By DEAN REYNOLDS

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI)

George C. Wallace is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of spinal injury from a bullet wound at the hands of a would-be assassin, doctors reported today. They said he was making a remarkable recovery but that the paralysis could be permanent.

Even as the 52-year-old Alabama governor fought back from the attempted assassination Monday afternoon at a big shopping center in Laurel, Md., while campaigning for today's Maryland Democratic presidential primary, a top aide predicted Wallace would resume his campaign.

Billy Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, said: "He will campaign from a wheel chair if necessary." Wallace's wife indicated she would fill in for him until he was able to campaign personally.

Camp said the paralysis that afflicts Wallace "could very well be temporary." He added, "we should know in 48 hours."

One of Wallace's surgeons conceded in response to newsmen's questions that "there is a possibility of permanent paralysis." He said, "His legs show paralysis with loss of sensation from the hips down."

The young white man who allegedly critically wounded Wallace, and threw the presidential election year into turmoil, was pounced on quickly by spectators and police and was held in tight federal custody today in Baltimore.

The suspect's father said he "must have been awfully sick."

Wallace, with a bullet still lodged near his spine after an operation that lasted nearly five hours Monday night, was described as in good spirits although in pain.

As Maryland and Michigan voters were casting ballots in Democratic presidential primaries which Wallace had been favored to win, one of the surgeons who conducted the operation at Holy Cross hospital in Silver Spring gave this prognosis:

"I think the governor is making a recovery ... He looks much better ... But I think it is wise to keep any patient with a wound of this magnitude on the critical list. No one is completely out of danger with this kind of wound for three or four days."

That was the outlook given this morning by Dr. Joseph Schanno, one of a six-man team of surgeons who performed the operation at the hospital just outside Washington.

But on the question of whether Wallace might have suffered permanent paralysis of his legs—as a result of the principal wound—a point blank shot into his abdomen—Schanno said the situation was unchanged.

Schanno said late Monday night that "there is a possibility of permanent paralysis" of Wallace's legs and at a news briefing shortly before 8:30 a.m. EDT today, he said "the paralysis condition remains the same."

The bullets that struck down

Wallace as he appeared to be reaching the apex of his campaign—with the possibility of two major northern victories in the same day—were fired just after he finished a speech at the sprawling Laurel Plaza shopping center, on Washington's northern outskirts.

Police and spectators pounced immediately on the alleged gunman—identified later as Arthur Herman Bremer, 21, of Milwaukee. He was wearing Wallace buttons and like some other supporters, sported a red, white and blue shirt, same color socks and had a Wallace skimmer on his head.

Bremer was roughed up in being subdued and was taken to another hospital for observation before being whisked late Monday night to Baltimore where he was arraigned on two federal charges.

Bremer, who had been seen earlier in the day at another Wallace rally in Wheaton, Md., was accused of violating a law, passed by Congress after the Robert F. Kennedy assassination in 1968.

Connally out, Shultz in WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, a longtime power in Texas Democratic politics, resigned his Cabinet post today with a strong hint he will campaign for President Nixon's re-election in November.

Standing side by side in the White House Press Room, Nixon and Connally exchanged high praise for each other's performance in the 17 months the Texan has been in the Republican administration. Asked if he would actively work on Nixon's behalf in the coming campaign, Connally replied, "That is entirely possible." Nixon announced that he was nominating George P. Shultz, head of the powerful Office of Management and Budget OMB, to succeed Connally, who will stay on until Shultz is confirmed.

Last week Connally, the only Democrat in Nixon's cabinet, told newsmen he was "not in the process of changing parties" but added "the possibility certainly exists that I could do so."

"I have nothing but the profoundest admiration for the President," Connally said. "He has my complete support ... I don't know that I've ever worked with anyone more dedicated and more disciplined than is the present President of the United States."

There was speculation last year that Connally might be selected by Nixon to replace Vice President Spiro T. Agnew on the 1972 ticket. The President indicated strongly a few months ago that he saw no need for dropping Agnew.

Red HQ Hit

By BERT W. OKULEY
SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command reported today that F4 Phantoms had attacked and destroyed several buildings at North Vietnam's Air Defense Command on the outskirts of Hanoi and shattered a pipeline that delivered most of North Vietnam's oil for its offensive in the South.

Hanoi Radio said today that the U. S. Navy had resumed mining North Vietnam's harbors.

Capt. J.D. Ward, commander of the carrier USS Constellation, reported new attacks against the North Monday and said, "We are fighting to win now."

The U.S. command, in a report on the seven days of intense bombing of North Vietnam, said the American planes struck the vital Air Defense headquarters at Bach Mai Air Field just south of Hanoi, site of the sophisticated electronic devices that control such air defenses as Russian built SAM missiles.

Expanding CSI increases budget

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho Trustees approved a new budget Monday, raising spending by 12.1 per cent.

The new 1972-73 budget calls for expenditures of $2.72 million, up about $300,000 from last year.

Total local taxes will raise $614,000 of the total. State distributed funds will supply about $1.356 million with student tuition and fees and out-of-district county tuition providing about $313,000.

The new budget reflects a continuing trend toward higher state funding and federal funding distributed through the state.

In the new budget, 68.8 per cent of tax support comes from the state, while 31.2 per cent comes from the two-county junior college district.

Last year, the local share of tax support had been higher at 35.2 per cent, while state distributed funds had been 64.8 per cent.

The 1971-72 budget was $2.42 million of which $594,000 was raised from the taxing district of Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

The 1972-73 budget includes $614,461 from local taxing sources.

The 1972-73 anticipated mill levy will gather $400,000 for maintenance and operation and $214,424 for bond redemption and interest from the two-county district.

The increase in local source revenue from taxes is due to an increase in assessed valuation of about $2.5 million and an increased tax assessment ratio, despite a slight drop in mill levies. Major increases are budgeted for total teacher salaries.

Salaries in the academic branch of the college are up from $640,200 to $725,800 and in the vocational branch from $332,480 to $401,021, reflecting an overall teacher salary increase of about 5 per cent.

CSI president James L. Taylor said today the college hopes to hire at least eight more full-time instructors.

He said at least three hundred full and part-time students are anticipated, to raise full and part time student population to about 3,100.

Currently there are 24 full-time vocational instructors and additional part-time instructors.

Academic faculty now includes 55 full-time instructors and up to 20 part time instructors, he said.

Mishap kills TF man

TWIN FALLS — An early morning traffic accident today in Twin Falls claimed the life of John Albert Brown, Jr., 25, Twin Falls.

City police said Brown was traveling north in the 1000 block of Locust Street, between Maple Avenue and 11th Avenue East, at a high rate of speed. The accident was reported at 12:10 a.m.

His vehicle crossed to the left of the center of the street, went off the pavement and crashed into a tree, officers said.

County Coroner Cloyce Edwards found the driver dead at the scene.

He said no autopsy would be held and no inquest scheduled. He said the driver apparently died instantly. The victim was alone in the car.

Police said the tree was the property of John W. Anderson, 1437 Maple Ave.

The victim's body was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. Funeral services are pending at White Mortuary.

Officers said the Brown vehicle was demolished with the entire front and left side crushed by the impact.

It was the first traffic fatality of 1972 within the city. (Related picture p. 2)

Throats cut

JEROME — Vandalism has taken the form of killing farm animals here.

Mrs. Ray Chugg reported to the Twin Falls sheriff's department that vandals killed two of her cows sometime last night, near the Jerome Golf Course.

She said the throat of a heifer in a feed lot was slit and another in the pasture was shot to knock the cow down. The animal's throat was then slit and the side of its head cut up.

Mrs. Chugg said there seemingly was no reason for the actions.

Jerome boy dies in wreck

JEROME — A 6-year-old Jerome boy died Tuesday night in a single-car accident on a county road northeast of Jerome.

Sheriff James Burns, who investigated the accident at 7:30 p.m. a half mile east of the state game bird farm, said John Murphy, 6, son of Mrs. Eileen Murphy, died at the accident scene.

The child was riding in a small vehicle driven by his aunt, Kathleen Brose, Jerome, who suffered injuries but is listed in "satisfactory" condition today in the St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome.

Sheriff Burns said the woman was driving west on the county road and apparently lost control of the vehicle. It left the roadway and rolled over once, throwing the small passenger out as it rolled. The accident occurred at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The vehicle was demolished. Funeral services are pending in Jerome.

Gov. Wallace paralyzed

Schanno said it still was not altogether certain how many bullets struck Wallace. He added, "There were two bullets in his body. One was removed." Besides being struck in the abdomen, Wallace also was hit in the chest, and apparently also suffered an arm wound.
Schanno, a vascular surgeon, said Wallace spent "a quiet and peaceful night" and that this morning "he's in GOOD spirits," emphasizing "good." But Schanno said Wallace is in pain.
Schanno said surgeons had no immediate plans to remove the bullet lodged near Wallace's lower spine because of the possibility that the removal might cause further damage to the spinal column. He said the decision to attempt a removal would be left to neurosurgeons.
"I think the governor is going to make a recovery," Schanno said. "What disability he has as a result of these wounds is difficult to evaluate at this time. We are very optimistic at this point."
Schanno said two of Wallace's personal physicians had joined the medical team at Holy Cross hospital.

TF City Council discusses policy

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — City officials in Twin Falls decided Monday night to take a new look at the current policy on curb and gutter requirements.
Earlier this year the city adopted a policy requiring curb and gutter installation on all new construction or major improvement sites. Since that time several requests from builders have been received each week seeking deferment from the regulations.
Councilman Paul Ostyn said he believes in view of this there must be something wrong with the policy as it fits so few situations. Mayor John Christoffersen appointed Councilmen Tom Nelson, Dr. Stephen Lincoln and Ostyn to study the curb and gutter regulations and give the council some new guidelines to follow. Dale Riedesel, consulting engineer, told the council Monday night the bid opening for this year's airport improvement work is set for Friday at 10 a.m. in the city hall. He said considerable interest has been shown by contractors. Councilmen were invited to attend the bid opening.

In other business the council approved a request from the Robinson Family Drive-In for construction of a home south of the drive-in but in the commercial general area. They also discussed a request from Regal Manufacturing Co. for city water and sewer to serve 38 lots on which they plan to locate their homes just south of the city limits.
The firm had asked the city to install a 450-foot main water

US Navy mines harbor

Of immediate importance to the Communist offensive in the northern areas of South Vietnam was the command's reports that the air raids, averaging 157 a day for a week, had destroyed all pumping stations along the coastal pipeline delivering oil through the DMZ.
The command said the line had a capacity of 1,320 tons of oil daily—435,000 gallons—for the tanks, armored personnel carriers and supply trucks being used by the Communists in the buildup for an expected assault on the city of Hue.
There was no indication how long it would take the North Vietnamese to repair the pipeline if daily bombing raids permitted them to do so. Pentagon sources reported Monday that American planes also had mined rivers and canals in North Vietnam to cut the flow of supplies. Other raids concentrated on railways, highways and key bridges.
There was no indication the North Vietnamese had succeeded in sweeping mines from any of the harbors—the Pentagon has reported no mine sweeping activity. But some of them could be swept out to sea by tidal currents.

Vietnam top Demo issue

BY HUGH DAVIS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Vietnam question will be one of the main issues area Democrats will take to the state democratic convention at Sun Valley.

Local Democrats, among them 16 state delegates and three legislative district chairmen, met Monday night with the executive secretary of the Idaho Democratic Central Committee to discuss party platform ideas.

Secretary Nolan Hancock told the group at Twin Falls County courthouse that the discussion process was changed this year.

Hancock said, normally state leaders make speeches in favor of this or that issue and hope the suggestion makes its way to the convention. He invited the local people to make the speeches last night.

The issue that drew the most response from the audience was the Vietnam conflict, what it is doing to America's stature in the international picture and the effect it is having on the country's economy.

Part of the blame for the Vietnam War fell on the shoulders of the U. S. Congress.

A Cassia County man said those men should be granted amnesty because amnesty was instituted after World War II.

Congress was, though withholding a war declaration, actually supporting the war by not severing funds used to fund it.

Some farming Democrats asked if federal money could be used for a farm credit system and suggested the money come from funds normally used for defense. Adherents said the credit system would help stabilize the agricultural economic situation.

Cassia County Democrat, Karen Mavity, spoke in favor of kindergartens and said she also is in favor of 100 per cent state support of education if the money did not come from property taxes.

She said she wasn't sure of what method would be most effective but that a state sales tax may be a step in the right direction. Some of the audience asked why money spent in Vietnam should not, instead, be used for education in the United States.

The audience left several questions unresolved including amnesty for those men who evaded the draft or fled to other countries to avoid service in Vietnam. Some Democrats felt

CSI trustees approve policy

TWIN FALLS — By a vote of two to one, College of Southern Idaho trustees Monday night approved a policy regarding CSI employees running for public office.

Eldon Evans moved that CSI allow any faculty member to serve on city councils or local school boards, but if they are elected to any other post they be required to resign.

The motion precipitated lengthy discussion among the three board members present. In backing his motion, Evans said he believed these are probably the only public offices

TWIN FALLS — Final inspection of the College of Southern Idaho's newest building will be at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, told trustees Monday night that state public works representatives, CSI personnel and representatives of the contracting and architectural firms will be on campus to go through the buildings.

Dr. Taylor said he anticipated no problems in being able to accept the building on Wednesday.

Also Monday night Dr. Taylor told trustees he will meet with the Idaho Board of Education May 30 and 31 in Boise to make request for junior college funds, including $2.8 million for CSI for vocational construction.

The building which is due for acceptance Wednesday is the first vocational education building on the CSI campus. The school presently operates programs in several rented and

TF irrigation problems eyed

TWIN FALLS — Irrigation problems involving areas in the city using ditch water but not part of the city's irrigation system are anticipated.

City Manager Jean Milar told city officials Monday most of the problems now will iron themselves out as soon as the irrigation water run is fully underway.

In areas where water users are continuing to irrigate with ditch water but are not part of the city district, they are responsible for their own ditch maintenance, Milar said.

In the event of an emergency where these ditches are not maintained and water backs up to threaten other property owners the city will take action to clear them of debris or otherwise correct the situation, Milar said.

Where the problem is confined to difficulties between water users or poor maintenance preventing suitable delivery to properties not in the district, he said, the city ordinance prohibits the city from cleaning the ditches or ordering water users to observe regulations.

Only in areas within the district can the city regulate the

AAUW loan fund aired

TWIN FALLS — Representatives of the American Association of University Women appeared Monday night at the College of Southern Idaho board meeting to explain the group's loan fund.

Mrs. James Bondurant, Kimberly, representing the Twin Falls branch of the AAUW, said that chapter presently has about $1,000 available for tuition and book loans for students at CSI.

The funds are available for both men and women students.

Mrs. Bondurant said about 200 CSI students have taken advantage of the loan fund and that 100 per cent pay back is being made.

The women also gave to CSI trustees copies of a study done by the national AAUW regarding the role of women in the academic community. Mrs. Bondurant said the booklet could be used as a self analysis tool when looking at female versus male employment standards.

Get Pushers Off The Streets

WASHINGTON — If all goes even fairly well for Myles Ambrose's posse of rat catchers, Mafia chieftains will rue the day they decided to go into the dope peddling racket.

The Drug Abuse Law Enforcement Agency (DALE), founded less than five months ago with the energetic, bull-like Ambrose as its head, is now by business. Its aim is to reduce the availability of heroin by tossing the dope pushers in jail on any old charge that can be dredged up against them — income tax fraud, carrying a concealed weapon, bribery, spitting on the sidewalk.

"We want to drive the pushers off the streets," says Ambrose. "So we're going to harass them night and day, by every available legal means."

To this end, special grand juries have to be empaneled in Washington and in two boroughs of New York — Manhattan and Brooklyn. They will hear witnesses' testimony not only on junk peddling but on the life style of suspected drug traffickers, whose spending habits usually require the outlay of more money than they declare on their income tax returns. The Mafia or other drug dealer who buys a $100,000 home in Miami Beach will be investigated to determine whether he told the Internal Revenue Service the truth about his financial condition.

The prying will be done by DALE's organization of lawyers, agents of the Bureau of Customs, the IRS, the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and the local and state law enforcement units in 33 of the country's largest cities.

Already, according to the IRS, 413 suspected heroin dealers who evaded criminal prosecution have been targeted nationwide for income tax investigations.

DALE is coming up tough. Under the prodding of Ambrose, its hard-nosed lawmen will use preventive detention, high bail bonds and accelerated court trials in prosecuting their cases. In arguing for preventive detention, DALE's fast guns will make a point long obvious to law enforcement agencies — that the dope pusher who is released on bond is back on the street the next day.

If the judge refuses to hold the defendant, the government then will ask that bail bonds running into hundreds of thousands of dollars be set to insure that the pusher or dealer shows up for his trial. This could be the easier alternative; given the seriousness of the drug problem, judges in recent months have been imposing bail of $250,000 and up in many narcotics cases. In Miami, two cocaine smugglers were held in $1-million bail each.

It is too early, for even faint optimism, but there are signs the narcotics racket already is feeling the heat. Ambrose points out that the quality of heroin in New York City and Washington has deteriorated in recent months, and prices have increased. One result of this is that more addicts are flocking to treatment centers — addicts who stole an average of $50 a day to support their habit.

Meanwhile, a Washington man arrested for alleged drug possession was charged by the IRS with failing to pay $264,974.86 in Federal income taxes over the past five years. A Baltimore grand jury returned criminal income tax indictments against five others, Washington's 10 most active heroin wholesalers are under investigation for tax evasion.

Maybe the income tax route will prove the surest way to stash these creeps away in some overly disinfected dungeon. The campaign worked against Prohibition — Era racketeers such as Al Capone, and it is similarly tailored to narcotics big shots who tend to live it up in a style unsupportable by their income tax returns. If I were a dope pusher these days, I'd be ruddy careful to avoid even looking mean, lest Ambrose & Co. get me for scaring kids.

Menopause

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain if having had a thyroidectomy makes any difference for a woman of 50 in going through menopause? My thyroid was removed 15 years ago, and I've heard such awful stories about thyroidectomy patients ending up in institutions during menopause. I can't seem to find the answer to my question in any article or book I've read. — Mrs. S.G.C.

Neither thyroidectomy nor menopause puts people in institutions — but quite possibly the people who propagate such scare stories may have had some effect on the emotional equilibrium of the people who listen to them.

Removal of the thyroid gland (part of it, that is, since part of it is usually left in) has no bearing on menopause, and that's why you haven't been able to find any articles about it.

It may be, depending on how much of the thyroid was removed, that you may need thyroid medication (or maybe you are already taking it).

Other than that, menopause will proceed at whatever rate is normal for you, and it certainly won't put you in an institution.

You will feel much more at ease about menopause itself if you'll read my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." For a copy, send 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of Times News.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What can a person do when she's afraid to be alone? It doesn't matter if it's day or night, but after dark is worse for me. It seems like I am constantly holding my breath.

I'm too old to have such a hangup. I've talked to others about it, but they just tell me how silly I am. My husband gets irritated and tells me to grow up.

I've sat for hours telling myself I have nothing to be afraid of, but I can't convince myself. Is there anything I can do? — T.Y.

These hangups may be "silly" but they are real. Something, of which you yourself are not aware, has caused this unreasonable anxiety.

It is quite possible that a psychiatrist, in only a few visits, could find a clue to unravel this riddle. He might or might not use some medication to help along. Whether you'll take my advice, I don't know — but that's it.

The Pipeline

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel did gain one important objective during her first-of-its-kind visit to Rumania.

Both President and Communist party leader Nicolae Ceausescu and Premier, Ion Gheorghe Maurer, personally assured her that more Rumanian Jews will be allowed to migrate to Israel.

There was no hint of this consequential promise in the joint communiqué issued at the conclusions of Mrs. Meir's three-day stay.

In fact, nothing was said at any time about this significant matter either before or after her trip. Instead, public attention was centered on the possibility of Rumania acting as intermediary in bringing the Arabs and Jews to a negotiating table. Press and radio-TV coverage was concentrated entirely on that.

That was eminently agreeable to Prime Minister Meir and her Rumanian hosts. By mutual consent they were in full accord on the desirability of maintaining a total blackout on the touchy and explosive immigration issue.

But in her talks with Ceausescu and Maurer, Mrs. Meir found them willing to make some concessions on permitting more Rumanian Jews to go to Israel. No formal agreement was sought or made, but the Rumanian leaders did give assurances that existing restrictions would be moderated.

Just what and how much that means only time will tell.

But on its face, her verbal commitment is a notable diplomatic triumph for Mrs. Meir — which could have far-reaching impact on both Russia and other Iron Curtain countries that are much tougher than Rumania toward their Jewish nationals.

Last year, some 2,000 Rumanian Jews were allowed to migrate to Israel.

Reportedly, another 25,000 have applied for permission to leave. Rumania's Jewish population is around 100,000. They numbered more than 800,000 before World War II, upwards of half of them were slaughtered by the Fascist regimes. For a while, the Communists permitted a large-scale exodus, but later imposed strict limitations.

In other respects, the Ceausescu government is the most liberal of the Iron Curtain countries in the treatment of its Jewish citizens. They have full freedom to exercise their religion, and there are few restrictions on their going to schools and holding government and other jobs. Jews are particularly prominent among Rumanian scientists and other technical professions.

Unquestionably, a key factor in the friendly relations between Israel and Rumania is a little-known pipeline that carries vital crude oil supplies from Iran to Rumania.

Extending from the port of Aqaba, to the port of Ashkelon on the Mediterranean, this Israeli-owned and operated pipeline attained crucial importance in the international oil trade after the shutdown of the Suez Canal following Egypt's crushing defeat in the 1967 war. More than 50 per cent of the oil Rumania needs for its booming petrochemical industry is transported through this pipeline from Iran.

Because of Arab hostility, both Rumania and Israel maintain tight secrecy regarding both the existence and operation of the Eilat-Ashkelon pipeline. But among knowledgeable oilmen, the facility is known as one of Israel's most successful and profitable enterprises — in more ways than one.

Union Power

Union power is needed now. The jobs of American workers are threatened on a new front. Eighteen per cent of all steel bought and used in the United States this year was produced overseas.

Our nation's industrial backbone is made of steel. It's that tough spine of steel that holds everything else together. Yet each recent year we have bought more and more steel from other countries. This year almost 1-5 of all of it!

That means that one out of five of America's steelworkers has been replaced by somebody overseas.

And there are parallels in many basic industries. Presently our nation is prosperous, riding high, setting production records, approaching "full employment."

But with the slightest slump the hurt will be felt first and worst by Americans rendered jobless because so much of what we use is now imported.

Unions are mindful of this potential menace. The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education is advising union members that much residual unemployment in the United States results from "foreign imports" and American manufacturers moving manufacturing operations overseas.

And the committee acknowledges that one factor driving our manufacturers overseas is the higher costs of production in the United States.

The union publication does not acknowledge that higher stateside wages are largely responsible for those higher costs.

And they are, of course.

Detroit does not prefer to turn out tin cars, but with our auto workers demanding two to ten times more pay per hour than Germans, Swedes, French and Japanese workers — Detroit cannot produce as much "car for the money" as those nations can.

The AFL-CIO committee is urging Congress to approve the Burke-Hartke bill which would build a tariff wall between those other nations and us to keep the U. S. market to ourselves.

Such a move, of course, would result in higher prices for American consumers.

Also, retaliation from other nations would be immediate; what foreign markets American firms do have would be shut off. What big labor prefers to ignore is that American wages are out of line with the rest of the world. We must temper our demands for further increases until the rest of the world catches up.

If labor will allow that to happen, it will help restore balance between overseas prices and our own, it will keep our factories humming supplying the home front and the overseas appetite.

Union power is needed now on the new front. In the interests of the members, it must adapt itself to the changing need.

A Tragedy

It is nothing more than tragic when it becomes necessary to close two such much needed and much used recreational areas as Dierkes Lake and the Shoshone Falls area.

But the tragedy is here. The closure — during nighttime hours — will start this week. And it all comes because of an increase in vandalism in both areas. Jean Milar, city manager, says signs, plumbing fixtures, benches, fences — you name it — are being destroyed.

So from now on, through the period the areas would be most beneficial to residents of this section and visitors, Dierkes Lake will be "locked" at 10 p.m. and Shoshone Falls at midnight. People wishing to camp there overnight — and hundreds of visitors do that through the travel season — will find it difficult to do so. They will have to acquire special permits to camp and scores of tourists will not have the time to try to do that. Also, many tourists will sense something is wrong with the area when it must be locked up and therefore will camp somewhere else — perhaps even in another community.

The individuals who engage in such acts of vandalism as those requiring the closing of these two popular areas should be ashamed. The people of our community — those who do not engage in vandalism as a "hobby" — should also be ashamed.

Come to think of it, we ARE ashamed.

A major portion of the damage has been traced to juveniles. Today, that means boys and girls under 18 years of age.

So we would ask parents to ask themselves each evening about 10 p.m. "do you know where your children are?"

Equal Rights

The Constitution of the United States grants equal rights under the law to all Americans, regardless of race, color, creed, or national origin and the current divisive emphasis on minority rights, including women, requires only a broad interpretation of what generally has been taken for granted, not an amendment to the basic law of the land.

Sixteen states have ratified the ill-advised amendment to give equal rights to women, while only four — California, Oklahoma, Vermont and Connecticut — have rejected it. Approval by 22 additional states is required before it can become law.

A jubilee in Washington by various women's organizations may prove to be premature but its real purpose is not jubilation but to generate more heat on state legislatures to adopt the amendment, which would create a chaotic situation by invalidating hundreds of justified state laws which are based on the obvious fact that men and women are different. No amount of legislation can change that. Recognition of the American ideal of equality under the law is all that is needed. Otherwise, there will be endless nitpicking over special rights of every kind of group, the aged, the young, the black, the Chicano, the Indian, and who knows what.

Equal rights under law doesn't mean the nation should paint itself into a corner, raising all kinds of silly questions, such as co-educational restrooms, military draft of women, and equal liability for alimony and child custody.

The amendment would raise far more difficulties than it would solve. It is entirely, pardon the expression, too broad. Constitutional and legal scholars are appalled by the possible ramifications.

Because this is an election year and the so-called women's vote is being courted, the loud "libbers" are getting more attention than they deserve, while the silent majority of women is ignored. The election will pass and common sense may yet prevail.

Archeological

Spring and summer are times for members of historical associations to hit for the field. Trips are even now scheduled for the Burley group to Silver City and the Twin Falls unit to Bruneau Canyon.

There is another type "history" being pursued in a much larger field. It is archeological in nature.

Archeology traditionally has centered much of its attention on biblical locations in Europe and Asia. Therefore it is something of a shock to realize American archeologists are racing the clock — and man-made dams — to rescue as much of North American early history as they can to preserve old cultures of this relatively new land for future generations.

All over the United States scarce water supplies are being replenished by water conservation projects.

Archeologists are trying to beat the water to the sites and excavate as much of the remains of early American civilizations as possible. But lack of manpower and funds doom many of the sites to the water before they can be salvaged.

Most American history books touch lightly, if at all, on the 10,000 years of civilization which existed on these shores before the arrival of the white man. But excavations of former Indian settlements made by the archeologists trying to outrace the dam complexes have uncovered several extinct civilizations of surprising advancement.

The trail of large settlements across the open expanse of America testifies to a way of life quite different from that observed by the early white settlers.

As contrasted to the nomadic, warlike Indians who greeted the early western settlers on the plains, centuries earlier the inhabitants of the West lived largely sedentary lives in well established villages.

Population explosions, the ravages of long dry spells, the declination of the bison long before the white man was here to thin its ranks for sport. The introduction of the long house thousands of years before historians had previously credited its invention.

These are among findings which have been made in recent archeological excavations.

Mine safety plans scored

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior department officials went before a congressional committee today to enforce safety standards at the Idaho silver mine where 91 men died in an underground fire.

Assistant secretary Hollis M. Dole was called to present the department's case as a house labor subcommittee opened its second day of hearings on the disaster at the Sunshine Mining Company's Kellogg, Idaho, mine. Union officials, testifying Monday at the opening of the hearings chaired by Rep. Dominick V. Daniels, D-N.J., accused the U. S. Bureau of Mines not only of failing to enforce safety standards but of trying to sabotage an investigation of the disaster.

Frank McKee, western director of the United Steelworkers of America, and other union officials demanded that jurisdiction over mine safety be taken away from the bureau of mines and turned over to the labor department.

McKee, who had just come from the scene, told the committee the bureau of mines had done little to cooperate in the investigation of the causes of the disaster.

"Indeed, as a witness of these procedures, I could better characterize the cooperation as sabotage and as an attempt not to investigate but to bury the disaster with the dead," McKee said in prepared testimony.

McKee also said the Sunshine Mining Co. had the "most callous disregard" of the safety of its employees and had put profits first. "While it may be morbid," McKee said, "it is necessary to note that the president of Sunshine, Irwin Underweiser, has stated that not only will the company's insurance prevent any loss to the mine while it is closed, but the high price of silver generated by this disaster possibly could enable the mine to wind up with a profit despite the closure."

Daniels said he was "absolutely shocked and appalled" by the testimony.

Earlier witnesses included a 21-year-old hoist operator, Byron L. Schulz, who told of his desperate attempts to bring dying men from the bottom of the mile-deep mine to safety until he had to flee for his own life.

The young father of two children who had a little more than two years mining experience, said he had taken his hoist down to the 5,000-foot level, where he found men choking in the fumes.

"Many of them couldn't operate the respirators," he said. "I had to show some of them how they work."

Both Schulz and Lavern Melton, president of the Steelworkers Local at the mine, said there had never been any fire drills or training in how to escape from a mine disaster. In an earlier fire, Melton said, the men had not even been evacuated while it was being extinguished.

Tavern in Belfast destroyed

BELFAST (UPI)—A bomb Monday night destroyed the most popular tavern in Sandy Row, stronghold of militant feeling among Belfast Protestants. Police drove back gangs of Protestant youths bent on vengeance.

Police said six persons were taken to a hospital with injuries after the bomb exploded in a car parked in front of the Blue Bell Bar. Four were later released. Another 39 were treated at the scene for cuts, bruises and shock. It was the second pub bombing in three days.

In other incidents, a father and his 14-year old son were hospitalized with gunshot wounds after an attack on their home in an East Belfast Protestant neighborhood, the army said. Neither was critically hurt.

Single memorial service Friday

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — While a House subcommittee searched for the causes of the Sunshine Silver Mine disaster, the communities surrounding the nation's richest silver district planned a massive memorial service for the 91 victims. A single service will be held simultaneously at Wallace and Kellogg beginning at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Wallace service will be held in the civic auditorium, which seats about 2,000. The Rev. T. C. Hanby, Grace Evangelical Free Church, will deliver the main address.

The Kellogg service will be at the high school gymnasium, capacity also about 2,000. The main address there will be delivered by the Rev. Gary Lindbo, American Lutheran Church, Kellogg.

"We want to have an opportunity for the entire community to respond to this disaster," the Rev. Roland Schlueter, United Church of Christ, Kellogg, said. "We felt this will be our opportunity to respond collectively."

Rev. Schlueter said the service would be about an hour long, with choir groups at each location made up of singers from the various district churches.

"We had wanted a single service for all, but we felt there might not be enough room for everyone," Schlueter said.

TF family wins awards for Mother's Day baby

BY MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Joshua Nevin Hodge, firstborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hodge, Twin Falls, didn't quite make it in time for Mother's Day.

The seven pound, 11 and one-half ounce newborn did arrive at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital at 12:52 a.m. Monday, and since he was the first baby born on or after Mother's Day, he and his parents were awarded a leg of lamb and a lamb cookbook from the Idaho Woolgrowers Auxiliary.

Mrs. Guy Peterson, Hagerman, Idaho state ecology chairman of the group, presented the gifts to the baby and parents at the hospital Monday afternoon.

Similar presentations of gifts were made to first babies born on Mother's Day at the Cassia Memorial Hospital, Burley, and hospitals in Idaho Falls and Boise.

The auxiliary has been giving gifts to babies in major hospitals in the state for more than 15 years.

The Hodges live at 439 Russet, Twin Falls.

The auxiliary is composed of wives of Idaho Woolgrowers and numbers over 100 members. Mrs. Roscoe Rich, Burley, is chairman of lamb promotion events. Her husband is the president of the Idaho Woolgrowers Association.

Mrs. Larry Garro, Rupert, is president of the woman's organization, Mrs. Guy Carlson, Riggins, is vice president, and Mrs. Joe Pelleria, Rupert, is secretary-treasurer.

The auxiliary formerly sponsored the Miss Wool contests, and now directs the state "Make It Yourself with Wool" competition. The group hopes to raise enough money from selling lamb pelts to take the four state winners to the national wool convention in Washington, D. C. in 1973. The winner, and first, second and third runner-up will be eligible for the tour.

The contest is open each year to single girls of ages 12 through 21. The girls make their own garments and model them. The more than 60 contestants are divided into five districts. There are two classes, juniors and seniors.

As chairman of the auxiliary ecology committee, Mrs. Peterson stated sheepmen are very concerned about ecology and the environment. They are endeavoring to show that they do not believe in indiscriminate killing of predators unless they are actually found preying on lambs and sheep.

The auxiliary furnishes speakers and slides for clubs and organizations which show that lands where sheep have grazed actually provide more forage for deer than brush and land left ungrazed.

It also has been found that the holes made on mountainsides by sheep retain water for vegetation on the hillsides from rains and provide an extra benefit. Grazing of multiple purpose land also keeps down the large grasses and helps prevent fire hazards, Mrs. Peterson said.

Wood River asks scholarship aid

HAILEY — Wood River High School officials are seeking contributions for the annual citizenship award scholarships.

According to Terry Tracy, school counselor, about $700 has been raised with the goal set at $1,000. Contributors included business and fraternal organizations, churches, individual businesses and private residents.

The awards ceremony has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at the high school gymnasium, Hailey.

Mrs. Tracy said that, in the past, $100 each was awarded to the outstanding senior boy and girl. The intent of the program this year is to increase the scholarships to include the two runners-up for the awards, she said.

Students are nominated for the awards by the high school faculty. A committee, consisting of about ten area residents, then votes on the nominees. Citizenship awards also are given to the boys and girls from the junior, sophomore and freshman classes who receive the most votes.

Checks should be made to the Wood River Scholarship Fund and mailed to Terry Tracy, Wood River High School, Hailey.

Agnew lauds return of Okinawa to Japan's rule

TOKYO (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew into troubled Southeast Asia Tuesday calling America's return of Okinawa to Japanese rule a demonstration of decency and goodwill.

Agnew left Tokyo International Airport at 10:30 a.m. 9:30 p.m. EDT Monday on a scheduled direct non-stop flight to Bangkok aboard a presidential jet airliner.

Before he left Japan, the vice president issued statements on the shooting in Maryland of Governor George C. Wallace and on America's act in government, returning Okinawa, the World War II battle island, to Japan.

The U.S. government issued a statement in Tokyo that the vice president will visit Thailand until Thursday at the invitation of the Royal Thai government.

Longshoremen take cuts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Ending the threat of a renewed West Coast dock strike, the longshoremen's union Monday accepted cuts made in a new contract with shippers by the U.S. Pay Board.

Despite a vow earlier by union head Harry Bridges to walk off the job if the Pay Board cut even "one cent" from the contract, the union and shippers agreed to accept cuts in wage increases from 72 cents an hour to 42 cents.

The announcement came two days after it was reported by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer that East and Gulf Coast longshoremen had refused to join West Coast dockers in a nationwide walkout. The Pay Board also cut wage boosts in a new East Coast contract.

The contract agreement reached Feb. 10 ended the longest waterfront strike in U.S. history; a 135-day walkout that idled $15,000 longshoremen and shut down 24 West Coast ports.

The union and shippers also agreed that if wage or price controls are ended before Nov. 30, 1972, the contract can be terminated on 60 days notice. If they are ended after Jan. 31, 1973, the pact may be terminated on 24 hours notice.

Wallace had best guard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's campaign was a Secret Service paradise until he started working the crowds. Then he was shot.

Without question, Wallace was the best guarded and least exposed of the presidential candidates.

Wallace was also, however, the one candidate for the presidency who could stir deep, loyal devotion—and pure hatred.

The attempt on his life—in a crowded shopping center in the middle of the day—once again raised the question whether a presidential candidate can be saved from an assassin.

The answer probably is no—not so long as presidential candidates campaign the way they do.

More than any other candidate, Wallace campaigned in a way that would give him the greatest degree of protection, a pattern he followed until he bid for today's Michigan and Maryland primaries.

Before he started to mingle and shake hands in crowds, as he did in the shopping center where he was killed, Wallace put distance between himself and any would-be assassin.

The 52-year-old Alabama governor limited himself to mass rallies where he spoke screened from the crowd by a bulletproof, 285-pound glass shield which offered the smallest possible target. After the rally ended, he usually ducked out a rear entrance.

There were times, notably in Florida, where he would leave the safety of his shield and come to the front of the stand to bend down and take outstretched hands.

That was all, however. There were occasional airport-news conferences but no walking the streets, no milling with crowds, no going to the colleges and high schools—and no shopping centers.

In addition, Wallace had double protection—Secret Service agents and Alabama state police.

But in looking for more votes, and perhaps for a closer communion with his voters, Wallace left the shelter Monday and was gunned down.

It could have an impact on the rest of the campaign, although probably not on the selection of a Democratic presidential candidate.

Within hours after Wallace was shot, President Nixon personally extended Secret Service protection to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, an avowed noncandidate; Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, on the campaign trail; and at the Washington home of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, a candidate who is not campaigning as actively as other hopefuls.

Almost without question, the Secret Service will urge Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern to map their campaigns to eliminate to the greatest possible extent the danger of assassination.

But there are 10 primaries, two national conventions, and an election campaign to go—and the danger of another shot is there.

Wallace wounds could propel Kennedy's bid

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The attempted assassination of George C. Wallace may have its greatest long-term impact on the future of Edward M. Kennedy.

The immediate effect was expected to swell Wallace's returns with sympathy votes in today's Michigan and Maryland primaries.

But after the shooting, as well as before, Wallace remains a "spoiler" who has shaken up the Democratic party, aroused a well-spring of protest, carved out a heady constituency, but has no chance at all of winning the nomination.

To Kennedy, the shots fired at Wallace in a suburban Washington shopping center may well have sealed any lingering doubt about accepting a presidential draft in 1972 and perhaps in the years ahead.

Kennedy, who lost two brothers to the bullets of assassins, has steadfastly insisted that he is not a candidate. But the feeling has persisted that if a deadlocked convention turned to him, he could not refuse his party.

The assassination attempt is certain to reinforce Kennedy's decision not to make himself available—a decision based in part on the possibility that his death at the hands of a killer would rob his children and those of his brothers, Robert F. and John F., of the family patriarch.

The shooting came as Wallace was winding up his primary campaign for the nomination. After three victories in Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and possibly two more today (Michigan, Maryland), Wallace planned no more major efforts in primary states, although he contemplated a write-in effort in California June 6.

Despite the fact that Wallace may come to the convention with 300-400 delegate votes pledged to him on the first ballot, he can go no higher. That is his high-water mark.

After the shooting, as well as before, the race is between Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern and the crossroads may be California.

If neither of the Midwest senators can win the nomination and the national convention begins to look for a compromise candidate to break the deadlock, it will look high and low but never for Wallace.

Cornelia dutiful follower

By DEAN REYNOLDS
LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—There was blood on her yellow dress and tears streaked her cheeks. She knelt on the dirt gray asphalt of the parking lot, her long black hair cascading protectively on the shoulders of her fallen husband.

Monday afternoon Cornelia Wallace was where she has been since Jan. 4, 1971—by the side of her husband, the governor and the presidential contender, with him on the campaign trail as often as possible.

Bystanders and police finally pulled the sobbing Mrs. Wallace away from her husband and she climbed in the emergency van as George C. Wallace was rushed by road and helicopter to the operating table.

Cornelia Ellis Snively Wallace, 32, divorced her husband a few months before she married the widower Wallace. She had known Wallace since childhood when she lived with her uncle, former Alabama Gov. James "Big Jim" Folsom.

The mother of two boys—six children all together counting Wallace's four—is an accomplished guitarist and a friendly, folksy woman who sometimes dresses in mod clothing and boots.

The first summer after her marriage she drove the pace car in the Winston 500 auto race at Talladega, Ala., and has joined her husband on the hustings almost constantly in this political year.

Idaho officials shocked

BOISE (UPI)—Several state officials expressed their deepest sympathies Monday to Alabama Gov. George Wallace and his family.

Marge Miner, chairman of the State Republican Central Committee, expressed "shock and dismay over the shooting of George Wallace."

"Whether we agree with a particular candidate's philosophy or not, it is a deplorable situation," Mrs. Miner said. "This country was founded on the right of an individual to express himself freely. Our political strength is based on this freedom. This flaunting of law and order is degrading to our country and must stop."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, in Washington said, "Sanity has given way to savagery in our politics. We must pray for the recovery of George Wallace and for an end to violence in our land."

Michigan race halts

By EDWARD S. LECHTIZIN
DETROIT (UPI)—Campaigning for today's presidential primary was halted in respect for Gov. George C. Wallace, heavily favored to win his first northern Democratic primary before he was shot Monday.

Wallace was given a chance of gathering 35 per cent of the popular vote before Monday's shooting, and the emotionalism generated by the events in Maryland was expected to add even more votes.

State officials had predicted a turnout of 1.2 million voters in the state's first presidential primary in 44 years. At stake were a share of the state's 132 Democratic delegate votes with each candidate getting a percentage equal to his popular vote.

Wallace's two main opponents—Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George S. McGovern—had campaigned in the state only in the final week before the election, by that time only to blunt the size of Wallace's expected victory.

Secrets of the African Baobab
"Portrait of a Tree" A fascinating nature study about the "up side down tree" of Africa. The Baobab, standing in an arid plain in Kenya's Tsavo National Park, has leafless branches that resemble gnarled roots and a trunk that looks like a barrel. Comes the rainy season, it sprouts yellow blossoms by moonlight. Orson Welles is the narrator. This is TV at its best.

Assailant 'scribbled'

By RICHARD P. JONES
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The little notebook with the scribbles, some of them childlike, may tell more about Arthur Bremer than anything or anyone.

The writings are about life and death, politics and love, a lot of things. They tell the story of a lonely and confused young man who today is being held in Laurel, Md., for the shooting of Alabama Gov. George Wallace Monday.

His father, William, 58, a truck driver for the same company for 30 years, couldn't believe it, but said if his son "is involved in this crime...he must have been awfully sick."

The notebook, with Arthur's name on it was found among the clutter in his three-room bachelor apartment on the city's West Side. Included were these passages:

"Happiness is hearing George Wallace sing the National Anthem or having him arrested for a hit and run traffic accident."

"I am part of the world...I am one three billionth of the world's history today..."

"If I live tomorrow...It will be a long time..."

"I'm playing the game of life to win..."

"My country tiz of thee, sweet land of bigotry..."

"My blood is black..."

Some of the jottings apparently were from radio disc jockeys—judging by marginal notes—and some were Bremer's.

He had lived in the apartment since November. Neighbors said he was a "loner" who said very little. "His mother came to see him a couple of times," said Mrs. Tony Wasche, wife of the apartment building manager. "She said she was worried because he never called her. She said she knocked on his door several times and thought she heard noises inside, but no one answered the door."

Jerome store plans

DRAWING-OF a planned new Safeway store in Jerome was released Monday by company officials. The store, which will be in downtown Jerome, will replace the present Safeway structure. It will contain 18,000 square feet and will have a 70-space parking lot. Survey work on the site on Main Street will start immediately and demolition of present buildings and construction are expected to be complete later this year. The present Safeway facilities will be available for sale or lease.

Court rejects proposal

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court has rejected a constitutional challenge to the loaning of state funds to individual borrowers and upheld one of the major functions assigned to Idaho's Water Resource Board.

Justice Charles R. Donaldson wrote the unanimous decision which affirmed in part and reversed in part a judgment entered by fourth district Judge W.E. Smith.

In March of 1970 a resident of Canyon County, T. Stanley Nelson, filed a petition seeking a writ of prohibition to prevent the board from loaning state funds from its water resource development revolving fund to Arves Christensen for developing irrigation wells for applying water to arid land near Payette.

The district court held the loan could still be made by the board, even though the statutes were unconstitutional as a denial of equal protection of the laws.

Nelson appealed to the state's high court on June 22, 1970, but late in the year the water board granted the loan to Christensen. The board argued the case was moot and should be dismissed since the act Nelson sought to prohibit was already done.

The Supreme Court rejected the contention the appeal should be dismissed on grounds that similar loans would be made in the future and the question should be settled.

The high court also held properly construed the statutes were constitutional and not a violation of the equal protection clause.

Upholding the lower court's judgment, the high court found the loaning of state funds to private individuals does not constitute a loaning of state credit in aid of an individual as prohibited by the constitution.

The court found the continuing appropriation statute, which established the revolving funds, does not violate the Constitution and held the statute authorizing the loans does not violate the constitutional provision.

Consumer program poor, aide says

BOISE (UPI) — An attorney representing Western Idaho Legal Aid told a federal trade commission hearing Monday that there is a lack of consumer education programs in the state.

Warren Derbridge testified during the hearing, called as part of a plan to create a regional consumer protection program for Washington, Oregon, Alaska, Idaho and Montana.

FTO Regional Director William C. Erxleben, Seattle, said they do not anticipate the hearings will solve any problems which come to light. "Rather, our objective is to obtain the basic information that we need to determine what actions we should take."

Derbridge said part of the problem behind the lack of consumer education programs in Idaho is the small population and its distribution across the state. Part of the problem, he added, is the lack of any consumer advocate group.

"We have a problem getting any people interested in an organization because they demand it show some effectiveness before they join," he said. "I think the need is there."

Erxleben agreed, saying "in some states where they've been very active, they're the major driving force to get all good things, that come to the consumers way."

Special Gem week

BOISE (UPI) — This week has been proclaimed National Transportation and Small Business Week in Idaho and May 19 will be National Defense Transportation Day.

In making the proclamations,

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Monday said Small Business Week honors small businesses "so vital to our free enterprise system and the future growth of Idaho."

US to send ship to war zone

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is preparing to send a seventh aircraft carrier, the USS Ticonderoga, to the waters off South Vietnam, Pentagon sources said today.

They said the ship would be dispatched to the war zone soon. It was possible, they added, that the carrier could be assigned to an antisubmarine patrol or might be dispatched to the line of Navy craft which are warning merchant vessels of the minefields blocking North Vietnam's ports.

The Ticonderoga has an escort of six or seven destroyers which will be used to fill in for other destroyers which have been diverted from the carrier task force for shore bombardment duties.

Word of the carrier move came after the Pentagon disclosed that the United States has started mining some of North Vietnam's river and canals—in addition to the seven ports—to try to interdict supplies headed for Hanoi's troops in the South.

The mining was similar to one ordered by President Lyndon B. Johnson after the 1968 Tet offensive. The Pentagon did not say exactly which waterways had been mined except that they were "in areas where movements of supplies have been taking place."

There was new information, meanwhile, that President Nixon's trip to Moscow beginning Saturday was still on despite the continued blockade of North Vietnam. The word came from Mrs. Richard Nixon who told reporters the journey would take place as scheduled. The White House later said reporters would be provided with details of the 13-day trip later today.

On Capitol Hill the Senate was to vote late today on a proposal that would require a cease-fire throughout Indochina as well as the release of all American POWs, before the remaining U.S. forces could be withdrawn. The terms are the same as the President offered Hanoi when he imposed the blockade last week.

War protesters attempt to blockade institute

By United Press International
Persistent protesters against the Vietnam War Monday tried to blockade the Institute for Defense Analyses and then tried to prevent police from hauling away 30 demonstrators who were arrested.

It was the most violent confrontation at the institute in Princeton, N.J., since demonstrators began blockading its entrance last Wednesday. In all, 202 persons have been arrested there.

Protests against the U.S. mining of North Vietnam harbors and the step-up in the air war appeared to have subsided substantially from last week.

But there were demonstrations in some cities.

More than 30 persons—including several Dartmouth College professors and some students—were arrested in Lebanon, N.H., as they tried to prevent a busload of draftees from leaving a draft board for preinduction physicals.

The bus pulled out with the draftees aboard an hour behind schedule.

At Princeton, an estimated 350 protesters—including students from Princeton, Rutgers, Columbia and Adelphi—participated in the blockade at the Institute for Defense Analyses.

After the arrests were made, demonstrators tried to block police vehicles carting away the arrested persons. In turn, the demonstrators tried to block the vehicles with their bodies; an improvised barricade of garbage cans, cinder blocks and wood; and finally private cars and big trash cans.

Police worked a half-hour to remove the obstacles and get free of the crowd.

Four members of an antiwar group that has camped in front of the White House for a year were arrested Monday in a scuffle with police who apparently were trying to enforce a new ban on camping equipment. Police cleared the sidewalk on Pennsylvania Avenue and confiscated sleeping bags and other equipment which the interior department said were in violation of a law against public nuisances.

Senate hopeful gives position

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Harvard University economist John Kenneth Galbraith confirmed Monday he will run for the Senate against Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., under certain conditions.

"I've been asked repeatedly in recent weeks if I intend to run for the Senate this autumn," Galbraith said in a statement Monday. "And I have been under pressure, appreciable if not irresistible, to say yes."

"Since it is not my instinct to be coy or fraudulent the answer is that I'm thinking very seriously about it," he said.

Galbraith said he would not run unless Sen. George S. McGovern was the Democratic presidential nominee.

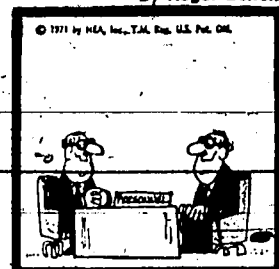

"Much of my purpose would be to give him support in the debate—to add another voice on liberal economic and foreign policy on his behalf and which the recent reckless action escalation of the Vietnam war makes essential," he said.

"The other consideration is the reaction of the black community," he said. "I think it justifiable to ask if any Republican senator identified with Mr. Nixon can be a very good friend of the black minority in the United States."

Irate commuters left in London

LONDON (UPI)—One man fell sick. Another took his place. As a result, no trains moved from five London railroad stations for almost four hours, stranding thousands of furious commuters.

Irate travelers—cursed, stomped, whistled and brandished rolled-up umbrellas while struggling with police in the latest breakdown of Britain's troubled railway network Monday night. It happened as locomotive drivers walked off their jobs at the height of rush hour.

Trade union stewards claimed the substitution of a locomotive driver at Victoria station for a supervisor sidelined by illness did not follow proper working procedures. They summoned all drivers at Victoria to an emergency meeting.

Drivers at Charing Cross, Holborn, Waterloo and London Bridge stations also walked off their trains.

Pandemonium broke loose at Victoria when the public address system blared, "There is no probability of services leaving this station at present. Travelers with alternative means of transport are advised to use it."

Blaine gun training held

SUN VALLEY — Accepting the "quick draw," a pistol training session for local police officers was conducted Monday.

The session was sponsored by the Idaho Peace Officers Training Academy, Pocatello, and was staged at the Sun-Valley Gun Club by Larry Plott, training academy coordinator.

It was the second such course scheduled in Idaho. The session began with discussion of shooting fundamentals and a "quick draw" and shooting demonstration by Plott.

Later participants went through a long and short course which included firing at silhouette targets from 15 feet to 50 yards away. Techniques stressed were shooting from the hip, from a sitting and kneeling position and with the right and left hands around barricades.

RENEE ROMINE plans rites

Kellogg miss, Morris name date

BUHL — Mr. and Mrs. George Donald Romine, Kellogg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Renee Lorene, to James Ernest Dauven.

Dauven is the son of Mrs. Charles Morris, Buhl, and Gary Dauven, Burley.

Miss Romine is a graduate of Kellogg High School and Idaho State University. Dauven is a graduate of Twin Falls High School and will be graduated from Idaho State University in May.

A June wedding is planned in Kellogg.

If you should become dizzy or panicky while on a ladder don't climb down hurriedly. Instead, drape your arms over a convenient rung and rest your head against the ladder until the feeling passes.

Parents invited

STARLIGHT PROM will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday at Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School. The "generation gap" dance will climax the 1971-72 school year as students and their parents get together for an evening of dancing and fun. The dance is being held to educate the young people of O'Leary about dance etiquette and to give the children, parents and teachers a chance to do something together. At left Karma Florence addresses invitations to the dance and at right Alice Ghan in the foreground, helps with decorations for the special event.

Newlyweds reside in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Sheridan, will reside in Twin Falls after a honeymoon trip to southern California and San Valley. They were married in afternoon ceremonies April 29 at St. Rose Church, Paso Robles, Calif., by the Msgr. James Marmon. The bride is the former Margaret M. Deveraux, Paso Robles, and was given in marriage by her son, Eugene Deveraux, Sacramento, Calif. For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of pink miramist and wore pink rosebuds scattered in her hair. She carried a bouquet of cymbidium and pink rosebuds. Mrs. Richard Snider, daughter of the bride, Paso Robles, was matron of honor. James H. Snider, Paso Robles, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Bruno Martinelli, Templeton, Calif., and Richard Bauer, San Diego, and former Eden resident, were ushers. Andy Patterson and Frank Fritschle were altar boys for the ceremony. Sister Maria provided the music. Mrs. Blanche C. Sheridan, Twin Falls, mother of the bridegroom, was a special guest. The couple was honored at a reception after the ceremony at the American Legion Hall, with dance music provided by Leonard Burkman and friends. Serving at the reception were Susan Carver, Debbie Wilson, Robin Blake, Debbie Martin and Doris Shanks. Decorations were by Arlyn's Flowers, Atascadero, Calif. The bride is an employee of Pacific Telephone Co., and the bridegroom is field manager for Charter Seed Co., Twin Falls.

Filer youth group needs coupons for choir bus

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News writer
FILER — "Think Big" could be the motto of a Filer youth group that is aiming its sights at procuring a bus for transporting the choir.
The Good News Singers of the First Baptist Church have begun the tremendous project of collecting enough General Mills coupons to get a bus to transport the group when they are asked to sing in area churches.
The General Mills Co. has given permission for the group to carry on the project for 18 months. Each coupon collected is worth half a cent toward the bus cost.
The young people meet weekly at the church to trim, sort, count and bundle the coupons. Anyone wishing to donate coupons to the group may contact one of the members or the coupons may be left at Jordan's Market or the Clover Farm Store where receptacles have been placed to receive them.
If the group is successful in getting the bus they announced it will also be available for Sunday school events, Baptist Youth Fellowship and other church activities. At the present time whenever the group is asked to sing in a neighboring church, it takes five or more cars to convey them.
Posters for the project were made by Jeanne Holloway and Rose Miller, two of the choir members.

JUDI KERBS names date

DEAR ABBY: You have just made my day! In your column, you listed the three top causes of friction in marriage. Jealousy, money and cards.
It made me realize how lucky I am, because neither my husband nor I are attractive enough to anyone else to create jealousy, we have no extra money to fight over, and we don't play cards!
Then to top it off, your CONFIDENTIAL TO FROM THE OLD SCHOOL: "Welcome to the club. Very few of us who had 'old world' parents were told the facts of life by our mothers. All my mother told me, God bless her, was never to put bananas in the refrigerator," gave me the biggest laugh I've had in years. I roared aloud to an empty house as my husband had gone to work.
All the bad news in the rest of the newspaper, nor anything thrown at me for the rest of the day, can erase the warm, lighthearted feeling I got from reading your column today.
Just had to let you know. D. W. IN MINNESOTA
DEAR D. W.: We're even! Your letter just made my day! Thanks for writing.
DEAR ABBY: My husband and I rented an apartment in an expensive high-rise building. About six months ago, a very lovely older couple in their sixties rented the apartment right next to ours, and we haven't had a good night's sleep since.
Their quarreling and bickering can be heard until the wee hours of the morning. The way they shout at each other, they must be deaf.
We can't say that they are actually disturbing the peace because they don't have any crashing, smashing fights, just very noisy arguments that last until dawn.
We hate to complain to the management because these people are quite charming. Any suggestions?
THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR
DEAR FOLKS: If you haven't told them that they are keeping you up nights, that should be your first order of business. Perhaps they ARE hard of hearing, and hopefully your complaint will inspire them to get hearing aids.
Your letter raises two questions: 1. How do you figure they aren't disturbing your peace if they keep you up nights? 2. How do you define "charming?"
DEAR ABBY: This concerns your unsympathetic answer to "EXHAUSTED," who was drained dry by her mother's endless list of unreasonable demands. You said, "After all, she IS your mother."
I won't say, "Shame on you, Dear Abby," because thru the years of reading your column, it is my bet that you had the kind of mother many of us would like to have had. However, I for one wasn't that fortunate, so I know how "EXHAUSTED" feels.
While your advice was sound, you should have added, "If you can't beat it [the situation], and you can't join it, you will have to learn to walk away from it—for a while. Let Mom run her own vacuum, make her own bed and write her own checks. Your own health is more important to you and your family than anyone else's."
Cold-hearted and cruel? Not at all. Just sensible. My own children taught me that most mothers EARN the treatment they get from their children in their later years. And the person who so wisely pointed this out to me said, "Your mother IS your mother, but it was HER act that caused it—not yours."
MRS. R. IN COLUMBUS
Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 870, L. A., CALIF. 90008 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Nichols, Rupert, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Patricia A., to Gerald R. Fleehart.
Fleehart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Inman Harrawood, St. Charles, Ill.
Miss Nichols, a 1971 graduate of Minico High School, is attending Link's School of Business, Boise.
Fleehart graduated from St. Charles High School in 1969 and has just returned from service in the U.S. Army.
A June 17 wedding is planned for the Rupert Church of the Nazarene with a reception to follow in the fellowship hall.

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Myler, Jerome, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Darrell Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Benson, Moab, Utah.
Miss Myler is a graduate of Brigham Young University and has been teaching home economics at Blanding, Utah. Benson recently returned from a mission to Denmark and is now employed at the uranium mill at Moab.
A June 30 wedding is planned at the Logan LDS Temple.

BUHL — Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Johnson, Buhl, announce the engagement of their daughter, Twila, to Eldon Harder, Aberdeen.
Miss Johnson, a graduate of Buhl High School and the University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, Colo., teaches in the Aberdeen school system.
Harder, a graduate of Aberdeen High School and Wyoming Tech., Laramie, Wyo., is employed as a farmer at Aberdeen. He has served in the Army, including a tour of duty in Vietnam.
A July 20 wedding is planned.

RUPERT — Mrs. Hulda Kerbs announces the engagement of her daughter, Judi, to Larry Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Baxter, Filer.
Miss Kerbs, daughter of the late Mr. Jake Kerbs, Rupert, is a 1967 graduate of Minico High School and a 1971 graduate of the University of Idaho with a BS degree in elementary education.
Baxter was graduated from Filer High School in 1946 and from the University of Idaho in 1969 with a BS degree in marketing.
An early summer wedding is planned at the Trinity Lutheran Church, Rupert.

'Sack sale' slated Wednesday at church

TWIN FALLS — The Scotch Bazaar will be held in the Presbyterian Church during the annual "sack sale" Wednesday. The sale is held each spring in the Thrift Shop of the church where for the low price of 50 cents a sack, customers may fill large sacks from merchandise selected from the shelves.
Another sack sale will be held May 24 after which the shop will be closed until June 7 while it is being cleaned and new merchandise placed on the shelves.
The shop is in the church basement at 209 S. Ave. N. and is marked by signs.

Cooker testing

TWIN FALLS — Pressure cooker testing will be done Thursday, May 25, at the Idaho Power Auditorium, according to Patricia Maughan, extension home economist.
The auditorium is located at 133 3rd St. N., Twin Falls.
Testing will begin at 9 a.m. and will continue for most of the day. Mrs. Maughan said. Only the lid and gauge are needed for testing and a fee of $1 will be charged for each gauge tested.
Tom Maberly, Rupert, will do the testing which is sponsored by the University of Idaho Extension Service in Twin Falls County.
Mrs. Maughan said the gauge testing should be done regularly to insure safety and quality of home canned products.

West hands. West holds the club ace and if you won the first spade the birds will sing for you and you will make at least three no-trumps. If you held up the birds may still sing but they will sing: "Down one, down one."
When this hand was played in a team match some 40 years ago the late Raymond Balfie took the first spade. The other South player ducked and the swing decided the match.
Was Raymond's guess pure luck? No, it wasn't! Raymond decided that West might well have led a short suit unless he had a quick entry for his own suit and the only quick re-entry held by either East or West was the ace of clubs. Hence the odds were that West held that key card.

IRENE SANDERS engaged

Washington miss, Smith name date

RUPERT — Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Sanders, Tacoma, Wash., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Irene Marie, to Michael George Smith.

Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith, Rupert. Miss Sanders is a 1969 graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School. She attended Tacoma Community College and graduates this spring from Ricks College with an associates degree in environmental design.

Smith is a 1968 graduate of Minico High School and attended Ricks College for one year prior to serving a two-year LDS mission in the Gulf States.

The couple plans a June 30 wedding in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple, and will reside in Rupert where Smith is engaged in farming.

Actress begins 2nd season here

HAGERMAN — Anna Marie Boles, former Hansen resident, will be with the Antique Festival Theatre for a second season this summer.

Winner of a Rocky Mountain Federation apprenticeship award, Mrs. Boles will be an actress and assistant producer. Her internship with producing chores began last month with the responsibility of booking summer dates in and around Caldwell where she lives.

She also has been preparing a puppet show to be offered as a bonus to the children who flock around the theater show bus as the crew is setting up for performances.

"I want to learn all I can about how this theater works," Mrs. Boles says. "I want to understand the finances, the logistics and the production

A Summer of Fun on the Water

Mark Richards, Owner of Bud & Mark Twin Marina, Loads an O'Brien Competition water ski through the walk thru wind shield of a new 1972 16 1/2' foot bowrider from Fiberform. The Bowrider has a three wide sleeper seat, floor rug, convertible top, foam flotation, full deck hardware, international running lights and it is BIA certified. This great family boat is powered by a 125 horsepower Evinrude Starlite. The New Evinrude are far more efficient, they burn fuel cleaner and more completely and they stay in "factory tune" with minimum maintenance. The combination of this boat and motor gives you a boat for the entire sport usage of every type of family.

In the background is a Sidewinder boat equipped with a Merc 1400, direct charge, 6 cylinders in line outboard. A totally new, exclusive double-tuned exhaust system combines with special porting for greater efficiency, better performance, including and extremely wide power band. This is a great combination for water skiing. For a complete line of boats including Crestliner, Marlin, Fiberform, and Sidewinder Motors, Mercury outboards from 140 horsepower down to 4 horsepower, Evinrude Motors outboards from the Starlite 125 h.p. down to the Mate 2 h.p. # Priority asked in state project

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the Idaho Water Resource Board urged a congressional subcommittee Monday to give its authorization to the Salmon Falls Division of the Upper Snake River Project.

Dr. Robert R. Lee, in a statement prepared for the Irrigation and Reclamation Subcommittee of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said the Salmon Falls Project and the East Greenacres Project had been given top priority by the staff.

The project is economically feasible, does not interfere with a larger development, will lead to beneficial use of water resources, and will provide supplemental water to an area in obvious need," he said. Lee said the Bureau of Reclamation's original proposal for the project was for a groundwater exchange arrangement whereby pumping would occur in the Jerome-Wendell area to meet the local needs and the surface supply from the Snake River would be diverted to supply the Salmon Falls project area.

He said, however, the board approved the authorization with the understanding alternative means of obtaining a water supply would be studied. Those included:

Investigation of alternate sources of water supply, including possible storage in Ririe Teton and Lynn Crandall projects, savings from system improvements such as canal linings, off-season pumping exchanges and expansion of the groundwater exchange pumping area.

Provision for adoption of any groundwater exchange proposal which would not result in initial construction costs or increased annual costs to residents of the area.

Drilling tests by the Bureau to determine and demonstrate effect of sustained groundwater pumping on down gradient springs, effluent streams and wells.

And, if necessary, a study of a joint operation for ground and surface water delivery.

Gooding plans senior housing

GOODING — Construction of more senior citizen housing will begin within 45 days in Gooding, according to Tom Miller, chairman of the Gooding Housing Authority.

Monday night the authority approved a bid of $55,764 from Clark and Becker Builders, Gooding, for construction of the five-unit housing project.

Miller said the housing authority is awaiting FHA approval of the plans.

The new units will be constructed on Idaho Street across from the Gooding City Hall in the same block where an eight-unit senior citizen unit was completed last spring.

Miller said it will take five months to complete the latest project. Completion is set for Dec. 1, 1972.

There will be four one-bedroom units and one two-bedroom unit. Laundry facilities also will be constructed.

There already is a waiting list for occupancy of the new units, Miller said, but anyone who wishes to submit an application should do so.

He also said eight trees and four shrubs were planted at the eight-unit site by the Gooding Garden Club and the Gooding Jaycees over the weekend.

Gooding subdivision proposed to council

GOODING — Gooding City Council received a proposal for a subdivision plat Monday night to be located behind Rice Motors in Gooding.

Durrell Moon, Rupert, an engineer, presented a plat for the Westview Subdivision. Approval is pending on the return of the city engineer and attorney. The planned subdivision calls for six homes.

Councilman Valdo Gray announced the city will re-paint the swimming pool before it opens for the summer season. The pool facility will have additions of a new diving board and a lifeguard umbrella.

According to Councilman Gene Kelly there are still problems with dumping prohibited material at the city dump and dumping restricted areas. Councilman Kelly said: "Sure hate to lock it up, but it looks like its coming."

The council has had many complaints about improper disposal methods. Earlier this month, the city fenced off part of the dump and those disposing of materials began choosing their own dump sites.

Dr. Katherine Stapp met with the council and requested it make a public statement stating the city will not dispose of dogs at the expense of taxpayers.

She said her office had to dispose of dogs at cost to the city because people had deliberately let their dogs be picked up by the dogcatcher and that they had received calls asking for the dogcatcher to pick up the dog.

Councilman Don Simmas informed the council the city's new police car has been shipped and should arrive in Gooding next week.

City Supt. J. C. Moore said Seventh Avenue will be oiled and graveled and sealcoated as soon as possible.

CSI hires employees

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho trustees approved Monday night the hiring of five employees submitted by Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president.

They are James W. Blisdell, physical education and track coach at $8,400 per year; M. Kent Jeppesen, art at $8,600 per year.

Poultry meeting planned

MOSCOW — The Idaho Poultry Industry Federation will discuss management and marketing at its annual meeting June 15 and 16 on the University of Idaho campus.

The program was announced today by Gordon Meyer, extension poultry specialist and secretary of the federation.

Veterinarians and economists will present information. Recent research by the College of Agriculture will be reported.

C. F. Petersen, head of the poultry department, will talk about some of his work in England and Europe on a recent sabbatical leave.

S.C. farms gain size, value

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The number of South Carolina farms dropped from 56,248 in 1964 to 39,559 in 1969. The state's total farmland area declined from 8,101,450 acres to 6,991,718 acres, according to a report on the 1969 Census of Agriculture released today by the Bureau of the Census, a part of the social and economic statistics administration of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

During the same five-year period the average size of farms increased from 144 to 176.1 acres and the average value per acre advanced from $171.08 to $261.23.

Purchases heifer

RICHFIELD — Christine Lyne Furtado, Richfield, has purchased a 2-year-old heifer, Idalee Dairymaster's Mame 340157, from Richard R. Lee, Jerome.

The new animal is a registered Milking Shorthorn and the record of the transfer of ownership has been made by the American Milking Shorthorn Society at Springfield, Mo.

Attorney urges court penalties

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General W. Anthony Park told a Federal Trade Commission hearing today he would like to see Idaho's Consumer Protection Act strengthened by providing for class action suits and contempt of court penalties for violation of voluntary compliance agreements.

Park was one of those who testified at the hearing on consumer problems in Idaho called to take testimony to assist in formulation of a regional consumer protection program for Washington, Oregon, Alaska, Idaho and Montana.

William C. Erxleben, Seattle, regional director for the FTC, said the commission has delegated authority to regional offices to propose regional law enforcement programs and exercise investigative and enforcement powers of the commission.

"Obviously, we do not anticipate that these hearings will solve any of the problems which they bring to light," he said.

"Rather, our objective is to obtain the basic information that we need to determine what actions we should take."

Park said Idaho law provides for consumer protection through the 1971 Idaho Consumer Protection Law, the uniform Consumer Credit Code and the Idaho Securities Act.

To date, he said, his office has made extensive use of assurances of voluntary compliance, agreements filed with district courts which outline areas of violation.

Hawaiian farms decline

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The number of farms in Hawaii declined from 4,864 in 1964 to 3,896 in 1969.

The average size increased from 484.1 acres to 528.2 acres during the five-year span and the average value per acre climbed from $204.82 to $296.82.

Salmon due for land use change

SALMON (UPI) — State conservationist Guy Nutt, Bgls, says the Salmon River Area is just one part of the gem state deeply involved in land use change.

Nutt, a conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said the Salmon area — along with Sandpoint, Coeur d'Alene, Hailey, Ketchum and McCall — Cascade areas — is going through a rapid growth in summer and vacation home development.

He said during the past few years the service and the soil conservation district have developed long-range policy objectives statements compatible with each other. He said emphasis has changed toward improving the standard of living quality of life and community.

Nutt said important problems in the areas include inflated land values.

Double purpose

Sacks used in garden

MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News writer

FILER — Don't throw away those large paper sacks which held seed corn and grains as they can serve a second use in the garden.

The sacks can be placed around tomato plants for protection against frost, strong winds and sun. Each large sack can be cut in two and anchored to the ground with four rods from an old potato digger chain.

As the tomatoes grow and begin putting on fruit, their weight will push the sacks down but the tomatoes will be kept from touching the ground and LARGESACKS which formerly held corn and grain seed make good protectors for young tomato plants in the garden. Held in place by rods from an old potato digger, the sacks protect the plants from strong winds, sun and frost, and keep ripening tomatoes off the ground, making picking much easier.

4-H'ers set cemetery cleanup

BURLEY — The Better Feeders and Fitters, 4-H Club held its meeting Sunday at home of Carl Seymour and set a date to clean up the cemetery.

The members set dues for the year. They discussed community pride project and set May 27 as day to clean up cemetery. Other topics discussed were Club Congress and 4-H camp. Paint will be obtained for trash cans.

Carl Seymour led the pledge of allegiance and Steve Sargent led the 4-H pledge.

Farnum Warr is the club's leader.

Next meeting will be May 21 at the home of Corey Webb.

1972 4-H Club Congress set for U of I Campus

MOSCOW — "4-H In Step With Tomorrow" will be the theme of the 1972 4-H Club Congress, scheduled for June 11-16 on the University of Idaho campus.

According to Dorothy Hole, assistant state 4-H leader, club congress is designed to give high school 4-H members an opportunity to gain leadership skills, to further their interests and personal development, to broaden horizons through meeting new people and hearing new ideas, and to learn more about the 4-H program.

They meet these opportunities by attending workshops and classes, participating in morning assemblies and evening programs and by socializing at parties and in the living groups, Mrs. Hole said.

All courses are taught by persons with specialized skills who are familiar with the needs of this age group, she pointed out. Each delegate attends one workshop throughout the week and attends two classes twice each.

Those who want to explore career opportunities will have a chance to "do" while they learn. Participants in a journalism workshop will put out the club congress newspaper. Other workshops and classes will tie in with careers in agriculture and elementary teaching.

Gas gives you a BETTER DEAL

STILL BARBECUING THE SAME OLD DIRTY WAY

BETTER MOVE UP TO CLEAN, MODERN GAS BARBECUING

You know how it is with an old-fashioned conventional barbecue. It's a mess loading the briquettes; there's a long wait for it to heat up; you have to raise and lower the grill and put up with hot spots; and then there's the dirty task of cleaning out the ashes.

You can eliminate that messy old barbecue and move up to outdoor cookery the modern way: with Natural Gas.

A gas barbecue uses permanent ceramic briquettes—there's no charcoal and no ashes. Yet you get that same great barbecue flavor.

Warmup time is only a few minutes, and you control the heat for even cooking. You'll save time and have more fun.

Gas barbecues are on display now at your Intermountain Gas Company office. Stop by soon.

CONSTANCE WETZSTEIN recipient

4 Buhl juniors get scholarships

BUHL — Four Buhl High School juniors have received scholarships to attend the summer computer programming course at the University of Idaho.

The two-week course is sponsored by the Junior Engineer's Technical Society and the scholarships by Idaho Power Co.

Students attending include Gary M. Arford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Arford; Tammy Sue Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Carson; Bonnie Kay Gier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt Gier; and Constance Susan Wetzstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Wetzstein.

Gary has been on the high honor roll, a member of ARC Electronics Club, Mu Alpha Theta, National Math Club, Table Tennis Club, active in football, baseball, drama, madrigals and student government.

Tammy was a JV cheerleader for two years and will be a varsity cheerleader for the coming year. She is active in girls' track, softball, played powderpuff football and is a member of Drama Club, Future Nurses Club, Pep Club and annual staff.

Bonnie is a member of the Language Club, annual staff and journalism class. She is a national math test winner and serves as Christian growth chairman of the Clover Lutheran Walther League. She plans to study math and science.

Connie received a letter for girls' track two years and played in powderpuff football. She served on the annual and school paper staff for three years and in drama for two years. She is active in 4-H and interested in photography, veterinary science, swimming, bicycling, motorcycle riding and horseback riding.

Mothers honored

BURLEY — Mothers were paid tribute Sunday by Burley Elks Lodge No. 1384 at the lodge hall.

Rev. Leman Messley of the Burley Christian Church was the speaker.

Special music was arranged by Susan McMurray and high school students sang several selections accompanied by Mrs.

Eldon Wood.

Following the program a smorgasbord was served in the dining room and background dinner music was played by Duane Broadhead at the organ.

As the mothers arrived for the special program they were greeted by lodge officers and presented a carnation.

Burley bridge plans made

BURLEY — The Burley Duplicate Bridge Club announce plans for unit bridge play Sunday at Ramada Inn.

Unit bridge play will be followed by a dinner at 4 p.m. and the dinner will be free to members. Play will begin at 5 p.m. and additional information is available by contacting Mrs. Harry Warnke or Mrs. L. C. Hunter.

New unit officers are John president; Harry Warnke, Hohnhorst, Hazelton, Burley, vice president; Mrs. E. Neillson is membership chairman and Lewis Hack will serve as the unit director.

Minidoka Jaycees get state awards

RUPERT — The Minico Jaycees came home from the state convention with the outstanding achievement award for the past year.

The awards, announced today, included six first place awards in chapter management and individual development, public relations, inner club relations, ways and means, governmental affairs and community development. The club also received one third-place award in the eight categories.

The Jaycees were given the Giesenberg Memorial award for outstanding chapter in the state of Idaho in their population range.

The Grant Hill Memorial award, in the field of religion, was awarded the group for the joint effort for the mayor's prayer breakfast.

The club was in the top five for membership and ninth in the parade of cities out of 52 clubs competing.

The Minico group was club of the month for January in the state Jaycees, and its candidate Wendell Dean, Rupert, outstanding young farmer, placed second in the state.

Mrs. Jan Holstead, Minico Jay-C-Ette, received the outstanding Jay-C-Ette vice president award.

MV dance teachers meet

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Dance Teacher's Association met in the Rogerson Hotel Colonial Room Sunday for a no-host luncheon.

The organization has been formed to promote and encourage dance in the Magic Valley. The teachers feel they can offer more to the community and to their students as a group than they can individually.

The group plans a workshop in October for area dancers and a presentation of the complete "Nutcracker Suite" in December.

The organization encourages anyone interested in dance to join with them in furthering dance education. For further information, call Carol Moseley at 436-3068 or Donna Mauldin at 733-1446.

Chemical discharge curb planned by EPA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency says it will curb discharges into lakes and rivers of the industrial chemical PCB, a DDT-like compound used for the past 40 years in electrical machinery, plastics, petroleum products and carbonless carbon paper.

EPA based its recommendation on a 181-page report that PCB (polychlorinated biphenyls) caused skin and liver ailments and birth defects in laboratory rats.

Industrial discharges will be reduced so that PCB levels in lakes and rivers do not exceed 0.01 parts per billion, EPA said Saturday.

The report written by a task force that included EPA, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Agriculture Department and several federal bureaus advised against an outright ban.

The task force said Monsanto Co., the only U.S. producer of PCB, has already acted to limit sales of the chemical.

The FDA had previously proposed regulation to keep the chemical out of food, and to prevent food plant machinery leaks like the ones that contaminated poultry feed with PCB four times in 18 months.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market searched for some direction in sluggish trading Tuesday.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was off 0.45 to 941.75 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index rose 0.12 to 106.08.

Advances led declines, 703 to 584, among the 1,645 issues crossing the tape. Three-hour turnover on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to 8,760,000 shares compared with the 8,840,000 traded during the corresponding period Monday.

Investors remained on the sidelines to digest developments in the Vietnam war, the effects of the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, and the resignation of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Many analysts said they believed the short-term prospects for the market were downward. But they said they believed that in the long run the trend would be strongly higher.

American Telephone & Telegraph was the most active issue, up 1/4 at 42 1/2. Dart Industries was second, primarily because of a block of 107,700 shares traded at 52 1/2, off 1 1/4. Steels, chemicals, rails, and autos were narrowly mixed.

General Motors dropped 1 1/4 in the mixed motors.

Superior Oil, which reported higher first quarter earnings, gained 2 1/2 in the oil. Natoms lost 2 1/4.

Airlines moved higher in fractions. Electronics and computers were mixed narrowly.

Idaho Valley Weather Report

High pressure system fades out

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area: Increasing cloudiness and a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers with gusty winds this evening. Partly cloudy with scattered showers mainly over the mountains Wednesday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and highs Wednesday, 60 to 70.

Outlook for Thursday: Partly cloudy with chance of showers. The warm high pressure system that brought unusually pleasant weather the past several days is gradually fading out.

A storm system from off the Pacific Coast is moving inland as the higher pressure recedes southeastward.

Cooler air and a cold front with clouds will move over southern Idaho tonight. Rainfall will occur as light showers or possible thundershowers will accompany the front.

Winds will be locally strong and gusty at times mainly afternoons and evenings.

The moisture supply is rather limited and should confine most shower activity to the passing front with showers occurring again on Wednesday, as the upper air disturbance moves through the intermountain area.

A weakening weather system moving around the ridge of high pressure building in over the west will tend to cause some unsettled conditions through Thursday.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S

horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES The morning brings you an opportunity to put basic routines in proper order. The afternoon and evening are excellent for whatever requires creative expression and the ability to see conditions in the broadest and most comprehensive light and when good judgment exists.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Home and kin matters should be first handled well in the morning. Later you can venture forth in business matters and achieve a great deal. Your creativity is high, so make the most of it.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can complete your shopping and correspondence in the morning so that you can devote more time to making your home efficient and comfortable. Make plans for the future tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle personal matters early, then get down to business problems with the help of advisers. Your intuition is good for making big financial headway. Put it to practical use.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is best time to make plans for the future. In the afternoon, first know what is expected, then take care of routine duties. Look to an idealist for the backing you need.

LIO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Plan social affairs and then put wheels in motion quickly. Listen to what an adviser has to say. It could help make your future brighter and more as you desire it to be. Think big.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) A discussion with a good friend could open a new vista of success for you. Join the groups that are interesting and helpful and get excellent results. Be careful in travel.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Business affairs should be handled early in the morning before you step out with congenials for amusement purposes. The evening is the best time to repay social responsibilities. Be poised.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) A new interest is fine to explore during part of the morning, but later you have obligations to meet. A civic matter can add much to your prestige. A show of ability is wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Apply yourself to the important work ahead of you and it will soon be completed. Discuss policy matters with an associate and cement better relations. Show that you are capable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning can be very happy in the company of mate, but take it easy tonight at home and relax there, since you need rest. Find out what is expected of you and then carry through.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) With all that work to be handled in the morning, make sure others do not take you away from it, or you lose out. An associate who is generous can be most helpful tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan amusements for the future in the morning and tonight do whatever you can to make your home more charming. Do something about improving your health. Relax at home tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY—he or she will be one of those delightful young people whose early life will be concentrated on activities in the home, but upon maturity will suddenly become very independent and will become involved in civic affairs to prove ability. Make certain that you encourage your progeny to get the best education that is possible. There could even be fame in this chart.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Brown Eyes Sense Pain

Still unrefuted goes that claim by some medical fellows that blue-eyed persons are somewhat less sensitive to pain than are brown-eyed persons. Remember it, young lady. If you want a husband who won't be easily hurt, pick a lad with blue eyes.

UNDER THE law of Norfolk, Va., no girl can dance in public there unless she's wearing a corset. Enforcement must be lax. A sailor tells me he does not believe all the dancing girls in Norfolk wear corsets.

WHY DO so many ladies who take up chemistry as a profession choose to die by their own hand? Among them, one of every 10 deaths is a suicide. That's two and a half times as high as the suicide rate among men who go into chemistry. Baffling.

QUERIES

Q. "Are teenagers allowed to join nudist camps?"

A. "Only" if their folks are along in most such colonies. Or so researchers report. They report further those youngsters don't have to strip, if they don't want to. Incidentally, there's said to be one category of colony member who unlike any other is almost invariably required to wear clothing. Can you name one?

Q. "Who's the highest paid executive in this country?"

A. Must be Harold Jennings, board chairman of I.T.T. The financial boys say he made more than $812,000 last year.

GET IT RIGHT, sir, a stud is not one breeding horse, but a whole stable full of stallions.

TWO AND A half gallons of coffee from a pound of ground beans, that's the norm in the snazzier restaurants.

TRUE, there's never more than two eggs in a hummingbird's nest. No room, I guess.

CORN

If you're a city mouse, you may not realize this. But the farmer up Iowa way is said no longer to be interested in scientific techniques to make his ears of corn bigger. Too big already. What he's looking for now is a huskier stalk that won't buckle under the extra weight. A Sioux City plant reports that.

IF YOU MAKE this bet with every man you meet, odds are you'll win far more than you'll lose: "I'll wager your home contains at least one piece of wooden furniture made in North Carolina."

A RIPE watermelon is known to contain less than 7 per cent sugar, a lemon approximately 10 per cent sugar. So which is sweeter?

Kellogg disaster impact weighed

By BRIAN MOTTANZ
KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — To the people of the silver-rich Coeur d'Alene Mining District of northern Idaho, the mines are their bread and butter.

Whenever they are shut down, it hurts.

How much the damage from the fire at the Sunshine Mine near here will hurt really is yet to be determined. A total of 91 persons were killed in the fire which broke out May 2 in the worst mining disaster in Idaho history.

"I've lived here 22 years this June and I don't know what to say," Ray Chapman, an official of Bunker Hill Co. and Kellogg Chamber of Commerce president said.

"It's really hard to measure what the effects will be," he said. "I don't think anybody can make a valid statement yet."

Larry Marshall, regional representative for the Steelworkers Union, estimated the mine could be shut down anywhere from three months to a year and a half, making the economic impact difficult to estimate.

Last year Sunshine Mine paid out $4.8 million in wages to its 620 total employees plus about $6.5 million in purchase, 75 percent of which was spent in the immediate area.

How big a chunk of this will be lost to the area is difficult to estimate, according to Wendell Brainard, local newspaper publisher.

"It's anybody's guess," how long the mine will be shut down, he said.

However, Brainard said the full crew at Sunshine will not be off the job because of the shutdown.

Marvin Chase, vice president and general manager of the mine, said the company would keep as many people on the payroll as possible for the cleanup and firefighting duties.

Brainard said another factor complicating an assessment on how much any other towns in the district would be damaged by the shutdown was the location of where the miners lived.

The bulk of them came from here and from nearby Wallace with the remainder from 14 other small area communities.

He said even though more miners at the Sunshine live here than in other towns, this is considered a Bunker Hill town and the Sunshine payroll is not a dominating factor.

Bunker Hill employs about 1,600 workers at its mine and smelter.

Brainard said, "Even though fewer Sunshine miners are from Wallace and Osburn, they will feel it harder because they are more dependent on Sunshine payroll than on any other mine."

While no one is certain what the effect of the mine disaster will be, another factor is what will happen to the survivors and the dependents of those who died.

Marshall said he had heard from several wives of the 110 miners who survived the fire who do not intend to let their husbands go back to work at Sunshine.

"We are attempting to work out a retraining program for those men who won't go back underground," Marshall said. He said the effort was being hampered by President Nixon's delay in declaring the area a disaster area.

"Until we get the disaster designation," Marshall said, "we are ineligible for a federal grant for retraining."

Another thing the disaster designation would do would be to make widows as heads of households eligible for 26 weeks of unemployment benefits the same as the survivors and those out of work because of the closure, according to Gov. Cecil Andrus' office.

H. Fred Garrett, of the State Employment Department said more than 200 claims for unemployment compensation have been received as a result of the fire.

"There is no way of knowing how many will file," Garrett said, adding there likely will be "secondary" job losses to other businesses in the community.

While there have been estimates of up to $1 million in payroll loss, the consensus is that no one knows for sure how much the loss will be.

It all depends on how long the Sunshine Mine, the nation's largest and richest silver producer, remains closed.

Scotts. Are Weeds A growing concern with you?

plus 2

Simply spread Scotts TURF-BUILDER Plus 2. It goes right to work on English daisy, dandelions, clover and most other common lawn weeds. PLUS 2 makes them gradually curl up and disappear — roots and all. At the same time, PLUS 2 supplies a full feeding of Scotts Turf Builder. Makes grass grow greener and sturdier, filling in those places where the weeds used to be.

Kansel

All it takes is an easy spreader-application of KANSEL. It provides the same positive weed control as Scotts PLUS 2 — without the fertilizing. So if dandelions, clover and similar weeds are a growing concern, but your lawn doesn't need fertilizing, spread KANSEL now. It will take care of the weeds before they can crowd out any more good grass.
