$ price drops

LONDON (UPI) — The price of the dollar plunged to new all time lows in several European countries today forcing some central (government) banks to intervene in exchange markets to prevent the U.S. currency crashing down through its official "floor" price.

Bankers, financiers, money managers and speculators continued to sell dollars and switch their holdings to other safer looking currencies for the fourth consecutive session.

The West German mark and the British pound both attracted a big share of attention which drove the dollar down to new lows in those countries. The dollar also plummeted to its lowest yet in Switzerland.

In Amsterdam the Dutch state bank was taking in large quantities of dollars trying to prop up the U.S. currency above its internationally agreed "floor" level, dealers said.

Dealers in London said they suspected that the Bank of England was also intervening in markets in a small way but mainly to steady the fast falling price of the dollar rather than keep it higher than its "floor."

The bank does not disclose whether or not it is operating. In terms of the British pound, the dollar was still a little distance from its agreed lowest permitted level or "floor" which is $2.6445 to the pound.

Today's new dollar runback made it more than one cent cheaper in London than on Wednesday. The dollar also slid to a new all-time low in Frankfurt and hit 3,155 West German marks, or 2.04 per cent below its official price, or parity.

At 2.25 per cent below parity the state bank-Bundesbank is obliged to mop up still more dollars.

It has in fact been doing this steadily in recent weeks attempting to prevent the world price of the mark from soaring and thus hurling the competitive edge of German exports in world markets.

German dealers said they could not pinpoint any single factor for the new dollar setback but said it seemed a continuation of the general crisis of confidence in the dollar. The state bank had not yet intervened in the market in early trading.

When it's over, author living may make more money on his own troubles than telling the Hughes story.

Anti-bus success foreseen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Anti-busing forces claimed today they were "within shooting distance" of the two-thirds vote needed to get House approval of a constitutional amendment banning busing of school children to obtain racial balance.

A House bloc opposed to the practice was buoyed Wednesday by a House decision to stand fast behind the strongest anti-busing amendments yet acted on in Congress.

On a 272-139 vote, the House ordered its representatives in a House-Senate conference committee to stand by the amendments, which were attached to a five-year, $24 billion authorization for aid to higher education.

Debt lid measure to panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill raising the national debt limit to $450 billion headed for a congressional conference committee today. It included amendments opposed by the administration that would make the government spend less.

The Senate passed the bill 53-20 Wednesday, but first it attached amendments to impose spending ceiling during the 1973 fiscal year beginning July 1. The House immediately rejected these amendments by voice vote, forcing the measure into a House-Senate conference committee to resolve the differences.

The government now is expected to run about a $45 billion deficit in the fiscal year which ends June 30. The debt limit law allows it to borrow money to pay its bills.

The nation's permanent debt limit is $400 billion, and a temporary $30 billion extension runs out June 30. The administration sought another "temporary" extension to $480 billion through mid-1973, but the House and Senate both decided on the short-term $450 billion figure to tide the Treasury over until a better assessment of the economic picture can be made late in the spring.

Maoists refused

PARIS (UPI) — Workers at the giant Renault automobile plant today rejected a request by the Maoist kidnappers of Renault executive Robert Nogrette, 63, that they stage a brief walkout to decide what the kidnappers should do with the victim.

An anonymous telephone call to Europe No. 1, a commercial television station in Paris, said the Maoists were so disappointed at failing to receive a demonstration.

Two-count federal indictment charged Irving and his blond fourth wife Edith with mail fraud and conspiring to use the mails to defraud the McGraw-Hill publishing house.

The 25-count indictment handed up by the county panel charged Irving and Suiskind with grand larceny, forgery and perjury in the second degree.

Mrs. Irving, who admitted using the name "Helga R. Hughes" to cash $850,000 in checks from McGraw-Hill intended for Hughes, was charged with forgery and grand larceny.

Following the federal announcement, the Irvings were arraigned on the charges at Federal Court. Suiskind was not present.

Irving was released $100,000 personal recognizance bond and will plead to the charges.

support they would free Nogrette on Friday.

Nogrette was kidnapped Wednesday by members of an extreme left-wing group called "The New Popular Resistance."

Nogrette was labor relations director of the plant and the Maoists said they were kidnapping him in retaliation for the death of René-Pierre Overney, 25, who was shot Feb. 25 by a Renault security guard during a demonstration.

Columnist charges nominee 'not fit'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Columnist Jack Anderson charged conventions to receive such today that Richard G. Kleindienst was "unfit to be attorney general" because of the "major and clearly violates" the role he played in settlement of antitrust cases against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Anderson appeared as a witness before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering President Nixon's appointment of Kleindienst as attorney general and charges that settlement of the ITT cases was linked with an ITT offer of $400,000 to underwrite the convention contribution. She is being treated in a Denver hospital for a heart condition.

"We understand that Vice President E. J. Gerry of ITT is masterminding the effort to paint his only Washington staff lobbyist as a crackpot and a drunk," Anderson told the senators.

But Anderson said the committee should remember that until the memorandum leaked Mrs. Beard "was regarded as one of the most powerful lobbyists in Washington". He pointed out Fortune Magazine chose Mrs. Beard as one of the most influential Washington lobbyists.

Anderson said that earlier testimony before the committee indicated that former Kentucky Gov. Louie B. Nunn "has perhaps the most erratic memory in the history of American politics".

ERWIN GRISWOLD

... "good bargain"

"There can be no doubt that Mr. Kleindienst played a major role in the settlement of the ITT antitrust cases," Anderson said in prepared testimony. "He helped bring about a controversy, also testified his settlement experts have denounced as a sham."

Anderson said Kleindienst is a man who "has trouble recognizing a crime when he sees one". The columnist said Kleindienst had protested a billion antitrust settlement with

Governor signs

Gem code repeal

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus signed the criminal code repeal bill into law Wednesday within five seconds after it was carried into his office.

The bill to repeal the revised criminal code effective April 1 was taken to Andrus by his administrative assistant, Edward V. Williams. He had walked from his second floor office to the house chambers on the third floor of the statehouse to pick up the bill.

It was the third trip Williams had made during the day and he stood while the house clerk signed the transmittal slip.

For the record, the history of the bill will show it left the house at 3:02 p.m. and was signed by the governor at 3:05 p.m.

Earlier in the day, Andrus told the weekly Ada County Democratic luncheon he intended to sign the repeal measure the moment he received it.

The legislature, he said, had "caused all the confusion over the criminal code."

"They have gone both ways at least twice, and the burden is on them to get a criminal code back on the books by the first day of April."

Noting the revised criminal code which went into effect Jan. 1 was the result of a six-year study, Andrus said if amendments could have been applied in four areas "we wouldn't have this trouble."

The governor's signature ended a threat from

Sen. C. C. (Cy) Chase, D-St. Maries, to force a slowdown in the senate if the bill were not sent to the governor's office.

The senate passed the repealer last Friday. The house passed it Feb. 23. The repeal measure was signed by House Speaker William Laning, R-Hollister, on Tuesday. It was signed Wednesday morning by Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy.

The bill then was returned to the house where it was finally read across the desk late in the afternoon and shortly afterward Williams took the bill to the governor.

Still to come before the legislature is a massive bill re-enacting the old criminal code as it existed Dec. 31, 1971, the day before the revised code went into effect.

The house has before it a bill which would repeal the repealer which, if passed, would put the revised criminal code back on the books.

Legislation was introduced in the senate Tuesday to extend the effectiveness of the repeal bill from April 1, 1972, to April 1, 1973, thus giving proponents time to amend the revision and let Idahoans live under it for an extra year.

Asked whether he would sign the repeal to the repealer if it reached his desk, Andrus replied he would not "prejudge" a bill.

It was the same reply he gave when asked about his intentions the day the repeal bill was approved by the senate.

Carolina Demo enters primary

DURHAM, N. C. (UPI) — Former Gov. Terry Sanford hopes a drive initiated by a group of college students carries him to the Democratic National Convention with enough delegate strength to bargain for the presidential nomination.

The Duke University president denied that he was acting as a "stalking horse" for Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., whom he campaigned for in 1968, or that he was aiming for a cabinet post or vice presidential slot.

"For the first time since the Civil War," said Sanford, "North Carolina has a chance, although the odds are still great, to win the Democratic presidential nomination."

"If the front-runner falters... the delegates will make the choice, most likely a fresh face."

Sanford said the lateness of his candidacy almost precluded his entering any other primaries, but he said he had picked up pledges of support in 11 states that select their delegates by other means than a preferential primary election.

Israelis retaliate

The spokesman said all planes returned safely. The raid was part of Israel's "no nonsense" policy of reprisal against guerrillas striking into Israel and followed a rocket attack this morning against the Israeli frontier settlement of Bar Am, the second village to come under fire from Lebanon since a four-day armored sweep into Fatahland ended 11 days ago. Israeli gunners also fired into Southern Lebanon.

Indians claim victory in death investigation

GORDON, Neb. (UPI) — Six hundred Indians claimed victory today when local and state officials joined them in issuing a call for a congressional investigation into the alleged torture death of an Oglala Sioux Indian.

The Indians, organized by leaders of the militant American Indians Movement (AIM), entered Gordon by caravan three days ago to protest the depth of Raymond Yellow Thunder. They said they would stay until their demands were met.

Gordon is 27 miles from the Battle of Wounded Knee.

Yellow Thunder, 51, was found dead Feb. 20 in the cab of a truck on the lot of an automobile dealer. Indians have charged that he was tortured and beaten by five white men who humiliated Yellow Thunder by forcing him to strip and dance before a group of whites prior to his death.

Four men and one woman have been charged with manslaughter and false imprisonment in connection with Yellow Thunder's death.

The Indians appeared to have won more than they asked for,

Shoshone Rotary Club hears Elkhorn speaker

SHOSHONE — Impact on the economy of Blaine County of the proposed $38 million resort community, Elkhorn, was explained to the Rotary Club members Wednesday noon.

John Givens, introduced by Francis Bergin, told of plans for the community, which would take in 2,300 acres with 200 acres for new homes and village, with both winter and summer recreation to stressed.

Of the $38.7 million in capital investment expected to be generated by the project, an estimated $20 million will be paid to labor and $18.27 million will be expended for materials.

The new resort complex will be developed in planned stages over the next 10 years as a summer-winter and second home recreation community with complete facilities for retailing, recreation, living accommodations, professional offices, services and administration.

The development plan for 1972 calls for completion of 85 studio apartments and 46 townhouse condominiums in the golf course for the summer of 1974; about 50 per cent of the buildings in Elkhorn Village. Yablonski testimony

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The name-of-United-Mine-Workers (UMW) President W.A. "Tony" Boyle was brought up for the first time during the trial of one of five persons accused in the Yablonski murders, a special prosecutor disclosed Wednesday.

Richard A. Sprague said he told an FBI agent to give "the Tony Boyle statement" to a defense attorney in one of the two trials he has prosecuted to date. In the 1969 murders of UMW official Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

During the trial in Washington, Pa., last week in which Paul E. Gillis was convicted of first-degree murder, two government witnesses said Gillis offered them money that came from a man identified only as "Tony" to kill Yablonski.

Possible solution

ROME (UPI) — Prime Minister Dom Mintoff of Malta left for Malta today after talks with the Italian government on a possible solution to the crisis of the Malta military bases.

Italy has been acting as intermediary in the dispute between Malta and Britain over cash and conditions for the bases.

Italians showed little interest in Kennedy's proposal.

Khrushchev was using the advantage for propaganda purposes.

The long-range purposes of the compatible docking system would be to make space rescue a possibility and eventually to carry out joint experiments.

Joint U.S.-Soviet experiments began Feb. 11 this year and would include a variety of exercises, such as observation to combine efforts in medical research and combating environmental problems.

The technical plans for such systems are being drawn up.

Harrisburg informant testifies

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Boyd E. Douglas, the forger, impersonator and two-time convict who was an informant against the Harrisburg Seven, thought he would like to be an FBI man after his parole—or at least work for the bureau as a career.

That was his testimony Wednesday on cross-examination in the case of the Rev. Philip F. Barrigan and six other opponents of the Vietnam War being tried on charges of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, sabotage Washington heating tunnels and vandalize draft boards.

Douglas has testified he smuggled letters between the imprisoned Barrigan and the other defendants while he, too, was a prisoner in 1970 in Lewisburg Penitentiary. He turned FBI informant on June 3, 1970 and gave the bureau copies of the alleged conspiratorial messages.

But even before that, he said, when he heard Barrigan talking about blowing up the heating ducts, he made copies because "it was my intent in the future to make sure the FBI had this information."

He was survived by his widow, Twin Falls; one son, James F. Egbert, Las Vegas, Nev.; two grandchildren, two nieces and one nephew.

MANILA (UPI) — A 31-year-old college professor successfully fought off two young men who allegedly tried to rob him along a busy downtown avenue. But he lost his money to passersby anyway.

Joe Molina said during his struggle with the would-be robbers a box in which he was carrying 3,000 pesos to deposit in a bank broke open.

We consider this a fair and just settlement," attorney Ronald D. Krist said. "The papers have been signed. It's just a matter of filing the papers."

Krist said the settlement granted $100,000 on a Florida suit asking $5 million. Two other $5 million suits on behalf of Grissom's two sons, Gary, 21, and Allen, 17, filed in Los Angeles where the spacecraft was manufactured, were settled for $125,000 each, Krist said.

A second Florida suit for $5 million on behalf of Grissom's widow, Betty, was dismissed because it was filed after the two-year statute of limitations, Krist said.

U.S., Soviets plan joint space mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers testified Wednesday that the United States and the Soviet Union actively are planning a joint manned space mission.

Cleanup day set for TF

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners and Bureau of Land Management officials have selected April 29 as annual cleanup day in Twin Falls and Cassia counties.

BLM officials from Burley's district office met Wednesday afternoon with Twin Falls County Commissioners to discuss plans for the one-day campaign. Commission Chairman William L. (Bill) Chancey said cooperation has already been assured from such groups as Boy Scouts and 4-H Club in all parts of the county.

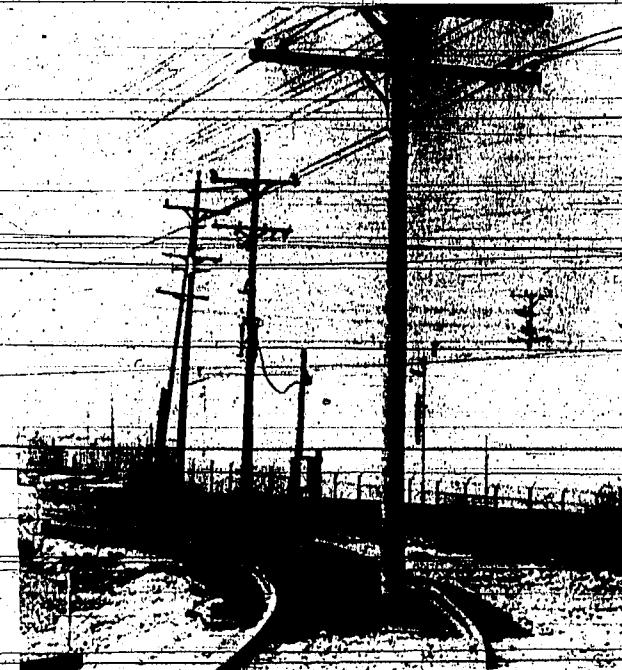

For the past two years the campaign has resulted in collection of litter from roadsides, public parks and other rights of way and public property.

Chancey said the National Guard is expected to assist again with heavy equipment and manpower.

Robert Brock, BLM, said Cassia County Commissioners have indicated they will coordinate their drive with the Twin Falls effort to make it a two-county effort and utilize some of the same services.

Several tons of debris left from long winter months is picked up during the one day event. Community chairmen will be named in each of the major areas of the county to select volunteer teams and assign areas to be covered.

Lower costs

TWIN FALLS — Agreement for providing liability insurance for Twin Falls County, including Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, was announced Wednesday showing a reduction over 1971 costs.

County Commission Chairman William L. (Bill) Chancey said the bid from the Twin Falls Insurance Agents Association was in the amount of $20,340 compared to the bid of $25,735 last year. Chancey said the bid this year includes $8,410 for the county and $15,938 for the hospital.

The insurance association each year prepares the bid by negotiation with members which Chancey says accounts for the one bid only.

He said the commissioners were pleased with the offer this year which allows a saving of more than $3,000 and feels it reflects a good record for the county in a low claim figure.

Sun Valley City Council grants cable franchise

SUN VALLEY — A city cable franchise has been granted to Wood River Cable-Vision by the Sun Valley City Council.

A 15-year franchise term, with the first 10 years as exclusive, was established. The agreement approved Tuesday will become effective April 6.

Councilman William Innes said the cable service will be supplied to residents at their option. He said that the exclusive nature of the contract didn't exclude use of alternate means of television reception such as translators or repeaters.

City franchise charges were established at one per cent of the subscriber's fees the first year, two per cent the second and three per cent the third and subsequent years. The contract included a $5,000 performance bond.

In other action, the council approved Elkhorn at Sun Valley Townhouse and Condominiums Phase Out at the request of E. James Murrer, president of RecreActions Inc. — the management and planning firm for the development.

Murr said construction of the 46 units will begin this summer. The proposal included one parking space for each resident and a half space for each guest. The council also approved Elkhorn Subdivision One and Two. Final action on the plan drawing had been pending because of the council's objection to some of the narrow roads within the subdivisions. Development officials agreed to retain the narrower roads as private roads. The remaining roads will be deeded to the city after they are brought up to specifications.

In further action, the council changed its meeting time from every third Monday morning in the month to every third Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. The council adopted an ordinance establishing impounded dog policies. The ordinance stated the unclaimed impounded dogs must be retained at least 72 hours. A fine schedule will be established by resolution at a future council meeting.

Impounded dogs, owned by persons who are staying at Sun Valley for less than 30 days, were exempted from fines, providing they bear a license issued by another municipality or government.

A Political Vote

Any hope for legislation designed to prevent crippling transportation strikes is dead for this session of Congress. Six Democrats on a House-Congress Subcommittee scuttled the bill aimed to prevent railroad and airline strikes and to impose eventual mandatory settlements if necessary, overriding four Republicans and the Subcommittee Chairman, Rep. John Jarman, Oklahoma Democrat.

"Labor certainly doesn't want compulsory arbitration," said Rep. Harvey Staggers, D-West Virginia, Chairman of the Commerce Committee.

"This was a very political vote in a political year," commented Rep. James Harvey, R-Michigan, after the Subcommittee rejected his measure intended as a compromise between President Nixon's proposal for permanent strike settling legislation and organized labor's adamant opposition to forced arbitration.

Harvey's measure would have permitted selective strikes in the railroad industry but would have retained a key administration provision that both parties in a major contract dispute would submit proposals for settlement and an arbitrator would select one of them to take effect without change.

Organized labor does not want any restrictions on its "right to strike" and hates the suggestion of mandatory arbitration. And, in this election year, labor's political muscle is a powerful persuader.

Labor certainly could learn to live with compulsory arbitration as a last resort to end strikes that hurt the entire country.

The issue may be dead for this year but it will come up again with greater pressure whenever there is another prolonged and costly transportation strike. It would be better to consider ways to settle strikes during a period of labor peace than in the heat of bitter negotiations.

Busing Compromise

Three Democratic Senators interrupted their campaigns for the Presidential nomination long enough to help reverse Senate approval of the "Griffin Amendment" to take school busing out of federal court jurisdiction.

The strong anti-busing proposal by Senator Robert Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip, won surprise approval 43-40, February 25. But, Senators Edmund Muskie, Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern hurried back to vote on reconsideration and it was defeated by 3 votes, 50-47.

Then the Senate approved a compromise submitted by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Minority Leader Hugh Scott. The Mansfield-Scott Amendment would prohibit the use of federal funds for busing not locally approved, which involved unreasonably long distances, or which transported a child to an inferior school. Barring use of federal money when busing "would risk the health of the children or impinge on the educational process" may send to the courts some sticky questions of interpretation. Any court order for busing across district lines would be staled until all appeals had been exhausted.

The Griffin Amendment went directly to the heart of the matter by forbidding federal courts to order busing to achieve "racial balance," which has not been defined by the Supreme Court as a constitutional necessity.

Defeat of the Griffin Amendment indicates there is no chance for gaining the two-thirds majority required for approval of an anti-busing constitutional amendment.

There is no need for a constitutional amendment to limit busing. Congress can do it if it chooses.

MR. SPECTATOR

Applause And Applause

We were told — on the side — that the applause was something to hear the other night when the cast of "Guys and Dolls" came out for the curtain call at conclusion of the performance.

The applause continued and continued and the members of the cast bowed and bowed. One would think, we are told, that it would go on forever. But suddenly it stopped in a burst of good natured laughter. Why?

Well, it seems that one of the members of the cast — a lead, in fact — was the cause of it all.

Each time he bowed, something happened that brought on more cheers. It took quite awhile for the man in question — and other members of the cast — to catch on.

What they found was that the man's fly was open — and each time he bowed his white shorts were visible in a most unusual place for public appearances.

When the zipper came up — we are told — the cheering stopped. We were also told the guy's name but he might not like the personalized exposure so we will leave that out.

But the "Guys and Dolls" show will be on again tonight, Friday night and Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Spectator will go Friday night and, needless to say, we hope we haven't waited too long for all the excitement.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

To the average man, a stitch in time is sometimes a complete surprise. Which also reminds us that a self-made man usually has a lot of working parts.

A THANK YOU

Dear Mr. Spectator:

The World Day of Prayer held last Friday at the Priory was celebrated by all religions, including the Catholics. Father Simon Van De Voord was a gracious host, assisted by some 25 members of St. Edward's Parish. Since prayer is universal, I'd like to emphasize the participation in the service of all denominations and to say thanks to all who were concerned enough to attend our celebration. Thanks, too, for the excellent media coverage.

ANDREW TULLY

My Friend, Johnny, Was Shot

WASHINGTON — They stood Johnny up against a wall in Havana's La Cabana Prison the other day and shot him dead. Although I was never sure of Johnny's right name, he was my friend.

The news of his death came from an American businessman I knew during the wild days of Fidel Castro's takeover of Cuba. The man still has sources on the island, none of whom Castro people, and the bits and pieces of information he picks up are always reliable. Johnny is dead, all right.

"I expect they caught him doing some errands for the agency," said my informant. "The agency" is the CIA, and it was like Johnny to run errands for the American spy shop because he was a pure Socialist who became disillusioned with Castro's revolution early in the show, when Fidel started climbing into bed with the Russians.

Thus to me Johnny's murder is meaningful to all who accept John Donne's dictum that any man's death diminishes mankind. Some of his Socialistism was dumb, but Johnny believed utterly in the dignity of the individual. He was a faceless symbol of the faceless Cuban, people who trusted Castro and were betrayed by him. We have lost a good one.

Johnny was a taxi driver when I knew him. He drove a big black Cadillac owned by some wheeling-dealing entrepreneur and I employed his services in covering the revolution because he knew his way around and his charges were reasonable considering the turmoil in which we worked. He must have been about 40, a tall, rangy Cuban with two teeth missing in front, and he believed he was as good as the next man, while he was. And there was the case of young Jose.

At La Cabana's gates, we were stopped by a bearded guerrilla, who waved the Cadillac back. Johnny got out and talked to the guard. He told Jose I had a date to see Guevara, which was the right tactic if untrue.

The guard invited me out of the car and frisked me, taking my wallet. "He can't do that," I told Johnny. "I know," said Johnny. "Wait." He talked some more to the guard and the guard, gloating, returned my wallet — after removing $53.

Johnny was not the aggressive type, but he took direct action.

Although a submarine gun was slung over the guerrilla's shoulder, Johnny grabbed him by the collar and bellowed at him in rapid-fire Cuban Spanish.

The guard returned the money.

"What do you say to him?" I asked Johnny as we drove on into the prison compound.

"Nothing," replied Johnny.

"Nothing. Just that I didn't want to see him get hurt."

There was young Jose. This was just before the Castro takover and Jose was a member of a rebel patrol on a job a few miles from the government-held city of Santa

Clara. Jose was only 17, with smooth cheeks, still chubby with boy-fat. Johnny introduced me to him.

"Jose is a good soldier, but he is homesick," said Johnny. "He misses his mother much."

That afternoon, while Johnny and I watched from nearby hill, the patrol made a reconnaissance to determine how strongly the government forces were guarding the road into Sant Clara. They were garrisoned well with mortars among other weapons. The patrol had to retreat in some confusion.

Johnny gave the lieutenant in command a stern look. "Wer is Jose?" he asked. Jose, who missed his mother much, had been killed. His body had been left where it had fallen in a sandy gully. The lieutenant explained it was too dangerous to try to bring Jose's body back.

Not for Johnny it wasn't. He was off — running, skulking, crawling, using the muscles of his belly for locomotion. There were fusillades of machine gun fire from the government unit, and the whumping, slamming blasts of exploding mortar shells. But 10 minutes later, Johnny was back — with Jose's body slung over one shoulder.

"His mother will want him," said Johnny. "He is dead, but his mother will want to care for him, still, for the last time."

As I said, Johnny had this thing about the dignity of man.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Stroke Therapy

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My wife had a stroke four years ago and underwent surgery two weeks later.

We put her in a therapy clinic where they were very efficient. She was in a wheelchair when she started treatment. Now she is up-and-can-get around with the aid of a cane and brace.

She seems to be improving slowly. Should she discontinue therapy? — G.D.K.

Four years is a long time and, although your wife has probably reached a high percentage of her ultimate recovery, by all means continue any therapy you can reasonably give her at home.

The last peaks of stroke recovery are as difficult to make as the last few feet of a mountain climb.

And there's another reason. The therapy will prevent alipage from progress already made, minimize weakness of any still immobilized limbs and keep her healthy occupied.

You don't mention your wife's age. The younger the victim, the more fruitful extended therapy can be toward nearly full recovery.

After age 60, progress is often painfully slow. For victims in their 40s, say, it can be speedy and remarkable — with therapy.

You also mention in your letter that there was a period after the stroke when therapy was not available, an unfortunate, but probably necessary occurrence because of the surgery. As a general rule, the more immediately the therapy is after the stroke, the more hope for fuller recovery.

Her physician should advise her whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a son who is constantly cracking his knuckles. He makes a flat and squeezes his knuckles together. Is this bad for his hands? Mrs. J.J.

Not that I'm aware of. But I do sympathize with you, like myself, such cracking annoys you.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson. In care of this newspaper for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume of the surgery. As a general rule, the more immediately the therapy is after the stroke, the more hope for fuller recovery. Her physician should advise her whenever possible.

About George

MIAMI (NEA)

— What makes George Wallace run?

In the final version she inserted the themes and the major thrust she had fought for from the start. In the end, the words and music were hers and not Liu's.

It is clear, of course, that this was not a battle over what should be in an opera. It was a test of power. Liu and his group lost. Mao's wife won.

Since that battle, Chiang Ching's ideas have dominated a series of operas now popular in China. Her concepts, which are undoubtedly Mao's also, have prevailed.

Reconsider

BOISE (UPI) — The house killed by two votes Wednesday and then reconsidered and held for one day a constitutional proposal to allow cities and counties to levy income and excise taxes.

Because it proposed to amend the constitution, the measure required two-thirds support of the entire membership — 47 votes. It received only a simple majority of 43-21.

By a vote of 45-21, however, the house reconsidered the proposal and held it for further consideration on Thursday.

House proposes 7-bill package

BOISE (UPI) — A seven-bill package to increase the state tax on gasoline and other highway motor fuel by 1½ cents per gallon was introduced Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Earlier, the house approved a bill accompanying the latest package submitted by Ways and Means at the request of the House Transportation Committee, would give cities one-sixth of the net proceeds of the excise taxes on gasoline instead of one seventh as at present.

Parental consent lowered

BOISE (UPI) — House members approved 62-3 and sent to the senate Wednesday a bill to lower to 16 from 18 the minimum age for seeking drug abuse treatment without parental consent.

Rep. Robert Hankenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, called the bill a "step toward helping solve the drug problem in the state of Idaho." He said it will encourage young drug abusers to seek help without the "stigma" of having their parents notified.

Rep. John Reardon, R-Bolton, said the net effect of this bill is to destroy "the integrity of the family unit."

"This is the very time the child needs his parents the most," he said, adding that the "age of 16 is the age of doubt among our children . . . the age of cynicism."

But Rep. Ed Hedges, R-Bolton, countered, if the youngsters have started to use drugs in any substantial amount, "meaningful communication with the parents already is destroyed."

Identities probed

MIAMI (UPI) — The FBI today was trying to establish the identities of two men who went to a library to "research" their hijacking of a seaplane and claimed they were part of a "black revolutionary army which is planning a revolution in Miami."

An FBI source told UPI early today agents in Washington, Chicago and Miami were close to a firm identification of one of the two hijackers, who told hijacked pilot Bob Wallis, 24, pilot for the flight to Bimini, "Chicago police are looking for men hitchhiked to Miami about a month ago but they did not know if they were wanted by Chicago authorities.

'Sin' levy easy form of taxation

BOISE (UPI) — One of the easiest forms of taxation is the sanctimonious levy on "sin" and it is not surprising that the Idaho Legislature once again is looking in this direction.

A definition of "sin" varies, of course, with each person's religious feelings, life patterns and the like. But to many in the hallowed halls of the statehouse its three principal forms are booze, tobacco, and sex.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the 41st Idaho Legislature is looking to cigarettes to pick up part of the tax load needed to balance the budget. It is not surprising, in addition, that it has eyeball to other tobacco and wine for a tax bite to control water pollution.

So-called "sin taxes" are the easiest for most legislators — especially those from southern Idaho — to support and the more difficult for them to oppose and when they are dedicated to such noble, public-spirited projects as water pollution control, or, if you will, sewage construction, who can challenge them?

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Bolton, put it rather succinctly when he observed to newsmen that a target for revenue.

"Tax on sin is the least painful tax except on those of us who consider and finally passed back in the mid-60's one of the arguments advanced in its favor."

With such taxes Idahoans have built schools and educated children. They have funded public health and welfare programs. And, by supplementing local property taxes for schools, they've even helped churches enjoy a property tax exemption.

Their popularity, of course, increases in times of fiscal strain — such as that faced by the Idaho legislature this year.

Lawmakers staring another election in the face aren't exactly eager to alienate all the electorate so "sin" is a good legged stool."

Idaho's tax structure best would be supported, said the sales tax advocates, by putting the third leg of sales taxes onto the existing legs of income and property taxes.

A similar argument is brooding in the back corridors of the legislature in reference to the taxes on sin. Alcohol and tobacco are subject to taxation but sex is not.

FRIDAY NITE

'Political guts' reported from NH

MANCHESTER, N.H. (UPI) — The raw vote winners in the New Hampshire Democratic primary were apparent shortly after the polls closed but it was not until Wednesday that the political guts of the election were known. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie won 15 delegates to the national convention and Sen. George S. McGovern won five.

President Nixon, as expected, captured all 14 delegates to the GOP convention.

Tuesday's first-in-the-nation presidential primary was divided into two parts—the preference section in which voters picked which candidate they liked best and the delegate section in which delegates to the national conventions were chosen. The list of 183 delegate candidates was so long that it took officials until Wednesday to get the votes recorded.

These are all-pledged delegates, which means they must follow their party's rules for this designation. Although these rules will be set by the convention, they probably will be bound to vote for their candidates at least the first ballot unless released.

With about 93 per cent of the vote counted, Nixon got 77,398 votes in the popular balloting; Muskie, of neighboring Maine, got 40,426 votes or 48 per cent of those cast. McGovern of South Dakota made a strong showing with 37 per cent of the vote, 31,012.

Humphrey talks, McGovern wins

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey preached the politics of love from the rickety wooden stage of the University of Florida auditorium Wednesday, but the students' love went to Sen. George S. McGovern.

His chin-forward, Humphrey winced at the hostility of the questions.

"You come before us," one student said, "with blood on your hands."

Seven hours later, McGovern appeared, fresh from the New Hampshire primary where his surprisingly strong showing in voting to front-runner Edmund S. Muskie made him triumphant in defeat.

Before his arrival, the student newspaper endorsed McGovern and a Florida-wide campus poll showed him to be the favorite of student voters among the 11 candidates in next Tuesday's Democratic presidential primary.

McGovern said New Hampshire proved that an antiwar candidate for President can win workingmen's wards.

Militants give serious threat comment.

"We have the most modern weapons and equipment and are organized in every district of Northern Ireland," the warning said. "With the help of God and to the last drop of blood, we will fight to defend our faith and heritage from Rome rule and poverty."

The outlawed Ulster Volunteer Force made the threat Wednesday in a typewritten sheet handed to a Belfast newspaper.

It promised to include a threat among the 10 and said that once the order was given it would take "them" four days to score the kills and the Catholics "two months to bury their dead."

The Irish Republican Army (IRA) had no immediate reaction.

Republicans, suspecting a plot to load voter rolls with Democrats for this year's presidential election, were able to slow consideration while they predicted opposition. When debate began Wednesday, they had such formidable allies in their camp as Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., the Senate's leading constitutional scholar and master of the art of drawn-out debate.

The measure, which would let potential voters register by mail, is sponsored by Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., and was cleared by his Post Office and Civil Service Committee last year.

Ashbrook sues agency on access to documents

-WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, announced Wednesday a suit to force the Defense Department to make public secret documents on Soviet military strength obtained from a Red Army official.

The suit, he told a news conference, would allow access to the so-called Penkovsky Papers—a compilation of statistics on Soviet nuclear weaponry by a Russian colonel, Oleg Penkovsky, a senior intelligence officer with the Russian Army general staff who was executed for espionage 10 years ago.

Ashbrook, conservative challenger to President Nixon in Republican presidential primaries, said declassification of the documents was essential to any debate on a SALT agreement which may be forthcoming between the United States and Russia.

He said his efforts to persuade the Pentagon to declassify the papers voluntarily were unsuccessful. He said a suit under the Freedom of Information Act was filed in federal district court for southern Illinois this morning.

GOP senators join battle over Pentagon papers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republicans delayed deciding Wednesday whether to join Democrats in providing support for Sen. Mike Gravel's Supreme Court battle with the Justice Department over his publication of the Pentagon papers.

GOP senators caucused privately for 90 minutes but failed to achieve a quorum of 45 members. Further consideration was postponed until next Tuesday.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, the chairman, said merely that there was "full discussion" of the matter. But others indicated serious divisions among GOP senators over aiding Gravel, an Alaska Democrat, in his Supreme Court appeal.

On Tuesday, the Democratic Policy Committee unanimously approved a draft resolution to commit the Senate to intervene in Gravel's suit and to pay all his future legal fees and Gravel's defense expenses which have been estimated as high as $25,000.

Gravel's case stems from his public release and subsequent publication of the Pentagon study on the origins of the Vietnam war.

At issue before the Court, which agreed earlier this week to hear the case, is whether the congressional immunity that protects Gravel from investigation or prosecution for his official acts extends also to his aides and private citizens such as Beacon Press, which published his copy of the Pentagon Papers.

Lower courts have blocked further grand jury inquiry into publication of the papers temporarily pending appeals.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a constitutional expert, was invited to the Republican caucus to discuss the Democrats' rationale for coming to their aid.

Animal goes to committee table

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—A fuzzy prairie dog cautiously paraded along a committee table in the glare of television lights Wednesday. But his appeal failed to win a reprieve for his comrades in the field.

The House Agriculture Committee of the Oklahoma Legislature voted 11-1 to recommend adoption of a Senate-passed bill to permit farmers and ranchers to poison prairie dogs, gophers and other burrowing predatory animals.

Opponents said the measure would lead to indiscriminate poisoning of other animals and further deplete the population of the rare black-footed ferret, which feeds off the prairie dog.

Rep. Hodger Randle, D-Tulsa, carried a small prairie dog named "Skippy" into the meeting and let him loose on the table.

Skippy first appeared stunned by the bright lights of television cameramen. Then he moved slowly toward Rep. Marvin McKee, D-Guymon, author of the bill, who was sitting three chairs away.

"We'd better get back before he gets too close to Mr. McKee," Randle said. Committee members laughed.

State Wildlife Director Farrel Copelin said the bill was a "real test of the ecological conscience of Oklahoma."

"Are Oklahomans willing to sacrifice some economic gain to preserve rare species?" he said.

Copelin said the prairie dog is the primary source of food for the black-footed ferret, which has been identified as a "rare and endangered species." He said the black-footed ferret population is estimated at less than 50.

Market Review

Idaho
Temperatures

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, struggling with the contrasting pressures of profit taking and selective buying, was mixed at the midway mark Thursday. Trending on the New York Stock Exchange was heavy.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was off more than a point at 944.31. However, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was ahead 0.16 at 1052.12.

The three-hour turnover totaled 13,410,000 shares, compared with 12,830,000 traded during the corresponding period Wednesday. Advancing issues topped declines, 772 to 577, among the 1,700 crossing the tape.

Analysts noted a large number of block trades, indicating institutions were active. Also, they said the market is consolidating recent sharp gains.

Honeywell was the most active issue with a block of 167,300 traded at 1074.00.

Steels, motors, chemicals and oils were mixed. Monsanto gained 1 1/4 in the chemicals. One of the company's units announced plans to market a flame retardant fiber. Superior Oil plunged 4 1/4 in the oils.

Rails moved irregularly. Gulf, Mobile & Ohio fell 5% on news the Missouri Pacific and Kansas City Southern Lines have filed suit in Federal Court to block its merger with the Illinois Central. The issue had been stronger earlier this week when the Interstate Commerce Commission sanctioned the merger.

A strong point in the rails was Burlington Northern, up 1 1/4. Airlines and aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

Texas Instruments paced the electronics and computers, rising 2 1/2. IBM climbed 2 1/4. Burroughs 1 1/4, Admiral 1 1/4.

Among the stronger issues were Wrigley (ex-dividend), up 3 1/4, and Corning Glass, Xerox, American Research & Development and Marriott Corp., all up around a point.

Rupert seeks aid on band uniforms

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council heard an appeal Tuesday night to contribute to the Minico High School band uniform fund.

Mrs. Earlene Ricondo and Mrs. Shirley Knodel, mothers of band students at the junior-high and high school levels respectively, presented the appeal on behalf of the Band Boosters at Minico.

The students badly need new uniforms for the marching band to allow participation in band events with other schools. A fund drive has raised about $3,000 to date, but more is needed, as each uniform will cost about $130, Mrs. Ricondo said.

Band uniforms presently in use are more than 10 years old, and most are badly worn from heavy use. The students are "handicapped" by their shabby uniforms and inability to compete with fellow musicians in other schools, the women said.

Mayor Johnson broke the tie, voting in favor of the arrangement.

Rupert Auto Service was named successful bidder to furnish a panel truck for the electrical department, at $3,395.

Other bidders were Hause Auto, bidding $3,500; and Good Motor, bidding $3,625.

Two ordinances updating zoning in annexed areas and annexing a small area along Highway 25 were approved after the required reading in full.

The council also accepted the resignation of Don Reed as chairman of the Traffic Safety Commission. Reed said he was moving from the area, and suggested several candidates for nomination to the commission.

Mayor Johnson said the council should consider naming several members to the commission to replace several who have resigned.

87 per cent favor birth plan for all

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government-sponsored public opinion poll today showed that six out of 10 American adults favor abortions for reasons other than saving a mother's life, while half would remove all legal restrictions on the operations.

The survey, which will be included in a report delivered Sunday to President Nixon and Congress by the U.S. Commission on Population Growth and the American Future, also showed 87 per cent of Americans believe the government should make birth control information universally available.

The report said persons favoring liberalized abortion tended to be younger, better educated and earning higher incomes.

"Whites tend to be more permissive about abortion than blacks; younger women more so than older, and Jews more so than protestants and Catholics," the commission said.

The commission was created by Congress in March 1970, to study the impact of population growth on the economy, the environment and the government by the year 2000.

The nationwide survey of a sample of 1,708 men and women age 18 and older was conducted last summer for the commission by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J. Results were published today in Family Planning Perspectives, a professional journal.

The survey had questions on contraception and abortion, sex, birth control and population, education, adoption and attitudes about population growth.

"Do you think that information about birth control should or should not be made available by the government to all men blacks — 74 per cent said "should" and 18 per cent pollsters said 8 of 10 persons "should not" — than among support legalization of voluntary for-and-8-per-cent-against. A birth control education-in-high schools, two-thirds believe U.S. would approve adopting a child of a different race.

On other questions the schools, two-thirds believe U.S. "should" and 18 per cent pollsters said 8 of 10 persons "should not" — than among support legalization of voluntary for-and-8-per-cent-against. A birth control education-in-high schools, two-thirds believe U.S. would approve adopting a child of a different race.

Malformation not sufficient

SYDNEY (UPI) — The Drug Evaluation Committee ruled Wednesday evidence that the antidepressant drug imipramine causes malformations in newborn babies was not sufficient enough to have it removed from the market.

Committee Chairman Dr. William Morrow said only one of three questionable cases showed a definite history of imipramine-caused deformities and in the other two, the mothers had taken some other type of tricyclic antidepressant.

"In none of these cases have full details been made available even now to my committee," Dr. Morrow said. "Without detailed information, no meaningful assessment can be made as to whether this, other drugs or other factors are involved."

The studies were made by gynecologist Dr. William McBride, whose reports on imipramine influenced the decision of the committee.

It is well-documented that birth abnormalities of the kind referred to by Dr. McBride occurred in the 19th century. In other words before the advent of modern drugs," Morrow said.

He said a recent study of 20,000 deliveries from five teaching hospitals in Sydney and Melbourne over 12 months showed its babies had been born with limb abnormalities other than congenital dislocation of the hip and club foot.

Morrow said in none of these cases could a tricyclic antidepressant be invoked as causal agent.

"My committee has knowledge of 30 women in Australia treated with imipramine in early pregnancy," Morrow said. "In none of them has the fetal abnormalities of any type occurred."

"The committee after a full review of all available local and overseas data can see no reason to alter its previously held views on the use of imipramine in pregnancy," Morrow concluded.

He said, however, his committee recommended all doctors to be careful with the administration of any kind of drugs to women during pregnancy.

Same as men

RIVERDALE, N.J. (UPI) — A bi-weekly newspaper called Suburban Trends has decided to drop all titles for women. The 20,000 circulation paper will treat women's names exactly as men's names are treated.

"We will address her as 'Mary Jane Jones' in the first citation in the article and on subsequent mentions in the same article, she will be simply 'Jones,'" editor Howard Ball wrote Tuesday in an editorial.

Miss and Mrs. will only be used in stories of deaths, weddings and engagements, where the paper feels a woman's marital status should be included.

"This newspaper will not use Ms., which we feel reflects the sex of the individual and defeats any purpose of equality," Ball wrote.

The rate of accidental firearms fatalities has been nearly cut-in-half in the last 40 years, according to the National Safety Council.

Human torch jails Basque

MADRID (UPI)—A Spanish court has sentenced a Basque Nationalist to 6 1/2 years in jail because he turned himself into a human torch with gasoline and jumped from a balcony in full view of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, his lawyer said today.

The Basque souvenir shop owner, Jose Felix Elosoqui, 57, was tried by the Madrid public order court last month. As is customary in Spain in such cases, the court deliberated the verdict in secret and informed his family of it a few days ago. Lawyer Elias Ruiz said Elosoqui was sentenced to four years in jail for "illegal propaganda" and to an additional 2 1/2 years for causing bodily harm to a policeman on whom he landed in his jump. The incident occurred Sept. 18, 1970, when Franco was attending the International championships in Pelota Vasca, a Basque ball game, at San Sebastian.

Appeal sought on girl vs. FBI

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An appeals court is considering a request for a jury trial for an 18-year-old girl who hit an FBI agent with a rolling pin when he invaded her home to arrest her brother, a Navy deserter. Cheryl D. James did not know she was waiving her jury rights when she signed a consent form to be treated as a juvenile, attorneys told the Ninth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday.

Miss James, then 17, hit the FBI agent when four agents invaded the James' family household of 20 people in Portland, Ore., last year to arrest her brother, Charles. A melee broke out when Charles resisted with the help of Cheryl, who grabbed the rolling pin from the kitchen. Two agents later were hospitalized. Charles, who was AWOL for three months because he wanted to marry his girl friend, was convicted of assault and battery.

Miss James was sentenced to 18 months in federal prison after her conviction for assault, but was freed on bond pending appeal after serving eight months.

"Young people are persons just as adults are persons," said attorney Mich Chavice, and should therefore be entitled to the jury trial guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Check for drugs

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Army announced today that it is going to check arriving as well as departing servicemen for drug abuse.

Army spokesmen said the program starts today. All replacement troops arriving in Vietnam will be required to submit urine samples for an electronic check that determines if they have been using opium, heroin or its derivatives.

The purpose of the test on arrival is to spot known drug users as they come into the country, send them to treatment centers and watch them while they are here.

It also will help to determine how many GIs actually acquire their drug habit while they are in Vietnam, the spokesmen said.

The servicemen actually are tested in the United States before they leave for Vietnam, but there often is a lag of two weeks or more between the tests and the time they actually arrive in South Vietnam, because of leaves and allowances for travel time.

Hansen hikes city budget

HANSEN — Hansen City Council has approved a tentative budget of $20,257 and set April 12 at 8 p.m. as the time for a public hearing.

This year's proposed budget is 15.8 per cent higher than the 1971 budget of $17,500. Last year the full budget was not expended because city revenue failed to meet the $17,500. Last year.

This year the budget's largest item is $7,200 for salaries of city employees with the second largest item, $2,100 earmarked for street improvement.

Other proposed expenditures include $1,800 for city lights; $2,100 for well operation; $130 city hall lights; $270, irrigation; $1,000 waterworks; $400 pickup truck; $500 office operation; $120 general; $260 telephone; $300 social.

Emil Piko, Twin Falls, was named attorney for the city of Hansen.

More golf

HAILEY — Blaine County planners have given preliminary approval for a proposed nine-hole golf course north of Hailey.

The county planning and zoning board took the action on the 60-acre golf course to be located below the power substation and west of the railroad tracks north of Hailey during its Tuesday meeting.

Hailey City attorney Stephen W. Boller said the facility was originally planned as a city course but preliminary approval had been granted by the county commissioners to establish a regional facility.

Board member Mark Patterson said that he favored planning for recreational areas before the population increases. He said that larger communities "have found themselves without any park facilities. The cost is ten to 20 times higher to get property if they had not moved before the population developed."

Jerome's chief gets busy start

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome's new chief of police, Howard DuBois, was on the job Wednesday morning even before he had between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m. Wednesday. He said the safe contained a considerable sum of money, and that entry had been obtained through a back door. DuBois said they have no suspects, and an investigation is continuing.

Following his investigation at the Rialto Bar, DuBois was officially sworn in by Mayor J.A. (Jack) Russell as chief of police.

DuBois told the Times-News he is very pleased with the Jerome Police Department and finds the department in better shape than he had expected.

"The patrolmen are well-versed in their jobs and I find the whole department is in adequate shape," DuBois said.

When asked what he thought of the city's decision not to reappoint C. H. Puntney as chief, DuBois said he felt that the council was acting "within the scope of the duties it was elected to perform."

He said an undue amount of publicity had been given to the matter, "which in my opinion tends to reflect badly on a police department."

On the west, the proposed development is bordered by four one-fourth-acre lots, part of the original Ratto Subdivision. Both were established before the planning and zoning ordinance went into effect July 1.

Tuesday night, board member Nick Purdy said that because of the surrounding lot sizes that the Rattos "had ground to stand on."

Move cautiously

His letter said the council should move cautiously before signing any 25-year lease.

It did not specifically mention a lease with B-C, although the B-C lease was the subject of discussion.

Jerome airport opened again

JEROME — Jerome County Airport opened again Wednesday evening for air traffic following a three-week shutdown.

Mrs. Phyllis Sullivan, airport manager, said today the airport was reopened about 6 p.m. She said city crews Wednesday patched the 12-foot long hole in the east end of the runway.

She explained the hole was caused when a plane which had landed fell through the runway because of the hole the airport had been closed to all air traffic since the middle of February. Jerome County Commissioner Cleo Ambrose inspected the repair work at the airport Wednesday and said a serious problem has developed at the airport this year with the runway because of the severe winter.

"This year we had frost heaves on the runway and for a while the ground was extremely soggy and has caused the asphalt to break up in several locations," Ambrose said.

Ambrose said the county had intended to expand the airport this year and seal the runway, but "now we are going to have to take another look at what is needed at the airport and what will have top priority."

A special meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. Friday at Wood's Cafe for the county commissioners and the airport advisory board to try to determine what steps should be taken.

Mrs. Sullivan said, in her opinion, the runway needs more than just a seal coat. "It needs to be completely resurfaced," she said.

She noted that while the city did the repair work on the runway, the county will reimburse it 100 per cent.

Heyburn attacks housing problem

By LEE THREMAINE
Times-News writer

HEYBURN — The Heyburn City Council will go to the source of the problems in solving modular-housing construction problems.

Modular housing, constructed assembly-line fashion in a factory, then moved to the buyer's lot by truck, is proving both popular and troublesome in Heyburn.

Alleged violations of the building code have vexed city officials, since the homes are completely finished outside and inside, and details of construction can be determined only by partially disassembling the units.

Interior panels, when removed for inspection, are usually damaged by the removal and must be replaced. City Superintendent Art McGill told the City Council Wednesday. He said this adds to cost and creates ill will.

After a lengthy discussion the council agreed to send the city building inspector, Ellery McClung, to the factories where the homes are built.

The factories themselves must stand the costs, the council ruled.

McClung will confer with qualified building inspectors in communities or counties where the factories are located, retaining their services to inspect homes destined for Heyburn as they are built.

Heyburn's building code conforms to the National Unified Building Code, so inspection according to the code would be no problem, Mayor Harold Hurst said.

In Salt Lake City, for example, Hurst said, where one modular-housing manufacturer is located, the Salt Lake County building official would inspect the homes for Heyburn.

Similar arrangements would be made in Kimberly, where Regal Homes construction would be inspected by the Twin Falls inspector.

Whaley seeking Jerome office

JEROME — Paul E. Whaley, Whaley was raised on a farm and was a U.S. Marine staff sergeant in the Korean War.

His position will be for firm, fair and effective law enforcement, and that courtesy is most important, Whaley said.

He has attended FBI sponsored special classes and seminars, and received a certificate in police science from Treasure Valley Community College, Ontario, Ore.

Whaley also has received training at the North American Institute of Police Science of Chicago, Ill.

He is seeking the office of county sheriff at the request of many interested citizens, and because he recognizes the need for up-to-the-minute law enforcement, Whaley said.

He has been a resident of the Magic Valley area for five years, the past two in Jerome. He is employed at Idia Gem Dairy. He has five children, and is an active church member.

Burley to double golf site

BURLEY — The city of Burley will double the size of its golf course with the help of an $80,000 federal grant, according to Mayor Garis Robertson.

The office of Idaho Rep. Orval Hansen announced Wednesday that the grant from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has been granted.

The funds must be matched either with local funds or "in-kind" contributions of labor and materials, the mayor said today.

The grant will allow expansion of the course from nine-to-18 holes.

Mayor Robertson said he has not been notified of the grant approval, but "since Hansen said we will get the money, we can probably count on it."

A new well will be dug to supply the new 18-hole golf course and several city parks with ample water in the first stage of the construction, the mayor said.

Mental health board enlarged

SHOSHONE — South Central Idaho Mental Health Center, Inc., board members have expanded their membership by two and furthered plans for federal fund applications.

Meeting in Shoshone Tuesday night, the board approved the appointments of George Carrico, Fairfield, and Dr. Stephanie Martin, Burley, as new members.

The center would serve an eight-county area of south-central Idaho and each county is represented by two persons.

Miss Martin succeeds Dr. Charles Terhune, Burley.

Rev. Michael Fitzgibbons, chairman of the board, said the group will meet again March 28 for a final review of the grant application.

The board proposes application for a $500,000 grant to staff the center. It would include 100-per-cent federal matching funds and a 10-per-cent state grant.

The grants would cover one year of operation.

Rev. Fitzgibbons also announced plans for the state Mental Health Advisory Council meeting to be held in Twin Falls April 8 and 9.

Preemies rest during X rays

NEW YORK (UPI) — Premature infants may sleep right through an X-ray examination at St. Vincent's Hospital where a radiologist and a radiologic technician modified the incubators at a cost of $10,000 so that the baby never leaves the environment so necessary to his existence.

Infants with problems requiring the incubator oxygen also may need X-ray studies for diagnosis. Formerly this meant removal from the incubator. Dr. Harriet Winiewski and technologist James D. White eliminated this by raising the incubator mattress 1½ inches to make room for an X-ray film cassette to slip through a doorway slot at its base.

He said that problems existed in the area, including the need of commercial facilities to serve the population, increasing numbers of entrances on the highway, the uncertainty of possible realignment of the roadway, the need for low-income housing and the lack of specific planning.

"Unless we start thinking about it now, we will have some severe problems in the future," Winiewski said.

Legal drink age lowered

BOISE (UPI) — Taking the individual approach to youthful rights, the Senate voted Wednesday to extend use of beer, wine and liquor to 18-year-olds.

The beer bill was passed 25-10 and the wine bill 22-12 after only a brief explanation by floor sponsor James Stoicheff, D-Sandpoint, and no opposing debate.

The liquor measure was approved 20-14 after Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Bolton, complained the 19-year-old age meant "We have forgotten all about 18-year-old rights and we're just making up our minds as to whether these 18-year-olds who elect our government will be allowed to drink."

Stoicheff said the three bills would grant 15 of the 34 rights to the teenagers contained in an omnibus bill, which would have extended all rights — including use of alcohol — to 18-year-olds, but the bill was amended in the Senate to raise the age for alcohol 19 and the House refused to concur in the amendments.

Since then, Stoicheff said, conference committee named to work out a compromise has not met, so "we're going back and trying to pick up the rights one by one."

Senate studies tax law change

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee began to study Wednesday but took no action on the House-approved property tax law recodification.

Sen. Warren Brown, R-McCall, noted the recodification under study in the house since 1971 did not reach his committee until the 55th day of the 1972 session.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, told the Senate committee an interim study committee several years ago determined on present use.

The bill also requires publication of any exemptions granted to those who pay taxes will know who is not.

Park endorses lower bond vote

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed 25-5 and sent to the House today legislation placing $35,000 in a revolving fund planned for immediate use at Heyburn State Park and Lake Chatcolet.

The money will go to the state land board revolving fund for use in planning and development of sewage and collection systems on state land.

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, said the revolving fund was used last year in the Payette Lakes area, but he said was earmarked for north Idaho this year.

The lake, he said, is "dying from the effects of pollution. We already may be too late."

He said the money would be repaid to the revolving fund by federal matching monies and by state land lessees who have summer homes in the area and will support the bulk of the improvement projects.

Measure amended

BOISE (UPI) — Fearing the bill would give too much authority to the state highway board, the Senate decided today to amend a proposal to let the public petition for re-hearing on highway locations.

Sen. James Ellsworth, R-Ledger, floor sponsor, said the measure was designed to let the public have another chance at a hearing when it disagreed with a decision of the highway board.

But Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Bolton, said the proposal gave the highway board "unprecedented authority" in that once it made a decision after a re-hearing, the decision was not subject to any appeal — including that of the courts.

Formula revised

BOISE (UPI) — With very little debate the house approved 52-14 and sent to the senate Wednesday a bill revising the formula by which state aid is distributed to the public schools.

Chairman Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, of the education committee said there are three principal changes contained in the bills:

It puts distribution on a current rather than preceding year base.

It allows the state board of education to determine the sparsity factor for districts having fewer than 100 pupils.

It takes into consideration home-bound children.

Church asks funds for Hells Canyon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church today urged the Senate and the House Appropriations Committee to approve $4 million in the next fiscal year to prevent the commercial subdivision of private lands in Hells Canyon.

The Idaho senator made the request in letters to the chairman of House and Senate appropriations subcommittees.

Church said unless the $4 million is approved for the Hells Canyon program, private landholdings in the area would likely be sold to commercial developers.

Church said the land owners would be willing to sell their holding to the government if the funds were made available.

Project action delayed

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate has deferred for two days action on a resolution giving the lawmakers a chance to endorse a joint venture contract for construction of the Swan Falls Gorge Project on the Snake River.

The resolution approved in 1971 said unless the legislature vetoed the contract between the Idaho Power Company and the Idaho Water Resources Board the contract would be approved.

The senate has killed 17-18 a resolution which would have vetoed the contract to build the two dams on the river.

The resolution approved in 1971 said unless the legislature

New name

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved 54-6 today and sent to the Senate a bill renaming the state department of public assistance the state department of social and rehabilitation services.

Floor sponsor Margot Tregoning, D-Wardner, said the change in name more clearly reflects the services performed by the agency.

Park funds OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park said Wednesday the state has become evident in many Idaho communities, "he said.

A majority vote requirement rather than a two-thirds requirement — on water and sewer revenue bond issues would make pollution abatement "much easier on the local level."

Park said he was pleased the legislature had passed a proposed constitutional amendment to reduce the constitutional requirement of a two-thirds vote has defeated the measure.

The vote in November, he said, would give Idahoans "a right to decide for themselves whether our present bonding requirements are promoting progress or stifling it."

Senate approves 3 measures easing public fund investing

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate of public monies in public approved and sent to the House depositories.

The third bill, also approved 31-1, would allow both the state treasurer and treasurers of state and local units of government to change opportunity of public investments once each month for demand accounts and once every six months for time deposits.

Two of the bills — both approved 31-1 — would reduce maturity time for time deposits.

Sen. C. C. (Chick) Bilyeu, D-Grangeville, noted he felt the state should change its method of letting any bank become a public depository. He said the situation would be the same if the state were required to purchase automobiles from any dealer who wished to sell to the state on the basis of that dealer's inventory as compared to the entire state's inventory.

Buhl group plans trout farm

BUHL — A combination recreational-commercial trout farm may be developed at Niagara Springs if plans of a group of Buhl businessmen work out.

Sportsmen's Trout Farm Inc. represented jointly by Thorleif Rurgen, owner of Rangen's in Buhl; Jess O. Eastman Jr., president of Clear Springs Trout Co.; and Nyal Hoffman, assistant manager of Clear Springs, has applied for a $415,000 loan from the federal Small-Business Administration (SBA) for the expansion and construction. The three men will become members of the board of directors.

The Wendell Economic Development Organization heard details of the proposal during a meeting Monday.

The proposal includes development of a fish-propagation area, a fish processing plant and a public recreational area, including a campground.

Other board members of Sportsmen's Trout Farm, Inc., will include Floyd Langford, chairman and owner of Niagara Springs Trout Ranch, from which the new organization will purchase the fish-farming site; Sterling C. Larson, formerly owner and operator of the Twin Falls Business College, who will handle marketing; and Michael Floyd Langford, son of Floyd Langford, who will become operations manager and financial systems manager, respectively.

Plans call for the diversion of 75 second feet of water from Niagara Springs for the fish aquaculture facility, two large "fish-out" ponds stocked with trout, and more than 1.5 miles of stream fishing.

Construction is projected to begin this month, with completion anticipated by next

December for the fish farm and processing plant.

The recreation area will include a small general store, a gas station and laundry facilities. Three miles of Snake River frontage will be included in the campgrounds for other recreational uses.

Rates to be charged for the recreational area may vary, but are projected to start at $1 per vehicle and 75 cents per fish caught weighing at least one pound. Smaller fish would bring a lower rate.

Trout that cannot be sold for recreational purposes will be processed and sold to frozen food brokers ready for consum-

eration.

Bacon packaging plan proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's agriculture department and bacon packagers "in an effort to develop a package meat inspection officials have come up with a plan under which consumers can tell at a glance whether packaged bacon was generally lean or too fat."

The Agriculture Department said it soon will publish, with an invitation for public comment, a proposed new regulation for packages of bacon sold in standard "shingle-pack" containers. Under the proposed rule, a "substantial portion" of one slice in each carton would have to be visible to consumers.

If new packaging rules are adopted, officials said, they probably would become effective before the end of 1972.

BOISE — The Food Producers of Idaho have asked legal clearance for the admission of Mexican alien workers if necessary to obtain an adequate number of sprinkler movers.

At a meeting Monday at the Holiday Inn, Boise, the Food Producers issued a statement in favor of House Joint Memorial 11. The statement supports the executive director of the Idaho Department of Employment in his efforts to obtain an adequate supply of sprinkler pipe movers for the farmers of the state-of Idaho.

The resolution further supports the efforts of the Sprinkler Irrigators of Idaho, Inc., to obtain an adequate supply of sprinkler pipe movers, if necessary, by obtaining legal clearance for the admission of alien Mexican laborers.

ALDICARB PESTICIDE

stops nematodes

Here's visual proof of the power of TEMIK. Nematodes nearly destroyed the crop on the left, but were destroyed themselves in the crop protected by TEMIK.

...then goes on to help build bigger yields, higher profits. And it's guaranteed!

TEMIK aldicarb pesticide does it all. You can plant sugar beets and put TEMIK in the soil at the same time to control nematodes. No waiting for weeks for a fumigant to escape the earth. No extra trips through the field. No time lost and TEMIK allows earlier planting for maximum production.

When TEMIK goes into the plant, nematodes are finished — fast — along with other chewing and sucking pests such as root maggots, leafhoppers, aphids and leaf miners. You end up with bigger yields (an average of 2.7 more tons per acre over other nematicide treatments) at nominal production costs. So your profits are higher, too.

Best of all, TEMIK is guaranteed! For details of the TEMIK Guaranteed Performance Program, see your pesticide supplier today. Get all the facts. Then get TEMIK. And be sure you get on in the special applicator purchase/free TEMIK offer. Buy an applicator box and get 40 pounds of TEMIK free!

Power co-ops set candidate funds

By BERNARD BRENNER

UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many House and Senate candidates who support rural electrification programs can expect cash contributions to their campaigns again this year from ACRE, the political action arm of the nation's rural electric cooperatives.

This year's ACRE (Action Committee for Rural Electrification) campaign spending, relatively modest in comparison with some similar political financing efforts, may reach about $175,000 compared with the $131,700 spent in the 1970 elections, a spokesman estimated.

Just how many candidates will be helped this year and how much they will get remains unsettled, depending partly on how close ACRE comes to its fund-raising goals.

But a spokesman for the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, parent of ACRE, said present prospects indicate the number of candidates aided would probably be "slightly higher" than in 1970. In that year, ACRE contributed to 78 House and 18 Senate campaigns from its national headquarters, and to an uncertain number of others through state organizations.

Most contributions in 1970 were geared to a formula of $500 per Senate race and $300 to each House candidate aided through national ACRE headquarters.

If ACRE has a total of $175,000 available this year, a spokesman added, about $50,000 will go back to state units for use mainly in Congressional and state campaigns. The rest will be spent nationally in contributions to Democratic and Republican Congressional campaign committees and individual candidates.

In 1970, ACRE spent $41,500 through its state units and $43,000 in direct national contributions to individual candidates. The rest of the money went to pay expenses and in contributions to party Congressional campaign organizations.

Results were, presumably, highly satisfying to ACRE leaders who want to promote continued government support for rural electrification. In 16 Senate races, only one ACRE-backed candidate, former Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., was defeated. In the 73 House races, 65 ACRE candidates won. The contributions went to 16 Democratic and two Republicans in the Senate races, and to 30 Democrats and 13 Republicans in House campaigns.

Many House candidates in rural districts presumably were aided by contributions from state ACRE units which do not appear in the national list of candidates getting direct aid. But an NRECA spokesman explained in an interview that many of the House candidates getting national ACRE contributions are from city districts.

"We try . . . to go into city districts where they [Congressmen] have given us support even though they are not rural cooperatives in the district," the spokesman said.

ACRE funds are raised primarily by selling 25 a year memberships to leaders in rural electric associations and by fund-raising dinners and receptions. A total of 2,504 memberships were recorded in 1971. This year, with interest heightened by the coming campaign, the number of memberships already has passed 2,000.

Comments asked on poison rule

BOISE — The Department of the Interior has proposed new regulations to restrict the use of poisons to control predators on public lands.

Idaho Bureau of Land Management officials said, under one of the proposals, persons holding licenses or permits to graze animals on lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management could lose the permits or licenses or have their grazing use reduced, if they use such poisons without written authorization.

The notices are being published in the Federal Register. Interested persons will have until May 1 to comment upon the proposals.

Department officials noted that President Nixon, in an executive order dated Feb. 8, banned the field use of poisons to control predators on any federal lands. Also covered by the ban were chemical toxicants aimed at non-predators which could have secondary poisoning effects to any animal, bird or reptile.

Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton, said at that time that predators will continue to be taken by other means, including trapping, shooting and denning.

The objective of the executive order, he emphasized, was to halt the use of poisons but not to stop all federal predator control programs, pending further action by Congress.

The executive order and the proposed new regulations give the secretary of the interior discretionary power to authorize the use of poisons in emergency situations, after consultation with heads of certain federal agencies; if such use is essential to protection and safety of human life; to the preservation of an endangered wildlife species; or to prevent substantial irretrievable damage to natural resources having national significance.

Two other new rules have been proposed for comment by May 1. Also being published in the Federal Register, they would:

1. Formalize the Presidents' ban on poisons to cover all lands managed by BLM, under the conditions described above.

2. Make violation of state or federal conservation laws or regulations a cause for revocation or reduction of a grazing license or permit if the violation concerns BLM grazing lands and is related to the grazing use authorized by the license or permit.

The conservation laws and regulations referred to in this proposed new rule would include—but not be limited to—air and water pollution protection of fish and wildlife, and uses of pesticides.

Coeur d'Alene upsets Minico in A-1

Spartans lose 59-58, will meet Boise squad

POCATELLO (UPI) — The first round of the Class A basketball State tournament here Wednesday saw an even North-South split with two teams from each part of the state winning. Coeur d'Alene and Moscow from the North-Central Pocatello and Highland from the South.

Coeur d'Alene got a big early second-half pickup from Valente, who hit six straight points, a closing rush from Stern and overtime scoring from Fields to send Minico to the sidelines in the biggest surprise of the day.

Minico, which wasn't expected to have tournament jitters with four starters off last year's second place team, started out very slowly, but not quite as slowly as the Vikings. Tony Suras and Randy Ketterling hit three points in the final seconds of the first period for a 13-8 lead. The Spartans then waxed hot from the outside in the second quarter and, largely behind the eight-point effort of Suras, pushed to a 20-11 lead. But Fields came up with a steal and triple and then a closing bucket to close the Vikings to eight at intermission.

Valente opened the third period with six points and Fuller got a free throw to close it to 30-29 and it was tight hereafter. Coeur d'Alene got its first lead in a Fields bucket with 2:41 left in the third but Tony Hardling then came up with six straight points to send Minico back on top two to four points until midway through the fourth quarter when Craig Hepworth and Ketterling sent the Spartans ahead 47-41. They still had a 61-47 lead with 1:47 to play when Stern hit a free throw and field goal. Ketterling's free throw gave Minico a 52-50 advantage but Coeur d'Alene's Peterson tied it with 35 seconds left.

Minico then worked the ball for the last shot, taking it from about 20 feet. It missed but Hardling plucked off the rebound and scooped it back in. It was almost total agreement in the stadium that the bucket was off before the horn — but the major exception to that was the officiating timer who ruled the bucket didn't count.

Fields opened the overtime with four free throws, but Coeur d'Alene gave two back when two of its men battled each other for an uncontested rebound. They squirted the ball through the Minico basket by mistake. Coeur d'Alene feed it with 37 seconds left when Fields hit the first of a one-and-one from the foul line, then missed the second. Stern took the rebound off the floor and fed inside to Peterson who had an easy layup and moved the margin to five points. Ketterling hit a field goal and Hepworth a free throw after that to close the gap to one.

In the evening competition, hometown Pocatello, the region four titleholder, defeated a tough Capital Club 64-57, and Moscow burned Idaho Falls 67-41. In the afternoon, Coeur d'Alene upset favored Minico, 59-58 in an overtime thriller, and Highland defeated Boise — the region two crown winner — 72-61.

It wasn't a good day for the Boise Club. Capital played a point-for-point ball game against Pocatello and led 10-17 at the end of the first quarter, but the tables were turned at the half when Pocatello led 31-29.

The Indians never lagged behind after that. Midway through the third stanza they were paced by Les Levels who had five straight field goals giving them a comfortable 35-45 lead going into the final quarter. He fed Pocatello scoring and shared high honors with Keith Larsen of Capital with 24 points.

Pocatello was 29-36 in the field goal department and hit 6-8 free throws. Capital completed 20-45 field goal attempts and was 17-20 at the charity stripe.

In the early evening game, Moscow's Bears burned the Idaho Falls Tigers 67-61 with Kevin Goetz taking high point honors for the game with 25 points for the North Idaho club. John Adams was high man for the Tigers with 15 points.

Moscow made 20-65 field goal attempts with 9-11 free throws. The Tigers hit 22-66 field goals and 17-23 free throw attempts. The Bears dominated throughout all four quarters by maintaining arm's length eight to 10-point leads. Although both clubs had superior ball handling, Moscow gained the edge.

University housing officer Jim Gibson said buying firearms in student rooms was against university regulations.

Police said Bennett was shot by his roommate, Ron Revard, the Razorbacks starting offensive center about 12:30 a.m. CST after what police described as some "joking around" with a loaded .22 rifle in their room at the Wilson Sharp House.

Both players were standouts for the 1971 Razorbacks. Police said Revard, Bennett and several other athletes were watching television and eating TV dinners. They said Revard loaded the .22, owned by Razorback placard owner Bill McClard "to see if it would hold 16 shells" as McClard had said it would.

Police quoted Revard as saying he and Bennett then started "intimidating each other" and by this meant "they were kidding or joking around."

Revard stuck the rifle in Bennett's stomach, police said.

Tip-in lets Stars tip Condors

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Red Robbins' tip-in at the buzzer gave the Utah Stars a 114-113 victory over interdivisional foe Pittsburgh Wednesday night to put their lead in the American Basketball Association.

The Condors had taken a 113-112 edge-on-two-free-throws by Bob Verga with six seconds remaining. Utah called a time-out and Willie Wise took the pass-in, shot from six feet out but the ball bounced from the hoop when Robbins tipped it in for the win.

Both players were standouts for the 1971 Razorbacks. Police said Revard, Bennett and several other athletes were watching television and eating TV dinners. They said Revard loaded the .22, owned by Razorback placard owner Bill McClard "to see if it would hold 16 shells" as McClard had said it would.

Arnold Palmer may have new look for Citrus tournament

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — There may be a new look Arnold Palmer this week as he seeks to defend his Citrus Open golf championship.

Palmer, now 42 and — for the first time in about a decade — no longer pro golf's all-time leading money winner, revealed earlier this week that he is nearsighted and feels he'd better start wearing his glasses on the course if he wants to keep on playing.

"I decided I really needed them when I shot that 80-70 in the last two rounds of Inverrary," said Palmer who lost his all-time money lead when he was paid $30,000 for winning at Doral, his second victory this year. Nicklaus has now won $1,477,291 — almost $6,000 more than

Palmer. That lead could keep up this week. Palmer, who set a tournament record here a year ago with his 18-under-par 270, would regain the lead by winning here again this year. The Citrus, which starts a week off.

Palmer, who has been cutting back on his tournament appearances in recent years, flew in here Sunday to the neighboring golf club he owns and started honing his game for the Citrus. But he didn't come over to the Rio Pinar course until Wednesday's pro-am.

"I felt I could work on my game just as easily at my own course as at Rio Pinar," he said. "It isn't like I needed to learn the course. I've played it so often, I know it almost by heart."

Palmer, who has won barely $11,000 this year, made it clear that he would like to get his first 1972 victory here in Orlando. "The Citrus means something special for me," said Palmer. "My parents and my wife's parents now make their winter homes here. You like to win in front of the home folks, in front of people you know."

Although Palmer wore eyeglasses during his practice rounds at his own course, he did not have them on when he teed off Wednesday in the pro-am. However, he said earlier in the week that he had ordered some contact lenses.

Finley hoping for pennant

Bench's outside activities questioned in Cincinnati

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Whether Johnny Bench's "outside activities" were a cause of his bad season in 1971 is a subject for debate, but Cincinnati Reds general manager Bob Howsam hopes the whole situation will solve itself.

Howsam said he sees "no problem" in those activities, particularly Johnny's TV show, provided he has it so organized that it does not interfere with his concentration on baseball.

"Actually," said Howsam, "I expect the situation will solve itself because I think it's good for me in several ways," says the 24-year-old All-Star catcher.

"First of all, it's good for me financially. If I'm going to make any money on things like that, now is the time for me to do it."

"I've noticed that very few ballplayers get this kind of opportunity when they are ex-ballplayers," said Bench. "Tony Kubek did, but Sandy Koufax went into it right from being a star, and I think that's the way it generally has to be."

"Secondly, I think it's good for me in other ways. I'm talking on the show about sports to different people, and I think that is good for me. I like it, and I think I need it."

Bench said he intends to go right on with the show "if Mr. Howsam gives him permission, which I hope he will."

Advised of Bench's statement, Howsam didn't come right out and say Johnny had his flat permission, but on the other hand, he didn't say "No" either.

"You can't refuse people permission-to-do-things unless there is an awfully good reason," said Howsam in his office at Al Lopez Stadium, where the Reds play their spring exhibition games.

I understand that John has a staff to make the necessary arrangements, etc., so he doesn't have to think about that and do that, and I think that's a good thing."

"Spurky Anderson, the Reds' peppy manager, says cautiously that he thinks perhaps Bench "tried to do too much" in 1971.

"I don't mean the show itself," said Anderson. "I mean like he's got to see somebody at 10 a.m. today and he's got another appointment he must keep at 11 a.m. tomorrow, and that sort of thing."

"The salary Blue has been offered represents an increase of more than 300 per cent over 1971; the lefthander is asking more than 500 per cent."

"I think Vida is entitled to 300 per cent," Finley said. "I think he is entitled to that because he did accomplish quite a bit."

"I like to think that I pay fair and reasonable salaries to my ballplayers. The thing that bothers me very much are these unjustified, astronomical salaries these athletes are demanding today."

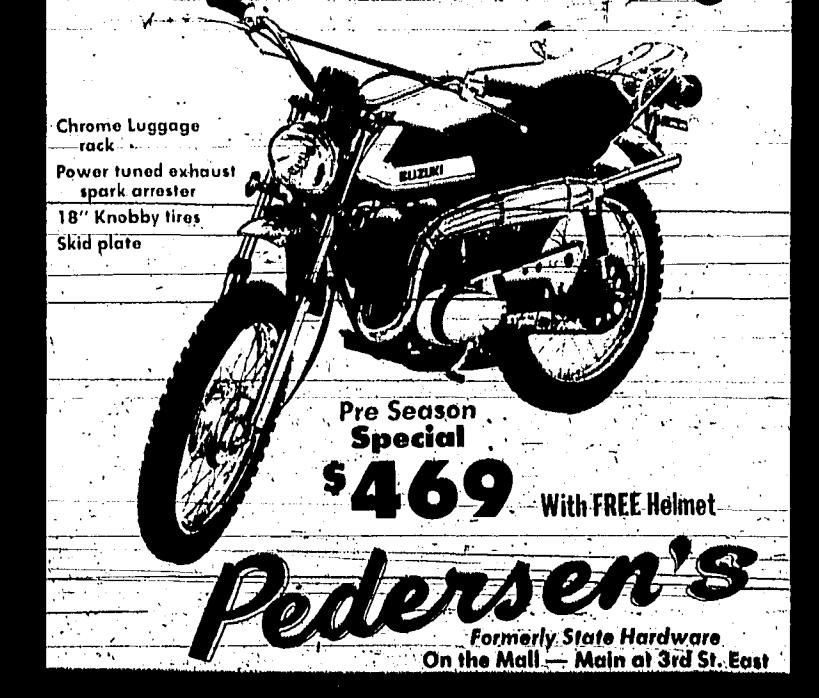

"The end result as I see it can only be one of two things,

Suspensions remain on Ron Behagen, Taylor

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Big Ten refused again Wednesday to lift the suspensions of University of Minnesota basket ball players Corky Taylor and Ron Behagen for unsportsmanlike conduct in a melee that broke up the Minnesota-Oregon State game Jan. 25.

The decision by conference faculty representatives—the players' court of last resort—sent the league champion Gophers into the NCAA tournament without the services of the two 6 foot 9 inch juniors. The action upheld the suspension of the two players by Big Ten commissioner Wayne Duke for the remainder of the season and the decision by conference athletic directors affirming Duke's ruling.

"The faculty representatives have concluded that the remedial action required of the University of Minnesota by the conference athletic directors is not excessive and therefore both Taylor and Behagen should continue to be suspended ... for the remainder of the basketball season, including practice and postseason games," a formal statement said.

The game at Minneapolis was called off with 30 seconds left to play—and Ohio State declared the winner after the melee erupted on the court.

The faculty representatives said that they concluded that on the basis of the evidence and Taylor's own testimony, Taylor "with about 36 seconds to play kneed Luke Witte of Ohio State University in the groin."

They found that Behagen kicked Witte, the OSU center, on or near his head and upper portions of his body while Witte was lying on the court.

The actions by both Taylor and Behagen were intentional by their own testimony, "and, in the opinion of the faculty representatives, were taken with the objective to inflict bodily harm," the statement said.

The faculty representatives said the "provocative and mitigating factors" raised in the players' appeal did not, in their opinion, warrant the players' conduct. They found the conduct "unsportsmanlike and in violation of conference standards."

The group said they "regret that their review of what constitutes satisfactory remedial actions for the conduct of individuals (during the game disruptions) was necessarily limited only to the conduct of the two participants."

The faculty representatives invited Minnesota and OSU to offer not later than March 13 any conclusions they may have as to any additional remedial actions that should be taken by the two universities relative to the conduct of their players.

Minnesota wrapped up undisputed possession of the Big Ten crown Tuesday night by defeating Purdue 40-40 in a thriller in which the five Gopher starters played all the way.

The Gophers wound up their Big Ten season with an 11-3 mark. Ohio State finished its season at 10-4. Michigan, now 9-4, plays its final game Saturday against Iowa.

In other actions Wednesday the faculty representatives:

Approved eligibility of freshmen for football and basketball by a split vote, following a recent decision by the NCAA.

Said they would take up the red shirting issue again at their May meeting.

K-Bar wins in city

Beware of lead

CHICAGO (UPI)—People who chew pencils because they are nervous should be nervous about chewing pencils. They could be eating poisonous lead.

"Family Safety" publication of the National Safety Council says New York City Health Department tests showed that more than one-third of a sampling of wooden pencils sold in the city were coated with lead paint.

K-Bar defeated the Royal Lounge 74-65 to claim the third district city league basketball tournament. Both teams will represent the third district in the state city league tourney March 17 and 18 in Boise.

K-Bar defeated Taco Bandito, the Royal Lounge and Skaggs Furniture to reach the finals. The Royal defeated Franks Tire Service and Thompson Trucking in earlier action.

Chicago outlasts Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Chicago Bulls clinched second place in the Midwest division and earned a playoff berth with a narrow 98-96 victory over the fast-closing Atlanta Hawks Wednesday night.

The Bulls did it by holding the Hawks to only 12 points in the second period, while scoring 24 themselves. The victory gives Chicago a 52-22 record and puts it seven and a half games ahead of third-place Phoenix.

Chicago got 15 points from forward Chuck Walker in the first period on seven of eight shots, then lost Walker for the rest of the game with a twisted ankle.

Cincinnati defeats Phoenix

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Royals exploded for 42 points in the final period to score a 122-105 victory over the Phoenix Suns Wednesday night.

The Royals, trailing through the first three periods, rallied in the fourth quarter after center Sam Lacey was ejected at 7:38 for punching the Suns' Neal Walk.

Led by Nate Archibald, who finished with a game-high 35 points and added 14 assists, and rookie guard John Mengelt, who tallied 27 points, Cincinnati ran off 17 straight points following Lacey's departure. The Royals were down by three points at that point.

The fight occurred when both were sent up for a rebound, punching Walk on the shoulder and the officials quickly broke up the scuffle.

Veteran Johnny Green added 22 points for the Royals. Walk was high for Phoenix with 18 points and Dick Van Arsdale netted 17 for the Suns.

AL decision delayed on Cleveland sale

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—American League club owners, burned twice in recent years when financially-troubled clubs had to move, delayed a decision Wednesday on the proposed sale of the Cleveland Indians to Nick Milioti.

"Joe Cronin, the American League president, said the owners at a seven-hour meeting asked Milioti to return in two weeks with more information about his operating capital and plans for a proposed public stock sale.

Another meeting was scheduled for March 22 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"The transaction is still under consideration," said Cronin, who said no formal written offer had been taken. "Milioti made a fine presentation. We in the American League recognize his ability as a promoter and as a go-getter."

Cronin said the league owners

who received copies of the proposed sale documents only

Monday "did not have proper

time to digest the application."

John Allyn, the owner of the can Hockey League, had reached tentative agreement last month to buy the club from 70-year Vernon Stouffer for slightly under $10-million.

But Cronin said there was some question how much of the purchase price would be in cash and whether Milioti and his group would have enough money left to run the team.

An expansion team at Seattle in 1969 had to move to Milwaukee after only one year of operation because it had been drained of money and Bob

Short, the owner of the Texas

Rangers, moved his team from Washington this year because he, too, had run out of cash.

"There are still many financial reticements," Cronin said.

"We told Mr. Milioti we would get back to him within 48 hours."

Cronin said the league owners

who received copies of the

proposed sale documents only

Monday "did not have proper

time to digest the application."

John Allyn, the owner of the

Cleveland Indians who was one of the first to leave the meeting held in a hotel across the street from his team's spring training park, said the owners were not pleased with Milioti's plans but "did want more information about it."

Stouffer, who in 1924 founded the restaurant chain that bears his name, purchased the Indians for $8.2-million in 1968 but they have been a steady money loser.

Last year when Cleveland had a record of only 60-102, the second worst in its history, attendance dipped to 501,361—

second lowest in the major leagues.

Although their stadium seats 76,997—the most in baseball—the Indians' average attendance since Stouffer bought the club has been around 670,000.

"The Indians could have been in Dallas two years ago," Stouffer said. "All I had to do was say yes. We waited a long time for the right guy."

Lady Scared Of Tomatoes

"Our heritage? I'd say, 'Turkey in the Straw' ranks right next to the Bill of Rights."

Henry Barber

Am asked when the music to that classic ditty called "Turkey in the Straw" first came out. Just 137 years ago it was. Good year, 1834. That was when: 1. Thomas Davenport invented the electric motor. 2. The so-called autobiography of Davy Crockett was published. 3. And Americans were first persuaded by an Italian immigrant that it was safe to eat tomatoes, previously thought by many a lady to invite rape.

RARELY does the spoiled child grow up to kill intentionally. To commit forgery, yes. And bigamy. And fraud. But not murder. So says a student of criminal personalities.

DID I SAY: Michelangelo's first name was Buonarroti? Ridiculous. That was his last name, Dunn Dunn. Incidentally, am advised, Michelangelo's brother's name was Buonarroto Buonarroti. Almost, but not quite like Walla-Walla; or Pago Pago, or Tak Tak.

DIRECTION

That thing called sense of direction has proven to be considerably stronger among men than women. Or so conclude university scholars after testing numerous students. The test might mention, is nothing more than that child's game called Blind Man's Bluff. The boys are better at it. Almost invariably, Much better.

HOW MANY of these surgical operations known as face lift can a lady undergo in one lifetime? Five is about the limit, says one California plastic surgeon.

IN LAS VEGAS, if you bet $10 on every spin of the roulette wheel, you can expect to lose $50 an hour, report the computer boys.

TRAGEDIES

No bell ever tolled more mournful news than the bell of the wrecked British ship Lutine. Salvaged in 1859, that bell was hung in Lloyd's of London. Thereafter, whenever major tragedy struck a Lloyd's policyholder, the bell was rung. Earthquakes. Great fires. Train wrecks. Explosions. Pestilence. Whatever. Ding dong went the Lutine bell. Nothing, not even David Brinkley, signified so cynically, so sorrowfully.

THAT MEDICAL specialist least apt to give up smoking, surveys show, is the psychiatrist.

REMEMBER also, in a race between a squid and an octopus, bet on the squid.

LAST I heard the cost of a pack of U. S. cigarettes in Sweden was 15 cents. That included 70 cents in tax. Pretty stiff.
