Gunshot deaths of 8 eagles in Bell Rapids area probed

By HUGH DAVIS
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Fish and Game Dept. is investigating the gunshot killings of eight golden eagles in the Bell Rapids Project west of Twin Falls.

Conservation Officer Joe Arnette, Buhl, said the birds were shot from the road and fell to the ground near the poles on which they were perched.

"These gunshot eagle deaths took place during the winter months when they are most susceptible to hunters. It appears the birds were killed with high-powered rifles," Arnette said.

Ted Chu, fish and game officer in the Jerome district, reported six of the kills. In his report he said some may have been killed by shot gun blasts, indicating the shooters were fairly close to the birds.

Edward Scholes, Jerome regional conservation officer, said the shootings took place in the northwest corner of Twin Falls County. He said there was evidence shooters were also killing a great number of hawks along with the eagles.

"I have an idea some of the eagles were shot by persons who didn't know they were shooting at a protected species and others, I'm sure, think the protection law is stupid and went ahead and shot them anyway," said Scholes.

The plight of the golden eagle was brought into focus by similar eagle killings in 1971 in Utah. Since that time, conservation officers in Idaho and Utah have stepped up their watch over the protected birds.

Arnette said the wintering period is over and so, probably, are the shootings.

"There is a higher number of eagles concentrated in smaller geographical areas during the winter months," said Arnette.

The eight dead eagles were discovered by Chu and Arnette, who were investigating electrocution deaths of eagles.

Arnette said they found one bird by a pole and decided to check the next pole and so on until the eight dead eagles were found.

Arnette said the fish and game department is working with Idaho Power Co. on a system to cut down electrocution deaths.

"Eighteen electrocuted eagles is a problem, but we can handle that one," said Arnette.

The eight eagles that have been shot represent more of a problem to conservation officers. Those kills have all been mature birds.

"Every time a mature bird is killed," Arnette said, "the number of birds that bird could have produced is reduced. These are verified gunshot kills."

Arnette said the disturbing factor in the eagle deaths is that "we know about these 26 dead birds but that could mean there may be the same number lying dead that we haven't found yet."

The killing of a golden eagle is a federal offense. Idaho fish and game personnel are instructed to turn offenders over to federal authorities for prosecution. Fines, penalties and imprisonment are up to the court.

In Utah, federal authorities have rendered fines of up to $1,000 and penalty of one year imprisonment for a single offense.

The same authority has jurisdiction in Idaho.

"So far, we haven't had to take a person through the courts for killing an eagle in this state," said Arnette, "but if the shootings continue at this rate, we may have to."

Miner died hero

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — Louis Goos always said, "I won't go until it's my time," and his wife, Mildred, believed him.

After surviving seven days alone in a Montana mine cave-in and 14 car wrecks as well as numerous mining accidents, the 51-year-old hardrock miner knew what it was like to stare down death eyeball to eyeball.

Last Sunday, six days after her husband was trapped by fire in the Sunshine Silver Mine disaster that claimed 91 lives, Mrs. Goos had a feeling.

"I just felt like he was telling me this was it," she said.

At 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Mildred Goos learned she was correct. Her husband had died in the Sunshine disaster while trying to save his fellow miners.

Goos, who won the nickname of "Cat" because of his frequent escapes from the jaws of death, had been mining on the 5400-foot level of the Sunshine mine May 2 when fire broke out.

He went to the 3,400 foot level and, using experience that saved his life in other mining accidents, tried to save the lives of the miners at the upper level.

Carbon monoxide apparently killed him.

"He apparently tried to stop smoke in the raise (incline in the mine)," Mrs. Goos said, his wife of the past four years said. "They just didn't have time to do it."

"Oh, I thought he'd make it because I knew he knew what he was doing," Mrs. Goos said, shaking her head in disbelief of his death.

Her son, Don Perkins, agreed.

"He was trying to save somebody else," Perkins said. "He was not a selfish man — he tried to save somebody else. He was one in a million."

A family man who had a "multitude of hobbies," Goos didn't seem to be the heroic type. He was quiet and he loved to make hot sauce and sell it to his fellow miners.

A World War II veteran, Goos served in the European Theater and in the Aleutian Islands. He was a staff sergeant when discharged from the army.

Because Goos had survived so many brushes with death, his family found it difficult to believe he had perished in the Sunshine fire.

"All the way up from California, I kept telling my wife he'll get out," Perkins said. "It's hard to believe he's dead."

Sunshine Mine underestimated fire danger

BOISE (UPI) — An Idaho assistant attorney general who took depositions from survivors of the Sunshine Mine disaster said it appeared there were no fire drills or instructions on use of respirators prior to the fire that claimed at least 58 lives.

Donald Knickrehm, one of three representatives from the Attorney General's Office who joined a joint Department of Interior-Attorney General preliminary effort to take depositions prior to investigations, said it also appeared Sunshine Mine did not violate any laws regarding safety.

"I don't see how the unions can complain, because there's been no pressure in this area," he said. "We just underestimated the danger."

Knickrehm said as a result of the depositions, "We know how most of the men reacted when they found out there was a fire and we know why the men died."

He said at the first word of the fire "the natural reaction was to get out of the mine. They all know you can die from poison gas."

Brother dies in mine

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Neil Andreason, Richfield, received word Thursday evening that her brother, Wayne Nelson, Osburn, was one of the trapped miners.

TF Jaycees support war blockade decision

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Jaycee board of directors has voted unanimously to send a telegram of support to President Nixon regarding his recent decision to blockade ports in North Vietnam.

The directors voted Wednesday during a meeting and by telephone Wednesday night and this morning to send the telegram. It will read, "The board of directors of the Twin Falls Jaycees has voted unanimously to publicly support your recent decision to blockade the port of Haiphong in an attempt to end the invasion of South Vietnam and end the involvement of the United States in Southeast Asia."

Bob Becker, local Jaycee president, said many other Jaycee organizations nationwide have also voted to support

Nixon's move.

The directors were encouraged to send the telegram by a phone call from Andre E. LeTendre, a past national Jaycee president who now works for the U.S. Department of Commerce. He contacted by a phone call from Andre E. LeTendre, a past national Jaycee member, Darrell F. Sweet.

Sunday concert slated

TWIN FALLS — Favorites of the big band era, the late 30s and early 40s, will be heard in Twin Falls Sunday night during the special concert of Boise's Men in Blue.

Under the direction of Louie Ventrella, the orchestra members will present 15 numbers made famous by Duke Ellington, George Gershwin, Count Basie and others. The program begins at 8 p.m. at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

Louie Ventrella's "Duke Ellington" concerts and the "Glenn Miller" concerts such as one held in Twin Falls several years ago, have become popular throughout the western states.

In the Sunday night concert some of the numbers will include "Dizzy Fingers," Zee Confrey, "Tribute to Tommy Dorsey and Count Basie," "Bess, You is my Woman Now," George Gershwin, "Every Time We Say Goodbye," Cole Porter, "Body and Soul," John Green, "East St. Louis Medley," Duke Ellington, "Tumbling Tumble Weeds," B. Nolan, "It Ain't Necessarily So," George Gershwin, and "Rockin' in Rhythm," Duke Ellington.

Band leader Ventrella, who is employed by Mountain Bell Telephone Co., says most of the 21 band members hold down fulltime jobs but enjoy the musical tours and concerts in their spare time.

Advance tickets are available from music stores, the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event, and from chamber directors.

I Certainly Never Expected This

HOUSTON — At 7:15 p.m. last Saturday night, at the 40th precinct Democratic election judge, Harry Lindsey, the frustration and panic sweeping regular Democrats across the nation were summed up by the elderly remains of the Texas Democratic establishment in the 40th precinct, had been ambushed. Supporters of Sen. George McGovern were swamping the precinct convention, outnumbering the corporal's guard of party regulars. Lindsey had plenty of company, not only in Texas but in other states that pick national convention delegates by the mass meeting system. With listless regulars in one state ignoring what happens in the next, one ambush has followed another. Although thousands of Texas precinct conventions cannot be readily analyzed, one result is reasonably clear: McGovern will get a greater share of the 130-member Texas delegation than would have been possible before the new McGovern commission reforms — surely greater than his true political power in the state.

Indeed, that is the deepening agony of regular Democrats in conservative states. They perceive McGovern's nomination as sheer disaster for their own state tickets. Yet, ambushed by McGovern's organization, discipline and fervor in precinct mass meetings, their state delegations will contain significant numbers of delegates going to Miami Beach to vote for George McGovern. Houston's 40th precinct is instructive. Once a conservative upper-income neighborhood, it is now in transition. Old settlers living beside hippie-style communes. Presumably, a direct primary there would divide rather evenly between McGovern, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Gov. George Wallace. The results of the 40th precinct convention were far different. Whereas a dozen party stalwarts used to show up for precinct conventions, 273 crowded in Saturday night — 71 per cent of them backing George McGovern. The McGovernites, most under 30 with long hair, bizarre costumes and peace signs, were eager to devote a spring Saturday night to the cause. The other 29 per cent was divided between uncommitted party regulars. Moreover, the McGovern forces were far better informed on the rules and far better organized than their opposition. The delegates elected by the 40th precinct convention go on to the 13th Senatorial District convention, which though essentially conservative in its constituency will be controlled by McGovern forces and send a McGovern delegation to the state convention. In fact, a quick reading of the Saturday night precinct conventions shows establishment forces for an uncommitted Texas delegation — presumably favoring Humphrey — took a drubbing throughout Harris County (Houston) at the hands of McGovern and Wallace forces. Elsewhere in Texas, the establishment Humphrey camp did not fare so badly. Yet, incomplete results of precinct conventions show little better than a fairly even three-way split between uncommitted McGovern and Wallace delegates.

Hidden Cost

One of the high costs of higher education you don't hear mentioned much is the high cost in losing good craftsmen.

The "everybody goes to college" philosophy puts vast numbers of high school graduates with no definite aims in, for instance, college business administration courses. The major result may be the loss of a lot of good auto mechanics, carpenters, television repairmen and so on.

The sorry part of it is that only a small percentage of business administration graduates will ever do much real administrating. It will be apparent to those wielding promotion powers that most of them aren't really good administrators. And even for those who are, the room gets scarcer and scarcer toward the top of the pyramid.

Successful administrating is in good part a knack, a gift. One might be able to memorize the whole kit and kaboodle of textbooks and still strike out on the job. Four years of academic effort, or coasting, doesn't produce an executive in the great percentage of cases.

The fact is, an overwhelming percentage of students with adequate brain power, finances and sticktuitiveness to get a college diploma wind up in routine jobs for the rest of their careers when, with a good deal less strain, they might have become skilled in a needed craft better suited to their actual interests and capabilities. And have earned more money at it.

But in the updating of the "anybody can grow up to be president" American Dream, the idea now seems to be for everyone to have a crack at becoming chairman of the board.

It's not only an impossible, but a costly dream.

Things Bad?

Saying this is a topsy-turvy world is more than a figure of speech. At one time, North America was literally upside down. Or maybe it was rightside up and is now up-side down.

Anyway, several scientists recently analyzed the evidence of the continent's early magnetic orientation locked in ancient rocks in Colorado, Arizona and Wyoming. Then they drew curves through all the data points and came up with this conjecture:

About three billion years ago, North America was below the equator and was upside down in relation to its present position. It then moved in a wide arc, undergoing first clockwise and then counterclockwise rotation.

Other continents moved in similar paths, say scientists.

A New Approach

The Ohio Supreme Court has let stand lower court rulings upholding the right of an undercover agent to use illegal drugs in the course of his investigations.

The case in question involved a Summit County deputy sheriff who, during six months as an undercover agent, allegedly not only smoked marijuana but helped package it and load it on a truck bringing it into Ohio.

In his brief to the court, assistant

Summit County prosecutor William F. Calhoun pointed out that Ohio has no law against smoking marijuana. "The offense is in its possession," he said.

Which raises the question, how is it possible to smoke marijuana without having it in your possession?

Maybe it's O.K. if somebody else holds the stuff while you puff. But then he could be charged with possession.

MR. SPECTATOR

Let's Get Busy

We received an interesting note from a reader in Filer. She asked that we not use her name but sent in an interesting comment she had clipped from the newspaper at Yuma, Arizona.

We thought it was interesting, too, and so pass it on for your amusement.

The article goes thusly: Editor, The Sun: With a Presidential election year ahead of us, I would like you to ponder this:

The population of this country is 200 million, but there are 70 million over 60 years of age, leaving 130 million to do the work.

People under 21 total 74 million, which leaves 56 million to do the work. Twenty-nine million government employees leave 27 million to do the work and the four million in the armed forces leave 23 million.

Deduct 18 million state, county and city employees which leaves five million to do the work. There are 4.5 million people in hospitals, asylums, etc., leaving 500,000 workers, but 450,000 of these are bums or others who will not work, so that leaves 50,000 to do the work. Now it may interest you to know there are 49,998 people in jail, so that leaves just two people to do all the work, and that's where you come into the picture, brother. I'm getting tired doing everything by myself — so get with it!

A THOUGHT

The unemployment system has come as a shock to many college students who, up to this time, considered stories of the Great Depression as part of American folklore. The idea that an opportunity to have a job is something to be cherished is a new concept for some of them — William W. Carlson, president of the University of Toledo.

ART BUCHWALD

It Isn't Funny

WASHINGTON — An ad hoc committee of humor writers and political cartoonists held an emergency meeting last weekend in Washington to see what they could do about Sen. George McGovern, who suddenly has become a viable presidential candidate.

The chairman of the committee in an opening statement warned the writers and cartoonists attending that there was a possibility that McGovern could win the Democratic nomination, and if he did, they would be obligated to satirize him in words and drawings.

"It's impossible," a humor writer said, "McGovern has been running for a year now, and there is not one thing humorous about him."

"May I remind you," another cartoonist said, "that you said the same thing about Nixon in 1968."

"Nixon's different," the first cartoonist said. "You can at least draw his nose. You can't even make a sketch of McGovern. He looks like everyone's high school chemistry teacher. If I don't put his name on the seat of his pants, no one knows who the heck he is."

A humor columnist said, "It's worse when you're trying to write something funny about him. Has anyone managed to write anything funny about McGovern?"

There was dead silence in the room. "How can you write something funny about a man who comes from South Dakota?" a writer asked defensively.

The chairman said, "Well at least we're in agreement that McGovern isn't naturally funny. The next question is how do we make him funny?"

There was dead silence in the room.

The chairman said, "Gentlemen, if by some chance McGovern were elected President of the United States, out jobs would be at stake. We would have to make fun of him for four years."

"I can't do it," a cartoonist cried. "I'd rather do commercials for American Airlines."

"Better Wallace than McGovern!" a gag writer yelled.

"You mean you'd rather have George Wallace as President of the United States than George McGovern?"

"We have to think of ourselves," the gag writer protested. "We know all of us could live with Wallace!"

PAUL HARVEY

Tough Britain

Britain has bounced back again. Administering the frictional, fragmented affairs of Northern Ireland with dexterity, the British demonstrate that they're still as tough as ever.

Maybe there's a clue to the unsinkability of that island in its courtrooms.

The British ship of state has absorbed more torpedoes than any other in world history, yet remains afloat. And not only afloat, but that island — the size of Illinois — remains a dominant factor in world affairs: in trade, finance, fashions, music.

Now and again Britain will be damned by home-grown soapbox revolutionaries in Hyde Park, but they are shouted down. Sometimes a headline-hungry MP will mount a frontal attack on the royal family, but he is shouted down. Seeking the source of Britain's durability one is led inexorably to her courtrooms.

Britain remains the same place in the world where court trials are conducted with dignity, honesty, promptness and justice for all.

While American courtrooms have been increasingly disrupted by the overt misconduct of defendants and the pyrotechnics of profane attorneys, courtroom decorum in Britain remains uncompromised.

Why do Britons conform stoically while others rebel? It's too simplistic to say that their traditions have deeper roots. In essence, we adopted their court system but we failed to preserve it intact.

Our much vaunted concern for the underdog has led wrongdoers to believe wrongdoing is right if it's against the Establishment.

The cockney thief accepts the verdict of the knighted judge in a powdered wig without imagining that he is a target of the question. But now we may have to live with him, and we have to decide how we can do it.

What I suggest we do right now is test ourselves. The writers start writing funny gags about McGovern, and the cartoonists start drawing funny pictures of him. Then we'll exchange the ideas. You've got 30 minutes to produce something.

The resultant co-operation among the bar, the police, the public and the accused results in expeditious justice. Frequently a British judge imposes sentence the same day the jury reaches its verdict. Seldom does the convicted party appeal either the verdict or the sentence.

During one recent year of 44,000 cases, only 8,000 appeals were sought and only 942 were granted.

Also, few cases get a jury trial in Britain. Only about 2 percent ever come before a crown court such as Old Bailey. 98 percent are disposed of in a magistrate's court. What we'd call a justice of the peace.

These magistrates hear and decide all vehicle cases and most arson, burglary, theft, drug and sex offenses. In each case the law is so explicit and the penalties so uniform that when the evidence is conclusive the verdict is virtually automated.

But nobody ever goes to prison for more than 12 months except after a jury trial.

Less paper work is required of these lay magistrates. Only about 4 percent of the defendants are represented by lawyers.

Of those who apply for free legal aid 30 percent to 90 percent are refused.

How does expeditious jurisprudence affect the crime rate? Each year in New York City alone there are 10 times more homicides than in all of England!

And while we're looking for clues as to why their system functions so efficiently and results in a per capita crime rate so much less than ours: "No British judge is elected, all are appointed."

Any "tricky" barrister is blackballed by his peers. Nobody now living can recall a single case of bribery involving a British judge.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Nose Breathing

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I know it's a little late to ask for this year, but for next winter: we hear about walking for good health. Is there any danger to throat or lungs from inhaling when the temperature is below freezing? — A. B. S.

Depends on whether you mean breathing through your nose or your mouth.

When you breathe through the nose, the air is warmed by a remarkable set of "air conditioners" called turbinates.

These are bony structures, three on each side of the nose, and covered by a membrane which has a rich blood supply. Air breathed past the turbinates is warmed.

If, in the midst of strenuous activity, you do a little breathing through the mouth, that isn't likely to be harmful. However, too much mouth breathing can do some mischief.

For one thing, cold air can cause spasm of the bronchial tubes and make breathing more difficult. It can make the throat dry, too. Indirectly, with some individuals, this can provoke anginal pain — chest pain, that is.

Freezing cold air is ultimately warmed in the lungs, but too much of it can be uncomfortable.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My little boy loves eggs but his daddy won't let him eat them more than once a week. Are eggs too protein or something? How bad is it for a person to eat eggs? — Mrs. T. C. Eggs are a fine source of protein — and it is only under the most unusual circumstances that anyone gets too much protein. Rather, too many people get too little.

I suspect that your son's daddy has read or heard something about eggs also being high in cholesterol. Well, the yolk is high in it, but in my opinion the worry about eggs-and-cholesterol has been overemphasized all out of proportion. It is valid principally in older people who have high levels of cholesterol in the blood, and I see no reason why the average healthy young person shouldn't eat eggs.

If your husband wants to know more of my thinking on this, tell him to read my booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." He can get a copy by sending 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of Times-News.

Controlling one's cholesterol is one thing; jumping to the conclusion that you shouldn't eat eggs often than once a week is carrying the idea a bit too far.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 16 and have been using tampons for over a year. What I'd like to know is whether it is safe to wear tampons when expecting your period in a day or two, to avoid any trouble at school or on a date in case the period comes early? — S. F.

Yes, it's safe.

Damages sought against produce firm at Kimberly

TWIN FALLS — Ralph J. Lovell, Bonneville County resident, is seeking $50,000 in damages, $10,000 in income loss and $2,265.15 in a suit filed in Fifth Judicial District Court.

Accident reported in Lincoln

TWIN FALLS — A two-car accident about one half mile west of Twin Falls Wednesday resulted in only minor injuries to one person.

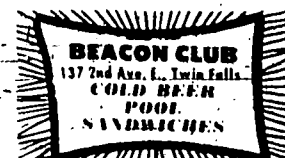

According to the Idaho State Police, John Andrew Olsen, 62, Kimberly, was making a left hand turn across two eastbound lanes of traffic on U. S. Highway 30, into a private lane.

He apparently turned into the path of a vehicle driven by Heinz Schulz, 31, Twin Falls, and was hit by the Schulz vehicle.

Lovell seeks damages against J. H. Henry Produce Co., Kimberly, charging he suffered injuries in a traffic accident March 4, 1971, due to the carelessness and negligence of W. C. Springer, an employee of the produce company, operating a truck owned by the Kimberly firm.

Lovell alleges he had parked his vehicle beside Interstate 80, 16 miles east of Jerome and was talking to another motorist about road conditions when the Springer truck went out of control and went through the median, striking him and severely injuring him.

Wage raise goes to $2

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House voted Thursday to raise the $1.60 an hour minimum wage to $2.00, accepting an administration-backed measure that would spread the increase over a longer time than the Democrats wanted.

A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats teamed up on a key 218 to 192 vote Thursday to pass a Republican substitute to a bill drafted by the House Education and Labor Committee.

The measure, as sent to the Senate on a final roll call vote of 330 to 78, would raise the minimum to $1.80 within two months of enactment and to $2 one year later for the estimated 34 million workers covered by the act prior to 1966. Most, if not all of them, already are making more than $2 an hour.

The increase for the estimated 11 million workers covered under the act for the first time by Congress after 1966 would go to $1.70 an hour within two months after enactment, then to $1.80 one year later and finally $2 two years after enactment.

The real impact of the bill would be "on the post-1966 workers, 3 million of whom are now estimated to be making less than $2 an hour. The cost to bring those workers up to the $2 level was estimated at $3 million.

The committee bill would have raised the pre-1966 category to $2 immediately and the post-1966 category to $1.80 immediately and $2 a year later.

Both the GOP substitute, passed by the House, and the committee bill would raise the $1.30 minimum wage now set for farm workers to $1.50 an hour, within two months of enactment and go to $1.70 one year later.

The committee bill, but not the GOP substitute that passed, would have expanded coverage of the act to 4.7 million federal, state and local government workers and 1.1 million household domestic workers.

Pension fund bill introduced

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fourteen members of the Senate Labor Committee have introduced a bill intended to make sure everyone who works eight years at one job gets at least a portion of the pension fund to which he contributed.

That would be a big improvement over the present situation, in which only one worker in eight of the 30 million enrolled in private pension funds can expect to receive retirement income.

The reason so few collect is that they must stay with the same employer a long time before they are "vested" that is, before they have an irrevocable right to a pension. The legislation would increase employers' payroll costs by about 1 per cent.

The bill was introduced Thursday by Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, and by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, the committee's ranking Republican. It had the backing of 12 of the 15 other members of the panel.

It will compete with President Nixon's pension reform bill, which would move in a different direction. Nixon's bill would allow "self-reliant" workers to take a tax deduction of up to $1,500 a year if they invest that much of their earnings for their own retirement.

Reluctant lawyer gives testimony

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—A reluctant attorney testified Thursday about a telephone conversation he had with Angela Davis prior to the Marin County shootings.

John Thorne, who once represented "Soledad Brother" George Jackson, had previously refused to answer questions claiming an "attorney-client" relationship with Miss Davis, on trial for murder, kidnap and conspiracy.

Prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. put Thorne on the stand for 30 minutes before Judge Richard E. Arnason recessed the trial until Monday, when the state is expected to begin calling its final witnesses.

Thorne answered "no" when asked if he spoke to the former UCLA instructor Aug. 5, 1970, two days before the courtroom escape attempt and shootings in which a judge and four others died.

He also said statements he gave a Marin County Grand Jury in Jan. 1971 were false due to a lapse of memory.

Harris then read a transcript of a tape recording made when Thorne gave a statement at the attorney general's office in September, 1970. In it, Thorne had said Miss Davis telephoned him and said she would see him in "four or five days," and that she was on her way to Santa Cruz with Jonathan Jackson, George's younger brother.

Thorne, who previously testified he had a "very bad memory," told the prosecutor that he recently checked his records and found that during the conversation, Miss Davis had asked him what was going to happen on a petition regarding the elder Jackson.

He said he discovered he had filed a petition on July 21, and that means my conversation with her was prior to that date. I'm positive in my mind it was prior to that date.

CLAY HART

"I love to sing to a live audience," says Clay Hart, "and when you see this dark-haired singer settle down on a stool on stage, cradle his guitar in his arms and then gather up the entire audience with his warm smile as he begins to sing, you know exactly what he means. Artist and audience set each other off. They communicate fully and it's easy to see why Clay was nominated as Country Singer of the Year in 1969."

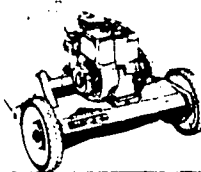

Now featured every week on the Lawrence Welk television show, Clay has a full schedule of other appearances as well as recording for Metromedia Records.

Born into a family with a theatrical background (his father Henry and uncle Richard Hart were both successful actors), Clay was born Henry Clay Hart the Third on July 1st in Providence, Rhode Island. He is married to the former Elizabeth Thompson of Rochester, Minnesota, and they have two children, Hank, nine years old, and Lix, seven and a half. He spends much of his spare time composing songs, but most of all he loves to sing. And his rich baritone voice with its pleasant country sound, plus his ability to reach his audience, have made him one of today's outstanding modern country artists.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Traders moved prices higher in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

As of 1 p.m. the Dow Jones industrial average had risen 6.47 to 941.30 while Standard & Poor's 500-stock index moved 0.65 higher to 106.42. Of 1,649 issues on the tape, advances outpaced declines, 980 to 361.

Volume after three hours was 9.18 million shares, up more than a million from the 8.17 million traded in the corresponding period Thursday.

Most major stock categories were on the upside with the electronics and glamor issues showing most gainers of a point or more.

Analysts attributed the market's firmness to the lessening of international tension, specifically comments from Soviet officials that the May 22 summit meeting still would take place. Doubt had existed the talks would be held in view of U.S. moves in Vietnam.

Among the electronics, Honeywell and IBM each rose more than 2 points. Motorola added 1 1/2. Control Data 1, Burroughs 1. Volatile Walt Disney rose 3 1/2. Bausch & Lomb 2 1/2.

Utilities moved little. An executive of Southern California Edison Co. said the industry would need rate rises to acquire funds for expansion.

Oils moved higher presumably on the Interior Department's blessing on a proposed pipeline across Alaska. Superior Oil rose 1 1/2. Texaco and Occidental large fractions.

Steels, motors and chemicals were firm. American Telephone eased 1/2.

Successful Investing

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — My shares of Talley Industries (NYSE) bought two years ago at just below $20 have traded well below that level since. Do you foresee a turnaround? — G. A.

A — Talley's earnings moved up 30 per cent in the first 9 months of fiscal 1971-72. Full year, ended Mar. 31, should see earnings of $1.10 a share. Sales to the government dropped to only 15 per cent of the total in that period. In the previous year the mixture was nearer 75 per cent commercial-consumer and 25 per cent government. The larger proportion of higher margined commercial business plus a cost-cutting program were primarily responsible for the earnings recovery.

A pioneer in the technology of solid propellants and ballistic devices, Talley acquired with the General Time merger in 1970 the world's largest clock-maker. This division has recently introduced a precision quartz crystal clock line ranging in price from $50 to $5,000. Other company products include knitted sports apparel, small motors, toys and sports equipment.

Talley has developed an explosive slurry used in oil and gas recovery as well as a propellant for airbag safety devices. Shares have excellent turnaround potential and should be held.

Q — I am at sea over the advisability of U.S. Treasury bonds acceptable on estate taxes. The interest is low even though some trade below par. I would appreciate your comments. — W. W.

A — If your estate after marital deductions exceeds the $60,000 exemption, these Treasuries are advisable. These bonds are acceptable at par in payment of estate taxes, even if bought in anticipation of death. However, you must actually own them at the time of death.

DEAR ABBY: How much should a girl tell a fellow about her past? I have been dating a very wonderful man for the past five months and he is getting serious, talking about marriage, etc.

He knows I am not lily white, but he doesn't know how many and who, and he would be shocked and disappointed if he knew I am 24, and I have thought I was in love about ten times in my life.

I am not too proud of my conduct, but I've grown up a lot since then and I'm really not a tramp, I've just had a lot of experience for my age.

What is your advice?

LIBRA

DEAR LIBRA: I see no reason to provide anyone with the names and numbers of all the players. Let sleeping dogs lie.

DEAR ABBY: We are loyal Abby fans and have patiently gone through the problems of smokers, non-smokers, knitters, non-knitters, swingers, non-swingers, and so on. Now we are asking you to please give us a short listen.

This is on behalf of all METER MAIDS who would like to answer nationwide, a few questions we are asked every day by at least a dozen people.

1. No. We do not have a "quota" of tickets that we have to meet every day.

2. No. We do not work on commission. [I wish we did.]

And while we are writing to you, Abby, will you please tell the public that we don't appreciate those cute little "oink" noises some people make behind our backs. Ours is a job just like anybody else's.

MISUNDERSTOOD METER MAIDS

DEAR Ms. M. M.: Will do. But every meter maid I've ever seen looked well able to defend herself.

DEAR ABBY: I saw a letter in your column not long ago which reminded me of my own situation. My in-laws are also continually giving us financial help, and to tell you the truth, I despise going over there anymore. It's gotten to the point where there is just no hope for us to ever pay them back but they keep on giving.

Maybe I am too independent, but I feel that once you are married, you are on your own. My husband doesn't see anything wrong with accepting a lot of things we can't afford. This situation has caused a lot of quarrels between us.

The more people give you, the more obligated you feel to that person, and you really don't want to see much of a person you feel obligated to.

I wish parents would leave their young married kids alone. I'm sure too much giving has caused many a marriage to split up. It certainly is working on ours.

YOUNG WIFE

DEAR WIFE: From the mouths of babes... many well-intentioned, and generous parents don't realize how heavy is the burden of gratitude.

DEAR ABBY: I play the trumpet in the high school band. I also play with a brass band for dances.

The other day I saw an article in the local newspaper which stated that trumpets and brass instruments cause heart trouble. What I want to know is, do I have anything to worry about?

HOT LIPS

DEAR LIPS: Not if you have a healthy heart to start with.

A Lovelier You AT THE READY ANYTIME

By Mary Sue Miller

What essential were you missing when you last arrived at a weekend destination? Own up, how often do you leave some beauty or grooming necessity behind? Unsettling, isn't it?

To overcome the nuisance, try compiling a careful list of your needs, keep it handy and refer to it whenever packing. Another method is a permanently outfitted case, ready to travel. This latter course saves both oversights and time, particularly if you are constantly on the go.

For the purpose you can use a large toiletries kit, a tote bag or a safari bag. With side pockets and interior room for extras, safari bags prove practical for longer than weekend trips.

Now what goes into it? Everything on your list, of course. Either fill small plastic containers from stores on hand, or purchase small sizes. Look about, too, for familiar products especially packaged for traveling — in plastic tubes, individual foil envelopes, pocket-size aerosols.

All such save space, weight and spill. When carrying non-spillproof items, be sure to seal tops with plastic mending tape. Seen-through plastic bags, kitchen variety, make excellent protective covers. For hairbrush, let's say.

The cosmetics and toiletries you pack are of course a personal matter. But a toothbrush, dentifrice and suntan product are most often among the missing. So do check and recheck. And do replenish supplies right after a jaunt. Attach a note to your kit about items that must be bought. You won't miss a thing!

YOUR GROOMING—A TO Z

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for YOUR GROOMING—A to Z, a leaflet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. Roman Catholic church in US presents frightening picture

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican weekly L'Osservatore della Domenica said today the Roman Catholic Church in the United States presents a "frightening and distressing picture" because of defection and turmoil.

"A tremendous earthquake is shaking the church in the United States to its roots," the magazine said. "Almost every day newspapers and magazines give us news of some fresh disaster: priests who abandon their ministries to take wives, nuns who abandon their convents, parish schools which close their doors for lack of teachers, and money. It is a frightening and distressing picture which no one would ever have imagined six or seven years ago."

The article, written by Italian Theologian Battista Mondin, accused Catholic publications in the United States of announcing such events almost with an air of triumph.

"Instead of tending the bleeding wounds of their church, they willingly lend themselves to those journalistic fabrications which are typical of our time, especially when the victim is the Roman Catholic Church," it said.

Until this crisis, L'Osservatore della Domenica said, the American church was in continuous expansion and seemed poised to become "The church of the year 2,000."

The magazine said the Vatican Ecumenical Council opened the door to freedom of expression which has been "exploited by self-styled lay intellectuals" as well as by priests and theologians.

It said Swiss theologian Hans Kung has received more tributes and honor in the United States than anywhere else thanks to his "acid" criticism of the church. Following his example, it said, "Catholic authors have embarked on a wave of criticism."

However, the article said that despite the "doctrinal aberrations" of some Catholic intellectuals and the many "defections" and acts of "treason," there is "still a silent majority which has remained faithful to the basic obligations of Christianity, which continues to live an admirable Christian life of prayer, sacrifice, obedience and patience."

which said the church in the United States is dead in the form in which it has always been known.

"Everywhere there is flourishing a new religious literature, in which with masochistic fury—hardly known not only in the history of the church but in any other society—American Catholic authors are flogging their church to death," the Vatican publication said.

The article concluded: "We therefore have good reasons to believe that the silent majority will guarantee the survival and salvation of the Catholic Church in the United States."

TF Presbyterian women hold 'memory' luncheon

TWIN FALLS — "Golden Memories" was the theme of the annual United Presbyterian Women potluck luncheon Thursday.

The theme honored the senior women of the UPW according to Ethlyn Walkington. Highlight of program was original skit, "Looking Backward," presenting highlights of the women's work in the church over the past years.

The material for the skit was researched from the early minutes and records of the Women's Missionary Society and the Ladies Aid.

Mrs. Walkington said the women's work in the Twin Falls Presbyterian Church was first organized in 1905 with the Ladies Aid. The Women's Missionary Society was organized in 1909.

Snake recharge plan set

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Water Resource Board and the St. Anthony Union Canal Co. have signed an agreement establishing conditions for a pilot recharge of the Snake Plain aquifer.

Dr. Robert R. Lee, board director, said the cooperative water resource research project stems from a need for information to show that surplus water can be introduced into the underground system by other than natural flows.

He said thousands of acre-feet of water are lost to the ocean during flow periods from the Upper Snake River area which could be stored in the aquifer.

In addition to acting as a reservoir, the aquifer naturally releases stored water at a uniform rate to the river at lower elevations and increases benefits to all downstream users.

The first phase of the project will consist of the company building a cubic feet per second canal to take water from Egin Lake to the new recharge area a short distance west. An earth-filled embankment is planned as part of the storage facility which will have a surface area of approximately 300 acres.

The second phase will consist of enlarging the recharge canal from Egin Lake to the recharge area to carry a 400-cubic feet per second load, enlarging the dike at the recharge area, and installing a new spillway at

More signals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The average good driver signals his intentions when he gets under way. But that's not enough, says the National Automobile Club.

The club says many drivers pull out from the curb into the mainstream of traffic without judging the traffic flow. It advises drivers to take a careful look at the vehicles in traffic, estimate their speed and remember that moving traffic has the right of way.

Grain unit planned

LEWISTON (UPI) — Nez-perce Roller Mills, Lewiston, has been given approval to begin construction of a grain barge loading facility in the port of Lewiston.

Plans call for the project to be completed by 1975 when this city will become a seaport with the completion of Lower Granite Dam on the Snake River and the 40 miles downstream. City building inspector Russell Austin and city officials have issued the permit so preliminary work could begin on the project immediately.

Recently the Army Corps of Engineers gave its approval of the project providing the city would guarantee the safety of the structure.

Flood study planned

SHOSHONE — The chairman of the Wood River Resource Area Conservation and Development Project said Thursday a study of flood prevention problems in the Wood River Resource Conservation and Development area is being made.

Don G. Fredericksen said that during the past two weeks a team of engineers from International Engineering, a subsidiary of Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., has toured the project area in Blaine, Camas, Lincoln and Gooding counties to look at possible solutions to flood problems.

Fredericksen said a team of engineers of the Soil Conservation Service would survey possible flood prevention and soil stabilization on small watersheds this week.

Cassia deadline set

BURLEY — June 1 is the deadline for nomination of grassman candidates in Cassia County, Glen Jensen, chairman of the county grassman committee, said Thursday.

Names are to be submitted to J. Wayne Cole, secretary for the committee. The committee has set June 21 as the tentative date for the county grassman tour.

Seniors donate for miners

JEROME — Jerome Senior Citizens donated $100 Wednesday to the special fund set up for the families of miners who died in the Kellogg mine disaster.

Mrs. Marlene Butler, senior citizen coordinator, said the senior citizen group held a special meeting Wednesday and voted to send the money from its own emergency relief fund to the fund that is now being established for the families of miners killed in the Sunshine Mine at Kellogg.

Mrs. Butler said the senior citizens have also issued a challenge to other clubs and organizations in Magic Valley to either match or surpass their donation.

She also noted that those who want to donate to the fund but cannot get out to do so, may contact the senior citizen office in the Presbyterian Church in Jerome and arrangements will be made to have someone pick up the donations.

Return from meet

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioners Heber Loughmiller and Merl E. Leonard returned Wednesday from the 32nd annual convention of the Interstate Association of Public Land Counties.

They attended the meeting early this week in Phoenix, Ariz., with representatives of ten other public land states.

Leonard said one of the major actions of the convention was to urge all-out support of House Bill 14370 which would give counties with large areas of federal land some revenue in lieu of the loss in property tax revenue.

Wood River development questioned

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — The direction of Wood River Valley development was questioned Thursday during a Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce meeting.

With the focus of Ketchum, businessmen expressed concern about the need for design control and a land use plan, cuts of Bald Mountain and avoiding "urban creep."

In a question and answer period following a speech by Sen. John Peavey, chamber member John Beaupre asked how the valley's "friendly and uncomplicated atmosphere" could be preserved.

He said he was particularly concerned about the proposed rerouting and expansion of U.S. Highway 93, channeling of streams and "urban creep" developments which he said "can and will happen to Ketchum" unless more thought is given to planning.

The chamber member said that Vail, Colo., maintained "absolutely tight control" over building and said he mainly opposed proposed Arctic Circle Drive-in plans for Ketchum's

Main Street.

Other businessmen questioned what they call the "overbuilding" of gasoline stations in the city.

Ketchum Mayor Kenneth Richey said the Arctic Circle was fought "purely on emotions."

"If a man buys property and adheres to the parking regulations, and all the zoning laws, he has a right to build," Richey said.

"But," he said, Ketchum will have a design review board but it will affect business area only. The mayor also cited the difference between Colorado and Idaho and said here 90 percent of the laws affecting city operations are governed by the state.

"If you definitely want a change, you should seek it on the state level," Richey said.

In further discussion chamber member Donald Bedford questioned the granting of an exclusive right to use Mount Baldy as a ski area. He asked Gilbert Farr, Ketchum Ranger District, what controls are placed on the Sun Valley Co. "As far as cuts on the mountain are concerned,"

Bedford said the mountain remained unchanged for 25 years, but in the past six or seven years it had been "raped."

He said "the way it is going now we are going to have another Dollar Mountain" and he also questioned the use of the mountain as a four-month facility only when it could be used for hiking and other recreation during the remainder of the year.

The chamber member was asked to check with the Sun Valley Co. proposed five-year development plan for the mountain at the ranger office and report his findings.

Farr said the U. S. Forest Service would "be glad to hear" any comment concerning special use permits although no public hearing is usually scheduled.

"We quite often don't hear any comments until the facilities are proposed and established," Farr said.

In its decisions on developments, the forest service "looks at the long-range... what is in the best interest of the land and public use," the forest service official said.

Cassia meet

BURLEY — The Cassia County School Board held a special meeting this morning to consider the subdistrict election set Monday.

A question has been raised on the correctness of the advertised legal description of the portion of the school district to be in the subdistrict. The meeting was at the home of W. B. Whiteley, school board chairman.

Gene Sorensen, former school board member, said he would seek an injunction to stop the election if the school board does not postpone it. He said he is in favor of a subdistrict, but he wants it to be legal from the beginning so it could not be challenged later.

Jerome vote set Tuesday

JEROME — Jerome School District No. 261 trustee election for zone 1 will be May 16.

Two candidates seek the position now held by trustee Clare Fife, who is not seeking re-election.

Polling places will be open from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Jerome High School gymnasium.

Persons qualified to vote must be from zone 1. It includes a six-mile square area from the stop light at Main Street, one mile south, three miles west, two miles north, three miles east and one mile south back to the stop light.

Emmett Merkley and William A. Kersey are the two candidates who are seeking the position.

Merkley is a Jerome County farmer and part owner of the Farm Equipment Exchange of Idaho. He has resided in the Jerome area for the past four years, coming from Mesa, Ariz.

Merkley says the district should take a long hard look at what the future building needs will be before making any different decisions.

Kersey Jr. is an epidemiologist with the Idaho Department of Health and a coal-estate sales agent.

Kersey said he will not be a "yes-man" and will not be a passive board member.

DON FREDERICKSEN seeks post

Gooding solon to run

JEROME — State Sen. Don G. Fredericksen, D-Gooding, announced Thursday he will seek a seventh term in the Idaho State Senate from district 23.

District 23 includes Gooding, Jerome and part of Lincoln counties.

Senator Fredericksen served on the senate finance committee and is a member of the resource and environment committee. He also has served as state director of the Idaho Association of Soil Conservation Districts and as a national director of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

He was an organizer and is serving as the first chairman of the Wood River Resource Area Association.

Wendell approves budget

WENDELL — A budget of $508,518 for 1972-73 was approved by the Wendell School Board Thursday night during a meeting attended by 30 patrons and teachers.

The new budget is an increase of 12 percent over last year's $452,150. It was approved by a 4-1 vote by trustees.

Patrons of the budget were reviewed by those attending the meeting. A $12,000 increase in the instructional portion of the budget will be for additional staff members, said Lawrence LaRue said.

The new budget expenditures, compared with last year's figures are for administration, $69,136 and $23,115; instructional, $271,180 and $259,622; instructional supplies, $19,000 and $18,600; auxiliary agencies (bus and other contracted services), $39,512 and $36,270; operation of plant, $33,080 and $32,730; maintenance, $6,300 and $6,000; fixed charges (insurance social security and hot lunch), $27,350 and $22,750; adult education, $500 and $500; driver's education, $1,500 and $2,500; capital outlay, $12,808 and $9,850; debt service (bonds), $28,361 and $43,712; federal funds, title 1, $28,000 and $35,200; title 1 migrant program, $12,000 and $10,000; title 3, National Defense Education Act, $1,500 and $1,500.

In other business, the board canvassed the ballots of the maintenance and operations five mill levy election which was approved last Tuesday by school district patrons. Also canvassed were ballots of the election in which Vard McEllan was voted trustee for the West Point area, succeeding John Newbrough, who did not seek re-election.

Minidoka board sets crackdown

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Zoning Board agreed Thursday night to crack down on violators of the county's zoning ordinance.

Noting that a number of people have been building or remodeling businesses and dwellings without obtaining the required permit, the board agreed to issue a warning. Anyone attempting construction without a permit will be liable for a misdemeanor charge and a possible fine, according to chairman Roy Honstinger.

In other business during Thursday's regular monthly meeting, the board denied a request from realtor George Falkner for construction of a housing project three miles north and two miles east of Rupert, on the grounds that the location is too far from town to provide adequate water and sewer services.

A request for establishment of a mobile home park southwest of Rupert was tabled, since the area is in the Burley-buffer zone, and a recommendation from the Burley Zoning Commission would be required.

The board also denied a request from Roy Commons to acquire property for storage of well-drilling equipment, since the area is not presently zoned for this usage.

The zoning board tabled action for the present on adoption of the Uniform Building Code and agreed to ask zoning administrator Roy Archer to confer with community fire chiefs on adoption of the Uniform Fire Code.

The Minidoka County Zoning Board meets the second Thursday of each month to act on requests for construction and zoning variances.

TF County GOP backs offensive

TWIN FALLS Republican Party members of Twin Falls County are on record today in support of President Nixon's stepped up offensive action in Vietnam.

Meeting Thursday afternoon with state, regional and national party officials the 40 party members of the county unanimously approved a resolution presented by Ed Behout.

The county members met with Charles Bailey, Sunset, Utah, field representative of the western region of the National Republican Party; Larry Jackson, Boise, executive secretary of the Idaho Republican Party; Orriette Sinclair, Twin Falls, national committeewoman from Idaho, and Mrs. Marge Minor, Wallace, chairman of the Idaho Republican party.

The same group attended a workshop meeting in Jerome Thursday night for party officials of district 5. This is one of several such workshop meetings held in Idaho in the past several weeks.

Topics covered in the workshops include organization and candidate assistance on the precinct and county levels; selection of candidates; getting information to the public and party organization as a whole.

Jackson said one of the most important steps in a strong party organization is unity in the precinct to national levels. He said hard work and dedication are necessary for the coming fall campaigns if the party is to send more Republicans to the legislature and to state and national offices.

Mrs. Minor said the party is doing well in supporting President Nixon in his Vietnam policy and the public as a whole is largely in favor of recent moves, with telegrams and letters by the truckload pouring in, a majority of them favoring the President's stand.

Shoshone chamber opposes closure

SHOSHONE The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce has gone on record in opposition to the closure of South Apple Street at the Union Pacific Railroad Crossing.

Two weeks ago, representatives from the railroad met with the Shoshone City Council and requested to close the crossing and the freight train speed through Shoshone be increased 10 miles an hour. The increase would make the speed 45 miles an hour.

The City Council declined to act on the suggestion and asked for comments from the community. There is one, other crossing at U.S. Highway 93 one block east of the South Apple Street crossing.

Also suggested at the council meeting by the railroad was an overhead crosswalk for pedestrians at the South Apple Street crossing. U.P. officials explained funds would be made available to erect stop lights at the highway crossing one block east.

There would not, said the railroad, be sufficient funds to duplicate the light feature at the South Apple crossing and increased speed of the trains could create a traffic hazard if the crossing remains open.

There are still more than 30 freight trains that pass through Shoshone daily.

Wendell water rules enforced

WENDELL — The Wendell City Council decided to enforce the ordinance regulating the use of irrigation water in the city, punishing those breaking the law.

The council met Thursday. A city ordinance makes it illegal for anyone other than the watermaster to tamper with or open any headgate in the city. Residents are allowed to water every 10 days, with the water release being regulated by the watermaster.

A resident has opened a headgate to irrigate at will and allowed a large amount of water to run into the streets and lots, necessitating a crackdown on irrigation practices in the city.

Amending and updating the city's liquor ordinance was discussed. The ordinance must be updated to include female bartenders. A bartender must be 21 and pay a $5 permit fee every six months.

In discussing domestic water service to areas outside of town, the council noted there are no sprinkling rates. Anyone outside the city using domestic water may not use it for sprinkling. The city domestic water supply is not able to support any additional sprinkling during the summer months, requiring the restriction of sprinkling outside the city. Those affected will be required to use canal water for irrigation.

The council adopted a policy last night requiring city residents to alternate days of sprinkling. Those with even house numbers may water on even numbered days of the month and those with odd house numbers water on days with odd numbers.

Shoshone committee eyes need

SHOSHONE Members of the needs assessment committee for the current Shoshone school evaluation met all day Wednesday, at the Lincoln School.

The activity was directed by Dr. Wayne Phillips, from the Idaho Department of Education, assisted by others from the state department.

The 25-member committee divided into three groups, each taking nine points selected at the concerns conference, and outlined desired values within the school system for each.

The data included findings on learners' needs, target groups of learners, criterion, criticality and maximum time allowable.

Plan board elects

TWIN FALLS — James Koutnik was elected chairman of the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday night.

He fills the vacancy left by the death of Stuart Swan. Members elected Jim Brennan, Curry, as vice chairman.

Four public hearings will be scheduled, probably early in June on zoning requests discussed by the board Thursday.

These include a request of D.W. Benkula and Harold Caldwell for rezoning of property on State Highway 74 south of Twin Falls near Schmit's Grocery for general commercial. They plan to open a carpenter shop, service station and locate Caldwell's trucking firm in the area.

Another request was from Paul Newton on behalf of property owners two miles west of the Pole Lane Road and U.S. Highway 93 intersection for location of a mobile home park. The area covers about nine acres and is now in orchard.

Don Barlogi, Curry, requested extension of the Curry Trailer Park to expand present facilities and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Amaro asked for permission to locate an overnight camping facility one and one-half miles north of Buhl on the Clear Lakes Road.

Heyburn receives award as safe place to live

HEYBURN — The small community of Heyburn, midway between Burley and Rupert, continues as a safe place to live, according to Idaho State Department of Insurance.

The Heyburn City Council was told Wednesday night that the city had again qualified for an award from the department for accident prevention during 1971. Heyburn Mayor Harold Hurst, who accepted the award on behalf of the city, said Heyburn has received the award several times in recent years.

In other council business, Bill McClung was named Heyburn building inspector, succeeding his father, Ellery McClung, who died two weeks ago. McClung currently serves as building inspector for the city of Paul and will continue in both posts.

The council discussed problems arising with the city trash pickup noting the city ordinance on placing trash for collection is being violated in several city locations. Councilman Earl Rose requested action be taken to prevent violations, and it was agreed warnings would be issued, followed by a summons from the council.

The council will confer with Vealton Teal, Heyburn, who recently took over the city trash hauling service, and will check on homes which may have been overlooked by Teal's crew.

The council also:

- increased the sewer hookup charge to $250 from $200 due to increased construction costs. Residents who have installed sewer lines but have not yet made payment will qualify for the lower rate if they make payment within 30 days.
- agreed to charge a $25 fee for purchase of irrigation valves when residents hook onto the city's low-pressure irrigation system.
- granted a request from Russell Young to open 19th Street for two blocks to allow Young to use his newly purchased property which is located in the middle of an acreage away from an open street.

TF favored to repeat in A-1 girls track meet

TWIN FALLS — It's all going to look very familiar in the A-1 division but a lot of new faces will be in the B side Saturday. The new faces will appear in the second annual Idaho state girls track meet at Twin Falls' Bruin stadium. The event will start with field events at 11 a.m. Saturday with running finals at noon.

The Class A division returns seven defending champions and there are two others who will not be competing. Those are Luwana Hansing of Filer, who won the hurdles last year, and Twin Falls long jumper, Miss Molyneux, who sustained a broken foot during the first week of practice this year.

However, Miss Shepherd of Filer is back with a double crown to defend, the 100 and 75-yard dashes while Ann Young of Capital returns in the 220 and 440-yard dashes. The others are Miss Robertson of Capital in the halfmile, Leslie Hmaiton, Twin Falls, in the high jump and Rae Dene Bell, Twin Falls, in the shotput.

On the B side, Miss Cooper, Raft River, returns in the 100-yard dash and Miss Freeman of Shoshone is back in the 75. Shoshone als looks like it could make it two straight in the 440-yard relay.

Of the defending champions, Miss Hamilton, Young and Bell aren't coming into the event as regional titlists. Miss Hamilton sustained her first loss in the high jump to Sandy Reimers of Wood' River who has been chasing her all season.

Mary McGinnis of Twin Falls topped Miss Young in the quartermile — but the 220-yard duel between the two never came off as Miss McGinnis went unplaced in regional. Miss Moffitt of Boise defeated Miss Bell in the shotput.

Barring some team coming in with unexpected depth and strength, Twin Falls looks like a good bet to repeat as Class A champion. The B field is considerably more diluted, although among Glens Ferry, Shoshone, Wendell and Raft River, Magic Valley could well be in the running.

Since this is only the second year, a lot of records should fall. Of note in the record department, Twin Falls bettered the national mile relay mark last week in 4:23.7, three seconds under the published standards. The Bruins should be tough in the hurdles with Miss Massie and Kathy Blake a one-two possibility. Last year's runner-up, Miss Hollingsworth of Buhl, fell in district and could not advance.

Probably the individual to watch for on the B side will be Miss Eastlick of Council who could win the 100 and 220-yard dashes plus the long jump. She placed in all three last year.

YOUNG Jeff Riedesel, 9 years old, takes a lesson in fly fishing from Mike Glenn, member of the Magic Valley Fly Fishing Club, at the group's public clinic. Riedesel, who reports catching many trout up to 12 to 14 inches in length, was one of about 35 to receive instruction during the two sessions.

Mays traded to Mets to end career before home NY fans

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Mays, one of baseball's super stars for the past 20 years who now has entered into the twilight of his playing career, was traded by the San Francisco Giants to the New York Mets Thursday for minor league pitcher Charley Williams and $50,000 in cash.

The deal, which was announced by Mets' General Manager Bob Scheffing after a 2½ hour meeting at a midtown hotel brings the 41-year-old Mays what he feels is financial security for life. It also brings him back to New York, the town where he broke into the major leagues as a spunky kid in 1951.

"It's the best thing that ever happened to me in my life," said Mays, who will fly to the West Coast to get his belongings and then return to New York in time for the Mets' game with his old teammates, the Giants, on Sunday.

"When Willie's playing days are over and he decides he's not going to play anymore, he will have a three-year employment contract," said M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the Mets. "Mr. Berra and Mr. Scheffing will get together with Willie and decide exactly what capacity that will be."

Chances are that Mays will become a Met coach when his playing days are over. And then maybe even manager. For the present the Mets will pay the remainder of Mays' $165,000 annual salary.

"I think he'll be very helpful this year and hopefully in years to come," Grant said. "We would like him to be out there on the field after his career is over. It worked for Yogi and I'm sure the same thing can happen for Willie. He has a job with us for the rest of his life if he wants it."

Grant couldn't offer any concrete answer to the question whether Mays someday will become manager. But he didn't rule out that possibility either.

"I'm not going to say he will, but you never know," said Grant. "It could happen."

Mays, whose 646 lifetime homers are second only to Babe Ruth, carried a .305 career batting average into the 1972 season. But Willie has been an infrequent performer this year with the Giants, hitting only .189 in 19 games. He pinch hit a single, his last hit for the Giants, against the Montreal Expos on Tuesday night and then abruptly left the team for New York to meet with Met officials and Giant owner Horace Stoneham.

Mays arrived at Grant's hotel suite at 10:15 a.m. EDT and was in private discussion along with Stoneham for an hour. Then a call was sent down for Scheffing and Berra to join the meeting. One hour later Willie Mays became a Met.

Grant explained how the deal was consummated. "I told Horace, 'Look, I know you don't want cash, but let me give it to you so that we can close this thing and then you can buy another player.'"

Stoneham, unable to talk the Mets into giving up another player besides Williams, a righthander now pitching for Tidewater in the International League, agreed to the cash settlement.

"Our club is not in bad shape financially," Stoneham said. "We don't need the money. The basis behind all this was Willie's future after he retires. The Mets were able to cope with it better than we were. I think this way it's better for Willie."

Mays said that he felt he could contribute to the Mets' pennant hopes this season. "You fellows gotta realize that the Mets have a pretty good team," Mays told newsmen. "They're not going to put me out there just because I'm Willie Mays. But I feel I can contribute."

"I'm not coming out here and saying, 'Here I am! Play me or I'll go back home.' I'll do what I always did, the best I can."

Padres bow to Phils in 12th

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Greg Luzinski's single with two out in the bottom of the 12th inning Thursday night gave the Philadelphia Phils a 6-5 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Terry Hairmon opened the inning with a walk and moved to second on a sacrifice by Larry Bowa. After Tim McCarver was intentionally walked and Willie Montanez struck out, Luzinski singled off Gary Ross to drive home the deciding run.

Report says salmon fishing holds own

LEWISTON (UPI)—The chairman of a Pacific Northwest River Basin commission committee said Thursday anadromous fish runs in the Columbia River system do not, on the whole, appear to be declining.

Dr. Edward Perry of the fish and wildlife committee said the major perils to fish runs are nitrogen supersaturation and passage at dams.

But, he said, "even with our problems, no where else in the world have migratory fish runs been maintained above a series

Foreman wins 36th bout in row

OAKLAND (UPI)—Highly ranked heavyweight George Foreman, former Olympic champion, scored an easy second-round knockout of Argentine veteran Miguel Paz Thursday night to continue his unbeaten string of 36 fights.

Foreman, 23, from nearby Hayward, finished the 32-year-old Paz with a soft series of rights and lefts at 2:29 of the round.

Thirty seconds earlier Foreman had knocked down his shaven-headed foe for an eight count.

In the first round, the 217-pound Foreman pushed Paz, 196, to the canvas twice but there was no count.

The knockout was the 33rd for Foreman, ranked as high as the third leading heavyweight contender in some quarters.

Paz, billed as the South American champion, has never been beaten 17 times in 69 bouts.

Electrocution of eagles studied

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Fish and Game Dept. reports 18 golden eagles have died as the result of electrocution during the winter season.

Joe Arnette, conservation officer in Buhl, said 18 eagles have perished on power poles during the eagle wintering period in the flat-rolling hills of southern Idaho.

Arnette said the electrocutions have occurred at the Blue Gulch Magic Water Project area with a few reported west of Rogerson. The birds, all young fowl, have touched high tension wires and died trying to find a perch.

"The birds use the power poles as perches because the poles are the only high vantage points in the area they can spot game from," said Arnette.

The eagles also use the poles as resting places.

The Idaho Fish and Game Dept. is currently negotiating with Idaho Power Co. to alleviate eagle mortality due to electrocution. So far, the negotiators have come up with three options.

The most immediate alternative, already approved by Idaho Power, will be to insulate some of the problem poles, poles with transformers attached. The transformers are used to power irrigation systems.

The second option will help during the winter when the transformers are not used. Idaho Power will simply disconnect the transformers and the connecting wires would no longer have current passing through them. The connecting wires are live and cause most of the electrocution deaths.

The third option is still under study. It would mean replacing problem poles with a new pole without exposed transformer wires. Idaho Power has given tentative approval to replacing worn out poles with the newer pole. The new pole is vertical and has no cross beam making a perching eagle sit in its top.

Idaho Power has hired Morley Nelson, Boise, as a consultant on the problem. Nelson is a nationally recognized expert on eagles and has worked for two decades with Walt Disney Productions on their features about predators.

ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY or get cut up for the frying pan was this 57 1/2 pound Mackinaw trout from Priest Lake. Lyle McClure, Spokane, poses with the reigning champion which he boated last fall. It measured 49 inches long and 32 1/2 inches in girth and exceeded the former "best" by three pounds.

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish and Game Dept.

Fishermen now do for sport what their cave man forebears did for food.

Indeed there seems to be a definite psychological overlap between man's desire to eat and his romantic and passionate love of angling.

It is supposed that because man's primitive ancestors fished for food, the lore of the pursuit got stuck in his nature and handed down like dew-claws on dogs or appendices in people.

This atavistic theory is not new. It can be illustrated quite simply. One of the sorriest situations brought to the attention of the Idaho Fish and Game Dept. each year concerns the angler who must be told that the fish he caught would have been a new state record — if only he had not eaten it.

A remedy for this is to clip the list of Idaho record fish (see box) and keep it handy just this side of the frying pan — say, in the tackle box or side pocket of fishing jacket.

The list is compiled by the department and updated every two years. Noting waters where the fish were taken and time of year, if available.

Steelhead run winds toward end

ELLIS — The steelhead run in the Pahsimeroi is finally starting to wind down.

The Idaho Fish and Game Dept. caught 4,401 adults during the run with an estimated 12 million eggs.

Tom Levendofsky, head man at the Pahsimeroi weir, said Thursday night the past four days have netted only 51 fish.

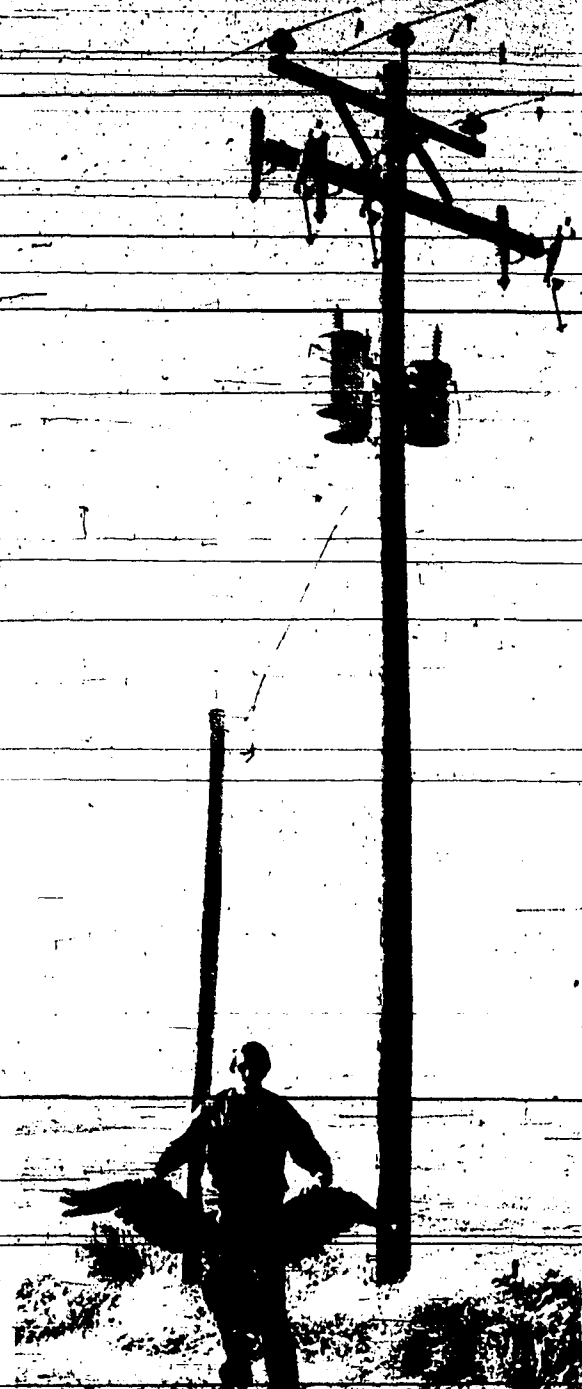

This compares with over 400 during the past few weeks.

So far the department had taken eight million eggs and Levendofsky reports 600 females still are in the holding ponds.

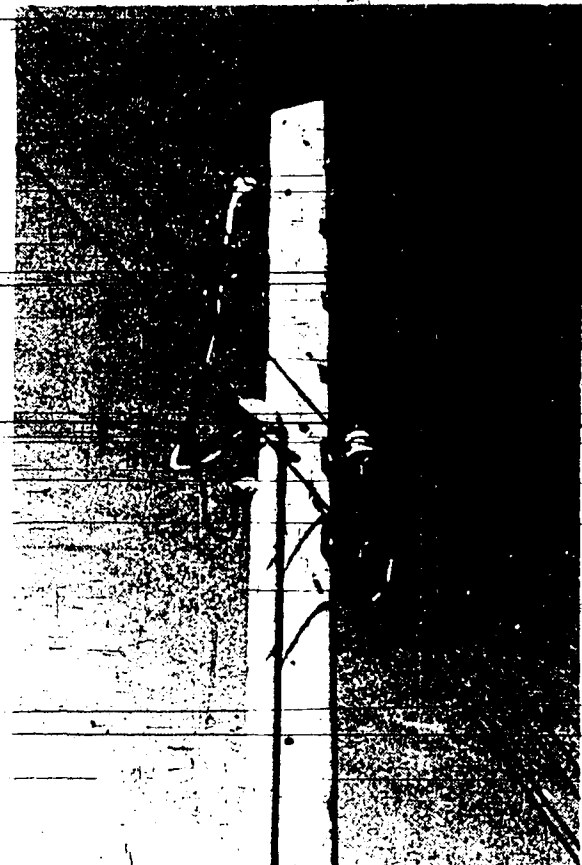

The estimated 12 million eggs — and resultant fry — will be used to increase the range of the planted fish along the main Salmon River and increase the top fishing area for Idaho fishermen.

Levendofsky said the slackening period was in tune with those of the past three years, noting he anticipated no more than 200 more adults coming into the weir by month's end.

In the meantime, the transporting of last year's hatch, reared in the Niagara Springs hatchery, has about been completed and all the department's facilities — and then some — will now be prepared for the new steelhead bumper crop.

REDUCTION of electrocution of Idaho's golden eagles is shown in these two photos. The eagles, 18 so far in western Twin Falls County, have died when their wing span touched the wires on the cross-beamed poles. The single pole, which Idaho Power will use in replacement, offers neither the perch nor the hazard.

Wildlife review

By STU MURRELL
Idaho Fish and Game Dept.

The larger animals protected by game laws in Idaho are deer, elk, moose, bighorn sheep, mountain goat, caribou, antelope, bison, cougar and bear.

The only small animals protected are the cottontail rabbit and all species of tree squirrels.

Deer and elk are the leading big game species and are abundant in many parts of the state. They are hunted each fall during general open seasons of varying length, though controlled hunts are conducted in a few minor areas where special conditions make them necessary.

A general hunt is open to hunting by anyone who is properly licensed and has not yet taken his legal limit of the species for the year. In a controlled hunt, the number of hunters is limited and a special permit is required for each particular hunt.

Moose, bighorn sheep, mountain goat and antelope are fairly rare and are found in limited areas, so these species are taken on a restricted basis. All of the hunting for these species is on a controlled hunt basis with a drawing for special permits required.

Any person wishing to enter a controlled hunt must file an official application. If there are more applications than there are permits to be issued, the proper number of applications is drawn from the total group by lot and permits issued to the hunters whose applications were drawn.

Applications are available from fish and game offices and vendors about mid-June.

Black bear (a species which shows wide color variations from jet black to light brown) seasons vary from open year around in some parts of southern Idaho to a season which is closed during the summer months in much of northern Idaho. The statewide limit is one bear per person per year.

Because of extreme rarity, caribou and grizzly bear are protected the year around and may not be hunted at all.

There are very few bison in Idaho, and no hunts for this species have been conducted for a long time.

Wendell, Homedale fight for regional A-3 title

TWIN FALLS — Like the old stuck record, Saturday's regional class A-3 track and field title should be a battle between Wendell and Homedale.

For several years it seems those two have been the ranking powers from the third and fourth districts and with only two in each event going on to state, they eliminate each other badly.

This year, perhaps as no other, the teams are in head-on competition. Its Alan Stevenson against Homedale's Alora in the 100-yard dash, its Stevenson and Kip Dennis against Alora in the 220-yard dash and its Dennis against Alora in the low hurdles. Dennis might also face his toughest challenge in the high hurdles.

Beman credits doctor with showing in Colonial tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Deane Beman, who ranks only 80th in money winnings on the tour, started the second round of the Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament just one stroke off the pace today. He gives all the credit to a one of its kind muscle machine.

The 34-year-old Beman, a former U.S. and British Amateur champion who has been bothered with tendonitis and back muscle problems in prior years, thinks he has found the way to lick the problem and points to his opening 67 to prove it.

That three-under-par performance left him one stroke off the pace being set by Texan Fred Marti and Australian Bruce Crampton, who shared the opening day lead with four-under-par 66s. And, it also left him tied with Bert Greene, Dave Stockton and rookie Leonard Thompson for third.

Maddox-led Texas downs Orioles 3-1

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Elliott Maddox stroked two doubles and a single and reliever Casey Cox preserved Bill Gogolewski's second victory Thursday night as the Texas Rangers downed the Baltimore Orioles, 3-1.

Cox, the third Ranger relief pitcher used by Ted Williams in the eighth inning, gained his first save of the season by getting Brooks Robinson on a fly ball with the bases loaded.

The Rangers scored twice off lower Jim Palmer when Maddox led off with a double in the first inning and Dave Nelson and Don Mincher walked to load the bases. Palmer walked Hal King to force across Maddox and an error by Bobby Grich on a ground ball scored Nelson from third base.

Harper drives Sox past Cal

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Tommy Harper drove in three runs with a triple and two singles and Reggie Smith connected for Boston's third homer of the year Thursday night to power the Red Sox to an 8-1 victory over the California Angels.

Ray Culp went all the way for the first time this season in improving his career record of 6-0 against California. The righthander, bothered by arm trouble last year, had the Angels shut out on four hits until they scored in the eighth on two singles and two fielder's choices.

Boston captures NFL Stanley Cup

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bobby Orr, still hobbled by an injured left knee, scored one power play goal and set up the first of Wayne Cashman's two goals Thursday night to give the Boston Bruins their second Stanley Cup in three years with a 3-0 victory over the New York Rangers.

Gerry Cheevers, who was passed over for his scheduled turn in the fifth game of this series after allowing 10 goals to New York in two starts, turned in a perfect job of goaltending with 33 saves as Boston won hockey's most coveted prize, four games to two, in the final.

As soon as the nationally televised game ended, the jubilant Boston players streamed onto the ice to congratulate themselves and accept the Stanley Cup from National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell. Johnny Bucyk, as the senior member of the team, made a victory lap of the rink with the cup just as he did two years ago when the Bruins clinched the championship against St. Louis.

Orr, who also scored the winning goal in overtime in the clincher against St. Louis, gave Cheevers all the margin he needed when his long shot went through a maze of New York and Boston skaters to beat Ranger goalie Gilles Villemure at 11:18 of the opening period. Walt Tkaczuk of New York was off for hooking at the time and Villemure appeared to be completely screened on the drive from just inside the blue line.

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES A day and evening when there is a considerable amount of activity, especially in connection with your desire to get all errands done, to improve your appearance, and to enjoy recreations. Make sure that you do handle all those property matters well, also.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you had about seeing charming and interesting friends, you get the fine ideas you need for the weeks and months ahead. Dive into that hobby that brings you more robust health, also.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) This is the day to plan improvements for home and to increase both value and appearance of any property you have. Show you are wise where budgeting is concerned. Stay within limits thereof.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be active with personal interests that are most vital to your welfare right now. Some good friends have the right ideas for you, so be sure to listen to what is being said. A fine alliance can come of this, too.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have to meditate quietly if you want to visualize the future more accurately, so keep out of the public eye and make important decisions. Study duties and documents and double check on facts and figures.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are sociable minded now and can make big headway socially today, tonight. Know what your personal goals actually are. Take the right steps to attain them with relative ease.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A good day to find out what higher-ups expect of you and just how you are going to accomplish in the near future what has been impossible before. Become involved in whatever is of a civic nature. Use tact, diplomacy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Find the right outlets that will help you expand and show you have exceptional ability. You are able to get the information you need from an expert. Use tact in going after it, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make good use of your intuition, and you get ahead faster in both personal and business life. An expert in your line of endeavor can be of tremendous help to you now. Contact this person early.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Instead of thinking you know it all, sit down with associates and have an exchange of ideas that are helpful to all concerned. Listen to what those in the business world have to suggest. Follow best ideas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can complete that work ahead of you in a most efficient way now, so persevere and all is fine. Doing whatever makes you feel better is wise during spare time. Try not to get yourself in Dutch with a bigwig.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to be with congenials for the fun and nonsense you enjoy with them. Plan just how to make the one you love much happier and thereby increase your own happiness. Avoid one who likes to stir up things for the fun of it.

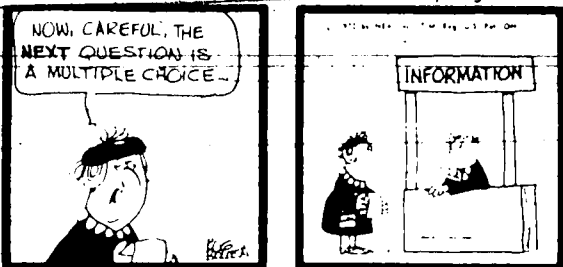

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) It may be that a close tie does not understand your ideas, so explain them carefully and you increase harmony at home. Plan to get more goodwill in the world of business, also. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who needs the company of others of own age early in life in order to mature into a well rounded, happy, alert individual. The life's profession should be chosen with a view to having much intermingling of other human beings for best results, greatest success, happiness. Anything connected with the humanities would be ideal. Be sure that religious teaching is given early, too.

Harpists Are Slim, Pretty

Most harpists own not just one but two of those $3,800 instruments. They, the harps, weigh 220 pounds each. And most harpists—exactly 95 out of 100, in fact—are girls, usually slender pretty things. Almost all possess great appeal to members of the opposite sex. That's good. No lady harpist would get far without the help of men.

IF YOUR dad told you to go get the snath under the soffit, what would you look for and where? So inquired a Montana client. Shrug. But research illuminates. I'd check the little closet beneath the hall steps. A soffit is the underside of a staircase. A snath is the handle of a scythe.

WHAT YOU suffer from, my little wallflower, is isophobia; if you're afraid to speak up at parties. Prevalent ailment, this. Most common treatment to date is self-administered measured doses of medicinal spirits. But that's bad. Knowledgeable doctors advise against it.

STOCKS

Women in general tend to be more successful than men in stock market investments, that's known now. A study at the University of Oklahoma indicates such.

HOW CAN you call your self a connoisseur of fine spirits if you're not familiar with Reverend and Convent? The sacramental wines.

THIS NOTION has been traditional among the movie makers. That almost any girl looks good coming down stairs. And almost none looks good going up. Exceptions? None, they say.

Most anatomy textbooks are illustrated with pictures of naked men alive or otherwise. Such has been the custom. That, too, is changing. About 20 medical schools, it's now reported, want anatomy textbooks with pictures of nude women. This is not the whimsical preference of scholars who like girly photos, oh no. Most patients are female. Thus, it's clear the medical students, they themselves insist, should concentrate their early attentions on the female body. Certainly.

IN WASHING the hands, a man tends to rub the soap back and forth between his palms quickly with a piston action while a woman is more apt to rub it in a rotary motion.

IN THEIR choice of instruments, music students prefer: 1. Piano. 2. Guitar. 3. Violin. 4. Accordion. 5. Clarinet. 6. Trumpet. 7. Flute. 8. Trombone. 9. Drums. 10. Saxophone. In that order.

Alaskan pipeline okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring that it is vital the United States reduce its dependence on oil imports, Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton Thursday granted a permit for right-of-way for the controversial Alaska pipeline.

Morton said his decision was in the national interest to "avoid all further delays" in developing huge oil fields on Alaska's North Slope. He rejected an alternate plan for construction of a pipeline across Canada, saying such a project would take several more years to complete. The Alaska pipeline has been fought by a coalition of environmental groups, which have contended it will damage the environment. The groups, which include the Environmental Defense Fund, said they would go to court to try to block government attempts to lift an injunction barring granting of the right-of-way permit.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., called the Morton decision a "blatant example of the interests of the oil industry superseding the public interest."

At Bellevue, Wash., officials of Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. the firm that will build the pipeline said construction could not start until next year because of the pending court action. Company spokesmen said "every precaution will be taken to safeguard against environmental risks."

The pipeline would run almost 800 miles from the North Slope to the port of Valdez, where the oil would be loaded on tankers for shipment to West Coast refineries. The North Slope field is the largest ever found in the United States. It is believed to contain 10 billion barrels of oil and 26 trillion feet of natural gas.

Conservationists have argued that the pipeline would cause irreparable damage to the fragile Arctic environment and create the danger of oil spills from the tankers carrying the oil south. Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club, one of the largest and most influential conservation groups, said the Morton decision would "confront us with the worst possible combination of long-range results." He said the Canadian route was inevitable and "we will eventually wind up with two damaging pipeline routes where one would suffice."

Morton argued environmental costs and risks would be involved in any route.

"On the other hand, the United States vitally needs the Prudhoe Bay oil and we need this oil delivered to our West Coast as promptly and safely as possible," Morton said.

Students speak to chamber

RUPERT — Chris McKim and Mark Ingram were guest speakers at the Thursday Rupert Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Miss McKim, outgoing student body president of Minico High School, and Ingram, incoming student body president, discussed the past year's school activities and plans for the coming year.

Miss McKim mentioned a student council telescope building project, saying when completed, the instrument would be donated to the science class. She noted that she feels that projects on which any student can work are good for the school.

"The past year has been special to me and I have enjoyed being on the program at various times during the year at the chamber. It is good to have the community informed of events and activities of the school," Miss McKim said.

Ingram reported on plans for the coming year, mentioning an expansion of the board of reviews and suggesting more "do it yourself" projects to get students involved.

He also announced he plans to spend one-half hour each day in the student office to visit with students and hear problems and suggestions.

"We are working on plans to promote a larger vocational program at the school," he added.

The meeting was conducted by Pete Ford, chamber president. William Strasser and Ford reported briefly on the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce quarterly meeting they both attended. Topics discussed were regional airport, feasibility study update for regional airport, and toll-free telephone service in Magic Valley.

Arrests up since talk

By United Press International
The arrest total since President Nixon announced mining of North Vietnam harbors neared the 2,000 mark today in antiwar demonstrations across the country which have led to increased violence and injuries. Eleven persons were wounded by birdshot when police clashed with 500 demonstrators on the University of New Mexico campus. Some 300 demonstrators were arrested when they tried to block the gates of Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts. Witnesses said police in Albuquerque, N.M., fired into the crowd of demonstrators with a shotgun. The University of New Mexico health center said 10 persons were treated for superficial birdshot wounds and Presbyterian Hospital treated one youth for similar wounds. A 22-year-old coed, wounded by a shotgun blast at Albuquerque Tuesday, remained in serious condition. In Massachusetts, the 300 demonstrators arrested for blocking the gates of Westover AFB included Dr. John William Ward, president of Amherst College, and Julia Mendelhall, wife of the president of Smith College. Bill Walton, all-American center of UCLA's NCAA championship basketball team, was one of several students arrested on the UCLA campus at Los Angeles. City officials at Gainesville, Fla., vowed to prohibit further street barricades as arrests grew to 389 since the protests began. About 45 persons were arrested when police used tear gas to break up a road block at Tampa by University of South Florida students. In Boston, 500 demonstrators started fires on street car tracks and barricaded a major street with cement blocks. Two newsmen were injured by rocks reportedly thrown at them by demonstrators. Police dispersed the crowd with tear gas and dogs. Iowa highway patrolmen arrested several students when they managed to partially block traffic on Interstate 80 north of Iowa City. Police drove back a crowd of about 600 demonstrators by firing smoke into the crowd, but about 75 persons managed to reach the highway. Police then cleared the highway with tear gas. At least 23 persons were arrested in Carbondale, Ill.

First treaty

BONN (UPI)—East and West Germany today initiated the first treaty ever worked out between the two halves of the divided nation. The pact covered improved road, rail and canal traffic. East Germany also undertook to allow its citizens to visit West Germany to attend to "urgent family matters". It would be the first time East Germans have been allowed to visit West Germany since the Communists built the Berlin wall Aug. 13, 1961.

Security tightened

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—U.S. military officials tightened security precautions on bases throughout Europe today following a chain of explosions which ripped through the headquarters of the Army's V Corps Thursday night, killing one officer and injuring 13. An Army spokesman said commanders were instructed to take measures "necessary to insure the security of their installations," including checks of license plates and identification cards of all persons entering bases. The dead officer was identified as Lt. Col. Paul Bloomquist, 39, of Salt Lake City, Utah, a member of the Army Medical Service Corps. The officer was killed when three bombs went off almost simultaneously near the I.G. Farben Building and the adjacent Terrace Officer's Club in downtown Frankfurt. Police said the bombs may have been planted by U.S. Army deserters.

On any given day, nearly 1.3 million persons are patients in U. S. hospitals.

McGovern victory predicted

By United Press International
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he thinks George McGovern could win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot by taking the vital California primary. In Maryland, 75 blacks threw rocks and bottles at Gov. George C. Wallace.

Muskie, asked in an interview Thursday on public television if McGovern could win the nomination on the first ballot with a victory in California, responded, "I think so."

He called California with the convention's second biggest bloc—271 delegates—"critically important" by itself and for its impact on the June 20 primary in New York, which has 278 delegates.

About 75 young blacks threw rocks and bottles at Wallace Thursday night at a rally in the change of winning Tuesday's farming and small factory county of Frederick. Earlier in suburban Washington, Wallace said "The federal bureaucrats have kowtowed to the people who make the noise and have ignored the average citizen of Maryland," then ducked as teen-age hecklers threw pennies and ice cream bars.

It was the second series of disruptions for Wallace in Maryland where he has run consistently well in previous campaigns and is given a good chance of winning Tuesday's primary. Last week at Hagerstown, four blacks were arrested for heckling at a Wallace rally.

Pass charged with murder

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UPI)—Albert W. Pass, 51, a member of the decision making International Executive Board of the United Mine Workers, was charged with murder Thursday in the Yablonski slayings. The short stocky lifelong employe of the UMW stood impassively as he was charged with three counts of murder in the Dec. 31, 1969 shooting deaths of UMW leader Joseph A. Yablonski, his wife and daughter in their home in nearby Clarksville, Pa. Washington County Judge Thomas J. Gladden set arraignment for May 19. A 22-page confession by Silous Huddleston was attached to the formal charges presented to Gladden. Huddleston, 63, president of a small UMW local in La Follette, Tenn., said in his confession that Pass funnelled $15,000 in union funds to him to pay the killers, and dictated the timing and method of the murders. Huddleston will be called to testify at Pass's arraignment here, according to special prosecutor Richard A. Sprague.

Pass, secretary-treasurer of UMW District 19 covering Kentucky and Tennessee, was the seventh person to be indicted. Three have confessed and turned state's evidence. Two men accused of doing the actual killings have been convicted and sentenced to death. Yablonski was slain three weeks after he lost a bitter campaign for the UMW presidency to incumbent W. A. "Tony" Boyle, and a week before he was to testify to a federal grand jury investigating his charges against the union of illegal conduct of the election.
