

Farm act vetoed

By RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus today vetoed extension of the Farm Labor Act, threatening a special session to enact a new one and criticized Republican legislators for their budget proposals.

Pointing to an attorney general's opinion which questioned the constitutionality of the Farm Labor Act passed a year ago and which this session tried to extend, Andrus said it was "fraught" with too many problems to keep alive.

He said this session of the legislature still has time to enact a good bill and if it does not he will pick an executive committee to draft a bill and then present it in special session.

Andrus also said if there is farm labor strife in the interim he will call a special session to enact an 80-day "cooling off" period while new legislation is being drafted.

He also expressed keen disappointment at the proposed $134.3 million general fund budget and increased revenue projections by the Senate Republicans.

At this figure, Andrus said, the proposal does not meet the needs of the people. He said education, public assistance and agriculture especially are hard hit by the proposed budget.

Additionally, Andrus said "the revenue projections are being artificially inflated to balance a paper budget."

Andrus has projected between $130 and $131 million in revenue from present general fund taxes during the next fiscal year and has called for some massive tax increases to balance his proposed $149.2 million budget.

House taxwriters have settled on an estimated $132 million in revenue but Senate Republicans last Saturday said the revenue could run as high as $134 million.

Andrus said his projections were based on expert advice.

Illinois pot law invalid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to disturb a ruling that an Illinois law classifying marijuana as a narcotic drug was invalid because it lacked scientific classification.

The brief order said it appears that "the judgment of the Supreme Court of Illinois rests upon an adequate state ground."

The state's highest court threw out the marijuana portion of the Uniform Narcotic Drug Act in a previous case, and cited that action on Nov. 30, 1971.

Viet fighting flares

SAIGON (UPI) — Nearly 9,000 South Vietnamese troops are carrying out a three-pronged attack against Communist forces in Cambodia, officials said today. So far, 52 Viet Cong have been killed in a series of clashes that cost 16 South Vietnamese dead.

The push into Cambodia was part of the allied effort to blunt a threatened Communist offensive. It began without public fanfare four weeks ago when 4,000-man South Vietnamese forces which had been encamped in the Parrot's Beak area of Cambodia for almost two years went on the offensive.

Part of the force, including rangers and armored units, clashed with guerrillas Sunday seven miles northeast of Svay Rieng in the biggest battle of the campaign so far. Svay Rieng is four miles inside Cambodia and 65 miles west of Saigon.

To the west, a second column of about 3,000 South Vietnamese moved into a marshy area of Cambodia between the Bassac River and the Gulf of Thailand Thursday and in a battle with Communist forces killed six guerrillas. No allied forces had been in the area for months.

US-China pact provides Yank pullback from Asia

SHANGHAI (UPI) — The United States Sunday promised China the ultimate withdrawal of all American forces from Southeast Asia and from the Nationalist island as "the tension in the area diminishes."

This was disclosed in a joint communique in which the United States failed to reaffirm its 1955 treaty commitment to defend Taiwan against aggression, but Presidential Adviser Henry A. Kissinger said that President Nixon continues to stand by that pledge.

The Chinese made no similarly specific concessions, but Kissinger said the main thing secured from Peking was an agreement to move forward together in working for peace in Asia, with neither country trying to achieve dominance.

The United States and China, according to the communique, "agreed that countries, regardless of their social systems, should conduct their relations on principles of respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states, nonaggression against other states, noninterference in the internal affairs of other states, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful coexistence."

This was the first time that an American President prescribed in an formal document the so-called "five principles" originally set forth by Asian and African nations at the 1955 Bandung Conference.

Each side stated its major positions in the communique and China said absolutely that the "critical question obstructing the normalization of relations between China and the United States" was that of Washington's failure to accept Peking's claim to Taiwan, where Nationalist Premier Chiang Kai-shek has set up his own government.

The United States and China, Kissinger said, had agreed to broaden understanding by increasing cultural exchanges in the fields of science, technology, culture, sports and journalism.

They also agreed to try to develop trade between the nations and decided that they would remain in diplomatic contact "through various channels, including the sending of a senior U. S. representative to Peking from time to time for concrete consultations to further the normalization of relations."

The United States and China sought to allay Soviet suspicions of the growing contacts between Washington and Peking by saying:

"Both sides are of the view that it would be against the interests of the peoples of the world for any major country to collude with another against other countries, or for major countries to divide up the world into spheres of interest."

In response to a question about whether China had changed any of its positions since the time of the visit to America by its table tennis team last summer, Kissinger said, "we are not approaching this from the point of view of a scoreboard to see who scored how many points on each issue."

He asserted, however, that the agreements on cultural exchanges, increased trade and continuing contacts had all come about since that time.

Trade deficit still big

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's trade balance ran its third largest monthly deficit ever in January but the government's index of leading economic indicators moved sharply upward, the Commerce department said today.

The nation imported $318.9 million more in January than it did in January 1971, the department said. The nation's trade balance, the difference between imports and exports, was further in the red only in two other months — $357 million in June, 1971, and $321 million in October, 1971.

On a more optimistic note, economic indicators jumped 2.3 per cent in January, the largest monthly gain since January, 1971. The index often acts as a barometer of future economic activity and has been moving up sharply in the last several months.

Six of the eight indicators included in the report moved up in January. Most of the gain came in large increases in new orders for durable goods, higher stock prices and higher raw material prices.

On the basis of new information, the Department revised downward the December index from 2.3 per cent to 1.2 per cent.

Assistant Commerce Secretary Harold C. Packer said the January indicators had "scored remarkably well beyond the forecast." He said the continued rise in new orders for durable goods, higher stock prices and higher raw material prices "are all indicators of a strong, sustained recovery."

Israel ignores pullback plea

By United Press International
Israeli troops, ignoring a Security Council demand that they withdraw, occupied 40 square miles of southern Lebanon today and systematically destroyed houses believed to have been used by Palestinian guerrillas. It was the fourth day of fighting inside Lebanon.

UPI correspondent Abdul W. Haffaj, reporting from the Lebanese village of Ebl Es Saqi overlooking the action, said Israeli engineers drove a road through the mountains today, apparently to facilitate their troops movements.

By late afternoon, he said, the Israelis had withdrawn from two of the five villages they occupied Sunday and early today, firing their tank cannon into village houses as they went. He said it was not immediately clear if the Israelis were pulling out completely or regrouping.

Israel threatened on Jan. 14 to occupy parts of southern Lebanon permanently if the Lebanese government did not force the guerrillas to halt their attacks across the border into Israel. The current Israeli action — largest since the 1967 Six Day War — was triggered when guerrillas killed an Israeli couple and a soldier in ambushes late last week.

Several thousand refugees were reported streaming out of the area on the slopes of Mount Hermon near the borders of Israel, Syria and Lebanon, and in Beirut other thousands of refugees demonstrated to demand weapons to use against Israel.

Beirut Premier Saeb Salam met in emergency session with his cabinet to discuss the four-day offensive. At the same time, Al Fatah leader Yasser Arafat met with Arab ambassadors and asked for aid from the Arab nations against Israel.

Political sources in Beirut said official quarters were discussing a possible amendment to the Cairo agreement of November 1969 which would more strictly restrict the activities of the guerrillas. Some political sources said Beirut may ask for United Nations force to be stationed in Lebanon.

Europe voices concern

LONDON (UPI) — President Nixon's policy of withdrawal from Asian commitments revived fears among western allies today that the United States also will loosen its links with Europe before too long. Western diplomats said the historic developments in Peking last week have shown the United States overwhelmingly pre-occupied with China, with Russia a number two priority issue.

This "super power strategy" of the Nixon administration, they said, would tend to reduce the role of Europe in future American policy planning and consequently lower the American stake in Europe.

Diplomats said the sooner European leaders take note of this trend of events the better, to avoid the surprise of "a Europe left in the lurch, as happened to Taiwan and Japan."

European diplomats had begun to voice resentment over signs of an increasingly predominant go-it-alone policy on the part of the United States many months ago. This feeling of uneasiness was heightened when the president announced his plan to go to Peking last year without having previously consulted or even informed his key allies in the North Atlantic Alliance (NATO).

American moves in the trade and monetary spheres, when the United States slammed a 10 per cent surcharge on imports without consultation of its allies, added to European consternation. The surcharge has since been dropped. The United States re-affirmed its intention to stand by and remain in Europe on a number of occasions last year.

Formosa angered by pact

TAIPEH (UPI) — The Nationalist Chinese government issued a bitter statement tonight on President Nixon's visit to the Chinese mainland but stopped short of accusing Washington of selling out its Asian allies.

"Countries in this area must rely on their own determination and strength and spare no efforts in consolidating the unity and cooperation among themselves," the Foreign Ministry said in a formal statement.

It appeared to be referring to the paragraph of the Shanghai communique which said the United States would ultimately withdraw all U.S. forces from Taiwan and Southeast Asia.

Government spokesmen refused to answer any question on their document.

Asian nations "should not entertain the slightest illusion of coexisting peacefully with the Chinese Communists," the statement said. "It reaffirms a previous declaration that Taiwan, Formosa, and the Pescadore Islands are an integral part of the Republic of China, and that the mainland is an alien territory."

Israeli troops evacuate Arkoub

ELB ES SAQI, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli armor and ground troops began pulling out of Lebanon's Arkoub region today, firing their tank cannons into village houses as they went.

It was not immediately clear if the Israelis planned to leave Lebanese territory completely or regroup at the border.

From this hilltop village I watched some 30 tanks and armored vehicles evacuate Habbaryeh and Kfar Hamam, two of five villages they occupied in the 40-square mile Arkoub region known as "Falahland" after the Fatah guerrilla group.

The tanks ground slowly in single file down the same road they drove into the area from the border Sunday and today.

They were followed by yellow armored bulldozers and tractors which army sappers used to build the rough dirt road.

As they pulled out of Kfar Hamam, tank gunners swivelled their turrets sideways and blasted houses near the roadside. Four times I saw the guns belch red flame and smoke, then heard the report at this high altitude village. I saw three houses crumble under the cannon shells.

There was no immediate indication if the Israelis were also withdrawing from the other Arkoub villages—Kfar Chouba, Rachaya Al Foukar and Freidess—which they captured in the course of an offensive that began last Friday.

Eyewitness account

Military sources said the attack was the biggest ever launched by Israel against Lebanon.

The Arkoub region, a rugged terrain on the slopes of Mount Hermon, lies some 45 miles southeast of Beirut. It is the area in which the majority of Palestinian guerrillas concentrated after an agreement with the Lebanese government in November 1969 concerning the scope of their operations.

The brown dirt road wound down the slopes at the border toward the village of Habbaryeh, which villagers said was captured by the Israelis at 4 a.m. today.

Ebl es saqi inhabitants told me: "The Israelis control the whole Arkoub area. They have occupied Rashaya Al Foukar, Kfar Chouba, Kfar Hamam and Freidess as well as Habbaryeh."

"They now have all the villages in the region," which lies some 45 miles southeast of Beirut.

Every five or 10 minutes an explosion could be heard from one village or another in the Israeli-occupied area and a plume of white smoke would drift up into the brilliant blue sky.

The villagers said the Israeli ground forces were blowing up buildings used by Palestinian guerrillas, whose attacks into Israel recently provoked the current reprisal.

Above the villages flew an Israeli spotter plane, apparently keeping watch for any Lebanese or guerrilla concentrations.

Lebanese army tanks were stationed on the main Rachaya-Marjayoun road on the fringe of the Arkoub area.

GLENNS FERRY — Services for Walter Roff, 62, who died Thursday in a Nampa Hospital, were conducted today at the First Baptist Church, Glenns Ferry, by Rev. Larry Maxwell. Burial was at Glenns Rest Cemetery under the direction of Smith Mortuary.

Born June 29, 1909, in Medbury, Idaho, he attended schools in Hammett. On March 22, 1931, he married Selma Minnie Krahn at Fairfield. She died in October 1967. Militant parents want busing ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scores of congressmen opposed to racial school busing—backed by growing numbers of militant parents from both the North and South—lined up today to urge that the Constitution be amended to ban forced busing.

The lawmakers were ready to testify during what may turn out to be three weeks of hearings by the House Judiciary Committee on the busing controversy. The question was temporarily put aside in the Senate but was likely to take center stage again later this week when that chamber resumes consideration of anti-busing amendments to a big education bill.

The House panel, chaired by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., has for several years received proposals to change the Constitution to deal with busing. But today's hearing, with 29 lawmakers scheduled to testify through Tuesday, marked the committee's first public examination of the issue. Two Southern congressmen, in prepared remarks for the hearing, set the tone of testimony expected from busing foes.

61 stolen paintings recovered in Venice

VENICE, Italy (UPI) — Sixty-one stolen paintings, worth nearly $2 million—including 17 owned by American heiress Peggy Guggenheim—were recovered Sunday from a motorboat gang which apparently was preparing to ship them out of the country. Police following up a tip saw three men unloading five bulky packages from a motorboat in the Piazzale di Roma, a large square on the waterfront.

I.Q. of 145 And A Slow Reader?

A noted publisher of this city has reported reading ability of 145 and yet unable to read a simple word. He is a person who is not a slow reader but a slow learner.

As a result of this report, the publisher has decided to publish a book on "How to Read" which will be available to the public at a very low price.

In a recent issue of the "Times-News" a reader wrote to the editor asking for a book on "How to Read" which would be available to the public at a very low price. The publisher has decided to publish such a book.

Question...

(Is there a Federal welfare program, similar perhaps to Medicare, that pays funeral costs for those who have no funds?)

Answer...

A tribute to the sensitive and very capable people who staff the public and private welfare agencies is to be found in the fact that these agencies in cooperation with local morticians have been able to solve this significant problem without Federal aid.

Care of indigent deceased people is the only human misery to be found in low, medicine and hospital care that has not been underwritten by Congress. State and local funds are available for those who need them, and our Mortuary is pledged to the premise that everyone is entitled to a proper burial in spite of his economic circumstances.

EDMONTON, Alta., Canada (UPI) — Medical investigators have defined and classified the dwarfing disease, pycnodysostosis, which plagued French artist, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec during most of his life. Dr. B.C. Lentle, radiologist at Royal Alexandra Hospital here, discovered pycnodysostosis in a native North American Indian child from the Yukon, the first case of the disease to be reported from Canada. In 1947, other investigators were able to collect only 35 cases from the world's medical literature. Lentle reported on X-ray findings in the child in the Journal of the Canadian Association of Radiologists.

Firm accused of deception

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today accused a leading publisher of deceiving buyers of the Harvard Classics and Collier's Encyclopedia.

The FTC said the firm, Crowell Collier and MacMillan of New York, also used deceptive advertising to hire door-to-door encyclopedia salesmen.

The Harvard Classics is promoted as a prestigious 22-volume set of classical literature. Advertisements offer the first three volumes for $1 each, the FTC said, and promise that customers can decide one by one whether to buy the other 19 volumes.

Actually, the FTC said, Crowell Collier ships the other 19 volumes in one bulk shipment, whether the customer asks for them or not, and then demands payment of $3.98 per book.

The agency said Collier's Encyclopedia customers signed up for 10 annual yearbooks at a prescribed price, but were billed for $1 more than the contract price when the yearbook was shipped.

The FTC said Crowell Collier recruited encyclopedia salesmen with ads for "administrative assistants" or "marketing/public relations" personnel.

The ads offered salaries of $130 a week or $620 a month, the FTC said, but applicants were offered door-to-door selling jobs on commission only.

The FTC told Crowell Collier it could agree to stop the alleged practices without admitting guilt, or contest the case before a federal hearing examiner.

In a statement, Crowell Collier said it no longer sells the Harvard Classics and that the other FTC allegations "relate to isolated occurrences or procedures which have been substantially changed."

WADING IN the surf at the Black Sand Beach on the island of Hawaii are Ray Assendrup, Jerome, and Mrs. Keith Powell, Burley, during the Times-News Magic of Hawaii tour of the islands.

'Sandy' Idaho tourists bring back souvenirs

TWIN FALLS — Idaho tourists to Hawaii brought back sand, some which fell from shoes, beach mats and swimming suits, but some they intended to bring.

Most members of the Times-News Magic of Hawaii tour group scooped up boxes, paper sacks or jars of black sand from the famous Black Sand Beach on the Big Island of Hawaii.

The beach, one of many volcanic phenomena on the island, is formed from sand which is extremely clean despite its blackness.

The beach is the result of volcanic action on Hawaii. When a lava flow hit the water it shattered into small sandy particles.

Each of the Hawaiian Islands was formed by volcanic action, but the most recent action has been on the island of Hawaii.

There sulphur steam still rises from vents in the ground and some small eruptions are still taking place.

The Magic of Hawaii group lunched at volcano house near the top of the crater and walked through a lava tube created by a gas bubble in a flow.

Part of the tour traveled during the tour through the Volcano National Park was covered over by lava during an eruption about 10 years ago.

The area covered was familiar to the Idahoans because much of it resembles volcanic action in the Gem State.

Idaho panel ponders reorganizational plan

BOISE (UPI)—A special committee may decide today to return to the legislature a proposed constitutional amendment on reorganization almost identical to one killed in the House earlier in the session.

The Joint Select Committee, named by leadership to study executive branch reorganization, will decide today whether to adopt for Idaho the amendment used in Colorado.

The amendment, with a few changes, will ask voters whether they want to limit the executive branch to 20 major departments with temporary agencies created to meet specific situations to be limited to two-year lives.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus asked the legislature to accept almost the same thing but the house killed it, citing dissatisfaction with the catch-all provision for the temporary agencies.

But indications are the joint committee will accept the administration's argument that some federal funding regulations require separate and distinct agencies to receive the money.

The problem now is a decision over whether temporary commissions should have a limit or whether "temporary" indicates the non-permanent nature of the commission.

Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, co-chairman of the committee, questioned whether the federal government would want to do business with the state under the pretext of a separate agency when all parties know it will be disbanded.

Others on the committee find little appeal in allowance for temporary agencies.

Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, said he wondered if the state is not being led astray by the lure of federal monies.

"Sometimes I think we're being led around by the federal government by the nose so much that I really don't care," he said.

Another committee faces problems with federal funds — this time the question of what to do when the federal government drops its support of a program and the state must pick up the tab.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, said the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee must decide how to handle the dedicated fund budgets of the departments of law enforcement and highways, both of which involve federal money.

"A lot of these are a 100 per cent match; but looking down the pike a few years it might be a state responsibility," High said he sees both in the joint committee and in the entire legislature's reluctance to move too quickly into federal programs without a full understanding of the future financial implications.

Meantime, Republicans and Democrats continue to discover the attitude towards the joint committee's tentative $136.3 million general fund budget.

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee has decided to scrap the Nixon Administration's controversial welfare-reform bill, H. R. 1, and draft a committee bill, Sen. Dan Jordan, R-Idaho, reported this week.

"We think it will be a decent substitute for H. R. 1, and still meet the requirements for welfare reform," Jordan said.

Jordan declined to reveal the major details of the committee bill, but did discuss his philosophy on welfare reform, and indicate some details and problems the new bill attempts to surmount.

"There are over 160 separate Federal programs aiding the poor which cost the public a total of $31 billion per year," Jordan said, and speculated that real economy could be achieved by consolidating some programs together.

"For example we have 13 special programs for American Indians, which I'm not necessarily opposed to, but they're U. S. citizens, also," Jordan pointed out.

Asked if he felt any major welfare reform changes should be preceded by "pill" programs, the Idaho senator said yes. "I've said that we should have pilot programs from the first. You could set it up in the District of Columbia without having to go through any governor or state. Why write a law before we get the results of the test?" Jordan asked.

The GOP senator had warm words of praise for California Gov. Ronald Reagan's attempt at welfare reform, indicating that through better administration Reagan has cut over a half million people from the welfare rolls without any evidence of anyone truly in need, being abused.

"Sen. Carl Curtis, (R-Neb.) has got a plan Reagan's tightening up. Sen. Ribicoff (D-Conn.) has got his plan. Let's try out the different plans. Let Ribicoff try his plan in Connecticut. Let's get some information, however, before we make any radical changes," Jordan said. He added that the committee bill will go a long way toward effecting welfare reform, but indicated it may not represent "radical" departures.

"Some say let's break away from welfare on the basis of need and go to welfare as a matter of right. Personally, I'm not ready to break that barrier and say that welfare is an inalienable right," the former Idaho governor said. He predicted that if welfare were given to each citizen as his right, politicians would quickly die with each other to see who could promise the public the most.

"We're all agreed on the committee that the present system is no good. There's no such thing as a free lunch, and that's wrong, but H. R. 1 doesn't correct much of the abuse, so we've got to get at it a different way," Jordan said.

Jordan said the Finance Committee was strongly influenced by a statement from Roger Freeman, a fellow at Stanford's Hoover Institute. Freeman's detailed statement presented alternatives to the Administration's Family Assistance Plan and suggested ways of correcting many current welfare abuses.

"Freeman had as much influence on the committee as any single person that testified," Jordan maintained.

"It's possible to get the private sector involved," Jordan continued. He said that the most one million public service jobs could be found for the five million currently on the employed lists. Of that five million, Jordan said only two million are truly employable, and he suggested that the private sector could absorb the remaining one million. If government were to provide the proper incentives

He hinted that the committee may incorporate an enlarged on-the-job training approach, giving employer's a tax credit and employee's the difference between what he is able to earn and the minimum wage. He stated, "We think there are a good many jobs in the private sector," and stressed that he meant small-time local jobs in neighborhood stores and service stations.

"We want the job program to be as current as tomorrow's want ads. If bricklayers and carpenters are needed, let's have on-the-job training. The employer can pay the man what he is worth as he progresses. But we've got to start taping these jobs that are going begging in the private sector," the veteran senator said.

As another example, Jordan said when both parents work, they should be able to hire a maid or matron to watch their children, and the expense should be tax deductible.

"That's just one more way to get more people employed," he pointed out.

COMMENT

On The Other Hand

Christian Science Monitor
We have for several days been discussing the China side of President Nixon's trip to Peking. There is also a Russian side to the trip which we are sure Mr. Nixon is keeping very much in mind while talking to the Chinese, and rightly so.

The important thing about this "other side" of the matter is that Mr. Nixon's opening to China can, if well handled, actually improve American relations with Russia but could also, if badly handled, have disastrous results.

So far the opening has had good results in Moscow. The Russians were startled by the original news. They were slow in reacting. When they did react, it was to be extremely cautious and to tone down their more adventurous activities.

It is since the news of the opening to China that Moscow has refused to promise Egypt more weapons to balance off the extra Phantomis Washington promised Mrs. Golda Meir. Also, there has been a slowing down of Russian activity around Western Europe. And Mr. Nixon has publicly and officially credited the Soviets with applying restraint to India over West Pakistan.

And it seems a fair deduction from the above that, provided nothing about the Peking visit causes a sudden change of plans, Russians will continue to be cautious and restrained at least until after Mr. Nixon has been in Moscow in the month of May.

Mr. Nixon has shown his own awareness of all this by saying that he intends to discuss mostly "bilateral questions" in Peking and will not do anything at the expense of "third parties."

That statement is of course intended to reassure President Thieu in Saigon, President Chiang Kai-shek on Taiwan, and the Japanese. But it also applies to the Russians who already have been the biggest single losers from Mr. Nixon's new China policy.

In the Kremlin these days they must look back wistfully to the "golden days" when China was the most isolated country in the world and the United States, with the albatross of the Vietnam war around its neck, was close behind. Lyndon Johnson's United States was the pariah of the world. Its best friends were embarrassed and apologetic, Russia cashing in everywhere.

But now the two once isolated countries are meeting and talking together. The fact of their meeting has seized world attention. Moscow has lost the spotlight, and leverage.

Mr. Nixon is very careful to avoid saying anything which the Russians could take to be a true threat to them. He intends to visit them in May. He will certainly try to avoid doing anything in China meanwhile which would give them cause to think that there is now a "collusion" against them, that they are now isolated in a three-cornered situation.

All this is to the good. It was a dangerous mistake in the past for the United States to let itself get into the position of siding (in fact if not in intent) with Russia against China. It would be an equal mistake, and a more dangerous one, to appear to be siding with China against Russia — more dangerous because Russia is a true nuclear power whereas China is still only in the neophyte stage. The stakes are very high and the risks — total.

We are satisfied that Mr. Nixon understands these things fully. We wish him well in the execution. It is the most sophisticated hand the United States has ever yet played in world affairs. May it be well done.

On Lottery

Idaho Falls Post-Register

The Idaho Legislature should be smart enough to turn down a proposal by Rep. Don Maynard of Clark Fork to legalize slot machines in Idaho (although a body that can't even count its own vote becomes suspect on matters requiring greater deliberation).

Idaho tried slots 25 years ago, and learned that the license revenue they brought the state and local governments did not begin to compensate for the human misery and hardships they produced.

Some persons, like alcoholics drawn to the bottle, could not resist pouring their money into the slot machines. Life savings were pumped away by pulling the handles of the relentless "one-armed bandits." Merchants found the rate of bad debts rose substantially, and the only profiteers were the club owners who installed the machines.

If Idaho wants to realize a profit on man's instinct for gambling, it should try a state lottery. This could be organized so that tickets would not be too costly and probably would be less painful than paying one's income tax. It could return a substantial sum to the state, would pay a jackpot to a few, and would not have the potential to ruin lives that slot machines have.

Public TV

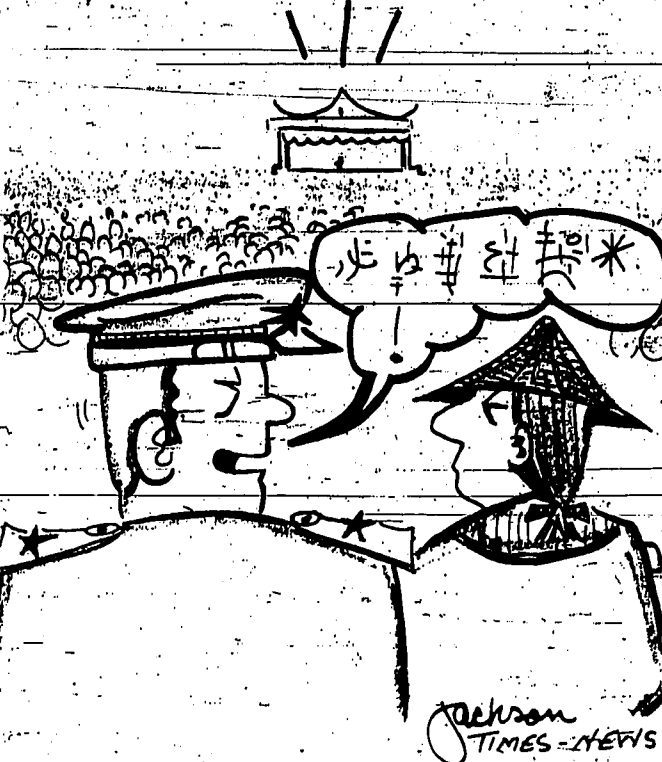

New York Times

The director of the White House Office of Telecommunications, Clay T. Whitehead, takes a slightly narrow view of the public responsibilities of public broadcasting. He has warned the "fourth network," the 212 public educational stations such as New York's Channel 13, that "there is a real question as to whether public television, particularly the national federally funded part of public television, should be carrying public affairs, news commentary, and that kind of thing."

After spreading that electronic wet blanket at the outset of a presidential election contest, Mr. Whitehead—who said he spoke for the President—Informed the House Commerce Committee that he was against any permanent financing arrangement for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, a principal source of funds and direction for the local stations.

Public television has a long way to go as an alternative to the commercial networks. But if there is to be greater competitive interplay between commercial and noncommercial programs, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting must be allowed to flourish on a regularly funded basis, free of political restraints. In news, in documentaries and in diversified commentary, public television must be at least as free as sponsored networks—in an election year and in every year.

Mao To America

WASHINGTON — Every one of us who has been glued to the TV set since President Nixon and his party arrived in China now knows more about the People's Republic than he dared dreamed he would. Thanks to our able TV correspondents, we are now aware of what a hat costs, what kind of leather people wear on the soles of their shoes, how people walk in a park and how many bricks it takes to build a brick teahouse.

One can't help projecting into the future, when Mao Tse-tung makes his first visit to the United States and his activities are beamed back via satellite to the people in China. "Good evening, comrades — this is Wo-pang of the Anti-Imperialist Television Network Broadcasting System, bringing to you live and in red color the banquet that President Nixon is giving in honor of our beloved and venerated leader, Chairman Mao, and his beloved and venerated wife, Madame Mao. "Ba Ba Rah, what do you make of all of this so far?" "Wo, the thing that impressed me the most was the reception the American people gave our beloved Mao. I was told by my interpreter that no one had received such a reception in Washington since Mayor John Lindsay joined the Democratic Party. The people seem very pleased to see Chairman Mao."

"Did you see many schoolchildren waving to Chairman Mao?" "No, I didn't, but the interpreter told me that was because most of the children go to school on buses and it's hard to see them waving. Wo, what impressed you the most so far about this trip?" "I think the thing that impressed me the most is that the U. S. Marine Band had managed to learn the Chinese national anthem. I believe this is a very good sign for future Chinese-American relations. They're starting to get new. Do you have any idea what they're eating, Ba Ba Rah?" "I have the menu right here in front of me. The first dish is fruit cocktail, which is supposed to be an American delicacy."

"It's Ba Ba Rah. I had some for breakfast and I can assure our Chinese viewers it is very delicious. Our beloved Mao is now eating his fruit salad with a spoon."

"Yes, Wo, Chairman Mao and Madame Mao have been practicing for months with a spoon and fork and knife. They both seem to be handling them very well."

PAUL HARVEY

The Moon

Watch the medical reports on Al Worden. He's the third man of the Apollo 15 team.

While the others were rock hunting on the surface, Al Worden remained days comparatively inactive in lunar orbit.

From these missions we are learning about a human blood disorder which kills 900 Americans every week.

More Americans die from lying in bed than from being smashed up in cars.

About 900 each week die from Pulmonary emboli — from blood clots. About a fourth of those were postoperative. Perhaps sophisticated heart or lung surgery was entirely successful — but a clot in a leg moved to a valve in the heart and the patient was suddenly dead.

That 13 pints of blood in you is pumped by the heart muscle out through your arteries. It returns to your heart by muscular contraction in your extremities. The movement of leg muscles "pushes" the blood through the veins to the heart with a kneading action similar to that by which a cow is milked.

Gravity, and your body's resistance to it, requires sufficient muscular response to keep venous blood moving.

In a gravity-free environment, the muscular response is lacking, venous blood flow is reduced, with two potential complications: The likelihood of blood clotting is increased.

And chronic anoxia may result in euphoria or sluggish mental function.

NASA medicals call it cardiovascular deconditioning — heart and blood vessels here get lazy.

As when you've sat a long time during a lecture, only more so.

As when you first get out of bed in the morning, only more so.

In space, even though you are breathing pure oxygen, it is theorized you live for days with a suboptimal oxygen supply to the brain.

Is this what caused the Russian cosmonauts to make a fatal mistake?

Reportedly spaceman Lovell "pushed some wrong buttons" both times he was up.

The monkey we sent up for 31 days died in 8 days from "circulatory failure."

Humans in space, required to exercise within the limits of their confinement, get some relief. But they cannot exercise while they sleep and they have none of the gravity pressure which keeps you and me "wrestling with gravity" even during sleep.

Biomedical engineers are presently developing a device to simulate the muscular movement which causes venous blood flow. Rubber cuffs are placed over the legs, thigh and abdomen — similar to that with which the doctor measures blood pressure in your upper arm. These are alternately inflated by a device called a phlozob-dynastat — thus to simulate muscular contraction even in weightless space.

Or for the postoperative patient, even while prone and motionless in bed.

Thus pulmonary emboli — which prematurely kills 47,000 Americans every year — soon will be preventable.

Next time you compute the cost of a moon mission against the benefits that money would buy here, perhaps you might want to remember I don't

Sneezing

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter has gone to many doctors and they just give her medicine — to relieve her sneezing. She sneezes till she gets weak, one right after another.

But no one has ever said why. Could you give us any reason? She has lived in North Dakota, Iowa, Texas and Florida, and still she wakes up sneezing, sneezing, sneezing. Is there anything that would help her? She is 39 now. — Mrs. W. M. Even at this distance I can make a pretty shrewd guess as to what is making her sneeze. She's allergic to something.

Allergic to what? Ah, there's the pinch! It's one thing to spot an allergy, but something else to figure out exactly what she's allergic to.

Right off the bat I'd suggest she go to an allergist, and have him conduct some tests and study her case. If she can stick with the same physician for some length of time, she'll have a chance of finding out what is bothering her. If she scoots from one to another, then nobody will have enough time to investigate the case thoroughly. Of course, the way she has moved from state to state, maybe she couldn't help some of this switching from doctor to doctor.

Since the trouble persists from Dakota to Florida, we can assume it isn't something in a local climate, but rather some common substance that makes her sneeze.

Text of US-China communique

Monday, February 28, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho

SHANGHAI (UPI)—Here is the text of the joint communique issued Sunday by President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai.

President Richard Nixon of the United States of America visited the People's Republic of China at the invitation of Premier Chou En-lai of the People's Republic of China from Feb. 21 to Feb. 28, 1972.

Accompanying the President were Mrs. Nixon, U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers, assistant to the president, Dr. Henry Kissinger, and other American officials.

President Nixon met with Chairman Mao Tse-tung of the Communist Party of China on Feb. 21. The two leaders had a serious and frank exchange of views on Sino-U.S. relations and world affairs.

During the visit, earnest, extensive and frank discussions were held between the President and Premier Chou En-lai on the normalization of relations between the United States of America and the People's Republic of China, as well as on other matters of interest to both sides.

In addition, Secretary of State William Rogers and Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei, held talks in the same spirit. President Nixon and his party visited Peking and viewed cultural, industrial and agricultural sites, and they also toured Hangchow and Shanghai where, continuing discussions with Chinese leaders, they viewed similar places of interest.

The leaders of the People's Republic of China and the United States of America found it beneficial to have this opportunity after so many years without contact to present candidly to one another their views on a variety of issues.

They reviewed the international situation in which important changes and great upheavals are taking place, and expounded their respective positions and attitudes.

The U.S. side stated: "Peace in Asia and peace in the world requires efforts both to reduce immediate tensions and to eliminate the basic causes of conflict. The United States will work for a just and secure peace, just because it fulfills the aspirations of the peoples and nations for freedom and progress; secure because it removes the danger of foreign aggression.

The United States supports individual freedom and social progress for all the peoples of the world, free of outside pressure or intervention. The United States believes that the efforts to reduce tensions is served by improving communications between countries that have different ideologies, so as to lessen the risk of confrontation through accident, miscalculation or misunderstanding. Countries should treat each other with mutual respect and be willing to compete peacefully.

letting performance be the ultimate judge. No country should claim infallibility and each country should be prepared to re-examine its own attitudes for the common good.

The United States stresses that the peoples of Indochina should be allowed to determine their destiny without outside intervention; its constant primary objective has been a negotiated solution. The eight-point proposals put forward by the Republic of Vietnam and the United States on Jan. 27, 1972, represents a basis for the attainment of that objective; in the absence of a negotiated settlement the United States envisages the ultimate withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the region consistent with the aim of self-determination for each country of Indochina.

territorial integrity of their own countries, and oppose foreign aggression, interference and control; and subversion. All foreign troops should be withdrawn to their own countries.

The Chinese expressed its firm support of Vietnam, to the peoples of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia in their efforts for the attainment of their goals and its firm support to the seven-point proposal of the provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam and the elaboration of February this year on the two key problems, in the proposal, and to the joint declaration of summit conference of the Indochinese peoples. It firmly supports the eight-point program for the peaceful unification of Korea, put forward by the government of the Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea on April 12, 1971, and the stand for the abolition of the "U.N. Commission for the unification and rehabilitation of Korea."

It firmly opposes the revival and outward expansion of Japanese militarism and firmly supports the Japanese peoples desire to build an independent, democratic, peaceful and neutral Japan. It firmly maintains that India and Pakistan should, in accordance with the United Nations resolution on the India-Pakistan question, immediately withdraw all their forces to their respective territories and to their own sides of the cease-fire line in Jammu and Kashmir and firmly supports the Pakistan government and people in their struggle to preserve their independence and sovereignty, and the people of Jammu and Kashmir in their struggle for the right of self-determination.

There are essential differences between China and the United States in their social systems and foreign policies. However, the two sides agreed that countries, regardless of their social systems, should conduct their relations on the principles of respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all states; nonaggression against other states, noninterference in the internal affairs of other states, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful coexistence.

International disputes should be settled on this basis, without resorting to the use or threat of force.

The United States and the People's Republic of China are prepared to apply these principles to their mutual relations. With these principles of international relations in mind, the two sides stated that:

Progress toward the normalization of relations between China and the United States is in the interest of all countries; Both wish to reduce the danger of international military conflict;

Neither should seek hegemony in the Asia Pacific region and each is opposed to the effort by any other country or group of countries to establish such hegemony;

Neither is prepared to negotiate on behalf of any third party or to enter into agreements or understandings with the other directed at other states.

Both sides are of the view that it would be against the interests of the peoples of the world for any major country to collude with another against other countries or for major countries to divide up the world into spheres of influence.

The two sides reviewed the long-standing serious disputes between China and the United States.

The Chinese side reaffirmed its position: the Taiwan question is the crucial question obstructing the normalization of relations between China and the United States; the government of the People's Republic of China is the sole legal government of China; Taiwan is a province of China, which has long been returned to the motherland; the liberation of Taiwan is China's internal affair in which no other country has the right to interfere; and all U.S. forces and military installations must be withdrawn from Taiwan.

The Chinese government firmly opposes any activities which aim at the creation of "one China, one Taiwan," "one China, two governments," "two Chinas," and "independent Taiwan" or advocates that "the status of Taiwan remains to be determined."

The U.S. side declared: The United States acknowledges that all Chinese on either side of the Taiwan Straits maintain there is but one China and that Taiwan is a part of China.

The United States government does not challenge that position. It reaffirms its interest in a peaceful settlement of the Taiwan question by the Chinese themselves. With this prospect in mind, it affirms the ultimate objective of the withdrawal of all U.S. forces and military installations from Taiwan.

In the meantime, it will progressively reduce its forces and military installations on Taiwan as the tension in the area diminishes.

The two sides agreed that it is desirable to broaden the understanding between the two peoples. To this end, they discussed specific areas in such fields as science, technology, culture, sports and journalism, in which people-to-people contacts and exchanges would be mutually beneficial.

Each side undertakes to facilitate the further development of such contacts and exchanges. Both sides view bilateral trade as another area from which mutual benefits can be derived, and agreed that economic relations based on equality and mutual benefits are in the interests of the peoples of the two countries.

They agreed to facilitate the progressive development of trade between their two countries.

The two sides agree that they will stay in contact through various channels, including the sending of a senior U.S. representative to Peking from time to time for concrete consultations to further the normalization of relations between the two countries and continue to exchange views on issues of common interest.

They believe that the normalization of relations between the two countries is not only in the interest of the American and Chinese peoples, but also contributes to the relaxation of tensions in Asia and the world.

President Nixon, Mrs. Nixon and the American party expressed their appreciation for the gracious hospitality shown them by the government and the people of the People's Republic of China.

60 dead, 300 missing in W. Va. flood

MAN, W. Va. (UPI)—When the lights went out in their homes, the miners of Buffalo Creek Valley knew what that meant—the coal-waste dam holding a mile-long, rain-swollen pool of water at the head of the steep, narrow valley had given way.

Picking up mud, rocks, cars, bridges, people, parts of houses and whole houses as it roared down the 18-mile-long valley, where 4,500 persons lived in 14 mining communities, the 30-foot-high wall of water swept one small town off the map Saturday and pitted debris 10 and 20 feet above some of the bridges which span the valley.

Gov. Arch Moore declared it a disaster area and President Nixon, in China, promised federal aid.

By today, 80 bodies had been recovered from the planks and mud; 300 were missing, and 4,000 were homeless.

National Guardsmen today

searched the wreckage of every house for more bodies.

"It was like an ocean," said Mrs. Roy Deese, who escaped with her husband and three daughters from their home at Stove, two miles below Lorado, the town which was destroyed. "There were waves tossing all over."

Albert Kilgore of Lorado, which had 700 or 800 residents, watched from a hillside as a man ran back to untie a dog from a stake.

"The water just swept over him. His mother was standing on the porch. We couldn't get to either of them before the house was washed away," he said.

Mrs. Naomi Hall lives atop a hill at Robinette and can see seven miles along the valley.

"We stood on our porch and watched seven miles of what used to be homes for a lot of people go by," she said.

RESCUERS remove body of young woman from pile of debris in Lorado, W. V. Sunday as mop-up operations continue. Following flash-flood which has killed at least 50 persons and left 284 missing. At least five coal towns, including this one, were leveled. (UPI)

Flood victims

they walked with Christ

THE RICH YOUNG RULER

By the way he walked, the cut of his clothing, his clean sandals, a golden bracelet, his manner of speech and composure, his trimmed beard—you were describing the rich young ruler that knelt at Christ's feet and said, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?"

You know the commandments, Jesus replied. "Do not commit adultery, do not murder; do not steal, do not give false evidence, honor your father and mother."

Without batting an eye the stranger said, "I have kept all these since I was a boy."

This was an extraordinary statement from a leading citizen and Jesus was deeply and sincerely impressed.

But you lack one thing, said the Master. Sell all your treasure, unload all your houses, stores, farms, gold bars and give them to the needy—and follow along with me and my disciples.

The man turned and walked away—it was too much, and alas, he cared too little for the things of the Spirit and the company of Jesus. Let us be sure that what we have does not stifle what we believe.

Davis trial begins

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—After months of legal delay, Angela Davis goes on trial today with the state charging her with murder-kidnap-conspiracy and the defense protesting she is being victimized because she is a black militant Communist.

Selection of the jury was set to begin today but it was expected to be an arduous process with the 28-year-old Miss Davis, acting as her own attorney, contending she cannot get a fair hearing in this 95 per cent white community.

Just short of a year and six months have passed since the bloody fray at the San Rafael Civic Center in which a judge had half his head blown off, three black prisoners were killed and a deputy district attorney was paralyzed for life.

The first panel of 150 prospective jurors, based on voting registration, was to be brought today to the two-story, brown brick courthouse in San Jose's modernistic Civic Center.

Today is Monday, Feb. 28, the 59th day of 1972.

The moon is full.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.

Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke Seminary for women in Massachusetts, was born Feb. 28, 1797.

On this day in history:—

In 1840 the first shipload of gold seekers arrived in San Francisco after a five-month journey from New York City.

In 1942 Japanese forces landed in Java, the last allied bastion in the Netherlands East Indies.

In 1966 American astronauts Elliott Sze and Charles Bassett were killed when their plane struck a building in St. Louis.

In 1968 Michigan Gov. George Romney withdrew his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

A thought for today: Russian novelist Maxim Gorky said, "Lies—there you have the religion of slaves and taskmasters."

Defense renews attack

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The defense in the Harrisburg Seven trial renews its attack today on the credibility of the convict who turned FBI informant and who will be the key government witness in a climax of the trial expected this week.

The sixth week of trial was expected to see the appearance of a now rather shadowy figure—he has been out of public touch for many months—who is alleged to have been a prime mover in a communications network of mail-drops, straggled letters, and stealthy phone calls in the summer of 1970.

Boyd Douglas Jr., 31, the informer, had two coed girl friends at Bucknell University that summer. The second of them, Mary Elizabeth Sandel, 25, was called for more cross-examination today.

Miss Sandel testified Friday that none of the defendants that she had met that summer ever asked her to participate in the destruction of draft board records. Her roommate, Jane Hoover, 22, said she was urged to participate in draft board raids but that it was Douglas who did the urging.

Prisoners riot in NY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Guards armed with tear gas and night sticks put down a three-hour uprising of young inmates at the Adolescent Remand Shelter on Rikers Island Sunday night. About 100 persons were hurt.

William Vanden Heuvel, corrections chairman, said the disturbance began when several prisoners, being transferred from the cellblock to prepare for a court appearance, overpowered five guards and took their hostages.

The prisoners, ranging in age from 16 to 20, then rampaged through the block, armed with pipes, bed springs and sharpened wooden spears, according to Leo Zeferetti, head of the Correction Officers Benevolent Association.

He said the prisoners "had one hostage with a noose around his neck," but when guards fired tear gas into the three-tier cell block, the hostages managed to escape.

Host needed for teachers

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls area families are needed to entertain English speaking European teachers in their homes this summer.

Tom Murphy, a director of the American Host Program, said the teachers would live in the area for one or two weeks. Being a host family is open to anyone who has the desire to increase understanding and friendship between Americans and Europeans. All American Host asks for is hospitality, a private room for a guest and free time for one or two weeks to introduce the guest to friends and neighbors and perhaps to fellow teachers.

American Host is one of the few non-governmental programs designed to show the American way of life to foreign teachers by arranging hospitality with American families for them.

Arrangements for participating as a Host Family can be made through: Tom Murphy, The American Host Program, Hotel Commodore, Suite 2100, Park Avenue at 42 street, New York, 10017. Deadline for information is March 10.

urban area

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Fifty-eight percent of the Nation's population lived in 248 urbanized areas at the time of the 1970 census.

An urbanized area consists of a central city of 50,000 persons (or twin cities with populations totaling 50,000) and the surrounding built-up territory. Land area within them amounts to less than one percent of the 3.6 million square miles in the U. S.

Total population within all U. S. urbanized areas in 1970 was 118.4 million persons — 63.9 million in the central cities and the remainder in the urban fringe around them, the report says.

The proportion within central cities varied considerably, however. In West Palm Beach, Fla., for example, only 19.9 percent of the population for the urbanized area as a whole lived in the central city of West Palm Beach.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department announced proposed new regulations Friday to permit the federal government to pay all costs of operating breakfast programs in schools with high concentrations of poor children starting in the 1973-74 school year.

The full subsidy for schools classed as "especially needy" would be paid up to 25 cents for each breakfast served free and up to 20 cents for each breakfast served at "reduced-price" rates to qualified low-income pupils, officials said.

The proposal, which officials said they planned to make effective on July 1, was part of a belated package of proposed new rules carrying out terms of a law approved by Congress in June, 1971.

Under present regulations, the Agriculture Department subsidy for breakfasts in "especially needy" schools is limited to 80 per cent of the cost of the program.

RICHFIELD — The South Central District Health Department will hold measles and Rubella clinics Thursday at the school.

The clinic is offered to children in grades one through four. Parents wishing to have their children immunized against these diseases are asked to fill out the permission slips issued by the school this week and return them with their signature. Those not receiving notice may contact the school for further information.

Hamilton-Fish still vigorous

NEW YORK (UPI) — During his 25 years in Congress, Hamilton Fish was the leading isolationist and America Firster and headed the first committee to investigate Communist subversion.

Frank D. Roosevelt was a resident of Fish's upstate New York congressional district but the two men were bitter enemies. Fish opposed U.S. entry into World War II and labelled F.D.R. a power-mad "Warmonger."

His last political gesture was initiation of a boomlet for Gen. Lucius Clay as a compromise presidential candidate between Rockefeller and Goldwater at the 1964 GOP National Convention.

Where is Fish now? Erect and vigorous at 84, Fish puts in a full work week at the office of the patriotic organization he founded, "The Order of Lafayette," and is working hard to finish a book on the Roosevelt

New device detects early symptoms of womb cancer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Deaths from cancer of the womb can be cut sharply by use of a new system for early detection of the disease, several leading gynecologists said.

Doctors from medical schools of the Universities of Chicago, Columbia, Texas and Alabama told a news conference that the new system, "the Gravlee jet washer" is efficient, reliable and cheap.

Dr. L. Clark Gravlee, who developed the device over a 12-year period, said early detection of cancer of the womb was critical in treating the disease. He said 3,500 women died of the disease in 1970.

Gravlee said the only reliable test until now to detect cancer of the womb required surgery. He said his device could be used by general practitioners during routine checkups. He stressed, however, that the washer is simply a detection device, not a cure.

The device consists of two tubes attached to a syringe. A saline solution is injected into the uterus bathing the walls of the womb and is then drawn out bringing with it a sample of cells and tissues. The contents can then be tested in a laboratory.

Gravlee said his washer has proven "twice as effective" as the "pap smear" test in detecting the disease.

Dr. George L. Weid of the University of Chicago said that while the "pap smear" is reliable for detecting cancer of the cervix, it has a "high failure" rate in detecting cancer of the womb.

Weid advocated that "every woman who is one year past menopause" receive a Gravlee test.

Dr. Creighton Edwards of the University of Texas said the new test is "easy, doesn't hurt and can be done in a few minutes in the doctor's office."

Early detection of the disease can lead to cures by surgery or radiation treatments in 90 per cent of the cases, he said.

The Gravlee washer will be distributed exclusively by the Upjohn Co. It will be sold to doctors for about $6. Upjohn officials said. They estimated that patients will pay $15 to $20 for tests.

Area outreach workers give needed help

JEROME — Mrs. William Butler, senior citizen outreach worker, said they now have 34 persons on their Telephone Reassurance Program.

She said the idea was started one and one-half years ago and at that time they had six persons that were being called.

Mrs. Butler said the purpose of the program is to make daily contact with persons living alone, especially those who are in poor health. And it is of great importance in the winter when people are forced to stay in because of bad weather.

"Calls are made at a specified time and if the person does not answer the caller waits 15 to 20 minutes, and then calls again. If no one answers the second time, the senior citizen officer is notified, and an authorized person is sent to check on the person called," Mrs. Butler said.

She noted many on the list have diabetes, heart trouble, or other ailments which could strike without giving them time to call for help. "Persons alone are also helpless if they should fall and injure themselves and be unable to reach the phone," Mrs. Butler said.

Mrs. Butler said anyone wanting to be placed on the calling list is asked to call the Senior Citizens Club office at 324-5642.

Mrs. Butler said they now have six women who are making the calls; Mrs. Catherine Pierce, president of the Senior Citizens Club; Mrs. Nellie Haynes, vice president; Mrs. Julia Frazier, Mrs. Glen Williams, Mrs. Pearl Lange and Susie Anderson.

Mrs. Butler said the program has been started in the Eden-Hazelton area and at present they have two persons on the calling list.

Lake Lake El Salvador, stands in a volcanic crater and is unique in that water in its western half is almost boiling hot while the eastern half is icy cold.

Needed project

PARTICIPATING in the Senior Citizens Telephone Reassurance Program are, from left, Susie Anderson, Julia Frazier and Mrs. Glenn Williams. There are now 34 persons on the telephone program in the Jerome area.

Movie Review

JEANNUTILE

Twin Falls Public Library
TWIN FALLS — Ken Kesey's "Sometimes a Great Notion" is undoubtedly one of the biggest American novels to come along in some time.

It will perhaps be remembered as one of the giant creative achievements of this century. Though published in 1964, it is just gaining the widespread attention it deserves, in part because it has recently become a motion picture.

Set in Oregon's rugged coastal mountains in the mid 1880's, the novel concerns the equally rugged Stamper family, who have succeeded in carving a logging empire out of the lush wilderness. The attitude of the logging—drinking—fishing town of Wakonda toward the self-sufficient Stammers changes from an amiable envy to malice when the Stammers sign a lumber contract with Wakonda Pacific despite the fact that the union loggers are striking W.F.

Each morning long before daylight, Henry Stamper, reigning patriarch of the clan, thumps loudly through old Stamper hall hollering, "Wake it an' shake it!" at the top of his crusty voice; and Henry's genial nephew, Joe Ben, and his cool, enigmatic son Hank head the logging crew out to the woods in a struggle to meet the contract deadline.

Shorthanded because of the strike, the two men compose a postcard to Hank's young half-brother Lee, who left Oregon with his mother (old Henry's second wife) when only a boy. To both men's surprise, the intellectual, bespectacled Lee actually leaves Yale and journeys West to lend a hand. Logging, however, is the furthest thing from his mind. He has come seeking revenge—for years, this weak, bookish boy has hated the strong, athletic Hank for having an affair with his mother while the two still lived in Oregon. Lee's shocking success and the growing anger of the town combine to create hilarity, tragedy and intense excitement.

Kesey, perhaps best known as the author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," is a master of description, characterization and style. He makes good use of parentheses and italics and rambles with skill from rich description to stream of consciousness, from the shrewd mind of one character to the confusion in the mind of another. Kesey's point of view is many sided and he changes narrators and tenses frequently, sometimes in mid-sentence. Rather than being tiresome and confusing, Kesey's free-wheeling technique merely enhances the novel's effectiveness, particularly in the area of characterization. The author weaves through the mental mazes of such diverse characters as the stoic, seemingly impregnable Hank and the brooding, somewhat paranoid Lee. Even minor characters are well developed and very real.

In the words of The New York Times, "Sometimes a Great Notion" contains "an extraordinary richness of event and character."

But don't expect to scan it casually with one eye while watching the late show with the other. It's simply too great a book for that.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Oswald: "We showed some of the worries of experts last week. Back in the '30s, Ely Culbertson pretended to referee a match between some bad players. He was supposed to assess fines for mistakes and the series furnishes some interesting examples of how players do go wrong."

Jim: "We will make South declarer in every instance. Here is the first hand."

Oswald: "West opened the queen of diamonds. South won in his hand and went for clubs. East could do was score his black ace and South made this redouble contract with two overtricks."

Preserve trees — save old newspapers

MARJORIE LIERMAN

Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Want to save a tree — or better yet, how about 17 trees?

You can do it without any work or bother, and can even get paid for it. You'll be helping the environment — and preserving some of our best natural resources as trees are very important to all of us.

How? The answer is very simple — you start saving your newspapers and returning them to be recycled.

Each ton of recycled paper saves 17 trees from being cut. Recycled paper is now being used for newspaper and other paper products in many places.

Here in our area, old newspaper may be brought to the Hamilton Roofing Co., 236 Railroad Ave., Twin Falls, where it is shredded and used for insulation purposes.

It is estimated that each individual yearly contributes 188 pounds of paper to the ever-growing trash heaps. Multiply this amount by the number of people in your family, and you will see just how much your family alone is contributing to these piles.

In 1970 we consumed 56.9 million tons of paper of which only 9.9 million tons were recycled. That left about 47 million tons of paper to be either incinerated, thus putting added pollution into the air, or to be hauled to dumps and landfills which are filling at an alarming rate.

Some people do make honest efforts to use old papers around the house and yard in useful purposes. They may be rolled into logs and burnt in indoor or outdoor fireplaces. True, this produces smoke but the logs make very little ash, and society has not yet looked disapprovingly at fireplace burning as polluters, perhaps because fireplaces are one of the nicer things to have in living rooms or outdoor patios.

Newspapers are also being used by gardeners for weed covering or ground up to be used for mulches. Since paper is essentially a natural product, it will disintegrate and mingle

Sizes vary
When shopping for dresses keep in mind that a size 10 under one label may approximate a size eight in another. Different manufacturers have different ways of sizing their products. And you? You may be two sizes instead of one. You may be narrow at the top and broader at the bottom. For that reason, don't ask for what's your size when buying a dress, says the International Ladies Garment Worker's Union. "Ask to be fitted," is the advice.

with the soil.
Some mail order companies can use small amounts of paper for packaging and mailing purposes.
However, if you cannot keep up with those stacks of papers in these ways, have you thought of taking them yourselves to the insulation company, or else donating them to various organizations which are beginning to collect papers and resell them?
In Buhl the Ta-Wan-Ka Camp Fire Girls are one of the groups collecting papers. Their leader is Mrs. Walter Partin. Persons in the area may call her or arrange to leave the papers where her group of girls may get them.

The Peace Lutheran Woman's Missionary League in Filer has begun a paper collection drive, and papers may be brought to the church fellowship hall or given to one of the members.

The Country Pals Home Extension Club in Twin Falls is collecting papers in that area. No doubt there are many other organizations who are engaging in this worthy project of helping to make our valley a cleaner place and making money for their groups at the same time.

Papers brought to the Hamilton Roofing Co. should be tied in bundles or packed in cardboard boxes. Collection hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each weekday.

Spring's 'little' coats add pizzazz

TWIN FALLS — The best short cut to planning wardrobes this season can be found on coats designed four to five inches above the knee.

Look for them fashioned as smocked toppers, wrapped styles with wide lapels, easy-fitting A lines and tailored pea jackets. Designed in a wide variety of fabrics from Cone Mills for extra fashion pizzazz, these "little" coats come in luxurious ribbed corduroys, brushed denims, sometimes with a stenciled leather look.

geometric, oriental and tapestry prints.

Short coats make sense for spring. While the mid-length evolved into a practical winter length that gives added warmth and looks great with boots, the new coats are lighter weight, easier to move in, give lots of leg room to pants of all descriptions. They're a look totally in keeping with today's more casual life style and its way of dressing.

Could this new silhouette be a forerunner of things to come?

- BROWNIE NUT PIE
3 egg whites
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup chocolate cookie crumbs (about 4 ounces of thin chocolate wafers)
1 cup chopped walnuts, filberts or pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon powdered sugar

Chocolate curls optional
Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Add sugar, about two tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until glossy. Continue beating until whites hold firm peaks.

Fold in the crumbs, nuts and vanilla until blended. Spread evenly in a greased 9-inch pie pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool, then refrigerate until chilled, about three hours or longer.

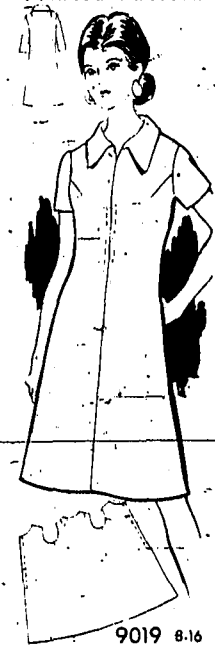

About 30 minutes to one hour before serving, spread top with whipped cream sweetened with powdered sugar and garnished with chocolate curls made by drawing a vegetable peeler over a bar of sweet or semi-sweet chocolate. Chill until turfs to serve. Serves eight.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Maybe Redouble Stampeded

Jim: "The double clearly called for a spade lead and it West had led his singleton spade declarer would have been held to seven tricks. West realized this and promptly said, 'I guess that cost me the maximum time. Here is $10.'"

Oswald: "Culbertson remarked that he was glad West realized that he had made a serious error. He then fined South $5 for his redouble with only one spade stopper."

Jim: "I think Ely was unfair to South. The redouble could have been expensive but it wasn't. In fact, it brought South a lot of extra points. Furthermore it might well have caused West to open the diamond."

news about the people you know

Valley Living

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My parents were recently divorced. I live with my mother, but I see my Dad occasionally. I made a date to play tennis with him on Sunday at a club he recently joined. When we met he asked me not to call him "Dad" because he didn't want anyone to know he has a 20-year-old daughter.

I was hurt. He is my father. Should I call him "Dad" anyway?

HIS DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Certainly. And if you're in a playful mood, just for fun, call him "Grandpa." He's old enough to be one!

DEAR ABBY: I must make a decision soon and I don't know what to do.

I am in love with, and want to marry, a man of considerable means and position. I am 36 and have never been married. He is 44 and divorced. His ex-wife has remarried, and she is no problem. But he has a 20-year-old daughter who lives with him, and she's the problem.

The daughter never got along with her mother. [That's why she's living with her father.] She is an only child, and while I don't know this for a fact, I think she's slightly retarded.

She has never had a date in her life, and the reason is obvious. She has a bad complexion from eating sweets continually. She is terribly overweight, very lazy, and very, very stupid.

She "works" for her father [filing] at his office] when she feels like it, which isn't very often. She's usually at home eating and watching television.

She likes me, but I don't think I could stand having her live with us for the rest of her life, and I'm afraid that would be the deal.

Well, Abby, what do you say?

BETWIXT AND BETWEEN

DEAR J AND B: If you are considering marrying a man, you should be able to discuss the matter of his "problem daughter" with him. [Does he know what her potential is? Why is she permitted to vegetate?] If she is "slightly retarded," surely she could be doing more with her life. If you don't love this man enough to want to help him with his problem, and his daughter is his problem, don't marry him.

DEAR ABBY: In hiring a secretary I bear in mind that a good secretary is one who is a good "keeper of secrets," as the word "secretary" implies.

I receive all kinds of mail from people all over the world, and I never know what will be contained in those letters. However, I expect no raised eyebrows, censuring, or personal comments from my secretary regarding the contents of my mail. And certainly none regarding my replies.

When I dictate to my secretary, my thoughts are transmitted to her as mechanically as to the typewriter itself. This doesn't mean that I consider my secretary to be less than a human being with personal feelings. However, whatever her personal feelings might be, they should never interfere with her job.

If I should ever feel the need of a censor or editor, I would hire someone else who is qualified in that field.

arms — indeed a first figure — stable weight and firm ular workouts are indispensable. The following routine helps both to prevent and relieve sag:

1. Stand, erect with arms stretched to sides at shoulder level and with palms of hands turned upward. Without moving shoulders, stretch right arm to right, until upper arm muscles "lock." Repeat with left arm. Alternating sides, continue for 10 counts.

Now, arms out to sides, bend elbows so that "fore-arms lie perpendicular to floor. Slowly twist forearms forward and backward, as far as possible. Count to 50.

2. Massage arms with rich body oil hand lotion, night and morning — one minute.

Synthetics pose fire danger, aide says

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Wearing a shirt or blouse made of artificial cloth? Better be careful with matches—the garment could go up in flames and take you along with it in less than half a minute.

Fire researcher Irving Ein-horn says synthetics, cotton and wool all carry the threat of flash fire.

Prof. Einhorn dressed shop window mannequins at the University of Utah's flammability research center in sample blouses of various materials to the shirt's front and back and set a match to them to see what would happen.

In one experiment, using a permanent press-type material, flames had engulfed the mannequin to an extent that Prof. Einhorn said would have meant death to a human.

"You can see," he said, "that a child playing with matches, a spark from a bonfire, or even someone leaning over a gas flame would be sufficient to ignite this fabric.

"Almost any blend of the polyesters will burn rapidly even some of those $20 shirts."

Soldier ponders

AN AMERICAN GI seems to be deep in thought as he sits atop an armored car at Firebase Eldred, 42 miles east of Saigon. Twenty-two GI's were wounded in action three-and-a-half miles from here in the worst single battle U.S. soldiers have fought in the last several months.

Government sets climax for Harrisburg trial

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The government is setting the stage for the soliloquy scene of its climax witness in the Harrisburg Seven conspiracy trial, and the defense is undertaking to rewrite the plot and repaint the backdrop.

The scenery remains the same. Place: Lewisburg, Pa. Time: Summer, 1970. Characters: Prisoners, priests, professors, nuns, coeds, wardens, G-men, activists, and other unordinary citizens.

The main character, often called "the key government witness," will come on this week and be on the stand for maybe five days. He is Boyd Frederick Douglas Jr., alias Pete, Gary and, sometimes, Frank. Those were the names, according to two former coeds at Bucknell University, that some defendants used when they phoned and asked for him to call back on a public pay phone.

The idea was that his own phone might be tapped by...but wait. He was already an FBI informant. That came June 3, the day after the warden shook down the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan's penitentiary cell and found a handwritten letter referring to a mysterious "Pete."

Pete (Douglas), the government says, had already started smuggling letters from Berrigan out to Sister Elizabeth McAllister in New York, using two nuns there as unwitting mail-drops. An early letter, on May 24, proposed "surfacing" after destroying draft records.

Liz, as the sister was known to the group, and Douglas had set up this mail-drop-smuggle "communications network" on May 22, according to chief prosecutor William S. Lynch. It involved the coeds, who testified Friday that the copied incoming letters—also unwittingly—at Douglas's request into his academic notebook.

This was so he could get them past the prison guards. He was doing time for forgery and for assaulting the FBI man who apprehended him, but was attending Bucknell classes under a prison study-release program and had permission to take the notebook in and out.

Burley holds seminar for credit personnel

BURLEY — A training seminar sponsored by Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., and the Credit Bureau of Burley, Inc., ended Saturday. Instructors for the two day event were Alice Phillips, Boise Credit Bureau; Mike Mac Butch, Pocatello Credit Bureau; and Ransom H. Brown, Burley Credit Bureau.

About 40 participants from Boise, Pocatello, Burley, Twin Falls, Jerome, Blackfoot, Idaho Falls, Rexburg, and Gooding, and Ontario, Ore. attended the sessions.

Purpose of the event was to increase the participants skills in written and telephone reporting, and collections procedures including telephone collecting, locating and interviewing customers.

"Factbill" is the brand name for credit reporting and "Collector's" is the brand name for collection service.

These seminars are part of the educational programs provided by Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., for its members for training credit bureau and collection service personnel. Registrants not only listen to lectures but they also participate in training workshops.

Local arrangements were made by the Burley Credit Bureau under the direction of Brown, manager. The Burley Credit Bureau is one of 2,100 credit bureau members of the Associated Credit Bureaus, he said.

NOW... you and your family can join this Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan with no red tape, no health questions to answer, no medical examination, no age limit, without having to see a salesman and without any qualifications whatsoever. But you must mail your Application Form no later than Midnight, Thursday, March 2, 1972.

The Graph Below Shows Why You Need This Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan in Addition to Regular Hospital Insurance and Medicare

MEDICAL COSTS RISING DRASTICALLY!

Government statistics indicate your present coverage may be inadequate to meet today's rising costs. That's why you can't afford to be without this low-cost, high-benefit Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan.

*Source: United States Department of Labor

PAYS YOU CASH... $1,000.00 a month tax-free cash in the hospital — $500.00 a month when you go home!

PAYS YOU CASH... up to $60,000.00 when you're in the hospital — up to $30,000.00 when you leave the hospital!

PAYS YOU CASH... money mailed direct to you — not to the doctor or hospital!

PAYS YOU CASH... in addition to hospitalization, Medicare, and Workmen's Compensation!

EVEN IF YOU'RE OVER 65

You get cash in addition to Medicare and any other insurance

The Social Security Administration estimates that Medicare covers an average of less than half of your medical expenses. But, with this Plan, people over 65 collect $500 a month for the first 2 months in the hospital — then $1,000 a month for the rest of their confinement up to a total of 60 full months. Then, in addition, while recovering at home, they get $250.00 a month for the first 2 months, plus $500.00 a month to match the rest of their covered hospital stay, up to a total of 60 more full months. That's 120 full months of protection for each separate accident or sickness.

You Can Join Regardless of Your Age

You're welcome to join no matter what your age is — and without any red tape (you don't even have to answer any health questions). Even if you're over 70 you're still eligible — provided, of course, that you fill in and mail the Application Form with just ONE DOLLAR during this limited enrollment period.

Here's How You Collect

This new Union Fidelity Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan pays you both while you're in the hospital and after you leave the hospital. You get $1,000.00 a month while in the hospital and then, when you are released, you collect $500.00 a month for the same length of time that you were in the hospital. And, remember, you get the after-hospital benefits even if you go back to work immediately or take a vacation. Plus, the money is sent directly to you to spend as you wish.

Special $1 Offer Expires Midnight of Date Shown on Coupon Below!

To introduce you to this remarkable new Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan — Form 1-565 — we make this unusual offer with a Money-Back Guarantee. Just fill in the Application Form on this page and mail it with just $1 before Midnight of the Expiration Date. A full-month's protection will go into effect on the very same day we issue your policy (generally the day we receive your Application Form).

When you receive your policy, take your time to examine it carefully. It's written in plain language with NO FINE PRINT. Show it to any trusted advisor — your doctor, your lawyer, your clergyman. In fact, show it to your own insurance man — even though he probably works for another insurance company! If he is a personal friend, he wants what is best for you. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better value available.

Even then, if you're not completely satisfied, return the policy within 30 days and your money will be cheerfully refunded with no questions asked. However, if you decide to continue this worthwhile protection, you may do so at the low rates shown at right.

All-Family Plan

By adding only $1.75 to the Husband-Wife Plan, you protect all unmarried children under 18 plus all future children after they are one month old. You may also have maternity coverage by adding only $1.07. Widowed or divorced parents may protect their children by adding $1.75 to the individual rate.

NOTE: When you fill in the Application Form, please be sure to check which plan you want, $1000.00-A-Month or $500.00-A-Month.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) will never increase because you pass from one age bracket to the next. It won't even change because of frequent claims or the amount of money you collect. It can change only if there is a general rate adjustment — up or down — on all policies of this type in your state. Covered members, when they reach age 18, may obtain their own policy, regardless of their health, at the rate then in effect for their age group. What's more they receive full credit for continuous coverage.

14 Important Questions Answered

That tell you how Union Fidelity's $1000.00-A-Month Tax-Free Extra Cash Plan gives you the protection you need — at amazingly low cost!

- How much will you pay me while I'm in the hospital?
Remember, Union Fidelity pays you twice — while you're in the hospital... and again when you go home (home benefits are outlined in Question 2). Under the Individual Plan, you receive benefits at the rate of $1,000.00 a month in the hospital. Under the Husband-Wife or All-Family Plan, you will also receive Tax-Free Extra Cash when covered family members go to the hospital. $1,000.00 a month for you, $750.00 a month for your spouse, and $500.00 a month for each child. Maternity benefits are $750.00 a month. Folks over 65 receive $500.00 a month for the first two months, then $1,000.00 a month for the rest of their confinement — up to 60 months in the hospital.
- How much more do you pay me when I leave the hospital?
Under the Individual Plan, you receive $500.00 a month more at home for the same number of covered days you were in the hospital. Under the Husband-Wife or All-Family Plan you also receive home benefits. $500.00 a month for yourself, $375.00 a month for your spouse, and $250.00 a month for each child. Maternity benefits are $250.00 a month at home. Folks over 65 get $250.00 a month for the first two months at home, then $500.00 a month at home to match their covered hospital stay — up to 60 full months. Total coverage is 120 months — 60 months each at the hospital and at home.
- When do my Extra Cash benefits start?
Benefits start from the day you enter the hospital for accident and immediately after the 3rd day for hospitalization as a result of sickness. What's more, you'll continue receiving Tax-Free Extra Cash for as long as 120 full months — as much as $90,000 for each covered sickness or accident!
- When does this policy become effective?
It will go into effect the very same day we issue your policy (generally the day we receive your Application Form and $1 for the first month's coverage).
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full month?
Of course you will. You'll receive Extra Cash at the rate of $33.33 per day from the first day for accident and after the third day for sickness. You'll also receive $16.67 per day at home for the same number of days you were covered in the hospital.
- How may I spend my tax-free extra cash?
Spend it any way you wish — for hospital and doctor bills; rent, food, household expenses or anything else. You alone decide how to use the money.
- What other advantages are there of joining this Plan now?
By joining now you don't need to complete the standard application — just the brief form in the corner of this page. Also, since this limited enrollment period, there are no other qualifications — no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy.
- Can you drop me?
No. Your policy is Guaranteed Renewable for Life. We will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy as long as you make your premium payments on time. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.
- Can you raise my rates?
You cannot be singled out for a rate increase. Your rates can only change if there is a general rate adjustment — up or down — on all policies of this type in your entire state.
- Now tell me — what's the catch? What doesn't my plan cover?
There is no "catch". As stated in this advertisement, your plan covers you for everything except certain minimum necessary exclusions. In fact, even conditions you already have will be covered after your policy has been in force for only two years.
- May I join if I am over 65?
This Plan is a must for folks over 65. You can join regardless of your age. Extra Cash will help fill the gap left by Medicare.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time our underwriting, processing and policy issue costs can be kept at a minimum. These savings, of course, are passed on to you.
- How does the Money-Back Guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 30 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be protected while making your decision.
- How do I join?
Fill in the brief Application Form (be sure to sign your name and pick the plan you want) and mail it with just $1.00 for the first month's protection (regardless of the number of people to be protected) to: Union Fidelity Life, Dept. MM, 1515 Locust Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 19102.

Cassia voters to decide school bond fate

BY LEE TREMAINE

Times-News writer

BURLEY — Voters in the Cassia County School District will decide the fate of a $3.5 million school-construction package during Tuesday's bond election.

The proposal includes a controversial plan to construct a joint high school for Burley, Declo and Oakley at a new location south of Burley. The school would operate much as Minico High School in Minidoka County, drawing students from a wide area to a centralized school.

The proposal for a centralized high school was debated by trustees of the district over many months.

The trustees had voted against the plan more than once, including a split-vote incident in which the acting chairman cast a vote as a trustee, then when the vote tied at 2-2, with one member absent, cast the deciding vote against the plan as acting chairman.

The trustees renewed the proposal in drafting plans for the bond issue, believing that the construction of a new high school would allow a redistribution of students throughout the district, cutting classroom loads in some areas and consolidating classes deemed too small in others. The proposal will also allow operation of 300-student junior high school units at Oakley and Declo. Students would be assigned to the schools, depending on where they live in the "attendance areas," to "guarantee" at least 200 in each school, according to district Supt. Harold Blauer.

The present Burley High School would then become a junior high school with about 670 students from the Burley area.

With Burley Junior High freed for other use, students in several elementary grades would be shifted to the junior-high building, Miller School, one of the oldest buildings in the district, would be abandoned.

Elementary classrooms also would be provided for all of the students now attending Springdale at Declo, boosting class load to the proper size, Blauer said.

Finally, the bond issue would allow construction of a "multi-learning area with three teaching stations" at Raft River High School, according to Blauer. The facility would have a capacity of 300 students.

The $3.5 million overall cost of the project would be apportioned among the several projects, including:

—Centralized high school, $2.35 million;

—Declo elementary and junior high facilities, $75,000;

—Oakley Junior High renovation, $250,000;

—Burley Junior High renovation for grade-school use, $65,000, and,

—Raft River school addition, $120,000.

Blauer said shifting the high school into junior-high usage would involve no major cost to the district.

In advocating the construction of the centralized high school, which would eliminate the present high-school facilities at Declo and Oakley, Blauer said that though "there are good arguments" in favor of the smaller schools, the small number of students, particularly in the graduating (senior) class diminishes the chance of a good, "comprehensive" education being provided for all students.

"Most of the recognized authorities in the field of education have promoted high schools with at least 75 students in the graduating class," Blauer said. "Schools any smaller than this cannot afford to offer the comprehensive program needed by today's students."

"When the graduating classes range from 18 to 36 students, we must take a second look at both the program and its cost," he said.

At the junior-high level, Blauer said, "Most authorities agree that junior-high schools should be kept smaller than high schools."

"We feel a student body of 600 to 700 students is large enough for a good unit at this level."

"Our proposal to send approximately 200 seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students to junior high schools in Declo and Oakley was made for several reasons."

"Burley has more students than is needed for a good junior high school. The present Burley High School will hold all of the remaining 670 students without adding more money. We feel this gives Oakley and Declo a chance to keep secondary schools in their communities, at the junior high level."

"Also, it would be much easier to provide a good educational program for 200 seventh, eighth and ninth grade students than to try to continue our present program for grades seven through 12."

During discussions of the various plans that could be developed, board Chairman W. B. Whitely said that with the Idaho Legislature considering full state funding of local schools, the wrong plan could leave the Cassia district with a sizable debt to pay — as for a new junior high school — while attempting to meet state demands for consolidation of "uneconomical" school units.

The centralized high school, however, would continue to play a vital role in the district's educational program for a long time in the future, as the school could absorb student growth from nearly any part of the county.

The suggestion to build a new junior high school in Burley, on the other hand, could bring problems in the future if growth accelerates in outlying areas.

Voters need not necessarily own property to vote, due to recent court decisions. A voter must have resided in the state for six months and in the district for at least 30 days, and must be 18 years of age. Teen-agers will be able to vote in this election for the first time.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Oakley High School, Burley High School, Declo City Hall, Burley Junior High, Albion School, Almo School, Southwest Elementary, Raft River High and the Bean Growers Warehouse.

Cassia teen-agers get vote Tuesday

BURLEY — Cassia County teen-agers have their first chance to take an active part in "gownup" activities with Tuesday's school-bond election.

And there's a real chance that the more than 100 18-year-old students attending Cassia County's four high schools could cast a decisive vote in the controversial $3.5 million school district proposal.

For the first time, 18-year-old voters can cast ballots in a school bond election. According to Supt. Harold Blauer, 18-year-olds can vote "because of the new federal Constitutional amendment."

With 110 students at Burley High School able to vote, and with a sizable number in the schools at Oakley, Declo and Malta, the students have an unprecedented role to play.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at several schools, including Burley High School.

Voters do not have to own property, and need not vote in any particular precinct. Each will sign a voter's oath that he meets the qualifications of residence and age before he votes.

Thus, students in Burley High School able to vote need not even leave the building — making casting their ballots unusually convenient.

With a close vote, as is frequently the case in bond elections, the students' vote could be decisive — one way or the other — if they vote in any sizable numbers.

New auditor

JEROME — Mrs. Clair Ricketts will be sworn in today as Jerome County auditor.

She was appointed by the Jerome County Commission to succeed Mrs. Ella McVey, who resigned.

Ketchum crash cause unknown

KETCHUM — No cause has yet been determined in the plane crash Saturday morning near Ketchum in which three people were injured.

Robert B. Armbrist, FFA, Boise, said all that has been determined is that "the plane struck the ridge while making an approach to the Glimet Airport."

He said his bureau sends their findings to the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington, D. C., where a cause is determined.

The official said that often the cause-finding process takes about a year before the findings are published. He said also no cause has yet been determined in the Fairfield crash which killed five people.

Wayne Chitwood, Medford, Ore., a passenger in a light plane which crashed Saturday was listed in critical condition this morning with head and spinal injuries at St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise.

His wife Julie Chitwood was listed in serious condition with spinal injuries.

FAMILY REUNION — SPRINGDALE — Over 100 descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Rasmussen, 1905 settlers at Springdale, held their annual dancing party and reunion Saturday evening at the IOOF Hall.

Members of the original family present were honored with an original poem by Mrs. Kenneth Rasmussen Osterhout.

Wet weather hits valley

TWIN FALLS — Soggy weather and unusually warm temperatures were reported throughout Magic Valley today in the wake of a Saturday snowstorm.

Lloyd Graybill, Meteorologist of the U. S. Weather bureau in Kimberly, said rain was falling throughout southern Idaho but the heaviest amounts were in Magic Valley.

He said rain was falling below the 8,000-foot elevation and temperatures were 32 and 37 for high and low compared with normal of 46 and 25 for this time of year. Prior to today the low for the previous 24 hour period was 31 degrees.

On Saturday, snow measured 2.5 inches in Twin Falls and total precipitation for the weekend is .47 of an inch, Graybill said.

Rain is falling in Fairfield, Halley, Twin Falls, Jerome and Burley areas, he said, and in such places as Fairfield and Halley is combining with snow to create exceptionally soggy conditions.

At Galena Summit, nine inches of new snow was reported Sunday and in Stanley, six inches.

Idaho Department of Highways officials in Shoshone say the weather conditions are the worst possible for highway, street and road break up. A warning was issued by the department's district office today to motorists to use caution in driving because of the broken condition.

City street crews in Twin Falls were attempting to patch some of the most serious break-up areas today but because of the continued wet weather could use only dirt and gravel for temporary help.

Graybill said some relief is in sight. The forecast is for cooling temperatures beginning Tuesday and continued cooler through the mid week.

New Burley bank building

First Security opens new building in Burley

BURLEY — The grand opening of the new First Security Bank was held Saturday afternoon at the corner of East Main Street and Albion Avenue.

Mayor Garis Robertson extended best wishes to First Security Bank for continued growth in the community and for adding new beauty to the city with its new facility.

Thomas G. Bourke, executive vice-president, Boise, spoke of the progress of First Security Bank in Burley since it first opened in 1965. He expressed thanks to the people of Burley for their business and extended best wishes to Dale Dammarrell, manager, and his staff.

Dammarrell expressed appreciation to everyone for coming to view the new facility. The new bank has many innovations to provide the most modern in customer service.

There are five teller stations, a private conference room, drive-in banking and night depository facilities. Ample parking space for customers and the remote teller station is covered with a canopy to provide customer comfort in all weather conditions.

Construction of the $148,000 building was started Aug. 1, 1971. Architect was Sundberg and Associates, Inc., of Idaho Falls, and L. J. Ellsworth Construction, Inc., Blackfoot, was contractor.

The 6,000 square foot bank building is of masonry and concrete construction ranging in color from light tan to deep brown.

The south and east entrances are deep bronze with solar bronze, plate glass window units.

The first floor area, done in white, yellow and orange, is fully carpeted. A partial basement below the main floor houses the air conditioning unit, other mechanical systems and filing facilities. Other features of the building include a hollow core pre-stressed concrete floor, system over the basement which completely fireproofs the area.

DPA aide to speak at TF meet

TWIN FALLS — Jerri Soule, Boise, volunteer director for the Department of Public Assistance, will address a meeting of Twin Falls County volunteer workers for the DPA Tuesday.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the city hall auditorium. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, according to David Humphreys, regional director of services for the DPA.

Coyote bounty opposed at Jerome range meeting

JEROME — Dr. Frederick H. Wagner said he is opposed to the coyote bounty presently before the Idaho Legislature.

Wagner addressed his remarks to members of the southern Idaho section, Society of Range Management, at its annual meeting Saturday.

Dr. Wagner is associate dean of the college of natural resources at Utah State University and a member of the seven-man Cain Committee which recently advised the Department of the Interior and President Nixon on predatory animal control.

He also is co-director of the desert biome and a member of the United States International Biological program. He has conducted extensive research on the coyote in Utah's Curlew Valley.

He told the group it has been proven in numerous studies over the years that a bounty on predatory animals has not significantly changed the predator population. He said his studies in Utah have found very little decrease in the coyote population in the years since Utah had a coyote bounty as compared to the population in prior years.

Dr. Wagner said he was somewhat opposed to President Nixon's recent ruling banning the poisoning of coyotes. He said he felt this was an effective means of control of the coyote.

He said the biggest question facing researchers now is how much damage is actually caused by coyotes. "I am not questioning for a moment that some ranchers do have large losses from coyotes, but we do not hear about the numerous sheepmen who have never sustained a loss," Dr. Wagner said.

Dr. Wagner indicated studies are now underway to determine how much yearly loss is sustained and whether an effective predator control program or some means of compensating stockmen for losses can be worked out.

He said for years the livestock industry in the west has dictated means of predator control, but now the public is more aware of all wildlife and is fighting desperately to maintain it. Some equitable means of satisfying both the public and livestock interests will have to be found, he said.

Laird Noh, Twin Falls, spokesman for the society, said he feels the ban on coyote poisoning will have a drastic effect in this area on the number of sheep and lambs killed by coyotes. He predicted a considerable increase in the coyote population.

He said poisons used were a safe and useful tool, but one which the public would not accept. He said a great many people feel poisoning of coyotes is inhumane.

COYOTE PROBLEMS on southern Idaho ranges were discussed Saturday night in Jerome by Dr. Frederick H. Wagner, Logan, Utah, left. Here he chats with Laird Noh, Twin Falls, sheepman and member of the southern Idaho division of the Society of Range Management.

ADA rejects move against Humphrey

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Board of Americans for Democratic Action narrowly rejected a move Saturday to list Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, one of the ADA's founders, as an "unacceptable" presidential candidate.

Voting in a closed meeting, the board labeled four other contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination as "unacceptable" and deferred until the ADA national convention in April the endorsement of any candidate.

Candidates the board decided to oppose included Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Mayor Sam Vorty of Los Angeles.

Humphrey's name originally was included in this list, which was proposed by David Cohen, former chairman of the ADA Executive Committee, and five other cosponsors.

Officials attending the board meeting reported Humphrey's name was deleted from the list by a vote of 34-1 after more than an hour's debate. Earlier, they said, a motion to delete all the names failed by a vote of 37-28.

Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic nominee for president, was a founder of ADA and served as its national chairman in 1948. He resigned from the liberal organization several years ago after slowly drifting away from many of its policy positions.

The paragraph in Cohen's motion referring to Humphrey said the ADA was "saddened by Hubert Humphrey's decision to surround himself almost exclusively with stand-luffers in the Democratic party—those who oppose the reform efforts to open the party to broader participation and influence."

Cohen's motion also criticized Humphrey because "in his campaign in recent months he has not taken a position of leadership on the important issues facing this country."

ADA officials said the successful effort to eliminate this paragraph was spearheaded by backers of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and by supporters of Humphrey himself.

Business sold to pay lawyer

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI)—The day after Paul E. Gilly, 36, a Cleveland house painter with two homes, two cars and no known police record, was arrested for the Yablonski murders, his family hired Gerald S. Gold to defend him.

Since then, Gilly has sold his cars, his houses, his house-painting business and his gun collection to pay Gold's $24,000 fee.

Whether or not Gilly's sacrifice pays off will begin to unfold Monday when attorneys present their opening arguments at his trial in Washington County Court.

Gilly, arrested Jan. 20, 1970, was in a special section of the Cuyahoga County Jail in Cleveland Saturday with other accused murderers. In his floor at the jail were four other clients of Gold, Cleveland's most noted and active criminal attorney.

One of Gold's four clients walked out of jail scot free, another had the charges against him reduced to manslaughter and is now free, a third has only a short time to go on his sentence for second degree murder, and the fourth received life in prison. Not one was sentenced to death.

Gilly appealed a ruling forbidding Gold to defend both him and his wife, Annette, 31, another of the five persons accused of murdering United Mine Worker (UMW) official Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter Dec. 21, 1969 in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

Gilly's appeal was filed with the Pennsylvania Supreme Court which overruled the lower court and permitted Gold to represent both Gillys.

Gilly is accused of killing a man considered a martyr here. Yablonski, for all his adult life a loyal lieutenant of the United Mine Worker (UMW) leaders broke with them early in 1969 and waged a bitter campaign for the UMW presidency. He was defeated by incumbent W.A. "Tony" Boyle.

Three weeks later, Yablonski, his wife and daughter, were slain in their beds in their rural farm home near here.

FBI agents less than a month later arrested three Clevelanders in the murders—Gilly, Claude E. Vealey, and Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin. Gilly's wife and his father-in-law, Sillois Huddleston, 62, president of a small UMW pensioners' local in LaFollette, Tenn., were arrested later that winter. All five were charged with first degree murder.

In late June of last year, Vealey pleaded guilty to murder and signed a confession. Vealey said in his confession that Gilly hired him and Martin for $1,700 apiece, to help in the killing; and that Gilly got the money from a man named Tohy in Tennessee.

Good hosts

PEKING (UPI)—Americans have discovered that their polite Chinese hosts conscientiously return even discarded items. Take the case of Don Bacon and his longjohns.

Bacon, covering President Nixon's trip for the Newhouse newspapers, bought the long underwear in Washington to keep him warm while visiting China's Great Wall. They helped in the bitter cold.

But Bacon then thought he could better use the suitcase space for souvenirs. He tossed the longjohns in his hotel room wastebasket. The next day they returned, cleaned and pressed.

Bacon timed his next try carefully. Just before departure for Hangchow, the longjohns went into the wastebasket and Bacon boarded the press airport bus.

From the hotel dashed an attendant. Bacon's long underwear streamed from his hand.

"No, no!" Bacon shouted. "Please! Throw away, don't want, no good, take back!"

He was finally understood. Bacon and the bus left without the longjohns.

Report sought

DELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Sen. Henry Jackson urged Congress Saturday to direct the President to prepare an annual report on the status of science and technology in the United States, to help the nation determine priorities in research and development programs.

"This study should assess the goals of the National scientific effort and the resources needed to accomplish them," said Jackson. "It should guide the use of federal funds, as well as the decisions of university and corporate decision-makers. It would help in evaluating the effect of new technological developments."

Jackson, a Democratic candidate in the March 14 Florida presidential primary, made his recommendation for presidential reports on science and technology in a speech at the Stetson University homecoming. Jackson led a busy weekend.

of politicking by democratic presidential contenders on the Florida primary ballot. Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York campaigned in Gainesville and Gov. George Wallace attended the Oklawaha festival.

Muskie answers N.H. publisher

By United Press International
Responding to a series of biting front-page editorials, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie Saturday called William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader, a liar and "a gutless coward."

"He has lied about me and my wife," Muskie said in a news conference standing on a flatbed truck in a snowstorm in front of the newspaper's office. "He has proved himself to be a gutless coward."

Loeb, a conservative, has differed sharply with Muskie, a former governor of neighboring Maine and the acknowledged front-runner in the March 7 New Hampshire Democratic presidential primary.

On Thursday, Loeb published a letter from someone in Florida who said he heard a Muskie aide use the word "Canucks" in reference to Americans of French descent. The letter said Muskie laughed.

The remark allegedly was made while Muskie was touring a drug rehabilitation center called Seed House with its director, Art Barker, in Fort Lauderdale. Muskie brought Barker with him to the news conference.

"I was with him (Muskie) every moment of the time," Barker said. "This remark was never made. What Mr. Loeb printed in his newspaper is a lie. It never happened."

Muskie also held up an editorial in the Union Leader that called his wife, "Sweet Daddy's Jane."

"Only wish I could have Mr. Loeb up here on this platform with me right now," Muskie said.

There was some confusion over who actually was supposed to have made the remark about "Canucks."

In response to Muskie's charge, Loeb said: "I notice that Senator Muskie did not deny the authenticity of the letter. That's because he made the remark and he knows he said it. He's trying to cover up a bad political blunder."

"His performance today makes you wonder what it would be like to have him as President with his finger on the atomic button," Loeb said.

Immunity gone

NEW YORK (UPI)—While it is true that men are more prone to heart attacks than women, this statistical edge for women begins to fade as they grow older.

Says the Institute of Life Insurance: "After menopause, women begin to gain on men in probability of a heart attack. By age 70 the two sexes are almost equally susceptible."

Valley teams vie for state tourney berths

The Gooding Senators have their trip to state in hand—but not yet the positioning—and, 12 other teams still can dream, at least a little, that they will join the Senators sometime this week. The second and final phase of Magic Valley's last big basketball season concludes with action starting Tuesday night. All of the five tournaments could be settled by Friday night but Saturday is always available for the "extra session" and this area has averaged two overtime tournaments for the past five years.

The sixth district A-4 tournament, down to three teams, draws the total spotlight as it resumes Tuesday night with Murtaugh playing Hagerman in the Burley high school gymnasium. Oakley is the undefeated team and will play the winner of the Tuesday night game. If Oakley wins Wednesday, that's it. However, Oakley, despite being undefeated, still isn't the favorite, Hagerman is. The tournament followed the season format with the last three teams alive the top three teams in the Magic Valley Conference standings.

Wednesday night, the fifth district A-4 meet resumes, although shifted to the Gooding State gymnasium. That fact alone should make some difference as the Redskins will have the home court advantage and could make things miserable for the others.

The pairings will send Gooding State against Richfield in the biggest battle to date at 7 p.m. with undefeated Camas County playing Dietrich in the feature. This is the only tournament that keeps the undefeated team playing after championship semi-finals. And traditionally—almost to a point of certainty—the combination of the undefeated team playing two nights in a row has sent the meet into the extra session.

On Thursday the two winners play and if the undefeated team comes through on both nights it will be over.

The larger three-classification all retake the floor on Thursday. Burley and Twin Falls, both four-point victims at Minico's hands last weekend, will meet at 8 p.m. on the Bruins home court. Should Burley win, the Bobcats will be at Minico Friday night where Minico could end it. Should Twin Falls win, Minico will come to the Bruin den Friday night. The site ramifications for the extra session are these: If Twin Falls would beat Burley and Minico at home Thursday and Friday, the finale would be played at Burley Saturday. If Burley wins Thursday and Friday, the Bobcats would play Minico at Twin Falls Saturday under the neutral site provision.

The A-3 at Shoshone comes back with the loser bracket semi-final sending arch rivals Valley and Kimberly together at 8:30 p.m. The winner goes on to play undefeated Glenns Ferry Friday and would have to beat the Pilots twice to get the lone state tourney berth.

The A-2 tournament, which just about assured itself of a crowd record through use of the CSI gymnasium, also resumes with a loser-bracket semi-final. Buhl and Jerome meet for the fourth time with Buhl currently holding a 2-1 edge. But this will be by far their most important meeting since the winner Thursday night will clinch the second berth available in the state A-2 tournament, also slated for the CSI gymnasium.

The winner will go against Gooding Friday night and this tournament looms as the one least expected to get an extra session. Gooding now has won 29 straight basketball games and is within two of tying the mark established by Wendell 12 years ago.

Knicks nip Bullets

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Bill Bradley's free throw with one second remaining clinched an Atlantic Division Playoff berth for the New York Knicks as they defeated the Baltimore Bullets in overtime, 97-95, Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised NBA game.

The Bullets' last ditch attempt went astray when John Treadwell's inbound pass forced an off-balance shot by Wes Unseld that missed.

Earl Monroe's jump shot with 38 seconds left in the extra session gave New York a 96-92 lead which held up despite a Phil Chenier free throw and an Archie Clark layup with 10 seconds left.

New York held on to the ball for nine seconds until Jack Marin fouled Bradley.

Louisville defeats St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Fifth-ranked Louisville got 25 points from senior guard Jim Price and beat back repeated second-half challenges by St. Louis University to gain an 84-75 Missouri Valley Conference basketball victory before a packed house Sunday.

Price picked up his fourth foul early in the second half and while he was benched the Bulls ripped off 15 straight points to narrow the gap from a 20-point deficit at halftime to 59-55 with 13:08 remaining. The Cardinals, now 10-1 in the conference, brought Price back into the lineup, but the Bulldogs' momentum behind the shooting of Harry Roberts and Carlos Martinez pulled the club to within one at 60-59.

Louisville never lost the lead, however, and pulled it out on the free throw line in the last 10 minutes as St. Louis was forced to foul.

Duquesne topples Providence

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Duquesne led throughout except for one tie Sunday to defeat Providence, 72-67, in a battle between two teams considered for at-large berths in the NCAA tournament.

Jumping off to a 9-1 lead, Duquesne (19-4) kept building up its margin and was ahead, 45-33, with 17:33 remaining in the game. Then Providence (17-5) reeled off eight straight points, six by Donnie Lewis, to shave the Duquesne lead to 45-41. The Friars kept storming until Lewis' shot with 7:49 left tied the count at 53-53.

The Dukes regained the lead at 56-53 when Mike Barr was fouled for a three-point play. The home team then remained ahead.

Hawks top Portland

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta Hawks took a light-marked 113-110 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers here Sunday afternoon.

Two separate fights took place within six minutes of a hectic final quarter. In the first, Hawks reserve center Bob Christian sent Portland center Dale Schlueter to the dressing room with a split lip.

Later, as Portland tried to steal an inbound pass, Portland's Larry Steele and Pete Maravich wrestled to the floor in a melee that stopped the game for five minutes.

Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 30 points. Maravich had 26, including four straight free throws in the final 30 seconds to ice the game.

Sidney Wicks led the losers with 32.

Montana coach has resigned

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI)—Montana State University basketball coach Gary Hulst has submitted his resignation.

Hulst just completed his third season as head coach with the Bobcats, who have had a record of 27 victories and 51 losses since he took charge of the team.

Rockets use bench for win

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI)—Denver's Rockets used their depth on the bench Sunday to pull out of a final period tie and drop the Carolina Cougars 113-105 in American Basketball Association action.

Tom Weiskopf outlasts Nicklaus for $52,000

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Rangy Tom Weiskopf, who led a 20-foot eagle putt and a 15-footer for a birdie on the last hole Sunday to win the $52,000 first prize in the Jackie Gleason Invitational golf classic—the richest tournament of the year.

Weiskopf downed fellow Ohio State alumnus Nicklaus by a stroke, although Nicklaus had held a two-stroke lead after his 18th hole in the final round of the $250,000 tournament. Weiskopf fired a 67 Sunday for a 278 total. Nicklaus matched the winner's 67—five under par—but wound up at 279.

Weiskopf went into the par five, 532-yard 15th two strokes down to Nicklaus but missed his 30-footer for an eagle three. At the same time, Nicklaus was missing a three-foot putt on the par three 18th, three putts and bogeying the hole, giving Weiskopf a one-stroke lead.

But the 29-year-old, eight-year veteran wasn't satisfied, and he earned his 15-footer on the 17th for his birdie three to ice the win.

Weiskopf, who said that throughout the tournament, "all I can think about is that $52,000," was extremely careful on the 17th, raking away a bad spot in the sand trap between the green and his third shot. But the care was unnecessary, because he laid the ball over the trap and on the green.

Weiskopf had trouble on the 18th, driving into the woods and then hitting into a sand trap. But he wedged out and two-putted to save the clean victory.

Mac McClendon, seeking his first win since 1968, and his second win on the tour, finished at 280, a stroke behind Nicklaus after a round of 70 on the deceptively tough par 72, 7,128-yard Robert Trent Jones-designed Invitational course.

Locked in a four-way tie for fourth—two strokes behind McClendon at 282 were Tony Jacklin, Bob E. Smith, Buddy Allin and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

Nicklaus said he and Weiskopf had been friends for several years and called it "a great win" for the four-time tour winner.

Nicklaus explained his miss on the three-foot putt on the 18th that eventually gave Weiskopf the win: "I was afraid the ball was breaking off to the right and I just hit too hard."

Weiskopf said on the 18th, his key birdie, he was just trying to two-putt for par. "But when I looked up, the ball was heading for the hole."

The $52,000 will be good for my family, and I'm just glad I won," he said.

Nicklaus picked up a check for $29,940 for second place and McClendon gained $18,480, for third.

Arnold Palmer improved little over his disastrous round of 80 on Saturday—his worst in three years—by shooting a seven-over par 78. He finished at 301—13 strokes over par.

Lee Trevino also continued off his game with a 73, finishing at two-over par 200.

Gary Player, who was tied for the lead going into the day, blew to a 74 Sunday for a 284 total.

Nicklaus misses

WINNING HARD is Jack Nicklaus, after missing a birdie putt on the 18th green of the $250,000 Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. The putt would have given him a chance for a sudden death playoff with Tom Weiskopf for first place money of $52,000. (UPI Telephoto).

Stan Smith defeats Gisbert for win in tennis classic

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., strong, young and quick, won down giant-killer Juan Gisbert of Spain, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-1 Sunday to win the $30,000 Clean Air Tennis Classic.

Gisbert, a 29-year-old Barcelona lawyer, came into the competition at the 7th Regiment Armory both unseeded and unheralded, but he put together a string of four upsets, including among his victims fourth seeded Clark Graebner of New York, fifth-seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain and second-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania to gain the final.

Another incredible reversal seemed in the making when Gisbert broke the powerful service of Smith three consecutive times in the opening set to give the Spaniard a quick lead.

But the 6-4 Smith, the reigning U.S. Open champion and the top-ranking player in the country, retained his poise and won the next three sets to complete the 2 1-2 hour marathon with first prize money of $4,500. Gisbert's purse was $2,300.

The long match was virtually error-free with good shots determining points rather than errors. Gisbert was excellent with his ground strokes and placements, but Smith had the longer legs and arms to make brilliant recoveries. There were only three double faults in the match, two against Gisbert, but the Spaniard was visibly upset by four foot faults called against him.

The third set, requiring 45 minutes to play, was the decisive one, although the key break by Smith was almost anti-climactic as it closely followed the most exciting game of the contest. Smith led 4-3 with Gisbert serving in the eighth game and on five occasions he reached game point only to have Gisbert finally hold his service on his fourth game point.

However, it was of little avail to Gisbert as the blond, mustachioed American easily made the winning break on his next chance in the 10th game.

The disheartened Gisbert put up only a feeble effort in the fourth set, twice losing his service.

Smith, the strong favorite despite his opponents' run of upsets, started off as expected when he broke Gisbert in the second game of the match to take a 2-0 lead. Gisbert retaliated with a break of his own in the next game, only to have Smith return the compliment for a 3-1 lead.

The dark-haired Spaniard then swept the next four games and although interrupted when Smith held his service at love in the ninth game, won the set on his service in the 10th game.

Following the rash of five breaks in the first set, the second set went with service until the 12th game when Smith evened the match by breaking Gisbert with a placement along the sideline.

Gisbert battled brilliantly in the third set, as he had done during the week-long tournament, but was unable to keep pace with the consistent and capable Smith.

Eight players are unsigned.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Eight St. Louis players still were unsigned, including three batters who had been scheduled to work out Sunday, as the Cardinals pitchers and catchers belatedly began spring training at Busch Field.

Missing the first workout because they have not come to terms were catcher Ted Simmons, who hit .304 in his first full season; Jerry Reuss, a 14-14 pitcher in his first complete year in the majors and Don Shaw, another left-hander who was 7-2 in relief and credited with two saves.

Simmons is due Tuesday for contract talks. Veteran pitchers Bob Gibson and Mo'N Drabowsky, reporting late with permission, also will be delayed until Tuesday.

Santiago Guzman, a righthander from the Dominican Republic, was unaccountably absent.

Not signed are the National League's batting champion, Joe Torre; two other infield regulars, first baseman Matty Alou, second baseman Ted Sizemore and utility veteran Bob Gurda.

Chris Evert upset

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Veteran Nancy Richey Gunter Sunday upset second-seeded Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., to win the Washington, D.C., Virginia Slims tennis tournament, 7-6, 6-2.

Mrs. Gunter, 29, who came into the top 10 U.S. rankings in 1960, had to fight hard to take the first set, winning the nine-point tie-breaker 5-1, giving up only the first point to the teenage Miss Evert. From that point, the match was Mrs. Gunter's.

Miss Evert gained a place in the hearts of the tennis world when she defeated Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., Feb. 6 in Ft. Lauderdale. Miss Evert first gained national prominence last year when she reached the finals of the U.S. Open at Forest Hills.

Vice President Agnew appeared at the matches with his wife, Judy, and granddaughter, Michelle, and presented the first-place check of $3,500 to Mrs. Gunter, praising the match as "absolutely splendid."

Miss Evert advanced to the finals by defeating Australia's Karen Krantzcke, 6-2, 6-4, Wendy Overton of Chevy Chase, Md., 6-2, 6-4; and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-3.

Petty breezes to victory in Richmond 500 stock car race

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Richard Petty whizzed his Plymouth past Bobby Allison's Chevrolet with 106 laps remaining Sunday and breezed to victory in the Richmond 500 stock car race.

Petty coasted to the win one lap ahead of Allison, a Hueytown, Ala., driver who had started on the pole and who had held the lead for most of the early part of the race.

Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., finished third in a Dodge, seven laps off the pace. Dave Marcis of Skyland, N.C., was fourth in a Dodge, 12 laps back, and Bill Dennis of Glen Allen, Va., finished fifth 15 laps behind the winner.

Petty averaged 76.825 mph for the first place win in the 500 lap, 271 mile race at the Fairgrounds Raceway. He picked up $4,875 for the victory.

He said "everything went perfect" for his STP Plymouth. "We had good pit stops, everything," he said. "We didn't have trouble and they third, straight win at the Richmond track. He won the Richmond 500 here last year and the Capital City 500 last fall.

The Randleman, N.C., racing star said his car was "running good in the slow places"—the corners. "I went through them fastest," said Petty.

Petty started third behind Allison and Isaac but it was a three-way race from the start until Isaac dropped back with car troubles.

There were 13 lead changes in the race, most of them between Petty, Allison and Isaac.

The victory was Petty's second of the season and his Sixth place in the race went to James Hylton of Inman, S.C., in a Dodge; seventh to Elmo Langley of Charlotte, N.C., in a Ford; Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N.C., was eighth in a Ford; Cecil Gordon of Horseanow, N.C. finished ninth in a Mercury and John Sears of Ellerbe, N.C., was 10th in a Plymouth.

"I didn't want the skin off my apple. Can you put it back on for me?"

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A new surge of energy that is now being generated from within is fine for making sure you have everything in good order. You can put in motion changes that can bring more efficiency into your daily existence. Think about a better diet to give continuing good vitality. Don't neglect your wardrobe.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Tensions may build up over changes that may be necessary to put your life on a better basis. But don't let these bother you. Study the situation well. Show that you have wisdom.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Ideal time to look into better forms of recreation for the future. You have a special talent but it needs to be perfected and the bugs removed before you make any headway.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to entertain new friends at home and get the benefit of their ideas. Find out what you should do to make family happier. Make sure you pay those important bills.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A discussion with others can bring the right results now, especially where business matters are concerned. A greater awareness of facts and figures is important at this time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to cut down on expenses so you can build a comfortable reserve that will come in handy for any possible emergencies. Before making a change in property think the matter over well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact persons with much experience for the data you need to handle own affairs better. Invitations extended to you should be accepted. Converse with an informative person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You want to make some changes, but first study the situation well. Be sure you know what you are doing. Try a new tact where mate is concerned and get better results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't be forceful with a good associate who has a personal problem and is not acting quite right. A group affair is all right to attend, but make no upsize comments. Be a good mixer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A civic affair you are handling could have you puzzled but a little study clears it up fine. A person who is critical of your work should be avoided now. Keep poised.

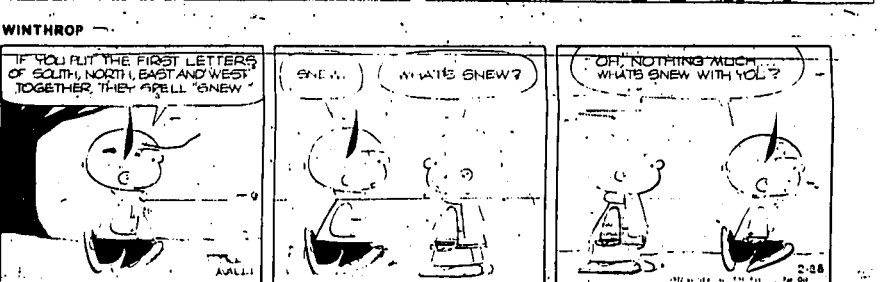

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get all the facts where an annoying condition is concerned. If you put yourself in the other person's shoes, you will know what to do. You need to use your willpower at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have many obligations to handle but are doing little about them, so get down to business. Closest tie may nag somewhat. Take this with a grain of salt. Use that smile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get the data you need before taking any action whatsoever today. One who opposes you is in an irritable mood, so steer clear of this person. Take care of your obligations. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: ...he or she will be one of those young people who can work well at own job and wants to succeed in a positive way, but is inclined to make changes when things get a bit hard. Teach to persevere early and then this becomes a most successful chart, since the nature is that of a perfectionist. Be sure to equip with the finest education possible. Sports are good.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

No. 10 on that list of most popular female given names in the United States is Frances. No. 9, Mildred. No. 8, Anna. No. 7, Elizabeth. No. 6, Betty. No. 5, Ruth. No. 4, Margaret. No. 3, Helen. No. 2, Dorothy. No. 1, John. No. 10, Richard. Louis remains unranked.

WAS MILDLY surprised to learn the women greatly outnumber the men in karate classes hereabouts now.

TOUGH GAME, The winning and dining business. It's said about 30,000 restaurants will go bankrupt this year.

THAT COUNTERFEIT note most easily passed is the $20 bill, say the Treasury boys. Query as much.

Q. "I'm only a 14-year-old girl, true, but that's not too young to be awake nights, dreaming that someday I might get a chance to talk to David Hartman, the TV actor who plays the doctor."

A. Dream no more, young lady. Mr. Hartman says he'll call you up to discuss sundry topics before you read this.

AS TO THAT actress girl who years ago got smacked in the face with a grapefruit by "Public Enemy" star James Cagney, it was not Mae Marsh, not Mae Murray, not Madge Evans, not Mae Busch, not Karen Morley, as kindly clients report. But it was Mae Clarke, I now learn.

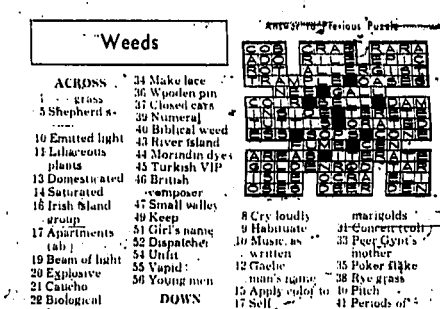

CHICKENS If you've ever divided up all the chickens raised nationwide last year, everybody in the country, everybody, everybody, would get a dozen. That's a whole lot of chickens, you know? Two and a half billion, a whole.

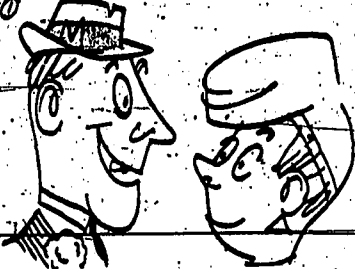

QUESTION arises as to which state turns out the best high school students. Highly debatable. Still, the National Merit Scholarship tests indicate Connecticut is No. 1. No. 2 is said to be New York. No. 3 the District of Columbia.

THAT BOULLON beverage known far and wee as "bullshot" is known to be a bartender's joy, not only because it readily treats the hangover, but its ingredients are such it makes the customer immediately thirsty again.

Accepts offer

SHOPPERS in Burlington, Vt., wouldn't believe their eyes as they glimpsed this charming miss trolling in four-below-zero-temperature along Burlington's Church street. Tami Robbins was simply accepting a Beverly Pearl store offer that any woman customer wearing a bathing suit onto Church St. could keep it free. The only requirement was to run to the nearest corner and back. (UPI)

Michigan starts co-op experiment

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Men and women students at the University of Michigan will share the same rooms in an off-campus experiment that started this weekend. The co-op house, called Xanadu, has 64 resident students, 28 of whom are joining in the experiment of males and females sharing the same room. It will continue for two weeks, when a decision on extending it will be made. David L. Mussey, a sophomore from Urbana, Ill., said the trial is not being made by "a bunch of hippie freaks trying to break down morality standards." "We're just normal people trying to learn how to live with members of the opposite sex," he said. Seventeen of the experimenters are men and 12 are women. Some of the rooms will be shared by two men and one woman. The participants drew roommates by drawing names out of a hat. Some, who didn't like their first choice, put the name back and drew until they came up with one they liked. All the students range in age from 18 to 22. Several U of M dormitories have been coed for several years, with men and women living on the same floors but in separate rooms. This is believed to be the first time any group has announced publicly it will establish coed rooms. Xanadu House is university-approved, but is not under the jurisdiction of university administrators. University approval relates only to the habitability of the quarters.

Scientists urge curb on progress and population to avoid catastrophe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A scientific panel reported Sunday that "mankind must curb population growth and traditional economic progress or face the possibility of catastrophe within a century."

Growth "cannot continue indefinitely on a finite planet," the report said. It said if mankind adapts policies to this fact, the result may be that "human society can survive indefinitely on Earth with an enriching existence for all." But with growth unchecked, the report said, the world within a century may suffer a catastrophic social and industrial collapse, and an abrupt and uncontrollable loss of life to starvation or war.

The alternatives are set out in a book, scheduled for publication March 6, titled "The Limits to Growth."

It said "most world policy-makers today seem to be actively pursuing goals that are inconsistent" with efforts to view the fate of the world in terms of what will happen 50 to 100 years in the future.

The book was sponsored by a private group of some 75 scientists, industrial leaders and government workers from 25 nations known as "The Club of Rome." The organization, which was formed in 1968 to think about the problems of man whose natural resources are shrinking while population and pollution increase.

In 1970 it commissioned a study on "The Predicament of Mankind" which was carried out at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by 11 scientists from six countries. They used MIT's latest developments in computer analysis to then they fed the machine ideas about what it would take to alter these conditions of production "a state of global equilibrium capable of continuing support of man's existence at anything approaching current standards of life."

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Devaluation of the dollar has wiped about $60,000 in purchasing power out of the current book buying budget for the Cornell University Libraries. This means about 6,000 of the nearly 60,000 foreign-published books and periodicals that were to have been added to Cornell's collection this year will not be purchased, says Hendrik Edelman, assistant director of libraries.
