RESCUE WORKERS probe rubble of 14 story building demolished by landslide in Hong Kong Sunday. Heavy rains caused slides which killed at least 57 persons and injured more than 90. Flooding was widespread in mountainous British colony following 26 inches of rain. (UPI)

Pilots walk out, cut air service

By United Press International
Striking pilots forced cancellation of almost all overseas flights today in an international walkout protesting the failure of governments to halt air piracy. Domestic flights in the United States were running on schedule except for those of Eastern, Northeast and Southern Airlines.

Spokesman for Chicago's O'Hare, Los Angeles International and Kennedy International in New York—the nation's three busiest airports—reported some cancellations of international flights but said domestic operations were running normal. Pilots for Atlanta-based Southern Airlines remained off their jobs for eight hours today before voting to end the walkout. Southern estimated that about 6,000 persons would

TF has jets

TWIN FALLS — Hughes Airwest officials reported all jet flights into and out of Twin Falls were operating today.

"The scheduled flights are being maintained," an official here said. "Morning and early afternoon flights were filled to capacity. We understand the only real blanket shutdown is on international airline flights. Otherwise, most domestic passengers were able to fly to their original scheduled destinations."

US jets blast N. Viet anti-aircraft missiles

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. pilots outwitting radar with strips of tin foil and decoy beepers destroyed more than 140 pieces of North Vietnamese anti-aircraft equipment including 76 Surface-to-Air (SAM) sites in record raids Sunday, the U.S. command reported today.

The U.S. command said the air war against North Vietnam resumed full blast today with the departure of Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, but military sources said bad weather forced the cancellation of nearly all of today's strikes in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The record strikes against North Vietnam's air defenses came on the last day of Podgorny's visit to Hanoi, destroying a big chunk of Russia's multimillion dollar military aid to Vietnam. None of the strikes was near Hanoi—the U.S. command put the area off limits Thursday when Podgorny arrived.

Radio Hanoi in its first comment on the Podgorny visit said tonight the Soviet president had promised "all necessary assistance" to North Vietnam in the war. Statements on both Hanoi and Moscow Radios called for an end to the U.S. air strikes, an end to the naval blockade of the ports and a return to the Paris peace talks.

The U.S. command said Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers flew 300 air strikes over North Vietnam during the 24-hour period ending at 5 p.m. Sunday with the major raids against Communist anti-aircraft and SAM defenses. A spokesman said the planes "knocked the hell out of them."

It said the raids destroyed 76 SAM sites, 53 missile canisters, five launchers, six radar vans and seven conventional anti-aircraft guns. U.S. intelligence sources said the Air Force planes used a combination of simple and sophisticated electronic gadgets to outwit the radar defenses.

These included strips of tin foil which had their first use in World War II and far more sophisticated and still secret equipment including decoy beepers.

KH man victim in wreck

KING HILL — Dennis Paul Draper, 22, King Hill, was killed early Sunday morning in a single car accident near here. State police said the young man was traveling on the Pasadena Valley Road, three miles east of Glenns Ferry, when he failed to negotiate a curve. His vehicle left the pavement and rolled over, throwing him out.

A young unidentified couple, traveling on the same road, saw the accident and notified officers. They told police they could not find the victim in the dark and thought he was pinned under the overturned vehicle. His body was found near the wreckage.

Taxes due Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — Tuesday is the deadline for payment of the second half of the current property tax bills in Twin Falls County.

County tax collector Ruth K. Jones said today all payments must be in the mail by midnight Tuesday or be paid at her office in the court house by 5 p.m. Tuesday. She said, nearly $1 million is yet to be collected from Twin Falls county property owners. After deadline, payments must include penalty and interest amounts.

Domestic wiretaps by permission only

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court unanimously ruled unconstitutional today the Nixon administration's use of wiretaps against domestic subversives without a court order.

"We recognize, as we have before, the constitutional basis of the President's domestic security role but we think it must be exercised in a manner compatible with the fourth amendment," the Court said in an opinion by Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., a Nixon appointee.

The Court also ruled for the third time in 50 years that professional baseball is exempt from antitrust regulation and refused to strike down the sport's controversial player reserve clause.

In a 5-3 ruling against former star Curt Flood, the Court held that baseball is big business engaged in interstate commerce but declared the antitrust exemption "rests on a recognition and acceptance of baseball's unique characteristics and needs." —Broadened the authority of federal courts to prevent state civil proceedings against the poor and racial minorities who can show their constitutional rights are being violated.

—Cleared the way for construction of a multi-million dollar power plant on Storm King Mountain on the Hudson Highlands north of New York City which has long been opposed by conservationists.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun joined in the wiretap opinion. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William

O. Douglas concurred. Justice Byron R. White concurred in the finding of illegality but did not think the constitutional issue should be reached.

Justice William H. Rehnquist, who was the Justice Department's spokesman in claiming such wiretaps are the President's "inherent right," did not participate.

The ruling did not touch the president's long-held right to wiretap on foreign agents in the interests of national security nor did it upset the 1968 safe streets act giving the government the right to eavesdrop in organized crime cases with a court order.

The Court by an 8-0 vote upheld a lower court ruling in the case of a White Panther party member, Lawrence Plamondon, who was accused of conspiring to blow up Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) offices at Ann Arbor, Mich.

The main initial criticism came today from the other side. The committee chairman, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., questioned why the United States felt obliged to step up military spending in the face of agreements to limit armaments.

"Can we in good conscience and good sense engage the Russians in an accelerated race for offensive weapons, given the fact we have each recognized the other's right to existence?" Fulbright asked in a statement welcoming Rogers.

Rogers did not directly deal with that question in his statement, but he stressed that the treaty made nuclear war less likely.

"I am convinced beyond doubt that the possibility of nuclear war has been dramatically reduced by this treaty," he said.

Rogers said defense dollars saved as a result of the treaty "will be limited initially." But over the long run, he said, "we will save the tens of billions of dollars which might otherwise have been required for a nationwide ABM defense."

The treaty limits each country to deployment of no more than 100 antiballistic missiles at each of two sites, one of which can be each nation's capital area.

Ratification drive opens

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today the arms limitation treaty signed in Moscow dramatically reduces the chances of nuclear war.

He said it would save the country "tens of billions of dollars" for weapons made unnecessary by the agreement.

Rogers testified along with Gerard G. Smith, chief U.S. negotiator of the arms control agreements reached in May, in opening the administration's drive for ratification of the treaty in September.

Despite misgivings of a few Senate advocates of the strong possible defense system, approval seemed certain of both the treaty to limit defensive missiles and an interim agreement to limit offensive weapons.

The main initial criticism came today from the other side. The committee chairman, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., questioned why the United States felt obliged to step up military spending in the face of agreements to limit armaments.

"Can we in good conscience and good sense engage the Russians in an accelerated race for offensive weapons, given the fact we have each recognized the other's right to existence?" Fulbright asked in a statement welcoming Rogers.

New Viet peace efforts hinted

HONG KONG (UPI)—There is increasing speculation here that new Vietnam peace initiatives involving the United States, China and the Soviet Union may be taking shape.

Diplomats specializing in Chinese affairs today linked the visit of presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger to Peking with a weekend stopover there by Le Duc Tho, head of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks, and a visit to Hanoi by Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Although officials in Washington said there is no connection, diplomatic sources here and in Peking are convinced that the chain of events is related to some new efforts to get the Paris talks moving again. The talks are being temporarily boycotted by the United States.

Premier Chou En-lai and China's official media have criticized the U.S. mining of harbors and bombing of North Vietnam. However, the criticism has been much milder than in the past.

Question...

For Compensation purposes how is the value of a human life determined?

Answer...

An English Court awarded two children in London the sum of $20,418 for the loss of their mother in a compensable automobile crash. The justice who had the task of assessing this loss in cash terms, said he had to disregard the loss of love and affection the mother gave. He was allowed only to consider the financial support the children could have anticipated from their mother's earnings.

Compensation paid by the American Government for the death of a serviceman or compensation authorized by a state for the death of a workman is based upon the decedent's projected earnings and the number and degree of those dependent upon him. Federal and State governments set compensation payments by statute. No attempt is made to evaluate the worth-of-life-in-family human relationships. For compensation purposes the value of a human life is inestimable.

Dennis Draper

KING HILL — Dennis Paul Draper, 22, King Hill, died Sunday morning in a car accident near Glenn's Ferry. Funeral services are pending at Smith Mortuary, Mountain Home.

SOISSONS, France (UPI) — The threatened collapse of the ceiling today halted rescue operations in one end of the mile-long tunnel of death where two trains crashed Friday. The trains slammed together from opposite directions into rubble from a cave-in.

Officials said at least 42 persons were known dead and 86 injured. An estimated 30 to 50 bodies still were trapped in the wreckage halfway in the tunnel 60 miles northeast of Paris.

At least one man still was heard groaning. More than 40 hours after the crash, a passenger identified as Bernard Debre was carried out of the tunnel and taken by helicopter to a hospital, where doctors said they hoped to save his life.

Provincial Gov. Rene Dijoud gave the order to halt rescue operations from the northern end of the tunnel because of the renewed cave-in danger in the ceiling. At the same time he told the 500 rescuers to redouble efforts to cut through masses of steel and debris from the less dangerous southern entrance.

A woman passenger was pulled alive from the rubble 38 hours after the crash Sunday and flown to a Paris hospital by helicopter.

HANSEN — Sheriff's officers today were investigating reports of vandalism in the Hansen area.

Bryan Harris told officers he left a hay loader near a stack after using it Sunday and when he returned found it had been damaged. The loader was three miles east and one half mile south of Hansen. Officers said lights, gauges, mirror and battery were broken and estimated damage would exceed $100.

Ron Liorman, four miles south of Hansen, told officers vandals damaged a tractor parked on his farm over the week-end.

Personalized plates ready

TWIN FALLS — Personalized license plates costing an additional $25 per year are available until July 1, Ron Taylor, county assessor, said Friday.

The plates—which can have any combination of letters or numbers up to and including six digits are available to anyone with an Idaho title to his or her vehicle. They can be used by businesses with a large number of trucks to use the firm's initial's or a short name plus a different number for each vehicle.

A resident might wish to combine his initials or his short name and house number, or could use all letters, Taylor explained.

He said the applications ask for a second and third choice ~~since only one set of numbers or name and numbers can be~~ issued to avoid duplication.

The person interested in a personalized plate must apply to the Department of Law Enforcement by June 30. Plates will be the same size and color of those now in use and will be embossed with the year in

COMMENT

Shed A Tear

Christian Science Monitor

The average American taxpayer should shed a tear as he listens to the debate now beginning on the new American weapons program which Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird has unveiled, but he should not worry too much about the future of the republic.

The military security of the United States is in excellent shape. With some 5,700 nuclear blows targeted on the Soviet Union against 2,500 aimed the other way, the U.S. is in no immediate danger of being outgunned. Even if the Russians were at the testing stage of MIRVs, which they are not, it would be another four or five years before they could begin to deploy them. Besides, 100 nuclear blows are a deterrent. Anything over a hundred is already deep in the realm of "overkill."

But such considerations are not conclusive in the area of politics. To act on the essential facts about weaponry would mean bitter disappointment to several large industries—and the trade unions associated with them. The juiciest kind of defense contracts are tied in with the theory that the Russians will some day emerge with a nuclear advantage unless a whole shopping list of new weapons is ordered, and now.

In effect, Mr. Laird has said that the Pentagon will oppose ratification of SALT unless the Congress will authorize the Pentagon's full 1972 shopping list.

It could be called blackmail: Or the most practical kind of 1972 politics.

The aviation and air space industries are in parlous condition. A number of companies would go out of business if the Congress were to turn down the whole shopping list. It is politically unrealistic to think that it will.

The practical question is what price must be paid in unneeded weaponry.

One of the unfortunate features of the problem is that the most politically valuable of the proposed new weapons is probably the least justifiable. The new big manned bomber which the Air Force wants will cost from $30 to $50 million and bring comfort to the aircraft factories along the Pacific Coast, but is probably obsolete before the first rivet is driven. The $1 billion nuclear submarine (the Triton) which the Navy wants, is probably the most valid of all the proposed new weapons. But it won't mean as many new jobs. And Connecticut, where the submarines are built, is probably hopelessly lost to the Republicans, but California, the home of the airplanes, is not.

The net of it all is that the taxpayer is bound to be gouged for some stupor weaponry. The Republicans are simply not going into the next election campaign naked in new weapons programs. We merely hope that for the sake of the taxpayer, the programs will be kept as small as possible.

Birth Rate

Idaho State Journal

Problems of overpopulation are beginning to look a lot less serious in the United States than in the rest of the world.

THE NATION'S birth rate has taken the sharpest dip ever, and liberalized abortion laws, economic decline and women's lib are cited by experts as reasons.

The rate has almost declined to a point of zero population growth. For the first three months of this year, the birth rate was 15.8 children per 1,000 population. That compares with 17.6 per 1,000 for the same quarter last year and 17.3 for all of 1971.

Those figures mean that prior to the end of the first quarter of 1972, women in child-bearing ages are likely to have had in their lifetimes an estimated average of 2.145 children compared with 2.284 for all of 1971, said the National Center for Health Statistics, a branch of the Census Bureau.

If that dips to a family size of 2.11 children over a woman's lifetime, according to population specialists, the country will level in population growth by about the year 1970.

Alarmists have been warning that the United States will need laws or at least tax incentives to restrict population growth to a level which natural resources will be able to sustain. But that may not be necessary for two reasons.

One, of course, is that people seem to be voluntarily producing fewer children, for whatever the reason.

The other is more complicated, but it boils down to the fact that as the population grows, we will be able to devote more attention to solving problems of pollution and overcrowding. In other words, there will be more people to provide more tax revenue, more of which will be directed to the very expensive programs that are necessary for air, water and pollution control. Also, advances in technology should help.

This theory presupposes a change in priorities for public from those now in effect.

BECAUSE THE United States seems headed in the right direction on population control, however, is no reason for complacency. The underdeveloped nations still face terrible problems of starvation, lack of housing, illiteracy and lack of development because of high birth rates and lower infant mortality. Unless there are birth control methods developed which are cheap, easy and widely available, along with urgent policy reforms, disaster may yet overtake us all.

But at least the pendulum seems to be swinging in the right direction.

McClure Leading

Lewiston Tribune

The best poll in politics is the actions of the candidates themselves. The actions of the Republican and Democratic candidates in the election of an Idaho senator this year point to the conclusion that virtually all of them are convinced First District Congressman James A. McClure would win the Republican nomination if the election were held today.

McClure's three GOP opponents—former Gov. Robert E. Smylie, former Congressman George Hansen and Dr. Glenn Wegner—have all opened up on McClure this week. Front-runners in politics rarely attack and thereby publicize those trailing them. The fact Smylie, Hansen and Wegner are going after McClure indicates at least some suspicion on their part that McClure is going to win the nomination unless his shortcomings as a congressman and potential senator are exposed to the voters.

WASHINGTON—Idaho Rep. James McClure (R) can offer no assurance the new McClure-Hansen Snake River moratorium bill will be passed by this session of Congress. "It has some chance," he said in an interview this week, and added he thinks his new bill may even satisfy Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who, along with Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, is the author of a moratorium bill currently languishing in the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

Even if the bill does not pass this session, McClure readily conceded it makes sound political sense for him to introduce at least his version of a moratorium bill. The aspiring senator acknowledged that during the coming campaign he fully intends to point to his new bill as proof of his commitment to preservation of the Middle Snake.

McClure believes his bill is almost the same as the Jordan Church moratorium bill which prohibits the granting of a dam license along the Middle Snake at least until the completion of various water and basin studies sometime in 1978.

The difference is that the Payette Republican would authorize another study and prohibit any designation or classification of the Middle Snake for any other purpose until 1980.

None of the government agencies has been directed to make a specific study of this area," McClure maintained. "My bill would authorize a detailed study which would look at and carefully evaluate all the resources along the river. It would attempt to determine what might be possible boundaries for any new designation of the canyon, and it would seek to define what management objectives and priorities in the canyon should be," he added.

As an example, McClure said his study would try to answer the question of roads along the rim of the canyon, and he noted that Oregon Sen. Bob Packwood's bill would have banned such roads whereas the power full east Oregon congressman Rep. Al Uhlman has legislation which would permit roads along the canyon rim on the Oregon side.

Asked if the Middle Snake might not already be studied sufficiently, McClure said the river is still being studied none of those studies are complete. As for the resources, they have not been studied. In fact, the Seven Devils area has never been completely mapped.

McClure also maintained it was not sufficient for people simply to have a generalized concept expressing a desire for the Middle Snake to be preserved in its natural state with dams and sub-divisions prohibited. He charged that the specifics have to be known, and that only the type of study he envisioned will provide such specifics.

Taking credit for Sen. Church's awareness of the upstream water rights question, McClure asked, "how do we go about preserving the upstream uses?" He added that his study would help answer that question.

McClure reiterated he was now committed to the principle of no dams and no sub-divisions along the Middle Snake. He predicted there would never be a dam along the Middle Snake and cited his work in obtaining $1 million from the House Interior Appropriations committee which is earmarked for purchase of private land in the canyon.

He would offer no assurances, however, that the Office of Management and Budget might not freeze the $1 million, but indicated he would apply as much pressure as he could for the powerful agency to okay the simple reallocation of more funds to the Forest Service from the Land and Water Conservation fund.

Asked why he had not introduced his new moratorium bill sooner, McClure said the question of what to do with the private property in the canyon had always troubled him, and that once Sen. Packwood and Church came up with the plan to buy out the ranches which are currently for sale in the canyon, he did not see how a moratorium addressing itself to land management in the canyon could be effective.

He added he waited until late last week because he wanted to be sure that the House Interior Appropriations committee approved the reallocation of funds, which the Senate has already done. McClure said this resolved his dilemma and cleared the way for him to introduce his bill.

"WOULD YOU BELIEVE A DOVE BY NOVEMBER?"

Stop McGovern?

WASHINGTON—Even the most pragmatic and self-seeking Democratic busses must be asking themselves these days whether the Democratic Party would be right in stopping George McGovern at the Miami Beach convention.

For such leaders, the question of morality is not an issue. This is not to say that these men are less moral than any newspaper columnist although politics admittedly is a strong on a body's rectitude. But their preoccupation is winning the election, if possible, and if not, then keeping the party together for another day.

Thus, the question is whether a successful Stop McGovern movement would be profitable. All the evidence at this stage says it would not.

They can't arrange a recount of the primary results, which show George McGovern with such an overwhelming lead as to make the hopes of various dark horse candidates pathetic if not ridiculous. The South Dakota started with nothing.

A man whose candidacy was considered a joke and he is now within a few hundred votes of the nomination. If the primary system means anything, he deserves a fair shot at Miami Beach.

The suggestion is not that Hubert Humphrey or Ed Muskie should abandon their candidacies, or even that Gov. George Wallace of Arkansas or Wilbur Mills join the McGovern bandwagon. Muskie was eminently right in refusing to withdraw from his mostly inactive campaign and endorse McGovern. Delegates, to the convention should not be confronted with a fait accompli, managed even before they check into their hotel rooms. A rousing convention battle never hurt any basically sound political party.

But the "Anybody but McGovern" theme of many of the South Dakota's opponents is something else again. It is one thing to support a viable candidate you believe would make a better President than George McGovern. It is another to engage in a political assassination to show the party rank-and-file who's boss.

It is another—dangerous thing. Whatever George McGovern's qualifications for the Presidency, his amazingly impressive showing in the primaries reflects a mood of massive discontent with the way things are by a substantial slice of the electorate. His opposition should find disturbing the fact that between them

McGovern and Wallace have piled up a majority of the votes in primary states.

If McGovern is jobbed at Miami Beach, the nominee almost surely will be forced to bid farewell to these votes, or at least to McGovern's share of them. Many Wallace supporters will turn to Richard Nixon, of course, but from the viewpoint of the Democratic nominee the result will be the same.

Thus, we have Wilbur Mills engaged in an effort to persuade Sen. Ted Kennedy to be "drifted." Of all the potential challengers to McGovern, Kennedy would be most likely to hold the McGovern Left while gaining the support of the disorganized machine and its local bosses. His name and celebrity would attract voters who are not now suffering from restlessness over the McGovern candidacy.

But why on earth should Kennedy get involved in such a pool of worms? Even with his name and charisma going for him, there is no guarantee he could beat Richard Nixon, especially if things go well for the United States in Vietnam.

Kennedy would be the chief target of a campaign too soon after Chappaquiddick. Professional Kennedy haters, who are legion both within and without the Democratic Party, might well determine the election outcome. Secret Service men shudder at the thought of trying to protect Kennedy from assassination.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

The Governors

WASHINGTON (NEA)—In the changing politics of 1972, the many governors in this country are often seen in a confusing blur. Neither their strengths nor their weaknesses are understood.

Right now, look for a moment at the Democratic governors. They are 30 in number, and a good share of them have been very much in the national news.

Starting long months ago, quite a sizable batch endorsed the presidential candidacy of Sen. Edmund Muskie. In that period, the general reaction of public figures and observers was that this was a considerable coup, though some people felt the endorsement tactic reached beyond the point of overkill.

When Democratic party primary voting began and Muskie turned up a loser, the judgment was quick: The word from many sources was that it doesn't do any good for a candidate to have the governors with him if he isn't organized at the grass roots and can't identify well with the issues which are bothering the people.

Some high-played associates, however, did not agree. Said one aide when the Maine senator was taking his lumps:

"Let's face it. The governors are just about the only thing we've got going for us these days. Without them, we'd be even worse off than we are."

Yet that view didn't make much of a dent as Sen. George McGovern rose out of nowhere and bolted toward the Democratic presidential nomination, riding the waves of voter protest and relying upon a superior organization with almost no big names.

Then, suddenly, a strange thing happened. The governors got back into the bright light. The anti-McGovern sentiment in the Democratic party is, of course, substantial. The governors, widely judged to be useless for Muskie if not a drag on him, were briefly seen as the very fellows who could put it all together and stop McGovern. The theory seemed to be that they can't help you but they sure can hurt you.

Well, naturally, that little flurry didn't last long. At the Houston National governors' conference, I made the same fast spin around the Democratic circuit that many observers did. Unhappy though most governors were, they knew they couldn't halt McGovern, and only a handful wanted to try. It would have been like putting thumb tacks in the roadway to stop a tank.

This time, though, some of Muskie's backers were not so kind. They thought the governors' complaints about McGovern came a bit late. The theme was, where were you when we needed you and the song was strikingly different: "Let's face it. The governors can't organize, they can't run, they can't do anything except get together in a corner and moan."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Insemination

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and I have been married three years and would like a child very much. My husband had a sperm count done about a year and a half ago and was told it was very low. The doctor gave him shots and pills but until now I have not become pregnant.

We are interested in artificial insemination and would like information about doctors who do this or could help us. J.B.

Artificial insemination has been done and is being done, but it isn't quite as simple a matter as one might think from hearing mention of it.

There are, of course, legal, social and religious questions, not all of them with any ready answers.

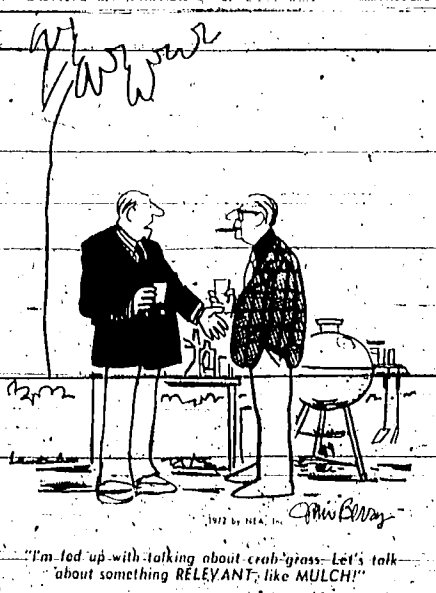

But there are physical problems that should be kept in mind, too. Your husband's low sperm count appears to be the problem, but have you been examined to make sure that you are potentially fertile? If not, then insemination would be a wasted effort.

Therefore, discuss the matter in detail with an obstetrician. In any event, since you live in a community of moderate size but not too far from a couple of big medical centers, your physician should refer you to the proper place when there is reasonable cause to expect success.

Keep in mind also that proper timing is important; the insemination should be done just about the time of ovulation or very soon afterward, else it won't work. An ovum can be fertilized only in the fairly brief time after it has been released from the ovary.

Elks honor TF resident

Pre-vacation tip given

TWIN FALLS — John Leinen, area manager of the South Central Idaho Department of Employment, has been elected to the Idaho State Elks Association Hall of Honor. He received the honor during the concluding banquet of the 1972 convention Saturday in Burley. It is the highest honor bestowed on an individual by the Idaho State Elks Association.

Leinen joined the lodge in 1957 after retirement from the Navy. He served as an officer in the Twin Falls Lodge from 1958 through 1962-63. From 1964 through 1969 he served as a trustee for the Twin Falls lodge. His state association offices include secretary during 1964-65, vice president of Idaho South from 1967 to 1970, and president from 1970 to 1971. At present he serves in an advisory capacity for the state association and is a certified ritualistic judge for Elks ritual contests.

He is a member of the American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Retired Officers Club and Twin Falls Men's Golf Association. He resides in Twin Falls, is married and has two children.

JOHN LEINEN honored

TWIN FALLS — Persons planning to vacation during the vacations in July or August coming — few weeks — should check their plates and if reminded today by Ron Taylor, they have numbers ending in county assessor, to check license plates for expiration. Those whose 1972 plates end in the number "0" were advised they must obtain the 1973 red stickers with number "6" on the face also must be renewed before the end of June. If this isn't enough to remember, Taylor said, the persons with birthdays during the vacation months would do well to check their driver licenses for expiration dates.

Cycle owners reminded to register by July 1

TWIN FALLS — Off-highway motorbike owners and those with any other off-highway vehicle must register these by July 1.

Ron Taylor, twin Falls County assessor, reminded residents planning to use their off-highway vehicles — to check their registration. Those now in effect expire June 30, 1972, and new registrations are issued for July 1, 1972, through June 30, 1973.

The fee for such registration stickers is $3 and they must be attached to the motorbike where they will be clearly visible at all times.

Taylor said the fee collected is allocated to help benefit those licensing their recreation vehicles. Of the $3 per sticker, $2.35 is credited to the State Motorbike Recreation Fund with 40 cents going to the Department of Law Enforcement and 25 cents to the county to cover registration costs.

A person with a motorcycle which legally could be operated on public roadways but who uses it only for off-highway purposes would also have to register this at the $3 fee and display the off-highway motorbike sticker.

Major issues outlined

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress comes to grips this week with two—and possibly three—of the major issues it will face this year.

While the House acts on President Nixon's plan to share federal revenues with the states, the Senate begins formal study of the arms limitation agreements he negotiated with the Russians.

And there is an outside possibility that the Senate will also cast a crucial vote on the President's Vietnam policy.

Backers as well as critics of the accords, reached at the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks (SALT), predict that both the curbs on defensive and offensive weapons will clear the Senate and House.

The pact limiting Russia and the United States to two anti-ballistic missile (ABM) sites has been put before the Senate as a treaty and will require approval by the two-thirds of the Senate.

The five-year interim agreement limit on the number of intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) each superpower may possess ready for launching will be submitted to both chambers as an executive agreement but will require only majority approval.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee opens the congressional examination process with a public hearing today featuring Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Arms Control Agency Director Gerard Smith, the chief U.S. SALT negotiator.

There is no certainty that the Senate would be able to act this year on revenue-sharing, the bill the House is slated to debate on Wednesday and put to a vote Thursday. The legislation would allocate $30 billion over five years to states, cities and counties.

The bipartisan leadership team that he has been pushing the measure, with the aid of mayors and governors, now claims confidently that it has the votes to win. They were unable to make that claim in past weeks, a fact which caused its managers twice to pull it off the floor schedule shortly before it was to come up.

4 more die in Ireland

HELEFAST (UPI) A man was shot down in the street and died early today in a Roman Catholic stronghold, the fourth person to die in 24 hours of intensified violence in Northern Ireland.

Three soldiers were killed Sunday in the explosion of a booby-trapped house.

An army spokesman said troops mauling the Lower Falls Road, a Catholic area of the capital, heard several shots fired shortly after midnight.

None were aimed at the soldiers.

A few minutes later, a 40-year-old man was found lying in the street near a pub with a gunshot wound in the thigh. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

The man's wife was being treated in hospital for pistol wounds caused by his whipping the army.

The Provisional Irish Republican Army (IRA) said last week they would step up their campaign of violence after Northern Ireland Secretary William Whitelaw turned down their offer of a seven-day truce.

Wallace accepts idea of braces

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI) Physicians today gave George C. Wallace less than a 50-percent chance of walking normally again, and his physician said the Alabama governor has "accepted the fact that he may have to resort to braces or crutches."

Wallace spent 30 minutes on an operating table at Holy Cross Hospital, Sunday. Surgeons successfully removed a bullet that struck him at a Laurel, Md., shopping center May 15 and reported that he came through the operation "very nicely."

Dr. Hamilton Hutchinson

Wallace's personal physician, predicted the governor would be able to attend the Democratic National Convention which starts in Miami Beach July 10, but that he would be confined to a wheelchair.

"I think if he is the nominee, he can stay at the convention as long as he needs to," Hutchinson said.

Hutchinson said he had discussed the possibility with his patient that Wallace may never walk normally again.

"I think the governor has accepted the fact that he may have to resort to braces or crutches," Hutchinson said.

MR. AND MRS. STANLEY SHAFF

Shoshone Falls setting for rites

TWIN FALLS — Shoshone Falls Park was the setting for the June 3 wedding of Kendra Wanzanried to Stanley Shaff. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert Morris, First United Methodist Church, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Fred Wanzanried, Twin Falls, and the late Margaret Wanzanried. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lillian Shaff, Kimberly, and the late Edward Shaff.

The bridal aisle was marked with green and white topiary trees leading to a white wrought iron arch laced with ivy and yellow and green pompons and centered with wedding bells. Cathedral baskets of gladioli and green and white chrysanthemum with green streamers flanked the archway. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a victorian styled floor-length gown fashioned of white sheer cotton with panels of frosted daisies. It featured a high stand-up collar, and long-of-mutton sleeves which were trimmed with a ruffle and were fastened with loops and tiny pearl buttons.

Her elbow-length veil was held by a jean headpiece made in cloche style with scroll daisy lace beaded with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow rosebuds, green and white pompons, chrysanthemums and baby's breath. Mrs. Nancy Randolph, Lakewood, Colo., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Barbara Prestidge, Pocatello, was bridesmaid. Wendy Davis was flower girl.

Best man was Lt. Terry Shaff, El Paso, Tex., brother of the bridegroom, and Ward Toone, Gooding, was usher. Canon

Davis was ringbearer.

Mrs. Harriet Denton, Kimberly, was organist. Dave Wanzanried, Missoula, Mont., brother of the bride, recorded music for the reception.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately after the ceremony at the park.

The bride's table was skirted in apple-green lace, draped with satin and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with green icing pompons and silver leaves and topped with fresh yellow and green pompons and baby's breath. Baskets of chrysanthemums flanked the cake.

Presiding at the bride's table were Jolene Giese, Gooding, and Kathy Hoene, Boise.

Mrs. Linda Wanzanried, Missoula, Mont., sister-in-law of the bride, cared for the gifts.

Mrs. Bob (Debby) Wallace, Brigham City, Utah, was in charge of the guest book.

Special guest was Mrs. Ella Tegan, Filer, maternal grandmother of the bridegroom.

The bride was honored at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Red Otto and Mary Otto and at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Larry Prestidge at the home of Mrs. Rathbun.

The bride is a senior at the University of Idaho, majoring in German and elementary education. The bridegroom is a 1972 political science graduate of the University of Idaho and will begin work on a master's degree in the fall.

After a honeymoon trip to San Valley and Salmon, the couple will reside at 404 N. Van Buren, Moscow.

Portland plan aired

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Crib death is the most publicized cause of infant mortality, but pediatricians agree that the first four weeks of a baby's life are the most critical.

Any illness or injury during that month can be fatal if the right treatment is not made available quickly.

The University of Oregon Medical School (UOMS) has devised a program by which it can rush critically ill newborn infants from almost anywhere in the state to its intensive care unit in Portland with the use of Army National Guard helicopters.

The program was devised because the medical school's perinatal medicine division had that carries an incubator and the other equipment necessary to treat an infant en route to the school's hospital can serve only a 60-mile radius around Portland.

The helicopters have expanded that range. Dr. Gerda Bendig, an instructor in pediatrics at the school, said: "It is tremendous progress, tremendous progress. All we have to do is call them (the National Guard unit based in Portland), find out how long it will take for them to be at the helipad, and meet them there."

BECKY HOWARD plans rites

Hazelton miss, Dyke name date

HAZELTON — Mr. and Mrs. Denn Howard, Hazelton, and Don Rudolph, Tacoma, Wash., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Becky, to Douglas Bruce Dyke.

Dyke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dyke, Bonners Ferry.

Miss Howard is a graduate of Valley High School and the College of Southern Idaho. She has attended the University of Idaho.

Dyke is a graduate of Bonners Ferry High School and attended the U of I.

The couple is planning a July 30 wedding.

Heels march to front

NEW YORK (UPI) — The high heel is marching to fashion's front ranks for fall and winter — for him, for her.

For women, it's a return to spike-heel height. Some heels with an assist from platform soles, measure four inches. The heels, while as high as spikes, are rounder and thicker.

The trend to higher heels firmed up during the 59th semiannual fashion press week in New York, an event that started Monday and ends Thursday. It is sponsored by the New York Couture Business Council.

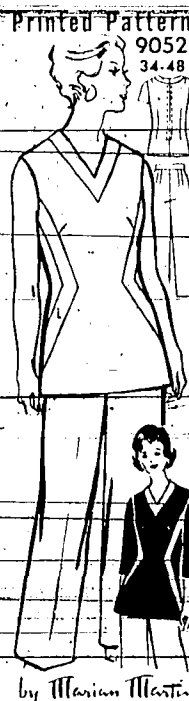

The heels for men are the highest yet—some going to three-and-one-half inches, the size of those spikes women wore many years back.

Shoes that lie with laces, meanwhile, are more abundant in the female line than in the men's line. The women's shoes also include many of the old faithfuls—slip back, T-strap, opera pump, and the clog. Some of the clogs on exaggerated platform soles are constructed in a way to make them swing on hinges as the wearer walks.

The men's boot bound to attract the most attention: A streamlined motorcycle boot that goes to the knee and is buckled in brass as many as seven times up the side. Most other men's boots are sans hardware.

For children apod, it's more of the same—loafers, saddles, T-straps for the girls for dress, sneakers for all. A paratrooper boot for the boys has plenty of lacing, lots of sole and a side panel for stashing secrets on confidential missions.

Valley Living

Abigail Van Buren

Monkey business not deductible

DEAR ABBY: A friend and I have been sharing a mistress for the last year. It's been a good arrangement for all of us as I am there (another city) Monday morning thru Wednesday noon, and my friend is there from Wednesday noon thru Friday. (Then she has the weekend off.)

We pay all the expenses and give her spending money. The cost is about $400 a month from each of us. We are both salesmen and we save on hotel and meals.

The problem: She wants to report this for income tax. It comes to $1,518 per year, and we will have to give her extra money to pay it. We are both on salary and pay the full rate and can't deduct her or any of our expenses as they are paid in cash and we have no receipts. Besides, our wives would find out.

What do you advise?

HONEST TAXPAYER

DEAR HONEST: Since you travel for business, you'd be ahead to stay in hotels and eat out. Business expenses are deductible. But NOT monkey business.

DEAR ABBY: A mailman offered the following information in your column: "If someone receives something thru the mails which he did not order and does not want, all he has to do is write, 'Return to Sender' on it and drop it in the mail. If he has opened it, he should simply tape it shut, and return it in the aforementioned manner."

This is only partially correct. Anything sent thru the mail which has been opened by the addressee cannot be re-entered into the mail without being properly re-addressed and new postage affixed.

Please correct that mailman's original statement. He should have known better.

INFORMED IN PHOENIX

DEAR INFORMED: I should have, too. But it's been a long time since I've played "post office."

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have been unable to solve, and I'm hoping you can help me.

The September before last I loaned one of my precious books to a member of our social group. Three members of our group had read it and returned it, but this person refuses to return it to me either I have asked her no less than a dozen times.

The last time I asked her for it, she said, "Oh, do I still have that book?" I'll have to look around and see if I can find it. That was six months ago and I haven't heard a word about it since.

What can I do, Abby? I really want that book!

BURNING IN AUBURN, ILL.

DEAR BURNING: It's a pretty good bet that your friend (a) misplaced it; (b) let someone else read it, and she can't remember who; (c) just plain lost it.

You could call on her and offer to walk with her to the book. And if that fails, you will have learned a valuable lesson. Precious books are not for lending.

CONFIDENTIAL to "The Lovely Young Couple Who Recently Moved into an Apartment in Erwin Tennessee." Your neighbors inform me that your bed squeaks!

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 49700, L.A., CALIF. 90009 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 49700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009.

Fresh celery

Celery is 94 per cent water and it needs moisture and coldness to remain fresh and nutritious. Before refrigerating, a stalk of it, run cold water over the celery. Let the excess water drip off and place the stalk in a plastic bag or container with a tight lid to prevent circulating air from pulling moisture out of the celery stalks.

A dab of nail polish or a squirt of hairspray will keep a little run-in hairdryer from getting larger.

Fashionable

FRIVOLITY was not entirely lacking in the Millinery Institute's show in New York. There was a far out hat, and matching vest of Spanish lamb, left, cutler than a poodle, dyed bright red. (UPI)

Oswald: "One of the first things taught to beginners is the rule of second hand low. Not all the time, of course, just as a general rule when a low card has been led."

Jim: "Once you've taught that to beginners it may take years to teach them that there is many a time to go the other way."

Oswald: "West opened the queen of clubs and continued with the jack after a low club was played from dummy. South ruffed; entered dummy with a trump and played the deuce of diamonds. East has an almost automatic play of a low diamond."

Jim: "It was almost automatic, but East happened to be Paul Levitt of Port Worth. Paul's work with computers has kept him almost entirely out of bridge for some time and as far as we know this represents his only appearance at the table this year."

Oswald: "It wasn't hard for Paul to see that his king wouldn't do him much good if he hung on to it and that maybe a quick heart lead was needed. He played second hand high, led a heart."

Jim: "South had no chance to play low. West took his king and cashed the ace of diamonds for the setting trick."

Oswald: "If Paul had just played a second hand low South would have been able to set up a diamond for a heart and West's king of hearts would have withered on the vine."

Shadow of Mafia haunts Sinatra

By VERNON SCOTT, Hollywood Correspondent
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The shadow of the Mafia haunts Frank Sinatra even in retirement.
 "So far as I know, there is no such organization as the Mafia," the singer once said in response to questions put to him by a grand jury.
 But from the beginnings of his career more than three decades ago Frank Sinatra has been linked by rumor, quasi-officials and fact with underworld figures.
 crime committee July 18. It was a difficult assignment. When Sinatra plays hard to get, he is hard to get.
 His representative in Hollywood, press agent Jim Mahoney, says the singer's trip abroad was a legitimate business trip regarding a film.
 "Have you ever known Frank to run from a fight?" Mahoney asked.
 "Whether or not Frank Sinatra is involved in any criminal activity—innocently or otherwise—he is paying the price for having associated with the Nevada.
 More importantly, to his ego, it lost him direct access to the White House when, during the JFK years, it was called Camelot.
 Sinatra's social and political peak was reached at JFK's inaugural ball when he escorted Mrs. Kennedy to the gala. That was in January of 1961. A year later the tide had turned.
 Sam Giancana, a reputed Chicago kingpin of the Cosa Nostra, was a guest of Sinatra's at the singer's posh Cal-Neva Lodge. Giancana was one of 11 persons listed in Nevada's so-called "black book" as persona non grata in licensed gaming establishments.
 It was that association that led to a Department of Justice investigation in Sinatra's activities and his loss of Cal-Neva. Robert Kennedy was then attorney general of the United States.
 When the President decided to spend a holiday in Palm Springs, his friend Sinatra, added a wing to his home, the presidential suite to be occupied by JFK. But in view of Sinatra's publicity with Giancana and the fact that Bobby Kennedy's office was asking questions, JFK demurred. He stayed at the home of Bing Crosby in Palm Springs. Crosby, a Republican.
 The episode dissolved Sinatra's friendship with the Kennedy family and with some influential persons in Hollywood.
 Four years ago Sinatra campaigned on behalf of Hubert Humphrey, opposing the nomination of Bobby Kennedy. This year he has stumped for no one.

Sinatra was infuriated by the novel 'The Godfather'

It was the linking of his name with criminal elements that soured his friendship with President Kennedy. An underworld figure was responsible for Nevada's gaming commission voiding Sinatra's interest in a gambling casino at Lake Tahoe.
 When Sinatra tumbled early this month to appear before the House Crime Committee about his role as vice president of the defunct Berkshire Downs Race Track in Hancock, Mass. On that occasion, he flew to London ostensibly to discuss a comeback from retirement to star in "The Little Prince" with his friend and neighbor in Palm Springs, Frederick Lowe of "My Fair Lady" fame.
 That put Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., in the position of trying to get Sinatra to Washington for an appearance before the tough guys in organized crime if only on a social basis.
 He continues to deny knowledge of the underground, but nonetheless his name is irrevocably linked with the shady glamour of the enforcers.
 Sinatra was infuriated by the novel "The Godfather" in which a character is suspiciously akin to the temperamental singer. Sinatra came close to a fist fight with its author, Mario Puzo, when the two were introduced in a restaurant.
 This cloud of mystery does Sinatra have underworld contacts? has both helped and hurt him.
 It adds a touch of excitement, an element of suspense to the man's public image. Conversely, the innuendoes and rumors have cost him perhaps millions of dollars in business affairs, particularly in the state of

Gem potato commission asks funds

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — The Idaho Potato commission meeting in Sun Valley has recommended some $200,000 for research and education.

Commission members met for their monthly meeting along with the Idaho Potato Grower-Shippers Association convention ended Sunday.

Jack Allred, Murtaugh, commission chairman, said the funds will be used mainly for production and betterment of internal quality of potatoes through research at the University of Idaho.

He said the research and education budget actually totals about $260,000, of which the university gets $160,000 and the rest is pro-rated to national potato organizations.

Bob Mercer, research and education committee chairman, recommended to the commission that a firm budget be set and that an additional amount of money be set aside to be used if funds for a particular project run short or if a new project is introduced.

The commission, in other business, discussed a referendum that will begin July 1 in which one-cent per hundred-weight increase will be sought from potato growers to supplement the advertising budget.

Allred said if the vote carries, the additional funds would be used for national advertising. He added there has been no increase in 15 years.

GOP unity sets theme at Boise

BOISE — Party unity was the unquestionable theme of the Republican Convention Friday and Saturday in Boise.

Guest speaker at the Saturday session was Edward G. Nixon, brother of the President, and vice chairman of the committee for re-election of President Nixon.

Nixon quoted St. Augustine, "let us have unity in essential things, diversity in non-essential things and charity in all things."

Nixon then quipped, "I believe this is an accurate assessment of what we should strive to attain this year, unity in all essential things such as selecting a Republican senator and two Republican congressmen from Idaho and the re-election of President Nixon, diversity in non-essential things, such as whether we win by 70 per cent or 71 per cent, and charity in all things, such as defeating the Democrats, but smiling while we do it."

Nixon was presented with a silver money clip.

Other speakers during the session were Rep. James McClure and Steve Symms, a candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives.

GOP candidate speaks in Boise

BOISE — Bob Purcell, Republican candidate for Congress from the first district, said Saturday he has the experience and leadership needed to represent Idaho in Congress.

Purcell, speaking to a group of supporters during the state GOP convention in Boise, said "I am here as a candidate, as a person who has not and will not represent special interests, a man who has worked 20 years on behalf of the people of Idaho and the nation."

He cited his experience as manager of the Lewiston and Caldwell chambers of commerce and with the component therapy institute at Washington, D. C., a non-profit corporation with the purpose of improving the nation's blood services.

Purcell said he has been in leadership positions where his decisions have affected the lives of many. "I have always sought to temper my actions with honesty, integrity and objectivity," he said.

"I believe this experience will be important in meeting the challenges of this day and continuing in the role of leadership this nation so badly needs," he said.

Candidate asks trust in people

BY TERRY CAMPBELL, Times-News Writer

SUN VALLEY — People have got to be able to trust the government, according to Terry Sanford.

In an interview with the Times-News, the former Democratic governor of North Carolina and current president of Duke University stressed local and state involvement in government.

The presidential candidate said he felt he had a chance in national contention because he said he "looked at government with a different point of view" — focusing on "where the people and the problems meet."

Sanford said his platform was not one of populism. However, he said it could best be described as "creative federalism" or "development of human resources."

"A Chicago welfare program can't be expected to adequately serve the people of Idaho," Sanford said.

Program after program has not proven to be 100 per cent successful, the candidate said. "Promises have been made that haven't been fulfilled. If this keeps up the people will lose confidence," he said.

Instead of "massive," standardized federal programs, Sanford said the same funds can be distributed locally, enabling the people to determine the thrust of the program.

The candidate said the "initiative and energy" as well as the "imagination and innovation" exists on the local level. In consequence, both flexible and creative programs can be developed to "help people help themselves," he said.

"There's a tendency on the part of Congress and the administration that state and local governments can't be trusted. They are then saying in effect that the people can't be trusted," Sanford said.

The feeling of distrust leads to "alienation and a sense of frustration" among the people which was evident during the primaries, the candidate said.

Gooding auction nets $900

GOODING — A high school auction netted $900 Saturday according to Sept. James Muscat.

School equipment and furniture from the old building, which will be demolished this summer, went on the auction block Saturday morning. All offerings were sold almost immediately.

The money will go into the school district general fund, Muscat said.

Burley meet set to air court plan

BURLEY — A public meeting for persons interested in making recommendations concerning the magistrate court system in Idaho is scheduled for Tuesday at the Ponderosa Inn.

Tom Miller, secretary of the Idaho Judicial Council, urges interested persons to appear before the council during Tuesday's meeting.

The "afternoon session beginning at 1:30 p.m. is reserved for members of the general public. If there is sufficient response from private citizens further conferences will be scheduled in other parts of the state to obtain information about the operation of the new lower court system.

The magistrate system went into effect on Jan. 11, 1971, after several years of study.

The system was adopted by the legislature pursuant to a mandate from the people, contained in the 1962 constitutional amendment which abolished the justice courts, probate courts and city courts, and gave the legislature authority to replace them with one unified court system.

The magistrate court system now handles all criminal and civil cases formerly handled by these courts and in many instances increased jurisdiction to handle other cases has been extended to the magistrates.

The new court system has a great deal of flexibility and it is possible for judges to ride the circuit and hear cases throughout the judicial district which includes several counties.

The judges who serve as magistrates are appointed for two-year terms by a district magistrate commission in each of the seven judicial districts.

The district magistrate commission is composed of the chairmen of the county commissioners of each county, three mayors appointed by the governor and the senior district judge.

Two non-voting attorney members have been added by recent legislation.

A great deal of reaction to the new system has been favorable. Idaho was one of the first states to pioneer an extensive reorganization of its courts in spite of the fact that President Nixon, Chief Justice Burger and many other leaders have been urgently requesting court reorganization across the nation.

Since Idaho is a leader in court reorganization, the judicial council hopes to follow up and gather basic information from local officials and the people in all areas of the state in order to find out if the system can be further improved.

Information gathered at the public meetings will be summarized and furnished to the legislature and the supreme court.

Elks convention ends at Burley

BURLEY — Grand Lodge Americanism Committee, at my request, has developed a series of guides from a program of educational seminars for parents of young boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 to be sponsored by each subordinate lodge," he reported.

Articles have been and will be published in the Elks Magazine on drugs, Fournace said.

"With the aid and guidance of the Grand Lodge Americanism Committee, each subordinate lodge should be able to carry out a truly helpful series of drug abuse education seminars," he stated.

Honored guests at the banquet were Fournace and his wife, Frank Hise, Past Grand Exalted Ruler, Corvallis, Ore., Joseph A. McArthur, Grand Lodge Trustee, Lewiston, Bob J. Bybee, member of new lodge committee for Grand Lodge, Idaho Falls; Boris O. Russell, retiring Idaho State Elk Association president, and his wife, Grangeville.

The four day event was hosted by the Burley Elks Lodge No. 1384.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Everyone is likely to have a chip on his shoulder, or he or she will be quarrelsome today until sundown and only by maintaining a smile and cooperative attitude does it seem possible to steer clear of some pretty difficult situations. However, the evening finds much better influences at work and you can get bigwiggy support.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) If you are argumentative with partners today, you certainly can get yourself into a peck of trouble. Await the evening before asking favors, etc. Show you have poise and savor fair with everyone.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Try not to argue with fellow workers today and endeavor to work alone as much as you can. Show good friends how much you like them in p.m. and establish a happy rapport. Make better plans for the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although having fun is on your mind, it is best you handle all those important duties ahead of you first and then tonight to go-go. Show you are businesslike in your dealings with others. Forget the personal.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Push through with whatever promises you have made to others and gain their respect and goodwill. Set a goal that personal aim. Do some entertaining at home that is worthwhile.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) The daytime is best for business affairs and shopping, while the appointments you like are best relegated to tomorrow. Show you are well controlled. Make a fine impression on others.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 21) Your water element impetuosity and fear today, so find the happy medium that gives you right action and helps you reach decisions. Think over responsibilities in a wise way. Avoid going off on tangents.

LIBRA (Sept 22 to Oct 21) If you try to force others to your way of thinking, you can get into much trouble and lose out on potential benefits possible otherwise. Evening is fine for the social. Make sure you put a curb on your temper.

SCORPIO (Oct 22 to Nov 21) Evening is best time to get right results both in business and where romance is concerned, so take it easy during the day. Keep busy at easy routine work during day. Show you are dynamic in p.m.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) The evening is best for asking favors of others and getting them to do it. Make a fine plan you have in mind. Get busy with detailed work during the day and it will be behind you. Avoid one who is testy.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Doing anything risky during day could lower your respect within your community, so take care and stay on the safe side. Listen to what a high executive says to you. Get out of the town later on in the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Those new ideas you have require more study especially where details thereof are concerned, so get busy at that early. Prepare well for any trips you want to take in the near future. Figure cost well, too.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Figure what you really owe others which should be paid right away, and then make the payments and keep credit good. Forget your day hunches, since they are apt to be wrong. They work fine tonight, though.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY - he or she will be one of those fortunate young people who will be most charming and likable and will gain the favor of others easily by the simple expedient of a smile, but is apt to be a tussler if you do not teach early to show consideration for others. A good chat for whatever work requires cooperating with others a good deal, since your youngster is hardly the kind who likes to work alone. A fine social life here. It's early, too.

High Morals In Kansas

Kansas is that state wherein the fewest young men are turned down by the Army for reasons of moral turpitude.

YOU CAN buy a good lowland gorilla now for just about $6,000, a zoo man tells me. Some bargain, that.

ONE OUT of every 10 firms listed on the New York Stock Exchange has changed its corporate name in the last five years.

NORMALLY, which are bigger, a youngster's tonals or a grownup's. A youngster's.

THE BUILDING boys nationwide are said to be pouring concrete now at a rate of about two acres per minute.

STATISTICS indicate five times as many city men as country boys come down with scalp ailments that eventually leave them bald.

HAVE YOU ever pawned anything in a hock shop? Pollsters put that query to numerous citizens. One man in five said yes, one woman in 12 likewise.

ORIGINALLY, That word "broker" meant "somebody who taps wine casks." "Curfew" meant "cover the fire for the night." "Abet" meant "to sic a dog on an animal."

MOST MEN shave up and down, not sideways. But researchers who've investigated the business of moving down "beards" say "we'll get a closer shave by cutting across the whiskers with diagonal strokes. Intend to try that promptly."

IN HIS LAST interview before his death, that psychological genius Dr. Karl Jung said: "Women are so much tougher than men underneath. To call women the weaker sex is sheer nonsense. Be wary those angel face types who always appear weak and helpless. They are the toughest of all."

Nicklaus refuses to speculate on slam

BY JOHN G. GRILLA

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, tied at last with the immortal Bobby Jones for the all-time lead in major golf championships, said Sunday that this is a goal, "I've always shot for, but never really expected to make."

"I always heard of Bobby Jones and the 13 championships, and, of course, that's what I was aiming at," he said. "Now that I have made it, all I can say is, that I am mighty proud to be in his company."

With the U.S. open championship added Sunday to the Masters Championship he won last April, Nicklaus now has won the first two of the four titles he needs to score the first "grand slam" in pro golf history — the masters, U.S. and British open championships, and the PGA in the same year.

But he still refuses to speculate on his chances of making it.

"At the beginning of the year, I said the odds were a million to one and I think after the masters I said it was down to 1,000 to one," Nicklaus said. "What is it now? Oh, I don't know — 10-1, 50-1, 100-1 — take your pick."

Next stop in the "slam" is the British Open championship at Muirfield, Scotland, July 12-15, and then the PGA comes at Oakland Hills, Mich., in August. Nicklaus said he will not play again between his triumph Sunday and the British open. After time off for "taking care of some business" and a week's vacation somewhere with his family, he will begin practice at home in Florida with the smaller British ball and then will go to Britain "about a week before the open."

Nicklaus won the title with a two-over-par 74 on the final round and a 290 total, the highest total for an outright winner of the Open since 1935. But he said that in view of the high wind that gusts over the seaside Pebble Beach course and the slick, fast greens, "I thought I played awfully good today."

"Yesterday I said after the third round that I thought I would have to shoot a sub-par round to win the tournament," Nicklaus recalled.

"But when I got to the course this morning, I could tell immediately in view of the weather conditions that I wasn't going to have to break par because nobody else was playing late in the day was going to do it either."

"At times," he said, "we were awfully close to not playing golf out there."

"The course was as close to impossible under these conditions as it can get. For instance, those greens were so slick that there was virtually no skill on the greens at all. All you could do was try not to three-putt — get it close enough to the hole with the first putt that you could get the second one in."

"This is all part of the game and you have to expect it," he said. "Actually, I expected Pebble Beach to play like this most of the week and it only got like this one day."

Nicklaus was able to laugh after the round about the horrendous 10th hole when a double bogey six cut his lead from four strokes to two strokes and suddenly endangered what until then had seemed like a certain victory.

"No, I didn't feel too upset about it at the time," he said. "I had just finished the first nine holes in par 36 and I felt that was a pretty good score under these conditions. After the 10th I figured well, I had made my mistakes and the way the course was playing, I was sure other people would make theirs, too."

"On my tee shot, the wind blew me at the top of my backswing and the ball wound up 10 yards off the fairway, which was enough to put it down on the beach," Nicklaus explained. "At that, I would have gone down there and played it but it was plugged in the sand. So I took the penalty stroke and dropped. The first time I dropped it, it went in rough ground where a gopher had dug things up and that's a tree drop area so I could drop it again."

"Actually I was more upset, and I mean with myself, on the 12th when I hit as perfect an approach shot as I'll hit if I stay here a million years, and because of the greens the ball didn't stop," Nicklaus said.

"The putt I made there was, I think, the biggest putt I made all day."

Nicklaus nearly ached the 17th hole when he hit the pin with his one-iron tee shot.

"The pin kept it out, kicking it about three or four inches away," Nicklaus said, and added with a grin, "The pin was in the wrong position — it was leaning the wrong way."

That was the shot President Nixon mentioned in a victory phone call to Nicklaus, telling him it was a great shot "when the chips were down."

Nicklaus said that this is the first time he's won the first two major championships to be decided in a year.

"When I've won the first, I've always missed on the second, so that became a personal goal of mine," he said.

What he didn't mention was that there is no other way to win four except to win the first two, first.

Twins halt Baltimore winning streak in AL

American League Roundup
By United Press International
Baltimore's nine-game winning streak ended Sunday as the Minnesota Twins, paced by Harmon Killebrew's two runs butted in, edged the Orioles, 4-3.

The victory was only the fifth in the last 16 games for the Twins.

The Twins went ahead in the third when Cesar Tovar singled and scored from first on a long Killebrew single. Killebrew went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Bobby Darwin's single.

Consecutive singles by Tovar, Danny Thompson and Killebrew produced a run and knocked out Mike Cuellar in the fifth and the Twins' fourth run came home later in the inning on Eric Soderholm's single.

In other American League action, Chicago turned back Boston, 8-4. Milwaukee topped Kansas City, 3-0. Detroit defeated California, 2-0 and Oakland beat Cleveland, 9-0. Texas at New York was rained out.

Rick Reichardt drilled a three-run homer while Walt Williams singled three times, stole three bases and scored twice to power the White Sox to victory over Boston. The White Sox never trailed as Williams opened the first inning with a base hit to left, stole second and third and scored on Reichardt's rounder.

Reichardt's three-run homer over the left field wall capped a five-run fourth inning.

Skip Lockwood shut out Kansas City on five hits as the Brewers ended a nine-game losing streak by defeating the Kansas City Royals allowed just two Royals to reach second while walking none and striking out six to earn his third win in 10 decisions. Ron Theobald knocked in a run in the fifth with a single and Elie Rodriguez produced a sixth-inning run.

Oakland backed Vida Blue with 16 hits and the fireballing southpaw won his first game of the season as the A's blanked the Indians. Mike Costen gave Blue the only run he needed with a 430-foot homer in the second and Oakland wrapped it up in the sixth with six unearned runs.

Blue, going the route for the first time, gave up four hits and scored his first win after three previous setbacks.

Jim Northrup and Norm Cash ripped solo homers to give Mickey Lolich the only runs he needed as the Tigers' lefthander recorded his 11th win by shutting out the Angels. Lolich has won 11 of his 15 decisions. Cash led off the ninth with his 12th homer of the season and Northrup homered deep into right field with one out in the seventh.

Arlin hurls 2-hitter for Padres in NL action

National League Roundup
By United Press International
Steve Arlin fired a two-hitter Sunday as the San Diego Padres blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates, the major league's top hitting team, for the second straight day, 1-0.

Arlin, allowing only singles to Vic Davilillo and Richie Hebner, struck out nine Pirates to record his sixth win of the season and his eighth career shutout.

Jerry Morales' first-inning double to left center helped to produce the game's only run, when he came home after Fred Stanley and Leron Lee grounded out.

Bruce Kison, who pitched eight innings, was charged with the loss.

In other National League action, the New York Mets edged the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, the Houston Astros won a 10-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, the Montreal Expos won, 2-1, over the Atlanta Braves, San Francisco beat St. Louis, 2-2, and Chicago edged Los Angeles, 5-4.

Tom Seaver's second home run of the season broke a seventh-inning Reds-Mets 1-1 tie to back his first complete game since April 20.

Duffy Dyer opened the fourth with a double to drive in Jim Fregoso, who had singled with the score tied 1-1. Seaver hit the game-winning homer off Ross Grimsley and Grimsley suffered his second loss against three victories.

Jerry Reuss had a no-hitter runned after eight innings when

California farmer wins Golden St. 400

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Ray Elder, a Caruthers, Calif., farmer, took the lead on the 110th lap Sunday and held it to capture the $70,000 Golden State 400 at Riverside International Raceway for his first NASCAR Grand National victory of 1972.

The 29-year-old Elder moved into the lead in his 1972 Dodge when Bobby Isaac, Catawba, N.C., dropped out on the 110th lap when his car suffered a broken transmission. Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., shooting for his fifth Grand National win of the year, was forced out after 96 laps with a broken crankshaft.

Elder averaged 98.747 miles an hour as he defeated Benny Parsons, Ellerbe, S.C., in a '71 Mercury by a little better than a lap. The victory was worth $11,025 to Elder and it was his third win this year, and his biggest since winning the Riverside 500 here last year.

There were 10 finishers out of a field of 40 and the lead changed 13 times in the race run before a crowd of 28,200 in 90-degree temperature. Numerous minor accidents took place and the yellow flag was out three times for a period of nine laps.

Zeke Moore is wounded from shot

HOUSTON (UPI) — Zeke Moore, 78, a corned-beef for the Houston Oilers, was wounded slightly in a weekend shooting incident with his wife but refused to file charges against her, police said Sunday.

Police said Shirley Moore would her husband with a 22-caliber pistol Saturday night during a fight outside their home. She said Moore was beating and kicking her and she attempted to scare him with the pistol when it discharged.

Moore was wounded in the upper right arm. He was treated at a hospital and released.

Warning given on claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has been told that the return of lands rightfully belonging to an Oregon Indian tribe might open the door to Indian demands for millions of acres of public land.

The warning was voiced by Forest Service Chief John H. McGuire in testifying against a bill to return 61,360 acres of government-held land to the Warm Springs Indians of Oregon.

McGuire, who did not dispute Indian ownership of the so-called Quim Strip, said action on the bill should be put off until a study is made of all other cases where Indians might seek return of lands outside existing reservation boundaries.

McGuire said giving the land back to the Indians might set a precedent and lead other Indians to demand the return of their lands instead of a cash settlement of their claims.

Should this occur, similar disposition of millions of acres of national forest land, involving highly important public values and uses, might result, he said.
