Red units strike across Indochina

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist attacks increased sharply today in Indochina with a devastating rocket attack against the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh and two daring raids against South Vietnamese supply bases. But in Laos government forces were reported easing the threat to the Long Cheng CIA base.

Military sources in Saigon said Viet Cong commandos struck a major militia supply depot at Tay Ninh, 50 miles northwest of Saigon, killing 13 militiamen and wounding four others. The militiamen counter-attacked and killed 47 guerrillas in a sharp clash.

Commandos also raided a militia base near Qui Nhon, 250 miles northeast of Saigon, killing one South Vietnamese and wounding one.

UPI correspondent Kate Webb reported from Phnom Penh that the rocket and mortar attack against the Cambodian capital Monday night and early today killed 75 persons, most of them civilian refugees, and wounded 161.

It was the worst such attack of the Indochina War against a major city although large parts of the ancient Vietnamese capital of Hue were destroyed in ground fighting there during the Tet offensive of 1968.

UPI Correspondent Pon Chantara reported from the Laotian capital of Vientiane that Meo tribesmen and Thai mercenaries were defending Long Cheng, the big government base run and financed by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), had scored some successes in defending it against North Vietnamese attack.

He said government troops had captured Charlie Charlie, one of three helicopter landing sites on Skyline Ridge overlooking Long Cheng and that Gen. Vang Pao, the Meo tribesman commanding general, expressed belief the base could be saved.

Military sources in Vientiane said heavy fighting was raging along the ridge and two other landing pads, Charlie Whiskey and Charlie Alpha, which fell to attacking North Vietnamese troops Monday. Communist artillery still rained on Long Cheng but military sources said no significant damage was reported.

The North Vietnamese attacked two small outposts southeast of Long Cheng today but were turned back with the loss of 14 men killed.

Gen. Vang Pao told newsmen Monday he was confident his troops can hold Long Cheng, about 90 miles northeast of Vientiane and just south of the Plain of Jars. He said there were three North Vietnamese regiments attacking now and that attacks by seven regiments in a Communist offensive earlier this year were beaten off.

By LINDY HUGH
BOISE (UPI) — House leaders called for party caucuses today to determine the quickest course to deal with crucial measures remaining before the legislature and final adjournment.

Speaker William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, said after a committee chairman's meeting the two revenue bills amended by the Senate, plus action on a penal code and on an education formula bill are the principal and "critical" bills still to be enacted.

Barring adverse reaction on revenues or appropriations from the governor or something else now unforeseen, he said, this session of the legislature should be able to adjourn and head-homeward by Thursday at the earliest or Saturday at the latest.

Minority Leader William J. Murphy, D-Wallace, agreed with Lanting's assessment. He said it appeared the legislature could finish its work by Thursday or Friday.

To get the work done by that time will require suspension of rules but Murphy said, barring something that could come up in caucus later, he felt the minority party would go along with suspension.

Lanting said he felt the House would concur in the Senate amendments to the revenue bills. But he, majority leader Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, and others were uncertain which Criminal Code the House would buy — the revised new one or the revised old one.

The Senate sent to the House two amended bills for concurrence. Each is necessary to the 137.6 million revenue "package" to balance a projected $137.3 million general fund budget for fiscal 1973.

Turk chief visits US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon welcomed Turkish Prime Minister Nihat Erim to the White House today with a promise of continuing friendship and an expression of gratitude for Turkish efforts to stop growing of opium poppies.

Nixon noted that Erim's visit falls about midway between the President's trip to China and the Soviet Union.

In private talks which began in Nixon's Oval Office following the welcoming ceremony, Nixon hopes to solidify Turkey's determination to end cultivation of the poppies which provide the raw material for heroin.

Equality proposal test due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment to make women the legal equals of men met its first crucial test of the year in the Senate today as opponents rallied to try to soften its potential impact.

Those hoping to torpedo the Equal Rights Amendment had a series of suggestions to change it ranging from language that would exempt women from the draft to provisions that would preserve laws against seduction, rape and other sex crimes.

The first vote was expected to come on a seemingly minor change proposed by the amendment's most implacable foe, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C.

INJURED WOMAN receives aid from fireman after bomb blast wrecked ground-floor of Belfast's main Protestant newspaper Monday. Six were killed, 147 hurt in blasts as violence continued. (UPI)

New blasts jolt Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Bomb explosions smashed public buildings and a railway station today in Londonderry where Irish Republic Army (IRA) snipers shot and killed a British soldier Monday night—55th soldier to die in Ulster since the troops were sent here in 1969.

A bomb also ripped the business district of Banbridge but there, and in Londonderry, there were telephone warnings the bombs would go off—and casualties were three wounded in Banbridge and two in Londonderry.

In the explosion Monday in Belfast which killed six persons and injured 147 a telephone warning that a bomb would explode shortly was described by police as a deliberate attempt to lure the victims to their deaths. The IRA so far has not said whether it planted that bomb.

Like the blast in Belfast, two of today's Londonderry bombs were hidden in parked cars. The blasts ripped through the main railway station, then through two downtown streets, one of them around the corner from City Hall. One explosion in Shipquay Street wrecked four shops and heavily damaged every building on the block.

"At least this time they phoned," an army spokesman said. The reference was to telephone calls to police by the militant Provisional Wing of the outlawed IRA, warning of the explosions and giving residents and businesses time to evacuate.

New memos found in ITT squabble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The complex ITT controversy began with one memo from a lobbyist for the company. Today the case involved three different memos—or maybe three versions of the same memo.

The new twist in the complicated case developed Monday when International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. released a second memo—a lengthy statement which it said proved that columnist Jack Anderson's charges against it were based on a fraudulent document.

Anderson initiated the flap last month when he uncovered what he said was a memo written by ITT lobbyist Dita D. Beard in which she linked an ITT offer to subsidize the GOP National Convention in San Diego this summer to a favorable settlement of a big antitrust suit by the government against ITT.

The third memo also surfaced Monday when a former ITT secretary said she typed documents for Mrs. Beard. She said she remembered a memo containing parts similar to Anderson's memo, but did not recall other paragraphs quoted by the columnist.

Newcomer vote OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court declared today that all lengthy state and local residency requirements for voting are unconstitutional and suggested that 30 days should be enough.

The ruling came in a 6-1 decision which struck down Tennessee's requirement of a year's residency to vote in state elections and three months at the county level. The lone dissenter was Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

In the majority opinion, Justice Thurgood Marshall commented that a 30 day waiting period should be sufficient to prevent any voter fraud but "a year or three months too much."

The Court was told that 24 states have a one-year residency requirement, 23 a waiting period of 180 days or six months, and three, 90 days or three months.

Congress in enacting a 1970 voting rights law set 30 days as the residency requirement for voting in presidential and vice presidential contests.

It was estimated in briefs filed in the case that state requirements disqualify an estimated 8 per cent of otherwise eligible voters.

Justice Harry A. Blackmun who concurred with the Court's finding but did not join in Marshall's opinion said he suspected the Court was leaving to the future a test of a waiting period of, say, 35 to 75 days in order to pinpoint the situation more exactly.

Buhl plant shutdown end asked

BY RONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Supreme Court justices heard an appeal today from Cascade Commodities Corp., Buhl, to set aside a district court order closing its operations.

Lloyd Webb and Ronald Carter, attorneys for the appellant, argued the firm was closed down completely by an amended order issued April 20, 1971, by Judge James M. Cunningham, Fifth Judicial District.

Webb said this temporary injunction, an amended order, constituted a complete new issue as closure of the plant had never been presented in previous court action.

He said his client was given no opportunity to argue the new issue and was in fact denied the opportunity to present evidence against closure.

On March 19, the court ordered the plant to "cease" emitting noxious odors from the rendering process. Carter said the firm requested 30 days in which to install equipment to correct the situation and was given 10 days by the court.

He said a 24-hour work schedule was implemented and on March 20 the installation was complete.

He said the firm has never had an opportunity to try the equipment because of the court order, and asked it be set aside and the firm allowed to do business.

E.R. Frachiseur, attorney for the plaintiff's respondents, said the order was issued by the court after odors continued to come from the plant on the March 29 and March 30 following the deadline given by the court, and until the April 20 date of the order.

Frachiseur argued the district court did have the authority for such an order and left the matter open for the defendant-appellants to file further information or evidence with the court to change the temporary injunction or amended order of April 20.

The court took arguments under advisement and will issue a ruling at a later date.

During the Monday session of the supreme court in Twin Falls, arguments were heard on three other appeals.

Lois Highbarger and her former husband, C. J. Bohannon, appealed a district court action dismissing their claim for damages in the death of their son, Robert, July 6, 1969, against Wayne H. Thornock and Zurl Thornock as a result of an automobile accident.

Oral arguments were also heard in an appeal by Ruth Madron, Twin Falls, against a denial by the Idaho Industrial Accident Board for her claim against Green Giant Co., Buhl.

Mrs. Madron sought damages for an arthritic condition which developed in her hip following an industrial accident at Green Giant in September, 1963.

TF budget, street levy OK'd

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A 1972 budget of $4.6 million—24.6 per cent larger than for 1971—was adopted by the Twin Falls City Council Monday.

The budget includes a special five mill levy for street improvements.

The 1971 budget was $3.7 million. Including the street levy, the portion of the budget supported by tax revenue is up 17.8 per cent. Property taxes will provide $1.24 million for the 1972 budget compared with $970,000 in 1971.

The five mill levy will add $105,000 for street improvements, bringing that total budgeted for that purpose to $820,004, compared to $376,391 in 1971.

New City Council members said they felt there is no alternative but to increase street improvements under a mandate of the voters in October.

"All four of us campaigned on a platform including emphasis on improving the condition of the Twin Falls streets and I think the results of the election speak louder than the comments here tonight," Michael Gray, one new member, said.

"During a public hearing on the budget Monday night no comments were directed to any other portion of the proposed 1972 spending other than the special street levy."

Councilmembers had asked for an expression of the public on the matter. Seven persons addressed the council during the hearing, six of them opposing the special levy and one supporting it. Two others sent written comments in support of the levy.

Mayor John Christoffersen said in taking a vote, council members must also consider comment they have personally received from voters. Funds from the special levy will not cure all ills in the city's street system, he said, but will help accelerate the program. He also said it will be 1973 before the bulk of the money is available from the levy.

Harold Cook, suggested the city try for a bond issue as a less permanent means than a levy which once set is not likely to be removed. He and several other citizens questioned the equity and fairness of a property tax levy for street costs.

Joseph Marshall III told the city he is willing to pay his share but the property owner is already paying the biggest share of city and county government and improvements. He suggested an effort to obtain new state legislation to allow cities to impose a users' tax so the source of the trouble would be paying the bill for repairs.

Councilmen Stephen Lincoln, who said he feels the legislature is taking a new look at city needs and Winston Jones, who opposed the increased costs at the present time, voted against the levy. Councilman Paul Oslin, Tom Nelson, Gray, Ann Cover and Mayor Christoffersen voted in favor.

Veteran pilot escapes

BOISE (UPI) — A veteran pilot escaped injury Monday when he ejected from his Idaho Air National Guard F-102 shortly before it nose-dived to the earth one-quarter of a mile west of Gowen Field.

The pilot, Lt. Col. Ronald B. Weiner, landed about a half mile from the $1.5 million aircraft, which exploded on impact just east of a small farmhouse.

According to the commander of the 124th Air National Guard fighter group, Col. Kenneth B. Nordling, the pilot experienced electrical and hydraulic systems failure as he was nearing the field.

"He did a good job," the commander said of Weiner's quick responses. Weiner is a pilot for Hughes Aircraft in civilian life.

Nordling said Weiner was on a local ground patrol mission when the plane developed problems. He said Weiner was about to make a "low pass" over the field to have ground crews check his landing gear. The plane never made the pass.

Two fire trucks going to the crash site rolled over when the road along a canal gave way. There were no injuries.

Nordling said it was the first accident in five years involving an Idaho Air National Guard plane. There were no injuries in that accident. The pilot "ditched the plane" in the desert outside Boise when it developed mechanical problems.

Antiwar demos freed

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The 4th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has overturned the conviction of 267 antiwar demonstrators accused of violating government rules during demonstrations at the Pentagon in 1969 and 1970.

The court held the group known as Episcopal Peace Fellowship could hold "masses for peace" on the main concourse of the Pentagon under the first amendment protections of free speech and assembly.

The government said it ordered the demonstrators arrested because it could lawfully bar "political" activity at the Pentagon.

The demonstrators argued they were conducting a religious service. Judges J. Braxton Craven, Harrison L. Zinter and John A. Field Jr. said they felt both sides were right.

'Hello, Mr. President . . . this is Chairman Grayson . . . I'd like to report a violation'

By United Press International
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, his image as the Democratic presidential front-runner destroyed by a poor showing in Florida, hoped to recoup today in a confrontation in Illinois with two liberal rivals.

Muskie faced former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in Illinois' nonbinding preferential primary. He opposed Sen. George S. McGovern on another portion of the ballot — the battle for about half of Illinois' 160 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Muskie captured only 9 per cent of the Democratic vote in last week's Florida primary, finishing fourth behind Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Henry M. Jackson. He hoped to win big over McCarthy, who was making his first serious effort of the 1972 primary campaign.

While Muskie, McGovern and McCarthy fought it out in Illinois, Humphrey, Jackson and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay scrambled for votes in Wisconsin. Wallace planned his first Wisconsin campaign stop Thursday with a rally at Milwaukee. The voting is scheduled April 4.

Alaskan study reports on oil

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A six-volume Interior Department study of environmental effects of transporting oil from Alaska's North Slope has concluded no route would be free of all spills.

"It is evident that no single oil delivery system would be free of environmental effects and of potential threats," the report issued Monday said.

The report was the result of three years of study by Interior Department officials of a plan to build a "Trans-Alaskan" pipeline from the north slope to the "Alaskan port of Valdez. There is an alternate plan to build a pipeline across Canada.

The report said spills would occur under the proposed system of shipping oil by tanker from Valdez. It said the spills probably would average about 140,000 barrels a year and that salmon and other fishery resources would be "especially vulnerable."

A Canadian route, the report said, would be a longer land route and would destroy more terrain. But it said there was less danger of earthquakes on the Canadian route.

TF firemen answer three calls

TWIN FALLS — Men and equipment from the Twin Falls Municipal Fire Department answered three calls Monday. The last, at 9:43 p.m., was to a garage at 455 Sixth Ave. N. Damage was not listed on the report, but firemen said the blaze appeared to be man-caused. The garage is on property occupied by Karen Booth.

At 5:20 p.m., firemen were dispatched to a weed fire in the 200 block of Locust Street. Firemen said the blaze was in a vacant lot and is believed to have been caused by children.

At 8:35 a.m. Monday two trucks responded to an alarm at the College of Southern Idaho. Firemen said an office building inside and upon investigation it was determined that a light fixture had shorted out.

The blaze was extinguished after it had burned a small portion of the ceiling.

Temblor destroys Peru city

LIMA (UPI) — An earthquake destroyed half the town of Juanjui and completely demolished three nearby villages Monday, the air force said after a flight over the area 290 miles northeast of Lima.

The Air Ministry reported that there were six known dead and 20 injured but some of the towns hit were still isolated.

Juanjui, capital of the jungle province of San Martin, east of the Andes where the quake was centered, is accessible only by plane and has no telephone communications.

Military planes carrying aid to the victims left Lima for the area today.

The Peruvian Geophysical Institute said the intensity of the earthquake was 6.5 on the Richter scale.

An important message for people who prepare their own income tax returns.

Maybe you've been cheating yourself all these years.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block.

We'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. For example, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? And maybe you aren't aware that if your income increased last year, you may be able to save tax dollars by "income averaging."

Well, when it comes to income taxes, H & R Block is aware of just about everything.

H & R Block's fees start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for over 7 million families we served last year.

Farm labor bill goes to governor

BOISE (UPI) — The house approved 61-6 and sent to the governor Monday a compromise farm labor act that even its floor sponsor admitted he was "not at all happy" to support.

Drafted by an executive committee headed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus after he vetoed an earlier attempt to extend indefinitely the Farm Labor Act the legislature adopted in 1971, it has drawn fire from both farm producers and farm labor groups.

Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, sponsored the compromise on the floor, telling a story about the butcher years ago who mixed horsemeat with his rabbit meat.

He said when a customer asked the butcher how much horsemeat was mixed in with the rabbit — the butcher replied, "50-50."

"You mean 50 per cent of it is rabbit and 50 per cent is horsemeat?" the customer asked.

"No," the butcher replied, "one horse and one rabbit."

Little told the house.

"Today the farmers of Idaho are getting the rabbit," Little said.

But, he added, "I think this bill does have some good points."

Rep. Wayne Tibbitts, D-Lorenzo, said he did not think so.

Because of legislation such as this, Tibbitts said, lawmakers will force agriculture out of the United States. He said many vegetable producers already have moved from the United States across the Rio Grande into Mexico.

Tibbitts said he also was concerned about crops rotting in the fields when a strike is called on a weekend when courts are closed and farmers cannot get injunctive relief.

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Cragmont, said everybody knows this bill is a compromise measure. He said the Food Producers of Idaho, although some members still have misgivings about the bill, are supporting it.

"I think it is the only thing we can go home with now," Reid said, adding if trouble occurs because of it the governor has promised to call a special session for enactment of a little Taft-Hartley Act that will provide for an 80-day cooling off period.

Newsman lauded

BOISE (UPI) — Describing him as a man of the highest caliber, the house completed legislative action Monday on a memorial honoring retiring associated press correspondent Earle L. Jester, Boise.

Jester, 64, AP correspondent in charge of the news service's Boise bureau since 1957, plans to retire on July 1.

The memorial congratulates him on his service and performance of a difficult but important job.

Insurance plan study approved

BOISE (UPI) — The senate approved 26-8 Monday a resolution creating an interim study of no-fault insurance proposals despite objection from legislators who pointed out the subject was studied prior to the 1972 session.

Sen. Vern Brassey, R-Boise, said the study would be made by germane committee members and said part of the problem this year was that legislators who studied various no-fault plans did not serve on the related committees.

Modernization of budget code okayed by senators

BOISE (UPI) — A revision and modernization of the state's budget code was passed by the Senate Monday by a 20-14 vote.

The bill passed despite democratic objections it placed too heavy a burden on the governor and his staff.

Among other changes, the bill requires the executive budget book to contain both the governor's recommended program and a budget based on the state's current income.

Other changes in the bill include:

— A requirement that the Budget Office not only present budget information to the governor on Nov. 20 as now required but present the same information to the Budget-Fiscal Committee, the between-session version of the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

— New requirements that agencies may not transfer appropriations between programs without the consent of the Budget Office and may not transfer more than 10 per cent of the program amount without approval of the budget office and the Budget-Fiscal Committee.

Appropriation OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The house approved 53-11 and sent to the senate Monday a $33,699,268 higher education appropriation even its floor sponsor found disappointing in size.

But while he said he was disappointed with the bill, Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Mald, said it was based on the financial practicalities confronting the legislature.

In response to a question from Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, Palmer said there was enough revenue available to support it, too.

Lease questioned

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Ed Rice, R-Boise, questioned on the floor Monday a 10-year lease between a Meridian couple and the Vocational Rehabilitation Service of the state of Idaho.

He Blew It

We know it is unlawful — or at least it isn't, cricket — for newspapers to make open bets on the outcome of elections. So we are not betting!

But we want readers of the Times-News to clip this editorial and file it away for safe keeping with the thought it should be read again when the Presidential field has narrowed down to two contestants — one Republican and one Democrat.

Because right now we want to go on record that the two contestants will be President Richard Nixon as candidate on the Republican slate and Hubert Humphrey as candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Humphrey is the sleeper in this contest. And we feel that when it is all over at the Democratic convention it will be Humphrey standing there on the platform and accepting the nomination. It goes without saying that President Nixon has no problems in his quest to run for another term.

The reason we see Humphrey at the head of his ticket is because Edmund Muskie blew it. He just couldn't — as President Truman used to say — stand the heat in the kitchen. And President Truman contended that if you couldn't stand the heat then you had better get out.

To some of you this might sound incredible right now. But to our way of thinking the Democrats will devour each other down to the point where Humphrey is the only one left. And he will be devoured by President Nixon.

So file this away and look at it when the Democratic convention is over.

Highway Signs

At the risk of incurring the wrath of many people — including many residents of the northern end of our valley and many "Keep America Beautiful" enthusiasts — can we dwell a bit on some of the minus aspects of keeping America beautiful highwaywise?

Have you ever drowsed along a turnpike free of commercial signboards? And noticed the beautiful fields, herds, farmsteads, mountains? Mile after mile after mile.

And the regularly appearing signs informing you of food and lodging? Boring driving! Boring! Let's go a step further. You've seen one cornfield, you've seen 'em all. You've seen one herd of cows grazing, you've seen 'em all. You've seen one red barn, you've seen 'em all. You've seen one hog, you've seen 'em all. You've seen one horse, one chicken, one grove of trees or one mountain, you've seen 'em all. The monotony of it all!

It's a relief for the driver to see "Chew Mailpouch" on a barn. And what a welcome divertissement it is to see a bosomy gal (and you've seen one, you haven't seen 'em all) inviting you, from a colorful illustration alongside the highway, to spend your vacation at that certain California resort — or at Sun Valley. This, instead of another grove of trees, another mountain, another herd of livestock, another pine tree — driving you drowsy at 70 miles an hour.

"Keep America Beautiful" is a beautiful thought, but maybe better we should keep America's drivers awake and alert. Let them not drive so fast you say? Let them pull over the nap, you say? Let them stay off the fast highways, you say?

Asking for that is bucking human nature. Signboards can be as good as no-doze pills!

MR. SPECTATOR

The Senator's Humor

Senator Len Jordan has a humor side which compares well with that of the late Will Rogers. Lot's of folks do not realize this — but it was evident at the banquet in his honor the other night.

For instance, he related a story to the crowd at the Elk's Hall that brought down the house. He said it all happened when he ran for Governor of Idaho those long years back. His wife had told him he was going to have to get over being shy and was going to have to go out and ask people for help. So he did.

"He saw a farmer in a field so he walked over, told him he was Len Jordan and was running for governor. The farmer asked: 'Who else is running?'"

"I told him," Jordan said, "that there were four others — all good men. One was lieutenant governor, one was secretary of state, one was a past chairman of the Republican party and the fourth was custodian of the state liquor dispensary."

Senator Jordan said the farmer thought for a few minutes then said: "Well, in that group I'd say that I would rate you number two."

Senator Jordan said "I thought that was pretty good, inasmuch as I had come up to him cold, but I wanted to know who the man was he rated ahead of me, so I asked him." To which the farmer said: "Well, just about any of the other four."

At that banquet Congressman Orval Hansen and Mr. Spectator were singled out by one banquet goer as the "Archie Bunker type." You see, both the Congressman and Mr. Spectator were wearing little American flag pins on their lapel.

At the press table Juneau Shinn was noted collecting unused desserts to move to the head of that table. Which prompted one wag to comment that "Juneau is getting his just desserts."

Wallace, Muskie And Archie Bunker

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's passionate election night attack in Florida on victorious Gov. George Wallace and his 42 per cent plurality is a key to understanding the panicky depression now afflicting all Democratic party leaders.

The political ineptitude of that attack on Wallace is characteristic of Muskie mistakes that have led to the two astonishing developments causing the depression: the sudden collapse of the Muskie bandwagon, which threatens uncontrolled Democratic blood-letting, and the sudden rise of Wallace, which threatens to tear away the facade of Democratic unity. Having unwittingly fostered Wallaceism by failing to recognize its wide appeal, Muskie on election night compounded the error.

"Muskie was attacking Archie Bunker," exclaimed a delighted Nixon aide — a view by no means limited to Republicans. The overwhelming private opinion of Democratic politicians is that Muskie has made a colossal misjudgment in attributing Wallace's Florida landslide to "some of the worst instincts of which human beings are capable."

Continuing to make that error could deliver the angry Democratic "Archie Bunkers" to Wallace in future primaries and to President Nixon in November. Indeed, it is one major reason for Muskie's shocking 9 per cent in the Florida primary.

From the beginning, Muskie's operatives and Florida party leaders supporting him grossly underestimated Wallace's popularity, resulting from ferocious opposition to school busing and hostility to the political establishment. Despite the intensity of this protest vote, brilliantly courted by Wallace-styled populism, Muskie's men believed to the end the anti-busing candidates, Wallace and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, would get only a minority of the vote. On election day, they prepared a "victory" statement for that night. In fact, Wallace-Jackson totalled 56 per cent.

Shocked by those totals, a downhearted Muskie conferred at Miami's Dupont Plaza Hotel Tuesday night with three key advisers: campaign chiefs Berl Bernhard and George Mitchell and fund-raiser Arnold Picker. Leaving that conference, Muskie went on television to assault Wallace.

To Muskie lieutenants horrified by his precipitous slump, the attack was a welcome return, as one said, to election eve, 1970, Muskie idealism. But beyond Muskie's inner circle, reaction was closer to the anger of one prominent Muskie supporter on Capitol Hill. In the now crucial Wisconsin primary April 4, this politician believes, Muskie cannot cut into liberal votes of Mayor John V. Lindsay and Sen. George McGovern and therefore must go after Wallace's vote. To insult Wallaceites, therefore, is to court disaster.

Similar views were given by pro-Muskie and neutral Democrats contacted by us across the country. "I think Muskie's falling into the liberal trap of thinking that the Wallace vote is strictly a hate vote," one pro-Muskie Eastern liberal told us.

Wallace's winning total was surely not exclusively a hate vote as Muskie suggested. His share of the black vote was close to 10 per cent. He carried Tampa's Spanish-speaking areas, astonishing regular party leaders who assumed they were safe for Muskie. In winning every county including liberal Dade (Miami), Wallace seemed favored by a subtle improvement in the way voters view him today.

COMING UNGLUED?

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Political Fiasco

WASHINGTON (NEA)

There is just no way that Sen. Edmund Muskie can make fourth place and a 9 per cent vote look good. But neither is there any way that the Florida primary can be made to look good.

The evidence from this vote, at least, indicates Florida is not at all typical of the country but is in fact very special. Some 55 per cent of those Democratic voters who turned out chose conservative candidates — with winner Gov. George Wallace getting 42 per cent and Sen. Henry Jackson 13 per cent. That performance will not likely be duplicated in the nation at large, and especially not in any of the big northern industrial states where most Democrats live.

Furthermore, I will enter here, strongly, what I am sure is a minority report. It is my judgment that Wallace's whopping vote left all of his rivals, not excluding second-place Sen. Hubert Humphrey, finishing very weakly.

Oh yes, Humphrey, untested in primaries since 1960, got enough encouragement from the Florida result to go forward in search of bigger things in other more significant primary states. But that really is not saying a lot.

Wallace simply has made fools of them all. To hear Humphrey and third-place Jackson in their postprimary comment was to watch the theater of the absurd.

Humphrey, with a mere 18 per cent, told a national television audience that what he did in Florida "demonstrates that I can win." Jackson, with 13, said Florida voters had "responded generously" to his candidacy, that he was a "solid third," that he was going on to the April 4 Wisconsin primary and was "going to win."

A hard scan of the vote shows Humphrey got about half of Florida's sizable black Democratic vote, and also scored heavily — as expected — in the overlapping Jewish-elderly community in the broad Miami-to-Fort Lauderdale zone.

Were it not for that special hold, which I found based upon enduring affection going years back, Humphrey likely would have finished back in the messy pack with the rest of Wallace's rivals. In no way does his 18 per cent demonstrate Humphrey can get a big vote from his party's broad center. He still has that to prove.

Seldom in American politics have so many men tried to take so much encouragement from so little.

New York's — mayor John Lindsay would have us believe that his 1 per cent edge over Sen. George McGovern gives him a left-side mandate to go charging on through other primaries. McGovern wants us to think that, because he says he sets his sights low and spent little, he made a "good showing" at 6 per cent.

Muskie, damaged the most by falling below 10 per cent, at least had the grace not to pretend he had won something.

The blunt truth is that, except for Humphrey, who had a real need to make a quick dent somewhere in order to be a plausible alternative to Muskie, most of the "national candidates" probably made a grave strategic error in getting involved in a costly major effort in Florida.

Black Power

The National Black Political Convention in mid-March sought to mobilize power where the power is — in political office.

The prospects for black power at the polls: There's been too much preoccupation with "racial differences" in the United States.

It's a too easy cop-out for the self-righteous red - white - and blues to blame the blacks for all our problems — or the Reds — or the Catholics. Differences we have; racial they're not. And religious they're not. No, they're not!

When the first National Black Political Convention convened in Gary, Ind., its avowed purpose was to get blacks to close ranks politically.

Before the convention was three days under way, two-thirds of the 3,000 delegates had walked — out. Various disagreements.

As a candidate for President they agreed on nobody. Before the convention ended they applauded and approved two resolutions on school busing in diametrical opposition to one another.

They adopted one resolution opposing segregation, put the convention on record in favor of school busing. And they adopted another resolution saying busing is bad, saying, "We condemn racial integration in schools as a bankrupt, suicidal method based on the false notion that black children are unable to learn unless they are in school with white children."

Yet, despite the walkouts and the obvious disagreements, the Rev. Jesse Jackson calls the convention "a lightweight miracle."

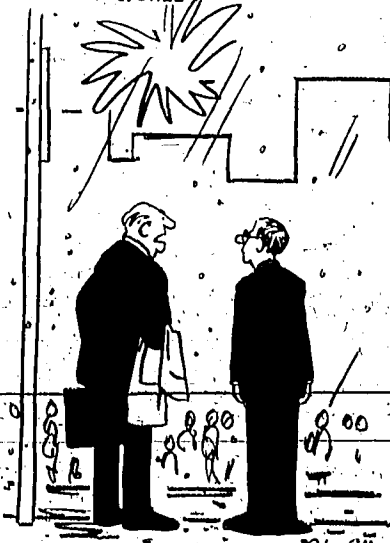

He says just to get that many blacks of diverse interests to convene for political purpose was a major accomplishment. He sees a hundred blacks elected to political office in Alabama with the support of the so-called "National Democratic Party" of Alabama and he hopes this national caucus can multiply that influence — but he has no illusions about blacks closing ranks.

James Meredith, the first black to enroll at Ole Miss, sought to interest blacks in economic self-help — filed. Huey Newton of the Black Panthers reverts to working "within the system" while former Panther Eldridge Cleaver urges guerrilla warfare.

And the black police chief of Gary, Ind., says courts are too lenient "with blacks" and thus he's powerless to protect blacks from blacks.

And everywhere there is substantive evidence that the heterogeneity of American society involves much more than racial difference.

CSI needs more space for classes

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho trustees must begin looking toward the day when all students can be academically housed on campus.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, told trustees at their regular meeting Monday night that no available source of funds to build classroom buildings looks promising at this time.

He said CSI already is from 100,000 to 120,000 square feet behind taking care of its students on campus and that with projected enrollment increases the situation will become more serious.

CSI now rents more than 100,000 square feet of classrooms and shop areas for the vocational-technical school. Dr. Taylor is anxious to get all these students onto campus so they can take advantage of services offered by the college.

He said although vocational-technical students pay a student union fee, they derive little value from it because they attend classes off campus.

He said the state's permanent building fund does not presently look like a good source for such construction. He said another alternative, but the least favorable in his opinion, is to assess students for construction. Because of the bond limitation on the college a bond issue could be called for only between $500,000 and $600,000, Taylor said.

Another fund source which CSI might look to for classroom construction is to the national level, Dr. Taylor said. CSI currently has more than 2,600 students enrolled. The 1975 projection is for 3,500 students, which further increases the need for facilities on campus. One vocational-technical building is now under construction on campus, but the CSI president said this will not appreciably relieve the space pressure in the vocational school. What is needed, he said, is more shop area.

The pressure, he said, has been loosened by renting facilities and by careful scheduling to make the most of available space, but he still is anxious to move all students onto campus eventually.

Trustees approved entering into a lease agreement for another building to house vocational programs.

The old Ford Tractor building on Eastland Drive will be rented at a cost of $610 per month including utilities. The building contains about 6,000 square feet.

City Council approves TF amendment ordinance

TWIN FALLS — Approval of an ordinance amending the new city zoning ordinance to establish a "downtown mall zone" was approved Monday by the City Council.

Almost immediately after the amendment ordinance was passed to allow for mapping of a special mall zone, a request was made for a variance under the new rule.

Donald Triplett, representing the Bon Marche store which will be opening soon in the old C. C. Anderson building, asked for permission to have three instead of two signs as allowed by the ordinance.

He said because of the three sided design of the front of the building three signs would be required for balance. The matter was referred to the planning and zoning board.

The council approved the assessment rolls for the new Twin Falls Irrigation District for persons within the city using ground water for irrigation. The rolls will be published with individual assessments listed for each property, city officials said. The charges are based on a total $64 per acre per year with each person paying on a basis of his lot size. Most will be no more than an eighth or fourth of an acre.

Most persons with acreages are maintaining their own Twin Falls Canal Co. stock and will continue to deal with the canal company and will not be a part of the city irrigation district.

Only one person appeared during a hearing on the subject. Floyd Drown expressed concern about his canal company stock if his neighbors should all join the district.

He was assured he need not join and may continue to maintain his own ditch and receive water direct from the canal company.

In other business the council approved a resolution signed by Acting Mayor Tom Nelson, supporting the Salmon Falls Project and presented in a hearing last week.

The council also approved a request from Mountain States Realty for city sewer service outside of the city limits and granted a request for vacating part of the alley on Fourth Avenue West for the new International Harvester firm.

TF teen injured

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls teen-ager received minor injuries Monday when his bicycle and a car collided at Filer Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Twin Falls Police said the accident occurred about 5 p.m.

A car driven by Dorris Eileen Morris, 53, Hansen, was attempting to make a left turn from Filer Avenue onto Blue Lakes Boulevard North and collided with a bicycle operated by Bradley Ritz, 18.

Officers said Ritz was traveling east on Filer Avenue.

Extra funds asked

TWIN FALLS — Extra funds for the maintenance and supervisory department at the College of Southern Idaho were recommended Monday.

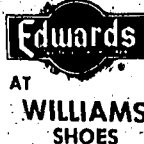

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, told trustees more than 60,000 people have been on campus since the last board meeting. This includes visitors attending college and high school basketball games, "Guys and Dolls," the Salmon Falls hearings and various other sports and cultural activities and meetings. Dr. Taylor said "It's pretty hard to pay a man for 40 hours a week when something's going on out here 70 hours a week."

High school basketball games played in March at the college drew many people, Dr. Taylor said, but even without such a crowd gatherer, the visitor figure for the previous month was 56,000 people.

He said figures may not be so high consistently, but extra help is needed in the maintenance department. He said these figures don't include students involved in regular classes.

TF 'Y' board approves budget

TWIN FALLS — The YMCA-YWCA board approved a budget of $25,800 for 1972 during a luncheon meeting Monday.

Charles Upton, general director, said the spring program will include a men's exercise class at noon at the Presbyterian Church.

The mini-basketball award night has been set as April 12. Graduating Hi-Y seniors will be honored at a dinner, the date to be announced later.

Ground breaking ceremonies for the swimming pool are scheduled for April 23, the beginning of YWCA week.

The board approved a recommendation for a one-day capital campaign to raise $70,000. The campaign is scheduled for the first part of May.

A general membership meeting preceded the board meeting, at which time the changes in the articles of incorporation to meet the requirements set by the International Revenue Service, were approved.

TF council meets new businessman

TWIN FALLS — Joseph Dugan, Daly City, Calif., was introduced to the Twin Falls City Council Monday night as the new operator of the restaurant at the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

City officials offered him their full support after approving a lease agreement for the facility and equipment.

Under the new lease, he will pay $210 per month for the first six months and $385 per month after that. The lease is for a 10-year period, subject to review annually.

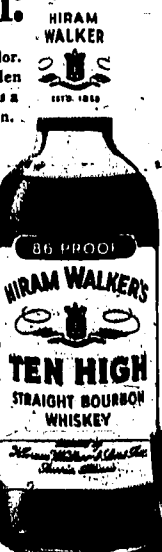

Mr. and Mrs. George DeTillot, former operators, attended the council meeting to introduce Dugan.

Tax proposal denounced

By MIKE FEINSLDER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former IRS Commissioner Sheldon S. Cohen today denounced the value-added tax proposal being considered by the White House as one "which would only shift more of the tax burden to low and middle-income families."

Instead of imposing on the American taxpayer a new tax to raise $12 billion or more, the administration should be proposing tax reforms to make sure the wealthy pay their fair share, he said.

Cohen, who headed the Internal Revenue Service between 1965 and 1969, testified at a hearing of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress called by Chairman

William Proxmire, D-Wis., to focus opposition on the value-added tax before President Nixon even gets a chance to propose it.

Magee will act as own attorney

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—The "other defendant" in the Angela Davis case, San Quentin convict Russell Magee, finally has been granted the right to act as his own attorney after months of petting.

Judge Leonard Ginsberg of Tulare County, sitting in Marin County, ruled Monday that Magee can represent himself at his murder, kidnapping and conspiracy trial. Ginsberg appointed Marin County attorney Robert Carrow as cocounsel at Magee's request.

Magee and Miss Davis were indicted by a grand jury for the 1970 shootings at the Marin County Civic Center which killed four persons, including a judge.

Magee and Miss Davis appeared together in the first stages of the long pretrial period, but her case was separated from Magee's after he repeatedly stalled and disrupted the proceedings by shouting in court, threatening to kill attorneys, and making a flood of hand-written motions to act as his own attorney.

Miss Davis' trial is underway in San Jose. Magee's case will come up after her trial is completed.

Chiang elected for 5th term

By SHULEN SHAW
TAIPEI (UPI)—Chiang Kai-shek was elected to his fifth six-year term as president of Nationalist China today by a nearly unanimous vote of the national assembly.

Chiang, 84, received 1,308 votes of the 1,316 cast by assembly members. Eight ballots were declared invalid because they were blank or because they were improperly marked.

Chiang ran unopposed. His running mate, Vice President C. K. Yen, was expected to be re-elected by the assembly in separate voting Wednesday.

Under the Nationalist Chinese constitution, the president and vice president are elected by the assembly instead of by popular vote.

Montana boy rescued

WOLF CREEK, Mont. (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies and a search and rescue team from Great Falls lowered Scott Craigie, 15, from a precarious mountain perch to safety today.

The youth, a resident of Malmstrom Air Force Base near Great Falls, became stranded on the rocky ledge 200 feet over a road near the Missouri River Sunday.

A doctor and paramedics spent the night with the injured youth after they were lowered from a helicopter late Sunday.

The teen-ager became separated from 14 companions in returning from a hike in the rugged area Sunday.

He was put in an ambulance and driven to a Great Falls Hospital. Rescuers said he suffered possible broken ribs, a twisted knee and bruises.

Inmates escape

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Twenty seven prisoners, described as "extremely dangerous" and armed with weapons taken from the prison arsenal, escaped Monday night from the Hamilton County Prison downtown.

Police Chief Carl Goodwin said five of the escaped prisoners were captured within three hours.

Goodwin said the escapees included four murder suspects.

He said 224 inmates remained in their cells and did not attempt to take part in the escape, which he said was "very well planned and not just a spur of the moment thing."

Actress dies

MARILYN MAXWELL, who starred in numerous song and dance movies in the 1940s and later in television comedy shows, died at her home Monday at the age of 49. She was the first woman to entertain American troops in Korea. (UPI)

Demos set telethon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democratic National Committee plans to hold an 18-hour fundraising telethon starting at 10 p.m. EST July 8—two days before its national convention opens in Miami Beach, Fla.

The live programs will originate in Los Angeles and Miami Beach with regional centers taking calls with donation pledges.

National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said the program will "carry the message that the people's party has turned to the people for its financial base."

Smoking banned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A partial smoking ban in the cafeteria of the Health, Education and Welfare Department headquarters building took effect Monday under an anti-smoking policy drafted by Secretary Elliot L. Richardson who smokes a pipe and cigars.

Diners who smoke were directed by signs to file to the right, and nonsmokers to the left in the cafeteria.

Harrisburg Seven trial continues

By H. D. QUIGG
HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The government produced testimony Monday about a conversation in which a Harrisburg Seven defendant said he and the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan entered Washington utility tunnels to check them out for possible destruction.

The witness, John Millard, 21, said his conversation with the Rev. Joseph Wenderoth, the defendant, took place in August, 1970, when Millard was an elevator operator in the new Senate Office Building.

The testimony tended to corroborate that of the star government witness, Boyd F. Douglas Jr., that Berrigan had told him in May, 1970, of entering the tunnels "with another individual" while considering their destruction as an antiwar tactical project.

Douglas, a fellow prisoner with Berrigan at Lewisburg Penitentiary who turned FBI informant, also has testified that Berrigan told him he had looked at "several different projects around the country."

But the government had yet to produce—at the start of the trial's third month—anyone to say he had seen the two radical priests in the tunnels or entering them. They are charged with going into the tunnels about April 1, 1970, to locate heating pipes.

JUDAS
For Jesus, the most bitter experience of all must have been to see a friend and follower become a plotting deceiver. Jesus chose Judas as one of the Twelve for his leadership qualities and good sense in money and business affairs. Yet his growth was stunted, his vision distorted. Judas yearned for an earthly kingdom that had power, influence and popular acclaim. Instead he found a declining audience and hostile criticism of the Master.

Grasping the Good Friday mood—that would bring Jesus a crown of thorns instead of an imperial throne, Judas sold out for thirty pieces of silver. The Gospel writers add that Judas tried to call off the deed when he realized the full impact of what he had done. The priests rebuffed him and proceeded to the imprisonment and trial. In the end, Judas threw the silver into the Temple area and hanged himself.

TF group slates project

TWIN FALLS — Credit Women International is planning a money making project in May.

The project will enable the group to send delegates to the International Consumer Credit Association, District 10, Conference in Spokane, Wash., May 12-17.

Members of the group are contributing books of trading stamps to be used to purchase the item for the project. The tickets will soon be on sale by members.

President of the organization, Phyllis Moore, said the conference is educational in nature and those in attendance bring back many worthwhile items of information and ideas helpful in their work.

The organization will be holding the annual Bosses Breakfast in May. A "Boss of the Year" is chosen at the event. The selection is made on the basis of resumes turned in by club members.

Wendell delegates announced

WENDELL — Commander Dee Collins, Wendell American Legion, Post 41, announced today the post will send Tony Rost, George Ambrose and Kip Dennis to Boy's State.

To qualify the boys were required to submit essays stating the reasons they wished to attend the session and to appear before post members and present a short talk.

Commander Collins said the boys were chosen for their leadership, citizenship and scholastic abilities.

Rost is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rost. He is a member of the Letterman's Club, National Honor Society and on the staff of the Trojan Echo, the school paper.

He was chosen "Outstanding Student" when he was in junior high and is presently president of the junior class.

Last summer he attended the University of Idaho Conservation Camp at Alpine. After graduation he plans to attend the University of Idaho and study pharmacy.

Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Ambrose, is currently serving as president of the student body, a member of FFA and is active in sports and a member of the Letterman's Club.

Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Dennis, is a member of the Letterman's Club, an honor student, serves on the student council, was in the junior class play cast and was the representative to the College of Idaho Drug Seminar.

Other activities include membership in 4-H, He is an Eagle Scout.

Assists

TWIN FALLS — Norman Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jones, Twin Falls, is helping arrange an international symposium scheduled for April 19-22 at Idaho State University.

Jones, a senior majoring in history at ISU, is vice president of the ISU Council on International Relations and United Nations Affairs. The symposium will feature 23 speakers ranging from foreign powers' delegates to United Nations and diplomatic representatives.

Dana Rayborn, Hailey, a junior in government at ISU, is secretary of the organization.

Couple marries

RICHFIELD — Making their home in Twin Falls, while attending the College of Southern Idaho, are Mr. and Mrs. Russ LeMoine.

The couple was married in a February ceremony at the Twin Falls First Methodist Church. Mrs. LeMoine is the former Debbie Ajo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ajo, Richfield. LeMoine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John LeMoine.

AARP sponsors fiddler's dance

HANSEN — Mrs. George Hooper, Twin Falls, and Morley Gould, Twin Falls, were high score winners at the last of a series of benefit card parties Saturday night at the Woodman Hall.

The series has been sponsored by the Royal Neighbor and Modern Woodmen of America lodges.

Mrs. Herman Ripley and Earl Tridle were second high winners for men and women. Mrs. Roy Leedom, Twin Falls, won the traveling prize. John Grinstead, Kimberly, won the door prize, and Mrs. Laura Mortensen, Twin Falls, the cake.

The dance was held as a benefit to obtain funds for rent of a building in which to hold all meetings and social events of the Magic Valley chapter.

AARP. Mansfield said as a result the IOOF Hall can be rented as such a headquarters for the coming year.

Previously the chapter had held meetings and social gatherings at five different locations which made it difficult to notify all members of location changes.

Mansfield said the chapter is grateful to the community and the Old Time Fiddlers for the assistance.

Be considerate. Cover your coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief or paper tissue.

Writer's league meets

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Chapter, Idaho Writers League, received copies of "Incredible Idaho," at a meeting Saturday.

Mrs. Frances Harris presented the copies when the group met in the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Members noted regional articles which have been published and Mrs. Harris read articles on regional publications, from "The Writer."

"Story in Strata" by Sudie Hager, and "Sunset on the Snake" by May Burkhardt were published in the last "Incredible Idaho."

Ethlyn Walkington read her manuscript, "The Long Walk Home."

Roll call topic was "Fashions."

Persons interested in writing for publication are welcome at meetings of the group, according to Mrs. Pearl Campbell, reporter.

May Temple wedding planned

BURLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Ned F. Bowen, Burley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Etta, to Marvin Dean Tubbs.

Tubbs is the son of Mrs. Carma Tubbs and the late Dean Tubbs, Montour, Idaho.

The couple plans a May wedding at the Logan LDS Temple.

Miss Bowen was graduated from Burley High School in 1970 and will be graduated from the College of Southern Idaho in May.

Tubbs was graduated from Emmet High School, attended the University of Idaho, and Boise State College. Tubbs, an agribusiness major, will be graduated from CSI in 1973.

He served an LDS mission in Northern Indian Mission and served two years with the Army, one year in Vietnam as a member of a helicopter recovery team.

The couple will reside in Malad and the bridegroom will be employed at D and J Farm Supply.

Group forms in MV

FILER — A newly-formed group in Magic Valley is the Magic Glow Worms, Mrs. Lorin Holloway, historian-reporter, said today.

The group works with Tri-Chem ballpoint liquid paint for making pictures and embroidery work.

The unit will present a show open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. March 27 at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley. Their complete new line will be shown at that time.

Mrs. Hazel MacKay, Bellevue, is leader of the organization, and Mrs. Helen Breeding, Twin Falls, is secretary-treasurer.

Religious musical slated

WENDELL — A religious musical presentation, "The Golden Promise," has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at the Jerome LDS Stakehouse Cultural Hall.

The event is sponsored by the Gooding Stake Relief Society and the Seventies.

A second show will be presented in the Gooding LDS Cultural Hall on March 31.

The "Singing Mothers" will furnish all the music and some of the dialogue, according to Bob Quidor. A portion of the dialogue will be given by a member of the Seventies, he said.

Tickets will be available at the door or from any member of the Relief Society or the Seventies in all of the communities in the stake.

RICH BUTTERSCOTCH COOKIES

Preheat oven to 400 degrees.
 3/4 cup dry cream
 3/4 cups sifted flour
 2 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon soda
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, packed
 2 eggs
 1/4 cup water
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 3/4 cup chopped nuts
 Sift all dry ingredients except brown sugar. Cream shortening, eggs and sugar until fluffy. Add vinegar to water. Add dry ingredients and water mixture, alternately. Stir in vanilla extract and nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls about two inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake about 10-12 minutes. Makes 4 1/2 dozen. Frosting may be added if desired.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department.

Omitted

RICHFIELD — Names of two cast members were omitted from the recent story printed in the Times-News regarding the Richfield High School French Night events. Featured as the mayor in the play, "With the Mayor," was Christine Jones while Cheryl Jensen was the mayor's secretary.

Longer hair styles for men have brought a new emphasis on hair care. New shampoo products promise the look of a shine instead of scruff.

Mini reviews

TWIN FALLS — A few of the new books received at the Twin Falls Public Library are listed by library officials.

"The Magician," Sol Stein. Weaving an extraordinary narrative spell, Sol Stein compels us to face a new reality in which the American concept of justice is threatened.

"Supershipper" by David and Mary Mae Klein. The authors don't want to turn you into a miser, but they do think you need a little help in shopping.

"Agnew: the Unexamined Man," by Robert Marsh. If Agnew infuriates you, you will be surprised to learn that he is intelligent, loyal and sincere. If Agnew delights you, you will be surprised to learn that he is inconsistent, manipulative and susceptible. He is a political man.

"Great Adventures of the Old West," American Heritage. Twenty articles written by historians, poets, admirers of the American past, give you a lively look of the Old West.

"Ride a White Horse," by Anne Mayberry. Leonie finds herself in Vienna, the victim of many near-miss strange accidents. Here is a fast moving suspense novel.

"Deep Cover," by Brian Garfield. The master of Russian intelligence worked for 20 years on a plan that makes this a frighteningly believable suspense story.

"Bacon and Beans from a Gold Pan," by Jesse Coffey and George Hooper. An unusual true-life adventure of a young couple who camped in the mountains of California to make a living panning for gold.

"The Vanishing Parson," by Laile Bartlett. The old institutional walls may be crumbling, but the religious life of the 1970's and beyond is appearing, live and well.

"The Gallery," by John Horne Burns. A re-issue of the author's famous novel of a rapacious city under allied occupation.

"The Call," by Oral Roberts. In this candid autobiography, Oral Roberts tells the story of his unique ministry in evangelism and healing.

"Estate Planning for Wives," by Merle E. Dowd. This is not a maudlin book, but a straightforward, concise family planning guide in finances.

BETH SKEEM

Beth Skeem, Campbell name date

EDEN — Mr. and Mrs. Marcus (Mark) B. Skeem, Eden, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beth, to Van Campbell, Shelley.

Campbell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Campbell. Miss Skeem and Campbell are students of Brigham Young University. She is a third year speech and drama major. Campbell fulfilled a mission to Ireland.

A June wedding is planned at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple. The bride-elect's grandfather, Roy Wood, will perform the ceremony.

Richfield meet set

RICHFIELD — The next meeting of the Richfield Women's Club will be April 19 at the home of Mrs. Eugene Alexander.

Homemade hats fashioned of kitchen utensils were modeled at the group's last meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl Riley.

Mrs. Edward Schisler won the prize for the best creation. Mrs. Carl Paulson and Mrs. Eugene Alexander, nominating committee, reported nominations will be announced at the next meeting.

A demonstration on making hand cream was given by Mrs. Riley.

Winners

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Unit Duplicate Bridge Club held a potluck and tournament play Sunday at the Episcopal Hall.

Overall winners were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook, first; Mrs. N. E. Saunders and Mrs. M. Hogg, second; Mrs. Mary Kienlen and Mrs. N. MacIntosh, third, and Mrs. D. Holmes and Mrs. N. N. Whitesides were fourth. Cal McIntyre and H. M. Wycoff were fifth.

North and south winners were Mr. M. E. Saunders and M. Hogg were first; Mrs. Kienlen and Mrs. MacIntosh, second; Mrs. and Mrs. W. R. Cook, third, and Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hall were fourth.

East and west winners were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cook, first; Mrs. D. Holmes and Mrs. Whitesides, second; Cal McIntyre and H. M. Wycoff, third, and Grant Southworth and John Hohnhorst, fourth.

Exchange students speak

TWIN FALLS — Two exchange students were featured speakers at a luncheon Saturday of Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma at the Turf Club.

Brigitte Blossau, introduced by her hostess, Mrs. Gary Major, Gooding, discussed France, her native country.

Jeanett Postma, the Netherlands, presented a talk on her country. She was introduced by Leta Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jenkins, Jerome, her host family.

Mr. William Emerson was program chairman.

Evelyn Carey, music chairman, introduced Rice who gave a demonstration on the Wurliitzer organ.

Elsie Lindgren and Margaret Syverson decorated tables.

Marie Hargrove, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of candidates. Nominated are Mrs. Andrew Hilverda, president; Mrs. Charles Ratcliffe, first vice president; Lila MacLeod, second vice president; Marvic Nelson, recording secretary; Evelyn Carey, corresponding secretary.

Mother's Council organized

BUHL — An organizational meeting for the Young Mother's Council is scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Johnston at Clover.

The council is a non-denominational group for young mothers and is affiliated with the Mother of the Year award, according to Mrs. Helen Henderson, Twin Falls County probation officer.

The purpose of the council is to strengthen the spiritual and moral foundation of the American home. Lessons include topics on family appreciation, encouraging creativity, creative anger, developing courage and instilling self-importance in the child.

Anyone wanting to attend the meeting is welcome.

Rev. Brown speaks in TF

FILED — Rev. Les Brown, Twin Falls County Mental Health Association, addressed the Town and Country Home Extension Club members.

Mrs. Henry Westendorf was appointed to represent the club in the annual Best Cook Contest in Buhl. Six members will attend the district meeting in Burley March 27.

With almost all squeezes

you use the squeeze to gain

just one trick. Hence, it may be necessary to give away a trick or even two tricks to prepare your squeeze.

Today's hand is the same as yesterday's except that

East and West have acquired the queen of dia-

He counts 11 top tricks.

The 12th will come in if either clubs or diamonds

break 3-3 or if one opponent

holds four cards in each suit

and a squeeze can be developed

South has to lose a diamond trick some time or other irrespective of how the East and West cards divide. The best time to lose it is right away so at trick two South plays low diamonds from both hands.

This way he keeps 10 of his top cards. He had to use one at the first trick. There are

11 tricks to go and he has rectified the count.

He wins whatever suit is returned and cashes his

to discard a diamond or club

on the last of these spades

and hearts and has been squeezed out of his stopper

in that suit.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I'm glad to see that you make mistakes, too. In your column you used the expression, "could care less" to convey indifference. What you meant was "COULDN'T care less."

Just think about it for a minute, and you will realize that if one could care LESS he cares a great deal. And if he COULDN'T care less, he doesn't care at all.

By the way, I could care less about your column And that's a compliment. KRISTY IN L. A.

DEAR KRISTY: And I could care less about my choice of words, which is to say that I care so MUCH I couldn't care. MOHE! Thanks to you and Judge Howarth of Calexico, Cal., and all the others who wrote to good-humoredly chew me out—more or less.

DEAR ABBY: I can't tell you how happy and relieved I was when I read that letter in your column from "Dreamer." (She was the 41-year-old happily-married woman who said she was having an "affair"—strictly mental—with an attractive man of her acquaintance.)

You see, I am a happily married woman, too, and I'm also a "dreamer." I have my favorite fantasies about Dean Martin, Paul Newman, and Gregory Peck, and I've always felt a little guilty. I would never cheat on my husband, Abby, and I'd never tell him about these romantic dreams I enjoy secretly.

It was so good to know that there are other women who dream dreams like I do. And I felt a lot better when I read your answer saying it's harmless as long as you don't try to make your dreams come true.

Thanks, Abby. I'll sleep (and dream) a lot better tonight. ANOTHER DREAMER

DEAR DREAMER: Fantasies have always been a part of our lives. They are perfectly normal, and nothing to be ashamed of. Some fantasies serve a very useful purpose. Ask any dreamer.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is 30 years old, misbehaved while married. (Other women, drinking, and beating his wife.)

I know how all this started. His wife refused relations with him after the birth of their third child. I will admit, she went thru a bad time with the pregnancy and delivery, but she demanded more of him than any man could tolerate. My son respected her wishes for two years. Finally he couldn't stand it any longer and he strayed.

His wife found out about it and they had a row. He went out and got drunk and that is when he beat her. She left him promptly and they have been apart for four months.

My son supports her and the children, but he would like to be a family man again. His wife won't let him in the house, and she won't give him a divorce.

Abby, is there something I can do to get them back together again? She will speak to me, but not to my son.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: As long as there is no communication between your son and his wife, there is nothing you (or anyone) can do. Urge her to seek counseling. An impartial third party is always far more effective in mediating domestic problems than a member of the family.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 68700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

SHOES STAND AT THE READY

By Mary Sue Miller

Ready and able to accessorize your spring smasher, a gaberdasheer suit, or wrapped coat, or pleated dress are new American Leather shoes and handbags.

There's a complementary range of shoe styles encompassing the pump, sandal and the Pumpa re-establish a fashion foothold with traditional d'Orsay cuts, scalloping and draping.

In sandals, interest focuses on the trapping instep, T-strap and ankle straps. Many sandals are furnished with platforms, wedges and open toes. Tied shoes, ghillies and spec oxfords, walk with superior comfort on stacked heels and porous leather linings.

Smooth leathers and suedes form the primary textures. Alone or in combination, reptile-embossed and real patent leathers offer the season's quality look. Colors endorse clothing colors—the naturals such as bamboo and chamomiles, the neutrals such as navy, clear red, browns and black.

Either to blend or match, handbags take their cue from shoes. Pouchy shoulder bags still rule, but envelopes and clutches go hand-in-hand with Easter finery. So very fine this season!

According to the Leather Industries of America, value as well as variety is in U.S. tanned leather. The price gap between domestic and foreign goods has closed. Thus, when you buy American you get your money's worth. You help to support the national economy to boot!

Shoshone plans budget hearing

SHOSHONE — Hearing on the proposed Shoshone City budget of $692,925 is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 28, at the city hall.

This year's budget is $207,745 less than last year's budget, because cost of the city's first sewer system was mostly included in that budget, according to Mrs. Claude Chess, city clerk.

She said more than 50 per cent of the sewer installation is complete and a good share of the cost has been paid.

The Hartwell Excavation Co., Idaho Falls, contractors for the project, have until Sept. 1 to complete the sewerage system.

The proposed budget includes $64,982 in general fund; $3,870 for library fund; $3,838, fire department; $1,970, recreation fund; $40,356, street and lighting; $575,404, sewer, and $2,068, waterworks, reserve fund.

The general fund total of $64,982 compares to $68,576 last year. Last year's street budget was $25,118.

One new fund set up this year is for redoing sidewalks on South-Rail Street, and for curb lights on two blocks of the highway roadway, South Rail Street, and on North Street and South Apple Street.

When State Highway 24 construction comes into town from the west, the highway department will be replacing curb lights along the first two blocks of South Rail Street, but it will be up to the city to finish the street and adjoining area where the old type lights will be put out of order with the construction and installation work, Mrs. Chess said.

The city will contract for sidewalk replacements, with anticipation that business owners will reimburse the city.

Judicial budget proposed for 1972, which included the $600 salary for mayor, will total $7,585 with legislative budget amounting to $4,800; financial and administrative phase, $8,130; legal, $925, and other general government, $1,150.

Law enforcement and crime prevention section of the budget is $13,679; waterworks, $16,833; sanitation $8,471.40; park, $5,358, and airport, $50.

The sewer construction funds come from special revenue bonds that have been sold. The construction account if $536,204 with $5,200 in expense account; $5,000 bonds redeemable; $29,000 interest to total $575,404 as a total sewer fund.

New jail planned

FIRST STEP toward construction of a new jail in Blaine County is the demolition of a storage building behind the present courthouse building. Construction on the new jail is scheduled to begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

Meet slated

KETCHUM — Natural resources and wildlife will be the topics of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday. Jack Hemingway, Idaho Fish and Game commissioner, will be the featured speaker for the meeting, which will be conducted noon Thursday at the Warm Springs Ranch Inn.

According to chamber manager Lloyd Curtis, Hemingway will discuss fish and wildlife management as well as the Sawtooth National Recreation Area bill currently before the U.S. Congress.

An open discussion will also be conducted on the proposed routings for U.S. Highway 93, Curtis said.

Gooding plans budget hearing

GOODING — Mayor Harley Crippen announced that the budget hearing will be March 30 at 8 p.m. at the city hall.

The Gooding budget this year will be $345,737. The mayor said that if the state cannot provide grant money which the city has as anticipated revenue, "We'll have to go with what we have."

The city is hoping for $7,500 in grants for the parks department.

City Attorney Cecil Hobday told the council an ordinance is needed to clarify who can use the city dump, when dumping will be allowed and what can be dumped. Councilman Don Simis said, "Everyone should be able to dump there but under our rules. Some guidelines are needed."

The proposal was tabled until next meeting.

A letter was read from Bruce Bergeson, supervisory air quality specialist, State Health Department, informing the council that since it is not feasible from a manpower or economic point of view for the state to control burning, the city should adopt its own ordinances for burning.

Bergeson suggested that clean-up periods be established when there is good dispersion for burning, but otherwise open burning is not allowed in cities where there is garbage pickup. Crippen announced that he,

Wendell Smith, city engineer, and Gene Kelly, councilman, looked over the sidewalk situation at Seventh Avenue West, and Smith suggested an engineer to be brought in to determine property lines so that the city can decide on which side of the street a sidewalk can be installed at the least expense. The sidewalk is needed out to the new high school on that road.

Police chief Lyle Clifford told the council that five or six 25-mile per hour speed limit signs were needed on Seventh Avenue West out to the new high school, and that there should be two stop signs from the school parking lot on to the highway.

Spring Cleanup Week was set for April 17 to May 1.

Mayor Crippen said that Wednesday at 1 p.m. a meeting will be held among the council, interested businessmen and the Gooding Housing Authority to hear a representative for the Office of Economic Opportunity about possible funding for a senior citizens' recreation hall.

The council was told that the new pump which is south of the Wood River on Nevada Street will be put on the water line sometime next week.

In other action the council adopted a new ordinance which changed the speed of the trains going through Gooding from 30 to 45 miles per hour.

Ketchum OK's new budget

BY TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Three maintenance funding provisions prompted the only challenge Monday to the proposed 1972 Ketchum City budget of $245,116.

The budget is 9.6 per cent higher than in 1971.

The council adopted the budget after resident Bert Barlow protested an approximate $5,000 cut in the road and street fund.

Totally the fund showed about $20,000 decrease. Under the 1972 budget about $15,000 less will be spent on capital outlay for automotive equipment than in 1971.

Barlow said the streets "were deplorable." He said last year maintenance work on the road continued "from July to September. In October they began to pave it again."

The resident referred to the proposed new Warm Springs Bridge approaches and asked by "what reason are lowering road repair by $5,000 and then propose $48,300 to build a mile of new road?"

Barlow said the city "should service and put the roads in a condition where they can maintain them."

Acting mayor Vern McClellan said the streets "never had anything but a dust coating before."

He said where the roads were torn up for the sewer some of the most traveled roads "received a better coating than the original."

"We spent more on oil than we had ever spent in town before," McClellan said. "We had to kind of level it out someplace," he said.

The acting mayor said "the tax structure could not afford the roads you are talking about. We think we've done the best we know how."

Councilman Gerald Sldwell said when tax evaluation increases, "revenue doesn't come in until a year or two later." He said the city still has additional current problems that have to be funded.

"It's a situation I don't know how you're ever going to catch up," he said.

Gem solons map wrapup course

Working under suspension of rules into the evening hours Monday, the Senate completed its action to add to a $134 million current tax base $550,000 from a 2 1/2 per cent liquor surcharge increase, $800,000 from a one penny per pack cigarette tax increase and $2.3 million in income tax increases.

The Senate's proposal earmarks $1.1 million from a five per cent liquor surcharge for construction at the new penitentiary.

The bill is written to extend two years for a total of $2.2 million, but amendments may be introduced in the House today to extend the bill for three years for $3.3 million and authorize the permanent building fund advisory council to issue construction contracts immediately on the basis of anticipated income.

The Senate also offered a combination of $800,000 from another penny increase on cigarettes and $300,000 from a 35-per cent tax increase on other tobacco items such as cigars and snuff to finance a $1.1 million state water pollution control fund.

As originally written and approved in the House, the two cent per pack cigarette tax increase was destined for the general fund and the 7 1/2 per cent liquor surcharge increase was to be divided between prison construction and water pollution control.

The senators indicated fears, however, the non-cigarette tobacco tax and the small portion of the liquor surcharge hike would not produce enough money to finance the sewer construction projects already approved by voters.

Suspending rules to amend both, the Senate approved the final version of the cigarette tax 22-13 with only Sens. Richard Egbert, D-Teton, Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, and Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, crossing party lines to vote with the 19 Republicans.

The non-cigarette tobacco tax, left as the House approved it, was approved 21-14 despite a warning from Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, the tax would not raise the anticipated amount. Saxvik told his colleagues they were "once again taxing a minority" and would only "scrape up a few thousand bucks from a dying industry."

Acequia man, 57, hurt in crash

RUPERT — Vernal Vaughn, 57, Acequia, was being treated in the emergency room at Minidoka Memorial Hospital this morning for injuries received in a one-car accident last night.

Vaughn was driving north on Highway 24, one and one-half miles west of Acequia at about 9 p.m. Monday. He drove through a barricade where a canal bridge is under construction and dropped into the 20 foot deep canal.

Construction workers found Vaughn this morning at 7:55 a.m. when they returned to the site to begin work for the day. The car was hidden from passersby due to the depth of the canal.

Vaughn was taken to Minidoka Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Tommy Thompson, state patrolman, reported that the accident is still under investigation.

Burley okays revised budget

BY LEE TREMAINE, Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Burley City Council approved a slightly revised budget incorporating a 5 per cent pay raise for all city employees during Monday's council meeting.

Total city spending would rise 19 per cent above last year's level.

The original budget figures provided for specific raises for each employee. The council, after lengthy discussion, voted for the across-the-board 6 per cent increase.

The revised figures provide for a larger pay raise for higher salaried employees than was originally anticipated, while trimming raises for lower salaried city workers.

The total budget for 1972 of $2.36 million, up from $1.98 million in 1971 includes a substantial increase in expenditures for the city street department. Mayor Garis Robertson said the severe break-up of streets during the winter will require a substantial street improvement program this summer.

The total general fund budget of $1.29 million indicates an increase of more than 40 per cent over the 1971 general fund budget of $915,782. However, City Clerk Charles Shaddock said an entirely new accounting system being used by the city this year makes a direct comparison impossible.

For the first time, according to Shaddock and City Treasurer James Ash, each city department will be billed by the city shop for labor done for that department.

Thus, the officials said, when the shop repairs a piece of equipment for the electric department, the labor costs will be included.

"This gives us an idea of what each department is costing the city in labor and other costs," Ash said.

Each department must budget anticipated labor costs this year for the first time, making an apparent increase in the budget. Much of the increase is merely a realignment of the city's cash flow, Ash said.

Serious condition

BURLEY — Glen Wilkinson, Burley Police officer, is listed in serious condition this morning at St. Alphonsus Hospital, Boise.

Wilkinson was injured in an automobile accident early Saturday morning. He was taken to Magic Valley Hospital, Twin Falls, following the accident, and transferred to St. Alphonsus by helicopter Sunday afternoon.

James Mabey, a passenger in the police car driven by Wilkinson, was listed in satisfactory condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital this morning.

Ketchum wants UP land

KETCHUM — A proposed request that the Union Pacific Railroad deed all of its land within Ketchum to the city was backed by the City Council Monday night.

The council authorized the mayor to sign a letter, embodying the request, which would be sent to the president of UP, the chairman of the board and the superintendent.

The proposal was formulated by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Rotary Club. R. D. (Gen.) Neely, club president, said he will also present a letter to the Sun Valley City Council.

Neely said that the letter makes the "immediate" request that the railroad donate the abandoned Ketchum depot to the city. He said the depot would be used as a museum to house wagons and antique tools.

The Rotary president said that possible uses of the land could include sites for a community and youth center, library, chamber of commerce office and city hall as well as small parks and recreation areas.

Neely said if the request was granted, the city should hire a city planner and architect. He said the city planning and zoning commission would moderate land use projects.

All railroad land north of the southern city boundary will be requested, Neely said. He said that he was uncertain how much acreage was involved in the proposal but that the request also included the balloon turn on the north edge of town.

Neely said the proposed route for U.S. Highway 93 included an alternate that the roadway be realigned along the railroad right of way. "It seems the railroad is contemplating terminating service. All the land would then be surplus," Neely said.

Justice addresses legal secretaries

TWIN FALLS — Legal secretaries today must be able to do more than take shorthand and operate a typewriter, Chief Justice Henry McQuade said Monday night.

Justice McQuade, of the Idaho Supreme Court, addressed the Twin Falls Chapter of the Legal Secretaries Association, as guest speaker during a dinner meeting in the Turf Club.

He told the 45 persons attending the dinner meeting a modern-day legal secretary is handling more and more of the details of the law office.

"In these days of inflation the attorney devotes more time to research and appearances, leaving more and more of the details of the law firm's operation to his secretary," McQuade said.

"She is a definite part of the legal practice — not just a secretary and this is all a part of the educational process in which organizations such as this assist in raising the standards and efficiencies of the legal secretaries," he said.

Justice McQuade, in Twin Falls for the current session of the Idaho Supreme Court here, also discussed the many changes being made in laws on a national and state level. These call for a better cooperation between the attorney and the secretary and a greater knowledge of new procedure and techniques by the secretary, he told the group.

Doris Paxton, Twin Falls, president of the chapter, introduced Ron Kull, Boise, state director of the Idaho Bar Association, who served as master of ceremonies. Roselle Rayborn outlined the principals and goals of the organization.

A delegation of legal secretaries from Boise attended the dinner with others from all parts of Magic Valley and the Wood River Valley areas.

New shopping center set for Burley

BURLEY — Plans to construct a $2 million shopping center near the Burley Airport have been announced by Albertson's, Inc., Boise, and Skaggs, Inc., Salt Lake City.

The new center to be known as Skaggs Drug Center will occupy 36,000 square feet of space on a 5.8 acre plot of land south of East Main Street.

The Burley City Council approved drafting of an annexation ordinance as requested by Albertson's during Monday night's council meeting.

Construction is expected to begin in the near future with an opening anticipated by October. The two firms recently acquired the land from Harlan Jensen, Burley, owner of the Overland Shopping Center, after several months of negotiations.

The two firms will employ over 100 people, offering full lines of drugs, related merchandise and groceries.

Announced plans of Albertson's to operate a "seven-day-a-week operation" brought protests from council members. A strict Sunday closing law in effect in Burley, requires all food establishments such as Albertson's to remain closed on Sunday.

The city will "request" officials of the two firms to obey the city code, although Mayor Garis Robertson admitted that "we probably wouldn't stand a chance if they took the matter to court."

Robertson said today that when Albertson's opened its present store in Burley it planned to remain open on Sunday. The first Sunday the store was open the store manager was promptly arrested and fined.

The store has remained closed on Sunday since, Robertson said.

Enough?

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI)—Police in Kuala Lumpur, tired of playing cowboy, have warned cattle owners that stray cows wandering in the streets will be rounded up and hauled to the public slaughterhouse.

Special speaker

IMPORTANT ROLE of the legal secretary in modern-day law practices was stressed in Twin Falls Monday night by Chief Justice Henry McQuade of the Idaho Supreme Court. He addressed the Magic Valley Chapter of the Legal Secretaries Association, and was welcomed by Doris Paxton, above.

FAMILY CIRCUS

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: By being diplomatic and very considerate of members of your family you will be able to avoid the tempestuous, emotional time that could otherwise be your lot today and tonight. Your judgment is not too good so make a point to double-check whatever arises, then you can sidestep some otherwise difficult pathways.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) See what should be done to make your home more comfortably charming as well as add to the harmony existing there now. You have to use a new method if you want to start an uptrend in some important outlet. Get busy early.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Some discussion is necessary with associates if you want to get those new methods operating efficiently, become more successful. Much care in driving is necessary, as well as more courtesy toward others now. Think.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you talk over some monetary matters of importance with a financial wizard or banker, you can handle them with true efficiency. You have taken on some heavy responsibilities that now seem to be too much for you, but this is not so. Keep busy and all is okay.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Good friends are in a most emotional mood, so handle them with real care now. Show you are most thoughtful of them. Take those health treatments that are really good and time tested.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to get much work done before you can go out for amusements, so get an early start on them. Confiding in others could result in the loss of good ideas and much cash. Try to be as secretive as possible today and tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) You have to approach that bigwig who can help you gain your aims in a gingerly manner and then you get the right results. Avoid group affairs that are not apt to go very well now. Do some reading, relaxing.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) Follow the ideas of higher-ups more if you want to get your business duties handled well and with less trouble. Work every regulation that applies to you solely. Don't argue so much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) New information has cropped up that can be somewhat alarming to you, but by sleeping over it, you find it provides opportunities in advance. Don't permit a new contact to lead you pell-mell into something you are not sure of.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get obligations ahead of you handled with speed so you free more time for hobbies and other activities you like. Mate is irritable, so hold your temper and give a chance to relax. Show helpfulness, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Being more cooperative with an associate gives you an opportunity to understand ideas better and then you can work together happily. You have to be exact where some public duties are concerned. Think logically.

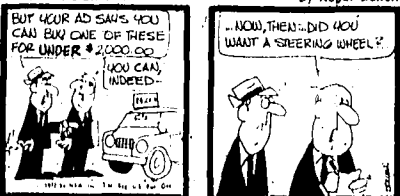

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Procrastinating will never get that work ahead of you done, so roll up your sleeves and get it out of the way now. Reap the benefits soon. Rest tonight instead of gadding about and wasting energy foolishly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Taking chances with new types of pleasure you know nothing about could lead to something dangerous, so stick to the tried and true (get more work done on that hobby that pleases you. Stay within your budget).

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those highly emotional young people, which is fine, provided this quality is channeled in the right directions. Otherwise there can be little success in this chart, so give the right ethical training, diet and education necessary early, and slant toward business or highly artistic lines for best results. Eradicate martyr complex while young through kindness and understanding.

A Dog's Engine Is Air-Cooled

One more big difference between people and dogs is people are water-cooled mostly — perspiration — while dogs are air-cooled mostly — panting.

THE OXEN walked in a circle around the old Greek thesaurer. The hoofprints made a ring on the floor, naturally. I don't know the Greek name of that floor. Do know our word "halo" comes from it, however.

UP JUMPS an analyzer of ladies' lipsticks. Says he: "If the girl's lipstick develops a fairly sharp point, she most probably is independent, outspoken and pretty sharp in the way she dresses. If the lipstick becomes flattened out like the end of a tongue depressor, she's apt to be an easy-going character, quite adaptable, and something of a good listener. If she wears a groove in the lipstick, look out, it's likely she's artistic, but stubborn and temperamental. And if she hollows into the tube to get it all, she's not just thrifty, but also hungry for affection."

Q. "COME ON, oddball, you got something against TV's 'Laugh In'?"

A. Not personally. If it came in the mail, though, I'd send it to the postmaster.

Q. "IF IT doesn't put on a cutting horse performance, it's not even a rodeo, I say."

A. You are a wise fellow as right as mustard on a hotdog. And a working sheep-dog performance, too.

METRIC

Am asked to name those nations, besides the United States, that still use the old English measurements instead of the metric system. They're Ceylon, Gambia, Guyana, Jamaica, Siberia, Malawi, Nigeria and Sierra Leone. A powerful industrial complex? Not very.

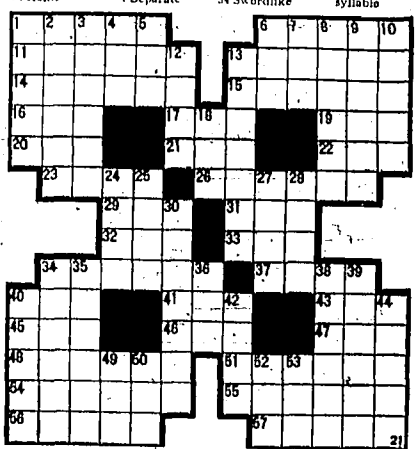

IF YOU'RE over 60 years old, you were alive when the Chinese practiced that peculiar custom of binding the feet of little girls. This comes to mind because a customer asks the why of that crippling cruelty. Sadly simple. Girls were for sale. When the feminine foot was turned into that so-called golden lotus, the possessor of same could not run away.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—A selling spurge, rampant during the early stages, subsided around midsession Tuesday but the stock market still was sharply lower in active trading.

Some analysts said the earlier selloff was overdue in view of recent sharp gains that inflated some glamor stocks. Glamors, electronics, computers and oils were under heavy selling pressure.

The dollar was lower on some European markets following reports the United States may delay formal devaluation of the dollar. Investors feared another international monetary crisis.

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was off more than 7 points at 933.70. It had been more than 10 points lower earlier. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 0.75 to 100.84.

Corning Glass, a high-priced glamor, plunged 9 1/2. Wrigley dropped 2. But Bausch & Lomb, which lost 20 1/4 Monday, soared 6 1/4. Also bucking the trend was Levitz Furniture, up 2 1/4.

Texas Instruments surrendered 2 1/4 and Admiral 1 1/4 in the electronics and computers. Rails and motors were lower. DuPont fell 3/4 in the chemicals. Superior Oil, down 6, was the softest among the oils.

Maryland, Dolphins gain NIT semi-finals

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maryland took advantage of some atrocious shooting by Syracuse to build a 15-point halftime lead, then withstood a late rally to defeat the Orangemen, 71-65, behind Tom McMillan's 25 points Monday night and reach the semi-finals of the 35th annual National Invitation Tournament.

Jacksonville gained Thursday's night's semi-final berth opposite Maryland by defeating Lafayette, 87-76, as seven-foot sophomore David Brent scored 20 points and blocked five shots.

The quarterfinal round ends Tuesday night with St. John's playing Oral Roberts and Princeton meeting Niagara. The two winners then meet in Thursday night's other semifinal contest.

Syracuse shot a dismal 18.4 per cent in the first half as the Orangemen fell behind, 35-20, at the intermission. Syracuse's scoring ace, Greg Kohls, who hit on only one of nine shots in the first half, brought his team from behind, however, with 17 second-half points that pulled the Orange to within two points, 65-63, with less than two minutes left.

The momentum was going Syracuse's way when Dennis Duval tallied for the Orange to make it 67-65-Maryland—with only 1:04 remaining. At that point, however, an offensive foul was called on Syracuse and the Orange coach, Roy Danforth, was hit with a technical foul for disputing the call.

Maryland's Bob Bodell connected on two free throws to make it 69-65 and the Terrapins retained possession of the ball which all but squashed Syracuse's hopes for an upset.

McMillan, a 6-11 center, scored 16 of his points in the first half and combined with 6-9 forward Len Elmore to control the backboards. Elmore nabbed 17 rebounds while McMillan grabbed 16.

Kohls, averaging 25 points a game, finished with 22 to lead Syracuse while Duval scored 14 for the Orangemen. Jim O'Brien and Elmore each had 14 points for Maryland.

Brent, who missed a good portion of the season with a broken leg, played only a little over half the game as he got into foul trouble early in the first half when he scored 15 points, but the Dolphins led only 46-44 at intermission and did not pull away from the undermanned Leopards until midway through the second half.

Five Dolphins scored in double figures with 6-8 forward Abe Steward leading the second-half rally with nine key points.

Lafayette stayed within six points of Jacksonville with just under seven minutes left to play but Steward scored five points in less than two minutes and the Dolphins pulled away to a 75-68 advantage. Lafayette never got close again.

Ernie Fleming contributed 19 points to the Jacksonville attack while Harold Fox added 13 and Leon Benbo and Steward had 11 each.

PHOENIX, (UPI)—A U.S. District Court hearing has been continued to Tuesday on whether a preliminary injunction should be issued to prevent Charlie Scott from playing for the Phoenix Suns.

The court action was sought by the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association after Scott left the club to join Phoenix of the rival National Basketball Association.

Attorneys for both sides argued about 90 minutes Monday before Judge Carl Muecke continued the hearing until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The Squires filed petition Friday for a temporary restraining order against Scott, but Muecke dismissed the request and said he instead would consider the possibility of issuing an injunction.

In refusing the restraining order, Muecke said late Friday that the Squires had failed to give Scott's attorneys sufficient time to prepare a case. Muecke was asked to issue the order only three hours after the petition was filed.

Scott, the ABA's top scorer with a 34.8 average, left the Squires March 9 and signed with the Suns four days later. He said he left the Squires because they had defaulted on his contract.

In the court petition, the Squires said they would suffer "irreparable damage" if Scott were permitted to continue playing for the Suns or any team other than Virginia.

Cleveland homer nets 8-5 win

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Ray Fosse's three-run home run highlighted a four-run eighth inning that propelled the Cleveland Indians to an 8-5 Cactus League win Monday over the California Angels.

Fosse's homer, his first of the spring, came after Lee Ford reached first safely on the Angel's fourth error of the game and Alex Johnson's single.

Later, Fred Stanley drove in the final run of the inning with a single.

Fosse's blast gave the Indians their first lead of the game. The Angels scored once in the first inning on Jim Spencer's double, and then took a 3-0 lead in the second on run-scoring singles by Andy Messersmith and Leo Cardenas.

Cleveland took advantage of two other Angel errors to tie the game by scoring three unearned runs in the third inning. The first of two throwing errors by Messersmith plus sacrifice flies by Graig Nettles and Chris Chambliss tied the game at 3-3.

Run-scoring singles by Cardenas and Mickey Rivers gave the Angels a 5-3 lead in the fourth.

Attorney says baseball is guilty of antitrust measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The annals of the U.S. Supreme Court now contain the season by season batting averages compiled by Curt Flood during his nine-year major league baseball career.

They were cited by former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg Monday in his argument that Organized Baseball is guilty of "hard core violation" of every antitrust law on the books because of the reserve clause which binds a player such as Flood to the club that owns his contract.

On the other side of the formal argument before the nine justices, New York attorney Louis L. Haynes Jr., contended on behalf of the owners that if baseball lost the reserve clause and its exemption from antitrust regulation, the game would become a "shambles."

After hearing the one hour oral arguments, the Court took the case under advisement with a written decision expected before the present term ends in June.

Flood legally challenged baseball's basic structure when he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1970 and refused to report.

He lost his antitrust suit at the Federal District and Appeals Court level but won a hearing from the Supreme Court.

Goldberg protested that Flood had been forced to relinquish his individual rights at age 15 when he signed his first baseball contract with the Cincinnati Reds without the help of an attorney.

After rattling off Flood's annual batting averages, the attorney denounced the reserve clause by declaring: "This is a hard core violation of antitrust law. It is a boycott and a blacklist...Mr. Flood was the victim of a reserve system that violated all antitrust laws."

Haynes charged the Players Association was trying to "subvert" the collective bargaining process by means of litigation. He claimed the group was trying "to seize clout at the bargaining table" and said if Flood won his case "it would be a shambles and make impossible and illegal almost any effort to negotiate."

Under questioning by Justice Harry M. Blackmun, baseball's attorney defended the high school draft system instituted in 1965 as "simply one more step to equalize competition."

Haynes also said that baseball is the only sport that calls on an independent arbitrator to handle individual player grievances and that the owners spend vast sums to develop players in the minors unlike pro football.

He was sharply questioned by Justice Thurgood Marshall who demanded to know how the Players' Association had protected Flood.

Statistics

NEW YORK (UPI)—Team shooting statistics alone would show why the Kentucky Colonels and Utah Stars lead the American Basketball Association.

Kentucky registered a .494 percentage for two-point field goals in 77 games and lead the Eastern Division by 18-12 games. Utah has the best three-point field goal mark, .353, and holds a 12-game lead in the Eastern Division. The Stars also are most accurate from the foul line with a .794 per centage.

Absent Charlie Scott, who jumped the Virginia team for Phoenix of the National Basketball Association, remains the ABA scoring leader on past performance with a 34.5 average. Rick Barry of New York is second at 31.5 and Dan Issel of Kentucky is third with 31.0.

Artis Gilmore of Kentucky holds the rebound lead with a 17.9 average and heads the two-point shooters with a .597 percentage. Glen Combs of Utah is first in three-point baskets at .398. Barry tops the foul shooters at .881 and teammate Bill Melchioni leads in assists with an 8.4 average.

Manager asks for dope test

LONDON (UPI)—Terry Lawless, manager of Britain's Ralph Charles, who challenges Jose Napoles for the world welterweight title March 28, said Monday he wants a dope test carried out one hour before the championship bout.

"I am in no way accusing anyone of anything, but it is my job as manager of Charles to cover every possibility," Lawless said. "It is not an outrageous request because tests are taken in a variety of international sports, up to and including the Olympic games."

It's unlikely, however, that Cuban-born Napoles, who fights out of Mexico City, will have to suffer the indignity of a dope test.

Lawless said he made his request in a letter to the British Boxing Board of Control. A Board spokesman said the request has not yet been received but predicted official reaction will be negative.

Napoles' agent Jarvis Astaire said "Lawless' action was 'understandable gamesmanship.' He said "Napoles will operate according to the contract he signed and under the existing rules. That does not include stimulant checks and I don't think the Board will institute rules for a special contest."

Both Napoles and Charles continued to impress as they prepared 10 miles apart at opposite ends of London. Among Charles' sparring partners was world lightweight champion Ken Buchanan of Scotland, who appears in a non-title bout against Canadian Al Ford on the same bill.

McMillen fights for rebound

Rozelle says public views pro football as a business

HONOLULU (UPI)—National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle told the league's 28 club owners Monday there is a growing feeling by the public that pro football is more of a business than a sport.

He noted that much of the news reported about the league concerns salary squabbles, player grievances and a growing number of lawsuits involving clubs. And he cautioned owners to make sure that spokesmen for the clubs be knowledgeable, since often the public interprets the word of a lower echelon official as league policy.

Rozelle also said more fines were levied against NFL clubs in 1971 than in any other year since he became commissioner. He said many of them were the result of "sloppy" actions in the areas of waivers, player limits and activation and deactivation of players.

"A lot of them were not overt," he said.

Also during the first session of their annual winter meeting here, the owners adopted amendments to the league constitution giving the commissioner power to call emergency sessions on seven days' notice and granting him discretion to pass a proposal on 20 votes rather than the normal unanimous 26.

"A lot of times it would be hard getting all 26 clubs together," Rozelle said of the latter amendment.

Rozelle also asked the owners to look at their sport and to "anticipate a trend" into the growing imbalance between offense and defense. He said the competition committee, which is looking into several rule changes, is still meeting this week after conferring for several days before the owners meeting began.

The committee is expected to make its report to the owners Thursday.

Tuesday was to be spent listening to presentations for hosting Super Bowl VII next January. Houston, Los Angeles, Dallas, Miami and New Orleans were expected to make bids.

Jacklin is listed in top ten

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tony Jacklin, winless on the pro golf tour for 21 months, joined the top 10 money winners for 1972 Monday by winning the Greater Jacksonville Open.

Jacklin, a 27-year-old Briton, earned $25,000 for his GJO triumph Sunday and jumped from 16th to eighth place with winnings of $48,720 for the year.

Jack Nicklaus lost a chance to become the first hundred grand winner on this year's tour when he decided not to play in the GJO. He leads the money parade with $97,720.

Tom Weiskopf is runner-up in the standings with earnings of $64,504. Bob Murphy ($57,421), Bob Rosburg ($57,187) and Grier Jones ($57,178) round out the top five.

George Archer is sixth with $50,425, followed by Jerry Heard ($49,041), Jacklin, Lanny Wadkins ($44,277) and Leo Trevino ($42,912).

Offer is made to buy Rams

HONOLULU (UPI)—Los Angeles Rams President William Barnes Jr. confirmed Monday that Los Angeles landscape contractor Carlos Romer has made an offer to buy the National Football League club.

However, Barnes said that the offer, which was reported to be for $18 million, was not necessarily the largest, but he called it the "most satisfactory" in all areas.

Barnes said no deal has been completed. He said Romer would fly here Thursday to discuss it.

Barnes said he has talked to a number of people who are interested in purchasing the Rams, but said: "The club has not been up for sale."

ABA franchise may fill void

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Royals are going to Kansas City, leaving the city minus a pro basketball team, but an American Basketball Association franchise may fill the void next season.

Local attorney-agent Ron Grinker was scheduled to meet with Ned Doyle, owner of the ABA Floridians, in Miami Monday to discuss the possibility of moving the franchise to Cincinnati for the 1973 season.

Grinker represents a group of Cincinnati businessmen interested in acquiring an ABA team to replace the Royals. At least two teams, the Floridians and the Pittsburgh Condors, are reportedly up for grabs.

"It's too early right now to finalize anything," Grinker said Monday. "We're discussing player contracts and finances."

Grinker, who represents a number of professional basketball and football players, said he felt the Floridians could be purchased for about $2 million.

He rejected the possibility of making a bid for the Condors after meeting with the team's officials over the weekend.

"I was very disappointed in Pittsburgh," Grinker commented. "We're not interested in Pittsburgh right now at all."

The local group is interested in community ownership of a team and is looking for persons interested in investing in a team if a public sale of stock is offered.

"I'd like to have 6,000 owners of the ball club," Grinker quipped, "so we could have 5,000 people at the gate."

Athletics nip Chicago 7-6

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—Dwain Anderson had three doubles, knocked in three runs and scored three Monday to lead the Oakland Athletics to a 7-6 Cactus League win over the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs held a 5-1 lead in the second inning when ex-Athletic Frank Hernandez hit a grand slam homer off Diego Segui in a five-run second inning for the Cubs.

The A's scored the winning run in the fifth inning when Sal Bando singled and then Tim Lincecum came in to run for him. After George Hendrick grounded out, Cullen stole third and came home off Mike Hagan's fielder's choice.

Darley Patterson got the win, pitching three innings, and allowing a run on two hits.

The A's are now 6-6 and play the Angels Tuesday in Palm Springs.

Does F-310 work? It worked too well for expert mechanic Dick Groberg.

Recently, representatives of the Chevron Oil Company brought an automobile to Rick Warner, Salt Lake City's largest auto dealership, and asked them to examine the engine.

The car was a 1970 Ford Torino from a bakery fleet, with 62,099 miles on the odometer. It had been selected because maintenance records proved that after its first month of operation it had been fueled with Chevron gasoline with F-310. The engine hadn't been disassembled since leaving the factory.

The Rick Warner staff broke down the engine. Then, without being offered any clue as to the actual mileage, mechanic Dick Groberg was asked to guess how many miles the engine had run.

"These guys brought this engine in here, and asked us to break it down and tell them how many miles it had on it just by looking at engine deposits and wear."

"They asked us to guess how many miles an engine had on it."

"Well, when the mechanics here started taking it apart, right away they thought Chevron was trying to trick us some way with a new engine."

"I looked at the parts, starting with the valve guides. I've seen brand new ones with more play than those had."

"There wasn't hardly any wear on the valve stems, and almost no deposits anywhere on the valves. The intakes were just like new."

"But the thing that really threw me was around the intake ports. You could actually see bare metal. No deposits at all. I've seen deposits build up as much as a half inch in there. But this was just like looking into a new head. There wasn't a mechanic in the shop who wasn't amazed by that when I showed it to them."

"Almost no deposits anywhere on the valves."

"I took a ring off the top of one of the pistons. On an engine with a lot of mileage on it, deposits will build up there until all the clearance is gone. On this piston, no deposits. Nothing but clean bare metal."

"The carburetor was just like a brand new one. I looked it over very carefully, down into the venturiers and all over down inside. I didn't see any deposits, I just saw clean."

"I looked the whole thing over — valve lifters, PCV valve, and all the parts, and I couldn't hardly find any deposits at all. So when they asked me to guess how many miles this engine had on it, how could I have figured very many?"

"I guessed between ten and twenty thousand miles. No more. I mean it just couldn't have any more miles on it. That's when they told me 62,000."

"So I was wrong. But you could have gone down the line and asked anyone else and you wouldn't have found a mechanic that had ever seen that clean an engine."

"You want to know if F-310 works? Well, I didn't miss by a mile. I missed by 40,000 miles. And if I missed by that much after 25 years in this business, I've got to believe one thing about F-310. It works."

F-310

It works.

Chevron

F-310 in Chevron gasolines keeps vital engine parts cleaner than any other additive in any other gasoline we know of.

"F-310 fooled me. How could an engine look that good with 62,000 miles on it?"
