WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's order that shipping to North Vietnamese ports be sealed off by mines was carried out successfully today while U.S. officials carefully watched for Moscow's response to the blockade action.

The first Soviet reaction came from the Tass news agency. It carried an angry tone but contained no immediate threat of military or diplomatic retaliation.

Nonetheless, the President's decision to mine the North Vietnamese ports and bomb Hanoi's rail links with China was viewed as posing the greatest threat of a major power confrontation since the Cuban missile crisis 10 years ago.

However, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's chief national security adviser, said the White House was proceeding on the assumption that Nixon's summit visit to the Soviet Union beginning May 22 was still on.

He also expressed belief that despite the new crisis the door was still open for "a new era of East-West relations" between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The first phase of the mining operation was carried out without loss of any planes, officials said, and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird wired congratulations to his admirals.

The mines which will be activated Thursday at 6 a.m. EDT were sown by U.S. Navy planes, with the port of Haiphong the major target. The ports of Hongai, Thanh Hoa and Campha also were to be mined.

As U.S. warplanes bombed rail lines as well as sowing mines in six ports, there were these other developments at home and abroad on the new Nixon action.

The Vietnamese Communist delegates to the Paris peace negotiations vowed never to accept the blockade unchallenged and to continue the war.

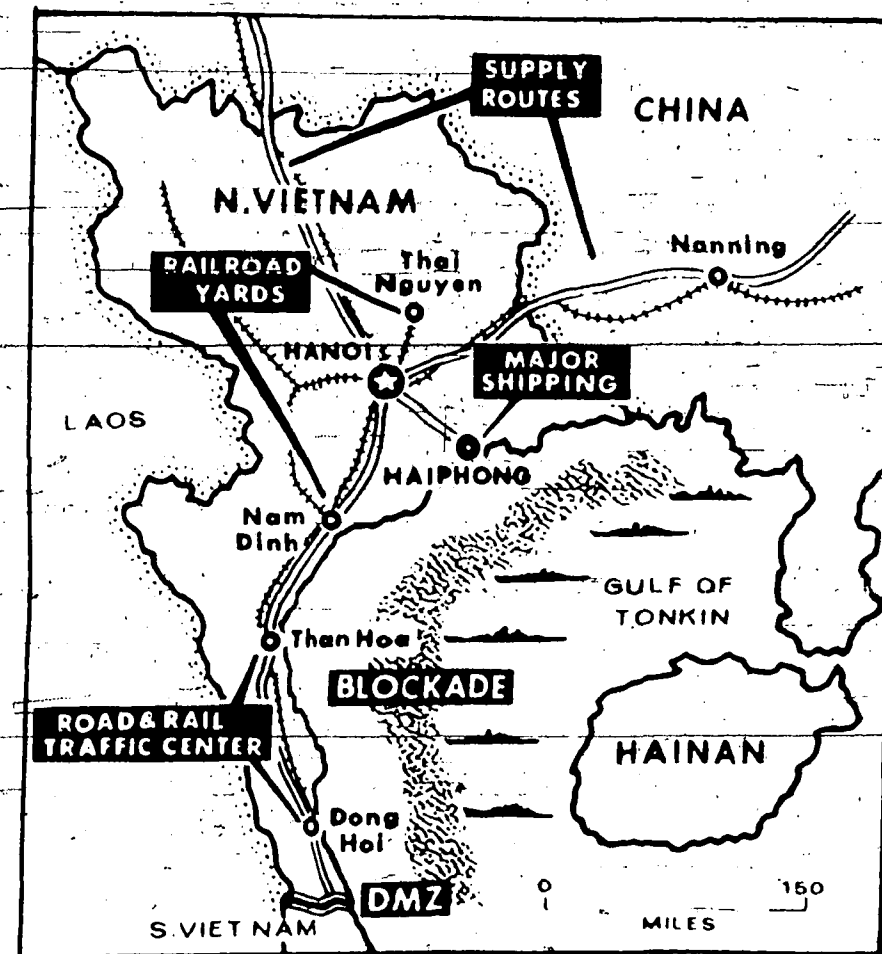

The SALT talks on a increasingly effective. In time, nuclear arms pact between the United States and the Soviet Union continued in Helsinki with no visible signs of negotiation is the way out of disruption. Today's session lasted 60 minutes and preliminary plans were made for further discussions Wednesday or Thursday.

Deputy Defense Secretary Kenneth H. Rush agreed the effect might not be immediate but added: "These steps will be taken to watch developments first hand."

ton to watch developments first hand.

An estimated three-fourths of North Vietnam's imports enter through Haiphong and U.S. officials estimated 25 ships are there most of the time. Many of them Soviet vessels. In an American raid on Haiphong last month, the Russians charged, some Russian ships were damaged.

Nixon did not use the term blockade to describe his action.

TF street LID OK'd

TWIN FALLS — An ordinance to create a $500,000 street curb and sidewalk improvement district in Twin Falls was adopted Monday night by the City Council.

Acting under suspension of the rules to pass the ordinance on first reading, the council also set May 26 as the date for bid opening on the construction work.

This will allow the contractor to complete the street work during the coming summer. The district will be known as Local Improvement District 87.

Property owners will have 15 years in which to pay their share of the costs for the improvement. Total cost of the project is estimated at $578,511 including advertising, engineering and other costs.

Areas 3 and 5 of the original district plans were eliminated with areas scheduled for improvement. They are Shoshone Street from Second to Sixth Avenues East; Locust Street from Heyburn Avenue to Addison Avenue; Martin Street from Heyburn to Addison. South Park Avenue W. from Blake to Washington streets; Sunrise from Shoup to Heyburn; Elizabeth Boulevard from Locust to Madrona; Sunrise Boulevard from Shoup to Heyburn.

SAIGON (UPI)—President Nixon's decision to blockade North Vietnamese harbors escalates the war one step farther than President Lyndon B. Johnson ever dared. And this time the stakes are higher as well.

During Johnson's years of bombing the North, 1964-68, the United States and South Vietnam were fighting a guerrilla force that needed only 50 to 300 tons a day of supplies to fight on.

Blockading the ports would not have stopped this minimal flow, Johnson was told by his advisers, but would have sharply increased the possibility of a confrontation with both the Soviet Union and China.

But the current six-week-old Communist offensive in South Vietnam, military experts argue, is a conventional war using heavy tanks and artillery and requiring huge amounts of ammunition and, especially, of oil and gasoline.

Most of this must come in by sea. Blockading the ports in the north eventually will dry up the Communist effort in the South. It may take a while. The rule of thumb is that it takes three months for an escalation of the air and naval war against the North to be felt at the end of the supply pipeline in the South. (Communist diplomatic sources in Paris indicated it will take much longer than that. They said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong long ago stockpiled sufficient supplies of war material to conduct the current offensive.) They did not define "sufficient."

Though the blockade is the latest move, a number of steps remain which Johnson also backed off from: bombing the dikes of the Red River Delta; invading North Vietnam with ground troops; or using atomic weapons.

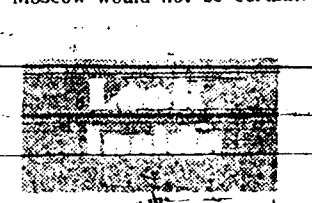

Johnson got conflicting advice about mining the harbors. In the end he decided not to.

The Institute for Defense Analyses, in a 1966 study, said North Vietnam's ability to import war material from Russia and China and filter it into South Vietnam was "not likely to be altered by reducing the present geographic constraints, mining Haiphong and the principal harbors in North Vietnam, increasing the number of armed reconnaissance sorties and otherwise expanding the U. S. air offensive along the lines now contemplated in military recommendations and planning studies."

Walt Rostow, Johnson's assistant for national security demurred. In a May 6, 1967 memo, he suggested a strategy under which "we would mine the major harbors and, perhaps bomb port facilities and even consider blockade. In addition, we would attack systematically the rail lines between Hanoi and mainland China."

This is pretty much what Nixon ordered. Rostow, five years ago, assayed the likely Russian and Chinese reactions: "I myself do not believe that the Soviet Union would go to war with us over Vietnam unless we sought to occupy North Vietnam; and, even then, a military response from Moscow would not be certain."

Tass scores US blockade

MOSCOW (UPI)—President Nixon's decision to mine and blockade North Vietnamese ports is "undisguised aggressive action which means the deepening of American interference in Vietnam," the Tass news agency said today.

A Tass dispatch from Washington—the first official reaction—reported the essence of Nixon's speech, including the blockade details, and said:

"Nixon tried to justify these undisguised aggressive actions, which mean the deepening of the American interference in Vietnam and the violation of the norms of international law, by the necessity to save the lives of 60,000 American soldiers because of the presence of the Communist threat to South Vietnam."

About two hours before Nixon announced the blockade, Soviet Defense Minister Andrei A.

Grechko affirmed continued Soviet aid to North Vietnam in opposing "aggressive imperialist circles which will not heed the lessons of history."

Grechko's declaration came in his order of the day for the Victory Day holiday. Presumably prepared before news of the blockade reached Moscow, the order did not name the United States. It singled out "the heroic Vietnamese people" as recipients of continuing Soviet assistance in battling "imperialism."

The order said, "The Communist party and the Soviet government are firmly upholding the interests of socialism, are resolutely opposing aggressive imperialist circles which will not heed the lessons of history."

Rescue team nears shaft

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI)—Rescuers riding a tiny steel capsule reached the bottom of the Sunshine mine today and started through a mile-long tunnel toward 58 men missing for a week.

U.S. Bureau of Mines officials said the capsule touched the bottom of the mine's No. 12 shaft after three alternating two-man crews chipped away rocks with crowbars in a 1,100-foot ventilation shaft most of the night.

The capsule was pulled back to the top of the shaft, where two rescuers boarded it, then lowered again.

The two men started through a 5,000-foot, six-foot-high tunnel connecting No. 12 with the No. 10 shaft, where the 58 miners have been trapped since last Tuesday by a fire which has already killed 35 others.

In another part of the mine, officials reported a "major cavein" which snapped a compressed air pipe to the lower depths.

Rescuers hoped most of the miners were in a large fresh-air chamber near the bottom of No. 10. But if any were in remote tunnels breathing the compressed air, the accident would be fatal.

Since 11 p.m. Monday, the two-man crews had taken one-hour shifts inside the bright yellow cylinder, working sometimes at the rate of only a few feet an hour.

"They're playing it safe," said Bureau of Mines Director Elbert Osborn.

Their goal was the 4,800-foot level of the mine, where the missing men were believed trapped by smoke and poisonous gases from the underground fire that erupted last Tuesday in the nation's biggest silver mine. The smoke and fumes killed 35 men.

Mine officials held out slight hope to friends and relatives waiting in cold, drizzly weather under a makeshift tent outside the mine's entrance.

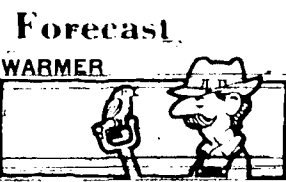

They said some of the trapped miners could have survived in fresh air at the mine bottom a mile down. However, the officials said earlier that a flare up of the week-old fire Monday dimmed the chances of any survivors as more smoke and carbon monoxide spewed through the mine.

The crowd at the entrance grew during the night as news of the rescue efforts with the capsule spread.

Osborn said the first attempt got no more than 150 feet down the shaft, where jagged rock walls halted the cylinder. The two volunteers were pulled back to the top at the 3,700 foot level, after smashing at the rocks until they were exhausted.

Israeli troops seize airliner

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israeli soldiers killed two of four Arab guerrilla hijackers today during a bold rush to free 101 persons held hostage aboard a Belgian airliner for 21 hours, a military spokesman said.

None of the hostages or soldiers was wounded, the spokesman said. He said two male guerrillas were killed, one female guerrilla was wounded and a second woman guerrilla was captured unharmed.

Details of the rescue plan were not immediately available but one source said soldiers disguised as airline technicians slipped aboard the blue and silver Boeing 707 and caught the guerrillas by surprise. "We were sitting in the plane when suddenly there was a scratching on the emergency windows," said one passenger, Peter Franzen of Weinheim, West Germany.

Gold soars

LONDON (UPI)—The price of gold rocketed to a record $54 an ounce on the free market today, a $1.50-an-ounce leap from the overnight price.

The runaway price mirrored the growing gap between new gold production and increasing usage of the metal by various industries, a shortage which even Russian supplies of the metal could not bridge, gold mining industry sources said.

Church says peace terms 'softened'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Frank Church said Monday night the President's terms for peace in Vietnam "have been dramatically softened."

Church, in a statement released by his Washington office, said, "The President has acted out of desperation. His blockade upped the ante in military terms."

"All he asks now is for the release of American prisoners and a cease-fire during which the remainder of American forces will be withdrawn, within four months, leaving the Vietnamese, north and south, to work it out for themselves."

Church, who has been critical of Nixon administration policies on Vietnam, said "I think these terms for ending our part in this war should now be ratified by an act of Congress."

Robert Wayne Schlund, 34, Twin Falls, was positioning his two-ton truck to back up to a building on Railroad Avenue. He had apparently pulled within a few inches of the tracks, according to Twin Falls Police reports.

As Schlund began to back up a moving train operated by engineer Ben Harrison, 57, Twin Falls, struck the truck.

Schlund told police he was paying more attention to backing than to the train.

The train received no damage. Estimated damage to the truck was $300.

Hansen lauds Nixon action on Vietnam

POCATELLO — U. S. Senate Candidate George Hansen today applauded President Nixon's actions regarding Vietnam.

He said it should have happened long ago to have had the best effect and prevent unnecessary years of suffering and loss.

"I am pleased and relieved that firm and decisive action has finally been taken to end the war in Vietnam," Hansen, a former Idaho Congressman, said "such action is far overdue and comes only after much damage has been done to the defense posture of South Vietnam as well as the image and national morale of the United States."

Hansen said, "I have long advocated the actions taken by the President last night. Upon returning from an official congressional fact-finding trip to Vietnam in February, 1968, I called for exactly that which the President has now done — but over four years later."

"A year earlier, in 1967, I asked that we revise our objectives," Hansen said, "I stated, 'Instead of negotiations, our objectives must be to make the war so costly for the Communists that they will end it. The Communists started the war. The Communists must end it.'"

Hansen said "My first official speech on the subject as a Congressman came early in 1965 and made the point 'We all hope for an early end to this frustrating struggle, but the only real solution is to convince the Communists to live up to agreements already made, not to create further agreements to be broken.'"

No protests over zoning

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Nine public hearings on zoning matters Monday night before the Twin Falls City Council brought out only one comment and no protests.

Generally, the council followed the recommendations of the city planning and zoning commission after a similar hearing two weeks ago.

A tie vote of three to three resulted in denial of the request of Southland Corp. for permission to install a self-service gasoline station at the 7-11 store on Filler Avenue and Washington Street.

A spokesman for Southland Corp. explained the firm's plan for handling the sales and said similar operations in conjunction with the 7-11 Stores have worked satisfactorily in Boise.

Mayor John Christoffersen, Anne Cover and Winston Jones voted against the request. Michael P. Gray was absent, leaving the vote tied with Paul Ostyn, Tom Nelson and Stephen Lincoln voting for it.

The council voted to instruct the city attorney to prepare necessary papers for rezoning property in the Eoff Tract on Blue Lakes Boulevard North from commercial general to commercial local and allowing conditional use in the new commercial local zone for automobile sales and service.

This will allow Ace Hansen Chevrolet and Blue Lakes Volkswagen to operate businesses there without opening the area to the many broad uses in a commercial general zone.

Hearings on the nine items were conducted at 10-minute intervals.

The council also asked the city attorney to prepare several changes in the new zoning ordinance to correct oversights or make changes the zoning board and city have found necessary since approval of the ordinance earlier this year.

A change will permit churches and parish halls in the residential-professional zone where they were inadvertently omitted.

Another amendment was necessary to establish boundaries of the commercial-mail zone which the new ordinance established but did not define.

The main six-block downtown area was designated in the zone.

The council called for an amendment to the residential-professional zone concerning signing limitations on professional buildings in residential areas.

These include no flashing light signs; all signs attached to the building may not exceed 24 feet in area size, and yard signs may not exceed two square feet in size, and signs attached to building may not project more than two feet from the building while yard signs may not project beyond the property line.

The council granted a signing variance for the Bon Marche Store for signs on all three sides of the front of the building and suggested the ordinance be changed to allow one sign on each building side rather than limiting all buildings to two signs.

Approval was granted Warehouse Market, 1708 Kimberly Road, for a parking variance to remain in effect only so long as the property is used for its present purposes.

Action was tabled on a request of Joseph S. Robinson for permission to add a residential building in the commercial general zone adjacent to his Robinson's Family Drive-In at the west city limits. Council members said they wished to inspect the area before taking action.

Council members set June 5 as the city's public hearing date on a requested zone change for the Fireside Subdivision with plans to consider the surrounding area at the same time. The planning and zoning board recommended a hearing before their group on May 22 on the same question.

TF school funds view brighter

By HUGH DAVIS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — School District 411 may be better off financially than previously outlined in the district's 1972-73 budget.

The $3 million money plan came up for public hearing at Monday night's trustee meeting.

Three Magic Valley legislators were present to discuss the state's role in public school funding.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, revealed the possibility of increased revenue for the district.

Sen. High said state support to Gem State schools will increase about $8 million and raise the level of support to 63 per cent.

Next year, Twin Falls School District students will be funded at $360 per student as opposed to $344 for the current session. That figure is multiplied by the average daily attendance rate to determine the amount Twin Falls will receive from the state.

In the proposed budget, the proposed state receipts amount to $1.84 million. That figure is based on daily attendance figures for the first 30 weeks of school this year. When final figures are in, the district is allowed to base the state receipts on the best 28 weeks of attendance during the entire year.

Asst. Supt. Camden Meyer told the legislators the district has had a significant number of absences so far this year and that the attendance rate may increase allowing the district more money, perhaps as much as $30,000, when final computations are made.

In a related field, Sen. Barker told the board 100 per cent school funding by state government is likely to become reality because of a California court decision and possible subsequent action by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Barker said he would not be surprised if the funding were based on state property taxation with relief coming at the local level.

The board of trustees will have to wait until June 12 to adopt the new budget because state laws require such action at local boards' first meetings in June. The board will not be sworn in until June 12 and the new board must be the approval authority for the new budget.

Board chairman John Wolfe called for a canvassing of the votes in the May 8 trustee election. Ballots were approved for all five zones and the total official vote was 7,159, about one-tenth of all those eligible to vote.

The board also adopted the current teacher salary schedule allowing for incremental raises to teachers advancing steps on the scale. All certified personnel in the district were approved for employment for next year.

Paving project delayed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls School District trustees again delayed a decision on paving the road east of Twin Falls High School to gather more information.

The board examined two estimates for paving the bus entrances at the east side of the school and found the estimates lacked information concerning engineering expenses.

One estimate to install asphalt is set at $6,000 and would reportedly endure for 20 years.

A second estimate of $11,000 for making the roadway concrete places the duration span at 40 years. Neither figure contains an estimated expense for engineering costs.

The concrete estimate may be increased to include the services of concrete road pouring machine that would have to be imported from another state.

Board Chmn. John Wolfe said, "Nearly every year I have been on the board, we have had to re-surface the portion of the road. I think we should look into something more permanent and to make sure we are getting our money's worth we ought to enlist the aid of a qualified road engineer."

The board instructed secretary J. T. Anderson to contact an engineer for a more detailed estimate of both surfacing alternatives.

Apart from regular business, the board was questioned as to why Twin Falls schools do not have guidance counselors at the elementary level.

Roger Abernathy, counselor and psychology instructor at the College of Southern Idaho, asked the board why the district could not have guidance counselors in elementary schools and perhaps, fewer coaches at the high school level.

The question was deferred to Doyt Simcoe, district counselor, who explained the counseling system came about in 1959. High schools applying for accreditation had to have counselors as an accreditation requirement.

Simcoe said the concept of elementary guidance counseling is new to Idaho. There are about 10 such counselors in the state.

Board Chmn. John Wolfe said it was a matter of economics and, while conceding Abernathy's proposal had merit, said such counseling must wait until money is available to initiate the system in district 411.

Abernathy said guidance counseling is more effective in elementary schools because students are more receptive to counseling in the earlier stages of their development. He asked the board to reconsider their priorities.

WASHINGTON — The preparing the ground for capital of Israel. Administration is quietly recognizing Jerusalem as the timing of this move is largely dependent on what transpires at done. Foremost among Ford's forceful arguments was that, if relations with Red China can be revamped, "we can do no less with a nation with whom we have enjoyed a close friendship in the last quarter-century." Following are other highlights of this remarkable address: "It has become anachronistic and even an impediment to a regional peace settlement for the United States to continue maintaining the fiction that Jerusalem is not the capital of Israel. Jerusalem is the historic, Biblical and revered capital of the Jewish nation. Israeli-American relations have reached the point wherein it is absurd to go on with the old, makeshift arrangement of maintaining our embassy in Tel Aviv in defiance of the facts of life. To continue with the present arrangement might indicate that there is something temporary about the location of Israel's capital. This situation has not encouraged the Arabs to translate the present cease-fire into a permanent and lasting peace. President Nixon set an example of reviewing diplomatic contacts and relations with the Chinese government in Peking. By moving our embassy to Jerusalem, we will demonstrate that our friendship has reached the phase in which we accept Israel's right to designate her capital. Pointedly noting that next year will mark Israel's silver anniversary, Ford expressed the hope that President Nixon will go there to commemorate the historic occasion. Said the House Republican leader: "I hope that President Nixon, by the year 1973, will go to Jerusalem to dedicate a new United States embassy in that city: a city of God and Man, a city precious to all Americans, Christian and Jewish alike, a city that we can very appropriately recognize as the world capital devoted to the idea of peace and the brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God."

Unnoticed in the past several months, there have been two significant hints of Administration thinking on this internationally sensitive matter.

In both instances, the tip-offs came from Republican Congressional leaders—House GOP Floor Leader Gerold Ford (Mich.) and Senate GOP Whip Robert Griffin (Mich.). Equally important, both indicated they were talking with the knowledge and approval of the White House.

Ford voiced his revealing comments at a Cleveland meeting of the Zionist Organization of America. Strangely, although most important, his remarks got no public attention—which they distinctly merited. In effect, the top Republican leader of the House not only vigorously advocated recognition of Jerusalem as Israel's capital, but made a strong case why that should be

Doctor Opinions

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 50 years old. My doctor began giving me birth control pills about five years ago to regulate my period.

I am still taking them and still have periods, but only enough to realize I'm having them.

My doctor has passed on. Should I continue with them? — H. R.

Your letter raises an important issue that I would like to comment on.

Your physician prescribed the pills for you for a specific reason, to help regulate your periods. Not being familiar with your case, I would not be able to guess how long he intended to keep you on the medication.

The point I'd like to make — as a help to other readers whose doctors have died while they have been under his care — is this:

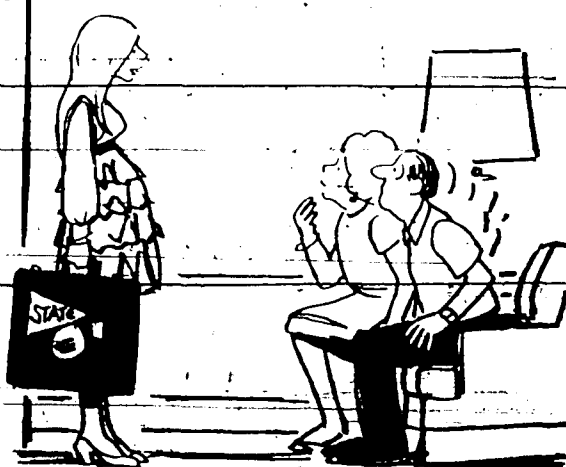

It is never wise to continue a prescribed medicine indiscriminately or indefinitely. Your records are probably available in your former doctors' office and would be available for use by your new doctor who then could make his own diagnosis and advise you as to your future.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

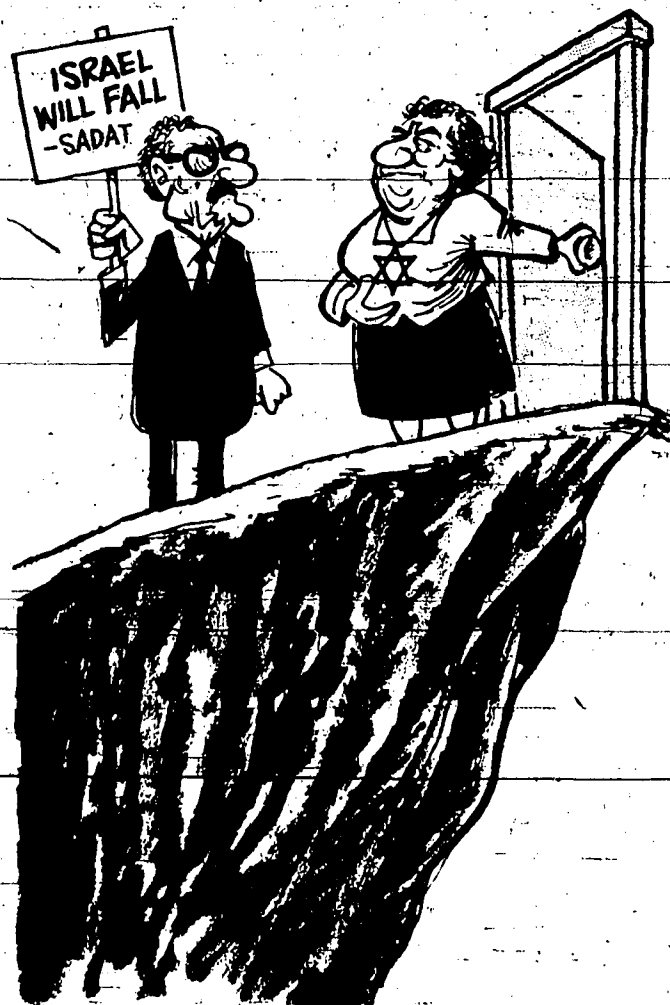

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Deal On War

WASHINGTON — Reports that the Soviet Union and Communist China are prepared to join the United States in a deal to force a settlement to end the Vietnam War are bolstered by none other than Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's resident Secretary of State.

After preliminary and secret contacts with Moscow and Peking, Kissinger is said by a White House source close to his thinking to believe that both governments are pressing North Vietnam to accept a system of guarantees to assure Hanoi of a fair shake in the political future of the South. The guarantees envision a U.S.-Russian-Chinese "peace commission" that would oversee all substantive elements of a peace settlement and the establishment of a new regime to operate South Vietnam.

The aim of the three powers' plan — at least for the near future — is a coalition government in Saigon. In Kissinger's reported view, the Russians and Chinese are trying to persuade Hanoi that this would be a first step to a political takeover by the Communists.

Moscow and Peking are saying to Hanoi, in effect: "Look, the Thieu regime in Saigon is weak, corrupt and basically unpopular with the people. It has shown it doesn't know how to win the people's loyalty. Therefore, you can afford to take this excellent chance of winning the whole package of goods."

Meanwhile, Kissinger has been telling Moscow and Peking that President Nixon is not that irrevocably committed to backing Thieu come hell or high water. The U.S., the Russians and Chinese have been assured, will go along with any reasonably secure move to end the fighting, even if it means the careful face-saving departure of President Thieu to some safe and well-financed European exile.

Kissinger's Mottern-like play has one big thing going for it. As has been frequently noted here, neither the Chinese nor the Russians are enchanted with the idea of a unified and dominant Communist Vietnam. The Hanoi regime is trisecularly independent, with a built-in distrust of the Chinese — as traditional enemies — and the Russians — as self-serving Communist imperialists. Yugoslavia's Tito has taught both Moscow and Peking what a nuisance such an independent Communist government can be. The Soviet Union, of course, would like to help write fins to the Vietnam War so it can go about its imperialist business elsewhere on the globe. Peking's attitude toward North Vietnam speaks to the more pressing matter of national security.

With the Russians to the west and sometime belligerent India to the South, Red China doesn't need an intractable, Tito-like regime operating all of Vietnam on its southeastern flank. Such a government would dominate the rest of Indochina, and copybook logic says a big power like China would prefer that Indochina consist of several small states with which it could deal separately — and firmly. Even independent Malaysia and Indonesia make Peking nervous.

All this does not mean a U.S.-Russian-Chinese deal is imminent or even inevitable. Hanoi's victories in the South must suggest to its leaders that they can take everything, without the necessity of resorting to a lot of diplomatic horsing around. But there is the widely-noted fact that the North Vietnamese position is not as hard as it was several weeks ago.

That is to say, Kissinger permits himself to see hope in Hanoi's abandonment of the demand that the Saigon government be overthrown. Its chief negotiator, Le Duc Tho, now is asking — or was, when last heard from — only that the South Vietnam government be forced to stop trying to exterminate the Communist political opposition. This suggests that Hanoi has been persuaded by Peking and Moscow that it can win an election in the South if the three super powers call off Thieu's secret police and executioners and supervise the voting.

For Henry Kissinger, this may be more of a dream than a hope, but whatever his faults no one has every down-rated his persuasive powers.

PAUL HARVEY

Not Worth It

In Congress and out, some of our most militant Hawks have become Doves. Why would they rather switch than fight?

Until 1966, Paul Harvey urged decisive military victory in Vietnam.

When we continued, instead, to wage a pulled-punches war, I began urging that we either "drive it or park it."

I guess I harped on that theme until it was threadbare, yet our Presidents elected to do neither. Instead they continued to sentence more and more American sons to fight a dead-end war.

The deciding factor in that difficult reversal of my own position was a post-mortem on our other unwon war in Korea.

We fought long and hard and at astronomical cost to "save" South Korea from the Communists of North Korea.

We spent 34,000 American lives to rescue South Korea from military dictatorship.

Yet despite that expenditure and our continuing costly "occupation," South Korea has a military dictatorship.

The political dictatorship led by South Korean President Chung Hee Park is altogether, as rigid, as confining, as punitive as the Communist dictatorship up north.

That the South Koreans enjoy a substantially higher standard of living reflects the continuing infusion of American dollars. In Seoul, politics is discussed in whispers, if at all. Telephones are bugged. The news media is rigidly censored. Frequently the five different newspapers run identical editorials the same day. CIA men are in every news room. Any "independent" newsman gets arrested, roughed up, fired.

Freedom of speech and assembly have been suspended indefinitely. No student demonstrates for or against anything. South Korea is in the cast-iron grip of total political dictatorship. Dictator's always justify curtailed freedom in the name of "national security." And they're right. Individual freedom implies obligations of self-discipline. Few of the world's people are capable of self-discipline. So we must concede that President Park serves his people most effectively by enforcing stability.

Even so in South Vietnam, "stability" and "national security" are the excuses for President Nguyen Van Thieu's dictatorial rule. The most we can hope to leave them is more of that. I do not question that the reasons are valid and that absolute rule in backward nations may be absolutely necessary.

But I have concluded that the perpetuation of military dictatorships anywhere in the world is not worth one more American life.

Peace Talks

There is no significant change in the recently re-state position of President Nixon and Le Due Tho, the top North Vietnamese negotiator at the Paris Peace Talks. However, Nixon warned Hanoi "runs a very great risk" in it's naked invasion.

Tho, upon his return to Paris, made no reference to secret negotiations earlier described by Hanoi's spokesman as "probable." He said he had returned "to continue negotiations," but his reiteration of four-year old Red demands indicated that progress can only be developed in secret.

One thing Tho said could be readily agreed to by Americans: "We want the American troops and the captured American soldiers to be able to return to their country and see their families as soon as possible."

But his reply to the American demand for a halt to the invasion and the return of American war prisoners was a classic Oriental inversion. The fighting, he said, "is the just right of the entire Vietnamese people to self-defense and there could not, therefore, be any such thing as aggression from the North against South Vietnam."

The South Vietnamese, fighting for their lives, would certainly reject Tho's view, and so would the Cambodians and Laotians, and Tho knows it.

President Nixon, in going along with the North Vietnamese request for a resumption of the Paris Talks, declared he was doing so only because we expect prompt and specific results in realistic negotiations, not more bombast.

It would be unrealistic at the outset not to expect some of the old propaganda from the Communists. Nor would it be realistic to expect prompt agreement, particularly when North Vietnamese are having military successes, despite the enormous costs in lives and material.

There is a natural deadline, however, in the approach of the monsoon season in about six weeks, which will severely limit military action.

Meantime, the war rages on.

Just Us

Man is distinguished from his fellow animals by his ability to reason. Another distinction, and a dreadful one, is that he is the only creature ever to cause another species to disappear from the earth.

The U. S. Interior Department frequently asks the public's cooperation in saving some 50 kinds of fish, animals and birds, among them the California condor, black-footed ferret, Everglades kite, prairie chicken, ivory-billed woodpecker, and Whooping crane.

All are threatened, due largely to man's greed or the encroachment of civilization upon their natural habitat. Only man can prevent their extinction.

Some of the dwindling species have outlived their usefulness to humans. Ivory-billed woodpeckers, for example, subsist on wood-boring insects but they have been going hungry since loggers started destroying the swamp timber where their food abounds.

For that reason, some people question the importance of preserving them.

But those who think that way aren't using their powers of reasoning. If they aren't moved by human considerations, they should be by the thought that this would be a dull world with only people in it.

Plug For Twin

Hughes Airwest "Sundancer," a flight magazine, has a good "plug" for the City of Twin Falls in the May issue. The magazine goes to all airline passengers and, in addition, is distributed nationally to a select mailing list.

The magazine article terms Twin Falls one of the "great cities of the west."

The city, the article says, "has a name known to all air travelers far and wide as the gateway to Sun Valley. Celebrities, politicians, cafe society, jet setters and sportsmen of every ilk trek through Joslin Field, the airport five miles south of Twin Falls, enroute to that fabled skiing resort."

But then comes the really nice things said about Twin Falls.

"It may not be as glamorous as its sister to the north, but it has more going for itself than most bonafide resorts ever dare hope for."

And then, bits of the article appear like this:

"The sky is still blue-blue in Twin Falls. The air is fresh, smells clean and is clean, not wafting with impurities as in so many other parts of the country. And the water which sparkles in the lakes, reservoirs and streams in the area is pure."

"Fishermen as well as skiers put Idaho high on their list of 'must visit' places and Twin Falls is naturally the city to start out from. Beside the Snake River, which slithers across Southern Idaho coming within a few miles of downtown Twin Falls, the area abounds with rushing streams and reservoirs. All are within a short drive of Twin Falls and teem with that freshwater fisherman's favorite — rainbow trout.

"Hunting, too, is an integral part of Twin Falls' attraction. Pheasants, ducks and geese can be hunted in the immediate area — big game in the mountains not far away."

"The fabulous Blue Lakes Country Club in the Snake River Canyon and the Municipal Golf Course challenge the golfer whether he be pro or amateur."

Then mentioned are Shoshone Falls, Twin Falls, the Snake Canyon, 1000 Springs Area, the Craters of the Moon.

And the article ends up like this: "Twin Falls may be known as the gateway city to Sun Valley but it is obviously a gateway that bears a second look."

And so Mr. Spectator, on behalf of the citizens of Twin Falls, says a big "thank you" to Hughes Airwest.

No-war unrest spurts

By United Press International President Nixon's decision to blockade North Vietnam in an effort to halt the Communist offensive against the south triggered a new offensive Monday from antiwar demonstrators.

Antiwar protesters tipped over a police car and burned it during a chanting, torchlight march near the University of California at Berkeley. About 500 marchers wound their way from "Ho Chi Minh Park" to Telegraph Avenue near the campus' main gate, where they blocked traffic and threw rocks. A group of protesters overturned a police car a few blocks from the university and put a torch to its gas tank. Many of the marchers then returned to the park for a rally. Others dispersed. No arrests were reported.

About 500 demonstrators from Columbia University marched down Broadway in New York following President Nixon's Vietnam speech, smashing windows at two banks. An undetermined number of persons suffered minor injuries when the mob clashed with police after rocks were thrown through the windows of one bank, police said. Ten arrests were reported.

About 1,000 marchers blocked traffic on the Boulder-Denver Turnpike near the University of Colorado campus at Boulder. Police took no action to move the demonstrators and closed the road to traffic. The marchers dispersed after setting a few fires. There were no arrests or injuries.

Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson came to the door of his St. Paul mansion early this morning to talk with about 150 University of Minnesota antiwar demonstrators. Anderson told the demonstrators he would telegraph President Nixon to protest the escalation of the war and agree to meet with a delegation elected by the protesters today.

"The news this evening is the saddest news that we've had certainly in our lifetimes," Anderson told the demonstrators, referring to Nixon's Vietnam speech. "I'm as shocked and astounded as all of you."

Some 1,500 students at the University of California at Santa Barbara and others blocked traffic on busy U.S. 101 freeway for nearly an hour. Small fires were set in the highway's divider strip and police said there were reports from motorists that rocks and other objects had been hurled at their cars.

Hanoi expected to clear mines

PEARL HARBOR (UPI) — Navy sources at Pearl Harbor said Monday night the Pacific Fleet expects the North Vietnamese to begin minesweeping operations off the port of Haiphong immediately.

One official said there was nothing to prevent the North Vietnamese from sweeping the Haiphong channels within minutes after airborne mines are dropped, unless American air and sea power move in to protect newly laid fields.

Reds debate moves, West welcomes act

By United Press International The Communist world, behind an initial wall of defiance, today debated its next steps following President Nixon's decision to blockade North Vietnam's harbors. Countries friendly to the West generally welcomed the move.

Diplomats in Moscow speculated that the Soviet government might cancel or postpone Nixon's visit to Moscow later this month. They said it was unlikely the Soviets would use force to ram their ships through the blockade but said it was equally unlikely the Russians would host Nixon while the blockade is in effect.

In a statement issued prior to the President's announcement, Soviet Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko said Russia will continue aid to North Vietnam against "aggressive imperialist circles."

Communist diplomatic sources in Paris said Hanoi and the Viet Cong will continue the current offensive in South Vietnam despite the blockade. The sources said Communist troops have enough arms stockpiled to continue fighting. In Helsinki, U.S. and Soviet teams were to meet as scheduled in the latest session of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). In the two years of SALT, both sides have taken public pride in not letting "extraneous issues like Vietnam" affect the talks. As expected, South Vietnam had high praise for the Nixon move. Foreign Ministry spokesman Pham Dang Sum said the action "was a timely one, aiming at putting an early end" to the war.

An informal poll of South Vietnamese congressmen showed most favored the blockade but they doubted it would shorten the war. Opposition deputy Ho Ngoc Nhuan predicted the blockade "will have no immediate effect. It may cause difficulty for the other side, but for a short time only."

N. Viet blockade draws fire, applause

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's decision to mine and blockade North Vietnamese seaports stunned and alarmed most congressional doves Monday night, but it won instant applause from his longstanding GOP allies and relatives of U.S. prisoners of war.

Of the three leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, about to clash again Tuesday in primaries in West Virginia and Nebraska, Sen. George S. McGovern termed Nixon's move "flirtation with World War III" while George C. Wallace said "I want any action any President takes... to bring peace and end the war."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., battling McGovern in Nebraska and Wallace in West Virginia, said, "I cannot and do not support the President's action." He described them as "filled with unpredictable danger... and a serious escalation of the war." He said he was suspending all further campaign activities to return to Washington for a meeting with congressional leaders.

"The President, who promised a generation of peace, has tonight made the world a more dangerous place," McGovern said in Lincoln, Neb. "We have seen the collapse of the President's effort in Vietnamization. The escalation is reckless, unnecessary and unworkable."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, took a similar tack, charging that Nixon "is risking a major confrontation with the Soviet Union and with China and he is jeopardizing major security interests of the United States."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, regarded as a potential presidential contender, labeled the President's decision "ominous" and said "I think it is folly... a futile military gesture taken in desperation."

Among those backing the President were Republican Sens. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the assistant GOP Senate leader. Mrs. Smith said "I support him wholeheartedly."

Griffin said Nixon had prescribed "strong medicine, but necessary," adding he was confident the public would stand behind Nixon "in this critical hour."

The League of Families of POW's and MIA's in Southeast Asia, which met in Washington over the weekend and voted to try to see Nixon within three days, expressed delight at the President's vow to continue his new policy until all U.S. prisoners of war are released by the Communists.

"Obviously, it is a very significant development," the group said. "We are very happy that the prisoners of war are of priority importance... and we are hopeful that his phrase 'all the prisoners' means an accounting of the missing."

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford praised Nixon for being "firm in his determination that we will not surrender" but two prominent GOP senators, Jacob K. Javits of

New York and George Aiken of Vermont, voiced serious misgivings.

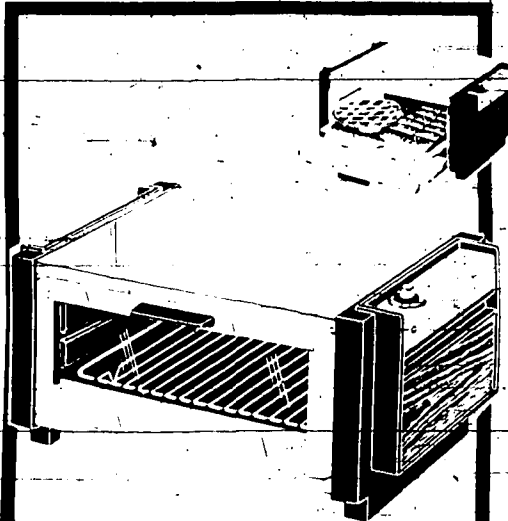

"We should have gotten out of Vietnam long before this," said Javits. "Now we must face the sequel together... our failure to extricate ourselves in time and no one can foretell the consequences."

Aiken, the GOP dean of the Senate, said "I don't believe that mining the harbors is going to have much effect on the battles now going on" and that both the Russians and Nixon now are practicing "brinkmanship."

United Press International
Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern abruptly suspended their presidential campaigns and rushed back to Washington today at the height of the new Vietnam crisis, despite their important head-to-head struggle in the Nebraska primary and a strong challenge to Humphrey from George C. Wallace in West Virginia.

On the eve of the twin primaries Humphrey and McGovern denounced President Nixon's decision to mine the harbor at Haiphong and halt any shipping of military goods into North Vietnam.

'Yellow van' dominates trial

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—The journey of a yellow van through Marin County the day before the 1970 courthouse shootout dominated Angela Davis' murder and kidnapping trial again today.

Called back to the stand for cross-examination was Louis F. May, an ex-convict who testified Miss Davis and Jonathan Jackson were in the van when it visited San Quentin Prison on Aug. 6, 1970.

Three earlier witnesses said the pair were in the rented van at a service station near the county courthouse in San Rafael on the same date.

Four persons, including a judge and young Jackson, were killed inside a similar yellow van on Aug. 7 during an escape and kidnapping attempt at the courthouse.

The state contends Miss Davis plotted and provided the guns used by Jackson, 17, when he freed three convicts and took five hostages in an effort to free his older brother, George, from San Quentin.

primary with a new, unpredictable factor that could play a major role in the outcomes.

McGovern and Humphrey the front-runners for the Democratic presidential nomination, watched Nixon's televised speech in Nebraska where they were completing short but arduous campaigns in a primary that could provide the winner with momentum for the contests still to come. Twenty-four delegate votes also were at stake in separate voting.

Although both virtually ignored the state, Humphrey and Wallace were matched in a "beauty contest" primary in West Virginia. In a separate race, Humphrey and Mc-Govern were fighting for the major share of West Virginia's 35 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

After watching Nixon's speech in his hotel suite, a somber Humphrey stepped into the corridor to read a brief statement to reporters. He refused to answer any questions and ducked back into his rooms after he finished.

"I am suspending all campaign activities, including leaving Nebraska tomorrow (Tuesday) and returning to Washington to meet with the congressional leadership," Humphrey said.

"I cannot and do not support the President's actions," said Humphrey, the former vice president and the 1968 Democratic presidential candidate. "His course is filled with unpredictable danger."

"This is a serious escalation of the war," he added. "It requires an immediate response by Congress."

In Lincoln, McGovern described Nixon's new initiatives as "a flirtation with World War III."

McGovern, who longer than any other candidate has called for a withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina.

May, who was an inmate at San Quentin in 1970, testified Monday that Miss Davis and young Jackson came to the prison together and were seen arguing as they left in a yellow van.

The ex-convict, who was driving a van that took visitors inside the prison, said he was waiting outside for passengers when the van left the parking lot.

May said he was about 15 feet away when Jackson drove out with Miss Davis as his passenger. He said he heard "argumentative voices."

"They were quite loud," he said. "I couldn't distinguish words." Michael Vonada, a Marin County fireman, was cross-examined earlier Monday and stuck to his story that it was Miss Davis he saw in a service station across the street from the courthouse.

Vonada insisted he recognized Miss Davis, 28, by the gap in her teeth which was exposed as she smoked a small cigar.

In 1926 Cmdr. Richard Byrd and Floyd Bennett became the first men to fly over the North Pole.

In 1946 King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy abdicated, leaving the throne to his son, Crown Prince Humbert.

In 1960 Chairman Newton Minow of the Federal Communications Commission, told 2,000 broadcasters in Washington, "When television is good, nothing is better. But when television is bad, nothing is worse."

In 1970 President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers was killed in a plane crash in Michigan.

Campus talk

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Marijuana may be less harmful than tobacco or alcohol and its use should be legalized, Eugene J. McCarthy said Monday.

The former Minnesota senator, who is again running for the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke to students at the University of California campus here.

"Much evidence indicates that marijuana is no more harmful than cigarettes and alcohol, and may be less harmful. Our laws should be revised to reflect current medical knowledge rather than previous misinformation," he said.

Board reduces wage settlements

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Wage settlements for 50,000 East and Gulf Coast longshoremen have been reduced by the federal Pay Board.

The board voted 6-1 Monday to allow only 55 cents of a 70-cent per hour pay increase negotiated for the dock workers. Its spokesmen said the settlement exceeded Pay Board guidelines.

The only dissenter was Teamsters Union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, who had tried to persuade the board to let the settlement stand. Four other labor members of the board earlier resigned, contending the board was prejudiced against organized labor.

Board members earlier cut back a settlement for West Coast dockers from a 21 per cent increase for the first year to 14.9 per cent.

The board approved all fringe benefits for East and Gulf Coast longshoremen.

George H. Boldt, Pay Board chairman, said the wage settlement was scaled back because the agreements were too far over the board's 5.5 per cent guideline.

The 55 cents an hour gain represents an increase of about 12 per cent. Boldt said this was allowed "in large part because of significant work rules changes in most of the ports which should result in greater productivity and considerable savings to the employers in the administration of the guaranteed income plan."

Soapmaking firm asked to affix warning labels

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Procter & Gamble, the soapmaking giant which said it would not market hazardous detergents, has been told by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to print warning labels on Spic and Span cleanser and Cascade dishwashing detergent.

"We aren't sure what we are going to do," a Procter & Gamble spokesman said. "We are aware of no significant injuries from these products."

Product Safety Letter, a Washington publication, disclosed this week that the FDA told the Cincinnati, Ohio, firm by telegram Thursday to "immediately begin labeling" the products with a warning.

If Procter & Gamble refuses, the FDA said it may seize the products as in violation of the Hazardous Substances Act.

In connection with the controversy concerning water pollution caused by phosphate detergents, Procter & Gamble has repeatedly defended its phosphate products on grounds the only alternatives are hazardous caustics.

"There are no safe materials that can be satisfactorily substituted for phosphates in laundry detergents in the United States at this time," P&G President Howard Morgens told the firm's stockholders at a meeting Oct. 12.

The FDA proposed this label notice for Spic and Span, which has been sold since 1945:

"Danger—Injurious to eyes. Contains (ingredient). In case of eye contact flush with water for 15 minutes. Get prompt medical attention. Keep out of reach of children."

The agency proposed this for Cascade labels:

"Caution—Harmful if swallowed. Eye irritant. Contains (ingredient). If swallowed, give water or milk. In case of eye contact flush with water. Call a physician. Keep out of reach of children."

Home hazards

CHICAGO (UPI)—Accidents in the home in 1971 were fatal to 26,500 persons, injured four million and cost Americans about $1.9 billion.

So says the National Safety Council listing falls as the number one cause of death, with fires and burns more than one-fifth. Almost a third of those killed in the home, the council said, were persons 75-years old or older. Children under five and persons 45 to 64 each accounted for about one-sixth of the fatalities.

Lottery through 35 next draft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Selective Service System said today that men with lottery numbers through 35 would be drafted next month to complete the Army's request for 15,000 men in April, May and June.

Eight weeks ago the service said it was calling up men with numbers 1 through 15 during April and May and then would raise that ceiling in June if needed to fill the quota.

At present officials expect lottery numbers 1 through 15 will supply only 6,000 men by the end of May — 9,000 short of the quota.

The call-up applies primarily to men born in 1952 who are classified I-A and I-A-O. Their lottery numbers were assigned in the drawing last summer. A lottery in February assigned numbers to men born in 1953, but they will not face the draft until next year.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has said no more than 50,000 men will be drafted this year — none were drafted in the first three months of the year compared with 98,000 last year. Draft officials said they could not yet predict the highest ceiling number likely to be called up this year but did say it would be much lower than last year's 125.

There was no connection between President Nixon's Monday night announcement on the war in Vietnam and the new call-up. The Selective Service announcement was a direct result of the Army's March 6 call for 15,000 men in April, May and June, a figure which remains unchanged.

A small number of men born before 1952 will also be inducted in June. These are men, principally students, who have lost deferments or whose induction postponements expire in June.

Israel refuses to comply with hijacker's ultimatum

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Israel refused to comply today with an ultimatum by four Arab hijackers who threatened to blow up themselves and all 101 persons aboard a Belgian jetliner unless Israeli officials release 100 guerrilla comrades.

The men, armed with guns and explosives, hijacked the Sabena Airlines Boeing 707 Monday after a stopover in Vienna en route from Brussels to Tel Aviv, where the plane sat today in a remote area at Lod International Airport.

They set a deadline of 5:30 a.m. today (11:30 p.m. EDT Monday) for compliance with their demands but it passed without airport officials saying there was no indication, at least for the time being, that the guerrillas intended to carry out their threat of blowing up the plane with themselves, the 91 passengers and 10 crewmen aboard.

"We will ignore the ultimatum from the terrorists,"

Minister of Transportation Shimon Peres told newsmen after the deadline expired. "We don't work by ultimatum."

The plane, parked a mile from the passenger terminal, was surrounded by security guards. Paratroopers stood by and at least 30 ambulances pulled up outside the passenger terminal.

A communique from Beirut identified the hijackers as members of the Black-September Movement, named for September, 1970, when King Hussein's army decimated guerrillas in Jordan.

Francois Peres, an international Red Cross official, spent an hour negotiating with the leader of the four guerrillas, identified by Israel's national radio as Captain Ranah. The transportation minister said Rafah requested the session.

Three hours before the ultimatum expired, airport officials said a radio message from the plane indicated the guerrillas wanted the plane prepared for flight. But the national radio said the pilot, who was allowed outside briefly to check the aircraft, reported a failure in the hydraulic system. The radio also said the plane had flat tires, rendering takeoff impossible.

GM recalls Vegas

DETROIT (UPI)—In little more than a month, General Motors Corp. has begun recalling six of every seven Chevrolet Vegas that have been produced since the subcompact was introduced in the fall of 1970.

The latest recall, announced Monday, involves 350,000 Vegas with a carburetor defect that could cause the throttle to stick in a partially open position.

GM recalled some 130,000 of its 1972 Vegas April 4 because of a possible fire hazard involving the carburetor.

The company has manufactured an estimated 560,000 Vegas since they were introduced in the 1971 model year.

The models are manufactured at GM's highly automated Lordstown, Ohio, assembly plant, which was shut down earlier this year in a local United Auto Workers strike brought on by a dispute over work conditions and production standards.

"The defect which resulted in the latest recall involves a failure of the carburetor idle stop solenoid bracket, a small electrical unit which controls the idle speed of a car."

"You're going along and this thing happens and you take your foot off the throttle, the car keeps going. It doesn't decelerate," a Chevrolet spokesman said.

Vigil goes on at Sunshine Mine

UPI REPORTER George Frank interviews Rev. P. J. O'Sullivan at the gate separating newsmen from relatives of the Sunshine Mine disaster. Father O'Sullivan celebrated a special mass in the machine shop at the background last Friday. Frank is one of several newsmen allowed in Kellogg's Bunker Hill mine as a compromise to a request to enter the Sunshine. (UPI)

Newsman interviews

Newsman go into mine at Kellogg

By GEORGE FRANK
KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — I'm sure it was my imagination, but the deeper we got under the earth's surface, the harder it was to breathe.

Other newsmen talked about the same difficulty while on a trip into the Bunker Hill Kellogg tunnel, located eight miles east of Sunshine Mine where at least 35 miners were killed and 58 may have been trapped in a Tuesday fire.

The trip to see the inside of a working mine, which took us nearly 2,000 feet below the earth's surface, was a compromise on requests by reporters to be allowed inside Sunshine Mine.

The deeper we went into the mine, the warmer and damper it got. The climate was like a hot summer day after a sudden rainstorm.

"You'll see how dark it can get," the foreman said.

It made me think of the trapped miners, who could be waiting in the darkness eight miles away, just sitting there in the pitch black listening for the sounds of someone coming.

Water ran from the ceiling of the tunnel and slapped me on the face as the man in a train moved along the tracks at 25 miles an hour.

Electrical wires and water and air pipes ran along the top of the tunnel. Wooden beams were visible when the train passed one of the dim lights hanging from the ceiling. There were green and red lights to signal the motor operator of any trouble ahead.

So this is what the inside of a mine looks like, I thought to myself as the train clacked along the tracks toward a well-lighted room in front of the No. 1 shaft.

Inside the shaft room, three University of Idaho students worked at their weekend part-time jobs. Their tee-shirts were gray with dirt and they had mud on their faces and arms.

"I don't think it's dangerous work," one of the students said about his Bunker Hill Co. job. "I like the job. It's really interesting. Besides, it's hard to find part-time work at $3.68 an hour."

"Hey, watch your camera," the foreman told a 6-3 television cameraman as he walked along the tunnel. There's 600 volts in that wire. The foreman pointed to a line down the center of the tunnel which powers the motor to pull the man-train.

"See how dark it can get."

The foreman took us into the No. 1 hoist room, comparable to the Sunshine No. 10 where several miners died Tuesday when they were overcome by poisonous gases.

There was a cabinet on one side of the painted steel room which contained breathing devices. One large container had oxygen for the hoist operator so he could continue his work of bringing up the men if there was a fire. There was a smaller air container which could be strapped on his back to allow him time to get out of the mine after bringing up the men.

The temperature in Bunker Hill mine is cooler than the Sunshine. One employee said the difference was like walking in a warm summer day and being in a sauna bath.

"I like the job."

After we saw the mine's machine shop, the foreman said it was time to leave the tunnel. The newsmen agreed.

The entrance became larger and larger as we moved out of the tunnel into the overcast daylight.

We all took a deep breath and hoped the trapped men at Sunshine would also see daylight.

Fort's Flag.

The flag that flew over Ft. McHenry when the national anthem was written is preserved in the Smithsonian Institution Washington, D.C. It has 15 stars for the original 13 states plus Kentucky and Vermont.

Waiting goes on

Toll staggers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Accidents in 1971 cost Americans about $27.7 billion covering everything from medical expenses to lost man hours.

The report comes from the National Safety Council which estimates that in 1971 the accident death toll was 114,000, with another 10.8 million persons suffering disabling injuries.

DEPRESSED RELATIVE of one of 58 miners still trapped at the smoke-filled Sunshine Mine shows the strain of the long wait for word of loved one. The fire, which broke out May 2, has taken the lives of 32 men and rescue of 58 others is hampered by smoke. (UPI)

Swimming Pool Fund Day today

TWIN FALLS — Mayor John Christoffersen proclaimed today as YMCA-YWCA Swimming Pool Fund Day. In the proclamation signed during the Monday evening meeting of the Twin Falls City Council, Mayor Christoffersen noted that the YMCA and YWCA have exerted a powerful and continuous influence for good citizenship and high ideals among young men and women and boys and girls of the city.

He stated that a giant step forward is being taken through the development of an indoor swimming pool facility and the addition of the pool will give the youth and adults of the community an even greater opportunity to become water safe.

Commending the YMCA and YWCA for their sincere and diligent efforts, the mayor urged the community to pledge its financial support to the pool project.

Naming May 9th as YMCA-YWCA Swimming Pool Fund Day gave testimony to the value of these youth serving agencies and their efforts to procuring a year-round swimming pool facility to Twin Falls, he said.

Pledges may be called to 732-4112.

Idaho bear season is ending

Idaho's spring bear season, which started last September 4, ends May 31 in most units where there is a season. Several other units in southern Idaho have a year-round season. However, bear hunting in Unit 22 ends May 14, and June 30 in Units 12, 16-A, 17, 19, 20 and part of Unit 16. All grizzly bears are protected year-round under state game laws.

The blacks are in hibernation most of the winter, but are out now in most places, even where the snow pack remains at higher elevations. Hunters who time things right can get bear with fine pelts. Black bears generally come out of hibernation with glossy unrudded pelts that hold up several weeks before starting to shed and showing rubbed spots.

A bear just out of his winter den does a lot of prowling in search of food, often on fairly open hillsides. Hunters glassing the slopes carefully have unusually good opportunities of spotting black bears. These animals are much easier to see before hillsides are screened with summer foliage.

Miss Elliott, Tupper wed

MR. AND MRS. JEFFREY G. TUPPER

HAGERMAN — Kristen McCammon, Jackpot, Nev., and Susan Turner, Hagerman, were bridesmaids at the wedding of Jeffrey G. Tupper and Miss Elliott, April 31 at the Hagerman United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur D. Elliott and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tupper, all Hagerman.

The double ring nuptials were performed by Rev. Woodrow Harris before a background of lighted pink tapers in floor candelabra and beauty baskets filled with pink gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with an empire waistline. A deep yoke of alencon lace trimmed the fitted bodice. The wrist-length sleeves were of white silk organza gathered to deep fitted cuffs of lace matching that of the bodice and the scalloped mandarin collar. A short chapel train was attached at the back waistline and was edged with scalloped lace and enhanced with lace appliques. Pleated organza edged with lace trimmed the hem line of the skirt.

Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a headband of organza flowers trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones. The gown and veil were designed and made by the bridegroom's mother.

The bride carried a bouquet of feathered white carnations and pink rosebuds tied with satin streamers.

Sheri Elliott, Boise, was maid of honor for her sister. Other attendants were Marieta McAhren, Jerome; Linda formed the upper tiers were decorated with lavender and pink roses and sweetpeas. A miniature bridal couple standing beneath a floral wreath with a tiny wedding bell, topped the cake.

Heart-shaped side cakes decorated to match the tiered cake flanked the tiered cake. The cakes were baked by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. O. Lipe, Bliss, and decorated by Mrs. Gerald Duncombe, Hagerman. Mrs. Lipe and Mrs. Duncombe cut and served the cake.

Presiding at the coffee service were Mrs. Dick Elliott, Hagerman, and Mrs. Elwyn Tupper, Twin Falls. Mrs. Mike Elliott, Gooding, and Mrs. Mike Tupper, Salmon, poured punch. The women are sisters-in-law of the bride and bridegroom.

Arrangements of Lilies of the Valley, roses and pink ribbon under glass goblets decorated the guests' tables.

Out-of-town guests attended from Nampa, Challis, Salmon, Pocatello, Rexburg, Boise, Mullan, and Bountiful, Utah, as well as throughout Magic Valley.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lipe, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Hannah Calkins and Mrs. Elillian Tupper, grandmothers of the bridegroom.

The bride was feted at a pre-nuptial shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Turner, hosted by Susan Turner and Marieta McAhren.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the couple resides in Hagerman.

DEAR ABBY: I am a junior in high school [a boy] and I am an A-B student. I am active in sports and quite a few extracurricular activities.

My problem is my parents. They can't stand to see me do anything except study. The minute I get home from school my mother is on my back, "Go and do your homework!" Then she says, "I never had to tell your brother to do his homework."

My brother is five years older than I, was a straight A student, a real brain and a bookworm. He never did anything but study.

But, Abby, I am not my brother. My folks don't realize that plenty of parents would be tickled to death if their sons brought home the kind of grades I do. But, no, they're never satisfied.

How can I let my parents see how unfair they are being to me?

NUMBER TWO SON

DEAR SON: Parents can't be faulted for encouraging their children to work up to their potential, but never should one child be compared with a sibling. It creates resentment, hostility and kills incentive.

DEAR ABBY: Will you explain something to me? My wife has a full head of hair, yet she bought five different wigs!

I am bald, but when I suggested getting a hairpiece she hooted and said "I was vain. Why? I have a reason, she hasn't."

BUCKEYE JIM

DEAR JIM: She hooted because she's selfish, insensitive and behind the times. Get yourself a nifty hairpiece and "de-hoot" her.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to the young man and his girl friend who were worried about the girl's ability to have children because she was a twin in a boy-girl twinship. [The boy had worked on a farm and knew that in the cases of twin calves, the female calf was unable to reproduce.]

We are the parents of TWO sets of boy-girl twins, born three and a half years apart. They are all married now, and their fertility records are as follows:

The oldest son has five children. His twin sister has four children. The second son has three children, and his twin sister has two children.

That should settle that! N. M. IN MINNESOTA

DEAR N. M.: Settled it is. And may your tribe increase. [Forgive me, Alan Guttmacher?]

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a good job with a fast growing company and has climbed the ladder of success faster than most men his age. His salary is quite sufficient for our needs, and he has a very bright future with this organization.

Quite by accident I discovered that my husband has been stealing from his employer.

What should I do? I don't want to jeopardize the security of our family.

GRAND LARCENY

DEAR GRAND: Tell your husband what you've told me and urge him to go immediately to his employer with a confession and an offer to make restitution.

If he's reluctant, suggest that he consult a lawyer who can tell him exactly what he will face, should his crime be discovered before he gets around to confessing.

Problems? Write Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6700, L. A., CALIF. 90006 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

ECOLOGY AND YOUR SKIN

By Mary Sue Miller

The subject of ecology is on every tongue. Ecology of rivers and lakes, ecology of air to breathe and water to drink, of forest and farm lands, of food and fish. Why not the female facial skin?

Maintaining the skin's normal balance is essential to its health and beauty. Normal balance, after all, is what ecology means. With regard to the skin, nature has established a balance in the form of a protective "acid mantle." If the mantle becomes over-acid, the skin becomes oily and blemished. A dry, flaky condition follows a mantle turned alkaline.

Causes of an ailing mantle originate from within and without. Your general health and your diet influence acid-alkaline balance. External forces such as bacteria and pollutants in the air work full-time to destroy normality.

What's the answer? Simple as ABC! Dermatologists and bio-chemists are releasing prescription formulas with a normalizing action. Moisture and emollient treatments, too. This is a great step forward in do-it-yourself care.

A new ABC (acid balance control) formula not only helps to regularize acid levels but, in so doing, routs irritations. Applications are made with cotton balls, after cleansing, and allowed to dry on the skin. Simple as you know what.

Quality Offset Printing at Low Prices

Lloyd and Ramona Peterson, above, are the owners and operators of one of the most unique businesses in Twin Falls, the QUICK COPY CENTER located 117 2nd St. West. The Peterson family first moved to Twin Falls from Wendell about 11 years ago and have been in the Quick Copy business about a year.

Lloyd wants to point out that Quick Print is a new concept in offset printing. A photographic process eliminates the need for cutting stencils or typing masters, making it possible to make a plate from your original in about a minute. This plate is then placed on an offset press which can print 10 to 100 copies in minutes. At a very low cost.

Ramona says, Bring us a clean sample of the item you want printed. It may be printed, typewritten, drawn, clippings or any combination. Explain your requirements... color or quality of paper, number of copies, etc. Relax and watch your copies being made.

The following are examples of just a few items that can be quick printed: agendas, letters, music, genealogy sheets, records, programs, stationary, charts, sketches, bulletins, histories, manuals, newsletters, cards, notices, reminders, rosters, posters and many more. Phone the QUICK COPY CENTER at 733-3300 or stop by at 117 2nd St. West for all your printing needs.

Cassia can't pay airport levy 'til after December

By GEORGIA LAYTON

Times-News writer
BURLEY — Cassia County Commissioners Monday announced they will not make payment to the Regional Airport Authority board until tax money is collected in December.

John Clark, chairman of the commission, conducted the regular monthly meeting with J. Weldon Beck and Orvil Beecher, both county commissioners, in attendance.

Frank Titus, Jerome, met with the commissioners in regard to getting regional airport funds.

A levy has been placed on Cassia County property owners to collect funds for the regional airport but money from this levy will not be collected until fall, according to the commission. Presently, there are no funds available, the commissioners added.

The commissioners have received word that Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding counties have paid assessments of 20 per cent of funds they expect to receive from their mill levies to the regional airport board. These funds are to be used for surveys, current expenses and a feasibility study.

Cassia County commissioners have discussed the matter with Minidoka County commissioners and both counties have turned down the request for funds on the advice of the two county prosecuting attorneys.

In other business Monday, J. Wayne Cole, county agent, reported to the commissioners, a noxious weed meeting is scheduled for July 19 at the Ponderosa Inn. Cole asked Commissioner Beck to be one of the speakers at the meet.

The commission also discussed blacktopping county garbage pickup sites. The group set May 15 as the date of its next meeting at which the blacktopping project will be discussed further with Park and Sons, garbage pickup contractors.

Minico school plans go awry

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — The best laid plans of men — and of school superintendents — often go awry.

The Minidoka County School board shot down a carefully planned secretarial salary schedule presented by Supt. Darrell Hatfield Monday night, even though Hatfield had gained the approval of the secretaries themselves.

Several other salary schedules for school district personnel also failed to gain approval, though they were not formally vetoed. On recommendation of trustee Leonard Martin the board delayed consideration of custodial, bus driver and mechanic salaries until a special board meeting on May 23.

School district coaches are to bring in their recommendations for salary increments on May 23. Martin said all salaries should be considered at that time, when the board will meet to consider the results of the trustee and mill levy election on May 23.

Hatfield's secretarial salary schedule provided lower salaries for elementary school secretaries than for those in the junior high and the high school. Elementary and secondary level aides would be paid the same as the high school secretaries.

The salaries, based on years of employment would range from $1.75 per hour for first-year employees in elementary schools to $1.85 for junior high secretaries and $1.95 for the high school secretaries and teaching aides.

Salaries were increased by 10 cents per hour at each level for each year of employment up to 50 years. At that level the secretaries would be paid $2.65 for the elementary school, $2.75 for the junior high level and $2.85 at the top. Non-teaching aides would be paid the same as the elementary school secretaries.

Hatfield said that some of the secretaries would receive more of a raise than others, depending on current rates of pay, but cautioned that none would receive more than 5.5 per cent, due to the wage price freeze.

The trustees questioned the advisability and fairness of paying elementary school secretaries less than those in other schools and suggested that the schedule be considered at length at a later meeting. The vote against Hatfield's proposal was 3-1, with trustee Nile Maricle voting in favor, and trustees Martin, Leo Moore and Fern Hunter voting in opposition.

Shoshone okays school budget

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone School District budget for 1972-73 was adopted at the proposed amount, $364,494, at Monday night trustee meeting.

This budget reflects a small increase over last year's approved budget of $363,262.

Five patrons of the school district met with the school board to discuss the budget and complimented the board on "holding the line." There were no complaints entered.

In other business, the board received $204 and a certificate award of merit from the State Insurance Fund for "outstanding achievement in preventing accidents in 1971."

The board hired Mrs. James (Pamela) Phillips, Dietrich, as half-time commercial teacher for the high school. Supt. Kenneth Crothers said Edward Anderson, the commercial teacher, will be starting a commercial office occupations course next year which will take half of his time.

Mrs. Phillips will be teaching part of the commercial classes he taught this year. Actually, Crothers said, there will still be the same size teaching staff since Mrs. William Closson will only be teaching half days in the junior high school.

The board is still considering applications for the position of high school principal and a half-time sixth grade teacher. Because of lack of finances, there will not be a full music program in the grade school next year.

The half-time sixth grade teacher to be hired will relieve grade school principal Jack Bowlin, who will now teach only half-time in the sixth grade.

The board adopted a priority type procedure for making decisions on requests for capital outlay. It will meet again Monday to further consider applications for the two teaching positions.

Jerome trustees approve school building group

BY CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome School Board of Trustees Monday night approved the formation of a broad-based school building committee.

The citizen's committee will investigate school district building needs and will recommend its findings to the school board on or before the first meeting in September. The committee was approved by a 4-1 vote.

Trustee Leroy Weigte was appointed liaison officer of the citizen's committee. Formation of the committee was requested by Leroy Craig, Jerome.

Craig made his presentation to the trustees and said his group has worked long and hard to show the board, the vast majority of school patrons do not favor putting money into Lincoln School and that a two-thirds majority would support an addition to Jefferson school to replace Lincoln.

The majority of the trustees felt that Craig's idea for a committee was good and could possibly be very effective in helping the board determine just what the patrons of the district wanted.

Gordon Hollifield, trustee, who was not in favor of the citizen's committee said "I think they are ineffective, I feel the board of trustees are more qualified to make the determination and decisions on what the district's needs are. This is what we were elected to do."

Hollifield said that a few years ago he had served on a citizen's committee. While it started out good in the beginning, he said, by the time the third meeting rolled around, the public had lost their enthusiasm.

In related action by the school board, the trustees approved the superintendent's remodeling proposal for the school district buildings which includes $13,860 of work on Lincoln Elementary school.

Ravenscroft to speak

SHOSHONE — Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft will be the featured speaker for Shoshone High School graduating class commencement exercises May 16.

The exercises will be at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Principal Carl Kinney said Baccalaureate services will be at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Patching the roof will cost $248; wash basins installed in the girls and boys rest rooms which Supt. John Campbell said are reusable, $1,200; fireproofing the stairwells, $500; exterior paint, $234; matting the entrance, $330; adding six more electrical circuits, $5,014, and new lighting, $6,340, which is reusable. The funds are available in the budget.

Other costs for remodeling in the district include $11,498 for a gas conversion of three of the schools; $2,500 for interior painting; $4,350 will be used in the senior high school, to remodel the shower and rest rooms; in the junior high school

$5,165 will be used for remodeling the main floor girls restroom and the north and south shower rooms.

The trustees also approved the expenditure of $5,900 to upgrade the front appearance of the junior high school which will include blockwork and new doors so the building will look like the new annex.

The procedural agreement for the teachers was approved by the board which recommended to the PR and R Committee that they hold an election with the teachers and determine, by a majority vote, who the teachers want to serve for them on the negotiation team.

Hagerman votes

HAGERMAN — Three incumbents were returned to positions on the Hagerman School District board of trustees Tuesday in an election to fill five seats.

Elected in Zone 1 was incumbent Dean Williams who received 69 votes to Gene Turner's 22 and Dick Dalton's 16. Eldon Arriaga received 10 write-in votes.

In Zone 2 incumbent Louis Koopman received 30 votes and Karl Uppiano received 7. Zone 3 incumbent Alfred Sandy was returned to office with 28 votes over Jerry Jasper's 6.

New trustee will be Vern Cox, who received 35 votes in Zone 3, compared to 30 votes for Don Hulme. Verl Bell will be new trustee in Zone 4, polling 33 votes to Ron Boyer's 25.

Valley approves increased budget

VALLEY — Valley School District Monday night approved budget with a 7.4 per cent increase over last year.

A public hearing was held at the high school Monday night and according to Supt. Tom Utterback no protests about the new budget were heard.

This year's budget is $429,644, compared to last year's total of $399,823.

This year's budget includes a 5 per cent salary increase for teachers and payment of Blue Cross Insurance as well as other fringe benefits.

Part of the increase is for higher transportation cost, maintenance of facilities, insurance and instructional costs

Major budget expenses as compared to last year include administrative expenses, $28,540, an increase of $540; instructional expenses, $267,504, an increase of $9,806; transportation expenses, an increase of $2,800 to total $55,000; operation of plant, $44,500, an increase of $4,160; maintenance of plant shows increase of $5,900 to total $12,000; fixed charges have been set at $15,400, an increase of $2,600, and capital outlay is $6,000, an increase of $3,315.

Cash balance of $101,000 is projected for 1971-72 with an anticipated cash balance for 1972-73 of $104,000.

2 towns voting

Voters will go to the polls today to elect school trustees in one Magic Valley district and trustees in another.

Murtaugh voters are voting today on a six-mill maintenance and operation levy, to bring in about $18,000. Polls open at noon and close at 7 p.m. with voting in the Murtaugh High School office for Twin Falls County residents and the Robert Allred home in Cassia County.

Filer has five trustee positions to fill, with candidates for all seats running unopposed. Candidates are Lawrence Knigge, two-year term in zone 1; Everett Andrews, one-year term in zone 2; Alvin Ochsner, three-year term in zone 3; John Lutz, two-year term in zone 4 and Dave Chadwick, three-year term in zone 5.

The polls will be open from noon until 7 p.m. in the Filer High School and the Hollister Elementary school.

Candidate sets talk

TWIN FALLS — Dr. Glen Wegner, Nampa, candidate for the United States Senate, will be featured speaker at Wednesday's noon Rotary Club meeting at the Turf Club.

Wegner serves as a consultant to the Medical Clinic, Nampa and as a consultant to the law firm of Weeks and Yost, Nampa.

Man held for theft of truck

TWIN FALLS — Michael Thomas Beaudry, 21, Springfield, Mass., was arrested Monday night in connection with the theft of a pickup truck during the weekend.

According to Capt. Tim Qualls, detective division, Twin Falls Police Department, the suspect is charged with stealing the pickup from the Houston Lumber Co.

He will be arraigned today in magistrate court.

Camas school levy, budget approved

FAIRFIELD — Voters in Camas County Monday overwhelmingly approved a 5 mill maintenance and operation levy, which maintains the district's total levy at 35 mills.

The vote was 92 yes and 18 no. Also Monday, trustees okayed approved a 1972-73 budget of $201,657, down $17,364 from the current budget.

No opposition was registered and trustees gave unanimous approval to the 8 per cent lower budget.

Despite the budget decrease, the mill levy in the district will remain the same, due to a decrease in assessed valuation of about $100,000. Assessed valuation in the county-wide district in 1971-72 was placed at $3.75 million, compared with $3.66 million for 1972-73.

Instructional salaries for 1972-73 are about $14,000 over the 1971-72 figure of $116,678 because of a $300-per teacher per-year increase and addition of one and a half teachers in the system.

The Camas district has, however, retired a bond issue passed 20 years ago for construction of a new gymnasium at the high school. In 1971-72 $30,493 was budgeted for bond retirement.

Fairfield youth cut

FAIRFIELD — Dennis Bracy, 18, escaped with lacerations when the sedan he was driving flipped over about 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

The car landed in a drainage ditch about a mile south of Fairfield. Bracy apparently lost control of the vehicle on a county road and took out a plank on a bridge and struck a concrete support before coming to rest upside down in the water.

Bracy climbed from the wreck and was assisted by neighbors.

Camas County Deputy Sheriff Harold Lee investigated the mishap.

Little interest in Richfield plan

BY DIXIE DIXON
Times-News writer

RICHFIELD — Little interest was shown by Richfield residents last night at the public hearing for the proposed 1972-73 school budget at the school cafeteria.

No one appeared to protest the $148,016 total budget which was adopted by the board. It reflected a decrease of $8,468 from last year's $156,471.

A question was raised concerning the funding for payment of services for the new sewer system by trustee Glen Ross. Supt. Neil Andreason noted that the school would be classified the same as seven dwellings and charged accordingly.

He estimates the cost will be about $36 per month, but this amount will not have to be budgeted until the 1973-74 school year.

Andreason explained that the reason for the decrease of $1,850 in teacher's salaries, despite the higher salary schedule adopted last month, was due to last year's budgeting for a music teacher that was never hired.

A music teacher was not included in the budget this year. It was proposed by trustee Mrs. Udell Robinson that a music teacher be hired on a parttime basis.

The main decrease in the budget stems from the payment for bonded indebtedness for the high school that was paid off in January of this year. This makes a reduction in this segment of the budget possible from $10,030 last year to this year's budget of $2,350.

Tuition for students attending Minico School District has been reduced from $10,500 to $8,500. Fewer students are attending the Minico district this year, Andreason reports.

In other action, applications were considered to fill teacher vacancies in the third and sixth grades. Mrs. Clarence Lam-mons, third grade, will retire at the end of this year. Mrs. Dale Sluder, sixth grade, has resigned to be at home with her young son.

Twenty-four applications have been made, but personal interviews will be set up before a final decision is made.

The board canvassed the ballots cast in last week's trustee election. They found the results the same as reported.

The board will wait until June to appoint a new member of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the tie vote. Board members also decided to change the time of meetings to 8:30 p.m. during the summer months.

Budget adopted by Minico trustees

BY LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School District board of trustees adopted the 1972-73 budget of $2.6 million Monday night following a public hearing at East Minico Junior High School.

The budget is slightly higher than the current figure of $2.57 million, with most of the increase going toward teachers' salaries increases averaging 5.5 per cent, according to Supt. Darrell Hatfield.

The 5.5 per cent increase includes increments for coaching and similar non-teaching duties, Hatfield said. The public hearing was sparsely attended with an audience of about a dozen people, mostly teachers and school personnel. No objection was voiced to the budget. The Minidoka County district is providing a larger percentage of its total budget for salaries than does the average district in the state, according to the superintendent.

A break-down of the budget indicates that the 1972-73 budget will allocate 76.02 per cent to instructional salaries, compared to the state average of 71.71 per cent.

Administration costs, by contrast, total 2.77 per cent of the total budget, compared with a state average of 4.15 per cent.

The budget lists estimated total assessed valuation of the Minidoka County district at $22.1 million. The total school levy will be 43.35 mills, returning $97,409.65. This includes the general fund levy of 30 mills, bringing in $663,000; the plant facilities fund of 2 mills, $44,200; bond interest and redemption, 9.95 mills, $220,000; liability insurance, .5 mill, returning $11,864, and the equalizing levy, making up a differential in property assessments of .65 mill, bringing in $18,344.

The total tax figure for the new budget will be down slightly, to $725,057, compared to the 1971-72 total of $809,798, Hatfield said. Most of the decrease results from a 3-mill emergency levy which was levied last year but has not been ordered this year.

Instructional expenses are up due to the 5.5 per cent salary increase to $1.93 million, compared to $1.87 million in the current budget. Of this amount $1.76 million will go for instructional salaries, compared to $1.66 million for an increase of $97,248.

New York tries to even ABA series with Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — New York, down one game in the American Basketball Association championship series, tangles with Indiana tonight in an effort to even things and then capitalize on their home court advantage.

The series moves after tonight to New York for games Friday and Monday.

The Pacers, however, get their first real home court chance here tonight after winning the first game Saturday, 124-103, at Indiana University's Assembly Hall. Indiana normally doesn't play at the Assembly Hall.

However, neither coach is talking yet about the home court factor in this best-of-seven series. Net Coach Lou Carnesecca is talking about basketball fundamentals.

"We won't take anything away from Indiana," he said. "We know what we have to do. We've got to work on rebounding." Recalling the Indiana win, he said the Pacers played well on defense and despite his team's fine first half effort, "we were a step behind in the second half."

The teams took advantage of a three-day rest, entering tonight's clash with some practice and much-needed rest for New York. That could work to the Nets' advantage with the recuperation contributing to strength they may have lacked Saturday coming off a hard-fought semi-final playoff series with a Thursday night victory over Virginia.

The Pacers, who had salted away the Utah Stars earlier last week, were definitely the stronger team Saturday. Carnesecca, who said he was making no excuses, called Pacer center Mel Daniels and rookie George McGinnis much improved over the regular season. "McGinnis must be the strongest player in the world," he said.

The Net mentor called the rookie from Indiana University a "great physical specimen." McGinnis and Daniels dominated the boards Saturday, adding 16 and 23 points respectively, and Freddie Lewis hit for 33.

Rick Barry of the Nets had a game high 34 points in the losing effort.

Pacer Coach Bobby Leonard said despite the Saturday win he expects the series to be rough.

"We got going and everything broke right for us in the second half," he said. "But there won't be many like this. They're going to make it rough on us. This is going to be a tough series."

Bruce Devlin captures first in Houston open

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bruce Devlin, whose golfing career was saved by a Houston doctor seven years ago, headed to the Colonial Invitational today with the Texas Triple Crown in his golf bag.

Devlin won the third leg of the Texas golfing sweepstakes Monday with a 10-under par 278 in the $125,000 Houston Open. He finished with an even par 36-36-726 over the 5,008-yard Westwood Country Club course to win by two strokes over Doug Sanders, Lou Graham and Tommy Aaron.

Sanders had four straight subpar rounds, including a 71 the final day, to finish at 280 along with Aaron, who had three straight 69s after an opening 73, and Graham, whose 67 equaled the best round of the final day. Hale Irwin, who started the last round two strokes behind Devlin, faded to a two-over 74 and eighth place at 282.

Devlin, 34, who had won the Colonial at Fort Worth, Tex., in 1966 and the Byron Nelson Classic in Dallas in 1969, clinched this tournament with a two-putt birdie putt on No. 17 when he had only a one-stroke lead over Graham, Sanders and Aaron.

The only other golfer to win the three Texas tournaments was Roberto De Vicenzo, who won the Colonial in 1957, the Nelson in 1966 and Houston in 1968.

Devlin had two birdies and two bogeys on the rain-soaked course. His other birdie was on a 10-foot putt on No. 4 and his bogeys came on three putts on Nos. 2 and 11.

"But 14 was the turning point for me," he said. "I hit a bad three wood into the green. The ball was plugged terribly (in a bunker). I couldn't use a sand wedge, so I had a pitching wedge and all I could do was come straight down on the ball and chop it out."

"The ball popped out to one foot from the hole. I could stand there and not put it any closer. I could easily have made a five from where I was (40 feet from the cup) and I made a three. That was the difference."

The victory, his eighth since joining the tour in 1962, was worth $25,000, but it wasn't as important to him as a pro-am before the Houston Open in 1965. That was the day he played with Dr. Alfred Knoll and, at age 27, came dragging down the 18th fairway 50 yards behind the 55-year-old doctor.

When Dr. Knoll chided him about it, Devlin showed the doctor the severe case of varicose veins. Knoll, a surgeon, told him how they could be cured with an operation.

Devlin called 10 days later from Philadelphia and asked Knoll if he would perform the operation and Knoll agreed. In three previous years on the tour, Devlin had won about $40,000, but after the operation he went on to win $67,657 in 1965.

Devlin and Knoll became such good friends that he is Knoll's house guest when he plays in Houston and the surgeon performed a hernia operation on Devlin's youngest son, Kurt, 4, before Monday's final round.

"Kurt and his father are both doing well, thanks to Dr. Knoll."

Dodgers beat Montreal 5-2

MONTREAL (UPI) — Steve Garvey hit a two-run homer as the Los Angeles Dodgers erupted for four runs in the fourth inning Monday night and went on to defeat the Montreal Expos, 5-2.

The Dodgers were trailing, 2-1, when Willie Davis led off the fourth inning with a single and after Frank Robinson fled out, Davis advanced to third base on another single by Willie Crawford. Jim Leffevre's sacrifice fly sent Davis home with the tying run while Crawford moved into second base.

Mays trade is still pending

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Met's three-year-old negotiations to acquire Willie Mays from the San Francisco Giants so that the 41-year-old super star could play out his career in the city in which he started it, awaited a call today from San Francisco clubowner Horace Stoneham.

General Manager Bob Schefling of the Mets, who has admitted that the Mets have been negotiating for Mays, said Monday that the next move was up to Stoneham.

There is no meeting that I know of, said Schefling. I haven't heard from Horace.

Devaney comments on leagues

BOISE (UPI) — University of Nebraska head football coach Bob Devaney said Monday schools would not be in financial problems athletically if they would not play "out of their leagues."

Devaney, in Boise to speak during the Boise State College all sports banquet Monday night, made his comments during an afternoon news conference.

He said, "All schools have to recruit within their means and stay within those means. The schools have to be realistic, economically speaking."

The head coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers said he has no plans to coach in the professional football ranks in the future. He said he will remain as athletic director after this upcoming final year as football coach at Nebraska.

On another subject, Devaney said he does not believe that freshmen should play in varsity football, citing as an example a 17-year-old "batting heads" with more experienced grid players.

Gem hunters buy fewer tags

Idaho's big game hunters bought fewer elk and deer tags during the 1971 seasons, and harvested less game of both species than they did the previous year, the Fish and Game Department disclosed today.

Estimated kill figures indicate that the 13,400 elk harvest last year was down 8 per cent from 1970, and the 61,800 deer take was 26 per cent under the 1970 figures. The deer harvest was down only 11 per cent from the 10-year average of 69,399, and for elk the harvest was down 10 per cent below the 10-year average of 14,813, which means that the overall big game picture is still "within the ball park," according to Errol Nielson, big game supervisor.

Tag sales for elk were 5 per cent below 1970 figures, and tag sales for deer were 6 per cent lower, according to Nielson. This is the first year that deer tag sales have dropped below the sales figures for the previous year, and the second year for elk.

Nielson said figures are based on a questionnaire, which have been used to compute statewide big game harvest since 1953. The record 1970 deer take of 83,100, was 16 per cent greater than the 1969 figure.

The number of moose permits for controlled hunts increased 3 per cent above the 1970 figure. A total of 115 permits harvested 85 moose, Antelope permit holders numbered 2,391 (up 9 per cent above the 1970 level) and harvested 1,436 animals, a per cent decrease from the previous year.

Bighorn sheep management changed from mostly general or open hunting in 1970 and years past to controlled hunts in all units in 1971. In 1970, 700 tag holders took 54 bighorns. In 1971, 67 permits harvested 13 sheep. Three hundred twenty-one mountain goat permit holders (3 per cent below 1970) harvested 137 mountain goats (9 per cent below 1970). Nielson commented that it is possible that a few more may have to be added to the moose, antelope, bighorn sheep and mountain goat totals since a few trophy hunters have not mailed their report cards.

For the past dozen years, effective.

hunters (and other sources) have reported an average of 129 cougar or mountain lion kills per year. In contrast, the 1971 reported take of this species probably will exceed 281. It is believed that the new Idaho law making cougar a game animal, with tags required for nonresident hunters, resulted in a "last chance" drive against the erstwhile predator before the new regulations became effective.

Blackfoot pro wins pro-am

A stiff wind kept scores higher than expected as a Mountain Home team and Blackfoot pro Dave Berrett took top honors in a pro-am Monday.

Berrett turned the back nine in two-under 32 to post an even par 68 and nip Mike Renshaw of Pocatello by one for pro honors. Bob Betley and Bill Downs, Montpelier, tied for third and George Guy, Jackpot, and Dave Tapp, Mountain Home, shared fifth at 71.

The Mountain Home team of Tapp, Bob Fulton, Doyle Clark, Dale Points and Dale King won the team division at 17-under 119. Four teams shared second place including the Twin Falls foursome of pro Clyde Thomsen and amateurs Duane Serpa, George Merritt, Porter Ingram and Del Rupert.

Pat Bowman of Sun Valley won the 0-9 amateur gross prize with a two-over 70 with Gordon Crockett, Caldwell, and Dr.

Daye Ricks, Boise, tied at 72. In the 10 and over gross, Blaine Sessions, Boise, led with a 74 while Ted Marshall, Pocatello, and W. H. Campbell, Rigby, had 77s.

Dale Peterson, Boise; Ora Wildman, Boise; Gary Rene, Twin Falls, and Rick Turnquist, Montpelier, shared the 0-9 division net prize at one-under 67s. A three-way tie developed in the 10 and over division among Dr. Manners, Twin Falls; Heber Hadlock, Idaho Falls, and Darrell Swanner, Boise, at 64.

Bob Thompson, Twin Falls provided the novelty of the meet, getting a hole in one off the first tee. However, the ball sliced into the cup on the 12th green.

Guest artists

EVERYMAN PLAYERS producer-director, Orlin Corey, and his wife, Irene, designer for the group, have set guest appearances this week at the College of Southern Idaho.

Lecturers set Friday CSI date

TWIN FALLS — Orlin and Irene Corey, described by Horizon Magazine as "a pair of modern masquers," will be guest lecturers at the College of Southern Idaho Friday.

The Coreys, who are known world wide for their imaginative productions, makeup, costumes, and choral work, will present a lecture-demonstration on the "Imaginative Theatre" at 8:15 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center. Their appearance in Twin Falls is sponsored by the CSI Lyceum Committee.

During the evening they will show various aspects of creative theatre production.

Trained at Baylor University and in London, the Coreys first international recognition came with their production of "The Book of Job."

The show played for 14 years, alternating seasons in New York, Europe, and Africa.

Other plays that have successfully followed are "Electra," "Romans by Saint Paul," "Pilgrims Progress," and "Don Quixote."

Two children's shows, "Reynard the Fox," and "The Tortoise and The Hare" were staged in Venice at the International Association of Theatre for Children. The Coreys' company, called The Everyman Players, was the first American company to be so honored.

Each year the Coreys travel with their Everyman Player around the globe. The group recently played in Venice, Johannesburg, London and New York. In the summer, the company maintains a natural outdoor theatre in Pineville, Kentucky.

Irene Corey's book "The Mask of Reality: An Approach to Design for the Theatre," is regarded as a classic on the subject. Her philosophy is to drive the mundane out of the theatre which she feels should be "a joyous celebration; a poetry of idea and form."

The Friday lecture is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the CSI commons building or at the Fine Arts Center that night.

The Coreys also will be presenting lectures Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the two conferences hosted by CSI, the Interpretation Theatre Alliance in the Fine Arts Center, and the Children's Theatre Conference in Shields Academic Building. For further information contact Fran Tanner, 733-9554, Ext. 258.

Paul firemen win hose contest at convention

RUPERT — Paul volunteer firemen outmaneuvered fellow fire fighters Sunday afternoon to win a horseshooting competition during a fire fighters' convention in Rupert.

The Rupert fire department served as host for the convention which was attended by 175 firemen and their wives. The convention events included a banquet at the Elks Lodge, followed by a business session, as well as the fire fighting competition and a dance at the Rupert fire department hall.

The competition required firemen to set up a hose, knock over a target with a high pressure stream of water, then change lengths of hose and hit the target again.

The Paul firemen completed the assignment in 27.3 seconds, less than a second ahead of the Homedale department which came in seconds with 28 seconds. The Buhl firemen were third with a time of 31.7 seconds.

Tom Tyree, a fire service trainer at Boise State College, discussed training of firemen, outlining materials available from the state for loan to local departments, including booklets and films which may be borrowed at no cost other than postage.

Tyree also discussed pending federal legislation which would provide grants to the states as well as cities and counties for training firemen. Funds will also be provided to "accredited institutions" for fire fighting training, he said.

A national fire fighter academy is also under consideration at the federal level for training skilled professional firemen, Tyree said. He urged the local associations to work for passage of the legislation.

On the state level, Tyree said the Idaho Legislature had enacted legislation setting up a state fire marshal's office, but no funding has been provided by the state. Only six states, including Idaho, lack a state fire marshal at present, the speaker said.

The fire marshal would help to coordinate community fire prevention work and could help in arson investigations as well as other work in fire control.

Wendell fire chief, George A. Wahler, was named president of the association for the coming year, succeeding Rupert fire chief, Odell McLane.

The 1973 convention will be held in Wendell. Attending the 1972 convention were fire departments representing Boise, Buhl, Burley, Gooding, Homedale, Jerome, Minidoka County rural, Paul, Wendell and the Idaho Youth Ranch.

Dilettantes set scholarship plan

Bids OK'd during T.F. meeting

TWIN FALLS — Bids for solid waste control during the next six months and for clearing up the Black Bear dump ground near Buhl were accepted by County Commissioners Monday.

William J. (Bill) Chancey, chairman, said the bids of Carl Stutzman, Twin Falls, were low on both counts. His bid for clearing up the Black Bear grounds, used for many years as an unauthorized dump ground by Buhl area residents, was in the amount of $3,000, about half of the next lowest bid.

His bid for six months maintenance on county dump sites was $6,300. Commissioners said the Black Bear area, donated to the county by the Buhl Highway District, will be cleared of trash and debris and maintained as a county landfill site.

Under terms of the maintenance contract, Stutzman will trench and cover trash dumped on all major county dump sites during the coming six months.

Chancey said the contract was let on a six months basis only because of changing regulations on dump grounds by the Department of Health.

TWIN FALLS — The scholarship committee of the Dilettantes has just released its three-phase program for 1972.

A music scholarship of $500 will be awarded to a high school senior in Magic Valley who intends to major in vocal or instrumental music. The scholarship can be used at the school of the student's choice. The scholarship will be in memory of all deceased Dilettantes.

Auditions will be held May 27 at the C.S.I. Fine Arts Center, Room 119, from 9 a.m. to noon. Instrumental students are asked to perform a minimum of 10 minutes. Interested persons are asked to call Mrs. Robert Blastock Jr., scholarship committee chairman, 326-4935, Filer, by May 20 for a specific audition time.

The Dilettantes also voted to donate $100 to the Antique Festival Theatre in recognition of its outstanding work in the field of theatre arts.

At this time the Dilettantes wish to conduct a survey to determine interest in a Magic Valley orchestra workshop for elementary school children.

Tentative plans are for a Saturday morning workshop during the school year under the direction of Ernest Moss.

No prior musical instruction is necessary and all instruments are acceptable. The survey should be returned to Mrs. Blastock, by June 1.

Social Security office to close
TWIN FALLS — The Social Security office in Twin Falls will be closed all day Friday.

Because the Urban Renewal project crews will be making the change from overhead to underground power lines, the office will be without electricity and will be forced to close, Jack Carlton, manager, said.

4-Hers take bike trip

TWIN FALLS — The Barnyard Homemakers 4-H club took a bicycle trip to the airport and back Saturday afternoon.

The group is working on project bicycling and decided to make the trip as part of their studies. The group met at the home of Mrs. Helen Hammond, Twin Falls, leader of the club.

That elephant

CHICAGO (UPI)—Showman P. T. Barnum made a mistake and thus enriched the language of marketing.

Barnum, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, assumed great crowds would pay to see an albino elephant, acquired at a small fortune.

"Miss Lee is gettin' married and we have to learn to spell her new name. It's Mihaleckovich!"

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY MAY 10, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when those who have any influence over you can be in a harping, critical frame of mind, and you would be wise to make sure you do not get upset if critical comments are made to you. Return to your own way of doing anything that could hurt the feelings, or downgrade anyone else. Be gentle.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Rules and regulations should be followed to the letter now and temper controlled, or you get into real trouble. Not the right day to contact that influential person, whatever your reason. Await a better day.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): If you try to get out of promises you have made to others, you can certainly get into a peck of trouble, so be sure you show you are conscientious instead. Others are in a bad mood, therefore do not look for praise today. Tomorrow all changes.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You waver between handling important affairs and going out for fun, so if you plan your time wisely, you can do some of both. Make sure you do not bring enemies together, or your day will be ruined. Dress well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): If you follow through with what bigwigs expect of you, you make big headway today, even though you do not understand their motives. They require a loyal worker now. Save some time for mate in p.m.

LFO (July 22 to Aug. 21): With those good ideas buzzing through your head, you hardly know which to work on first, but if you sift the wheat from the chaff, all is fine. Make sure you have the facts and information you need for success with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Get right at the responsibilities ahead of you and carry through efficiently so higher-ups will be pleased and extend right benefits. Fighting with loved one could lead to separation you do not want. Cool it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): You have an associate who wants to fly off into outlets that he knows almost nothing about, so apply a little pressure and save the present good partnership. Use fast, good sense, not arguments. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21): Tackle all that work in a most persevering and clever fashion and get it behind you quickly. A little time spent at exercise, etc., can improve your health immensely. Don't get discouraged.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If you are extravagant where fun and pleasure are concerned, you find they soon lose their flavor. Being particularly devoted to closest tie pays off in big dividends now. Much happiness for both.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have to use tact and diplomacy at home if you want to avoid a big argument, possible today, or tonight. Get more order around you and please all. A short trip can now be planned carefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Show others you can control temper regardless of what may or may not come up to test you. One who should be concerned only with your work is trying to hem you in. Cleverly avoid him or her.

PISC. (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): If you spend too much for the pleasure you want, you find it backfires on you, so keep sane. Safe. Listen to what a clever person in business has to suggest for your advancement. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who comprehend the problems of others, but find it difficult to know what to do about his or her own, so teach early to handle own life wisely before attempting to aid others. Then the life becomes successful and humanitarian traits can be developed to best advantage. The pioneer is definitely in this chart, so send to modern schools for best results throughout the lifetime.

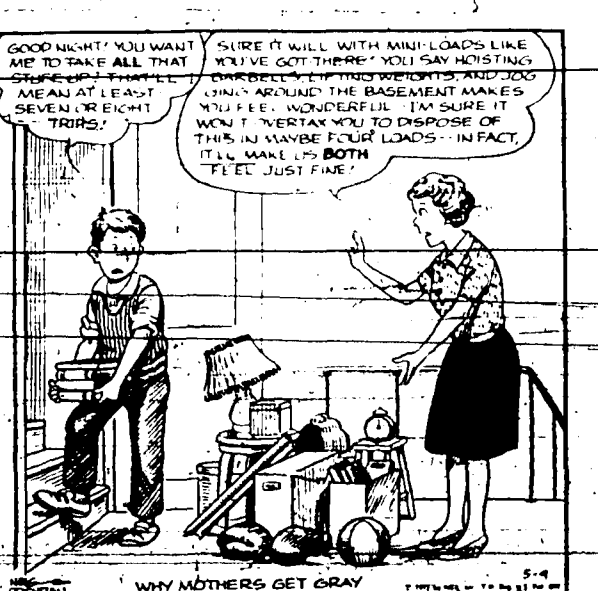

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

When Women Meet Mates

Average American female marries at the age of 20, that's known. Average bride has been acquainted with her boyfriend for approximately two years, that's also known. Odds are, therefore, the average 18-year-old girl already has met the man she'll marry. If you don't recognize the fellow, young lady, better look again.

WHAT COLOR do you think of, if any, when you hear a train whistle? None comes to mind? All right, but numerous citizens do associate certain colors with certain sounds. What they enjoy is a condition the medical fellows call chromesthesia. And train whistles, it's known, usually make them see orange.

NO. 1 on that list of old articles a housewife is most apt to throw away this month is shoes. The salvage boys report that. No. 2 is clothing. No. 3, broken appliances. No. 4, worn-out refrigerators. No. 5, beatup couches.

QUERIES

Q. "What's Jacqueline Onassis's astrological sign?"

A. She's a Leo. The stargazers say Leos tend to possess good heads for business. They're mostly the policymakers, though, not the detail managers.

Q. "YOU know... that Hathaway shirt man with a patch over his eye? Which eye?"

A. The right, usually. The left, sometimes. The ad boys have not been too careful about that.

AS FAR AS goodlooking girls go, what we refer to as a "knockout" the Italians call a "cannonata." Means cannon volley. Saw a few of those myself years ago in Rome. Never actually escorted one. Did go out with a couple of 30-30's, some 22's and several BB's, however. I'd tell you more about it, but the ladyfriend sometimes reads the proof.

PAWN

The pawnshop operators say they can tell better than anybody whether the economy is on an upturn or a downswing. By their redemption rates. When nine out of 10 hocked articles are redeemed, they claim, count on dandy business ahead. But when only, say, six out of 10 such articles are bought back, that's ominous. At last report the redemption rate was about eight out of 10.

A "SPOONERISM" is defined by the language specialists as "an unintentional transposition of word and thought." Like: "I remember your name perfectly, but I just can't think of your face." It was William Archibald Spooner of New College, Oxford, who uttered that line and many another. But one of his more spectacular. I think he delivered to a small group of girls in a large auditorium full of hard seats at a women's college. Began he: "What am I to tell this audience of beery wenches?"
