Key solons propose single US primary

By JANE DENISON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today that the drawn-out political extravaganza of the state-by-state presidential primaries should be replaced by a single nationwide primary.

On the eve of the Florida primary—the second of 25 such elections scheduled this year—Mansfield readied for introduction a proposed constitutional amendment to create a national primary. Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., joined the Montanan in the proposal.

"What is happening in Florida today gives one cause to suggest that the winter headquarters of Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey have failed to close on schedule this year," Mansfield said in a speech prepared for introduction of his plan.

"For the good of this nation and for the preservation of its democratic processes... it is high time that we end these drawn-out political extravaganzas and institute a national presidential primary," he said.

Mansfield and Aiken—the dean of Senate Republicans—have sponsored nationwide primary plans together in the past. Similar proposals, including one sponsored by Sen.

Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, are pending but stalled. The Mansfield-Aiken plan envisions a single nationwide primary to be held in early August each presidential election year. Each party would select its nominee for President from a field of candidates who would qualify for the ballot by filing petitions signed by a set percentage of voters nationwide. The system would apply to each party polling at least 10 per cent of the vote in the preceding presidential election.

There would be a runoff election 23 days after the primary between the top two finishers if no candidate won at least 40 per cent of a party's vote. Vice presidential candidates would be chosen by national party conventions.

Viet troops prepare Cambodian thrust

Viet armor seizes town in campaign

By ARTHUR HIGBEE

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese tanks and infantrymen today captured the key Communist stronghold of Kampong Trach in the fourth day of a major drive into Cambodia, front dispatches reported. The big push was backed by U.S. Army helicopters and Air Force bombers.

A total of four South Vietnamese columns with nearly 50,000 men were advancing along a 150-mile front in eastern Cambodia in an attempt to stop a reported guerrilla plan to attack Saigon. The U.S. Command said army helicopter "hunter-killer" teams have joined Air Force bombers in support of the four-pronged Vietnamese operation. The helicopter force was made up of about 200 men and 22 helicopters, assigned the dangerous job of flying search-and-destroy missions at treetop level in advance of the South Vietnamese forces.

The command said B52s and F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers were battering suspected guerrilla troops and supply routes in the region. American ground troops were staying on the sidelines, and the nearest U.S. infantry and artillery units were in the jungles around Saigon, 35 miles from the Cambodian border.

UPI photographer Willie Vicot, with one of the Cambodian armored columns, said a force of 5,000 South Vietnamese troops supported by 100 tanks and armored personnel carriers (APCs) met only light opposition as they occupied Kampong Trach, reported to be a Communist stronghold six miles inside Cambodia's Parrot Beak section jutting into South Vietnam.

Fighting also quickened in South Vietnam and the South Vietnamese reported 33 attacks in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today—the highest since Feb. 22 when there were 37 such attacks. The South Vietnamese said 65 guerrillas were killed in the fighting and that four South Vietnamese were killed and 26 wounded.

Fresh South Vietnamese troops moved into Cambodia today to back up the attack that started Thursday when Rangers and other troops crossed the border in three areas.

Military sources said the operation is aimed at stopping three North Vietnamese divisions of about 30,000 men from moving on Saigon, which is only 35 miles from the Parrot's Beak area of Cambodia, which juts well into South Vietnam.

Rupert woman killed

RUPERT — An elderly Rupert woman was killed Sunday when she was struck by a heavy truck in front of her home.

Mrs. LaVon Marselle, about 70, died after she was struck by a truck driven by Harley Cox, 28, Heyburn.

The truck, owned by the J.R. Simplot Co. was traveling south on Meridian Road, passing over a canal bridge near the victim's home at 100 North Meridian.

As the truck cleared the elevated canal bridge, the driver saw the woman in the middle of the roadway.

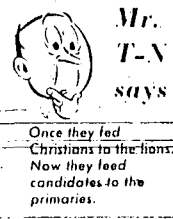

The driver applied his brakes but was unable to stop before striking Mrs. Marselle.

The truck skidded off the left side of the road.

County Coroner Robert Walk said the victim died instantly. Walk said an inquest is pending and an investigation of the mishap underway.

Sheriff's officers said the truck was empty at the time of the accident.

Services for Mrs. Marselle are pending at Walk Mortuary, Rupert.

FTC asks US gripe structure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Federal Trade Commission official believes consumers need a national system for inexpensive, quick handling of their complaints.

Robert Pitofsky, director of the FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said today the present method of filing suit in a local, state or federal court is "too expensive, too threatening, too cumbersome, too time-consuming to dispose of the typical consumer complaint."

Pitofsky said in a UPI Washington Window interview that the entire legal apparatus should be revamped so far as consumer complaints are involved.

"What we're going to have to do is think our way into techniques of conciliation and arbitration that are cheap, quick and understandable to consumers," he said.

Pitofsky said there are meaningful reforms being made in the FTC to make it more responsive.

He listed the key changes as: —Higher quality of young lawyer and other professional workers joining the FTC which should result in improved production.

—Concentrating on "novel notions" of remedial law to win cases that will have a meaningful effect on the marketplace.

Troops mass in Yemen

ADEN (UPI)—North Yemen has restricted commercial traffic from South Yemen and massed troops along the border between the two countries, travelers from the north said today.

The reports came as relations between the two Yemens deteriorated sharply. Each accused the other of bombing and shelling border villages and bringing the area to the brink of warfare.

China talks 'warm'

PARIS (UPI)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson held what he termed a "warm and friendly" first meeting with Chinese Ambassador Huang Chen today to maintain the Sino-American contacts opened by President Nixon's visit to Peking.

Watson and his Chinese counterpart met for 50 minutes at the Chinese Embassy in what the American ambassador said he hoped would be the first of a series of Sino-American talks.

"The meeting was warm and friendly," Watson said. "I hope that this will be the beginning of a series of conversations and that it will be a continuing dialogue. As for the date of our next meeting, I leave that to the choice of his excellency (Huang)."

Huang told newsmen that, "conforming to the joint Sino-American communiqué, the Chinese and American parties have agreed on Paris as a channel to maintain contacts between the two parties. Today I met Ambassador Watson and in this way I am beginning the contacts."

Watson said the meetings were a direct result of the welcome that Nixon received in Peking.

LON NOL in charge

Lon Nol grabs Cambodia rein

By KATE WEBB

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Lon Nol took over as sole ruler of Cambodia today, proclaiming himself president, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and prime minister.

The action climaxed a four-day political crisis that started Friday when Lon Nol, who has been prime minister since the overthrow of Prince Norodom Sihanouk two years ago, dissolved the already powerless National Assembly and took over from Cheng Heng as chief of state.

In a nationwide radio broadcast this morning, Lon Nol said he was taking the action "according to the wishes of Buddhist monks and all compatriots." He said that "from now on the chief of state will be called president... the president is also commander-in-chief of the army. The president also has the function of prime minister."

He left unanswered the fate of Gen. Sisowath Sirik Matak, who held the title of prime minister delegate. In that post Sirik Matak in effect ran the government while Lon Nol, a close personal friend, was all but incapacitated by a stroke he suffered 13 months ago.

At a press conference Sunday, Lon Nol, 58, showed no signs of the stroke that left him nearly paralyzed. He appeared totally recovered and in good spirits as he explained to journalists why he had dissolved the National Assembly and replaced Cheng Heng, who helped him overthrow Sihanouk.

China, Britain approve ambassadorial exchange

HONG KONG (UPI)—China and Britain today raised their diplomatic relations to ambassadorial level, the New China News Agency announced. Diplomats in London said improved Sino-American relations helped speed the agreement.

The agency said the agreement on restoring full ties was signed in Peking by Chiao Kuan-hua, the Chinese Vice Foreign Minister, and John Addis, the British Charge d'Affaires.

The Chinese announcement said: "The government of the United Kingdom, acknowledging the position of the Chinese government that Taiwan is a province of the People's Republic of China, have decided to remove their official representation in Taiwan on March 13, 1972."

The government of the United Kingdom recognizes the government of the People's Republic of China as the sole legal government of China.

Britain was the first of the major western powers to recognize the Peking government but failed to win Peking approval of an exchange of ambassadors as long as Britain followed the U.S. lead in barring China's admission to the United Nations and not recognizing Taiwan as part of the Chinese mainland.

The improvement in Sino-American relations as a result of President Nixon's Peking visit last month helped to speed the Anglo-Chinese accord.

During the so-called "cultural revolution" in China the British mission bore the brunt of Communist wrath against the West. The British mission in Peking was ransacked and the British envoy physically assaulted.

In the last year relations have improved gradually. The new British envoy, Addis, who had served in China, will be Britain's ambassador under the new accord. China has not so far said whom she intends to appoint in London.

Negotiations have been plagued by a variety of Chinese demands.

Black congress damns race busing

By JOHN L. TAYLOR

GARY, Ind. (UPI)—The first National Black Political Convention ended its historic three-day meeting Sunday by adopting a resolution which condemned school busing as "a bankrupt, suicidal method" of integration.

The total agenda for political, social, and economic action adopted by the 3,458 delegates was so militant that it seemed a certainty no white presidential candidate could support it.

The agenda was adopted after a stormy session that included a bomb scare which forced evacuation of delegates from the West Side High School gymnasium for 25 minutes; and a walkout by a majority of Michigan delegates who wanted to delay a vote for up to 90 days.

The convention voted not to endorse any candidate for president, thus avoiding a showdown on whether to support black Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., who seeks the Democratic nomination.

Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton had endorsed Mrs. Chisholm and called on the convention to do likewise.

A controversial antibusing resolution, sponsored by Roy Innis of the Congress of Racial Equality, was adopted.

"Busing is obsolete and dangerous to black people. We are ready to control our own destiny," the resolution said.

"We condemn racial integration of schools as a bankrupt, suicidal method... based on the false notion that black children are unable to learn unless they are in the same setting as white children," the resolution said in part. "We demand quality education in the black community."

The agenda included a wide range of demands including the establishment of black congressional representation in proportion to blacks in the national population. It also called for local control over police and the residency requirements for all neighborhood police forces.

The 12-page document included the controversial preamble called "The Gary Declaration: Black Politics at the Crossroads."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the preamble was "rooted in the concept of separate nationhood for black Americans" and unacceptable to the NAACP.

British naval officer sentenced to prison

WINCHESTER, England (UPI)—A British naval officer was sentenced today to 21 years in prison for selling defense secrets "almost beyond price" to the Soviet Union for $5,000 so he could get out of debt.

The officer was Sub Lt. Davis James Bingham, 37, a naval torpedo expert, who offered his services to the Soviet Embassy at the suggestion of his wife, Maureen, when he found he was unable to keep up with his household expenses and installment payments and to buy a new car.

Bingham pleaded guilty in Winchester Crown Court after Attorney General Sir Peter Rawlinson, the chief prosecutor, said Bingham "treacherously converted his knowledge of the defense secrets of this country into money."

Rawlinson said Bingham told in a pre-trial statement of a "momentous discussion" with his wife in early 1970 on how to raise money to get the family out of debt. His wife then suggested going to the Russian Embassy to explore the possibility of selling information, Sir Peter said.

"Whether or not it was said as a joke, it was translated into action in a few weeks," the prosecutor said. "This is not a case of the Soviet intelligence service seeking out and suborning a British citizen."

"According to the accused's own statement it is a case of a naval officer seeking out the Soviet authorities."

Bingham's alleged activities during 1970 and 1971 earned him $5,000 from the Soviets, Rawlinson said.

"In the opinion of an expert, that highly secret naval information which the accused sold to the Soviet had a value to a potential enemy almost beyond price," Sir Peter said. The information included "secret information of ship movements and allied maneuvers."

"Whether or not it was said as a joke, it was translated into action in a few weeks," the prosecutor said. "This is not a case of the Soviet intelligence service seeking out and suborning a British citizen."

"According to the accused's own statement it is a case of a naval officer seeking out the Soviet authorities."

Bingham's alleged activities during 1970 and 1971 earned him $5,000 from the Soviets, Rawlinson said.

Indira sweeps in by landslide

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's ruling Congress party swept to a majority in seven state assemblies and was ahead by a landslide today in six others.

The exception was in the far eastern state of Meghalaya, where the Congress Party's ally, the Hill Peoples' Conference, was winning.

Results were still incomplete in politically turbulent West

Bengal state, a stronghold of Communists in former years. The Congress party has already won majorities in the states of Maharashtra, Gujarat, Mysore, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Assam and Haryana.

Mrs. Gandhi's supporters were far ahead in six other states, among them western Rajasthan and Punjab on the Pakistan frontier.

Going into elections, Mrs. Gandhi's party controlled the state parliaments in nine of the 16 states voting.

Political observers said the results showed the iron-willed prime minister had forged a strong party organization at the grassroots level following India's war with Pakistan last December.

Time for living

BY ROGERS FRANKLIN

Unlike everything else these days, the cost of travel is going down.

That excursion you've been yearning for might not be off-limits, thanks to drastically reduced fares. It's easy to satisfy your wanderlust right now.

Imagine touring Mexico on $8 a day, living maharajah-style on a houseboat in India, swapping your home for a Spanish villa, flying roundtrip New York to London for half the price of a New York to California ticket.

I discovered these and other enticing vacation ideas in the March issue of HARVEST YEARS magazine. In a detailed account of his own adventures, Travel Editor Norman Ford describes the alluring opportunities awaiting us.

All we need is an adventurous spirit, a little research, a modest expenditure.

Travel bargains are at your doorstep, but it's smart to shop around just as you would before making any major purchase. After all, travel is an investment with dividends that last a lifetime. You want to be sure of finding the trip that's exactly right — for your wallet, your interests, your health.

"Shopping" for travel means doing some homework, even boning up on your geography. What's the cheapest way to get there? What's the most comfortable way to tour? What's the best route to follow? What's en route? When do airlines or hotels switch to off-season rates? Can you get senior discounts?

If you're going to Europe, charter flights offer the lowest fares; you can join one by enrolling in a large club. Next best is an excursion fare on a small but safe airline; the Ford article reports.

You're thinking about heading south of the border? Consider taking a luxurious train-ride through Mexico. A $5 bus trip from Laredo, Texas will take you to Chihuahua, Mexico where you board the train. It can be a thrilling all-day scenic delight riding over the rugged Sierras to the Pacific.

You're thinking of our neighbors to the north? How about a Pullman train trip through the Canadian Rockies? It's priced lower than coach class between New York and Seattle.

I've mentioned only a few of the travel extravaganzas in the article. For the complete story, plus names of information-packed books with addresses to write to, send 50 cents to Harvest Years Publishing Co., Dept. BT, Box 190, Kensington Sta., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11218.

You'll also learn how to have a unique vacation experience at no hotel or motel cost — by swapping homes with someone in another city or country.

Several home exchange bureaus publish directories of available homes. This arrangement offers you the chance to really live in a different area, not just visit it.

All it costs is your air fare.

Outdoorsmen will want to take advantage of what the article calls "America's biggest travel bargain": a $10 permit allowing free access for one year to almost every National Park and Monument, thousands of campsites in beautiful natural sites.

Wherever you're headed, start planning now. And don't forget your homework!

COMMENT

Right Question

St. Louis Post-Dispatch
The Senate leaders of both parties are working on legislation that would permit bussing for purposes of public school integration but restrict it for purposes of achieving "racial balance." That is a large order and to a degree a pointless one, but Democratic Leader Mansfield and Republican Leader Scott do have a point.

Their point is to try to block off pressures for even more constraints on bussing, including proposals for constitutional amendments that would turn back the history of trying to end racial discrimination in this country.

Senator Scott is moving independently of the White House. Where President Nixon has said he will consider various anti-bussing options, and the White House has placed a constitutional amendment among them, the Senate Minority Leader says it would be almost impossible to write an amendment that would not "tear pieces" out of the Fourteenth Amendment. In addition, such an amendment would be the first ever adopted to restrict rather than enlarge the nation's rights and liberties.

Aside from proposed amendments, Congress is full of attempted legislative restrictions on bussing. To forestall the worst of them, the Scott-Mansfield plan would permit bussing as one tool of school desegregation, but attempt to place some congressional limits on its potential misuse. The plan would prohibit use of federal funds for bussing unless a school district requested them and was carrying out a desegregation program. In addition, the plan would prohibit federal agencies from requiring bussing for the sole purpose of attaining racial balance, the latter phrase being one of Mr. Nixon's favorites.

The Scott-Mansfield measure would do little violence to school integration. In any case the courts could ignore it if they wanted to do so, since an act of Congress cannot supersede the constitutional authority of the courts. The plan is not even necessary except perhaps as a back-fire against far worse proposals.

As Senator Mondale observed in a notable Senate address, the courts have not generally ordered excessive bussing or indiscriminate racial balancing. Aggregate bussing has not increased as a result of desegregation. Twenty million school children rode school busses for 2,200,000,000 miles last year, mostly for educational reasons quite apart from desegregation.

The Minnesota Senator conceded that a few bussing orders have seemed arbitrary, but he urged the public and politicians who would exploit an emotional issue to "begin to ask the right question"—not whether we should resist school desegregation, but how we can best work to assure that school integration is conducted in a sensible, educationally beneficial manner.

Perhaps the Scott-Mansfield legislation will help the nation address itself to the right question. Now is not the time to stand in the schoolhouse door, as Senator Mondale put it, or to retreat from both good education and democratic principle. There never should be such a time.

Taiwan Role

Portland Oregonian

It has been clearly evident all along that President Nixon could not expect to obtain any substantive agreements from Communist China looking toward peace in Asia without withdrawing from the U. S. guardianship of Taiwan.

Thus it should be no surprise in Taipei or elsewhere that the President put into the joint communiqué on departure from Shanghai the statement that (1) Taiwan is a part of China and its future must be determined by the Chinese; (2) that the ultimate U. S. objective is withdrawal of all U. S. forces and military installations from Taiwan, after a progressive reduction in such forces.

The statement was a first step in abrogation of the U. S. defense treaty of 1954 with the Nationalist government on Taiwan—that is, with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang Party's government in exile. And thus will be launched a major debate in the Senate, as well as major repercussions among American allies, enemies and neutral nations.

American withdrawal of armed forces from Taiwan has been the declared policy for some time. Naval forces gave up the patrol of the straits long ago, in the absence of a threat of a Taiwan invasion from the mainland. Withdrawal conforms with the Nixon Doctrine enunciated in Guam and implemented by many statements since then. What applies to other areas, including Indochina, is applicable to Taiwan. The policy is disengagement from overseas defense, a reversal of the Eisenhower-Kennedy-Johnson policy of containment of Communist powers and treaties to defend all and sundry against aggression.

Including a definition of U. S. policy toward Taiwan, which totally abandons the "Two Chinas" policy to which the State Department reverted in its United Nations extremity, was necessary to counteract and balance Chou En-lai's affirmation of Peking policy.

To have said nothing about Taiwan would have amounted to total acceptance of Peking's position. The difference in the two positions is not very great—mostly a matter of timing in U. S. withdrawal. But "face" was saved. And it is possible the President was giving some private assurances that a political rather than a military solution of the problem of reuniting China is Peking's desire.

Thus the Taipei government may be barking up the wrong tree by its statement Monday that it will "consider null and void any agreement which has been, and which may not have been, published involving the rights and interests of the government and people of the Republic of China."

What is obviously unreal is the continued assertion by Chiang's government that it is the only legitimate government of all of China—and that it will some day return to Peking in that role. The United States can no longer support such a contention, nor should it in the interest of world peace.

The U. S. renunciation of military protection of Taiwan would not have been necessary had Chiang moved, in the past quarter century, toward submission of a constitution to the Taiwanese and the Chinese exiles proclaiming Taiwan an independent nation. It may be too late, now. This new U. S. declaration is a strong nudge to the Chiang government to seek a political solution.

Things Are Highly Unusual

WASHINGTON — The highly unusual exchange opening the recent closed-door meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee showed how rapidly that most prestigious and most important committee of Congress is changing now that its chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, is an active candidate for President.

The meeting had barely begun before a Republican Committee member, Rep. Barber Conable of New York, took the floor. Conable noted with some distress Mills' surprise announcement a day earlier that he intended to push through an average 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits this year. He hoped, Conable went on, that the chairman would hold full-scale committee hearings.

Not accustomed to such challenges, Mills replied solemnly that the committee, of course, would look closely into the question. Conable persisted; no, he wanted hearings. Mills shot back that Conable ought to read the recommendations of the outside experts on the Social Security Advisory Council which he had been pondering for nine months. Later, Conable told the chairman he had no choice but to demand hearings in a speech on the House floor. Mills replied calmly that was Conable's prerogative.

For any committee member as Mills' interest in the "Presidency grew." The fact that the wise and realistic Mills now seeks the Presidency against impossibly long odds evokes astonishment on Capitol Hill—his move may reflect his extremely low private assessment of Richard M. Nixon's performance as President. Moreover, Mills has been impressed by hundreds of businessmen (who play no part in the Democratic party's nominating process) telling him they prefer Mills to Nixon.

Beyond that, suspicion has grown on Capitol Hill that Mills, the master legislative craftsman, has become bored with the world of Ways and Means. True or not, there is no doubt that his mind today is consumed not by tariffs and taxes but by the drama of Presidential politics.

That preoccupation, in turn, affects the work of the committee. Its slow pace in considering revenue-sharing legislation is traceable to Mills' Presidential activity.

During one meeting last week, Mills left the committee room and enemies of revenue-sharing began assailing the concept of sharing Federal funds with states and local government. But Mills was not trying to sabotage the plan. He had merely walked out to confer on Presidential politics with one of his closest associates, Rep. James Burke of Massachusetts. When he returned, Mills reaffirmed his desire to adopt a revenue-sharing bill.

But Mills' 20 per cent Social Security proposal is the best example of how his Presidential campaign affects his committee. He announced it to forestall what he feared might be a proposal for increased benefits by Elliot Richardson, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, on a trip to New Hampshire. Such wholly political thinking seldom guided Mills' decisions in the past.

Any inclination by the Administration to oppose Mills on Social Security is tempered by the fact that he still may determine the fate of Mr. Nixon's two most important legislative proposals: revenue-sharing and welfare reform. An all-out battle over Social Security, Administration strategists fear, might hurt the rest of the Nixon program.

Thus, the most important consequences of the Mills candidacy are to be found not in the precincts but in the transformed climate on Capitol Hill.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

A Girl And TB

"Dear Dr. Thosteson—Six months ago my very steady girl friend was found to have tuberculosis and the city sent her to a hospital.

I was given a chest X-ray and a test on my arm to see if I had gotten T.B. from her. Both tests were negative. Three months later I had the same two tests again, both negative, and was told I'd have to take the tests every three months for a year even though the tests have been negative.

I'm not extra smart, nor extra stupid either. I'm smart enough to know that too many X-rays aren't good for anyone. Are four X-rays a year necessary to find out if I got T.B. from my girl friend?

I'm not sold on these city health department places. Seems to me they just want to keep in practice. I'll abide by what you say. —N.P.C.

If you're willing to abide by what I say, then abide by what the health department says. You're lucky to have had negative tests so far. If the girl friend was as steady as all that, the T.B. germ isn't as contagious as, say, the flu or a lot of others, but it is a persistent kind of germ and continued close contact is what spreads the disease.

So I give the health department credit for being careful, and also give them credit for knowing what they are doing. The T.B. infection, you know, doesn't show up instantly. It takes time.

Now about those X-rays. While, yes, heavy and repeated exposure is to be avoided, with modern equipment the exposure for a chest X-ray is only a tenth of a second or less, and four of them a year—less than half a second of exposure—is so small as to be for all reasonable purposes entirely harmless.

So don't worry about that. But do thank your stars that you have no sign of T.B. as yet. We've learned a lot about treating T.B., but it still is a plague of major proportions. It still sends people to the hospital and it still kills people, and I'd quarrel with the health department if it DIDN'T make mighty sure that the known contacts of a patient with active T.B. were checked thoroughly.

"Dear Dr. Thosteson—If a man has a varicocele and wants a vasectomy, what happens? They do vasectomies in doctors' offices; why not varicocele surgery? —A.R.

Because repair of varicocele (large veins in the scrotum) is not as simple a procedure as vasectomy. Neither is hydrocele (fluid in the scrotum).

True, vasectomy is an office procedure but trying to do it with either of those other conditions becomes more complicated and usually requires hospitalization. The time in the hospital is brief, however.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a sore navel and, although I wash it daily, there is an awful odor. I was told that urine from the bladder seeps through the navel. At times the navel looks and feels as though I burned it. What can be done if anything? —Mrs. E.B.

Sometimes a seepage from the navel represents only a local infection and can be cleared up rather easily. But it is true also that in some cases, there is a seepage of urine.

That is because, before birth, the umbilical cord is connected, inside the baby's body, to the urinary system. Usually the connection closes off automatically. When it does not, symptoms like yours develop. Surgery to close off the connection is the answer.

The Suggestion

WASHINGTON — California's Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke was right—the second time—when he said the Republican National Committee should have rejected a $400,000 offer from a subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. to help finance the national convention in San Diego next August.

Unfortunately for the Republicans, and the Nixon administration, Reinecke's change of mind did not occur until nosy newspapermen headed by Columnist Jack Anderson did some wondering in print. The question posed was whether that $400,000 had any connection with the settlement of an antitrust suit favorable to ITT's interests.

Reinecke said that upon reflection he had decided "You have got to play it super clean and super safe and just say, 'thanks but no thanks.'" Well, I'll buy that. If ITT and the GOP will pardon the expression. But I am still not persuaded that rectitude should be defined one way yesterday and another way today.

It is meet and proper that the mess should cast a cloud over the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst as President Nixon's Attorney General. There is here the issue of appearances, a reminder that a public official should be as pure as Caesar's wife, at least in the eye of the public beholder. This is not to challenge Kleindienst's purity, but to ponder the impression—which might not be admissible in a courtroom—that a deal profitable both to the Republicans and the ITT was consummated in secrecy.

Four hundred thousand dollars is a lot of cabbage, and it is not recorded that big corporations give money away simply because their hearts are in the right place. They operate quid pro quo; whether their dough goes to Republicans or Democrats or plous Gene McCarthy.

The situation is complicated. The Justice Department abandoned prosecution of three antitrust suits against ITT in the late spring of 1971. Kleindienst told the Senate Judiciary Committee last week he knew nothing of ITT's $400,000 offer until he read about it in the newspapers in late November or early December. But Sen. Teddy Kennedy produced two letters intended to show that Kleindienst knew about the ITT commitment at least two months before he said he did.

One letter was from an associate of Ralph Nader, the consumer advocate, asking about rumors of a link between the settlement and the $400,000. It was dated Sept. 22. The second letter was a reply to the first, drafted by Richard W. McLaren, former head of Justice's Antitrust Division and now a Federal judge, which denied any relationship between the settlement and the commitment.

Confronted with this evidence, both Kleindienst and McLaren said they had not remembered the letter when they testified earlier. I do not challenge their word. If the court please, however, I should like to state that in their place those letters would be buried into my memory.

PAUL HARVEY

Marijuana

President Nixon has designated a panel of 13 men to take another look at marijuana.

That commission will report to the President March 22. I have seen portions of that report. You'd better brace yourself.

You saw that report from the National Institute of Mental Health indicating that 15 to 20 million Americans have tried marijuana. And the NIMH identified possible hazards including the possibility of brain damage and significant impairment of a user's ability to drive a car.

Well, it's altogether as true of alcohol, isn't it, that it can cause brain damage and wreck cars?

So the next government report you see will recommend "qualified legalization" of marijuana.

This presidential commission, comprised of 13 mostly conservative members chaired by former Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, will recommend that "private... home-use..." be allowed without penalty.

And here is the reasoning of the commissioners: Many persons are unduly terrified of marijuana—and many others are tempted to try it—because of the myths surrounding its use.

Remove the "emotional mythology" about it and they figure it becomes "just another weed."

reports; took testimony from medical men and psychologists and users and others in both public and private hearings.

And the panel concluded that there is no real evidence that marijuana users are incited to commit major crimes or that they are more likely to escalate to the use of hard drugs.

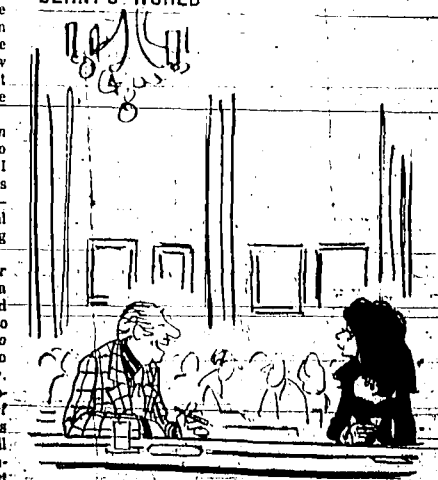

So the commission will recommend that we decrease penalties for possession, retain penalties for driving under the influence, continue to outlaw the sale of marijuana, but that we permit private at-home use without penalty.

I don't think President Nixon is going to touch this hot potato this year. I do think you and I had better accustom ourselves to a relaxation of penalties—already a reality in several states—and to increasing acceptance of this drug.

No, I don't and no, I never have. So perhaps I'm not a qualified critic. I get so turned on from black coffee I have to ration myself. I enjoy life so much I don't want to anesthetize myself in any way.

But I do respect the objectivity and thoroughness of the Shafer Commission's examination of the facts. It'll help do away with the transparent hypocrisy of the dad who staggers home drunk and demands that junior not smoke pot; there's not all that difference.

Demos battle for Florida liberal vote

By STEVE GERSTEL
MIAMI (UPI)—With both campaigning to come out of Tuesday's Florida primary as the dominant candidate of the Democratic left, New York Mayor John Lindsay and Sen. George McGovern Sunday accused each other of "cheap shots" in the closing hours of their bruising battle for liberal votes.

McGovern sharply accused Lindsay of trying to woo his black campaign workers with promises of greater gold Lindsay, in radio spots, newspaper ads, and talks to reporters, charged the South Dakota senator with caving in to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace on the school busing issue.

Generally acknowledged as the two candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination most attractive to liberal voters, McGovern and Lindsay gently went at each other on an hour-long television program Sunday and as soon as it was over unfurled serious accusations out of each other's earshot.

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization hopes President Nixon can spark new life into a project to negotiate mutual troop cuts with Russia. NATO officials said today.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty indicated today the death of Eleanor Chambers, only woman ever to serve as Los Angeles deputy mayor and an important Yorty aide and adviser, could cause him to call off his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Questioning set

DENVER (UPI)—Two heart specialists picked by the Senate Judiciary Committee said Sunday that lobbyist Dita D. But the doctors ruled out the possibility of her returning to Washington anytime soon. Mrs. Beard, 53, a lobbyist for International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT), has been undergoing treatment for a heart ailment at the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital since March 3.

The latest finds were those of two young men and a young woman. They were buried in two crude graves near the foot of Mt. Haruna, about 50 miles northwest of Tokyo in Gunma Prefecture (state).

ANDREW

When Jesus began to gather the leadership for his spiritual campaign, he started with Andrew, brother of Simon Peter. From early records of Scripture, we know that Andrew had been active in his support of John the Baptist (who also had disciples). One day he overheard John say, "Behold the Lamb of God," indicating that Jesus was the Messiah.

Andrew immediately followed Jesus and accepted His call to be a member of the twelve. Soon after, he searched out Peter, to join the select gathering, by introducing him to Jesus. Andrew is considered the first missionary, since he is the one that brought the Greeks to conversations with Jesus. He ranked among the top leaders of the young Christian Church and is believed to be martyred at Patrae in Greece.

Cleanup rules dampen growth

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New pollution controls will force 200 to 300 plants out of business with a loss of 50,000 to 125,000 jobs during the next four years, a government report said today.

In addition, there will be price increases, economic growth will be dampened and inflation will be increased by the cleanup rules, according to the White House Office of Environmental Quality (OEQ).

But it added that the country will be better off when the cleanup is over because no industry will be hit severely across-the-board, and there will be other benefits not considered by the study.

The OEQ said its analysis did not take into account, for example, the benefits rising from reduced air pollution, a problem which now causes $10 billion damage each year; or the dividends from prolonged human life and more beautiful cities.

The researchers studied 14 industries including autos, banking, cement, electrical generating, canning and freezing, iron foundries, leather tanning, steel, aluminum, copper, lead, zinc, petroleum refining and pulp and paper.

These industries were studied in detail and some of the data from them was applied to the manufacturing segment of the economy as a whole. It also took into consideration the economic pluses that will arise from new industries making antipollution devices, but it concluded that these did not offset the economic minuses.

Truce broken

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Gunmen broke a three day truce Sunday, opening fire on a passing British army patrol and killing a 24-year-old mother who happened to be passing by.

No soldiers were wounded and an army spokesman said they did not return the fire.

The dead woman was identified as Bernadette Hyndman, the mother of a one-year-old daughter. She was on her way home from church and had just stopped in at the corner grocery to buy a bottle of milk.

Mrs. Hyndman was leaving the store when a mobile army patrol passed along the street. Gunmen opened fire and a bullet smashed into Mrs. Hyndman's head, killing her instantly, the spokesman said.

Gem '73 revenue review planned

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus was to meet with his chief economic advisers today to review Republican revenue estimates — for fiscal year 1973, figures Andrus has already said he "cannot buy."

A decision on revenue from current sources to pay for a $137.1 million general fund budget is one of the major stumbling blocks left before the 1973 legislature.

Current revenue estimates range included $131 million by Andrus, $132 million by the House Revenue and Taxation Subcommittee, $133 million by House Republicans and $134 million by Senate Republicans.

The GOP in the upper chamber has indicated the revenue might be as high as $135.4 million, but Local Government and Taxation chairman Warren Brown, R-McCall, said the majority "doesn't want to go that far out on a limb."

Once the revenue picture is finalized the lawmakers will know just which tax measures they must approve to fill the gap to pay for the 1973 state government spending.

Andrus will meet today with his budget office, Max Yost, executive secretary of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, a member of the State Tax Commission and his Boise-based Revenue Committee made up of business and financial spokesmen.

He said he will undertake a fourth review of the revenue to please Republicans and to avoid a "stalemate to where we could go on all summer." But he has already told newsman he cannot accept the optimistic Republican outlook on certain economic trends in several industries, noting, "the industries themselves are saying just the opposite."

Working over the weekend, the Joint Finance - Appropriations Committee set the fiscal year 1973 budget at $137 million, adding enough to the Department of Health to forestall closure of State Hospital North. The tentative budget for health was $5.7 million, which health officials said appeared to carry legislative intent to close the Orofino hospital. Sen. Neil Solberg, D-Grangeville, suggested $6.2 million, reminding his colleagues Orofino was once the governor's hometown.

No secret deals

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state, says Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has assured the North Vietnamese that no secret deals on Vietnam were made with President Nixon, Time magazine reported Sunday.

Sihanouk, who fled to Peking after he was deposed, also said Chou told Nixon the prestige of the French grew when they withdrew from Algeria. That was a possible hint on how the United States might settle the war in Vietnam.

70 trapped aboard Swiss cable car

MUERREN, Switzerland (UPI) — Swiss cheese sandwiches and hot tea helped 70 persons trapped in a dangling cable car 800 feet above the ground survive the cold winter night.

Walter Ulmi, president of the ski club whose members made up 63 of the persons, said they spread blankets on the floor of the glass and metal cabin to make a makeshift bed.

"We took turns lying down, but nobody got any sleep," Ulmi said.

Sunday morning three helicopters maneuvered through gusty winds over the mountain and winched all 70 persons, tired but uninjured after the 16-hour wait, out of the cabin.

English deadlocked in N. Ireland peace move

LONDON (UPI) — The British government is deadlocked over its long awaited political move designed to bring peace in Northern Ireland, political sources said today.

The plan has been under discussion by the government for several weeks but officials said there still is no indication when or even whether it will be announced.

Last week there were widespread press reports that the government would unveil it early this week. There was speculation that the Provisional Wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) proclaimed its 72-hour cease-fire in preparation for this.

But government sources said, although Prime Minister Edward Heath and his cabinet were expected to discuss it again this week, there will be no indication it will be announced soon.

Heath ordered a far reaching review of British policy on Northern Ireland in the wake of the "Bloody Sunday" shootings in Londonderry Jan. 30 in which 13 died.

Government sources said a number of proposals have been discussed in the cabinet and submitted to Northern Ireland Premier Brian Faulkner for his comments. But none have been given the green light so far.

Plea expected

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clifford Irving, his wife Edith and researcher Richard Suskind were expected to plead guilty today to some charges stemming from the Howard Hughes "autobiography" hoax to avoid a trial and maximum penalties, according to court sources.

The three principals in the hoax were scheduled to enter pleas in two Manhattan courtrooms. The sources said they probably would plead guilty to the least serious charges acceptable to U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour and Manhattan District Attorney

Frank S. Hogan. All three were indicted by a Manhattan grand jury last week on charges of conspiracy, grand larceny and possession of forged instruments. Irving and Suskind also indicted on perjury charges.

A federal grand jury indicted the Irvings last week on mail fraud and conspiracy charges. Suskind was listed as a co-conspirator but not a defendant in the federal indictment.

The charges carried maximum penalties of about 100 years in prison and thousands of dollars in fines.

Reduction continues

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command announced today a 5,100-man drop in American troop strength in Vietnam, the biggest reduction in six weeks.

A command communiqué said the number of U.S. troops in the war zone fell last week from 119,600 to 114,500, still 35,500 short of the 69,000 level ordered by President Nixon for May 1.

Derailment hurts nine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nine persons, including six children, were injured Sunday when the miniature train at the San Francisco Zoo derailed and one of its cars fell off a 10-foot trestle.

Zoo officials said the final car in the three-car train derailed as the engine neared the trestle. The engine and the first two cars continued ahead but the third car derailed and fell over the side.

The injured were taken to Alameda Emergency Hospital but none was seriously hurt.

Officials said it was the first such accident since the zoological society took over operation of the train from the city in 1960. The 30-passenger steam train has been running in the southwest corner of the zoo since 1925.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I know a man who took his wife and recently widowed sister in law to a baseball game. No sooner had the three of them sat down in their reserved seats when in came a gentleman and his young son, and sat right beside them. The man who had brought the two ladies happened to know the late entry, so he introduced him to the women.

The gentleman, who happened to be a widower, had the seat right next to the widowed sister in law. The two of them hit it off very well. Six months later they were making wedding plans!

Not until then did the widow learn that her brother in law had bought ALL FIVE TICKETS, and seated her right next to his friend.

Wouldn't you say this was a lot better than trying to arrange a blind date? IT HAPPENED IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAPPENED: Much had the brother in law asked his friend if he wanted to meet a nice widow; the friend would probably have said, "No thanks, I know enough widows."

And if he had asked his sister in law if she wanted to go out with a nice gentleman, she probably would have asked, "How tall is he?"

DEAR ABBY: As a man who takes pride in his cooking ability, I think you blew it in your answer to "NEW IN TOWN," the hostess who served a delicious dessert and didn't want to give out the recipe. [You said, "Share!"]

To an accomplished cook, a special recipe is very much like a "secret formula" for a masterpiece. By giving it to just anyone, this woman will cheapen her own worth as a cook because her formula may fall into the hands of someone who is totally lacking in the art of cookery.

Her answer should have been a decisive, "I never give out my recipes!" JAMIL S. IN N. Y. C.

DEAR JAMIL: I disagree. I say, give the recipe to whomever wants it, and if the recipient is "totally lacking in the art of cookery," he will cook his own goose—in schmalz!

DEAR ABBY: I just read an article in the newspaper about a woman who spoke up at a gathering of the nation's weathermen saying she didn't like the idea of naming hurricanes after women. She said she thought that was just another way of putting women down.

Well, I don't agree with her at all. I think it's rather exciting to have a hurricane named after you. And I think every woman secretly hopes that her name will be chosen for the next hurricane. What do you think?

HURRICANE NANCY

DEAR NANCY: I admit, I didn't mind when HURRICANE ABBY was in the headlines, but I was soon replaced with HURRICANE BERTIE. (Ah, the fleeting quality of fame!)

CONFIDENTIAL TO A. G. M. IN TACOMA, WASHINGTON: EVERYBODY has fantasies! Please tell me, how can MY fantasies possibly hurt YOU?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Book Review

By ARLAN CALL

Twin Falls Librarian

TWIN FALLS — Ann Woodin, author of "Home Is the Desert," has written a second book about arid wastelands.

The book, "In the Circle of the Sun," is a chronological narrative of the Woodin family's one-year excursion of "Old World" deserts from Thailand to the Netherlands.

Bill Woodin is the director of the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum in Tucson. His avid interest in the ecology of arid lands earned him a one-year sabbatical leave to study deserts on three continents.

His wife, Ann, admits she was, at the time the sabbatical was awarded, just beginning to lose her internal need for a symbolic "cave place" permanently located and all-familiar. In its stead there had for some time been developing a wanderlust at least as strong as that of her husband.

Their four teen-aged sons, Peter, 16; John, 15; Michael, 13; and Hugh, 11, needed little in persuasion to accept the challenge of a world journey in preference to a normal school year.

The entire family was well-schooled in desert basics from having spent many weekends on camping and study expeditions into the deserts of the southwest with Woodin.

The Woodins' extended overseas trip was to reach from Tokyo to Paris; was to touch on the Asian and African continents, and was routed through scores of individual nations.

The logistical planning necessary to a journey of such distance and duration staggers the imagination.

The motor journey itself began in Thailand, with major provisioning done in Calcutta. There they assembled food, clothing, tools, and other materials in a Volkswagen mini-bus and began a drive that was to cover tens of thousands of miles, and to last for twelve months.

The varied adventures of a traveling family, whether caught in international border disputes, anticipating the moods of bandits, or viewing oriental temples rife with phallic symbols, make for a most entertaining and vicariously educational reading experience.

SPRING REDUCING -- HIPS

By Mary Sue Miller

Hips — the universal target of reducers. Spot exercise is the sure way to trim off excess. There are two types of routines — vigorous workouts that act like massage on the flesh and almost effortless procedures that strengthen the hold of muscles on the flesh.

weight evenly on buttocks. Touch right knee to chest, then left knee. Alternating knees, repeat 20 times. Throughout, center weight on "sitting" bones. Increase speed of action little by little. But remember, precision is more desirable than speed.

If you are generally overweight, do combine a reducing diet with spot exercise. Both your tape measure and scale will then go into a decline. Your dress size, too!

Former TF resident relates unusual Antarctic adventure

BY BONNIE JONES

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "Dress warmly, and quickly and prepare to board the lifeboats! This was the alarm sounded at 4 a.m. Feb. 11 aboard the Lindblad Explorer tourist cruise ship in the Antarctic.

In spite of the fact the frigid region was engulfed in a blizzard with gale winds at the time, there was no panic, says Hazel Montgomery, petite retired school teacher who experienced the unusual adventure.

She was one of about 90 tourists aboard the cruise ship in the Antarctic region when it ran aground during the severe storm near King George Island.

The island is just off the northern tip of the Antarctic peninsula about 750 miles from the southernmost tip of South America.

Mrs. Montgomery, currently visiting relatives in Twin Falls, said the reason there were no problems and no panic could probably be attributed to the caliber of persons on the tour.

All were experienced world travelers and had learned to take things in their stride in remote parts of the world.

She and other members of the tour and crew of the luxury liner were rescued from the icy sea by a Chilean naval vessel after being adrift for four hours in the blizzard.

Once aboard the rescue ship, it took eight days under extremely crowded conditions to reach the mainland.

Mrs. Montgomery's tour left Feb. 1 from Ushuaia, Argentina, on what was to be a 15-day cruise in the Antarctic. On the 11th day the ship, headed toward Hope Bay, was turned back when it found the bay completely ice bound.

En route back toward Admiralty Bay it ran aground. Although the Explorer is an ice breaker ship with double hull, rocks tore through, letting water into the engines.

Because it ran aground in high tide, the captain feared it would capsize as the tide lowered. Instead it remained upright, and the passengers after four hours in the lifeboats, were allowed to return for luggage and personal effects.

Mrs. Montgomery said the four hours aboard the lifeboats during the storm were not especially "comfortable," but they were relatively uneventful.

The rescue ship, the Piloto Pardo, was a welcome site to "up" stranded tour members, Mrs. Montgomery said, but the next eight days presented some problems. She said the vessel was designed to carry a crew of 87 and in addition to these it picked up 90 passengers and a crew of about 88 from the Explorer.

"We slept and ate in shifts and because of crowded conditions had no opportunity for a change of clothing in the eight days. The Chilean Navy men were so pleasant and gracious most of us didn't mind the inconveniences," she said.

Because there were not sufficient lifeboats for the large group, an escort ship from the Chilean Navy accompanied the rescue ship into port. Once aboard the rescue vessel, each person was allowed one call to notify a relative of their rescue.

Mrs. Montgomery called her sister, Mrs. Don Hutchings, Twin Falls, only to find her sister was away from home and unaware the cruise ship on which Mrs. Montgomery was traveling had gone aground.

On the walk were persons from all walks of life and all parts of the world. Many were Americans. The youngest was an 11-year-old boy and the oldest an 84-year-old woman. Both completed the adventure without difficulty, Mrs. Montgomery said.

When the rescue ship deposited the weary passengers at Punta Arenas, the southernmost city in the world, there were bands and a group of cheering citizens and city officials on hand to meet them.

"We were told this was the largest at-sea rescue ever achieved in the Antarctic region and we were treated as celebrities," Mrs. Montgomery said.

As for the rest of the tour, it was forgotten. Although the group had never reached their intended destination, they were already several days over on time and the Lindblad Explorer was still rockbound despite efforts to pull it free.

About 15 of the members, including Mrs. Montgomery, had planned an additional side tour which was also forgotten as members were tired and anxious to return home.

"As for going back to the Antarctic, Mrs. Montgomery says she probably will not. "We had 11 beautiful days in the unusual area and saw such unique and beautiful scenery such as Paradise Bay with high brilliant white mountains, icebergs and deep blue sea," she said.

Because of the cost of such a tour, she said, she would prefer to travel elsewhere.

A native of Twin Falls, she attended school in Kimberly and Twin Falls and Idaho State University, Pocatello. Mrs. Montgomery taught school after completing college and retired as a teacher in Nevada, only to begin teaching again in California. In June, 1971, she retired again. "This time probably for good," she says. Since 1956, she has been traveling extensively each summer in Europe, Asia, South America and other parts of the world.

The Antarctic trip was postponed until this year because it has to be made in summer there, which is winter in the western United States.

She had contemplated a trip from Hong Kong to Red China this year but the tour is filled for 1972 so it may be postponed until another time.

Five years ago she spent 81 days on tour of "Lost World" areas of Siberia, Mongolia and other old civilizations.

Ten years earlier she had also visited the Soviet Union, and said the change in that time was remarkable. On the earlier visit people were living without any of the "nice little things" that make life enjoyable. They were most grateful for any costume jewelry or small items given them as tips.

On the more recent trip, Mrs. Montgomery said she found stores well stocked and the people better dressed and more prosperous.

"They didn't seem to care about anything and were not interested in foreign visitors," she said.

Registration set for CSI courses

TWIN FALLS — Registration for summer courses at the College of Southern Idaho will be June 1 and 2.

Jerry Meyerhoeffer, director of admissions and records, said between 750 and 800 students are expected to enroll for one and two-month courses beginning June 5.

Accelerated courses will be held from early June until month's end, and from early July until the summer session ends July 26.

Final schedules are not complete, but classes probably will be held from about 8 a.m. until noon and from about 4 to 8 p.m. to allow working students to attend.

Meyerhoeffer said each department will offer a few classes in its particular area to afford a well-rounded selection.

He anticipates about 30 instructors will work in summer session.

Oswald: "Here is a hand I watched the other day. The bidding is interesting in deal."

Jim: "I see West preempted first and then bid again to push his opponents into a slam. I see that East let South play the hand there after West gave the final push."

Oswald: "I can't really blame either of them. West knew that trumps weren't going to break. East was sure that South would have plenty of trouble with the minor suits."

It is true that the plan can be beaten. All West has to do is open either single-ton, South will have to try to ruff a spade and if East wins the first spade with his queen he will be able to give his partner a gift. Did that happen?"

Oswald: "No. West opened the king of spades. Then he shifted to a trump. East closed out South came to the high card and played the hand out with perfect technique to bring home the slam on a squeeze."

Jim: "I'll go over it. He won in his own hand, ruffed a spade, played three more rounds of trumps while discarding a diamond and club from dummy. Then he played ace and king of clubs and ruffed a club. Then he led out his last trump and discarded another diamond from dummy. East had to unguard his queen of diamonds and South's deuce of diamonds won the twelfth trick."

Census survey finds 23 per cent decline in private school rolls

WASHINGTON D.C. — A 23 per cent decline in private school rolls over a six-year period was noted in the most recent of the annual census surveys of school enrollment.

The Bureau of the Census reports private and public school enrollment together reached a new high of 61.1 million in the current academic year.

The total of private school enrollment for the current academic year was estimated to be about 5.4 million students including about 4.3 million in elementary school and kindergarten and 1.1 million in high school, the survey.

The survey is made each October to provide information about the current academic year. The total for 1971 was 23 per cent less than the 7 million students enrolled in private elementary and high schools in 1965.

During the same 1965-71 period, enrollment in public elementary and high schools rose from 41.5 million to 46.6 million students, the Bureau estimates.

The increase for public high schools was from 11.5 to 14.1 million during 1965-71; for elementary schools, the estimated totals increased from 30 to 32.5 million students.

Jerome 'port paving set

JEROME — The Jerome County Airport runway will receive a one and one-fourth inch asphalt overlay this spring according to County Commissioner Cleo Ambrose.

Ambrose said the county commissioners met Friday night with the airport advisory board to try to determine what action they should take at the airport since severe winter conditions this year caused some damage to the runway.

The airport was re-opened Wednesday after a three week closure, when a 12-foot hole was patched in the runway.

Ambrose said some plans for the future also were discussed at the meeting and it was agreed the county commissioners would go ahead with purchase of additional land budgeted for. The land will be used for expansion at the airport.

Hagerman welcome given champions

HAGERMAN — Most of the town of Hagerman turned out Sunday evening to welcome the first state basketball champions home.

The crowd of about 300 persons was made up of families, friends and other well-wishers.

The Hagerman Pirates won over the Highland of Craigmont team at Lewiston Saturday evening to earn their title.

After losing the first game in the district tournament at Burley, the Pirates won five straight games at the district level, winning that tournament, and then winning three more for the state title.

Buses carrying the returning team and the drill team and pep club were escorted by police from Bliss to Hagerman High School, where they were met by the high school band.

Hagerman has gone to state tournaments several times in 51 years of basketball competition, but this is the first time the Pirates have earned first place honors.

Shoshone electors vote today

SHOSHONE — Electors of the Shoshone School District are voting today on a proposed two mill levy for plant facilities in the district.

The special election is for continuation of a two mill levy adopted 10 years ago. If approved today, the levy will remain in effect for another 10 year period; superintendent of schools Kenneth Crothers said.

Two mills would bring in about $8,300 per year in the Shoshone District, based on the current valuation. Crothers said the funds would be earmarked exclusively for purchase of buses, remodeling of present buildings, purchasing new equipment and for new construction, were any planned.

No plans have been made at this time for next year's maintenance and remodeling program, he said.

Any qualified elector may vote in the election, and they need not be property owners in the district. A two-thirds majority approval is necessary to carry the measure.

Crothers said voting is in the Shoshone High School and the polls opened at noon and will remain open until 4 p.m.

Glenns Ferry to lose UPRR depot

GLENN'S FERRY — The railroad depot in Glenns Ferry and the city's position as a Union Pacific terminal point will soon be a thing of the past.

For many years, U.P. changed train crews at Glenns Ferry. The roundhouse was torn down several years ago and some buildings and concrete platforms have been removed from the railroad grounds to save taxes.

The city officials have feared that the 40-foot-wide strip of grass adjacent to the depot — the only green spot in the business district — may be lost too.

But T. P. Rogers, Pocatello, U. P. Idaho district engineer, has assured the city when the company is through maintaining the three-block-long lawn, it would become the property of the city as a reminder of its railroading days.

Twin Falls County sheriff's officers with the assistance of Kimberly City police and Twin Falls City police recovered several hundred dollars in merchandise from several homes in the county. Officers said all of the items have been identified by the owners of the three establishments burglarized.

The items were reportedly taken from Daw's Market at Hanson, Youree's Service Department, Twin Falls, and the Kimberly Auction in Kimberly.

Wendell housing board dissolved

WENDELL — Wendell mayor, Eugene Soares, said he had no comment on a report that the Wendell Housing Authority had been dissolved.

The dissolution reportedly followed a Wendell City Council refusal to accept a lease between the Wendell Housing Authority and the Federal Housing Authority which would have leased city property for a low cost housing project.

Mayor Soares said there was some misunderstanding involved and he did not want to say anything until several matters have been cleared up.

He did confirm that the low-cost housing project was principally for elderly people and it was supposed to be contracted by Volco Construction Co.

He said the Wendell Housing Authority had been in existence since 1970 but would make no further comment.

Garters With A Miniskirt

What bothered this young lady's gentleman friend was the fact she wore garters with her miniskirt, but no stockings. And on the garters were embroidered her name and telephone number. So he called off-the-matrimonial-engagement. His name, Joop Arings, age 28, of Amsterdam, The Netherlands. Aring said he got tired of the nearsighted men who constantly bent her way. Don't blame him much.

LET IT be known that one out of every five medical students is the son or daughter of somebody who used to be a medical student.

AM INFORMED there's a fellow in Pearson, Ga., whose true name is S-S Smith. Remarkable.

ANOTHER three of our words now common to almost every language in the world are "bridge," "holdup" and "knockout."

JEANS

Just about 1,500 pairs of old, battered, beat-up blue jeans (weighs a ton. In Europe, such jeans, boiled out to be sold to the motley dilettantes, bring about $4-per-pair. Think of that! A ton of used blue jeans is worth about $9,000.

A "IS IT conceivable a polar bear would ever mate with a brown bear?"

A Conceivable indeed. Bear-cubs were born to such an un-segregated couple in the Washington zoo, as I recall.

SO YOU thought the largest Italian talking community out-side Italy was in New York, did you? Eekew! That's wrong. It's in Toronto, the population boys report. There, some 400,000 Italian-Canadians carry on.

DREAMS

It's claimed among students of extra sensory perception that what a husband dreams will influence what his wife dreams. Or vice versa. For instance, when and if a fellow dreams he's in the arms of some fancy female other than his own true lady-friend, he need not wake up blushing. It's likely, these students say, his wife is prompted therefrom to dream at the same time she's in an intimate scene with some other amorous man. That's unforgivable. Tell her to wake up, or you'll shoot the awine.

ARE WE NOT getting religious and religiouser? In 1976, only 7 per cent of the population claimed church membership. In 1972, 64 per cent does so.

U.S. birthday plans told

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The arrangements are moving right along for America's big birthday party.

The United States will celebrate its 200th anniversary in 1976 and cities, states, and regions in growing numbers are submitting to the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (ARBC) their individual proposals to honor their forebears, pay tribute to the land in which they live, and plan for its future.

The commission envisions a series of celebrations across the land, each featuring its own individual claim for recognition. The most elaborate of ARBC's planned projects is a national network of Bicentennial Parks, built on land donated to the states by the federal government or private interests and ranging in size from 100 to 500 acres.

Federal funds, perhaps with state contributions, would finance the design and construction of the parks, which the states would operate during and after the bicentennial celebration.

The commission believes a pavilion should be the focal point of each park — a place where state and regional artifacts could be displayed, state arts and crafts displayed and sold, films of the area exhibited, and national and international entertainment groups could perform. Portable displays from all parts of the world — as well as those produced at home — could be transported from park to park.

ARBC Chairman David J. Mahoney said the park plan will be submitted for approval by the White House and Congress. Meanwhile, a number of individual projects are being planned.

The Iowa Bicentennial Commission proposed a World Food Exposition, to share with all countries America's technical progress and skills in producing and processing food. An international agricultural information bank would be established, and it would be continued after the bicentennial celebration.

Nations the world over would be invited to display their distinctive foods and seek new export markets. Iowa officials are discussing the possibility of holding symposiums on production, processing and distribution of food.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., was the first city to win an ARBC designation. The city submitted a project to restore an 82-acre downtown area and provide a site for tourists and convention activities.

South Dakota and four neighboring states won approval of their request for official recognition of the Mount Rushmore Memorial as an official part of the national commemoration. The 46-year-biggest traffic jam. A ballpark estimate sets the cost of the proposed rail system at an "attainable" figure of $2 billion, he said.

The 1976 Winter Olympic Games at Denver, scheduled to open Feb. 20, have been recognized as part of the national celebration, and Florida's plans are being studied with interest.

Pat Dodson, chairman of Florida's commission, insisted that the military campaign of the late 1770s which climaxed in the Battle of Pensacola in 1781, should classify Floridians as "battlers of the American Revolution." A permanent trade and cultural center is planned for completion in Miami by the bicentennial year.

An Ohio spokesman acknowledged his state was only on the fringe of the American Revolution two centuries ago, but he said it plans to be at the heart of the 1976 celebration. More than $500,000 will be spent to build museums and other historical sites like Schoenbrunn Village, Ohio's only organized pre-revolutionary settlement, and Plaquemine Historical Area that will be devoted to white-Indian relations during the revolutionary period.

In Texas, the Ranch Headquarters Association at Lubbock is raising money to restore 20 buildings that represent major fields in ranching, and has suggested Lubbock be dubbed the "bicentennial city of Texas."

The Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs, named for the former President and located at the University of Texas, plans conferences and seminars on national and international aspects of democracy. The Texas Fine Arts Commission also will present programs intended to strengthen the area's American-Spanish-Indian cultural heritage.

A special committee raised $25,000, and the Mississippi legislature matched that sum to finance a two-volume history of that state as an initial step in the celebration. Interests in St. Louis plan to hold forums on the federal government as part of its contribution to the programs.

Proposals have been made to rebuild and renovate a farm in the Fredericksburg, Va., area where George Washington spent much of his boyhood. It was there, according to legend, that Washington threw a silver dollar across the Rappahannock.

Does F-310 work? It worked too well for expert mechanic Dick Groberg.

Recently, representatives of the Chevron Oil Company brought an automobile to Rick Warner, Salt Lake City's largest auto dealership, and asked them to examine the engine.

The car was a 1970 Ford Torino from a bakery fleet, with 62,099 miles on the odometer. It had been selected because maintenance records proved that after its first month of operation it had been fueled with Chevron gasoline with F-310. The engine hadn't been disassembled since leaving the factory.

The Rick Warner staff broke down the engine. Then, without being offered any clue as to the actual mileage, mechanic Dick Groberg was asked to guess how many miles the engine had run.

"These guys brought this engine in here, and asked us to break it down and tell them how many miles it had on it just by looking at engine deposits and wear. Well, when the mechanics here started taking it apart, right away they thought Chevron was trying to trick us some way with a new engine."

"I looked at the parts, starting with the valve guides. I've seen brand new ones with more play than those had."

"There wasn't hardly any wear on the valve stems, and almost no deposits anywhere on the valves. The intakes were just like new."

"But the thing that really threw me was around the intake ports. You could actually see bare metal. No deposits at all. I've seen deposits build up as much as a half inch in there. But this was just like looking into a new head. There wasn't a mechanic in the shop who wasn't amazed by that when I showed it to them. I took a ring off the top of one of the pistons."

On an engine with a lot of mileage on it, deposits will build up there until all the clearance is gone. On this piston, no deposits. Nothing but clean bare metal.

"The carburetor was just like a brand new one. I looked it over very carefully, down into the venturiers and all over down inside. I didn't see any deposits, I just saw clean."

"I looked the whole thing over—valve lifters, PCV valve, and all the parts, and I couldn't hardly find any deposits at all. So when they asked me to guess how many miles this engine had on it, how could I have figured very many? I guessed between ten and twenty thousand miles. No more. I mean it just couldn't have any more miles on it. That's when they told me 62,000."

"So I was wrong. But you could have gone down the line and asked anyone else and you wouldn't have found a mechanic that had ever seen that clean an engine."

"You want to know if F-310 works? Well, I didn't miss by a mile. I missed by 40,000 miles. And if I missed by that much after 25 years in this business, I've got to believe one thing about F-310. It works."

F-310
It works.

F-310 in Chevron gasoline keeps vital engine parts cleaner than any other additive in any other gasoline we know of.

"F-310 fooled me. How could an engine look that good with 62,000 miles on it?"

Heard fires 69 to cop Citrus open tourney

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Jerry Heard, a young Californian who has rapidly become one of the bright new faces on the pro golf tour, shot a steady 3-under-par 69 Sunday to win the $150,000 Citrus Open by two strokes over strong-finishing Bobby Mitchell.

The 24-year-old Heard, winner of last year's American Golf Classic, finished with a 12-under-par 270 and won $30,000. Mitchell, who had fallen back after taking the first day lead with a 66, shot another 6-under-par 60 Sunday to grab the $17,000 second place money with a 278.

Jim Jamieson, who tied the course record with his 63 on Saturday, was in contention until the very last hole when he placed his approach shot far to the left near the scorer's tent and wound up with an even-par 72 and a 279 that tied him for third place with South Carolinian Leonard Thompson who had a final round 69.

Heard, who won more than $112,000 last year in what was only his third season on the tour, started the day tied with Texan Chris Blocker, one stroke ahead of U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and two ahead of Jamieson.

Blocker, who had complained bitterly about being disturbed by lawn mowers Saturday when he frittered away a four-stroke lead, shot a 73 Sunday to wind up at 280 along with former Masters champion George Archer, Bruce Crampton, and native Floridian Bob Murphy who all had closing 68s.

Trevino, who really thought he might make a run at the Citrus title, shot a 74 Sunday and wound up at 282 to finish a stroke behind South Africa's Gary Player who had a 66 and Jack Nicklaus who had a 69. Nicklaus picked up more than $3,000 and thus widened his lead to more than $9,000 over Arnold Palmer in their battle for the all-time money title.

Palmer, the defending champion, wasn't even playing in the final two rounds since a penalty stroke he called on himself

Friday was the stroke he needed to make the cut.

Heard, whose best previous finish this year was a tie for third place in the Bob Hope Classic, finished like a champion—sinking a birdie putt on the final hole when all he had to do was play it safe for his par to win.

Heard, from Visalia, Calif., didn't begin to make his bid Sunday until the 10th hole when a birdie four put him in a tie with Blocker who had been hanging to a narrow lead since early down the front nine. By then Blocker had faded and Heard, Mitchell and Jamieson were waging a three-way battle.

When Heard sank a 12-foot birdie putt on the par five 15th hole he was a stroke ahead and never to be caught again.

The winner said later he got off to a slow start this year because he recently got rid of his financial backers and "was putting too much pressure on myself."

Archibald scores 46 for Royals

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Nate Archibald pumped in a game-high 46 points Sunday in leading the Cincinnati Royals to their fourth straight win, a 117-106 decision over the Golden State Warriors which broke the Warriors' eight game win streak.

Cincinnati pulled away from a 33-29 first period lead, outscoring Golden State 19-8 in the last six minutes of the second quarter to take a commanding 62-48 halftime bulge.

The warriors, led by center Nate Thurmond, who finished with 24 points and 19 rebounds, closed the gap to eight points at the end of the third period, 88-80 but were unable to draw any closer to the streaking Royals.

Archibald scored 12 points in the final quarter and the Royals easily pulled away from Cold-shooting Golden State. Sam Lacey and Tom Van Arsdale each scored 21 points for the winners and Lacey added 16 rebounds.

Utah Stars demolish Cougars

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI)—Merv Jackson led a third-quarter rally with 16 of his game-high 31 points as the Utah Stars overtook the Carolina Cougars on their way to a 123-111 American Basketball Association victory Sunday.

Utah took a 38-33 first quarter lead but fell behind the Cougars in the second period and was down 65-58 at the half.

Jackson sparked the Stars in the third period as they outscored the Cougars 38-23 and led at the end of the period 96-87.

Celts edge Knicks

BOSTON (UPI)—Celtic Captain John Havlicek struck for 41 points Sunday as Boston beat the New York Knicks 112-109. Frazier dropped a 20-footer for Havlicek's effort raised his New York and Boston led 110-career total to 16,084 points, 109.

making him the highest scorer in Celtic history and the 10th highest scorer in the history of the National Basketball Association. Cincinnati Royals coach Bob Cousy previously held the Boston scoring mark.

The first period ended in a 27-27 deadlock but the Celts, led by Havlicek's 14 points, opened up in the second period. Boston ran the ball hard to pull out in front 58-52 at halftime.

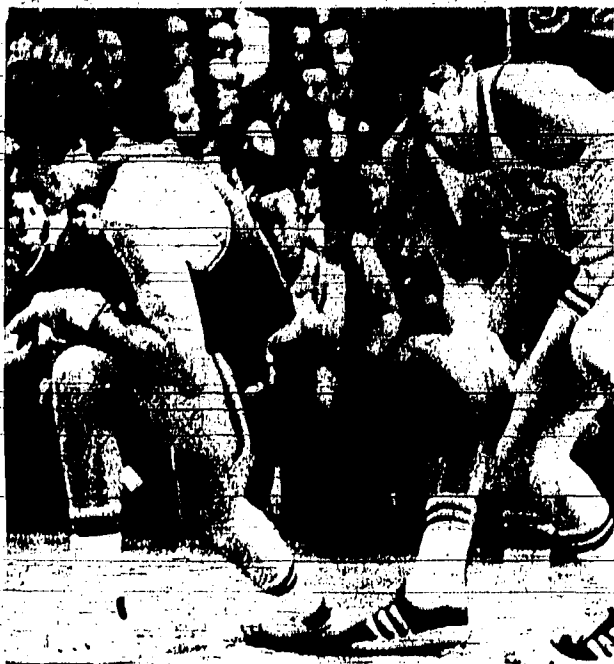

The Knicks fought back in the third period. Forward Phil Jackson scored 12 points in the period as New York tied the score at 84 points.

Hawks dump Cavaliers

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta Hawks outscored Cleveland 10-1 in the final two minutes of the first half and went on to demolish the hapless Cavaliers 135-114 Sunday.

Lou Hudson had 31 points and Walt Bellamy 29 to lead the Atlanta attack.

The Cavaliers stayed close until they scored their last basket at 2:32 of the first half, and it was never close again.

Knick loses to Havlicek

STEALING THE BALL is John Havlicek (17) of the Boston Celtics from New York's Phil Jackson (18) who grimaces during the first quarter action Sunday. Havlicek went on to become the Celtics all-time career scorer when during the second quarter he broke former Celtics great Bob Cousy's record of 16,555 points set in a 13-year Boston career. (UPI Telephoto).

Marin scores 23 as Bullets win

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Forward Jack Marin survived a second-quarter fight to score 15 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter Sunday as the Baltimore Bullets won their fifth in a row, beating the Detroit Pistons 102-97.

Marin hit six of seven shots in the last period and pulled in three rebounds as the Bullets moved away from an 82-78 lead with 8:49 remaining in the game.

Marin traded punches with Detroit forward Steve Norwood with five minutes remaining in the first half after Norwood allegedly "speared" Marin with his elbow. Marin retaliated with an elbow of his own and then both players got in a couple of swings before the fistcuffs were broken up.

The Pistons, dropping their eighth in a row, got a season's high 28 points from rookie Curtis Rowe. Archie Clark added 21 points and fed for eight assists for the Bullets.

Detroit trailed at halftime 49-43 and 79-78 after three quarters before Dave Bing led an early fourth-quarter comeback. Bing finished with 19 points.

Memphis Pros defeat Denver

DENVER (UPI)—The Memphis Pros played well under pressure Sunday and the hangover from Saturday night's Denver Rockets didn't result in a 105-100 Memphis victory.

Until the fourth quarter, Denver looked tired, probably a pressure Sunday and the hangover from Saturday night's Denver Rockets didn't result in a 105-100 Memphis victory.

Bobby Isaac outlasts Petty in Carolina 500

RICHINGHAM, N. C. (UPI) — Dodge driver Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N. C. out-duelled Richard Petty for the spoils in the Carolina 500 Grand National Stock Car race, his first victory at North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Isaac crossed the finish line more than a mile ahead of Petty's Plymouth, averaging 113.785 miles per hour for $15,250 first place money.

Jim Vandiver of Charlotte finished third, 12 laps behind the winner, in a Dodge.

Ford driver Leroy Yarborough was fourth and James Hylton of Inman, S. C. third.

The two-way duel developed after the first 350 miles when Bobby Allison's Chevrolet Monte Carlo developed engine trouble after he led the pack for a total of 260 laps.

Isaac, who was running second one lap behind Allison, took over the lead with a one-lap advantage on Petty, who lost a lap when he pitted at the 270-mile mark.

Petty managed to work his way back into a fender-to-fender duel with Isaac when Walter Ballard blew an engine and spun out in the second turn of lap 354 while driving Bill

Firebird raceway hosts championship

With the announcement made by National Hot Rod Association officials that Firebird Raceway will host a $25,000 WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES race on May 13th and 14th, track officials made the balance of their major event schedule for 1972.

Specifically, the dates will be April 1st and 2nd, May 13th and 14th, August 3rd, and August 18th and 19th.

Getting the jump on the WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS will be Firebird's Ignitor event set for April 1st and 2nd. The first IGNITOR in 1971, which featured "Funny Cars, was a success. Don "The Snake" Prudhomme was crowned winner and set the Funny Car Track Record, which still stands, at 204.96 miles per hour.

In keeping pace with demand, Firebird has come up with one of the strongest fields of Funny Cars to ever appear in the Northwest for the IGNITOR.

Headlining the event is Roland Leong's famous "Hawaiian" Dodge Charger to be driven by Leroy Chatterton, both from Los Angeles. Another Californian coming in will be "Big" Jim Dunn, who's entered the only rear-engined Funny in America, the brand new Dunn & Reath Baracuda from La Mirada.

From the 'mille-high' country of Denver and it's first appearance in the "Assassination" Vega of John Dekker's will appear.

Out of the Northwest, Seattle, Jerry "The King" Ruth has

Judy Rankin wins tourney playoff

HOUSTON (UPI) — Little Judy Rankin won a sudden-death playoff over Kathy Whitworth with a 10-foot eagle putt on the first hole Sunday to capture the $25,000 Lady Eve Open.

Mrs. Rankin, a 53 1/2, 111-pound blonde, made the playoff with a 25-foot eagle putt on the 11th hole to come in with a three-under 38-32-70 and tie Miss Whitworth at nine-under-par 210.

Miss Whitworth, the leading money winner on the tour last year, had a three-stroke lead after the first nine holes Sunday, but lost it with a combination of a bogey on No. 12 and a pair of birdies by Mrs. Rankin on Nos. 11 and 15.

When Mrs. Rankin, playing in the threesome ahead of Miss Whitworth, made her eagle on 17, the girl from Midland, Tex., took the lead by one stroke over Miss Whitworth.

But, Miss Whitworth came back to battle No. 17 with a 15-foot putt and she missed a two-foot birdie putt on 18 and her Champion's Ford.

When the yellow flag was lifted 11 laps later, Petty got the jump on Isaac to get in the same lap. Another caution on the 376th lap gave Petty the opportunity to take a short-lived, three-lap lead.

Petty was forced back into the pits for gas and tires shortly after the caution, and Isaac blasted his red Charger into command for good on the 12th lead change of the day.

There were eight cautions in the race, covering 87 laps. Twenty-four cars were running at the finish.

The real excitement for the record 42,500 crowd watching the seventh running of the race was generated by Allison and his red and gold Monte Carlo. Allison had posted the fastest qualifying time and earned the pole position for the start but elected to give it up in favor of more durable tires than those used in the time trials.

Under NASCAR rules, the change of tires required Allison to start from the last position in the 40-car field.

The curly-haired driver from Hueytown, Ala., still looking for his first win in the Chevrolet, took command of the race in the 79th lap when he streaked

Inside Buddy Baker's flame-red Dodge on the front stretch.

Eighteen laps later, Baker was out of the race with mechanical trouble, having led for 10 laps.

Isaac, who moved to the pole position when Allison was set back, took the lead on the first lap and held it through number 13 when Petty took over under the second caution of the day.

The first caution was brought on by Britisher Jackie Oliver of Walton on Thames, England, who spun into the third turn wall before the first lap was completed.

Marquette is eliminated by NCAA group

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Seventh-ranked Marquette University Sunday was eliminated from NCAA tournament competition by the association's eligibility committee, which ruled that Bob Lackey was ineligible for competition because he may have retained an agent to negotiate a professional contract.

The ruling is subject to appeal by Marquette, but an NCAA spokesman said that "as of now, Marquette is out of the tournament and the tournament committee will invite Ohio University to fill its berth."

Lackey's eligibility was protested Friday afternoon but the eligibility committee could not act prior to Marquette's game with Ohio University, since the protest was received less than 24 hours prior to the start of the game.

NCAA regulations specify that when a student athlete competing in a team event is declared ineligible subsequent to competition, the team's place in the standings is vacated.

The spokesman said the NCAA received several complaints that tournament players had negotiated with agents for professional contracts.

KH board approves budget

KING HILL. — A $103,161 budget for 1972 has been approved by the King Hill Irrigation District board of directors.

The figure compares with a 1971 budget of $101,783. According to district officials, the water levy will remain the same as last year. Under the rate schedule, city irrigators are required to pay $7.00 for the first 25 foot lot and $4.50 for each additional lot, provided it is in the same city block. Rural users are charged $10 per acre.

Officials said that five men have been granted water rights, including Robert Burton and Vaughn Spangler, both Hammett; T. J. Stulz, Glenns Ferry; and Thomas Chafin and Robert D. Graham, both King Hill. Bernard Smith, Glenns Ferry, was excluded at his own request.

Lincoln tops state bond goal

SHOSHONE. — Lincoln County was among 13 counties in the state to top the statewide goal with 26.34 per cent Savings bond purchases to date in the 1972 goal.

Only Jerome county, with 20.50 per cent over its quota, exceeded Lincoln County.

Total E-H Bonds for January, was shown at $919,420, or 10.81 per cent of the 1972 goal.

D. Sid Smith, Shoshone, is chairman for Lincoln County.
