Hamburger choice of freed pair

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — The Tuesday night menu at Valley Forge Hospital featured Chinese pepper steak and rice. The two Americans released from prison by China wanted no part of it.

Instead they ordered hamburgers, french fries, milk and cherry pie.

It was the first day in years Richard Fecteau, 44, and Mary Ann Harbert, 26, had an opportunity to relax, eat American food and chat with relatives.

Fecteau and Miss Harbert were hospitalized here Tuesday following their long journey from China where their imprisonment ended on Sunday. Since they appeared in good health, physical examinations were delayed until today and results were to be announced this afternoon.

In Washington, administration officials said they hoped three other Americans held on mainland China may be released in connection with President Nixon's trip to Peking.

The other imprisoned-Americans were identified as John T. Downey, 41, New Britain, Conn.; Air Force Capt. Phillip Smith, 37, and Navy Lt. Robert J. Flynn.

An air of mystery still hangs over the circumstances of the capture of Fecteau and Downey.

The official version is that they were civilian employees of the U.S. Army and that their aircraft was forced down on Chinese territory during a flight from Korea to Japan.

The unofficial story says they were employees of the Central Intelligence Agency whose mission it was to organize agents in Manchuria and that they were surprised by Chinese Communist agents during a secret flight to Chinese territory in November, 1952.

Nixon Russia trip hinges on Pakistan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon may have second thoughts about making his planned summit trip to Moscow in May unless the Soviet Union stops encouraging the Indo-Pakistani War.

While there are no present plans to cancel the trip, the Soviet role in the conflict on the Indian subcontinent could cause a delay or some other adjustment in the trip to Moscow.

The way the administration sees it, unless Russia begins to exercise a restraining influence in the war in the next few days the United States might have to begin a complete review of its over-all relations with Moscow. Such a review, it was understood, could result in a re-examination of Nixon's Moscow summit plans.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Tuesday night that no one in the administration had suggested or said that Nixon was considering canceling the summit session in Moscow. He said the point was that "if the military confrontation continues in South Asia, particularly with regard to West Pakistan, this could affect our relations."

One high administration official said the Soviet Union has been anything but a restraining force thus far, especially considering the three Soviet vetoes in the U.N. Security Council against resolutions calling for a cease-fire and mutual troop withdrawals.

By contrast, the official added, the United States has been working on several fronts to bring a halt to the war. He also indicated the United States still has some diplomatic cards to play, but declined to elaborate.

The war was one of the top foreign policy issues Nixon discussed with French President Georges Pompidou in their two-day Azores summit.

Gem tax increase 'needed'

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's acting budget director said today a state-level tax increase is going to be a necessity and said even a "continuation level" budget for fiscal year 1973 will total $137 million.

D. E. "Skip" Chilberg told the 22nd annual meeting of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho the "continuation level" budget was pared down from agency requests of $170 million and still is about $7 million more than the current estimate of revenues for the same period.

He said the current fiscal year general fund budget of $135.3 million appears to be about $1 million more than revenues, leading to a one per cent holdback in appropriations ordered by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

"As long as we maintain the existing tax base, we know that the burden to finance our schools will remain on the property tax," Chilberg said. "If we are going to improve the quality of life... and at the same time provide financial relief to local government, then, yes, a tax increase at the state level is necessary."

Chilberg said besides the $1 million difference between the budget and estimated revenue, the state is facing several problems which would require spending more general fund money.

These areas include costs of the August prison riot, claims for overtime compensation at state institutions, claims for the state's 35 per cent share of funding for local health districts, federal demands for upgrading of nursing home standards, and the possibility of a court test of Idaho's reliance on property tax for funding of public education may cause further demands on the general fund.

Part of the blame should be placed on a system of federal grants which "starts programs with federal money and leaves the state holding the bag — or in this case the bill — in future years," Chilberg said.

Besieged Dacca asks ceasefire

By United Press International — India said the Pakistani military and civil commanders in Dacca asked India today for a cease-fire in the face of an onslaught by Indian armor, artillery and planes which left much of the East Pakistani capital in flames.

India immediately dispatched surrender terms to Lt. Gen. A. A. K. Niazi, who had sworn to defend Dacca to the death. The Indian high command announced a bombing pause and delivered a 54 hour ultimatum to surrender or face another aerial blitz.

There were no details, but a message from Gen. S. H. F. J. Manekshaw, the Indian chief of staff, spoke of heavy casualties in the city which has a garrison of between 15,000 to 20,000 Pakistani troops and thousands of civilians left from the prewar population of 1.5 million.

About 45 Americans are still in Dacca and there were conflicting reports the United States had dispatched units of the 7th Fleet to the Bay of Bengal to rescue them if necessary. The units included the nuclear powered carrier Enterprise and the helicopter carrier USS Tripoli.

An Indian military spokesman in New Delhi said the U.S. embassy in New Delhi relayed the cease-fire appeal from Niazi and Maj. Gen. Rao Farman Ali, the deputy martial law administrator for civil affairs and that the embassy had relayed the Indian reply.

Collapsing resistance at Dacca may not mean the end of the India-Pakistan war but could bring it closer. Both New Delhi and Rawalpindi reported more fighting in the Kashmir region 1,000 miles away as well as in other areas of East Pakistan.

Well-informed Indian sources said that while the contents of Niazi's message could not be disclosed, it was tied in with political efforts at the United Nations and elsewhere to bring an end to the fighting between India and Pakistan.

"This is not solely a situation where Pakistani military commanders are making decision on their own," one Indian source said. He said there were "political elements" involved in Niazi's request and that it was not yet clear what their exact implications were, or how the Indian government was reacting to them.

Strike cuts air service

TWIN FALLS — All Hughes Airwest jet flights into Twin Falls were canceled early this morning as members of the 1000-man American Machinists Fraternal Association went on strike, officials reported.

The flight cancellation was made and all jets ordered back to "home" bases so a flight program could be outlined in an attempt to keep at least some of the jets moving.

"We understand that plans are to re-group in an orderly fashion," Paul Shoaff, Twin Falls station manager, said today.

There are no members of the striking association in Twin Falls.

The union members had been bargaining with company officials over wage and other benefits since last spring. The strike was unannounced and came when union members put up picket lines in San Francisco, Seattle and Salt Lake City.

The local official said "right now our concern is trying to get our ticketed passengers where they want to go by other means."

Mr. T-N says...

After all those Idaho winters, you'd think merchants wouldn't be caught without snow shovels.

Big wave feared in earthquake

TOKYO (UPI) — A strong earthquake was recorded today east of the Soviet Union's Kamchatka Peninsula and authorities in Japan and Hawaii and possibly in Russia issued tidal wave warnings.

The National Earthquake Information Center (NEIC) in Rockville, Md., said the quake registered 7.8 on the Richter scale.

The Japanese weather station in Tokyo in a special announcement broadcast on radio and television that the tremor at 3:30 a.m. EST generated high waves. Authorities issued tidal wave warnings to residents of northern Japan.

The NEIC said a similar warning was issued by the Honolulu Observatory.

Little bite from $ cut

TWIN FALLS — Bankers and those involved in manufacturing in the Twin Falls area today said they can see little or no change for area consumers as a result of likely devaluation of the American dollar.

L. A. Frazier, senior first vice president, Idaho First National Bank, said while imports will cost a bit more, exports will be slightly cheaper. As for agricultural products, he said, only grain and beans would be involved and as yet it is hard to tell what will happen there. Because of lower prices for exports, farmers may ship more but receive slightly less as the dollar value is reflected. Until an amount of the devaluation is set, the situation is still vague, he said.

Harry Eaton, president, Twin Falls Bank and Trust, said consumers here will probably pay a little more for a foreign economy car or a Japanese camera, but it will probably be only a small difference.

Jurist Kerner indicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Appeals Judge Otto Kerner, a former Illinois governor and chairman of former President Johnson's riot commission, was indicted today on charges of bribery, mail fraud, tax evasion, perjury and conspiracy.

The charges against Kerner stemmed from race track transactions in Illinois where he was governor between 1961 and 1968.

Kerner headed a special commission of prominent Americans named by Johnson to look into the causes of violence and disorders in the nation following the 1968 assassinations of Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Kerner, named to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals April 22, 1968, by Johnson, is only the fourth federal judge in history to be indicted by a federal grand jury. The three others were accused of offenses connected with their judicial offices.

Kerner, 63, along with three former state officials appointed by him during his governorship and a Chicago businesswoman were named in a 19-count, 64-page indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Chicago.

The action was announced first in Washington by Attorney General John N. Mitchell. Kerner and his associates were charged with conspiring to obtain about $350,000 worth of race track stock for $70,158. This, the indictment charged, constituted a bribe to influence decisions of Kerner and other state officials on horse racing matters.

Kerner was specifically charged also with evading $184,129 in federal income taxes with making false statements to an Internal Revenue Service agent and making a false tax return.

Bill Satterfield, manager of Kellwood, said he feels the situation will carry little influence here. Women have become careful shoppers, he said, and in the hosiery industry they buy for quality, which many of the inexpensive imports do not provide.

Congressional leaders and financial experts on Capitol Hill said they supported President Nixon's plan, unexpectedly announced in the Azores Tuesday after a meeting with French President Georges Pompidou, to lower the value of the dollar as a way of ending the international monetary impasse.

War 'OK' if Israel spurns plea

By United Press International — Egypt will be justified in resuming hostilities if Israel does not accept a United Nations resolution approved Tuesday, Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said in New York.

"If Israel accepts the resolution, the (Middle East peace envoy) Gunnar V. Jarring could resume his mission immediately," Riad said in an interview with the Al Mounhuriya newspaper.

Giant Blaine resort plans aired

By TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News staff writer

SUN VALLEY — Plans for a $36 million year-round resort and recreation community, Elkhorn at Sun Valley, were presented to the Sun Valley City Council Tuesday.

The council, lacking a quorum, was unable to approve the plans.

City officials present included Mayor Winton S. Gray, Councilman Harry Holmes and Councilman James Patterson.

The 2,300-acre development, a joint venture of subsidiary companies of the Johns-Manville Corp. and the Sun Valley Co., is located south of Sun Valley within its city limits.

Initial construction at Elkhorn is expected to begin by spring 1972. Plans for 1972 call for the completion of 85 studio apartments and 48 town house condominiums, in addition to about half of the building in Elkhorn Village.

A new ski lift is slated for completion for the 1972-73 winter season. Construction of the golf course will begin in 1972. The course will be ready for play by summer, 1974.

Elkhorn spokesmen said today they had no information yet on the anticipated purchase or rental cost of the planned units.

They said they did not know how much the first year's construction was expected to cost.

Also unknown was the expected population of the project.

Bill Janas, owner of Sun Valley, said "I hope this will be a pilot plan for the state of Idaho and other states. We have a great opportunity in that Johns-Manville wants the highest quality development." His comments were made at an informal luncheon which followed the presentation.

Calif., a management and planning firm retained by the Elkhorn owners to manage the development, outlined the project.

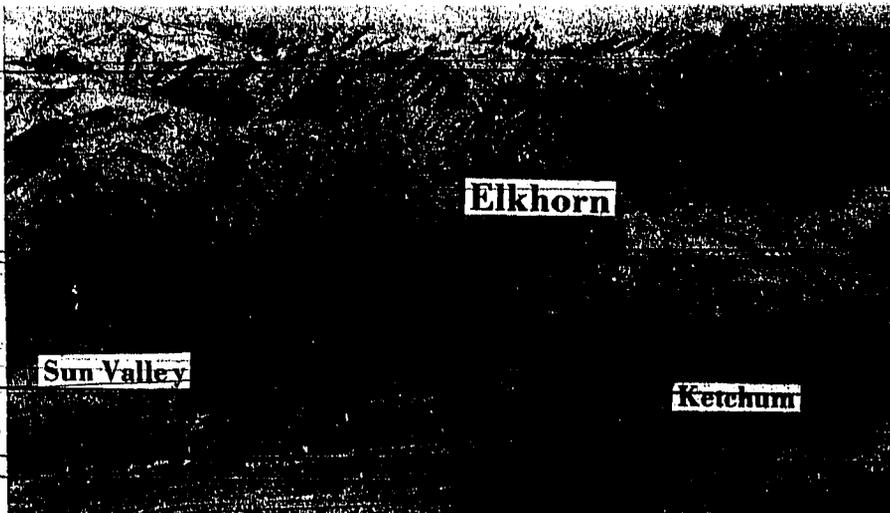

"The development," Murar said, "is a three dimension destination resort, designed for summer visitors, winter visitors, and for those desiring a second home." Construction, he said, will be carried out in stages over the next 10 years. "The fundamental concept of the plan is to retain the natural beauty and open spaces of the land.

"The real evidence of this concept is in the plan we were presenting to you today. It shows that of Elkhorn's 2,300 acres, less than 10 per cent will be occupied by man-made structures," he said.

Kelvin Platt, a representative of Sasaki, Walker Associates, Sausalito, Calif., landscaping and site planning architects for the project, said 20 per cent of the site will be used for open recreation area or ranches in addition to the village complex. The remaining 70 per cent will be left as a "natural preserve," he said.

Hearings on barbiturates open Seen...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Saying it is "entirely possible" that barbiturates may have surpassed heroin as the most dangerous and deadly drug, Sen. Birch D. Bayh, D-Ind., today opened hearings into their widespread abuse, particularly among the young.

Barbiturates, commonly prescribed by physicians for sleeping pills and sedatives, are known as "downers" or "goof-balls" in the drug culture. Amphetamines, often prescribed for diet or pep pills, are called "uppers" or "speed" for their stimulative qualities.

Bayh said, "According to recent medical opinion they have replaced heroin and opium as the two most dangerous drugs in the country."

School trustees to review policy

RUPERT — Minidoka School Trustees will review a revision of board policy concerning use of school facilities by non-school groups at their next meeting.

Supt. Darrell Hatfield told board members in a meeting Monday night the present non-cost use permitted Boy Scouts and similar organizations is too broad and lacks adequate guidelines. A policy should be established to reflect the intent of the board, he said.

Roger Ling, school district attorney, met with the board to discuss the district's position as to student suspensions and expulsions. He outlined the board's procedure in such actions. Ling also told trustees a written agreement should be prepared for use of the district school buses in non-school programs. For example, he said the city uses the buses to transport students to ski school sessions and the district should make certain the school is absolved of liability in this program.

Dr. Hatfield said a written agreement is necessary to protect the district in the uses of buses and school buildings. He recommended the board accept an agreement prepared by Ling and if the city and other groups do not agree to it, then Ling should be authorized to negotiate with the other parties for devising an agreement acceptable to all.

Dr. Hatfield said there is some confusion about the policy governing the school treasurer's job description. He said the board recommends the superintendent be responsible to the board for all other school personnel but many times board members go directly to the treasurer for information. He suggested policy on this be rewritten to state the treasurer is directly responsible to the superintendent but will work closely with board members and other administrators.

The superintendent presented a fee schedule for use of school buses and buildings, recommending 7 cents per mile for bus use with the city or other users to pay the drivers plus their own insurance costs. Use of buildings, including the gymnasium, would be available at $5 for the first hour and $3 per hour thereafter up to 11 p.m. and $4 per hour after 11 p.m.

Board members told Mrs. Kenneth Frederickson, Rupert, they would look into the present bus stop site where her child is picked up for school. She requested the stop be made east of the canal to avoid traffic hazards.

The superintendent told board members the district can anticipate about $90,000 in federal grant funds under the Elementary Secondary Education Act for the first year and about $10,000 less each of the next two years. A special reading program to be financed under the ESSEA program will be housed in the Washington School on the top floor. Funds will provide for hiring instructors and aides and for purchase of reading materials. The program will begin in 1972.

Resignation of Barbara Shinn was accepted and the board approved Mrs. Fred Wood to succeed her as fifth grade teacher in Lincoln school.

The superintendent presented a fee schedule for use of school buses and buildings, recommending 7 cents per mile for bus use with the city or other users to pay the drivers plus their own insurance costs. Use of buildings, including the only, not parking or construction of any obstruction or use of right of way for conducting business or servicing vehicles.

The district policy prohibits use of right of way along highways by adjoining property owners for parking, conducting business or erecting advertising signs. The area between the highway and the property line may require grading or landscaping, Anderson said. This work shall provide an adequate sight distance, proper drainage and pleasing appearance.

The district policy requires businesses to have sufficient area off the right of way to eliminate the need for stopping and should be designed to prevent vehicles from backing into the traffic lanes. This requirement is especially applicable to parking lots, garages, drive-in theaters and similar businesses, Anderson said.

City-county meet scheduled Monday

TWIN FALLS — City-Council members and county commissioners in Twin Falls will meet Monday noon to discuss a report on feasibility of a joint law enforcement facility and other matters affecting city and county government.

City Manager Joan Milar said the two groups will discuss solid waste disposal, review the city and county contract for feeding city prisoners in the county jail, and discuss the report presented by the CTA consultants on a city and county law enforcement complex.

A county study had recommended the two agencies combine landfill use with the county providing collection stations for solid waste material and utilizing the city sanitary landfill south of town for disposal.

A contract now in operation to cover feeding of prisoners arrested by the city and housed in the county jail will expire Jan. 11, Milar said, and should be reviewed for re-adoption or revision.

CTA studies on the joint law enforcement complex, with recommendations for first improving the fourth-floor jail facilities now in use by the county, and then constructing a new administration building adjacent to the present county judicial building, have been in the hands of city and county officials the past two weeks for their consideration.

A final phase of the proposal calls for acquiring the present Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School property for construction of a modern jail facility which could serve not only as a city and county jail but could provide regional facilities under the new plan of replacing the state prison system with regional jails to serve state and community needs.

Flight halt approval asked

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — Hughes Air West has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for approval to permanently halt flights to Ontario and Baker, Ore., because of those cities' inability to produce enough passengers to justify scheduled service.

The regional airline pointed out that continued service by Hughes Air West to the Oregon communities will require a $230,000 annual governmental subsidy. This figure is based on the 1,640 boardings and deplanings in the two cities in the most recent 12-month period.

per passenger or a level 19 times greater than the airlines' average passenger subsidy.

Richard A. Fitzgerald, senior director of route development, called such an expense "a flagrant waste of public funds" and "completely disproportionate to the public service benefits."

The airline has experimented with different service patterns but efforts have failed to improve passenger traffic, Fitzgerald said.

Slightly more than one in every seven American households owns a piano, says the American Music Conference.

The Idaho Legislature this year enacted legislation completely overhauling and liberalizing the present benefits of Workman's Compensation.

All employers should be aware of this rate increase and should contact their Agents or carriers for further information and details as regards these changes.

TWIN FALLS — Approval of a new policy covering design of approaches to county highways has been announced by the Twin Falls Highway district.

Monetary Crisis

There are indications that the international monetary crisis will be resolved by the December meeting of representatives of the ten richest non-Communist nations.

devaluation of the dollar was expected, with talk of as much as eight per cent. This would increase the official price of gold from $35.00 to $37.80, in contrast to the London free market rate of $43.975 an ounce.

WASHINGTON — Most of us have never suffered the horror of more confinement, even in a hospital. As a gregarious people, Americans tend to go stir crazy if kept indoors for 24 hours by a raging blizzard or an upset stomach.

Thus it was encouraging to find Chief Justice Warren Burger, a stern and conservative jurist, expressing outrage over prison conditions and urging steps to protect and encourage the humanity of inmates.

Head Counter

They were counting noses again the other day at the United Nations — the thing the UN does best — and came up with the usual column-long press release. In so-and-such a year, the population of the world will be thus and such, tch, tch.

But that isn't all. A half dozen nations whose identities are unrecognizable in a large part of the world have birth rates of more than 50 per thousand! One or all of these countries, presumably, could turn into another India or China in time.

About Plan B

WASHINGTON — In my last column I revealed "Plan A," the Republican game plan for 1972. Basically it was quite simple. Since the Democrats owe the telephone company $1,000,000, the phone company will pull out all their lines in Miami, and it will be impossible to nominate anyone on the Democratic ticket for President.

hire a band.) The President will arrive sans "Hail to the Chief" and go directly to the podium. He will throw away the prepared speech and start talking extemporaneously, telling the Democrats what he has done for the country and for the Chicago Mayor Daley and the Chicago delegation will start booing, and pretty soon everyone in the hall will hiss and catcall.

the meeting back to order, and he will say, "Can we now get back to nominating our candidate?" This will cause laughter in the hall. President Nixon will finally leave, his face grim, and his lips pursed.

MR. SPECTATOR

A Heavy Heart

Mr. Spectator has a heavy heart directed toward Governor Andrus and his problems. Like being accused of this and that, trying to figure what the upcoming Legislature will back, trying to keep it a close secret as to which candidate he favors in the Democrat race for Senator Jordan's seat, and attempting to do the things which will please the most people.

How about it? REALLY NOW? From "Trifax" the newsletter of the Better Business Bureau of Toronto, we hear about a man who bought several hundred expensive cigars, then insured them against fire. After smoking them all, he promptly claimed against the insurance company.

ROBERT ALLEN

Egypt's Power

This is how Plan B will work. The Democrats will meet in Miami in July. The phone bill will be paid by royalties from Howard Hughes' autobiography, and the convention will begin in good spirits and fellowship.

WASHINGTON — While Secretary of State Rogers is adamantly continuing to block the sale of more F-4 Phantom supersonic fighter-bombers to Israel, the Egyptian air force is being secretly powerfully reinforced.

and fight the Mirage III's. This is in direct contradiction to the official French declaration, when it sold the Mirages to Libya, that they could not be used in the Arab-Israeli conflict. Despite this public commitment, not only is France continuing to deliver the 110 supersonic fighters to Libya, but French pilots are acting as instructors for the Egyptians.

About Cancer

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about mastitis. How can one tell the difference between mastitis (formation of cysts) and a malignancy? I am not uncomfortable, just slight soreness and enlargement of the glands.

Mammography (a special form of breast X-ray) is more and more being used to detect breast cancer. An older, but very definite and very necessary test is biopsy — removal of a small portion of tissue for microscopic examination, which will show whether the cells are or are not malignant.

Area airport report given

BURLEY — The Burley Chamber of Commerce heard a progress report on the regional airport during a luncheon meeting Monday at Bryan's Cafe.

Ed Elliott reported that the board with George Forschler, chairman, has met with Bureau of Land Management officials regarding filing for land for Site A, north of Snake River, east of Highway 83 and south of Interstate 80 in Jerome County.

Most of the land is BLM land and the board requested 4,000 acres for the regional airport. A meeting is planned with the state officials in regard to the state land which is part of the land needed for locating the airport.

It was reported that Blaine County is considering holding an election on the regional airport sometime early next year in an effort to join the other five counties now in the regional airport district.

In the early part of January a meeting will be held with the county commissioners of the counties in the regional airport district and the regional airport board to discuss future plans.

Mayor Garis Robertson reported on the eight-year contract with Cable View which is expiring.

It was announced that the Burley city zoning project being studied by students from Idaho State University will be viewed by the public at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Ponderosa Inn.

Grant Fillmore, president, said the annual Christmas program will be held next Monday.

DAVID KENNISON Servicemen

BUHL — Airman David E. Kennison, son of Mrs. Bonnie L. Bally, Buhl, has completed his U. S. Air Force basic training at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Keeler AFB, Miss., for training in the communications electronics systems.

Airman Kennison attended Buhl High School.

TWIN FALLS — Army Private Michael K. Reid, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Reid, Twin Falls, recently completed an eight-week field wireman course at the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry, Ft. Ord., Calif.

During the course, he learned to install and maintain field wire communication systems, operate field telephone switchboards, receive and process messages and operate a message center.

Ruling slated on wiretapping use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule this term whether a witness may refuse to testify before a grand jury on grounds the panel has obtained evidence from illegal government wiretapping.

Two separate cases are involved in the appeals accepted by the court. In one, the Justice Department appealed in the case of a Catholic nun and a former nun who refused to testify in connection with the 'Berrigan kidnap-bomb plot. In the other, two California men claimed they were involved in a grand jury gambling investigation because they were overheard on government wiretaps of a third person's phone.

The court will hear oral arguments later this term and then hand down a written opinion which will define provisions of the 1968 safe streets act dealing with a citizen's rights concerning electronic wiretapping.

In other actions, the court refused a move by United Airlines to quash a Chicago proceeding in which the airline was accused of a civil rights violation for requiring until 1968 that its stewardesses remain unmarried. Mrs. Mary Burke Sprogs has sued in federal court in Chicago for back pay.

Rejected a challenge against the right of a state college to forbid student demonstrations inside a college building. An appeal of lower court rulings was brought by students of Madison College at Harrisonburg, Va.

Let stand a lower court ruling that distributors of the Syracuse, N.Y., Herald Journal are employees protected by federal labor law and not independent contractors as claimed by the newspaper.

Ordered Illinois to reinstate welfare aid to mothers who have refused to identify the fathers of their illegitimate children. The action affirmed a ruling to this effect handed down July 7 by a special three-judge federal panel in Chicago.

Two U.S. circuit courts have ruled against the government's contention that a witness before a grand jury has no right to question the sources of its evidence.

But the 9th U.S. Circuit Court ruled in the government's favor in two cases: That of David Gelbard and Sidney Parnas, whose case was accepted today, and that of antiwar activist Leslie Bacon, 19, of Atherton, Calif.

The women refused to testify before a grand jury in Los Angeles. The wiretap was authorized by a judge, but they attacked the constitutionality of the statute.

Miss Bacon, subpoenaed in March of 1971 to testify before a Seattle grand jury about the bombing of the U.S. Capitol, at first answered questions but later declined to do so.

Blauer reports gains for Cassia's schools

BURLEY — Dr. Harold Blauer, Cassia County school superintendent, Monday reported on his administration's progress in fulfilling his four main objectives for the district.

Dr. Blauer's report was made during a meeting of the Cassia County School Board of Trustees.

He said his four main objectives since assuming his duties prior to the 1970-71 year included a building program, improved student reading skills, a delegation of authority to principals and other district officers, and staff harmony.

He said "Zick" has been accomplished in the area of his first objective, except for the construction of two new classrooms at the Burley High School. The trustees have been debating a public bond issue for the past several weeks, with countywide high school consolidation the main sticking point in their deliberations.

Dr. Blauer also told the board progress has been made toward meeting his objective of improving the reading skills of county students. He cited the emergence of widely attended kindergarten programs as contributing to that goal. At present, he said, nearly two-thirds of the eligible student population in the district is enrolled in either kindergarten or Head Start programs.

The board also agreed to establish advisory groups to assist the district in planning career education programs, and acting on a request from Dr. Blauer, it agreed to apply for state manpower assistance under a new evaluation program of the Idaho Department of Education.

Story of black junk dealer, son told through new series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—NBC-TV, which doesn't allow advance reviews of its shows, had an advance screening and news conference Monday to ballyhoo its highly anticipated new comedy series by the makers of the top-ranked "All In The Family."

There was a large turnout, and it was agreed by one and all that it wasn't just the free lunch that caused it.

The name of the new half-hour series, which bows in on Friday, Jan. 14, at 8 p.m. EST, is "Sanford and Son." It stars the excellent comedian Redd Foxx as an aging, black junk dealer in Los Angeles, and Donald Wilson as his 32-year-old son, who doesn't really want to leave his father despite his constant frustration at feeling trapped.

"I suddenly feel guilty. Is that last paragraph tantamount to part of a review? Where is the line between a report and a review? Alas, alas, it seems one can never avoid problems. Well, as I say NBC doesn't allow advance reviews, and Monday's get-together was basically to acquaint us with the show. So please consider the above paragraph, and the following ones, as just an acquaintance process for readers, and certainly not a review. Herewith the non-review:

The screening turnout indicated by its reaction that it felt the premiere episode of "Sanford and Son" was charming, witty, uproarious and even poignant in depicting the strained relationship between father and son, and that viewers most certainly should tune in the debut. Many in the screening audience felt Foxx, a St. Louis-born performer widely known for his racy, razor-sharp monologues, was a sheer delight as the widowed father who will feign anything, including illness, to keep his son around. It is simply reporting to note that young Wilson was also admired for getting across, in an enormously likeable way, his desire to be out of the junk business. Even before freeloading the NBC lunch, the screening audience found great hilarity in the son's razing and basking around of his father, none of whose many maneuvers for sympathy fool him any more.

Provisions of 'Title I' aired

TWIN FALLS — Parents concerned about the educational deprivation of their children have been given an active partner with the development of the "Title I" concept.

The provisions of "Title I" were explained in detail to about 25 persons working with low-income programs in Twin Falls Tuesday night at the offices of the South-Central Community Action Agency. S. Thompson Abbott, a VISTA volunteer working with the Washington State Office of Economic Opportunity, Olympia, Wash., and Ron Adcock, Boise, representing the Idaho OEO Office, discussed the program in an informal question-and-answer session.

A compilation of information, titled "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Title I, but Were Afraid to Ask," provided additional details.

The Title I program is authorized by the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Public Law 89-10, known as "ESEA" in brief. The act contains seven major "titles," each authorizing specific educational programs, but two of the seven, Title I and Title III, are the most often utilized and most often referred to in educational circles.

Title I is aimed at "educationally deprived children," identified as "those children who have need for special educational attainment may be raised to that appropriate for children of their age." The term also includes youngsters who are handicapped due to "neglect, poverty, delinquency or cultural or linguistic isolation from the community at large," Abbott said.

He explained the intricacies of the federal provisions. Funds for ESEA programs are appropriated by Congress, with Title I being the largest federal educational program. Its activities and funds comprise one-third of the entire budget of the U. S. Office of Education.

Each state superintendent of public instruction receives a "Title I block grant" for all upcoming Title I programs throughout the state.

Local school districts then submit applications for specific Title I projects to the state department of education, which must determine if the proper

"need" exists within the district.

Parents are called into the picture at the local level, Abbott said. A Parent Advisory Council (termed "PAC" in the professional jargon) must be formed to advise on planning and implementation of the project.

By ESEA standards, the PAC can be any size, but more than half of its members must be parents of low-income, educationally deprived children, Abbott admitted that in many cases, this requirement has not been enforced.

"All too often, a Title I program will be rejected by the state due to lack of a parents' committee," Abbott recounted. "The local school officials will hastily dig up a list of names just to satisfy the state and get the funds."

In more than one case, members of a PAC were routinely questioned on their views, only to have most ask "What's Title I?" In another "absurd" case, a school superintendent was asked for his local committee which did not, in fact, exist. He had members of a men's club to which he belonged to sign an unspecified listing, then submitted their names as his committee.

Abbott explained in detail the many qualifications required for a local Title I project, summarizing the program as aimed specifically at helping deprived children work toward a level of achievement equal to the non-deprived children in the community.

Title I "moneys" are public funds, Abbott emphasized, and any person has a right to "see and copy important documents at their own expense." Denial of this right is a "violation of the law," he added.

"Often a member of a PAC or of the general public will ask to see a Title I program, only to be told by the school district officials that the information is privileged and cannot be reviewed or inspected," Abbott said.

Chairman elected

BILL POWEL, business man-pilot of Twin Falls, center, is congratulated by William Chancoy, chairman of the county commissioners, following Powel's election to the post of chairman of the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission on Tuesday, O. A. (Gus) Kelker, who has been commission chairman for the past year, is at the right.

Airport officials vote on next year's budget

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission Tuesday voted to operate during the next fiscal period under a budget similar to that of the past year. The commission will also recommend that city and county officials plan on no mill levy increase for airport purposes.

After discussing budget proposals, the airport officials decided to "tighten our belts" and not seek any additional funds. It was pointed out that federal participation in airport projects this coming year will amount to around $500,000 and that required participating funds on the local level will probably be less than the last 12-month period which saw construction of a new runway. Revenue from airport services should be up during the coming year because of increased airline and general aviation use.

At the same time commission members also elected Bill Powel, local business man and pilot, as chairman of the commission to succeed O. A. (Gus) Kelker, editor, Times-News, at the first meeting in January. Kelker has been chairman during the last year and Powel vice-chairman. George Colner, Hansen, was named vice-chairman to succeed Powel. Other members of the board are Armour Anderson, Twin Falls, and Bill Bosworth, Buhl.

In other business the airport officials:

(1) — Referred the application of Henry Willis to operate a car rental agency at the airport to Commissioner Colner for further study.

(2) — Recommended that City Manager Jean Millar look into construction of a loading ramp near the terminal building. The ramp would be used for placement of heavy shipments by air.

(3) — Decided to wait for more details relative to a request for use of airport property for establishment of an animal shelter requested by the local humane society.

(4) — Recommended that the Twin Falls City Council and County Commissioners enter into an agreement with the United States Forest Service relative to enlarging the aerial fire fighting area at the field. The setup here would be one of three major ones in the intermountain area. Airport commissioners recommended a rental basis of three cents a square foot over a 10-year period. This would return the investment to the city before the lease was terminated.

(5) — Recommended that the Idaho Department of Aeronautics be asked to contribute funds toward construction of the requested forest facility on the grounds it will serve all central and southern Idaho during fire seasons.

County aides approve bid

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners approved a bid Tuesday from Burroughs Corp., for $15,489.08, including trade in, to cover purchase of a new electronic computer for the county treasurer's office.

County Treasurer Ruth Jones said the equipment will be the mainstay of her office and will be in use almost continuously for computing taxes, tax apportionment to the taxing units in the county and for monthly, quarterly and annual reports. It features memory banks, programming and data input systems and is known as the L-4000. Only Burroughs submitted a bid for the computer.

The new equipment is identical to one approved for the office of county auditor, Harold Lancaster. Lancaster said in view of changing tax systems and methods, the machines will do the work of several employees who would be required to handle now exemptions by hand on a tax files if the seven year old equipment now being used was to continue in service.

Bridge winners

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Duplicate Bridge Club met Monday night. Winners were Mrs. N. B. McIntosh and R. G. Sess, first; Mrs. A. P. Russell and Mrs. Lewis Hack, second; Mrs. R. J. Cook and Mrs. Mary Kienlen, third, and Mrs. J. M. Kingsbury and Mrs. E. H. Adkins, fourth.

The next meeting will be Monday at 8 p.m. in the Episcopal Church auditorium.

Concert rescheduled

TWIN FALLS — The annual Christmas concert of the Twin Falls High School music department has been rescheduled for Monday night.

Richard Smack, choral director at the high school, said the concert, originally scheduled for Thursday, was postponed when the Twin Falls schools were closed Tuesday noon because of heavy flu-caused absenteeism.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Monday at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Center, Smack said. The public is invited.

Reddy predicts showers in the morning

It's a safe prediction that with more than 115,000 flameless electric water heaters in use in the area served by Idaho Power there will be thousands and thousands of showers every morning... clean, hot, soapy, refreshing showers... the kind that set you up fresh and bright for another day.

Flameless water heaters are fast, clean, quiet, dependable and free of care. They use only pure electricity, the clean energy which takes nothing from the air, adds nothing to the air... for cleaner homes, cleaner neighborhoods and a nicer environment. It's one of the reasons electric water heaters are chosen by almost nine out of ten families served by Idaho Power.

Contract announced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $39,476,142 Bureau of Reclamation contract for construction of the Teton dam, power and pumping plant on the Teton River in Idaho was announced today by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C.B. Morton.

The contract award followed action by U.S. District Court Judge Fred M. Taylor in Boise, Idaho, in denying a preliminary injunction requested by organizations seeking to prevent the construction.

Reclamation Commissioner Ellis L. Armstrong said Morrison-Knudsen Co. Inc., Boise, Idaho, and Peter Kiewit Sons, Co. Omaha, Neb., won the work on a joint venture low bid.

It was the lowest of seven bids opened in Idaho Falls on Oct. 29. The Teton dam, the major feature of the Lower Teton division of the Teton Basin Project, will be an earth and rock fill structure about 3,050 feet long at the crest and rising about 305 feet above the river bed. The approximately 10 million cubic yards of material for the embankment will be taken from the area upstream from the dam and located on the Teton River about 15 miles southeast of St. Anthony and approximately 17 miles northeast of Rexburg in Fremont and Madison Counties, Idaho, near the confluence of the Teton and Henry's Fork Rivers, tributaries of the Snake River.

Bonus planned for shareholders

BOISE (UPI) — The remaining 14,000 shareholders of the defunct Idaho Savings and Loan Association will get a Christmas bonus this year — a third mailing of distribution checks representing another 21 per cent of their shares.

This latest mailing, planned for Wednesday, will bring to 72 per cent the total recovery since Idaho Savings and Loan closed its doors in July 1966.

Shareholders received 46 per cent in 1967, and another 5 per cent in 1969.

The overall recovery equals approximately $14 million of the approximately $20 million on hand when the state took over Idaho Savings and Loan.

The checks to be mailed Wednesday total about $3,800,000.

The latest mailing comes from the sale to Western National Corp. of real estate properties the association acquired through foreclosure actions, and funds of Continental Life and Accident Co. from the sale of assets consisting of outstanding loans.

Review slated

BOISE (UPI) — Boise River Basin industries will be the first in the state to have their waste discharge permits reviewed by the Idaho Department of Health.

The new priority that has been developed by the state in conjunction with the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the Army Corps of Engineers, according to the chief of the water pollution control section of the Department of Health.

Dr. Leo Stokes said Tuesday the Health Department will accept applications made to the Corps of Engineers for federal waste discharge as part of the Idaho state application.

Beason convicted

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — Seventh District Judge Arnold Beebe sentenced Bobby L. Beason, 18, to a term not to exceed 30 years Tuesday for second degree murder.

Beason was convicted in the April 18 beating death of 2-year-old Matthew Stephen Blair. Two months later, Beason married the child's mother.

Before sentence was pronounced, Duvaln Stufflebeam, Beason's legal advisor, filed a motion for a new trial, which Judge Beebe denied.

Dummy convicts

CAPT. DONALD Weber stands three dummy convicts against the wall at San Quentin Prison, after the dummies were used in an elaborate escape attempt by three inmates late Monday. Two of the prisoners were recaptured minutes after going over the wall, but one escaped and is being sought in Marin and San Francisco. (UPI)

Trial postponed again for 'Soledad Brothers'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The murder trial of the two surviving "Soledad Brothers" was postponed again Tuesday but Judge S. Lee Vavuris said he would hold abbreviated sessions through the Christmas and New Year's weeks to try to get it going.

Vavuris granted the latest continuance until next Monday, so defense attorneys could study prison files of 20 prospective prosecution witnesses.

Attorneys for the defendants, two black convicts charged with killing a guard at Soledad State Prison in 1970, said they had not received some of the prison records until last Thursday.

The judge rejected defense attorney Floyd Silliman's request for a continuance until after the holidays. Monterey County District Attorney William Curtis had argued that some routine testimony—such as that establishing the guard's death—could be handled during the Christmas and New Year's weeks.

Vavuris said he would hold court for full days on Mondays and Tuesdays and for a half day on Wednesdays in both holiday weeks.

An all-white jury of nine women and three men and four alternates was seated Dec. 1. The trial had already been delayed until Tuesday so the defense could review the files of the inmates the prosecution intends to put on the witness stand. Vavuris is conducting the proceedings under some of the tightest security ever seen in an American courtroom. A bullet-resistant glass wall was erected in front of the spectators' section, and all those entering are carefully searched.

Lengthy pre-trial proceedings for the defendants, John Clutchette, 28, and Pleeta Drumgo, 26, have been interrupted several times by shouting and shoving. Once the defendants tore off their shirts to show marks they claimed were from beatings by guards at San Quentin Prison.

Methane gas present in vent before explosion

PORT HURON, Mich. (UPI) — Deadly methane gas was present in an air vent drilled through the Lake Huron water tunnel shortly before an explosion hurled five miles through the tunnel killing 22 workers, the state Health Department said Tuesday.

"We confirmed the presence of methane," said Irving Davis, regional chief of the Health Department's Bureau of Industrial Health and Air Pollution Control. "We can assume that the concentration was high enough to explode."

Davis said samples were taken Sunday night, 24 hours after the tragedy occurred. "At the discharge at the vent hole. This is where the drilling was."

The two-foot diameter hole was drilled through the Lake Huron shale and down through the tunnel casing without the knowledge of the men who were working 250 feet below the surface, almost five miles away at the boreline end of the tunnel.

Davis said there was "reason to believe" that the drilling company tapped a methane deposit in the antrim shale that makes up the Lake Huron bottom. "It's not unusual to find methane in these pockets and it's almost 100 per cent methane."

Angelo di Poni, president of Greenfield & Associates which employed the men killed and injured in the tunnel explosion, said the company was not informed that the drilling operation was going on while his men were in the tunnel.

He said they would have been withdrawn from the job had they known that the air vent was being drilled by fire drilling company, Capital Dock and Dredging Co. Workers and labor leaders said having the men in the tunnel while drilling was progressing was a violation of standard rules of safety.

Nixon inspects SST jetliner

LAJES AIR BASE, Azores (UPI) — President Nixon inspected French President Georges Pompidou's supersonic Concorde jetliner Tuesday and vowed the United States would build an SST some day. "We'll start late, but we'll catch up," Nixon said.

The President inspected the sleek jet, built jointly by the French and British, at this U.S. base just before flying home in his own plush, but slower 707 jetliner after two days of talks with Pompidou.

The Concorde is a slightly smaller, slightly slower plane than the United States' proposed supersonic transport which was killed when Congress refused to provide any more federal money for development. The U.S. SST would have carried about 180 passengers at speeds up to 1,800 miles an hour.

Nixon sprinted across a runway to the Concorde accompanied by Portuguese President Marcelo Caetano and several American officials and up a ramp for the unscheduled inspection of the plane.

Pompidou was still at his villa preparing to leave, but Henri Ziegler, an official in the French aerospace industry, was aboard and showed Nixon around.

Drive shows 'paper' men

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—A Cambodian anticorruption drive aimed at its own all-volunteer army, shows that senior officers have been pocketing the pay of 15,000 "phantom soldiers," sources close to Deputy Prime Minister Sirik Matak said Tuesday.

The sources said the drive, which started Dec. 6 in the form of a census of all battalions and brigade-sized units, had revealed 30 battalions, with a paper strength of 500 men each, had to be written off as "existing on paper only."

The sources said some of the phantom units had up to 150 men, but as such, were combat ineffective.

The officers concerned were ordering equipment for nonexistent soldiers and selling it, as well as pocketing the roughly $15 per month pay for each "phantom soldier" listed. Other battalion commanders are giving their troops only a portion of their pay and pocketing the rest, sources said.

The campaign comes at a time when the Cambodian army, hard pressed by the all-out North Vietnamese offensives around Phnom Penh and on Northern Highway 6, can ill-afford to spend time on bookkeeping.

But it was those offensives that exposed the extent of corruption to a point where it no longer could be ignored.

At the outset of the offensive around the Cambodian capital, the high command called up units from outlying provinces—only to find they were calling up "a paper army."

When the tattered remains of a brigade routed from Highway 6 found its way back to Phnom Penh through rice paddies and forests in ones and twos, it turned out they had not been paid for three months.

The brigade, commanded by Lt. Col. Ith Suong, had held firmly in place until the retreat was ordered. Once in Phnom Penh, the heroes of Highway 6, wandered up to passers-by and asked for the price of a meal.

"The army on paper... is supposed to be 180,000, but the highest figure possible for the real army is 150,000 and the command fears they may find the figures are as low as 120,000," sources said.

'Safe' test

Royalty given pay hike

LONDON (UPI)—The British royal family was much richer today despite a Labor party member of parliament who tried to block their huge pay raise—with an attack against them "so outspoken that it shocked the House of Commons."

At one point he called Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, an "expensive, kept woman."

Queen Elizabeth will get nearly $2.3 million a year for salaries and to run the royal household as a result of a 108 percent pay raise approved by a 300-27 vote in the Commons Tuesday night. She contends she needed the raise because of severe inflation since she was crowned in 1952.

The Commons approved the pay raise after William Hamilton bitterly attacked the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and what he saw as an excessive number of ladies of the bedchamber attending the queen.

The Commons sat in stunned silence as Hamilton questioned the right of Britain's beloved matronly Queen Mother to a $60,000 pay raise. It brings her annual salary to $132,000.

"The Queen Mother is an old-age pensioner and we say 'Yes, she has always got a pleasant smile on her face,'" Hamilton said.

"My God! If my wife got that pay she would never stop laughing!"

MP's representing the governing Conservative party began to shout "This is an obscene speech" as Hamilton pressed on.

"This is ridiculous," he said, "particularly when I go up to my constituency to an old folks' retreat where they will be asking me why we cannot give them an extra couple of quid a week to prevent them dying from cold and starvation this winter."

TNT exploded to test silos

CROWLEY, Colo. (UPI)—The Air Force Tuesday exploded 100 tons of TNT in a container marked "Merry Christmas" in an isolated southeastern Colorado field to test the vulnerability of Minuteman ballistic missile silos in a nuclear attack.

The detonation came a few minutes after 2 p.m. (EST) following a final go-ahead from Gov. John A. Love who was briefed on the possible effects of the blast a few hours before the explosive was set off.

"It's gone up," said Crowley County Sheriff Mel O'Dea who took his lunch hour to watch

Housewives kick gunmen in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Gunmen shot a Protestant reservist in the British Army but fled from housewives who kicked and scratched them when they raided the homes of prominent Belfast citizens.

In other action during the night—in Northern Ireland—British troops said they killed a 10-year-old boy who, with armed men, attacked an army patrol in the town of Coalisland, 25 miles from the border with the Irish Republic.

In Belfast, gunmen seriously wounded John Garrett, a sergeant in the British Army reserve. He and his wife had opened their door to the attackers Tuesday night, thinking they were book salesmen.

The shooting followed attacks on the Belfast homes of five prominent Belfast citizens, including Edith Taggart, member of the Northern Ireland Parliament and the province's ruling Unionist party.

The armed men who attacked the Taggart home fled after the 50-year-old senator and her husband, Redmond, 67, struggled with them. The gunmen clubbed Taggart in the head and locked Mrs. Taggart in the kitchen.

A neighbor said the couple "must have put up a hell of a fight—there was blood all over the place."

In another incident, Joyce Hill, 58, wife of a justice of peace, who also is a member of the Unionist party, said she opened her door to find a man pointing a gun at her. "I just kicked him as hard as I could. He looked startled and before he could do anything I slammed the door and called the police," she said. Her husband, Terry, said: "I'm proud of her."

The Irish Republican Army (IRA), which advocates an end to British rule in the province, has claimed credit for the attacks.

Zoo kills animals

YAMAGATA, Japan (UPI)—A lion at Yamagata's Zoo usually is fed at 8 a.m., so he suspected nothing when the men approached his cage. Instead of breakfast he got a bullet in the head.

The management of a financially distressed zoo killed 10 large animals to cut feed costs Tuesday, over the protests of local people and Japan's society for the protection of animals.

Sacrificed at the zoo's economy program were two lions, a kangaroo, a zebra and six other animals.

"Merciless!" commented Jintaro Masuyama, president of the Animal Protection Society. "And there isn't even a law against it."

The privately operated zoo in an amusement park called "Hawaii Dreamland" was the largest in Yamagata province.

Plans for Elkhorn resort presented to S.V. council

 "Elkhorn will be a sister community to Sun Valley and there will be a close operating relationship between the two," he said. He said the new development will have its own identity, design characteristics and style of living.

Pete Walker, also of Sasaki, detailed the development. He said a combination of studio type apartments, town houses and condominiums — all located close to the new village of Elkhorn — will be built as guest accommodations and for future property owners. The village will feature administration and professional offices, food stores and restaurants, shops and stores, and will be designed to complement existing Sun Valley facilities. Most of the residences will be located within 1,000 feet of the village, to border on a chain of three small lakes to be constructed.

Single family homes and small ranch home sites, ranging from a quarter acre to five acres, will be located along the natural contours of the valley's lower basin. Platt said "We felt it important that the development not be wall-to-wall subdivision lots." He said "the home sites will follow a 'special envelope technique' in which part of the lot is chosen for the house location which will give a maximum view.

Walker said the development will include a network of pedestrian, bicycle, equestrian and ski trails. A private roadway over the present Dollar Mountain road will connect Sun Valley and Elkhorn. A secondary access road from U. S. Highway 93 is tentatively planned for development later.

Following Walker, architect Edward Killingsworth of Killingsworth, Brady and Associates, said "recreation facilities for the development will include an 18-hole golf course, designed by the firm of Robert Trent Jones, Palo Alto, Calif.; a ski lift from the Elkhorn Village to Dollar Mountain; championship tennis courts; an all-season, outdoor heated swimming pool, and a year-round ice-skating rink. Provision has been made for giving guests and residents of Elkhorn and Sun Valley reciprocal use of the recreation facilities in both areas.

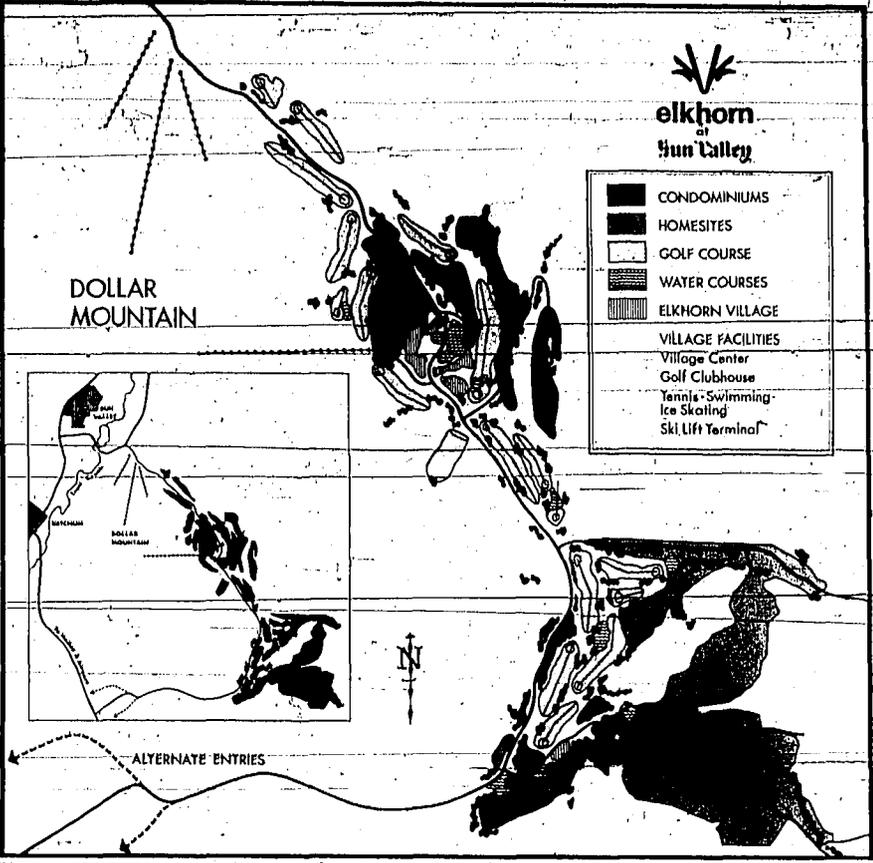

Traditional style architecture, Killingsworth said, will be used in the village. He said the design of the condominium and town house units will not be uniform. The units he said will be varied by using different roof height pitches and window styles. "The main materials in the facility will be shingles with accents of plaster — all done in dominant colors," he said.

"Every living unit was designed to have an unobstructed view," he said. Architectural drawings for the initial stage of construction are expected to be complete within 60 days. The condominium and town house units will range in size from studio apartments to four bedrooms.

Hugh Blue, vice president of Reconstructions, Inc., reviewed the developments plans for utilities engineering and public services.

Sun Valley Sewer and Water District will extend its facilities to the Elkhorn Valley, Blue said. Both natural gas and underground electrical service will be included. The city of Sun Valley will provide security, fire protection and other services through contract.

A tram shuttle service will provide a transportation link between Sun Valley and Elkhorn.

Survey reports Elkhorn revenue

SUN VALLEY — Elkhorn at Sun Valley will contribute about $10 million in state and local taxes during the next 10 years, according to a Boise State College study.

Primary economic impact was the sole factor considered. The study states that "in addition to the indicated primary impact, there will be a perhaps significant secondary impact as this new money is in turn spent, or saved, by the original recipients.

Between 1972 and 1982, the state will receive about $1.9 million dollars in sales, income and property taxes, according to the study. Blaine County and the city of Sun Valley will also each accrue about $1.9 million in tax dollars. The remaining tax breakdown includes about $3.7 million for the Blaine County School District, about $560,000 for the Sun Valley Water and Sewer District and about $25,000 for other tax jurisdictions.

During the 10 years, the development will also generate about $6.6 million in salaries and wages, according to the study. Employment is projected to rise from 17 full-time employees in 1972 to 201 in 1982.

And the study says the assessed value of the Elkhorn project property will grow by about $1 million dollars each year before reaching a total assessed valuation of about $11 million in 1982.

Development plan

OUTLINES for a central village and golf course as well as home and ranch sites are included in the 2,300 acre Elkhorn and Sun Valley development. Project officials say that only about 200 acres out of the development will be used for buildings. The remaining acreage will be left in its natural state.

Firm burns at Ketchum

KETCHUM, Idaho (UPI) — Damages from an explosion and fire at Sabala Cleaners and Tailors Tuesday were estimated today at $10,000.

Assistant Fire Chief Tom Mallano said a blast rocked the building late Tuesday morning and flames followed.

Although the exterior of the structure was virtually untouched, Malane said there was extensive smoke and heat damage to the interior.

Witnesses said they heard the blast in the vicinity of a boiler. However, authorities were unable to determine if a boiler malfunctioned or if cleaning chemicals stored near it burst into flame.

Valley routes hazardous

Highways in the Magic Valley area were open today but a blanket of snow and ice made travel hazardous.

The snow and ice were left by a storm which swept over the area and southern Idaho Tuesday.

Idaho Highway Department officials at the district office in Shoshone said most roads still have a snow floor, and additional snow is still falling in the vicinity of Burley and Rupert, from Cottarel and Malta to the Utah line, and from Galena to Stanley.

In Twin Falls, snow plowing equipment was used to clear downtown streets for the first time in two years.

Floyd Dayley, Twin Falls Highway District manager, said several county roads in the Bergér-Hollister areas were closed by drifted snow, but were expected to be opened today. Two plows were working in Rock Creek Canyon south of Hansen, and U. S. Forest Service officials reported 10 inches of new snow in that area. Dayley said lack of wind in the Twin Falls area overnight helped keep roads passable. Elsewhere in Idaho, one road — U. S. 12 between Lowell and the Montana line — was closed by snow. Conditions on highways in south central Idaho include:

Interstate 80N, U. S. 30 — King Hill to Gooding, Bliss to Buhl, Jerome to Hazelton, Burley, Rupert, snow floor; Cottarel to Utah line, snow floor; drifting; Malta to Utah line, snow floor. Interstate 15W, U. S. 30N — American Falls to Raft River, Pocatello to Idaho Falls; icy; Bancroft to Soda Springs, snow floor.

broken snow floor, snowing, drifting; Montepeller to Wyoming line, broken snow floor; McCammon, broken snow floor, snowing. U. S. 93 — Lost Trail Pass, snow floor, snowing; Galena to Stanley, Halley, Shoshone, Twin Falls to Nevada line, snow floor. State Highways 46, 69 — Fairfield, snow floor; Mountain Home area, snow floor, drifting. U. S. 93A — Challis to Willow Creek Summit, Mackay to Craters of the Moon, broken snow floor.

Snow brings needs

TWIN FALLS — "Who would have thought every resident in Twin Falls would need a snow shovel today?"

That was the reaction of one downtown merchant to the heavy demand for snow shovels — and snow tires, too — created by the storm which swept the Magic Valley Tuesday.

"My wife is unhappy because I don't even have a shovel for her," the merchant added.

Another merchant, in the Lynnwood Shopping Center, said he had sold 14 potential customers he had no more snow shovels Tuesday evening. He ran out at 4:30 p.m.

Two downtown merchants also reported they had no shovels left Tuesday evening, and have had to reorder for the remainder of the winter season. Most other downtown merchants said today they have few shovels left in stock, except one firm whose manager said he had anticipated a "big snow year" and is well supplied. He added, however, he is selling more "pushers" than shovels because they are easier to handle.

Tire dealers in Twin Falls said the past few days have brought record sales in snow tires.

One dealer said he has sold about 700 tires in the past four days and is now completely out of recaps.

Another, who produces his own recaps, estimated sales at 2,000 tires in the past week. He said he has crews working on recapping on a day and night basis. Demand was still high today, the dealer said.

Other dealers agreed they were having difficulty keeping up with snow tire requests. One said he is having difficulty, especially in the line of recapped snow treads.

3 hospitalized in Jerome accidents

JEROME — Three area residents are hospitalized following two separate traffic accidents in Jerome County.

Mrs. Robert Shoup, 22, and her daughter, Nicky, 3, both Jerome, and John Hamilton, 21, Shoshone, are all in good condition in St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, from injuries received in separate collisions.

Cpl. Bill Watts said investigation is continuing into the head-on accident Tuesday night which injured the Shoups. The two-car accident occurred a mile south and two miles west of Jerome about 5:20 p.m. One vehicle left the scene of the accident and attempts are being made to locate it, Cpl. Watts said.

Hamilton was injured Monday when the 1964 semi-truck he was driving north on State Highway 93 went out of control on a downgrade, jackknifed and threw the driver from the cab into the borrow pit. State police who investigated the accident said Hamilton was apparently not using caution on the slick roads. Hamilton, who drives for Cummins Livestock, Twin Falls, was cited for failure to maintain control of his vehicle. He said he was trying to adjust his seat when the accident occurred.

Most schools now operating

By LIZ BOLTON
 Times-News Writer

Most Magic Valley schools are in session today after a short holiday Tuesday afternoon, produced by a severe snowstorm.

Several schools — notably Twin Falls and Wendall — are still closed because of an outbreak of flu.

Resuming operation this morning were schools at Filer, Hansen, Murtaugh, Shoshone, Fairfield and Gooding. All had closed Tuesday because snow and wind created hazardous driving conditions.

Snowy conditions in Minidoka County and the Oakley area kept those schools closed today. Other Cassia County schools — at Burley, Doole and Malta — were operating.

Also closed were private kindergartens in Twin Falls, as well as Head Start, Norman McIntosh, director, said both full day and half day Head Start kindergartens will be closed until Monday.

The only school operating in Twin Falls was Immanuel Lutheran. Also continuing in session was the College of Southern Idaho.

Also reopening today was the Hollister school, which closed Tuesday because a pump for the water system at that town broke down.

Twin Falls schools will remain closed until Monday because of the flu. Classes were dismissed early Tuesday because of the storm which left five inches of snow on the ground.

Company 'snowed'

TWIN FALLS — Tuesday morning's snowstorm, plus the closing of Twin Falls schools Tuesday afternoon, really "snowed" the telephone company.

Ken Mann, regional manager for Mountain Bell, said all local lines were kept fully occupied during the height of the storm, bringing occasionally lengthy delays in calls as callers had to wait for the dial tone.

At 1 p.m., when the schools closed, "we really caught it for nearly an hour and a half,"

Mann said. Though no equipment problems were reported, callers were delayed for as long as a minute on some calls, waiting until a freed line released the dial tone.

Whenever a caller picks up a telephone, but finds no dial tone awaiting, Mann explained, it means that all available circuits are busy. If the caller will wait, the first open circuit will be hooked on and the familiar dial tone will say, in effect, "Number please."

Whence chess?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chess for centuries has held preeminence among intellectual pastimes, but its origin remains clouded.

The invention of chess, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, has been variously ascribed to the Greeks, Romans, Babylonians, Scythians, Egyptians, Jews, Persians, Chinese, Hindus, Arabians, Araucanians, Castilians, Irish and Welsh.

However, many scholars say it probably originated in India during the 7th Century and spread to Persia, Arabia and thence to western Europe.

SHOVELING SNOW is a tough task at best, but young Larry Hanson, 15, finds a small-sized bulldozer just the thing. Larry worked long and hard to clear the sixable lot of his dad's service station at Third Street West and Main Avenue.

Draft board aides retire

TWIN FALLS — Four members of the Twin Falls Selective Service board who have served terms ranging from one to 23 years retired Tuesday during ceremonies at the Selective Service offices.

The retirees included F. V. Morrison, who has served for 23 years; Kenneth Curtis, 14 years; Fred W. Ringler, three years; and Mark D. Swan, one year. A change in the Selective Service regulations, requiring retirement after either 20 years of service or at age 65 brought the changes, according to Col. James B. Crusen, Boise, deputy director for the state.

Crusen presented certificates honoring their voluntary service to the retirees on behalf of the state director of Selective Service. The certificates were signed by President Nixon and

Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, national director.

The new Selective Service board will include Fred Sanger, Dwane Mischewski, Richard A. Casper, William Emerson and George S. Corder.

In comments following the ceremonies, Curtis, a Buhl resident, said he has enjoyed his years of work with the young men of Magic Valley. He had also served during World War II, he said, and has seen quite a change among the young people, for whom he has ample praise.

Though he declined commenting directly on the effect of the "long-hair" craze among young men of today, he said that "certain organizations" have been agitating draft-eligible young men to seek to avoid "serving their country," saying this is unfortunate.

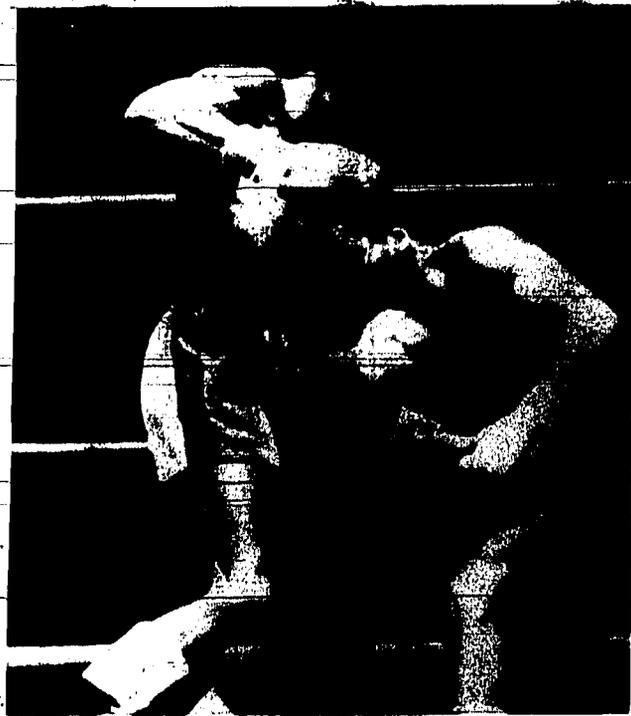

Olivares, Napoles keep boxing championships

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares retained his championship by stopping Jesus Pimental in the 11th round of a scheduled 16-round fight and welterweight king Jose Napoles declared Hodgemon Lewis on a doubleheader title card Tuesday night.

Pimental's manager, Harry Kabakoff, stepped into the ring in the 11th round, motioned his fighter to his corner and said to the champion, "Ruben, you're the winner."

Referee George Laska then declared Olivares the winner by a knockout in the 11th since there is no such thing as a technical KO under California rules.

Olivares, 23, was far ahead on points at the end. Laska had the champion out in front 8-1, judge Leo Grossman had it 9-3 and judge John Thomas had it 9-2. Olivares' knees buckled but he did not go down.

After that, Olivares, from Mexico City, stood off and took his shots from long range. In the sixth, he launched an attack with lefts and rights to the body, then caught Pimental with two lefts to the jaw.

Pimental, who resides in Mexicali, Mexico, was against the ropes and Olivares hit him with a straight right to the chin that sent the challenger through the ropes. He sat on the apron for six seconds and then climbed back into the ring to take a mandatory eight-count before joining the battle again.

Pimental, 31, announced in his dressing room that he was retiring after a pro career of 85 fights. His record is 78-7. Olivares ran his record to 67-1-1. He has knocked out 63 opponents.

Gross got for the doubleheader title card at the Forum was $255,585 on a paid attendance of 14,713. The champions each were guaranteed $90,000 and the challengers earned $25,000 apiece for a total of $230,000 in prize money.

Napoles, 145-1-4, built up an early lead and was the aggressor throughout, although he was obviously frustrated in his attempt to put away the light-hitting Lewis, 144-3-4.

The champion, a Cuban-born resident of Mexico City, looked arm weary in the late rounds and the fancy-dancing Lewis made him miss with wild lefts. Although he had only a half pound weight advantage, Napoles looked much stronger than Lewis, who took his best shots but managed to stagger the champion only once.

That was in the 11th round when Lewis caught Napoles with a right, flush on the button. There were no knockdowns but it was spirited throughout. A largely Mexican-American crowd frequently shouted "Mexico, Mexico," pleading with Napoles to knock out his foe.

CSI hosts BYU frosh Thursday, travels to North Idaho on Friday

College of Southern Idaho wraps up its pre-Christmas action Thursday and Friday with a pair of games against two of the toughest teams on their state. The Eagles, carrying an 8-1 record, will host Brigham Young University frosh Thursday night and then travel to Coeur d'Alene to meet the undefeated North Idaho Cardinals in one of the "must" games.

After that the team will be off until Jan. 8 when it travels to Weber and returns to Twin Falls Jan. 10 for the annual blood-letting against the Utah State frosh.

Despite a 13-point victory at Provo last week, Coach Jerry Hale reports BYU has good talent and could give the Eagles trouble. "We just out-quicked them down there," Coach Hale said. "Our boys worked very hard defensively and finally started inching away in the last 10 minutes. But I'll tell you one thing, I think (Glenn) Potter (ex-Twin Falls high schooler and now BYU assistant) is responsible for that. It should be a real defensive game."

North Idaho, however, is the one to beat if the Eagles have to take a split. The Cardinals, CSI and Ricks are battling for the two at-large or independent berths in the regional tournament. The results of their seasonal meetings will be used to settle which one goes to the sideline. Also at stake is the host team designation for the tournament if it comes to a battle between CSI and Ricks.

Currently North Idaho is being led by two returning sophomores, 6-4 John Williams, who is averaging 17 points and 11 rebounds, and Bob Jacobs, 6-6, who is averaging 10 points. The 6-10 lad North Idaho had at the start of the school year has left and is now redshirting in the warmer climes of Yavapai Valley, Ariz.

"North Idaho has four men back and one they redshirted last year. Physically, I guess we are about the same size underneath. But you always worrying about playing at North Idaho because they always have good personnel and they are well-coached by coach (Rollie) Williams," Coach Hale says.

The coach continues to be pleased with the progress of his Eagles and reports Dan, Drossen is back to full strength after a couple weeks of colds and flu. "Dan looked great in practice (Tuesday night)," he said. "It's a relief to have him back at top form with these two games coming up."

Vic Kelly continues to pace the Eagles in scoring with 153 with Rick Sobers second at 142 and Willie Williams third with 133. Drossen, despite his flu trouble, has a near .11-point average with 88 points. Vince Volmut has 68, Gene Stroebel, starting to score in the past four games, is up to 55 and Steve Swanson has 50.

Kelley also tops the team with 35 free throws with Sobers and Williams having 30 each. Volmut has committed the most fouls, 27, while Drossen, Sobers and Williams have 23 each.

As a team CSI has scored 766 points for an 85.1 average while allowing 618 or 68.4. CSI has outscored its opponents 161-157 but outscored them from the foul line 154-127.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Times-News Sports Editor

Nothing full till with windmills, the old Silver Creek bugaboo raised its head again this week in Magic Valley.

It's a knotty problem for those interested individuals as newly-appointed commissioner Jack Hemingway, Ketchum, has found out. Now there is little doubt that Hemingway loves Silver Creek above and beyond anything in his life, close relatives excepted. When he speaks of Silver Creek he becomes quite intense.

Although we have only talked with the commissioner on two occasions, it seems that right now he isn't a well-rounded commissioner. He may become one. Right now he's a fisherman — flies-only please. But we don't want to call in the verdict that quickly on him. He is in a comfortable trap that we all fall into. Because his interest in fly fishing and Silver Creek is so great, his acquaintances naturally are men of the same bent. When they get together, that's all they talk about.

Naturally, the consuming importance of that one stream is blown out of proportion. He took his best shot at "saving" Silver Creek and soon found that cures are worse than ills. The Fourth District Associated Sportsmen's Clubs voted to ask the legislature to deny confirmation of his appointment to the state commission by Governor Andrus. Which also tends to make us disbelieve the governor's statement to us last spring that he had "input from EVERY outdoor club in the fourth district" and all had supported the appointment of Hemingway. But that's neither here nor there.

Right now Silver Creek is a slumbering issue. Anything done is a waste of time and breath. And it will remain so until the interminable lawsuit over the navigability of the stream is handed down by the district courts and, subsequently, reviewed by the supreme court.

You remember, logs were floated down the creek by sportsmen to a place of sale or use to accommodate the quaint constitutional rule that any stream that can float a six-inch log during high water is navigable, hence the property of the state and public. Briefs, rebuttals and a hearing or oral arguments and testimony now are supposedly winding up with final briefs to be filed by the first of the year. When the decision comes is anyone's guess.

It is called a "friendly" lawsuit by some — not the landowners, we hear. However, at its conclusion expect one thing. No access across private property. If they lose, the landowners will be mad enough to post everything. If they win, the landowners will rub it in by posting the land.

Into this dead space ventures the new commissioner, who, incidentally, owns land along Silver Creek and allows public access. His rule to increase the fly fishing along a stretch of the stream stems, in large degree, from his own preference thereto, but also to a large degree of the implied threat of landowners that if the extension weren't made, the trespass signs would go up. However, this land is owned by Janus Corp. which didn't make multi-millions by giving the public free use of its properties. No matter. It's a time and, for now, public relations move.

However, it attacks of the farmer saying his fields will be open to pheasant hunting to anyone using a .410 with only two size six chuk remaining in the shell. It tends to relieve the overall pressure. The court decision will settle that matter of access.

Lopsided wins mark city play

Three teams took lopsided victories Tuesday night in the Twin Falls City adult basketball league.

Gary Pedrow hit 18 points in pacing Seller's Electric past Wylie Distributing 43-27. Hartruff had seven for the losers.

The Times-News, getting 12 from shaggy Willie Rosenbaum, topped Lynwood Chevron 39-25. Bryant had nine for Chevron.

Taco Bandido smothered R and D Masonry 57-29 with French leading the way with 18 points. Roberts had 11 for the losers.

for it and (2) it scares the fish away from stationary anglers. (The truth probably is float tubes — both the fishermen more than the fish.)

If the stream is navigable, float tubes will have to be allowed and/or boats and rafts as these would provide the only method for the public to use its new domain. Foot traffic would be minimal.

However, it must be to the credit of Hemingway to try something, anything to keep the purists and wormdrowers on the creek. We also laud him for being the first, save biologists, to admit that Silver Creek ain't the stream it once was. Stacy Gebhardt, now a deskman in the Boise headquarters but formerly regional biologist, said years ago that Silver Creek was deteriorating for several reasons, the chief two being use of land up to the water's edge and increased irrigation in the area. The combination has resulted in a rise in water temperatures and siltation.

Hemingway, who must have a never-say-die spirit, wants to try a recently discovered method of using chalk to clear up the siltation problem and return the stream to its gleaming gravel-lined former self. He has arranged to get six tons of chalk locally and a small pilot project will come off next summer. If that's successful, the big project is on. He also is trying to get some cooperation from landowners in leaving a green buffer zone between cattle-crops and stream.

Lawmaker assails closed TV

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., Tuesday said the National Football League may be planning a national closed circuit network for championship games.

"The precedent was set with boxing," Rogers said. "You can't see a championship bout on public television anymore."

Rogers asked the Federal Communications Commission and Justice Department to look into the matter.

With the public "conditioned to pay for closed circuit" broadcast of championship boxing matches, Rogers said, he believes the NFL is "testing the legal waters" for pro football.

"I don't think the NFL would ever try to completely close circuit but I do think we should take steps now to see that this possibility is absolutely discouraged."

Los Angeles cops 22nd straight

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers, bothered by a peppy Portland Trail Blazer team most of the game, moved away in the final minutes of the contest Tuesday night for their 22 victory in a row, 129-114.

The win increased the Lakers' National Basketball Association record setting win streak, which they set at 21 against Atlanta Sunday night.

Jerry West ignited the patented Laker fast break in the last six minutes after Portland got to within three points, 102-99. In the next three minutes, Los Angeles put it away, outscoring the hustling but outmanned Portland team, 14-4.

Los Angeles started the game as though it was going to blow the Blazers off the court, hitting its first eight shots as Portland missed its first 10. Holding a 19-3 lead in the first quarter, Los Angeles saw Portland come storming back to trail by only eight, 32-24 at the quarter.

Godby given ring honors

GOODING — Dyck Godby, Gooding, was named the outstanding junior boxer for the Gooding Boxing Club's amateur card Saturday night.

Paul Wood, Pocatello, won the novice boxing crown and Job Valasco, Pocatello, was the top senior fighter.

Godby won a unanimous decision over Greg Herod of Boise while Valasco outpointed Clyde Gasser of Jerome in a close fight. In a special feature, Ron Crawford, Marsing Job Corps, knocked out Randy Bauscher of Fairfield in his second round.

Hemingway defends changes in Silver Creek regulations opening allows summer moss to grow, provide cover for larger fish and allow them time to leave the safer waters of the Kirkpatrick Dam Reservoir.

Also annoying area anglers is the new definition of fly fishing, which specifically states that everything must be fly fishing oriented, from reel to line.

Marshall Everheart, Jerome, decried the secrecy under which the regulations were passed with no previous information being spread to the public for sampling.

Hemingway said his chief concern was for the stream, which he said had deteriorated in quality and blamed the change in land use, particularly use of the land for farming and grazing down to the stream's edge, which he said is causing a severe siltation problem. He added the fish and game department would, on a limited basis, experiment with the use of chalk in clearing up the silt, a method that was achieved some success in England and France.

Chalk is available. If the experiment indicates success, a complete project will be scheduled, he said.

The fourth district sportsmen Saturday, stung by the changes on Silver Creek and some charging self-interest against Hemingway, passed a resolution asking the state legislature to void Hemingway's appointment by Gov. Cecil Andrus by failing to confirm it.

President William Howard Taft was born Sept. 15, 1857 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Milwaukee gets Jones

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee bucks said Tuesday they have obtained veteran guard Wally Jones from the Philadelphia 76ers for "future considerations."

To make room for the six-year veteran, the Bucks placed Jeff Webb, a second guard, on waivers.

Chuck was lucky to run into the end situation but it was the son of a truck that good players had. He would not have needed the squeeze if clubs had broken and his line of play had given this extra chance.

Daily Diary Since 1916

"Diary... a daily record of that part of one's life which he can relate to himself without blushing."
Ambrose Bierce

Nobody, but nobody keeps a daily diary current for more than one year. That's what I thought. At hand is a note from a Great Falls client who says: "On Jan. 1, 1916, I started keeping a diary. Up till last night, I've never missed a day, noting the weather, temperature, what I did, where I was. Even used it in court once." This gentleman's name is Howard J. Hocker-smith. Challenge you to name anybody anywhere that faithful every day in his written record.

THAT CITY NAME said most often to be misspelled is Pittsburgh. ONCE KNEW why a pea-jacket was so called, but forgot now. NINE OUT of 10 computers are on lease, one out of five, can't like us. MIGHT MENTION the spirit speed of a swordfish is 60 mph. MOST POPULAR marriage month is December. In New Zealand.

OH, OH, must watch the commas when referring to that holiday hymn, "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen." I said, "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen." That's wrong.

Elephants The narcole berries of southern Africa are not alcoholic, as such. But they tend to ferment in the stomach of an animal that eats them. An elephant, for instance, a perfectly sober elephant, without compulsions or neurases, might find himself flat-out loaded. Never saw one such. Just read about it. In this condition, said elephant reportedly walks funny and sometimes winds up leaning against a tree. If you, too, know of an apt term for the holiday season, mail it in, please.

HOW FREQUENTLY should you expect to buy your 7-year-old son, if any, a new pair of shoes? Every 10 weeks, proclaims the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

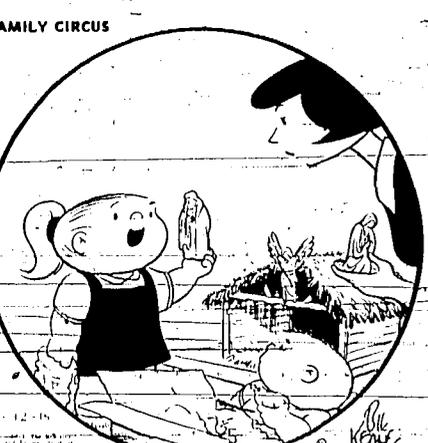

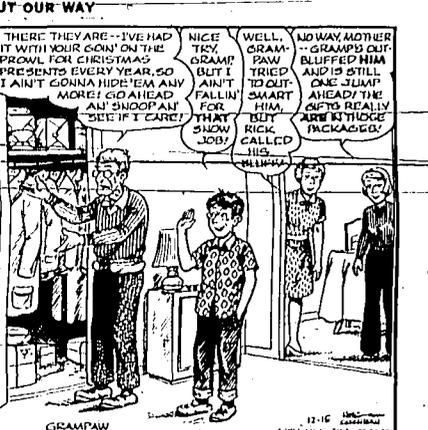

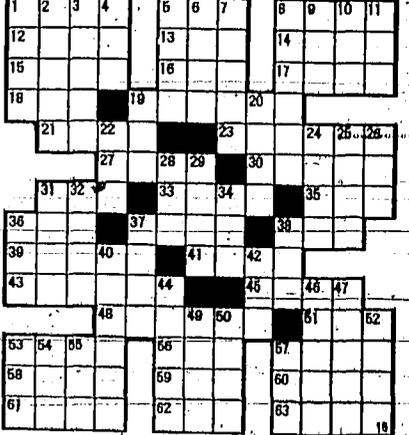

ASKED a clergyman this morning why so many priests are leaving the church. He said, "It's either Punch or Judy." Explain, please. "Either liquor or women," he said.

Child selling attempt 'distressing'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) —An Oklahoma City Boy Scout leader was sentenced to 15 months in jail Monday for attempting to sell two small children. The judge told him selling children was the "most distressing" thing he could imagine.

William Patrick O'Hara, 37, pleaded guilty to attempting to sell the youngsters to a Jacksonville couple, who notified police of the offer and aided officers in making the arrest.

"This is the most distressing thing I can think of —to take two children off somewhere and sell them," Criminal Court Judge Everett Richardson told O'Hara.

The children —Teresa Cox, 3, and Robert Cox, 2, of Oklahoma City —have been in a state juvenile facility here since O'Hara was arrested.

Florida law provides a maximum five-year sentence for attempted child selling. Richardson ordered that O'Hara be credited with jail time served since his arrest Nov. 16. O'Hara was arrested along with Robert Westenhaver, 22, of Oklahoma City after the Jacksonville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ikey Mantas, paid a $100 deposit for the children. Assistant State Attorney David Carter said the children were to be sold for $7,000 and a used car estimated to be worth $600. He said the rest of the money was to have been paid the next day.

Westenhaver initially was charged with O'Hara but he was later released. He claimed he knew nothing of the proposed sale.

Mrs. Dorothy Mae Cox, the children's mother, claimed she had given O'Hara and Westhaver permission to take the youngsters on a trip but she did not know O'Hara planned to sell the children.

"I'm not convinced in this case that this was not a conspiracy —that there wasn't someone else," said Judge Richardson. He added that he felt there probably should be two defendants but he did not elaborate.

Mrs. Cox, who was not in court Monday, visited the children at the juvenile shelter last month and then left to stay with her parents in Clinton, Ind.

Padded tree

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Statehouse has a "padded" Christmas tree.

At first, state employees expressed disappointment at the rather lean and scrawny "figure" presented by the tree when it first was set up in the rotunda of the Capitol Building.

Monday, they took a second look and discovered the tree was taller and bushier.

It turned out the Statehouse maintenance crew felt the same way about the original tree so they added another tree onto the first one they put up.

The top of the tree now is 10 feet taller.

"We're not talking about that," said building superintendent E. T. Reeves. "We just made it a little prettier."

Report given for spending in state

BOISE (UPI) — State agencies spent a total of $34,060,203 in general and special funds during the month of November, Auditor Joe R. Williams reported Monday.

Of this amount, $5,416,369 came from the general fund and $28,643,833 from special funds.

For the biennium to date, agencies have spent $190,402,979 in general and special funds.

Idaho Land Board orders building be moved

BOISE (UPI)—Deciding the time has come to enforce its rules and regulations, the State Land Board Tuesday told two cottage site leases, at McCall they have just one year to move a snowmobile building to one lot or the other.

John D. Priest and Frank McKinnis asked the board for permission to retain where it is a jointly-owned 40 by 14 foot storage shed which straddles the property line between their adjacent leases. They promised to put in writing that they would remove the building should either of them ever relinquish his lease.

However, board members pointed out they constructed the building—about three years ago—without prior approval of the Land Department as required in terms of their lease.

Public Instruction Superintendent D. F. Engelking said he felt the board should give the two leases "reasonable time" to comply with regulations. But he said "I think we've got to correct this stuff."

He and other board members noted there are many violations of Land Department regulations at Payette Lakes and that the time has come to require lessees to follow the rules.

Land Department regulations in this case require buildings on state cottage sites to be erected at least 15 feet from property lines. Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley explained that if these regulations are not followed there soon may be a problem "with the integrity of the lot lines themselves."

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus noted that if the board takes action in this case, it should be prepared to go back over all property the state is leasing at Payette Lakes and make certain the other lessees are living up to regulations. Engelking suggested this be accomplished as each of the leases come up for renewal. State Auditor Joe R. Williams, who seconded Engelking's motion agreed.

"I know it's going to cause controversy," Engelking said. "But we've got to take a stand pretty soon."

Meantime, the board rescinded an earlier order to cottage site lessee D. Stanton Daly, Boise, to erect a building on a cottage site he is leasing at McCall within a year or forfeit his lease.

Daly pointed out that while he had no house on the property he has put in some $9,000 worth of improvements and intends eventually to erect a cabin for his children.

Land Board members studied terms of his lease and discovered it required only "substantial improvements"

Yorty's wife capable

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—"I may be old-fashioned, but if he wants to be President that's what I want him to be."

Bette Yorty, attractive, five-foot-two and blonde, has campaigned with her husband Sam in winning elections to the California State Assembly, to Congress and to the mayor's office of the nation's third largest city.

Now she's working with couturier Mr. Blackwell to fashion her a warm wardrobe for stumping New Hampshire this winter. As she says, if Sam Yorty wants to be president she'll help him in the effort, and the New Hampshire primary on March 7 is where it starts.

The newly announced Democratic candidate for President has a lot going for him with his wife-on-his-campaign team. Even the mayor's bitter foe, the Los Angeles Times, likes Sam Yorty's wife.

"Mayor Yorty and the Times have an eye for attractive and capable blondes, and in Bette Yorty, we agree totally," publisher Otis Chandler said five years ago in announcing her selection as one of the newspaper's women of the year.

Yorty was 29 years old and had just been elected to his second term in the California State Assembly when a tiny blonde licking stamps in the Palm Springs post office caught his eye 33 years ago.

Three days after they met, Yorty proposed and two weeks later they were married.

"I wouldn't recommend it (the fast courtship) for everybody, but it's worked out beautifully for us," Bette Yorty said, sitting in the yellow and orange living room of her $75,000 hilltop home, once owned by Mickey Rooney.

"We had been married less than a year when my mother-in-law told me, 'Just you wait. Someday my son's going to be President,'" the mayor's wife recalled.

Bette Yorty not surprisingly thinks the country could do worse.

"He's very sincere. He has made the statement that he does not want power. He has enough of that, and glory, in the offices he's already held. But he wants to help his country. It's the sincerest thing I've ever heard him say."

Each morning at breakfast, the Yortys read aloud from an inspirational booklet called "The Daily Word," which she receives monthly in the mail. She credits it with bolstering their "positive philosophy about life."

And she has learned to live with listening to criticism of her husband and reading editorial attacks on him.

"I've been with him so many years, you learn to brace yourself," she said.

"Normally, I can take it, but sometimes it does hurt down deep inside. But Sam's so great about it—he's got such a good philosophy."

"He'll say, now Bette, don't get yourself in a stew."

She has accompanied him on most of his world travels on behalf of the city and on political jaunts. But he made one trip to the East Coast alone recently, and as she helped him pack his bag, the mayor remarked, "I keep thinking I'm forgetting something."

"You are," she told him.

"Me."

She doesn't know yet what her role will be in the presidential effort, but in past campaigns the Yortys have appeared separately.

"California is such a big state that he would go one way and I would go another," she explained.

Solons pleased with personnel commission

BOISE (UPI)—On the whole, legislators responding to a recent UPI questionnaire seem fairly pleased with the performance of Idaho's Personnel Commission although there are some who would like to abolish it.

The Personnel Commission, controversial since the legislature first began the program, came to attention again this year after a performance audit done by Legislative Auditor James Defenbach indicated the commission is hampered by the very laws under which it operates.

Comments on the commisson's performance ranged from one lawmaker who would "do away with it" to another who felt it is "improving and will do a better job".

But, according to Sen. Robert Saxvik, R-Burley, "legislators are griping because it has taken job appointments out of politics. Memories are short in light of the original purpose of the Personnel Commission."

Defenbach's performance audit indicated the Personnel Commission in many areas does not have statutory backing to support many of its rulings or functions.

He has prepared for the Budget-Fiscal Committee a revision of the commission's laws, designed to strengthen the role of the commission.

The Budget-Fiscal Committee heard the first draft earlier this month, asked for a re-write, and may, if satisfied, present the upgraded law to the legislature in 1972.

One of the more controversial changes would be one to limit the number of exempt employees elected state officials can have. Defenbach said that change is designed to keep career workers in each elected office capable of dealing with technical aspects of jobs the officials may not completely understand when they first take over.

Of those responding to the poll, 50 per cent approve of the job being done, 34 per cent don't approve, and 16 per cent are "partially" approving.

Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, called for a "little less weight on 'degrees' and a little more on experience," elected state officials can have.

Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, felt many employees are "over-qualified and underachieving."

One legislator, who declined to be identified, said he would like to see a statewide classification system rather than an agency-by-agency system. He also noted he would like to institute an evaluation system for merit system employees.

Another lawmaker, who also asked not to be identified, said he was "much happier" with the commission since George Murphy took over as director, adding "before he arrived, I voted against the appropriation."

Murphy, however, will be leaving the state in January to move to Denver where, in a federal post, he will work with state and local personnel systems.

"There are still those, however, who want to do away with it. According to State Sen. Hood Budge, R-Soda Springs, "It has created many more problems than it has solved because many state employees are not covered by the personnel system who think they are."

Rep. E.V. McInan, R-Ketchum, said he felt the commission should be "completely revised."

"It is unfair to all taxpayers and to the employees themselves," he said.

Pool searched for old bones

NORTH PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (UPI)—Underwater explorers pitched camp Tuesday at the lip of a jungle-hidden sinkhole which has been swallowing man and beast more than 5,000 years.

They plan to plunge into the deep murky pool Wednesday in search of the bones of creatures that roamed Florida hundreds of centuries before Ponce de Leon landed, said State Marine Archaeologist Carl Clausen, leader of the group probing Florida's coastal waters for ancient Spanish ship wrecks.

was referring to the perils of diving in the 210-foot deep spring which flares out at the bottom like an hour glass.

"At 150 feet or so, you sometimes start getting giddy," he said. "It's a phenomenon known as nitrogen narcosis. The last time I went to the bottom, I got tangled up in my lines. When I got loose and got to the surface, I broke out laughing for no reason at all."

But despite his experience with "rapture of the deep," as scuba divers call the symptom, Clausen last month plucked the bones of a 5,000-year-old Indian girl from the ledges of the underwater cavern.

It seems little Salt Spring, as residents of South Sarasota

County may prove to be the most important find of its type in the hemisphere," said the 34-year-old Clausen, who wears a heavy moustache and hair to his neck.

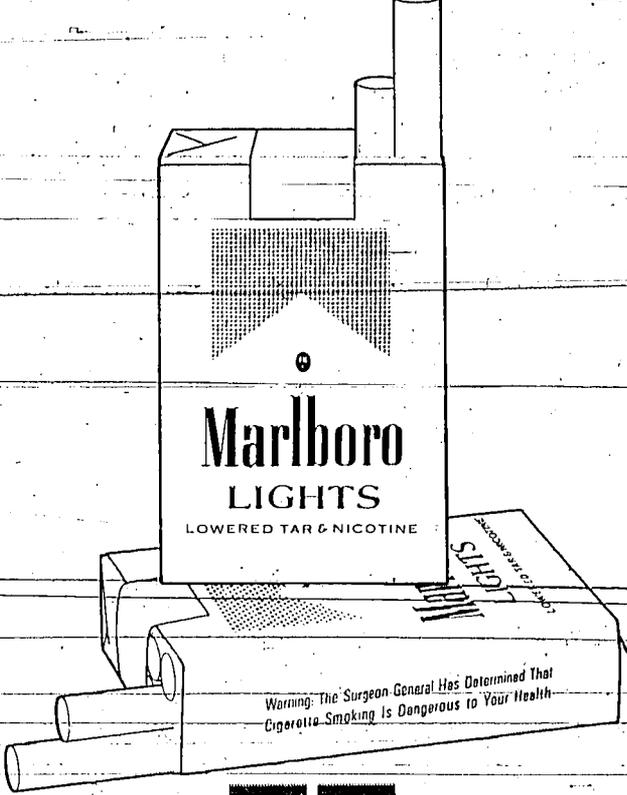

Little Salt Spring has some unusual qualities. It is a circular pool 250 feet wide at the surface and about that at the bottom with a narrow passage between the upper and lower chambers. It is fed by slow salt water seepage and rain water.

"Because of the nature of the water," he said, "skeletal remains of both human beings and animals have been preserved in near perfect condition. The environment is stable and the salt has preserved most of the relics down there. There is no oxygen to speak of in the water below five feet.

The absence of oxygen, Clausen explained, is the main reason the bones and artifacts he brought up in a preliminary dive in November were in such good shape. He found skull, pelvic and leg bone of an Indian girl scientists judged to be eight or nine years old. Tests dated the bones at 5,000 years, plus.

Clausen theorizes that it probably was a major watering hole for man and animals. Many, he says, apparently fell victims to its slippery banks and plunged to their deaths.

From Marlboro to America's low tar cigarette smokers-

New reductions listed for autos

DETROIT (UPI)—The sticker prices of 1972 model automobiles changed once again Tuesday as automakers announced reductions as much as $341 in one case to reflect the repeal of the 7 per cent federal excise tax.

The cuts brought the under-$2,000 American car back to dealer showrooms as the Ford Pinto and American Motors Gremlin were given price tags at or near 1971 models bought before Aug. 15. In the case of the Chevrolet Vega, the new 1972 price was lower than the 1971 model price—$2,030.50 compared with $2,090.

The cuts were the latest in a series of price adjustments since President Nixon announced the wage-price freeze on Aug. 15. Prices were virtually stabilized at 1971 model levels during the freeze, but increases of 2.5 to 3 per cent were put into effect following the freeze and further price hikes are possible if granted by the Price Commission.

The automakers had promised to pass on the entire amount of the tax repeal to customers and began relating some $760 million to about 3.8 million American car buyers within minutes of President Nixon's signing of the repeal last Friday.

IBM receives price increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Price Commission Tuesday approved an across-the-board, 1.5 per cent price increase for the IBM corp.

The approval, affecting all domestic products and services of IBM, will increase the firm's estimated revenue by the same amount, according to the commission. The company asked for 1.5 per cent.

The total number of price increases approved by the commission since Nov. 14 for major firms reached 142 as the commission announced boosts for the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of 4.09 per cent on heavy construction and replacement parts for a revenue increase of 2.2 per cent; the Armour Food Co., 0.49 per cent average on meat, poultry and dairy products for a .31 per cent revenue increase.

Towa Beef Processors Inc., 0.25 per cent on cattle processors for a 0.022 per cent revenue increase; and Signode

Corp., 7 per cent on stamped steel products for a .03 per cent revenue increase.

The commission also corrected a previous announcement, listing a 2.11 per cent revenue increase for the Fedders Corp. on its total line of air conditioning products and household appliances. The original announcement showed a 0.03 per cent revenue boost on a 2.11 per cent price increase.

Vietnam orphans sad war victims

SAIGON (UPI) — She looks up with those big, sad brown eyes and wraps her tiny fingers around your rough hand. You try to get away, but she won't let go. She keeps holding on until you promise to come back.

The gate clanks closed and she begins to cry. As you drive away you look back and there she is, the little tear-stained face squeezed between the rusty iron bars.

It is a heart-wrenching experience to visit one of South Vietnam's 100,000 orphans. Most are victims of the war and seem to carry all the troubles of a troubled land on their little backs. They want so much to be loved.

Some lost their fathers in combat and mothers in shelling. Others were crippled by mines and abandoned. Still others were left by their American soldier fathers and bar-girl mothers.

Nguyen Thi No, the child with the big, sad eyes, was eating lunch at an old wooden table in the Vinh Son Phno Lo orphanage in Saigon when this visitor came. The 8-year-old girl, wearing a faded, floppy pink dress, was having a hard time keeping the hundreds of flies away from her rice and sardines.

"Nobody seems to care about me," she said, shooing a fly off a spoonful of rice. "I'm so scared it's awful."

No, whose soldier father was killed in the war and whose mother abandoned her, cries all night long and scampers under her steel army bed whenever a car backfires.

"You know what I'd like," she said, her bare feet playing with each other under the table. "I'd like to have a doll. I don't have one. I never had a doll. I'd like one that can talk. That's what I'd like."

Americans have adopted about 200 of the orphans in the past two years despite an unbelievable amount of red tape necessary to bring a Vietnamese child to the United States.

The usual way is to work through a reputable relief agency such as International Social Service. Some Americans have friends in Saigon to help make the arrangements.

Shoplifting isn't a child's prank...

IT'S A CRIME

Sombody should have warned these youngsters that shoplifting is a crime. Even if the sentence is suspended, the offense is recorded on police blotters. A police record can keep the offender out of college. It can prevent him from getting a job. A police record follows the guilty person all his life. Regardless of how valuable the item is that is shoplifted (and most items lifted are of small value), the price tag is far too high for any youngster to pay.

Think twice. Shoplifting is playing Russian roulette with your future.

New crop production peak forecast for America

(Editor's note: The following article is reprinted from the Farm Bureau News.)

A record harvest, higher food consumption, a mixed-up business outlook, higher farm prices, higher farm costs, and some ups and downs in prospective supplies of commodities highlight the current business and market outlook for farmers.

A new peak in crop production seems certain as figures keep coming in on this year's harvest.

The November crop report estimates that this year's crop production will top last year by 13 per cent. Yields of 28 major crops will also set a new all-time record of 110 per cent of the 1967 base. This would be eight percent above last year.

The November crop report indicates even larger corn and soybean crops than earlier estimates. Based on November 1 conditions, the 1971 corn crop is forecast at more than 5.5 billion bushels — nearly three per cent above the month-earlier estimate and 35 per cent larger than the 1970 crop. Estimated 1971 soybean production was boosted to 1.2 billion bushels, up two per cent from a month ago and six per cent greater than last year.

Corn supplies in the 1971-72 season are certain to exceed demand. Production plus carryover would total over 6 billion bushels. With an estimated use of around 4.8 billion bushels, carryover stocks of 1.4 billion bushels at the end of the feeding year would be the largest in eight years.

Soybean price prospects will hinge on demand — both foreign and domestic. The carryover this year was very small, but demand is slackening. USDA estimates that soybean use this crop year will drop five per cent below last year — the first annual decline in seven years.

The muddled export picture plus the dock strikes are putting a damper on exports. This is hitting soybeans particularly hard as more than half the crop was shipped abroad last year.

U. S. cotton supplies will tighten further in 1971-72. The reduced carryover from 1970-71 more than offsets a small gain in the 1971 crop. Also, prospective disappearance, although weaker this season because of reduced export prospects — should still exceed 1971 crop output. This will reduce stocks next August perhaps below the 4 million bale level, compared with the 1970-71 carryover of 4 1/2 million.

Food consumption climbed one per cent this year to another record, reflecting substantial increases in consumption of meat and fruit. Relatively small consumption increases for potatoes, vegetables oils, cereal products, eggs, and the beans, peas, nuts group have been about balanced by declines for poultry, vegetables, coffee, fish, animal fats, and melons.

Most of the estimated four per cent rise in red meat consumption is accounted for by pork; beef consumption was unchanged. Further declines for veal and lamb have about offset an increase for edible offal.

Small declines for chicken and fish have counteracted the pork increase to some extent and held the meat, poultry, and fish group to a two per cent gain. Fish consumption has declined this year, but is still above the 1969 level.

Most categories of fruits have shown consumption gains in 1971. Canned citrus juice and dried fruit have made major gains. Consumption of fresh citrus is nearly 2 1/2 per cent higher. Frozen orange juice concentrate increased slightly to a record level.

A small decline for fresh vegetables combined with a steady rate for processed items has pulled per capita vegetable consumption down one per cent in 1971. But another sharp increase for processed potato products has accounted for a two per cent increase in the potato and sweet potato group. In recent years, per capita consumption of processed potatoes has increased faster than any other major food.

The 1972 food consumption outlook is mixed. Production of livestock food products next year may go higher, and crop output of food commodities probably will decline. The level of imports may not change much, but exports of food products are expected to increase. Civilian food use is also expected to increase — but perhaps less than the 1971 level.

With both exports and civilian food use indicated upward, total utilization appears likely to increase slightly next year.

Production of several livestock commodities is expected to increase next year since feed grains are now in ample supply. These food commodities include beef, poultry, and total milk (including cheese and nonfat dry milk). Total production of several livestock food items in 1972 — pork, lamb and mutton, turkey, eggs, and lard — may fall slightly short of production in 1971.

With normal growing conditions, food crop yields will probably increase again next year in line with the long-term trend, but somewhat less than the estimated seven per cent jump this year. Acreage planted to major crops is expected to decline somewhat next year, especially for feed grains, largely because of the announced changes in farm programs for these crops and depressed prices for this year's output.

Production of fruits and vegetables may rise some next year if normal growing conditions prevail.

Business activity improves slowly as housing, autos, retail trade, and consumer spending show life. But the news is not good for steel, aerospace, and the metals.

Business confidence is wavering. The stock market is jittery and down to a low for the year. Many are asking, "Will there be a workable Phase II in the wage-price game, or will the 15 per cent wage hike — three times the 5.5 per cent goal — granted coal miners set a pattern for future settlements? Will industrial profits be squeezed by a tight lid on price increases but no effective control of labor costs?" This is one sure way not to spur investment, expand the economy, and provide for more jobs.

Then, too, there are real problems in the international picture on the balance of trade and export fronts.

Other problems revolve around the Federal Reserve Board's monetary policy and Congressional plans for another big spending spree.

Farm prices rose one per cent during the month ending on Nov. 15. Lettuce, tomatoes, cattle, cotton, and eggs were top gainers. Losses were registered for hogs, citrus fruits, soybeans, and corn.

Farm costs reached a new peak of 415 (1910-1914=100) during the above period. Farm prices were 70 per cent of parity on Nov. 15 — one point above last month and the same ratio as a year ago.

The number of sheep and lambs on feed on Nov. 1 in the seven major feeding states is estimated at 1,441,000 head. This is three per cent less than a year ago.

Milk production for 1971 is expected to exceed last year's by about one per cent. Record milk prices, reduced feed costs, a good supply of replacement helpers, and an eased dairy labor situation favor another production increase next year. Wage restraints may slow production costs.

Milk consumption is running about one percent behind a year ago.

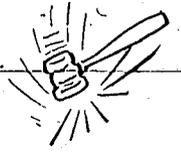

The broiler-type chick hatch is on the rise after reduced hatchings during the first seven months of the year. The downward trend was reversed in August, and the upturn continued in September and October. The October hatch was four per cent in excess of the October, 1970, hatch.

The egg-type hatch has been low, with the October hatch down 20 per cent from a year ago. This was the sharpest decline of the year. Nine out of the last 10 months ran behind a year earlier.

Output of fall vegetables for fresh market is expected to be six per cent below 1970. Fall potato production will be about one per cent less than last year, and the sweet potato harvest, 11 per cent less.

The 1971-72 production of citrus is expected to be three per cent below last year.

Farmers, agencies study Idaho labor

BOISE (UPI) — Southern and Eastern Idaho farmers met with state and federal employment officials Monday to discuss balancing available labor supply with grower needs for sprinkler irrigation pipe movers.

More than 20 agricultural producers and federal officials representing the U. S. Departments of Labor and Immigration Service met to promote a better understanding of agricultural manpower problems.

H. Fred Garrett, executive director of the Idaho Department of Employment, told the meeting participants that sprinkler pipe mover needs are increasing with more land under irrigation each year.

The growers most of them large users of sprinkler pipe movers, expressed concern over the availability next season of workers to move pipe. Garrett said the agency is conducting a survey of Mexican-Americans in Idaho who have dropped out of the migrant stream and remain in the state.

He noted this is to determine those persons willing to move sprinkler pipe and the conditions under which they will perform such labor.

Garrett said the meeting Monday was the employer phase of preliminary work toward balancing labor supply with labor needs through consultation with migrant farm workers and agricultural growers. He said the next phase will involve a discussion with migrant worker and farm labor representatives.

New wheat aids yield

MOSCOW — Two new varieties of spring wheat show promise of boosting Idaho's agricultural income, Howard Roylance, agronomist of the University of Idaho extension service, predicted this week.

Springfield and Twin are semi-dwarf soft white varieties developed by Dr. Don W. Sunderman, agronomist and cereal breeder for USDA at the Aberdeen branch experiment station.

They have done so well in tests, the agronomists said, that they are likely to replace the currently popular Lemhi 66 and Federation 67 on irrigated acreage. Springfield was released in 1970.

Twin, a similar higher-yielding strain, was released in 1971. Supplies of seed are being produced so that wheat growers will soon have adequate amounts.

Springfield yields about 15 bushels per acre more than Lemhi 66 or Federation 67. Considering that about 200,000 acres of irrigated wheat are normally grown in southern Idaho annually, and that much of that acreage produces soft white wheat, Roylance emphasized that the new varieties can contribute a substantial increase to production. Every additional bushel means more money in the agricultural economy.

In 1971 almost 1600 acres of Springfield were planted under certification for seed increase.

It is estimated that this has produced about eight and one-half million pounds of seed.

Assuming that Springfield is planted on 100,000 acres in 1972, Roylance said the increased yield would mean an additional 1.5 million bushels of wheat over what would have normally been produced.

Twin yields about 4 bushels per acre more than Springfield. It also has a higher test weight. About 100 acres were planted for seed increase in 1971. Approximately 9,000 bushels of seed will be available for further increase in 1972. By 1973 there should be enough seed of Springfield and Twin to plant the entire irrigated spring-irrigated land in southern Idaho about three million extra bushels annually.

Horse vaccine rules adopted

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Agriculture Tuesday adopted emergency regulations to prevent the spread of a deadly sleeping sickness disease to horses in California.

Under the new measure, all horses moving within California or entering the state from other areas will be required to be vaccinated against the disease — Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE). The disease killed thousands of horses in Texas and Mexico earlier this year.

The regulations, to take effect immediately, also restrict the importation of horses from areas where outbreaks of VEE occur.

Dr. P. L. Smith, chief of the department's Bureau of Animal Health, said the regulations were needed because VEE is still occurring in unvaccinated horses in Texas and Mexico.

"The potential danger still exists," Smith said. "And it will be intensified next spring when the mosquito season begins."

Mosquitoes are the main carriers of the disease from one area to another. "More than 392,000 horses, believed to be more than 85 per cent of California's horse population, have been vaccinated against VEE," department officials said.

Valley men join 'Up With People'

TWIN FALLS — Three Magic Valley men will be joining the "Up With People" troupe Jan. 4 to tour the United States.

Duane Watson, Drahorn Pospichal, both Twin Falls, and Mike Batt, College of Southern Idaho student from Caldwell, were chosen by the "Up With People" group when it was in Twin Falls in October. Sponsored by CSI and the Times-News.

The three men were interviewed and later asked to join the troupe. Three members of a troupe coming from one area is highly unusual. Watson said only one out of 350 young people interviewed is generally chosen. Last year only one person from Idaho traveled with "Up With People."

The biggest problem encountered by the three men will be expenses. They tend to run high. The members of the cast must pay a $75 a month fee tuition plus $100 registration. They also must pay $250 two-way plane fare abroad each time they travel to Europe for a tour.

Mike Gray, Twin Falls, is heading up a group of interested citizens as a calling committee to raise money for the young men. Gray said the committee will be calling area residents who housed the "Up With People" troupe when they performed at CSI.

Gray said he hopes the committee can get donations from other Magic Valley residents and businesses to help put the three on tour.

He said the contributions are tax deductible because "Up With People" is a non-profit, educational organization.

All of the money from tuition and fees goes into the corporation to pay expenses. Money from ticket sales and donations also helps pay travel expenses. The casts travel around the United States by privately owned buses.

The three young men will travel to Denver to meet the "Up With People" cast and from there will go to Texas and Louisiana. The tour will then take them to the New England states and then to Portugal, Spain, Italy and France.

The boys said it was quite an honor to be chosen, because so few are picked. And when members are asked to join "Up With People" the qualifications center around maturity, leadership and personality. They must be between the ages 18 to 25.

The men will be with the cast from a year to a year and a half.

Join group . . .

MRS. JEFFREY HIGGINBOTHAM

Couple weds in December rites

TWIN FALLS — At a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, Dec. 11, Jane LaVelle Lofgren and Jeffrey Dale Higginbotham were united in marriage at Zion Lutheran Church, Salt Lake City, Utah.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Lofgren, Salt Lake City. Higginbotham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Higginbotham, Twin Falls.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Morgan Edwards before a background of red carnations and pine boughs. Decorated Christmas trees and tiered candelabra entwined with holly and red satin bows graced the chancel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long, full-sleeved empire, A-line suit in olive with imported French ruffled overlay which fell into her floor-length train. Her long bridal illusion veil beyond her train from her Juliet Cap. She carried a cascade of a miniature white carnations and red roses.

Mrs. Douglas Lofgren, sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Babs Healy, Sun Marino, Calif., Colleen Staples, Nyska, Ore., and Jocelyn Higginbotham, sisters of the groom. Richard Higginbotham served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Dwight and Douglas Lofgren, brothers of the bride, Los Angeles, Calif.; Galen Kawakami, Honolulu, Hawaii, and Gary Arrington, Provo, Utah. Acolyte was John Higginbotham, brother of the groom, and ringbearer was David Higginbotham, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Robert Miner, sister of the groom, Richardson, Tex., was in charge of the guest book.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Hotel Utah Jade Room, with the Christmas theme prevailing.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents, Salt Lake.

Other out-of-town guests for the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. G. H. Lofgren, Long Beach, and the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, Lovings, Colo.

After a honeymoon in San Francisco, the bridal couple will be further honored at a party at the home of the bride's parents in Twin Falls before returning to Utah State University, Logan, Utah, where the bride is a junior majoring in elementary and special education, and the groom is a junior student majoring in political science. He will receive his degree next summer.

Entertain with this Yule treat

NEW-YORK, N. Y. — Holidays — happy days, a brisk, cheery time for those casual visits with friends and neighbors who drop in for a chat and a snack.

A perfect time to offer Apple Sauce Cranberry Cake — moist, flavorful and so in keeping with the season, too.

Topping for this rich yeast bread is a blending of several mouth-watering flavors. Tangy cranberry sauce and the bite of whole-berry cranberry sauce are sweetened with brown sugar and touched with spices — all simmered to a perfect melding of flavors. When the batter is ready (made with an electric mixer — 10 blending) add the topping, let the pan sit in a warm place for an hour and then bake.

You can make this cake ahead, if you like, and freeze it. Then just heat and add a decorative drizzle of confectioners' sugar glaze to give a festive touch. A great companion to a hot cup of coffee!

APPLE SAUCE CRANBERRY CAKE
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 can (8 ounce) whole cranberry sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon

1 to 1 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup very hot tap water
1 egg (at room temperature)

Combine apple sauce, cranberry sauce, brown sugar, butter, cinnamon and nutmeg in saucepan. Simmer 15 minutes. Cool.

In large bowl, thoroughly mix 1/2 cup of the flour with the granulated sugar, salt and yeast. Add two tablespoons softened butter. Gradually add very hot tap water and beat two minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg and one-half cup flour. Beat at high speed two minutes. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff batter. Spread in greased 9-inch square pan. Top with apple sauce and cranberry mixture. Cover, let rise in warm place one hour.

Bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes or until done. Let stand in pan 10 minutes. Then remove from pan and finish cooling on rack. If desired, drizzle with a glaze.

For a simple glaze, gradually add two tablespoons of boiling water to one cup confectioners' sugar, stirring until smooth.

APPLE SAUCE CAKE TOPPINGS
Try as you may, you can't always be prepared for unexpected company. But if you keep unfrosted cake layers or loaves in the freezer, you can prepare a hot and tasty special in minutes. While the cake is warming and thawing in the oven, stir up one of the following tasty toppings:

Combine two cups canned apple sauce with two teaspoons lemon juice and one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Serve warm or chilled.

Combine two cups canned apple sauce with one tablespoon grated orange rind and one-fourth cup orange juice.

Heat two cups canned apple sauce with two tablespoons honey.

Combine two cups canned apple sauce and one-fourth cup firmly packed brown sugar. Simmer until thickened . . . a kind of homemade apple butter.

Feminine look

Designers talk of the soft, feminine look for spring. In one instance, it's also the little girl look, in short puffed sleeves on tissue-wool dresses for daytime.

A Lovelier You

RELAX IN MINUTES

By Mary Sue Miller

You neither look your best nor project your best when you feel tired and tense. Your ability to cope with people and problems wears thin. Tension then mounts until it menaces your charm.

Owing to pressures of the season on one's time and energy, most of the feminine contingent is in a jittery state. Let's try to restore calm, cheerful spirits.

Relief from tension takes many forms. A method that works for you may not work for another. But it is hoped that you will recoup a more relaxed approach by these measures, requiring from only one to thirty minutes.

1. Breathe deeply at an open window — one minute.
2. Sit in an easy chair with feet elevated, eyes closed, head and arms dangling five minutes.
3. Lie limp on the floor — ten minutes.
4. Take a brisk fifteen-minute walk.
5. Change your makeup and comb your hair — twenty minutes at most.
6. Lull in a fragrant warm bath. This depends upon your having a free half-hour.

None of these methods proves effective if you let your thoughts play hopscotch and jump from one square of duty to another. You must make every effort to free your mind of agitations. Practice may be necessary. Then the more proficient you become, the quicker you unwind. What a boon!

FRENCH RICE
Cook about 2 pounds of long grain regular rice (not instant) and spread out on a large platter to dry and cool. While waiting for the rice to cool, prepare the following ingredients by chopping them very fine and keeping each one in a separate bowl.

- 1 large berry box of fresh mushrooms
- 3 large green peppers
- 3 large bunches of green onions
- 3 cups meat, turkey chicken, ham, beef or pork.

After chopping the above items, pour a little cooking oil in a frying pan. When it is hot, break 2 eggs into it and keep stirring and break the eggs up into bite size pieces. Then add a little onion and onion with the egg. Add some green pepper and then some mushrooms and meat and continue to stir and cook until the vegetables are done. Add some of the cool rice and just a dash of curry powder and some soy sauce. Cook until browned and serve immediately. Use one pan full for a serving. Cook each serving separately. The above quantities serve ten generously.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites.

Solve gift-giving oversights quickly

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Christmas Day is bearing down fast, and inevitably most of us will remember, at the last minute, an important social or business gift obligation we've overlooked.

And, the U. S. Postal Service has noted that, if your out-of-town gifts aren't in the mail by Dec. 15, it can't promise delivery by Christmas.

Solving Christmas gift-giving oversights quickly, and with as little embarrassment as possible, seems to get harder all the time. So, what else is new?

Fortunately, local florists have come up with a unique solution to this yearly bind. Their answer is Speed-A-Gift, a new line of gift items which can be ordered for delivery across the street or across the country. And, each individual gift item is delivered in combination with a lovely bouquet of seasonal flowers. More important, they may be ordered for delivery as late as 5 p.m. Dec. 22.

The service, offered exclusively by local FTD florists, provides a variety of gifts, suitable for both men and women, which have been selected to fit nearly all gift-giving needs and pocket-books. In a one-stop shopping process, eliminating wrapping and mailing, consumers can see the gift merchandise exactly as it will be delivered, combined with a fresh floral arrangement, via the rapid FTD inter-city network of florists.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago I was flying from Los Angeles to Chicago, and had as my seat partner, a soldier on his way home from Viet Nam for a short leave.

Waiting for him at home was his young wife, a small son, and a new baby daughter which he had never seen. His enthusiasm was easy to share and we talked the whole way.

Before we parted, he smiled and said, "Thanks for talking to me. You remind me so much of my Mom." Then he added, "I have to go back to Viet Nam for five more months, then I want to come back and be the best Daddy in the world. May I share something with you?"

He then pulled from his wallet a well worn piece of paper — or perhaps I should say TWO pieces, because it had been literally worn in two and all around the edges. It was something which he had torn from your column several years ago, he said:

"I have read it over and over," he said, "and I want to be that kind of parent."

I pray to a kind God to protect that young man, and give him a chance to come back home. The world needs more parents who feel that way. Thanks for printing it again. It should be printed often.

JUST A "MOM" IN LONG BEACH, CAL.

A PARENT'S PRAYER

"OH, GOD, make me a better parent. Help me to understand my children, to listen patiently to what they have to say, and to understand all their questions kindly. Keep me from interrupting them, talking back to them and contradicting them. Make me as courteous to them as I would have them be to me. Give me the courage to confess my sins against my children and ask them forgiveness, when I know that I have done wrong.

"May I not vainly hurt the feelings of my children. Forbid that I should laugh at their mistakes, or resort to shame and ridicule as punishment. Let me not tempt a child to lie and steal. So guide me hour by hour that I may demonstrate by all I say and do that honesty produces happiness.

"Reduce, I pray, the meanness in me. May I cease to nag; and when I am out of sorts, help me, O Lord, to hold my tongue. Blind me to the little errors of my children and help me to see the good things that they do. Give me a ready word for honest praise.

"Help me to treat my children as those of their own age, but let me not exact of them the judgments and conventions of adults. Allow me not to rob them of the opportunity to wipe upon themselves, to think, to choose, and to make their own decisions.

"Forbid that I should ever punish them for my selfish satisfaction. May I grant them all their wishes that are reasonable and have the courage always to withhold a privilege which I know will do them harm.

"Make me so fair and just, so considerate and compassionate to my children that they will have genuine esteem for me. Fit me to be loved and imitated by my children. Oh, God, do give me calm and peace and self-control."

Counselor appointed for tour

RUPERT — Sharon Lemmon, Rupert, has been appointed as a group counselor for the 1973 summer program sponsored by Foreign Study League, Salt Lake City. Miss Lemmon will accompany a group of area high school students on a six week tour of five European countries.

In 1967 she was graduated from Minico High School. She attended Idaho State University and Skyline College, San Francisco, where she worked on a degree in education.

Presently she is working as a substitute teacher at Minico High School and also works as a nurses aide at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

The tour will leave by jet from Salt Lake City, on June 29 and visit France, Spain, Italy, Austria and England, returning Aug. 7 to the United States.

The Foreign Study League is the oldest and largest educational organization of its kind in the world. Participating students are required to spend a few hours each morning in classes studying the customs of each country they visit. Afternoons are spent touring major points of interest by bus with local guides. Evening activities often include receptions at city hall, talent shows, exchange dances or activities with local students, or visits to the opera or theater.

A special evening program is being planned for all persons interested in traveling with Miss Lemmon's group this summer or seeking further information about the league's program. The date and place will be announced.

Defense — House and Senate passed $71 billion defense department appropriation for 1972. Conference committee reconciling difference. Congress earlier approved $23.3 billion weapons procurement authorization.

Welfare — An $11 billion, all new welfare program approved by House. Includes $2,400 minimum income for family of four. Senate considered but laid aside. May consider it again.

Education — House passed five-year, $24 billion college aid. Senate passed three-year, $18.5 billion bill. Conferees to reconcile difference, including House's school busing ban.

Sharing — Nixon proposed $5 billion general tax-sharing with state cities and asked $11 billion sharing for specific projects. Blocked in house.

Health — Nixon proposed mandatory private group insurance for employees, federal-paid premiums for poor. House ways and means committee considering dozen different plans.

Prayer — House defeated constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools. Senate no action.

Wage — House committee approved raise in $1.60 hourly minimum wage to $2 by Jan. 1, 1972. Senate committee considering similar bill. Administration proposed $2 by 1974.

Women — House passed constitutional amendment to grant women equal rights under law with men. Pending in Senate.

Rights — House voted to grant equal employment opportunity commission. Pending in Senate.

Environment — Senate approved bill setting national goal of pollution-free water by 1985. House Public Works Committee writing own bill.

Consumer — Senate holding hearings on house-passed bill to create a consumer protection agency. Ralph Nader and other consumer advocates want Senate to strengthen it.

Time for living

BY ROGERS FRANKLIN
How many of you have arthritis?

In my neighborhood, half my friends suffer twinges now and then. Luckily for them they have osteoarthritis, not the painful "rippling" type called rheumatoid arthritis.

It's true that as we grow older, we're likely to be afflicted by osteoarthritis — the result of general wear and tear on bone joints, or from some injury we incurred in earlier years. Hippocrates named it from "arthron," meaning inflammation of the joint.

Many of our greatest men in history have struggled with the pain of arthritis. — Pope Pius — religious leaders, Martin Luther and John Wesley, poets and writers — de Mungtans, Goethe and Tennyson. From Achilles to Christopher Columbus to Benjamin Franklin to the painter Renoir — all suffered. Most of them had gout, the form of arthritis caused by uric acid, but too high a level of uric acid in the blood and tissues. Today, gout is cured by drugs that control uric acid.

Although I haven't got arthritis (yet), I've been learning all about what to do if you have arthritis, from the article in the Harvard Years magazine, "You and Your Arthritis," by the magazine's Associate Editor Helen Alpert.

Actually, 50 million Americans have arthritis in one form or other. We've licked gouty arthritis, but what about the 17 million people of all ages whose arthritis is so severe they're almost helpless? Tragically, some are little children.

We turn to science for the answer. And the latest news is exciting. From the article in the medical team uses an electron microscope so incredibly powerful it reveals human joints and cartilage conditions never before visible, opening hope that we'll soon pin down the secret of destroyed cartilage.

"Cures" are being effected by miracle-surgery that replaces diseased joints with steel and plastic; or inserts workable implants of silicon, medicine. Almost all this research comes from the money raised by the Arthritis Foundation.

But in view of the fact that arthritis has plagued us for millions of years — dinosaurs had it! — why hasn't it been wiped out by now? We have "vaccines" and "inoculations" against smallpox, polio, measles, etc. The big roadblock is money. For years the Arthritis Foundation has been asking government help.

Seeing the government spend $25 million in 1970 on forest service forest protection and utilization, why not some trickle of such a sum for human beings? The government repaid with a mere trickle: 5 per cent.

A second big reason is our medical system's focus on glamorous "miraculous" medicine, bypassing the chronic diseases. "Why," the article asks, "are arthritis short-changed in this era of medical miracles?"

Winter funtime warning issued

TWIN FALLS — Winter recreation enthusiasts were reminded today by the Twin Falls Police Department to take precautions to protect snowmobiles, skis and ski racks against theft.

Capt. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives, said snowmobile owners should make certain their machines are secured by chains and padlocks or otherwise protected when parked or in storage. He said this time of year thefts of snow machines, skis and other costly equipment reach a peak.

He also suggested ski racks or skis be given some identifying mark and a record be kept of this so they can be identified later if stolen and recovered.

Wendell readies building plans

WENDELL — Trustees of the Wendell School District have announced they will make public a proposed school plant building program in a Jan. 12 meeting.

Board members agreed to consider a building program Monday night, but said it is too tentative as yet to stipulate cost estimates and other figures. By the time of the Jan. 12 public meeting such information will be available and patrons of the district will be asked to express their views.

In the program are such items as additional physical education and vocational education facilities, more classrooms and possibly the acquisition of more land for building sites.

Eligible seniors in Wendell

High School will be able to work in qualified jobs or attend the College of Southern Idaho during one-third of the school day, under a new released-time program approved by the board.

The program, as sponsored by the Idaho Department of Education, will allow seniors who have completed 32 credit hours of specified classes to attend four of the six classes during the school day, then turn to work or college classes.

The program will be tried out with the provision that if students abuse the privilege it will be canceled immediately, LaRue said.

The trustees also approved use of the high school gymnasium on Wednesday nights for adult recreation use.

News Of Servicemen

JEROME — Pvt. Dean M. Kulm, 20, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kulm, and wife, Suzanne, live in Jerome, recently arrived at Ft. Lewis, Wash., to begin eight weeks basic training at the U.S. Army Infantry Training Center.

He will receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions. Pvt. Kulm is scheduled to complete basic in late January.

He was graduated from Jerome High School in 1970.

BUHL — Marine Corps Pfc. Gary Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary E. Davis, Buhl, has graduated from Marine Corps recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

Pfc. Davis is presently on a 30-day leave. At this time, he will receive orders directing him to Camp Pendleton, Calif., where he will undergo approximately three weeks of individual combat training.

Upon completion of combat training, Gary will be assigned to telecommunications school at Marine Corps Base, 29, Palms, Calif., for approximately 14 weeks. During this time, Gary will learn to inspect, maintain and repair telephones.

Cable TV

urged to specialize

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cable television should model itself after radio stations and magazines and aim its programming at the special interest rather than the mass audience, an expert in the field said Tuesday.

The recommendation was made by Lloyd N. Morrisett, president of the John and Mary R. Markle Foundation and chairman of the board of Children's Television Workshop, which produces Sesame Street and Electric Coe.

Writing in the annual report of the foundation, which devotes its resources entirely to the field of mass communications, Morrisett said, "In the long run the future of cable television depends on the case for the special interest, as opposed to the average audience."

Morrisett said the "proliferation and specialization of Radio and the growth of special interest magazine publishing must cast strong doubt on the idea that the present structure of over-the-air television is best designed to serve the American public."

"Television, as we know it, has not attempted to satisfy in any depth the multitude of needs and interests harbored in its audiences," Morrisett said.

While television has provided entertainment, news, some live events and served recreational and sports interests, Morrisett said, most critics agree that educational, cultural and vocational needs have been short-changed.
