Wind's effect

—STRONG WINDS sweeping through the Magic Valley Wednesday caused problems for this under block storage building at Tolman Livestock Co., east of Twin Falls. Winds sheared off a wall of cinder blocks as neatly as if a bulldozer had done the job. The roof collapsed, damaging two motorboats inside and other building contents.

Demos delay panel merger

By LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — The first partisan flare-up in the Senate is a stalemate at this point. Democrats win for two days but Republicans will get their own way Friday.

The first public squabble is a minor one over the consolidation of two committees.

Democrats managed to thwart suspension of rules to make the change immediate, but just by sitting on the idea until Friday — the third legislative day — Republicans can use their majority muscle to force the consolidation.

But Senate Majority Leader Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said the partisan conflict arose behind the scenes the first day of the session.

It seemed that Cecil D. Andrus delivered advance copies of his "State of the State" message to Democratic leadership but not to Republican leadership.

The slight appeared to have irritated some of the GOP chieftains. It happened just before Andrus made a plea for unity and bi-partisanship in the address itself.

Since Wednesday's problems, however, Kidwell has met with ranking Democrats and hopes tensions will ease a little.

Meantime, the delay in creating a new "Commerce and Banking" committee out of the old Labor and Economic Development and the Commerce and Banking Committees means a delay in work to be done.

One of the more controversial issues of the session — and one of the most studied — will be the proposal to hike the amount of state support to public education.

One proposal will raise state support to 75 per cent, but bills to provide for 100 per cent funding from the state level will be ready within a week.

Rep. Allan F. Larsett, R-Blackfoot, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, said the new, higher approach would require about $60 million more in state revenue.

To come up with the extra money, Larsett suggested as possible sources a three per cent increase in the state sales tax, an increase in the cigarette tax, elimination of sales tax exemptions and elimination of the double deductibility feature of the state income tax.

He said the legislature might eventually settle for a combination of these but in any event one which will include "some increase in the sales tax."

School aid asked

BOISE (UPI) — The public school foundation program requested $7.1 million for fiscal year 1973 Wednesday, plus another 3.6 million for public kindergartens.

The total budget outlined by Sup't of Public Instruction D. F.

Engelking was for $110.7 million, compared with $95.9 million in the current fiscal year. Of the new total, $53.1 million would be from local level taxes.

Bounty on coyotes

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Walter H. Carr, D-Emmett, Wednesday announced plans to introduce legislation placing a $7.50 bounty on coyotes to be paid for from fish and game funds.

"Being an ardent big game hunter, I am convinced that coyotes are a definite menace to big game herds and greatly reduce the number of big game in Idaho each year," Carr said. "I feel that this is necessary to reduce the coyote population in our state."

"I believe a bounty of $7.50 will not only help the big game population but will also help the sheep and cattle ranchers in Idaho," he said.

Commitment changes

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of the Idaho Mental Health Association outlined Wednesday proposed legislation to change regulations concerning commitment to a mental health program.

Another change would provide time limits on the procedure for commitment for a mental health treatment program.

Court frees Groppi

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court overturned today a contempt sentence meted out to Father James E. Groppi by the Wisconsin legislature.

The court held that the militant Milwaukee priest was not given a statement of the charges or a chance to respond to them.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger delivered the unanimous 7-0 opinion.

The newly seated members of the court — Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist — did not participate in the ruling.

Under an 1848 state law, the Wisconsin assembly cited the civil rights leader by a 71-24 vote Oct. 1, 1969, two days after he had led 1,000 people onto the chamber floor in a protest against cuts in welfare payments. The resolution specified he would be confined in the county jail for six months or for the duration of the legislative session, whichever was briefer.

When Father Groppi appealed to federal courts, U.S. District Judge James E. Doyle ruled in his favor, but when the state took the case to the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the conviction was upheld.

In reversing the appeals court, Burger said when a legislative body acts two days after the event, "in the absence of the contemnor and without notice, there is no assurance that the members of the legislature are acting, as a judge does in a contempt case, on the basis of personal observation and identification of the contemnor engaging in the conduct."

"Nor is there any opportunity whatsoever for him to speak in defense or mitigation, if he is in fact the offender."

The opinion said "the function of the contempt process by a legislative body is perhaps more related to deterrents of those disposed to create disorders than to restoring order."

Reds hit Viet, US air bases

SAIGON (UPI) — Viet Cong guerrillas attacked a "South Vietnamese base just outside Saigon today and the U.S. command reported the first Communist attack on the big American airfield at Da Nang in nearly two years.

Heavy fighting also erupted along South Vietnam's Central Coast, as the fighting grew in intensity throughout Vietnam, the military situation in neighboring Laos deteriorated and Communist Pathet Lao forces claimed the capture of the American Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) operated base at Long Cheng. Government sources denied it but acknowledged the outpost was nearly surrounded by North Vietnamese.

U.S. military spokesmen said 10 rounds of 82mm mortar fire hit the helicopter base at Da Nang early today. The attack caused no damage.

As the fighting increased in South Vietnam and Laos the U.S. command announced that five Americans were killed and 47 wounded in the war last week.

Metro schools ahead? go with Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every metropolitan area in the country may yet find its city and suburban schools merged into one district for integration purposes as a result of this week's precedent-setting court ruling in Richmond, Va., according to civil rights lawyers.

In the Richmond decision, Federal District Court Judge Robert R. Merhugh Jr. ordered county-city boundaries dissolved where schools are concerned, creating one big metropolitan district so that town black schools can be balanced with suburban white ones by busing and other means.

A group of civil rights lawyers, including William L. Taylor, former staff director for the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, told a news conference Wednesday the decision has vast implications.

"In my judgment," Taylor said, "no metropolitan area in the country is exempt."

He conceded there would be exceptions where state lines are involved — such as St. Louis, Mo.-East St. Louis, Ill., and Washington, D.C.-Virginia-Maryland. But he cited as examples of white suburban flight such cities as Newark, N.J., now 74 per cent black; Atlanta, Baltimore and St. Louis, all more than 60 per cent black; and New York City, more than 50 per cent black and Puerto Rican, and Los Angeles, more than half black and Chicano.

The issue which prompted the Richmond decision, Taylor said, has already been raised or is being raised in cases involving Detroit, Indianapolis, Wilmington, Del.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; and the entire state of New Jersey.

Newsman set visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eighty American newsmen will be allowed to accompany President Nixon to Mainland China next month, and they will be able to transmit instant live television, teletype copy and photographs.

The White House gave details of press arrangements for the trip Wednesday, and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the Chinese made it clear there would be "absolutely no press censorship."

At the same time, Ziegler announced a Chinese table tennis team will come to the United States sometime in the spring for matches with an American team similar to those held in Peking last April. Those matches were the prelude to a breakthrough in relations between the two countries.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will carry with him to Peking and to Moscow the authority—and the necessary codes—for ordering a nuclear retaliation against an attack on the United States.

Partly for this reason, the White House and the Department of Defense have gone to extreme lengths to make sure Nixon never gets out of contact with Washington during his two historic trips. The measures taken, officials say, are all but foolproof.

The President will have direct communications and very complete at all times. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday when asked about published reports that Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird would control America's nuclear arsenal if communications with Nixon were lost during his trips abroad.

The report is totally wrong. I don't know where it came from.

Some government officials acknowledged, however, there will exist an "almost impossible" chance that contact between Nixon and Washington might break down temporarily.

Ziegler refused to elaborate on what would happen if this were the case, but highly placed sources said Vice President Spiro T. Agnew probably would take over a "acting president" through a standing arrangement with Nixon should this happen.

The sources said decisions about command sequences such as this follow well established patterns and said the Moscow and Peking trips are no exception.

TF gets border patrol

By LEE TREMAINE

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A border patrol station soon will be established in Twin Falls in an attempt to curb the flow of illegal aliens into the area.

According to Raymond F. Farrell, commissioner, U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Washington, D.C., the Immigration Service personnel will work with employers of migrant workers.

Farrell, in reply to a Times-News query concerning the alleged abuse of a number of migrants by Immigration Service personnel in a search of Northwest Poultry Co., said that "Heretofore we have had to detail officers to the Twin Falls area to check the status of migrant workers."

"However, the number of illegal aliens located has indicated the need for a permanent station."

"We are now establishing a border patrol station in Twin Falls which will enable our officers to work more closely with the employers and will also provide an opportunity for them to become acquainted with the citizens and legal resident aliens of Mexican descent in the area."

Concerning alleged "abuse" of reportedly illegal aliens employed by Northwest Poultry, as reported by John Bertie, Farrell said, "I can assure you that our officers are instructed to respect the rights and privileges of individuals."

Each report of impropriety will be investigated and, if it is determined an individual's rights or a service policy have been violated, corrective measures will be taken."

Wallace enters top race

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. George Corley Wallace of Alabama announced his candidacy for president as a Democrat today, promising a "new beginning of hope" for the American people.

Wallace did not mention his 1968 third party campaign for president in remarks prepared for his unqualified official entry into the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, starting with the Florida primary March 14.

"The people of Florida," he said, "have a unique opportunity. They can start the grass roots movement to take back the national Democratic party unto themselves," presumably by voting for Wallace in the Florida presidential preference primary.

Wallace pledged, if elected, and he insisted he was in the race to win—continued withdrawal from Vietnam, a return of law and order, reduced taxes, a complete halt to forced busing of pupils, reopening of schools closed by orders of federal courts or the Justice Department and "no recognition of Castro Cuba."

Man sought for vault bomb plants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal court issued a warrant today for the arrest of a well-educated AWOL Army private who the FBI says is connected with the planting of bombs at bank safety deposit boxes in three cities.

The warrant obtained by the U.S. attorney's office at the request of the FBI specifically charges Ronald Kaufman, 33, with maliciously attempting to damage and destroy three San Francisco banks.

In Washington, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Kaufman also is wanted in connection with the planting of bombs at banks in Chicago and New York.

Kaufman was identified by the FBI director said, by fingerprints found on bomb components taken from San Francisco banks.

Because of mysterious letters to the news media, police agencies found bombs Jan. 7 at the banks in three cities.

Army ousts Ghana chief

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — The army overthrew Premier Kofi Busia of Ghana today, accusing him of "arbitrary arrests, malpractices and economic mismanagement," according to a broadcast by Ghana Radio.

The broadcast by an unidentified Ghanaian army officer, monitored in Lagos, gave no indication whether the coup was violent.

Tentative TF County budget up 17.5% above last year's

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A tentative county budget of $5.82 million — up 17.5 per cent over last year's budget — was announced Wednesday by the Twin Falls County Commission.

Just over two-thirds of the increase came from proposed budget increases for the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Public hearings on the budget will begin Feb. 14 and continue through Feb. 18.

William L. Chancey, commission chairman, and other commissioners, Merl Leonard and Heber Loughmiller, invited taxpayers to take advantage of the public hearing period to express their views on the proposed budget.

Under law the tentative budget can be reduced but not increased. Last year about $50,000 was trimmed from the tentative figure.

This year's budget compares with the tentative budget of $4.95 million last year and $4.50 million for 1970.

The current year's spending had been 9 per cent above the previous year's level.

In dollars, the 1972 tentative budget calls for an increase of $868,177. Commissioners said much of this increase is the result of new laws and regulations adopted by the state legislature which counties must pay for but have no control over.

There is also a blanket salary increase of about 3 per cent for county employees.

Commissioners said they are faced with such items as the solid waste problem with new and more stringent state regulations requiring sanitary landfill systems in counties. As a result the county budgeted $101,000 this year compared to $75,000 a year ago.

A study was completed last year which the county said would probably solve the problem if recommendations are adopted and which would cost about $25,000 to implement.

Despite reduction in county welfare payments, the county budgeted $300,000 in the poor fund for 1972. This compares to $167,500 last year, but would provide for construction of a county nursing home if the county is forced to provide some facility for indigent elderly residents of the county who cannot presently be accommodated in existing private facilities. Commissioner Chaheey said. He said the county has been considering such a step for some time but this is a tentative figure.

Budgets for the assessor, auditor and treasurer are up this year because of a switch to cash control systems for the licensing bureau and computer methods for tax calculation and billing. To make the system effective, both the auditor and treasurer required matching equipment as they split the duties in tax billing.

Conducts seminar

CONNIE PRATT, Department of Employment official, conducts a seminar at the WIN workshop being held this week in Twin Falls. The program is designed to assist welfare recipients in securing meaningful employment.

30 TF women enroll in area WIN program

TWIN FALLS — About 30 Twin Falls women are enrolled in the area's latest WIN program — designed to help women now getting welfare checks draw their own pay checks eventually.

Connie Pratt, seminar leader and an official at the employment office, said the WIN program was instituted in 1967 following congressional action. To qualify for the program, a woman must be drawing Aid To Dependent Children benefits.

They are expected to involve themselves in a year-long effort to find a job — including institutional training, on the job training, employment counseling, job placement and a followup program. Mrs. Pratt estimates that approximately 30 per cent of the women in the program have some success in their efforts, although reliable statistics are not available.

The incentive provided by the federal government to the women is larger welfare payments, an extra $30 a month, plus complete reimbursement for educational expenses and child care costs.

This week at the employment office, the women are in a workshop designed to start them thinking about the reasons for the program, for its existence and their participation in it.

At a Monday morning seminar conducted by Mrs.

Pratt, the women participating listed independence, pride and the desire for social contacts as prime motivating factors in their enrollment.

Also this week, they heard talks presented on the housing situation in the area, the job market and child care with only one parent in the household. Several of the women will enroll at the College of Southern Idaho next week to begin their vocational training.

TF County budget asks 17.5 per cent increase

The Twin Falls County sheriff's budget was increased to provide one additional girl in the driver's license department where many drivers are now waiting long periods of time for testing. Another deputy and car will also be added and jail costs must reflect the amount of money spent for feeding prisoners of city police which is also reimbursed. The new criminal code imposes additional work on the law enforcement department.

Chancey said. The parks and recreation budget is nearly double at $42,375 compared to $23,500 last year.

Commissioners said most of the increase would be reimbursed in state and federal funds but the money cannot be spent unless it is budgeted at the start of the year. Plans this year call for improvement of the Rock Creek Park, just west of the hospital, and the Salmon Dam area. State and federal funds are anticipated for both projects.

One of the major portions of the budget is the $3.84 million earmarked for Magic Valley Memorial Hospital up $391,340 over last year.

$175,000 of this amount comes from taxes, Chancey said. Last year about $146,000 in tax money was budgeted for the hospital. Remaining funds come from hospital revenue through fees and services.

Each year the hospital must make some capital improvements to keep pace with hospital accreditation standards and maintain service needed by area residents, the commissioners said.

The janitor's budget, which includes capital improvements, is up this year from $119,520 to $165,796 and includes funds for paving of parking lots at the hospital. It also includes about $50,000 for jail improvements now underway and for additional phases of the improvement during the year.

County Auditor Harold Lancaster said if the tentative budget is adopted as is, taxpayers may count on a tax increase in the coming year. This would probably run about the same 8.5 per cent reflected in the last budget.

Lancaster said he hopes commissioners will be able to trim some of the "fat" from the budget prior to adoption of a permanent budget. He said in a time when taxpayers are carrying a maximum burden such matters as recreation expenditures should be carefully scrutinized.

Commissioners and Lancaster urged interested county taxpayers to meet with the commissioners beginning Feb. 14 to discuss any and all portions of the proposed budget.

Budget figures as tentatively set in 1971 and 1972 per department include: Assessor, $96,595; $104,362; auditor, $95,750; $101,116; commissioners, $69,378 and $71,948; coroner, $4,550 and $5,049; county agents, $15,715 and $16,567; district court, $57,100 and $51,800; elections, $41,100 and $55,700; janitor, $119,520 and $165,796; prosecuting attorney, $40,910 and $42,974; sheriff, $178,820 and $193,665; treasurer, $143,040 and $167,040; zoning, $19,020 and $21,245.

Other departments include general expenses for countywide matters rather than specific department, $150,190 and $151,890; weed eradication, $75,256 and $81,268; public defense, $35,000 and $40,000; ad valorem, revaluation of property, $85,000 and $75,000; hospital, $3,250,260 and $3,841,600; public health, $34,118 and $52,000; poor fund, $167,500 and $300,000; airport, $120,000 both years; solid waste, $75,000 and $101,000; county fair, $133,600 and $124,600 and parks and recreation $23,500 and $42,375.

Staudaher airs school priorities

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls school superintendent told the Rotary Club Wednesday schools are overcrowded and a bond election is needed to alleviate the problem.

George Staudaher, addressing the weekly luncheon, outlined a priority list the board of trustees has drawn up. First on the list, he said, is construction of a new elementary school to replace the eventual loss of Washington School.

The district would also like to add four teaching stations to the present Harrison School. Staudaher also said the Happy Time School must be replaced, and additional vocational education facilities are needed at the high school.

In speaking of overcrowded classrooms, Staudaher said in some cases there are as many as 38 students in a class, with the third and fourth grade rooms particularly crowded. At present, he said, the district employs 426 people, of whom 282 are certified teachers.

The school board has been hearing proposals from various architectural firms regarding their proposed construction and expansion building program, he said.

Timber industry standards set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House officials are drafting proposals for an executive order which would set restrictive new standards for clear-cutting in federal forests, according to a timber industry executive.

James R. Turnbull, executive vice-president of the National Forests Products Association, said Tuesday final specific terms for the proposed order have not been settled. Turnbull and other industry leaders charge, however, the terms so far discussed could put "severe restraints" on harvesting of timber from the national forests operated by the U. S. Forest Service and on forest lands controlled by the Interior Department.

Clear-cutting is the practice of cutting all trees from a designated harvesting area which may range from small plots to 75 acres or so. The clear cut zones are then re-planted to provide another generation of trees. The practice has been defended by many foresters as the most effective way of handling many types of trees, but many environmentalists charge it destroys other forest values — including natural beauty.

Turnbull said the proposed order would set a number of criteria to be met before clearcutting and he indicated great concern about a requirement affecting natural beauty.

The forest service said it is increasingly using aesthetic impact as one of its own standards for clearcutting. But Turnbull said if this appears in the form of a presidential executive order, it could lead to case-by-case pressures which would "liberally" handcuff the forest service at a time when needs for wood are rising.

Upgrading asked

BOISE (UPI) — The personnel director at the Idaho Correctional Institute said today that he plans to ask the Idaho Personnel Commission this month to upgrade qualifications and salaries of correctional personnel to the level of the state police.

Director Robert K. Wafnack said, "This was the recommendation of the governor's committee which investigated the Aug. 10 disorder at the institution. We believe it should be followed to make the investigation meaningful."

A state police officer in training receives a monthly starting salary of $527, according to Wafnack, and a correctional officer receives a monthly starting salary of $478. He said in mid-management there is a 35 per cent gap between state police and correctional salaries.

He said fulfillment of the committee's recommendations would help solve both employment and security problems at the Idaho state prison.

Rival factions fight British

BELFAST (UPI) — Rival factions of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) said today they joined forces against British troops in Londonderry Wednesday in one of the most intense gunbattles in Northern Ireland in more than two years.

The usually conservative official wing of the IRA and the more militant provisional wing fought side by side against British troops for two hours in Londonderry's Roman Catholic Bogside area.

The British said they wounded four IRA men in the fight. The IRA said it wounded two soldiers but the army denied it. A number of women and children huddled on the ground in a vacant lot while bullets whistled overhead. The IRA, in a rare joint statement from both wings, said it opened fire only after soldiers shot at the women and children.

The British said troops were sent to the area when IRA gunmen tried to shoot down a circling army helicopter. Mrs. Mavis Sheerin, who said she was accompanying five children home from school, said a British soldier fired the first shots.

"He sprayed the field with bullets — I grabbed the children and dived to the ground. There were a considerable number of people scattered about the field, mostly on the way home from school. There was a lot of panic and two girls fainted," she said.

Tour begins

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen will begin his annual "report to the people" tour in Twin Falls Friday.

Congressman Hansen will be at the Twin Falls County Judicial Building from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and interested citizens may meet with him there.

Blaine budget now restricted

HAILEY — The Blaine County School District will have to operate under a restricted budget for the remainder of the fiscal year, Assistant Supt. Ray Jefferson told the school board Monday.

He said additional staff and other increased operating expenses, including the implementation of the learning disability centers, at Ketchum and Bellevue — necessitated the move. The school district also had an increased enrollment of over 100 students this year, he said.

Jefferson said after the meeting that he didn't have any figures on the district's current financial situation.

During the meeting, he said that the district was presently spending about $630 to educate each child. And he said that the enrollment growth was spread equally throughout the district, with the exception of the Carey schools which experienced a smaller growth rate.

In other action, the board accepted the audit of the 1970 to 1971 fiscal year as presented by Bob Jackson, district auditor. The audit showed a surplus of about $7,000.

TF firm has new location

TWIN FALLS — J U B Engineers Inc., formerly known as Riedesel and Straubhaar, have announced a new location of its office in Twin Falls.

The firm is now operating from 149 Third Ave. E. in offices formerly used by the College of Southern Idaho administration. The engineering concern was previously located at 1615 Addison Ave. E.

J U B Engineers Inc. also operate offices in Boise and Nampa and in the Kneeland Professional Building, Ketchum. The Twin Falls offices are under the direction of Dale L. Riedesel and John J. Straubhaar.

Rostron attends seminar

TWIN FALLS — Ray Rostron, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, was scheduled to leave today for Billings, Mont., where he will attend a Yellowstone Park centennial seminar.

The nation's oldest national park will observe its 100th anniversary this year. Officials in states surrounding the park have been invited to meet with National Park Service officials and Montana state officials to discuss plans for the observance. Rostron said the meeting will continue through Friday.

Mechanic strike talks broken off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations aimed at settling the 30-day mechanics' strike against Hughes Aircraft were broken off Wednesday without settlement.

The Federal Mediation Board set no date for a resumption of contract talks.

Judge attends course

TWIN FALLS — Judge James M. Cunningham, of the Fifth Judicial District Court in Twin Falls, is currently attending a one-week graduate course in criminal law at the University of Nevada, Reno.

The course is held for members of the state judiciary in surrounding western states and covers recent developments in criminal law and judgments around the country. Cunningham has also attended similar sessions in previous years as have other judges of the Fifth District.

Some 570 mechanics in eight western states, Canada and Mexico walked off the job Dec. 15 to back contract demands. The airline has operated minimal service using supervisory personnel.

James R. Torrey, Jr., a Redwood City, Calif., attorney for the Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association, said the bargaining was cut off when the company refused to place the issues in the dispute before an arbitrator.

However, a spokesman for Airwest said the union had given up its demand for arbitration. He added it was hoped the union leadership would accept a Dec. 14 contract proposal along with an expansion of vacation, sick and holiday benefits.

Airwest serves 74 cities in the United States. With supervisory personnel it has been able to provide service between San Francisco and Eureka, Phoenix and Los Angeles as well as Salt Lake City and Phoenix.

Torrey said the company was prolonging the strike because "it wanted to get rid of its unprofitable services." Airwest employs 3,300 workers.

UN's Reform

The United Nations, beginning the new year with a new Secretary General and an old financial headache, can make one important reform by starting to enforce its own charter.

Article 19 provides that any member two years behind in dues loses its voting rights, except in clear hardship cases. So far, the UN has neglected to enforce this basic provision, essential to its solvency.

Dr. Kurt Waldheim, who took over from U Thant, has promised to give first priority to solving the organization's financial crisis. One thing he can do that U Thant never thought of and that is to stop further increases in expenditures until the money is available.

The idea that the United States, having undertaken nearly one-third of the expenses of the UN, would make up any deficit it prodded, is clearly out of the question. Instead, a realignment is needed to make the U.S. contribution more equitable, along with others. But those little nations that wield so much voting power in the General Assembly shouldn't be allowed to vote while in arrears, no matter how much they may plead they can't afford to pay. The odds are they'll pay in order to vote.

It doesn't make sense for the United States to pay more than twice as much as Soviet Russia, which has used the veto 108 times to bar actions it did not approve.

Responsible members of the UN should be as ready to veto any move to ignore Article 19 as Russia has been to withhold payments for purposes it did not approve.

The United Nations will never amount to much unless it is solvent and it will never be solvent unless it collects the money due from its members.

Unwanted Babies

Changing social values, a more permissive morality, the pill, eased abortion laws—all have combined to work drastic change in adoption practices.

Although the number of illegitimate births has nearly tripled in the past 10 years, there is a shortage of healthy, white infants, which are still the preference of the majority of prospective adoptive parents.

Many unwed mothers are no longer giving their babies up for adoption. Where only 40 percent of such mothers kept their babies a few years ago, now the figure is closer to 80 percent, reports the Fatally, Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. Five years ago homes for unwed mothers had waiting lists, now they are half-occupied.

The shortage of blond, blue-eyed babies has enabled agencies to place greater emphasis on finding homes for "hard to place" children, who may be from minority groups, of mixed race heritage, brother-sister groups of several children, or children with emotional or physical problems.

At the same time, adoption agencies are moving away from unrealistic eligibility requirements for adoptive parents.

Money is the biggest problem faced by people willing to adopt children with handicaps. As long as the child is in a foster home, all his needs are paid for by taxpayers, but when he is adopted, all his expenses must be borne by the adoptive parents.

This, too, is changing. Ten states have already enacted laws permitting public agencies to make subsidy payments to adoptive parents. Other states are considering it.

Because regional prejudices may still prevent some homeless children from being adopted, an organization called ARENA—the Adoption Resource Exchange of North America—acts as a nationwide clearing house to help a family find a child and a child to find a family.

MR. SPECTATOR

Rent An Education?

No longer need the daily freeway grind be non-productive. Thanks to the "Commuter's Cassette Library," the workbound or homebound motorist can, by means of rented tape recordings, improve his vocabulary, learn a foreign language, take a music appreciation course or perhaps learn more about classical literature.

Mr. Spectator thinks this might just catch on out here in Magic Valley—even where we have very little freeway driving. At least it will stop some of our drivers yelling at the other drivers on the road.

But getting back to our little story, many more taped subjects are in the planning and production stages, according to the library's originator, Ed Sandstrom, president of Programmed Achievement Systems. He has headquarters in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

"I only wish I had hit upon this idea years ago," he says, "especially when I think of the wasted hours driving to and from work. Why, I bet I could speak fluent Russian by now if I'd listened to a cassette language tape every day. Some people I know spend so much time commuting to work that they could get the equivalent of a master's degree in less than a year if the right courses were available on cassette tape."

Sandstrom is, in fact, exploring the possibility of offering college extension courses or starting his own commuter college. Graduation from such a school should be interesting. Right while driving down the freeway, too!

GIVEAWAY DEPT.

We want to give away a spotted dog, Shepherd type. Also a Spaniel about nine months old with all shots received. Both are good dogs and we would like country homes for them because they are outside dogs and should not be tied up. Please call 536-2742 in Wendell.

We hope you can help us find homes for our four German Shepherd puppies. They are 10 weeks old and we will give them to anyone who will provide them with a good home. If interested please call 733-2097 in Twin Falls.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Worried taxpayer: "I've saved the money to pay my income tax, now all I have to do is borrow some money to live on."

ON SATURDAY

The first Boeing 737 ever to land at the Twin Falls City-County airport is scheduled to come in non-stop from San Francisco Saturday at 3:53 p.m. The Western Airlines jet will be carrying skiers from the Bay City to Sun Valley, through Twin Falls. The 100-passenger plane will be here some 45 minutes before the return flight to the coast city. Coming to Twin Falls from San Francisco just ain't like in the old days. The Western flight will take one hour and 23 minutes.

WASHINGTON—Admittedly a reluctance to pay bills is a 110 per cent American trait, but there is a suggestion in recently released reports that the Republican Party has carried this habit to extremes. The boys apparently hoped they could take all that money with them.

During the years 1969-71, the party enjoyed financial success beyond perhaps even Richard Nixon's wildest dreams, reporting income of more than $32-million. Yet it was not until last month, three years after the debts were incurred, that the party paid off more than $500,000 in airline and telephone bills from Nixon's 1968 campaign.

Disclosure of these assorted payments came in financial statements filed with the clerk of the House. It reflects the national truism that a rich man settles his accounts at his pleasure because his credit is so good. Surely American Airlines, United Airlines, Eastern Airlines and the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. showed patience above and beyond the call of duty, although cynics might suggest they were influenced by the knowledge that their operations are regulated by Republican-operated Federal agencies.

At any rate, the debtors ironically owe thanks to a Republican for the windfall. Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott has been critical of both parties' failure to pay their overdue bills, and five months ago he forced release of the amounts owed by both Republicans and Democrats.

That disclosure revealed that the Democrats, who have scarcely a nickel to call their own, owed more than $3.26-million to various airlines and telephone and telegraph companies from the 1968 campaign. Naturally, Scott was not displeased in thus calling attention to the deadhead competition, and Democrats accused him of heaping humiliation upon their party, which has a whopping $9.5-million deficit.

But at least the Democrats had an excuse. Even National Chairman Larry O'Brien, a man of imagination and ingenuity, has been unable thus far to invent a machine to produce legal thousand-dollar bills. But the average stiff trying to get up the mortgage money will find it hard to summon up sympathy for the rich GOP.

Indeed the President himself is said to be annoyed at Scott's forcing of the issue. Scott admits that when he mentioned my interest in the matter to several people downtown, I was alerted to the fact that there were still some outstanding Republican debts. In effect, Scott's reply was, so okay fellows let's take it out of that $9.5-million deficit we've got in the bank. Possibly, Scott also mentioned that the Republicans raised $11.61-million in 1971, compared to the Democrats' miserly $2.91-million.

What is needed, of course, is an amendment to the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925 to force the filing of reports on certain dates telling the public where political money came from and how it was spent. The Act now requires such filings and provides criminal penalties for violations, but it does not make prosecution mandatory.

For example, after the 1968 election House Clerk W. Pat Jennings surprised everybody by certifying to the Justice Department the names of political groups and House candidates who filed late or not at all. But Justice sat on its hands in a preposterous statement to a Senate Commerce subcommittee last March. Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst treated the situation as a joke.

The department, he said, must be fair, and thus it must be extremely reluctant to enforce the law against either Republicans or Democrats. It was a preposterous thing to say, but it also was what both parties, despite their lofty public positions, wanted to hear. Neither has ever shown a disposition to equate its activities with those of the workman slapped with a fine by Internal Revenue for an error in addition in his income tax return.

Now that the has dipped a toe in this stagnant water, perhaps Hugh Scott will press for legislation forcing the Justice Department to prosecute violators. Most likely, however, it would be an exercise in futility. A majority of politicians would like to be honest, but where campaign spending is concerned they take no chances on being misunderstood by the electorate.

"That's a Funny-Looking Sheep"

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

"Wishy-Washy!"

EN ROUTE WITH MUSKIE. Having chafed for months under the criticism of being "wishy-washy" and avoiding politically tough positions on controversial issues, Sen. Edmund-Sixtus Muskie of Maine cast aside restraint in his first authentic campaign swing in a way mightily pleasing to Democratic liberals but which may hurt him on the long road ahead.

In the process, Muskie made one thing perfectly clear: the war in Vietnam, far from being a fading issue, promises to be the single most central issue of the campaign. Moreover, in dealing with the war issue, the front-running Democratic Presidential candidate wrote the stark scenario of an American pullout from South Vietnam "every soldier, sailor and airman" which could result in the total loss of any recoupment from the vast American investment in the endless war.

Referring to the 50,000 American dead on the battlefield and the $125 billion poured into the war, Muskie told a packed, sweaty campaign "kick off rally" Thursday night in Manchester, N.H., hotel ballroom. All this will have been wasted, he said, unless we understand that the better off we and the people of Vietnam will be.

After this complete American withdrawal, Saigon and Hanoi will settle the war issue between themselves "and we may not like the settlement."

The only point Muskie dodged in this sharpened break with President Nixon's end-of-the-war policy, leaving a residual force in Vietnam and continuing the use of American air power was whether he would extend military aid to Saigon after the total U.S. withdrawal. Muskie has refused to box himself in on that vital question. If elected President, he might (and continuing U.S. military assistance essential, despite his words of Thursday night).

This hardened peace position by Muskie will undoubtedly help him in the primary battles against Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, in New Hampshire on March 7, and against McGovern and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay in Florida a week later. Both are all-out doves.

But its potential danger became clear when, in the midst of his words on Vietnam at the Manchester rally, a dissenting voice from the cheering crowd yelled "What about our prisoners of war?" Muskie's reply "the POWs would never be freed by the enemy until the end of the war" negotiated under the terms Muskie outlined.

Muskie's sharpened stand on ending the war follows two events, the sudden increase in U.S. bombing, which is bringing the war back into the headlines, and polls taken by the Senator's staff in Florida indicating not only a huge rise in sentiment to get out of Vietnam but a large majority against any more aid after the pullout. Muskie staffers attribute much of that sentiment to the new isolationism.

ART BUCHWALD

Anti-Protocol

WASHINGTON—In the first thing we do is notify the sanitation department not to pick up the embassy's garbage. Then we send out a fleet of used cars to block the embassy's driveway.

We also begin digging a subway station in front of the ambassador's residence with our workers starting to drill at 5 o'clock in the morning. This serves two purposes. It prevents the ambassador from getting any sleep, and the dug-up street makes it impossible for him to hold any diplomatic receptions because people have nowhere to park.

That's pretty good," I said. What do you do when someone in the White House says that an ambassador is not to be treated at too high a level?

Now while this sounds pretty when you read it in cold print, it is obvious to everyone that the most powerful nation in the world must show its displeasure when it believes another country has let it down.

One of the ways this is accomplished is to punish the ambassador as Dr. Kissinger recommended.

But how is this done? Deep in the bowels of the State Department there is a bureau whose sole function is to make life miserable for the embassy of a country that the United States is feuding with. It is known as the anti-protocol office and it is at present headed up by Horace Bitterman, a former guard at Attica prison.

I talked to Mr. Bitterman the other day, and while he refused to confirm or deny that the screws had been put to the Indian ambassador, he did tell me how the anti-protocol office operates.

When we get alerted by the White House that the President wishes to show a certain coolness to a country, we go immediately into action. The

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Drinking Man

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Generally speaking, I am a weekend drunk. However, I would stop cold if I thought my liver was being damaged, as I understand that is a pretty bad way to go.

Are there any specific symptoms I could look for? Would diarrhea be significant? N. N.

Diarrhea can be caused by so many things that it isn't a reliable sign of liver damage. In fact, when signs of cirrhosis of the liver become apparent to the individual, you can be pretty certain that serious damage already has occurred. Cirrhosis develops quite insidiously.

You'll excuse me if your question reminds me of the kid, madly from head to foot, who went home and said to his mother, "We were having a contest to see who could hear farthest over the bank of the creek, and guess who won."

If you're really serious about things, have your physician do some liver function tests. If there's indication of trouble, quit the laughing soup. If there isn't any damage yet, be glad there isn't and quit your waste ahead.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If doctors are not sure of the causes of cancer, how can they be so positive in saying it is not contagious? Haven't some researchers suspected that virus might have a role in causing or preserving cancer? Then wouldn't it be possible that the disease can be transmitted by virus?

Why is laryngectomy for removal of a malignant lesion in a 74-year-old person's throat not recommended by a surgical specialist?—R. D. H.

No. 1. Because there is no evidence that it is contagious—if it were, there would be more cancer among people working in cancer wards or hospitals. No. 2. Suspecting that "virus might have a role" is not the same as saying that is the way it is transmitted. Besides this, there's one form of cancer in mice that apparently is definitely transmitted by a virus—but the same is not true of other forms of cancer in mice. Trying to attribute all cancer to any single causative factor doesn't seem very promising.

No. 3. Better ask the surgeon. Maybe it's a slow-growing cancer and the operation would be more of a risk than not, depending on the patient's age. Or maybe the cancer has spread too far and not all of it can be removed. As I say, I can't answer because I don't know the circumstances.

Tornado wrecks trailer parks

ENTERPRISE, Ala. (UPI)—A tornado slammed through two trailer parks on the outskirts of this southeastern Alabama town early today while the occupants were sleeping. An undetermined number of persons were killed.

Police said three or four bodies had been recovered. A rescue squad officer said seven were known dead.

The twister knocked down power lines and rescuers had to rig emergency lights to search the debris for the dead and injured.

Two bodies were taken to Ft. Rucker, a big Army reservation nearby, and one body, that of a woman, was taken to the Searcy Funeral Home in Enterprise.

An Army Medivac unit from Ft. Rucker, using a helicopter, evacuated the more seriously injured to the Army hospital. A spokesman said at least 20 persons were taken to the hospital for various injuries.

"I estimate about 90 per cent of Pinebrook Park was destroyed," said Gene Yeatman, whose family of five escaped unhurt after the twister lifted his trailer up, shook it and set it down.

Yeatman, who also works at the park, said only about 20 of the 170 trailers in the park were left upright and "many of these are damaged."

Pinebrook Park and Dogwood Acres, located about 300 yards apart, are about five miles from downtown Enterprise, which apparently escaped damage.

Tom Sabiston, a newsman for television station WDMN at nearby Dothan, said the tornado cut a swath about 300 yards long and 50 yards wide through Pinebrook Park.

"Pine trees a good foot and a half in diameter were snapped off above the ground," Sabiston said. "There was just twisted metal where some mobile homes were parked. Then right next to it, would be a home relatively unhurt."

Riad meets with President Sadat

By United Press International Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad rushed back to Cairo from an abbreviated Persian Gulf tour today for urgent consultations with President Anwar Sadat. The meeting was expected to center on what action Egypt will take in light of recent developments, including the U.S. decision to grant more Phantom jets to Israel.

Sadat was going before the nation on radio and television later in the day, possibly to outline what decisions have been taken.

The Egyptian president has been engaged in an assessment of the Middle East situation during the past few days, and the sudden recall of Riad, who had to cancel trips to Muscat and Bahrain, indicated he may have decided to take some major action. Riad was scheduled to go to China and the Soviet Union following the Persian Gulf trip but the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahran said at least the China visit had been postponed from its scheduled Jan. 21 date. It did not say how long the postponement would be.

One Egyptian action may be economic sanctions against American companies. There has been a growing campaign in the Egyptian press for such action, particularly against U.S. oil companies.

According to Al Ahran, another factor in Sadat's study of the over-all situation was "the people's unanimity on the necessity of making preparations for the confrontation" with Israel and "the general demand to prepare the domestic front for the battle."

Sadat met separately Wednesday with Prime Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and his adviser on administrative affairs, Hassan Tohami.

Killer strikes again

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An animal killer struck again Wednesday, hanging a white cat from the limb of a tree and indicating his next victim would be a person.

A note attached to the rope used to hang the household pet read:

"I kill because of varied reasons but I'm not going to kill animals any more. Just people. I hate people. People are so stupid. For now, I'll just wait."

The hanging, in a quiet residential section near Twin Peaks, resembled the killings of two dogs on Dec. 31 and Jan. 3 and a cat on Saturday. All were strung up within the same two blocks radius.

Witnesses have described the killer as between 23 and 26 years of age, 5-foot-7 and weighing about 120 pounds.

"We have teams and extra patrols working on this, and consider it a serious crime," said Police Chief Donald Scott. He advised area residents to be cautious.

Senate racks up record

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite its better than 4-1 numerical disadvantage, the Senate racked up another long-power record in 1971 by talking almost twice as much as the House.

Senators, just 100 in number, filled 21,926 pages of the Congressional Record with debate during the first session of the 92nd Congress. The House, with 435 members, filled just 12,759.

Judge will rule on Davis case

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge says he will rule shortly on whether Angela Davis can be released on bail. The black militant pleaded that she was "fighting for the very right to live."

Miss Davis, 27, who has complained of poor health due to her lengthy confinement, said in federal court Wednesday that she was unable to adequately assist her lawyers preparing to defend her on murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges.

"Because I am fighting for my very right to live, I am devoting all my time to my defense," she said.

In a low, throaty voice, she maintained that her 14 months in prison "severely erodes my presumption of innocence."

Looking thinner, the former UCLA philosophy instructor acted as her own cocounsel and argued that the refusal of the state to grant her bail while awaiting the start of her Jan. 31 trial was a refusal of her constitutional rights.

"The papers filed prove that there are many capital cases in California where the defendant has been granted bail," she said. "I feel that denial is more of a political gesture than a legal gesture."

Divorce granted

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Republican National Chairman Robert Dole has been divorced by his wife of 23 years, a physical therapist who nursed him back from paralysis. It was learned Wednesday.

Judge Adrian Allen of the Shawnee County District Court said the divorce was granted late Tuesday to Phyllis Dole on grounds of incompatibility. The freshman senator from Kansas did not contest her petition, filed only hours before it was granted. Mrs. Dole was awarded custody of the couple's only child, Robin, 7, and Dole was granted "reasonable rights of visitation." The judge said an agreement between the two parties providing for her education was "fair and equitable."

The divorce provided for equal division of property. Amount of alimony and child support payment was not disclosed.

Battle sparked at cave

SANTO DOMINGO—UPI—Four thousand army, air force and national police forces tried to flush a band of leftist guerrillas from a cave near Santo Domingo airport Wednesday, sparking a battle in which nine soldiers and four guerrillas were killed, police said.

Gen. Nelt Nivar Sedas, the chief of police, said Wednesday that two other guerrillas who were in the cave had managed to escape under cover of darkness. The area near the cave was declared a war zone by authorities.

Among the dead were army Capt. Virgilio Felix Fernandez and the alleged leader of the leftist group, Amaury German Arcey, 25, police said.

The guerrillas were inside a cave near the 10-mile highway leading from the airport to the Dominican capital. The army declared the area of the fighting a war zone.

Military sources said the number of guerrillas in the cave may be as few as six. Two were killed at the edge of the cave shortly after the fighting began.

A force of 4,000 military and police personnel armed with rifles, machine guns and hand grenades was assembled to besiege the guerrilla stronghold. Two helicopters flew support overhead.

A military source said air force bombers might also be used if the ground effort to flush the guerrillas from the cave fails.

The six leaders, who the source said may have been joined by others, were accused by Dominican authorities of plotting a terrorist campaign to begin later this month. The men had been sought since Nov. 8 in connection with the armed holdup of a Royal Bank of Canada branch in which $62,000 were stolen.

The leaders were all reported by Dominican authorities to be members of the Dominican Popular Movement. A brother of one of the men, attorney Elmo Matus Monuste, reportedly was arrested last week-end while trying to enter the nation with false documents after living the last three years in Cuba.

Military officials said the leaders originally had holed up in a farmhouse owned by a former police officer which apparently had served as their operations center. When they were forced by the military assault to abandon the farmhouse, soldiers found the bodies of two of them in the farmhouse.

No comment

WASHINGTON—UPI—The Internal Revenue Service declined comment Wednesday on a three-judge federal court opinion that fraternal organizations may lose their tax-exempt status if they exclude nonwhites from membership.

The panel rejected a government motion to dismiss a challenge to tax benefits of fraternal organizations brought by Clifford A. McGlotten, a black high school teacher of 17 years. He claimed he was denied membership in that order's lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks because of his race.

A provision of the Elks' constitution states that members must be "a white male citizen of the United States."

J. H. Scheuer

Soviet police arrest U.S. Rep. James Scheuer

MOSCOW—UPI—Soviet police arrested U.S. Rep. James H. Scheuer Wednesday as he sat down to dinner at the home of a Jewish scientist who has tried to go to Israel, Scheuer said today.

"They took me to the local police where I sat incommunicado for 40 minutes in a small room with a light bulb," the New York City Democrat said. "It was a scene out of Kafka or perhaps a Franz Lehár musical comedy."

Scheuer said the apparent motive in the arrest was to break up a dinner party at the home of Alexander Levent, a professor of cybernetics who lost his teaching job at a Moscow Institute last year because he applied to go to Israel. The application later was rejected and Levent has continued his efforts to emigrate.

Scheuer, who was in the Soviet Union for a tour by a House education subcommittee, said he met Levent last week and was invited to the dinner to discuss Jewish problems in the USSR.

"We were interested in finding appropriate, legal, constructive ways for the Jewish community to communicate with the Soviet government on this matter," said Scheuer, who is Jewish.

Dinner had just begun, he said, when all at once there was a sharp knock on the door. Two KGB secret police types came in.

"They announced that there was a notorious Soviet desperado in the neighborhood engaged in the most awful series of crimes and disguised as a foreigner. They said they were under instructions to pick up any foreigner who had the look of an evil desperado."

Scheuer said the senior officer "fixed an eagle eye on me as he talked."

The congressman produced several identity cards, including his congressional card bearing the seal of the House of Representatives.

Anybody can forge these cards, the officer told him.

The officer agreed he would take me to the Intourist Hotel where my wife had my passport," Scheuer said, and he left the apartment accompanied by the two officers and Levent's son, Vladimir, who acted as interpreter.

Instead of going to the hotel, Scheuer said, the officers took them to the police station and put them in a small room for the 40-minute wait. Then the officer said he was satisfied Scheuer was who he said he was.

"He apologized and said we were free to go," he said.

Magazine to publish Hughes 'memoirs' Monday

NEW YORK—UPI—The Ladies Home Journal further tangled the Howard Hughes autobiography mystery Wednesday, by announcing it will publish Hughes' "Memoirs" based on 13 years of interviews with a Hollywood director-author.

A spokesman for the magazine said the memoirs, prepared by Robert D. Eaton, will be published in condensed form next Monday prior to their publication in book form.

Eaton, the sixth husband of actress Lana Turner, is the author of the Hollywood novel "The Body Breakers."

The magazine said Eaton had found the "lost" authorship of the memoirs by Hughes and a photograph of the document would be published along with the condensation.

McGraw-Hill Book Company announced last month that it will publish an autobiography of Hughes, the reclusive billionaire industrialist, based on taped interviews with novelist Clifford Irving, next April. Officials of the Hughes Tool Co. denied the book was authentic and set up a telephone interview last week-end between a man alleged to be Hughes and seven reporters who once knew him.

Hughes denied that he knew Irving or had authorized an autobiography and the reporters and voice experts said the voice was that of Hughes Irving and it was a clever imitation.

McGraw-Hill held a press conference to display facsimiles of company checks paid to Hughes and bearing his endorsement, as well as a letter of authorization from him. The checks had been deposited in Hughes' Swiss bank account.

Noah Dietrich, right-hand man of the billionaire for 12 years, said in Los Angeles Wednesday that he believes Hughes did collaborate with Irving on the book but had his usual afterthoughts and decided to quash it by denying it ever was written. Dietrich said Hughes might have been motivated by fear of legal entanglements arising from the book.

Negro schools surveyed

WASHINGTON—UPI—The government reported Wednesday that for the first time there are more black pupils attending all-Negro schools in the North than there are in the South.

Officials said busing in the South was one of the main reasons for the turn-around.

Civil rights lawyers meantime predicted that a school desegregation order in Richmond, Va., Monday would affect every metropolitan area in the nation. That order by a federal judge merged the city's predominantly black schools and predominantly white suburban schools into a single school district.

A survey by the Health, Education and Welfare Department showed that 62 of the Negro pupils in the 11 southern states were enrolled in all-black schools. This compared with 11.2 per cent in the 42 northern and western states and 24.2 per cent in the border states.

The HEW report made no mention of busing but J. Stanley Pittenger, HEW's civil rights chief, said busing indeed contributed to the decline of all-black schools in southern states.

Changes proposed over commitment

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of the Idaho Mental Health Association outlined Wednesday proposed legislation to change regulations concerning commitment to a mental health program.

David W. Hyde, legislative chairman for the association, told the Senate Health, Education and Welfare committee one change would lower the age for voluntary commitment to a program from 21 years to age 18.

Another change would provide time limits on the procedure for commitment for a mental health treatment program.

The proposal would give 24 hours from the time of commitment before a "disposition" — A designated examiner — would determine where the individual would be placed.

There would be 48 hours once placement is determined for transportation to be arranged and 72 hours from the time of placement for the patient to be transferred.

With no time limits now, he said, a person could be held two weeks or so awaiting transportation.

He also said the present laws provide for indeterminate commitment to a mental facility. Under the proposal each person's case must be revised after 120 days and every six months thereafter.

Legislation will be drafted and presented to the committee at a later date.

Amendment proposed over land

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Resources Committee will introduce a proposed constitutional amendment to allow disposal of public lands at greatest public benefit.

The proposed amendment outlined by Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, would also allow public agencies to purchase the land for appraised value, rather than by public auction as the constitution presently requires.

Manley said the change in method of purchase would be beneficial if the state is forced to pay for endowment lands turned over to the state parks system. A sign on the matter has been filed against the state by the Idaho Parent Teachers Association.

Manley noted if the state is forced to sell the lands as a result of the suit to the parks department the department would be required under the present constitution to bid at public auction.

Farm products account for one-third of all rail tonnage in California and one-half of truck tonnage, says the California Farm Bureau.

THE FIRST CLEAR view of rilles, or cracks, in the Martian crust was seen by the telephoto lens of Mariner 9 Friday as the spacecraft made its 109th revolution of the planet. The widest rille, upper left, is about a mile across. Lunar rilles have been interpreted generally as tectonic features produced by stretching of the upper rock layers. The line break visible was in the original picture. (UPI)

Senate plan outlines new state land board

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Resources Committee agreed today to introduce legislation outlining terms and appointments of a new State Board of Land Commissioners if the present board made up of elected officials is abolished.

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, noted voters will have before them this fall a constitutional amendment which, if approved, would abolish the present land board made up of the governor, attorney general, secretary of state, state auditor and superintendent of public instruction.

Manley said the proposed legislation to be introduced would become effective if the amendment is approved. It provides for a five-member land board, four to be appointed from the same districts as water resource board members and the fifth to be from the state at large.

Members would serve for staggered terms.

Manley also outlined legislation to repeal the Natural Resources Advisory Board, an 18-member advisory group to the State Land Department which he said has not met for over a year.

"I can't see where an advisory board that doesn't meet any more often than this is of any value," he said.

The committee also agreed to introduce legislation which would allow state lands to be leased for up to 25 years to federal, state, county or city agencies as long as the land is to be used for public purpose.

Presently the lease period is for 20 years, but the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation apparently requires 25-year terms for use of federal monies.

1st partisan flare-up at stalemate in senate

Lawmakers in the past have pushed the higher state funding as a means to distribute the state's money equitably while at the same time relieving local property taxpayers, who now bear a large burden of school support.

Larsen warned that if the legislature decides to assume full responsibility for education preconditions must be taken to assure local government does not gobble up local taxes leaving the property owners with no relief at all.

Currently, Larsen said, about 60 per cent of the local property tax is used for schools. He said if the state load is increased this should definitely be reduced.

The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee held a lengthy session Wednesday. The $57.1 million general fund and endowment fund request for public education. In addition, another $3.6 million is sought for public kindergartens.

Thus far the joint committee is working without any guidance from the governor's office. Andrus will deliver his executive budget message to a joint session Friday morning.

Andrus already noted in his state of the state message he will ask for a higher amount of state funding for public educa-

School funds sought

BOISE (UPI) — The public school foundation program requested $37.1 million for fiscal year 1973 Wednesday — plus another $3.6 million for public kindergartens.

The total budget outlined by Superintendent of Public Instruction D.F. Engelking was for $110,306,000, compared with $95,898,752 in the current fiscal year. Of the new total, $53,117,601 would be from local level taxes.

The public school request is for $53,216,913 from the general fund along with an estimated $3.9 million from endowment land returns. In the current fiscal year public education received $44 million from the general fund.

For operations of the state department of education, the general fund request was for $785,271 compared with $575,745 in the current fiscal year.

With funds from other sources mostly federal — the department's proposed total budget would be $119 million, compared to current funding of $10.8 million.

Vocational education requested general fund of $6,172,528, compared with current funding of $3,255,048.

And although he did not mention kindergartens at that time he has announced his support of the pre-school program in the past.

Shoshone seeks repeal of code

SHOSHONE — Repeal of the newly enacted Idaho Criminal Code was endorsed by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce Tuesday after a report by Sheriff Thomas W. Conner.

Blasting the new law, Sheriff Conner said, "I think those laws are terrible, and the legislators who enacted them should be taken to task. For example, he said, 'the new code will give bad check writers a big running head start.'

A public meeting has been set for 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 17, at the Lincoln School Auditorium, Shoshone, where Gordon Nielson, Burley, president of the Idaho Prosecuting Attorneys Association, will explain the criminal code.

Inviting the public, officials of the Chamber and Wood River Center Grange, sponsors of the meeting, say they hope to arouse enough public interest to secure support for repeal of the code.

In other business, the chamber announced Clarence Magoffin as membership chairman for 1972. Myron Johnson, Lincoln County treasurer, asked members to watch the state legislature closely on the tax reform laws that are being proposed.

Named to the Boy Scout Breakfast Committee were Perry Hadlock, chairman and Kenneth Blackburn, advertising. This breakfast will be held in February.

Disease traced to pet turtles

BOISE (UPI) — The turtle slow moving terrestrial reptile has come under the scrutinizing eye of the Idaho Department of Health.

So much so that the head of the department's preventive medicine division recommends that the shelled reptiles not be kept as family pets because of the likelihood of disease.

Dr. John Mather, who says he has nothing personal against turtles, noted that numerous cases of salmonella and shigellosis have been traced to pet turtles in Idaho.

"These diseases cause severe vomiting, diarrhea and often require hospitalization," he said. "Severe cases in young children or in persons with chronic diseases can occasionally be fatal."

The doctor said it is almost certain that recurring cases of intestinal flu in families could in some cases be caused by turtles.

This method of spread of diseases has only been recognized since 1963 and so many people are still unaware of the danger," he said.

Over 100 confirmed individual cases of people catching diseases from turtles have been verified in the United States in the last 10 years.

The Virginia State Department of Health reported that children appear to be "most at risk" to turtle-associated salmonellosis for several reasons.

Children are apparently more susceptible to the disease and their infections appear to be more severe. The report said children handle turtles more frequently and their sanitary habits are quite unpredictable.

Mather said some retail outlets in Idaho have voluntarily stopped stocking turtles, after outbreaks of the disease were traced to them. He said in most of the cases the water in the aquariums was tested and found contaminated.

"I personally would recommend that turtles never be kept as house pets, particularly when small children are in the home. There are many ways in which humans can acquire infection from turtles, and it is difficult to protect against spread of the disease," he said.

Turtles, at least a majority of pet turtles, that are sold in the United States come from South America or from U.S. commercial turtle breeding farms primarily in Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Record sales

SADDLE BROOK, N. J. (UPI) — Carpet industry sales will set a record in 1972, a leading manufacturer forecasts. Volume will approach the $2.6 billion mark and resume the 12 per cent annual growth rate maintained throughout the 1960s but interrupted in 1970 and 1971, according to General Felt Industries, Inc.

The company says it bases its prediction on increased new housing starts in 1971, easing of credit, availability of more mortgage financing, lowering of interest rates and evidence of increased consumer confidence.

Housing plan

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Empty buildings awaiting demolition in slum clearance should be used as temporary homes to ease an acute housing shortage, Housing Minister Aage Hastrup proposed in Parliament.

Hastrup said that owners would report empty flats and be allowed to rent them for short terms. The renting may not delay slum clearance. Owners would not be obliged to find alternate housing for such temporary tenants and the rent would just cover operating costs. Hastруп recommended.

Phase 2 starts on downtown project

TWIN FALLS — Work on the second and final portion of Phase II of the Downtown Improvement Project in Twin Falls will begin Monday with off street parking lot reconstruction, City Manager Jean Milar said Wednesday.

In a meeting with the contractor, architect, engineer, city officials and Urban Renewal Agency representatives progress on the $615,233 Phase II program was reported.

Utilities and Neilsen Construction Co., general contractor, have completed major excavation of alleys for placing utility lines underground. Milar said this means improvement of parking lots can begin.

First on the work schedule is the area behind J.C. Penney Co. and the First Security Bank. This lot, one of the largest, will accommodate 182 vehicles. During winter months, weather permitting, Milar said the contractor plans to remove existing meter posts, bumper guards and other improvements. The lot will then be brought up to grade and gravel added.

Paving of all lots will wait until weather is suitable in the spring, probably late May or June, Milar said. This will mean the lots will be operated with "controlled" parking but without meters for a period of several weeks to several months.

When the first lot is completed, equipment and crews will move west to the lot behind the Idaho Department Store and then to the Twin Falls Bank and Trust parking lots.

Milar said the area from Third Street South and extending behind the First Security Bank, J.C. Penney Co., Idaho Department Store and to the bank and Trust lot will become continuous parking lot.

The street now closed between J.C. Penney Co. and the Idaho Department Store will be landscaped with a small play area for children and benches for shoppers who may wish to rest or wait there for brief periods. Landscaping will include plantings and benches carrying out the same landscaping design of the mall.

All lots will be lighted, paved and landscaped by mid-summer, Milar said. When completed, the city's downtown traffic and parking plan will be complete, he said and existing traffic problems will be corrected.

There will be no entrances or exits from parking lots into alleys, but adequate curb cuts will be made to provide entrance and exit from each lot onto side streets and the Second Avenues. This will leave alleys for delivery vehicles only and eliminate traffic congestion in alleys, Milar said.

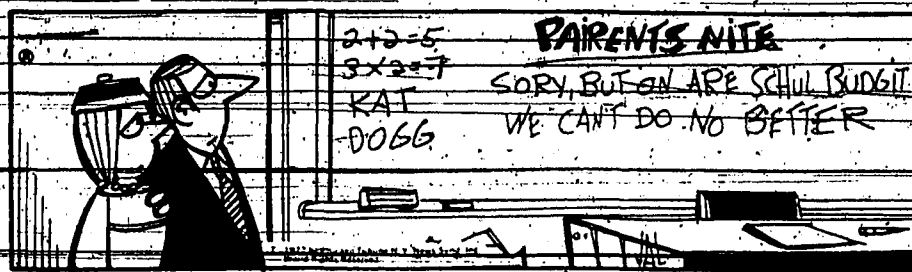

All lots will be metered, but depending on when each is torn up and regraded, no metered parking will be provided for brief periods pending pavement and installing of meters. Existing meters will be utilized and be replaced on the lots, Milar said.

With completion of the off street parking lots, 433 parking spaces will be available in the downtown area with pedestrian access to the rear entrances of stores. Another 77 parking spaces are provided on Main Avenue and some on side streets and on Second Avenues.

Milar said he plans to present an off-street parking operation plan to the City Council Monday night. The lots, when completed, will become the complete responsibility of the city, he said. The lots, paved, metered, landscaped and lighted will be needed to the city for operation and maintenance.

The proposed operation plan calls for signing, policing and other general operation and maintenance.

IRS sets rental hike limit

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Internal Revenue Service Monday announced a two and a half per cent basic limitation of rental increases under President Nixon's Phase II economic program.

IRS Director Calvin Wright

said landlords are allowed the basic annual increase to cover operating costs, and the increment may be applied even if there is not an identifiable increase in the costs. Wright said rent may not be raised higher than the two and a half per cent limit except for increases in state and local real estate taxes, state and local fees, levies, municipal service charges (exclusive of gas and electricity) and capital improvements.

Idaho outlook parallels U.S.

TWIN FALLS — An Idaho bank predicts Idaho's economic outlook for 1972 parallels that of the nation, with greater stability of prices and a corresponding decrease in the rate of inflation.

The forecast, contained in the First Security Bank News Letter, was announced here by Kenneth J. Newman, vice-president and manager of the Twin Falls branch of the bank.

The publication is edited by Dr. Elroy Nelson, a bank vice president and economist.

According to the bank, production should increase in most economic segments, including manufacturing of lumber and paper, most food products, transportation equipment, apparel and electronics.

The outlook, however, is less favorable for the metals mining industry, especially for the first half of 1972. Construction is expected to increase, as is retail trade, while employment in almost all segments should be higher and unemployment slightly lower than last year.

Despite problems existing in the mining industry and some segments of agriculture, personal income, employment, production and trade in the Gem state last year all increased at rates slightly above the national average.

203 licenses suspended

TWIN FALLS — Of the 306 licenses suspended in December in Idaho for motorists on the state's highways, 17 were from Twin Falls County, including 11 persons arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Suspensions included Edward L. Bailey, Kimberly; Edward J. Ruffing, Buhl; Jolatha V. Taylor, Filer; and Gary E. Delgarito, Dale L. Goodman, Manuel Goyis, Jr., Steven K. Hoppe, Edwin V. Machacek, Thomas E. Stuart, and Claude Thomas, Jr., all Twin Falls, and John H. Rice, Buhl, all for driving while intoxicated.

Suspended for violation of restriction was Paul E. Hawkins, Buhl; for refusal of chemical test, Manuel Goyis, Twin Falls, and Jolatha V. Taylor, Filer; for accumulation of violation points, Todd B. Crosser, Twin Falls, and for failure to appear, Rudolph E. Qyalito, whose suspension time has been completed.

In other counties, Jesse Leon Plumley, Sun Valley, was suspended for driving while intoxicated, and George H. Dorris, Jr., Burley, for a similar offense. Other Cassia county suspensions included Matthew K. Clark, Oakley, violation of restriction; Karl A. Eames, Burley, accumulation of violation points, and Theodore Chee, Declo, denial of insurance.

Elmore County suspensions for driving while intoxicated included Steven M. Hoff and William H. Weissbahr, Mountain Home AFB; Joseph A. Morrison, William W. Peak, Mauro Salinas, Jerry W. Spivey, all Mountain Home.

Others included Christopher T. Kewin, Jr., Mountain Home, chemical test refusal, and Orren D. Hodges and Janice I. Lunk, Mountain Home, both failure to appear.

Gooding County suspensions included Stanley E. Burden, Gooding, and William E. Lewis, Jr., both Gooding, driving while intoxicated; Elmer Meyer, Gooding, failure to appear.

Jerome County suspensions included Fred T. Ostic, Jerome, driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages; Donald A. McEntarffer, Jerome, reckless driving; Rafael Noyola, Hazelton, driving while under suspension; and David R. Hansing, Jerome, failure to appear.

Minidoka County suspensions were Floyd Orr, and Laverl B. Wrigley, both Rupert, driving while intoxicated; Clay A. Bergstrom, Paul, reckless driving; Charlie Chase, Paul, and Thomas F. Smith, Rupert, drag racing; Pablo R. Flores, Rupert, driving while under suspension; Douglas R. Martin, Rupert, habitual violator.

Children accept concept of death

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The little girl with acute leukemia trembled through her area of the hospital asking grownups a single question.

"What's it going to be like when I die?"

The only real response she received was that adults were afraid to talk about dying.

When she put the question to the hospital chaplain, he asked what she thought it would be like.

"One of these days I'm going to fall asleep and when I wake up I'm going to be with Jesus and my little sister," she said, and returned to play.

Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, writing in the National Education Association Journal, said the story shows that children can face up even to their own deaths if adults "don't make it a frightening, horrible experience to be avoided" at all costs.

She and a number of her colleagues at the University of Chicago's Billings Hospital interviewed and followed the cases of about 500 terminally ill patients in the hope of learning how to be more helpful to them and their families.

While children can accept the idea of death, she said, adults send the elderly to nursing homes and the fatally ill to hospitals which usually forbid children to visit them, even if they are parents.

Most patients, when told their illness is fatal, respond in shock. "Oh no, this can't happen to me," When they learn to accept their plight, Dr. Ross said, they display envy, jealousy and anger against their attendants, clergymen and families.

The patients are not really angry at the individuals, she said, but rather at the health and energy they represent. Once this stage is passed, many pray for a compromise one more year of life.

When the patient stops demanding "why me?" and substitutes the acknowledgment, "yes, me," deep depression usually follows, Dr. Ross said. She warned that at this time the patient never should be told to "cheer up."

"We should allow them to grieve, to cry," she said. "We should even convey to them that it takes a brave person to cry," meaning that it takes courage to face death.

When the patient acknowledges his impending death, he often wants only one deeply loved person nearby, and shows no more fear, bitterness or anguish.

Brush-in set at county schools

TWIN FALLS — A "Brush-In" will be conducted in the Twin Falls County elementary schools Jan. 17 through Feb. 3, according to Dr. Allen R. Cutler, chief, dental health section, Idaho Department of Health.

At the "Brush-In" students in grades one through six will be taught how to prevent tooth decay and gum problems. Each child will receive a good quality toothbrush and will learn the correct way to clean his teeth. Following the dental instruction, children who have parental permission will brush with a special fluoride paste. This self-applied fluoride helps to make the teeth harder and less susceptible to tooth decay. Dr. Cutler points out that the "Brush-In" does not replace regular dental care and topical fluoride applications by the family dentist.

The "Brush-In" will be conducted by state dental hygienist, Lisa Hansen, and local dental hygienists, Mrs. Kay Wolverton, Kimberly, and Mrs. Sandra Golay, Hansen. They will be assisted by the public health nurses and volunteer mothers at each school.

Dates for the "Brush-In" are Jan. 17, Hansen Elementary; Jan. 18, Harrison and Special Education; Jan. 19, Harrison, Hollister and Clover; Jan. 20, Bickell; Jan. 21, Bickell and Memorial Lutheran; Jan. 24, Washington; Jan. 25, Morningside; Jan. 26, Morningside and Bush; Jan. 27, Bush and Filer; Jan. 28, Filer; Jan. 31, Lincoln and Murtaugh; Feb. 1, Lincoln; Feb. 2, Kimberly and Lincoln; and Feb. 3, Castleford.

Hearing set

RICHFIELD — Public hearing for the proposed Richfield City budget will be held Feb. 8 at the monthly city board meeting.

Total amount of the budget is $26,156 operating expenses, plus $151,000 bonded indebtedness for sewer construction.

The general fund budget is $16,350: $4,500, streets and alleys; $400 airport; $1,800, city dump; $1,400, irrigation; $700, recreation, and $2,300, street lights.

Man facing trial

HAILEY — Bruce Gill, 23, Hayden Lake, was bound over for trial in district court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing.

Gill was charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver, a felony, and also with possession of a controlled substance, a misdemeanor. The charges stemmed from a Dec. 24 raid on Gill's apartment in Bellevue. The preliminary hearing was continued from Jan. 4.

Gill was released under $1,500 bond pending appearance in district court here.

Items taken

TWIN FALLS — Gerald Deitman, 376 Polk St., told city police someone entered his home Tuesday night and took a tape recorder, radio and about $10 in cash.

He estimated the total loss at about $75. Officers said Mrs. Deitman saw a light moving in the house while she was across the street at a neighbor's home, and called her husband who was at work.

Proposed East Fork subdivision site

Blaine commission denies variance

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — Blaine County commissioners Wednesday denied a zoning variance for the proposed Ratto Subdivision of quarter-acre lots near the past fork of the Wood River.

The denial came with a request that the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Board study the zoning in the entire East Fork area. It is designated R-2, low-density residential, with a minimum lot size set at one acre.

Discussions during Wednesday's hearing on the variance disclosed that the area contained both one-quarter and half-acre lots as well as one-acre and larger lots.

All the smaller lots were established before the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Ordinance went into effect July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ratto, East Fork, had applied to the commissioners for a hearing on their application to subdivide five acres south of their home

The hearing was continued from Monday when the Rattos' attorney, Dennis M. Olsen, Idaho Falls, was unable to attend. Mrs. Ratto presented the case Wednesday when Olsen was again absent because of bad roads.

Commission Chairman John Fox said the commission upheld the earlier decisions of the Blaine County Zoning and Planning Commission and the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Fox said the commissioners denied the request because "there is no justification to allow one-fourth-acre lots."

We turned down the proposal as it was submitted.

Earlier in the hearing, Mrs. Ratto said that four adjacent lots in the Willowood Subdivision east of the proposed Ratto Subdivision, three were "one-half acre or less."

She said the parcel was bordered on the west by four one-fourth-acre lots part of the original Ratto Subdivision.

Mrs. Ratto said if she and her husband were required to subdivide into one-acre lots, "We stand to lose almost $75,000." But, she said, "If we have to go to one-half-acre lots, that's fine, but it's while we are trying to keep away from."

In an earlier interview, she said that the purpose of the subdivision "is to provide a piece of property so that someone who lives here and works here can buy a lot and put a house on it."

The commissioners during the hearing questioned the inclusion of a cul-de-sac in the plat drawing Mrs. Ratto said that the turn around would be 50 feet with a 10-foot easement for snow removal.

Commissioner Jack Bennett said the county snow removal equipment is geared for high speed operation and that it has no equipment for backing snow. The commissioners recommended that the Rattos pursue a trade with adjacent land owners to obtain an exist road on the east side of the parcel.

During Monday's hearing, the commissioners read 10 letters, including six from East Fork residents, opposing the proposed subdivision. The majority contended that if the application was approved that it would result in "spot or strip" zoning which would defeat the whole purpose of the Blaine County planning and zoning ordinance.

Letter writers also opposed small lots with some discussion given to sanitation problems which would be encountered should the variance be granted.

Mrs. Ratto said during the hearing, Wednesday, that George Roessler, Shoshone, well driller, had to go to the 45 to 46 foot depth level to establish a well in the East Fork area.

Hearing set

TWIN FALLS — Anna Mae Jones, 23, who pleaded guilty last September to embezzling funds from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, will appear in a hearing Friday in Fifth District Court, Gooding.

Sheriff Paul Corder, who has the woman in custody at the Twin Falls County jail, said Sheriff Earl Brown of Gooding County will return Mrs. Jones to Gooding Friday.

There she will appear before Judge Charles Scoggin. Mrs. Jones was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary in October, but the court retained jurisdiction in the case for 120 days. Among choices of the court are to go ahead with execution of sentence or placing the woman on probation.

New code rapped

HAILEY — Blaine County commissioners Wednesday asked Magistrate V. K. Jeppesen to write state legislators in opposition to the new Idaho State Criminal Code which went into effect Jan. 1.

Magistrate Jeppesen said that the code would "nearly triple" the county's 1972 budget. Commissioner Ray Sweet said the code should be repealed and not remodeled.

The commissioners said they oppose the code both on the grounds of lack of its workability and because of the additional expense it will cost the county.

Minidoka plans unified law enforcement facility

By LEPAGE LAYTON
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Consolidation of all city and county law enforcement facilities in Minidoka County into a single unit headquartered at Rupert is only a matter of time.

That is the opinion of participants in a conference on the problems involved in the proposal Wednesday morning. Alex Roemer, chairman of the Minidoka County commission, called the meeting to develop a consensus between county commissioners and representatives of communities in the county, including Paul, Hayden and Heppner.

Attorney Larry Duff, project director for the consolidation, said Minidoka County must have new jail facilities, and that this phase of the project will be the first step in the consolidation. The county commission has provided funds in the budget for new facilities for the sheriff's office and jail quarters. The project will cost an estimated $22 per square foot for office space and $40 per square foot for the county jail quarters. In addition, new radio and teletype equipment would be needed.

The consolidation proposal calls for the three communities to participate in operational costs of the joint facility. City jail facilities would be eliminated and all prisoners would be taken to Rupert. A joint radio network would link the county facility with city police departments.

Frank Finlayson, Boise, regional director of the Law Enforcement Planning Commission, explained steps to qualify for state funds. A fund of about $200,000 has been set aside for "24 counties east of Twin Falls County," for "law enforcement work." Finlayson said "Minidoka County could qualify for a portion of this money with the proper planning."

Duff said the consolidation would not eliminate any local police agencies. Rupert, Paul and Heyburn would still maintain their own law enforcement facilities, but would work with the county in the joint effort.

The project has been in the planning stages since 1966, Duff said, and has made "considerable progress" since its inception. He plans to confer with the three City Councils on their feelings about the joint effort.

Arthur Uhrich, a member of the Paul City Council, who was authorized to represent the council at the meeting, said he will ask Mayor Robert Larson to call a special council meeting to discuss the proposal.

The only major expense for the city would be the new radio equipment to join the county-wide network, Uhrich said. There would be little savings through the joint jail facilities, since Paul ships any long-term prisoners to Rupert now, keeping only "drunks who have to dry out in our local jail."

Heyburn Mayor Harold Hust said today his community is all ready to go on the joint project.

Filing set Friday on recall petitions

JEROME — Petitions seeking recall of three members of the Jerome City Council may be filed Friday.

A spokesman for the group of citizens circulating the recall petitions said today the minimum number of signatures has been obtained.

The petitions seek recall of Councilmen S. N. (Shorty) Weeks, Walter Bentzinger and Elwin Tinker in connection with the council's decision not to reappoint C. H. Puntney as police chief on Jan. 1. The petitions charge the council ignored the mandate of the people in the matter and that it refused to hold a formal hearing on the matter.

In a related matter, Irving Altman, patrolman for the Jerome Police Department, said today he will not apply for the post of police chief as has been reported. He said he would take the rank of captain in the department if it is offered to him. Altman said he is considering running for sheriff this year.

Mel Morris, former Jerome public works director, said Wednesday legal technicalities have delayed a recall move aimed at Mayor J. A. (Jack) Russell and Councilmen Marshall Everheart, Russell and Everheart supported reappointment of Puntney. Morris resigned his city job under pressure during 1971.

Camas Prairie power restored

Power was restored to Camas Prairie Wednesday, but the area still was isolated this morning although one highway leading into Fairfield was expected to be open by noon.

Idaho Highway Department personnel at Shoshone said crews are working on Idaho Highway 46 between Gooding and Fairfield and expect to have it open later today.

Idaho Highway 68 between Timmerman Hill and Mountain Home is still blocked, however, and it is not known when it will be open.

Jim Johnstone of the Idaho Power Co. office in Twin Falls said power was restored to the prairie about noon Wednesday. The outage occurred about 10 p.m. Tuesday, resulting in a 14-hour powerless span for all customers on Camas Prairie.

Camas County Sheriff Paul Cox said temperatures in many Fairfield area homes dipped to 30 degrees during the outage.

He said at least three families whose homes do not have fireplaces or wood burning stoves were moved to neighbors' homes for the duration of the outage. One family living on Soldier Creek north of Fairfield was moved by snow machine.

Johnstone said the power outage was caused by a pole which burned in the mountains between Fairfield and Hailey. The trouble spot was reached by an Idaho Power crew traveling by snow cat.

Schools at Fairfield still were closed today because of snowy conditions on roads in the area.

Sheriff Cox said he was not aware of any serious problems caused in Fairfield by the power outage. He said city wells have about 29 pounds of pressure on them so water was available to city residents.

In Richfield, weather conditions have improved and only one school bus was slightly late making its rounds this morning.

Regional 'port costs estimated

BURLEY — Costs for the Regional Airport Authority during 1972 were estimated at $36,364 during a meeting here Wednesday afternoon.

Costs for each of the counties involved were figured, with Cassia County providing $3.5 per cent or $12,200, from a 5 mill levy. Costs for other participating counties include Minidoka, 31.5 per cent, 3.5 mills, $11,400; Jerome, 20 per cent, $7,492, from a 40 mill levy; Gooding, 10.5 percent, $3,832, 20 mill levy; Latah, 4 per cent, $1,440 from a 20 mill levy.

The figures were presented to commissioners of the various counties, who attended the meeting. George Forscher, chairman of the board for the authority, asked the county officials to plan for necessary studies as soon as possible.

It was also noted during the meeting that counties in the district are to levy not more

Reichert named head of TF canal firm at directors' reorganization meeting

TWIN FALLS — Ed Reichert, Filer, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal Co. during the annual board meeting on Wednesday.

He will succeed Tom Olmstead, Twin Falls, who was named secretary-treasurer. The board rotates the chairmanship over a two-year period, Olmstead said.

Al Kramer, Castelford, was elected vice chairman; Robert Clay was retained as assistant secretary, and Al Peters will continue as general manager, completing his 25th consecutive year in the post.

In his presentation address, Allen noted that although "my presence here today is not on a common ground of activity that characterizes most of your personal endeavors," that "we all have much in common when we discuss respect for those who have contributed immeasurably to the water development of our own community, state and nation."

Mr. Sharp, Allen said, "was an outstanding contributor." He served nearly 35 years on the board of directors, worked with the Committee of Nine as a committee member for many years and was a charter member of the National Reclamation Association.

"As a stepson of N. V., my acquaintance dates back over 40 years when we had joint family dinners together both in Filer and Twin Falls," Allen said. "But for the past 20 years, my acquaintance was of a more personal nature, following a happy marriage to my mother."

"He graciously loved and provided for my mother. He was kind and most generous to all of his family. His sound advice and guidance was a big assistance following the passing of my father, the late Clarence E. Allen, in 1944."

"On behalf of his stepdaughters and stepsons, it is my extreme pleasure to present this portrait as a small token of esteem with which he was regarded among our family," Allen said.

He added that "Special recognition should be directed to my sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shacklett of Murfreesboro, Tenn., for this outstanding labor of love."

The presentation was made on behalf of himself and his sister, Mrs. Stewart, Dorothy Wegener, Tacoma, Wash., and his brother, Howard Allen of Twin Falls, Allen said.

In his report to the board, Peters said five records were broken during the 1971 irrigation season, including:

— More water spilled past Milner than at any time since 1894.

— Reservoirs had to be drawn down after the irrigation season to make room for ice and flood control.

— We ran a record head in the main canal of almost 4,000 second feet for 42 days in a canal built for 3,600 second feet.

— The natural flow in the river never dropped below our 1900 filing of 3,000 second feet at any time during the season," and

— "We used only 70,000 acre feet of storage from our allotted amount of 248,000 acre feet."

This year looks equally bountiful with two inches more snow on the watershed as of Jan. 2 than a year earlier, "so it is possible some of last year's records will be broken," Peters said.

Co-ordinators for line

STEPHANIE MARTIN, Burley, seated at desk, and Allen Ross Johnson, Rupert, co-ordinators of the Burley-Rupert Hot Line discuss information on file to be used by volunteer workers in answering questions of callers.

Hot Line operates in Burley-Rupert

BURLEY The Hot Line for Burley-Rupert is now in operation.

Persons needing help, information, or just wanting to talk to someone are urged to phone 678-0182 anytime from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. daily.

Two persons will be on duty at all times during the scheduled hours to answer the phone. Persons need not give their name when phoning the Hot Line.

Persons of all ages have volunteered to man the Hot Line, including business women, housewives, students attending Minico, Declo and Burley High School.

The volunteer workers at the Hot Line will have available a list of referrals of doctors, lawyers, ministers, social workers and hospitals that will be used in answering the caller's questions.

Training sessions will be held for all volunteer workers on the Hot Line before they can work at the Hot Line phone. Brush up training sessions will be held once a month, according to Stephanie Martin and Allen Ross Johnson, co-ordinators of the Hot Line.

The Hot Line is operated on full donations of time and finances. The first and only financial help the Hot Line has received was $50 donated by the Minico SMART Teens. These funds are being used to pay for the installation of the phone and will be used for telephone bills in the coming months.

Additional funds will be needed to keep the telephone bill paid current in the coming months, according to Miss Martin and Johnson.

The local Hot Line is patterned after the Night Line which has been operating very successfully at University of Idaho Moscow.

Any time professional help is needed by a caller referrals will be made by the person serving as the volunteer Hot Line operator.

Topics of information which will be available by phoning the Hot Line are drugs, birth control, VD Clinic, located in Twin Falls, and information on local emergency agencies such as fire, department, ambulance, hospital locations and how to reach them.

Miss Martin and Johnson are both members of Region Five Drug Education Team which includes all eight counties in Magic Valley. Both attended the two weeks study course given by State Department Drug Education and a workshop in Boise on drugs.

The two young people have conducted a drug workshop in Burley and are planning a workshop to be held Feb. 14 at College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls.

Residents wishing additional information on the Burley-Rupert Hot Line or wanting to volunteer a few hours to man the phone, may phone Miss Martin at 678-0638, Burley, or Mr. Johnson at 436-6667, Rupert.

Mini-Cassia Teachers slate negotiations

RUPERT Preparations for preliminary talks with the local school board are being made by the Minidoka County Teachers' Association. Negotiation Committee, announced Kest R. Severe, president of the association.

Severe noted the 11st legislature amended the Idaho Code to include provisions for negotiations between professional employees and local school board trustees. The legislature, after much debate and deliberation, recognized the value of utilizing the experience and knowledge of the classroom teacher in establishing school policy.

Severe further announced that the Minidoka County Teachers' Association will be negotiating with the local school board on Sept. 23, 1971, as the exclusive negotiating agent for the teachers of Minidoka County District No. 331.

He said 82 per cent of the certificated employees of the school district are members of the MCTA Idaho Education Association, National Education Association.

No serious difficulties are anticipated in the coming negotiation sessions since the association and the board of trustees of the district have enjoyed a cordial and professional relationship for a good number of years, said Severe.

Members of the MCTA negotiating committee are David Moller, chairman, Barbara Fagg, Betty Williams, Gwen Fennell, Bill Martin, John Senecal, and Severe, assisted by representatives from most attendance units of the county.

Firm names Demer to Oakley position

OAKLEY Idaho Power Co. announced Wednesday that Vaughn N. Demer, senior commercial marketing representative at Twin Falls and a veteran of nearly 20 years' service, has been named manager of the Oakley district. The new manager will assume his duties later this month according to F. E. Haroldsen, southern division manager.

Demer has been the district's acting manager in addition to serving as Kimberly district manager since Ken North W. Rosecrance transferred to Emmet earlier this year.

Mr. Demer has broad experience and is fully qualified to assume responsibility for the company's operations in the Oakley district, Haroldsen said.

Demer, who grew up at Murtland and graduated from high school there, has spent his entire Idaho Power career in the southern division.

Starting as a meter reader at Twin Falls, he later worked with line construction maintenance crews before becoming a serviceman in the fiber district.

Demer remained at Filer for nearly 10 years and then switched to the company's marketing department.

He was a residential marketing representative at Hazelton and Jerome until 1966, when he was appointed to his present position at Twin Falls. Demer and his wife, the former Muriel Filley, a native of Burley, are the parents of three children.

Butz plans help for family farms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz Wednesday announced plans for a crash research program to find new ways to help preserve the family farm.

"I will establish several marketing teams to initiate a crash program on the marketing problems of family farms, and to investigate ways to improve the tax structure for family farms," Butz said in a speech prepared for a convention of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives at Phoenix, Ariz.

Butz said he would ask the teams to report by late summer on issues including new and improved marketing methods and increasing farm exports.

He said he would ask the panels to work with farm groups, state universities, cooperatives, business and industry.

The secretary had been accused earlier of lacking sympathy with family farmers because of his service on the boards of several big agribusiness corporations. He acknowledged in his speech that family farmers now are wary of the threat of large conglomerate firms that enter farming and benefit from lower interest rates, easier access to capital, marketing advantages, and various measures to reduce federal income tax costs.

Praising family farms as the "backbone of our food and fiber system," Butz pledged special effort to help them.

The secretary made no mention in his prepared text of a proposal, pushed by some farm groups, to amend anti-trust laws to ban farming operations by conglomerate nonfarm corporations. Butz earlier had indicated he opposed such legislation.

In a biting attack on a number of unnamed members of Congress, "meanwhile, Butz charged in his speech that 'committee and party leaders who shed crocodile tears over the family farm have stood idly by while (dock strikers) tightened the noose around the neck of family farmers' by blocking farm export sales.

Recent dock strikes by a small band of men have cost farmers $1 billion in income, Butz said, castigating lawmakers who failed to act on pending legislation which would give the White House new authority to deal with transportation strikes.

Butz urged quick passage of the legislation.

The new Nixon farm chief also renewed his call on the Senate to defeat a pending bill to raise grain support rates because, Butz charged, it would scuttle the present production control program and cut farm exports.

Butz said the bill, pushed by many Democratic leaders with some GOP help, would be "a fit of short-sighted partisanship in an election year" because it would lead to overproduction, depressed markets and a return to light production controls.

The secretary also pledged administration efforts to win more liberal trade policy agreements from the European common market.

Farm Gem spud stock equals year ago

BOISE — Stocks of potatoes held by growers, dealers and processors in Idaho on Jan. 1 are estimated at 47.5 million hundredweight, according to the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

That is the same as Jan. 1 holdings one year ago. Potatoes in storage are reported to be in generally good condition.

All disappearance quantities shipped fresh, utilized in processing, sold for livestock feed and seed, used on farms where produced for household use and feed, plus potatoes lost through shrinkage, decay and dumping — of the 1971 Idaho potato crop through Dec. 31 totaled 28.35 million cwt.

This disappearance is exceeded only by the 33.29 million cwt. in 1966, resulting from severe October freeze damage that year. In 1971 disappearance through December amounted to 27.16 million cwt. Estimates of total stocks represent all potatoes held in Idaho by growers, local dealers and processors.

Included are quantities to be sold for table use, food and seed and to be utilized in processing as well as quantities to be used on farms where grown for feed, seed, and household use. Also included are potatoes that will be lost through shrinkage and waste after Jan. 1.

Storage stocks of Irish potatoes for all uses held by growers, local dealers, and processors in fall producing areas totaled 148 million hundredweight on Jan. 1. This was one per cent less than the 149.7 million cwt. on hand for all uses, a year earlier, but seven per cent more than the 138 million of Jan. 1, 1970.

In the eight western states — Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Washington, Oregon and California — Jan. 1 holdings totaled 77.0 million cwt., six per cent below last year at 82.1 million cwt. Idaho stocks were equal to those at this time in 1971. Washington stocks are 13.5 million cwt., were down 16 per cent from 16.0 million cwt. a year ago.

Stocks in California and Wyoming were larger than Jan. 1, 1971 levels. In the remaining states, levels were all lower than a year ago.

Disappearance to Jan. 1 from the 1971 fall production of 249.9 million cwt. was 101.8 million cwt., compared with 103.1 million cwt. for 1970 and 100.5 million cwt. from the 1969 crop.

Movement of the 1971 fall potato crop to fresh market and shippers through December 31 was less than a year earlier. However, more potatoes from the 1971 fall crop were used for processing, excluding chips, through Dec. 31 than during the corresponding 1970 period.

Orange crop forecast shows slight increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has estimated the 1971-72 orange crop, on the basis of Jan. 1 conditions, at 189.6 million boxes, up 0.1 per cent from the Dec. 1 forecast.

The latest estimate put the projected crop 1 per cent below last season's 190,600,000 boxes.

The department's crop-reporting board said Monday the Jan. 1 prospects for all citrus fruits were slightly improved from a month earlier because of improved orange prospects in Arizona and were "slightly above" last season.

The board estimated grapefruit production at 67.1 million boxes and the lemon crop at 17.5 million boxes.

The grapefruit estimate was unchanged from last month's forecast and was 1 per cent above last year's crop of 66.6 million boxes. The lemon crop likewise was unchanged from a month earlier and was 6 per cent more than last season's crop of 16.45 million boxes.

The crop board issued the following forecasts for individual fruits on the basis of Jan. 1 conditions (Dec. 1 estimates are shown in parentheses):

Oranges: California — 44 million boxes (44 million); including 22 million boxes (22 million) of Valencia; Florida — 126 million boxes (126 million), including 67 million boxes (67 million) of Valencia; Texas — 6.2 million boxes (6.2 million), including 2.2 million boxes (2.2 million) of Valencia.

Grapefruit: Florida — 44 million boxes (44 million); California — 5.2 million boxes (5.2 million); Lemons: California — 14.5 million boxes (14.5 million); Arizona — 3 million boxes (3 million).

Tangelos: Florida — 3.3 million boxes (3.3 million) compared with 2.7 million last year.

Tangerines: Florida — 3.5 million boxes (3.5 million); Arizona — 300,000 boxes (300,000); California — 700,000 boxes (700,000); total production was estimated at 4.5 million boxes (4.5 million).

compared with 1.89 million boxes last year.

Temple: Florida — 6 million boxes (6 million) compared with 5 million last year.

The board said Jan. 1 tests indicate that Florida oranges used in making frozen concentrated juice will yield 1.25 gallons of frozen concentrate from each box of fresh oranges this season. The tentative estimate compares with a forecast of 1.23 gallons per box in December and last season's final yield average of 1.21 gallons per box.

Farm planners study grain control boosts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration farm planners are set to give serious consideration to a boost in land retirement payment rates for corn and other feed grains if a forthcoming survey shows prospects of excess production this year.

What happens, Agriculture Department officials stress, depends largely on results of a survey of farmers' 1972 planting intentions which will be released Jan. 27.

The department's 1972 feed grain control program, announced last October, was designed to produce a sharp cutback in corn planting on the heels of the record, price-depressing 1971 harvest. If the new survey shows production is likely to exceed administration goals, sources said, the Agriculture Department can be expected to look at at least two methods of assuring a big increase in idling of acreage.

One possibility, an official said, is an increase in payment rates on land idled by feed grain producers under an "optional" phase of their control program.

As the program now stands, growers who want to qualify for basic support and subsidy protection must idle acreage equal to 25 per cent of their historic farm planting base.

Then, in a second phase of the program, growers have the option of idling additional acres at a payment rate based on 52 cents for each bushel of normal corn yield.

Thus, for a farm with an average yield of 100 bushels of corn per acre, the land retirement rate in the optional second phase of the program would be $52 an acre.

If the January survey shows a need for greater land retirement, the administration's 1972 goal is 38 million acres idled on feed grain farms compared with 18 million last year — the payment rate for optional diversion could be fattened to make it more attractive to farmers, a source said.

A second possibility, another official added, is adjustment of the 1972 feed grain program along the lines of a regulation adopted this week for producers of spring wheat. The spring wheat rule provides, in effect, that growers entering the second-stage "optional" land retirement phase of the program must keep actual plantings below their 1971 totals.

Administration plans to stiffen the 1972 feed grain control program, if necessary, come on the heels of an announcement this week that an "optional" land idling phase has been added to the 1972 wheat program as a new attempt to safeguard against excess production. Previously, the wheat program had lacked this feature although it was included in the feed grain program.

GOP eyes own plan for state

BOISE (UPI) — Believing turnabout is fair play, the Republican majority in the legislature seriously is thinking of dumping its own government reorganization plan into the lap of Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Andrus, in his "State of the State" address Monday, asked the legislature to approve and put on next November's general election ballot his reorganization plan.

If the people approve the idea, Andrus said, he will call a special session of legislature next year to begin reorganizing state government. He wants to accomplish the whole thing by Jan. 1, 1975.

Republicans have been cool to Andrus' proposal ever since he first unveiled it late last fall. Some do not like the constitutional aspect of it — contending it can be accomplished through legislation. Others question its workability and some even question its sincerity.

Additionally, the GOP is quite aware that all 100 seats in the legislature are up for election this year and it does not want to hand any bouquets to Andrus or any other Democrats.

Accordingly, the Republican leadership is talking about dusting off the legislature's own reorganization plan — proposed by a GOP-controlled interim committee late in 1966.

A plan calls for streamlining the executive branch into 18 major departments and Republicans say the essence of it can be accomplished through statutory rather than constitutional changes.

Part of that plan was adopted by the legislature in 1967 when it created the controversial Department of Administrative Services. This was one of the 18 agencies recommended by the Interim Committee.

Encouraging the Republicans to consider reviving the 1966 proposal is the fact that the Andrus Administration has been considering the recent reorganization in Montana.

"The Montana plan they're considering is substantially the Idaho plan," House Speaker William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, said. "In fact, it was written by the same man."

Lanting referred to the fact that the staff man spearheading the reorganization for Montana Gov. Forrest H. Anderson is George Bousliman, a former staffer for the Idaho Legislative Council.

Bousliman was the staff man who worked with the 1966 Interim Committee that devised the 18-agency Idaho reorganization proposal. After that plan started gathering dust in the council archives, Bousliman resigned and went to Montana where officials used portions of it in reorganizing that state's executive branch, Lanting noted.

"We don't need a constitutional amendment to accomplish statutory changes," Lanting said. "You don't have to wait until next year to start it, either."

Truckers rap road problem

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The truckers are angry — and with good reason, they say.

Long-haul truck drivers rolling between Utah points and southern Idaho are seeking action to improve what they term is the "worst stretch of highway in the United States" — Interstate 80 between the Utah line and almost anywhere in southern Idaho.

Petitions are circulating among drivers of all major trucking companies and many smaller lines, demanding action from Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, the Idaho Department of Highways and even the federal Department of Transportation. The target of their anger is the apparent lack of adequate snow-removal efforts, and the lack of sanding or salting of the highways under extremely icy, hazardous conditions.

"You couldn't draw a straight line than the border between Idaho and Utah," said one driver. (They don't care to be identified, these "hard-working" drivers — they still have to deal with Idaho highway and police officials.)

"In Utah, the roads are bare of snow; the minute you cross the line you have snow and ice all over the place. And Utah has even worse winter weather in many places than Idaho."

One driver said he passed the scene of the three-vehicle wreck in which three truckers lost their lives a week ago southeast of Burley.

"When I came back through there several hours later, there still had been no sanding of the highway, and there was no effort to flag down drivers to alert them of the wreckage on the road," he said.

Another trucker, weary of fighting heavy loads over long, icy stretches of highway, told this reporter that "Not so long ago, when that heavy snow fell, there were drifts all over the highway. Yet at both ends of the worst stretch, there were snowplows — with the drivers asleep."

The petitions, containing hundreds of signatures, will be forwarded to the officials, pleading for recognition of the dangers of untended ice and snow. Other states clear snow from their highways, the petitions ask — why doesn't can with the equipment they have" — as might be expected.

The highway department promised to do even more during and after the next snowstorm, it and when — now it remains to be seen what the results will be.

Sen. Saxvik asked highway department representatives what they were doing to alleviate hazardous conditions on the stretch from Burley southeast to Utah, and was told the crews are "doing all they

Safeway Pledges Continued Support Of Our Nation's Fight Against Inflation

STOP INFLATION

As you would expect from a company that has helped its fellow shoppers fight down inflation, Safeway will give full support to the President's Economic Stabilization Program. We are in the process of making price controls in our stores fully effective. For non-exempt food products, these are our ceiling prices during the freeze period of the President's program. From these prices, you can see that many of our best prices are below the basic prices. This will help you to buy the things you need at lower prices. Prices for non-food items are not always subject to the price controls, but you will find that some prices will go up, others will go down, while many will remain the same. Safeway's regulations provide for adjustments over basic prices where necessary. In working under these regulations, you can be sure that Safeway's prices are only what is absolutely necessary. And we will promptly reduce prices whenever possible.

It's part of our policy to help put the brakes on inflation.

Minico hosts Rams in feature of 24-game week

The Minico Spartans, their sights firmly affixed on the Southern Idaho Conference crown, run into problem No. 1 in the Eastern Division Friday night when they host the running Highland Rams. Meanwhile, Burley will be home to the Bonneville Bees, figured to be one of the Bobcats' stumbling blocks on the way to an Eastern Idaho Conference title. Those two games should highlight a 24-game weekend for Magic Valley teams. The defeated Gooding is heavily favored to pick up two more decisions over Shoshone and Wood River.

Two teams will leave the area. Twin Falls goes to Idaho Falls Friday night and Highland Saturday while Carey travels to Rimrock Friday.

Highland presents Minico with a new look after a season of wondering about height and knowing it can dominate guards. Highland will be slightly taller but the Rams will bring a pretty good set of guards that have excellent mobility. Maybe not as quick and poised as Minico's, but more of a test than they've had heretofore. Highland likes to run and its offensive record is about as strong as Minico's, in the 70-point per game area.

Saturday night Minico goes to Pocatello and the Indians offer a lot of worries. For the past two years the Indians have been known for good talent but inconsistent performances. It has a good guard in Dave Comstock and a fine leaping forward in Les LeVels, both among the SIC leading point producers. Depending on how Pocatello feels Saturday night, tight or a walkaway.

Twin Falls has now been pronounced ready to surprise someone by Coach Don Haynes who says his youngsters have been developing along and their confidence had to be helped with a strong showing against undefeated Skyline. "We put our worst game against Minico and our best game (against Skyline) back to back," says Haynes. "I think we're ready to win a game somewhere along the line."

Much of that confidence came when 6-8 sophomore Kent Schmidt blossomed Saturday night and anchored the Bruin showing against Skyline. He scored 17 points, had three nullified, was five-for-five from the foul line, blocked seven shots and had nine rebounds — playing three-fourths of the game.

Idaho Falls plays two sophomores quite regularly. Saturday night Twin Falls runs into the running Rams and there's no tougher place to stop Highland's running than in Pocatello.

Saturday night Minico goes to Pocatello and the Indians offer a lot of worries. For the past two years the Indians have been known for good talent but in-one of the stronger in the eastern end of the state but their stature, compared with Burley's isn't known.

A traditional duel is in store at Buhl where the Indians entertain the Jerome Tigers. Buhl is enjoying a 6-2 year and right now ranks as about the only thing between Gooding and 20-0. Jerome has the potential of winning but the Tigers have dropped from their start of good game, bad game to good, bad within the turn of the clock.

Coach Bill Emerson is still using a dozen men per game trying to find a combination that will click — at least for the evening. His other problem will be Kendall Meier, 6-7 and the SCIC's leading scorer.

The only other conference with much going on is the Magic Valley, which figures to have the best, if not the only, race among the six in the area this year. Raft River will be at Hagerman. The Trojans are pretty much in a spoiler role while Hagerman figures to be at or near the top. Defending champion Oakley will be at Murtaugh in what should prove a tight one. Declo which has had better luck in the conference than out, will travel to Hansen.

Camas County, the pick on the Northside, will travel to Gooding State while Bliss will be at Richfield.

In non-league play, Buhl takes its strong crew to Valley which has been waxing and waning. Wendell brings its full-court press to Filer where the Wildcats still are trying to get some scoring consistency. The powerful and undefeated Gooding Senators will be home to Shoshone.

Saturday, the Glenns Ferry Pilots, looking awfully tough in the Little Five conference, will entertain Valley while Wendell returns home to play Shoshone. Kimberly, the other member, steps out of the league to host the Filer Wildcats.

On the Northside, a good battle looms when the Richfield Tigers invade Dietrich. Richfield has the height advantage but Dietrich has that press.

Gooding entertains Wood River in one of the height mismatches of the year — Wood River with no one over six feet and the second largest at 5-10 while Gooding doesn't have anyone under 5-10 and ranges up to 6-8.

Camas County will be at Bliss while Gooding State entertains Rimrock.

Major league clubs select 15 pitchers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major League baseball teams, hoping to find another Don Gullett or Bert Blyleven hidden among the list of free agents, selected 15 pitchers on the first round Wednesday in the regular phase of the annual winter draft.

Eric Raich, a 6-foot-4 righthander who attended the University of Southern California, started the trend toward pitching when he was chosen by the Cleveland Indians, who "earned" the right to select first by having the worst record in the majors last year.

Raich, who lives in Southgate, Calif., pitched two seasons for the Trojans and is considered by major league scouts to have the best arm on the list of available free agents. Raich compiled a combined record of 13-5 in his two seasons at USC and had earned runs averages of 3.12 and 2.21.

Six of the first seven players selected in the first round were pitchers. San Diego chose second and went for Clifton Butcher, a 5-foot-11, 185 pound righthander from Tulsa, Okla., who attended Tulsa University.

The newly-organized Texas Rangers, formerly the Washington Senators, also went for a pitcher and selected 6-foot-4, 200-pound James Owen of San Jose, Calif., and San Jose Community College.

Philadelphia broke the trend for a moment as it chose third baseman Ricky Knepper of Boonsboro, Md., but Milwaukee reverted to form by choosing Robert Alexander, a 6-foot-1, 200-pound righthander from St. Clair Community College in Cass City, Mich.

The Montreal Expos then chose a pitcher who, if he ever makes it to the majors, would be the biggest hurler ever to perform in the Big Leagues. When they went for 6-foot-10 Wayne Piper of Omaha, Neb., Minnesota also went for a pitcher, taking righthander Lewis Learner of Panama City, Calif. The Cincinnati Reds, who found Gullett and righthander Ross Grimsley in the free agent draft in 1969, went for an infielder and selected third baseman-shortstop Greg Sinatro of West Hartford, Conn., who attended Miami Dade Junior College in Florida.

California and Houston also passed over the list of pitchers with the Angels taking outfielder Thomas Donohue of Nassau Community College in Westbury, N. Y. and the Astros picking William Meyer, a 6-foot-4 shortstop from Indian River Junior College in Vero Beach, Fla.

The Chicago White Sox went for righthander pitcher Murphy Eppinette of Arabia, La., and northeast Louisiana State and Atlanta also chose a righthander, Sam Humphries of San Bernardino Junior College in California.

The Yankees went for the son of former Major Leaguer Rocky Krschunich when they picked infielder-outfielder Joseph Krschunich of Wichita, Kan. Joe's father was an infielder for the White Sox in the early 1950s.

The Mets grabbed infielder-outfielder Ron Diggie of Lakewood, Calif. and the Red Sox selected lefthander pitcher Cliff Holland of Canada Junior College and San Carlos, Calif.

The Cubs chose first baseman Rex Peters of Midland Park, N. J., who attended Lafayette College, and Kansas City selected outfielder Kenzy Davis of Chaffey Junior College in Fontana, Calif.

The Dodgers, Tigers, Giants, Athletics and Cardinals all went after pitchers. Los Angeles took John Adams, a righthander from Phoenix, Ariz.; Detroit chose Alfred Calis, a left hander from Anaheim, Calif.; the Giants chose Ken Kollmyer, a lefthander, San Diego, Calif.; Oakland selected Charles Hendrix, a righthander from El Cajon, Calif.; and St. Louis tabbed Robert Gierdes, a righthander from Miami, Fla.

Baltimore, which is probably the deepest team in pitching in the majors, went for an infielder and chose shortstop Case Cavell of Salisbury, N. C. The Pittsburgh Pirates completed the first round by choosing Dennis Bolden, a righthanded pitcher from New Castle, Ind.

Following the first round, the teams drafted for their minor league affiliate and that was followed by the secondary phase of the draft, which is the selection of free agents who were formerly drafted but did not sign.

Frazier out to end Saturday match as soon as possible

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — As Joe Frazier's manager is concerned, the champion will be out to end his title fight Saturday night against Terry Daniels as quickly as possible and there'll be no "silly" "I wouldn't mind if the bell rang to start the fight" and seconds later it would over said manager Yancey "Yank" Durham at the conclusion of Frazier's workout Wednesday.

Utah puts three on all-star top team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Utah Stars, defending American Basketball Association champions, placed three players in the starting lineup in the West for the Fifth Annual ABA All-star game in Louisville on Jan. 29th.

Zelmo Beaty, Willie Wise and Gary Combs of Utah will be in the starting lineup along with Indiana's Roger Brown and Ralph Simpson of Denver. Beaty will be the center with Wise and Brown at the forwards and Combs and Simpson at the guards.

The other five players selected were Mel Daniels of Indiana at center, forwards Wilbert Jones of Memphis and Wendell Ladner and Guards Steve Jones and Donnie Freeman of Dallas. Ladner was selected as a member of the Memphis team before he was recently traded to Carolina in the Eastern Division.

That leaves Ladner in the unusual position of playing on the West Squad even though he's not a member of that division anymore.

Tigers to stay in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers announced Wednesday night they have signed an agreement to play in a proposed domed stadium to be built on Detroit's riverfront, ending months of speculation on where the Tigers would play in the future.

The announcement was made by Tigers owner John Fetzer at a reception for the news.

Pankratz fined $100 for visit

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho High School Activities Association Wednesday fined Borah high school coach Dee Pankratz $100 for his visit to the mother of a Nampa junior high school football player.

Executive secretary of the association's board of control Homer Williams issued the final statement.

It said, "After a long and careful consideration of all evidence submitted, the IHSAA board of control decided that Mr. Dee Pankratz made a serious mistake in going to Nampa and talking to the mother of a ninth grade athlete."

"For this act the board of control severely reprimanded Pankratz and fines Borah High School $100 for the action of its football coach."

The board notes that the Boise school administration has taken corrective action and that they will be vigilant in preventing such violations in the future.

The board spent 90 minutes in a closed session discussing the situation after listening to testimony from Nampa high school principal Darrell Reich, who instigated the action by sending an official letter of protest in mid-December to the board.

Wouldn't you and Joe like to have him go a few rounds to see what kind of shape he's in? Durham was asked.

What for? he answered. "I've already seen him for 160 rounds in training. That's more than he's ever sparred for any fight, and to me it looks like he's in the greatest condition of his life. What do I have to look at him for two or three rounds more for?"

Frazier, making his first ring appearance since he defeated Muhammad Ali in their "fight of the century" last year, weighed 207 pounds at the end of the Wednesday workout which included only exercises and shadow boxing. He has finished sparring in his training for this bout.

Immediately after that Ali bout, Frazier went into the hospital for high blood pressure and exhaustion and, as he comes up to his first bout since then, questions are being asked about his general health. Both the champion and Durham insist that there is nothing wrong with Frazier's health.

Joe Frazier isn't fighting this fight to show that he's all right," insisted Durham. "He's fighting because he's the champion and he wants to stay active. He wanted to fight back in December, but I couldn't line up an opponent."

Frazier said that he "feels great" and also insisted that his health is good.

"I passed my blood pressure exam and everything is okay," he said.

Frazier also was suffering after the Ali fight from a condition sometimes referred to as "athlete's kidney," which is caused by an excess of protein in the system from a high-protein diet without a normal amount of liquids.

Hawaii drops Connecticut

STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — Dwight Holiday had 18 points and three of his teammates were in double figures Wednesday night as the University of Hawaii defeated Connecticut 77-71.

The Bows scored six straight points on three baskets to break on 11-11 tie midway through the first half and Hawaii never trailed again. The Huskies closed to 29-26 on two baskets by Al Vaughn with 2:36 left in the half, but Hawaii pulled to a 35-30 lead at intermission.

Hawaii outscored Connecticut 19-11 early in the second half to open a 54-41 lead at the 7:02 mark.

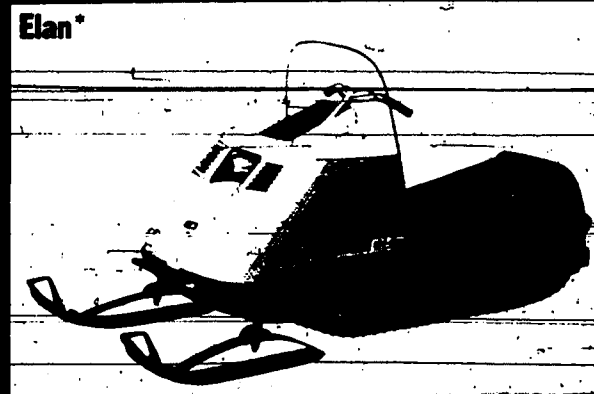

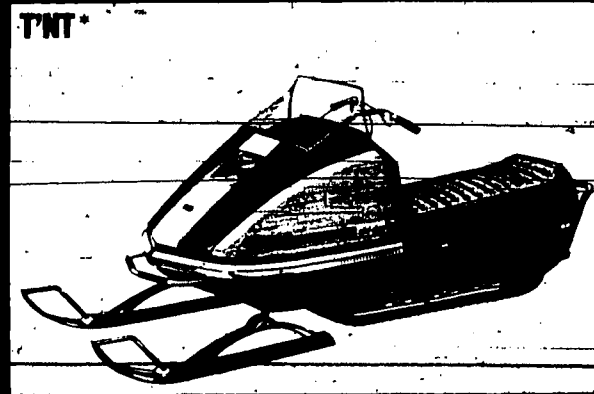

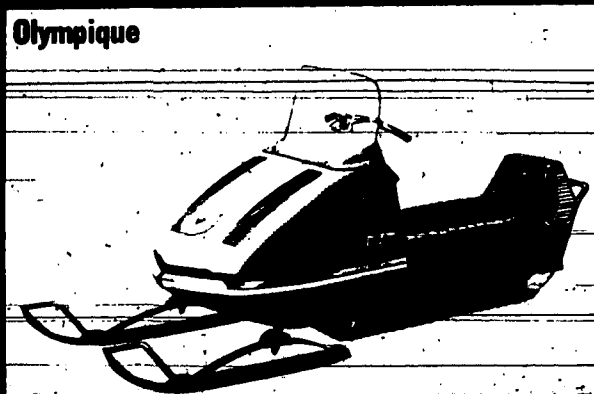

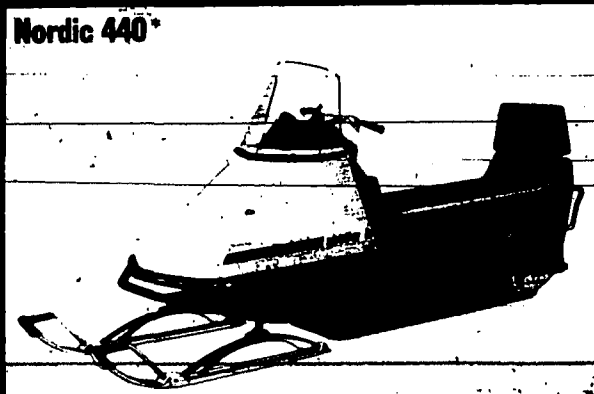

N.C. collects eighth in row

CLEMSON, S. C. (UPI) — Third-ranked North Carolina won its eighth consecutive game Wednesday night, defeating the Clemson Tigers 61-61.

The Tar Heels led by only two points, 33-31, at halftime. As the half ended and both teams were leaving the floor, Clemson coach Tates Locke drew a technical foul and North Carolina coach Dean Smith was charged with a double technical and was ejected from the game by referee Lou Moser.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S
HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is apt to be a day when most people are concerned for a good argument to prove their points whatever they may be. Yet for the wise man or woman, anything of this nature will be studiously avoided since unnecessary estrangements can occur if one yields to this present atmosphere of contention, scrapping.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care you do not force issues with bigwigs where your talents and needs are concerned or you get little success with them. Handle those credit matters well. Improve your reputation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to do more study where new ideas are concerned before putting them in operation, otherwise they peter out unsuccessfully. Avoid that overly glamorous person. Stay on the safe side of life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make certain you pay those bills instead of trying some trick that could easily lose you the support of higher-ups. Don't take any anger out on mate if you feel that life is not treating you just right. Think.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Lambasting an associate who is not tending to business does no good, but kind prodding helps greatly. Make sure you get own work done without complaint. Evening brings far better understanding.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy at that work ahead of you instead of lagging or you could lose what is actually a good job. Stop running around so much and take better care of your health. Have a more optimistic outlook on life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out for a good time but don't bother others who are too busy to accompany you. Don't spend too much. Perfecting some talent is good. Balance work and fun intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use diplomacy at home so you do not disturb the harmony now existing there. Let your role be that of peacemaker, silence is the best tool now. Did you forget to pay that important bill? Do it today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you are thinking very clearly, you are apt to be critical of others, so think twice before you say anything. Show you are considerate. A day when a kind word does wonders.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may have financial worries, but this should not throw you for a loop, so keep calm and plan how to get yourself out of the morass, ethically. Do not overpend on anything, no matter how small the item. Learn to be economical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are tempted to argue with others and this could lead to trouble, so take it easy. See what you can do to improve your appearance. Changing your attitude can work wonders at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have worries that could keep you from getting all those important tasks done, so do something constructive about them and all is fine. Try to help the less fortunate than you, too. Show generosity.

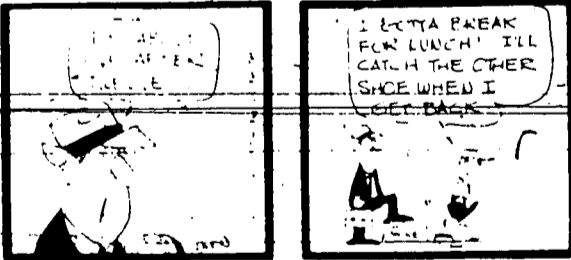

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want information from friends but they are too busy right now, so wait for a better time. Use your own good judgment and handle personal affairs well. Don't waste time fretting foolishly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has much ability where practical matters are concerned, but there appears to be a lack of perseverance, so it behooves you as parents or guardians early in life to teach to complete whatever has once been started. Then the child becomes a most successful one. The sense of humor here is terrific and for this reason your youngster can be quite a boon to society, bring joy to many who are depressed.

AMONG THE OLD West's gunslingers, few were more famous than the Dalton boys. One survivor of this terrible fane was Emmett Dalton. Like Wyatt Earp and Bat Masterson, neither of whom died with their boots on, Emmett lived on and on after the era. He became a building contractor in Southern California, got involved in a batch of lucrative real estate deals there, and wound up as a Hollywood script writer. He was still alive when John Steinbeck wrote "Of Mice and Men," when Spencer Tracy starred in "Captain's Courageous," when Bob Hope first sang "Thanks for the Memory." Died in 1937.

Firm will invest in new facilities

BOISE Idaho Power Co. said Wednesday it will invest $59 million this year in new service facilities needed to supply growing customer requirements that set a new record in 1971.

President Albert Carlsen said in announcing the 1972 budget it is more than double the utility's investment last year and is the highest since 1958 when Idaho Power spent some $61 million at the peak of construction on Brownlee and Oxbow dams.

"Increasing electric use, a record number of new customers, and growing emphasis on municipal and industrial pollution control require us to continue building additional facilities for the greater capacity and maximum service reliability that are essential to area progress," he said.

Use of electricity by the company's general business customers climbed to a new high of more than 6.2 billion kilowatt-hours (kwhr) in 1971, an increase of about 261.5 million kwhr over the previous year.

Average domestic customer use also established a new Idaho Power record, rising to 10,615 kwhr from 8,995 kwhr at the end of 1970.

The company connected more than 7,000 new customers in the 12 months ending in December, a greater number than in any similar period.

Carlsen said millions of additional kilowatt-hours are needed to operate sewage systems, water treatment plants and other processes for cleaning up the air, water and land.

"During 1970," he pointed out, nearly 300 anti-pollution devices were patented and every single one of them is operated by electricity.

Carlsen said the 1972 budget earmarks some $43.2 million for the 1.5 million-kilowatt Jim Bridger steam generating complex being built jointly by Idaho Power and Pacific Power & Light Co.

An estimated $36 million will be used to continue construction of the new complex's coal-fired plant near Rock Springs, Wyo. The first 500,000 kilowatt unit is scheduled to begin production in 1974 to supply Idaho Power customers.

The remaining $7.2 million will start construction of the first of three 345,000 volt transmission lines from the plant to Idaho Power's system in eastern Idaho.

TWIN FALLS The Twin Falls Carpenters, Millmen Joint Apprenticeship announced today it is seeking qualified applicants for its training program. Applications may be obtained from George Van Houten, secretary of the unit's training committee, at the local office, 130 Second Ave. South, Twin Falls.

Applicants must be between 17 and 25 years of age, with exceptions made for military service, must have a high school education or equivalency diploma, must pass tests given by the state department of employment, must be physically fit and pass the apprenticeship qualifying tests. Applicants from Twin Falls, Cassia, Blaine, Jerome, Goldline and Lincoln counties are being sought.

Nations upset over no secrecy

GENEVA (UPI) — Oil-producing nations today expressed anger over the failure to keep public details of an effort to pay increased prices for oil.

The price increase, agreed with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) last week, was the first in a series of price increases since 1970.

OPEC officials said the price increase was a result of a "market clearing" operation, which was aimed at reducing the surplus of oil.
