Bengal hordes trek homeward

By United Press International
Thousands of East Pakistanis who fled to India to escape West Pakistani troops last March are streaming back to their homeland — now the People's Republic of Bangladesh — today by foot, boat, bus and train.

Indian officials said work crews are hurrying to repair war-damaged roads and rail lines to help assure the smooth flow of the estimated 10 million East Pakistanis. Most of the refugees have been living in makeshift camps in India's West Bengal state and around Calcutta.

In West Pakistan, new President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto named an East Pakistani, Nurul Amin, his vice president and replaced the governors of three of the country's four provinces. He also fired the governor of the fourth province — Baluchistan — but a successor was not named immediately.

2.5 per cent rent hike OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Price Commission ruled today that all landlords may increase rents by 2.5 per cent to cover higher operating costs and an additional amount to compensate for increases in state and local taxes.

The rent regulations take effect Dec. 29. Grayson urged tenants and landlords not to question the Internal Revenue Service about the regulations until that date since the complex rules were completed late Tuesday night and have not yet been distributed.

East Pakistanis fled to India after former Pakistan President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan sent in troops to put down an alleged rebellion March 25. East Pakistan rebels, led by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, demanded autonomy for their country, which was separated from West Pakistan by more than 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

US issues new clean air rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government Tuesday imposed strict air pollution standards on five types of new plants and said the resulting costs could reach some electric bills as much as 9 per cent.

Asked if he shot the hijackers, Penland said, "One of them." The two men and the woman commandeered the boat as it lay in port at Freeport, Tex., Monday and ordered it to Campeche, Mexico. The hijackers had three children with them, ages 4, 5 and 6.

The five categories were picked by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as among the nation's worst polluters and industries for which good pollution control equipment has been developed.

Austrian diplomat new chief UN aide

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The General Assembly today approved Austrian career diplomat Kurt Waldheim as the fourth secretary general of the United Nations. He pledged to follow U Thant with "imaginative and realistic" new approaches.

Waldheim, 53, was recommended by the Security Council Tuesday and elected by acclamation. Both Waldheim and Thant were given standing ovations.

Waldheim becomes the fourth U.N. secretary general on Jan. 1, succeeding Trygve Lie of Norway, Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden and Thant of Burma. Thant retires Dec. 31 after 10 years and 53 days in the job, the longest tenure of any who held the post.

Back pay set with signature

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon planned to sign into law today legislation providing pay increases or bonuses for millions of Americans, and extending his power to control wages, prices and interest rates for another 18 months.

The extension of the Economic Stabilization Act until April 30, 1973, had been requested by Nixon to allow him to help keep the government's thumb on the economy in the months after the wage-price freeze.

Rupert pollution farm?

By DAVID ESPO Times-News Writer
RUPERT — The city of Rupert might have to go into the farming business to clean up its pollution problems.

Carl J. Voeller, city engineer, told the City Council Tuesday night an environmental control bill pending in Congress would forbid the dumping of pollutants into the nation's waterways by 1983.

The municipal engineer said the cost of maintaining a chemical cleanup system for the city would be prohibitive, chiefly because of a 24-hour daily maintenance system the chemical process would require.

City, county agree on prisoner costs

TWIN FALLS — City and county officials have agreed on a six-month contract for prisoner costs at the county jail, and plan to work out an arrangement for bringing solid waste from the city of Kimberly to the Twin Falls landfill.

In a long meeting Monday afternoon, Von Nebeker, Kimberly mayor, said his city has been advised by the Department of Health it must abandon a city dump near the Snake River Canyon. Under state regulations, he said, Kimberly has no solution to solid waste disposal after the June 1 deadline.

The mayor said three to five truck loads of solid waste are hauled per day from Kimberly. Further study will be given the matter, Twin Falls City officials said, and a cost figure proposed for the service. A countywide solid waste study completed for Twin Falls County commissioners recommends use of the present Twin Falls City landfill south of town for all county waste disposal.

The present fee of $2 per day or $1 per meal the city pays the county for all city prisoners housed in the county jail was extended for a six-month period. City and county officials said this will give them coverage until after the legislature meets and possibly makes changes in the present court reform program which now requires all prisoners be retained in the custody of the sheriff.

Discussion of the joint city and county jail complex study by the CTA architects and engineers firm was conducted, with plans made for additional committee meetings and a meeting of city and county officials before a decision is made.

11 pass test

Certification received by county officers

TWIN FALLS — members of the Twin Falls County sheriff's department who took Peace Officers Standards and Training Advisory Council certification tests have passed and received certification.

Paul Corder, sheriff, said he and two others, T. M. Kendrick, Buhl, and Kenneth Shew, Twin Falls, received advanced certificates. Jerry Packer, Twin Falls, received an intermediate certificate and Ivan Kistler, Dick Haynes, Harold Jensen and Jim Munn, all Twin Falls; Eddis Lammers and Ron Wyatt, both Filer, and Ron Goodman, Hanson, received basic certificates.

All members of the department except women deputies, new employees and one deputy close to retirement took the tests, Corder said. He said there is a total of 103 years of experience in the department. He said members of the department received more than 600 hours of classroom instruction during 1971. This included basic fingerprint, latent fingerprint, advanced fingerprint, riot control, chain of events, search and seizure and criminal code instruction.

Sets new speed record

MIAMI (UPI)—A National Airlines DC10 Trijet set a new world speed record for commercial aircraft Tuesday of three hours, 30 minutes and 32 seconds on a flight from Los Angeles to Miami.

The plane traveled at an average speed of 650 miles an hour over the 2,326-mile route, reaching a top ground speed of 725 m.p.h. with tail winds at one point.

The old record was three hours, 58 minutes and 55 seconds set by an Eastern Airlines DC8 in 1960 at an average speed of 584.16 m.p.h. National said it would submit the new record to the National Aeronautics Association in Washington for official recognition.

The plane, which carried no passengers, was piloted by M. C. Wedge, vice president of flight operations for National. L. J. Royal was the first officer and Roy Strong was flight engineer.

National said the plane was a new addition to its DC10 wide-body jet fleet which had been picked up for delivery at McDonnell-Douglas headquarters in Long Beach, Calif., but for record purposes the flight was considered to be from Los Angeles to Miami.

Youth injured

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls youth injured Tuesday evening in a car accident in Twin Falls was released after treatment at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Twin Falls Police said Raymond J. Haken, 17, was injured about 5:40 p.m. when his car went out of control on Addison Avenue near Lincoln Street and struck a tree. Haken told police another vehicle pulled on to the street in front of him and he swerved to avoid a collision.

Haken received a broken arm and facial injuries.

Ordinance gets first reading

TWIN FALLS — An ordinance which would permit the sale of liquor for consumption on the premises on Sunday in conjunction with convention centers or banquet halls was placed on first reading by the Twin Falls City Council Monday night.

The proposed ordinance would allow such sales which are now permitted by new legislation. Hours of the proposed Sunday sales would be 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. but only in establishments with convention and banquet facilities. Present city ordinance prohibits the sale of liquor by the drink on Sundays, Christmas, New Year's Day, Memorial Day and other major holidays. If such holidays fall on Sunday, sales would not be permitted under the proposed ordinance.

It will be read in two ensuing council meetings before city officials act on the regulation which will mean newly elected council member will help make the decision.

Crews begin jail remodeling

TWIN FALLS — Crews from Arrington Construction Co. have started remodeling the Twin Falls County jail.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, county commission chairman, said the workers are tearing out railings and other partitions in preparation for building a visitors' area. The jail, on the fourth floor of the courthouse, has been scheduled for remodeling for some time but work has been held pending a feasibility study report on joint law enforcement complex for city and county departments.

Chancey said the Arrington Construction Co. has been hired for the job rather than calling for a contract because the present work amounts to only removal of portions of the building interior and is not a large enough project for bidding.

Sheriff Paul Corder had requested the first remodeling step be to provide a visitor area which will provide necessary security. An open area which allows a skylight to illuminate the two floors below will be enclosed on the upper floor to provide an area where the prisoner may be brought from the cell to meet with a visitor under security.

County aides work on budgets

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners in Twin Falls have begun putting together department budgets working toward the deadline of Jan. 10 for having a tentative budget for public presentation.

4 county groups seek '72 budget

TWIN FALLS — Heber Loughmiller Twin Falls County commissioner and chairman of the South Idaho Planning and Development Association, said today the four-county group will seek a $10,000 budget for 1972 to finance initial planning.

The counties of Jerome, Twin Falls, Minidoka and Cassia will share the amount on a per capita basis and will request federal matching funds for initial planning studies, Loughmiller said.

The organization has been functioning for the past year but without a budget. State and federal agencies maintaining offices within the four counties have pledged assistance in resource planning. Funds will be used to coordinate the information into one area-wide plan for orderly growth and development through the entire area.

WASHINGTON — The White House is taking a surprisingly unperturbed view of the almost certain challenge to President Nixon by conservative Rep.

John Ashbrook of Ohio for one major reason: Ashbrook should split the anti-Nixon protest vote with liberal Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey of California in the March 7 New Hampshire primary. That is the prevailing consensus among the President's political operatives as Ashbrook reads a possible Dec. 27 announcement that he will enter the New Hampshire primary.

THE MOCKERY

ART BUCHWALD

Without the support of national leaders of Republican conservatism Ashbrook can mount anything like a serious threat against the President. Backing the President will be Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Sens. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and John Tower of Texas.

Christmas Gift

President Nixon was in a light-hearted mood when he signed the bill cutting taxes for individuals, consumers and business $15.8 billion over the next three years. He had a right to be happy because he had won a major victory in one of his toughest rounds with Congress.

Nixon is opposed in principle to the campaign checkoff which would permit each taxpayer to indicate whether he wanted $1 of his payment given to the party of his choice or to a general presidential campaign fund.

What Happened?

WASHINGTON — The devaluation of the American dollar as agreed to by President Nixon in his meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores came as a surprise to many people. The Nixon strategy up until the meeting was to make the Europeans devalue the dollar rather than the United States.

Gabriel? Monsieur Pompidou asked. "The entire game." "Bon. Now about the dollar. I imagine it makes no difference if you devalue it now."

What will happen when Congress returns on Jan. 18? There has been a disquieting lack of predictions by Washington oracles, but the fact remains that Congress will be back and the 1972 elections will be only a little more than nine months off.

isn't difficult to see the possibilities. But to get back to Congress: Would it be beyond the realm of possibility that a moratorium might be declared on all taxes and tax returns until after November?

New compensation program outlined

BOISE (UPI)—Effective Jan. 1, a new 10-step compensation plan will go into effect for state employees designed to encourage longevity in state service and reward meritorious work.

George Murphy, state personnel director, said the plan is a unique one and is not, as far as he knows, being used in any other state.

Under the existing compensation plan, state employees are ranked in 44 grades and in each grade it takes three years to move in five steps to the top of the grade.

Under the new plan, the number of grades have been reduced to 20 and it will take between 10 1/2 to 18 years to move to the top of the 10 steps.

In one grade under the existing plan, an employee who enters at $357 per month will move to the highest salary in that grade — $434 per month — after three years.

The new plan will give that same employee $490 at the top of the 10 steps after the longer time.

Murphy said the number of grades were reduced by combining grades and dropping the first six grades out in effect.

That occurred after Gov. Cecil D. Andrus raised the state's minimum wage to $323 per month — in effect dropping the first six ranks.

Murphy said the plan will save the state some money by eliminating the need for reclassifying employees after they reach the top of their grade in five years.

Reclassification is sometimes used as a means to get more money for an employee, who has reached the maximum pay.

"The tremendous pressure to reclassify now when someone gets to step five should be eliminated and the savings in the classification work will more than pay for the additional steps," he said.

The plan will also save the state a little by spreading out the salary increases.

Under the present five-step, three-year plan, an employee gets an increase after the first two six-month periods, then another increase each year for the next two years.

Kidwell questions programs

NAMPA (UPI) — State Senator Wayne Kidwell said Tuesday that the state has not exercised its best judgment in some of the recent building programs.

Speaking before the annual Christmas luncheon of the Nampa Rotary Club he said it appears too much money has been spent on the state penitentiary, the new state office building and the supreme court building.

He made the comment in reference to whether the state of Idaho had properly used its revenues in the past, so that it could be now justified asking for some form of tax increase.

"The first question that must be asked, when we look at our spending problems, is have we properly spent the dollars that have been available to us in the past. If we have then we can now ask the people of Idaho to come forth with another tax increase," he said.

Indicted

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise insurance agent has been indicted by a federal grand jury on two charges of willfully evading income taxes, and on two charges of filing false income tax returns.

The Internal Revenue Service said David M. Sarvis was charged with failing to report $3,754.80 in income for 1968 and $18,878.51 in income for the year 1967.

Idaho prison inmate writes book and play

BOISE (UPI) — An inmate at the Idaho State Penitentiary has written a book and a play, both of which will be presented to the public in January, according to Director of Corrections Raymond May.

May said the book, "A Fairy Godmother is Needed for Corrections," explains future plans for Idaho corrections, describes modernization programs undertaken since 1969, and describes how the 101-year-old penitentiary is an assault upon recidivization programs adopted for inmates.

May said the narrative includes the latest facts and figures on how crime in the streets relates to correctional institution programs.

The author of the book and play, David Smith, an ex-journalist, credited many of the inmates at the institution for contributing to the book.

He specifically cited suggestions made by Inmate Advisory Council Chairman Gary Harrison and Vice Chairman Paul Hatton and inmates Tom McPhie, James Oldham and John Trujillo.

Bids for the book are being solicited from local publishers. In the interim, some 200 copies are being printed at the institution at the expense of inmates and will be sold for $2 each.

May said the book will serve as an excellent description of the needs of the nation's correctional programs.

The book, will be staged as part of a symposium on crime and punishment at Boise State College Feb. 21-23. It will also be presented in January for the Idaho Legislature.

Examiners brew new state rule

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's State Board of Examiners brewed a new rule in state purchase of coffee pots Tuesday — deciding it is proper to buy them for state-maintained housing facilities.

In doing so, the board reversed an earlier decision in which it turned down a request by the Fish and Game Department to approve payment of $4.50 and $25.15 for coffee pots.

When the board made its initial decision it spoke out against state purchase of coffee pots for use by state employees during "coffee breaks" in state office buildings.

Kay Benlap, chief of business administration, re-submitted the claim to the board Tuesday — pointing out the coffee pots were for use in remote patrol cabins furnished and maintained by the state.

He told the board the state furnishes the fish and game field men with a horse, living quarters and kitchen and dining utensils. He said the coffee pots in question are for use in such cabins.

The new plan will give employees a five per cent salary increase in each of the first five steps which take five years, and a 2.5 per cent increase through each of the next five steps which take about 10 more years.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa asked whether the supplies in the cabins could be used to save lives. Benlap said they could and cited the case of a deer hunter lost last season in Copper Basin who managed to stay alive by living 10 days in a department back country cabin.

Attorney General W. Anthony Park successfully moved the board approve the two claims and laid down a policy when Auditor Joe R. Williams asked when he should and shouldn't pay out state monies for coffee pots.

Aides support increase

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Association of Superintendents Tuesday supported an increased appropriation of $10 million for "current and present" public school programs in fiscal 1973 and an additional $3 million for public kindergartens.

The superintendents approved a resolution endorsing all six recommendations made by the public school legislative task force which included the two appropriations and:

— Realignment of the Professional Standards Board and Professional Practices Committees into a single committee.

— Enactment of legislation to create a state restoration insurance program and fund to include all state property, including school districts.

— Incorporating the state vocational education department into the state department of education as a bureau of the department.

— And establishment of uniform tuition rates for special education students.

Gem not affected

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho will not be affected by a U. S. Supreme Court decision ordering states to follow guidelines in Social Security programs if they use federal funds.

Dr. John Marks, director of the Idaho Department of Public Assistance, said the state is in compliance with all the federal standards and the ruling will not affect the eligibility of any persons receiving aid to dependent children, or other Social Security programs.

Monday the Supreme Court ruled unanimously that states using federal funds for programs must abide by the eligibility standards set by the federal government.

Marks said some states have tried experimental programs, using new sets of standards, but Idaho has not.

The Social Security Act also allows use of federal funds for needy youths in the 21-25 age group, who are full-time college students.

Special activities planned

BOISE (UPI) — A number of special activities are planned for Idaho State Penitentiary inmates over the Christmas and New Year's holidays, including parties, gifts and extended visiting hours.

Wednesday inmates at Ranch 3, the new penitentiary site, will host a Christmas party for needy children under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

On Thursday, inmates will receive gifts courtesy of the prison industries and the Salvation Army. During the holiday season the district Jaycees are providing cookies and candles for the prisoners.

On Christmas Eve and Christmas day, movies will be shown continuously and there will be a Catholic midnight mass Christmas Eve.

A special Christmas dinner is planned on Christmas and the next day inmates will be allowed visitors using the outside dining room as well as the regular visiting room.

Inmates will present their annual variety show New Year's Eve and will be served doughnuts and coffee in their cells shortly before midnight. A turkey dinner is scheduled for New Year's Day.

Closed

BOISE (UPI) — John G. Rost, Boise sectional center manager for the U.S. Postal Service, said Tuesday all offices in the area will close at noon Dec. 24 and Dec. 31.

Christmas and New Year's day fall on Saturday this year, and most government agencies recognize the previous Friday as the official holiday.

Rost said normal weekday collections and delivery services will be provided on both Fridays and he said all available Christmas parcels will be delivered before Christmas.

Democrats rap 'secrecy'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Michigan Democrats accused the Defense Department Tuesday of "bureaucratic bungling" under self-imposed secrecy in efforts to win release of American prisoners held by Vietnam Communists.

Egypt holds war key

By United Press International—Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said today in Jerusalem that Egypt hold the key to war or peace in the Middle East.

In Cairo, Egypt indicated diplomatic efforts to solve the Mideast crisis would be extended into January despite an end of the year deadline set by President Anwar Sadat.

The Israeli Foreign Minister spoke to newsmen following his return from New York where he attended the U.N. General Assembly session.

"It is now in Egypt's hands to decide between peace and war," he said. "Israel continues to see war as a possibility, but not as unavoidable."

Eban said special U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring told him he intended to resume his mission in the new year through probes inside the United Nations, but not by returning to the Middle East.

Jarring temporarily shelved his mission and returned to his post as Swedish Ambassador to Moscow early this year when he reached a deadlock after a fact-finding visit to the Middle East.

Eban also said "U.S. officials are still convinced there are chances" for a peaceful solution.

The Cairo newspaper Al Gomhouriya, in a dispatch from its Washington correspondent, tended to confirm Eban's report that Jarring would seek peace again in the new year.

Jarring will resume his activities in the first half of January by contacting the concerned sides in the crisis to implement the resolution of the General Assembly," the story said.

John Sexton of Warren, Mich., who was released by the Viet Cong in October, as well as several Pentagon officials, Reps. Lucien Nedzi and James G. O'Hara said they believed the United States was passing up opportunities to free small numbers of American POWs by exchanging them for selected North Vietnamese prisoners.

"When you get right down to it, the department has been invoking claims of secrecy when pressed with evidence of its own bureaucratic ineptness," the congressmen said.

"We regret that the Defense Department has failed to demonstrate it has benefited from the experience of the Sexton case," the congressmen said. "The department has built little of substance under its sweet-sounding cloud of assurances and platitudes. Its responses have been slow and incomplete, and suggest that no meaningful new initiatives are being undertaken to solve the POW-MIA (missing in action) tragedy."

Nedzi and O'Hara were especially irked by a Dec. 14 letter from assistant Defense Secretary Armistead T. Selden Jr., a former Alabama congressman who said much of the U.S. activity in behalf of POWs must remain secret.

"Bureaucratic fog," was the description they applied to Selden's letter, a response to their Dec. 2 letter to Defense Secretary Melvin Laird.

Nedzi and O'Hara recalled that when Sexton was released he carried the names of two North Vietnamese officers held by the allies whom the Viet Cong sought in return. The congressmen said they understood a third officer was turned over instead because the first two could not be readily located.

Unless there is some "compelling evidence" that it would somehow be damaging to U.S. interests, they proposed that the two North Vietnamese officers now be freed.

Home for Christmas

M-SGT. OTIS SIMMONS, Olathe, Kan., a 19-year Army veteran, appears happy to be home for Christmas as he holds his crying daughter, Shella, and a cup of coffee late Tuesday. Simmons was one of 10 Olathe servicemen stationed in Vietnam that were brought home for Christmas by the community. (UPI)

Chilly reception puts new life into group

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The chilly reception union leaders gave President Nixon when he spoke to the AFL-CIO convention last month has breathed new life into an organization dedicated to one purpose—outlawing labor contracts that require workers to join or contribute to a union in order to keep their jobs.

The National Right to Work Committee (NRWC) feels that the continuing dispute between the administration and AFL-CIO President George Meany and other labor leaders over Nixon's Phase II economic controls—highlighted by the convention encounter in Miami Beach—is serving as a shot in the arm for the committee's efforts to get through Congress a bill banning union and agency shop contracts.

The NRWC, organized in 1955, claims about 40,000 members and contributors, including many small businessmen and about 16,000 workers. Its motto is "Americans must have the right but not be compelled to join labor unions."

Initial public reaction to the Nixon-Meany feud appears to favor Nixon. This may have been helped along by White House efforts to promote the impression that the President was treated badly by Meany and other union delegates at the convention, although the labor officials deny they were

Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., introduced a national right to work law in the House Nov. 17—two days before Nixon's speech to the AFL-CIO convention—with 17 co-sponsors. But Larson said the chances of the bill even getting to the House floor for a vote appear slim.

The chairman of the House Labor subcommittee handling the bill is Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chief sponsor of a 1965 bill to allow union shop contracts in all 50 states, and a strong opponent to "right to work" legislation. Larson said he expects Thompson to keep Steiger's bill bottled up in the subcommittee.

The bulletin said "there is no new element, and especially no improvement, in the condition of Maurice Chevalier. A sixth purging by an artificial kidney will take place today."

Tuesday's medical bulletin called Chevalier's condition "worrysome."

Christmas preparations go into high gear in U.S.

By United Press International—Christmas preparations got into high gear Tuesday for Americans ranging from two former Chinese POWs to former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson and his family gathered at IBJ State Park, Stonewall, Tex., for the ceremonial lighting of a Christmas tree, a caroling program and a social hour. The group included four Johnson grandchildren.

Mary Ann Harbert, 26, who was released from a Chinese prison after more than four years was scheduled to leave Valley Forge Hospital in Pennsylvania to fly to Palo Alto, Calif., for a reunion with her parents.

Richard Fecteau, 44, a prisoner of China for 10 years who was released with Miss Harbert, will leave the same hospital to Christmas with his ex-wife and his 21-year-old twin daughters in Lynn, Mass.

Ten Olathe, Kan., servicemen are being flown home from Vietnam for the holidays at the expense of Olathe citizens at a cost of $450 a man. The money was raised in a campaign sparked by the Olathe-Daily News which raised funds last year to bring home seven hometown boys from the war.

Adam Bruczewski, who will mark his 77th birthday Christmas lying in a veteran's hospital in Newington, Conn., recovering from an operation, got the best news of all. He won $1 million in the New York State lottery. He will share the money with his 45-year-old son and two grandsons.

Christmas cards poured into Star City, Ind., for Melody Kay Reidelbach, 18 months old, who was found barely alive under the bodies of her parents last Oct. 25 after they had been killed by an overturned combine machine. Melody has begun walking again, but with a slight limp.

Some 18,000 children in northeast Iowa will be receiving 35,000 used but repaired toys in the next few days, ostensibly from Santa Claus. Few of them will ever know that Santa is a frail man, John Emerson, 58, who is an epileptic and has a heart condition and leukemia. He works full time in his toyshop to get ready for the Christmas distribution in 14 counties.

"It's not how fat you are or how thin that makes a Santa Claus," he said. "It's the spirit behind it that counts."

Ships stand by for evacuation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and nine other U.S. ships have been standing by in the Indian Ocean for a week-for possible use in evacuating Americans or other foreign nationals from Pakistan, the Pentagon reported Tuesday.

The Defense Department announced previously that the Enterprise had left its station in the Gulf of Tonkin off Vietnam Dec. 10, headed for the Indian Ocean in case it was needed for evacuations from East Pakistan.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim disclosed Tuesday that the Enterprise was accompanied by the helicopter carrier Tripoli, seven destroyers and an oiler. "Their task was... an evacuation contingency," Friedheim said.

Since the end of last week, he said, the vessels had been cruising off the southern tip of India, and had never been closer than 1,100 miles from Chittagong, East Pakistan.

Asked why the task force had remained to the south rather than sailing into the Bay of Bengal, Friedheim said: "We had a war being waged on two fronts, and obviously had to maintain the evacuation capability to move in either direction."

East and West Pakistan, from which evacuations might have been made, are about 1,000 miles apart.

Defectors en-route home

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—Two Cuban defectors, discovered as stowaways aboard a Cypriot ship, were en route Tuesday by Coast Guard cutter to Wilmington, N.C.

The cutter McCulloch took the unidentified pair, a 20-year-old man and 22-year-old woman, aboard last Friday after they were found hiding aboard the Cypriot ship Salvia, a spokesman at the Coast Guard's Fifth District headquarters said.

The McCulloch, which had been on ocean station Echo, a duty area assigned for weather observation and communications about 960 miles north-northeast of Bermuda when the "transfer" took place, was expected to arrive at Wilmington early Wednesday afternoon.

The spokesman said the man and woman apparently stowed away aboard the ship without the other's knowledge. It was not known when or how they got aboard the vessel, which apparently had been in a Cuban harbor.

The ship's destination was not known, but apparently was headed for the Mediterranean at the time the pair was discovered.

A doctor examining them said despite their confinement, both were in good physical condition. Neither had any money or any possessions with them except the clothes they had on.

Because they were broke, the officers and men of the cutter passed a hat and raised a total of $260 for them.

The unidentified woman told authorities she is married to a Greek merchant seaman and upon arrival in Wilmington would try to contact his relatives in an attempt to locate and join him.

In Wilmington, a Greek priest was preparing to find lodging for the woman, authorities said.

The unidentified man said he wanted to stay in the United States and had asked for political asylum.

The Coast Guard said the State Department has agreed to grant them provisional parole, allowing them to enter the country.

Not improved

PARIS (UPI)—The condition of music hall star Maurice Chevalier, 83, has failed to improve, a hospital medical bulletin said today.

The bulletin said "there is no new element, and especially no improvement, in the condition of Maurice Chevalier. A sixth purging by an artificial kidney will take place today."

A team of kidney specialists under Prof. Jean Crosnier have been treating Chevalier for blocked kidneys for 10 days at Necker Hospital.

Tuesday's medical bulletin called Chevalier's condition "worrysome."

Burley to increase appropriation for city library next fiscal year

BURLEY — The Burley City Council has agreed to beef up the city library's appropriation for the next fiscal year.

The decision was reached after Councilman Les Morgan reported at Monday night's council meeting two of the library's three staff workers earned less than $1.50 an hour.

Morgan reported the library board of trustees estimated its additional needs for the next year at approximately $3,600. About $1,000 would go toward increased staff salaries, with an equal amount being used to purchase new books.

Another $700 would be required to expand library hours to 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. as the staff would like to do. At present the library is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. The remaining $900 would go toward purchase of new equipment and repairs.

The library received $14,480 in city appropriations for the current fiscal year, according to Morgan, it received an extra $2,000 in revenue from card fees and overdue book funds.

In other business at the meeting, the council postponed once again a final decision on contracting city trash pickup to a private firm.

Mayor Garis Robertson appointed a three-man committee headed by Morgan and composed also of Councilmen Sylvan Burgl and John Croft to study the experiences of other municipalities which have offered contracts and directed it to report its findings at the Jan. 17 council meeting.

The council also heard a report from City Treasurer Jim Ash on a new bookkeeping system which will go into effect at the beginning of the year. Ash told the council one result of the modification will be a greater accumulation of money in the city's general fund.

The council, acting on the advice of the City Attorney William Parsons, had turned down the request several weeks ago, and authorized only a short-term renewal.

Fairfield aide retiring Jan. 7

FAIRFIELD — Postmaster Claude Ballard has applied for retirement Jan. 7 after serving over 37 years as postmaster at Fairfield.

He was appointed postmaster Feb. 20, 1934, under President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He took a leave of absence and was in the service during World War II.

Mrs. Lee (Marle) Tucker has received notice that she will be clerk in charge of the Fairfield Post Office beginning Jan. 7, until a postmaster is named. Mrs. Tucker has been employed for the past seven years in the post office. She moved to Fairfield from New Mexico 27 years ago.

Mrs. Claude (Mae) Ballard is resigning as secretary in the Camas County ASCS office so that she can join her husband in retirement. She has been in the local office for 15 years having started work under the late Leland Lamson. She has 17 years credit in government service as she spent two years in the post office while her husband was in the service in World War II.

The Ballards are both natives of Fairfield and plan on continuing to make their home here. They are the parents of three sons; Claude G. Ballard, school administrator and mayor of Bellevue; Clark Ballard, a cameraman residing in California; and Ciel Ballard, a member of the Camas County High School faculty.

Shelly Croner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Croner, former residents who spend part of their summers at their Fairfield home, has been chosen to replace Mrs. Ballard by the ASCS committee from a field of 10 applicants.

Child Center tells foster home need

TWIN FALLS — The Child Development Center is urgently in need of additional boarding or foster home placements for young people enrolled in the program, according to John B. Franz, social worker.

The immediate need, by the first of the year, is for three additional placements for boys. The center also will need more places for both boys and girls after that time. If homes are available, the center will definitely make several placements in January.

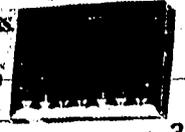

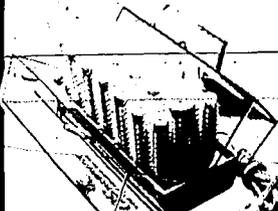

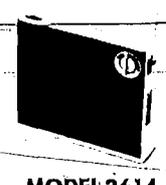

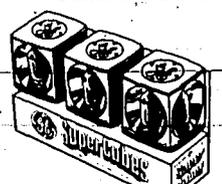

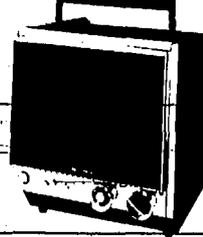

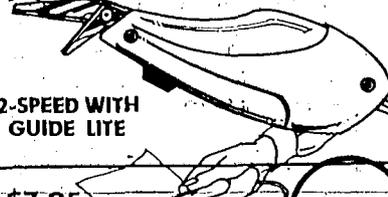

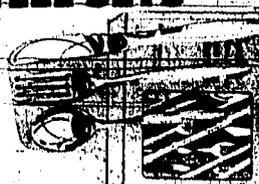

Anyone interested in providing foster or boarding home care may call 734-3810. Most of those in need of homes are young people, 16 to 25 years of age, who are eligible for job placement in the Activity Center in the city. Future plans call for sheltered workshops where many of these young people will be given employment.

Tax talk

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UPI)— Petitions are being circulated in this West Michigan city in an attempt to collect 1,500 signatures needed to force a public referendum on a city income tax which has been enacted by the City Commission but was defeated twice before in public votes.

The United Auto Workers Community Action Program is sponsoring the petitions for the public referendum and are seeking 2,700 signatures to make sure there are enough valid ones.

Pakistani raids launch war

NEW DELHI (UPI)—At 5:55 p.m. the evening of Dec. 3 Pakistani warplanes streaked across India's 2,000-mile-long border with West Pakistan to hit 12 Indian military airfields as far north as snowy Kashmir and as far south as the parched deserts of Rajasthan state.

The war that was to last for two weeks and end with the birth of the Bangla Dosh nation had begun.

Which side actually dealt the first blow in the all-out war still is being argued. Pakistan claimed India struck first on the western front with division-sized ground attacks.

The air raids were a desperate attempt by Pakistan to forestall an Indian invasion of its eastern wing, 1,000 miles across India in the riverine delta, where rebel Bengalis had begun a civil war March 25.

Apparent Little Damage
The Pakistani air attacks did not take India by surprise and apparently did little serious damage. Most of India's air force fleet was protected under concrete shelters—or so Defense Ministry sources claimed.

North India plunged into a blackout and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi flew back to the capital from a trip to Calcutta to announce that Pakistan had launched a "fullscale" war.

Indian military strategists and defense intelligence had long expected Pakistan to strike on the western border. With West Pakistani forces being pushed back and isolated in East Pakistan, and with supply lines to the embattled eastern wing virtually severed, they know Pakistan's only method of relieving pressure would be conflict on the western border.

Indian President V. V. Giri declared a national emergency and Mrs. Gandhi ordered her armed forces to hit back.

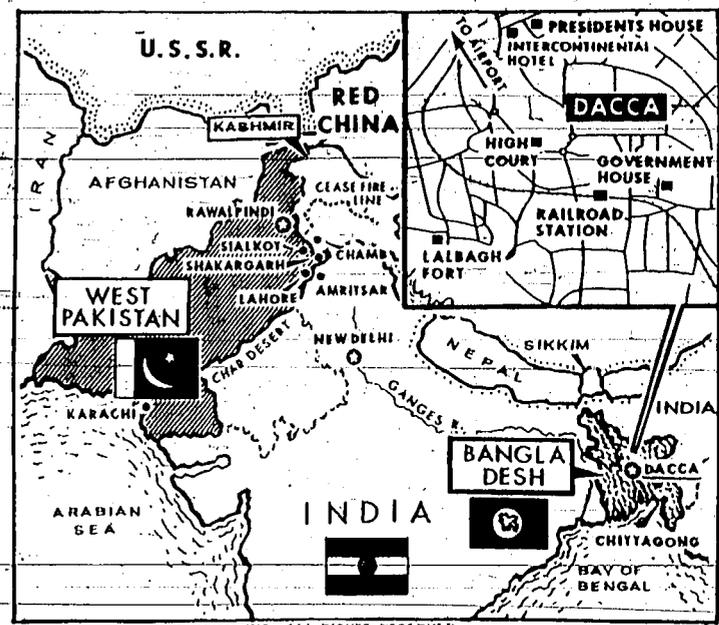

Indian Army Moves
The next day, Dec. 4, Indian planes began striking targets in West Pakistan, the Indian navy moved to blockade the coast of East Pakistan and Indian troops were in hot conflict with the Pakistani army along the western border.

Pakistan began a major tank and infantry drive in the Chamb sector of southern Kashmir, the scene of heavy fighting in the two previous wars between the two countries in 1948 and again in 1965. Infantry and tank battles raged farther south.

In East Pakistan, Indian forces began major drives on district capitals in several areas with the ultimate objective clearly selected: Dacca, the provincial capital of East Pakistan.

On Dec. 5 Indian navy ships attacked Karachi harbor, the major port city of West Pakistan, and Indian air force planes soon took up the attack, bombing and rocketing harbor installations and military targets. Pakistan reported they were hitting civilian areas.

In the attacks on Karachi, Indian air force planes sank one foreign merchant ship and heavily damaged two others. With the war widening on all fronts by Dec. 6 Mrs. Gandhi told cheering Parliament that India had recognized the rebel "People's Republic of Bangla Desh." Pakistan immediately severed relations with India. By Saturday, Dec. 11, the drive on Dacca was in full swing. Pakistan redoubled its efforts in the assault on Kashmir, sending more than 10,000 men and 100 tanks into the Chamb battle around Akhaur. Fighting intensified in other sectors along the western border with both sides claiming territorial gains.

Bangla Desh emerges from war's crucible

By Monday, Dec. 13, Indian troops and rebels broke through the outer defenses of Dacca and were six miles from the heart of the city. The next day they began artillery bombardment of military installations in the city. With the surrender of Dacca imminent, top officials of the East government resigned and sought sanctuary in the Intercontinental Hotel, a neutral zone set up by the International Red Cross.

By nightfall on Dec. 15, New Delhi had received a message through the U.S. embassy from the top Pakistani commanders in Dacca asking for a ceasefire.

The following day, India announced a unilateral ceasefire on its western border with Pakistan. Pakistan accepted and the war ended. — Now, there is a tenuous peace from the coniferous forests of the mountainous north to the flat dusty plains of the south. Bangla Desh is a reality, but it faces enormous recovery problems.

Canadian robbery suspects in jail

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—Police have arrested a woman and two men and recovered nearly all the money from the $1.1 million bank robbery in Windsor last Saturday.

Windsor Police Chief Gordon Preston said the suspects were taken into custody at a hotel in Toronto and that more than $1 million of the bank loot was still stuffed in the trunk of a car found in the hotel parking lot.

Preston said two other men were still being sought in the robbery, the biggest bank holdup in Canadian history. It was staged by four men at the Windsor branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

All the suspects were Canadian citizens. Preston said the arrests resulted from close surveillance and undercover work by Toronto police.

Names of the suspects were not released.

The robbers were captured as 10 bank employees were working in a counting room, totaling Friday night's receipts from the Windsor Raceway. Of the $1,129,000 stolen, $297,000 was from the race track.

The robbers were hit the bank about 20 minutes and had been gone about 90 minutes before the first police arrived at the scene.

School presents community play

RICHFIELD — "Cheers for Christmas" was the theme for the "Richfield" grade school community Christmas play presented this past week at the gymnasium auditorium to a capacity crowd.

The letters of Christmas were depicted by the first four grades in recitations and songs with the fifth grade class as members of the chorus. Mrs. Charles Sluder and Mrs. Max Behr were pianists.

The Nativity was enacted by the junior high school. Readers were the eighth grade boys and Jackie Slevers played the bells. For the tableau Kathy Bowers was Mary and Michael Robinson, Joseph. Shepherds were Joey Parker, Casey Robinson and Jimmie Powell. Connie Brown, Lynn Flavel and Kathy Hlatt were angels. Solo parts were sung by the three kings, Stanley Paulsen, Rex King, and Gahr Gardener, with junior high choir accompaniment.

A high school girl's quartet sang during the program intermission. They were Carol Lyn Sanders, Judy Milligan, Audie Gardener and DeAnn Dixon. Mrs. L. T. Sanders was piano accompanist.

Mrs. S. C. Peterson and Mrs. Duane Stilton, PTA representatives, announced winners of PTA Christmas gifts were Mrs. Glen Saffel and Mrs. Carl Paulson.

Supt. Nell Anderson announced class winners in the room decorating contests, with the senior class taking first place, sophomores second, junior class third, and freshmen, fourth.

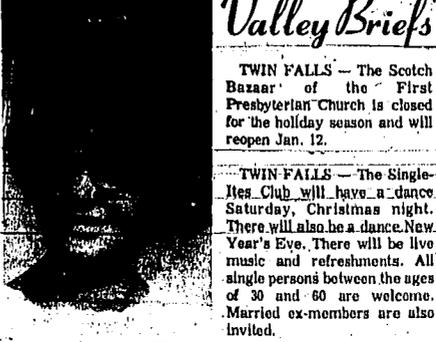

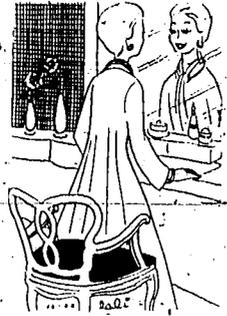

Santa Claus' visit concluded the annual community event with treats distributed by the PTA. Treats were donated by community women's organizations for popcorn balls, Lions Club, oranges, and PTA and Methodist Men's breakfast club, candy and nuts.

A Lovelier You WAYS TO LOOK YOUR BEST

By Mary Sue Miller

Here are ways to highlight your loveliness on festive occasions these holiday evenings.

- For a candlelight glow, have a facial. Use a quick pick-up mask, stimulation cream or layers of mild soapsuds.
- When there's time, loll for 10 minutes in a bubbly bath. Then brush scrub until pink, briskly towel dry and rub down with a light cologne.
- Make up in a strong light, using your favorite products. Save now ones to test at less crucial hours.
- If your foundation is prone to fade, apply two thin coats. Let the first coat set before applying the second. Use the intervening time to touch up your nail enamel with a fast-drying top coat. Or lie down and compress chilled witch hazel or herbal pads to your eyes.
- Use your brightest, clearest lipstick. Avoid an over-heavy eye makeup. It can get to look awfully tired.
- Sprayed on, makeup fixatives work to keep a completed job in place.
- Spark your tresses with hairspray, one that adds a natural or silvery shimmer. If you elect silver, spray the least bit over the entire head. The goal is not color, but starlight.
- Above all, be systematic about dressing. Rushing produces a helter-skelter finish. The effects of dawdling, like doodling, are entirely aimless. What we're after is perfection.

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters, one is 31, and the other is 33. They are both married to nice men. The younger daughter is my problem. Whenever we are at a family gathering she brings up the subject of sex, and she keeps talking about the wonderful sex lives she and her husband have. No one else in the family talks this openly about such things, not that there is anything wrong with married people having good sex lives. But shouldn't that be a private matter?

I told this daughter to please not go into any more detailed stories about her personal sex life in front of the relatives, and she blew up at me saying I should "get with it" and get rid of my old fashioned ideas.

Abby, if you tell me I should change my ways, I will try. But I still feel that a person's sex life should not be discussed in company. Am I wrong? — "NOT WITH IT"

DEAR NOT: Not in my book. Tell your daughter to stop peddling the commercials or people will think she's trying to cover up an incompatible marriage. That should shut her up.

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when a boy keeps trying to bite your ear? — ARDELLA

DEAR ARDELLA: If the "boy" is under 18 months old, he could be teething; over 18 he is teasing.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in the spring, which brings up a problem I don't know how to handle. I stood up for my girl friend, three years ago. At that time I promised her that when I got married she could stand up for me. My sister, who is two years older than I am, is a nun of the Dominican Order, and three years ago nuts couldn't be in a wedding party or I would not have made that promise to my girl friend. Well, the rules changed, and now my sister can participate in my wedding, and I want her to. And she wants to in the worst way.

I explained all this to my girl friend, and practically got down on my knees and begged her to be a bridesmaid instead. She turned me down, saying if she couldn't stand up for me she wouldn't even come to my wedding.

What would YOU do in my place? — SIS

DEAR SIS: I'd tell my girl friend that I will miss her, and I'd get off my knees.

DEAR ABBY: Re Grandma and rice: Grandma hopes that at her funeral someone will leave behind a bit of rice from a wedding that just took place, and that those who see it will smile at the joy it must have brought.

Grandma is overreacting, and you aren't thinking too clearly either, Abby. Obviously, neither of you has ever seen a wedding turned into a disaster when a guest slips on the rice and breaks a leg.

I do not allow rice to be thrown in the church, in the parish hall, or on any church property.

If the reception is at the country club, great. Throw rice everywhere! — HOUSTON PASTOR

DEAR PASTOR: You mean if someone breaks a leg at the country club it's all right?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90006. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Keep instruction books with gifts

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Keep the instruction books that come with Christmas gifts, whether they're garments, camera equipment, washing machines or small appliances.

Extension home management specialists at the Pennsylvania State University say all those Christmas presents will give you far better service and longer wear if you follow the manufacturer's directions for their use and care.

If it's an appliance you won't get the best operation unless you maintain it according to instructions, understand its special features, and use the most appropriate cleaning agents or accessories.

Merry Christmas marketing tips

- (Editor's note: These Merry Christmas marketing tips are given by Sharon LaFray, Jerome County extension home economist.)
- JEROME — Here are some last-minute shopping hints in keeping with the season.
- M — make a list of exactly what is needed before shopping for last-minute items. Following a list saves both time and money.
 - E — eggs for holiday baking are in good supply. Large Grade A eggs are especially good buys.
 - R — remember that spices and herbs are a must for holiday seasoning, so check your supply. To spark just the right flavor combinations fresh spices are best.
 - R — read all labels before buying. Labels list both quality and exact amounts of food items enclosed.
 - Y — you can use mistletoe in decorations without adding water by dipping the stem ends in melted wax. This prevents the berries from falling off and the foliage from shriveling.
 - C — cranberries for relish, sauces, or salad are traditional holiday treats. The berries are favorite holiday partners with poultry, including turkey, duck and goose. One pound of fresh cranberries yields 12 servings.
 - H — ham may be the choice for the festive meal. Allow one-fourth pound per serving if it is boneless, and one-half pound if the bone is in. Only fully pre-cooked ham can be served without further cooking.
 - R — refreshments for those who drop in may include fresh fruit, assorted cheeses, homemade cookies and candy. What better way to say Merry Christmas to friends than with gifts from the kitchen.
 - I — instant and ready-prepared foods, such as instant mashed IDAHO potatoes, can relax holiday cooking time. You can add a personal touch with special seasonings and garnishes.
 - S — our dough starter savers may find many opportunities to show off their special baking skills.
 - T — turkeys, large and small, are priced low. The larger the bird, the more economical plus the more servings per pound.
 - M — any vegetables are also low in cost. Dry onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, broccoli, carrots, cabbage and celery are some.
 - A — all fruit counters are loaded with apples and citrus fruits. Colorful oranges are holiday delights as fruit cups or as stuffing for Christmas stockings.
 - S — shopping can be fun if careful plans are made. And good planning means more economical food plus better holiday meals.

GI's cram amphitheater to watch Bob Hope show

DNANG, Vietnam (UPI) — Bob Hope brought his Christmas troupe to Vietnam today, and halfway through his opening monologue, a 24-hour rainfall stopped and the sun peeked out.

"How hard does it have to rain here before we call off this war?" Hope cracked just before the deluge stopped.

An estimated 4,000 GI's crammed into the Freedom Hill Amphitheater and 4,000 others huddled on the rain-soaked hill itself to watch Hope's Vietnam performance this year. It was his eighth consecutive tour of this war zone.

You don't need a watch around here because the rockets come in on the hour and the half-hour.

"This is the hottest spot in Vietnam. These guys have had more action than a Swedish movie.

"I've never seen so much mud. As soon as we landed, a crowd came out on the runway and tried to find the plane."

"Whenever you lift your foot in this mud it sounds like Martha Raye kissing a water buffalo."

"I want to thank you leftovers for hanging around. According to the papers the war is over. Now if they can only tell it to the (Viet) Cong."

"Our troop strength is down to about 160,000 men. But that's a military secret of course. I just got it from a little old lady in black pajamas."

The Hope show also featured the usual beautiful girls singing, dancing and clowning with the veteran comic.

The law provides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

Reminder given to employers

SEATTLE, Wash. — Northwest employers have been reminded that each work week must be treated separately in meeting the minimum wage and overtime pay requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

There can be no deferred "time off" compensation in lieu of overtime after 40 hours in a work week. Employment for two or more work weeks cannot be averaged out for the sake of overtime or minimum wages except in the case of seamen of American vessels or employees of hospitals.

"Work week" is defined as a period of 168 hours during seven consecutive 24 hour periods, and it can begin any day of the week or at any hour as established by the employer.

The Fair Labor Standards Act requires payment of a minimum wage of not less than $1.60 per hour in covered employment and at least time and one half the regular rate of pay after 40 hours in a work week.

Further information about the law can be obtained from Area Director Gladys Guy, heading the Wage-Hour Division office serving Alaska and Washington, Room 1821 Smith Tower, Seattle; and Area Director Don Henry, in charge of the office serving Oregon and Idaho, Room 317 Pioneer Courthouse, Portland.

Pay taxes

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Power Co. reported Wednesday it paid more than $2.8 million this week as the first installment on its 1971 property taxes.

President Albert Carlsen said the utility's full bill for the taxes levied on its service facilities and construction work in progress was more than $5.7 million — an increase of about $263,500 over its 1970 payment.

Twin Falls County received more than $275,574 as its share of the first-half payment.

The second installment in June will bring Idaho Power's total payment of the county to more than $551,148.

Carlsen said 30 cents out of every revenue dollar goes for federal, state and local taxes.

Ketchum OK's uniform code

KETCHUM — The Ketchum City Council has adopted the 1970 edition of the Uniform Building Code and the corresponding building permit fee schedule.

The new schedule calls for about a doubling of permit rates. Plan checking and the entailed plan checking fee was left to the discretion of the city building inspector, J. Jacoby.

The move was made on request of James Rusclito, representing the Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission. Rusclito said the presently used 1964 edition was out of print and out of date.

Councilmen Gerald Sidwell and Carl Mullins voted for the move, Councilman Vern McClellan was opposed.

McClellan said, "You're forcing people to hire an architect. I think it's a lot of expense to a lot of people."

Sidwell said, "We have a lot of slipshod building. We have to protect the public against these things." He recommended that the council pass the measure "so we have some teeth to go by."

Jacoby said, "The thing is to catch these things before they get off the ground."

Under the new fee schedule, based on evaluation, the permit fees will double, Rusclito said. And he recommended that the city use the additional revenue to raise the building inspector's salary and set up a contingency fund to meet his expenses.

The inspector's salary is presently $200 a month, Rusclito said. The council deferred action on the request until the new council takes office in January.

The council also deferred action on construction of metal buildings to enclose the sludge and clarifier tanks at the city's sewage treatment plant north of the Steel Bridge, until bids on the project are received.

The city had received a letter from the Idaho Board of Health requesting that the tanks be covered to prevent freezing during the winter. Les Jankow, superintendent of the plant, said that the clarifier was about 60 feet in diameter and the sludge tank was about 24 feet square. Both, he said, would require buildings with walls 10 to 15 feet high.

In other action, the council approved the 1972 Ketchum Police Department budget. Retiring Police Commissioner Ben Jewell said the $40,000 budget represented about a five per cent increase over the present budget.

But he said, due to government grants, the police department will receive about $50,000 worth of services for $40,000.

Farming may be pollution answer

Also discussed was a proposal "far in the future" to provide an auto overpass across the Union Pacific tracks coming into the city.

The council also annexed two areas of ground into the city limits, the Jensen Subdivision due north of the city center, and the Plocher Subdivision, northeast of the square.

The council also:

- Reaffirmed its policy to defray the cost of safety lenses in eye glasses for city employees whose jobs demand them;
- Rezoned the land near the Minidoka County hospital from residential to limited commercial; and
- Set Jan. 18 as the date for the opening of bids on a carload of pipe and a combination loader-backhoe.

The dates had been a matter of disagreement for the past month, with Councilman Charles Dalry, whose term expires Jan. 3, 1972, unwilling to commit any higher expenditure of city funds during the final weeks of his term. Dalry and another incumbent, Grover Newman, were defeated in re-election bids in November, leaving three holdovers on the five-man council.

The fire evidently erupted in Middleton's room, but Chief Piper said the cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Ten volunteer firemen fought the blaze for nearly three hours. They were able to keep it from spreading beyond the interior of the home. Damage to the interior was estimated at $4,000.

Jerome gets plat plans

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Writer

JEROME — Preliminary plans for a six lot subdivision were presented to the Jerome City Council Tuesday night.

The plan, submitted by Tom Shaffer, engineer with Shaffer and Newton, calls for the construction of six homes on East Avenue II, between South Lincoln and Buchanan Street. Shaffer asked for approval of the preliminary plat and tentative approval of a final plat so work can begin immediately.

He said the homes will be preconstructed, delivered to the site and placed in position.

Mayor Jack Russell said the council will need more time to check the plans before approval can be given. "Our main concern," he said, "is that it will block a dead-end street and we do not want to give up too many street rights of way if we can avoid it," Russell said.

complained about city street conditions, noting that few streets, if any, have been paved. She said each time she tries to stop at North Lincoln on Tenth Street, she almost "wraps her car around the stop sign."

"I'm sure I'm not the only one in this town complaining about this, and I certainly think something should be done and done now. I didn't think the city was so broke it couldn't afford to pave the streets or is so short of manpower to do the job," Mrs. Morley said.

Russell said city crews would check all stop sign areas and intersections today and put sand where needed. He said the city has been short of sand but now has it available. "It has been the city's policy to only sand the main streets, the streets by the schools, and the intersections. It's impossible for the city to completely sand all the streets in Jerome,"

S.V. Council okays Cottonwood plans

SUN VALLEY — The revised second phase of the Cottonwood Condominium project was approved in principle by the Sun Valley City Council Monday.

Phillip Conger, director of real estate and development for Sun Valley Realty, said the plat for the project will be submitted to the council for formal approval in four to six weeks.

He said the development, located southwest of Dollar Road, was originally planned as a three-phase, 138 unit project. The development has been cut down to a two-phase project, containing 93 condominium units, he said.

"Phase 2 is considered less dense and will achieve a more aesthetically pleasing project,"

Conger said. "We have made the revision in conformance with the plat approved last year by the council and are not exceeding the original size and scope of the project," he said.

Conger said after the meeting the entire project will be located on a five and one-half acre site. Phase 2 will consist of 42 units with construction beginning next year.

Councilman Harry Holmes, who abstained from the vote, said he was concerned that the development was contractually obligating itself through condominium sales prior to formal approval by the council.

In other action, the council directed the clerk to write a letter to Rep. E. V. McFann asking him to explore the possibility of a bad tax during the current legislative session.

William James, newly elected councilman, requested the move and said the tax would raise about $50,000 to $60,000 in revenue yearly for the city. The local option two per cent tax would apply to all rental beds, he said.

Councilman Holmes said he favored the tax only if the funds were earmarked for specific use. "Theoretically we already have a property tax that takes care of administration and service costs," he said.

City Clerk G. Robert Ackerman said, "If the revenue was used for the benefit of the tourist, such as the hospital, then we would be justified."

Gooding council hires new airport manager

By PEGGY CHU, Times-News Writer

GOODING — The Gooding City Council has hired Earl A. Kelly, Medford, Ore., a retired Air Force major, as the new airport manager. He replaces James Wilkins, who has resigned.

Kelly's contract will be for five years instead of the present 10.

He suggested that the north-south runway be abandoned, saying it could possibly be converted for use as a drag strip.

Deputy Sheriff, Bill Bunn met with the council concerning the proposal that the city consolidate its police department with county law enforcement. He said, "This is not a power grab. Petty differences can be worked out."

He told council members that the city of Wendell is contributing $11,000, Hagerman $4,000 and Bliss $500 to consolidate their police departments with the county sheriff's office.

Bunn said that the Gooding City law enforcement budget is between $46,000 and $48,000 each year and that the sheriff's office could take in the city police department for about $43,000 per year. City records show that Gooding has spent $38,500 on law enforcement between Jan. 1 and Dec. 1 this year.

If the Gooding Police Department is consolidated with the sheriff's department, it is planned to hire one officer to bring the force back to five men, hire a part-time man for school activities, whose duties would include seeing that grade school children are helped across streets during school breaks, and grant a $25 per month wage increase to city policemen with the exception of the chief.

Two-man patrols would be made possible during crucial hours. The county would also send officers to special training sessions, Bunn said.

A board of control similar to a police commissioner's board could be established. It would include the mayor of each town, a member of each town's council, a county commissioner, the county clerk, and a private citizen.

The board would insure that the consolidated police force was meeting the needs of the public.

Bunn said, "We could do a better job and provide better service without eliminating anyone and it would be a saving to the taxpayers top."

The Gooding officials previously rejected the sheriff's proposal. Councilmen showed concern that Gooding would not receive the same quality of protection and persons' concern which is provided by the city police.

City Atty. Cecil Hobday asked Bunn what control the city would have over a consolidated police force which might refuse to provide personal services? He gave the example of getting cats out of trees.

Bunn said that this would have to be worked out by the board of control. He said if the city of Gooding decides to join the consolidation, Gooding County will be the first in Idaho to organize on this scale.

The city clerk informed council members that the city does not have any insurance on the airport hangar. He said that for $600 per year, the city can purchase $50,000 in insurance coverage. Hobday said liability coverage would also be needed.

Valdo Gray, councilman in charge of recreation, was instructed to look into the matter.

The council approved $100 for the winter basketball program and $50 for the aid bus.

US farm exports are impressive

U.S. farm exports have racked up some impressive records, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

A compilation of statistics reveals that American farm products set a calendar-year high of $7.2 billion in 1970; then continued to set a fiscal-year record of $7.8 billion in 1970-71, topping the former record set in 1966-67 by $988 million.

Commercial shipments of farm products set the gain in fiscal 1970-71, in sales for dollars, according to the USDA. These shipments set a top mark of $6.7 billion.

Exports generated $1 out of every $7 worth of gross farm income last year, requiring the output of one-fourth of all harvested land.

Exports included more than 62 per cent of all rice produced in 1970, as well as 53 per cent of the soybeans, 53 per cent of the wheat, 35 per cent of the tobacco, 36 per cent of the cotton, 41 per cent of the tallow and 44 per cent of hides and skins.

Three regions, the west-north central, east-north central and west-south central, accounted for 63 per cent of the total 1970-71 overseas sales.

The USDA compilation noted that regional and state totals listed are not actual exports but are based on contributions to the nation's output.

The west-north central region, including Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri and North and South Dakota, produced exports valued at $2.3 billion, supplying nearly all the flaxseed moving abroad, along with half of the wheat and flour, half of all dairy products, two-fifths of the feed grains and more than a third of other livestock products as well as soybeans, soybean oil protein meal.

Iowa, with a farm export total of $592 million, topped the nation in meat and meat-product exports, and led the region in soybeans, feed grains, protein meal, soybean oil, hides and skins and lard and tallow.

Kansas, with $392 million, the largest U.S. wheat and flour exporter, was also a major shipper of feed grains, soybeans and animal products.

Other regional export volume included the east-north central, with $1.4 billion, from Illinois, the nation's top export state, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio, and the west-south central, contributing $1.2 billion or 16 per cent of the 1970-71 export total, from Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

By states, Illinois topped the list with $655 million; followed by Iowa with $592 million; California, $555 million; Texas, $554 million, and North Carolina, $432 million.

On a commodity basis, soybeans, valued at $1.3 billion, were far and away the biggest export crop, followed by wheat and flour, adding up to $1.2 billion, and feed grains, with $1.1 billion going overseas.

In the northwest, the mountain region contributed 20 per cent of all vegetables going overseas, a sixth of the wheat and was also an important shipper of animal products. Montana topped the states in the region with $122 million, followed by Colorado, $110 million; Idaho, third with $97 million.

Predator control lacking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate hearings on predator control have shown two things — the inadequacy of federal on how losses of livestock to predators are determined and documented.

McGee set up the hearings to determine whether new laws are needed to protect endangered species and still prevent serious losses to predators.

The subject is touchy in his home state, McGee said in an interview.

"Sheep men are Wyoming. They are a symbol of the state's economic profile."

The first reaction to hearings that might threaten the predator control program has been anger, he said.

"I am getting some strong mail on the subject," he said. "I got one of my Christmas cards back, torn up. The message said after what I had done to sheepmen, I did not deserve to have my card received. This whole thing has rocked the boat."

Frozen roses on Stalin's grave

MOSCOW (UPI)—Half a dozen frozen red roses and a bunch of cellophane-wrapped chrysanthemums lay on the snow-covered Red Square grave of one-time Soviet leader Josef V. Stalin today—his 92nd birthday.

Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, made no mention of Stalin's birthday.

Crowds who passed the grave at the foot of the Kremlin Wall in clear 19-degree weather showed no sign they were aware of the occasion, a day unobserved and unmarked anywhere except in Stalin's native republic of Georgia.

The placing of flowers on Stalin's grave to mark his birthday has occurred in past years. Last year an unknown admirer or relative left a wreath.

Payette damages estimated

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI)—Damage from a fire and series of explosions that destroyed the Concord Travelers Mobile Home Plant north of Payette Monday was estimated today at a minimum of $400,000.

Bob Haun, sales manager for the firm, a division of Champion Traller Co., asked all employees to report to the factory at 8 a.m. today for possible assignment in helping rebuild the structure.

Rebuilding of the plant—which began production about 2 1/2 years ago—will start as soon as possible, Haun said. He estimated the plant could be rebuilt and production resumed to normal within 90 days.

Normal production is about 30 mobile homes per week with a value of about $250,000, Haun said.

Fire sent some 80 employees scrambling for safety when the blaze broke out Monday afternoon. Nobody was hurt, however.

Eighteen new mobile homes inside the block-long building were destroyed when the roof collapsed.

Firemen from Payette and Ontario, Ore., responded to the alarm but were able to save only some company records and furniture from the office.

Value of toys averages $32

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The average American child gets $32 worth of Christmas toys, according to a study by Crocker Bank.

The study released Monday noted that the California child gets a little better from Santa, getting $38 worth of toys.

The bank also had a note suggesting that youngsters take care of their Christmas booty. It said that the Christmas toys are more than half the toys they will get all year.

Police storm house to end 3-hour gun battle

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Police using a World War II armored personnel carrier battled down the front wall of a house today to end a three-hour battle with a gunman who barricaded himself inside.

Three policemen were wounded, none seriously. The gunman also was wounded before he called out to officers entrenched in the lower floor of the house he had "had enough."

Capt. William Ponesse of the police tactical unit said the armored personnel carrier knocked down part of the wall, enabling officers to enter the house.

The gunman, Billy G. Roscher, 34, an expert rifleman, fled to the second floor as the vehicle nosed through the wall.

"We kept talking with him trying to get him to come down," Ponesse said. "But he kept firing from the top of the stairs. We threw several more canisters of gas and this got the job done."

Police Capt. James Campbell said the siege at the home of Roscher's estranged wife began when officers answered a call reporting a domestic disturbance.

Boise nips T.F. on foul shot in last 3 seconds

Dave Findley swished two free throws with three seconds left to carry the suddenly red-hot Boise Braves from nine points of the pace and into a 68-66 victory over the Twin Falls Bruins Tuesday night.

It was a tough loss for Bruins who made their best showing of the season but couldn't match the sudden hot shooting streak that saw the Braves hit 26 points in the final eight minutes and 10 of 12 free throws.

Stanford coach doesn't like being Rose Bowl underdog

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Coach John Ralston doesn't like having his Stanford team as the underdog in the Rose Bowl against Michigan he said Tuesday because the favorite usually wins.

But the Stanford coach saw big problems ahead in the New Year's Day game against a team which has allowed an average of but one touchdown per game for an entire season.

four-year unexplained abbatial, led almost all the time. Boise managed an early 8-3 lead but Twin Falls went ahead 10-8 and although the Braves managed two ties, they didn't lead again until 2:40 remained in the game. Three times Twin Falls piled up 10-point leads and its chance to break the game open midway through, the second period ended when sophomore general Landy Haynes and junior jumping jack Charlie Brown had to sit out four minutes due to foul problems. Over the last 3:14 of the period, Twin Falls managed only one point and the Braves, paced by Burke, closed to a 31-31 intermission deadlock.

Patriots confirm rehiring of coach

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots publicly confirmed a decision made weeks ago Tuesday when they announced that John Mazur had been given a new one-year contract.

Although he concedes that Michigan is an outstanding team and says he picked the Wolverines no lower than second at any time during the season, Ralston defended the Stanford record despite three losses.

Kentucky State rated No. 1 by UPI

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's Kentucky State in a dogfight in the latest small college basketball ratings by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

The Patriots, who delayed the announcement until after Mazur coached the team to a 5-8 record including upset victories over Oakland, Miami and Baltimore, said they had decided to rehire Mazur "two or three weeks ago" but didn't tell the one-time Notre Dame quarterback until after his team had upset the Colts, 21-17, last Sunday.

"We played well in 10 games and were legitimately beaten in one," he added. "We outgained Duke and San Jose State and lost but Washington State deserved to win. They licked us every way even though it took a field goal with no time left for them to get the win."

The Thorobreds received 31 first place votes from the 31 coaches participating in the third week of voting and replaced Evansville in first place with 281 points.

The formal announcement ended several weeks of speculation as Mazur said he would have turned down a "vote of confidence" during the midst of the season. "We had too much work to do."

Ralston said his team this year was more versatile than last year's squad which depended more on one man, Jim Plunkett.

Louisiana Tech, with nine first place votes, was second with 231 points and Eau Claire was third with four first place votes and 210 points. Right behind the Blugolds was Tennessee State with 214 points.

Declips Wendell wrestlers

WENDELL — The Declip Hornets, trailing 16-12 after six matches, ran off five straight pins Tuesday night to defeat the Wendell Trojans 42-21 in a dual wrestling match.

"Michigan is a team that doesn't make mistakes. It plays solid football and is a well-grounded team, one that is fundamentally sound."

Evansville, which was upended twice last week, tumbled all the way to fifth. The Purple Aces still managed to get two first place votes along with their 127 total points.

Me'n Eds' Pizza, getting 30 points from Clarence Phillips, drilled Pepsi Cola 77-40 with Darrell Mullinix getting 14 for Pepsi.

"Don Bunco may not have as strong an arm as Plunkett but he provides more versatility. He can run well and has a quick arm and he has held the team together."

Assumption, Stephen F. Austin, Howard Payne, Cheney State and Akron completed the top 10. Cheney slipped three notches after being knocked off by Philadelphia Textile last week.

L.W. Moore wins in overtime

Bill Nelsaker hit four of his 27 points in overtime Tuesday night to lift L.W. Moore Warehouse past Olympia Beer 64-60 in city league play.

Although the Indians suffered a loss when Eric Cross pulled a hamstring and may not get over it in time for the game, Ralston said there was a possibility that fullback Hillary Shockley, who has been injured, may be ready.

Leading the second ten was Fairmonth State, followed by Grambling, Ashland, Kentucky Wesleyan and Delta (Miss.) State. The unbeaten (7-0) Statesmen are leading the newly-formed Gulf States League.

Brian Ward and Dennis Britton split 32 points in leading Thompson Trucking past D. R. and D. Masony 76-30. "Handy Walters had 12 for the losers.

But Bell said he was "very happy" about Mazur's return as head coach and said they would sit down with the Patriots' expanded scouting staff to study the draft plans.

Florida Southern moved up a notch to 16th, Philadelphia Textile made its first appearance in the top 20 since pre-season at No. 17, Eastern Illinois dropped from 11th to 18 and McNeese State and Sam Houston State completed the top 20.

In connection with the draft, Mazur and Bell agreed that "We need people for the offensive line, the defensive line, linebackers and defensive backs."

"We'll decide after the meetings who to go after in trades and the draft," Bell said.

Are we afraid you'll buy one of the others? No! The 10-head tests against the other two top machines. Stinger proved itself best in the business.

Mazur again declined to comment on reported offers to coach in Buffalo and Denver and admitted "I don't think we'll be looking for a quarterback" when asked if he felt Plunkett had made the "pro grade in his rookie year."

Twin Falls Police said Michael J. O'Conner, 20, was checking the pistol when it discharged. The bullet entered his right leg and came out above the knee, re-entering the right side of his foot.

The accident occurred at a residence in Twin Falls and O'Conner was taken to Mayo Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Imports refunds denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department says the 10 per cent surcharge on imports, which increased the cost of foreign cars and many other products used by Americans, would be lifted immediately but there would be no refunds.

A Treasury spokesman said the surcharge would not have to be paid on any goods in transit to the United States, clearing customs or being removed from bonded warehouses for delivery. If the surcharge had already been paid on those products, however, it will not be refunded, he said.

That meant it might be several days or weeks, even months, before prices of any foreign goods are lowered to reflect removal of the surcharge.

Under President Nixon's new economic program, importers were allowed to pass on the cost of the surcharge to customers in the form of price increases.

Nixon announced removal of the surcharge shortly after a meeting with British Prime Minister Edward Heath in Bermuda Monday.

The surcharge proved to be a major irritant to American trading partners, including Britain. The administration said the tax would be lifted as soon as an agreement was reached on a new set of world currency exchange rates.

A decision to devalue the dollar by 7.89 per cent and to increase the value of some "hard" currencies, particularly the West German mark and the Japanese yen, was reached Saturday at a Washington meeting of the 10 richest industrial nations of the free world.

Miss Idaho selected contestant

IDAHO FALLS — Miss Idaho, Karen Herd, Idaho Falls, has won the regional contest sponsored by the Farmers Insurance Group to select a queen for its "I Love You Truly" float in the 1972 Tournament of Roses parade.

Miss Herd is now in the national finals, according to J. R. Foster, manager for the Northern Mountain States region, which includes Idaho, Montana, and Utah.

The national winner will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Pasadena to ride the Fairmers Insurance Group float New Year's Day and attend the Rose Bowl football game.

Miss Herd, 20, is 5 feet, 7½ inches tall, with brown eyes and hair. She is a junior at Boise State College and plans to enter the business world after completing her education. In addition to winning the 1971 Miss Idaho contest, she was named first runner-up in the 1971 Miss America contest.

Bolivian Yule gifts sent off

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "The Spirit of Christmas," a Utah Air National Guard C-124, flew out of Salt Lake International Airport Monday night, carrying nearly eight and one-half tons of Christmas presents bound for Bolivia.

The cargo plane left at 9:10 p.m. on the first leg of a journey that will deliver 16,729 pounds of clothing, medical and dental supplies, toys and blankets to children in the Bolivian Andes.

School children, private firms and volunteer groups from Salt Lake, Provo, Logan and other Utah towns gathered the gifts as part of the Partners of the Americas program.

The Partners, founded in 1968, works to foster a closer relationship and understanding between Latin American countries and the United States through personal involvement by private citizens.

Utah is a partner with La Paz and Altiplano, Bolivia. Utahns have contributed matching funds to help build 12 rural Bolivian schools and 13 more are under construction. They have also equipped a large dental facility near La Paz.

Fleets menace sea leviathans

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UPI) — The leviathans of the sea are being threatened with extinction by whaling fleets, notably Russian and Japanese, which send factory ships with fishing fleets to process whale products.

So far, international efforts to curb the practice of using ocean-going factory ships, so-called pelagic fleets, have been futile, according to Douglas B. Fawn, founder of the Whaling and Marine Mammal Archival in Nantucket, a New England Island which once sent out dozens of whaling ships.

The 14-nation International Whaling Commission (IWC) is the chief organization concerned with protecting the world's whale herds, and for more than a decade the IWC has tried to have observers placed aboard whaling vessels. This year, both Russian and Japanese whalers left port without the spotters.

The commission possibly could help lift the spotters to the whaling boats or even use

The Christmas shipment is destined for distribution to the children in mining communities on Bolivia's plateau.

"The Spirit of Christmas" will carry its yuletide cargo to Little Rock, Ark., where the shipment will be transferred to an Air Force plane. The Air Force will fly the cargo to Panama and then to Bolivia, arriving late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

The shipment will be met by representatives of the Utah-Bolivian Partners in La Paz and members of the Utah State University U.S. AID team now working in La Paz.

The Bolivian partners will personally handle distribution of the materials to the Andean children.

Logan High School students collected over one ton of clothing in a campaign under the direction of the Department of International Affairs at USU.

The Partners group in Provo, in cooperation with the Provo Jaycees, gathered an equal amount of clothing through the work of secondary and elementary school children.

'Super-banker' in as UN official

EDITOR'S NOTE: After 12 years as head of the United Nations Development Program Paul G. Hoffman is stepping out; taking his place is Rudolph A. Peterson. In two dispatches that follow, UPI reporters speak with the man who is going out, and the man coming in. The changeover takes effect Jan. 15.

By PEGGY POLK
UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — In retiring as administrator of the United Nations Development Program (UNDP), Paul G. Hoffman is leaving what he calls the "favorite job" of his career.

And it has been quite a career: "Super-salesman" of the auto industry who became president of the Studebaker Corp.; administrator of the Marshall Plan; first president of the Ford Foundation.

In his latest and favorite job Hoffman, still vigorous and optimistic at 80, has been responsible for $4.4 billion worth of development projects in virtually every one of the world's low income countries during the past 12 years.

In the same time he has seen well over 600,000 men, women and young people trained to work at — and to train others — in the skills needed by their countries.

Even the most severe critics of the United Nations praise this development activity. And some cite it as enough reason in itself for the existence of the world organization — as crucial as the more circumscribed — and often less successful — U.N. peace-keeping activities.

In all, the UNDP and its predecessor, the U.N. Special Fund, have helped to carry out 1,428 large-scale development projects and thousands of smaller technical assistance operations with voluntary contributions from U.N. members and matching funds from recipient countries. But there are two projects that stand out in Hoffman's mind.

"In my early childhood I remember my mother, who was quite a Bible student, speaking about the desert locust plagues," Hoffman said in an interview. "The plagues have cost hundreds of millions of dollars for centuries."

In 1960 the UNDP, U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization and 42 afflicted nations went to war on the desert locust with chemicals, spotter planes and extensive study of breeding patterns. In 1969 not one swarm of locusts was discovered anywhere in the world.

The second project Hoffman likes to talk about involves Dr. Norman Borlaug, the Nobel Prize-winning agronomist who is involved in an attempt to develop a high-protein corn.

"There are 250 to 300 million children whose principal diet is corn and who suffer malnutrition from not enough protein between the ages of 3 and 5. Their lives, to some extent, are blighted both mentally and physically," Hoffman said.

"You meet the problem head on by putting more protein in the corn and that is what Dr. Borlaug is working on. I talked to him a couple of weeks ago and he said, 'we're going to get it.'"

Hoffman believes the biggest problems ahead remain unemployment, undernourishment and the population explosion. And the key to solving them, he says, is a change in priorities among the Great Powers which now spend $200 billion a year for defense and less than $15 billion to help the poorer countries make better use of both their natural and their human resources.

"If we could get the governments interested in development as a central core activity, then through better use of resources we could have a new world," Hoffman said.

A native of Western Springs, Ill., who quit the University of Chicago after his Freshman year, Hoffman is uniquely qualified to talk about world development.

When barely into his 20's, he became the nation's top Studebaker salesman and he made his first million in 1925 at the age of 34 with a Studebaker dealership in Los Angeles. During the depression he became the first business executive to bring a major American automobile manufacturer through bankruptcy and reorganization and in 1937 emerged as president of Studebaker.

In 1940 he helped found the Committee for Economic Development (CED) to improve the relationship between businessmen and economists. The CED helped to formulate the Marshall Plan and President Harry S. Truman drafted Hoffman in 1946 to head the $18 billion program to prime the pump of Europe's postwar recovery.

Named president of the newly formed Ford Foundation in 1950, Hoffman stood off attacks by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, proclaimed his anti-Communism and continued funding controversial programs involving education, civil rights and civil liberties.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower also ignored the attacks of the far right on Hoffman and appointed him a delegate to the United Nations in 1956. With his Marshall Plan experience, Hoffman decided U.N. aid programs were moving too slowly. He pressed for action. The United Nations created its Special Development Fund and on Jan. 3, 1959, Hoffman became its head.

"You are dealing with a task that is of staggering dimensions and of unbelievable complexity so that you have so much to learn that you're never on top of it," Hoffman said.

By ROBERT STRAND
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rudolph A. Peterson, incoming head of the United Nations Development Program, is a big, blue-eyed Swede who developed what he calls "a sense of mission" from a mother who sent him to the United States at the age of two to give him a better chance in life.

Lacking funds to fulfill his ambition of becoming a doctor, Peterson studied economics and banking at the University of California.

His sense of mission carried him through a career in installment lending that took him to the presidency of the world's largest bank, the Bank of America, from 1963 to 1970. The bank has 1,100 branches and $32 billion in resources.

"My parents always wanted one of their children to have the privilege of living in America, so they sent me here to live with an aunt and uncle," Peterson said in an interview.

"And so I had two sets of parents. From my mother, I've always had a sense of mission, a belief that we are here to accomplish something for somebody besides ourselves."

As president, Peterson quadrupled his bank's overseas branches to 90. In 1967 he was one of the first bankers to warn of forthcoming U.S. trouble with foreign trade and gold, and later he headed President Nixon's task force on international development.

"Now I'm walking right into some of my own prescriptions," said Peterson of his new post as administrator of the UNDP.

Peterson approves some recent policy changes in the program made in response to much criticism. One change gave the administrator more authority over 14 major agencies.

In another change, the U.N. is asking 125 underdeveloped countries to propose their own programs, rather than having U.N. agencies "rushing in to peddle their own pet projects."

Peterson, 66, said he is taking the job first because President Nixon asked him to, and second "because when your future is behind you, you are more intrigued than ever about how you can still be useful."

"This job comes close to the fundamentals of life," he said. "A hell of a lot of it is helping people achieve a fuller life — which can mean just a fuller stomach."

With the patience of the fly fisherman he is, Peterson takes his time in forming his ideas. Often he stares long and intently out his 41st floor window before giving answers, seemingly shaped with gesturing hands.

Edgar. He didn't have any singletons and he did hold an important honor in the unbid club suit. Furthermore, he had already told Norman that he wasn't really interested in no-trump so now Edgar went to the no-trump game.

Norman passed and proceeded to make just three no-trump when West was unkind enough to hold back his heart king when the queen was led. The defense might have slipped and let Edgar make four hearts but the no-trump contract was unbeatable.

The Women And Wages

"A man may have opinion; a woman must submit to it."

Miss de Maule

SHOULD A woman who sells women's clothing make as much money as a man who sells men's clothing? Not necessarily, ruled a Federal District Court recently. Greatly to the chagrin of the girls, the judge said the man may well deserve more pay. Sale of men's clothing requires more skill than the sale of women's, he decreed. Women buyers generally know what they want, so need little instruction. But men buyers rarely have any notion of what they're after, so need real help.

QUERY
Q - I once, old boy, when I can't get my hands on a real good recipe to make sausage, could you help?

A - Just happen to have such a recipe in hand, Miss. Send me a stamped, addressed envelope, and I'll mail you back to you, no charge. Like-wise to anybody else, for that matter. As long as one batch of mimeographed recipes last, anyway.

A LITTLE BOY starts out with 100 pennies in each hand. In his ten-year-old's purse of these pennies, he only has 10 pennies in each hand. Curious.

TO SLIP out of one's shack was described in a single word years ago. It was to "escape." And our linguist specialist says that's where we got the word "escape."

NOBODY KNOWS their names now, but 100 years ago, the country's best billiard players were just about as famous as say, Joe Namath or Tomp Sawyer or Roman Gabriel today.

SPOILED CHILD
If a spoiled child turns to a life of crime, that type of crime, he's almost apt to take up is burglary. So says a criminologist. For some unknown reason, he says, spoiled child.

HOW DO YOU account for the fact that a white man hereabouts is 3 1/2 times more apt to suffer a heart attack than a black man?

THEY'RE SWIFT, those Japanese girls. Had a hundred of them on an assembly line can put together a watch in 10 minutes.

The accident occurred at a residence in Twin Falls and O'Conner was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Imports refunds denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department says the 10 per cent surcharge on imports, which increased the cost of foreign cars and many other products used by Americans, would be lifted immediately but there would be no refunds.

A Treasury spokesman said the surcharge would not have to be paid on any goods in transit to the United States, clearing customs or being removed from bonded warehouses for delivery. If the surcharge had already been paid on those products, however, it will not be refunded, he said.

That meant it might be several days or weeks, even months, before prices of any foreign goods are lowered to reflect removal of the surcharge.

Under President Nixon's new economic program, importers were allowed to pass on the cost of the surcharge to customers in the form of price increases.

Nixon announced removal of the surcharge shortly after a meeting with British Prime Minister Edward Heath in Bermuda Monday.

The surcharge proved to be a major irritant to American trading partners, including Britain. The administration said the tax would be lifted as soon as an agreement was reached on a new set of world currency exchange rates.

A decision to devalue the dollar by 7.89 per cent and to increase the value of some "hard" currencies, particularly the West German mark and the Japanese yen, was reached Saturday at a Washington meeting of the 10 richest industrial nations of the free world.

Miss Idaho selected contestant

IDAHO FALLS — Miss Idaho, Karen Herd, Idaho Falls, has won the regional contest sponsored by the Farmers Insurance Group to select a queen for its "I Love You Truly" float in the 1972 Tournament of Roses parade.

Miss Herd is now in the national finals, according to J. R. Foster, manager for the Northern Mountain States region, which includes Idaho, Montana, and Utah.

The national winner will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Pasadena to ride the Farmers Insurance Group float and the Rose Bowl football game.

Miss Herd, 20, is 5 feet, 7 1/2 inches tall, with brown eyes and hair. She is a junior at Boise State College and plans to enter the business world after completing her education. In addition to winning the 1971 Miss Idaho contest, she was named first runner-up in the 1971 Miss America contest.

Burglars raid home

TWIN FALLS — Items valued at about $50 were taken in a theft reported Sunday to Twin Falls Police.

Officers said the residence of Neal Montgomery was entered and a radio, a record album, a bottle of champagne and a small amount of cash were taken. Entry is believed to have been made through a window.

Bolivian Yule gifts sent off

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — "The Spirit of Christmas," a Utah Air National Guard C-124, flew out of Salt Lake International Airport Monday night, carrying nearly eight and one-half tons of Christmas presents bound for Bolivia.

The cargo plane left at 9:10 p.m. on the first leg of a journey that will deliver 16,720 pounds of clothing, medical and dental supplies, toys and blankets to children in the Bolivian Andes.

School children, private firms and volunteer groups from Salt Lake, Provo, Logan and other Utah towns gathered the gifts as part of the Partners of the Americas program.

The Partners, founded in 1966, works to foster a closer relationship and understanding between Latin American countries and the United States through personal involvement by private citizens.

Utah is a partner with La Paz and Alto Plano, Bolivia. Utahns have contributed matching funds to help build 12 rural Bolivian schools and 13 more are under construction. They have also equipped a large dental facility near La Paz.

The Partners group in Provo, in cooperation with the Provo Jaycees, gathered an equal amount of clothing through the work of secondary and elementary school children.

The shipment will be transferred to an Air Force plane. The Air Force will fly the cargo to Panama and then to Bolivia, arriving late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

The shipment will be met by representatives of the Utah-Bolivian Partners in La Paz and members of the Utah State University U.S. Aid team now working in La Paz.

The Bolivian partners will personally handle distribution of the materials to the Andean children.

Logan High School students collected over one ton of clothing in a campaign under the direction of the Department of International Affairs at USU.

The Partners group in Provo, in cooperation with the Provo Jaycees, gathered an equal amount of clothing through the work of secondary and elementary school children.

Fleets menace sea leviathans

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UPI) — The leviathans of the sea are being "threatened" by extinction by whaling fleets, notably Russian and Japanese, which send factory ships with fishing fleets to process whale products.

"So far, international efforts to curb the practice of using ocean-going factory ships, so-called pelagic fleets, have been futile, according to Douglas Fonda, founder of the Whaling and Marine Manuscript Archives in Nantucket, a New England island which once sent out dozens of whaling ships.

The 14-nation International Whaling Commission (IWC), the chief organization concerned with protecting the world's whale herds, and for more than a decade the IWC has tried to have observers placed aboard whaling vessels. This year, both Russian and Japanese whalers left port without the spotters.

The commission's next meeting could lift the spotters to whaling boats or even use spotter planes to check on the catches, but has done neither, he said. "I'm afraid it just begins to revolve around politics," he added, indicating the two nations might drop out of the IWC if they were asked — or forced — to end the mass production whaling techniques.

The Senate has approved a provision for a 10-year world-wide moratorium on whaling, Fonda said, but the State Department is opposing the measure in the U.S. House "because it reflects directly on the Soviets and Japanese who have pelagic fleets."

The sole American whaling station is operated by the Del Monte Fishing Co. in Richmond, Calif., and its federal license to operate expires Wednesday. The government has refused to renew it.

Under the shore station concept, he explained, land-based vessels would catch one or two whales but would have to return to shore within a short time to head off decomposition of the carcass.

'Super-banker' in as UN official

EDITOR'S NOTE: After 32 years as head of the United Nations Development Program Paul G. Hoffman is stepping out; taking his place is Rudolph A. Peterson. In two dispatches that follow, UPI reporters speak with the man who is going out, and the man coming in. The changeover takes effect Jan. 15.

By PEGGY POLK

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — In retiring as administrator of the United Nations Development Program (UNDP), Paul G. Hoffman is leaving what he calls the "favorite job" of his career.

And it has been quite a career: "Super-salesman" of the auto industry who became president of the Studebaker Corp.; administrator of the Marshall Plan; first president of the Ford Foundation.

In his latest and favorite job Hoffman, still vigorous and optimistic at 60, has been responsible for $4.4 billion worth of development projects in virtually every one of the world's low income countries during the past 12 years.

In the same time he has seen well over 600,000 men, women and young people trained to work at — and to train others — in the skills needed by their countries.

Even the most severe critics of the United Nations praise this development activity. And some cite it as enough reason in itself for the existence of the world organization — as crucial as the more circumscribed — and often less successful — U.N. peace-keeping activities.

In all, the UNDP and its predecessor, the U.N. Special Fund, have helped to carry out 1,428 large-scale development projects and thousands of smaller technical assistance operations with voluntary contributions from U.N. members and matching funds from recipient countries.

But there are two projects that stand out in Hoffman's mind.

"In my early childhood I remember my mother, who was quite a Bible student, speaking about the desert locust plagues," Hoffman said in an interview. "The plagues have cost hundreds of millions of dollars for centuries."

In 1960 the UNDP, U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization and 42 afflicted nations went to war on the desert locust with chemicals, spotter planes and extensive study of breeding patterns. In 1969 not one swarm of locusts was discovered anywhere in the world.

The second project Hoffman like to talk about involves Dr. Norman Borlaug, the Nobel Prize-winning agronomist who is involved in an attempt to develop a high-protein corn.

"There are 250 to 300 million children whose principal diet is corn and who suffer malnutrition from not enough protein between the ages of 3 and 5. Their lives, to some extent, are blighted both mentally and physically," Hoffman said.

"You meet the problem head on by putting more protein in the corn and that is what Dr. Borlaug is working on. I talked to him a couple of weeks ago and he said, 'we're going to get it.'"

Hoffman believes the biggest problems ahead remain unemployment, underemployment and the population explosion. And the key to solving them, he says, is a change in priorities among the Great Powers which now spend $200 billion a year for defense and less than $15 billion to help the poorer countries make better use of both their natural and their human resources.

"If we could get the governments interested in development as a central core activity, then through better use of resources we could have a new world," Hoffman said.

A native of Western Springs, Ill., who quit the University of Chicago after his Freshman year, Hoffman is uniquely qualified to talk about world development.

When barely into his 20's, he became the nation's top Studebaker salesman and he made his first million in 1925 at the age of 34 with a Studebaker dealership in Los Angeles. During the depression he became the first business executive to bring a major American automobile manufacturer through bankruptcy and reorganization and in 1937 emerged as president of Studebaker.

In 1940 he helped found the Committee for Economic Development (CED) to improve the relationship between businessmen and economists. The CED helped to formulate the Marshall Plan and President Harry S. Truman drafted Hoffman in 1948 to head the $18 billion program to prime the pump of Europe's postwar recovery.

Named president of the newly formed Ford Foundation in 1950, Hoffman stood off attacks by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, proclaimed his anti-Communism and continued funding controversial programs involving education, civil rights and civil liberties.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower also ignored the attacks of the far right on Hoffman and appointed him a delegate to the United Nations in 1956. With his Marshall Plan experience, Hoffman decided U.N. aid programs were moving too slowly. He pressed for action. The United Nations created its Special Development Fund and on Jan. 1, 1959, Hoffman became its head.

"You are dealing with a task that is of staggering dimensions and of unbelievable complexity so that you have so much to learn — that you're never on top of it," Hoffman said.

By ROBERT STRAND

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rudolph A. Peterson, incoming head of the United Nations Development Program, is "a big, blue-eyed Swede who developed what he calls 'a sense of mission'" from a mother who sent him to the United States at the age of two to give him a better chance in life.

Lacking funds to fulfill his ambition of becoming a doctor, Peterson studied economics and banking at the University of California.

His sense of mission carried him through a career in installment lending that took him to the presidency of the world's largest bank, the Bank of America, from 1963 to 1970. The bank has 1,100 branches and $32 billion in resources.

"My parents always wanted one of their children to have the privilege of living in America, so they sent me here to live with an aunt and uncle," Peterson said in an interview.

"And so I had two sets of parents. From my mother, I've always had a sense of mission, a belief that we are here to accomplish something for somebody besides ourselves."

As president, Peterson quadrupled his bank's overseas branches to 66. In 1967 he was one of the first bankers to warn of forthcoming U.S. trouble with foreign trade and gold, and later he headed President Nixon's task force on international development.

"Now I'm walking right into some of my own prescriptions," said Peterson of his new post as administrator of the UNDP.

Peterson approves some recent policy changes in the program made in response to much criticism. One change gave the administrator more authority over 14 major agencies.

In another change, the U.N. is asking 125 underdeveloped countries to propose their own programs, rather than having U.N. agencies "rushing in to peddle their own pet projects."

Peterson, 60, said he is taking the job first because President Nixon asked him to, and second "because when your future is behind you, you are more intrigued than ever about how you can still be useful."

"This job comes close to the fundamentals of life," he said. "A hell of a lot of it is helping people achieve a fuller life — which can mean just a fuller stomach."

With the patience of the fly fisherman he is, Peterson takes his time in forming his ideas. Often he stares long and intently out his 41st floor window before giving answers, seemingly shaped with gesturing hands.

Man freed under bond

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man arrested by Twin Falls Police on three charges including illegal possession of a controlled substance has been released on a combined bond of $550.

Police said Lonnie Merlo Hodge, 20, was arrested Sunday on the drug violation, for being drunk in public and resisting arrest.
