

Minor accords in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—President Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev began formal summit talks today, agreeing quickly on health and antipollution pacts and plunging on into war and peace issues.

Facing each other first across a 40-foot table, flanked by their aides, in the Kremlin's Catherine Hall, the two leaders spent two hours and two minutes in an initial session in the morning. They broke for a long lunch and then sat down for an afternoon session just between themselves on world issues.

The first fruits of the late spring summit that brought a U.S. President to Moscow for the first time came in accords for jointly fighting cancer and heart disease and combating air and water pollution.

An American official told UPI no one on either side of the conference table at this morning's full meeting so much as mentioned the word "Vietnam."

This indicated, diplomatic observers said, that both sides were trying to tiptoe around the subject in order not to hamper progress on other projects.

Nixon and Brezhnev undoubtedly will discuss Vietnam — but more privately than in a full plenary session of the summit.

Nixon's and Brezhnev's spokesmen both described the morning session in the white and red hall built by Peter the Great as "frank and business-like."

Both reported the health and anti-pollution pacts. The Russian spokesman, Director General Leonid I. Zamyatin of the Soviet news agency Tass, said more vital business was afoot. "The people expect an easing of tension, not only between the Soviet Union and the United States but all over the world," he told reporters.

As Nixon was conducting talks as the first American President to visit Russia since Franklin D. Roosevelt went to Yalta in 1945, Pat Nixon went sightseeing. With Brezhnev's wife, she moved about Moscow, a city she had seen with her husband during the Nixons' trip here in 1959 while he was vice president. The women went to a secondary school, rode the famed Moscow subway and sipped tea in an old Czarist apartment.

Demonstrating in her own way the peaceful cooperation their husbands profess, Mrs. Nixon took the hand of Mrs.

Brezhnev at one point. Brezhnev's wife had appeared shocked and dismayed — and possibly frightened by a crush of photographers and reporters surrounding the ladies during the visit to the school.

The morning meeting between Nixon and Brezhnev set the pattern, according to conferees. It was reported that aides and colleagues of the two leaders might not gather in full again until the summit ends at week's end.

And they said we couldn't dance together.

US airmen given big Lenin arena

MOSCOW (UPI) — Col. Ralph D. Albertazzie said all he asked for was a little field where he and the rest of President Nixon's personal flight crew could play some softball and work out.

"They gave us the whole 103,000-seat Lenin stadium," said Albertazzie, the pilot of the President's jet, "The Spirit of '76."

"We were just looking for a place for a couple of hours a day where we could work out — a little soccer field somewhere," he said.

He and 15 other Americans, half the total crew of the President's plane and back-up aircraft, showed up to exercise today, he said.

"We were the only ones in the place."

Vietnam fighting rages on

SAIGON (UPI) — Heavy fighting broke out today on three fronts in South Vietnam and Hanoi Radio reported swarms of American planes again bombing the Hanoi area in a stepped up aerial offensive that coincided with President Nixon's Moscow summit talks.

Heavy ground battles were reported south of the My Chanh River defense line about 20 miles north of Hue. A third day of Communist probing attacks on Hue's outer defense lines ended at nightfall with pockets of Communist troops still clinging to a bridgehead on the south bank.

At besieged An Loc 60 miles north of Saigon waves of Communist infantrymen backed by tanks and a 1,700-round artillery barrage struck at paratroopers a mile south of the city and managed to stall a relief element two miles south of An Loc for the sixth consecutive day.

The third arena was the Central Highlands about 280 miles north of Saigon. The North Vietnamese staged several attacks at Fire Base 41, 12 miles north of Pleiku, and knocked out two government tanks and an armored personnel carrier. They also shot down an A1 Skyraider. Rocket attacks on Kontum Airfield, 25 miles to the north, wounded three Americans and virtually destroyed a C-124 Hercules transport.

Jerome man dies of crash injuries

JEROME — Hyrum Lynn Jensen, 67, Jerome, died early today at St. Luke's Hospital. He was transferred from St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, to Boise on April 29. Jensen was driving a car south on Highway 79 and was struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by Duane Kurtz, 38, Twin Falls.

Paul ordered to prepare pollution cleanup plans

PAUL — The US Environmental Protection Agency has given the city of Paul 180 days to set a timetable for pollution cleanup.

According to Mayor Robert L. Larsen, a letter received Monday from the EPA gives the city 180 days to hold a public hearing and set a deadline for completion of a secondary sewage treatment system.

If the timetables are not set within that period, the city would face federal court action, it said.

According to Mayor Larsen, the city already has a primary sewage system in operation, but it is now "overloaded."

The letter from EPA Regional Director James Agee said Paul (along with three other Idaho cities — Montpelier, Priest River and Sandpoint) had failed to show adequate progress toward secondary treatment requirements outlined in the federally-approved Idaho State Water Quality Standards Implementation Plan of 1967.

The letters said the cities must make commitments within the 180-day period or face federal abatement injunctions.

Agee said "We have taken these actions after long consideration. Our purpose is to help the cities get the necessary plans for sewage treatment facilities set, and we are using the 180-day notices as a mechanism to do this."

An EPA official, Lee Johnson, Seattle, said today the 180-day notices "should help the communities rather than hinder them. They would give them an emergency need for state funding which has just been made available in Idaho," he said.

Mayor Larsen said the city is currently drawing up requests for state and federal assistance for its estimated $300,000 project.

The city would have to pay one fourth of the total, with the state matching with another fourth, and the federal government paying half.

The estimated $75,000 Paul would have to supply from local sources would require a bond election, Larsen said.

He said a bond issue should be presented to Paul citizens within six months. Specific guidelines in compliance with the EPA letter's request should be approved within the 180-day period.

"We know we have to upgrade our sewer system," Larsen said. He said there had been "no antagonism" in the city's dealing with the EPA.

He said lack of available state and federal funds had prevented the delay in the secondary treatment project to date.

He said final engineering plans are being drafted now, incorporating changes suggested by EPA officials.

He said the final plans should be ready for discussion at the next Paul council meeting.

TF graduation moves indoors

TWIN FALLS — Diplomas were presented 461 Twin Falls High School senior Monday night, the second largest class to graduate from the school.

School officials said the commencement exercises, forced indoors by rain and cool temperatures of Monday, attracted an overflow crowd. Most of the persons who wished to attend were able to find seating, however.

Principal John Lawrence said this is the first time in his five years as principal that the commencement has not been held in the stadium. He said it takes four to five hours to prepare the stadium and rain which fell Monday made it impossible to use the stadium Monday night.

Lawrence said the class of 1972 was one of the most outstanding to graduate here. Scholarships amounting to $250,000 were offered the class members and awards are still coming in. Of this amount, only $77,000 was declined by students who had to choose between scholarship offers and some of this may be made available to other Twin Falls students, Lawrence said. This covers vocational and technical training programs as well as academic, he said.

Lawrence also congratulated the class for its outstanding behavior as graduates. He said there were no senior class pranks this year which caused damage to school or community property and he said members of the class conducted themselves in good fashion.

John Wolfe, chairman of the Twin Falls school board, presented special awards to class members and introduced the two foreign exchange students, Andreas Patslaides from Paphos, Cyprus, and Robynne Barnes from Wollongong, Australia.

Valedictorians for the class each spoke briefly during commencement. They included Vicki Bair, Jeannine Berry, Julie Morris, Alan Olmstead and Laurie Wright. Class salutatorian Sue Coleman, was also introduced.

The Twin Falls High School symphony orchestra, directed by Del Slaughter, provided music for the processional. Theme of the graduation was "Man and His World."

Larry Anderson Jr., student body president, led the pledge of allegiance and Lawrence presented the class. Diplomas were awarded by members of the school board of trustees, Mrs. Ruth Day, Dr. Richard Sayers and Dr. Howard Ronk, assisted by Richard Baum, dean of the high school.

Tom Shew, class president, gave the response.

Bellevue alderman dies after Hailey accident

HAILEY — Bellevue City Alderman Kenneth D. Wright died Monday morning after being electrocuted in a Hailey construction accident. According to Hailey Police Chief Roy Evans, Wright, 25, an employee of Sun Valley Redi-Mix, was helping pour concrete for a bank vault at the site of the new Bank of Idaho on Main Street, at 11:15 a.m.

Evans said concrete was being poured from a truck into a bucket suspended by a crane owned by Payson Construction Co., Pocatello, and operated by Gary Rose, Pocatello.

The crane boom had been raised between two 32-foot-high power lines, Evans said.

As Wright placed one hand on the concrete truck ladder and another hand on the bucket to steady it, the boom came in contact with a 7,200-volt line, Evans said.

Wright was taken by ambulance to Blaine County Hospital where he died about one-half hour after the accident.

Evans said during the accident the power line snapped and landed on the roof of the Hailey Museum melting a pipe and causing minimal water damage inside the structure.

Power along Main Street was restored in about one hour.

Evans said investigation will continue through his office as well as by state and federal industrial accident board members.

Wright had served two years on the Bellevue City Council.

The body was taken to Bird Funeral Home.

Pat Nixon visits Moscow schools

MOSCOW (UPI)—Pat Nixon said she glimpsed a better, brighter Moscow as she rode into town Monday than she remembered from her last visit in 1959.

Today Moscow gave her a chance to check that impression with an inside look at two of modern Russia's proudest achievements—the schools and the Moscow subway.

Mrs. Nixon was to leave the guest suite in the Grand Kremlin Palace at 11:10 a.m. (4:10 a.m. EDT) for a visit to secondary school No. 42.

The First Lady also planned an afternoon ride on the subway and tea in the Kremlin's old Czarist family apartments with Mrs. Leonid I. Brezhnev and Mrs. Nikolai V. Podgorny.

"I've noticed considerable progress made by Muscovites in raising their standard of living since my last visit," Mrs. Nixon said.

She peered out the windows of the long black limousine that carried her over the 20-mile route to the Kremlin from Vnukovo-II Airport, getting her impression of a solid jump in living standards since her 1959 visit.

The route, named Lenin Boulevard, is lined with scores of white concrete high-rise apartments. The ground floors feature supermarkets, mens and ladies clothing stores and a variety of shops relatively new to Moscow.

Mrs. Nixon said she meant to retrace some of the steps she made when she accompanied her husband, then vice president, to Moscow 13 years ago and "see for myself" what other changes have taken place.

The school visit offered her a look at everything in the curriculum from an English class and a physics lab to a basketball game, choir practice and chats with the students.

The subway excursion—the Soviets say it is the world's longest metropolitan underground system—offered sights of gleaming yellow marble halls, golden baroque decorations at some stops and pristine cleanliness everywhere.

Mrs. Nixon had her first opportunity to meet Mrs. Brezhnev Monday evening at a state banquet in the Kremlin, where Mrs. Nixon wore a turquoise and silver chiffon dress cut to just below the knee and diamond earrings.

Her schedule for the week also includes a tour of Moscow State University, a shopping tour at G.U.M. department store, an evening at the circus and a performance of Swan Lake—her favorite ballet—at the Bolshoi theater.

Transport plane future studied

TOULOUSE, France (UPI)—The French and British transport ministers today began discussing the future of the supersonic transport Concorde plane and the final price to be offered to the first buyers.

Michael Heseltine of Britain and Jean Chamant of France were making a review of all the technical problems involved including the possible decision to order equipment for a new series going from the 17th to the 21st plane.

They also will discuss the final price—it has been regularly soaring—that they can offer the first two clients, British Overseas Aircraft Corporation (BOAC) and Air France. Both airlines are under pressure from their governments to transform some of their options into straight orders.

The problem of China which is to send a delegation to Toulouse for a possible order of three Concorde will also be reviewed.

Concorde has been under fire, both at home in the two countries making it, and abroad. The two ministers will try to reassure air companies on the Concorde's final characteristics, mainly over the Atlantic Ocean, as well as in the case of final engine noise and smoke.

Japan blocks funds

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's cabinet today approved a seven-point program designed to stem the flow of foreign currency into the country and blunt U.S. demands for another revaluation of the yen.

The program calls for lowering Japan's interest rates to make the country less attractive to hot money, and removing restrictions on Japan's foreign aid. Up to now, most countries receiving aid from Japan have been required to use the money to buy Japanese goods.

It also calls on the government to end Japan's business slowdown and create more demand for imports of foreign merchandise.

The draft of legislation to implement the program was to be circulated among cabinet ministers later today and early Wednesday for their signatures.

It will be presented to the present session of Parliament, which was scheduled to adjourn Friday but which will be extended until June 10 to debate the new government program.

3 moon charges detonated

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Three of four mortar-like explosive charges left on the moon by the Apollo 16 astronauts were detonated today in an experiment to learn more about the subsurface composition of the moon.

The fourth and largest shell was not fired because of a possible malfunction in the mortar. A Space Agency spokesman said an indicator light showed the launching device had pitched backward.

If it had pitched back, officials feared the fourth shell could hit other experiments.

Dr. Robert L. Kovach of Stanford University, the principal investigator in the experiment, said it was possible that the indicator light was faulty.

Kovach and his staff were checking to determine whether the indicator was faulty or the grenade launcher had pitched. He said they would know in 48 hours and would decide then whether to fire the fourth mortar.

WE HAVE THIS LITTLE PROBLEM ABOUT IMAGE

In western movies, the funeral director is a shifty-eyed, no-good character who races with his tape-measure in hand to every shoot-out. In contemporary books and shows, he's the shrewd businessman who thrives on death.

How does a guy overcome an image like that?

Perhaps the best way is by setting an opposite example... by serving the living in a friendly, unselfish manner. We hope so, because that's what we've been doing all along.

Hopkins, Glenns Ferry, physical education; John Lee Johnson, Rupert, parks and recreation management; Gail Kathleen McGraw, Hailey, English, Tad Katherine Ross, Shoshone, English; Bonnie M. West, Rupert, English and JoAnn Wolf, Burley, physical education.

Susan Kaye Kowitz, Rupert; Steven G. Chandler, Filer, and Vicky Bozzuto, Shoshone, all earned bachelor of science degrees in elementary education.

Marlyn C. Brunkow, Filer, and LeRoy H. Anderson, Jerome, both earned bachelor of music education degrees.

Receiving bachelor of business administration degrees were Anna Mae DeGlee, business education, Gregory L. Mauss, accounting, and Martin Louis Meigs, management and organization, all Twin Falls; Jerry Leigh Gibbons, office administration and Dennis L. Hall, management and organization, both Gooding; Reid Lewis Case and Robert L. Wageman, both management and organization, both Burley; Allen Lee Davis, Rupert, management and organization; Michael John McGraw, Hailey, management and organization; Michael Thomas Rasch, Jerome, accounting.

Marcia L. Miller, Rupert, earned a bachelor of science degree in speech pathology and said, "The phony write-up in the paper doesn't mean anything. What good is the power if you don't use it? This is the year for Democrats to make the change. There is dissension in the Republican Party and a change is due."

Byron Johnson, Boise attorney running for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate, addressed the group on the plight of the southern Idaho farmer. Johnson also released the findings of a youth straw vote taken at the College of Idaho.

"I am very encouraged," said Johnson, "with the results of the straw vote indicating, at this point, the strength of the youth vote for me. The vote gave me 61 per cent for the nomination as opposed to 17 per cent for Rose Bowman. Atty. Gen. Tony Park polled 13 percent of the vote."

Johnson said rising food prices are an indicator of the farmers' situation. He said, in the past 60 years, retail food prices have risen 60 per cent while farmer prices have increased only 23 per cent.

Johnson said the Idaho farm family is being victimized by poor marketing conditions, inadequate transportation systems and large farming conglomerates.

Three hundred thousand people leave the farm annually because the small farm cannot compete economically.

Johnson said, "our farm policy should return to the concept of preserving the family farm, not eliminating it."

Johnson said farmers can help solve the problem by banding together to market their commodities for a fair price.

Abortion policies drafted

BOISE (UPI) — A state agency has drafted a policy to allow payments in other states for abortions for "life threatened" Idaho welfare mothers unable to get abortions in Idaho.

Dr. John Marks, director of the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services, said while Idaho law legalizes abortions of pregnancies which threaten the life of the mother, many Idaho physicians refuse to perform the abortions because of the restrictive Idaho law.

Noting there would be "very, very few" abortions under the policy, Marks said notices are being sent to regional offices throughout the state to outline procedures for handling requests.

Marks said he assumed in the past the department had paid for such abortions under federal regulations allowing medical care to be paid out-of-state for any money-payment recipient of public assistance in Idaho.

50 TF youths at Boise event

TWIN FALLS — Fifty young athletes from the Special Education School in Twin Falls are in Boise today competing for honors in a Special Olympics for Idaho.

The youngsters won honors in a similar contest for local Special Education students earlier this month at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

School officials said the 50 traveled to Boise bus and will be returning about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, hopefully many of them with trophies.

Enrollment in the Special Education school in Twin Falls is now 89. In the Olympics they will compete in races, broad and high jumps, throwing softballs, relay races and other athletic events.

Murtaugh high honor roll set

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh High School honor roll is announced by Supt. Florin H. Hulse.

Nine week honor roll students include Jenny Buel, Denise Petersen, Tucky Bourn, Joe Flores, Alah Mitchell, Dennis Tilley, Stuart Tolman, Wayne Warr, Wendell Warr, Fredrik Wachtmeister, Janny Bennett and John Flynn, all seniors.

Juniors listed include Marty Wright, Kris McFarland, Debbie Stastny, Monica Bessire, Kim Peterson, Kevin Hranac, Layne Hepworth, Kenyon Gunnell, Debbie Howard, Donald Moyes, Nita Hepworth.

Sophomore honor students are Steven Stanger, Rick Hulse, Carol Lattimer, Kris Hepworth and Kelly Self.

Kelly Biggers, Grant Hulse, Melvin Meyer, John Novesell, Wade Quesnell and Dennis Tilley, all freshmen.

Germany ratifies treaties

BONN (UPI) — President Gustav Heinemann today signed the parliamentary bill ratifying West Germany's nonaggression treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland.

The signing by the chief of state, in a ceremony attended only by a few aides, completed West German action on the treaties and enabled them to go into effect.

Final activation of the treaties must await an exchange of the instruments of ratification between Bonn and Moscow and Bonn and Warsaw. No date has been fixed for this yet, a spokesman for the president's office said.

The treaties, cornerstone of Chancellor Willy Brandt's East European policy, won ratification by both houses of Parliament last week.

Agents seize 'pot'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Customs agents seized 3 1/2 tons of marijuana as it was being unloaded from a shrimp boat onto a deserted stretch of the Intracoastal Waterway between St. Augustine and Daytona Beach early today.

Agents said the marijuana was valued at nearly $15 million and was the largest haul ever made on the east coast.

Five persons were arrested and will be given a hearing later today before a U. S. magistrate. They were identified as John Geismann, 23, Cocoa Beach, Robert Youngs, 21, Melbourne, Tommy Alcock, 24, Morgan, La., and Richard Dodge, 25, and Richard Lotts, 27, both of Virginia.

Survivors due some aid funds

BOISE (UPI) — Workmen's compensation and social security death benefits could give widows and children of the 91 Sunshine Mine fire victims more than $5 million over the next ten years.

A spokesman for the Idaho

Bible school begins

KIMBERLY — "Live in Harmony, One With Another" is the theme for Vacation Bible School being held at the Kimberly United Methodist Church.

Classes started Monday and end June 2. Mrs. John Nelson is superintendent.

Classes will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each day for children through the sixth grade. All denominations are invited to attend. No classes will be held on Memorial Day.

Teachers include Mrs. William Clements, Mrs. Charles Hency, Mrs. Raymond Higgins, Mrs. Leroy Perkins, Mrs. Charles Cook, Mrs. A. R. McFarland and Mrs. Holland Houfberg.

Industrial Commission said workmen's compensation death benefits might reach $2.5 million. Len Satterfield of the Coeur d'Alene office of the Social Security Administration said Social Security payments could exceed $3 million.

Payments in both instances are tax free. Widows will receive funeral benefits from both sources.

Workmen's compensation benefits ranging from $53.10 per week to $70.80 per week will be paid by the Sunshine Mine Co., a self-insurer.

Social Security benefits range from a $225 flat funeral payment to $482 per month. Widows will receive the payments until their children reach the age of 18.

Will Defenbach, chairman of the Idaho Industrial Commission, said so far the commission has received 89 claims from the 91 surviving families for workmen's compensation benefits. He said one of the two remaining claims is disputed because of a "common law wife situation" while the other is delayed because of a divorce.

Voters Sent Demos A Message

WASHINGTON — Obscured by the attempted assassination of Gov. George C. Wallace on the eve of his doubleheader victory, the results from Michigan were a dagger pointed at the heart of the Democratic party's chances in November. Even more menacing than Wallace's statewide Michigan romp were his incredible showings in heavily unionized areas where the United Auto Workers (UAW) and other unions regularly deliver Democratic majorities. Statewide, the Wallace sweep can be rationalized partly in terms of a sympathy vote and huge Republican crossover. In specific blue-collar precincts, however, there is no minimizing the genuine revolt over racial school busing by rank-and-file Democrats. "Wallace told them to send us a message, and they sure as hell did," says one influential state Democratic leader. The message: Michigan's Democratic leaders are so far alienated from their voters that President Nixon would carry the state today easily. And if liberal Michigan goes Republican, can the rest of the nation be far behind? The message has other ominous components: organized labor is pretty nearly impotent in delivering its members when busing over-shadows all else. Sen. Hubert Humphrey's fence-straddling on busing is a political suicide weapon.

And Sen. George McGovern's phenomenal support from blue-collar workers shows signs of abating.

These grim tidings for both McGovern and Humphrey far transcend the success of the stricken Wallace. Thanks to Wallace's own failure to anticipate his future success and his consequent lack of advance planning, he will not enter the Miami Beach convention with delegates in any way commensurate with his popular support. The delegate-selection system works in such a way that Wallace can not long retain many of his first ballot delegates. He cannot be nominated.

Moreover, the Wallace voters in Michigan were NOT for Wallace so much as they were AGAINST busing and the Democratic establishment. A variety of polls showed Wallace last in credibility and potential job performance.

Consider two Michigan counties, both blue-collar in character, with hereditary UAW influence but now obsessed by busing. Macomb County, just north of Detroit: Wallace, 90,309; McGovern, 25,383; Humphrey, 13,635. Genesee County, containing Flint: Wallace, 38,501; McGovern, 21,220; Humphrey, 9,927.

What happened to Humphrey? Michigan politicians say his formulation against "busing from a good school to a poor school" came over as waffling. His blue-collar constituency wanted an unequivocal no on busing and heard it only from Wallace. Humphrey's Michigan advisers who told him the voters would settle for moderation misread their state.

How, then, could McGovern, even less anti-busing than Humphrey, run far better in these blue-collar counties? The answer: his strength was centered in non-blue-collar precincts — more affluent white collar areas that form the hard nucleus of the McGovern constituency.

One analysis of McGovern's Maryland-Michigan vote gave him only a 10 to 15 per cent showing in selected blue-collar precincts. In Maryland, for example, his only delegate votes and his only good showing came in rich, white, liberal, anti-war Montgomery County. Thus did Tuesday's balloting threaten to propel McGovern back to his narrow-based peace candidacy of months ago.

Lovable Jerk

Is there any social significance in the fact that for the second year in a row the comedy series "All in the Family" dominated television's Emmy Awards?

According to some critics, the popularity of the show means that bigotry has become respectable. "We are all Archie Bunkers at heart but don't have the nerve to be as honest and vocal as he is. We may pretend — or even believe — that we are laughing at the always-discomfited Archie, but in truth we are secretly identifying with him. Couldn't it be that the show's popularity is nothing more than a reflection of its excellence?"

The show is simply funny. The writing is of a consistently high standard, treating what really are delicate and serious subjects with just the right touch of irony and, above all, humor.

Archie, surrounded by "dingbats" and "meatheads" and "different" people who threaten his psychological security, week after week has his prejudices exploded in his face, and week after week keeps coming back with more prejudices.

Maybe through him we experience a sort of catharsis that enables us to look at, and laugh at, those aspects of Archie Bunker that lie deep within ourselves.

Or maybe we just like to see the look on his face when, once again, he's proved wrong.

But what raises the series to its high level is the fact that Archie is more than a straw man set up to be knocked down to prove a point in each show. He is a human being we have grown to know and — stifle the thought — even to love.

Rather than making bigotry respectable, Archie Bunker has taught us that when we deny the humanness of the bigot or the racist we are just practicing a different form of bigotry.

Shadow on the Land

Social Security

Senator Frank Church has announced he has signed 49 co-sponsors for his bill to increase Social Security benefits 20 per cent, affecting the 27 million Americans who get monthly checks.

In addition to the sponsors, Church said others promised they would support the bill, assuring its approval.

House approval also is expected. While the Welfare Reform Bill passed by the House nearly a year ago provides a five per cent increase, the amount proposed by President Nixon, Representative Wilbur Mills came out for a 20 per cent increase after he announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. As Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mills usually gets his way on taxes.

In addition, the members are up for election this year and see votes coming their way from the boost in benefits although an accompanying steep increase in the tax would fall chiefly upon middle income workers. The amount of income subject to the 5.2 per cent Social Security tax would be jumped from $10,200 to $12,000 in 1973, but that would come after the election.

The Church proposal is expected to reach the Senate floor about mid-June, so there is plenty of time for protests to reach Congressmen. But who wants to deny 27 million beneficiaries of a few dollars each a month?

Heat Antidote

Citizens who wonder how they can stand the accelerating heat should give thought to the perambulatory candidates who often "make" 10 or 20 towns in a day and wind up with as pleasant a smile and as warm a handclasp as at the beginning.

The answer is that heady business of political aspiration, with its spotlights and sporting chances, keeps a man going during a season when only "mad dogs venture forth in the noonday sun."

At any rate, the candidates do not seem to mind, and this should suggest to non-political citizens: Step up your interest in your job to somewhere near the level of the candidate and become impervious to the heat.

ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — It is fascinating to speculate that had an incident in a Milwaukee suburb turned out differently last November Gov. George Wallace would be bustling about today, in lusty and aggressive health.

Further, a cynic is constrained to suggest that Wallace would not have been shot down but for the reluctance of many lawmen to fight a tough case in the social-worker atmosphere bequeathed to the nation's courts by the Earl Warren Supreme Court.

Arthur Herman Bremer, the 21-year-old Milwaukeean charged with shooting Wallace down, was arrested in Fox Point, just outside Milwaukee, last November on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. The weapon was a .38 caliber snubnosed revolver identical with that police say Bremer used in his assault on Wallace.

However, the charge later was reduced to disorderly conduct, a misdemeanor. Bremer pleaded guilty, and was duly convicted.

The upshot, one suspects, was convenient for all involved. The prosecution got its guilty plea, thus saving time, trouble and the taxpayers' money. Bremer went his way, with his record showing only a minor charge unlikely to attract the attention of the cop in, say, Chicago, looking for an individual who might be dangerous to the life of a visiting Presidential candidate.

But in this wild time, a cynic's suspicions know few bounds. It is patently obvious that the prosecution had no great enthusiasm for pressing the concealed weapons charge. And the reason for this reluctance was submitted in a telephone conversation with a prosecution aide who begged anonymity, lest he become embroiled in a cops-courts controversy.

"We had a good case," he said. "We found the revolver in his pocket, together with some extra shells. I believe we could have made it stick. But frankly you can't be sure these days what will happen when you go into court. You can have an eye witness to a crime and the guy will get off on some technicality."

What this man was saying, in effect, is that lawmen tend to be intimidated by the new permissiveness that permeates the judicial system. Or, as he put it, "Even if the guy confesses in open court, that doesn't guarantee he'll be convicted. It's much safer to let him cog a lesser plea and close the case. I admit this isn't good law enforcement, but it's facing the facts of life."

So, according to Treasury Department records kept by authorization of the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968, Arthur Herman Bremer went out five weeks later and bought another snubnosed .38 caliber revolver the one with which he is alleged to have tried to assassinate George Wallace. Had he been convicted on a concealed weapons charge last November, he might still have been in jail on that sunny May afternoon in Laurel, Md. At the very least, his goings and comings would have come under scrutiny of the Secret Service charged with protecting Presidents and would-be Presidents.

PAUL HARVEY

Home Fires

President Nixon says he is "very much concerned" that many young workers don't want to work, that they do only what they have to and are not dedicated to their jobs.

He's right, of course, but I'm seeing some symptoms to the contrary.

Our nation's inflation is worsened by workers who won't work.

Absenteeism, slow or sloppy work, just won't produce enough goods to keep prices down.

So Congress' Joint Economic Committee is conducting hearings on how to hypo productivity.

How do we prevent other nations' overworking and underpricing us and conceivably putting us out of business?

The committee is hearing recommendations that "workers should share more management decisions," that "bureaucrats should further moderate and regulate the labor-management interaction."

May heaven protect us from the calumny, cost and chaos of more government snooper vision.

Let me suggest instead that with less government intrusion, the tendency toward lethargy tends to take care of itself.

History says the pendulum inevitably swings away from its own uphill excesses. My generation overemphasized industry at the sacrifice of humanism.

Running scared from a terrible depression, we drove ourselves and others all-out, gung-ho to succeed, to surmount, to excel, to profit and prosper.

If it was good medicine for what ailed our economy, it was socially sacrificial.

Too frequently in our preoccupation with an occupation we let the home fires go out.

Determined to make things better for our sons, we made some things worse.

So sons rebelled against work, and overworked workers organized and rebelled against work.

When this now decade began and sensed the pendulum had begun to swing back, I first suspected myself of wishful thinking. But the confirmation is accumulating.

Today more Americans are working than ever before in our nation's history.

Further, there is such a revival of Horatio Alger ambition that there are presently more Americans moonlighting (holding down two jobs) than there are Americans with no job at all.

College and university curriculums are being drastically revised to accommodate an en masse switchover from academics to mechanics. Vocational school enrollment has doubled in one year. Even from Harvard and Dartmouth come graduates hoping to work with their hands.

Nobody knows the extent or durability of this renewed respect for work. Certainly they will not go as far as we did, to the total neglect of God, family and recreation.

But the contagion is spreading. And a new generation is learning that work is work only if it's something you don't want to do. Otherwise, it can be fun, too.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Strange Disease

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please publish some facts about multiple sclerosis, especially to clarify that it is neither hereditary nor contagious. — Mrs. F.M.

I'm glad to comply with your specific request. Multiple sclerosis is not contagious. You don't catch it from anyone else. An it is not hereditary. Long study of the disease give no evidence that it is inherited.

There is absolutely no reason to be afraid of a person who has MS. But you can and should have sympathy for him.

The disease affects the sheath which covers nerve trunks. The material of which the sheath is composed, myelin, is lost. This is a patchy situation, and the place (or places) where the loss of myelin occurs has a great deal to do, naturally, with the manner in which the patient is affected.

Some of the symptoms — I list only some, because there can be so many — include periods of numbness or tingling; visual difficulties such as blurring, double vision, temporary episodes of blindness, slurred speech; involuntary eye movements; poor coordination; muscle weakness.

Not all of these symptoms need be present. And there can be others I haven't mentioned. Diagnosis of the disease, because there is no simple, specific test for it, seldom is made when the disease first begins. It requires elimination of other possible causes for the various symptoms.

No specific cause has been ascertained. Many have been suspected and discarded. But without knowing a cause, we have no specific treatment. It becomes a matter of alleviating, to what extent we can, some of the troubles resulting from it. Avoiding excessive fatigue or injuries and preventing or quickly subduing infections are part of the task.

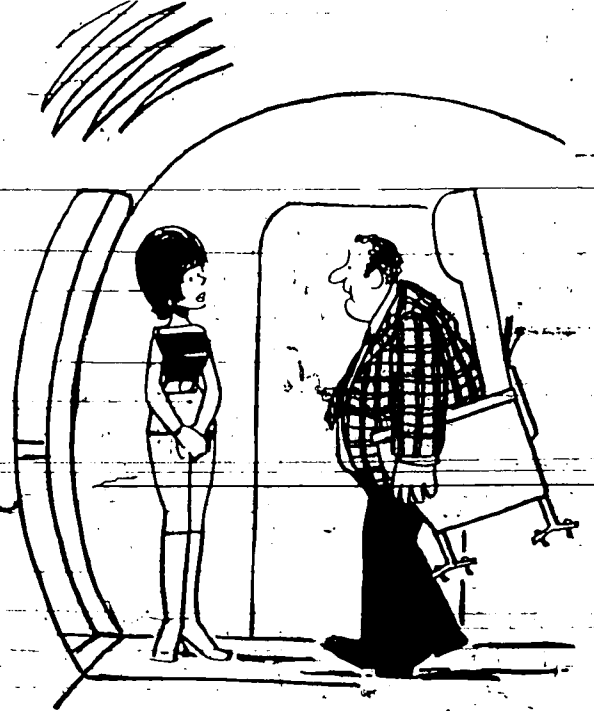

For whatever unknown reasons, the disease is most likely to attack adults in the prime of life (age 20 to 40), but apparently more often in cool, damp climates, seldom in hot. That does not mean that moving to a hot area will cure the disease, though.

Occasionally MS comes on suddenly, but more often it creeps up insidiously. It usually progresses slowly, too, with unaccountable ups and downs. Often a patient has periods of feeling quite well, and without symptoms. But usually there is a return of the symptoms, and gradually more severe. There are reports, however, of remissions — that is, periods when the disease seems to have halted — lasting for years.

Should a dependable treatment for MS be discovered, you won't have to look for news of it in this column; it will be news of worldwide importance, since neither sex nor race appears to have any effect on who gets it and who does not.

Research and information on MS are sponsored by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 257 Park Avenue South, New York, N.Y. 10010, and all interested in the disease will do well to get in touch with that organization.

Socialist Party on Idaho ballot

BOISE (UPI) — The Socialist Workers' Party has qualified to be placed on Idaho's ballot by gathering almost twice the number of signatures required, Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa said Monday.

Cenarrusa said the party still must nominate at least three candidates for state or national office and still must hold a state convention, but added, "It looks to me like they made it."

The Socialist workers will be the fourth party on the ballot. Others are the Republican, Democratic and American parties.

Dryden Hiler, deputy Secretary of State, said Nina M. Knapp, Boise, turned in 150 petitions Monday bearing approximately 2,900 signatures. Idaho's statutes require only 1,500 signatures.

Cenarrusa said his office would not certify the names of those signing the petitions. Idaho's laws require signatures by "electors" but do not specify "qualified electors."

Cenarrusa said the American Independent Party turned in 4,200 signatures when it was first qualified in Idaho and said at that time the names were not certified.

The petitions were turned into Cenarrusa's office within the required 30 days before the last date provided by law for holding a state political convention. The last date in Idaho is June 30.

Cenarrusa said the party's candidates must file declarations of candidacy and petitions within the required time, June 7-7, but said the party convention could fill any ballot vacancies.

Sunshine Mine had only one real escape route

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A senator investigating the Sunshine Silver Mine in Kellogg, Idaho where 91 miners died in a fire asserts the mine only had one "real" escape route though "technically" it conformed with the law requiring two.

"In my judgment, this was in violation of and defeated the purpose of the mine safety regulations," Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate Labor Committee said here Monday.

The only "real" escape from the mile-deep mine was the elevator, which stopped running when the operator was overcome by smoke and apparently died, Williams said.

He said several of the vertical air shafts connecting each level of the mine were equipped with ladders which would make it theoretically possible for a person to climb through them and reach the upper level.

"However, at the 5,600 foot level, this would require at least a 2,000-foot vertical climb," he said.

Furthermore, although there were ladders in the ventilation shafts, they were so old at the upper levels — 4,000 feet and above — their reliability is doubtful," he said.

Nonetheless, he said, Bureau of Mines inspectors said in 1970 that the mine did provide the required two escapeways.

"Technically speaking, Sunshine Mine did provide two escapeways," Williams said.

"But it is clear as a matter of fact that there was only one escapeway and that was the one which required the use of the elevator."

When the operator was killed, Williams said the men below him — most of them 5,600 feet underground — were trapped with no real escape.

Wildcat strike begun at silver mine at Mullan

MULLAN, Idaho (UPI) — Mine workers at the Lucky Friday Mine east of here began a wildcat strike Monday, walking off the job for what they called "unsafe working conditions" at the silver mine.

More than 100 workmen reported "sick" shortly after the 7 a.m. shift began when a union safety inspection team was refused permission to accompany a Bureau of Mines safety inspection team touring the mine.

The walkout occurred while crews were still fighting a fire in the Sunshine Mine at nearby Kellogg in the silver-rich Coeur d'Alene mining district. The Sunshine fire, which began May 2, claimed 91 lives.

William Hayes, head of the United Steelworkers local, said he had no comment to make because the union is not officially involved in the walkout.

W. H. Love, president of Hecla Mining Co., Wallace, owner of the Lucky Friday, termed the strike an unlawful one under the firm's contract with the United Steelworkers of America.

Love said Hecla will rely on the union to take "prompt action to get the men back to work and we will go to court to recover damages from the union."

Helicopter auctioned

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — A 1970 Jet Ranger Helicopter, valued at about $125,000 was sold for $76,000 as part of the $1.7 million in inventory of bankrupt J. E. Hall Contractors, Inc., auctioned off here Monday.

Hall was once north Idaho's largest logging contractor. More than 1,000 persons registered for the auction, including buyers from 30 states, six Canadian provinces and a team of order buyers from Indonesia.

Brownlee Lake not full yet

BROWNLEE, Idaho (UPI) — Brownlee Lake will still be about 75 feet below full elevation over the Memorial Day weekend because of flood-control requirements, the Idaho Power Co. said Monday.

But officials added that the Hells Canyon-area parks are ready for visitors over the holiday.

Idaho Power maintained ramps on Oxbow and Hells Canyon Lakes, which are not subject to extensive drawdown by the river regulation.

The Corps of Engineers asked Brownlee today following its season drawdown for flood control and the lake should be back to its maximum level by the Fourth of July weekend.

Agency honors Hansen

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, was honored today by the National Small Business Association for his efforts in tax reform.

Hansen was recognized by the association and the National Committee for Small Business Tax Reform in a special ceremony in Washington, D.C.

The commendation certificate cites Hansen for his "forthright action in publically supporting tax simplification and reform for 18.5 small businessmen in America and particularly those in his district."

Cooking meet set at Burley

BURLEY — The public is invited to the free lamb cooking demonstration at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Ponderosa Inn.

The event is hosted by the Idaho Wool Growers Association Auxiliary, the Intermountain Gas Co., J. R. Simplot Co. and the South Idaho Press.

The chef will be Glen Coffey of the Ponderosa Inn, Phillippe Held and Felix Gonzales, both of the Christiania of Sun Valley.

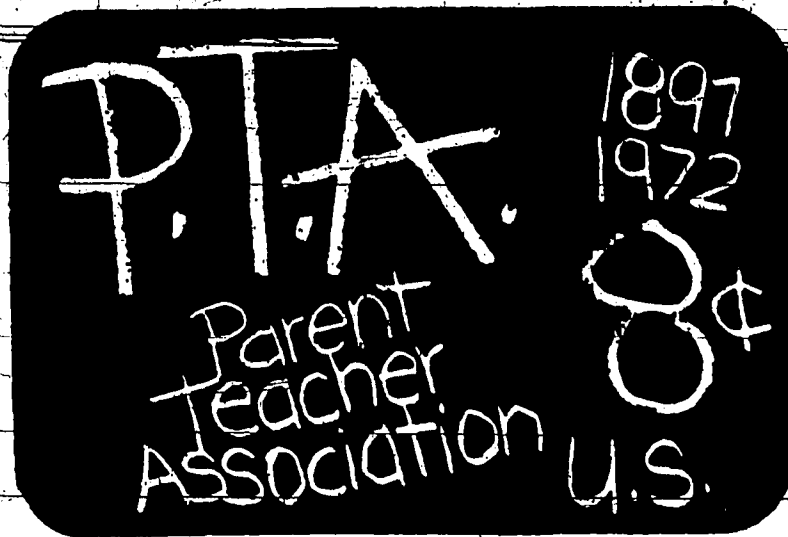

Assisting the chefs will be Mrs. Fran Hooper, economist for Intermountain Gas, and Charlotte Sandfer, Caldwell, economist for J. R. Simplot.

Chef Held is originally from the French section of Switzerland and Chef Gonzales is from Madrid, Spain. All three chefs will prepare their own lamb specialties.

Chef Coffey will assist Mrs. Hooper in barbecuing lamb outside if the weather permits. Miss Sandfer will prepare several potato side dishes to accompany the lamb main dishes.

Won't pay

DETROIT (UPI) — When Jane Briggs Hart, wife of Michigan Sen. Philip Hart, filed a quarterly report of estimated income on May 10th she refused to include a check for $8,200 for tax payment. Now she says she won't pay another cent in taxes until the Vietnam War ends. Booth Newspapers reported Monday in a copyrighted story from their Washington bureau,

Meant it

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., "Meant what he said which is that he is not a candidate" for the presidential nomination, his sister said Monday in Boise.

Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, when asked about the Oregon Primary in which her brother is entered, said she felt he made his position "very clear."

She added, "I've never heard him discuss a draft."

Mrs. Shriver was in Boise for the Special Olympics for Handicapped Children sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation.

Budget group to meet

BOISE (UPI) — The legislature's Interim Budget and Fiscal Committee will meet in Pocatello Friday to receive a comprehensive audit of the State Tax Commission, legislative auditor James Defenbach said Monday.

Defenbach said at the same meeting legislative fiscal officer John Andreason will present the lawmakers with a summary of the work done during the 1972 session by the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

The Pocatello session will be the last meeting for Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malad, committee co-chairman. Palmer will leave the legislature to become a member of the State Tax Commission.

Chisholm predicts choice of Kennedy

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI) — Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., campaigning for the Democratic Presidential nomination, predicted Monday that the Democrats will nominate Sen. Edward Kennedy at their convention.

"I don't claim to be a prophetess," Rep. Chisholm said at the University of Utah "but none of the current front runners will get that nomination, I predict."

The choice of the Massachusetts senator will come after the powerful convention credentials committee has faced serious challenges to seat delegations of minorities, women and young people," she said.

About 1,000 persons listened as Mrs. Chisholm criticized a variety of national ills, from racism to antifeminism and political cynicism.

At an airport news conference Monday afternoon, Mrs. Chisholm said women in politics aren't subject to wheeling and dealing like the men are.

A thought for today, Norwegian poet Henrik Ibsen said, "I hold that man is in the right who is more closely in league with the future."

Gas gives you a BETTER DEAL

IF YOU HEAT WITH GAS... YOU SHOULD COOL WITH GAS!

Gas Air Conditioning is the modern summer comfort system. And if you have gas heat in your home or business, you're already halfway to air conditioning installation because of the common ducts.

The friendly flame of Gas Air Conditioning costs less to operate. It lasts longer—and we back up that claim with a five-year warranty.

Gas Air Conditioning is the nicest thing you could do for yourself this summer, especially if you're already using gas heat. Call your Intermountain Gas Company office today for details.

Revenue sharing buffeted

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's revenue sharing bill was reported in trouble today in the House Rules Committee, sometimes a burial ground for controversial legislation.

Committee members balked at throwing a protective amendment cloak around the bill for its consideration on the House floor, as requested by its sponsors.

They also were inclined to leave its key feature—a $30 billion, five-year appropriation of federal funds to the states and localities—open to parliamentary challenge that might enable a single opponent to block it.

The committee, after hearing arguments for and against the bill last week, agreed to meet in closed session Tuesday to make its decision on ground rules for House debate on the measure.

Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark, chairman of the Ways and Means committee and the bill's principal sponsor, asked the Rules Committee both for a no-amendment rule and a waiver of points of order. This kind of rule is commonly employed in House consideration of bills affecting taxes, on the theory that the tax code is too complex to allow any general tinkering with it in a body of 435 members.

The bill's opponents, including Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., another House titan, urged the committee to deny such a protective rule. Mahon said the committee, better yet, could put the measure on ice until Ways and Means brings in a tax bill to cover the costs of revenue sharing.

Under pressure from almost all state governors and city officials to get the bill passed, House Democratic leaders were pressing the Rules panel for quick clearance of the bill, and have tentatively set it down for House debate starting Wednesday.

However, as word filtered out about the Rules members' apparent intent to open the bill to both amendment and parliamentary challenge, leadership sources indicated House action might be delayed.

Mills himself was reported uncertain the bill could be passed, whatever ground rules were adopted. And he told the Rules Committee that if it granted anything short of the protective arrangements he requested, he would go back to Ways and Means for further instructions on whether and how to proceed.

what's new?

Babies are born every day. And newspapers report it in full. They also report on who's getting married, local sports, the price of a pot roast, and more. In your community this is news. And newspapers print the news, with strong emphasis on local news. Local newspapers deliver where other news sources leave off. People believe strongly in newspapers for several reasons: newspaper reading is a habit with most people; it's part of the habitual routine of daily life, and people regard their newspaper as a friend they can't do without.

Over eight out of ten adults read a newspaper every day. For that reason, no other news medium can match local newspapers for speedy, thorough saturation of your town.

For all the news about your community, read your local newspaper. Newspapers deliver the local story.

Statue's repair may require years

By BARRY JAMES
VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican's chief art expert said Monday he had "absolutely no doubts" his artisans could restore the Pieta but said it may take as long as three years to recreate subtleties of the Michelangelo masterpiece which were shattered by the hammer blows of a self-styled Messiah.

Pieta one of world's treasures

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Pieta is one of the world's most famous art treasures. Its worth is beyond estimate.

The only work of art Michelangelo ever signed, the Pieta weighs 6,700 pounds and occupies a place of honor in St. Peter's Basilica.

The marble statue is in the first chapel on the right of the main great bronze doors of St. Peter's Basilica. It shows the mother of Jesus cradling his broken body after the Crucifixion.

The genius called Michelangelo carved it in 1498 at the request of the French ambassador to the court of Pope Alexander VI.

Since it was placed in the basilica in 1500, it has left the world's biggest Christian church only once. In 1964 it was strapped into a bulletproof, unsinkable steel case weighing six tons and shipped to New York for the World's Fair.

It was insured for $10 million, a symbolic figure since experts agree the Pieta is irreplaceable.

"The damage is not out of the normal but the statue is. This is our trouble," Deodocio Redig de Campos, director of the Vatican Museum, said.

"Given the delicacy of the work, it could take three years," he said. But de Campos, a Brazilian-born authority on the works of Michelangelo and other Renaissance arts, said he was confident the Vatican's Restoration Laboratory had "dealt with the same kind of problems on lesser works with complete success."

The massive white marble statue of the Madonna seated at the foot of the cross with the dead Jesus on her lap was attacked Sunday by a man identified as Laszlo Toth, 33, a Hungarian geologist living in Sydney, Australia.

Witnesses said the bearded Toth jumped a low marble balustrade, climbed the stairs to the platform on which the statue rests and, shouting "I am Jesus Christ," struck four or five blows with a sculptor's hammer that broke off the Madonna's left arm and nose and chipped the left eye and parts of the face and veil.

Toth, turned over to Italian police Sunday night, faces possible charges of damaging a place of worship and insulting the state religion. Public Prosecutor Franco Plotino said. Conviction carries up to six years in prison.

Plotino said the case could be handled under urgent procedure with trial within 40 days unless a mental examination was necessary.

3 MV women reappointed

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Tom Peavey and Mrs. Margaret Wood, both Twin Falls, and Mrs. Floyd Olsen, Kimberly, have been reappointed memorial chairmen for the Idaho Heart Association.

Mrs. Richard Brizee, Twin Falls County chairman, announced their reappointments today.

The chairmen expressed their thanks for the many contributions received during this fiscal year.

Mrs. Peavey said the public is being encouraged to make special memorial gifts to "Heart" at this time as a particularly appropriate means of observing Memorial Day. She explained that special memorial gifts made in connection with the Memorial Day observance will go into the memorial fund of the Heart Association for immediate use in support of important on-going programs of research, education and community service.

Mrs. Olsen said the memorial fund is made up largely of gifts sent to the Heart Fund when relatives, friends or associates die. The donor requests that tribute be paid to the deceased and an acknowledgement card is sent to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Wood said "We are grateful that people find 'Heart' memorials such a meaningful way of expressing condolence at a difficult time. We shall appreciate also any contributions to our memorial fund on this special Memorial Day observance. Such support will be of immeasurable help in our day-to-day fight against the toll of heart disease and stroke.

Idahoans asked to support nation-wide 'arts' campaign

BOISE — Idaho residents are called to join in a nation-wide campaign to win for the arts a new priority in the federal budget.

Suzanne D. Taylor, executive director for the Idaho State

Commission on Arts and Humanities, and Idaho's chairman for the Partnership for the Arts, explained this is a decisive year for the arts.

The Partnership for the Arts, led by Amyas Ames, chairman for the Board of Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York, is a national organization for business and cultural leaders who aim to gain a substantial increase in federal support for the arts.

Since 1968 the National Endowment for the Arts has invested $276,766 in Idaho in the state's cultural institutions and has been responsible for making possible such project as The Oinkara Basque Dance Tours, the Boise Philharmonic Children's concerts and telecasts, Idaho Falls Symphony Elementary String Program, Idaho State University Elementary String Program, the Antique Festival Theatre's tours, University of Idaho Troupe's Theatre, Arts for Idaho's Senior Citizens, Lewis-Clark Children's Theatre and the Coeur d'Alene PTA Council's summer arts program.

"Concerned Idaho residents should make their views known to their congressmen in support of the arts which are at the very heart of our civilization," Miss Taylor said.

TF Writers League meets

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Chapter of the Idaho Writer's League answered roll call with original poems on roads or trails during a Saturday meeting.

May Burkhardt read an article prepared by Jeanette LeMayne on short, short stories, and gave a demonstration on the short story, "The Gift."

Sue Noon read her new juvenile story, "Poppy and the Bully." Ethlyn Walkington will host a "yard nick" after the next meeting.

A Lovelier You

REST FOR A WEARY FACE

By Mary Sue Miller

Do fatigue and tension ever show in your face? When it happens, the skin looks drawn and the muscles feel vise tightened.

Other than a good night's sleep, the measures that bring some relief are a nap, a facial or a soak in the tub. But what if your time is limited? What if you barely have time to dress for an engagement, let alone a "face lift"?

Well, that's the time to use these instant relaxers. Simply sit in front of your mirror and work out the tensions. Like so:

1. Slowly frown and then stretch your eyebrows upward. 2. Close your eyes as tightly as possible, without puckering the skin beneath.

3. Slide the lips upward to the right in a crooked smile, now to the left. Smile a pretty smile, wipe it off.

Repeat each relaxer five times before going on to the next. Don't hurry; the entire routine takes only three to five minutes. If you plan a change of makeup, perform after removing the old when your skin is creamy with cleanser.

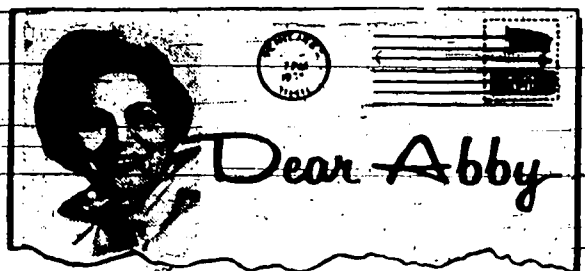

Never fear, the routine will not cause or deepen lines. Regular performance strengthens the facial muscles and that may help to discourage crepey lines. It is the habitual frown or other grimace that sets wrinkles.

Just so, there is no reason why you should not use the routine several times weekly for smoothing as well as relaxing.

THE EYES OF YOUTH

You are not lost to youthful beauty because of dark circles, puffiness, or wrinkles around the eyes. These problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leader, THE EYES OF YOUTH. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Our son, 23, is in college. He is living with a 22-year-old divorcee who has a five-year-old child. They have been serious for over a year and plan to marry when he graduates and can support her. In the meantime, she is holding a very good job.

Altho we do not approve of this arrangement, there is nothing we can do about it at his age. We are still paying for his college education, which we could cut off if we wanted to.

We are aware that there is a lot of living together going on now, but we still do not condone it and we refuse to accept his girl friend under these conditions.

Our son and she are terribly upset over this. He says we should accept his lifestyle and not sit in judgment. He is torn between his love for his family and his love for this girl, but he refuses to give her up.

We are in a stalemate, but are willing to listen to a third party. What say you?

M. L.

DEAR M. L.: Your son is a man now, and is entitled to choose his own lifestyle. If you cut off your financial aid, I doubt that it would change anything. If you don't want to lose your son you had better accept her. (P. S. this advice would not apply to all unwed couples living together. Only to adult, mature, responsible parties who care about each other.)

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago we adopted a beautiful baby boy. When he came into our home and hearts he was only nine days old.

The only difference between this child and our first was we waited only nine months for the first, and 18 months for this one. (After giving birth to the first baby I had a hysterectomy, so we put in for adoption immediately.)

When our adopted baby was four months old, our suspicions were confirmed. He was brain damaged and destined to be retarded. We were heartbroken, but we accepted the news just as parents would have accepted the news that their natural born child was imperfect. He was our baby and it was our fate. God chose us to be his parents, and we would see it thru.

We have never regretted our decision. I am writing this not to invite praise, Abby, but to ask you to please tell people that when they learn of adoptive parents who have kept an imperfect child (and many have) not to go into raptures about what "saints" the parents are, and how magnificent and noble they must be.

I don't feel that I am entitled to any special glory for having made that decision. I did what any other mother would have done. Sign me.

NO ORCHIDS FOR ME IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR NO ORCHIDS: God Love you!

DEAR ABBY: I frequently receive bridge prizes, door prizes and gifts for my birthday and Christmas which I cannot use or don't especially care for. I put all these items in a large box marked "White Elephants."

Then when I have to give someone a gift, I go thru the box and select something I think will be appropriate. Rewrap it and send it! Clever?

NOT-SO-DUMB

DEAR NOT: Just be sure you keep a record of who gave you what. It would be rather embarrassing to give something back to the person who gave it to you.

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet you hear from umpteen people telling you what you should have told "Such Good Friends" who wanted to know what to do about that woman who cheats when she keeps the bridge score.

I belong to two weekly bridge foursomes, all good friends; and I have never played bridge where two players did not keep score. We do this not to keep the score keeper "honest," but to assure accuracy in scoring. We can all make mistakes and we know it. And we keep the score sheets intact until we disband so anyone who wants to can examine them.

It is a problem in trump management, since South wants to be able to play two rounds of trumps without giving the defense a chance to lead a third one.

He starts proceedings by ducking the first club and notes that East has dropped the deuce. It looks as if clubs will break 4-3. He wins the club continuation and makes the second key play which is a low trump.

It doesn't matter what the defense does from now on South will be able to gain the lead and cash his ace of trumps. Then he can do almost anything except lead a third trump. Sometime or other, West will score a trick with his remaining trump, but that will be all.

McGovern goes after east-west primary sweep

By STEVE GERSTEL
United Press International
George S. McGovern today went after an East Coast-West Coast sweep win in presidential primaries in Rhode Island and Oregon.

McGovern was an overwhelming favorite to win in Oregon and add the state's 34 delegate votes to his leading and growing collection despite the presence of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and nine other Democrats on the ballot.

McGovern also was given a slight edge for Rhode Island's 22 delegates, although the election was considered a close three way race between McGovern, Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey.

In his final swing of Oregon, McGovern predicted he would win and added it was "also possible" he would take the Rhode Island primary.

McGovern said it would be "wonderful" to win the two primaries "and give us a West Coast, East Coast victory on the same day."

McGovern has 439 delegates, plus 18 leaning; Wallace, 312; Humphrey, 291.85 plus 16 leaning; and Muskie, 166.6 plus 5 leaning. Other delegate votes could be factors as the Democrats move closer to their national convention July 10 in Miami Beach.

Despite repeated statements that he is not a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Kennedy's name was on the ballot in Oregon. It will be the only time that voters in a primary state can cast a ballot for Kennedy except as a write-in.

Although Kennedy is not expected to be a factor in the voting, the race for second place to McGovern shaped up as a free-for-all.

Both primaries, however,

Among those who could finish as runnerup are Alabama's Gov. George Wallace, partially paralyzed in a suburban Washington, D. C., hospital after an attempt on his life. Wallace waged a massive weekend media campaign and sent three of his key aides into the state Monday.

Others with a shot at second are Humphrey; Sen. Henry M. Jackson of neighboring Washington, who fashioned a good organization in the state before putting out as an active candidate; and possibly Rep. Patsy Mink of Hawaii, who campaigns off-and-on in Oregon.

The oldest of the continuous presidential primaries, Oregon boasts that no candidate ever has been elected president of the United States without first winning his party's primary in Oregon.

Also on the ballot are former Sen. Wayne Morse, 71, seeking the Democratic nomination against three challengers for his old seat in the Senate. Morse is given a slight edge.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield is considered a top-heavy favorite to win the GOP nomination.

The Rhode Island primary has been marked by the return of Muskie to at least part-time campaigning despite his decision to withdraw as an active candidate after disastrous defeats on the same night in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

While all the other candidates stayed away, Muskie made a foray into Rhode Island where he still has the backing of Gov. Frank Licht, the entire Congressional delegation, and Mayor Joseph A. Doorley Jr., who has had his "machine" working hard to bring out the vote in the state's capital, Providence. A light turnout could help Muskie.

As in Oregon, Wallace is a factor in Rhode Island. He could pickup some sympathy votes and benefit from the school busing problem which is a major issue in Providence.

President Nixon was expected to easily continue his march to the convention by adding 18 delegates from Oregon and 8 from Rhode Island which would give him 633 of the 674 he needs for renomination.

Former CIA agent pay plan probed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The revelation that an ex-CIA agent is on the payroll of Action, the government agency which includes the Peace Corps, was deleted from a Senate Foreign Relations Committee report after a personal plea by CIA Director Joseph H. Blatchford, it was learned today.

The former agent, Eric H. Biddle Jr., since has been detailed away from Action, however, because such employment would be contrary to the agency's stated policies.

Biddle, who served with the CIA in Greece, Germany, and Washington during the 1950s, currently works in the office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). But he continues to be paid through Action.

Blatchford's sensitivity to the CIA issue came to light following questioning by Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., during an April 7 Foreign Relations Committee hearing on fiscal 1973 Peace Corps authorization.

Pell, though not present, submitted six questions for Blatchford to answer.

Included was the question: "Are there any former employees of the CIA or other intelligence agencies now on the payroll of Action, regardless of whether they are now performing duties for Action?"

A week later Blatchford sent written answers to all six questions to Pell, with a handwritten postscript at the bottom of the cover letter:

"I have an understanding with your staff that these questions and answers are for your personal use and will not be put into the record. We appreciate your sensitivity to this issue."

Pell's staff, however, rejected the postscript and demanded a new cover letter without the agreement. This was done.

Nevertheless, when Pell turned over the questions and answers to the Foreign Relations Committee for publication in the report of the hearing, the two questions involving Biddle's employment were deleted.

Thomas Hughes, Pell's press secretary, said Monday the senator decided to eliminate the material from the public record because it "could very well be very damaging and embarrassing to the Peace Corps."

Both Hughes and William Young, the senator's administrative assistant, said Biddle had some control over Peace Corps functions during the brief period he actually was working in Action, but an Action spokesman denied it.

Roommates give Davis testimony

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Guns used in the 1970 Marin County courthouse shootings were taken from the apartment of Angela Davis without her permission, a defense witness at the black militant's murder trial testified Monday.

Valerie Mitchell, a former roommate of Miss Davis, said that guns purchased by the defendant for target practice by members of a club to which she belonged were taken from their Los Angeles apartment by Jonathan Jackson, 17.

Miss Davis is being tried for allegedly supplying the guns that Jackson used to take hostages from a San Rafael courtroom in what the state charges was a plot to free his older brother, George. Four persons died in the ensuing gun battle.

Miss Mitchell, who also uses the name Tamu, the Swahili word for sweetness, said in the first day of defense testimony that she and Miss Davis shared the same apartment until July, 1970.

She identified two carbines and a Browning automatic pistol used in the gun battle as similar to weapons bought by Miss Davis and kept on a gun rack in a hall closet of the apartment.

The weapons were available to members of the Che Lumumba Club for target practice at Jack Rabbit Pass, Miss Mitchell said.

Report denied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon Monday denied a report that the Soviet freighter Zeya ran the Haiphong minefield after the mines had become activated.

A report from Singapore Monday quoted the captain of the 1,200-ton ship as saying he left Haiphong May 13—two days after the mines became lethal—and his shipping agent reportedly corroborated the report from the ship's log.

Defense Department Spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim, however, said the freighter in question was at dockside in Haiphong when the ports were blockaded with the mines, but was one of the vessels that left the harbor before the mines were activated.

"That particular vessel was not inside the minefield at the time of the activation of the mines, and therefore did not transit the mines," he said. "It was outside of Haiphong harbor near Haiphong, but outside."

He added that no ships have left or entered the seven mined North Vietnamese ports since May 11.

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—No fingerprints of any of 25 farm workers hacked to death were found on motor vehicles belonging to mass murder suspect Juan V. Corona, the prosecution disclosed Monday.

When defense attorney Richard Hawk asked about possible fingerprints taken from three of Corona's vehicles, Deputy District Attorney Bartley Williams replied, "At this time there is none."

Williams also told a pretrial hearing he intends to call as many as 250 witnesses during the trial. He turned over a list

Demos plan speeches against Kleindienst

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The likelihood of a filibuster to stall or defeat confirmation of Richard G. Kleindienst as attorney general has all but vanished, despite efforts planned by some Democratic senators.

Several Democrats said they would make lengthy floor speeches against Kleindienst, but none was willing to forecast any organized filibuster to prevent or delay a vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he expected the debate to run three or four days.

There was a question, however, as to when the nomination would formally go before the Senate. Mansfield said it would not be called up until the current problems over end-of-war amendments to a bill authorizing appropriations for the State Department are resolved. And no votes on the amendments, one sponsored by Mansfield himself, will be taken until President Nixon returns from Russia.

That meant the soonest the Kleindienst nomination could be debated would be early or mid-June.

Among the Democrats planning to speak against Kleindienst were Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch D. Bayh of Indiana, John V. Tunney of California and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota.

All of those filed vigorous written dissents to Senate Judiciary Committee approval of the nomination.

Friend inherits Hoover estate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—J. Edgar Hoover will virtually all of his $551,500 estate to his long-time friend, associate FBI director Clyde A. Tolson, the Washington Post reported today.

The bequest included Hoover's $100,000 home in northwest Washington into which Tolson already has moved, the Post said. The ailing Tolson, 72, resigned his post shortly after Hoover was found dead in bed three weeks ago, and went into seclusion.

The Post said that aside from a few minor bequests to namesakes and employees, Hoover left to Tolson personal property including oil, gas and mineral leases; cash; stocks and bonds; insurance, unpaid salary and annual leave, and household effects.

The story said he left nothing to four nieces and two nephews, the children of his deceased brother and sister.

The Post said Hoover's will was probated Wednesday in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

Hilliard to face tax issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Black Panther party leader David Hilliard, in prison for assaulting a police officer and facing a trial on perjury charges, is also in trouble with the federal tax men.

The Internal Revenue Service informed Hilliard that a check of his 1966 through 1970 income tax returns disclosed "violations of law" and that its investigators have recommended criminal prosecution.

The tax case was revealed Monday by Hilliard's attorney, Charles Garry, who charged it was "part and parcel of the Nixon administration's attempt to destroy and commit genocide on the Black Panther party."

S.C. Senator opposes amnesty

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said Monday he was opposed to amnesty for military deserters and draft resisters.

"I oppose amnesty for those who dodged the draft or deserted from the service," Thurmond told Utah State University students. "I think they should be prosecuted under the law for violation of the law."

Demos set 3rd debate

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Sens. Hubert Humphrey and George S. McGovern have accepted an offer from NBC for a third debate, the two Democratic presidential contenders announced Monday.

The one-hour debate, to be on a special program of "Meet the Press," will begin at 9:30 p.m. May 30.

Announcement of two other debates, on May 28 and June 4, was made earlier by CBS and ABC.

Haiphong mining stops delivery

ABOARD THE OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, which is enforcing the blockade of North Vietnam, said today the mining of Haiphong and other harbors has stopped delivery of all war material to the Communist nation.

Vice Adm. William P. Mack said that so far the U.S. flotilla off North Vietnam has "warned one to five merchant ships of the mines protecting Haiphong harbor. Some turned back, some turned away."

Talking to newsmen aboard his flagship, Mack described the blockade as "very effective."

"No ships are going in or out to our knowledge, and certainly the one claimed by the North Vietnamese to have gone in or out has not."

He referred to a claim by North Vietnamese officials that the East German freighter Frieden sailed through the minefield into Haiphong last week.

American ships are using flag signals, flashing lights, loudspeakers and even foreign language tapes to warn the foreign ships of the minefields.

He said U.S. ships had no orders to stop ships or seize them. "We haven't done any of that and we don't intend to," he said.

A "sizable" force of Russian warships was in the South China Sea halfway between the Philippines and China's Hainan island, Mack said, but remained "several hundred miles away" from the North Vietnamese coast.

"It's the type of concentration (of ships) we would expect them to make," Mack said. "They haven't tried to embarrass us in any way. They are not confronting us, we are not confronting them."

Mack, 56, denied North Vietnamese claims that U.S. mines were being swept out of the harbors, but said that the seeding of the explosives still was going on.

Sweeping the mines, he said, "would be very difficult. It would take great skill and expertise and proper equipment and I don't think they (North Vietnam) have it," although he added the Soviet navy does.

The admiral refuted suggestions the mines could or would be disarmed during President Nixon's visit to Moscow. "No," he said, "they can't be turned off and on. I don't know where that story came from."

He said the mines could be "sterilized" one time, but would not discuss the method.

"We could do it," Mack said. "I don't think they could. Obviously we know things about these mines they don't."

His general operations orders had not been changed for the Nixon visit to Moscow, he said. "Obviously, everyone has been told not to do anything stupid."

Shortly after Mack talked to newsmen the Oklahoma City sailed up to the Vietnam coast and began lobbing five and six-inch shells on suspected positions of a North Vietnamese battalion near the Cua Viet river in uppermost South Vietnam.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) Profit taking helped turn prices lower in moderate trading Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.61 at 961.70 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was down 0.13 at 109.56.

Declines led advances, 781 to 555, among the 1,694 issues traded. Three-hour turnover amounted to 10,430,000 shares, compared with 9,500,000 traded during the corresponding period Monday.

Analysts noted the market has moved sharply higher in the past three sessions and was due for a consolidation. Investors moved to the sidelines awaiting developments from President Nixon's talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

Motors were lower. Steels, chemicals and oils were mixed. Rails were fractionally higher. Airlines and aircrafts moved irregularly.

Valley Weather Report

Farm data sought in Gem State

BOISE — The most extensive agricultural survey of the year starts swinging through the nation's farm gates Wednesday. Nearly 70,000 farmers coast-to-coast will be interviewed in the annual June Acreage, Livestock and Labor Enumerative Survey.

Conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Statistical Reporting Service, this survey is the springboard for many 1972 crop and livestock production estimates and other farming forecasts.

By June 6, the survey will enumerate all agricultural activity within 16,500 scientifically selected land segments representing all U. S. farmland. The number of segments in a State ranges from 250 to 1,000; only Alaska and Hawaii are not in the program.

"Idaho has 398 segments of enumeration which will mean personal interviews with about 1,600 farmers," according to Richard C. Max, Statistician in Charge of USDA's Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Fieldworkers, or enumerators, hired by the Statistical Reporting Service will ask farmers about planted acreages, numbers of chickens, hogs, cattle and calves, and farm labor.

The main aim of the undertaking, however, is to identify acreages planted to major crops. This information will serve as a base for crop production estimates from July through harvest. Other near future releases stemming from the survey will be the June estimate of hogs and pigs, July cow-calf inventory, and July farm labor tally.

Max said the survey will also provide a sample of corn, cotton, wheat, and soybean

4 valley men get spud board posts

TWIN FALLS — Four Magic Valley men have been appointed to serve on the National Potato Promotion Board according to Rep. Orval Hansen.

Hansen said the board will administer the recently approved Potato Research and Promotion plan. Appointees include Jack Allred, Murtaugh; Clarence A. Parr, Burley; Thomas C. McClain, Buhl, and Winslow B. Whiteley, Oakley.

The program is designed to expand and improve markets for potatoes. It will be financed by an assessment of up to one cent for each hundredweight of potatoes handled.

Historical society takes first tour

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Historical Society members took their first field trip Sunday.

The group went to Three Island Crossing and the Sand Dunes in the morning. Afternoon sights included the view from the Bruneau Canyon rim, Indian bath tub, a four-room pioneer cave used during the Bannock Indian uprising, and a waterfall at Malad River.

A bus tour is planned for June 18 at which time the group will see Indian petroglyphs, Fairfield, Soldier, and Camas Prairie.

Russian splendor greets visitors

MOSCOW (UPI) — President and Mrs. Nixon are living in Soviet-era splendor within a guest palace built in 1682.

The residence, wing of the Kremlin palace is the ultimate honor in lodging for a visiting head of state. Charles de Gaulle, Georges Pompidou, Fidel Castro and Anwar Sadat slept there.

The four-story buildings history dates to 1508 when an Italian architect built the ground floor and first floor in wood. In 1635 it was redone in stone and the other floors were added. Fire necessitated a complete restoration in 1682.

Although the top floor has chambers used by Tsar Alexei Mikhailovich in the 17th century, the Nixons are assigned Soviet-period rooms.

Their suite includes a sitting room, dining room, study, bedroom, antechamber and long connecting corridor.

The sitting room has period furniture and, like the study, half-paneled walls. Furnishings in the dining room, antechamber and corridor include oriental rugs, white marble tables, tapestried chairs and life-size neoclassic nude statues in marble.

The study has a plain couch, three armchairs, two small tables and a bookcase, all in Soviet modern.

The suite has crystal chandeliers, 8th century landscape paintings and frescoed ceilings.

EVEN UTILITY lines can be beautiful as shown in the photograph taken in Texas' "Big Thicket" country near Saratoga, Tex. The sun set them aglow like the web of a giant spider. (UPI)

Farming no dream, bureau aide says

RUPERT — Becoming farmers may be the day-dreams of many people at some time or other but it involves a lot of hard work and planning.

Open fields away from traffic, farm animals, fishing in a nearby pond and no tall buildings may sound ideal, according to W. F. (Bill) Whitton of the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation, who points out that today's farm requires a great deal of capital just to get started, plus a lot of hard work to keep going.

Most of the farm work is done by the farmer himself with the help of his family. Most farmers, Whitton said, rise at dawn to get in an average of 59 hours of work a week.

Farm animals must be fed and cared for, fields planted and harvested, and in addition, a farmer must be a bookkeeper, mechanic and financier just to stay in business, he said.

Born loser

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A visiting postmaster from Parke, Idaho, wishes he'd never stopped to rest in Golden Gate Park. Lynden W. Grapo, 39, became lost while driving with his wife and five children through San Francisco to Los Angeles and decided to stop at the park near a Eucalyptus tree.

The postmaster, however, was struck on the head by a falling limb of the tree and had to have an eight-inch scalp wound treated at the University of California Medical Center before resuming his trip.

Murtaugh Lake closed for work

MURTAUGH — Murtaugh Lake will be closed several days in June for road work to be completed.

Signs will be placed at the area June 10 stating the area will be closed to the public June 10-11 while members of the United States Reserves complete road grading, leveling and graveling.

World's largest radio telescope is located at the Arecibo Observatory in Puerto Rico.

Shoshone FFA picks officers

SHOSHONE — New officers have been named for the Future Farmers of America, Shoshone High School chapter, it is announced today.

They include Randy Bryant, president; Dale Kerner, vice president; Darrell Green, secretary-treasurer; Norman Huyser news reporter, and David Heath, sentinel.

Foundation awards were awarded Darrell Green, beef products; Randy Bryant, dairy and meats; Allen Stowell, farm shop; Larry Webb, home improvement; Stowell, livestock and David Heath, swine.

Letter awards were presented

Norman Huyser, Larry Webb, Allen Stowell, Randy Bryant and Dale Kerner. Randy Bryant received the Star Chapter Farmer award and Norman Huyser was given the Star Green Hand award.

Ray Walker, publisher of the Lincoln County Journal, received an honorary membership for outstanding service to the club; and Principal Carl Kinney received a certificate of appreciation for his help to the chapter in the years he has been instructor and principal at the school. Kinney is leaving this year to teach in a college in Washington state.

Hereford field day set at Boise

BOISE — The annual Junior Hereford Field Day and a tour of Hereford ranches will be held June 8-9 in the Boise area.

Sponsored by the Junior Hereford Breeders Association for juniors and adults, the show is expected to attract visitors from the state as well as prominent national figures in the Hereford industry.

The Junior Hereford Field Day will be held June 8 at the Naugle River Ranch, 20 miles west of Boise on Highway 20 and one and one-fourth miles north on the Middleton road.

The tour will begin at 9 a.m. June 9 at the Naugle Home Ranch. The group will proceed to the Wolfkiel Hereford Ranch, and then to the Shaw Hereford Ranch for lunch and a program. Final stops of the tour will be the Foster Brothers Ranch and the Rose Hereford Ranch.

These breeders have sold some of the high selling bulls and females at the various bull and Hereford sales in Idaho.

Idaho Hereford breeders will be interested in the program for the Register of Merit Show to be held Sept. 8 in Filer in conjunction with the Twin Falls County Fair.

Trophies will be given at the Register of Merit Show for best Idaho Bull, best Idaho female and best six head. Cattle must all be bred and raised in Idaho and owned by Idaho breeders.

MARK E. McNEE
... top scholar

McNee youth cited

TWIN FALLS — Mark E. McNee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McNee, Twin Falls, has been named a Presidential Scholar.

McNee is valedictorian of the Borah High School, Boise, class of 1972 with a straight A grade average. He remained in Boise when his parents moved to Twin Falls earlier this year, in order to complete his senior year at Borah.

He was a Boys' State delegate, serving as house minority leader, participated in YMCA Youth Legislature, is a member of the National Honor Society and has served as student representative to the adult chapter from American Field Service.

He has served as president of the Borah Key Club and as secretary of the Utah-Idaho District, as a member of the President's Advisory Committee to the Selective Service, on the pupil personnel committee in planning for the new high school, and on the Red Cross student planning committee for secondary schools.

He is a two-year member of student council, a member of Political Science Club, International Club and Math Club. He is a National Merit Finalist receiving a National Merit Scholarship of $1,000.

McNee has been invited to participate in the American Academy of Achievement Salute to Excellence Weekend.

He has been awarded a four-year fully paid Army ROTC scholarship and has been accepted in a special medical program to earn an MD degree in six years. He will attend Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., and Albany Medical School, Albany, N. Y.

As a Presidential Scholar, McNee will receive a three-day trip June 11-13 to Washington, D. C., where he will visit with members of Congress, cabinet officers and other government officials. The visit will be climaxed by a White House ceremony, June 13. Selection was made on the basis of outstanding academic achievement and leadership potential.

Kidwell, a Boise Republican, said Sunday the survey was taken last month and "covers all population areas." He said 41.1 per cent of those responding listed the Vietnam conflict as the greatest problem facing the nation. The state of the economy and taxes were second with 22 per cent.

Asked what is the greatest problem facing Idaho 15.2 per cent said taxes, 8.9 per cent said education costs, 8.1 per cent cited employment.

In Payette Saturday, Kidwell said more than 49 per cent of the residents of Idaho claim they are independents within the political structure.

Kidwell told the Payette County Young Republicans that 49.5 per cent of first district voters declared themselves as independents.

He said, "The Republican party can become the party of the people, if it will address itself to problems and eliminate rhetoric."

Hagerman High School graduates 28 at 1972 exercises

HAGERMAN — Thirty-one Hagerman High School students were graduated at commencement services Sunday at the Prince Memorial Gymnasium.

In the commencement address given by Albert Carlson, president of Idaho Power Co., Carlsensaid "In our effort to give you what we, your parents and grandparents generation, didn't have, perhaps we neglected to give you what we did have."

He told them that they had an exciting future ahead of them. "You have more energy, resources and tools to use than any generation before you."

In terms of education, Marla Waite, salutatorian, admonished the graduating class and those future graduating classes, "to take what you can when you have the chance."

Shari Koopman, valedictorian, summed up her address with three words of advice, "live, love and laughter." "Have a purpose purpose in life and try to fulfill it; Accept others for what they are and not what they can do for you; and learn to laugh at yourself when it is necessary."

The invocation was offered by Roberta Dalton of the graduating class. The senior girls' choir sang, accompanied by Mrs. Joyce Snapp at the piano, Tenley Holway, guitar, and Ange Robinson on the drums.

Father supports gun ban

DETROIT (UPI)—The father of the man accused of trying to assassinate Gov. George Wallace says he wants to go to Washington to testify in favor of federal legislation that would ban the sale of handguns for personal use.

"I don't know what I have to do to get people to sit up and listen," William Bremer told Detroit Free Press Reporter William Schmidt in a weekend telephone conversation. "But if I can save one other boy from doing what my son Artie did, I'd have completed my mission."

Bremer's son Arthur, 21, is being held in a maximum security cell in Towson, Md., after allegedly shooting Wallace May 15 in a shopping center parking lot.

According to police, Bremer fired five shots at Wallace from an unregistered .38 caliber pistol he had purchased Jan. 13, in a Milwaukee gun shop.

"The guy who sold Art that gun said he was just doing his business," said Bremer. "That's a helluva way to make a living—selling guns to kids so they can go out and commit crimes."

"They ought to know that if somebody buys a handgun, or keeps one in his home, they're either looking for trouble, or trouble is going to find them."

Bremer, 58, a truck driver from Milwaukee, Wis., said he personally would like to see some law that would ban the sale or possession of handguns to anybody except law enforcement agencies.

A representative for Sen. Phillip Hart, an outspoken foe of handgun sales, said the Michigan Democrat will contact Bremer today about coming to the Capitol to testify.

Russ ship slips by U.S. mines

SINGAPORE (UPI)—A Soviet cargo ship left Haiphong harbor and sailed unopposed through the U.S. naval blockade of the North Vietnamese port, according to the skipper and local shipping agents.

Capt. V. Belov told local newsmen in Singapore Saturday that he sailed the 1,200-ton freighter Zeya out of Haiphong harbor May 13 "without trouble." Mines were activated commencing the blockade on May 11, halting all ship movement in and out of the main North Vietnamese port.

The Zeya sailed from Singapore Saturday night before the reports of local newsmen could be checked.

The band and mixed choir Black, superintendent, and sang and the high school band played. The band played the prelude, processional and diplomas.

Members of the graduating class were Lois Adams, Neda Behrens, Douglas Butler, Lorna Butters, Juana Campa, Lupe Campa, Gloria Campos, Brenda Clark, Roberta Dalton, Vernon Gilmore, Douglas Glauner, Evan Gridley, Peggy Hackney, Laurie Hafen, Tony Hendrickson, Susan Henson, Randy Hill, Karen Holway, Jolinda Jensen, Shari Koopman, Craig Laughlin, Karen Cary Lehr, Michael Owsley, Penny Peck, Kim Reed, Mike Sellers, Jeffrey Smith, Roger Stedman, Gene Taylor, Marla Waite, and Jeffery Wilson.

Class officers were Craig Laughlin, president; Evan Gridley, vice president; Shari Koopman, Secretary-treasurer, and Vernon Gilmore, representative.

Jerome's new plant uncertain

JEROME—Apparently, Jerome doesn't have the proposed Moore Business Forms, Inc., plant sewed up.

The Times-News learned today that Moore Business Forms, Inc., holds options on land in two locations besides Jerome.

The other sites being considered are located in the Burley area and on the south side of the river.

Mike Sullivan, manager of the Bank of Idaho and spokesman for Moore Business Forms, Inc., recently told the Jerome City Council the company would locate in the Jerome area if the city would consider annexing its plant location and permit hookup to the city's water and sewer services.

It was noted the plant will require about 30,000 gallons of water daily.

Jerome City Councilmen will meet with a representative of the Economic Development Association on obtaining a federal grant to survey city water and sewer systems.

Mayor J. A. (Jack) Russell said the meeting will begin at 8 p.m. tonight in the city hall. The EDA representative is from Boise.

Mayor Russell said the survey, which is expected to cost $3,000 and take three to four months to complete, is not being undertaken because of the possibility of Moore Business

Forms, Inc., locating in Jerome.

Russell said the city has been planning to conduct the survey for some time because the town continues to grow. It was noted at a recent council meeting that over 48 new sewer hookups have been added since the first of the year.

It has been learned by the Times-News that George Rowlands, an official with Moore Business Forms met with the city council in a closed session last week. Mayor Russell said that no decisions have been made by the council on requests of the firm. He also said that Rowlands' purpose in meeting with the council was to obtain information on the city's tax structure and water and sewer facilities.

Judge Bellwood speaks to Burley chamber meet

By GEORGIA LAYTON

Times-News writer

BURLEY — Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood was the guest speaker during the noon luncheon Monday of the Burley Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Bellwood gave out information slips with multiple choice answers for the chamber members to act as judge.

Bellwood then presented a newspaper story (fictional) relating a traffic accident where several persons lost their lives. After hearing just that information Bellwood asked the chamber members to mark the sentence to be issued to the person causing the accident.

Next, Bellwood relayed information of the person similar to what he receives in a presentence investigation report. This report, again made up, revealed a very good citizen of the community. Again the chamber members were asked to sentence the person after hearing the additional information.

Finally Bellwood gave additional information on the person accused and other information regarding the situation and then asked the chamber to mark the final column as to the sentence.

Bellwood pointed out that the public many times reads of an accident or incident in the newspaper and forms an opinion as to the sentence that should be given by a judge. Then when the sentence is handed down the public many times remark, "the sentence was too severe."

"I hope by acting as judge today in this made up case, you as chamber members can see better why some sentences are handed down by a judge," Bellwood stated.

A question and answer period was held following Bellwood's presentation. The program was arranged by William Parsons, local attorney.

Ray Schofield, chamber president, announced there will be no chamber meeting next week because of Memorial Day.

Students speak at Minico rites

RUPERT — The Minico High School class of 1972 was graduated amid the traditional barrage of flash bulbs wielded by fond friends and parents Monday night.

Many camera fans ignored a request from Minico Principal Glen Maughan to wait until after the ceremonies in the Minico High School gymnasium to take their pictures. Maughan said school officials would be available to pose with seniors after the ceremonies, but few took advantage of the offer, preferring to picture their youngsters during the event.

Valedictorian Cindy Harris told her fellow graduates in the valedictory address to "be honest with yourselves and live up to the best standards possible."

She cited the life of aviator Charles Lindbergh, who was first acclaimed a hero when he flew the Atlantic, then condemned as a traitor when he seemingly took up the Nazi doctrine during World War II. Later, Miss Harris said, Lindbergh was revealed as a true patriot who was working secretly for the U. S. government, probing the enemy's strategy during the war.

Salutatorians Marcella Bossert and Sherrie Shighihara also spoke briefly. Musical entertainment was provided by graduating senior Shannan Stephenson, who presented a Chopin nocturne on the piano, and the Dorian Choir singing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Cassia teachers await new aides

By LEE TREMAINE

Times-News writer

BURLEY — Cassia County teachers, defeated in their battle with the school administration, have pulled in their horns for the present.

Mrs. Jean Snow, president of the Cassia County Education Association, said today that the teachers will "wait until the new school board takes over in June," before renewing their efforts to negotiate a number of controversial issues.

The Cassia County school board will seat three new members at the June meeting, as a result of the recent trustee election.

The teachers lost ground in their controversy with the school administration over contracts when Fifth District

Judge Charles Scoggin ruled last week that school officials were not required to release contracts to teachers for signing. The judge said the administration was justified in its request that the teachers must sign their 1972-73 contracts in principals' offices.

Negotiations between the association and the administration have deadlocked over a number of points on which the negotiators differ, including textbook selection, curriculum development and personnel matters.

School district Supt. Harold Blayer said that while he prefers not to discuss these matters at the negotiations table, he will consider them on a committee basis.

Petitions circulated at Jerome

JEROME — Petitions are being circulated in Jerome in an effort to rezone Jerome School District 231.

Allen Jeffries, Boise, Idaho Department of Education, confirmed Monday the petitions are being circulated in Jerome by several citizens.

Jeffries said the petitions are expected to be presented to the Jerome school trustees at their next regular meeting June 12.

Jeffries said a total of 50 signatures are needed by qualified school patrons on the petitions which ask the district be rezoned from its present five sections to better balance the zones according to population. He said after the petitions are presented to the trustees, they have 60 days in which to prepare a program on rezoning and submit the plan to the state board of education for approval.

The state board then has 60 days in which to review the plan for adoption or make recommendations or changes. If no changes are needed, the proposal is then presented to the voters of the school district, Jeffries said.

a three-year term. Two candidates are vying for the seat. Voters will also decide on a proposed 10-year five-mill plant facilities levy.

Minidoka vote

RUPERT — Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. today in the Minidoka School District trustee and plant facilities election.

One trustee will be elected to

Jerome pops concert held

JEROME — The Jerome High School and Junior High bands presented its final pops concert Monday in the junior high auditorium.

Larry Standley, director, presented band awards during the program.

The most deserving junior band student award went to Virginia Garner. Standley also presented a trophy to the entire junior high band for achieving a superior rating at the Music Festival two weeks ago in Burley.

Accepting the trophy for the junior high bandmen was Kenny Robinson.

The most deserving bandman student awards for the high school went to Linda Ellis and Brian Daw and the outstanding service and dedication awards went to Marilyn Waite and Dan Young.

Hopeful speaks at Jerome fete

JEROME — Glen Wegener, Republican candidate for U.S. Senator, spoke at a confirmation-graduation dinner at the Lutheran Church in Jerome on Monday night.

Wegener emphasized the importance of keeping the church in the seniors' daily life and of living up to the standards they have learned from church and parents.

Special entertainment was provided at the dinner by Kelly Hall, Debbie Malone and Leann Alstin.

Following the senior banquet, Wegener met with a group of Jerome residents at the home of Bill McCoy, treasurer of the Republican Central Committee.

Wegener told the group that he feels his main qualifications for Senator are that he is a fourth generation Idahoan and farmer and is well aware of the problems of the Idaho agriculturist.

"Idaho needs a Senator who will not disappear after election day," Wegener said. He told the group he felt it was about time something was done to change the loophole in the law permitting a legislator to be gone on official business, "which most of them requested themselves," when important legislation comes to the floor for a vote.

"We need a man who will continue to pay attention to the people. We can't afford to elect anyone who will go to Washington the day after the election and not show up around here again until he has to run for re-election," Wegener said.

"When asked why he picked this time to run, he said that because there would be no incumbent the people of Idaho could choose the one they felt could best serve them. "I feel I can bring a new approach to the senate and enter the job without the political scars that most politicians have by going through the political ranks," Wegener said.

He said he will not run a negative campaign, but ask the voters to check the records of the other candidates.

TF CAA director resigns position

TWIN FALLS — The South Central Community Action Agency (SCCAA) will continue accepting applications for a new director until June 12.

Dennis Pratt, who has been director for about a year and a half, has resigned to accept a human resource job in Boise. He and his family will be moving about mid-June.

Pratt's resignation is effective May 31, he said, and the SCCAA board hopes to have a replacement picked about June 20.

Prior to being appointed as director, Pratt served as senior citizen director, special project director and acting director.

Pratt said he feels the SCCAA is probably the strongest CAA in the state and possibly is one of the top in the northwestern region.

CAA is only five years old in Magic Valley and Pratt feels it has come a long way, particularly in the past year and a half.

Pratt said he did not believe all the people who need to be served by the agency are being served, "but you can only reach so many."

"Many people who criticize us don't really realize the problems we have. It takes so much time," he said.

Pratt feels the SCCAA will continue to make strides and is showing marked increase in services offered to senior citizens and has hopes of getting a small grant for family planning.

Hearing tonight on Blaine plan

HALLEY — A public hearing on a proposed 1972-73 Blaine County School District Budget has been scheduled tonight.

The $991,426 money plan constitutes an eight per cent increase in budgeted spending over last year.

Major boosts were made in the instructional budget from the present figure of about $660,000 to a proposed level of $736,041.

Plant maintenance showed the greatest decrease, a cut of about one-half, from about $23,000 last year to $11,750 this year.

Wendell death case opens

AMERICAN FALLS (UPI) — Jury selection was scheduled to begin today in the trial of Lester Eugene Waters, charged with first degree murder connection with the 1971 shooting death of Lloyd A. Casper, Wendell.

The incident occurred Dec. 28 in the garage area of an American Falls hotel. Preliminary trial transcripts indicated the victim was backing his car out of the garage when the shooting took place.

Waters is an electrician with the Union Pacific Railroad.

Jerome concert

JUNIOR HIGH BAND awards were given at Monday night concert in Jerome, typical of end of the year school concerts in most Magic Valley schools. Kenneth Robinson, left, holds trophy for the superior festival rating the band received. Virginia Garner was named most deserving band student, and Larry Standley, director, is at right.

SV meet to air drug control

SUN VALLEY — "Controlling Drug Abuse" is the theme of the Idaho Health Association annual meeting Wednesday through Friday at Sun Valley.

Education, treatment and law enforcement authorities will speak to the members, according to Dr. Darrell Brock, program committee chairman.

Wednesday's speakers will include Idaho Atty. Gen. W. Anthony Park, who will discuss drug abuse control in Idaho. The role of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs will be presented by Otto C. Heinecke, Seattle, regional director of the BNDD.

Gerald H. Starkey, MD, medical coordinator for the Denver Department of Public Safety, will speak on the medical aspects of drug abuse.

Starkey serves as consultant both to local law enforcement agencies and the BNDD.

The role of the Idaho Bureau of Drug Control will be discussed by J. D. Williams, Idaho assistant attorney general and chief of the Idaho bureau. Law enforcement policies will be presented by Robert C. Arneson, director of the State Law Enforcement Planning Commission, and George Lenz, chief of police, Coeur d'Alene, member of the commission.

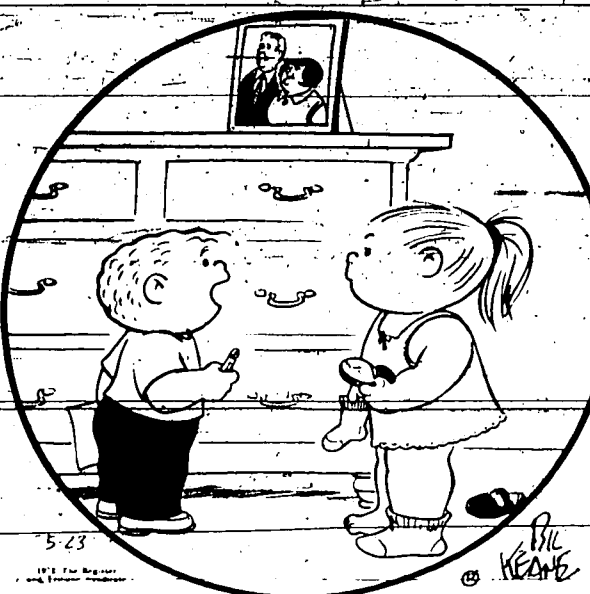

Other speakers Wednesday will be Robert Lawson, supervisory drug analyst with the Idaho Department of Health, and Robert Sagar, chief chemist, BNDD lab, San Francisco, explaining the drug identification laboratory. Clifford Barnett, director, Idaho State Board of Pharmacy, will speak on the role of the pharmacist and the state pharmacy board.

Also speaking during the annual meeting will be Lynn Hansen, Boise, who is in charge of the Charnel House, a rehabilitation home in Boise. Hansen will discuss rehabilitation of persons with drug problems.

Educational and counseling aspects of drug abuse will be presented by Stan Olson of the Idaho Department of Education and Larry Burman of the Department of Health.

The effectiveness of methadone treatment programs will be the topic of Dr. LaMarr Heyren, Boise psychiatrist, and Duane Jenkins, pharmacist.

Election of association officers will take place Thursday afternoon. Dr. Michael T. Phillips, Twin Falls, has been submitted as president-elect by the nominating committee. He is a graduate of Washington Medical School.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange and startling day. In the light as well as the dark hours, you would be wise to be prepared for almost anything that might occur. This could range from hectic and unusual activity to a silence that is hard to break. Get involved in some activities that have to do with art, music, color, or culture, and back up partners.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) All act in a rather strange manner today, but you are not quite on the beam yourself. So be patient and keep cool. This is no day to break promises you have made to others. Show you are conscientious.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try not to argue with others, especially underlings now, and if you are in the mood for change, fix your furniture at home better. Take the health treatments you need to feel much stronger. Show you are sure of yourself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have an opportunity for recreation, but don't be a party-pooper and get others annoyed with your unwillingness to enter into the spirit of the occasion. Do things that are mentally stimulating. Make this a happy day for yourself.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You want to improve appearance of your home, but take care you do not fall for something extravagant, or way out that you would regret later on. Stop being so smart-alecky with kin. Try to please them instead.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make sure that there is some good purpose behind that desire to take a trip in the near future, otherwise forget it. Get the work done that is ahead of you in a most conscientious manner. Avoid trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't jump into that investment without first studying it well and considering the possible results. An adviser in business is not thinking very straight, so use your own good judgment. Show you are practical.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Plan some time for exercise or whatever will make you feel stronger and then you can accomplish all those duties that have been difficult before. Social activities are fine in p.m., but not with superficial individuals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you try to get out of any promises made or if you fail to do the work expected of you, you can easily get in Dutch. Make a game of that dull work and then you can accomplish it easily. Grow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You meet some rather strange people today, but take care they do not rub off any of their idiosyncrasies on you. Forget those peculiar desires you have. Show you are sure of yourself and have your feet on the ground.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stay conservative and don't fly off on some unusual tangent today or tonight, or you get into trouble. Do not jeopardize the reputation you have been so carefully building up for so long. Think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Those ideas you have now could seem very unusual, but they can be of great help to you where they might not to any others. Collect the facts you need and then use your excellent judgment. Much happiness can be yours tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Go through with responsibilities you have assumed and get them behind you quickly and satisfactorily. Forget those tangents that seem so appealing. Showing much affection to mate brings fine results now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those very talented young people in fields that are unusual, who can put ideas across because of the fine smile and charm and will be most successful. Teach while young to stick to facts and thereby gain the support of others easily, otherwise people could get tired with your child. Religious training is wise early in life. The right sports are good, too.

If a Horse Went Lame

His full name is now unknown. But he walked with a limp. And worked at the racetrack. And his compatriots knew him only as Charley. If a horse went lame, they would not say so outloud. That might upset the odds. Superstitious bunch, the track boys. Rather, they referred to said horse in their own code, calling him a "Charley." This was how, say the word scholars, a muscle strain first came to be identified as a charley horse.

THAT land animal known to be the best swimmer of all is the elephant.

ONLY states without termites, it's said, are Maine, North Dakota and Alaska.

WHY did the Scots outlaw golf for more than 100 years? They did that.

AS TO THE name of that horse ordained a priest, is was Incitatus. Roman Emperor Caligula was the old boy who saw fit to elevate the animal in such a manner. About A.D. 10, Incitatus slept in an ivory manger and drank wine from a gold bucket. Some horse.

IN LOS ANGELES, I'm told, a few experienced women now advertise their oldest profession by direct mail in which they refer to themselves as "functional therapists."

THERE are those experts, you know, you still insist for flavor's sake beer should always be drunk directly from the container, never poured into a glass.

IT HAS been just 297 years what's new Rodney? Since 30 young men were arrested in what became Connecticut for wearing their hair too long.

LOVER Wrote Miquel de Carvantes: "Required in every good lover the whole alphabet." Agree.

able, Bountiful, Constant, Dutiful, Easy, Faithful, Gallant, Honorable, Ingenious, Just, Kind, Loyal, Mild, Noble, Officious, Prudent, Quiet, Rich, Secret, True, Understanding, Valiant, Wise... Young and Zealous.

Q. "How much water can an elephant hold in its trunk?"

A. About a gallon and a half.

Q. "WHAT have been the most books been written about?"

A. Chess, no doubt of it.

Q. "WHAT does 'HJ' on a tombstone stand for?"

A. "His Jacket," meaning "Here Lies."

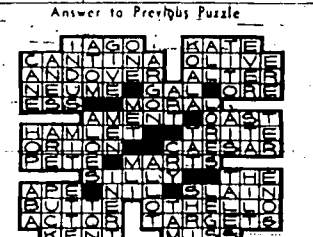

WHAT does the ideal man look like? Eight out of nine women who talk about this imaginary fellow describe the same hero. He's tall, fair-haired with a curl in his locks, and blue-eyed. But can you name the two other attributes this dream boy always possesses? Perfect teeth and lots of money. I do not know this character personally, and neither do the girls who concoct him, most probably. Suspect he gambles recklessly, drinks overmuch, and cheats like an elk.

MAJOR HOOPLE

Houston blanks San Diego 7-0

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Larry Dierker pitched his second straight shutout and third of the season Monday night and Bob Watson and Lee May each lashed three-run homers as the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 7-0.

Dierker, now 4-2, blanked the Padres on four hits and didn't allow a runner to get past second base. He struck out four and walked none.

The only hits off the righthander were Leron Lee's two-out single in the first inning, an infield dribbler which Enzo Hernandez beat out to open the sixth, and singles by Garry Jesteadt and Lee in the ninth.

The only other Padre base runner was Curt Blefary, an ex-Astro who reached first base to start the fifth on second baseman Bobby Fenwick's error.

The shutout was the 14th of Dierker's nine-year major league career and ran his career record against San Diego to 8-1.

Ed Acosta, making his first start of the year, took the loss to make his record 1-2.

Watson walloped his sixth homer of the season in the first inning after Roger Metzger singled and Jimmy Wynn walked. In the eighth, Metzger and Cesar Cedeno singled and May followed with a homer into the leftfield seats, his seventh of the year.

Dierker got the final Astros' run in the ninth when he singled home Fenwick, who doubled.

Boxer dies

HONOLULU (UPI) — Mexican featherweight boxer Profiro Cruz-Perez, 26, died Sunday, apparently from brain injuries. Authorities said Cruz-Perez complained of headaches Friday and was hospitalized at Queen's Medical Center where he died Sunday.

Cruz-Perez won an eight-round decision over Ely Axinto at Honolulu International Center on May 9. He complained of not feeling well in recent weeks and was receiving medical treatment, according to investigators.

belong to playing among themselves.

Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins, Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings, Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys and Jimmy Johnson of the San Francisco Forty Niners were honored by the writers for outstanding achievements during the 1971-72 season.

Griese was selected as the outstanding player in the American Football Conference and Page was chosen as the best player in the National Conference. Page, who did not attend the dinner due to a prior commitment with the National Football League in Paris, France, was the first defensive player ever to receive the award.

Lilly, a defensive tackle, received the "Superman Award" for his outstanding play in the Cowboys' Super Bowl victory over the Dolphins and Johnson received his award for the most courageous athlete of last season. Johnson, a cornerback, played the last six games of the 1971 season, including the playoffs, with a broken wrist.

Also honored was Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs, for long and meritorious service to professional football. Hunt was one of the original founders of the American Football League. George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears and a prior recipient of the award, made the presentation to Hunt.

In order to avoid Congress from taking over the administration of professional sports, Kemp said, it is up to the players and owners. "To solve the issues and problems that

"One thing that has to be done is to find a common ground between owners and players," Kemp said. "If problems are not solved within football, they will be attempted to be solved within Congress. There is a move in the House right now to take over pro sports... to take it out of the hands of the commissioners and place it in the hands of the government."

Kemp, the guest speaker at a dinner given by the New York chapter of the Pro Football Writers Association of America, said there are 8 to 10 pieces of legislation in Congress dealing with professional sports. Kemp called for a closer understanding between players and owners and added he hopes that any problems between players and owners could be worked out between the two and emphasized the importance of finding solutions.

Champion trains

Vic Kelly will play for USC

Victor Kelly, two-year starter for College of Southern Idaho, has signed a national letter of intent with University of Southern California.

Jim Heffner, assistant at USC, said the school had received Kelly's signed letter Monday morning, making the only surprising thing that the 5-6 New York signed earlier than anticipated.

"We think Kelly was the top guard prospect the nation last year among junior colleges," Heffner said. "We think he will be ideal for us. We will have a very tall team but in the last couple of years we've had a little problem getting some leadership out front and getting the ball downcourt. We know Kelly will solve those problems in addition to giving us some good front line defense."

"With our size (6-11, 6-10, 6-10) and now our guard line in good shape, we feel we can give our cross-town rivals a little trouble," Heffner added with a nod to UCLA's long Pac-8 and national basketball dominance. Kelly originally said he didn't plan on signing until after helping Coach Jerry Hale with his basketball clinic early next month.

Willie Horton is placed on disabled list

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit Tiger outfielder Willie Horton was placed on the 15-day disabled list Monday because of a muscle injury in his left leg suffered Sunday.

In the only other event decided Monday, Sammy Walker of Southern Methodist won his third SWC shot put championship with a throw of 65-6, his best ever outdoors and the first speedster to capture racing's richest event three years in a row.

But Unser indicated it will be a highly competitive race, with older brother Bobby leading from the pole in his Dan Gurney Eagle.

"There are always certain guys you'll have to watch," he said, but declined to name them for fear he would slight somebody. He and Jones agreed they planned no real strategy except to race as hard as they could and still be comfortable.

"Saturday will take care of itself if the cars are working," Jones said.

Although his three drivers are teammates, on the race track it'll be every man for himself.

"George Bignotti is our chief mechanic, but each car has its own crew," said Jones. "These guys run as individuals — they all want to win."

Bignotti, in racing 25 years, has groomed five "500" winners here, including the last two.

Heavyweight champ Frazier relaxes training for fight

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, tapering off his grueling training routine, scheduled several hours of relaxation Monday night listening to his own musical combo, the Knockouts.

Frazier, who held out the possibility that he might even sing a little, was nonchalant as his Thursday night title fight with Ron Stander of Council Bluffs, Iowa, neared.

On a shopping spree at a downtown men's clothing store Monday he told a UPI reporter, "I'm in great shape... I'm not worried about the outcome."

The musical group opened an engagement at a West Omaha club Monday night.

Stander, the slimmed down "Bluffs Butcher," waited impatiently for the bout at an Omaha motor hotel in the company of his manager, Dick Noland, and trainer, John Dunne.

Stander, calming the best condition of his life, said his weight was down to 212, or two pounds under the weight Dunne hoped he would weigh in at before fight time. Stander weighed 240 pounds during his last bout.

Both fighters were easing up, and Frazier's manager, Yancey Dugham, said Frazier probably would not spar any more before the fight, the seventh defense of his title. The champion did road work and scheduled conditioning drills at Creighton University gymnasium.

Stander, remaining faithful to the tattered, poster-embellished gym underneath the Foxhole tavern, was following a similar routine. Dunne had expressed concern that Stander would reach his peak too early.

"Both men were holding their workouts during early morning and early-afternoon hours."

Frazier was inviting fans to join him on his two-mile run. On Sunday, 150 persons, each of them donating $1 to the Sickle Cell Anemia Fund, began the run through Carter Lake Park, but only 20 finished.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sacrifice flies by Paul Blair and Dave Johnson highlighted a three-run eighth inning as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, before 38,448 fans in the Children's Hospital benefit exhibition game Monday night.

Willie Stargell cracked a two-run homer in the first inning off Oriole starter Dave Leonard to give Pittsburgh the lead. Baltimore scored once in the first inning on a Merv Rettenmund double and a Boog Powell single off Pirate starter Nelson Briles.

The Orioles tied it in the third inning off Ramon Hernandez when Rettenmund was hit by a pitch, took second on a walk and scored on Blair's single.

Baltimore loaded the bases in the eighth with none out on consecutive walks to Rettenmund, Terry Crowley and winning relief pitcher Mickey Scott. Blair's sacrifice fly scored Rettenmund with what proved to be the winning run.

It was the first game in Washington in eight months since the Senators left for Texas. Approximately $50,000 was raised for the Children's Hospital.

Eighteen Longhorns will compete in final events Tuesday. Closest to Texas were Rice and A&M with 10 each making the finals.

Texas placed four entries each in the pole vault, the high hurdles, and 440-yard hurdles. Three more Longhorns will also be in the high jump and another three in the 440-yard dash.

No Longhorns placed in the sprints where Rice, SMU, TCU and A&M showed the most strength.

There were no conference records set as the runners seemed bothered by the 80 degree plus heat and a sometimes stiff breeze.

"The track is not holding too good," said Randy Lightfoot, one of the four Longhorns making the finals in the 440-yard hurdles. "It seems powdery and we're not able to get a good running grip."

Texas track coach Cleburne Price was pleased with the Longhorns' showing.

"We're getting a few more people in spots that I didn't expect," he said.

"I'll guarantee this fuel situation is going to be close," said Unser. "But everybody else is in the same boat."

company of his manager, Dick Noland, and trainer, John Dunne.

Stander, calming the best condition of his life, said his weight was down to 212, or two pounds under the weight Dunne hoped he would weigh in at before fight time. Stander weighed 240 pounds during his last bout.

Both fighters were easing up, and Frazier's manager, Yancey Dugham, said Frazier probably would not spar any more before the fight, the seventh defense of his title. The champion did road work and scheduled conditioning drills at Creighton University gymnasium.

Stander, remaining faithful to the tattered, poster-embellished gym underneath the Foxhole tavern, was following a similar routine. Dunne had expressed concern that Stander would reach his peak too early.

"Both men were holding their workouts during early morning and early-afternoon hours."

Frazier was inviting fans to join him on his two-mile run. On Sunday, 150 persons, each of them donating $1 to the Sickle Cell Anemia Fund, began the run through Carter Lake Park, but only 20 finished.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sacrifice flies by Paul Blair and Dave Johnson highlighted a three-run eighth inning as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, before 38,448 fans in the Children's Hospital benefit exhibition game Monday night.

Willie Stargell cracked a two-run homer in the first inning off Oriole starter Dave Leonard to give Pittsburgh the lead. Baltimore scored once in the first inning on a Merv Rettenmund double and a Boog Powell single off Pirate starter Nelson Briles.

The Orioles tied it in the third inning off Ramon Hernandez when Rettenmund was hit by a pitch, took second on a walk and scored on Blair's single.

Baltimore loaded the bases in the eighth with none out on consecutive walks to Rettenmund, Terry Crowley and winning relief pitcher Mickey Scott. Blair's sacrifice fly scored Rettenmund with what proved to be the winning run.

It was the first game in Washington in eight months since the Senators left for Texas. Approximately $50,000 was raised for the Children's Hospital.

Eighteen Longhorns will compete in final events Tuesday. Closest to Texas were Rice and A&M with 10 each making the finals.

Texas placed four entries each in the pole vault, the high hurdles, and 440-yard hurdles. Three more Longhorns will also be in the high jump and another three in the 440-yard dash.

No Longhorns placed in the sprints where Rice, SMU, TCU and A&M showed the most strength.

There were no conference records set as the runners seemed bothered by the 80 degree plus heat and a sometimes stiff breeze.

"The track is not holding too good," said Randy Lightfoot, one of the four Longhorns making the finals in the 440-yard hurdles. "It seems powdery and we're not able to get a good running grip."

Texas track coach Cleburne Price was pleased with the Longhorns' showing.

"We're getting a few more people in spots that I didn't expect," he said.

"I'll guarantee this fuel situation is going to be close," said Unser. "But everybody else is in the same boat."

All three cars were expected effort to assembly the auto in time for Wednesday's final tests.

Granatelli was informed Sunday the car not only must pass inspection Wednesday but must be test-driven by a "seasoned chauffeur" at the Speedway before it will be permitted to start. According to the rules, since another driver will be assigned to the car, it was moved back to the end of the lineup for the race — to 33rd spot.

Granatelli's choice as a driver remained unknown.

Many members of the racing fraternity took the day off and competed in the annual drivers' golf tourney as the temperature soared toward the 90-degree mark.

The open division was won by Bob Hoffmaster of Twin Falls, sailing a Catalina-22. Second place went to Mel Cope, Nampa, who finished in a Falcon. An Eastern Idaho sailor, Todd Owen, Idaho Falls, sailing a C-Lark finished third.

In the Coronado-15 division, first place went to Stratton Laggis of Sun Valley. Jim Donald of Boise finished second and Nampa boatman, John Clauser took third.

A good-sized crowd watched numerous capsize and near-misses as the races progressed.

The United States Coast Guard was on hand to fish out the unlucky sailors who couldn't manage the high winds. There were no injuries despite the rough going.

The next regatta for the Southern Idaho Sailing Association is scheduled for the weekend of June 3-4 with races commencing at noon on Lake Walcott Saturday.

Lake Walcott is located near Rupert, Idaho.

Quiet prevails at Indy track

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — For the first time since April 29, it was quiet Monday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Many of the 33 machines comprising the fastest lineup in history for Saturday's million-dollar 500-mile auto race were torn down in their garages.

Their crews, many of them in relaxed fashion and with the tensions of the time trials behind them, went over every piece of the equipment to make sure for the umpteenth time that it is in tip-top working order.

Most of the 33 cars were expected to take advantage of a final three-hour carburetion period Wednesday for dress rehearsal testing, including pit stops.

Then the famed 2-1-2-mile oval will be closed until the start of the race.

One major question remained: Who will drive the car qualified on the first day of the trials by veteran Art Pollard, Medford, Ore.?

Pollard suffered a broken leg two days after he qualified Andy Granatelli's machine and is out of the race. The car was badly damaged, but Granatelli had another body flown over from England and his crew worked around the clock in an

Liquori tabs Keino as winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Marty Liquori, who announced last week that he would miss this year's Olympics because of a foot injury, Monday tabbed Kenya's Kip Keino as his choice in the 1,500-meter run in the Munich games.

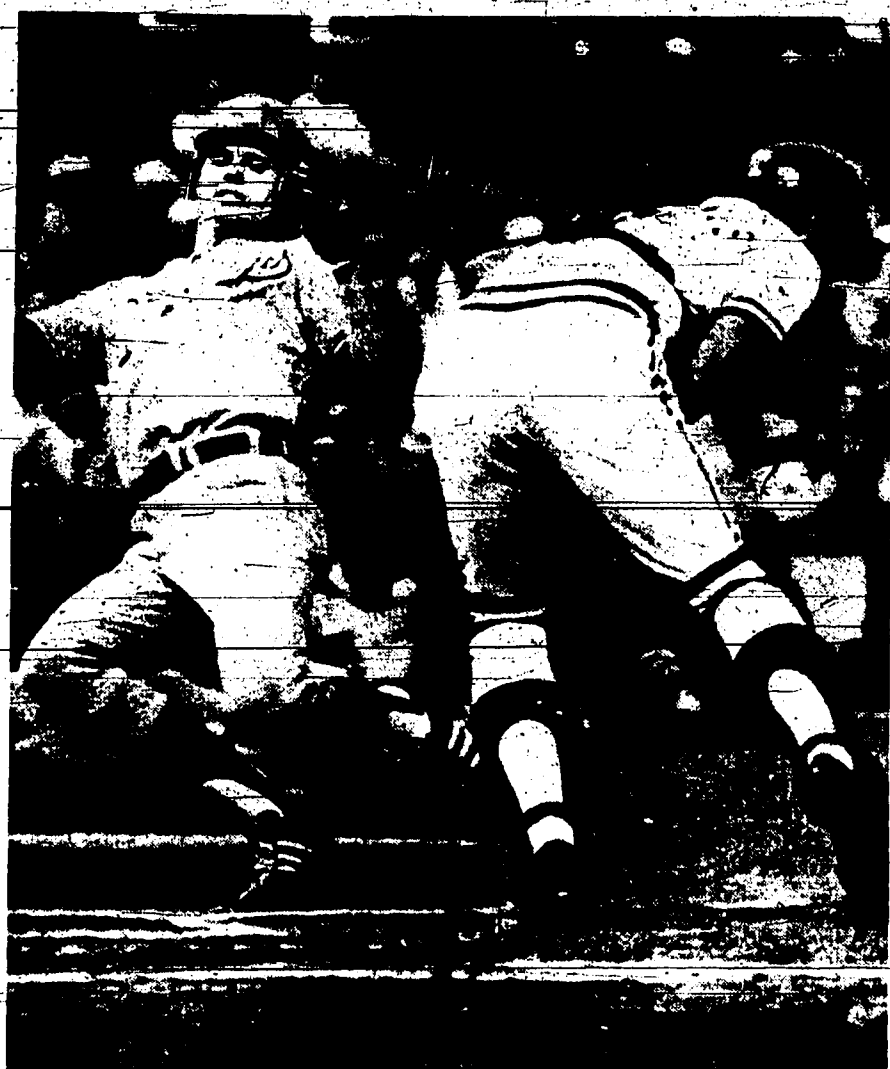

"Although he is older than when he won at Mexico City, I still think Keino is the man to be at Munich," Liquori told the weekly meeting of Southern California track writers.

"He (Keino) is just as strong as ever. He recently ran a 1:47 half mile, which proves he still has speed."

Liquori called Jim Ryun's comeback problems this year "psychological."

"Jim ran a good 5,000-meter race at Bakersfield last weekend," said the ex-Villanova mile star. "If he runs a few good races during the next month, he could be a factor at Munich."

Vern Wolfe, coach of the Pacific-8 champion University of Southern California, said sprinter Don Quarrie and high hurdler

Mike Andrews begins slide

White Sox nip Rangers 7-6 in extra inning

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Catcher Tom Egan, who had committed a two-run error in the eighth inning, doubled home the winning run in the top of the 10th Monday night to give the Chicago White Sox a wild 7-6 decision over Texas, ending the Rangers' longest winning streak of the season at five games.

The game had been forced into extra innings after both sides committed a total of five errors to allow seven unearned runs.

Bill Melton opened the 10th with a walk off loser Paul Lindblad and went to second on a sacrifice by Jay Johnstone. Egan then doubled to drive in Melton from second.

The Rangers then threatened to tie the game in the bottom of the 10th when pinchhitter Hal King and first baseman Don Mincher both singled with only one out. But it was ruled that Mincher, who came into the game in the eighth inning, had batted out of turn and he was ruled out.

The White Sox, after almost giving the game away in the bottom of the eighth, tied it in the ninth when Carlos May singled home Walt Williams from second with two out.

Texas had gone in front 7-6 in the eighth by scoring three runs without the benefit of a hit as Chicago committed three errors.

Joe Lovitto and Ted Kubiak walked to open the eighth for Texas and Toby Harrah loaded the bases by reaching on an error by Sox first baseman Dick Allen. Pinch-hitter Ted Ford brought home the first run of the inning with a sacrifice fly, and Texas loaded the bases again when Chicago shortstop Rich Morales bobbled a grounder by Elliott Maddox.

Dave Nelson then grounded to Morales, who fired home to force Kubiak, but when Egan, the catcher, tried to get Nelson at first for a double play, he threw the ball into right field allowing two runs to score.

Texas had tallied single runs in the first, fifth and seventh innings, all being scored by Billings.

The White Sox had opened the scoring in the first when May doubled home Mike Andrews, and they jumped in front, 5-2, in the seventh when they got four unearned runs.

Catcher Ed Herrmann singled to open the inning and after Jorge Orta came in to run for him, Morales reached safely when Nelson tumbled a grounder at third. Pat Kelly walked to load the bases and Andrews also walked off starter Dick Bosman to force in Orta. May then cleaned the bases with a double.

Oakland defeats California 6-3

OAKLAND (UPI) — Reggie Jackson's three-run homer was the big blow in a five-run seventh inning rally Monday night and Jim Hunter went the distance for the first time this season as the Oakland A's rolled to a 6-3 victory over the California Angels.

Nolan Ryan had the A's stopped on just two hits when singles by Hunter and Joe Rudi and Jackson's sixth homer of the year snapped a 1-1 tie. When Ryan walked Sal Bando for his seventh pass of the game, Steve Barber came on to fill the bases with two more walks.

Mel Queen followed and a wild pitch, another walk and a sacrifice fly by Larry Brown produced two more runs.

Hunter struck out eight batters, walked one and gave up seven hits in gaining his third victory in five decisions. Ryan, gave up all five Oakland hits in the six and one-third innings he worked and went down to his fourth loss compared to two victories.

Singles by Mickey Rivers and Vada Pinson earned a double steal by the two and produced California's first run in the opening inning and a single by Ken McMullen and Lee Stanton's third homer accounted for the other Angel runs in the ninth.

Three walks and a wild pitch helped the A's to their first run in the first inning.

S.F. nips L.A. 9-8

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dave Kingman hit a pair of four-baggers, including a grand slam Monday night, to highlight a four-home run San Francisco outburst that brought the Giants a 9-8 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The grand slam came in the third inning when Bernie Williams also hit a solo homer. But Kingman's second homer in the sixth inning and Ken Henderson's four-bagger after Chris Speier's double accounted for the win.

The two homers gave Kingman 10 for the season to lead the National League.

Sam McDowell recorded his sixth win in seven decisions as he worked 7 2-3 innings and allowed seven hits. Mike Strahler, the second of five Los Angeles pitchers, took the loss in his second appearance of the season.

The Dodgers tied the score 6-6 in the fifth inning on a two-run homer by Willie Davis. It scored Bobby Valentine, who got aboard on a forceout.

Rochester bowler is open leader

DENVER (UPI) — Millie Martorella of Rochester, N. Y., extended her lead to 129 pins Monday in the third round of the 1972 women's U.S. Open bowling championship.

The field of 128 competitors was cut to 64 after the end of the first 18 games, and semifinal action set for later Monday will reduce that to 24 semifinalists. The women are bowling for $30,000 in prize money, with $4,000 going to the winner.

Mrs. Martorella, 1967 women's Bowler of the Year, is averaging 207 with an 18 game total pinfall of 3,727. The five-time Professional Women's Bowlers Association (PWBA) champion rolled 210, 179, 211, 237, 189 and 181 games Monday.

In second place was Pat Costello, Union City, Cal., with a pinfall of 3,598. Miss Costello is a high school teacher and a two-time PWBA champion.

Defending champion Paula Sperber, the 1971 bowler of the year from Miami, moved up to third with a total pinfall of 3,554.

Judy Cook of Grandview, Mo., rolled a 1,240 in her six games Monday morning to jump from ninth place to fourth with a 3,552 total.

Independent Meat edged Thelsen Motors 14-12. Peterson and Stanford hit homers for Independent Meat.

In other action Lynwood Standard beat the Twin Falls Bank and Trust 10-4 and Cain's Furniture beat Haney Seed 13-9.

Undefeated boxer scores knock out

TAMPA (UPI) — Undefeated Dallas welterweight Tommy Von Hatten, 144 1-2, knocked out Houston's Raymond "Pink Panther" Boyd, 145 1-2, at 1:09 of the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout Monday night.

It was the 11th knockout and 13th victory for Von Hatten, whose 19-year-old wife, Pam, a curvaceous blonde in hot pants, is his second.

Von Hatten knocked Boyd down with three successive rights for an eight-count in the second round before ending the bout with a left hook.

The victory boosted Von Hatten's chances of meeting Texas welter champ Jesse Avalos for the state crown.

The bout was part of an elimination tourney to choose an opponent for Avalos. Von Hatten and Boyd are supposed to fight a rematch of Monday night's bout, but Boyd was so unhappy with the loss he told reporters he is quitting the profession.

Boyd's record is 20-7-1.

Jay Silvester tries again for gold medal

PROVO, Utah — (NEA) — L. Jay Silvester was still physically stiff. From three hours of tugging the weights, stretching, bending. Hauling his bulk through the perspiring grime of a long workout.

It's part of Jay's daily regimen. He is 34 years old, married, with three young children. And every day he's in the shorts and T-shirt of the sweating athlete, exerting himself in the company of kids more than a decade younger.

He's in just as good shape as they are. A solid 6-2 1/2 filled out to 250 pounds. And he's more motivated.

Jay wants to throw the discus in the 1972 Summer Olympic Games in Munich. He was competed twice before, in the games at Tokyo in 1964 and Mexico City in 1968. The best he has accomplished was a fourth place in Tokyo.

"It's the monkey on my back, to win a gold medal," he says now earnestly over a cut of New York steak. From his seat in the hilltop restaurant he can see out on the beautiful white-topped Wasatch range of mountains overlooking the spic and span Brigham Young University campus, where Jay teaches physiology in the physical education department.

This is Jay's country, where he can take his pickup truck out into the wilderness to hunt ducks. He is comfortable here, though he has been all over the world as a discus thrower. He is also a conscientious elder in the Mormon church. But Jay's mind these days is primarily on southern Bavaria in late August because he knows that, at his age, he may never get another chance at the coveted gold medal.

"In track and field," he says, "that's it for any man who competes. I don't care who they are. They're nothing until they've won the Olympics. And I've been an international competitor since 1961 and a year later I broke the world record."

He's conscious of the fact that in the old days around Mt. Olympus, the Greek who flung the discus the farthest was regarded as the epitome of the greatest athlete. Myron's "Discobolus" depicts the classic discus thrower in stone. Jay, a pragmatic modernist in form, is nevertheless proud of the connection. So one turn in the ring, a grunt and a mighty heave—that has been the ritual dominating his life.

"For the last four years," he says, "I haven't been out of training for more than two weeks. I do it because I love it, and because I have this goal."

Yet Jay's chances of making it to Munich are moot at this point. A couple of years ago he signed a professional contract for track athletes. A Los Angeles lawyer had banded together 50 of America's best track and field performers in a pro track circuit. To finance it, he went public and needed their signed contracts to float the offering legally. The venture never got off the ground. "I never received a cent," says Jay, "and I don't regret what I did because I would still like to see professional track. The AAU reinstated me as an amateur."

But in the eyes of the sacrosanct Olympic people, even the thought of professionalism is a crime worse than a padded expense account. So Jay is sweating out an appeal by the U.S. Olympic Committee to the International Amateur Athletic Federation to determine his status. In the same boat are three other American world class performers who signed the old worthless contracts — 400 meters champion Lee Evans, silver medalist shotputter George Woods and steeplechaser George Young. If Jay does get the special dispensation and returns to Europe late this summer, he'll not have the specter of Al Oerter shrouding his ambitions.

Russ halts activist disruption

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet government has resorted to preventive detention and threats of arrest to stop Jewish activists from disrupting President Nixon's trip to the Soviet Union, the Union Council for Soviet Jews said today.

Karen Krivette, Washington spokesman for the council, said details of the actions were learned through a series of telephone calls placed to the Soviet Union from Washington, Cleveland, Toronto and New York. The callers learned that Jewish activists were jailed in Moscow on charges of preparing "an antisocial act," she said.

The activists placed under "administrative detention" were identified as Vladimir Prestin, Vladimir Slepak, Roman Kutman, Viktor Polsky, Boris Orlov, and Lev Lebov.

They were reported to have been arrested early Saturday morning in Moscow.

It was believed those arrested had intended to make contact with foreign correspondents traveling with Nixon, rather to stage a demonstration.

However, in Leningrad, authorities apparently were concerned that Jewish activists might gather hold some kind of street demonstration. Miss Krivette said Jewish activists in that city were being closely watched and had been warned not to leave their place of work or their apartments any time Saturday, the day Nixon is scheduled to visit Leningrad.

The telephone callers also recorded a variety of other measures, including terminating telephone service for activists in Moscow so that they cannot call foreign correspondents; impounding the cars of Jewish activists in Riga; and canceling prison visits for a number of families who would have had to travel through Moscow at the time of Nixon's stay.

The Jewish spokesman also said 302 Jews in Moscow had signed a petition for Nixon which was delivered to the U.S. embassy in the Soviet capital.

Moscow welcome

STARS AND STRIPES greeted President and Mrs. Richard Nixon as they walked to their car at the Vnukovo Airport as Nixon arrived for talks in Moscow. (UPI)

Russian scene revisited

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Nixon and Soviet leaders will negotiate in the same vaulted, chandeliered Kremlin hall where the 1963 nuclear test ban treaty was signed.

Called the Catherine Hall, the room is part of the grand Kremlin palace complex of buildings constructed between 1838 and 1849.

The palace is yellow with white trim. The roof is green. Rectangular in shape, it has two floors although its windows indicate a three-story structure. The Supreme Soviet, a parliament meets in the palace.

The Catherine Hall has white marble columns with malachite pilaster facings. Three large chandeliers swing from the vaulted ceiling. The overall decor is white and gold.

Chandelier-like lamps on pedestals range along the walls. A central Asian rug, intricate and ornate, carpets the parquet floor. Period furniture is plentiful.

advantageous cooperation."

The front page editorial was viewed by diplomats as part of a campaign to quell resentment against the Nixon visit by some Soviet citizens. The diplomats said the resentment, expressed in political indoctrination meetings that are a regular part of Soviet life, became sufficiently widespread to require official rebuttal.

Pravda, at the same time, declared the traditional Soviet positions in support of Hanoi, Cairo and its allies would remain firm.

Pravda rebuts trip criticism

MOSCOW (UPI) — In an official rebuttal to criticism of President Nixon's visit to Moscow, Pravda has described the event as essential to the "strengthening of world peace."

The Soviet Union approaches the coming visit of the U.S. President to the USSR from a businesslike, realistic position, the Communist party newspaper said Sunday. "We consider it useful to expand such relations... which would make it possible, without departure from the principles of our policy, to start mutually

Nixon receives Soviet protection

MOSCOW (UPI) — Squads of plainclothes Soviet secret policemen surrounded President Nixon Monday with a human wall of security at the outset of his Moscow summit.

Authorities barred all private cars from Vnukovo II airport, a step seldom taken for the arrival of a foreign dignitary. They set up screens at intervals throughout the glass and concrete terminal to restrict movement of diplomats, reporters and the Soviet and American crowds bused to the airport to greet Nixon.

The reporters in the presidential "pool" were barred by Soviet plainclothesmen from entering a car set aside for them as the President left. Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler came to their rescue and pulled them into his own black Chaika limousine for the ride into town.

The car bearing Nixon,

President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was a ZIL 117, the sleek, black pride of the Soviet automobile industry. It sped them into the capital at speeds of 50 to 60 miles an hour, slowing occasionally where crowds were heaviest.

In front, a double rank of motorcycle outriders protected the presidential car while more green-uniformed motorcyclists ranged alongside it.
