FBI escorts Soviet spy suspect

Soviet UN aide arrested as spy

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Russian national employed at the United Nations was arrested and detained Monday night by the FBI for allegedly soliciting and obtaining classified information about a new U.S. Navy plane.

The Soviet citizen, Valeriy I. Markelov, was picked up near a restaurant in Patchogue, N.Y., on Long Island, and taken to the federal House of Detention in Manhattan for the night pending arraignment today.

Hospital officials say he remains under observation for severe chest pains.

engineer for Grumman, developers and builders of the new F-14A jet fighter, had cooperated fully with the Federal agency.

If the FBI had waited a day, it could have nabbed that Soviet spy in the Year of the Rat.

Olympian greeted

BY TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — A police escort into town. Polka dancing to German band music on Main Street. A sign spelling out "Congratulations."

That was the greeting Susan Corroch, 20, Olympic bronze medal winner got as she paid a surprise homecoming visit to Ketchum about midnight Monday.

Her reaction to the welcome was "It's even better than winning the medal, I tell you."

A crowd of about 40 residents gathered at Slavey's Bar to welcome her.

Expecting her appearance at 11 p.m. members of a German band moved into the streets and the residents, with about eight welcoming signs, crowded the sidewalk.

All then returned indoors, leaving a few scouts posted. About midnight everyone charged outside again as a Ketchum police car, lights flashing, pulled up to the curb, followed by a station wagon filled with skis, baggage and a bronze medal winner.

Miss Corroch joined the crowd and proudly held up her medal. She said afterwards she is going to spend her week off "just having a good time."

About the race she said, "I was really scared. I decided I was really an underdog and really had to go."

Laird asks bigger A-force

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said today the United States must embark promptly upon a major expansion of its nuclear forces to counter a Soviet buildup that has shown "even greater momentum" in the past year.

Laird also warned the Soviet Union may be about to spring a spook-type surprise on the United States as "part of a major new Soviet military capability." To counter this possibility, he said, the U.S. weapons research program should be accelerated and there should be major boosts in America's nuclear and naval arsenals. Laird did not spell out in the declassified version of his annual defense report just what the Soviet Union's surprise might be. But from the information he did provide, it appeared the Russians are developing the capability to shoot down or neutralize U.S. satellites in space.

The defense secretary said the Soviet Union had stepped up production of its missile firing submarines and will surpass the size of the U.S. undersea missile fleet by the end of 1973. "Since 1969, the Russians have held a numerical advantage in land-based missiles, and Laird reported they will have 1,550 of these by this summer, up 60 from last summer, compared with a constant 1,054 in the U.S. inventory since 1968.

"It would be diplomatically and politically unacceptable for the U.S. to allow the Soviets to achieve a large numerical superiority in both land-based and sea-based strategic missiles," Laird said. "Moreover, there would be an increased military risk."

He called in next year's defense budget for maximum acceleration of the undersea long-range missile system (ULMS)—a new sub carrying more, longer-range missiles than the present 41 Polaris and Poseidon subs armed with 16 each.

Laird said there was evidence Russia was trying to develop an area submarine detection system and was whittling down the U.S. lead in quiet submarine and undersea acoustic sensors. Breakthroughs in these areas could impair the survivability of the Polaris and Poseidon fleet, now considered the only part of the U.S. missile force virtually invulnerable to attack, Laird said.

Technology, however, was the only area where Laird recommended the United States strive for superiority over the Soviet Union. In other fields, from nuclear weapons to conventional forces and military assistance, he repeatedly stressed a goal of equality and balance.

Laird backed away slightly from his prediction of last year that the People's Republic of China could have an intercontinental missile by 1973 or 1974. Now, he said, it seems more likely China will have such a missile—capable of striking the United States and most of Russia—in 1975, with a force of 10 to 20 the following year.

He said during 1971 the Chinese apparently concentrated on medium range missiles, capable of hitting Russia.

Chinese trading bars fall

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon removed some of the restrictions on U.S. exports to China Monday, giving Peking the same status as the Soviet Union among America's trading partners.

The step will permit American businessmen to sell locomotives, construction equipment, industrial chemicals, internal combustion engines, rolling mills, and some other goods to China without obtaining specific government permission.

Nixon acted three days before his departure on his trip to Peking where he will meet with Chinese leaders.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler who announced the trade step said the United States "would hope" that they (the Chinese leaders) would welcome this additional step forward in opening up additional channels to trade.

Jerome votes

JEROME — Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. today as residents of the Jerome School District vote on a $1.9 million bond issue.

If approved, the bond issue will provide funds for construction of a new high school. Polling places are at the Jerome High School, for county residents; at the Appleton Teachers' Center, for Lincoln County residents.

Persons needing transportation to the polls should call 324-2841 for assistance, Supt. John Campbell said.

A two-thirds favorable vote is needed for passage of the proposal. Eligible to vote are electors at least 18 years of age, who have resided in Idaho at least six months and in the district for 30 days or more. They must be willing to sign an elector's oath.

JEROME's School Board Chairman Dale Vining votes with his wife during the $1.9 million bond election for a new Jerome High School building. Polls will remain open until 8 p.m.

Mitchell resigns to run campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell resigned today to become President Nixon's reelection campaign manager—the same job he held in Nixon's victorious 1968 race.

The White House announced that Nixon had accepted the resignation with "utmost regret" effective March 1 and had nominated Richard G. Kleindienst, now deputy attorney general, to succeed Mitchell.

The President also announced the nomination of Louis Patrick Gray III, now an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's civil division, to succeed Kleindienst as deputy attorney general—the No. 2 post in the department.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, said Nixon met with Mitchell Monday afternoon and Mitchell gave him a personal, handwritten letter of resignation.

Ziegler did not say specifically that Mitchell would again be Nixon's campaign manager but it had been known for months that the attorney general—a longtime friend and former law partner of Nixon's—would handle the same job for four years ago.

Rights bill debate set

BOISE (UPI)—A Senate committee sent out without recommendation today an "omnibus" bill lowering the age of majority from 21 to 18, then followed with a proposed constitutional amendment to let voters decide the same question.

The Senate state Affairs committee will try to arrange to have both measures debated at a "time certain" at 11 a.m. Thursday.

The statutory change, already passed by the House, will extend to the 18, 19 and 20-year-olds all adult rights and responsibilities, including drinking, unless another age is specified for a specific reason such as higher requirements for certain state or federal offices.

The proposed constitutional amendment would simply ask voters whether they wanted to extend adult rights and responsibilities to the teenagers except where other ages are outlined. "I don't think we can run away from this problem," said Sen. Art Murphy, D-Mullan.

Crash kills TF woman

HAMMETT — A 19-year-old high school senior was killed and her husband injured Monday in a one-car accident near here.

Dead is Carol Ann Garrison, wife of William G. Garrison, 21, Twin Falls. Both were attending college in Nampa and were returning there from a three-day honeymoon at Sun Valley. The accident occurred early Monday.

Garrison was driving the 1971 sedan when it skidded on black ice 11 miles east of Hammett and rolled over. The driver was dead at the scene. Garrison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Garrison, Twin Falls, is listed in good condition in the Elmore County Hospital today.

Mrs. Garrison was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Kuhn, Nampa. She and Garrison were married Saturday in Nampa.

Jerome recall sought

JEROME — The legal maneuvers surrounding former Jerome police chief C. H. Puntny grew more complex Tuesday, when some of his backers went to court to force the City Council to hold a recall election.

S. A. Kolman, attorney for Victor Haines, Dewey Cavin, Bill Kennedy, Robert Myers and Raymond Alwood, filed a request for a writ of mandamus in Fifth District Court in Jerome to force the council to hold a recall vote on Councilman Edwin Tinker and Walter Bentzinger.

A writ of mandamus is a court order directing a public official to fulfill his duty under law. The five men claim in their petition the council is bound by law to hold the recall election when presented with petitions carrying a sufficient number of signatures.

The Jerome City Council refused last week by a 3-2 vote to hold the recall after having received the petition, because of what they said were violations of due process in filing the caucuses.

Insult keeps new Gem code alive

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI)—An insult moved a controversial bill from the floor back into committee this week.

By a vote of 38-32, the House decided to put back into the Judiciary Committee a measure to repeal Idaho's new criminal code.

Veteran legislators didn't give the motion much of a chance of passage until Rep. Karl Koch, D-Hammett, Rep. Ed Hedges, R-Boise, who voted for the repealer last Friday before the House reconsidered its action and held the bill for another debate again Monday, moved to put the bill back into committee.

He said the strong vote by which the House first passed and then reconsidered the approval of the repealer indicated a majority of members wanted the code either amended or repealed but would look at amendments.

During debate on the motion, Koch recalled that Loveless had alleged that "special interests" were behind a move to retain the new criminal code on the books. He asked Loveless to name them and Loveless said they amounted to "left-wing, Fabian, Socialist types" who favor erosion of the constitution and liberalization of morality.

When Koch asked Loveless to be more specific and name the persons he meant, Loveless said, "I think you're one of them!"

His remark shocked the House and caught Speaker William J. Venting, R-Hollister, as he later told a reporter, completely by surprise. It's the first time in at least a decade that any member has so insulted another on the floor—a violation, incidentally, of the rules.

Lanting said at the time that it was difficult to rule on the matter, and, after rapping his gavel, asked that this line of questioning be stopped.

Koch, hurt as well as shocked by Loveless' remarks, said this was the "first time" he could recall anybody had ever tagged him a left-wing socialist. "I am two degrees from the group I have been classified with," said Koch, who also is the Democratic caucus chairman in the House. Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, who represents the same district as Loveless, later apologized on the floor to Koch "on behalf of the people I know in District 34."

Afterward several legislators indicated they voted to put the bill back into committee strictly because of what Loveless said to Koch. They said they earlier had planned to vote against the move.

"Loveless better not speak in favor of any bill for a while," one of them said later.

'Stand your ground, men... relief's on the way'

Meany says labor plans staying on Pay Board

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Monday labor has no plans to walk off the Pay Board, but that President Nixon's economic control mechanism may collapse on its own because of public resentment at continually rising prices while wages are rigidly held in check.

"If we all resigned from the Pay Board, we would be lashed with the blame for the collapse of something that may collapse anyway," said Meany, who is a member of the board. He said he feared such a collapse might be followed by even more stringent economic controls by the President.

While continuing his bitter criticism of Nixon's economic and other domestic policies, the 77-year-old labor leader gave Nixon a "plus" mark for his record on the Vietnam War. But he said the President's trip to China this week was aimed at winning voter support for Nixon's re-election, "with no hope of changing Chinese attitudes."

It was his first general news conference since being hospitalized by severe chest pains last Thanksgiving and followed the opening session of the mid-winter meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. He said later he was "feeling fine" and he showed no signs of his illness and two months off the job recuperating.

French scientist goes to cave for experiment

DEL RIO, Tex. (UPI) — A young French scientist thinks man can function better on a 24-hour cycle instead of the traditional 24-hour day. To prove it, he has sequestered himself 150 feet deep in a cave where he will have no human contact for the next six months.

Dr. Michel Siffre, 32, entered Midnight Cave 40 miles northeast of the Mexican border town of Del Rio at 1 p.m. Monday to test his theory that man could work better and would adjust better physically if he stayed awake 36 hours and slept 12.

For the next half year, he will live alone in his well-stocked cave removed from the rising and setting of the sun, watches, calendars and other aspects of the 24-hour world. He will keep a diary and write a paper on his experiments.

Siffre feels the need for isolation is so great he will be kept uninformed about world and family news for fear it might interfere with his experiment.

"My mother said that if there was a world war, his recent bride says, they would not tell him because of the need for isolation."

Though Siffre will not see anyone for the next six months, his vital functions will be monitored by sensors attached to his body and hooked into a computer at New York.

A support crew on the surface will measure the difference in Siffre's body functions between the time he is awake and asleep and plot them on a graph to see if they adjust to a new rhythm.

Since he will have no contact with the outside world, he will not know exactly when 36 hours are over or when his 12-hour rest cycle is complete. He said he is hoping his body will just naturally fall into this timetable but he won't know until the experiment is over.

If his body has naturally assumed this schedule, he said, his experiment will be a success.

Justice department impact is unknown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite record indictments and arrests, the Justice Department's new chief criminal prosecutor said Monday the government has no real way to measure the impact on organized crime or to determine if the syndicate leadership has been decimated.

"We just don't have enough scorekeepers to keep track," Assistant Attorney General Henry E. Petersen said in an interview. "We have a whole project under way to measure the results but the only way we know now is by the indictments and convictions."

"We are dealing with an underworld economy," he explained. "We don't know if we've wiped out the leadership. The study project is to try and develop criteria for measuring our success other than convictions."

In a speech Feb. 1, Deputy Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst credited President Nixon with mounting the most effective drive against organized crime in the United States. He said 2,600 members or associates of crime syndicates—including many leaders—were indicted in 1971, more than triple the number in 1968 when the Democrats were in office.

A chief reason has been the use of wiretapping under court order as authorized in the 1968 Safe Streets Act. Then, Attorney General Ramsey Clark refused to authorize wiretapping.

Wiretapping is an invaluable help, said Petersen, new head of the criminal division. "But you can't leave a tap on and just listen to find out what effect a crackdown had. Once in a while you hear a casual comment on a tap—like, 'They're killing us.'"

Petersen said federal investigators involved with one of the 18 special strike forces set up to attack the organized crime are finding a connection in the nation's capital, through wire taps installed against narcotics traffickers.

"Certainly there is organized crime here in the generic sense," he said, "and there is some liaison with syndicates in other cities. There is enough to concern us."

TF trustee zone vote set April 4

BY DAVID ESPO

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school district residents will go to the polls Tuesday, April 4, to vote on a rezoning plan for the district's trustee zones.

The school board set the date at its regular monthly meeting Monday night at the school administration building.

The vote comes on the heels of State Board of Education approval of the rezoning plan approved two months ago by the trustees to equalize the districts' population. If approved, according to George Staudacher, school superintendent, the plan would leave about 3,200 voters in each of five trustee zones.

On the ballot election day will be a single question asking the voters whether they approve the plan.

In other action taken at the meeting, the trustees agreed after a debate of several months to hire the firm of CTA Architects, Engineers, Planners to help formulate plans and cost estimates for a proposed school construction and remodeling program.

Staudacher said following the meeting he expected the planning stage to last up to six weeks. The superintendent said the board's decision did not bind the board to any expenditure of funds, but said if a school bond proposal eventually emerges from the planning stages and is approved by the voters CTA would automatically be retained as the district architectural firm.

The board also completed its unfreezing of salary increments for school department personnel, approving the payment of $2,280.91 to the district's secretaries, aides and cooks.

The money had been frozen by President Nixon's economic stabilization program announced August 14.

William McHargue, and Mrs. Andrea Tulin were hired by the board to fill slots left vacant by two employees fulfilling military obligations.

The board also approved an extension of retirement date for Steven Bascom, a district custodian.

The decision to call for a vote means newly enfranchised 18-21-year-old district residents will be eligible to vote in a Twin Falls school vote for the first time in a local election.

Any person who has been a resident of Idaho for six months and a resident of the local district for 30 days is eligible to vote. There are no property restrictions.

The board said Monday night it would seek the use of county voting machines to assist in the election. County Auditor Harold Lancaster said today he had a meeting scheduled with school officials for next week. He said he foresees "no problems" with the anticipated request.

The decision to hire an architectural planning firm follows a lengthy debate among board members, in executive and regular session, to decide on a possible plan for school construction. Staudacher said the next step after the planners had completed their work called for the establishment of a local citizen's committee to make recommendations on the plans.

Public hearings slated

TWIN FALLS — Public hearings were set for March 6 on two annexation requests and plans made for contracting major street construction projects in Twin Falls Monday night.

In an adjourned meeting the City Council approved March 6, during the regular council meeting, as the time for public hearing on annexation of the Kingsgate Subdivision and the Canyon Crest Subdivision No. 3. Developers of both subdivisions have asked the city to annex their property.

The council discussed plans for street programs for 1973 and approved a notice of intent for creation of a local improvement district under which work will be contracted and paid for by the property owners and city over a period of several years.

Streets slated for reconstruction include part of Shoshone Street, several industrial area streets, Martin

Street and Locust Street. In residential areas reconstruction work will require curb and gutter only to be paid for by the abutting property owners. In the industrial area, all costs will be provided by the property owners and on Shoshone Street a method of assessment is being studied.

Council members will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 22 because of Monday, Feb. 21, being a holiday.

Assessments approved by the council Monday night will cost each water user about $25 per year and are based on "rough estimates" of what it will cost to maintain the system and handle delivery. They will also cover the cost to date in engineering and legal work to prepare for the district establishment.

Council members approved a total assessment of $25,000 for the first year with following years to run more accurately as to actual district operation costs. City Manager Jean Miller said this could mean a raise to $30 per year, depending on how many residents choose to use their water shares and how many can receive delivery.

About 1,200 properties have presently indicated they wish to continue using canal water for irrigation. Council members explained the new district will place the responsibility for costs of providing the service with those receiving the benefits of the less costly ditch water. In the past, maintenance of the ditches and other work in connection with delivery has been paid for out of the regular water department revenue.

This in effect, Mayor John Christoffersen said, means those paying the high cost of irrigating with city water have been paying the bill for those irrigating with ditch water at no cost.

William Lanting, R-Hollister, house speaker, and Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls.

Gray said the conversation would begin at about 12:35. The meeting begins at noon at the Turf Club, Twin Falls.

He said members present would be able to ask questions of the lawmakers, as well as hear reports on the progress of the session to date.

Devoted To The Citizens Of Magic Valley

Thursday, February 15, 1972 Al Westergren, Publisher PHONE 733-0931

Official City and County Newspaper Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and U.S. Pursuant to Section 5010 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 133 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 9, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1919.

School Financing

The results of the $1.9 million bond election calling for construction of a new high school in Jerome should prove interesting. The voting was today. The results will be known soon after the polls close this evening. The campaign in favor of the issue was well organized and vocal. Those against the proposal have had little to say. But actually, this is not the point. The point is there is a change in the thinking of school support.

There is no doubt about it. A new system of financing the nation's schools must be found. A series of court decisions has held that the traditional local property tax system of school financing is unconstitutional because "in effect" it denies equality of educational opportunity. As a result the Nixon administration is being forced to consider the value added tax, a form of sales tax, designed to raise $16 billion a year to relieve property taxes and to equalize funding among rich and poor districts. If successful, today's vote would add to the property tax rolls of Jerome. Over the nation — and in Idaho and Magic Valley — local property taxes have risen to such high levels that home owners of limited means face the heartbreaking possibility of having to leave their homes. In district after district, taxpayers have refused to vote additional funds for their schools. Voters have also turned down bond issues right and left.

A national system of equitable school financing probably will mean an end to local control of schools. Otherwise, the criteria set up by the courts could not be met. There are grave questions involved in consideration of the value added tax. How much will local property taxes be reduced? Will the insatiable demands of education absorb most if not all of the value added tax revenue?

Actually, of all reforms in government handling of the people's money the most urgently needed is a ceiling on spending and taxes and unremitting efforts to end waste and duplication.

WASHINGTON — President Richard Nixon made his campaign pitch for the environmental vote this week with a 10-page message to Congress on the environment. In Idaho, however, the message will probably win him few votes, and it may even lose a few.

Idaho conservationists, while pleased to see any type of environmental progress, will feel the message does not go far enough. A variety of other Idahoans will feel the message goes too far.

Basically, the President called for legislation which would lighten pollution control. Nixon said he wants a Toxic Wastes Disposal Control Act, legislation to control sediment from construction activities, a monetary charge on sulfur dioxide emissions, a plant cannot meet air pollution standards, and more research into clean energy and energy conservation measures.

Nixon also called on technology to become an environmental ally by developing integrated pest management programs, a stepping-up research on control and on the effects of air pollution, the plan wants to see an expansion and strengthening of the National Land Use Policy Act, now languishing in Congress, and protection for wetlands and estuaries.

His message called for expanding international cooperation on the environment, more control of marine pollution, more wilderness areas, development of the Big Cypress National Fresh Water Reserve near the Florida Everglades, and the involvement of more youth in environmental programs through a merit awards program in the nation's high schools and opportunities for youth to become involved in the Department of Agriculture's Field Scout program.

Idahoans will most directly feel the president's remarks concerning predator control, pesticide control, the development of clean energy, and the formulation of guidelines for use of off-road vehicles on the public lands. With exception of the clean energy programs, which might mean more research funds for the liquid fast-metal breeder reactor at Arco, most Idahoans may suspect the federal government of going too far.

Charging that Americans are becoming increasingly concerned over the use of highly toxic poisons to "kill coyotes and other predatory animals and birds," Nixon said "the old notion that the only good predator is a dead one is no longer acceptable." He added, "certainly, predators can represent a threat to sheep and some other domesticated animals. But we must use more selective methods of control that will preserve ecological values while continuing to protect livestock."

He then announced he was issuing an Executive Order barring the use of poisons for predator control on all public lands. He added he would propose legislation to shift the current predator control program to one of research and assistance to the States which will assume their own predator control programs. Even before the president's message was made public, cries of protest were lodged by spokesmen of Idaho sheep and cattle interests with the office of Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho. Jordan, a former sheep rancher in the Hells Canyon area of the Middle Snake during the 1930's, did not give the protests a sympathetic ear. "I never had to use 10-80 when I was sheep-ranching," Jordan said with a reference to one of the poisons which was banned.

Since many Idaho sheep and cattlemen graze their stock on public land, and have been poisoning predators to protect their stock, the President's order will be received with rancor and probably be violated until the federal government demonstrates it can enforce the order.

Many Idaho farmers, already alienated by the selection of George Butz for the number one position in the Department of Agriculture, will be suspicious of Nixon's "integrated pest management program" until specifics are forthcoming. The President said he "seeks to maximize reliance on such natural pest population controls as predators, sterilization and pest diseases." Nixon predicted "many unnecessary pesticide applications can be eliminated."

For those Idahoans who have enjoyed free-wheeling across public lands in snowmobiles or on trail bikes, your days may be numbered. Nixon also signed an Executive Order directing various secretaries to develop regulations providing for strict control of off-road vehicles on all federal lands.

"They will designate areas of use and non-use, specify operating conditions that will be necessary to minimize damage to the natural resources of the Federal lands, and ensure compatibility with other recreational uses, taking into account noise and other factors," the President's message said.

Taken altogether, the message could have a far-reaching impact on Idaho, and is certain to generate considerable controversy.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Tonsil Trouble

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a 13-year-old suddenly develop tonsil trouble? My daughter has always been very healthy, but a few months ago her tonsils began swelling.

I took her to the doctor and she got a shot and a prescription. They continued swelling, so I took her back for another prescription a month later. There is some tenderness and swelling but she hasn't felt sick. The doctor has advised having her tonsils out, but I question this because she has always been so healthy in the past. Could it be something else? — Mrs. H.M.

Tonsillitis can develop suddenly at her age, and the matter of her past good health may have no bearing on the infection, or on her future health. The point is that infection has developed in the tonsils.

It is quite true that appropriate treatment can subdue an acute attack—but she's had such treatment, and the swelling and tenderness (and the infection) persist.

This isn't what you'd call exactly startling. Tonsil tissue and tonsil structure are such that chronic, recurrent infection can occur. It sounds as though it had in this case.

Of course I've never been what used to be called an avid "tonsil yanker," but neither have I wanted to keep tonsils when there were signs that they ought to come out.

The actual size of the tonsils, incidentally, is not as significant as some other signs—swollen glands in the neck, ear infection, recurring sore throat or a catarrhal condition.

A chronic infection can be a factor ultimately in other problems, kidney disease or joint troubles to name just a couple.

BERRY'S WORLD

Occupational Hazard

Despite growing emphasis on job safety in business and industry, the accident rate continues high in terms of economic loss and personal suffering. Each year nearly 15,000 American workers are killed in on-the-job mishaps and nearly 2 million suffer disabling injuries. Although the national occupational accident toll has been reduced from the 1947 peak of 17,000 fatalities, it has remained discouragingly uniform in the years since. It has not risen, as have accident rates in other areas, notably traffic. This is due largely to the efforts of safety agencies which work steadily for accident prevention in industrial plants.

Today — more than ever — the work accident problem demands constant attention. Many safety devices have been perfected to protect the worker. But the most effective of all is care and common sense on the part of the individual.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Bicycle Rider

Lyle Hampton likes to ride his bicycle. Not only does he maintain that it is healthy — he also maintains it is economical. To back up his theory, he lives at 461 Third Avenue West. He works at Bertie's Poultry Farm — which is some three miles from his home. He makes the trip — coming and going, every day he works. That's a distance of some six miles a day. Normally, he makes the journey five times a week — winter and summer, spring and fall. He has been doing this for years and years. He has "gone through" about eight bicycles in the years he has been going to and from work.

in fact riding everywhere he goes in town. He follows regular traffic rules even stops at red lights when he comes to them! He has averaged about one flat tire a month. If it goes flat then he pushes — to work or home.

When he is late getting home, because of a flat, his wife, Barbara, worries. But he always makes it. He has never had an accident!

ANDREW TULLY

Little Boy Dies

WASHINGTON — They found the body of the 12-year-old boy under a flight of stairs in a Harlem tenement house one cold night. His arms were punctured with hypodermic needle marks, and the body stank of its own vomit and excrement. The little boy had died of an overdose of heroin.

Which is one way of accenting a hope that Nelson Gross, State Department coordinator for international narcotics matters, is right when he says a cooperative effort by the U.S. and Turkey will dry up the major source of opium, from which heroin is derived. When the Turkish opium crop is harvested in June and July, it presumably has to be sold. All planting of opium poppies has been banned by the Turkish government.

Credit Gross and his helpers with employing unusual imagination at the American end. The U.S. will provide $35-million in foreign aid funds over a four-year period to compensate Turkey for the loss of foreign exchange from legitimate sales of opium for pharmaceuticals. In addition, the U.S. will give Turkey $300,000 to help finance the measuring and inspection of poppy fields this year to insure that none of the "last crop" goes to illegal traffickers.

Since Turkey produces 80 per cent of the opium used to make heroin, this sounds good. Perhaps, however, it is too good to be true.

It is all very well for the Turkish government to ban poppy growing, and there is some assurance that the U.S. subsidy will encourage the Turks to press enforcement of the ban. But the annoying fact is that almost all of the opium now entering the illicit market is grown in secret fields in isolated, areas so well camouflaged they are hard to spot even from the air.

Some extraordinary enforcement efforts will be required from a Turkish government which is not celebrated for toughness on this score.

Moreover, human avarice is a consideration. Turkish farmers have been selling their crops legally to the government for $168 per 10 kilos (2.2 pounds to a kilo). They've been getting $350 per 10 kilos from the heroin dealers. Now they are asked to plant substitute crops of food and other produce, for which they will receive a government subsidy. Nice. Nice — but not nice enough for the farmer who has made a fortune out of dealing with heroin traffickers. Even with the subsidy, the farmer will make less money than from the opium he sold secretly to the undercover buyers. A cynic can't help rejecting the premise that the farmers now will abandon their profitable clandestine fields. They may be as moral as an American auto worker, but they need money more than the auto worker does. The farmers also will be under increasing pressure from the roving salesmen of the heroin industry. With the ban in effect, these salesmen probably will boost the prices they pay for opium. After all, heroin does a business estimated in the United States alone at more than $1 billion annually.

ART BUCHWALD

Characters

WASHINGTON — The Howard Hughes autobiography mystery is moving so fast that most people find it hard to keep up with all the parties involved. As a public service we are printing the cast of characters as they have appeared on the scene. Carry this program with you at all times.

Clifford Irving — handsome, 41-year-old author of the book "Fake," who went to McGraw-Hill and told them he had made a deal with Howard Hughes, the mysterious billionaire to write his autobiography. Irving's credentials were impeccable as he lived on the island of Ibiza in Spain, where no one has ever been known to tell a lie.

McGraw-Hill — the prestigious publishing house which advanced $650,000 for the book and said it would stake the integrity of the firm on the authenticity of the manuscript. The joke around New York is that McGraw-Hill is thinking of changing its name to the Irving Trust Company.

Life magazine — a prestigious magazine which agreed to pay $250,000 for the magazine rights to the autobiography. When asked why they thought they had the real thing, a spokesman said, "We're no Modern Screen. This is the Time-Life Corporation."

Modern Screen — a movie fan magazine which said when informed the Hughes autobiography could be a forgery, "We're not Life magazine."

Osborne, Associates — a distinguished handwriting analysis firm which attested to the fact that the correspondence in McGraw-Hill's possession and the signature on the checks matched those of Howard Hughes. Business at the firm has been slow for the past three weeks.

Edith Irving — Clifford Irving's fourth wife, a German-born, Swiss citizen, whom the Swiss police would like to talk to concerning her role in the affair. At one point, Irving said he would sue anyone who linked her to the $650,000 deposited in a Swiss bank. Helga R. Hughes — no relation to Howard, the woman who opened an account in the Credit Swiss under the name H. R. Hughes and deposited and withdrew the money Irving said he had paid to Howard Hughes. Mr. Irving has admitted his wife was Helga, and therefore all lawsuits linking his wife and Helga have been called off.

Hannah Rosencrantz — the woman who opened a bank account after the money was withdrawn from Credit Swiss and placed in the Swiss Bank Corp., across the street. It is believed she is Edith Irving and Helga Hughes put together.

Nina van Pallandt — a voluptuous Danish singer who says that Clifford Irving is in love with her and took her to Mexico with him when he said he met Howard Hughes. She claims Irving never left her side, which damages Irving's story, and to mention his relations with his wife Edith, as well as Helga and Hannah.

Ann Baxter — A blonde beauty who taught Irving scuba diving in the Virgin Islands, when Edith thought he was taping Howard Hughes.

Howard Hughes — a voice on the telephone who claims he never met Irving and has short fingernails and cuts his own hair. Hughes has promised to have his photograph taken very soon to show people he is still alive, but Life magazine will not be asked to take the picture.

Testimony differs over stream flow

BOISE (UPI) — Irrigationists and representatives of environmentalists, sportsmen and municipalities differed Monday over legislation to require a minimum stream flow to protect fish, wildlife, water quality and aesthetic beauty.

Robert Lee, director of the Idaho Water Resource Board, read a statement from board chairman John Strelitz, Lewiston, who said the state should follow Oregon's example and allow the water board to reserve unappropriated flows "to satisfy minimum instream needs."

Lee said 85 per cent of the water in north Idaho is unappropriated, while only 15 per cent of the southern Idaho is

Solons studying changes to code

BOISE (UPI) — With the criminal code repealer tucked back into committee, legislators will turn their attention to code amendments to see whether change, rather than repeal, will satisfy objections.

The six-line repeal measure was sent back to the house judiciary committee following 35 minute debate in which Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello, called Rep. Karl Koch, D-Hammett, as a "left-wing fabian socialist type."

Koch, who said he was "180 degrees from the group I have been classified with," was one of those who argued for amending the code.

School transfer plan discussed

BOISE (UPI) — The administrative director of the Idaho State School and Hospital said today his institution should be transferred to the Department of Public Assistance if the regional child development centers are shifted.

But John Christensen told the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee his first response to the proposed transfer from the Department of Health to the DEA was a negative one.

"To recommend it, I'd have to say the state board hasn't supported us or Dr. Carver (Terrell O. Carver, state health administrator) hasn't supported us and that just isn't so."

unappropriated, adding many problems occur in Idaho.

John Rosholt, Twin Falls attorney representing several irrigation companies, told the committee the measure might "spell the demise of future development which is contingent upon the consumptive use of water."

The measure would authorize cities, counties, state agencies, a taxing district or the federal government to make application to withdraw a minimum stream flow of unappropriated water of any stream.

Existing water rights on the stream would be protected.

Rosholt, Lee, and other witnesses suggested delaying any

Right of counsel approved

BOISE (UPI) — The senate approved another amendment to the criminal code Monday, this time one to give a defendant right to counsel on a petty misdemeanor or misdemeanor charge when an extended sentence could be imposed.

The bill, approved 29-0, now goes to the governor.

Rigby said the counsel would not be required if the misdemeanor would draw only a fine or probation.

Lump sum budget approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee tentatively approved a lump sum budget for the State Department of Education Monday, but adjourned before moving into public school funding.

After working for one hour and 10 minutes, the committee tentatively agreed to appropriate $716,483 from the general fund in a lump sum to the Department of Education.

Earlier, the committee voted to remove all state funding from the statewide school information system. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus had recommended $110,904 from the general fund with $110,000 to come from local school districts.

But Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman, successfully moved to let school districts remain in the program if they choose and eliminate all state funding from the system.

The Department of Education had requested $1,291,355 from the general fund, the "continuation" level was set at $841,87, and Andrus recommended $844,212. All suggestions included general funding for the information system.

High said he reached the $716,483 figure finally approved by the committee by subtracting the money intended for the information system and by putting a control on salaries over the current level.

Tuition bill OK'd by senate

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed Monday a bill to require school districts to pay tuition and fees for exceptional children educated under contract with another district or institution.

Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, said the mandatory payment would assist the Idaho Youth Ranch at Rupert, which is supplying some education within the ranch itself for youths unable to attend school in the Minidoka School System.

Peavey said the Minidoka School System is receiving some payment for the education which it is not giving and said the bill would require the school system to turn the money over

Bill killed

BOISE (UPI) — Worried the bill would no longer be safe for their children, the senators killed Monday a bill which would have permitted liquor by the drink licenses at certain ski resorts.

But Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, served notice he may ask for reconsideration of the measure designed to provide the licenses to Schweitzer Basin, Rogus Basin and the proposed Elkhorn development near Sun Valley.

Sen. John Mix, D-Moscow, floor sponsor of the measure, said presently liquor licenses are available only to incorporated cities, golf areas and certain lake resorts.

State urged to involve citizens

BOISE (UPI) — Spokesmen from Montana warned Idaho legislators Monday to involve the citizens of the state in any move toward reorganization of the executive branch.

Montana State Rep. William Montana warned Idaho legislators Monday to involve the citizens of the state in any move toward reorganization of the executive branch.

Montana State Rep. William Mather, R-Billings, told the Idahoans to "meet your responsibilities. Do as elected representatives what you can do."

George Bousliman, executive director of Montana's reorganization commission and a former staff member of the Idaho legislative council, urged the lawmakers to "give the public a chance to explain itself on this issue."

Montana has undergone reorganization similar to that being proposed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for Idaho. By constitutional amendment, Montana is limited to 20 principal agencies although the governor is allowed by executive order to create agencies with two-year lives which must be reviewed by the legislature at the end of the two years.

Sixty per cent of the Montana reorganization study was financed by the federal government. Late last week Joe Welch of the state planning and community affairs agency told lawmakers the federal government would pay two-thirds of Idaho's costs.

Andrus proposed a similar approach in Idaho, but the house defeated the proposed constitutional amendment. The legislature has formed a 10-member joint committee to study the reorganization problem and decide whether to go the constitutional route or to try to consolidate through statutory changes and executive orders.

Aide hits rights group

BOISE (UPI) — The chairman of the board of trustees for Bonneville School District 93 said Monday new powers outlined in proposed legislation would lead the State Commission on Human Rights to act in an "unfair manner."

Ray Haroldson told the Senate State Affairs Committee the commission would have both executive and judicial powers and there would be no separate school board have been in a

Twisted wreckage

Tanker wreckage found

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI)—Evidence obtained by divers inspecting the sunken wreckage of the tanker V. A. Fogg indicated Monday the vessel, which carried a volatile chemical, was blown apart and its 39 crewmen killed instantly.

A pilot who helped guide the ship out of the Freeport, Tex., harbor also told a Coast Guard board of inquiry Monday the smell of volatile benzene was heavy on the tanker when he was on board.

"I thought to myself that benzene sure stunk," harbor pilot Alvin Miller told the inquiry board. "I've thought about this a million hours trying to figure out what could have happened, and I can't think of a thing in the world."

"It must have been a helluva explosion," said a source connected with the search for the tanker. "The forward deck is bent to the right at a 45-degree angle. A big chunk of the forward section was blown to one side."

Divers also saw a fully clothed body floating in the tanker's chart room. The arm of another crewman was found amid the debris of the 572-foot long ship.

The explosion apparently occurred amidship and the radioman did not have time to send a distress message. The ship left Freeport Feb. 1 to flush the residue of a dangerous chemical from several of its tanks. It still carried tanks of xylene. It was never heard from again.

The lost wreckage of the ship was found Saturday by a seismic research vessel—32 miles off the Texas coast. The ship was photographed Sunday by six divers.

Communications satellite set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A new communications satellite—Intelsat IV—was put into commercial service Monday 22,300 miles above the Pacific Ocean to provide expanded facilities for President Nixon's trip to China Feb. 21-28.

The Communications Satellite Corp. (COMSAT) said the satellite, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Jan. 22, has a capacity for an average of 5,000 telephone circuits or 12 color TV channels, or combinations of these, with other types of communications.

Comsat said the Jainaeburg, Calif., earth station, equipped with a 97-foot diameter antenna, will serve as the main U.S. terminal for communications via satellite from China. It will relay telephone, teletypewriter, television, press messages and photos, according to Comsat.

All Pacific area satellite traffic involving some 850 circuits connecting 15 different earth stations were transferred in a seven-minute transition to the new satellite from a smaller Intelsat III.

Intelsat III, which only last week relayed colored TV coverage of the winter Olympics at Sapporo, Japan, will remain in orbit as an alternate facility. It has operated since February, 1969.

Both satellites presently are stationed in synchronous orbits above the Equator near the Gilbert Islands in the mid-Pacific.

In addition to the new Intelsat IV, two other satellites are located over the Atlantic. One has been in fulltime service since last March and the other will go into commercial service next week.

Mexico builds China relations

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico established diplomatic relations with China Monday, the government announced. It was the fourth Latin American nation to recognize Peking.

Canada, the other nation bordering the United States, established relations with China last year.

In Hong Kong, a broadcast by Peking's official New China News Agency announced China's establishment of diplomatic relations with Mexico.

The Mexican announcement came as no surprise. The move had been under discussion by the government of President Luis Echeverria for several months, and the decision to recognize Peking put Mexico in company with Cuba, Chile and Peru, all of which have exchanged embassies with China.

Burley sorority helps 'hot line'

BURLEY — The Burley-Rupert "hot line" telephone service received $30 from members of the Xi Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi during a ceremony on Saturday.

The "hotline," operated strictly by donation of time and funds for telephone expenses, was initiated on Jan. 10 by coordinators Stephanie Martin, Burley, and Allen Ross Johnson, Rupert. The service is proving so popular that additional volunteers are needed.

Mrs. Manuel Gutierrez, service chairman of Xi Omega, and Mrs. Rex Weech, a committee member, presented a check for $30 to Miss Martin. The money will be used to pay telephone expenses, Miss Martin said.

More than 200 calls have been received in the month the service has been in operation, serving Minidoka and Cassia counties. Most calls are received on weekends, though the telephone lines are manned each evening from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. At present, 15 "active" volunteer workers are working with the service, supplemented by 10 standby people who will donate their time when needed.

Volunteers include students from area high schools along with housewives and businesswomen who can arrange their time to fill the need.

The hot line, telephone 678-0182, allows anyone in the area to call in, anonymously, if desired, to seek help, ask information or "just to converse," according to Stephanie Martin. No identification of the caller will be required. Two persons are on duty at all times during the scheduled hours.

The volunteers have at hand a list of referrals—to area physicians, attorneys, ministers, social workers, nurses and hospitals in order to advise callers. When professional help is needed, the caller will be referred to the proper agency or individual.

A training session for volunteer workers and others working with the service will be scheduled later this month, Miss Martin said. The Mini-Cassia hot line is patterned after a similar service in operation at the University of Idaho.

Both Miss Martin and Johnson are members of the Region 5 Drug Education Team which includes all eight Magic Valley counties. They attended a two-week study seminar in Boise, sponsored by the state Department of Education.

Anyone wishing to donate time or funds, or to acquire additional information on the hot line, may contact Miss Martin at her home, telephone 678-9638 or Johnson at 436-3687 in Rupert.

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.

Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

Every year, between January and April, millions of people sit down to do battle with Uncle Sam. Some are "self styled" accountants. Others think they can save a few dollars doing it themselves — so why not?

The sad truth is, however, no matter what their reason was for starting, many of them end the same. On the short end.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block. We have all the facilities to help you make "income tax time" a pleasant experience. To begin with, H & R Block now has over 8,000 conveniently located offices, manned by thousands of specially trained personnel who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. For example, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? And maybe you aren't aware that if your income increased last year, you may be able to save tax dollars by "income averaging."

Well, when it comes to income taxes, H & R Block is aware of just about everything because we're a company that eats, sleeps, and drinks tax returns 365 days a year.

Yes, maybe you can save a couple of bucks by doing your own return but it really may be costing you a lot more by not having your return done by H & R Block.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB

NBA changes selection of teams for playoffs

NEW YORK (UPI) — In an effort to equalize the quality of competition in the playoffs and to give some disenchanted fans in Phoenix, the National Basketball Association changed its method Monday of deciding which teams are eligible for the playoffs and gave the Suns a new home in the Pacific Division.

Changing places with Phoenix for the 1977-78 season are the Houston Rockets, who will move from the Pacific Division to the Midwest Division of the Western Conference.

In addition, the club owners voted to make the two teams with the highest winning percentages in each conference, along with the first-place teams in each division, eligible for the playoffs in 1978. This is in contrast to the present format which places the top two teams in each division, regardless of how they stand in overall quality, in the playoffs.

One result of the new division alignments and playoff rules will be that Phoenix, which is currently playing at a .503 clip, yet remains 6 1/2 games behind Chicago in the Midwest race for a playoff berth, will have a much better chance at earning a spot in the playoffs next year.

Last year the Suns (finished the regular season with a 49-34 won-loss record, tied with Los Angeles for the fourth best record in the NBA, but still failed to qualify for the playoffs. At the same time San Francisco, second in the Pacific Division behind the Lakers went to the playoffs with a regular-season record of 41-41.

"Our fans have been in a state of depression," said Jerry Colangelo, former coach and now general manager of the Suns. "And this is like a new breath of air."

Phoenix is on its way to its best season ever and with this prospect in mind Colangelo said glumly, "We may win 50 games this year — which is our goal — but we may not make the playoffs."

The switch from Midwest to Pacific probably makes more sense from a geographic point of view and this was one of the main thrusts of the Suns' argument in the winter meeting of the NBA.

Auburn player grabs rebound

Newcombe, Roche cop victories

TORONTO (UPI) — Eighth-seeded John Newcombe and veteran Tony Roche of Australia each fought off shaky starts but rebounded to score victories Monday night in first-round matches of the $50,000 Hoffman's International tournament before a crowd of 1,200.

Newcombe, the 27-year-old Wimbledon champion, had trouble with Ismael Shafi's hard left-hand service in the first set and bowed, 6-4. In the second set, however, Newcombe handled Shafi's serve and managed to break the 24-year-old Egyptian's service three consecutive times in the last two sets to gain identical 6-1 victories.

"When I tore my ligament, I was unable to play for two months and missed three out of the first 10 tournaments. Seeding is based on points acquired in previous tournaments and since I didn't play much I'm lucky to be seeded at all."

Shafi, who played with great gusto in the first set, petered out in the last two.

"He broke through my serve in the last two sets and that was the game," he said. "I wasn't hitting the ball too well so I had trouble volleying."

South Carolina wins pair to boost rating in hoop poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — South Carolina, Penn and Virginia made significant gains Monday in the latest college basketball ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

The Gamecocks, in addition to presenting coach Frank McGuire with his 400th career victory, won twice last week to up their record to 16-3 and leap past Penn and Louisville into fourth place in the UPI poll.

Penn, while remaining fifth, increased its point total from 149 to 177 after a pair of one-sided victories over Columbia and Cornell. Virginia, meanwhile, ran its record to a gaudy 18-1 with three wins, and moved up from ninth to seventh.

Once again however UCLA extinguished any hopes of the "also rans" for first place by grabbing all 35 No. 1 votes for a perfect 350 point total. Marquette, sporting a 19-0 record as do the top-ranked Bruins, also held a firm grip on the No. 2 spot with 316 points.

North Carolina, which faces a key Atlantic Coast Conference match Wednesday with Maryland at College Park, remained in the third spot after improving its record to 17-2 with wins over N.C. State, Clemson and Georgia Tech.

Long Beach State, which was upset by Fresno State last week, retained its eighth place in the ratings but Ohio State, also an upset victim, dropped from seventh to ninth. Brigham Young again completed the top 10.

Florida State (20-4) led the second 10 and was followed in order by Missouri, Southwest Louisiana, Maryland and Providence. Missouri moved up from 15th to 12th after Big Eight wins over Iowa State and Oklahoma State while Maryland advanced from a tie for 17th to 14th after impressive victories over Duquesne and IU.

Providence's loss to St. Bonaventure on Sunday did not figure in this week's ratings.

"Marshall, now 19-2 after defeating Bowling Green, and Sanford last week, remained 16th and Hawaii (17th) and Kentucky (18th) followed. The final spot resulted in a tie between St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Houston.

While South Carolina and Penn have jockeyed about the top five all season, Virginia continues to ascend its early season skid.

Written off for a patsy early-season schedule, the Cavaliers have continued to win and only a loss to North Carolina mars their record. Perhaps the true test of Virginia's strength will come at the end of the schedule when the Cavs must face ACC mates North Carolina and Maryland on the road and the go into the grueling post-season conference tournament. But as coach Bill Gibson has been saying of his team all year: "Make no mistake about it, Virginia is for real."

Utah Stars continue win-streak

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Willie Wise and Merv Jackson directed the Utah Stars to their fourth straight American Basketball Association victory, a 134-112 triumph over the Floridians Monday night.

It was the Stars' fourth victory against one loss in games with the Floridians this season. The win maintains Utah's lead in the ABA Western Division over Indiana at 3-2 games.

Wise scored 20 points and Jackson came off the bench to hit 22 more as the Stars broke open a close game midway through the second quarter and raced to the triumph.

Utah center Zeinoff Beaty played only 17 minutes while Stars coach Ladell Andersen used ex-Floridian Ira Harge to allow the veteran Beaty a rest. Rookie Willie Long led the Floridians with 22 points.

Tennessee rallies to 68-58 win

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Tennessee bounced back from a 32-30 halftime deficit Monday to defeat Mississippi 68-58 in a Southeastern conference basketball game.

The win gave the Vols a 9-2 conference mark and left the Rebels at 4-7 in SEC play.

Tennessee roared back in the second half, with the lead changing hands five times before the Volunteers finally took the lead for good at 39-38.

It was the hot outside shooting of Mike Edwards and John Snow that paced the Vols in the second half. Edwards tallied 23 points and Snow got 19.

Guard Tom Jordan led Ole Miss with 16 points followed by seven-foot center Fred Cox with 14.

Kentucky outlasts Miss. St.

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Kentucky capitalized at the free throw line Monday to clip Mississippi State 63-55 in Southeastern Conference basketball action.

The victory allowed the Wildcats to maintain their lead over second place Tennessee in the SEC race.

State had three more field goals than Kentucky, 25-22, but shot a poor 31.3 per cent at the foul line, making only 5 of 16 charity tosses. Kentucky sank 19-24 at the foul line.

Jim Andrews led Kentucky with a game high of 21 points, 13 in the first half.

Jeff Watkins had 13 for State, while Bill Combs added 12, 10 of them in the second half.

It was Kentucky's 10th SEC victory against second place Tennessee, leaving the Wildcats at 14-4 for the season.

Auburn trips LSU 85-77

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Al Sanders poured in 42 points but was unable to blunt the balanced Auburn attack as the Tigers beat LSU 85-77 in a Southeastern Conference basketball game Monday night.

(Sanders, a 6-7 center, scored 16 field goals, most of them short range, from underneath the basket. After LSU moved down court and established its play, the ball was worked to Sanders' side of the court and passed to him for the shot.)

However, the scoring of four Auburn players in double figures offset Sanders' high scoring mark. Harry Harris and Jim Retscher scored 17 each, Mike Christman had 16 and Pat Kirkland added 14.

Willie Mays starts 20th spring drill

NEW YORK (UPI) — In a few days now, Willie Mays will be going to spring training with the Giants.

It won't exactly be the most novel experience in the world for him. This will be the 20th time he has done it so nobody will have to show him the way.

"I'll be a little different this time though."

For one thing, there's the question of age. Willie Mays doesn't look it but he'll be 41 the first week in May when the baseball season will be only one month old. For another thing, there's the question whether this is his last year, and when you take those two questions and throw in another one — "Willie Mays and Hank Aaron both have been bugged about Babe Ruth's record" — then it becomes easy to see why things will be a little different for San Francisco's celebrated center-fielder this time.

Colorado tips Iowa State

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Senior Jim Creighton scored a career high 39 points Monday to lead the Colorado University Buffaloes to an 82-75 Big Eight Conference basketball victory over Iowa State.

Creighton reeled off 24 of his points in the second half as he led the Buffs from a 37-35 halftime deficit. It marked only the second conference win in eight outings for Colorado, now 5-15 overall.

Lee Haven added 18 points and teammate Scott Wideman had 16 for the winners.

Iowa State, now 3-7 in Big Eight play and 10-12 overall, had four men in double figures. Clint Harris was high point man with 16, followed by Rick Engel with 13 and Wayne Williams with 12.

Art Linkletter speaks out on a vital problem

Willie and Hank are good friends, good enough so that they always have something to talk about with each other each time they meet and so that Aaron has been a guest in Mays' home. It has been suggested they may not be quite so warm toward each other if they come down the wire threatening Ruth's record.

Both insist the suggestion is ridiculous.

Willie Mays took a deep breath and searched his feelings the best he could when button-holed again the other day. The button-holer wanted to know what about him and Babe Ruth? Mays was honest. He talked primarily about Hank Aaron.

"Youth beats everything," said Willie. "Hank is two years younger than I am. I've always said records are there to be broken and I think Hank has the best chance of breaking Ruth's record. He certainly has a better chance than me if he doesn't get hurt. I'm not saying Gold-medalists return to U.S.

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (UPI)—Sally and Anne Henning, Olympic gold medalists, returned to the U.S. Monday. The girls, who won the 500-meter sprint and the 1,500-meter race, were mobbed by Northbrook Village President John C. Williams and the girls' parents.

More than 300 persons, most of them Northbrook chums and schoolmates of the two speed skating champions, greeted them at Chicago's nearby O'Hare International Airport and accompanied them in a horn-toting motorcade to the village where they built their speed on flashing blades.

Anne, 18, and Dianne, 20, appeared tired, soberfaced and a bit overwhelmed at first when they walked down the stairs from a chartered airliner that brought them home eight hours behind schedule from Sapporo, Japan.

But Anne broke into cries of joy when she saw her sister.

G. Archer slips on money list

NEW YORK (UPI)—George Archer passed up the Bob Hope Desert Classic and as a result slipped to second place on the money winning list of the Professional Golf Association. Grier Jones, whose seventh place finish in the Classic was worth $4,278, now tops the first ten with $52,522 over Archer's $50,877.

Bob Murphy holds third place with $45,848 and Bob Rosburg, the Hope winner, jumped from 18th place to fourth after picking the $25,000 first money for a season total of $41,146.

Miller Barber is sixth with $37,041, followed by Jack Nicklaus ($33,793), Paul Harvey ($33,476), Johnny Miller ($30,264), Hale Irwin ($26,811) and Lee Trevino ($22,033).

Pair pace Irish to victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Tom O'Mara scored 21 points and Garry Novak added 20 to lead Notre Dame to a 92-65 victory over Bowling Green Monday night, the sixth victory in 20 starts for the Irish.

Notre Dame spurred to a 20-5 lead eight minutes into the game. They continued to dominate in the first half, leading 43-27 at the half. Bowling Green committed 16 turnovers and shot only 26 percent to help the Irish to their commanding lead.

Bowling Green closed the gap to 11 points early in the second half but the Irish quickly went on another scoring spree.

Brian Scanlan was high for the Falcons with 12 points and Jim Kindle was next with 10. Bowling Green dropped to 3-15 for the season.

Marquette topples Butler

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Marquette Warriors shook off a stubborn Butler team midway through the first half and went on to post a solid 90-76 win over the Bulldogs Monday night.

The No. 2 ranked Warriors did it with a balanced scoring attack that saw all five starters score in upper double figures. Butler and Marquette were tied 27-27 with nine minutes left in the first half but the Warriors outscored Butler 16-9 to take a 43-28 halftime lead. Warrior guard Al McGuire led Marquette with 18 points. Jim Chones and Marcus Washington each added 17 and Bob Lackey and Larry McNeill had 16 apiece.

High man for Butler was Oscar Evans with 26 points.

The win was the 20th without a loss this season for Marquette and marked the sixth season in a row Coach Al McGuire's club has posted 20 or more wins. Butler is now 1-14.

Medal winners given trophies

U. S. OLYMPIC stars Dianne Holum, 20, (L), and Anne Henning, 16, who won four medals between them at the winter games in Sapporo, Japan, hold trophies given to them by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley upon their victorious return home Monday. They are residents of suburban Northbrook, Ill. Miss Holum won a gold and silver medal and Miss Henning a gold and bronze. (UPI Telephoto).

Houston coach wants changes

HOUSTON (UPI)—Coach Guy Lewis of Houston said Monday the new NCAA rule allowing freshmen to play varsity basketball next year is a step forward, but the NCAA still needs to liberalize the rules in two other areas.

Lewis said the NCAA should allow two full scrimmages with other schools and schools to let high school seniors work out when they visit a school.

"You have to lock up your basketballs when they visit or they'll find one and start playing," Lewis told the Houston sports writers and scouts association.

"They want to check out your varsity players. What makes it worse is that they said they worked out at such-and-such a school the week before and another school the week before that. But we can't let them do it because it's a violation of the NCAA rules."

"It wouldn't be for a tryout because most coaches know they want the boy before they invite him to visit," Lewis said. "It's for the kids' sake. They need to be able to play."

Coaches Don Knodel of Rice and Lavaluis Gordon of Texas Southern agreed. None of the coaches thought the beginning of fall practice should be moved up.

Knodel also said he likes the new rule which will allow freshmen to play varsity basketball next season.

"I need help and I need it now," Knodel said. "I can't wait a year. A lot of high school players we are trying to recruit can come in and help us now and we're using it as a recruiting gimmick."

Knodel said he thought it would also help the players adjust to college life easier.

"When they come up here, they've been used to a lot of attention in their own school and town," Knodel said. "Then they are put off on the freshman team and don't get much publicity. No one pays much attention to them."

"I think it's harder for some of them to adjust to the freshman team than it would be the varsity," Knodel said.

Neumann will pay fine but dislikes coach's treatment

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Ole Miss last year and then something as he sat down on Muller College. Neumann signed as a hardship case with the bench. Neumann said Monday he will pay the $100 fine to the ABA sum, it averaging about $15 Memphis Pros but insisted that points a game with the Pros. Coach Babe McCarthy has McCarthy fined Neumann the "treated me like a dog." $100 and banished him to the "I've had to bow and scrape showers at Indianapolis, Ind. to him to get to play," said Sunday after the two exchanged Neumann. "If I make one mistake I get yanked out of a game. Other guys can make three on four before they get taken out." Neumann, who led the nation in college scoring with a 40.1 ppg average as a sophomore at said he tried to tell Neumann

All About Strippers

"What's a striptease? A skin diva." Russell Newbold

"Working strong" is what stripteasers call the practice of taking off not just most but practically all of their clothing during a performance. How much they keep on, if any, depends on the local tolerance of the lawmen. Most of the professional girls who travel a lot prefer working strong, they say. So they pick their geography accordingly.

THE MARINE life boys say no fish in the sea is as smart as a mediocre octopus. FEED-A penguin fresh water, and more often than not, said bird will get sick. JUST ABOUT nothing natural is holier underwater than a bed of shrimp.

PHYSICS Mister, if you could convert the chemical energy in that cigarette you're smoking to mechanical energy, such could lift you about 60 feet off the ground. And if you could convert the energy that heats your bathtub into mechanical energy, such could lift you about 12 1/2 miles.

A 70-YEAR-OLD citizen, if average, has used up 860 pencils over the years. So claims a manufacturer of same. Maybe so. In my dodge, though, that's low. Would judge the 70-year-old newspaperman has used up 7,280 pencils.

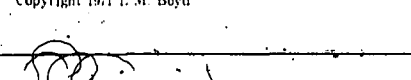

THE EARTH is the center of the universe. Atoms don't exist. And motion is impossible in a vacuum. Such were the contentions of that bright Greek Aristotles. He erred.

QUERIES Q. "Proportionately, which outnumber which, the lady doctors or the lady lawyers?" A. The lady doctors. With 9 per cent. Only 3 per cent of the lawyers in this country are women.

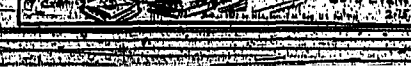

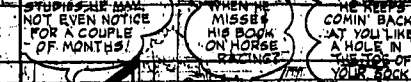

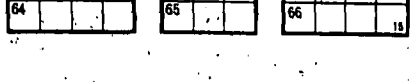

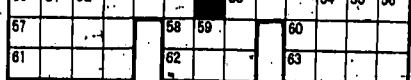

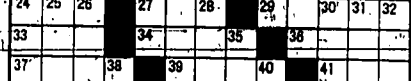

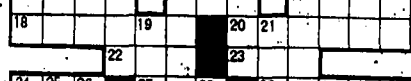

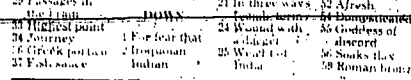

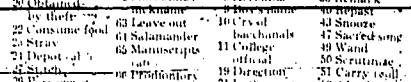

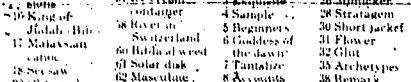

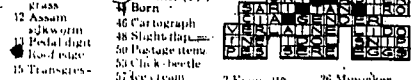

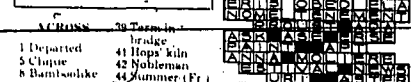

Q. "Doesn't Europe turn out more cars annually than the United States?" A. It does that. And has done so for three years running now. AM ASKED if that patient who is fed intravenously tends to feel terribly hungry. Most usually not. It's not your stomach that getsavenous, but your blood. It's the lack of goodies therein enroute through the brain that triggers that gnawing sensation in your midsection, say the medics.

IT WAS none other than Dr. KITT Menninger who explained the difference between neurotic and psychotic as follows: "Neurotic means he's not as sensible as I am." Psychotic means he's even worse than my brother-in-law.
