Flubbed tests to delay Fords

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency EPA said today that Ford may be prohibited from selling many of its 1973 model cars until at least October because it performed more maintenance during engine emission tests than the law allows.

It was understood that the engines involved are used in all Pintos and Capris, optionally in the Galaxie and also in the Montego, Torino and Mercury.

Ford engineers, in testing the four engines, made more maintenance on the engines than EPA regulations permit, thus invalidating the test results submitted to the government for certification.

It was not known whether the same error was made in testing the other eight engines used by Ford. If it was, Ford would not be able to sell any 1973 cars until new tests are completed and the engine is certified as "clean."

Momentous issues pend as Soviets greet Nixon

By STEWART HENSLEY
UPI Diplomatic Reporter
MOSCOW (UPI) — President Nixon arrived in Moscow today for the start of intensive week-long summit talks with Soviet leaders on arms control, space, trade and possibly Vietnam and the Middle East.

American and Soviet flags flapped under a gray sky and Moscow's warmest day of the year — 81 degrees — as Nixon descended from his presidential jet. The Spirit of 76, at Moscow's Vnukovo II airport, was not at plane side. This was described simply as a matter of protocol.

The President and his party rode by limousine through 17 miles of bunting-decorated streets to the Kremlin fortress in the heart of Moscow.

Heading the welcoming party of 300 were Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. The Communist Party secretary general Leonid I. Brezhnev talks to be "the most intensive I have ever participated in on substantive matters."

But there were indications the talks might not produce the immediate accord on arms control that had been expected. The Nixon arrival was seen live on both American and Soviet television. The American television networks picked up the Russian TV pictures and interposed their own commentaries. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, also gave unusually fast treatment to the arrival.

Tass commented, "It is difficult to overestimate the significance of this visit." Moscow television devoted 25 minutes to the live arrival ceremonies. There were a few smiles but no traditional beathugs of greeting for Nixon from Kremlin leaders. Kosygin, hardly a smiler at the best of times, offered his hand to Nixon. Mrs. Nixon took into both arms a bouquet of red flowers.

Diplomats noted the absence at the airport of Brezhnev, the leader judged more equal than his equals on the Soviet Union's 15-man ruling Politburo. He had generally been expected to be present. About 200 Russian workers, hused to the airport, dutifully waved U.S. flags but did not shout or smile.

Immunity procedure judged Ok

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court upheld today immunity laws used by many states and the federal government to obtain evidence from witnesses who try to refuse to testify.

Two opinions, written by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., came in challenges to the immunity law of New Jersey and part of the 1970 federal crime control law. The vote was 5 to 2 in both cases.

These statutes substitute for the 5th amendment privilege against self-incrimination a promise that the testimony or its fruits will not be used in any future prosecution. This is known legally as "use" immunity.

Opponents of the laws argued for a much broader immunity — a guarantee against prosecution for any offense covered by the testimony. Lawyers call this "transactional" immunity.

The aim of the immunity statutes is to provide the state and federal governments with information needed to fight crime. The prosecutor is often more interested in other offenders than in the person on the witness stand, the Court was told in arguments.

If a witness continues to refuse to testify after being promised immunity, he is subject to a contempt finding and imprisonment until he decides to talk.

Court eyes jury votes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that a unanimous vote of all 12 jurors is not necessary for conviction in state criminal trials.

The decision came in cases from Louisiana and Oregon. Unanimous verdicts are required in federal courts and most other states.

Under Oregon's constitution, 10 of 12 jurors may return a verdict of guilty except in murder cases.

Many have wept as they viewed Michelangelo's Pieta for the first time. They weep again today.

Minico victim found

DECLO — John A. Bell, 67, Acequia, was found dead near his pickup truck Sunday seven miles east of Declo on U.S. 30 South.

Gordon Mills, state patrolman, said that he checked the pickup Sunday morning and both doors were closed and Mr. Bell's dog was near the pickup. He notified two of Mr. Bell's sons to come and get the pickup before it was stripped as it had been sitting in the same location since Friday.

When two of his sons arrived to get the pickup, they checked the area further and found that some fence had been torn out along the side of the road. There were tracks leading up to the pickup.

During this inspection of the area, they found their father's body lying in sagebrush and grass in the borrow pit about 150 feet from the pickup.

Dr. Leslie Fillmore, Cassia County coroner, said today that no autopsy was planned. He listed the cause of death as exposure and shock.

The body was taken to Payne Mortuary.

N. Viets attack at Hue

By ARTHUR HIGBEE
SAIGON (UPI) — North Vietnamese using PT76 amphibious tanks swarmed across the My Chan River defense line 22 miles north of Hue today in an apparent effort to establish a bridgehead. Heavy fighting was reported in the area at nightfall.

The North Vietnamese probing attack, the second in two days, was believed halted by intense naval bombardment from U.S. 7th Fleet ships off the coast, by Allied air strikes that cost an F4 Phantom jet, and by Allied artillery.

The North Vietnamese increased their pressure 12 miles west of Hue and carried out sharp attacks near Kontum in the Central Highlands, at An Loc 60 miles north of Saigon, and in the Mekong Delta. South Vietnamese put Communist losses in those actions at 937 men, including 23 tanks on the Hue defense perimeter.

Hanoi Radio reported more intense U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam today and said U.S. Navy planes on Sunday resumed mining of Haiphong Harbor. There was no confirmation of the reports by the U.S. command but the Pentagon has made it clear in public statements it is the U.S. intent to keep Haiphong Harbor inoperable.

GOP senators map strategy

TWIN FALLS — Incumbent Republican Idaho state senators caucused privately here Sunday to map out this year's campaign strategy.

Eleven of 19 Republican senators met to design a strategy to maintain the narrow Republican majority in the senate.

Should the Republicans lose a net two seats, the Democrats would control the senate.

Republican participants said privately that they viewed as serious the threat of losing control of the senate.

Assaultant hammers famed statue

Madman smashes Michelangelo Pieta

By CHARLES W. BELL
VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Shouting, "I am Jesus Christ," a bearded, long-haired man leaped a barrier in front of Michelangelo's Pieta and before the horrified eyes of Sunday tourists repeatedly smashed the priceless masterpiece with a hammer.

The stunning vandalism was a crime without precedent at the Vatican and with few precedents anywhere in the modern world. The marble statue at St. Peter's Basilica of the Madonna cradling the crucified Jesus is one of the world's most famous and treasured works of art.

Most of the blows found their mark. Successive swings knocked off the Madonna's nose, smashed her left eye,

Vatican officials called the damage serious, but said they hoped to restore the Pieta quickly. They conceded it would never look the same again.

The only similar case inside St. Peter's in modern times occurred in 1969 when a German tourist, saying he wanted to protest against nuclear arms, smashed the marble fingers on the left hand of a statue of Pope Pius VI beneath the basilica's main altar.

Not even Pope Paul VI was told about the Pieta until after he appeared at noon at his window overlooking St. Peter's Square to bless tourists and pilgrims.

When he heard the news, he traveled down into the basilica in a private elevator with a gold satin throne to see the damage inflicted on the only piece of art ever signed by the genius Michelangelo Buonarroti.

It was there he heard the name of the curly-haired, rusty-bearded man with the hammer. —Lazlo Toth, 33, a Hungarian-born citizen of Australia who described himself as a geologist.

The Pieta is a majestic thing, a slightly larger-than-life sculpture weighing 6,700 pounds and portraying the Madonna cradling the body of Jesus after the crucifixion.

TF graduates 461 tonight

TWIN FALLS — Commencement exercises for 461 Twin Falls graduates will be held at 8 p.m. tonight in the high school gymnasium.

School officials said this morning the weather appears to have eliminated possibilities of an outdoor exercise in the stadium.

Baccalaureate services were held Sunday afternoon in the high school gymnasium for the graduates.

Speaker for the event was Rev. Albert E. Allen, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Twin Falls.

Students participating in the services included Larry Anderson, student body president who gave the benediction, and senior class officers Pamela Call, secretary; Brenda Bonnett, vice president, and Thomas Shew, president, who introduced the speaker.

For tonight's commencement program, Larry Anderson will lead the pledge of allegiance following the processional.

John Wolfe, chairman of the Twin Falls school board, will present special awards to outstanding students.

There will be no guest speaker, but the five class valedictorians and one salutatorian will each speak briefly.

Diplomas will be awarded by Mrs. Ruth Day, Dr. Richard Sayers and Dr. Howard Ron, members of the school board, assisted by Richard A. Baun, dean of the high school.

John Lawrence, school principal, will present the class. Response for the class will be by senior class president, Tom Shew.

Bias charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Joint Economic Committee of Congress today accused the Price Commission of showing contempt for the consumer while catering to business executives.

Democrats who make up the majority of the committee issued a report saying "to date, the same staff which has held plenty of time for private conversation with business executives seeking price increases has had no time for consumers."

"This contempt for the consumer," it added, "creates the impression that members of the Price Commission may be more interested in good relations with the business community than in really holding down the price the consumer pays."

Laureate dies

LONDON (UPI) — Cecil Day-Lewis, poet laureate of England for four years, died today at the age of 68. His son said he had been suffering from cancer.

The illness was diagnosed as cancer about a year ago but Day-Lewis kept on working and wrote his last poem, "To All — Lemmons," during the past month, his son said.

Public sees vandalism of famed Pieta

(Continued from p. 1) It occupied a place of honor in the world's biggest Christian church, in the first chapel to the right as visitors entered through the great main bronze doors. Not even a Pope would usurp its place. Only once since Michelangelo signed and completed it in 1499 had the Pieta left St. Peter's — for 19 months in the mid-1960s while it was on exhibit at the New York World's Fair. When it went to New York, the Pieta was transported in a bulletproof, unsinkable steel crate weighing six tons and was insured for $10 million. It was a symbolic figure because, art experts said, the Pieta was priceless. When it returned in 1965, Pope Paul said it would never leave again. The statue and all other art treasures in the Vatican were insured in 1968, but the Vatican never announced the evaluation of various masterpieces there. "It was fantastic how it happened," said Francesco Ticinese, who was standing with a group of Dutch tourists in front of the statue. "It was so quick," he said. "Suddenly that man was on the statue, just hitting away with a hammer." Dr. Seymour Fisher, Los Angeles, said he counted about six hammer blows, most of them aimed at the face of the Madonna. About six men leaped to pull Toth down and some witnesses said some of the men and women who saw the attack wanted to lynch him. "Everyone was stunned," said Fisher. "Then I heard someone crying. No screams or shouting or anything like that. Just one person crying."

Russians greet President Nixon

Oregon favors McGovern

By United Press International Sen. George S. McGovern, with Tuesday's Oregon primary seemingly in his pocket, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey are appealing for the Mexican-American vote in pivotal California. McGovern promised to stop eating lettuce in support of Cesar Chavez, who is fasting to lead boycotting farm workers. Chavez endorsed McGovern over the weekend. Humphrey said that if he is elected president, he will appoint a Mexican-American to the cabinet. McGovern also got the endorsement Sunday of Eugene J. McCarthy, who appealed to his supporters to vote for McGovern in California's June 6 primary. The winner of the important primary gets all the state's 271 delegates to the national convention.

Question...

1 certainly approve of flowers at a funeral service but they seem so forgotten when they are left at the cemetery. Isn't there a purpose they can serve after the funeral?

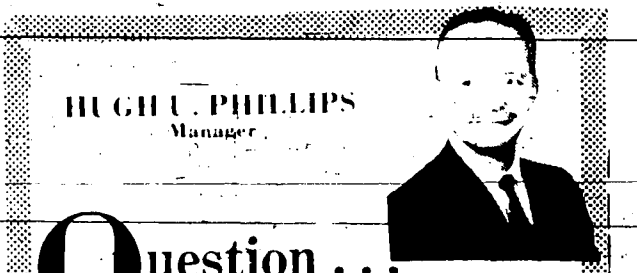

Answer...

Flowers are a mode of communication between people — they are sent to a funeral service as an expression of condolence and sympathy. Many times following a funeral service the family instructs us to take the flowers to a church, nursing home, or to the home of a shut in friend. Some families, however, feel the intended purpose of flowers is better served by leaving them at the cemetery grave site. Attending a funeral service personally is one of the most thoughtful things we do in life for our friends and associates. When this is not possible flowers have come to be recognized as an acceptable substitute. For this reason flowers sent to our Funeral Home are always given special attention.

N. Viet aides worried over summit talks

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Window on the World

Summit Worries Viet Cong:
North Vietnamese and Viet Cong officials make no bones in private conversations over their fear that President Nixon will win concessions in Moscow on Vietnam. The Communist Vietnamese diplomats admit they had expected a tough stand from both Peking and Moscow—and a possible cancellation of Nixon's trip to the Kremlin after his blockade and bombing of North Vietnam. The thinking is now gaining ground in Western diplomatic circles that Hanoi triggered the invasion of South Vietnam with the express intention of forcing the Soviets to cancel Nixon's invitation to Moscow.

"No Go" in Londonderry:
The British government has firmly ruled out any attempt to reoccupy by force the so-called "No go" areas of Londonderry held by the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA). Despite growing pressure from Ulster Protestants to do so, the British government is convinced sending in the army would mean large scale bloodshed, in which many women and children would be involved. Trying to hold down the areas after they were recaptured would be an equally bloody business, British officials say.

William Whitelaw, secretary for Northern Ireland, still hopes his present "tread softly" policy will pay off by gradually splitting the IRA away from the mass of the Roman Catholic population.

Aid to Romania:
Romania soon may become the first Soviet satellite to obtain foreign aid from the Japanese government. Foreign Office sources in Tokyo say Roman state council President Nicolae Ceausescu will ask for a $100 million "soft loan" when he visits Tokyo

June 2. The money would be used to buy oil refineries and synthetic textile plants from Japan. Ceausescu's intentions already have been relayed to the Japanese government and the loan is getting serious consideration. It would fit in with the big trade offensive the Japanese are mounting in Eastern Europe. The Bank of Tokyo has announced a $10 million loan to East Germany and other loans totaling $50 million for the East Germans are being negotiated by private Japanese banks.

Analysis

Gooding state trio sets fete

GOODING — Three senior music students from Idaho State School for the Blind will present a public recital Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Kim Toomer, Rigby; Kevin Nathan, Boise, and Stanley Snooks, Pocatello, have participated in the district and regional music competition festivals and fourth district music clinics.

They have also been active members of the Gooding Junior Federated Music Club, an affiliation of the Twin Falls Federated Music Club, and have performed solos in the Federated Music Club Junior Festivals.

They perform solo numbers and also sing as an ensemble. Miss Toomer is a pianist as well as a vocalist.

Last year Kim and Kevin received $100 scholarships for the blind from the National Federated Music Club to attend this summer's music camp at the University of Idaho.

For the past three years these students with Cheryl Anderson have been performing as a quartet throughout Magic Valley. They were invited to perform at last year's All-Northwest Music Educators convention in Boise.

All three of the vocalists were chosen to the Idaho All-State Choir in 1970, All Northwest Choir in 1971 and All-State Choir in 1972.

The recital program will consist of solos by each student and two numbers by the quartet. All are students of Mrs. Delores Robinson, music instructor at the Idaho School for the Deaf and Blind.

Cassia scouts plan camporee

BURLEY — A camporee is planned for June 2 and 3 at Minidoka Dam for Boy Scouts from Cassia and Minidoka counties.

Check-in time for each scout troop will be from 4 to 6 p.m. June 2 and each scout will be charged 75 cents to cover cost of the event.

The combined district camporee is designed to give new scouts their first experience at camping out in order to prepare them for summer camp.

The camporee is held each year to check out camping equipment and mainly to have fun, according to LaMar Hurst, Cassia district, and Floyd George, Minidoka district, officials.

This year the camporee will be patterned after last year's event with a wooden raft being built by each scout troop or participation in a raft trip. Each raft must have buoyancy equivalent to at least four 30-gallon drums and be light enough to be hand carried into the water. An adult supervisor will be required for each raft and everyone must wear life jackets.

The raft trip will start at 10 a.m. June 3, according to Mr. Hurst and Mr. George.

Telephone pioneers hold awards party

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Club of Telephone Pioneers of America held their award and appreciation party Friday at the Moose Hall.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to Fred Byrne, Ken Mann, Vesta Gray, Berrene Otero, Robert Mingo, Bill Wallace, Alice Glover, Bill Hone, Fay Stepleton, Janet Hill, Ron Jones, Dorothy Huston and Frank Edwards.

Plaques were presented to Ivory Duffy and Robert Karns for work done on the miniature float which won the sweepstakes award in Pasadena. Awards were also presented to Evelyn Haney and Ted Hartwell for outstanding service. The above awards were presented by Earl S. Anderson, president of the Magic Valley club.

The non-pioneer of the year award was presented to Sue Thompson by Fred Byrnes. The pioneer of the year award was presented to Trellis Taylor by Robert Stommel, president of the Sawtooth council.

New officers for the coming year include Gordon Bournier, president; Mrs. Ivory Duffy, vice-president; and Wilma Routt, secretary-treasurer. Life member officers are Eleanor Bradley, president; Tom Newbry, and Mary Harris, secretary-treasurer.

COMMENT

Monetary Reform

Christian Science Monitor

It is now five months, almost to the day, since the "Group of Ten" industrial nations met at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. There, in an atmosphere of international monetary crisis, they forged a hastily conceived agreement to fill the void left by the collapse of the old world monetary system, born at Bretton Woods in 1944. That system fell apart when President Nixon announced on August 15 that the United States would no longer buy back dollars for gold from its overseas creditors.

The Smithsonian pact was intended to be temporary. In it the United States agreed to devalue the dollar by 8.57 percent against gold. Other currencies were individually devalued against the dollar. It was a holding action. Everyone knew that. But it was good enough to buy time for something better.

Now, five months later, that something better has not come about. And in the intervening months, the international monetary system has, if anything, become more dollar-centered than before. Other governments still absorb dollars to keep currency values steady—but now they do it without a United States commitment to redeem the dollars in gold. Such dollar holdings had gone up from $33 billion last July to $47.9 billion at the end of January.

There are reasons for the delay in getting on with the job for a viable monetary reform. Europe, while it wants a bigger say in world money matters, is still at sixes and sevens over harmonizing its own several currencies. It may be a decade before it gets around to monetary unity. The United States, on its part, has some valid complaints about damage to its markets by restrictive trade practices abroad. Most damaging, however, is the fact that the mutual trust and cooperation that made Bretton Woods possible have faded in the community of Western nations. Here is where the heart of the matter lies.

An internal study done by the International Monetary Fund asked for a number of reforms. Among these: willingness of the United States to buy back its outstanding dollar commitments, either with gold or other assets; an end to the dollar's privileged status of immunity from devaluation; and an increased role for special drawing rights (SDR) as the new international form of "paper money" reserves.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, warned in a recent Montreal speech of the need for faster action toward monetary reform. By inference he pointed to the United States as needing to take the lead in this. While stating that the United States has legitimate trade grievances, he observed that these differences could be settled in parallel trade talks alongside the needed monetary reform negotiations.

Both trade and monetary agreements can best be brought about when nations are working in an atmosphere of mutual trust, respect and confidence. It happened before at Bretton Woods. It can happen again, if all sides go to the conference table prepared to give as well as to get.

While Washington's thought is understandably preoccupied with Vietnam, the President's flight to Moscow this coming weekend, and domestic political affairs of an election year, these should not be allowed to sidetrack the urgent matter of monetary reform. The need is immediate. It can only become more urgent as time slides by.

Clean Water

New York Times

The House of Representatives recently passed a water pollution control bill which would provide up to $18 billion to build sewage treatment plants and to purify the nation's fouled waters. The Senate had previously passed an even more ambitious bill.

Yet without money to build new water and sewage lines, treatment plants are of limited value. Rural and suburban towns will continue to dump sewage in the nearest body of water. Older communities will continue to rely on sewers to carry the overflow of water during heavy rainstorms rather than construct separate conduits for storm water and sewage.

The administration has resisted expenditures for water and sewer lines and kept spending far below the level of requests from local governments. The House Appropriations subcommittee chaired by Representative Jamie Whitten of Mississippi has gone along with the administration in framing this year's supplemental appropriations bill. However, Representative Robert Stephens of Georgia is offering an amendment to add $650 million for this purpose. The appropriation of this additional money can help deliver clean water to millions of people across the nation. — New York Times

Tragedy

Idaho State Journal

Why does a swollen irrigation canal flow unguarded through the center of Pocatello, inviting tragedies such as the drowning of a 10-year-old boy Tuesday?

What safety measures, if any, are taken near the schools adjacent to the canal? What can be done to prevent future mishaps? prevent future mishaps?

There are questions should prick the conscience of all of us. Trouble is, everyone is too busy, and it's too easy to blame someone else for not doing something about the problem.

We would like to know if safety measures have been proposed in the past and if so, why they have been ignored. And if a study has been made and solutions proposed, then it is high time to get moving.

The Pocatello Safety Council seems the logical body to undertake an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the drowning this week. The public has a right to know if the canal is necessary in Pocatello, to what extent a danger exists, and what safety measures can be taken.

THE LIVES of other children depend upon what action the community takes now.

WASHINGTON — Four major special interest groups have completed their ratings for senators and congressmen, and without any surprise, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, comes out with the most solidly liberal marks among the four-member Idaho delegation.

The most conservative member of the Idaho delegation might come as a surprise, however. Most Idahoans would bet that Rep. James McClure, R-1st, is the most conservative, but they may be wrong.

According to the Americans for Constitutional Action, retiring Sen. Len Jordan (R) is the most conservative. Based on 24 selected votes in 1971, Jordan voted "right" with the ACA 88 per cent of the time.

Based on 29 selected votes on the House side, Rep. McClure, currently a candidate to succeed Jordan, voted "right" with the ACA only 81 per cent of the time.

In contrast, Sen. Church received a mere 17 per cent marking from the ACA, a group which was formed in 1958 by some conservative senators dedicated to the election of more "constitutional conservatives." The ACA is considered the conservatives' answer to the more well-known Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), which was founded in 1947 by such well-known liberals as Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., who is currently battling for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The fourth member of Idaho's congressional delegation, Rep. Orval Hansen, R-2nd, received a marking of 65 per cent from the ACA, which may come as a surprise to those Second District Republicans who were pushing the late Bill Bergeson to enter the GOP primary against Rep. Hansen because the Idaho Falls Republican was not considered conservative enough.

Besides the ACA and the ADA, the other two special interest groups conducting ratings were the National Farmers Union (NFU) and COPE, the political action arm of the AFL-CIO.

Surprisingly enough, Sen. Church fared better with the ACA than did Sen. Jordan with the ADA. According to the liberal lobby group, Jordan voted right only 15 per cent of the time while Sen. Church voted correctly 93 per cent of the time. The ratings were based on 27 selected votes.

Only three senators, all Democrats, received a perfect 100 per cent score from the ADA. They were Sens. Stevenson (Ill.), Kennedy (Mass.), and Mondale (Minn.). Only two senators, Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Carl Curtis, R-Neb., received perfect 100 per cent marks from the conservative ACA.

On the House side, however, McClure received only a five per cent right vote mark from the ADA, which may cause some of the senatorial candidate's supporters to maintain that the Payette Republican is in fact the most conservative member of the delegation.

Hansen received a 24 per cent mark from the ADA.

The political action arm for labor, called COPE (Committee on Political Education), also came up with some surprises in its ratings. Since labor is traditionally Democrat, Sen. Church naturally scored the highest percentage, a respectable 83 per cent, based on 12 selected votes.

Sen. Jordan, however, was one of only two senators to receive an absolute zero rating from COPE. The other was Sen. Harry Byrd, Jr., Ind-Va. Two other senators, Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, receive perfect 100 per cent marks from COPE. Jordan's zero percentage rating would appear to strengthen his claim to being the most conservative member of the delegation.

On the House side, Rep. McClure voted correctly, according to COPE, 13 per cent of the time based on 12 selected votes. Hansen received the highest COPE rating among the three GOP members of the delegation. The Idaho Falls Republican voted right 27 per cent of the time.

An emerging force in Idaho is the national Farmer's Union, which was founded in 1903 to strengthen the American farm family. It advocates high price supports for farmer with rigid production controls.

Sen. Church received a perfect 100 per cent score from the NFU, while Jordan voted with the NFU only 30 per cent of the time based on 11 selected votes. McClure voted with the NFU a surprising 54 per cent, while Hansen received a mark of 36 per cent.

Self-Service

Automation at the filling station. Pump your own gas. How many American workers might be replaced with a coin-operated machine?

National news media, home based in big cities, cannot present an accurate mirror of us — the United States.

Big city problems are not necessarily "typical," yet the big cities monopolize the press, radio, TV, magazine and other information facilities. Thus changes and trends initiated by news media are not necessarily to everybody's best interest.

To keep me reminded how "out-of-touch" we can become in our ivory towers, frequently I recall a suggestion which Eleanor Roosevelt once made to help working girls economize.

In her magazine column she suggested, among other things, that working girls should ride taxicabs less, buses more.

Her response demonstrated a total lack of awareness that working girls — then and now — only seldom allow themselves the luxury of a taxicab.

Recently the Wall Street Journal described the typical service station attendant as follows: "A high school kid with a Veronica Lake hairdo who swishes a greasy rag across your windshield and considers it a reflection on his manhood to have to check your car's oil and water."

Well, we are putting up with a lot of goof-offs in the city, but that description does not properly reflect the professional service station attendants I encounter while traveling the byroads.

Nonetheless, since crowded cities get the worst of everything first and since the city-based news media send the ugly picture everywhere at the speed of light, evolution — whether progress or retrogression — is accelerated everywhere.

So where just a decade ago there was but one self-service filling station in our nation, a "novelty" idea, today there are 12,000. The number has quadrupled in three years. The cut-rate discounters started it, now the big companies are doing it.

Many major company stations have designated one or two pumps where you may serve yourself for less per gallon.

Conventional stations which have been unprofitable are being converted altogether to self-service.

Industry executive Harry Bade calls it "the first basic change in gasoline marketing since the industry started."

Another, Bob Reed, predicts "more than half of all gasoline will be sold through self-service outlets 'very shortly.'"

In 1964 only 13 states allowed it; now 40 do.

It's a bonanza for manufacturers of the coin-operated pumps. A totally automated station can be set up for as little as $10,000.

Statistically, so far, the hazards are no greater than in attended stations.

The introduction of self-service stations frequently triggers a price war with franchise dealers; friction is inevitable.

Evolution, accelerated, is revolution. And this is nothing less than that.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Wallace

SEATTLE, Wash. (NEA) — Not sympathy for a stricken man but the hard fact of his season-long performance compels attention right now for the remarkable 1972 political achievements of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

His stunning double triumph in the Michigan and Maryland primaries provides the climax of his surprising year. He was won, at this point, six of the 16 primaries thus far held.

That gives Wallace twice as many primary victories as Sen. George McGovern, the present leader in committed convention delegates, and two more than Sen. Hubert Humphrey, considered McGovern's chief rival for the 1972 nomination.

Moreover, Wallace's victories in Michigan and Maryland were so thorough that he seemed to have picked up more than 110 delegates and to have boosted his overall total to the range of 325 — second only to McGovern.

To go further, Wallace has finished second in three other primaries where there was multicandidate competition — Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Indiana. And he was Humphrey's only rival in West Virginia.

Even if he had not been shot down and thus evidently eliminated as an active campaigner for the remainder of the nominating period, this moment would have been a "break point" for him. Except possibly for a minor write-in effort in California's June 6 primary, in none of the remaining seven tests was Wallace expected to make a bid.

But he was planning to press hard for more delegates in some southern and border states, and my country-wide canvassing of the outlook suggests he will have successes in this strategy even as he has immobilized in his hospital bed.

His strength is rising in Texas, where a huge block of 130 delegates will be chosen in June. He also is making inroads in Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina, though it is not yet clear how much of his support in those places will translate into substantial numbers of delegates.

How Wallace in his present condition can use his astonishing delegate strength in the Miami Beach convention in July is also unsettled. Probably he was going to play it by ear anyway. The sure thing was that he would try, with all his evident political skills, to exert maximum influence and keep attention riveted upon him at the convention.

The Democratic party may be a long time getting over the fact that Wallace won with 51 per cent of the vote in Michigan, supposedly a progressive, issue-oriented state where men backed by big labor, as was Humphrey, can be expected to do well.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Lichen Planus

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told by a dermatologist that I have lichen planus. He explains it as a nervous condition of the membranes in my system.

My tongue and mouth become very irritated and lesions appear on the inside of my cheeks. Also the rectal area is irritated most of the time — J.J.

I'd rather write about things for which I can offer some constructive advice, naturally, but there have been enough inquiries about lichen planus that I guess I'd better write about it, even though there is only limited information that I (or anyone else) can give.

It is a chronic skin affliction which can affect various parts of the body, including the mucous membranes.

The cause of this ailment is not known. It has been observed to be more common in individuals who are nervous or have an emotional disturbance of some sort. Sometimes it accompanies some other illness; perhaps worry over the illness has something to do with that, but as I said, the cause just is not known.

It often affects the wrists, legs, trunk; seldom the face.

The itching is the most unpleasant part of the ailment, and the itching is, indeed, severe. Lichen planus (pronounced Like-en Plane-us) is not to be confused with the ordinary, but also annoying, itching that comes from dry skin, diabetes and other such causes. In lichen planus, there is a visible lesion.

The ailment can take its time about running its course — sometimes only weeks, more often months and even a year or more. There can be in some cases, particularly involving the mouth, recurrences later.

As we know no cause, we have no specific cure. The best course is to alleviate the itching and to ease the patient's nervous tensions. For the latter, tranquilizers or sedatives are helpful.

Lotions and steroid (cortisone type) creams are used for the itching, and steroids may be given orally for short periods. There are other medications sometimes taken internally.

It's a worrisome, annoying condition, and since it afflicts tense people, the worry over it may well just make matters worse. Fortunately it is not a dangerous disease. Just very annoying.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

Readers' questions are incorporated into his column whenever possible.

Character player dies

LONDON (UPI)—Dame Margaret Rutherford, the quavery-voiced character actress, died today at her Buckinghamshire home, a family spokesman said. She was 80.

In a film and stage career spanning more than 40 years, she perhaps was best known in several roles as Miss Marple, an Agatha Christie thriller heroine.

She won an Academy Award in 1964 as best supporting actress for her role of a crochety old lady in "The V.I.P.s." It was a role which suited her perfectly.

Margaret Rutherford, made a dame of the British empire in 1967—the feminine equivalent of knighthood—was one of the best-loved characters of the British acting world.

She wore great flowing capes on shopping expeditions to London. She gave an interview once in a beribboned nightcap and flowered slippers.

She had only to thrust her shoulders back, her monumental jaw forward and take a sudden breath to set her many chins quivering and her audiences laughing.

Miss Rutherford made her first stage appearance at the Old Vic in 1925 and was seldom out of the limelight. As age advanced and she confessed "my memory is not as good as it was," she concentrated on films rather than the stage.

She appeared in more than 25 movies, among them "Miranda," "Her Favorite Husband," "I'm All Right Jack," "Mouse on the Moon."

Every year VW's race on the Baja. Every year they win.

We're celebrating with the Baja Champion SE.

Every year VW's race in the Mexican 1000. Over some of the roughest terrain in the world. The Baja Desert. Against all sorts of competition. And the VW's have finished first. Five times, in five consecutive years.

We're celebrating these victories with the Baja Champion SE. A limited production Super Beetle with special features.

- Like silver metallic paint.
- Special sports wheels.
- Special Baja Racing Stripes.
- A special plaque and certificate.
- An optional leatherette interior as standard equipment.
- And the same type of rugged construction and dependability that beat the Baja.

And for all that, it only costs a little more than a regular Super Beetle.

Like we said, The Baja Champion SE is a limited production car. We don't have many. So come in soon. Look over the Special Edition Beetle. And any other VW that catches your eye.

They're all made as if they were going to the Baja.

Police top protesters at Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A threat by militant Vietnam war protesters to try to block roads to the Pentagon failed to materialize today. Police outnumbered protesters as the 25,000 defense employees streamed to work as usual.

Following a day of largely peaceful antiwar speech-making and sporadic outbreaks of clashes between radical elements and police, security forces were out well before daybreak to thwart a threat to block access to the Pentagon.

But only a scattering of young people, some wearing backpacks, were in evidence anywhere around the five-sided Defense Department headquarters.

By 8 a.m. EDT, when almost all the military and civilian workers are due on the job, less than 100 demonstrators were outside the main mall entrance, fronting the Potomac River.

Pentagon officials had imposed extremely tight security in response to the notice by militant elements of the protest forces. Leaders of a coalition of groups that arranged Sunday's rally of some 7,000 persons disavowed any part in the Pentagon blockade threat.

Security was made especially tight at the huge defense establishment after a bomb was set off in the building Friday morning. The blast took place in a women's washroom on the third level, breaking main water lines. Tons of water gushed through a big hole in the floor and damaged some computers in an Air Force communications center two levels below. No one was hurt.

Police forces were deployed, mostly in small groups of four to five, at numerous points along the many access roads that about 10,000 passenger cars use daily to reach the Pentagon. The enormous parking lots were almost filled to capacity by the usual 8 a.m. arrival time.

Antibusing plan approval slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate approval of a sweeping antibusing proposal appears almost certain. Backers of the measure today concentrated their efforts on the House.

The Senate tentatively set Tuesday to consider the $18.5 billion, three-year aid to higher education bill. It includes a provision to halt for 18 months court-ordered busing now in progress or about to be implemented, if the busing order involved can be or is being appealed to a higher court.

The compromise hammered out by House-Senate conferees in 17 sessions over two months would stiffen the busing curbs passed by the Senate but weaken those approved by the House.

Aside from busing, the massive measure would create an additional program of aid to college students and provide for the first time direct federal aid to colleges, public and private. Current higher education programs that will expire June 30 would be strengthened and extended for the life of the

Protest fizzles

At the main entrance, small groups of protesters showed up under a bright sun, following a rainy weekend, apparently in preparation for a mid-morning prayer service. They ranged in age from about 14 to about 60.

There were some Hitlerite cries of "Sieg Heil!" and a few antiwar calls, and a few signs — "KILL 'Blockade the War" — but no effort was made to block the entrances.

Alongside one road leading to the building, a lone youth stood silently holding a sign "Stop the Bombing."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A congressional committee investigating Mafia influence over organized sports and horse racing today turned its attention on the business dealings of Sammy Davis Jr.

Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the House Crime Committee said the entertainer was not suspected of "culpability on his part as much as it was an effort to use him."

Nearly a dozen persons from New York and New Jersey, including police officials and reputed criminal figures, were called to testify as the committee opened its third week of hearings on gangland infiltration into professional sports.

According to committee sources, Davis at one time had a business relationship with Riverdale Horse Farm near Toms River, N.J.

Inmates escape

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Fourteen prisoners cut a hole in the ceiling of their cell, crawled to the roof of the four-story Orleans Parish Prison and lowered themselves to freedom Sunday, using a rope made of mattress covers.

By early today, five had been recaptured and nine were still at large.

The 14 jailbreakers were in a "dormitory cell" awaiting trial on various charges, mostly narcotics violations.

Two of them broke into a young woman's apartment and held her and her two children hostage until police came to her rescue 12 hours later.

Funds raised for TF Easter Seal Center

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Magic Valley Easter Seal Campaign have struck a vein of public support for handicapped children of the Gem State.

Back in early March of this year, campaign committee members searched for a way to raise funds for Easter Seal. The traditional mailing campaign had always been fairly successful but the committee wanted a method to augment contributions from the eight-county Magic Valley area.

What sort of activity could the group stage in order to appeal to the entire area?

How could local citizens not normally involved in the Easter Seal program be persuaded to contribute?

It was first suggested to conduct an auction, as had been done in the past in the Boise Valley. That had been done with only mild success.

The basketball season was just ending in the area, yes, something in sports would fit the bill.

The committee contacted several sports authorities and in six days, the first annual Magic Valley East-West All-Star Basketball Game became reality.

The game committee, headed by Rollie Moore, had some difficulty in getting the game sanctioned. The question of player eligibility slowed the process until the go-ahead came from the National Collegiate Athletic Association in Kansas City, Mo.

The game was finally played March 17.

After expenses, game netted $5,006 in proceeds for Easter Seal.

The game was the largest contribution to Easter Seal in the Magic Valley. A month later, it was found to be the biggest money-making special event in the state's history of the Easter Seal campaign.

The game helped make Twin Falls county the highest per capita contributor in the state.

Total contributions for the year including the game receipts came to nearly $22,000.

Expenses for the Twin Falls Easter Seal Speech and Hearing Center came to $19,320. For the first time, the local center is completely supported by Magic Valley residents.

Several local campaigners received awards at the state Easter Seal Society meeting in Boise for their efforts in bringing the all-star game about.

Mrs. Ruth Peterson received the state "Easter Seal Delegate of the Year" award. Mollie Moore, local radio announcer; Buzz Langdon, assistant manager of the local television station; Larry Hovey, Times-News sports editor, and Mike Gray and Neil Garrison, society members, all received special awards for their efforts in staging the game.

Mrs. Tom Davis, Twin Falls, received an award for directing the local door-to-door campaign.

Mrs. Peterson, Magic Valley campaign coordinator, said all receipts from future all-star games will go toward improvement of building and facilities of the local Easter Seal Center.

August wedding planned

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ketterling, Idaho Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to Tony Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Tucker, Twin Falls.

Miss Ketterling is a graduate of Idaho Falls High School and attended College of Southern Idaho this past year. Tucker, a Twin Falls High School graduate, was graduated from CSI this spring. He plans to attend Idaho State University, Pocatello, this fall, majoring in political science.

The couple will be married Aug. 26 in Idaho Falls.

MISS PUCKETT sets date

Miss Puckett, Schultz set July date

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Merrill K. Puckett announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Carol Lynn, to Wayne Eugene Schultz.

Miss Puckett was graduated from Twin Falls High School and attended the College of Southern Idaho. She is employed by Globe Realty.

Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Schultz, was graduated from Twin Falls High School and attended the College of Southern Idaho. He is employed as a director by KMVT.

The couple plans a July wedding.

Game proceeds

TWO OF MANY backers for the Magic Valley East-West All-Star Basketball Game which netted $5,006 for the Easter Seal Center were Warren Barry, left, and Buzz Langdon. The game was the largest contribution to Easter Seal in the Magic Valley. It helped make Twin Falls County the highest per capita contributor in the state.

Easter Seal Campaign ends

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Easter Seal Campaign has just ended in the most successful drive in area history.

Mrs. Ruth Peterson, Magic Valley campaign coordinator, said contributions from area residents have made Twin Falls County the highest per capita contributor of the year.

In the eight-county Magic Valley area, nearly $22,000 was donated, but there were complaints from some residents who received a second letter for a donation.

Mrs. Peterson said the second letter is not intended as a request for an additional donation.

"For those who do not understand our program," said Mrs. Peterson, "we send out two letters about a month apart in the mailing to make sure everyone has been contacted. The second letter is not a reminder as we do not cross-check our files for responses to the first letter."

Mrs. Peterson said the cost of labor is too high and volunteer service is not always available. She said the second letter is intended as "another friendly contact" with those who have already donated.

At the end of the campaign all contributions are sent to Boise for filing and if a contributor has a question he may contact the Boise office of the Easter Seal Society and find out exactly what his part was in the campaign.

Mrs. Peterson said, "this year we have had the greatest response to our appeal letters than any preceding year and we can't help but feel this is a reflection of support and good public relations."

Popular fabric

SHOSHONE — Knit garments are popular for men's and women's wear because of their comfort.

Tailored garments are now fashionable in knit as well as woven fabrics.

The easy give and quick recovery of knit fabric plus the ability to resist wrinkles, is fast becoming part of today's style in dress. New knits are designed and sold with the softer look and less tailored construction.

There also are some disadvantages of knit wear. One is that winds penetrate the porous fibers and make them cool in winter. To make slacks or pants warmer, look for a fiber combination of wool and polyester to prevent the "chill" factor. A blend of polyester and wool combines the stability of polyester and the resilience of wool. Jean Annett, Lincoln County Agent, says:

Another disadvantage of knit wear is that it snags easily because of its loop construction. To correct a snag, thread a needle and pull it through at the snag. The snag will pull through with the thread to the reverse side.

New publication zeroes in on women smokers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Read this before you light up. Maybe you'll change your mind.

For what it is claimed smoking does to you, a woman, is enough to make any female "take the pledge" immediately. Numerous medical studies and the U.S. Surgeon General's reports on how smoking affects health of both sexes long since have been chronicled. Now, a new publication zeroes in specifically on its effects on women.

Its two authors, drawing on scientific studies, say a woman who smokes is far more likely than her non-smoking counterpart to suffer from a host of disabling conditions, any of which can interfere with her ability to perform at home or on the job. And smoking during pregnancy affects two lives—the mother's and that of her unborn child.

Jane E. Brody, a science writer for The New York Times, and her husband Richard Enquist, free-lance writer and editor, have compiled the "Women and Smoking" publication for the Public Affairs Committee, a nonprofit educational organization founded in 1935 and headquartered in New York.

Today, 30.5 percent of the nation's adult women smoke. This means that nearly 20 million, age 21 and over, smoke regularly. Today in every age group above 25, the percentage of women smokers is higher than it was 15 years ago.

One third of all women in the childbearing years (15 to 44) are smokers and here is where the risk to the infant (as well as mother) comes in. Principal risks discussed by Brody and Enquist include lower than normal birthweight, stillbirth, miscarriage and impairment of the infant's heart rate and blood pressure.

"Nor does the damage cease at birth," they say. Studies show that babies of smoking mothers have a much higher incidence of heart disease, cancer and convulsions. They cite a British survey of 17,000 births indicating further that a mother's smoking will very likely have an inhibiting effect on the child's later social development.

Oswald: "It might be a good idea to devote a few columns to hands used by bridge teachers in their classes."

Jim: "These hands are usually very simple, but here is one that I have jazzed up a little."

Oswald: "The basic lesson here is very good. South has a classic no-trump and North a proper raise to game. South can count to nine easy tricks provided he just knocks out the ace of clubs at his first opportunity."

Jim: "You see where I have lived the hand up?" Oswald: "Of course. The teacher's hand would be set up to make just three no-trump. You have fixed it to give an expert a chance to go after an overtrick."

He wins the first spade and knocks out the ace of clubs. West plays a second spade. South takes that also, cashes the rest of the clubs and leads a third spade.

Jim: "He doesn't risk his contract. If West started with five spades, he takes three spade tricks, but West started with just four. When he takes the last spade, East, who will have had to discard three times on clubs, will be squeezed in the red suits. South throws a diamond from dummy and a heart from his hand and makes the rest of the tricks."

Oswald: "A lucky squeeze and, of course, an alert West can stop it by simply refusing to cash the last spade."

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add sugar and salt, mix well. Add flour and mix dough until smooth and elastic. Dough should be stiff. Knead on board, put into greased bowl.

Cover and let rise until double, about two hours. Knead down. Divide dough into four pieces. Roll each piece to one-eighth-inch thickness and place on greased pan. Lifting the dough and stretching it helps to achieve the right size. If possible, turn up a small edge to keep topping on. Brush dough with oil.

Apply topping and let rise 15 minutes. If in a hurry, the 15 minutes rising may be omitted. Bake at 450 degrees for 15 minutes. Bake for 10 minutes if you intend to freeze the pizza to prevent overcooking later.

TOPPING

3 (8 ounce) cans tomato sauce, flavored to taste with chili powder, about 1 1/2 teaspoons.

12 slices salami (luncheon meat cut in pieces, about three slices per pizza)
2 (4 ounce) cans mushrooms
2 cans pitted ripe olives, chopped
2 packages mozzarella cheese grated.
Add the topping in above order. Be sure to divide the ingredients four ways. Smother with cheese.

A Lovelier You

A YOUNG GIRL'S GOLD

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely writes: My niece, age 17, will soon graduate from high school. I want to send her a piece of jewelry, but puzzle over a selection. We live far apart, so I have not seen her since last summer when she was laden with gypsy beads. My idea is a keepsake — a karat gold love knot, like my aunt gave me years ago and I still treasure. My sister writes that such a gift would be nice — not what her daughter might think of it. The girls in my vicinity are wearing dangly things. Your advice, please.

The Answer: Finer things appeal to young girls. Jewelers report that a girl will buy sterling and gold-filled items for herself. She also goes antiquing for Victorian locket, cameos, fob pins, pierced earrings and fingerings.

Certainly she still wears fun jewelry for fun. But she will always delight in fine jewelry. A love ring or pin is a classic keepsake. She knows it, too. Some are set in the center with a tiny garnet, amethyst or cultured pearl.

Another choice might be a gold charm, engraved with her initials on one side, the date and occasion on the other. A gold circle pin is both pretty and useful. It can be initiated and dated on the back.

You may be surprised. Your gift could be the very thing she wears at her graduation.

DEAR ABBY: In response to your question: "Does any one remember her marriage proposal?" I'm sure my wife does.

Ellen and I had been going together for five years when I finally asked her to marry me. She said she would consider it only if I put it in writing, so I submitted the following, which you have my permission to reprint:

"Miss Ellen Astor: I, the undersigned, wish to inform you that in accordance with the laws of human nature and common practice, I hereby serve notice that on the fourth day of September in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty seven, I wish to take you as my lawfully wedded wife, to have and to hold until death do us part."

Fred H. Zimmerman
She accepted. This year we shall celebrate our 35th wedding anniversary.

DEAR ABBY: On Dec. 22, 1927, I was in my girl friend's kitchen having a little homemade wine when I reached into my pocket and pulled out 10 or 12 ring settings. I tossed them on the table and said "Pick out the one you like and I'll have a stone put in it." She did, and that was it. Since it was three days before Christmas that was her Christmas present, too. F. J. D. IN MENLO PARK

DEAR F. J. D.: That's what I call killing two birds with one "stone."

DEAR ABBY: A proposal? Well, that's a matter of opinion, but here's what happened. While holding the match to light my date's cigaret, I said, "I could never be married to a girl who smokes."

She took one final drag from the cigaret, then she put it out and said, "THAT was my last cigaret!" And there went my last excuse.

ME AND MY BIG MOUTH

DEAR ABBY: Here's my proposal: I got a call at work one afternoon. It was my boyfriend of seven months. "I'm downtown," he said. "Had something to take care of, and since I've already lost a day's work anyway you may as well come down and we'll take our blood tests."

Incidentally, my father picked my husband up at 3 a.m. after our wedding night and THEY went duck hunting.

HAPPY HUNTING WIDOW IN ILLINOIS

DEAR WIDOW: Yours was a new kind of "shotgun" wedding!

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a pair of illegitimate twin boys, now seven months old. Their father (a married man and the father of five legitimate children) proposed to me in the following manner:

"Honey, will you marry me?" I replied, "How can I?—You're already married!" He said, "Well, I'll get only one year for bigamy." I turned him down. Who wants a husband who would have two wives and seven kids?

FUSSY IN BLOOMINGTON

DEAR ABBY: I was 17 and Milton was 18. He was a college freshman and had a part-time job in a jewelry store.

We had gone together for maybe three months when Milton said, "While I can still get the rings wholesale, will you marry me?"

I said, "Yes. When I graduate from high school." That was 30 years ago. I have new rings now, but I still have the same old Milton. HAPPY IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ABBY: Do I remember my marriage proposal? How could I forget it?

I called my boyfriend from the doctor's office and when I told him what the doctor told me, he asked, "How soon can you get married?"

I said, "The sooner the better." The license, blood test and "I do's" took two days. I think we broke a record. NO REGRETS IN BUFFALO

Shoshone club sponsors play

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Civic Club will again sponsor the Antique Festival Theatre for a play at the Mary L. Gooding Park.

The play will be held in the evening on July 17, with a puppet show scheduled for the afternoon for children.

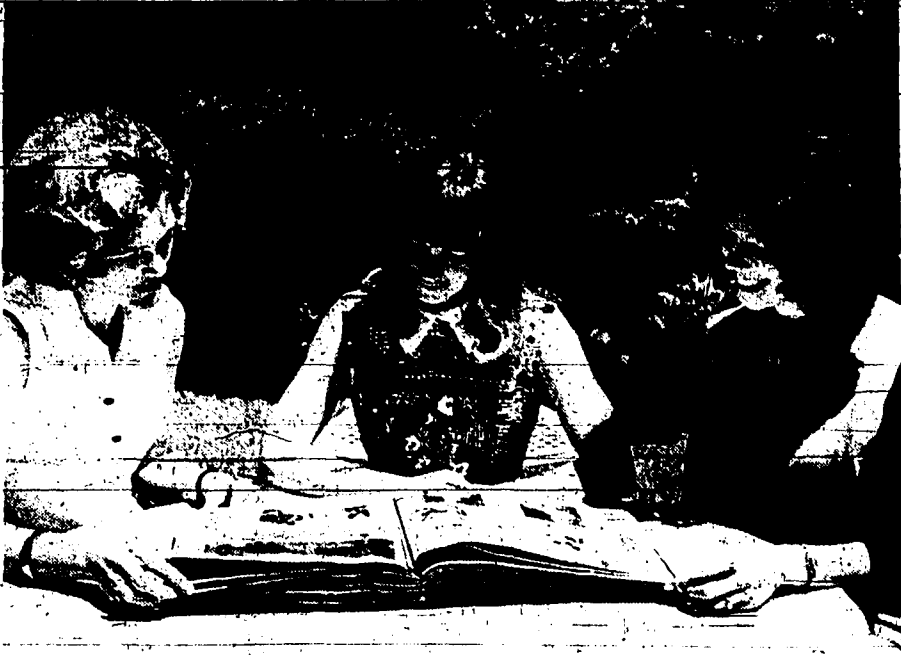

Mrs. Howard Hill, president, appointed committees for this event. They include: Mrs. Howard Adkins, housing; Mrs. Clyde Hughes, printing of tickets; Mrs. Reid Newby, coordinator with the chamber of commerce and Rotary Club for seating arrangements.

The club will also sponsor the flower show for the Lincoln County fair.

Committee members for the flower show are Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mrs. Robert Ballard, Mrs. Ivan Hopkins, Mrs. Charlie Green, Mrs. Donald Runberg, Mrs. Elmer Terry, Mrs. Leo Senften and Mrs. Eddie Tanaka.

Named as judges for the parade are Mrs. Alta Egersdorf, Mrs. Wallace Fixsen and Mrs. Reid Newby.

The Civic Club will be celebrating its 70th anniversary this September. There will be no regular meetings during the summer months.

Valuable

GOODING — Joani Gay Pauls, Gooding, and Mark Wayne Johnson, Fairfield, were named as recipients of the most valuable student awards given by the Gooding Elks Lodge No. 1745.

They will receive their awards Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Gooding Elks Club.

Miss Pauls is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayland Pauls, Gooding, and Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Fairfield. Both are graduating seniors who were high on the academic list in their respective high schools.

Conclude activities

ATTENDING THE Junior Club's annual May Tea in Twin Falls Saturday were Mrs. Fred Harder, new president; Mrs. William Reese, retiring president; and Mrs. Tom Kelley, chairman of the event which completes the year's program.

Junior Club holds tea

TWIN FALLS — Junior Club's annual May Tea was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Greg Kadlec to welcome prospective new members and honor outgoing members.

Outgoing members this year include Mrs. William Reese, Mrs. Gary Jenkins, Mrs. William Routh, Mrs. Jerry Meyerhoeffer, Mrs. Craig Neilsen, Mrs. William Babcock, Mrs. Ed Peterson and Mrs. Larry Henman.

They were honored during a skit which depicted events that occurred during their five years of service. The skit was prepared and presented by Mrs. Dan Slavin, Mrs. David Follingstad, Mrs. Bill Warner, Mrs. Michael Greene, Mrs. Wesley Startin, Mrs. Steve Lund, Mrs. Ronald Dingwall, Mrs. Rick Allen, and Mrs. Bob McKinstry.

Each outgoing member has completed five active years with Junior Club and now becomes an associate member.

Mrs. Tom Kelley was general tea chairman assisted by Mrs. Fred Ott, refreshments; Mrs. Rick Allen, decorations; and Mrs. Wayne Thiessen, narrator for the fashion show. Mrs. Mike Gray, Mrs. Kermit Lott, Mrs. Tom McClean and Mrs. Fred Ott modeled clothes from Edson's and Mrs. Richard Reed and Mrs. William Evans, associate members, poured.

During the past year, Junior

Club sponsored three fund-raising projects and contributed a total of $5,200.00 to various organizations. More than 3,200 service hours were donated by club members through participation in the club's service projects and through individual service given within the community.

Recently elected officers for 1972-73 also took office during the tea. They include Mrs. Fred Harder, president; Mrs. Dan Slavin, vice president; Mrs. Bill Warner, secretary; Mrs. Tom Schafer, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Donnelly, projects chairman; and Mrs. Orval Bradley, publicity chairman.

Seniors honored at Malta

S Club elects

SHOSHONE — New officers for the high school "S" Club are Tom Dallas, president; Ted Everett, vice president; and Lucy Berriochoa, secretary-treasurer.

The club held a picnic at the city park Friday, honoring the Pep Club for its support of the teams through the year.

MALTA — The Malta Social Club honored senior girls from the Raft River High school Class of 1972 at a tea-Friday afternoon at the Malta Lions Club.

Guest speaker was Lana Brackenbury, a student at Idaho State University and Miss Rodeo America. Miss Brackenbury told the girls of her moments of disappointment, happiness and embarrassment as she traveled 80,000 miles as Miss Rodeo America.

She said when confronted with temptations she remembered the high ideals she had been taught in her home and in high school. She read quotations from the Bible.

Mrs. Kevin Tracy gave a reading. Each girl introduced herself and told of her plans for the future. Mothers of the graduating girls were guests.

The hall was decorated in spring colors. Refreshments were served on round serving tables covered with white lace cloths over yellow and centered with miniature yellow net umbrellas filled with white and yellow flowers.

Senior girls receiving gifts were Geraldine Adams, Mary Alice Angus, Carol Batterton, Paula Beecher, Pargela Cooper, Laura Durfee, Jane Endow, Bonnie Hutchison, Dianne Jones, Edna Miller, Janet Schorzman, Julie Taylor, JoAnn Tracy, Lila Tracy and Tgacy Zollinger.

Chairmen for the event included Mrs. Glen Parke, club president, program; Mrs. Jack Wight, invitations; Mrs. Maylon Whiting and Mrs. Alvin Neddo, decorations; Mrs. Kent Holtman, gifts; and Mrs. Ether Parke and Mrs. Blaine Wight, refreshments.

Angela's trial resumes

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—With the Angela Davis trial entering its eighth week today, her lawyers return to court with an abbreviated defense they said would enable them to wind up the case this month.

Miss Davis' attorneys Wednesday asked for a delay in opening their case so they could present a shortened defense that could send the murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial to the all-white jury by the end of May.

In contrast, the prosecution ended its case against the former UCLA philosophy instructor one week ago after calling 95 witnesses and entering 200 exhibits as state evidence.

Chief defense attorney Howard Moore declined to discuss defense tactics and even hinted to newsmen that no witnesses would be called and final arguments would begin at once. The defense said the prosecutor proved nothing except that Miss Davis was a "warm, articulate human being."

Wallace legs see movement

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI)—Gov. George C. Wallace has shown some "involuntary motion" in his paralyzed legs, Dr. Joseph F. Schanno, head of the medical team caring for him, said today.

This was the first sign of motion in Wallace's legs since he was shot in an assassination attempt one week ago at a political rally in nearby Laurel, Md.

"It is nothing to get excited about but it is encouraging," Schanno told UPI. "There is some (movement). Schanno declined to give any further immediate details—or to say precisely Wallace may have some feeling—saying there would be further information later in the day.

The Columbia Broadcasting System said a nurse reported "some movement" was seen in Wallace's left foot. A doctor subsequently tickled the foot, CBS said, and detected some response.

Weather plays tricks in valley

KIMBERLY — Precipitation during the weekend was the heaviest recorded in the Magic Valley area since mid April, U. S. Weather Bureau officials said here today.

Heaviest rainfall recorded was at Tuttle with .75 of an inch during weekend storms, while the lightest was .06 of an inch in Burley.

Officials said between four and five inches of snow fell in the Ketchum, Hailey and Fairfield areas, but it melted shortly after falling. Magic Mountain, south of Hansen, listed three inches of snow Sunday.

Other precipitation reports included .25 of an inch in Kimberly and Twin Falls and .81 inch in Fairfield.

Lloyd Graybill, meteorologist for the weather bureau in Kimberly, said temperatures dropped in higher elevations resulting in lowering of stream flows in several areas. Sunday night's low was 31 at Fairfield, while most valley areas reported lows in the 40's.

Graybill said the storm is the first measurable moisture since May 8 when .01 and .04 of an inch fell in various parts of the valley. Prior to that the bureau recorded .10 of an inch on April 22 with several other light storms earlier in April.

Hail fell covering the ground at two different times in the Fairfield area, he said, but no crop damage has been reported.

High winds and rain caused a large tree to start to uproot on East Ave. and 8th St. in Jerome Sunday afternoon.

City crews, Mayor Jack Russell, and councilman Elwin Tinker, were called to the scene by concerned residents. It was decided to pull the tree down before it fell. City crews, using a back hoe and wire around the tree, pulled the tree over on 8th street, and in doing so, knocked out the Idaho Power lines and the telephone lines.

8th Street was closed to all traffic for almost three hours while city crews removed the tree and the Idaho Power Company and telephone company restored their lines.

Near Filer workmen from the Filer Mutual Telephone Co. continue to replace poles blown down during Saturday's freak windstorm.

According to Dick Allen, telephone employee, calls had been reported on 14 poles down but he had no estimate of how many were leaning and would have to be straightened. Some of the poles were broken off at the ground while others were pulled from the ground with clumps of sod.

Most of the damage appeared to be centered in the Clover area and southwest of Filer although some poles were down in the northern part of town. Telephone service was disrupted in some areas and should be continued today.

About one inch of snow fell on Ketchum.

The unseasonable weather caused postponement for an hour of the planned outdoor Trail Creek graduation ceremonies for Wood River High School students. They were rescheduled to the Wood River High School gymnasium.

Health care experts get challenge

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — Health care experts were challenged Sunday to be in the forefront in changing health care delivery. The challenge was made by Harold Margulies, M. D., director of the Regional Medical Program Services, during the opening session of the four-day National Allied Health Conference which centers on regional medical programs.

Margulies cited revolutionary changes in all aspects of American life including the acceptance of the "right to medical care" as a fixed right. He said a new area has been entered with the quality of medical care as continually "measured and monitored" by the consumer.

The director said health care experts should be flexible in responding to, current needs, also be flexible in giving thought to future needs. He asked the regional medical units to become active programs because they were the most natural link between the decision-making medical group and the consumer.

Margulies stated as goals of the program to try to improve both availability and quality of health care in responding to local needs. "A high level of concern should be given to people cheated in our society, such as minorities and the poor," he said.

National health priorities have yet to be formulated, Margulies said. He cited availability of federal funding for a kidney transplant for the elderly but not for the young. "One decision that has to be made is whether priority centers on the dead or dying or the young and growing," he said.

Mini-Cassia area sets graduations

MINI-CASSIA — High schools in the Mini-Cassia area have announced commencement schedules.

Minico High School will graduate 343 seniors in exercises at 8 p.m. tonight. Cindy Lorraine Harris is valedictorian and Marcella Bossett and Sherri Shighara are co-salutatorians.

Lyn Woodhouse is valedictorian for the Oakley High School graduating class. Dwight Hale is salutatorian for the exercises to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the LDS Tabernacle.

Malta High School commencement exercises will be at 8 p.m. tonight at the school. Janet Schorsman is valedictorian and JoAnn Tracy is salutatorian.

Burley will graduate 228 seniors in commencement exercises scheduled for 8 p.m. tonight at the high school. Julie Kerbs is valedictorian and Ed Lou King is salutatorian.

Dog show to open at Filer

FILER — The annual AKC All Breeds Dog Show will begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds.

Over 700 dogs are entered for the competition, according to William Heard, Twin Falls, show chairman. There are 85 classes of dogs which will be shown in six rings at the grounds.

The Best of Show award which is the grand champion of all dogs will be presented Tuesday afternoon. Judges for the event will be Hardin, Martin, Downey, Cross, Murr and Gambel.

The show will open Tuesday morning with showing of Alaskan Malamutes, German shepherds, bassett hounds, bulldogs, boxers and Great Danes.

The dogs and their trainers began arriving at the fairgrounds Sunday evening.

Two seek term in Rupert election

RUPERT — Two candidates will vie for election to a single trustee seat in Tuesday's Minidoka County school trustee and mill levy election.

Incumbent board chairman Sherrill Stallings will be opposed by Lloyd Thaele in the trustee election. The winner will serve a three-year term.

Voters will also determine the fate of a proposed ten-year five-mill plant facilities levy throughout the district.

The return from the levy, estimated at about $110,000 per year, would be used to repay the district deficit of about $190,000 during the first two years, according to Supt. Darrell Hatfield.

The levy would then be applied to maintenance and operation of school district property after the deficit is eliminated.

The superintendent said that reduction of the levy is the first order of business.

Stallings, who is completing his first term on the board, operates a 180-acre farm northeast of Minidoka in zone 5. He is also associated with Western Livestock Company of Rupert. He has taught in the Minidoka County school system and is active in church and Boy Scout activities.

Commenting on his desire to continue as a board member, Stallings said, "As administration of public schools becomes more complex, I feel it is necessary to have as much experience on the school board as possible. I would like to keep my experience working for the betterment of schools and education in Minidoka County."

"I will continue to make my decisions on what is best for the students, the taxpayers, and the overall education system in the county."

Opposing Stallings is Lloyd Thaele, a former Kansan who has been a Minidoka County resident since 1958, farming 240 acres northeast of Rupert. He and his wife have seven children, ranging from Caroline, a licensed practical nurse, to Gayle, a fourth grader at Acequia school.

Thaele said he feels that Minidoka County has a good school system but he is running for the post because he is concerned over a lack of candidates other than the incumbent.

Thaele said he entered the race at the request of friends and neighbors.

The candidate said he will work with the school board in trying to improve quality of education, while at the same time trying to keep the budget down, since a goodly proportion of taxes go to support public schools.

Thaele said also that vocational education is badly needed for the student who does not plan to go to college. He said he has seen many young people spend good years shifting from job to job before finding the trade they liked.

Voters in zone 5 will vote for the trustee post as well as the mill levy, while voters in the other zones will cast ballots on the levy alone.

Polling places include zone 1, Heyburn Elementary School; zone 2, Paul Elementary School and the residence of Alton Haslam, 1381 W. 300 South; zone 3, Minico High School; zone 4, Lincoln Elementary School; and zone 5, Acequia Elementary School and the residence of W. C. Paul, Sr., 500 East 175 North in Cassia County.

Eligible voters must be 18 years of age or over and have resided in the state for the last six months and in the school district and trustee zone for 30 days or more.

No property qualifications are necessary, and a voter need not register to cast ballots. Each will sign a voter's oath that he is qualified.

TF theft probed

TWIN FALLS — An investigation was being made today by Twin Falls City police in a burglary of the Fearless Farris Service Station, 4777 Kimberly Road.

Officers said Dennis Gilbert, attendant, reported a door on the east side of the building had been broken into sometime Saturday night. The burglary was reported at about 6 a.m. Sunday when Gilbert reported for work.

The door leading into the store room was entered and items in the store room ransacked, officers said, and the intruders apparently then went to the office area where they went through the desk and files and attempted to open the safe but failed. The dial on the safe had been broken off.

Several cases of motor oil were missing and station operators said possibly other items would also be reported following an inventory of the store room.

Blaze at Shoshone does house damage

SHOSHONE — Fire, originating in the chimney area of a house owned by Leigh Kelley, Shoshone, caused considerable damage about 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Walter Schoolcraft family is renting the house. Mrs. Schoolcraft noticed smoke in the living room, and immediately notified Kelley, who lives about a block away. He ran to the scene with a 5-pound dry fire extinguisher.

He said with that and a water hose, he was able to keep the blaze under control until the city fire department arrived. Exact extent of the damage is not yet known, Kelley said.

Money collected

BUHL — The 14 members of the Buhl Sunset Livestock 4-H club collected $133.61 on their own fund drive Sunday to help the families of the Sunshine Mine tragedy.

Each member of the club donated 50 cents and the leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moon, gave $10. The remainder was collected from residents in the Buhl area in a door-to-door appeal. Betty Povalawski is assistant club leader.

Hagerman site for caravan

HAGERMAN — Members of the Idaho unit of the Wally Byam Caravan Club International (WBCCI) gathered over the weekend at Shigar's trailer court on the Snake River.

Thirty travel trailers, all silver streamlined Airstream trailers, pulled into the campground Friday afternoon for the three-day annual convention.

The WBCCI is named in honor of the man who started building the Airstream trailer and who initiated the idea of a caravan club, said Dean Davidson, Meridian, Idaho unit president.

Several of the Idaho members, including the Davidsons and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rose, Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gibbs, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Woodman, Nampa; and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hansen, Nampa, will attend the international convention starting June 25 in Louisville, Ky.

Members at the Hagerman convention went on several tours arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John Blick, Castleford, club members. They toured Idaho Frozen Foods and the Kellwood plant, both in Twin Falls, and went to Balanced Rock near Castleford.

They also attended a smorgasbord and had a potluck dinner. Entertainment was provided by Kathy, Susan and Tammy Conner, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Conner, Castleford.

Out-of-state visitors attending the convention included Bea Chandler White, former international secretary, and her husband, from California.

Final days

RICHFIELD — The Richfield schools will close for the summer Thursday, it was announced by Supt. Neil Anderson.

High school students take semester exams Monday and Tuesday and an awards assembly will be held Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday the students will have a one day recess to give the teachers a work day. Thursday, students will receive their report cards and enjoy an annual school swimming party at Banbury Hot Springs, near Buhl.

Grade school students will have their school picnic Tuesday, a recess Wednesday and come back Thursday to receive their report cards.

154 to graduate in Jerome program

JEROME — Jerome High School will graduate 154 seniors in exercises at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Jerome High School Athletic Field.

Baccalaureate services will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, also at the athletic field.

School officials said that in the event of bad weather, the exercises will be held in the high school gymnasium.

Rev. John N. Garbrandt, United Methodist Church, will be the presiding minister at the Baccalaureate ceremony. Other pastors who will participate include Rev. Dean Hill, First Christian Church; Richard Everson, president of the Gooding Stake of the LDS Church; and Rev. Floyd Young, Church of the Nazarene. Music will be provided by the Jerome High School Band and Variety

Choir. The invocation and benediction for the commencement program will be given by Rev. Patrick Meagher, O.S.B., Chris Everson, salutatorian, and Susan Buttram, valedictorian, will both give talks.

The class will be presented by Jay Diehl, high school principal, and diplomas will be awarded by LeRoy Weigle. The Americanism Award, the American Legion Award and the Davis Trophy will be awarded during the program. Music will be by the high school band and choir.

Graduating seniors were honored Friday night at a special senior banquet held at the Elks Lodge. Jim Messer-Smith was master of ceremonies.

U.S.-Russ relations torn by differences

JOURNEY TO MOSCOW: American-Russian Relations Span 200 years

EDITORS NOTE: On the occasion of President Nixon's scheduled trip to Moscow in the midst of a new crisis between the United States and the Soviet Union over Vietnam, UPI's Henry Shapiro, dean of American correspondents in the Soviet capital, provides as a backdrop a short history of American-Russian relations from their beginning.

Catherine, who ruled from 1762 to 1796, rejected a request from King George III of England for 20,000 Cossacks to fight George Washington, and the king was compelled to use Hessians.

In the later stage of the Revolutionary War, the Czarina organized the neutral nations of Europe into an armed neutrality bloc — neutral in favor of the American revolutionaries.

century, however, the American President Theodore Roosevelt, who looked upon Russia as a potential rival, was instrumental in bringing about the Portsmouth peace treaty ending the Japanese-Russian war. The treaty confirmed Japan's rights to Far East territories seized from Russia in 1905.

American sympathy swung sharply back to Russia again in 1914, when the Russians entered the World War on the side of the Western democracies. When the United States itself entered the war in 1917, democratic America and autocratic Russia became allies. The abdication of Czar Nicholas II in February 1917 and the proclamation of the First Democratic Republic was at first greeted with enthusiasm in the United States, but American opinion swung the other way when Vladimir I. Lenin's Bolsheviks stormed the Winter Palace Nov. 7-8 that year and seized power.

Apart from American ideological antipathy toward the Bolsheviks, the United States' main concern was for continuation of the war against Germany. But soon—partly because of Bolshevik peace propaganda—the Russian front collapsed and the Germans forced upon Russia the rapacious treaties of Brest Litovsk under which Russia gave up about 36,000 square miles of territory with about 46 million inhabitants. (The treaties were annulled with the defeat of Germany in November, 1918).

In an effort to keep some Russian forces in the war and save huge ammunition stores from the Germans, the Allied forces, including 5,000 Americans, were withdrawn in July but the intervention left the Bolsheviks embittered. Another American expeditionary force of 9,000 men landed later in Siberia and again the Bolsheviks accused the Americans of unwarranted intervention. In fact the American presence proved an advantage to the Russians: It was instrumental in getting the Japanese out of Soviet territories which they had shown every intention of keeping.

After the war and despite a number of concessions offered by Lenin and later by Josef Stalin, the United States refused to recognize the new Russian government. It was 15 years before President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized the Soviet Regime in 1933.

Relations got off to a slow and bad start. There was no agreement on the settlement of war debts and the United States applied against the Soviets the Johnson Act of 1934 that prohibited credits to countries which had defaulted on their debts. Relations deteriorated further in 1935 when the Comintern (Communist International) met in Moscow with the American Communist party participating. When the United States charged the meeting was tantamount to an intervention in American domestic affairs, the Kremlin blandly replied it did not control the Comintern. (In 1944, however, during World War II, the Comintern was abolished, partly as a gesture of goodwill toward the Western allies).

U.S.-Soviet relations plummeted to a new low in August 1939 when, on the eve of World War II, Stalin concluded a non-aggression pact with Hitler Germany. Moscow further alienated American opinion in the partition of Poland later that year, the war with Finland, and the Soviet annexation of the Baltic countries.

Death of Stalin in 1953 ushered in new era of Soviet leadership bent ending the Cold War.

Then in 1941 history brought the two countries together again in common cause when Hitler struck at the Soviet Union and Japan bombed Pearl Harbor. Another alliance was forged, which brought defeat of the Axis four years later. The United States provided Russia with billions in lend-lease material.

With the end of the war, new global problems arose and deep differences between the Soviet Union and the United States grew into the Cold War, raising issues that neither time nor diplomacy have been able to settle.

Brinkmanship, a word coined by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, was practiced by both sides but direct armed clashes between the United States and the Soviet Union did not occur. The wars America fought were against the Communists in Korea and Vietnam, wars in which the Soviets helped the American enemy. But they did not fight themselves. The nuclear bomb, possessed by both, was a powerful deterrent.

Prior to American involvement in Vietnam, the death of Stalin in 1953 ushered in a new era, with a new Soviet leadership bent upon ending the Cold War and emphasizing "peaceful coexistence." The emergence of the ebullient pilot, Gary Powers, captured a Big Four summit meeting in Paris crashed in angry failure. Khrushchev withdrew an invitation to Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union. Relations deteriorated so rapidly the two countries were almost reduced to not speaking to each other. Khrushchev went to New York that fall for the U.N. General Assembly, banged a shoe on his desk in anger during the meeting, was treated plainly as an unwelcome person in the United States.

Relations appeared to be improving again when John F. Kennedy came to the presidency and he met with Khrushchev in Vienna. But then, in October 1962, came the Cuban missile crisis and, for the first time in American-Russian history, an eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation took place, raising fears of nuclear war. War was avoided when the Soviets took their missiles out of Cuba and both nations in fact came out of the experience chastened and with the desire to make a new effort toward peace. Kennedy asked for a reassessment of American policy toward the Soviet Union and Khrushchev was willing to reciprocate.

Russia's Catherine the Great sympathized with the American colonies in the War of Independence

MOSCOW (UPI)—American-Russian relations, so torn by deep ideological and political differences over the past half century of Communist rule in the Kremlin, began nearly 200 years ago when the sympathies of Russia's Imperial Catherine the Great rested with the American colonies in their War of Independence.

The United States was suspicious of Imperial Russia's expansion in the Balkans, the Far East and central Asia. American interests clashed with Russia's over development in China and

TWIN FALLS — Tickets to the Miss Idaho Pageant June 15, 16 and 17 in Boise are available through Lions Club members of the area.

Art Anderson, Boise Lions Club, executive director of the 1972 pageant, said every effort is being made to give each area of the state a number of the 1,250 seats to sell in that area. He urged reservations for the tickets be made by June 3.

Ticket information is also available from Laura Vincent, Filer, who will represent Twin Falls in the Miss Idaho pageant this year.

Graduates at Declo

DECLO — "Choose You This Day" was theme for the Cassia East Stake LDS Seminary graduation exercises Friday evening.

Sixty-two young people were presented certificates of graduation and special achievement by stake president, Joseph A. Gillett, Declo, at the Cassia East Stake Center. Arnold Stringham delivered the main address. Student talks developing the theme were given by Julie Taylor, Yost, Utah, and Carolyn Hurst, Declo. Other speakers included Max W. Craner and Tracy Zollinger, president of the Malta seminary.

Today, you're invited to "drive in" most everywhere.

Except where you most want to go.

Our public forest lands should do the greatest good for most of the people over the longest span of time. That's Multiple Use. Access. It's a concept long accepted by Americans. It's a valid one.

It means recreation. Jobs. Industry. Payrolls. A broadened tax base and needed products from a renewable resource — trees. Great people benefit today... and for future generations as well.

But now the concept is in some danger. The U. S. Forest Service has been directed to review undeveloped national forest lands for possible addition to our existing large Wilderness System.

Wilderness is what it sounds like... wilderness. It's undeveloped... unproductive. No machines are allowed there. You'll find no roads. No forest product income.

Your national forests have 15.6 million acres of Wilderness and Primitive Areas already. Under the new study directive an added 34.4 million new acres are now threatened with lock up, or "lock out" if you're one of the majority who wants to drive in. This is a potential 50 million acres out of a total of 183 million acres in our National Forests. Over one-fourth!

You know whom it would be reserved for?

The one-half of one percent of the people who hike or pack into Wilderness Areas!

That's right, we're worried because our wheels can't go in to places like that.

But remember one thing.

If ours can't, yours can't... no matter what you drive.

Lee Trevino wins golf tournament by four shots

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Lee Trevino, the happy hustler turned golfing businessman, stormed from behind with a new putter and a record 67 Sunday to win the $175,000 Danny Thomas Golf Classic by four strokes over rookie John Mahaffey.

"A fellow brought this over here from Little Rock, Arkansas, yesterday," said Trevino, displaying the new putter he used in five-under-par round to give him a total of seven-under 281 for the tournament over the 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course.

"You can bet one thing," Trevino laughed, "he's not going to get this putter back."

The merry Mex, who claimed earlier in the tournament that his putting touch had deserted him due to outside business pressure, rolled in six birdie putts Sunday compared to only one bogey. He donated $5,000 of his $35,000 first prize to the St. Jude Children's Hospital, founded here by Danny Thomas.

Mahaffey, 24, only joined the tour this year. But he shot a closing 69 while Arnold Palmer and others faded. He picked up second place money of $19,350 and finished one stroke ahead of home pro Bert Weaver and young George Hixon.

Weaver, who led the tournament by one stroke and was two up on Trevino going into the final round, blew to a 74 in a head-to-head pressure duel with Trevino Sunday before a swarming gallery of 31,800 fans. Hixon had a 2-under-par 70.

Weaver threatened to become the first home pro to win a PGA tournament since Earl Stewart Jr. did it at Dallas back in 1961 when he birdied the first hole Sunday to go five under par for the tournament. But he took double bogeys on the third and eighth holes to shoot himself out of contention.

Dapper Doug Sanders, finished alone in fifth place Sunday with a 73-287, one stroke ahead of five others at even par. One stroke behind them came Palmer, who moved within one stroke of Trevino after nine holes and then collapsed on the back nine for a 73.

Trevino had not won a tournament since the Sahara at Las Vegas last Oct. 31. But he pushed his winnings to $97,979 this year to put him in the No. 4 slot on the earnings list in 1972 behind Jack Nicklaus, Jerry Heard and George Archer.

Mays helps Mets post 11th straight in NL

By United Press International—Willie Mays and Tommie Agee belted two-run homers Sunday to spark the New York Mets to their 11th victory in a row, a 4-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The loss was the sixth in a row for the Phillies, who attracted a crowd of 57,287 fans —the largest crowd ever to see a game in Philadelphia.

Steve Carlton held the Mets hitless for five innings but Mays opened the sixth with a double and scored when Agee slammed his fifth home run of the season.

In the eighth, Jim Beauchamp batted for Met starter Tom Seaver and singled to start the inning. Mays then lined the first pitch off the top of the left field fence to supply the decisive run.

In other NL action Pittsburgh shutout Montreal, 1-0, and then won the second game of the doubleheader 5-3. Chicago edged St. Louis 3-2. Houston nipped Los Angeles 2-1. Atlanta and San Francisco split a doubleheader, the Braves winning the opener in 10 innings, 6-4, and the Giants taking the nightcap, 2-1, and San Diego downed Cincinnati 7-0 after the Reds won the opener 7-2.

Bob Watson hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning and Jerry Reuss protected the lead for Houston's victory over the Dodgers.

The win moved Houston back into first place in the National League West by seven percentage points.

With one out in the sixth, Lee May doubled and Watson followed with his homer, the fifth of the year for the veteran outfielder.

Bill Mazeroski, who has not had a hit this season, drove in the winning run in the eighth inning of the nightcap with a sacrifice fly to give the Pirates a sweep of their doubleheader with the Expos and extend Pittsburgh's winning streak to seven games.

Dave Cash drove in the only run of the first game and also made a game-saving catch in the eighth inning with the bases loaded to preserve the victory.

Mazeroski drove a Mike Marshall pitch to deep center field in the eighth inning of the second game after Milt May and Gene Clines hit successive singles.

Cash, who now has hit safely in 15 straight games, singled off second baseman Ron Hunt's glove in the third inning of the opener to score Jackie Hernandez, who had doubled.

White Sox 9-8 victory highlights AL action

By United Press International—Carlos May slammed a three-run homer with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning Sunday to give Chicago a 9-8 victory over the California Angels and move the White Sox into first place in the American League West.

May's third homer of the year followed singles by Mike Andrews and Bill Melton. Alan Foster got pinch-hitter Ed Herrmann for the second out but May then hit Foster's first pitch deep into the rightfield stands to give the Sox their ninth win in their last 10 contests.

The Sox scored twice in the first and added three more in the second on Dick Allen's seventh homer of the year. The Angels tied the score 5-5 in the fifth against Rick Gossage on a single by Vada Pinson, a double by Bob Ogiver and a pinch-single by Winston Lenas after Pinson had homered in the seventh and Art Kusnyer hit his first major league homer in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the American League, New York swept a doubleheader from Boston, 6-3 and 3-2. Detroit beat Cleveland, 5-0. Oakland defeated Kansas City 5-2. Baltimore downed Milwaukee, 5-0, and Texas swept a pair from Minnesota, 6-2 and 3-1.

Roy White collected three hits in each game. Sparky picked up two saves Lyle and winning pitcher Fritz Peterson drove in three runs as the Yankees swept two from Boston. In the opener, Peterson, who had lost his first six decisions, capped a four-run rally in the third with a two-out single to help himself. Peterson pitched four-hit ball through eight innings but needed relief help from Lyle to get the win.

In the second game, White scored the deciding run in the third when he doubled and Felipe Alou followed with a single just inside the third-base line. Mike Kekich was lifted after walking Reggie Smith to open the eighth and Lyle came on to hold the Red Sox in the eighth and ninth.

Dave Duncan drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Sal Bando added a two-run homer to power Oakland to victory over Kansas City.

Duncan drilled his sixth homer of the year in the first inning with Mike Epstein aboard and clubbed a solo homer in the ninth for the A's final run.

Mickey Stanley broke up a scoreless tie in the sixth inning with a two-run triple to give Mickey Lolich his eighth complete game and the Tigers a win over Cleveland.

Lolich, who has lost but once, halted the Indians with a eight-hitter in which he struck out seven and did not walk a batter. Detroit scored in the seventh on a single by Aurelio Rodriguez, sacrifice, Dick McAuliffe's double and Al Kaline's second single. In the eighth, Norm Cash belted his eighth homer.

In the first game, Texas took the lead for good over Minnesota in the second inning when Jeff Burroughs slammed a two-run homer with Dave Nelson aboard. The Rangers added two more in the eighth on a bases-loaded single by Joe Lovitto.

Jim Shellenback and Horacio Pina combined on a five-hitter in the finale. The Rangers' two runs came in the second inning. A walk to Hal King, a single by Burroughs and another walk to Lovitto filled the bases. Toby Harrah hit a run-scoring single and Shellenback drove in Burroughs with a single for the other run.

7 cars qualify for Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Veteran Gordon Johncock, a 57-mile miler from Mount Pleasant, Mich., was the fastest of seven successful qualifiers Sunday for next Saturday's 500-mile Speedway auto race. The 33-car lineup averaged a record 183.655 miles per hour.

The trials ended late Sunday and only one machine was "bumped" by a faster racer. The over-all field average was nearly 12 m.p.h. faster than last year's.

The 33-car field will be led from the pole by Bobby Unser, the 1968 race winner from Albuquerque, N.M., who qualified at a record speed of nearly 196 m.p.h.

Davis, Edgar win best ball

Betty Davis and Helen Edgar won the spring best ball tournament sponsored by the Blue Lakes Women's Golf Association.

They defeated Reba Henry and Mary Jensen. Consolation winners were Mary Cook and Connie Everton.

In the first flight, Veronica Detweiler and M. Brown defeated M. Soran and B. Bevan with R. Skeem and J. Jones taking the runner-up spot.

CARROLL RIGNER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Rigner Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day-and-evening to make sure you get everything about you in perfect condition. Also improve your relations with others by doing them some favors, small or large. Show you are willing to make sacrifices for harmony.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may have to work a little harder to keep those promises you have made to others; but the effort will be well worth the trouble. First study them well and then carry through in a thorough fashion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have an opportunity for special recognition, so prepare yourself in a m. for such. Improve appearance and contact charmers early. A gift for loved one will pave way for more affection in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do whatever you can to improve your home so others there can be made happier, also handle all basic matters without delay. Pay that important bill so it will not cost you more later on.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A day to be charming with persons who can be of assistance to you in something important. Find the right method for reconciliation with those who count. Let astrology help you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get caught up today on all those small chores you have left undone, so start early. Do not neglect important correspondence. Figure out how to be more successful where sales, etc., are concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can find ways to cut down on expenses so you have a larger reserve for important matters in the future. Get home and personal belongings in better shape. Show you understand finances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You are now able to do things in exactly the fashion you like and gain your personal aims skillfully. Improve your appearance, too. Attend group affairs that can be most helpful to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Being more aware of what others have in mind as well as knowing your own mind is wise today, then you know better what to do. Assist those who ask you for help, but teach them to stand on own two feet. Avoid moochers, though.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A fine friend can assist you in getting some point across with another that is important to you right now. Get into some group affair that can be most helpful to you. Make a fine impression on others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do whatever you can to add to goodwill you now enjoy, especially where higher-ups are concerned. Handle those civic affairs well and without further procrastination. Take it rather easy tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) That plan you have in mind needs further study before you try to put it in operation. Listening to what experts have to suggest is very wise, also. Out to some social affair of worth in p.m.

PISCIS (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have been procrastinating about certain jobs that are vital to your progress, so attend to them now. Get your home in better order. Add those new ideas and items to your wardrobe that make it more charming.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those charming young people who can get into the good graces of others by being very willing to help them gain their aims, have more order about but you must teach while young to listen carefully to what others say, so that no mistakes will be made and also teach not to use so many angles to get what is desired. The fields of beauty and adornment, art, cultural fields, etc., are all fine here. Sports are a must.

Candy Doesn't Cause Acne

No longer do the medical boys contend chocolate bars cause acne. What's often has little to do with those annoying blemishes on the face, they claim. Like baldness and flat feet — yea, flat feet, too — that affliction called acne, however temporary, tends to be inherited, it's now said. A hormone thing.

HISTORICAL footnotes indicate the great Benjamin Franklin devoted considerable time teaching the guitar to pretty girls, the rascal.

WEIRD looking critter, that Greek god Pan, a fright in fact. His name inspired our word "panic."

THAT Daniel Boone never wore a con skin cap is also known, although not widely.

SERGEANT

Q. "Louie, my boy can you name the horse that was promoted to sergeant in the U.S. Army?"

A. That was a mare called "Reckless." An ammo packer in Korea. She also got a medal for bravery under fire, incidentally. Now let's see you name the horse that was ordained a priest.

Q. "FORT KNOX ever been robbed?"

A. Not even burglarized.

"DON'T" boy babies cry more than girl babies.

A. Absolutely. Up to six months. Then the girl babies start to bawl more. But why I can't say.

CLIENT WANTS to know what foot bumper look for first when they pick out a new line of cars. Gas mileage? No, sir. And not speed, not looks, either. Resale value, that's what. Second thing said.

buyers examine, predictably, is initial cost. Third thing, maintenance problems, if any. They can do without those repair bills, likewise.

YOUNG LADY, if you don't know what to give to the man who has everything, consider a pet. The tradition dates far beyond a pair of pandas and a couple of musk oxen. All the way back to the Queen of Sheba, at least. To King Solomon, who had mines plus, she gave one chimpanzee, three eagles, a four in hand team of horses and a brace of camels. He thought that dandy.

WORLD'S first successful electric iron heated up to a most particularly high temperature at the front tip. A desirable feature, said the makers. So they called it a "Hotpoint," and what followed was a whole line of appliances so trademarked.

Weight gains confirmed from smoking stop

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—The common notion that people who give up cigarettes are likely to gain weight has been elevated from folklore to statistical fact. Drs. George W. Comstock and Richard W. Stone did it by comparing the medical measurements of 501 men who were checked over twice, five to six years apart. They calculated the risk to be 40 per cent. . . . Being statistical their study could provide no answer to the prime question of how cigarette smoking could interfere with the accumulation of body fat and thus keep smokers thinner than they would be if they didn't smoke.

However, six of seven ex-smokers recently revealed a diminished basal oxygen consumption to investigating scientists. This, said Comstock and Stone, could cause weight gain even in the absence of an increase in food intake or a decrease in exercise. Their study did not deal with the psychological theory that some ex-smokers compensate by eating more or exercising less or both. Either is a sure way of getting fat (or fatter.) Comstock is an epidemiologist at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Stone is in the medical department of the American Telephone Company. Their hope was to turn up reassuring statistics for smokers who tell their doctors they don't stop because they're afraid of getting fat. Instead they raised a new question which, in their words, is: "Do the hazards of obesity outweigh the benefits of becoming an ex-smoker?" These hazards don't, they said in a Association, for two reasons: "First, subcutaneous fatness is not necessarily associated with increased risk of mortality. Second, and most cogent, are the reports that mortality and morbidity are decreased when cigarette smoking is stopped, in spite of the fact that most of those who stopped probably gained weight." The 501 men were technical telephone workers. They were between 40 and 59 years old when checked over the first time. Weights were recorded, fat folds of upper arms and abdomen were measured, and they detailed their smoking habits. Five or six years later these routine examinations were repeated. They revealed a general trend toward weight gain. But the gains were the most among the men who had stopped smoking cigarettes between examinations. The more cigarettes they had smoked before giving up the habit, the more weight they gained. For example, 17 men who had smoked 25 or more daily gained an average of 15 pounds. The gains could be measured in thickened fat folds.

Brownies at Jerome hold mother's tea

JEROME — A mother-daughter tea was held by Brownie Troop 561 and Junior Girl Scout Troop 145 Friday night at the Lutheran Church. The troops performed the song "America" in split unison for the mothers. They also put on a special skit entitled, "What Makes an Outstanding Girl," and a poem was read by Teresa Dietrich. Mrs. James Burton was presented a corsage for sponsoring the troops. It was made by the Scouts. The Brownie Troop was presented year pins by the leader, Mrs. Betty Thompson, and the junior troop was given a special senior conference patch, a jubilee patch for the 60th anniversary of scouting and year pins. The presentation was made by the leader, Mrs. Dale Hammond. The girls presented their mothers with gifts they had made for Mother's Day.

Arms buildup causes concern

LONDON (UPI)—Fears are growing that a massive arms buildup in both Iran and Iraq since the mid-1960s will soon lead to some kind of major confrontation. In Iran, for example, defense expenditure has been rising at an annual average rate of 30 per cent over the past seven years and now represents about 15 per cent of all national expenditure. At present rates of expansion, the armed forces will be the largest economic sector in the country by 1975. The oldest reason for the growing animosity between Iran and Iraq is religious. Iranians belong to the Shi'ite sect of Islam while the majority of Iraqis are Sunni Moslems. However, there are two important Shi'ite shrines, which all Iranian Moslems wish to visit, in Kerbala and in Najaf, just south of Baghdad, the Iraq capital. The Iraqis have always eyed these shrines and the surrounding area with envy and they would like to annex the area into their own territory, particularly as there are considerable numbers of Shi'ites living as a minority within the area. At the same time the Iraqis have lost no opportunity to harass these Shi'ites, as well as the Iranian pilgrims to the shrines. During the past year, nearly 60,000 Shi'ite residents of Iraq have been deported to Iran, while innumerable excuses have been made to close the border between the two countries to bona fide visitors.

Disaster becomes political

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's worst disaster, the Sunshine Silver Mine fire that claimed 21 lives May 2, became embroiled in politics this past week when a federal official ruled out unemployment benefits.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus bitterly announced the decision against declaring the Coeur d'Alene mining district a "major disaster" during a hastily-called news conference Wednesday.

Such a declaration was necessary, he said, before unemployment benefits of the dead miners could be extended to their families.

G. A. Lincoln, director of the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness, wired Andrus that such a declaration for an industrial accident on private property would be unprecedented if not illegal.

He expressed "sympathy and concern" on behalf of President Nixon for the families of the victims, however.

Andrus countered that sympathy and concern were fine but that they purchase little at the grocery store. He charged the federal government with being more concerned about the plight of peoples in foreign lands than that of Americans at home.

Marge Miner, Wallace, the Republican state chairman; Lt. Gov. Jack M. Murphy, also a countered he already has offered the entire $155,000 to assist the area.

Mrs. Miner and Jackson said the Nixon administration could not, under the law, make such a designation and that Andrus knew it and held out false hopes to the families. Andrus disagreed, saying he was told the government could make such a designation.

"Federal government more concerned about peoples in foreign lands"

Republican, and State Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, GOP Executive Secretary, all took the Democratic governor to task.

Murphy suggested Andrus use his emergency fund to help the miners' families. Andrus

While the politicians argued about the legality of extending unemployment benefits to the families of the victims, a House labor subcommittee in Washington-D. C., delved into the disaster itself.

Byron Schulz, 21, one of the survivors, testified he never received any safety training during the two years he worked in the mine.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, called for raising of mine safety standards so that future such disasters could be averted.

Mine General Manager Marvin Chase said his crews finally had contained the blaze on the 3,100-foot level of the mile-deep mine and were turning water on it. He said an investigation into the cause of the fire cannot be conducted until flames are extinguished.

Richfield girl gets award

RICHFIELD — Charlotte Davis, Richfield, has been awarded a $900 scholarship to Boise State College.

The scholarship was based on her scholastic achievement during high school. Miss Davis was the valedictorian of her graduating class at Richfield High School this year. She was student body treasurer and Girl's League president her senior year. She was junior class treasurer and a member of the Pep Club and Girls League.

At Murtaugh High School where she attended the first two years of high school, she participated in the band and chorus and was track manager, and sophomore class secretary-treasurer.

She sings with the United Methodist Youth choir and has been active in 4-H Club work. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Davis.

Grange to hear water speaker

SHOSHONE — The public is invited to attend a meeting at Magic Grange Hall at 8 p.m. Friday.

Dr. Maryin Jensen, Kimberly, will speak on pollution of water.

The event is being sponsored by the Pomona, Wood River Center, Dietrich and Magic Granges.

Dr. Jensen is also expected to tell of the national conference on managing irrigation agriculture to improve water quality held in Grand Junction, Colo.

Reid Newby, water master, is the program chairman.
