Girl tells of crash in India

SURVIVOR of Japan Air Lines DC8 in New Delhi, India, Gabrielle Sundblad, 11, talks to unidentified branch manager of Swedish manufacturing firm in Indian hospital. Gabrielle sustained fractured wrist and abrasions. She was among five survivors of crash, which took lives of 84 persons including her parents and brother. (Related story, p. 6) (UPI)

Gem Demos open state convention

SUN VALLEY Throngs of Idaho Democrats converged on Sun Valley today for the beginning of the party's state convention. Accommodations here are "bumped solid" with a majority of the anticipated 1,200 participants arriving this afternoon without 400 guests staying at Sun Valley condominiums and the bulk filling Ketchum accommodations to near capacity.

Preliminary activities scheduled for today included platform hearings, rules, credential and executive meetings.

Possible competition for at least three party offices may spice the affair.

A candidates' workshop is scheduled tonight. Two new candidates for office appeared on the scene Wednesday when Carolyn Selander, Boise, said she will run for national committeewoman, and Gloria Cartan, Idaho Falls, announced for vice chairman.

Last week, Ralph Harding, Blackfoot, said he will not seek another term as national committeeman. Former State Sen. James Donart, Weiser, said he will run for the job. Brent Bell, Rexburg, is rumored to be another contender.

State Chairman Joe McCarter, Corral, will call the convention to order Friday morning. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will give the keynote address after election of a permanent chairman and other officials.

Party officers and presidential electors will be chosen that afternoon and more committee meetings are planned.

According to McCarter, presidential candidates Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie and Terry Sanford are expected to arrive Friday. Saturday, the Democrats will adopt a campaign platform and pick delegates to the national convention. All but four of the state's 17 national convention votes are pledged on the first ballot as a result of grass roots caucuses in April.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will address a banquet winding up the affair Saturday evening.

Gem tension study asked

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Human Rights commission has proposed a study with the University of Idaho to look into what is causing tension between law enforcement agencies and minority groups in the state.

The study proposal came on the heels of an executive order signed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus calling for the establishment of a procedure to investigate complaints by citizens regarding abuses by individual peace officers.

Judy Grimes, attorney-director of the commission, said today grant applications are being prepared to seek funds for the study which could take as long as two years.

She said the commission would work with the education, psychology, sociology and anthropology departments at the university. Graduate students would do the "leg work" in compiling the study.

Miss Grimes said she had met with department heads at the university and another meeting is scheduled for July. She said reports received in her office indicate there is tension between minority groups and police throughout the state.

Several complaints are presently being investigated and they range from "selective law enforcement" to "rough handling of inmates in city and county jails."

Besides looking into law enforcement practices, the study would also delve into the hiring practices of city, county and state police. It would determine how many policemen in the state are from minority groups and what type of recruitment programs could be created to attract minority members to law enforcement.

"We expect to find that there are very few minority members in police and sheriff's departments throughout the state," Miss Grimes said.

"This may be one of the factors of the tension between police and minority members," she said.

The study would also recommend a course of study for policemen in the field of human relations.

Miss Grimes said complaints against police have come from most cities in the state, but the most recent were from residents in Homedale, Pafina and Pocatello.

Aging B52 craft show war stress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Older B52s constituting almost 40 percent of the Air Force fleet may have expensive structural problems caused by metal fatigue in the wings.

An Air Force spokesman questioned about the problems said 144 of the bombers are flying missions in Vietnam and 27 are being used for crew training.

The Air Force has 451 B52s. The planes are flying normal missions, the spokesman said, but are operating under load, climb and turn restrictions to lessen the danger factor.

Pentagon sources said the Air Force might decide to keep flying the older bombers under precautions without repairing them. The weakness is extremely difficult to assess and estimates for repairs range between $500,000 and $1 million per plane.

Initial indications of the trouble appeared in a heavily censored transcript, released Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a move foreseen by framers of the 1970 Clean Air Act, the government has started the process of forcing states to impose air cleanup rules distasteful to key industries.

The argument for this federal power was that states would be unwilling to risk the disfavor and perhaps the subsequent move to a more lenient state of economically vital industries. The law set federal standards limiting six air pollutants. States were required to submit plans this year that would meet the standards by mid-1975.

But the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) was empowered to veto state provisions falling short of federal requirements and to impose its own rules on any states that are recalcitrant.

On May 31, the EPA approved plans submitted by 11 states plus Guam, Puerto Rico and American Samoa.

Wednesday the agency proposed more stringent provisions for 24 states and the Virgin Islands. The 24 included 10 states that were told to tighten restrictions on industrial emissions of nitrogen oxides or hydrocarbons.

Provisions for the other 14 states involved lesser inadequacies such as record keeping, pollution measuring and public disclosure.

The EPA said it would soon propose similar plan improvement for the remaining 15 states and the District of Columbia.

Wednesday's action proposed tighter hydrocarbon limits for Texas, Louisiana and Tennessee. The EPA said hydrocarbons come largely from petroleum plants, oxygen furnaces, storage tanks and organic solvents.

School aid boost eyed

BOISE (UPI) — A legislative council committee on school financing decided Thursday it must study how and to what extent public education may be funded from the state level.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the committee, warned a U.S. Supreme Court decision on use of property tax to finance public education is expected next February or March while the 1973 legislature is in session.

"Our work is already cut out for us on a national basis," he said. "We need to be tooled up and ready and if we have all the research we'd be ready to go."

Barker said the state-level funding bill approved by the House during the 1972 session but held in the Senate contained some disparities which would have to be ironed out before any bill is acceptable to the lawmakers.

He said in Elmore County the measure diverting revenue to a state-level fund for public education would have relieved public school and county districts of 18 mills for education. But he said to replace the money local entities would have had to levy 19 mills to support local government.

He said Coeur d'Alene and Twin Falls were "nearly as bad" because those areas must support junior college districts with some money from the state.

He suggested Idaho look only toward 100 per cent funding of the instructional level of education.

Idaho vets open meet

TWIN FALLS — The state meeting of the Veterans of World War I and Auxiliary opened business sessions here today.

This afternoon Gov. Cecil Andrus is scheduled to address the meeting. The time was not definite this morning because the governor will fly in from Sun Valley where he is attending the State Democratic Convention.

About 75 department members and 100 auxiliary members have registered for the convention which concludes Saturday.

In addition to business meetings and a memorial service prior to the governor's speech, the convention delegates will travel to Jackpot tonight for a social event.

US suspends raids for Russian visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has temporarily suspended bombing strikes around Hanoi during the visit of Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, informed U.S. officials said today.

Officials were hoping that Podgorny would be able to persuade Hanoi's leaders to take a more conciliatory line at the Paris peace table.

The North Vietnamese recently have displayed anger toward Soviet leaders for holding summit meetings with President Nixon just after he had ordered the mining of their harbors, affecting the Russian supply ships, as well as ordering round-the-clock bombing of North Vietnam.

Bombing of the southern sector of North Vietnam apparently is continuing during Podgorny's visit.

It was clear that the administration did not want to repeat a 1968 situation when bombing continued around Hanoi while Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was in the North Vietnamese capital.

White House officials declined to discuss the reported temporary bombing halt on grounds that they never talk about "operational procedures."

Mr. T-N SAYS

What will really be fine is when Twin Falls streets are paved as well as the downtown parking lots.

TF theater loss probed

TWIN FALLS Twin Falls Police are investigating an embezzlement which occurred at a Twin Falls movie theater.

Tim Qualls, captain of detectives, said about $4,000 is believed to have been embezzled from the Orpheum Theater, owned by International Theaters of Salt Lake City.

US growth rate slows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The growth rate of U.S. production and wages and salaries slowed from April to May, according to key economic indicators.

The Federal Reserve Board and the Commerce Department, reporting in succession Wednesday, said wages and salaries rose $3 billion and the output of factories, mines and utilities increased 0.5 per cent in the month to month comparisons.

From March to April, pay had risen $5.1 billion and production per cent.

The Commerce Department also gave a first quarter report on the U.S. balance of payments.

The $3 billion increase for pay in May included $1 billion in retroactive wages. All personal income for May rose $1.8 billion, down from $5.3 billion in April.

Even though industrial production slowed in May from April, it still marked the ninth straight month of growth.

The department reported an increase in production of consumer goods—carpets, furniture and some appliances—construction materials and steel. Textiles, paper and chemicals were largely unchanged. Automobile production was down slightly.

The industrial production index stood at 111.6 per cent.

Jets hammer Viet railroad bridges

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. fighter-bombers swept into North Vietnam Wednesday, hitting a supply facility, a railroad bridge and blasting three fuel storage areas, military spokesmen said today. The attacks steered clear of Hanoi, where Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny began talks with North Vietnamese leaders.

U.S. command spokesmen said a carrier-based U.S. Navy A7 Corsair was shot down off the Gulf of Tonkin in one of the raids and the pilot was listed as missing. The spokesman said he believed the plane "was downed by a surface-to-air (SAM) missile."

U.S. B52 bombers flew into North Vietnam for a record eighth consecutive day today. Their targets were Communist supply bunkers around Vinh and Dong Hoi in the panhandle area, a command spokesman said.

The air strikes set off a large secondary explosion at the Nam Dinh petroleum products storage area, a command spokesman said.

age area 40 miles southwest of Hanoi, spokesmen said. The planes swept close to Vinh, 164 miles south of the capital, where pilots reported their bombs caused three large fires at a tank farm and sent black smoke gushing 1,000 feet into the sky.

Carrier pilots of the U.S. 70th Fleet also hit a petroleum area just north of Thanh Hoa, 85 miles south of Hanoi, spokesmen said. During the 24-hour period ending at 5 p.m. Wednesday, they said, U.S. planes hit a troop and supply facility 33 miles northwest of Hanoi, a railroad bridge 38 miles away and the three petroleum storage areas.

Podgorny flew to Hanoi today for conferences, with Hanoi officials, presumably to discuss the recent U.S.-Soviet summit talks between President Nixon and Moscow leaders.

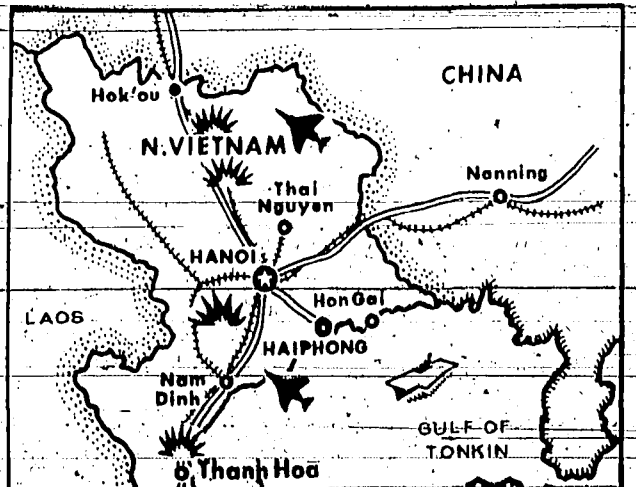

The B52 raids followed fighter-bomber strikes in record numbers in North Vietnam Tuesday with F4 Phantom jets knocking out four bridges within sight of China despite Peking warnings that U.S. air raids were hitting too close to the Chinese border. The strikes cut rail supply lines connecting the Chinese border with Hanoi.

In the ground war, South Vietnamese commanders today reported a new outbreak of heavy fighting between government rangers and North Vietnamese forces in the month-long struggle for the Central Highlands city of Kontum.

The U.S. Command said today six Americans were killed in action last week and 32 wounded. The previous week 11 U.S. soldiers were killed and 20 wounded. The Saigon command said 632 government soldiers were killed and 2,302 wounded last week and placed Communist casualties for the period at 3,719 dead.

Communist mortarmen fired a dozen rounds at the Marble Mountain Airfield.

Nixon urges Congress OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon personally urged key members of Congress today to approve the arms limitation agreements with Russia by Sept. 1 so that a second round of negotiations could begin in October.

At the same time, Nixon told more than 120 senators and House members at a White House meeting that U. S. defenses must remain strong so that the Soviet Union would have reason to negotiate the more stringent arms control measures.

It was the first disclosure that the next round of arms negotiations was scheduled to begin in October.

Soviet leader heads for Hanoi

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny headed for Hanoi today with what may be a new Soviet initiative to end the Vietnam War, Communist sources said.

Podgorny, who stopped overnight in Calcutta, was scheduled to proceed to the North Vietnamese capital today.

The Soviet head of state, President Nixon's official host last month, "may also try to work out with the North Vietnamese leaders realistic proposals for the resumption of the Paris peace talks," the sources said.

Regional Obituaries

Ray Weaver V.E. Smith Mrs. Simpson Byron Duke

BOHIL — Ray W. Weaver, 81, Buhl, died of a long illness Wednesday at the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital.

He was born March 8, 1891, at Washington County, Pa. He married Emily O. Nancolas on May 21, 1945, in Tjoko, Nev. He moved from Pennsylvania to Brunswick, Neb., and came to the Buhl area in 1907.

Mr. Weaver was a well-known building contractor in Magic Valley and lived in Buhl most of his adult life. He retired in 1956.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Surviving, besides his widow, are a son, Mike L. Nancolas, Caldwell; two daughters, Mrs. F. C. (Betty) Scherbinske and Mrs. Bill (Larrene) Logan, both Twin Falls; a brother, Harry B. Weaver, Buhl; four sisters, Mrs. Robert Maxwell, Buhl; Mrs. Verna Heyls, Camas, Wash.; Mrs. Thelma Heath, Portland, Ore.; and Mrs. Joe Conople, Lincoln, Neb., and seven grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by three brothers and one sister. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday at the Buhl Presbyterian Church by Rev. John Wallace. Final rites will be in the Buhl Cemetery. The family suggests any memorial contributions be made to the heart fund. Friends may call at Albertson-Dickard Chapel from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday and until noon Monday.

HANSEN — Mrs. Bertha Simpson, 84, Hansen, died early today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Born July 28, 1887, in Coal Creek, Colo., she was married to Ora D. Simpson at Giffard, Kan., on Oct. 18, 1905. He died on July 3, 1957. Their married life was spent in Crawford County, Kan. Mrs. Simpson came to Hansen 14 years ago to live with a son.

She was a member of the United Methodist Church. Surviving are three sons, Ora Simpson, Hansen; Ray Simpson, Neodesha, Kan.; and Murel Simpson of Barrington, N. J.; seven grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted in Pittsburg, Kan. Friends may call at Twin Falls Mortuary Thursday evening and Friday.

Laura Miller

FILER — Mrs. Laura B. Miller, 88, Filer, died Tuesday evening at a Buhl nursing home after a long illness.

Born in Nebo, Ill., on Jan. 22, 1884, she was married to Ernest W. Miller in Nebo in 1907. He died in 1953. Mrs. Miller came to Idaho in 1917 from Illinois.

She was a member of the Christian church in Illinois. Mrs. Miller was a charter member of the Hillsdale Helpers Club and was a past noble grand of the Filer Rebekah Lodge.

Surviving are three sons, Lyle Miller, Filer; Carl C. Miller, Twin Falls; and Owen Miller, San Leandro, Calif.; and two daughters, Gela Miller, Twin Falls; and Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, Clarksburg, Calif. There are 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. Miller will be conducted at 4 p.m. Friday at White Mortuary Chapel with the Rev. Robert VanNest officiating. The Rebekah Lodge will conduct graveside rites at the Filer 100F Cemetery prior to burial. Friends may call at White Mortuary this afternoon and until 3 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Darling

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Bertha A. Darling, 92, Twin Falls, died at Heritage Manor Wednesday after a short illness.

Born May 6, 1880, in Holt County, Mo., she came to Twin Falls from Kansas in 1920. She was a member of the Twin Falls United Methodist Church, the Women's Society of Christian Service, and a member of the Lend-A-Hand Club.

Mrs. Darling lived on a farm north of Twin Falls until her health required the move to Heritage Manor.

She was married to Fletcher R. Darling in Jewell County, Kan., on Aug. 21, 1907. Mr. Darling died in April, 1955.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ray Fyke, Jerome, and Mrs. Walter Seufert, Buhl; a brother, Charles McIntire, Omaha, Neb.; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services for Mrs. Darling will be conducted at 11 a.m. Friday at White Mortuary Chapel with the Rev. Herbert E. Morris officiating. Burial will be in the Randall, Kan. Cemetery. The family suggests memorials be made to the United Methodist Church on a charity of the donor's choice.

Teachers meet for TF workshop

TWIN FALLS Elementary classroom teachers and music specialists from Magic Valley, Nevada, and California are attending a music workshop in Twin Falls this week.

The workshop, "Music for Total Growth," began Monday and will end Friday. It is being directed by Mrs. Grace Nash, Scottsdale, Ariz., and is sponsored by the Twin Falls School District.

Mrs. Nash is a nationally known music educator and is demonstrating her approach to teaching music to children to and in all areas of academic learning.

She has stressed that to receive a valid and meaningful education, a child needs experiences in multi-sensory intake, mind flexing and stressing, group performance, problem solving, value judgment, self realization, creativity and self direction.

To facilitate this kind of learning her classes combine movement, body rhythm, singing and playing of instruments in a steady development of musicality.

A demonstration Wednesday morning by Mrs. Nash and a group of elementary school children was held to demonstrate her technique.

The children learned to accompany their singing with ostinati accompaniments or tone bar instruments and used the instruments to create their own melodies.

The possibilities of accompaniment with percussion instruments for song, verse and movement also were explored by the children.

Barker attends meet

BUHL — Sen. John M. Barker recently.

Gov. Andrus and Sen. Barker each chaired panels at the national meeting.

The problems raised were in connection with 100 per cent state funding of schools, early childhood training and finance problems of higher education.

WASHINGTON — Among our more "frenetic liberal" friends, the label "conservative" is used in the pejorative sense as a weapon of put-down. Thus we have Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., a member of the Congressional Black Caucus, complaining that the appeals court rejection of a district court-ordered merger of Richmond's city and suburban school districts was "a conservative interpretation of facts and law."

turning Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr.'s demand for the merger as a school desegregation move, Conyers' effect is saying that only "liberal" interpretations of facts and law are worthy of the people's acceptance. This is tedious twaddle. First, implementation of the Constitution's guarantee of equal rights is about as conservative as you can get. It is a result of the Supreme Court's ruling that the Constitution means what it says. It conserves the Constitution against legal tinkers.

Second, the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals dealt with the facts of the case instead of trying to change them. Merhige had ordered consolidation of the Richmond schools with those of suburban Henrico and Chesterfield counties because he was concerned with what seemed to him an unfortunate racial balance in the three separate systems. Richmond schools are 70 per cent black; those in Henrico and Chesterfield are 90 per cent white.

But these white students did not move to Chesterfield or Henrico counties," said the 5-4 appeals court decision. "For both counties show a net white enrollment loss for the same period. Chesterfield down 208 white pupils and Henrico 366." To repeat, those are facts, Conyers.

Then the appeals court got down to the nub of a matter that has aroused parents in such cities as Detroit, Boston, Indianapolis, Hartford, Conn., Wilmington, Del., and Grand Rapids, Mich. It took note of Merhige's charge that there had been "intentional discrimination by officials notably in housing matters and the selection of new school construction sites" which had a tendency to keep blacks within the boundaries of the City of Richmond and excluded them from the counties.

More Money

The ruling by the Supreme Court extending the right of counsel in all criminal cases involving possible jail sentences, is going to cost the taxpayers of Idaho — and of Twin Falls county, of course — more money.

Under the new decision, the burden of providing legal service will fall on the public defender's program, which is established in many counties including Twin Falls, and if these lawyers cannot meet the burden then the courts will have to appoint a defense attorney and pay for him out of county funds.

Raising more and more tax money is getting to be more and more of a task. It has been suggested in this case the Legislature could — and might well — change our penal code by removing a lot of violations from it. The ones to be removed could be traffic violations, drunk cases and a lot of city ordinances.

It remains to be seen just what can, or will, be done. But there will be changes and they cannot be long in coming or money which we could well use in other fields will be going to support the additional costs in the justice system.

Praise The Kids

Every kid who ever made a model airplane whose wings were slightly askew was further ahead of his time than anybody realized.

Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine reports that government and industry researchers are investigating a "radical anti-symmetric wing-fuselage arrangement" which, like a kid's first model, has wings that don't stay put.

Early designs for a supersonic transport featured wings that could be swept forward and back on both sides. The latest idea envisions a straight wing mounted on top of the fuselage with a pivot at its center point. At high speeds, half the wing would be pointed more toward the direction of the flight and the other half would be trailing.

Hoped-for advantages of the new wing include:

Reduced noise problems, because the straight wing would allow a takeoff power requirement only 25 per cent of that of swept back designs.

Maximum efficiency at any speed, permitting the aircraft to avoid the sonic boom problem because it could operate economically over land at subsonic speeds, then accelerate over water.

Cruise altitude of 40,000 feet, avoiding the possibility of polluting the upper atmosphere.

Lower take-off and landing speeds, thus enabling it to operate out of existing airports.

Seven decades after Wilbur and Orville Wright, we're still learning about airplanes.

No Real Curbs

WASHINGTON — You can just about write off any expectation that "really meaningful" anti-busing legislation will be enacted by this Congress.

From the inside indications, it's just not in the cards. While "student busing to achieve racial balance" is certain to be one of the most heated and consequential issues in this year's elections, it is in effect a dead matter as far as Congress is concerned.

Only one thing likely to be put on the statute books this year are the watered-down curbs in the multi-billion dollar higher education bill. That is a compromise between three tough amendments the House wrote into the measure by decisive majorities and a largely political window-dressing provision passed by the Senate.

While the compromise goes further than the Senate, it falls considerably short of what the House favored, and as a consequence will have very questionable impact on large-scale student busing.

Certainly, the pussyfooted compromise settled nothing. It merely shows the boring and explosive problem under the carpet.

Two factors are responsible for this legislative cop-out.

(1) The successful stalling tactics of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, in keeping a number of anti-busing measures bottled up by holding indefinite hearings that are still going on with no end in sight.

(2) The ineffectualness of Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, in being able to get anything done on President Nixon's drastic anti-busing proposals. Perkins has told "Republican" and "Democratic" House leaders he will report on these measures, but the prospects of his doing that are slim. Not only has no control of his 38-member committee (22 Democrats, 16 Republicans) but it is split wide open over busing.

Rep. Celler, 84 and a long-time civil libertarian is strongly against curbing student busing — certainly when it comes to limiting the power of Federal judges to order that.

He is also a master at stalling and diversionary tactics. The only reason he suddenly decided early this year to hold hearings on busing was that it appeared the House was about to force consideration of such legislation over his head.

Most important is establishment of a "new" organizational structure. Under this set-up, a Central Committee of approximately 50 members is replacing the National Committee as the most authoritative body. Presumably, the new Central Committee will be the ruling agency.

To run the day-to-day affairs of the party, the Central Committee will "elect" a Political Committee of seven to nine members. Again, presumably, they will be the inner controlling group that will ferret and execute the Kremlin's orders.

Gus Hall, hand-picked by Muscové as general secretary, will continue in that role — with the final say on everything and anything relating to the party.

ART BUCHWALD

All Ignored

WASHINGTON — There has been so much publicity about the U.S.-U.S.S.R. arms accord treaty that the other accords President Nixon signed with the Soviets have been ignored.

One of the most important was an environmental protection agreement calling for research, mutual co-operation and exchange of information on air and water pollution as well as ecological protection.

The United States maintains that it got the best of the deal on this treaty because America is so far ahead on pollution that the Soviets will never be able to catch up.

In a background briefing a government spokesman said, "Despite criticism of the treaty, I can assure the American people that the United States is so advanced in pollution that there is no danger that the Soviet Union will ever reach parity, much less superiority, in this field."

The United States has enough stockpiled pollutants to "poison" every man, woman and child in the world four times over. The Soviets have enough pollutants to kill them only once. They cannot hope to achieve our pollution rate in the next 10 years.

A reporter said, "There is a rumor that in the past 12 months the Soviets have had a crash program in pollution and have developed new land-based weapons that could raise their pollution rate to equal that of the United States."

The spokesman shook his head. "We have studied this very closely, and I can assure you that despite the Soviet efforts to increase their pollution, they are still a second-rate power compared to the United States."

The key to a strong pollution program is automobiles. The United States is producing 10 times as many automobiles as the Soviets.

Also, U. S. energy requirements guarantee we will have a superiority in air pollution for the next decade. While the Soviets have made some progress in water pollution, it's still a drop in the bucket compared to our own waste disposal programs.

"But what guarantee do we have that the Soviets will not secretly increase their pollution production while the treaty is in force?"

"In order to have a true pollution deterrent," the spokesman said, "you must have a consumer-oriented society. You must have phosphates, dispirate herbicides, styrofoam, plastics and used cars. The Soviet economy cannot possibly produce the consumer products needed to give them parity with the United States."

But while deploring such discrimination, the appeals court rejected the notion that it has been individual state action which has resulted in the racial composition of the three school districts. Richmond schools may be getting blacker, but so also are the schools of Henrico and Chesterfield. That there has been housing discrimination in all three units is deplorable, but a school case, like a vehicle, can carry only a limited amount of baggage.

In short, and in street-corner language, the appeals court as saying that Americans should not presume to use their children to solve the assorted problems involved in achieving full integration of the races. That's what the fuss is all about in other communities.

Moreover, and about time, the appeals court reminded us that the 10th Amendment provides that powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states. That, said the court, includes the power of the states "to structure their internal government."

It added that "the facts" of this case do not establish that there has been any attempt to circumvent any "Federally protected right."

Richmond proponents of busing to achieve racial balance will carry their case to the Supreme Court — and quite properly, because this is an issue which must be settled once and for all. But there is not much of a case in the conservative tradition of conserving the plain English of the Constitution, the appeals court ruled on facts, not emotions.

Dear Dr. Thuesteson. What can be done about almost unbearable anal itching? There is no discharge. I am 71 and my doctor only said to use white petroleum jelly, but it doesn't help much. Wish you would advise something. — A. F.

With menopause, there is a decrease in production of the female hormone estrogen. It is possible well after that (as at your age) for the estrogen deficiency to cause changes in the vagina and related structures, with severe itching as a result.

This problem is usually most effectively corrected by the use of ointments or lotions containing estrogen. These would require a prescription, but that is the best solution I have found.

Before leaving this topic, I think I should point out that not all vaginal itching is from the same cause. Vaginitis (from various types of yeasts or other infections) causes a good many cases.

In today's case, the patient's age, plus the lack of any discharge, are indications pointing to estrogen deficiency and not some other form.

Dear Dr. Thuesteson. Please write about hysteralgia — it is curable, its seriousness, and the possibility of turning into a cancer. Do you have a booklet on it? Mrs. G. W. D.

Hysteralgia is not the sort of thing that "turns into cancer." It can, however, lead to ulceration if not treated. Mainly, it is a matter of discomfort rather than danger, but it can be just as annoying as, for example, peptic ulcers and the symptoms can very much resemble such ulcers.

Ordinarily, conservative treatment is adequate to keep the patient comfortable, as occasionally, but not usually, surgery is necessary.

Yes, I have a booklet covering this. Hysteralgia and Light Ways to Control It. Send 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

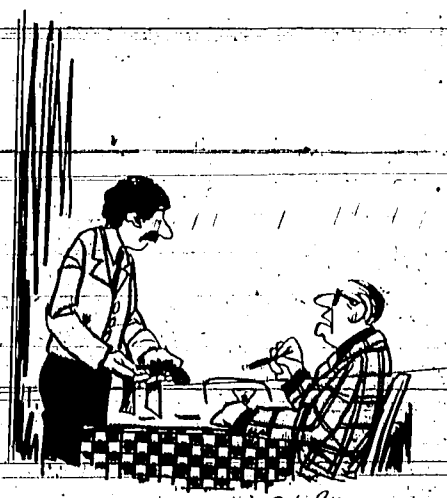

In view of the frequency of this trouble, it is surprising that people don't know more about it. Of course, once they get it, they rush to see a doctor.

Dear Dr. Thuesteson. Can you tell me what might be wrong and at what I should try to see a doctor? My leg is sore all the time from the knee to the ankle. If it is hot, it is almost unbearably painful. When I sit on it, it hurts to sleep. When I sit on it, sometimes during the night, when I move it to get the circulation back, the pain is terrible. What could cause this? Mrs. G. E. D.

Lots of things could cause it. The bloodiest is probably some circulatory disorder. If it's even partly as painful as you say, of course you should see a doctor.

Never take a chance with diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thuesteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of a booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Those Prices Again

Remember we had, not so long ago, a tabulation of grocery prices from an old advertisement sent in by one of our readers? Well, we have another advertisement from another reader — namely Roy E. Kingston of Twin Falls.

Roy sends in a copy of an "ad" from Shoshone. It was from Lambert's Store and it was for Friday and Saturday, November 11 and 12 in 1938.

So what were the grocery prices back in 1938? Remember, now, that was just 34 years ago. Well here goes:

"Big deal" at Lambert's at that time was the annual sale of bulk goods. They were offering "tons of fresh new pack of dried fruits, beans, rice and macaroni." All were put up in cellophane bags — no less — and were priced to save everyone money.

The finest Idaho Great Northern beans were 13 cents for three pounds and 25 cents for six pounds. If you liked large California lima then you could have picked them up for 25 cents for three pounds and 49 cents for six pounds.

Other Prices? Coffee, with a candy prize in every package, was 19 cents a pound; tea was going for 17 cents a half pound and None Such Mince-ment was 13 cents a package. Then there was White King granulated soap for 30 cents for the large package. Laundry soap was seven cents for two giant bars and toilet soap was five cents for a large bar. A number two and one-half can of tomato juice was 10 cents while peanut brittle was 13 cents a pound and candy bars three for 10 cents. Clorox was 18 cents a quart and White Satin sugar was nine cents a pound. Kitchen King flour was offered at 22 cents for a nine pound bag.

Salad dressing was 26 cents a quart and large cans of matched sliced pineapple were offered at 18 cents a can. Fresh salted peanuts were 13 cents a pound and marshmallow sugar cookies were 19 cents a pound. Toilet tissue was five cents a roll or two for nine cents while Woodbury's facial soap was going at 25 cents for three large bars. And Gem brand peas were going at two cents for 22 cents and Kitchen King peas at two cents for 19 cents.

Electric light bulbs were three for 39 cents — any size.

Guess that's enough to keep you going for awhile. Huh?

Hansen hits DDT ban, safety law

TWIN FALLS — Former 2nd Dist. Rep. George Hansen Wednesday leveled charges at a pair of governmental actions.

Hansen, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate, attacked the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for its decision on banning DDT. He also criticized the 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Act.

GEORGE HANSEN
... scores DDT ban

Hansen was asked if the EPA's decision banning DDT for most uses was justified.

"No, it is not. The action is panic on the part of environmentalists," Hansen said.

"This action will force farmers to use more lethal, more expensive pesticides, pesticides that have been known to kill animals and people."

"Some years ago, tests showed DDT may not be the chemical to use, but there is not one shred of data or evidence to prove DDT ever killed anyone," Hansen said.

He said the EPA's action will have a "very detrimental" effect in shifting farmers and pesticide users to other chemicals.

He urged a cautious approach to the use of DDT. He said the best methods for using DDT are known and other chemicals are relatively unknown, perhaps unsafe for that reason.

On the issue of occupational safety, Hansen took a more direct approach.

Wednesday, he began circulating petitions calling for repeal of "Gestapo-like" portions of the act, a "tyranny of legislation" with restrictions that make business operations financially impossible.

The Senate, hopeful said regulations of the act are backed up with "strong-arm" sanctions including civil and criminal penalties.

"In a message circulating with the petitions Hansen named a few of these tactics."

"One, ridiculous section imposes on farmers the requirement that every farm truck contain a first aid kit and a fire extinguisher. Another would force them to install roll bars on tractors even though many such machines have no place to attach one," Hansen said.

"Hansen blamed Congress for passing the act, 'without a specific review of what its standards would do, how they should be applied or whether they were adequate.'"

His primary election opponent, Rep. James McClure, H-Idaho, was singled out for blame.

"McClure not only voted for the act twice but also announced the opening of its Boise enforcement office. McClure now admits OSHA is a 'can of worms,' but we need action, not words. McClure and other members of the Idaho delegation should be strongly encouraged to work to correct or repeal this unfortunate act," Hansen advised.

Testing center opened

DUGWAY Proving Ground, Utah (UPI) — Military and civilian officials say they want to burst "the bubble of mystery" that shrouds this top-secret chemical-biological warfare testing facility tucked away in the remote western Utah desert.

And to shatter that mystique, Deseret Test Center Commanding Gen. Max Etkin told newsmen Wednesday the possibility exists that open-air testing of nerve gasses may resume within a few years.

Such testing was voluntarily stopped by the Army more than a year after 6,400 sheep grazing in the Skull Valley surrounding — Dugway Proving Ground were killed by an accidental discharge of nerve gas in March 1968.

Since then, said Gen. Etkin, the Army has been field testing defensive devices for use against chemical, biological warfare, as well as assorted conventional ammunition on its sprawling, 1,500-acre site.

He said the only testing since November 1969 with lethal nerve gasses has been in laboratory situations under closely controlled conditions.

He made his remarks before a group of newsmen who became the first such group to tour the heavily guarded facility in more than 15 years. He said purpose of the tour was to burst "the bubble of mystery" once and for all about what Dugway is designed to accomplish.

"We are doing all we can short of atmospheric testing to find what we need" in the way of nerve gasses, he said.

"Open air testing is possible as soon as we get to that stage," Etkin added. He said it would be "pure conjecture" on his part to say just when such testing would be resumed.

Cassia Grassman tour Wednesday

BURLEY — The Cassia County Grassman Tour will be Wednesday and operations of three candidates will be visited.

Glenn Jensen, chairman of the grassman committee, announced this year's candidates are Gerald Conrad, Spencer Black and Ted Mason.

The tour will leave the Cassia County Courthouse at 9 a.m. and will travel to the Conrad Ranch, then to the Mason Ranch and then to Black's Ranch. Lunch stop will be at the Annie Laurie Cafe in Albion.

All interested persons are invited on the tour, according to Jensen. Transportation will be available.

Youth target of campaign

TWIN FALLS — Republican senatorial hopeful George Hansen took his campaign to the young people Wednesday night.

Hansen met a small group of Young Republicans at the Howard Arrington home southeast of Twin Falls and fielded a number of questions, most of them on the Vietnam War and the environment.

Hansen was asked what he would do in the future to lure tourism and industry into the state.

The former congressman said Idaho with proper zoning and planning, can insure more business and industry. He said, all avenues must be explored, federal programs, loans, private involvement and environmental impact.

He cited the Grand Targhee ski area as an example of "clean" industry that can make Idaho a place that can make money.

Hansen was asked what he would do to keep Idaho for Idahoans. He cited proper local planning and zoning as means of controlling the use of Idaho's land resources. He said he was in favor of Idaho citizens coming first on priority lists for Idaho lands, but hastened to add people coming to Idaho to settle should not be discouraged.

Hansen discussed the arms race with Russia and China and reminded the GOP youth that while the two world powers may disagree at times, they are still Communist countries. If it came to pass that either had to choose, said Hansen, both would side with communism against capitalism and the United States.

"Russia and Red China may not be a happy family, but they are still a family," Hansen said. Among the youths at the meeting were supporters of former Gov. Robert E. Smylie. One Smylie fan asked Hansen about his views on welfare.

Church lauds plan

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Sen. Frank Church praised action Wednesday by conferees of the Senate and House in passing legislation to establish a new Golden Age passport program.

He said the new program is to supplement the existing Golden Eagle program for admission to America's national parks and recreation areas.

The action of the House and Senate Conference Committee, on which Church served, is the culmination of months of effort to work out differences between the Senate and House versions of legislation to extend the Golden Eagle program.

BELFAST (UPI)—The British government came under mounting Roman Catholic pressure today to negotiate with the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) and accept its seven-day cease-fire offer.

Panel to form busing program

DETROIT (UPI)—A federal judge Wednesday ordered a detailed plan be formed to implement the nation's largest school busing program—one involving the heavily black Detroit school system and at least 58 predominantly white suburban districts.

U.S. District Court Judge Stephen J. Roth created a nine-member panel to submit, within 45 days, a specific plan for the implementation of the metropolitan busing program, which is designed to integrate Detroit's public schools.

Roth, in an 11-page ruling, ordered the panel to work out the details of a "complete and final" desegregation program that would go into effect no later than September, 1973. In addition, he said, "The panel may recommend immediate implementation of an interim desegregation plan" that would go into effect this fall.

Although appeals are anticipated, it is doubtful any will be considered until Roth issues his

Dangers of postal hike given

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A top newspaper executive has predicted that many subscribers, especially in rural areas, are in danger of losing their daily newspaper if $1.3 billion in proposed postal rate increases are enacted.

Stanford Smith, President of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, told the House postal subcommittee Wednesday that many newspapers and magazines will be priced out of the market by the pending postal rate hikes.

"We are in imminent danger of pricing the daily newspaper beyond the reach of readers on rural routes," Smith testified. "The amounts of the pending second class rates over the next four years are so enormous they will inevitably destroy a large volume of newspaper and magazine readership."

"Readers will undoubtedly be deprived of their daily newspaper because it will become so expensive they no longer can afford to subscribe."

The Postal Rate Commission adopted the increased rural rates on June 5, after studying proposals made by the Postal Service. A majority of the increases had been put into effect temporarily in May, 1971. They will become permanent July 1 if the Postal Service accepts the commission decision.

Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, June 15, the 167th day of 1972.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Venus.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Gemini.

American sculptor Malvina Hoffman was born June 15, 1877.

On this day in history:

In 1793 Benjamin Franklin demonstrated the relationship between electricity and lightning by launching a kite during a storm in Philadelphia with an iron key suspended from the string.

In 1904 the excursion steamboat "General Slocum" burst into flames on the East River in Manhattan, taking the lives of 1,021 persons.

In 1960 Premier Nobusuke Kishi asked President Dwight D. Eisenhower to postpone a visit to Japan because of anti-American riots in Tokyo.

In 1963 Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky orbited the earth 81 times.

A thought for today: Scotch author John Buchan said, "We can only pay our debt to the past by putting the future in debt to ourselves."

gunmen shot and wounded a man in Belfast and British troops gunned down a man they said was carrying a weapon in the capital's Mifflin cemetery.

The Social Democratic and Labor party (SDLP) dispatched a two-man delegation to London to appeal to William Whitelaw, British-appointed secretary of state for Northern Ireland, to reconsider his rejection of the truce offer. The delegation is expected to arrive in London and meet with Whitelaw at the House of Commons, political sources said.

Whitelaw agreed to meet the delegation after the SDLP, the province's main Catholic opposition party, issued a statement Wednesday calling his rejection of the truce offer "regrettable and unfortunate."

Rejection urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. George H. Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Wednesday urged members to ignore extensive lobbying efforts by state and local officials and reject the administration's $30 billion revenue-sharing bill.

Mahon, an opponent of the package, predicted during a floor speech Wednesday that passage of the bill would mean additional tax burdens next year.

"Mark my word," Mahon said, "if you want to tell your mayors, and your folks back home, a vote for revenue-sharing is a vote for a tax increase in 1973."

House leaders decided late Wednesday to consider the measure next Wednesday and Thursday. The bill's managers have been hesitant to push for a showdown, believing they lacked the votes.

Mahon has mounted his opposition on principle and also on the grounds it comes to the House under a rule barring consideration of any amendments.

Pesticide shift 'easy', environment groups say

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The switch from now-outlawed DDT to other pesticides should be relatively easy because the transition has been going on for several years, spokesmen for environmental groups said today.

But the farm industry was less optimistic about both the cost and the side effects of DDT substitutes.

In banning DDT except for a few scattered uses Wednesday, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) said its chief substitute would be methyl parathion—a high toxic chemical dangerous in the hands of untrained users. The EPA delayed the start of its ban until Dec. 31 so the government could extend its training programs on methyl parathion use.

But the Environmental Defense Fund, a party to the original 1970 court suit which ultimately brought about Wednesday's DDT ban, told UPI that methyl parathion has been used for some time with good safety results on cotton crops in California and Arizona—states where DDT already was banned.

It has an equally good safety record, the fund said, in Texas and Arkansas, states which do not recommend DDT use on cotton. And in other cotton areas methyl parathion has for some time been used in combination with DDT, also with relative safety.

In addition, it is far less toxic than its chemical cousin—ethyl parathion—a few drops of which can be fatal when absorbed through the skin. It was ethyl parathion which caused four deaths and 10 cases of illness in the tobacco fields of North Carolina and elsewhere in 1970 after DDT use on tobacco was banned.

James M. Brown, of the National Cotton Council said the ban "will mean higher production costs and higher insect losses for cotton farmers. It's going to have a serious impact on cotton production," he added, especially in areas where the boll weevil is a problem.

And an American Farm Bureau Federation spokesman said the ban was adverse to the interests of not only cotton planters but all farmers and ranchers.

Methyl parathion, when properly applied, is highly effective and degrades rapidly, disappearing from the soil in a matter of days. But this very attribute may require more frequent treatments, thereby increasing costs. And since Agriculture Department researchers believe it may kill beneficial insects which normally feed on the boll weevil and other cotton pests.

While the ban does not cover DDT exports—or domestic public health uses—some experts have expressed concern the ban might cause some less developed nations to follow suit, perhaps endangering malarial and other disease control projects.

Nor is the DDT case completely closed at home. The ban has been appealed in court.

Ban said 'ruinous' in South

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—An official of the National Cotton Council said Wednesday the federal government's ban on DDT could be "ruinous" to the billion-dollar cotton industry.

"When you take away DDT—and 70 per cent of the DDT in this country is used on cotton to fight the boll weevil and the cotton boll worm—that leaves you with a lot of trouble," said J. Ritchie Smith, the council's technical research director.

"You take an essential weapon like this out of the farmer's arsenal and it can be ruinous."

Smith said thousands of cotton growers in 11 Southern states lose some $275 million a year to boll weevil destruction despite using DDT. The industry last year, he said, produced about $1.75 billion worth of cotton.

DDT is relatively inexpensive. It is mixed with other chemicals and is a very safe material to handle," Smith said.

The cost of growing cotton will rise as the result of the ban, according to John Ridley, assistant entomologist at the Georgia Agriculture Department.

"This ban will have its greatest effect in Georgia, where cotton growers. No one has been using much of anything other than DDT on the cotton crop. It's the cheapest and most effective against boll worms," Ridley said in Atlanta.

DDT used since '39

WASHINGTON (UPI)—DDT has been used as an insecticide since 1939 and was in wide use during World War II to control typhus.

Since 1945 on has been used to control mosquitoes, combat boll weevil infestations in cotton crops, and for pest control on a variety of crops from soy beans to fruit trees. Its use peaked in the late 1950s at around 6,000 tons a year, according to the Environmental Protection Agency. But it has steadily declined since then and 12 million pounds was used in 1970.

A prime criticism against the pesticide was that it remains potent for years, washing from croplands to the lakes and streams, being absorbed by plant and marine life and passed on when eaten to higher forms of life.

Houses down

LONDON (UPI)—Britain has lost 3,151 movie houses. There were 1,550 left at the end of 1970, according to latest statistics. Audience dropped from a peak of 1.835 billion in 1946 to a more 199 million in 1970.

New Delhi crash termed mystery

JALPUR, India (UPI)—Japanese investigators described today as a "complete mystery" the cause of the crash of a Japanese jetliner which killed 87 persons, including 16 Americans, when it flamed into a dry river bed in a burst of flames Wednesday night.

There were five survivors, three of them children whose parents were killed in the crash at this village, 18 miles southeast of New Delhi. The others were a Japanese stewardess and an Italian businessman.

Some witnesses reported an explosion aboard the JAL which was coming in for a landing at New Delhi on a flight from Tokyo to London, but such reports are common on plane crashes where there are explosions and fires.

Japan Air Lines (JAL) said its offices in India and throughout the Middle East have received numerous bomb threats since the Lod Airport massacre in Israel in which three young Japanese terrorists opened fire in the crowded terminal and killed 24 persons.

JAL Vice President Yoshino Takagi, who flew in today from Tokyo aboard a special JAL DCB to head the crash investigation, admitted the possibility of sabotage but did not openly speculate on the reported bomb threats.

"The question of sabotage can only be ascertained after completion of scientific investigation," he said. "We should refrain from making any allegation about sabotage unless it is proved scientifically."

Two children who survived the crash were Lucy Webber, 2, and Sophie Webber, 2, British subjects whose parents lived in the Solomon Islands. The other was 11-year-old Gabrielle Sundblad of Sweden who lost her parents and a brother in the crash.

Airline authorities in New Delhi said the two sisters' mother died in the crash and that they could not locate the father. However, when the children wept for "Mommie" from time to time they were told "Mommie can't come but Daddy will be here soon."

They suffered concussion and a fractured left leg but were held in "satisfactory" condition. Sophie was in serious condition with severe concussion and fractures of her left arm and left leg.

They were en route to England to visit their grandmothers.

Gabrielle, who speaks excellent English, was ill from food she said she had eaten in Bangkok but appeared in satisfactory condition. She appeared unaware of the tragedy that had befallen her family.

Witnesses said the plane struck boulders in the dry riverbed when it was flying in through a dust filled sky for the landing. Three of those killed were Indian workers who were burned with flaming gasoline.

2nd plane disaster for Asia

SAIGON (UPI) A Cathay Pacific Airlines jetliner with 82 persons aboard exploded or collided with another aircraft 26,000 feet over Vietnam's Central Highlands today in Asia's second major airline disaster in 24 hours.

There were no immediate reports of casualties in the crash near Pleiku, 20 miles north of Saigon, but a U.S. Air Force officer there told UPI correspondent Matt Franjola "Nothing blows up at 26,000 feet and anyone lives."

The Cathay Pacific office in Bangkok said at least six Americans were aboard the plane.

Franjola said authorities told him the Conquest 880 jet "supposedly broke up, blew up or was hit at 26,000 feet at an area 30 miles south of Pleiku."

Franjola reported that U.S. Air Force observation plane pilots flying over the crash scene said wreckage of the airliner was scattered over a half-mile area.

Systems test

CATE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 12 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt put their command ship, through an important systems test today in a vacuum chamber simulation of the environment of space.

The three astronauts, scheduled for launch to the moon Dec. 6, boarded their command module at 8 a.m. EDT. They wore pressurized spacesuits

No draft

SEN. EDWARD Kennedy, D., Mass., said Wednesday he would not seek his party's vice presidential nomination this year and would not accept a draft for the post. Here Kennedy waves to tourists as he walks from the capitol to the Senate office building. (UPI)

Martha predicts Kennedy nod

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Martha Mitchell, who has recovered from a recent illness, is back on the political firing line again with the prediction that "Teddy Kennedy will get the Democratic presidential nomination."

In an interview Wednesday, Mrs. Mitchell, wife of the former attorney general who now heads the committee to Re-elect President Nixon, said that "regular Democrats can't tolerate" Sen. George S. McGovern.

"He's trying to make this country another Russia or China," she said.

Mrs. Mitchell said she has been receiving telephone calls from prominent Democrats "the names I could give you would floor you," who will not vote for McGovern.

As for Nixon, "he's going to win big," she said.

Like most prominent Republicans these days, she won't say absolutely that Spiro T. Agnew has the vice presidential nomination in the bag.

"I don't know who will get it," she said, referring to both Agnew and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally as possibilities. "We want the best man. I don't know who is the best man at this particular time."

She is very much caught up in the political campaign and says when it is all over, "I'm going to rock and rock."

She also is "constantly being invited to visit the Soviet Union by Russian ambassador and Mrs. Anatoli Dobrynin."

"They keep saying (Martha, you got to go to Russia)," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Yeah, they put me in jail. Can you imagine me in Russia? Thanks a bunch."

Humphrey predicts wide open battle

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey predicted today that George S. McGovern will be stopped short on the first ballot and that the national convention will turn into a "wide open" battle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Humphrey conceded that McGovern has a "comfortable lead" but added, "George does not have enough to win on the first ballot."

And Humphrey added that if McGovern fails to capture the presidential nomination on the initial roll call at Miami Beach's Convention Hall, then the ballgame is wide open.

With less than a month before the convention opens, McGovern has 1,003.75 delegate votes, with 1,500 needed to win. Humphrey runs a distant second with 365.75 and George G. Wallace is third with 360, according to a United Press International survey. There are already 181.5 uncommitted delegates.

McGovern is expected to increase the margin substantially Tuesday, hoping for about 225 of the 278 delegate votes from the New York primary. Humphrey did not enter any delegates in New York.

Flood victims list decreased

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UPI)—The list of missing Rapid City flood victims has been cut by more than 1,200 persons following marathon radio broadcasts, but the number unaccounted for remains staggering.

Officials said today that the original list had been reduced from 2,000 to 864 persons missing. Officials had said Wednesday the list was reduced to 800 persons, but after going over the computerized list they discovered in some cases entire families were listed under one name and revised the missing number to 864.

The official death toll—204—has not been changed, but UPI reporters saw at least five bodies pulled from debris Wednesday.

Search teams planned to make more use of dogs today in attempts to locate bodies. More horses and riders also were to be used in rural areas.

A Red Cross survey Wednesday showed 700 homes were destroyed in last weekend's flood, 1,724 others sustained major damage and 1,900 minor damage. 500 house trailers were destroyed and 150 small businesses were destroyed or damaged.

Cameron Ferweda, a forest service spokesman, said a number of campers were still stranded because of the flood, but were safe in areas south and west of the city.

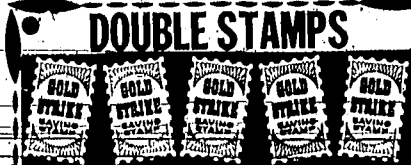

A flying service will begin spraying 4,000 acres in the Rapid City area Friday to kill concentrations of house flies breeding in sewage-laden pools and prevent any outbreaks of disease, officials said.

Joseph Schital, an official of the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration, told the City Council Wednesday that officials were handicapped by a "very archaic" flood warning system when they sought to alert residents to the imminent disaster.

Public schools absorb students

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Public schools are having "little difficulty absorbing substantial numbers" of children "from parochial schools that are closing at a one-a-day rate," U.S. Education Commissioner Sidney P. Marland Jr. said today.

"There appears not to be as drastic a problem affecting the accommodation of such transfers in the public schools simply because there is a leveling off of growth in the public school population, responding to the considerable reduction in birth rate," Marland said in an interview.

"Physically, logistically there may be no great new problem," President Nixon told the National Catholic Education Association (NCEA) annual convention April 6 that the demise of all nonpublic schools would add $1-billion a year to the cost of operating public schools.

If the non-public schools were ever permitted to re-under in the major cities of America, many public schools might very well go under with them," Nixon said.

However, the President said he did not expect a total collapse of the nonpublic school system. Marland was talking in terms of the present "closing rate of private elementary and secondary schools. He was expected to discuss this and other school concerns at a meeting today with the chief state school officers.

According to NCEA, 320 Catholic schools closed between 1960 and 1970 and the current rate is over one a day. In the last nine years, Catholic schools have lost almost 1 million pupils.

Marland said that "the prime motivation of the administration" in keeping Catholic and other private schools open is that they provide an alternative to public education, not because their students would overcrowd the public schools.

Screening protested

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A protest has been lodged against plans by the Secret Service to screen some 1,000 reporters who plan to cover the Democratic National Convention next month.

In a resolution adopted Wednesday, the five-member Standing Committee of Correspondents said it "takes sharp exception" to the screening.

"This might give the Secret Service an unprecedented veto of who will cover the convention and undermines the traditional authority of accreditation so long held by this committee," the panel said in a statement. The committee is elected by reporters who are accredited to the Senate and House press galleries.

There are more than 1,000 rivers in Venezuela.

Plenty of space now

Five new parking lots opening in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — An additional 384 parking spaces are available in Twin Falls today with the opening of five of the six downtown parking lots.

Evan Robertson, director of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency said the five lots, part of the Urban Renewal Project's second phase, are now complete, with paving, bumper guards, traffic cones and some with meters.

Meter posts are in and the heads will be installed by the city at a time. The meters become effective as soon as installed.

Eventually, with additional on-street parking and the new lots, the city of Twin Falls will have some 700 parking spaces in the mall, Robertson said. This is about double what was available prior to the Urban Renewal project.

Robertson Hotel, is expected to be complete, and ready for public use early next week, he said.

Phase two of the project is now about 80 per cent complete and will finish about a month ahead of the scheduled completion date of Aug. 30.

The second phase, costing about $500,000, involves the six off-street parking lots, paving and improving of the alleys and placing all utilities underground. Landscaping will also be included in the lots, between the lots and the Second Avenue sidewalks and between the lots and the alleys.

Paving has begun in the alleys with the alley behind the J. C. Penney store now being paved. All utility line installation has been complete and the old overhead lines and poles are down on the south side of Main Avenue.

PLENTY OF PARKING awaits Twin Falls shoppers. Five of the six off-street lots are now open for public use although some work details such as installing meter heads are continuing. The sixth lot, behind the Rogerson Hotel, will open early next week. Those lots now open provide 385 additional spaces with the sixth lot to add about 50 more.

Church asks work projects

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Wednesday work relief programs are needed to solve the nation's welfare problems.

Church, speaking to the closing session of the 14th annual Idaho State AFL-CIO Conference, said the response to problems "is not more welfare" but a "right solution in terms of work relief," such as the depression-era Civilian Conservation Corps.

Church told the delegates there should be "no such thing as the working poor." Unionization, the senator said, has more to do with raising the working man's standards than any other force and has allowed the working man to share more fully than before in prosperity.

He said unionization is the underpinning of our economic base.

Firm sold

BOISE (UPI) — Di Giorgio Corp., San Francisco, and Albertson's, Inc., Boise, announced sale today of the assets of Mountain States Wholesale Co. to Albertson's for an undisclosed amount.

Mountain States Wholesale distributes food and dairy products, drugs and sundries to independent retailers throughout the Intermountain States.

TORCH sets drive for funds

TWIN FALLS — Dressed as clowns, 30 members of Teens Organization for Retarded Children will seek donations from shoppers Saturday to finance activities for retarded children.

Between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. they will approach motorists and pedestrians at the Lynwood Mall Shopping Center, Blue Lakes Shopping Center and the Downtown Mall. They hope to raise money to provide programs such as bowling parties, dances, picnics, and other recreation for retarded and handicapped citizens of Twin Falls.

The TORCH program is now four years old in Idaho, according to Vickie Smith, Twin Falls president. It has a membership of nearly 1,000 teens in 20 towns who believe in the worth of the mentally retarded, she said.

Idaho TORCH members belong to the Idaho Association for Retarded Children and the YOUTH National Association for Retarded Children.

Local TORCH members have

RAISIN SPICE DROPS

1 cup raisins
1/2 cup shortening, soft
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
2 cups uncooked
oatmeal
Pour enough boiling water over raisins to cover them.

Cover and let stand 10 minutes.
Beat sugar and shortening together until creamy. Add eggs, beat until fluffy. Drain raisins, reserving one-half cup liquid. Dissolve soda in this liquid. Sift together flour, salt and spices. Add to creamed mixture alternately with raisin liquid, blend well. Stir in raisins and oats.
Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated moderate oven, 350 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes.
Makes three and one-half dozen.

A Lovelier You

WIGS GO ON VACATION

By Mary Sue Miller

These days you seldom hear vacationing lovelies remark, "Oh, dear, my hair is thinning." More likely the plaint is, "My wig is thinning."

The appearance of a trapped wig is a matter of small consequence, since the happy advent of synthetic wigs and hair pieces. Wigs now go on weekend to around-the-world trips
with an ease of styling and care far less taxing than that of your own hair. If you want soft you can find it permanently built into the fiber, color likewise. No cutting or tinting enroute.

Naturally, on long travels a wig becomes soiled from wind and dust. All you need to do then, preferably at bedtime, is rinse the wig in cool water and a dab of mild soap, gently to wash away. Then either comb through a soft towel or damp cloth (about once over), rinse out and recomb.

Leave to dry while you sleep. You will awake in the morning to see a wig that looks like new, smooth and shining. You're ready to go and no apologies necessary.

A few accessories make the whole care bit even easier.
A purse-size wig brush is mighty handy when the wind blows. A detachable plastic wig form for drying and combing. As a wig to travel with roll, for packing, stow yours in a kitchen-type job to bar to prevent snagging on other items.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls
Public Library officials have released mini-reviews for a few of the new books received at the library during the last month.

"Years of Grace" by Margaret Ayer Barnes.
Panoramic chronicle of American life beginning with the Gay Nineties and ending in the Roaring Twenties.

his duties as an official, and his sympathy for the poor who are his family and friends.

"Whole Earth Cookbook" by Sharon Backwater. Try these appetizing recipes by working solely with natural health giving foods.

"Game of the Foxes" by Julius K. Tarrago. More exciting than any spy thriller, here at last is the whole story of German espionage in the United States and Great Britain before and during World War II.

"The Headstrong Houseboat"

by William C. Anderson. The story of a headstrong, restless family hell-bent on adventure and exploration.

"The Prince" by R. M.
Koster. Revenge and adventure; these are the themes of this remarkable novel.

"My Name is Asher Lev" by Chaim Potok. In a context of tension, you are a witness to the development of a genius.

"Yams" by Dayton O. Hyde.
Yams is a ranch, and once
Yams is gone we will never see its likes again.

EXCLUSIVE AND DIRECT FROM SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS

POLLOCK HAM*
SALE!!

There have been a lot of dumb Pollock jokes going around lately, but the only thing dumb about Swensen's Pollock Ham Sale is the price of the ham. With everyone else in the country selling Picnic Hams from rock bottom 45¢ on up to 59¢ lb., 39¢ a pound is downright dumb, you've got to admit!

TWO IMPORTANT POINTS!!

1. Swensen's Magic Markets would never say that Pollocks are dumb. Swensen's have been called dumb Swedes often enough to be very sympathetic, even though there is no doubt that Swensen's descend from Norwegians.

2. Please don't infer that the Hams are dumb either.
After all, they're from Independent Meat Co. and you know they'd never make a dumb ham.

* These are really Polish hams, but we were sure Pollocks would like em at this price.

Santa Gribble keeps Yule spirit

DETROIT (UPI) — Eugene Gribble, the one and only Santa Claus to thousands of Detroit-area children, cannot keep his Christmas spirit in check—even now that he knows he may not live to see December.

Gribble, 52, a truck driver, has cancer and may not be able to share Christmas with others this year. But he still persists in getting his Christmas Fantasyland trailer put together for area youngsters.

"He was out fixing the new gingerbread house today and he has no business going out there so soon," his wife Lynne, 29, said Tuesday.

"I hope when I am 40 years old I have as much energy," she said. "He is always doing something for Christmas. This is a 10-months-a-year job for him."

... persists

The once dynamic Gribble, who has had eight tumors removed in the past three years, started his Christmas display in a small trailer in suburban Romulus. He now holds court in suburban Belle Isle in the 40-foot trailer—named Fantasyland and in the past 13 years more than 200,000 children have trooped through it to sit on his knee.

"Neighborhood children" run to our house and ask Santa Gribble to get them the minibus their parents said they couldn't," Mrs. Gribble said.

"Now Gribble, who spends one out of every five weeks in the University of Michigan Hospital for therapy, can hardly see the children—who come to see him. In addition, he had to shave his white beard when it began to fall out.

"It killed him to get his beard cut off," his wife said.

Gribble's illness has made it impossible for him to work at his regular job and his main source of income now that his wife's job as a school bus driver ended Tuesday, is a $50 a week check from the Teamsters Union Health and Welfare Fund.

His wife said that no matter how bad things get he won't turn his Christmas gift making hobby into a profit-making venture.

"He would rather sell our home," she said.

Gribble, who still hopes to land by helicopter and proudly lead a Belleville parade featuring his eight life-sized reindeer in December, no longer can read the slogan printed on his Fantasyland trailer.

"But the message it carries is his way of life. He knows it by heart.

"The joy that you give to others is the joy that comes back to you," the sign says.

Lead poisoning higher in Negroes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Black children under 6 may be more susceptible to lead poisoning from the paint of slum houses than white children, a 27-city government survey indicated today.

Among black children tested for levels of lead in their blood, 33 per cent had amounts considered excessive by the U.S. Surgeon General. Among whites, 11 per cent had excessive amounts.

"Cultural or genetic factors in addition to poor housing conditions may play an important role in the black children (who have high levels of lead)," said the U.S. Public Health Service study.

Lead poisoning can cause mental retardation and death. U.S. Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld estimated that 400,000 children have dangerously high levels of lead in their blood from eating paint chips off the walls of slum housing built before the 1950s. After that, lead-based paint for interiors largely was replaced by titanium-based paint.

Scientists have thought that if more blacks than white children are found with high blood levels of lead, it was because more blacks live in "slum housing."

"We can't say it is because black kids live in worse housing, because we found a 3-to-1 difference when the housing was equally bad," said Dr. Roger S. Challop, one of two government pediatricians in Cincinnati, Ohio who conducted the survey.

The racial difference may be caused by an enzyme deficiency in black children that allows lead to accumulate in the body, or by a cultural difference that contributes to black mothers being more permissive with children eating such nonfood substances as paint chips, Challop said in a telephone interview.

Among 100,000 children screened in New York City in a separate project, blacks show higher levels of lead in the blood than Puerto Ricans living in the same neighborhoods, Challop said.

Elevated levels of lead in the blood does not necessarily mean lead poisoning but may lead to it. The study said that 43 children were treated as a result of the survey.

Pool Edgar Allen Poe was born Oct. 7, 1853.

Fruit cocktail contaminated

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The federal government has gone to court to try to stop a canning company from selling contaminated fruit cocktail across the United States.

More than 5,000 cases of "Astor Fruit Cocktail" and "Orchard Park Fruit Cocktail" brand names have been seized across the country so far this year, assistant U.S. attorney Brian Denton said in a complaint filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

The complaint asked permission to seize another 85,000 cases of the fruit cocktail that the government said was contaminated with machinery mold during canning at F.G. Wool Packing Co., Inc., San Jose.

Salmon farmers initiate plans against 'hoppers'

HOLLISTER — Salmon Tract farmers met Wednesday night to initiate a grasshopper control program in that area.

Donald Youtz, Twin Falls County Extension agent, said chairmen and assistants were elected for four sectors in the area. They are responsible for surveying farmers in their sectors of the project to determine scope of participation in the program. He does, however, urge Salmon Tract farmers to contact their sector chairman to save the chairman time and effort.

U. S. Highway 93 was established as the north-south boundary and the east-west boundary bisects Hollister.

Vic Nelson was named chairman of the program and also is sector chairman in the northeast section, assisted by Bill Williams and Ellis Fuller.

Oran Jones is in charge of the southwest sector and Tom Kunkel, Ralph Schell and Leonard Peters are in charge of the southwest section.

The northwest sector is headed by Elmer Parrott and Bill Patrick.

Following the committee's survey, they will meet Wednesday in the county extension office to determine the scope and participation of the early July grasshopper control program.

Roger Pollard, plant pest control division of the United States Department of Agriculture's research service, said large blocks of private land will have to be committed to the program with owners signing an agreement accompanied by a check covering the owner's share of the control program.

He said the program is designed for grasshopper control on range land.

Pollard said he does not believe the Hansen Butte area will have a grasshopper problem this year because of a low count per square yard and a successful kill last year.

Planners meet

Burley planning confab hears 'realistic view'

BURLEY — The Governor's Conference on Regional Planning opened its second day with a summary of a realistic view of planning from a staff member of the Government Research Institute.

William Shields, instructor at Idaho State University, Pocatello, gave the Institute report.

A panel response was given with panel members State Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, L. W. Baldwin, chairman of the Camas County commissioners, and H. V. Crippen, Gooding mayor.

Glen Nichols, State Planning and Community Affairs Agency, spoke on achieving cooperation among planning agencies, and a view from the state level. He also gave participants a brochure listing the counties and towns which responded to questionnaires concerning local needs.

A panel response to Nichols' presentation was given by state Sen. Richard High, Wayne L. Hollenbeck, chairman of the Minidoka County commissioners, and Lex Kunkel, chairman of the Burley Planning Commission.

The remainder of the morning was taken up by discussion and questions from the floor.

Parks doubtful on DDT

TWIN FALLS — Idaho senatorial hopeful Tony Parks expressed reservations here today about a nearly-complete US ban on use of DDT.

Att. Gen. Parks said "I only hope that the Environmental Protection Agency has not created a worse environmental problem by banning DDT."

Parks said he is "not totally confident" that DDT is "any worse than some of the other types of pesticides."

He said the ban should have little effect on Idaho farmers. "I certainly hope, however," he said, "that the EPA has satisfied itself there were viable pesticide alternatives of a less environmentally damaging nature."

"The cold fact," he said, "is that Idaho is an agricultural state and the use of insecticides of some kind is absolutely imperative."

Picabo man gets honor

PICABO — Nick Purdy, Picabo, has been named Blaine County Grassman of the Year. Purdy was selected from participants in the annual grassman tour last week by three anonymous judges who accompanied the tour.

The 1972 grassman operates the Lava Lake Ranch, 11 miles east of Carey. During the tour, he exhibited rest rotation, water development, reclamation, brush control and cow herd management — utilizing a system of cow and calf tagging for culling purposes.

Purdy serves on the Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission.

As grassman of the year, Purdy automatically becomes chairman of the county grassman committee and chairman of next year's tour.

Rupert parents split from PTA

BY GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News writer
RUPERT — A number of parents and teachers from three elementary schools in Rupert have split from the Parent-Teacher Association and formed their own organization.

"Teachers and Parents for Children" was formed Tuesday during a meeting of parents and teachers from Lincoln, Memorial and Washington elementary schools.

A total of 300 questionnaires had been sent home with students from the three schools to determine if parents were interested in forming a new organization, said Mrs. Linda Glorfield. There were 200 forms returned with 140 in favor of forming an organization, 20 opposed and 40 with no opinion, she said.

Mrs. Glorfield was elected president of the organization; Mrs. Juanita Zimmerman, first vice president; Mrs. Joan Creamer, second vice president; Mrs. Dian Schow, secretary; and Lynn Butlers, treasurer.

"There had been only one PTA for the three schools. Gene Snapp, principal of Lincoln and Memorial schools, said all the officers of the PTA had resigned."

Mrs. Walter Martinez, PTA member, is now conducting a survey to see if there is enough parent-teacher interest to keep the PTA in existence.

If new officers can be elected and enough interest is indicated, the PTA will continue.

Snapp said. "Our interest is doing the utmost for our children right here in our schools on a local level," Mrs. Glorfield said. "Last year close to $250 from membership dues was sent to state and national PTA with the funds used for expenses to operate the state office and conventions," she said.

One project planned for the coming school year is a vision and motor exception program. Mrs. Glorfield pointed out the equipment needed for this program would cost about $250. "If the membership dues had been kept here at the local level, this amount alone would pay for the vision and motor exception program to start," she said.

Other things planned for this coming year include working on projects under the direction of principals and teachers to aid students, such as helping first graders identify buses; supervision by parents on playgrounds during reading and readiness testing programs; parents assisting in teaching children table manners in lunch rooms and parents serving at school to someone to whom the children may read.

"This type of involvement with our children and school effort is important. Our children and schools get the direct benefit of our services," said Mrs. Glorfield.

"Whatever we can do to benefit our children is our goal. We feel we will have more support of parents of the three Rupert schools by the new organization being formed. People are eager to assist our children and school and see the results," Mrs. Glorfield said.

Youth rodeo opens at Burley

BURLEY — The Idaho State High School Championship Rodeo begins tonight at Cassia County Fairgrounds.

The three-day event will feature rodeos at 8 p.m. each night, in double arenas.

Queen candidates are Carla

Anderson, Twin Falls district 5; Angee Robinson, Gooding, district 5 runner-up; Shirley Houtz, Blackfoot, district 4;

Glenda Griffith, Preston, district 3 runner-up; Camie Moore, Kooskia, district 3; Marty Speckelmire, Rigby, district 3 runner-up; Jamie Stillwell, Boise, district 2; Jane Maggard, Caldwell, district 2 runner-up; Marion Smith, Idaho Falls, district 1; Shawna Walker, Idaho Falls, district 1 runner-up.

The new Idaho State High School Rodeo Queen will be crowned Saturday night.

The reigning queen is Susan Mahara, Idaho Falls. The queen candidates will be honored at a breakfast Saturday at 8 a.m. at the Ponderosa Inn with Mrs. George For-scher, Burley, and Mrs. C. D. Christenson, Rupert, as hostesses.

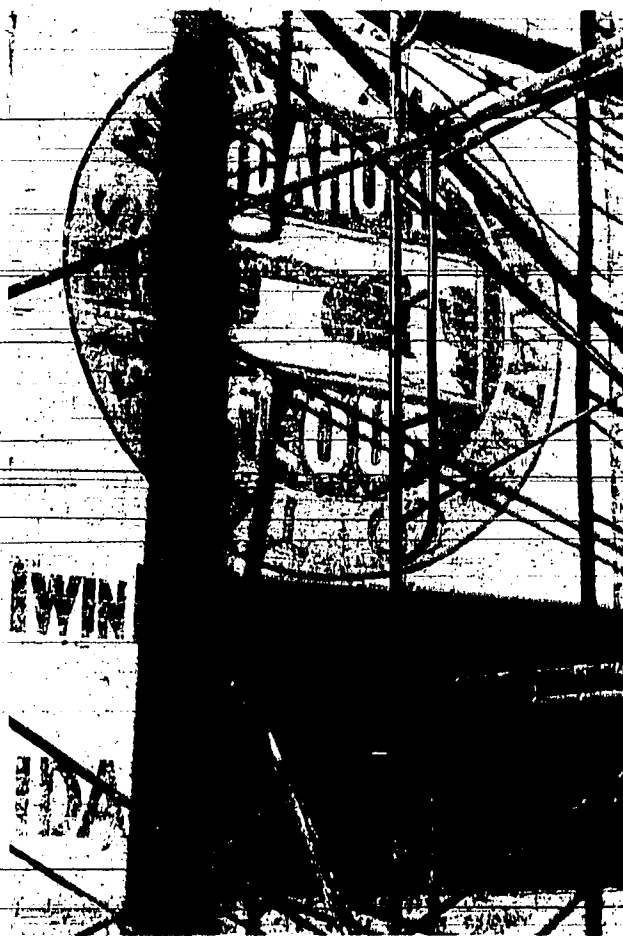

The top two contestants in each event will be eligible to compete in the National High School Rodeo Finals at Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Guard band to perform at Jerome

JEROME — The Idaho National Guard 25th Army Band from Caldwell will perform tonight from 8 to 9 p.m. in the Bank of Idaho parking lot. Various instrumental and vocal groups within the unit will present a musical variety program of marches, musical show tunes, big band jazz, dixieland and rock.

The band is performing in conjunction with Jerome's annual Moonlight Sale arranged for by the merchant's bureau of the chamber of commerce. Jack Grimes, chairman, said stores will be closed from 6 to 7 p.m. and then will be open from 7 to 10 p.m. for the annual sale.

A thought for today: American author Will Durant said, "The health of nations is more important than the wealth of nations."

Old sign soon gone

RENOVATION of a business building on Shoshone Street East in downtown Twin Falls will soon cover this old advertising sign painted on the side of the brick structure. It advertised a brand of flour once milled in the Magic Valley and apparently sold from the former grocery store. Workers' scaffolds screen the face of the wall. (Photo by Dale Stewart)

Elks meet opens

BURLEY — The Idaho State Elks Association's 50th annual convention opened today at the Burley Elks Lodge.

Boris Russell, Grangeville, state Elks president, presided at the first business session. Welcome addresses were given by Mayor Carla Robertson and Jay Schofield, Burley Chamber of Commerce president.

Business meetings continued until the hour when the Rupert Elks Lodge conducted a Flag Day Service.

In the afternoon visiting Elks participated in a golf tourney at Rupert Country Club. Tonight at 7 p.m., the Elks are scheduled to attend a board meeting and banquet and dance afterward.

Friday, more business sessions are slated in the morning. At 12:30 p.m., a memorial service will be conducted by the Blackfoot lodge, with Rev. David Buzza of the Burley Presbyterian Church leading the services.

More golf is scheduled for Friday afternoon and an evening dance will follow.

On Saturday morning members will meet in another business session to elect new state officers. Grand exalted ruler E. Gene Fournace will be honored at a 6 p.m. reception Saturday. Fournace is from Canton, Ohio.

The three-day meet concludes Saturday night at 7 p.m. with a banquet at which time Fournace will speak.

Susan Kuwana, DeLo High School senior, will be awarded the national Elks most valuable student award. She will receive a scholarship to the school of her choice. Susan's award is a first for the Burley Elks Club which sponsored her.

Controlled burn

BETTER THAN a baseball game? A little hotter, maybe. These two Little Leagueers paused Wednesday morning to watch the Twin Falls Fire Department at a controlled burn at 1151 10th Ave. E. The frame house, owned by James Keegan, was razed to make way for new construction. Firemen were at the scene for eight hours. (Photo by Dan Johnson)

600 youth to have say at Democratic national convention

By DONALD E. MULLEN
United Press International
"We're going to have about 600 young people at that convention, and no matter what goes on we're going to have a say in what happens."
The speaker is 18-year-old Sharon Rivenson of Passaic, N.J., who is headed for the Democratic National Convention in Miami July 10. But instead of being one of the demonstrators outside the auditorium, she will be one of the hundreds of teen-age delegates—some as young as 17—who have been chosen to help pick the Democratic presidential candidate.

They will be coming from almost every state in the union, and, as Miss Rivenson says, they reflect a new youthful commitment to national politics, boosted by the 18-year-old voting age.
Miss Rivenson, one of several 17- and 18-year-old delegates interviewed by UPI, is a sophomore majoring in political science at New York University. She is a converted McGovern supporter—four years ago she campaigned for Sen. Eugene McCarthy. She also doesn't mince words in explaining that the young delegates "don't just want to go down and loaf around. They want to get rid of the hell that's going on. To get rid of Nixon. They can't stop McGovern. It's the voice of the people. I just want to be a part of that."

Seventeen-year-old Lynn Madden of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, will be going to Miami as an alternate delegate. Like Miss Rivenson, she has been working in Democratic party politics since the 1968 campaign, and has switched from McCarthy to McGovern, explaining: "McGovern is more politically realistic."

"The Democratic Party at least has hope," she said. "As long as there are people like McGovern I'll keep working."

Susan Lancaster of Montgomery, Ala., will be 19 on June 24. She is the youngest of the Alabama Democratic delegation, having soundly defeated the vice chairman of the Alabama State Democratic Executive Committee.
She credits her strong allegiance to Gov. George Wallace as the reason she won. "I don't like McGovern's ideas on welfare reform, cutting off the national defense," she said. "I'm fairly conservative."

Paul H. Stevenson, 18, of Pittsburgh, is the youngest member of the Pennsylvania delegation. He has been a staunch Humphrey supporter for four years, and, with the help of his classmates, campaigned hard to be elected delegate.

Stevenson explained he will stick with Humphrey until he is released. "When you work that hard for someone, you have a commitment to yourself."
He also admitted he doesn't have enough money to get to Miami.

"I'll hitchhike if that's the only way I can get there," he said. "I have put aside some money for college. I could use a little of that if I get stuck."

Julie Price, 18, of Bartlesville, Okla., is not only one of the youngest convention delegates, but was the second girl page appointed to the U.S. Senate. More than a year in the Senate taught Miss Price a lot about politics and she decided to try to win a spot on the state's delegate slate.

Miss Price said she is officially uncommitted. "Right now, I am just sort of trying to make a rational decision about the candidates," she said, adding that she feels she can support "either Humphrey or McGovern."
Houther Giugni, 18, of Honolulu, is the youngest member of the Hawaii delegation, but she has been active in party politics for years. Her father, Henry, is an aide to U.S. Sen. Daniel K. Inouye.

Conclave urges ban on testing

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The U.N. Environment Conference Wednesday adopted a recommendation to ban all nuclear testing. The vote came after Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi injected politics into the meeting with an attack on U.S. policies in Vietnam.
Mrs. Gandhi, wearing a sari and carrying a leather handbag that looked suspiciously like an alligator, a threatened species, also warned that rich nations cannot be expected to cleanup the world at the expense of the poor.

The nuclear vote was 56 to 3 with 29 abstentions, including the United States, which explained it felt the wording of the resolution covered too much ground.

China and France, both of which are engaged in nuclear testing programs, voted against the committee stage that it will determine a nuclear device in the South Pacific this month regardless of the conference vote.

The decisions of the conference are not binding on the countries present.

The third country voting against was Gabon. Australia, which abstained in the committee vote, announced today it had changed its mind and would vote in favor of the resolution, introduced by New Zealand and Peru and sponsored by five other Pacific nations.

China reiterated that it would go on testing and developing nuclear weapons for its own defense as long as the superpowers tried to maintain their "nuclear monopoly." The Chinese delegate again repeated that China was in favor of total nuclear disarmament.

The recommendation, passed in plenary session today, called for a ban on all nuclear tests.

Decision pends

WASHINGTON (UPI) — No decision will be made by the government on whether to drop charges against the Rev. Philip Berrigan, the militant priest, until all pending motions have been dispensed with, according to Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst.

"The Washington Post today quoted 'Nixon' administration sources" that the Justice Department would drop the charges, probably this week.

Kleindienst told a group of reporters he was not "embarrassed" by the government's unsuccessful previous attempt to convict Berrigan and six others of conspiracy.

"I'd rather have brought the Berrigan case than ever stand before the public of America and say I have not prosecuted a crime because I was embarrassed about the reaction to it," he said.

Olympic torch beams as AAU championships open

SEATTLE (UPI)—With only two weeks left until the U.S. Olympic trials, athletes as young as a 17-year-old high school jumper and as ancient as triple Olympian Ralph Boston began competition Thursday in the 84th annual AAU Track and Field Championships.

While some of America's best stayed home to rest for the Olympic Trials in Eugene, Ore., June 29-July 9, others came to keep a competitive edge and many athletes were here to try and meet qualifying standards which would get them an invitation to the U.S. team tryouts.

Six world record holders and several defending champions led the field, which began with qualifications and trials in 15 events Thursday. Finals in six events were scheduled for Friday, with 13 more on Saturday.

The 17-year-old was Lee Braach from nearby Mount Ranier High. He topped 6-11-1-2 at a state meet earlier this year but is probably over his head here in a field which numbers several 7-foot leapers, but no world record holder Pat Matzford, who is out with toe, heel and back troubles.

Boston was coming out of semi-retirement in an apparent attempt at a fourth Olympic trip. He picked up medals for the United States in Tokyo, Rome and Mexico City.

Among the absent were world record middle distance runner Jim Ryan and Steven Prefontaine, the American king of the longer runs. Both apparently decided they would rather push toward the big races in Eugene.

Bowling Green's Dave Wottle, second to Ryan in a sub-four minute mile last week, decided pass up the 1,500 meter event here and was to run in the 800 meters. Another middle distance star, Tom Von Huden, also was entered in the 800.

Prefontaine's absence left the distance field to two American veterans, Jack Bachelor and Frank Shorter.

Other world record holders expected to compete were Olympic champion Lee Evans in the 400 meters, Jamaican Dan Quarrie in the 200 meters, pole vaulter Bob Seagrave, Rod Milburn in the 110-meter hurdles and shot putter Randy Matson.

Matson will continue a three-way duel with George Woods and Al Feuerbach. The three who are the only men ever to pass 70 feet with the 16-pound shot, have met head-to-head the past month and are pushing each other toward that magic barrier in every meet.

Several foreign competitors were taking part, including athletes from France, Great Britain and Mexico along with Madagascar's Jean-Louis Havemanant, who until this past month had been undefeated at 100 yards and 100 meters for two years.

The payoff was the largest so far this season at Arlington, track officials said. In the trifecta, the better must pick the first three horses in exact order.

Spies say Blalock illegally moved ball

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Ladies Professional Golf Association said Wednesday spies hiding in woods and stationed on television towers with binoculars had seen Jane Blalock illegally move her ball during tournament play.

The disclosure came in affidavits presented to U.S. District Court Judge Charles Moya, who held a hearing on a request by Miss Blalock for a permanent injunction against a one-year suspension handed her by the LPGA.

Miss Blalock, the leading money winner of the women's tour, has filed a $5-million suit against the LPGA, contending it is depriving her of her livelihood.

Her attorneys contended at Wednesday's hearing that the LPGA had singled her out as an example to deter other rules violations among golfers.

She was initially charged with moving her ball during the Blue Grass invitational tournament at Louisville, Ky. At that time the LPGA fined her and placed her on probation, and then later added still another punishment—suspension for one year.

Her attorneys contended the added punishment was heaped on after 27 fellow players signed a petition demanding "more severe action be taken against Miss Blalock."

LPGA lawyers submitted 13 affidavits charging Miss Blalock with moving her ball. Tournament director Gene McCauliff III said in one affidavit that four observers were told to watch specifically for violations committed by Miss Blalock during the Bluegrass tournament. Six violations were reported, he said.

The LPGA also introduced several affidavits from regular tour players, quoting Miss Blalock as saying, "I probably have been guilty of moving my ball out of spike marks, heel prints, and ball marks on several occasions. I dug my own grave and I guess I'll have to live with it."

Moya gave LPGA lawyers until Friday to submit a memorandum showing cause why the LPGA was justified in levying the suspension after their earlier probation penalty.

Lawyers for Miss Blalock will have until Tuesday to reply to the memorandum. Moya will then make a final ruling on the golfer's playing status.

The observers placed by McCauliff said they watched Miss Blalock with binoculars from the woods and television towers.

They were quoted as saying the blonde pro marked her ball on a two-foot putt and a three-foot putt, and then placed it closer to the hole. She was also charged with placing her ball six inches forward on the 10th fairway in the Louisville tourney.

An affidavit by fellow tour member Kathy Whitworth said Miss Blalock had admitted to her that she did not properly mark her ball.

Cubs outhit Padres for 12-9 decision

CHICAGO (UPI)—Ron Santo belted a three-run homer Wednesday to cup a six-run sixth inning rally and enable the Chicago Cubs to defeat the San Diego Padres, 12-9, in a game delayed by rain for 33 minutes.

The teams totaled 21 runs and walloped 31 hits, both National League highs this season.

Chicago's sixth-inning surge, which also included a two-run single by Rick Monday, overcame a grand-slam homer by pinch-hitter Clarence Gaston in the top of the sixth which tied the score at 6-6.

San Diego's pitcher, Steve Carlton, was hit by a line drive off the bat of Santo in the sixth inning.

Carlton pitched a complete game, allowing 12 runs, 12 hits and 12 earned runs.

Chicago's lineup included Santo, Monday, and several other players who contributed to the victory.

The game was a high-scoring affair, with both teams showing offensive firepower.

The Cubs' victory was a significant one, especially considering the weather delays.

The Padres' pitcher, Carlton, struggled throughout the game, giving up multiple runs in the sixth inning.

The game's outcome was a relief for the Cubs, who had been struggling recently.

The Cubs' offense was firing on all cylinders, with several key players contributing to the win.

The Padres' defense was shaky, allowing the Cubs to capitalize on their opportunities.

The game's final score was a decisive 12-9 in favor of the Cubs.

The Cubs' victory was a morale booster for the team, especially after a recent loss.

The Padres' manager expressed disappointment with his team's performance.

The game was a classic example of a high-scoring National League matchup.

The Cubs' pitching staff did a great job of supporting the offense.

The game's highlights included Santo's grand slam and Monday's two-run single.

Fries-led T.F. tops Jerome 6-0

TWIN FALLS — Mike Fries tripled in two runs and scored one more Wednesday night when the Twin Falls Legion dropped Jerome 6-0.

Mike Anderson threw a shutout.

Twin Falls travels to Valley Friday night and then hosts Bonneville and Idaho Falls in a pair of doubleheaders Saturday, and Sunday. Twin Falls meets Idaho Falls at 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday and 11 a.m. Sunday at Jaycee Park.

Twin Falls struck for two quick runs in the first, Rick Springs walking and Mark Hancey living on an error.

Springs scored on a groundout and Kevin Nelson singled in Hancey.

But over the next four innings, Jerome's Schwaner matched Anderson's shutout.

Then in the fifth, Anderson lived on a fielder's choice and Springs walked. Fries then delivered his triple and scored on Nelson's double.

In the sixth, Mike Tremayne doubled and scored on a passed ball and wild pitch.

The game was a high-scoring affair, with both teams showing offensive firepower.

The Cubs' victory was a significant one, especially considering the weather delays.

Partly cloudy through Friday

Twin Falls, northside, Burley, Rupert area. Partly cloudy through Friday with a chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers. Lows tonight will be near 50 with the highs Friday near 80.

The outlook for Saturday is for a chance of showers.

Camas, Prairie, Huley, and lower Wood River Valley. Partly cloudy through Friday with a chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers. Lows tonight will be near the mid 40s with highs Friday near 80.

The outlook for Saturday calls for a chance of showers.

A weak disturbance moved through southern Idaho last night causing a few light showers or thundershowers. Amounts reported were only traces. A few showers will linger in the southeastern valleys through tonight with temperatures continuing warm in all southern Idaho valleys through Friday.

Tonight a weak frontal system off the coast will spread more cloudiness into the area but no significant precipitation is indicated.

The extended outlook for Saturday through Monday indicates seasonal temperatures will be above normal with a chance of some shower activity.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) Prices moved higher, but not too sharply, in moderate trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 3.39 at 950.14 shortly before 1:13 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was up 0.38 at 108.77.

Advances led declines, 743 to 533, among the 1,640 issues comprising the tape. The three-hour turnover amounted to 10,000,000 shares, down from the 11,750,000 traded during the corresponding period Wednesday.

Analysts said traders apparently were inspired by favorable news in the background, such as government reports showing personal income and industrial production increased in May. The increases were less than those in the month before.

Also, hope developed that the talks to Peking by Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's adviser, and to Hanoi by some Soviet officials may lead to a peaceful solution of the Vietnam War.

Wheelabrator-Fry was the most active, up 1 1/2 at 10 1/2, on 174,100 shares. American Telephone & Telegraph warrants were second, unchanged at 6 1/2 on volume of 97,700.

Curtis-Wright, holder of North American rights to the Wankel rotary engine, was third, off 1/2 at 1 1/2 on 96,200 shares.

Some analysts said Wankel-related industries would not derive any profits from the engine until 1975. Buils generally were higher. Airlines were mixed. Steels, motors, chemicals and oils moved irregularly.

Japanese Go For Poodles

That nation wherein you could most quickly sell a litter of good poodle pups now is said to be Japan. MAYBE you didn't know a youngster's tonils normally are bigger than a grownup's. IF ALL the one-eyed Americans lived in one spot, they'd make a town about the size of Seattle, it's figured.

IN THE LANGUAGE of drug users, it can be reported the downers out-sell the uppers nationwide by about four to one. What conclusion do you draw from this peculiar proof, that far more snik want to be tranquilized than pepped? Am working on it, and intend to print a pro-found analysis shortly.

CLIENT asks the identity of the authority for the claim that the ideal brassiere size is 34B. Foundation garment maker Charles Taveira was the spokesman. It was he too who said the women of Hawaii have the best figures.

QUERIES

Q: "What's a 'draw-latch'?"
A: What your great-granddaddy used to call a burglar.
Q: "WHY" is it diabetic mothers tend to produce babies considerably larger than average?
A: So do diabetic fathers, but I don't know why. Will check further.
Q: "WHAT" is it in this country gets the most bad storms?
A: Losses in between Cheyenne and Denver.
IF THE New York City

police can't get you for anything else, they might just jail you for opening an umbrella in the presence of a horse. What, too, is still outlawed there.

NERVES

It has been determined that a nerve carries a message, say from your fingertip to your brain, at a speed of about 155 m.p.h. That's not so swift, really. If the nation were equipped with nerves instead of telephone lines, it would take hours for the pain in Los Angeles to be transmitted to Washington, D.C.

MISTER, what part of your body do you rub dry first after a shower? Three out of four men start this personal procedure at the left shoulder, it's reported.

A MEDICAL specialist says you can reckon the average 18-month-old little girl will be just about twice as tall and five times as heavy at the age of 18.

ODDLY, most dog food labels tell you more precisely what's in the stuff than do people food labels. That ought to be fixed.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: If you stick to what has proven to be satisfactory and avoid confusing conditions in which you are not sure just what will happen, you can make this a very good day. The evening is fine for getting everything in the right place. Be sure to take care of important correspondence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can accomplish a great deal in the sphere of endeavor that is most important to you. Show others that you are considerate of them and gain their goodwill. Keep all appointments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Doing your duties in a most efficient way gets the approval from bigwigs that you desire. Take mate out to a charming social affair, tonight. Show that you really care.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Work on a plan now that brings cooperation of family for the work that bigwigs want you to perform. Make necessary repairs in the home. Rest on your laurels tonight and take it easy.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A good time now to do the shopping that will help improve the efficiency of your daily routines. Be careful in travel. Study new information tonight and use it wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle those financial problems now. You have been delaying too long on this already. Cut down on unnecessary expenses, and you will soon have a sizable abundance. Rest up tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) Keep busy doing whatever will please your good friends and earn their cooperation for the future. Take health insurance that improves your stamina. Avoid a troublesome person.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 21) Divide your time intelligently so that you take care of personal affairs and business matters without contention. Plan the future better. Contact experts who can give you good advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21) Contact persons you like and plan the weekend property so that all goes smoothly. Make the right decision where a monetary matter is concerned. Go out and have a good time tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make sure you don't irk higher-ups today or you could get into real trouble. Use good judgment instead of relying on hunches, which are not accurate now. Show that you have talent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day for expansion in right directions through true ideas given you by right-thinking persons. Don't hide your talents. Engage in a new activity tonight. Show you have poise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you keep promises made to others instead of going off on a tangent that could be bad for all concerned. Show mate you are steady and loyal and increase more harmony.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Converse carefully with associates, otherwise there could be explosive situations erupting. Cooperation is the keynote now. Take it easy tonight and do some playing you've put off.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fine young people who would do well to stick to the tried and proven methods of the past, combined with the best modern ideas for best results during lifetime. Taking chances with the unknown could be disastrous for you. Youngster, Religion and politics are especially fine outlets here in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU.
