Nixon off Thursday on historic journey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon will receive a formal sendoff for China Thursday from members of the cabinet, Congress and government officials before they board a helicopter on the White House lawn on the first leg of an 11,510-mile journey to Peking. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler Tuesday issued a detailed schedule for Nixon's trip to China, but provided little information about the President's plans once he arrives on the Chinese mainland.

Following the White House departure ceremony at 10 a.m. EST Thursday, the presidential party will make the short hop to Andrews Air Force Base for departure at 10:30 a.m. EST aboard the "Spirit of 76" presidential jetliner.

The next stretch of the journey will be a 10-hour flight to Hawaii, with landing at 3:30 p.m. local time (8:30 p.m. EST) at Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station on the main island of Oahu.

The Nixon's will spend Thursday and Friday night at the residence of Brig. Gen. Victor Armstrong, commander of the 1st Marine Brigade.

Ziegler said the President will make no public appearances during his stay in Hawaii, which was described as a rest stop.

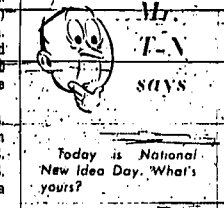

Nixon and his party will depart Hawaii at 1:30 a.m. local time (8:30 p.m. EST) Saturday for a flight to Guam.

Arrival at Guam is scheduled to 5:15 p.m. local time Feb. 20 (1 a.m. EST) after crossing the International Dateline.

The President and Mrs. Nixon will spend that night in the home of Rep. Adm. Paul E. Pugh, commander of U.S. Naval Forces in the Mariana Islands.

The President is to depart Guam Feb. 21 at 7 a.m. local time (4 p.m. EST) for the four-hour flight to Shanghai.

The Spirit of '76 is scheduled to land at Shanghai at about 9 a.m. China time (8 p.m. EST Feb. 20).

Jerome school beaten

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME—A record number of Jerome County voters turned out Tuesday to defeat a $1.9 million bond issue for construction of a new high school. With 1,023 voting yes and 1,325 voting no, the total vote of 2,348 exceeded any previous election total by almost 1,000 votes.

A vote breakdown shows Jerome with 1,242 no votes and 1,009 yes votes; Appleton 76 no and 13 yes; and Senter 7, no and 1 yes.

Sources close to school officials speculated that voter testing that not enough time had been spent making the plans adequate for the district's needs had contributed to the defeat of the issue, rather than a question of whether a new high school was needed.

Supt. John Campbell, when asked if he felt the district had spent enough time in making a decision on the new high school, said "I don't see how we could have spent any more time than we did."

Asked how he felt about the defeat of the proposal, he said, "The people obviously don't want to do anything about a new school, so we will do the best we can with what we have." He said most of the available money in the district for remodeling or improving would have to be spent in making Lincoln School as serviceable as possible.

Campbell said, "If the vote had been around 50 per cent, we might have gone back to the voters at a later date and asked for the bond issue again."

Clair Fife, school trustee, said there is a need for the school and "defeat of the bond issue will not make it go away." He said some provision must be made to safeguard Lincoln pupils.

Jim Keith, school trustee, expressed great disappointment at the defeat of the bond issue and said "We will make the best of it."

The school board will meet tonight to canvass the vote and discuss future plans.

Idaho school aid set at $47 million

By LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI)—The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee tentatively set the fiscal year 1973 general fund budget for public school support at $47.8 million Tuesday.

It was enough for a "modest" salary increase for teachers but would not include public kindergartens.

Shortly afterward, the committee tentatively approved a $29.5 million lump sum general fund appropriation for the institutions of higher education to be divided by the State Board of Education.

That compared with the fiscal year 1972 appropriation of $27.7 million and was more than the "continuation" level of $28.5 million, but less than the $32.2 million sought by the board and the $29.9 asked by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

The motion approved for a $3.8 million general fund increase for the foundation program was less than the Department of Education request of $8.5 million more, the $11.6 increase sought by Gov. Andrus and less than the $13 million additional sought by the Idaho Education Association.

Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malad, co-chairman of the committee, argued against including kindergartens in the appropriation, noting that would be a change which the entire legislature should approve.

"If we're going to fund education, let's disregard kindergartens," he said, but allow for a "modest salary increase" for teachers.

Prior to approving the motion, members voted against one to set the general fund level at $47.4 million. The committee did not consider a motion made by Sen. Nels Solberg, D-Grangeville, to seek $55.5 million from the general fund, the amount Andrus had requested.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the committee, and Palmer discussed one way of giving the salary increases to the teachers.

High said it appeared it would take $3.7 million to provide 5.5 per cent salary increases to both teachers and administrators and $3.2 million to give 5.5 per cent increase to all teachers.

However, he said, it would take only $3 million to implement a bill under discussion for the teachers which would give a 5.5 per cent increase to those teachers paid $7,300 or less and a flat $400 increase to those paid more.

British shutdown nears

LONDON (UPI)—Britain neared a total industrial shutdown today as the blockade of electric power by striking coal miners threatened the jobs of 20 million workers.

Power stations, hit hard by strike pickets, announced they were extending their electric power cuts.

"The situation is getting progressively worse. Our coal stocks are dwindling," said a spokesman for the Central Electricity Generating Board, which operates Britain's government-run power industry.

An estimated 1.5 million workers have been laid off in addition to the more than 1 million already jobless. Officials said the number of plant shutdowns was likely to increase rapidly.

Automotive, steel, textile, electronics and other key industries also were hard hit.

Heads of the Confederation of British Industry (CBI), which represents about 20,000 industrialists, told Prime Minister Edward Heath Tuesday night that the strike could have disastrous effects on the steel, textile and automotive industries, which account for the bulk of Britain's vital export trade.

They told him they supported his efforts to fight wage inflation.

Gooding TB unit auction required

BOISE (UPI)—The Commissioner of Public Lands said Tuesday the vacant Gooding Tuberculosis Hospital would have to be sold at a public auction.

Gordon C. Trombley made the statement following an offer made last week by B. Litz Lower of Salt Lake City to pay $265,000 for the building. He said he wanted to make a rehabilitation center for drug addicts and alcoholics out of the hospital. Lower asked for a 90-day option on the property.

Members of the board said they would look into the matter, but had previously set the price at $300,000.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the board another party had expressed interest in the building since the meeting where Lower made his offer.

In other action, members of the Clark County Stock Growers Association told the board that sudden increase of land lease rates to cattlemen and growers was going to cause financial burdens.

The association asked board members to consider a proposal which would spread the increases over a longer period of time.

Promoted

Rupert service rates up

RUPERT—The Rupert City Council raised trash collection and sewer service rates by 67 per cent while dropping the electrical rate slightly Tuesday night.

A series of ordinances increasing rates for city services was approved unanimously by the council, with the exception of the trash-collection increase. Councilman Bill Whitton initially voted against the increase, but changed his vote after a lengthy debate over city salary scales.

The trash-collection rate for residential customers will climb to $2.50 per month from the current rate of $1.50 on March 1, making an increase of $1, or 67 per cent of the current rate.

At the same time, the electrical rate will drop slightly, averaging 62 cents per month for the average residential use of 500 kilowatt hours, according to City Clerk Loretta Klingenberg.

Deficit record set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Commerce Department reported Tuesday the U.S. balance of payments deficit improved during the last three months of 1971, but the nation still ran up a record deficit for the year.

Commerce Department officials said the official reserve transactions balance, which measures the change in dollar holdings of foreign central banks, deteriorated by $8.1 billion between October and December. However, this was about half the level reached in the third quarter, when the deficit was $12.1 billion.

DEPUTY U. S. Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst has been nominated by President Nixon to replace John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Washington sources today said his promotion appears almost certain. Mitchell resigned to become manager for Nixon's re-election campaign. (UPI)

Camas hunts for new doctor

FAIRFIELD—Be he young or old, Camas County wants a doctor.

So far, efforts to locate a doctor to live in this mountain-ringed county have been unsuccessful. But they are continuing.

The county lost its only resident doctor when Dr. Marion J. Kerns retired because of ill health. He had lived and practiced here since 1941.

However, Camas isn't the only Idaho county without a doctor. Armand L. Bird, director of the Idaho Medical Association, Boise, said Owyhee and Clark counties are without doctors now.

"We are trying to find a doctor for Fairfield, but so far we haven't," Bird said.

Owyhee may be removed from the list of doctor-less counties soon, Bird said. Arrangements are nearing completion to secure the services of a physician to serve that huge, sparsely settled chunk of southwestern Idaho.

Members of the board of Camas County Commissioners are following two approaches in searching for a doctor.

Commissioner John Humphreys, Corral, said the Idaho Medical Association suggested Camas County residents write to him Armand L. Pyron, Advisory Committee to the Selective Service System, telling of the need for a doctor in the county.

From that source, officials were told, they might learn of a young doctor who would be interested in a two-year deferment from military service in return for practicing medicine in Camas County.

In addition, advertisements seeking a doctor have been placed in medical journals and metropolitan newspapers. Humphreys said the commissioners hope a doctor nearing retirement age might be found who would be interested in moving to Camas County, possibly to escape from urban crowding and foul air.

One doctor showed interest in the move, but when his wife learned of the isolated nature of the area, interest waned, Humphreys said.

One of the major selling points of Camas County is the recreation potential—fishing, hunting, skiing and snowmobiling in season, which would offer added inducements to a doctor interested in one of those sports.

In fact, recreation was one of the main reasons Dr. Kerns stayed in Fairfield for three decades. He was an avid fisherman and hunter as long as his health permitted.

Moreover, Humphreys said the county will continue paying $5,000 yearly toward a doctor's salary and expenses. Officials feel there is a large enough private practice to provide an adequate living.

The problem of finding a doctor is one Camas County hasn't had to face since 1941, when Dr. Kerns came to Fairfield from Malad, where he practiced for two years before making the move.

A native of Malad, he completed a pharmacy course at what is now Idaho State University in Pocatello, then entered medical school at the University of Louisville in Kentucky. After residences in Emmanuel Hospital, Portland, Ore., and in Muskegon, Mich., he returned to Malad.

When he moved to Fairfield, he intended to stay only a couple of years. But the area grew more attractive to him and he remained. Dr. Kerns remained at Fairfield until his retirement except for two years in military service during World War II.

He is like the owner of the Fairfield Drug Store, which is now being operated by Mrs. Kerns. She is a registered nurse.

After a stay in a Boise hospital, Dr. Kerns is back in Fairfield. And since he no longer practices medicine, his daily visits of an hour or so to his office are only "for a change of scene."

SV land sale OK'd

BOISE (UPI)—The State Land Board agreed today to sell 620 acres of land near Sun Valley at a starting bid price of $788,000.

The board unanimously voted to advertise the land in major publications throughout the country in order to give "the greatest publicity" possible of the sale.

The land board last summer considered the sale of the land at a starting price of about $49,000, but delayed action and ordered a new appraisal of the acreage.

New TF rural mail route set

TWIN FALLS—The Twin Falls area will have a new rural postal route effective Saturday, postmaster L. E. Libert said today.

Libert said the new route, Rural Route 4 is part of normal adjustment that must take place in growing areas. Route 4 will cover some of the areas north, northwest, south and southwest of Twin Falls presently covered by Routes 1 and 3.

There will be little disruption of mail service to the customers changed to the new route, Libert said. He said making the postal service convenient for the customer was a prime consideration when the route change was made.

Mail delivery time for Route 4 patrons will be about the same as at present. The route of travel for the rural carrier has been set so customers will not have to move their mailboxes.

In plotting the new route, Libert said the areas of highest growth were pulled off Route 1 and Route 3 so they will not have to be disrupted in the near future.

A total of 372 boxes, 123 on Route 1 and 249 on Route 3, will be moved to the new route.

He said the expansion will eventually take care of the new student housing complex, northwest of the College of Southern Idaho and growth areas south of Twin Falls near the filter plant.

Residents on the rural route with street numbers assigned by the city are to use these numbers for mail delivery.

Libert said, Customers whose rural route number has been changed have been notified of the change by Twin Falls Post Office officials.

Airport briefing

State aeronautics director briefs TF airport officials

TWIN FALLS — Darrell Manning, Idaho director of aeronautics, said Tuesday citizens favoring a regional airport "will be surprised at the total cost of this kind of installation."

He made the statement as he briefed members of the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission on present status of the proposal. He also said the five counties now members of the regional authority "alone cannot support or build a new airport if, in fact, a new airport is needed." Voters in Twin Falls County turned down the proposal by a three to one margin.

Manning said the upgrading of an airport survey made on behalf of the city of Twin Falls in 1966 should be completed "toward the end of this year."

The survey updating is to be paid for by the recently formed five-county authority. In 1966 the survey cost Twin Falls $16,000. The upgrading of that report is expected to cost about $35,000 with the federal government paying about two thirds of that total.

The state official, who was accompanied to the session by Warren Barry, a member of the state aeronautics board, said no final site decision would be made until the upgrading survey is completed.

The federal grant, he said, requires a study of the entire area. Also, he said, the study will determine what type facility is important, or whether the final decision should be a complex of airports or one airport. The city, county, state and federal money which has been awarded Joslin Field at Twin Falls must also be considered as would the period to amortize this investment.

"Right now the location of a regional field is not known," he said.

Questioned as to possibility of engineers deciding to build a completely new field as against extension of Joslin Field, he said "where an engineering firm would realize more money from a new field over the enlarging of an established field, we do not look for the final decision to be influenced by this situation. We look for an unbiased type of study."

The state director also said:

- (1) Cost factors of various solutions will be taken into account.
- (2) The state department intends to aid all concerned until the final decision is made.
- (3) The prime concern is to provide good transportation, both on the ground and in the air, for all of Magic Valley.
- (4) Twin Falls' application for $55,000 in state funds for airport work will be considered along with other requests and "all requests will have the same opportunity."

Barry spoke briefly at the session, held at the Holiday Inn, and said "federal officials have said all along you cannot ignore the Twin Falls airport."

Bill Powell, airport commission chairman, presided at the meeting which was also attended by City Councilman Winston Jones and City Manager Jean Miller. County commissioners were unable to attend because of previously scheduled budget hearings.

Harbor House changes aired

TWIN FALLS — Streamlining the governing body of Harbor House of Magic Valley was announced today by Zoe Ann Shaub, general membership chairman.

Board members met Tuesday afternoon at Harbor House to elect a seven member executive board which will conduct major business meetings with the general membership to meet only quarterly. The former approximately 20 directors now become members.

Mrs. Watson reported the building is now ready for painting and base coats on wood and other finishing will be the first step. Volunteer assistance in providing paint and labor has been offered by the Twin Falls Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, the Beta Sigma Phi, CSI Veterans, Civitan and Jaycees.

Mrs. Henderson said she has been advised additional federal money will be available on a matching basis for 1973 if needed for finishing the basement and other areas not covered by initial funds.

Mrs. Shaub conducted the meeting. Mrs. Watson said additional items are badly needed before the new home can be occupied. Carpets from the present Harbor House which was donated by community organizations will be moved to the new building and used where possible. Some additional carpet and furnishings will be needed and some have already been donated by the community.

Mrs. Shaub was elected chairman of the general membership. Executive board members will name their own chairman, secretary and treasurer.

The executive board members include E. E. Jellison, Ron Strolberg, Richard Reed, David Humphrey, Reed Maughan, Helen Henderson and Judy Watson.

Bylaws were adopted and reports made on the progress of the new Harbor House building at the end of Fillmore Street.

TF United Fund plans election

TWIN FALLS — The annual business meeting of the Twin Falls United Fund is scheduled for 7:30 a.m. Feb. 25 at the Depot Grill.

Officers and members of the board of directors for the coming year will be elected. In addition to the elections, special awards and recognitions to United Fund workers during the past campaign will be presented.

All contributors to the Twin Falls United Fund are eligible to vote in the elections and are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Reservations may be made by phoning the Twin Falls United Fund office, 733-4922.

CAA sets election meeting

JEROME — Representatives of the Community Action Agency will meet Feb. 22 to elect board officers for 1972, according to Royal Sloten, Twin Falls president.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Jerome County Courthouse.

Six representatives from each of three counties, Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassia, plus one Head Start Parent Advisory Council member, will choose a president, vice-president and secretary for the coming year.

Each of the three county Community Action Agency boards met earlier this year to choose local representatives to the tri-county board.

In addition to Sloten, present officers include: Harold Blauer, Burley, vice president, and Helen Carter, Twin Falls, secretary.

Blood quota

TWIN FALLS — A blood drawing among College of Southern Idaho staff and students drew 156 pints Tuesday — six over the established quota.

Chuck Charlton, college adviser for the program and vice chairman of the Twin Falls Red Cross, said the drawing was the first conducted only for college personnel.

He credited work by college students, and a club competition, for exceeding the quota.

Dr. Charles Hahn, Twin Falls, served as the doctor. A total of eleven registered nurses and licensed practical nurses helped with the drawing, as well as two dozen college students who performed clerical duties and served as "walkers" for donors who had completed their drawing.

Included among the nurses were Mrs. Fred Byrne, Mrs. Warren Kramer, Mrs. Lucy Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Mrs. T. A. Phillips, Mrs. Charles Wagner, Mrs. Willard Peterson, Mrs. Delmar Davis, Mrs. Judy Roberts, Mrs. George Blackburn and Mrs. Harley Hammond.

12% increase shown in TF County budget

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners expect to adopt a 1972 Twin Falls County budget later this week which will reflect a 12 per cent increase over last year rather than the proposed 17 per cent increase.

Cuts were announced for proposed nursing home construction and jail expansion.

Merl Leonard, commissioner, said in a quick calculation he believes this cut will reduce the anticipated budget increase over last year to a 12 per cent increase.

Despite arguments from Lyle Abel, Filer, to cut the proposed $101,000 solid waste budget by at least $25,000, the commissioners left the entire amount in the budget.

Leonard and Chancey said they could be forced to borrow money for solid waste disposal if the budget were cut because of the fast moving developments in this area. Leonard said he believes the county will have to be ready by early spring to either take over the city of Twin Falls' sanitary landfill or develop their own.

City residents in Twin Falls are victims of double taxation until a single countywide program can be developed, Leonard said.

County Commissioners William Chancey said following one and one-half days of continuous public hearing sessions, about $165,000 will be cut from the tentative figure. The county had proposed a $5.8 million budget which included the $3.8 million hospital budget.

During public hearing sessions Monday and Tuesday with Tax Equality Association members and individual county taxpayers, the county officials approved two major reductions.

They were announced Tuesday afternoon as the hearing closed.

There will be $35,000 cut from the $185,796 "sanitor" budget. This involves the proposed county jail remodeling and expansion and will leave $50,000 instead of $85,000 for this work this year. Taxpayers recommended this reduction in view of evidence the project cannot be completed in 1972.

The other reduction was in the poor fund. Here county officials had included $130,000 for a possible nursing home building program.

Those of individual taxing units. "I hope you will show as much interest in school district, highway district and municipal budgets as you have shown in the county budget," he said.

Lancaster said a taxpayer living in the city of Twin Falls pays $13.30 on each $100 of assessed valuation of his property. Of this, he said, the county has control over $2.15.

At the close of the hearing, Max Galley, Kimberly, and Ted Mason, Murtaugh, members of the county Tax Equality Association, said they felt the day and one-half session with the county officials was productive. Both agreed they had many of their questions answered and both said county officials were making every effort to keep spending at a reasonable level and meet demands for county services.

The Idaho Legislature came in for severe criticism during the hearing as taxpayers questioned several major expenditures, only to be informed they are items required by new state laws.

Harold Lancaster, county clerk and budget officer, urged taxpayers to attend not only county budget hearings but those of individual taxing units. "I hope you will show as much interest in school district, highway district and municipal budgets as you have shown in the county budget," he said.

Lancaster said a taxpayer living in the city of Twin Falls pays $13.30 on each $100 of assessed valuation of his property. Of this, he said, the county has control over $2.15.

Peking's Tough Stand

Senator Edmund Muskie now has been joined by Chou En-lai in his criticism of President Nixon's eight-point proposal for ending the war in Vietnam. Muskie reacted even before the North Vietnamese Communists had time to reject the peace offer.

Chou says the Vietnam war "must and should continue" if Nixon refuses to modify his proposal.

By now it should be plain to everybody that Hanoi will not release American prisoners until there is a military and political settlement, involving unconditional withdrawal of American armed forces and no further support for the Saigon government.

Chou didn't spell out the modifications he thinks should be made but he probably would endorse Muskie's plan for total withdrawal on condition only that American prisoners be released and the safety of departing troops be assured.

In effect, Muskie has told the Communists that Nixon's peace proposals would be superseded by acceptance of Hanoi's terms if he should become President.

His fellow senator and rival for the Democratic nomination, Henry M. Jackson, of Washington, chided Muskie for his blast before the President had a chance to negotiate before his departure for Peking.

"The President needs bipartisan support if he is going to accomplish anything," he said.

It will be difficult enough in Peking, Chou has given public notice that he wants Americans out of the Orient — Taiwan and the Taiwan Straits, Vietnam and South Korea, in that order of emphasis. He has said Taiwan belongs to Red China and dismisses our treaty to defend Nationalist China as "null and void."

It is possible that Chou could put pressure on Hanoi and bring about a dramatic end to the American involvement. The problem Nixon faces is how to persuade Chou that it is in China's interest to do so, without unacceptable concessions.

WASHINGTON — The inner dynamics of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's front-running campaign for the Democratic Presidential nomination explain why he has now lunged toward an advanced position on Vietnam: a threat to end military supplies for the Saigon regime unless power is shared with the Communists.

So clear an anti-Saigon stance has been stubbornly resisted by Muskie during his laborious three-year journey away from support of the war. But irresistible pressure has come from the new Muskie apparatus of advisers, political technicians and supporting politicians. Nearly all advocate total termination of U.S. military aid to South Vietnam, the heart of President Nixon's Vietnamization program. The result is Muskie's new position, bearing shrouded implications that may not be revealed until Nov. 2. For now, Muskie men are jubilant that brutal White House attacks against his position have pinned down a Democratic nomination which seemed nearly certain anyway. But still to be determined is the impact on Muskie's political image, essential to a defeat of President Nixon. That image depends upon unimpeachable and nothing could have been more impressive before last week than Muskie's refusal to say whether he would or would not continue military supplies to Saigon after U.S. troops were gone. Muskie had declined to go as far against such aid as was advised by Clark Clifford, the hawk-turned-dove former Secretary of Defense and now Muskie's principal political tutor on Vietnam.

When President Nixon laid bare on Jan. 25 secret negotiations with Hanoi, Muskie (in Carbondale, Ill.) had time to place but one telephone call before making a public statement. It went to Clifford in Washington, who urged a denunciation of the President's initiative.

Muskie, by nature a cautious state-of-Mainer, instinctively rejected Clifford's advice. "Obviously," he declared that night in Carbondale, "we all welcome a new initiative on the part of our government to end the war and bring the troops home." The next day, Jan. 26, brought some Muskie criticism of the Nixon plan's details but no outright opposition.

Nor was there any change Jan. 27 when Muskie, airborne between Jacksonville and Daytona Beach in Florida, told us that Mr. Nixon's speech probably secured short-term political advantage. But long-term advantage, Muskie went on, would depend on whether the plan actually ended the war. On that point, he was extremely doubtful. Supremely confident, Muskie scarcely seemed geared for massive rebuttal.

But some Muskie operatives were less self-certain. Veterans of 1968 peace politics, they feared Mr. Nixon had suffocated the war issue for the foreseeable future. One top aide wondered, almost hopefully, whether it would take a successful 1972 Tet offensive by the Communists to revive anti-war sentiment.

More important, Muskie's soft response to the Nixon plan evoked harsh private reactions from prominent Democratic doves who had endorsed the Senator for President. One such influential Congressman telephoned a Muskie lieutenant to inform him that he and his constituents were in a state of anxiety over Muskie's position. However small the true weight of such sentiments might be on the scale of national public opinion, they were keenly felt in Muskie headquarters.

Finally, Muskie's foreign policy advisers in Washington had immediately begun writing a Vietnam speech, hoping Muskie would change his position. In this atmosphere, Muskie was indeed changing. On Saturday morning, Jan. 29, Muskie told aides he felt the Nixon proposal had been rejected by Hanoi (though this was debatable) showing a green light for him to criticize it.

Subsequent Florida-to-Washington telephone calls and non-stop meetings back in Washington transformed Muskie's past imprecisions into much harder formulations. Muskie staffers do not deny the new position, delivered Feb. 2, boils down to this: unless Saigon seeks political accommodation with the Communists, Muskie as President would — sooner or later — end its warming potential by cutting off military supplies.

"DON'T YOU KNOW A DOVE WHEN YOU SEE ONE?"

PAUL HARVEY

Leaders Women

President Nixon could be accused of politicking for including wife Pat Nixon on official missions — except that he has always included her.

This is his tacit recognition of what a man's success costs his family.

At a recent banquet I sat beside a governor who'd been in office for only two months. There was no doubt he was enjoying the personal accolades, the public deference and the clout.

But he confessed that he'd had no idea his wife would not be invited to play bridge with the neighbors any more.

"Perhaps," I suggested, "the neighbors have placed her, like you, on a pedestal out of reach."

The governor said it wasn't that. It was the fact that any political dissent was shushed by her presence; she "wasn't fun to play with any more."

Most of us are turned off by the prominent person who feels sorry for himself. When an actor bemoans the dreadful invasion of his privacy by "all those autograph seekers" he sounds like a whining, ungrateful, undeserving dilettante.

But that success is a merciless marriage-wrecker should be acknowledged and understood before the fact.

The wife of California's governor, Nancy Reagan, says the only way for a governor's wife to keep from feeling sorry for herself is to concentrate very hard on the advantages. Like Nancy Reagan, Ruth Graham, wife of evangelist Billy Graham, resigns herself to his preoccupation by constantly reminding him of his ordination and the importance of his work.

Characteristically, few publications would be more gung-ho for success and achievement than the Wall Street Journal, yet recently this publication gave a half-page editorial warning to success-seekers that it's in the high-achievement families that we find the most wives trying to bury themselves in books, beretras and surrogate bed partners.

And witnessing this tragic toll has disenchanted a whole generation of young people with the success syndrome.

I'll never forget a personal experience in York, Pa., when young Paul was a toddler. An interviewer asked if he intended to be a commentator like daddy. He said no. He said, "They have to be away from their families too much."

Dr. Robert Seidenberg is a professor of psychiatry at New York State University at Syracuse.

He says the more successful a man is in rising to the so-called "top" in corporate America, the more likely he is to be moved from city to city with serious deleterious effects on wives and children.

A husband's credentials are transferable, but in each new location the family has to start all over again — at the bottom.

"Culture shock" is not new. That "nothing fails like success" is not the discovery of contemporary psychologists.

Two hundred years ago French politician Camus wrote: "Every achievement is an enslavement."

Or as George Orwell wrote, "When a man seeks and secures authority over others it is his own freedom he destroys, for he must 'do then and thereafter not what he wants, but what is expected of him.'"

In nothing more than in this have the Women's Lib women a very valid grievance.

Women's Lib

WASHINGTON — As a charter member of the Chauvinist Male Pigs Society, I must express concern over a sordid development in the all-out effort by Women's Lib to make the female sex look ridiculous. Even the dictionary makers seem to have been intimidated by this curious horde.

That is to say, assorted dictionary editors have not rejected out of hand the suggestion that the word "housewife" be declared obsolete. In a New York Times story, the editors were described as sympathetic to the femlibbers' complaints that the housewife's role is less fulfilling than her husband's, and that the word "is demeaning, close to a confession, far from a comfort."

I find particularly ominous the quote attributed to Herbert A. Gilbert, editor of Funk and Wagnalls dictionaries: "I don't think the word is sufficiently appraisable to most people to warrant a change at this period."

Obnoxious indeed! The job of a dictionary editor is not to decide whether he likes a given word, but whether it exists in either common or special usage. Forgetting for the moment that perhaps a majority of women find the word felicitous, Gilbert seems to be saying that approximately one out of five women should be one of the considerations in admitting a word to the dictionary.

"Housewife" indisputably not only exists, it has existed since the 14th century. It as H. Bosley Woolf of Webster's points out. To suggest that a pressure group of a peculiar shade should be permitted to declare a word illegal is to suggest "an end to scholarship. 'Nigger,' one of the most offensive words ever invented, is still in the dictionaries because it exists. So are assorted four-letter jobs—because they exist. Should 'man' and 'woman' be discarded because some idiotic female with pimples and an insecurity problem desires to turn neuter?"

Apparently the major problem facing the dictionary editors (EVERYTHING is a ruddy problem these days) is in housewife's definition. "The objections," said Woolf in the Times piece, "would be not really to the word but to the profession. (It) signifies," Gilbert referred to the last part of the definition—"who does not work for a living"—and suggested this might be changed to "who is not gainfully employed."

Down, Gilbert! Everybody capable of understanding two-syllable sentences recognizes that the present definition means that a housewife does not go daily to an office or factory; some things go without saying, even with some menbers of today's crop of educated college students. But a housewife is certainly gainfully employed, as can be certified by any at-home girl not obsessed with a search for the "ideal"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Taste-Smell

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife, 73, has no sense of smell or taste, and attributes it to the use of salt water in irrigating her nose and gargling over a period of many years. She did this on the advice of a friend for a nose-sinus-throat condition. She discontinued it quite some time ago but wonders if that has to do with loss of these senses. Is there anything she can do or take?—R.D.

Dear Doctor: I read an article about the trace metal zinc being used to treat loss of taste and smell. G.C.S.

Sniffing salt water isn't a good idea, and I have frequently warned against it. The principal objection is washing germs into the sinuses.

However, it is quite probable that prolonged use of salt water, especially if too strong, could have damaged the tissues enough to cause loss of smell. And since taste is so intimately tied up with odor, the sense of taste is largely lost, too.

However, there are other causes of loss of smell. Certain neurological disorders can do it. This sense also can be disrupted by some infections, particularly those of the flu type, and there have been a good many complaints of this following the last outbreak of so-called Atan flu.

There is no sure-fire way of restoring the sense of smell.

although it may improve as time passes:—

Yes, I've seen reports of the use of zinc salts taken by mouth to bring about improvement, but I cannot say, as yet, how effective this is. If they are tried, it should be only under guidance of a physician, as such salts can irritate the stomach.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease." I enclose 30 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope. My husband also has neuritis. Does that go with diabetes? Is there any help for the neuritis?—Mrs. H.G.

"Neuritis" doesn't necessarily go with diabetes, nor does it result only from that, naturally. There are other causes. But diabetic neuritis is one of the hazards of diabetes, unless the diabetes is kept under good control.

As a generally, neuritis has to be controlled by subduing whatever the underlying cause is, so if your husband has diabetes, the first thing to check is whether he has been keeping his sugar level under control. If not, see that he accomplishes that as quickly as possible. Such neuritis is one more reason why diabetes deserves to be called "the sneaky disease."

That's a good question. But frankly, I don't know it.

The Democratic or Republican for call

Lollygaggers

First it was Sen. Margaret Chase Smith who proposed the U.S. Senate adopt a rule expelling any member who missed a certain percentage of the roll-calls. Then Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, usually as mild-mannered as they come, let loose on the Senate's legislative record. That record, he said, "to put it mildly, is abominable."

"Noting the high rate of absenteeism, Sen. Mansfield observed the Senate might as well pass the appropriation bills and go home if all its members wanted to do was 'lollygag and engage in dilatory tactics.'"

"None of us were drafted for this job," the Senate leader reminded his colleagues. "I would hope that we would face up to our job with maturity and that each senator would act so we can do the job the people are paying us to do."

Unusual language, but deserved. The Senate is dallying and has been for many months. One reason is the large number of senators who are absent when important business comes up.

Senate absenteeism could become a powerful election-time weapon. Candidates opposing incumbents could chalk up points by asking where the gentleman was when the roll was called on such and such bill. Those who have been skiing in Switzerland or basking in the sun at their favorite retreat might find it difficult to respond.

MR. SPECTATOR

About Thinking Thoughts

Hypothesis: "In a hierarchy, every employee tends to rise to his level of incompetence. In time, every post tends to be occupied by an employee who is incompetent to carry out its duties." Work is accomplished by those employees who have not yet reached their level of incompetence.—Dr. Lawrence T. Peter in "The Peter Principle."

Examples: The instructions which accompanied a large shipment of ballistic missiles to a British military base read as follows: "It is necessary for technical reasons that these warheads be stored upside down; that is, with the top at the bottom and the bottom at the top. In order that there is no doubt about which is the bottom and which is the top, for storage purposes it will be seen that the bottom of each warhead has been labeled with the word 'top.'"

Not to be outdone, an aircraft company has a door marked "Emergency Exit—Authorized Personnel Only."

As an architectural triumph in incompetence, there's the new 24-story glass building in which all lavatories were equipped with one-way glass installed backwards, affording a perfect view from the street.

Instructions for college registration: "Students who marry during their course will not be permitted to remain in college. Further, students who are already married must live with their husbands or make other arrangements with the Dean."

A newspaper report: "The Fortin Street Bridge has been repaired following its collapse last fall. New iron and plates which held the truss were installed, and the bridge is in the condition it was prior to its collapse."

Question from application for service in an intelligence agency: "Have you or any members of your family ever committed suicide?"

Regulation in a government office: "When an employee is absent from duty on account of illness dies without making application for Advance Sick Leave, the fact of death is sufficient to show serious disability and dispenses with the requirement of a formal application and medical certificate."

Want Ad: "Person to work on a nuclear fissionable isotopic molecular reactor and three-phase cyclotronic photosynthesizer. No experience necessary."

Mr. Spectator would point out that we all think such things are ridiculous. But he would also point out that all of us are guilty of things just as silly—every now and then.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Most men need two women—a secretary to take everything down and a wife to plok everything up.

NEEDS HELP

Mr. Spectator: Would you help a befuddled older?

This business of regional postoffices: How big is the region? If I live on the outskirts, would my letters get there faster if I mailed them in the center—if I have to come to Twin Falls anyway?

An Obituary

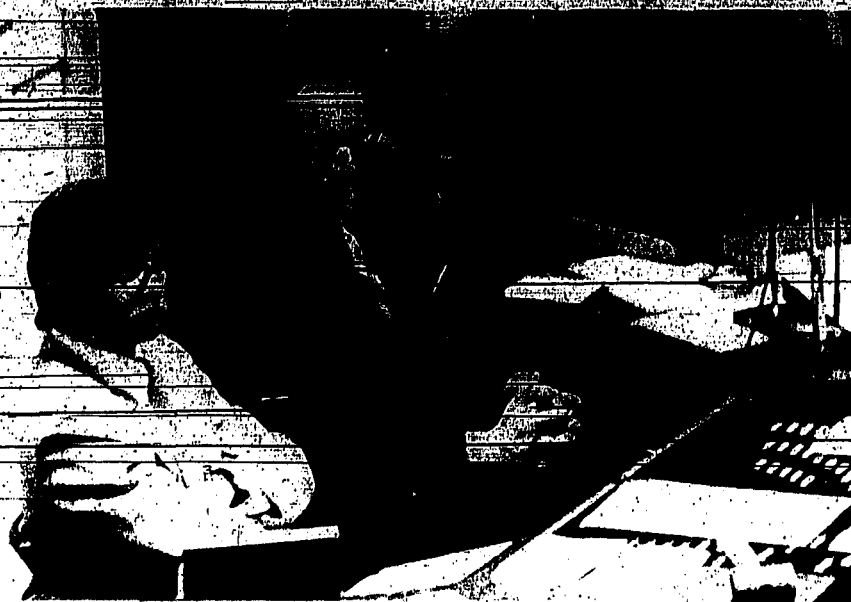

Shooting preserves proposed

BOISE (UPI) — The House Resources and Conservation Committee Tuesday introduced a bill to permit establishment of private shooting preserves in Idaho.

This bill would give the Fish and Game Commission authority to make rules and regulations governing operation of such preserves.

Each preserve licensed by the fish and game director would have to contain a minimum of 100 acres in a single tract of land, including water area if any, but could not be larger than 1,000 acres.

Minimum average width of the preserve would have to be at least one quarter mile and maximum length or dimension could not exceed two miles. Land would have to be owned entirely by the licensee and would have to be adaptable to use as a game breeding and/or controlled shooting area.

Once a year

REP. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, presides over the Idaho House of Representatives in a morning session recently. Antone said he took the speaker's chair "about once a year."

Hearing set

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Agricultural Affairs Committee will hold a public hearing at 2 p.m. Feb. 22 on bills to regulate potato supplies and to increase assessments for advertising and promotion.

The sessions will be in Room 420 of the statehouse. One bill would create a marketing board authorized to purchase potatoes from growers when the market price drops below 95 per cent of parity. The other would increase the assessment on crops to support the advertising program.

Marriage rate not going bad

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's registrar of vital statistics said Tuesday in reply to a story in a Boise newspaper which alleged that two-thirds of Idaho marriages end in divorce, that marriages in the state are not "going on the rocks" at a much higher rate than in the past.

W. W. Benson said statewide totals for marriages and divorces do not back up the two-thirds figure. He said in 1970 divorces were about one third of the number of marriages, with 3,612 divorces to 10,915 marriages.

Preliminary figures for 1971 — the first year in which irreconcilable differences was grounds for divorce — indicate an even smaller ratio with divorces down and marriages up or 3,525 divorces to 11,086 marriages.

Benson said, "Comparing the ratio of divorces to marriages with past years must be done with the realization that some changes have taken place in our marriage and divorce laws."

"Idaho's marriage laws once made it much easier for young people under the age of consent in their state of residence to be married here, but this law was changed in early 1967. The immediate results in marriage picture in Idaho can be seen by comparing figures."

He said there were 15,864 marriages in 1965, 17,129 in 1966, and 14,108 in 1967. In 1965 divorces totaled 2,874, while in 1967 there were 3,183 divorces. He noted ten years ago there was one divorce for every four marriages.

Measure suggests compensation unit

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee sent out without recommendation Tuesday two proposed constitutional amendments to create legislative compensation commissions.

One measure proposed by Sen. Leon Swenson, R-Nampa, would have the commission be an elected body which would set the rate of compensation.

The other, proposed by Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, would have the commission be an appointive body.

Compensation set by the commissions would not be applicable to the legislature in session at the time.

Bad checks suggested as felony

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee introduced Tuesday a bill to make bad check writing a felony of the third degree if the issuer had no funds in or credit with the drawer for the payment in full of such a check or in the case of a check for $25 or more if the issuer had insufficient funds on credit with such drawee for the payment in full.

Under the proposal the offense would be a felony of the third degree if the issuer had no funds in or credit with the drawer for the payment in full of such a check or in the case of a check for $25 or more if the issuer had insufficient funds on credit with such drawee for the payment in full.

Military police options

TWIN FALLS — The United States Army Military Police enlistment option became effective Feb. 1, according to Sgt. Jack Edlin, U.S. Army recruiter.

Under the option qualified non-prior servicemen enlisting for three years will be trained in law enforcement and guaranteed their choice of one of the following units: 30th MP Battalion, Presidio of San Francisco; 518th MP Battalion, Ft. Hood, Tex.; 759th MP Battalion, Ft. Dix, N.J.; 503rd MP Battalion, Ft. Bragg, N.C.; 508th MP Battalion, Ft. Riley, Kan.; 519th MP Battalion, Ft. Meade, Md.

Must file hopes

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved 16-14 and sent to the house Tuesday a bill to require write-in candidates for school district or highway district elections to file a declaration of interest five days prior to the election.

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, said the measure is intended to bring any write-in campaign "out in the open instead of running a sneak attack."

Firms charged

BOISE (UPI) — The Justice Department Tuesday charged a Sandpoint supermarket and a Glens Ferry auto dealer with violating phase II price posting requirements in two lawsuits filed in U.S. district court. The Sandpoint IGA Supermarket and the Shrum Motor Company of Glens Ferry were both charged with violating price control rules by failure to post required base price lists. The new price posting regulations took effect Jan. 2.

General fund budget set for public school help

Palmer said when he made his motion for an additional $3.8 million for public schools that any money not used for teacher salary increases could revert to the formula for distribution among the school districts.

High emphasized the decision was only tentative and said once the joint committee has made its first run through the general fund requests — coming out with a tentative figure for the entire budget — the House Revenue and Taxation Committee could begin to look at revenue measures.

Palmer's motion assumed a five-mill reduction on local property tax support for public education as suggested by Andrus and also assumed the sales tax monies turned over to counties to replace the inventory tax would remain at its present dollar level, also as suggested by Andrus.

Palmer and other House Republicans questioned the exact meaning of Andrus' proposed $1.6 million increase for public school support. They said from Andrus' total should be deducted the anticipated $5 million loss if the mill levy limit is lowered plus other sums for retaining the dollar amount of the inventory tax replacement.

Sen. Vern Bisbee, R-Boise, speaking in favor of Palmer's motion, said he felt the lawmakers "should go in and fund what we feel will fund public education."

Andrus said the estimated price tag of $3 million for kindergartens would be necessary only if every school district in the state offered the program for every eligible 5-year-old.

But, he said, the program has always been proposed as a voluntary one, both for the school districts and for the parents of the children.

School funding means tax hike

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus predicted Tuesday a spending level of $47.8 million from the general fund for public schools would mean an increase in property taxes in the state.

Obviously the legislature does not propose to give the people of Idaho any property tax relief as I proposed," Andrus said, referring to the tentative budget set earlier in the day by the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee.

"I can tell you right now the property tax in the local level will increase for public education. Not only will it give them property tax relief but you will see property taxes increase throughout Idaho to support public education."

Andrus, told the figure did not include money for kindergartens, said kindergartens are "not a factor in the amount of money for education. No one knows what it will cost."

President's home passes by 1 vote

BOISE (UPI) — Told the cupboard was nearly bare for public school support, the house approved a $70,000 appropriation for a president's home at Boise State College by a single vote Tuesday.

Even after the house approved the proposal 32-31, it appeared for a while the members might change their minds and reconsider the vote by which they passed it.

Not until the end of the day's business — when time passed for reconsideration of the proposal — did the bill finally squeak through and head for the senate.

Floor Sponsor Larry Jackson, R-Boise, pointed out the money already has been appropriated and simply would be reallocated for another purpose.

He said the president's home is the "cultural center" of the campus for students and faculty and provision of a decent official residence is an inducement to recruiting an able college president.

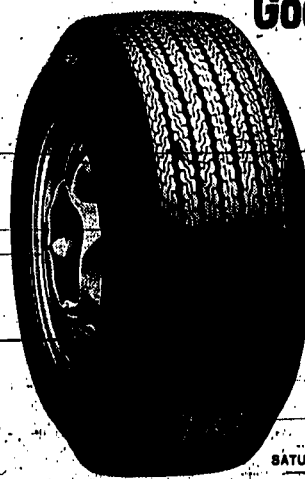

Rep. E. V. McHan, R-Ketchum, said the BSC president's home bill comes at a "very unopportune time" inasmuch as the state is in a "bind for elementary education."

"It is not a very wise thing," he said of the bill. "It is not a very fair thing."

"This man receives a good salary," he said. "He can afford to continue buying his own home a few more years like everyone else."

BOLD STAKE WAXES

Mrs. Irving could face extradition

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edith Irving said she would surrender today to authorities who will determine whether to extradite her to Switzerland to face prosecution on criminal charges stemming from her husband's autobiography of Howard Hughes.

The slim, blonde Mrs. Irving, 36, was surrendering for arraignment at 11 a.m. EST, when a date would then be set for an extradition hearing.

A warrant for her arrest was issued Tuesday by federal Magistrate Martin Jacobs after an official of the Swiss Consulate presented an extradition request.

The Swiss-born Mrs. Irving's husband, Clifford, 41, who has claimed to have interviewed Hughes more than 100 times in preparing his alleged autobiography, has said his wife was the "Helga R. Hughes" who deposited $500,000 into a numbered Swiss bank account. She then withdrew the money.

McGraw-Hill publishers had given Irving the money in the form of checks to pass on to Hughes for what the company thought was the privacy-loving billionaire's cooperation in preparing the book.

The complaint filed by the Swiss charges Mrs. Irving with counterfeiting, forgery, use of counterfeit and forged instruments, embezzlement and theft. She allegedly used a forged passport to open the bank account. Most of the $500,000 has been recovered, police have said.

In another development Tuesday, two blonde former girl friends of Irving's, folk-singing Danish Baronesse Nina van Pallandt and acuba diving instructor Ann Baxter, appeared before federal and New York grand juries investigating the circumstances under which the book was prepared.

Grand jury proceedings are secret. After her appearance, however, the statuses Mrs. Van Pallandt's manager, John Marshall, told newsmen, "She testified Irving never saw Hughes in her presence."

Miss Baxter, 29, would not comment on her testimony. But she has said that she went to St. Croix in the Virgin Islands with Irving in December for a "final" interview with Hughes.

Arrest ordered

A FEDERAL JUDGE, acting on a Swiss request for extradition, ordered the arrest of Mrs. Edith Irving, who misappropriated $500,000 of publisher's checks intended for Howard Hughes for an "autobiography" compiled by her husband, Clifford Irving. (UPI)

Ecuador leader overthrown

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—The military overthrew President Jorge Velasco Ibarra Tuesday night, putting him on a plane for Panama and announcing the end of the presidential election scheduled for next June.

It was the fourth time Velasco had been ousted from the Ecuadorian presidency, having been elected to head the Colorado-sized nation for the first time in 1933.

The armed forces accused him of exploiting the people and of treason.

There was no violence reported during the overthrow.

The military said the nation would be run by a three-member council headed by army chief of staff, Gen. Guillermo Rodriguez Lara. The other two council members of the "revolutionary government of clear, nationalist conception"

Gen. Velasco arrived in Panama at 2:45 a.m. EST aboard an air force DC8 and refused to answer questions saying, "I don't want to be an uncomfortable guest for the Panamanian government."

He and his chauffeur, the only other person aboard the plane besides the crew, were met by Panamanian Foreign Minister

Gen. Antonio Pacheco and escorted to a motel in a government-owned building. The plane refused to land in Quito.

Ecuador was calm after the announcement of the coup over a nationwide radio hookup. Only small groups of curious political followers ventured to the presidential palace to view the situation, but rain quickly dispersed them.

The 77-year-old Velasco was arrested in the port city of Guayaquil, 250 miles southwest of Quito, where he had gone with aides because of fears of a coup. He had been scheduled to speak over a nationwide television broadcast Tuesday, one hour after his arrival in Guayaquil.

Velasco had accused Rodrigues of treason in plotting an overthrow apparently to avoid the possible victory of populist presidential candidate Assad Bucaram in the June election.

Bucaram's opponents had charged that Bucaram was a foreigner and therefore not eligible to run in the presidential election.

Bucaram went into hiding immediately following announcement of the coup.

Bail set for Soviet employe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bail of $500,000 was set Tuesday for a Soviet U.N. employe arraigned on espionage charges for allegedly obtaining secret plans on a new U.S. Navy jet fighter.

The Russian, Valery I. Markelov, 33, a translator, refused to speak anything but Russian in court thus forcing postponement of his hearing until later today.

Markelov spoke English to FBI agents when arrested Monday night and began to talk in that language in court. When informed of his right to remain silent, the Russian lapsed into his native tongue.

U.S. Magistrate Max Schiffman declined Soviet Consul Leonid V. Scherbakov's offer to interpret for Markelov and put off the hearing until 2 p.m. today.

Markelov is alleged to have solicited and obtained classified information on the new swing-wing F14 jet from a Grumman Aerospace Corp. engineer working on the project.

When arrested in Patchogue, N.Y., Monday, he had the secret documents which he apparently had just received from the engineer, who was not identified by the FBI.

The engineer had been working closely with the FBI and he met with the suspect 11 times since the fall of 1970 in various area restaurants. In each case the two men were under surveillance by federal agents.

Since Markelov is not a member of the Soviet Mission to the United Nations he is not entitled to diplomatic immunity, and if convicted on the espionage charges could receive 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Agnew states intention

By United Press International

Spiro T. Agnew said today that if he believes his presence on the ticket will hurt President Nixon's re-election chances, he will not seek another term as vice president.

But, Agnew added, he had no intention of making such a decision yet.

He made his comments in a taped interview scheduled for broadcast on NBC-TV "Today" program.

Nixon, meanwhile, made final preparations for his journey to China, which will start Thursday. Taking note of the event, a Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. George S. McGovern, urged Nixon to seek mutual agreement on the use of nuclear weapons and to obtain the release of three American prisoners shot down over Chinese territory.

And Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., who is challenging Nixon in the March 7 New Hampshire primary, asked Nixon to stop at Peace, N.H., Air Force Base on his way back from China for a televised debate.

In other political developments:

—Republican Rep. John N. Ashbrook of Ohio, who has mounted a conservative challenge to Nixon, said he was encouraged by the response he had received in New Hampshire and would enter another 10 primaries.

—Martha Mitchell said she believed her husband, Attorney General John N. Mitchell, made a "very bad move" when he resigned to head Nixon's re-election effort, and that she was "very unhappy."

—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said at Miami Beach that he believed "busing was the least desirable way" of bringing equality to education but that "in particular situations it can be useful" in indicating our commitment to

Troops discover 'tarred' youth

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British troops found a youth tarred and feathered on a country road early today. The army said it was the latest in an apparent series of reprisals by the Irish Republican Army.

IRA gunmen shot and wounded five Belfast men Tuesday night in incidents that security officials said appeared to be attempted assassinations or punishments.

"It looks like the IRA held a mass kangaroo court somewhere in the city today," a police spokesman said of the shootings.

An army spokesman called the tarred and feathering of the unidentified youth, who is about 19, "obviously the work of an IRA punishment squad."

He said the youth had been hospitalized overnight.

In the Belfast shootings, British soldiers patrolling the Roman Catholic Ardoyne district found three men—each shot in the thigh—lying in a street, blindfolded and with their hands tied behind them.

Shooting in the thigh is a traditional IRA punishment, generally for informers, an army officer said. "We presume this was an IRA job."

Two earlier, more serious, shootings baffled security officials.

Gunmen firing from speeding cars shot and wounded two Roman Catholics—a 17-year-old boy and a 46-year-old man—in separate incidents in the Catholic Falls Road and Short Strand districts.

The youth was hospitalized in fair condition with wounds in the chest and arm. The man was hit in the chest, arm and stomach, and is in serious condition after emergency surgery. Neither was identified.

Striking union votes on plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The rank and file of the striking longshoremen's union begin voting today on whether to approve a 17-month contract recommended by local leaders following a four-day caucus.

Delegates from 24 ports in California, Washington and Oregon voted Tuesday night to recommend ratification of an agreement worked out with the Pacific Maritime Association for ending the 131-day walkout.

The caucus, called under bylaws of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, has been

Syndicate end aired by chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Henry E. Petersen, new chief of the Justice Department's Criminal Division, said Tuesday he believes the syndicate which runs organized crime in the United States can be wiped out by 1978.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell said in mid-1970 the administration's goal was to break up the Mafia and that he hoped "the nation's bicentennial celebration will receive as a present the elimination of organized crime."

"I like to think that that is attainable," Petersen, an assistant attorney general, told a news conference. "At the rate we're going, I think it is. But whether or not others will rise up to take their place . . . if the law enforcement agencies want that people can still make money legally, I suppose they will move into that vacuum," he said.

"In the generic sense, I support 'we'll always have organized crime,'" he added.

China trade topic

BOISE — William D. Eberle, special U.S. representative for international trade negotiations, will be featured speaker at the Farm Forum Feb. 23.

Eberle's remarks on trade with Red China and Russia will coincide with President Nixon's trip to Peking, which Eberle was instrumental in arranging. He is expected to provide some insight on the possibilities for sale of U.S. agricultural commodities to Communist countries.

The third annual Farm Forum is sponsored by the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce, with Harold West of the Idaho Wheat Commission as general chairman. Sessions will start at 10:30 a.m. on Feb. 23 in the Rowley Inn Convention Center.

Also appearing on the Farm Forum program will be Sen. Leon Swenson and Rep. Jack Claiborne, chairman of the committees on Agriculture in their respective houses of the Idaho Legislature.

The legislators are to discuss bills affecting Idaho agriculture, including measures that would increase the potato tax and establish a marketing order to remove surplus potatoes from the market.

The farm-labor bill, workmen's compensation for agricultural employees, alien bill, and Occupational Safety and Health Act will also be reviewed.

Minico 'harvest vacation' out

RUPERT — There'll be no "harvest vacation" next fall for students in Minidoka County, but students will be granted time off as needed for verified field work.

Trustees of the Minidoka County School District adopted the 1972-73 school year calendar Monday night after discussion with student officers from Minico High School, representatives of the fair board and several in the audience.

Classes will start on Sept. 5, running through May 25, 1973, the trustees agreed after lengthy discussion.

Several alternatives were considered, including starting earlier and allowing a brief harvest vacation on spring break, but it was agreed that there would be no such interference with the annual county fair.

LaMont Smith, Minidoka County agent, said that many students usually enter fair competition in all categories, and scheduling classes at that time would be unfair to the students.

Supt. Darrell Hatfield suggested allowing students a maximum of 10 days during the school year to participate in harvest work, with the absence to be excused automatically. The work must be verified upon request by principals or the administration, Dr. Hatfield said, and any students under 16 years of age will be allowed to work only for their parents.

Federal law is strict in prohibiting younger students from working for any employer other than their parents, it was pointed out.

The trustees agreed to schedule the opening of classes for Sept. 5, the day following Labor Day, to avoid conflict with fair activities.

State law establishes five holidays which must be observed, including three which fall "within a teacher's contract period," including Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day, Dr. Hatfield said. The others are Memorial Day, May 30, and the Fourth of July. If the schools are to run past May 30, that day would have to be allowed as a holiday.

Forest inventory set

BOISE — Plans have been set for a complete re-inventory of Bureau of Land Management forest lands in Idaho, according to a BLM official.

Chief of the division of resources at the Idaho State BLM office in Boise, John R. Killough, said that all commercial timber will be inventoried regardless of current estimates of marketability.

Photo-interpretation work will begin in the Boise District in January, 1973, with field work to begin the following summer.

Killough said. All re-inventory work in all BLM districts in the state will be completed by fiscal 1976.

Insecticide course set

TWIN FALLS — A short course on how to use insecticides in smaller quantities for better results will be offered to interested residents on March 2.

The course is part of a series presented by University of Idaho, Moscow, specialists to farmers, commercial insecticide applicators, industry fieldmen and county agents in all areas of the state this spring.

Scheduled courses have been set for Twin Falls, Idaho Falls, Feb. 28, and Pocatello, Feb. 29. Places and times for other presentations will be released at a later date.

The series was developed by Roland W. Portman, extension entomologist. He said the object of the courses is to help people decide when and when not to use insecticides.

Annual meet set

TWIN FALLS — The annual Idaho Livestock Production Credit Association stockholders meeting is slated for noon, Friday at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls.

According to Ray Voyce, association manager, Boise, new directors will be elected and a report of association business for the year will be given.

William F. Barratt, president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, Spokane, Wash., will be guest speaker.

Voyce said a total of $36,597, 548 was loaned to farmers and ranchers in the state during Insecticides applications are not necessary unless populations of destructive insects reach damaging numbers, so insect identification will be a main feature of the short courses, Portman said.

Peanut support costs entering major league

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of the government's peanut support program is escalating into big league figures.

And unless current laws are changed, there is nothing the Agriculture Department can do to prevent further cost increases in the future, a department study indicates.

"Administration" farm officials, who don't want to add a controversy over peanuts to their other problems in this election year, do not plan to ask for any change in the peanut support law during 1972.

But some cost-cutting changes could be sought when Congress gets around, probably in 1973, to considering extension of other major farm legislation.

Peanut production is concentrated in the South and Southwest. Georgia accounts for more than a third of the national crop, and Georgia, Alabama and Texas combined had 70 per cent of the 1971 U.S. acreage.

Government costs for supporting peanuts, according to Agriculture Department analysts, have risen from about $12 million in 1961 to an estimated $80-$90 million for the record 3 billion pound 1971 crop.

This is small in comparison to the billion dollar annual costs for major crops like grains and cotton. But on a per-acre basis, the picture changes.

Net government losses per harvested acre of peanuts for the 1970 crop were $45 compared with $18 for feed grains, $30 for wheat, $98 for cotton, $130 for rice and $146 for soybeans. For the 1971 peanut crop, per-acre government losses on peanuts will jump again to about $80, a report estimated.

Farm Mackay sets spring sale

MACKAY—The 20th annual spring Hereford range bull sale of the Central Idaho Hereford Association will be held at the Mackay heated sale barn, March 4.

The sale will start at 1 p.m., with Auctioneer Ken Troutt conducting the sale featuring 75 top quality Hereford range bulls.

The grading and show will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. when Bill Rolfe, Bozeman, Mont., will judge the animals. No bulls grading under a "B" will be offered in the ring.

Trophies donated by the Butte County Bank at Arco and the Mackay office of the Idaho First National Bank will be presented to the owner of the grand champion and reserve champion bulls.

Secretary Paul Pattee stated that extra high quality bulls are to be offered at the sale as many of the top Idaho breeders and some prominent out-of-state producers will offer consignments of top quality range ready animals.

The bulls offered at this sale have a reputation for being big, rugged and range ready Herefords, both horned and polled.

Among the prominent breeders offering Hereford bulls at this sale are: Golden Valley Hereford Ranch, Rigby; Leo and Reed-Murdock, Blackfoot; Idaho Pine Hereford Ranch, Rexburg; John and Nora Techick, Moore; Dick Giphon, Idaho Falls; Lazy P Hereford Ranch, Hamer; E. C. Bolander, Salmon.

P and P Hereford Ranch, Moore; Ralph Hatch, Leslie; Louis Cozzitelli, Darlington; Lynn Loebl, Ashton; Cleo and Larry Harrop, Lorenzo; Ernest Olsen and Sons, Logan, Utah, and Rothwell Hereford Ranch, Arco.

Losses are rising, the report explained, partly because current law requires the Agriculture Department to support peanuts at not less than 75 per cent of the "fair earning power" parity price which rises constantly as farm costs

These included cuts in planting allotments, an end to automatic escalation in support prices by divorcing the rates from the farm parity standard, and a "two-price" plan in which high supports would be available on only part of the crop.

Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's director of economics, said in an interview the results of the study had been discussed with peanut producer groups along with "several alternatives" for cutting government costs.

These included cuts in planting allotments, an end to automatic escalation in support prices by divorcing the rates from the farm parity standard, and a "two-price" plan in which high supports would be available on only part of the crop.

Minimum diverted acres required for the program during the year was 2,336 and there were 3,120 allotments on participating farms. Total acres eligible for allotment was 3,285 with 281 farms enrolled in the program out of a possible 314 eligible to participate.

Certificate payments amounted to $1.63 per bushel of wheat based on the farm projected yield on the acreage share of the domestic requirement or set aside acreage and payments were made in July and December, two-payment basis.

BLM call in ribbons

BOISE — All Bureau of Land Management surveyors' blue flagging ribbons, livestock deaths, are being called in, according to state BLM Director William L. Mathews.

Mathews said that some small calves have died after eating the flagging ribbon. The plastic ribbon is impregnated with lead chromate which gives it a bright, durable blue color that is ideally suited for rangeland surveying, he said.

The director said that the General Services Administration will seek a substitute ribbon that is lead-free and still suitable for surveying use.

Teddy Blacker also received the $10 for the outstanding project record book award from Richard Holyoak, field man for Amalgamated Sugar.

FFA winners were Tim Garrard, $50, first; Mike Meade, $30, second place, and Danny West, $20, third place.

In other business, the sugar beet growers elected directors, including, Reginald Hunsaker,

New hairstyles, fashions shown

TWIN FALLS — In observance of National Beauty Salon Week, the Magic Valley Hairdressers' Association presented a show of the latest fashions and hairstyles.

The event gave area residents a preview of what is in store for them in the new spring hair styles and what the well-dressed miss will be wearing.

"Any length hair is in, as long as it is soft and curly," officials said. Most hairdos have less tending and need the support of a permanent. Hair ornaments — flowers, ribbons and hair pieces, will be used in styles for dressy evening affairs.

The Oriental look is big for most clothing styles; show goers were told. Hot pants are definitely in and hats are back in style. Skirt lengths vary from ankle-length to as short as the wearer chooses. Boots and clothing in fabrics to match the boot pattern were also shown.

Narrators for the event were Wynona Kruse and Juan Menchaca, with special music by Johnny Martizia. Fashions for the event were shown courtesy of B-Mary's, and LeVoy's lingerie, both Burley; and Teresa's and Sweetbriar, both Twin Falls, with shoes from Chuck's Shoes at the Top of the Stairs.

Bonnie Robinson and Rudy Veltri were co-chairmen of the event.

Models include Nancy Stephenson, with Don Brinkman as hair stylist; Mini-Cassia Beauty College; Donna Brownfield, with Rudy Veltri as stylist; Diane Moore, with Carolyn Pierce as the stylist from Rita's Beauty Salon; Nami Holmes, with Retta Mae Franks as stylist from Wanda's Beauty Salon; Karen Day, with Judy Aslett as stylist from Bonnie's Salon of Beauty; Luell Peavey, with Lee Ann Walker as stylist from the Fonderosa Beauty Salon; Debbie Scholes, with Mossell Nora as stylist from Mossell's Beauty Salon; Judy Ling, with June Standee as stylist from Wanda's; Mrs. C. Shannon Perkins, Stanger say vows

MURTAUGH — Shannon Dayl Perkins and Gregory Brent Stanger were married in late January rites at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple.

The marriage was solemnized by Eli Davis LeCheminant. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen James Perkins Jr., and the bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stanger.

The bride's floor-length gown of white velvet featured a jewel neckline and raised waistline with embroidered lace applique down the front. The lantern sleeves were finished with wide pointed cuffs. Her chapel-length veil of zephon was appliqued with matching lace and attached to a Jean headpiece of lace and seed pearls. The dress and veil were made by Evelyn Alfred.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Mark Cummins, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Brand and Chris Perkins.

Best man was Gene Lockwood, Idaho Falls, and groomsmen were Doug and Steven Stanger.

Ringbearers were Kip Perkins and Rodney Stanger and flower girls were John Perkins and Stacy Perkins.

The ceremony was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Rhy Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tolman and Bishop and Mrs. Roger Tolman.

The couple was honored at a reception at the Murtaugh LDS Ward, where they greeted guests before a Austrian drape curtains with burgundy wrapping flanked by lighted columns holding cherubs with burgundy roses, white pompons and baby's breath. The round guest tables were covered with floor-length white cloths and centered with baskets of burgundy roses, white pompons and baby's breath.

The serving table was covered with a floor length white cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake frosted in white with greenery and roses around the bottom. It was topped with roses and baby's breath. The cake was made by Mrs. DeVon Anderson. It was flanked by candelabra entwined with burgundy roses, greenery and white pompons.

The serving table was backed with a white iridescent screen draped with greenery and flanked by grecian columns centered with bouquets of greenery.

Kristi McFarland was in charge of the guest book. Caring for gifts were Mrs. Calvin Holland, Barbara Watts, Brenda Peterson and Sheila Bessire.

Helping with guest tables were Connie King, Carolee Stanger, Monica Bessire and Jere Peterson.

Mrs. Duane Perkins, Mrs. Bill Pearson, Mrs. Gene Lockwood, Mrs. Paul Pickett and Mrs. Bob Peterson served.

The bride was honored at pre-nuptial showers given by Mrs. Paul Pickett and Mrs. Bob (Elva) Peterson, Mrs. Frank Green and Kristi McFarland and Debbie Howard.

A Lovelier You

SPRING FASHION FABRICS

By Mary Sue Miller

A dress is never lovelier than its fabric. When we shop for clothes we must not allow cut or trimming to eclipse the importance of fabric. Home sewers are steeped in fabric's role. It takes time yardage to bring a paper pattern to life.

So saying, let's preview outstanding spring and summer materials.

First off, fabrics reflecting traditional textures and designs gain favor, as the acceptance of classic clothes increases. Clean checks range from tiny ginghams to tubular cloth-size work stripes, from narrow to awning wide. Dots, glens, and paisleys appear on cotton and silky grounds. Sweater and brushed denim up the sportswear field.

Naturals further the traditional theme. Although most often woven of hand-made blends, yardages capture the look of homespun, linens or raw silk with slubs and nubs. Even knits come in for the treatment. Of course, earth-grown naturals are still with us. And so elegant.

Geometric prints with all manner of flora and fauna. You may deck yourself in a print of tiny flowers or of stampeding jungle animals. Depends on our ecological bent.

Romantic inclinations will lead you straight to fragile, nostalgic sheers — chiffons, embroideries, whisper taffetas, volles, rashes. The pales are charming. White's newest, self-patterned white.

How will you have yours?

THE EYES OF YOUTH

Competition set for Girls' State

TWIN FALLS — Competition to select 1972 Twin Falls Girls' State delegates at 2 p.m. Sunday in the American Legion Hall will be open to the public.

The Girls' State program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and is designed to give young women an opportunity to better understand state government.

Orriette Sinclair, member of the auxiliary's Girls' State Committee, said the non-partisan program is a practical application of Americanism and good citizenship.

During the Sunday afternoon program, nominees will be expected to give a two-minute talk about themselves and each will then answer questions from the panel of judges. Six judges, representing the College of Southern Idaho and the American Legion Auxiliary outside of Twin Falls, will select the 1972 delegates.

Only high school junior class members are eligible. Local winners will attend the 28th session of Girls' State at the Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa, June 18 through 24.

Highlight of the week is the formal inaugural ceremony and oath of office administered to state officials by the governor of the state of Idaho, Cecil Andrus.

The final day of the session is spent in the statehouse in Boise with girls assuming participation in the state offices to which they are elected in the Girls' State elections.

Delegates will be sent to the session through financial assistance from community organizations, the Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club Business and Professional Women, Soroptimist, Altus and Twentieth Century Clubs.

Girls' State committee members include Mrs. Sinclair, Laverne Koutnik and Marjorie Ashtrener.

Proficiency tests given

BUHL — Proficiency tests for the new members highlighted the regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star, Chapter No. 38, at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. J. W. Rutherford, worthy matron, welcomed guests and sideliners and reported on the past masters banquet. Reports from the standing committees were also given.

A valentine motif was carried out in the hall by Mrs. Richmond and in the refreshment area by Mrs. Ralph Smith. The serving committee included Mrs. Smith, chairman, and Mrs. Jim Hart, co-chairman, assisted by Mrs. Karen Hendrix, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lunley and Mrs. Lois Linecum.

The next meeting is March 2.

Troop conducts court of honor

RICHFIELD — As part of the festivities commemorating "Anniversary of Scouting" month, Boy Scouts of the Richfield LDS Troop 8 were honored at a court of honor.

The boys and their fathers also attended the scout breakfast Sunday morning in Shoshone, sponsored by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce.

Delbert Tree, institutional representative, conducted the court of honor and spoke on the benefits of scouting and the responsibilities of the community to see that the troop functioned successfully.

Grant Stevens, committee chairman, presented the awards. They include second class badges David Brown, Brent Flavel, Kevin Crowther, Chad Dixon, Gary Haws and Dale Ralls; and first class badges Dixon, Haws, Flavel and Ralls.

The flag was presented by Haws, Eric Jensen, Kevin Crowther, and Ralls. Prayers were given by Haws and Bishop Ken Dixon.

Jamboree crowd large

TWIN FALLS — Approximately 850 persons attended the opening night of the Magic Valley Country Music Jamboree at the College of Southern Idaho Monday.

The programs continued Tuesday night and Wednesday featuring 14 country music bands and eight individuals.

The Wells Fargo, a college group who proved popular with the Monday night audience performed again Tuesday night, and will perform Wednesday show chairman Dick Shaffer said.

Holly Houburg, master of ceremonies said each night's show featured different artists with a few appearing nightly. Funds from the show will be donated to the YM-YWCA swimming pool building project.

Some tickets will be available at the door tonight.

Hansen lodge contributes HANSEN — Mrs. Mary Taylor, recorder of the Royal Neighbor of America Camp, announces fraternal activities of the lodge for the past year.

Included are contributions to the Heart, Cancer, March of Dimes and Easter Seal Funds; Children's Home, and Elks Rehabilitation Center; both Boise, Idaho Youth Ranch, Napa, California; the RMA Home in Davenport, Iowa, and plate treats for shut-ins at Christmas time.

Support a memorial to the RMA Home in Davenport, Iowa, and plate treats for shut-ins at Christmas time.

Pro-tem officers for the last meeting were Lena Bohrn and Mrs. Ruth Wright. A letter from a member living in Tacoma, Wash., Mrs. Irene Johnson, was read.

Mrs. Leo Roberts and Mrs. Betty Pollard were hostesses. Mrs. Elsie Henry and Mrs. Lewis Reed provided the entertainment during the recreation hour.

Mrs. Bohrn and Mrs. Wright are hostesses for the February meeting.

Hansen TOPS unit announces loser

HANSEN — Mrs. George Urie was best loser of the week for Idaho TOPS Chapter No. 84 at Monday's meeting at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

In the heart contest, which ended on Valentine's Day, Mrs. Lewis Morris was winner. Mrs. Clifford McCoy and Mrs. Kenneth Spahr were runners-up.

Mrs. Paul Bowman, Mrs. Percy Christensen, Mrs. Steelsmith, Mrs. Spahr and Mrs. Morris all received gifts for attendance.

A "quickie contest," with each member contributing a dime toward the prize and putting in her name and the amount she thinks she will lose in a week, is scheduled. The name drawn will win the prize if she has lost the amount she predicted.

The leader announced that officers will be elected at the next meeting.

It was announced April 18 is the deadline for registration for State Recognition Day, April 28 and 29 in Twin Falls, with all Magic Valley TOPS Clubs as hostesses.

The local chapter registration must be turned in by March 27. Mrs. Roy Dopson was program chairman and hostess. She presented a slogan game which was won by Mrs. Urie.

had made a brilliant play and if the professor had simply played dummy's king of spades next, the hand would have collapsed. However, the professor had not really improved.

The idea of finessing both ways for a missing queen appears absurd and would be absurd if the fact that a finesse worked the first time meant that it had actually succeeded. There is no law requiring a defender to win a trick merely because he can do so.

Code repeal favored

JEROME — The Ladies of the Elks will hold a dance Saturday night at the Elks Hall. Jerome High School will provide the music.

TWIN FALLS — There will be a public dance at the DAV Hall at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Music will be provided by Archie Turner and band.

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Gem Club program will be discussed on the KMYT "Today in Idaho" program Feb. 20.

JEROME — Grandview Women's Club card party to benefit the Cancer Fund will be Feb. 27.

JEROME — Methodist Rose of Sharon Guild will meet March 2 with Mrs. H. S. Hurd.

RICHFIELD — Members of the Richfield Grange are on record in support of legislative measures to repeal the Idaho criminal code approved by the legislature a year ago.

Grange members approved a letter from the resolutions committee urging repeal of the bill and directed their views be expressed to legislator of the local districts.

Other topics discussed in the meeting Wednesday night at the home of Wendell Johnson, included traffic laws and how they have changed since the first such laws were adopted in 1902, and a report on vandalism in rural communities.

It was announced Pomona Grange will meet March 4 in the Richfield Methodist Church for a potluck dinner at noon.

Richfield Grange members will meet next on Feb. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Owens.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sleeps in his underwear. He wears the long woolen kind, and he sleeps in the same underwear he has worn all day. The problem is getting him to change it. Abby, there are four pairs of clean underwear in his drawer, but he won't put on a clean pair without a fight. I can't even get his underwear away from him to put in the wash. Don't tell me to grab it when he's in the bathtub; He doesn't bathe much either. Please help me. He is getting pretty ripe.

FARGO, N. D.

DEAR FARGO: Look at it this way. You don't have to worry about another woman stealing him. And he's easy to find in the dark. But if you want action, try begging, bribing, nagging, and leaving! And in that order.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for six months. About a week ago my husband came home with a wedding present from one of the men he works with. This seemed strange to me because I was sure that this man had given us a gift the day of our wedding. I checked my list of gifts and found that I was right.

The question is, do we tell this absent-minded gift-giver that he has given us two gifts? Or should we keep quiet and spare him the embarrassment?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Tell him. He could have you confused with another couple, who may be out a gift if you keep quiet.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you referred to the complaint of a wife that her husband had made love to her exactly five times since January 1, 1970. As I recall, the wife signed herself "Practically Untouched in Tulsa."

You advised her to see a lawyer. I am sure that many lawyers around the country were flattered by your recommendation, but you would have earned the undying gratitude of the nation's judges had you suggested instead that she see a judge, as their social contacts are considerably more limited than those of the lawyers.

ANONYMOUS ATTORNEY

DEAR ABBY: Please inform your many readers that the American Red Cross will record a family member's voice on tape, take a Polaroid picture of the family member, and mail the tape and picture to a loved one on military duty overseas or in a military hospital anywhere in the world. This activity is free and is one of the many programs available thru the Red Cross Chapter's Service to Military Families.

Volunteer Chairman
Service to Military Families

DEAR MRS. HARRIGAN: It's done! Now so far we have the USO, The American Red Cross, and even a non-affiliated group of interested do-gooders in The City of Brotherly Love who will perform the same service. Thanks for writing.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6718, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

CSI faces stern test in North Idaho tonight

The North Idaho Cardinals, perhaps the best aggregation the school has ever sent to Twin Falls, will give the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles one of their sternest tests of the season at 8 p.m. tonight.

North Idaho, coached by ex-Idaho star Reggie Williams, will bring a 17-2 mark into the game, which also could well shape up as a preview of the finals for the regional tournament here March 6-7.

Hagerman clinches conference crown

HANSEN — The Hagerman Pirates flashed past the Hansen Huskies 89-27 Tuesday night to grab the Magic Valley Conference basketball championship.

The Pirates had things easy when Hansen came up with only two points in the first quarter and fell behind 21-2. The Huskies were even colder in the fourth period, managing only one free throw.

The victory gives Hagerman the opening round bye in the sixth district A-4 tournament opening Tuesday night at Burley high school as well as the title.

Greg Laughlin paced the victory with 14 points while Clawier added 11 and Doug Butler 10. Hansen had no one in double figures.

Ali sets 5-million price on rematch

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Muhammad Ali says he's looking forward to a return bout with Joe Frazier, but not for any less than the paltry $750,000 he's guaranteed.

Five million bucks, Ali says, would be a nice figure for the rematch.

The second one is going to be bigger than the first, Ali promises.

Celts shred Trail Blazers

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, paced by veterans John Havlicek and youngster Dave Cowens, ran away from the Portland Trail Blazers at the start of the fourth quarter and posted a 111-104 victory in an NBA action Tuesday night.

The victory was Boston's 10th in the last 11 games.

Cowens and Havlicek ignited an 11-2 blitz by the Celtics early in the final period that turned a close game into a rout.

Portland went into the final period trailing 84-93, but in the next five minutes the Celtics increased the lead to 97-83 and left little doubt as to the outcome.

The Celtics moved out to a 32-22 first quarter lead, but Portland narrowed the margin to seven by halftime, 39-32. In the third period Portland made 9-4 to get within 40-61, but came no closer.

Lakers post 51st victory

PORTLAND (UPI) — Gail Gooden and Jerry West combined for 30 points and reserve 150 Riley added a career high 20 points to lead the Los Angeles Lakers to a 125-118 victory over the Cincinnati Royals for their 51st National Basketball Association win in 57 starts.

The Pacific Division leaders held a 10-0 lead at halftime after the Royals had trailed by 19 points in the first quarter. They closed to within 117-112 with two minutes to play.

But Riley, who also had a career high nine rebounds, got a pair of key baskets.

Stars collect sixth in row

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Willie Wise and Zelmo Beaty combined for 43 points Tuesday night to lead the Utah Stars to their sixth consecutive victory and hand the Memphis Pros their sixth consecutive defeat, 118-89.

Wise had 22 points and Beaty 21 in a game that was never really in doubt.

Utah took command of the game in the second quarter and led by as much as 21 points during the third period of play. The halftime score was 50-31.

The Cardinals have lost only to Walla Walla Community College and University of Montana frosh, both on the road. They currently have a two-game lead in their conference which will send its champion to the regional.

CSI appears to have the host designation for the regional as Ricks dropped both weekend games to Mesa and Eastern Utah. Since CSI has a three-game lead in the conference opponent department and only two common foes remaining, Coach Jerry Hale has sent out the order for tickets. The Eagles wind up their season this weekend by hosting Dixie College and Weber State frosh.

In looking at Wednesday night's game, Coach Hale "I think this will be the best team for team play that we will face all year. Coach Williams always does a fine job with them and we know they won't make many mistakes or force bad shots. I think the matchup will be great, although we will be a little taller. They have some fine talent."

Leading Cardinal scorer is 6-4 sophomore John Williams who is averaging 17 points per game, followed by 6-5 soph Bob Jacobs, one point behind. "Their guards

Gooding sets boxing card

GOODING — Eighteen local amateur boxers will participate in an amateur boxing card at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Frahm junior high school gymnasium in Gooding.

Bud Godby said a total of 14 different champions, from AAU, Golden Gloves and Junior Olympic competition, will see action in the 18-bout card.

Fighters will come from Idaho, Nevada, California and Arizona. Several Magic Valley youngsters will see action.

Bruins move to mindome

The Twin Falls Bruins will meet the Pocatello Indians at 7 p.m. Friday in the mindome as a preliminary to the University of Idaho-Idaho State University game.

The Bruins' sophomores and jayvees will play earlier in the day in the Pocatello high school gymnasium.

Camas County nabs Northside crown

FAIRFIELD — The Camas County Musers scrapped past the Dietrich Blue Devils 61-58 Tuesday night to nab down the championship in the Northside Conference.

Dietrich went down hard, never letting the Musers get more than five points ahead and they were tied about as often as not through the first six minutes of the fourth period. But Camas County then hurried into a five-point lead with 56 seconds left to clinch the victory and title.

The Musers got clutch scoring from Sweet and Hobbey at the right time to keep Dietrich from getting away behind the 24-point effort of junior Meservy. Sweet hit all 15 of his points in the first half—fouling out about two minutes into the third quarter—and Hobbey came on to score 18 second-half points.

Dietrich entered the final period one game behind and early in the final quarter went out to that last minute margin. It gave the Musers a sweep of the conference football and basketball titles.

Rupert City Council clashes over employee pay hike

Whitton makes a point

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A request for pay raises for city employees triggered a clash of words during the Rupert City Council meeting Tuesday night.

A disagreement over a proposal to increase trash-collection rates added fuel to the fire when Councilman Bill Whitton said a differentiation should be made for customers with only one trash can to be picked up and those with several. Though Mayor Wendell Johnson and the other councilmen disagreed, saying "the trash collectors would have to become bookkeepers to keep track," Whitton cast the sole dissenting vote on the rate raise.

When the mayor requested the routine six-month pay raises for several city employees, Whitton again objected, saying the city budget failed to consider supervisory personnel and department heads, who, he said, are grossly underpaid.

Johnson disagreed, saying that "We've got to live within our budget and the available funds." He was supported by the other council members.

Tempera grew heated when Councilman Bill Strasser objected to Whitton's stand on the trash-collection rates, saying that though he wanted higher pay for employees and supervisors, Whitton had voted against the rate increase.

Whitton explained that his objection was principally against the concept of all residential customers paying the same, regardless of the amount of trash they had to be picked up.

When Whitton complained that "I've been misled" on city funding, Councilman George McDonald objected strenuously. Councilman Clark Cameron then suggested recessing the meeting so the members could thrash out their differences behind closed doors, saying "Let's go in the back room and settle this."

Though Whitton declared that "You can't make me leave this table," he acquiesced when the meeting was recessed. After a half-hour discussion in private among the council members, the meeting resumed.

Blaine sets formation of county parks board

HAILEY — The Blaine County Commissioners plan to establish a five-man county parks board.

The resolution came during a discussion Monday in which Halley City Attorney Stephen W. Boller requested that the county join in a city plan to build a nine-hole public golf course to be located north of Hailey.

Commission chairman John Fox said that he "favored" getting involved in the plan but said that he "would like to go one step further and establish a parks board." The centralized board, Fox said could obtain "the proper equipment to maintain the parks within the county and provide a better organization."

Commissioner Jack Bennett said because of county growth "the need is coming for a parks board."

The commissioners said that the board members would be selected on the basis of geographical and population representation. They requested that interested residents apply to them before the next scheduled meeting in March.

Boller said that the 60-acre site for the golf course will be deeded to the city by a group of Burley businessmen who own an adjacent subdivision. He said the course could be built "at no cost" because federal funds, which would match the value of each acre, are available. "The only future expense may be maintenance and operation," he said.

The attorney said he requested that the course be made a joint city-county project because it would have a better chance of getting approval if it "was a regional or county course."

Fox said that the park board, when it is established, could "get facts and figures on the course, and then we (the commissioners) can decide where to go from there."

In other action, a representative from Elkhorn at Sun Valley discussed the entrance road, located southeast of Ketchum, to the development. The commissioners requested that the present 50 foot road be widened to 60 feet, with possibly a ten foot easement for snow removal on each side, and be brought up to county standards before it is deeded to the county.

Sugar beet meet opens at Burley

BURLEY — A sugar beet school began today at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

The school, also scheduled for Idaho Falls and Pocatello, is sponsored by the University of Idaho Extension Service, the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company and the Sugar Beet Growers Association.

Thomas J. Chester, of the U. of I. Extension Service, said most topics will emphasize factors affecting the sugar content of sugar beets produced.

Speakers and topics include Dr. Dave James, Utah State University, "Sugar Content," "New Cultural Practices," Don Benscotter, district agricultural superintendent, Idaho Falls; "Harvesting," Leo Klingler, Fieldman, Aberdeen; "Weed Control," Gary Rosier, Sr. Fieldman, Idaho Falls.

Others on the program are Neal Vance, research agronomist, U and I Sugar Co., "Insect Control," and Blon Tolman, vice president of agriculture, U and I Sugar Co.

TF aide hospitalized

TWIN FALLS — Heber Loughmiller, Twin Falls County commissioner, is listed in fairly good condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today where he is under observation for chest pain.

Four other persons, all suffering traffic accident injuries also are listed as improved. Vicki Lohr, 18, was dismissed Tuesday afternoon. She was injured Sunday night in an accident east of Twin Falls.

Bill Barrison, 21, Twin Falls, is in good condition in the Elmore County Hospital in Mountain Home. He was injured early Monday in a one car accident which killed his bride of three days.

Gooding drops 8th grade fete

BY PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — Trustees of the Gooding School District agreed Tuesday night to eliminate the eighth-grade graduation, effective this year.

School Supt. James Muscat said that since 16 is the age at which a student can leave school, but the average eighth grader is only 14, the students should not be given the idea that they have completed their education at 14.

Junior high school principal Louis Durfee said the time spent on graduation preparations could be put to better use. His teachers agree, he told the trustees.

Salaries for substitute teachers were raised from $15 to $18 per day by the trustees. The substitutes will also be raised to $20 per day after teaching for three consecutive days.

William Bade, principal of Gooding High School, requested rehiring of all teachers in the school for the 1972-73 school year, with the exception of three teachers who are resigning and have asked that their letter of resignation be acted upon at the March board meeting.

Eugene Gibbons, grade school principal also, recommended rehiring of his faculty, as did Durfee for the junior high school, with the exception of Mrs. G. D. Watson, who has resigned, leaving a sixth-grade vacancy.

Kuna swine win at Filer show

FILER — Two swine owned by Rose and Joe Wilhelm, Kuna, were judged first and second place winners in the barrow and gilt show Tuesday at the Independent Meat Co. Twin Falls.

The first place winner received, a trophy from Rangen's Inc. Buhl, and a cash prize.

John Farmer, Melba, was third place winner and Frankie Farms, Kuna, placed fourth.

There were 36 purebred and cross bred entries from the Magic Valley and the Boise Valley according to Justin Mills, Twin Falls, Southern Idaho Swine & Growers Association president.

A program followed lunch hour the Tuesday featuring Dr. John Miller, meat specialist of the University of Idaho Extension Service who spoke on the various grades of pork.

Clark Daniels, Gooding, Idaho Porkman of the Year, told of his experiences in swine raising.

The carcass show tonight will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Independent Meat Co. There will be a trophy for first place and four prizes awarded.

Thursday at 10 a.m. will be the 4-H and FFA judging at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds. The swine sale will begin at 1 p.m. with Lyle Barton, Wells, livestock specialist, U of I extension Service is sale judge.

NFO meet slated at Buhl tonight

BUHL — The Twin Falls County National Farmers Organization will hold a membership drive meeting here at 8:30 p.m. today.

The meeting will be in the Buhl VFW Hall, according to Alvin Johnson, county NFO president.

"We're going to explain the program to the fellows who don't understand the NFO," he said.

"The main thing we want to get across to these people is the advantage of blocking their production and sell through the NFO structure.

"The main advantage is the NFO is nationwide, organized in all 48 states."

He said the NFO program "will keep the prices we already have from slipping down, and eventually give us higher prices."

"It will give us the chance to keep somewhere near even with other segments of the economy."

Meeting is open to any farmer or any businessman who would like to attend, he said.

Search resumes for missing craft

BURLEY — Four search planes resumed the search for a plane and its pilot last seen headed for the Utah border on a flight Sunday.

The light aircraft was on a flight from La Grande, Ore. to Sterling, Colo., when last heard from. It radioed the Burley airport to request a weather check and headed into a snowstorm south of the airport.

The pilot of the single engine Cessna is believed to be Bernard Burkholder, Sterling.

Three planes from Burley and one from Pocatello joined in the search in its second day this morning, and officials in Burley said they had promises of assistance from Twin Falls and Boise.

Darrell Manning, director of the Idaho Department of Aeronautics, who directed the search from Burley Tuesday, called off the effort late in the afternoon when poor weather conditions and visibility hampered the pilots.

A motorist told the Civil Air Patrol Tuesday he saw a plane fly into the Strevell Pass during a blinding snowstorm Sunday.

Manning said as many planes as possible would join in the search. Tuesday pilots from the department of aeronautics, Utah's Box County and Elder County and the Civil Air Patrol participated in the effort to locate the plane.

Manning said there are several possible routes the pilot could have taken. He said it was possible the pilot could have made it through the mountains and the snow storm into western Colorado. No flight plan was filed by the pilot of the plane.

11 arrested in drug raid by Mini-Cassia officers

BURLEY — Ten persons three separate Mini-Cassia jails today and another was out on bond following Monday's midnight drug roundup in the two counties.

At separate arraignments in magistrate court Tuesday, the 11 persons arrested during the raids were charged and had bond set. One man, Kirk K. Buckley, 19, Burley, posted a $10,000 property bond on charge of delivery of a controlled substance, LSD, Oct. 4, 1971.

Election March 13

SHOSHONE — The date of a plant facilities election in the Shoshone School District is March 13 and not March 1 as reported in the Times-News Tuesday.

School officials said the two mill levy to be voted on at that time is to provide funds for new equipment, remodeling of buildings and school bus expenses and not for maintenance and operational purposes.

Rupert raises collection rates

The city purchases electrical power from the Bonneville Power Administration at a wholesale rate, then retails the service to its customers.

The water rate was increased an average of $1.20 per month for residential customers using 3,000 gallons of water per month. The current rate of $2 minimum for the first 3,000 gallons will be changed to $3 for the first 2,000 gallons, plus 20 cents per 1,000 gallons for all over 2,000. This Mayor Wendell Johnson explained, increases the 3,000-gallon rate from $2 to $3.20 — a 60 per cent increase.

Commercial water rates were not increased by the council.

The sewer rate, based on the amount of water purchased each month, will also go up 67 per cent for residential customers on March 1 — from $1.50 to $2.50 per month minimum.

The new electrical rates call for a minimum of $2 for the first 30 kilowatt hours or less each month, two cents per KWH for the next 50 and one cent per KWH for the next 400, or a minimum of $4 for 500 KWH, for single-family residences. Beyond 500 KWH, the rates are six mills for the next 1,500 KWH, seven mills for the next 4,000, and all over 6,000 KWH will be charged at one cent per kilowatt hour of use.

The new water rates also incorporate a change in use of domestic water for irrigation use, setting the rate for the first 8,000 gallons the same as the residential water — $3 for the first 2,000 gallons and 20 cents per 1,000 gallons for all over 2,000, or a total of $4.20 for 8,000 gallons when used for irrigation.

Above 8,000 gallons, the irrigation water will cost 10 cents per 1,000 gallons, with a minimum charge of $5.50 per year.

The new rates will take effect after publication, according to

Jerome airport funds queried

JEROME — James P. Kelly questioned Jerome County Commissioners at Monday's budget hearing about budgeted funds for land acquisition for expansion of Jerome County Airport.

Kelly said that less than a year ago Jerome County Commissioners sold 80 acres of prime agricultural land for $8,000, and that the purchase is going to sell 40 acres of the land back to the county.

Kelly said the commissioners did not state where the land was at the time of the sale, calling it not an oversight, but a deliberate act.

Kelly said there is no need for expansion of runways at the airport. He said that on Oct. 1, 1970, a Lear Jet landed and took off with no trouble.

He said he had checked with the Department of Aeronautics, Boise, and was told the plane was registered under Western Industries, Inc., Las Vegas, Nev. He said the firm has changed its name again. The FBI is presently investigating the Las Vegas firm, Kelly said, adding that it is a known fact it is a Mafia-Cosa Nostra outfit and has carried narcotics into the Jerome area on several occasions.

Kelly charged there are many irregularities with the airport and the spending of money. He stated that over $9,000 was spent for the benefit of three people. He asked why the county should provide an air-strip for only a few people.

Following the meeting, John VanOrman, chairman of the Jerome County Commissioners, told the Times-News that the 80 acres Kelly referred to is north of the airport and access to the problem. He said the property was declared surplus by the county and sold legally.

VanOrman said the Jerome County Airport Committee has requested the county for several years to acquire 15 acres of land west of the airport. This is just a strip through an area which connects the airport with other county land. The acquisition was asked for possible future development if it is needed. He said there is no immediate plan to extend runways.

VanOrman said part of the money in the airport budget will be used for sealing runways this spring. He explained application has been made to the state aeronautics board and as a result $9,000 is available to be used at the airport for possible expansion and other needed work.

Kelly also questioned the prosecuting attorney's office budget stating he felt the prosecuting attorney should be located in the courthouse so he will be available to the public at all times.

VanOrman explained to Kelly it has been the practice of Jerome County and most of the other counties in Idaho to leave the decision up to the individual prosecuting attorney whether or not he wishes to locate in the courthouse. Due to the amount of money a prosecuting attorney is paid, it is impossible for one to earn a living without maintaining a private practice, VanOrman said.

Claim your exemptions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The law puts some of your earnings beyond the reach of the tax collector. You can claim exemptions from yourself and other members of your family. This is the third of five articles on how to fill out your 1971 income tax return.

WASHINGTON (UPI)

Uncle Sam requires you to report all income you receive during the year but then lets you ignore large chunks of that total for tax purposes.

One of the ways of reducing your taxable income is by claiming personal exemptions.

On your 1971 return due by April 17, every exemption you can claim is worth $675 and you may subtract that amount from your total income.

Start with yourself. Each taxpayer can claim himself as an exemption and reduce his taxable income by $675.

Your spouse also qualifies as an exemption if you file a joint return. If she files a separate return, she is eligible only if she had no gross income or was not claimed by another taxpayer as a dependent.

You can also include your dependent children in the exemption column.

You also may claim extra exemptions if you were 65 or the last day of 1971 or if you were blind during any part of the year. If you were both blind and over 65, you get all three. The same rules apply to your wife but not to dependents.

New babies also qualify for the full exemption, no matter when they were born during the year. By the same token, if a dependent dies, even on Jan. 1, the exemption still holds for the rest of the year.

However, if you were divorced or legally separated in 1971 you may not claim your spouse as a dependent, no matter how much you may have contributed in the way of support.

Here are five rules which a person must meet to be considered a "dependent." He or she must:

1. Be closely related or a member of your household for the entire year. Housekeepers or others who may work for you in your home do not qualify.

2. Be a U.S. citizen or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone. An alien adopted child who lived with you for the full year is a dependent but a foreign exchange student who lived in your home is not.

3. Have earned less than $675 gross income during 1971. However, if the dependent was either a student or was a non-student under age 19, he counts as an exemption no matter how much he made.

(If your child earned more than $1,700 for the year, he must file a return of his own. He can claim his own personal exemption on his tax return and you may still claim him as a dependent when you file—as long as you provided at least half his support.)

4. Not file a joint return with his or her spouse.

5. Have received more than half his total support from you during 1971.

If you, along with others, helped contribute to someone's support—and none of you helped in more than half the total amount—one of you may be able to claim that person as an exemption.

The Internal Revenue Service has a special form, called a multiple support agreement, which must be submitted with your return in such cases. (Tomorrow: Deductions can reduce your tax bill)

Wendell plans new school facilities

WENDELL—The Wendell school board agreed Monday night to investigate further the construction of a new physical education facility for the district.

In the past several weeks, the trustees have visited new schools in the Boise area, and said Monday night they would travel to Gooding and Glenns Ferry to see other sites.

Preliminary estimates put the cost of a new building, set for the end of the current year, at $225,000.

Also at their meeting, the board:

• Heard teacher rehiring recommendations from Arlin Dennis, elementary school principal and Will Spalding, high school principal. Five district teachers will retire at the end of the current year; full report due by mid-fall, 1972. The board also learned from the State Department of Education that a public hearing has been set for Feb. 2 at the high school to hear testimony in a request from a district family to transfer their property to the Jerome school district.

Winners listed

SUN VALLEY—About $950 in cash prizes were awarded to professional racers in the Saunderson Trophy Pro-Am series Sunday.

Twenty teams, consisting of four members—one Sun Valley ski instructor, one Sun Valley employe, one area resident and one Sun Valley guest—competed on the Lower Warm Springs slalom course.

Edward Reich, ski instructor, turned in the fastest time on the course, 7.78 seconds. His name will be inscribed on the Saunderson Trophy along with the names of the first place team members. Pro members of the first three winning teams received cash prizes.

The instructors served as team captains. Winners were determined on the basis of the average of the combined qualifying and race time of the team members.

Race results included the following: First, Arhold Konrad, instructor; Bill Brandt, guest; Jim Rusclito, Ketchum resident, and Peter Allen, employee; time—19.29 seconds.

Leader feted
JIM CHATBURN, left, receives a five-year 4-H leader plaque from Lee Jolley, president of the Cassia County 4-H Council.

Skaggs honored by 4-H council

BURLEY - Charles Skaggs, owner of Skaggs Furniture store, has been honored by the Cassia County 4-H Council.

An engraved plaque was presented to his son, Charles Skaggs Jr., at the annual banquet at Price's Cafe Skaggs, who is on vacation in New Zealand, has assisted with all 4-H projects and each year at fairtime works many hours in getting buyers for the 4-H fat stock sale.

Wayne Cole, Cassia county agent said.

Jim Chatburn, Albion, was honored for being a 4-H leader for five years, with Lee Jolley, president of the 4-H Council, making the presentation.

It was announced Paul Warr, Milner, was selected as one of four youths in the state to receive a $400 scholarship for his 4-H work.

Ed Elliott, owner-manager of Elliotts, Inc., was presented an honorary 4-H membership pin for his outstanding work in 4-H.

A film titled "Idaho's New Image" was viewed which told the story of agriculture in Idaho including all kinds of crops on large and small scale production.

Water projects aired at chamber

BURLEY - Burley Chamber of Commerce members had a telephone conversation with county legislators and heard a report of activities of the Southwest Water Projects Association Monday.

Mark Moorman reported on the water group's progress to date, with Ernest Blauer conducting the phone call.

Moorman reported the Southwest Water Projects Association includes most of the Snake River areas. The Shiloh Falls project is expected to get financing for preliminary work within the next two years, he said.

He cited as a main concern a proposed increased discount rate on government projects. In past years the projects were interest-free, and in past few years the projects have been from 1 to 3 1/2 per cent interest. Now it is proposed that the rate be raised to 5 1/2 per cent and some groups want the rate increased to 10 per cent. A March 14 hearing has been scheduled in San Francisco, Calif.

Questions on bills from chamber members to the legislators included inventory tax, sales tax, bi-annual sessions, plans for a state purchasing agent, repeal of criminal code, age and consent of 18-year-olds, deposit on beverage cans, and state level dumping of schools.

Bills the legislators reported on were the motor fuel tax, driver's education, no fault insurance and safety and health act.

Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, Representatives J. Vard Chatburn, R-Albion, and Ernest Hale, R-Burley, participated in the conversation.

Soroptimists at Burley see film

BURLEY - Local members viewed a commemorative film on "50 Years of Progress" for the Soroptimists at their meeting this week in Burley.

The film was made in honor of the 50th anniversary of organization, which started in California. A special thanks was extended to Lex Kunau, who operated the projector for the club in showing the film to other organizations in the community.

Mrs. Ralph Thornton, chairman of the nominating committee, announced officers will be elected in March.

Mrs. Edith Raustadt, vice-president, announced that Gordon Nielson will be the guest speaker for the program meeting in March and the opportunity school children will be guests in April.

Mrs. Joe Hinz, ways and means chairman, announced a rummage sale will be held Feb. 25-26 in IB&T conference room. Members were asked to have items for the sale at the conference room by 9 a.m. on Monday and priced.

Cassia man faces trial

BURLEY - Danny Lewis, 26, was bound over to district court Monday on a grand larceny charge.

Lewis has been charged with grand larceny in connection with rustling three calves allegedly taken from Frank Rasmussen on or about Sept. 4, 1971 during the night or early morning hours.

Arraignment in district court has been set for Feb. 28, according to Gordon Nielson, Cassia county prosecuting attorney.

Twenty-seven American civilians were killed in hostile action during the Vietnam war offensive in 1969.

Jerome council delays appointment of chief

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME - The Jerome City Council Tuesday night postponed the naming of a new chief of police until the March 7 meeting.

Mayor J. A. "Jack" Russell asked the council to extend the time again in which he is supposed to submit a name to the council for their approval as chief of police. Mayor Russell did not elaborate on why he wanted the time extended. He said "because of present conditions I think we should extend the time."

The council also moved to have Capt. Johnny Hayes remain as acting chief of police until the March 7 meeting.

Ted Diehl and Warren Hart, Northside Canal Co., met with the council at the mayor's request. Mayor Russell asked Diehl if there was anything the canal company could do to help prevent the flooding of the cuttee along Sixth Street. Russell asked if they could dig out some of the mud and rocks at the lower end and also possibly straighten the lower section where it winds close to some homes that are flooded each year.

Diehl told the council he has not checked into the problems with the cuttee but stated the major problem would be getting equipment into the area to do the work. He said the canal company was able to divert some of the flood waters in January before they hit town which cut down on the amount of flooding they could have had.

"Because of where Jerome is located, when the freeze and snow water comes off the Butte it has no place else to go but right through town," Diehl said.

Arrangements were made for the council and an official for the Canal Company to tour the area Tuesday and see if a solution to the problem can be worked out.

In other action before the council a license for Northern Tavern was approved for the retail sale of wine, subject to the approval of the city attorney.

A request was made that a stop sign be placed at Second Street West and Alder because several accidents have occurred at the intersection the past year.

Councilman Marshall Everheart said he was opposed to indiscriminate stop signs. "This type of problem is not controlled with stop signs and to place stop signs where they are not normally at causes accidents also," Everheart said.

Everheart said they would check into the matter before a definite decision is made.

The council delayed action until an inspection tour next Tuesday on a request by William Weigt to change a scale at the Morgan Lindsay Co. Weigt said at present the firm has a 24 foot scale and wants to install one that is 10 feet longer. He explained the new scale would be partly on the street right of way but would not extend out into the street.

It was suggested by the city attorney that the city approve the scale subject to being able to require its removal at any time.

City Atty. Richard Seeley was instructed to check into a request by Regal Homes, which is building a small sub-division on East Avenue H, not to install curb and guttering because at present there are no curbs and gutters in the area.

The council granted permission for the Loyal Order of Moose to obtain a liquor license to serve drinks at its conference hall, May 6.

Mayor Russell reported to the council that John Van Orman, chairman of Jerome County Commission, was to have met with the council on the teletype machines for the law enforcement offices. Due to a conflicting meeting, VanOrman was unable to attend.

Mayor Russell said VanOrman told him the commissioners had no objection to obtaining the teletype machine and the county will meet with the council to formulate the city's participation in the cost.

Mayor Russell also reported the certification of the recall petitions and asked the councilmen if they had any more statements to make on the matter. None did.

Blaine votes regulation of snowmobile road use

HAILEY - The Blaine County Commissioners have passed an ordinance governing the use of snowmobiles on county roads.

The ordinance states snowmobiles may not be operated on public roads unless the roadway is drifted or covered with snow to such an extent that travel thereof by other motor vehicles is impeded.

However, snowmobiles are allowed to operate on that portion of the road which is not maintained or utilized for the operation of conventional motor vehicles.

The commissioners also passed an ordinance allowing snowmobile traffic on four roads within the county. They are Glendale, southwest of Bellevue; Little Wood; Fish Creek; and Priest Lake; near Pocatello.

A snowmobile, under the ordinance, must be equipped with at least one headlamp and one tail lamp, which shall be lighted at all times during operation, and must have a suitable braking device, to be operated by either hand or foot.

When operating on a public road, a pole or rod at least six feet high must be attached to the body of the snowmobile.

The ordinance states that a colored or fluorescent flag of at least one and one-half feet by two feet in diameter in order that the snowmobile may be seen at a distance and over deep snow, be affixed atop the pole.

Towing a person or a sled behind a snowmobile, is prohibited under the ordinance.

Specifically designed for towing. Such a sled or trailer must contain runners and be solidly attached to the pulling snowmobile by a steel tongue. The sled must also be equipped with sufficient warning lights to give warning of its presence.

The ordinance states:

Other provisions include the following:

-Every snowmobile operator must possess a valid Idaho driver's license.

-Every snowmobile must yield right of way at all times to every other vehicle.

-When two or more snowmobiles are traveling together, they shall proceed in single file.

-Some of the conditions under which a snowmobile operator will be considered as driving unlawfully include:

-At a rate of speed greater than reasonable or proper under all existing conditions.

-Without an adequate muffler or a lighted head and tail light.

-Operation of a snowmobile in a residential neighborhood in such a manner as to create a nuisance or disturbance.

-At a speed of over 10 miles per hour.

Within the next few weeks all Buttreys meat departments will be using new Meat Identity Labels. You'll find them informative and easy to use. They'll show you:

1. The name of the retail cut - such as bone-in pork loin, sirloin, or brisket.
2. The type of meat such as beef, pork, lamb, or veal.
3. The name of the retail cut of this is the important one. If the reason for the name is the important cut from which meat is taken.
4. The name of the meat - You are not paying for the name, it's the customer who pays the meat cost. It's the name of the meat that's important.

RETAIL CUTS OF BEEF - WHERE THEY COME FROM AND HOW TO COOK THEM
