Blaine ousts signs

HAILEY — Residents of Blaine County have declared war on highway billboards.

A petition, signed by 1,200 residents of the county, has been sent to Gov. Cecil Andrus accompanied by a letter asking removal of all billboards and signs from the county, with the exception of directional signs.

In the letter, Douglas W. Campbell, spokesman for the group, said the petition is sponsored by Environment West but has the support of 1,200 citizens and many others who did not sign the petition.

"The message is loud, the message is clear. People of Blaine County do not want billboards and signs," Campbell said.

"I am familiar with the fact the Idaho legislature has passed a law and I understand the Idaho Highway Department is carrying out this law and taking action to remove these signs."

"It does not appear, however, any significant progress has been made," Campbell said.

"I would appreciate it if you would use your good offices with the cooperation of the highway department to help preserve the natural and uncluttered beauty of the Idaho countryside," he said.

Campbell said it is "high time the many billboards were removed from Blaine County and other parts of Idaho" and he called on the governor as a "progressive leader" to take appropriate action.

Officers arrested both shortly after a booby-trapped car exploded near Belfast's downtown area, killing two British Army bomb experts.

The sources said Paddy Kennedy, 29, a Republican Labor party member of the Northern Ireland parliament and an outspoken critic of Premier Brian Faulkner's government, was arrested at the Belfast home of a Dublin journalist.

Senators query ITT chief again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee called the president of International Telephone and Telegraph back to the witness stand today to explain why his firm destroyed records of its Washington lobbyist, Dita D. Beard.

Harold S. Geneen, ITT president, surprised the committee Wednesday by acknowledging that company security agents ran the records through a shredder. His testimony confirmed a charge made by columnist Jack Anderson.

It was publication of a confidential memorandum by Mrs. Beard that set off a wide-ranging investigation into how the government settled out of court a billion dollar antitrust case against ITT.

Mrs. Beard linked the settlement to a $400,000 ITT contribution to help underwrite the Republican National Convention in San Diego. Mrs. Beard is in a Denver, Colo., hospital undergoing treatment for a heart condition.

A six-member subcommittee will take direct testimony from Mrs. Beard in her hospital room in Denver Monday.

At stake in the investigation is the confirmation of Richard C. Kleindienst as attorney general. Anderson accused Kleindienst of lying when he said he did not have anything to do with settlement of the antitrust case.

Geneen read a 20-page prepared statement to the committee late Wednesday which denied any impropriety on the part of the company or the government officials who negotiated the settlement.

Under the settlement, ITT was permitted to retain the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. but was forced to divest itself of several other companies with more than $1 billion a year in revenues.

Under questioning by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., Geneen acknowledged that some of Mrs. Beard's records were shredded.

Philadelphia dock workers walk out

By United Press International
About 2,100 longshoremen staged a wildcat walkout Wednesday in Philadelphia, the nation's largest freshwater port, 12 hours before the official strike deadline.

It was the third time in six months the port has been closed by a strike.

In Baltimore, however, negotiators reached agreement just minutes before the 6 p.m. Wednesday dock strike deadline. But that port was closed today while union officials briefed members on the details of the pact.

In New Orleans, dock clerks and checkers also reached agreement on a new pact that heads off a strike at the nation's second busiest port. Rank and file members were to vote today on the agreement.

The contract gives clerks and checkers the same money package NOSSA granted two longshoremen's unions last week — an hourly wage increase of $1.50 over three years, plus benefits.

Local president James McClelland Jr. said, however, that the pact does not contain the annual wage provision included in the longshore agreement.

Nevertheless, McClelland called the contract "the best my union has ever had" with regard to money.

In Philadelphia, Alfred Cory, executive director of the Philadelphia Marine Trade Association (PMTA) said, "We are contemplating legal actions against the union for breach of contract following today's actions."

The strike also affects piers in Camden, N.J., and Wilmington, Del. More than 20 ships were in the port when the men walked off the job.

The walkout occurred after ILU members rejected a move to reconsider a three-year contract. The workers said they wanted a clause guaranteeing an annual income.

A PMTA spokesman said the unions had agreed on hourly increases of $2.20 per hour in wages and fringe benefits.

The wage guideline set by the administration is 5.5 per cent.

Under federal wage control rules, the board must approve the contract between the Pacific Maritime Association and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union before it can take effect.

Buhl corn plant expands

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News writer

BUHL — Plans for expansion at the Green Giant Co. at Buhl were announced today.

William C. Dietrich, Le Sueur, Minn., vice president of production, said construction will begin April 1 on the installation of production facilities for flash freezing corn on the cob.

Dietrich did not give cost of the project but said it would add about 10,000 square feet to the existing building.

He said an increase in the labor crew at the plant will be required. He anticipates between 250 and 300 extra employees will be needed through the season which usually runs from about July 28 to Sept. 15.

Dietrich said the labor situation in Magic Valley is currently being surveyed by Green Giant, but there is a possibility labor will need to be imported and temporary housing found.

Green Giant currently operates two plants where corn on the cob is flash frozen. Dietrich said they are at Beaver Dam, Wis., and Glenwood, Minn.

The Idaho expansion and one Montgomery, Minn., will substantially increase the company's output of frozen corn on the cob.

The company believes with the expansion it can cover most of the market in the United States with quick frozen corn.

Dietrich said Green Giant has owned the Buhl property since it was acquired in a merger with the Plet-Sweet Co. in 1947 or 1948. He said the plant has been completely renovated since then and is the most modern in the company's group.

Dietrich said the company is now in the process of letting bids for the expansion, and that it will be complete in time for this year's season.

He said that even with the expansion, Green Giant does not expect to run any more than the usual amount of corn through the Buhl plant.

Corn for the quick frozen product will be drawn from the normal run, he said.

He anticipates no sizable increase in area plantings.

The Buhl pack will serve the West Coast area and some parts of the south, Dietrich said.

In a release made today from Buhl, which Dietrich said was to have been made available to the Times-News on Monday, company officials said they do anticipate a labor shortage because of increased demands by other area industries.

They also said a shortage may occur because the company's corn pack will extend beyond regular school vacation months when many local people are not available.

The company release reported that local residents who are available from July through September will still be given job priority.

Solons reach corner

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and the Republican-controlled 41st Idaho Legislature are at the crossroads on the budget and, most likely, the length of this second regular session.

After a surprisingly brief debate Wednesday afternoon the Senate approved 20-15 and sent to Andrus a bill to raise a net $2.28 million for the general fund during the next year.

This, plus an earlier House-approved cigarette tax increase designed to produce $1.5 million, are the principal revenue measures the GOP legislature has offered toward balancing the budget.

Andrus and the House Revenue and Taxation Committee are projecting a revenue base from present taxes of $132 million for the general fund next year. House Republicans have come out with $133 million and talked of going higher. Senate Republicans are at a minimum $134 million.

It appears at this point the general fund budget will be between $137.1 million and $137.3 million. If the Senate Republicans are right there is enough money to balance it with the income and cigarette tax bills. If the governor and the tax committee are correct the budget is short.

Idaho's constitution requires the budget to be balanced each biennium and Andrus is not about to be left holding the bag. Therefore, he has the choice of accepting this income tax bill and asking for more levies, vetoing this and asking for something else, vetoing appropriations or changing his revenue estimate.

Barring some mighty powerful new evidence it is not likely he will change his revenue projections — at least, not from the way he has been talking.

Busing speech tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon will discuss his attitude on school busing in a nationwide broadcast tonight, the White House announced today.

The radio-television speech was set for 10 p.m. EST.

The President has been working for two days, with close advisors on the busing issue, at his western Maryland mountain retreat. He apparently made up his mind about his position several days ago and was preparing the speech he will give to the nation.

Nixon has made clear on numerous occasions that he does not favor massive busing to achieve racial balance in schools. But knowledgeable sources told UPI several days ago that he would not support an antibusing constitutional amendment.

Nixon will present to Congress his recommendations for dealing with the sensitive issue by legislation. He delayed issuance of his statement until after the Florida primary where a referendum on busing was on the ballot.

New draft call issued

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Replacing the local draft quota with a new type of draft call for the first time, the Selective Service System today told local draft boards to call up men with lottery numbers 1 through 13.

The new draft system is called the Uniform National Call.

In the past quotas have been assigned to each of the 4,000 local draft boards around the country. In order to fill those quotas some draft boards might have had to call up men with lottery numbers 50 while others did not get up to 45.

Under the old system, Selective Service gave local draft boards a calling number above which they could not draft — but the boards never had to reach that ceiling. Now the local boards are being told exactly what numbers to call up. That is the Uniform National Call which draft officials feel is more equitable for young men.

The call of lottery numbers 1 through 15 will deliver men to the Army in April and May. If more men are needed to fill the Army's quota of 15,000 draftees in the April-May-June quarter, another call will be issued early in May sending men into khaki in June.

"Because of the uncertain number of inductions that will result from our first use of the Uniform National Call, we are not in a position to predict how many additional lottery numbers may be called for June inductions," Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr said.

The callup applies primarily to men born in 1952 who are classified 1-A or 1-A-O.

Communists attack with 42 assaults

HAIGON (UPI) — Communist units attacked civilian villages as well as military outposts in a series of 42 assaults Wednesday and Thursday, the highest number of such incidents in the Indochina War in almost six months, the Allied command reported.

The artillery barrages and ground assaults occurred during a 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. Thursday and were on four fronts — the central coastline, Central Highlands and Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) in South Vietnam and in eastern Cambodia. Military spokesmen said the number of Communist attacks was the most in a 24-hour period since 92 were reported last Oct. 3 during South Vietnamese presidential elections.

Andrus keynotes Virginia confab

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus told the National Symposium on State Environmental Legislation here today that the environmental cause needs a symbol of unimpaired success — such as Idaho. Andrus keynoted the symposium, the first nationwide effort to relate state environmental legislation proposals with federal environmental programs and proposed legislation.

It is the first step in a cooperative effort to utilize resources of the federal and state governments to achieve national environmental goals. Participants include governors' aides, state legislators, attorney generals and federal environmental officials.

The Idaho governor said environmentalists and industrialists — traditionally on opposite sides fighting each other — must work together to devise methods for facing the problematic heritage of our past.

"We have been a greedy nation... a nation without concern for the generations who would inherit the land. We can't clean up our water, air and cluttered surroundings all at once. But, we can begin by planting the seeds of improvement."

He said Idaho has been fortunate in that there is still an abundance of clean air, water and uncluttered lands. Idaho's efforts to maintain and preserve the environment are a blueprint for the entire nation's environmental ills.

U.S. urges N. Viets allow POW inspection

By ALEX FRERE — PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter urged North Vietnam today to allow neutral third party inspection of its prisoner of war camps. He pledged in return not to carry out raids on the inspected camps.

Porter apparently referred to the 1970 U.S. commando raid on the Son Tay prison camp in North Vietnam. A raiding party flew in by helicopter but found the camp empty.

Hanoi has kept the location of the prison camps secret in fear there might be other such raids.

Today's 14th session was the first in three weeks and the first full session in five weeks. The Communists walked out on the Feb. 24 meeting after only 17 minutes, provoking the Allied delegations into cancelling the next two sessions.

Porter said today's session made little progress.

Debris prevails

TIRES, CARTONS, concrete blocks, old oil drums and other debris lines the floor of Perrine Coulee where it flows between a shopping area and a northside neighborhood in Twin Falls. Assorted debris is exposed by low water level in coulee.

Andrus doesn't sign bill

BOISE (UPI) — Because of reference to the revised criminal code, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus allowed to become law without signature a bill revising sections of the state's controlled substances act.

The bill changes some penalties for distribution or possession of certain controlled substances.

Andrus noted, however, the bill refers to the revised criminal code which will be repealed after April 1. He said if the old criminal code is re-enacted the drug bill will refer to a petty misdemeanor penalty which will not be a class of crimes after April 1.

Andrus said he had been assured by the attorney general amendatory legislation is being prepared to correct the legal problems.

Breakthrough Seen In Legislation

WASHINGTON — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, thinks prospects are good that the House will pass his "quiet title" bill designed to alleviate the problems of some 500 Idahoans caught in the middle of the "omitted lands" dispute.

But Church also feels that when the bill is passed this year it will represent the completion of an historical three-step process whose aim has been to establish the rights of private citizens to sue their government in court without the government's consent.

"It represents a significant breakthrough in opening up the Federal Courts to private citizens in cases where there is a disputed land title," Church said in an interview.

The Idaho Democrat stressed that, in the past a citizen could only bring a disputed land title into court if the Federal Government consented to be sued. "This concept dates back to early English common law where a King set-up courts as King's tribunals, so that disputes could be settled, but the King himself stood above and beyond the courts. No one could sue the king without the King consenting," Church pointed out.

"This became the doctrine of sovereign immunity in England, from where we inherited it and we retained this doctrine even after we declared our independence. Traditionally then, the Federal Government has been opposed to giving away this privilege," Church continued.

While this may not sound like much, Church pointed out that for years this has contributed to the problems of Congress, because citizens who could not sue the government for personal injuries or property damages had to seek "personal relief" bills from Congress. "This crowded committee dockets considerably, and often the committee couldn't pass judgment simply because they are not courts of law," Church said.

Such a system also obviously discriminated against the poorer, smaller private citizen who did not have influential friends in Congress, Church maintained. "It became a thoroughly chaotic situation," Church said.

As Church explained it, the first step in the process of eroding the doctrine of sovereign immunity came when Congress passed the Tort Claims Act in 1946, which enabled a private citizen to sue the federal government for personal injuries. If, for example, the private citizen was hit by a Forest Service truck while out for an afternoon drive.

"This was the first great breakthrough. The second breakthrough came when Congress said the Federal Government could be sued for breach of contract (the early 50's)," Church added.

"Until now, however, the federal government has resisted any attempt to waive sovereign immunity in land cases and real property cases," Church said, pointing out that now the Department of Justice is apparently going to give approval to his quiet title bill.

"Think of it as a triad, with my quiet title bill being the third leg, the removal of which is the last big barrier to the right of the private citizen to take his government into court."

"When this bill is passed into law, we will have largely eliminated the doctrine of sovereign immunity and its effect in the West will be terribly important considering the large amount of land owned by the federal government, much of which is under disputed title," Church pointed out.

In the case of the "omitted lands" in Eastern Idaho, homesteaders and other individuals along the Snake River had occupied land in good faith since a survey in 1877 established boundaries. The Federal Government, however, made a new survey around 1960 and laid claim to the land of approximately 500 Idahoans along the Snake who thought the land bordering the river was theirs and had treated it so for several generations.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Makes Him Itch

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a person to be allergic to vitamin C? My husband has had rectal itching for a year, and at times there is bleeding.

His doctor says it's a food allergy, so by careful observation we found that all vitamin C, especially orange, lemon, grapefruit or tomato juice, and tossed salad which he loves, cause severe itching.

I realize he needs vitamin C but even ascorbic acid tablets cause itching. We would appreciate advice. — Mr. and Mrs. D. M.

Technically, vitamin C can cause true allergy. A true allergy is a response to a substance of a protein nature. Vitamin C isn't; it's an organic acid.

However, I am told that it is possible for citrus juices in sufficient amount to cause an excessive release of histamine which is what happens in true allergy, too. And that can cause itching.

So as far as your husband is concerned, he probably will ask, "What's the difference, then?" And I have to agree with him.

People do, as you know, need vitamin C. So here's what I'd try:

First, while you feel that you have pinpointed vitamin C as the offender, don't be too positive, too soon, that that's it. If you can keep your husband on any sort of restricted diet that leaves him free of itching for a week or 10 days, then try ascorbic acid in tablet form. (And hope that mental suggestion doesn't then make him itch!)

But if you CAN'T keep him free of itching for that space of time, then resume your hunt for some culprit OTHER than vitamin C.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does a woman run the risk of having bleeding between periods if she has had her tubes tied? — Mrs. J. W.

The tube-tying would have nothing to do with it, so if there is any such bleeding, a pelvic examination and Pap test would be definitely in order.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could X-ray therapy of the spine be the cause of the hair on my entire back to grow black, long and coarse? Is there any treatment to remove it? My doctor shrugs it off, saying "you're not the only man with hair on your back." — H.S.B.

I have to agree with your doctor. X-ray therapy usually destroys hair growth rather than the reverse, so I doubt if it has anything to do with your case.

Having your back shaved if you want to go swimming or be topless otherwise is the most practical answer.

Grain Of Salt

Scarcely a week passes that somebody doesn't come up with a new method or a new gimmick to make learning easier, more effective and more certain.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare in fact predicts that "an entirely new range of teaching techniques" will be introduced within the next 15 years, not excluding "the use of controlled nutrition or drugs to raise I.Q., accelerate reading or enhance awareness."

According to University of California education professor Dr. Laurence Linnacoe, "there is no question that public education will undergo a revolution in the next 10 years" — a drastic change in who runs the schools, what is taught and who learns.

Dr. Joel Spring, professor of education at Case Western Reserve University, charging that public schools follow a ritualistic process to "fit" people into society, recommends doing away with schools altogether and in their place setting up a voluntary system of education within society.

"There wouldn't be school dropouts if there weren't schools," he says.

At the other extreme, a panel of 17 distinguished educators and educational innovators claims that the only reason progressive education has apparently failed is because, like Christianity, it has never really been tried. Had progressive education entered the mainstream of American education after it was first introduced at the turn of the century, they suggest, we might not now be faced with such critical problems as the polarization of the races.

A common thread linking all these complaints is the unspoken understanding that when we talk about education, we are talking about education for the young. The underlying philosophy is that all children begin as eager and receptive vessels, and that if they fail to be filled with knowledge, it is the teacher's fault or the system's fault.

Nobody ever complains about the state of adult education. Nobody calls for a revolution in the night school classrooms or in the post graduate school, at least as far as teaching methods are concerned.

There are, of course, good ways and bad ways to teach adults. It can be made easy or it can be made difficult for an immigrant, for example, to learn English, or for a displaced worker to learn a new skill.

But essentially, there is simply a certain body of knowledge to be acquired and the adult either acquires it or he doesn't. He usually does, because he wants to. He sees a clear connection between what he desires in life and what he must know in order to pursue his desires. He doesn't need to have his awareness "enhanced" or to have knowledge pumped painlessly into his head while he isn't looking.

Children, obviously, aren't adults. They are set apart from the adult world, especially in this technological age when adolescence extends into their 20s. They lack the experience and responsibilities which give adults the motivation and inner discipline necessary for learning. They are rapidly changing physically and psychologically and are prey to all kinds of fears about those changes. They have parent problems, peer problems.

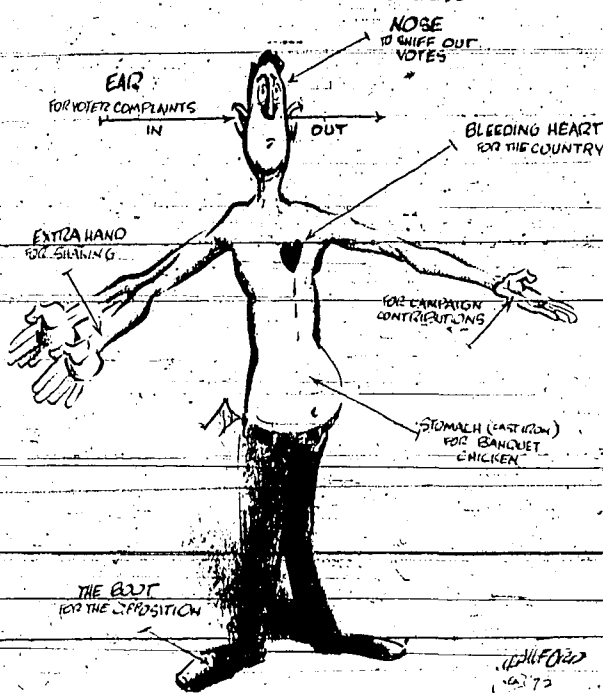

Just growing up is hard enough without the added pressure of having to learn all the things adult society says they must learn.

This has been the problem in education ever since man stopped being predominantly a hunter or a farmer, and the most ingenious new pedagogic approach isn't going to solve it.

Maybe Spring has the right idea. Maybe we ought to do away with compulsory schooling and make education entirely voluntary.

This would put a lot of educators and "educational innovators" out of work. But they could always get jobs teaching adult classes to those who drop out of school as kids and later drop back in with a vengeance.

Drowning Plan

WASHINGTON — The question of what to do about teen-agers keeps cropping up in every party conversation these days. No matter where you go, parents agree that there is no solution to the problem.

But my friend Drowning has an answer which is at least worth sending up the flagpole. Drowning told me about his plan the other day.

"I have discovered," he said, "that when I run into people, they tell me that my 10-year-old, Ronnie, is one of the sweetest kids they ever met. They say he's polite, loquacious and intelligent. I can never believe they are talking about my son, who at home is surly, uncommunicative and a pretty miserable kid all around. At the same time, when I tell them how much I appreciate their children, they all look at me in surprise as if I'm talking about some stranger they have never heard of."

"One day it dawned on me. Everybody thinks the other kid is always better behaved than his own. What makes kids mean and ornery and full of snake venom is living in their own houses with their own parents, whom they consider stupid, narrow-minded and not worth passing the time of day with."

"Now, since every kid feels this way about his parents and every parent feels this way about his kid, I have come up with the Drowning Plan."

"What is it?" I asked excitedly.

"We work out a swap. When a kid announces he can't stand it at home any more, we swap him with another kid who can't stand it at his home."

"Let me give you an example. Phillip Dutton has had it with his parents. My son, Ronnie, has had it with us. We take Phillip and they take Ronnie. I like Phillip. He's a nice kid. The Duttons, and God help them, think Ronnie is a jewel. So we take Phil and they take Ronnie. The swap gives you two peaceful homes."

"Holy smokes," I said. "You may have something."

"Every time we tell our 14-year-old daughter, Maria, that she has to be in by 12 o'clock," she cries that Kathy Parrish's daughter, Ellen, doesn't have to be in until 1 o'clock. Ellen has told my wife the reason she likes our house better than hers is because my wife never makes Maria do the dishes."

"Here we have the perfect swap," Drowning said. "We send Maria to the Parrishes, where she can stay out until 1 o'clock and we take Ellen, who will be happy with us because she won't have to do any housework."

"But won't you miss Maria?" I asked.

"If you've seen one teen-age daughter, you've seen them all," Drowning said.

"Besides, since Maria never speaks to us and Ellen does, we will feel as if we have someone living in our house who is really there."

"The beauty of my plan is that it won't cost anything. We'll make the swap, even seven, orthonologist work, included."

"You could do away with so many power struggles," I said dreamily.

"You better believe it. No one ever hassles with somebody else's kids because they don't give a damn about them. If they don't wash their hair, tough luck for them, and if they don't eat breakfast, it's no skin off the adults' bones. Why yell at someone else's kid when it has nothing to do with you?"

"By the same token, the kids have no reason to get sore at people who aren't their parents, because if they're not their parents, what do they have to feel persecuted about?"

"Drowning," I said, "I know you didn't think up your plan to get any personal glory out of it, but I suspect that if it works, you may have a good chance to pick up a Nobel peace prize."

PAUL HARVEY

Changing Color

More Americans employed and, at the same time, more Americans unemployed: The explanation, of course, is "more Americans."

And most are sneaking in through the window.

America is changing color. It's most conspicuous in New York City where, in 10 years, a million blacks and Puerto Ricans have moved in and 1 million whites have moved out. Ghettos in Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens have doubled, tripled in size.

Much of New York City's changing complexion is a matter of reshuffling, but there and elsewhere the substantial increase in nonwhite immigration is increasingly apparent.

New Jersey Rep. Peter Rodino says the flood of illegal aliens is aggravating the unemployment situation and helping to depress wages.

American employers have been known to use the "illegal" status of the employee to require him to work for substandard wages.

Also Rodino cites one illegal immigrant who is receiving $69.50 a week training payment from the federal government to attend a welding school.

Another saved $6,000 while illegally employed as a meat cutter, is now being paid $69 a week unemployment compensation.

Rodino says aliens

surreptitiously cross our borders without inspection "because the Immigration and Naturalization Service is short-handed."

China Chinese came into the United States last year through Canada.

Among legal immigrants, 13.9 per cent are nonwhite. Among illegal immigrants, most are

Rep. Jack H. McDonald (R-Mich.) is asking Congress to find out who's lax, but nobody expects it will this year.

"Most politicians are terrified to touch this subject because they imagine that any criticism of immigration policies may be construed as a resentment of immigrants."

That would have to be a pretty funny kind of bigotry because nobody's a native; even our Indians came from Asia. All of us are "mostly something else."

And historically the cross-pollination of our population has certainly been more advantageous than otherwise.

But there are some very disadvantageous effects deriving from illegal immigration.

If we are now flooded with as many as 6 million illegal aliens — whatever their color — they create an immense burden on welfare rolls.

President Lee Cramer of the National Council of Immigration and Naturalization Service, unions estimates that 10 per cent of illegal aliens engage in criminal activity, many are heavily involved in narcotics traffic, others — overburden — welfare rolls, unemployment rolls.

He figures illegal aliens are now costing us about $18 billion a year.

Travel Is Broadening

Travel is broadening — even a short trip does the job. Mr. Spectator was in Boise for three days on history assignments. And among other things:

We talked to pioneer Frank Clarke in Glens Ferry on the trip up. Association with Frank and his wife is always rewarding.

We saw a rather young couple in the Holiday Inn dining room. They had five children — four girls and a boy. The oldest — the boy — couldn't have been more than 10 years. We couldn't help wondering how they ever got any rest with a crowd like that around.

We had coffee with Paul Shoaff, station manager for Hughes Airwest in Twin Falls. He is one of the supervisors doing his "thing" while the Airwest mechanics are still on strike. His task at the Boise airport is to put the fuel in the Airwest jets and to drive the vehicle that pushes the plane away from the passenger ramp. We must say that he was really moving. We told him that if he didn't slow down he might have a stroke and we didn't want to lose him in Twin Falls. We point out that you ain't seen nothing unless you have seen Paul in coveralls and a sun hat!

Spent two days at the Idaho State Historical Society Museum and at the Idaho State Library. We always marvel at the efficiency of those places and the great amount of material on hand for study by the serious students of Idaho history. Dr. Merle Wells and John Hart, the top brass of the place, are just swell with cooperation and we would be amiss if we didn't give thanks to Larry Jones and Judy Austin, who did a lot of leg work for us.

We found there are holes in the Boise paved streets just like there are in the streets of Twin Falls. So there!

We found that motel pillows just ain't as good as those at home. Next time we take a trip involving motels we are going to take our own personal pillow with us.

BERRY'S WORLD

"That reminds me — do you think Spiro will be on the ticket again?"

Old criminal code effective April 1

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—With a statement that it wants both the letter and the spirit reinstated, the Senate approved 20-14 Wednesday a bill re-enacting Idaho's criminal code as it existed Dec. 31, 1971.

The old criminal code, which now travels to the House, will become effective April 1, the day the revised criminal code is repealed.

Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, floor sponsor of the re-enactment, said prosecutors and attorneys who worked with the revised code "say it will be difficult to convict and more difficult to find a specific place under which someone can be charged."

"If you want to do something for this state you should do something for those who have to enforce the law," he said.

Some legislators questioned the legal problems which might arise once the old laws are reinstated. Over the years legislators approved new statutes which repealed other laws by implication and now the lawmakers fear re-enactment of the old code will technically supersede the changes.

For example, the old criminal law specifically outlawed pari-mutuel betting on horse races but the legislature approved a bill legalizing such betting. That bill did not specifically repeal the old law but did so by implication.

The legal question would be whether reinstatement of the old criminal laws — with the ban on betting — would take precedence over the law allowing the betting.

Rigby said; however, the courts which must interpret such questions "are reasonable. They will know why we did this."

But to bolster his position, Rigby included in the senate journal a letter of "legislative intent" indicating, in effect, the legislature wants to reinstate both the old laws and the spirit of the laws as they existed Dec. 31, 1971 — including such repeal by implication as were believed to be in existence on that date.

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, made one last attempt to save the revised criminal code although she told her colleagues it would take five days and five nights to re-draft the revision with its amendments.

But she asked for the revision to "stop compounding the mistakes we have made in this crucial matter."

"I want to plead with you once again either to extend the effective date of the repeal law, or repeal the repeal law to keep the new code and proceed once more with amendments."

Idaho solons at crossroads

Opponents of the income-tax bill passed by the Senate and now en route to Andrus' claim it hits single taxpayers too hard and does not soak those with higher incomes the way it should.

House taxwriters have introduced an alternative proposal — one raising a net $600,000 more — which lays it on the higher tax brackets and eases up on those further down the scale. This could be dusted off if Andrus vetoes the first approach.

Besides balancing the budget this legislature also wants to find money to bolster the water pollution control fund. The house has several approaches in mind and all are in bill form. They range from and include some combinations of a 35 per cent tax on tobacco products other than cigarettes, surcharges and sales taxes on packaged liquor and, at the moment buried in committees, wine taxes.

Just finding money to balance the budget is not the only problem standing between this session and final adjournment.

Now that Andrus has signed a bill to repeal the new criminal code April 1 the legislature must come up with a replacement.

The Senate approved 20-14 Wednesday and sent to the House a measure to re-enact the old code as it was supposedly last Dec. 31 — the day before its repeal.

There are mixed feelings on this document in the House. Some members want to amend it, some want to kill it and reinstate the new code with amendments and some want it just as it is. There is talk in some circles of forcing its full reading should it come up for final consideration and, at 142 pages, that could take 10 hours.

Major budgets for health, education and welfare still must be approved but these probably may await Andrus' action on revenue measures.

Building fund program okayed

BOISE (UPI)—A permanent building fund program totaling $4,589,850 was approved Wednesday by the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, which includes the full request from the state penitentiary.

The projects, if given legislative approval, would be added to the permanent building fund advisory council's list of future construction.

However, the buildings will be constructed as funds become available. Committee Co-Chairman Rep. Jenkin L. Palmer, R-Malden, noted it appeared little money will be available to any new construction before the 1974 fiscal year unless more revenue is provided.

The committee agreed to introduce a resolution directing the Department of Public Works to obtain appraisals of prison property which would be surplus when the entire operation moves to the new site south of Gowen Field.

Also included in the program is $40,000 for child development and mental retardation centers at Burley and Rexburg.

Farm labor law sent to floor

BOISE (UPI)—While a dozen Mexican-Americans picketed outside the statehouse Wednesday, the Senate Agricultural Affairs Committee sent to the floor a bill enacting an Idaho Agricultural Labor Law.

The bill was drafted by a special committee of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus. The pickets expressed their opposition to the bill, marching with placards urging the governor to veto the bill should it reach his desk.

Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, who paid a visit with the pickets, said they expressed "unqualified opposition" to the new measure.

Sen. John Evans, D-Malden, reminded the committee the "biggest detriment" to labor strikes is legislation on the books and noted the alternative to sending the bill to the floor was "going home with no bill at all, which I think is terrible."

No bingo

BOISE (UPI)—Despite tongue-in-cheek contentions it would help keep little old ladies off the streets, the house killed 34-34 Wednesday a constitutional proposal to legalize bingo games and state lotteries.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, urged the house to approve the resolution and put it before the people for a vote this November.

She said it clearly would outlaw gambling enterprises in the state while permitting national contests of chance, state-operated lotteries and bingo games run by churches and fraternal organizations.

Swan Falls plan pushed by Peavey

BOISE (UPI)—Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, said Wednesday the legislature must affirmatively approve the Swan Falls-Guffey joint venture contract since an interim committee approved a contract contrary to legislative intent.

Peavey read into the senate record an attorney general's opinion which said it appeared the 1971 legislature in its resolution approving contract negotiations did not intend to limit use of funds accruing to the state from the project to development of a particular region of Idaho.

The contract between the Idaho Water Resource Board and Idaho Power Co. as written, dedicates the state's estimated $1.5 million yearly return first to the southwest Idaho project, area and then to the service area of the utility.

Donald E. Kniekrehm, assistant attorney general, said the limit contained in the contract appeared to be contrary to the original intent of the legislature.

Samuelson still eyes U.S. Senate

BOISE (UPI)—Former Gov. Don Samuelson still has his eyes on the U. S. Senate.

During a visit to the state senate Wednesday Samuelson said he was "still thinking about running" for the GOP nomination this year.

Now regional secretary for the Department of Transportation with offices in Seattle, Samuelson said he thought he would "wait and see how the others come out."

So far, there are four candidates for the GOP nomination for the post being vacated by retirement of Sen. Len B. Jordan. They are Cong. James McClure, former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, former congressman George V. Hansen and Dr. Glen Wegner.

Stream channel law OK'd

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has signed into law a bill giving the Department of Water Administration authority to establish regulations for enforcement of stream channel protection laws.

The 1971 legislature established the law and gave the department authority to enforce it but did not extend authority to make regulations.

As a result, the department has been forced to make individual decisions on each project rather than set standard regulations for the law.

Court hears rhetoric lesson from Angela

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis, a former philosophy instructor, gave a courtroom lesson in revolutionary rhetoric Wednesday at her murder, kidnap and conspiracy trial.

FBI informant changes story

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—The informant who helped the FBI arrest 28 persons in a draft board raid here in August now says all charges should be dismissed because he and the FBI led the raiders on.

Robert Hardy, 32, asked the U.S. District Court to dismiss charges against the 28 persons arrested in the raid. He said the raid never would have taken place without his help or the FBI's money, although he went to the FBI originally to stop the raid.

Hardy, a house painter and an ex-Marine, said the FBI provided him with money to pay for 90 per cent of the tools necessary for the raid, gasoline, and $20-$40 a week to buy groceries for the participants.

for his views on racism and violence in America.

Miss Davis succeeded, where other defense attorneys had failed in getting Robert Doran dismissed for cause. Questioning of alternates resumes today with three panelists tentatively seated out of the four required. However, they could be removed by peremptory challenges.

Miss Davis became active during the trial Tuesday when she stood up as her own counsel for the defense and accepted an all-white jury of eight women and four men.

Doran was challenged by the defense for "cause" because of his anti-Communist views. Judge Richard E. Aronson denied the challenge and the 28-year-old Miss Davis took up the questioning.

Crusader

ANTIBUSING crusader Irene McCabe starts off on a 42-day, 600-mile walk to the nation's capital to drum up support for a constitutional amendment banning forced busing. Mrs. McCabe and five others plan to log 20 miles a day. (UPI)

Congress warns Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress issued a warning to President Nixon Wednesday to stop deficit spending, even as it approved an increase in the national debt ceiling.

The House approved a $20 billion increase Wednesday to raise the debt ceiling to $450 billion. Backers of the bill, which cleared the Senate earlier, said the House had no choice since the Treasury already was within $24 million of exceeding the limit and still had 107 days left in the fiscal year.

Nixon wanted the limit raised to $480 billion to cover deficit spending through February, 1973. But the bill was $30 billion less and covered government borrowing only through June 30. Nixon's first two budgets finished in the red, and the current one is running at a deficit.

Nixon prepares busing message

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon remained at his Camp David retreat today to work with his chief domestic affairs advisor and a speech writer on a policy message on the busing of children to achieve racial balance in schools.

The White House said Nixon could present his message to Congress this week, but he was not expected to do so today.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield Wednesday urged Nixon to "take the leadership" in the controversial issue. Mansfield said the President should "give us as expeditiously as possible his expert judgment about what should be done and notify the Congress and the American people accordingly."

Nixon in the past has opposed massive busing. Sources close to the administration said he would reject a proposed constitutional amendment in favor of administrative or legislative action.

Wednesday Nixon summoned John D. Ehrlichman, his top domestic advisor, and speech writer Raymond Price to Camp David.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said Nixon had not modified his decision in any way because of the results of Tuesday's Florida primary. A constitutional amendment to forbid busing won 74 per cent of the vote in Florida, but 79 per cent voted in favor of equal opportunities for all children and opposed a return to segregated schools.

Douglas ends 7 days of hard questioning

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The FBI paid Boyd F. Douglas Jr. to inform on the Berrigan antiwar activists three years after tabbing him as a "bad check artist who had made thousands by fraud and who 'certainly has many attributes of a confidence man,'" the Harrisburg Seven defense said Wednesday.

That was the parting shot of the defense after seven days of cross-examination by six attorneys of the 31-year-old two-time convict. Douglas's testimony is the keystone of the government case against the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and six other militant opponents of the Vietnam War.

The final question was put by defense attorney Leonard B. Boudin, who a moment before had established that Douglas had used 20 different aliases between 1959, when he was 17, and a year ago, when the defendants were indicted.

Boudin got Douglas to identify an FBI parole report about him dated Jan. 6, 1967, after Douglas had been arrested for trying to defraud a bank and had pulled a gun on the arresting officer.

Boudin read from the report to the nine-woman, three-man jury:

"The defendant thus far has made a poor social adjustment after going AWOL from the military service (in 1962). He maintains himself with 'bad checks' and certainly has many attributes of a confidence man. He came to Lewisburg Penitentiary (in 1963, his first hitch) after thousands of dollars of defrauding... and pursued these activities after eloping from the National Institute of Health in 1966."

Boudin turned to prosecutor William S. Lynch, and said: "Your witness," Lynch had Douglas on redirect examination today.

The seven are charged in federal court with plotting in 1970 to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, blow up Washington heating tunnels and vandalize draft boards.

Douglas was doing his second time in prison when Berrigan arrived there in early May of 1970 on conviction of destroying draft records. The priests' Jesuit older brother, Daniel, was in hiding, similarly charged.

Oregon freshman charged

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI)—A 17-year-old Oregon State University freshman was arrested Wednesday night and charged with murder in connection with the Feb. 8 stabbing death of coed Nancy Diane Wyckoff.

The 18-year-old Miss Wyckoff was a freshman from Glendale, Calif. She was stabbed to death in her dormitory room in the early morning hours of Feb. 8. Her death followed two other, nonfatal attacks on young coeds and placed the campus under a reign of fear that is only now beginning to lift.

The Benton County District Attorney's office said Marlowe James Buchanan, 17, Lake Oswego, Ore., was arrested early Wednesday night and lodged in the Benton County jail. The district attorney said an order will be sought remanding Buchanan to adult court.

The district attorney's office would not comment on the possibility Buchanan was implicated in any other attacks, commenting only that an investigation was "continuing into the earlier assaults."

Earthquake shakes Manila

MANILA (UPI)—An earthquake shook Manila and its suburbs today, sending employees in several multistory buildings fleeing into the streets. Some grade schools sent students home.

The Philippine weather bureau's geophysical division said the earthquake, which started at 1:08 p.m. and lasted several seconds, was intensity 4 on the Rossi-Forel scale of 9.

JAMES THE ELDER

James, the son of Zebedee and the brother of John, was probably known to Jesus from childhood. His parents, Zebedee and Salome, were regarded as kinsfolk of Joseph and Mary. This family was eager, aggressive, and determined about the Good News of Jesus. Perhaps too strong, like the time that James suggested that Jesus call down fire upon an insulting Samaritan village, that would not receive the Apostles. Or the occasion when he and brother John challenged the credentials of someone healing in Jesus' name. Small wonder they were called "sons of thunder."

Mother Salome was not bashful either, asking for top positions in the coming Kingdom for her boys. Yet, for all the faults and self-seeking, this was a gallant and courageous crew. James the Elder was a true witness for the Christ, being the first of the disciples to die for the faith.

Geo-thermal controls eyed

BOISE — Spurred on by Rep. Vernon Ransworth (D-Tuttle) and Sen. Ray Rigby (D-Rexburg), the Idaho legislature is in the process of writing preliminary legislation that would put some controls on what might turn out to be a significant state resource, geo-thermal power.

That term was barely known in Idaho until last fall when the Raft River REA Coop served notice that it was filing some water rights claims in order to develop geo-thermal power. Since then Ransworth and Rigby have acted swiftly, and one result of their action could be that not only Raft River but a lot of oil companies will have to start over again in trying to get the rights to develop the power.

A bill drafted by Rigby that has already passed the Senate would provide that no existing leases on state land carry with them the rights to geo-thermal development, and that no one may start such a development on state-owned land without specifically applying to the Department of Water Administration for permission to do so.

The leasing power rests with the State Land Board which, under the bill, could give a private concern an indefinite or even a perpetual lease on geo-thermal resources. The board may use competitive bidding or may simply negotiate and hand over a lease. The bill sets minimum lease fees at 25 cents per acre per year, paid in advance, plus 10 percent "of the geo-thermal resources produced from the lands under lease or the value thereof." The land board could raise these rates.

Land leased for geo-thermal development could also be used for grazing or other uses.

What is the geo-thermal energy that is being leased? According to the bill, "geo-thermal resources" are defined as "the natural heat energy of the earth, the energy, in whatever form, which may be found in any position and at any depth below the surface of the earth present in, resulting from or created by, or which may be extracted from, such natural heat, and all minerals in solution or other products obtained from the natural medium of any geo-thermal resource."

A report written by Rigby and Ransworth puts it more nearly in layman's language. "These energy sources are believed to come from surface waters which have seeped into a strata of the earth's surface which permits them to come in contact with molten magma." The result, generates steam, but traps it underground. When the steam is tapped it is released under heat and pressure. If harnessed, this heat and pressure can be used to generate electricity.

The Raft River area and the Island Park area of Idaho are believed to have geo-thermal resources below the surface, Sen. Rigby says that when he looked into it, partly for state government and partly because he is retained as an attorney by the Raft River REA, he found that all the state land along the Snake River has been leased, and that major oil companies have leases on much of the land that could be explored for geo-thermal energy. The bill he wrote would require new leases for anyone wanting the geo-thermal rights. Existing leases would not carry those rights with them.

Rigby and Ransworth have recommended an interim study to come up with a detailed regulatory law. And they have suggested that no state land should be sold or traded away unless it has been examined for possible geo-thermal sources and the state's rights to those sources have been protected.

State Water Administrator Keith Higginson has warned that if proper safeguards are not taken in drilling to geo-thermal sources in the Raft River area, brackish and briny water could escape into the underground water supply that Raft River farmers tap for irrigation and, in his words, "could destroy the agricultural economy of that area."

Another bill, however, being considered in the House, would allow those persons and corporations now holding leases to tap the geo-thermal rights also. That is House Bill 553, which is being held in committee.

The House also is considering proposals for placing controls on the drilling of wells into geo-thermal hot spots. Rigby and Ransworth say the tapping of these resources is a high-risk process both financially and physically, and that the structure of the earth can sometimes contribute to accidents. If the structure around the source of heat is not strong enough, tapping into it can cause breakage and allow the heat to escape without control, possibly doing harm to the drilling crew. House Bill 732 attempts, among other things, to make sure lessees will follow good safety practices. It also requires adherence to other regulations. The bill also demands protection for the environment.

Motor pool rules

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed 27-5 Wednesday and sent to the House legislation giving the state purchasing agent authority to make rules and regulations for a state motor pool.

Workshop opens today

IDAHO FALLS — An irrigator's workshop began today at the Ramada Inn, Idaho Falls. Theme of the meeting is "The Irrigator — Idaho's Environmentalist."

Three drinking bills sent out

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee sent to the floor without recommendation Wednesday three bills to lower to 19 the age for drinking alcoholic beverages in Idaho.

One of the measures would lower the age for beer consumption to 19 from 20 and the other two would drop to 19 from 21 the minimum age for drinking wine and liquor. The committee voted by a narrow 5-4 to put out the liquor bill.

Depending on the length of the calendar, the House could give final consideration to all three bills as early as Thursday. They already have passed the senate.

Housing authority okayed by senate

BOISE (UPI) — Told it was the only alternative if the state wanted federal housing money, the Senate approved 25-7 today a bill to establish a state housing authority.

Sen. John Evans, D-Malden, said the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development has no money available to allocate to Idaho for the next three years unless some specific agency is established.

If the housing agency is created, he said, there would be $300 million available for low income housing in Idaho.

Smokers would pay

BOISE (UPI) — A tobacco distributor told a Senate committee today a proposed 35 per cent tax on tobacco other than cigarettes would require three to four per cent of Idaho's population bear the $230,000 burden.

Senate reverses itself

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate reversed itself Wednesday and approved 29-1 a proposed constitutional amendment to require the lieutenant governor and governor run on the same ticket.

The amendment was defeated Tuesday on a 23-9 vote, less than the two thirds majority required, but by voice vote the Senate agreed to reconsider.

In an unusual move, Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, who serves as Senate president, addressed the upper chamber after passage and said it has been proven

"the complications of government require a two-man effort."

TEMIK

ALDICARB PESTICIDE

stops nematodes

Here's visual proof of the power of TEMIK. Nematodes nearly destroyed the crop on the left but were destroyed themselves in the crop protected by TEMIK.

... then goes on to help build bigger yields, higher profits. And it's guaranteed!

TEMIK aldicarb pesticide does it all. You can plant sugar beets and put TEMIK in the soil at the same time to control nematodes. No waiting for weeks for a fumigant to escape the earth. No extra trips through the field. No time lost and TEMIK allows earlier planting for maximum production.

When TEMIK goes into the plant, nematodes are finished — fast — along with other chewing and sucking pests such as root maggots, leafhoppers, aphids and leaf miners. You end up with bigger yields (an average of 2.7 more tons per acre over other nematicide treatments) at nominal production costs. So your profits are higher, too.

Best of all, TEMIK is guaranteed! For details of the TEMIK Guaranteed Performance Program, see your pesticide supplier today. Get all the facts. Then get TEMIK. And be sure you get in on the special applicator purchase/tree TEMIK offer. Buy an applicator box and get 40 pounds of TEMIK — free!

San Diego bans signs

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The nation's 14th largest city has voted to ban billboards and to phase out the 2,000 advertising signs along its streets and highways.

Mayor Pete Wilson joined four San Diego City Council members Tuesday in a 5-4 vote to phase out the signs in favor of beautification.

The adopted ordinance would prohibit all outdoor advertising signs not on the property of the owner, facility—or—product advertised by the signs.

Councilman Jim Bates, who voted for the measure, said values more important than money included "a beautiful place to live. He said signs should be for identification and direction only.

The ordinance requires all outdoor advertising signs within 500 feet of a freeway right-of-way to be removed within 90 days of the measure's effective date.

Utah youth to meet Chinese

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Chinese delegation to the United Nations will meet with a group of Utah college students March 22 to brief them on the Communist nation's position on world affairs for a Model U. N. to be held at Harvard University.

Wendy Love, 20, New Rochelle, N.Y., a junior in international relations at the University of Utah, Tuesday, said the Chinese agreed to the meeting after a series of letters and personal contacts through her mother, Mrs. Tao Love, who works for an internationally-oriented public relations firm.

The model U. N. will be held at Harvard March 24-26.

"I expect to talk about their stands in the U.N.," Miss Love said. "We've written up a few resolutions and we'd like to talk about it with them."

She said members of the seven-student delegation from the University of Utah and Weber State College in Ogden have prepared for the meeting, which will be held at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, by reading the quotations of Chairman Mao and studying sample speeches delivered to the international body by Ambassador Chiao Kuan-hua.

Annual Basque dinner slated Saturday in TF

TWIN FALLS — An evening of Basque specialty foods, chilled wine and Basque entertainment is planned Saturday in St. Edward's Parish Hall.

The occasion is the annual Basque dinner of the Catholic Church. Main course meat will be barbecued, weather permitting, and will consist of six lambs and one 800-pound beef prepared with garlic flavored sauce, basting during the several hours of cooking.

Other items on the menu include garbanza beans, cod fish, rice and chorizos, green beans, lettuce salad, garlic bread, cake and the usual relishes, jellies and other specialties.

Genuine Basque cooking has made the annual dinner a valleywide favorite, says Lincoln McGinnis, member of the sponsoring committee.

Serving begins at 5 p.m. and continues through 8 p.m. During and following the dinner, the Shoshone Basque Dancers, a group of children under the direction of Mrs. Joe Onelda, will perform. The dancers and many of the other dinner sponsors will be wearing genuine costumes of the Basque people.

The dinner is open to the public and tickets may be obtained at the door just prior to the dinner and program.

Tom Kalange, who prepared the barbecued lamb last year, has already begun plans for cooking the beef and lamb for Saturday's dinner.

Break in reported at Jerome

JEROME — A break in occurred Tuesday night at Paul's Market on South Lincoln.

Jerome Chief of Police Howard DuBois said today that entry was obtained through a trap door in the roof and a small amount of change was taken from the cash boxes, and an undetermined amount of cigarettes. It is undetermined at this time if anything else was taken, DuBois said.

He explained that the burglar or burglars left the same way they entered. There are no suspects in the case yet, but investigation is continuing. This is the second burglary in the Jerome area within the past two weeks.

On the day DuBois officially took over as chief of police, he investigated a burglary at the Rialto Bay on West Main Street, in which a 350-pound safe containing a large sum of money was stolen. It was later found at the bottom of the Snake River Canyon near the Twin Falls Rod and Gun Club, with the money removed but papers and other articles scattered down the canyon.

DuBois said today he was not sure if the two burglaries were related.

Filer mulls plant levy

FILER — Filer trustees Tuesday discussed at length priorities for a proposed plant facilities levy.

Several earlier meetings have been held to outline needs to be financed by the levy and additional meetings are planned before a decision is made, trustees said.

School officials are attempting to determine necessary improvements and repairs and to estimate costs before calling for a levy.

The calendar for the 1972-73 school year was discussed but is not yet complete.

Results of a canvass on rezoning of the trustee districts were discussed but the board is not ready to take action until information is received from the Idaho Board of Education. Gordon Larson, athletic director, and William Bubak and Ray Berryhill, coaches met with the board to outline materials needed for the athletic program for the coming year.

Russell Terrell, music director, discussed the proposed music program budget and suggested several events for the coming year. Cost of boilers and furnaces for the Hollister elementary school and the Filer High School was outlined by Bob Brackett but no action was taken. Trustees thanked Bill Moran, retired Filer High School teacher, for a donation of books to the Filer High School library.

Girl Scout Week observed in TF

BY JOYCE CARPENTER Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Girl Scouts have prepared a display for Girl Scout Week, showing various aspects of Girl Scouting.

The display, at the Idaho Department Store, features crafts done by the girls at different levels of scouting, and the uniforms they wear.

Girl Scout Week, March 12 through March 18, commemorates the 60th Anniversary of organized Girl Scouting in the United States and the 5th Anniversary of the organization in Twin Falls.

The girls attended church together with their leaders March 12 on Girl Scout Sunday to mark the beginning of the anniversary celebration.

Girl Scouting is for girls from second grade through high school age. The levels begin with Brownies for the youngest girls and progress through Juniors, cadettes and seniors.

Service projects, both at home and to the community, are a very important part of scouting, according to Mrs. Gayle Bennett, troop organizer.

She said Brownies usually serve at home while the older girls are involved in more difficult service tasks appropriate to their ages.

Current Girl Scout service projects in Twin Falls include favors taken to nursing homes and city cleanup by Juniors; helping Head Start and Community Action Agency Day Care centers by taking favors and cookies and making nap-time quilts of donated drapery samples and taking favors to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital patients by cadettes.

The Twin Falls senior level Girl Scouts are planning and carrying out the senior Girl Scout conference to be held in Twin Falls April 7, 8 and 9. About 250 girls and leaders are expected for the conference which will be held at the Presbyterian Church, with the banquet to be at the Rogerson Hotel.

Workshops at the conference will include crafts; drama; leaders in training; drugs and guitar. The conference will be for senior Girl Scouts and ninth grade Cadettes.

Mrs. Bennett said future projects planned include a city wide cleanup effort on Keep America Beautiful Day, April 29, by all troops. Boy Scouts and other youth organizations will be involved in the cleanup effort also, she said. Help from all Girl Scout troops in Twin Falls at the Easter Seal Center on a year-around basis is currently in the planning stage.

Special pin

IN KEEPING with Girl Scouts' emphasis on ecology, Kathy Stewart of Twin Falls Troop 243 pins badge on article of apparel. Badge is among several worn by Girl Scouts during their special Girl Scout Week. A special display on Scouting is currently featured in the Idaho Department Store window.

Valley Living

Royal Neighbors slate dinner

HANSEN — Plans were made for a quarterly potluck birthday dinner March 28 at 7 p.m. at the Royal Neighbors Lodge meeting here Tuesday night.

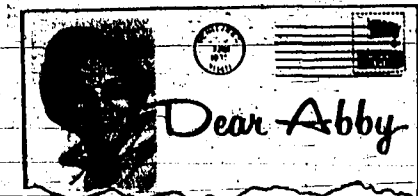

Mrs. Betty Pollard, Mrs. Ruth Wright and Lena Bohm are members of the serving committee. Members also planned to attend a lodge meeting Friday in Twin Falls. An invitation was also received from the Buhl lodge to visit there.

The recorder presented a report on a planning board meeting held in Shoshone recently. The planning board is working on arrangements for the convention in Burley June 10, with Burley as the host camp.

The new yearbooks were distributed. Vicki Ball, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Wright were pro tem officers. A letter was read from Irene Johnson, member of the club now living in Tacoma, Wash.

Mrs. Vernon Ball and Mrs. Kenneth Dudley were hostesses and Mrs. Arthur Adamson and Mrs. Mary Taylor provided entertainment during recreation hour.

DEAR ABBY: I work on a farm on weekends, and the other day at work I was told that when a cow gives birth to twins, if one is a male and the other a female, both calves stand a 99 per cent chance of being sterile. But if both twins are males or females, they are okay.

Abby, I am a 16-year-old boy and my girl friend is 17. She has a twin brother, and when I told her what I had heard about cows she broke into tears for fear she may be sterile.

Could you please do a little research for us and find out if what applies to twin cows also applies to human twins? Thank you.

DEAR HOPING: When a cow gives birth to twin calves, one male and one female, in slightly less than 15 per cent of the cases, the female twin is a "free-martin," meaning her reproductive organs will not develop. Tell your girl friend she has nothing to worry about. Cows are cows and humans are humans, and never the twin shall meet.

DEAR ABBY: Why would a person laugh at his own jokes? CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Maybe he just wants to make sure somebody laughs.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure Mrs. Enduring is just as unhappy with her life style as Mr. Enduring. If she could put her feelings into words she might tell us that Mr. Enduring showed very little interest in her personally until it was time for bed, secondly that his technique became more adventurous over the years but something was missing, such as love and affection, thirdly that the life of a wife with three children, who is cook, laundress, housekeeper, and chief decision maker is not exactly a life filled with erotic stimuli and that it takes a bit of doing to turn into something besides a drudge and it is not accomplished by slipping out of your apron.

Many husbands tire of coaxing their wives and find themselves a willing partner elsewhere, usually someone who is not tied to the responsibilities of a house and family. Then the energy these eager men display is unbelievable; there are phone calls in the morning to see how the dear lady slept, phone calls at noon for an intimate lunch in a candlelit restaurant and thoughtful little tokens. Now really, how many wives wouldn't respond to this subtle courting? How many mistresses would be so generous with themselves if all the man did was be physically there? Try it, you'll like it!

Now, you are going to say, "Tell HIM, not ME!" But if you have to tell someone that you would like a few expressions of love and affection it loses all meaning.

I am not Mrs. Enduring, but I would love to know how many wives feel as I do. Or am I expecting too much of marriage? STILL HOPING

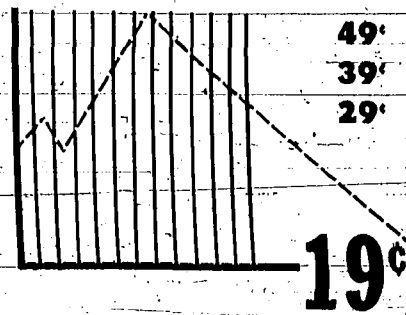

CONFIDENTIAL TO A. J. IN ATLANTA: Don't mail the savings back to the gentleman's wife without first asking the gentleman. (Maybe the lady who left them wasn't his wife.)

Holland youth speaks at TF Altrusa Club meeting

TWIN FALLS — Jeannette Postman, a Youth For Understanding Program student from Holland, was featured speaker at the Twin Falls Altrusa Club meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Postman told the group of customs and the education system in Holland and introduced her host mother, Mrs. H. V. Jenkins, Jerome.

Other guests included Mrs. Gene Poulter, Salt Lake City, former Twin Falls resident and Altrusa member; Mrs.

Albertine DeSchepper, the club's honorary member, and Mrs. Nick Harris, Boise.

Plans were discussed for the Altrusa Conference set May 19, 20 and 21 in Spokane and the Twin Falls Altrusa Club Founder's Day banquet April 11 at the Turf Club.

Mrs. Mario Sanders, Jerome, was program chairman.

Altrusa Club is involved with two long term service projects aiding elderly persons and the poor.

Members aid the patients in Twin Falls rest homes in obtaining reading material they want which is not normally carried on the library's van.

Requests are gathered from patients and then phoned to the library so they may be sent on the van's next trip.

Altrusa also encourages the library to begin ordering Reader's Digest and other popular titles in large print which is easier for some elderly patrons to read.

Altrusa also maintains a storehouse to aid persons in need of a meal. The DPA office calls Altrusa Club when they have a family in need of food which would otherwise have to wait a few days for assistance.

Boxes containing such staples as gelatin dessert, canned tuna, macaroni and cheese dinner, canned milk, cereal, fruit and soup are given to these families.

Altrusa Club president, Ola Cannon, said each box will provide three good meals for a family.

Altrusa Club also gives a scholarship every year and sponsors a delegate to Girls' State.

Funds to support these projects are earned from activities such as a cooked foods sale tentatively scheduled for the first Saturday in April.

Altrusa Club members also put in hours helping at events which will benefit a worthwhile charity, in order to help the community.

paused for a mute soliloquy. Was there any hurry about taking that ace of clubs? Was there any harm in taking it? The answer to the first question was only if Yorick could shift to a suit his partner could ruff. The answer to the second was only if Yorick held eight clubs. Hamlet decided there was something rotten about the club suit and he let Yorick hold the first trick. It was just as well. East could have ruffed the ace and left Hamlet one trick short of his slam.

No real winner in Florida primary

By MIKE FEINSLIBER
MIAMI (UPI)—In terms of choosing the next Democratic presidential candidate, there were no winners in the Florida primary Tuesday—only losers. Perhaps the winner was a man whose name was not on the ballot and will be on no primary election ballot—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Kennedy sat in Room 2228 of the new Senate Office Building in Washington, prosecuting a case against the Republicans in the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. affair while Floridians were demonstrating that no candidate commands universal appeal among rank-and-file Democrats.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won here with nearly a three-to-one edge over his closest rival, but no one—not even Wallace—is ready to believe that Wallace will be the Democratic candidate to succeed President Nixon in November.

All Wallace's victory did was assure him of a stage at the convention and assure the nation of a roundhouse fight—what Segate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield likes to call a "brouhaha."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey finished second with the vote of one Florida Democrat out of five. He said his second-place showing restored him as the leader of "what I call the regular Democrats." Humphrey did well in his old constituency—among the blacks, labor, Jews.

But he lost heavily in precincts dominated by college students. The professionals know that there will be 25 million potential first voters in November and must ponder whether the old, familiar Humphrey can appeal to the young.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, with a 13 per cent total, showed strength in competing for Wallace voters.

But would the liberal wing of the Democratic Party stand still for the nomination of the author of a Constitutional amendment to restore "freedom of choice" in schools? Jackson says he is the party's "centrist." He bears the label "hyuk."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine was considered his party's front-runner from the day after his calm election eve 1970 speech. That was the label the press gave him. But now that he has been tested in two primaries—a weak win in New Hampshire, a weak fourth place showing here with 9 per cent of the vote—he still must prove his appeal. He goes into the April 4 Wisconsin primary limping.

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, the first candidate in the race, would have done well here but he had to share the votes of the young, the black and the dispossessed with Mayor John V. Lindsay of

New York City and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of Brooklyn. Together they polled 15 per cent. McGovern remains unknown to most voters and is hard-pressed for funds. Labor leaders are cool to his candidacy.

Lindsay carries the same liabilities—plus one. Everywhere he campaigned, he was put on the defensive about his record in running New York. Labor leaders are outright hostile.

So the primary, more than proving anything, spotlighted the weaknesses of all the major candidates and showed the deep division in the Democratic party.

The long haul is going to accentuate the divisions between the candidates.

Before the Florida primary was over, McGovern and Lindsay were at each other's throats—Lindsay accusing McGovern of having caved in to racism in voting for a school busing compromise in the Senate, McGovern accusing Lindsay of having bought off his black campaign workers with money.

Twenty-two primaries are still to come. The feuds will deepen.

But there sits Kennedy, removed from the scraps, investigating the relationship of ITT and the GOP. There he goes on a publicized flight to investigate the living conditions of American Indians or West Virginia flood victims. There he is with a program for cradle-to-grave health insurance for all Americans.

There he is with a name and a verbal inflection known to all. If the Democrats cannot agree at Miami Beach, will they send out for Dr. Kennedy?

New Ketchum bridge favored

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Views predominately supporting the proposed new Warm Springs Bridge were expressed during a Ketchum public hearing Wednesday night.

Near the close of the meeting, most of the about 35 residents present indicated that they favored the bridge.

A special municipal $160,000 general obligation bond election will be conducted Tuesday. The figure includes a two-lane bridge to be constructed north of the present single lane structure and site acquisition and improvements to the street approaches on either side of the bridge.

Contention centered mainly on whether the old bridge should be retained or removed. The council had planned to use this structure as a horse, foot and bicycle path.

Resident Joe Poltevin said, "I feel it would be a real eyesore if you leave the old bridge. It will deteriorate worse than it already has."

He said the city could save additional right of way costs if it removed the old span and built the new bridge on the same site.

Mayor Kenneth Richey said property for the new bridge approach would have to be purchased only on the west bank of the Wood River because Sprenger Investment Corp. had agreed to donate right of way on the east side.

Councilman Gerald Sidwell said the old bridge should be retained as an access point to Warm Springs during construction and as an alternate route across the river in case of emergency.

Harold Cox, representing JUB Engineers, Boise, the consulting firm on the bridge, said the new site would allow the bridge to be more perpendicular across the river "which in turn decreases the cost of construction."

The bridge would have to be about 20 to 25 feet longer if it were built at the present site, Cox said.

Another resident asked whether Sun Valley Co. or the U. S. Forest Service, who use the bridge as an access point to Warm Springs, had been asked to aid in construction costs. And the resident asked if state or federal aid was available for the bridge.

Councilman Vern McClellan said that council has been reviewing the matter for about seven years. "We have consulted engineers from the Bureau of Land Management, forest service and state," he said.

Mayor Richey said the city "had gone as far as Sen. Frank Church" in requesting forest service grants. But he said, "We feel we will get some encouragement from the Janas Corp."

The mayor said that the Blaine County Commissioners will donate $10,000 in county funds and excavation equipment to the project.

Richey said application for state secondary aid had been explored "thoroughly." "We could wait two or three years (for a grant) and the cost would be almost the same either way."

City Atty. Lee Schlender said, "Every year we wait, building costs will rise about 10 per cent." He said that because of other projects, state park participation could be delayed up to seven years.

Ski races set Sunday for SV

SUN-VALLEY — Children as young as 2½ years old will compete in the Kindercup races Sunday.

The races are an annual event sponsored by the Papoose Club. According to club president Mrs. Rene Meyer the races are meant for children who do not compete in the Sun Valley race program, who do not hold a race class card and are not members of the junior racing program.

A special classification may be set up, however, for junior racers this year, she said.

Five racing categories have been established including preschool-6 to 8-year-olds, 9 to 11, 12 to 15 and pee-wees. Boys and girls will compete separately. The Kindercup races will begin at 9 a.m. on Dollar Mountain. A special awards ceremony will be conducted at 4 p.m. at the Sun Valley Opera House.

SV budget hearing planned

SUN VALLEY — A public hearing on the proposed 1972 Sun Valley City budget will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the city clerk's office.

The tentative budget of $140,482 is about $115,000 more than 1971, but the 1972 budget includes funding for the new police and fire departments as well as an added road and maintenance costs.

The allocations reflect the staged implementation of a two-year plan for the city to acquire responsibility for certain facilities currently maintained by the Sun Valley Co.

Included in the proposed 1972 budget is a $124,609 allocation for the general fund; $48,869 for general administration, and $9,378 for road and bridge expenditures.

Scout banquet set in TF

TWIN FALLS — Volunteer leaders of the Snake River Area Council of Boy Scouts will be honored at a recognition dinner Friday night.

More than 2,500 persons who assist in the Boy Scout program of the council will be special guests at 7 p.m. in the Holiday Inn.

Dr. Alfred C. Emery, president of the University of Utah, will speak. Other highlights of the program will include recognitions presented to outstanding and long-time volunteer leaders. Four Silver Beaver awards and one Silver Fawn award will be presented during the program.

Dr. Emery's career at the University of Utah has covered numerous administrative responsibilities including professor of the college of law, dean of the college of law and academic vice president prior to being named president in 1970. — Darl — Gleded, — scout executive said.

Gleded said reservations for the annual event may be made by calling the council service center in Twin Falls.

Hailey adopts higher budget

HAILEY — A proposed $92,702 budget for 1972 has been adopted by the Hailey City Council.

The figure is 71.8 per cent higher than 1971 expenditures of $53,973. A public hearing on the new budget has been scheduled for 7 p.m. March 27 at the Hailey City Hall.

City Atty. Stephen W. Boller said that because of additional city revenues and increased evaluation the city will request the same mill levy as last year. If assessed evaluation increases, the levy "quite possibly" will be reduced, Boller said.

About a $20,000 transfer of funds from the miscellaneous fund to the water and sewer contingency fund represents the largest increase over 1971 expenditures.

Boller said that the transfer was necessary because although the sewer system was substantially completed last fall, all hook-ups will not be completed until this fall. The funds will be used for maintenance and operation as well as for bond principle and interest payments, Boller said.

Showing an increase of about $14,000, the road and street fund budget was set at about $32,000.

Included in this increase are additional expenses of about $4,600 for asphalt and gravel supplies, about $1,200 for equipment repair and maintenance as well as $3,600 capital outlay for automotive equipment.

The law enforcement and crime prevention budget scored about a $5,000 increase. But Boller said that the rise would be "offset" by about $4,500 federal grant. Salary provisions almost doubled from about $8,800 to $12,800, reflecting the hiring of a city patrolman.

In a new budgetary fund — parks — $1,000 was allocated for operating or departmental supplies and $1,000 was set aside for park construction.

Revenues from general property taxes are expected to increase about $11,000 over actual 1971 revenues. Building permit revenues are predicted to rise about $2,000 and a $5,000 transfer of funds will be made from the street improvement fund to the road and street fund.

Wendell meet

WENDELL — Mayor Eugene Soares has called a special meeting of the Wendell City Council and Wendell Housing Authority for 8 p.m. today in the city offices.

The meeting will be to discuss the future of the Wendell Housing Authority. The public is invited.

Announcement of the meeting follows a previous report that the Wendell Housing Authority had been dissolved.

Blaine school plans pending

HAILEY — Plans for the new Blaine County High School will be discussed tonight during a special school board meeting.

Supt. Charles Clark said earlier that the board will take one year to study site locations, curriculum and designs for the school. Residents from each trustee district have been chosen to aid in planning.

Trustee chairman W. B. Mallory said the planning group has been divided into two committees — architect selection — and site determination. He said the second committee will decide whether a new site should be selected or if it is possible to locate the new school near the present Wood River High School.

The trustee chairman said that the site should be not less than 30 acres and that the board recommends a 40 to 80 acre site. "There is no need to go into a program and not have enough land to last 25 years," Mallory said. The ten mill a year, five year plant facility levy, which was passed last spring, should total about $1.35 million, Mallory said. The figure includes interest from invested funds, he said.

Asst. Supt. Ray Jefferson has been working on a third committee — curriculum planning — with Ernest Hemingway Grade School principal Sam. Hazard.

Jefferson said, "The Building will be built to fit the curriculum," which he said was a different manner of planning than has ever been done before in the district.

He said that recommendations from the curriculum committee should be completed in about one year.

The special meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the Wood River Junior High School. Clark said that all interested patrons are invited to attend.

Construction costs detailed

KETCHUM — Costs and construction plans for the proposed new Warm Springs Bridge and approach improvements were detailed Wednesday night.

Ketchum Mayor Kenneth Richey said the $160,000 general obligation bond, if passed Tuesday, calls for about a 3.5 mill levy over a 20-year period. But he said, that if assessed valuation increases, the bonds could be recalled ahead of schedule.

Yearly costs to an owner of a $12,000 home would be $6.48, the mayor said. Taxes on $30,000 home would increase about $16.20 a year, he said.

Included in the $160,000 figure are the following provisions: $39,300 for roadway construction and right of ways; $46,600 for the new bridge; $21,900 for legal administration and engineering fees, and $3,200 for physical fees, Richey said.

Harold Cox, representing JUB Engineers, Boise, the consulting firm of the bridge, outlined the route of the approaches to the bridge. He said improvements will be made to the streets about one-half mile on each side of the structure.

The engineer said the existing Warm Springs roadway will be used from its intersection at Eighth and Main streets to its intersection with the railroad tracks on Tenth Street. He said from "that point, the" new approach will be constructed north, running parallel on the east side of the railroad right of way, which will straighten out the curve in the existing Warm Springs roadway.

The new approach would continue to a point just north of the railroad depot, turn west, cross the Wood River and connect back with the existing roadway at the top of the hill above the bridge, he said.

Mayor Richey said that a second access road has been discussed from the railroad intersection straight east to U. S. Highway 93. But he said the "plan is several years in the future and is not included" in the current Warm Springs Bridge election.

Buhl school vote slated for May 2

BUHL — Buhl school trustees have set May 2 as the date for the trustee election.

The terms of two trustees — John Honick, in zone 1, and Derek Cantrell, in zone 2, expire this year. The terms are for three years.

Nominating petitions for candidates in the two zones must be filed by 5 p.m. April 12. The annual budget hearing for the district has been scheduled for May 6.

The trustees have decided to cancel the traditional promotional exercises for eighth grade students. Promotion certificates will be given the students in an awards assembly at the end of the school year.

Supt. Dan Maher reviewed the trustee's selection of an advisory council now required by the federal government for all school Title I programs. The members of the advisory board will be named at a future meeting.

Jerome reports 2nd candidate

JEROME — James R. Laswell will seek the Republican nomination for the office of Jerome County sheriff.

Laswell is the second candidate to announce for the sheriff position. Paul E. Whaley, Jerome, announced earlier this month he would be seeking the position.

Laswell said today he is seeking the nomination because he is interested in the work as well as in serving the public. "It is my intention to man a 24-hour office so that citizens could be served on an around the clock basis," Laswell said.

He is owner of the J. R. Laswell Service in Jerome, which specializes in commercial refrigeration. Laswell said he would retire from his business and devote full time to the sheriff's office if he is elected.

Laswell was born in Chinook and came to Jerome in 1939. He served with the Marines during World War II and is married to the former Dorothy Sybrant of Nebraska. The couple has six children.

Mrs. Meir rejects Hussein's plan

By United Press International
Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir today rejected a plan by King Hussein of Jordan to create a semi-autonomous Palestinian state under his sovereignty with Jerusalem as its capital. "His plan cannot be used as a basis for peace with Israel," she said.

Mrs. Meir told a packed session of the Knesset (parliament) Hussein's plan "does not offer us peace. Peace is not even mentioned. The king assumes he can act unilaterally and not take Israel into consideration." Hussein outlined his plan Wednesday. It would set up two states, one in what is now Jordan and the other in the area west of the Jordan River. That area, including Jerusalem, was taken from Jordan during the 1967 war and is still occupied by them.

In outlining the plan, the 37-year-old Jordanian monarch said it could not be implemented until Israel withdrew its forces from the West Bank area it now holds.

US transport official slates Jerome address

JEROME — An official of the United States Department of Transportation will be guest speaker at the April 6 annual dinner of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce.

Herbert S. DeSimone, assistant secretary of transportation for environment and urban systems, will be speaker according to Michael P. Sullivan, chamber president.

DeSimone was appointed to his present position by Pres.

Richard Nixon in March, 1971. A resident of Providence, R. I., he is a graduate of Brown University and received his law degree from Columbia University in 1954.

He served two terms as attorney general for the state of Rhode Island, a post to which he was first elected in 1968.

In the Department of Transportation, DeSimone heads an office which Secretary John Volpe has called "the conscience of the department." It is responsible for insuring that transportation planners and operators give full consideration to the impact of their programs on both the physical and the human environment.

The Jerome Chamber of Commerce expressed its gratitude to the Tupperware Co. for its assistance in obtaining DeSimone as a speaker.

The time and place of the dinner will be announced.

Jordan suggests new Palestinian state

By United Press International
King Hussein of Jordan ignored both Arab and Israeli opposition today and sent legislation to parliament to create a semi-autonomous Palestinian state under his sovereignty, with Jerusalem as its capital.

Hussein outlined his plan Wednesday. It would set up two states, one in what is now Jordan and the other in the area west of the Jordan River. That area, including Jerusalem, was taken from Jordan during the 1967 war by the Israelis and still is occupied by them.

"The Israeli government already has made it clear it did not welcome Hussein's plan, which would involve withdrawal of Israeli troops from the West Bank area it now occupies. Prime Minister Golda Meir was going before the Knesset (parliament) today to speak on the subject and government officials said her speech would contain "total rejection" of the monarch's plan.

Despite the Israeli reaction, Hussein went ahead with his plan and presented it to the Jordanian parliament today. Jordanian government sources said it would be approved sometime next week.

His proposal drew heated opposition from some Arab quarters. It was denounced by Palestinian guerrillas and Iraq, emerging from long isolation from the rest of the Arab world, proposed to join with Syria and Egypt in "an immediate plan for unity that would abolish all defeatist plans and proposals."

Although the official announcement did not name Hussein, Baghdad Radio left no doubt the Iraqis were referring to Jordan. The broadcast denounced Hussein's plan as a "defeatist idea advanced by a hiring regime."

There was no immediate reaction from either Egypt or Syria. Egypt and Syria, along with Libya, form the Federation of Arab Republics.

Howard Hughes settles in suite at Vancouver

By RENEE BAERT
VANCOUVER (UPI) — Howard Hughes, who said he wants "a change of scenery and a change of air," settled in today for an apparent lengthy stay in Vancouver, setting up headquarters in a $4,200-a-week suite of rooms at the exclusive Bayshore Inn.

Hughes, 60, arrived in Vancouver early Tuesday on a private twin-engine jet. He left Nicaragua Monday and apparently flew here after a brief stopover in Los Angeles.

In Los Angeles, Richard Hannan, a Hughes Tool Co. spokesman, said the industrialist was in Vancouver on a business trip. There is no indication yet of the nature of the business nor of how long he plans to remain in Vancouver.

C.K. Scatchard, acting district administrator for the Immigration Department, said, however, that Hughes had told customs officials "he planned to stay as a visitor in Vancouver for up to three months for a change of scenery and a change of air."

Scatchard said Hughes had told customs officials also that he would contact them if he decides to stay longer than three months.

John Jackson, the Canadian customs official, who cleared the billionaire reclusive on his arrival in Canada Tuesday, said

Hughes looked "just like his picture, just 20 years older."

"He had a thinner face and a few more lines and his hair is graying. He had just a faint suggestion of a beard and mustache. You can almost say that he had not shaved."

"There was nothing really we had to ask these people. We know where he was born and we know he's financially able to support himself," Jackson said. Warren Anderson, manager of the Bayshore Inn and its Bayshore Towers apartment-hotel annex, said Hughes and his staff had rented the entire 20th-top floor and part of the 19th floor of the annex.

Computers 'overlook' mail car

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—

Everyone was red-faced. A postal inspector walking down a railroad siding found a missing mail car that Penn Central's sophisticated computers had overlooked for 25 months.

The U.S. Postal Service blamed Penn Central. The railroad blamed the Birmingham Post Office. The car containing 310 sacks of mail was found by the inspector March 6, officials said Tuesday.

"He just walked up to it on an obscure side track at Perryville, Md., near a bridge over the Susquehanna River," said Leroy Greene, director of communications for the service Southern region.

The mail—mostly parcel post from mail order firms or third class items such as books, library film and advertisements—was bound for Birmingham and distribution in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Greene said that delivery would begin today. He said each package will be accompanied by a letter of apology from H.W. Egerton, officer in charge of the Birmingham Post Office. But Greene said the Postal Service is blaming the troubled Penn Central Railroad for the snafu.

"They will be fined substantially, you can be assured of that," he said. "This was delayed through no fault of the U.S. Postal Service; there was nothing we could do about it."

However, a Penn Central spokesman in Philadelphia contended that the Postal Service failed to notify the railroad that the car was missing.

"Under rules and regulations in effect at that time, railroads depended on postal authorities at destination to advise when a car did not reach its destination," the spokesman said. "No such notification was received from postal officials in Birmingham by Penn Central."

"In fact, discovery of the loaded car by Penn Central was reported to the Post Office by Penn Central last week," he said.

"I've never heard of anything like this," Greene said. "And, frankly, some of the old-timers in the department are chucking up their sleeves at this happening in the computer age."

Penn Central's computers were supposed to be able to tell at any given minute where any car in its system was, but they couldn't find this one," Greene said.

The car was part of a passenger train traveling from Baltimore to Washington in February, 1970, but must have gotten sidetracked during maneuvering at Perryville, Greene said.

register by postcard for all federal elections beginning this year.

Among the missing when the bill was killed 46 to 42 were three senators who stood to gain the most from such a system—Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Henry M. Jackson of Washington, all candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination this year.

A number of Republicans charged publicly—and even some Democrats conceded privately—that the postcard registration plan, if enacted, would likely pad the voter rolls with more Democrats for this November's election.

But when the vote came on a motion to kill the bitterly contested bill by tabling it, a coalition of 35 Republicans and 11 Southern Democrats were able to capitalize on heavy absenteeism among Democrats to win by a four-vote margin.

Of the dozen absentees, 10 were Democrats and at least seven of them—including the three missing candidates—were believed to support the postcard registration plan.

Since one of the missing Republicans, Sen. Charles H.

Percy, R-Ill., did also, the bill would have survived by a one-to-five-vote margin had they showed up for the crucial vote.

Two other Democratic presidential hopefuls, George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Vance Hartke of Indiana, who like the three missing candidates were on Florida's primary ballot, were present and voted to keep the bill alive.

Muskie, Humphrey and Jackson were all cosponsors of the bill and aides reported they would have voted to save it.

There was no debate immediately prior to the noon vote.

Gooding prank ends

GOODING — A pre-moving prank by Gooding High School students ended quietly Tuesday night.

High School students in Gooding began moving today into new facilities west of town and attempted Tuesday to give a "roaring" send-off to their old school.

A World War II Japanese cannon kept at the National Guard Armory in Gooding was stealthily taken Tuesday night to the old Gooding High School.

Police said a crowd of students was dispersed from the school without incident.

Sgt. Gary McLaughlin, administrative supply technician at the Gooding Armory, said the cannon was at the armory Wednesday morning. He was not aware that it had been taken, but upon inspection said there were tracks which would indicate it was removed and then brought back.

Sgt. McLaughlin said the cannon has been disarmed and there was no danger of it being fired.

West plans platoon system in Magic Valley all-star game Friday

The west will double platoon and the east will run in substitutes regularly as the game evolves Friday night when the east-west Magic Valley all-star basketball game is played at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Couch Jim Thacker of the west said he has divided his 10-man squad into two units and the game currently is for alternating by quarters. However, the recently-resigned Gooding high school mentor said it also was possible that he would make changes in combinations after the game had progressed.

"It's a good shooting ball club," Couch Thacker said. "Right now we've got a couple boys who are a little timid yet but they're starting to learn to play against bigger and more physical men."

At Rupert, Couch Gary Swan said he felt his 10-man unit was coming along rapidly. "The problem right now is some of the boys have played very little man-to-man defense and have been in a zone. But in the last three days they've picked up quite a bit."

Both coaches agreed another problem was the difference in coaching preferences. "I like the bounce pass and I like the one hand drag dribble," Couch Swan said, "but when I tell certain boys that the bounce pass would be most effective in such and such a situation, they say they never bounce pass because their coach didn't like it. Of course, that's all a matter of individual preference but it takes an adjustment both for the coach and the player to integrate some of the things being done in their minds."

Meanwhile, ticket sales continued brisk throughout Magic Valley and ideas of upwards of 3,000 in the crowd are dancing in the heads of the committee, which began the affair thinking in terms of 1,000 to 1,500 at optimum. All proceeds for the event will go to the Easter Seals Society. Increasing the crowd considerably will be the number of college coaches coming in to see 20 of the top seniors in the area.

"We are getting more excited about this all the time," said chairman Rolfe Moore. "We started with the basic ideas of honoring the boys for the many hours they've spent in making themselves fine basketball players and hopefully raising enough money to make Magic Valley an asset rather than a liability to the national Easter Seals Society due to the expense of the speech therapy center that serves this area. But we are thinking now that the honors coming to the players will be the biggest thing about it. We've had such great cooperation and been received with such enthusiasm... it is impossible to describe."

Tickets for the event are available at several Magic Valley businesses, including the S and A and the banks in Hagerman; Federal Land Bank in Gooding; Farmer's Market and Grosse Drug in Shoshone; Rogerson Coffee Shop in Twin Falls; R and R Cafe in Buhl; McCleery Drug in Jerome; Reed's Market and First Security Bank in Rupert and Cassin National Bank in Burley.

Participating for the east will be Toby Harding, Tony Saras and Randy Ketterling of Minico; Lon Frazier, Cory Kidd and Kent Sager of Burley; Randy Hobley of Jerome; Ray Sever of Oakley; John Flynn of Murtaugh; and Tom Sapp of Kimberly.

From the west will come Jeff LaCroix, Frank Kuhn and

Squeakers feature outlaw tournament

FILER — Tight scores featured the opening session of the annual Magic Valley Outlaw basketball tournament Wednesday night at the Filer high school gymnasium.

Tournament chairman Lee Bartlett said the tournament schedule has been shifted away from Friday night to prevent conflict with the Magic Valley high school all-star game, set for the CSI gymnasium. Bartlett said some of the teams in the outlaw event had high school seniors selected to play in the all-star game on their rosters.

In the first night's action, Hagerman Motor Inn scrapped past Max Clover Farm 63-50 in the first game. Farmer's Bank slipped past Wendell 56-55 in an airtight battle that saw the lead shift hands twice in the final 90 seconds. Hazelton then nipped Idaho-Gem Dalrymple of Jerome 41-39 when Hazelton missed a crumble with two seconds left that would have tied it.

Highly regarded Royal Lounge had to come from 12 points down in the final minutes to nip a group of colleagues and high schoolers from Jerome. Don McKnight's three-point play and Doug Rex closing six points finally averted the upset.

Stockgrowers of Gooding outlasted Faux Cigar store in the other game.

In Thursday's play, Hagerman will meet Farmer's Bank at 6 p.m.; Hazelton goes against Royal at 7 p.m.; Stockgrowers vs. L. W. Moore of Murtaugh at 8 p.m. There also will be two loser bracket battles.

After the Friday submittal, action resumes at noon Saturday and will run through 6 p.m. The consolation finals and championship game will be played at 7 and 8 p.m.

Top four seeds win in NAIA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Third-seeded Kentucky State completed a sweep by the four top-seeded teams in the second round of the NAIA basketball tournament Wednesday night, crushing West Georgia, 112-83, behind the 43-point scoring of Travis Grant.

Earlier, top-seeded Eau Claire (Wis.), second-seeded Stephen F. Austin (Tex.) and third-seeded Gardner-Webb (N.C.) rolled into Thursday night's quarterfinal round.

Eau Claire scored nine straight points in a second half burst to defeat Belhaven (Miss.), 59-53; Austin downed Adams (Colo.) State, 87-77, and Gardner-Webb's Benny DeSantis sank four free throws in the last 40 seconds to preserve a 91-87 victory over Pittsburg (Kan.) State.

Grant scored 27 of his 43 points in the first half when Kentucky State built a 57-44 lead. Grant was taken out of the game with 4:35 to play.

Harley Stewart led West Georgia with 24 points.

Kuhn warns against gambling

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Extension of legalized gambling beyond the boundaries of Nevada would be undesirable and dangerous to professional sports in this country, according to baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Speaking at a Wednesday seminar of the mid-winter conference of the National District Attorney's Association at the Hilton International Hotel, Kuhn said the strong opposition of his office to legalized gambling was wholeheartedly shared by the commissioners of professional football, basketball and ice hockey.

"Recognizing the problems attendant to protecting the integrity of professional sports, we are unified in our complete opposition to the extension of legalized gambling in this country," Kuhn said.

"If you have widespread public gambling, it will follow as the night the day that claims will be made that this player or that player was in the tank. And you can be sure attempts to get inside information and attempts to fix players and officials will multiply enormously and pose tremendous security problems," he added.

Oilers settle with ex-coach

HOUSTON (UPI) — Former coach Ed Hughes of the Houston Oilers said Wednesday he had reached a satisfactory agreement with the Oilers over the final four years of his disputed contract.

The settlement was worked out in a three-hour meeting with Hughes' attorney and Oiler Owner Bud Adams and his staff with commissioner Pete Rozelle in New York Tuesday. The amount was not disclosed, but it was believed Hughes received his full Oiler salary less the $600 a month he makes now in a dump truck trailer factory.

"It was a full settlement under Texas law," said Stevens Mafrige, Hughes' attorney. "I cannot say any more except to say that we're happy with it."

Under Texas law, a settlement on a contract would take into consideration outside earnings made during the length of the contract. Hughes started to work at the Travis Body & Trailer Co. Feb. 14.

"There was a compromise because of my earning power during the next four years," Hughes said. "The settlement was finalized and anything I make from now on belongs to me."

Muniz places second in boxing meet

GREAT FALLS, Mont. — Bill Muniz of Burley placed second in the 155-pound class in the Rocky Mountain regional Golden Gloves tournament held here Tuesday night.

Muniz was dethroned by Dave Kummerle of Utah in the finals and was the only Idahoan to go for a title. A victory meant advancement to the national tournament.

Earlier, Muniz defeated Jim Berro of Boise in a match Saturday in Boise and Earl Shields of Twin Falls won a tight decision over Pete Wisecorn of Reno.

Drensen uses pressure defense

CSI CENTER Dan Drensen skis on defense against Oiler Community College's Pete Koola in opening-round action in the national junior college tournament. Drensen hit 17 points as CSI rallied from 16 points down to top the New Yorkers 85-75. The Eagles go against Ferrum, Va., at 8:30 p.m. today. (UPI telephoto).

Ring meet begins in Gooding Friday

GOODING — Most of the top young prospects in the Rocky Mountain area will battle Friday and Saturday in the annual Intermountain Junior Olympic boxing tournament. The event, which will be run over three sessions, will be held at Gooding's Frahm junior high school gymnasium.

It marks the first time in many years the tournament has left Salt Lake City.

Competition will be among boys aged 10 through 15, all of them having gone through previous elimination tournaments to attain the finals.

Gary Gorrell of Gooding; Kendall Meier and Mark Heaps of Buhl; Greg Laughlin and Doug Butler of Hagerman; Darrell Groves of Twin Falls; Paul Shrum of Glens Ferry; and Mike Kinney of Shoshone.

The first session will start at 8 p.m. Friday followed by a 2 p.m. Saturday affair. The finals will start at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Bud Godby, coach of the Gooding boxing club which is hosting the event, said all champions would receive trophies, donated by Gooding merchants through cooperation of the Gooding Rotary club.

The last Gooding amateur card drew a crowd estimated at 1,500.

Gulf Coast and Vincennes move to semi-finals

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Unbeaten and No. 1 ranked Vincennes, Ind., put its victory string to 41 Wednesday night in a quarter-final game of the national junior college basketball tournament, defeating Puduach, Ky., 96-85.

It put the Indiana club in Friday night's semi-finals of the winners bracket.

Butch Taylor scored eight points in two overtimes Wednesday night to pull Gulf Coast of Panama City, Fla., to an 89-86 decision over Casper, Wyo., and advance his club to Friday night's semi-finals.

The score was tied 72-72 at the end of regulation. Then Taylor went to work and pulled it out in the second extra period. He finished with 21 points to lead all scoring.

No. 2 ranked Dalton, Ga., eliminated State Fair of Sedalia, Mo., 90-83 in earlier action.

Dalton, a first round loser, was led by Charles Palmer's 28 points. It advanced in the losers bracket. Jim Lassiter topped Sedalia with 25. The loss gave Sedalia the distinction of being the first club eliminated in the double-defeat tourney.

Taylor, Tex., ran away from Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill., 95-79 in a first round game.

The Texans jumped ahead at the start and held a comfortable margin throughout on the 33-point shooting of Jerry Ahart. Charles McKinney got 26 and Jack James 20. Carthage was led by Don Louis with 19.

Seminole, Okla., defeated Southeastern, Iowa, of Burlington 59-56 in Wednesday's other first round game.

John Moody of the Burlington Blackhawks netted 27 points to lead all scorers. Seminole's Greg McDonald contributed 17.

Favorites advance in NCAA meet

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Both co-favorites Tennessee State and Eastern Michigan survived first-round games and advanced to the semi-finals Thursday night with Roanoke and Akron in the NCAA college division basketball championships.

Akron stopped a game Southern Colorado Indians team, 92-77, in the final first round game Wednesday night.

The game was never much in doubt after the first 10 minutes when the Pueblo, Colo. team held a 19-18 lead. But the Akron Zips, now 25-1, zoomed off front by outscoring their opponents 15-4 over the next five minutes. The halftime spread was 11 at 45-34 for the Akron quintet.

The closest Colorado got in the second stanza was 10. Colorado is now 19-9.

Leonard Paul led the Zips in scoring with 30 markers, including 13 of 16 from the field.

NCAA cage action resumes tonight

By BILL MADDEN
UPI Sports Writer

Adrenalin will be flowing and maybe some blood too as the NCAA basketball tournament enters Phase II Thursday night with eight sudden-death matchups including at least four arch-rival schools.

Only UCLA, the odds-on favorite for a sixth straight tournament championship, is a pre-game "sure bet". And at Morgantown, W. Va. where North Carolina and South Carolina meet in the first game of the eastern regional and Philadelphia rivals Villanova and Penn. clash in the second round, no one is taking any bets except maybe on casualties. UCLA, the only team to make it through the entire regular season undefeated (26-0) takes on Weber State in the Western Regionals at Provo, Utah after getting a first round bye. The Bruins, led by All Americans 6-11 Bill Walton and 6-2 Henry Bibby are strong favorites to whip Weber State which trounced Hawaii 91-64 to earn its western berth.

In the other western regional game, Long Beach State, a 65-60 overtime winner against Brigham Young in the first round, is favored over Pacific Coast Athletic Association champ San Francisco, 19-7. Long Beach, however, can expect a few boos from the partisan Brigham Young fans who had hoped to see their own school as the host for the regionals.

In the midwest regionals at Ames, Iowa, Southwestern Louisiana meets Louisville in a game of contrasting styles and Texas takes on Kansas State in a matchup involving surprise teams.

Southwestern Louisiana, a "run-and-shoot" outfit led by Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer (36 ppg.) will have its hands full with Louisville, the well-disciplined Missouri Valley champ coached by former UCLA aide Denny Crum. Neither Kansas State or Texas were expected to be involved in any post-season competition, but the Bobcats upset Missouri in the Big Eight Conference and Southwest Conference champ Texas ambushed Houston in the last week's first round of the NCAA.

The midwest regionals at Dayton, Ohio involve Marquette against Kentucky and Florida State versus Minnesota. Marquette, off its impressive (73-40) showing against Ohio State last week is a slight favorite over Adolph Rupp's umpteenth NCAA entry while Minnesota, off its stingy defense is given the edge over the sometimes erratic Seminoles, who had to struggle to get by Eastern Kentucky in the opening round.

And then there's the east—a modern day Hattiesburg-McCoy doubleheader if there ever was one. West Virginia thus was, as likely a place as any for the Carolinas and the Philly schools to do battle.

North Carolina, second ranked and 22-4, meets Frank McGuire's Gamecocks (also 22-4) for the first time this year, because South Carolina withdrew from the Atlantic Coast Conference prior to the season.

"I feel like our ACC tourney is still going on," said Dean Smith, coach of the Tarheels early in the week. "This is just the final game of it."

Palmer trying to shake long slump

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, who at 42 will give contact lenses a try next week, is trying to fight his way out of a terrible slump with his beloved Masters Tournament only three weeks away.

Palmer, who missed the cut at the Citrus Open last week for the first time in 86 tournaments, shot a struggling 75 Wednesday in the pro-am preceding the $125,000 Greater Jacksonville Open, and immediately headed for the practice area.

"I played awful," moaned the four-time Masters champion. He said it wasn't one particular phase of his game which was bad, "it was everything."

Asked if he had hopes of getting his game together here, Palmer replied, "I have hopes of getting it together before the Masters. That's why I've been working so hard."

Palmer, whose string of poor play started with closing rounds of 80-79 at the Jackie Gleason Invitational Classic, has been using glasses in practice because of a nearsighted condition but he hasn't felt comfortable with them. His contact lenses are scheduled to arrive next Tuesday or Wednesday.

ABA trying to raid Sun roster

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—American Basketball Association commissioner Jack Dolph and John Kerr of the Virginia Squires were reported here Wednesday, trying to entice players of the National Basketball Association's Phoenix Suns.

Suns' attorneys said Dolph and Kerr had been served with restraining orders, prohibiting them from contacting Phoenix players in the aftermath of Charlie Scott's jump from the Squires to the NBA.

Phoenix general manager Jerry Colangelo said Scott's legal representative received a telephone call Tuesday from Pete Vecsey, a New York newspaper writer acting as an intermediary for Dolph and Squires owner Earl Foreman.

Colangelo said Scott, the ABA's leading scorer, was offered renegotiation of his contract and a choice of which ABA team to play for if he would return to the younger league.

He said Scott, who signed with the Suns Monday, said he was not interested.

Reliable sources reported Scott's Phoenix contract called for $400,000 over the next four years.

WESTFIELD, Vt. (UPI)—Billy Shaw of Sun Valley, Idaho, edged out Peter Dodge of Burke Mountain Vt., by less than half a second Tuesday to win the men's giant slalom race in the North American Junior Alpine Championships at Mad River Glen.

Leslie Orton of Waterville Valley, N. H., won the women's event. Shaw was clocked in a time of 172.00 seconds, 43 seconds better than the performance by Dodge. Greg Jones of Tahoe City, Calif., was a distant third at 174.10.

McLane McKinney, the 15-year-old from Reno, Nev., who won Monday's slalom at Glen Ellen, finished 10th in the giant slalom with a 179.54 clocking. Miss Orton was timed at 91:37 in beating Claire Blackmann of Sun Valley, Idaho, who finished at 91:72.

NIT field said 'attractive'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Say what you will about the National Invitation Tournament, this year's field is the most attractive in many years.

The NIT committee came under heavy fire the last couple of weeks because of its failure to invite small college power Kentucky State and major Independents Duquesne and Detroit to play in the post-season classic.

On top of that, many writers and fans thought the invitations extended to local schools Fordham and St. John's were undeserving and that neither Lafayette nor Davidson should have been invited since neither team plays the kind of competition associated with post-season tournament teams.

The fact that Ohio State and Tennessee each turned down a bid to play in the tournament further embarrassed the selection committee, but amid the furor—and fuss—the NIT has managed to come out smelling pretty good.

What they have assembled for the 35th annual tournament are four of the top 20 nationally-ranked teams and eight teams which have won 20 or more games this season. That's not bad considering the NIT only gets the leftovers among the nationally-ranked independents and must resign itself to taking conference runners-up.

The nationally-ranked teams in this year's NIT are Maryland (No. 11), Memphis State (No. 13), the University of Texas at El Paso (No. 17) and Missouri (No. 19). All four teams have won 20 or more games this season as have tournament representatives Lafayette, Syracuse, Oral Roberts and Virginia.

The tournament begins Friday night with Virginia (21-6) meeting Lafayette (20-5) and Fordham (18-6) facing Jacksonville (17-7). First-round action continues Saturday afternoon with Syracuse (20-6) taking on Davidson (19-8) and Maryland (23-5) meeting St. Joseph's (Pa.) (19-8).

On Saturday night St. John's (NY) (17-9) faces Missouri (21-5) and Oral Roberts (25-1) plays Memphis State (21-6) and the first round concludes Sunday afternoon with Princeton (19-6) meeting Indiana (17-7) and Texas El Paso (20-6) playing Niagara (18-8).

Women's division:
1. Leslie Orton, Waterville, N. H., 91:17; 2. Claire Blackmann, Sun Valley, Idaho, 91:72; 3. Gayle Sisslin, St. Albans, Vt., 91:32; 4. Pam Noyes, Burke Mountain, Vt., 93:50; 5. Debbie Taranelli, Fairfield, Conn., 94:31.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—A selling trend, with considerable profit taking, dominated the stock market Thursday in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Many analysts said they anticipated the decline in view of the profit-taking which set in toward the end of Wednesday's session.

Some analysts said they thought the market needed a correction from recent large gains before moving upward. Some said a further advance without the correction could cause major problems.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones Industrial average was off 3.01 to 934.50. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.53 to 107.22.

With 1,675 issues crossing the tape, declines led 894 to 442 lead over advances. The three-hour volume totaled 10,300,000 shares, compared with 11,200,000 traded during the corresponding period Wednesday.

Electronics and computer issues took a drubbing. IBM dropped 6, Control Data 4 1/2, Honeywell and Magnavox more than 2 each, and Admiral and Zenith around a point apiece.

Some glamors were hard hit. Bausch & Lomb plunged 10 1/2 and International Telephone and Telegraph more than 2. Large blocks were traded in both issues.

Steel and motors were mixed. Bethlehem gained 1 in the steels.

Chemicals moved irregularly. Monsanto gained 1 1/2, but DuPont dropped 2, and Eastman Kodak 1 1/2.

Oils were lower. Natoms and Superior Oil were point-sized losers.

Rails were mixed. Gulf, Mobile & Ohio surrendered 5 1/2, Burlington Northern added 1.

Airlines were soft. American and Trans-World Airlines dropped around a point each. Aircrafts were narrowly lower.

Sons-in-law
Get to Top

Here's report of a study on Standard and Poor's Register of corporation directors and executives. Interesting. Harvard has turned out more of same than any other university. Yale is second—Princeton, third. However, among these snazzy professionals, the list of company sons-in-law is longer than any other category. Suspected that. Now it's confirmed. Shortest route to the top is matrimony with the boss's daughter.

You've seen that little princess telephone. But have you ever seen a little prince telephone? No. Why is clear. It's the teenage girls, those princesses, who make their marks with that instrument. Boys leave footprints. And fingerprints. But no phone prince fiddle de do.

WILL BET you some unspecified prize you can't find a citizen over age 90 who overacts. Who, in fact, ever was particularly fat. The medical boys say they're beginning to think that's the common denominator among the extremely elderly—that they tend to eat lightly but regularly.

CAPITAL

Did I say Carson City, Nev., was the smallest of the state capitals? Not anymore—Am informed Juneau, Alaska, now is number last. Number second-to-last is said to be Montpelier, Vt. Number third-from-last, Pierce, S. D. Carson City is number fourth now.

Q—“WAS there ever a real Aunt-Jemima?”

A. You mean Roasele Hall? Yes, she died five years ago. AM INFORMED only one out of every 25 husbands hereabouts ever has bought his wife a flower. Wait, skip the bridal bouquet, that doesn't count. The florists, who undertook this survey, described the situation as an American tragedy. In Europe, they say, one husband in five has purchased flowers for the lady friend.

WE MAY tell time, but the earliest clocks tolled it. With bells. French word for bell is cloche. Whence cometh our word clock.

ROMANCE

In their romantic adventures these days, the Norwegians are said to be more conservative than the Swedes. The Swedes more conservative than the Danes. Such is the claim of student-of-Scandinavian love life. Nobody civilized; contends he, is as unbridled in amorous undertakings as the unmarried Danish blonde. Interesting, if true.

JUST WAIT, cost of a haircut is expected to go to $6 in the next dozen years.

Muskie endorsed by Indiana senator

By United Press International
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who lost his status of front-running Democrat by his showing in the year's first two presidential primaries, today gets the endorsement of Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana.

Bayh, an early contender for the 1972 Democratic nomination who dropped out because of his wife's illness from cancer, was scheduled to appear at a joint news conference with Muskie in Indianapolis.

Muskie arrived in Indianapolis Wednesday night from Florida where he ran fourth behind Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson in Tuesday's primary. He went straight to his hotel without making any comment.

Muskie's poor showing in Florida followed by one week a disappointingly slim victory in New Hampshire's primary. Muskie managed only 48 percent of the Democratic vote in the New England race in which his Maine origin was expected to help him gain a thumping majority.

"Muskie arrived in Indianapolis Wednesday night from Florida where he ran fourth behind Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Henry M. Jackson in Tuesday's primary. He went straight to his hotel without making any comment."

Muskie's poor showing in Florida followed by one week a disappointingly slim victory in New Hampshire's primary. Muskie managed only 48 percent of the Democratic vote in the New England race in which his Maine origin was expected to help him gain a thumping majority.

"He's not the front-runner anymore, but he's a fighter," said Dick Stewart, Muskie's press secretary.

Bayh decided weeks ago to support Muskie, according to a Bayh aide in Washington. The aide also said Bayh will make a "thorough" effort in Indiana, tapping his own reservoirs of strength.

The consensus after the nation's first two primaries is that the Democratic race is wide open, but Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., predicted the third primary in Illinois Tuesday would put Muskie back on top.

Drug regulation agency given initial victory

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A move to create an independent agency empowered to regulate the safety of food, drugs, cosmetics and other consumer products won an initial victory in Congress Wednesday, despite administration claims that it would be a crushing setback to consumer safety.

The legislation, tentatively approved by the Senate Commerce Committee and likely to be passed on to the full Senate today, would dismember the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., contends the independent agency that would be created in FDA's place would be able to regulate business more strictly since it would no longer be part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) and no longer would be subject to HEW and White House pressure.

The new "consumer safety agency" that would be created by the measure would have a commissioner who would be appointed to a five-year term and who could not be fired.

As the Commerce Committee was acting Wednesday, HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson issued a statement attacking the proposal. He backed instead an administration bill that would leave the FDA part of HEW, although its power to set safety standards outside the food and drug fields would be sharply increased.

"The bill for a separate agency is regressive," Richardson said. "It will deal the cause of consumer safety a crushing setback. It would abandon the field to exploiters of the consumer by destroying the existing mechanisms for regulation."

"It would create a serious vacuum—one lasting as long as three years—into which the exploiters could move while the new agency is being set into motion. It would have an adverse impact on the public health and the public purse."

The Consumer Federation of America, however, issued a statement attacking Richardson's claims and saying it was solidly behind Magnuson's measure.

"Consumers need an agency with a commitment to the public's welfare," it said. "FDA has not shown that commitment."

House OK's Soviets mark space program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite protests that Amtrak is railroading taxpayers to the poorhouse, the House has authorized $172 million to keep the company running until July 1, 1973. But lawmakers cut the pay of Amtrak's president by $85,000.

The House voted 312 to 103 Wednesday to provide the financially ailing National Railroad Passenger Corp. with $170 million to continue its operations, plus $2 million for service between the United States and Canada and Mexico.

In a surprise move, the House adopted 235 to 136 an amendment by Rep. John G. Schmitz, R-Calif., providing that no officer of Amtrak could be paid more than $80,000 unless additional pay comes from profits.

The only executive making more than $80,000 is Amtrak President Roger Lewis who is paid $125,000 annually. Amtrak lost $152 million during the current business year and predicts a loss of $123 million next year.

By DAVID NAGY
MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today marked the 10th anniversary of a secretive space program which, according to Western intelligence, hurls bombs, bugs, spy stations and science monitors into Earth orbit.

The Soviets made it a "working holiday" for the decade-old Cosmos program, blasting Cosmos 478 into near-Earth orbit Wednesday.

True to the precedent of the other 477 unmanned Cosmos satellites launched since March 16, 1962, the Soviets announced No. 478 in the terse way that makes clear that its mission is nobody's business.

The official Tass news agency said "the satellite carries scientific equipment to continue space exploration" and gave the coordinates of its orbit once around Earth every 90 minutes, from 128 to 191 miles up, at an angle of 65.4 degrees to the equator.

In general terms, Soviet commentators do describe the Cosmos series as a workhorse, all-purpose science program that includes weather forecasting, geological studies of earth and the measuring of the effects of space upon living organisms.

Cosmos craft, which vary in shape and size according to the task, have carried germs, insects and dogs through Earth orbit and returned them—dead or alive—for study.

But Western space experts estimate more than half of all Cosmos satellites serve a military purpose.

These include test weapons for the Soviet's fractional orbital bomb (FOB) attack system, intercept satellites designed to blow up Western satellites and spy satellites, which are short-lived and need constant replacement.

One authoritative digest of space information estimates the Soviets launch an average of two Cosmos spy satellites per month, and sometimes more. This would comprise half of the 478 Cosmos orbited so far.

Demos at starting gate

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite a campaign that began more than one year ago, the Democrats seeking their party's presidential nomination are now back at the starting gate. And the unsettled situation produced by the Florida primary may remain that way until the national convention in July.

As it stands now none of the candidates has more than a handful of the 1,500 delegate votes it will take to win the nomination. The first two primaries, in New Hampshire and Florida, were not decisive, although they did remove Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine from the role of front-runner.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota gained stature with his second place finish in Florida. Yet he is recalled as the loser to President Nixon in 1968 and as an old face perhaps prominent in U.S. politics for too long.

Muskie has not yet shown himself a winner. He did win in New Hampshire over Sen. George S. McGovern—but by less than an impressive margin. He finished a weak fourth in Florida behind Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington in a state where he needed at least to come in third.

McGovern, who gave scant attention to Florida, trailed Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York. They finished fifth and sixth, respectively.

St. Patrick's fete set Friday at Stuart school

TWIN FALLS — You don't have to be Irish to enjoy genuine Irish stew, say members of the Robert Stuart Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association.

The association has sounded a call to all Irishmen or anyone who knows an Irishman to attend their St. Patrick's Day dinner Friday from 4:30 to 8 p.m. at the school.

Again this year, George Kawamoto, "honorary Irishman" and owner of George Kay's Restaurant, will be preparing the genuine Irish stew and other features of the menu.

Jack Watts, principal of Robert Stuart, said the annual event is open to the public at only $1 per person and "families are our specialty."

In addition to the stew, Irish cinnamon rolls will be served by head cook at Robert Stuart, Mrs. O'Brien (Thelma Brown). Tickets may be purchased in advance from any Robert Stuart student or at the door St. Patrick's Day. The PTA uses the proceeds from the annual event to purchase a gift for the school.

This year, says Principal Watts, they hope to purchase additional folding tables for the lunch room so an additional physical education station can be provided by folding tables away during the P. E. class use of the area.

Trustees to speak at Acequia $50 taken from house in TF

ACEQUIA — The Mindoka County School district-board of trustees will be the special guests of the Acequia PTA at 8 p.m. today.

Dr. Darrell Hatfield, district superintendent, will speak briefly on the problems facing the district. Trustees, including Fern Hunter, Leonard Martin, Leo Moore, Nila-Maricle and chairman Sherrill Stallings, have been invited to participate in a panel discussion and to answer questions from PTA members.

Officers will be elected during the business meeting.

The PTA meeting will seek to interest more Acequia parents in the activities of the school, with members asked to bring friends to the meeting.

TWIN FALLS — About $50 in coins and paper money was taken from the home of Harold Sampe, Twin Falls, Tuesday morning.

Sampe said he was notified by one of his neighbors, Charles Allen, that a long haired youth had come out the back door of the Sampe residence.

Apparently the young man had seen Allen and bolted over a six-foot high fence surrounding the Sampe backyard. At this time Allen called Sampe at work.

Mrs. Dale Richardson, another neighbor, later told Sampe and the police that a young man about 17 to 20 years old had come to the Sampe residence front door and had knocked for several minutes. The time was around 9 a.m.

The youth then went to the side of the house and walked through a garage door into the back. Sampe said a back window had been pried open. The burglar had then apparently stood on a picnic table and crawled through the window, according to Sampe.

Sampe said the unusual thing about the incident was the fact the burglar had started to take a penny collection but had left it inside when he left by the back door.

Police officers were called to the scene immediately. Fingerprints were taken off several items handled by the burglar. Police have a description from Allen and Mrs. Richardson.

Investigations are continuing.

Richfield slates bids

By DIXIE DIXON
Times-News writer
RICHFIELD — Tentative date for advertising bids for the new Richfield sewer system has been set for May 25.

This date was contained in a progress report to the Richfield City Council Tuesday night by John Straubhar, of the JUB Engineering Firm of Twin Falls. The tentative date for opening bids is June 13.

Straubhar indicated that engineering work and further rock probe tests are necessary before actual planning for construction can begin.

A grant from the State Health Department to help finance the sewer system is not available at present, according to a letter from the department. The grant has been approved and has top priority, but no funds are available now.

The council decided to borrow funds from the water system to go ahead and start the sewer project. The funds will be replaced when the state grant is received.

Bids on interim financing for the new sewer system were opened. The council accepted the low bid of 3.5 per cent interest from the Richfield Bank of Idaho. The other bidder was First Security Bank, Shoshone. These are the funds the city will use for working on the sewer project until bonds are sold.

The council approved further rock probe tests for the sewer. The clerk was instructed to publish in the Lincoln County paper that all dogs must be licensed by April 1, or citations will be issued to owners. This includes puppies over 6 weeks old and house dogs.

Existing beer and liquor licenses were renewed for the second quarter.
