Muskie running scared in first primary race

By United Press International
On the eve of the first presidential popularity referendum of 1972, no embarrassment like that visited on his predecessor in 1968 appeared today to be in store for President Nixon in New Hampshire.

However, the Democratic front-runner, Sen. Edmund S.
Muskie of Maine was running scared and making an intensive closing rush. Muskie appeared in no danger of a close call, but he wanted to make his predicted victory convincing.

The most recent public opinion poll by the Boston Globe put Nixon far ahead of GOP challengers John N.
Ashbrook and Paul N. McCloskey, two congressmen opposing him for opposite ideological reasons (Ashbrook is a conservative, McCloskey a liberal).

But a new Globe poll indicated Muskie's majority among those questioned had dropped below 50 per cent.

While Muskie has discounted percentages, his forces want to see him pile up a majority of votes to give him more impetus for other, bigger primaries ahead — especially in Florida next week.

In January, the Globe's first poll gave Muskie a percentage lead of 65 to 18 over his closest adversary in New Hampshire, Sen. George S. McGovern. The latest survey narrowed the gap to 42-26.

Nixon generally has registered between 65 and 70 per cent in canvasses of GOP voters.

Although New Hampshire has only a small fraction of the nation's voters, the results of its traditional first primary often have telling effects on campaigns. President Lyndon B. Johnson was given a majority in the 1968 Democratic primary but Sen. Eugene J.
McCarthy came so close it was generally regarded as one of the main reasons Johnson decided at the end of March that year not to seek re-election.

Another Globe poll in New Hampshire, released today, matched Nixon against Democratic candidates. With Nixon, Muskie and George C. Wallace mentioned, Nixon drew 49 per cent, Muskie 38 and Wallace 13 per cent, 9 per cent undecided.

Matched against McGovern and Wallace, Nixon got a favorable response from over 50 per cent.

Other political developments:
—A poll conducted by the Providence Journal gave Muskie almost 50 per cent when matched against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, an announced noncandidate, and others running in the Rhode Island May 23 primary.

—Sam Yorty, Los Angeles
mayor who is running in the New Hampshire Democratic primary, criticized administration approval of U. S. assistance for construction of a truck factory in the Soviet Union. He said in a statement at Nashua, "Trucks can help pull the Red Army into other nations and can be exported by the Russian communists in other areas of the world."

—New York Mayor John V.
Lindsey, campaigning in Florida, said the Senate should reject Richard G. Kleindienst's nomination as attorney general because a controversy over his role in settlement of an antitrust case has cast "a cloud over the Justice Department."

run in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and possibly other primaries as an active presidential candidate.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The President's Commission on School Finance recommended today that state governments assume most of the cost of education from local governments in an effort to eliminate the gap in school quality between rich and poor neighborhoods.

The commission's recommendations, if carried out, could lead to statewide collection of property taxes or abandonment of property taxes in favor of some other tax such as the value added tax. The 10-member commission, headed by a former defense secretary, Neil McElroy, also proposed substantial increases in federal spending for education, mostly through incentive payment to states which reform their own programs.

The commission said state governments should finance "substantially all" of the nonfederal outlays for public grade and high schools, with local districts permitted to add up to 10 per cent of the state allocation.

Most local school districts rely heavily on the property tax, with the result that schools in districts with high priced property receive more money for education than students in poor districts.

The commission did not specifically recommend abandonment of property taxes, saying that decision should be left to individual state legislatures. But most property taxes that were not eliminated would be collected on a statewide basis, with payments to the schools based on need rather than tax collections.

The commission made no mention of the value added tax, a form of national sales tax, which the administration is considering as an alternative to local property taxes. Under the plan being discussed at the White House, a value added tax would be collected nationwide with the proceeds contributed to the local schools.

Powerful chairman retires

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep.
William M. Colmer, D-Miss., who has used his chairmanship of the House Rules Committee as a power base for House conservatives, today announced his retirement.

His decision not to seek re-election is expected to end an era during which the powerful committee often opposed liberal Democratic administration policies, and sometimes fought the House leadership itself.

"There must be an end to all things, including my service in the Congress," said Colmer, 82, who will complete his 28th House term next January.
"Moreover, after nearly 40 years I desire to spend some time with my family."

Colmer's probable successor would be Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., a liberal who likely would restore the committee to its historic role as an arm of House majority leadership policy.

Under the chairmanship of former Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., who lost his House seat in 1966 and to a lesser extent under Colmer, the Rules Committee has been labeled a burial ground of liberal bills. A recent example concerned the new minimum wage bill that House Speaker Carl Albert late last week set about trying to pry out of the Rules committee.
The committee, called a virtual "governing committee of the House" because of its control of the flow of bills and the rules under which they come up for debate also can force action when it wants to.

Blast in ammo dump kills 3

SAIGON (UPI) —Three American soldiers were killed today when ammunition they were stacking exploded.

The three, who were not identified, were stacking old ammunition in an enclosed area at Long Binh, the U.S. headquarters in Vietnam, 18 miles from Saigon.

The blast was tremendous, much larger than the normal ammunition for rifles and machineguns would have caused, officers at the base said. They added that an investigation was ordered into the possibility of sabotage, a stray guerrilla mortar round or the chance that land mines or bombs had been improperly stored in the area.

The storage yard was 30 feet square and surrounded on three sides with dirt walls 10 feet high and three feet thick. The fourth side opened onto a vacant field.

Old ammunition is stored in the yard. Ammunition which can be salvaged is sent away to be packed into new cases, while the rest is taken to disposal areas and blown up.

Elsewhere, guerrilla rockets hit the big U.S. air base at Cam Ranh Bay an hour before dawn today, slightly injuring one man with shrapnel. It was the first time Cam Ranh Bay had been rocketed since Jan. 16. The U.S. command reported that NAVY planes flew two more "protective reaction" strikes against antiaircraft guns in North Vietnam on Sunday. Results of those strikes were not known.

In South Vietnam's Central Highlands, where North Vietnamese infiltration is reported at its highest in years, allied patrols found sections of a brand-new guerrilla road leading east from the Laotian border area of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Gas flow case due hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court agreed today to speed up consideration of whether the Federal Power commission (FPC) has authority to allocate natural gas supplies in favor of homeowners during periods of shortage.

The case normally would not be heard until next fall. But the commission asked for special consideration because of the need to settle the legal issues as soon as possible.

The FPC has taken the position that in times of acute shortage it can allocate gas running through interstate pipelines to all customers — both those who resell to others and those industrial customers who buy directly for their own use.
But the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals held on Jan.
14, that the commission could not disturb a contract once it was made between a pipeline and an industrial customer.

"Unless the controversy is expeditiously resolved, orderly and just implementation of curtailment programs in the months ahead will be exceedingly difficult," the FPC told the Court.

The appeal said 26 other cases on the subject are before the commission and several are pending in federal courts.

The test case stemmed from action by the United Gas Pipe Line Co. of Shreveport, La., which took its shortage problem to the commission.

ITT witness 'irrational'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The
personal physician of Mrs. Dita D. Beard, a key figure in the controversy about the administration's settlement of an antitrust case against International Telephone & Telegraph (ITT), testified today she has suffered from "distorted and irrational" behavior for four years.

Dr. Victor Liszka, who has been treating Mrs. Beard and ITT lobbyist — for a heart condition — told the Senate Judiciary committee she may have to be hospitalized in Denver for two more weeks.
Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the chairman, raised the possibility of a bedside visit by the committee to take her testimony while specialists monitor her heartbeat.

Quake jars area

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A mild earthquake today rattled dishes and windows from Preston, Idaho, to Logan, Utah, but no damages were reported.

The tremor, which started at 6:30 a.m., was measured at 4.0 on the Richter scale by the University of Utah's seismograph.

Former press aide decries stamp use

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Dwight D. Eisenhower's press secretary testified today there were too many "stamp happy" bureaucrats keeping government information from the public.

James C. Hagerty, now an American Broadcasting Vice President, said it was obvious that overclassification was as much a problem now as it was during the eight years he was Eisenhower's press secretary.

Hagerty testified before the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee, which opened hearings on the 1967 Freedom of Information Act.

US trims Viet force to 119,600

SAIGON (UPI) — American military strength in Vietnam dropped to 119,600 men last week, 4,500 under the previous week's total and the lowest number of U.S. soldiers in the country in more than six and one-half years.

This leaves 50,600 men yet to be sent home within the next eight weeks. A ceiling of 60,000 men has been pledged by President Nixon for May 1.

A Command spokesman said the present number of troops is the lowest since August, 1965, when there were 100,300 U.S. servicemen stationed in Vietnam.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon probably will ask Congress to impose a moratorium on court-ordered busing for the purpose of school desegregation rather than endorse a constitutional amendment on the subject, it was learned today.

Nixon met at the White House with a Cabinet-level committee he created to make a policy recommendation on busing.

Speaking for the 13 House members who are black, Rep.
Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., told a House Judiciary subcommittee that the busing issue is "sidetracking the reforms in American education — diluting the quality of our leadership."
In an earlier position paper, the caucus opposed amending the Constitution and said the real need was a comprehensive program to achieve quality education for all.

"Busing may or may not be the answer in many local situations," the paper said. "In others, if busing is prohibited the road to the local communities to comply with judicial decisions of equal educational opportunities will be too costly for local taxpayers to bear."

Nixon also called in black officials within the administration, as well as the Cabinet-level committee, to discuss busing. The committee may announce its recommendation this week.

But sources close to the committee said this much was clear: Nixon will not choose the constitutional amendment route. Not only have the committee members — former attorney general John N.

Mitchell, Elliot L. Richardson secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and Budget Director George P. Shultz — publicly opposed that route, but the amendment idea still lacks the two-thirds support it would need to clear the House and Senate.

The cabinet committee plans to recommend, and Nixon likely will request, that legislation be offered to attack the problem by eliminating educational inequities which have prompted courts to order black children and whites bused to other schools.

U.S. Supreme Court upholds prisoner's right to complain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to disturb a federal court ruling that state prison inmates may come to them with complaints about mistreatment.

The case specifically concerned Martin Sostre, 45, a black now confined in Wallkill Correctional Facility, a medium security institution outside Newburgh, N. Y., who complained of unfair treatment in New York prisons.

The high court in brief orders rejected appeals by both New York state and Sostre, who is serving 30 to 40 years as a second felony offender, but left intact a decision upholding a prisoner's right to complain of mistreatment.

An appeals court held that the time was far past when a prisoner could be treated "as temporarily a slave of the state."

In a separate order, the Supreme Court refused to hear a claim by Michigan prison inmates that they were entitled to regular minimum wages for taking part in a "human guinea pig" program for drug companies.

Thirty-five inmates of the Southern Michigan prison at Jackson, Mich., contended the issue was important because "the treatment of inmates of our penal institutions is a subject of national concern in the light of Attica."

They referred to the disturbances last September at Attica, N.Y., prison that ended in 43 deaths among prisoners and guards.

In the New York case, neither side was satisfied with a 1971 decision by the 2d U. S.

Circuit Court of Appeals, which favored Sostre in some respects and the state in others. The decision is now final.

After being convicted of possession of narcotics and assault on a policeman, Sostre spent his first night in Attica Prison. He was then taken to Green Haven Correctional Facility in Stormville, N.Y.

Britain, Malta move into showdown phase

LONDON (UPI) — Britain and Malta moved today into the crucial showdown phase of negotiations that will decide whether Britain keeps its strategic military bases on the Mediterranean fortress island.

Officials said there was no sign yet of a break in the eight-month-old deadlock on the subject of national concern in the light of Attica.

Ulster landowner shot on snowy road

BELFAST (UPI) — Little more than a month ago Marcus McCausland quit his captain's post in Northern Ireland's part-time defense regiment because he "didn't like the way it was being run," friends said today.

The bound, hooded body of McCausland, a Roman Catholic and one of Ulster's wealthiest landowners, was found shot to death Saturday on a snowy country road outside Londonderry.

He died, said the Irish Republican Army (IRA), because he was a spy for the British army—a Catholic who had betrayed his own kind in Northern Ireland's maze of intrigue and sectarian bloodshed.

The politically-oriented "official" IRA wing said Sunday that McCausland, 39, was kidnapped from his home at Dreenagh, 15 miles east of Londonderry, then interrogated for four hours before gunmen pumped two bullets into his head.

"It was established through interrogation that he was actually working for British intelligence," an IRA statement said.

But friends of McCausland, descendant of one of Northern Ireland's oldest plantation families with an ancestry dating to the 17th Century, said he resigned from the paramilitary

Ulster Defense Regiment (UDR) in January.

"He said he didn't like the way it was being run," said one friend, who declined to give his name. "He said he disagreed with too many things—a matter of conscience—to continue."

In another development, a statement in Dublin by the IRA's militant "Provisional" wing blamed Protestant extremists for Saturday's explosion in a packed Belfast restaurant which killed two women and maimed scores of others.

Police and troops stopped the estimated 1,000 marchers at a barricade and forced them back into Pomeroy.

Feds probe plane crash

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Hoping to learn why a Mohawk Airlines jet slammed into a house, killing 17 persons and injuring 36 others, federal investigators today were checking tape recordings of the final minutes of the ill-fated flight.

The cockpit voice recorder and the flight data recorder were recovered intact from the debris of the house and plane in a well-to-do section of this capital city. A spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board said the quality of the recordings was "good" and should provide "useful information" as to what went wrong.

The plane, Flight 405, carrying 48 persons, crashed into the Joseph Rosen house 3 1/2 miles from Albany County Airport Friday night. Just before the crash, pilot Robert McAdam had radioed that one engine was out. Apparently, he then shut off the other engine and the electrical power—a move credited with lessening the possibility of an explosion which could have claimed more lives.

Eight of the 16 passengers who died were middle-echelon executives of General Electric Co. One victim was the wife of another GE executive. In addition, one of the five people in the house was killed.

Customs detain Black Panthers

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—About 20 Black Panthers, apparently headed for China, were detained by customs officials in Vancouver, B.C. Sunday and forced to return to the United States.

They then boarded Northwest Orient Airlines flight 7 from Seattle to Tokyo where they will have a stopover.

The group of 21 persons listed its destination as Hong Kong. However, Black Panther party attorney Charles Garry said in San Francisco they were really bound for "mainland China."

Black Panther party cofounder Huey Newton visited China in October of last year for ten days but returned in time for the start of his third trial in the slaying of an Oakland police man.

Campus crash

TWO YOUNG MEN who apparently stole a single-engine plane in the dead of night were killed Sunday when the plane crashed in flames moments after takeoff, police said. Here, police and firemen wait for the smoldering wreckage to cool before extracting the bodies. The plane struck power lines and plunged onto the campus of the University of Maryland. (UPI)

TF orchestra to SLC concert

TWIN FALLS.—The Twin Falls High School orchestra will attend the Howard Hanson Festival in Salt Lake City this Saturday.

Director Del Slaughter said the "festival" brings together 450 singers and instrumentalists from central and northern Utah to perform under the baton of Dr. Howard Hanson in the LDS Tabernacle.

Dr. Hanson, deemed the "dean of American music and music education," will direct a program made up of his own compositions, including a suite from his opera "Merry Mount," his "Romantic Symphony, No. 2," and "Tantum Ergo."

Rahman's Soviet visit ends

DACCA, KUPI)—Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman returned home today from his five-day official visit to the Soviet Union to a typically exuberant welcome from thousands of shouting and waving Bengalis.

About 10,000 of the Sheikh's followers crowded the walls around Dacca's Tejgaon Airport and perched on buildings and balconies when the Russian Ilyushin 18 Yurbojet transport carrying Mujib and his 25-member party landed during the afternoon.

N.H. primary Tuesday

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew said George C. Wallace would win the Sunshine State's Democratic primary, but would remain a candidate with limited appeal.

And Nixon's Republican opponents, Reps. John M. Ashbrook and Paul N. McCloskey, contended the President has abandoned his party.

"I'm deeply disturbed by recent revelations about Mr. Kleindienst's role in the ITT settlement," Lindsay said. "I had strong reservations when he was first proposed for attorney general because of his record on civil rights, civil liberties and crime fighting."

Now I think there is just too big a cloud over the Kleindienst appointment."

Despite a heavy rain, Sen. Henry M. Jackson joined 2,000 persons at a Tampa, Fla. barbeque at which he attacked Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's stand on busing. "In Texas he says he's against busing and then he comes to Florida and tells you he's for it."

Humphrey picked up the endorsements of three major Florida daily newspapers. Today in Cocoa, the Daytona Beach News-Journal and the St. Petersburg Independent.

Askew, interviewed on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," said Wallace enjoyed "wide support" among some Floridians because of his stand against school busing, but he added: "I don't think there is much chance Wallace will get the nomination."

Mills went to New Hampshire, where he has spent $84,000 in radio-TV advertising on a write-in campaign, to declare for the first time that "I will certainly be and I am now a candidate for President of the United States."

Ashbrook and McCloskey agreed on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation," that Nixon has "almost totally abandoned the principles of the Republican Party."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, charged McCloskey with "a self-aggrandizing attitude that weakens our political process and really makes it pretty difficult to even refer to congressman McCloskey as a member of the Republican Party," Agnew said. Ashbrook is overly concerned about Nixon's visit to China.

On a statewide television debate, Sen. George McGovern accused Muskie of being a late-comer in his opposition to the Vietnam War. Muskie said the opportunity to change an opinion was a strong point in the American political system.

TF firms report window damage

TWIN FALLS.—Several Twin Falls business firms report window damage during the weekend and officers said the glass replacement will amount to several thousand dollars.

Sears Roebuck estimated loss at $1,000. Four large plate glass windows were damaged, officers said, and although all holes are small, the glass will have to be replaced.

The Travelodge reported about $120 damage Saturday night when two large windows were apparently shot and broken by pellets. Dutch's Furniture Store, 251 Main Ave. E., estimated loss at $250 and officers said it appeared pellets had also broken windows there.

King's Variety Store, 332 Main Ave. S., estimated loss at $600. Two windows facing on Main Avenue were broken. Police are continuing investigation of the damage and reported vandals apparently began the attack on windows Friday when Wilson Bates Appliance Store reported several windows broken. Several other instances were reported Friday, most involving smaller windows.

39-hour bargain session ends

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (UPI)—A 39-hour bargaining session between United Auto Workers and General Motors negotiators broke off today as the strike by 7,000 workers entered its third day at the nation's only Chevrolet Vega production plant.

The marathon negotiations failed to bring a halt to the walkout which began Saturday at the giant auto complex, and appeared to end bitterly with management accusing labor of "exerting its muscle," and the union predicting a "long strike."

Charges dropped against 2 accused of slaying

INDIANOLA, Miss. (UPI)—Murder charges have been dropped against two defendants who had been accused in the 1971 street slaying of black teenager Jo Etha Collier.

District Attorney George Everett said Sunday that the charges were dismissed against Wayne Parks, 25, of Drew, and his nephew, Allen Wilkerson, 19, of Memphis, Tenn., because of a lack of evidence.

They were charged along with Wayne's brother, Wesley Parks, 26, of Memphis, in connection with the graduation night shooting of the 18-year-old girl last May 25.

Wesley Parks was convicted of manslaughter in Sunflower County Circuit Court in November and sentenced to 20 years in the state penitentiary. He is free under bond pending an appeal to the state supreme court.

The girl was shot from a car on a Drew street only hours after graduation from an integrated high school. The shooting touched off a series of mostly peaceful protest marches in Drew and neighboring Ruleville.

Wayne Parks and Wilkerson, called to the witness stand in Wesley's pull the gun back through a window.

They said they didn't see Wesley actually fire the weapon and didn't know anyone had been hit.

Toll in W. Va. flood passes 100

MAN, W. Va. (UPI)—With five miles of the devastated Buffalo Creek Valley still to be searched, the toll in West Virginia's flood disaster has passed 100.

Ten bodies were found Sunday, bringing the number killed to 103.

The National Guard said 70 persons still were missing.

Col. William S. Maroney, commander of National Guard search teams, said 70 per cent of the narrow, 18-mile long valley had been searched.

Fourteen small mining communities in the valley were devastated Feb. 26 when a coal waste dam collapsed and unleashed a 30-foot wall of water.

Maroney said 350 persons still were cared for at two refugee centers, while awaiting the arrival of mobile homes shipped in by federal agencies. The mobile homes were provided rent-free for one year.

Maroney said the systematic search for bodies was slow because every effort was made to "assure that no bodies will be inadvertently cremated."

He said troops inspect every piece of wreckage lifted by cranes and then "sift it thoroughly" again when it is loaded on trucks.

The wreckage is inspected again a third time at a disposal site where it is burned. Maroney said.

"Absolutely no debris or wreckage is burned unless this process is followed," he said.

COMMENT

Pension Funds

Christian Science Monitor
It appears that some sort of federal pension reform legislation will come out of Congress this session. Partly because the social climate is receptive to such reform; partly because the political timing is favorable.

A study by the Senate labor-subcommittee makes its own social case for reform among the 34,000 private pension plans, most of which are financed wholly by employers, and whose total assets of $135 billion are growing by $10 billion each year.

Out of this huge sum, the study found that a distressingly small number of workers ever actually get benefits, because they leave their jobs or are discharged before retirement age. In a sampling of 36 plans covering 2.9 million workers, the subcommittee found that only 8 per cent of the workers in the last 20 years have actually drawn benefits.

The Nixon administration has put its own bill before Congress. It would allow tax deductions for personal savings for retirement by individuals, and would set minimum standards for "vesting" of benefits in such plans (vesting is the term used to describe continued rights after termination of employment). Not a strong bill to begin with, it has been referred to the House Ways and Means Committee and Senate Finance Committee, neither of which has any interest in it this year. Its usefulness is therefore practically nil.

Far stronger bipartisan legislation is being pushed in the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare with the aim of getting passage this year. Proposed in two key bills are vested pension rights for workers after 6 or 10 years' service; higher funding requirements to guarantee enough money to cover all eligible workers; a federal insurance program, should a company fail; a central fund to ensure "portability" when a worker changes jobs; and strict rules covering the handling of pension fund monies.

Given the subcommittee's findings, broader protection for long-term employees is desirable, especially for those laid off in the last decade or so of their working careers. The study's conclusions confirm this as a broad social need. And with health insurance practically shelved in this election year, the desire is strong to pass some popular social legislation. Pension reform is likely to move into this political vacuum. Now it is up to Congress to draft a bill that gives workers needed security, while keeping in mind the cost burden to business.

What the Democrat-controlled Congress must avoid is the partisan temptation to be too generous to workers and punitive to employers. Sharp politics might suggest a scenario in which President Nixon is forced to choose between a veto and a giveaway. That would be a cruel disservice to those millions of workers who want and deserve a square deal, but not a free ride.

The bipartisan approach adopted by the House subcommittee has set the right tone. Its statesmanship should be commended — and maintained.

Any Answers?

Idaho State Journal
We can sympathize with beet growers anxious to get their beets to the refinery for processing before they spoil, but some questions arise in the wake of the destruction of a half-mile or so of country roads in the area of the Tyhee beet dump.

Bannock County commissioners, reportedly overruling the chief of the county road department, gave permission for heavy trucks to exceed springtime weight limits in order to get the beets out.

Question: How much will it cost to rebuild the roads?

Question: Since it was expected the loaded trucks would damage the roads, why did they not haul half loads of beets or at least smaller loads?

Question: Why could not the beets be moved by rail, since a spur track extends to the dump site?

Question: Should the county build its roads better?

Question: How can the ordinary taxpayer get little favors like this?

Wide-Open

Portland Oregonian
The wide-open kind of presidential primary pioneered in Oregon has been so widely adopted by other states that "regular" Democrats, particularly, are wondering if a dragon has been loosed. But they wouldn't have to worry so much if there weren't so many Democratic aspirants for Richard M. Nixon's job.

The thing is that the multiplicity of candidates for president on primary ballots, nearly all of them from the center to the left, gives a solid boost to the candidacy of the one Democrat, George Wallace of Alabama, whom regular Democrats have no intention of nominating at Miami Beach.

Various polls show Gov. Wallace, who has toned down his segregationist pitch and is talking more about jobs, defense, law and order and busing of schoolchildren than he is about blacks and whites, is in the lead for the Florida Democratic Party primary—March 14.

Furthermore, he has entered the Maryland primary and a number of others in which there will be a big field of Democratic candidates and in which he showed strength as an independent candidate against Nixon and Humphrey in 1968. With 10 or more in such contests Gov. Wallace figures to take some other state delegations besides Florida's.

A big presidential vote on the first ballot of the Democratic National Convention for George Wallace, the arch southern conservative and much-denounced racist, would be enough to give northern and western liberals the shakes. It is beyond imagination that this convention would nominate Wallace. But so what? The bouncy battler from Alabama could still run in his own American Independent Party and get enough votes to throw the election into the House of Representatives for decision.

And Wallace, the party outcast, is going to make several regular Democrats with high national poll ratings look bad in the Florida and subsequent state primaries. If some of the self-starters with no more chance than Wallace for the nomination would drop out, Wallace wouldn't look so good and the party regulars could breathe easier.

ANDREW TULLY

Writer Stirred By Muskie's Actions

WASHINGTON — Even in an age when only the majority is refused a fair shake, it still beats me why a politician cannot court the more militant among the country's females without making a consummate ass of himself.

This time, my bile is stirred by the action of Maine's Sen. Ed Muskie in becoming the latest Presidential candidate to condemn the journalistic Gridiron Club for excluding women from membership. Muskie joined Sen. George McGovern and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, also Democrats, in explaining why he had refused an invitation to the club's annual dinner and hog killing April 8.

Poor old (tired?) Ed had refused the dinner invitation last month, citing a previous commitment. But apparently the moist-hand liberals on his staff took to weeping in their beer over injustice and other crimes of misfeasance and malfeasance and persuaded him to write the club a letter denouncing the club's anti-female policy. In a letter to the Gridiron's president, Edgar Allen Poe, the Senator said he wanted to "take this occasion to comment" on the policy.

"It is my belief," wrote Muskie, "that professional equality is a necessary characteristic of professional quality." Blessed if I know what that means, unless of Ed is suggesting that a surgeon suffering from the shakes must be conceded just as fast a bet to take out one's appendix as a knife man who hasn't touched a drop of booze for 10 years and gets eight hours of snitney every night.

Muskie also wrote Poe: "Superseding this issue is the question of simple justice and fairness. Arbitrary distinctions such as those based on sex are surely inconsistent with these values — values which your profession has sought to preserve."

This really is the silliest of seasons. The club's rule banning women members may be unjust and unfair and perhaps even silly, but it is nobody's business but the club's. The Gridiron is not a public institution; it is a private club, which means it can do what it ruddy well pleases.

The club neither accepts nor seeks government subsidy. Its members thus have as much right to privacy as that guaranteed to Shirley Chisholm in her home.

But, of course, the Gridiron is also prestigious, and invitations to its annual drinking contest are much sought after by Washington officialdom, wealthy undertakers and social climbers. The individual who can launch into a story at lunch with the words "At the Gridiron dinner, the other night," achieves instant status among those who care about such things.

Thus the Women Lib types naturally want in on the fun. Not because they desire, to score points in social snobbery, although being women their collateral motives could be suspect, but because they're not wanted. Show the "average" femlibber a club or saloon or cock fight which bans her sex and that is where she wants to be, forthwith. And the candidate, scared out of his wits lest he fail to touch all bases, huddles to endorse her "fight." The teapot tempest over the Gridiron dinner is of a piece with other bits of nonsense forced on the people by the expediency of politics. In John Lindsay's suffering New York, for example, John's Human Rights Commission has given hotels and residences which admit only men or women a year to eliminate their single-sex policy.

In all this almost obscene capering, nobody seems willing to wonder about the basic meaning of human rights. Are the civil rights of women violated because a private club closes its doors to her?

To these questions, of course, the answer can only be no.

Worse, those who attempt to force single-sex hotels or the Gridiron Club to change their "discriminatory" policies would leave with no rights whatsoever those who prefer to live in, or play in, all-male or all-female surroundings.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Hot Flashes

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you explain exactly what is taking place in a woman's body when she is having a hot flash? The warm feeling, the sweats, but no fever or chills.

No set time for it to happen, but you do notice it more at night.

Also what is your opinion of taking hormone pills by mouth as against taking injections? — Mrs. S.E.W.

a rectal thermometer. You are getting a reading inside the body, as it were.

But hold the thermometer in your hand, and the reading won't come anywhere near the other reading. Your flesh is cooler at the surface — and that's why a sudden rash of blood to the surface makes you feel warm although you don't have a fever.

At menopause, the changes in hormone level can upset your nervous system. Hence the hot flashes, which bother some women more than others. There's no way of predicting when these upsets occur.

Identically, a blush is another example of the same sort of thing. Taking hormones in menopause brings the hormone level up closer to the way it used to be, before the ovaries slowed down their production of hormones.

To take them by mouth or by injection? It's more convenient by mouth. Some physicians prefer to give them by injection and — I suppose the reasons vary — some patients seem to think they are getting more attention if they have injections.

Or, a physician may suspect a patient is taking either too much or too little by mouth, so injection gives surer control of dosage. With proper dosage, estrogen is effective by either route.

Cloaked In Secrecy

WASHINGTON — Although cloaked in understandable secrecy, President Nixon made indisputably clear to John B. Connally during their long Florida weekend together three weeks ago that he expects the Texas Democrat to play a very large role in a second Nixon administration — a role that could, indeed, lead to Connally's own administration.

Mr. Nixon treated Connally with the respect and deference due to the Cabinet member he regards as first among equals, now that Atty. Gen. John Mitchell has left to manage the President's reelection campaign.

This raises a political prospect hitherto discussed only in the most oblique terms: Mr. Nixon may want the former Governor of Texas not as his Vice Presidential running mate in 1972 but to run for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1976. That would require conservative Democrat Connally to become a Republican before 1974.

Any confidential plans these two close-mouthed old pros may have made for a second Nixon administration and beyond are a tightly held secret. But out of their three days, starting at Mr. Nixon's villa in Key Biscayne, Fla., and ending at Robert Abplanalp's luxurious retreat at Walker Cay in the Bahamas, emerged two hard decisions.

First, that Connally would stay at Treasury throughout 1972 and would campaign for Mr. Nixon, at least to the extent of praising this record on the economy; second that Connally would serve in some high capacity if Mr. Nixon is re-elected — possibly as Secretary of State or Defense, possibly in a new top-level White House position.

Implicit in their intimate conversations was mutual agreement that Connally, almost surely to be interviewed in the Vice Presidential nomination, Connally intimates are certain that while he will become a registered Republican eventually, it probably will not be before the 1972 election. Connally's protégé, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes of Texas, is running for governor this year and might be hurt if Connally switched.

Thus, barring a last-minute change, Connally would preserve his fast-fading

Democratic patina until after Mr. Nixon's second inauguration. But the President's own political advisers have no doubt that the change in Connally's part registration is inevitable, possibly before the 1974 Congressional elections.

Connally would then be in excellent posture to campaign nationally for Republican candidates for Congress and governor, thus earning credentials as a legitimate aspirant for the Presidential nomination in 1976.

Connally himself says nothing on whether and when he will become a Republican. But he makes no secret in the intimacy of the White House that he and the Democratic party have little in common and that it is not he who has left the party but vice versa.

Sudden Dive

WASHINGTON — Those recent bright hopes for Congressional enactment of long-sought changes in the military retirees' survivors benefits system and the reorganization of veterans' pensions are beginning to fade.

Unless several key legislators drastically modify their attitude, there is virtually no chance for reorganization and at best only 50-50 for survivors benefits.

These crucial lawmakers are Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who has been dragging his feet on the survivors benefits measure; and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who has come out against reorganization, including the so-called "one shot" plan proposed by President Nixon.

Two months ago, when Congress reconvened, the prospects looked very promising for passage of both plans.

The House, in October, by an overwhelming 372 to 0 vote, had passed a new survivors benefits program. And the President included in his new budget the necessary funds to finance reorganization of retired pay based on Jan. 1, 1971, active duty rates.

Both were big victories for veterans' leaders and organizations which had been battling for years for these gains. Their chances for realization never looked better.

appears to be getting nowhere is that for more than four months it has been gathering dust in the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Committee members queried by this column on this extraordinary delay produced a curious response.

Republican committeemen, righteously disclaiming responsibility, put the blame on the Democrats, who they pointed out control the committee and determine what is or isn't done. Democratic committeemen, carefully stressing they were talking confidentially, discreetly passed the buck to Chairman Stennis.

Pursuing that pointed hint, further inquiry brought to light the following:

Chairman Stennis turned the legislation over to the staff of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and it has been studying and analyzing it ever since — with typical bureaucratic plodding and deliberation. That tortuous and laborious process is still going on.

A staffman, asked why such time-consuming pondering was necessary in view of the fact that a special 11-member House Armed Services Subcommittee had spent a year studying and formulating the legislation, replied:

"This is a very complex bill. There are a number of aspects we feel need going into. We have asked the Defense Department for various supporting data and statistics. They have supplied some of it, and we're still waiting for the rest. It should be along shortly, but just when we don't know."

'Cushion' asked for schools

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Major tax increases should be held in abeyance to give the legislature a "cushion" for greater state funding of the public schools when the courts order it, a key legislator said Sunday.

Chairman Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, told newsmen he is convinced the courts will order greater state aid — possibly 100 per cent funding. "I feel we've got to hold tax increases to a minimum at this session to provide a cushion for school funding," Larsen said.

Larsen said when the state is ordered to take over the principal job of school financing some major increases and tax shifts will be required.

For that reason, he said, he opposes increasing the sales tax or enacting any massive tax increases to balance the general fund budget at this session of the legislature. He said that money will be needed later for the schools.

He indicated he could go along with proposals of Senate Republicans Saturday to balance the projected $137 million general fund budget with income tax rate adjustments and tobacco taxes.

Tonight, a public hearing is scheduled on three proposals to pay 100 per cent of instructional costs from the state level.

Two of the proposals, drafted by a subcommittee, call for 18 mills local property tax relief. One of these would pick up the slack with a one per cent sales tax increase and the other with a variety of tax increases.

A third bill — introduced by Rep. William Onweiler, R-Boise — calls for property tax relief and covering the loss with a variety of tax increases, including elimination of the federal tax credit on state income taxes.

While this bill was included in the hearing plans it never has been printed and Onweiler, after failing twice to force it to the floor for printing, started a slowdown. Republicans caused on the problem — caused when Onweiler required bills be read in full when up for final consideration — but failed to resolve it.

There were unconfirmed reports Onweiler's bill may be dragged from the printing committee Monday and then tabled on the floor. This in effect, would kill the measure because it takes two-thirds to lift it off the table.

Both houses had controversial legislation up for final consideration today, while the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee tries to come up with a final budget recommendation.

In the house, the third reading calendar includes a bill to reorganize the health department into a department of environment and health with a seven-man board and a health administrator named by the governor.

Also up for debate in the house is a bill directing the State Board of Education to establish a state commission on school district reorganization. It would require the commission and then the board to come up with a plan but also would require legislative review.

At 11 a.m. today, the senate was scheduled to debate legislation authorizing purchase of Idaho potatoes in surplus, low-price years. Funds for the purchases would come from assessments on potato acreage.

Committee moves ahead on budget

BY LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — The Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, completing its budget recommendations for fiscal year 1972, planned to move into the areas of health, education and welfare today.

As tentatively set, public schools would receive $47.8 million from the state, higher education $29.5 million, the Department of Health $5.7 million and the expanded Department of Public Assistance $16.5 million.

But legislators are questioning whether the $3.8 million increase to public education is sufficient, whether the tentative budget for the health department will force closure of State Hospital North, and whether the expanded Department of Public Assistance will be adequately funded in the first year it assumes new responsibility for shelter home licensing, the child development centers and mental retardation.

The committee must also look at the permanent building fund and decide how much, if any, construction it wants the legislature to authorize. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has asked for a halt in the state's building program to revive the dedicated fund.

But some of the problems faced by the committee this year may be solved in future years under proposed legislation under study by the committee, the legislative council office and the executive budget office.

One aspect of the proposal is a requirement that future budget books include a governor's recommendations based on current revenue sources, recommendations on a "continuation" level and finally the executive recommendations for a new program based possibly on new sources.

This year's executive budget book contained only continuation levels and the program of the governor. The continuation budget was $7 million higher than what the governor estimated revenue from current sources to be and the executive budget $19 million higher.

As a result, members of the joint committee stuck fairly close to the continuation level since it appeared the legislature did not want to accept the large tax increases.

Since then, some legislators — particularly Republican senators — have estimated revenue from current sources at $134 million and appear to be looking at about $137 million for fiscal year 1972.

Senate Republicans in caucus Saturday tentatively outline balancing a budget with the $134 million from current sources, $1 million picked up with income tax rate adjustments, $1.5 million from another two cent per pack cigarette tax increase, and $500,000 from a tax on pipe tobacco.

Middle-1977 date seen for project

BOISE (UPI) — A state water leader said Saturday mid-1977 may be the earliest the Swan Falls-Guffey project — if approved — could be put into operation.

Edward E. Parsons, Payette, president of the Southwestern Idaho Development Association, said that was the consensus of his group, composed of water leaders between the Weiser-Council and Mountain Home-Glenns Ferry areas.

He said the project could only be undertaken with the legislature's approval. "Opponents of this proposal — which is probably the greatest forward step ever taken in Idaho reclamation history — have lost sight of the fact that many years will pass and conditions will be drastically changed before even a single dime is available to implement land development."

The proposed joint venture calls for the Idaho Water Resource Board to build two dams and Idaho Power Power Co. to build related generating plants in the Swan Falls-Guffey reach of the Snake River.

Idaho Power would pay the board an estimated $3 million a year, with about half of that used to retire state-issue revenue bonds and the balance going for new land reclamation, Parsons said.

When money did become available under the cooperative arrangement, he emphasized, it could be used "only when and as the legislature approved the board's request to begin reclaiming arid yet fertile land."

He noted until then the money Idaho Power paid to the board would be kept in trust for new land reclamation as prescribed by the act creating the board.

What course Pioneer?

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — With Pioneer 10 well on its way to Jupiter, scientists pondered today what precise course it should take past the giant planet before sailing out of the solar system.

A course correction maneuver will have to be made Tuesday, according to a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Scientists were weighing several choices. One course would give the spacecraft an opportunity to determine whether Jupiter's orange moon, Io, the most reflective object in the solar system, has an atmosphere, as observation by telescope suggests.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI) — County jailers say they discovered an inmate putting out the lights in his cell by throwing cold water on the hot bulbs and breaking them.

There is no switch in the cell and the prisoner was apparently unable to reach the bulbs to put them out. Jailers said he broke four bulbs with cold water before they caught him.

Mining promoter on trial

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (UPI) — Merle I. Zweifel, a 59-year-old self-styled mining promoter, was on trial in district court here today on 16 felony charges of trying to file false mining claims.

Zweifel attempted to file more than 24,000 claims covering 4 million acres in Nevada in June, 1971, but was stopped by State Atty. Gen. Robert List. List contends a random check of 10 of the claims showed they had not been posted nor had $20 worth of trenching and sampling been done, as required by law.

List said it may "have been one of the greatest frauds" ever involving mining lands here. Zweifel said he was following federal law to preserve the environment by not scarring the earth. And he contended the attorney general filed the criminal complaints to protect billionaire Howard Hughes who also owns several thousand mining claims.

District Judge Llewellyn Young was to preside at the trial but he disqualified himself when it was disclosed that Zweifel apparently filed claims over mining claims owned by Young and his family. District Judge John Barrett of Reno has been assigned the case.

Zweifel has also been active in other states. Last October he filed 900 claims for a total of 147,000 in Powder River country in Montana. In Colorado and Wyoming, he staked claims to about 1.74 million acres.

THE MOTHER-IN-LAW

Jesus had not been well received in His home district of Nazareth. The community was divided over His teaching and many infuriated over His claims to be sent by God. Yet in neighboring Capernaum He found an eager audience and many of His future disciples would come from this congregation. One was Peter, called Simon, big in the fishing business, influential and well-known. He had been fascinated by Jesus. His authority and His persuasion. Following Jesus one Sabbath he asked the Master to come to his home and help his mother-in-law. She was in the grip of a high fever and needed immediate attention. Jesus healed her and she responded by getting up and serving the whole family.

Two things happened here: A sick woman is made well and Simon is further persuaded that Jesus is more than a bright scholar from Nazareth. Additional revelations will affect Simon and his decision to follow Christ. A dramatic start has begun. Jesus used healing, not as a trick or feat, but to demonstrate the love and majesty of God. Nothing less would convince Simon Peter.

Jury seating slow

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—A dozen potential jurors have been seated in the Angela Davis murder trial, but they have cleared only the first round of questioning and may be excused for cause later.

The 12 tentative jurors include a gray-haired retired librarian who broke up the proceedings by saying she thought Miss Davis's disappearance after the 1970 Marin County shootings seemed "a reasonable thing to do."

Miss Davis, 28, a black militant, an avowed Communist and a former UCLA instructor, is accused of helping plot and supplying guns for an abortive courthouse escape attempt in which a judge and three other men died.

The prosecution and defense concentrated on pretrial publicity and the personal hardship that would result from a long trial during the first round of questioning potential jurors.

The attorneys started intensive interrogation of the potential jurors' attitudes toward Miss Davis, her Communist party membership and the crime with which she is charged. The trial was recessed Thursday for the weekend.

Most of those tentatively seated in the jury box are expected to be excused for cause—biases which would prevent them from judging the case impartially. Each side also has 20 peremptory challenges with which they can excuse potential jurors without giving a reason.

Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, March 6, the 66th day of 1972.
The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces. British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning was born March 6, 1806.

On this day in history: In 1836, Mexican forces captured the Alamo at San Antonio, Texas, killing the last of 187 Americans who had held out for 13 days. Including famed frontiersman Davy Crockett. From the slaughter arose the cry "Remember the Alamo."

In 1857 the U.S. Supreme Court handed down its landmark Dred Scott decision. It ruled that Scott, a Negro slave, could not sue for his freedom in a federal court.

In 1964 King Paul of Greece died at the age of 62 and was succeeded by his son, Prince Constantine. Three years later, Constantine went into exile after a military regime, which is still in control, took over power.

In 1968, long-time U.S. Representative Joseph Martin, R-Mass., former speaker of the House, died at the age of 83.

A thought-for-today British poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "If thou must love me, let it be for naught except for love's sake only."

Witness returns for second week

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The star government witness in the Harrisburg Seven trial returned for his second week of testimony today. Six defense attorneys waited their turn to question him in an effort to ruin the credibility of a two-time convict.

Boyd F. Douglas Jr., 31, was in his sixth day of direct examination by the prosecution in its drive to convict the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and six other antiwar activists of plotting to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, blow up Washington steam-heat pipes, and vandalize draft boards.

But cross-examination was not far away. Douglas, an assured and outspoken witness so far for the government, has a record of forgery, assault on an FBI agent, and impersonation of an Army officer. He turned federal prison.

Berrigan, also a convict in Lewisburg Penitentiary, trusted Douglas to carry contraband letters to and from him while Douglas was permitted out of prison during the day to attend college classes, the government contends.

Those alleged letters are a prime part of the government case—that there was a conspiracy of violence by asserted nonviolent Roman Catholic clerics to focus public attention on their cause.

Douglas testified Friday that Berrigan, who is accused of being the leader of the group, agreed with him during the summer of 1970 that the kidnapping of Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign affairs adviser, probably would not be possible without violence and that a gun would be necessary. But, he said, Berrigan wanted the gun loaded with blanks rather than bullets.

He said there was no way of telling how many persons were in the building at the time of the blast because some occupants might still not have returned from weekend trips.

Rescue work progressed throughout the night in the glare of floodlights. Bulldozers cleared away huge chunks of concrete and steel mesh and firemen and volunteers picked away smaller rubble.

Standards asked for automobiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Nader and the American Insurance Association have appealed to the House Commerce Committee to reject special interest pressure groups and to restore tough damage-resistant standards for automobiles.

The committee Tuesday takes up the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act that was amended on a 4-3 vote in subcommittee to eliminate industry-wide standards for damage resistance.

Nader contended that the subcommittee acted "at the request of the automobile manufacturers under the guidance of the Automobile Manufacturers Association." Nader said motorists had no lobbying arm, "only their elected representatives."

The insurance association said that consumers could save more than $1 billion in repair costs each year and millions of dollars in insurance premiums if the standards were instituted.

Nader and the association expressed their views in letters Sunday to Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., the committee chairman.

Nader said the subcommittee "deleted the essential provisions... requiring the secretary of transportation to issue property loss reduction standards."

Illegal aliens

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Illegal aliens are costing U.S. taxpayers $18 billion a year, according to Lee Cramer, president of the National Council of Immigration and Naturalization Service Unions.

The illegal alien problem is a very grave problem and one that most Americans don't easily recognize," Cramer said Sunday in a UPI Washington interview.

To curb abuses to welfare and other benefit funds by illegal aliens, the Senate Finance Committee voted last week to issue Social Security cards to all children at age 6.

Rep. Jack McDonald, R-Mich., has called for an investigation of the immigration service.

Some illegal aliens also are heavily involved in narcotics traffic, according to Cramer.

Fund drive set in Cassia County

BURLEY — Plans for the Cassia County Easter Seal Society fund drive are nearing completion. Mrs. Charles Sutton, county fund drive chairman, said Saturday.

Packets will be in the hands of the workers prior to March 15, and about 200 volunteers will again be working this year, said Gerald Whitesides, Cassia County trustee, Idaho Easter Seal Society.

Mrs. Wilbur Baker and Mrs. Melvin Temple are co-chairmen for the business area. The door-to-door campaign is slated from March 20-25, according to Mrs. Sutton.

Ninety-three per cent of the funds collected remain in the state, Whitesides said. Funds go to the Easter Seal Society Center, Twin Falls, which works with problems in speech and hearing. They also assist handicapped persons from Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Minidoka and Twin Falls counties at the center.

Other projects include furnishing wheel chairs, crutches, braces, corrective shoes and other orthopedic devices for children. Funds are also available for transportation expense to medical centers when local facilities are not adequate.

Each summer about 45 to 50 children attend the Easter Seal Summer Camp. Also there are services to senior citizens and others who need social help.

The Easter Seal sale is set for April 1 by members of the Rho Girls Club under the direction of Valerie Land, president.

A Lovelier You

SPRING REDUCING -- TUMMY

By Mary Sue Miller

You can largely prevent or trim a paunchy abdomen by maintaining good posture. You've got it when you pull in the stomach and hold it in. However that is easier said than done.

You have to work at the action until it becomes automatic. Once the habit is formed, the muscles begin to build a steady wall that restricts flab and sag. The process is hastened by remedial exercises — workouts that both strengthen muscles and pare down flesh. Like so:

1. Lie back down on floor. Clasp top of head with hands and rest elbows on floor; raise legs straight up, so that toes point to ceiling. Now contract abdominal muscles, slowly swing legs as far apart as possible, then reverse swing so the legs cross above knees. Repeat 10 times in slow motion with tension.

2. Back down on floor and legs perpendicular to ceiling, pull in abdomen. Holding in, very slowly lower legs until back begins to arch. Then immediately return legs to upright position. Repeat 4 times without stopping. Work up to 10 repeats. Be sure to avoid strain by raising legs as back arches.

While awaiting improvements it's a good idea to wear a girdle with a firm front panel. Reminds you to pull in!

LAZY GIRLS EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for LAZY GIRLS EXERCISES. Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines train head-to-toe figure. ## Hansen couple recites promise HANSEN — Janice Marie Huck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Huck, Hansen, was married to Lynn Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pearson, Hansen.

Vows were said during evening rites held Feb. 26 at the Murtaugh LDS Church.

Bishop Roger Tolman officiated at the double ring ceremony before baskets of white and lavender standard chrysanthemums, pompons and greenery accented with purple satin ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor-length polyester dress with an empire waistline. It featured long lace sleeves fitted to above the elbow, then gathered in a puff to the wrist bands. There were lace inserts in the skirt.

Her waist-length veil was held by a lace floret headpiece. She carried a crescent cascade bouquet of lavender and white chrysanthemums tied with lavender satin ribbon.

Mrs. Dale Barnard, Nampa, was matron of honor, and Julie Huck a bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride.

Don Sievers, Twin Falls, was best man, and he and Walter Freestone were ushers.

Mrs. Cecil Stanger played wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Ferris Freestone, soloist.

Bonnie Pearson, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

At the reception the couple greeted guests under a greenery entwined archway. Baskets of the standard chrysanthemums, pompons and greenery, accented with purple satin ribbon, flanked the arch. Centering the bride's table was the four-tiered white wedding cake. It was trimmed with lavender roses, cupid dolls, lattice hearts and bells between the pedestal-separated layers, and was topped with a cluster of wedding bells nestled in net and lilies of the Valley.

The base of the cake was surrounded with lavender chrysanthemums and greenery. A double candelabra of lavender candles with a center bouquet of a large lavender chrysanthemum with cascades of heather and greenery was at one end. The bride's bouquet, placed at the front completed table appointments.

Quartet tables were centered with brandy snifters containing miniature arrangements of lavender pompons with lavender ribbon tied around the stems.

Mrs. Leo Stanger, Murtaugh, aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Calvin Holland, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Howard Sievers served the cake and punch.

Mrs. Wayne Butler, Mrs. Bob Peterson and Debbie Butler arranged the gift tables. Shana Butler and Ramona Pearson, sister of the bridegroom, were giftbearers.

The couple will reside south of Hansen where he is engaged in farming.

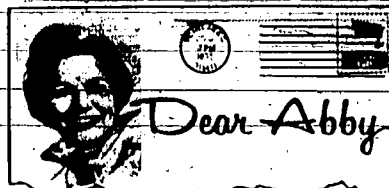

Out-of-town guests included as special guests, the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Webb, Gooding; Barbara Ecklund, Wendell; and Debbie Eckes, Boise.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband just turned 60. We have been married for 18 years. A year ago he took up with a widow he used to go with 40 years ago. She broke up with him when the doctor told him he would have to have his foot amputated. She said she couldn't bear the thought of marrying a man who couldn't dance. She married someone else and moved out of town.

When her husband died last year she moved back to town and made contact with my husband. That's when he started coming behind my back.

My husband took a week's vacation and he and this lady went off on a "honeymoon" together. Meanwhile I was home laying the bricks for my patio.

When I found all this out, I told him to make a choice. Her or me. He said he "loved" me and was only having "fun" with her.

How much more "fun" should I let him have before I kick him out?

STAY-AT-HOME WIFE

DEAR STAY: I would say that he has had more "fun" than he's entitled to already. Tell him to shape up or ship out.

DEAR ABBY: Already I am worried about our next summer vacation.

My husband gets three weeks off, and he wants to take me and the children on a picture-taking trip to the western Parks region, as he is a camera buff.

Our children are 7 and 10, and they do not get along with each other, so you can imagine what an automobile trip with them is like for three weeks.

I realize that my husband works hard all year and deserves the kind of vacation he enjoys, but I don't relish the idea of being referee for the kids while Father pursues his hobby which involves looking-for-places-to-photograph and endless waiting for perfect sun directions.

What is your advice?

PLANNING AHEAD

DEAR PLANNING: Why not compromise and spend part of your vacation doing his thing, and the other part doing whatever you prefer?

A suggestion: On long motor-trips with kids who don't get along, instead of putting them both in the back seat, let one sit in front with Dad, and keep the other in the back with you. Then switch.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my seventies and have not been in the social swim for the past few years.

I was invited to a party at the home of a friend and was told that we would play cards and have a nice buffet supper.

I went and had a delightful time, until the hostess sat down at a card table and asked every guest for $2.50 to "defray expenses." (One guest had to borrow the money to pay as she didn't have that much with her.)

I would like to know if this is the customary thing to do now. Sign me

BEHIND THE TIMES

DEAR BEHIND: "Dutch treat" parties are fine, when the guests are told in advance that it's "Dutch," but there's something rotten in Denmark when the hostess "surprises" her guests with a bill.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your advice to "New In Town," who served an outstanding dessert and was reluctant to give the recipe out.

You said, "Would your enjoyment be diminished if others enjoyed it, too? Share."

I say, let "New In Town" keep her recipe to herself. She's not selfish. She's just an individual with a special talent. Must we share everything?

She should write that woman a note saying she doesn't want to offend her, but that recipe is a family secret and she prefers to keep it that way. And if she ever invites that woman to her home again, she should be sure to hide her recipe file.

VIVA INDIVIDUALISM

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Opening lead A Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald — West was an expert. East a good player. That is the sort of partnership that is not likely to slip the defense but this time it managed to let South steal a no-trump game.

West held back his ace because he did not want the suit to block. At the same time he signalled strength by dropping the six.

Jim: "That is the sort of play that seems fine to most everyone but it violated one of the most important principles of defensive play which is to signal with the highest card you can spare. He should have played the seven."

Oswald: "If West hadn't been an expert it would not have hurt. Now let's see what happened. South took the trick with his king and played two rounds of clubs. East discarded a diamond so South shifted to that suit. East hopped on with his ace and led back the three of spades. South played the nine. West was in with the 10 and led the heart deuce with disastrous results.

Jim: "West really should have played our jack of spades on the theory that the heart shift was hopeless but experts go wrong on occasion and when they do go wrong they are inclined to go that way with a real bang. His excuse was that he had never seen the seven spot. Hence, either South was false-carding or East was strong enough to set the hand with spades."

Reporters still watch Hughes' Latin hide away

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—The American newspapermen have gone and only local reporters remain day and night around the pyramid-shaped Intercontinental Hotel, the hideaway of billionaire Howard Hughes since Feb. 17.

Some still stand guard day and night at the service entrance on the west side of the hotel, hoping to get a glimpse of the eccentric reclusive if and when he leaves on a surprise voyage.

Some speculate he will leave for the United States soon, others say he'll do it after March 26 during Holy week, when the 300,000-population Nicaraguan capital becomes a ghost town due to general vacations and it would be easier to escape attention.

The local newsmen call the Intercontinental Hotel the most famous pyramid in the world because it focuses world attention on the Central American republic of 1.7 million and Hughes' mysterious presence here.

When Hughes arrived from the Bahamas Feb. 17, triggering an invasion of American newsmen, he took up the seventh floor on top of the pyramid-shaped hotel. Now he's also taken the sixth and part of the fifth as living and working quarters for his aides.

A mountain of mail arrives at the hotel daily, including many letters addressed simply to "Mr. Hughes" and, according to his aides, contain simple requests for money or the most fantastic business propositions.

The official Nicaraguan government communique welcoming Hughes to Nicaragua mentioned business talks between President Gen. Anastasio Somoza and Hughes but so far no concrete results have become clear and mystery continues here as well.

Government sources say negotiations between emissaries of the president and Hughes began several months ago, continue and have focused on possible airline mergers and the development of Corn Island, an idyllic tourist resort off Nicaragua's Caribbean coast.

The anti-government newspaper "La Prensa" once published a story Hughes was sought by Nevada law enforcement agencies for a court appearance there, indirectly criticizing President Somoza for inviting a "shady character" to Nicaragua.

Hughes is supposed to have phoned the United States upon learning the contents of the story. Within hours, a representative of the Hughes Tool Co. in Los Angeles was calling back to the newspaper setting the facts straight.

La Prensa then published another story, "Hughes calls La Prensa" giving the Los Angeles spokesman's version.

Execution ordered

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—A Cambodian military tribunal convicted three North Vietnamese prisoners of spying Friday and sentenced them to death, it was announced Saturday.

The three were identified only as Nguyen Van Kien, Phan Van Long and Nguyen Van Ngoc. There were no details on their capture or alleged activities.

Observers here noted that when two other North Vietnamese prisoners were sentenced to death last month, the International Red Cross (IRC) intervened on their behalf. The IRC informed the Cambodian government that it considered the condemned men prisoners of war and, as such, protected by the Geneva Convention.

It was the second such intervention by the IRC here—last year the government commuted the death sentences of two North Vietnamese convicted on similar charges to life imprisonment. The observers said the Red Cross could be expected to intervene in this latest case, too.

Computers offer aid

NEW YORK (UPI)—When computers came along, there was much talk—some jocular, some serious—about how they eventually would take over the job of making management decisions.

It hasn't quite come to that, but some companies are making production and marketing decisions based on computer output.

Monsanto was one of the pioneers in the field.

And five years ago American Cyanamid's Organic Chemicals Division at Bound Brook, N.J., set up a program called Computer-Assisted Project Evaluation (CAPE).

"It's been most helpful in determining whether to put a new product on the market," said Dr. J. H. Pade, director of research and development for the division. "Yes, there has been some resentment. People don't want a machine telling them what to do or threatening their jobs. But that attitude is waning, I think. After all, the computer is just another tool for which humans supply the input and don't have to slavishly follow the output."

Dr. William S. Castor, director of product development at Cyanamid's Stamford, Conn., research laboratories, describes the CAPE program this way: "The boys with the slide rules, the mathematicians, bring together all available information from research, production and marketing personnel on the feasibility of developing and marketing a product. Probably a key word in the program are assigned to each stage of the proposed product's development and early marketing.

If the research manager looks at product specifications and decides his staff has only a 50-50 chance of bringing it in successfully, he would assign a probability factor of 50 per cent to the project. Production and marketing managers make similar evaluations.

Mathematical formulas then are used to forecast the probable chance of success the product would have and the probable return to the company.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

Q—Why don't they put better buttons on shirts, suits and dresses? They either break or fall off. Any way to solve this?

A—R. B., Bethesda, Md.

A—Look at the buttons on a garment before you buy it. Buttons with shanks should be avoided. If you already have this kind of button, it should be removed before laundering or dry cleaning. So should other, special buttons made of leather, rhinestone and so on.

On a shirt or a coat, look at the space between the thread holes on the button. Is it thin, or thick enough not to break? The National Institute of Dry Cleaning says it's a good idea to sew a few more rounds of thread on the buttons of a new garment before you send it off for the first cleaning or laundering. Factory sewing is often slapdash.

Count the thread loops holding a button on the garment. Any less than eight strands is too weak. Four strands give a better grip.

Q—I want to change pharmacies but the pharmacist won't give me my prescriptions. Is this fair? — Mrs. J. R. O., Sedalia, Mo.

A—It's not only fair, it's wise. You should not be reusing old prescriptions unless your doctor rewrites the order or phones it in to the pharmacy. Reusing prescriptions without a doctor's knowledge can be dangerous.

If you need a maintenance drug such as insulin for diabetes or aspirin for high blood pressure, you can ask your doctor to have such "refillable" prescriptions transferred to another pharmacy.

Q—Last year a $1,000 bond I owned was called. I found out about it later and lost six months' interest. Shouldn't I have been notified on time? — M. B., Hastings, Neb.

A—Yes, you should have been notified. State all the details of your problem in a letter to the securities company where you purchased the bond. Send a copy to Trading and Marketing Division, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C. 20540.

Q—American colleges often do not have enough room for all the applicants. Yet I hear many foreign students are admitted while some American students are turned away. — E. J., Whittier, Calif.

A—There's no evidence to support the claim that foreign students are taking away a significant number of enrollment places from Americans. The Institute for International Education's latest figures show that 134,959 foreign students were enrolled in American colleges and universities. When you compare this with the more than 7 million American students in college, you see foreign students make little or no impact on enrollment.

Q—How can you have a deed on a house changed over to your children's names? — Mrs. M. A., East St. Louis, Ill.

A—Get a lawyer. Your local bar association can explain

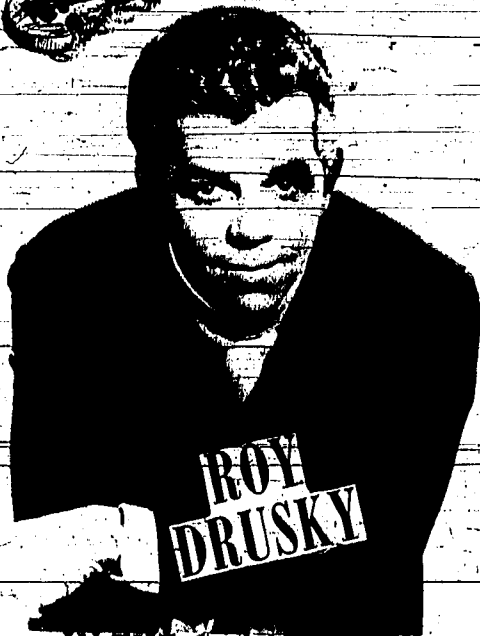

Lawyer's Referral Service. You pay around $15 for a half-hour consultation. You may have to pay more for the deed transfer. Don't do it yourself. Deed mistakes are costly and there are all sorts of pitfalls.

TAKE NOTE: You can get an enlightening pamphlet, "Special Bumper Claim Results," by sending a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, Watergate 600, Washington, D. C. 20037. It contains crash-test results for six new cars that supposedly have "better bumpers." Only two, Pontiac Catalina and Dodge Polara, did fairly well.

Michigan solon claims USDA killing breakfast programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Saturday he will hold hearings Tuesday to determine if the Agriculture Department is trying to kill the school breakfast program for needy children.

He said "there are indications" the department is trying to choke off the program which Congress ordered it to operate.

"At this point the breakfast program is floundering," Hart said in announcing the hearing. "It reaches only 940,000 of America's 55 million school children. It gets breakfast to only 620,000 of the nation's 7 million needy children."

The answer the department gives, Hart said, is that it does not operate the program in more schools because there are no more schools seeking the program.

USDA recently told Congress that it can find only 1,170 schools in the entire nation that want breakfast programs and that there are no schools seeking programs in 32 states, including Michigan, Kentucky, Missouri, Alabama and South Carolina," Hart said.

But, he said, state officials in Michigan have reported that at least 400 schools are eager to take part in the program.

"It appears," Hart said, "that the department reports the number of schools actually applying for federal participation. Congressional intent, he said, was that USDA survey schools "desiring" the lack of funds.

Witnesses at the hearing conducted by the senate select committee on nutrition and human needs will include Richard Lying, assistant agriculture secretary.

Sugar control program provides bonus for US

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal sugar control program, attacked by one critic recently as a $1-billion-a-year burden on consumers and taxpayers, appears this year to be producing a substantial bonus for consumers.

The bonus comes in the form of protection from the full impact of recent sharp increases — and potential further gains in the months ahead — in world sugar prices.

World prices for raw sugar, reacting to tight supplies abroad, have more than doubled since late November. From 4.07 cents per pound on Nov. 15, prices have spurted to 9.10 cents on March 2. Domestic prices in the same period also rose, but not nearly as rapidly — from 8.65 cents a pound last Nov. 15 to 9.05 cents on March 2.

Normally, U.S. prices are held well above the level of the world price, which is set by demand for a relatively small "free" proportion of the overall world supply.

But at the beginning of January, the world price rose above the U.S. level for the first time since 1964. Tom O. Murphy, head of the Agriculture Department's sugar division, said in an interview the world raw sugar price could remain above U.S. levels for most or all of 1972 on the basis of the current supply outlook.

The structure of the U.S. Sugar Act, however, Murphy pointed out in a speech, protects American consumers against the possibility that foreign suppliers will "short" the U.S. market to take advantage of the temporarily higher world prices.

Under the federal sugar control program, a long list of foreign countries are allotted share in the U.S. market which normally is far more profitable than the world market. The quota countries "realize they should market their allotted quantities here regardless of attractive short-term opportunities elsewhere," Murphy said.

And just in case any overseas supplier should be tempted to cut U.S. deliveries, Murphy pointed out, the U.S. law provides a penalty in the form of a permanent cut in the import quota for the country involved.

The quota countries, Murphy noted, have advised the U.S. they intend to fulfill their quotas.

At present, the gap between U.S. and world prices is only about one-twentieth of a cent per pound on the basis of quoted rates. But if the world price is adjusted to include shipping and duty charges included in the quoted U.S. price, the world rate is higher by about 1.25 cents a pound or $25 a ton.

If the gap persisted at this rate for all of 1972, the difference between domestic and world prices on imported sugar alone would be about $120 million. If all U.S.-consumed sugar were priced at the world level instead of the domestic level, the extra cost to American users would be over $287 million.

Airport fund need outlined

BURLEY — The interim regional airport board needs money.

The board, which has asked the five participating counties to levy funds to provide $38,000 for the first year, has asked that 20 per cent of the requested amount be forwarded immediately.

The counties have been asked to use tax-anticipation notes, if necessary, to provide the funds. Those counties are Cassia, Jerome, Lincoln, Gooding and Minidoka.

Only one county, Gooding, has complied with the request, according to a survey of county commissioners. Others are studying the request, voicing various levels of protest.

Jim Barlogi, a member of the Gooding County Commission, said today that "I think we've already sent them the money." The commission chairman, Ben Glauner, was unavailable for comment.

"We're obligated for it, and we have no choice," Barlogi said.

Minidoka County Commissioner Alex Roemer said "As far as I know," the commission has not yet received any request for funds.

"We conferred with the airport board some time ago and they told us what they would need from us," Roemer said. "We paid them something then, but we haven't received any further request."

The commissioners will meet next Monday for their regular session, and may receive the request by then, Roemer said.

The Lincoln County Commission also won't meet until next week, and no request has been received that can be publicized, Mrs. Luella Kinsey, the Lincoln County clerk said today. All mail for the commissioners is held until they meet and is not opened in advance, she said. None of the commissioners could be reached today for comment.

Jerome and Cassia County commissioners said they have received the request, but had no comment until they consider the matter during their meetings this week.

Sun Valley 7 named to team

SUN VALLEY — Seven Sun Valley Junior Ski Team racers have been named to the 15-man Junior National Team from the Intermountain Division.

According to Sun Valley officials, the seven will compete in the national races in New York in mid-March. Lane Monroe, who has coached the Sun Valley squad all season, has been designated as U. S. National Junior Team coach for the division.

Expert "A" girls representing Sun Valley include Susie Patterson, 16, Sun Valley, a member of the National Training Squad; Claire Blechmann, 17, Ketchum, a member of the U. S. Talent Squad; Anne Corroch, 15, Ketchum, whose sister Susan took the Olympic Bronze Medal in the downhill at Sapporo; and Cathy Butterfield, 15, Sun Valley, whose father, Gordon, is the Sun Valley Ski Club's executive director.

Boys named Expert "A" are Billy Shaw, 17, Ketchum; Pete Patterson, 15, Sun Valley, and Phil Steima, 17, Bellevue.

Holly Diest, 15, Sun Valley and Allan Patterson, 15, Halley, were selected as first alternates. The Intermountain Division Team is composed of nine boys and six girls from Idaho, Utah and Wyoming, Sun Valley officials said.

Hansen residence damages probed

HANSEN — Sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation into damage to the Elmer Dry home, Route 1, Saturday night.

Someone gives a 'hoot'

TWIN FALLS — Bobbie Glasman, president of the Twin Falls Humane Society, is finding a variety of problems are being resolved with a call to her home.

Today she is the custodian of a small owl, which apparently fell out of a tree, and of two valuable but lost poodles.

Mrs. Glasman said she picked up the unusual trio at the Twin Falls County sheriff's office Sunday. Sheriff's officers answered two calls in a few hours time and found themselves with the two lost poodles and the owl and no facilities for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Glasman picked up the trio and all are currently at the Green Cross Hospital where the owl is being nursed back to health and will be put back in his tree when well.

The two poodles, one a silver male and the other an apricot colored female, both are wearing licenses from San Diego, Calif., and efforts are being made to find the owner.

The two dogs were found at Lynwood, and Mrs. Glasman says they are obviously valuable and may have been lost out of a car while the owners were traveling through.

She says she is looking for a "temporary" foster home for them until the owner can be located and if the owner cannot be found, a permanent home will be needed.

Officers received a call from Mrs. Dry about 11:30 p.m. Saturday stating a "gang fight" was taking place at the Dry home and several carloads of young persons were attempting to force their way into the home.

When county officers arrived at the scene, on the Bob Colner ranch six miles east of Twin Falls, they found several vehicles at the Dry home and on a side road near the home. Officers said all left as the county car approached.

Several teenagers stopped later by county and city police said they were there to watch. Officers are still attempting to locate drivers of several other vehicles. No arrests have been made as yet, officers said.

Dry told officers a group of youths came to the home and said they were going to "charge" the house. Dry said he went to the front of the house with a shotgun and the group dispersed.

Dan Dry, 19; Rick Dry, and Mike Hallis, 17, told officers they were driving down a street in Twin Falls when another vehicle attempted to run them off the street and a fight between the two drivers followed.

The Dry youths said they went home and an hour or so later, the gang arrived at their home. Dan Dry told officers one of the boys threatened him with a knife and broke the glass storm door on the house in an attempt to get to him.

Timber use sought in Idaho's forest areas

BOISE (UPI) — The federal forests of Idaho, containing a large portion of the nation's softwood timber needed for homebuilding, are for the first time being brought into the national forest system.

This was the main message by R. V. Hansberger, president of the Boise Cascade Corp., at a public meeting held by the United States Forest Service here today to solicit public comment on the undeveloped areas of the National Forest Service.

"Boise Cascade is deeply concerned over the implications in the current undeveloped area study which appears to be designed to open the way for locking up additional vast areas of timberlands," Hansberger said.

"We are concerned because the basic concept does not address itself to the best interests of the majority of Idaho citizens in terms of jobs, payrolls, taxes, and other income necessary to the sound functioning of the Idaho economy."

"Equally important, the wilderness concept of management neglect, when applied too broadly, threatens the backbone of our resources and thus the quality of life in our homes, schools and communities."

He said Idaho already has a greater percentage of its lands in primitive and wilderness classification than any other state, including Alaska.

"The potential loss of annual harvest represented in the 94 undeveloped areas of Boise, Payette and Challis forests alone is estimated at 104 million board feet," he said.

Hansberger, who strongly favors multiple-use management of timberlands, pointed out that "the majority of people whose primary interest is in recreation would realize expanding recreation possibilities under management as opposed to non-management."

IF youth injured

TWIN FALLS — Terry Hoodenpyla, 14, Idaho Falls, was hospitalized Sunday afternoon with a gunshot wound in the hip following an accident in the Cedar Draw area near Snake River.

Twin Falls County sheriff's officers said the youth was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Doris Jackson, Filer, and had gone hunting with a brother and cousin. The boy said he dropped his 22 caliber rifle and it discharged.

Attending physicians said the bullet apparently struck a rock or other solid object and bounced back striking the boy in the hip. His condition was reported good and he was to be dismissed from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today.

Rupert Red Cross fund drive slated

RUPERT — W. F. (Bill) Whitton, Minidoka County Red Cross chairman, announced a kick-off breakfast to be held at 7 a.m. Friday at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

This year's fund drive and the urgent need for volunteers will be discussed at the meeting, Whitton said.

The Minidoka County goal is $2,100 and a deficit could cause curtailment or elimination of some services in Minidoka County, Whitton said.

A short board of directors meeting will follow the breakfast, Whitton said. 1972 goals will be discussed.

Denise Berryhill, 17, a six-year Red Cross youth volunteer, says "If you sit around and talk about all the problems that are around you all the time, you become a menace to yourself, as well as a contributor to those problems. If you get yourself involved, you won't have any time to sit down and brood about how bad the situation really is," she said.

Residents of Minidoka wishing to follow Miss Berryhill's example at getting involved by volunteering as a Red Cross campaign worker during March may contact Whitton, 710 South D St., or phone 436-0107; or Mrs. John Simpson, Red Cross Fund Drive Chairman, 424 South C Street, telephone 436-3500.

Jerome drawing Tuesday

JEROME — A quota of 125 pints has been set for Tuesday's Red Cross blood drawing in Jerome.

The bloodmobile will be at the Jerome Moose Hall from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Parker, chairman, said there are 15 county residents needing blood replacements.

At this time last year Jerome exceeded its quota.

Dr. W. C. Small will be assisting from 11 a.m. to noon; Dr. James Scheel from noon to 1 p.m.; Dr. L. M. Neher from 1 to 2 p.m.; and Dr. Jon Wilmoth from 2 to 3 p.m.

New bank opening in Filer

FILER — Tony's Lounge on the corner of Fair Avenue and Highway 30 in Filer will soon be a thing of the past.

It will be moved to make way for the new Filer branch office of the Idaho First National Bank.

The bank will assume possession of the property March 15 after which the property will be cleared in preparation for construction of the new bank building.

The property now occupied by the lounge involves one acre and is located south of the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds, and across the street from the Fair Way Shopping Center.

Blaine accident hurts 2 Sunday

BELLEVUE — Two persons were injured in a one-car accident Sunday evening about two miles north of Timmerman Hill.

The two were tentatively identified as Glen R. Kidd, 23, Payette, and Jane Wells Petty, 18, Palo Alto, Calif. They were taken by ambulance to Sun Valley Hospital. Their conditions were not available this morning.

According to State Patrolman Gene Bolton, the vehicle in which the two were riding was traveling south on U. S. Highway 93 at about 6:30 p.m.

Bolton said the driver apparently lost control of the vehicle after hitting a chuckhole. The car started across the center line, veered back into the southbound lane and into the borrow pit where it rolled over.

The officer said the identity of the driver has not yet been determined.

Some belt

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — A 5 1/2-mile-long conveyor rubber belt system here has helped carry enough raw materials of cement in the last 12 years to build a superhighway twice around the world. The 38-inch-wide conveyor system for which B.F. Goodrich designed and supplied the belt carries up to 1,000 tons of clay and limestone an hour from a nearby quarry to a cement plant. So far it has hauled more than 9 million tons.

A.J. Foyt gets victory in 500 stock car race

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—A.J. Foyt, the tough Texan who made his reputation on the U.S. Auto Club trail, beat Nascar's best for his second win in the $208,000 Miller High Life 500 stock car race Sunday, finishing in front of Bobby Allison and Buddy Baker in a torrid duel on the last 45 laps.

Winner of the Daytona 500 last month, Foyt, 37, went into the lead to stay in his Wood Bros.-prepared 1971 Mercury with 15 laps to go after a final pit stop for gas by the top trio.

Allison, Hueytown, Ala., was runnerup in his '72 Chevy Monte Carlo 4.2 seconds back while Baker, the strapping son of the legendary Buck Baker from Charlotte, N.C., finished third in his STP '72 Dodge nine seconds behind Foyt.

Foyt, a three-time Indianapolis USAC champion, averaged 127.060 miles per hour around Ontario's 2.5 mile oval in his lightning-quick maroon and white Montego.

"It was a tough day," Foyt said. "It was a tossup who was going to get this one."

Foyt had a 13-second lead over Allison before Cecil Gordon of Horse Shoe, N.C., hit the turn four wall on the 149th lap and spun into the infield. He was unhurt but a yellow flag came out that enabled Allison and Baker to close in behind the leader.

When the green flag went back up on the 153th lap, Foyt, Allison and Baker began their thrilling duel to the finish.

Foyt had a narrow lead over Allison when he went into the pits for the last time for gas on the 183rd lap. Allison pitted on the next lap and Baker came in for the last time on the 185th.

When the top three drivers got back onto the track, Foyt was in front by 2.9 seconds and never relinquished his lead before the crowd of 68,408 in 80-degree weather.

"I was thrilled out there all day long," said Foyt, a hard-nosed competitor who says he likes it best when the racing is the toughest.

Richard Petty, Nascar's Golden Boy from Randolman, N.C., lost any chance of victory on a human error after pitting on the 131st lap for tires and gas. He was the leader up to that point.

After Petty went back on the track, he found out that his right rear wheel was not on tight and had to take it slowly before going back in the next time around. Petty, who wound up fourth, was a lap back when he got out again and never made the lap up.

Ironically, Petty had a shot at winning the first Miller High Life 500 but overshot his pits on his final stop a year ago and he had to make another circuit around the oval before pitting again.

During Sunday's race, the 35-year-old stock car immortal recorded his 100,000th mile in Grant National competition.

Ray Elder, the Western Grand National champion, from Caputhers, Calif., finished fifth followed by Hershel McGriff, from Bridal Veil, Ore., and country and western singer Marty Robbins of Nashville, Tenn., respectively.

Nicklaus ties Trevino in rain delayed Doral

MIAMI (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus tied his own course record with an eight-under par 64 Sunday to tie Lee Trevino for the third-round lead of the $150,000 Doral Open golf tournament. Rain forced postponement of the final round until Monday.

Nicklaus and Trevino both had 10-under par 208 to lead Paul Hanes and Sam Snead by a stroke. Another stroke back at 65 was John Miller who fired a 65 on the par 72, 7,028-yard Doral Country Club "Blue Monster" course.

The rain delay was the second in two days. Saturday, a downpour halfway through the third round cancelled all scores.

The PGA eliminated 30 golfers who scored 147 or better after two rounds and scheduled 36 holes for the remaining 62 golfers Sunday.

But the rains came again Sunday just as the first 14 holes were being completed, and the final round was postponed until Monday.

Nicklaus's 64 tied the record he set for the course in the 1969 Doral Open, when he finished in a tie for third.

"I played well, but it wasn't until the fifth and sixth holes that I got started," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus birdied on his fifth hole was on his longest putt of the day, a 20-footer. He had four birdies on his front nine and five on the back side, where he picked up his only bogey, missing an 18-inch putt for a five.

"The ball hit a tuft of grass and bounced off to the left, against the grain of the green," he said.

If Nicklaus wins the tournament Monday, he will pass Arnold Palmer for the lead on the all-time money-winning list. The $30,000 first prize check would put him $6,000 ahead of Palmer with winnings of $1,477,200.66 over his 10-year career.

Trevino said that during his round of 69 Sunday, his putting was "coming around. He also said he had "found out a way" to get close to the hole from out of a sand trap, a shot that gave him problems in the first two rounds.

"I just feel fortunate to be tied for the lead after a man shoots 64," he said, referring to Nicklaus.

Trevino matched a birdy with a three-putt bogey on his first nine and then started storming on the back side, although rain interrupted his round twice. In all, including the stops, it took Trevino and Hanes six hours to play the round.

Snead, who will be 60 years old in May and who is seeking his first win since the 1967 Greater Greensboro Open, fired a steady 69 with three birdies and no bogeys.

Hanes, winner of the Andy Williams San Diego Open, shot his 68 by scoring six birdies against two bogeys.

Joe Torre sought three-year pact

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—Joe Torre—disclosed Sunday that he had sought a three-year contract after the St. Louis Cardinals offered terms for two seasons.

"I am disappointed because I wasn't offered as much increase this time as I was a year ago," said the batting champion, who went from $85,000 to $110,000 in 1971.

"The third baseman joined St. Louis in 1969 as a catcher earning $60,000.

Torre acknowledged that within the last three weeks the Cardinals had countered his request for a $150,000 salary by offering that amount in the second season of a two-year contract. The club's "best and final" offer for 1972 is $130,000.

"I wasn't particularly interested in two years, but when I asked about three years, they weren't interested," said the 31-year-old Torre.

Torre, dropping by the clubhouse to pick up his mail in the course of a rain-shortened Sunday workout, said he planned to fly to New York Monday to see about a sporting goods business he and his brother Frank, a former major leaguer, will open soon in their native Brooklyn.

"My wife will be glad to get me out of the house," Torre said. "She and the children are staying here because, for one thing, it's good for her on the bench and we've paid the rent through mid-March. If the Cardinals revoke the renewal clause in my contract I'll report because I'm not rebel, but even though there's no animosity I won't like it."

The Cardinals also have three other holdouts—catcher Ted Simmons, pitcher Jerry Reuss and utility player Bob Burda.

Kentucky outlasts Pittsburgh

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Dan Issel scored 39 points and grabbed 20 rebounds Sunday to lead the Eastern Division Champion Kentucky Colonels to an easy 134-124 victory over the cellar dwelling Pittsburgh Condors.

Kentucky won its sixth decision over Pittsburgh against one loss in American Basketball Association play by blasting to a 76-44 halftime lead.

Dave Lattin led a fourth period Condor outburst with 15 of his 32 points, and Bob Verga tossed in 14 of his 27, as Pittsburgh outscored the Colonels, 42-25 in the final period.

Reserve forward Walt Simon helped the Colonels with 21 points while rookie center Artis Gilmore notched 20. Walt Szczerbiak helped the losers with 21 points, 16 of them in the second half.

Benjamin Franklin was born Jan. 17, 1706.

Pacers throttle Dallas

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Roger Brown dropped in 27 points Saturday to lead the Indiana Pacers past the Dallas Chapas, 110-99, in an American Basketball Association tilt.

Brown got help as the balanced Pacer attack had four more men in double figures. George McGinnis had 17, Mel Daniels 14, and Rick Mount and Bob Netolicky contributed 13 each.

Dallas was led by Don Freeman and Steve Jones, each with 20 points.

The game was nip and tuck the first two quarters and the Pacers were down by two at the half.

But Freddy Lewis of Indiana hit a shot with 9:10 remaining in the third quarter to make it 61-60, Indiana, and the home team was never headed from there.

Golden Bear ties record

Late shot lets 76ers nip N.Y.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bill Cunningham's field goal with 52 seconds remaining in the game Sunday gave the Philadelphia 76ers a 100-98 victory over the New York Knicks in a nationally televised National Basketball Association game.

The Knicks had two chances to tie the game but could not get the "Qualace" after Walt Frazier missed a free throw with 13 seconds left, the Knicks got the rebound. Dean Evinger missed a forced shot with seven seconds left and Cunningham seized the rebound and Philadelphia had its victory.

The 76ers had held a 10 point lead early in the fourth quarter, but the Knicks rallied and tied the game at 98-all on a basket by Jerry Lucas. Cunningham then made his follow-up basket 10 seconds later.

Fred Foster, who made nine out of 10 shots during one stretch, finished with 24 points to lead the winners.

Duquesne tops St. Francis

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Fighting back from a first half deficit, Duquesne with only five men in the lineup defeated St. Francis 82-70 Sunday to keep alive its hopes for an NIT bid.

The Dukes closed out their season with a 20-5 record and now mark time for a bid from the NIT committee expected Monday.

Jack Wojdowski's field goal with 19:28 remaining in the game gave the Dukes their first lead at 39-37. St. Francis, winding up the season at 12-13, shocked Duquesne with a 16 point lead—28-12—with 8:57 remaining in the first half. The Dukes whittled the margin to 37-35 at intermission.

The game's top scorer was the Dukes' 6-8 sophomore Lionel Billings with 31 points and 21 rebounds.

The loss ended Boston's five game winning streak and cut their lead to four games over New York in the NBA Atlantic Division.

The game opened with both teams shooting cold and two minutes and 15 seconds went by the clock before Archibald started the scoring with a driving lay-in. Boston led the Royals 26-24 in the first period. The Celtics still held only a slight edge, 35-48, at halftime. Third period action was also a stalemate as Boston led at the end of the period, 87-78.

The fourth period of the game belonged to Van Arsdale and Archibald as each scored 17 points in the Royals 47-point period. Cincinnati shot at a torrid rate of 78 per cent from the floor. The Celtics, meanwhile, could muster only 27 points to answer the Cincinnati charge.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 7, 1972

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There are opportunities to plan with energy, cleverness and resourcefulness a course of action that will enable you to organize conditions as you would like them. Then do the actual work required to set them in motion immediately.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use a more modern approach for success in activities you feel are ideal. Making new contacts is good, since you understand others much better now. Delve into civic matters, too.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Sit down with experts and advisers as well as associates and discuss new aims you have that have every promise of success. You will get support for them from all, including your mate. Relax and have fun tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what your true position is with associates and then confer with a bigwig who can be most helpful to you and your aims. If others are unfriendly, try to get at the cause. Then take right steps to clear up.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) There is no better way to come to a real understanding with a new associate than to work together right away. Find the best method for getting rid of any tiredness you feel. Show you have much vitality.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk over with experts some fine new ideas you have which merely require pointers to make them successful. Out to the fun places with congenials later that relieve tensions. Show you are a fine conversationalist.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find out at home what those who dwell with you have in mind and then you can join forces with good results. Get busy making your abode more attractive and clean. Show a pride of possession.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can now be with congenials, so do not waste time in contacting them early to make appointments. If you need any professional services, get them. Stay within your budget and all is fine for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get busy with financial affairs early and then set aside a certain amount of money for the kind of entertainments you most enjoy. Plan how to improve property you have in some way. Investigate some new hobby that looks interesting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Plan just how to get ahead faster where the social side of life is concerned and make the right contacts tonight. You are thinking very clearly and can sway others to help you gain your aims. This is particularly true of friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Making new plans for the future so you become more affluent is fine, provided you do not confide in others. You have the right slant on how to make make happier this evening. Put a smile where that frown is.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Getting together with persons of same aims and ideas as your own can lead to formulating fine plans for the future. Discuss money with an adviser and get right suggestions. Then put practical affairs in better order.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Handling those affairs that improve your public image is wise early in the day. Show others you are a most charming person. You need to get into that civic work with great interest and vim.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those very energetic young people who must have the right guidance early where sports and other activities are concerned, or the self-control needed here will not be gained, especially if the companions are the wrong kind. A certain amount of religious training is important early, also. Any profession that requires both idealism and practicality is fine.

Crime That Is Hard to Solve

"Lost is our old simplicity of times, 'The world abounds with laws, and teams with crimes.'"

The Pennsylvania Gazette Am asked what sort of offense against the law is most difficult to solve. Fishing without a license maybe. Or pocket pilfering by prostitutes. Or romantic vice among the minors. Don't know, for sure. Do know the offense against the law most easily solved is murder. Police report that, repeatedly, I'm glad. Too much unsolved murder could turn the whole electorate against it.

AVERAGE AGE of that curious citizen who signs up with a computer dating service is 36 years 10 months.

QUERIES

Q: "Isn't it a fact the artist James Whistler never wore a necktie?"

A: Rarely, anyhow. But he frequently wore big pink bows on his patent leather shoes, the little scamp.

Q: "How many men are discharged every year from the U.S. Armed Services because of abnormal romantic propensities?"

A: About 2,500.

RIGHT AFTER World War II, the typical bride said she wanted four children. A dozen years ago, her counterpart decided three would be just right. Today, most any newly married lady thinks two might be sufficient. Why this trend? Because, some observers believe, young couples are now more eager to go places in a dandy manner. And you know what old Bob Benchley said: "There are two classes of travel — first class and with children."

Did I tell you the Federal Government financed a gambling school in Las Vegas, Nev., for casino dealers? A manpower training project. To teach a job that's outlawed in 49 states. Oh, my Aunt Min!

MAJOR HOOPLE

Runaway train produces 'hero'

LONDON (UPI)—When the engineer of locomotive 5521 refused to where he had left it in the freight yard, the big diesel was gone.

The 100-ton locomotive, whose brakes apparently had not been set, rolled quietly out of Harrogate freight yard in northern England Friday.

Gathering speed, the runaway engine careened along a downhill stretch of track through the English countryside.

Francis railway officials telephoned warnings to stations along the way.

The locomotive raced on, reaching speeds of 60 miles per hour as it crashed through the wooden gates of one railway crossing.

On its sped: Computers at five stations gaped as the driverless engine whizzed by.

At the disused station of Marston Moor, 42 miles down the track from the freight yard, signaller Kenneth Bristow, 43, leaped for action.

The locomotive, now slowed to 20 m.p.h. by an uphill stretch, approached the station's platform. Bristow started running.

"I was pelting alongside the cab door which was slightly open," Bristow said later. "I grabbed hold of a handle, got a foothold and swung myself aboard."

"I had never been in an engine cab before," he said. "There were a lot of dials and levers. There was a catch saying 'Emergency Brake on' so I pulled it and gradually the thing stopped."

The state-owned British railways issued a statement saying Bristow, a railwayman for 27 years, did a "marvelous job" in stopping the engine.

But no hero's welcome awaited him when he returned to his home in the village of Acomb, near Harrogate.

"I thought my wife would play up to me as the hero or something when I told her the story," he said, "but she just played hell. She said I could have killed myself."

Develops skills

SHARON RICE, teacher at the Child Development Center, works with a child on a visual motor and sequencing task. Such skills are prerequisites to academic development.

Travel team helps aid child center program

TWIN FALLS — A traveling team to identify youngsters with developmental problems is now available from the Child Development Center in Twin Falls.

The team consists of a social worker, psychologist and special educator. It is available by appointment to assess children in Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Minidoka and Twin Falls Counties who could benefit from a preschool training program.

Shortly after an evaluation is completed, parents are advised whether preschool training is indicated for their child.

It has been estimated that 2 to 5 per cent of all pre-school children in Magic Valley could benefit from training in visual, speech, motor, auditory, social or mental activities. If such developmental problems were diagnosed and treated early, many of these children would have a better chance of adapting successfully to their environment.

Parents with a child between 2 and 4 years with any of the following problems, please call Public Health Nurse Mrs. Lucille Jacobson at 733-6711 for an appointment.

Some signs of developmental problems include withdrawal or crying excessively, trouble with hearing or seeing, not walking alone by two years of age, or speech which is so severe that others have trouble understanding the child.

A child who is 2 years old and not speaking single words or three years old and not speaking in sentences also indicates a problem. Excessive clumsiness and stumbling, as well as breaking objects, screaming, banging head against objects or frequently hitting himself are other signs.

Transplants not new to patient, 8

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Barbara Jo Pyne, 8, is familiar with kidney transplants. Her sister, Christina, 9, has had one of their mother's kidneys since last fall.

So when Barbara Jo went to a university hospital in Seattle for surgery, performed Feb. 25, she knew what it was all about. She has a new kidney, the gift of an anonymous donor who had willed his kidneys for transplant.

The transplant was made by a team of organ retrieval specialists headed by Dr. Maurice Ward. Barbara was the 10th person to receive a kidney through the use of a perfusion machine at the Northwest Kidney Center.

The operation was performed by Dr. Thomas Marchioro, professor of surgery at the University of Washington. This was his 103rd kidney transplant since coming to university hospital in 1968.

"Barbara Jo's kidney is working beautifully," said a spokesman at the hospital where she is receiving highly specialized post-operative care and treatment to control rejection.

This intensive care will last about two weeks and then she can return home to Kalama, Wash., and rejoin her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Pyne, and Christina.

The girls suffer from a rare inherited disease that destroyed their kidneys.

Barbara's problem was that because of her relatively rare blood type—AB—it was feared that she might have a long wait. Only about 3 per cent of the population has AB blood.

Meantime, the girl was kept alive on an artificial kidney machine.

Then, on Feb. 25, Mrs. Pyne received a call that a kidney had become available for Barbara. It was from a stranger with the right type blood type and there was a good tissue match.

The girl was taken to university hospital and readied for the operation. At the same time, her new kidney was being kept alive and functioning on the perfusion machine.

Turn in pusher program starts

GLENN'S FERRY — A "Turn in a Pusher" program went into effect in Glenn's Ferry, Grand View, Mountain Home and Bruneau, Friday.

Jack Streeter, chairman of a Chamber of Commerce committee which has studied the TIP program, said the program offers a cash reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest of a drug pusher. Similar programs are being conducted throughout the nation.

The TIP programs telephone, 567-4682 in Mountain Home, will be in operation 24 hours a day to take information concerning suspected drug pushers. The caller will not be asked to give his name. The caller will be given a fictitious name and number and advised not to give this information to anyone else.

The information will be turned over to law enforcement authorities. If the tip leads to an arrest, the supervising committee will decide how much money the tipster should receive. The tipster will be notified through an ad in the Mountain Home news addressing him by his fictitious name.

GLENN'S FERRY — Seven new members have been added to the Glenn's Ferry Jaycees after a membership drive.

The drive was spearheaded by President Milan Gould and District 7 President, S.A. Smith. The Jaycees are now using their newly established Jaycees meeting hall donated for their use by an honorary member, Robert Griggs, owner of the Trophy Club in Glenn's Ferry.

When the person calls TIP, he will be asked to give identifying information regarding the case. The reward will be mailed in whatever name the tipster wishes and can be either cash or check. The reward may be left at a pre-arranged place.

Streeter said the program is being financed by several organizations and a number of individuals in the participating communities.

The TIP committee is asking all area families to donate $1 to the TIP fund at the Idaho First National Bank in Mountain Home.

TWIN FALLS — Officers for the Intermountain Association of Hardware and Implement dealers were announced Saturday.

President for 1977-78 is Joe Cline, Twin Falls, owner of Krenzel's. He is a third generation hardware man having started in the business in Iowa with his family.

Rudy Ashenbrenner, Twin Falls, was elected to the board of directors for 1977-78.

Vanilla lore

NEW YORK (UPI) Commercial production of vanilla owes its origin to Edmund Albius, a former slave, on Reunion Island in the Indian Ocean near Madagascar, now the Malagasy Republic.

Early in the 18th century, Albius perfected a practical method of pollinating vanilla orchids by hand. The area of the Malagasy Republic now produces about 90 per cent of the world's vanilla supply.

Tuesday primary key vote

By United Press International
The primary balloting in New Hampshire and Florida, this week and next will provide the first clear signs of whether an older generation of presidential hopefuls is reaching a fresh political fountain of youth—the newly franchised 18-through-20-year-old voting set.

Every candidate involved in the two states' has welcomed youthful volunteers and made strong pitches for the teenage votes in New Hampshire Tuesday and Florida one week later.

But the response has been spotty, ranging from the apathetic or the uncommitted at the college level to the enthusiastic among high school students.

In both states, an estimated 35 per cent of the 18 to 21 age group has registered. This would mean approximately 33,000 of them in New

Analysis

Hampshire are entitled to vote in a state where there are slightly more than 400,000 registered voters.

In Florida with 2,982,078 qualified voters and 1,333,000 under 21, there were 129,807 on the registration rolls in the 18 through 20 age bracket.

The 35 per cent registration figure tends to mirror the situation nationwide up to this point. A Democratic party survey of 32 secretaries of state indicating between 3.5 million and 3.7 million of the new enfranchised youths had registered to vote.

Philip M. Selb, director of the Democratic National Committee's youth voter program, estimated in December that the nationwide total in the age group was 11,462,000.

Political strategists of both parties also note that more intensive efforts will be made to enroll the unregistered for the November presidential election. A sampling of figures for New Hampshire in early December showed that in Manchester, the state's largest city, 2,313 of the 4,062 in the 18-20 group had registered.

Figures from Florida on Jan. 1 listed 15,441 registered out of 60,945 in Dade County; 5,259 of 20,295 in Pinellas County; 11,418 of 30,256 in Duval County; and 5,611 of 25,970 in Hillsboro County that includes Tampa.

How many of the newcomers will turn out to vote however is an enigma to the strategists of every candidate.

Four years ago, New Hampshire's primary saw the first major manifestation of youthful political activism when hundreds of college students devoted their energies to the antiwar cause of Eugene McCarthy.

This year, the campus-based fervor is absent even though the war remains a hot topic at the colleges and universities.

"There's no villain and there's no hero as in 1968," Lou Ureneck, editor-in-chief of the University of New Hampshire's student newspaper, said.

Pipeline estimate up fast

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI)—A new analysis of the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline shows that construction costs may be $3.5 billion or more—twice the cost estimates of two years ago.

Eric Wohlforth, Alaska commissioner of revenue, said Friday that the increased cost estimates, resulting from inflation only 25 to 50 per cent of oil revenues previously anticipated if the pipeline is built.

"Recently, through our own independent analysis, we learned that all won't be flowing through to maximum capacity of the line until seven years after construction," he said.

Asked if the higher construction costs place the pipeline project in jeopardy, he said, "We don't believe it puts a damper on construction. We still believe the line will be built."
