

Queries parried by aide

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President's aide Peter M. Flanigan balked at answering questions at a Senate hearing today about his contacts with ITT officials or persons acting on ITT's behalf in the out-of-court settlement of a billion dollar antitrust suit against the conglomerate.

Flanigan said such questions were beyond the scope of an agreement worked out between the Senate Judiciary Committee and the White House on his appearance as a witness.

He appeared at possibly the closing session of an investigation of ITT, the antitrust settlement, a pledge of at least $200,000 to the GOP national convention and the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to be attorney general.

Committee chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., sustained

Flanigan's refusal to answer the questions.

Eastland cited an exchange of letters between the committee and the White House in which it was agreed that Flanigan's testimony would be limited to his knowledge of four subjects.

They included the selection of San Diego as the site of the Republican convention and matters which occurred in his presence at meetings in the office of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell last April concerning a number of brokerage houses going bankrupt because of the falling stock market.

They also included his involvement with former Assistant Attorney General Richard W. McLaren, who made the out-of-court settlement, and details of a meeting with ITT President Harold S. Genee.

School aid plan aired

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's Panel on Nonpublic Education Thursday proposed income tax credits and extra welfare benefits to permit poor and middle-class parents to send their children to private schools.

Making its final report, the panel said financial help to students and their families would meet the financial crisis of private education while avoiding the constitutional pitfalls of direct aid to church-connected schools.

Nixon formally received the report from the panel's chairman, Clarence Walton, president of Catholic University here, during a brief ceremony in the White House Cabinet Room.

"Our findings confirm your initial assessment of the nonpublic school situation: enrollments are falling and costs are climbing," Walton told Nixon in a letter accompanying the report.

Among other things, the panel called for:

- Special efforts to help private schools and their students in low-income core city neighborhoods. It said private schools, mainly Roman Catholic, in these areas are financially hard-pressed but often provide the only alternative to sometimes inferior public schools.

- Special grants for welfare recipients and the working poor who send their children to private schools. It said such a program could be financed for $30 million a year.
- Experimentation with an "education voucher" plan in urban areas under which a parent could direct the basic education allowance for his child either to public or private schools.
- An income tax credit for parents who are not poor to reimburse them for part of the cost of tuition. The credit would be subtracted from the individual's income tax and thus would provide similar dollar benefits regardless of income. It said a 50 per cent credit up to $400 would cost the Treasury about $500 million.

GOP eyes Florida for meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With problems in San Diego, Republicans were reported taking a close look today at the possibility of moving their 1972 national convention to Miami Beach, the Democratic site and the place where Richard M. Nixon was nominated by the GOP in 1960.

The scheduled start of the convention is only four months away, and difficulties were reported in San Diego in preparing the Sports arena for the event and in finding enough hotel rooms to accommodate the thousands of delegates, newsmen and others who will attend.

There also were reports the San Diego Civic Committee had not yet raised the full $600,000 it pledged to help pay for the convention.

Miami Beach officials meanwhile said the $250,000 it pledged to both parties last summer in bidding for the two conventions still stood. Both city and state officials were working to get the GOP conclave back to Miami Beach.

Florida's Democratic governor, Reubin Askew, already was in Washington and working hard to get the Republicans to go back to Miami Beach where they nominated Nixon in 1968.

Askew attended a dinner for newspaper editors Wednesday night, along with Nixon's campaign manager John N. Mitchell, and the two were said to have talked about the situation. In a speech at the dinner, Askew said Florida and Miami Beach would welcome the GOP in August same as the Democrats the month before.

Cassia's teachers to 'stack' pacts

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Voicing a protest against administrative domination, Cassia County teachers agreed Wednesday to a form of "contract stacking."

Teachers will sign their contracts when offered by the district, but will turn them over to the association, which will hold them as a lever against the continuing negotiations.

The teachers met in a day-long "Educational Emphasis Day," for which they had voted by a 70 per cent plurality last week.

Classes were dismissed throughout the county for the event, which had been allowed for in the school calendar.

Nearly 180 teachers met in the Burley High School auditorium to hear advice from professional education spokesmen, including Bob Hipps, Seattle, regional negotiation expert for the National Education Association.

Viet Reds renew An Loc assault

SAIGON (UPI)—Hundreds of Communist troops backed by tanks and protected by heavy antiaircraft fire made human wave assaults against South Vietnamese paratroopers south of An Loc today, field reports said.

More than 2,000 rockets and mortars were fired into the shattered provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon, the reports said. The ground fighting began before dawn less than two miles south of An Loc and raged throughout the day. A smaller assault was made on An Loc itself, which has been the scene of bitter fighting for 15 days.

In Cambodia, Communists today overran three towns on strategic Highway 1 which stretches from Phnom Penh to Saigon. Soldiers who fled from Kompong Trabeek 55 miles southeast of Phnom Penh said Communists who swept through the town this morning killed or captured 450 of the 500 Cambodian defenders.

Cambodian and South Vietnamese forces launched an attack to try to recapture the town but it was stalled at Takeuk four miles up the road from Kompong Trabeek.

Prasoth and Chupou Highway 1 towns 90 miles from Phnom Penh and only 10 miles from the South Vietnamese border, fell to attacking forces shortly after midnight. Fighting was underway along a 50-mile stretch of Highway 1 and the roadway was cut in a number of places.

Military sources said that the battle south of An Loc on Highway 13 so far had resulted in the destruction of four North Vietnamese tanks. In addition, American B52s flew at least seven bomb runs near An Loc

With the Communist offensive in its fourth week, the U.S. command reported 12 Americans killed in battle last week with 63 wounded and 10 men missing in action. The South Vietnamese reported their forces took the heaviest casualties of the war during the week—1,002 dead.

Reds ask new talks

PARIS (UPI)—The Communists today demanded the Vietnam peace talks be resumed next week, but dropped their demand the United States stop its bombing of North Vietnam as a condition for resuming the negotiations.

The U.S. delegation confirmed receipt of the formal note, which was couched in demanding terms that stated flatly the next session will be held April 27. However, under conference rules the four delegations must agree on a date of each meeting.

Diplomatic sources said the United States and South Vietnam, which have accused the North Vietnamese of an open invasion of South Vietnam, will stick to their position the stalled conference cannot be held while the Communist offensive is under way.

Demos blast Viet fighting

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democrats went on record today denouncing both the Communist invasion of South Vietnam and the retaliatory American bombing of North Vietnam. They ordered that a bill be taken up in the House floor within 30 days to end U.S. military involvement in and over Indochina.

After approving a resolution that could lead for the first time to congressional passage of end-the-war legislation, the Democratic representatives overwhelmingly voted to add a clause to condemn the North Vietnamese invasion.

By another sizable vote they rejected a strongly worded policy statement that would have attacked North Vietnam and the Soviet Union and endorsed current military actions taken by President Nixon.

By an overwhelming 144-58 vote, the Democrats then gave final approval to a resolution combining the antiwar demands with condemnation of the North Vietnamese invasion.

The key vote came on a surprisingly lopsided 135-66 vote in which members attending a closed caucus approved a resolution that would:

Characterize the new bombing as "a dangerous escalation of our role in the Indochina war and a direct contradiction of the administration's stated policy of 'winding down' the war Declare it to be in the national interest promptly to set a date to terminate all U.S. military involvement in and over Indochina," subject only to release of U.S. prisoners and an accounting of missing GIs.

Direct Democratic members of the once hawkish Foreign Affairs Committee "to prepare and report within 30 days legislation designed to accomplish these specific objectives."

Similar legislation has been approved by the Senate before only to die in the House. But this time House doves used the caucus to whip Democrats—who make up the majority of the House—who line through party loyalty or party discipline.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., meanwhile sought to force a Senate vote on a resolution introduced by him and 13 other Republicans to condemn North Vietnam for its invasion of South Vietnam. It would declare Senate support of U.S. efforts to achieve "an honorable peace" in Vietnam.

The first vote in the Democratic caucus was described as preliminary because of an effort by some members to amend the resolution to include a condemnation of North Vietnam's invasion of the South.

Astros set for landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Skimming within 12 miles of the moon, Apollo 16's astronauts activated their lander today and zeroed in for the first descent to a craggy alpine plateau in the middle of the central lunar highlands.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke donned their space suits 40 minutes ahead of schedule in preparation to set down the four-legged landing craft, Orion, in a "boulder-littered area at 3:41 p.m. EST.

The schedule called for them to climb down Orion's ladder four hours later and start the first of three planned surface excursions in search of clues to the highlands origin.

From a roller coaster orbit that lined up the lander for the tricky descent, command module pilot Thomas K. "Ken" Mattingly radioed to ground controllers "We just passed over the good landing site and you can see the whole area, it stands up very nicely."

Young and Duke crawled into Orion—still attached to command ship Casper—on their 10th orbit and to begin a long series of landing preparations.

They unfolded Orion's four landing legs ahead of schedule but encountered some difficulty turning its steerable dishlike antenna.

"It sounds like the thing is just sitting up there oscillating," Duke told ground controllers. Engineers worked on procedures to correct the problem.

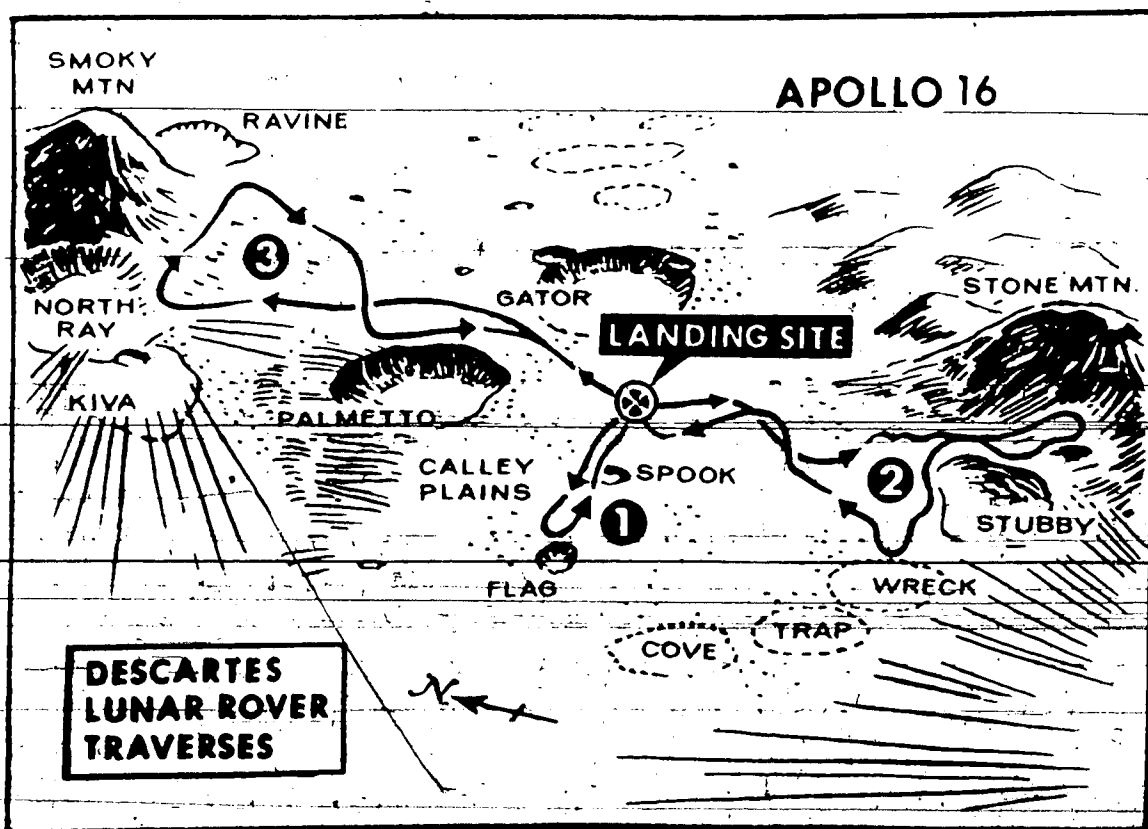

The astronauts were awakened two hours earlier and reported they were "charging hard." They were advised then to eat a good breakfast because "you've got a long day ahead of you."

Doctors told them to drink more potassium fortified orange juice as a preventive against the type of heart irregularities experienced by the fatigued Apollo 15 pilots.

"It feels like we're clipping the tops of the trees, that's the way it looks like," said Duke as Apollo 16 swept over the barren, gray-brown moonscape.

Davis asks Demo seat

POCATELLO (UPI) — Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis, President of Idaho State University, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate today.

Davis, 43, president of ISU for seven years, made his announcement first in Pocatello and later in Boise. Thus far, Davis, Boise attorney Byron Johnson and Boise politician activist Rose Marie Bowman have announced as Democratic candidates, but Attorney General W. Anthony Park is expected to announce his candidacy next week.

Pledging a "clean campaign free from disparaging remarks" about the other candidates, Davis said, "I intend to run on those tested principles I believe in, knowing that enough Idaho people share these very personal dreams and aspirations for our state and nation that I can win in November."

Davis said he could not offer "instant solutions" to problems, but said he would "work hard" and "analyze the pros and cons of each issue and solicit responsible advice."

He said he was "free to respond to issues without having to qualify every decision according to a previous commitment or promise."

He said the over-riding issue was the "wide-spreading growing disenchantment and lack of citizen confidence in government."

Davis was born in Kansas and educated in Colorado. He is a graduate of the Loveland, Colo., High School and holds a

Oldest resort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho's oldest resort was entered in the National Register of Historic Places Wednesday, according to Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho.

McClure said Burgdorf, lying west of Idaho's primitive area in Idaho County near Warren, records the story of the Idaho gold rush and the development of the state's recreation potential. The register is maintained under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 to protect tangible reminders of the history of the United States.

Soviets charge treaty stalling

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union today accused the West of trying to block the prohibition of chemical weapons by bogging down negotiations in technicalities.

Soviet disarmament negotiator Alexei Roschin said the United States and its allies are evading the "political decision" necessary for such a treaty.

He told the disarmament conference Western demands for technical discussions on verifying a ban and on the different types of chemical weapons would delay progress for "many years."

"The readiness of parties to take a political decision is needed above all," Roschin said.

"If there is no such a readiness, the demands for technical studies as well as for setting up committees of experts and for other similar steps serve only as a cover for one's unwillingness to conduct constructive negotiations," he said.

Talks postponed for second time

HELSINKI (UPI) — The Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) were postponed today for the second time in a week, presumably because the Soviet delegation chief was not back from his consultations in Moscow, conference sources said.

The sources said the talks are going on as usual between the special working groups set up to advance the nuclear arms negotiations. They said the talks merely had been postponed and "one should not read anything dramatic into it."

Communist sources said Wednesday that Soviet Chief Negotiator Vladimir S. Semenov was expected back today from consultations in Moscow. He was not on board a regular Aeroflot flight from Moscow at 1:10 p.m., nor on the Moscow train at 3:05 p.m.

There was still a possibility that Semenov might arrive on a flight via Leningrad later this afternoon.

The Communist sources said Semenov went to Moscow at the end of last week but was expected back today with fresh instructions from the Soviet government.

Andrus aide seeks post

BOISE (UPI) — Edward V. Williams, administrative assistant to Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and former House Minority Leader, announced today he is a candidate for the First District congressional nomination.

Williams, 43, described himself as a "special interest" candidate, adding "my special interest is people. For too long, only a select few in the first district have been represented in congress."

Williams, the lone Democrat to announce his candidacy, pledged to support programs to alleviate the "disgraceful and embarrassing" hardships facing senior citizens and noting Idaho's economy is influenced by the rural economy, guaranteed intervention on behalf of agriculture against freight rate increases and "arrogant eastern marketeers."

He said he would seek full protection of the Middle Snake and Salmon Rivers, support federal legislation to increase funding for air pollution and water pollution, and support re-assessment of national priorities to resolve our differences at home by ending America's role as "policeman of the world and banker to all."

Williams, appointed to Andrus' staff following the 1971 legislative session, said he would resign April 30 to begin his campaign. A Lewiston native, Williams is a graduate from the University of Idaho and began a nine-year career in the legislature when he was elected to the House in 1962. Williams served as House Minority Leader in 1969, 1970, and 1971 sessions, then resigned to join Andrus' staff.

Williams joined the Army in 1946 and the national guard following active duty. He served in the Korean conflict and retired in 1968 as a captain with 22 years of active and National Guard service.

He is chairman of the Idaho Traffic Safety Commission and is a member of the American Legion Post 13, V.F.W. 500, 4000 post and Elks Lodge 89 in Lewiston.

He and his wife, Barbara, have three children and are now living in Meridian.

Sawtooth closure assailed

BOISE (UPI) — The adoption of an amendment to permanently close the proposed Sawtooth National Recreation Area to mineral location would be adverse to public interest and detrimental to the national welfare, according to the Idaho Mining Association.

Dr. Lee Stokes, chief of the water pollution control section of the health department, and G.M. Baker, environmental director for Bunker Hill, said the proposed plan includes construction of a liquid effluent facility to be completed in 1973.

'Y' pool rite set Sunday

TWIN FALLS — Presidents of two organizations announced ground-breaking ceremonies for a new swimming pool in Twin Falls will be Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Russell, president of the Twin Falls YWCA, and Richard Shotwell, president of the Magic Valley YMCA, said their agencies will break ground for a new $206,000 swimming pool and locker room facility at 1751 Elizabeth Blvd.

Harold Gerber, architect, said bids for construction will be let in May with actual building to begin soon after. He said the facility will take about seven months to complete.

The construction of these facilities is the culmination of four years of planning and effort on the part of hundreds of area citizens, Shotwell said.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Official City and County Newspaper

Pursuant to Section 60-108 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1879.

Harry Eaton

A community's worth is measured by the people who live in it. A community is nothing without individuals who give more of their time, their talents and their personality than is normally expected.

Twin Falls has lost such an individual. Harry Eaton died early this week and was committed to the ground, and eternity, this afternoon. The statement might be time-worn but it must be said that Twin Falls — in fact the entire Magic Valley — is a much better place because Harry Eaton spent much of his life among us.

He was more than just a banker — someone to see when you needed money or when you wanted a donation for some cause. He was a concerned individual, caught up in all facets of life in this Valley. The good of the community and the Valley came first. His own circumstances were secondary.

He came here when Twin Falls was young. He stayed until this day, when Twin Falls is one of the best known and most respected communities in the state. He had much to do with bringing it to this level.

It is difficult to praise a man who stayed away from outright publicity. Harry Eaton did not like undue praise in life, he would not want it in death.

Perhaps he will understand, his survivors will understand, all citizens will understand when we say above all else he was a Christian. He lived the life of a believer in Christ and his teachings. But then, even now, we do not have to tell this to his multitude of friends.

All of us are fortunate he lived here all the years he did. To say he will be missed is an understatement. He will not be forgotten because the memorials he left are the things he did for his town, his Valley — things which are of benefit to all of us.

And yet these things for which we owe him so much are things he did without fanfare — without thought of real personal gain.

Crime Review

If the Safe Streets Act of 1968, which was Washington's answer to rising crime statistics, has had any effect, it has been in slowing down the rate of crime's growth and not in curtailing it. Each new FBI crime report discloses that crime is still not under control in the United States.

Under the 1968 law, nearly $1.5 billion has been distributed to the states to upgrade law enforcement. Administered by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, most of the funds are in the form of block grants to the states to be redistributed to local governments.

A report prepared by a subcommittee of the House Operations Committee is highly critical of this top effort in federal-state cooperation to control crime. The program, the report concludes, "has had no visible impact on the incidence of crime in the United States."

The report is particularly critical of the manner in which funds have been used by eventual recipients. "Considerably less than 25 percent of the action-grant funds disbursed to subgrantees has been used to fight crime," it said.

"Large amounts of action funds disbursed to local governments lie idle in local banks or in side-investments. LEAA cannot supply information on the amounts which local governments have actually spent to fight crime."

This would not be the first federal program to become snared in inefficiency. That is a fairly common problem with new programs which may be overfunded in the beginning. The subcommittee's reports indicate in some instances the fight against crime has been undermined by inefficiencies and poor administration of block grants.

That is far from the goal of the Safe Streets Act of 1968. Congress had better take another look at this one.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Other Parties

No cities compete for their conventions, no press and video armies descend upon their deliberations. In many states they cannot get on the ballot and in others their votes aren't counted.

But in addition to the Republicans and the Democrats, almost a score of political parties are nominating candidates for president and vice president of the United States.

The names of a few are more or less recognizable. There are several socialist parties, mutually antagonistic, but all dedicated to the overthrow of capitalism. The Prohibition Party still battles booze.

Some recent splinter parties will be missing this year, but there will be others to take their places. Not all splinter parties are ineffectual. The Liberal Party in New York was for years decisive in close elections. And the Conservative Party elected a United States senator. The Wallace third party in 1968 was the most formidable such effort since the Teddy Roosevelt Bull Moose Party in 1912.

But generally the minor parties are too minor to have an influence on the outcome of state and national elections. They serve as outlets for disenchantment without raising the possibility of the political paralysis that afflicts some countries where dissent has become a national sport.

SECRETS UNMASKED

Over the centuries, perfumes, scents and other cosmetics have played important roles in world affairs. Explorers went looking for exotic fragrances and dyes.

Monarchs put great value on their cosmetic stocks. And Victorian England actually considered making the use of any form of cosmetic, including false teeth, illegal under pain of being accused of witchcraft.

Traditionally, the makers of perfumes and allied products have been highly secretive about the ingredients used in their processes. The ancient Romans were heavy on white lead, chalk, barley flour and butter in their concoctions, but formulas since then have been almost as difficult to come by as the whereabouts of Howard Hughes.

This is changing under pressures of modern consumerism. Cries have been heard demanding that cosmetic manufacturers reveal the contents of their products. The largest purveyor has agreed to list his ingredients. Removing the mystique from the scent would never have gained Cleopatra's approval.

WASHINGTON — One dim evening in the course of a cheerfully misspent life, I found myself in the middle of a street riot in Cairo and took refuge in a bazaar stall occupied by what I first perceived to be a native rug vendor. I bowed low, in silent apology for my intrusion, and gestured at the flying rocks.

"Make yourself at home, Mac," the figure advised me in the purest of Brooklyn accents. "These jokers don't seem to understand that all us Americans want is a little peace on earth."

That comment by a fellow-countryman, who introduced himself as an unfrocked cloak-and-sulter from Flatbush on holiday, has always seemed to me to sum up the average American's bewilderment with a world seemingly in constant turmoil. Nothing we have done since World War II — none of the billions we have spent or the sweet talk we have poured into foreign statesmen's ears — seems to have made us popular abroad.

The reminiscence is prompted by the French government's most recent self-seeking stand in which it all but demanded peace talks with North Vietnam on the Communists' terms. Obviously, President Pompidou and his courtiers are trying to score points with Hanoi particularly and Asians generally by taking their side.

Because I have always had a cautious affection for France's French — something akin to my raffish fondness for book-makers and pool sharks — I fear that in the long run their current fawning on the North Vietnamese will fail. We tried it practically everywhere on the globe, post-1945, and mostly it got us kicks in the teeth. We tried to build a better and safer time, and find ourselves living in a querulous if not perilous world, in many areas of which American is a dirty word.

The irony is that the French should know better. They were kicked out of Indochina after the war and then deported from Algeria. Around the world, the French colonial empire was reduced to a shambles.

Yet the French still refuse to recognize that, for better or for worse, an understandable pattern is emerging. It is a pattern of disorganized, but instinctive revolt by the world's blacks, browns and yellows against the white man's interference, paternalistic or otherwise. Fellows, we are not wanted in those neighborhoods. Whether this is good or bad is irrelevant; it is a fact.

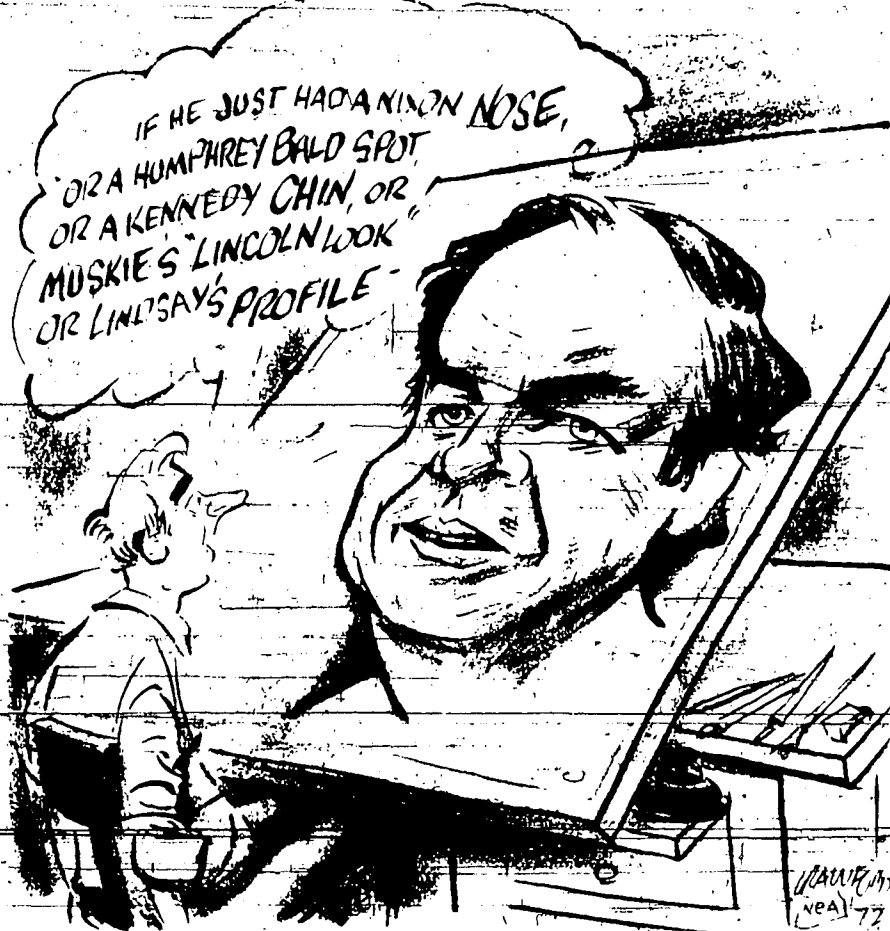

Probably there is no ready understanding of the native's ultimate goal in any of the non-white countries. The word "independence" is much uttered, but it is a term meaning different things to different men. To the mob, it seldom means anything more than the destruction of the white man and his institutions. A government operated by local gangsters is preferable to one administered altruistically by white idealists.

Although their strategy is more cunning, the Russians are not much better off. In February, Soviet Prime Minister Alexei Kosygin tried in vain to persuade Hanoi's ambassador to Moscow to cancel the massive offensive in South Vietnam. He was told bluntly it was none of the Soviet Union's business, and informed that the North Vietnamese could always depend on the help and understanding of Moscow's enemy, Communist China. After all, the Russians are white, the Chinese yellow.

Naturally, the North Vietnamese were pleased with Paris' endorsement of their military-political goals. They'll take help from anybody in their campaign to blacken the American image.

Neutral Ground

WASHINGTON — As of this writing, the Senate Republicans are trying to work out a compromise on the ITT hearings, which have become snarled over the question of whether Peter Flanagan and other White House aides can testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The problem seems to be a case of "executive privilege." The White House has refused, up until now, to allow any of its staff to testify before a congressional committee on Capitol Hill.

The compromise would be for Flanagan and anyone else in the White House to be questioned on "neutral ground," away from Capitol Hill. This would save face for the executive branch, and at the same time placate those senators who refuse to confirm Richard Kleindienst as attorney general as long as the White House will not allow Flanagan to testify.

The question is, what "neutral" ground would be satisfactory to all parties?

Jack Anderson has offered to lend his offices on K Street to the committee, but for some reason the Republicans have turned him down.

Someone has suggested questioning Flanagan under the cherry blossoms by the Tidal Basin. But the park department has refused a permit on the grounds that the hot air produced by the hearings could hurt the flowers.

Another idea was to hold the hearings in Lafayette Park across the street from the White House. But the objection to this location is that there are a lot of pigeons flying around the park at this time of year.

ITT has offered to let the committee use one of its Avis garages, but the Democrats feel it would downgrade the hearings if they held them in a car rental agency that is only number two in the business.

The one neutral ground that is being given careful consideration is the RFK Stadium.

Since the Washington Senators left town, the stadium is empty until the fall, when the hearings could possibly be over.

The consensus here is that without baseball the public might go big for a congressional investigation.

The stadium seats 60,000 people and would probably be sold out for a sporting event of this kind.

The witness stand would be at home plate, and the committee could sit around the infield. Questions would be pitched from the mound. Many people think the fans would pay as much as $10 a seat to hear Flanagan's version of how he became involved in the ITT business.

To placate the Republicans, who might feel the Democrats wanted to turn the hearings into a circus, it has been suggested that all receipts from the event be donated to the Republican National Committee to finance their convention in San Diego. The promoters of RFK Stadium have added something to assure a big crowd. They would permit the fans to participate in the hearings. If they believed Flanagan answered a question truthfully, they would raise their thumbs up. If they felt he was hedging on a question, they would put their thumbs down.

On the basis of the thumbs, the Senate committee could decide whether Flanagan was telling the truth or not. At the end of the day, if the thumbs-up prevail, Flanagan could return to the White House. If the thumbs-down have it, he would have to fight the two giant pandas that Mao presented to President Nixon.

Youth Vote

WASHINGTON — It is still some three months before the Democratic National Convention, but already a well-heeled operation is quietly under way to control and manipulate the several hundred "new voter" youth delegates to Miami Beach.

Masterminding this ambitious backstage scheme is a wealthy middle-aged New Left politico, and a not-so-young multi-millionaire who is largely bank rolling it. They are:

(1) Former Rep. Allard Lowenstein, N.Y., now head of the New Left-dominated Americans for Democratic Action, and a militant leader of the 1968 "Dump Johnson" movement and a would-be similar "Dump Nixon" hoopla which fell flat on its face. While making gestures of again trying for Congress, Lowenstein is busily organizing and maneuvering to be the youth boss at the Democratic convention — and thus presumably play a king-maker role in that likely deeply fragmented and acrimonious affair.

(2) Steward Rawlings Mott, 34-year-old bachelor heir of an $800 million General Motors fortune, with a strong yen for financing ultraliberal movements and politicians — among them ex-Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Mayor John Lindsay, latest unlamented casualty in the sprawling Democratic Presidential melee, and something called the "Peoples Politics Committee" which Mott proclaimed last winter and into which he reportedly put $100,000, but about which nothing has been heard since.

Now the inside word is that he is bank rolling to the handsome tune of $100,000 Lowenstein's grandiose plan to make himself the king bee of the Miami Beach youth delegates.

The organizational front concocted to spearhead this operation is sonorously titled "The National Youth Caucus." Its officers consist of a pair of "co-chairmen" — both hand-picked by Lowenstein and both longtime henchmen of his. They are Clinton Devaux, black recent graduate of New York City College, and Laurie Beers, from upstate New York.

Outwardly, neither Lowenstein nor Mott has any connection with the National Youth Caucus. But, actually, they are it — particularly Lowenstein.

Pulling the wires and calling the shots from behind the scenes, the bustling wheeling dealing New Leftists is the whole works of NYC. He gives the cues and signals to Devaux and Beers and they enact their parts and say their prescribed pieces.

Mott provides money to pay bills — although he is not the sole contributor. Other wealthy leftists also are forking over. There is no dearth of funds.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Psoriasis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please help a broken-hearted mother of a 13-year-old boy who is an A student in junior high. He has psoriasis all over his head and body, in his ears and on his eyelids, around his nails. The skin looks like it has been eaten away.

I have taken him to four doctors only to be told nothing can be done and it will never go away. It's inherited.

I have used sun-lamps and all the medicines and ointments and soaps and shampoos the doctors prescribed and my boy is getting worse. He scratches until he bleeds. Maybe you can suggest what I can do. — R.C.

While minor cases of psoriasis aren't a disaster, extreme cases such as this one can be — and cases so severe require hospitalization.

You may have to do some checking to find a hospital in your locality, that has a department suitable for such treatment, but I think you will find one. At least there will be one in your part of the state.

Psoriasis is a chronic disorder, but not, so far as I know, hereditary. Annoying as the condition can be, it can be controlled, although not cured, and the intense itching can be relieved.

This requires special medications and dressings that can be applied in a hospital.

Saying flatly that the disease "will never go away" is putting it a little stronger than is justified. Perhaps it is a matter of spontaneous remission, or perhaps on occasion one treatment succeeds where another one will not. Frankly, this is something about which we cannot yet speak with certainty. We do not know the true cause of psoriasis and do not know specific, sure cure.

Just the same, some success is being achieved in treating it.

and further research is in progress in many areas.

One suggestion I have is that you get in touch with the National Psoriasis Foundation, a non-profit group devoted to seeking more knowledge about psoriasis.

Through it, I think you will be able to find out who is specializing in treatment of it in your vicinity. You can also keep in touch with efforts that are being made to improve treatment and understanding it.

The address of the foundation is 6415 SW Canyon Court, Portland, Ore. 97221.

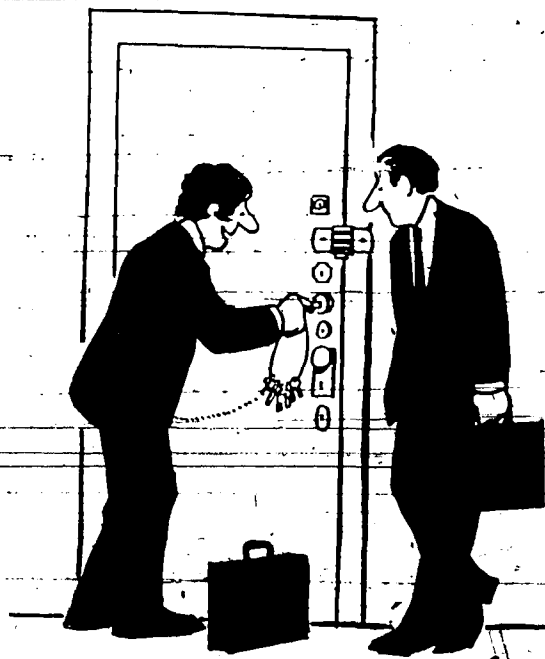

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of this newspaper for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code) stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Sen. Dole's bombing defense jeered

By LAURA FOREMAN
NEW ORLEANS (UPI)
Republican National Chairman Robert Dole, who defended stepped-up U. S. bombing in Vietnam at Tulane University Wednesday night, was booed, hooted, jeered and laughed at until he finally cut his speech short and left.

some members of the audience of about 400 yelled when the Kansas senator walked to the podium.
Dole managed to get through the first two pages of a prepared text, but members of the audience jeered and interrupted him when he talked about the war.
Dole's prepared text blasted the U. S. press for "grudgingly" reporting any South Vietnamese victories in the Indochina war.

"We have fought four wars in the 20th Century," he said. "But we never started those wars. We never fought them for the usual reasons of territorial gain or expansion of empire."
Laughs, boos and hoots. One heckler yelled, "I didn't know we had a comedian!"

"I wonder when I hear noises like that, why I spent 32 months in a hospital after the last war. I wonder if it was worth it," Dole said. "I think it was."
Returning to his text, Dole said Nixon's Vietnamization policy was working, although Democrats, and the national press were reluctant to admit it.
More jeers.
He accused the Democrats of starting the war and wanted to know where the war critics in the Senate were in 1964 when the Gulf of Tonkin resolution was signed.

"Where was Humphrey?" he said. "Where was Muskie?"
"Where were you?" the audience shouted back. "Where was 'Tricky Dicky'?"
When Dole said Nixon was bringing combat troops home, someone shouted, "in boxes."
"I think the Nixon policy..." Dole began; "...is to get re-elected," a heckler finished.
Dole shouted back:
"We're going to get you out of the war the Democrats got you into, whether you like it or not!"

He skipped over the rest of his prepared text and left. Outside, about 300 demonstrators chanted, shouted and beat on the pavement with cans and bottles. One of them threw a string of firecrackers into the auditorium lobby.
In his prepared text, Dole said the South was winning its share of victories.
"But the dearth of reporting about that aspect of the war gives the clear impression that it is regretted by those who are doing the reporting," the text said.

Block highway

ANTI-WAR protesters block U. S. Route 1 at University of Maryland early Thursday morning in the third straight night of disorders at the Washington area college. (UPI)

Police, war protesters fight on eastern campus

By United Press International
Police used teargas and two armed antiriot vehicles, and antiwar protesters used Roman candles, skyrockets, bricks and other missiles today in a fight for control of U.S. Route 1, which runs through the University of Maryland campus at College Park.
Two persons were injured and 19 demonstrators were arrested before police restored order to the campus.
It was the worst outbreak of violence since demonstrators across the country took to the streets and campuses three days ago to protest the renewed United States bombing raids of North Vietnam.

About 2,000 persons were involved in the incident. Police lobbed teargas into a crowd of 500 militants who blocked traffic along Route 1. About 1,500 other persons watched.
Before the four-hour protest ended, windows had been smashed in the administration building, and 10 stores reportedly had been looted.
Nineteen persons, including five women and an invalid in a wheelchair, were arrested in North Hollywood Calif., after they barricaded themselves in the Naval Reserve Training Center and said they would not leave until the bombing ended.

The demonstration lasted about seven hours. There were no injuries and no reports of property damage.
Most of the Wednesday protests were peaceful. However, at least eight persons were arrested when 3,000 noisy demonstrators carried their march from the University of Wisconsin campus to the steps of the state capitol and erupted into minor violence.

Meany raps wage-price controls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany used the government's own statistics today to try to prove his claim that President Nixon's wage-price controls are holding down pay increases while allowing prices to skyrocket.

In testimony prepared for a hearing by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, Meany asked the lawmakers to take the issue away from Nixon, revise the control machinery and impose a tax on "excess profits."

"The administration has proven its incompetence in these areas," Meany said. "It is up to the Congress to restore the confidence of the American people in the American economy."

Citing economic statistics produced by the government, Meany said the system established by Nixon in mid-November to contain both price and wage increases has demonstrated a bias against working people.

He said the figures show:

- In December, January and February, the consumer price index rose at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent—exactly equal to its performance from May through July, before Nixon froze prices and wages on Aug. 15.

- Wholesale prices rose at a 5.1 per cent annual rate in the first three months of this year, compared to an annual rate of 5.3 per cent before Nixon's August actions.
- From December through March, according to a wage index which "tends to overstate increases in wage rates," wages rose at a yearly rate of 6 per cent.
- Since productivity—output per manhour—has been rising rapidly, as it always does in a recovery period, Meany said, industries are reaping undeserved profits. Instead of raising prices, he said, they should be keeping them stable.
- Consequently, he said, after tax corporate profits were up 19 per cent in the second half of 1971 and profits of the nation's 100 largest corporations rose 76 per cent in all of last year.

All of this, he said, proves both the ineffectiveness of the administration's anti-inflation program and "its favoritism to business, against the interests of the consumer and worker."

Angela's love letters aired

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis' love letters to "Soledad Brother" George Jackson included one which vowed "liberation by any means necessary."

Whether the 28-year-old Communist's notes and typewritten letters to the slain convict should be introduced as state evidence was being debated today at her murder, kidnap and conspiracy trial.

"If I am serious about my love for you, about black people, I should be ready to go all the way. I am," read one handwritten note.

Defense attorneys Wednesday sought to have the letters barred as state evidence during arguments with the jury absent. Attorney Leo Branton told Judge Richard E. Aronson they were obtained by "secret, deliberate, conspiratorial and illegal means."

Arguments resume today

Nixon's wage control system wins court test

BALTIMORE (UPI)—President Nixon's wage control system won its first court test Wednesday.

U.S. District Judge C. Stanley Blair ruled Wednesday that the A&P supermarkets and a Baltimore meatcutters local must abide by a federal pay board ruling and cut wage increases back to the 7 per cent approved by the board.

Following a nine-day strike beginning Nov. 14, the day the wage-price freeze ended, A&P and the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchers Workmen of North America, AFL-CIO, agreed to a 16-month contract for 77 workers in the company's plant here.

The contract called for a 23 per cent pay increase for the butchers. The pay board reduced the figure to 7 per cent, slightly higher than the 5.5 per cent increase ceiling set for pay hikes.

Blair ruled that though 7 per cent was above the limit, the pay board ruling is binding and "must be adhered to."

The judge, in an 18-page opinion, also imposed the maximum $2,500 fine on the union and the company for violating the pay board ruling.

Blair said the two were "equally at fault" in not observing the ruling.

"This is the first decision and we consider it of extra importance," said U.S. attorney George Beall, who prosecuted the case.

Blair, a longtime political associate of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, ran unsuccessfully for governor of Maryland in 1970 on the Republican ticket before his appointment to the bench. He served as Maryland secretary of state while Agnew was governor.

Tornado rips Oklahoma home

DAVIS, Okla. (UPI)—A tornado destroyed a ranchhouse in which eight persons huddled for safety Wednesday night, killing five of them and injuring the other three. Among the dead were three teen-agers.

A dozen other twisters chewed across southern Oklahoma during the night, injuring 12 more persons, none seriously.

At Davis, 100 miles south of Oklahoma City, the tornado did not leave any part of the house standing.

"You couldn't tell there was a house there," said ambulance driver Red Adams. "You couldn't even tell there was a foundation. I had to go over three terraces to get to the bodies."

Adams said he talked to one of the three who survived, a 16-year-old girl, as she lay on the ground.

US scientists get deepest lunar look

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The $20 million third stage of the Apollo 16 Saturn 5 rocket hit the moon Wednesday with the force of 11 tons of TNT and gave scientists their deepest look at the lunar interior.

Dr. Gary Latham of New York's Lamont-Doherty Observatory said the S4B impact sent shock waves to all three operating science stations left behind by Apollos 12, 14 and 15.

Latham said the signals recorded at the Apollo 15 station 648 miles northeast of the impact site were unexpected and came from almost 200 miles into the lunar interior.

"We recorded the fastest wave at the Apollo 15 station 2 minutes and 7 seconds after impact, and I really hadn't expected it," Latham said. "This arrival is so important because it penetrates 124-186 miles and will extend our picture of the structure to that depth."

The Apollo 16 data for the first time gave scientists an indication of the lower boundary of a dense rock mantle.

Latham said the 30,805-pound rocket hit the surface at 4:02 p.m. EST, just 63.4 miles north of the Apollo 12 station in the Ocean of Storms. Astronauts John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke Jr. had started around the front side on their first orbit.

Scientists had targeted the spent booster for an impact 136 miles west of the Apollo 12 station, but an instrument malfunction foiled efforts to keep the course true.

"Without these impacts, our handle on lunar structure would be very limited," Latham said. "Our ultimate objective is to get at what is the structure of the moon."

Moonwalk rates short TV time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Television from the moon is all right for openers, but for sustained interest the networks are going with comedians, politicians and athletes Thursday night.

The first moon walk of the Apollo 16 crew, a seven-hour spectacular, is available for prime time, but the network officials have decided to run less than 1 1/2 hours of it during this period.

The moonwalk starts at 7:19 p.m. EST and all three networks will show John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. begin their excursion. NBC will stay with it from 7-8 p.m. EST and then leave the moonwalk for Flip Wilson.

CBS and ABC will show the moonwalk from 7:30-8 p.m. CBS will then air a special on Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and ABC will switch to the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The networks will rejoin the astronauts periodically as they bounce around the lunar surface in Rover II moon car, drilling holes, picking up rocks and setting up a nuclear-powered science station.

NBC, featuring Adm. Alan Shepard's commentary on the moon action, will show segments at 9-9:15 and 11:45-11:55 p.m. CBS, with commentary by Col. James B. Irwin, will interrupt its Thursday night movie and the late show with three-minute reports at 8:56, 9:56, 11:02 and 11:50.

ABC, with Col. David Scott doing the commentary, will have five minute cut-ins at 9:25 and 10:25 and finish with a two-hour, 40-minute show from 11:35 p.m. to 2:15 a.m. The moonwalk ends at 2:12 p.m.

A Lovelier You

DRESS IN AN INSTANT

By Mary Sue Miller

Tick, tick, tick... Time is often a woman's most desired commodity. To dovetail all of her activities into a day, she cuts many a corner. The first one usually restricts her personal routes.

She ceases to primp or fuss over clothes. She seeks and finds flexible fashions with easy-wear, easy-care features. Her wants have been anticipated, with a collection of instant clothes that are wearable from the inside out. For instance, there's the all-in-one Torsolino body-shirt. It's knit of super soft nylon that stretches to fit like a leotard. While the leotard bottom keeps you together, the nifty shirt tops shirts, shorts and pants. It will even go swimming sans put-over.

Another version, a cotton knit tank top sportswear item, is worn inside or outside. It may be worn under a tailored shirt. Or all by itself with pants. Red undershirt and white ducks-smashing! Ditto with a plaid seersucker suit.

A plus, mobile clothes inspire individual accessories, so quickly and pleasurably picked up on the run: the special belt, the Chinese clogs, the Ecuadorian panama, the beaded ropes. All such are fast personal trademarks that make go-together dressing an achievement in more ways than one.

ENHANCED BOSOMLINE

For a more attractive bosom, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, requesting her pamphlet, ENHANCED BOSOMLINE. In clude 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Pamphlet contains detailed instructions on how curve and lift can be improved through exercise, posture and cosmetics.

Meet time changed

HANSEN — Starting with the May 1 meeting of TOPS Chapter No. 84 meetings will begin at 8 p.m. and no more weigh-ins will be taken until the meeting ends. The club will take part in state recognition day at the CSI Auditorium April 28 and 29. Members of the Hansen group will help the 19 clubs from the valley with setting up displays showing club activities. The club also will judge any new banner which may be on display.

Mrs. Sharon Crossman will receive her five-year award for maintaining her status as a KOPS, the only person from this area to be so honored.

Gimmicky look out

Thinking of getting married in an Indian maid bridal gown, or something else really unconventional? Forget it, says Oscar de la Renta, who predicts: "The gimmicky look is out, the costume-y look is out. We have definitely returned to traditional values and a ladylike look. Even influences from other countries are dealt with gently, reflecting a faint flavoring of that trend."

TWIN FALLS — Officers for the coming year in the Twin Falls Legal Secretaries Association were announced today by Doris Paxton, Twin Falls, president. Others include Charlene Hine, vice president; Toni Clark, secretary; Claudia Ward, treasurer and Billy Jo Matheson, NALS representative.

TF couple weds in Baptist rites

TWIN FALLS — Eva Beth Fuller became the bride of Frederick J. Smith in an April 8 candlelight service in the First Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fuller, Twin Falls, and Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Smith, Caro, Mich.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest Hasselblad before a background setting of baskets of white gladioli and pink and turquoise chrysanthemums.

Turquoise bows marked the pews, and white carnations in bud vases were placed in the sanctuary windows.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The gown featured a chapel train and sweetheart neckline edged with narrow lace. Long fitted sleeves were puffed at the shoulder and fastened at the wrists with tiny buttons.

A pearl and rhinestone crown held the shoulder-length tiered veil of illusion net which had been worn by the bride's sisters, Mrs. Jon Wells and Mrs. Denis Taylor at their weddings. The bride's only jewelry was a locket worn by her mother at her wedding, and by her sisters at theirs. The gown was designed by the bride and made by her mother.

She carried a cascade bouquet of turquoise and white carnations and white roses, enhanced with turquoise streamers. As the bride came down the aisle, she paused to present her mother a rose from her bridal bouquet, and after the ceremony she presented a rose to the bridegroom's mother.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Wells, sisters of the bride, were matrons of honor. Bridesmaids were Donna Ustick, Twin Falls; Mrs. Earl Walker, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Wesley Beeson served the cake. Mrs. DeVerne Fuller and Mrs. Maurice Fuller served the punch and coffee. The guest tables were decorated with floating candles in turquoise glasses.

Guests attended from Washington, Michigan, and surrounding Magic Valley towns.

Pre-nuptial showers were hosted by Mrs. DeVerne Fuller and Mrs. E. D. Taylor, Twin Falls, and by Mrs. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Roy Allen in Hansen. The bride's friends at the Mountain Home Air Force Base also hosted a shower.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Grand Canyon and Bryce National Parks. They will reside in Mountain Home where both are in the United States Air Force. The bride will complete her duty there while the bridegroom is in Vietnam.

TFHS Play opens tonight at O'Leary

TWIN FALLS — A play, "Dark of the Moon" will be presented by Twin Falls High School Drama Department at Vora C. O'Leary Junior High School.

Performances will begin at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The folk drama with music was inspired by the old ballad, "Barbara Allen," which has been sung for generations in the Big Smokey Mountains of North Carolina.

A fantasy, the play tells how John, a witch boy, makes a bargain in which he assumes human form to woo Barbara Allen who is "purity as a June bug in a tin dipper."

The play tells the tragic fate that befalls the girl after she has borne a witch child and how John, never entirely happy as a human, returns to the mists of the Smokey Mountains and the jealous she-witches.

The witches in "Dark of the Moon" are young and beautiful, not the ugly hags usually pictured. Born of witches and huzzards, they live for 300 years and then become mountain fog.

They are jealous and passionate creatures of the mountains. Reserved tickets may be obtained by calling 733-6551.

REHEARSING a scene from "Dark of the Moon" to be presented by the Twin Falls High School Drama Department are, from left, Mary Ann Babbel, Peter Bolton, Vicki Herzinger and Laurie Wright. Performances are set for 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

played three rounds of trumps. Needless to say, he had some anxious moments until the jack of trumps appeared.

Then he led a heart to dummy's ace and ruffed a diamond. West showed out. Now Andy cashed dummy's king of hearts and ruffed a third heart. East shuffled out of this suit, and Andy claimed the contract on a squeeze.

All he had to do was to run out the rest of his trumps. He had a perfect count of both opposing hands and West could not guard both clubs and hearts. Actually, he developed a double-squeeze situation. Only West could stop hearts. Only East could stop diamonds. After the last trump lead, neither opponent could hang onto three clubs.

The late Ambrose Garner of New York won the 1941 open pairs and was second in six other national events in a long bridge career.

His favorite hand was one that got his team into the finals of the 1941 Vanderbilt Cup.

East's one no-trump overcall was one of those psychics that work on occasion. This time it boomeranged, since Andy worked his way to seven spades. Andy might have bid seven anyway, but at the other table South stopped at six when East kept quiet.

Andy won the diamond lead with dummy's ace and

DEAR ABBY: For some months I have kept the letter in your column signed, "NO NAME, PLEASE" who has been [and probably still is] taking care of an aging parent. She wants to know why nobody offers to stay with the parent so she herself can have a little break in her routine.

Abby, nobody needs to be in such distress. I am a volunteer in a program which helps people in just such circumstances. This woman has only to tell her story to her pastor. He surely knows of organizations and agencies that provide such services.

There is FISH, also VOLUNTEER FRIENDLY VISITORS, and others, listed under "City of," or "County of," or "State of," followed by an appropriate title.

If I knew that that woman was in my neighborhood, I would go at once and offer to stay with her elderly parent so she could get some relief. If we don't hear about these people, their loneliness, and their related problems, we cannot offer to help.

Please tell her, and others that the world has many willing, generous people who will come when they are needed.

FLORENCE IN HADDONFIELD, N. J.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for nearly four months. He is a wonderful man, but we have a problem. Our sex life has been nil.

On our honeymoon, all we did was sleep, but I thought we were just exhausted from the wedding.

We have never had sex. I consulted our minister and he said he was "amazed" but he offered no solution.

My husband is a very shy person. Could this have anything to do with it? I am told I am nice looking. Could it be MY fault? Is this unusual? Can you help me? I would sure appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: We are a family of six. All healthy and normal. I think our eldest son is 16. I'll call him Bill. Last summer Bill started putting on an act in public which I have found utterly disgusting. He puts his glasses on askew, shakes, trembles, crosses his eyes, sturps and giggles and pretends that he is retarded. This isn't a once-in-a-while thing; he can't walk a half a block on the sidewalk without going into his act. His father thinks it is hilarious.

I think it is a cheap, sick way of getting attention. Last Saturday at the shopping center, Bill was so "retarded" he could hardly get out of the car, and when he finally got everyone looking at him, he straightened up and acted normal.

If we attempt as a family to watch TV, Bill lies prone on the chesterfield with his eyes crossed, slurping and giggling until it's just a nightmare. Meanwhile his father is holding his sides. I think they are both sicker than they know. Or is something wrong with my sense of humor? Perhaps I should tell you that we have no retardation in the family anywhere. What on earth is the matter with this boy?

CANADIAN

DEAR CANADIAN: He obviously doesn't realize that he is ridiculing the handicapped. But what's his father's excuse? I hope they both grow up soon.

Couple weds at temple

SPRINGDALE — The Idaho Falls LDS Temple was the setting for the wedding of Darlene Cynthia George and David William Edgar on April 7.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lester George, Rupert, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edgar, Springdale.

Elder Willard Dye officiated at the ceremony. Twenty-six relatives and friends accompanied the couple to the temple. The wedding party was held at a luncheon at West Bank Inn after the ceremony by the bridegroom's parents.

A reception honoring the couple was held Friday evening at the LDS Cultural Hall. The couple greeted guests before baskets of white daisies.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie over satin, featuring a full skirt, princess sleeves and an empire waistline. A train formed at the back of the mandarin collar. The gown was designed and made by the bride.

Lila Dora Stenson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Sandie George, sister of the bride.

John Crane served as best man.

Soloist was Ronald George, brother of the bride. He was accompanied by Sandie George, Thelma Edgar, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests. Mrs. Bess George, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the gift table.

A lavender and white color scheme was carried out at the bride's table. The guest tables were covered with lavender and white checked cloths centered with baskets of daisies.

The cake, made and decorated by Virgel Dana, was served by Mrs. Larry Edgar, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Mrs. Irvin Tilly, Salt Lake City, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl.

Larry Edgar, brother of the bridegroom, was usher. Gift bearers were Gregory Edgar, Michell Tilly, Phoebe Tilly, Reo Stenson and Dean Edgar.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. George O. Stott, Choteau, Mont., grandparents of the bride; and Mrs. Andrew Rowley, Richfield, Utah, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Guests attended from Pennsylvania, Oregon, Utah and Montana.

The young couple will reside in Springdale where the bridegroom is engaged in farming with his father.

Soviet-U.S. tension may climax next fall

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet-American tension over the newly inflamed Vietnam issue could well reach a critical point next autumn, with the possibility that any progress the two nuclear superpowers make at next month's summit conference in Moscow may be destroyed.

That view was expressed today by some highly placed U.S. officials who believe the fate of President Nixon's "era of negotiations" may be determined not so much by what happens in the current Vietnam escalation as by events more toward the end of this year.

And these officials continue to believe that the scheduled May 22 meeting between Nixon and Soviet leaders will "take place as planned, despite Russia's anger over U.S. bombing raids on Hanoi and Halphong."

Their assumption that the May summit conference will take place, despite the harsh words being exchanged between

Moscow and Washington, is based on two factors. They believe:

The Kremlin is willing at present to undergo considerable embarrassment over Vietnam in order to go through with the summit meeting at which it hopes to advance its "European policy," particularly with respect to the German issue, and its desire for a European security conference.

The North Vietnamese offensive will be blunted and contained by the middle of May, making it impossible for Hanoi to undertake any major operations during the latter part of the month when the rainy season begins in that area. This containment will make it unnecessary for Nixon to order dangerous new attacks on the North, which might endanger the Moscow meeting. While relatively confident concerning the short term future, these officials foresee rather frightening prospects if Hanoi is willing to pay the cost of trying to supply her forces during the rainy season and launch a major new offensive when dry weather comes toward the latter part of September.

They point out that this would present Nixon with a major new challenge during the month preceding the presidential election—one they are confident he would react to with heavier attacks than North Vietnam has ever sustained. This could push the Russians past the point where they can continue a meaningful dialogue with the United States with reference to limitation of nuclear arms, reduction of military forces in Europe and expanded trade. If, on the other hand, Hanoi decides to pull its forces back during the rainy season and does not launch any major offensive when dry weather comes, Nixon will not feel obliged, in the view of some officials, to undertake drastic measures which could break the negotiations with Russia on those issues which both sides hope to work out following the Moscow meeting.

Humphrey's campaign echoes 1968

By STEVE GERSTEL
PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—It was all very reminiscent of 1968. Maybe not as loud, maybe not as vociferous, maybe not as antagonistic, maybe not as unified. But all the old ingredients were there. The hastily scrawled letters "Wind Down, Hubert" on a laundered bedsheet, the hecklers, chants of "Dump the Hump" from every side: the boos, the phrase broken by an obscenity, the hiss. On the University of Pennsylvania campus, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey came face-to-face again with 1968—the hibernating campus protest against the Vietnam war roused once more by the escalation of the bombing. The protest was not unexpected nor spontaneous. It was fanned by student activists, some of them selling bus tickets ($7 for college students, $6 for high school, round trip) for Saturday's "emergency" demonstration against the bombing. Humphrey walked right into it. Aware of the protest, Humphrey immediately announced—as he took over the microphone in Irvine Auditorium—that he would take questions from the students. Before he did, however, Humphrey spoke of discarding "hate" and "yesterday" and talked of "now and tomorrow." But when he said that the country "has learned something from Vietnam," hecklers yelled back "not yet" and "you don't deserve to be president." Aided by the microphone on the stage and his own strong voice, Humphrey told the students that the United States is "going to be involved more with Asia than ever before" and drew long, eerie hissing from the protesters spread among some 2,000 students. The first question came from a clean-cut youth with short hair who said his brother has been a prisoner of war since 1965, and asked, "How are you going to bring him back—my brother who has wasted a third of his life for nothing?" Momentarily taken back, Humphrey said "nobody is sadder" about the plight of the prisoners and added he has worked for a withdrawal of American forces within a specified period of time with the understanding the POWs would be released. The questions that followed were no easier and, at times, Humphrey lost his patience but never control over his composure or his voice. He jibed at a student with shouting curses, telling him, "Might I say I'm glad you learned these great words," and to another student "I'll put my life against yours any-

The loudest cheers—which filled the auditorium—came when a long-haired student asked "Why should we trust someone to end the war who made it?" Telling the students he was the only person who outlined a program of withdrawal, cease-fire and negotiated peace in 1968, Humphrey added, "I hope some of you will have the chance to change your mind when you find out what you are doing is not the right thing to do." He also drew boos and titters when he said he knew of the

Expanded Common Market referendum set

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 On April 23 French voters will have a chance to vote for an expanded European Common Market including Britain, to vote against it or "go fishing." Actually the choices in the first national referendum to be called by President Georges Pompidou since he took over from Charles de Gaulle in 1969 aren't quite that simple. The real issues are so complex that it is entirely possible for one Frenchman to vote "no" and another "yes," each seeking the same objective and each arriving at his decision by identical lines of reasoning.

Even now, with less than a week to go, it is not certain whether Pompidou is willing to submerge France for the greater good of an integrated Europe or whether his referendum is intended as a reaffirmation of De Gaulle's special dream of glory for France.

In one speech he declared: "The time is not for us to claim to dominate Europe and the world."

there has been no general French hue and cry against it. Only the Communists oppose it actively on the charge it will lower the workers' standard of living.

Insiders in the Gaullist coalition say that with both West German Chancellor Willy

Brandt and British Prime Minister Edward Heath having political troubles of their own at home, Pompidou seeks to establish himself as the unchallenged leader of the European community and thus to enhance French grandeur in the manner of De Gaulle.

The new Common Market will have two-way annual trade of more than $115 billion, making it the most powerful single commercial force in the world.

Apparently in the hope of wielding a commanding influence on the new community, France already is campaigning to have Paris adopted as the future "political" capital instead of Brussels where most Common Market institutions are located.

In any event, Pompidou clearly is using the referendum as a foundation stone for his own place in history, and the vote will be as much approval or disapproval of his policies as it will be for or against an expanded Common Market.

With victory seemingly assured, the remaining question is how many Frenchmen will vote. It is estimated that as many as 35 per cent may just decide to go fishing.

Analysis

The result has been to arouse a wide variety of reactions. Most Gaullists are expected to vote "yes."

The Communists will vote "no."

Socialists who favor the expanded market are being urged to abstain.

A French columnist has suggested with a touch of sarcasm that voters use two ballots, one voting yes for the market and another no for Pompidou.

One thing is certain—the referendum was not necessary to expanding the market by the addition of Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark. It could have been handled as a matter of government routine. Despite the fact that De Gaulle twice had vetoed Britain's entry,

Charter night set for Lions

RICHFIELD—Charter Night for the Richfield Lions Club has been set for May 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church.

Final plans for the annual event were made at the regular meeting held Tuesday in Richfield. It was reported by Albert Pelley, president.

Chairman of the Lions sight and corneal transplant committee, Bill Heltick, Boise, will be the featured speaker. He will speak of the transplant program and of the mobile unit which has been purchased that will visit schools in the Idaho-Oregon area to check eyesight of pre-school children.

A special program is being arranged which will include musical selections from the Methodist Youth Choir. All Lions and their wives will be guests. Invitations are also being mailed to Lions members in surrounding towns. Pelley reported local women will be asked to help with the forthcoming eyesight checks from pre-schoolers. A special training session will be held at a time to be announced later.

Typical worker

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—If you are 58 years old, earning about $7,500 in a white-collar job and living in a town of 10,000 to 25,000 persons, you're halfway there to being a typical customer for mass-marketed health insurance.

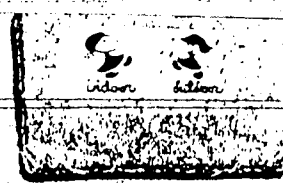

Other traits of this typical policyholder, according to National Liberty Corporation are that he is married and living with his wife, has a high school education, owns the house in which he lives, has a conservative life style and travels infrequently.

Methodists urged to end division

ATLANTA (UPI)—An Alabama bishop, whose state is one of four where segregated church conferences remain, urged the United Methodist Church today to end all such racially separated bodies by July, 1973.

In his report to the 1,000 delegates of the church's

General Conference, Bishop W. Kenneth Goodson of Birmingham, chairman of the commission on religion and race, asked further that every step be taken to insure rights of minority groups, including "equal opportunities for service, representation and voice on every level of the church's life and ministry." The report also asked that the commission created after the 1968 assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. be made a permanent part of the church's structure.

The formerly all-black Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church was dissolved in 1968 after several attempts at voluntary integration. The only church units still segregated are two regional conferences in Mississippi and one each in Alabama, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The General Conference, organized along the lines of a unicameral legislature, scheduled more committee meetings.

Astronaut wives shun publicity

NASSAU BAY, Tex. (UPI)—Sisy Young, the mystery woman of the Apollo 16 flight, turned her back on the space agency and went into seclusion when her husband left for the moon.

Dotty Duke, a Georgia girl who likes to go barefoot, divides her time between two small children, a black dog named "Booster" and five baby sisters nesting in her mailbox.

And Elizabeth Mattingly, very pregnant, is staying close to home, awaiting the birth of her first child about the first of May.

These are the girls left behind by the astronauts making man's fifth moon landing. As always, no two are alike.

Sisy Young, 28, a secretary with olive skin and nice curves, is bucking tradition by refusing to talk to reporters or even the space agency's own public relations men.

No one remembers it ever happening before on a mission. Protocol officers are upset. We don't know where she is, said one space agency spokesman. "If you find her, let us know. As far as we are concerned, she's open game for the press."

Another said, "It kind of puts a damper on the whole thing."

Sisy, a secretary at TRW Systems across the street from the Manned Spacecraft Center, married veteran astronaut John W. Young, 41, last summer after he divorced his first wife, Barbara.

Barbara now lives in Jacksonville, Fla., with her two children, Sandy, 14, and John, 13.

Just before her husband blasted off from Cape Kennedy, Sisy took a leave of absence from her job and dropped out of sight. She told protocol officers she didn't want to be bothered by the press.

No one answers the door at her apartment in Nassau Bay. Some say she stayed in Florida after the launch. Others speculate she may have gone to her home in St. Louis.

Contacted at their home in Orlando, Fla., Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Young, wouldn't say where Sisy is.

Mining Haiphong Harbor possible

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has testified the United States has not ruled out the blockading or mining of Haiphong harbor in North Vietnam.

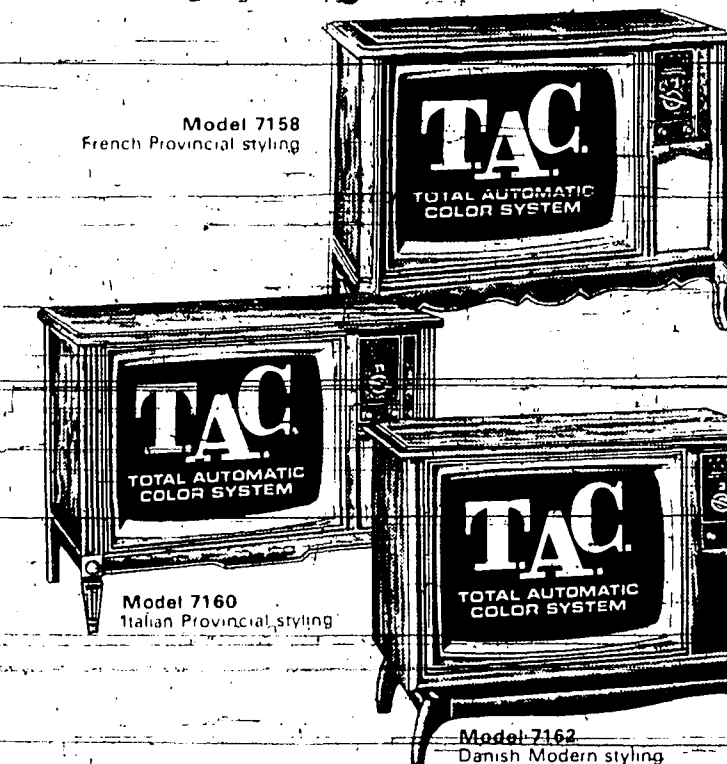

Laird was asked about the possibility Tuesday when he appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Committee Chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., posed the question, inquiring if any thought "has been given to imposing a naval blockade or mining Haiphong harbor."

"The answer is yes," Laird replied. "There are many contingency plans."

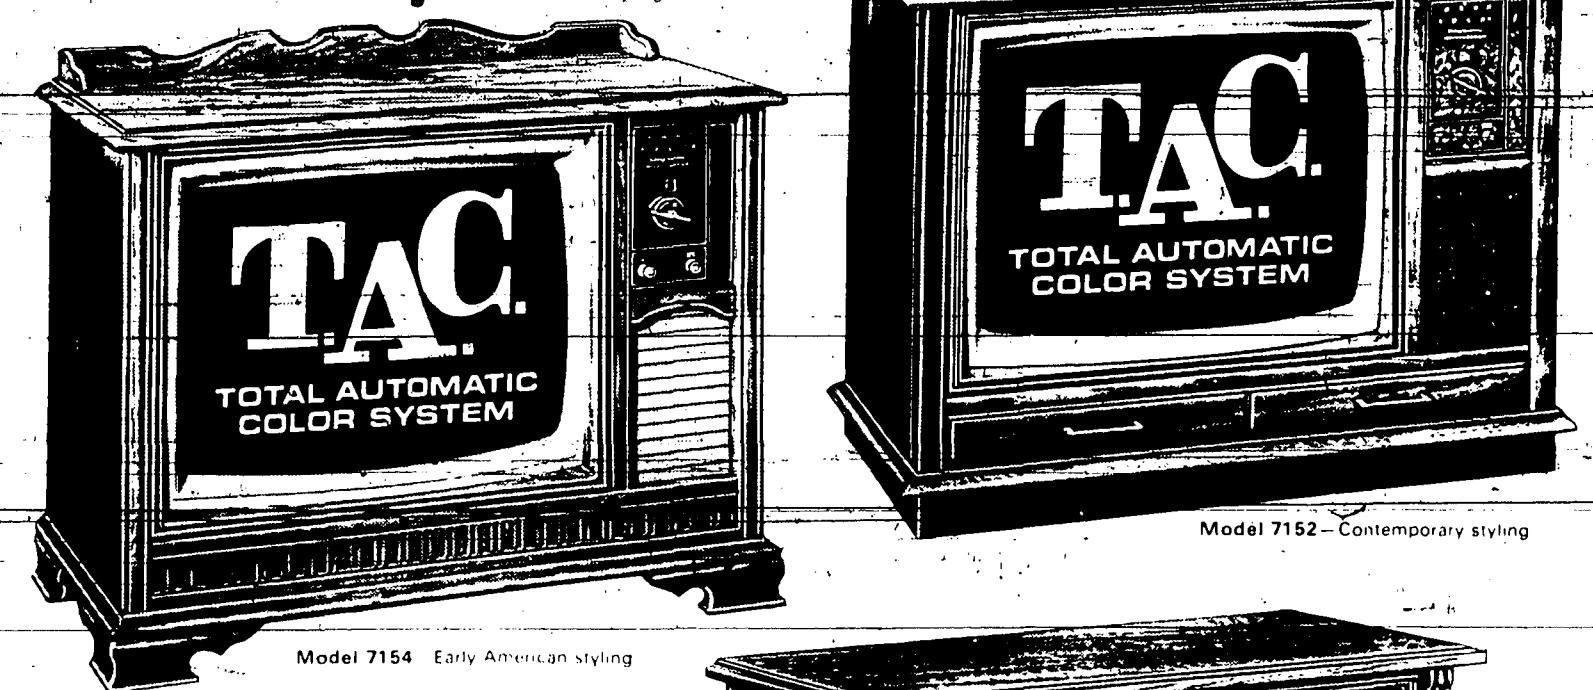

Laird said he "would not rule out" an attempt to seal off the harbor, which receives most of the war goods entering North Vietnam.

GARY CUSTER

Ungraded classes urged

TWIN FALLS — Gary Custer, a candidate for the Twin Falls School Board from zone 2, would like to see ungraded classes investigated for local schools.

Custer, 33, is a native of Twin Falls and received a B. S. degree in agronomy from the University of Idaho.

He has farmed southwest of Twin Falls since graduating from college, with a dairy herd of about 100 cows.

Custer is on the board of directors of both the Twin Falls Dairy Herd Improvement Association and the Idaho State Holstein Association. He is past president of the South Central Idaho Holstein Club and master of Twin Falls Grange No. 216.

The father of three children, ages 8, 5 and 3, Custer said he is running for school board because "I would like to do my part in giving the children of Twin Falls an opportunity for the best education they can get."

Custer said, "presently the teacher is hampered by having to teach the average student, whereas some slower learners need extra help and faster learners get bored. With ungraded classes a student could proceed at his own pace," he said.

[Custer said he believes kindergartens are necessary in easing the transition of the preschool child between home life and the regimentation of school. He has been a youth Sunday school teacher for 10 years and was an Explorer adviser and assistant Scoutmaster.

Mental health funds allocated

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Health approved allocation today of its $14,027,527 total budget for fiscal year 1973, the bulk of it to go to the Mental Health Division.

At the same time, the three board members present approved funding for the board of the Department of Environmental Protection and Health which will go into effect July 1 with a board membership increase to seven from five.

Dr. John Van Orman, Jerome, vice chairman, served as chairman during the meeting. Dr. Merrill Sharp, Pocatello, board chairman, was fired by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus earlier this week as a response to Sharp's criticism of the Health Department reorganization.

Sharp's replacement, John Squires of Pocatello, was not present at the meeting. Still vacant is the seat held by former board chairman, Fred Humphreys, Boise, who resigned earlier this year.

The fiscal year 1973 budget included $6.3 million from the general fund, $4.7 million from federal funds and the remainder from other sources.

As approved by the board today, General Services — the administrative portion of the Health Department — will receive $736,877, comprehensive health planning $108,144, preventive medicine $895,005, laboratories $511,602, environmental improvement $255,766, air pollution control $127,299, water pollution control $263,934, child health $1,108,804, youth rehabilitation $475,741, adult health $412,649, mental health $6,140,457, and the seven local health districts $3,281,300.

The total for the mental health division includes $859,142 for State Hospital North, $2,089,042 for State Hospital South and $3,192,273 for the mental health centers. Critics of the budget approved during the 1972 legislative session claimed the appropriation would mean a severe downgrade or forced closure of the Orofino institution.

Van Orman questioned the funding for the health districts, saying he feared the inequitable distribution would deny all citizens of the state access to equal health services.

But Robert Des Aulniers, acting health administrator, said the funds were redistributed last year on a per capita basis and this year on the basis of local support for the health districts, adding, "It will be up to the local health districts to raise sufficient funds."

American Samoa, a possession of the United States, is administered by the Department of the Interior.

FLAMELESS ELECTRIC LIVING FOR A NEATER, CLEANER WORLD

Rupert fire wreckage remains

Lawsuit slated by Rupert firm

RUPERT — The black-square wreckage which once housed a number of business firms, including the Big-O Tire Co., here may be rebuilt.

Dan Howarth, Boise, president of the Big-O Tire Co., said today the firm plans a lawsuit against Hartford Insurance Co., over settlement of the loss sustained by the company in the fire which razed a number of firms last year.

Howarth is also owner of the land on which the Big-O was located.

The problem of clearing up the debris, which lies along the main highway through Rupert, was discussed briefly by the Rupert City Council Tuesday night.

Councilmen Bill Whitton asked when the debris would be removed from the block. Mayor Wendell Johnson said the problem was being studied, but he knew of no major steps being planned at this time.

Some of the steelbeams, are apparently being cut up and removed periodically by workmen, Johnson said.

The tire company moved headquarters to Boise following the fire and is now completing construction of office and warehouse space in Boise, Howarth said. The firm maintains a retail outlet in Rupert and may build other facilities, depending on the settlement with Hartford.

Fifth district officers listed

EDEN — New Fifth District American Legion officers will be installed during the department convention in Lewiston in July.

Daryl Wolfe, Filer, commander, said he will be succeeded by Niel Cross, Eden, after July 1.

Clarence Showers, Filer, vice commander; Don McDonald, Eden, adjutant; Lester E. Joslin, Jr., Twin Falls, sergeant at arms; and Ortha McGill, Paul, chaplain.

About 50 Legionnaires attended the district convention including business sessions, a banquet and dance in the Eden Legion Hall.

Wendell trustees discuss budget

WENDELL — Figures for the proposed 1972-73 Wendell School budget were discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of the Wendell School Board.

Supt. Lawrence LaRue asked school patrons to renew a five mill maintenance and operations levy which will be voted on May 9. LaRue said the levy, which has been approved the past two years, will add an additional second grade teacher, a part-time psychologist and possibly a junior high teacher.

Other expenditures for the levy will be for payroll and fiscal accounting, interior painting of the senior and junior high schools and elementary schools, and purchase of new desks for the lower elementary classrooms.

The election will be from noon to 8 p.m. in the high school building. A trustee from zone 3 will also be elected then.

The budget hearing will be May 11 at 8 p.m. at the high school. The proposed budget includes salary increases ranging from $6,000 for a first year teacher with a B.S. degree, compared to $5,900 last year, to $8,640 for an M.S. degree plus 30 credits, previously $8,500.

Last year's revenue compared with 1972-73 anticipated revenue is as follows: local revenue, $163,519 and $167,019; state and county apportionment, $225,138 and $250,617; federal programs, $46,700 and $41,500; other income, $16,750 and $20,750; bond interest and redemption fund, $43,606 and $28,631; estimated balance in funds, $6,637 and zero. Revenue totals are $502,349 and $508,517; if the mill levy is passed.

Total expenditures for last year followed by proposed expenditures for 1972-73 are: total administrative, $23,115 and $28,398; instructional, $278,222 and $289,980; transportation, $36,270 and $36,270; total operation of plant, $6,000 and $6,300; fixed charges, $22,750 and $27,350; total capital outlay, $9,850 and $13,008; bond interest and redemption, $43,712 and $28,631; special fund, $49,700 and $45,500. Total expenditures $502,349 and $508,517.

School addition discussed

WENDELL — Architects from the firm of Thompson and Kolbo, Boise, met with school officials Tuesday night to discuss plans for the junior high school addition.

School board members, physical education instructors and junior high teachers requested a number of changes in the design of the addition and a physical education facility, according to Supt. Lawrence LaRue.

The firm will make the desired alterations before Monday, when a meeting is planned with the school board, junior and senior high school faculties, citizen committee and a fiscal agent from the Idaho First National Bank, Boise.

The estimated cost of the projects will be given at the meeting, LaRue said. The fiscal agent will explain the bonding capacity of the district, and will suggest the amount of a mill levy needed to finance the program.

Prospector must appear in court

BOISE (UPI) — Federal Judge J. Blaine Anderson has ordered a prospector to appear at Pocatello April 27 to show why he should not be ordered to halt his operation in the White Clouds Mountains.

The U.S. attorney brought the action against Elmer Swanson who resides on the unpatented Livingston Mill site at the junction of Big Boulder and Jim Creeks.

The complaint alleges Swanson is prospecting with a bulldozer on a road above the creek without consent of the U.S. Forest Service.

The complaint asks for monetary damages and an injunction.

Educators confer

Cassia teachers to hold contracts

The resolution adds, "Be it further resolved that the CCEA will conduct elections, polls, etc., on any matter the association so desires, when it desires and how it desires."

The association will also, according to the resolution, "shall, through its own press releases, expound the cause of teachers against unjust criticism from any source."

The second resolution declared the intent of the CCEA to serve as the "sole negotiating agent for the teachers of Cassia County... so long as the majority of teachers in the district are members of the CCEA."

Teachers also signed a petition, to be turned over to the administration, setting forth the association stand on negotiations, declaring:

"Whereas, the teachers of Cassia County have a composite of teacher training, experience and leadership, we do voice publicly to the board of trustees of Cassia County our desire to be represented in the decision-making process through negotiations in the following areas: grievance procedures, teaching conditions, curriculum, teacher load, class size, personnel policies, salaries, fringe benefits and other matters of mutual interest."

Harold Blauer, Cassia County school superintendent, has said that these areas are to be determined administratively, and cannot be negotiated. Negotiations are currently deadlocked over the question of what issues can be brought to the negotiation table, according to Blauer and CCEA President Clyde Wardle.

A negotiation session is scheduled Saturday evening, between the CCEA negotiation team and a committee of school district trustees.

All negotiation sessions will be closed to the public and press, by request of Dahl Reed, the team spokesman. Reed said a press release will be issued following each session.

In a joint statement on association policy, Wardle and Reed said "We are willing to negotiate. If they are, we'll get something done."

"But, we must negotiate on curriculum and instruction, on teaching conditions and on anything that would better the educational system of this county."

"Salary is not the main issue," the spokesmen said. "We know the district has only so much money to work with, and salaries can only be so high. But we would like to have some say in how the money is passed around, and how the school district is operated."

Discussing their stand on teaching conditions, Wardle said that "Some teachers would rather teach fewer students each day for slightly less money, than teach more students for more. They should have a chance to say so."

Problems said similar

BURLEY — School administrators are the same throughout the land, according to Bob Day, Idaho Education Association negotiations field representative.

Day told the Times-News on Wednesday that "We can tell any group of teachers what their problems with school officials are even without talking to them. The problems are nearly always the same."

In Cassia County, the school administration and teachers are deadlocked over the issues to be negotiated. The administration, according to Supt. Harold Blauer, holds to the belief that only salary, grievance procedure and fringe benefits are subject to negotiation.

Negotiators for the teachers, in line with current IEA thinking, believe that "all matters which affect the educational process" should be open to bargaining. This would include selection of textbooks, development of curriculum, working conditions and personnel matters.

"Teachers and principals should be able to contribute to these problems," Day said. "They are, after all, in the forefront of the educational process and they know what the problems are better than anyone."

Day said he has found much the same problem throughout the state. School trustees and administrators alike refuse to recognize the interest of the teachers in all matters concerning education, and refuse to allow the teachers to participate in the bargaining process.

"We're making some progress, though, through group action," Day concluded.

ELKHORN — Investigation is continuing today into vandalism of about $2,600 to heavy equipment tires on the Elkhorn at Sun Valley site.

According to a Blaine County sheriff's deputy, six tires on a grader and one tire on a loader were slit Tuesday night. The equipment is owned by Mike Ivie Construction Co., Bellevue.

Ivie said Wednesday that the grader tires were valued at about $250 each, and the loader tire about $800. He said several hundred dollars would be required in time and labor costs to repair or replace the tires.

Burley man faces charge

KING HILL — A Burley man was charged with driving while intoxicated Wednesday after his vehicle left U.S. Highway 30 and overturned. Investigating officers Buster Taylor, Glenns Ferry, and Jack Freeman, Mountain Home, both Elmore County deputies, said Hyrum I. Butler 36, was issued the citation after the 5 p.m. accident.

Officers said the accident occurred about a mile west of King Hill. Butler told officers a car passed him, forcing his pickup truck and camper off the highway.

Butler received cuts and bruises but was not hospitalized. Damage to the truck and camper was estimated at $250.

2 men hurt at Richfield

SHOSHONE — Two men are in satisfactory condition this morning after being injured in an accident Wednesday near Richfield.

Edward Irwin, 27, Darby, Mont., and Kenneth A. Caldwell, 19, Amarillo, Tex., were injured when a pickup truck driven by Irwin left the road three miles west of Richfield on U.S. Highway 26 at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

A passing motorist, brought the two to Shoshone where they were treated by a local physician and then taken to St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, by ambulance.

Thomas Conner, Lincoln County sheriff, said there is a railroad crossing and curve where the accident occurred and apparently the driver was unable to negotiate the curve.

Cassia forms zoning unit

BURLEY — The Cassia County Zoning Commission was established Tuesday evening during a public meeting at the courthouse.

The meeting was called by the county commissioners and the law regarding a county zoning commission was explained by William Parsons, local attorney.

Neil Anderson was named chairman and other officers elected were Lloyd Hess, vice chairman, and Fran Beckham, secretary.

Board members include Raymond Seymour, Lex Kunau, Nathan Tanner, and Margaret Ottley, all six-year terms; Neil Anderson, Rita Fletcher, Earl K. McCashin and Lloyd Hess, all four-year terms; Carl Osterhout, Jay Nielson and Fran Beckham, all two-year terms.

Alternates selected were Bernard Bradshaw, Carol Larsen, Ed Schwagler and Milton Payne.

Advisory committee include Gary Post, Lou Martindale, and J. Wayne Cole, county agent.

The board is to function as a land zoning commission board. A total of at least seven members must be in attendance to constitute a quorum. Meeting dates were set for the third Tuesday of each month.

Fairfield sets hearing on lower school budget

FAIRFIELD — Hearing on the proposed Camas County School District budget which shows a 9 per cent reduction this year will be held May 8 at 8 p.m.

Superintendent Harold Stroud said the proposed budget this year is $201,657, compared to $219,021, or a drop of $17,363.

The decline reflects retirement of a 20-year-old bond issue for school construction.

Stroud said the reduction is possible in spite of a $300-per-teacher salary increase this year in addition to seniority increments. The salary schedule was approved by the board of trustees April 10, as was the proposed budget.

Stroud said if there are no major protests May 8, the budget will be approved in final form at that time.

Beginning teachers with a B. A. degree would receive $5,900 in the coming year and after five years' experience the salary is proposed at $6,300, Stroud said.

Stroud also said there will be a levy election May 8 from 1 to 7 p.m. in the high school.

The superintendent said this is not an increase, but will be to approve the present 35 mill levy in the district for maintenance and operation in the system.

Budget items for this year compared to last year include:

Administration, $17,850 and $17,800; instructional, $130,581 and $116,678; transportation, $17,740 and $18,250, down because of purchase of new buses last year and resulting lower maintenance costs; plant operation, $23,630 and $23,500; maintenance $4,436 and $5,000; fixed charges, including liability insurance which was let on bids for the first time this year, down to $2,780 from $3,100; hot lunch and student body, $1,500 both years; capitol outlay, $3,000 and $2,700, and bond redemption last year, $30,493 and nothing this year.

Too much debris

WRECKAGE of old cars and piles of dead animals are frequently seen east of Accequia. This waterway is part of swamp-like area that develops during the irrigation season that connects with the nearby Snake River and contains a variety of debris. Minidoka County officials are working to alleviate the problem.

Health food firms boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — The country's retailers have found a miniature gold mine in the nature and health food business.

Not only has the number of nature food shops increased from 1,200 in 1968 to around 3,000 now, but many supermarket chains are starting to install nature food departments.

The research firm, Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., says the nature business rose from $140 million to $200 million in 1971 and should double this year.

Started around 20 years ago by so-called food faddists, the nature business began to take off with rising public concern about ecological contamination of vegetables, fruits and meats by chemical fertilizers, antibiotics and pesticides.

People became apprehensive when they read or heard stories of arsenic traces in chickens, mercury in fish and DDT in almost everything.

Many began growing nature foods, calling them organic foods, eschewing all fertilizers except natural animal manures and humus and rejecting nursery seeds from plants that had been subjected to inorganic fertilizers and pesticides. Such organic farms are found largely in the Eastern states and on the West Coast, but the movement is spreading to middle America.

Some dairymen in the Middle West now are offering organically produced milk, cheese and butter. Poultrymen are producing broilers and eggs guaranteed to be free of inorganic contamination.

People pay price differentials anywhere from 20 to 100 per cent for these organic nature foods, Arthur D. Little's researchers discover, and sales are growing.

Fear is by no means the only or even the basic sales appeal. Many customers insist organic foods taste better and are more nutritious than foods grown with chemical fertilizer and pesticide.

Professional nutritionists argue violently over this but the Little researchers concluded there is no real proof that organic foods actually are more nutritious than their straight commercial counterparts.

Since no artificial flavorings and colorings are permitted under creed of the organic food purists, there's a premium in rapid high price transportation of the products and the retail shelf life of some of them is short.

The nature food stores seek to offset this by offering some foods that are not traditional but are easy to keep in their natural state such as seaweed, lentils, some dried grains and beans.

TIGHT SECURITY, represented by this officer, has been imposed on area of Washington, D. C., National Zoo where pair of pandas from China are being housed. President Nixon was scheduled to formally welcome animals today. They were gift of Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai. (UPI)

Nuclear test fired

MERCURY, Nev. (UPI) — U.S. scientists detonated an underground nuclear explosion depth of 1,070 feet below the desert floor at the Nevada test site about 65 miles north of Las Vegas.

It was the first announced test by the United States this year.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test, named "Longchamps," occurred at a depth of 1,070 feet below the desert floor at the Nevada test site about 65 miles north of Las Vegas.

The AEC said no radiation was released into the atmosphere.

The American nuclear test program has been considerably curtailed by budget cuts.

TF farms

in program

TWIN FALLS — About 1,230 Twin Falls County farms have signed to participate in the 1972 Wheat and Feed Grain Program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Kent Kirk, of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said initial payments will be made as soon as possible after July 1. The ASCS office will accept certifications of compliance beginning Thursday if the grain is planted and the set-aside acreage is established.

Final date to certify is July 1.

Texas style

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary and Mrs. John B. Connally will host President and Mrs. Nixon at a supper at their Floresville, Tex., ranch on April 30.

Invitations have been sent out by Connally, but a White House spokesman said "We have nothing to say at this time" when asked about the invitations.

There was no indication whether Nixon would stay more than one day in Texas or whether he would pay a call on former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who is recuperating from a recent heart attack at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

... seeks election

Appointee seeking TF post

TWIN FALLS — According to Dr. Richard Sayers, a key factor in any educational program is making proper evaluation so needed changes can be implemented.

Sayers was appointed school board member from zone 2 after recent rezoning left that area without a representative. He will be opposed by Gary Custer in the May 5 election.

Dr. Sayers was born in Klamath Falls, Ore., and received his doctoral degree in plant physiology from Colorado State University, Fort Collins. He has resided in Twin Falls for three and one-half years, and is manager of the research center at Asgrow Seed Co.

Three things should receive the greatest consideration in education, Sayers said. "First, personnel in charge of the school system should have a knowledge of the needs, desires and feelings of the residents of this area regarding the educational program. Second, they should know what the residents are willing to invest and sacrifice in the system, and thirdly, I think they should make every possible effort to make sure that the greatest returns are received in the way of quality education for the investments made."

Sayers has three children, ages 4, 7 and 10.

Witness describes incident

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet journalist who said he witnessed U.S. air attacks in the Haiphong area said today the planes dived at Soviet ships anchored in the harbor and damaged them with rocket fire.

An American statement on the incident said the air strikes were not aimed at international shipping, and it suggested that the damage may have been caused by North Vietnamese anti-aircraft fire.

The Soviet journalist, Stanislav Blazhenko of Moscow Radio, said he was in the harbor area Sunday afternoon during the third attack of the day by U.S. warplanes. He wrote an account of the attacks which was published by Literaturnaya Gazeta (Literary Gazette) today.

Blazhenko charged that the aircraft fired rockets into residential and market areas, killing a number of peasants who were sleeping in a large market.

Deaf mute works as stripper

SYDNEY (UPI) — A deaf mute Sydney girl is working as a stripper to earn enough money to attend the Deaf Olympics in Sweden next year.

The Deaf Olympics are organized by the World Congress of Deaf People, headquartered in Italy.

Stripping under the name of Bonnie Gee, the 24-year-old girl from suburban Marrickville said in an interview Tuesday she wants her real name kept secret because her mother does not know she is working as a stripper. She has been working at the Staccato and Pink Pussycat clubs for five months. She answered questions in writing and explained, "I can only hear the music faintly when I am wearing a hearing aid, but I also feel the vibrating on the floor as I strip."

Soviet arms reduction urged

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is being urged by some of his advisers to demand that Russia reduce its arms shipments to North Vietnam and the Arab states as a price for large-scale trade with the United States on easy credit terms.

There have even been reports that the President will insist that Moscow somehow force Hanoi to agree to a peace settlement in the Vietnam conflict before U.S. credits and goods desired by the Soviet Union are made available.

High officials acknowledge that the idea of trying to establish some "linkage" between trade concessions and political issues is being given more thought than before. However, they say that the President has made no definite decisions. And most officials are quite skeptical concerning the possibility that he would demand a Vietnam settlement as a price for agreements on trade and other issues.

In the first place, most of the administration experts in the intelligence field have grave doubts as to whether the Soviet Union could actually force Hanoi to accept the U.S. terms.

Analysis

While Moscow has some influence in Hanoi, these officials said, they do not believe that it is sufficient to make the North Vietnamese leaders abandon the objectives of more than 30 years, for which they fought the Japanese, the French and now the Americans.

As for persuading Moscow to reduce its military shipments to North Vietnam and the Arab states in return for trade concessions, many officials feel the Kremlin would be unwilling to pay this price because of the loss it would sustain in the contest with China for leadership of international communism.

The consensus so far appears to be that the Soviet Union is willing to sustain "embarrassment" such as overlooking the damage sustained by several of its ships during the U.S. raid on Haiphong, in the interest of trying to further its "European policy" at the scheduled Moscow summit with Nixon.

However, it is generally conceded that there is a point beyond which Russia cannot go, no matter how tempting the political and economic rewards offered by the United States.

Manufacturing is Utah's major industry, followed by mining and agriculture.

Cheer up, affluence bad on health

Thursday, April 20, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 21

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Affluence may be and probably is hazardous to your health.

In fact, Dr. Aaron M. Altschul, an internationally known nutritionist at Georgetown University, has identified a disease which he calls "affluent malnutrition."

"As societies become more affluent and they change their eating habits," he says, "the proportion of obesity increases, as does the incidence of diabetes, coronary artery disease, hypertension, and other diseases."

As people improve their incomes, they improve their diets—or so they may think. Actually, according to Altschul, they run afoul of diet deficiencies which add up to "affluent malnutrition."

"This disease has two primary causes—the affluent eat too much and they don't get a proper balance of vital nutrients. Increased use of processed foods may result in loss of trace nutrients which, though their bulk may be small, are extremely important to well being," says Altschul.

As people's income rises, they eat more calories and more foods of animal origin. This animal protein, and consequently saturated fat, increases in the diet.

Affluence is also characterized by larger intakes of sugar and other carbohydrates, and this raises the incidence of tooth decay.

Others have noted that Western diets, the legacy of affluence, have changed the eating habits of not particularly affluent societies, such as the Eskimos.

Writing in Nutrition Today, Dr. Otto Schaefer, a physician who has practiced medicine in the Arctic for two decades, reported that Eskimos living near white settlements have adopted Western diets, including greatly increased consumption of sugar.

Schaefer suggests this rather abrupt change in diet (since the mid 1950s) may be responsible among the Eskimos for increased prevalence of such ailments as diabetes, atherosclerosis, abnormally high cholesterol levels, gall bladder troubles, obesity, acne, and tooth decay.

With the Eskimos, the diet changes have been abrupt whereas among the affluent Western societies which invented the new ways of eating, the changes have been gradual and their effects on health slower to recognize.

Dr. Altschul thinks it may be possible to control "affluent malnutrition" to some extent by substituting soy bean and other vegetable proteins for high fat animal proteins.

Can you imagine eating a soy bean "steak" with as much relish as you might a thick porterhouse edged by succulent well-browned fat?

According to Altschul, the answer is yes.

"Engineered" foods derived from soy or other vegetable sources, he says, could provide esthetically acceptable alternatives and would be far less threatening to health.

Albino bear

HELSINKI (UPI) — A rare albino bear has been born to a couple of brown bears at the Helsinki Zoo, a spokesman said today.

"I bet he is going to be the pet of everybody," Nikka Koivisto, superintendent of the zoo, said.

Longer lived

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI) — Life expectancy in Bulgaria has risen by 20 years since 1939, says the official Bulgarian news agency, BTA. It now exceeds 71 years for both sexes.

Oregon invests in education

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — In the belief that college instructors can come up with better ways to teach their students, the Oregon Legislature has invested over $1 million to encourage such improvements.

The program was initiated in 1969 when the lawmakers gave the state Educational Coordinating Council $750,000 to parcel out to instructors who had ideas for improving teaching methods.

After two years of operation the program has proven itself well enough that the legislators recently put up another $350,000 for grants to more instructors.

When the project first got under way, the ECC received 250 applications from instructors at every public four-year school and community college in the state. On the average they asked for grants of $18,000.

Fifty-three of the most promising projects were selected for funding in amounts ranging from $3,000 to $89,000. Those projects eventually involved about 20 per cent of the state's entire public post-high school enrollment.

Results from the 34 projects completed so far show that 53 per cent of all the students involved realized a "significant" improvement in learning. Less than one per cent demonstrated lower levels of learning and the rest showed no significant change.

The projects were scattered among a wide variety of study areas including the arts, sciences, education, language, engineering, nursing, political science, philosophy and psychology.

The most common characteristic of the projects is the emphasis on individualizing the learning process.

A University of Oregon psychology course under the program relies on an interview procedure to insure that each student has mastered each section of the course before proceeding to a new section. The interviews are conducted by the students as well as by the instructor.

A project at Portland Community College utilizes theater arts to train police students. In laboratory sessions, simulated crime scenes are staged using authentic theater sets. Skilled actors assume the roles of citizens while the police students take the roles of regular officers.

FAMILY CIRCUS

"When Mommy had the bottom off the toaster, I got to look in and see the engine."

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES. A wonderful day and evening to show your affection for others. Good also for thinking out courses of action that require entertainment or charming others. Put in motion some plans of action that are vitally important to your welfare and happiness. Be jolly.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be careful you do not take big risks where your finest creative capabilities are concerned, use every precaution and all works to your advantage. Plan what it is you most like to do and then schedule your time properly.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your home and family are your first concern today, so if you have to be out for any time, put your best efforts there. Evening excellent for entertaining some good friend at home. Talk over whatever is uppermost in your mind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can do very well either in buying or selling today, so start early. Talk over with bigwigs just how you can expand in your own field of endeavor. Show that you are a sensible, intelligent person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can still benefit from yesterday's good aspects. Put practical ideas to work that bring advancement. Making a good impression on bigwigs in business is easy. Relax tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are anxious to make big headway now and can do so if you use that fine smile you possess, as well as other charms. It may be a little more costly than you expected, but the end result will be well worth it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy with all those behind-the-scenes activities that will bring the results you want. Talk to the right people. You can be far more successful than you are now if you will only apply yourself more intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Get together with the right friends now either for pleasure in handling mutual affairs, or securing data you need. The evening can be most enjoyable at social affairs. Don't go to bed too late tonight, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Go after the backing you need from bigwigs, then you can get your projects working well. Show you are a most conscientious worker. Become interested in some civic work you can handle well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is the right day to find the new outlets that are truly for you and can bring you happiness and success. Discuss subjects with others whose ideas are different from your own. You can put your points across very well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You know exactly what your responsibilities are now and how you can take care of them wisely and skillfully. Show generosity with mate and get better results than in the past. Make it a true relationship, partnership.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking very clearly and can now handle whatever comes up intelligently. Good associates give fine support. Make a plan early that you can follow with little trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to improve the situations at home and there is no better time than this to do so. Get an early start. The ideas you have are clever, so put your attention on those, too. Gain the backing you need.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—he or she will be one of those most generous and loving young people who can win almost anyone over to own way of thinking when so desired, and can become a force for good in such spheres as the government, big organizations, or wherever there is need for great scope and perspective. Encouragement should be given early in order to bring out the fine potential here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

A Cookie King Buys Fortunes

King of the Chinese fortune cookie business, I'm told, is David Jung, a Los Angeline. Turns out six million a year. He is said to enjoy such lines as: "You are in your own way + please stand aside." Oh, you don't like that? Then write your own. Understand he buys about 500 a year. Intend to sell him my best one: "Avoid exotic foods."

A THIRD of all the thoroughbred race horses in the world descend from an Arabian stud named Go Dolphin. It once pulled a water cart in Paris. Two-thirds descend either from another horse identified as Byerly Turk or still another called Darley. That's it, three original sires. Only.

WHO WAS the first father to be honored by Father's Day? A Civil War veteran, one William Jackson Smart. He brought up six youngsters after his wife died. And thinking that noteworthy, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., in 1910 pressed for an official observance.

QUERIES
Q. "Who was the first man in the world to wear a peg leg?"
A. The gentleman's name is unknown. Can only tell you he lived and died in Italy about 300 B. C. and his artificial leg was a fancy specimen of carved wood and hammered bronze.
Q. "WHAT'S" the most expensive leather? Snakehide, right?
A. Might bet on the scrotum skin of the whale. A dozen bar stools covered with same, owned by that delicious comic Jackie Gleason, are said to be worth about $5,000.

JUST 81 per cent of those men who'd rather be women have tried suicide seriously.

ALASKA has a longer coastline than all the other 49 states put together, true.

IT'S 50-50 a doe will give birth to twins instead of one fawn.

MARRIAGE
You can figure the marriage of this husband and wife is in pretty good shape, if their youngsters like them both. Likewise, if said children seem to be even fonder of the father than of the mother. But if those offspring like their mother, but not their father, that's bad. Likely the marriage is cracked, if not already broken. Such is the conclusion of a University of California professor who checked out the families of 3,000 students.

ANNUAL AVERAGE count of tornadoes nationwide, 654. Annual average count of citizens killed by same, 118.

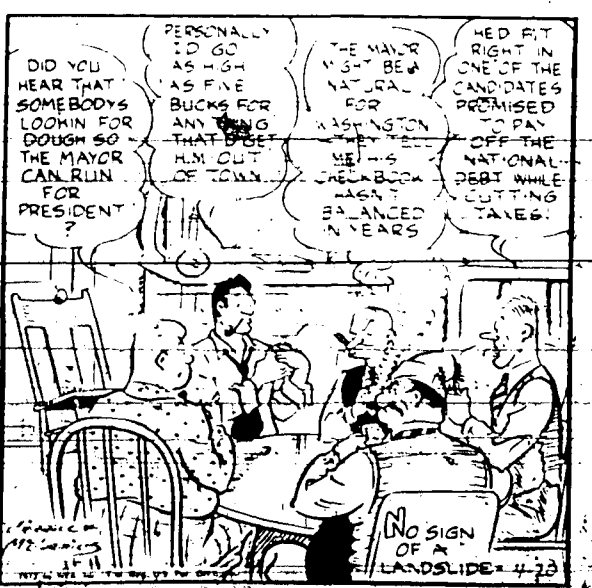

NOT ONLY is there more edible meat in a kangaroo than in a sheep or a pig, but kangaroo hides still get a better price on the market than sheepskin or pigskin. All right, no more about kangaroos this week, promise.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes looks for higher stock prices over the intermediate and long term. The firm is heartened by rising interest rates, housing starts, corporate profits, capital spending and also is optimistic about the stemming of inflation. The one "soft spot," according to Hornblower, is consumer spending but even that appears ready to improve, the firm adds.

E.F. Hutton says it is constantly being asked how far the market can go, but rather than attempting to pinpoint possible stopping points, the firm says, "we would prefer to try to recognize signs of deterioration or loppiness when they actually occur." Hutton says "one possible area of a temporary pause might be around 980."

The only thing in the way of the Dow Jones Industrial averages on their way to the "Magic" 1,000 level is one more sell signal, according to Harris, Upham & Co. A setback would be minor, the firm feels, and the overall outlook is bullish. With this in mind, the firm says, "the spring is sprung. The trap has closed. We shall see how long it can hold the bear."

Analysts for Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis look to the international monetary scene and feel it has improved. "International financial tensions are subsiding and overall there's a vastly improved 'tone' in the international financial scene." The firm says as a reflection of improved dollar sentiment abroad, March was the first month since the Smithsonian Agreement of mid-December during which European bankers were not faced with the necessity of buying still more dollars. Paine Webber feels this is "a most encouraging development."
