Repairs started at Paul

PAUL. — Repairs have started on several Farmers Home Administration-financed homes in the outskirts of Paul. Ace Caldwell and Philip R. Bare, co-owners of E-Z Homes, Rupert, who built the homes in the eight-home subdivision just off the Burley-Paul highway, said several subcontractors have started repairs.

Caldwell said the homeowners have agreed to admit the workmen, settling a dispute that has involved the FHA, the contractors and the homeowners.

The dispute brought in an investigating official of the federal Office of the Inspector General from San Francisco, John W. Clark.

Caldwell protested today that "Our story has not been told. Our subcontractors are all reliable people and they stand behind their work. We are willing to make the needed repairs. The houses are all under warranty and the people know it."

Dock strike talks set

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Both sides in the 118-day old West Coast longshoremen's walkout agreed to meet again today amid some speculation that a settlement could be reached before the government is again forced to intervene.

Representatives of the 16,000 member International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Pacific Maritime Association met Monday for 1½ hours.

From 1921 to 1926 he served as acting city editor of the Twin Falls Times. Private funeral services will be conducted in Carmel.

More Irish riots loom

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A group of men wielding submachineguns shot and wounded an Ulster law enforcement officer today as he was feeding pigs at his farm in County Fermanagh, a British army spokesman said. He escaped by playing dead for an hour.

Rioting which swept Northern Ireland Monday in the wake of the killing of 13 civilians in Londonderry Sunday by British troops subsided today but more was expected Wednesday at the funeral of the victims. Crowds of 15,000 were expected.

Britain has announced it is setting up a commission to investigate the shootings but such Northern Irelanders as Bernadette Devlin as Bernadette Devlin have indicated there would be no cooperation by the Roman Catholic minority in Ulster.

Factories, banks, stores and offices were closed in Londonderry in the second day of mourning for the 13 victims. Black flags fluttered from hundreds of windows and small shrines marked the sites in the Roman Catholic Bogside district of the city where the 13 were killed by paratroopers.

Book probe grows

NEW YORK (UPI) — The inquiry into possible fraud involving the "autobiography" of Howard Hughes spanned the Atlantic today with arrests in both New York and Switzerland.

Zurich District Attorney Peter Vleoff said today that warrants for author Clifford Irving issued in Switzerland and the promise of an official investigation made it possible to solve the "autobiography mystery."

His announcement followed police investigations which turned up $42,000 in cash and securities in a branch of the Swiss Bank Corporation.

The bank, one of Switzerland's largest, is located across the street from the Swiss Credit Bank, where Irving's wife cashed $650,000 in checks issued to Hughes.

By Irving's own admission, his wife used the name "Helen R. Hughes" on a falsified Swiss passport as identification for cashing the checks, by the publishing firm McGraw-Hill to Hughes for the rights to his "autobiography."

Irving said she did so on instructions from the billiards room, with whom he also said he collaborated in writing the book. However, Hughes has issued denials of Irving's statements.

Vleoff said he has not yet decided whether to ask for extradition of the Irving to Switzerland.

Clash kills 2 GI's, planes hit N. Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command reported today seven more "protective reaction" strikes by American warplanes against missile sites and radar bases in North Vietnam, five of them three years ago, military spokesman said. The wounded in three clashes, all today, and two today.

It also said two American GIs were killed and four wounded near Saigon in the heaviest fighting involving U.S. troops in two months.

The five protective reaction strikes Monday were the greatest number flown against North Vietnam in a single day since the bombing halt more than three years ago.

The U.S. command said two Americans were killed and four military spokesman said. The wounded in three clashes, all two strikes today, were the 28th involving a squadron of the 3rd and 20th of the year and 2nd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry.

Two strikes today were the 28th involving a squadron of the 3rd and 20th of the year and 2nd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry.

The South Vietnamese command, meantime, disclosed for the first time that its air force had joined U.S. planes in bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos since Dec. 1.

The announcement was made as the U.S. command reported five air strikes against aircraft sites inside North Vietnam, the most in a single day since former President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing of the north in 1968.

American jets flew two more strikes into North Vietnam today.

US staff kept under job law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted 55 to 16 Monday against a bill excluding 10.1 million state and local government employees from federal protection against job discrimination.

The vote killed an attempt by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to remove the state and local government workers from the proposed legislation because it would exempt federal judges, employment bureaus for the states.

Ervin charged the bill is inconsistent with our federal system of government," but Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., argued that state and local governments would still be allowed to hire whomever they please "so long as they do it in a non-discriminatory manner."

Current laws, administered by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) cover private employers and the federal government, but they do not cover those two houses behind them, Southern senators retorted to the filibuster, and a Senate vote is set for 12:30 p.m. EST Tuesday on a motion to end debate by invoking cloture.

This requires a two-thirds majority and because there was little likelihood of mustering

this much support for cloture on the first go-around, a second cloture motion will come up for debate an hour after the Senate convenes Wednesday.

No court martial for Wooldridge

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, Feb. 14th.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus,

Mars and Saturn.

These planets are today under the sign of Aquarius.

American composer Victor Herbert was born Feb. 1, 1859.

On this day in history:

In 1890 the U.S. Supreme Court held its first session, convening in New York City.

In 1894 Dr. Martin Martin of Buffalo, New York, was issued the first insurance policy covering an automobile driver.

In 1968 Republican Richard Nixon formally announced his candidacy for the U.S. presidency. He defeated Hubert Humphrey in November and was sworn in as the 37th President.

In 1970 total of 141 persons were killed when two planes crashed near Buenos Aires.

In 1970 unless court martial charges are filed immediately, the Army said Monday that Wooldridge would leave the service Tuesday.

Wooldridge was indicted Feb. 13, 1971, by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles on conspiracy to defraud foreign-missioned officers clubs in Vietnam between 1965 and 1969.

A thought for today: American writer Robert Ingols said, "Every cradle asks us whence" and every coffin whither? The poor barbarian weeping above his dead, can answer these questions as intelligently as the road priest of the most authentic creed."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sgt. Maj. William C. Wooldridge, once the Army's highest ranked enlisted man, will be allowed to retire without being court-martialed in a widespread scandal over operation of enlisted men's clubs the Pentagon announced Monday. Wooldridge, 49, now stationed at Ft. MacArthur, Calif., will be permitted to retire Tuesday because he has completed 30 years service.

Army officials noted that he and others still face federal grand-jury indictments on charges of conspiring to defraud enlisted men's clubs in the United States, Europe and Southeast Asia.

A native of Shawnee, Okla., Wooldridge rose to become the first sergeant major of the Army in 1960, the general in the enlisted ranks. He had left this top-ranked enlisted man and counselor to the Army Chief of Staff on Pentagon post and moved to Vietnam as chief sergeant major there when Senate committee hearings resulted in charges of kickbacks, embezzlement, and rackets in the operations of clubs in Germany, Vietnam and Ft. Benning, Ga.

In all, eight non-commissioned officers were accused, but the only one convicted by court-martial was M.Sgt. William F. Higgins, who was dishonorably discharged and fined $25,000 on larceny and graft charges.

Wooldridge's Distinguished Service Medal was revoked, but he was never otherwise disciplined. Because regulations specify that a soldier who reaches the age of 30 may retire unless court-martial charges are filed immediately, the Army said Monday that Wooldridge would leave the service Tuesday.

WASHINGTON We are, I fear, doomed to an era of female meddling in the electoral process, but we can be thankful for small blessings. The girls are not all named Gloria Steinem. There are the sensible like Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Missouri's Rep. Leon Sullivan and Oregon's Rep. Edith Green — and now we have Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, who is running for the nomination. Mrs. Lake that... Mrs. Women's Lib-Chisholm doesn't listen to me," says Shirley Chisholm. While Erlecan, who has proclaimed hoping to make her candidacy legitimate by a stroke of lightning, her goal is to become nothing less than the Vice Presidency of the United States.

Mrs. Chisholm at this point that I am the candidate of the seems to be bucking not only the people... Well, she is certainly not the latter, as she herself acknowledges in running system but the black political establishment. Only one other member of the 13 black and Democratic members of the House, Rep. Ronald V. Dellums of California, attended her formal announcement in New York. Reps. Charles E.angel of New York and Parren Mitchell of Maryland. As a body, the black caucus is not enchanted, politically. By Shirley Chisholm's ambitions, like Chicago's Dick Daley, the caucuses abhors independent action.

Even if it does please the Steinem and Freedoms, this is good — not because the black caucus is naught, but because therefore its members have reserved the right of exclusive spokesman for the Negro voter.

Mrs. Chisholm is giving that water a choice.

She has also declared her independence, temporarily at least, of the other Democratic candidates. To suggestions that she eventually back either Sen. George McGovern or Mayor John Lindsay, whose political philosophies are closest to hers, Mrs. Chisholm replies smugly,

"Why shouldn't they step aside for me?" She sounds like one of my big sisters: an interesting politician.

Of course Mrs. Chisholm does talk some twaddle, probably constrained by the peculiarities of the age — "I am not the candidate of black America, although I am black and proud," she says. "I am not the candidate of the women's movement, although I am a woman and equally proud of myself." But Mrs. Chisholm would have a point in arguing that the only way she could get her message across to the people was by taking to the rubber chicken circuit. She might also note that other candidates have done the same. From John F. Kennedy to Richard Nixon.

Ed Muskie et al. Anyway, she remains a female to watch because she insists on her right to be heard, and that's what a Presidential campaign is all about.

rescue missions when needed.

Practical economic benefits are certain: Immediate benefits will be jobs for as many as 50,000 aerospace engineers and technicians. Employment of highly skilled manpower in an ongoing program which has proved its worth in numerous technological advances growing out of the space probes, is of great importance now and for the future.

These are points to remember amid the dust clouds of partisan rhetoric and crocodile tears for more and more money for welfare statism. The space shuttle will mean lowering the cost of an orbiting laboratory, because it will employ reusable vehicles. It will mean jobs, and more important, it will mean retention and use of trained manpower that otherwise might not be used to advantage.

Congress cannot keep its eyes closed to the future.

The space shuttle is designed for peaceful purposes, to ferry men and supplies from earth to space stations for laboratory use, to repair and service satellites which can prove a great economy, and for

The Power Struggle

WASHINGTON This reporter will never forget the day in Yenan, 25 years ago, when one of Mao Tse-tung's intimates drew me aside and, making sure no one else could hear, declared that he was a virtual prisoner.

"They will not let me go back to my army," he said. "They keep me here because they do not trust me."

Speaking this was Chen Yi, whose death is now reported as marshal of Red China's armed forces, former vice-premier and foreign minister and veteran of the Long March, when he had held ground in the south as Mao and the main body of Communists retreated north.

Chen was then one of the 20 magi who ruled Communist China. He was Mao's intimate at Yenan, the personal faith between the two was great and Chen was completely loyal to that trust. He was commanding general of the New Fourth Army, one of the two major forces in the Communist command at that time.

Yet Chen was talking in this vein to me, a foreigner, an American Army officer on leave of absence from the Wall Street Journal, the symbol of capitalism and the antithesis of Communism.

This was one of the periods when Mao was fighting for his very existence as head of the Chinese Communist party. On the surface things were smooth as they seem superficially today. In fact, with unannounced secret deals with President Nixon's advanced parties, as though nothing were happening within the party, while a deep and bitter power struggle raged on the background.

What was happening then in Yenan in the 1940s is what is happening again today in the 1970s. Mao's rivals have been hacking away at these personally loyal to him.

The struggle within China has been all the more complicated because one and another of the anti-Mao group has fought Russian Buckley, the Russians, on their side, have attempted to build up their own clique within the top levels of the Chinese Communist party. They have offered high stakes: modern military arms, nuclear know-how, technical assistance.

Neither can you, Mr. Spectator. Go up to Seattle, Portland, San Francisco or Los Angeles and see for yourself.

Old Specie

The Moscow price, though, variety developed by Mao It was a personal struggle for power.

Or late, the struggle has often turned to who would surround Mao and be his advisers — who would be in the line of succession. That is, as Mao aged, the battle for succession became more important than the battle to oust Mao.

Well, I wouldn't put it that strongly, but there has been a change in attitude.

A tincture of iodine isn't such bad stuff, but under certain circumstances it can have certain drawbacks which have been pointed out.

It's pretty close. It depends in part on how big a bottle of beer you mean. Beer usually runs somewhere between 3 and a half less than 4 per cent. Ale, stout, porter, etc., are somewhat higher.

Let's take a 16-ounce bottle of beer at 3 per cent. Three per cent means 3 proof. Times 16, because of 16 ounces, that means that the same amount of alcohol contained in one ounce of fluid would be 30 proof.

After the Apollo 11 moon mission, the command module pilot, Stu Roosa, who remained in lunar orbit, returned with much more weight loss, and much weaker than his fellow crewmen who got out up there and took two walks.

Roosa in that brief period suffered heart and blood vessel deterioration. Shepard and Mitchell showed no ill effects.

There's something anybody can do to improve his odds for a longer, healthier life and almost nobody does it.

What I'm about to say sounds tedious, stay with me anyway, it's a matter of life and death.

Your heart pumps blood through your arteries, what returns that blood through your veins?

From your legs that blood gets back to your heart as a result of a muscular pumping action, called walking.

More and more state medical societies are requiring their members to take periodic refresher courses to catch up with the knowledge explosion in medicine.

And Dr. Meredith prescribes an easy home remedy for "lazy legs."

Return venous blood flow is essential to keeping the heart resupplied with blood and to keeping the brain resupplied with oxygen.

Teach this. Next time you cannot recall a familiar name, or word, take a quick brisk walk. Within minutes — maybe seconds — your brain will be sufficiently stimulated. Dr. Paul Dudley White reminds the that the "lazy" philosopher's walking while they thought.

This is why such renowned heart specialists as Dr. White, such emphasis on therapeutic bicycling, why the medical consensus favors jogging.

can be caused by iodine when used at home, particularly if it is an old bottle of the stuff that has been sitting on the shelf for a few years, with alcohol gradually evaporating and leaving a stronger and stronger concentration of iodine. That's the principal objection to ordinary home use.

For another point, part of the reason for use of tincture of iodine in the past has been that it stains the skin. You can see where you have applied it, and researched peripheral blood flow seeking a cure for the cause of thrombosis (clotting) resulting from inadequate circulation.

Dr. Paul Meredith has

Dr. Paul Meredith consistently admonishes his colleagues to use the best present knowledge to discontinue the knee-high, feet-low bed patient posture which encourages clotting.

Referendums may face spud growers

BOISE (UPI) — If two pieces of legislation under study in this session are approved, Idaho potato growers will be confronted with two referendums this year.

One proposal being considered by an interim committee would ask growers to approve a jump in the present 2¢ cent per hundredweight assessment for potato advertising to five cents by 1974. Three of the pennies would be paid by growers and two by the processor or first handler.

The other would let growers decide whether to approve a graduated assessment on production to create a fund to buy up any surplus drops when prices paid to growers fall below 50 per cent of parity.

The interim committee looking at the advertising and promotion assessment decided Monday it might be easier to "sell" to growers with a referendum than Sen. John Evans, D-Madras, termed a "massive" assessment increase.

Evans said with a chance of grower approval on the increase he was afraid there would be "serious grower opposition."

During the months following the 1971 session the interim committee met with growers, processors and shipper representatives but apparently reached agreement on only one thing: All parties want some kind of pepped-up advertising program for the Idaho spud.

But the national farmers organization has told some interim committee members it will oppose the increased assessment for advertising unless it is accompanied by a supply-management proposal.

In an unusual move Tuesday, the Senate Republican caucus put some new media representatives into the closed-door session apparently to fight criticism that the fiscal year 1972 budget may be settled behind closed doors.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said if a repeat is approved, the legislature could go to the time and hefty expense of drafting a 130 to 140 page bill to reinstate the old criminal laws which the new criminal code repealed.

BOISE (UPI) — Reps. William Onwiler, R-Boise, and Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, want to "clear the air" at public hearings and meetings. They introduced a bill Monday to make it unlawful to smoke a cigarette, cigar or pipe at such meetings while they were in progress. If approved by the legislature their bill would go into effect July 1.

Highway users protest boost

BOISE (UPI) — Those who must pay highway user taxes generally spoke out Monday against a proposed two cents per gallon increase in motor fuels taxes while those who want to spend it spoke for the hike.

About the only thing most of the witnesses on both sides seemed to agree about was that the municipalities should not share in any increase in gasoline taxes voted by this session of the legislature.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus called for the two-cent increase, to raise the state total tax to nine cents per gallon, to make up for one penny's worth of revenue given the cities last year and to accelerate road building.

His proposal would raise gross revenue of $8,884,000 and net income of $6,816,000 to the State Highway Department. A one-cent increase, which drew more favorable response from witnesses, would produce a gross of $1,442,000 and a net to the state of $3,110,000 according to Highway Department figures.

T.P. Hawkins, Postmaster, a spokesman for Garrett Freight Lines, spoke against both the two-cent and one-cent increase proposals. He countered with an alternative proposal that the one-cent's worth of revenue given to the cities be restored to the highway users fund and that motor fuel taxes be boosted one-half cent per gallon.

Willis Moffat, Boise attorney and former speaker of the house, said on behalf of a number of oil companies that a one-cent increase "is all that can senate majority leader, said the caucuses sessions are designed so members of the joint finance appropriations committee can inform other legislators what the needs are.

Republicans still plan, at least in the upper chamber, to give Caucus direction to the work of the committee. Democrats in the senate, however, indicate they will stand by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' $149.2 million general fund budget proposal. They feel the joint committee should come up with its figure first and then go to caucus with it.

Kidwell said the "majority" of the 19 Republican senators want to fund the 1973 budget with existing revenue — estimated at $130 million by Andrus, $131 million by the house revenue and taxation committee and at about $135 million by Kidwell himself based on a brighter economic outlook for the state.

Another source of controversy this session is the month-old revised criminal code. Both parties in the house have expressed strong sentiment toward repealing the revised code, although Senate Republicans indicated they would prefer to amend the statutes rather than completely repeal them.

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Bolton Caucus Chairman, said the House GOP members voted 22-15 to withhold a bill repealing the code until they see whether opponents of the measure will accept amendments.

But Rep. Melvin Hammond, D-Rexburg, assistant minority leader, said the Democrats split about evenly on the issue and are therefore exploring with Republicans the possibility of enacting a repealer to see if it will pass.

Hammond said if a repeal is approved, the legislature could go to the time and hefty expense of drafting a 130 to 140 page bill to reinstate the old criminal laws which the new criminal code repealed.

BOISE (UPI) — House before the body for final leaders apparently have consideration decided to let Rep. John Reardon, R-Boise, have his way Monday to a motion to dispense and are planning for full reading of all bills which come in.

Reardon objected again Monday to a motion to dispense with full reading of a measure, reading of all bills which come in.

Later, House Speaker, William J. Lanting, R-Holtzman, said apparently Reardon is so adamant about his position that he will not change.

"We're just going to have to read them all in full and that's the way I'm planning," Lanting said.

Earlier, Lanting and other legislative leaders said Reardon's insistence in complying with the provision could lengthen this session of the legislature by at least 10 days when the lawmakers get into long calendars with bills.

This based on the estimated cost of a legislative day at $10,000, could cost taxpayers an extra $100,000 for this session of the 41st Idaho Legislature.

Boise vice squad falls to fund cut

BOISE (UPI) — After a year and a half of service to Ada County residents, the end has come for the city-county narcotics-vice division.

Boise Police Chief John Church and Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright announced late last evening that as of today, the division will be disbanded because one cent of revenue goes to the State Highway Department and one penny to rural highway districts.

Claud E. Abel, a representative of the Idaho Motor Transport Association, said his group is willing to go along with a one-cent increase "but only if the Highway Department retains all of the revenue from this increase."

State Rep. Marion Davidson, D-Bonners Ferry, urged adoption of the governor's recommendation for the two-cent gasoline tax increase. He said the reason to him and others who have to drive to the Canadian border is obvious.

Davidson also pleaded with the committee to give the Parks Department a share of highway user revenue by awarding it unclaimed off-highway gasoline revenues from automobiles, dune buggies, dirt bikes and other motor vehicles used for recreation off the roads.

Major Merrill Rose said the community has supported the construction of the dam while controversy has raged throughout the country.

It also has been an unspoken understanding that when the dam comes, the economy of this summer. However, he said and other surrounding communities must be given to munities would be bolstered and the mayor's request.

Senate committee asks sewage system assistance

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Resources and Environment Committee asked a house committee Monday to come up with some alternate ways to help finance state grants for sewage disposal systems.

The committee made the request of the house revenue and taxation committee after Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, noted the "revenue is moving faster than we anticipated."

High said Gov. Cecil D. Andrus in his budget message recommended a general fund appropriation of $900,000 to be added to the nearly $1 million in inheritance tax revenue to be used to fund the state's 25 per cent share of sewage facilities financing.

He said, however, the $900,000 could be critical in balancing the general fund budget.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lewiston, noted the Association of Idaho Cities has recommended getting the money from another two cents per pack cigarette tax.

Lease bill drops endowment lands

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate moved into the adjournment order Monday to exempt endowment lands from a bill which would allow state lands to be leased for a period of up to 25 years.

The original bill proposed by Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, is designed to fit law to have it apply to state requirements of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, which Manley said was reluctant to fund projects for periods of less than 25 years.

It was pointed out, however, the Idaho admissions act limits leases on endowment lands to 25 years to the upper chamber voted to change the proposed

North sea oil

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Reports indicate the oil industry plans to spend up to $3.5 billion in the next six or seven years on exploration and production in the North Sea.

Eighteen rigs are currently working in Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom. The work level will pick up before the end of 1973, sources said. A total of 15 new rigs are expected to be on location by then, bringing the total of 884 million.

British pullout creates 'vacuum'

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The British, once an ideal watching and listening post for diplomats interested in American and Soviet naval competition in the Indian Ocean, which the United States and the Soviet Union both are interested in filling.

Naval competition in the Indian Ocean was dramatized during the Indo-Pakistani War in December when first a task force from the U.S. 7th Fleet steamed through the Straits of Malacca to be followed three days later by a Russian task force.

Singapore, overlooking the eastern entrance of the Indian Ocean, has become an ideal the Strait one time as both did in December, Western officials here say.

The United States called the Enterprise task force off of the Indian Ocean after 27 days, but the Pentagon announced that new procedures broadening the U.S. Naval role in the Indian Ocean were going into effect.

As of Jan. 1, responsibility for patrolling most of the Indian Ocean shifted from the Navy's Asiatic command to the Pacific-based 7th Fleet, part of the command of Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander-in-chief of U.S. Forces in the Pacific.

McCain takes a sharp interest in the strategic importance of the Indian Ocean. He has voiced concern over Russian inroads in the region, telling newsmen in December at his Honolulu headquarters it looked as if the Soviets will gain bases in India and that they would "love to gain a foothold in Singapore" but couldn't yet.

McCain's concern appears to be shared in Washington where a Pentagon spokesman announced in early January that the three U.S. naval vessels operating in the Indian Ocean out of Persian Gulf bases will be re-equipped or replaced and that more vessels from the 7th Fleet can be expected to visit the Indian Ocean as disengagement from the Vietnam War continues.

Until these visits pick up in frequency, the Russians appear likely to maintain a numerical superiority in naval strength in the Indian Ocean.

A count by Western authorities based here placed the number of Soviet naval vessels in the Indian Ocean at 28 in mid-January. They included four missile-carrying destroyers or cruisers, five submarines and assorted minesweepers, oilers and tenders.

But the United States has points of strength as well, especially its superior bases and ports of call and cooperation from the Australian, New Zealand British navies.

Never forget old 'what's her name'?

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — What ever happened to what's her name? It's become a party-guessing game in Hollywood, trying to recall the names and destiny of a number of feminine stars who made it big in a few movies and then sank without a trace.

Usually the missing actress was pretty, intelligent and over-publicized. But no one asks the question of Anne Francis who has been working steadily in movies and television for 20 years.

She is still beautiful, blonde and, more to the point, a splendid actress. She even survived a disastrous television series, "Honey West."

Currently, Anne is starred with Ben Gazzara and Ricardo Montalban and a battalion of soldiers in "Fireball Forward," a television movie in which she is the only female.

Most actresses would be on Cloud Nine surrounded by men only in a top production. But Anne said, "I wasn't aware of the fact that I was the only woman in the cast. When you're involved in what you're playing the circumstances don't even occur to you."

Anne plays a newspaper columnist at an Army Div. headquarters.

"I love working with heavyweight actors who really dig into their work. Ben Gazzara is like that, so is Ricardo. And recently I did a 'Colombo' episode with Peter Falk.

"There's no question that I'd do a better job when I am working with real professionals."

"You discipline yourself to do your best work all the time, but it helps immeasurably when the actors you're working with are making everything they've got to make it all real."

Anne is a survivor among the fragile sorority of actresses. The principal reason for her professional longevity is a solid background.

From the time she was a child-fashion model—aged 5, Anne has worked at perfecting her craft.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks were mostly lower in moderately active trading around mid-session Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

TV special

FEATURED IN Hallmark Hall of Fame musical valentine, "Love! Love! Love!" are Valerie Griffith, Ketchum, and Scott Miller, Sun Valley.

MV couple slated for TV special

KETCHUM — Valerie Griffith, Ketchum, and Scott Miller, Sun Valley, are featured in a Hallmark Hall of Fame musical valentine, "Love!

Scott and Val are both in their late twenties. He is a professional skier and ski photographers. Since their sequence in the special was shot in the spring, he wasn't able to demonstrate his ability on the slopes. Instead, Val, who is an accomplished equestrienne, got a chance to show her prowess and give him riding lessons.

The banner production crew originally planned to film a winter sequence in Connecticut, but the unit was stranded in Aspen, Colo., by a snowstorm.

The couples all agree that the filming was a lot of fun and a tremendous experience for them. They got a first hand look at the glamorous world of show business, met some nationally famous stars and made a lot of new friends.

The filmed show is set in the Hollywood musical musical, the Troubadour, during a concert by Bread, Helen Reddy and Mac Davis. Star Robert Wagner is the host. While the musical talent sings the new soft sounds of the 70's, Wagner takes viewers on a flashback.

A Loverlier You

EXERCISE AND LIKE IT

— By Mary Sue Miller

(Second in a series of five columns on How To Slim And Trim.)

By dieting wisely and faithfully you are able to lose whatever amount of weight you desire. But diet alone gives no promise of where you will lose. Your weight may be normal, yet your waist might wear an abnormal badge.

To make sure of your contours, you must combine exercise and diet. Mild spot-trimming routines turn the trick. This one sculpts the waistline. Lie back down on floor with arms extended behind head. Legs together, bend knees until they hover above diaphragm. Then slowly straighten legs, holding them about 2" above floor. Repeat twice without letting legs touch floor. Relax and perform entire routine 5 to 10 times, resting between sets. (Hip and Leg Routine—follow through series. Watch for them.)

The better to enjoy exercise, take these tips: Work on a mat or carpeted floor, near an open window. Work to music, it's good company. Start off easy, increase repeats, speed and precision at own speed. Never miss a day, as it breaks muscular discipline.

Your Second Daily Menu: Breakfast: Half orange, 1 toaster waffle-section, 1 tsp. honey, hot beverage, no sugar. Luncheon: Two poached eggs, 1 slice toast, green salad, tossed with dieter's dressing; sugarless beverage or sherbet. Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, half cup baby beans, 8 tortilla tomatoes; raw or steamed; small dipper, raspberry ice cream. Between meals: One pint skim milk per day.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college student [male type] who recently started going with a very dishy French exchange student. We combine business with pleasure as she also tutors me in French. This is no gag—I pay her!

The problem is that she lives on campus and I commute. When we are together it is always at my place because she lives with two other girls. I call for her and drive her home, but it is such a great distance that we usually pull up in front of her place in broad daylight! She doesn't like this because she says the neighbors talk, and it looks bad. I told her she could eliminate that problem by staying at my place all night, but she won't buy it.

How can I convince her that in this country it doesn't mean anything if a guy brings a girl home by the dawn's early light?

COLLEGE MAN

DEAR MAN: I can't convince her because I agree with her. Start earlier and you won't be bringing her home in the last hours of the morning.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a co-worker whose idea of a very special Christmas gift is a large picture of HIMSELF with a flowery inscription? JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: He must be long on pictures and short on taste.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old bride-to-be. The groom is still married to his first wife. Our wedding is set for Feb. 12th, the invitations have already gone out, but he's still not divorced.

Every time I mention it to him he tells me that these things take time. When we became engaged two years ago, he told me he was getting a divorce, but for some reason it hasn't come thru yet. I sometimes wonder if he isn't still in love with his first wife, and is just using me.

What am I going to do about all the wedding plans if he is still married by our wedding date?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Cancel the wedding, of course. But if we're you, I wouldn't wait that long.

DEAR ABBY: THIS IS FOR the husband of "PRACTICAL LY UNTOUCHED IN TULSA." We don't believe that if he doesn't see a doctor, his wife should see a lawyer. He should seek a divorce attorney and spend a year in Viet Nam. Then he would appreciate one of the finer things in life—having his wife with him.

TF, Burley ISU campus

VISIT SLATED

BURLEY — The Campus Visitation Program is being offered Feb. 4 and 5 at Idaho State University for high school students attending Burley, Minico and Twin Falls High Schools.

Applications are available at the high schools at the principal's office.

Also planned is a "Free Dance Program," sponsored by ISU in the local high schools. Set to start in late February or early March, this program is designed to promote good relations at Idaho High Schools, especially in rural areas.

The student senate has hired a top local rock band to go out and play at dances in the high schools. Engagements are arranged to accommodate about three high schools per dance with entire student bodies invited to attend the free event.

The high school relations committee is one of five committees in the Department of Public Relations. The committee is divided into three subcommittees, each one charged with administration of a special program. The committee has from 10-15 active members and works closely with other public relations department committees as well as with Jerry Deltinger, administration director of ISU High School Relations.

The Campus Visitation Program is designed to provide interested Idaho High School seniors with an opportunity to visit ISU and spend a weekend living as would the average college student.

Applications are distributed to about four different high schools each weekend the program is run. This way visiting students can be limited because of the shortage of housing plus insure the program is small enough to retain the personnel type relationship between visitors and high school relations staff.

The average number of visitors is about 20 per weekend.

Activities for visiting students are varied and many academically, for the information of the student, classes are open throughout the campus and the high school students are encouraged to attend them, talk to professors and students within the classes.

Socially the visiting students attend athletic events, concerts, movies, dances and other activities, all as guests of the university.

Guests are housed in the dorms to help create the "college life atmosphere." The only cost incurred to the student ful-bidding or careful play. "Lucky" expert would open the fourth hand with one spade and rebid 10 spades just as South did. So would unlucky experts and most other bridge players.

North's two diamond response and two no-trump bid are very normal calls. This time the question to South is . . .

What should he rebid over his partner's two no-trump? Three spades would be a sign-off and bad underbid. Four spades went down one. What is wrong with three no-trump?

The answer is that nothing is wrong with it. South expects to take seven tricks in his own hand. If North can bid one two tricks that brings the total to nine. A lucky South bids three no-trump and his partner plays at the eight contract.

HANSEN — The third in a series of 10 benefit card parties co-sponsored by the Royal Neighbor and Modern Woodmen of America Lodges was held Saturday evening at the Woodmen hall. Eleven tables in four spades is a very reasonable contract. All South is to do is bring it home. It is a royal flush to two club losers. When we saw the hand played the queen of clubs was opened and the defense had three club tricks home before South could do anything but follow suit.

After that star-West shifted to trump and eventually East collected a diamond trick.

It was bad luck, of course, to win the bidding auction, change in a lot of bad luck to good luck by means of carelessness.

Twin Falls County SCS expends $3.59 million

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service reports program expenditures of $3.59 million in 1971.

The ASCS, under the direction of farmer elected county and community committees, represents the farm service agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It was set up to administer specified commodity and related land use programs designed for voluntary production adjustment, resource protection and price, market and farm-income stabilization.

The county committees also function for various functions of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the governmental agency charged with financing agricultural price support activities.

The Rural Environmental Assistance Program of the ASCS provides cost sharing with farmers to carry out needed conservation and environmental measures, according to Kent Kirk, county director. Emphasis is placed on practices which significantly contribute to the prevention or reduction of farm based pollution problems and practices having enduring soil and water conservation benefits.

According to Glendora Wuker, program assistant, major contributions toward pollution abatement were made this year from installation of practice to control animal wastes and practices to prevent or reduce sediment from runoff.

The total cost shares earned by farmers on 170 farms through different practices was $60,400. After small cost share increases and money paid to the SCS for technical services the grand REAP total came to $63,699.16.

The ASCS cropland adjustment program resulted in a 1971 total payment of $1,979.64 to two farms. This is a voluntary program where the government and the farm operator enter into a long term contract from 1966-75. In the agreement the operator agreed to withdraw cropland from production and institute conservation measures, she said.

The ASCS sugar program is designed to maintain a healthy domestic sugar industry, assure the United States consumer of a plentiful supply of sugar at reasonable prices and promote international trade by permitting friendly foreign countries to participate in supplying sugar for the U.S. sugar market.

According to Maxine Seale, program assistant, ASCS conditional payments are made to domestic producers of sugar beets who comply with requirements including compliance with proportionate shares when they are in effect. Other requirements are nonemployment of child labor and payment of fair and reasonable wages to sugar beet

BY RICHARD CHARNOK,
BOISE (UPI) — Spokesmen for farm employers urged re-enactment of Idaho's present farm labor act Monday at a legislative hearing apparently boycotted by farm workers.

While the hearing ostensibly was called to take testimony from farm workers rather than employers, not one farm worker testified at the affair.

Don Hernandez, a Mountain Home farmer, appeared with five Mexican-American employees and told the committee they do not object to the controversial provision which requires a six-day waiting period for picketing.

He said they would be willing to testify but the Agriculture Affairs Committee did not call them. Later, in the one-hour hearing, Hernandez came forward and spoke up, he said, on behalf of his employees who, he said, were not very articulate.

Sen. Bill Crookham, R-Caldwell, a seedsman in private life, urged the committee to make some changes in the present law—which expires March 1 unless it is extended by this legislature.

He recalled Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' criticism of the measure when it was enacted last year and how the governor let the bill become law without his signature on grounds it would be studied between sessions.

"Count your ducks for a veto override if you plan to run the bill again without some major or other," Crookham said.

Under the 1971 Feed Grain Program, set-aside payments were available to farms with corn and grain-sorghum bases. The objective is to reduce excess production and still maintain and improve the income of program cooperators.

Set-aside of eligible cropland to conservation use was required for participation according to Bernice Hill, program assistant.

There were 162 farms participating in 1971 and received a total of $28,098 in set-aside payments.

The ASCS also offers price support loans to producers of wheat, corn, barley, oats and beans, enabling producers to obtain cash for their crop and hold for more advantageous market. The loan program tends to even out marketings and prevent market gluts, and low prices.

A total of 240 loans were dispersed in all areas for a total of $929,755.

The Storage Facility Loan Program enables the producer to finance 85 per cent of the cost of the storage structure over a five year period. Twenty nine loans were dispersed in 1971 for a total of $30,712.

To determine the eligibility of a farmer for price support certificate and acreage diversion payments, conservation cost sharing, and other benefits under the ASCS programs goes through a process of compliance. In such adjustments the farmer receives certain benefits from the government and must agree to do or refrain from doing certain things which determine to meet the requirements of the programs he is applying for.

Compliance is determined by a method called producer certification, under which the farmer is responsible for accurately reporting the program by denuding the powers of the board one necessarily takes away an economical informal grievance procedure for the small farmer."

He said the small farmer lost in the legal mumble jumble of any legislative act will be forced to hire counsel.

"And (he) could run up a nice little legal fee before he could fully comprehend what the hell is going on," Crookham said.

Tom Hovenden, executive secretary—manager of the Idaho Cattle Feeders Association, endorsed the present law and urged the committee to retain it.

"I feel it's imperative we pass this legislation in Idaho and continue to work for it on the national level," Hovenden said.

He added that "We recognized the right of agricultural employees to organize" and said, "this is quite a concession."

Lewis Lepper, a staff worker for the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation, also urged retention of the present law. He pointed out the attorney general has branded parts of it unconstitutional.

He said the small farmer and the state of the nation and said the place to test constitutionality is in the courts—not the legislature.

Through the course of the year all of agriculture has been behind this piece of legislation," Lepper said, dismissing the possibility of a veto.

"Don't shay-away and be nervous about putting this bill in front of the governor," he said.

Phil Egan, Whitby, Hopgood, former legislator and president of the food processors of Idaho, said a majority of his group—composed of a number of major farm organizations—wants the bill extended as is.

He said he personally would go along with some changes to clarify the language in secondary boycotts and to remove the six-day picketing provision if quick relief could be provided through the courts.

The purpose is to present the best technical and grower information available so that growers may improve in yields and quality and feeders may also determine how corn may best fit into their feeding plan.

Don Roemer, with Northrup King Co., will open the meeting at 9:30 a.m. with a slide presentation on "Measuring Corn Maturity by Heat Units."

At 10 a.m. Robert E. Higgins, agronomist, University of Idaho, will discuss "Development of the Corn Plant." Edward Koester, Gooding County agent, will speak on "General Problems in Growing Corn in This Area."

Bob Christianson, agronomist and manager of Iowa Research Farm, will report on "Production Practices in the Mid-West."

A no-host luncheon will be served at noon.

In the afternoon a panel will discuss "How to Produce Maximum Corn Yields." Panel moderator will be Bill Priest, Jerome County agent. Panel members will include Dale Richardson, Colorado Chamber of Commerce and Cattle Feeder, Ford Almanac Farmer and Richardson from Colorado

Grange Hall.

Heredity blamed for mental fault

MOSCOW (UPI) — A leading Soviet psychiatrist holds that one of the most dreaded mental illnesses, schizophrenia, is a hereditary disease that can be diagnosed in children as early as one year of age.

He also said that schizophrenia, commonly called "split personality," is more likely to exist among exceptionally gifted persons and among city dwellers. He said the proportion with the highest rate of the disease are mathematicians, physicists and psychiatrists itself.

Professor Marin Vartanyan, research associate of the Soviet Institute of Psychiatry, discussed the mental disorder in an interview published by the English-language newspaper, Moscow News.

He said his view on schizophrenia is an extreme one but that many of his Soviet colleagues share it.

"We are convinced that hereditary factors are the main decisive importance in the incidence of this disease," he said.

He added that the children of schizophrenics are 11 times more likely to suffer from the disease or should undergo treatments to prevent schizophrenia than other persons.

Vartanyan said there were no laboratory methods to detect the ailment, but that psychiatrists were able to diagnose the disease through clinical methods at a remarkably early age.

I may say that the doctors of our psychiatric clinic for children can diagnose schizophrenia already at the age of the year, when the baby is just beginning to speak and develops some elements of behavior," he said.

Despite his theory on the hereditary nature of schizophrenia, Vartanyan said he stopped short of suggesting that schizophrenics should avoid having more children or should undergo treatments to prevent schizophrenia.

This fact is that in much of the literature ... it has been shown that some relatives of schizophrenic patients have an intellect above normal, quite often they are gifted."

Health aides assigned to areas of shortage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced Monday its first assignments of federal doctors and health workers to provide direct patient care in 18 rural and big city areas suffering from a shortage of medical personnel.

The National Health Service Corps, created two years ago, and a total of 88 medical workers, including doctors, dentists and nurses, will be assigned to communities in 13 states, working with such patient groups as welfare families, migrant workers, Indians and other minority groups.

The first team, a husband-wife, doctor-nurse duo, was assigned to a 14-bed hospital in rural Jackman, Maine, in September, the corps said. The second team went to work in Immokalee, Fla., in November. And a spokesman said March 1 is the target date for assigning the other 16 teams.

The corps was created Dec. 31, 1970, when President Nixon signed the Emergency Health Personnel Act, which calls for government health workers to provide direct health services to residents of city slums and remote rural areas designated as having critical health manpower shortages.

An alleged tag in starting the project has triggered charges by some congressional Democrats, like Rep. Paul G. Rogers of Florida, that the administration was stalled. Administration spokesmen, however, have complained of difficulties in recruiting personnel to take the assignments.

Dr. David A. Kindig, the corps recruiting chief, conceded that the major incentive for doctors to join has been the military draft.

The 68 persons recruited so far, include 28 doctors, 10 dentists, 18 nurses and 12 other professionals, including pharmacists, dental hygienists, health educators and laboratory technicians.

Teams generally will stay in a community for two years. Their members will earn standard government pay, which for a young doctor is $13,000 to $14,000 a year.

'Bad luck' gem bribe in France

NEW YORK (UPI) — French Revolutionaries used the "bad luck" Hope Diamond to bribe the commander of a foreign army to leave France after it had advanced on Paris to save imprisoned Louis XVI. Austrian forces, the foreign and Marie Antoinette, a new history of their reign claimed Sunday.

The Diamond, once the possession of the late Mrs. George Washington, is now owned and displayed by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Historian Stanley Loomis, in a book due to be published next Friday, adds another chapter to the saga of the deep blue gem where owners often experienced bad luck.

Loomis said the German "Varmes" that after a few rounds of bombardment at Valmy, East of Paris in 1793, the Duke of Brunswick "without a word of explanation ordered a retreat" of his joint Prussian-Austrian forces. The foreign and Marie Antoinette had met with almost no resistance up to that time.

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — A young Moscow housewife is on a fast in the third day of a fast that she hopes will last until her husband's return from the West Coast.

Mrs. Huy, 24, mother of two, said she had made a vow not to touch food until the dark strike has ended.

Mrs. Huy said she had drunk only two glasses of orange juice and some water since beginning her fast at 3 a.m. Friday and said so far she feels fine.

"I can go without food for two to three weeks," she said, adding so far she is not under a doctor's care.

Mrs. Huy, whose husband, Charles, is a third year law student at the University of Idaho here, said she had become concerned about the clock strike after hearing about its economic impact from customers at the Chinese Village Restaurant where she works as a waitress.

"Arizona delegates Muskie committed"

PHOENIX (UPI) — Presidential candidate Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, will go into Arizona's Democratic convention April 12, with the largest slate of the 500 delegates committed to him.

The convention will select 25 delegates and 25 alternates to the National Democratic Convention in July. Arizona had no primary election.

Muskie captured 119 delegates in the district elections Saturday. Mayor John Lunstad of St. Paul, Minn., won 118 delegates, and Rep. George McGovern of South Dakota had 100. Uncommitted delegates totaled 85.

Sens. Henry Jackson of

Washington and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota each got two delegates, and Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York had one each.

This shows that the uncommitted strategy was not successful, said State Party Chairman Herb Ely Jr. He said that by being first in the nation, the people would be uncommitted because they wouldn't be ready to make a choice if thought they would be.

That was a major liability for delegate in the election. A new process for Arizona, it explained a convention system under which delegates were not elected.
