tracks to 100 south and within the city limits to the east; Division Two, the city area north of the tracks to the canal on 11th street; Division Three, the city area north of 11th Street canal, to the north edge of the city limits, and Division 4 the county area outside of the Rupert City limits.

Suit seeks to evict Boise City

BOISE (UPI) — The state of Idaho brought suit in Fourth District Court Monday to evict Boise city from offices it is sub-letting in the National Guard Armory.

In its complaint, the state alleged the city has refused to vacate the premises even though under terms of the sub-lease the state has the right to revoke the lease.

The state contends the city leased the property to the state for a term of 60 years, beginning April 16, 1955.

Later, July 11, 1968, the state said, the state sub-leased a portion of the property back to the city for five years for $100 per month.

However, the suit contends the state can cancel or revoke the sub-lease at the pleasure of the governor.

Last July 22, the state maintains, the governor revoked the sub-lease and asked the city to vacate the premises by Sept. 21. However, the state said the city did not leave and that on Dec. 7 the city advised the attorney general it would not vacate the premises.

Second holdup

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — A man suspected of robbing an Idaho Falls bank of $12,000 last week has confessed to robbing a Lander, Wyo., bank of $20,000 last September.

A spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Vernon Roger Kush, 31, Big Piney, Wyo., admitted the Lander holdup after he was questioned about the Idaho Falls robbery.

He said he understood charges would be filed in Cheyenne, Wyo., against Kush in connection with the Wyoming robbery.

Kush is being held in lieu of $20,000 bail in a Pocatello jail pending further action by federal officials. His Idaho case is expected to be put before a federal grand jury in Boise Tuesday.

Bonneville County bridge torn down

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Under the direction of county commissioners, the Bonneville County Road and Bridge Department tore down Monday the controversial Irwin Suspension Bridge spanning the south fork of the Snake River.

Bonneville County Sheriff Blaine Skinner said the 30-yard footbridge came down at 10 a.m. A handful of families living on the south side of the river used the bridge to cross to the hamlets of Irwin and Swan Valley. They will now be forced to use a road which is often closed by snow in the winter.

Earlier this year the bridge was condemned as being unsafe under federal safety standards. County commissioners became liable for any accident or injury suffered by persons on the bridge.

Fuel waste

NEW YORK (UPI) — Homes built during the next 10 years will waste twice the amount of gas used to heat all the U.S. homes in 1965, says an Owens Corning Fiberglas Corp. executive. He suggests that one way to ease the current fuel waste is to design buildings that use energy more efficiently.

Expanding farm markets forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farmers around the world will find their markets expanding by nearly a third during the current decade. As a result, the percentage of the world's population which is underfed probably will shrink by 1980. But malnutrition in poor nations will not be eliminated and the total number of underfed people may not be much, if any, below the 1970 level.

Those forecasts are included in a new set of 1970-1980 projections prepared recently by economists of the U. N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO). The FAO experts said overall demand for all farm products, including both food and fiber, is likely to rise during the 1970-1980 decade by a fraction under 30 per cent. The sharpest growth rate, 43 per cent, is forecast for developing nations whose populations are continuing to expand sharply.

In high-income countries like the United States, the FAO projections indicate total demand for agricultural products over the decade is likely to increase about 24 per cent. In "centrally planned" Asian economies, including Communist China, where the FAO conceded its estimates were shaky, the demand increase was put at 34 per cent.

All these increases — a reflection of rising income which turns food "wants" into effective food "demand" — will mean better diets for millions around the world, the FAO report says.

But with population in low-income countries expected to rise by 750 million people during the decade, "the absolute number of underfed people would not fall by many or possibly any," the report said.

The projections show that in 1980, 42 developing countries with a total population of 1.4 billion would — even if demand was fully met — have average calorie intakes below requirements," the FAO specialists calculated. The report said the below-par diet averages would be concentrated most heavily in West and Northwest Africa and the "centrally planned" Asian countries.

Other portions of the FAO study indicate that world demand will be rising faster for meats than for any other group of foods. Total increase in demand for meat was projected at 35 per cent compared with 27 per cent for all foods. The fastest-growing item in the meat group, according to the report, will be poultry. World demand for poultry meat in 1980 was projected at 60 per cent over the 1970 level.

Despite continued health-protection attacks on cigarette smoking, the FAO said, projections indicate a 29 per cent growth in total tobacco consumption by 1980. This overall figure includes a 17 per cent growth estimate for high-income countries like the United States, where anti-smoking pressure has been heaviest, but a 47 per cent growth in developing countries and 33 per cent in "centrally planned" portions of Asia.

Nippon travel booms

TOKYO (UPI)—A rage to travel abroad is sweeping the Japanese in spite of the "doru shokku" (dollar shock) triggered by President Nixon in August.

In fact, the doru shokku helped many Japanese to decide to hie themselves off for foreign parts because it slashed the price of transpacific air fares. It takes only 321 yen to buy a dollar's worth of airline ticket now compared with 360 yen earlier this year. This saving can be increased by judicious shopping off-season for bargains.

So it's no wonder whole families of Japanese have been discovered sightseeing industriously all over the world this fall.

However, in order to take his family abroad the Japanese business men first must accumulate the yen and the doru shokku has made that more difficult. By sharply raising the prices of Japanese goods in the United States, the doru shokku checked the rampaging growth of Nippon's Gross National Product so that it is expected to hit only 4.5 to 5 per cent this year compared with an average of 10 per cent in recent years.

Teen-agers among score receiving hero awards

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Six teen-agers were among 20 persons cited by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission Tuesday for heroic rescues from a burning boat, an approaching train, an icy river in Nova Scotia and flaming water in Pensacola Bay.

Gary Owen Wiseman, 14, Middle Sackville, Nova Scotia, was the youngest to receive a bronze medal. Wiseman rescued nine-year-old Bruce E. Weir from icy Sackville River Nov. 29, 1969, after the youngster broke through the ice.

Three teen-agers from Louisiana received bronze medals for rescuing a couple who had jumped from a burning boat into a bayou at Slidell, La., June 7, 1970. Randi L. Roboul, 17, New Orleans, Robert H. Heap, Jr., 18, and Gary P. Heap, 18, of Abita Springs, La., swam to the side of the burning twin-engine craft despite being warned of a possible explosion. They struggled with Anthony C. Plescia, 59, a wholesale grocer, and Marian Plescia, two non-swimmers, and succeeded in towing them to safety.

Antonio Smith, 15, Trenton, N.J., was among those honored. The high school student jumped onto railroad tracks at Trenton last May 5 and pulled an unconscious man from the path of a passenger train. The train was only 170 feet away when young Smith ran to George W. Brown, 46, and pulled him to safety. Brown had fallen to the tracks and was knocked unconscious when he struck his head on a rail.

Richard Drew Haber, 16, Pensacola, Fla., didn't even shed his clothing when he plunged into Pensacola Bay to help a truck driver to escape from gasoline burning on the water. Driver J. T. Baker, 39, surfaced in the bay amid flaming gasoline after his truck was involved in a bridge accident, caught fire and plunged into the bay.

In addition to awarding 20 bronze medals, the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission awarded a total of $11,250 in money grants. Two medals were awarded to the mothers of two who lost their lives trying to save others.

Skylab rocket refurbished

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A rocket built in 1966 has come out of hibernation and is being refurbished for the launch of the first Skylab space station crewmen in 1973.

The Saturn 1B first stage, stored in a plastic cocoon for 34 months, will be shipped to Cape Kennedy in August for final flight preparations.

The eight-engine booster is one of three Saturn 1Bs that will launch three-man Apollo command ships to rendezvous and link up with the orbiting Skylab. Each crew will occupy the station for four to eight weeks over an eight month period.

The Skylab, a 188,000-pound assembly with the room of a small house, is scheduled to be lofted into orbit first on April 30, 1973, by a Saturn 5 rocket. The smaller two-stage Saturn 1B will follow the next day with the first Skylab crew. The second three-man team is to be launched by another Saturn 1B July 30, 1973, with the third crew following on Oct. 28, 1973.

The initial Skylab booster, identified as vehicle No. 206, has been at the cape before.

Job ranks open now

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has urged youths interested in summer jobs with the federal government to apply now.

Hansen said the number of available jobs is relatively small compared with the number of applications received each year. He said most job applications are filed during the spring, while many of the positions are filled before then.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were slightly lower at the halfway mark Tuesday despite an apparent breakthrough in the international monetary crisis.

President Nixon and French President Georges Pompidou, in a joint communique at the end of their Azores talks, said they had agreed "to work toward a prompt realignment of exchange rates through a devaluation of the dollar and revaluation of some other currencies."

The two leaders did not say how the devaluation would be accomplished or by how much, but finance ministers of the Group of Ten—the non-Communist world's wealthiest nations—met this weekend in Washington amid hopes formal agreement can be reached.

Many Wall Street analysts observed that the stock market had been moving ahead recently in anticipation of a monetary solution, and when the communique from the Azores came it merely served to confirm the market's expectations.

Market averages pointed slightly lower near 1:15 p.m., while the number of declining stocks were leading advances by about 80 issues.

A three-hour turnover of 9,000,000 shares compared with 11,400,000 shares traded in the comparable period the previous session.

Steeles and motors were narrowly mixed. IBM and Control Data were softer electronics, down 2 and 1 1/4, respectively.

Among the day's most active issues were Texas Gulf Sulphur up 1/4 on 107,100 shares, American Telephone unchanged on 90,700 shares, and Occidental Petroleum up 1/4 on 85,000 shares.

Potato estimate is down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has estimated the 1971 fall harvest potato crop at 249,895,000 hundredweight.

The estimate, based on Dec. 1 conditions by the department's crop reporting board, compared with last month's estimate of 250,779,000 hundredweight and a 1970 crop of 252,774,000 hundredweight.

The board also estimated production of 1972-crop winter harvest potatoes, grown in California at 2,564,000 hundredweight, compared with 3,088,000 hundredweight last year. The agency said farmers producing early spring harvest potatoes in Florida and Texas have indicated intentions to plant 26,200 acres, compared with 29,500 acres last spring.

Delegates pass major resolutions

CHICAGO — Voting delegates from member state Farm Bureaus to the 53rd annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation passed a number of resolutions.

Two resolutions of major importance are those concerned with transportation strikes and the Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act, (the Sisk Bill). Immediate enactment of federal legislation "to provide more effective means for protecting the public interest in transportation strikes" is called for by the group.

An all-out campaign to secure enactment of the Sisk Bill which requires processors to bargain in good faith with representatives of qualified farmers' marketing associations in the purchase of farm products marketed under contract, was also asked by the group.

Other Resolutions: — Call for inflation control through reduction of the 1972 federal deficit.

— Support "more strict enforcement of laws protecting private and public property."

— Support retention of USDA as a cabinet-level department.

— Call for work toward a market oriented agriculture and the elimination of compensatory payments while allowing the Agricultural Act of 1970 to operate through the 1973 crop year.

— Oppose "strategic reserve" programs as "bad for producers, costly for taxpayers, and unnecessary for the protection of consumers."

— Oppose "a complete ban on the use of any agricultural drug and chemical unless it can be demonstrated positively by prolonged and responsible research that the use of such product represents a clear and present danger to health or that such use would seriously jeopardize our environment."

— Call for "a mandatory program under which livestock producers would certify that they have followed established directions concerning the required withdrawal period in connection with animal drugs and feed additives."

— Call for a moratorium on increases in federal grazing fees.

— Oppose limits on federal payments to participants in government farm programs.

— Reiterate that a U. S. farm export goal of $10 billion per year is attainable "if we dedicate our efforts to supplying the demands for increased food and fiber consumption throughout the world."

Livestock waste seminar slated

TWIN FALLS — Dairymen and livestockmen are invited to attend a one-day seminar Thursday in the Holiday Inn concerning livestock waste disposal methods.

Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County agricultural agent, said the information is designed to help dairy operators with the problem of waste disposal but sessions should also be helpful to livestock feeders, swine and sheep producers.

The meeting will open at 10 a.m. followed by a no-host luncheon and afternoon discussions concluding at 3 p.m. Speakers will include Paul Shea, agricultural engineer, Minnesota Power and Light Co., Long Prairie, Minn.; W. C. Fairbank, extension agricultural engineer, University of California, Riverside.

Heads farm delegation

Butz favors farm trade with China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Sunday he would favor selling U. S. farm products to Red China if diplomatic relations with the Communist nation were established.

Butz said he hoped that steps in that direction could be taken during President Nixon's trip to the Chinese mainland early next year.

He gave his views in a televised interview, NBC's Meet the Press.

In response to questioning, Butz said first he strongly favored the sale of American agricultural goods to the Soviet Union if they were paid for in dollars.

Asked if he favored the same thing with the Chinese Communists, he replied: "Yes, I would if diplomatic relations can reach that point. If they can be established, I'd be delighted."

Butz, who was confirmed by only a seven-vote margin by the Senate, also declared he would not permit the Agriculture Department to be made a political football during the 1972 presidential year but he predicted the farm belt would vote Republican despite discontent over prices.

He also denied that he favors the elimination of the family farmer as charged by some of his critics.

Of his prediction that one million more small farmers would go out of business by 1980, Butz commented: "I was reporting the facts. This is what has been happening. You can't blame an agriculture secretary for reporting the facts any more than you can blame the Census Bureau for the population."

On the question of food stamps for the poor, Butz said he opposed abuses and chiseling which occurred in some instances, then commented:

"We're going to do everything we can so that no American, particularly no American child, goes to bed hungry ... but Americans who can do so should pay for their food in the market place just as they do for the automobiles or motorboats."

The agriculture secretary was asked about charges that blacks were discriminated against the Alabama's Agriculture Extension Service operations.

He did not deal with the charges implicitly but emphasized his own philosophy that everyone is equal, regardless of race, and pledged that no program under his administration would be allowed to practice racial prejudice.

Kilmer leads Redskins to 38-24 upset victory over Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Billy Kilmer threw three touchdown passes, including a 70-yard bomb to Roy Jefferson, Monday night to lead George Allen's Washington Redskins to a 38-24 upset victory over the Los Angeles Rams before a sellout crowd of 89,402.

It was a sweet victory not only for Kilmer, who starred on the same Coliseum field for UCLA, but also for Redskins coach Allen, who was fired after last season by Los Angeles, and eight ex-Rams now with Washington.

On a windy and chilly night with the temperature hovering near 40 degrees before a national television audience, Kilmer outshone Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel, who has been rated a better mechanical passer.

Kilmer completed an amazing 14 of 19 passes for 248 yards.

Gabriel completed only 17 of 43 passes for 219 yards, throw one for a touchdown and had three intercepted. The Redskins ran the last interception back on a touchdown for their final score.

The Washington quarterback got off to a bad start when Ram safety Kermit Alexander, an old UCLA teammate, intercepted a pass on the down run and ran it back 82 yards to a touchdown at 4:15 in the first quarter.

After the ensuing kickoff, Kilmer was quick to knot the count. He uncorked a pass that Jefferson caught on the Ram 27 and carried over for a touchdown. Curt Knight converted to make the score 7-7.

The Rams, favored by a touchdown, went out in front again at 11:08 in the first quarter on David Ray's 32-yard field goal but Knight tied up the game once more early in the second quarter on a 52-yard beauty.

The Rams then moved down to position Ray for a 29-yard field goal attempt but cornerback Ted Vector blocked it and Kilmer and the Redskins were on the march again.

On the third play of a 62-yard drive, Kilmer hit Clifton McNeil for a 32-yard touchdown pass and the Redskins were in front 17-10 and never headed.

On the ensuing kickoff, Vector again stole the show—he picked up a fumble by Ram rookie Roger Williams—and Washington had the ball on the Los Angeles four. It took the Redskins seven plays to do it but Larry Brown finally made the touchdown on a one-yard burst around right end with Knight's conversion making the score 24-10 25 seconds before the first half ended.

The Redskins ran their record to 9-3-1, their best record since 1942 when they were 10-1 and won the National Football League championship. They assured themselves of a spot in the playoffs for the Super Bowl.

The Rams now are 7-5-1 and have dropped a half game behind the San Francisco Forty Niners in the NFC West with one game left at Pittsburgh Sunday. The Forty Niners also have one contest remaining.

The Redskins put a big rush in the game on Gabriel with former Ram tackle Diron Talbert leading the crunch. In the third quarter, the hard-pressed Gabriel fumbled wildly and cornerback Mike Bass intercepted the ball.

Starting on his own 45, Kilmer moved Washington all the way once again, hitting Jefferson with a five-yard pass to top off the TD march at 5:57 in the third quarter.

Jefferson was the leading receiver, catching eight for 137 yards and two touchdowns.

Gabriel rallied the Rams in the third quarter after a tight end Bob Klein recovered a Redskins fumble. Vector, for a change, was the culprit. He fumbled a punt and the Rams took the ball on the Washington 41. After five plays later Gabriel hit Klein on a three-yard touchdown pass.

The gap was narrowed to 31-17 and at 4:40 in the fourth quarter Willie Ellison plunged over from the one to top off a 69-yard march to bring the Rams to within seven points.

With just 24 seconds to play, Speedy Duncan intercepted a Gabriel pass and ran it back 40 yards for a touchdown.

Idaho State edges Cal Poly 72-70

POCATELLO (UPI)—Ev Fopma rebounded a missed free throw and scored with 20 seconds left in the ball game as Idaho State University edged Cal Poly, Pomona, 72-70 Monday night in the Mindoom. ISU had rallied from a 33-47 deficit to take the lead and then had to fend off a determined Bronco comeback in the late stages of the ball game to earn the victory.

Bengal guard, 6-2 Pete Miller, led all scorers with 26 points, most of them coming on 20-foot jump shots. Fopma was next in ISU scoring with 21, including an uncanny 9-11 from the field. As a team, the Bengals shot 56 per cent.

Cal Poly was paced by forward Bob Brooks, who had 23 points.

The game's leading rebounder was ISU forward Edison Hicks, who had 12.

Wilkinson asked to coach Gophers

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Paul Glie, the University of Minnesota's new athletic director, said Monday he tried to convince former Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson to take the football coaching job at Minnesota.

"I met with Bud for about four hours in Tulsa, Okla.," Glie said. "He finally told me he just couldn't go. But I learned a lot."

Much of Glie's meeting with the prominent Minnesota graduate last Wednesday was spent in discussing names of other coaches around the country.

Wilkinson took a day and a half to respond before turning down Glie's offer. Then Glie withdrew his name as nominee for the athletic director's job in a conflict over hiring and firing procedures.

Glie renegotiated with university President Malcolm Moos and it was announced Sunday night that he again had been recommended as athletic director on a five-year contract.

So Glie, 39, has once again begun the search to find a replacement for Murray Warmath, coach of the past 18 years.

"I guess I've received about a half dozen applications," Glie said. "My first thought is to get an established coach, not necessarily a big name."

Although attendance at Gopher games is down, Glie insisted he has something to sell. "It is a tremendous area," he said. "It's a big ten school. There isn't any reason why it can't come back up the hill. I don't see why we can't have a good team."

Moos said the agreement with Glie has not a compromise. Glie said, "It's something we can both live with. But whatever Dr. Moos says goes for me, too."

Moos said "an advisory committee" of four or five persons will be appointed within the next few days to aid in selection of a football coach. He said Glie will serve as chairman of the committee and will be "the major architect" of all recommendations.

John Wooden thinks pollsters may have been right on pick

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA coach John Wooden, who protested when his team was picked No. 1 in the preseason ratings, said Monday that the pollsters may have been right.

At the weekly meeting of the Southern California basketball writers, Wooden said: "On the basis of the game we have played, I think we merit consideration to be among the top teams in the ratings."

With a starting lineup that includes three sophomores headed by 6-foot-11 Bill Walton, the Bruins have averaged 109.5 points a game while holding their opponents to a 63.8 average in posting a 4-0 record.

"We seem to be further along at this time than I had expected," said Wooden. "Our balance and team work have been most pleasing."

Asked about Walton, who is averaging 18.3 points and 13.5 rebounds a game, the UCLA coach said: "I expected him to improve and I expect him to improve a lot more with maturity. He's becoming more aggressive both on offense and defense."

"I think he needs more competition against people his own size, though."

While he doesn't begrudge his team the No. 1 spot in the ratings, Wooden was quick to point out he viewed the upcoming Pacific-8 race as more important.

"The ratings are good and we read them and like them but they only count in football and not basketball," he said. "As far as I'm concerned, the only thing that counts now is our conference."

Wooden said he would continue to go with the starting lineup that he used against The Citadel, Iowa, Iowa State and Texas A&M. That is made up of Walton at center, sophomore Keith Wilkes and junior Larry Farmer at forwards, and senior Henry Bibby and sophomore Greg Lee at guards.

"I've been very pleased," Wooden said, "with all the players who have started. I don't anticipate making any changes."

The Bruins, who have won five straight NCAA championships and seven titles in the last eight years, will continue to run and shoot.

"We have the type of material that should be able to run effectively," the UCLA coach declared.

If the Bruins have a weakness, Wooden said, it's on defense.

"After our press is broken, we're very slow in picking up our men," he explained. "But it's my fault and not our youngsters' fault. We haven't worked enough on it."

UCLA is off until Dec. 22 when it hosts Notre Dame at Pauley Pavilion.

Cal State Long Beach, ranked seventh nationally last week but a 90-83 loser to Southwestern Louisiana Saturday night, is at home Wednesday night against Loyola of Los Angeles and Friday night against Santa Clara.

The others now are 3-1.

Rated 12th in the country last week, University of Southern California, 3-1 after a pair of weekend wins, is at Lawrence, Kan., next Friday and Saturday nights for the Jayhawk Classic.

The Trojans face Cincinnati in the opening round.

Ron Riley of USC, who scored

40 points and picked off 34 rebounds in Troy's two wins last week, was named the university player of the week.

The writers chose Gall Goodrich of the Los Angeles Lakers as their pro player of the week and Jim Wilson of Arizona Pacific was the top college player.

Falcons lose out on playoff berth but future looks good

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta Falcons frittered away their chance at an NFL playoff berth this season but the rest of the league better keep its collective guard up in the years immediately ahead.

"We're getting better and better every year," said Falcons President Frank Wall. "Our target is the Super Bowl."

The Falcons, currently 6-6-1, dropped out of the NFL's Western Division race this past Sunday with their 24-3 loss to San Francisco. But they are already assured of their best of their six seasons and a win at New Orleans next Sunday would give them a winning record for the first time.

"It's a sign of progress," said Falcons Coach Norm Van Brocklin. "Our only disappointment this year has been in missing opportunities. We've come a long way when we can play winning ball in a very tough league and a very tough conference."

Wall figures the Falcons "are in the third year of a second expansion."

Their first three seasons, 1966-67-68, the Falcons, starting with an "over-the-hill gang" and having little success in the draft, went 3-11, 1-12-1 and 2-12.

Van Brocklin took over during the '68 season but you could not truthfully charge him with anything that happened prior to '69 when he had the full year before him.

"We're on a long-haul program here," said Van Brocklin who led the Falcons to a 6-5 season in '69 and 4-3 last year. "Our program here has been to rebuild a football club. If you check, you'll find that we've made about 35 changes on our 40-man roster."

Van Brocklin feels the Falcons have had three good drafts—in 1969, '70 and '71.

"The '71 draft may not have appeared so spectacular, but it hit our needs. It brought us two speedy wide receivers we needed (Ken Burrow and Wes Chesson) and two valuable defensive backs (Tom Hayes and Ray Brown)."

The "Dutchman" figures Atlanta may fare even better in the '72 draft.

"Working with the future in mind, we've been very careful on our draft choices," said Van Brocklin. "We go into the draft this winter with our first round pick and two second round picks. In fact, we have everything except a sixth round choice and a 10th round choice."

Van Brocklin disagrees with those who contend that the college draft becomes a "guessing game" after the third or fourth round.

"The girls in the office can pick the first three rounds," he snorted. "The real test of your scouting system comes with those picks further down the line."

(With 28 teams in the NFL, the first three rounds consume 78 college seniors and most of the "name" players.)

"We have three rookie starters who went later than that," pointed out Van Brocklin. "We got Hayes and Brown in the sixth round and Chesson in the seventh."

As Van Brocklin sees it, "the way to be successful is to collect a group of boys with top ability and keep them together for several years. Once you build a solid nucleus, you only need a few additions each year to keep things moving."

Don Hansen, a standout linebacker Van Brocklin drafted in the third round his last year at Minnesota (1969) and talked into joining the Falcons in 1969 after he had retired, said the Falcons are as convinced as Wall and Van Brocklin that their future is bright.

"You play this game for the money you can get out of it and for the personal satisfaction that comes from doing a job well," said Hansen. "We were disappointed that we missed the playoffs, and the benefits that would have brought, but everyone feels we're headed in the right direction."

"The draft brings about more balance year by year," said Van Brocklin. "There are a few teams in our conference that have exceptional personnel. But we play each season to decide a winner and we've all got a chance."

About Wives Who Stray

"What men call gallantry, and gods adultery, is much more common where the climate is warty."
George Gordon Byron

Consider those married women who step out of matrimonial bounds. In this country still, they are a minority. Only one out of five wives, to be specific. And among them, two out of five confine their flak romancing to but one other man, who gets sent on his way in less than a year. Or so report the researchers of such intimate matters. They also say this sort of fence-jumping appears to be slightly more popular in Southern California and northern Florida than elsewhere.

NUNS live longer than women outside The Church. On the average. That's also a fact.

IF YOU don't like the odor of cooking brussels sprouts, toss a piece of bread in the pot, suggest one chef.

NEW STUDIES nationwide now indicate only one woman in every 14 is a natural blonde.

QUERIES
Q. "Could Jackie Onassis be buried in Arlington National Cemetery?"
A. Supposedly not. Wives of military men, even commandeers-in-chief, lose their eligibility, if they remarry.

Q. "HOW MANY widows of U. S. presidents have remarried?"
A. Just two. The aforementioned Mrs. Onassis and Mrs. Grover Cleveland Proston.

A SINGLE GIRL in Sacramento asks how she might lose 20 pounds. Nothing in it. Hide and from work on a motorcycle. No, seriously, motorcycle-riding is said to be superb isotonic exercise. What old Charles Atlas used to call dynamic tension, remember that?

When North put down the dummy he remarked, "I wasn't trying for a slam. I wanted to tell you what I lead against hearts in case we had to defend."

South said nothing. He had learned by long experience that the less a declarer converses the more contracts he makes.

He took his ace of hearts; played out the diamond ace and stopped to study the rest of the play in a bridge Utopia. West would hold the queen and two other clubs and South would make seven. But South had little interest in that. He wanted to be as sure of six as possible.

Finally he found the best line. He cashed the trump

Bombs rip N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Gunmen bombed a hotel, a Masonic hall and a customs post near Northern Ireland's border with the Irish Republic during the night as violence escalated along the frontier.

The raiders struck as Britain demanded a crackdown in the Irish Republic on gunmen the British say probably were responsible for the murder of a Protestant legislator and other violence in Northern Ireland in recent weeks.

A British Army spokesman said bomb explosions Monday night demolished parts of the Imperial Hotel, a customs post and a hall of the Fraternal Society of Freemasons in the town of Farnham on the northern side of the border.

Police said there were no casualties.

In London, the Foreign Office said Britain's ambassador in Dublin, Sir John Peck, has been "instructed to make urgent representations" to the Irish Republic government to move against gunmen allegedly operating from the Republic against the north.

The move followed the killing Sunday of Northern Ireland Sen. John Barnhill, a member of the province's ruling unionist party. Gunmen shot the senator at his estate near the border and bombed his house as his wife fled in terror.

A statement issued by the Irish Republic Army in Dublin said IRA gunmen based in the north shot Barnhill when he attempted to prevent them from bombing his home. The statement said the gunmen had no intentions of harming the senator.

The IRA, which advocates the forceful unification of the province with the Irish Republic, has claimed responsibility for most of the violence in the North.

Hair length queried

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Seventh District Judge Henry S. Martin today rejected a request of the Idaho Human Rights Commission for an order to restrain school officials from enforcing a long hair ruling.

Judge Martin, in declining to grant a temporary injunction against Bonneville School District-93, said the pleadings and exhibits presented alone to him did not justify such action.

He pointed out the commission itself has scheduled a hearing for Dec. 23 in this matter and he said that is only a short time away.

"Truly the instant case cannot await the decision of the Human Rights Commission Dec. 23," Judge Martin said.

In denying the temporary restraining order, the judge said he felt the commission must show facts other than "more statements of complainants to the commission."

"Just to grant a temporary injunction might, in effect, work an undue disadvantage to the defendants in that hearing before the commission," Judge Martin said.

He noted the commission has ordered the defendants in this case to appear and show cause before it.

Idaho Deputy Attorney General Donald Knickrehm brought the action for the temporary injunction on behalf of Bonneville High School students Kevin and Kim Getzinger.

Threatened

GENEVA (UPI) — Pakistan complained to the International Red Cross Monday that India's armed forces have threatened to turn Pakistani prisoners of war over to the rebel Bangla Desh guerrillas in East Pakistan.

Pakistan said that the guerrillas, who call themselves Mukti Bahini and are fighting with Indian troops, likely would torture and execute Pakistani army prisoners who fell into their hands.

The couple was captured near where the bodies of three farmworker brothers were found shot to death in a car. A fourth man was wounded in the spree.

Hennpage and Miss Turner are scheduled for trial in Idaho in February and authorities here indicated that extradition would be held off pending the outcome of the trial.

Murder charges name 2

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A hitchhiker and his girlfriend, jailed for murder in Idaho, were named in murder complaints Monday in connection with the slaying of a Sylmar, Calif., youth last summer.

The district attorney's complaints named Michael Hennpage, 23, both of whom are in custody in Driggs, Idaho, on charges of murdering three farm workers.

Authorities returned Miss Turner, a hilly Sylmar-Newhall resident last fall to help a sheriff's posse locate the body of Joe Wurmuth, 19, who was reportedly killed by Hennpage after the youth gave the couple a ride.

The woman said Hennpage hid Wurmuth's body in a culvert somewhere in the Newhall region, but on two occasions she was unable to pinpoint the site for search teams.

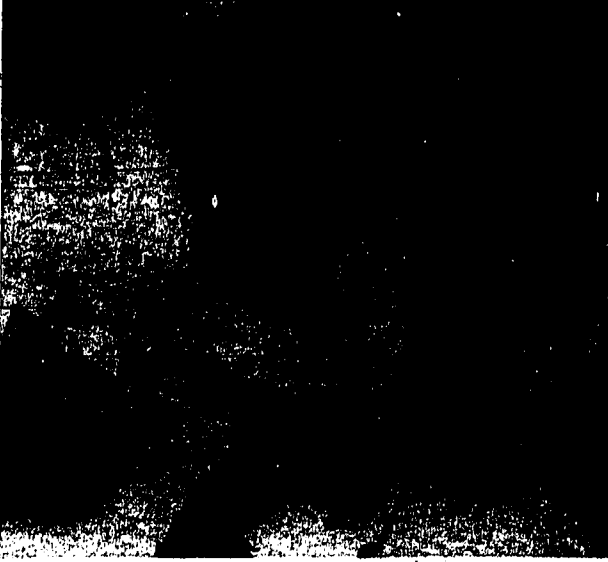

Hennpage, nicknamed "Evil," and his girlfriend, on whose chest is tattooed "property of evil," were taken into custody Aug. 28 after a gun battle with police outside Driggs.

The couple was captured near where the bodies of three farmworker brothers were found shot to death in a car. A fourth man was wounded in the spree.

Hennpage and Miss Turner are scheduled for trial in Idaho in February and authorities here indicated that extradition would be held off pending the outcome of the trial.

Manson's day in court finishes on death row

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson's long day in court finally ended Monday and he was taken under security precautions to death row at San Quentin, where he will probably spend the rest of his life for murdering nine murders.

More than two years after his arrest for the Aug. 1969 slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six other persons, Manson formally was sentenced to life imprisonment for the deaths of two others — movie stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea and musician Gary Hinman.

He was condemned to death for the Tate-LaBlanca slayings after the longest criminal trial in Los Angeles history — 10 months — and spent the last five months being tried for the Hinman-Shea killings.

Less than an hour after Superior Court Judge Raymond Choate formally handed down the sentence, the 37-year-old hippie-cult leader was taken from the Hall of Justice on route to northern California.

Choate called him a "whining, complaining delinquent no different from dozens of others who come into this courtroom each week."

"It is this court's observation that there is nothing mystical or hypnotic about Mr. Manson," the judge said. "He is just another small time car thief, petty thief and forger with an aversion to work who attracted emotionally sick misfits and drifters."

Three Manson family girls in the spectator section commented derisively, "He's talking about us."

Federal judge denies request

BOISE (UPI) — A federal judge Monday denied an environmentalists request for a preliminary injunction against the Lower Teton Dam Project on the grounds no progress would be made on the dam site for more than a year.

"It is clear from the evidence that during the next 35 months or more no material or irreparable damage can or will be caused the plaintiffs or anyone else," he said.

Judge Taylor read his prepared statement to the court immediately after attorneys for both sides summarized final arguments. Dale Higher, attorney for the environmentalists said alternatives left to the plaintiffs included an appeal or a court test on the merits of the case.

The judge said he was hearing the arguments "assuming but not deciding" whether the plaintiffs actually had legal standings to seek the preliminary injunction.

Kent Jolly, Madison County prosecuting attorney, touched on the question of legal standing when he noted that the proposed injunction, if granted, would be a "severe penalty" to his county "just to preserve a fishing hole for a few people who apparently never fished this river until just about a year ago."

Judge Taylor's decision said he did believe the defendants whose number included Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton — had failed to comply with provisions of the 1969 National Environmental Policy Act or 1964 congressional authorization for the project.

The environmentalists had contended the government agencies involved in the project had failed to fully explore the impact on the environment or any alternatives to the project as planned.

Those seeking the preliminary injunction included National Trout Unlimited and its Treasure Valley Chapter, the Sierra Club, the Idaho Environmental Council and the Natural Resources Council.

The environmentalists also questioned the cost-benefit ratio of the project, but Judge Taylor did not allow discussion of that point on grounds he would not substitute his judgement for that of Congress, which authorized the project.

After one delay, bids on the project were opened Oct. 29. The apparent low bid, for $39.5 million, was submitted jointly by Morrison-Knudsen Co. of Boise, and Peter Kiewit's Sons of Omaha, Neb.

The Bureau of Reclamation has until Dec. 28 to award the project but spokesmen there indicated they were awaiting the outcome of the legal proceedings.

ROME (UPI) — Gina Lollobrigida has cut her first record and will sing next Saturday on Italian television on the occasion of the nation's biggest pop music contest.

"Recently, people have asked me to appear in musicals in Italy or on Broadway but I have always refused the offers because I am afraid of the public," she said. "Cutting a record is easier."
