Nixon plans report on Europe meetings

WARSAW (UPI) — A "dead end" President Nixon reached some-widening accord with Polish leaders today as the final stroke of his 12-day diplomatic mission, and headed home for a report to Congress tonight on the Moscow summit.

The presidential jet, THE "Spirit of '76," left Warsaw on a nine-hour flight to Washington after Nixon and First Secretary Edward Giersek of the Polish Communist Party signed a communique summing up four hours of talks.

In the document, the two leaders agreed that talks should be opened as soon as possible on East-West troop reductions in Europe; to lay groundwork for a European security conference — also agreed to by Nixon at the Kremlin summit — and agreed to conduct continuing talks on improving U.S.-Polish trade (non-specific, as was the case in Moscow).

But just as he failed to break any new ground with Soviet leaders on the Vietnam issue, Nixon was unable to reach accord with the Polish. The Warsaw communique said: "Both sides presented their known positions on the war in Vietnam and the situation in Indochina. Essential views of the two sides in this question remained divergent."

Nixon wound up his journey, which included stops in Leningrad, Kiev and Tehran, the President showed clear signs of the stress he has been under since his arrival in Moscow May 22. "He's dead tired but he won't admit it," one aide said.

His wife, Pat, also lost the polish she had maintained throughout the journey, snapping at Polish plainclothesmen trying to keep her away. "I've never seen such people. I want to say hello to the people."

But weary as he was, the President intended to spend most of the time on the home front, according to aides. In putting finishing touches on his 9:30 p.m. EDT address to a joint session of Congress, he will be broadest nationally.

The speech was expected to put heavy emphasis on his nuclear arms limitation agreement with Soviet leaders.

Aides said Nixon was thinking of the example of President Woodrow Wilson, who negotiated the treaty of Versailles after World War I and returned home in triumph only to have the pact rejected by Congress.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President decided to report to Congress immediately after his arrival home because he felt it was important to explain to Congress the approval and support needed to implement what the President has called a new era of negotiations and easing of East-West tensions.

The President also returns with agreements with the Kremlin to cooperate in space exploration, including a joint mission in 1973, and other fields including public health and science and technology. The two nations also agreed to order their navies to quit harassing each other on the high seas.

Norman Herrett, Dr. James Taylor discuss transfer

Herrett Arts, Science center donated to CSI by founder

By HUGH DAVIS Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Herrett Arts and Science Center, built over a lifetime by Norman Herrett, was donated to the College of Southern Idaho today.

In ceremonies at the college this morning, Herrett presented CSI president Dr. James Taylor with deeds to the arts and science center. The donation was a result of a 1969 proposal which would transfer the museum collection to the college along with Herrett's unusual system of teaching which relies heavily on students as teachers.

According to the proposal, "Norman Herrett shall provide, as long as physically possible, the expertise necessary to making the teaching museum a reality."

"Now, we form an advisory committee," Dr. Taylor said, "whose duty it will be to plan how best to use the center."

"I will be on the committee as will Mr. Herrett. We want to be able to call on him for his knowledge, and expertise concerning the museum."

Taylor said the CSI Board of Trustees will select a site on campus for a building to house the museum.

He said efforts will be made to find a way to make the museum self-supporting at the earliest date possible.

The proposal also calls for the transfer of the planetarium and its equipment if feasible.

The planetarium houses two telescopes, a 10-inch Catadioptric 200 power and up with an 18-foot focal length and a Newtonian 12.5 inch refractor, F8, 100 power and up.

Herrett described the museum as "a learning center for biology, geology and earth sciences and a back-up for social studies." He said the museum is of the greatest value to grade school children and asked that the collection be preserved for connected learning and teaching.

In the past, Herrett, a former teacher, has devised a system of teaching based on the concept that children learn best from other children. He has taught grade school children how to pass on the significance of artifacts in the museum to younger children.

Usually, youngsters studied with Herrett for two years before becoming a teacher in the museum. Some youths have spent as long as five years as instructors in the museum.

This year, there are 40 student teachers in the museum, and 25 in the planetarium.

Almost daily during the school year, hundreds of children would tour the museum to learn of the culture of pre-Columbian people in this area. More than 10,000 have attended this year.

In his statement, Herrett asks the museum to be kept "one and pure."

"Keep out all white man's influence and memorabilia," he said.

What form the museum will take is, apparently up to the advisory committee, the CSI Board of Trustees and the public.

Both Taylor and Herrett expressed hope that the public can make the museum self-supporting, available to all the citizens of the Magic Valley and learning experience for all students, regardless of age.

3 horses die at HS rodeo

By MARJORIE LIERMAN Times-News writer

PHILIP: Three rodeo horses were killed in separate freak accidents during district high school rodeo competition here Wednesday night. Their riders were unhurt.

The three horses crashed into a 10-foot-high fence surrounding the rodeo arena, apparently breaking their necks.

According to producer Claude Reinhold of C. and R. Rodeo Producers, Kingman, Ariz., "In five years of rodeo producing, I have only lost two horses during events until now."

He said the horses were inexperienced "green" horses, whose total value he placed at about $750.

He said the deaths occurred about 8:15 p.m., early in the bareback event when the lighting condition was poor. Arena lights had not yet been turned on, he said.

He said he had not had time to bring the new horses into the arena prior to the event as is customary to familiarize the animals.

The three riders had completed their rides and were off the horses before the mishaps, he said.

Reinhold said none of the horses had been drugged. "I have never used any drugs of any kind on my horses. I don't even employ 'hot shot' on them," he said.

He said an approaching thunderstorm may have been a factor.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls County fairgrounds said today he had never hung papers on other marking material of the 10-foot-high chain link fence because it had not been requested and spectators' views would be restricted.

Harold Howe, chairman of the fair board, said today the board had asked a state veterinarian to examine the animals to determine the cause of death.

In a separate unrelated mishap, a Twin Falls barrel racer was injured slightly when her horse fell on her during a ride. The contestant, Marta Gates, reportedly received a knee injury, but continued in competition.

Co-chairman of the district rodeo, Lawrence Knigge, Flier, said today that the horse deaths were "absolutely unusual."

He said that in his lifetime of rodeo involvement he had witnessed only one other such animal death.

When asked if the accidents endangered riders, he said "If I were a contestant climbing aboard one of them, you have to expect 'anything' happening."

Winners in the opening night competition were: Bareback bronc riding, Ronnie Goicoechea, Richfield, first; Dean Tschannen, Gooding.

Loophole closure endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic liberals are climbing aboard Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' proposal to abolish all major tax loopholes by Jan. 1, 1976. One said he would ask Mills' Ways and Means Committee to attach the measure next week to a bill raising the limit on the national debt.

In announcing his bill Wednesday, Mills suggested no timetable for its consideration. But he said its passage would force Congress to review each of 54 listed tax breaks, including all those under attack by the liberal bloc.

He emphasized that he was not committing himself for or against eventual retention of any of the special tax provisions. He said Congress ultimately might decide it wants to keep most of them.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield introduced an identical measure in the Senate. A Mansfield aide said Mills and Mansfield had worked together since March.

S. Viet units smash at Reds

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and Rangers backed by tanks drove almost to the border of Quang Tri Province today in an effort to knock out a North Vietnamese regiment and blunt an expected attack on Hue. They moved with virtually no air support and came under heavy artillery fire.

Bad weather settled on North Vietnam and the northeastern quarter of South Vietnam but the U.S. command said its planes knocked out two more of Hanoi's power plants Wednesday and that U.S. Air Force Phantom jets knocked down two of four attacking MIG-21 jets over a 30-minute period near Hanoi. U.S. planes bombed northern targets today by radar.

Giant state fund asked for schools

McCALL (UPI) — The executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association called today for a fiscal year 1974 public school appropriation of $122 million, all to be financed from the state level.

Wayne Wynn appeared before the State Board of Education on the third day of its budget session to outline the IEA proposal which included $3.6 million for public school kindergartens and $6.5 million for salary increases.

In response, board members indicated they will explore methods of financing public education other than with property tax. Board member Joseph D. McCollum, Twin Falls, said additional sales or income tax may be needed.

4 arrested

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Police firing rifles and tear gas canisters today captured the co-leader of a left-wing anarchist gang and three of his followers.

Declo crash kills 1

DECLO — A construction worker was killed in a one-car accident on Idaho Highway 25 north of here early today.

Idaho State Police declined to release the name of the victim pending notification of his age was given as 24, and he was believed to be from Minnesota. A passenger in the car, David Lutter, 21, Eagle Lake, Minn., was injured. He was listed in satisfactory condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital today.

Investigation by State Patrolman Tommy Mickelson was continuing this morning.

Sewer plug floods TF homes

TWIN FALLS — A sewer line blockage flooded a dozen basements on Madison and Monroe streets late Wednesday.

City Manager Jean Millar said the old trunk sewer line which runs along Jefferson Street north of Filer Avenue was blocked by a collection of feathers and grease about 4 p.m. Wednesday. Crews worked until about 7 p.m. removing two truckloads of material and clearing the line.

Millar said about 3:45 p.m. a problem developed on Teton Street and the main crew was working there when the second report was received on Madison and Monroe. A secondary crew began work immediately, locating the problem at the Jefferson Street manhole and inspection station when they were joined by the main crew.

Millar said the area includes an inverted siphon which was installed in 1947 when the main line was built in that area. The feathers and grease, in the lines for some time, collected here, Millar said. Inspection and cleaning of the lines continue at all times, but a collection such as the one which caused the problem, Wednesday afternoon, can float undetected between manholes.

Millar said permanent correction of the situation will result from two things. For one, the poultry processing plant which contributed feathers and grease to the lines has been closed. Federal funds have been applied for to construct a main line sewer for the northwest portion of the city. It will include an auxiliary line for the area around the inverted siphon, Millar said, and will provide partial relief.

He estimated a dozen homes in the area suffered flooding as a result of the Wednesday blockage. All were in the 300 blocks of Madison and Monroe Streets.

Only homes with basement sewer hookups were involved, he said, and many homes in that area do not have basements. Some with basements were not damaged.

Some residents said their homes had up to five inches of backed up sewage in the basements, enough to ruin carpet, boxes of stored items and in some cases furniture in family rooms and bedrooms.

Boyd Buchanan, 592 Monroe St., said carpeting in his new home was ruined but most of the furnishings can be salvaged. He said the sewage rose about three inches in the basement before it was discovered. As soon as the trunk line blockage was cleared the flooding receded but home owners had to haul out the remaining residue, disinfect and deodorize their basements, he said.

Mrs. Stanley Carlson, 671 Madison, said she had about five inches of sewage in her basement. Several other home owners and residents reported similar amounts.

McGovern favored

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—George S. McGovern was heartened today by a poll showing him leading Hubert H. Humphrey in the crucial California primary. Humphrey charged McGovern's welfare policy would embitter a frightened middle class against the poor.

With less than a week of campaign time remaining, both senators stepped up their efforts in their drive for the 271 delegates at stake in the Democratic presidential contest that both agree may well determine the party's nominee.

A top McGovern aide said the latest poll, commissioned by McGovern, showed he had a 6-per cent edge over Humphrey. But a substantial number of voters are still undecided, the McGovern camp said.

McGovern began far back in the polls, including his own. His aides said a repeated private poll, not yet released, also would show McGovern leading by 6 per cent. Other sources in the McGovern camp said there were polls giving the South Dakota senator the edge by as much as 10 per cent.

The last published Field Poll gave McGovern a 4 per cent edge.

Humphrey meanwhile, talking to blacks in Watts, accused McGovern of "scaring the country—hell-to-death—with billion-dollar welfare schemes that nobody will accept."

The effect of McGovern's plans—which would guarantee income grants to the poor but raise taxes on the middle class—will pit the two groups against each other, Humphrey said, preventing any action.

"Let me tell you, dear friends, we cannot do anything for poor people if middle-income people think they are going to get the worst of the deal," Humphrey told the blacks, who nodded and coated themselves with fans in a stuffy hall on a hot day.

"We've got to bring the middle income and the poor people together. That's the only way we're going to get the votes to do anything."

Humphrey said McGovern's policies are "scaring off the blue collar workers... Scaring off people who would ordinarily vote for us."

"It is wrong to promise pie-in-the-sky," the hoarse-voiced, coal-black Humphrey said.

Child not left alone in auto

TWIN FALLS—Relatives of Andrew Thomas McCaughey, 5-month-old child who died Sunday afternoon at Twin Falls Park in Snake River Canyon, said today the child had not been left alone in the car.

Mrs. Raymond Laughlin, grandmother, said her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCaughey, were disturbed by news reports indicating the child had been left in the car while the parents were elsewhere in the park. She said the parents were sitting on a blanket on the grass beside the parked car while the child slept on the back seat. Windows of the vehicle were down.

When the inquirer checked the child after a brief time, he was on the floor of the vehicle and had stopped breathing. She administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while the child was rushed to the Twin Falls Clinic where he was pronounced dead.

An autopsy failed to determine any cause of death and Mrs. Laughlin said the pathologist said symptoms of a "crib death" are evident.

Autopsy performed

TWIN FALLS—Results of an autopsy performed on the body of a 24-year-old Twin Falls boy are being withheld pending further investigation.

Cloyle Edwards, Twin Falls County Coroner, said he anticipates releasing the results later this week.

Phillip Dilka, son of Mrs. Patricia Wolford, Twin Falls, and Sonny Dilka, Wellington, Colo., died suddenly Monday night near his home on Blue Lakes Boulevard South.

Edwards said the boy collapsed and that when police and the ambulance arrived, he was dead.

House speaker seeks 8th term

HOLLISTER — Rep. William Lanting, R-Hollister, speaker of the Idaho House of Representatives, said today he will seek re-election from District 23.

Lanting, presiding officer of the House since 1967, will be seeking his eighth term as a state representative.

He also serves on the executive committee of the Council of State Governments, a COUNCIL (UPI) — State Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, says he will seek another term in the House of Representatives from District 9.

Edwards, vice chairman of the revenue and taxation committee, chaired a house subcommittee to develop legislation providing 100 per cent funding of public schools from the state level.

national organization formed to improve government operations.

Lanting said a recurring issue of each legislative session is the manner in which the children of Idaho are educated and how that education is being paid for.

"I don't, at this time, favor 100 per cent state-supported education. The tax burden is already too heavy on Idaho citizens," said Lanting. "There has to be a tax shift whenever that kind of legislation is proposed and I would want to know where it will be shifted to before I vote."

"I do favor taking some of the load off property owners. And a transition to a state-collected tax," Lanting said.

When asked if Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' proposal to reorganize state government into 20 agencies might ease the budgeting duties of the legislature, Lanting said, "Not significantly. Budgets are evolved according to function anyway and while the agency names may be decreased, the functions are still there. I can't see where limiting the amount of agencies will decrease the functions."

Lanting has served on several community and civic organizations, including the Grange and the Farm Bureau, and was vice-president of the Idaho School Trustees Association while serving on the Filer School Board.

Lanting is a native of Twin Falls and operates a ranch on the Salmon Tract south of Twin Falls.

Blaine land sale June 29

BOISE (UPI) — State land originally sought for the Blaine area Sun Valley development will go on the auction block June 29, but at more than twice the original appraised value.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holmes, Sun Valley, applied for the land, 620 acres near the Sun Valley resort, last year. Land board members agreed to put the acreage up for sale and placed an arbitrary value of some $350,000 on it.

Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley said the land will be offered at public auction beginning at 2 p.m. June 29 in the Blaine County Courthouse at Halley. The appraised value, he said, will be listed at $798,000.

TF assessor plans to seek nomination

TWIN FALLS — Ron L. Taylor, Twin Falls County assessor, has announced he will seek the Republican nomination for the office.

He was appointed for a one-year term on the retirement of Clifford Thompson in the fall of 1977. Taylor said he plans to file his nominating petitions for the August primary this week.

Taylor said he will continue to work for equality in assessment throughout the county. He served as a deputy assessor for two years and was associated with the real estate business for 12 years. He is a member of the First Christian Church and served on the Kimberly Zoning Commission. He resides in Kimberly.

"It has been a privilege serving the people of Twin Falls County and I hope I can serve them efficiently in the future," Taylor said.

Idaho State Police said the TWIN FALLS — An intense fight between thunder and lightning storm clouds continued to Salt Lake City, causing one Hughes Aircraft flight to eliminate the Twin Falls landing Wednesday evening.

Too Much To Ask?

"These are the times that try men's souls" — and their hearts — and their loyalties — and their faith in their elected officials — and their political beliefs — and yes, even at times the faith in our country and all it stands for.

For too many years we have been at war — the most unpopular war in our history — not only the hot war in Indochina — but the cold war with an adversary so unpredictable, so unreliable, so underhanded, so vicious, so devious — that our own standards of right and wrong are too often shaken.

And now our President — the head of our country whether or not we voted for him — in the loneliest job on earth — has made a decision which many of us question — as is our right and privilege — a decision to seemingly escalate a hot war that this President and every citizen had hoped was slowly but surely winding down.

No one on earth really knows whether this decision will prove to be right. So far, as this is written, it hasn't stirred up our chief adversary's wrath as many predicted it would. Nor of course has it solved the deteriorating war situation.

Nor will it for many weeks — if at all.

But let's — all — restrain from too-often unspoken criticism for awhile. Don't we fervently hope and pray that this decision will be right? That it will finally bring an end to the tragic hostilities? Do we want the decision to fail and the war to get worse and worse just to prove our criticism right? Perish the thought, isn't this the time to close ranks and work in every way we can to support this decision?

What can each of us do. Not very much really. But we can on these upcoming holidays display proudly the hard-won banner of our country. We can show to our neighbors and our friends, that we are still American; still proud citizens of the greatest country on earth; still proud of our heritage; still mindful of the price paid for the freedoms and liberties that give us the privilege to criticize, to vote in free elections; to live in a society that believes in law and order. So Fly It Proudly on Flag Day 1972 and on Independence Day 1972.

Would you live anyplace else really — if you had the choice?

SAN FRANCISCO — Standing Son Hubert Humphrey was last two primaries before the big an in blaze of television light against a wall on a city street, gunnery trying to explain away one in California June 1, had third-place showings in the He simply said he didn't try because they weren't all that important. But in reality it is his chief rival, Sen. George McGovern, scored two more victories and got a fresh momentum for the test here with its great prize of 271 delegate votes.

"COME AND GET IT!"

ANDREW TULLY

Humphrey in this setting at this moment in history is something to watch. He knows he is at the crunch, that these are the climactic days in what will surely be his last bid for the presidency. He knows California is crucial to his hopes.

There is poignancy in the shifting campaign scenes as the old warrior struggles valiantly against what seems to be tough odds. It is widely believed that the ascending McGovern has superior money, manpower and momentum.

Yet resilient, buoyant Hubert concedes nothing. In television actor Lorne Greene's jammed living room in a Los Angeles suburb, Humphrey shouted "We're gonna win" as a black singer sang half a dozen choruses of "Glory, Glory Hallelujah."

His voice charged with feeling, Humphrey went on: "I want to be your leader. I want to make you proud of your country. I'll give you everything I've got in my life."

It bothers him that many people, especially some of the young, see him as "old hat," a figure from the past. He retorts: "My long political life is a rich and tested experience. I'm not a man with eyes in the back of my head looking at yesterday. He clearly believes that he deserves the fullest political reward for his service and what he considers his acute social vision. Again and again, he runs through the catalogue of major social legislation enacted in the past generation. He claims either: authorship of a clog Medicare, housing subsidies, Job Corps, widening Social Security. He adds: "All these things have Hubert Humphrey's fingerprints on them."

At times here on the long trail up and down the state, he looks desperately tired. As if holding himself together by the almighty margins. But his bounce always returns.

At a rich fund-raiser's ranch house north of San Diego, the candidate waved his arm in a sweep and said: "Looks like we're winning the war on poverty here."

After the Chicago vote on a Sunday morning in Monterey Park near Los Angeles, he snuffed the breakfast aroma and said: "Thanks for the smell of the pancakes."

At a rally for blacks in San Francisco's Macedonia Missionary Baptist Church, Humphrey stirred by some great choral singing — told his listeners: "I've been on the firing line since day one. Where were you (this plainly an aside aimed at McGovern) when the swords and sabers were drawn against us?"

Humphrey just can't believe that all he has done, all he has fought for in his public life, should not now culminate in his winning the presidency. He has himself in mind when he falls every listener: "you need somebody who's got the guts of Harry Truman."

He is indeed fighting Truman-style. Says a veteran Democrat here: "If Humphrey pulls it off, it'll just be Hubert himself who

Golf For Walkers

The American Medical Association continues to try to get people walking again, but it isn't easy. The latest campaign is to persuade golfers they ought to get some exercise while hitting the ball around the course.

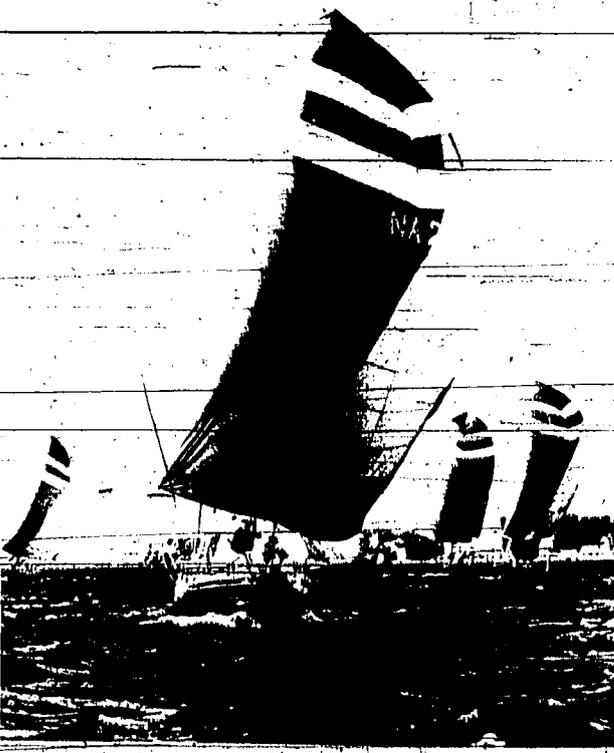

Get out of the golf carts and walk the AMA advises, unless that is not possible because of physical handicaps or advanced age. One difficulty was noted in the campaign: insistence by some courses that carts be used to speed play.

Undoubtedly the AMA will receive some mixed reactions to its campaign. Even so, a lot of people will find they enjoy walking once they get the hang of it.

McGovern Right

WASHINGTON — George McGovern was right in the first place — 18 months ago. Vietnam indeed will be an issue in the Presidential election. But today the big IF is whether the war will serve the purpose of the South Dakota senator or any other Democratic nominee.

As these words are typed, South Vietnam has not been crushed by the massive invasion of upwards of 200,000 regular North Vietnamese troops. It has suffered losses, but its soldiers have fought back and even mounted several successful counteroffensives despite generally poor leadership. Meanwhile, American mining of North Vietnam harbors and air strikes against rail and war production facilities have posed a serious supply problem for the Hanoi invaders.

Moreover, the rainy season is just approaching. Once it begins, the chances of the North Vietnamese making any new gains on the battlefield will be reduced virtually to zero, thus thwarting Hanoi's aim of winning a political victory by military means.

Ergo, the big IF should Richard Nixon make good on his gamble to foil the Communist invaders, he'll be in excellent shape in November. He can and will claim a victory, not only for South Vietnam but for the United States, and given a choice between victory and defeat most American voters will opt for victory. And if this victory is accompanied by the continued withdrawal of American forces, the Vietnam issue will have been all but demobilized.

Confronted with such a Nixon triumph, the Democratic nominee will face some hard questions — especially if he is George McGovern. There will be voters who will ask whether McGovern had been in the White House, would have mined the North Vietnamese harbors and launched an all-out bombing attack on the North. They will recall that a Democratic President named Lyndon Johnson refused to mine the harbors even after committing more than half a million U.S. troops to a genuine war.

Richard Nixon, meanwhile, can be depended upon to declare that if it hadn't been for a Republican President who would never have "won" that war while simultaneously pulling out of it, he will remind the electorate that all the Democratic candidates except George Wallace and Sen. Henry Jackson had demanded immediate withdrawal of all U.S. forces unaccompanied by any attempt to avoid the "humiliation" of total capitulation. At the same time, Nixon can boast that it was he who went to Peking and HE who went to Moscow. He can tick off the names of the Democratic politicians and press and broadcast commentators who jumped flatly the Russians would cancel his visit in outrage over the decision to mine North Vietnam's harbors. He can make the valid claim that he was right and the opposition was wrong, all along.

There are, of course, sure to be disagreements over what was accomplished by the President's trips to Peking and Moscow. At this time, however, there can be little doubt his Chinese expedition and his secret communications with Moscow preceding the Russian visit persuaded Nixon that he could get away with taking a hard line in Vietnam. At this stage, Hanoi's good reason to complain about the mild reaction of both Peking and Moscow to Nixon's daring gamble at a time when North Vietnamese battlefield casualties and bombing damage are approaching frightful proportions.

ART BUCHWALD

Out Of Bombs

WASHINGTON — It was hard to believe, but in October, 1972, the United States ran out of bombs.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird broke the bad news to President Nixon. "I'm sorry, Mr. President, but we have no bombs left to drop on Vietnam. We're completely out."

"But that's impossible," the President said. "I was assured we had enough bombs stockpiled for five years."

Under ordinary conditions we would have, but we've been dropping them at such an accelerated rate that we ran out last Friday. There isn't one bomb left in the United States or at any of its overseas bases.

"Can't we borrow some bombs from our allies?"

"We've already borrowed every bomb we could from Britain, France, Belgium, West Germany, Spain and Greece. We owe them 2.42 billion bombs, and they say they aren't going to lend us any more until we pay the interest on the ones we have already. At 10 per cent that comes to an awful lot of bombs."

"But, Melvin, we've got to have bombs or our strategy of bringing Hanoi to her knees will fail. Surely a great industrial giant like the United States can rise to the challenge."

"We've tried, sir, but production just can't keep up with demand. Every time a bomb comes off the assembly line it's immediately attached to a bomb rack and dropped on Vietnam. To make matters worse, the Air Force, Navy and Marines are fighting over every bomb that is made. They had a tight spot over the Lookheed plant in San Diego the other morning and the Navy shot down an Air Force B-52 because it claimed the Air Force had stolen their bomb."

"This is serious, Melvin. If we slow down the tempo of the bombing, the North Vietnamese will interpret it as a sign of weakness. Have you checked any of the underdeveloped countries? Surely they must have some we can buy."

"We've looked into it, Mr. President, but the underdeveloped countries are refusing to sell their bombs. They've decided bombs are more valuable than gold, and because of the shortage they are now using them as currency. The latest rate of exchange is 100 trucks for one bomb."

"How did we get into such a position?" the President asked in an exasperated voice.

"I guess it was our fault, Mr. President. When we said we would bomb only military targets in Vietnam we had a sufficient supply of bombs. But when you gave the order to bomb anything they wanted, the Air Force and Navy went ape."

"Also, the South Vietnamese army didn't help much. Every time they saw a water buffalo in a rice paddy, they called for an air strike. One sniper in a tree cost us 200,000 tons of bombs. We dropped more bombs on Highway One last week than we dropped in all of World War II."

"I'm going to issue an executive order declaring that every dairy in the United States must start manufacturing bombs."

"Every dairy?" the secretary of defense snid.

"That's correct. It's obvious my butter-and-bomb policy isn't working. So until we have enough bombs to halt Communist aggression, no one in this country gets any butter."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Not Talking

Dear Dr Thosteson: My son, now 2 1/2, and another otherwise intelligent child, does not talk. But this "learning" that any conversation he holds, with the exception of a few words, can be understood only by me.

I have tried to correct this but he still refuses to talk clearly. My pediatrician assures me there is absolutely nothing wrong, and that he will talk when he feels it necessary. — V. C.

There can be a difference between not talking and not talking clearly, but it sounds as though this may be some of both.

If a child does not talk at all by the age of one year, it's high time to have a checkup to be sure that his hearing, intelligence and vocal apparatus aren't at fault. But you've done that.

Best I can do is to cite some of the factors that can be involved when a child is "slow" about learning to talk well.

For one, the youngster who doesn't have playmates may not develop speech as readily. Maybe some time in nursery school would be good for this little fellow. After all, the need to communicate is the strongest motive for learning to talk. In that regard, don't be too quick to anticipate what a child wants. If he gets things by making words garbled sounds, his motivation to speak clearly is less.

While you understand his mangled language (evidently he knows the words he wants to use, but doesn't say them well) don't under any circumstances copy his versions of the words. Some mothers talk baby talk to their youngsters and wonder why the little ones keep on baby-talking. What do they expect? Children learn by imitation.

You may be doing a little too good a job of interpreting his lingo, and if he finds that he has to make the words come out more clearly to make himself understood, he will.

Some kids just naturally talk sooner than others (and girls usually sooner than boys).

Some are late bloomers for no reason you can put your finger on. I knew one boy who used nothing but single words until he was nearly 3, and then, in the space of a couple of weeks, suddenly began talking in complete sentences. Pretty good ones, too.

Israel calls for stricter security

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Responding to Tuesday's 7th Airport slaughter, Israel has decided to demand stricter security from the world's airlines.

Political sources said the Israeli cabinet at a meeting Wednesday even considered canceling landing rights of any airline which does not set up security strong enough to meet its regulations.

They said the cabinet was studying the legal implications of such a move. The possibility of retaliation by another government was considered but the sources said it was thought no government would risk such a move since it would be bad publicity.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban was instructed by the cabinet to convey a message to the governments whose airlines service Israel, imploring them to tighten security on their carriers, the source said.

In a related development, Transport Minister Shimon Peres met with the representatives of the 17 airlines which serve Israel and told them the bloody carnage at Lod International Airport that killed 25 persons and injured 82 others could have been avoided by the simplest of language checks.

The three-man Japanese suicide squad which attacked the 250 to 300 persons in the baggage area of the terminal had grenades and machine guns in their luggage.

The sources said Peres suggested that the airlines adopt:

- Checks on luggage and hand baggage.
- Body searches.
- Closer scrutiny of passports and other identification papers.

Israel is willing to supply the airlines with the know-how to establish more stringent security and to help set them up, the sources quoted Peres as saying.

Peres later said in a television interview that two Arab guerrillas attempted to attack an El Al jetliner at Copenhagen airport Sunday but were foiled. He declined to give further details.

In a nationwide radio address, Prime Minister Golda Meir said Israel would hold Lebanon responsible for the "Lod attack on the grounds that Beirut supports the Arab guerrillas who plan such attacks and train the men to carry them out."

Israel will find a remedy to make sure that what has happened will never occur again," Mrs. Meir said.

Army gives cash bonus

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For the first time since the Civil War, the Army and the Marine Corps today began offering $1,500 cash bonuses to men who enlist for combat training.

The bonuses will be offered until the end of August in a move to attract more volunteers. They may be offered again later if the trial period proves successful.

There are some catches. The volunteers must go in for four years, instead of the usual two-year hitch for infantry, artillery and armor; and the bonus will be paid only after the volunteer is in uniform, has successfully completed his training and been accepted for combat service.

Delaying the payments in that manner is an attempt to avoid the abuses which occurred the last time the bonuses were paid, more than 100 years ago.

Chavez fasts

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Farm worker union leader Cesar Chavez was in serious condition today at Memorial Hospital, where he was taken suffering from effects of a 21-day old hunger strike.

He began the fast, during which he has taken water but no food, to protest passage of an Arizona law controlling agricultural unions.

Union leaders say the law is meant to hamstring them.

Dr. Augusto Ortiz, Chavez's physician, said the labor leader was hospitalized Wednesday because he was becoming "debilitated, extremely dehydrated, and his blood chemistry was out of balance."

US prisoners of war reportedly sign paper

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Eleven American prisoners of war in South Vietnam reportedly have signed a statement asking Congress to stop the "immoral, tragic war."

The appeal and the names of the alleged signees were broadcast over "Liberation Radio," operated by the Viet Cong. Three of the men were previously listed as officially missing in action.

The English-language broadcast was monitored by the U.S. government Tuesday. UPI obtained a transcript copy from government sources and the Defense Department has confirmed its authenticity. But a spokesman said department policy prohibited confirming the names of prisoners listed. The Pentagon Wednesday started to notify the relatives of the men named in the broadcast.

The appeal quoted the prisoners as labeling the Vietnam War "immoral...with catastrophic consequences."

"National beings rectify mistakes when recognized," the statement said. "The time is critical. Please take effective legislative action. We must choose between an immoral, tragic war with catastrophic consequences and the honorable future of the United States."

UPI learned of the broadcast from Valerie Kushner of Danville, Va., whose husband, Capt. F. Harold Kushner, has

Arrest of Irish leaders assailed

BELFAST (UPI)—The militant Provisional Army of the Irish Republican Army today, characterized as "a stab in the back" by the Irish Republic's government, assailed the arrest of two IRA leaders. The Provisionals stepped up their campaign of sniper attacks and bombings in Northern Ireland.

Gunmen critically wounded two men in a taxi office in Belfast early today and snipers opened fire on a police patrol in Coalisland, a British army checkpoint near Newry and an army post in Londonderry.

At Dungiven, a bomb went off in a house being searched by an army patrol. The explosion started a fire and the patrol commander suffered burns.

Police in the neighboring Republic of Ireland raided the Dublin headquarters of the IRA Provisional wing Wednesday and arrested Joseph Cahill, former Belfast IRA commander. Police picked up Sinn Fein President Rory O'Brady at his home in Roscommon.

Both immediately went on a hunger strike, a Sinn Fein spokesman said.

Davis case closes

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Albert Harris methodically piled together all the bits and pieces of "circumstantial evidence against Angela Davis Wednesday, then told the jury it had no alternative but to find her guilty of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy.

Release set for 'Bobby'

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—Federal prison officials said Robert G. "Bobby" Baker, former protégé of Lyndon B. Johnson and millionaire wheel-dealer, would be released from Allenwood prison farm today.

Baker had served 18 months of a three-year prison sentence for fraud, theft and tax evasion. His parole was granted on his second appeal in April.

Noah Aldredge, warden of the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, said that Baker's release would come "sometime within prison hours."

Women represent majority of votes

NEW-YORK (UPI)—Anyone running for office from the presidency on down had better woo the women's vote with special ardor this campaign year, and future ones. For the woman just may represent the deciding votes. A Louis Harris poll of 4,000 men and women finds "there is every likelihood that for the first time in relative peace time women will comprise a majority of the voters to cast their ballots this November." Women have been 51 per cent of the eligible electorate but in the last presidential year (1968) made up no more than 46 per cent of the actual voters. Women have just been turning out in fewer numbers than the men.

Name selected

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I think I can top the story about the couple who announced at their 25th wedding anniversary party that they were getting a divorce. On Sunday, March 5th of this year, our minister announced from the pulpit that he and his wife were being divorced, after which he would marry a local medical doctor's wife, who was going with him to his new assignment. He also announced that the doctor, who was standing beside him in the pulpit, would marry HIS wife. (There were five children involved.) The minister and his wife had sung a duet that day, and the doctor, who was a church official, had read the scriptures for the service. The above is absolutely true. I witnessed it, and am enclosing the names of all the parties involved if you wish to check it out. Being unable to stay in either a church, I left it immediately and joined another one. TOPPER — IN TAPT, CAL.

DEAR TOPPER: I am frequently accused of making up letters, but I have neither the talent nor the imagination to come up with anything as fantastic as some of the real life situations that readers send me. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My son has just become engaged. His mother and I are divorced and I am remarried. My son has invited my wife and me to his wedding. However, the bride's mother has decided that she wants only four others in the reception line with the bride couple, namely the parents of the bride and the parents of the groom. That means I am asked to stand in line with my former wife while my present wife has no part in it. My son is urging me strongly to go along with this although I have told him that I don't feel right about it. I don't wish to oppose my son on this day of all days, but I cannot help but feel that such a decision clearly disregards my feelings and the feelings of my present wife. What can you advise me? UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Go along with your son's wishes. Often when mother and dad are divorced and remarried, Number Two is not even invited to the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: Pertaining to the woman whose hair was all chopped off in a beauty parlor—she wanted to know what recourse she had—I would like to relate my experience. I went to a beauty parlor and told the operator that I wanted her to just cut off the dead ends, but she gave me a haircut so short I looked like a man. I had to buy a wig in order to go to work. I took that beauty parlor to Small Claims Court for the price of the wig and court costs. I'll admit there was quite a bit of time and trouble involved, but it was well worth it. I won my case. It wasn't the money, it was the principle of the thing. AVENGED.

DEAR AVENGED: You could be the exception, but when somebody says, "It's not the money, it's the principle of the thing," it's usually the money.

DEAR ABBY: I have always heard that girls die guys who have a lot of hair on their chests. I am 26 years old and I don't have any hair on my chest at all. That's my problem. Do you know of anything that will grow hair, Abby? I am so hairless I am ashamed to take off my shirt. APACHE IN OKLAHOMA

DEAR APACHE: I am told of nothing that will grow hair on your chest, but I am told that you can buy a "silk be" hairy chest that looks and feels like the real thing. Inquire where hair goods are sold.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

BRIDGE Trump Coup Necessary Here

By Oswald & James Jacoby

MacDuff, the best player in Scotland, was watching both the South and East hands. He nodded happily when Dumblane jumped to six hearts but shook his head violently when Dumblane ruffed the second spade with the three of trumps.

"You may be king of Scotland some day but you'll never be a bridge player. I guess it's the Scotch blood that wouldn't let you play the nine."

We'll leave you to work out why that "three-spot" play doomed the slams to defeat. It's tough enough to bring it in after the correct play of the nine. A trump coup is required

TEN TIPS ON TANNING By Mary Sue Miller

The tanning season is upon us. From moon to dusk, the sun worshippers will be out soaking up a tan. These tips are for them:

1. Beware of overcast days. You can get a bad burn though you cannot see the sun. Ultraviolet rays which cause tans and burns come right through the clouds.
2. Beware of the mid-day sun. If you are just starting a tan, before 11 a.m. and after 2 p.m. are safer times. Even then, limit your exposures.
3. If you tan one day and burn the next, the sun may not be the whole cause. Burns are triggered by the reaction of the sun's chemistry on your body chemistry. Medicine you have been taking, air pollution and allergic responses can bring on the sizzle.
4. Remember that parts of the body not normally exposed to weather—such as shoulders and middles—are leading candidates for quick, severe burns. 5. Your nose sticking up to the sun is the most susceptible part of your face. If it you freckle, the only solution is to stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the high-intensity noon hours.
6. Don't forget to cover tinted hair.
7. Do wear sun glasses.
8. While sunning, keep plenty of a good sun screen or lotion. 10. Last, but certainly not least, immediately after sunning apply an Intensive Care Lotion to moisturize the skin and keep it from that "dried pruned" look.

Grandmas strike blow

LUFKIN, Tex. (UPI)—The only thing a bunch of old grandmothers can do is sit and rock and bake apple pies, right?

Wrong. The grandmothers in this eastern Texas city, who grew tired of paying dues to finance banquets for a national organization, have struck a blow for "Grandmas' Lib."

The women, who range in age from 60 to 87, have turned idealistic rhetoric into positive action, financing construction of a swimming pool and a $1,000 safety fence at the Lufkin State School for the Mentally Retarded.

Two of the grandmothers went to a Lufkin bank and borrowed $300 on a personal note to make a down payment on the safety fence.

There are other projects, some of them "grandmotherly." The women make and sell needle holders, afghans, quilts and even provide a taxi service.

Chinese influence

ANOTHER IN the rash of Chinese fashions has been shown in Florida. Revell International is making A-Frame sunglasses worn by model Toni Sklan, Miami. They call attention to the oriental looking bridgepiece and the chain effect temple bar. (UPI)

Fashionettes

Women's clothes are taking another cue from men's wear. Pockets of all sizes, zippered, tab, slash, patch or concealed. The bellows pocket, with pleats, expands to hold almost as much as a purse. To go with pockets, there's now a new Kodak Instamatic camera, only one inch thick to fit without obvious bulge. You can even get long evening dresses with hidden pockets into which the small cameras fit.

MISS LaMARCHE engaged

June 24 wedding planned

BURLEY — The engagement of Emilie LaMarche to Mark Kircher has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LaMarche, Boise. Miss LaMarche and Kircher are students at the University of Idaho. She is a sophomore and he is a senior. Kircher is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James Kircher, Burley. The couple plans a June 24 wedding in the Christ Chapel, Boise.

Dressing girls should not be a matter of selecting scaled-down versions of adult clothes. Choose a young girl look in garments in proportion to the child's figure. In a "Mother-Daughter Guide to Fashion" the International Ladies Garment Workers Union advises that dresses look better on girls under 12 than do corollaries. With the exception of a blouse and short pleated skirt, children's suits usually do not look right. Be careful of anything with a pronounced waistline.

Burley winners

BURLEY — The Burley Duplicate Bridge Club had six tables in play Tuesday at the Burley Elks Lodge Hall. Winners include Lester Saunders and Harry Warnke, first; Max Hogg and Paul Taylor, second; Margarette Hogg and John Bishop, and Mrs. Ellen Saunders and Mrs. Julie Brown, all tied for third; Mrs. Neida Whitesides and Mrs. Lorena Warnke, fourth.

Idaho $2.5 million short of balancing budget for biennium

BY RICHARD CIARNOCK

BOISE (UPI) — Unless revenues now unforeseen come in the state of Idaho will fall some $2½ million short of balancing the budget this biennium and will have to put off payment of bills.

That was the gloomy forecast Wednesday from State Budget Director D. E. "Skip" Chilberg as the state drew within two months of the end of this fiscal biennium and the constitutional requirement that the books be balanced.

Month-end revenue and spending figures were not available Wednesday because the books still were open for May. But it appeared the state's general fund could be as much as $3 million in the red, counting some $2 million in outstanding tax anticipation notes.

Chilberg said he hoped to have those figures by Thursday and said he and his staff would begin analyzing them immediately.

"The situation seems to be about the same as a month ago," Chilberg said. "It appeared then we would be $2½ million in the hole (by the end of the biennium June 30)."

"And some of my advisers feel that's an awfully optimistic figure," he said.

To make ends meet, Chilberg said, the state probably will have to hold off payment of some of its bills — possibly as much as $2 million or more — until after the start of the new fiscal period, July 1. He said the state definitely will pay all salaries due its employees but he said some of its creditors may have to wait a couple of weeks to get their money.

Just how much will have to be carried over into the new fiscal period, he said, is uncertain until his staff ascertains how many agencies may "under-spend" their appropriations.

Last year, for instance, "under-spending" accounted for $250,000, Chilberg said.

"I feel pretty certain it's going to be more than that this year," he said.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, anticipating financial difficulties, ordered agencies to hold back their spending one per cent last December. He removed the holdback in March.

"This was done at the insistence of a number of legislators that we had the money and that the revenue picture was so good that we had no authority to hold back the amounts they appropriated," Chilberg said.

"On top of insisting we release the one per cent holdback they appropriated $640,000 in supplemental appropriations," he said. "That, with the elimination of the holdback, had the net effect of $2 million on the fiscal picture.

"We definitely will end with a balanced budget," he said. "But that may mean some of the state's creditors will have to wait an extra two weeks for payment of their bills."

Chilberg and the governor disagreed with the Republican-controlled legislature on how much the existing revenue base will produce next year; Chilberg said the carryover of obligations to be paid during the next fiscal year — plus the difference he and Andrus anticipate in the size of the revenue that may be expected — means Idaho will be starting the next fiscal year with an estimated $4 million deficit.

Stanley slates cleanup

STANLEY — Sunday is "pick up the litter day" along Sawtooth Valley's Highway 93.

Work in cleaning up the bottles and cans now lining both sides of Highway 93 will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday at the steel bridge crossing the Salmon River on the Custer and Blaine County line.

The highway will be cleaned in three-mile sections, with the State Highway Department providing signs to be placed at each end of the section being worked on warning drivers of people working.

The Highway Department will also provide a manned dump truck to haul litter to the dump. Local citizens will supply pickups and trailers to help haul away the litter.

Persons planning to participate should bring a sack lunch and a burlap bag to hold trash picked up.

Elmore solon asks post

HAMMETT — State Representative Karl E. Koch, D-Hammett, announced he will be a candidate for re-election from the Legislative District 22.

District 22 includes all of Camas and Elmore counties. During the past four sessions Koch has served on the House Revenue and Taxation committee and three interim Tax Study Committees.

In addition, Koch is chairman of the House Democratic Caucus and is a member of the House Leadership Ways and Means Committee. He serves on the Multistate Tax Compact Advisory Committee, the Human Resource Development Council and recently was appointed by Gov. Cecil Andrus to the Federation of Rocky Mountain States, Inc., board of directors.

He was born in Hammett where he owns and manages the Koch Lumber and Implement Company.

Jobs for youths hiked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's signature in Moscow on a supplemental appropriations bill has increased the number of federal summer jobs for youths to a record 1.2 million, government manpower officials said Wednesday.

But with unemployment among out-of-school teenagers already running more than 47 per cent, even the increased federal effort may leave hundreds of thousands of high school and college students without jobs during their summer vacation.

Labor officials said the recent upturn in the economy probably would not provide very many additional temporary summer jobs this year for the estimated 2.5 million high school and college students who will be looking for summer work.

In Moscow Friday, Nixon signed a $156.6 million supplemental appropriation for summer neighborhood Youth Corps jobs and for purchasing recreational equipment and financing field trips for inner city youths.

Hunt area woman to seek post

JEROME — Mrs. Anna Louise Robison, Hunt, announced today she will be a candidate for the Idaho House of Representatives in the Democratic primary election from District 21.

Mrs. Robison is the wife of T. C. Robison, Hunt area rancher. They moved to Idaho in 1949, when her husband was an entrepreneur on the second Hunt homestead, drawing. She has taught school for 28 years, including four years in the Eden-Hazelton District and 14 years in Jerome.

Mrs. Robison was born and reared in Taylorville, Ill., and graduated from Illinois State University in 1941. She attended graduate school at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, and at Portland, Ore., State College, and attended sessions at the College of Idaho and Boise State College.

She has also attended classes at the College of Southern Idaho and has completed a course in Idaho school law this past year from Idaho State University.

She said she is interested in the advancement of classroom teacher interests and said teachers have goals besides money. Good teachers are interested in the pupil in the classroom, she said. "The farmers and salaried persons cannot stand any more tax increases on property," she said. She pledged a careful evaluation of tax measures if she is elected.

TF woman to serve as judge

She will participate in the event, the largest queen contest in the United States, June 10 through 17 in Columbus, Ohio. More than 64 contestants will compete in the event with the selection based on riding ability, poise, personality and beauty.

Last year Mrs. Harney was one of the judge panel for the national competition in Las Vegas. The queen contest is held in conjunction with the national show and sale for Appaloosa breeders from throughout the United States.

Boomer Britches, Appaloosa stallion owned by the Harneys will be shown during the event.

Rupert studies sewage project

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A planned expansion of Magic Valley Food Company in Rupert would involve a $1 million city sewer expansion project, if the city were to handle the waste product of the plant.

The Rupert City Council discussed a proposed three-stage expansion of the city's sewage disposal plant during a special council meeting Wednesday night. The expansion would relieve the overloaded sewage plant and provide additional capacity for the industrial expansion, Mayor Wendell Johnson said.

Jim Voeller of the Pocetello engineering firm of Hamilton and Voeller, consulting engineers for the city of Rupert, explained the $1.3 million project, which would cost the city and its industries $320,000.

The remainder would be paid by state and federal funds.

Of the city's share, industries utilizing the expanded sewer system would be responsible for paying about $150,000, Voeller said, leaving about $170,000 to be provided by the city.

The entire funding setup would be contingent on federal and state funds, and on the ever-changing requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The council asked Voeller to contact officials of Magic Valley Foods to determine if the firm would be willing to pay its share of the project. No action was taken during Wednesday's council meeting.

The council also considered a proposed local improvement district for street improvements on six blocks of the Grandview subdivision in Rupert.

CSI signup

TWIN FALLS — Registration for summer classes at the College of Southern Idaho was reported steady today on the first day of sign-ups.

Director of Admissions Jerry Meyerhoeffer, said the school expects to enroll about 400 academic students for the summer session.

"We are just getting started," said Meyerhoeffer, "but it is pretty steady. In addition to the 400 academic students, we usually sign up 200 vocational students along with 200 special enrollments. We don't force anything out of the ordinary this summer. No real increase."

Students will continue registration through Friday and with formal classes scheduled to begin on Monday, June 5.

Expansion slated for Jerome route

JEROME — State Highway 79 between the Jerome city limits and the Jerome Interstate 80 exit will be expanded to a four-lane highway sometime after 1973.

Phil Marsh, Idaho State Highway Department planning and traffic engineer, Boise, said Wednesday the state highway board has approved an advanced right of way project for 1973.

He said the project will enable the state highway department to make a study to determine what right of way would be required in construction of the new road. The board approved the project so a right of way could be purchased. Special federal funds are available for such right-of-way projects, he said.

After the right of way is chosen, the money would be applied for. When plans are being drawn up for the right of way, public meetings will be held for project discussion.

Actual construction would come at a later date, after the right of way had been purchased, Marsh said. Funds for construction would probably be combination state and federal, channeled through the board.

Marsh said the board has not committed an exact year for construction of the new highway right of way.

Donald Cox, Boise, assistant highway engineer, said the two lanes starting from the Jerome city limits south past the Tupperware plant to the junction of Interstate 80 would be expanded to four lanes.

At present some survey work is being conducted, Cox said. Shortly after Tupperware announced the planned location of a plant in Jerome County, the Jerome Chamber of Commerce

Accreditation given Jerome

JEROME — The Jerome School District 261 received its annual state accreditation report Wednesday.

State Supt. of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking, in the report, states the Jerome High School has received accreditation for the school year 1972-73 with several recommendations.

The report recommended the school make certain adjustments to meet requirements outlined in the report, noting the instructional media center lacks recordings, study prints and cartels for individual study.

Inadequacies were noted the school science department, vocational-technical education, student restrooms, safety, faculty workroom, study sickroom facilities and the school does not offer art. It was also brought out in the report that one teacher is teaching 200 students per day and has no preparation period.

Comparison between the current report and last year's 1970-71 report follows.

In the 1970-71 report, equipment value per pupil was $250, this year that figure was set at $307. The library books per pupil last year were 10.72, the latest report shows an increase to 11.82 books per student. The teacher-pupil ratio in 1970-71 was 21.19 compared to the current rate of 18.42. The average class size last year was 24.06, the current figure is 20.76. Turnover per centage in 1970-71 was 21.36, the current rate dropped to 17.05.

Jerome School Supt. John Campbell said most of the recommendations in the report were covered by a previous report he had made to the Jerome School Board at its last meeting. He said plans are already being made to consider how Jerome Schools can comply with the recommendations at the earliest possible date.

Guard units in annual training

BOISE — Elve National Guard units from seven Magic Valley towns are undergoing annual tests administered by the 76th Maneuver Area Command, according to Lt. John Carlson, Twin Falls.

The Magic Valley units of the National Guard's 16th Armored Cavalry, headquartered in Twin Falls, include Troop A, Gooding and Buhl; Troop F, Jerome and Halley; Troop G, Burley; H Company, Rupert, and Headquarters and Headquarters Troop, Twin Falls.

About 500 men are members of these units. The maneuvers and tests are taking place at Gowen Field southwest of Boise.

The 11th Armored Cavalry is made up to three squadrons with a total of about 2400 men. The first squadron takes in the southwest portion of the state of Idaho, the second squadron the southeast portion of the state and the third squadron the entire state of Nevada.

Seminars set in area

TWIN FALLS — A Blood Banking seminar will be conducted by three registered medical technologists from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital at three Magic Valley hospitals.

Sponsored by the South-central Idaho Coordinating Council for Continuing Health Education, Mountain States Regional Medical program, the program will be presented at Gooding County Memorial Hospital at 2 p.m. today, at Sun Valley Hospital at 1 p.m. Tuesday and at Cassia Memorial Hospital at 2 p.m. June 8.

Merle Gall, Dorothy Pfefferle and Diana Canine will present the program.

Declo schools said in deplorable condition

DECLO — Educational facilities in Declo are in "deplorable condition," though several high school departments are praiseworthy, according to the Cassia County school evaluation.

The high school has a number of safety hazards which draw the warning that "We are concerned about the safety of students. This report will be submitted to the state Health Department and the state Labor Department."

On the positive side, a number of divisions, notably agriculture, are commended by the evaluation team. The teacher's "basic philosophy" of relating agricultural shop skills to "production agriculture" is being carried out "very well"; the classroom is "neat and well-cared-for"; tools and equipment are handled with care, and "indications are that a lot of good work goes out of the shop."

In summary, "The teacher has made an old worn-out patched-up building into a good learning center." In addition, the teacher "is enthusiastic in his work and has a good FFA program."

The instructor needs visual aids, a small laboratory for work in soils and crops, and "more current textbooks," as well as more power tools and a shop dressing room.

Most other divisions are under-staffed and under-equipped. Some courses, particularly arts and crafts and distributive education, are not offered regularly at Declo High School. The evaluators urge that these classes be taught as soon as possible. Distributive education is usually taught in alternate years, with no follow-up instruction for the introductory class.

'Fifth in a series'

English classes, including 12 sections to meet the four-year graduation requirement, "seem to be adequate," though the evaluators comment briefly that the classrooms "are located in close proximity to the library and each other, permitting sharing of materials — if there were any to share."

"Oddly enough, the evaluators, representing the state Department of Education, do not necessarily commend the school for following the state guidelines. "It appears that the English program follows the old traditional philosophy of the State Department. The philosophy and objectives should reflect the personality of the school involved."

As with Burley High School, the evaluators recommend drafting of a policy on foreign language instruction involving parents, teachers, students and administrators. A number of failings in the foreign language department at Declo High School are noted, including the fact that the district purchased "relatively new audio-lingual textbooks," but did not acquire the necessary tape recordings to implement the textbook instruction.

The program has been interrupted periodically when no languages were offered, presumably because few students indicated an interest in a particular language.

Finally, the evaluators note that "Program continuity suffered badly this year because the original teacher left in mid-semester and his replacement had to begin instruction all over again."

Striving to find a commendable aspect in the department, the evaluators say only that "Declo High School is commended for its efforts to provide foreign language instruction for its students."

In nearly all departments, the evaluators commend teachers for their continued enthusiasm and dedication to their students in the face of a lack of space and equipment.

The music program, such as it is, taught by one instructor who also teaches mathematics, is in very sad shape, according to the evaluators. "The classes are held in an old cinderblock building (a remodeled bus garage) which is located about 2 1/2 blocks from the secondary classroom unit. The building was found to be untidy, drafty, and run-down to the least. Open-air holes between the blocks in the wall were pointed out by the director. The room was badly in need of paint, and generally was depressing and unattractive to the eye."

The science program, by contrast, includes a "very well equipped laboratory" which is in "excellent order except for storage." The teacher is "well prepared and has a good rapport with students."

A mild criticism may be implied by the comment that the lab "shows evidence of either excellent housekeeping over the years, or it is a show place rather than a place for laboratory work by students."

A hazardous condition has developed with a lack of storage space for dangerous materials, the report cautions. "Some items such as white phosphorus are readily available to anyone entering the room at any time. Open shelves, which are of wood and unable to support the weight, are used for highly caustic and reactive substances. The chemicals appear to be on display, since chemistry is not taught this year. The school's library also appears to be sub-standard, with "materials and equipment" which "fall far below the minimum standards for both Idaho and the Northwest Accrediting Association," the evaluators report. In fact, by actual count the library "remains 1,000 volumes below the minimum requirement."

Guidance services at Declo High stir the deepest scorn of the evaluators, who comment that "guidance... seems to be a vocational information bureau only and this issuing from the dark recesses of a supply closet!"

The only commendations which can be developed are the "close proximity of counseling office to administrative offices and student records," and the "stealiness" of the counselor "to remain in such a position."

All in all, a single "commendation" results from the evaluation of Declo High School: "The Cassia County School District is commended for the learning center improvements that have been recently made."

A lengthy list of recommendations include "an immediate comprehensive study of the total plant in concert with a study of the total school district facilities." Personnel policies need an overhaul — four personnel left the district in less than one year.

Paul Legion holds rites

PAUL — The Paul American Legion held a tradition by observing Memorial Day Tuesday instead of Monday. An audience of about 150 attended the services in the Paul Cemetery.

Rev. Ted Meter of the Paul Congregational Church spoke briefly to the gathering.

A color guard and firing squad of Legionnaires conducted a brief ceremony. The firing squad fired three rounds in memory of war dead and taps was played by post buglers Kelly Kraus and Dennis Cole.

Legionnaire Otha McGill, who is state flag education chairman for the American Legion, said following the ceremony that federal law governing flag etiquette establishes May 30 as Memorial Day.

Coppage, he said, has taken no action to change the day other than establishing the last Monday in May as the Memorial Day holiday.

Most Memorial Day observances were held on Monday this year, but the Paul American Legion decided to stick to tradition by holding their ceremony on Tuesday.

McGill said the action by Congress did not change the original flag codes, making any other celebration of Memorial Day illegal.

Accepts old bell

Old Burley fire bell dedicated at ceremony

BURLEY — The old Burley Fire Bell, purchased sometime shortly after 1905 and now mounted on the City Hall lawn, was dedicated Tuesday as a Cassia County historical shrine.

The ceremony opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Andy Wilson, president of the Burley Exchange Club.

Featured speaker was Frank Redfield, early day fireman. Redfield reported the fire bell was purchased and installed in early 1900's and was in use when he arrived in Burley in 1911. The village fire shed was located south of the present Dan-OK building, in 1911. The hose cart was kept in the shed and the bell was also located there.

"The one big fire was Jan. 31, 1913, when the hotel burned. The fire was burning all night and the volunteer firemen only had two lines of firehose, and there just wasn't much we could do," Redfield recalled.

In 1918 the City Hall was built and the fire bell was installed on top of the building, where it remained until its removal in 1970.

"The bronze plaque on the historical shrine reads: 'The Burley Fire Bell was purchased sometime shortly after the founding of the town in 1905 and was used to announce a fire and its location by the number of rings. Its use was discontinued around 1920 with the advent of the siren and motorized fire equipment, but rang on special occasions until its removal from the City Building in 1970. The Burley Exchange Club is proud to present this memorial as a symbol of a historical period in Cassia County and to those who were instrumental in the development of the county and the City of Burley.' At the top of the plaque is the Exchange Club Emblem.

"Blaine Jones, chairman of the fire bell project for the Burley Exchange Club, spoke briefly. He said, 'We dedicate this old fire bell to those in the county as a historical shrine. At this time we turn over the old fire bell monument to the city of Burley for its care and keeping.'

Mayor Garis Robertson accepted the monument in behalf of the City of Burley.

"The City of Burley appreciates what the Burley Exchange Club has done in mounting the old fire bell on the city hall lawn. The city accepts the memorial shrine and invites residents to stop and view the old fire bell and read the plaque," said Mayor Robertson.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In his last message to the nation's law enforcement officers, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover warned that they were entering "the most critical" crime period of the year — when the population is on the move and cities bulge with tourists.

Hoover's message was published in the June edition of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin with a notation that it was written before his death May 2 at age 77. The magazine is distributed to the 72,000 law enforcement personnel and persons in the judicial system.

Hoover warned police of "the foreboding indices of summer crime and violence," but he said the next three months also would be a "time of opportunity when law enforcement can reinforce its image as a competent, dedicated, dynamic and responsive profession."

"Among the summer problems Hoover listed:

"The vacation period when waves of people by every mode of transportation are on the move; crowding of cities and resort areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department removed Wichita, Kan., and Charleston, S.C., Wednesday from the list of cities with unemployment of 6 per cent or more.

This reduced the number of the major metropolitan areas on the "substantial unemployment" list to 34, matching the low mark during the past 11 months recorded last July and again in January.

Only six cities had unemployment of 6 per cent or more when President Nixon took office and these dropped to 5 Muskogee Heights, Mich., had the highest rate in May with 13 per cent, followed by New Britain, Conn., with 12.7 per cent.

The number of smaller labor markets with unemployment of 6 per cent or more rose by three to 838. Cities removed from this list were Camden, and Mem. Ark., and Voshok and Galesville, N.C. Added were Centerville and Greensboro, Ala.; Montpelier, Idaho; Corrollton, Ky.; Ada, Minn.; Fittston-Lincoln, N.H.; and New Castle, Pa.

The department said Wichita's rate dropped to 5.5 per cent because of new aircraft manufacturing contracts. Wichita had been on the substantial unemployment list for two years.

Job gains in state and local government, construction and factories helped reduce Charleston's joblessness to 5.3 per cent.

Burley aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cong. Orval Hansen has announced a $60,835 grant from the Federal Aviation Administration to the city of Burley for expansion and improvement of the municipal airport.

Hansen said the federal funds will help finance purchase of eight acres of land to provide clear zones for runway 2-20, as well as rehabilitation of the runway including apron and a portion of a parallel taxiway.

Work at the airport will also include relocation and modifying threshold lights and marking runways 2-20 and 6-24.

Irish see hope in cease fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Maeve Mulcahy hummed to herself as she polished her front parlor windows.

"It must be the first time in years I feel like singing," she said with a smile.

Other faces, too, were smiling in the Lower Falls, a Roman Catholic ghetto controlled by the Official wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

It was Tuesday afternoon, less than 24 hours after the Official IRA had announced an "indefinite cease-fire" throughout Northern Ireland.

"Somehow things look different today," Mrs. Mulcahy said. "There seems to be a little hope at last."

The riot-battered Falls, with its ripped up paving stones, smashed windows, splintered doors and gutted bars, was one of the few areas in the city where the Officials maintained their strength against the incursions of the more militant Provisional wing of the IRA.

Here the cease-fire meant something, but it is a very tiny area bordered by the Clonard and Springfield where the Provisionals hold strength. So long as the Provisionals spurn the cease-fire, the Lower Falls will always be within earshot of violence.

Tuesday they were not worrying about that. When the street Mrs. Lucy Therman was preparing to take her small son for a walk to the shops.

"I'd almost forgotten what it was like to go for a stroll and not feel scared," she called to Mrs. Mulcahy.

Further along, a group of youths, long-haired, denim-clad, leamed amlessly against a gable end.

"Let's go to Ballymurphy," said one, "and see if there's anything stirring there."

An armored car poked its nose around the corner. Then it trundled slowly down the street. The youths stiffened, their faces tight. One of them reached down and picked up a brick.

Gooding lists planning aides

GOODING — The Gooding County Planning Commission has announced the appointment of six members to serve on the Wood River Resource Conservation and Development Project committee.

Dick Graves will be a member of the Cropland Irrigation, Range and Woodland committee headed by Dwight Osborn.

Peggy Chu will join the Economic, Housing, Community and Transportation committee chaired by Clayton Stewart.

Lawrence LaRue was appointed to the Science, Environment, Research and Education Committee chaired by Floyd O. Kisting.

Marjo Brown will be a member of the Social, Health, Sanitation and Beautification committee headed by Dean Purfee.

Jerome Demo meet

JEROME — The Jerome County Democratic Central Committee will meet at 9 p.m. Monday at Wood Cafe in Jerome, according to Mrs. Charles Parker.

The purpose of the meeting is to find nominees for local and state offices for District 23. "These offices must be filled and turned in to the state chairman of the Central Committee by June 7," Mrs. Parker said.

She said that the offices that need to be filled include county commissioner, county clerk and auditor, sheriff, and state representative.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — The Brazilian Air Force will block the takeoff of any hijacked aircraft from any airport in the nation, Air Minister Araripe Macedo said Wednesday in the wake of an unsuccessful attempt by a gunman to extort $254,000 by hijacking a Varig Airliner.

The hijacker, tentatively identified as Nelson Mesquita, killed himself Tuesday night when army troops stormed the plane that had been parked at Sao Paulo's Congonhas Airport for seven hours.

"It remains the principal established by the Brazilian air force to impede any aircraft that has been hijacked from taking off from any point on Brazilian soil," Macedo said in a statement on the incident.

Volunteers try to reach 5 million Californians

By CARL INGRAM
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—With the help of a computer, thousands of eager volunteers, and massive telephone banks, George S. McGovern hopes to reach all 5 million registered Democrats in California before the June 4 primary.

"If we hit 75.85 per cent, we're hitting far and away more than any candidate has dreamed of," Fred Ensteln, a McGovern aide, said of the super-sophisticated system.

"It's part of our people-to-people campaign," he added. "There is nothing Machiavellian about it."

The names of the state's registered Democrats were purchased from state and local election officials. An army of McGovern volunteers hopes to personally contact each one before Tuesday.

Each precinct walker—usually a student—is handed a computer printout of Democrat names and addresses, along with instructions on how to conduct a doorstep interview. The instructions include a "suggested conversation" with voters and a list of "do's and don'ts." For example, the volunteer is told to mark his sheet after he leaves the door, adding, "do not make it obvious to the voter that you have his name on a computer printout."

Democrats are being given McGovern campaign material and being asked what they think of him. The interviewer then discreetly notes whether the voter is pro McGovern, leaning toward him, undecided or opposed.

If the Democrat says he plans to vote for McGovern, the precinct worker suggests that he sign up as a volunteer. If he pledges to vote for McGovern, the precinct worker suggests that he sign up as a volunteer. If he

Principals hold key to future

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elementary school principals, low men on the administrative totem pole, hold the future of elementary education in their hands but there are those who hold that future is "seriously endangered."

The point is made in a nationwide study of principals and their schools, directed by the University of Oregon's Center for the Advanced Study of Educational Administration in Eugene. The center is supported in part by funds from the U.S. Office of Education.

"It must be decided whether the elementary school principal is supposed to be an expert in bringing about educational improvement or an expert in plant management and administrative details," the study team noted.

Nearly 300 principals were interviewed about their problems in a predetermined sample designed to give a geographical cross-section. The study team also looked at the differences between good schools and principals called "beacons of brilliance," and those with problems out of control, called "potholes of pestilence."

There were more potholes than beacons. All the beacons weren't in the best school districts. They were found in all types of communities "but not in sufficient numbers."

"Some characteristics of the principals tagged 'beacons of brilliance' are: They are charismatic leaders who instill enthusiasm in their teachers. The teaching staff each directs seems to work as a team because morale is high. Services in these schools extend beyond normal expectations.

"Teachers and principals, along with parents, constantly analyze the effectiveness of the schools in an attempt to devise new programs and strategies to overcome deficiencies. Programs of study are adaptable and emphasis is on instruction

Highway system behind schedule

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International

When construction of the Interstate Highway System began in 1956, American motorists were told it would be completed by 1972.

Well, it's 1972. And if you take an auto trip this summer, you'll find these still are aggravating gaps in the 42,500-mile network of high speed highways.

The Federal Highway Administration says only three-fourths of the projected system is now open for use.

And it figures another six years will be needed to complete it. So the new target date is 1978.

It can be very frustrating for a traveler who has been breezing along an interstate at a safe 70 miles an hour, to find himself suddenly diverted onto an old-fashioned, unsafe two-lane highway choked with traffic.

When it happens, a motorist-taxpayer is apt to ask with some acerbity: What's holding this blamed thing up? Why can't they go on and finish it?

There are two main reasons why the project is running six years behind schedule, according to the Federal Highway Administration.

One is money. Inflation has driven up costs sharply since construction began 16 years ago. The initial estimate of the

Moscow trade pact lack disappointing

By PHIL-NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 The major disappointment to emerge from the Moscow summit talks was the failure to reach a trade agreement, despite the fact that both sides eagerly sought it. A major villain in the piece obviously was the Vietnam War.
 President Nixon is under pressure from American agriculture and industry, both of which see the Soviet Union as a rich new market.
 Further pressure arises from the administration's own urgent attempts to expand the American economy.
 The Soviet Union is under increasing pressure from its own people for a vast increase in consumer goods and is eager to make use of American technology to help bring it about.
 Both have it within their power to fulfill the other's needs.
 On their side, the Soviets need American credits and restoration of their favored nation's status which would relieve the tariff on Soviet products shipped into the United States.
 Among the stumbling blocks are these:
 The continuing failure of the two sides to reach agreement on settlement of the Soviet Union's World War II debt of $10.8 billion under Lend-Lease.
 After reaching stalemate in 1960, negotiations were resumed in recent weeks, in time, it was hoped for agreement in advance of the summit. In 1960, the United States was asking $800 million in total settlement and the Soviets were offering $300 million. Although the two sides are reported closer to agreement it still has not been reached.
 Demands of U.S. maritime unions that American goods going to Russia go on American ships.
 The Export Control Act which bans shipment of so-called strategic goods to Communist countries. It comes up for renewal this month.
 Overshadowing the whole picture is the Vietnam War, plus the administration's reluctance to ask the Congress for a renewal of Russia's favored-nation status until the Lend-Lease debt is settled.
 Combined with the Soviet Union's continuing military aid to North Vietnam, it could mean very heavy going for any administration attempt to gain congressional approval of a relaxation of the rules.
 In favor, and possibly enough to tip the balance are other factors:
 The anxiety of American farmers to reduce a huge surplus of grains, their appetites whetted by a one-shot deal for the sale of $136 million in corn and feed grains to the Soviets last year and by a Russian's huge Khuma River truck building project 600 miles east of Moscow.

 The U.S. government has granted a billion dollars in export licenses permitting American firms to bid on various aspects of the project. It does not necessarily mean American firms will get the business, nor does it arrange credit terms.

Meet called

HAGERMAN — The annual spring meeting of the 71 Livestock Association has been called for June 9, No. Brackett, secretary, said today. The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. at the Three Creek School, he said.

Eagles 'not threat'

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Contrary to what ranchers claim, eagles are not a major threat to sheep and other small livestock, according to a U.S. Agriculture Department report.
 The loss from eagles is relatively insignificant in regard to total losses, a department spokesman said Tuesday. "The coyote is the major predator. The eagles even failed to rate an individual listing in the report of predator losses, being lumped together with other predators such as dogs and foxes.
 Numerous eagles have been found poisoned and shot in past months in the Wyoming area, even though it is against the law to kill the large birds. Eagles are listed on the endangered species list.

More hormone residue found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Residues of a controversial hormone are being found in cattle and sheep liver at nearly three times the 1971 rate, according to an Agriculture Department report.
 Department officials said a sampling program last week uncovered three more cases of livers contaminated with the growth-promoting synthetic hormone diethylstilbestrol (DES). The livers came from steers in California and Texas and from a sheep in Colorado.
 This brought the number of positive DES samples recorded this year to 22, or 1.4 per cent of the cattle and sheep tested in a random sample. Last year DES residues were found in only about 0.5 per cent of the animals tested.
 Federal regulations permit the use of the hormone but ban any detectable residue traces in food because DES has been shown capable of causing cancer when fed in large doses to laboratory animals.
 Officials said all the residues found have been in livers, with no hormone traces in red meat.
 The Agriculture Department and the Food and Drug Administration, at the beginning of this year, moved to cut residue findings by adopting stiffened new regulations for use of the growth stimulant in livestock feeds. Spokesmen said all of the three latest positive samples came from stock slaughtered with certificates attesting to compliance with the new use regulations.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Trading was relatively slow and prices were mixed Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off a fraction at 860.34 shortly before 1:16 p.m. It has remained in the area of Wednesday's closing figure much of the session. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was up 0.18 to 109.71.

Advanced declines fell to 576 among the 1,640 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover amounted to 9,500,000 shares, down from the 10,120,000 traded during the comparable period Wednesday.

Curtis-Wright was the most active issue, up 1/4 at 38 1/2. McDonnell Douglas was second by virtue of a block of 200,000 shares at 44 1/4. Malasulite Electrical was third, up 1/4 at 27 1/4.

Analysts said the new background offered little to sway the market. Profit taking, which sent it into a plunge Wednesday, appeared to have dried up. One analyst said a major news development was needed to move the market.

Electronics and computer issues showed some strength. Oils were mixed.

Steels, motors, chemicals, rails, airlines and aircrafts were mixed fractionally.

Brides Need Retraining

Grads who get their college degrees don't make good wives. Such is the contention of a scholar. A male chauvinist scholar, I think. These highly educated young ladies say he's no reason to compute for it. In a marriage, that's bad. Very bad. They must be retrained, these girl graduates, he says. Clearly, what's needed now by new husbands is a how-to manual on the retraining of bright brides.

"THERE ARE more men with finely shaped hands than women," says a professional photographer. Among his "bitching" clients, he says, he has had numerous assignments by jewelry firms to take pictures of finger rings. Not a problem at all to find a good-looking partner, he says, "but the fingers of too many women are either pudgy or clawlike." His credit dishwasher says:

A "DIDN'T" President Harry Truman once appear on that old TV show, "What's My Line?" as the mystery guest?

Q. "SAYS here the Secretary of State knows just about how many people are going to show up for any sizable demonstration. How?"

A. They poll the bus charter companies figure 40 passengers per bus.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you don't make any changes in the planned arrangements with other persons, this can be an unusually good day. Avoid the temptations to get involved with others in matters that do not concern you personally. Take care of your own affairs.

AURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to please those higher-ups you like and don't argue with co-workers. Make this a productive day. Engage in civic work that will add to present prestige. Be poised.

GLIMI (May 21 to June 21) Finding new methods of realizing your realistic dreams which are important to you, makes this a fine day. Don't take off on tangents. You need to save more money.

MOON (JULY 22 to Aug. 22) Take the suggestions from experts in your field of endeavor and then use them wisely to better your position in life. Show affection to loved one and get right results.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Instead of worrying about limitations you may have, get busy and do something constructive. You may find that civic work is not to your liking, but push through determinedly.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 24) You have work that requires a more modern system to get it done properly. Put a new plan to work that makes fellow workers cooperate more. Show that you are a capable person.

LIBRA (Sept. 25 to Oct. 25) Come to a better understanding with those you like. Be careful not to irritate a high-up. This is not a good day for entertaining. Make better plans for such in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 26 to Nov. 26) Don't confide your worries with others but make an attempt to eliminate them once and for all. Those new activities you have in mind are not for you. Remain steadfast in present setup.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 27 to Dec. 27) Do whatever will improve your surroundings and show that you are in a most cooperative mood. Avoid a person who gossips too much. A businesslike attitude is best now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 28 to Jan. 28) Become more practical as you can improve your position in life. A bicycle is safe and you could be blamed for something that is not your responsibility if you are not careful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 29 to Feb. 29) Improving your appearance before you go out for any important business appointments is wise. Try not to get into any arguments. Don't overcook. Remember, your health comes first.

PISCES (Feb. 30 to Mar. 30) Keep busy solving problems and you will get ahead. Avoid those who are envious of you and who like to criticize. Obtain the advice you need from experts, then put it to good use.

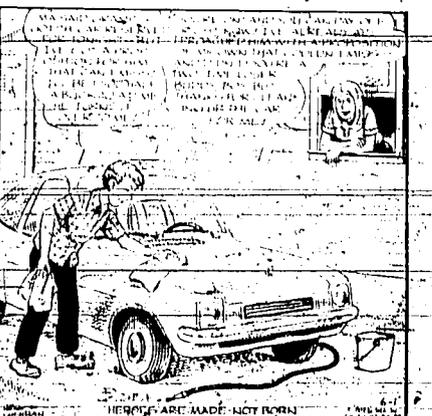

IF YOU'RE CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those charming and gregarious young people who attracts many friends and would do well in any field that deals with the public. He or she will be an entertainer, government or whatever. The health is likely to be delicate and long life without proper care should not be attempted. An artistic nature is very pronounced here.

The Stars impel, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.

Hansen seeks 3rd term to US House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said Wednesday he will be a candidate for election to a third term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Hansen, first elected to Congress from Idaho's Second District in 1960, serves on the House Committee on Education and Labor, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the House Administration Committee.

He said nominating petitions would be filed on his behalf with the Idaho Secretary of State's office Thursday.

Hansen said while he planned to wage an active campaign throughout the district, his first obligation would be performing duties of his office.

"This will always take priority over campaign activities," he said, pledging if re-elected he would "continue to do my best to serve Idaho and the nation and to maintain close contact with my constituents."

Hansen said his major goals for the next two years included protection and balanced use of Idaho's natural resources, expanded programs of rural development to strengthen Idaho's economic base, an increase in farm income and creation of a wider range of jobs, improved services to young children and older Americans, and a shift in power and responsibility from Washington to state and local governments.

BSC budget outlined

BOISE (UPI) — Dr. John Barnes, president of Boise State College, outlined a fiscal-year 1974 general fund budget of $8.2 million Wednesday, an increase of 10.5 per cent over the fiscal year 1973 appropriation.

Barnes, the final spokesman for Institutions of Higher Education in the board's four-day budget session, said the general fund request combined with local income would give the school $8.9 million.

Salaries and wages, an increase of 14.1 per cent; $50,000 for travel; an increase of 35.1 per cent; $1.8 million for other current expense, an increase of 14.0 per cent; and $410,072 for capital outlay, an increase of 30.0 per cent.

Earlier in the day, spokesman for the Idaho State University proposed a fiscal year 1974 general fund budget of $10.9 million, 9.07 per cent over the fiscal year 1973 appropriation of $10 million which begins July 1.

Other items were $75,436 for travel, an increase of 0.61 per cent; $2.5 million for other current expense, an increase of 0.89 per cent; and $550,816 for capital outlay, an increase of 6.25 per cent.

The board gave Barnes approval to begin a coeducational dormitory at BSC next fall in Morrison Hall. Male students will be housed in one wing of the building and female students in the other.

Barnes said guidelines for the co-educational dormitory, similar to those to be used at the University of Idaho, including maintenance of a "C" grade average, a limit to junior and senior students unless outstanding sophomores are recommended by faculty advisors, and a visitation policy identical to that used in non-coeducational facilities.

On a 4-3 vote, the board approved giving BSC head football coach Anthony J. Knap a raise from $16,000 to $18,000.

Arguments aired on water ration

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court took under advisement Wednesday oral arguments in an appeal testing the state's authority to ration water in times of water scarcity.

R. Keith Higginson, formerly state reclamation engineer and now director of the Department of Water Administration, and Daniel R. Musselman, watermaster for Water District 12-A, appealed from a Fourth District Court decision.

The district court, acting in a case brought by C. V. Rousse of Boise County, enjoined Higginson and Musselman from interfering with DeRousse's water right on Thorn Creek.

Another case, an appeal from Fifth District Court, involved a series of real estate transactions and an appeal of Harvey Iverson, Gooding, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Mull, Hagerman. The district court held in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Cooke, Battle Mountain, Nov., who sold Elk Creek property to the Mills with Iverson as realtor and escrow agent.

The district court held both Iverson and the Mulls had engaged in various misrepresentations concerning the title of property used as security by the Mulls in connection with the Elk Creek property purchase.

Gem act change advised by EPA

BOISE (UPI) — The director of the Idaho Air Pollution Control Commission said Wednesday the state has been advised that changes must be made in the state implementation act to bring it in compliance with the federal clean air act.

"We have been advised by the Federal environmental Protection Agency that certain changes must be made in our plan for it to be approvable by the EPA," Al Eiguren said. "For the most part, we feel these changes will represent improvements to our plan, and we have already initiated action to make many of the changes requested," he said.

The state act was recently adopted by the commission to bring Idaho into line with the new federal standards.

The commission will hold a final special meeting in Boise Friday to discuss the changes.

GOP seeks post

BOISE (UPI) — State Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, says she will seek another term in the senate from Legislative District 15.

Mrs. Klein said annual sessions of the legislature should be controlled to avoid undue pressures for increased spending. A prime need of the next legislature, she said, will be to provide additional state funding for education to alleviate the excessive property tax burden of home owners.

Gem Demo announces candidacy

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — Howard K. Fleming, a Mountain Home real estate broker, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state senator from Legislative District 22.

Fleming said the main objective of his campaign will be to help provide Idaho with a progressive Democratic legislature that will try to solve the problems of the state instead of playing politics with every thing that comes up as the last Republican-controlled legislature appeared to do.
