S. Viets capture Kontum

McGovern heavy favorite in Demo primary voting

SAIGON (UPI)—Two thousand South Vietnamese troops sent the last Communist holdouts scurrying out of Kontum city Tuesday, ending a 12-day North Vietnamese attempt to overrun the strategic Central Highlands provincial capital.

A government spokesman said 2,397 North Vietnamese troops died during the siege, including 166 in Tuesday's action at a tank base and a hospital.

They (the North Vietnamese) just started running when we moved in. We killed them as they were running away," a government spokesman said.

The South Vietnamese victory at Kontum ended the latest Communist drive to capture the city and its sister-capital, Pleiku, 30 miles to the south. The North Vietnamese wanted to overrun the two cities, then send troops eastward to the coast and cut South Vietnam in half.

In the air war, American fighter bombers flew 220 missions in North Vietnam, most of them against roads and railways near Vinh, the Communists' second largest port. Clearing skies in the south allowed more missions but the 207 strikes flown Monday were still only one-half the number flown during May.

The U.S. command said American jets also bombed a railroad yard halfway between the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and Haiphong, the country's largest port. Pilots also reported two direct hits on a bridge on Highway 1, 130 miles south of Hanoi.

In other developments:—U.S. warplanes reported destroying 110 Communist bunkers and foxholes around Phu My, a district county capital in Binh Dinh province along the central coast 280 miles north of Saigon. South Vietnamese ground troops drove the Communists out of the town one day earlier.

—North Vietnamese troops shot down two American helicopters near Phu My, wounding four Americans.

RAVENSCROFT joins GOP?

Vernon to quit Demos?

By CHARLOTTE BELL

JEROME — Veteran Democratic legislator Vernon Ravenscroft, 74, may be about to change his party.

Leon Aslett, chairman of the Jerome Democratic Central Committee, told party members Monday night that Ravenscroft would change parties.

Aslett quoted Ravenscroft as saying Ravenscroft would seek re-election to the Idaho House in District 23 as a Republican.

Ravenscroft today refused to comment on the report. He said only that he would make an announcement Wednesday night after petitions had been filed.

Several angry Jerome Democratic precinct committeemen suggested launching a recall election against Ravenscroft should he make the shift.

Others said the long-time Democrat may be seeking higher office that would be aided by membership in the Republican Party.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — George S. McGovern, dismissed as a fringe candidate only three months ago, today was heavily favored to win the crucial California primary. A solid victory could trigger a steamroller leading to McGovern's nomination as the Democratic presidential candidate.

McGovern was expected to defeat Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in a head-to-head collision between the two leading candidates for the nomination and possibly put to an end, for all time, the former vice president's hopes of becoming president.

McGovern also was favored to turn back Humphrey in the New Jersey and New Mexico presidential primaries and was unopposed in his home state of South Dakota.

At stake in the four primaries was a rich harvest of 415 delegates to the national convention, opening July 10 in Miami Beach, and McGovern was certain of adding to his leading total of 516.5 votes. It takes 1,509 to win the nomination.

The winner takes all 271 delegate votes out of California; New Jersey's 109 delegate votes are apportioned among the winners in congressional districts; in New Mexico, the top two finishers split the state's 18 delegate votes; and McGovern has South Dakota's 17 locked up.

Although the California primary was considered mostly a McGovern-Humphrey showdown, George C. Wallace has mounted a major write-in campaign.

Wallace, paralyzed from the waist down by the bullets of a would-be assassin, launched a massive media blitz and sent to California his wife, Cornelia, and his son, George Jr., to campaign on his behalf.

Two other candidates on the ballot, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, gave up their personal campaigns. Yorty endorsed Humphrey Monday and McCarthy threw his support to McGovern.

Also on the ballot are Rep. Shirley Chisholm, who has campaigned in California only sporadically; Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, once the favorite who pulled out of all primaries after disastrous defeats in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania; and New York Mayor John Lindsay, who bowed out after the Wisconsin primary.

President Nixon was assured of clinching the Republican presidential nomination by sweeping the primary.

Valley filing speeds

BOISE — Magic Valley legislative candidate filings are reported coming in at a stepped-up rate with four Idaho senate and five house hopefuls on file.

Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa said today most of the filings state-wide are from incumbents and in the Magic Valley area most are from Republicans.

Any vacancies which appear on the ballot of either party after filing deadline Wednesday at 5 p.m. can be filled by party certification after the Aug. 8 primary election, and secretary of state said.

State senate candidate filings from Magic Valley so far include John Barker, Republican, Buhl, district 24; Richard S. High, Twin Falls, Republican, district 25 and John Peavey, Rupert, Republican, district 21. All are incumbents. W. F. (Bill) Whitton, Democrat, Rupert, has filed in district 21.

Seeking house seats are Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls Republican, district 25; Earl Greenawalt, Jerome, Republican, district 23; Ernest A. Hale, Burley and Vard Chatburn, Albion, both Republicans, both district 26; and Clarence Parr, Burley, Democrat, district 26.

Rhodesia miners trapped

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — An underground explosion at the Wankie coal mine near Victoria Falls trapped 468 miners today and the death toll was feared to be high.

Hospital sources reported that some of the miners had managed to escape from one of the several entrances to the No. 2 colliery where the blast occurred at 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EDT).

A spokesman for the mine owners, Anglo-American Corp., said that there was "no further news" on the fate of the miners — 435 black Africans and 33 whites — working a full shift in the mine when the blast occurred.

A spokesman for the Wankie colliery company also said it had no reports on deaths but mine sources said they believed the toll would be high.

Wankie is 350 miles west of Salisbury. It is Rhodesia's major coal supplier and adjoins the Wankie game reserve near the Victoria Falls.

Governors 'reassured'

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sen. George McGovern, who tried to win support from southern and border state Democratic chief executives at the National Governors' Conference at a midnight meeting, flew back to the West Coast today to await results of the California presidential primary.

McGovern said he is convinced he dispelled uneasiness among some governors over his political views and delegate-hunting strategy.

He admitted there were some differences of opinion between him and the southern and border state governors "but we're going to continue working on them."

Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin, McGovern's chief supporter among the governors, said the South Dakota Democrat had made "a ten strike" in his meeting with the governors and "they seemed to feel reassured about him."

However, Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky told UPI, "I don't think he convinced any of the governors who have expressed concerns about his views. He was always giving us bureaucratic answers and hedging on us."

Ford said he had talked to "three or four" governors who are opposed to McGovern receiving their party's presidential nomination and "they still have the same concerns this morning that they had last night."

Gem policy allows CSI politics ban

TWIN FALLS — A member of the Idaho State Board of Education said Monday state board policy does not overrule a new College of Southern Idaho directive.

The directive prohibit CSI employees from holding certain public offices.

Joseph McCollum, Twin Falls, said the state board of education recently had only "reaffirmed" its long-standing policy of permitting faculty members and administrators to seek and hold public office.

He said that employees might have to take a leave of absence under the state policy, should their political activities interfere with academic duties.

McCollum said the policy statement is binding on the state universities but not binding on the College of Southern Idaho.

He said "certain members" of the state board had hoped that the state policy would "lead the way" to other institutions such as CSI to adopt similar policies.

McCollum said he was not one of those, even though he did vote for the state board policy.

Under a new CSI policy, faculty members may seek but not hold elective posts in which major time demands are made on the office holder.

Local elective offices, however, were exempted by the directive.

The issue has assumed importance to Twin Falls County Democrats who have urged at least two CSI faculty members or administrators to seek state office.

Under the directive, those persons would have to resign their CSI posts if they won office.

McCollum said the state's policy as intended to affirm the "constitutional right" of educators to seek office.

Richmond school order overturned

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today overturned a sweeping district court order that would have merged Richmond and the counties is the result of "indivisible state action, we conclude there is no constitutional violation and that, therefore, the district judge exceeded his power of intervention," the court said.

Merhige had directed the three school systems Jan. 10 to set up a metropolitan school district which would have 104,000 students. About 78,000 students would have been bused under the plan, about 10,000 more than the three localities now transport.

systems achieved.

"Because it is not established that the racial composition of the schools in the city of Richmond and the counties is the result of 'indivisible state action, we conclude there is no constitutional violation and that, therefore, the district judge exceeded his power of intervention," the court said.

More parent-teacher meetings ahead in TF

By HUGH DAVIS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls school trustees Monday night doubled the number of parent-teacher conferences to be held next year.

The proposal was one of two made by Faculty Advisory Committee. A second teacher proposal was rejected.

At the special meeting, barely a quorum of trustees voted to double the number of parent-teacher conferences.

In the current year, one such conference was held at the end of the fall term and apparently was well received by both parents and teachers.

The Faculty Advisory Committee asked the board to approve conferences to be held at the end of each of the fall and spring terms during school year 1972-73.

The trustees rejected a committee request to re-word a section of the personnel and administration handbook dealing with the times a teacher must be at school.

The proposed section reads: "Every teacher has the responsibility for being on duty for one hour more each day than the actual school day length. How this hour is divided between the time before school and time after school, should be determined by the principal and the staff of the unit involved."

The existing provision reads: "The teacher's school day is from one half hour prior to the beginning of school in the morning to one half hour after school in the afternoon. Teachers are expected to adhere to this schedule. If necessary to vary from it, the matter should be discussed with the principal of the school involved."

The three board members present said there was no apparent difference in the proposal and voted to let the existing section stand.

Vocational personnel meets in TF

TWIN FALLS — Between 600 and 700 vocational education people from Idaho are meeting this week at the College of Southern Idaho.

The week-long meeting includes personnel from all levels of vocational-technical training — high school, junior college and senior college — meeting together in their annual state meeting.

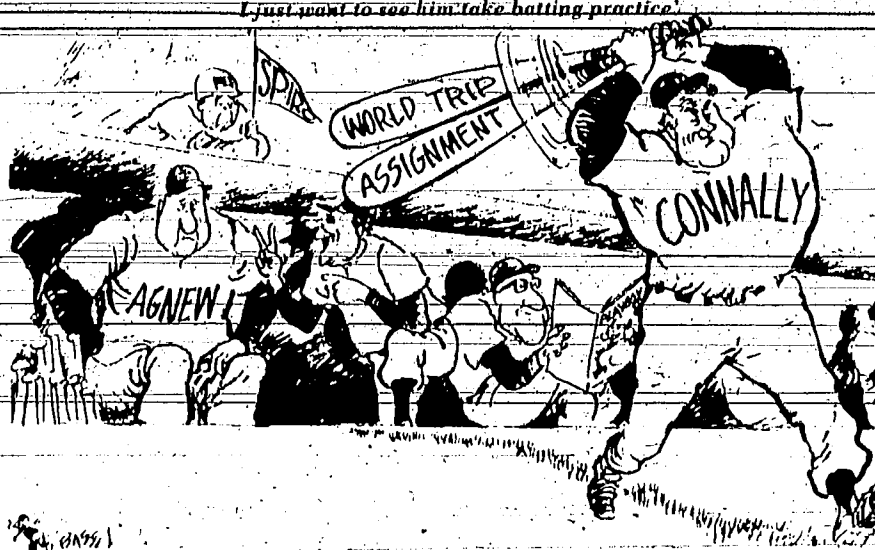

The Idaho group, affiliated with the American Vocational Association, is divided into eight groups — guidance counselors, industrial arts, agriculture education, distributive education, office occupations, home economics, trade industrial and health.

The various interest groups are meeting jointly once a day and are holding specialized meetings related to their fields of interest.

The meeting marks the first use of CSI's new vocational education classroom building on campus. Meetings are, however, being held elsewhere on campus and at the vocational facilities on Kimberly Road, Robert Stuart Junior High School and places related to interest fields.

Social activities being held in conjunction with the meeting included a picnic Monday night at the home of Holland Houffburg in Kimberly for state staff people and local school directors; a bus tour to Jackpot tonight; a family picnic at Shoshone Falls Wednesday evening; and a dinner at the gymnasium Thursday evening.

Philippines ask top-level talks

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippines has called for top-level talks with the United States to ascertain how long the U.S. intends to use its military bases in the Philippines and whether it is planning or has installed long-range missiles in the bases.

The call was made in a diplomatic note handed Monday by Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo to U.S. Ambassador Henry Byrond. President Ferdinand E. Marcos summoned Byrond to the Malacanang presidential palace, where the note was handed.

Marcos said later that the Philippine request was prompted by agreements forged between the U.S. and the Soviet Union in Moscow which he said "may trigger new alignments."

The note said the Philippines wanted information on how long the U.S. government intends to use its military bases in the Philippines and whether the U.S. has any intention of installing or has already established any long-range missiles in the bases.

Philippine newspapers speculated today the Philippines might seek either a shortening of the 25-year lease of U.S. military bases here or their outright abolition.

TF council OK's mobile home park

TWIN FALLS — City Council members approved five of six items on a zoning hearing agenda Monday night including plans for a new mobile home park on Filer Avenue and Martin Street.

Ross G. Ward, and his attorney, Lloyd Webb, met with the council to discuss the proposal. Webb said the owner has agreed to meet the city's 25-foot setback agreement with fencing and screening on all of the property although only one third of it is in the city.

Webb said it was hoped city sewer and water services would also be extended the full development. The city approved the mobile home park plans and following the hearing

7-11 store closes; another due pumps

TWIN FALLS — In a reconsideration vote, Twin Falls City Council members Monday night approved the addition of two self-service gasoline pumps at the 7-11 grocery store on Filer Avenue and Washington Street.

Two weeks ago the council turned down the request by deadlocking in a three to three tie vote on the matter.

Michael Gray moved for reconsideration Monday night and the motion passed by a four to three vote.

On voting on the gasoline pumps motion, however, only Ann Cover opposed the request.

Larry Huston, Boise, district manager for the 7-11 stores, told the council the firm is in trouble in Twin Falls. He said one of the four stores here, the one across the street from the Department of Employment, was closed Monday.

He said it is hoped this will cut operating expenses and encourage more business for the three other stores. Huston told the council several of the stores in Boise operate with gasoline sales and said such an addition would give the firm a "shot in the arm" for the Twin Falls operations.

He said the gasoline will sell for about two cents below the major stations because of the self service situation, but added the firm is using this as a means of attracting customers to the grocery stores and therefore will not engage in any underpricing contests. He said it will probably be in the "medium high" price range for self service gasoline sales.

Downtown parking regulations set

TWIN FALLS — An ordinance and maps designed to regulate the six downtown area off-street parking lots were adopted Monday night by the Twin Falls City Council.

The ordinance establishes parking spaces for metered control of public parking and sets out areas reserved for monthly rental on the various lots. It also provides a 15 mile per hour speed limit on all lots and provides for regulation and enforcement of parking.

City Manager Jean Milar told the council within the next few weeks all lots will be ready for public use, although some may not be marked and metered until a short time later.

Improvement of the lots is part of the second phase of the urban renewal and downtown improvement program of the city. Alley improvement is also part of utilities underground.

Alley paving will follow later this year.

An ordinance creating a downtown mall zone in Twin Falls and providing a description of boundaries was also approved. The zone covers the six major downtown blocks and is similar to a central commercial zone except for specific signing restrictions.

Milar was authorized to call for bids on a hydraulic sewer cleaning machine, to be opened July 14. Milar said the equipment would be able to handle about five times the work load of the present sewer rodding equipment and with the expanding subdivisions of the city would be in operation most of the time.

Milar said six firms manufacture the hydraulic cleaners, one of which has a representative living in Twin Falls.

Chief resigns post

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Chief of police George B. Lenz said today he will resign from his job in order to accept another position.

Lenz said he will submit his resignation to the city council Wednesday night and begin work July 1 as the regional coordinator for the Alcohol Safety Countermeasures Program.

The Countermeasures program is designed to reduce the number of drinking drivers on Idaho highways, and Lenz would be coordinator for Idaho ten northern counties.

Lenz has been with the police department for 25 years and the police chief for the past nine years.

Suspect arrested

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A suspect who demanded $50,000 on the threat of blowing up a plush casino was arrested when he arrived to pick up the payoff under a big rock east of here, police reported Monday.

The suspect was identified as Aton Souza, 50, Halfway, Ore. Chief security officer at the casino, Chuck Kruse, followed telephone directions on delivering the money. He left a bag under the rock as demanded.

The alleged extortionist, however, put two surprises. Not only was he arrested after he removed the bag, but inside was only a grilled cheese sandwich and three candy bars.

Police said a man had earlier telephoned Harrah's Club Sunday and warned that a bomb had been planted and would be set off by remote control unless the ransom was paid.

TWIN FALLS — Nominating petitions were filed Monday by two incumbent county commissioners, both Republicans. William L. (Bill) Chancey, chairman of the Twin Falls County Board of Commissioners, filed his petition seeking re-nomination on the Republican ticket from the second district.

Merle F. Leonard, Filer, filed for re-nomination as a Republican for the first district. He is currently serving his first term of office while Chancey has been on the board six years, including his current term.

TF parent-teacher meetings doubled

In other business, trustees were asked by Mrs. Frankie Hale to endorse a committee to investigate temporary measures to reduce the classroom loads in elementary schools.

Mrs. Hale said concerned parents and teachers are seeking immediate methods of reducing class size. She said the committee would work up ideas during the interim while a larger citizens' committee considered long-range district plans.

The board gave tentative approval and turned organization of the committee over to Mrs. Hale, who will consult with Assistant Supt. Camden Meyer.

Mrs. Hale said teachers had asked a 20-pupil classroom load in the first and second grades and a 25-student maximum in the third through the sixth grade.

She said Harrison School classrooms in the first two grades average 23 students per class and the next four grades average 33 pupils in each room.

The study committee is to find ways to alleviate class loads with existing moneys and school facilities.

The trustees postponed discussion of two measures; one concerning personal leave of teachers and the other a decision on whether or not to continue present policy on Blue Cross health insurance.

Board vice chairman Dr. Howard Honk said the majority of the board should be present before such major policy decisions are reached.

The board also hired six new teachers and extended retirement date for 11 other personnel.

No drugs reported in tests

PITTSBURGH — All urine samples taken from the three horses who died in the district High School Rodeo last week have been found free of any drug residue.

Tom Shouse, fair manager, said he received word Monday from the Lucks Testing Laboratories, Inc., Seattle, where samples were sent for analysis.

The report returned Monday said the samples were tested for residues in conformance with procedures employed by the official racing chemists.

"All samples were free of drug residue," the report stated. It was signed by Francis P. Owens.

Shouse said the tests were made to clear the rodeo producer and rodeo officials of any suspicion in the matter after speculation by some persons regarding the deaths.

He said the unfortunate situation was apparently the result of new green rodeo stock, unfamiliar with the type of fences used in Filer and therefore unable to see them and the poor light in the early evening hours. Two of the horses died of broken necks and the other of a ruptured blood vessel in the head, Shouse said.

Edwards seeking new term

TWIN FALLS — Gloyce Edwards, incumbent Twin Falls County Coroner, has filed his nominating petition on the Republican ticket.

Edwards is the only coroner candidate to file on either ticket at this time.

Helen Porterfield, deputy county recorder, said petitions are coming in slowly in view of the fact 5 p.m. Wednesday is the deadline. A number of precinct committees have filed but few candidates for other offices.

Only one race has developed in Twin Falls County. Incumbent Sheriff Paul Corder, Republican, will be opposed for his party's nomination by a former deputy, Ronald Goodman.

Dinah Shipre's five-a-week morning program, "Dinah's Place," has been renewed for another 26 weeks, insuring its appearance on NBC through January, 1973.

Is Justice Blind?

Our social order depends upon respect for law, despite permissive court decisions that seem more concerned with the rights of the criminal than those of law abiding citizens to be secure in their person and property, despite a handful of notorious defense attorneys who would make a mockery of the courts, and the wanton murder of policemen, who hold the first line of defense against anarchy.

That respect is not enhanced by some recent instances of good police work set at naught by the new approach to justice. For example, two San Francisco policemen arrived in time to see a man holding bank employees at gun point and a bag with $15,492.00 loot. They arrested and subdued him in a struggle. A federal commissioner released him on his own recognizance and he skipped town.

An alert policeman in Georgia caught the man on a routine traffic complaint and he was returned for trial.

He was willing to plead guilty, having been caught red-handed, but the judge advised him not to. During jury selection, the judge asked prospective jurors whether they understood the social pressures on the black man and could "give this black man a fair trial."

The defense used all its peremptory challenges but when the prosecutor used just one, to remove a black woman, the judge reprimanded him.

Testimony brought out that the man came into the bank wearing coveralls over a mailman's jacket, so that he could quickly change into an innocent postman. The defense attorney argued his client was innocent because of "diminished capacity" caused by social pressures, that is, he was black, out of work, and needed money. The jury found him innocent.

Other charges remained. Possession of marijuana, found in his pocket at the robbery scene, brought a suspended sentence of 90 days and a year's probation, and the same municipal judge dismissed a charge of resisting arrest "in the interests of justice."

On a charge of interstate flight to avoid prosecution, the federal judge who heard the robbery trial, gave the defendant a suspended sentence and five years probation. He walked out a free man, pleased if puzzled. Puzzled and exasperated were the policemen who risked their lives to nab him in the act.

WASHINGTON — As California Democrats go to the polls today, I suspect George McGovern's biggest problem nationally was summed up by the male voice on the long-distance line from Phoenix, Ariz., which asked, "Am I supposed to buy a used car from McGovern?"

The man who owns the voice is a stranger. He explained he had called because although he admired McGovern "as an honest man," he was disturbed by the South Dakota "vagueness" concerning the cost of his much-discussed $1,000-a-year-for-everybody welfare plan.

"It seems to me," said the voice, "that a man who is asking me to vote for him for President should be able to tell me how expensive a President he's going to be. The Presidency is the biggest job in the world, and the least we can expect is that a Presidential candidate will furnish facts and figures about his plans. Maybe McGovern is right about his welfare program, but I still want to know how much it will cost."

Unfortunately for McGovern, the answer to that question is not now available and will not be unless McGovern is elected President. The cost of his welfare revolution depends on the South Dakota's ability to sell Congress and the public on his massive reform of the tax structure. And although McGovern has moved some mountains in reaching his present front-running position for the Democratic nomination, he must know that Congress often cruelly disposes of even the most progressive programs a President proposes; he's a member of that Congress.

Thus, although a lot of people would willingly buy a used car from George McGovern, they would surely think twice about the transaction if McGovern were unable to put a final price tag on that car until sometime in the future.

In the thicket of the dreadful welfare problem — and to a lesser extent in his proposal to trim some $32-billion from the defense budget — McGovern is offering a warmed-over version of Sen. Ed Muskie's "politics of trust." He is saying, "Trust me. Trust my reputation for candor. Somehow I'll manage things so that the poor are taken care of without bankrupting the 'unpoor'."

Well, McGovern is indeed a man of candor, honesty and decency, with that proper concern for the underdog that has always been an American hallmark. But he is still asking for a great deal of trust.

In particular, McGovern is asking great trust from the middle-income American who earns more than $12,000 a year. The American who pays his own way and educates his own children. He has said that Americans will pay more taxes, but not much more. But people have learned to be suspicious of politicians' grandiose plans. They have discovered over the past 50 years that those plans always cost more than advertised and that the middle-income taxpayer will not tax himself extra to get it in the end.

McGovern has denied Hubert H. Humphrey's charge that the McGovern welfare program an unmarried secretary making $8,000 a year would pay $567 more in taxes. But Humphrey's charge is out there on the record, and McGovern's hard luck is that he cannot prove, with facts and figures, that the charge is false. He can only say, "Trust me."

Whatever happens in California today, the controversy over McGovern's welfare program will have an impact on his campaign for the Presidency. McGovern is said to be the candidate of the young, but most of his articulate supporters in the youth bloc are college or college-educated people. The five out of seven young voters who do not attend any college might look carefully and even fearfully at the additional tax burden Humphrey says would fall on the $8,000-a-year secretary. Those voters get no checks from Daddy.

In a way it is a sad thing, because McGovern has responded to a demand for change that has come not only from youthful zealots, the poor and the minorities, but from substantial segments of other voters across the land. His amazing showing in the primaries proves that. But the voice from Phoenix was right; the great masses of the electorate still want to know how a given candidate's platform will affect their daily lives and pocketbooks.

"Then We Send It to Miami?"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Takes Snuff

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a girl, 16, and use snuff three times a day every day. It is the powdered, mentholated type that can be found in a lot of boutiques, and comes in various flavors.

I read in an encyclopedia that snuff damages the nerve endings in your nose. Is that all it can do to you? What are the long-term effects of using snuff?

It's practically a habit with me now. I don't want to quit snuff because it takes the place of cigarettes. — D. B.

Well, this is a switch as far as teenage habits are concerned, although I've had letters from older folks, who having read about snuff, have switched to snuff.

I don't know how positive I can be in answering you, except to say that habitual use of snuff can be harmful, on the basis of such studies as has been made. For example, cancer of the nasal sinus has been reported in Africa, tribes using certain types of snuff in the mouth in others. It is thought that these are less likely with the commercially-prepared snuff used today.

However, the membranes of the nose can be affected. The tiny hair-like structures called cilia can be thrown out of commission, with the membranes undergoing atrophy (shrinkage). This can develop into atrophic rhinitis, which can be a miserable state involving foul odor, loss of sense of smell, and unpleasant crusting. Exactly how big a risk these possibilities are, I am not prepared to say, but I presume that if the use of snuff continues to increase, sooner or later we'll have more precise answers. Wish I had the answers for you now, but I don't.

However, taking risks of snuff doesn't mean that "cigarette smoking is necessarily the alternative. How about taking to chewing gum or something?"

Someday maybe some brilliant psychologist may figure out why the human race spends so much of its time trying to acquire some bad habit, "hoping for a bad habit without any risks."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have never seen anything in your column about "fungus on the lungs." Is it serious? Would you be concerned if you were over 80 and had it? What foods should you eat or not eat? — Mrs. M. B. O.

I've written at various times about histoplasmosis, which is a fungus that attacks the lungs, and is quite common — much more common than used to be realized — in some of the river valleys of the mid-continent.

If I had it and was suffering no particular symptoms, I wouldn't worry about it; if the fungus began spreading, then I would, because it can become a very serious disease. In the majority of cases, patients think they've had a mild flu, and don't realize what they really had unless tests happen to disclose it sometime later.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

We Americans

Before the year ends, according to one estimate, one of every 64 Americans will have visited foreign countries. The traveling American is more footloose than ever. A record exodus will soon be in full swing.

More than a million Americans will descend upon London, Paris, Rome, and other European capitals. Other hundreds of thousands are heading for wherever tourists head for.

Most Americans don't need special lures. For them the thought of sightseeing in venerable and storied lands is sufficient.

And when they come home, there'll be the chance to get even with the neighbors who made them look at the snapshots and movies of their trips abroad.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

Breathing Space

MOSCOW — The surprisingly mild Soviet language on Vietnam in the May 29 summit communiqué is one more example of Moscow's express desire to pull in its horns and move toward a new "cooperation" with the U.S. of uncertain duration.

They didn't demand an immediate halt to the bombing, a U.S. official murmured on Monday as he reread the two spare sentences in the communiqué defining Moscow's Vietnam position.

Instead, the Soviet position was summed up in the benignly inactive phrase "stands for a cessation of bombings." Nor was there any reference to the fact that Soviet ships carrying military aid to North Vietnam are being by American mines.

Although there is reason to ask how long Moscow really intends to stick to the new and unexplored road of super-power cooperation, the delicate treatment of Vietnam is perceived here as compelling evidence that the Soviet Union regards the new road as essential to give it a breathing spell after the most far-flung diplomatic adventure ever dreamed of in the Kremlin.

Moreover, the "mutually advantageous cooperation" promised in the Moscow communiqué ratifies the Brezhnev doctrine ruling out Western interference in Moscow's Eastern European empire. The failure of the West to intervene in uprisings against Communist rule in East Berlin (1953), Hungary and Poland (1956), Czechoslovakia (1968) and, in far milder form, Poland (1970) had established a status quo for Moscow's rule, but the summit conference gives that status quo a gleaming coat of new respectability.

Of more importance, however, is how Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev plans to use the breathing space in areas so remote from Moscow as the Middle East, South Asia, Chile, Cuba and Africa. There are increasing signs that the Kremlin is worried about the present value of some of its coalition vestments.

In the Arab-Israeli struggle, for example, the Soviet policy of encouraging a more or less permanent "controlled tension" throughout the Middle East could quickly produce too much tension with too little control. The Kremlin had been on a treaty-signing binge, that threatened a nasty hangover, headed by its recent treaties of cooperation and arms supply with both Egypt and Iraq.

Likewise, in South Asia Moscow's treaty with India could prove troublesome, particularly in view of suspicions that the Kremlin is now disenchanted with President Mujibur Rahman, who owes much to the Russians for his newly independent nation of Bangladesh.

PAUL HARVEY

About Castro

Castro is seeing the world in vice versa.

Dictators don't stray from home base unless they feel very secure. This is the second time in six months he has made a lengthy trip abroad.

And everywhere he pledges himself anew to "world revolution."

If you are now accepting the presence of a Communist dictatorship 90 miles from Florida — imagining it to be a live-and-let-live relationship — here's a surprise for you.

Castro is now bombing American cities. Now.

The tutors of our home-front terrorists were trained in Cuba. Now don't jump to the conclusion that every protester is a Communist. Nor is all our domestic discord traceable to or blamable on Communists.

If every Communist in the world dropped dead tonight, tomorrow morning we'd still have a devalued dollar, misuse of drugs, race restrictions, rampant crime, undrinkable water and unbearable air — and many too many lazy Americans.

But Communists always gravitate toward any sore spot and sprinkle salt on it. They want to convert the world to their godless religion — with altogether as much evangelical fervor as our missionaries have tried in efforts to convert them.

But with a godless religion, unrestrained by moral disciplines, anything goes. No holds barred; anybody is expendable for the cause of communism.

So while Castro is galavanting around seeking personal recognition as a world leader giving his "ism," a degree of diplomatic respectability — back in Cuba 43 separate camps are training troublemakers. Presently, at those schools for subversion and sabotage, 10,000 terrorists are in training. They are from Asia, Africa, the Middle East — and the Americas.

Palestinian guerrillas who skyjacked those international jetliners were graduates from Castro schools.

And most of 500 young Americans who went to Cuba ostensibly to help harvest sugar cane remained to learn revolutionary warfare in a camp 30 miles east of Havana.

One of those "cane cutters," a Miss Julie Nichaman, is quoted in Castro's military journal saying, "American youths in Cuba have a new determination to bring back to our brothers and sisters in the States — a dedication to destroy the imperialist monster from within."

Ralph Featherstone and William Payne, black terrorists killed in Maryland when their homemade bomb exploded prematurely, had been trained in Cuba.

Among those arrested during public and campus demonstration over almost any issue are individuals trained in Cuba and pledged to "export revolution."

Between the bombers and us stands the lawman.

No wonder they're out to get him any way they can.

Those Were The Days

Remember when hamburger good hamburger was 15 cents a pound? Remember when first grade toilet tissue was three rolls for 13 cents? Remember when Folger's coffee was 29 cents a pound?

Well, Mrs. Mary E. Bolton of 535 Bolton St. in Twin Falls does. She wrote to Mr. Spectator saying she was going through some boxes in a storage room and found, among other things, a copy of an advertisement which she and her husband had inserted in the Dumas, Texas newspaper in 1936. They ran a combination grocery store and meat market at that place for 21 years. Dumas is about 40 miles north of Amarillo.

She sent along a copy of the advertisement for our edification — and we will pass some of the more interesting highlights along to you folks. The advertisement said that "your money talks here" and added that "we sell for cash so we sell for less."

They offered three large size cans of milk for 23 cents, or 24 pounds of white flour for 98 cents, or three pounds of Griddle King pancake flour for 21 cents, or five pounds of apples for 19 cents, or three No. 1 cans of tomatoes for 17 cents, or two No. 1 cans of peas for 25 cents, or chuck roast at 15 cents a pound, or peanut butter in bulk for 16 cents a pound, or No. 1 potatoes at 20 cents for 10 pounds.

We just thought you might be interested in what was going on in Dumas, Texas just 36 years ago.

US war effort said to cost extra $5 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird believes that while Vietnamization is "astonishingly successful," the U.S. war effort may cost an extra $5 billion if the Communists continue their offensive until the end of the year.

Laird was scheduled to testify again today before executive sessions of the Senate and House Armed Services committees.

Laird's characterization of the administration's program for turning over the war to the South Vietnamese drew an incredulous and negative response from a longtime and

Pentagon cut called surrender

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says Sen. George S. McGovern's proposed $30 billion cut in Pentagon spending would be tantamount to "surrender."

Laird responded to questioning Monday in his appearance before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee. When asked to comment on McGovern's proposal made in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination, Laird replied: "Congress would have to direct that the Defense Department spend $1 billion on white flags so we could run them up all over the world because the result would be surrender."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the subcommittee chairman, said that Laird should "document this terribly serious charge."

The secretary said he would provide Proxmire with a Pentagon analysis.

S. Dakota selects nominee

By JAMES R. QUINN
PIERRE, S.D. (UPI) — South Dakota voters, with a strictly no-contest presidential primary, turned their attention today to selecting nominees for the seat long held by Republican Sen. Karl Mundt.

The 3-voter turnout was expected to be heavy. Secretary of State Alma Larson said 150,000 persons were expected to vote.

Mundt, who suffered a stroke in December, 1969 and has been generally inactive since, has held the Senate post for the past 24 years. It will be the first time since 1938 that he has not stood for election either for a House or a Senate seat.

President Nixon and Sen. George S. McGovern, South Dakota's home-grown Democratic presidential candidate, both were unopposed in the presidential primaries. McGovern thus picks up 17 delegates and the President 14.

Five Republicans were fighting for the GOP nomination in the Senate race, and it appeared highly possible that the primary might not settle the issue.

If the winning candidate does not collect 35 per cent of the vote, the state GOP convention later this month will decide the winner from the top two vote-getters.

influential supporter of U.S. policy in Indochina.

"Now, I was astonished at that statement," Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said about Laird's testimony during a Capitol Hill hearing Monday.

"North Vietnam doesn't have an air force, it doesn't have a U.S. Air Force or Navy trying to assist them with their invasion," said Mahon. "So why is it that after all these years, and all these billions of dollars and all the help we've given them, why can't they (South Vietnam) be equal in this contest with North Vietnam

Congress urged to cut spending, drop tax plan

By GENE BERNHARDT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration wants Congress to give up plans to try to overhaul the tax structure this year and concentrate instead on reducing government spending.

Spokesmen for President Nixon said Monday a lid on spending would blunt inflation, reduce unemployment and — perhaps — bring an end to government economic controls.

Charles E. Walker, acting treasury secretary, and George P. Shultz, U.S. budget director who has been nominated by Nixon to be the new treasury secretary, outlined administration economic policy in an appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee took up an administration request for an increase in the national debt without the help of the U.S. Air Force and Navy."

Laird, near the end of a long day of testimony in both the Senate and House, had two basic explanations:

The United States did not start early enough impressing the South Vietnamese that it would be their war to fight. It was not until March 1969, shortly after the inauguration of President Nixon, that U.S. officials notified Saigon that its forces would be equipped and trained to handle both the guerrilla threat from the Viet Cong and the conventional warfare potential of North Vietnam.

Retention of mail rate hike urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Rate Commission wants $1.37 billion in temporary rate increases which mail users have been paying since May 16, 1971, to become permanent.

Commissioners recommended Monday that the Postal Service retain the 8-cent first class stamp, the 11-cent air mail stamp and the 6-cent post card. It asked only slightly lower rates for second class magazine and newspaper matters and third class mail — primarily advertising.

The permanent rates could be finalized in 39 days.

The five-member commission, mindful of criticism it said Monday he did not favor this approach, and that he wants his measure to stand on its own.

Walker and Shultz said Congress should agree with Nixon on a binding law to limit spending in the next fiscal year that starts July 1, to $246.3 billion. The spending rate for the current fiscal year is already at $250 billion they noted, and not all the bills are in.

Asked if the spending lid were enacted whether wage and price controls could be lifted, Shultz said: "We are as anxious as anyone else to end the controls but we cannot say definitely when we will because of the damaging speculation that would set in and defeat all the successes we've had so far in cutting back inflation."

Refunds for car owners

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts car owners will receive an estimated $30 million to $40 million in refunds from auto insurance companies under a court decision that was a victory for the "no fault" concept.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court, basing its decision on an excess profits statute, ruled Monday insurance companies would have to reduce their 1972 compulsory auto insurance rates by 27.6 per cent and refund the difference to the insured.

"It is an absolutely tremendous victory for people," said Insurance Commissioner John G. Ryan, whose decision to cut the rates was challenged in court by the industry. The decision by the court means a sharing of the success of no-fault for all the people."

Ryan said refunds of between $30 million and $40 million will be distributed to drivers "in the next month."

Protection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a 10 to 5 vote, the House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill giving the interior secretary power to enforce laws prohibiting the shooting from aircraft of eagles, wolves and other forms of wildlife.

The measure amends a 1971 law that did not designate an enforcement agency. This automatically put enforcement in the hands of the FBI. The amendment would allow the interior secretary to make any regulations necessary to enforce the law, which prohibits the killing or capture of any bird, fish or animal from a plane.

Lebanon reports 3 Israeli flights

By United Press International
Lebanon complained to the United Nations that Israeli warplanes overflew its territory three times Monday and accused the Israeli government of a stepped-up campaign of vilification and persistent threats.

Lebanon and the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), both previously denied that Japanese gunmen who carried out the massacre at Lod International Airport in Tel Aviv last week were trained in Lebanon.

Israel has threatened reprisals against Lebanon charging the gunmen hired by the Arab guerrillas came from across the Lebanese border.

Lebanese Ambassador Edouard Ghorri complained to the U.N. Security Council Monday night of the alleged air-space violations.

"Israel has intensified her violations of Lebanese air space to extend over wider areas of our territory," Ghorri said. "This comes at a time when Israel is continuing her campaign of vilification and persistent threats against Lebanon."

The Israeli parliament Monday night asserted what it termed "Israel's right to act against guerrilla organizations and their accomplices."

"There is nothing easier for Israel than to paralyze air communications, if indeed countries like Lebanon and Egypt should try, by means of or with the help of terrorists, to paralyze our lines of communication," said Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan in a radio interview on the fifth anniversary of the outbreak of the 1967 Middle East war.

An Arab guerrilla ambush on the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights that killed an Israeli soldier, and wounded another was the only serious incident that occurred on the anniversary.

Despite the Lod airport shooting attack, Dayan said the guerrillas have been "a resounding failure."

Dayan said the attack nevertheless must lead Israel "to reconsider the death penalty for terrorists." Israel has abolished capital punishment.

In a speech to war veterans in Cairo, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said his country will accept no limitation on its weapons imports. He said he made that clear to Soviet leaders last April, they would know how Egypt stood when they talked to President Nixon at the recent Moscow summit.

Lon Nol

Nol wins Cambodia top spot

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The Cambodian government announced today that incumbent President Lon Nol easily won the country's first presidential election with more than 60 percent of the vote.

The president's two opponents, former National Assembly Chairman Tan Tam and former law school dean Keo An, polled 21.69 per cent and 17.24 per cent respectively in the Sunday balloting, according to the unofficial countryside count announced over national radio.

Counting of the vote Monday was marred when Communists killed six persons, three of them children, in a rocket attack on the Cambodian Defense Ministry in Phnom Penh and a recoilless rifle shelling of a residential neighborhood only 70 yards from Lon Nol's house.

The announcement said results would be made official Wednesday.

'Causes' given hijack ransom

MIAMI (UPI)—Frederick W. Hahneman reportedly told an FBI agent he is strongly anti-Communist, but that he channeled $303,000 ransom from an Eastern Air Lines hijacking through a Communist bank to finance causes he backs in ransom money, parachutes, jumping gear and survival equipment in Washington and bailed out over Honduras.

Hahneman did not have the money when he surrendered to U.S. embassy officials in Honduras Saturday.

Bliss, who interviewed Hahneman while returning him to Miami, said Hahneman told him he landed near the town of Tela, Honduras, "took off all his gear, sat down and hid a smoke and waited until daylight."

"He said that by Monday, the money was out of his hands," Bliss said.

He said Hahneman never told him what he did with the money, except that "he said it would go to the bank of Communist China in Hong Kong."

"He said it would eventually wind up in the hands of the people with whom he was working for causes in Central and South America," Bliss said. He said Hahneman told him the money would be channeled to the unidentified "causes" back through the United States.

Wiretap ruling hit

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III spoke out Monday against a federal judge's recent decision that the wiretapping provision of the 1968 Omnibus Safe Streets and Crime Control Act is unconstitutional.

Gray, who made a quick tour of FBI offices in Philadelphia, Newark, N.J., and Providence,

R.I., told newsmen in Philadelphia and Newark that U.S. District Judge Joseph S. Lord's decision last Thursday "may have reached an erroneous result."

The agency head said the decision could deprive the FBI of an important tool in fighting organized crime.

Ford delays '73's

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. is delaying the introduction of its 1973 models by one week to be sure they meet federal antipollution standards.

But to avoid laying off 170,000 workers, the company will continue building 1972 models during that week.

Henry Ford II, board chairman of the nation's second largest auto company, and Lee A. Iacocca, president, announced Monday they were making the change "to keep our employees at work building vehicles that our dealers can sell."

They said Ford would build an additional 40,000 1972 model cars and 65,000 trucks.

The 1973 model cars will be introduced Sept. 22. The company had planned to put them on public sale Sept. 15.

Until last week, Ford was prohibited from producing, shipping and selling any 1973 models until it met federal exhaust emission standards for that year.

State hospital officer dismissed

BOISE (UPI) — State Hospital North fiscal officer Edwin L. Olson has been dismissed by the State Board of Health for "inefficiency and negligence in the performance of his duties." The action was taken; effective Monday, as the result of a special audit prepared by the national independent accounting firm, Touche Ross of Boise and the Attorney General's Office.

Board Chairman John Van Orman, said Monday.

Olson, who began work at the Orofino institution 13 years ago, was notified of his discharge last Friday. He became fiscal officer in 1970.

Stronger laws urged by USWA

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers of America (USWA) has called for stronger mine safety laws and for shifting their enforcement from the Bureau of Mines to the Labor Department.

A resolution endorsed Monday by the international executive board of the USWA, which represents hard-rock miners, minors, struck at "the negligence, the malfeasance and the greed which contributed" to the May 2 silver mine tragedy at Kellogg, Idaho. An underground fire at the Sunshine Mining Co. silver mine killed 91 miners, all members of the USWA.

"The management of the Sunshine Mining Co. and the U.S. Bureau of Mines failed to take a multitude of steps which might

Boise man dies in crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has announced a Boise, Idaho, man was co-pilot of a submarine patrol plane that crashed on the northeast coast of Morocco Saturday, killing 14 aviators.

Lt. (jg) Michael J. Whittig was co-pilot of the P-3 Orion which struck a 2,700 foot mountain, a Navy spokesman said.

The pilot of the craft was Lt. Cmdr. Robert L. Mendenhall of Topsham, Maine.

Coleman case goes to jury

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The case of accused air pirate Donald Lewis Coleman went to the jury late Monday after a psychiatrist testified the Downers Grove, Ill., man wasn't competent to know what he was doing the day he allegedly hijacked an American Airlines 707 jet.

Coleman, 23, is charged with trying to hijack American Flight 47 enroute from Chicago to San Francisco the day after Christmas last year. He was arrested when the plane landed in Salt Lake City.

Dr. Eugene T. Bliss, chairman of the University of Utah department of psychiatry, testified in the court of U.S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter that he examined Coleman shortly after he was arrested and again last week.

He told the six-man jury the defendant was "psychotic and did not know what he was doing."

Bliss said Coleman had a history of psychotic episodes. He once thought he was a prominent playwright and had tried

If youth drowns

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Torrey Aschbacher, 9, Idaho Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Aschbacher, drowned Monday evening at the Heise Hot Springs resort 15 miles southeast of Idaho Falls.

Jefferson County Sheriff Joe Potter said the boy was with his twin brother, Kevin, at the time of the accident about 6:20 p.m. They had been visiting relatives in the area, Potter said.

The boy was dead on arrival at the Idaho Falls LDS Hospital.

"At various times certain property was condemned and subsequently burned or given away without state board of examiners approval."

Inventory records are "wholly inaccurate, incomplete and unreliable."

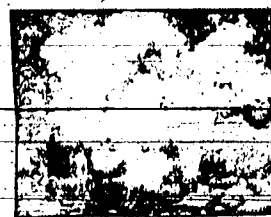

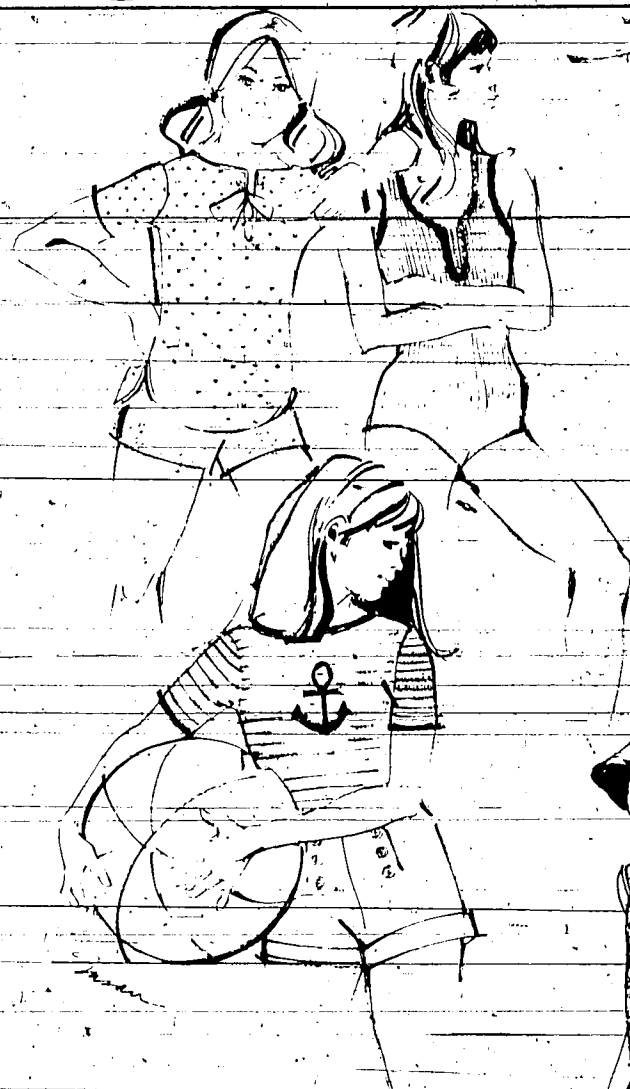

Hospital North's set of perpetual inventory records on Pharmacy were apparently maintained by personnel under Olson's supervision and not by pharmacy personnel.

There were "differences based on the actual count of drugs compared to the balances on the perpetual inventory cards."

Des-Aulniers informed the board of possible irregularities May 17 and headed the investigation. The audit report had been dated May 30 and reviewed by the board in a telephone conference call.

MR. AND MRS. BRANDON EATON

Miss Rumsey, Eaton exchange promise

WENDILL — Jan Rumsey, Miller, Boise, served as Wendell, and Brandon Eaton, Boise, were married in rites at the Wendell Methodist Church May 13.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Woodrow Harris before baskets of white gladioli and carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodbridge, Wendell, and Eaton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eaton, Wendell.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown fashioned with a white-satin bodice, long sleeves and lace-covered skirt. Her elbow-length veil was held in place by white beaded cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with white carnations.

Maid of honor was Jan Higginbotham, Wendell. Bridesmaids were Debbie Scott, Jeri Eaton and Beverly Schrank, all Wendell. Canonizers were Sandra Rumsey and Jan Eaton, Wendell.

Jack Lancaster, Wendell, by the Industrial Accident Board.

Organist was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Fred Eaton, who accompanied Mrs. Lawrence LaRue, school.

The bridegroom's best man was Tom Ambrose, Boston, Mass., and Mike Eaton and Curtis Eaton served as ushers.

Registering guests was Debbie Scheer, Jerome, while the bridegroom's mother, Kären Rumsey, Mickey Dance and Janice Chandler were in charge of gifts.

Princess, Incline Village, Nev., aunt of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake. Others at the serving table were Mrs. Clell Jacobson and Mrs. Neal Ambrose, Wendell.

The couple took a wedding trip to Sun Valley. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wendell High School and Boise State College.

The couple will reside in Boise, where Eaton is employed.

45th Anniversary open house set

HAILLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hutchinson, Hailley, will observe their 45th Wedding Anniversary with an open house Sunday.

The event, hosted by Mrs. William R. (Virginia Lee) Burke, Forest Grove, Ore., daughter of the couple, will be from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the home of the honorees.

The couple was married in 1927 in Brayner, Mo., and made their home there until 1944 when they moved to Idaho. They moved to Bellevue, where Hutchinson was employed at Triumph Mill until it was closed. He then worked for the New Hope Mine.

In 1947 he began carpenter work in Sun Valley and was retired in 1971.

In addition to daughter, the couple has three sons, Wesley Hutchinson, Miami, Fla.; Karl R. Hutchinson, Tongmont, Colo.; and John Hutchinson, Lehigh Air Force Base, Maine.

Ten of their 12 grandchildren will be able to attend the event. All friends of the couple are invited to the open house. The couple requests no gifts.

MV Iris Society show set Saturday at TF YM-YWCA

TWIN FALLS — Flower Power, the 20th annual Magic Valley Iris Society show, will open at 2 p.m. Saturday at the YM-YWCA building, Twin Falls.

Hours of the free show are 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, with the public invited.

Everyone is invited to enter the show, with no entry fee required. Exhibitors are allowed one entry in each class or subclass, except seedling classes.

Entries will be accepted at the YM-YWCA building, 1751 Elizabeth Blvd., from 8 to 10 p.m. Friday and from 8 to 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Late entries will be displayed, but not judged.

Entries are to remain in place until 4 p.m. Sunday and must be removed by 6 p.m. Sunday.

Containers for one stalk entries will be furnished at the showroom. Containers for other entries are to be furnished by the exhibitor.

Judging will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday, with judges' decisions final. Cultural classes will be judged by American Iris Society judges. Only necessary show personnel will be allowed in the showroom during judging.

There are four major divisions planned for the show: Division I, horticulture, has six sections and 55 classes; Division II, artistic design, has 11 classes; Division III, Youth, nine classes; and Division IV, consists of displays pertaining to iris. Points scales for the various divisions have been set to add in judging.

The winner of the most firsts in Division I, classes on through 53, will be awarded a silver medal certificate, with the winner of the second largest number of firsts receiving a bronze medal certificate. Certificates will also be awarded to the winner of the most firsts in the beardless iris section and to the winner of the best stalk in the youth division.

Purple rosettes will be awarded to Queen of Show (best stalk), Best Arrangement, Best Stalk in Division III, horticulture, Sweepstakes, horticulture (winner of most firsts Division I), Sweepstakes, artistic (winner of the most firsts Division II) and seedling of show judged most worthy of introduction.

Exhibition certificates will be awarded to seedlings selected by official judges and by visiting judges, and to educational iris exhibits of merit.

American Iris Society ribbons or cards will be given in all classes if merited, one blue (first), red (second), and yellow (third), and one or more white (honorable mention).

In addition, the Magic Valley Iris Society will award rhizomes to the top winners, courtesy of commercial growers, and rhizomes to first-place winners in all classes, courtesy Magic Valley Iris Society Members. A one-year American Iris Society membership will be awarded the non-member winner of the most firsts in Division I.

Serving on the show committee are Mrs. Alfred Kramer, Castleford, president; Mrs. Gleila Thietten, Twin Falls, general chairman; and Donald Chadd, Twin Falls, co-chairman.

Other members of the show committee include Mrs. V. W. Nelson, schedule; Mrs. S. W. Smith, staging and supplies; Tim and Larry Chadd, placing; Mrs. Sam Wonenberg; and Mrs. Merle Chaville, entries; Mrs. C. W. Vallejo, classification; Mrs. Al Kramer, judges; Mrs. S. W. Smith, judges' clerks.

New TF club

FORMULATING plans for a new social club in Twin Falls are, from left, Lois Hansen, Dot Miller, Jeri Miller and Leola Keener. The group will be sponsored by the Welcome Wagon Club and called So-Journey Club.

New social club planned in TF

TWIN FALLS — Plans are being made to form a new social club for Twin Falls women.

To be called So-Journey Club, the organization will be sponsored by Welcome Wagon if a majority of paid Welcome Wagon members approve the plans.

Present Welcome Wagon members will be contacted and asked for suggestions and to state whether they are interested in such an organization. The full membership of Welcome Wagon will vote at a meeting in the fall on whether the club should be formed.

Planners of the proposed organization say it would be somewhat similar to the present

Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club, but would be open only to those who had been paid members of Welcome Wagon for about three years and no longer feel that they are new to the community, but wish to continue friendships and activities they enjoy in the present organization.

The club is expected to offer a monthly luncheon and card parties in the beginning, with other activities added as members show an interest in them.

A committee of 10 Welcome Wagon members is formulating plans for the organization. Suggestions and expressions of interest would be welcomed from area residents who were formerly paid members of Welcome Wagon, but no longer belong. Those interested may call Dot Miller, 733-7789; Jo Leuze, 733-6295; or Jeri Miller, 733-0146 for more information or to offer planning suggestions.

Kimberly newlyweds feted

KIMBERLY — An open house wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jacobs, Kimberly, was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Alexander, Kimberly.

Mrs. Jacobs is the former Arlene Brown, Twin Falls, and

The table was centered with a two-tiered yellow and white wedding cake topped with white satin bells with a base of flowers. It was flanked by green tapers and floral arrangements of white gladioli and yellow ponies. Mrs. Mickey Alexander, sister of the bride, poured punch, and the cake was served by Mrs. Mark H. Brown Jr. They were assisted by Mrs. Garner Stephens and Mrs. Mike Stephens. Mrs. Keith Crist, registered the guests. Gifts were arranged by Gail Morrison, Darci Hall and Mrs. Jerry Hall.

After a wedding trip to Utah the couple resides in Kimberly at 300 Ash St. They were married May 10 at the LDS Church in Kimberly by Bishop David Carter.

Tough luck. Or was it bad play?

It was bad play. South should have taken out a bit of the insurance after winning that first heart in his own hand. He should have cashed the ace and king of clubs.

Now let East rise with his ace of spades and give his partner a heart ruff. It won't do the defense a bit of good.

West will ruff the heart (on the second defensive trick).

Then if he leads a club South will ruff in either hand and disc a heart from the other side. If he leads a diamond South will eventually discard and dummy's nine of hearts on his third diamond.

Either way the contract is home.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We are indebted to Eddy Kantar and the American Contract Bridge League Bulletin for today's hand.

South has a real problem at trick one. Which hand can you see that the hand was a singleton and that the winning play is to win in dummy but Kantar points out that a lead from queen-jack small or queen-jack-two small is more likely than a singleton or doubleton queen. You agree with Eddy and win in your hand.

Then you attack spades. East wins the first spade and leads a heart. West ruffs and returns a club and eventually you have to lose a heart and the ace of diamonds for

DEAR ABBY: I never thought the day would come when something in your column would provoke me enough to write to you, but "PERTURBED," who claims that in some small towns hairdressers make as much as $100 a day, so why tip, certainly got my back up.

I have been a hairdresser in Massachusetts and Florida for 12 years, and I have yet to find such a place. I've worked in some of the best shops and I was lucky to make ends meet. After working 5½ days, my gross pay was $50 for the week. So you see, where I would be without tips from my customers.

We hairdressers pay a lot for our schooling, and today we make less than a girl who has just graduated from high school and takes a secretarial job.

I P. PLAMOUTH, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: You can tell your hairdresser, Cloyd, that he can move to Duncan, Okla. There are seven beauticians in the shop I go to and they all make at least $80 a day, and $100 on Fridays and Saturdays. And this town has a population of only 23,000.

DEAR PATRON: I gave Cloyd your message, and he says the hairdresser who takes in that kind of money MUST have a very lucrative sideline.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "PERTURBED," who doesn't think beauticians need tips, to come off it. There are some jobs that wouldn't be worth a plug nickel without the tips. Waiting on tables is one, and hairdressing is another.

BEEN BOTH

DEAR ABBY: I have been a hairdresser for 18 years, and only once did I come close to making $100 in one day. And that included my tips!

"PERTURBED" is disturbed. ROSE

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what that beauty operator who told "PERTURBED" she made $100 a day was smoking. She must have meant $100 a WEEK.

NOT HACKING IT IN HACKENSACK

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "PERTURBED," who says beauty operators don't need "tips" because they make so much money, I had to write:

"PERTURBED" could be a hairdresser for just eight hours. She'd find out what it's like to keep on schedule with clients calling and begging to be worked in on a Friday afternoon. Also, trying to be pleasant to a different person every 20 minutes when your feet are killing you and you are half dead.

No beauty operator I ever knew could cut the mustard without tips. I don't care where she works.

ROLLING OVER IN BALTIMORE

DEAR ABBY: I am a beauty operator who wants to tell you how I feel about tipping.

In our profession, tips are appropriate, but a tip should not be expected. I get tips, which I appreciate, but if I couldn't make it without tips, I'd find something else to do for a living. After all, a tip is something extra given because the customer feels generous, and it's never a sure thing.

Please print this in defense of the hairdressers who want their patrons to know that we appreciate their patronage, whether they feel like tipping or not. There are three operators where I work and they all agree with me.

T.F. student represents Idaho at space seminar

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls High School junior has been selected to represent Idaho in the O'Brien Space Seminar at Cape Kennedy, Fla., June 10-17.

High school principal John Lawrence said Hendrix is the only student selected from Idaho to attend the seminar, sponsored by the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hendrix and maintained all A semester grades in three years of junior high school at Vora C. O'Leary Junior High as well as this far in the senior high school.

He received the bronze, silver and gold key awards while in junior high school and was awarded the outstanding student award at the O'Leary school in 1971.

He was student body vice president during the ninth grade, lettered in football, basketball and track in junior high school, played football, basketball in his sophomore year and is currently competing in track. He has maintained a perfect attendance record since the sixth grade.

RICHFIELD — The Richfield Public Library is sponsoring a summer reading program again this year.

Children in grades one through six are eligible to participate in the program and learn for themselves that reading books is "A Whole Great Big Fun Thing."

The program began June 1 and will continue until September when special prizes will be given to the children reading the most books. Membership cards, book marks and certificates will be issued to all those participating in the program.

Summer hours at the library are Monday and Thursday from 3 to 6 p.m.

New juvenile books available at the library include "Little House on the Prairie" by Laura Ingalls Wilder, "Treckles" by Gene Stratton Porter, "The Album" by Dale Evans Rogers, "Black Stallion Mystery" by Robert Bly, "The Black Stallion Returns" by Paul Major, "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" by Ian Fleming, "Ginnie and Geneva" by Catherine Wooley, and "Incident at Hawk's Hill" by Allan Eckert.

"Lighthouse" by Eugenia Price is a new adult-fiction selection.

Adult non-fiction books include "Dale, My Personal Album" by Dale Evans Rogers, "The Down to Earth" by Margie Hollis, "First Christmas" by Paul Major, "The Black Stallion's Pilly" by Paul Major.

Gem State political roundup

By United Press International

Idaho State University minister Rev. Willis Ludlow, Pocatello, filed petitions Monday for Second District Congressman, while a U.S. Senate candidate said one of his opponents should tell Idaho voters why he voted for the Occupational Safety Hazards Act.

Ludlow, running for the Democratic nomination for Congressman in the second district, said, "My candidacy offers such a real alternative to the politics of manipulation and militarism, of special favors for the rich corporations and insensitivity to the poor and near-poor, and of cynical appeals to fear and prejudice."

Speaking of his opponent, incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen, a Republican, Ludlow said, "Probably Orval Hansen would deny that he is captive to the 'insiders' who undemocratically control our nation, but he is. To the extent we free Orval and his kind of politician from high office, we will also be freeing ourselves."

Ludlow, 38, earned his bachelor of arts degree at Willamette University and his master's in theology from Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley.

As a Methodist minister, Ludlow has served churches in Idaho, Oregon, Texas and California. A civil rights and peace movement organizer, he has been active in Idaho politics since 1954.

He has been campus minister at ISU since 1967. He and his wife, Anne, have four children.

Robert E. Smylie, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, said Monday Congressman James McClure, R-Idaho, also a candidate, "has a duty to his constituents to tell them why he voted twice in favor of the

Ralph Nader calls Sierra Club 'front'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader today accused the Sierra Club of acting as a "front" for business interests opposed to a California clean environment initiative.

Nader made the charge during a news conference at which he also accused a San Francisco public relations firm, Whitaker & Baxter, of "callous disregard" of professional ethics in attacking proposition 9 in behalf of its industrial clients.

Nader's attack on the Sierra Club, a San Francisco-based national conservationist organization, was dropped almost casually into a news conference called to announce he had asked the Public Relations Society of America to investigate the actions of Whitaker & Baxter.

ROY C. THOMAS
Lieutenant

RICHARD SKINNER
Sergeant

Two assume duty at T.F.

TWIN FALLS — Two new Idaho State Police officers have assumed duties in the state's Fourth District headquarters in Twin Falls.

Lt. Roy Thomas and Sgt. Richard Skinner arrived Friday to take over new duties. Lt. Thomas will head up the district while Sgt. Skinner will serve as sergeant in the post vacated by Sgt. Ralph Sifford. Sifford was transferred to Lewiston and Capt. Dean Bennett, who was headed the district the past several years, was transferred to Boise last week.

Lt. Thomas returned to Magic Valley from Boise, headquarters for District 4. He has served the past four years in that area as a sergeant in the Nampa area and made his home in Nampa.

He has served 18 years with the Idaho State Police, beginning in 1953 at the Strevell Port of Entry. The remainder of the time he served in the Rupert area, until four years ago when he transferred to Boise. He and his wife, Colleen, and son Michael, 13, and daughter, Chndee, 18, make their home at 1136 Fremont St.

Sgt. Skinner has served the past 10½ years with the Idaho State Police. He spent five years in District 2 at Kaniha and the past five and one half years in the Nampa area as a patrolman. A native of Nebraska, he was reared in the Nampa area and served three years with military forces.

He and his wife Betty have twin daughters, Kim and Kenya, 13, and a son, Kern, 9. They will reside at 806 Elm St. N. in Twin Falls.

Judge selected faculty advisor

GEORGIN — Judge Charles Scoggin, senior judge of the Fifth Judicial District, has been selected as a faculty advisor for a course in post-graduate legal education.

The four-week course, conducted by the National College of the State Judiciary, will be at the University of Nevada in Reno. The course is sponsored by the Section of Judicial Administration of the American Bar Association.

Judge Scoggin will be serving the National College from June 8 through July 14. He will lead discussions in proceedings before trial and new developments in evidence, civil, family and criminal law as well as advanced concepts in court management and administration.

Further information is available by phoning the Parks and Recreation office at 878-2256. The recreation activities are under the direction of Jack Keen.

Sunken freighter blocks lake channel

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — Two Great Lakes freighters collided during the night, river and died up, sending one to the bottom in 35 feet of water near the 13th Water Bridge and blocking the narrow St. Clair River channel to all traffic today.

There were no injuries to the 60 crewmen aboard the 359-foot Parker Evans or the 550-foot Sidney E. Smith Jr., which lay on its starboard side with about 12 feet of its superstructure showing.

Diesel fuel oil from the ruptured tanks aboard the Smith was floating downriver and salvage crews set up floating booms at Alpena, almost 20 miles downriver, to collect it.

Following the collision shortly after 2 a.m., the 33 crewmen aboard the Smith, of the Erie Sand Steamship Co., were hurried off the vessel and taken to the nearby shore by U.S. Coast Guard craft and the tugboat Auburg as the ship sank in about 35 feet of water.

The Evans, owned by the Owen Sound Transportation Co. of Owen Sound, Ont., was towed to the American side of the collision scene. At least 15 freighters stood at anchor in Lake Huron awaiting clearance. The Coast Guard began after-dark and hoped to have traffic moving past the wreckage by midnight, a spokesman for the captain of the port at Detroit said.

The collision occurred just south of the Blue Water Bridge, connecting Port Huron with Sarnia, Ont., as the Smith was attempting to turn out of the path of the southbound Evans. The current pushed the two vessels together, Coast Guard officials said.

More than 200 commercial ships are in the California, Farm

T.F. man appointed

TWIN FALLS — John W. Price, Twin Falls, has been appointed National Aides-Camp Recruiting Class, of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Joseph I. Civites, Uniontown, Pa., VFW Commander-in-Chief of the United States, said the appointment was made for signing up 50 or more new or reinstated members in his VFW post.

Planner to be hired

TWIN FALLS — Executive board members of the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association are planning to hire a full-time planner.

Heber Loughmiller, chairman of the resource group, said all four counties, Twin Falls, Jerome, Minidoka and Cassia, in the association, have been working with volunteer committees to inventory resources.

A federal grant, with a cost share from the four counties, would provide the salary for a planner and office secretary, Loughmiller said.

Several applications were reviewed in a board meeting

Monday, but Loughmiller said association members decided to obtain additional applications and to meet later for interviews with likely prospects. Another meeting is scheduled in two weeks.

He said a full-time planner would coordinate the inventory and preliminary planning reports of local resource people in the four counties. He would also work with these groups to assist in their further efforts and make suggestions as to further planning and recommendations.

Loughmiller said arrangements have been made to provide office space.

Food stamp talk on meeting agenda

TWIN FALLS — Food stamps will come under discussion by county commissioners of the eight Magic Valley counties June 20 in Jerome.

A delegation of commissioners from Jerome, Minidoka and Cassia counties met Monday with the Twin Falls board to discuss concern over the inequities of the food stamp program.

Merl Leonard, commissioner, said most of those from the other counties feel the program has gotten out of control as far as eligibility requirements are concerned.

Leonard said, the visiting commissioners were critical of the program on the basis many persons who are working hard to pay their own way find food stamp buyers at the grocery store counties who are driving better cars and appear to have a better standard of living than they do.

Leonard also pointed out the agreement with the county commissioners and Department of Public Assistance for the Department of Agriculture food stamp program can be canceled with 60 days notice of either party.

Leonard said Don Frank, district director of DPA, Twin Falls, has announced plans to increase the investigating forces and to more closely check eligibility of the applicants to prevent fraudulent use of the stamps.

He said some out-of-county families are giving a general address such as the Labor Camp in order to qualify under the local program.

US adjusts estimates of national red ink spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration told the Congress today that the government would run a $13 billion smaller deficit this fiscal year, than originally estimated, but that the deficit for fiscal 1973 would be $1.5 billion greater.

The revisions in the administration's red ink budget estimates, made public by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), placed the deficit for fiscal year 1972, which ends June 30, at $26 billion instead of $38.8 billion estimated last January.

For fiscal 1973, the deficit was estimated at $27 billion rather than $26.6 billion estimated earlier.

At the same time, administration economic spokesmen, testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee, asked for an increase in the national debt ceiling of $15 billion to $465 billion.

Last March, the administration had tried to persuade Congress to lift the ceiling to $480 billion but an unexpected flow of cash in recent months has allowed the Treasury to scale down its request.

At the same time, administration spokesmen cautioned against attaching tax reform to the pending bill to raise the national debt limit.

Democrats in both houses introduced comprehensive legislation last week to close gradually loopholes in tax laws. There has been talk of adding it as an amendment to the debt bill on the theory that President Nixon would have difficulty vetoing the measure.

Acting Treasury Secretary Charles E. Walker, in his testimony, urged against tinkering with the tax structure before the end of the year. "We do not believe that it is appropriate to embark on such an extensive effort at this particular time and in connection with revision of the debt ceiling," he said.

The rate of government spending had been expected to taper off in 1973 as a revived private economy picked up.

Waldheim asks UN help for world cleanup

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Secretary General Kurt Waldheim opened the United Nations first conference on the environment Monday with a call for international cooperation to avoid global ecological disaster.

Waldheim did not mention that the Soviet Union and most of its East European allies were not among the 112 countries represented at the 11-day conference.

The Communist bloc, with the exceptions of Yugoslavia and Rumania, boycotted the conference to protest the U.N.'s decision not to invite East Germany. China is participating.

Ingemar Bengtsson, the Swedish minister of agriculture who was elected president of the conference, deplored the communist bloc boycott in his address.

"The presence of 112 countries is a telling tribute to the importance attached to environmental problems," he said. "But it is highly regrettable that power politics have caused the absence of some important countries."

U.S. delegation chief Russell E. Train, chairman of the U.S.

Council on Environmental Quality, said the Communist bloc boycott would not prejudice the conference since all its proposals and recommendations would go before the U.N. General Assembly, where the Communists are represented.

Waldheim, speaking at a welcoming ceremony prior to the first conference session, said the meeting could become a turning point in the history of mankind.

Slavs, Soviets embrace

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet leadership greeted President Tito of Yugoslavia with bear-hugs and kisses Monday and bestowed their highest honor on him to show the world they have resolved their differences.

The 80-year-old Tito received the Order of Lenin at a Kremlin reception as he arrived on his first trip to the Soviet Union since the Soviets' 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia severely strained relations.

Once the maverick of the Communist bloc, Tito was cited as "an outstanding leader of the working people of Socialist Yugoslavia, friendly to the Soviet Union."

The Kremlin's ruling troika were waiting at Vnukovo Airport when Tito arrived from Belgrade and the minute he stepped down the ramp from his jetliner, party leader Leonid Brezhnev engulfed him in a hug and kissed him on both cheeks, the friendliest of protocol welcomes.

A smiling President Nikolai S. Podgorny repeated the greeting and passed him on to the usually dour Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who also was smiling.

At the edge of the landing strip, a clapping crowd of several hundred Muscovites saw the round, bespectacled face of Tito beaming at them over the shoulders of men he had condemned as aggressors four years ago.

The Soviets turned out more crowds to cheer him along his motorcade route to the Kremlin. Street signs proclaimed Soviet-Yugoslav friendship.

Diplomats said the Communist leaders would discuss expansion of trade relations, Soviet technical assistance and discussions of world affairs during the five-day state visit.

Tito's schedule called for talks with the Kremlin leaders Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, followed by a side-trip to Riga, Latvia, diplomatic sources said. He would wrap up the talks Friday and leave Saturday, they said.

Aides hit tax, debt linkage

By GENE BERNHARDT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration Monday rejected as "out of the question" suggestions that tax reform be tied to a debt-capping bill that must be passed by the end of the month.

But spokesmen for the Treasury and President Nixon offered to work out some new tax laws with Congress next year.

"We firmly believe that the matter of further tax revision should be dealt with in the next Congress," Charles E. Walker, acting Treasury secretary, and George P. Shultz, President Nixon's nominee to be secretary of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee is considering Nixon's request to boost the current $450 billion debt limit, which will revert to the old $400 billion ceiling after June 30 without new congressional authority, to $465 billion through next February.

Walker said the government was $429.2 billion in debt as of May 31, but he also said "the federal fiscal situation has improved significantly in recent months." He said the anticipated $39 billion 1972 budget deficit is now estimated at $26 billion while an earlier 1973 deficit forecast was raised from $25.5 billion to $27 billion.

The improved deficit picture, Walker acknowledged, was largely due to nearly $7 billion in overwithholding of federal income taxes. Committee Democrats charged this overwithholding was purposeful to make the budget look better.

Congressional liberals have urged that the debt bill be used to carry along reform provisions as insurance against a veto. They have united behind a bill by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and committee chairman that would repeal 54 individual and business tax deductions and exemptions. Mills, however, prefers that his bill stand alone.

Shultz, noting that action is needed on a debt limit bill before the end of this month, said "to think we can do anything meaningful about the tax code in only 25 days is out of the question."

"The administration has favored placing the revision of the code as a matter of high priority. We are anxious to work on it next year with this committee," he said.

"We do not believe that it is appropriate to embark on such an extensive effort at this particular time and in connection with revision of the debt ceiling," said Walker.

Another still faces trial

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—A former co-defendant of Angela Davis, San Quentin convict Russell Magee, still faces trial in connection with the Marin County courthouse shootings.

Magee, 33, is charged with being the man who pulled the trigger, killing Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, in the gunbattle outside the courthouse on Aug. 7, 1970.

Rupert man named for FHA post

TWIN FALLS — Lynn N. Bradshaw, Rupert, has been named district supervisor for district 3 of the Farmers Home Administration.

The announcement was made by Donald L. Winder, Boise, state director. Winder said district 3 includes county offices in Gooding, Shoshone, Jerome, Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Paul and Salmon.

Bradshaw, who has been supervisor of the Rupert office since February, 1962, joined FHA as an assistant county supervisor in Rexburg in 1951. He served at Rigby, Burley and Paul before his transfer to Rupert.

Owners pay for Gooding project

GOODING — Landowners living on sections of the north and south side of 7th Avenue will have to put in sidewalks to the new high school at their expense.

At a council meeting Monday night, City Attorney Cecil Hobbley said persons involved had 15 days in which to install the sidewalks. A date for construction has not yet been determined by the council.

If not completed within 15 days, the city may call bids to have sidewalks installed and divide the cost among the owners.

He said 1,977 running feet of sidewalk are required and may cost a total of $9,000, according to City Engineer K. C. Moore. Work may begin this September, Moore said.

In the meantime, the city is re-paving and seal-coating Seventh Avenue.

Mary Schmidt was re-appointed to the City Library Board.

Plumbing licenses were approved for Newway Plumbing, Wendell and Conally Plumbing and Heating, Ketchum.

Registrars announced at Gooding

GOODING — Gooding County clerk and recorder, Mrs. Vivian Burden, has announced registrars for Gooding County. Registrars, precincts and registration places will be Mary Goss, west Gooding, 1325 California st.; Irene Kendrick, northwest Gooding, Kendrick Drugs; Twila Hawks, northeast Gooding, Gooding Seed Co.

Mary Goss, south Gooding, Gooding County Courthouse; Ralph Lucke, east Gooding, Security Title Co.; Celesta Gibson, Orchard Valley; Thelma Conner, West Point; Hugh Caldwell, west Wendell, 148 2nd Ave. W.; Jackie Brown, Wendell; Wendell Cleaver; Mrs. Raymond Lower, Tuttle; Dorothy Dunker, Hagerman; and Mary Butler, Bliss.

Burley doctor seeks senate

BURLEY — Dr. Charles Terhune, Burley, today filed his petition for candidacy for the state senate from Cassia County, District 25, on the Republican ticket.

Terhune stresses the necessity for leadership in the senate, and believes problems should be dealt with immediately as they arise. A long-time Republican Party member, Terhune has been associated with many state organizations. He is an elder of the Presbyterian Church of Burley and is associated with the Elks, Masons and Shriner's organizations. He is on the State Hospital Advisory Board.

The 64-year old Terhune resides in Burley with his wife Ruth. They have three married children.

Concert tonight

BURLEY — The Idaho National Guard 25th Army Band will present a free public concert at 8:15 p.m. tonight in the conference center of the Ponderosa Inn.

The army band from Caldwell will present several instrumental and vocal groups within the band. The musical variety program will include marches, musical show tunes, big band jazz, Dixieland and rock.

The program aims to please all types of music lovers and has done that for large audiences throughout Idaho for the past several summers.

The band spends its annual field training period on tour each summer and this year it is in the eastern Idaho area.

Swim pool studied for Glenns Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY — Possible development of a municipal swimming pool in Glenn's Ferry was discussed Monday in a noon luncheon meeting of the chamber of commerce.

Chamber president James Carpenter appointed George Powell to work with John Miller, Mountain Home, who has served on a swimming pool committee there.

A discussion and report of feasibility of the project will be presented at a later meeting. Carpenter also announced the next regular meeting of the Glenn's Ferry chamber will feature a visit by Dr. James Taylor, president, and Holland Houffburg, audio visual director, College of Southern Idaho.

They will discuss the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce program.

Shoshone probes death of horse

BY MELBA THORNE Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Investigation is continuing into the cause of a fire that killed a Thoroughbred race horse Monday night in Shoshone. Shoshone City Police Chief John Shaeffer said cause of the fire is undetermined at this time, but loud explosions were heard in the area.

The fire broke out in a small barn on the west edge of Shoshone which housed the horse owned by Bud Swan, who was in Boise at the time. Value of the horse was estimated between $2,500 and $3,000.

The barn was destroyed with a loss of $200. This is the third fire in Shoshone in two weeks, and explosions were heard in conjunction with at least one of the other two fires.

The Shoshone City Fire Department answered the call at about 10:15 p.m. Monday, but the fire was too far advanced by the time firemen arrived to save the horse.

The other two fires were a haystack at the Shoshone Sales Yard and the Frank Spencer residence in Shoshone. The Spencers were not at home at the time of the fire at their residence, and explosions were heard at that site.

First fire

BURLEY — Bureau of Land Management crews were dispatched Sunday evening to the Raft River landfill on the first fire call of its season.

The fire burned five acres of private land and five acres of BLM land.

BLM officials reported the fire resulted from someone dumping trash at the landfill and then trying to burn it.

With a slight breeze, the trash caught blaze and ten acres burned quickly although damage was slight.

IF sailor wins Rupert regatta

RUPERT — An Idaho Falls sailor took top honors this past weekend at the third Southern Idaho Sailing Association regatta held at Lake Walcott.

Mike Finck, sailing a small one-man, Starliner placed consistently high in seven sailboat races held both Saturday and Sunday. Caldwell sailor Dave Kuehman, raced his San Juan 21 to a second place finish and Stratton Laggis, Sun Valley, sailed his Coronado 15 into third place.

The third weekend of Southern Idaho regatta sailing was marked by light winds during most of the weekend, only one capsizing, and a full seven races.

The next regatta, June 24, and 25, will be held at Sportsman Park near Aberdeen, beginning at noon on Saturday. Six races are planned although the number may vary due to weather conditions.

Lincoln lists only 3 filings

SHOSHONE — Only three persons have filed for Shoshone County elective offices two days before the filing deadline Wednesday night.

Ward A. Mills has filed for Commissioner, on the Republican ticket in zone 1, being vacated by Burrell Williams, who declined to run again.

Incumbent Howard E. Adkins has filed for reelection to the office of prosecuting attorney on the Democratic ticket.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson has filed for the office of sheriff as a Republican. Sheriff Thomas E. Connor, who has been sheriff 20 years, is retiring.

Filings are expected for the offices of coroner and Commissioner of zone 2, Richfield.

Coroner at Cassia files

BURLEY — Dr. Leslie L. Fillmore has filed for reelection as Cassia County coroner on the Republican ticket.

He makes the sixth person to file in Cassia County since the filing opened June 1.

Filing for county officers, all on the Republican ticket, have been Ray G. Mitchell, sheriff; Orland Bateman, Burley No. 2 precinct committeeman; Gordon Nielson, prosecuting attorney; J. Weldon Beck, county commissioner, second district; John A. Clark, Oakley; county commissioner, first district. All are incumbents.

The deadline for filing is at 5 p.m. Wednesday. Filings should be made at the county clerk's office.

BURLEY — Two Burley City residents presented Mayor Garis Robertson and the Burley City Council a large bouquet of red roses at Monday's City Council meeting.

Ralph Fairchild and Mrs. Donald Price said the roses were a gesture of thanks for work done on streets under Local Improvement District No. 17. They both live in the district which is in the northeast part of Burley.

Herman Bedtke, a Burley attorney, met with the council to discuss removal of the weeds from vacant lots. He owns a one-fourth acre lot which is overgrown with briars and has received notices stating that he must cut the grass or the city will do it at a charge of 50 cents per front foot.

Bedtke said he has not suitable equipment closer than 60 miles

Data sought for Ketchum drive-in

BY TERRY CAMPBELL Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Clarification of opposition to the Arctic Circle Drive-In, planned for Main Street, was sought Monday night by the owner.

Lee Schlender, attorney for owner Eddie Howa, Twin Falls, told the Ketchum City Council that Howa faces three issues — public sentiment, parking provisions and building conformity.

"The owner doesn't know specifically what the problem is," Schlender said.

The council tabled further action on the matter until city building inspector John Jacoby checks the plans for the drive-in, which were presented during the meeting.

Howa said, however, that he would "put up any type of building the community would like." He said the plans indicated that the structure would conform in appearance to an adjacent building.

In response to a question by Schlender, Mayor Kenneth Richey said "The council has a legal obligation to the community, that if the drive-in adheres to parking regulations, the building code and zoning provisions the council has no other alternative but to issue a building permit."

Schlender said that enough land was available for six parking spaces, which he said exceeded the three required under retail store provisions, or the five required if the building is considered a place of public assembly.

Jacoby disputed the plan's parking provisions and said that the driveway was not wide enough to gain access to the parking spaces. Ketchum designed Dick Meyer's said in the past, he had to rework plans for his clients to provide ample access. "It doesn't sound as if the parking comes to the standards I have had to meet with my clients," Meyer said.

In response to Jacoby, Schlender said, "The time to question the plans was before the permit was issued." On the basis of issuance of the permit, the owner had completed purchase of the site for $42,500, Schlender said.

Schlender said, "If the owner has the square footage, it is all that is required by the ordinance." He said that after the building is established, and if the parking posed a hazard, that the city had the police power to remove the hazard.

Contention over the planned drive-in has continued since last October. A series of petitions, containing about 300 signatures, has been presented to the council, opposing the facility and requesting a design review board.

In October, the council approved a building permit for the structure, but Jacoby suspended the permit the same month because, he said, no specific plans were presented to determine whether the building conformed to the city building code.

Monday night, Jacoby said under the 1964 building code, which was in effect when the permit application was made, that he was legally empowered to suspend or revoke a permit for a justifiable cause.

Schlender said, "The time to question the plans was before the permit was issued." On the basis of issuance of the permit, the owner had completed purchase of the site for $42,500, Schlender said.

13 arrested on TF drug charge

TWIN FALLS — Thirteen people were arrested Monday night and early this morning for violations of drug laws.

Leon Smith, who is directing the new City-County Drug Control Bureau, said officers were armed with warrants for between 20 and 25 people after a briefing at 10:30 p.m.

He said he believed the roundup was an "extremely well executed cooperative by city and county officers." He said only 13 were taken into custody because the others are apparently out of town.

Arrested were Casimir Mori, 18; David Lee Jones, 19; Robert Newcomer, 18; Virginia Doris Mullins, 19; Raymond Randy

Jeff, 20; Todd Bly Crosser, 18 and Nyle Clifford Hartley, 19, all Twin Falls and Steven Gibson, 21, Heyburn, all for delivery of a controlled substance; William Costello Blake, 25, and Cheryl Lynn Atkinson, 22, both Twin Falls, and Clark David Michael, 21, Everett, Wash., all for possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance. Both charges are felonies.

Two juveniles also were taken into custody by officers and Smith said they probably will be released to their parents and juvenile petitions will be signed.

The adults all were scheduled to appear in magistrate court this morning for arraignment before Judge Daniel Moehl.

Burley street repair work nets roses for mayor and councilmen

BURLEY — Two Burley City residents presented Mayor Garis Robertson and the Burley City Council a large bouquet of red roses at Monday's City Council meeting.

Ralph Fairchild and Mrs. Donald Price said the roses were a gesture of thanks for work done on streets under Local Improvement District No. 17. They both live in the district which is in the northeast part of Burley.

Herman Bedtke, a Burley attorney, met with the council to discuss removal of the weeds from vacant lots. He owns a one-fourth acre lot which is overgrown with briars and has received notices stating that he must cut the grass or the city will do it at a charge of 50 cents per front foot.

Bedtke said he has not suitable equipment closer than 60 miles away, and that he would be happy to pay the city actual costs for doing the work. He said the state statutes say the city can do such work and charge actual costs.

The 50 cent rate would run $45 for his 90-foot lot and he thinks $10 total should adequately cover actual cost of doing the work. The council took the matter under advisement.

Max Kidd, who lives in the south end of Burley and has previously appeared at council meetings with other residents of the area, appeared again to request a Local Improvement District to improve streets, drainage and provide gutters.

The council told Leon Bedtke, city engineer, to survey the situation and prepare cost estimates for the next regular meeting.

Mayor Robertson told the council that Local Improvement District No. 18, downtown off street parking, is temporarily stymied due to legal difficulties in selling bonds.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign a contract with JUB Engineers, Twin Falls and Boise, for preliminary work to be done at the Burley Airport before a contract is let for repairs and improvements.

A request for lease or use of a city owned van which is equipped with search and rescue equipment by the Minidoka Search and Rescue Corporation was discussed. The council authorized the mayor and clerk to sign a contract or other agreement with the firm.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign an agreement with the Minidoka Irrigation District concerning water for the Green Acres Subdivision in north Burley. Under the new agreement water will be available at the old delivery point and the city will be responsible for its delivery to individual lots on demand. This will eliminate the former $13 per lot charge for the water, putting the charge on an acreage basis instead.

Kenneth Harkness, city patrolman, was promoted to corporal at a salary of $550 per month.

A public meeting to be held June 20 concerning the magistrate courts in Cassia and Minidoka counties was announced. Mayors, City Council members and county commissioners are urged to attend.

Third of US congressmen hold outside interests

By DANIEL RAPOPORT
WASHINGTON (UPI) — About one-third of the House's 433 members hold outside interests in businesses and law firms that invite a potential conflict of interest with their legislative duties, a citizens group reported Monday.

The National Committee for an Effective Congress (NCEC) suggested the actual total probably was greater but the House's financial disclosure requirements prevented a full tabulation.

Even so, they were far more informative than corresponding Senate rules, which the NCEC said "are so limited as to preclude any meaningful analysis."

The group published the results of an in-depth review of reports filed by lawmakers with the House Ethics Committee, generally covering calendar 1971.

Among the principal findings about the House members:

- 52 participate in some way with a law firm, maintaining an office in their name, a partnership in a firm "or some looser association."

- 41 serve as directors, chairmen of the board, or officers in, or receive income for other services from financial institutions, such as banks and savings and loan associations, all of which are subject to government regulation.
- 23 reported financially active relationships with insurance, title or mortgage companies, mutual funds and real estate and insurance companies and other firms that are affected by legislation enacted by Congress and implemented by federal agencies under the scrutiny of Congress.

- 65 hold "close affiliations" with other enterprises such as oil development, advertising and broadcasting media, real estate development or management, farms "and a variety of industrial enterprises."

But the NCEC said:

"It follows that the overwhelming majority of congressmen (about two-thirds) report no positions of management or similar affiliations of the kind discussed here. These members apparently have found no inconvenience or hardship in refraining from such outside activities."

In explaining its opposition to the practice of congressmen retaining a connection with a law firm, the NCEC said the time may come when the special interests of a client, or a prospective client, may be at variance with the broader public interest—and may, however, unconsciously, affect the members' judgment on issues or on legislation."

The NCEC noted that many members do sever their relationships; and that in 1971 alone 47 congressmen withdrew from the practice of law.

Staff cut aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Postal Service announced Monday a special early retirement policy that could cut its nationwide staff of some 700,000 by as many as 180,000 employees.

The temporary policy will be in addition to the regular federal retirement program, the service said, and applies to all eligible postal employees.

Under the early retirement policy, postal employees with 20 years of federal service who are aged 50 or over and employees of any age with 25 years or more federal service will be eligible. They must apply for early retirement, however, prior to Dec. 31.

As an added incentive, those who retire prior to June 30 of this year will receive an additional 4.8 per cent cost of living increase recently authorized other federal retirees.

Employees were encouraged to take advantage of the early retirement policy but the postal service stressed that no employee would be coerced into submitting a resignation.

The service said the liberalized retirement policy was made possible because of an excess number of postal employees.

The "no layoff" provision of the U.S. Postal Service's labor agreement which runs until July 20, 1973, does not permit a reduction in force unless there is an excess number of employees.

Wins award

SHOSHONE — A monthly newsletter published by an Idaho agricultural association has won an annual award.

James Pate, publicity director for the Idaho Association of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service County Office Employees, has been notified that the monthly newsletter published under his direction has won the Northwest area annual award.

The newsletter will now be entered in competition with newsletters from New York, Michigan, South Carolina and New Mexico for the National Award.

The Idaho newsletter won similar area awards in 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Israel marks 5th year of Middle East victory

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel marked the fifth anniversary of its Middle East war victory over the Arabs Monday, and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan warned his troops would retaliate for any repetition of the pro-Arab commando attack at Tel Aviv's Lod airport.

Fears that commandos might try another attack caused airport officials to beef up security with extra civilian and military guards and check all passengers and luggage for weapons. Similar precautions were taken at airports throughout Europe.

The commando attack May 30 was made by three Japanese extremists who trained 2-1/2 months with Arab guerrillas in Lebanon, police said. Twenty-four unarmed bystanders in the Tel Aviv airport were killed by machinegun fire and hand grenades before guards shot down two of the extremists and captured the third.

In a radio interview Monday, Dayan said the attack had not disrupted air traffic in and out of Israel, and that any attempt to do so would be repaid in kind.

"There is nothing easier for Israel than to paralyze air communications, if indeed countries like Lebanon and Egypt should try, by means of or with the help of terrorists, to paralyze our lines of communications," Dayan said.

"The one-eyed military chief also said the Arab commando attacks should cause Israel to reconsider the death penalty for terrorists."

In Jerusalem, Police Supt. Mordechai Tavor said the Japanese extremists, members of the so-called "Radical Red Army," were trained in automatic weapons, hand grenades and fire-bomb use by six members of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, the Palestinian guerrilla group.

Tavor said the Japanese picked up Czech machine guns and hand grenades in Rome before flying to Tel Aviv. He said they had agreed with the Arabs to commit suicide after the attack.

In Britain, armed sharpshooters were posted on rooftops at Heathrow and Gatwick airports and the terminal buildings were watched by swarms of detectives and uniformed police.

Acupuncture interest up among medics

By H. J. Heller
United Press International
Since President Nixon's trip to Peking the American public in general and the medical profession in particular have been increasingly intrigued by the Chinese practice of acupuncture.

The word and the technique itself have not been unknown here but in the minds of many persons it has been associated with the pseudo-scientific or in some cases the occult.

With the impetus provided by Nixon's visit and press coverage of actual surgical procedures using needles to kill pain, public interest has escalated to the point where professionals and laymen are having second thoughts about the ancient Chinese art.

A nationwide survey by UPI suggests that doctors, and medical institutions are equally wary of acupuncture at the present time. There are very few exceptions.

The general tenor of the survey was typified by Dr. John Lincoln, chief of anesthesiology at Maine Medical Center, that state's leading hospital.

"I am extremely interested in acupuncture, watching developments, and scientific literature to help in making the decision on our future course," Lincoln said.

A negative response came from a spokesman for Dr. Joseph Simino, commissioner of the New York Health Department.

"We do not do acupuncture," he said. "We do not recommend it."

But the spokesman did not shut the door on the subject, adding "we have a committee which is only doing research to see if it is a valid medical practice."

Comparatively, an enthusiastic answer came from Dr. William S. Derrick, head of anesthesiology at the University of Texas Medical School in Houston.

Soviets see Nixon 'guided'

By PETER J. SHAW
MOSCOW (UPI) — Realistic awareness of Soviet might and election-year considerations at home guided President Nixon at the Kremlin summit, a Soviet newspaper said Sunday.

The story in Komsomolskaya Pravda, the Young Communist League newspaper, was the first hard-line Soviet interpretation of the Kremlin summit. Western diplomats said it apparently answered American newspapers which have urged suspicion of Soviet motives or attacked the summit agreements as bargains with the enemy.

"The American press stresses that 1972 is an election year and President Nixon makes no foreign policy move without one eye on those elections," Komsomolskaya Pravda commentator Alexander Pumpiansky wrote.

"Surely the question: peace—to be or not to be—is incomparable in scale with the question of whether this or that American politician will be or not be (president). But the yardsticks of American politics are different in this respect."

Pumpiansky added: "Let us think about another thing. Some 10 or 15 years ago, some American leaders built their careers on anti-Sovietism. Now, some of those same leaders understand that only constructive attitudes toward the Soviet Union can bring popularity in the eyes of the public. This is precisely the dictate of reality."

The reference clearly included Nixon.

"In our days we are witnessing how the foreign policy of the United States is changing from pax Americana—the American formula for world domination—to recognition of the necessity for peaceful coexistence," Komsomolskaya Pravda said.

"But we should be well aware that this is a forced change, and it is precisely the anachronistic and military power of the Soviet Union and the Socialist countries that has forced the U.S. ruling circles into an agonizing reappraisal," it said.

O'Brien named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Speaker Carl Albert, who presided over the tumultuous 1968 Democratic National Convention, said Monday he will not accept the 1972 gavel and said he has suggested party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien for the job.

"I told Larry some time ago that I was not going to be chairman this time," Albert told reporters. "I recommended that Larry take the job himself."

Albert said he wants to go to the party convention in Miami Beach as a delegate, from Oklahoma, free to work on the convention floor. He denied that his unwillingness to become chairman resulted from the 1968 difficulties.

At one point in that convention, Albert found himself in the position of having to gavel down singing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic in memory of Robert F. Kennedy.

ABA reportedly plans to fold, regroup with NBA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—The American Basketball Association will dissolve before the end of June, and at least six of its teams will join the rival National Basketball Association, two North Carolina newspapers reported Monday.

The Charlotte Observer and the Greensboro Daily News said NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy already has tentatively agreed to the plan and will present it to NBA owners later this month.

The two newspapers, apparently quoting the same unidentified source, said Ted Munchak, owner of the Carolina Cougars of the ABA, has been the key man in the negotiations with Kennedy.

Munchak did not deny the reports, telling the Observer, "As far as the two leagues being one in the near future, I would rather not comment."

The Observer said Munchak would meet with Kennedy Thursday to complete details of the plan before the June 11-12 meeting of the ABA in New York.

The proposal will go to the NBA owners at their meeting three days later, June 15-16, at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., the newspaper said.

Both newspapers were told that the Memphis, Pittsburgh and Florida ABA franchises would be disbanded, that the Denver franchise would be "put on ice" while a new arena is built and that the Virginia club would have to pay off a sizeable debt to the ABA before it could be absorbed by the NBA.

The moves would leave Carolina, New York, Indiana, Philadelphia 76ers, would be Utah, Dallas and Kentucky as the only ABA clubs certain to be added to the NBA.

"Although there are still a few minor things to be worked out, by the end of June you should see but one league and Munchak has been the one who brought the two leagues together," the Observer was told.

The Daily News said Munchak had gotten approval from the NBA Players Association for elimination of the option clause, with players committed only for the length of their contracts.

The newspaper said Larry Folscher had chosen the plan from six options presented by Munchak, and the NBA will approve the proposal at its meeting.

The Daily News also said that Billy Cunningham, an All-League star with the NBA Philadelphia 76ers, would be given to Carolina, which has been involved for two years in a legal tug-of-war over him.

However, the newspapers said Jim MacDaniel, who jumped from Carolina to Seattle, would stay with the SuperSonics, who would reimburse Carolina for most of its $600,000 outlay for MacDaniel.

Kathy Whitworth will defend crown

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—Kathy Whitworth just keeps rolling along, seldom far from the front or far from the money.

Miss Whitworth, the all-time leading money winner on the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit, opens defense of her title here Thursday in the prestigious $50,000 Eve LPGA Championship at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Winner of the LPGA Player-of-the-Year award five of the six times it has been given and winner of the Vare Trophy for the lowest average score in six of the last seven years, Miss Whitworth ranks as a heavy favorite in the Eve Championship.

She has won the event twice—last year and in 1967 and tied for the championship in 1968 and 1970, only to lose 18-hole playoffs to Sandra Post and Shirley Englehorn.

But if Miss Whitworth is caught looking ahead to the U.S. Women's Open—the only major event on the tour that she has never won, there are plenty of challengers set to take over.

First, there is Carol Mann who defeated Miss Whitworth by two strokes to win the LPGA Lady Carling Open last weekend at Baltimore. She finished in a tie for seventh here last year. The Lady Carling won vaulted her into second place behind Miss Whitworth in the race for the $20,000 Eve Challenge Cup which is awarded on the basis of points given the top 10 finishers in each LPGA event. Then, there is Jane Blalock of Portsmouth, N.J., a local favorite who is the leading money winner on the tour this year, but whose status became a matter of controversy a week ago when she was suspended by the LPGA for "unethical conduct" and was ordered temporarily reinstated in Federal Court. Miss Blalock was tied for third a year ago.

Or, there is Betty Burdett of Canaan, N.Y., who has won two tournaments on the LPGA tour this year. She ranks third in the Eve Challenge Cup standings and won $25,700 in her first 10 events this year—more than she took home in her three previous years as a professional.

More than 70 women, including entrants from five foreign countries, will compete in the Eve Championship.

Board will hear Indy 500 appeal

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—A special board of the United States Auto Club will convene Tuesday to hear car owner Dan Gurney's appeal of a decision taking second place in the Indianapolis "500" from one of his drivers, Jerry Grant.

Gurney admits the race rules were violated but contends the penalty—dropping Grant from second to 12th place—was too severe.

The USAC panel will be composed of three persons to be named by Association President Charles Bruckman. Their identities were not to be announced until the hearing begins.

The hearing will be held behind closed doors.

Among those expected to be on hand were Gurney, Grant and George Bignotti, the chief mechanic for drivers Al Unser, Joe Leonard and Mario Andretti. Bignotti filed the original protest which resulted in Grant's demotion.

Grant was penalized for taking on fuel from the wrong pit—that of teammate Bobby Unser.

Gurney said Grant stopped with just 13 laps to go in the May 27 race to change a tire, but he wound up in Unser's pit instead of his own. Gasoline was pumped into his tank and he went on to finish second behind winner Mark Donohue.

Gurney conceded that the rules were violated when Unser's gas was put into Grant's racer, but contended that Grant already had enough fuel to finish before he made the unscheduled pit stop.

Chief Steward Harlan Bennett maintained Bignotti's protest and ruled Grant's finish could be 12th on the theory that when he took on Unser's gas, he was done racing for the day.

The difference between second and 12th place is about $72,000 in prize money.

No one has been paid for the second through 12th places, pending the outcome of the appeal.

Robinson tags Twins player

TAGGED OUT BY third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles is Eric Soderholm, third baseman for the Minnesota Twins, in the fourth inning Monday night in Baltimore. The play developed when George Mitterwald, Twins' catcher, missed a squeeze bunt and catcher John Dales of the Orioles, tripped Soderholm in a rundown between home and third base. Twins won the game, 3-2. (UPI Telephoto).

Twins post 3-2 win over Birds

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Bobby Darwin's sixth-inning double sent the Baltimore Orioles down to their fourth straight defeat as the Minnesota Twins rallied for a 3-2 victory Monday night.

Brooks Robinson smacked his first homer of the season but it wasn't enough for loser Dave McNally, who gave up a two-run double to Eric Soderholm in the fourth inning before Darwin knocked home Harmon Killebrew in the sixth with the game-winning.

Dick Woodson struck out six and walked four while allowing five hits in eight innings to receive credit for his fourth victory. McNally, 5-5, lasted seven innings, striking out four and walking two.

Mark Belanger singled in the Orioles' third inning, stole second base, went to third on a groundout before producing a 1-0 lead by scoring on Johnny Gales' hit single.

Darwin opened the Twins' fourth with a single, stopped at second when Steve Brye scratched a hit off McNally's leg and Soderholm's two-bagger to deep center scored both runners. Robinson homered in the fifth inning to tie the score at 2-2.

NHL announces stiffer rules

MONTREAL, UPI.—The joint rules committee of the National Hockey League announced at the opening session of the league's annual meeting Monday that the NHL would impose stiffer penalties on players using illegal sticks.

There was a great deal of controversy late last season when several players were charged with using illegal sticks. At that time, the league had a mandate to issue stiff fines, but the players were not penalized during the game.

The new rules state that a player using an illegal stick will receive a two-minute minor penalty and be handed a $200 fine.

All sticks must conform to NHL standards, with the blade of the stick between two and three inches wide.

A new instrument to measure sticks has been devised by NHL officials and the game time keeper will be in charge of measuring at any question should arise.

The investigation will only be made if the opposing team questions the legality of any player's stick. False claims will cost the complaining team $100.

In another ruling, the linesmen who work the games with the referee have been handed the additional responsibility of halting play when a player is injured.

Formerly, the game continued until the referee blew his whistle to stop play for an injury.

Meeting set

The Fish and Game Department will hold a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Pioneer Hall in Jerome featuring Jerry Madet, anadromous fishery adviser, who will speak on the status of current spring Chinook salmon run.

Baseball standout remarries at 71

NAHAGANSETT, R.I. (UPI)—Declaring, "I feel just marvelous," baseball great Frankie Frisch, 71, married for the second time Sunday.

Discarding a cane he had been using for some time, the Hall of Famer married the former Mrs. Augusta Kass, 63, in ceremonies attended by his brother George and the bride's daughter, Mrs. Bonnie Waterman.

Frisch, second baseman with the St. Louis Cardinals, said he is after peace and quiet—and a little baseball now and then.

"I go to ball games, but nobody knows me. I'm just an old man sitting around. I'd just as soon have it that way—peace and quiet—you know."

Frisch's first wife, Ada, died in January, 1971, after 48 years of marriage.

Arthritis has been knocking the hell out of me. But today is great. It's warm. It's good weather for me," he said.

Music professor dreams of making olympics as runner

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI)—It's not unusual to find college professors at the campus gymnasium playing basketball or basketball, trying to keep in shape.

It's not even unusual to see them in their sweat clothes jogging along a campus street for exercise, but it's doubtful if many keep in shape like Dr. Edwin Fry.

Fry, a professor of music at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, dreams of making the Olympic team as a long distance runner, and to keep himself in shape for the effort he runs 15 miles or more every day.

He says he has followed the same routine, seven days a week, in rain, snow, sleet or hail, since 1964.

"I started running in my junior year in high school," recalled Fry, now 32. "A group of kids used to race up the hills in the community, just for the sake of our own competition. Something inside always made me want to go farther than the other kids."

Like Dr. Delano Meriwether, the Baltimore hematologist-turned-sprinter, Fry's entry to competitive running came late in life.

"Four years ago, he got to the olympic semifinal tryouts in the marathon, but a pulled muscle forced him to drop out when he was running second with six miles to go. This year he is concentrating on the 10,000-meter event, where the competition is a little tougher, and he has the false illusions of greatness."

"The competition is so great," Fry concedes, "my chances are slim. But in everything I've ever done, I was late making. Even my piano playing came late. I didn't start playing the piano until I was in the seventh grade."

Five years after that, at the urging of his teacher, Fry entered DePaul University to study music, earning both bachelor's and master's degrees.

It was at DePaul that Fry got his first taste of competitive running.

"I won the first race I ever entered," Fry recalled. "Later, I received a scholarship to run on both the cross-country and track teams."

He lettered four years in both sports and, in his senior year, was named the team's Most Valuable Athlete.

Fry says he "must get up" for his running but he enjoys it despite the hard work and time he has to put into it.

"After four miles in a six-mile race, you're really in the twilight zone," he explained. "Your training says keep up the pace, but at a certain point in the race, your body says to your mind: slow up. It's at that instant you make a decision to go on, to keep the pace."

"That decision is always there, that given moment. If you overcome it, all of a sudden you discover you can go faster than you thought."

Even if he fails to make the Olympics this summer, Fry has no thoughts of giving up his "hobby."

"I saw on television recently a 104-year-old man who still runs five miles a day," he said. "That's encouraging. In 1968, I said I would never race again. But here I am. It looks now as if I'll keep running as long as I'm in good health."

"I plan to stay in shape and maybe run forever—or at least until I'm 104."

Sanders climbs PGA money list

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dashing Doug Sanders has vaulted 18 places in professional golf's weekly money-winning list as a result of his victory last Sunday in the Kemper Open. It was announced Monday by the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Sanders, who received $35,000 for winning the tournament at Charlotte, N.C., climbed from 26th to eighth place as he brought his earnings this year to $74,232. Last year Sanders won $24,891.

Jack Nicklaus continues to lead the money list, even though he did not play in the Kemper Open. Nicklaus has earned $156,051.

Lee Trevino, a second place finisher at Charlotte, has moved into second place with $118,397 followed in order by Jerry Heard ($108,111), George Archer ($106,963), Tom Weiskopf ($97,179), Bobby Mitchell ($85,665), Bruce Crampton ($84,241), Sanders, Bob Murphy ($74,232), and Dave Hill ($71,997).

10th inning homer lets A's edge Indians 3-2

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Bert Campaneris hit his third homer of the season in the 10th inning Monday night and Reggie Jackson clipped in with a two-run homer in the third to spoil Gaylord Perry's bid for his 10th victory as the Oakland Athletics took a 3-2 decision over the Cleveland Indians.

Sanders is top Open qualifier

By United Press International
Doug Sanders completed an unusual double Monday when he followed up Sunday's victory in the Kemper Open finishing first in the U.S. Open qualifying round at Charlotte, N.C.

Sanders, who complained jokingly Sunday that he'd have to wait an extra day before he could celebrate his first four victory in two years, had a lot more reason to celebrate after shooting rounds of 68 and 67 Monday over the par 71 Charlotte Country club course.

The 135 total, gave the flamboyant tour veteran the best score among the 64 golfers seeking to qualify at Charlotte for a berth in the U.S. Open, which will be staged at Pebble Beach, Calif., June 15-18.

Qualifying rounds were staged at various sites around the country Monday, and will continue again Tuesday to determine the final 115 places in the field of 150. There were 35 golfers who gained automatic exemption into the Open, led by defending champion Lee Trevino. Oddly, it was Trevino who lost by one stroke to Sanders in the Kemper Open Sunday.

Since the touring pros competed at Charlotte over the weekend, that's where most of the big names turned out for their qualifying bids Monday.

And the biggest name to fail there was veteran Sam Snead, who never has won the Open in his illustrious career. Snead started strong with a 69, but faded to 78 in the second round to leave him out of the picture.

Hubert Green was second to Sanders in the qualifying rounds with a 136, and tied for fourth two strokes farther back were Don Bies and Rod Funsoth. Other prominent qualifiers at Charlotte included Lou Graham (140), Bud Allin and John Schroeder (141), Dave Hill, Bob Lunn, Dave Marr, Bob Murphy, Mason Rudolph, Kermit Zarley, John Mahaffey and Forest Fezler (142).

Chris Sifford (.443), Bruce Devlin, Babe Hickey, Cesar Sanudo and Ken Still (144), and Dave Eichelberger, Gibby Gilbert and Fred Marti (145).

out by three. Oakland double plays, struck out two, walked two and gave up seven hits in 9-9 innings before giving way to Darol Knowles. Perry fanned eight, didn't walk a man and was tagged for eight hits in 13 decisions.

Oakland grabbed a 2-0 lead in the third inning after Odom singled and took second on a sacrifice by Campaneris. Campaneris was safe at first when Perry threw high to first. Joe Rudi bounced into a double play and Reggie Jackson, who has now knocked in 30 runs, belted one high over the center field fence.

The Indians spoiled Odom's shutout bid in the seventh and ended the Oakland pitcher's scoreless inning streak at 29. Alex Johnson led off with a double and scored on Graig Nettles' two-out single. Eddie Leon tied it at 2-2 in the eighth by smacking his third home run of the season.

Filer youth awarded medal

FILER — Larry Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Andrews, Filer, has been awarded the distinguished expert medal from the National Rifle Association of America.

The medal is the highest rifle qualification award in the nation. To join the group of high ranking marksmen, Andrews had to shoot hundreds of targets over a period of several months and climb through 14 lower qualification NRA ratings.

He is a member of the Filer Junior Rifle Club of which Ralph Dean is leader.

Andrews was graduated from the Filer High School this spring. He will attend the College of Southern Idaho. He has received a $150 scholarship from the Filer Baptist Church.

Cook scores ace in pro-am event

POCATELLO — Dick Cook of Twin Falls scored the first hole-in-one of his career during the annual Highland pro-am tournament Monday.

Cook, playing on the Blue Lakes Country Club team, hit a five-iron into the cup on the par three, 160-yard 10th green.

The 23-team field was headed by professional Ray Honsberger, Boise, and amateur Rick Spaeth, Ray Collard, Clair Anderson and Tom Kenrs.

Bob Hefley, Montpelier; Bill Mast, Boise, and Bill Downs, Preston, shared the professional sweepstakes title with two-under par 71.

Boise amateur Joe Flower took the low handicap amateur division with a 71 while Tim Turner, Pocatello, and Jim Packard, Twin Falls, tied for second at even par 73. In the net division, Bill Thompson, Pocatello, had a 68 to lead the low handicap side.

In the 10 and over handicap division, Clair Anderson of Pocatello won the gross with a one-over 74 and Robert Langdon, Twin Falls, topped the net with a 63.

Superstar Henry Aaron shuns privileges

BY MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Babe Ruth would go through this same little ritual every day.

It got to be a game or charade he and Joe McCarthy played during the Babe's final season with the Yankees in 1934.

"How do you feel?" McCarthy would ask Ruth rather casually before each ball game.

The Great Man would grunt once or twice, making up his mind in the process, and then would let the Yankee manager know whether or not he felt like playing baseball that day.

Joe McCarthy was and still is a bright, perceptive man. Treating Ruth the way he did in that difficult twilight time, he kept a molehill from ever becoming a mountain.

That was more than 35 years ago but times haven't changed that much, especially in baseball where few things ever change.

Have you ever heard of R H I P? It's an old Navy saying which means Rank Has Its Privileges and it applies in baseball the same way it does in the Navy.

A Rick Dempsey with Minnesota, for example, isn't shown quite the same deference as a Harmon Killebrew; a Bob Gallagher with Boston doesn't get quite the same treatment as a Carl Yastrzemski. The Dempseys and Gallaghers no more expect it than the Killebrews and Yastrzemskis did when they came up.

Outside baseball, this is known simply as seniority and if anybody qualifies under that heading in baseball today it has to be Hank Aaron.

Aaron is putting in his 18th season with the Braves but it comes to much more than merely a matter of days, weeks and months with him.

For one thing there's Ruth's record, something Hank Aaron keeps hearing about everywhere he goes. Aaron has 648 homers and the excitement among people grows as he approaches Ruth's record total of 714.

Hank Aaron is 38 and certainly entitled to all the so-called "privileges" accorded a superstar but he does not go through any such ritual with Lum Harris, his manager, that Ruth did with McCarthy.

"I never looked for any special privileges," he says in that soft, melodic way of his that isn't in any way put on but really is pure Hank Aaron.

"The only way you're gonna have a good ball club, one with no trouble or dissension, is for the manager to treat every player alike whether he happens to have 600 home runs or only one. Why treat Hank Aaron any different than Ralph Garr, Dusty Baker, Earl Williams or Darrell Evans? I can't see where I'm entitled to more than anyone else on this club. It just wouldn't be right."

If you get the idea Hank Aaron is playing Henry Modest, and that he's only saying all this just to see how nice it looks in print, then you really don't know him. You don't know him at all.

Take a little thing like punctuality, a thing many big stars often abuse.

At home, the Braves generally start their hitting practice at 6:15 P.M. Aaron usually is at the ballpark by 3:30, never any later than 3:45.

He has NEVER been late to the park since he has been in the big leagues. Think of that! We're talking about 18 years now.

Aaron was fined only once in his entire career and that was a long time ago. Typically, he was fined because he was helping someone else. It was a rookie with the Braves who didn't know his way to the airport when the franchise still was in Milwaukee. Aaron promised to come by and show him and was tardy reaching the airport. Notified of the fine, Aaron did another thing typical of him. He paid without a whimper.

When he feels he no longer is able to keep playing ball, a condition he hopes is at least 4-5 years away, Hank Aaron vows he will not try to "hang on."

They all say that, I reminded him, and then hang on anyway.

"I don't care what anyone else does," he said. "I'm never gonna stick around and embarrass myself. Never."

Lum Harris claims managing would be a cakewalk if they were all like Hank Aaron. He's never a problem, says Harris.

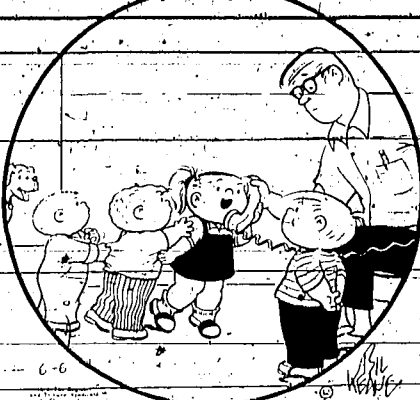

"He's played two doubleheaders for us this season already, whaddya think of that? I'm sure he plays lots of times when he shouldn't be playing, when he's hurt."

(And if Aaron ever changes his mind and decides to "hang on," Harris wouldn't blame him a bit. What's wrong with hanging on?)

"I did," confesses Harris. "My arm hurt worse'n a toothache when I was 35 but they kept paying me $1,100 a month in Triple A so I kept right on pitching when I couldn't really pitch anymore. If they were nice enough to pay me, I was nice enough to try. It was better than carrying a lunch pail."

"Finally after 4-5 years, the manager, Nick Culp, called me to his room one day and said 'We made a deal, and I'm sorry to have to tell you you're released.' I told him that's okay. I know I can't pitch anymore. So do you. That was back in 1951. But I was fortunate enough to know a fellow (Paul Richards), he brought me back to the big leagues as a coach

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day for all kinds of interesting new beginnings that appeal to you and through which you can make your highest dreams and cherished longings come true. So be active after first using your fine mind to make the decision vital to your growth and development. Be open-minded to desirable changes.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Being friendly with others gets them to go along with your ideas very easily. Your social savoir faire is good and you should get out to parties, etc., and make a big impression on others. Dress beautifully.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to make right arrangements if you want those projects you have in mind to turn out successfully. A little time spent with one who is in trouble can be very helpful. Show that you care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan to see many of your friends soon and call them now to make appointments. You can go after your finest personal aims and get them if you act positively. (Take it easy in p.m.)

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) More courtesy shown bigwigs today. Will position them as you wish, but be sure you follow every regulation that applies to you. Some civic work can be very helpful to you, also—become involved in it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you get into new projects, you find that much of benefit can be yours thereby. Take time to correspond with others, also—Plan to do some traveling soon. Read travel folders now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Start right now taking care of those responsibilities and get them behind you with speed, efficiency. Follow your hunches and please others more than you have in the past. Show you have wisdom, also.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Those close to you will now speak their minds and you know better where you stand with them. Have more harmonious relations through fine conversations that are to the point. Arguing is not good, though.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Make the right arrangements with people who whom you have made promises, or whom you want to have in your life, in the future. Showing mate your devotion in some tangible way is wise. Reach a better understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have much time for getting into recreations you like today or tonight. Perfect that skill you have so you can derive greater benefits from it. Evening can be most enjoyable from the social standpoint.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you consent to the desires of those who dwell with you, you find you reach a fine note of harmony now. Do whatever will start an uptrend in all your affairs. Show you have true ability.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A good day to keep appointments of importance where your business or career are concerned. You get the right results. Cooperate with associates more, too. See persons heretofore unavailable to you.

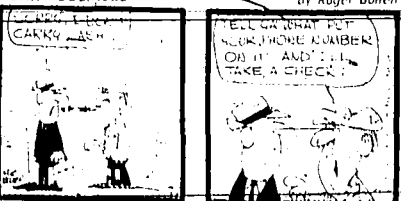

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Start a new beginning at gaining whatever will make you a more prosperous and influential person. Your ideas are good and so is your ability to achieve, for moving and all works to your benefit.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those self-acting people who wants to know what is going on around him or her and come up with fine ideas for improving conditions, ideas, situations, etc. Teach early to complete whatever has been started and you get your clever child off on a successful course of life. Otherwise you could have a rolling stone that gathers no moss. This logical mind will then become stable and persevering. Ethical training early, too.

Gray Men Are Good Natured

Men who have become prematurely GRAY usually are good-natured. A light-haired man is always conceited. Dark hair on a man is a sign of loyalty. The best husbands will be found among those with fine brown hair. Such are the personal convictions of a St. Louis theorist who admits but rare exceptions.

QUERIES Q—Where does the name Kwanin come from? A—An Indian word meaning "to make oneself known." The Kwanin Club members are proud of this you know. They're also said to be proud of the generally accepted contention that Kwaninans are better jobbers than Rotarians.

Q—"DID YOU say the water skiers outnumber the snow skiers?" A—Did that fly five to two they do.

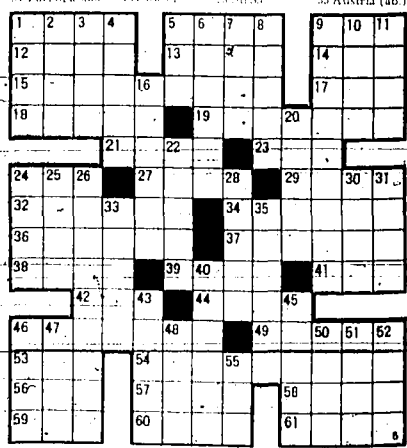

Q—"WHO SAID" To my embarrassment, I was born in bed with a lady? A—That was Wilson Mizner. He also said, "When a woman tells you her age, it's all right to look surprised, but don't say, 'And there's something'."

MAJOR HOOPLE

England says goodbye to Duke of Windsor

WINDSOR, England (UPI)—The nation said farewell to the Duke of Windsor Monday in funeral services attended by Queen Elizabeth and the royal family and carried by radio to the land he once ruled as King Edward VIII.

The services themselves in St. George's Chapel were private, only for some 200 family and close friends, but millions more listened to the last rites for a man whose hold on his former subjects even 36 years after he abdicated was shown by the 60,000 who came to his lying-in-state.

The Duchess of Windsor, 75 and suffering from the shock of her husband's death in Paris May 20, attended the services under the watchful eye of her New York physician, Dr. Arthur Antenucci. She declined the Queen's invitation to remain as a guest at Buckingham Palace and will return home today in a royal plane.

Burial was scheduled in the royal family cemetery at Frogmore House, half a mile from the chapel.

The Duchess drove to Windsor from Buckingham Palace this morning in time to join the royal ladies—the Queen, Queen Mother, Elizabeth, Princess Anne, Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Gloucester whose husband the late Duke's brother, is an invalid and unable to attend. They took seats in the choir.

The coffin was brought in by Welsh Guardsmen—the Duke was colonel-in-chief of the regiment. Walking behind it came the Dean of Windsor, who officiated at the funeral, and the Archbishops of Canterbury and York and the moderator of the general assembly of the Church of Scotland, who attended at the Queen's request.

Then came the only foreign monarch, King Olaf V of Norway, first cousin to the Duke, Prince Philip, Prince Duke of Beaufort, a cousin of Edward Albert Christian Charles, the heir to the throne, the Queen.

Prince Richard and Prince William of Gloucester, the Duke's personal red and gold standard, of Kent, Prince Michael of Kent, Earl Mountbatten and the reading: "I.I.R.H. the Prince 1936."

George Andrew David Patrick, Duke of Windsor. Born 1894. Died 1972. King Edward VIII 20th January-11th December 1936.

Marshall Plan memorial told

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Western Europe with the capital and raw materials it needed to regain its vitality, Brandt said. "I mean above all that the Marshall plan challenged the European partners to enter into closer economic cooperation."

Inherent in the plan was an appeal for a common political course," he said. "That was the basic element of the program which without hesitation I would say bears the mark of genius."

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Marshall Plan which he said "bears the mark of genius," Monday announced the establishment of a $46.6-million German Marshall Plan Memorial to advance the study of problems facing the United States and Europe.

Brandt revealed the program at a special convocation at Harvard University, where the Marshall plan first was put forward a quarter century ago by then Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

In his address, the West German leader called the Marshall plan "one of the most formidable and at the same time successful achievements of the United States of America."

Under his proposal, West Germany will fund the Marshall Plan Memorial with equal contributions over the next 15 years for a total of $46.6 million.

The funds, which he said will be administered independently, would finance "the comparative study of problems confronting advanced industrial societies in Europe, North America and other parts of the world; the study of problems of international relations that pertain to the common interests of Europe and the United States; and support for the field of European studies."

Brandt also told the Sanders Theater audience that included Harvard University President Derek C. Bok of four other actions his government was taking to memorialize the Marshall plan.

One was a non-recurring grant of close to $1 million to Harvard University for the establishment of a "German Marshall Memorial Endowment."

The German government also will increase its financial support for the German-American Fulbright Program, support an exchange program of German and American scientists and underwrite another program for the exchange of scholars in the field of the humanities, the chancellor said.

Civil Liberties Union says Sinatra damaged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) protested Monday that Frank Sinatra has been subjected to unfair "trial by publicity" because of hearsay testimony taken by a House committee investigating crime in sports.

The ACLU took issue with the testimony given May 24 by Joseph Barboza, a self-described mob "enforcer" who said he had been told Sinatra had links with alleged New England crime boss Raymond Patriarca.

Sinatra has been subpoenaed to testify before the House Select Committee on Crime on Thursday.

Of the Barboza testimony, an ACLU statement said: "This is a classic example of trial by publicity. Mr. Sinatra's case is but one example of a congressional committee publicly hearing adverse testimony, unproved, unchecked, and unrefuted, which could cause irreparable damage to the reputation of the person discussed."

Even if Sinatra clears his name, the ACLU said, "too much damage already has been done by them."

Barboza testified he had been told that Sinatra had an interest in a Las Vegas casino and a Miami Beach hotel on Patriarca's behalf. Committee investigators also noted that the entertainer once was vice president of Berkshire Downs Race Track at Hancock, Mass., in which Patriarca was said to have held an interest.

The ACLU said the testimony against Sinatra should not have been made public until he had opportunity to be heard.

Wallace converses with successor

SILVER SPRING (UPI)—Gov. George C. Wallace talked by telephone Monday morning from Holy Cross Hospital with his temporary legal successor as Alabama's chief executive, Lt. Gov. Jere Beasley, to establish a cooperative working basis.

Beasley became governor at 12:01 a.m. EDT, 21 days after Wallace was shot at a political rally at Laurel, Md.

Alabama law provides for the lieutenant governor to assume the gubernatorial reins if a governor is absent from the state more than 20 successive days. Wallace will resume the governorship when he returns to Alabama.

"Beasley assured the governor he would do nothing without the governor's approval," Wallace's press aide Elvin Stanton told newsmen.

Doctors have declined to predict when Wallace, who remains paralyzed from the waist down as a result of the shooting, will be able to return to Alabama.

Stanton described the telephone conversation as cordial and relaxed.

"The relationship (between Wallace and Beasley) is one of cooperation," he said. "There have been political differences in the past. These matters have not been discussed since the shooting."

Stanton said drainage from an abdominal infection which doctors said is their major concern in Wallace's recovery "has decreased quite significantly."

"He looked real well," Stanton said after visiting Wallace in the morning.

Report pops up

WATERBURY, Conn. (UPI)—There's a corporate report nowadays that even the kiddies could enjoy. It's Scovill's annual report which, as it's opened, pops up a house and automobile from the center fold, depicting in 3-D color, the company's housing products, housewares, home sewing aids, apparel fasteners and auto products in their natural settings.

The reason the company uses this novel technique in the report, says its president, John C. Hollos, is to show its transformation to mainly a consumer products company after being best known for its industrial and metals works.

ASTROLOGY CHART? No, the above is the new streamlined organization chart of the administration program of Twin Falls. City departments and advisory boards form the spokes of the wheel to carry public service programs to the citizens of the city.

City structure

Speaker slated

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Chapter of Retired Persons has scheduled Tony E. McNevin to speak at its next meeting, June 20 at the IOOF Hall in Twin Falls.

McNevin is a social services case worker for the Department of Public Assistance. He will advise the group on available programs and programs being considered for adoption in the future.

Interested guests are invited to attend the 2 p.m. meeting.

Twin Falls streamlines structure

TWIN FALLS — A through the department to principal employees and then sent on to the next department head.

Topics to be covered include such matters as leadership, planning, directing and preparing work programs, handling grievances, instructing and training employees, public relations, organization and direction of duties and responsibilities.

Milar said in addition the city continues the practice of sending department heads and key employees to training seminars meetings and workshops in the fields in which they are involved.

"No one is perfect," Milar said. "Our contention is everyone can benefit to some extent by additional training even if part of the programs are repetitious. We also benefit by sending officials to training programs where they are in contact with officials of other cities who meet and solve the same problems they do. In turn we probably help some of the other cities' department heads and employees through an exchange of practices and ideas."

Milar said the city manager's office will be the direct control of all departments and subordinate administrators.

At that time, Milar also presented the proposed 15-week training program prepared by the International Association of City Managers.

Milar, who said he believes strongly in continuous training programs for all city employees, department heads and officials, said the training program is basic and easy to absorb.

He said the entire course is divided into 15 chapters and each will go to a different department head for one week, be discussed and passed

Success seen for Nixon bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With a nose count showing that President Nixon's revenue sharing bill likely will pass, House leaders Monday ordered it called up for a vote next week.

The bill would give cities and states $30 billion out of federal revenues over a five-year period. It has been because of indications it was in trouble.

Speaker Carl Albert announced it would be called up for debate June 13, and that a vote will come the following day. Democratic Leader Hale Boggs said a poll of members indicated it would be approved.

The crucial test is expected not of the bill itself but on ground rules for its consideration. As recommended by the Rules Committee, the arrangement is to allow no amendments other than those sponsored by the Ways and Means Committee, which drafted the measure.

County fair plans include free shows

TWIN FALLS — Plans for free afternoon entertainment at the Twin Falls County Fair this fall, and a double arena rodeo were discussed Monday afternoon by fair board members.

Tom Shouse, executive secretary and fair manager, said the use of a divided or double arena during the National High School Rodeo here last year proved highly successful.

He said it is the first time the county, or probably any county has tried the use of two arenas for their rodeo but he said it is felt it will have a special appeal.

In the smaller arena such events as children's calf roping, and other youth events will be held while the main rodeo events are underway in the larger arena area.

This will eliminate any delay between events such as the time lapse while stock is being moved in and out of the chutes. Efforts will be made to time the events so as not to conflict, Shouse said.

Afternoon free shows in the shade of the fairground trees will include old-time events such as a fiddlers jamboree, an Antique Festival performance, talent shows and other events.

Shouse said grass is being started in the area where the grandstand fencing burned several years ago and this will be used for a farm machinery display.

Angela celebrates with victory toast

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Angela Davis sipped champagne in a victory toast with the jurors who acquitted her Sunday of murder-kidnap charges and celebrated later at an ear-splitting public party.

The black militant made her public appearance at a suburban night club where more than 600 boisterous supporters packed the darkened dance floor, dancing to the beat of a three-piece band.

Miss Davis sat quietly in a booth with her family and friends while a dozen strongly built security men guarded onlookers and dozens of newsmen trying to get a glance at her.

Television and newspaper cameramen were ordered out of the nightclub and three Yugoslavian journalists flown here by the U.S. Information Agency especially for the verdict were roughly pushed away from Miss Davis' table.

Dressed in a sleeveless red top over black slacks, the bespectacled Miss Davis several times clutched her hands to her ears and pressed her head against the table to blot out the amplified musical instruments.

The crowd, which included numerous whites and small children held on parents' shoulders, cheered loudly when Miss Davis, 28, arrived at the Safari Room, almost seven hours after she had told friends she would make the appearance.

Friends said she rested and talked with colleagues for several hours after a 3-1-2 hour private victory party she hosted for nine jurors and one alternate.

The quieter party was held at a friend's house where Miss Davis had been staying during the almost 14 weeks of trial. Jurors toasted Miss Davis with champagne and the former defendant signed autographs. Some of the jurors later arrived at the Safari Room fest.

A spokeswoman for the Angela Davis Defense Committee said that the defense had cost approximately $250,000. She said contributions would not meet all the costs, but that the deficit would not be known until the final bookkeeping.

McGovern says acquittal cause for rejoicing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern told a crowd of cheering blacks at a rally in Watts Sunday that the acquittal of Angela Davis should be "cause for rejoicing."

McGovern, speaking two hours after a jury in San Jose cleared Miss Davis of involvement in the Marin County courthouse shooting, was greeted by a crowd chanting:

"Power of the people has freed Angela." "This is a happy day which I can understand," he said. "This is another demonstration that we can be pleased about. That's not a cause for mourning. That's not a cause for protest. That ought to be a cause for rejoicing."

Judge recites to jury

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—light on the awful matter, it After an acquittal was announced Sunday in the Angela Davis murder-kidnap conspiracy trial, Judge Richard E. Arnason commented the jury by reading them a quotation from "The Twelve Men" by G. K. Chesterton: "Our civilization has decided, and very justly decided, that determining the guilt or innocence of men is a thing too important to be entrusted to trained men. If it wishes for

Little dispute faced jurors' deliberation

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—One of the jurors who acquitted Angela Davis said there was "surprisingly little dispute" during the 13 hours of deliberations in the murder-kidnap conspiracy trial.

"From the very start we more or less considered it a very doubtful case," said Robert Seidel, 69, oldest juror.

"It was all circumstantial and we just couldn't forge a link" between Miss Davis and Jonathan Jackson, the 17-year-old youth who carried the guns into the Marin County courtroom and kidnaped five hostages.

Seidel said communism and race were never mentioned during the deliberations because Miss Davis "was not charged with being a Communist."

Seidel said the jurors were not swayed by the closing arguments. "Most of the women on that jury were college graduates and didn't listen to that stuff. What we were interested in was the evidence."

"Some of it looked kind of bad, like the gun she bought two days before it happened. But the judge's instructions made it clear we must be convinced beyond any reasonable doubt that she was guilty."

US troop strength in Viet drops to new low

SAIGON (UPI) The U.S. command said Monday that American troop strength in Vietnam dropped to 63,700 last week, the lowest level in seven years, but still short of President Nixon's goal of 49,000 by the end of the month.

The troop level represented a drop of 1,100 men from the previous week, including 517 men in eight units which were deactivated.

Among the deactivated units was the 138th Aviation Company, the intelligence arm of the secrecy-shrouded 8th Radio Research Station at Phu Bai, 17 miles south of Hue and America's northernmost major base in Vietnam.

Military sources said the company had 200 men and flew U6 and U8 propeller planes loaded with complex electronic gear to collect intelligence information for ground analysts.

American commanders, worried about the security of the station when the Communists started their current offensive, beefed up Phu Bai's defenses with air cavalry troops from the Saigon area and infantrymen from Da Nang.

In addition, a company of Vietnamese mercenaries trained and commanded by American officers helped guard the sprawling installation, military sources said.

Degradation of the aviation company will leave about 1,000 U.S. troops at Phu Bai, including American security forces, the sources said.

The chief job of the 8th Radio Research Station, according to the sources, has been to monitor North Vietnamese radio broadcasts and messages to and from Communist units in the field.

The seven other units deactivated along with the aviation company were logistical and administrative detachments.

The U.S. command said the troop level of 63,700 last week was the lowest since June of 1965 when 59,000 American troops were in Vietnam. The command said another 14,700 troops will have to leave the country by June 30 to meet the President's target of 49,000.

But military spokesmen said the drop of 1,100 men last week was the largest in four weeks.

Soviet agency lauds Angela's acquittal

MOSCOW (UPI) The official Tass news agency said today the acquittal of Angela Davis "signifies a victory for progressive American and world opinion."

The first official Soviet commentary of the Angela Davis acquittal refused to give any credit in principle to American justice, but said it was the collapse of a frame-up, too offensive to be accepted even by the jury.

The decision of the court in San Jose signifies victory for progressive American and world opinion," Tass said. "but the charges against Angela Davis were so obviously a frame-up that even the specially-selected jury, which did not include a single Negro or poor person, was forced to reject them."

The Soviet press has championed Miss Davis as a hero being persecuted because she was black and a Communist. It invariably referred to her case as "a frame-up" and never reported the detailed background of the case or the charges.
