SWIRLING clouds hide these peaks in Blaine County, much as other wind-driven clouds and snow shrouded the Magic Valley Wednesday evening. The storm left a light covering of snow in some areas and up to five inches at Ketchum. Temperatures dropped as low as 18 at Ketchum and were below freezing in much of the area. High winds buffeted the valley about dusk Wednesday.

Nixon set for talks in Canada

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon travels to Ottawa today for two days of talks with Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau aimed at easing strained U.S. political and economic relations with Canada.

During an overnight stay at his Camp David, Md., retreat here, Nixon polished a major speech he will deliver Friday before a joint session of the Canadian Parliament.

There were indications that Nixon in the speech would make his first direct reference to the new outbreak of fighting in Vietnam.

Nixon and his wife planned to leave Andrews Air Force Base aboard the presidential jet at 5:20 p.m. EST today for the 70-minute flight to Uplands airport at Ottawa. The Nixons will be guests tonight at a dinner given by Canadian Governor General and Mrs. Roland Michener.

In Ottawa American and Canadian security forces carefully studied every inch of the President's itinerary. Wellington Street was to be closed in front of the parliament buildings during official events Friday, and even the snow on the hill was hosed down to speed melting so it could not be used to hide bombs or make snowballs.

About 30 U.S. draft dodgers staged the first demonstration against the visit Wednesday on Parliament Hill, holding a mock immigration hearing for Nixon. Other, larger demonstrations are planned Thursday, Friday and Saturday to protest the war in Vietnam and alleged U.S. economic domination of Canada.

The President and Trudeau have set aside two hours Friday morning for private talks. They are expected to discuss political and trade problems that include mounting Canadian resentment of U.S. economic domination.

Controls labeled 'farce'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A group of union "price watchers" opened a shopping bag of what they called overpriced groceries before the Price Commission today and told the panel that its economic controls were "a farce."

Six AFL-CIO members from around the country — part of a monitoring team set up by the union to check on prices — rattled off a long list of increases they had found during inspection of local grocery stores. They said the Internal Revenue Service did not respond to their complaints.

Violet Waggoner, a Denver housewife, exhibited boxes and jars of grocery items to the Price Commission during the second day of public hearings on rising food prices.

For example, she said, in the past four months, instant tea had gone from 89 cents to $1.03 and coffee from 90 to 95 cents. She also said dishwashing soap was advertised at 10 cents off its normal price but the price tag remained unchanged.

Mrs. Waggoner added, "I am a mother of seven children. Imagine my horror when I found peanut butter had gone from 57 to 69 cents."

She said she did not know if the increases were legal because of complex "off-again, on-again" rules.

"But we do know they are taking a big chunk out of workers' income, especially those on fixed income."

Charles E. Johnson, a United Steel Workers union member, recited a similar list of increases he said he found in Tacoma, Wash., stores. "This whole program is a farce," Johnson said. "Phase II is for big business."

TF school budget cut hits teachers hardest

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school spending will drop slightly next year.

The brunt of the cutback falls squarely on teachers.

The tax burden will shift further onto the state, away from local taxes.

The proposed budget was announced today by Supt. George Staudaher after tentative approval by district trustees last night.

The budget calls for total district spending of $2,999 million, down $45,745 from last year's budget.

Total spending for teacher's salaries would drop $33,000.

In every other major area spending will rise — administration, operation, maintenance, auxiliary agencies and fixed charges.

Teacher salary scales would be frozen at last year's levels. Starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree would remain $6,950 and a teacher with 17 years experience and a master's degree would still get $9,085.

The budget did not follow trends elsewhere of increasing expenditures and rising teacher costs.

"When you don't have the money you just don't have it. I hope they (the teachers) will understand," Staudaher said today.

The cutback in total money spent on teacher salaries reflected a significant change in the spending priorities.

Instructional spending had run at around 74 per cent of the operational budget for the past five years. It stood at 73.1 per cent last year.

The proposed budget would cut the instructional share of spending to 71.9 per cent.

The biggest cut came in salaries for elementary teachers, which dropped $68,000 or 7.8 per cent.

Secondary teacher salary spending rose 1.5 per cent or $15,000.

The budget calls for proportionately less money to come from local property taxes and a higher proportion to come from state distributed funds.

Local taxes would be $1.09 million, down $27,000 from the previous year.

State distributed funds would rise to $1.88 million — up $75,000 from last year. State vocational funds, additionally, stable.

Of tax-derived funds, the state's share was 63.3 per cent and the district's share was 36.7 per cent.

Last year the state's share was 61.8 per cent and the local district's tax share was 38.2 per cent.

Supt. Staudaher blamed inadequate state support for the district's cutbacks this year.

"I think teachers should get more money, but the legislature didn't appropriate enough for that purpose. They apparently didn't feel it was necessary."

The president of the Twin Falls Education Association today also blamed the legislature.

Norman (Duke) Wiseman said "The Idaho legislature has failed in its responsibility to provide education for the state."

Staudaher said the current budget had included projected teacher additions to handle students coming into the system from closed St. Edward's School.

"We didn't put on any more elementary teachers. We absorbed the students without significantly affecting the existing staff," he said.

The TFEA's Wiseman, who had not yet seen the proposed budget, said teacher cuts may have been made "at the wrong level."

"We need elementary teachers more than at the secondary level, and budget cuts from that critical area seem a little inconsistent," Wiseman said.

Wiseman said the TF Educational Association will review the budget, but at present plans no action.

The proposed tax income from district taxes is based on growth of the district's tax base.

The budget assumes an increase in the district's assessed valuation from $28.7 million to $30.9 million.

Administrative expenses will rise $5,100 to a total of $84,600.

Operational expenses will rise to $226,500, up $21,300 from last year.

Maintenance costs will rise $9,300 to $117,300.

Auxiliary agency costs will rise $17,075 to $126,075. And fixed charges will rise $36,000 to $110,000.

Talk offer 'spurned'

PARIS (UPI)—President Nixon on April 1 secretly asked the Vietnamese Communists to resume the peace talks today, but the Communists responded with an invasion of South Vietnam, U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter said.

A Viet Cong spokesman charged "there has never been any such message for us. Only yesterday, (Wednesday) the American side rejected our latest appeal to resume the talks."

U.S. Delegation spokesman Stephen Ledogar dismissed the Viet Cong claim. He indicated the U.S. administration has sent the message to North Vietnam which has failed to inform the Viet Cong.

"It simply shows their friends are not keeping the Viet Cong informed," Ledogar said. He said he could not disclose further details on the U.S. diplomatic initiative.

The North Vietnamese delegation did not comment.

The spokesman for Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong Foreign Minister, told UPI, "The first time we heard about such a secret message was from wire services. We know of no such message. Porter in the only reply he would make to newsmen's questions, said the message was sent April 1, and received by the Communist side on April 2.

Reds mass for new assault

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops, thrown back in one assault, launched a second one late today against the district town of An Loc 60 miles north of Saigon with the avowed aim of capturing it and establishing a provisional capital for the Viet Cong. Fire Base Quan Loi, two miles away, fell to the Communist offensive.

Although U.S. B52s, fighter-bombers, gunships and other aircraft have taken a heavy toll of North Vietnamese tanks, field reports said the North Vietnamese had massed 30 more tanks in the rolling hills outside An Loc for an all-out assault tonight. Military observers said the situation did not look good.

The first Communist attack today, preceded by a barrage of 500 mortar and rocket shells, drove deep into An Loc and overran part of the airfield. But the South Vietnamese defenders with the help of B52 saturation raids and other U.S. air support beat back the attack. The government has ordered An

Loc held "at all costs."

A South Vietnamese armored relief force still was pinned down by Communist groundfire on Highway 13 nearly 20 miles south of An Loc and there was no indication when it might break through.

South Vietnamese planes operating on Highway 13 north of An Loc dropped nausea gas today on a three-truck convoy of North Vietnamese reinforcements, front dispatches said.

Capture of An Loc, once a prosperous rubber center of 12,000 persons, would be of immense political and military advantage to the Communists and would threaten Saigon itself. All but 800 of its inhabitants have fled southward from the Communist offensive.

Two U.S. military advisers were reported still in An Loc tonight, helping direct the defense of the town. The size of the attack force was put at 10,000 North Vietnamese regulars. Military sources said there were about 10,000 South Vietnamese in the area but only about 3,000 in An Loc itself.

Field reports said the defenders and American planes including night-firing AC130 computerized Spectre gunships and AC47 spookies had knocked out about 30 of the 60 tanks and armored vehicles used in the initial assault.

Field reports said as many as 300 North Vietnamese and 100 South Vietnamese had been killed in the battle but that the fighting was so intense "nobody's counting."

Anti-bus defense offered

WASHINGTON (UPI)—HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson testified today that the administration is "open to any suggestions for improvements" in its school busing moratorium proposal but seeks "speedy enactment" of the legislation.

Richardson appeared with education and civil rights officials before a House Judiciary subcommittee to defend President Nixon's proposed Student Transportation Moratorium Act of 1972.

We must reduce our alliance on the transportation of students between schools or school systems as a tool to achieve equal educational opportunity," he said in prepared testimony.

Jerome recall ballot scheduled for June 6

JEROME — A special recall election has been set for June 6.

Subjects of the election are Councilmen Elwin Tinker and Walter Bentzinger.

The Jerome City Council Tuesday met in special session to approve the election order and notice. The action followed three actions contained in an order issued in Fifth District Court this past week by Judge Theron Ward, after he granted an alternative writ of mandamus.

Tinker and Bentzinger are automatically candidates in the election, which resulted from the efforts of supporters of former Police Chief

C. H. Puntney. They became targets in the recall effort when they voted against rehiring Puntney in January.

Mrs. Marilyn Bragg, city clerk, said persons wishing to run for the council must have petitions signed by at least 41 qualified electors. Information about filing may be obtained at city hall.

Polling places will be at Pioneer Hall for electors living north of Main Street and at city hall for those living south of Main. Polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m.

Imported meats price curb key Frontier airliner hijacked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former economic adviser to President Nixon believes one direct way to curb the high cost of meat would be to lift all import restrictions on meat produced overseas.

Hendrik S. Houthakker, once a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, also indicated that Nixon's own economic policy, not the much-maligned "middleman," bore much of the blame for current consumer complaints.

Houthakker spoke to a Price Commission public hearing on the volatile food price issue Wednesday following eight hours of testimony from farmers, grocers, housewives and congressmen.

Each of the witnesses blamed someone else for spiraling food costs and the commissioners were obviously relieved when Houthakker, now an economics professor at Harvard, took an entirely new tack.

"Rising food prices are not the result of a conspiracy by farmers to produce less food, or consumers to eat more, or middlemen to raise their margins," he said.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—A Frontier Airlines Boeing 737 jet carrying 27 passengers was hijacked Thursday on a flight to Phoenix and authorities reported the pilot had been ordered to head for Los Angeles and then to Mexico.

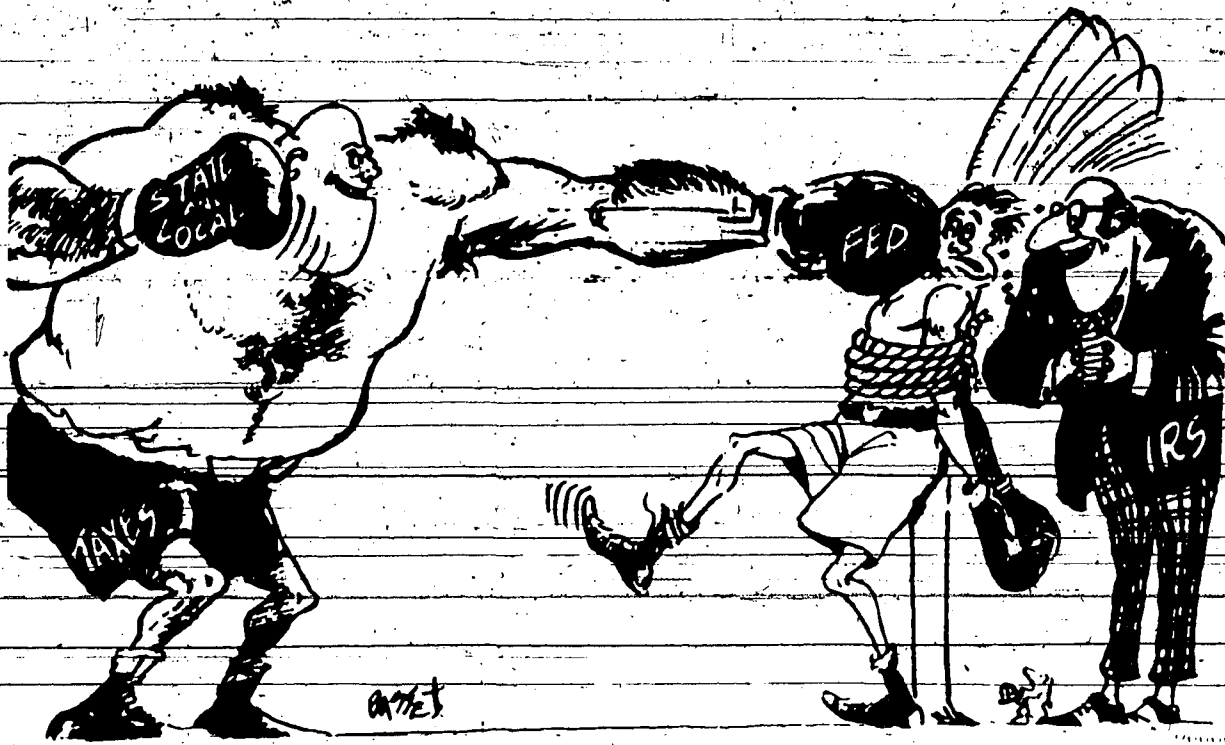

Authorities said two men took over the plane on the Albuquerque, N.M., to Phoenix leg of Flight 91 from Denver.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said in Washington the hijackers had ordered the plane to Los Angeles for refueling and then to fly on to Mexico.

One of the men was reported to be in the cockpit of the plane and the other in the passenger compartment.

Ohio Republican will speak in TF

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, will address the closing dinner of the Idaho State Young Republican League convention here April 22.

The two-day meeting will be headquartered at the Holiday Inn but the closing dinner will be at the Twin Falls Elks Lodge.

County and campus Young Republicans from throughout Idaho are expected to attend the convention, which will begin with registration at 10 a.m. April 21 at the Holiday Inn, according to Benny Blick, Castleford, convention chairman.

Business and committee meetings and seminars are scheduled Friday afternoon. Seminars will deal with media, campaigns, candidate recruitment and campus political activity.

On Saturday, a general session is set for 9 a.m. Phyllis McGrath, national Young

REP. SAMUEL DEVINE speaker

Republican secretary from Greeley, Colo., will be the keynote speaker. Additional business and committee sessions will continue through the day.

A "meet the candidates" social hour will start at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Elks Lodge, Blick said. All Republican candidates have been invited to attend.

Entertainment at the dinner, set for 7:30 p.m., will be provided by the New Freedom Singers from Ricks College, Rexburg.

Devine was first elected to Congress from Ohio's Twelfth District in 1958.

Devine started his political career as prosecuting attorney in Franklin County, Ohio.

"Blick said the public is invited to attend both the social hour and the dinner. Tickets for the events are available from Steve Stivers, Twin Falls; Rich Kohntopp, Filer; Blick; Bob Bailey Jr., Buhl, and Jon Anderson, Burley.

Newlyweds honored

TWIN FALLS — A reception honoring newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harkins was held by the Women of the Moose at the Moose Home Tuesday evening.

A wedding cake and ice cream were served by Mrs. Melvin Dixon and Mrs. Lewis Hoffman. Members of the membership committee assisted in the reception.

The membership committee presented its chapter night program with a poem read by Mrs. Paul McCollum, "That's Success." Mrs. George Long and Mrs. Dixon reported on the Moose Bowling Jamboree held recently in Pocatello.

Mrs. McGohum, pro-term senior regent, conducted the regular formal meeting. Other pro-term officers were Mrs. Long, junior regent; Mrs. Frank Edwards, chaplain; Mrs. Dixon, guide, and Mrs. Virgil Malone, assistant guide.

Former madam elected to post

SAUSALITO, Calif. (UPI) — Former madam Sally Stanford, renowned for her plush bordello in old San Francisco, hit the height of respectability Tuesday when voters elected her to this colorful town's city council.

"Sinners never give up," Miss Stanford, 68, told a victory party at her waterfront restaurant.

Miss Stanford said Wednesday she won't try to bring back the good old days but she "wouldn't have missed them for anything."

"I think if they had more of what they had then, we wouldn't have the troubles we have," she said. "A good madam would turn over in her grave if she saw what they are doing today."

She has been trying for a council seat since 1962 and came in second out of 11 candidates for three posts.

TF bankruptcy case reviewed

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Testimony has been completed here and is under review by Referee in Bankruptcy Merlin S. Young, Boise, in a nearly $1-million bankruptcy action.

Robert Lee Benefiel, Twin Falls cattle buyer, filed bankruptcy listing between $800,000 and $1 million in liabilities as a result of several months of cattle buying operations.

The hearing was held in Fifth Judicial District Court chambers here Tuesday by Judge Young.

Receiver in the bankruptcy action is L. James Koutnik, Western Realty, Twin Falls, who seeks to take possession of 839 head of cattle in the Shultz-Alfred feed lot in Burley. The cattle are reportedly owned by Evans Cattle Co., Scottsdale, Ariz., purchased from Benefiel.

William Evans, Scottsdale, head of the company, testified Tuesday he purchased the cattle from Benefiel, largely via telephone negotiations and showed drafts to substantiate payment.

Koutnik who seeks transfer of the ownership of the cattle for the benefit of creditors took possession of 461 head of stock at the Ben Tuck feed lot in Buhl last week. These were sold Wednesday to satisfy creditors.

The receiver also has possession of about $92,000 in cash from banks where deposits had been made by Benefiel or to his accounts where drafts were mailed from firms and individuals purchasing cattle from him.

Lloyd Walker, attorney for the receiver, questioned Evans, and a number of other witnesses

Tuesday. Kyle Cheney, a witness testified he sold about 5,000 head of cattle to Benefiel over a two to three month period this year. He said 1,703 of these have not been paid for, with $403,000 owed him.

He also said Benefiel purchased cattle at about $42 per hundred weight but, was selling them at about $36 cwt. As receiver, Koutnik said, a search is being made throughout the United States for additional stock in which Benefiel holds an interest, in the hope of satisfying all creditors. About eight lawsuits against Benefiel, filed in Twin Falls and other parts of Idaho by creditors attempting to obtain payment, have been set aside by the bankruptcy action.

Bankruptcy proceedings here Tuesday were between Koutnik as receiver and the Evans Cattle Co. and involved the 839 head of cattle in the Burley yards.

Traffic cases get two days

TWIN FALLS — Two days have been designated by Magistrate Court Judge Reed P. Maughan, Twin Falls, for traffic cases in an attempt to smooth out court operations.

Judge Maughan said the court now handles most traffic violations on Monday and Friday. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday.

Under the new procedure, eight or fewer violators are brought before the judge at one time and told their rights. Then each is given an opportunity to enter a plea or discuss his specific violation with the judge.

Maughan said this saves time without having to see each individual separately to explain rights.

He said about 10,000 traffic violations were handled by the court in the past year and receipts under the new system reached $2,200 on Monday, the first day of the new procedure.

Judge Maughan said any person may come to the court at any time and all cases will be heard but traffic violators are being asked to appear on the two designated days at specific times if possible.

The court handles about 56 cases per day under the new system, Judge Maughan said. He said the present method is being tested and if it proves inconvenient or presents any major problems it will be abandoned.

WES H. BARTLETT, president of Kiwanis International, right, was feted at a banquet at the Blue Lakes Country Club Wednesday night. President Bert Lassen, left, of the host Twin Falls club, Mrs. Lassen and Mrs. Bartlett join in discussion before the banquet, which attracted more than 200 Kiwanis members and their wives, got underway.

Kiwanis guest

TF Kiwanis top district club

TWIN FALLS — The Kiwanis Club of Twin Falls was top in the Utah-Idaho district in membership gain during 1971.

The announcement was made Wednesday night by Kiwanis International President Wes H. Bartlett, Algona, Iowa, as he spoke during a banquet in his honor at the Blue Lakes Country Club. The local club, he announced, showed a net gain of 17 members during the year. Also cited was Idaho Falls with a net gain of eight and Jerome with a net gain of five.

The president also inducted 12 new members into the organization in a special ceremony, first of its kind in local Kiwanis history. Among those in the special class were Glen Perry, Rick Allen and Monte Carlson, all of Twin Falls.

During his address, after being introduced by Gepe Hull, master of ceremonies, President Bartlett said all citizens have a duty to their city, their state and their nation and "it is the duty of all of us to protect and defend our country."

He pointed out the 200th anniversary of the birth of the United States will be observed this year, stating that the "average" civilization has existed on earth for about 200 years before decay started to develop.

"In the United States we have followed the same steps from bondage to apathy that has been followed by other great nations," he said. "Apathy is a disease we must cure. As community leaders, service club members can lead in this undertaking. We must motivate all citizens for good and we all must be willing to stand up and be counted. All you men should use your influence for the good of the community in which you live."

Among the many programs carried on by Kiwanis, he cited operation drug alert as one of the most important. He also said that the concept that laws should not be enforced is wrong.

"If a law is on the books then it should be enforced," he said. President of the host club, Twin Falls, Bert Lassen presided with James C. Reynolds leading the group singing.

Entertainment was by the Twin Statesmen, a local barbershop quartet. Invocation was by the Rev. Robert D. Van Nest and Duane E. Alfred, Rupert, lieutenant governor of division 5, led the pledge to the flag. Twin Falls mayor John Christofferson welcomed Bartlett to the city.

Monday honor planned

TWIN FALLS — Principals will be honored during the Twin Falls County PTA Council meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School library.

The meeting will be report night and all chairmen are asked to attend. A calendar of events for next year's activities will be planned. Members are asked to submit suggestions on improving the PTA.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be a representative of the Hot Line program. Refreshments and a social hour will follow the meeting.

Probe continues in TF 'bad joke'

TWIN FALLS — Investigation was continuing today into a remark made by a boarding passenger Tuesday at the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Thomas Frost, Boise, said today that no arrests had been made following the incident. He said his office is "still studying the matter and reviewing it."

Until review is completed, he said, he cannot comment further.

her

A Twin Falls businessman Ron Victor was prevented from boarding a Hughes Airwest jet after he reportedly remarked that he was carrying a grenade and explosives and should be searched.

Later the incident was dismissed as a "bad joke" by Hughes Airwest officials.

Twin Falls sheriff and FBI officers were called into the investigation of the incident.

PTA council will sponsor VD film

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County PTA Council will sponsor a film for all children and adults concerning venereal disease, April 24 and 25.

The film, "Youth and Older People," will be presented by Dr. Wayne B. Carle and William Kersey of the South Central Health Department. A question and answer period will follow the film.

The film will be shown at 7:30 p.m. April 24 to boys and their fathers and on April 25 to girls and their mothers. Both showings will be in the Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School auditorium.

Baseball

Baseball may or may not be the Great American Game. Invented in the USA 103 years ago, it has grown into a major sport and has gone big-time in Japan. Congress has recognized it as a sport rather than as a business governed by anti-trust laws.

Outstanding players collect outstanding wages for their six months of play and stars sometimes hold out for more money. But for the first time in history, all the players held out for pension revision and we see baseball's first strike.

Owners of the Major League clubs are modern slavers, if you believe Curt Flood who gave up $90,000 a year in order to fight the so-called reserve clause, which gives the owner of a player's contract control over where he will play or if he will play.

The strike, which prevented the gala opening day, is not over money, say the players. They contend the owners want to make them eat dirt.

Owners are big risk takers and they're taking the biggest risk of all. They have moved franchises from one city to another in the hunt for the illusive dollar, to the distress of self-styled loyal fans, who didn't turn out in sufficient numbers.

Baseball may not have declined in popularity but there is more competition for the spectator's buck. Baseball's opening had it come on schedule, would have vied with professional basketball and hockey playoffs as well as other attractions.

Baseball's owners may wake up one fine day, when the strike is settled, and the umpires yell "Play Ball," to find that the customers have lost their keen interest in lining up by the thousands to buy tickets and hot dogs and beer. The owners should remember that football gets underway in July.

Their losses already are estimated at more than two and a half million dollars. The average player, who earns $22,500, is losing $140 a game and Hank Aaron, the highest-paid star, is losing about $1,250 a game. And the customers who pay the freight for the whole show are yawning.

Because of the strike there is less likelihood that baseball will come back into its old place in the sun or under the arc lights.

Who cares?

The Unmaking

Primary voters are usefully pruning the ranks of aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mayor John Lindsay of New York learned the hard way that a handsome profile and a sorry record as administrator of the nation's largest city do not add up to a viable candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. He decided to drop out after the Wisconsin voters relegated him to sixth place.

Lindsay was given a boost by Rep. Paul McCloskey of California, a Republican dropout, but it didn't help.

Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, who also travels a lot, announced earlier he was out of it.

Senator Vance Hartke quit the race and endorsed Senator Hubert Humphrey who may be the man to beat but could do no better than to trail Senator George McGovern and Governor George Wallace.

Senator Edmund Muskie ran a poor fourth, and instead of being the front-runner he was tagged before the race began, will have to pick up a lot of steam in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania on April 25. A loss in Massachusetts, considered part of the Maine Senator's New England territory, would be a disaster for him.

Muskie admitted he had a hard road ahead but said "I don't know the meaning of the word quit." He still leads in pledged delegates.

A buoyant McGovern will carry high hopes into the Massachusetts primary.

Humphrey said "I'm looking forward to springtime in Pennsylvania," which he won in 1968.

Governor Wallace, elated by his second place "victory" said it proved he could win the nomination.

Senator Henry Jackson of Washington ran ahead of Lindsay and will keep up his efforts to woo the conservatives in the party. The rest of the field made a dismal showing and might as well fold their campaigns.

Meantime, President Nixon has no real competition and walked off with all the Wisconsin delegates to the GOP convention.

MR. SPECTATOR

Watching The Tube

We put in a spell the other night watching some portions of the annual awards program of the movie industry.

But the portion we really wanted to see — and about all we watched — was the portion in which a special award went to Charles Chaplin. He was quite a guy and we can remember him in some of the scores of shows in which he participated. The "clips" of these various shows were most interesting.

However, we believe those who produced the awards show missed the bet by not having Jackie Coogan come on the stage. A goodly portion of "Chaplin and Coogan in 'The Kid'" was shown. Coogan is now grown, of course, and probably tips the scales at 225 or more pounds — probably twice as large as Chaplin.

Coogan was in the audience — the camera caught him for a moment when Chaplin was moving about the stage. But he never came close to the great star.

We believe it would have been a great public relations idea — and one which would have brought additional cheers — if Chaplin and Coogan — after all these years — could have embraced.

But then we just can't have everything.

But we did enjoy one part of the show. Egotistical George C. Scott did not show up again. And this fact alone was worth the price of admission so far as we are concerned.

THINK IT OVER

The government has now announced they will scan millions of income tax returns they had not planned to. Why? Seems as though the accountants who have been preparing them here and there are far off the totals in many cases. We noted, for instance, that Salt Lake City newspapers and television stations went together recently and came up with a fictitious individual return which they gave to half a dozen accountants. The data given in each case was the same. The story told each accountant was the same. What happened? The result was that the returns turned out showing everything from a "due" amount of $150 to a "refund" amount of $28.

Is It Moscow's Vietnam Game?

WASHINGTON — Operating on admittedly incomplete facts, President Nixon's top advisers privately refuse to hold the Soviet Union responsible for the timing of Hanoi's invasion of South Vietnam, although the bare possibility that the Kremlin is deliberately undermining Mr. Nixon's trip to Moscow is giving some advisers a bad case of jitters.

In fact, there is more inner doubt about Moscow's role in the massive attacks against South Vietnam within the President's high command than at any time since Mr. Nixon launched his policy of detente with the Russians.

As one planner told us

"Soviet complicity in Hanoi's invasion is obvious from the fact that Soviet arms made it possible. But there is no sign at all that Moscow deliberately instigated the invasion at this particular moment."

That non-conspiracy judgment stems from the following conviction, held both in the White House and by Mr. Nixon's diplomatic experts in the State Department: Moscow has far more to lose than gain by endangering the May 22 summit meeting between Mr. Nixon and Soviet party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev.

For example, Moscow's long diplomatic campaign to stabilize Central Europe hangs on ratification by the West German parliament of the Moscow-Bonn treaty. Solution of the Berlin problem, for decades the most dangerous powder keg in Europe, depends on ratification of the treaty.

If the new hot war in Vietnam should lead Mr. Nixon to change his Moscow summit plans, the Soviet-West German treaty would undoubtedly go down the drain, and with it the years of diplomacy to stabilize the divided city of Berlin.

Other casualties might include the long-awaited U.S. Soviet agreement to limit nuclear arms. In short, Soviet instigation of Hanoi's invasion six weeks before the Moscow summit would run tremendous risks for Moscow in far more important parts of the world. Indeed, if Hanoi is successful — a big "if" as of today — it could open a new and violent chapter of the cold war.

Moreover, any Soviet design to undermine Mr. Nixon's policy of negotiation-not-confrontation, in the view of experts here, would swiftly involve the Middle East, putting the U.S. on the defensive there as well. As of today, however, there is no apparent change in the twilight peace along the Suez Canal and none is expected.

Thus, at least for the present, the President rejects the conspiracy theory. His advisers see Moscow kibitzing in a more parochial game, with Hanoi playing "the cards." Although risky enough, this view credits Moscow with strictly limited goals: solidify Soviet influence among the Communist parties of Indochina and break the back of Mr. Nixon's Vietnamization program.

That neatly fits the pattern of Soviet help for India last winter in its war with Pakistan. India's clobbered Pakistan, lifting Soviet prestige at the expense of Washington and Peking, both of which backed Pakistan.

In defense of this theory is the fact that North Vietnam is playing a remarkably sophisticated balancing game between the Chinese and Russians.

The Breakdown

WASHINGTON — Official reports from across the country, some not yet released for publication, show that the welfare system is breaking down, threatening bankruptcy of social service agencies in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and the District of Columbia.

In fact, a spokesman for the Health, Education, and Welfare Department here says the studies tell only a small part of the story of fraud and governmental inefficiency. HEW's information, he claims, indicates that most of the nation's larger cities are in dire trouble in the public welfare field. No wonder George Wallace gets all those votes, he remarks bitterly. The working taxpayer is already in full revolt.

The scandals in the District of Columbia and in New York are not yet typical of the national trouble. But they indicate what is happening.

In D.C., the city's director of Human Resources told a Senate subcommittee the other day that nearly one in five D.C. residents soon will be on city welfare, while a whopping $1.5 million a year is wasted on payments to ineligible recipients and overpayments to those qualified to receive aid.

In the last fiscal year, 73,443 persons received $57.2 million in welfare payments. Today, the figures are 105,000 and $80.6 million. The Human Resources director, Joseph P. Yeldell, says that in the fiscal year that began July 1 the number of welfare recipients in the District will climb to 135,000 — out of a population of 756,000 — at an annual cost of $110.5 million.

For weeks New York's welfare chief Jule Sugarman has been telling anyone who will listen that the cost of the rising number of dope addicts on relief is "paralyzing" the city's relief system.

If Hell City's caseload is not yet typical of the national situation, the reasons for the financial rape of the taxpayer are the same almost everywhere. A quality control sample taken by Yeldell's office shows that 6.6 per cent of those now on welfare rolls in the city are ineligible, but have been getting a total of $3.1 million a year.

Meanwhile, as in other big cities, D.C. citizens have just been hit with still another increase in property taxes.

Under questioning by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, who takes his job as chairman of the District Appropriations Committee seriously, Yeldell admitted that most of the cases of fraud are due to governmental inefficiency and incompetence.

Inouye also drew from Yeldell the admission that many relief "mothers" operate a cunning racket. They claim payments for as many as seven children when they are in fact childless.

Apparently, a lot of doctors are doing better than they should, too. Yeldell told the subcommittee that two District physicians last year each earned more than $100,000 from Medicaid payments to the poor.

One earned more than $50,000 and 54 more than $20,000 each.

ROBERT ALLEN

A Showdown

WASHINGTON — A very unusual head-on clash is in the making in a most unlikely place — the mighty and loftily decorated Senate Armed Services Committee, which has jurisdiction over the stupendous $78 billion military budget.

Two top members, Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and Sen. Barry Goldwater, Ariz., a ranking Republican, are squaring off over the former's mysterious foot-dragging on legislation of pressing moment to nearly one million veterans and their families throughout the country.

This is the retirees survivors benefits bill which was passed by the House way back last October by an overwhelming vote of 372 to 0 — and inexplicably has been gathering dust in the Senate committee ever since.

Goldwater has privately served notice on Stennis that unless there is long-overdue action on the strangely stalled measure, he will ask the newly created Senate Veterans Committee to launch hearings for the express purpose of ensuring Senate concurrence this year.

With characteristic blunt forthrightness, Goldwater makes no bones of his concern that unless the legislation brought to the Senate by June, at the latest, it will "die on the vine" in a pigeonhole in Stennis's committee.

Similarly, the 1964 GOP Presidential standard-bearer is equally emphatic that if the bill does reach the Senate, it will be approved just as speedily and decisively as it was in the House. Says Goldwater tersely, "I can't find anyone against it — except surreptitiously certain key people in the Armed Services Committee who quietly appear bent on scuttling it."

Chairman Vance Hartke, D-Ind., of the Veterans Committee, has told Goldwater that it is willing and ready to hold hearings on the mired survivors benefits measure.

A move by Goldwater to "discharge" the Armed Services Committee and turn the bill over to the Veterans Committee almost certainly would precipitate a heated furor.

That sort of stark forcefulness just isn't done in the Senate. It is highly out of the ordinary — especially in the case of a committee as powerful and prestigious as Armed Services. Taking important legislation away from it (regardless of how justified that might be) almost betters on the edge of being sacrilegious.

The Committee probably would have a severe attack of parliamentary convulsions

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Floating Kidneys

Dear Dr. Thosteson — In the last few years two doctors have told me I have a floating kidney but then said, as long as it didn't bother me, not to worry. I am 70 and in very good health.

Last week I took a five-hour trip on a bus and since then have not been able to get in a comfortable position in bed. The pain is rather bad, and also when I cough.

I want to know:

1 — Is a floating kidney still functioning?

2 — What causes a floating kidney?

3 — Is there any medication to help it?

4 — Will passage of time restore it to the condition before the bus trip?

5 — When is an operation necessary?

6 — What are the dangers of a floating kidney? — R.S.A.

I'm not going to try to say whether your pain is from a floating kidney or something else such as muscle strain. If the discomfort doesn't stop soon, or hasn't already, see your doctor.

To answer your questions: Yes, a floating kidney functions. The kidneys, you see, are held gently in place by fibrous tissues and a goodly padding of fat. The kidney's will descend an inch or two when you stand up. If the movement is greater than that, it is called a "floating" kidney. Loss of fat and loosening of the supporting tissues isn't unusual at your age; likewise a floating kidney is much more likely to occur in a thin person. There's less fat to hold it in place.

No medication will correct a floating kidney but a firm girdle frequently helps. There's no need to do anything about a floating kidney unless — as your doctor told you before — it causes trouble.

A floating kidney may never cause any symptoms. Then again it may cause an aching discomfort in the flank.

An operation to anchor the kidney in place so that movement will be limited — sometimes is done if the discomfort is persistent. Surgery, however, becomes necessary if the movement of the kidney causes kinking of the ureter (the outlet of the kidney). If that occurs, the kinking obstructs the flow of urine, and that can lead to impairment of kidney function and chronic infection.

In brief, if a floating kidney causes no symptoms, forget it. If it causes discomfort, a firm girdle usually helps, and surgery may be employed if the discomfort cannot be controlled otherwise.

Truly serious problems usually occur only if movement of the "floating" kidney causes kinking of the ureter.

Dear Dr. Thosteson — Does a "cracking knee joint" in a child mean any problem? Our son is

6. When he walks, his knee cracks but without any pain or discomfort. Mrs. H.

As long as it doesn't bother him, forget it. Some youngsters have a certain amount of looseness in the joint capsules which accounts for the noises but it does no harm.

Dear Dr. Thosteson — What do you think about coffee and tea as irritants to the prostate? — W.W.H.

Tea and coffee will not bring on the prostate problem, but they can aggravate an existing one because of their diuretic effect which increases urination, thus unnecessarily irritating the prostate.

As a general rule, persons with prostate problems should minimize their use of such beverage.

To learn the major categories of prostate trouble — symptoms, treatment, how to speed recovery — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for his booklet, "The Pesky Prostate," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BERRY'S WORLD

Church, Andrus endorse Sawtooth mining ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Conservationists and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus joined Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Wednesday in trying to bar the door against any future mining ventures in the Sawtooth Mountain area of Idaho.

Support for Church's anti-mining amendments to legislation to establish the Sawtooth-White Clouds National Recreation Area was expressed in testimony before the Senate parks and recreation subcommittee. Spokesmen for conservationist organizations said they were still dedicated to creation of a national park but that they would reluctantly support legislation for a recreation area if it is amended along lines proposed by Church.

Andrus, in a statement read by an aide, also backed a national park and urged a permanent ban on any new mining operations in the scenic area.

Church, who earlier had joined Republican members of the Idaho delegation in calling for a five-year moratorium on future mining entries, said he had changed his mind and now would seek the permanent ban.

Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, continued to back the five-year moratorium as provided for in a house-passed bill. Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, appeared ready to support Church's proposal, however.

McClure fully backed another Church amendment intended to leave control over hunting and fishing in state hands rather than turning it over to the federal government.

McClure said he had fought and lost the battle for state control in the House Interior Committee but thought his colleagues may have changed their minds since then. For that reason, he said, the Senate should amend the bill and bring it up in a House-Senate conference committee, after passing the measure.

Church, in seeking a ban on future mining entries, said an open-pit mine dug by the American Smelting and Refining Company at the foot of Castle Peak in the White Cloud Mountains had resulted in an "indignant public outcry" that had triggered the legislation.

However, he said, it was not constitutionally possible to repeal mining rights established in the past.

For that reason, he said, he was seeking the amendment to bar any future mining venture. "Above all," he said, "we must see that this area does not fall victim in the quick-buck operator, that it is not subject to unplanned development that mars the magnificent vistas and scenic grandeur found here."

In Andrus' prepared statement, the governor said a National Park would best protect the scenic area. However, he said he would support the permanent mining withdrawal.

"Total mineral entry withdrawal in and around the high peaks is necessary," he said, "if we are to maintain the valued beauty of the mountains."

The governor also backed Church's proposal for applying state hunting and fishing regulations in the recreation area, saying federal regulation would be an "infringement on a state's authority to manage fish and wildlife resources."

George Alderson, a spokesman for Friends of the Earth, said the legislation would delay creation of a national park. However, he said, the conservationist organization would back the bill with Church's amendments because this would be the best way "to stop the mining giveaway" and provide for studies of a future park.

A similar position was taken by Russell A. Brown, president of the Greater Sawtooth Preservation Council of Idaho Falls.

'Loophole' laws hit by Wegner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — United States Senatorial candidate Glen Wegner said Wednesday that Idahoans want to stop the "perpetuation of loophole legislation" in order to have true protection for the Sawtooth-White Clouds area.

In testimony delivered to the U.S. Senate subcommittee on parks and recreation in Washington, the Republican candidate said people "want no unnecessary mining permitted" that would destroy the area because there is "no overriding national need" to mine molybdenum deposits found at the foot of Castle Peak in the White Clouds.

Wegner said Idahoans usually think of the issue over the area as being "mining versus no mining."

Wegner said Idahoans usually think of the issue over the area as being "mining versus no mining."

WASHINGTON D.C. IS CRAZY

SWENSEN'S MARKETS INSULTED — AWAIT APOLOGY:

Swensen's Magic Markets have been anxiously awaiting a public apology from the President of the United States, his host of Harvard (et al) educated economic and political "advisers" and scapegoat makers for the recent wild, poorly researched, biased, irresponsible and completely political accusations carried in the press stating that grocery stores are responsible for rising grocery and meat prices. NO apology has yet been published, so far the benefit of Mr. Nixon and his ill-informed economists and advisers.

GROCERY STORES ARE ABSOLUTELY NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR INCREASING GROCERY PRICES.

It is true that prices charged in grocery stores continue to go up, BUT grocery stores are not the cause of this. If the cost of a bag of flour or any other item is increased 5', 10', 25' to a grocery store, sooner or later that increase must be passed onto the customer or in the long run the cumulative effect will put the grocery store or supermarket chain out of business, no matter what it's size. Grocery Stores cannot stay in business with perennial deficits like the U.S. Government apparently can.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF PURE CHEAP POLITICS. It doesn't take a brain to figure out that there are a lot more votes among the grocery consuming public than there are among the grocers, livestock producers, and farmers. So in preparation for the next election, the politicians dish out some phony press releases about the cause and extent of food price increases and make the retailers and producers look like a bunch of hijackers.

GAG

is looking a little bit better

every week

To SUM UP: Grocery stores are in the unpopular position of passing on price increases. They must do this to survive. They do not create or cause price increases. Price increases are caused by short supply situations, increased labor and transportation costs at manufacturing and distribution points, by increased taxes, and more than anything else by government policies and programs, designed specifically to cause inflation by the very men in Washington who are trying to pull the wool over taxpayers eyes with all the stop inflation press-release garbage. ITEM: There are occasional examples of grocery stores which cause price increases by unconsciously increasing their margins of profit, but judging all grocery stores by the worst is no different than saying all Congressmen, Senators, and Bureaucrats in Washington are corrupt, immoral and dishonest, because there are some who steal, lie, and cheat on their wives.

Judge refuses Teton dam bar

BOISE (UPI) — For the second time in five months U.S. District Judge Fred M. Taylor has declined to issue an order to halt the construction of the Teton Dam in Southeast Idaho.

Following an hour and one-half hearing Wednesday, the judge said there was no new evidence introduced which warranted an order to block the construction.

After a two-day hearing in December, the Judge concluded that he was not prepared to overrule congressional approval and funding of the project.

Trout Unlimited, the Sierra Club and other conservation supporters refiled an application to halt construction earlier this month.

Opponents of the dam said they wanted a temporary restraining order until a hearing could be held again on the request for a preliminary injunction.

The plaintiffs said the construction of the dam would harm the environment and wildlife in the area.

Dale G. Higer, attorney for the plaintiffs, told the court during the Wednesday hearing that additional information showed the scope of the project was not fully discussed during the earlier hearings.

He also said there was a question whether the Teton River was a navigable body of water, and if so, the defendants, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and the Department of the Interior, had failed to gain permission from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to construct the dam.

Madison County Prosecutor Kent Jolley, speaking for the defendants, said the 13,000 persons in that county could suffer additional flood damage if the construction of the dam is delayed.

He said the Teton River flows through the county and the residents have been plagued with seasonal flooding. He recalled the 1962 flood which caused some $585,000 damage to homes and other property.

Plea closes trial

DENVER (UPI) — Accused skyjacker Richard Charles LaPoint, 33, pleaded guilty today to charges he forced a Hughes Airwest DC-9 jetliner to fly from Nevada to Colorado.

The bushy-haired Vietnam veteran from Seabrook, N. H., bailed out of the aircraft with $50,000 in ransom Jan. 20 as the plane made its approach to Denver. LaPoint was arrested in an open farm field 90 miles northeast of Colorado's capital city.

Doctors defended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) said today it does not believe the prescribing habits of America's doctors contribute to drug abuse.

"Our data indicate that most private practitioners, if anything, err in the conservative direction," NIMH said in a study covering prescriptions filled in drugstores, the prescribing patterns of private doctors and adult drug usage.

In a paper being prepared for publication, NIMH researchers found that barbiturate and amphetamine use has declined over the last eight to 10 years in relation to population growth; that most Americans would rather use will power than tranquilizers to solve their problems; that women account for 70 per cent of behavioral drug use; and that there is no evidence Americans are chronic users of such psychotherapeutic drugs.

Trip plans scored

DENVER (UPI) — An attending physician for Washington lobbyist Dita Davis Beard says he will still advise against her traveling to the nation's capital to answer questions before the Senate Judicial Committee.

Committee members voted in Washington Wednesday to ask two independent heart specialists to examine Mrs. Beard, who has been undergoing treatment for a heart ailment for more than a month.

The committee sent a delegation to Denver to question Mrs.

Beard in her hospital room March 26, but the questioning was halted abruptly when she had chest pains.

Mrs. Beard, 53, was being questioned about a memorandum linking settlement of an antitrust suit against her employer, International Telephone & Telegraph (ITT), with a $400,000 donation to the Republican National Convention. She denied writing the memo before the Senate subcommittee was forced to halt its questioning.

President Richard M. Nixon
The White House, Washington, D.C. 20503

You are right, Mr. President, about a lot of things but completely wrong when you blame the grocer for rising food costs. We endorse and support your Price Stabilization Program which we think should go further in controlling our spiraling costs, some of which must be reflected in retail prices. But we disapprove and resent your unreasonable, unsupported, indefensible charge against "the grocer" either as middlemen or retailers. The fact that you were overcharged for eggs at the Pierre in New York does not justify condemnation of an industry composed of thousands of individual merchants who struggle with very narrow margins to earn enough money to pay taxes. This telegram is sent in behalf of and by the authority of 886 individual retail grocers who are stockholders in Associated Food Stores, Inc. (headquarters Salt Lake City).

Printed above is a copy of a telegram sent to Mr. Richard M. Nixon jointly by Swensen's Magic Markets and 886 other retail grocers who comprise the owners and membership of Associated Food Stores, Inc.

A FEW FACTS THAT SHOULD HAVE BEEN PRINTED ON THE FRONT PAGE

Consumer income has increased faster than food expenditures. Between 1959 and 1969 disposable income was up 71% while food purchases were only 38%.

The homemaker spends 3.8% fewer dollars on food today than she did in 1960.

In 1951 one hour's labor bought 1.7 pounds of beef; in 1971 that same hour's wages bought 3.3 pounds of higher quality, more wholesome beef.

Union aide charged in death case

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A cash bond of $200,000 was set Wednesday for a United Mine Workers of America official charged with conspiracy in connection with the deaths of UMW leader Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

U. S. Commissioner Harve Duggin set the bond after a brief hearing for William Jack Prater, 52, of Fayette, Tenn., District 19 field representative for the union. Attorneys for the Justice Department indicated they would seek a removal hearing today.

Prater was taken into custody without incident in Lake City, Tenn.

The indictment, handed down by a Pittsburgh grand jury, accused Prater of conspiracy to obstruct justice, a criminal investigation and the rights of a union member.

Yablonski, his wife Margaret, 25, were found shot to death in their Clarksville, Pa., home Jan. 5, 1970.

Already convicted in the slayings are Paul Eugene Gilly, 38, of East Cleveland, Ohio, and Aubrey Wayne Martin, 24, of Cleveland. They received death sentences. Claude Edward Vealey, 28, of Cleveland and Gilly's wife, Annette, 31, have pleaded guilty to murder and are awaiting sentencing.

'Get lead out' alliance formed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Health and environmental groups have forged an accidental alliance with an old enemy, the auto industry, in an attempt to get the lead out of gasoline.

The health and antipollution activists have frequently criticized auto makers for allegedly fouling the air and making unsafe cars, but although their motives differ, both interests now contend restrictions proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) would permit too much lead in gasoline.

Auto makers contend that lead ruins the catalytic converters they plan to install on 1975 model cars to meet exhaust cleanup rules.

Environmental and health groups argue that lead in auto exhaust exposes citizens—particularly slum children—to possible lead poisoning, which can cause brain damage and occasionally death.

Auto makers are presenting their arguments in EPA hearings on industry requests to delay for one year the exhaust cleanup rules scheduled for 1975 models. Environmental and health forces called for a ban on leaded gasoline in testimony Wednesday before another EPA hearing on the proposed lead restrictions.

The EPA agrees with both contentions. To meet the need of 1975 model cars for virtually lead-free gasoline, the EPA proposed that most service stations be required to offer gasoline containing no more than .06 grams per gallon by mid-1974. And to curb lead poisoning, the agency proposed that leaded gasoline gradually reduce their lead content, starting Jan. 1, 1974.

Lead increases gasoline octane, and the EPA explained that leaded gasoline must remain available for older cars designed to use it.

Casualties jump in Indochina war

SAIGON (UPI) — American casualties jumped sharply in the Indochina war last week, reflecting the heavy fighting underway following the Communist invasion. The U.S. command said today 12 Americans were killed, 32 were wounded and 19 were missing or captured.

It was the highest American death toll since the last week of September, when 21 U.S. troops were killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 641 government troops were slain in the first full calendar week of the Communist offensive, the highest weekly toll since last year's government drive into Laos. Another 2,166 South Vietnamese were wounded last week.

Allied commands estimated killing 2,987 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. It was the greatest total of Communist dead since heavy fighting in Cambodia last May, spokesmen said.

The American death toll reflected the heavy Communist attacks throughout South Vietnam last week. Most of the casualties announced in daily communiques by the U.S. command occurred in helicopter crashes or assaults on government units with American advisers.

At 8:30 p.m. on channel 751 (3 on cable), Movie: "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari." A classic spine-tingler. The screen's first horror classic. The story, told in flash back, recalls a living nightmare that centers on the sinister doctor, a fairground showman who manipulates a cadaverous sleepwalker as an instrument of murder.
At 9 p.m. on 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200, 201, 202, 203, 204, 205, 206, 207, 208, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 214, 215, 216, 217, 218, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 224, 225, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 239, 240, 241, 242, 243, 244, 245, 246, 247, 248, 249, 250, 251, 252, 253, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 259, 260, 261, 262, 263, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 275, 276, 277, 278, 279, 280, 281, 282, 283, 284, 285, 286, 287, 288, 289, 290, 291, 292, 293, 294, 295, 296, 297, 298, 299, 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 306, 307, 308, 309, 310, 311, 312, 313, 314, 315, 316, 317, 318, 319, 320, 321, 322, 323, 324, 325, 326, 327, 328, 329, 330, 331, 332, 333, 334, 335, 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349, 350, 351, 352, 353, 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, 365, 366, 367, 368, 369, 370, 371, 372, 373, 374, 375, 376, 377, 378, 379, 380, 381, 382, 383, 384, 385, 386, 387, 388, 389, 390, 391, 392, 393, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 401, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, 420, 421, 422, 423, 424, 425, 426, 427, 428, 429, 430, 431, 432, 433, 434, 435, 436, 437, 438, 439, 440, 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 446, 447, 448, 449, 450, 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457, 458, 459, 460, 461, 462, 463, 464, 465, 466, 467, 468, 469, 470, 471, 472, 473, 474, 475, 476, 477, 478, 479, 480, 481, 482, 483, 484, 485, 486, 487, 488, 489, 490, 491, 492, 493, 494, 495, 496, 497, 498, 499, 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506, 507, 508, 509, 510, 511, 512, 513, 514, 515, 516, 517, 518, 519, 520, 521, 522, 523, 524, 525, 526, 527, 528, 529, 530, 531, 532, 533, 534, 535, 536, 537, 538, 539, 540, 541, 542, 543, 544, 545, 546, 547, 548, 549, 550, 551, 552, 553, 554, 555, 556, 557, 558, 559, 560, 561, 562, 563, 564, 565, 566, 567, 568, 569, 570, 571, 572, 573, 574, 575, 576, 577, 578, 579, 580, 581, 582, 583, 584, 585, 586, 587, 588, 589, 590, 591, 592, 593, 594, 595, 596, 597, 598, 599, 600, 601, 602, 603, 604, 605, 606, 607, 608, 609, 610, 611, 612, 613, 614, 615, 616, 617, 618, 619, 620, 621, 622, 623, 624, 625, 626, 627, 628, 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, 634, 635, 636, 637, 638, 639, 640, 641, 642, 643, 644, 645, 646, 647, 648, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 656, 657, 658, 659, 660, 661, 662, 663, 664, 665, 666, 667, 668, 669, 670, 671, 672, 673, 674, 675, 676, 677, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 683, 684, 685, 686, 687, 688, 689, 690, 691, 692, 693, 694, 695, 696, 697, 698, 699, 700, 701, 702, 703, 704, 705, 706, 707, 708, 709, 710, 711, 712, 713, 714, 715, 716, 717, 718, 719, 720, 721, 722, 723, 724, 725, 726, 727, 728, 729, 730, 731, 732, 733, 734, 735, 736, 737, 738, 739, 740, 741, 742, 743, 744, 745, 746, 747, 748, 749, 750, 751, 752, 753, 754, 755, 756, 757, 758, 759, 760, 761, 762, 763, 764, 765, 766, 767, 768, 769, 770, 771, 772, 773, 774, 775, 776, 777, 778, 779, 780, 781, 782, 783, 784, 785, 786, 787, 788, 789, 790, 791, 792, 793, 794, 795, 796, 797, 798, 799, 800, 801, 802, 803, 804, 805, 806, 807, 808, 809, 810, 811, 812, 813, 814, 815, 816, 817, 818, 819, 820, 821, 822, 823, 824, 825, 826, 827, 828, 829, 830, 831, 832, 833, 834, 835, 836, 837, 838, 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 845, 846, 847, 848, 849, 850, 851, 852, 853, 854, 855, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 861, 862, 863, 864, 865, 866, 867, 868, 869, 870, 871, 872, 873, 874, 875, 876, 877, 878, 879, 880, 881, 882, 883, 884, 885, 886, 887, 888, 889, 890, 891, 892, 893, 894, 895, 896, 897, 898, 899, 900, 901, 902, 903, 904, 905, 906, 907, 908, 909, 910, 911, 912, 913, 914, 915, 916, 917, 918, 919, 920, 921, 922, 923, 924, 925, 926, 927, 928, 929, 930, 931, 932, 933, 934, 935, 936, 937, 938, 939, 940, 941, 942, 943, 944, 945, 946, 947, 948, 949, 950, 951, 952, 953, 954, 955, 956, 957, 958, 959, 960, 961, 962, 963, 964, 965, 966, 967, 968, 969, 970, 971, 972, 973, 974, 975, 976, 977, 978, 979, 980, 981, 982, 983, 984, 985, 986, 987, 988, 989, 990, 991, 992, 993, 994, 995, 996, 997, 998, 999, 1000.

WILLIAM PRATER charged in Yablonski deaths

Berrigan charge dismissal sought

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — The defense has called for a dismissal of all charges against the Rev. Philip Berrigan and six other antiwar activists whose 11-week trial ended in a hung jury.

In motions filed Wednesday with Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman, attorneys for the Harrisburg Seven said the government had failed to prove there was any conspiracy to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger, blow up underground heating tunnels in Washington, D.C., and vandalize draft boards. The trial ended last Wednesday when the jury, after nearly 60 hours of deliberation, announced it was deadlocked on the alleged conspiracy and two other charges concerning the alleged kidnap plot. The jury, however, did find Berrigan and Sister Elizabeth McAlister, of New York, guilty of illegally smuggling letters in and out of the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison during 1970. The defense also asked

Herman to throw those convictions out on the grounds that "the verdict is contrary to all the evidence introduced at the trial." Berrigan, who currently is serving a six-year term for destroying draft records in Maryland, could receive a maximum prison term of 40 years on the latter convictions. Sister Elizabeth could receive 30 years. The Justice Department declined to comment on whether the government would contest to the motions.

Bombs kill 2, damage buses in Belfast area

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A 100-pound bomb in a panel truck exploded and set fire to a building in a town northwest of Belfast today, killing a woman and injuring her husband. In Belfast, a bomb went off in a stolen car parked near a depot and badly damaged at least 14 buses.

A British Army spokesman said it was one of the worst mornings of violence across Northern Ireland since London imposed direct rule over the province late last month. The spokesman reported a rash of sniping incidents and said a gunman was believed hit in one exchange.

Mrs. Elizabeth McAuley, 65, became the 302nd fatality in 32 months of provincial violence when the bomb blasted a draper's store in Ballymoney, a predominantly Protestant village 40 miles northwest of Belfast. Her husband, who was earlier by police when they spotted the truck, was in the store doorway and suffered cuts and bruises, the spokesman said.

Another bomb in a parked stolen car damaged the Smithfield Bus Station in Belfast's city center. A police spokesman said at least 14 buses were damaged. He said two youths planted the bomb; then warned workers and passengers to evacuate the area. There were no injuries. A bomb planted in a small car blew up in Castleberg, 22 miles south of Londonderry. Another wrecked local government offices in Newry. Two policemen helping evacuate residents were injured in the Castleberg blast.

A former policeman escaped injury when gunmen fired three shots into his car near Newtown Hamilton, 40 miles southwest of Belfast, police said.

Coordinators named for TF cleanup campaign

TWIN FALLS — Area coordinators for the April 29 Johnny Horizon-Twin Falls County Clean-up campaign were named Tuesday.

Robert Day, representing the Rotary Club as chairman of the Urban and Rural Relations Committee, was named coordinator for Twin Falls City and surrounding areas.

Others chosen were: Herb Thorne, Murtaugh area, with the assembly point for volunteers to the the LDS Church at Murtaugh; John Jenkins, for the Hub Butte area, assembly point at the butte; Dick Stafford, Kimberly, assembly across from the Kimberly Advertiser; Clark Kleinkopf, Salmon Dam and Roseworth Reservoir areas, assembly at Salmon Dam.

Jennings Pierce, Castleford, in Castleford, assembly in Castleford; Swede Lundy, Rock Creek Canyon area, assembly at Trading Post in Rock Creek; The Rock Creek Riders Club, for Hansen area, assembly point to be announced, and Merl Leonard, Filer, assembly at the county fairgrounds.

Headquarters for the county-wide, one-day drive to collect trash and debris will be the old hospital building. Volunteers for the Twin Falls area will meet there at 8:30 a.m.

William Chancey, chairman of the event, said all heavy equipment volunteered by such groups and the U. S. Army Reserve unit, National Guard, Twin Falls Canal Co., and Soil Conservation Districts will also meet at the headquarters for assignment.

Equipment furnished by highway districts and soil conservation districts elsewhere in the county will meet at the assembly points in the communities they plan to serve.

Jean Milar, Twin Falls City manager, said the city's plans include furnishing several trucks, free use of the sanitary landfill to everyone, and efforts in the city of Twin Falls to get residents to complete clean up during the day.

Bureau of Land Management co-chairman, Bob Brock, Burley, said the BLM will furnish radio equipped units to provide communication throughout the county. George Blackburn, Idaho State Police, and Sheriff Paul Corder assured law enforcement cooperation.

Another planning meeting event will be April 25 to settle last minute details.

About 35 persons attended the Tuesday night meeting in the Judicial Building.

Other groups assisting include the county's 4-H clubs, Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, the Buhl Jaycees, the Twin Falls Moose Lodge, Army Reserve, Twin Falls Canal Co., Buhl Highway District, U. S. Forest Service, Baptist Church, Rotary Club, Salmon River Canal Co., Castleford Men's Club, Twin Falls Grange, Civil Air Patrol, three soil conservation districts in the county, Rock Creek Riders Club, National Guard, and several organizations not represented.

Unions urged to picket

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the AFL-CIO's price monitoring program Wednesday urged union members to take to the streets and picket and landlords that raise prices in violation of President Nixon's economic controls.

"As long as we have a program that is neither fair nor firm, let the voice of the people be heard in the streets," Leo Perlis, head of the AFL-CIO community services department, told a labor meeting.

Perlis told the week-long community services conference that he was rescinding his previous policy of advising state and local union leaders to refrain from picketing price violators and now was telling them to do what you think is necessary, if you feel you've had it up to here.

Perlis denounced the administration's economic controls as rigged against consumers and wage earners in favor of business.

Donald R. Rumsfeld, director of the cost of living council, said Tuesday the government has found 24 large corporations apparently violating price stabilization laws.

The disclosure came in the first batch of financial reports the nation's largest companies are required to file every three months with the Price Commission, Rumsfeld said in a speech to the National Fuel Oil Institute.

Rumsfeld said 24 of 105 companies filing the reports were "apparently operating at profit margins in excess of those permitted by the regulations. They were not identified."

"These firms run the risk of being found in violation of the stabilization program regulations if they are unable to justify their reports," Rumsfeld said.

The largest 1,800 companies are required to submit quarterly reports.

The economic control regulations limit a company's profit margin, as a percentage of sales, to the average of the best two of a firm's last three fiscal years.

Tax office in TF open on Monday

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Internal Revenue Service office is open through Monday to provide help and answer questions on filing federal income tax returns.

The office is located at 548 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Monday, and from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Taxpayers may also receive assistance by using the toll-free Centiphone number, 800-632-3330, according to Phil Mulconery, IRS representative.

Hearing slated at Pocatello

POCATELLO — A hearing is scheduled Friday at Pocatello on House legislation extending the Older Americans Act and providing a variety of services for the aged.

The hearing will begin at 1 p.m. Friday at the Pocatello Senior Citizens Center 145 South 3rd St.

Leading the Pocatello hearing will be Cong. John Brademas, D-Ind., chairman of the House Select Education Subcommittee, which established the Administration of Aging and which has jurisdiction over the Older Americans Act.

Shoshone to hear singers

SHOSHONE — The Rick's College New Freedom Singers will be featured in concert at 2:15 p.m. Friday at the Shoshone High School.

Frank Garrett, Jr., former student body president at the Shoshone school, is one of the officers for the group.

The group is currently raising funds for a tour of southern states this spring.

The New Freedom Singers consists of 48 members from the United States and Canada, who take a special pride in their heritage, have a love of country and a faith that America is blessed by God and built by the hands of inspired men.

Interested persons in the community are invited to the program.

Standards urged on bumpers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill that would authorize the Department of Transportation (DOT) to set standards for damage-resistant auto bumpers in an effort to reduce repair costs has won approval from a House Commerce subcommittee.

The compromise measure was worked out Tuesday and sent to the full Commerce Committee, which last month rejected a Senate-passed bill to give DOT authority to set standards to reduce the damageability of all car parts.

A key section of the compromise bill proposed by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., would authorize DOT to set standards only for front and rear bumpers in low-speed collisions.

The bill would not stipulate the speed at which cars must be protected from damage, but Eckhardt estimated that bumpers able to absorb a 5 mile per hour crash could save owners $1 billion a year in repair bills.

ROY HUBERT bank chief

Dietrich man gets bank job

SHOSHONE — Roy Hubert Dietrich, is new manager of the First Security Bank, Shoshone office.

He succeeds Ferry C. Hadlock to the post. Hubert has been assistant manager for the past several years, having first become affiliated with the bank in 1962. In 1969 he was promoted from bookkeeper to senior clerk and operations officer and became assistant manager in 1970.

Hubert was born in Salt Lake City, but was reared in Dietrich. He is currently president of Shoshone Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Rotary Club, has served as director of the South Central IAB and is at this time secretary-treasurer of the Magic Valley Bankers Association.

He is a member of the LDS Church, having served a mission to Germany and is now bishop in the Dietrich Ward.

Mrs. Hubert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Burgoyne, Dietrich.

Kimberly gets aid

WASHINGTON Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, announced today that Kimberly School District will receive $4,350 in impact aid funds from the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Pay raises approved in Blaine

HAILEY Pay raises for Blaine County department heads have been approved effective February, 1973.

County commissioners earlier made provision in the 1972 budget for the increases, but had to rescind their decision because under state law raises must be adopted in April prior to budgetary discussions in January.

Under the new schedule the sheriff would receive $800 a month and the treasurer, assessor and clerk each would receive $675. Presently, all four officials draw $600 a month.

Catalog wins national book award, juror resigns

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Last Whole Earth Catalog, a Stewart Brand edited paper-bound book which advertises items and contains tips about making a living outside modern technology, won a 1972 National Book Award Tuesday in the contemporary affairs category.

One juror, author Gary Willis, quit last month, contending the catalog was an "edited work" and therefore did not qualify for an award. The two other jurors, Harrison Salisbury of The New York Times and Digby Diehl of the Los Angeles Times, insisted however that the catalog be included in the nominations for the 23rd annual awards.

The awards are the Oscars of the book industry and were announced by the National Book Committee.

The catalog originally was published in 100,000 copies by the nonprofit Portola Institute of Menlo Park, Calif. But it became a book publishing phenomenon when Random House took over distribution and pushed sales to 800,000.

The awards, which are supported by the book publishing industry, were increased from seven to 10 this year and each was accompanied by a $1,000 prize. They will be presented formally at Lincoln Center Thursday. The other awards were:

—Fiction: "The Complete Stories" by the late Flannery O'Connor (Farrar, Straus & Giroux), a collection of Miss O'Connor's short stories.

—Poetry: "Selected Poems" by Howard Moss (Alfred A. Knopf) and "The Collected Poems of Frank O'Hara" (Atheneum). O'Hara is deceased and Moss will receive the cash prize.

—Biography: "Eleanor and Franklin: The Story of Their Relationship Based on Eleanor Roosevelt's Private Papers" by Joseph P. Lash (W.W. Norton).

—History: "The War for the Union", volumes 7 and 8, by Allan Nevins (Charles Scribner's Sons), the final volumes of Nevins' landmark history.

—Science: "The Blue Whale" by George L. Small (Columbia University Press).

—Children's Books: "The Slightly Irregular Fire Engine or The Hithering Thithering Djinn", written and illustrated by Donald Barthelme (Farrar, Straus and Giroux).

—Arts and Letters: "The Classical Style", by Charles Rosen (Viking Press).

—Philosophy and Religion: "Righteous Empire: The Protestant Experience in America", by Martin E. Marty (Dial Press).

—Translation: "Chance and Necessity: An Essay on the Natural Philosophy of Modern Knopf".

—Biology: "Chance and Necessity: An Essay on the Natural Philosophy of Modern Knopf".

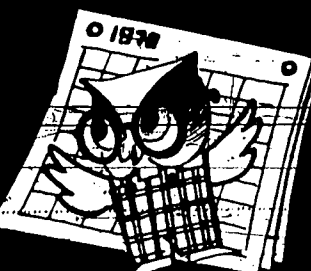

—Earmarked SAN JUAN (UPI)—The government of the U.S. Commonwealth of Puerto Rico has earmarked 33 per cent of its $1.4 billion budget for the 1972-1973 fiscal year to public education. The Department of Education was allocated $347 million and the University of Puerto Rico some $116.7 million.

Victim's letter published

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—A dramatic last letter written by slain Fiat automotive executive Oberdah Sallustro was made public Wednesday as police were reported to have uncovered a new terrorist kidnap plot.

The letter was disclosed by Dr. Aurelio Peccel, Italy-based president of the Argentine automotive complex, following a conference with President Alejandro Lanusse at the Casa Rosada.

In it Sallustro made it clear that he expected to die and that he was not afraid to die.

He said that "at last I shall know the route of Giorgio and of God." Giorgio was a son who died in a drowning accident at the age of five.

Police searching for the assassins of Sallustro and Army Gen. Juan Carlos Sanchez meanwhile were reported to have uncovered another kidnap plot.

The alleged plot was aimed at Alfredo Fortabat, one of Argentina's wealthiest industrialists, police sources said.

It was discovered, in writing, in a strong box in the house where Sallustro was executed by members of the "People's Revolutionary Army" (ERP) who kidnaped him last March 21, according to these sources.

Ruling given on air fares

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board ruled Wednesday airlines must offer joint fares in all markets, a move which could trim up to $40 million from the cost of air travel.

Under the present system, a passenger who uses two airlines to reach his destination often must pay the total cost of the two tickets, plus a $4 dollar "handling charge" for the so-called interline ticket.

Since airline fares generally are based on the distance travelled, the passenger would pay less if it were possible to make the trip on one long flight rather than two shorter flights.

Under the board rule, the airlines must now offer the passenger a flat joint fare in all markets.

Musk oxen arrive in China

HONG KONG (UPI)—President Nixon's gift to China, a pair of musk oxen, arrived in Peking Sunday, the New China News Agency (NCNA) reported Wednesday. The oxen are for the Peking Zoo.

Dr. Theodore Reed, director of the U.S. National Zoological Park in Washington, D.C., and Day Mount of the Office of Operations of the U.S. State Department, accompanied the oxen to the Chinese Capital. They met Monday with Wu Teh, acting chairman of the Peking Municipal Revolutionary Committee (PMRC), NCNA said.

The PMRC presented a pair of giant pandas to the American people in exchange for the musk oxen.

Reed, Mount and the American air crew were honored at a banquet given by Huang Tsochen, PMRC Secretary General, Monday evening, NCNA said.

College renamed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Poteau Junior College at Poteau, Okla., was renamed Carl Albert Junior College Wednesday in honor of the House Speaker.

Albert accepted the honor "with great humility" at a ceremony in his Capitol office where he received official papers from Dr. E. T. Dunlap, Oklahoma chancellor of higher education.

"I predict this is going to become one of the finest colleges in our state system," Dunlap said. The school presently has an enrollment of 700 students.

Censorship sought on hijackers

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Mervyn M. Martin, Rocky Mountain Region Federal Aviation Administration director, called today for a voluntary censorship by press and broadcast media in order to minimize bomb extortion threats against commercial airliners.

Martin, speaking after three recent hijack cases, said that many people "whether in government, industry or in the news media have unwittingly aided and abetted aerial piracy."

"Certainly the public, the user of our national and international air systems, has a right to know about the continuing wave of psychotic, neurotic and terrorist attempts to commandeer aircraft."

"Yet our obligations and those of the media to inform must be tempered by the long-standing ethical reporting standards of professionals and the exercise of prudent editorial judgment in carrying out public service duties."

Martin said "the publicity we have had about these recent hijack tries has led to other attempted hijackings."

"We don't need to blab all the truth."

The FAA spokesman asked the media not to include reporting of the techniques of air piracy and to play up that the hijackers are quote "mentally sick creatures out of touch with reality."

Martin said the media should also play down any articles "that tend to glorify the hijackers. Let's play up the convictions, the deaths to hijackers and extortionists and the penalties to all who dare threaten our air transportation system and the millions of people who use and operate it."

In recent days, a skyjacker commandeered a jetliner and bailed out over Provo, Utah, with a $500,000 ransom before he was arrested and hijack attempts were thwarted in San Diego, Calif., and Portland, Ore.

Martin singled out press reference to the Boeing 727 as the commercial airliner most likely to be used by hijackers because of a rear ramp access for a parachutist. He also said the television film "Doomsday Flight," by Rod Serling, "triggered at least three bomb threats in recent years, or more appropriately attempted extortions."

"We asked Music Corp. of America, the distribution outlet, and more than 200 TV stations, to withdraw the program in the fall of 1971. They did and we are very grateful to them and the TV industry."

"We in our aviation industry, government, airports, airlines... are determined to make absolutely certain, through better internal communications security that we do not inadvertently disclose information of techniques that trap these criminals."

Astronauts close gap in knowledge

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 16's astronauts are going to land on the rugged lunar highlands for the first time to fill gaps in the expanding scientific chronicle of the moon's tumultuous childhood. They also will survey the moon from orbit to help fit their surface findings into the overall lunar picture. In addition, the Apollo 16 explorers will use the moon as a stable base in space for the first time to study stars and distant galaxies. Three-fourths of the moon is covered by mountainous, light-colored highlands but they have yet to be explored by man. The first four Apollo landing crews went elsewhere on the moon and so will the Apollo 17 astronauts on the final flight in December. "This will be Apollo's only look at what most of the moon's surface is like, and as such I think it's going to be rather exciting," said Thomas K. Mattingly, who will remain in lunar orbit while John W. Young and Charles M. Duke explore the highlands. The Apollo 16 landing site is on a high, hummocky plateau north of the Crater Descartes. As seen from Earth, the area is in the lower right quadrant of the moon.

The landing area does not appear from photographs to represent the original lunar crust as do some inaccessible highland regions, but instead the Apollo 16 site seems to have been covered by two kinds of volcanic rock that spewed up from deep within the moon. These two volcanic rock units, called the Cayley formation and the Descartes formation, appear to account for 10 per cent of the surface material on the front side of the moon, and more on the more rugged far side. From previous Apollo missions, scientists have determined that the moon's dark, flat seas were formed by vast outpourings of iron-rich lava about 3 billion to 3.6 billion years ago. Other types of lighter, aluminum-rich rock have been found to be 4.0 to 4.1 billion years old and soil samples date back to the birth of the moon 4.5 billion years ago. Photographic evidence suggests that the volcanic material filling in old craters and valleys at the Apollo 16 landing site is older and of a different composition than the vast, arid seas, but younger than 4 billion years ago. By collecting samples of these highland volcanic rocks for laboratory analyses, Young and Duke should help scientists fill in the gap in what is known about lunar volcanism. The rocks also should tell something about the interior composition of the moon and tell more about the complicated volcanic processes on the moon. Astronauts have not yet found rocks on the moon older than 4.1 billion years and some scientists hope Young and Duke will find such ancient crustal specimens that may have been splattered over the landing area from distant highland regions by meteoroid impacts. In all, the Apollo 16 crewmen plan to bring back a record haul of 195 pounds of lunar samples, Young predicted they are "going to give us a real handle on the highlands." Apollo 16's surface experiments are similar to the geophysical instruments left on the moon by the Apollo 15, 14 and 12 astronauts and will for the first time create a broad seismic network reaching out in three directions. Such ultraviolet light is blocked from observatories on Earth by the atmosphere and orbiting satellites cannot see faint ultraviolet radiation because of the overpowering effects of an ultraviolet halo around the earth.

Valley Living

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know who is responsible for the care and entertainment of an elderly mother who lives alone and has no hobbies or interests.

There are five of us children, all married and living in the area. I feel that the responsibility should be shared equally among the two sons and three daughters. My brothers feel that a mother is the responsibility of her daughters. What would you suggest I do about this situation?

TROUBLED DAUGHTER

DEAR TROUBLED: Who is "responsible?" You all are. What should you do about the situation? Exactly what I presume you have been doing. Giving your mother all the time and attention you can, and reminding your brothers that she is also their mother, and they ought to be ashamed of themselves for neglecting her.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns saying grace at the table. My husband and I never had said grace, however we do thank the Lord for our food, along with all our other blessings in our prayers at night.

When we invite a certain couple over for supper, they always say grace out loud at our table. Correct me if I am wrong, but I think this is very impolite. If they feel like saying grace, they should say it to themselves because by this time they know we don't say it.

If you agree with me, Abby, what would you suggest I say to these people?

QUIET AT MEALTIME

DEAR QUIET: It would be impolite of you to discourage your guests from saying grace about at your table if that is their custom. If you wish to remain silent, that's your privilege.

DEAR ABBY: My boss (a woman) invited me to a bridal shower for a coworker. I brought a shower gift to the party, which was a small buffet supper. My boss gave the bride a very nice clock radio.

The next morning at work I found a note on my desk from my boss. It said I owed her $1.50 for my share of the clock radio and $1.75 for the food at the shower.

When I was invited, nothing was said about chipping in for the food or the clock radio. And since I brought my own shower gift I didn't see why I should be expected to chip in for another one.

Never in my life have I gone to a party where I was later asked to chip in for the refreshments. I am only 17, and this is a lot of money for a working girl. If you were me, would you pay it and keep your mouth shut, or refuse to pay it and risk getting on the bad side of the boss?

HAD IN HARTFORD

DEAR HAD: (And you were.) If you're telling it like it is, and I believe you are, refuse to pay it.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the waitress who wonders why people will sit at a table with dirty dishes when there are clean tables:

I am one of the offenders. Often a particular table is better lighted, roomier or has a better view than the others. Also it can be out of the traffic, or quieter. (Why did the previous diners sit there?)

If a person is just grabbing a quick bite, he can sit anywhere, but if one intends to enjoy a lingering meal, he should have his choice of tables. Dirty dishes or not.

I like playing IMP matches, said old man Z. We never played them back in the old auction days when I played all the dummys for Work, Whitehead, Foster and Lenz but the same plays seem to crop up.

The very first hand of the match found him in four spades after his old time partner, Y, raised him in preference to rebidding his own strong six-card minor suit.

A opened hearts and continued the suit. Z ruffed the second heart and remarked to his partner, "I could go after the rest of the tricks but we are playing IMPs and Mr. Work would not rest in peace it he thought I had forgotten the safety play he taught me for this kind of hand."

Then Z led his seven of spades.

Poor A, who was still defending against Z's contracts after 40 years, shrugged his shoulders and remarked, "Fixed again." He was right.

After this submarine play there was no way for the defense to set the contract. A cashed his club ace to hold Z to four and that was all.

If Z had played out his high trumps he would have been set B, sitting East, would simply ruff the third diamond with his master trump and dummy's last three diamonds would wither on the vine.

'Tablecloth' dress will be worn at TF communion

By MARY ANNE WHITE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Josephine Astorquia, Gooding, made her first communion nearly 50 years ago in a dress made out of the family tablecloth.

Sunday, Ann Marie Pratt, 8, will make her first communion at St. Edward's Catholic Church, wearing the same dress. She will be the 13th girl in the Astorquia family to do so.

The dress was made in 1923 by Timotea Astorquia for her daughter Josephine, and the dress was passed on to the other three daughters in the family. Eight other girls, including Ann Marie's mother, also have worn the dress for their first communion.

The dress has been shortened, lengthened, taken in and let out, but it is still as beautiful as it was when it was made 49 years ago.

Ann Marie's veil has also been used many times. It was made for Mary Joe Cahill, niece of Monsignor Joseph O'Toole, Twin Falls. The lace over the cap was tatted by Sister Hillarion of St. Alphonsus in Boise.

Ann Marie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pratt, live at 2021 Sherry Drive in Twin Falls.

Handed down

WEARING DRESS worn by her maternal grandmother nearly 50 years ago is Ann Marie Pratt, 8, Twin Falls. The dress, made from a tablecloth, will be worn by the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pratt when she makes her first communion Sunday.

Almo 4-H president elected

ALMO — Vickie Jones has been named president of the Almo-Hustler 4-H Club.

Other officers are Cordell Sheridan, vice president and Sara Jane Spencer, secretary-reporter. Leaders of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Ward.

Wayne Cole, Cassia County agent, has assisted club members in weighing and tagging their animals for 4-H beef projects. They are participating in a new 140-day test program in the county. The animals will be weighed again at the end of the test period and weight gain calculated.

Minidoka society will get charter

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Historical Society will receive its charter from the Idaho Historical Society at a meeting on April 28 at East Minico Junior High School.

Arthur Hart of the Idaho State Historical Society, Boise, will discuss "Idaho Yesterdays" as guest speaker. The presentation will deal with Idaho history in general and Minidoka County in particular, according to W. F.

(Bill) Whitton, publicity chairman for the Minidoka County Historical Society.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony.

The society, now beginning its third year, needs memberships for 1972, Whitton said. A family membership is $10, individual memberships may be obtained for $5 each, and a student membership is $1.

Altrusans honor TF students

TWIN FALLS — Altrusa Club of Twin Falls held its annual Founders' Day Dinner Tuesday evening at the Turf Club.

Ola Cannon, club president, welcomed members and guests. Virginia Bancroft was toastmistress for the evening and presented John Kinney, Twin Falls High School representative to Boys' Nation. He presented a cohesive picture of his experiences while attending Boys' Nation in Washington D. C., and placed great emphasis on young people entering into activities made available to them by Altrusa and other service organizations.

Altrusa Girls of the Month were honored. They presented a fashion show.

Helena Shaner, Altrusa Girls' State representative, and Vicki Herzinger, Altrusa scholarship recipient, presented poetry and commentary for each model and special month.

Models included: Ruth Lawrence, September; Jan Morris, October; Lynette Berry, November; Judy VanEngelen, December; Sharla Timm, January; Holly Langdon, February; Cindy Blei, March; Karen McClusky, April; Caryl Tickner, May.

The Girl of the Month award was initiated by Altrusa Club in 1958 and this continuing program has been an effective means of honoring deserving students in the Twin Falls area.

Other Altrusans assisting with the program were Adele Stoddard, Con Peterson, Margaret McCall and Tine Hill.

Richfield makes plans for library week events

RICHFIELD — Final plans for National Library Week April 16-22 have been formulated by the Richfield Library District board.

This year's observance will be centered around a local history theme. There will be displays at the library showing various aspects of the history of Richfield.

Glen Ross will have pictures posted of the early Richfield tract and of the construction of Magic Dam.

Leslie Busby will display part of his collection of early Indian arrowheads and artifacts.

There also will be a display of favorite books of several long-time residents of the community, some dating back before the turn of the century.

The book van recently purchased by the Regional Reference Center Library in Twin Falls will be in Richfield Tuesday from 2 to 5 p.m. The van will carry a display of talking books and machinings, large print books, Braille books, framed art prints and mini masters that are available at the local library through the regional reference center. It will be parked on main street near the library.

The public is invited to come and visit the van and see the library services available.

The board voted to have an "Amnesty Week" as part of the observance when no fines for overdue books will be charged.

Special work meet set in TF

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Barracks 509 and Auxiliary will hold a special work meeting at 1 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elenora Sept.

The social meeting will be at 1 p.m. April 28 at the home of Mrs. Stone.

The 17th anniversary birthday dinner and meeting was held Monday at the IOOF Temple with 35 in attendance.

New members are Mrs. Mary Bolton, Mrs. Ada Gergen, Hazelton, and Mrs. Mildred Wood.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Lydia Graybill and a prayer was given by chaplain Mrs. Wanda Elliot. The group will send $5 to the Idaho Youth Ranch as a memorial.

Studies decay

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—The New York State Department of Health has launched a large-scale public health program to test the cavities prevention qualities of a new clear plastic adhesive sealant which coats the pits and fissures of teeth, particularly molars. The study, supported by a contract from the National Institutes of Dental Research and conducted in Rochester, will continue for four years. The aim? To show that this treatment, combined with fluoridation, will prevent a very high percentage of cavities.

WEDDING IN A GARDEN

By Mary Sue Miller

At four o'clock, the last day of June, I am to be married in the garden of my family home. I am not certain of the kind of dress I should select for myself and my bridesmaids. Suggestions about flowers, and headbands or hats would be appreciated.

The Answer: Garden weddings are increasingly the bride's choice. To blend with the outdoor scene, bridal fashions have undergone typical changes.

Dresses are less formal in character, but nonetheless beguiling. So that the picture comes clear, these instances:

An empire silhouette of the finest tucked voile, ribboned with pale blue satin lace insertions, a matching "mantilla" (the materials of the dress draped into a brief veil), almost flat white tulle slippers, a small bouquet of baby's-breath, ageratum and lilies, trailing blue ribbons. For the bridesmaids, long blue voile shortwaist dresses, matching satin flat-bunched blouses, ageratum and tiny pink zinnias, curls of the same blooms in the hair.

Or a princess in linen with embroidered edging — all pristine white, a picture hat garlanded in bright yellow posies and pastel yellow streamers with a boue-quet that matches and adds splashes of white, white slippers, Maids in simple pale yellow organdies, antique gold flats and hair bows, mixed yellows in the bouquets.

For a stroll down a grassy aisle, exotic veils, trapezoids and flowers are difficult to transplant. Let the natural fresh beauty of a June garden be your wedding ideal.

19 MV students attend Y event

TWIN FALLS — Nineteen youths from the Magic Valley YMCA Hi-Y Club will attend the YMCA Youth and Government Program today through Saturday at Boise.

State officers attending from Magic Valley are Brian Katz, chief justice of the supreme court; Grant Salisbury, justice of the supreme court from the south central district; James deGlee, senate floor leader; John Kinney, assistant house floor leader, and Ralph Pond, defense co-council.

Others attending as representatives, reporters or delegates in training are Lee Ann Dorland, Jean Marshall, Rob Jensen, Jean Burkhardt, Diane Schrank, Vicki Rayborn, Virginia Baugh, Meg Haley, Kent Katz, Katrina Coier, Robin Carle, Erica Atkins, Mike Sass and Charlene Hansen.

Advisers accompanying the group are Chet Bartlett, Mrs. Ben Katz, Mrs. Earl Fulkner, Mrs. James Kinney, Carolyn Rhodes and Chuck Upton.

The program will include a get-acquainted social evening for the delegates from all over the state. The opening session of the supreme court and legislature will be at 9:30 a.m. Friday, followed by the introduction of four appeals in the supreme court and 55 pieces of legislation in the senate and house. The delegations will spend most of Friday in committee and caucus sessions.

On Friday evening after dinner the first of the appeals will be presented in the supreme court and the bills will be considered. The Saturday session will be devoted to debate on the various bills in the legislature and final arguments on the four appeals.

KH makes plans for Pomona

KING HILL — Plans for the Elmore County Pomona Grange were made at the King Hill Grange meeting Tuesday evening.

The King Hill Grange will be host for an evening meeting of the Pomona Grange April 25. Frank Jones installed Lynn Sherman as an executive committeeman. Mrs. Cecil Bolt assisted with the installation.

Mrs. Horace Lipe, women's activity chairman, reported on the cooperative oil dinner served by 12 members of the chapter. Mrs. Frank Jones said another contest is needed for the national Grange Sewing Contest.

After a discussion about painting the front of the hall, Master John Davis named T. M. Timbers, Horace Lipe and Arthur Greer to a committee for the project. A report was given about remodeling the King Hill Post Office, which is in the Grange building.

Visiting from Mariposa Grange, Mountain Home, were Mrs. Arthur Gilchrist, Mrs. Lloyd Swenson and Mrs. Steven Waters.

Plans were discussed for the 50th Anniversary celebration, June 17. A "thank you" was received for the family of Mrs. William Adams for a donation to the Idaho Youth Ranch. Her husband was state master for many years.

During the lecture hours, Mrs. Roy Marnoch showed slides of Scotland, England and Scandinavian countries. Mrs. Timbers, lecturer, asked members to write a paper for the next meeting. "What I remember about the year 1922"

Members were also asked to bring plants for exchange. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman served on the refreshment committee.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — No one should ever get an F in English, says the National Council of Teachers of English. The council's new grading policy stresses the student's personal and social growth, his learning exploration, his study habits, and states that a student's progress be measured through methods other than the assignment of a letter or numerical grade.

The Council's grading committee soon will offer recommendations on how the new grading policy can be implemented by the Council's membership.

Drug program held

FILER — Filer Kiwanis members heard a program on drug abuse and drug education at Tuesday's luncheon-meeting in the United Methodist Church.

Ron Bollinger, program chairman, introduced Mark Crowley, assistant pharmacy teacher at Idaho State University, who told Kiwanians of the program initiated in Pocatello schools which makes drug information available to students, not using "scare tactics or preaching" but just giving them clear-cut information.

Harold Cook, Twin Falls, was guest.

Hansen TOPS Club plans 'weigh-in'

HANSEN — Idaho TOPS Chapter No. 84 will hold a backward "weigh-in" at the next meeting Monday night.

The club's new leader, Mrs. Reed Lyons, challenged the club to a 100 per cent weight loss for the rest of the month at the last meeting held at the home of Dorothea Steelsmith.

Mrs. Paul Bowman was named best loser at the last meeting.

"Why did I join TOPS?" was answered by all members for opening exercises.

Those gaining weight were told to review any TOPS magazine and report on an article at the next meeting.

Mrs. Kimber Glenn, hostess and program chairman, outlined a diet plan prepared by a lady doctor which stressed losing slowly. She said eating less at the evening meal, more at breakfast, and trying not to eat for at least four hours before retiring for the night are all inducements to losing weight.

Mrs. Hazel Schutte's name was drawn to receive the prize. Wash-and-wear clothing, synthetic and durable press curtains, permanent press bed linens, plus paper napkins and paper towels and place mats have reduced the time spent at the ironing board.

June wedding rites planned

BURLEY — Chloe G. Bullers and Harold O. White are making plans to marry in June.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Chester Bullers Sr., Oakley, and the late Mrs. Bullers; formerly of Moulton. Miss Bullers attended school in Almo.

The bridegroom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. White, Burley.

Both are presently attending Idaho State University in Pocatello, where Miss Bullers will receive an English education degree this spring. White is majoring in business.

Blaine housing needs surveyed in depth

HAILEY — Study of housing needs for the elderly as well as low and moderate-income families is currently in progress in Blaine County.

The chairman of the Blaine County Housing Committee, J. C. (Jap) Hammond, Sun Valley, said the committee is investigating several programs designed to provide good housing for elderly persons and for families who cannot afford such housing because of inflation and other reasons.

Before presenting its recommendations to the Blaine County commission, the committee will attempt to determine both the degree of need and the preference for location and type of housing, Hammond said.

One program under consideration is low-rent public housing under the Department of Housing and Urban Development plan; the committee chairman said.

In order to take advantage of the HUD program, the county commissioners must pass a resolution concerning the need for low rent housing and then must appoint a five-member county housing authority board of commissioners. The housing authority, in turn, could apply for federal financial assistance to pay for construction.

Responsibility for housing management as well as determination of rental fees — based upon each tenant's income — would be left to the housing authority.

Hammond said if the HUD program is accepted in Blaine County, the housing could be built either of two ways. In the first, the housing authority buys the land, hires an architect and contracts for construction.

Under the second plan, referred to as the "Turnkey Method" — private developers make proposals for the land they control. The housing authority then selects one or more proposals and purchases the housing at a negotiated price when it is completed.

Hammond said his committee is seeking information on housing needs for low and moderate income families and the elderly within the county. Information should be sent to J. C. Hammond, chairman, Blaine County Housing Committee, P. O. Box 72, Sun Valley, Idaho, 83353.

Store scorched

AN EARLY MORNING FIRE today damaged Bob's Sawtooth Market in Jerome, burning out the roof and part of the interior. The fire was reported shortly after midnight when smoke was seen pouring out of the roof. Jerome firemen battled the blaze for more than an hour in freezing weather. A large quantity of food in cold-storage lockers was believed to be unharmed, though customers had to take their food elsewhere as electrical power was cut off by the fire. The building was partly covered by insurance. No estimate of damage was available today.

Work nears completion

WENDELL — Officials of the Magic Valley Manor said today that the new 20-patient nursing-care wing will be completed about June 1.

Construction began March 16, according to the administrator, Mrs. Pauline Degler.

Wendell mulls repairs

WENDELL — At the Wednesday morning meeting of the Wendell Chamber of Commerce, Mark Koll, president, told members the large neon Hub City Sign in the city center is badly in need of repairs.

Lloyd Little was appointed chairman of a committee to contact sign repairmen to give estimates on repair and maintenance of this sign.

In other discussion, members agreed that all service organizations should be contacted and given the chance to help to buy a new sign to replace the old one.

Ralph Lucke was appointed to contact the state department of highways and discuss the possibility of a new site for a Wendell sign southeast of Wendell, and for the re-establishment of a sign that was removed northwest of the city to make way for the new Interstate 80.

Chamber members welcomed Max Seed and Frank Haine as new businessmen to the community. Seed recently opened a welding and machine shop. Raine operates a furniture store.

School Supt. Lawrence LaRue gave a progress report of the citizens' committee that is helping plan for the new junior high and physical education facility. He said the group will meet April 24 at 8 p.m. in the high school library to set a date for a bond election which is tentatively scheduled late in May.

Chamber members agreed to sponsor an Achievement Day for all 4-H and FFA members in the community in late July, just before the Gooding County Fair.

Rotarians hear Alaskan views

SHOSHONE — Wallace Fixsen, Shoshone, who has spent several years in Alaska while working for the Bureau of Land Management, discussed his experiences for the Shoshone Rotary Club Wednesday noon.

The wing is intended to provide ground-floor quarters for patients who are now housed on the top two floors of the three-story building. The estimated cost is $70,000.

Mrs. Degler said the new wing and the old structure on the ground floor are being renovated to meet federal and state fire-safety guidelines. All the rooms will be protected by individual sprinkling systems, as well as fire and smoke detection devices. In addition there will be two-way call signals in each room.

The new addition, located at the north edge of the manor's buildings, when complete will have one private room and 10 two-bed wards. The new rooms, along with the newly renovated first-floor rooms in the existing structure, will provide a total of 40 beds.

Hot pants, indeed!

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — A pair of pantyhose knocked out electrical power here for 40 minutes Tuesday.

Troubleshooters said they were puzzled about the outage until they found "a pair of very wet pantyhose" wrapped around a 44,000-volt line.

The hose had been used as a tail for a kite, they said.

Gooding board honors realtor

GOODING — Leon Stockton, Jerome, was named Realtor of the Year for the North Side Board of Realtors Wednesday night at the Lincoln Inn.

A long-time resident of Jerome, Stockton first went into the real estate business in 1975, as a salesman for Heiss Investment Service. The past six years he has operated his own business in Jerome. He has held various offices in the North Side Realtor Association.

A plaque was presented to Stockton by committee chairman, Harrell A. Thorne, Shoshone, the 1971 Realtor of the Year.

Tax exemption deadline noted

HAILEY — Applications for widow and senior citizen property tax exemptions must be filed with the Blaine County assessor by May 15.

According to the assessor, Del Nicholson, to be eligible for the widow exemption, income must be less than $4,800 and total property value must be under $15,000.

The $15,000 figure includes

According to Mrs. Degler, the institution plans to begin a new program instituted at the state level called "shelter care." This involves those who can take care of their own personal needs. The staff of the Magic Valley Manor will provide maid service, room and board.

Mrs. Degler said the board of directors will offer 35 "shelter care" accommodations. Both single and double units will be available. The guests will be allowed to bring cherished objects such as a favorite chair, paintings and clocks.

Demo caucus slated

BURLEY — The first step for politically active Idahoans interested in selecting a Democratic presidential nominee is scheduled next Monday.

The Democratic district caucus for legislative district 26, now including the Emerson and Heyburn districts, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday in the Idaho Bank and Trust conference room in Burley, according to Tom Church, Democratic chairman for the district.

The major portion of Minidoka County, now in District 21 under the new district alignment, will be included in the district meeting, scheduled for Shoshone at the same time, according to Ronda Hunt, chairman in district 21.

Any voter eligible to vote for the President this November may attend his district caucus, signing a statement that he is planning to vote the Democratic ticket.

Delegates will be chosen to attend the state delegate selection caucus, scheduled for June 26 in Sun Valley. At the state conference, the delegates will be named to attend the Democratic national convention in July at Miami Beach, Fla.

Lierman to seek Gooding position

GOODING — Lloyd Lierman has filed a petition for the Gooding School District trustee election May 2, to oppose Rodney Glauner in trustee district 4.

Glauner is running for re-election. Also filing a petition for re-election was Arden Stutzman of trustee district 3, according to School District Clerk Frances Glenn. As yet, Stutzman is unopposed.

Deadline for filing election petitions is 5 p.m. today.

Hazard reported

SHOSHONE — In the test of contamination of Little Wood River in the vicinity of Shoshone this week, the count is 2-6 times in excess of the allowable limit for swimming.

Mayor Ellwood R. Werry said, Wednesday evening that the tests had been taken by the South Idaho Health Department at the city's request.

The mayor expressed concern over future swimming in the river by Shoshone youths, and said that another test will likely be taken nearer the swimming season time.

Shoshone does not have a municipal swimming pool and many people swim in the Little Wood River which runs through the city center. Concern over contamination of the stream was highlighted recently by finding a number of dead animals in the stream.

Filer resident hurt in collision

TWIN FALLS — A Filer woman was listed in fair condition with head injuries today, as the result of a two-car crash east of Buhl Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Olive Marie Drury, 72, was injured at about 1:15 p.m. Wednesday when her vehicle collided with one operated by Alan Dale Flinn, 19, Filer, six miles east of Buhl on U. S. Highway 30 at an intersection with a county road.

Idaho Patrolman Duane Owen said Mrs. Drury pulled onto the highway from a county road. She was traveling south and turning east on the highway. She pulled into the path of the Flinn vehicle and was thrown from her vehicle by the impact, suffering skull fractures and a fractured arm.

In the Flinn vehicle were five girls en route to Buhl to take part in a track meet. Three

Zone panel to meet in Burley

BURLEY — The Cassia County Zoning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday to organize and select a chairman.

A number of nominees for the committee have been selected. They will be contacted by the county commissioners to determine their willingness to serve before Tuesday's meeting.

The committee will include 12 members and four alternates.

County Commissioner J. Weidon Beck, discussing a recent meeting on county zoning, said a county zoning commission would work in much the same manner as a city group, reviewing requests for zoning variances and recommending action to the commission.

The new zoning commission would have no responsibilities in the city of Burley, which has its own planning and zoning commission, Beck said.

residential rate of $1.80 per month on Wednesday.

Teal won the bid to provide the service for the city, at an earlier bid opening and was instructed to draw up the contract setting up details of the service. His first pickup date will be April 20, Teal said.

Council members reminded Teal that his crews must clean up the area around trash cans, and put lids back on cans. Teal will not be responsible for picking up heavy debris such as tree limbs, construction rubble and dead animals.

The council will consider revising the ordinance to forbid burning of trash within the city, but took no formal action Wednesday night. Under the previous trash-hauling contract, residents could burn some trash with a permit from the city, since the hauler did not have sufficient equipment to remove all trash.

Under Teal's contract, however, according to Mayor Harold Hurst, the city may forbid all burning, since Teal has the necessary removal equipment.

Commercial customers will pay $10 per month for twice-weekly pickup of a one-cubic-yard container, $15 for a two-yard trash holder and $20 per month for the three-yard container, Teal said. The Heyburn School trash will be picked up five days each week for $44 per month, though the amount could be adjusted by negotiation if the school would accept pickups less often.

The council also inspected a subdivision plat presented by Mrs. Marilyn Moor on behalf of her husband, Durrell Moon, Heyburn, a professional engineer, he is developing the Imperial Estates Subdivision.

Swimming pool drive planned in Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce voted today to support a community effort to construct a municipal swimming pool, at their meeting this week.

Robert Miller discussed financing techniques, centering around a drive under way in Filer. Miller said matching funds are available through the Idaho Parks and Recreation Department, if funding can be arranged locally to indicate local support.

The chamber will sponsor a public meeting in the near future to explain the program, Wilson Churchman, a member of the Shoshone City Council, said the city has about $6,000 in a special swimming pool fund, raised from donations, which can be used for the program.

Chamber President Roy Hubert appointed a committee, including Robert Mitter, chairman, Francis Bergin, Myron Johnson, Churchman, Ray Walker, Clarence Magoffin, and Mrs. Clarence Magoffin to map plans for promoting industrial development within the city. Hubert also appointed himself to the committee.

AN ELDERLY Filer resident was seriously injured in a two-car collision Wednesday on U. S. Highway 30 east of Buhl. Police said she pulled out in front of another car, whose occupants sustained minor injuries.

Cassia Red Cross group names aide

BURLEY — Ormand F. Burch, Burley, has been appointed treasurer for the Cassia County Red Cross Chapter, announced William McGill, chapter chairman.

Officers of the chapter held their monthly breakfast meeting Tuesday at Bryan's Cafe, with McGill, chairman, conducting the business session. It was announced that May 8 has been set as World Red Cross Day.

The annual National Red Cross convention will be held May 1-3 at San Francisco, Calif. Following a discussion the officers voted to have McGill attend the convention.

In other business a discussion was held on the awards meeting for the volunteer workers and officers, also an annual event.

Mrs. Jean King, in charge of service to military families, said 12 requests had been received during the past month for aid to military families.

Jesse V. Haws, Pocatello,

Red Cross Field representative, announced a nursing training course is being planned for June in Cassia County. The date and place will be announced by Mrs. Millie Nielsen, county health nurse.

Mrs. Faye Stoddard, fund drive chairman, was granted permission by the board to check on signs and order posters.

McGill requested that all committee chairmen turn in an estimate of expenses for their division so a budget can be prepared.

Church asks Gem control of hunting in Sawtooth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, urged Wednesday Idaho retain control over hunting and fishing in the proposed Sawtooth Recreation Area.

Church appeared before the Senate Interior Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation to urge amendments to the House-approved bill to create a Sawtooth-White Cloud National Recreation Area.

Church noted the House legislation would vest hunting and fishing control in the hand of the federal government, a move he said would be "contrary to the wishes of the people of Idaho."

"Hunting and fishing have been and continue to be one of the main forms of recreation in this and other areas of Idaho and there appears to be no legitimate reason to diminish the authority of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission over these pursuits," Church said.

Earlier, in a written testimony, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus called for creation of a Sawtooth Valley National Recreation Area to include only the low-land valley areas in the Upper Salmon River Basin and creation of a high altitude national park in the Sawtooth, White Cloud, Boulder and Pioneer mountains.

Andrus' testimony urged inclusion of the Pioneer range in the legislation.

Andrus also called for total mineral withdrawal in and around the high peaks as a necessary move "if we are to maintain the valued beauty of the mountains."

Church also offered amendments which would:

—Assure the Sawtooth peaks are made part of the National Recreation Area. He said the House bill excludes the summits, leaving them as a separate wilderness area, and warned that approach would make the summits open to new mining entries, for at least another decade.

—Provide for permanent withdrawal of all land within the recreation area from new mineral entry rather than the House-approved five-year moratorium.

—And remove language in the House version which he said could be interpreted as giving miners a "guarantee to claim additional land."

U.S. purchase asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has asked for $4 million to allow federal purchase of private holdings offered for sale in Hells Canyon.

Church, appearing before a house appropriations subcommittee today, reiterated the appeal for the money made earlier by himself, Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., and Govs. Tom McCall of Oregon and Cecil D. Andrus of Idaho.

Church said the $4 million could be made available to the U.S. Forest Service from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund. He said the expenditure would not involve any additional cost to the taxpayers.

Reserves help at Youth Ranch

RUPERT — A detachment of the 1016th Field Service Company, U. S. Army Reserve, Pocatello, performed several tasks at the Idaho Youth Ranch.

The unit, commanded by Capt. Rex Woodall, changed several fences, built new fence, removed a flagpole, cleaned up hay burned in a fire last fall, repaired clothing of ranch residents, and framed a porch at one of the ranch homes.

Members of the unit also entertained the ranch staff and boys at a barbecue at Lake Walcott.

Duane Peterson, superintendent, said it was "a great experience" for the boys to work with the Army reservists.

Psoriasis breakthrough

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — University of Michigan scientists today announced a breakthrough in treating psoriasis, the skin disease which causes misery for about 6 million Americans.

Researchers reported at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that they have established that persons who have psoriasis have deficient amounts of an important growth-regulating substance in the epidermis of their skin lesions.

That substance is called cyclic amp and the researchers expect to begin testing several medications which have potential for raising cyclic amp levels in the epidermis.

A person suffers from psoriasis when epidermal cells grow too fast, fail to develop properly and fall off in large white scales. Whereas a normal epidermal cell reproduces itself every 19 days, in psoriasis sufferers the epidermal cells reproduce in about 1-1.2 days.

Psoriasis is a lifetime affliction appearing at any age to produce uncomfortable, fissured, disfiguring skin patches which disappear only to reappear elsewhere. There is no cure and present treatments are now only temporarily effective.

The Michigan psoriasis research is believed to be the first potential therapeutic application of cyclic amp since its role as a "second messenger" of hormone action within the cell was discovered in 1957, researchers said.

Dr. John J. Voorhees, medical head of the project, said his researchers have not yet conclusively proved that decreased cyclic amp causes the rapid cell growth of psoriatic epidermis, but after more than two years of work feels they are close to verifying the concept and to finding an effective treatment.

Javits against banning films

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Wednesday described as a "know-nothing proposition" a Senate Foreign Relations Committee move to bar the showing of U.S. Information Agency films in the United States.

Javits said he cast the lone dissenting vote Tuesday when the committee approved an amendment to the present USA law to bar domestic public showings of the films. "I can't see the logic of it," Javits said.

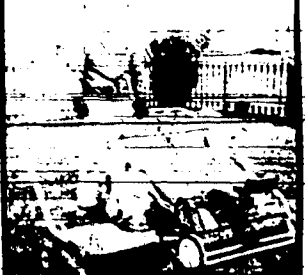

The committee's action was designed to prevent a recurrence of an incident in which

Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., showed an award-winning USIA film documentary "on Czechoslovakia on his monthly television program, broadcast over several New York stations.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, would declare that any USIA

Thomas elected T.F. contest head

TWIN FALLS — Eugene Thomas, 1970 Idaho Grassman of the Year, has been named chairman of the 1972 Twin Falls-County Grassman of the Year contest.

Vice chairman is Dick Stafford, former Twin Falls County Grassman of the Year, and County Agent Don Youtz has been re-elected secretary.

Youtz said the 1972 contest is being planned by Hugh Hough, state chairman, and representatives of the Soil Conservation District, government agencies, bankers and businessmen who support the project.

NEW OFFICERS for Cassia County Grassman of the Year program were elected Tuesday at Burley. From left are J. Wayne Cole, secretary; Reed Bowen, vice chairman, and Grief Jensen, chairman. Jensen asked that nominees for honor be submitted by June 1. Date for tour of candidates' lands will be set later. Meeting with committee was Hugh Hough, Boise, state grassman chairman.

Snow blanket under '71 level

FAIRFIELD — There is much less snow in the area north of the Snake River than a year ago according to a survey taken April 1.

Reuben Bradshaw of the Soil Conservation Service said some areas still are above average for the 15 year period.

Galena Summit had 85.1 inches of snow with a water content of 31.6 in comparison to 105 inches of snow with a water content of 35.4 at this time last year. The average for this course is 77 inches with a water content of 23.9. This year's pack is 132 per cent of normal.

The Galena store course has 60 inches of snow with 23.4 inches of water compared to 84.0 and 28.0 last April 1. Average is 62.0 and 19.3. This course is 121 per cent of average.

Mt. Baldy has 70.7 and 23.8 compared to 85.0 and 27.8 last year and a longtime average of 66.0 and 20.7. The present pack is 115 per cent of average. The only other area with over 100 per cent of average is Dollarhide with 91.4 inches of snow with a water content of 35.2, which is 103 per cent of the average of 89.0 inches and 34.0.

Graham Ranch has 34.3 and 12.5 compared to 58.0 and 17.4. Swede Peak has 45.1 and 16.0 compared to the last year's 79.0 and 28.0. Garfield has 14.4 and 5.2 compared to 50.0 and 17.2.

The snow is gone at Muldoon and Teller ranch. Last year there were 37.0 inches at Muldoon and 40.0 inches of snow at the Teller ranch. The average is 25.0 and 24.0 at these two courses.

There is 18.3 and 5.1 at Iron Mine compared to 50.0 inches and 16.1 last year. The Mascot Mine course has 36.4 compared to 54.0 last year. Redfish Lake has 34.7 and 12.9 compared to 51.0 and 16.2 last year with the average being 34 inches of snow.

Couch Summit in the Fairfield area has 45.1 inches of snow with a water content of 17.2 compared to 82.0 and 30.3 inches of water last year. The longtime average is 56.0 inches of snow with a water content of 17.9. This course is 96 per cent of average.

Soldier course near the ski lift has 14.7 inches of snow with a water content of 0.8 compared to 44 inches of snow and 17.9 inches of water last year. The longtime average is 27 inches and 9.2. This course is 74 per cent of average for April 1.

Phosphorus needed in cattle rations

JEROME — Jerome County Agent Bill Priest said Wednesday in the intermountain area phosphorus is one of the most needed elements in cattle feeds.

The lack of adequate phosphorus causes milk fever, partial sterility, and inability to produce red blood cells, he said. Any of these conditions limits the income secured from dairy and beef cattle.

Dairy and beef cattle utilize phosphorus and calcium in the ratio of two parts calcium to one part phosphorus. In this area where there is a high lime content in the soil, feeds have a great deal more calcium than this two to one ratio and the animal is only able to use calcium in ratio to the amount of phosphorus it receives, Priest said.

Alfalfa hay contains calcium to phosphorus in the ratio of 7 or 8 parts calcium to 1 of phosphorus. Pasture grasses

A&B canals due water

RUPERT — There'll be water at the canals of the A and B Irrigation Co. in a week.

The district plans to fill its canals Monday with ditchriders on their regular routes for water orders. Water requests may also be made by calling the district office at 436-3152.

Water in the Minidoka Irrigation District is already flowing, turned in on Monday, he district said. Patrons have been reminded they must pay all maintenance and operating charges before their water can be turned in.

Surprise! Baseball may open on Friday

NEW YORK (UPI) — The baseball owners and players are separated by 800 miles today but they're very, very close to settling the players' strike.

The owners were scheduled to meet in Chicago at 10 a.m. EST while the player representatives were meeting in New York in an attempt to reach an agreement that will end the strike and permit the season to open this weekend.

The two sides are so close they declined to specify exactly how far apart they are. Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, said, "the gap has been narrowed considerably and we are more optimistic today (Wednesday) than we have been in the past several weeks."

John Gaherin, the counsel for the owners, said before leaving New York for the Chicago meeting that, "considerable progress has been made in the last 36 hours."

But even though the two sides are close, they failed to reach an agreement before the meeting ended at 9:20 p.m. Wednesday. Both sides said reports of a settlement late Wednesday afternoon "were completely false."

Miller said the major issue still "deals with rescheduled games and the compensation for making up those losses." Miller, who will not attend the meeting in Chicago, had said Tuesday night the players agreed "to be docked a maximum of one day's pay if the entire 162 game schedule is made up. He didn't indicate whether the players made any further concession Wednesday.

Both sides agree the players will be paid for games made up on open days or as part of split doubleheaders. But the owners don't want to pay the players for games made up as part of regular doubleheaders.

The owners also have to come to an agreement among themselves whether or not to play a 162 game schedule. The National League, which draws the American League, wants to play the full schedule while the junior league seems to favor picking up the schedule at this point. The players agree they will be docked for all missed games if the schedule is simply picked up.

There were two meetings Wednesday between Miller and Gaherin and the first one was attended by 14 of the 24 player representatives.

In the last 36 hours of almost constant negotiations, we have tried to make progress and, in fact, have made considerable progress but not enough," Gaherin said.

Miller said, "we are working very diligently on a joint program for a solution. Our players committee is staying in New York and meeting Thursday, the same time the owners are meeting in Chicago, in hopes that a settlement can be achieved."

If the strike is ended, it might be possible to start the season Friday but it's more likely the opening would be Saturday. As long as the season opens by Saturday, baseball will receive a $200,000 payment from NBC for the game-of-the-week telecast.

The issue that started the strike the funding of the pension plan — has already been settled. Both sides have agreed to a boost of $500,000 that will come from the surplus in the pension fund. The surplus was created because the fund is earning almost twice as much interest as was originally expected.

Tom Haller of the Detroit Tigers, one of the player representatives at the meeting, said, "I think the strike will end today at least I hope so."

Warner melts munny frontside with 26

The best way to qualify for a high school golf team is to shoot a course record. So, that's exactly what Twin Falls senior Dave Warner did Wednesday afternoon during a round that qualified the five school representatives in Friday's eastern division, SIC, meet in Minico.

Warner shot a front-nine record of 26 which measures out to eight under par — but he "skied" to an even par 34 on the backside. His 60 total is believed the third best shot over the Twin Falls Municipal course, the best being a 10-under-58 by then course professional Dave Kinnen and the second best a 59 by amateur Lynn Hansen when qualifying for the Magic Valley amateur about 1959. The records were shot on nearly perfect weather days — something Warner didn't have with wind and cold.

Warner's front side was pretty much hum drum — if you consider a succession of birdies can become monotonous. He birdied the first two holes, then had to settle for a par on the third hole before sailing home with six straight birdies. Two of the holes are three pars.

His 26 is believed three strokes better than anything ever shot on the front-side. Course professional Clyde Thomsen says to the best of his memory 29, fired by several persons, was tops on the front and 28 is believed the record of the back.

On the backside, Warner was two strokes under par — right on the course record pace — through five holes. But he took bogey fives on the 15th and 16th holes and finished up with two pars.

His card looked like this:

424 232 333-26
334 335 535-34

Playing with Warner were Tom Simmons, Mark Mueller and Lance Undhjem.

But like the baseball-hitter wanting to chop his home runs into singles, Warner can be forgiven for perhaps wanting a few of the strokes he saved Wednesday put aside in a stroke bank for future withdrawal. The trouble with playing on a team, each golfer must qualify each week. Starting next week Warner goes out even with all the Bruins — except, of course, with the certain knowledge that he's played the front side better than anyone ever has. Oh yeah, he made the team for this week.

T.F. sets two-man best ball tourney

A two-day spring best ball tournament, offering $3,000 in merchandise prizes, will be held April 22-23 at the Twin Falls Municipal golf course with an eye toward making it a complement to the annual Magic Valley amateur tournament.

Host professional Clyde Thomsen reports 40 two-man teams have entered so far and the field will be closed at 100 teams.

We think this could be a fun tournament, kind of a lift off for the tournament season around Magic Valley and Southern Idaho," Thomsen said.

"The committee hopes to make it an annual affair and if the thing becomes popular enough, we'll have to put it on an invitational basis. Those playing in the first one or two will be the nucleus for the invitation list."

Thomsen said the $3,000 prize list will be contingent on a full field, but added all entry money will be returned to the field in prizes. In addition, the tournament offers a $50 lap day prize in all flights for the second day, giving those teams shooting themselves out of title contention on the first day a second chance for prizes.

The field will be lighted by handicap with the low handicap of each twosome being the determining factor.

So far the tournament committee has received entries from throughout Southern Idaho and farther Utah and Nevada.

Raft River girls cop league crown; Murtaugh boys win

MURTAUGH — The Raft River girls, one of the top teams in last year's state, unleashed Miss Cooper for three first Wednesday to win the girls track championship of the Magic Valley Conference.

Raft River scored 80½ points, followed by Castleford at 76,

Hansen 37½, Hagerman 22, Murtaugh 16 and Declo 2.

The Murtaugh boys, behind the scoring of double winner John Flynn and points in four events from Herd, won a four-way boys division held in conjunction with the league test. Murtaugh had 80½ points, followed by Hansen at 77p, Castleford 62 and Shoshone, which didn't arrive in time to compete in field events, 43.

Miss Cooper won the three dashes as Raft River's girls shook off Castleford's big point drive in the field events by winning just about everything on the track.

The girls now advance to the sub-district competition Thursday afternoon at Murtaugh with the survivors gaining a running lane in district. Murtaugh boys will again host a regular season meet.

Burley wins in 3-way meet

BURLEY — The Burley Bobcats dominated the sprints, took three of five firsts in the field events and Willy Heward blunted Jerome's distance power Tuesday as the Bobcats took a triangular track victory.

Burley scored 72 points, followed by Jerome at 68½ and Bonneville at 30½.

Larry Bell took both sprints and anchored the winning 440-yard relay team on the track and placed second in the broadjump to spearhead Burley's scoring. The Bobcats again got points from sophomore Harper in the low hurdles and the furlong and went one-two in the high jump, broadjump and discus. Heward scored a third in the mile and then reversed his showing in last week's Jerome invitational by winning the mile.

Jerome went without Toby Walgamott in the shotput but freshman Norm Cochran, coming off the injured list, stepped in to win the blue ribbon.

Uniform slate key to strike

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Allan "Bud" Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers, said Wednesday if both major leagues worked together for a uniform schedule for the rest of this season there was a good possibility the baseball strike could end Thursday.

Selig, whose Brewers have already missed six games — three at home, said he believed the scheduling problem was the biggest problem facing the owners when they meet in Chicago Thursday.

Hank Powers meet slated for Friday

The Twin Falls Bruins will have their eyes on revenge and tradition Friday afternoon when they host five Magic Valley teams in the annual Hank Powers Invitational track meet. Competition will begin with field events at 3:30 p.m. at Bruin Stadium.

The Bruin's idea for revenge comes in the form of Jerome which ended their 25-meet win streak — the first loss ever for Twin Falls seniors — last week in the J-Club invitational. The traditional thing is the Bruins almost always win the Hank Powers Invitational.

Competing in the event will be Jerome, Buhl, Filer, Wood River, Minico and Twin Falls and several good matchups are expected.

In the field events, four of the top five or six shotputters will be competing with Jerome sending Toby Walgamott and frosh Norm Cochran against Twin Falls' Mike Murray and Buhl's Randy Watson. All have put the shot over 50 feet. Minico has two outstanding discus men in Kelly Feil and Bair with Twin Falls' Wilcox joining the 130-foot plus class in practice this week.

The sprints should be interesting with Minico's Young, a junior, facing Twin Falls' triumvirate of sprinters in Brent Thompson, Bill Woodson and Gary Scott. The quartermile will feature the continuing battle of Allen Gibbs, currently undefeated, against teammate Bruce Cooper. That duel last week was down to a matter of inches. Randy Summers of Filer also could get into that affair.

The halfmile usually is reserved for Twin Falls' Gary Sievers but Wood River's Litzinger might get in on the race. The upper distances appear the best chance for the Wolverines to reap a lot of points. Their ace is Rick Ward who is a mile and two-mile favorite. He'll be facing Van Hooper of Jerome and Darrell Groves of Twin Falls in the shorter event. Jerome and perhaps Jim Kennedy of Twin Falls appear the best chances of keeping Ward, Brothwell and Swigert from perhaps a two-mile sweep.

Twin Falls rates as the team to watch in the relays, being favored in all for this event.

The hurdles look like a Minico strength point with Toby Harding leading the way. Jerome should score well in the timbers, particularly with Twin Falls' Rick Spriggs again on the sidelines.

While that is going on, Glenns Ferry will be hosting five teams in another invitational. Participating will be Wendell, Gooding, Hagerman, Shoshone, Richfield and the Pilots. Wendell looms as the favorite with juniors Kip Dennis and Alan Stevenson looking like five first places between them.

Lake Mead, Ariz., is the largest man-made lake in the United States.

Bull swaps cleats for racing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Ronnie Bull, the Philadelphia Eagle's leading ground gainer last season, announced Wednesday his retirement from football to become president of RSA Corp., a horse racing concern.

The 31-year-old running back broke into professional football as a number one draft choice with the Chicago Bears in 1962 and was named Rookie of the year.

In 1963, he was with the Bears when they played in the National Football League Championship. He continued to play with Chicago until he was traded to the Eagles in 1970.

RSA Corp. purchases, breeds, trains, sells and races quarter horses and has plans for developing recreational land and constructing and selling condominiums.

When asked if he will miss football, the former All American from Baylor University said, "sure, but that's one of the things about quarter horse racing that excites me. It will keep me close to sports."

Gus sent to Suns by Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore Bullets said Wednesday they traded veteran forward Gus Johnson to the Phoenix Suns for a second round choice in Monday's NBA draft.

At the time, the Bullets said only that they received the draft choice for "future considerations."

Bullets Coach Gene Shue said Johnson's knee injuries, which hobbled him all season, figured in the trade. Johnson had operations on both knees prior to the season.

We felt that under the circumstances we owed it to Gus to give him a chance to play in a place where the climate could be a factor in helping him to prolong his career," Shue said.

Johnson, a 6-foot-6, 235-pounder, has been with the Bullets since their inception in 1963 and was the only remaining original player.

Last season Johnson played only 39 games for 249 points and an average of 6.4 points a game.

"I feel like a free man," Johnson said following the announcement. "I want to jump up and shout. I've had seven beautiful years here in Baltimore, but the last two were pure hell because of my leg injuries."

"I just feel kind of mixed up. No guy wants to be traded and I've made a lot of friends here. I consider myself a removable object, but I'll be back — God willing. I know Gus is willing." Johnson played in 561 games and scored 9,781 points for a 17.4 point average over the nine years. He averaged 12.7 rebounds during his career for a total of 7,133.

He played in five all-star games and was picked to the second team all-pro team four times.

McMillian's 42 points let Lakers edge Bucks

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Jim McMillian poured in a career high 42 points including a pair of crucial free throws with 1:01 left as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Milwaukee Bucks 135-134 Wednesday night to even their NBA playoff series at one win each.

McMillian's free throws put the Lakers ahead to stay at 131-130. Jerry West and Happy Hairston each scored a basket for Los Angeles in the final minute while Kareem Jabbar, who finished with 40 points, had a pair of field goals for the Bucks' final points.

The best-of-seven Western Conference final series now moves to Milwaukee for the third game Friday night. The teams meet Sunday, again at Milwaukee, and return here next Tuesday night.

Beaten 93-72 in the first playoff game Sunday, the Lakers were a different team in the second contest as McMillian fired in 25 of his points in the second half, 17 of them in the third period. The 6-foot-5 second-year forward from Columbia previously had a high of 41 points against Boston this season.

West, despite missing nine straight shots from the floor in the second half, came through with 28 points and Gail Goodrich tallied 25. Hairston added 17 points.

For Milwaukee, Lucius Allen helped Jabbar out with a 23-point performance while Curtis Perry had 18.

With Milwaukee in front, 130-129, McMillian was fouled by Jon McGlocklin while shooting a jump shot. He made both of his free throws and West connected on a 22-footer with 27 seconds to go to make the score 133-130.

Jabbar brought Milwaukee within one point again with a 40-foot jumper with 22 seconds left but Hairston hit on a lay-up with six seconds remaining to put the Lakers on top 135-132. Then Jabbar canned a jump shot with two seconds left.

McMillian, who had only six points and was three for 20 from the field Sunday, finished with 16 of 25 from the floor in his 42-point effort.

The Lakers, who shot only 27 per cent in the first game, were 49 per cent this time and won despite a 61 per cent effort by the Bucks from the floor.

Wilt Chamberlain outbounded Jabbar 17-7 and the Lakers enjoyed a 50-42 edge in that department.

The Lakers enjoyed a 77-66 halftime advantage and were in front 106-96 after three periods. The Bucks finally caught them at 117-117 with 5:23 remaining.

Milwaukee (134) Los Angeles (135)

Jerry West canned a 22-footer from behind a Wilt Chamberlain pick with 27 seconds left and that made the score 139-130 for the Lakers.

After a Jabbar jump shot five seconds later cut the Laker margin to one, Happy Hairston drove the baseline for a layup with six seconds remaining to put Los Angeles in front 135-132. Jabbar had another jumper with two seconds to go.

West did not have his shooting eye back from his team's 27 per cent effort Sunday but still finished with 28 points. He was 10 for 30 from the field, missing nine straight shots in the second half.

Gail Goodrich, the other half of the Lakers' backcourt combination, scored 25 points and Hairston collected 17.

For Milwaukee, Lucius Allen added 23 points and Curtis Perry chipped in with 18.

The Bucks were upset with referees Manny Sokol and Don Murphy, who called 27 fouls against them to 18 for the Lakers.

Do you think we were that much more aggressive? Oscar Robertson asked a reporter. "It's fortunate the game is on film. People can check on all the mistakes the officials made."

Buck coach Larry Costello said Hairston committed a violation on his basket with six seconds left.

In those six contests the Knicks outscored Boston by a slim six points, 641-635, and the only wide open game was New York's 104-89 triumph at home on Nov. 26. The other five ended with a spread of eight points or less.

But the key to the playoff series could be the injuries to veteran New York guards Earl "The Pearl" Monroe and Dick Barnett.

Monroe twisted his right ankle Tuesday when the Knicks wrapped up their semifinal playoff series against the Bulls. Barnett played less than a minute Tuesday.

The Celtics expected to see a good deal of Dean Meminger, a reserve guard who saw little action this year.

Meminger could figure prominently in this series, Boston's chief scout, John Killilea, said after taking in the New York-Baltimore series.

Indiana faces must win game

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (UPI)—"We've got only one problem—to win that ball game."

Bobby Leonard, the fiery coach of the Indiana Pacers, embroiled in a bitter battle with the Denver Rockets, predicts their showdown clash here Thursday night will be "a tough one."

The winner in the ABA Western semi-final playoffs goes against Utah for the division crown.

"After six games, Indiana and Denver are even. Each team has won twice at home and once on the other team's floor."

But Leonard doesn't figure the home floor advantage will be significant in the seventh and final game of the series.

"This had been a tough, physical series," he said. "We haven't underestimated Denver. I said before it started it could go six, maybe seven games."

"This Denver club is a lot better than its regular season record indicates," he added. "Ralph Simpson, Dave Robisch, Byron Beck—they're really playing good ball."

Leonard felt Beck is having his best series since becoming a member of the Denver club.

Trevino trying to find groove again

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Last year, one week after the Monsanto Open, Lee Trevino "got untracked."

"I didn't even earn a spot in the Tournament of Champions but took advantage of that lapse to win at Tallahassee."

Trevino recalls, "After that everything fell in place."

That it did. After winning at Tallahassee, the "Merry Mex" won at Memphis, won the U.S. Open, won the Canadian Open and won the British Open.

Shortly after winning the British Open, Lee had his appendix removed but two months later won the Sahara Open and wound up winning $231,202 for the year.

"It's that time of year again," Trevino said on the eve of the Monsanto Open. "I told my wife the other night that I hope to make the same tracks again."

Although Trevino has been complaining about trouble with his knee, his back and his putting, he's still managed to finish high enough week by week to pocket $46,394 so far this year and he could vault into fourth place on the money list by grabbing the $30,000 top prize in the Monsanto.

"Jack Nicklaus and some other golfers insist I'm going to burn myself out by playing in as many tournaments as I do," said Trevino. "Jack says I'd win more if I play less."

"Well, I may burn myself out in a couple of years. But I'll tell you this, if I do burn out, I'm going to burn out a wealthy man."

Trevino said he keeps playing week after week because he feels he owes it to tournament sponsors. "I've become a big gallery favorite the past few years and I feel it's only fair to the people who put up the money for our tour that I show up."

Trevino blamed his poor showing (12 over par) in last week's Masters on the fact that he hadn't adjusted his game "as much as I should have."

"I went back after a two-year absence with an ability to hit the ball high, something I hadn't been able to do before," he said. "But what I didn't know is that it's not enough to hit the ball high at Augusta, you've also got to hook the ball."

Bobby Jones (the famed amateur, who founded the Masters) was a hooker and you've got to hook the ball on his course. Faders never win there. That's a lesson that I've now learned and it's something that I'll work on before I return there next year."

Trevino was apologetic about losing his cool at Augusta last week when his regular caddy couldn't get in for the practice rounds on the regular tournament ticket which Trevino had purchased.

"That's all past now," said Trevino. "I said some things I shouldn't have said. Mr. (Clifford) Roberts (Masters chairman) and I had a long talk and we worked everything out. I'm going back to the Masters next year in a much better frame of mind."

Although Trevino shot a 68 in a Tuesday pro-am and a 70 in Wednesday's pro-am, he was unhappy about his putting.

"I feel I'm playing well from tee to green, but I seem to have lost confidence in my putting," he said. "It's something I'm just going to have to work out. One thing that I think will help is that it's plenty hot out there and I am a hot-weather golfer."

Trevino hurt his back earlier in the week while bending over to turn off a shower and he said it hurt him when he bent over to putt.

"But, shoot," said Trevino. "I've had so many aches and pains of late, I'm not going to let something like that make a difference."

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Daniel H. Huyett 3rd said Wednesday he would charge the jury this morning in the trial of former pro football player Johnny Sample, accused of cashing stolen U.S. Treasury checks.

Wednesday, Sample testified that he was at a race track in New York winning $7,000 on the day the U.S. attorney claims he cashed some 25 stolen checks.

Two defense witnesses identified as friends of Sample, Edward Kane and James Smith, testified they accompanied Sample to the Aqueduct Race Track in New York on the day the checks allegedly were cashed.

Kane said he left at the end of the fifth race to return to Philadelphia. Smith said he was with Sample all day in New York and they both later went to Liberty Bell Park here.

Orange bowl gets new poly-turf

MIAMI (UPI)—White grass might have been better, but if the fans like green grass, give them green grass.

That's the reasoning of American Biltrite Rubber Co. product director Art Spinney who Wednesday unveiled the new synthetic turf his firm is installing in the Orange Bowl.

The original Poly-Turf installed two years ago for $205,000 carried a five-year guarantee. But after numerous complaints from players and slips on the hot surface, the city of Miami said it would stop payment on the balance unless the rug was replaced, and so it was.

Spinney thinks the new surface may still reflect enough heat to make it uncomfortably hot for football players.

"We thought of making white grass, but the players would have to wear sunglasses. Besides, people like green grass."

American Biltrite said Wednesday the new nylon fibers will be less susceptible to Miami's subtropical sun than the plastic fibers that matted and "sweated" last fall.

Spinney said, "the weather is a great plus as far as tourism is concerned, but as far as plastics is concerned it's the toughest place in the United States, and I don't care if you're talking about synthetic turf, artificial shrubs, or plastic furniture in your back yard."

He said the new turf is heavier, thicker, and greener than the old Orange Bowl surface.

On Tuesday, a bank teller testified for the government that on April 5, 1971, he cashed seven checks for the former New York Jets and Baltimore Colts defensive back.

Ailing N.Y. goes after Celtics

BOSTON (UPI)—The ailing New York Knicks, with only one day of rest and with two key guards listed as "doubtful," take on the Boston Celtics here tonight in the opening game of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference playoff final.

The winning club will split $42,500 in prize money for the best-of-seven series and get a shot at the $100,000 jackpot in the NBA championship round.

The series could be rated a virtual "tossup." Boston and New York split six games during the regular season with each club winning twice at home and once on the enemy's court.

In those six contests the Knicks outscored Boston by a slim six points, 641-635, and the only wide open game was New York's 104-89 triumph at home on Nov. 26. The other five ended with a spread of eight points or less.

UCLA's Bibby and Swen Nater taken in ABA college draft

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market turned lower Thursday in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off nearly a point at 966.21 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index eased 0.09 to 110.98.

Declines led advances, 745 to 582, among the 1,702 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover amounted to 11,000,000 shares, down from the 15,320,000 traded during the comparable period Wednesday.

The market appeared to be weighted down with some profit taking and apparent concern over the Vietnam war. The downward trend set in late in Wednesday's session.

Analysts said in the wake of recent large gains, the profit taking was not surprising.

Favorable corporate earnings reports kept the market from moving sharply lower during the first three hours, however.

Walt Disney, which reported a much improved second quarter, climbed 3 1/2. Raytheon, which reported a better quarter Wednesday, added 1 1/2.

Electronics and computers were mixed. Steels, Motors, chemicals, rails and aircrafts were mixed in fractions.

Airlines and oils headed in both directions.

Cloudiness will continue until the center in the upper atmosphere passes on to the east. Partial clearing will follow from the west tonight to become fair to partly cloudy on Friday. By Saturday cloudiness will be increasing over northern portions of the state as the next low pressure system now in the Gulf of Alaska begins to influence the area.

Q — I hold shares of American Research & Development and Textron. Should I sell ARD before the merger or hold? — L. T.

A — If the merger proposal (1) is approved by shareholders, (2) receives a favorable tax ruling and (3) is adjudged by Lehman Bros. as being fair to ARD holders, it would be advantageous for you to hold. ARD will distribute its 45 per cent equity interest in Digital Equipment to the shareholders prior to the merger on a 75-for-1 basis. In addition, 3 of a share of Textron will be given for each ARD share held. Based on present trading levels for the three Big Board stocks, the exchange has a market value 12 1/2 per cent greater than ARD's current, which is selling at a 2 per cent discount from its Dec. 31, 1971 net asset value.

If and when the merger is consummated, the market price for Digital will probably experience some weakness as shares move into public hands. The expansion in the floating supply of shares is viewed favorably, though, over the longer term. Even without DEC, ARD's portfolio will have a market value estimated to be in excess of $60 million. In order to counterbalance the dilutive effects of the 1.84 million (current market worth — $54 million) shares to be distributed in the merger, TXT may dispose of some portions of the ARD portfolio.

Unlike many of the so-called conglomerates, Textron's acquisition policy has been highly selective and its accounting policies conservative. Consolidation with ARD will reinforce and strengthen TXT's capability for pinpointing promising merger candidates.

PC blames computers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The bankrupt Penn Central Railroad, blaming part of its financial problems on an outdated computer system, petitioned Tuesday for permission to purchase a new system that would save the railroad $12.2 million a year.

The petition was filed Tuesday in the same U.S. district court where the Penn Central is currently undergoing reorganization under federal bankruptcy statutes.

The railroad's trustees said their computer problems started in 1968 when the New York Central merged with the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Penn Central continued to use two computer systems which had to be transmitted back and forth between Philadelphia and New York several times a day. As a result, some of the information was as much as eight hours old and worthless, the trustees said.

Most Mares Foal At Night

Why do nine out of 10 mares foal at night? And why most particularly on a rainy night? Horse breeders don't know.

National pollsters say that side dish most despised by soldiers in the U.S. Army is chilled asparagus salad. Understandable? Thieves in scuba gear are emerging from the depths to swipe motors off boats at waterside resorts all over the country. I'm told.

That stylish girls 80 years ago padded their backsides with the thing called the bustle you know. But did you know stylish women of 800 years ago padded their frontsides? Then, the protruding midsection was in. Visited upon all the village women of Europe, it seemed by appearances, was the extreme embrace of a dissolute army, and it was fashionable everywhere among girls from eight to 80 to precede themselves bulbously in the streets.

QUERIES

Q. Didn't Dorothy Parker write 'Excuse My Dust' as her own epitaph?

A. She wrote two. The other was: 'Involved in a Plot.'

Q. 'I say there's a musical instrument called a 'kit', but this stupid good-for-nothing bartender doesn't talk my language. Do you?

A. Not fluently, but do know a kits is a little violin about the size of a half pint. Eighty-six.

Can you name the second worst wartime mistake in U.S. military history? Don't mention Viet Nam. Surveys indicate that's thought to be No. 1 now. No. 2, it's said, was the interment of the West Coast Japanese during World War II. What's No. 3?

HAIRDO

A change of hairdo, says a Boise, Idaho, doctor, 'is the best prescription I know for a grieving widow or a desperate divorcee.' Maybe the old boy's got something there. You know what Mary Austin said: 'When a woman ceases to alter the fashion of her hair, you can guess she has passed the crisis of her experience.'

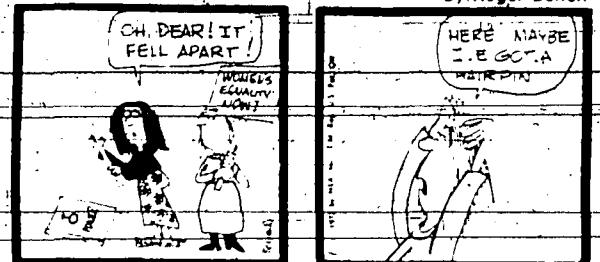

Pity the poor spider. Confined to a liquid diet. No steaks, no chops. The spider can't chew.

Free bus rides in Rome

ROME (UPI)—With the Eternal City's traffic jammed almost to a standstill, Rome officials have decided to make buses free during the rush-hour to persuade workers to leave their cars home.

The city hall's traffic commission decided to make all bus travel free from 6 to 8:30 a.m. April 30.

At the end of May, officials said, travel also will be free between 5 and 8 p.m.

The commission announced plans to acquire 400 buses to beef up the service in rush hours.

Bus fare is about nine cents. The commission's decision came at a time when Rome was suffering some of its worst traffic jams in memory.

An extraordinary spate of road-mending—which cynics attribute to an official desire to provide jobs before next month's general election—contributed to the mess. At one stage, traffic was moving only 50 yards an hour along the river-side Lungotevere near the Vatican.

City fathers warned that even free bus fares will not part motorists from their cars. Rome's 2.7 million inhabitants own 1.6 million vehicles—unless an efficient and quick bus service is provided.

To this end, three major avenues will be reserved to buses and taxis within the next month, making it that much more difficult for private motorists to reach the center.

Explorer Scouts attend congress in Washington

TWIN FALLS — Presidents of 14 Explorer Scout units in the Snake River Area Council left Tuesday for Washington, D.C., and a five-day Explorer Presidents Congress.

Darl Glead, Twin Falls, Scout executive who accompanied the boys, said they will spend several days in Washington in mock congressional sessions during which they will elect senators, representatives, and committees.

In Washington, the Magistrate Valley delegates, will join about 250 other Explorer presidents from throughout the nation.

Six young men from Twin Falls left by bus Tuesday and were scheduled to be joined by eight Burley Scouts and others in Idaho and adjoining states as they headed east.

Glead said this is the second national Explorer Presidents Congress and is designed to give the youth leaders a look at the national capital and the governmental functions of the nation.

Attending from the Snake River Area Council are Barry Crockett, Bruce Hafer, Maughan and Jerry Williams, all from Twin Falls. Boyd Bingham, Lyle Nel, both Rupert; Douglas Barrington and Danny West, Declo; Wayne Fenton, Burley; Phillip Hodges, Malta; Weston Hawkes, Paul; Ken Jenkins, H. K. Olson, both Gooding; and Keith Severe, Oakley, and Executive Glead, Twin Falls.

Veterans' Job Fair planned in TF April 20

TWIN FALLS — A Veterans' Job Fair, to attempt to help veterans find suitable employment, is planned April 20.

John Leinen, Idaho Department of Employment, Twin Falls, said the "fair" will be from 1 to 5 p.m. in the American Legion Hall. Cooperating are the American Legion, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and Department of Employment.

All veterans are invited to participate. Leinen said letters have gone to about 400 unemployed or underemployed veterans in the Magic Valley area. About 30 employers have also indicated they will have representatives available to confer with veterans.

Leinen said veterans will be able to list their qualifications and their job interests, and to learn from employer firms what their needs are at the present time or when jobs might be available.

Should a veteran need additional qualifications such as further training or education for a specific job he will be advised by the employer representative what the requirements are and how they can be met.

Robert Gillespie and Delos Tuttle of the American Legion Post, Fred Wanzner, chamber of commerce president, Leinen and Emil T. Onild of the Department of Employment are in charge of the fair.

Leinen said representatives of some state and federal agencies will also be available for consultation including those of the Veterans Administration, Veterans Affairs Commission, Idaho Personnel Commission.

Leinen said the group hopes to make this an annual event and to continue assistance to returning veterans who find jobs scarce.

Mansfield, Scott plan China trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott Wednesday he and his Democratic counterpart, Mike Mansfield, are prepared to discuss Sino-American relations with Chinese officials during their trip to China which begins next week.

"We will carry oral messages (from President Nixon) of good will to the Chinese leaders we may see," Scott said.

Scott and Mansfield met for more than an hour Tuesday night with Nixon. Scott said their conversation was confidential, and declined to say if Nixon had given them substantive messages to Premier Chou En-lai or other Chinese leaders.

Scott said he and Mansfield hope that their discussions will indicate that "the Shanghai communique is bearing fruit."

He referred to the joint statement issued in Shanghai by Nixon and Chou following their talks in February. The communique envisioned increased contacts between the two nations.

Handicapped persons select president

TWIN FALLS — Kenneth Frank, Burley, was elected president of the Magic Valley Association for Handicapped Persons Tuesday evening.

The meeting was held in the Twin Falls Child Development Center.

Richard Clark, Twin Falls, was elected vice-president. Mrs. William Whitton, Rupert, secretary, and Kenneth Woodrow, Jerome, treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Charles Clark, Sun Valley-Ketchum; Jack Bowlin, Shoshone; Mrs. John Schoettger, Gooding; Mrs. Jerry Fowler, Burley; Mrs. Perdita Carman, Fairfield; Mrs. Hazel North, Jerome; Gus Gerleman, Rupert, and Mrs. Ruth Glenn, Twin Falls.

Charles Bartlett, Child Development Center director, discussed the mandatory education bill passed by the 1972 legislative session.

More information on this bill will be presented at future meetings.

The next meeting of the association will be May 9th in the American Legion Hall in Jerome. The board of directors will meet May 2 in the Twin Falls Child Development Center.

GI's think amnesty OK

By STEWART KELLERMAN

ARTILLERY-BASE, LINDA, Vietnam (UPI) — It was a barren hilltop outpost surrounded by miles of thick jungle. The crawling sun hung above the gun pits and the GIs, leaning over mortars and howitzers, wiped the sweat from their bodies with soiled towels.

What did they think about the draft evaders and war deserters who have gone into exile to avoid fighting in Vietnam?

A dozen GIs were questioned randomly at Linda, 13 miles west of Da Nang. Most felt it was time to grant the exiles amnesty and let them return home.

"I don't have nothing against getting out of the war if you can," said Spec. 4 Berman Stowers, 19, of Pulaski, Md., a mortar gunner. That's their bag. It doesn't bother me not at all.

The bare-chested GI, sitting on a pile of sand bags, took a break from reading a spy novel and said, "I don't think anyone should have to come home if he objects to the war. God, it's an awful place."

Spec. 4 Steven Daley, 23, of Norfolk, Mass., a gunner on a 105mm howitzer, said, "I was planning to run away myself. I guess I'd have gone if my brother didn't talk me out of it. I think these guys should be given another chance."

"Don't see why we shouldn't just let them go back with no strings attached," said the brown-haired GI, dressed in faded fatigues and dusty combat boots. This is a bad war, a losing battle. It's only for politicians and people making money off of it."

Spec. 4 Woodrow Collins, 24, of Elmwood, N.C., who mans a 4.2 inch mortar, said, "I don't see anything wrong with what has to be done. I went to college and had a good job. If I didn't have so much at stake I'd have gone to another country also."

These guys gave up a whole lot. It took a lot of courage. I can see why they don't want to top out now and admit they've done something wrong. But I think they ought to compromise a little and pull two years in the Peace Corps or VISTA or something like that."

Sgt. Richard Elliott, 21, of Indianapolis, Ind., an artillery crew chief, said, "I've lived away from the world (America) a whole year. It's a bummer. But look at those guys. They have to live their whole lives away. You shouldn't ask that of anyone."

These guys are Americans and they deserve to live in America," Elliott said, lying with bare feet in a hammock. "Maybe they should get a chance to work in a hospital or something like that. I'm not mad at them at all. If anything, I guess I feel sorry for them."

Pfc. William Holts, 20, of Woodbury, Tenn., a mortar gunner, was one of the few GIs at Linda who opposed amnesty for deserters and draft evaders.

"I've thought a lot about it," Holts said. "A silver cross hanging from a chain around his neck. I feel they shouldn't get away with it. I didn't want to come here either. I think the war is wrong. But I'm still out here in the bush."

I had to come and they should."

Spec. 4 Gary White, 19, of Shelby, N.C., a forward observer, was the only GI interviewed who expressed real bitterness about the exiles.

"It takes a sorry guy who won't stand up for his country," said the husky soldier with the word "Mother" tattooed on his right arm. "I think they should name them or at least put them behind bars."

Few new forms for US energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When the United States looks beyond its major sources of energy — oil, gas, coal and nuclear — it finds little of significance as a new energy form for the next 15 years, the National Petroleum Council (NPC) said Monday.

The NPC released another in its series of reports on American energy sources and potentials. The council is an industry advisory group for the secretary of interior.

The report came from a study of such energy sources as natural steam, geothermal, hydro, electric, tides, the sun's rays, and burning or fermentation of agricultural products or wastes.

Except for geothermal energy, which looks somewhat promising in selected western states, none of the other energy forms has any significant potential because of lack of resources, underdeveloped technology, or lack of economical advantage, the report said.

Some of the energy sources used little so far might have significant potential in the distant future if the nation runs short of its "conventional" and more plentiful fuels, the report said.

Hydropower and any new forms and sources of energy that might be developed are of interest and significance if the light of rising energy needs and the problems of meeting them with fossil fuels and nuclear power, a summary said. "This is true no matter how small their current or immediate contribution."

Hydroelectric, tidal, and geothermal sources are limited mostly by the resources themselves, the report said, while solar energy is limited because technology is in its infancy. The use of farm products such as grains for alcohol as a fuel is limited by the costs, as is the use of agricultural wastes for burning as fuels.

The report said this of the "new energy forms."

Underdeveloped hydroelectric power — the potential of this source is estimated at 281 billion kilowatt hours, which is somewhat more than the power now derived from that source. However, the remaining sites for dams are getting less desirable for various factors and costs are rising. "Very few large undeveloped sites remain," the report said. Water-generated electricity could be imported from Canada, but that nation's own growing need leaves little available for the United States the report said.

Geothermal energy "It can make a significant contribution to the power supply of certain regions, especially in the west," the report said. But development is in early stages and the only significant geothermal steam-driven generation plant in the nation is at the Geysers, Calif., with capacity estimated at 500,000 kilowatts by 1975. That is only about 1-3,000 of the nation's current consumption of energy. This energy source has the advantage of being clean and having some good by products, such as water and heat for other uses.

Energy from agriculture — Farm production if the United States can be enormous, thus providing a large potential for grains to convert to fuel alcohol through fermentation. Another potential is through burning farm residues such as straws, corn cobs, hulls and shells, and even animal wastes. Cost for these sources of energy would be relatively high when weighed against the amount of energy generated. The report gave some examples of the potential, however. Farm residues total 195 million tons a year, whose heat equivalent would be about 1-20 of the nation's energy consumption. Livestock wastes of 2 billion tons a year could have a heat equivalent of about 1-44 thenation's energy consumption.

Solar — "Because it is so diffuse and intermittent when it reaches the earth, no large-scale use of solar energy can be expected in the next 15 years even with appreciable improvements in technology."

Tidal — Cost would be high and return would be a tiny fraction of the energy needs.

The report also looked at "energy conversion devices," such as fuel cells and conversion of heat to electricity. These would be used to handle in shifts of demand from one form of energy to another, but "the state of development does not permit any significant change in outlook for the period 1971-1985, either in a shift in energy mix or in improved efficiency," the report said.

Interstate link half completed

WENDELL. — The portion of Interstate 80 linking Wendell and Tuttle is about 50 per cent complete, according to Jon Schierman, Jerome, resident engineer.

The road has been under construction since last fall. Schierman said that placing culverts and irrigation system pipes is about completed.

The rock hauling operation is being finished by Peter Kiewit Construction Co., Idaho Falls. The company is also hauling granular borrow materials and are crushing plant mix base material to stock pile.

Schierman said there are still some traffic delays where flagmen must stop traffic and there is one temporary 35-mile-per hour detour.

Miller Construction Co., Twin Falls, contractors for major structures on the six-mile stretch of highway plan to continue work on grade separation, No. 3 this week. Construction continues on schedule, the company will begin putting steel stringers in place on the overpass sometime this week, Schierman said. During this time, there will be traffic delays with flagmen directing traffic.

This portion of the interstate should be open to traffic about Oct. 1. When it is completed, I 80 will provide an uninterrupted stretch of high speed divided highway from east of Tuttle nearly to American Falls.

Improved air, transit delay

By WILLIAM B. MEAD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government's skill at making a logical case for delay is threatening to undermine drives for cleaner air and better mass transit.

The two go together because

Analysis

Improved transit could reduce the number of commuters, and therefore reduce auto exhaust, which causes about half the nation's air pollution.

The rationale for delay is based on the 1970 Clean Air Act's stipulation that states and cities must cut the amount of pollutants in the air to prescribed levels by mid 1975.

Authorities generally agree that cities cannot meet these standards without significantly reducing downtown traffic.

Local officials, however, fear that such traffic controls would spark a commuter backlash. Several cities have already told the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) that they are unwilling to curb traffic until they install better mass transit.

That takes time as well as money.

The administration has proposed that funds from the highway trust fund be used to build city transit systems. But EPA officials have acknowledged that good transit systems cannot be in service by mid 1975, and have indicated that cities may be granted delays in the air cleanup standards.

Senior citizen meetings asked

TWIN FALLS. — People meetings for senior citizen residents of Magic Valley are urged by Edna Belle Oslund, delegate to the White House Conference on Aging.

She said voluntary small group discussion would be highly beneficial to such residents in order to formulate views and better understand issues prior to an area-wide meeting April 28.

On April 28 at 2 p.m. in the old St. Edward's School, all interested persons are asked to meet to submit ideas and views which will be taken to the Idaho State Conference on Aging May 24 and 25 in Boise.

Mrs. Oslund is a delegate to the White House Conference on Aging and will also be a delegate to the International Gerontological Conference in Yugoslavia later in May.

She urged senior citizens to get together for informal discussions and prepare comments to be passed on to delegates and alternate delegate John Lopez, Burley, and John Carlton, Twin Falls, who will attend the May 24 and 25 session in Boise.

Gov. Cecil Andrus will meet with the conference delegates and U.S. Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will be keynote speaker.

Issues to be covered in all of the meetings include education, employment and retirement, physical and mental health, housing, income, nutrition, retirement roles and activities, spiritual well being, transportation facilities, programs and services, government and non-government organizations, planning, research and demonstration and training.

Persons with questions on the issues may submit them at the April 28 meeting to alternate delegate Carlton who will present them at the state conference.

Statements and comments may be submitted to Robert Hale, senior citizen director in Twin Falls, who will also receive views from small group gatherings prior to the April 28 meeting.

Traffic fatalities near two million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The two millionth person to die in a traffic accident in the United States probably will perish in January, 1974, according to the Western Insurance Information Service.

"We're releasing this information this far in advance as an appeal to the American public to stem the tide and make every effort to delay the fate of Mr. Two Million," said George Watts, executive director of the service.

The service said that although death rates have decreased — judged on the basis of miles traveled and taking into account the increase in the population and the number of vehicles on the road — it will take less than half as long to kill off the second million traffic accident victims as it did the first million.

According to the institute, the first American to be killed by a car died in New York in 1899, and the millionth fatality was registered in Texas in 1951.

Although it took 52 years to reach 1 million, at the current rate of about 55,000 deaths a year, the two millionth victim will be reached in 23 years.
