Koreans retake key pass

SAIGON (UPI) — South Korean troops today reopened An Khe Pass in the Central Highlands 240 miles northeast of Saigon at the end of a 16-day battle that killed more than 700 North Vietnamese and eased a Communist threat to cut South Vietnam in half, Korean spokesmen reported. The pass controls east-west Highway 19 which runs from the Central Highlands to the coastal regions. The North Vietnamese had scored major victories in the Kontum region to the west and in the Qui Nhon coastal region to the east and had battled to win the entire highway. The country is only 110 miles wide at that point. A spokesman for the South Korean military command said ROK troops reopened the pass late today "to military traffic." He said the battle carried out with the aid of American air support had cost the North Vietnamese at least 705 men killed but that 51 ROK Tiger Division troops died and 16 were wounded in the battle.

An Khe Pass, also known as An Tuc, is 40 miles inland and 45 air miles east of Pleiku.

The Communist offensive in the Central Highlands edged towards the major city of Kontum and pushed South Vietnamese defenders back nearly a mile to a position, 11 miles north of Kontum despite heavy U.S. B-52 and other air strikes.

Viet Reds agree to resume talks

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong said today they had accepted the United States offer to resume the Vietnam peace talks and would show up for Thursday's 148th session of the conference.

The talks have been suspended since March 27 when President Nixon said the Communists were using the meetings as a forum for propaganda.

"After having interrupted the Paris conference unilaterally and unreasonably for more than a month, the American administration has had to say that it accepts the resumption of the 148th session of the conference April 27, 1972," the Viet Cong said.

"If this is so, it is because U.S. efforts aimed at sabotaging the conference and intensifying the war have been vigorously condemned by public opinion throughout the world, including the United States, and have received a resolute riposte from the Vietnamese people," the statement said.

"As far as it is concerned, our delegation will take part in the 148th session of the conference which will reunite Thursday April 27, 1972, as usual and reaffirms its willingness to settle the South Vietnamese problem peacefully."

The Hanoi delegation, however, rejected a U.S. request that the current Communist offensive in South Vietnam be the first order of business in the renewed talks.

"We reject all fallacious allegations on the part of the United States on the so-called 'invasion of South Vietnam by North Vietnam,' violation of an understanding, etc.," the Hanoi statement said.

Senators consider hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee called a closed meeting today to decide whether to reopen its six-week-old ITT investigation.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has asked that at least nine more witnesses be called to testify despite the committee's earlier decision to call a halt to its hearings and to decide no later than Thursday whether to approve the nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general.

The committee previously approved the nomination, but reopened its hearings six weeks ago after columnist Jack Anderson published charges that there might be a link between an ITT pledge to help underwrite the Republican national convention and government settlement of an antitrust suit seeking to stop the merger of ITT and the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Kleindienst was linked to some of the discussions surrounding settlement of the antitrust case, and when the ITT matter was published he refused to clear up any misunderstandings surrounding his role.

Now Kennedy has demanded that the whole investigation be reopened to hear testimony from Kleindienst and from one of President Nixon's aides, Peter Flanigan.

Nixon talk set tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's offer to resume the Paris peace talks, coming barely 24 hours before tonight's address to the nation on more troop withdrawals from Vietnam, provided more evidence today that Nixon has decided not to let escalation of the war torpedo his trip to Moscow next month.

The offer, made simultaneously in Washington and Saigon Tuesday night, followed President's Adviser Henry A. Kissinger's secret weekend trip to Moscow. And in saying he was willing to resume peace talks, provided the Communists made their current offensive and how to end it the No 1 topic, Nixon appeared to be trying to reassure both the Kremlin and the American public that what he really wants is less, not more, war.

Tonight's 8 p.m. MST radio and TV address was expected to contain an announcement that U.S. troop strength in Vietnam will be down to 69,000 by May 1, as Nixon had promised. It was in excess of 500,000 when he took office more than three years ago.

The future pace of troop withdrawals was likely to be slower, depending on the state of the war and the need for a residual support force, which various administration spokesmen have said might be as high as 35,000 men.

Apollo on target for ocean landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Halfway home from man's first trip to the moon's highlands, Apollo 16's astronauts wind up their scientific studies today with a closed eye look at mysterious light flashes and an X-ray search for puzzling black holes in space.

John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke were on target for a parachute landing at 2:45 p.m. EST Thursday in the Pacific Ocean, 1,500 miles south of Hawaii. Excellent splashdown weather was forecast.

"That's the best news we've heard in a long time," said Young, the mission commander, who has returned from space three times before.

As Apollo 16 approached Earth with 245 pounds of lunar rock and soil samples, members of the preliminary analysis team at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory here stepped up preparations to get an early idea what Young and Duke found in three days of surface exploration.

Dr. W.R. Muehlberger, the mission geologist, said, said he thinks the astronauts could be bringing back "the real genesis rock" representing the primitive early crust of the moon. The best bet, he said, for such a sample are pieces the pilots chipped from a house-sized boulder on the rim of North Ray Crater, the largest and deepest crater man has examined on the moon.

One result that already has far-reaching implications is the astronauts' discovery of an unusually strong magnetic field at their landing site. Dr. Palmer Dyal said this reinforced the controversial theory that the moon once had a molten core, because such an interior is needed to generate strong magnetic forces in a planet.

The astronauts allotted one hour today to more reports on the light flashes that the last six moon crews have reported seeing with their eyes shut. The phenomena are believed caused by cosmic rays penetrating the spaceship and triggering optic nerves as they travel through astronauts.

But the precise nature of the radiation and light-producing mechanism is unknown. The three Apollo 16 crewmen were asked to wear blindfolds and report to Houston the number and nature of the streaks and points of light they see.

The astronauts also had time devoted late today to a study of intense sources of X-rays in deep space known to astronomers as Cygnus X-1 and Scorpius X-1. The X-ray studies started Tuesday, using a radiation sensor that measured the surface compositions as Apollo 16 circled the moon for five days.

The object of the X-ray astronomy is to see if these sources of X-rays are related to stars which may have undergone a gravitational collapse so strong that nothing can escape their grasp.

McGovern, Humphrey take lead among Demos; Muskie staggers

By STEVE GERSTEL, United Press International
Sens. George S. McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey forged to the lead as chief contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination today on the strength of individual primary victories in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania that all but knocked out Sen. Edmund S. Muskie as a winning prospect.

Muskie, the early frontrunner, nosedived to the status of also-ran with a weak showing in both of Tuesday's big state primaries but pledged to stay in the fight to convention time. And Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace continued to show his vote-getting appeal in Pennsylvania where he appeared to have nosed out Muskie and McGovern for second place with 21 per cent of the ballots.

Humphrey, winning in a presidential primary for the first time in his career, netted 35 per cent of the Pennsylvania total.

McGovern emerged as the big psychological winner however. The South Dakotan overwhelmed Muskie in Massachusetts, 51 to 22 per cent, and apparently swept all 102 of the state's delegates to move ahead.

of Muskie in the number of delegates pledged to him. He ran stronger than expected in Pennsylvania.

McGovern now has 235 delegates sewed up to Muskie's 138 and Humphrey's 78.

Wallace, who made only a minimal gesture in Pennsylvania, jubilantly viewed his showing in the Keystone state as "one of the most phenomenal victories we've ever had. We came into this state only one day and made only one major speech and have ended up in a close race for second place."

He predicted he would defeat

Humphrey in the Indiana Democratic primary next Tuesday with Ohio balloting on the same day.

Muskie returned to Washington to reassess his position after the twin defeats. In the two vital eastern seaboard states, he was whipsawed by Humphrey and McGovern.

Humphrey rode to victory on heavy labor and black voter margins in Pennsylvania. McGovern won on a parlay of fresh antiwar sentiment and economic concern in Massachusetts.

Valley district levy OK

VALLEY SCHOOL — Voters in the Valley School District approved continuance of a 2.5 mill plant facilities reserve fund levy and elected two trustees Tuesday.

District electors okayed the measure by a vote of 165 to 67. Dr. Tom Utterback, superintendent, said the mill levy will raise about $16,500. Funds will be used to upgrade school facilities in the district. The levy has been in effect for 10 years and will continue another five years.

Voters in Zone 2 elected incumbent Herman Martens to a three-year term. He received 54 votes while Elsworth Hardy received 36 write-in votes and Russell Hammond received six write-in votes.

In Zone 4 Howard (Red) Sellers was elected with 58 votes. He was opposed by Forrest Johnson, who received 24 votes, and Arthur Baish who received 19 votes.

Food cost rise eases in March

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The retail cost of a typical market basket of food dropped 0.4 per cent last month, ending a four-month surge that boosted prices 4.3 per cent from last October through February, the Agriculture Department said today.

Even with the decline, the market basket cost was still second highest on record — 3.3 per cent above March of 1971. Average beef prices for March were unchanged at the record February level, but pork went down.

One official said the extent of the actual downturn may be greater than the report showed. The department's surveys probably did not catch all the meat price declines which came in the last week of March after Treasury Secretary John B. Connally called in food chain leaders to try to talk them into lowering prices, the spokesman said.

Erwin quits school race

TWIN FALLS — The field of candidates for School District 411 trustee elections is down to an even dozen.

The slate decreased by one Tuesday when 23-year-old Scott Erwin dropped out of the race.

Erwin had filed to oppose incumbent Mrs. Ruth Day for the Zone 3 trustee post.

A psychology major at the College of Southern Idaho, Erwin said he is withdrawing from the election to accept a position with a boating firm in Wisconsin.

In a statement released to the press, Erwin said his campaign has given him insight into education in Twin Falls and that a change is necessary in Zone 3.

"It is my very strong feeling," said Erwin, "that the only way a change can take place is for either Frankie Lou Hale or myself to drop out and support the other."

Erwin said he feels Mrs. Hale is the most qualified and that he wants "to put my support behind her and urge those who supported me to do the same."

When asked where most of his support may have come from, Erwin said, "Many of the teachers agreed with me in principle and indicated they would support me but most of my backing would have come from the students."

The Zone 3 race is now a two-woman race between Mrs. Day and Mrs. Hale.

Trustee elections are scheduled for May 5 from noon to 8 p.m. School district officials have had some inquiries about the legality of holding elections from noon to 8 rather than from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

District Clerk J. T. Anderson said the district's attorneys have indicated the times for this election are legal and that school election rules are not bound by general voting restrictions.

'Y' fund campaign planned

TWIN FALLS — The YMCA and YWCA will have a one-day fund raising campaign May 9 to finance the new indoor swimming pool.

The goal of the one-day effort is $70,000 in contributions and pledges. General chairman for the swimming pool fund campaign is Leon Smith, immediate past president of the YWCA and Twin Falls County prosecutor.

Smith's designation as chairman was announced Tuesday by Richard Shotwell and Mrs. Mary Russell, presidents of the YMCA and YWCA.

Smith said he is planning to have 125 people working on the campaign, and expects that over 600 individuals, businesses and corporations will be contacted.

Telephones at the YMCA-YWCA will be staffed May 9 to receive pledges for a three-year period, Smith said. This will be Magic Valley's first indoor swimming pool, and Smith said he hopes all citizens would take the opportunity to be part of it.

Society opposes isle bid

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Historical Society directors Tuesday voiced opposition to an attempt to obtain title to islands in the Snake River near Hagerman.

The attempt is being made by Federal Judge Willis W. Ritter, Salt Lake City. A bill has been introduced in Congress authorizing sale of the islands to Judge Ritter, who owns an adjacent ranch. The bill was offered by a Utah Senator.

The board, meeting at the Idaho Power Auditorium, also appointed committees for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Waggoner, directors of the society's museum near Curry, reported the fourth grades of the Twin Falls schools have visited the museum during the month of April and several more classes have appointments for the month of May.

The first bus tour of the season on May 21 will include the Three Island Crossing, Glens Ferry, the Bruneau Sand Dunes, a Bruneau Canyon Outlook, the Indian Bathub and other historical points of interest.

For information about the proposed tour, call Twin Falls 733-0341, and Buhl 543-5974.

The society plans four more field trips during the coming summer.

Higher Taxes

Higher taxes are almost certainly ahead of the American people next year after inauguration of the new president. Thus, it is heartening news from Treasury Secretary Connally that, if President Nixon is reelected, his administration will seek "substantial budget cuts" before recommending any tax increase.

There is no question that cuts can and should be made. Budgetary reductions should have a first priority before setting up new programs calling for massive spending and the taxes necessary to pay for them.

The battle against inflation is far from won, as the sharp increase in prices during the first quarter proved.

Connally admitted the inflationary rate shown in the gross national product report was high but said it was inevitable after the wage-price freeze ended last November. He predicted success of the program provided public confidence is maintained.

In order to maintain that confidence, Connally called for "some restraint in the all-out criticism" of government and other institutions by politicians and the media, since the alternative to democracy is dictatorship.

The "inalienable rights" so dear to Americans, including freedom of the press, are "as fragile as the stability of the political system under which they operate," Connally told the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington.

The Republic has endured many another election year with political exaggerations and demagogic rabble-rousing and it will endure this one although criticisms abound from right and left.

Runaway inflation is still a challenge and its shattering consequences far more dangerous to the future stability of the government than any amount of fault finding.

The voters have made use of the political primaries to show some of their dissatisfaction and frustrations and to weed out some of the candidates most obnoxious to them.

As a result, some Democratic leaders would like to do away with the system and replace it with a national primary.

The present system, or lack of one, has its faults. But it represents the free expression of the states in conducting primaries in their own way, either as popularity contests or as binding preferences for delegates.

Be It Ever So Humble

PAUL HARVEY

Fish Or Cut Bait

There is now some Washington money available to local governments to put workless workers to work. Why not?

Whenever it's suggested that welfare recipients should work for what they get, liberals cry, "Shame on us!" and conservatives say, "We don't want another WPA." Why not?

The WPA was not all that bad. The WPA — the Works Progress Administration of the 1930s — was lampooned by cartoonists who consistently portrayed the WPA worker as leaning on his shovel while collecting public money.

And there was some shovel-planting to be sure. But that perpetuated image distorts the picture.

Researcher Paul Lancaster recently dug into New York City's past and discovered that many politicians who ran scared from the WPA designation are themselves enjoying the use of LaGuardia Airport, which was built by WPA labor. As was much of Newark Airport.

The East River Drive was largely a WPA project.

New Yorkers enjoy several golf courses which were constructed by "shovel-planters." Central Park was beautified by WPA workers.

Indeed, Mr. Lancaster recalls New York City was kept from falling apart during the depression by WPA workers building sewers and sidewalks and repairing museums and libraries and other public buildings.

Yet when the President twice vetoed bills which would have created many more jobs, he said, in one veto message, we don't want "WPA-type jobs." Surely whatever waste, duplication and goldbricking characterized the WPA was a lesser evil than the present welfare program astronomically expensive, rife with graft and totally unproductive.

During the depression there were as many as 8.5 million Americans doing WPA work. They built 67,000 miles of urban streets. They built or improved 572,000 miles of rural roads. They built or improved 8,000 parks and 12,800 playgrounds and renovated 31,000 others. They built or improved more than 1,000 libraries.

The WPA was attacking environmental problems before they were recognized as problems — building sewage treatment plants, sealing abandoned coal mines, reseeding depleted oyster beds, reforesting cutover lands with 177 million trees.

You're an old-timer if you remember radio's Boake Carter saying, "I still don't understand how they expect to get the country out of the woods by planting trees!"

WPA was a bootstrap for teachers, clerical workers, writers.

Nationwide we continue to enjoy a legacy from WPA labor: a stadium in New Jersey, swimming pools in Kentucky, a lakefront park in Chicago, a ski lodge in Oregon.

What will we have to show from today's monumental welfare boondoggle? More illegitimate children. Diminished incentive. Families enjoying a fifth generation on welfare.

Our unemployment is less today but our needs are greater — for renovating cities, reducing pollution, recycling waste, replanting, beautifying.

The salvation of WPA was the low pay. You had enough to eat; but not enough to be satisfied — so you kept looking for a regular job.

ANDREW TULLY

Cry Havoc

WASHINGTON — Professional civil libertarians may cry havoc and fill their throats with sobs, but the Supreme Court's decision upholding a Massachusetts loyalty oath for state employees is a victory for common sense and a defeat for insipid hair-splitting.

By a 4 to 3 majority, the Court upheld a provision in the oath pledging the job applicant to "oppose the overthrow of the government of the United States of America or of this Commonwealth by force, violence, or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods." The fact that a special three-judge Federal court struck down this portion is a reflection on the cranial capacity of the judges we get these days.

Chief Justice Warren Burger put it concisely when he wrote for the majority opinion that this second part of the oath is "essentially the same as the first," which promises "to uphold and defend" the state and Federal constitutions. "Since there is no constitutionally protected right to overthrow our government by force, violence or illegal or unconstitutional means," wrote Burger, "no constitutional right is infringed by an oath to abide by the constitutional system."

Predictably, Justices William Douglas and Thurgood Marshall exercised their usual flim-flamming and judicial clowning in dissenting. Douglas may have achieved the nadir of negativism in his claim that since an individual has a constitutional right to advocate violent overthrow of the government — as distinguished from taking rebellious action — the oath called upon that individual to oppose what he or she "has an indisputable right to advocate."

Make something of that one, if you can.

If possible, Marshall was even more incomprehensible. In an opinion for himself and Justice William Brennan, he wrote that one taking the Massachusetts oath cannot be sure what he is promising to do if the state or Federal government should be faced with overthrow.

Added Marshall, with his wonted sophistry, the oath-taker has no way of knowing when an overthrow is threatened and what his responsibility is in the face of such a threat. This is judicial deliberation?

In fact, Burger was right again when he described the second portion of the oath as possibly "redundant." He noted that it is "a commitment not to use illegal and constitutionally unprotected force to change the constitutional system," not a curb on advocacy.

In its silly decision, the lower court charged that the second clause was too vague and thus interfered with the rights of free speech and thought. Nonsense. An individual is still free to think any thoughts he likes and even to voice them publicly. What he may not do is take part in any action aimed at overthrowing the government by unconstitutional means.

The dunce's wing of the Left is now howling that the Burger Court is fascist-oriented. Not so. In the first place, neither of President Nixon's latest appointees — Justices Lewis Powell and William Rehnquist — took part in the decision because the case was heard before they joined the bench. Second, the late Justices Hugo Black and John Harlan were divided on the loyalty oath issue. Black opposed such oaths; Harlan upheld them as harmless "trivialities."

Besides, the Vourt's two swing men, Justices Potter Stewart and Byron White, joined Burger and Justice Harry Blackmun on the majority. Both Stewart and White have been attacked often enough by conservative critics to establish their credentials as down-the-middle jurists.

In charge of the operation, according to this report, is Ryszard Frelek, a member of the party secretariat. Besides stirring up opposition, it was charged with responsibility for supplying helpful information to American foes of RFE.

Serious American students of the Polish situation doubt that anything close to $3 million was appropriated for this purpose. However, the informant's past record is good enough to make the outlines of the story credible.

Actually, anti-RFE operations in Warsaw remained strictly secret until February when rumors began pouring out. "It is assumed that they were started by former Gomulka men who were removed from this project," the informant reports.

However, he adds that there is divided opinion deep inside the Polish United Workers' Party — the country's Communist party — about RFE. In party discussions, he says, it is noted RFE not only "creates many problems for the party leadership" but also provides some benefits.

Without RFE, almost all seem to agree, Soviet instructions would be more strict and also there would be a trend to fall in line with other Soviet republics," he adds.

A footnote: The informant reveals that party secretary Jerzy Lukaszewicz recently called in the heads of Poland's newspapers and radio stations to caution them not to go overboard in praising Sen. J. W. Fulbright's drive against RFE. "The mass media in Poland should use only information from the Polish press agency without any embellishment of their own," according to the informant.

Sen. George McGovern, father of the reforms which have revolutionized the Democratic National Convention structure, is saying privately that he does not approve of efforts by his followers to unseat the Chicago delegates of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Ironically, the Chicago challenge is viewed nationally by anti-organization Democrats as a test case for rigorous enforcement of delegate guidelines adopted by the McGovern commission. But McGovern, now not merely a reformer but a frontrunner for the Democratic Presidential nomination, does not wish to alienate Daley.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Bed Wetting

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read an article about a medicine, taken at bedtime, that eliminated every case of bed-wetting with the first dose. Could you give me the name of the compound?

— Mrs. J. M.
This is imipramine (Tofranil) which is one of several drugs used in controlling bed-wetting. It has been very successful — in what we call "selected cases."

That is, many cases don't need it, some cases respond strikingly well, and some don't respond at all. Saying that it will work every time with the first dose is a vast overstatement, but it is equally a mistake not to use it when the right case comes along.

Proper dosage varies with age and circumstances, and it has to be regulated by a physician, as it is a prescription drug not available "over the counter." There are cases that have been helped as rapidly as one or two doses but don't expect every case to end that simply or quickly.

You'll find that drug, along with others, discussed in my new booklet, "Bed-wetting: Ways to Stop It." It's available by mail in return for 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Send requests to me, in care of Times-News.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband happily proclaims to all that he has kicked the smoking habit. He neglects to add that he now uses snuff at least three hours a day.

Which is the lesser of two evils? What are the chances of getting mouth cancer? — H. E. S.

So he's kicked the smoking habit but not the nicotine habit.

So far as the nicotine is concerned, he still absorbs it from the snuff. True, he doesn't inhale it, which affords his lungs greater safety, but continued use of snuff can irritate the membranes of the mouth between gums and cheek. It is known that cancer of the mouth is higher among snuff-users.

If your husband can kick the snuff habit, too, he'll be ahead of the game.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a woman to have her ovaries tied without having an operation? A friend told me she had hers tied without being cut. Is it possible? — C. McC.

Ovaries aren't tied. The "tying" or ligating procedure is on the Fallopian tubes leading from the ovaries to the uterus. Some sort of operation is necessary. It can be done through the vaginal tract, so there is no abdominal scar. There also is a technique, coming into more use now, which leaves only a very tiny abdominal scar.

"Bad Breath Can Be Corrected" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's booklet explaining the causes and cure of bad breath. For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Whole Thing

He took the whole thing.

Mr. Spectator has done it again. He went under the knife out at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with two competent nurses holding his hands (actually, they were trying to hold him on the operating table) and Dr. John McKain skillfully slicing away.

Actually, we are not afraid of these operations — we are scared to death. The worst part is getting there. Then the sit in the hall beside the operating room — it was to be operation under local — with no one to talk to.

Then out comes a nurse with a mask over her face — probably to hide a smile — and you sign something headed with a lot of fine print after being shocked when she comes right out and asks your age.

Then into the place — into a hospital gown — the climb up on the table — your eyes are covered so you cannot see what is going on — and the needle pricks the skin. Then all is dead — at least in the region where the cutting will be.

We are forever amused (we have had several major and several minor operations in our day) when the nurses and the doctor talk. It's just a mumble so that the patient will not know what is going on and will be spared any undue fright.

But the whole thing didn't hurt a bit. The perspiration came just because I was sure it was going to hurt. Funny thing — you "hear" the cutting and the stitching rather than feeling it.

Then after a little red stuff is mopped up — you are helped off the table.

And the nurse asks if you feel OK. Well, who is going to admit to anything being wrong while trying to maintain an outward courage in front of a nurse? So you say, "I feel fine."

Dr. McKain's parting words were that "it will hurt" when the local wears off.

You know — he was so right!

SOMETHING NEW

There's something new under the sun.

Egon Kroll, who runs the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Twin Falls, told us that the firm is now putting out a new package featuring a 16-ounce returnable bottle for Coke and Sprite. The new package will be sold in 8-bottle cartons, thus delivering a whole gallon of Coke in a carton purchase.

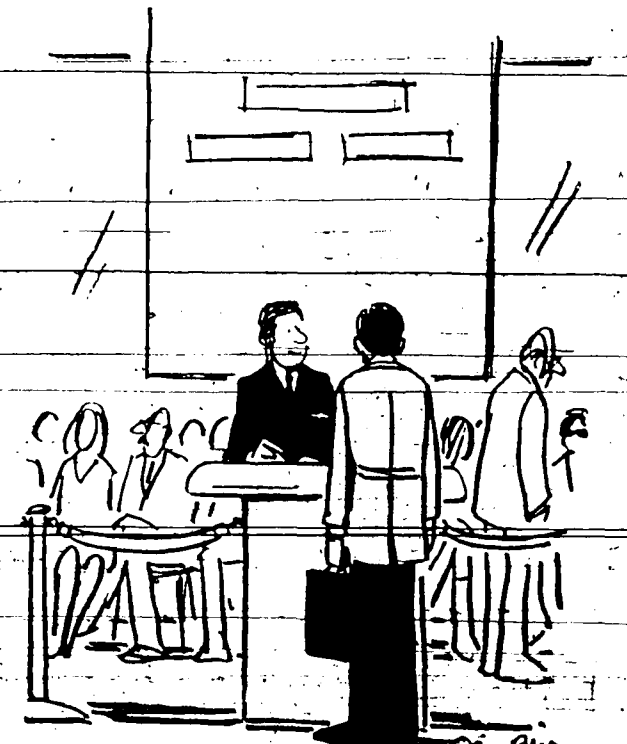

He figures the product will produce the lowest cost per ounce and the large size package featuring the convenience of a resealable all aluminum crown marks the first use of this type of closure on a returnable bottle of this size in this market.

Just in case you forget, the new bottle bears the message "money back bottle — return for deposit." Don't say Mr. Spectator didn't tell you.

Solons attempt tax law suit

BOISE (UPI) — Seven legislators from southern Idaho — six Republicans and one Democrat — are trying to raise funds for a court challenge of a new tax law.

Reps. Earl C. Greenawald of Jerome, E. V. McMan of Ketchum, E. G. (Jerry) Jenkins of Nampa, Allan F. Larsen of Blackfoot, John F. Reardon and Paul W. Worthen of Boise and Wayne E. Tibbitts of Lorenzo contend the law is unconstitutional.

Adopted on the last day of the session this year the bill eliminates the double-deductibility feature of the state income tax act and revises rates.

Although it is listed on the records as a house bill it was amended considerably in the senate before it was passed. The amendments included the key feature of eliminating the federal tax credit on state income taxes (double deductibility).

In a paid newspaper advertisement, the seven legislators point out the constitution requires that revenue bills must originate in the house of representatives.

"If any tax bill can be so greatly changed in the senate as to constitute a new bill of entirely different intent than the purpose of the constitution has been completely thwarted," their ad said.

"HB 789 is the tax bill that requires double taxation — removes the so-called double deductibility, allowing deduction of federal income tax from state taxable income and substantially increases the top state tax rate," the advertisement said.

"It is our purpose, if we can raise funds for legal fees, to take it through the district and supreme courts for a decision," the lawmakers said.

They appeal in the ad for funds from the public to initiate the court suit, asking checks to be made out to "Committee to Challenge HB 789" and dated approximately June 1, 1972.

The ad says if the legislators are unable to raise enough money to finance the suit the checks will be destroyed.

Etna hurls sand, smoke

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)—The Etna volcano today belched black sand and a towering plume of smoke which could be seen from far out at sea, but scientists said it was probably not a new eruption.

Scientists who keep watch on Europe's most active volcano said the eruption of sand and the accompanying thunderlike blasts of sound were normal activity and probably did not signal the start of a new cycle of eruptions.

Israeli sees war nearing

By United Press International
One of Israel's top generals said today a new Middle East war may not be far off. His statement echoed comments from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Maj. Gen. Israel Tal said in Tel Aviv that Israel must remain on the alert and build up its military strength for a possible new war later this year.

"In the absence of a political settlement and in face of (Arab) threats we assume war is likely to break out in 1972," Tal said.

Several hurt at Columbia

By United Press International
The round of protests at colleges across the nation against stepped-up U.S. action in Southeast Asia appears to have subsided sharply, but at Columbia University Tuesday several persons were injured and several arrested during a clash between students and police.

The Columbia protest and police action closely paralleled events at the campus in 1968 when Columbia was plunged into turmoil by students occupying university buildings.

Columbia President William McGill called city police onto the campus Tuesday afternoon when it became evident campus security forces could not clear students from the steps of Hamilton Hall, site of violent protests four years ago.

The clash that followed left at least seven persons injured, some of them police officers, and seven arrested. A group of about 200 students occupied the hall Tuesday night only hours after the clash. The occupation came when a group of about 400 students massed on the campus for an evening rally.

Demonstrations by small bands of protesters continued at a few other colleges across the nation.

The ROTC building at Rutgers University—the scene of antiwar protests in recent days—caught fire Tuesday night. No cause was given for the blaze.

Antiwar protesters occupied campus buildings at Colby College in Waterville, Maine, and Reed College in Portland, Ore. At the University of Massachusetts at Amherst about 100 students continued an occupation of an ROTC building which began last Thursday.

In Chicago, about 300 persons attended an antiwar rally at the campus of Northwestern University.

Token vote

BOSTON (UPI) — A handful of voters Tuesday wrote in the name of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., on the state's presidential primary ballot.

Kennedy filed an affidavit with the secretary of state's office declaring he was not a candidate, so his name was not on pre-printed ballots.

The token Kennedy vote was under 500 with about one-third of all ballots counted. Most were from the Boston area.

GOP wins special Pennsylvania vote

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A Republican won a narrow victory Tuesday night in the nation's only special congressional election. Twenty of Pennsylvania's 25 incumbent congressmen were assured of their party's nomination for the November general election.

With all but 12 precincts counted in the Pittsburgh-area 27th Congressional District, Republican William S. Conover led Democrat Douglas Walgren by about 2,000 votes. Conover will serve eight months remaining on the term of the late Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa.

Eight incumbent Democrats and one Republican House member turned back primary opposition, while six other Republicans and five Democrats now serving in the House were unopposed.

Mothers protest busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two squads of marching mothers converged on the nation's capital today, near the end of long walks from Pontiac, Mich., and from Richmond, Va., in protest against school busing.

After resting in outlying motels, both groups expected to complete final miles of their treks with the hope of being joined by "thousands" as they enter the city Thursday.

"We will enter the gates of the city in what I consider a spectacular way," said Mrs. Irene McCabe, leader of seven Pontiac marchers who have almost completed their 620-mile hike.

Secretary unit honors Mrs. Kroush

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Marjorie Kroush was named Secretary of the Year here Tuesday by the Twin-Ida chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

According to Mrs. Nancy Spratt, chairman of Secretaries Week activities, Mrs. Kroush was chosen by the members of the Twin-Ida chapter "in recognition of her contributions to the chapter, its projects and NSA ideals."

Karla Halden, first year secretarial science student at CSI, was presented a $150 scholarship by the chapter. The scholarship is given annually to a first year secretarial student at CSI who will be attending the school her second year.

The lunch meeting was attended by over 170 area bosses, wives and secretaries as the highlight of the 21st Secretaries Week sponsored by the National Secretaries Association (Int'l), the world's largest secretarial association.

Student arraigned

MOSCOW (UPI) — A 19-year-old high school student has been arraigned in second district court on a charge of murder in the shooting death of Crystal George, 17, Moscow, last month.

Everett G. Bowers, Moscow, is charged with shooting Miss George twice in the head and five times in the body.

SECRETARY of the year, Mrs. Marjorie Kroush, left, presents a $150 scholarship check to Karla Halden, CSI freshman secretarial science student. The two women were honored Tuesday at the Secretaries Week lunch.

Regional medic aide quits post

BOISE (UPI) — After five years of service, Dr. Fred O. Graeber has announced plans to resign as director of the Idaho Office of Mountain States Regional Medical Program.

He said Tuesday the resignation will be effective May 15.

"I've been here five years and I think my time has come to do something else," Dr. Graeber said, when asked for a reason.

He said he had no immediate plans, but added, "I hope to stay in Boise because I think it's the only place to live."

Graeber formerly was assistant state health director.

Egyptian leader vows to 'humiliate' Israel

By United Press International
Egyptian President Anwar Sadat vowed Tuesday to "humiliate" Israel and recover occupied Arab land within a year. He warned that another Middle East war is "not far off."

Speaking to a crowd gathered at Al Hussein Mosque in Cairo to celebrate the prophet Mohammed's birthday, Sadat said: "I promise you we shall observe the next anniversary (of the prophet's birthday) by celebrating not only the liberation of our land but also the Arab-Israeli conflict through conquering of Israel's arrogance and humiliating them."

The Egyptian president pledged last year to resolve the peace of war before 1971 ended. But he backed down later, claiming the Indo-Pakistani war forced him to postpone his decision.

Davis letters read

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Three letters in which Angela Davis expressed love for "Soledad Brother" George Jackson were admitted as state evidence at her murder trial Tuesday, but an 18-page "diary" was excluded.

The letters were written two months before the Marin County shootings of 1970 for which Miss Davis is charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy. The longer document was found in Jackson's San Quentin Prison cell after he was killed in an alleged escape attempt a year later.

Testimony resumed Tuesday after three days of arguments over the letters with the jury absent. Four employees of a Los Angeles surplus store, who will be cross-examined today, said Miss Davis purchased ammunition in the store on three occasions the month before the San Rafael shootings.

Miss Davis' 1970 letters to Jackson, a key exhibit in the state's case, contained the following excerpts:

—June 2, 1970 (10 pages): "I have come to love you very deeply. I have used those words seldom in my 26 years...it happened abruptly and spontaneously...my love, your love, reinforces my fighting instincts."

"I am regretting that I am lying on the only warm spot of this double bed. It is 2:30 a.m."

"I dreamt we were together fighting pigs—winning."

—June 10, 1970 (5 pages): "The lazy (black revolutionists) either become divisionists or anarchists...although it is we who must deal the blows, it is they who are committing suicide."

—June 22, 1970 (2 pages)—"The most beautiful black revolutionaries, men and women, are prisoners of war."

"I wish I could touch you, we could touch each other right now, I love you."

The third letter, confiscated by Soledad Prison officials and neither delivered nor returned, included a postscript by Jackson's brother, Jonathan.

Bombing kills 757 civilians
ALGIERS (UPI)—The Algerian News Service reported in a dispatch from Honor today that American bombing killed 757 civilians April 16 in the port of Haiphong. The agency quoted Ha Van Lau, member of the "permanent commission for the inquiry into American crimes in Vietnam."

NEW TREATMENT FOR HAIR LOSS

K. Fryer Shows He Regrew Hair. He Did Not Have Male Pattern Baldness.

MIDWEST ERICKSON HAIR CONSULTANT WILL EXPLAIN HAIR PROBLEMS FREE AT The Apollo Inn, 296 Addison Ave., Twin Falls, Idaho
Thursday, April 27
HOURS 2 P.M. to 8:30 P.M.

Chicago, Ill. April 26 Now is the time to act on this great opportunity. Every hair-worried person (man or woman) should take advantage of this FREE CONSULTATION. Many users have reported not only stopping their hair from thinning, but are really growing human hair. GUARANTEED
You will be given a written guarantee on a pro-rated basis from the beginning to the end. Naturally we could not give you such a guarantee if it didn't work. CAN'T HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which no method is effective. Midwest Erickson Hair Specialists cannot help those who are sick bald after years of gradual hair loss. But, if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family," this is certainly no proof at the cause of your hair loss. Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.
FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on Thursday, April 27, and go to the Apollo Inn, 296 Addison Ave. in Twin Falls, Idaho, between 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask The Desk Clerk for K.C. Connor's room number. There is no charge or obligation. All consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

SEN. GRAVEL reads report

Wallace sees big victory

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said Tuesday night his performance in the Pennsylvania primary means he has "an excellent chance" to win the Democratic presidential nomination. He also predicted he would defeat Hubert Humphrey in the May 2 Indiana primary.

Wallace scheduled a news conference here today before departing for Tennessee and Arkansas.

Humphrey, who won the Pennsylvania primary and is involved in a head-on battle with Wallace for the Indiana primary, was to arrive in the state today. In a brief news conference after a Tuesday night rally, Wallace said he thought the fact he did as well as he did in Pennsylvania with only one speech there, "means something is happening in our country. This is probably the most phenomenal victory I have had so far—the governor of Alabama in one speech winding up in a close race for second."

"I think the Democratic party leadership," said Wallace, "is going to see Governor Wallace has more mass support than any other candidate."

Gravel vows disclosure of documents

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said he has heard reports a censure motion will be filed against him because of his release of top secret documents related to the Vietnam war. Gravel, vowing to publish more classified documents in the Congressional Record at the first opportunity, said he had heard Sens. William Saxton, R-Ohio, and Robert Griffin, R-Mich., were planning to make the censure motion. But Saxton denied it, charging that Gravel "wants someone to make a partisan hero out of him."

Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, the ranking Republican on the Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, said the panel has not been asked to look into Gravel's activities and has scheduled no meetings on the matter. Gravel reserved 15 minutes for a speech Thursday on the war, and said he will make another attempt then to get unanimous consent from the Senate to have the new set of documents published in full in the record. He was blocked in his first attempt Tuesday by an objection from Griffin, but told Gravel said they showed that the Central Intelligence Agency, the State Department and other civilian offices were solidly against the resumption of strategic bombing against North Vietnam, on grounds that it was ineffective militarily. Actor commits suicide

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI)—Actor George Sanders committed suicide Tuesday, leaving as his legacy a brief note that personified his many movie roles as a suave and cynical cad.

"Dear world," he wrote. "I

GEORGE SANDERS
... actor

am leaving because I am bored. I feel I have lived long enough. I am leaving you with your worries in this sweet cesspool—good luck."

Sanders, 65, was found dead in his suite in a resort hotel at Castelldefels. Police said five empty tubes of Nembutal, a sedative, were found beside the Russian-born actor's nude body.

A second note, written in Spanish, asked the finder to telephone his sister in London and said there was enough cash in his pockets to "pay the hotel bill and for the funeral." Assistant hotel manager Juan Carbonell said about $1,500 in Spanish pesetas were found in his suite.

The six-foot, three-inch Sanders, a British national, had been married four times for five years to Zsa Zsa Gabor and later to her sister, Magda, for two months.

Zsa Zsa said in Hollywood she was heartbroken by his death.

"He was the major love of my life," she said. "I saw George only two weeks ago in Spain. He was all right then and looking for a new house. I am terribly depressed at this awful news."

Sanders had checked into the hotel two days earlier and Carbonell, who discovered the body when he was unable to get an answer from the suite by telephone, said the actor had been drinking heavily. Sanders had been scheduled to fly to Nice, France, Tuesday and asked that he be awakened. Sanders played in such movies as "Picture of Dorian Gray," "Forever Amber," "Call me Madam," "Rebecca" and won an Oscar in "All About Eve." In most of his roles he portrayed a blasé lover and cynic and his autobiography was entitled "Memoirs of a Professional Cad."

Water flow increased

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI)—The Idaho Power Co. began increasing the flow from its Hells Canyon Dam on the Middle Snake River Tuesday.

Power company officials said during the 48-hour period which started at noon today, the flow from the spillways on the dam would increase from 31,000 cubic feet per second to a maximum of 55,000 cubic feet per second.

Quake rocks island

MANILA (UPI)—A major earthquake, the strongest in two years, rocked the main Philippine island of Luzon Tuesday before dawn today, damaging several concrete buildings but apparently causing no casualties.

The quake which struck at 3:30 a.m. shook Manila and nearby cities and provinces for 30 seconds in varying intensities ranging from three to six in the Rossi-Forrel scale of nine. The 1970 quake reached intensity 7 in some portions of the epicentral area some 100 miles southwest of the city. The quake was the strongest since the April 7, 1970, temblor which killed at least five persons and injured more than 60. The 1970 quake reached intensity 7 in some portions of the epicentral area some 100 miles southwest of the city.

2 former aides request parole

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Parole Board began a two-day closed session today to consider parole requests from two former top Democratic congressional aides—Robert G. "Bobby" Baker and Martin Swelg—both serving sentences at the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison.

The eight-member board also was considering parole requests from former Eros magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg, and one-time New Jersey "salad oil king" Anthony De Angelis, among others. Decisions could come both days on the four widely publicized cases.

Baker, 43, a protégé of President Lyndon B. Johnson, was Senate secretary when Johnson was Senate Democratic leader. He started a one-to-three year sentence Jan. 14, 1971, for attempting to evade taxes, grand larceny, transportation of stolen money and fraud.

Baker's wife, Dorothy, a secretary for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, and Robert Comstock, his attorney and brother-in-law, were to appear on his behalf during the two-day session, officials said.

Baker became eligible for parole last Jan. 13 but was turned down at a Dec. 20, 1971 session of the board with the stipulation that his case be reviewed again this month on the basis of a progress report from the prison. If not paroled, he would be due for mandatory release about May 6, 1973.

Swelg, 50-year-old administrative assistant to former House Speaker John W. McCormack, was serving two concurrent sentences of 30 months and three years for lying to a federal grand jury for conspiracy and for bribery. He entered Lewisburg July 22, 1971, becomes eligible for parole next May 21 and for mandatory release July 25, 1973.

Swelg was accused along with lobbyist Nathan M. Voloshen of conspiring to defraud the government by using the influence of the speaker's office to get favors for clients from government departments.

UAW endorses Sen. Kennedy

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Delegates to the United Auto Workers convention Tuesday overwhelmingly endorsed Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for the Democratic presidential nomination if he decides to seek it.

However, Kennedy told reporters after the straw vote, "My position is unchanged. I won't be a candidate for '72, even if there is a draft movement." The endorsement by the 3,000 delegates came at the 23rd biennial convention of the UAW, which has 1.3 million members and is the nation's second largest independent union.

Today, the action shifts to internal union matters with the struggle for the directorship of the UAW's populous West Coast region heading the bill. Paul Schrader, a liberal activist who was wounded at the time Kennedy's brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was assassinated, faces strong attempts to unseat him as director of the region. His opponent, Jerry Whipple, charges that Schrader's activities on behalf of organizations such as the United Farm Workers take him away from the UAW too much.

Irving Bluestone, director of the union's General Motors Council, is expected to easily win election as a vice president—a step which would put him more directly into line for a chance to succeed Leonard Woodcock as president.

Woodcock and the entire membership of the International Executive Board, the union's ruling body, also are up for reelection.

Woodcock, who already has personally endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine for the Democratic nomination, announced the result of the straw vote, saying, "It is the sentiment of this convention that should a decision be made by Sen. Kennedy, the UAW is ready to enlist in his cause."

Motorist shot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gregory T. Dimick, miffed by the insistent honking of the car behind his, stopped on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. "Pull over," he shouted to three men in a yellow car. "We might as well settle it here and now."

A single shot rang out. "I've been shot," gasped Dimick, slumping into the lap of a girl friend. Blood poured from a head wound. Another passenger in Dimick's car took the wheel and drove to the Toll Plaza. The 22-year-old motorist died before he arrived at a hospital. The yellow car crossed the bridge ahead of the Dimick vehicle and has not been traced.

Police said they still don't know what initiated the fatal Monday night incident.

Shoshone mulls school needs

SHOSHONE — Twenty-one members of the special needs assessment committee in the current Shoshone School Needs Assessment, or evaluation project, met six and one-half hours Monday.

Final results of the committee work will not become available until after the May 10-11 meetings when the "most important needs of the school district" should be formulated. This will culminate work of approximately a three-month period, dealing with various phases of the school curriculum and problems.

Shoshone is one of three school districts in the state of Idaho currently under this type of evaluation program, assisted by the Idaho Board of Education, and incorporating opinions of not only an original 12-member needs assessment committee, but patrons, teachers and school board members.

The work-day Monday was spent in selecting priority concerns to be taken up for further consideration. These were selected from what was called "Harvested Concerns," 64 in all, that had been compiled as result of work in the project thus far. This data came from a opinion survey among school patrons, a series of concerns conferences, speakups of students and teachers and parents, along with administrative and achievement data.

The special committee dealt Monday with selecting concerns that would deal with the student as a learner, hoping to determine a criteria for curriculum that would provide the learner with skills, competition ability in the working world, attitudes and behavior to produce mature adults.

From these 64 concerns, the top or most important 30 needs of the district will now be compiled, according to this committee's determination and vote.

Directing the workshop Monday was Dr. Wayne Phillips, Boise, from the state board of education. Assisting him were Richard Kays, John Briggs and Orval Reddington, also from the state board.

There were 10 needs from the 64 that received a total of more than 51 points, to place them in the extremely critical needs area. Other ratings were critical, important and not important, with the not important meaning that the school system did an adequate job of handling teaching this particular subject.

In addition to considering the May meetings, the committee problems and a target date to learner-need priority list at the will set a goal for solving the begin work on these things.

Col. Hambleton recuperates

U.S. navigator survives 11 days behind lines

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI)—An unflappable U.S. Air Force navigator, rescued after 11 harrowing days in the jungles of South Vietnam's war zone, today credited his two tiny radios and his jungle survival training with keeping alive.

Weak, tired and 35 pounds underweight, Lt. Col. Iteal Eugene "Gene" Hambleton, 53, was picked up by a U.S. Navy team in a native sampan April 13. Bad weather and heavy Communist fire had forced the Air Force to abandon attempts at an aerial rescue after his plane was shot down.

"That sampan looked like the Queen Mary," Hambleton told UPI in a hospital interview here. Except for a broken left wrist and a fractured index finger on his left hand, Hambleton—born in Rossville, Ill., but who calls Tucson, Ariz., home—looked in good condition.

Hambleton told how his plane, an EB66 jet fighter-bomber belonging to the 42nd Tactical Electronics Warfare Squadron (TEWS), was on a radar spotting and jamming mission April 2 shortly after the North Vietnamese began their offensive. The plane with its six-man crew was struck by a Russian-built surface-to-air missile at an altitude of 29,000 feet 10 to 15 miles below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

"I watched the plane go into a cloud bank and I didn't see any more chutes come out," he said. The other five crewmen are listed as missing.

The navigator landed in a rice paddy right in the middle of a battle with troops shooting on both sides. He hid in a nearby tree line for the next five days, he said, eating banana stalks and berries and drinking rain water while awaiting rescue.

But bad weather and Communist fire on rescue planes forced him to remain in the jungle. Military spokesmen in Saigon said seven aircraft were shot down trying to get to Hambleton.

He praised his two small, two-way radios which kept him in daily contact with American units—even though the radios were submerged in river water part of the time.

The veteran officer finally was directed to proceed to a river and follow it until the Navy team reached him. He was neck-deep in water much of the time, he said.

Communist troops passed him at night within five feet on two occasions but it was so dark they didn't see him. "I just dug in deeper," he said.

He was taken by sampan, tank and finally helicopter to Da Nang and then to Clark Air Base here for hospitalization.

Hambleton said the four-day jungle survival training course he underwent "was almost identical" to his stay in the jungle. "It gives you an idea of what to expect," he said.

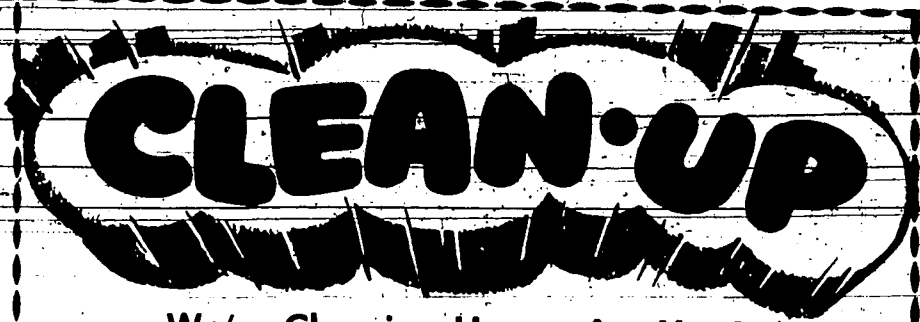

Scouts meet today

SHOSHONE — Boy Scouts of Troop 57 will have a second meeting with their parents at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Lincoln School building.

This is the second "Operation Reach" meeting, and deals with the boys in grades six and over. The matter of drug use and its problems will be considered and aim is to help parents deal with any drug problem within their family unit.

James hideout

STANTON, Mo. (UPI)—Guides at Meramec Caverns on Route 66 here say school children who tour the cave are more fascinated by the fact that it served as a hideout for Jesse James and his gang during the 1870s than that it served as a stop on the Underground Railroad during the Civil War.

Hailey urges keeping Route 93

HAILEY — The Hailey Chamber of Commerce has strongly urged retention of the present U.S. Highway 93 route.

In a letter to the Idaho Department of Highways, chamber members Monday requested the department to widen the existing highway "where possible, to make minor improvements and to improve the present roadbed."

The letter, formulated by a four-man chamber committee, was researched in response to a highway department request for comments on five proposed routes for Highway 93 from the junction of Highway 66 north to the forest service boundary.

Chamber members voted Monday to include the statement, "The chamber recommends that, as a last resort, consideration be given to using Main Street as a north bound route, and River Street as south bound."

Comments from the Hailey Planning and Zoning Board — opposing re-routing — were also enclosed in the letter.

Board chairman Grant Patterson said, "During the past four years the members of the board have worked hard to regain the loss of improper planning of the many past years. The routing of Highway 93 other than through Main Street would seriously damage the planning efforts as well as change the entire community."

Chamber committee findings included the following:

— "business and other activities, on an economic basis, would be disastrously curtailed by any by-passing." The letter said that Hailey's dependence on tourist trade ranges from 25 to 75 per cent, according to the type of business.

"If business decreased in Hailey by 25 to 75 per cent, it is obvious that employment would decrease by comparative figures," the letter said.

— although official figures indicate 5,000 vehicles a day pass through the city, "for almost six months of the year the figure would be only a fraction of this number."

The committee said that during peak times, traffic was usually only heavy during several hours in the morning and the afternoon.

— if Hailey was by-passed, Main Street "would revert to the city, resulting in extra cost for maintenance, snow removal, etc."

The committee also said if the road was re-routed outside the city, the additional county responsibility for the existing highway would result in "increased local taxation which would not be obviated by increased property valuation in the near future, if at all."

— the proposed route along Fourth Avenue would result in the displacement of 31 families and one business.

— Crossing Fourth to gain access to Hailey businesses and schools, will also create a traffic hazard, especially with the planned 120-unit housing development to be located east of the railroad tracks, the committee said.

— any re-routing along the Wood River "would completely destroy what is left of the river with regard to beauty of adjacent terrain and the fishing, one of the great attractions to people from all over the country."

TF wreck injures 2

THREE PEOPLE, including Louisa Dawson, 15, Twin Falls, driver of this car, were taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital this morning after a two-car accident. Dawson's vehicle collided with one driven by Laura Payton, 54, Twin Falls, skidded across the intersection of Ash Street and Seventh Avenue East, and struck and damaged this house owned by Donald R. Fox. Mrs. Payton, Doug Payton, 16, and Dawson were treated and released. A third occupant of the Payton vehicle was not injured.

Hagerman man to direct newly formed water unit

HAGERMAN — John LeMoyné, Hagerman, was elected president of the newly formed Thousand Springs Water Users Association Monday night.

The new organization grew from the extension of the former district 36A which had included water users of Billingsley Creek and Riley Creek in Hagerman Valley.

The district to be represented by the new organization will be from the bridge crossing the Snake River at Bliss to Crystal Springs.

Other officers elected to the new organization were Alan (Hap) Erwin, vice president, and Osear Anderson, secretary-treasurer. The three officers will also serve as directors along with four other directors, Ted Eastman, Buhl, and Bill Jones, Kenneth Hulme and George Lemmon, all Hagerman.

In order to raise enough money to finance a watermaster for the organization and to pay dues to Idaho Water Users, Inc. it was decided that each fish hatchery, ditch company or water user in the Thousand Springs Water Users Association voluntarily pay one-half cent per share of water they use.

BELLEVUE — Gov. Cecil Andrus will address the Wood River Resource Area Council of Government tonight.

The council is the parent group for a resource, conservation and development project which seeks to improve the quality of life, through specific projects, using human, natural as well as cultural resources.

The program includes Blaine, Lincoln, Camas and Gooding counties.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Bellevue grade school.

1,300 volunteers, 60 trucks tackle Blaine County routes during cleanup

BY TERRY CAMPBELL

Times-News Writer
HAILEY — An army of about 1,300 volunteers with about 60 trucks ranged over Blaine County's cities and major highways in a special cleanup campaign Tuesday.

About 20 billboards were downed, with owner permission, and re-located to the Ohio Gulch landfill by crews including high school students, adult volunteers, and city and county employees.

Signs purchased by the Idaho Department of Highways were also removed as well as billboards felt earlier by vandals.

Another 100 high school students with about 25 adult volunteers divided up into small groups, each cleaning about two miles of U.S. Highway 93.

Plastic bags containing paper, locking gas caps, without keys, hubcaps, glass, cans and other borrow pit treasures filled about 25 pickup trucks loaned by local residents.

Students also conducted special city cleanups. In Carey, about 200 first through 12th graders worked in conjunction with the county Farm Bureau in a four-hour cleanup of the city and about 15 miles of the surrounding area.

Bellevue Elementary school fourth and fifth graders, numbering about 120, cleaned up their city and loaded trash onto city trucks and loaned pickups.

About 50 Wood River Junior High School science students were sent out each hour to clean up Hailey and were joined by high school students who were not assigned to highway crews.

In Ketchum, all Ernest Hemingway grade school pupils fanned throughout the city in a two-hour cleanup which principal Sam Hazard termed "the last shot at Ketchum."

A similar cleanup was conducted last week.

Gooding senior citizen planning group chosen

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

GOODING — A Senior Citizen Program Committee was chosen Tuesday to begin planning for a Gooding County Senior Citizen Center.

Marlene Lees, Wendell, will head the committee, Blanche Isowen, Gooding, will serve as secretary and other members are Harold Hake, Tom Miller, Rose Anne Harden and Pauline Degler, all Gooding and Nelson King, Wendell.

At the afternoon meeting in city hall, Ed Wimmer, program specialist for the Idaho Office on Aging, told the 16 people present that a board of directors from the local population would be the governing body of the programs. The board will take applications and hire the local director, and will set specifications for the grant.

Wimmer said more members of the program committee may be chosen from other cities in the county at a later date.

He said the program is flexible and could only fail if there was a lack of imagination on the part of the director and board.

The committee decided to begin the program with recreation and free time activities and transportation. Wimmer told the committee that it is best to stabilize the program before adding too many activities. During the first year, the program will be concentrated on the two areas chosen.

The committee decided to add a telephone reassurance and a homemaker health aide program sometime in the future.

The program should be self supporting in three years, Wimmer said, however after three years, the federal share can be obtained until the program is self supporting. First year funding is on a 75-25 basis, second year 60-40 and third year 50-50. In-kind services can be used to make up the local share. Wimmer suggested using money making projects, such as dinners, raffles or an arts and crafts store to support the project.

The committee is also considering a "meals on wheels" program to deliver meals to those unable to go to a central facility.

Wimmer will again meet with the group next Friday to write bylaws and a constitution and set up committees for grants

Shoshone chamber sets meet

SHOSHONE — Work being carried out by the Chamber of Commerce, Development Committee was outlined at a meeting Tuesday noon.

Committee members reported they will meet with Gov. Cecil Andrus this week on promotion of new businesses.

Progress of construction of the roadway along South Rail Street, in conjunction with Idaho Highway 20-26 was noted by Dennis Everett, who said the Union-Pacific Railroad will install two large new lights at the track crossings.

The city is installing new street lights in the area also.

Myron D. Johnson reported on work of committee members to determine whether or not a municipal swimming pool might be built in the city.

The Rotary Club is initial sponsor of the study.

Kent Ellis, Boise, head of the Idaho Parks Board, will be at the Rotary Club meeting on May 10 to explain possible matching funds available through the land and water conservation fund for swimming pool purposes.

150 Scout leaders gather at Burley

BURLEY — Mrs. David Miller, Pocatello, addressed about 150 Girl Scout leaders during the annual Silver Sage Girl Scout Council meeting at the Ponderosa Inn.

In her speech, Mrs. Miller, member of the national nominating committee, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., challenged the scout leaders to strive to build the scouting movement as a guiding force for young women. Mrs. Miller said that each candidate for national office in the Girl Scouts has been asked these same questions.

"We must prepare our girls for a rich and fruitful life in preparing for their role to come as women," Mrs. Miller said.

Noting that 42 per cent of the American work force is composed of women, Mrs. Miller said about one-third of this number are heads of households who must work, one-third are living near the poverty level, and the remaining third are working to give their family advantages they would not otherwise have.

Eagle dinner

BURLEY — Nearly 400 Boy Scouts, parents and businessmen of the Snake River Area Council are expected to attend the Eagle Scout awards banquet tonight at the Ponderosa Inn.

The scouts, many of whom have earned the highest award for effort in the Boy Scout movement will be accompanied by their sponsors composed of area businessmen who will buy the banquet tickets and "take the boys out to dinner," according to scouting officials.

Robert Gibb, Boise, assistant to the president of Boise State College, who has been active in youth work for many years will serve as master of ceremonies. The banquet begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Ponderosa Inn.

Mrs. Miller asked that local scout leaders discuss many phases of life with the girls including the drug problem, dating and marriage, the abortion issue and control of venereal diseases.

"Do you dare to discuss these things with your girls?" Mrs. Miller asked.

Burley Mayor Garin Robertson presented the welcoming address at the opening of the session Tuesday morning, and a Burley Girl Scout troop conducted the opening flag ceremony.

Jerome accident hurts 2

JEROME — Two men were listed in fair condition today at St. Benedict's Hospital following a three-vehicle accident on Highway 79 south of Jerome Tuesday night.

Hyrum Jensen, 67, Jerome, and Darrel Kurtz, 38, Twin Falls, were injured in the accident about 11:15 p.m.

One of the cars involved was pulling out of the Harold Klaas Auction Center two and one-half miles south of Jerome, and was struck by a southbound car on Highway 79. The first car was catapulted over the top of a parked vehicle, causing both of them to catch on fire.

The Jerome Rural Fire Department put out the fire. It was not known which man was driving each vehicle. Sheriff Pat Burns is investigating the accident.

Stolen van found

TWIN FALLS — A van which had been stolen in Twin Falls nearly a month ago was recovered Tuesday from the Snake River.

Twin Falls Police said the vehicle had apparently been in the water since shortly after it was stolen.

The van also has broken windows and appeared to have run into a pole or tree before it was driven or pushed into the water.

Martin Fouts, Kimberly, reported the 1962 van missing at 8:05 a.m. March 31, from Skyview Manor, Twin Falls.

TF Zoning Commission approves eight requests

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Favorable recommendations were made by planning and zoning commission members Tuesday night on eight zoning requests covered in as many public hearings.

A ninth item was recommended tabled for further study. Zoning board members said public comment during the nine hearings which began at 7:30 p.m. and continued until nearly midnight were mostly from those making the request.

Recommendations of the planning and zoning commission will be given to the City Council where hearings will be held on the same nine topics May 8. City Council members will make the final determinations.

The zoning members recommended the council approve a variance of offstreet parking requirements at Warehouse Market, 1708 Kimberly Road, so long as the present use is in effect.

The firm deals in warehouse type sales and does not require excessive parking space, such as needed for retail outlets, board members said. The variance would be from the one to three ratio required for building and parking space on commercial operations.

Board members recommended a conditional use be granted the Southland Corp. (Seven-Eleven store) for a self-service gasoline station at 111 Filer Avenue and a variance of sign regulations for the Bon Marche Store.

Board members said the new store has a unique situation in the three sided front building and recommended three signs be allowed under a variance.

The ordinance permits only two.

Another conditional use recommended by the board is for a home in the commercial central zone to allow the owners of Robinson's Family Drive-In an opportunity to reside next to their business operation at 659 Addison Ave. W.

Approval will also be recommended for rezoning from commercial general to commercial local three lots on which Ace Hansen Chevrolet and Blue Lakes Volkswagen are located.

Reed Coulam, zoning board secretary, said this would allow the area to be protected against unlimited commercial development by granting the auto agencies a conditional use for sale and service of new and used cars.

Previously it had been decided to change the zone so such sales would be legal, but board members felt the commercial general zone is too permissive.

Recommendations from the zoning board are to include the six blocks in the central downtown area as part of the newly created commercial mail zone. This zone would be the same as commercial general, except for signing with no off-premises signing permitted.

When the city's new zoning ordinance was adopted churches and parish halls were inadvertently eliminated from the residential professional zone. Monday night the board recommended these be allowed through an amendment to the new ordinance.

Another amendment establishes allowable sign uses in the residential professional zone. The board recommended amending to permit each building to have one sign not to exceed 24 square feet in area attached to the building or one yard sign not to exceed two square feet in area.

The board also recommended signs attached to buildings not be allowed to project more than two feet from the building and no yard sign project beyond property lines.

Signs should not be of a flashing type, the board said.

Zoning board members recommended tabling a request to rezone the Fireside Subdivision in favor of a study of a much larger surrounding area and a public hearing May 22 at 8 p.m. on the rezoning from residential low density to residential medium density to allow multi-family housing.

City Engineer George Michael said the area under consideration for rezoning is all land within the city bounded by Sparks Street on the west, Falls Avenue West on the north, Washington Street on the east and Wirsching Avenue on the south.

May 22 at 8 p.m. was also set as the time for a public hearing on the request of Design Construction Co. for converting duplex buildings on Maurice Street to fourplex buildings. Space requirements are adequate.

At the same time a hearing will be held on the request of the Green Cross Veterinarian's Hospital for expansion.

At the same time a hearing will be held on the request of Marshall Brothers Inc., for conditional use on lot 8 of the Addison T. Smith Tract on Heyburn Street for multifamily building construction.

Also scheduled for May 22 is a hearing on the request of the Twin Falls County Humane Society for construction of a homeless animal shelter at 260 Maxwell Ave. This would also constitute a conditional use.

Ross Ward, with a request for a conditional use for his mobile home park proposed for 441 Martin Street, will also be heard May 22 at 8 p.m.

Members were reminded to attend a workshop today at 4 p.m. in city hall. Discussions will cover a proposed condominium ordinance for Twin Falls.

TF coffee hour for candidates

TWIN FALLS — Members of St. Edward's Catholic Church will have an opportunity Sunday to become acquainted with all Twin Falls School District candidates.

An informal meet the candidates coffee hour will be held in the St. Edward's Parish Hall from 9 a.m. to noon Sunday. Officials said all of the candidates for the five trustee posts have indicated they will attend or send representatives.

Members of the church will have an opportunity to visit informally with each of the candidates regarding issues and special interests.

In the past, the church maintained its own school system but this year joined the public schools of district 411. Members are urged to acquaint themselves with the candidates and school issues for a more informed vote on May 5.

Idaho Press Club sets awards fete

BOISE (UPI) — Presentation of nearly 100 certificates of honor will feature the annual journalism awards dinner of the Idaho Press Club in Boise Friday night.

The event is scheduled for the Owyhee Plaza, with a no-host cocktail hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner following at 7:30 p.m.

Richard Charnock of Boise, bureau chief of United Press International and awards committee chairman, said certificates will be presented to first, second and third place winners in 30 categories of competition.

In addition, an engraved cup will be given as a sweepstakes award for the entry judged best in all categories.

There are 16 categories of competition in the newspaper division of the contest, eight in the television division and six in the radio division.

Club president Earle Jester, said any professional newsmen is welcome to attend the no-host affair, whether or not he is a member of the club. Associate members also are welcome and active and associate members may bring guests if they wish.

The program will be an informal one, with Bill Hall, editorial page editor of the Lewiston Morning Tribune, serving as master of ceremonies.

Mechanical heart implanted

VINCENZO ORSI, 45, Albany, Ore., left, is recovering after a partial mechanical heart was implanted in his chest Monday. The device, left above, called a "patch booster" is made of a woven fabric and attached to the descending aorta, the main artery which conveys blood from the heart to the body. Prawing above shows how a silicone tube, through which air is pumped in phase with the beating heart, is connected to a battery-powered driving unit mounted on a belt. (UPI)

Phelan took second place in three consecutive races Saturday to win the regatta.

Tupperware warehouse to be finished June 1

TWIN FALLS — The Tupperware Plant south of Jerome will have products ready by June 1, but the plastics will not have been made here.

A Tupperware official said Tuesday that the warehouse of the $5 million factory will be complete by June 1 and will receive stock from the east for dissemination to West Coast markets.

Acting public relations director, Robert Bussiere said the warehouse will be complete but the plant won't actually be producing until Sept. 1.

At present, site personnel number 150 involved in the construction phase of the project. When complete, the plant will occupy 330,000 square feet of building space on a 90-acre site.

Bussiere said the unusually hard Idaho winter has set back the expected completion date to Sept. 1.

"We are shooting for Aug. 1, but I can say the plant will be producing on Sept. 1."

Tupperware is advertising in area papers that they will begin taking employment applications July 1. A year ago, response to a similar ad indicated more than 1,000 persons were interested in working at the Jerome plant.

Bussiere said there will be 400 jobs to fill.

"Nine of those positions will be filled with personnel from our Rhode Island operation," said Bussiere, "in technical capacities. The rest, more than 390, will come from the Twin Falls — Jerome area. Right now, we are training 17 Magic Valley men in Rhode Island."

When complete, Tupperware officials expect the Jerome plant to assume 22 per cent of the production load of the company.

"We will supply the entire West Coast from right here," said Bussiere, "and produce the entire Tupperware line."

When asked if Tupperware has lost a great deal of money because of construction delays, Bussiere said, "We will lose nine months manufacturing time, we haven't calculated that, but the contractors are the people losing on the weather delays."

Unseasonal cold hits fruit crop

By United Press International

A weather summary issued by federal agencies today said sugar beets and fruit crops suffered from unseasonal cold the past week.

The U. S. Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Weather Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture said frost damage was severe in the southwestern fruit areas of Idaho where smudging was not practiced.

The report said while the full extent of the freeze damage cannot be fully estimated until later, it appears nearly 25 per cent of the sugar beet crop will have to be replanted because of freeze damage.

In north Idaho, very little field work has been accomplished due to cold and wet weather. In southwest Idaho, crop growth is slow with some alfalfa frozen back.

In east Idaho, winter wheat is growing well but range grasses and pastures are slow. In the southeastern area of the state, small grain seedlings are well advanced, but forage crops are developing slowly as below normal temperatures persist.

Reforestry funds sought for nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee on environment, soil conservation and forestry has been asked to channel $62 million in import duties each year into a national reforestation program.

Rep. James H. McClure, R-Idaho, made the request Monday. He is an author of similar legislation in the House which was reported for floor action this month by the agriculture committee.

McClure said an existing statute allows the use of import revenues to boost kindred domestic industry. The reforestation proposal would utilize duties on foreign timber products to carry out the program over a 15-year period.

He noted the U. S. is about five million acres behind in ongoing seedling and planting programs at the present time.

Rate boost halted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said Tuesday that a request by the nation's railroads to increase their freight rates up to 10 per cent has been suspended pending a full ICC investigation.

The ICC, however, permitted the railroads to retain a 2.5 per cent surcharge until such time as the final ruling on the permanent selective increase is made. The surcharge was to expire June 5.

Farm

'Hen heisters' few in number

MONROE, Ga. (UPI) — You've heard of the chicken plucker, egg grader and crater. Now comes, in the area of chicken economics, the hen heister.

The job of hen heister is taking the place in some instances of the egg grader and crater, at least temporarily, all because of the price of eggs.

The egg market, being depressed at 16 to 24 cents per dozen to the farmer, has caused many poultry farmers to close out their flocks and turn layers into chicken stew.

That's where the hen heister comes in. He catches the hens and heists them into coops on trucks for hauling to the processing plants.

A good crew of six or seven hen heisters can make as much as $400 a night.

But hen heisters are in such short supply that John H. Brown of Bestovall Foods here has felt compelled to advertise in a newspaper for experts to creep into hen houses at night, catch the hens without too much of a squawk and load them.

"We're looking for a very special man," Brown said Monday to a newsman, "and if you are a reporter it doesn't sound like you're the man for the job."

"It takes a good organizer and a good hard worker who will handle the hens gently and not spook them," he added.

Brown contracts for big flocks. As part of the contract, he sends crews to the growers' houses to catch the hens and bring them in.

He said a crew of about six or seven with nets would go into hen houses containing from 6,000 to 10,000 chickens, usually White Leghorns about 18 months old. The work is done at night because it disturbs the hens less and it is cooler.

Bestovall has chicken heisting crews busily working all over the Southeast and in the Southwest because of the heavy sell-off by egg producers of their flocks.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, April 26, the 117th day of 1972. The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Taurus. American naturalist John James Audubon was born April 26, 1785.

On this day in history: In 1607, the first British colonists to establish a permanent settlement in America landed at Cape Henry, Va. In 1865 federal troops shot and killed John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, near Port Royal, Va., despite orders to capture him alive.

In 1944 the government took over the Chicago headquarters of Montgomery Ward and Co. after management defied a ruling by the National Labor Relations Board. In 1954 a nationwide test for the Salk anti-polio vaccine began in parts of 45 states.

A thought for the day: American philosopher Irwin Edman said, "The gift of gaiety may itself be the greatest good fortune, and the most serious step toward maturity."

averaged about 4.5 per cent overall, would have resulted in additional annual revenues totaling nearly $500 million. On the basis of a preliminary review of the evidence and arguments of the parties as set forth in the verified statements, protests, replies, and as presented at the oral hearings, it does not appear that sufficient justification has been advanced in support of the general rate increases. The ICC's 3-page order said.

Boise hospital office space assignments delayed by state

BOISE (UPI) — Acting Director of Administrative Services Robert Lenaghan said Tuesday the Division of Building Services will not assign office space in the St. Alphonsus Hospital building until the Department of Public Works decides how to treat the building.

But he suggested that "because of the cost of remodeling today, consideration should be given to investing that money in an entirely new building and the cost benefits weighed carefully."

The Permanent Building Fund Council will meet Wednesday and on its agenda will be discussion of both purchase and remodeling of the vacant building being purchased by the state. Lenaghan said he had been told the new state armory was built at a cost of $15 per square foot.

He said he had had the same estimate for remodeling St. Alphonsus "and you'd have an old building after your remodel."

He said the division of building services would decide which agencies would use the office space, but added, "we cannot make a decision until the building is ready for occupancy."

"We'll abide by whatever decision the Permanent Building Fund makes."

The old hospital, however, was not designed to be an office building, Lenaghan said, and there will be lighting and wiring problems in portions of the building rather than those which had been used for office space. He said if the decision is made not to do extensive repair or remodeling work there are some state agencies which could be moved into the building immediately but there would be "attendant personnel problems."

"You can't expect to get efficient, productive work out of people if they are thrown into a room with a lot of typewriters or mechanical things if there has been no provision for noise suppression," he said.

In any event, Lenaghan said, there would be an "extended period of time" if the decision is made to remodel before agencies could be moved into the building.

He said it would be "up to a year and a half before you could move one agency in there."

Further, he said, agencies now renting outside office space will have to give their landlords adequate notice, "as much as we can give them" before canceling lease or rental agreements.

Figures from Lenaghan's office show the state paying $207,839 per year or $14,740 per month for the lease of office space for state agencies.

The 1972 legislature approved a resolution creating an interim study of the state's office rental and lease policies. The study is to be done by the budget and fiscal committee and by Lenaghan's office.

Lenaghan said he anticipated out of the study would come new policy decisions on rental or lease of office space by state agencies unable to find room within the state's own buildings.

Project advisor selected

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Water Resource Board has chosen the Idaho First National Bank as special financial advisor to assist in analyzing loans and offer local assistance with the proposed Swan Falls-Guffey joint venture.

John F. Streiff, Lewiston, board chairman, said the bank has ability and expertise in municipal and corporate financing and will provide local assistance to the board.

Under terms of a working agreement, the bank will:

— Provide services related to the fields of agricultural credit analysis, mortgage loans and municipal or corporate financing.

— Determine relative merit of a competitive sale versus a negotiated bond sale on the Swan Falls-Guffey hydropower project on the Snake River south of Boise.

— Review financial and economic factors concerning the proposed Swan Falls-Guffey project, a joint venture between the board and the Idaho Power Co.

— Make a market analysis of interest rate expectancy, amortization schedules, bond call terms, flow of funds pledged for security, and other statistical factors important to proper sale and issuance of bonds for the project.

— And, acquaint potential buyers with the Swan Falls-Guffey project and its investment merit.

April 23 marks change in course of history

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
For Western Europe, April 23 could become the day that marked a change in the course of history.

For French President Georges Pompidou it was a personal disaster.

For West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, it wasn't quite a disaster—yet.

Pompidou, as expected, won the referendum which demanded that French voters approve expansion of the European Common Market by addition of Britain and three others. But through abstentions, blank ballots and Communist "no" votes he suffered defeat for his hopes of a massive vote of confidence which would have strengthened his voice both at home and in the Common Market.

For Brandt and Western Europe events in West Germany could be much more far-reaching.

There, the victory of the opposition Christian Democrats in the Baden-Württemberg state elections was not unexpected.

But what could be the beginning of the end for Brandt and his policy of "ostpolitik" came in the defection of a member of the lower house of the German parliament from the Free Democrats who are Brandt's coalition partners.

The member, Wilhelm Helms,

quit, he said, because of dissatisfaction with the treaties Brandt had negotiated with Moscow and Warsaw.

It cut Brandt's majority to a razor-thin 249-247. He needed every one of those 249 if the treaties were to win through a test vote scheduled for the first week in May.

A test which could topple his government could come in debate starting today (April 26) on the budget.

The outcome could be as crucial to Western Europe as those early decisions by which the late Konrad Adenauer led the new federal republic into the Western camp against the Communists.

Beyond the question of diplomacy also is one of economics.

Board sets confab

BOISE — The Idaho Water Resource Board is planning a one-day meeting of leading fisheries and water quality experts during the first part of May.

Wayne Haas, assistant director for planning, said the meeting would be to establish a program to determine instream flow needs in Idaho.

We need assistance to develop methodology and prepare a work program in order to obtain detailed information about water quality and aquatic life water needs in Idaho," Haas said. "This is a major area where the data necessary for our State Water Plan is lacking."

Haas said the date and place of meeting will be announced later when details are worked out.

Russ fleet gets Egypt facilities

By United Press International
President Anwar Sadat has acknowledged for the first time that Egypt has granted facilities to the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean and in a speech released today disclosed he is receiving arms from the West—though not enough from Moscow.

Sadat made the Soviet fleet announcement at a meeting Monday with journalists and political leaders before his departure later this week for the Soviet Union, where he is expected to seek more hardware for the Egyptian war machine. He also said he notified the United States of his decision to grant Moscow the sea facilities in advance of its implementation.

Home destroyed

JEROME — A 64 by 12 foot mobile home was destroyed Monday when it was blown from its frame as it was being hauled into Jerome.

High winds separated the trailer from its frame and drove it into a borrow pit. The trailer, which belonged to M and K Trailer Sales, Boise, was being driven up the exit ramp from Interstate 80 to State Highway 79 South of Jerome.

The driver, Frank Holstein, Jerome, said he was hauling the trailer to Twin Falls, but planned to park it next to Cindy's Restaurant overnight to get away from the high winds.

The driver was uninjured and the tractor pulling the trailer was not damaged.

Japanese urge opening tombs

TOKYO (UPI)—Japanese historians, eager to know more about their country's origin, are pushing Emperor Hirohito into an embarrassing controversy: they want to open the tombs of his royal ancestors.

Many of Hirohito's ancestors are believed to have been laid to rest with rich ornaments and art objects that could become priceless museum treasures.

"Unthinkable," snaps Shio Miki, keeper of tomb documents for the Imperial Household Agency, which conducts Hirohito's affairs. "It is an intrusion on the dignity of the royal household."

"The emperor is a scholar himself," retorts Masateru Nakayama, a member of Parliament from Japan's ruling Liberal Democratic Party (LDP). "Perhaps he would not refuse the wishes of the people."

The emperor hasn't said anything so far.

The Imperial Household Agency guards 136 tombs believed to contain the bodies of Japanese emperors or their consorts. Most are located around the former capital cities of Nara and Kyoto, about 300 miles west of Tokyo.

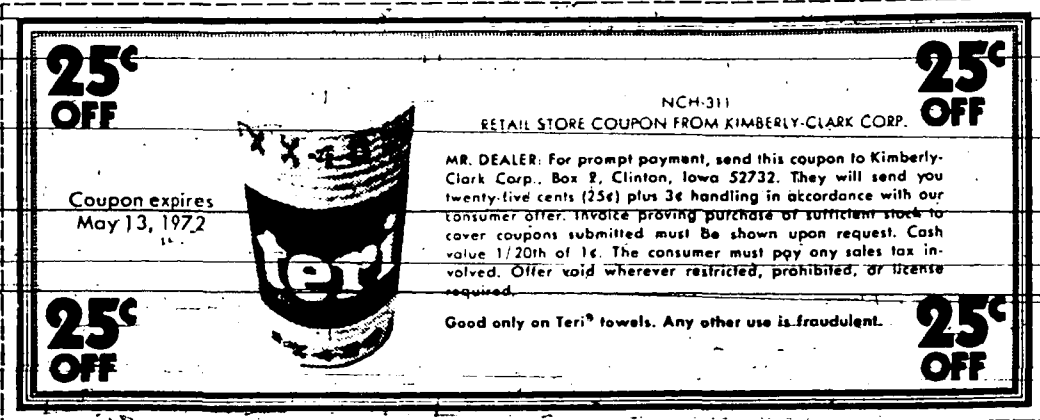

In addition, 548 graves of other members of the royal family have been identified and 128 more are known to contain the bones of favored retainers.

In other Asian countries such as China and Korea, royal graves have been opened and their contents turned over to scholars. But this happened after the Chinese and Korean dynasties lost their thrones.

Japan is still in business. According to the sacred writings of Japan's Shinto religion—the official cult until 1945—Hirohito is the 124th in an unbroken line of monarchs who have reigned over Japan since 660 B.C.

Historians dismiss most of the early emperors as myths, since the Japanese didn't keep written records until the 7th Century or later. But emperors from about 300 A.D. on are regarded as legitimate historical personages.

Many were entombed in stone chambers with plastered walls. After entombment, the burial rooms were covered with high mounds of earth. Noble families buried their dead in a similar way, and "kofun," or old graves, are a common site in the Kyoto-Mara area.

Students involved in vote

TWIN FALLS — "Involving students in the upcoming school board election is one of the most exciting aspects of the campaign," said Marjorie Stollen, candidate in zone 5.

Mrs. Stollen said today she has received an invitation to the candidate forum being sponsored by the senior government and world problems classes at Twin Falls High School.

"I am convinced," she said, "this will be a valuable learning experience for many first-time voters."

All 13 candidates for the board of trustees of Twin Falls School District No. 411 have been invited to the forum which will be from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Q wing of the high school.

Each candidate has been asked to speak for five minutes on issues of his or her choice. A question period will follow.

Teacher awarded grant

RUPERT — George McDonald, special education instructor at West Minico Junior High School, has been awarded a $500 grant to pursue his master's degree at Idaho State University.

McDonald, who is also a member of the Rupert City Council, said the Idaho State Department of Education said the grant was awarded to special education teachers wishing to further their education.

He is continuing a years-long project to secure a master's degree in special education at ISU, and will take nine credit hours of study this summer, with the aid of the grant, McDonald said.

Completion of the nine hours will put him halfway to his goal, with 20 hours of credit.

Ford will replace axles

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. announced today it plans to replace the rear axles and bearings on 436,000 1972 model Mercury Montegos and Ford Torinos to ease the minds of their owners.

Ford has announced the recall of 396,000 of these vehicles April 17 to install bearing retainer plates as a safety feature for the present axles and bearings. The new figure represents all the 1972 models sold thus far both in the United States and abroad.

It is the second biggest recall in Ford history — a campaign which some observers estimated will cost the company nearly $30 million. Ford's biggest recall was in 1967 when 447,000 new Mustangs were brought in for replacement of steering wheels.

A failure of the axles or bearings could result in a car's wheels falling off.

Ford will attempt to install the retainer plates on the cars being recalled until the new axles and bearings are available, a spokesman said.

The spokesman said the retainer plate was considered an "effective safety precaution" which increases to an unmistakable level the noise and vibration associated with bearing deterioration. It also increases the retention of axles and wheels in the event of bearing failure.

The spokesman stopped short of saying the retainer plate would actually prevent the wheels from falling off in the event of a bearing failure. "I don't think any manufacturer can say that," he said.

He said Ford decided to eventually replace the bearings and axles because: "We want to eliminate any question on the part of the owners (of the cars) or anybody else about the reliability of our products. Some of the owners we felt were getting the wrong impression as to the effectiveness of this action."

Britain questions claim

GENEVA (UPI) — Britain challenged the Soviet Union today to prove its claim that long range detection methods can adequately verify a ban on all nuclear tests.

British Minister of State Joseph Gifford told the Disarmament Conference it is still impossible to determine the size of an underground explosion with seismicographic instruments or to distinguish between smaller explosions of natural earth tremors.

The Soviet delegation has for many years held the view that national means of detection and identification are sufficient to provide the degree of assurance required," he said.

Such a view is presumably based on technical information available to the Soviet authorities. Unfortunately to date the Soviet delegation have not felt able to share with the community the details of this technical information to substantiate this view," Gifford said.

At the same time, however, Russia has continued to reject any idea of at least occasional on-site inspections to ensure against clandestine underground tests, he said.

Employees short paycheck

TWIN FALLS — Many wage earners are shorting their "take home" pay this year by not filing the new income tax withholding form W-4 with their employers.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, employees should complete the W-4 exemption certificate claiming all the withholding exemptions to which he is entitled.

He can claim the new special withholding allowance if single and not earning more than $25,000 or married and spouse does not work and holds only one job from which earnings are not more than $31,000.

Also he can claim the additional withholding allowances shown in the table on the back of the withholding exemption certificate if itemized deductions are substantially larger than the standard deduction.

All single employees who earn more than $25,000 and married employees who earn more than $31,000 should figure their 1972 tax and withholding based on expected earnings for the year.

If the withholding is not sufficient, it can be increased to avoid having to make estimated tax payments quarterly. This can be done by underclaiming exemptions or asking employers to withhold additional dollar amounts, or both.

ATT firm different from ITT

TWIN FALLS — There is no relationship between American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., according to K. G. Mann.

Mann, district manager for Mountain Bell, said A.T. and T. was primarily a holding company with 24 subsidiary companies known as the Bell System providing telephone service within the United States.

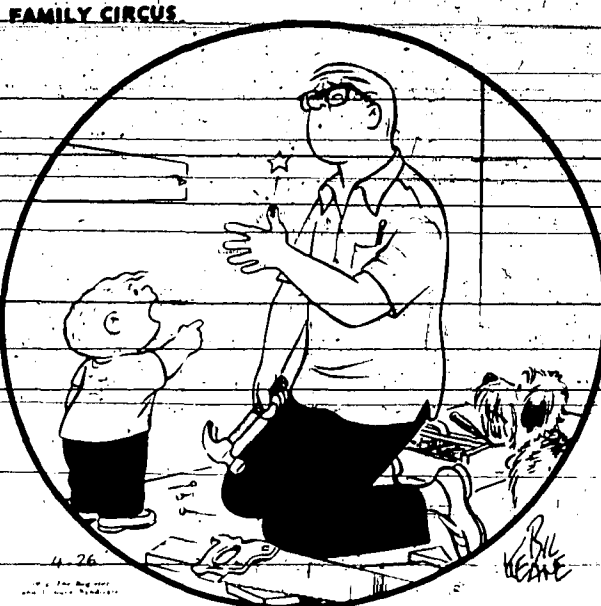

ITT is a conglomerate company with about 250 divisions, subsidiaries and individual groups in about 80 countries.

Afternoon and evening are splendid for investigating quietly whatever you do not understand and getting information you need to progress more quickly in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can come to a better understanding with others in a.m. if you discuss questionable points. Get your important responsibilities behind you quickly. Cooperate with mate in some joint venture. Be happy.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to finish some duty early in the day, thereby freeing time for being with an associate for some vital joint aim. Talk over that ticklish problem with another and get right ideas, advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some venture has been proposed to you that is fine for you to enter into because it can bring excellent benefits in the near future. Gain the support of bigwigs for all of your projects. Use that kind, courteous manner you possess.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning can be free from worry but later financial affairs crop up that need quick attention or you could lose minor or major sums. A business expert can give you excellent advice on how to handle that immediate problem. Listen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to get the information now that will help you solve quickly and satisfactorily that problem that has been giving you a good deal of trouble. Forget practical matters in p.m. and have fun romantically. Dress well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good, devoted friends can help you gain personal aims that are important to you now. Accept invitations for the social affair you like and make your life richer and happier. Show you have excellent manners.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can get far better results now than for some time past whether it be in social, career or personal affairs, so start early, follow through. Bigwigs can give you the right advice you need. Contact them diplomatically.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine new ideas to discuss with key people, so forget that dull routine and do just that. Plan to make changes that are necessary. Also plan future trip you want to take. Preparedness makes it a success.

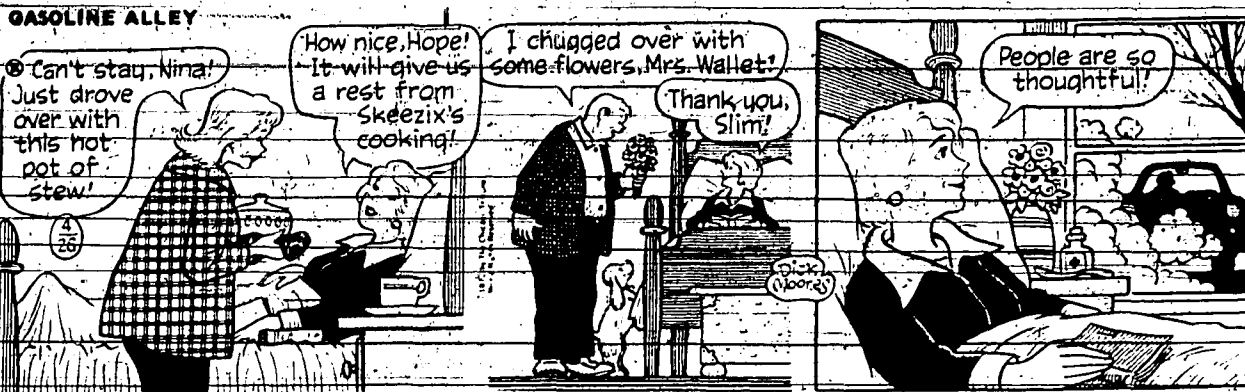

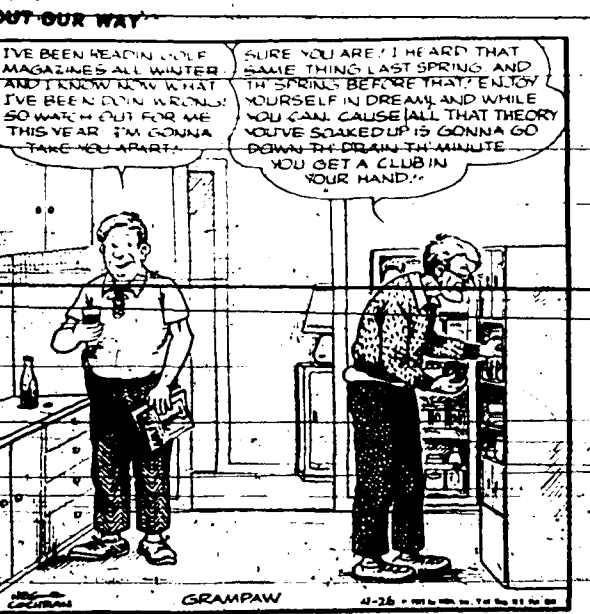

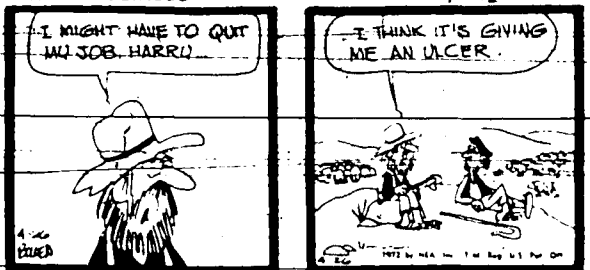

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your intuitive faculties are working exceptionally well and can be most helpful in handling all of your practical and personal affairs. More affection shown to loved one pays off well. Make duty a pleasure, which is what it should be.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those fortunate young people who will want to cooperate with everyone he or she comes in contact with, and for this reason your child will never have any difficulty communicating with others and getting what is desired. honesty and properly. Lack will never be known in this lifetime, but the spirit of generosity must be taught early for best results. Religion line.

"Remember the Alamo!"

True, Col. Sherman delivered the foregoing phrase most fiercely at San Jacinto on April 21, 1836. However, it was not Col. Sherman, but another Texas gentleman who truly immortalized the cry "Remember the Alamo!" Gail Borden, one and the same as he who invented condensed milk. A newspaper publisher, he headlined that stirring phrase in the old Telegraph and Texas Register to recruit fighting men. The call to arms turned into a pattern. For "Remember the Maine." For "Remember Pearl Harbor."

A BOSTON scholar who has made a study of the records thereabouts contends 45 out of every 100 unmarried mothers now keep their infants. Ten years ago, only 10 out of 100 did so.

QUERIES

Q. Do termites eat live trees?

A. No. green wood gives them heartburn or something. Wrecks them.

Q. "WHAT'S a luck egg?"

A. Ah ha, you must be a city mouse. That's one of those olive-size eggs that turns up in the hen's nest toward the end of the laying season.

DO WE HAVE any sort of slang name for the telephone? Can think of none offhand. The English refer to that instrument in the vernacular as "the blower."

VICIOUS little twerp, Billy the Kid. Yet the latest count of poems, novels, plays, ballets and movies about the savage now runs to 467.

RING

No gentleman who gives a diamond ring to his girlfriend along with a matrimonial proposal should have the right to take back said ring if he breaks the engagement. So contends a British parliamentarian named Leo Abse. He compares such a girl to a delicate loquacious phonograph one might pick up in a trade. "If a young man wants to turn in the merchandise after misusing it for months," says he, "he ought not expect a refund."

WRITES A Southern Californian: "When the swallows come back here to Capistrano, we all pause to listen to that characteristic chirping, which I assume to be the females wondering why they can't go someplace else this year."

IN JAPAN, men with prominent noses are thought to be exceedingly virile. None too scientific, this notion. Still, such gentlemen have done little to discourage the contention. And it's now common cause thereabouts for the giggle and the smirk.

IN ST. Ives, England, argument continues as to whether the town ought to change the name of that historic street called Pig Lane, now that a police station has been opened on it. No decision yet.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Lakers' coach warns of letdown on playoff eve

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Warned by coach Bill Sharman about a letdown, the record-shattering Los Angeles Lakers confront the New York

Knicks Wednesday night to launch a bid for their first National Basketball Association title.

The Lakers, who set an all-time NBA record of 69-13 during the regular season, are solid favorites in the best-of-seven final playoff series.

The Lakers will be making their eighth attempt at the crown which has eluded them since the franchise was moved here from Minneapolis in 1960.

Los Angeles is facing a club which won its initial league championship two years ago by beating the Lakers four games to three with a crippled Willis Reed.

"There's a tendency to have an emotional and physical letdown after a tough series like we've just been through," Sharman said, referring to his team's 4-2 series triumph over the Milwaukee Bucks, last year's NBA champions, in the Western Conference finals.

"But we can't have any kind of a letdown. If we do, we're in trouble."

"I think this New York team is playing almost as well as they did when they won the world's championship. They're playing about as good as any team in the league has all season."

While Los Angeles ran up its incredible .841 percentage, including a record 33 straight wins and a 63-point victory for another mark, the Knicks had only the seventh best record in the NBA at 48-34.

But the Knicks, who lost four of five regular season games to the Lakers, have been another club in the playoffs. They prevailed over Baltimore 4-2 and then upset the Boston Celtics 4-1 in the Eastern Conference finals.

The 6-foot-10 Reed was lost after playing in only 11 games because of tendinitis in the knee. His center position was taken by the 6-8 Jerry Lucas, who was acquired from Golden State for Cazzie Russell as a forward.

Another key New York trade was the one that landed the Knicks Earl Monroe, who now is starting in the backcourt with Walt Frazier with Dick Barnett hampered by a back injury.

The Lakers handled the clubs with the second and third best records to get to the finals. Milwaukee entered the playoffs with a 63-19 record while the Chicago Bulls, who fell to the Lakers four straight in the opening round, were 57-25.

Except for 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain, none of the Lakers has played on an NBA championship team. Chamberlain, a 13-year veteran in his fourth year with Los Angeles, helped Philadelphia win the league title in 1966-67.

Jerry West, the Lakers' famed Mr. Clutch and runner-up in the league's MVP voting three straight years, is 0-for-11 in the championship department.

Squires have new respect for N.Y. as Nets cut series lead

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — The Virginia Squires now know they can't take the New York Nets lightly. Funny thing is, Virginia should have been aware of the opposition after the way New York eliminated Eastern champion Kentucky in the opening round of the playoffs.

The Nets narrowed Virginia's lead to 2-1 in the Eastern Division final playoffs with a 119-117 victory Monday night and the New York contingent was now viewing the triumph as a springboard to the American Basketball Association title round.

"Frankly, both teams stunk defensively," said Virginia coach Al Bianchi. "But they made the big play."

The Nets made the "big play" twice. Once when Rick Barry scored the winning basket on a leaping bank shot with eight seconds remaining that provided the final score and again with six seconds left when coach Lou Carnesecca ordered a foul.

It was the first New York foul in the last two minutes of play and called for just one shot. Knowing that picking up another point would still leave his team shy, Bianchi ordered center Jim Eakins to deliberately bounce the ball off the rim in hopes Virginia would get the rebound and score. The strategy backfired when Barry came up with the rebound.

Two other factors played vital roles in New York victory. A nine-day layover between the second and third games, which upset Bianchi no end, enabled Nets starting guards Bill Melchionni and John Roche to recover from injuries. Also, the Nets held Julius Erving to just four points in the second half after he had scored 27 before intermission.

Melchionni, engaging in his first playoff action since breaking his hand last month, came off the bench to score 20 points. Roche, no longer hobbled by an ankle injury, shared team scoring honors with Barry at 25 points.

Brundage scored for Olympic ills

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — American track star Mel Pender said Tuesday racial problems which beset the Olympics four years ago were the fault of international committee president Avery Brundage.

Pender, now track coach at West Point, said he did not expect any racial confrontations this year's Summer Olympics at Munich.

He was in Albuquerque to set up a truck and field clinic for youths at Laguna Acoma High School, west of Albuquerque.

Pender, 34, is bidding for a berth on the 1972 team. He was on the American teams in the 1964 and 1968 games.

Pender said he felt Brundage, the president of the International Olympic Committee, had sparked the flames which led to a protest by American black athletes.

"Brundage is under the impression he owns the Olympics," Pender said. "He was to blame for the problems that developed at Mexico City."

Pender, a captain in the army, said Brundage had aroused the anger of black athletes by threatening to send them home if they protested.

Pender said Brundage issued that ultimatum well before the games got underway.

"The holder of three world records also was critical of amateur athletes to receive payment for advertising or promoting sporting equipment or other products."

Avery Brundage is a millionaire and doesn't have to worry about money, Pender said. "I think if he wants to do the athletes a favor, he should donate some of his millions and keep his mouth shut."

Pender, a spokesman for the black athletes at the 1968 Olympics, said athletes were under "the greatest pressure in the world" in the Olympics.

Boxer of month won by Foster

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Foster, who knocked out Vicente Rondon in the second round of their light-heavyweight fight in Ring Magazine's Fighter of the Month and also undisputed champion in the latest boxing ratings.

Rondon's poor showing against Foster dropped the former champion all the way to seventh in the revised ratings.

A couple of other big names dropped off in the heavyweight ratings. Jimmy Ellis, who has failed to do any fighting in recent months, forfeited his place in the top 10 as Greg Peralta squeezed into the No. 9 spot.

Also in the heavyweight ranks, Mac Foster dropped two pegs from No. 6 to No. 8 after being beaten by Muhammad Ali in 15 rounds.

In the middleweight ranks, Bennie Brisco, who took a 10-round beating from virtually unknown Luis Vinales, dropped from third to fifth and Tony Mundine, the Australian boxer who owns three titles, moved up to No. 9. Vinales, off his win over Briscoe, landed at No. 10 this month.

Hill quits as Minico grid coach

RUPERT — Raymond "Corky" Hill, head football coach at Minico High School for the past three seasons, has resigned that position.

He will take a job as an administrator in the Nampa school system.

Hill, who came to Minico after a successful coaching career as sophomore football coach at Borah High School, will be returning to his home town when he accepts a vice principalship at one of two new junior high schools being built there.

"It's come a little earlier than I actually wanted it, but I think this is a fine opportunity to get into administration and perhaps work to a higher level," Hill said when asked how he felt about leaving athletics.

Hill's resignation leaves only Bart Templeman remaining from last fall's football staff. Hill recommended Templeman be elevated to the head job. His other assistants have resigned.

Hegan's two-out two-bagger in 12th inning shoves A's past Yankees 4-3

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pinch-hitter Mike Hegan hit a two-out double to score Bobby Brooks in the 12th inning Tuesday night and give the Oakland Athletics a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Brooks started the rally with one out when he drew a walk from reliever Lindy McDaniel. Dick Green sacrificed Brooks to second and Hegan, sent up to bat for winning pitcher Rollie Fingers, delivered a line double to right center field.

Fingers, who took over in the eighth inning, allowed only two hits in 3 1/3 innings to notch his first victory of the season. Bob Locker retired the Yankees in order in the 12th to record his first save.

Steelhead run reaches 3,110 adults; egg take expected around 10 million

ELIAS — The Pahsimeroi steelhead run continues to set new records. Transferring of last year's delayed six days by breakdown. Daily runs were slated to start in the tractor of the fish tanker. resume Wednesday morning.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department believes it will be hatching between nine and 10 million eggs this year.

Of course, the run is still coming in strong and that figure could rise but C. R. "Bob" Quidor, superintendent of the Niagara hatchery, feels the run should stop tapering off.

However, through Monday's weir clearing, the department had caught 3,110 adults and 57 per cent were females.

The run usually starts slowing down pretty sharply about this time but the water temperatures have been so cold lately that there may still be a good number left," Quidor said.

The last catch yielded 217. The first of the eggs taken from this year's run have hatched out completely, with the lowest mortality yet, and will go into the Niagara hatchery raceways no later than Monday.

In addition to the 3,110 caught, Quidor said a combination of high water and a little wear on the barrier in the Pahsimeroi itself seems to have allowed a fairly good number of adults to go upstream where they will spawn naturally.

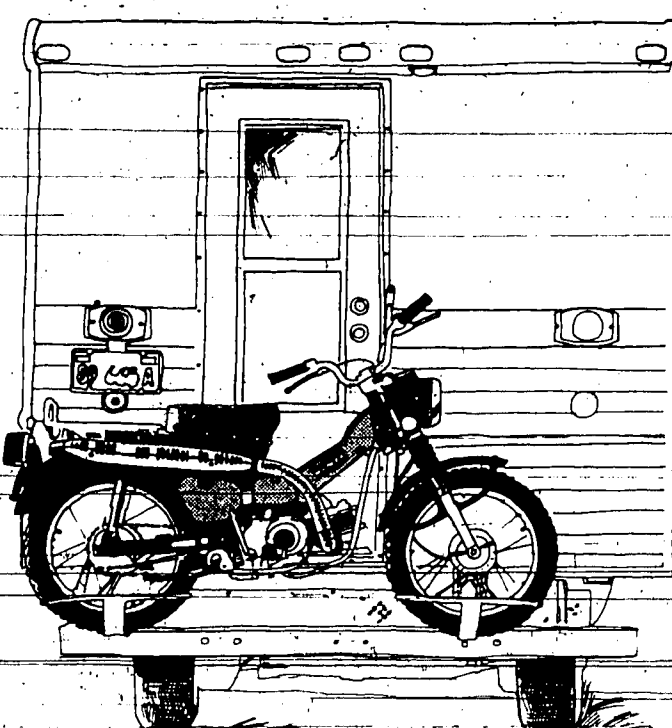

"We've seen them up there and I've heard estimates of up to 120,000 but I wouldn't want to say," Quidor added. "We'll make a canoe float down the stream in the near future and that should give us a good idea of how many got through the weir."

For the first time the department hasn't caught any native fish. It always has passed the natives over the stream barrier and allowed them to spawn naturally. Last year only seven were taken, a good indication of what last fall's record steelhead angling catch might have been without the Niagara returns.

Quidor said with the nine to 10-million eggs — including 1.7 million from Oxbow — the department's plan for increasing the planting further up the Main Salmon stem seems ready for operation.

The 1.7 main Snake River eggs will be hatched and the fish returned to Hells Canyon in the two to three-inch stage since the department's facilities will be loaded to capacity to handle the Pahsimeroi offspring.

Couple says vows in Nuptial Mass

BUHL. — Linda Kaster became the bride of Dale Fleischman in an afternoon ceremony April 8 in the Buhl Catholic Church.

Rev. Malachy McNeill officiated at the double ring Nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with Easter lilies and flanked with baskets of pink chrysanthemums, lavender carnations and white pompons.

The center aisles were marked with orchid satin bows tied with nosegays of pink and lavender chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kaster. Buhl, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fleischman, Anchorage, Alaska.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown styled with a scooped neckline and empire waistline. Tiny pearl buttons trimmed the bodice, and a white satin bow was featured at the waistline and ended in three satin panels at the hemline.

Her three-tiered veil of nylon illusion was edged in lace and ended in a chapel train. It was held in place by a band of pearl-centered orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations with pink and lavender pompons, accented with ivy and baby's breath and centered with a purple Cattleya orchid.

The bride wore pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. She designed and made her wedding gown. Her veil was loaned to her by her sister, Mrs. Keith Rosencrantz.

Mrs. Ralph Assendrup was organist and accompanied Mrs.

Frank Karel, Theresa Karel and Mrs. Wayne Iverson who sang.

Mrs. Rosencrantz was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Janet Boyte, Denyer, Colo., cousin of the bride; Angela Fleischman, Anchorage, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Denis Busman; Mrs. Beny Freeman and Roxanne Thorsen.

Meladee Cooper was flower girl and scattered pink rose petals before the bride. David Cooper was ringbearer and carried a pink and white heart-shaped cushion made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Stella Kaster.

Tony Fleischman, San Diego, Calif., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were George Little, Steve Aschenbrener and Chuck Vaughn, all of Star, Idaho; Andy Madsen, Boise, and Keith Rosencrantz, Castleford.

Scott Kaster, brother of the bride, served as candlelighter.

A reception was held after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with lace over lavender and centered with a four-tiered heart-shaped cake decorated with sugar bells, hearts, and pink and orchid roses with silver leaves. It was tipped with two satin bells with tulle and net bows, and topped with a pair of diamond bridal rings.

Flanking the cake were pink and orchid tapers in crystal candelabra surrounded by flowers and ivy. Mrs. Karl Werth, Mrs. Jack Ormohundro, Hagerman, and Mrs. Harlan Andersen, Wendell, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Del Little, aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee, and Mary Ann Paulin served punch.

MR. AND MRS. DALE FLEISCHMAN

Carol Loosli, Boise, presided at the guest book. Denise Shaub and Sherry Maxwell opened and displayed the gifts. The reception tables were covered with white cloths and centered with bowls of pink and lavender flowers, centered with lavender candles and tied with pink satin bows.

Special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Black, Boise, great aunt and uncle of the bridegroom. The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial shower at the home of Mrs. June Sherrell, hosted by Roxanne Thorsen, Mrs. Busman and Mrs. Freeman.

The newlyweds will reside at 1418 W. Jefferson St., Apt. 4, Boise, where the bride is employed at Barrett's Mobile Home Transport, Inc., and the bridegroom is a psychology major at Boise State College.

while each player cue-bid in hearts, neither one had first round control and each one showed he didn't. North could have bid four hearts over his partner's four hearts. When he didn't, he denied that control. Similarly, South could have bid five hearts over five clubs if he could handle the first lead in that suit.

How did South know that his partner held the ace and king of spades? Easy. North would not have gone past game on his own hook without both those cards.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a CPA, and every year around income tax time he is deluged with telephone calls from friends who want to ask him questions about their income tax returns.

My husband is an AUDITOR, and I doubt that he has filled out an income tax return since college.

Last night a casual acquaintance called with a book-keeping problem so simple that even I could solve it. I wonder if these same people call a brain surgeon everytime they have a headache.

MRS. T. D. S.
DEAR MRS. S.: Probably not. But I'm sure if they thought a brain surgeon could relieve their headache, they wouldn't hesitate to call him.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old senior in high school and will be graduating soon. I am now looking for a job, but wherever I apply, I am told, "You don't have enough experience."

Abby, how can a person get experience if nobody gives him a job?

I am willing to work hard, but unless somebody hires me, how can I show him what I can do?

Please print this, Abby. I have been steaming about this for a long time.

DISCOURAGED
DEAR DISCOURAGED: Every experienced worker was once inexperienced. Employers know this, but the applicant who shows the most persistence is the one who gets the job. (P. S. Let it be known that you will take anything in order to prove your sincerity.)

DEAR ABBY: The letter about "perfectionists" inspires me to take my pen in hand. (I can't believe I am actually writing a letter to "Dear Abby.")

I also believe in neatness and orderliness, but it can be overdone. I was raised in a home with two parents who were both "perfectionists."

We had a large closet with everything hung just so. We children were not allowed to go into it. We asked for our clothes and they were given to us.

A wicker rocker gives me chills to this day. I sat in one for hours on end with a book. (The only toy which I was permitted because it didn't make a mess.) We weren't allowed to sit in the living room except on very special occasions, and then only on certain chairs.

We ate in a restaurant for years so our kitchen stove and sink were kept spotless. We washed in the big copper laundry tub in the basement in order to keep the bathroom clean.

Mother is up in years now, but she is still a perfectionist. All her furniture looks like new.

I escaped when I married many years ago, but I still appreciate the simple pleasures of bathing in a bathtub and using ALL the house.

MEMORIES
DEAR MEMORIES: Your "memories" make interesting reading. Thank you for sharing them.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding that letter from knitters and needleworkers: Do you really want to know why women knit in company?

It's because it gives them something to think about while they are talking.

REGARDS,
GEORGE IN BREMERTON
DEAR GEORGE: That's a pretty "broad" statement. (Also unjust and inaccurate.)

Top civilian adviser in S. Viet controversial

By KIM WILLENSON
SAIGON (UPI)—John Paul Vann, top civilian adviser to the South Vietnamese in the embattled Central Highlands, actually is a controversial onetime Army colonel who holds down the job of a two-star general.

Vann is a lithe, diminutive man who habitually wears a thin shirt unbuttoned halfway to the waist, talks in an oversized voice, and often is described as "banty" by people who meet him for the first time. He is regarded as the top U.S. expert on pacification in Vietnam.

He has been here since the early 1960s—for many years as the top U.S. adviser in the troubled Mekong Delta, and since early 1971 as a civilian American troubleshooter in the highlands.

Vann arrived here in the early days of U.S. involvement, as an Army lieutenant colonel. A perceptive student of Vietnamese psychology as well as the tactics and techniques of guerrilla warfare, he quickly saw what was wrong with the training tactics and equipment being given to the South Vietnamese.

But when he began pushing for changes, he was quickly slapped down by the doctrinaire civil and military establishments here.

TIPS FOR THE TOO TALL

By Mary Sue Miller

If you think you are too tall, hear this. Stooping will never make you look petite. All it does is cause the figure to appear hunched or awkward.

An overly tall girl—5'10" and over—must make up her mind always to hold her head erect, her chin tilted slightly upward, shoulders relaxed in a natural curve, and chest elevated as on a breath. That carriage is not only the correct one for her, but for every body.

Special advice for the tall have to do with learning how to position the arms and hands. Through the device, you cut height and add to grace.

What not to do comes first. Never let both arms fall straight down at your sides. That position only elongates and emphasizes your stature. Instead, bend one arm from the elbow so that your hand comes to rest at the side-center of your waistline with palms up and fingers curled naturally. Or tuck the fingers in a side pocket. Or place the hand at waist level behind your back.

Clasping the hands loosely, just below the waist, forms another attractive gesture. Be sure one palm snuggles the back of the other. Locking the fingers looks a bit pre-school.

In such ways you create horizontal lines that cut your height as effectively as flat-crowned hats, medium-heeled shoes and horizontal bands on skirts. Cheer up, the ideas work!

10 million in U.S. have high blood pressure

By DUSTON HARVEY
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The nation's biggest "hidden" disease is high blood pressure, a painless ailment which will cut short the lives of many of the 10 million Americans who have it and don't know it, a panel of heart experts warned Tuesday.

They urged expansion of fledgling public health efforts to identify and treat the unknown half of the estimated 21 million Americans with hypertension—"one of the main causes of strokes, heart attacks and arteriosclerosis."

And they called on their fellow physicians to provide treatment for younger patients with high blood pressure rather than just advising them to "lose weight, watch your salt intake and live normally."

The experts on hypertension discussed the disease during the ninth Interamerican Congress of Cardiology. About 2,000 heart experts from North and South America, were attending the weeklong convention.

Dr. Edward D. Freis of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Washington, D.C., said surveys indicate nearly half the people with high blood pressure don't know they have it. Of the half that do know, only half are receiving treatment.

"The disease has no symptoms—no pains, no aches, not even any headaches," Freis said. "They feel perfectly well—until they have a stroke or some other major complication. People with hypertension run a much greater risk of stroke and heart disease."

Dr. Irvine H. Page of the Cleveland Clinic said nearly all 21 million Americans with the disease—an estimate based on several surveys—need to be treated over a long period with drugs to prevent strokes and heart attacks.

But Dr. Alvin P. Shapiro of the University of Pittsburgh suggested it may be difficult to convince many of those with mild hypertension to take the necessary 20 to 30 years of drug treatment.

McGovern into lead

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern, trampling Sen. Edmund Muskie in his own New England, became the frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination today.

Pulling an actual majority of the vote in the crowded Massachusetts Democratic primary Tuesday, the "peace and love" prairie senator buried the remains of the Maine senator's status as top contender and put himself into the lead in the number of committed delegates for the nomination.

The South Dakotan was expected to win in Massachusetts, but his margin of victory exceeded all predictions. Also as expected, President Nixon walked away with the Republican primary in the Bay State.

McGovern's apparent sweep of the 102-member Massachusetts delegation was credited to antiwar sentiment brought to a peak by Nixon's decision to resume bombing of North Vietnam. There was even some sign of doves on the wing in the Republican primary, where Nixon won 34 more delegates.

With 85 per cent of the state's precinct's reporting, McGovern had 176,284 votes, 51 per cent of the total. Muskie was second with 77,467, or 22 per cent, followed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., with 28,001, or 8 per cent; Gov. George C. Wallace, of Alabama with 17,447, or 5 per cent; and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., with 14,048, or 4 per cent. Eight other Democrats trailed, including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who pulled himself off the ballot but got 1,362 write-in votes anyway.

Nixon got 53,654 votes, 82 per cent of the total. Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., whose antiwar candidacy foundered in New Hampshire and Florida, got a surprising 6,691, or 13 per cent, and Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, was last with 2,862, or 5 per cent.

HHH's rematch chances good

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's victory Tuesday in Pennsylvania—the first major presidential primary win of his career—has made him a top contender for a rematch with President Nixon in the November general election.

Humphrey, with strong black and labor support, won handily over Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who ran a surprising second, and Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and George S. McGovern.

McGovern and Muskie were virtually in a dead heat and both ran right on Wallace's heels.

Muskie, once widely regarded as the frontrunner for the party nomination, not only fared poorly on the popular ballot but also failed to win his expected plurality of the state's 137 delegate votes to the Democratic national convention.

With 97 per cent of the popular vote counted, Humphrey had 457,755 or 35 per cent; Wallace had 273,506 or 21 per cent; Muskie had 268,957 or 21 per cent; and McGovern had 265,823 or 20 per cent. Sen. Henry Jackson was a distant fifth with 39,232, or 3 per cent.

In the voting for convention delegates, with 74 per cent of that vote counted, 95 pledged or favorable to Humphrey were leading; 32 were in McGovern's corner; 29 were for Muskie; two were for Wallace and 12 were uncommitted.

Stassen could run

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—H. Rold E. Stassen was on the sidelines for Tuesday's presidential primary in Pennsylvania, but he wouldn't rule out another bid for the White House.

Now 65, the five-time candidate for the presidency has a successful law practice here, where Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie made their campaign headquarters election night.

"I'm probably one of the few men," he says, "with any kind of national following who is willing to state categorically that he will not run this year. When there is an incumbent president in my own party, I never run."

In his campaign wars, Stassen won the Pennsylvania Republican primary in 1948. However, he lost the nomination to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who in turn was defeated by Harry S. Truman.

Stassen was back four years later to challenge Dwight D. Eisenhower, but he lost again. Unfazed, he unsuccessfully challenged Richard M. Nixon in 1960. Barry M. Goldwater in 1964 and Nixon again four years ago.

While not a candidate this year, Stassen does not rule out a political future. He says he is content to wait out the Nixon years until "clearer and calmer minds" prevail.

IRA adopts new sniping tactic

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The wounding Tuesday of seven soldiers in Belfast and Londonderry by snipers reflects a new tactic on the part of the Irish Republican Army (IRA), a security source said today.

In the past, we had gunman who fired off a burst from a machine gun from a corner and then disappeared," the source said. "Now the stress is on high velocity rifles, firing from a good position, and making every bullet count."

Three of the soldiers were hit in Belfast's Roman Catholic Lower Falls area, three in the city's Andersonstown district and one in Londonderry.

The Londonderry victim, Cpl. Brian Bowers, was the only serious casualty. He was hit in the chest while on patrol on William Street in the Bogside area, an army spokesman said, and hospitalized in "critical condition."

The same bullet in the Londonderry attack also slightly injured a civilian, the spokesman said.

In other incidents, explosions damaged a gas station near Strabane, causing superficial damage, and a house in Belfast's markets area. The army said it had no reports of casualties.

In the Ardoyne district, police said a man and a woman stopped David Bryson, asked him if he lived on the Protestant Shankill Road, and when he said yes, shot him in the neck in a deliberate murder attempt.

He underwent emergency surgery at a hospital.

The security source said he had no doubts that Tuesday's sniping incidents were the continuation of an IRA vengeance campaign for the army killing two weeks ago of Joseph McCann, 24, an officer in the IRA's official wing.

Scout-O-Rama

JEROME—The District Scout-O-Rama will be held Saturday at the Jerome High School. Scouts from Wendell, Gooding and Jerome will participate in the pageant. The theme will be "Spirit of Scouting," the story of the life of Batton Powell, founder of Boy Scouts.

No competition creates profits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A confidential government study of 100 leading industries estimates that lack of competition causes the firms involved to reap bloated profits and waste billions of dollars a year through inefficient operation.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) study has been cited frequently by presidential hopeful Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who said the Price Commission should freeze all prices until the study is made public.

But Lawrence G. Meyer, the FTC official who directed the study, told UPI McGovern misused the statistics by interpreting from them that prices are inflated by more than $15 billion a year.

"The figures can't be used the way he is using them," Meyer said. The FTC's figures on excess profits and waste, he said, were only "rough estimates," far too inaccurate to be translated into realistic estimates of excess pricing.

Meyer declined to provide a copy of the study, but UPI obtained one from other sources. The study did not make the excess price estimates cited by McGovern, but it did provide data on estimated excess profits and waste from which the South Dakota senator computed his estimates.

The study concluded that concentrated industries—ones controlled by a few firms—not only waste more money and make more, but also adopt the "deception" of hiding some excess profits through book-keeping ploys.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER
The best home ownership deal these days is in what some economists wryly call "capitalist-communes."

You get the convenience and low cost of a rented apartment plus actual ownership and a chance to make money on your investment.

The three types of communal housing are condominiums, co-operatives and home owner associations (HOAs). Ownership involves mandatory membership in an association, council or corporation. Monthly fees are charged to pay for owner-controlled management of property and facilities jointly shared.

In a co-operative you don't actually own your own home, you own a share in a corporation that owns all the property. Your share gives you exclusive rights to one of the living units.

In a condominium you actually own the space inside your apartment or town house and you own a share in the common property or facilities (parks, pools, playgrounds).

HOAs are sort of loosely formed condominiums where owners usually have separate homes and land but belong to an organization that operates and maintains commonly used facilities.

Buying into a co-operative can be, perhaps, the least expensive way to get in. The down payment on a newly formed project is usually quite small and there are little or no closing costs. You don't need a mortgage. Your monthly unit charges include your share of the overall mortgage payment.

Buying into a condominium or home owners association is much like buying your own house. You get your own separate mortgage and deed. Although you usually need a bigger down payment than is needed for a co-operative, you get much more financial flexibility.

Having your own mortgage allows refinancing, if necessary, and it makes it easier to sell your home later for a profit. In a co-operative the corporation has to "approve" anyone you sell to. Also, if a shareholder defaults on payments, the rest of the owners can get stuck with an assessment to cover the loss. This isn't the case with condominiums or HOAs.

Aside from your mortgage payments or your share of the co-operative mortgage payment, you have to pay monthly fees into a central property management which is usually controlled by the home owners. Money from these mandatory monthly fees can give owner-management real group purchasing power.

Monthly fees for condominiums average from $30 to $50 and cover such things as home-owner insurance, outdoor maintenance (lawn mowing, landscaping, painting), operation of pool clubs and trash removal. As a member, you get these services for a fraction of what it would cost an individual home owner.

HOA monthly fees average $10 to $15 but they don't cover as many services as those charged by most condominiums. Often, HOA fees only cover such things as maintenance of a pool and common ground.
