Nixon, Chou view 'open door'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai held a three-hour secret summit session today, exploring ways of opening future channels of friendship between the United States and China. They then spent two more hours together at a friendly, informal dinner.

Overall, the two leaders were in each other's company for five hours without interruption but strict secrecy continued to prevail on their discussions. Their lengthy meeting came a few hours after Nixon declared at the centuries-old

Great Wall of China that he hoped his China visit would help break down walls of any kind—diplomatic as well as physical—that "divide the peoples of the world."

Nixon and Chou began their latest talk at 5:15 p.m. Peking time and were closeted together until 8:15 p.m. They then joined their wives, advisers and other guests for the two-hour dinner in another room of the mammoth Great Hall of the Peoples in central Peking. Since Nixon's arrival in China four days ago, the two world leaders have been together approximately 25 hours, more than half of that time devoted to official discussions.

Newsmen were given no inkling of information on the progress of the latest Nixon-Chou get-together, but an air of cordiality seemed to be still prevailing.

It was definitely learned that the thorny issue of Taiwan where the Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek holds forth was a principal topic of discussion by Nixon and Chou. Before the two heads of government held their third extended session, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Chinese Foreign Minister Chou Peng-fei held a three-hour afternoon meeting—their third session of the trip.

Rogers and Chou were believed hammering out specific language of general agreements reached by Nixon and Chou on cultural exchanges and continuing diplomatic contact, short of formal relations.

An estimated 100 persons attended the informal dinner The Nixon's then returned to their lakeshore guest villa, temporarily dubbed the Peking White House.

There was further manifestation of the warmup in Chinese-American relations at a nonofficial level when members of the U.S. news contingent were guests of the Ministry of Information at a lavish dinner at the Peking Restaurant tonight.

A formal communique is expected to be issued at the conclusion of the Nixon-Chou talks, but there was no official word on this. The two are scheduled for another meeting Friday, followed by a formal banquet by Nixon for his hosts in response to one for him and Mrs. Nixon Monday night.

It was also speculated that Nixon would meet once again with Chairman Mao Tse-tung before his departure from China on Monday. The President conferred with the venerable spiritual leader of the Chinese Communist movement for an hour on Monday, soon after his arrival.

Any second meeting with Mao may take place at Hangchow where Nixon will visit Saturday. The chairman spends a good deal of time at the coastal resort city, 710 miles from the capital of Peking.

Nixon's first public comment on his visit came when he halted his tour of the Great Wall to chat with American newsmen accompanying him. Standing in winter sunshine on the longest wall ever erected by mankind, he observed: "We do not want walls of any kind."

The President said his talks with Chou were "very interesting" and prompted Secretary of State William P. Rogers to agree they were "going well."

Chinese Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien, who accompanied Nixon and his wife to the wall on the trip over roads carefully cleared of all ice and snow after a two-inch snowfall, commented after the President's remarks were translated: "Mr. President has given a very good speech."

Viets quit Paris talks in protest

PARIS (UPI)—The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delegations walked out of the Paris peace talks today, casting doubt on the future of the negotiations. They said they did so to protest President Nixon's "escalation of the air war."

The Communist move coincided with Nixon's visit to Communist China and dramatized Hanoi's repeated warnings that the Vietnam problem must be settled in Paris alone. Hanoi has been reported suspicious of the Nixon visit from the day it was announced.

It was the first time in the history of the three-year-old talks that either side has walked out of a meeting, although both sides have boycotted several sessions. Today's meeting lasted 14 minutes, the shortest yet, and ended without the Americans or South Vietnamese having time to make their usual statements. Hanoi's Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's Nguyen Van Tien read off protest statements and then offered to meet again next Thursday. U.S. envoy William J. Porter and Saigon's Pham Dang Lam refused to agree to the meeting next week, reserving their full right to decide when and if the talks will resume.

Porter told newsmen the move was a "violation of the agreed procedure." He said the American and South Vietnamese delegations returned to the negotiating table today at the express request of the Communists and warned the allies reserved a decision on the resumption of the conference.

The American and South Vietnamese boycotted last week's session to protest the holding of a left-wing world assembly on peace and independence of Indochina that turned into a major forum for public attacks on U.S. policies with Hanoi and Viet Cong participation.

Thuy, in his protest statement, charged the Nixon administration has stepped up the air war, causing "numerous dead and wounded among the civilian population including women and children, thus making the list of its barbarous crimes even longer."

North Vietnamese delegation spokesman Nguyen Thanh Le told a news conference after the session that the Vietnam problem can be solved only by the adoption of the Communists' seven-point peace plan of July 1, 1971, calling for a unilateral U.S. military pullout and abandonment of Saigon.

Valley districts get teacher aid

TWIN FALLS — Four Magic Valley school districts are included in a new Teacher Corps project to aid low income students.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, announced approval of the federal program for southern Idaho schools today. He said the program, operated by the office of Education, is designed to strengthen educational opportunities for children in areas having concentrations of low income families and to encourage colleges and universities to broaden teacher preparation programs.

The program includes Twin Falls, Pocatello, Burley and Minidoka districts.

George Staudacher, superintendent of Twin Falls schools, said he is not certain how large the program will be, pending announcement of appropriations. It will add teachers to the system to work with larger classes on learning-teaching basis. This will not cost the districts additional money as the total program is federally-funded.

Staudacher said Dr. Herb Smith, Idaho State University, Pocatello, is in charge of the program for this area. He said he expects the Teacher Corps program to begin in September.

Attorney general pick OK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee today unanimously approved President Nixon's nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Senate confirmation appears certain.

The committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he expected the nomination to be reported to the Senate floor "next Tuesday or Wednesday." It then would be up to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield when the nomination would be voted on.

Eastland said Kleindienst should have "no difficulty" in winning final approval. Kleindienst is now deputy attorney general, the No. 2 man in the Justice Department, and shares many of Mitchell's views on law and order and such matters as wiretapping.

Anti-bus proposal divides Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Civil rights advocates in the Senate split today on a compromise antibusing plan put forth by Democratic and Republican leaders.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., called it a step "backward toward separate but equal schools."

But with Ribicoff lined up against the middle-of-the-road legislation, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., long considered the Senate's leader in rights legislation, said he would vote delivery to the White House.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., traditionally in the forefront of civil rights supporters, also fell reluctantly into line. He said the plan gave up "too much" to busing foes, but he said he felt it was the best compromise that could be worked out.

But Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., joined Ribicoff in calling the Mansfield-Scott plan "a fall back in the battle for school desegregation."

The compromise, proposed by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, and Republican leader Hugh Scott, generally would forbid busing over long distances or to inferior schools and would prevent federal officials from forcing a busing plan on local officials. But it would not ban busing altogether.

Ribicoff called the proposal "a signal to the country that the best the U.S. Senate can do at this time is to duck the issue."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., traditionally in the forefront of civil rights supporters, also fell reluctantly into line. He said the plan gave up "too much" to busing foes, but he said he felt it was the best compromise that could be worked out.

Salmon Falls hearing set

WASHINGTON — Congressional field hearings on the proposed Salmon Falls Division of the Upper Salmon River Reclamation project have been scheduled in Idaho, March 10-11.

Congressman James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said today that a delegation of members of the House Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, headed by Chairman Harold T. Johnson, D-Calif., will take testimony and make an on-site inspection within the 64,110 acres the project will serve.

Location for the testimony has not yet been determined, McClure said.

McClure and Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, are co-sponsoring the bill authorizing the project.

The $46 million project gained Senate approval in June, 1971.

The reclamation project would insure a full supply of water for the 64,110 acres of land in two adjacent units on the south side of the Snake River, where 49,000 acres within the project area are presently irrigated with an inadequate water supply.

The project would also provide for fish and wildlife development with water delivery to ponds in non-irrigable lands throughout the project distribution system and wasteways.

The bill would authorize construction of the Milner pumping plant at the existing Milner Dam on the Snake, the construction of the major Milner-Salmon Falls Canal, the Hollister pumping plant and canal, and other distribution facilities.

How they voted

BOISE — Here is how Magic Valley legislators voted on the bill to repeal the criminal code, passed 33-32 by the Idaho House of Representatives Wednesday.

For the bill — J. Vard Chaburn, R-Albion; Earl O'Connell, R-Jackson; Ernest R. Hale, R-Burley; E. V. McLean, R-Ketchum; Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle.

Fitzwater read the roll call to the house so that each member could see how he was listed on the official tally of the vote on the criminal code repealer. Apparently, the tally was correct because nobody objected to its contents.

One of the most emotion ridden issues in some time to come before the legislature, repeal of the code won house approval 44-22 on Feb. 11. Then, by a vote of 44-22, the house reconsidered the bill and on Feb. 11 sent it back to the judiciary committee while lawmakers worked on amendments to make the new code more acceptable.

Last week, the House passed a dozen bills amending the code.

Wednesday, at the request of Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, the judiciary committee sent the repealer back to the floor for action without recommendation.

In urging the house to pass the repealer, Little argued it should be kept alive as an option should the proposed amendments not solve the problem with the code.

Rep. Ernest Hale, R-Burley, said he does not believe the amendments have made a good law out of the criminal code and predicted it will cost the taxpayers plenty of money to keep the new one in the courts.

Airliner released

By United Press International Five Arab guerrillas who hijacked a Lufthansa 747 plane released the 14-man crew Wednesday and surrendered to Southern Yemen police. The plane was released today for the return flight home, the official Iraqi news agency reported from the Southern Yemen capital.

Beirut reports said the Germans paid a $3 million ransom.

The guerrillas armed with pistols and hand grenades seized the plane over Bombay Monday night and forced the crew to fly to Aden on a terror-filled flight in which the guerrillas threatened to blow up the aircraft and at one point struck Joseph P. Kennedy III with a pistol.

The Iraqi news agency said Kurt Meinhart, a senior West German Foreign Ministry official and a member of the board of directors of the airliner, flew home separately.

"Think Nixon has just landed in China"

Howard Hughes' memos hint Airwest buildup

WASHINGTON, D.C. (UPI)—A Howard Hughes memo has come to light which indicates he planned a vast buildup of his regional airline, Air West, before he abandoned Las Vegas in 1971 for the Bahamas.

Benjamin F. Schemmer, editor of the Armed Forces Journal, said in an article in that publication that he has a copy of a number of Hughes memos to an associate including one about a more than $1 billion order for Lockheed jumbo jets.

Schemmer said he is convinced beyond a shadow of a doubt of the authenticity of the memos, which are signed "Howard."

The one about the Lockheed order is not dated but, from the chronology of the memos, was written about one-and-a-half to two years ago. The writer claims that the Lockheed order was known only to three men in the Hughes Tool Co. and four in another company.

"It must be kept in strictest confidence," the memo read. "These figures should not be floating around even in a sealed envelope."

"So suffice it to say that the contract I just signed is an agreement with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. for substantially more than $1 billion in purchase of a fleet of the very latest—design of jumbo jets. There is nothing like this airplane in design and construction anywhere in the world."

Schemmer said the memo apparently referred to Lockheed's new L-1011 transport, a $15 million plane designed to transport 245 passengers on short range or transcontinental trips. A billion dollars would purchase 67 of the jets.

Nixon scorns fur hat

PEKING (UPI)—President Nixon bought a fur hat for the trip to the Great Wall of China but did not wear it, striding down the top of the wall bareheaded.

Temperatures fell to 5 below at the wall overnight, but they rose rapidly in the bright sunshine that followed a Wednesday snowfall.

"I didn't need the coat and nobody will ever see the hat I bought," Nixon said.

Neither the President nor his wife Pat wore gloves, but Mrs. Nixon wore a brown hat—the first time she has worn a hat during the stay in Peking.

Angela Davis freed on bail, conditions

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis was freed on $102,500 bail Wednesday night and driven past cheering supporters by defense attorneys who said, "We're ready, we've been ready" for the start of her trial Monday.

"Right on," shouted about 50 admirers as the 28-year-old former-UCLA instructor, jailed 15 months on murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges, was whisked by car from the Palo Alto facility to an undisclosed location.

The bail money was put up by Roger McAfee, a farmer in the Fresno area who said he was impressed by Miss Davis and the struggle she represented, according to a spokesman from her defense committee.

Her attorneys said Miss Davis would appear at a San Jose news conference at 2 p.m.

PST (4 p.m. EST) today, but did not indicate if she would speak. The order allowing her bond release included a long list of conditions, including one forbidding her to attend rallies or public meetings without the court's permission.

Other conditions imposed by Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aylason included not discussing the case in public, not to "travel by air," and forbid her to "possess or control any firearms."

She was also ordered to take up residence in Santa Clara County, site of the courthouse where more than $200,000 has been spent for security arrangements for her trial.

Miss Davis was charged with supplying the guns used in a Marin County courtroom escape attempt and shooting August 7, 1970. A judge and three kidnapers died.

Solon appeals fine, sentence to prison

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Ten-term Texas congressman John Dowdy, fined $25,000 and sentenced to 18 months in prison Wednesday, prepared today an appeal of his conviction to the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond, Va.

Dowdy's defense lawyers said the 50-year-old east Texas Democrat would remain free on bond until his conviction of bribery, conspiracy and perjury charges can be reviewed by the appeals court.

U.S. Judge Roszel C. Thomsen imposed sentence Wednesday after refusing to grant Dowdy a new trial on his Dec. 29, 1971 conviction, which ended an eight-week jury trial here.

Thomsen said that due to Dowdy's age and health—his trial was postponed eight times due to various illnesses—he would hear arguments later on what type of facility in which Dowdy would serve his sentence if he ever has to go to jail.

'Mail drop' nun called to testify

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A second "mail drop" nun was called by the government to testify today in its effort to prove that the Harrisburg Seven plotted by mail and by mouth to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger to publicize the antiwar movement.

The new witness in the federal court trial of the Rev. Philip R. Berrigan and six other antiwar advocates was to be Sister Grace Russell. The government charges that Berrigan sent a threat to kidnap Kissinger in a 1970 letter addressed to Sister Grace in New York but intended for Sister Elizabeth McAlister, now a defendant.

Wednesday, the government produced Sister Judith Savard, a teacher at Marymount Manhattan College and a nun along with Sister Elizabeth in the order of the Sacred Heart of Mary. She said that in the summer of 1970 she received letters addressed to her but intended for Sister Elizabeth. The letters had no return address, she said, but she knew she was to deliver them unopened to Sister Elizabeth because they had a Lewisburg, Pa., postmark. Berrigan was imprisoned at Lewisburg for destroying draft board records. The government contends he conspired from his cell. Sister Judith testified that Sister Elizabeth asked me if I would receive mail addressed to me for her at my home as a favor, and I said "yes," she told chief prosecutor William S. Lynch that she didn't ask why. Asked if this wasn't unusual, she replied: "Well, if somebody asked me I would," but added no one else ever asked her.

She said she didn't remember how many Lewisburg letters there were, but thought there were at least three. Asked if she thought Sister Elizabeth suspected the order's province house on West 85th St. in New York might be under some kind of surveillance, she replied:

"Yes, I felt there was certain sense that perhaps some mail was being looked at, and she didn't want the mail to come there — so I respected that."

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (UPI) — Edward Caruthers, 102, was to go to circuit court today to get a divorce from his 62-year-old wife, Anne. Caruthers says his wife of two years "can't wash dishes, can't cook."

"She wasn't no housekeeper and couldn't even sew a button on that would stay," he added. Caruthers' divorce bill claims cruel and inhuman treatment.

TF mayor asked to install curb

TWIN FALLS — Mayor John Christofferson told the City Council Tuesday he has received an ultimatum from the city to install curbs beside his remodeled business property. He told the council he would be happy to add the curb and gutter except none of his neighbors has curb and gutter and he doesn't want a puddle of water standing beside his property. City Council members said they didn't think the mayor should be let off too easily and decided to require adjoining property owners to install curb and gutter when Christofferson's firm makes installation. Agreeing the improvement might take some time, the mayor was given permission to occupy remodeled building space prior to completion of the curb in installations.

SL firm named TF agent

TWIN FALLS — A Salt Lake City firm which has handled financial matters for Twin Falls in the past will serve as fiscal agent for the 1972 street improvement program.

Council members voted Tuesday night to hire Burrows and Smith as fiscal agent for Local Improvement District 87. The district will be formed to help property owners meet their share of costs in the 1972 street reconstruction and improvement program.

The program will be financed in part by a $250,000 gasoline tax revenue fund with property owners paying curb and gutter improvement costs where new installations must be made to extend the life of the new streets.

Designs and plans for the 1972 program are now being completed by the city engineering staff.

Official City and County Newspaper
Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and UPI Pursuant to Section 40-106 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which
Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 3, 1879.

In Idaho Too?

It is difficult to believe, living here in Idaho and in Magic Valley where water-short years are few and far between — that fresh water is probably the most plentiful and most poorly utilized resource on this planet. At some point in the near future man will be compelled to manage it more wisely or learn to do without for a number of uses now taken for granted.

A study by the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) agency, points out that only about 6.6 percent of all the precipitation on the earth's surface is controlled. The remainder is lost through evaporation or runoff into the great bodies of salt water.

Three factors contribute to fresh water loss: overexploitation, which causes water tables to drop and salt water intrusion; deterioration in quality and quantity through poor watershed management and inadequate soil conservation, and increased erosion and salinization caused by inefficient agriculture.

Population growth and its increased demands upon resources accelerates these conditions, leading some scientists to predict that before the current generation of youths passes from the scene water may become the world's number one problem. Increasing the low percentage of available precipitation under wise management practices is a necessary first step.

Shortsighted

A Pittsburgh woman who holds a master's degree in education from Harvard and earned a Phi Beta Kappa key at Stanford, has gone to court to force the school board to give her a job.

She was turned down for a teaching position, she says, because she is blind and in event of fire could not lead the students to safety.

Whatever the merits of that case, it does help point up the inconsistencies and irrelevancies which sometimes go into hiring practices, particularly where handicapped persons are concerned. Ability to do the job sometimes takes second priority. A master's degree in the chosen profession and an earned Phi Beta Kappa key are not absolute proof that the individual is going to excel in that field. But most employers would be willing to accept far less evidence of competence.

They would also regard those accomplishments extraordinary to be achieved by an individual bereft of one of the more essential senses. Before starting her career this worker has demonstrated diligence in excess of that acquired by many others in a lifetime. Traits like that still count with the competent employer.

Back To Books

Illustrative of the new mood of industry and sobriety that seems to have overtaken the nation's campuses is the following statement attributed to a female junior majoring in urban planning at a western university:

"Ecology and the war have gone down in crisis status. I can't do anything about either, so I'll study."

Like it's a drag kid. There might turn out to be some connection between study and a useful career in urban planning, and between urban planning and a partial solution to the ecology problem.

Like give it a try.

MR. SPECTATOR

Dandelions? Really!

About the time when Mr. Spectator thinks he has heard, read or seen everything then he opens his mail.

He did that yesterday and found that dandelions are now grown because they are good to eat. We can remember as a kid that Grandma Parker (that was on Mom's side) paid me to pick dandelion leaves so she could boil them and eat them. We never came up with a taste for the leaves — although the money fit in just fine.

Well, here's what we are talking about. We opened a letter from the W. Allee Burpee Co., and they announced you can now buy dandelion seed from them and plant it so you can eat it. The leaves of the Burpee dandelion are "eating" leaves and much better than the wild variety.

They admit that the idea of PLANTING dandelions may seem to be sheer insanity but they say they have a steady demand for the seeds they have available. In addition to just plain eating, the "cultured" dandelions are good for brewing tea, they say.

Now, if you want some of the seed then just send for the free W. Allee Burpee Co. catalog. You can get it by writing the company at Riverside, Calif. 92502. And we might point out — next time you pull up those dandelions just be sure it isn't a cultivated plant!

HONEST IT HAPPENED

Mr. Spectator was told about the first grader who told his brother — a four-year-old — that the smart thing is not to learn to spell, your first word. The trouble is, the moment you spell that first word — say "dog" for instance — you are trapped. From then on the words get longer and harder.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

Experience is what makes you wonder how it got the reputation of being the best teacher. Then you must also remember that a man is never so weak as when a woman is telling him how big and strong he is.

WASHINGTON — The plight of the super liberals in this election year is illustrated by the cold shoulder they turn to Sen. Hubert Humphrey, upon whom George Wallace once called down the ultimate curse. "A damned Socialist," snapped Wallace in the heady days of John Kennedy's administration. As Senator and as Vice President, Humphrey did indeed help glut the liberal camp with victories which the opposition to the right denounced as welfare-state stuff and even Marxism. But the super liberals just can't let themselves be grateful to Hubert Humphrey. They are glutted with victories, but the victories were won by the wrong man.

Some super liberals can't forgive Humphrey for not being named John or Teddy Kennedy. Others whisper that he lacks John Lindsay's "style" and "grace" and the Lindsay good looks. He is compared unfavorably with Sen. George McGovern and even with Gene McCarthy, who is contemptuous of almost everybody but Gene McCarthy.

Humphrey's sin, which brought about his defeat for the Presidency in 1968, is that he served Lyndon Johnson, the man who dared to succeed a Kennedy in the White House. He is scolded daily by ivory tower academics and by those curious types who discuss politics and life in "capital letters" while sitting on the floor and eating with their fingers from noxious casseroles.

They denounce poor Hubert for "betraying" his liberal heritage by supporting Johnson's Vietnam policies. A clutch of "writers" who won't get their names into print here have complained that Humphrey uses "bur traditional liberal vocabulary to end radically different than ours." We have here the champions of civil rights imposing censorship on liberals who don't toe their private line.

If Hubert Humphrey had less "grace" and "style," he would tell these jokers to drop dead in good, lusty Anglo-Saxon terms. But he's running for President again, and there is always the chance that even a John Galbraith will see enough light grudgingly to admit the liberal cause's debt to the man it now maligns.

Humphrey was fighting the liberal battle when most of these whining backbiters were still scriawling dirty words on fences, and he was fighting them in an age when it was not yet chic to be a liberal.

Few if any of Humphrey's critics of today were on hand to help him Hubert almost single-handedly led the campaign for a strong civil rights plank at the 1948 Democratic convention in Philadelphia. He fought Joe McCarthyism when most liberals were busy holding someone else's coat or hiding in the woodwork. The Peace Corps was a Humphrey brain child, and so was Medicare.

So Hubert supported the Johnson Vietnam policies? He had plenty of company. It took the liberals and the Arthur Schlesinger Juniors years, and a sudden awareness of the profits accruing from expediency, to decide those policies were wrong. There were no protests from Galbraith, Schlesinger and Teddy Kennedy when Kennedy's brother started it all.

We are told by the Humphrey critics that on the Vietnam War issue he was the captive of a basically conservative Eastern Establishment. Possible. But the older critics were singing the praises of this syndicate when it was leading the country into an all-out war against Adolf Hitler. That war was a just one, but I can't help observing that one of the more notable eccentricities of the super liberal is that while he can exhaust himself inveighing against Fascism, he can spare no indignation for Communism.

Hubert Humphrey may be beaten by these peculiar people, but he should refrain from trying to placate them. They are not so much ingrates as they are captives of a mobism that can't stand liberalism if it is espoused by a candidate they have decided is an outsider.

ITEM: MITCHELL RESIGNS TO RUN NIXON CAMPAIGN

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Masturbation

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am frantic with worry. My son is 13 and has always been a good boy, popular with others and intelligent.

Lately he has grown quieter and was caught masturbating. My husband talked to him and we thought it was stopped.

We now have been told that he was seen doing it again. The first time he admitted it, but the second time he denies it, saying he knows better.

Is something wrong with him? Should I take him to a psychiatrist? But even as I write this, I wonder, because he seems so normal in every other way. Do most boys go through this phase?—Mrs. R.L.S.

I've had other letters similar to yours, some almost as panicky as yours, and have tried to answer them quietly and circumspectly. But mothers, and grandmothers, and aunts, and even nosy neighbors keep on wanting some "cure" for masturbation.

Take the boy to a psychiatrist? No. The people who needed a psychiatrist were the ones who, many years ago, started all the blather about masturbation being such a terrible thing.

Masturbation is the result of the sexual drive that is built into most young people, and I doubt that there's a normal boy who hasn't experienced it. Maybe a few—but mighty few.

For whatever reason, however, a folklore grew up around masturbation, and kids were bombarded with hair-raising threats that it would "cause insanity." Ruin your health, and all manner of such hokum.

No doubt there are some youngsters who become abnormally obsessed with sex, which is too bad, but the awful awful things that are supposed to result from masturbation are a lot of bunk. In some societies (not ours, of course) youngsters marry in their early teens. These awful-awful things don't happen to them—so why should masturbation cause any such things? The answer is that it doesn't.

However, the idea that masturbation is "sinful" and "bad for health" has been repeated so often that quite a few people believe it.

The mental turmoil such "warnings" create in young people, and the feelings of guilt that are instilled are probably the biggest danger related to masturbation—not the act itself, but the mental misery.

The average active youngster, who is interested in sports, hobbies or any of the normal activities of youth isn't likely to indulge in masturbation to a degree that is going to harm him.

So, no, don't take this boy to a psychiatrist. Don't lecture him. Don't fret about him. You say he's a good boy and intelligent. So just let him be.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My baby is three months old and has had three DPT shots. The first was fine but the two succeeding shots an external bump developed and then receded to an inner lump.

Her doctor says she may always have these internal lumps but they are harmless. Is he correct or do these lumps have anything to do with the leg nerves? Will she walk properly?—Mrs. M.B.C.

These lumps are not unusual, and can disappear with time. They do not involve any leg nerve and won't interfere with walking.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

Muskie's Disarmers

WASHINGTON — The pressure for wholly irresponsible cuts in defense spending by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's active supporters is reflected in a bizarre discussion last November among his secret policy advisers ending with recommendations smacking of unilateral disarmament.

The Muskie advisers talked about cutting $30 billion from Pentagon spending ($75.8 billion for this fiscal year) and redistributing the money to the poor. Although it is inconceivable that Muskie as President would even contemplate such irresponsibility, one of the Senator's top aides sat in on the meeting without one serious word of dissent.

That reflects a little understated fact about the Muskie campaign. Whereas the Senator maintains a centrist image in his drive for President, both his paid staff and his voluntary advisers are situated well to the left. Consequently, Muskie will prove an extraordinary political balancer if he can appeal to the masses and simultaneously satisfy his ideologically rigid supporters.

Such supporters make up the "Muskie Domestic Issues Group" headed by Morris B. Abram, distinguished attorney and former president of Brandeis University. It meets regularly at Abram's elegant Manhattan apartment in the Dakota with Donald E. Nicoll, Muskie's longtime aide and confidante, flying in from Washington to attend.

The Nov. 17 meeting of the Abram group accurately reflected the caliber of its advice to Muskie. S.M. Miller, professor of educational sociology at New York University, presented a paper on redistribution of income which proposed $30 billion of tax relief for poor-to-middle brackets by cutting annual defense spending that much within three or four years.

Even Muskie's own liberal staffers privately acknowledged $30 billion easily transcends reality when Soviet military spending is ominously rising. Moreover, currently studying possible defense cuts, the Muskie staff, properly, state from what a nation's policy commitments ought to be and how much must be spent to defense to sustain them. Prof. Miller's approach — setting an arbitrary $30 billion target — reverses this.

But Nicoll, Muskie's staffer present at the Dakota, offered no rebuke. Instead, he echoed the aidestepping of Muskie himself on defense. According to the meeting's official minutes: "Nicoll said that Sen. Muskie's position was that the military budget must be cut but that he had not proposed a fixed amount for that cut because we are not sure of the correct figures involved and it is very difficult to get these figures." That triggered several flights of fancy. Miller said the way to cut defense spending was to promise more spending in education and housing.

Sociologist Herbert Gans talked about cutting military spending for "right-wing dictatorships" (actually an insignificant amount). Ronald Corwin, professor of sociology at Ohio State, talked about channelling military spending into social needs ("for example, we could use Lockheed to deal with public transportation").

RAY CROMLEY

The "Six-Bloc"

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It can be said with some certainty that President Nixon attempts, with the Peking trip, to destroy the "two-power" world in which we have lived this past decade.

In its place, he will create if he can a world of six major independent competing blocs, each one bringing pressure on the others.

Mr. Nixon has been convinced by Henry Kissinger that a two-power world is inherently unstable. Every issue between the two superpowers comes to involve life and death. Any relative weakening of one side is tantamount to an absolute strengthening of the other. Effective negotiation becomes almost impossible.

Small nations play off the two powers against each other, knowing that neither can afford a military showdown. A horde of tiny countries are thus free for military adventuring and other mischief which U.S. in the end, lead to Soviet-U.S. confrontations.

Mr. Nixon and Kissinger believe that six-power blocs, by providing a sort of diffused balance of power, though they would not guarantee peace, hopefully will make possible a tolerable armistice that could last perhaps for a generation or more.

Kissinger derived this concept from longtime studies of Metternich, the 19th century Austrian diplomat who unabashedly admitted: "Neither Mr. Nixon nor Kissinger has any illusion that peace is possible with revolutionary countries with inflexible objectives. But a balance may be.

The new six-bloc world then would include a West European power bloc, the People's Republic of China, a strengthened Japan and hopefully an independent India. (An economically strong and independent Arab bloc to Russia's south would be desirable in theory. But the Arab-Israeli strife, the difficulties inherent in uniting the Arabs and the almost-impossible economic problems, make this an impracticality.)

This bloc concept is one major reason Mr. Nixon and Kissinger have used this country's diplomatic powers to work for a stronger West European union by pushing for the admission of Great Britain.

This is why Mr. Nixon would go to some lengths to strengthen Communist China's position even at some political risk at home and to our relations with Japan.

For the same reason, Mr. Nixon would like to shake Tokyo out of its inward-looking stance and convince the Japanese they must take a much more vigorous role in Pacific and world affairs.

Kissinger firmly believes, and he has convinced Mr. Nixon, that this multipower world can be created, and it would add to the security of the United States.

Publicity exceeds forecast

HONG KONG (UPI) — The domestic publicity being given President Nixon's China visit by the Chinese news media has far exceeded expectations.

It is unprecedented only to the extent that Nixon's visit is unprecedented.

Many other heads of state or other high level visitors to China have received as much or more publicity in the past.

But these were people from countries or organizations (Communist parties) with which China had friendly relations.

The fact that China and the United States have no formal relations is what makes the unexpected spate of publicity inside China so significant.

It indicates that the Chinese leadership seems sufficiently certain of the outcome of talks with Nixon to tell the Chinese people that a new day definitely has dawned for Sino-American relations.

One point that must be kept in mind in assessing the extensive publicity is that, while it surely signifies a desire for and expectation of better relations, the Chinese can turn it off just as easily as they can turn it on.

The Soviet Union, India and Indonesia provide good examples of the sweet-and-sour nature of any relations with the Peking government.

Nixon's visit started off on a subdued note. But as soon as he saw Mao in a highly unusual first-day meeting, even for a more friendly, dignitary—the situation changed quickly and dramatically.

Peking radio, which did not report Nixon's arrival until more than an hour after his plane landed, began extensive coverage after his meeting with Mao.

Proposal exempts families

BOISE (UPI) — A Senate committee plans to amend legislation aimed at warning of any dangers at mass gatherings — particularly rock festivals — to exempt large family gatherings. The legislation presented to the State Affairs Committee by Boise Attorney Stanley Crow was proposed by the citizen's factfinding committee on Fairagut, which did its own investigation of the Fourth of July weekend Universal Life Church "picnic" at the State Park.

The bill would require sponsors of mass gathering of over 500 to submit proposed advertising to the attorney general who, if he felt there was danger of drug abuse or other violations of the law, could require advertising to carry warning of danger and announce the presence of law enforcement officers.

Uninvited Jarring They're back sets Israel visit

JERUSALEM (UPI)—In the clearest possible language the government has made it plain that U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring is coming to Israel Friday without an invitation, sources said today.

Official communiques first said Jarring had "expressed an interest" in visiting Israel. Then the government said he would be coming "at his request."

Israel's view, at least publicly, is that there is nothing of substance to discuss with the U.N. Middle East mediator until he drops his one year-old request for a commitment to withdraw from occupied Arab territory.

It was this request—Israel leaders described it as an ultimatum and said he had overstepped his mandate—that led to Israel's rejection of Jarring's effort to bring about an overall peace agreement.

Instead, Israel pressed forward with the U.S. attempt to reopen the Suez Canal under a partial settlement, something Egypt so far has scorned.

The U.N. envoy's sudden desire to meet with Israeli officials following his three-day visit to Cairo last weekend was, therefore, greeted with surprise and some suspicion in the government.

The surprise stemmed from the fact that the U.N. diplomat was not expected to stop in nearby Cyprus after Egypt, much less request a visit to Israel.

The suspicion was grounded in the belief of some officials that Egypt has asked Jarring to publish a document condemning Israel for blocking the way to peace by refusing to comply with his request for a withdrawal commitment.

They're back

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Saying he was "sick" when Philadelphia's dismounted police 21 years ago, Mayor Frank Rizzo announced plans Wednesday to reinstate patrolmen on horseback mainly to prevent holdups, muggings and purse snatchings.

"I was not sick when they eliminated them in 1951," said Rizzo, a former police commissioner. "I always dreamed they would be back and, now that I'm mayor, they will be back." Rizzo said mounted patrolmen would be stationed both in downtown and major shopping centers.

NICODEMUS AND THE NIGHT PEOPLE

One of the most thoughtful and powerful men in Jerusalem made an appointment to visit with Jesus, at night. The King James Version says simply: "There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto Him, Rabbi, we know that Thou art a teacher, come from God." That was a confession of faith by a secret disciple, for Nicodemus would later defend Jesus before the power structure of Israel and in the end, assist in his burial.

The Christian movement is haunted as much as it is helped by its secret allies. For reasons known only to God, they must disguise their public allegiance. Yet, in countless ways, in and out of danger, they render favors and support to the Christian community.

Election package prepared by Mills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., a dark horse "presidential" contender, has put together an election-year Social Security package that would give 37 million Americans an across-the-board 20 per cent increase in cash benefits this summer.

Mills, as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is in a position to drive the plan through Congress.

Last year he attached a 5 per cent Social Security increase effective this coming June 1 onto President Nixon's welfare reform package, which is pending in the Senate Finance Committee. Mills will chair the House-

Senate conference that will work out differences between the House and Senate measures and will wield considerable influence over the final shape of the plan.

An obstacle could be a presidential veto, "and" with Nixon in Peking there was no immediate word on the President's reactions.

The Mills package, including other Social Security benefits in the House-passed bill, could come to $10 billion over one year.

Since Nixon has made welfare reform to provide minimum annual incomes for poor working families one of his priorities, the welfare-Social-Security bill would be hard to veto. And Social Security beneficiaries represent a large voting bloc.

Rev. Berrigan gets parole

DANBURY, Conn. (UPI)—The Rev. Daniel Berrigan was released today on restricted parole from federal prison, terminating his self-styled status as a "man without a country" and an "exile at home."

The 51-year-old Jesuit served 18 months of a three-year term for pouring animal blood on draft records at Catonsville, Md., in 1968.

While he was in the Federal Correction Institute he felt his citizenship had been suspended and referred to himself and his brother, Philip, as "exiles."

His brother, the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan, 38, on federal charges that he and six others plotted to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, presidential adviser, to publicize anti-war sentiment. Berrigan left the fortress-like structure overlooking the snow-swept Connecticut hills at 8:35 a.m. His first words to newsmen and well-wishers were: "Hello! hello! hello!" Reporters asked, "How do you feel?" He replied, "Free." He was asked, "How were you treated?" He answered, "Average."

Temperatures hovered in the mid 20s as Berrigan spoke to newsmen immediately outside the prison. He wore black clerical garb and a cross made of bolts which hung suspended from his neck on a red, yellow and black cord.

The Roman Catholic priest said he plans to go to New York this weekend for his mother's 80th birthday. He will go to Harrisburg, Pa., on federal charges that he and six others plotted to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, presidential adviser, to publicize anti-war sentiment.

Berrigan left the fortress-like structure overlooking the snow-swept Connecticut hills at 8:35

Better

LONG BINH, Vietnam (UPI)—Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. made his first visit to Vietnam Wednesday and said the Army has come a long way since he was a dogface in World War II.

"It's bending some rules these days; they're regarding men as individuals," the black entertainer said.

Mars pictures disclose canyon

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The Mariner 9 spacecraft's latest photos of the planet Mars have disclosed a canyon nearly twice as deep and six times as wide as Arizona's Grand Canyon.

Photos released Wednesday by California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory also confirmed that Mars' moon, Phobos, is an oblong "shape" like a potato.

The canyon network in the latest photos was larger than two previous canyon complexes seen in spacecraft photos of the red planet. The new canyon in the Thionis Lacus area south of the Martian equator is 75 miles wide and 9,500 feet deep. Although water erosion has not been ruled out in sculpting the canyon, scientists at JPL said it was more likely that the canyons were a result of a combination of subsidence and wind erosion. Subsidence is the collapse of the ground surface along a rock fracture line.

The shape of Phobos was confirmed by photographing its shadow on Mars' surface.

Strabane town hall burned

BELFAST (UPI)—Masked rioters today burned the town hall in Strabane, birthplace of the man who printed the U.S. Declaration of Independence. In Belfast, the army reported a soldier shot by a sniper.

An army spokesman said the soldier, not yet identified, was "very seriously ill" after being wounded when his patrol came under fire.

In Strabane, 15 miles southwest of Londonderry, a gang of attackers, some carrying weapons, and some masked, held town hall workers at gunpoint while they splashed the building with gasoline, then set it on fire with bombs.

An army spokesman said the explosion of two bombs and fire extensively damaged the town hall, the birthplace of John Dunlap who emigrated to the United States, established the newspaper Pennsylvania Packet and printed the U.S. Declaration of Independence.

The explosions and fire caused no casualties, the spokesman said.

William McCurry, one of eight staff members in the building when the attack occurred, said the gang held them at gunpoint on a stairway for 20 minutes while they sprinkled the gasoline.

Members of the gang permitted the staff to leave the town hall and warned nearby residents and stores to leave before the bombs blew up, witnesses said.

In Londonderry, two gunmen helped firemen battle the blaze electrical appliance store, an army spokesman said.

A spokesman said army units helped firemen battle the blaze at the town in Strabane.

5 Nevada brothels ordered to close

YERINGTON, Nev. (UPI)—Five of northern Nevada's brothels were ordered closed permanently and perpetually Wednesday by a district judge.

The order closing Lyon County's houses of prostitution was issued by Judge Richard Waters Jr. after attorneys for the bawdy houses agreed to a permanent injunction sought by District Attorney Stanley Smart.

Smart has waged a six-month battle to close the brothels, four of which are 50 miles from Yerington and the fifth 10 miles outside of Carson City.

If any of the houses continue to operate, the owners could be cited for contempt of court.

There were unconfirmed reports that a new county ordinance was being prepared which would allow the houses to reopen provided they located a required distance from public roads.

Rehearing asked on death penalty

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The state attorney general's office has announced it will file a petition for rehearing with the state supreme court on its recent abolition of the death penalty.

Chief Deputy Attorney General Charles A. Barrett said Wednesday that the petition would probably be filed next week. If unsuccessful in trying to overturn the ruling, he added, his office was ready to take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high tribunal last Friday outlawed capital punishment. The decision takes effect in about 30 days.

Code saves

BONN (UPI)—Use of zip codes on mail saves the West German Post Office 23.5 million marks ($7.45-million) a year, the Ministry of Posts and Telecommunications told parliament.

N. Idaho man seeks post

LEWISTON (UPI) — Robert Purcell, Lewiston, announced his candidacy Wednesday for the Republican nomination for first district congressman during a news conference.

Purcell has been the executive vice president of the Non-Profit Therapy Institute, a non-profit organization to improve the nation's use of blood and blood products. He has also been a consultant for a national retail company.

He told newsmen, "I pledge you a campaign that will generate full discussion of the issues facing the nation and pertinent to the people of the first district. My position will be drawn largely from first hand experience and from study and discussions with the people of the first district and many government and civic leaders both at the state and national level."

Purcell ran for the office in 1968 but was defeated. He is running for the office to be vacated by incumbent Congressman James A. McClure, R-Idaho, who has declared his candidacy for U. S. Senator to replace retiring Sen. Len J. Jordan, also a Republican.

Bill reconsidered

BOISE (UPI) — The senate voted to reconsider and send to the amending order Wednesday a bill it killed Tuesday to set a salary schedule for prosecuting attorneys based on population of the counties in which they serve.

The bill was killed on a 17-17 vote, but senators voted 21-11 to revive it after Sen. David Bivens, R-Payette, said amendments might include adjustments in the proposed salary levels and a change in the effective date to give counties time to change budgets.

Tax proposal

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the House Judiciary Committee voted Wednesday to introduce a proposed constitutional amendment allowing cities and counties to levy excise taxes.

As written, the proposed amendment, however, still would require a vote of the people in each community before a city or county could levy such taxes.

Ombudsman plan killed in senate

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate killed 7-16 Wednesday a bill to create the legislative office of ombudsman or public protector after an opponent said it would just clutter the wheels of progress.

Sen. William Crookham, R-Caldwell, said the official would be able to receive complaints against government agencies by aggrieved persons.

He called the measure one of the "remedies to preserve human rights because the ombudsman could protect the individual against inadvertent or advertent mistakes or abuses of power."

But Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, said this is setting up "another form of government where someone not satisfied just has another place to go." He said the legislature would be just cluttering up the wheels of progress which are not turning too fast now.

Labor needed

BOISE (UPI) — The House Agricultural Affairs Committee Wednesday introduced a measure asking the federal government help Idaho farmers find enough labor to carry irrigation pipes.

Saying that irrigation by sprinkler pipe is vital to the health of Idaho agriculture, the memorial notes there is not always available an adequate supply of pipe movers in the local labor supply.

Bill to hinder airport vote held

By DWIGHT JENSEN

Special to the Times-News

BOISE — The Senate Transportation Committee has voted to "hold for further study" a bill making it more difficult to form regional airport authorities.

Senate Bill 1464, which was brought to the committee by Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, at the request of the Twin Falls County Commissioners, was delayed and possibly killed in committee after George Forschler and Frank Titus of the regional airport authority testified against it.

They said the way must be left open for the people of Twin Falls County to decide later to come into the authority.

"It is always in the public interest to make elections as easy as possible and not as hard as possible," Titus said. He said the Twin Falls County Commissioners were obviously upset by the cost of last year's wine and airport elections, but that nevertheless it should be left easy for the public to exercise its franchise.

Senate Bill 1464 would double the number of signatures on petitions needed to call an election and would provide that at least one year must occur between elections.

"I hate to see the law changed in any way to keep us from accomplishing our task as soon as we can," Titus said.

Forschler told the committee, "This big investment is not going to just be abandoned. The authority has the responsibility to work out an agreement with the city of Twin Falls and the county of Twin Falls."

He said the authority wants to complete an updated study of airport needs and possible sites so a renewed effort at building a regional airport can be made.

Titus said, "No regional airport can ever be built in our area without Twin Falls County, because of the assessed valuation."

Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, told the committee that a change in the law now would "only tend to muddy the waters and defeat the hard work that's been done over the past six years."

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, said he recently talked with U. S. Secretary of Transportation John Volpe, who told him that in many areas across the nation federal money is available for the construction of regional airports, but local pride is preventing the agreement that would allow construction to begin.

Yarbrough made the motion to hold the bill for further study. It passed unanimously.

Plan would double aid

BY LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's commissioner of public assistance said Wednesday transferring various functions to the DPA could possibly double federal support for the programs in some areas.

Dr. John Marks appeared before the legislature's Budget-Fiscal Committee to discuss the impact of placing under the DPA the child development centers, youth rehabilitation centers, mental retardation, Idaho State School and Hospital — all from the Department of Health — and the State Youth Training Center at St. Anthony from the Department of Education.

Marks told the committee transferring the child development centers could "come close to doubling the money available to the centers."

He also assured the committee it would be a "bookkeeping matter" to determine which recipients would be eligible for federal welfare money and said there would be no identification of which were DPA and which non-

Lie detector ban debated

BOISE (UPI) — Labor leaders debated with police officials and a polygraph operator Wednesday the merits of a house bill banning use of lie detectors by employers and prospective employees.

Warren Felton, an assistant attorney general, said the bill was designed to protect employees told to sign waivers of liability in taking lie detector tests or lose their jobs.

While it does not prevent use of "such tests by employers, Felton said, the bill does block arbitrary firing of those who decline or fail to sign waivers.

Approved by the house earlier this week the measure now is before the Senate State Affairs Committee. Members of that committee took testimony on the bill Wednesday but did not act on it.

Raps tax plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of Idaho supported Wednesday a National Governors' Conference Committee denunciation of the Nixon administration value-added tax proposal.

The bipartisan conference committee on executive management and fiscal affairs voted unanimously to oppose the Nixon tax proposal described by Andrus as "nothing more than a national sales tax."

On another matter, the Idaho governor reaffirmed his endorsement of the federal general revenue sharing concept but warned, "We cannot permit a federal tax increase to fund it."

DPA patients.

He said it appeared the entire budget of youth rehabilitation services could be matched by the federal government if the program were shifted, and said possibly one-third of the services given at the state youth training centers could attract federal funds.

For Idaho State School and Hospital, he said, 60 to 65 per cent of the patients might be eligible for federal support, again possibly doubling the spendable amount of money for the institution.

Both Marks and Dr. Merrill Sharp, newly elected chairman of the State Board of Health, agreed youth-rehabilitation should be kept in the same agency as the youth training center.

Sharp, under questioning from the committee, said it would be "almost impossible" at this time to close State Hospital North at Orofino.

Part of the problem, he said, was that the local mental health centers are not sufficient to care for the needs of the patients.

Monday the joint finance-appropriations committee defeated these motions to set a general fund budget for a reduced department of health and repeated the same pattern Wednesday.

But its discussions indicate the committee approves transferring to the Department of Public Assistance Idaho State School and Hospital, mental re-ardation, the child development centers, and approves transferring youth rehabilitation from the Health Department and the State Youth Training Center from the Department of Education.

One of the motions killed Wednesday on an 8-8 tie vote would have forced the health department to close state hospital north at Orofino.

Sen. Richard S. High of Twin Falls, who made the motion, noted it costs the state $1,600 for each of the 47 patients at the Orofino institution and only $69.90 for the 283 kept at State Hospital South at Blackfoot.

But opposition came from Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, who said he disliked "going in the back door" to force closure.

Custom finish clothing

SHOSHONE — Hand finishing a zipper can give a custom finish to home made clothing," according to Mrs. Jean Annett, home economist for Lincoln-Blaine and Camas counties.

A number of fabrics call for a zipper application to be more flexible and less conspicuous than can be accomplished by machine stitching.

Among these are napped and pile fabrics such as velvet, corduroy, velveteen, fur fabrics and some wools and related fabrics.

Both lapped and centered applications can be sewn by hand. Some fabrics may require pressing and steam.

DEAR ABBY: I want to do something now that I have been wanting to do for seven months. I want to say "thank you" for something you did for me.

On May 6, 1971, our second son was born. But he was not like our first-born, "normal" son. He is Mongoloid. With the help of family, friends and doctors, I prepared myself for the raising of our "special" child. But the acceptance came much harder for my young husband. It's easier for a mother to love the child she has carried for nine months, but for the father, that love sometimes comes harder, and after many forced smiles and sleepless nights, my husband now admits that he was miserable. Needlessly miserable, he knows now, but at first he wondered if he could ever "love" his second son as he should.

On May 11, your column concerning Mongoloid babies appeared. It could not have come out at a better time for us. THAT made the difference in my husband's life. After reading that column, he no longer had that "why-did this-have-to-happen-to-us" attitude. And just knowing how other people have handled it can help a lot.

Our baby is eight months old now, and a happier child I've never seen. And I know a lot of his happiness comes from knowing that his mother and daddy and brother really love and accept him totally.

Dear, Dear Abby, if you did nothing else in 1971, you have helped one father find the love he always had for his "special" child. Thank you!

DOUG'S MOTHER
PORT WORTH, TEXAS

DEAR MOTHER: Your letter made this five-foot-nothing columnist nine feet tall today. After this, I know I'll be deluged with requests to reprint that column, so tomorrow, with the kind indulgence of those readers who have already read it, I shall do so.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the identical twin who said she did not enjoy being a twin, and didn't believe twins had any special "closeness" between them.

You are dead wrong! I've been a twin for 52 years, and although my twin and I are separated by thousands of miles, we still think and feel alike. When she had a back operation, my back actually ached. When I was laid up after an auto accident, she said she felt my pain.

She bought a fur coat in New York. I bought the identical fur coat in San Francisco! (Neither one knew the other was even considering a fur coat!)

She sent me an ash tray for an anniversary. I had just bought one for myself exactly like it.

It's almost weird the way we think and feel alike, but it's the truth. Please sign me.

GREAT TO BE A TWIN

DEAR GREAT: No identical twin would doubt you. At least, not this one.

DEAR ABBY: I shall be receiving my engagement diamond in a few weeks and I want very much to have my picture in the newspaper's society section announcing my engagement and wedding plans.

My problem: I am a divorcee with a 5-year-old child. I was not formally engaged the first time because I had a shotgun wedding.

Under the circumstances, would it be proper for me to announce my engagement with a picture in the paper just like all the other brides?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It is proper for a divorcee to announce her engagement and wedding plans, but the announcement should include the fact that you are MRS. SO-AND-SO, and the mother of a child by a previous marriage. To deliberately omit these facts would leave you open to criticism.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it out your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

could just bang down the ace and king of trumps. This would bring home the slam some one-third of the time. A slightly better line, play one high trump and then go to dummies for a finesse. This would work against a singleton queen in either the East or West hand or against two or three to the queen in the East hand. This play had almost a 40 per cent chance of success.

The best play would be to take a trump finesse and enter dummy for a second finesse. This was almost a 50 per cent chance.

So Alice deliberately tried the worst plan and made her Wonderland slam.

15th drug arrest

BURLEY — A 15th person is facing charges of delivery of a controlled substance in a week-long crackdown by Burley and Rupert officers.

Jerry McCordell, 20, Burley, has been charged with delivery of a controlled substance and released on $5,000 property bond set by magistrate court.

Officers in Cassia and Minidoka counties arrested 11 persons several days ago in a roundup move. David Mitchell, one of the first arrested, was given a hearing before Magistrate Court Judge Gleason Anderson and bond reduced from $15,000 to $1,500.

Prosecuting Attorney Gordon Nielson said other warrants are pending and preliminary hearings for those arrested are expected to begin today or Friday.

Clinics set for March 2

SHOSHONE — The South Central District Health Department will cooperate with school districts in Lincoln and Camas counties in a measles and rubella clinic.

Children in grades one through four and pre-school (over the age of 1) are eligible for the immunization to be held March 2.

Schedules for the clinic will be at 9 a.m., Shoshone Lincoln School; 10 a.m. at Dietrich School cafeteria; 11:30 a.m. at Richfield grade school, and at 2 p.m. at Fairfield grade school.

Measles is a one-shot immunization. This is protection against the "hard red" measles and public health officials urge that all children who have not had one within the above age groups, to be given the immunization.

Rubella is also known as three day measles and immunization against this is also considered to be a life-time immunity. It is important for all children to have this vaccine as rubella is the cause of many birth defects and by wiping out rubella many of these can be prevented. There will be a 50 cent charge for any and all of the immunizations.

Wood River unit to meet Friday

SHOSHONE — The Wood River Resource Area Association Friday will hold its first election of officers since becoming a council of governments last summer.

The election will be at the Lincoln County Courthouse at 8 p.m., according to council chairman Don G. Fredericksen.

Officers to be elected are chairman and vice-chairman, with other members of an eight member administrative board, representative of the four counties involved, to be appointed by the newly elected chairman.

The administrative board will make emergency decisions between regular sessions of the Sun Valley City to have volunteer fire department operating April 1

SUN VALLEY — The city of Sun Valley will have an operational volunteer fire department April 1.

The new department is part of a program under which the city will gradually acquire responsibility for certain facilities and roads currently maintained by the Sun Valley Co.

The Sun Valley City Council Tuesday voted to take the necessary steps toward creating the department. City Clerk G. Robert Ackerman said that insurance for the fire truck must be obtained and that the rural fire district agreement with Ketchum must be renegotiated.

The new department, Ackerman said, will cost about $3,000 annually, included in that figure are estimated costs for maintenance and repairs on the fire truck, insurance and compensation for the volunteer firemen on a per call basis, he said.

The Sun Valley Co. will donate the present fire truck to the city and will house, maintain and repair the truck until the city can provide its own facilities. Ackerman said the city should set aside a certain amount, perhaps about $10,000 a year, toward a new firehouse.

Unburied piles of dogs trouble Gooding

Gooding has complaints over piled dogs bodies

GOODING — Gooding officials say they have received complaints that dogs destroyed under the city's leash law have been left in piles at the city dump.

Some dogs reportedly had been dumped while still alive. Mayor Harley Crippen said he had received complaints that dogs had been left unburied at the dump.

He said the animals had been left unburied because of a breakdown in the bulldozer at the dump.

Veterinarian Mrs. Richard Stapp, Gooding, said today Gooding councilmen had received complaints of dogs being shot by the city dogcatcher and left at the dump before the animals were dead.

Because of this, she said, the councilmen had requested that she destroy the animals by use of injections. She said the injections began Feb. 3.

Dogcatcher John Stutznecker said today that all dogs are now being taken to Dr. Stapp for disposal.

He said that he had been shooting the dogs before Feb. 3. He said he was shooting them through the brain. All were dead before being dumped, he said.

Gooding city dump attendant George Eubanks said today that he had found some dogs that had been shot but which were still alive.

"I've had to finish them off myself," he said.

He said the bulldozer had been repaired, and burial of the animals would begin on Friday.

City attorney Cecil Hobday said there is no city ordinance specifying the manner in which dogs must be destroyed. He said the ordinance provides only that the animals be destroyed after 72 hours captivity, if not claimed.

Goes modern

HANSEN — The town of Hansen, with just over 400 population, is going modern.

For 20 years City Clerk Dorothea Steelsmith worked in a city hall which had no sewer facilities and no restroom. In fact, it had no water connections.

Mrs. Steelsmith has had to go to the post office across the street for a drink of water or the use of restroom facilities or else go home.

Now the city has begun to use the former Grange Hall for city offices. This building has both sewer and water connections and a restroom.

Hansen slates meet

HANSEN — The Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement and sewer charges in Kimberly Association annual meeting for trailer/truck developments in set for March 1 at 8 p.m. in the event Hansen should have to determine service charges in Hansen City Hall.

Chairman W. D. Wiseman of the board of directors, development, announced plans for the meeting following a board meeting Tuesday night.

In other business Tuesday night, Helen Cannon, accountant, presented the annual audit. Robert Perkins

Two new sewer hookups were approved and the board voted to dispense with any connections for the old city offices since the space is now used for storage only.

Jerome truck burns

JEROME — The Jerome County rural fire department was called to put out a truck fire on Interstate 80 two miles south and three miles east of here about 8:35 p.m. Wednesday.

According to Don Rupert, rural fire chief, the cab of a truck belonging to Cummins

Livestock of Jerome was destroyed. Rupert said the fire apparently started when gas around the engine was ignited from a short in the electrical system.

The driver of the truck was not injured.

Snow sets record in TF

TWIN FALLS — Snow which piled up 5.5 inches in Twin Falls set new February records and closed road and utility crews some late-night work.

State Department of Highway officials in Shoshone reported all Valley roads open today. Some were being cleared of heavy snow and slush. Others remained slick with a snow or ice floor.

Department officials said the snow ranged from one-half inch in the Hatley-Ketchum area to six inches in Hazelton, Burley and Rupert. Other reports showed two inches in King Hill, Gooding, Blitar and Bunt, and three inches in Shoshone.

Fairfield recorded only one inch as the storm set a pattern of more snow in the southern part of the Valley.

Magic Mountain Ski area reported 11 inches of new snow and the storm continuing Thursday morning.

No schools were closed although Filer and Minico districts reported some of the buses were late. Officials at the central school office in Rupert said some of the buses might not be able to complete their route but there were enough students for regular classes. At Hollister the last of the buses arrived at 10:15 a.m. but all were able to complete their routes.

Law enforcement officers and wrecker operators were busy during the night with vehicles sliding from snow-covered highways. Highway crews said slush was so heavy in some areas it pulled vehicles from the roadway.

A vehicle driven by Cindy Trammel, Shoshone, skidded from Highway 93 six miles south of Shoshone. Officers said the vehicle dropped over an embankment and landed about eight feet below on its wheels.

It was brought back to the highway and the driver was able to drive it from the scene. Miss Trammel escaped injury. Numerous minor accidents were reported in the area but no serious injuries.

All snow plow equipment from the district office of the Department of Highways in Shoshone was on the job Wednesday night and Thursday morning, concentrating in the Shoshone, Jerome, Twin Falls and Burley-Rupert areas.

Utility companies worked most of the night repairing minor damage from heavy snow and ice on lines and conductors. J. L. Johnstone, maintenance superintendent from Idaho Power Co., said many lines snapped under the weight of the wet snow or from falling tree branches which broke from the weight of the snow. Most cases involved only individual customers and no major delays in service, he said.

Telephone company and cablevision officials also reported some line problems but said they were able to keep up with the situation.

U. S. Weather Bureau officials in Kimberly reported the storm brought 7.5 inches of total February snowfall in Twin Falls. This broke the previous February 1952 record of 8.4 inches.

The Wednesday night storm was also the heaviest. February storm record previously recorded was February 1952, when 4.1 inches fell in a 24-hour period.

As for overall single storm records, 9.5 inches fell in March, 1952, and 12.5 inches during a three day period in January, 1957.

Total Twin Falls snowfall this season is 28.7, not a record, officials said. Records include 47.4 inches recorded in 1909 and 1910 and again in 1948 and 1949.

Burley hosts water group

BY LEETREMAINE Times-News writer

BURLEY — Idaho has about 3.5 million acres of land yet to be developed for farm use and irrigation is the key, an Idaho water spokesman said Wednesday.

Verl Kling, deputy administrator, Idaho Water Resource Board, told members of the Idaho Irrigation Equipment Association at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley, Wednesday, of the importance of proper measurement of water use in order to avoid waste.

Other speakers during the afternoon session included Steve Allred, director of the Department of Water Administration, speaking for Keith Higginson, department director who was unable to attend.

Allred said that many courts are refusing to accept "hearsay evidence" in water-rights disputes. Accurate measurements by qualified and tested devices are essential to avoid litigation and to solve cases already in the courts, Allred said.

He mentioned one court case in which more than $100,000 has already been spent "without any decision." The department has noted more than 50 cases a year in Idaho going into court where only a few years ago only one or two would be decided legally.

Other speakers included Galen McMaster, associate irrigator at the University of Idaho Aberdeen Branch Experiment station; Allan S. Humphreys, agriculture engineer for the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly, and Jack Keller, Utah State University, Logan. Humphreys discussed current research in automation of irrigation systems, pointing out that proper irrigation scheduling can save "one half of the water that is now being used."

A properly developed system utilizes timers to move irrigation systems from one field to another by opening and closing gates, according to a pre-scheduled, Humphreys said.

McMaster and Keller each discussed research underway by their respective institutions. Keller presented an extensive series of slides depicting various types of irrigation systems.

Bids opened on Cassia garbage

BURLEY — The Cassia County Commissioners opened bids for county garbage pickups and landfill operation Wednesday during a special meeting.

Vernon Teal, Burley, was low bidder on the landfill operation, and Parks and Son Sanitation was low bidder for garbage pickup.

The landfill operation low bid was $19,994 submitted by Teal. Other bids were $29,500 submitted by Parks and Son; $35,000, Wilburn C. Roberts, and $40,187, Vern Hoffbaur, who was high bidder. Collection or garbage pickup low bid was $19,500. Parks and Son. Other bids submitted were $21,500, Wilburn Roberts; $22,254, Vern Hoffbaur, and $27,950, Vernon Teal, high bidder.

The special meeting was conducted by John Clark, chairman of the county commissioners. J. Weldon Beck and Orville Beecher, were both in attendance.

Commissioners said the contracts will be signed March 6.

Health Board hires environmentalist

JEROME — The South Central District Board of Health has hired Larry Biermann as environmentalist, according to Dr. Wayne Carte, director.

Dr. Carte also announced the hiring of Steve Allred, a College of Idaho student as part time environmentalist during the school year and fulltime in the summer. Part of their salaries will be paid through the Idaho Emergency Employment Act.

The board accepted the resignation of Gertrude Trumbley, Blaine County district nurse, at the meeting Wednesday in the Jerome County Courthouse. Geraldine True was named to succeed her effective March 1.

The board also hired Elizabeth Matthews to work parttime as environmentalist and chemist in the medical laboratory in Twin Falls, effective March 1.

Dr. Carte said the health district has renewed its office space lease in the Twin Falls City Hall for two years with a substantial increase in rent.

The office may not be available after that because of a possible increase in city personnel who will be needing the space, Dr. Carte was informed. The board decided to look into possible financing of new office space for the health department, which is also in need of more room.

A venereal disease clinic has been opened in Burley on Thursdays in the public health nurse's office in the courthouse. Dr. Carte said efforts are being made to open a venereal disease clinic in the Sun Valley area and it should be in operation within the next four to six weeks.

Dr. Carte and Mrs. Jane Overfield, Jerome County public health nurse, will administer rubella and rubella vaccine at a measles clinic today. Vaccine will be given to students in grades one through four in the Jerome and Valley district grade schools who have permission slips from their parents.

Children at the day care center in Jerome are also included.

Dr. Carte plans to present several programs on venereal disease to Jerome high school students sometime in the future.

Minidoka Farm Bureau meets

BURLEY — There are too many "divergent" voices in American agriculture today, members of Minidoka County Farm Bureau were told Wednesday night during the annual banquet.

Cliff Amick, Ontario, Ore., branch manager of Western Farmers Cooperative, told about 100 Farm Bureau members and their wives that "we need not more unions, but more unity" in agriculture.

Using the Biblical story of the tower of Babel as an example, Amick said "too many people are saying too many different things about American agriculture."

He cited as an example "a number of years ago" in which the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture called spokesmen for four farm organizations together to help determine policy.

After talking for several days, the group was told to "go home and decide what you want," Amick said. They were speaking with so many different voices that no decisions could be reached.

As examples of the different voices in agriculture, Amick said the dairyman asks Americans to "eat more butter," while the vegetable oil producers declare that "oleo is just as good."

"The beef producers," Amick said, "tell us to eat more beef while the soybean growers talk about the dangers of 'unsaturated fats,' and the potato growers dispute the value of their products with the rice growers."

If American agricultural interests would unite their forces for "sensible planning," they would have the power to accomplish the greatest good for agriculture, Amick concluded.

Lodge honors TF educator

TWIN FALLS — John Lawrence, principal of the Twin Falls High School, was honored Wednesday night by the Twin Falls Masonic Lodge as the year's top educator.

Lawrence received a certificate of appreciation as outstanding educator of 1972 during the annual Past Masters' Night banquet in the Masonic temple.

The certificate was presented by Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, retired superintendent of schools in Twin Falls on behalf of the Masonic Lodge 48, A. F. and A. M.

Approximately 125 persons attended including guests from 11 other Masonic Lodges in southern Idaho.

Dr. Ragland enumerated some of the highlights of Lawrence's career as a teacher and principal. He graduated from the University of Idaho in 1944 with a master's degree and "accepted" a position as vocational agriculture instructor in Cassia County. The following year he joined the Twin Falls district in a similar position at the Twin Falls High School.

Dr. Ragland said his record in vocational agriculture has been outstanding and in 1967 he became high school principal. "He is the type of educator we should encourage and retain in our educational enterprise. His record in this district will be difficult for others to equal or surpass," Dr. Ragland said.

Mistrial sought in Lincoln case

SHOSHONE — Lincoln County Magistrate C. M. Wilson is studying a motion for a mistrial in a traffic violation jury case.

Gerald Grant Kerley, Burley, was found guilty by a 12-member jury early Wednesday morning after the jury deliberated from 9:15 p.m. Tuesday. Kerley earlier pleaded innocent to driving over a yellow line and requested a jury trial. His attorney, Dean Klopfer, Burley, asked for the mistrial. Magistrate Wilson withheld action on the request and also has withheld sentencing.

Prosec. Atty. Howard Adkins represented the state. Jurors were Dale Monroe, Lawrence Bardley, John Jones, Clifford Stutzman, Gerald Adams and Rita Hahn.

TWIN FALLS — Rocky Mountain spotted fever shots may be obtained from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in Room 11 of Twin Falls City Hall, according to South Central District Health Department officials.

Agriculture Department's sampling program last year found residues in livers of about one-half of 1 per cent of the 4,648 cattle and sheep tested.

Other officials taking part were, from the left, Emory K. Chaffee, Twin Falls branch manager; Ralph (Pat) Kelly, Boise, company vice-president and Intermountain manager; G. J. Hormone residue found in Utah

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Department meat inspectors confirmed Tuesday they have found residues of a controversial hormone in a steer liver from Utah.

It was the second liver residue of diethylstilbestrol (DES) confirmed since the department and the Food and Drug Administration jointly adopted new regulations designed to assure consumers a hormone-free meat supply.

DES is used in livestock feeds to promote faster, more economical growth of cattle and sheep. Residues in meat, however, are banned because the synthetic hormone has been shown to cause cancers when fed in large doses to some laboratory animals.

The first residue case since adoption of the tightened new rules for DES use was disclosed last week—a sheep liver collected as part of a regular Agriculture Department sampling program in Utah.

The second case, involving a cattle liver from the same state, was reported in response to a query Tuesday by officials who said they were still collecting final details on the occurrence, but had confirmed the presence of DES.

In both cases, officials said, the residue was found only in liver. A testing method which detects DES traces down to 2 parts per billion found nothing in the "muscle tissue" meat portions of the carcasses.

Officials said the two residue cases were among a total of 400 samples of cattle and sheep tested this year in their regular DES-surveillance program.

New regulations on use of the hormone—which some consumer advocates and lawmakers want banned from use as a livestock growth stimulant—require that DES be removed from rations seven days before slaughter to assure its natural elimination.

The agriculture department also requires a certificate of compliance on all animals coming slaughter.

Previous regulations had required only a 48-hour withdrawal from DES. Under the previous rules, however, the Purchase stalled

GREELEY, Colo. (UPI)—Robert Sakata, chairman of the Sugar Beet Growers Cooperative Board which is trying to buy out Great Western Sugar Co., says negotiations now are stalemated.

Sakata told more than 800 beet growers at a meeting Monday night that the sugar company made a public announcement that it would sell to the growers co-op, but refused to follow up by signing a letter of intent.

"When the conglomerate (Great Western United) got hold of the sugar company, there were some questions in our minds," said Sakata.

"If Great Western United will build us factories we'll want this conglomerate. But until this is proven, we must suspicion the fact that this conglomerate was taking advantage of the credit and reserves of Great Western Sugar.

"The next step in this stalemate is that these meetings being held around the country with beet growers will create enough pressure on the United board and its management to make them honor their original commitment of signing that letter of intent," he said.

Beet growers and Great Western officials will get together Friday to continue both their negotiations on contracts for the 1973 crop as well as the cooperative's attempt to buy the company.

Cancer cure found

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A Salt Lake animal researcher says he has come with a cure for cow eye cancer based on an injection made from the cancerous tissue itself.

Joe L. Budd, president of the American Hereford Association, Tuesday called the finding a "major breakthrough" towards ending the disease which he said forced the condemning of 400,000 cattle a year.

Dr. Kent VanKampen, director of research for Intermountain Laboratories, Inc., said tests on numerous cattle have resulted in recovery within one to two months. Eye cancer in cows results in a tremendous economic loss. Budd said, estimating the disease takes an $8 million toll yearly.

VanKampen said the injection may be ready for sale this fall.

SHOCKING EXPOSE!

HOWARD HUGHES IS MR. SWENSEN!!

In a sensational press release just this week an old associate of H.R. Hughes revealed that MR. HUGHES has really been living in a small Southern Idaho town for the last twenty years disguised as a grocer. The informant insisted that all the time Howard Hughes was supposed to be in Las Vegas, the Bahamas, he was actually in Twin Falls, Idaho, polishing apples and slicing bologna. (Pretty wild huh, like all of the other stories).

Later, Mr. Swensen was asked to verify the story and his comment was, "The idea of a billionaire living in Twin Falls, Idaho, is really crazy", and then when he started to talk about himself being a billionaire (Howard Hughes) he started crying like a baby, all the time raving incoherently about the price of bananas.

Others at Swensen's Magic Markets asked to comment about the story said it sounded pretty fishy.

Which brings us to the subject of FISH. This is a once a year SUPER BARGAIN at Swensen's this weekend.

Murtaugh stuns Hagerman to join Oakley in A-4 tourney semi-finals

BURLEY — Flashing probably their best eight-minute form of the year, the Murtaugh Red Devils exploded from a 14-point deficit early in the fourth quarter and roared from behind to stun pre-tourney favored Hagerman 68-61 Wednesday night in the second round of the sixth district A-4 basketball tournament. Defending champion Oakley remained on the undefeated side by topping Castleford 50-42 while Rockland eliminated Hansen by coming from behind in the fourth period for a 46-44 victory.

Action continues with three games Thursday night at the Burley gymnasium. Rockland meets Hagerman at 5:30 p.m. and Castleford goes against Raft River in the second game with both losers being eliminated. Murtaugh and Oakley meet in the championship semi-finals. There will be one loser bracket game at 8:40 p.m. Friday, preceded by three junior varsity games starting at 4 p.m. The windup week opens at Burley again on Tuesday night with the loser bracket semi-finals.

Hagerman, which entered as the conference champion, appeared headed for a workmanlike victory after erasing an early Murtaugh lead fashioned on the scoring of John Flynn and Rob Wright. Wilson and Greg Laughlin shot Hagerman into an 18-13 lead and from that point on the Pirates stayed ahead, not by much but always appearing in control.

Hagerman moved ahead 53-43 in the third quarter and then appeared to have it nailed down by hitting the first four points of the final period. But at that point Murtaugh suddenly blomed while Hagerman wilted. Over the next six minutes the Devils kept coming up and finally took the lead at 60-59 on a field goal by John Flynn.

Fluently later Jack Hurd hit two free throws to pad that to three points, then seconds later tried a field goal. The shot was wide but Wright was there to tip it in. Stuart Tolman pushed it higher with two free throws and Perkins wound it up with a shot at the buzzer.

In the fourth period Hagerman managed only eight points, six from the field.

T.F., Minico schools post freshman wins

Twin Falls and Minico schools emerged on the championship side of the Robert Stuart frosh tournament Wednesday.

Host Stuart, getting 10 points from Miller, dropped Burley 64-48 while Bodily had 14 for the losers. East Minico shellied Filer 64-40 behind the 21-point pitching of Larry Smith. Steve Thaele had seven for Filer.

In the lower bracket, Tim Crist scored 10 points as O'Leary defeated Jerome 49-36. John Donkersloot paced the losers with seven. West Minico wound up the day by dropping Buhl, led by Larry Statler who had 17, four more than Buhl's Gregg Thompson.

In Thursday's play, Burley was slated to meet Filer at 1 p.m. with Stuart taking on East Minico. In the evening session, Jerome plays Buhl at 6 p.m. and O'Leary meets West Minico at 7:30 p.m.

Camas claims Northside JV tourney title

FAIRFIELD — The Camas County jayvees wound up a 15-2 season Wednesday night by defeating Richfield 59-47 in the finals of the Northside conference junior varsity tournament.

Ben Stroud, with 18 points, headed a four double-figure performance by the Muffers first-five. Holland had 14 and Tree 12 for Richfield.

Rimrock claimed the consolation prize by nipping Dietrich 47-46. Lara had 21 for Rimrock and Ballard 12 for the losers.

During the season Camas County lost only to Richfield and Clatsop.

Allen approves $120,000 pact but Sox want signature first

By United Press International — Dick Allen said "yes" to a reported $120,000 contract Wednesday but Chicago White Sox General Manager Stu Holcomb wants to see his newly acquired star sign on the dotted line.

Allen, who was obtained from the Los Angeles Dodgers during the winter, has not appeared at the Sox' spring-training headquarters in Sarasota, Fla., and all negotiations have been handled by Alfred Morris, his financial advisor in Philadelphia.

"We reached an agreement to terms to the point that when Allen comes down here we can sit down and sign," said Holcomb after a long-distance phone conversation with Morris.

"I think we've got the number (the salary figure). Now it's a matter of getting him down here. Morris did not name a date. All he said was Dick will be here as soon as he clears up a few things. I've been hearing that statement for six weeks."

Holcomb also signed outfielder Jay Johnstone and infielder Luis Alvarado.

The world champion Pittsburgh Pirates came to terms with Nelson Briles, the hero of the fifth game of the World Series and their last holdout.

Briles, who pitched a two-hit shutout against the Baltimore Orioles, will work out for the first time today, a week after Pirate pitchers were scheduled to report.

The signing of Tim Lincecum, Ted Martinez, Ken Boswell and Ken Singleton by the New York Mets, left only one player—Don Hahn unsigned. Hahn's whereabouts are unknown but the reserve outfielder is believed to be on his way to Florida from California.

Sluggish Frank Howard remained a holdout with the Texas Rangers and General Manager Joe Burke said that the club had "gone as far as we intend to on negotiations. The next move is up to Frank." Catcher Dick Billings is the only other unsigned Ranger.

The Cleveland Indians raised its number of signed players to 33 when pitchers Steve Hargan, Dick Semeloff and Larry Crossan all inked contracts.

Despite the signing of Stan Williams, Jim Bibby, Joe Grzenda, Al Hrabosky and Marty Martinez, the St. Louis Cardinals still were left with 16 players, mostly starters, who have not agreed to terms.

With a full squad workout scheduled for today, Billy Williams remained the only Chicago Cub still unsigned. The Cubs' leading hitter, who received $100,000 last season, said he expected "no difficulty" with General Manager John Holland.

Reliever Sparky Lyle came to terms with the Boston Red Sox, leaving only first baseman Mike Fiere unsigned. However, pitcher Sunny Siebert, 16-10 last year, has refused to work out with the club and wants to renegotiate a two-year contract he signed last year.

The Kansas City Royals were left with eight unsigned players when pitcher Bruce DeGroot and first baseman Fran Ortiz signed contracts.

The New York Yankees immediately took Frank Baker's name off its list of unsigned when the weak-hitting quarters with Castleford Ray Severe and Bedke keeping Oakley on top.

The Oakley break away started immediately in the fourth period as Castleford, which didn't make a long shot all night, went almost completely dead. Severe hit 13 points and Bedke 11 in the second half but most of them in the fourth period and Mullin jumped in with all eight of his points in the final 12 minutes.

A big difference came at the foul line where Oakley outscored the Wolves 15-2. Hansen, which had one of its poorest games Tuesday night, came up with a much better one Wednesday but Rockland, behind Misenheimer and Brad Ralphs was able to stave the Huskies off.

It was tied at the end of the first two periods with Hansen moving ahead 34-30 at the end of three, but the Huskies failed to score a point in the first three minutes of the last quarter and Rockland took advantage of that to post a three-point lead. After a bucket exchange, Rockland moved ahead by six with Hansen, coming back to within two in the closing seconds. Just before the final buzzer Hansen got two good shots that could have forced the overtime but both rolled off the rim.

Shoshone nips Declo at buzzer, Wendell downs Valley in A-3 openers

SHOSHONE — Roy Thompson swished a 25-footer with two seconds left to lift Shoshone's Indians past the Declo Hornets 67-65 after Wendell Hard pressed Valley into a 71-49 submission Wednesday in the opening round of the fourth district class A-4 basketball tournament. Shoshone, rated the darkhorse of the tournament after coming up with wins over seeded Glenna Ferry and Kimberly during the season, will meet the Kimberly Bulldogs at 8:30 p.m. Thursday night after Glenna Ferry and Wendell collide in the opener. Two games will be played Friday night when two teams will be eliminated.

Thompson's long bomb settles a contest that had 15 ties and about that many lead changes.

Shoshone's biggest margin was four points and Declo's largest was six, neither lasting long.

Over the first half there was little difference as Shoshone's Mike Kinney pumped through 14 points and Loveland and Scott Mallory replied for Declo. The Hornets took the lead with 2:08 left in the half when Loveland and Craig Spanbauer his back-to-back buckets and Mallory scored a free throw to make it 40-35. The Hornets kept that at 42-37 at halftime.

Kinney hit twice in the first minute of the second half as Shoshone closed to within one but over the next four minutes Mallory helped Declo to its biggest margin at 51-45.

But in the final 2:50 of the period, Shoshone caught up on the shooting of Cal Webb and Kinney and took a one-point advantage on Mike Sorenson's field goal at the buzzer.

Shrenk opened the fourth period with a free throw and it was tied at 55 and 56 before two quick Loveland goals send Declo up 61-57. Webb, Sorenson and Kinney then reeled off six straight Shoshone points but Pete Alejandro hit a long one to tie it at 63 with 1:43 remaining.

There was no scoring until 24 seconds remained when Ed Chess hit for Shoshone but 13 seconds later Schrenk worked inside the goal for an easy tying bucket. After calling timeout put the in-bounds pass to Thompson who pumped it through.

The Valley-Wendell game was all but over before half the crowd got into the gymnasium. Wendell scored the first basket and its press then racked up six more points before Valley got the ball into the forecourt area again.

From that point on the Trojans maintained firm command as Valley's shooting never came around, particularly from the outside.

NCAA sues ABA, Porter on contract

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The affidavit sworn to by Howard Porter Feb. 4, 1971, reads as follows:

Q. Have you ever signed a contract or statement of intent to contract with any professional team, league, agent or agency?

A. No.

Q. If so, when and with whom?

A. No one.

Q. Have you verbally agreed to sign a contract in the future with any professional team, league, agent or agency?

A. No.

Q. If so, when and with whom?

A. No one.

The statement was notarized by Mary Gamble, Radnor Township, Delaware County, Pa., and signed by Porter.

That affidavit, along with the contract Porter entered into with the American Basketball Association, dated Dec. 16, 1970, will be exhibits when the NCAA goes to court against Porter and the ABA.

The NCAA, through executive director Walter Byers, announced the lawsuit Wednesday, asking for $216,663 in general, specific and exemplary damages against the defendants.

The legal action was the first ever undertaken by the NCAA, although it has been involved in

Loop asked to reduce 'jurors'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Attorneys for two suspended University of Minnesota basketball players Wednesday asked disqualification of the Ohio and Michigan athletic directors as jurors in Big Ten hearings here Thursday on whether to lift the players' suspensions.

The Big Ten was considering the request.

The Big Ten athletic directors will conduct a closed hearing to review events of a melee which broke up the Minnesota-Ohio State first-place showdown 36 seconds early on Jan. 25. Three Ohio State players were injured and 6-9 Minnesota juniors Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor eventually were suspended for the rest of the season.

U.S. District Court Judge Earl Larson ruled Tuesday that the two Gophers had not been given a fair hearing in a two-day investigation by Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke and that Duke had power only to suspend the players "temporarily."

After listening to 5 1/2 hours of testimony, Larson said the players must be given a hearing before the athletic directors and the directors must decide whether to uphold the commissioner's suspensions by 8 p.m. Friday or their rights to "due process" will have been violated.

numerous lawsuits as a defendant. Byers estimated that the NCAA has averaged three legal suits a year in the last five years.

The NCAA's suit was filed Wednesday in Delaware County Court in Media, Pa., by attorney Ralph A. D'Iorio.

Before the affidavit was taken, Porter signed a statement to Villanova athletic director Arj Mahan, in which he denied he signed a contract with any ABA club, signed a contract with the league, having an agent or any agents, and did not enter into any verbal agreement with anyone in regard to his basketball future.

"I was advised by Coach (Jack) Kraft as to the legalities under college basketball standards," he said.

Because of his sworn testimony, Villanova and the NCAA allowed Porter to finish his eligibility. The All-America forward led the Wildcats to a second-place finish in the NCAA tournament last March.

It was subsequently revealed, however, that Porter had indeed signed with the ABA and Pittsburgh. When he also signed a National Basketball Association contract with the Chicago Bulls, where he is now performing, his previous contracts were made a matter of public record.

Villanova then was forced to forfeit its runnerup finish and its share of the NCAA tournament receipts, $72,347.84. The NCAA's suit against Porter and the ABA seeks to enjoin the ABA from concealing further secret signings of collegiate players with eligibility remaining.

Byers said further secret signings this year "not only is possible, but probable." He said, however, the NCAA now has no individual under investigation.

Byers also revealed the NCAA may seek legal action against Jim McDaniels and the ABA or an ABA club because he allegedly signed a professional contract Nov. 30, 1970. McDaniels led Western Kentucky to a third-place finish in the 1971 NCAA tournament. McDaniels also signed an affidavit similar to the one signed by Porter, Byers said.

Mileti bids on Indians

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Nick J. Mileti wants to buy the Cleveland Indians and Vernon Stouffer, who holds about 67 per cent of the club's stock, wants to sell.

The only apparent thing that stands in their way is finalizing a money deal, and that problem should be solved within the next week.

Mileti, 40, is owner of the Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association and the Barons of the American Hockey League. He also owns the Cleveland arena and has proposed a $17 million sports coliseum for Richfield Twp., about 30 miles southeast of here.

Mileti has entered a strong bid to purchase the tribe, it was confirmed Wednesday by Stouffer, who wants "to do the right thing" and said "eventually it will work out."

Stouffer, who bought the Indians in 1968 for about $8.2 million, has already turned down an $8.8 million bid for the franchise from a local group headed by A.J. Rosen, former Indians third baseman. Stouffer wants the team to stay in town and "I don't buy it that would be a real shame."

Pioneer F spacecraft leaves Sunday for Jupiter

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Pioneer F spacecraft, which may become the first manned object to escape this solar system, will be guided on its long journey to Jupiter by a computer that realizes when it makes a mistake and can fix itself if it needs repairs.

The spacecraft will be powered by a revolutionary thermonuclear generator that turns heat directly into electricity and provides the promise of pollution-free power on earth.

Details of the Pioneer's mechanisms were revealed Tuesday by Raymond L. Heacock, spacecraft system manager for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory's outer planets project. He spoke to a lunch that inaugurated engineering week. The Pioneer F is scheduled to be launched Sunday from Cape Kennedy, beginning a 22-month voyage to Jupiter, largest planet in this solar system, 1,000 times bigger than earth. The spacecraft must traverse half a billion miles in space before passing within 100,000 miles of the giant planet in December, 1973. Its course will continue outward bound from the sun after it passes Jupiter, and if successful it will sail out of the solar system into the vast reaches of interstellar space. Heacock told a meeting of the Institute for the Advancement of Engineering that the spacecraft will be guided by a self test and repair (STAR) computer, which is equipped with an error detection device.

If the computer detects itself making a mistake, it rolls back and recycles, undoing the damage, he said. The computer carries spare parts and in case of an equipment failure will patch itself up, Heacock said. "As its design matures, versions of the STAR computer should find their way into many areas where ultra-reliable computers are required, such as hospital intensive care units and critical industrial process control systems," Heacock said. Since Jupiter is too far from the sun to depend on solar-powered cells other spacecraft used, the Pioneer F is equipped with a thermonuclear generator that converts heat from plutonium fuel directly into electricity without mechanical processes in between.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joseph Colombo Sr., who was gunned down in an apparent gangland assassination attempt at the last Italian-American Day rally, may be well enough by June to attend this year's rally, his son said Tuesday.

"He is improving every day," the son said. "He is aware of what is going on."

Although Anthony Colombo admitted that his father still

Newsmen comment on Nixon trip

United Press International
Stan Carter, New York Daily
News' Chairman Mao Tse-tung Chiang, added her prestige to the efforts to improve relations between the People's Republic of China and the United States.
She did so by sitting between President and Mrs. Nixon at a performance of a revolutionary ballet, "The Red Detachment of Women." The gesture had political significance in this country because Chiang, China was the den mother of the most radical Red Guard elements
during the 1966-69 Cultural Revolution.

perhaps the greatest is that this country's 800,000,000 are wonderfully clothed and adequately fed for the first time in at least 2,000 years. Not one has died of starvation in at least a dozen years. This is a remarkable accomplishment in a country where tens of thousands hundreds of thousands of persons used to die in famine years that came often.

Richard Dudman, St. Louis
Post-Dispatch: "In the accused room (of a school) a big wall chart of an ear showed areas that are said to control pain and illness in various parts of the body. A girl, 14, who said she had a minor case of near-sightedness, sat calmly while a boy, 15, probed her left ear tube with an electrode to find the correct spot. Swabbed the lobe with alcohol, and pressed two small needles into the flesh.
She said it hurt only a little and expressed confidence that her sight would improve, although after some time. Not one student in the school could be seen wearing eyeglasses. The chairman of the school's revolutionary committee, a self-confident army man who had little formal education, explained merely that few students needed glasses.

Robert S. Boyd, Knight Newspapers: "Peking has many fine restaurants that Americans are exploring. The hotel, where most of the President's party is staying also sets a superb table. At lunch Tuesday—an ordinary lunch—I tasted four kinds of cold hors d'oeuvres, hot shrimp, sweet-and-sour pork, roast
duck, dumplings, chicken, rice, soft rolls, sesame rolls stuffed with meat, cucumber soup,
sweet cake and apple-tangerine.
That was my fourth meal in the hotel. Not one dish had been served before, except rice."

Jim Gary, The Goppley News Service: "Perhaps the ice has cracked a little... Chou seemed slightly less reserved (at a banquet given for President Nixon), breaking into an occasional smile as he moved through a long receiving line.

Thursday, February 24, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho recognizing and conversing with the few among the American newsmen who had known him in China during World War II.
later, beside the President,
he projected personal warmth and obvious enjoyment of the scene before him. Seeds had been planted. Perhaps the worst of the 22-year chill in U.S.-China relations was over and warmer days were ahead."

"You put the penny in and I'll flush it."

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon startling and dramatic influences are in effect that could cause considerable concern about whether changes should be made. However, in the afternoon and evening you see clearly what the wisest course is and can make some long-range plans that can bring a successful conclusion.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't argue with an associate in the morning. Concentrate on how to have more harmony at home. You have to use caution where some unexpected opportunity arises and then it is yours. Work on it tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) The morning is not good for stating your thoughts to others, so be sure to have lunch first. Use good methods and judgment and get right results. Stop working so much on the emotions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Instead of fussing at home or office about delays, etc., get busy on worthwhile outside activities. Show that you use logic where the future is concerned. Make plans now that are good.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use good judgment and keep your emotions in check. Give others a pat on the back where deserved. Know what it is that is expected of you and try to please to the best of your ability.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can go to librarians, statisticians, etc., to get the information you need for some special project you have in mind. Show you have a good business head on your shoulders. More devotion to mate is wise in p.m.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) The afternoon is best for getting into that group affair that pleases you, brings you in contact with charming people. Make new plans for the future that are brilliant. Try to be more prompt in the days ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you use your Libra charm, you can get the support you need from an influential person today. Search for items that can make your work more efficient and bring in a greater profit. Avoid one who cheats and lies.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have an opportunity to secure the information you need from new contacts. You can make those changes that are necessary very easily. Don't give way to hysterics that could get quite annoying.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan with closest tie how to have a more happy and affluent future together and do a little buttering up instead of criticizing. Take care of that responsibility which would have been difficult to do before now. Use right methods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can clear up that disagreement with an associate provided you are willing to share instead of taking all the profits. Come to a true meeting of minds. Plan some nice trip in the near future. Study brochures.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Become familiar with all the ramifications of some big job you want to do before you tackle it. Show your finest ability at it. Find the right outfit that will last you a long while, though a bit expensive, and it will be a good investment.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) After your work is done, join with people of similar bent where recreation is concerned and have a delightful time. Some fascinating creative idea can be put in operation quietly and successfully now. Do so.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those people who early in life will always be making changes, stirring things up, but upon reaching maturity will settle down to a steady course of action and be most loyal to the few real friends made who are most worthwhile. Then the success here can be considerable and there will never be want or difficulties that amount to anything. Fine mind for mathematics.

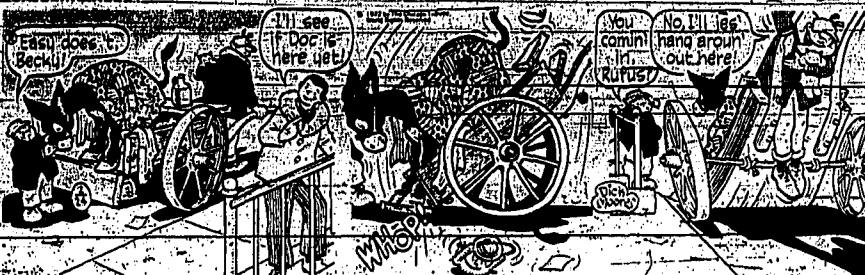

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

No Girls Can Come Aboard

"A girl never really looks as well as she does on board a steamship, or even a yacht."

Anita Loos
If a barge on the Rhine flies a black flag with an oak leaf cluster, that's sad. It means the captain's wife had died. No matter how good they look, unmarried women are not allowed on barges flying such flags. Intriguing study, ship's pennants. Believe I told you about the yachtman out of New York City who designed a flag to be hoisted whenever his wife was aboard. It was a red battleship on a field of blue.

THE MEN of Texas, Tennessee and Oklahoma are taller generally than the men of other states. That's widely known. Less widely known is the women of California are generally taller than the women of any other state.

YOU'VE HEARD of free-lance writers. But why are such unsalaried souls labeled thus? Dates back 150 years, Sir Walter Scott used the term to describe professional soldiers for hire. Oh, you knew that, too?

A BASKETBALL player's hearing is rarely as keen at the end of a game as at the beginning. Nothing mysterious about this. A little light exercise sharpens the sensitivity of the ears. But extremely heavy exercise tends to dull same.

LONGEVITY

Walters, bartenders and newspaper reporters do not rank particularly high on the longevity roster. They don't live as long, on the average, as college professors, mathematicians and social workers. In fact, they barely tend to outlive miners, which as a group don't outlive anybody, hardly. Why waiters, bartenders and newspaper reporters seem to survive about equally unwell is not known. But statistics indicate such.

Q. "NAME the world's oldest continuously occupied metropolis."

A. That would be Istanbul. From whence cometh the tulip, the table fork and the Turkish bath.

PROPOSALS

It has now been determined definitely that only three out of every 100 matrimonial proposals are delivered point-blank by the ladies in question.

IN AUSTRALIA if the old boy got to the ranch too late to work but just in time for dinner, he was called a sundowner, and that fellow was frowned upon.

LIKE OYSTERS? How about squid? You too may be surprised to learn the squid eaters in this world outnumber the oyster eaters.

AVERAGE time lapse between the mosquito bite and the ensuing itch is three minutes. It's a fact. Biologist went to great lengths to find that out. What it means is almost no mosquito that requires more than three minutes to finish a meal survives.

Lincoln officials eye court action

SHOSHONE County Commissioners, Sanford Connell, county assessor and members of the Lincoln County Tax Equality Association Board met Tuesday in private session.

The group discussed the possibility of a friend-of-the-court civil action involving the current tax reappraisal program.

If the plan is approved it would result in a court ruling to test the constitutionality of placing new property assessments on the tax rolls when they are reappraised, rather than withholding them until the entire county has been re-evaluated. Connell said he would welcome a final court decision to clarify the question.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement, pending consultation with County Prosecutor Howard E. Adkins.

The Lincoln County Tax Equality Association Board is seeking legal action against Connell for alleged unequal taxation.

Wendell receives grant

WENDELL Wendell High School has been granted $1,400 for a "Right to Read" project.

School librarian, Mrs. Ronda Yost, said the new classes added this year, particularly in the language arts area, were desperately in need of back-up materials for use by students and faculty.

New courses which need new resource materials include world literature, American literature, Shakespeare, drama, contemporary literature and zoology, she said.

Mrs. Yost said she is compiling requests from teachers for materials. Also in some cases requests from teachers are still being processed.

Jerome now has home bakery

JEROME — Jerome has a bakery for the first time since 1947.

Mrs. Bess Adfield, who worked at the Blue Lakes Bakery in Twin Falls, has opened her own business here.

The bakery, known as Adfield's Home Bakery, is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and in addition is a complete bakery line, serves coffee and soft drinks at booths and the counter in the front of the store.

Mrs. Adfield said she takes special orders and also supplies several places in Twin Falls with bakery goods.

She noted that she left Twin Falls and opened the business here in Jerome because it was her home and she feels Jerome needs this type of business.

The bakery is located in the old Wilson Bates store on West Main Street.

Morrison praised

BOISE (UPI) — The senate gave a standing ovation to the family and friends of Harry W. Morrison Wednesday following approval of a memorial praising the late founder of Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc.

The memorial noted Morrison, once described by a national news magazine as "having done more than anyone else in history to change the face of the earth," was a pioneer in the construction industry in use of the joint venture concept of pooling talent and resources.

The Atomic Energy Commission operates uranium enrichment plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Measure to deter hostages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strong deterrent to the seizure of hostages in prison riots was introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives today by Idaho Congressman James A. McClure.

"The proposal would make it a crime for any inmate of a federal prison to participate in any stage in the taking or holding of a hostage," McClure explained. "Participants would be punishable under provisions identical to the Lindbergh Kidnapping Act."

Perhaps even more important, McClure said, agreements involving amnesty or pardon made with prisoners holding a hostage during the course of a riot would be void under the legislation.

"The prison riot at Attica clearly demonstrated that a prime concern of rioting prisoners holding hostages is to protect themselves from punishment for the crimes they are then committing," he said.

Frost bars

DARLENE DAY, left, and Mrs. Bess Adfield frost maple bars in Mrs. Adfield's new bakery which has opened in Jerome. It is the first time Jerome has had a bakery since 1947.

Helps Boys Learn
To Serve Others

Service is fundamental to the Boy Scout ideal: service to individuals and to the community at large. Scouting teaches a boy to put himself in the other fellow's shoes, instills a spirit of helpfulness, fosters the skills to make it work. Scouting is concern.
