Inflation in Magic Valley grocery stores exceeded an annual rate of 10 per cent during the last quarter of 1971.

A Times-News survey of prices in Magic Valley grocery stores showed a wide variation in the amount of price inflation permitted by different stores.

No store checked was able to hold inflation below an annual rate of 6.8 per cent.

The survey also showed a variation in the level of prices charged at the stores.

The inflation survey consisted of four separate surveys of the same five typical valley stores which range in size from small to large markets. Surveys were made Sept. 15, Nov. 1, Nov. 24 and Dec. 23.

The same list of 20 items was priced at each store.

The items were of the same brand and the same size in each survey. In only one case was an item of different size used, and in that case the survey price was adjusted on a per-ounce basis. Sale items were not tabulated.

Items surveyed included both items controlled by the price freeze and Phase II controls, and items which are not controlled, such as produce.

Although price fluctuations tended to concentrate in the non-regulated items, the prices of many supposedly regulated items were found to have increased. In several instances, prices were reduced.

The survey showed:

1. During the Sept. 15, Nov. 1, Nov. 24, Dec. 23 interval, composite price increases averaged 3.08 per cent at one store and 10.58 per cent at another.
2. The annual rate of increase ranged from a low of 6.802 per cent at one store to a high of 19.47 per cent at another.
3. The combined price of the 20 items varied somewhat from store to store.

from most to least expensive was 6.8 per cent.

4. The pattern of price increases was irregular.

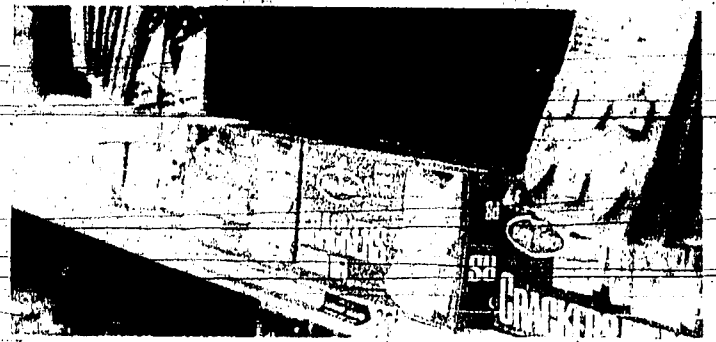

For example, four of the surveyed stores maintained a constant price for ground chuck. But one store increased the price at each survey, for a total increase at an annual rate of 86.4 per cent.

In addition to the survey checked prices on baked goods, beverages, produce, canned foods, household cleaning supplies, dairy products, staples and cereals.

The first two surveys were made during the 90-day price freeze ordered by President Nixon on Aug. 15. The final two were made after the freeze ended and Phase II controls were imposed.

Under regulations promulgated by government officials, there was to be no increase in prices during the freeze.

After the freeze, under Phase II regulations, price increases are supposed to be limited to 2.5 per cent.

Jets eye N. Viet damage

SAIGON (UPI) — American photo planes today flew missions over North Vietnam to try to assess the damage caused by five days of the heaviest bombing raids on the north since 1968.

Military sources said heavy clouds and rainstorms over the North Vietnamese peninsula were hindering the photo planes.

Allied headquarters in Saigon reported no Viet Cong violations of the Communists' unilateral truce for the New Year's holiday weekend of early today.

The Viet Cong truce runs for three days, through early Monday morning in Saigon. An overlapping 24-hour cease-fire ordered by President Nguyen Van Thieu begins at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. EST) today.

US jets rest at base as damage assessed

Although the U.S. command declined comment, officers were mixed in their opinions as to whether the more than 1,000 F4 Phantom bombing strikes from Sunday to Thursday were effective. The weather was bad for much of the raids.

"As far as we can tell, the bombing was a real failure," said one pilot who flew the raids. "We hit very little."

But higher-ranking officers said the bombing campaign was obviously a success. They told of fuel dumps, ammunition stockpiles and at least one seaport left in flames.

The U.S. command acknowledged the loss of three planes in the five days of raids and said five crewmen were missing. North Vietnam claimed it downed 19 U.S. aircraft.

The more than 120 U.S. planes that pounded North Vietnam for five days returned to strikes in Laos today, hitting the Ho Chi Minh Trail and flying missions in support of beleaguered Laotian and Thai troops.

Reports from UPI correspondent Pon Chantarak in Vientiane, Laos, said North Vietnamese forces had moved in behind the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) base at Long Cheng at the edge of the Plain of Jars and were in a position to attack the base from both north and south.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said a guerrilla attempt to blow up a Cambodian government Finance Ministry banquet was foiled Thursday night when the guerrilla killed himself on being discovered assembling explosives.

HHH plans another try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The office of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey announced today that Humphrey will formally declare his candidacy Jan. 10 for the Democratic nomination for president.

Jack Cannon, a spokesman for Humphrey who is vacationing in the Virgin Islands, said the exact time and location of the announcement would be set later.

Cannon said Jan. 10 was the date for notifying Pennsylvania authorities of plans to run a slate of national convention delegate candidates in that state's April 25 primary.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the generally acknowledged front runner currently announcing Democratic presidential prospects, plans to formalize his candidacy in a paid television broadcast next Tuesday night.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., has said she plans to announce formally as a candidate early this month also, joining the already announced Democratic aspirants, Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Mayor Samuel W. Worthy of Los Angeles and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

TV star Pete Duel shot dead

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pete Duel, a star in the television series "Allan Smith and Jones," was found shot to death early today in his Hollywood Hills home. Detectives were uncertain if it was a homicide or a suicide.

L. John Konstanturos, who was heading the investigation, said the 31-year-old actor's body was slumped next to the Christmas tree in his living room. Duel was shot once in the head. A .38 caliber revolver was found nearby.

Price list deadline extended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Price Commission announced Thursday that retailers who have inadvertently violated price posting requirements will have two weeks past the Jan. 3 deadline to comply with the regulations.

The commission has ordered retail establishments to display their "freeze" period prices for customers by next Monday.

The commission said Thursday it had asked the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to conduct checks beginning Monday whether stores were observing the Phase II requirement that all retailers with sales of $100,000 or more per year post the Aug. 15-Nov. 13 prices for food and grocery items and for other retail items that account for the bulk of their sales.

Until Jan. 3, retailers were required to post their freeze period prices only when they made price increases. But after Monday all stores must have the price lists "easily accessible to the customer."

Wage clamps may last year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wage-price controls will remain in effect well beyond the 1972 election and some government restrictions will be around "for a long time to come," according to the outgoing chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Paul W. McCracken, returning to the University of Michigan faculty where he served starting in 1950, told a farewell news conference Thursday that he only regret in three years with the administration was that inflation had not been slowed more.

He declined to go into specifics on future government controls on the economy. But he said the administration should have moved faster to realign world money rates and put clamps on wages and prices.

McCracken explained that controls need broad support and the administration "had to wait almost until the people were asking for the program."

"I was not among the last to arrive at that position," he said.

Arch N. Booth, executive vice president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said that it was "essential" that the Pay Board scale down the 12 to 14 per cent aerospace union wage demands.

National farm prices increased by an average of 2 per cent in the month ending Dec. 15, spurred by boosts on corn, hogs, cattle, wheat and soy beans.

Rent boosts given delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The official publication of new federal rent control regulations gives tenants who were faced with a Jan. 1 increase at least another month at their present rent. Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said Thursday.

In a statement accompanying notice that the rent rules went into effect Dec. 29, Grayson said tenants renting on a month-to-month basis or shorter rental period need pay no more rent for January than they did for December unless they paid their January rent before Wednesday.

The rent regulations announced earlier this month allow landlords to boost rents 2.5 per cent a year without having to show cost increases, but permit larger boosts only to reflect higher state and local property taxes and other government charges.

Tenants must be given at least 30 days' notice of rent boosts and have the right to demand cost justifications from the landlord before they must pay the higher rents.

Meany hits pay board shortage of procedure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Thursday the very existence of the Pay Board has been jeopardized by its lack of simple, clear-cut procedures and by the automatic challenge by business members of all scheduled wage increases over 7 per cent a year.

"It is my considered opinion that the very future of the Pay Board is seriously endangered," Meany said in a letter to the chairman, semi-retired Federal Judge George H. Boldt of Washington State.

The letter was released five days after the board, 47 days after it began operation, announced that forms were just about ready for employers to use in seeking approval of employee pay raises.

Because the board had not yet had any forms for employers, a large backlog of potential applications has built up since the Phase II economic program began Nov. 14, and may deluge the board during the coming month. Officials said the new forms would be available beginning Monday in Internal Revenue Service offices across the country.

The 77-year-old Meany is one of five labor members of the Pay Board, but he has been admitted by illness since late

Births dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States birthrate may have sunk this year to an all-time low of 17.4 births per thousand population, the government reported Thursday.

The 4 per cent drop from the 1970 rate of 18.2 births per thousand was estimated by the Health, Education and Welfare Department's National Center for Health Statistics on the basis of projects of population data for the first 10 months of the year. Final 1971 figures could take a year or more to compile.

The center ventured no guess, but some officials said the dropoff in births probably resulted from postponement of child-bearing because of unemployment and the economic recession, liberalization of some state abortion laws, and greater interest in family planning.

Ellsberg indicted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal grand jury re-indicted Dr. Daniel Ellsberg Thursday on serious new charges of stealing the top secret Pentagon papers, and also indicted a former colleague of his at the Rand Corp.

The sealed, 15-count indictment greatly increased the scope of the charges against the Harvard professor, and for the first time accused Anthony J. Russo, 35, of participating in the conspiracy.

Russo, now employed as a probation officer, surrendered in federal court here later in the day.

He was released on his own recognizance on $20,000 bond, and was ordered to appear next week to enter a plea.

Russo spent 47 days in jail for civil contempt when he refused to testify before a grand jury probing how parts of the 47-volume classified study of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam War fell into the hands of newspapers.

Ellsberg, 40, a senior research fellow at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who publicly acknowledged he was responsible for the original Pentagon Papers leak to The New York Times,

Patients unhurt at nurse home

WENDELL — A midnight fire at the Magic Valley Manor was quickly extinguished by the nursing-home's staff. The 44 patients in the three-story frame structure escaped injury.

George Wahler, Wendell fire chief, said his men were summoned to the scene of the fire at about 12:10 a.m. They found a small closet fire nearby extinguished through the efforts of the nurses on duty.

Wahler estimated the total damage caused by smoke and water at about $300. Wahler and Mrs. Polly Degler, manager, speculated that the fire was caused by a man smoking in his room, contrary to regulations. They said the man had apparently been smoking, had heard a nurse approaching his room, and had thrown the cigarette stub into the closet to hide it. It apparently caught on clothing hung in the closet, sending smoke throughout the room and burning the closet door.

The nine men in the ward at the time were evacuated to another section of the building. None of the other residents on the other two floors was removed.

Three engines and 18 firemen responded to the blaze, but they were needed only to stop the smoldering and remove the contents of the closet.

'We've made our decision... it's either war or peace!'

Egypt's decision year ends in war rehearsals

By United Press International

Egypt's "year of decision" ends today with the Arab country completing a one-week rehearsal of battles it expects to fight with Israel.

President Anwar Sadat has said repeatedly that 1971 is the year Egypt must decide whether to settle the Middle-East question by either war or peace. In recent speeches he said the decision was war, but indicated he still will leave time for a political settlement.

The semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said Thursday that Egypt had just completed seven days of war games centered on its plans for regaining the Israeli-held Sinai Peninsula. It said large numbers of army, navy and air force units took part in the mock offensive.

In Washington, Nixon administration officials said the United States next month will permit Israel to begin buying—on extremely easy terms—the additional Phantom jet fighters it long has requested.

The MENA indicated that in return Israel agreed to modify its conditions for opening negotiations with Egypt on an agreement that would include reopening of the Suez Canal.

In a move Israel swapped its military commanders today—but they are thought to have the same philosophy of "don't give in."

Gen. David "Dado" Elazar, both of them, according to their official biographies, follow the same military philosophy. "Don't give in, in the moment we do we are lost. This is the only hope for the survival of the Jewish people."

Bar Lev, who has led the Israeli armed forces for the last four years, will join the cabinet early next year.

According to the MENA description of the Egyptian war games, Soviet-made jets delivered "powerful blows" at dummy targets while Egyptian troops crossed waterways, jumped by parachute and struck with "all kinds of artillery."

War Minister Gen. Mohammed Ahmed Sadok said the trial was "a great success."

Americans to celebrate by living it up tonight

By United Press International

In New York's Central Park it cost nothing. Some of New Orleans' best jazz pubs charged only a dollar. And the Northwest Taxicab Co. of Columbus, Ohio, provided free service.

These, however, were the exceptions as millions of Americans from coast to coast prepared to live it up tonight—New Year's Eve.

For $60 per person, New Yorkers could spend an evening with Guy Lombardo at the Waldorf or they could spend $50 to dine and hear pianist Roger Williams at the Hotel Plaza. Gordon McRae and Duke Ellington could be heard for the same price at the St. Regis, the Marlborough and the Rainbow Grill, respectively.

In the Miami and Miami

Beach area, the smaller pubs, restaurants and clubs almost uniformly charged $15 per person. But at the large night clubs in the Miami Beach area, "The sky's the limit." All provided food, drinks, and a floor show.

The Miami area was crowded with hundreds of thousands of football fans who came in for the big Orange Bowl Parade tonight, the Orange Bowl game between top-rated Nebraska and Alabama on Saturday, and for the American Football Conference championship game on Sunday between the Miami Dolphins and the Baltimore Colts.

The cost for San Francisco area residents was down this year to the 1962 level. For $35 per person, the Venetian and Gold rooms of the Fairmont Hotel offered a gourmet dinner, angismakers, favors and performances by Eddie Fisher. In the same hotel for $27.50, a dinner and entertainment was presented in the Tonga Room.

Other area in the bay area ranged from $4.50 upward.

In New Orleans, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel featured singer Ella Fitzgerald at $25 per head, including dinner. Drinks were extra at the usual $1.75.

At Preservation Hall, $1 bought one of the best jazz shows in any town—New Year's or any day.

In other cities, including Portland, Ore., Seattle, San Diego, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Albany, N.Y., the cost for an evening out ranged from $10.00 per couple to $50.

TWIN FALLS — City Council members of Twin Falls will meet informally Monday noon to hear a report on the feasibility study of the conversion to secondary sewage treatment facilities here.

City Manager Jean Milar said the verbal report will be presented by representatives of the Cornell, Howland, Hayes and Merrifield Consulting Engineers, Boise. Earl Reynolds and Mike Angler are scheduled to present the information.

The firm was employed last year to study needs and methods of establishing secondary treatment of sewage and expansion of the system to handle industrial effluent from some manufacturing concerns in and near the city.

About 10 years ago, Twin Falls city built a primary treatment plant and major trunk lines in the Snake River Canyon. Idaho Health Department requirements now state cities must convert to secondary treatment.

Milar said the report Monday will be followed by a written report which City Council members will review at length.

Cafe closes

AFTER 60 years of business, the City Cafe will close its doors Jan. 1, giving way to a new Bavarian-styled restaurant.

$1 million suit

PRESTON, Idaho (UPI) — A lawsuit asking for more than $1 million in damages has been filed here against the Preston branch of the First Security Bank Corp. in behalf of a former Utah man.

Marcell Pitcher and the American Research and Development Corp. (ARDCO) of Preston. The suit, filed in Idaho Sixth District Court, asks for $785,000 in general damages and $250,000 punitive damages, plus $10,000 attorney fees.

60-year old City Cafe closes doors Jan. 1

TWIN FALLS — A cafe that has been an institution in Twin Falls for 60 years will be no more Jan. 1.

The City Cafe, opened in 1912 in what is now the Kingsbury Pharmacy building on East Main, will close its doors at the end of the ownership by W.F. Lee. He is retiring at the age of 72 after operating the cafe for 42 years.

The new owners, T.L. (Ted) Schiermeier and Juan Monchaca, both Twin Falls, plan to remodel the building into a "Bavarian-style restaurant." They bought the building and business from Lee. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Lee said the old City Cafe changed hands several times before he took it over in 1928. He said he doesn't know the name of the Chinese who opened the cafe.

Lee came to Twin Falls from Halley and took over the cafe. During his ownership, he changed buildings from the original location, moving a couple of doors down Main Street where it is now located.

Twin Falls, Lee had lived many places including Boise and Jerome. He has no family in Idaho.

Lee came to the United States from Thailand but he doesn't remember when or how old he was when he came to the United States.

His old customers don't want him to quit, but he says, "I'm getting too old, I've got to go anyway."

"I don't know what I am going to do," he said of his plans now that he has sold the cafe. He thought he may go back to Oakland, Calif., where he last visited in 1935.

According to Schiermeier the menu in the new business will include baron of beef, pork, ham and other kinds of meats. He said they will also serve English tea and crumpets in the afternoon with six or seven kinds of tea and authentic British style crumpets or tea cakes. Different soups, sandwiches and desserts will also be served. It will be open morning and afternoon only.

The business will not be open in the evening, according to Schiermeier, because the owners are not seeking to compete with other restaurants for the dinner trade. They aim to serve shoppers during the day, he said.

The new business will be open in mid-February or early March, depending on suppliers. It is yet to be named.

Suit filed

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County Commission Chairman Jack Barney has filed a $8,500 suit against Don Rowe, chairman of Idaho Taxpayers' Voice, Inc., claiming damage to his reputation from "malicious" prosecution of a criminal case.

Rowe had charged Barney used the telephone to threaten and annoy, but in October, a six-member jury found Barney innocent of the charge.

U.S. mints at Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco will produce a record 9.2 billion coins in six denominations in the fiscal year 1972.

Record crowds expected at area ski resorts

TWIN FALLS — Record crowds of skiers have enjoyed ideal conditions at area resorts the past two weeks, and more of the same is forecast this weekend.

Areas in the south portion of the Sawtooth National Forest received five to six inches of new snow Wednesday and Thursday. Those to the north received a skiff of new snow in the same storm. All areas run daily including New Year's Day.

By resort, the report shows Sun Valley with 43 inches at the top of Baldy Mountain, 34 at the Roundhouse and 23 on the valley floor. Weather was clear and cold Thursday with excellent skiing.

Solder Mountain has 42 inches at the top of ski runs and 35 inches at the lodge. Rotarun reports 24 inches of packed base. Both resorts list a light covering of new snow.

Rotarun is open Tuesday and Thursday each week for night skiing and roads to both areas are listed as good. Snow tires or chains are recommended as an added security precaution.

To the south, Magic Mountain received four to five inches of new snow Wednesday and Thursday for a light powder covering of runs with five to seven feet of snow. Buses run daily including Sunday to the area, leaving Lynwood at 9 a.m. Snow tires or chains are recommended with a snow floor in the upper canyon.

Pomerelle received 15 inches of powder Wednesday and Thursday with total depth in the vicinity near 40 feet. Weather is clear and cold and the resort has bus service daily from Twin Falls, Minidoka and Cassia counties.

Snowmobiling is reported fair to good with record depths of light snow causing some difficulties. U.S. Forest Service officials ask all snowmobilers or cross-country skiers to stay clear of canyons and steep slopes because of continued avalanche danger, especially in the northern areas.

Health permits required Jan. 1

TWIN FALLS — Permits from the Idaho Health Department will be required for installation of sewage disposal systems, effective Saturday, Jan. 1.

James R. Ingalls, deputy director of the South-Central District Health Department, Twin Falls, said the Idaho Board of Health has issued new regulations stipulating that district health departments throughout the state are to act as their agents in issuing the permits.

All contractors, builders and private individuals planning such installation must make an application for a permit before beginning construction. The plans will be reviewed for conformity to state board of health regulations before the permit is issued.

An inspection will be made of the installation before the system is covered to check on details of construction, Ingalls said.

Anyone planning to install a sewage disposal system may obtain a permit form from their local courthouse. When complete, the application is taken to the health department district office. They are located in the Jerome County Courthouse, Minidoka Memorial Hospital, the Cassia County Courthouse and Twin Falls City Hall.

A fee will be charged for the permit, Ingalls said, in addition to any city or county fees.

The Plain Of Jars Story

WASHINGTON — Behind North Vietnam's massive and bloody winter offensive in the Plain of Jars region of Laos is the clear intent of undermining President Nixon's February trip to Communist China. There are, to be sure, additional explanations. But as viewed by analysts here, Hanoi wants to send another strong signal to Peking that Hanoi looks with great suspicion and some fear on the Nixon visit. Moreover, that intent is believed to be matched in Moscow, whose ties to Hanoi are closer than generally realized, and are getting yet closer. Soviet shipments of arms, food and transport to Hanoi are now at their highest point in several years. Exports inside the Nixon administration believe the Soviet bloc accounts for at least 80 per cent of all outside aid received by Hanoi. And the Soviets also share Hanoi's diplomatic goals. One of Moscow's major purposes in world power politics is to create tension between the Chinese and Americans on the eve of Mr. Nixon's historic mission to Peking. This meshes with the Soviet triumph in the Indian sub-continent where Moscow dealt a savage blow to the prestige of both China and the U.S. by all-out support of India's military triumph over Pakistan, which was backed noisily but ineffectually by the U.S. and China. Now, the Kremlin appears to be pressing its fortunes harder in Indochina. One obvious way to accomplish that is to back Hanoi's veteran regiments on the Plain of Jars region in Laos. Although the invading Communist army has annually seized the plain every dry season, the bloody attacks of the past two weeks have reached a new high in intensity. The North Vietnamese have brought up heavier artillery and more firepower than ever before. Furthermore, their attack has come earlier in the dry season than last year.

Whether the current offensive is intended to overrun Long Teng, headquarters of Gen. Vang Pao's gritty little guerrilla army of Mao tribesmen, or stop short is still uncertain. But given the new offensive capability of the North Vietnamese, there is no doubt here that a sweep as far south of the plain as Hanoi wants is within Communist capabilities. This military pressure on Laos is matched by North Vietnamese military action to the south in Cambodia. With four trained divisions there, the North Vietnamese are believed by some analysts to be capable of investing Phnom Penh, the beleaguered capital. But, just as in Laos, there are differences of opinion whether the enemy's purpose is to keep advancing or simply to occupy, threatening positions in a war of nerves. The hope in Moscow and Hanoi of spoiling President Nixon's trip to Peking is, however, not the only explanation of Hanoi's military offensives in Laos and Cambodia. Another, quite different, reason is the fact that South Vietnam is beyond Hanoi's reach for the present. With U.S. war dead down to less than ten a week, the Communists are fast losing one of their most formidable assets over the past 10 years in the Vietnam war: an energetic and effective peace movement in America. Unable to mount a serious offensive in South Vietnam, Hanoi is doing the next best thing to keep the anti-war flame burning in the U.S. by escalating the war in Laos and Cambodia. With four U.S. jets downed over the Dec. 17-18 weekend (one of which ran out of fuel) and with headlines prating its military advances outside South Vietnam's borders, the North Vietnamese are desperately trying to energize the anti-war movement on the theory, quite correct, that the protesters invariably blame the U.S. for Communist-caused bloodshed. For President Nixon, these developments pose a serious political hazard. If he responds to the Communist offensive by stepping up U.S. bombing or even a renewal of bombing in North Vietnam itself, he might be disinclined to Peking. But if the offensive continues, he will arrive in Peking in a weakened bargaining position from which both Moscow and the Chinese will profit. Such are the perils of the course of summitry on which Mr. Nixon has embarked.

Silver Lining Year?

Two geologists writing in Science magazine predict that the old earth, which has been huffing and puffing and shuddering and shaking with earthquakes, subsides for the past four billion years or so, is scheduled eventually to get through with all that and enter a period of calm and tranquility in something less than another billion years.

Islam, Christianity and Judaism had their origins. It is one of those areas to which Christians especially, and especially at this time of year, look for renewal of their faith that there is a purpose in human life and that there will someday again be glad tidings of great joy which shall be to all men tidings of peace, lasting peace, on earth and good will to men. Again the sad tidings down out the glad. Yet it is far too early in the game for despair.

One wonders if the microscopic, allegedly intelligent life clinging to its surface (microscopic when viewed from the moon) will ever learn the secret of living in peace with its own kind and in balance with other kinds, or whether it will destroy itself and perhaps everything else long before earth enters geologic old age.

Viewed against the unthinkably great time scale of geology, mankind's sojourn on this planet has been but an eyeblink. Homo sapiens has been around for at least 20,000 or 30,000 years. Something aspiring to that stage walked on two legs nearly two million years ago in Africa. It is only within a single human lifetime that this has become truly one world, in terms of rapid transportation and communication.

It has been eclipsed by the realization that the new year of 1972 finds men engaged in killing each other, or preparing to kill each other, on as wide a scale as ever in the past — and precisely in those areas of the world in which civilization has existed the longest — Southeast Asia, the Indian subcontinent and the eastern rim of the Mediterranean. It is also, coincidentally, in two of those areas that four of the world's great religions — Buddhism,

There is more to hope for than there is to despair of as we begin this new year. It is only within the last generation that man has found the power wherewith to destroy himself and all his works, and has somehow stayed his own hand. There is more to hope for than there is to despair of as we begin this new year.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Halo Is Slipping

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Labor has a problem. Its image has been slipping. There is a good deal less general public sympathy for its behavior than there used to be.

As if all this were not enough, labor's political clout in 1972 could be somewhat diminished. It still will have plenty of money to pour into the presidential and other campaigns. Its organizational muscle also remains potent. In 1968 its funds and field efforts were heavily responsible for bringing Sen. Hubert Humphrey into a close finish with President Nixon.

Considerably more difficult for labor to win delegate seats at the 1972 national convention. Competition for those spots is expected to be greatly increased. In addition, as a result of sweeping primary law changes, many more delegates will go to Miami formally bound to vote for particular presidential candidates. Labor hopes for a "labor bloc" of delegates from many states to cast key influence at the convention long very thin at this moment.

ART BUCHWALD

Old 1971

WASHINGTON — The old man who was listed at the end of the hospital bed simply, as "1971" was fast expiring in the intensive care unit of the hospital. There was a sign on the door which said Absolutely No Visitors.

"Don't go out in the street at night," the old man said. "And keep your doors locked. Here's a gas mask. And over there is a bulletproof vest. Wear it at all times. Don't go swimming in polluted water, and buckle your safety belt whenever you get into a car."

Forget about "flushing out the liver." That's an old, decrepit notion based on a misguided idea of what the liver is like. There isn't anything that will "flush out the liver." Nor is there any need to try to.

Tax Muddle

The 92nd Congress was in a generous mood on tax matters in 1971, and provided some reductions for almost all taxpayers in 1972. Unfortunately, the changes won't help settle accounts for 1971, but they do provide something to look forward to in the new year.

from their adjusted income this year, and up to $2,000 next year. As usual with general tax adjustment, there is only in the ointment. Payments of Social Security taxes go up in 1972, for those making more than $7,800 a year. That was the telling against which Social Security taxes were levied in 1971, but it is $9,000 for 1972.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Big Story

Each year the editors of the newspapers of Idaho select the so-called "big" stories of the last 12 months. This year was no exception and it is interesting to compare the yarns selected by the two major wire services serving Idaho — the United Press International and the Associated Press.

(5) Gunshot slaying of three near Driggs, Idaho. (5) The picnic at Farragut State Park. (6) The 18-year-old vote. (6) Controversy over the Lower Teton Dam. (7) The Lower Teton Dam story. (7) Karen Hurd wins Miss American runner-up honors. (8) Sawtooth National Recreation Area proposal. (8) Governor's reorganization plan and grasshopper infestation (a tie — no pun intended!). (9) Problems of legislative compensation. (9) Same as number eight. (10) Selection of Miss Herd as runner-up at Atlantic City. (10) Railroad passenger service ends in Idaho.

THINKING

A 747 jet "drinks" about 4,000 gallons of fuel an hour. That same amount of fuel in the form of gasoline should keep the average car in operation for nearly five years.

REMEMBER

With the historically "bad" for driving New Year weekend here, why not make a resolution right now to not drive if you must drink?

INTEREST?

A federal government release on new banks and the like, which came over Mr. Spectator's desk, lists (among others) the First National Bank of Intercourse, Intercourse, Pennsylvania. We couldn't help but wonder what the interest rate would be!

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

No Flushing

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is a "fatty liver"? Does it mean the liver is coated with fat? I heard that orange juice is the only fluid which flushes out the liver. Is this correct? Does an enlarged liver mean liver damage?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble," for which I enclosed 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. I hope there is something I can do other than move to a different climate. — Mrs. B.M.H.

If a liver is not enlarged, can it still be damaged? — E. M. No, a fatty liver is not coated with fat. The fat is scattered through the tissues of the organ — and reduces its efficiency. Alcohol, obesity and diabetes are three of the principal factors associated with a fatty liver.

There probably is. While climate can have an effect in some cases of sinus disease, in the vast majority of cases factors other than climate are a great deal more important — curbing infection, getting rid of polyps, correcting obstruction, avoiding irritants and tumors (of which tobacco smoke is an important one). The booklet explains the why and wherefores of sinus trouble, and the varied methods of overcoming it.

An enlarged liver means that something is wrong with it, and it may be damaged or congested. That includes a fatty liver.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hear so much about a Pap test. Is this to determine whether one has cancer? Does the doctor use some instrument and is it painful? — Mrs. E. G.

But a liver can be damaged without showing enlargement. Sometimes a liver badly damaged by cirrhosis may not be enlarged, but actually shrunken.

Main purpose is to detect cancer of the cervix (neck of the uterus or womb) early, but occasionally there are other uses. It isn't painful; all the doctor needs to do is collect some of the moisture from the cervix, to send to a laboratory.

Climbers start for camp

GRAND TETON PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—Mountaineer Paul Petzoldt, worried about reports of a new winter storm pushing into northwestern Wyoming, headed for the top of 13,766-foot Grand Teton Mountain today rather than wait for New Year's Day.

Petzoldt led a party of 28 fellow-climbers on a rare moonlight climb Thursday in an effort to reach the 12,000-foot elevation of the mountain peak—a base from which the final ascent will be made.

Petzoldt, 63, and his climbing party, which includes one woman, had planned to climb during the daylight hours but blinding winds stirred up the mountain snow and forced them to wait out the weather at a point known as Moose Meadows.

"Then the wind went down and it calmed," said Grand Teton National Park official Dick Monroe. "They hoped to get to the base of the Middle Teton, but since we won't have radio contact with them until Friday night, we won't know if they made it or not."

The poor weather caused the longest delay for the climbing party since it launched the annual mountain trek on Tuesday. On Wednesday, the mountaineers were delayed for more than an hour by a large moose, which refused to surrender the trail. The animal finally got tired and ambled off.

The area through which the climbers made their moonlight climb Thursday included Garnet Canyon, the most avalanche-prone area on the trip.

"The canyon is very steep and has heavy snow cover on the sides that doesn't blow off," Monroe said. "It is probably their most hazardous area for avalanches. Once past there, it's not so bad."

Park officials used telescopes in an attempt to spot the climbers as they passed the timberline point, but a light snowfall and heavy clouds prevented them from finding the mountain party.

"It's all clouded in and snowing, though the snow isn't very heavy," Monroe said. "We hope they get to a point where we can see them."

This year's attempt marks the seventh year that Petzoldt has led a New Year's Day assault on the mountain. He has succeeded only once before—in 1969.

Last day before retirement

U THANT, outgoing secretary general of the United Nations, sits at his desk Thursday on his last day on the job, after which he will retire. Kurt Waldheim of Austria will succeed Thant as secretary general on Monday. (UPI)

Cottages closed by pending suit

NAMPA (UPI)—Three and possibly four cottages housing mentally retarded children at the Idaho State School and Hospital will be closed next week because of a pending wage-suit by employees.

Administrative director John Christensen said because of the large sums of money involved in the suit he had to make some staff changes.

Each of the cottages houses eight children and house parents who live with the children 24-hours a day. There are 10 of the cottages in all.

The new schedule will rotate the couples on eight-hour shifts each day.

The wage suit concerns overtime pay for employees at the school and hospital.

Christensen said if the suit were decided in favor of the hospital and school there will be a possible change in the schedule.

Federal judge

sworn in

BOISE (UPI)—U.S. District Judge J. Blaine Anderson, a former Blackfoot attorney, was sworn in Thursday as the newest member of the federal bench for Idaho.

The ceremony, which took place in the court of Chief District Judge J. Ray McNichols in Boise's Federal Building, lasted 20 minutes. The oath of office administered by Judge Fred M. Taylor. He steps down from the federal bench to assume status of active retirement as a senior Ninth Circuit Judge.

Attending state officials included Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Attorney General W. Anthony Park.

Anderson's father and also an attorney, L.H. Anderson, led the comments following his son's seating on the bench.

He said, "This is the most delightful case I have ever had," as he addressed the court. "I have always been a friend of the court. To be the father of the court is something different!"

Judge McNichols, sitting between Judges Taylor and Anderson, ended the formal proceedings by asking the courtroom to greet the official dignitaries before they left.

He noted, "This has been quite a day for the judiciary in Idaho." Sworn in during earlier ceremonies Thursday was the newest member of the Idaho Supreme Court, Justice Robert Bakes, Boise. He was introduced during the afternoon ceremony.

Wife kills husband, children

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI)—The wife of a Navy chief petty officer from Pennsylvania fatally shot her husband and four children as they slept early today, then blew her head off with a .38-caliber pistol blast.

Police said the woman, identified as Mary Jean Whalen, 32, shot her husband, then moved room to room shooting her four children ranging in ages from 3 to 12. She walked to the bathroom, police said, reloaded the .38-caliber pistol and shot herself in the head.

"I have investigated a lot of murders and other terrible things in my 25 years with the police," one officer said as he left the southside two-story frame and brick apartment, "but this is the most bizarre and the worst I have ever seen."

The dead were identified as CPO Robert Wayne Whalen, 33, assigned to the Corpus Christi Naval Air Base while attending Del Mar College; his wife; and his children, Deborah Kay, 12, Kelly Ann, 10, Robert Wayne Jr., 8, and Mary Kathryn, 3.

Naval authorities said the family was from Pennsylvania. Police found three notes written by the dead woman, but declined to reveal their contents.

Police were called to the Gulfway Airline Manor Apartments, a federal housing project, about 1 a.m. by neighbors who said someone was firing a gun in the Whalens' apartment. One neighbor told police she heard no screams but heard the baby crying.

"It was horrible hearing the baby die," she said.

Coal shortage top Camas news

FAIRFIELD — A coal shortage, which threatened to close Camas County Schools was a news item creating much interest in Camas County in 1971 — especially among the younger set.

Hopes were dashed, however, when a shipment arrived just in time to avert the closure. Many residents were out-of-coal and some businesses were using wood or borrowing coal for heating.

In January, 1971, two newcomers, John Humphreys and Dwight Osborne joined holdover Commissioner Baldwin as Camas County Commissioners. At the same time Harold Brooks, who had been superintendent of the Camas County Road and Bridge Department for 18 years and with the department for 27 years, retired and was honored by the commissioners.

William C. (Bill) France, prominent Gooding farmer and cattleman, lost his life in a snowslide while snowmobiling in the Willow Creek area. Camas County chalked up another year without a traffic fatality.

Snowmobile races, including a W.S.A. race, were held just east of Fairfield on weekends until the snow became too soft for safety.

Reuben Bradshaw of the Soil Conservation Service reported that snow depths were much greater in 1970 than in 1969 in the mountains north of Fairfield. Lawrence Sorenson, soil technician for Camas County, retired and moved to Genesee after serving since 1939 with the SCS.

The U. S. Forest Service announced that long-range plans included about 26 miles of improved roads into the Big Sheep area for timber harvest.

A five mill increase in the operation and maintenance levy for Camas County School District No. 121 was approved 213 to 55 by voters. Lucinda Osborne and Christie Gleaser were named top seniors of the graduating class of Camas County High School. Norman Tate, Cornell farmer, was elected to the school board to replace veteran Zane Harrison who declined to run again. Mike Gill and Bruce Funk were chosen for Boys State and Dobra Weks was the delegate to Girls State. Brent Giesler won some honors in High School Bodeo competition.

A new business known as the Rocky Mountain Grain Co. was established by Gerald Neils, Montana, and Leo Larson, Corral. They purchased the former Bauscher Grain, which was established in the early 1930's.

Other changes on Main street included the purchase of the American Oil Co. station by Jay Lee from the estate of the late Charles Dickinson. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Funk purchased the Western Auto Supply from Mr. and Mrs. Lee Daniel.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tanous established the "Sportman's Rest" motel. Fred Marloff and Floyd Crandall opened a snowmobile agency in the former L. E. Koone Building. Marloff was appointed city marshal to replace Zahner Edwards who retired after over 30 years with the city.

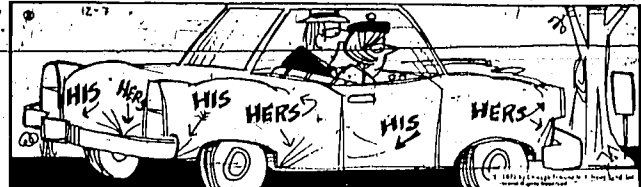

Rev. Robert Rush resigned as pastor of the Community church and the Rev. Dave Gumitz, St. Helens, Ore. replaced him as pastor.

New aluminum sheeting was applied to the large elevator of the Camas Prairie Grain Growers situated at the south entrance to Fairfield.

John Gaenzle was re-elected mayor and John Stevens and Harold Stroud, all incumbents, were returned as councilmen.

In December, Postmaster Claude Ballard announced that he was retiring in January '72 after serving over 37 years as postmaster. Mrs. Claude (Maie) Ballard is also retiring from the ASCS office after 16 years.

The Camas County Musher's football team went through the entire season and to the state meet at Midvale without a defeat.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market overcame traditional end-of-the-year tax loss selling and profit taking Friday and as trading rounded the halfway point, advances led declines by more than 300 issues. Turnover was moderate. Optimism about the outlook for corporate profits and the economy in general as well as lower interest rates helped cheer investors.

Two New York banks trimmed their base lending rates Friday. Irving Trust cut its rate by 1/4 point to 9 percent, and First National City went to 5 1/2 percent from 5 3/4 percent. Both banks base their systems on the dealer rate for 90-day commercial paper.

On the New York Stock Exchange, the Dow Jones industrial average was topped nearly 2 points at 890.85. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.33 at 102.11.

Three-hour volume of 8,200,000 shares compared with 8,000,000 shares traded at a comparable period the previous session.

IBM and Xerox were firm spots, rising more than a point apiece.

Motors were narrowly mixed, as were steels and chemicals. Among the most active stocks were Federal National Mortgage (when issued) up 1 1/2, Occidental Petroleum 1/4 higher, Matsushita Electric 1/4 higher, and Howard Johnson down 1/4.

Idaho Valley Weather Report

Weather preview

SHOWERS along the coast of Washington with snow in the northern Rockies. Snow also is forecast for the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper Great Lakes. Rain and colder in other areas. (UPI)

Cloudy, not quite so cold

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, and Rupert areas. Snow showers. Central Idaho mountains south of the Salmon River: Cloudy with scattered snow showers mainly over the mountains tonight through Saturday. Not quite so cold. Overnight lows zero to 10. Daytime highs 25 to 35. Outlook for Sunday, chance of snow showers. Gannax-Prarie, Hailey and lower Wood River Valley: Variable cloudiness through Saturday. Not quite so cold. Overnight lows zero to 10 above. Daytime highs in the 20s. Outlook for Sunday, chance of snow showers.

enough moisture remains in the area allowing cloudiness and even a few snow flurries in the upper Snake River Valley and in the central mountain areas to occur. Low temperatures were somewhat warmer because of the cloudiness with most readings in the 10 to 20 degree range.

A weakening Pacific front approaching from the west will continue a variable cloudiness, southern Idaho this morning but Idaho through Saturday. Also some snow showers may fall in the northern mountains but little or no activity is expected in the valleys.

Daytime temperatures will show slight warming because of slightly warmer air aloft moving into the area.

The outlook Sunday through Tuesday calls for chance of snow Sunday and again on Tuesday with temperatures remaining near seasonal normals.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

By ROGER E. SPEAR
I bought shares of Masland (ASE) at roughly $20. At present, the stock is selling around $17. Should I continue to hold or sell out? V. W.

A - Slowly but surely the boom in housing is being felt in other closely related areas such as furniture and floor coverings. Masland, a leading producer of turted carpets, has begun to reflect this trend. Although results for 1971-72 initial nine months (ended Oct. 1) showed a 23 per cent decline in per share earnings, on a 0.7 per cent gain in sales, third period figures were favorable and indicated a potential turnaround. The company reported a 6.8 per cent gain in per share profits to 31 cents on a healthy 24 per cent advance in sales year-to-year.

Prospects are for a continuation of this performance aided by strong residential sales and automobile carpet income purposes. Transamerica does pay a cash dividend, which currently returns a modest 3.1 per cent but shares of this diversified service organization are better suited to the more aggressive investor. The company's past growth record has been rather erratic, being subject to cyclical swings in the economy. Stocks offering adequate rates of return plus moderate growth possibilities include: American Brands and Greyhound both yielding 5.1 per cent currently, and National Distillers which returns a liberal and secure 6.3 per cent at present quotes.

Resolutions for this sinner

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
New Year's resolutions of a middle-aged sinner:

For the sake of my faithful and long-suffering wife, I will forego watching football on television during the months of February, March, April, May and June. During the remainder of the year, I will limit my indulgence in this pastime to Saturday, Sundays and Monday nights, unless there happens to be a game on Friday night.

I will try to give up my favorite form of travel, namely, the ego trip. I will resist, insofar as I am able, the temptation to take advantage of a listener's credulity (or kindness) by subtly exaggerating my own status or achievements.

I will slow down, take life easier and get more rest, not merely for the sake of my physical health, but, more importantly, because I have learned it is well-nigh impossible to be kind, considerate and concerned with the needs of others when fatigue has driven me into a state of nervous irascibility.

I will build into my daily routine more fixed and inviolable times for prayer and meditation, because I have learned that it takes more than one act of surrender a day to keep my stubborn self-will in subjection to God's will. Knowing how brief and fleeting are the moments I can say, "Thy will be done," and honestly mean it, I will hand over the problem of reforming my character to God by offering daily the very realistic prayer of St. Francis: "O Lord, help me to want to love You."

I will endeavor to keep my nasty temper under control, even when somebody telephones me on a trivial matter during the supposedly sacrosanct hours of early morning, when I am totally absorbed in trying to get my column written.

Even though it seems a great waste to deny young people the benefit of the vast store of wisdom I have accumulated over the years, I will offer counsel to people under 30 only when specifically requested to do so. I will not offer advice to people over 30 even if they ask for it, because I know they don't really want it. Besides, it has come to my attention that my judgment is not necessarily infallible, and on occasion has been disastrously wrong.

I will not expect to keep these resolutions faithfully all year long, because I have already discovered how difficult it will be to live up to them.

Without an occasional relapse. Somebody just called me on the telephone.

Don't judge

REV. JAMES H. O'BRIEN, 37, a Brocton, Mass., pastor, shaved off his beard on the pulpit last Sunday to make a point during his sermon. "My message is 'Don't judge people by externals,'" O'Brien said. "Allow me to be me and I'll allow you to be you." O'Brien, who grew his beard while on vacation last summer, said he has received a "weird reaction" from some of his parishioners. "The point is I am no different now than I was before," he said.

Past year pretty hairy for many U.S. churches

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

The past year was pretty hairy for many churches.

Some suffered actual declines in membership, attendance and contributions. Others managed to hold their own, but failed to achieve any growth. Relatively few did not show at least some symptoms of stagnation. Many were riven by internal dissension and ugly bickering.

Whether things will improve in 1972 is an open question. There are some hopeful signs on the horizon—the "Jesus Movement" among young people; an upswing in financial contributions in some major denominations; the quiet but steady growth of the "prayer cell" or "house church" movement in which small groups of committed Christians share deeply with one another the burdens and joys, the faith and doubts of daily life in a troubled world.

Against these encouraging developments must be weighed several continuing trends that bode ill for religious institutions.

One is a spirit of defeatism among clergy and laity, reflected in substantial defections from the ministry and in the unwillingness of many laymen long regarded as "pillars of the church" to continue accepting responsible positions in parish activities.

Another is the attitude of young people toward the church. Jesus may be "in" these days, but the church still is widely regarded among the young as a stuffy, authoritarian, self-serving, irrelevant institution.

Purveyors of gloom and doom also may cite the condition of the Ecumenical Movement, which seemed to hold such great promise of unifying and revitalizing Christianity. After two decades of breathtaking

TWIN FALLS — Colored slides of the Holy Land will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at the Tyler Street Baptist Church by Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Denman.

Rev. Kenneth Himple pastor, said the Denmans, who are members of the church, recently returned from a month-long trip to the Holy Land where they visited many important cities and historical places of Bible days. Their pictures will bring to life the many places and events which surrounded the life of Jesus Christ and his disciples.

The pastor invited the public to see this slide presentation.

Watchnight services planned at Jerome

JEROME — A watchnight service will be hosted by the Jerome Free Will Baptist Church according to Pastor Bill Johnson.

The service, with the theme "Watch and Pray" will begin at 8 p.m. with Brother Jack Johnson, pastor of the Buhl Free Will Baptist Church, as first speaker. Other speakers include Rev. Marvin Mills, Rev. Loren Blades, pastor of the Filer United Baptist Church, and Rev. Jesse Dunn, home missionary to Boise.

The public is invited to the service.

New system?

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A Roman Catholic high school is moving toward dropping the whole system of six 45-minute classes a day, five days a week, in favor of studying one subject at a time.

The trouble with the present system, so goes the theory, is that as a teacher begins developing a thought—and catches interest—the bell rings.

The pupil marches off to another class where the teacher makes a simpler point in 10 minutes, then leaves everybody in the doldrums until the bell rings again.

The student may have 90 minutes homework, but he cuts it up into 15 minutes for each subject—hardly enough to get started.

"Total immersion" in one subject would allow him to give it his full time and energy," says John Appel, lay principal of St. Elizabeth, a Franciscan-operated school with 724 pupils.

It also provides the kind of concentrated exposure of a teacher and his students to each other, which makes better personal understanding unavoidable.

Eventually, Appel thinks St. Elizabeth and other schools will break up much of the school year into three or four week-periods, each devoted to studying only one or two subjects at a time.

The main problem, he says, is that kind of scheduling might not work in teaching skills such as typing that depend on long daily practice.

As a starter, St. Elizabeth will try the one-or-two subject plan for the first three weeks of January. Students will revert to the normal curriculum, and repeat the experiment for three weeks in May.

If both the student body and faculty are then enthusiastic,

The public is invited to attend the concert. A free will offering will be received to help defray the travel expenses of the choir.

Help asked for East Pakistanis

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI has asked the Vatican ambassador to India to ask Indian authorities to take steps to protect the lives and rights of East Pakistanis, it was announced today.

The request was sent to Rt. Rev. Msgr. Marie Joseph Lemieux, the apostolic nuncio in New Delhi, in a message relayed by Secretary of State Cardinal Jean Villot. It was sent Dec. 17, the day the war ended in the east.

In the message the Pope asked Indian officials to protect East Pakistanis from repression and other acts "contrary to humanitarian principles."

Indian army officers said earlier it would not interfere in affairs in East Pakistan, now the People's Republic of Bangladesh.

The Pope said he was concerned about the safety of victims of the Indo-Pakistani war, especially in East Pakistan.

NEXT TO GODLINESS

Soup became a part of his daily life long before he understood its use. He's still more concerned with its bubbles than its cleansing properties—but he knows soap is mighty important.

And no one ever thought of postponing his bath until he was old enough to make decisions for himself!

Wise parents never postpone a child's religious training. Long before he is able to reason, he needs the character-building and guidance of the Church. Christianity should become important to him in his daily experience before its truths can be fully grasped by his mind.

Our churches are equipped to install vital Christian faith in the youngest child. Fortunately is the boy or girl whose parents begin his religious training early.

Polynesian cultural site on agenda for tourists

TWIN FALLS—More than 150 Polynesians perform "Invitation to Paradise" for the delight of thousands of tourists yearly at the Polynesian Cultural Center in Honolulu.

This year, as last February, a group of Idaho tourists joining in the fun and excitement of the center has to offer. The tourists, who will land by Pan American airline jet in Hawaii on Feb. 14, will be on the annual Times-News sponsored winter vacation.

"Invitation to Paradise" is an exciting presentation of colorful songs and dances of the Pacific Islands. It is performed in the center's unique amphitheater on a floating stage which is actually an island complete with craggy lava rock mountains as a backdrop and a water "curtain" that rises to segment acts. The open atmosphere communicates all the magic aura of being on an island beach at night witnessing the uninhibited enthusiasm of native celebration.

The Idaho tourists will dine at the center which is operated by the LDS Church and features student talent.

The young people who maintain a constantly changing "cast and crew" at the center lead tourists on a capsule tour of the Pacific. Six authentic reproduced island villages representing Samoa, Fiji, Tahiti, Tonga, Marshal-New Zealand and Old Hawaii center, along a meandering lagoon on over 20 acres of lushly landscaped grounds.

The center is just an hour's drive from Waikiki Beach and is Hawaii's fastest growing tourist attraction. The center forms a living museum of the gentle people and fascinating cultures of the Pacific.

The Magic of Hawaii tour will contain 11 days of exploring the four main islands of Hawaii. The cultural center stop takes place on Feb. 16, third day of the tour.

Anyone interested in further information about the tour may write to Ruth Miller, Times-News tour hostess, Box 548, Twin Falls, or to Magic Carpet Travels, Box MM, Twin Falls.

Food prices predicted to go higher during 1972

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Food prices in the grocery store probably will average higher during the first half of 1972 than they are now, according to agriculture department economists.

Pork, fresh fruits and vegetables, and eggs, which are expected to be in shorter supply, will lead the way. The economists said food stores generally will be allowed to raise prices for fresh produce. The government hopes the increases will be in the area of 2.5 percent.

The department said continued expansion of income, its own food programs, and higher food prices all point to more spending in grocery stores through mid-1972. But the rise in income levels will be less than in 1971, supplies will be smaller, and demand will be "a little sluggish," it said.

Prices of some foods are "feeling the squeeze" as the economic program and likely will ask for price increases on such items as canned and frozen vegetables, fish, beef, and frozen orange juice.

Supplies of steaks, roasts and other forms of beef should run moderately tighter in 1972. Feed prices dropped in the fall, reflecting a record corn crop, and the number of fed cattle taken to market rose. The department expects average beef consumption for the first half of 1972 to exceed 1971.

But pork consumption smaller than the 36 pounds per person consumed in the first half of 1971. The economists estimate the 1971 fall pig crop, which will supply the bulk of slaughter for the first half of 1972, is 7 to 8 per cent smaller than a year earlier.

The department said consumption of livestock products in the first half of 1972 may decline by more than the usual rate because of the cutback in hog supplies.

Broiler production picked up in the fall, so consumption of chicken should increase in 1972. Consumers ate an average of about 321 eggs in 1971, but that rate is expected to drop slightly in 1972.

"Some people are concerned by the amount of cholesterol in eggs," an economist said, in accounting for the anticipated decrease. "They require less energy, and then there's not so much home baking."

The smaller use of butter and lard in 1972 is expected to be offset by more purchases of margarine, shortening, and cooking and salad oils.

"It seems that people are eating more fried foods," the economist guessed.

The fall potato crop was almost as big as the 1970 production and should guarantee ample supplies into the spring of 1972, but sweet potato production dropped more than 10 per cent.

Smaller supplies of canned and frozen vegetables are expected, but economists said the overall picture is good. A forecast of an 8 per cent smaller orange crop in Florida will be tempered by the prospect of a 5.5 per cent increase in the yield of juice, they said, and a 23 per cent increase in the number of California navels predicted.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago, whilst in the pictures, I foolishly allowed a boy named Brian to kiss me. I didn't know him very well. He also tried to grope me, but I felled his attempt.

Now some friends who live in his neighborhood have told me that Brian has been telling everyone that he had what he calls "a go at me." This is a lie! But, Abby, I fear that people may believe him and I perhaps will be classed as "easy," which I certainly am not.

What should I do? I would dread to think that my reputation is soiled at age 16 because of this one incident.

WORRIED IN IRELAND.

DEAR WORRIED: Don't worry about it. Boys who kiss and tell are known not only for their kissing and telling but for boasting about conquests that never materialized.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married Bob, a sweet easy going guy. It was his first marriage and my second. I had a daughter, Jill, who is now four. Bob is the only father Jill remembers, and she worships him. He adores her, too.

Last week my ex called and said Bob could adopt Jill if he wanted to. I was thrilled! When I told Bob, he said, "Nothing doing. He just wants to get out of paying the $40 a month child support, and I'm not letting him get away with it. He'll support Jill until she's 18!"

Abby, when Bob and I were first married he wanted to adopt Jill, but my ex was real nasty about it, so now Bob says he wouldn't adopt Jill on a bet.

I am getting to resent Bob now, but I won't bring up the adoption again if it kills me. I really love him, but I'm afraid the resentment will build up inside me and one day I'll explode. What should I do? JILL'S MOM

DEAR MOM: Don't wait for the explosion. Tell Bob how you feel and ask him to please reconsider. It's better to talk out your feelings, even the Bob may not change his mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing for our school's entire faculty in regard to a recent article in your column in which you stated that there are better ways to discipline a child, other than physical punishment.

We are interested in knowing a few, since after years of teaching (especially in the lower elementary grades) we teachers have found that an occasional swat can work wonders when all the reasoning in the world has failed.

TEACHERS OUT OF TRICKS

DEAR TEACHERS: Surely you have heard of disciplining a child by denying him a privilege he enjoys? The "occasional swat" which you find works "wonders" can, in some schools, "swat" the teacher right out of a job.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU

My wish for you and yours is a happy, healthy, peaceful New Year. Love, ABBY

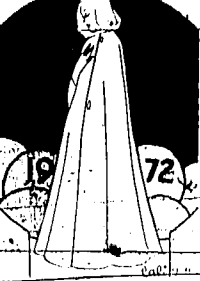

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 8770, Los Angeles, Cal. 90008. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

NEW BEAUTY, NEW YEAR

By Mary Sue Miller

It's going to be a beautiful year. Sublimity ways to make the most of your looks are on the horizon.

For the care of the skin, more and more products have been designed to ward off the ill-effects of both pollution and aging. Emphasis is placed on deep cleansers and moisturizers.

Hypo-allergenic skin treatments and cosmetics are on the increase. Medicated formulations also. Beware, the two are not the same and do not meet or mix. Sensitive skins respond to allergenes; blemished complexions and medications go together.

Just a gleam in the eye last year, ecology-minded cosmetics are popping up all over.

Herbs, spices, citrus, fruit extracts such as strawberry and peach, honey, milk, cucumber and lettuce, bees-wax and flower waters call up just a few of the ingredients. All from nature's storehouse and a refreshing idea in this age of synthetics. Of course your great-grandmothers and their great-grandmothers made use of these ingredients, but they did not have the know-how of combining or stabilizing them.

For the hair, gentle hair colorings with simplified application methods are in the wind. Serum conditioners may grow into a "thing." Neat, shapely hairstyles is here.

Body care and health come first, last and always. Diet, exercise and attention to the ill-over complexion (It's what holds you together, literally) find the other beauties. Take care. Happy days to you!

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Snow's beauty trouble

SNOW CREATES scenes of natural beauty, as in this view of the College of Southern Idaho campus, left, but it can also cause damage to street and highway surfaces. This pothole, steadily growing in dimension, is among the larger of those appearing in Shoshone Street near the Singing Bridge over Rock Creek. Water from melting snow, plus alternate freezing and thawing, combined with the pounding of heavy traffic, created holes which can only be patched temporarily until warm weather returns. However, few of the holes which have appeared in Twin Falls streets in the past week or two have been repaired.

Tot class to start Jan. 10

CASTLEFORD — Castleford School District kindergarten classes will begin at 8:45 a.m. Monday, Jan. 10.

Children residing in the district who are 5 years old on or before Oct. 15 are eligible for the classes. Birth certificates will be required, district officials said.

The district will provide bus transportation to school, but parents arrange transportation home for their children after the classes are dismissed at 11 a.m. Included in the program will be reading readiness, modern math preparation, perceptual motor skill training and other developmental activities.

The kindergarten program is operated on Title I funds and there is no immediate cost to parents.

Montana girl hurt in crash

HOLLISTER — A 10-year-old Helena, Mont., girl pinned beneath a wrecked light van Thursday afternoon, was scheduled to be released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today.

Cpl. Frank Mogensen, Idaho State Police, said Nina Davison was injured about 3 p.m. when the vehicle in which she was riding went out of control on snow slick U.S. Highway 93. Mogensen said the van was rounding a curve about two miles north of Hollister when it skidded and rolled. Miss Davison was thrown from the van and pinned beneath it when it landed upside down off the road.

Landlords asked to not hike rent 'til edict given

BOISE (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service has asked that landlords not increase rents on residential properties until the Price Commission's rent guidelines can be spelled out. IRS Idaho Director Calvin E.

Wright also cautioned Thursday that the regulations require that tenants must receive written notification on rent increases 30 days prior to their effective date. The rules place the burden of proof on notification on the landlord. Wright said the written notification must include the rental amounts both before and after the increase. Also it must include the computations involved in the increase, the date the increase goes into effect and other information necessary for checking the computations.

The IRS also warned all retailers in Idaho the Price Commission regulations require them to post their base prices before Jan. 2.

Every retailer must display his base prices prominently in each apartment in his place of business, making the information openly available to the public.

Those items for which base prices have to be displayed are determined by the retailers' total sales in their last fiscal year: — Less than $100,000 — those 40 items that had the largest dollar sales volume.

2 inmates' hearings scheduled

BOISE (UPI) — Preliminary hearings have been scheduled for Jan. 18 for two Idaho State Prison inmates charged in connection with an alleged escape attempt in which a Catholic priest was kidnapped.

John Anthony Trujillo, 24, faces charges of escape, two of kidnapping, two of assault with a deadly weapon and two of robbery. Audon Guzman Jr., 23, is charged only with escape.

A third inmate, Thomas Wayne Below, 26, is being held in McDermitt, Nev., pending the outcome of extradition proceedings.

Ranchhouse razed in Gannett fire

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

GANNETT — The Ray Henry family, living at the Silver Creek Ranch south of Gannett, has a shock awaiting them when they return from a holiday trip.

Their home, owned by K. F. Hellyer, burned to the ground Thursday morning, destroying all of the family's possessions. Neighbors say they do not know where the family is spending the holidays, so the Henrys are probably unaware of their loss. Hellyer, too, is away from the area, wintering in Washington state. He had not been reached this morning, but an effort was being made to notify him.

Bill Patterson, foreman on the nearby Cove Ranch, which is also owned by Hellyer, said the fire started about 7:30 a.m. Thursday. The cause is unknown, but Patterson said he believed an oil stove which was left burning to keep the house from freezing may have been responsible. The stucco construction of the Henry dwelling helped to contain the fire. There is no volunteer fire district in the Gannett area. Neighbors stood by with shovels to hurl snow should the fire spread beyond the home.

Patterson said he believed the house was insured.

Efforts were continuing this morning to locate the Henry family.

Minidoka church given away in '71

RUPERT — Fires, elections and taxes didn't account for all the Minidoka County news in 1971. Two women, for example, gave away a church, while Rupert Mayor O. Wendell Johnson married a couple.

Mrs. Effie Auden led a two-woman delegation to the Minidoka school trustees September meeting to hand over the deed to the Union Church in Acaquia. As part of the package, the trustees also gained title to the ground around the structure.

"We tried to sell it," Mrs. Auden said, "but no one would buy it, so we decided to give it away."

O. Wendell Johnson, Rupert mayor, exercised his legally constituted authority to officiate at a wedding ceremony Oct. 5 when he led Don Murray and Corinne Evey in their marriage vows.

Tupperware plant tops Jerome news

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — The arrival of the Tupperware Co. in the Magic Valley transcended other events in Jerome during 1971. On April 28, John Angely, president of Tupperware International, Orlando, Fla., announced that a Tupperware plant in excess of $5 million would be constructed south of Jerome along State Highway 79 on 90 acres of land owned by Dr. Charles Parker and Dr. Wesley Rose.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new plant were Oct. 13. Construction began immediately. The $5 million contract was awarded to the Walter Kiddo Construction Co., a subsidiary of Boise Cascade. The plant, when completed, will employ 450 at the outset. It will employ 900 in two years, company officials said.

Work at the site is on schedule with steel framing for the plant being placed. Completion of the plant is expected in the early part of 1972.

Jerome received worldwide recognition within the early morning hours of Jan. 8 when quadruplet girls were born at St. Benedict's Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, Twin Falls. This is the first such recorded birth in Idaho. All of the babies weighed more than two pounds and were two months premature at birth.

Two of the four girls died the same night and another died early Jan. 9, before arrangements could be made to fly them to the University of Utah Medical Center. The fourth girl died Jan. 12 at the medical center in Salt Lake City.

On Dec. 13, the Jerome school board, with trustees Gordon Hofffield abstaining, voted to call a $1.9 million bond issue election for Feb. 15 to construct a new high school. Action by the school board culminates about a year of research and planning, involving present and future school district needs.

The site of the proposed high school is the Harold Gray property which contains 80 acres and is located a mile east, then north and east of State Highway 25.

Total construction in Jerome for the first 11 months of 1971 amounted to $600,113, compared with $504,038 for the same period in 1970 for an increase of $185,477. Of the total spent in the first 11 months of 1971, $512,414 was for new homes, compared with $301,960 in 1970.

Several preliminary and final plats for new home construction were approved by the City Council in 1971, which included in July an application by the American Pacific Corp. for construction of the Kerr Subdivision, a low cost FHA housing development, which when completed will have 46 homes on 10 acres of land south of I Street and west of Davis Street.

In May, the City Council approved a plat submitted by Weldon Weigle for a new subdivision called NorthView, located at East 10th Avenue and Buchanan Street. There are 16 building sites in the subdivision. Approval was also given in May for a preliminary plat for Mann Subdivision No. 3. Final approval has not yet been given plans because of changes needed in the final plat.

Several other subdivisions have been presented to the council and should receive final approval in 1972. The council in August annexed and zoned land owned by Ed Heltzman, who is developing an area west of State Highway 79 and north of the LDS farm property as a mobile home park. Jerome County growth was reflected by partial valuation figures for 1971, which indicated a substantial gain over 1970, according to a report compiled by the county auditor's office in July. The 1971 valuation may hit the $20 million mark when all figures are known. The property roll for 1971 amounts to $10,962,628 compared to $10,468,537 compared to $2,725,205 for 1970. Figures also show that the personal property roll for 1971 is $885,603 adding the real, city and personal roles together and excluding exemptions the total for 1971 is $14,523,164 compared to $13,883,004 for the previous year.

Unauthorized use of irrigation water in 1971 prompted Jerome officials in June to issue a stern warning to Jerome residents — abide by the water schedule or face the possibility of a citation which carries a $300 fine upon conviction. Ignoring the irrigation schedule reached epidemic proportions in the community until the ultimatum was handed down. No citations were issued, although several warnings were given.

Mayor J. A. Jack Russell, with unanimous approval of the Jerome City Council, named Mrs. Marilyn (Bruce) Bragg city clerk, effective July 1. Mrs. Bragg succeeded Mrs. Mabel Beveridge, who retired.

Civic leaders from Jerome, Lincoln, and Gooding counties in June established an organization to aid St. Benedict's Hospital by serving as the master financial planning arm for the facility. C. J. Murrain was elected the group's first president. The nonprofit organization is called the St. Benedict's Hospital Foundation.

Through the combined efforts of the Idaho Department of Highways and the Idaho Fish and Game Department, the road near the Jerome County Club leading into the Snake River Canyon was repaved and opened in July after 11 years of effort by area sportsmen.

Rupert has budget squabbles

By DAVID ESPRO
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — A million dollar fire, fierce Rupert budget squabbles and a taxpayers' refund highlighted the news in Minidoka County for 1971.

The fire broke out the night of Aug. 30 at the Big O Tire plant in Rupert's industrial area. It destroyed that structure as well as Magic Valley Food Warehouses before being controlled.

The city's investigative report, submitted by Volunteer Fire Chief O'Dell McLane, revealed a ruptured gas line poured natural gas onto one of the burning buildings before it could be turned off. Also noted in the report was faulty fire prevention equipment in the buildings which burned and lax enforcement of city fire and safety codes.

Big Tire officials later filed suit in U. S. District Court, charging its insurance company, the Hartford Insurance Group, with failure to cover damages in the blaze.

Forty-four employees lost their jobs because of the fire. County grasslands totaling 6,000 acres were also ravaged by a July range fire, but there were no serious injuries or damages reported.

The Rupert City Council had to meet until 3 a.m. April 1 to approve the city budget in time, and finally gave approval to a figure of $824,500, only one per cent more than in 1970. The budgeting was the center of attention for several weeks; however, with angry citizens turning out at the public hearing and councilmen filling charges and countercharges over alleged misstatements of fact and laziness on the part of city officials.

Mayor Wendell Johnson broke the voting deadlock in the final budget meeting. At odds in the dispute were Councilmen William F. Whitton and Grover Newman, on one side, and Councilmen Charles Dalry and George MacDonald on the other.

Whitton and Newman charged that the city was not accounting properly for the money it was spending, while Dalry and MacDonald pushed for the adoption of the slightly increased budget figure.

The final approval to the budget did not end the flare-up, however, as Whitton later leveled charges against Terry Duffin, city director of parks and recreation, accusing him of failing to care properly for athletic equipment.

Rupert taxpayers received an unusual tax refund in 1971, when the county commissioners ordered a 1.9 mill levy returned to the property owners. The money had been collected to support the county's landfill system, but studies later revealed that Rupert City residents could not dump in the fills, which weren't large enough to handle the load.

The year 1971 also produced a voters' revolt in the county, with two councilmen being turned out of office in November municipal elections in Rupert, and a mayor being defeated in a reelection bid at Paul.

Rupert incumbents Charles Dalry and Grover Newman ran third and fourth behind Clark Cameron and William G. Strasser in the balloting for two expiring City Council terms in the county seat.

Robert C. Larson, a Minidoka County school psychologist, upset Harold Wilson in the balloting for that town's majority chair.

The county's school system had good news and bad news during the year, with the official year-end audit showing a $250,000 budget deficit, which left trustees budgeting for its gradual retirement. Esther Whiting, for three decades a teacher in the county school system, was named Gem State Teacher of the Year and advanced to the national finals, set for early in 1972.

The district also hired a new superintendent, Dr. Darrell J. Hatfield, who replaced Camden Meyer. Meyer had resigned to take a job with the Twin Falls School District.

The school trustees also angrily turned down a partially state-supported kindergarten program, accusing Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of turning the issue into a "political football."

County farmers had good news from the federal government late in the year, when Congress passed an appropriations bill to allow for feasibility studies of expansion of 10 irrigation districts nationwide.

Minidoka A and B Irrigation officials said work on the studies would begin as soon as personnel were available, but none had been freed by the end of the year.

Minidoka residents also participated in the drive to establish a Mini-Cassia Child Development Center in the fall of the year, ultimately netting over $2,500, with their counterparts in Cassia County, and locating their facility in the Rupert Armory Building. The center hopes to open its doors early in 1972.

Minidoka voters joined four other counties in October in authorizing the creation of a Regional Airport Authority, voting 665 to 675 in favor of the permanent bond.

The year also saw the legalization of grocery store wine sales in Minidoka County, with first the county commissioners and then the city council approving ordinances for retail sales. Lloyd Patterson, Paul, was named the county's grassman of the year at the chamber of commerce's annual dinner. He was later selected one of four finalists in the state competition.

Brenda Martin, a 17-year-old Minico High School student, was named the county's second Junior Miss in the Jaycee-sponsored contest.

Minidoka County Hospital officials let a contract in late November for a $36,000 expansion of the hospital's laboratory and filling areas, with the work due for completion by mid-February, 1972.

Dowdy found guilty

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rep. John Dowdy, a Texan with 19 years in Congress, was found guilty Thursday of accepting a $25,000 bribe to influence a Justice Department fraud investigation of a Washington, D.C., home improvement firm. A U.S. District Court jury deliberated nearly 15 hours before convicting Dowdy, 59, on all eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury at 3:57 p.m. EST. Sentencing was delayed to allow defense attorneys to petition for a new trial. Special prosecutor Stephen H.

Sachs said the verdict, which came after nearly two months of testimony, "breathes some fresh air" into the political arena. Defense attorneys said Dowdy was "framed." Dowdy's wife, who began crying as the verdict was read, told her husband later on a courthouse elevator that he was convicted "because you've always hated the government, John." Dowdy then told her to say nothing more.

Dowdy, a Democrat from Athens, Tex., faces a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and/or a $10,000 fine. He was the 23rd member of Congress to be indicted since the turn of the century.

The Texan was the first sitting congressman convicted of a felony since Rep. Thomas J. Lane, D-Mass., was found guilty of willful tax evasion on April 30, 1956. His conviction Thursday will not require Dowdy to resign his seat, however.

Dowdy himself sat expressionless, his hands folded, at the defense table as the jury returned its verdict. His chief defense attorney, John W. Key Jr., said he was "disappointed."

Defense attorneys had seven days in which to file the motion for a new trial.

Soviet Union pledges more support to Hanoi

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union responded to the intensified U.S. bombing in North Vietnam with an official denunciation today and a pledge of more aid to Hanoi.

The statement and the announcement appeared in Pravda and other major Soviet newspapers today. The announcement did not specify what sort of assistance Hanoi will receive, but it said it will be free of charge.

"As a result of talks in Moscow, which are of major significance, an agreement was signed on the Soviet Union's additional assistance, gratis to the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, with a view to strengthening the DRV's defensive capacity," Tass said.

The brief announcement appeared only two minutes after Tass carried an official statement that the Soviet government promised to provide all the help needed to defend North Vietnam.

'Super shaft'

DETROIT (UPI) — Ninety-two University of Michigan students, all set for a weeklong holiday in Southern California at bargain prices, were left holding the bag Thursday.

"This is really a super shaft," said Gary J. Kopper after learning that the tour agency, Intertour of Chicago, had cancelled the trip only 12 hours before flight time.

The students were told that the $214 they each paid in advance for the tour would be refunded, but it was too late for them to make arrangements to get to Los Angeles on regularly scheduled flights. In addition, they were stuck with the tickets to the New Year's game between Michigan and Stanford, which cost $10.50 each.

The abortive tour arrangements were made through Intertour, which advertised the package as including a round trip to Los Angeles, seven nights in the International Hotel, a rented car after Saturday with unlimited mileage and a trip to Disneyland.

Volcano causes havoc

VILLARRICA, Chile (UPI) — Smoldering Villarrica volcano erupted in a thundering fireball Thursday, destroying homes, isolating villages and ruining crops. Police said at least 29 persons were missing.

Almost 700 persons were evacuated from their homes after the eruption of the 8,250-foot volcano, about 500 miles south of Santiago. Rocks and lava were showered over a 10-mile area in this agricultural, timber and tourist region. Melting snow from the volcano's peak caused flooding which smashed three bridges and isolated the villages of Luanay, Conaripe and Pucun.

Six Chilean air force helicopters searched the area for survivors. Interior Minister Jose Taha flew to Villarrica from Santiago to direct relief operations.

The volcano had been dormant for six years. It entered into activity two months ago, with fumes curling from a crater near its summit and occasional lava discharges.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A television producer testified Thursday a young girl he fell in love with turned to prostitution and then showed up with three masked men who beat him, kidnapped him and forced him to turn over some $34,000 from safety deposit boxes.

Peter Gayle, 32, producer of the ABC network show "The Young Rebels" before it was cancelled, admitted that $24,000 or $25,000 of the money he gave to his abductors in Los Angeles were the girl's earnings. Gayle also told the defense attorney for the girl he had been arrested for pandering in Las Vegas but quickly released. He denied he had put the girl "on the streets" as a prostitute and lived off her earnings.

After a 76-minute preliminary hearing, Peace Justice Jason Berkman ordered the girl, Linda Narbana, and the man, with whom she was arrested, Anthony Kallas, 35, bound over for grand jury action. Berkman allowed the girl to be released under $15,000 bond because the proof against her was "not as evident" as that against Kallas. Kallas was held without bond.

The girl, who said she was 19 but whom police say is 22, and Kallas were charged with kidnaping, armed robbery and aggravated assault. They were arrested Wednesday at Silver Spring, Md., and brought to Miami Beach Wednesday night.

Police said they are hunting two other men. Gayle testified at the hearing he knew who they are. Gayle, whose real name is Peter Schwartz, said he met Linda in Miami about two years ago, befriended her and that when she followed him to California where he was working on the ABC scripts, "I fell in love with her." Linda began going to Las Vegas because "she liked the excitement," Gayle testified, and after cancellation of his show early this year he moved to Las Vegas. He said that Linda turned to prostitution and he was unable to dissuade her from it because "she was very headstrong. She wouldn't listen to me." Gayle said Miss Narbana was afraid to keep her money in Las Vegas and that he kept it for her in his safety deposit box in Los Angeles. Gayle said Linda never asked him for the money. Gayle said he hadn't seen Linda for several weeks and was staying with a friend, Stuart Wallach, in Gayle's house when Linda knocked on the door about 1 a.m. Dec. 21. When he opened the door, he said, the girl cried, "sweet face, I'm home" — and then the three masked men burst into the room. They beat him and Wallach, said Gayle — whose testimony was backed by Wallach. Gayle said one of the armed men was Kallas and the other two were "two little olives, guys who looked as if they were right out of a Peter Lorre movie — a bad one."

Kallas and one of the others forced him to go with them to Miami airport and buy three tickets to Los Angeles on his travel card and forced him to fly to Los Angeles with them.

Peter Gayle

In Los Angeles, he said, they went to three different banks and Kallas removed $24,000 or $25,000 from safety deposit boxes, part of which was his and part Linda's. He testified that Kallas wanted to "take me to a room," but he refused to go, telling the men to kill him on the spot. At that, he said, "they just melted into the crowd."

Donates pay

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — State Rep. Richard Allen is donating his $2,000 legislative pay raise to charities and other good causes in his district. Allen said he is giving up the pay raise because he supports the wage-price freeze and is in sympathy with teachers and other workers who were denied a scheduled wage increase.

Hikers safe

MOUNT SHASTA, Calif. (UPI) — Two plucky teen-age Eagle Scouts hiked frostbitten and hungry off Mt. Shasta Thursday after spending 12 days in blizzards and sub-zero temperatures.

"I'm glad we made it down. It would have been embarrassing if we had to be rescued," said Vern Clevinger of Oakland. "We had some bad luck and made a couple of mistakes."

The two 16-year-old campers were found trudging along a logging road by a McCloud Construction Co. foreman one day after they ran out of emergency rations and only hours after a ground search was abandoned by the Shasta County sheriff's office.

The were driven to a movie company location filming "Climb an Angry Mountain" where they lunched with actor Fess Parker and others. Parker then drove Clevinger and Bill Dougherty, of Berkeley to a clinic in nearby McCloud for treatment.

Frazier sentenced to death

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Mass murderer John Linley Frazier was formally sentenced to death Thursday in a courtroom crowded with long-haired young people who called the judge a "creep" and the sentence "syndicated murder."

Superior Court Judge Charles Franich passed sentence on the 25-year-old self-styled ecology crusader after turning down motions for a new trial and for a reduction of the sentence to life imprisonment.

As Franich intoned the traditional words, "may God have mercy on your soul," one of the youths in the courtroom shouted at him, "On your soul!" "It's a goddam syndicated killing!" yelled a young woman. "You're a goddam bunch of creeps!"

A jury of eight women and four men earlier this month convicted Frazier and condemned him to die for killing eye surgeon Dr. Victor Ohta, his wife, two sons and secretary Oct. 19, 1970, because Ohta's luxurious mountaintop mansion near Santa Cruz, Calif., had caused "destruction of the environment."

Thant hopeful

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary General Thant ended his 10-year leadership of the United Nations Thursday and told newsmen he is "very optimistic for the future."

"I am an optimist, you know," said the 63-year-old Thant. "I am very hopeful for the future of the United Nations and the future of the human community."

"Of course there will be difficulties," he added. "Perhaps for a couple of years, but things will improve. I am very optimistic for the future." Thant, secretary general for 10 years, will be succeeded as the U.N.'s top administrator by Kurt Waldheim of Austria.

Still optimistic

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — An energetic Bob Hope, golf club in hand, bounced off an Air Force plane Thursday to say he still was optimistic about bringing American prisoners of war home.

The comedian completed a 15-day holiday tour of United States armed forces bases in the Orient where he met with North Vietnamese officials in an attempt to convince them to release captured U.S. servicemen.

Hope had offered to raise $10 million for North Vietnamese children in return for the freedom of American POWs. "My offer hasn't been turned down yet," said Hope. "And I'm not giving up." "I spent about an hour and 20 minutes with those people and they were very cordial. There even seemed to be some signs of optimism." Asked if he thought the intensified bombing of North Vietnam during the past week had hindered his plan, Hope said no.

"The bombing raids in the north may even help my plan," he said. "It's been a long, bitter fight and I'm sure everybody wants it over with."

Hope said he was going to contact American officials in Laos within two weeks if he has not heard from the North Vietnamese. The long-time entertainer was somewhat subdued, having attended the funeral of retired Air Force Gen. Emmett "Bole" O'Connell at Colorado Springs, Colo.

UCLA enhances No. 1 ranking on easy 79-53 romp over Ohio State

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Young and talented UCLA enhanced its No. 1 ranking with an easy 79-53 victory over sixth-ranked Ohio State Thursday night to win the Bruin Classic.

at Pauley Pavilion, its eighth victory of the season. In the preliminary game for third place, the Texas Longhorns topped hapless Arizona 68-69.

Facing their first formidable opponent of the year, the Bruins jumped out into an 11-1 lead in the opening four minutes and led by as many as 23 points in the first half before their 6-foot-11 sophomore center, Bill Walton, got into foul trouble. The Bruins led 41-24 at halftime.

Walton, who finished with 14 points after playing only 18 minutes, had 10 points, 12 rebounds and blocked six shots before the intermission. He was named the outstanding player of the tournament.

Ohio State closed to 46-38 in the second half before its 7-foot center, Duke Witter, picked up his fourth foul with 14:43 remaining.

UCLA then pulled out to a 22-point lead at 69-47 and Bruin coach John Wooden began pulling his starters.

Witter was high point man for the game with 10 while sophomore Keith Wilkes and Tommy Curtis had 13 apiece for the Bruins.

Allan Hornsnyk, the Buckeyes' heralded junior guard, went 9-for-9 in the first half under heavy pressure from Henry Bibby and finished with 10 points.

It was UCLA's 23rd straight victory over two seasons and the first time in eight games this year that the Bruins failed to hit 100 points. Ohio State now is 7-2.

Sophomore Larry Robinson paced the Texas win with 26 points.

Wildlife Viewpoint

Idaho Fish and Game Department, Jerome

We have a great variety of hawks and eagles in Idaho and the area along the Snake River is particularly interesting because it lies in a main migration route of these fascinating birds. This fact was really brought to my attention while I was sitting in a cornfield recently, waiting for some ducks to make their appearance.

There were about 2,000 feral pigeons feeding in the field with me and I counted 5 species of hawks and a golden eagle that made passes at them during the four hours I hunted. These included a prairie falcon, numerous sharp-shinned hawks, a pair of rough legged hawks, a red-tailed hawk, and a pigeon hawk, which is really a small falcon. It increased the enjoyment of my dayfield tremendously to observe the various ways these hawks and eagles attempted to catch their prey. There has been a lot of jokes made about "birdwatchers" but really I think the sport can considerably increase his appreciation of nature considerably by learning to identify birds and observe their habits.

Hawks are easily recognized by their powerful wings, short, curved and very sharp bills, and curved talons. Hawks are said to have perfect vision. They have the ability to focus each eye individually on a subject or both at once on their prey. All species but the marsh hawk nest in tall trees or in niches in the face of rocky cliffs. The marsh hawk prefers a site on top of a muskrat house. Eggs of most hawks are spotted or blotched with shades of brown on a pale background, whereas eggs of owls are always white. Owls in trees generally are bulky piles of sticks and if successful often are used year after year by the same or succeeding pairs. The female hawk is usually larger than the male. A general characteristic of hawks is the banded tail and streaked or barred underparts. Two basic kinds of hawks occur here, the soaring broadwinged birds and the low flying, long tailed predators. All hawks, eagles, and owls are protected by state law in Idaho because of their beneficial feeding habits. Most of their diet consists of rodents and rabbits but like all predators they will take whatever is most easily available for food.

Fourteen species of hawks and falcons are found in Idaho, and both species of eagles. However, there are about 5 species that are commonly found in Southern Idaho at this time of year. One of the best known falcons found in the state is the sparrow hawk. They are a little larger than a robin, have long tails and short, curved wings, and distinctive black markings on the head. Its food averages 60 percent insects and 30 percent mice. I have had one since last summer, attempting to heal its wing which was broken by a hunter's bullet. It was fascinating to watch him eat a grasshopper, which we fed him regularly while they were out during the summer. He grabbed it in one foot, threw off the head in one flick of his bill, and began eating right down through it, leaving only the wings and lower legs when he was finished. When we first got him he ate 17 large grasshoppers at one sitting to give you an idea of his capacity. He can also handle two mice a day, which I have been trapping out of my storage shed.

Another common hawk is the marsh hawk. It is a long-tailed hawk about 15 inches in length which flies low over the fields. Its most distinguishing mark is the white rump patch at the base of its tail. It is probably one of our most beneficial mouse catchers. The prairie falcon is a rare bird in the U.S. but it nests along our Snake River canyon in fair numbers. It has a bent wing appearance with the typical black moustache markings of the falcon. It can fly extremely fast and was the only one of the 5 species of hawks I saw in the cornfield that caught a pigeon on its first attempt.

Missouri cops first Big 8 title since '54

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri, ahead all the way, pulled away from a game Kansas State team in the last 2-2 minutes Thursday night, scoring a 67-56 victory and winning its first Big Eight basketball tournament since 1954.

The Tigers, paced by the rebounding of John Brown, Mike

Jeffries and Al Eberhard, led by as many as 15 points in the first half, but had to fight all the way. Brown, who scored 18 points, hit a pair of free throws in an uncontested thump as Missouri turned a 50-56 advantage into a 63-56 lead. Eberhard hit another bucket at the 1:07 mark and Jeffries canned two free shots with 24 seconds left to end Kansas State's hopes for its first championship since 1963.

Kansas State, led by Steve Mitchell's 18 points, never quite overcome a slow start, when the Wildcats fell behind 25-10 in the first 12 minutes. Eberhard scored 21 points to lead the Tigers, who elevated their record to 10-1. Kansas State dropped to 6-4.

Chuck Jura scored 23 points to lead Nebraska to an 84-69 romp over Oklahoma for fifth place in the night's first game. Nebraska, now 7-5, had seven and eight-point streaks in the first half as the Cornhuskers built a 41-33 lead at intermission and were never troubled by the Sooners in the second half.

Al Nilsen added 15 points and Mike Peterson 14 for Nebraska. Oklahoma was led by Scott Martin with 15.

Iowa State captured third place, and Oklahoma State seventh place in afternoon games. The Cyclones defeated Colorado 87-82, when 7-0 center Tom O'Connor scored eight of his 21 points in the last seven minutes. Steve Uthoff's tip-in with four seconds to go propelled the Cowboys past Kansas, 66-65.

Poinsettia meet won by Clemson

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UPI) — Junior Dave Angel hit 27 points and snared 22 rebounds Thursday as Clemson topped Auburn 77-67 in the championship game of the Poinsettia Classic.

Holy Cross beat Furman 104-88 in the consolation game. Angel, 6-11, dominated the game as he had his highest point total of the season. He was named the most valuable player of the tournament.

The lead changed hands several times in the early stages. With Auburn leading 20-18, Angel connected on two shots while teammate Terrell Sutt added another to give the Tigers a 24-20 margin which was never headed.

Davidson cops CIT tourney

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Davidson forward John Falconi pumped in 26 points Thursday to lead the Wildcats in an 83-73 win over Virginia Tech for their sixth Charlotte Invitational Tournament crown in nine years.

Rutgers defeated Georgia Tech 91-64 in a consolation game preceding the championship game. The Wildcats led only 37-35 at the half, but Davidson won handily after wearing down the younger club.

Charlie Lipscomb led VPI with 24 points. Rutgers' John Saboyki connected for 24 points and teammate Zimmo Roundtree for 20 as the Scarlet Knights bombed Georgia Tech in the consolation game.

Virginia outlasts Citadel

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — The University of Virginia downed a scrappy Citadel team 77-72 to take the championship of the Palmetto Classic Thursday.

It's called hacking

THREE-POINT PLAY by Toby Harding occurred Thursday night when the Minico senior sank this basket and then added the free throw when fouled by an unidentified Jerome Tiger. Minico won its seventh straight, 74-47.

Minico's smothering defense overpowers Jerome by 74-47

JEROME — The undefeated Minico Spartans baffled Jerome with half court and full-court presses Thursday night on one end of the gym and shot with great accuracy on the other to ease into a 74-47 victory. The Spartans had some trouble with Jerome, but only in the first period. They then blew it wide open with a 26-point second quarter.

Minico had Jerome wary from the outside with its half court ball hawking and in the second period the Spartans went to a press. It didn't bother the guard much as they got the ball downcourt, but Jerome's big men couldn't manage the two-on-one and one-on-one ball handling action and were guilty of several turnovers. Minico capitalized on that for its big lead and after a while, the Spartans took control of the Jerome front court men.

The Lakers led by 11 points early in the third period but Seattle surged back with Spencer Haywood doing most of the damage and took an 83-82 lead with 10 minutes left. Jerry West, who finished with 28 points, then hit for the Lakers with 0:37 left to put the Lakers out in front to stay.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI) — Led by six-foot-nine sophomore Len Elore, Maryland crushed eighth-ranked St. John's 90-69 to win its own invitational Christmas Tournament Thursday night.

In the consolation game, Harvard coasted over Western Kentucky, 107-89. Elore, who received the tournament's most valuable player award, scored only seven points for Letty Driesell's 14th ranked Terrapins but he was devastating on defense and under the boards, gathering in 18 rebounds.

Florida State defeats WSU in second half

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The powerful Florida State Seminoles, held in check in the first half by a stubborn Washington State team, exploded in the second half to take an 85-61 win and capture the championship of the Far West Basketball Classic Thursday night.

Oregon State displayed its pressure game to beat New Mexico 81-69 and capture third place, leaving the Lobos in sixth.

All-tournament forward Reggie Royals and forward Rolland Garrett sparked the Seminoles on their board play as Florida State took its eighth victory of the year.

Ron King of the Seminoles had 17 points with Royals and Garrett 16 each for the Seminoles. Washington State was led by guard Dan Steward with 18.

High scoring Washington topped Michigan, 106-80, earlier to take fourth place. The Beavers opened the game with their vaunted zone press and forced New Mexico into eight turnovers in the first two minutes. The Lobos ended up with 30 turnovers in the game.

Oregon State, coming off a 43-37 intermission edge, outscored New Mexico 12-4 in a three minute span to make it 65-45. Freddy Boyd topped the Beaver scoring with 20, while Darryl Minnifield had 16 for the Lobos.

It was the second straight game in which the Huskies scored 100 points. They defeated Dartmouth 100-75 Wednesday. The Huskies' three-game point total of 277 broke the five-year record of West Virginia, which scored 268 in 1966.

Dartmouth took seventh place behind Michigan earlier Thursday by outlasting Oregon, 92-82. The Huskies' fast breaks were the key as Washington literally blitzed Michigan.

Steve Hawes, the Huskies' 6-10 center, led all scorers with 22 points. He also pulled down 10 rebounds to help ignite the breaks. Oregon led 44-43 at the half, but the Indians outscored the Ducks 17-3 during a five-minute span, moved to a 61-53 margin and never again were headed.

Dartmouth's zone press in the second half resulted in numerous Oregon turnovers. Dartmouth's James Brown was high scorer with 20 points. Oregon shot only 30 per cent from the floor in the second half while Dartmouth was 53 per cent.

Paul Erland and Bill Raynor added 19 each for Dartmouth. Rusty Blair and reserve Paul Sunderland led Oregon with 16 points each.

Plunkett named rookie of year for pro league

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Plunkett, last year's Heisman Trophy winner and number one draft choice of the pros in 1971, added one more honor to his glorious yet young career Friday when he was named by UPI as the Rookie of the Year in the American Football Conference.

With their season-ending upset victory over the playoff-bound Colts, the Patriots chalked up their sixth win against eight losses... This 30-yard pass play to Mike Garrett set a club record which was, in turn, broken five weeks later when Plunkett connected on an 88-yarder to his ex-Stanford aerial mate, Randy Vataha, against the Baltimore Colts.

Kicking game has new meaning for 49ers-Dallas showdown

DALLAS (UPI)—Both Dallas Tom Landry and San Francisco's Dick Nolan, a couple of old playing and coaching buddies who find themselves at odds on the football field Sunday with a championship at stake, agree that the kicking game plays a major role in football.

Changing personnel is something Landry has been doing all season trying to get the right people onto his specialty teams. When someone suggested he might try full-time receiver Bobby Hayes on the punt and kickoff teams, Landry disagreed.

Collared and stopped

he sustained on the first offensive series, the strong-armed quarterback connected on TD passes of 16, 5, 80 and 31 yards and completed nine of 16 attempts for 218 yards. # Canadiens sold to new group

MONTREAL (UPI)—J. David Molson announced Thursday that his family had sold the Montreal Canadiens hockey team and the Montreal Forum Arena to a group headed by Jacques Courtois of Montreal.

Both Minnesota and Washington fared very well in running back kickoffs and the Redskins even blocked a Forty Niner punt to set up their first points—a 28-yard first quarter drive. "The kicking game is a very tangible thing—especially when you get two good teams together," Landry said in looking ahead to his team's second straight NFC title showdown against Nolan's 49ers.

Bears get first job inquiries

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some "pretty good folks" already have applied for the job as head coach of the Chicago Bears, only one day after owner George Halas dismissed Jim Dooley with one year remaining on his contract.

Your tend to concentrate on other phases of the game and tend to overlook the kicking game sometimes," he said. "But, you really can't afford to do that." Nolan, talking to the Cowboys press corps by telephone, said "There's no doubt we're going to have to do something about it" (the kicking game). I think we'll correct it—probably change some personnel."

Howard sets black first

MIAMI (UPI)—Led by Trinidad's Alvin Henderson, Howard University Thursday night became the first black university in the 65-year history of the NCAA to win a national sports title, with a stunning 3-2 win over St. Louis, America's dominant college soccer power for the past three years.

Drunk drivers kill some 28,000 Americans yearly

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not many people think of the drunk driver as someone who's picking their pockets. But that's what he, or she, does. Last year drunk drivers killed more than 28,000 Americans, caused more than 800,000 accidents and ran up economic losses estimated at $9 billion.

According to Harry Parrish, president of the National Association of Insurance Agents, the habitual offender was the single largest factor contributing to rising automobile insurance rates over the past decade. Last year, according to Parrish, the drunk driver was responsible for $4.8 billion in property damages arising out of auto accidents. Another $3.3 billion disappeared in lost wages.

In San Salvador, the drunk driver can even face a firing squad. A jail term of 10 years and a $2,600 fine awaits the habitual offender in South Africa.

The man or woman we're talking about usually is a drunk, on drugs or has a serious psychological problem. He or she invariably is a repeat fowlup. In many cases, he or she has lost the license but not the urge to drive!

Sen. Ashbrook

Ashbrook said spokesman for American right

By United Press International
Although he is widely regarded among his ideological supporters as a leading political spokesman of the American right, Roy John M. Ashbrook is rarely seen on the House floor defending the conservative cause.

He is the ranking Republican on the House Internal Security Committee and second-ranked on the House Education and Labor Committee, but he seldom is embroiled in legislative battles.

And he frequently does he join his conservative colleagues on the floor in denouncing excessive federal spending or control of the economy, even though these are the "every issues" which he will campaign against President Nixon next year in the New Hampshire and Florida primaries.

Ashbrook, 43 years of age, is a six-time veteran of the House, and he relishes the political life outside Congress, from the enthusiasm of conservative at grassroots rallies and helping organize them for political campaigns.

His no-nonsense word among such conservative as National Review Human Events, and an active member of Young America's Freedom and its adult counterpart, the American Conservative Union, which he helped found in 1964. A lawyer and weekly newspaper publisher in his native Johnstown, Ohio, Ashbrook was graduated from Harvard University and Ohio State Law School. Elected to the House in 1960, he was one of the leaders of the movement to give Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona the GOP presidential nomination in 1964.

After Goldwater was swamped in the Johnson electoral landslide that year, Ashbrook helped organize the ACU, a Washington-based group which supports Conservative candidates for Congress. Ashbrook was its chairman from 1966 until he stepped down earlier this year.

After serving as national chairman of Young Republicans in the early 1960s, Ashbrook won election to the Ohio General Assembly in 1956, where he served until he went to Congress in 1960.

In 1958 he was named one of the 15 outstanding young men in American politics and was chosen one of "the most respected" conservative leaders in a national poll in 1970.

Although he enjoys the friendship of both Senate and House conservatives, Ashbrook expects little support from congressional colleagues in his primary challenge to Nixon's foreign and domestic policies.

don't MAKE IT ONE FOR THE ROAD!

Not if you want to make it into '72. That slightly out-of-focus vision, that not-quite-perfect coordination can get a lot of laughs at a party. Out on the road it brings tears.

Drunken drivers aren't the only staggering figures. The statistics on car accidents caused by them are pretty staggering too. And, a lot of people became statistics . . . courtesy of that chap who had to have just one more for the road.

It is the season to be merry. It is the time for good fellows to get together to celebrate. And we want you to keep right on celebrating — all through the year.

Remember. Tomorrow is the beginning of the rest of your life. Be here to enjoy it. Don't make it one for the road. Stop driving if you are drinking. Call a cab . . . call a friend . . . or call the police. You'll find them to be the best friends you ever had — if you stop driving BEFORE you get into trouble. They would much rather help you home safely than escort your remains to the morgue.

Change sought in bond voting

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General V. Anthony Park said Thursday he will ask the Idaho Legislature to present to voters in 1972 a constitutional amendment to alter the vote required for approval of revenue bonds to a simple majority.

Citing the need for bond approval for sewage treatment facilities, Park said his request "May not be politically popular, and it will certainly be opposed by those who oppose all change in our existing bonding laws."

But, "Idaho is to find meaningful answers to its environmental problems action is necessary," he said. "The alternatives are continued pollution, and even more legal action by the state, one of which is not the appropriate solution."

Park requested constitutional amendment will not affect the two-thirds approval requirement for general obligation bonds. He said the differentiation was made because of the different type of obligation each type of bond imposes on the public.

He said in the case of general obligation bonds all governmental, monies and properties are collateral securing the bond, while in revenue bonds only the facility itself and the revenue from the facility may be used as collateral.

Park said passage of bond issues has long been a problem. He said the problem in Idaho is compounded by the two-thirds majority requirement, and by the government indebtedness limited in the constitution to $2 million of short term anticipation notes.

Already the two-thirds majority requirement has been tested in the Idaho Supreme Court with plaintiffs contending the requirement violates the one man, one vote principle by giving more weight to the negative vote.

Flooring tips

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you're planning to install a floor in the basement, choose a material that's recommended for this purpose. Due to potential difficulties with moisture in the concrete subfloor, consult your dealer on the proper type of resilient flooring material, advises the Armstrong Information Service.
