Secret US plane downed

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today 14 Americans were missing and presumed dead aboard a super-secret C130 gunship shot down by a Communist missile in Laos. Front dispatches reported major Communist artillery and ground attacks along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). The dispatches said the Communist offensive appeared aimed at knocking out South

Vietnam's northern defensive line and that the fighting appeared to be the heaviest in Indochina in a year. The battles were still going on at nightfall. Field reports said North Vietnamese in one of the rare uses of big artillery guns bombarded five key South Vietnamese positions below the DMZ and tried to storm three others on the ground in coordinated, nighttime attacks. Some U.S. advisers at DMZ outposts were reported caught up in the clashes. U.S. officers returning from the region said every available American F4 Phantom fighter-bomber was used to batter North Vietnamese artillery positions in the area and the advancing ground troops, but they declined to say whether any of the U.S. planes struck into North Vietnam itself. Military sources in Saigon said tonight as far as they knew none of the DMZ outposts had been captured as of early evening. They said it was too early to tell if it was simply a "one shot deal" or whether the North Vietnamese were going all out to capture the heavily bunkered "Siegfried Line" fortifications below the buffer zone. The sketchy field reports said North Vietnamese fired more than 500 rounds of rockets, mortar and heavy artillery fire at the town of Dong Ha and four DMZ outposts—Alpha 2, Alpha 4, Charlie 2 and Camp Carroll. They said there were heavy ground attacks against three other bases, Sargo, Nui Ba Ho and Holcomb and that fighting was going on 10 hours later. There is a small detachment of U.S. Marines at Alpha 4.

Rupert sewers receive inside check with TV

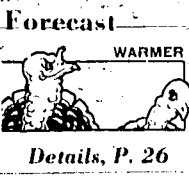

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — The sewers of Rupert are made up of an odd conglomeration of various lengths of pipe, according to an inspection now being made. A system incorporating a closed-circuit television setup is being utilized on a length of the Rupert sewer system in a trial run to determine if the city needs a complete survey of all 21 miles in the system. Operated by the Penetryn Corporation of Utah, the system includes a round testing device with two inflatable rubber bladders the same size as the interior of the sewer pipe, along with strong lights and the waterproof TV camera. The testing gadget is drawn through the sewer line between manholes a block apart by a wire cable. A coaxial cable accompanying the rig carries the TV picture to a set in a trailer parked at the intersection toward which the rig is being drawn.

A complex of three hollow rubber tubes follows the testing rig through the sewer line, drawn from a reel contained in a truck a block away from the camera-viewing trailer. Thus, a man in the trailer can watch the inside of the pipe via the camera. When the rig passes a joint linking two pipes, he halts its progress, and orders "Test" via a microphone linked by wire to the testing van. The crewman in the van inflates the rubber bladders, with the help of an air compressor. The bladders fill the sewer pipe completely, as seen by the TV camera. Then he opens a valve, filling the space between the bladders — and, hopefully, the space around the joint — with compressed air. A measuring device in the van indicates if any air leaks out through the joint. If no air leaks out, the joint is considered air and watertight, and the rig is moved on to the next joint. If a joint is found to be leaking, the testing rig squirts sealant over the joint, sealing it. (Continued on P. 17)

Blaine death probed

SUN VALLEY — An autopsy was being performed today to determine the cause of death of a Pennsylvania woman who died on a ski-tour Wednesday. Sun Valley resort officials identified the victim as Mrs. Dianna Wright McCargo, 35, Sewickley, Pa. She collapsed Wednesday morning while skiing with a helicopter tour near Galena Summit. Mrs. Pat Thornton, Sun Valley news bureau director, said the party of seven skiers including Sun Valley ski instructor, Jack Crawford, had been flown to snow fields north of Pole Creek. Mrs. McCargo was skiing with her daughter, Hether, 11, apart from the other members of the party. The girl told officials her mother suddenly collapsed on the slope. Mrs. Thornton said it is known the woman suffered a head injury about a year ago and was in a coma for about six days at the time. Crawford applied first aid at the scene and the woman was flown by helicopter to the Sun Valley Hospital where she was reported dead on arrival. Mrs. Thornton said a cause of death has not been determined, pending outcome of the autopsy. Mrs. McCargo is survived by her daughter and husband, Grant McCargo. Funeral services will be conducted in her home town in Pennsylvania. Bird Funeral Chapel, Halley, is in charge of local arrangements.

ISP strengthens force in Valley

BY RUTH MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A reorganization of the Idaho State police will build Magic Valley strength by five officers. District manpower will jump from 20 to 25. The reorganization, which also is intended to build force strength at its state headquarters in Boise, will call for transfer to Boise of Capt. Denn Bennett, district head since 1964. Bennett will be supervisory officer in charge of the northern section of the state. The lieutenant-in-charge of the Magic Valley district will be Roy Thomas of Boise. Thomas had been serving as a sergeant in Boise. He had been a patrolman in Burley until his transfer to Boise in 1967. The additional strength of five men will be part of a statewide crackdown on drunk drivers. According to State Police Supt. Clark Hand, Sgt. Ralph Sifford, Twin Falls, will be promoted to lieutenant and will be transferred to Lewiston. Capt. Kenneth DeYoung will be placed in charge of the three south Idaho districts, including Magic Valley. Sgt. Bob Wright, Twin Falls, will remain here in a supervisory capacity. Trooper promotions taking place under the reorganization include Chuck Peugh, Burley, and Dick Skinner, Boise. Both will be promoted to sergeant. and Peugh will be transferred to Boise and Skinner to the Twin Falls district. Included in the reorganization will be a law enforcement portion of a new alcohol safety action project. The federally-funded two-year program will begin July 1 as an effort to combat drunk driving on the state's highways. Troopers being promoted to sergeant for the new alcohol program include Vance Ricks, Idaho Falls, who will be transferred to Twin Falls.

Wartime power lid endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said today legislation is needed to restrict the President's power to wage undeclared war in order to restore Congress' constitutional role in the war-making process. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, took an opposite view from Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who has called the bill unconstitutional and unwise.

Turk band, hostages blown up

KIZILDERE, Turkey (UPI) — A band of 10 Turkish extremists besieged by the Turkish army today blew up the house in which they were holding three British radar technicians and a lawyer as hostage. Turkish authorities said all 14 were killed. The extremists, members of the Turkish People's Liberation Army (TLP), kidnapped the three men Sunday at a NATO radar station in the Black Sea town of Unye and brought them here. They also held the woman and two children who lived in the house but freed them earlier today. The extremists threatened originally to kill the three Britons unless the Turkish government freed three other members of their organization under sentence of death for treason, the murder of an Israeli diplomat and the kidnapping of five U.S. airmen. The government refused.

Crown rules Ulster

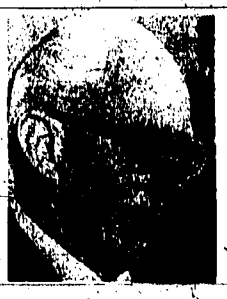

LONDON (UPI) — Imposition of British rule over Northern Ireland became law today. The government-sponsored bill, suspending the locally-elected Protestant-dominated Northern Ireland government and imposing rule from London sped through its final stages at midday. The House of Commons met for 10 hours and 10 minutes in an all night session and gave overwhelming approval to the bill, voting 101 to 13 on the final vote. The measure then went to the House of Lords, which gave it an unopposed final reading at 12:38 p.m. (6:38 a.m. EST). Twelve minutes later, the measure was at Buckingham Palace where Queen Elizabeth II gave the royal assent.

US calls envoy

PARIS (UPI) — Ambassador William J. Porter, chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris Vietnam talks, was summoned back to Washington today for consultation on the negotiations which President Nixon has suspended indefinitely. Porter presumably will confer with Nixon although a U.S. spokesman did not say whether that would be the case. The spokesman announced Porter's departure as the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations kept up their angry protests over the U.S. announcement March 23 that Porter and the Saigon delegation would boycott the talks till the Communists show signs of getting down to business.

Beef prices slide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today wholesale beef prices last week were down about 5 cents a pound from their early February peak, and were close to the freeze level of August. A department report on weekly average prices of wholesale dressed beef at Chicago showed choice grade 600/90 pounds carcasses peaked at 68.75 cents a pound in the week ending Feb. 11. There has been a decline every week since then, and the average for the week ending March 25 was 63.75 cents a pound — close to the 63.44 cents for Aug. 13 when wage-price controls went into effect. Other department records showed average retail beef prices would have to drop about 10 cents a pound from February levels to return — as

WILLIAM MITCHELL... sees price drop predicted by food chain leaders to last summer's rates. William Mitchell, president of Safeway Stores Inc. and spokesman for a group of supermarket chains, said after a meeting with Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr. Wednesday that "I would expect beef prices will be down in the next few weeks to freeze levels." Retail prices for all cuts of choice beef from last June through September averaged $1.055 a pound compared with $1.158 in February. No reports were available to indicate whether wholesale price declines earlier this month have affected March retail prices. Department records show average retail beef prices in March of last year were $1.023 a pound. The recent wholesale price decline reflected a drop in live cattle prices reported from major markets in recent weeks as supplies increased.

"I think the natives are getting restless"

Philippine search for lost tribes continues

MANILA (UPI)—A team of anthropologists which included famed American aviator Charles Lindbergh is trying to determine whether there are other "lost tribes" in the Stone Age Tasaday forest.

The search was prompted by reported contacts with at least two other tribes by the first known living cave men in the world. The short, dark-skinned cave men wearing g-strings made of leaves were discovered in a rain forest 500 miles south of Manila last week.

An announcement said the contacts were made long ago and the Tasaday cave men had lost touch with the other groups.

The anthropologist are observing the life of the 24 surviving Tasaday cave men. The anthropologists said they hoped their observations and interviews may give mankind a new insight into the Stone Age life.

The same team of anthropologists last June discovered the Tasaday "lost tribe."

Argentine police search

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Police combed the northern suburbs of Buenos Aires today in an intensified search for a missing executive of the Argentine Air Force but a message from his Trotskyite kidnappers increased the fears that he may already have been killed.

A thousand men led by Gen. Jorge Caceres Monie, chief of the federal police, searched houses in the northern suburbs of Buenos Aires today in an intensified search for a missing executive of the Argentine Air Force but a message from his Trotskyite kidnappers increased the fears that he may already have been killed.

The search uncovered a cache of about 10 pounds of dynamite but no sign of Sallustro. The last deadline given by the kidnappers for his "execution" passed at midnight Tuesday, and a message found in a bar Wednesday increased the fears that it may already have taken place.

It said that he would be killed "in the moment we deem opportune."

Thousands stream into Holy Land

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Thousands of tourists streamed into the Holy Land today for the Christian and Jewish holidays of Easter and Passover which coincide this year.

Virtually every hotel room, youth hostel bed and even private homes are booked solid with the overflow of visitors. A Tourism Ministry official said about 75,000 tourists were in Israel for the holidays. "We are booked solid. You would need a crowbar to squeeze anyone else in," said Horatio Veste, owner of East Jerusalem's American Hotel.

President hopefuls on campaign trail

By United Press International
Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas proposed new anti-inflation steps in Massachusetts and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace attacked busing in Tennessee Thursday, while most of the other Democratic presidential candidates campaigned in Wisconsin.

On the Republican side, Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio prepared to take legal steps so his name would be listed opposite President Nixon on the May 2 primary ballot in Indiana.

Ashbrook filed for the Indiana primary shortly before last Thursday's noon deadline, but state election authorities denied his petition, ruling that it did not have enough qualified signatures.

Ashbrook's campaign manager, Robert E. Hughes, said the U.S. District Court at Indianapolis would be asked to intervene Friday on behalf of Ashbrook, the only Republican contesting Nixon's nomination for a second term.

Mills told a Boston news conference Wednesday that present controls on wages and prices may have to be extended to profits, food costs and interest rates to curb inflation. Mills, who has the power to bring such legislation into being as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he would wait "just a few more weeks" before proposing the broader anti-inflation attack.

To thunderous applause from Tennessee legislators in Nashville, Wallace lashed out at high taxes, welfare, lawlessness and busing to achieve racial balance. Wallace said the anti-busing campaign that brought him a primary victory in Florida has caused other candidates to adopt his position. Sen. George S. McGovern's office in Washington made more disclosures of campaign contributions. McGovern received more than $240,000 between Feb. 28 and March 10, with nearly one-third coming from Max Palevsky, a Xerox Corp. executive and co-chairman of the McGovern for President Committee in California.

Animal fanciers

NEW ATTRACTIONS for animal fanciers in the area are the four deer at Sunset Memorial Park. The higher, colored fallow deer are natives of Asia, while the little sika deer, center, originated in Formosa. They were brought to Twin Falls by Robert Harney who purchased them at a game farm in Iowa.

TWIN FALLS — Four young deer of Asian and Oriental origin are now making their home in Twin Falls and can be seen at Sunset Memorial Park. Robert Harney said two are spotted fallow deer, originally from Asia while two others, the smaller species, are the sika deer of Formosa. They are housed in the fenced enclosure around the pond at the park where the ducks, swan and geese are housed.

Harney said in 1901 the emperor of Japan presented all the heads of government of major countries with pairs of the little sika deer.

Those given the United States were taken to an island in Massachusetts where they have since produced offspring leading to a population of sika which have been furnished to many zoos around the country. Harney obtained the fallow and sika deer from Wallace Tiller who operates a game farm in Iowa. He flew the four to Twin Falls in his private plane and said they were good travelers.

Shortly after landing here and while preparing to unload the deer, one of the crates came apart, Harney said. Had this happened in-flight there could have been a serious problem, he said.

Originally there were three sika and two fallow deer; but one of the little sikas ate too much grain and died.

Harney said he believes they will adapt well to the local climate and can be fed hay and grain. Some of the willow trees appear to please their tastes. Harney said the deer will grow antlers and the little sika develops a large rack of horns, similar to those of the elk while the fallow deer will have a solid horn something like a moose.

All four of the animals will probably grow, as they are still young, he said.

The Medic Alert emblems carry a serial number for each member as well as the telephone number of the foundation's answering service where a medical record is maintained on each member and the information in the records is available to physicians and other authorized personnel 24 hours a day on a collect call basis.

Spending Reform

A new federal law proponents said would end "secrecy, duplicity and double talk" about expenditures for presidential and congressional campaigns shortly will take effect.

It requires all candidates to report the source and use of contributions and ends the farce of dummy committees whose expenditures have made a joke of such total spending as candidates have cared to report.

President Nixon, when he signed the measure, said it was workable. It reforms the Corrupt Practices Act which has been on the books 47 years and ignored more than it was observed.

Congressional interests centered on limiting what the candidate spends on advertising, particularly television and radio which the members regarded as the greatest influence on the voter.

A candidate may legally spend no more than 10 cents for each potential voter, district, state or national, and no more than 6 cents of that on television and radio.

Candidates may spend as much as they may have available for travel, rallies, staffs, mailing, and telephoning and the individual citizen may spend as much as he pleases on behalf of any interest.

To make sure the candidates get their money's worth for precious air time, the bill requires that television and radio stations may charge politicians no more than their lowest unit rate during the 2 months preceding an election. Thus, the maximum $8.4 million allowed for this year's presidential candidates will buy about the same as what the Republicans paid more than $12 million for in electing President Nixon in 1968. The test of the reform will be in its enforcement.

Evading The Issue

International inspection by neutrals of prisoner of war camps formerly was one of the few humanitarian aspects of war. Now it is not even considered a proper topic of discussion, at least as far as the North Vietnamese are concerned.

When the United States once again proposed POW camps be open to inspection in accord with the Geneva Convention and "in return for an undertaking by both sides to refrain from efforts to liberate prisoners from the locations visited," the response was negative.

The proposal was an evasion of the fundamental issues, the communists said. To the contrary, the violation by the Vietnamese communists of the Geneva Convention, especially as it applies to the POWs, is one of the fundamental issues.

It is a fundamental issue which should be pressed with increased vigor through every forum, including the United Nations. An enemy which shows so little concern for world opinion on this issue hardly can be expected to live up to any agreement, their own proposals included.

MR. SPECTATOR

Beware The Wires

This is the season for farmers to be careful — and Mr. Spectator joins officials of the Idaho Power Co. in urging just that.

For instance, the basic rule for safe sprinkler pipe handling is NEVER up-end the pipe because there just might be power lines around.

We received a communication from A. G. Blair, the utility's safety director, and he said that signs — in both English and Spanish — are being placed at pump installations by employees of the company and that they are also available to irrigators at all local Idaho Power offices.

Well drillers, contractors and customers using such equipment as portable loaders, hay stackers and metal ladders also were urged by the safety director to practice caution when working near power lines.

So there you have it. Seems as though every year someone around these parts makes a mistake and it is fatal. No need for it at all if you folks who work under these circumstances just put your thinking cap on.

ABOUT MILNER

Some weeks ago a lady called us to say she had several old pictures of Milner which she wanted us to look over. Well, we wrote down her name and telephone number and now we cannot find the note. So if the lady who called us would get in touch again right soon we would really appreciate it.

The Non-Southern Strategy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — The sorry state of the Democratic party in the South was dramatized when not one in the crowded company of Presidential candidates wanted to wage an active campaign against Gov. George Wallace in the May 4 Tennessee primary.

A week earlier, anti-Wallace Democrats were conferring behind Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas as a respectable alternative to Wallace. But by last Wednesday, Mills was saying no thanks. Sen. Henry M. Jackson's supporters could not promise he would give time or money to Tennessee. The other candidates had long since abandoned the state (though, under the new primary law, all their names appear on the ballot).

The upshot: Wallace has an unopposed shot at winning here statewide and in 8 or 9 Congressional districts; under law giving him 45 of Tennessee's 40 delegates. Moreover, President Nixon is considered certain to carry the state, a vital link in a solid Republican South Nov. 7.

Behind this is disaffection of Tennessee's blue-collar workers, who once sent liberals to the Senate. Their present support for Richard M. Nixon and George Wallace derives from the Democratic party's non-Southern strategy; Wallace's cakewalk here would be impossible were it not for inattention and insensitivity by national Democrats.

A year ago, never suspecting Wallace would enter the primary, top Democratic legislators fastened on Jackson as moderate enough to avert Tennessee's headlong rush to the Republican party.

But Jackson's campaign managers blundered badly in Tennessee's factionalized Democratic politics, alienating sympathetic legislators by playing footsie with the clique around former Gov. Buford Ellington — massively unpopular since his non-support of statewide Democratic nominees in 1970. When Jackson failed this winter to get the legislature to move up the primary date, his Nashville headquarters was closed. Jackson's agents explained that the Tennessee primary was neither early enough nor important enough to warrant campaign funds.

Shrewd politicians here, however, doubt Jackson's Tennessee candidacy ever had substance. Indeed, polls showed Jackson minuscule support while Sen. Edmund Muskie was strong statewide. Through last summer, important Democrats were attracted to Muskie's centrist image.

That attraction ended abruptly Sept. 20 when Muskie entered Chattanooga to declare that busing is a necessary tool to school integration. With Muskie oblivious to busing's political volatility, his would-be supporters abandoned him at once. Whatever residual Muskie strength existed was dissipated.

by his post-Florida condemnation of Wallaceism (dismissing former Sen. Albert Gore and his other Tennessee backers).

In early March, with nobody willing to oppose Wallace here, state Treasurer Thomas Wiseman (previously interested in Muskie), journeyed to see Wilbur Mills in Washington. Mills warned about his duties as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, his commitments in the April 2 Massachusetts primary and his ailing back. Nevertheless, Wiseman got the impression that Mills was eager to campaign here.

Thus, after Wallace's win in Florida March 14, supporters of Jackson and Muskie moved toward a coalition for Mills to stop Wallace here. But that coalition was shaken last Wednesday when Wiseman talked to Mills over the telephone, asking him to spend some 10 days in Tennessee. In reply, Mills complained that his back was troubling him again. Clearly, the chairman was not interested in being cut-up by George Wallace.

Even if he were, there is doubt how Mills would fare. John Jay Hooker, 1970 nominee for Governor and Sen. Hubert Humphrey's leading Tennessee supporter, has advised Humphrey to avoid the Mills coalition and instead "try carrying the heavily Negro 9th Congressional district in Memphis" (worth four delegates). Hooker figures Tennessee blacks would not support either Mills or Jackson.

That has ominous overtones. What strength the national Democratic party has in the South is concentrated among blacks, a polarization pointing to repeated Republican victories in the old Confederacy.

Yet another catastrophe may await Tennessee Democrats. The state's national convention delegates are actually selected by the convention system and will contain left-leaning youths, blacks and women who swear they never will vote at Miami Beach for Wallace even though bound by law. Thus, Tennessee voters may witness the delegation defying their mandate.

If that happens, the Democratic party in this state is finished. "One state legislator told us. That grim prophecy may be no exaggeration.

ART BUCHWALD

Fellow Americans

WASHINGTON — There was more good news on the cost of living from the Nixon Administration last week. It went up again. But Herbert Stein, one of the President's chief economists, said the only reason it had risen was because food prices had increased. If you eliminated food prices from the cost of living, he said you would in fact have seen a decrease in the price.

Not many people realized how well the President's anti-inflation policies were working until they were explained to them by Mr. Stein. Since food prices seem to be the main problem, I can now reveal what the Administration is going to do about it. Do not be surprised if you flip on your TV set in a few weeks and see the President of the United States sitting at his desk behind his seal.

"My fellow Americans, I have asked to speak to you tonight on a subject that is vital to everyone in this country. When I took office three and a half years ago, this country was on the road to inflation; an inflation that touched every household, every man, woman and child in this great land of ours. I vowed at the time to do something about it and I am happy to report to you tonight that my efforts have succeeded. I can now tell you that the price of baseball cards is down 8 per cent, the cost of trolley-car tracks has been reduced 9 per cent, men's straw hats are selling at one-third the price of 10 years ago.

"Lawrence Walk records have been reduced $1, and men's Nehru jackets are selling at a 50 per cent discount. "The reason for the success of my anti-inflation program is the willingness of the American people to make sacrifices to stem the tide.

"The only area we don't seem to have made any headway in our fight against rising prices is in food. Now I know you are going to say, 'If the price of food goes up how can we ever hope to hold down inflation?' "My fellow Americans, the answer to that question rests with each and every one of you out there. Ladies and gentlemen, we can lick the problem of the high cost of food if we make one more slight sacrifice. I am asking every person in the nation regardless of race, regardless of age, regardless of party affiliation, to stop eating.

"When I say stop eating, I don't mean just meat, or vegetables or fruit or bread. I mean stop eating anything.

"If everyone gives up three meals a day as long as Phase 2 is in effect, I assure you that our battle against higher prices will be won before the November election.

"Some of you may say, 'How can we give up eating when it has become such an important part of our lives?' At first it won't be easy. If I may add a personal note, Pat said to me just before the broadcast, 'Isn't there any other way of lowering the cost of living besides giving up food?' "And I replied, 'Pat, of course there are other ways. We could freeze farm prices, or put a ceiling on grocery distributors, or issue regulations barring rises in commodities. That would be the easy way, the political way, the economical way. "But, as President of the United States, I must choose the hard way. Certainly there will be some temporary inconveniences when people have to give up eating. But they are nothing comparable to the gains that will show up on our economic indicators.

"My fellow Americans, when you go to bed hungry tonight, remember you are not going to bed hungry because there is no food to eat, but you are going to bed hungry because you believe, as I do, in a healthy, stable economy.

"I don't think I'm exaggerating when I say that if every American gives up eating until the inflation crisis is over, this could go down as the week that changed the history of the world."

The Big Gap

WASHINGTON — There seems to be a surprising gap in communications between the White House and the State Department.

President Nixon announced in his budget message several months ago that the U. S. share of United Nations funds would be cut from 31 per cent to 25 per cent. Throughout the UN's existence the U. S. has always contributed the most money.

The President's declaration, coming on the heels of the ouster of Nationalist China and other provocative actions, evoked wide bipartisan Congressional approval.

But somehow the State Department didn't get his message — or ignored it!

Instead of slashing U. S. payments to the UN by at least 6 per cent, the department is blindly proposing to hike them by some $22 million — from $112.058 million last year to $134.058 million this year.

This startling disclosure came to light when members of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee in charge of the State Department's budget dug into the voluminous and bureaucratically complicated document.

To their astonishment they uncovered a series of increases for the UN instead of the President's promised decreases.

Among these larger amounts were: Boosting the direct payment to the United Nations to $63,998 million for $56,312 million; World Health Organization to $26,342 million from $23,741 million; Food and Agriculture Organization to $12,151 million from $10,083 million; Organization of American States to $20,768 million from $18,780 million; and the International Atomic Energy Agency to $4,883 million instead of $3,977 million.

In 1970, this country's share of these funds amounted to $105 million, so the proposed State Department increases actually mean an overall jump of $28 million.

Secretary Rogers and other department officials have been making various arguments in defense of these increases in the closed-door hearings the subcommittee is conducting on the controversial budget. What their rhetoric all gets down to is the contention that higher costs and expanded demands require more money.

As far as can be ascertained, they are saying nothing about other UN members bearing a bigger share of the financial load.

But that point is being forcefully raised by committee men — notably Chairman Wayne Hays, D-Qldo, who is voicing sharp skepticism about the department's budget and its glaring disregard of the President's publicly avowed policy of cutting U. S. payments to the UN.

Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you write one of your clear and easy to understand articles on emphysema and what can be done to hold it in check? I understand there is no cure.

My husband has not smoked for over 15 years, and has gone to two doctors but they have not helped. He seems to get worse instead of better. Mrs. J. N. C.

It is true that emphysema cannot be cured, because changes have occurred in the lungs. The goal, instead of a "cure," is to retard any further advance of the emphysema if possible, and to use various methods to help the patient breathe.

Your husband has stopped smoking, which is very important. Other measures include such things as medication to loosen phlegm in the bronchial tubes; breathing exercises to increase flow of air into and out of the lungs; and sometimes periodic use of oxygen to compensate for the impaired breathing.

The whole story of emphysema takes more space than I have available here, but I suggest reading my booklet, "How to Control Emphysema." Send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Officer shows carbine at Davis trial

Angela gives opening plea

By JACK V. FOX
SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis moved stage center on the second day of her trial, proclaiming her "total innocence" and branding as "utterly fantastic, utterly absurd" charges that she was driven by physical passion to enter into a conspiracy of kidnap-murder.

No sooner had she finished with an expression of confidence that the jury would "pronounce two words—not guilty," than the prosecution called as witness a housewife. The woman was among five hostages taken at the 1970 San Rafael courthouse, and she almost broke down as she told of seeing Judge Harold Haley's "face blown off—his teeth hanging out."

The first witness was Mrs. Maria Graham. She went over step by step the frightening events after Jonathan Jackson, 17, "froze" the courtroom with an automatic carbine, took the hostages and shouted, "We want our Soledad Brothers freed."

Miss Davis, in her opening remarks, said the evidence would show how guns registered in her name could have come into the possession of young Jackson without her knowledge.

But she loosed scathing remarks at the case outlined by prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr., who sat motionless a few feet away and interrupted only once to object that the defendant had strayed from a proper opening statement.

"Mr. Harris has pictured me as a sinister, selfish, emotional woman whose unbounded passion for George Jackson was such that it would lead me to kidnap and murder," she said. "That is utterly fantastic, utterly absurd."

George Jackson was one of the Soledad Brothers and elder brother of Jonathan Jackson. George was shot and killed in a prison break at San Quentin last August.

Miss Davis said she had bought guns because she had received "constant threats on my life from extremist elements" after she was fired from her UCLA teaching post and that they were "for my protection and for the protection of those in the struggle against oppression."

The evidence will show that she had attended rallies and worked for the freedom of all three Soledad Brothers, not just George Jackson, she said.

Body found

AVAILON, Calif. (UPI)—Two youngsters hiking through a rugged area of Catalina Island Wednesday found the wreckage of a small plane and the body of Roy W. Corrigan, son of famous pioneer aviator Douglas "Wrong-Way" Corrigan.

Corrigan, 22, and a passenger, Roger Powell, both of Santa Ana, Calif., disappeared March 21. The elder Corrigan, 66, flew as an observer in one of the Civil Air Patrol planes researching for them.

He earned his nickname "Wrong Way" in 1938, when he flew from Brooklyn to Ireland despite the refusal of aviation authorities to give him permission to attempt a transatlantic flight in his monoplane.

Mintoff sets Peking talks

VALETTA, Malta (UPI)—It was one of the rare times temperamental Prime Minister Dom Mintoff had informed parliament of his plans before carrying them out.

But even in announcing Wednesday that he planned to fly to Peking for talks with officials there, Mintoff left unanswered some questions. He did not say exactly what he would discuss, how long he would stay or what other countries, if any, he intended to visit. He did not even say how he was traveling.

Break up fails

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has failed for a third time to break up the merger of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. and International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.—the biggest corporate merger in U.S. history.

Superior Court Judge Walter J. Sidor dismissed an appeal by Nader Wednesday, saying he had no standing as an "aggrieved person" to challenge the merger.

News Of Servicemen

GLENN'S FERRY — 1st Lt. Terry L. Sims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sims, Glenn's Ferry, has been home on 30 day leave after a one-year tour of duty at Da Nang, Vietnam, where he was an OV 10 pilot. He will be stationed at Shepherd Air Force Base, Texas, as a flight instructor.

She pointed out that the two remaining Soledad Brothers — Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette — had been acquitted this week of charges of killing a guard. Then, her voice faltering, she said:

"And if George Jackson had not been struck down by a prison guard he too would have been freed."

Mrs. Graham was to undergo cross-examination when the trial resumed today.

Fate in hands of jury

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The fate of the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and six other antiwar activists—Judases of violence or apostles of peace, depending upon which set of attorneys is talking—will rest in the hands of nine women and three men today.

One day shy of the end of its 10th week, the trial of six present or former priests and nuns of the Roman Catholic left and a Moslem from Pakistan was to a federal court jury sometime after noon, after a lengthy charge by Judge R. Dixon Herman.

The panel, drawn from a predominantly Protestant and conservative 11-county middle Pennsylvania district, contains one Catholic, one black (a woman) and two single women. They heard the last of seven attorneys wind up two days of summations that lasted into Wednesday night.

Chief Prosecutor William S. Lynch closed out the government's case nearly six weeks after it opened by accusing the defendants of "playing handball with the consciences and the ideals" of students they tried to recruit into their vigorous movement against the Vietnam War.

During his two-hour argument, defense attorney Ramsey Clark, attorney general in the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson, moved one of the woman jurors to tears.

Schools can't define 'Negro'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals thought it had heard everything until Wednesday, when a Florida school district said it could not integrate schools because it was unable to define the word "Negro."

After getting definitions for several races and ethnic groups from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Flagler County School Board had labeled all its students and teachers "Orientals."

"This court has seen, heard or heard of everything—everything that is until today," the judges said in upholding a ruling against the school board.

"With no surprise to anyone, the district court summarily rejected this absurdity and to the credit of the school district and the good sense of its members, the board has consented to a decree, avoiding any further embarrassment by urging that contention in court," the judges said.

"In the past, the school district has apparently had no difficulty identifying Negroes for the purposes of segregating them," the judges said. "For desegregation, they can be identified with similar ease."

Bills will become effective July 1

BOISE (UPI) — Basing his opinion on legislative intent, an assistant attorney general decided Wednesday bills enacted by the 1972 legislature without an emergency clause would become effective July 1.

Stewart A. Morris, responding to a query from Secretary of State Pete T. Conners, said his decision did not mean bills enacted prior to March 17 — the date a bill outlining the new effective date was approved — would be "covered" under retroactive application of the measure.

Instead, the "retroactive" application was used in the legal sense only when it took away or impaired vested rights acquired under existing laws or created a new obligation, imposed a new duty, or attached a new disability to transactions already approved.

In the past, bills approved by a legislature without an emergency clause — a clause for immediate effectiveness — or a specific date became effective 60 days after the legislature adjourned. That has usually meant a request for an attorney general's opinion to determine just exactly which day the 60th day would be.

The 1972 legislature, hoping to provide a simple answer, approved a law to make the effective date of bills without emergency clauses July 1 of the year or 60 days after the legislature adjourned, whichever date would be the latest.

The date-changing bill, however, was signed into law by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus March 17 and that led to questions over whether the new bill would affect measures approved earlier in the session.

Budget office to send out forms for '73 plans

by Peter Poling

BARNABAS

The Christian life became known through personalities like Barnabas. A Jewish leader from Cyprus, he experienced a conversion and brought others to the fellowship of the Risen Lord. A man of persuasion and standing, he convinced the fearful and suspicious apostles in Jerusalem that Paul (known earlier as the enemy Saul) had really changed and was desirous of serving Christ. Only on the word of Barnabas would the Church accept Paul.

Barnabas and Paul completed the First Missionary Journey. Their travels would link the congregations of the young Christian Church. A second trip was planned, but Paul was irritated that John Mark (who had dropped out before) was being sponsored by Barnabas. The impasse was resolved by Silas joining Paul and Barnabas traveling with Mark. This adjustment of program and diplomacy of people was the kind of ministry the Church needed to survive—or be broken by dispute. Barnabas was the agent of Christian compromise—bringing forth good out of difficult and dangerous disagreements. His faith was larger than the roadblocks of day-to-day existence.

BOISE (UPI) — The office of the budget plans to send out first information forms to state agencies in the next two weeks for fiscal year 1973.

Acting Budget Director D. F. "Skip" Chilberg said Wednesday he hopes the final product will be a budget supported both by the state agencies and the governor.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, he said, will review the preliminary agency requests in June — six months earlier than usual.

Chilberg said under the new plan the governor meeting with the agency heads will prepare a budget backed by the agencies.

The agencies under the present system, he noted, are "in effect working to destroy the governor's recommendations."

This year, as usual, the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee heard from the agencies and the governor, with many agencies asking for more than the governor recommended.

Chilberg said in the future, "the governor's involvement will allow the agencies to develop back-up detail to back the governor's recommendations."

"It will mean a lot more understandable budget which will avoid a mass of figures in front of the legislature," he said.

Too heavy

CLARKSTON, Wash. (UPI) — The big bridge between Clarkston, Wash., and Lewiston, Idaho, across the Snake River was built as a drawbridge, so it could be raised if ships ever came up the river.

But the first time they raised it, 20 years ago, they couldn't get it back down. When the bridge was finally lowered it was left that way.

Tuesday, bridge officials got curious and decided to try it again. The same thing happened.

They finally got it back down again 2 1/2 hours later. Highway engineer John E. Hilton said the counterbalance was apparently too heavy.

Andrus slates trip to Orient

BOISE (UPI) — It's off to the orient next Tuesday for Gov. and Mrs. Cecil D. Andrus, who will be attending a meeting of the Japan-U.S. Governor's Conference.

Andrus and his wife, Carol, are scheduled to leave for Japan from Seattle, according to Edward V. Williams, an administrative assistant.

Andrus is one of 10 U.S. governors to take the trip. At a later time some of Japan's provincial governors will return the visit.

As gifts to his Japanese counterparts, Andrus will take Idaho sheepskins from the wool-growers of Idaho.

The Andruses will return to Idaho April 15.

I. Gov. Jack Murphy, who will become acting governor while Andrus is out of the state, said the governor would have all legislative bills he wishes to approve signed by then.

Idaho's education board sets meet

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Education will meet next Thursday and Friday at Idaho Falls to reorganize the board itself and discuss matters affecting six agencies under board control.

If precedent is followed, M. T. Deaton, Pocatello, will move up from vice president to president, replacing Joseph D. McCollum, Twin Falls, who earlier this month was reappointed to a five-year term by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Milton Small, acting executive director for higher education, said agendas for the State's institutions of higher education will be discussed at the board's May meeting at the University of Idaho.

Board members will act on agendas for vocational rehabilitation and vocational education Thursday morning in the office of Idaho Falls Supt. Jay W. Casper. The afternoon session will be held at the State Vout Training Center at Yt. Anthony to discuss the center and the State School for the Deaf and Blind.

The board will meet again in Casper's office Friday to discuss certification of student teachers, request for approval of guidelines and procedures for junior high-middle schools, a resolution from the Kimberly High School students on student rights and responsibilities "inactive" status for one year.

Game law hearings postponed

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Hearings on charges of violating state game laws have been postponed until April 7 for James Vogan, the man who first made public the alleged slaughter of eagles in Wyoming.

Vogan was charged last January with nine counts of game violations in Hot Springs County and three counts in Washakie County.

He was scheduled to appear Wednesday, but his attorney—James Simon of Casper—succeeded in gaining a postponement. Simon has filed motions in both counties to quash the charges on grounds Vogan was promised immunity for testifying about the eagle shootings.

Vogan told a Senate subcommittee he saw 770 eagles shot from the skies by gunners riding in his helicopter. The resulting controversy spurred a federal investigation into eagle killings that still continues.

Hopes to attend

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy said Wednesday he hopes to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the National Lieutenant Governor's Conference April 27-29 in Washington D. C.

Idaho legislature examined

(Editor's note: This is the third in a series examining what action the legislature took — or did not take — in the 1972 session. Today: Children and youth.)

BY LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — Unable to find the right compromise bill, the legislature adjourned without acting on a blanket 18-year-old age-of-majority bill, but lowered the age requirement in many individual areas.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus already has signed into law bills lowering the age for use of wine and liquor from 21 to 19 and use of beer from 20 to 19 effective July 1.

It was the 18-year-old drinking rights — and some questions over the constitutionality of the measure — that doomed the omnibus approach which did in one bill what it would have taken 34 separate statutory changes to accomplish.

As passed in the house, the bill extended all rights to 18-year-olds but the senate, concerned over the drinking age, first killed the bill and then amended it to limit the drinking age to 19. The house did not concur in the amendment and a conference committee was formed but did not meet.

Finally, first the senate and then the house approved the 18-year-old drinking bills.

But in separate measures the legislature lowered to 18 the age for jury service, lowered to 18 the age for males to marry without parental consent, amended the uniform gifts to minors act to make the legal age 18 instead of 21, and in one of the most comprehensive measures, gave 18-year-olds authority to make binding legal contracts.

The legislature also lowered from 18 to 16 the age for treatment of drug abuse — without parental consent.

The lawmakers repealed a constitutional amendment proposal scheduled to be on the November ballot which would have lowered the voting age to 18. Sponsors said the proposed amendment was unnecessary since the federal constitution has already extended the vote.

The legislature changed one law to allow expectant and delivered mothers under 21 years of age educational opportunities in public schools. Previously, the law applied only to certain "unmarried" expectant or delivered mothers.

For mentally retarded or handicapped children, the lawmakers approved a statute requiring school districts to provide education, but the measure authorized the school districts to cooperate with one another or contract with another institution for the services.

One bill introduced would have given school boards of trustees power to prescribe codes of dress, grooming and personal conduct for students which "may be different for different sexes." The measure, a response to the hair-length controversy in Bonneville School District 93, died in committee.

The senate approved a bill to let the Department of Public Assistance outline standards for licensing of child care facilities but that measure was killed in the house.

For the children of prisoners of war or servicemen missing in action in Southeast Asia, the lawmakers approved distribution of college scholarships not to exceed $100 per month.

One bill, described by some as a "slave labor act," would have exempted student workers under 19 from the increase in the minimum wage from $1.40 per hour to $1.60 per hour July 1.

The Idaho student lobby opposed the measure, contending it would penalize college students hoping to work their ways through school and the bill was stopped in the senate.

$4 million available to retarded

BOISE (UPI) — An additional $4 million in federal funds may be available next year for Idaho's mental retardation treatment programs — but welfare recipients can expect no increase at all.

That was the announcement by Dr. John Marks, director of the Idaho Department of Public Assistance.

Marks' department was given the jurisdiction over the state's mental retardation efforts by the legislature at its last session.

He said representatives of the federal government were in Nampa last week to survey the state school and he expects an announcement "within the next several weeks."

He said it is "hard to predict" how much federal money will be available, but he predicted between $3 and $4 million.

Twin Falls court issues warrants

TWIN FALLS — Magistrate court in Twin Falls is taking advantage of a short-term state law to collect $10,800 in past due court fines.

Judge Reed P. Maughan said the legislature passed House Bill 486 in connection with the new criminal code. This means the law is effective only until April 1.

During that time, it gives counties the right to issue warrants for those who have failed to pay fines ordered by the court. They may be brought in on the warrant and ordered to pay the fines or face a jail sentence or $300 additional fine. Bonds for those brought in on the warrants are $25 more than on the regular offenses, he said.

In general, Judge Maughan said, failure to pay fines constitutes contempt of court. He said during the time House Bill 486 remains effective, warrants will be issued on all persons who have failed to keep up payment of fines or have not made an honest effort in the court's opinion.

A supreme court ruling has stipulated an indigent person cannot be sent to jail because he or she does not have money to pay a fine. As a result, he said, the court has worked out arrangements with many of offenders to allow the fines to be paid over a period of time, a certain amount from each pay check.

Some of these persons have made the first few payments and have then disappeared, Maughan said.

Most of the fines involved, he said, involve traffic violations and some are large as they involve reckless driving or driving while intoxicated. County Clerk Harold Lancaster said his books show about $10,800 due from persons who have not made payments for some time and which would be difficult to collect without special measures.

Judge Maughan said the new law first came to the attention of the court after it became effective March 6. Since that time steps have been taken to issue warrants and the first warrants were issued this week.

Action will be dropped on fines paid before warrants are served, he said.

Church lists guidelines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doing what he said the Nixon administration "backed away from doing," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, outlined Wednesday a new set of guidelines to regulate the practice of clear cutting on public lands.

A moratorium, he said, "could not be justified on the evidence and would have a drastic impact on the lumber industry throughout the west." Church said a presidential order had been prepared to restrict clearcutting, adding the White House "apparently backed away under pressure from lumber and housing interests."

He said the committee acted after holding extensive hearings on clearcutting the practice of knocking down every tree in the area being logged.

Janitor happy to tie knot

Janitor getting marriage trade

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — A ruling by the Missouri attorney general has some marriage-minded couples flocking to the janitor in the Civil Courts Building.

Attorney General John C. Danforth ruled recently that judges and magistrates can't accept fees for marriages. Most of them struck back by refusing to perform marriages.

Couples receiving their marriage licenses, then looking for a judge to tie the knot, are disappointed when none of the judges are interested.

To the rescue comes the Rev. Louis C. Johnson.

The woman sitting at the elevator control console in the lobby directs the couples to the chambers of Circuit Court Judge John C. Casey. There, the Rev. Mr. Johnson scrubs and waxes the floors and does other duties as a janitor.

Johnson, 63, has been an ordained minister for 38 years. He currently is bishop of the Christ Temple First Church.

"I've never turned down anyone who asked me to marry them," he said Tuesday. "I usually perform about three or four marriages a month."

"But last week I had three in the space of a few days. I don't know why, but it could be the attorney general's recent ruling."

"I take them into an empty courtroom, and they're married in about 10 minutes," he added.

KH grange sets golden event

KING HILL — The King Hill Grange will celebrate its 50th anniversary in June.

Carl Anderson gave a report at a Tuesday night meeting about the Grange in its first years. He said since 1947 60 people have become members.

Grangers were given invitations and asked to send them to out of town members or former members.

The secretary was instructed to send a thank you note to Stora Market for the gift of display cases which were taken by Grangers to the Elmore County Fair building.

Mrs. John Davis, member of the fair queen candidate committee, reported her committee had chosen Carla Rubery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Rubery, as the Grange candidate.

A thank you was received from the Idaho Youth Ranch for a donation in memory of Mrs. William Adams, wife of a past state Grange master.

Members voted to provide $15 and to sponsor the Gopher Knoll 4-H Club.

Mrs. Horace Lipe requested all members to help with the cooperative oil dinner in the Glenns Ferry City Hall Friday.

Mrs. Frank Jones gave a report of entrants in the National Grange sewing contest.

Members discussed on an irrigation water assessment and about improving the King Hill Post Office, which is in the Grange Building.

During the lectures program Mrs. T. M. Timber and Mrs. Cecil Bolt gave readings. All members held a discussion about the laws passed by the just-adjourned legislature.

Grange women will dress small dolls in the style of 1922 in honor of the anniversary.

Grange dues must be paid yearly, not quarterly, it was reported.

Agency proposes labeling system

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) proposed a labeling system Wednesday that would tell shoppers at a glance the calorie, protein and vitamin content of packaged foods.

The labeling would be voluntary, but spokesmen for both the FDA and the food industry predicted that many, and perhaps most, processors would quickly adopt it lest consumers spurn their products in favor of competing brands that offer the nutritional information.

"A lot of companies have been straining at the leash" to begin nutritional labeling, said Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the FDA Bureau of Foods.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America, a trade association, said it has pushed for nutritional labeling rules since the concept was first proposed by the 1969 White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health.

The proposal would require that all foods making nutritional claims use this labeling format:

Nutrition Information
One Cup ... 255 calories
Protein ... 8 grams
Fat ... 5 grams

Carbohydrates ... 45 grams
Percent Of Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA)
Protein ... 10
Vitamin A ... 10
Thiamin ... 5
Riboflavin ... 15
Niacin ... 20
Vitamin C ... 30
Calcium ... 0
Iron ... 5

FDA Commissioner Charles E. Edwards said nutritional labeling "could provide one of the most fundamental changes in the history of food labeling in this country."

The FDA invited public comment on the proposal for 90 days and said it would then issue final guidelines.

The proposal is one of two FDA programs designed to upgrade the nutritional quality of American meats, which, according to some authorities, has declined as consumers eat more and more processed foods.

The other program will set nutritional guidelines for certain processed foods. It also would be voluntary, but brands meeting the FDA guidelines for protein, vitamin, and mineral content could advertise that fact.

Nader asks tighter control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader testified today the Price Commission should clamp tighter controls on big business and open more of its records to public scrutiny.

In the second day of the commission's public hearings on the operation of the wage control program, Nader urged a "shift of emphasis" that would subject the nation's largest

Up in smoke

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Eight years after the U.S. Surgeon General's report on smoking and health finds Michigan smokers puffing more cigarettes than ever.

The Michigan Health Council reports sales of cigarettes at the end of 1971 up 6.2 per cent over the previous year. Michigan cigarette taxes jumped to $125 million in 1971 with Michigan smokers spending more than $400 million for cigarettes.

corporations to more stringent regulations in order for them to win price increases for their products.

As it is working now, Nader said, the commission is a "rubber stamp" for companies requesting price increases. Because the panel keeps most of its data confidential, he said consumers were left in the dark whether these increases are justified.

The commission makes, Nader said, "arbitrary, unchecked, unmonitored, unilateral, secretive price decisions whose violations are almost impossible for consumers to detect and obtain refunds."

Nader said the commission should release industry-wide price data plus statistics individual firms submit to the commission in cases where the financial data are generally known through trade associations and secrecy is not vital. "You may have all the best intentions in the world," he told the commission members. "But that's never been enough in our form of government."

He said labor and the consumer have borne the brunt of the wage-price-rent controls, "not the companies with their rosy profit forecasts nourished by pretty much 'business as usual' accommodations" He also noted that most American workers do not belong to unions and were not benefitting from highly publicized large wage settlements won by a few big labor groups.

Division of HEW proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A group of House and Senate Democrats Wednesday proposed creation of a separate, Cabinet-level Department of Health to try to meet Americans' growing medical needs.

Led by Rep. Paul Rogers, Fla., and Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, Mass., and Abraham Ribicoff, Conn., a former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, the Democrats proposed breaking up HEW on the ground it is too big to be responsive to health needs.

"Right now, the department is so large it really is unmanageable," said Rogers. "Health is at the bottom of the totem pole in terms of priorities."

Under their bill, introduced in the House and the Senate, the Democrats would shift all HEW programs relating to health, including Medicare and Medicaid, to the new Cabinet department.

Twenty-three Democrats co-sponsored the proposal in the Senate, and Rogers said there were at least 50 House cosponsors. They included five Republicans, although Rogers said the administration was trying to discourage GOP lawmakers from joining the effort.

Rogers said the five GOP cosponsors were Reps. James F. Hastings, N.Y.; Tim Lee Carter, Ky.; Joe Skubitz, Kan.; Louis Frey, Fla., and Dan Kuykendall, Tenn.

Senate cosponsors included presidential hopefuls Hubert H. Humphrey, George S. McGovern and Edmund S. Muskie. Kennedy noted that HEW has 108,000 employees and an annual budget of $80 billion, roughly one-third of the entire federal budget. Of that, he said $18 billion was spent on health needs.

Equality amendment under fire

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—A group called Females Opposed to Equality (FOE) Wednesday attacked the constitutional amendment on equal rights for women as a decree "that God made a mistake."

FOE said if the amendment is ratified it eventually would:

—Make "men" and "women" signs on restroom doors illegal.

—Force men and women to share the same Army barracks.

—Force women into combat roles in the military.

—Require women to pay alimony to men in cases where the female partner earns more money than the male.

—Annul all laws against rape and white slavery which apply only to men.

—Ban segregation by sex in prison cells and mental hospitals.

High court rules for government

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled in favor of the government Wednesday in two important antitrust suits involving the Ford Motor Co. and Topco Associates Inc., a cooperative supermarket chain which markets its products under exclusive territorial arrangements.

The Court held that Ford violated the Clayton Antitrust law in 1961 by acquiring certain assets of Electric Autolite Co. for $28 million. The decision upheld a ruling by Chief Judge Ralph M. Freeman of U.S. District Court in Detroit on Dec. 18, 1970. Freeman's order for Ford to divest itself of Autolite was affirmed in an opinion by Justice William O. Douglas.

Meet speaker named

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressman Orval Hansen announced today that Dr. Bettye M. Caldwell, director of the Center for Early Development and Education in Little Rock, Ark., will be among the featured speakers at his early childhood conference Monday at Boise State College.

Dr. Caldwell, a professor of elementary education at the University of Arkansas, will discuss "the rationale for early intervention."

Proposals costly

Ends trip

BOISE (UPI) — Advertising nine constitutional amendments which will appear as proposals on the ballot in November will cost the state approximately $25,000, Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa said Tuesday.

He has questioned, however, whether the constitutional requirement that they be advertised for six consecutive weeks in a general circulation newspaper before the election is a "real waste of money."

Cenarrusa said he could use the money to publish a voter information pamphlet containing pros and cons of each issue.

The proposed amendments to be placed on the ballot would, if approved:

— Require all executive branch agencies to be organized by 1975 into 20 departments.

— Permit the state to use funds to bus parochial students to school.

— Allow a majority vote, rather than two-thirds majority, in water and sewer revenue bond elections.

— Abolish the present make-up of the State Land Board which includes the governor, secretary of state, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction, and state auditor, and replace it with an appointive board.

— Create a citizens' committee appointed by the governor to set legislative compensation.

— Set legislative compensation at $3,600 per year.

— Allow corporations to issue both voting and non-voting stock both.

— Require the governor and lieutenant governor to run as a team on the same ticket.

— And allow the legislature to set requirements for public school attendance, now set in the constitution at a three-year requirement.

BOISE (UPI) — Six-inch yellow toy balloon completed its journey from California to Boise this week.

The balloon was found in a pasture near the home of Darrell Jackson.

A note attached to a plastic card on the small helium-filled balloon said, "If you find this card phone 591-1883 and ask for Kirk." The note also carried an illegible street address but had a California state address.

A check of California telephone numbers indicated the balloon may have come from the Long Beach area.

Pollution

goal set for 1985

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Wednesday to set a goal of pollution-free waters by 1985 and authorize stringent limits on pollution discharges as part of a $24.8 billion program that would have enormous impact on American industry.

Sponsors of the 217-page committee bill, accompanied by a 424-page report, said it was the most expensive and comprehensive environmental measure ever adopted by the House.

Chamber studies closing

SHOSHONE — Chamber of commerce members here have taken "under advisement" a report on closing the Apple Street railroad crossing.

Members have been advised train speeds through Shoshone may increase to 45 miles per hour and the railroad has proposed closing the crossing for safety.

In a meeting Tuesday, the chamber also heard plans for a display of counterfeit money in Shoshone during the coming week. Roy Hubert, First Security Bank, said the display in an armored car is designed to help business employees recognize counterfeit currency.

Mayor Elwood R. Werry told the chamber street lights along North and South Rail Streets will have to be out during construction on U. S. Highway 20-26.

Announcements included the Jerome Chamber of Commerce annual dinner April 6, and the visit of Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, on Friday at 1 p.m. in the county court house. Chamber members are asked to attend the Jerome dinner if possible and to meet with Rep. Hansen if they have issues to discuss.

The Idaho Resource Council meets at 7 p.m. today in the Manhattan Cafe in Shoshone.

GF sets music festival

GLENN'S FERRY — The annual Fourth District High School Music Festival will be at Glenn's Ferry High School April 6 and 7.

Directing the festival is Robert Fulkerson. Various musical groups such as band, chorus, quartet, and solo will compete.

Participating schools are Oakley, Murtaugh, Hagerman, Hansen, Castleford, Kimberly, Shoshone, Glenn's Ferry, Wendell, Piller, Gooding, Jerome, Buhl, Minico, Gooding State and Burley.

The public is welcome to view the competition, scheduled from 1 to 9 p.m.

Testimony given on busing plan

DETROIT (UPI) — A federal judge heard testimony Wednesday on a plan for integrating Detroit's public schools through the busing of 206,000 children between Detroit and 62 suburban school districts.

U. S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth listened to an outline of the plan as criticism mounted of his ruling Tuesday that Detroit's heavily black schools could be balanced racially only through a metropolitan system including the predominantly white suburban schools.

Judge Roth's action reemphasizes the need for Congress to take final action on the various busing motorist proposals which have been pending for months.

Few problems seen on new drink age

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's director of liquor law enforcement said today he anticipated few problems enforcing the new 19-year-old drinking age in the state, but warned present law would be enforced right up to July 1.

The 1972 legislature approved and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus already has signed laws lowering the legal age for use of wine and liquor from 21 to 19 and use of beer from 21 to 19 effective July 1.

Liquor law enforcement boss Richard Cade said the age change would allow 19-year-olds to obtain bartender's permits, hold beer licenses, and serve, sell, purchase and consume beer, wine and liquor.

Cade said he doubted the lower age would make "much difference," adding, "as far as 19-year-olds go, I don't think there's that much difference between those 19 and those 20."

"Nineteen-year-olds and up, if in school, are normally college students and I just don't feel we're going to have any increase in our job as far as enforcement."

State identification cards will now be available at the age of 19 instead of 20. State statutes make the identification card or the driver's license the "only authorized proof of age," and Cade said between 50 and 100 identification cards are sold each month.

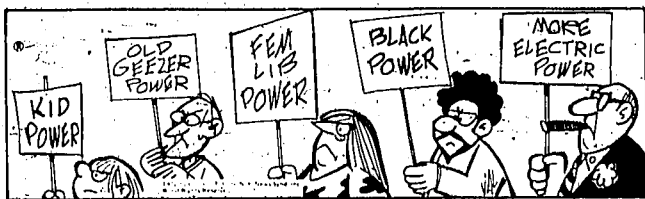

To obtain an identification card, a 19-year-old must present a certified birth record to the county sheriff, give the sheriff's office a picture and signature, and pay $1. The information is then mailed to Cade's office, which makes the identification card.

The new drinkers will also have to be careful of extending the same privilege to their younger friends. Cade warned there is a misdemeanor penalty for loaning a driver's license or identification card, borrowing a driver's license or identification card, or altering a driver's license.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

A new law gives working parents as much as $1,800 in deductions off their income tax to help defray child care and domestic service expenses.

For a working mother, or for another who would like to work but can't afford the additional day care and home care expenses, the new deductions could be a bonanza. You can qualify for up to $100 a month income tax deductions or $1,800 for the year.

IF YOU HAVE dependent children under age 15 or have a disabled dependent such as a parent or spouse living with you. According to the Internal Revenue Service, "disabled" can mean a parent who shouldn't be left alone or even a wife who broke a leg skiing.

IF YOU ARE substantially employed by an employer or self-employed at home. IRS defines "substantially" as working at least six hours a day or 30 a week.

IF YOU HAVE combined income (husband and wife) that doesn't exceed $18,000 a year. If your combined income is over $18,000, you still get deductions but they're reduced by 50 cents for every dollar of added income. This means a joint income of more than $27,600 won't bring any new deductions.

The law, which became effective Jan. 1, is so new all details have not been publicized or even worked out by IRS. A series of interviews with IRS lawyers unearthed a number of special ways you can use the law.

The key to maximum deductions is the combination of various child care and domestic services expenses so you can reach the $100 monthly allowance. For example, if you have only one child in day care, you're limited to $200 a month for those specific expenses. Expenses by the way, can be for a day care center, nursery school or even a summer camp. Transportation to and from the center, nursery school or camp is also included.

Families with two children in day care can get $300 monthly deductions for this expense and the full $400 if there are three or more children in day care. The more day care expenses allowed, the less you need to use in-home cleaning or maid service to bring total monthly deductions up to $400.

TF women view drying processes

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. David Chadwick, Hollister, demonstrated how to dry fruits and vegetables in a drying machine to members of Twin Falls County extension clubs, Tuesday.

Mrs. Chadwick showed how to dry the items in a homemade dryer and demonstrated how to pick and prepare food to dry. She served prunes, apricots, pears and raisins to the guests as well as applesauce and a corn casserole prepared from dry products. As snacks she suggested grape, apricot, pear or beef jerky.

Drying fruits and vegetables may be accomplished in one of three ways, sun drying, oven drying or in a dehydrator, she said.

Fruits and vegetables selected for drying should be fresh and at the right stage of maturity. Fruit and vegetables that are inferior before drying will be inferior afterward.

Cleanliness is essential to a good product. The drying process must be rapid enough so that spoilage will not take place while drying is going on, she said.

Fruits are easier to dry than most vegetables. Apples, pears, peaches, apricots, cherries, plums, figs and berries are the best fruit for drying, Mrs. Chadwick said.

Full instructions on home drying of fruits and vegetables can be obtained from Pat Maughan at the Twin Falls County agent's office.

Nutritionally speaking—doughnuts could be all hole

BOSTON (UPI)—So far as nutritional value is concerned, doughnuts may as well be all hole, according to a Harvard School of Public Health report.

Pizza, however, "is an excellent food high in protein and calcium," said the 71-page report issued Tuesday. The report on nutritional quality of food was prepared for the State Consumer Council by Harvard Drs. Paul E. Araujo and Jean Meyer, chairman of the White House Conference on Nutrition.

"Doughnuts, as expected, are empty calories," the report said. Consumption of crackers, pretzels and other snack foods is rising, said the report, to the extent that, "It is inconceivable to a large portion of the population that television can be viewed without munching on one of the products invented to accompany that sedentary occupation."

The report suggested that mothers guide their children toward snacks with redeeming nutritional value, and said that Americans may be eating more but getting less food value.

Easter egg tips given

BURLEY—It's time to color Easter eggs.

Maybe you have already taken care of that seasonal fun chore. If not Easter is April 2.

Mrs. Joan Parr, Cassia County home extension agent, advises use of white eggs. White shells take color best. For that reason they are in heavy demand at Easter and it is a good idea to be sure of a supply for your needs.

Brown eggs are okay in their way because they provide unusual color effects, but for general purposes they are not as desirable as the white kind.

How about eating dyed cooked eggs? Most of the coloring materials in popular use are harmless. However, it is prudent to read the label of ingredients to be safe.

It is best to eat colored eggs within a day or two. Time can change their wholesome quality.

A few tips about cooking eggs for coloring include, put them in cold or lukewarm water and bring them to a boil. Remove from heat and let them stand about 20 minutes. Cool them thoroughly while they are standing after boiling. This helps in easy shell removal and prevents dark rings on the yolks.

If you have eggs left over after Easter parties, they are good for such things as egg salads and in combination with various kinds of fish and meats.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Here Are Some Hints
On Washing Tatting

— By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. A.E.D.—I am a tatter and to wash tatting and not have it pull apart, tie it in a sack before washing. When it has been used to edge pillowcases, turn the tatting inside the slip and baste it closed. Use a damp cloth to press-tatting, then iron very carefully so as not to catch the point of the iron in the lace, which is dainty and does require a lot of care if it is going to look pretty after washing.—MRS. T. E. B.

DEAR POLLY—I have been making tatting for over 60 years and want to tell Mrs. A.E.D. how I wash mine. First of all, while working on it, have clean hands and clean thread because dirt latted into the lace will never come out.

After it has been used, most of the dirt is on the surface of the rings which make up the tatted lace. Make a lukewarm solution of mild soap suds or a mild detergent, put this in a fruit jar or other container with a lid, add lace and shake the jar until the tatting seems clean. Drain off the suds, rinse repeatedly in the jar until all the suds are gone. Block on a heavy terry towel and straighten out all the picots with a pin or the fingers. Allow to dry slowly. Flat lace may be pressed between towels while wet if time is important but I never put a hot iron directly on tatted lace. Baby shoes, bonnets and so on may be blocked by stuffing wet tatting inside the rounded surfaces and leaving to dry. Be sure all rings and picots are flat and in place first.—GERTRUDE

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I do hope some reader has a solution for my problem. Is there some way to respray or clean brass that has rusted and corroded? I have an old TV and record player stand that needs brightening up and would appreciate some help.—MRS. J. C.

New data aired on breast cancer

CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—If a young woman is found to have cancer in both breasts, a Texas researcher says almost half the other women in her family may be expected to contract the disease sometime during their lifetimes.

Dr. David E. Anderson of Houston, in effect, erased the old breast cancer risk rate charts Tuesday when he presented new evidence about the nature of the disease to a science writers' seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Among other things, Anderson said his studies among the families of breast cancer patients show that there are at least two general types of breast cancer instead of just one as was formerly believed.

Up to now it had been assumed that about one in five women related to breast cancer victims could be expected to incur the disease themselves.

But Anderson said his findings indicate "the chance could be as high as 45 per cent to some women, notably those who are related to cancer patients with pre-menopausal and multiple disease."

Anderson and his group at the M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute have been working with the mothers, daughters and sisters of almost 200 families in compiling his statistics.

They found that there are two types of breast cancer, one which occurs in younger women before the menopause period and another which occurs afterward.

Also, Anderson said, genetic factors seem to play an important role with pre-menopausal patients with pre-menopausal cancer in both breasts. But he said he could not say at this point breast cancer is hereditary.

"It appears to be a genetic factor but that doesn't rule out the possibility of other factors as well," he said.

Anderson said the female relatives of young women with cancer in both breasts "are in the highest risk group" that has yet been identified in breast cancer. He urged women in that group to take advantage of new early detection techniques that can detect tumors the size of a pinpoint.

"If we find it at that stage we get 80 to 100 per cent cure," said a spokesman for the American Cancer Society.

The first public-financed employment office was established in New York in 1834, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Victoria Short, Ebright say vows

GOODING — Victoria Sue Short became the bride of Patrick James Ebright in a candlelight ceremony March 12 at All Saints Episcopal Church, Boise.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard E. Short, Gooding, and Ebright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Ebright, Boise.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Elvin Gallagher. The altar was flanked with baskets of giant yellow chrysanthemums, yellow and white gladioli and candelabra with white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of ivory silk organza and re-embroidered alencon lace over peau de soie. The bodice featured a pearled yoke and high collar. The long fitted sleeves ended in a cuff of matching lace. The A-line skirt was accented by applique and rosettes of re-embroidered alencon lace featuring pearls and iridescent beading.

The skirt flowed softly to the back to form a sweep train which fell from the waist back. Her veil was held by a border of fresh white rosebuds. She wore a fire opal ring, a family heirloom gift from the bridegroom.

Luanne Moyer was maid of honor and Mrs. Cennieve Fontenot, Ville Platte, La., the bride's aunt, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Marilyn Yore, Laramie, Wyo., and Sue Madarieta.

Michael Ebright served as best man. Ushers were Keith Short, Mark Litteras, Terry Frances and Jerry Robinson. Mrs. Ruth Liebenow played the wedding music and Julie Lachinda was soloist.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Alturas Room at the Roadway Inn. The bride's table was centered with a six-tiered wedding cake, topped with a nosegay of white rosebuds and yellow and white daisies. The table was covered with an ivory satin cloth and the cake was flanked with silver candelabra with white tapers and decorated with matching nosegays.

Guests were served at a champagne fountain, a hot hors d'oeuvre table, a punch bowl table, and were seated at individual tables centered with yellow and white daisies. Guests danced to the music of a five-piece band led by Terry Arp.

Leslie Ebright, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Phelia Stevens served the wedding cake. Sue White and Julie Richins, Boise, served the punch and Kerri Ness and Linda McClain, Boise, were in charge of the gifts. Tonnie Soltau, aunt of the bride, Ville Platte, presided at the guest book table.

Honored guest was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Linton J. Soltau, Ville Platte. Guests attended from Pocatello, Twin Falls, Emmett, Bliss, Gooding, Boise, Villa Platte, and Wichita, Kan.

The bride and bridegroom are students at Boise State College where both will be graduated this year. The bridegroom is student body president and employed at the college.

After a honeymoon ski trip to McCall, they will reside at 1234 Ridenbaugh, Boise.

The bridegroom's parents honored the couple at a rehearsal dinner. They also were honored at a shower and dinner given by friends of the bride and bridegroom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byce, Bliss. A miscellaneous shower was given for the bride by her friends in Boise.

Mrs. Gary Major, Gooding, hosted a coffee and recipe shower for the bride at her home. Relatives of the bride in Ville Platte attended a money tree shower in her absence at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Linton J. Soltau.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

D'Artagnan, the best swordsman and bridge player in France, decided that while it was the duty of a musketeer to protect the king, this was one time that a lead of a king was called for. He placed the king of hearts on the table.

Porthos, sitting East, played the nine, and D'Artagnan continued the suit. Porthos cashed the jack and ace.

The wily De Rochefort, sitting South, false-carded with the 10 and it was up to D'Artagnan to discard.

He knew that Porthos would follow the instructions conveyed by his discard. What should he tell Porthos to do? It all depended on who held the seven of hearts. Could Porthos hold it? Very unlikely for two reasons. If Porthos held five hearts to the ace-queen-jack he would surely have overcalled and even if he hadn't overcalled he would have overtaken D'Artagnan's king with the ace if he held five hearts.

After working this all out carefully it was no trouble for D'Artagnan to drop the diamond deuce. Porthos led his last high heart and since De Rochefort had to ruff with one of dummy's high trumps the contract was doomed.

"Sacre Bleu!" cried De Rochefort. "From now on I will stick to duelling against you. You are far too good at bridge."

A Lovelier You

POCKET FULL OF POSIES

By Mary Sue Miller

If the bunny leaves a posy on your doorstep, wear it with a deft touch. It's the eloquent way to show your appreciation.

First off, be sure to turn the flower heads up, the stems down — the way they grow. Bunched in the round, flowers are charming when nestled at the waistline, in the V of a notched lapel.

For a spray arrangement the graceful treatment is on the slant, so that the topmost bloom rides high and far out on the shoulder with the stems anchored at the side-center chest.

There are possibilities, too, in blossoms from a bouquet of cut flowers. Not many years ago lovelies wore a flesh flower the year around. It's a wide we might revive.

If you'd like to have to go at it, try these suggestions: Tuck a clutch of daffodils in the breast pocket of your suit. Or pin one open tulip at your neckline. Only fasten a large ivy leaf with a ladybug pin to your collar, and you're in.

But perhaps you are thinking in terms of an "everlasting" flower. Make it a jumbo gardenia with snowy petals and waxy leaves. Accessory departments abound in them. Pin yours on with the same care you'd give the real thing. At the lowest ebb of a low neckline — beautiful!

After a long lapse, flowers are new again in the hair. You'll give it a try, being the girl I think you are!

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: About a week ago my boy friend and I finally set our wedding date. Nobody was surprised because we had been going together nearly three years.

My mother asked me how he "proposed" to me, and I told her I didn't think he proposed at all. She looked at me like I was crazy, and asked, "YOU didn't propose to HIM, did you?"

Then we got into a big discussion, and I told her that nobody proposed to anybody, we decided a long time ago to be married. My mother insisted there had to be a "proposal." I still can't remember any.

I have since asked my married friends, and they can't remember their "proposals" either.

Can it be that proposals have gone out of style? Please put your answer in the paper. My mother still thinks I'm crazy. And sign me "GETTING MARRIED WITHOUT A PROPOSAL," or SALLY J.

DEAR SALLY: You're not "crazy." I'll bet that nine out of ten couples who have gone together for a long time have no recollection of a "proposal." If any of you readers can recall the time, place (and words) of YOUR proposal, I'd like to hear from you.

DEAR ABBY: I do not want to go to my funeral! I have devised the following plan to avoid it.

While my funeral service is being preached at the church, I have instructed the undertaker to take my body to the cemetery and bury it. Should anyone care to look at my grave after the services have been concluded at the church, they may do so.

It is grief enough to lose a loved one without having to follow a closed box in and out of the church, and then slowly to the cemetery. And then have to stand there and watch it lowered into the ground.

Not for me! Some of my family thinks I'm nuts. What do you think? I'd like the opinions of others, too.

MRS. M. B. B. GREENWOOD, S. C.

DEAR MRS. B.: I am with those of your family who do NOT think you are "nuts."

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old son is our problem. He refuses to participate in any sport. My husband says his coordination is good and he could do well in sports if he tried. My husband was an outstanding athlete and it kills him to see his only son shy away from it.

Our son is interested in sports as a spectator, however; he begs to go to the games with his father, and he gets his homework done ahead of time so he can watch sports on television.

How can we get him to participate? He's been this way since he was very young.

DEAR MOTHER: As I see it, the problem is your husband, not your son. In his eagerness to have his son become an outstanding athlete, he's turned the boy off.

Your son, rather than fall and disappoint his father, is protecting himself by refusing to participate.

Perhaps if your husband emphasized the fun and exercise of playing rather than the importance of winning, your son would become a participant instead of an observer. I hope so.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DECATUR DREAMER: Don't tell your husband about your dream. You may give him ideas he never dreamed about.

Action asked with 'Who Wears Bottoms'

NEW YORK (UPI)—There it was, midst all the letters to the editor of the dignified New York Times, all the letters discussing matters of world and national import.

The letter, positioned at the bottom of the editorial page, carried the brief headline, "Who Wears Bottoms?" The letter writer was Cyril T. M. Cameron, of Suffern, N.Y., and he was disturbed mightily about nonlasting elastic in waistbands of men's pajamas. He wanted action.

Cameron wrote, "Your correspondence columns are filled daily with letters concerning problems which have no solutions short of eternity or utopia. Here is a nationwide, perhaps worldwide problem to which there must be a solution — the failure of elastic in men's pajamas.

"Some time ago, realizing the enormity of the disaster, a group of concerned pajama-wearers organized to form BLAST (Better Lastics Afford Security Tailwise).

"Our aim was to exert pressure on the manufacturers to produce pajama trousers which would not fall down after three washings. At one of our meetings, we were addressed by a speaker from DAMN (Drawstrings are Much Nicer), whose arguments were so persuasive many of us joined his organization. (Cameron didn't identify DAMN's president).

"However, we still feel strongly about the poor quality of pajama elastic and would appreciate your drawing the matter to the public's attention."

Obviously, now, the next important step for Cameron to make is to organize ladies auxiliaries of both BLAST and DAMN.

Library book circulation doubles

KETCHUM — Book circulation has almost doubled in March over the same period last year at the Ketchum Community Library.

According to librarian Mrs. Daniel Hart, about 900 adult and 431 juvenile books have been circulated. Record circulation tripled over March, 1971, with 85 records checked out by library patrons.

The board has agreed to purchase a portable magazine rack because of the increasingly heavy use of the periodical and reference section.

Mrs. Hart has announced that National Library Week is April 16 to 22. The Idaho Library Association will also meet April 16-17. She said discussions will focus on the regional library concept.

The librarian also said that many paperback books are available for exchange in the Trading Post Room of the library. Patrons may exchange their own paperbacks for a like number from the library, she said.

The Story Hour, which accents games, crafts and stories, is conducted every Tuesday at the library from 10 to 11 a.m., according to Mrs. Louis Mallane, hour director. She said the program is open to all 4 and 5-year-olds and will continue through May 25.

Mrs. Glenn Cooper said that a sign has been installed in front of the library as a reminder the parking area be kept clear for library patrons. The board has also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Michael Malo from the board. Mrs. Philip Ritzau was appointed recording secretary.

Mrs. Hart said that about 120 books and 20 records have recently been added to the library collection. The list of new books include adult fiction, "The Assassins," Kazan; "The Blue Knight," Wambaugh; "Dr. Gully's Story," Jenkins; "Gypsy in Amber," Smith; "The Nixon Recession Caper," Maloney; "The Runaways," Canning; "All Right, Everybody Off the Planet," Ottum, and "Monday the Rabbi Took Off," Kemelman.

Adult non-fiction, "Nature Study for Conservation: A Handbook for Environmental Education," Brainerd; "The Credit Jungle," Griffin; "Furniture You Can Make," Sunset; "Podor's Hawaii 1972"; "The 30,000 Mile Ski Race," Miller; "The Hindenberg," Mooney; "Open Marriage," O'Neill, and "Report on Planet Three and Other Speculations," Clarke.

Juvenile, "Persephone, Bringer of Spring," Tomaine; "Sparrows Don't Drop Candy Wrappers," Gabel; "Look Who's Playing First Base," Christopher; "Who Really Killed Cock Robin?" George; "This Is A Recording," Corcoran; "Queenie Peavy," Burch; "Scramble Cycle," Radiauer; "Why Plants Are Green Instead of Pink," May; "Still Another Number Book," Chwast, and "Dorrie and the Birthday Eggs," Coombs.

New periodicals: "Apartment Ideas," "Glamour," "Hot Rod," "Intellectual Digest," "Motor Trend," "Motorcyclist," "Seventeen," "U. S. News and World Report," and "Wall Street Journal."

ITT head Geneen

ITT chief says no conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — International Telephone & Telegraph president Harold S. Geneen said Wednesday he never talked with Presidential Assistant Peter M. Flanigan about the administration's antitrust policy, contradicting ITT's earlier assertions that he had done so.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., asked Geneen if he had ever discussed antitrust policy with Flanigan. Geneen answered no.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., then read a March 13 statement issued by ITT saying "Mr. Geneen also registered his views on the administration's (antitrust) policy with White House staff members Dr. Arthur Burns, Charles Colson, John Ehrlichman and Peter Flanigan."

Geneen said he was invited in February 1971 to a Washington meeting with other businessmen, headed by Flanigan, to discuss revenue sharing and government reorganization. He said that antitrust policy may have been mentioned in passing but that he never discussed it as such with Flanigan.

The Senate Judiciary Committee called Geneen to testify in the complicated case involving an alleged donation of $400,000 by ITT to the 1972 Republican National Convention in exchange for a favorable antitrust ruling. The hearings are holding up the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst, who was deputy attorney general in July 1971 at the time of the ruling, to become attorney general.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., asked the committee to go into executive session to consider halting the investigation.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the chairman, refused the suggestion but called a closed-door hearing for April 6.

Two weeks ago Geneen testified that he had discussed the administration's antitrust policies with high officials throughout the government while the ITT case was pending.

Chile schedules takeover of ITT

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende has agreed "in principle" to government confiscation of all Chilean holdings of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., a leader of the official Popular Unity Coalition said Wednesday.

Jaime Gazmuri, secretary general of the Popular Action Movement (MAPU), said Allende agreed "in principle" with the plan to repressal for ITT's alleged efforts to prevent the president from assuming office 16 months ago.

The proposed confiscation was the latest development in the ITT affair since columnist Jack Anderson last week accused the company of seeking to block Allende's inauguration.

ITT's holdings in Chile include two Sheraton hotels in Santiago and a 70 per cent share in the Chilean Telephone Co. The telephone company has been operated by the government since last November following collapse of talks on nationalization.

The contest took place during the state FFA leadership conference.

Other winners were Monte Stiles, Emmett, and Paul Behrend, Aberdeen, and Mark Darrington, Declo, fourth.

Eight FFA members from the eight districts throughout the state competed in the finals of the public speaking competition.

Others competing were Rio Hirai, Jerome; Richard Garrett, Marsh Valley; Greg

Gets funds

FAIRFIELD — The Cassia County School District has received about $7,000 in federal funds; Supt. Harold Stroud said Wednesday.

Of the total, $5,533 has been allotted to the general fund; $750 has been placed in the vocational education fund, and $750 has been allotted for multi-occupations use.

Lane fired from desert entry job

BOISE (UPI) — Mark Lane's research into desert entry as a land reform for the poor came to a sudden halt Wednesday when the El-Ada Community Action Agency voted to pay off his contract and tell him his work is finished.

Lane was the center of a controversy which raged at El-Ada offices during a special meeting of the board of directors.

About 50 persons attended, but Lane was absent.

The move to oust Lane was led by Elmore County representatives on the board, including county commissioners, Mayors and city councilmen.

Although Lane's work was on desert entry laws — a somewhat controversial issue — the dispute, Wednesday night was largely about Lane himself.

Elmore representatives asserted repeatedly that Lane, whose anti-war activities which have centered for the last year at Mountain Home Air Force base, is "persona non grata" in official circles in the county.

Lane was hired by the agency on Feb. 16 to investigate entry practices in Elmore, Ada and Owyhee counties. He was paid 10 cents a mile and $50 a day for his work. The total amount was not to exceed $2,000.

Hollister plans report on water

HOLLISTER — Irrigation outlook for 1972 in the southern area of Twin Falls County will be discussed at 8 p.m. Friday in the Hollister Grange Hall.

The event is the annual water forecast meeting of the Twin Falls Soil Conservation District.

It will cover irrigation prospects for the season on the Salmon, Roseworth and other tracts.

Based on snow measurements and water content analysis, SCS officials will estimate water per acre to be delivered during the coming season. The information will help farmers in planning their crop planting.

Students elect

BOISE (UPI) — Tom Dreschel, 23, Coeur d'Alene, and Henry Henscheid, 20, Blackfoot, were elected president and vice president respectively Wednesday of the Associated Student body of Boise State College.

Dreschel is a senior secondary education major.

Based on snow measurements and water content analysis, SCS officials will estimate water per acre to be delivered during the coming season. The information will help farmers in planning their crop planting.

SCS officials say 1971 was one of the best water years on record for the district, but this year record snows on nearly all snow courses indicate an even better water supply will be available.

Oakley seeks candidate

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

OAKLEY — A "grassroots" movement to select a "small-school oriented trustee" candidate for the Cassia County school district appears to be gaining steam in Oakley.

The Oakley Community Action Committee, organized to select a trustee candidate for the May 15 trustee election, will meet at 8 p.m. tonight in the Oakley High School auditorium. The founders of the committee plan to organize the projected work toward "three goals and to seek new members."

Mrs. Lynne Boren, a co-chairman of the committee along with Freeman Whitely, said today the committee seeks selection of a trustee candidate for rural Cassia County, working with other committees in outlying areas for a bond proposal which could be supported by rural taxpayers, and "working toward building the small communities so that the schools could be kept open."

Mrs. Boren said residents of the Oakley area have voiced repeated opposition to school board proposals for a consolidated county-wide high school. A proposal for consolidation was "soundly defeated, largely by rural opposition in an election last month."

Boren said. The committee is also against board proposals to transfer students by bus to the Burley schools.

W. B. Whiteley, Oakley, chairman of the Cassia County school board, said today he has not decided whether he will run for reelection in the May trustee vote. All five board members must stand for reelection, due to a rezoning of the district.

Cassia plan not likely, aide says

OAKLEY — W.B. Whiteley, chairman of the Cassia County school district board of trustees, said today that the subdividing proposal has little chance of success.

Petitions are being circulated in the Burley area, asking creation of a subdistrict within the county-wide school district to enable passage of bond issues. A number of issues put before the voters in the past several years have been defeated, largely by strong rural opposition.

Whiteley placed the blame for the defeat of the last bond issue on the failure of voters in the Burley area to support it. The outlying areas turned out heavily against the bond proposal, Whiteley said, while those in favor tend to stay home.

"We must give the people an opportunity to choose. That's our job," Whiteley said. "The Burley area could have passed the consolidation vote if the voters had got behind it, but they don't turn out," the board chairman said.

Based on the record of past bond issues in which the trustees have struck out each time, Whiteley said he could see little chance for the subdividing proposal.

"We want to preserve the county high schools," Mrs.

Planning group has annual meet

TWIN FALLS — Accomplishments of the first year of the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association have been highly satisfactory, it was reported Wednesday night.

About 80 persons from Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka and Jerome counties attended the first annual meeting of the association to hear reports on 1971-'72 achievements and plans for 1973.

Garnet Kidd, Kimberly, vice chairman, conducted the meeting in the absence of Heber Loughmiller, chairman, who is ill. The dinner meeting was held at the College of Southern Idaho.

In welcoming the participants, Kidd emphasized the importance of working together in the four-county area on problems and projects of common interest to the area as a whole.

Wayne Hollenbeck, county commissioner of Minidoka County, said in his financial report, all counties have budgeted their share of local funds. He said $20,000 will be provided by the Housing and Urban Development Agency to give the association a $30,000 budget for 1973.

This will provide for establishing an office for the association with a planner and clerk to staff it. One of the first projects of the association has been to establish resource and planning organizations in each of the four counties. This was accomplished during the first year, it was reported, and committees and subcommittees are now preparing inventories and development plans.

Camas vote set

FAIRFIELD — Two trustees will be elected in Camas County School District No. 121 on May 8.

Women's meet set in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Commission on Women's Programs will hold its quarterly meeting in Boise May 12-13, according to State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, commission chairman.

She said individual task forces would meet the first day and the entire commission the second.

She said one task force on discrimination and finance hopes to hear from bank and department store representatives concerning their policy of extending credit to women and said the group would also invite women to discuss any problems they had had in the area.

Demo gets 3rd plea from GOP

BOISE (UPI) — State Auditor Joe R. Williams must think the Republican "Finance Committee for the Re-Election of the President" is a persistent bunch.

For the third time, Williams, a life-long Democrat, has received a plea from the committee for a contribution. The first letter from the GOP asked him for money, the second offered a gold elephant pin and sought a contribution, and the third asked for financial support to help re-elect President Nixon.

Williams is serving his fourth term as State Auditor.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon — a third term Democrat — has also received the request, but she threw it away.

Williams received a letter from the committee for a contribution. The first letter from the GOP asked him for money, the second offered a gold elephant pin and sought a contribution, and the third asked for financial support to help re-elect President Nixon.

Rupert sewer system gets scrutiny from TV camera

So far, the crew reports, the lines appear to be in good shape. At times, the progress is slower than anticipated, as many joints are found to be only a foot or so apart, rather than the usual four feet or so, as is in common use today.

Apparently, when the Rupert sewer lines were constructed many years ago, the contractor used whatever lengths of pipe were at hand, the Penetryn people said.

An allied problem — sand-choked sewer lines — can be cured with the help of another Penetryn Corporation device, the "Cobra." The rig was demonstrated recently for members of the Rupert City Council, which is considering purchasing one like it, for the sum of $14,000.

The Cobra utilizes a powerful pump aboard a truck to force water through a stout rubber hose and out tiny holes in a nozzle at 1,000 pounds per square inch.

The holes in the steel nozzle are arranged so the force of the water tends to move it, and its hose, through a sewer line. This loosens sand and other debris that works its way into the lines.

When the nozzle and hose have worked through a block-long stretch of sewer line, the water flow is altered and the nozzle swirls its way back up the line, pulling the sand with it.

With the aid of buckets and "elbow grease," the sand can then be removed from the line.

Anti-pollution fundings low

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Legislature apparently did not appropriate enough money to maintain anti-pollution efforts even at present levels in the state.

"We essentially got something over $20,000 less than what was actually appropriated to us last year," Dr. Lee Stokes, director of the water pollution control section of the Idaho Department of Health, said.

Al Elguren, director of the air pollution control section, said his department got only a $5,000 increase, which may mean he will have to terminate two employees now paid by federal grant.

The legislature, in its just-ended session, passed a bill changing the State Health Department's name to the State Department of Environmental Protection and Health.

Judge said 'fair'

BOISE (UPI) — The chief judge of the Idaho District Court remained in fair condition Wednesday following surgery for a ruptured appendix.

U. S. District Judge Ray C. McNichols, 57, was taken to a Boise hospital Tuesday after he became ill during a lawsuit disputing ownership of Three Snake River Islands in Gooding County.

Elguren said the $5,000 is about a four per cent increase which "would appear to be at least a maintenance of effort budget."

But he said there are two employees on the staff whose salaries are being paid directly by the federal government for a two-year period as a program to assist state air pollution control agencies.

He said the two-year period ends mid-way through the next fiscal year and under the present funding he could not continue those staff positions.

Hauls cans to center

"ECOLOGY WAGON" which can be used by groups to haul aluminum cans and other recyclable items to the Jaycees new recycling center is admired by, from left, Bill Runty, project chairman; Budd Phillips, Jaycee president, and Matt Smith, Olympia distributor.

TF gets recycling center

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Jaycees have opened a recycling center on Maxwell Avenue and have started receiving items for recycling.

Beer distributors in Twin Falls are financing equipment for the project and the Jaycees will repay the distributors with earnings from the center.

Cable goes into hole

Although equipment, including a hammermill shredder for aluminum cans, is not expected to be delivered for another two months, the Jaycees will accept items for recycling.

They are mainly interested in aluminum cans and newspapers, but will accept steel cans and glass bottles.

The Jaycees now have a scale set up at the Maxwell Avenue location to weigh items to determine what the deliverer will receive. The Jaycees buy the items by the pound and Olympia Beer will give a prize for the person or civic group which brings in the most aluminum cans.

Budd Phillips, Jaycee president, said the primary object of setting up the recycling center is to get involved in the ecology of Magic Valley. Secondly, funds which the Jaycees will make after payment of the equipment can be put into the support of community activities.

Hussein gets solace in Washington

By STEWART HANLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—King Hussein of Jordan, the 36-year-old constitutional monarch who walks the razor's edge in the Middle East between Israel and his more militant Arab co-religionists, is in Washington seeking physical and political solace.

He is getting both.

Hussein is in Walter Reed Army Medical Center for a medical checkup following discussions earlier in the week with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and others regarding his perilous military and economic position.

He also made this "private visit" to explain to American officials his plan for creation of a "United Arab Kingdom of Jordan and Palestine" which would include a semi-autonomous state for homeless Palestinians on the west bank of the Jordan River, captured by the Israelis in the June, 1967 war.

On the health front, Hussein is understood to have a "mild heart condition" which doctors like to check once a year, but it is said to be nothing serious.

Analysts

This year he arrived with a new complaint—back pains which have been bothering him recently.

As for his military and economic woes, Nixon and other officials made it clear that he could expect to receive military aid at the current rate of about $40 million per year, with the possibility of additional assistance if it appears necessary.

He also was assured that economic assistance of $45 million per year would continue and might be increased. There were indications, too, that Hussein may receive later this year some of the second squadron of F-104 jet warplanes he asked for 18 months ago.

The young king received "A" for effort from American officials with respect to his plan for a new federation, which would give the Palestinians their own state on the west bank of the Jordan, with complete control of their own affairs except for foreign relations, defense and national economic planning.

U.S. officials made it clear to Hussein that they considered his suggestion valuable not as a peace plan, but as a suggestion for arrangements once a general peace settlement is reached between Israel and her Arab enemies.

Lung testing device shown

BOISE (UPI) — The St. demonstrated its new lung Luke's Hospital pulmonary testing device at a news function department conference Wednesday and invited area physicians to use it with patients with respiratory problems.

Patients with breathing problems such as bronchitis, emphysema and asthma, as well as other respiratory diseases, are tested in a seamless fiberglass cabinet of a futuristic design shaped to body contours.

The new device is part of an $18,300 plethysmograph system donated to the hospital by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bloom in memory of their father, Samuel.

Energy crisis talks set

Thursday, March 30, 1973 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 19

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

Warning that the nation faces an energy crisis, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., urged Congress Tuesday to examine industry and government efforts to meet the demand for gas, oil, coal and electricity.

He said environmental and consumer groups, government and private industry "have agreed almost unanimously on one point: our country is facing an energy crisis."

In remarks prepared for a House speech, Aspinall said the House Interior Committee, of which he is chairman, will open hearings April 10 on an energy crisis.

"I firmly believe that the isolated blackouts and brownouts we have helplessly confronted in recent years are mere prelude to what will happen on a much broader scale if we fail to heed their warning," Aspinall said.

Aspinall said he was disappointed that consumer advocate Ralph Nader decided not to testify because "perhaps more than any other single interest group, American consumers will feel the impact of our fuel and energy crisis."

Aspinall said the committee would not consider specific legislation and the hearings would bring together experts "in an attempt to inform congress and the public of the dimensions of the energy crisis and explore alternatives to further crisis over the next 15 years."

Among the witnesses at the hearings will be Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr., Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton and environmentalist Dr. Barry Commoner.

Aspinall, who in the past has clashed with conservationists, cited the alarm with which environmentalists view the effort to meet the nation's predicted three-fold increase in energy consumption by the year 2000.

Consumption of energy is increasing more rapidly than development of new resources, said Aspinall, and even if new resources are developed "we must recognize their finite nature and guard closely, this trust for future generations."

Salmon Falls hearings scheduled for mid-May

WASHINGTON — Hearings on the proposed Salmon Falls Division of the Upper Snake River Reclamation Project have been scheduled tentatively for May 15 by the House Interior Subcommittee on Irrigation and Reclamation, Reps. Orval Hansen and James A. McClure said Wednesday.

Hansen and McClure, members of the subcommittee, are co-sponsors of legislation authorizing construction of the proposed $62-million project. The Idaho Republicans were part of a delegation headed by subcommittee chairman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, which completed field hearings in Idaho earlier this month.

Calendar at Filer expanded

FILER — Additional activities have been added to the spring and summer calendar at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer.

The Shrine Club Antique Show will be April 29 and 30 and April 30 lunch will be served at the fairgrounds to workers in the Twin Falls County Johnny Horizon cleanup.

The Fifth District High School Rodeo has been scheduled for May 31 and June 1, 2 and 3.

Replanting bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The house committee on agriculture has unanimously approved the reforestation bill introduced by Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho.

The proposal would grant long-range funding to the reforestation of national forest lands.

"There is currently a backlog of five-million acres needed for reforestation," McClure said. "There are additional millions of treeless acres where trees should be planted."

The bill would utilize funds generated by duties on timber products imported into this country.

The legislators expressed gratification that swift action had been taken in scheduling the Washington hearings.

"Hopefully, this Congress will reward years of dedicated effort by many Idaho citizens by taking action to make the dream of an adequate water supply come true," they said.

The measure, which was passed the Senate, would develop a full supply of water for 64,110 acres in the Salmon Tract south of Twin Falls. It would also provide for the

4-H survey meet set in TF Friday

TWIN FALLS — The 4-H off-farm business survey will be Friday in Twin Falls. Sessions will begin at 10 a.m. in the Civil Defense Room, in the basement of the courthouse.

The contest provides 4-H'ers an opportunity to study cooperatives and other forms of business, according to Carolyn Burnes, area 4-H specialist.

Members from all Magic Valley counties are expected to attend the study tour of Globe Feed and Seed and Idaho-Best Inc.

Following the study tour, participants will write a report on what they have learned about cooperatives and other forms of business. Four scholarships to Idaho 4-H Club Congress June 12-26 will be awarded in the district.

More sheep, lambs due for markets

BOISE — Sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter are nine per cent above last year, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

In the seven major feeding states the animals totaled 983,000 head. Only California and South Dakota have fewer sheep and lambs on feed than a year ago.

In Texas many lambs on feed on fattening pastures Jan. 1 and intended for slaughter in January through March have been moved to feedlots because small grain pastures froze off.

Sheep and lambs placed on feed during January and February, in the seven states totaled 349,000 head, down seven per cent. Marketings of fed sheep and lambs for slaughter during January and February totaled 880,000 head, down two per cent from the same period in 1971.

The number of fed in each weight group and the changes from March 1, 1971, are as follows: under 70 pounds, 57,000 head; down 16,000; 70-79 pounds, 103,000, down 3,000; 80-89 pounds, 241,000, up 42,000; 90-99 pounds, 388,000, up 72,000; 100 pounds and over, 194,000 head, down 10,000.

Burro barrier set against VEE return

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — The U.S. Public Health Service at Fort Collins is presently buying burros to ship to six Western states for spotting any outbreak this summer of Venezuelan equine encephalitis (VEE), the Colorado Health Department said Tuesday.

Health Department Director Dr. Roy L. Cleere said blood samples would be taken from the burros every two weeks to determine whether the animals, which are very susceptible to VEE, have contracted the disease.

Cleere said the burros would be placed on farms near Alamosa, Holly and San Luis in Colorado. He said Alamosa and Holly were picked because of the mosquito-breeding drainage of the Rio Grande and the Arkansas Rivers and that San Luis was included because of wild horses in the area with a history of encephalitis.

Cleere said the burros also would be shipped to Arizona, California, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas for similar VEE control programs.

Celtics batter Hawks 126-108 in playoffs

BOSTON (UPI) — Reserves Steve Kuberski and Artie Williams sparked a second period rally that put Boston ahead to stay Wednesday night and John Havlicek scored 32 points to give the Celtics a 126-108 win over the Atlanta Hawks in the Central Division, took a 30-28 lead at the end of the first period.

Defending champs unseated in indoor diving tournament

DALLAS (UPI) — A pair of Air Force officers, Lt. Phil Boggs of the Air Force Academy and Capt. Micki King of Los Angeles Air Force Station, dethroned the defending champions Wednesday night in the National AAU Men's and Women's Indoor Diving Championships.

Browns try to save Gregory

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns defensive end Jack Gregory will be in Cleveland next week to discuss his football future with Browns owner Art Modell.

Gregory, who owns a 200-acre farm in Okolona, Miss., and is attempting to purchase an additional 485 acres of farmland, is the only Cleveland player still unsigned from last year. If the situation is not settled, Gregory will become a free agent four weeks from Sunday night.

"I'm coming up to Cleveland to talk to Mr. Modell," Gregory said. "I love him that much. I've never had trouble talking to him and I'm going to try to get this ironed out. I had a lot of problems. It started out as a money situation, then changed."

Gregory began having apparent differences with the coaching staff. "Our differences in money were only a matter of fractions when the wage freeze hit last summer," Modell said.

Colonels win easily in finale

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The Kentucky Colonels broke open a close game in the third quarter and coasted to an easy 117-109 victory over the Floridians Wednesday night as both teams closed out the ABA regular season.

The Colonels, who won the ABA eastern division over the Virginia Squires by 23 games, wound up with a 68-16 season record. The Floridians, who only clinched fourth place in the division and a playoff slot Tuesday night, own a 36-48 season record.

Main feature of Wednesday night's game was the achievement of personal goals by Kentucky's Dan Issel and Artie Gilmore. Issel scored 13 points to pass the 4,000-point career mark in his second season as a pro with 4,008.

Gilmore, with 21 points, became only the fourth rookie to reach 2,000 points in ABA play. His season total is 2,001. The Floridians' Mack Calvin was high point man for the game with 25. Al Tucker, starting in place of Warren Jabali, added 21 for the hosts. Jabali stayed home with a respiratory ailment.

Howard ends hold out, gets $120,000

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Slugger Frank Howard ended his holdout Wednesday when he reached terms with Texas Rangers owner Bob Short to play for the same $120,000 he was paid last year. Howard was originally offered a contract calling for a 20 per cent cut in salary after a 1971 season in which he hit .273 and belted 26 home runs. The 6-foot-7, 285-pound outfielder batted .283 in 1970, and led the American League with 44 homers.

Warriors hope for repeat

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors' owner Frank Meuli told a story during his team's opening round win over the Milwaukee Bucks.

"A national magazine printed an article before the playoffs began that said the television networks didn't plan any coverage of the Bucks-Warriors series because it wasn't even going to be close," Meuli said. "We read that article at our post-season dinner."

Then he smiled. At the time his team was 10 points up on the Bucks and time was running out. Eventually the Warriors posted a 117-106 win to take a big 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven opening round of the Western Conference playoffs.

"Let me know when I can relax," Meuli said as the seconds ticked off. Once it seemed assured the Warriors had the game firmly in control, Meuli leaned back and smiled broadly.

Cards blank New York 3-0

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Joe Hague belted a home run and put another runner in scoring position Wednesday night as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated New York, 3-0, and pinned the Mets with their first shutout this spring.

Hague's long fly ball sent Ted Simmons to third base after the Cardinal catcher led off the fourth inning with a double against Gary Gentry. Ed Crosby then singled Simmons home.

Tee-to-green to decide Greensboro champion

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Lee Trevino, pro golf's 1971 player of the year, thinks the soggy fairways hold the key to victory in the $200,000 Greater

Greensboro Open golf tournament. "If you miss the green you're messed up because you can't get back on for a birdie," said

Trevino on the eve of today's opening round. The 7,032-yard, 36-35-71 Sedgefield Country Club course, already damp from a freak spring snowfall last weekend, was soaked with rain Wednesday. There's a 20 per cent chance of rain today. "The guy who hits best from tee to green is going to win this one," said Trevino. Trevino and Arnold Palmer, who's hoping a week of tournament competition will sharpen his game to Masters form, rate among the favorites to capture the $40,000 first prize.

Palmer shot a five-under-par 68 in Wednesday's pre-am preliminary, slogging around the course in chilly 50-degree weather, and he was pleased with the performance. "I played fairly good, a little better than I have lately," he said.

Also in the hefty field of 147, which includes four local amateurs, are Gary Player, winner of last week's Greater New Orleans Open, and Tony Jacklin, who captured the Greater Jacksonville Open two weeks ago.

Jack Nicklaus, this year's leading money winner, is taking the week off to practice for the April 6-9 Masters at Augusta, Ga., but Palmer decided he'd rather play.

Palmer bypassed Greensboro in favor of the practice tee last year, but after shooting a 69 at Jacksonville he entered here. "I'm just trying to get my game sharp for the Masters," he said.

Palmer recently started wearing glasses and is experimenting with contact lenses. He said he might try the contacts in tournament competition this week.

"I'm having a little trouble getting used to them," he said. "I guess everybody does." The defending champion here is Brian Allin, a slender 26-year-old from Santa Barbara, Calif., who won the 1971 tournament on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

The $38,000 first prize lifted Allin into the list of top 60 money winners and gained him a year-long exemption from qualifying.

Almost as much as the money and the exemption, however, the Greensboro victory gave Allin a sense of recognition here that he has nowhere else on the tour. "It's a good feeling to be recognized," said Allin. "I go to so many tournaments unrecognized."

Golf writers honor Fraser

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Leo Fraser, who, as president of the Professional Golfers Association brought dissident pros back into the PGA in 1968, has been named to receive the coveted Richardson Award by the Golf Writers' Association of America.

GWAA President Kny Kessler, Columbus, said the award would be made next Wednesday on the eve of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Strike or sue new watchwords in pro athlete's vocabulary

NEW YORK (UPI) — Remember when ballplayers came to play? Now they come to strike or sue.

The two procedures have grown to become almost standard practice. Nobody bats an eye over either one anymore. This not only applies to baseball, teetering on the bare edge of a strike at the moment, but also to football, basketball, hockey or whatever other sport or game in which there is a back to be made.

Even the chess players aren't what they used to be. They don't make a move now before they get what they want. About the only competition I know of that hasn't changed and where the competitors still are pretty much the same is the rodeo.

One scene is fairly common in most baseball camps today. A number of the younger players sit around discussing what they'll do in case of a strike, wondering how they'll get home.

"Do you fellows have a strike fund?" one American League general manager asked some of his kid players the other day. "Strike fund?" replied one of the kids. "What's that?"

The St. Louis Cardinals already have said they will pay transportation home for their players in the event of a strike. All other clubs probably will follow suit, although nothing says they have to.

One thing though, and I'm sure Marvin Miller will emphasize it to the players: if they decide to go out, they had better ALL go out because the owners have agreed to shut the doors to their parks even if the strike turns out to be only a "partial" one — meaning if some of the players change their minds and decide to stay.

Despite the general unanimity of their strike votes, I don't believe the players will go out. Only because I've never seen them do anything in concert yet.

Meanwhile, it's business as usual in all the camps. Baltimore manager Earl Weaver has heard so often that the trading away of Frank Robinson could cost his club the pennant that he recites his answer almost by heart.

"It would've been a helluva lot easier to win with Frank than it'll be without him," says Weaver. "But I still think we'll win. A fellow like Don Baylor doesn't have to take. Frank Robinson's place this year or next year. We can wait for him to do it until 1980 and do you realize something, he wouldn't even be 30 yet?"

That's what you call figuring it all out beforehand. Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh's super everything, is called by some the best all-round player in the game. If you ask him though whom he considers the best player he ever saw he immediately says:

"Willie Mays, no question."

Charlie Coody, the defending Masters' champ, never tries to make himself more than he is. Some of his fellow golfers on the tour could take a lesson.

"I'm not a superstar," says Coody. "I'm not going to be there winning every week like Jack Nicklaus or Lee Trevino. I just go out there and do the best I can, and once in awhile I manage to put it all together. When I do that, I win."

Walter Kennedy makes a little better than $100,000 a year as the NBA commissioner. Some of the players in his league make twice what he does, and one, Kareem Jabbar, nearly three times as much. How does Kennedy feel about this situation?

"I've never really thought about it," he says. "Any man is entitled to receive as much compensation as he can command whether he's president of General Electric, a professional basketball player or a commissioner."

It happened in the Cleveland Airport Sunday night.

The Cincinnati Royals, who are moving their franchise to Kansas City next season, had played their last game as the Cincinnati Royals. They had beaten Cleveland, 135-122, and now they were to take that final ride back home when Bob Cousy, their coach was told the flight had been oversold and one of his players would have to get off the plane.

Bob Cousy never has been known for being a sentimental list but, well, you judge for yourself.

"Our reservations are completely in order and were confirmed many months ago," he said. "Call the police, but we are going as a team."

The Cincinnati Royals then made that last flight back home. The way Bob Cousy felt they should. As a team.

Bank slates grand opening at Burley

BURLEY — The Idaho First National Bank will hold its grand opening from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday at the new branch office at 1143 Overland Ave.

The ribbon cutting ceremony is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Participating will be Mayor, Gary Robertson; Jay Schofield, Burley Chamber of Commerce president; Thomas C. Frye, president of the Idaho First National Bank; Fred C. Humphreys, executive vice president; Edward D. Hartman, manager of the Burley bank and the staff in the new bank.

Free parking will be available while transacting bank business and a drive-in window will be offered, according to Hartman. Refreshments will be served throughout the day and residents are welcome to drop in anytime.

The Idaho First National Bank is Idaho's oldest national bank and largest financial institution. Its charter dates back to 1887. It now has 56 branch offices serving every section of the state with total resources of more than $600,000,000.

Hartman, who has been named manager of the new bank, comes to Burley from Rupert where he has served as assistant manager of the Idaho First National Bank's Rupert office since May, 1969. A native of Twin Falls, he attended Twin Falls High School, Albion Normal School, Idaho State University, and Twin Falls Business College.

He has also completed several real estate courses and a specialized course of study with the American Institute of Banking.

After extensive experience in ranching and real estate in Southeastern Idaho, Hartman began his banking career with the Farmer's National, Buhl, in 1958.

He was named manager of the Western Montana Production Credit Association in 1964 and held that position until March, 1968, when he joined the staff at the Rupert Idaho First National Bank.

He was advanced to the position of loan officer in April, 1967, and to assistant manager in May, 1969.

Active in community affairs he served as director of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce for four years and was president in 1969; served as treasurer of Minidoka County American Society, treasurer of the Minidoka Flood Control Committee, and member of Minidoka County Highway Commission.

A charter member and past president of Buhl Toastmasters Club, a past president of Rupert Toastmasters Club, a member of Rupert Elks Club and Rupert Country Club.

Hartman has been active on the 4-H Fat Stock Sale committee; Farmer and Grassman of the Year committee; the 4th of July Parade committee, and the Rodeo committee.

Honored by Elks

T. JUDD SEDAM, left, receives a life membership in the Burley Elks Lodge No. 1,381 from Gale Keen. The surprise presentation was announced Tuesday by Charles Shaddock, exalted ruler. Sedam is a past ruler and has served on the board for many years. He is now treasurer of the lodge.

Burley has garden school

BURLEY — The best weed control device for a housewife is a handy husband, according to Neil Olson, Rupert.

Olson, an extension service agricultural agent in Rupert, spoke during a two-county garden school Tuesday at the Ramada Inn. Other speakers were LaMont Smith, Minidoka County agent; Tony Horn, Boise, State University of Idaho Horticulturist, and J. Wayne Cole, Cassia County agent.

Olson discussed the problem of weed control in lawns and gardens pointing out that the most important aspect is to keep the weeds from reseeding. A number of chemicals can be used to combat the weeds, he said.

Users must be careful to see that a chemical is registered for a particular crop, Olson said, emphasizing that "you cannot legally use the chemical if it is not registered."

He discussed a number of herbicides that can be used on various weeds and with various crops. Anyone using these should "take a long, hard look at their dangers," considering that the most effective way to eliminate weeds is to pull them up.

Smith discussed problems of iron and zinc deficiencies in trees and shrubs, discussing corrective measures.

Horn, an acknowledged expert in the field of plant culture since 1946, discussed techniques of transplanting and pruning garden shrubs and trees. He presented a series of color slides showing a wide variety of ornamental trees for the garden.

Horn returned Tuesday afternoon to discuss landscaping techniques presenting further color slides on various landscaping ideas.

Cole outlined techniques of fertilizing lawns and gardens during the afternoon session.

Recreation bill supported

SHOSHONE — Support of the Sawtooth National Recreation Bill with some specific revisions has been announced by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce and North Side Communities.

In a meeting Tuesday night the chamber approved changes in House Bill 7557 which has yet to be approved in the Senate to become effective.

Testimony will be presented on the endorsement and proposed revisions before a hearing April 12 and 13 in Washington. The hearings will be conducted by a subcommittee on Parks and Recreation, Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

The local organizations said the U. S. Forest Service has prepared a proposal for the Sawtooth Wilderness and has held hearings on the proposed legislation.

"We have been informed this legislation is on the desk of the President at this time. The reason we favor this proposal is the forest service recommends withdrawal of all forms of mining location and entry under the mining laws which would eliminate any future mining claim location within the Sawtooth Wilderness area," the chamber statement reads.

Members said this would give the wilderness area the necessary protection needed to prevent future claim location.

"We favor this policy event though the National Recreation Area bill is not passed at this time," the chamber said.

Office deputy in Cassia honored at retirement

BURLEY — Mrs. Esther Weldon, who is retiring as office deputy sheriff, was honored at a luncheon Tuesday by Cassia County Courthouse employees.

Mrs. Weldon started to work in the county treasurer's office in November, 1950, and after a short time transferred to the sheriff's office where she has since been employed.

She has worked under four sheriffs including Saul H. Clark, LePage Layton, Hubert Warrell and Ray G. Mitchell.

The wife of Joe Weldon, she and her husband moved to Burley in 1936 from Boise. They are the parents of one son, Bill Weldon, Boise, and three daughters, June Casse, Shreveport, La.; Joan Hinz, Burley, and Nancy Thomas, Nampa.

There are five grandsons and five granddaughters.

She was born and raised in Boise Valley and married Weldon at Eagle.

Through the years she has been a member of the Hebekeh Lodge, a past president of the American Legion Auxiliary, a member of Magic Valley Peace Officers for several years and presently is serving as treasurer of American Association of Retired Persons.

Mrs. Weldon is a member of the Presbyterian Church and has sung in the choir for some time.

Mrs. Betty Berrier, also an office deputy sheriff, presented Mrs. Weldon with a gift from all the county employees. Sheriff Mitchell presented her with an arrangement of long-stemmed pink roses.

J. Weldon Beck, county commissioner, thanked her for friendship and her "listening ear" through the years at the courthouse.

John Clark, county commission chairman, spoke about working with Mrs. Weldon this past 15 years as a commissioner and thanked her for her good work in the sheriff's office and "being an understanding person through all kinds of situations."

Shortly before 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 4.60 to 337.62. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index gained 0.44 to 106.93.

The stock market is closed Good Friday and investors exhibited typical pre-holiday caution. But there was some selective buying, particularly in the glamours.

Fair, warmer on Friday

Twin Falls, northside, Burley.

Continued fair and warmer

through Friday with highs warming to near 60 on Friday.

Tonight's low near 30.

Outlook for Saturday, partly cloudy.

Camas Prairie, Hailey and lower Wood River Valley:

Continued fair and warmer

through Friday. Highs 45 to 55.

Friday. Overnight lows 15 to 25.

Outlook for Saturday, partly cloudy and warmer with a good chance of showers by evening.

Synopsis:

Warmer temperatures and fair weather are in store for southern Idaho through Friday.

The upper level flow of northerly wind which has kept cool temperatures over Idaho for the past few days is now shifting eastward.

Along with the fair and warmer weather will come the threat of accumulation of air pollutants, especially in the southwestern valleys. A partial stagnation period will probably end Saturday with increasing winds ahead of the next storm system.

A Lynching Bee Is Bad Noose

Ever at it, those phrasemakers, Was Frank Knapp who described "a lynching bee" as "a noose conference." Ray Bandy defined "a honeymoon" as "that short period of doting between dating and debting." Jerome Beatty, Jr., termed "a head cold" as "rheum at the top." W. D. Huntington referred to the U. S. Navy girls called "Waves" as "young salts with cute shakers." And somebody or other has seen fit to identify "the United Nations building" as "a universal joint."

EVERY fourth 5-year-old in Great Britain can expect to have false teeth by the age of 20.

AM ASKED why all baby whales are born tall first. So they won't drown in the process, I think.

THE STOPWATCH boys, who time everything that moves, say the average pro bowler rolls that ball along at about 15 m.p.h.

IT'S NOT his dog, but himself that the Eskimo describes as a "husky."

YOU CAN figure the cremated remains of a six-foot man will weigh about eight pounds.

DANCERS

Among medical men, the best dancers are the psychiatrists. So claims a student of the matter. The analysts themselves agree, he says. Understand they generally admit they enjoy skittering around the dance floor because they like the attention of the whole room. Most other doctors dance rarely. The dancing surgeon is almost unheard of.

Q. "Louie, you got any advice for the mother of a small boy who persists in spitting at all our house guests?"

A. Certainly. Take the little fellow on your knee and reason with him, face down.

Q. "DO Jews ever go hunting?"

A. Not the Orthodox.

GUSSIE

No, turns out, "gussed up" had nothing to do with that tennis beauty Gussie Moran. Dates back further. Much further. To when ladies wore corsets with whale bones sewed into their gussets. Lacking of these garments was called "gussing up." And a syllable or so got lost in the vernacular.

WAS NONE other than the Howard Hughes who invented the caniflavored bra, I'm told. For Jane Russell, that was. In his movie "The Outlaw." She was 19 then. And studio help complained her dimensions called not so much for a designer as for an engineer. Mr. Hughes took over.

AM ASKED where the pekingese ranks on that list of the nation's most popular dogs. It's No. 6 now. Right after No. 5, the chihuahua. And just before No. 7, the collie.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute.
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You gain decided opportunities today and tonight if you use your foresight to advantage. Good judgment could contribute greatly in a course of action that brings honor to you. As a result you can impress influential persons and gain their respect.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Showing higher-ups that you can do your work in a most precise way, is wise. Be sure to take time with you at social affairs tonight. This adds greatly to present prestige with the public.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to use different tactics with an associate who is very opinionated and then things can be done your way. Take mate out for recreation and deepen friendship. Devotion pays off.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handling duties with precision and your associates will gladly give you more cooperation now. Putting a fine creative idea to work now will bring success in the near future. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you accompany an associate to dinner today you can discuss a mutual project and obtain the information you need. Take mate out tonight to your favorite recreation.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you handle duties at home so they please kin you gain their support for the future easily. Use tact with them instead of being so demanding. Stop being so pessimistic. Relax tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Enjoying common interests with an associate brings greater understanding in your joint project. Make plans to be more productive and increase income. Stay home tonight and take it easy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) The making and spending of money is most vital right now, so be practical. Use good manners and judgment. A family tie has a good idea to offer. Listen carefully and follow through on it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) A good day to make the most of your regular routines and you will have time to do the things you enjoy doing. Do errands early and stock up on groceries. Take care of correspondence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Visit an expert in business and gain the advice and support you need at this time. A new idea you have may add much to your present income. You need to work more and play less.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you help one who needs your backing, you can later get much benefit from this. Take an interest in social events and please family and friends. Show that you have a good sense of humor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use the finest system you can to make a new plan you are working on become more successful. Take care of important civic affairs. Make sure to pay all your bills. Keep active.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Join a friend in a good plan to make more money. You have to obtain more information if you wish to succeed in a personal goal. See an expert who can inspire you. Show that you have wisdom.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those strong-willed young people who will try every trick to get what is wanted. This can be corrected if you teach early to be fair with others. Give religious training early so that the energy here will be focused in right direction. The handling of property is fine here. Sports are helpful.
