Massive air assaults readied for 4th day

SAIGON (UPI)—Hundreds of U.S. jets bombarded North Vietnam today in the third day of the most sustained air assault ever ordered by President Nixon then returned to their bases to reform for what military sources said would be a fourth day of attack on Wednesday.

Hanoi reported another U.S. plane shot down and warned that the strikes would delay release of American prisoners of war held since the great bombing attacks of the early 1960s against the Haiphong and Hanoi areas.

Military sources said the jets which took part in today's mission returned to the aircraft carriers Coral Sea and Constellation off the Vietnam coast, to the big U.S. air bases at Da Nang in South Vietnam and Ubon and Udorn in Thailand, to refuel and rearm.

The U.S. command refused comment on the Hanoi radio reports of a sixth U.S. plane shot down in three days but said only the American jets were still hitting targets in the north under the sustained air assault ordered by President Nixon.

As the air war escalated, the allied ground effort in neighboring Laos was deteriorating.

North Vietnamese troops and Laotian guerrillas captured the Bolovens Plateau town of Paksong in southern Laos today with the effect of widening the Ho Chi Minh Trail over which the Communists ship war material into South Vietnam.

The principal targets of the strikes into North Vietnam were airfields, missile pads and gun platforms harboring the Soviet-built MIG jets, surface-to-air missiles and antiaircraft artillery.

Radio Hanoi said the Americans bombed at least one school and two hospitals in the strikes that extended to within 35 miles of Hanoi.

American military sources denied the Hanoi report and said the targets of the American planes were military.

The Hanoi military newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan said today, "So long as Nixon does not stop his aggressive war, the captured U.S. pilots cannot return home."

The report of the newspaper, carried in a Hanoi radio broadcast and heard in Tokyo, specifically mentioned Kenneth Richard Johnson, who Nhan Dan said was captured Dec. 18, after he bailed out of his burning plane over North Vietnam.

"The more reckless Nixon becomes ... the wearier becomes the position of Kenneth Richard Johnson." The report did not further identify the American airman.

The jets carried out the first of the third day's strikes in the early morning hours today and were directed at "military targets" inside North Vietnam, military spokesmen said.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said in Washington Monday that Hanoi had violated the understanding by shelling South Vietnamese cities including Saigon on Dec. 19, construction of an infiltration road through the DMZ, failure to negotiate meaningfully in Paris as promised and firing on unarmed U. S. reconnaissance planes.

Military sources said the attacks on North Vietnam had the personal approval of Nixon.

Military spokesmen refused to give details of the strikes, citing security. They declined comment on reports from Hanoi that five F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers were shot down on the first day of the current campaign on Sunday.

Hanoi Radio said today that a hospital had been bombed by U.S. planes and two patients killed and many others injured. The broadcast said the hospital was at Thanh Hoa, 60 miles south of Hanoi. The radio said it was the second time a hospital had been hit in the current U.S. bombing campaign, the first having been Sunday at Hoa Binh, 35 miles southwest of the North Vietnamese capital.

On South Vietnamese battlefronts, Viet Cong units attacking South Vietnamese militiamen shot down an American helicopter.

UPSIDE-DOWN Old Glory, a distress signal, is thrust from the head of the Statue of Liberty by Vietnam Veterans opposing prolongation of the Vietnam War. See story below. (UPI)

Judge orders vets to leave US shrine

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge today ordered 16 Vietnam veterans, who for two days have barricaded themselves inside the Statue of Liberty in an antiwar protest, to leave the national monument and reopen it to the public.

Judge Lawrence W. Pierce issued a temporary restraining order directing the protesters "to open the doors, remove all obstructions as well as themselves except during normal visiting hours."

The veterans, members of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW), came to the island on the last sightseeing boat Sunday, barricaded themselves inside and then Monday refused a government compromise that would have opened the statue but allowed them to camp on Liberty Island where it stands.

The veterans said they took the action to dramatize their stand against the continuing war in Indochina.

"She's a good old girl," Ray Grodecki, one of the veterans on the island, said of the statue. "We recognized what she should represent and that's why we've chosen this site."

The veterans said they would leave the statue if a VVAW statement was printed in the Pacific edition of Stars and Stripes, the edition of the official Army newspaper which goes to Vietnam, and was broadcast over the Armed Forces Network.

The Statue of Liberty protest was one of three conducted Monday in connection with the VVAW. About 60 veterans in Philadelphia barricaded themselves in the Betsy Ross House, the building where the first American flag was made, which is also a national monument. Police broke in and arrested about 20 persons.

Protests halt talk in Paris

PARIS (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam today canceled Thursday's scheduled session of the Vietnam talks to protest Hanoi's failure to negotiate and its attacks on unarmed U.S. aircraft.

A spokesman for the Hanoi delegation said it too had decided to call off the session in order to protest the renewed bombing of the north and transmitted its cancellation to the United States delegation "at almost the same moment that we received theirs."

The Hanoi official said the United States is acting like "gangsters of Chicago" in bombing North Vietnam.

Nixon advance men to trek to Peking

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—An advance team of White House aides and technicians, including Presidential Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, will leave for Peking Wednesday to prepare for President Nixon's Feb. 21-28 visit, the Columbia Broadcasting System said Monday.

The Florida White House refused to confirm or deny the report.

This would be the third trip to Peking to prepare for the president's historic journey. Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's National Security Affairs Adviser, made a secret trip to the mainland last July. He returned last October to nail down the arrangements.

Laird sees draft lull

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird held out the strong possibility Monday that there will be no draft calls for the first three months of the New Year.

He told a news conference there definitely will be no draft in January and "quite possible" none in February or March.

Laird gave three reasons for voluntarily halting the draft during the first quarter of 1972: —Progress made in withdrawal of troops from overseas which have cut U.S. forces in Vietnam from a peak of 543,400 to 154,000 last week along with other reductions—in Japan, South Korea, the Philippines and Thailand.

—An additional cut back ordered by Congress which will bring the Army forces to fewer than 500,000 men by June 30. —$3 billion in pay increases—one which took effect last Nov. 15 and the other beginning this Saturday—which Laird hopes will boost the number of volunteers and the number of servicemen deciding to reenlist. Laird noted only 90,000 men were drafted in 1971, compared with 154,000 in 1970 and 290,000 in 1969.

"It is too early for projections of draft calls in 1972 because of the impact of the tremendous pay increases ... (but) I am confident the pay increases will have an effect on recruitment and retention," he said.

Freed Hoffa unleashed

DETROIT — Former teamsters Union leader James R. Hoffa will be able to renew union acquaintances of the past 40 years and speak out on national labor issues without violating terms of his parole, according to a U.S. Justice Department official.

Lawrence M. Traylor, the department's pardon attorney who helped draft conditions of Hoffa's prison release, said Monday that the terms were not meant to infringe on the former union leader's freedom of expression.

Hoffa was pardoned by order of President Nixon.

"What I had in mind when I drafted the document — and remember, only the President can attach conditions to a pardon — was that Mr. Hoffa should be able to perhaps express his opinion on things," said Traylor.

Hoffa, 59, was released from federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., Thursday after serving nearly five years of a 13-year sentence for jury tampering and mail fraud.

He returned to Detroit Monday and met with his parole officer who warned him against "direct or indirect" control of the union he helped start as a teen-aged dock worker.

Hoffa told newsmen he asked for permission to spend 60 to 90 days in Florida with his wife.

Josephine, who has a heart ailment. He said he also sought permission to visit with union acquaintances.

Pakistan attacks

By United Press International. Pakistan troops shelled Indian positions along the western front 300 miles northwest of New Delhi, killing five Indian soldiers and wounding 29, the Press Trust of India said today. It reported Indian reinforcements moving into the area.

The news agency quoting sources in the Rajasthan state capital of Jaipur, said the shelling started Monday night in the Ganganagar area of the border with West Pakistan.

Economic indicators edge up for November

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A composite index of leading economic indicators edged up in November to record the 11th gain in the past 13 months, the government reported today.

A Commerce Department official predicted further economic expansion in the coming months under Phase II controls.

The index of eight indicators available for last month went up 0.2 per cent following a stronger, 1.2 per cent gain in October, the Commerce Department said. The index has risen 13 per cent since November, 1970, when an upward movement began. The only setbacks since then were small declines in June and August.

Of the eight indicators, four others were not yet available. Five went up and three declined. The strongest gains were in the length of the average work week and new factory orders for durable goods, while there was a substantial decline in new housing permits.

The average work week for production workers increased 0.8 per cent, from 39.8 to 40.1 hours, while new factory orders for durable goods showed a 3.6 per cent gain.

Now private housing permits declined 0.7 per cent.

Druggists must post prices

BY LEE TREMAINE

Times-News Writer

BOISE — Though most pharmacists apparently haven't been told, they are going to have to post "base prices" on their 40 most popular prescription drugs — state law to the contrary.

The Internal Revenue Service, has ruled prescriptions and other drug items are "retail merchandise" and come under recent regulations ordering each merchant to list the prices for his 40 items which comprise the bulk of his sales; as of Aug. 15, when the federal clampdown went into effect.

The idea is that customers may compare these so-called "base prices" with the current prices. If they suspect inflationary increases, they may file complaints with the IRS as well as with the merchant.

The IRS regulations, which are supposed to take effect Saturday, order each businessman to place a sign at least 22 by 28 inches in size prominently in his place of business. The top sellers in each department are to be listed, with no exceptions.

The Idaho Board of Pharmacy, however, has voiced strong opposition to posting of prescription prices, especially since the listing may include birth-control medications. The board called Oasco Drug on the carpet earlier this month to explain its practice of doing what the IRS now wants — listing popular prescription prices.

The Idaho Board of Pharmacy said a state law forbids listing or otherwise advertising birth-control preparations, and this includes listing a price alongside the name.

The IRS, however, has ruled that federal law takes precedence over all state regulations and must be obeyed, according to Jerry Peterson, Boise, assistant director of stabilization for the IRS.

Peterson said today the Monday IRS "clarification" was designed to clear up questions raised over listing prescription prices. In Twin Falls, however, David Nelson of Save-Mor Drugs said druggists had been told earlier that the IRS ruled filling prescriptions a "service" and that the medications were not price-controlled and did not have to be listed.

The newest regulation has not yet been promulgated to pharmacists, Nelson said, even though the order is supposed to take effect Saturday.

A doubt still exists over a reputed federal law controlling listing or advertising birth-control items. The Idaho Board of Pharmacy told Oasco it was violating both state and federal laws in listing the medication.

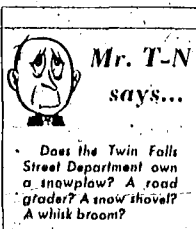

Nixon, Brandt meet

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt met today in a summit session to coordinate their policies aimed at bolstering the Western alliance and reducing tensions with the East.

Nixon arranged a small ceremonial welcome with a cordon of troops and flags flying at his balmy bay-side villa.

The President also will try to reassure Germany that the United States will make no troop reductions in Europe without compensatory cuts by Warsaw Pact nations.

Skier survives avalanche burial

ALTA, Utah (UPI) — A skier who was buried under a freak four-foot deep snowslide for an hour Monday says he could hear rescuers tramping about above him and thought he was "done for" when a probe missed him by six inches.

"Boy, I was really mad when I heard and felt the first probe just miss me," said Bret Nye of Ogden, a 19-year-old student who was skiing at the Snowbird resort's Peruvian Gulch run when the slide inundated him.

"Boy was I mad. I yelled and cursed trying to get their attention.

"I remembered reading that experience in the Alps shows the chances of a slide victim coming out alive diminishes after one hour. I figured from the way I felt the probe was working, it would be another two hours before they would be back.

"I felt I was done for."

A doctor at Holy Cross Hospital in Salt Lake City said the youth was in good condition.

"If his physical conditioning had not been as good as it was, I am sure he would not have been found alive," said Allen Nye, Bret's father.

Young Nye said two snowslides broke loose as he and three companions pushed off for their run down the slope, one in front of them and one in back.

"I didn't know about the larger one until it—boy, did it make a noise," he said. "As I fell, I looked up and saw the big one fall falling on me. It was weird and I was real scared."

"I spent the first 10 minutes thinking 'I'm dead' and 'why' over and over again. Then I got a hold of myself and tried to get my arms around my head to create a better air space but was unable to."

Nye had blacked-out by the time rescuers found his body and dug him out with shovels.

Three German gunmen—Seen... rob bank, make escape

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — Three bandits armed with submachine guns shot up and robbed a bank of an estimated $96,700 Monday then made a getaway deal and fled with two police officials who volunteered themselves as substitute hostages.

The gunmen led newsmen and television cameramen on a strange motorcade over hundreds of miles of countryside, before contacting police in Saarland and offering to release the hostages in return for a 20-minute headstart.

Police said the gangsters drove into Saarbruecken near the French border, released their hostages unharmed late Monday, then fled on foot in an unknown direction.

Police identified the leader of the gang as Kurt Vlcenik, a 44-year-old Austrian from Vienna with strong connections to the underworld in Marseilles, France. They also suspected one of his accomplices was Roger Kock, 37, of Marseilles.

The trio strided into the downtown Domkloster branch of the Deutsche Bank Monday morning. They shot up an armored teller's cage then grabbed three bank employees, two girls and a father of six children, and demanded a getaway car.

Sixty policemen and 30 police cruisers sealed off the area and an hour later, still inside the bank, they accepted a police offer to release the employees and use two policemen as hostages. The policemen wore Criminal Police Director Werner Hamacher and Chief of Uniformed Police Hans Kraus.

While police dickered with them, over 1,000 curiosity seekers gathered outside and police herded them onto sidewalks.

Police provided a van for the gangsters and, with hundreds of spectators watching and television cameras whirring, they pushed their police hostages inside and fled with the loot stashed in a large black suitcase and a briefcase.

A huge motorcade of newsmen followed and police hovered overhead in a helicopter over hundreds of miles as they sped along Rhineland roads.

In Koblenz the gangsters ordered Hamacher, who was driving the getaway van, to stop, then warned a patrolman following to get rid of the newsmen or "we'll use our guns." Police managed to break off most of the journalistic tail.

The other police hostage, Kraus, was forced to pay for gas when the gangsters stopped at various stations to tank up.

The gangsters said they would take the vehicle to Frankfurt, but suddenly switched directions and headed for the French border at Saarbruecken. The helicopter lost the chase because of darkness and fog.

Authorities said the gang later contacted the Saarland state police and let the hostages go in return for a 20-minute headstart. Police agreed to the exchange, to take place in Saarbruecken.

Police sources said the gangsters abandoned their vehicle with the hostages inside in a wooded area near St. Wendel and fled on foot. Strong contingents of police scouted the area and French authorities posted police forces along their side of the nearby border.

Koreans arrested for fire

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean authorities arrested eight persons before dawn Tuesday in connection with the Christmas fire in a 22-story hotel that one fire expert labeled a "deathtrap chimney." It was history's worst hotel fire, killing 159 persons.

The body of the 159th person was found Monday night by workers digging through the charred wreckage of the concrete and steel structure.

The Seoul district prosecutor's office arrested the hotel owner, Kim Yong-San, and four other hotel officials on charges of carelessness and improper construction of building.

Two former city officials and fire officer also were arrested on charges of negligence because of alleged failure to conduct proper inspections of the Taeyonggak Hotel after it was opened two years ago.

The fire which burned for 10 hours Saturday killed 159 persons and injured 68 others. The worst previous death toll in a hotel fire was 119 dead in a blaze at the Winecoff Hotel in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 7, 1946.

Idaho escapee lodged in Nevada county jail

WINNEMUCA, Nev. (UPI) — A man who gasped from an Idaho prison farm, but turned himself in to Nevada authorities the next day, was lodged in county jail Monday pending the outcome of extradition proceedings.

Thomas Belew, 23, and two others at the Eagle Island, Idaho, Prison Farm kidnapped a priest early Christmas day and fled in a car toward the Oregon border.

Belew, John Trujillo, 23, and Audon Guzman, 24, overpowered guard Richard Duphy, then took with them at kidnap point the Rev. James Wilson, a former prison chaplain and now principal of a Catholic high school in Boise.

While driving through rural Idaho, the fleeing convicts nearly struck a police car at Meridian, Idaho. The officer radioed ahead for help and gave chase at speeds up to 110 miles per hour.

Officers cornered the fugitives near Nampa, Idaho. The men stopped the car and fled on foot. Trujillo and Guzman were captured but Belew got away. Father-Wilson was released unharmed.

Humboldt County officers said Belew arrived at McDermitt, on the Nevada-Oregon border, in a commercial bus shortly after midnight, approached a patrol car and turned himself in to a deputy.

District Attorney William MacDonald said he does not know why he surrendered "but his money probably ran out and that's as much a reason as any."

MacDonald said extradition proceeding would take several days, even if Belew were to waive extradition. MacDonald explained this would have to be done in a court of record, and the local district court isn't in session.

Bond set for two inmates

BOISE (UPI) — Bond was set at $25,000 each for two of the three Idaho State Prison inmates Monday who escaped early Christmas Day and kidnaped a priest.

Appearing in Boise Magistrate Court were John Trujillo, 23, charged with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, two counts of kidnapping and robbery; and Audon L. Guzman, 24, charged with escape.

The third convict, Thomas Belew, 23, who turned himself in to Nevada authorities Sunday morning, was in the Humboldt County Jail in Winnemucca awaiting the outcome of extradition proceedings.

Ada County Prosecutor James Risch said he has begun steps to have Belew returned to Idaho. But Winnemucca District Attorney William MacDonald said extradition proceedings would take several days, even if Belew waived extradition.

During the Christmas morning escape, Eagle Island Prison Farm guard Richard Duphy was overcome by the youths who took the Rev. James R. Wilson — a former prison chaplain and now principal of Bishop Kelly High School — at kidnap point.

Father Wilson was released and Trujillo and Guzman captured near Nampa when the men stopped their stolen car and fled on foot. Belew turned himself in after he arrived at McDermitt, Nev.

Troops break up crowd

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops firing rubber bullets and CS mace gas broke up a crowd of youths in the heart of Londonderry's Roman Catholic Bogside today, seizing suspects and weapons.

An army spokesman said the Royal Artillerymen arrested five men in the search and arrest operation and discovered four nail bombs and one detonator in one house.

The crowd of between 30 and 40 youths who hurled rocks at the troops broke up under fire from rubber bullets and the gas shells, the spokesman said.

Premier Brian Faulkner today criticized plans by the government-operated British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) to stage a 24-hour program of civil strife and violence in Northern Ireland.

"The government believes the program has little to contribute and in fact could be quite harmful," a spokesman for the premier said in a statement.

"We have enough problems without a public scrutiny of this sort."

The protest was directed by British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) plans to screen the debate Jan. 5. It would allow representatives of all sides in Northern Ireland's continuing troubles a forum to present their views.

The controversy arose only hours after scattered gunfire and bombings broke a three day lull in violence across Northern Ireland.

Army Pvt. Ronald L. Madge, 21, was wounded by a sniper's bullets while guarding an officer being interviewed by a British television crew. The camera focused on him as he slumped to the ground.

An army spokesman said Madge, hit by two bullets in the chest, was not seriously hurt, and would recover.

Other gunmen seriously wounded a 17-year-old boy, and a bomb exploding on the front doorstep of a private home injured four other civilians, an army spokesman said.

All three incidents and a robbery at a bookmaker's shop occurred in the Grosvenor Road area, part of the "pence line" dividing Protestant and Catholic neighborhoods.

The incidents ended a three-day lull in the violence which an army spokesman earlier attributed to the probability IRA extremists were home celebrating the long holiday weekend with their families.

Russian defector goes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Raising speculation he may have been a "plant" designed to confuse American experts, a Russian intelligence major who defected two months ago has returned home at his own request, it was announced Monday.

State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray III said Anatoly Kuzmich Chebotaryev was allowed to board a Russian airliner bound for Moscow late Sunday night after an emergency immigration hearing decided that he was returning of his own free will and not Soviet pressure.

If Chebotaryev was truly a defector who later had a change of heart he likely will face a lengthy prison term on treason charges on his return to Russia, officials said.

But U.S. officials said they would be taking a hard, second look at the information he provided on the chance that he came here for the expressed purpose of confusing the American intelligence apparatus.

Chebotaryev defected to the United States Oct. 3 while he was listed as an "engineer." But American officials said he was known to be a major in the Russian Intelligence or GRU.

He had many conversations with government agents while in the United States, but officials declined to say what sort of information he passed on.

"Diplomatic and intelligence specialists said they could not imagine what prompted Chebotaryev to ask to return to Russia, if he were a true defector and knew what awaited him there.

If the Russian was a "plant" to try to confuse American intelligence agents, he is expected simply to slip into oblivion on his return to Russia rather than be tried as a traitor.

Chebotaryev had been in the United States since Oct. 7 on a provisional or "parole" basis. For most of the time, he had been staying in an apartment with an American intelligence expert.

On Dec. 23, he left the apartment, saying he was going for a walk. He did not return. The following day, Yuly M. Vorontsov, acting head of the Soviet embassy in the absence of the ambassador, informed the State Department the major wanted to return to Russia and his wife and children.

The emergency immigration hearing was then arranged for the airport in New York before the departure of an Aeroflot flight to Moscow at 11:20 p.m. EST.

Glass to grass

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Old jars and bottles salvaged for recycling are helping this bustling suburban community beautify one of its principal streets without cost to taxpayers.

Under a bottle reclamation program sponsored by member companies of the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute the town is crushing old jars and bottles collected by its citizens and selling the glass to a New England bottle manufacturer for use in the production of new glass containers.

Among other things, the proceeds will pay for covering three median strips on Connecticut Boulevard with "astroturf" — similar to the artificial grass first used by the Houston Oilers and other leading football teams.

30th birthday of Civil Air Patrol celebrated

RUPERT — The 30th Anniversary of the founding of Civil Air Patrol was celebrated by members of the Joe Engle Squadron of Aerospace Education at the Rupert Army.

The celebration was a combination Christmas party and awards banquet.

Col. George Falkner, commander of the Idaho Wing of CAP was a special guest and Maj. John Kober of the Engle Squadron was the official host.

After the buffet dinner Maj. Kober and Col. Falkner spoke briefly, acquainting guests with the purpose and working of the Civil Air Patrol and the cadet program which provides an opportunity to young people in the community for education in the aerospace field.

Col. Falkner also told of the work of the national CAP organization and that of the Idaho Wing. He said the Idaho network of communications has received outstanding recognition at the national level the past year.

The coveted Billy Mitchell award was presented to Karen L. Falkner. This award is recognized throughout the world as a high achievement, and is known to be of value to its recipients when they follow a career in the military.

Gary Rendall was advanced into officer range and will serve as supply and information officer in the Engle Squadron.

Others receiving awards were Cadets Jim Halston, Harvey Overland, Stan Russell and Gary Russell, all the Gen. J. S. Curry award; Cadets Arlen Woodbridge, Loren Smet and Steven Bill, all the Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold Achievement; Cadets Woodbridge and Smet both earned the Charles Lindbergh Achievement award.

Parents of the members and officers of the Civil Air Patrol were guests at the special event.

Ski comments become poetry

SUN VALLEY — Comments about skiing and apres skiing, gleaned from years of listening to skiers as they rode up Sun Valley's number two Warm Springs Chair Lift, form the basis of a book of poetry by Joe Clement.

Clement has been operating the lift for 17 years. During the last three or four years, he has gathered the comments, converted them into poetry and written them daily on a blackboard outside the lift shack.

About 30 of his favorite lines are contained in "Ski Lines from a Lift Shack" with illustrations by Max Harris.

Clement says about the book, "I was born and skiers were

Colonel Anderson was commissioned in 1943 through the aviation cadet program and has served 12 months in Vietnam.

His wife, Morney, is the daughter of W. E. Grosse, Shoshone.

California residents prosecuted

ELKO, Nev. — Two California residents have been prosecuted in U. S. Magistrate Court here for unauthorized motor vehicle use inside the Jarbidge Wilderness area.

Officials of the Humboldt National Forest said the violation occurred Aug. 31, 1971, witnessed by a Rev., Nov., couple who were camped at Emerald Lake and reported the incident to the U. S. Forest Service.

The men were summoned into court Dec. 13, but chose to pay a fine without a court hearing. They pleaded guilty to operating motor bikes within the wilderness area. The magistrate in the court said the actions of the two Californians were in direct violation of the Wilderness Act.

One War Ends

The shooting war between India and Pakistan ended after two weeks with the creation of a new nation in what was East Pakistan and now is an international charity case.

Bangla Desh, the Bengali nation, confronts a Pandora's Box of troubles and desperately needs foreign aid to avert starvation and economic chaos.

Pakistan faces reorganization of its government which has been a military dictatorship since March 25, 1969, when President Yahya Khan seized office.

On his way home "to pick up the pieces," Bhutto said President Nixon had reaffirmed U.S. support for the principle of Pakistan's unity and sovereignty.

Pakistan regards the "liberation" of East Pakistan as illegal. Bhutto said "India has forcefully occupied Pakistani territory and a lasting peace cannot be achieved if New Delhi fails to give back what it conquered."

However, Pakistan's primary problem is to reform its government and to maintain its sovereignty in the west.

Having gained its first objective by establishing Bangla Desh, India is not about to see East Pakistan rejoin the Pakistan nation, and Bangla Desh is busily striving to gain recognition from other nations and the U.N.

India's Indira Gandhi expressed hope for a "full peace" but said the decision was up to Pakistan.

Whatever the future holds for the teeming populations of the sub-continent, a long period of uneasiness is bound to ensue.

Soviet Russia is expected to seek naval bases in India as part of the price for its support in the war. Thus, Russia would gain a position on the flanks of Red China and leverage on control of the Indian Ocean.

The Third Grade

If you think teachers these days look younger and younger, it's not just that you are getting older and older. The profession is, indeed, growing younger -- at least the feminine part of it.

The median age of all public schoolteachers is now 35 years, almost six years younger than in 1961, according to a survey made by the National Education Assn.

That is, half of all teachers are older than 35 and half are younger.

The interesting thing is that women have accounted for almost the entire drop in median age, declining from 45.5 years in 1961 to 40 in 1966 and 37 in 1971.

Men teachers as a group have consistently stayed young: 33.6 years in 1961 and 33 years in 1965 and the same in 1971.

MR. SPECTATOR

Issue Of The Tissue

It was quite awhile back that we were all told that toilet tissue -- the color variety -- was no good to use because it was too difficult for the sewage disposal plant to grind up and in some cases would not even respond to treatment.

So, we remember, all people were asked to use white tissue.

But trying to buy white tissue is another thing. Finding it on the shelves of local grocery stores is a task. All the colors of the rainbow -- and many combinations -- are available and easily found but trying to find plain white tissue is like looking for the ship that never comes in.

What gives? Why the apparent discrimination against white tissue? Can it be the whole thing has become a difficult issue so now it is against something or other to feature white against any other color?

Perhaps we should go back to the "good old days" when mail order catalogs hung in all the out-houses.

We remember clearly the book on the subject which, we believe, was titled "Chick Sales." He was the fellow who built the things and his greatest success came when he built an eight-hole. The book's jacket picture was a drawing of Mr. Sales standing on a hill, looking down in the valley where the new eight-hole had been installed.

Our memory drifts, too, to the verse inside the book. Of all the scores of verses we used to know by heart, we can only recall one -- but it proves our point as it discusses the "tissue" issue which, in reality in those days, was a Montgomery-Ward catalog. It went something like this, speaking of the delivery and use of the catalog:

New Books out in January. You should get it New Year's day.

And you'll reach the harness section

Somewhere round the first of May.

Wherein, Mr. Spectator hopes that he has made a step forward in favor of white tissue... and that grocers will soon make it easy to find among the numerous hues of other tissues which, are told, are no good for our sewer disposal system!

THE ARMY GAME

Whether the United States Army succeeds in reaching its goal of an all-volunteer service on schedule or misses, it could set some kind of record for weekend guests with its latest promotional gimmick. Prospective recruits will be offered a free, three-day visit to Fort Jackson, S. C., next year.

While there they will sample the life of the modern soldier. Well, some of it anyway. There will be no participation in forced marches, infiltration courses or similar hazards, but the prospects will be given personal interviews and examinations.

They will be housed and dined by the Army and given guided tours to see the various jobs available, training facilities, swimming pools, bowling alleys and so on. Even their transportation to Fort Jackson will be on the Army.

At the end of the three days they will decide whether the Army life is for them. If not, they will be sent home.

If they like what they saw, preparations will be made for a longer stay. The accommodations may not be the most luxurious, but they are substantial. A three-day pass to the base under these conditions -- especially the guaranteed round-trip ticket -- will be a strong inducement.

WASHINGTON -- Having somewhat reluctantly agreed to dollar devaluation without getting as much in trade concessions as he would have liked, Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally is now privately urging a delay in asking Congressional approval until there is concrete progress on the trade question. This shows just how tough a bargainer Connally is. It also points up this dimly realized fact of life: although Connally's enormous success in pulling off the monetary agreement has properly flouted him in Washington, he was one of the last high in the Administration to accept the necessity of devaluation. Moreover, his activities of the last few months reveal what Connally does and does not care about it. He is intent on the very best bargain possible for the United States and is ever aware of isolationist sentiment at home. Of far less concern to him is the Western alliance's solidarity in the face of rising Soviet power. While that combination produced an unqualified U. S. success this time, these more internationally inclined are uneasy about the future.

Certainly, when President Nixon announced his New Economic Policy Aug. 25, neither he, Connally nor anybody else in the Administration had firmly charted a course ending with raising the dollar price of gold in return for upward revaluation of other currencies and new trade negotiations.

But as the scheduled Rome meeting of finance ministers from the ten richest Western countries near in mid-November; the Nixon administration's top financial officers became convinced that devaluation was essential. This was the view of Paul Volcker, the universally respected Under Secretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs. Peter Peterson, White House aide specializing in international economics, agreed. So did Henry Kissinger and everybody else in the Administration with two notable exceptions: Richard M. Nixon and John D. Connally.

They were concerned with possible adverse political effect at home in granting concessions to the Europeans -- and particularly to the French. As Mr. Nixon well knew, currency devaluation is habitually the recourse of a government in political trouble.

But in late November, financial advisers inside and outside the government, convinced the President and Connally that devaluation was a matter of self-interest. Deeply involved was New York economic consultant Pierre Rinfret, who has intimate contacts in both the Nixon administration and European financial circles.

The argument that was particularly telling for Connally was that the superficial French triumph in finally raising the price of gold by 10 per cent would be a most Pyrrhic victory. French citizens, who followed the advice of their government three years ago and hoarded gold actually would lose money, considering inflation and what they could have made in normal investments.

Thus, the U. S. decision to devalue was made prior to the Rome meeting, postponed to Dec. 1. Although at Rome Connally expressed shock over press reports of dollar devaluation, the truth was that those leaks resulted from feelers Connally himself had indirectly sent out to European central bankers.

There remained, however, disagreement over timing. Connally did not want to surrender the bargaining point of dollar devaluation until Japan, Canada and the Europeans had come around substantially on lowering their trade barriers. Finally, he accepted Volcker's advice and went for devaluation without getting as much in the way of trade concessions as he wanted.

Now anticipating trouble over trade questions (more from Japan and Canada than the Europeans), Connally is proposing that Congressional approval of devaluation not be sought until substantial progress on trade bargaining is assured. That would not delay the good effects from devaluation, but it would give Connally a way to continue his pressure on other Western powers.

He's Too Close

WASHINGTON -- In high Republican councils, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell says explosively "The man is too damned close." Across the political street, Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien says "He's a problem we've got to face."

In these private appraisals, both Mitchell and O'Brien are talking about Alabama's Gov. George Wallace, a Presidential possibility who couldn't win but who nevertheless is a threat to both major parties.

For, more than any other Presidential contender, Wallace clings to his support. Since November 1969, he has never failed to carry at least 10 per cent of the votes of those interviewed in all polls. His high point was last June, when he got 13 per cent of the Harris ballots.

He has now remained steady at 11 per cent since last September, after a 12 per cent score in August.

Meanwhile, the two leaders -- Nixon and Muskie -- have engaged in a see-saw battle for the straw vote since May of 1970. In September, the President led Muskie by 12 percentage points; last April Muskie had an eight-point lead.

In the latest (November) polling, Nixon led Muskie by 43 to 30 per cent.

It is this confused situation that worries Mitchell and O'Brien. While the voters show an almost pervasive indecisiveness toward the Republican and Democratic candidates, George Wallace hangs onto his solid bloc of faithful. Were the Presidential election to be held today, Wallace's supporters could swing it for either Nixon or his Democratic opponent.

Moreover, there is a good chance that Wallace will find himself in an even stronger position as the new year progresses. Relatively speaking, Wallace has no problems. All he has to do is maintain his posture. Nixon and the Democratic contenders, on the other hand, must be doing and saying things that could cost votes. Wallace has taken his stand. All the other candidates must keep reaffirming and taking stands on both old and new issues, and on center stage.

Nixon must get almost all American troops out of Vietnam. He must get inflation under control, while spending inflationary money to reduce unemployment. In Peking and Moscow he must gamble on falling flat on his face. Somehow, he must keep his Southern base while still pleasing Northern moderates

PAUL HARVEY

Crime, Cure

With the crime rate nationwide continuing to increase, another 7 per cent this year, when one city has reduced its crime rate --

When one city has reduced its crime rate a sudden, dramatic 27.9 per cent. We'd better take a look who and see how.

Have they found a "cure for crime" in Rockford, Ill.? We can sharp focus on what's happened because it's happened within one year.

In 1970 Rockford's crime rate declined a worthy but modest 2.9 per cent.

It was during the first half of 1971 that the good guys made the most gains. Burglaries declined from 711 to 498. Robberies from 80 to 64. Rapes from 4 to 0.

And this, remember, while the national crime rate was increasing another 7 per cent. Now -- how?

Ask Rockford's Police Chief Dalbert Poterogh, and he'll credit four factors in this order: A police force expanded by 22 additional men this year.

and liberals. He's got to keep the U. S. out of trouble in the Middle East and on the Indian subcontinent.

The Democratic candidates must please Big Labor, yet seek campaign contributions from fat-cat businessmen, especially those in the oil industry. They must take the initiative on social programs, while trying to pretend they won't cost too much money. They must fear the wrath of the tax-paying public if they are too solicitous about welfare recipients, and the fury of white parents -- and many black parents -- on the school busing issue.

community acceptance of and support for the uniformed men.

Because the community had to agree to finance the extra police and the extra training.

And when the lawmen were upgraded, civic pride prodded local courts to deal more expeditiously with criminals.

Indicative of this "pride," last Thanksgiving season local folks sponsored a Police Appreciation Dinner, hosting 160 officers and their wives.

And at that dinner was unveiled the model of a new City-County Public Safety Building, largely to be funded by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission.

Rockford is no "tank town"; it's Illinois' second city, population 150,000.

Yet lawmen have been relegated to the pedestal which was vacated during a generation of prooccupation with the rights of wrongdoers.

You've have the police chief's evaluation of cleanup factors. Ask around the city rooms or the city's news media they'll tell you that Chief Poterogh, himself, deserves most credit for the friction-free marriage between police efficiency and civil authority.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Nibbles

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had my intestinal problems diagnosed as spastic colitis, so I have to be careful of my choice of foods.

My problem now is that I am also a little overweight and would like to diet, but find it difficult as I am unable to eat the usual "diet nibblers" like celery, raw carrots, cucumbers, etc.

Could you suggest a few low-calorie foods which my system could tolerate? -- Mrs. R. N.

In such cases, many vegetables (and fruits) are tolerated if they are cooked, to soften the fibers, or are pureed.

The celery-carrots-cucumber grilling (and several other similar vegetables) is useful to help satisfy an habitual eater's craving to eat something. So try substituting some of these raw foods in cooked form. They may not be as much fun as crunchy celery, but give it a try.

Keep in mind that, when cooking or preparing them, you mustn't add anything that puts up the calories, such as butter, margarine or butter on the carrots, or adding sugar if you use cooked fruit.

Another tolerable item is cottage cheese, and this will be better for your purposes, of course, if you make sure you get some made not with whole milk but skim milk (lower in calories). Or a little skim milk can substitute for a "nibble". Or a clear broth, or a soup with the fat skimmed off.

For the sake of reducing, pay attention also to the little things that so often trap dieters. Spread the butter or margarine very thin; eat your eggs boiled or poached rather than fried, scrambled or as omelets. Avoid candy or frosting, of course, or sugar in coffee or tea. Say "No, thanks" when anybody passes the gravy. Use 2 per cent or skim milk instead of cream. Use low-calorie salad dressings.

You have a problem, I agree, in finding a way to fit both colitis and your weight problem, but it can be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please find 70 cents enclosed for two copies of the booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," to be sent to the two people on the enclosed addresses, stamped envelopes.

I sent for the booklet about nine months ago and have lost 20 pounds since then, and want to pass the advice along to others. -- F. E. F.

Rate increase request granted

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)— Mountain Fuel Supply Co. was granted permission by the Public Service Commission Monday to increase its natural gas rate, a total $1,164,033 annually, with most of the money to be spent developing new supplies.

The increase request had been fought by several other companies including Church and Dwight, Allied Chemical, Stauffer Chemical and FMC Corp. Church and Dwight officials earlier had protested to the PSC that Mountain Fuel recently told them it could not provide adequate natural gas for the firm's planned $7.5 million expansion.

Mountain Fuel sought a rate increase totaling $1,213,000 in Wyoming and $3,030,000 in Utah, where it is headquartered. The company said in its request it would use $2 million of the total requested rate hikes for drilling and exploration, primarily in the Southwestern Wyoming and the Powder River Basin of Northeastern Wyoming.

PSC members said the decision was "charting new ground in regulation of utility rates."

"The rate increases authorized are necessary if Mountain Fuel is to maintain adequate service, efficient operations, low cost in relation to other fuels, sufficient gas supplies and a reasonable return on its investment," said the PSC.

"We recognize the difficulty of providing for delivery to the system in Southwestern Wyoming of Mountain Fuel's well-head or separation gas produced with oil in the Powder River Basin in Campbell County."

Tool theft

TWIN FALLS — Theft of an electric saw, chain saw and two electric drills and possibly other tools from the Robert Colner farm west of Twin Falls was being investigated today by Twin Falls County sheriff's officers.

Officers said the Colner family is out of town. Employees said a shop building had been broken into Monday. They said the entry may have been made sometime since Saturday.

$10,000 sought

TWIN FALLS — An action filed in Fifth Judicial District Court on behalf of Doris Rutherford Hall and her four minor children seeks a declaratory determination from the court as to interest of parties in a $10,000 insurance policy.

Mrs. Hall was the wife of Damon Rutherford at the time of his death from a March 20, 1970, motorcycle accident. At the time he was employed by Young's Dairy and was making a delivery for the company and as a result was covered by workman's compensation.

The action names Young's Dairy and the Argonaut Insurance Co., carriers of the workmen's compensation insurance, as defendants. Attorney Lloyd Webb, representing the plaintiff, said a supreme court ruling has never established the proper division of insurance benefits in this type of case and the action filed on behalf of Mrs. Hall will probably go to the supreme court.

The case asks the court to determine who is entitled to the $10,000 insurance policy carried by Richard P. Hunt, driver of a vehicle which was making a left-

Home fire

TWIN FALLS — One truck from the Twin Falls City Fire Department was sent at 2:20 a.m. today to a house fire at 425 Fourth Ave. N.

Firemen said a couch in the home, occupied by the Newell Dickson family, caught fire. The children in the family, firemen said, carried the couch outside and leaned it against a wall, setting the outside wall afire. Firemen said damage was not extensive.

Resorts report holiday ski conditions good

TWIN FALLS — The weatherman is being kind to skiers during the holiday operation schedules of ski resorts.

All resorts are operating on a daily basis with bus service. All have now powder snow, and report sunshine and clear, cold weather.

Pomerelle lists 12 inches of new powder and Magic Mountain 10 inches after the Saturday night storm. Roads to both areas have been cleared but snow tires are required. Buses leave daily for the resorts. Skiing is reported excellent.

On the north side, Soldier Mountain, Sun Valley and Rotarun have several inches of new powder and cold, clear weather. Skiing is listed as good to excellent. Rotarun has night skiing from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Causes havoc

THIS WAS A common scene in some sections of Los Angeles on the fatal toll throughout the area, inundating numerous intersections, and causing havoc with drivers. This one falls out of a car and jumps from hood to hood as rising waters trapped him along with other drivers in an intersection. (UPI)

Magazine subscription sale causes important case for Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Lella Mourning, a 73-year-old Miami widow, made a down payment of $3.05 on some magazine subscriptions, she didn't dream she was setting in motion an important Supreme Court case.

Mrs. Mourning agreed to buy the periodicals after a telephone call from Family Publications Inc., followed up by solicitations at her home. But the printed contract did not mention, nor did she do enough arithmetic to realize, that the total price was $122.45.

She just agreed to pay $3.05 a month for 36 months.

When she realized the amount of money involved, she stopped payments and began receiving dunning letters. On April 23, 1970, the Legal Services Senior Citizens' Center filed suit on her behalf in Federal District Court in Miami.

The center invoked the 1968 Truth-in-Lending Act, which requires sellers to disclose finance charges, interest rates and total prices for goods paid for in more than four installments. The law was designed to protect ghetto dwellers and other persons likely to be swayed by the prospect of low monthly payments.

Federal District Court Judge William O. Mehrrens ordered Family Publications to pay Mrs. Mourning $100 as a penalty for failure to make things clear.

The company then took the case to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and won. That court said there was no finance charge as such involved in the case and that the Federal Reserve Board had overstepped itself in establishing the "four installment rule."

Mrs. Mourning, now represented by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund (LDF) has asked the Supreme Court to look at the situation. LDF recalled that Hubert L. Will of Chicago ruled the same way Mehrrens did in a similar case involving a sale of magazines by Premium Readers Service.

The 5th Circuit didn't even mention the Strompolos case, LDF said, although according to Will the facts "may well demonstrate why the four installment rule is not only sensible but also necessary."

Devastating bomb used

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force is using a bomb in Vietnam so devastating that "kills everything within a 3,280 foot radius," according to two scientists.

The scientists, speaking at an American Association for the Advancement of Science seminar here Monday, said the Air Force was "keeping quiet" about the bomb because "it is such a devastating weapon."

Dr. E.W. Pfeiffer of the University of Montana and Dr. Arthur H. Westing of Windham College in Putney, Vt. made the statements in a paper entitled "Impact of Modern Weapons Development on the Human Environment in Indochina."

The scientists reports that the bomb was originated for use to clear dense foliage in jungle areas so helicopters could make landings.

It is reportedly dropped by parachute from 15,000 feet, and when it explodes, it levels an area "about the size of a football field."

But the most devastating aspect of the bomb, according to the scientists, is the "concussive wave" that occurs when it is dropped.

They reported that they learned while in Vietnam that the bomb was being used "two or three times a week" against personnel, and said the report had been confirmed by a "high official in the U.S. Embassy in Saigon."

Pfeiffer and Westing said that most information about the bomb was not classified, but they quoted a senior officer from the Seventh Air Force who reportedly said, "It's such a devastating weapon we hate to give it much publicity."

Mayor Lindsay embarks on campaign in Miami

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay embarked Monday on his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination with an overnight visit to Miami to enter the Florida primary.

Lindsay, who was a Republican until he switched four months ago, will announce his candidacy for the March 14 Florida primary Tuesday morning, then fly to Madison, Wis., where he will make a similar announcement Wednesday concerning his entry in the April 14 Wisconsin primary race.

The 56-year-old mayor decided to act on his aspirations although recent polls of Democratic voters place him near the bottom of the list of preferences for the presidential nomination. He already has conceded the New Hampshire primary to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

If a mayor of New York should be successful in seeking higher office it would constitute an exception to one of the "oldest realities of American politics, going back over 300 years. None of Lindsay's 102 predecessors ever rose above the mayoralty.

Lindsay spent most of Sunday and Monday at Grace Mansion, his official residence, going over his presidential statement with his closest staff advisers. His spokesmen at City Hall refused to confirm officially his plans to enter the primaries, but they issued his travel plans through his return to New York Wednesday evening.

He was scheduled to leave the city by chartered plane for Miami Tuesday evening for a 10:30 a.m. EST press conference at Miami's Dupont Plaza Hotel. He will make several appearances in the Miami area during the day before flying to Madison in the evening.

He will hold his Madison news conference at the Wisconsin State Capitol Building and subsequent conferences at Eau Claire, and LaCrosse. He also will attend receptions in Cadott and Milwaukee, where he will be hosted by Mayor Henry Maier, who claims to be neutral in the primary.

City Hall sources said Lindsay chose to plunge into his campaign for the White House in Florida and Wisconsin because he concluded that Muskie had the New Hampshire March 7 primary race—the first in the nation—beaten up. Muskie is expected to make his declaration as a candidate for the nomination Jan. 4.

Muskie is generally considered the frontrunner in a crowded field which includes CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Mrs. Coleen Graley, 23, started nursing at Charleston Memorial Hospital early Monday when she walked into the emergency room holding her newborn infant son.

"Could you give me a hand, please? I've just had a son. Sorry, but I couldn't wait," said Mrs. Graley, who gave birth to the child in an ambulance en route to the hospital.

Both mother and son were doing fine.

Hope says talks encouraging

MADRID (UPI)—Comedian Bob Hope said Monday his talks with a North Vietnamese diplomat in Vientiane on the release of American prisoners of war were encouraging.

"And," he told a news conference, he has applied for a visa to visit Hanoi, but said his chances of getting the permit were slim.

"I asked for the visa to talk over the matter further with North Vietnamese officials and to see the prisoners, if possible," Hope said.

The comedian Thursday met with the First Secretary of the North Vietnamese embassy in Vientiane to propose the prisoners' release in exchange for money raised privately in the United States in a "children-to-children" campaign.

Hope said he did not mention a lump payment in the neighborhood of $10 million as reported, but offered to support the fund-raising campaign.

"I thought by raising funds through the work of American children for schools and hospitals for the Vietnamese there could be a possibility of gaining the release of the POWs," he said.

Hope held his news conference on the U.S. Air Base at Torrejon on the outskirts of Madrid after returning from a Christmas show for American sailors stationed at the U.S.

Naval Station of Rota in Southern Spain.

During it, he was asked whether he was optimistic about the prisoners of war being released.

"No," he replied. "But I am encouraged."

Hope said he made the proposal on his own initiative after receiving requests from families during his U.S. tours and indicated he was now awaiting developments.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 28, the 362nd day of 1971, with three to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full stage.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1833 Vice-President John Calhoun, at odds with President Andrew Jackson, resigned; the only time it has been done.

In 1889 members of the Knights of Labor observed the first Labor Day observance in American history.

In 1945 Congress officially recognized "The Pledge of Allegiance" to the American flag.

In 1968 Communist China touched off its fifth nuclear device.

A thought for the day: Plutarch said, "The whole life of man is but a point of time; let us enjoy it, therefore while it lasts, and not spend it to no purpose."

Chou seizing primary role as China leader

LONDON (UPI) — Premier Chou En-lai's influence on the changing political scene in China and his dramatic moves against his left-wing opponents have given qualified diplomatic sources reason to believe he now is the undisputed supreme political leader of the Chinese people.

Diplomats in Peking reported Chou's influence has been growing steadily since the collapse of the so-called cultural revolution in China.

In the velleid power struggle behind China's doors that only now are beginning to open slightly, Chou has emerged as the top leader since smothering the military-backed, left-wing alignment against negotiations with President Nixon. He is all but personally running China's political scene with the blessings of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, the diplomats reported.

With a free hand from Mao, Chou is turning Peking's course by 180 degrees, aiming at an early pike for China in the world concert of big nations and a strong front against Russia as the most dangerous potential enemy of the future.

At home, opponents have been silenced for the present. But it is by no means certain that they have been silenced for good, the reports said.

The diplomatic reports said the present state of affairs in Peking is the result of planned top level changes by Mao last summer and a subsequent dramatic purge to smother a developing dangerous opposition.

It all began, according to the sources, when Chou — with Mao's backing — made known that the National Assembly would meet Aug. 16 for a major revamping of the ruling machinery. One of the velleid aims was to whittle down the power of the military, which had been rising to the discomfort of those in supreme political power.

Moreover, party meetings in the Central Committee and on lower levels had reflected growing domestic uneasiness, highlighted by opposition to Mao's sudden policy switch which resulted in Peking's invitation to President Nixon.

Mao's deputy, Lin Biao, aligned himself with some of the so-called left-wing, opposing the policy switch, the reports said.

The opposition was smashed by a drastic purge which ended in the "physical elimination" of Lin, his wife and a number of military and party leaders, it said.

A report of a Chinese plane, allegedly carrying Lin and his associates on an escape flight to Russia, which crashed or was brought down in Mongolia, was said to have been publicized to strengthen the hand of the ruling regime in a clampdown on alleged pro-Soviet plotting inside China.

Since then, Chou has been growing stronger and stronger, taking China into the United Nations and generally pushing her participation in world affairs, with an increasingly firm anti-Soviet line — while not giving anything away to the United States or anybody else.

Red China expands aid to developing nations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Communist China made a bid for a greater role as an international power by enormously boosting its aid to less-developed countries in 1970 to a total of $779 million, a State Department study said today.

The department's Bureau of Intelligence and Research, said in a 45-page study that the $709 million represented 43 per cent of all the aid which China has extended since 1956. China apparently extended no significant aid in 1969 and only $56 million in 1968 while the turbulent cultural revolution was in progress.

By contrast, according to the report, the Soviet Union pledged only $204 million in aid in 1970 to nine recipient countries.

"This was the smallest annual Soviet commitment since 1962 and was less than one-third of the $682 million extended in 1969," the report said.

"The East European countries accounted for the remainder of the total Communist (aid extensions) in 1970 — $187 million. This amount represented a reduction of nearly 19 per cent from 1969 when $230 million was pledged," the report added.

The study said that Chinese aid was destined for seven countries.

Recreation plan trial planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department will test a new program next year under which farmers collecting subsidies to leave cropland idle will be offered extra payments if they allow free public hunting, hiking trapping or other recreation on their acres.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said that if the program works, it could lead to opening millions of acres of farmland for recreation across the nation.

In a statement announcing the "pilot" project, Butz said recreation-access contracts averaging about $300 a farm would be offered to about 5,000 farmers in 10 states — a total cost of $1.5 million.

The 1972 recreation program will operate in five counties in each of the 10 states — Colorado, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Michigan, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania and South Carolina. Selection of the counties will be made later by state authorities.

Farmers will be eligible for the contracts only if they have already enrolled in the 1972 "set aside" program which provides support subsidies in return for idling part of the farm's cropland in order to curb surpluses.

Art Gerity, Bureau resource area manager, said the development will improve the distribution of cattle over 9,000 acres of rangeland, bringing about a better balance of use. In addition, the storage distribution facilities will provide a dependable supply of stockwater in the event of failure of natural supplies.

The well in which the pump will be installed completed under a previous contract by Arnold Elsing of Twin Falls, is 385 feet deep with the water level at 230 feet. It produces about 25 gallons per minute.

BLM taking bids on water station

BOISE — The Boise district office of the Bureau of Land Management will accept bids for construction of a stockwater development in Owyhee County until Jan. 11, 1972.

The development, to be known as the Ant Hill Pumping Station, will be located about 35 miles southwest of Grand View and a mile west of Deep Creek Road. It will include a submersible pump in an existing well, construction of a generator plant including a metal generator building, and the erection of a 50,000-gallon water-storage tank.

Total costs are estimated to be more than $25,000.

Computer checks driver offenses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A note of caution for the holiday partygoer: A computer which adds an average of 3,000 new names a day is making it easier for the states to deny licenses to drivers convicted of serious offenses, particularly drunken driving.

Known as the National Driver Register Service, the computer operated by the Transportation Department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration now contains the names of more than 3 million drivers.

The idea is to help state motor vehicle agencies decide when they should deny licenses by providing information on a driver's past record, no matter where he lived.

The federal government does not rule on license applications since the licensing of drivers is controlled by the states. But state officials have made some 90 million requests for a search of the computer records on drivers in the 10 years the computer has been in use.

Safety officials say these searches have turned up more than 870,000 drivers whose names were on the computer's list of license denials or revocations.

Before the computer began operating, a state official had no way of checking whether an applicant had lost his license in another state.

There is no mandatory requirement that a state participate in the computer listing service, but all 50 states now submit the names of drivers whose licenses have either been revoked or their application denied.

In October, officials said states requested a record 77,000 searches every day from the computer.

Wendell blaze hits warehouse

WENDELL — About $5,000 damage resulted from a fire at the Ambrose Potato Warehouse here Monday morning.

Wendell Fire Chief George Wahler said the blaze, which broke out about 11:25 a.m. Monday, started around a ventilator and it is believed defective wiring was the cause. He said firemen, with the help of employees from several other businesses, were able to bring the blaze under control in about 30 minutes, with damage confined to the center roof section and water damage to part of the 65,000 sacks of potatoes stored there.

Employees from the Idaho Power mobile line crew, Bradshaw Honey plant as well as the Ambrose warehouse assisted firemen.

The potatoes are owned by Ishmael Scott and officials said it will be several days before extent of the water damage can be determined.

Rupert woman dead in coast accident

TWIN FALLS — Idaho was one of two states which came through the holiday weekend without a traffic death, but several persons were critically injured and at least one Idahoan was killed in an out-of-state wreck over the weekend.

Dead is Mrs. Leota Bigley, 59, Rupert. She, her son, Richard J. Blahop 34, and granddaughter, Linda, 12, both Fallbrook, Calif. were all killed when their vehicle collided with another near Oceanside, Calif. Police arrested the driver of the other car, Clarence Dams, 59, Oceanside, on a charge of drunken driving. Seriously injured in the accident were Bishop's wife, Alice, and his niece, Lorrie Blahop, 11, Burley.

Occupants of the other car received only minor injuries. An 8-year-old Rupert boy injured Sunday night in a collision south of Rupert is in critical condition at St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise. Brent Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vaughn, was flown by air ambulance to Boise following the collision. The child was riding in a car driven by his father which collided with a vehicle driven by Kenneth Kowtz, 23, Rupert, which apparently went through a stop sign. The child was the only one seriously injured. Two Twin Falls teenagers injured Sunday night in an accident north of the Perrine Memorial Bridge remain in critical condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Diédrian Denney, 15, and Robert Olmstead, 17, were among four young people in a car which skidded on ice, turned broadside and collided with a north-bound vehicle driven by Dr. Bernard P. Struth, 52, Boise.

Also hospitalized is Kevin Nelson, 17, Twin Falls, driver of the car. He is listed in fair condition today. A third passenger, Terry Fischer, was treated and released as were Dr. Struth, his wife and daughter. Maine was only other state in the nation to remain fatality-free over the long weekend. Nation-wide traffic accidents accounted for 646 lives lost in the 78-hour period, 25 more than anticipated by the National Safety Council. Another 83 were killed in fires, 10 in plane crashes and 33 in other accidents. The council estimates between 400 and 500 people will be killed during the New Year's weekend.

Luck, sanity get credit for record

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for the Idaho State Police says the no-fatality record for the Christmas holiday weekend was due to "luck, sanity and a working trooper force." Idaho, Maine and the District of Columbia were the only areas in the United States which reported no traffic deaths over the long weekend, according to a nationwide survey by UPI. Inspector with the state police, Capt. M. J. Bays Jr., said this was the second consecutive Christmas holiday weekend that no traffic fatalities occurred. He said, "I guess we're just lucky. We have every available man working. I don't know if that prevented fatalities, but we like to think so."

Retiring doctor feted by chamber

BY GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Writer
BURLEY — Dr. Charles A. Terhune, who probably helped deliver about 4,000 new Mini-Casals citizens into the world and is retiring after 36 years of medical practice, was honored Monday afternoon by the Burley Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Terhune told chamber members he plans to continue making Burley his home but he and his wife plan to "get away" from the telephone for about three months, going to San Diego, Calif. A graduate of Burley High School in 1924, Dr. Terhune attended the University of Idaho, graduating in 1930. He completed his education at Northwestern University, Chicago, in 1933. After internship in Seattle and six months' residency there, he returned to the Burley area where he has since practiced.

Dr. Terhune and several other area doctors purchased and operated the Cottage Hospital here, closing it after the present Cassia Memorial Hospital was built by the county. Charles Hendricks, chamber program chairman, introduced the honored guest at the Monday luncheon meeting. He said Dr. Terhune has been busy in the past 36 years, caring for about 20 persons a day, delivering about two and one half babies per week or about 4,000 during his practice here. "We need more doctors in the Burley area, and at the present time could use about six more to meet community needs," the doctor told chamber members. Instrumental in bringing new doctors into the area in past years, the doctor said letters are now out to medical students who are completing their training.

"We are inviting many of the outstanding students to join the medical staff of our hospital," he said. A long time member of the Burley Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Terhune has served on the industrial committee, assisting new industry in locating in the county and has been an active member of the Cassia Memorial Hospital medical staff since the hospital opened. He said he and his wife plan to continue their interest in the community and to assist in all worthwhile community programs possible. "One of the greatest needs in our community is education on drug use. We also need a mental health center in this area," he said. The retiring doctor was presented a barometer as a gift from the chamber of commerce. Mayor Garis Robertson made the presentation.

Call free

BOISE — Now you can get federal tax and wage-price-control information by centralized, toll-free telephone service. Calvin E. Wright, Internal Revenue Service director for Idaho, said all calls to IRS offices in Idaho now are answered in the Boise headquarters office by a staff of specially trained information personnel. The new statewide IRS phone number is 800-632-5990, except for Boise where the new number is 343-6446.

Chamber asked to aid highway

HAILEY — Support for the Yellowstone-to-the-Redwoods Highway Association was asked during the meeting of the Hailey Chamber of Commerce Monday. Leo Stavros, chamber member, said "Hailey should get more active" in the project. He said it will "draw some tourists we've never seen before and tourism is the biggest industry we've got here." The group supports returning the road between Inland Park and Dubois to the state highway system and redesignating Idaho Highway 68 as U. S. Highway 20, Stavros said. He said the planned route for the highway would include Yellowstone, Craters of the Moon, Boise, Crater Lake National Park in Oregon, and Crescent City, Calif. The proposed highway would cross Blaine County at Tormet

Hill, located at the Butte and Blaine County line, and would go west to the Camas line. The chamber recommended that Stavros continue to attend the association meetings. In other action Ann Dunn, owner of the Sage Shop, announced plans to remodel the exterior of the building to conform with a western theme. The chamber adopted a "western look" for Hailey businesses this past spring, asking owners to incorporate the theme when they build or remodel. Mrs. Dunn said exterior paint will be sandblasted off, exposing the original brick. Metal trim will be painted and a leaded glass effect will be used for the windows. Remodeling will start in February, depending on the weather, she said.

Finance sessions set

TWIN FALLS — The joint legislative Finance and Appropriations Committee will meet in split morning sessions beginning Jan. 4, "to get off to a running start," according to Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman. High said approximately 150 finance bills are written during each legislative session, and the split sessions will be used to facilitate the hearing of appropriation requests involving relatively small amounts of funds or minor changes in program. As in past years, the joint committee will convene as a whole during the afternoon to hear major requests for state money. The second session of the 41st Legislature will convene at noon, Monday, Jan. 10. It will recess half an hour later, before hearing an address by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus at 2 p.m.

High said the decision to go into split sessions was an attempt to shorten the length of the session. The state legislative fiscal officer, John Anderson, has already heard requests from dedicated fund and smaller general fund agencies in an attempt to shorten the time the committee will have to operate. On the first day, High said, half the committee will hear from the Nuclear Energy Commission, the Blind Commission and the Western Interstate Commission For Higher Education. The other half of the group will meet with representatives from the Manpower Development Training Act, Vocational Rehabilitation, the Lava Hot Springs Foundation and the Horse Racing Commission. The committee is co-chaired by Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malad.

planned to restore jet service to 20 cities starting Dec. 20, following a five-day shutdown because of the mechanics' strike. The Hughes executive said the mechanics struck without giving the traditional 72-hour notice. After the pilots' "no show" was established, the airline cut schedules to six communities on Dec. 23 with non-union supervisory officials serving as crew members.

Hughes Airwest pilots' refusal deprives 2,000

TWIN FALLS — Nearly 2,000 Idaho air travelers have been inconvenienced or deprived of holiday air trips because pilots refused to comply with a federal court order to return to work, an official of Hughes Airwest said today. Lewiston and Twin Falls were included in a partial schedule when the pilots' union (Airline Pilots' Association) assured airline officials its members would work. "We've done everything possible to provide air service to Lewiston and Twin Falls," Irving Tague, vice-president and general manager of Hughes Airwest told the Times-News. "But when pilots refused to show up for work we had to cut schedules further." He said that Airwest had Pedersen's vehicle had left the lane of traffic and collided with two parked vehicles owned by Gregory Monk and Earl Brown. Officers estimated total damage at about $150. Coroner Cloyce Edwards said it is believed the man died of a heart attack, but ordered an autopsy. He said there would be no inquest.

In the meantime, the official said, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals continued until Jan. 8 further hearings on the order for contempt against the pilots association. It also extended the restraining order of Dec. 18 to Jan. 6. "At the request of the National Mediation Board, airline representatives will be meeting in Washington today to discuss the labor dispute," Tague said.

'Daylight time' caused by outage

TWIN FALLS — If you were late to church Sunday morning, you had plenty of company. A good many Magic Valley citizens unknowingly went on "daylight saving time." It seemed, as clocks were off by as much as 90 minutes Sunday morning, Saturday night's fast-moving snowstorm dropped power lines in the area from Buhl to Oakley, cutting electric power and stopping clocks and furnaces.

The heavy, wet snow, accompanied in several areas including Oakley by strong gusty winds, piled up on power lines and insulators, snapping cables, shorting fuses and tripping circuit breakers, according to the Idaho Power Co. Linemen quickly restored service in most instances, and no reports of lengthy outages were received.

Autopsy performed

TWIN FALLS — An autopsy was being performed this morning to determine the cause of death of a 65-year-old man who was dead at the scene of a minor accident Monday evening in Twin Falls. Twin Falls Police said Walter Knud Pedersen, Twin Falls, was dead when they arrived at the accident on Second Avenue North just prior to 6 p.m.

Pedersen's vehicle had left the lane of traffic and collided with two parked vehicles owned by Gregory Monk and Earl Brown. Officers estimated total damage at about $150. Coroner Cloyce Edwards said it is believed the man died of a heart attack, but ordered an autopsy. He said there would be no inquest.

School aide quits

RUPERT — Minidoka County School Transportation Director Dale Trantham is leaving his post at the end of the year, school officials said Monday. Trantham, who has served in that job for the past five years, will be replaced temporarily by Thomas George. Dr. Darrell Hatfield, school superintendent, said a search is in progress for a full-time replacement for Trantham. George is one of those being considered for the position, he said.

Placed on probation

TWIN FALLS — Betty Helnecke was placed on probation for two years Monday afternoon when she appeared before Judge James M. Cunningham in Fifth Judicial District Court for a review of charges of issuing a check with insufficient funds. She was returned from the Idaho State Penitentiary where she had been sentenced to not more than three years on the charge. She was placed on probation to the Colorado State Board of Corrections.

Holiday tour

GUIDE FOR an imaginary tour of Holland was Mrs. Elizabeth Werner during the Burley Music Club's annual Christmas program. The country was one of several "visited" for an explanation of holiday customs.

Holiday "tour" taken by club

BURLEY — The Burley Music Club held its annual Christmas meeting at the KOA recreation room, DeLoe, and Mrs. Tom Brady served as tour guide for Christmas customs from other countries.

Mrs. Walter Petersen handed out the tickets. France was the first stop with Mrs. Elden Wood discussing customs. She introduced Anne Schorzman and Susan Larson, who sang several selections in French. In France Christmas includes the visit of San Nicholas on Dec. 6 so the giving of gifts and the birth of the Savior on Dec. 25 are separated.

On Dec. 24 the French make excursions into the woods to find boughs and small Christmas trees to bring home for decorating. Clusters of mistletoe also are gathered and gifts are opened on Christmas eve. "Christmas in France is happy, fun, and traditional," according to Mrs. Wood.

The next stop was Denmark and Mrs. G. A. Steiner was the tour guide. "Christmas takes longer in Denmark for activities and preparations begin about two months in advance of the celebration date," said Mrs. Steiner. Preparing treats of all kinds takes as much time as do cleaning and decorating. On Christmas eve children place their slippers on the window and Santa Claus' helper fills them with candy. The Christmas tree is decorated on Christmas eve, usually by the father and in the bedroom, and kept hidden from the children until after Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Elizabeth Werner was the tour guide in Holland. Gift giving and Santa Claus are divorced from the Christmas celebration with the custom of observing the birthday of St. Nicholas, a Catholic bishop. St. Nicholas is a kindly man who loves children, has a long white beard, carries a bishop's staff and wears a mitred hat. He rides a white horse and is accompanied by a black Moorish servant, Black Peter, who carries a sack of toys on one shoulder for the good children and a stick for those who have been naughty.

Children put food out for St. Nicholas' horse in wooden shoes. After gift giving on Dec. 6 the celebration of the Birth of Jesus takes on a solemn, calm and kindly note.

On Christmas eve the trees are decorated and religious songs are sung. The hanging of the star on the top of the tree marks the official beginning of Christmas. In Holland Christmas concludes with the arrival of the Wise Men on Jan. 6 and the placing of the three kings by the holiday creche.

The final stop was Germany and Austria. Tour guide was Robert Thompson who was assisted by Mary Ann Kock, exchange student from Salzburg, Austria, in telling the story of Silent Night, the Hymn of the Month, Thompson, who is the German teacher at Burley High School, said the first candles were placed on a Christmas tree by Martin Luther, who first decorated a tree for his 13 children.

The afternoon concluded with treats of the countries visited served by Mrs. Don Norton, Mrs. DeVal Butters and Mrs. LaMar Nielsen.

A business meeting was held by Mrs. J. W. Young, president. It was reported that funds from the dinner-dance will be used mostly to provide scholarships to music camps for Burley High School students next summer. Mrs. Charles Peugh and Mrs. Gary Lee were co-chairmen of the dinner-dance.

In other business members voted to increase dues and amend the bylaws.

Mrs. Young said the Burley Music Club received two three-ribbon awards, the highest offered from the National Federation of Music Clubs for the local group's participation in Music Week activities last May.

Correspondence from Mrs. Clifford Mullikin, state president, called for special Founder's Day ceremonies each January. The Burley Club will observe the founding of the organization 74 years ago during the White Breakfast planned for Jan. 17. Each member is asked to donate 74 cents in honor of the birthday of the National Federation of Music Clubs and the funds will be sent to the national general fund.

Mrs. Neva Siebert was elected historian and Mrs. Dennis Powers was elected Music Week chairman. They are replacing Mrs. Gary Lee and Mrs. Lurle Kohtz who both recently resigned. The nominating committee elected was Mrs. Don Norton, chairman, Mrs. Gerald Marchant and Mrs. Elton Hatch. They will report at the April meeting.

Arizona State drops Seminoles in Fiesta Bowl

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI)—Halfback Woody Green scored his third touchdown with 34 seconds remaining in the game Monday to give sixth-ranked Arizona State a 45-38 win over a stubborn Florida State in the first annual Fiesta Bowl.

Green plunged over from the two to climax a 58-yard drive after the Sun Devils had taken the kickoff following a 90-second scoring outburst by both teams.

A capacity crowd of 52,089 saw the teams battle to a 31-31 tie until the six minute mark. Then Steve Holden sprinted 68 yards on a punt return to put the Devils ahead 38-31.

Florida State came right back, scoring on a 24 yard pass play from Gary Huff to Rhett Dawson to tie it up again.

That set the stage for the final ASU—scoring—drive.—Florida State had one more chance but was forced to surrender the ball on downs with three seconds left.

Despite reputations as high-scoring second half teams, neither Florida State nor Arizona State was able to convert crucial situations during much of the second half. The Sun Devils, trailing 28-21 at the half, got a 34-yard field goal from Don Ekstrand midway in the third period and a two yard touchdown run from Green, ending a 45-yard drive late in the third quarter.

A 42-yard field goal by Florida State's Frank Pontez, his third of the game, two minutes into the fourth period tied the score at 31-31.

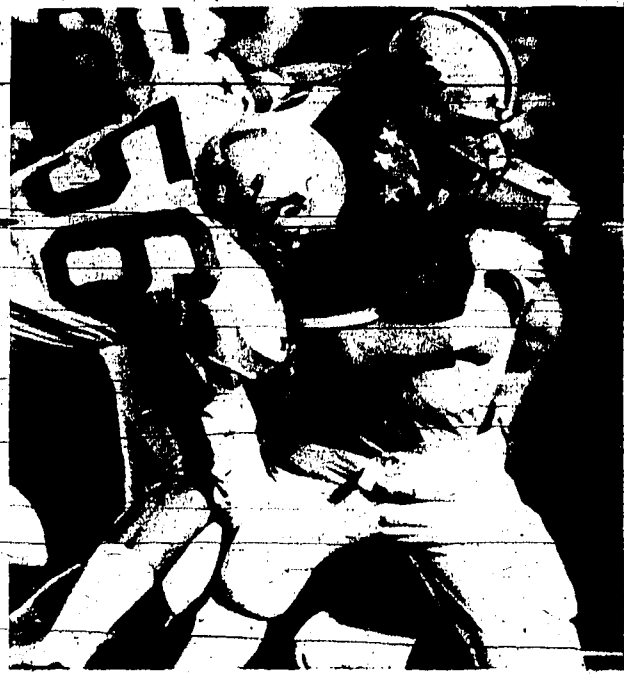

The Seminoles' halftime advantage came with 11 seconds remaining, on a 10 yard pass from Huff to Dawson, climaxing a 78-yard drive in which the big play was a 46 yard aerial from Huff to Kent Gnydos.

The Seminoles had lost the lead only 38 seconds before when a 55 yard pass from Danny White to Holden dandlocked the score at 21-21.

Huff, the nation's total offense leader during the season, connected on 25 of 46 pass attempts for 347 yards and two touchdowns for the 19th ranked Seminoles. ASU's White completed 15 of 30 for 250 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Dawson and Harry Smith each had eight catches for Florida State, three of Dawson's for touchdowns.

Green was the game's leading rusher, picking up 101 yards on 24 carries as well as three TDs.

Huff and Arizona State defensive end Junior Ah You were named the Most Valuable Players of the game. Ah You, awarded the lineman trophy, was credited with two unassisted tackles, five assisted tackles and three tackles for losses.

Miami, Kansas City dominate picks for AFC all-star team

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins and the Kansas City Chiefs, who tied for most victories in the American Football Conference this season, dominate the 1971 AFC All-Star team as selected by the United Press International.

The Dolphins, who captured the Eastern Division with a 10-3 record, named six players to the all-conference first team while the Chiefs, who won the Western Division with an identical record, placed five on the first unit. It marked quite a turnaround for the Dolphins, who did not have a single player named to the 1970 squad.

Miami had four players selected to the offensive unit and two to the defensive squad in a ballotting conducted of 33 sports writers who cover the AFC on a regular basis—at least two writers from each AFC city.

Those Dolphins selected to the offensive team were wide receiver Paul Warfield, quarterback Bob Griese, running back Larry Csonka and guard Larry Little. Named to the defensive team were end Bill Stanfill and safety Jake Scott.

The Chiefs placed two men on the offensive unit and three on the defensive squad. Wide receiver Ollie Taylor and tackle Jim Tyrer were selected to the offensive team and middle linebacker Willie Lanier, linebacker Bobby Bell and cornerback Jim Marsalis were chosen to the defensive unit.

Tyrer, Lanier, Bell and Marsalis are all repeat selections from a year ago. It marks the seventh straight selection to the all-AFC team for Bell and the fourth year in a row for Tyrer, who has been an All-Conference choice on six occasions overall.

The Baltimore Colts, runners-up to Miami in the Eastern Division, had three players named to the first team while Houston, New York, Oakland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Denver, Cleveland and San Diego each had one player selected.

The Colts named center Bill Curry to the offensive team and placed linebacker Ted Hendricks and end Bubba Smith on the defensive unit. Curry's selection at center snaps a 10-year dominance of that position by Oakland's Jim Otto.

Other players named to the offensive team were tight end Mill Morin of Cleveland, tackle Winston Hill of New York, guard Walt Sweeney of San Diego and running back Floyd Little of Denver. It is Little's third consecutive year on the All-AFC first team.

The defensive unit is rounded out by tackles Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and Mike Reid of Cincinnati, cornerback Willie Brown of Oakland and safety Ken Houston of Houston. Brown is a member of the All-Conference team for the fourth successive year and fifth time in his illustrious career.

Kansas City and Baltimore head the list of second team selections with five each. The Chiefs placed guard Ed Budde and quarterback Len Dawson on the second team's offensive unit and end Aaron Brown, tackle Buck Buchanan and cornerback Emrill Thomas on the defensive squad.

Baltimore named tackle Bob Vogel and running back Norm Bulach to the offensive team and middle linebacker Mike Curtis and safeties Rick Volk and Jerry Logan to the defensive unit.

Other second team selections on offense were wide receivers Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland and Gary Garrison of San Diego; tackle Bob Brown of Oakland; guard Gene Upshaw of Oakland; center Bob DeMarco of Miami; tight end Ray Chester of Oakland and running back Leroy Kelly of Cleveland.

Named to the second team defensive squad were: end Elvin Bethea of Houston, tackle Manny Fernandez of Miami, linebackers Larry Grantham of New York and Ron Pritchard of Houston and cornerback Earle Thomas of New York.

Low score is seen for Orange Bowl

MIAMI (UPI)—Bob Devaney of Nebraska and Alabama's Paul "Bear" Bryant, coaches of the nation's one-two college football teams, agreed Monday that their tough defenses may mean a low scoring game in the Orange Bowl Saturday night.

"The defenses enter into this game a great deal—Alabama has the best defense we have seen, and Nebraska has a good defense, too," Devaney said at a news conference he shared with Bryant.

"It is hard to predict a high scoring game," said Devaney.

Both teams held long workouts Monday to prepare for the 38th annual playing of the classic in the Orange Bowl Saturday night. Nebraska finished the regular season rated No. 1 nationally and Alabama was second.

"If there was any tipoff of strategy for the game, it may have come when Bryant was discussing the talents of his All-American running back Johnny Musso."

"Running is the poorest thing he does... he's the complete football player," said the Nebraska coach. "Of course, we've changed our pass defense some, I hope for the better."

Nebraska beat Oklahoma, but the Sooners found they could punch holes in the Cornhusker defense with their passing attack.

Devaney said the Alabama version of the wishbone T offense is similar to Oklahoma's attack. But he said Alabama is more versatile in running the wishbone and will present the Nebraska defense with more variety.

Bryant agreed, saying that Oklahoma ran the triple option as much as 80 per cent of the time, whereas Alabama doesn't have the talent to do this.

"During the season, we always felt we could go out and score 30 to 35 points," Devaney said. "We don't feel the same way this time—Alabama's the finest defensive club we've met."

"The last time we played them, we went home and hid for a month," Devaney said.

Nebraska has never beaten the Tide. The last time the teams met was in the 1968 Orange Bowl, when Bryant's team carried off a 39-28 victory.

Bryant was asked at the news conference if he had any aspirations of coaching a professional team, and he answered, "No way."

"I will fold mine up right where I am," Bryant said.

Other second team selections on offense were: wide receivers Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland and Gary Garrison of San Diego; tackle Bob Brown of Oakland; guard Gene Upshaw of Oakland; center Bob DeMarco of Miami; tight end Ray Chester of Oakland and running back Leroy Kelly of Cleveland.

Named to the second team defensive squad were: end Elvin Bethea of Houston, tackle Manny Fernandez of Miami, linebackers Larry Grantham of New York and Ron Pritchard of Houston and cornerback Earle Thomas of New York.

Providence dumps Penn State 81-65

NEW YORK (UPI)—Marvin Barnes, one of the East's outstanding sophomores, and Ernie DiGregorio, a slick ball-handling guard, combined for 47 points Monday night to spark Providence to an 81-65 victory over Penn St. in the final opening round game of the 20th annual ECAC Holiday Festival basketball tournament.

The Friars' victory, their fifth in six starts this season, enabled them to join Louisville, Fordham and St. Peter's in Tuesday night's semi-finals. Providence will meet Fordham and Louisville will face St. Peter's.

Louisville, ranked 16th in the nation, gained the semis in the first game of the Monday night doubleheader by crushing Syracuse, 103-81, behind the 26-point effort of All-America candidate Jim Price.

In an afternoon doubleheader, Fordham used a harassing full-court press to perfection and got a career high of 28 points from George Zambetti to defeat Utah, 74-67, while St. Peter's upset Duke 77-74, for its first victory of the season on Ted Martinuk's two free throws with four seconds left.

Providence never trailed against Penn St. as the Friars scored the games first eight points and built a 39-32 lead at halftime. DiGregorio, who controlled the Friars' offense with his dribbling and passing, scored 14 of his game-high 24 points in the first half while Barnes, a 6-foot-8 center, tallied 12 in the first half and added 11 more in the final 20 minutes.

Barnes also was a workhorse off the boards and an intimidating force on defense as he battled down at least a half-dozen shots and took away Penn State's inside game.

Penn St., forced to shoot mostly from outside, was paced by Bob Fritsch with 17 points and Ron Brown with 16.

Louisville, which has changed its style under new head coach Denny Crum, employed a full-court zone press throughout the entire contest and were down the underdog Orangemen in the second half after Syracuse had played the Cardinals fairly even during the first 20 minutes.

The Cardinals' full-court press force Syracuse into 13 turnovers in the first half as Louisville built a 17-point lead at one stage only to have the Orangemen battle back behind the shooting of guard Greg Kohls to within six points, 52-46, at intermission. However, Louisville's veteran lineup, which includes all five starters from last year's team, broke the game open in the first two minutes of the second half as it out-scored the Orangemen, 9-2, to take a 61-48 lead.

The closest Syracuse could come after that outburst was nine points as Price and Ron Thomas connected consistently to give the Cardinals a big cushion.

Thomas contributed 18 points and Al Vilechek added 17 to the Louisville attack. Kohls, Syracuse's one-man offensive attack, led all scorers with 34 points.

Last-second shot lets Marshall beat Badgers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Marshall University pulled out last-second win Monday night on a 25-foot jump shot by Mike D'Antonio to give the Thundering Herd an 85-83 win over the University of Wisconsin in the opening game of the 10th annual Milwaukee Classic.

The second-ranked Marquette Warriors met Georgetown University in the second game. The Badgers surprised the Thundering Herd by taking a 41-31 halftime lead. But Marshall recovered and finally tied the score at 60-60 with 9:51 left to play.

Wisconsin then came back and held a 78-89 lead when Marshall made its move.

A three-point play by Randy Noll tied the score at 63-63 with 1:31 left. Wisconsin then lost the ball to Marshall and the Herd operated a stall until there were only 22 seconds left.

After a timeout, Marshall tried to break loose for a shot and finally D'Antonio sank one from the top of the key to make it 85-83 with only three seconds to play.

The win continued Marshall's unbeaten string this season, giving them an 8-0 mark. Wisconsin is now 6-2 on the year.

Austin Carr will return next month

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Cavaliers said Monday they expected their star rookie Austin Carr to return to action late next month.

A spokesman for the team said Carr went to New York Monday with Cavs owner Nick Mileti for an examination of Carr's injured right foot by orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Nicholas.

Nicholas said the pain in Carr's foot, which was broken in training camp Sept. 18, did not stem from a new fracture, but to unnatural pressure from the right leg, which became weak while Carr's foot was mending.

He prescribed a three-week program of exercise and therapy plus a special basketball shoe for the former Notre Dame star.

South scores late TD to edge North 7-6 in Shrine contest

MIAMI (UPI)—The South team held the football long enough for a pounding 54-yard touchdown drive by running backs Tommy Durrance and Curt Watson in the final period to take a 7-6 victory over the North in the annual Shrine College All-Star game Monday night.

Durrance, a running star for the Florida Gators, smashed over his right tackle from the one-yard line for the score that tied the game with 6:50 left on the clock. Tennessee's Bobby Majors booted a perfect extra point for the victory.

Until that time, it was a raggedly played contest before a slim crowd of 18,640 in the cavernous Orange Bowl.

The two teams produced 9 turnovers, three fumbles and six pass interceptions, which effectively halted any offensive spectacular.

The North scored first, 12 minutes into the second period, after Notre Dame's Steve Thomann covered a fumble by South quarterback Gordon "Scooter" Longstre of Utah at the South 27.

A fourth-down pass of one yard from Northwestern's Murray Dalgneau to Bob Richardson to Iowa State netted the touchdown but Ernie Jackson of Duke broke through the block the conversion kick by Stan White of Ohio State.

The South made one threat in the first half, when the Rebels went 56 yards to the North 10. But Bill Armstrong of Delaware shut off the march by intercepting a pass thrown by Arkansas State's James Hamilton.

Kentucky linebacker Joe Federapfel stopped a North drive just before halftime with the first of his two interceptions of Dalgneau passes. Federapfel won the most valuable player award for the South, and Keith Schroeder of Iowa State won the North MVP title.

The South victory ended a string of North wins at five in this 28-year-old series and gave the South a 12-11-1 edge in the college matches. The first two games of the series were between high school teams.

The North's short touchdown drive produced the only razzle-dazzle and dispute. On the first play, quarterback Dean Carlson of Iowa State interlarded to quarterback Dalgneau—both in the game at the same time—who threw an 11-yard back to Carlson. Two plays later, Bruce Laird of American Institute College ran 12 yards to a first down at the South four, and fumbled, but officials ruled the ball was dead before. Majors recovered it, and that put the North in position to score four plays later.

Tar Heels belt Harvard

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—North Carolina center Robert McAdoo scored 28 points in a 96-78 Tar Heel runaway victory over Harvard before 11,402 Monday night.

The Tar Heels set the tone of the game early, in the first period with McAdoo and Bobby Jones combining for nine of the Tar Heels' first 11 points.

Jim Fitzsimmons of Harvard, the game's leading scorer with 32 points, helped keep the disorganized Crimson hopes alive through the first half on strong outside shooting. Harvard, down by as much as 13 points in the early stages of the game, closed the gap to a six-point deficit at 45-39 at the half.

The second half belonged to UNC, however, as the Tar Heels held Harvard scoreless for five minutes after an opening 24-footer by Fitzsimmons.

Villanova wins in Quaker City tourney

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Every Villanova starter scored at least 14 points as the Wildcats defeated Massachusetts 100-83 in the final opening round game of the ECAC Quaker City Tournament Monday night.

In earlier games, Boston College squeezed by La Salle 62-61, third-ranked South Carolina beat Fairleigh 67-69 and Tennessee edged Manhattan 76-70. Villanova meets Tennessee and Villanova—challenger—South Carolina in Tuesday's semifinals.

Villanova had a 57-36 lead at halftime and its largest margin came early in the second half when they gained a 20-point advantage.

Massachusetts battled back twice to within nine points, but the Wildcats had too much scoring power.

Tom Ingelsby led Villanova with 25 points while Chris Ford was next with 22. Rich Vogeley was high for Massachusetts with 18 points while Al Skinner had 17.

Boston College gained its uphill victory over La Salle on Bob Smith's jump shot with seven seconds remaining.

Boston trailed 52-42 with 6:50 remaining, but held La Salle without a field goal for the rest of the game. Jim McElgin set the stage for Smith's winning shot by making two free throws with 22 seconds left to cut La Salle's lead to 61-60.

The Explorers, led by 14 points at 32-18 early in the second half, but Dave Dirich scored all 33 points in the second half to spark the Boston comeback.

Pete Schmid was high for the Eagles with 14, Jim Crawford also had 14 for the losers.

Tom Riker, Kevin Joyce and Lanny Traylor combined for 62 points in South Carolina's easy win over Fairfield.

Weather preview

Colder, chance of snow flurries

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area; Partly cloudy with chance of snow showers southern-most mountains. Cold tonight. Increasing clouds Wednesday. Highs Wednesday mostly 5 to 15 below. Outlook Thursday, partly cloudy with a chance of snow showers. The upper low over southern Nevada and central California is weakening as it moves northeastward. Sufficient moisture is available in this disturbance to cause locally heavy snows over the southern portions of Nevada and Utah tonight. Traveler's warnings are in effect tonight over southern Utah, eastern Nevada and Arizona.

Some of the moisture in this flow is spreading cloudiness northward toward southern Idaho valleys and there is a slight chance that a few showers or snow flurries will occur along the southern border areas tonight. However, skies will be mostly clear over southern Idaho tonight. Cloudiness is expected to increase from the northwest Wednesday bringing a few snow showers or flurries to the northern mountains.

The extended outlook indicates a more westerly flow and a series of weather disturbances moving across the northwest during the period with small amounts of precipitation, but gradually modifying the cold air over the district.

Partly cloudy with chance of snow showers southern-most mountains. Cold tonight. Increasing clouds Wednesday. Highs Wednesday mostly 5 to 15 below. Outlook Thursday, partly cloudy with a chance of snow showers. The upper low over southern Nevada and central California is weakening as it moves northeastward. Sufficient moisture is available in this disturbance to cause locally heavy snows over the southern portions of Nevada and Utah tonight.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks held firm in moderately active turnover through mid-session Tuesday.

The gain reflected optimism about the economic outlook for next year—and a bullish news background.

The Government reported that its composite index of leading economic indicators rose in November for the eleventh time in the past 13 months. The index gained 0.2 per cent, and a Commerce Department official predicted further economic expansion in the months ahead.

Of the 1,648 New York Stock Exchange issues crossing the tape, advances outnumbered declines, 715 to 692. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index climbed 0.35 to 101.30, and the Dow Jones industrial average rose 2.79 to 884.26.

A three-hour volume of 8,430,000 shares was up from 7,710,000 shares traded at a comparable period the previous session.

Among the day's most active issues were American Telephone up a point on 173,700 shares, Eaton Corp. down 1/4 on 123,700 shares, American Air Lines 1/4 higher on 87,400 shares. Wheelabrator-Frye and Occidental Petroleum down 1/4 each.

Loss active; IBM rose 1/4. Steels and motors were narrowly mixed.

General Motors was ahead 1/4, while Chrysler dipped 1/4. U.S. Steel was unchanged, but Bethlehem surrendered 1/4.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — There are 1,400 stocks listed on the Big Board with more added all the time. I should think that duplication of symbols might soon become a problem — after all there are only 26 letters in the alphabet. Would you agree that there are more companies being listed than in the past? C. R.

A — Although there are only 26 letters in the alphabet, nothing symbols may be made up of either one, two or three letters combined in any pattern. This means that there are 16,276 possible combinations. These, however, must be shared by the exchanges since symbols are not duplicated. Some combinations are avoided because of their connotations. Thus while CAT stands for Caterpillar-Tractor and BAF for Bates Mig., DOG and RAT are conspicuously absent from the ticker tape, although ANT, BUG and FLY are all to be found.

Surprisingly enough the single letter symbols are not as popular as one might expect, there are still six which have yet to be used: E, H, L, O, Q and X.

W. MR and MRS. Malloy Randall and Morse Shoe respectively, are joined by the Women's Lib-approved female form of address MS, the symbol for McCrory Corp. This same activist group might have a comment on IER—Helena Rubinstein.

Given names are perennial favorites: PAT, LOU, PEG and SAM to name a few. Recent listings have been more circumspect with initial letters or syllables being favored.

However a few humorous acronyms have slipped in including PST for Petrie Stores and MY for Marley Corp.

There has been no noticeable increase recently in new companies accepted by the Big Board. In the most recent 12-month period some 94 new companies qualified to have their common stock listed. In the late 1960s in a comparable 12-month period common shares of 109 companies were considered worthy of the Big Board.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Although stocks are likely to move higher, the intermediate rally appears to have moved beyond the halfway mark, says TPO Inc. The firm says the risk-reward factor does not appear very favorable for new commitments at this time; it recommends holdings be held for their price objectives and that they be protected with stops.

No call for rail Memorial journeys quad set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A railroad president believes the new Government rail corporation, AMTRAK, should provide an "orderly shrinkage of rail passenger service" because passenger service has little future.

The president of the College of Idaho has announced the school will establish a Harry W. Morrison quadrangle as a part of the campus master plan.

President Warren B. Knox said a bequest from the late Morrison's estate will be used to provide the initial phase of the internal campus development.

The quadrangle, named after the world-renowned construction pioneer, will have informal landscaping and eventually a memorial fountain.
