

$246.3 billion '73 budget to Congress

Area funds asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today to allocate funds for study of two major projects in the Magic Valley.

In his budget message, the President endorsed a request from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for study of the Big Wood River flood control project, costing an estimated $60,000, and asked funds for the Bureau of Reclamation's proposed extension of the North Side Pumping Division, Minidoka Project, at $105,000.

President Nixon also called on Congress to push the $202 million Dworshak Dam in Idaho toward completion by appropriating $30.2 million for continued construction.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today sent Congress a $246.3 billion budget calling for $25.5 billion deficit spending which he described as "strong but necessary medicine" for the still-sluggish economy.

The deficit for the 1973 fiscal year beginning July 1 was the largest deliberately budgeted by a president since World War II. But it was well below the $38.8 billion by which Nixon now predicts the current budget will run in the red.

time, like temporary wage and price controls, is strong but necessary medicine," he said. "We take that medicine because we need it, not because we like it."

The chief executive unveiled no major new programs. But as he did last week in his State of the Union address, Nixon urged Congress to act on administration programs left over from the past year — revenue sharing, welfare reform, government reorganization, health care and others.

Nixon made no effort to pare the deficit with higher taxes. On the contrary, he stressed that since he took office three years ago, individual income taxes have been cut by $22 billion a year.

Nixon said his new budget breaks down to 31.8 per cent for national defense, 45 per cent for human resources, 10.4 per cent for physical resources, 8.6 per cent for interest on the national debt and 5 per cent for other programs.

Here's how the new budget compares with estimated spending in the current fiscal year (billions of dollars):

Outlays	236.6	246.3
Revenue	197.8	220.8
Deficit	38.8	25.5

A high official in the Office of Management and Budget noted the deficit for the current fiscal year dwarfs both the projected deficit for 1973 and the actual deficits for all previous years except during World War II.

Deficits, of course, are no novelty — the budget was balanced just once since 1960. That was, in 1969, a year divided evenly between the Johnson and Nixon administrations.

Snow, wind close MV schools, roads

As clearing skies brought a flash of blue and a hint of sun this morning, Magic Valley residents were digging out from a weekend storm that dumped road-clogging drifts throughout the area.

Several schools remained closed this morning, including Shoshone, Richfield, Fairfield, Carey and Minidoka County. Heavy drifting kept school bus drivers from completing routes in many cases even during their routes.

Friday's rain, which melted much of the snow in the Magic Valley, changed to snow Saturday. A high wind accompanying the snow whipped up drifts which plugged roads in many areas.

Even today, though no snow is falling, a high wind in the southern part of the state was stirring up a ground blizzard. Interstate 80 south of Coeur d'Alene, from Juniper to the Utah border, was closed this morning, according to Idaho State Police.

Traffic was re-routed via old Highway 30, while highway department crews waited for the wind to drop so they could see the highway clearly enough to plow out the drifts. For a while this morning, state police said, the road crews couldn't see the road as the ground blizzard mounted its fury.

All Shoshone and Richfield schools were closed this morning because of heavy drifting on back roads. The weekend storm dumped six to eight inches of new snow throughout the area.

The Dietrich school, however, reopened this morning. Bus drivers were able to run their routes on plowed roads, school Supt. Wayne Perron said.

Heavy drifting also closed Carey schools. The Ketchum ranger station reported the overnight low temperature at zero after a high of 30 Sunday. Six inches of new snow fell over the weekend on the valley floor. No report on mountain conditions had been issued this morning.

Idaho House due gas tax hike bill

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation and Defense Committee today voted to introduce legislation raising the state tax on gasoline to nine cents per gallon and make corresponding boosts in other fuel taxes.

But in doing so some members of the committee made it clear they simply wanted to get the measures printed and then considered on the floor as a courtesy to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Andrus called for the gasoline tax increases in his budget message to the legislature to accelerate highway building in the state of Idaho.

Committee Chairman John Sessions, R-Driggs, said he has had prepared more modest legislation to boost the gasoline tax by one cent per gallon and make corresponding increases in taxes on other motor fuels.

"They're prepared and we'll consider them after we see what happens on these," Sessions told the committee, saying he would not trot them out until the fate of the Governor's proposals is known.

Dock strike tops agenda

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The second-term 92nd Congress starts its second week today facing such controversial matters as foreign aid, job discrimination and what to do about the West Coast dock strike.

After it receives President Nixon's fiscal 1973 budget at noon, the first order of congressional business—the Senate will vote on a key amendment to toughen the law on equal employment opportunities.

The House headed for a showdown Tuesday on the $2.75 billion foreign aid authorization bill which has been hanging fire since last year.

Coast Guard holds 2 Soviet skippers

ADAK, Alaska (UPI) — Two Soviet fishing fleet skippers were in custody aboard the Coast Guard cutter Storis today. Heavy snows and winds prevented their transfer to Anchorage, where they face possible charges of illegal fishing activity in U.S. waters.

Officials said they were awaiting word from U.S. Attorney G. Kent Edwards before attempting to remove the Bering Sea's Soviet commander and a Russian captain from this remote Aleutian island Navy base.

Vladimir Artyukov, the commander of the fishing fleet, and Igor Bobtuk, who captains the fleet's flagship, remained in a stateroom aboard the Storis. The Storis escorted the two vessels in Adak Saturday after their seizure five days earlier near St. Matthew Island in the Bering Sea.

In Anchorage, Edwards studied the case to determine whether to prosecute the skippers for violating American fishing waters. He remained unavailable for comment throughout the weekend.

Each skipper could face up to one year in jail and $100,000 in fines.

TF man killed in Montana

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man, Willie Pendergrass, 41, was killed early Saturday in a traffic accident two miles north of Poison, Mont. it was learned here today.

Reports from Montana indicated Pendergrass' vehicle apparently became stalled and while he was trying to turn it around on U.S. 93, a car driven by Christine Eneas, 20, Elmo, Mont., struck the Idaho vehicle.

Two horses in a trailer being pulled by the Pendergrass vehicle were not injured, officers said. Driver of the Montana vehicle was treated in a Poison hospital and released.

Funeral services for Pendergrass are pending in Twin Falls and will be announced by White Mortuary.

US planes blast Viet gun posts

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command today reported five weekend "protective reaction strikes" against North Vietnamese missile and anti-aircraft bases in the heaviest such air-to-ground fighting since the 1968 bomb halt.

The command also reported two incidents in which Communist gunners fired SAM missiles at an F105 Wild Weasel jet and an OV10 Bronco propeller over the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos. The missiles missed and in these cases the U.S. planes did not strike back.

With the air war increasing in intensity and new fighting reported in the Central Highlands and in Cambodia, military sources disclosed that Gen. William Westmoreland, the U.S. Army chief of staff, will fly to South Vietnam this week to assess the situation in view of the American troop withdrawals and reports of major Communist buildups.

Communist gunners in South Vietnam shot down another U.S. observation helicopter, 1525, carried out more raids aimed at halting a Communist offensive in the Central Highlands and more fighting was reported on the central coast.

Saigon headquarters reported a rash of small incidents across the country. In one a terrorist hurled a grenade into a house where a large crowd was gathered around the sole community television set in a Mekong Delta village. The blast killed eight persons and wounded 10, spokesman said.

The U.S. command announced the pullout of the last combat assault helicopter battalion from the far north where the last two infantry and one artillery battalions are waiting for orders to leave. This was the 159th Aviation Battalion which had supported the U.S. 1st Airborne Division in the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

The command also announced 4,400 Americans had pulled out of Vietnam last week, cutting the U.S. force to 143,700 men. This left the command 11 days in which to send home another 4,700 troops to make President Nixon's deadline of no more than 139,000 in Vietnam by Feb. 1.

Two of the incidents were reported previously and a spokesman said Navy Corsairs from carriers in the Tonkin Gulf were involved in the two reported today.

Welfare rulings cut down

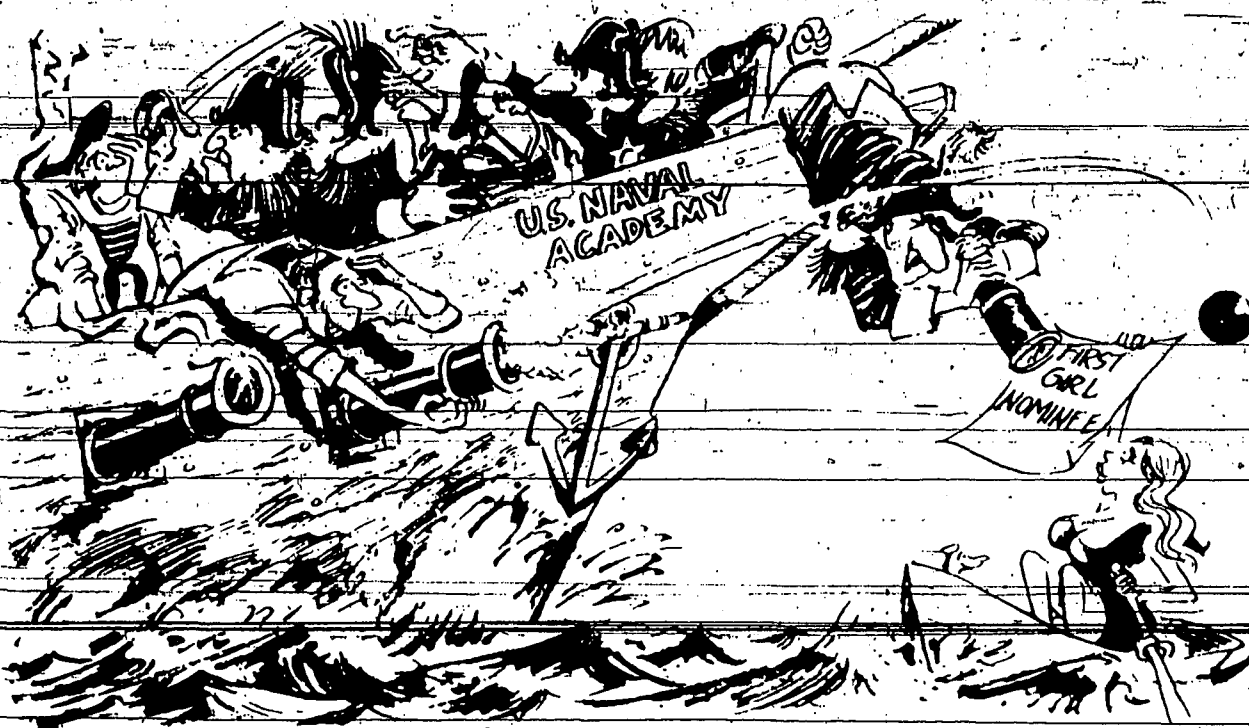

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ruled in New York and Connecticut cases that one-year residency requirements for welfare recipients were unconstitutional.

The court affirmed decision handed down by three-judge federal court panels in Buffalo, N.Y., and in Hartford, Conn.

In a major decision in 1969 the Supreme Court ruled that state residency requirements were unconstitutional, but indicated they might be allowed only if the state could show a compelling government interest.

The New York case challenging the state law arose when Pedro Lopez, a Florida migrant worker, moved his wife and seven children to Buffalo and was denied welfare assistance under the residency provision.

Woman's decapitated torso found in New York bathtub

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Police found a young woman's decapitated body in a bathtub and her arms in the kitchen sink of an East Side apartment Sunday. Three suspects, including two high school students, were arrested.

Two of the suspects were drinking beer at a kitchen table in the second-floor apartment when police arrived. The third was sitting in the living room, which was aglow with psychedelic ceiling lights.

Scattered in the bathroom were a bloody hacksaw, a two-foot crowbar, a 12-inch butcher knife and wirecutters apparently used in the mutilation, police said. In the sink with the victim's arms, severed at the shoulders, was a hammer and two screwdrivers.

The unidentified victim was described as between 18 and 20 years old, 5-foot-4, about 135 pounds, with long brown hair. Her clothes, which offered no clues to her identity, were found in a pile on the kitchen floor, police said.

Charged with murder was Lloyd Sikorski, 17, a student at Burgard Vocational High School, who police said met the girl after leaving a party at the death scene, and returned to the party with her.

David Luczak, 20, a painter in whose apartment the body was found, and William Turner, 17, also a Burgard student, were charged with criminal facilitation of the crime and hindering prosecution.

Lt. Leo J. Donovan, commander of the homicide bureau, said on the basis of statements made by the suspects, "it appeared the girl thought Sikorski had intentions against her and protested.

The slaying followed an argument that Sikorski said began after she called him some names," detectives said.

Donovan said Sikorski allegedly struck her, apparently with the crowbar, and believed she was dead. The suspect then placed the girl in the bathtub and covered her with water, he alleged.

Sikorski was accused of dismembering the body. Turner and Luczak were accused of assisting Sikorski.

Egyptian students clash with police

CAIRO (UPI) — Thousands of Egyptian students demanding immediate war with Israel and a tougher policy against the United States clashed with police on at least three occasions in Cairo today. The students hurled stones and were met by volleys of tear gas.

Political observers said the civil disorder was the worst crisis faced by President Anwar Sadat since he ousted several political rivals from the government in May and brought them to trial on treason charges.

The citywide disturbances began just after midnight when black uniformed policemen surrounded Cairo University and arrested hundreds of students holding a campus sit-in to demand instant war with Israel. The students said 1,500 were arrested.

Police sealed off Cairo University and a second school, Ain Shams University, but after daybreak had to use tear gas to disperse thousands of students who gathered in front of the two campuses.

"We watched it all," said one witness who was in the Al-Hilal Hotel overlooking the square.

Mansfield claims Muskie's lead hurt

By United Press International

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's apparent early lead for the Democratic presidential nomination "is in jeopardy. Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, says President Nixon needs conservatives to win in November.

While Mansfield and Ashbrook were raising notes of caution Sunday, Sen. George S. McGovern won liberal Democratic support in two states and Gov. George C. Wallace and Mayor John V. Lindsay prepared to support off in Florida.

"I think Muskie's lead will be hurt," said Mansfield without mentioning the names of the opponents he said would cause the contest "to develop into a horse race."

Mansfield was interviewed on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers."

Ashbrook said even if his bid to wrest the GOP nomination from Nixon fails, the President "cannot possibly win" the election without the wholehearted support of the enthusiastic support of conservative Republicans.

Ashbrook told UPI in an interview that his main goal in running as a conservative GOP candidate in the New Hampshire primary is to offset the liberal challenge of Rep. Paul S. McCloskey, R-Calif., and to push Nixon more to the right.

McGovern, D-S.D., won endorsements Sunday from the 4,500 member Pennsylvania New Democratic Coalition and the Florida Coalition of Non-Communist Democrats.

After the Florida coalition voted to back McGovern and take a strong stand for a peace plank in the National platform, Wallace told an airport crowd at Tampa that Lindsay has been jumping on me quite a bit and I'll jump on him some tonight.

Earlier in an interview CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" — Wallace said he entered the Democratic race to win the nomination, but said he might run for president on a third party ticket if he fails.

Lindsay campaigned in Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach, where the New York mayor again issued a challenge to Wallace to debate the issues in Florida's March 14 primary.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy told 2,000 persons in St. Paul, Minn., that the Democrats have failed to write a significant or really creative platform since the platform of 1948.

The former Minnesota senator outlined the planks he wants, including an end to the Vietnam War, recognition of mainland China and the ouster of FBI director "J. Edgar Hoover.

Soviet Union extends SAM missiles in Syria

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union is extending its air defense strategy in the Middle East and building a ring of surface-to-air (SAM) missiles around the Syrian capital of Damascus, diplomatic sources said Sunday.

The move has been prompted by fears that Israel in the event of a new round of hostilities in the area, may choose Damascus as a target for diversionary war measures, the sources said.

Russia has also supplied MIG jets to Syria and has reportedly stepped up arms deliveries to that Arab country under an agreement which marked an improvement of Russo-Syrian relations from the uncertainties and irritations of past years.

Damascus is strategically exposed and within easy reach by air and land of Israeli forces whose hold of the Golan Heights since the Arab-Israeli war of 1967 has given them a vastly improved tactical position against Syria.

The Syrians have reportedly expressed lately growing anxiety lest the Israelis hit against them in the event of resumed war activities in the Middle East.

Syria has strengthened its ties with Egypt recently by joining in a federation of which Egypt and Libya are members.

Demo leader urges 3 wars sealed in 1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, saying the Vietnam conflict has become three wars sealed into one, urged Sunday that both Laos and Cambodia be given representation at the Paris peace talks.

He also urged that Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk who fled to Beijing after being deposed in a military coup be returned to power, and that the little-known king of Laos, Sri Savang Vatthana, take over leadership of his country.

Mansfield's comments were in the advance text of a speech he planned to make at the Senate floor Monday.

What once was one war winding down, has now become three wars sealed into one, Mansfield said. "That was the inevitable consequence of the invasion of Cambodia in 1970 and the military adventure in Laos in 1971.

Since there is now a war distended to include all of Indochina, it is no longer enough to talk of a peace settlement for Vietnam. In that sense, what has transpired in Paris for many months has been a futile exercise.

If negotiations are to have any chance of succeeding, an enlargement of the negotiating table is necessary.

Question...

Don't you think you should tell people they can buy burial insurance quite in advance through the mail if they don't just wait for their ads?

Answer...

We are extremely interested in burial insurance. It is actually life insurance and life insurance continues to be the most reliable source of funds available to survivors for insuring the death of the head of a family. We disagree that mail order insurance is a bargain. From our experience we are certain there is no substitute for a home town insurance agent who knows the individual needs of his friends in his community and creates an insurance program to fit their circumstances. This may include a specific amount for burial insurance.

The Federal Trade Commission, concerned with the vital area served by the life insurance industry and aware of the potential misunderstandings of buying life insurance by mail, recently published a short pamphlet entitled "Pitfalls to Watch for in Mail Order Insurance Policies." Please telephone and we will mail you a copy.

FDA budget hike largest ever asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Following a year of repeated food crises, President Nixon today proposed unparalleled increases in federal spending for food, drug and product safety.

Nixon's budget for the 12 months starting July 1 urged a $69.7 million hike for the Food and Drug Administration, FDA. That would boost the FDA's budget by 64 per cent, the largest increase ever given the government's biggest consumer protection agency.

Federal budget analysis

The FDA's growth has historically been tied to unexpected crises which prompted public demands for better protection. Nixon's proposal was no exception.

The FDA tangled during 1971 with mercury in tuna and swordfish, deadly botulism in canned soup, the industrial chemical PCB in poultry, and new doubts about the safety of many long-used ingredients in food and cosmetic products.

The proposed increases included $22 million for food

Nixon's budget cuts school aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Current aid to education programs would be cut $282 million under the budget President Nixon submitted to Congress today.

But Nixon told the lawmakers that if they accepted his revenue sharing plan and passed his school desegregation bill, total education spending would increase by more than $328 million.

Nixon has vetoed two of the three school money bills Congress sent him since 1969 because they exceeded his requests, and similar congressional action is expected on his new proposals.

The Nixon total includes $500 million to help schools pay the costs of desegregation and $170 million for revenue sharing.

Neither proposal has been approved by Congress, and if they fail to pass it would reduce Nixon's spending plans by $610 million, or $282 million below current spending levels.

The budget does not take into consideration Nixon's pledge in last week's State of the Union address to come up with some new form of federal aid to relieve local property taxes as the major source of school financing. He indicated that his proposal would not take effect until his fiscal 1974 budget.

Details of program cuts or increases were scant. There was little elaboration on the $282 million cut below current spending.

Impacted aid in the current fiscal year is expected to total $317 million. Nixon proposed $478 million in fiscal 1974. Higher education programs, including college student loans, are expected to total $1.2 billion this year and Nixon proposes to cut this by $100 million, but details of the cut were not available.

$76.5 billion budget asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warning against the wasteful price of weakness, President Nixon today asked for a $76.5 billion defense budget centered around rebuilding the U.S. fleet and raising America's ante in the nuclear arms race with a new missile system.

Nixon's defense request for fiscal 1973 was $700 million higher than the $75.8 billion expected to be spent this year, and laid the foundation for even higher military budgets in coming years.

He urged Congress to avoid the costly mistakes of past defense cuts.

Adjusts brace

ONE OF MANY children with birth defects in Twin Falls County is Kassandra Heglund, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Heglund. Mrs. Heglund adjusts a brace on her daughter's leg. The child is receiving treatment and tests at the Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City. Funds from the March of Dimes have been used to assist the baby.

Program provides work for Gem disadvantaged

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — New programs using state and federal funds to help "disadvantaged" persons in Idaho to become employable and get jobs are helping to meet manpower needs at state hospital south.

Marvin Himmel, counselor for the new Public Service Careers program, with his office at the state hospital, said the purpose of his program is to place disadvantaged persons who qualify into permanent positions at the hospital as "habilitation therapists."

To qualify the person must have a low income, plus a handicap — which can be lack of education or a physical handicap.

The chief hangup at SHS now is lack of funds, due to budget restrictions, he said. So far he has placed one rehabilitation therapist at a starting wage of $320 a month, and hopes to place two more soon.

The aim of the program, funded by the U.S. Department of Labor, is to use disadvantaged persons, an untapped source of manpower, to help fill public service manpower needs.

Some $337,000 is allotted to Idaho for habilitation therapists at the state hospitals, state school and hospital in Nampa, and for clerical help in Boise.

The project will end June 30, 1973.

State vocational rehabilitation, a program which has been operating for three or four years with state and federal appropriations, has two specialists at State Hospital South.

Richard G. Taylor and Doris Wagner help those with physical and emotional handicaps, including patients and former patients, to restore their working usefulness and to find jobs.

Also under vocational rehabilitation is Cisco Dixey, working with disadvantaged Bannock-Shoshone on the Fort Hall reservation. Dixey has placed an Indian social worker and at the hospital and is hoping to place others.

TF County mothers set $2,500 goal for march

TWIN FALLS — Mothers on the March in Twin Falls County expect to raise about $25,000 for the fight against birth defects before they wind up the campaign this week.

This would be about four times the amount raised in last year's march and about two thirds of funds raised for the March of Dimes from all sources in the county last year.

Ken Hoyt, March of Dimes chairman for Twin Falls County, said about $1,700 has been turned in to march chairman Mrs. Douglas Vollmer thus far. She said there are still many areas which haven't been covered or have only been partially covered and expects about another $1,000 will be turned in.

Hoyt said all funds collected in the county are dispersed on a three-way basis: Medical and scientific research in the fight against birth defects receives 25 per cent; 37 1/2 per cent goes to national headquarters for promotion, and education and for salaries which includes salaries of physicians and scientific personnel, and the remainder stays in the county to be used for direct patient aid.

Idaho has only one paid employee.

When a Twin Falls County youngster goes to the birth defects center at Salt Lake City, the expense of the trip is paid by the March of Dimes in the county, Hoyt said. When a family can not afford the cost of the hospitalization, the tab is picked up by the center, financed with that 37 1/2 per cent which goes to national from local collections.

Hoyt estimates there are between 45 and 60 Twin Falls County children afflicted by birth defects.

A typical example is four and a half-month-old Kassandra Heglund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Heglund. The child was born with several birth defects including total blindness, a shallow hip socket and a brain disorder which causes the brain to send too many signals to the muscles. Kassandra also may have brain damage.

The hip socket is being repaired through a brace bought with March of Dimes funds, but Mrs. Heglund said there is no way to correct the blindness.

Despite the fact that Kassandra is a special child and is "just like having three children," Mrs. Heglund, who is only 18, has found time to join the mothers march this year. She and her friends have covered a large section of Twin Falls and her mother-in-law and husband have helped her out.

Mrs. Heglund said she didn't know how good a worker she is "but I've done a lot of walking."

The Twin Falls County March of Dimes has paid for Kassandra's way to Salt Lake where tests were run on her at the Primary Children's Hospital and paid transportation, room and board for Mrs. Heglund at Salt Lake City.

Although closer to the actual birth defect situation than many of the marchers, Mrs. Heglund is typical of those who have joined in this year.

The women, assisted by several youth groups have been going out in some of the worst weather "condition to make collections. Totally they number about 200 and are covering nearly all sections of the county," Hoyt said the county also collects March of Dimes funds through mailers sent out in January, through special activities such as road blocks and ball game. Special gifts and March of Dimes coin collectors also contribute to the drive in the county.

Antiwar funds refused

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — On a vote of 14-1, the student senate at the University of California has refused to fund a major campus antiwar fund.

A proposal to give $2,700 to the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War was rejected after Kathy Christian said the group's marches and demonstrations were "ineffective" toward bringing the war to a halt.

7 activists face trial

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The Rev. Peter Bergman and six other anti-war activists go on trial today accused of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, to blow up the Washington, D.C. heating system in winter, and to vandalize draft boards in nine states.

The trials could be a social as well as legal milestone. Six of the seven defendants either are or have been priests or nuns of the Roman Catholic left. They contend the government is harassing them for opposing the Vietnam war and that pretrial publicity prevents a fair trial.

All four prosecutors are Catholics, at least two of them of traditional bent. The federal court middle district of Pennsylvania, from which a venire of 175 was drawn for today's start of jury picking, is a predominantly Protestant section of conservative political thought.

From his cell in the county prison at the city limits, Bergman issued a trial-evening message Sunday night to 200 supporters at a fog-shrouded rally just outside the prison fence. As read by a defense attorney, it said in part:

"How about using the trial as an occasion for giving rebirth to the movement? How about giving movement to something that never really moved, at least in a sustained way? How about saying this time that our lives are fruit and peace, both of which mean resistance? Let's back up our rhetoric with our lives.

Let's push back the darkness. That's what they said about Christ, you know.

Market admission creates problems

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Leaders of the four new nation-members of the European Common Market faced tough ratification battles at home Sunday over officially entering the prosperous economic community.

The formal admission of Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark into the Market Saturday created a new Europe on paper, but the treaties must be approved by Parliament in Britain and the voters in the other three nations. Addition of the new nations to the founding group of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands unites the economic power of 255 million people with a combined annual gross national product of $637 billion. If the new nations ratify the treaty, their membership becomes effective Jan. 1, 1973.

In Tel Aviv, Foreign Minister Abba Eban Sunday blamed France for obstructing Israel's entry into the Common Market. Eban said France was the only nation in the European community calling for a total Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory as the price for peace in the Middle East.

Voters to decide

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California voters may get a chance next November to decide whether marijuana use, cultivation and ownership should be legalized.

Attorney Robert Ashford, 28, coordinator of California Marijuana Initiative, said Sunday his group's game was to "decriminalize" marijuana by use of the ballot.

Spanish industrialist freed by abductors after four days

EBAR, Spain (UPI) — Kidnaped Spanish industrialist Lorenzo Zabala said Sunday he spent four days of captivity sitting on a chair with his hands tied behind his back discussing politics and economics with two of his leftwing Basque abductors.

Zabala, 44, was set free on a lonely country road Saturday night after authorities had complied with ransom demands by rehiring 120 workers fired from a plant partially owned by the industrialist and giving the employees pay raises.

"I was kept in a small, bare room but treated reasonably well," Zabala said after being reunited with his wife and four children. He was cheered by several hundred well-wishers when he returned home.

"During the day, they made me sit on a chair with my hands tied behind my back," he said. "But at night I was allowed to sleep on a straw mattress."

"I spent the time discussing politics and economics with my two guards who acted like soldiers," said Zabala. "They read the newspapers to me and

Viet prostitutes allowed on bases

QUI NHON, Vietnam (UPI) — The U.S. Army has opened its gates to Vietnamese prostitutes at several bases in South Vietnam and Army spokesmen said such a thing is apparently all right by current regulations. But officers said there are considerable security risks and a strong possibility of narcotics smuggling. Many said they support the practice anyway to keep peace within increasingly disgruntled ranks of the Americans still left in Vietnam.

Spokesmen at U.S. Army headquarters in Long Binh outside Saigon said they were unable to say whether the practice is being followed all over Vietnam. However they did cite a far more restrictive regulation permitting "local national guests" to enter Long Binh itself. That was issued two weeks ago.

Limited to Coastal Bases — So far the allowing of prostitutes on bases has been limited to bases along South Vietnam's central coast. The gates of military posts in Binh Dinh province 250 miles north-east of Saigon, were opened to such guests several weeks ago. No one at Qui Nhon is either able or willing to provide a specific date but the new practice came more than a year after all towns in the area were put off limits to soldiers except on official business.

Big deficit in '73 budget

Monday, January 24, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 7

Despite the deficits, Nixon insisted that his 1973 budget would not spur inflation because income would exceed spending by a thin $700 million if the economy were at full employment.

If the economy were operating at capacity, Nixon estimated ed revenues would be $24.2 billion higher and spending would be $2 billion less than actually anticipated.

"I strongly urge the Congress to respect the full-employment spending guideline this year," he said. There was a veiled hint that if Congress votes increases in spending, Nixon would challenge the lawmakers to couple them with a boost in taxes.

Nixon asked the lawmakers to authorize the continuation to begin a time-consuming process of upgrading the nation's nuclear force, providing more modern ships for the Navy and generally boosting research and development.

He asked that the Defense Department be permitted to obligate $81.7 billion in the coming fiscal year, $6.3 billion more than during the current year.

Nixon noted that Congress cut his defense budget in each of the last two years. He urged the lawmakers not to do it again.

But Nixon also stressed that the portion of the total budget taken by defense continues to shrink.

Human resources spending will be 45 per cent of the 1973 budget, while defense programs will be 32 per cent. Our policy of ending our involvement in the Vietnam War has helped make this possible by freeing resources to keep us strong externally as well as internally.

Since Nixon took office three years ago, general taxes have been cut twice, more than offsetting the continued climb in the payroll tax for Social Security.

Federal budget data

Since 1969, the federal budget has been unified to show both general programs and programs like Social Security which are financed from trust funds. Since the trust funds traditionally operate at a surplus, the unified budget tends to mask at least some of the deficit in the general programs.

Excluding the trust fund surpluses, the budget deficit for 1972 would be $11.7 billion and for 1973 would be $36.2 billion.

The chipmunk spends most of the winter underground but awakens periodically to eat its stored seeds and nuts.

Increase postponed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Complying with a federal court ruling, the U.S. Postal Service has postponed indefinitely a temporary third class postal rate increase that had been scheduled to take effect Monday.

U.S. District Court ruled in Washington Jan. 14 that the Postal Service lacked authority to modify or revise temporary postal rates.

The service wanted to jump third class rates, used primarily for advertising material, to 5 cents per piece instead of spreading the increase over the next four years in increments of 0.2 per cent. Current rates are 4.2 cents per piece.

Debt rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon estimated today that the national debt will total $493.2 billion by July, 1973, compared with about $383 billion when he took office.

THE BUDGET DOLLAR

Fiscal Year 1973 Estimate

Heart ailment, cancer research funds asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today for $139 million more for medical research concentrated on curbing heart attack deaths and cancer of the lung and breast.

Heart disease and cancer are the nation's two leading killer diseases.

The budget Nixon sent to Congress today proposed spending $1.1 billion more on health next year.

"Health care must be improved and made available to all Americans, without drawing up medical costs," his budget message said, adding that health would account for 7.4 per cent of expenditures in the budget.

He also asked for speedy passage of a national health insurance plan to increase private health insurance coverage of the nation's workers.

The budget would provide birth control devices and information to 700,000 more women in 1973, increase federal aid for crippled children by $2.7 million and set aside $15 million for at least five emergency health care systems to prevent thousands of accidental deaths annually.

The total $139 million budget increase request of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) would include $93 million for expansion of the cancer conquest program begun last year, and $46 million for other biomedical research in heart disease, birth control and sickle cell anemia, a disease primarily afflicting blacks.

Budget officials said the National Cancer Institute has created task forces to concentrate on lung and breast cancers, the two greatest cancer killers. The same approach will be used for research on cancers of the large bowel, prostate, bladder and pancreas, they said.

Research on lung diseases would be enriched by an additional $4 million.

The health budget said little about a national epidemic of venereal, outranked among infectious diseases only by the common cold. It requested an increase of $2.5 million to expand VD control efforts, but provided no details.

Interior sees gains during '73

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department expects to come out $1.2 billion ahead in the next fiscal year — even after spending an estimated $2.6 billion.

In a year when other government departments will, as usual, spend far more than they take in, the Interior Department hopes to collect an extra $1 billion from the sale of offshore oil and gas leases.

The profit resulted from a Supreme Court ruling giving the government the $1 billion, which had been held in escrow because of a dispute between the United States and Louisiana over oil sales in the Gulf of Mexico.

In the business year beginning June 30, the department expects to turn over an additional $68 million to the Treasury from the sale of hunting stamps and the collection of taxes on ammunition and sporting firearms.

The department asked Congress in President Nixon's budget today for a $2.3 billion appropriation for fiscal 1973, but plans to spend about $3.6 billion. The difference is to be made up from various permanent appropriations and trust funds.

Economic controls hinted by budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If President Nixon's new budget is any indication, wage-price controls could be around for a while.

He asked Congress for $6.6 million more to run the economic stabilization program in fiscal 1973 than it expects to spend in the current fiscal year.

For the 10 months between July 1, 1972, and April 30, 1973 — when the Economic Stabilization Act expires — the President sought $25.4 million to cover operations of the Cost of Living Council, Pay Board and Price Commission.

Spending for the seven months the agencies already have been in is expected to be $18.7 million.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS), which has been charged with enforcing the controls program, is beefing up its fiscal 1973 budget by $45 million to a total of $1.4 billion.

The IRS didn't say how much of the increase would go for the extra duties, but added this footnote in its budget analysis:

"Because of manpower applied to stabilization in 1972 and 1973, the workload accomplishments in regular service programs is estimated to be somewhat less than would otherwise be expected."

Presumably meaning it won't be able to enforce the tax laws as closely

Spruce-up spending asks $15.6 million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration today proposed spending $15.6 million during fiscal 1973 to spruce up parts of the national park system for the nation's 200th birthday celebration in 1976.

Another $6.7 million was requested for operations of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, the agency Congress established to coordinate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence July 4, 1776.

Philadelphia has been designated as the site of the international exposition during the celebration, but the commission has emphasized that each state and city should have its own activity.

The largest proposed outlays in the national park activity are at the National Capital Parks in Washington, D.C. $5.65 million; Independence National Historical Park in Philadelphia, $1.94 million; Minute Man National Historical Park in Massachusetts, $1.229 million and Colonial National Historical Park in Virginia, $954,000.

The money would be used for buildings and roads in the historical areas, construction of facilities for the expected influx of tourists, and general redevelopment of the parks.

Budget highlights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A summary of President Nixon's federal budget for fiscal 1973, which starts next July 1.

Income—The budget estimates government receipts in fiscal 1973 at $220.8 billion, a $23 billion increase over fiscal 1972 estimates, contingent on an expected revitalization of the economy. The figure would be $6.9 billion higher were it not for the tax cuts Nixon proposed and Congress enacted in 1971 to stimulate the economy.

Outgo—The budget anticipates federal expenditures of $246.3 billion, an increase of $9.6 billion or 4.1 per cent. This increase is about equal to the amount of inflation the administration expects this year, so in non-inflationary terms Nixon foresees no real increase in overall spending.

Deficit—The budget forecasts a deficit in fiscal 1973 of $25.5 billion, the second largest since World War II. It estimates the deficit for the current fiscal year at $38.8 billion. The President originally estimated that deficit at $11.6 billion, but the economy's failure to rebound from the slump of 1970-71 resulted in a sharp downturn in government tax collections.

Source of Revenue—58 per cent of government revenues will come from income taxes paid by individuals, 14 per cent from corporate income taxes, 26 per cent from Social Security taxes, 10 per cent from borrowings, 4 per cent from excise taxes and 5 per cent from other sources, including tariffs and estate and gift taxes.

Philosophy—Nixon says the large deficit "is strong but necessary medicine" to stimulate the economy. "We take that medicine because we need it, not because we like it," he says. "As our economy successfully combats unemployment, we will stop taking the medicine well before we become addicted to it."

Debt—The budget anticipates a $3.4 billion increase in the National Debt, pushing it to $90.2 billion, 30 per cent higher than 1970.

Taxes—The budget calls for no major new tax increases or tax cuts, except for Social Security taxes. It proposes that the Social Security tax, now scheduled to rise on Jan. 1, 1973, to 5.65 per cent for each worker and his employer, be kept at its present rate of 5.2 per cent. But he wants the tax levied on the first $10,200 of a worker's earnings instead of the first $9,000, the figure now in law. He also proposes to eliminate the monthly $5.60 fee people over age 65 now pay for supplemental medical insurance under Medicare, if they want it.

Defense—One of the few areas where Nixon calls for a substantial increase in spending is in the defense budget. He seeks a $6.3 billion increase over the $75.4 billion authorized this year, but only $900 million of the new money would actually be spent in the current fiscal year. The rest would be authorized for use in future years.

Science—The budget puts new emphasis on spending for science and technology in the service of man. Appropriations here would total $17.8 billion, a $1.4 billion increase, but not all of it to be actually spent in fiscal 1973.

Postal subsidy sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Even though the U.S. Postal Service became semi-independent last July, taxpayers will be asked again next fiscal year to subsidize it with $1.4 billion and shoulder another rate increase.

President Nixon asked Congress today for $1.4 billion to help the semi-independent government corporation defray the cost of handling an anticipated 90.8 billion pieces of mail in the 12 months beginning July 1, compared to 88.9 billion pieces during the current fiscal year.

He also said the service expects to propose new rate increases to the five-member Postal Rate Commission to take effect during 1973 to provide $450 million in receipts.

Rate increases of approximately one-third were put into effect temporarily last May '66 and a request to make them permanent is pending before the Rate Commission. The last increases upped the cost of a first class letter, from six to eight cents.

The Postal Service estimates it will cost $11.6 billion to handle the mails in 1973.

Goal realistic

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration economists apparently have agreed that a 5 per cent unemployment rate is a realistic goal for fiscal 1973.

That is halfway between the present 6.1 per cent jobless rate and the 4 per cent figure around which President Nixon has built his "full employment" budget concept.

A high White House official, pressed for the unemployment rate which the administration was using for budget planning in the next fiscal year, acknowledged it was "about 5 per cent."

Administration forecasts a year ago predicted a 4 per cent unemployment rate by mid-1972 but Nixon's annual economic report raised the figure to 4.5 per cent.

Instead, the rate has hovered near the 6 per cent level for months.

Nixon warns of tax increases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon told the Democratic Congress today to avoid any temptation to pass big new spending programs this election year, or face the prospect of higher taxes or prices.

In submitting his $246.3 billion red-ink budget, the Chief Executive said "I strongly urge the Congress to respect the guidelines set forth to protect the earning and buying power of the American worker and consumer."

Nixon's so-called full-employment budget—figured as if unemployment were only 4 per cent instead of 6 per cent—would show a surplus of $700 million.

Although presenting no new tax proposals, Nixon hinted that tax changes could be forthcoming in the future.

Deficit spending at this time, like temporary wage and price controls, is strong but necessary medicine, Nixon said. "As our economy successfully combats unemployment, we will stop taking the medicine well before we become addicted to it."

The budget made no reference to the "revolutionary" new tax concept mentioned by the President in his State of the Union address to ease local property taxes and finance schools. But officials have hinted he may eventually propose a value added tax on manufactured goods, a form of national sales tax.

Nixon boasted there had been $22 billion in personal tax cuts since he took office. In addition, there have been $7 billion in corporate tax reductions. Social Security taxes have gone up by $11 billion, making the net tax reduction $18 billion since 1969.

Spending traced

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here is how the federal dollar would be spent under the $246.3 billion fiscal 1973 budget sent to Congress today by President Nixon.

Human resources (including education, health, Social Security, veterans benefits, manpower)—45 cents (up 3 cents from the current budget).

National defense—32 cents (down 2 cents).

Physical resources (including agricultural, natural resources, transportation, housing, community development)—10 cents (down 1 cent).

Interest on public debt—6 cents (down 2 cents).

Other government programs and services (including international affairs, space research and general operation of government)—7 cents (up 2 cents).

Here's where the federal dollar would come from under Nixon's budget:

Individual income taxes—38 cents (down 3 cents).

Corporate income taxes—14 cents (down 2 cents).

Social insurance payroll taxes and contributions—26 cents (up 1 cent).

Borrowing (deficit financing)—10 cents (up 5 cents).

Excise taxes—7 cents (down 1 cent).

User charges, estate and gift taxes, tariffs and other miscellaneous government receipts—5 cents (up 2 cents).

Research fund lack may cost US superiority

WASHINGTON, UPI — The United States spends less on research and development (R&D) than almost any major nation and is in danger of losing its technological world superiority, the Aerospace Industries Association of America (AIAA) said Saturday.

"In most of the nations studied, the governments are supporting R&D programs that are growing annually in funding and scope," the AIAA said in a 56-page study.

By contrast, the growth rate of U.S. government-financed R&D is almost stagnant and the overall rate—federal plus private financing—is among the lowest of major nations. Should existing trends continue, the U.S. could within the decade lose technological superiority to the Soviet Union in the fields of space and national security, and could suffer further deterioration of its already declining world trade position.

The study proposed tax breaks for U.S. exports and a softening of U.S. anti-trust laws so American corporations could join in cooperative ventures similar to the consortiums of European corporations.

Increasing application of this approach in Western Europe tends to counter some of the competitive advantages long enjoyed by the U.S., particularly in the important civil aviation market," the study said.

The study also concluded the United States is particularly vulnerable to losing its world trade lead advantage to Western Europe in research-intensive industries such as aerospace and electronics.

It said the U.S. government should develop "an explicit technological strategy with policies which define national R&D goals and provide levels of support adequate for their attainment, that U.S. research should become increasingly selective and specialized in fields it can dominate, and that steps to cure the situation must be taken quickly because of the long lead-time needed to get results.

The report said the field of civil aviation, where the United States now dominates 80 per cent of the world market, is the area of greatest concern because of stepped up aircraft production in Europe.

"Of all cases in point today, we think this is the most dramatic, the most real," said

C. Ronald Lowry, director of the Association's Aerospace Research Center, which performed the study.

"We see at least three or four markets where our share may drop from 80 per cent to about 50 per cent in the next 15 years or so. This is $60 billion to $70 billion worth of business, so it's no small matter."

Predator repellent study due

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The Sierra Club may support research into alternatives to the use of poison for controlling predators, the executive director of the conservation organization said Friday.

Michael McCloskey, of San Francisco, participating in a panel discussion on the use of the poison compound known as 10-80 for controlling coyotes, said he was glad to hear of research into non-lethal repellants to protect sheep.

He said the Sierra Club would support such research programs if they were carried out on a "neutral and impartial" basis.

McCloskey responded to a statement by Dr. Claire Terrill, chief of sheep and fur animal research for the Agricultural Research Service.

Terrill told the panel that research into non-lethal repellants was underway but it was not yet known if they would be feasible.

Dr. Charles Lovelies of the Bureau of Fisheries and Wildlife, called coyote control "an extremely complex problem" and said much greater investments and more extensive research are needed if repellants are to be developed.

McCloskey said there seemed to be a split in expert opinion on whether 10-80 was harmful to non-target animals. "You can choose your expert," he said.

Laird Noh, of Kimberly, Idaho, said wool growers have not exaggerated their losses to coyotes and in telling the truth have been called "fools and liars." He said opposition to 10-80 was "born in hysteria."

Terrill said practically no other animals were endangered by 10-80 and said there were indications that non-target animals have increased while the number of coyotes declined under a control program.

Terrill said coyotes may kill more of the non target animals than poison and therefore control programs may be beneficial to wildlife.

Coyotes need not be exterminated, Carroll said, but perhaps should be confined to wilderness areas and national parks. He added that the sheep industry is badly needed to provide food and other products and that 800,000 persons depend on the industry for their livelihood.

McCloskey responded that if the industry is so important, wool growers should not need subsidies.

But Terrill replied that the industry is getting insufficient subsidies as it is and has no protection against imports such as those enjoyed by the cattle industry.

The panel discussion was conducted in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Wool Growers Assn in Phoenix.

Wyoming OK's rail rate boost

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—Railroads operating in Wyoming were granted an eight per cent increase on all freight rates and charges, the Wyoming Public Service Commission announced Friday.

The railroads asked for a 12 per cent hike in Wyoming rates, in accordance with a similar increase granted nationally.

The PSC pointed out that while the net property investment of Wyoming class 1 railroads increased since 1966, the net railway operating income decreased. It added, however, that the 1970 rate of return was 3.35 per cent, 1.03 per cent higher than 1969.

The decision was made following a June hearing, at which time 18 companies objected to the increase.

Good outlook

NEW YORK (UPI) — Air Cargo should benefit from readjustment of world currencies, according to an air freight forwarding official.

Uncertainties about the rates of exchange have slowed down the free flow of goods throughout the world, said Sidney B. Lausch, chairman of Trans-Air Freight System, Inc., domestic and international air freight forwarder.

Knowing what the dollar, mark or yen will buy should increase international trade substantially, he said.

With export on the rise, air cargo should get a larger slice of the shipping dollar.

Bubbles up

NEW YORK (UPI) — When all the figures for 1971 are in, bottled water sales in the United States are expected to total more than $100 million, according to John G. Scott, president of the Mountain Valley Water Company.

Sales for use with alcoholic beverages at hotels, restaurants and bars during the 1971 holiday season gained for the fourth consecutive year, showing an 11.5 per cent increase, a 20-city survey showed. Overall, bottled water in recent years jumped about $20 million in volume to reach the $80 million mark by the end of 1970, Scott said.

Richfield PTA meet has comedy by speech class

RICHFIELD — The Richfield PTA meeting was held at the Richfield High School on Jan. 23.

The place started with Mrs. Sanders as a teacher, Toby Dayley as a villain school board chairman, Mike Holland as an elderly school teacher, James Kennison as an officer, and Nick Hubsmith, Rex Dawn Robinson, and Rhonda Swainston, school pupils. An audience of 75 persons attended.

A short ceremony marked the retirement of bonds and final payment of over $9,000 for Richfield's high school built in 1951. Supt. Neil Anderson said the school district mill levy would now be reduced 1 to 1 1/2 mills.

Discussion of a project resulted in the unit choosing to give $75 to purchase equipment for the new speech therapy class. Mrs. Elvyn Flavel, Miss Flavel will teach in the third district schools, Richfield as host school, Shoshone, and Dietrich. The state pays $80 per teacher salary with the three districts each paying one third of the 20 per cent balance.

Richard Sparks, faculty member of the high school, displayed a diagram and reviewed plans for an electrical scoreboard for the high school football field. Mr. Sparks and Walter Peck, a junior high school teacher, have volunteered to build the scoreboard. Pledges of $250 have been made to date of the needed $450.

Mrs. S. C. Peterson, unit president, expressed appreciation for donations of $50 to pay for cleaning chickens for the hot lunch program. It was reported $20.60 was donated to the endowment fund, $10 to the

Unemployment reaches high during 1971

BOISE — Idaho unemployment reached 5.5 per cent for 1971, according to figures released this week by the Idaho Department of Employment. The figure is the highest reported jobless rate in the state in eight years, and represents a 4 per cent increase over 1970's figure of 5.1 per cent.

During the past 21 years, notes the Employment's Idaho Manpower Review, the average unemployment has been 4.8 per cent of the state work force.

With an eight-year high in jobless rate being reported for the year, the December figures show 5.7 per cent of the work force out of a job for the month, one full percentage point higher than November.

Despite an increasing rate in unemployment, the department of employment reports a rising number of job holders during 1971, with an annual average of 295,600 people employed throughout the state, an increase of 2.2 per cent over 1970's figure.

In the Magic Valley, the state reports the seasonal slowdown in agricultural worker demand continued in December. The annual seasonal shift in employment opportunities was completed in December with workers moving from agricultural and other fair weather industries to food processing for nonagricultural positions, the report said.

The construction industry in the area also declined with colder weather, the state reports, with slowdowns in road construction, residential and special contract projects.

The state also reports the proposed Elkhorn Village project in Blaine County is expected to involve a long term investment of $36 million, and will include a 181-space trailer park besides apartments and condominiums.

School aide says salary data untrue

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school Supt. George Staudaher today said the Twin Falls Education Association used "last year's figures" when it reported the average teacher's salary in the district was $200 below the state average.

Staudaher said figures showed the average district teacher's pay to be $7,443, and if that's the case we're ahead, he said.

A TFEA survey reported average pay in the district was $7,100, compared to $7,300 statewide and $9,300 nationally.

Norman Wise, association president, said the figures used in the survey were furnished by school administration personnel, but acknowledged they were gathered while the federal wage and price freeze was in effect.

The wage and price freeze kept salaries at the 1970-71 school year level, temporarily negating raises granted by the school district to the teachers.

The school superintendent said beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree received $6,050 in Twin Falls, compared to $6,013 statewide. He also cited figures showing a top bachelor degree pay of $8,180 in Twin Falls, compared to $7,790 statewide.

Weisman said he didn't want to make a "bustle" with the survey. "We were being objective, merely trying to get the facts," he said.

Staudaher said the survey information was erroneous and misleading.

The district paid out $23,000 in back wages Jan. 3 when the federal freeze on teacher's pay raises was lifted by the Pay Board in Washington, D.C.

Nevada plane crash kills 5

WELLS, NEV. (UPI) — The bodies of five persons killed in the crash of a light plane were brought out of rugged foothills here Sunday as rescuers battled around blizzards and subzero temperatures to reach the crash site.

The five, including three young women, were killed sometime Friday night when the plane, Benjamin R. Howells, 42, Salt Lake City, radioed he was losing altitude.

Passengers in the Cessna 441 were identified as: D. Palmer, 42, Pat Trujillo, 28, Karen Lee Burchett, 30, and Iuz Thomas, 27, all believed to be from the Salt Lake area.

The plane, belonging to the Rutter Electrical Engineering Co. of Salt Lake City, crashed by the 7,200-foot level of a desolate mountainside about 10 air miles west of here.

It was found about dusk Saturday by a ground team of the Civil Air Patrol, and rescuers said the plane apparently struck the mountain at a flat angle and slid 200 yards uphill. All five bodies were found inside the tightly packed cockpit, rescuers said.

Rescuers in four-wheel drive vehicles recovered the bodies about noon Sunday after battling ground blizzards, and freezing cold, said authorities.

SNOW-FILLED cockpit of a Cessna 441 was found near Wells, Nev., by rescuers Saturday and the bodies of five Salt Lake City residents were brought out Sunday by rescuers. The plane crashed Friday after its pilot radioed the craft was losing altitude. (UPI)

Zoning variance approval given

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Zoning Commission Friday night approved a variance in the zoning laws, paving the way for expansion of Western Beverage Corp.

The company had requested an exception in the laws to allow it to expand and remodel its facilities south of the city.

Also at the meeting, the zoning board denied requests for two proposed subdivisions in the county, pending further technical advice on septic tank requirements for the area.

The requests from Globe Realty for a subdivision four miles south of East Five Points, and of Mountain States Realty three miles southwest of the city were held up until the board could receive the information it has requested.

The commissioners approved an amended plat for Park Ridge north of the city.

Board members also agreed with a request from city officials to approve joint zoning procedures for land one to two miles outside the city boundaries. The effort would smooth the annexation of county land into the city in the future.

The board also heard a request from unidentified builders for formulation of a zoning policy relating to the construction of condominiums in the county. No action was taken on the request.

Nixon budget includes two area projects

The budget also includes $4.1 million to continue work on the Ririe Lake Flood Control Project, and seeks $11.2 million for the Bureau of Reclamation for the Teton Dam in the Lower Teton Division of the Teton Basin Project.

Other requests include:

- $1.1 million for the East Greenacres unit, Bathing, and Wyoming.
- $1 million for the Bureau of Reclamation's study of the Western U.S. Water Plan.
- $205,500, BOR-sponsored study of the Southwest Idaho Water Plan.
- $142,000 for regional planning by the bureau, and $79,000 for the Bear River Project in Idaho and Utah.

Valley 'digs out'

Galena Summit remained closed today due to poor visibility and snowdrifts. The summit route was closed Friday afternoon by highway officials.

Highway 46 between Gooding and Fairfield and Highway 68 Hill City to Mountain Home, also were closed, as was the road to the Craters of the Moon. Highway spokesmen said.

The heavy snow which closed the highway also closed Fairfield schools again. Students at Fairfield have attended school only nine days this year, compared to 15 days in the more fortunate school districts.

School officials at Fairfield said the wind was dropping today, and it is hoped the school can reopen on Tuesday.

Backward in Minidoka and Cassia Counties, heavy snow and frozen mud combined to keep bus drivers home today, closing Minidoka schools, closing county schools, by contrast, opened on schedule.

In Murtaugh, extremely strong wind gusts sweeping through Sunday morning pretty well demolished the front of a warehouse at Valley Bean and Grain Co., and took the roof off another building, according to manager Jim Perkins. Employees were able to cover stored materials inside before any damage resulted.

Magie, Mountain and Pomerelle ski resorts were closed over the weekend, and remained closed today, when heavy snows shut off the entire area. Soldier Mountain remained open.

A busload of 14 youngsters headed for Pomerelle caused some consternation Sunday when the driver, told the resort was closed, decided to head for Soldier Mountain instead. While the youngsters were busy and happily sking, worried parents were attempting to trace the bus which had apparently vanished.

It ended when someone thought to check the Soldier Mountain resort and the "lost" bus was located.

Near Richfield, an Idaho Highway Department snowplow stuck in a snowdrift along U.S. Highway 93-A was "rescued" by a Richfield Highway District truck, which pulled the plow free.

Russians shown U.S. technology

TBILISI, Georgia, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — The United States today presented to the Soviet people an exhibition of space-age technology ranging from Apollo to an electric toothbrush.

But damage and delivery problems cut down the size of the show.

The cultural exhibit called "Research and Development, USA," delayed because of a chilly U.S.-Soviet relations, began an 11-month tour in Josef Stalin's Georgian homeland as part of a mutual U.S.-Russian effort to warm relations before President Nixon visits Moscow in May.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam and Frank Shakespeare, director of the sponsoring U.S. Information Agency, represented the United States in today's opening ceremonies.

Behind the carriage on foot were Queen Margaret II who succeeded her father on the throne when he died Jan. 14, his widow, Queen Ingrid, and the other members of the royal family.

State HEW votes to introduce measure

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee voted today to introduce legislation to remove health district personnel from jurisdiction of the Idaho Personnel Commission.

Sen. Leon Swenson, R-Nampa, said the state contributes only 35 per cent of the health districts costs and said he felt employees of the districts should be under control of the local boards of health.

Other measures were held for further information. Those included:

- A proposal for election of the superintendent of public instruction on a non-partisan ballot.
- A measure to allow volunteer workers in state programs to be considered public employees for coverage under workmen's compensation.
- A proposal to require a "certificate of need" from the North Side communities change date

SHOSHONE — The North Side Communities meeting date has been changed from this Thursday to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Manhattan Cafe, according to Clyde Peterson, Wendell, president of the organization.

New officers will be elected. Chambers of commerce of the North Side are urged to send delegates, Peterson said.

Reminder

JEROME — Mayor Jack Russell reminded Jerome residents today that garbage pickup will be made on streets instead of in alleys until muddy conditions improve.

He asks residents to put their cans on their property by the street and not into the street.

Danes mourn

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Tens of thousands of sorrowing Danes led by European royalty walked through the streets of Copenhagen today behind the funeral cortege of King Frederick IX in a last farewell to the monarch who had served Denmark for 35 years.

Behind the carriage on foot were Queen Margaret II who succeeded her father on the throne when he died Jan. 14, his widow, Queen Ingrid, and the other members of the royal family.

Concern urged

TWIN FALLS — Citizens who are concerned about clean air in Idaho have been urged by the League of Women Voters of Idaho to write to the Air Pollution Control Commission in Boise.

Joy Buersmeyer, Boise, state league president, said written statements will be accepted until Jan. 28 and the league is urging citizens to comment on the recently published air plan for Idaho.

Legislation introduced to end rights commission

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News

BOISE — Rep. Russell Fogg, R-Idaho Falls, persuaded the House State Affairs Committee to introduce, by a party line vote, a bill that would abolish the Idaho Human Rights Commission.

Fogg said he took the action because the present commission has, in his view, interfered with the prerogatives of the Idaho Falls and Bonneville district school boards in his area.

The commission has brought legal action to force the Bonneville district to readmit three boys who were suspended from school on grounds that their hair was too long. The contention of the commission is that this constitutes discrimination by sex, since the same hair-length standards are not applied to girls.

"Our board has had to spend maybe $50,000 it wouldn't have had to spend if these people hadn't interfered," Fogg said. He called the question of hair a local matter that should be decided as local people wish.

Asked how discrimination cases should be handled without a Human Rights Commission, Fogg said the individuals affected should bring their own lawsuits in the courts. Having the case in court, he said, would allow local people to decide it in their own way.

Fogg dismissed the idea the Human Rights Commission is needed to deal with other kinds of discrimination.

"We don't have the problem other states have," he said. "Here in southwestern Idaho you have the biggest problem because you have a lot of Mexican-Americans. They cause a lot of problems. It isn't the colored people. We don't have racial discrimination. We don't have religious discrimination."

Fogg said his idea in introducing the repeal bill is to get the law changed to limit the activities of the Human Rights Commission. "Over in the senate they're trying to give them more power," he said. "They've introduced a bill to give them broad investigatory powers, the power of subpoena, and a budget of $89,000."

Fogg said that if the governor wants to cut down on some of these state agencies, why doesn't he start by taking a look at some of these agencies we don't need?"

Democrats in the House State Affairs Committee asked Fogg to introduce the measure as a personal bill, but he declined, and then the Republicans, on a party-line vote, agreed to introduce it under the sponsorship of the committee itself.

Award winners

HONORED Saturday night during the Minico Jaycees awards dinner were Wendell Dean, young farmer, James Mosley, distinguished service award, and Wayne Rainstrom, boss of the year. Not pictured is Mrs. Judy C. Moller, young educator.

Allen is winner

JEROME — Don Allen, 34, an employee of Ida-Gem Dairymen, Jerome, was awarded the distinguished service award by the Jerome Jaycees at a dinner Friday at Wood Cafe.

Allen, the youngest board member of Ida-Gem, is active in many youth activities through the Kiwanis Club of Jerome. He was instrumental in establishing a little league baseball program and the men's softball league.

Allen said he has a very high regard for the distinguished service award which has been awarded to such men as J. R. Simplot and California's Governor Ronald Reagan.

Allen just completed a year as president of the Jerome Kiwanis Club.

Guest speaker at the dinner, held in conjunction with Jaycee week, was David Wilkes, senior area director for Jaycees in Southwestern Idaho. He spoke on "dare to be great motivation courses."

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were lower on a broad range of fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange Monday.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was off 5.80 at 901.64. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.61 at 103.04. Turnover amounted to 9,950,000 shares, compared with 12,350,000 for the same period on Friday.

Advances topped declines, 874 to 470, among the 1,672 issues traded.

Among the day's most-active issues were Plessey Ltd. up 1/4 on 116,000 shares; Columbia Broadcasting System, off 1/4 on 109,300 shares; General Electric, down 3/4 on 101,000 shares; General Cable, up 1/4 on 100,900 shares and Standard Oil of New Jersey, off 1 on 93,000 shares.

Among the less-active stocks down a point or more were IBM, which gave way to profit taking after more than an 18-point gain last week. It lost 3 1/2.

Also lower was Superior Oil by 2; Natomax, 1 1/4; American Research & Development 1 1/4; and Doric Corp. 2 1/4. Doric reported slightly lower earnings Friday for the fourth quarter and the year.

An official of Doric, commenting on the stock's setback, said: "The only explanation would seem to be that people expected our earnings to be better than they were."

General Motors paced the setback in its group, losing 1 1/4. UAI, Inc. and American fell 1 1/2 apiece in the easier airline group.

Synopsis

A cold front passed through eastern Oregon and southern Idaho Sunday bringing light precipitation and gusty winds into the intermountain region. However, by this morning colder and drier air had replaced the front with the general rule being partly cloudy skies, although a few widely scattered snow showers are expected in eastern Oregon and southwestern Idaho. This evening, gusty winds will continue this evening from the Magic Valley to the upper Snake River Valley.

(Cloudiness) will increase tonight with the approach of another cold front from the Pacific Ocean and occasional snow will push into eastern Oregon and southwestern Idaho late tonight and southeastern Idaho on Tuesday. The snow will be mixed with rain at times in the valleys of southwestern Idaho.

TF women conduct workshop

TWIN FALLS — A workshop on "speech construction" was presented Thursday night by Mrs. Ben Eldredge during the Magic Toastmistress Club meeting held in the Colonial House.

Mrs. Mary K. Sharp, president, introduced Mrs. Eldredge who offered assistance to members preparing for the winter speech contest.

Mrs. Dorothy Miller conducted table topics with Mrs. Jerri Miller winner of the traveling trophy for the best topic. Mrs. Alda Strong was toastmistress of the evening and introduced Mrs. Ethel Martin who spoke on "Resolve, New Beginnings."

Current Cues

By HELEN WALKER

TWIN FALLS — Ecology, though not a new word, has become a mission — a search to improve the quality of life, to remove as much as possible the irritants and health hazards in our environment.

Your home is the nearest and dearest part of that environment and there are many products and appliances designed to improve the home environment or which improve the components of the home environment — air, light, water, sound, temperature, privacy, comfort, beauty, cleanliness and health. Manufacturers have been quick to design and market products to improve this environment.

Consider cleanliness and health. Your washer is scientifically designed to remove not only the soil from garments, but to thoroughly rinse and flush away the soils and laundry aids.

The dryer is a real contributor to better environment. No longer is it necessary to expose clothes to the hazards of the elements. They can be dried and sanitized within the home. Dust particles can be removed from drapes, pillows and rugs by tumbling them in the dryer.

A dishwasher contributes to a safer home environment by providing germ free, safer dishes. It hygienically washes and dries the dishes and any germs which may spread disease are destroyed or removed by water action, chemicals and heat.

Waste disposers and mashers eliminate the messy garbage cans and the resultant odors, germs, insects, rodents and other pests which accompany them.

Since we cannot live in a completely isolated germ-free laboratory, we should try to improve the space we do occupy much of the time. Dust, dirt and pollen make their way into the home and the vacuum cleaner is the first solution a homemaker turns to for these problems. Air filters help screen out some of these air-borne particles. Electronic air cleaners are designed to remove up to 90 percent of the air impurities.

Water, too, although it may be safe, may not be desirable to drink because of minerals, chemicals and organic matter which may affect its appearance, taste and odor. Water purifiers, besides making water taste better, eliminate troublesome mineral deposits which clog steam irons and sterilizers. They will also remove hydrogen sulfide which may give some water a bad odor and taste and cause tarnishing of silverware. Pure water helps preserve the natural taste of foods cooked in it.

Emphasis on year around temperature and humidity control is evidenced by the many new types of heating, cooling and humidifying equipment now being marketed. The comfort of your home depends largely on construction, age, window area and insulation. Modern heating and air-conditioning keep temperature at a comfortable level. An increase in humidity will make you feel more comfortable in the winter and humidifiers are manufactured for this purpose. A lowering of humidity in the summer will make you feel cooler and exhaust fans or dehumidifiers help to do this.

Lighting can, highlight, an attractive room arrangement, make a room feel warm and comfortable, a kitchen easier to work in, a stairway safer to walk down. Lighting both inside and outside can do wonders to make your home environment comfortable, efficient, attractive and safe.

Noise in the home has increased, also, and now has come the development of techniques to help reduce sound levels. Refrigerators are being designed with sound dampening materials and noise-cutting components. Studies have produced ways to better control fan noise. Air-conditioning units are being designed to operate almost silently.

Products will be measured by what they do to make your life better and the manufacturers will help by building products that will improve the quality of life in your home.

AF captain dead? wife believes not

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilmer Grubb, an Air Force captain from Philadelphia, Pa., was shot down over North Vietnam January 26, 1966.

His baby boy is now going on six. His other sons now are 8, 10, and 14.

His wife, Evelyn Fowler Grubb, who he married while a student at Pennsylvania State University, is a study in courage. The same may be said of the women left behind by the 476 Americans who are prisoners of war. And the same for the women wives and mothers in the lives of 1,141 men missing in action.

Mrs. Grubb, a native of Horsham, Pa., and now living in Colonial Heights, Va., is national coordinator for the League of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action, based in Washington, D.C.

Twice during 1970, her husband's name was on an unofficial list of prisoners who died. The word, which she described as second and third hand, was that he died nine days after capture.

"She doesn't buy that," she said. "He is the most highly advertised prisoner." Mrs. Grubb said in an interview. Why would he be pointed to as an example of humane treatment if he died nine days after capture in 1966?

Mrs. Grubb said pictures of her husband appeared in connection with humane treatment of prisoners. The last time one appeared was in "Tomorrow Vietnam," a publication out Aug. 25, 1969.

"Why would they be advertising in 1969 about his good treatment if he died nine days after capture in 1966," she asked.

"All that I want is an official piece of paper that certifies that my husband is dead," she said. "It is not asking much. I am not out of touch with reality. Until I have that piece of paper, I have hope."

In June, Mrs. Grubb delivered a petition to U. Thant, then Secretary-General of the United Nations, calling attention to the facts as she has them in her husband's case.

What Mrs. Grubb sought from the United Nations was accurate information about her husband — and all others so situated.

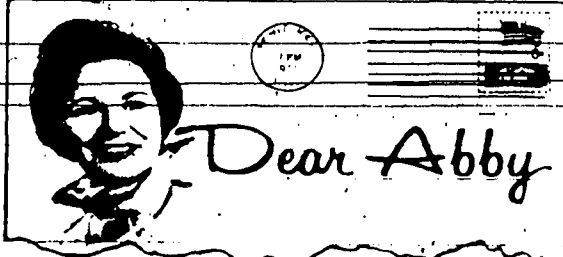

Mrs. Grubb said she has not heard from the United Nations.

The petition contained exhibits, all pictures of her husband, from published sources, since he was captured.

He could very well be dead," she said. "But I need that little piece of paper before I believe it."

My husband's status is still prisoner of war.

The children have been informed honestly on everything as it happens. That's what makes a family unit."

news about the people you know

DEAR ABBY: Your recent article on the subject of spoiled grandchildren hit home with me.

Several years ago I had a discussion with my father-in-law on the subject. His point of view was brief and to the point. He said, "There are three points which you should understand. First, it's my money; second, it's my grandchild; and third, it's none of your business in the first place."

Having said his piece, the subject was closed. Looking back I find myself in complete agreement. Care to comment?

R B G FORT MEYERS FLA.

DEAR R B G: Yes, I would have responded with "three points" of my own. First, it's my child; second, my child is more important to me than your money; third, the welfare of my child is my FIRST concern, and as long as I'm alive and mentally competent, that's the way it will be.

Then I would add, "Comon, Dad, let's compromise, and give the kid more love than anything else—at least until he can handle it. O K?"

A Lovelier You NOISY WOMEN, HEAD TO TOE

PLEASE — to the sounds you make them, listenable.

This cacophony of heels stems from many causes. Among them, flat feet, lack of muscular control and graceless maneuvering. If you pinpoint your problem, you will pinpoint your solution.

But here is one professional tip on a limber, attractive walk. Pull up your tail, take steps about the length of your foot, let the heels and toes touch the floor almost simultaneously and "grip the floor" with your toes as you take another step.

A great deal of sound pollution would be on the way out if we would pay just a little more attention to our personal habits.

Jim Encourages Bad Play

Blackwood. Needless to say you passed. How did you play the hand?

Jim: I won the heart lead with my ace and carefully led the three of clubs. West played low. I made the best percentage play and stuck in the jack. East took his queen, thought a while and led back a heart, whereupon I sailed home with the contract.

Oswald: East made a bad play. But you played the clubs in a way to encourage him to try a stand-pat defense. If you had led your nine of clubs East would have seen that the club suit would set immediately. When you led the three he visualized four clubs to the ace-nine in the West hand. That would leave West with two more club stoppers and the heart lead might well be the winner.

Stenerud, Dawson lead AFC to 26-13 victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jan Stenerud kicked four field goals and Kansas City teammate Len Dawson tossed a five-yard touchdown pass to Cleveland's Milt Morin Sunday as the American Football Conference All-Stars scored a 26-13 victory over the National Football Conference in the Pro Bowl.

Roger Staubach, Dallas super Bowl hero, played most of the game at quarterback for the NFC but he was stifled by the rough AFC defenders Willie Lanier, of Kansas City, Joe Greene, of Pittsburgh, Baltimore's Ted Hendricks, Bubba Smith and Mike Curtis, and Kansas City's Buck Buchanan.

The AFC intercepted two Staubach passes and sacked him five times for 47 yards lost trying to pass.

Detroit's Greg Landry, backup man for Staubach, drew a 50-yard scoring pass to Minnesota's Bob Grim at 5:46 in the second quarter for the game's first points. The attempted conversion after a five-yard penalty was blocked by Smith.

Stenerud, who missed field goals from 38 and 28 yards in the opening quarter, redeemed himself with a 25-yarder at 10:50 in the second period. That cut the NFC lead to 6-3 at the half.

Miami's Mercury Morris ran the second half kickoff back to the NFC 32 and six plays later Stenerud kicked a 23-yard field goal at 3:09 to tie the score at 6-6.

After Landry intercepted a Staubach pass, Stenerud booted a 38-yarder at 5:48 in the third quarter to break the tie and give the AFC a 9-6 lead.

The Dolphins' Bob Griese was the AFC quarterback in the first half by Dawson, the 36-year-old veteran, took over in the second half and moved the AFC 39 yards in five plays, capping the march with his five-yard pass to Morin.

That made it 16-6 and Stenerud, the goat in Kansas City's playoff loss to Miami, widened the gap to 19-6 with nine seconds gone in the fourth period when he kicked his fourth field goal, a 42-yarder.

In the fourth quarter, Landry cut the NFC lead after Detroit's Mike Turci intercepted a Dawson pass. With the help of a pass interference call, the AFC moved to the AFC 41.

The AFC stopped Detroit's Steve Owens when he tried to go through the middle and then threw Landry for a one-yard loss before Vic Washington of San Francisco skirled left and for two yards and a touchdown.

Denver's Floyd Little wound up the scoring with less than two minutes to play when he rammed six yards for a touchdown for the AFC. Stenerud's conversion made it 26-13.

Statistically, Staubach had one of his worst days. He completed only one of six passes for 14 yards. Landry was 6-for-11 for 122 yards.

For the AFC, Griese was 8-for-16 for 114 yards while Dawson was 3-for-9 for 33.

Stenerud was voted the outstanding offensive player of the game by sportswriters and Lanier was named the top defensive player.

Oakland's Marv Hubbard led the AFC rushers with 57 yards on 10 carries. Morris gained 55 yards on seven attempts.

On the NFC side, Staubach, more effective on the ground than in the air, picked up 27 yards on four carries, the scrambling type runs with AFC defenders in hot pursuit.

GOING DOWN is Paul Warfield of the Miami Dolphins after picking up short yardage in the Pro Bowl game which pitted the stars of the American Football Conference against those of the National Conference. No. 46 is Floyd Little of the Denver Broncos. No. 30 is Mel Renfro of the Cowboys. The AFC won the game 26-13. (UPI Telephoto.)

Jean-Noel Augert cops second straight World Cup slalom

WENGEN, Switzerland (UPI) — World slalom champion Jean-Noel Augert of France scored his second straight World Cup special slalom victory Sunday in the 2nd Lauberhorn ski races, but the surprise of the event was a third place finish turned in by Bob Cochran of Richmond, Va.

The 22-year-old Augert from Le Corbier, skiing without any mistakes and staying close to the poles despite breathtaking speed, clocked 48.90 and 49.02 seconds for a two-run total of 97.92 seconds.

Last Sunday the long-haired Augert won the Hahnenkamm special slalom at Kirchbuehel, Austria.

World Cup holder Gustavo Thoeni of Italy, leading Augert after the first heat with 48.82 seconds, was two-tenths of a second slower than the Frenchman in the second run to finish runner-up at 98.04.

Cochran, not considered a slalom specialist at all, was fourth to Thoeni, Augert and Rolando Thoeni after the first heat with 49.75 seconds from a 34th starting position.

Everybody took it as a fluke. The winning picture of Augert, Thoeni and Poland's Andrzej Bachleda was taken long before the American started for the second run.

He ruined it with a second heat best of 48.94 for a total of 98.69, beating Bachleda by half a second.

Cochran, who is a downhill specialist and not even listed for the Olympic Slalom in the U.S. squad, said, "the downhill is my specialty but it looks as if the slalom is my best event."

The result was the best ever in a slalom for Cochran, who only wanted to ski well.

"I did not even think of any placing among the leading ten," he said.

"This was my best slalom and maybe it is about the best for ever," he said.

Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., finished 11th with a 100.91 total and Eric Poulsen, of Olympic Valley, Calif., was 16th with 101.86.

Henri Duvillard, of France, retained his World Cup lead at 97 points despite asspill only a few gates from home of the second run. Augert moved into second place with 94 points while Austrian Veteran Karl Schranz, idle because of the cancellation of the downhill, ranks third at 83.

The downhill was on and off all day long until the jury finally decided by a majority decision to cancel it for good because of "technical reasons and fog in the starting area," one and a half hour before the scheduled start.

The downhill was cancelled Saturday because of dense fog from start to finish. Today the weather had cleared up.

Several downhill specialists, including world champion Bernhard Russi, of Switzerland, withdrew from the slalom as soon as the downhill was on again this morning. Two races on one day was too much for them.

Of the 83 skiers who finally started, only 44 finished. West Germany's leading slalom racers all dropped out. Christian Neureuther fell at the third gate of the first heat. Max Rieger, one of the fastest, fell four gates from the finish line.

Rockets rally past Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Mike Newlin and Stu Lantz sparked a fourth quarter comeback Sunday which brought the Houston Rockets a 109-107 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Howie Komives, who charged that black coach Earl Lloyd was "trying to phase out" white players, got into the game in the third quarter and threw the ball away on an inbounds pass with three seconds left to kill the Pistons chances of tying.

Komives apologized to Lloyd and the team in a meeting before the game but would not relent his belief. He was angered after his streak of playing in 284 games was broken Friday night.

Newlin scored six of his 26 points and Lantz had four of 12 in the stretch when Houston came from a 85-79 deficit at the start of the fourth quarter into a 95-92 lead.

Pair leads Atlanta over Bucks

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson combined for 66 points Sunday to lead the Atlanta Hawks to a 118-113 National Basketball Association victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

The Bucks started out on top, holding a 30-29 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Hawks came back to move in front 61-57 at the half and opened that up to 93-81 going into the final quarter.

The Bucks narrowed the lead to 100-97 at one point, but then Maravich hit four straight points to give Atlanta an unsurmountable lead.

Maravich finished the day with 36 points and Hudson has 41. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar had 34 for Milwaukee and Oscar Robertson added 24 for the Bucks.

The win was the second in a row for Atlanta over Milwaukee. The Hawks, now 18-6, beat the Bucks 104-102 Jan. 12. Milwaukee is now 39-11.

Issel paces Colonels over Stars

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels, behind Dan Issel's 29 points, broke open a tight American Basketball Association game in the second period to batter the Utah Stars 130-94 Sunday.

The Stars were in the game at the end of the first period, trailing 27-23, but Kentucky's front line of Issel and Rookie center Artis Gilmore, quickly helped the Colonels pull away and they raced to a 55-39 halftime advantage.

Gilmore finished with 22 points and little Louie Dampier added 21, eleven of them in the third quarter when the game turned into a rout.

The Stars were led by Willie Wise's 22 points.

Gilmore led all rebounders with 18 and the Colonels dominated the board by snaring 52 against 38 for the Stars.

Knicks hold Seattle for victory

SEATTLE (UPI) — The New York Knicks staved off a furious fourth quarter Seattle rally Sunday to post a 101-99 victory in a nationally televised NBA game.

Seattle trailed by 13 points at 97-84 with four minutes to play, but outscored the Knicks, 15-4, the rest of the way to come close.

The Sonics had the ball with six seconds to play and a chance to tie it up, but Walter Frazier forced Lee Winfield into a turnover to ice it for the Knicks.

New York had taken advantage of some cold Seattle shooting in the second period to pile up a 34-34 halftime lead. The Sonics tallied only four field goals in 21 attempts in the second quarter and scored only 14 points. The 37 points scored in the first half was an all-time low for Seattle.

Doctors find more drug use by losers

NEW YORK (UPI) — A United States Olympic medical team, in three tests for drug abuse among amateur athletes, has found more of it among the losers than among the winners.

"There is no evidence you can produce a winner by doping," says Dr. Daniel F. Hanley, chairman of medical services for the U.S. Olympic Committee and director of student health at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine.

But there is a heckuva lot of evidence, on dope checks that have included as many winners as losers, that you'll find more of it among the losers. And, of course, the problem is serious if you find any of it at all.

One of the three tests included contestants in the 1967 Pan American games at Winnipeg. Hanley declined to identify the other events on the testing program and gave no indication whether any U.S. athletes were found among the "positive" cases of competitors who used drugs in the hope of improving their performances.

In each event tested, contestants who finished 1-3 in any heat plus the final were labelled winners to provide a broader comparison with also-rans who also were tested.

"When you include only the first three finishers, it fixes in everyone's mind that doping and winning are connected," says Hanley. "And that isn't necessarily so."

Hanley, 55, sprinkles his conversation with the old-fashioned term "dope" which long has been associated with sports as in the "doping" of horses or athletes to make them run faster or further. Among drugs he includes in that category are amphetamines.

Staubach, Marinaro are honored

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterback Roger Staubach, who guided the Dallas Cowboys to their first Super Bowl championship, and Ed Marinaro, Cornell's record-shattering runner, will be honored Monday by the Maxwell Football Club.

Staubach is a repeat winner, having received the club's Maxwell Award as the outstanding college player when he was with the Naval Academy in 1963.

Adding to his honor as the outstanding player in the Super Bowl will be the Maxwell Club's Bert Bell Award for a professional player.

Marinaro, named by the club as the outstanding college player last season, shattered all college rushing marks and was a candidate for the Heisman Trophy.

Also expected to attend the awards is Tom Landry, the Cowboys' head coach. Landry has been with Dallas since the National Football Conference team was formed.

Jack Musick, Marinaro's coach at Cornell, also is expected to attend.

The club is named after the late Robert J. "Tiny" Maxwell, a former football player, official and sports writer.

Twin Falls will meet Jerome

Burley entertains the Buhl Indians Tuesday and Jerome crosses the river to test the Bruins at Twin Falls in a pair of midweek non-conference features and the Murtaugh Red Devils and Castleford Wolves see about eliminating each other possibly from the Magic Valley Conference.

Burley, which looked both good and bad Friday and Saturday and still won both, will run into one of its taller opponents in 6-7 Kendall Meier but the Bobcats match that with their second tallest. Like most teams Buhl will have to shoot well from the outside or handle the ball extremely well.

Coach Ivan Davis believes the scare by Blackfoot Friday night was a good thing for his Bobcats, who he reports, were not preparing themselves mentally for the games.

Twin Falls topped Jerome in their first meeting, the Bruins pulling away after a tight first half and then beating back a closing rush by the Tigers. A couple-three steals turned that game around.

Jerome Coach Billy believes his team's rebounding is improving. Playing the big teams has helped us," he says.

Twin Falls will have a height advantage but the problem right now is the height is getting into foul trouble a little too early.

Castleford, which will be the home team, is currently tied with Hagerman and Declo for the Magic Valley Conference lead while Murtaugh is one game back. If Murtaugh loses this one, it could be out of the picture as two games and three teams might be too hard to overtake. Castleford still is, in pretty good shape, provided it can beat the also-rans, since it has both Hagerman and Declo home the second time around.

Also in Magic Valley play, the Oakley Hornets will travel to Hansen with both coaches trying to get their teams regrouped for a shot at the district tournament. Both appear out of the league race. Raft River leaves the league to play at Rockland.

In the home Northside Conference game, the Carey Panthers will travel to Gooding State for what could be a tight affair.

Barber will face Archer in Tucson Open playoff

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Miller Barber charged out of the pack with a sizzling 65 Sunday to tie Los Angeles Open winner George Archer at 15 under par 273 at the end of 72 holes of the Tucson open and will meet Monday in an 18-hole playoff for the title.

Barber fired a five under par 33 on the front nine with six birdies and one bogey. He added two more birds on the back nine to tie Archer, who led the first two rounds and was one stroke behind Bobby Nichols at the end of the third round.

Barber began the final day four strokes off the lead. Nichols maintained his third round lead in a see-saw battle with Archer through 15 holes. He then bogied the 16th but went back into a three-way tie with a bird on 17.

Archer fired a 33-35-68 in the final round while Nichols blew himself out with a 33-38-71, which included a double bogey six on 18 after he drove into the water.

This will mark the third consecutive playoff on the tour this year in as many tournaments. Archer beat Tommy Aaron and Dave Hill in an 18-hole playoff for the Los Angeles title two weeks ago and last week Jack

Nichols loses

DROPPING THE BALL is Bobby Nichols after his tee shot on 18 landed in the water Sunday in the Tucson Open golf tourney. Nichols was leading when he shot a bogey on 16 and a double bogey on the 18th. He finished two strokes behind George Archer and Miller Barber who will meet in an 18-hole playoff. (UPI telephoto).

Stewart captures Grand Prix race

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Defending world racing champion Jackie Stewart of Scotland took top honors Sunday in the seventh running of the Grand Prix of Argentina.

Stewart, driving a Tyrrell Ford, led throughout most of the race, finishing far ahead of Denis Hulme of New Zealand in a McLaren.

In third place was Jacky Ickx of Belgium in a Ferrari.

Although the winners were not official due to a breakdown in a computer, Stewart was given the Winner's Cup by the President of Argentina, Gen Alejandro Lanusse.

The more than 90,000 fans who crowded into the Autodromo on a hot summer Sunday spilled onto the race track and tried to touch the winner as he pulled into the pit area.

The race was the first of the season to award points towards the Drivers' Championship and the Manufacturers' International Cup. It consisted of 95 laps Nicklaus beat young Johnny Miller on the first hole of sudden death for the Crosby title. Miller didn't make the cut at Tucson.

Behind Nichols at 12 under par 276 were Bob Murphy and Dale Douglass, both of whom started the final round one stroke off the pace. In a three-way tie at 10 under par were Don Bies, Dave Hill and Marty Fleckman.

Defending Champion J. G. Snead, Don Massengale, Jim Jamieson and Grier Jones were bunched at nine under 275.

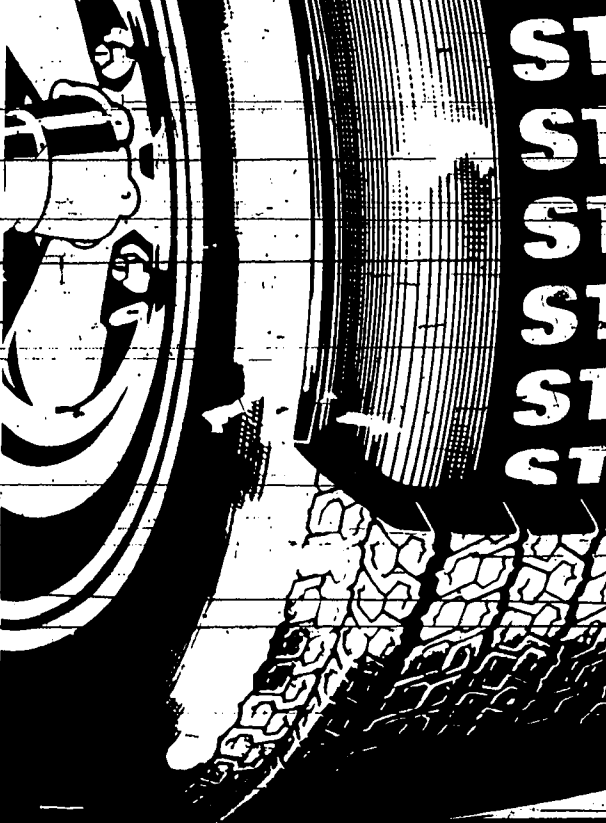

Archer went off just in front of Nichols and kept the pressure on him. He moved into a tie several times only to have Nichols come back with a bird to retake the lead.

Archer fell back on the 12th hole and it wasn't until Nichols' double bogey on 18 that he and Barber had the lead to themselves.

Barber went to 15 under and a tie with Archer with a birdy four on the 545-yard 15th hole.

Archer and Barber both said after the round they hit all their shots well.

"I have gotten that touch you need in your putting to be effective," Archer said. "When

Komives won't retract remark

DETROIT (UPI) — Howard Komives, who accused black coach Earl Lloyd of trying to "phase out" white players on the Detroit Pistons, apologized to his teammates Sunday but declined to recant at meetings before and after a game.

In the meeting, Butch Komives apologized to his teammates and he apologized to me," Lloyd said before his Pistons lost to the Houston Rockets, 109-107, in a National Basketball Association game.

He said he thought some things were blown out of proportion. As far as I'm concerned, it's a dead issue," he said. "I think a fine or suspension would destroy what I want to do."

"You guys are the ones who did all the writing," an embittered Komives told writers after the game, in which he played 13 minutes. "All I did was make two statements."

"Yes, I do," he replied to a question of if he thought the incident, which stemmed from the snapping of his 284-game playing streak Friday night, was overblown. "I'm not denying what I said."

"I don't have to clarify it," the eight-year veteran added in the same testy tones he used all through the session which followed a 15-minute post-game meeting of players called by Dave Bing. "I clarified in here — that's all I have to do. I'm not talking any more about it."

Komives sat silently on the bench Friday night while his consecutive game playing streak was coming to an end.

"It should be pretty evident to anyone who's been around," he said afterward, "I'd say he's trying to phase the white players out."

Detroit started the season with five whites but two have been cut — guard Harvey Marlett and forward Steve Mix. Komives, Erwin Mueller, and Terry Dischinger are left.

World's First Oyster Farm

There's nothing in Christianity or Buddhism that quite matches the sympathetic unsatisfactoriness of an oyster.

H. H. Munro World's first oyster farmer, was said to be that old Roman gentleman named Sergius Orata, an entrepreneur of more than 2,000 years ago who seeded his own undersea beds. Whatever had to do with water was his specialty. I gather He also invented the first shower bath.

IT'S AN AILMENT of amateurs nowadays, that plaque called venereal disease. The medical men say only about 5 per cent of the cases trace back to the professional ladies of the night. A generation ago, most all such cases did so.

NANONSECOND is what the physics boys call a millionth of a second. Relatively recent measurement, this. Useful in space calculations, electronics, whatnot. Also, makes possible to measure the instant at day's end it takes doctor to get from the front door to the ice bucket.

QUERIES

Q. "What does 'pulled' mean in front of heretofore?"

A. Means the animal has no horns, never had horns, can't grow horns.

Q. "WHAT DO you call the constant fear of falling down stairs?"

A. Creninophobia. None too common, that one.

Q. "WHAT COLOR carpet are most people putting in their homes nowadays?"

A. Green or gold. It's a tossup.

TAXISQUAD

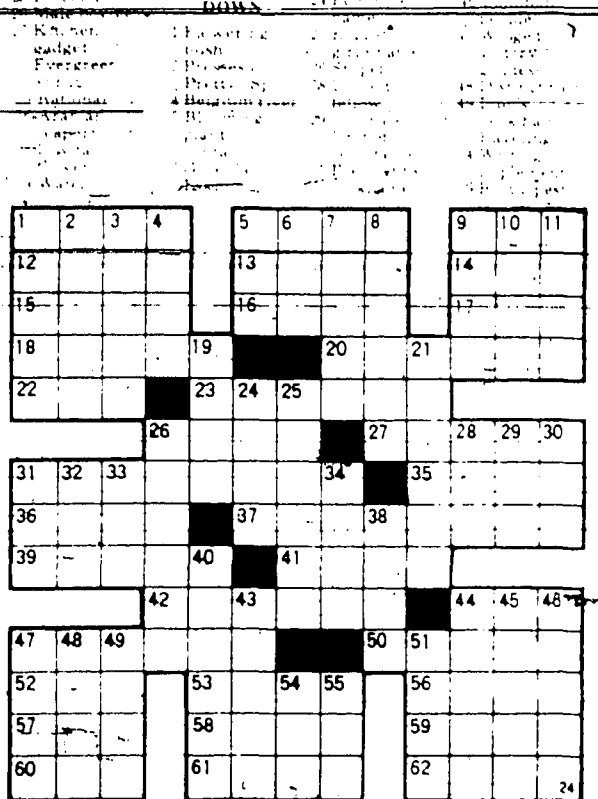

Writes John White: In the matter of the strategy players of a football team came to be called the taxi squad, your so-called authoritative source is not wrong. Taxi Brown, formerly of the Cleveland Browns, once owned a taxi company. His club couldn't support the extra players, but he needed them. So he put them to work, driving his taxis. That's the term.
