

Mac says chances '60-40'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern said today that despite his smashing primary victory in New York state he still did not have the Democratic presidential nomination "all locked up."

McGovern told a news conference at the Baltimore Hotel that the final tally of New York State delegates from Tuesday's election would total about 250, still "about 176 votes short" of the 1509 delegate votes needed to win the nomination.

He put his chances of winning the nomination on the first ballot at "60-40."

Looking pleased and relaxed, McGovern said "it now appears we won either 225 or 226" delegates of the 248 delegates running in the nation's last primary before the convention.

The South Dakota said the others would be accounted for when 30 delegates are selected at the state convention later this week. These delegates must be apportioned on the basis of Tuesday's primary results and this would give McGovern 26 of the 30, or a total of at least 250 New York State delegates.

The latest unofficial figures gave McGovern 224, Rep. Shirley Chisholm got four, 18 were uncommitted and two were undecided.

With the 250 delegate votes added to the 1,007 he had before the New York primary McGovern has a total of 1,317.95 votes—134.05 short of the number needed for nomination.

McGovern said he was looking beyond the convention to the campaign against President Nixon. He said he hoped other Democratic leaders realized that the primary task before them now was to beat Nixon.

The central issue of the campaign, he said, would be whether the United States uses its resources to rebuild domestic or "wastes its resources on playing power politics."

He promised the "most massive voter registration drive in the nation's history to enroll the country's 25 million new voters. He said he was "confident" the Democrats could get at least 75 per cent of these voters to the polls in November.

The South Dakota said he was aware of Queens Democratic leader Matthew Troy's reported endorsement of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, but repeated both his praise of Kennedy and his noncommittal attitude toward any potential vice presidential nominee.

Troy was an early supporter of McGovern's presidential bid and is a close friend of Kennedy's.

Already assured of winning re-nomination, President Nixon picked up an additional 88 delegate votes in New York as he finished his triumphal march through the primaries.

Flying from New Orleans to share the celebration with his New York supporters, jammed into a small 19th-floor hotel ballroom, said it was "probably not necessary for me to tell you that this brings us one giant step closer to the threshold of a first ballot nomination."

Flanked by his wife Eleanor, and one of his daughters, Terry, McGovern said that on the basis of the results coming in from all over New York state he was "convinced now that we will win the nomination in Miami Beach."

Sawtooth forest plans ranger district merger

TWIN FALLS — Combining of the eight ranger districts of the Sawtooth National Forest into four larger districts was announced today by Supervisor E. A. Fournier.

Fournier said changes in the district boundaries and administration will be completed during the next few months.

"Adjustments are designed to increase efficiency of forest operation, reduce administrative costs and prepare for anticipated congressional establishment of the Sawtooth National Recreation Area," Fournier said.

In addition to the four ranger districts, the Sawtooth National Recreation area will constitute a fifth district being under the general supervision of the Sawtooth National Forest supervisor.

Changes result from extensive studies and have been approved by the chief of the Forest Service.

Present ranger districts are located in Sawtooth Valley, Ketchum, Hailey, Fairfield, Gooding, Twin Falls, Burley and Malta. The revised and enlarged districts will have offices located in Ketchum, Fairfield, Twin Falls and Burley, Fournier said.

The Sawtooth-NRA offices will be located at the North Fork of the Wood River and in Stanley. Temporary headquarters will be in a leased office between Hailey and Ketchum.

Consolidation of the Fairfield and Gooding offices with headquarters in Fairfield will not be completed for several months. All other changes become effective July 1, the supervisor said.

The four changes include establishment of the Sawtooth National Recreation area. This new area and designation will take in most of the present Sawtooth Valley ranger district and the northern portion of the Ketchum district along with a sizable portion of the Challis National Forest.

Living costs climb sharply during May

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cost of living of Americans rose 0.3 per cent in May despite a drop in food prices for the first time in seven months, the Labor Department said today.

The increase was caused mainly by higher prices for clothing, used cars, gasoline, household services and nonfood commodities, the department said in its regular monthly report.

On Tuesday, Herbert Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, warned that retail prices—other food costs—which shot up nearly 7.5 per cent in the first four months of the year, would be rising again.

Led by nearly a 0.1 per cent decline in the price of meat, poultry and fish, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said, prices of food on grocers' shelves went down 0.2 per cent.

But BLS officials pointed out that these food prices were checked during the first week in May, and did not reflect sharp wholesale food price increases since then. The higher retail prices, may, not show up in the price index until June report is released next month.

Stein served notice that not only beef and pork but other food prices would show an increase.

Even as the department made its report, the Price Commission was meeting to consider whether to clamp tighter government controls on food prices.

The 0.3 per cent increase in consumer prices in May pushed the consumer price index to 124.7, 3.2 per cent higher than a year ago. Goods and services that cost $10 in 1967 cost $12.47 last month.

The BLS said the price index rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.5 per cent during the six months of the Phase II controls, or less than the 4 per cent rate of increase during the six months leading up to the wage-price freeze imposed in August.

The higher cost of living in May outstripped the purchasing power of average weekly earnings of rank-and-file workers. The BLS said the actual purchasing power of the weekly earnings of the average worker with three dependents dropped 0.6 per cent from April because of the higher prices.

The overall decline of 0.1 per cent in the cost of food in supermarkets and restaurants was the first drop since October, although food prices held steady in both January and April. There were sharp increases, however, of 1.1 per cent last December and 1.6 per cent in February.

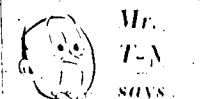

Fruits and vegetables, with a 1.5 per cent increase, were the only food category not showing lower prices in supermarkets in May. Declines were recorded of 0.9 per cent for meats, poultry and fish, 0.3 per cent for cereals and bakery products, and 0.1 per cent for dairy products.

The cost of food in restaurants went up 0.3 per cent. The BLS said the index for nonfood commodities went up 0.6 per cent, much more than usual for May. About 70 per cent of this was caused by a jump of 3.4 per cent in used car prices and a 0.1 per cent in gasoline prices.

Following the usual seasonal trend for May, prices for women's clothing went up 0.9 per cent, and for men and boys apparel 0.4 per cent. Prices also went up for most other nonfood commodities, particularly houses, furniture, toilet goods and tobacco.

But new car prices dropped 0.3 per cent to 2.2 per cent below a year earlier. And the price index for services went up 0.2 per cent last month compared with a 0.3 per cent increase in April.

If the cost of living keeps going up, we'll need a new scale to measure it.

SUN VALLEY — The Sun Valley Hospital has been renamed the John R. Moritz Community Hospital.

The move was authorized by the Sun Valley City Council Tuesday night after a recommendation, unanimously approved by hospital directors.

The change is expected to be made on or before Oct. 1.

Dr. Moritz, who is now retired, was one of the founders of the hospital. As the first doctor at Sun Valley, he conducted his practice in a small ease from the state to construct a foot and bicycle path along the road between Sun Valley and Ketchum. Innes said the project had been discussed for about four years. Currently, he said, only 26 feet of the 80 foot right of way is paved.

Medical psyches win help

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Apparently in deference to their own psyches, members of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association have voted to discourage smoking at their sessions, but not forbid it.

The vote came after a Minnesota delegate holding a pipe rose to note that people complain about being harmed by tobacco smoke.

But, he asked: "What about the harm to our own personal psyches if we deprive ourselves of this gratification?"

AMA policy is that members should help fight smoking by personal example and advice.

session Tuesday by the council, and were asked to indicate the effect of the magistrate system on their units of government.

In the afternoon, the session was open to the general public for opinions and comment.

About a dozen citizens appeared, including several Burley police officers, some to listen and most to talk, some with deep feeling about the failings of the system in the sister counties.

A majority of participants said the magistrate system is proving more efficient than the former three-level system of city police courts, county probate courts and justices of the peace.

Many agree, however, that the public does not fully understand the operation of the magistrate system. In fact, many people seem to be unaware the system has gone into operation.

Harold Hurst, Heyburn mayor, counselor and former teacher at Minico High School, said several government teachers asked him recently who the local justice of the peace was.

Miami due US troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Military troops will be positioned in the Miami Beach area for the Democratic and Republican national conventions, Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and Florida Gov. Reubin Askew announced today.

"These conventions must be conducted in an atmosphere of respect for the constitutional rights and the public safety of all persons, including delegates and nondelegates," they said in a statement issued by the Justice Department.

There was no explanation how many troops would be involved or from what bases they would be drawn, but it was learned that active duty men from more than one service would be put on duty.

Presumably, Florida National Guardsmen will also be used if needed.

The governor and the attorney general said the decision to involve federal assistance at the conventions was based on indications they had received from local law enforcement officials.

Planning will include arrangements for equipment and logistical support and the prepositioning of military forces in the Miami-Miami Beach area," the statement said.

Runway job pact OK'd

JEROME — The Jerome County Commissioners awarded a $15,111 contract to Peter Kiewit Sons Construction Co., Idaho Falls, to rebuild the runway at the county airport.

The construction company will completely rebuild the runway by putting down a seal coat on the landing field, applying a one and one quarter inch overlay and applying a for sen John Van Orman, commission chairman, said the work will begin shortly and should not take long to complete.

The county received a $9,000 grant from the Idaho Department of Aeronautics and has applied for additional funds from the state to help purchase 15 acres of land for future expansion of the runway.

A weed fire had spread and was endangering a large shed and some timbers. The fire was controlled with little damage.

California levee break floods delta

ISLETON, Calif. (UPI)—A huge break in a levee sent water pouring "like a water fall" over low-lying Andrus Island today, forcing hundreds of residents to flee from their farm homes.

Set, Ray Bland of the Sacramento County Sheriff's office said one small boy was missing. Several other persons were taken to nearby hospitals, some with serious injuries.

Boats as large as 30 foot cruisers and houseboats were sent crashing against the embankment as the water poured through a 300 foot long break and across the 20-square-mile island in the delta formed by the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers northeast of San Francisco.

Water was four feet deep across much of the island, sheriff's officers said. It reached within a half-mile of Isleton and was moving slowly toward the community of 1,000 residents.

At least five Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force helicopters scoured the area at treetop level to pull residents to safety. Other rescuers manned boats to evacuate stranded families.

House trailers at marinas which dot the island were under water as the flood poured across the fertile farming area which also is a popular recreational area because of its maze of rivers and streams.

Roads into the area were sealed off by the California Highway Patrol.

Magistrate setup lauded, panned

BY LEE TREMAINE, Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Idaho magistrate system received compliments and criticism — with emphasis on the critical aspects — during a hearing Tuesday in Burley.

The Idaho Judicial Council conducted a day-long "pilot study" of the system in the first session of its nature in the Gem State.

The council sought opinions from civic officials and the public on the efficiency and problems of the 18-month-old magistrate court system.

The session tested whether other hearings should be conducted. Idaho Supreme Court Chief Justice Charles McQuade council chairman, said he was well pleased with the turnout and interest shown. McQuade said the council may schedule similar sessions, following an in-depth study of Tuesday's meeting.

City and county officials in the Cassia and Minidoka counties were invited to the morning

During Tuesday morning's hearings, Burley Police Chief Ken Barry said his city has experienced a startling increase in traffic and other violations in recent months. Total arrests have nearly tripled in Burley since the magistrate system went into effect, Barry said.

However, revenue from fines has been cut nearly in half, with many citations dismissed by magistrates, the chief said.

Questioned on his feelings, Barry admitted, that "I feel we need a new magistrate. This is not a personal thing, but I just don't feel the judge is getting the job done."

The chief said records in the Cassia County Magistrate Court are "in terrible shape."

The chief admitted that the magistrate, Gleason Anderson, "conducts his courtroom with great decorum," but said the magistrate also seeks "to act as a defense attorney."

Barry said, "He tells them (the defendants) he will act as their defense attorney. I don't feel he should be both a defense attorney and a judge."

In summary, Barry said he feels the Cassia magistrate is not helping to control the rising crime rate in Burley.

Rupert officials voiced general satisfaction with the system.

Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson said his city has experienced little change in court revenue between the old and new systems.

"In fact," Johnson said, "we might have increased a little."

Rupert Police Chief Ed Culver voiced a complaint common among law enforcement officers — the willingness of magistrates to release defendants without bond, pending a later hearing. All too often, officers said, the defendant leaves the country and is never seen again.

Burley Mayor Garis Robertson emphasized the "personality problem" in the Cassia County court.

"In our system the judge's personality does not fit," the mayor said.

S. Viet marines continue thrust

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese marines in their four-day-old thrust into Communist-held Quang Tri Province today captured two Russian-built tanks intact. On the central coast, government forces abandoned an outpost under relentless Communist bombardment.

UPI reporter Chad Huntley, reporting from Quang Tri's northern front, said one tank was captured but its crew had fled. The other was heading over a rise and flipped over, trapping its crew inside.

At the embattled provincial capital of An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, heavy fighting broke out today. Despite reports that the Communist siege of the city had been lifted, fighting left 48 Communists dead and 21 rounds of North Vietnamese artillery and mortar fire hit the capital Tuesday.

South Vietnamese casualties were described as "light" but, according to field reports, one battalion fighting outside An Loc lost 200 men killed or wounded — roughly half its strength in the past two weeks.

Two Vietnamese HU-1 Huey helicopter gunships were shot down today about 12 miles south of An Loc — the same area where a U.S. chopper was downed Tuesday and apparently by the same type of Russian-built "Strella" SA-7 heat-seeking missile, field reports said. One government crewman was killed and three were badly wounded.

The base was headquarters of the South Vietnamese 23rd Regional Forces group, comprising some 640 men. During the last Communist artillery attack Tuesday night, the base summoned help from U.S. Air Force C-119 Spooky and C-130 Spectre gunships.

The base is located on a rocky promontory 30 miles north of Qui Nhon.

At Da Nang, UPI correspondent Barney Seibert reported the rescue of two American pilots shot down Tuesday on the jungled rim of the A Shau Valley.

30,000 men may remain in S. Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is thinking in terms of keeping a residual force of 30,000 in Vietnam until a cease-fire is achieved and U.S. prisoners of war are released, informed government sources said today.

The White House said Tuesday that Nixon would announce a new troop reduction within the next several days.

Two months ago, Nixon announced he would reduce the troop level to 49,000 by July 1. There had been reports that he might try to keep the residual force in Vietnam at that level.

But the White House announcement Tuesday dispelled this speculation.

The size of new reductions may be smaller and the pace slower in the coming months. Officials pointed out the military situation is uncertain and hopes for a negotiated settlement remain slim.

Nixon has removed almost 500,000 U.S. troops from Vietnam since he took office.

Ronald L. Ziegler, the White House press secretary, said Nixon would meet his deadline of reducing the troop level to 49,000 by July 1.

"They are meeting that level and will meet that level," Ziegler said of field commanders.

Ziegler said the President had not decided on a format for the announcement of the next withdrawals, but he said there was no plan for Nixon to make a radio-television address.

The approaching political campaign, in which the war is likely to be a potent issue, appeared to be spurring new diplomatic initiatives on the part of the White House.

There were reports, which have not been confirmed, that Nixon told the Soviet leadership at the Moscow summit that the United States would be prepared to accept a broad coalition government in South Vietnam in exchange for a supervised cease-fire and freedom for the prisoners.

He said Navy Cmdr. James Davis of Duncan, Okla., parachuted when his A-7 Corsair was downed 30 miles west of Hue. Air Force pilot Larry Highfill, whose hometown was gutted, was shot down while covering for Davis in his prop-driven A1 Skyraider.

Woman injured at Hailey

HAILEY — A Blackfoot woman is being held at the Blaine County Hospital for observation and X-rays after a one-car accident Tuesday north of Hailey.

The woman has been identified as Marsha Wakley, 22, who had been staying with friends in Bellevue. She and a passenger, Lucinda H. Lanan, 22, Bellevue, received cuts and abrasions. Both were taken by ambulance to the hospital where Miss Lanan was released.

According to a Blaine County sheriff's deputy, the Wakley vehicle was traveling south on U.S. Highway 93, one mile north of Hailey, about 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wakley said she swerved to miss a dog, traveled onto the shoulder at the right-hand side of the road, swerved across the northbound lane of traffic, jumped a fence and a ditch and the car flipped over on its side.

Mrs. Wakley was thrown through the window on the driver's side.

Officers said the late-model van was nearly demolished. No citations have yet been issued.

Fireman injured

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — The cause of a noon hour fire which destroyed the Deseret Industries' main building in Pocatello has not been determined.

Two persons received minor injuries in the fire which broke out in the main production area where clothing and furniture are processed.

One fireman collapsed from exhaustion and one employee suffered minor burns on his arms while fighting the fire.

Deseret Industries is affiliated with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Austin Anderson, assistant manager, said the fire broke out during the lunch hour and most of the 20 employees were gone, and that no cause had been determined.

The injured were Henry Crockett and fireman Noel Orders.

Revenue sharing bill asked by Demo leaders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democratic leaders, supported by intense White House lobbying, brought up a $30 billion, 5-year bill to share federal revenues with states and localities for a floor vote today.

They were confident they had the votes to pass it. The revenue sharing proposal is a key portion of President Nixon's legislative program. It provides for sharing $1.8 billion a year with the States to start with, climbing to $3 billion in the fifth year. It would share $3.5 billion annually with the 38,000 local governments in the nation.

Opponents still hoped to stop the legislation through a procedural move. It is protected by a measure barring amendments, and the chief test was expected to come in a vote to overturn that rule to open the bill for changes on the floor.

Speaker Carl Albert and Democratic leader Hale Boggs huddled Tuesday night with other strategists for a last-minute vote count. They believed they had about 220 votes to protect the no amendments rule, and that if this could be done, final passage would be assured.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which drafted the measure, said after the leadership meeting, "We've got the votes. We've had them all along."

A top White House lobbyist who sat in on the meeting said there would be 110 Republican votes for the rule and that the Democrats would come up with another 105 to 110 votes. He also predicted victory by a slim margin. Others at the meeting were representatives for the nation's mayors and governors, most of whom have conformed

Jerome man lost court decision

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court Tuesday affirmed a district court's earlier judgment in finding against a field worker who had brought suit against a grower.

The suit was commenced by Don Church of Jerome, who said he had been hired in November, 1967, by Lawrence Roemer to harvest potatoes grown by Roemer on land owned by Simplot Industries, Inc. Church was offered $19,000 for his work but asked for a deferment until after January 1, 1968, because of tax reasons. In January, 1968, Church requested payment and was told sufficient funds were not available to pay him. Church then brought suit against Roemer and Simplot Industries.

Roemer later filed for bankruptcy and his debt to Church was among those discharged.

For this reason, Church's claim against Roemer was dismissed.

Justice Charles R. Donaldson, writing for a unanimous supreme court, ruled that the district court correctly concluded that the agreements between Roemer and Simplot Industries did not create a relationship by which the latter became liable for the debts of the former.

Obituaries

P. Lively Sr. — Phillip Walter Lively Sr., 75, Twin Falls, died of a long illness at his home Tuesday morning. He was born Nov. 5, 1896, at Dallas, Tex. He married Emma Steinmetz in 1921 in Oklahoma.

Mr. Lively came to Idaho in 1936 from Sharon, Okla., where he had been a farmer. He had lived in Twin Falls since then. He had worked as a cheese maker at the Swift and Co. cheese plant for 18 years until retiring in 1965.

Surviving, besides his widow, are four sons, Louis J. Lively, Hemlock, Mich.; Harold E. Lively, Athol, Idaho; John H. Lively and Phillip W. Lively Jr., both Twin Falls; a daughter, Mrs. Irene C. Peck, Seattle; two brothers, Jake Lively, Hemlock, Calif., and Dick Lively, Aurora, Mo.; four sisters, Mrs. Mary La Fon, Woodward, Okla.; Mrs. Elsie M. Patterson, Liberal, Kan.; Mrs. Thelma Sawyer, Reno, Nev.; and Mrs. Lillie Rollins, Lakewood, Calif.

He had 22 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. A brother and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be announced by White Mortuary.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Bird Funeral Home in Hailey.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has found it hard to sell costly new armament programs to a Senate eager to buy disarmament.

So he is trying to make them inseparable.

He is arguing Congress cannot afford to ratify the missile accords President Nixon signed in Moscow May 26 unless it agrees to provide the billions that will be required for the B1 bomber and the Trident missile-carrying submarine.

Laird faced five hours of hard questioning on that proposition Tuesday before the Senate Armed Services Committee, which is usually disposed to give him what he asks.

He will encounter even harder questioning today from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee whose members insistently ask why an arms limitation agreement should result in an increase in arms spending.

The toughest questioning comes from Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., the only senator who is a member of both committees. Symington contends the national economy cannot afford both the bomber and the submarine.

Rupert marathon held

"RUPERT" — Led by Idaho Sen. John Peavley, R-Rupert, about two dozen enthusiastic young people marched from Rupert to Burley early today in a fund raising marathon.

The march for funds was carried out on behalf of the Minicassia Hotline, a telephone service for troubled youth.

Mrs. Paul Wegner, Paul, a spokesman for the Hotline organization said the telephone service is maintained strictly by donations and that funds are critically short at the present time.

A number of local organizations are helping to raise funds to continue the service.

Libraries vote limit on funding

BY DIXIE DIXON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Distribution of regional funds was limited to certain libraries in the Magic Valley area by the Regional Library Advisory Board Tuesday.

The action came during a meeting which followed a workshop focused on collecting and preserving local history, conducted at the Twin Falls Public Library for the Region IV Reference Center Library advisory board.

Advisory board members voted to limit the distribution of funds in region IV from the Idaho State Library for those libraries participating in the regional center meetings each month in Twin Falls.

To qualify for funds or services, a spokesman for the organization said, libraries must be represented by either the librarian or a library trustee attending at least half of the meetings.

The board also voted to allot $150 to each participating library during 1972-73 to be used for book acquisition. The remaining funds from the state grant of $5,000 will be used to purchase fiction books to be housed at the reference center for circulation to participating libraries.

Hansen talks to TF club

TWIN FALLS — George Hansen said Tuesday night that the right kind of experience can make the difference between an effective senator and one who spins his wheels.

Hansen, a candidate for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate from Idaho, told the Twin Falls Toastmasters, he has more of that right kind of experience than anyone else in the U. S. Senate race.

He told the group he had had experience on the legislative side of government as a U. S. Congressman and on the executive side as deputy undersecretary of agriculture.

Hansen said Idaho is too often left out in the cold because people who make decisions in Washington are not getting enough input at high levels.

A fund raising dinner for Hansen will be held Thursday at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls. Entertainers include the "Gem Staters" and vocalist Joyce Guyer. Hansen will be key-note speaker.

The social hour will begin at 6:30 and the program starts at 7:30 p.m.

The dinner is sponsored by Citizens for George Hansen, Magic Valley and is open to the public. More information can be obtained by calling Ken Arrington at 733-4517 or Tom Lane at 734-2796.

Canal warning given

TWIN FALLS — Al Peters, manager of the Twin Falls Canal Co., today cautioned parents to be aware of the dangers of irrigation canals and laterals.

He said too many children have drowned this summer in irrigation waters. Parents frequently forget the potential danger of a small irrigation ditch but it takes only a few minutes for a small child to be carried away in the swift water.

Peters said the canal company does not permit bathing, swimming or water skiing on the canals of the system and parents are urged to cooperate by keeping their children away from canals, laterals and ditches during the summer irrigation season.

TF Municipal Band has guest conductor

TWIN FALLS — Lawrence Curtis, director of the College of Southern Idaho band, will direct the Twin Falls Municipal Band concert Thursday.

The performance will begin at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at the city park band shell. Curtis will be directing the band in place of regular director Del Slaughter, who is at Ricks College for the next two weeks.

The concert program includes "Vaquero March," by Neill; "Fiddler-on-the-Roof" selections, by Harnick and Bok; "La Salsa Trombone," Fillmore; "La Gizza Ladra Overture," Rosalini; "Under the Double Eagle," Wagner; "Golden Bear March," Richards; "Blue Danube Waltz," Strauss; Bert Bacharach medley and "Conquest," Newman.

Kids' fish derby set by TF Moose

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Moose Lodge will sponsor a fish derby for Magic Valley children Saturday at Harmon Park.

The annual event is held for the benefit of children 13 years of age and under and will begin at 9 a.m. continuing to noon.

Fish for the derby were donated by the Canyon Trout Farm, Frame's Trout Farm and Greene's Fish Hatchery. The Idaho Fish and Game Department will haul the fish to the cooie in Harmon Park and plant them.

Small fishermen will receive prizes in addition to their catches. Donating special awards, mostly fishing equipment, will be the Blue Lakes Sporting Goods, Four Seasons, Jerry's Gun Shop, Kings Variety Store, Lynwood, Osco Drug, Penly, Wise Drug and Newton's Sporting Goods. Other prizes come from Tempo, Sears and Red's Trading Post.

Soft drinks will be served by the Moose Lodge following the fishing with Coca Cola Co., Twin Falls, donating the refreshments.

Sawtooth ranger plan explained by Fournier

Effective July 1, the U.S. Forest Service will administer the area as a single unit anticipating final passage of legislation to create the NRA in the near future. Gray Reynolds will be superintendent of the unit as previously announced. He will be assisted by Lynn Sprague and his staff. Sprague is now Sawtooth Valley district ranger.

In the second change, the forest service proposes to combine the remainder of the Ketchum district with the Hailey district. That part of the Ketchum district not in the NRA and all of the Hailey district will become one unit with headquarters in Ketchum's ranger station and with Tom Farr, presently Ketchum district ranger in charge. It will be known as the Ketchum ranger district. Present Hailey ranger Richard Anderson and staff will join the NRA unit.

A third change will be the combination, effective July 1, of the entire Cassia division of the forest into one district. Presently the Burley and Twin Falls ranger districts cover this area. Lewis Munson, Twin Falls, will serve as district ranger. Merlin Stock, ranger in the Burley district, retired early this year.

In the new larger district the Oakley and Rock Creek guard stations will serve as district work centers.

The Albion Mountain division of the present Burley district will be combined with the Sublett, Raft River and Black Pine divisions and will become the part of the Malta ranger district with headquarters in Burley. The old Malta station will district under Ranger Larry provide housing for employees and serve as a work center in the new larger district.

As a final change, the Fairfield and Snake Creek ranger districts will be revised. The western part of the Snake Creek district near Anderson Ranch Reservoir will become part of the Boise National Forest. The remainder of that district will combine with the Fairfield district under Ranger Larry Weeks.

Magistrate assigned

TWIN FALLS — To speed up the pending preliminary hearings on drug charges in Falls County, District Judge Theron W. Ward has assigned another magistrate to serve two days each week.

Judge Ward issued an order bringing V. K. Jepsen, Blaine County magistrate, to Twin Falls two days per week until the hearings are completed.

Monday Casimir Mori, 18, appeared and waived preliminary hearing. He entered a plea of guilty to a reduced charge and asked for a pre-sentencing investigation. He pleaded guilty to charges of possession of a controlled substance, reduced from delivery of a controlled substance.

Several other hearings are scheduled during the week for those arrested by Twin Falls city and county officers earlier this month.

DAVID MURPHY
... delegate

TF has 1 Democrat delegate

TWIN FALLS — David Murphy, 20, Twin Falls, will be the only national Democratic Party representative to Miami from this county.

He was named a selection delegate from district 24 to the Idaho Democratic Convention in San Valley last week and will go as a delegate committed to Sen. George McGovern.

He is an alternate on the national credentials committee.

Murphy joined the McGovern forces early in the political activity and has been campaigning on behalf of his candidate in Oregon and California for primary elections there.

Murphy said wherever he has been he has seen a new surge of enthusiasm by young voters and a more progressive attitude on the part of both young and old Democratic Party workers.

Generally, he said, there is an effort to find a new solution to old problems and many of the young political enthusiasts who could not participate from the inside in 1968 are now part of the overall policy-making group.

The young delegate said Miami will be nothing like Chicago in the way of protests and disunity.

He said the young and enthusiastic campaigners have been given an opportunity to participate in the convention sessions and will be given a chance to express views.

Stockholm Air

The U. N. Conference on the Human Environment in Stockholm was billed as the first truly global effort to set guidelines so that man might manage his technological civilization without destroying it with pollution. It was supposed to be strictly non-political.

It flopped as a global conference even before it began when Soviet Russia and her East European satellites boycotted it because East Germany was not invited, thus keeping one-third of the world's land mass out of it. The boycott was political, as Secretary of State William P. Rogers noted. Failure to invite East Germany which is not a member of the United Nations could be described by the Communists also as political.

At the opening of the conference, Premier Olof Palme of Sweden, proved a bad host, blasting the United States for "waging ecological warfare in Vietnam." He went a long way to prove that critics were close to the mark when they charged the conference was "politically motivated and environmentally irrelevant."

Sweden, while professing neutrality, harbors American draft dodgers and deserters, and makes a great point of aiding North Vietnam, the Viet Cong, Communist Cuba, and any other outfit giving the U.S. trouble.

Red China joined in the thrash with a denunciation of the U.S. "policies of plunder, aggression and war," "barbarous atrocities," and "wanton bombing."

A State Department spokesman denounced Palme for raising extraneous issues but American displeasure did not deter the Red Chinese or other delegations which assailed "racial discrimination" in the U.S., while ignoring its presence throughout the world.

A British spokesman observed that the Environmental Conference was "not the place to tackle political and military questions." True, but the game of international politics isn't played according to rules.

Pollution of the environment is indeed a global problem but the United Nations is proving it is no more capable of solving it than it has been able to keep peace.

Caution Pays

When a group of consumer fraud experts gets together at a meeting sponsored by the Federal Trade Commission, some of the tales they tell are shocking.

A regional meeting of professional fraud investigators was held in New York City recently, and one federal attorney revealed the government had uncovered 107 diploma mills doing $50 million a year business.

These are mail-order "schools" which sell fake diplomas for a price — a very good price apparently. Their targets are the lazy, the careless and the unwary. They are particularly attracted to recent immigrants who are easy targets for smooth salesmanship on the way things are done in America.

Diploma mills are only one field among many in the consumer fraud rackets.

MR. SPECTATOR

Happy Father's Day

Well, Father's Day is now over. In fact it was over a few days back — but the shock of it is still with us. It was most unusual.

Mr. and Mrs. Spectator and daughter and son-in-law decided to drive to Pocatello to put flowers on the graves of Mr. Spectator's mother and father, then have a mid-afternoon dinner at the Bannock Hotel, then drive back home.

The putting flowers on the graves was accomplished without incident. Then, between that time and the start to the Bannock Hotel, it was decided to drive out a ways and see Ross Park.

Well, at the stop sign on a road leading into the road going to the lower level of the park, we had stopped at that sign. We were unceremoniously rammed from the rear by a young driver (either Indian or Mexican) in a 1966 Ford Mustang.

After we were fairly certain we had no broken necks from the ramming, we got out to survey the damage. The young driver of the other car — and his extremely large passenger, also an Indian or Mexican — were also out. The young driver was looking at the damage while Mr. Spectator's son-in-law went to call the police.

With difficulty, the Mustang driver finally got the car's hood open and made a casual inspection. He then started toward the driving seat of the car. Mrs. Spectator and daughter were determined he would not get close to the car and were about to forcibly detain him, and his companion, when they were just as forcibly convinced by Mr. Spectator and son-in-law that it was the wrong thing to do. We didn't know who or what they were and the big individual had a knife on his belt.

Well, about the time this decision was made, the Mustang driver bolted for his machine, said

"something like 'I'm getting out of here' and peeled off toward Ross Park. As the car sped away, Mrs. Spectator got the car's license number.

Twenty to 25 minutes after the mishap, a motorcycle policeman arrived. He did some measuring, checked Mr. Spectator's license, asked where we were seated in the car, who was driving, and were we using seat belts (we answered yes on that one).

Then the bombshell. We hadn't moved our car so he could see what happened. The other driver, he said, who had departed the scene of the accident in great haste would probably never have anything done to him because we had no real witnesses to the mishap who would testify that the young man in the Mustang was, in fact, really involved and unless he admitted he was driving and did it us then we didn't have a case at all. And it was very evident, the policeman said, that the other driver would never admit such a thing.

By radio the policeman was told the registered owner of the Mustang. He said he knew who the fellow was — in other words he was no stranger to the officer.

But that about ended it. If they found out anything then we would be notified by mail. In the meantime, we were required to file a report on the accident within five days to the State Police in Boise and report the whole thing to our insurance agent.

We promised to do these things — after the policeman wrote down his estimate of the damage to the rear of our car — about $250.

And driving away we opined that perhaps if we ever have another wreck — this was our first — the best and safest thing is just to hurry up and drive away before the police show up.

Apparently the thing to do is just to disappear.

WASHINGTON — Presidential election years offer a little bit of something for everybody, so it is not surprising that here and there across the broad land there has been a renewal of demands that local curfews be established to get the kids home at night and out of trouble.

With the electorate in its accustomed quinquennial ferment, such proposals are assured of a respectful hearing because politicians run scared. And although the thought that American parents at this late date would dare to stand up to their children is preposterous, boys and girls over 40 'yot' feel a twinge of nostalgia for a simpler — and safer — day.

Webster's notes that the curfew originated in Europe in the Middle Ages when it was a regulation "directing that fires be covered or extinguished at a fixed hour in the evening when a bell was rung." But for one sprout in a New England town it was a mournful fire whistle that blew at 8:45 p.m. to send kids under 12 scampering indoors.

Once the whistle sounded, a kid had 15 minutes to make it to the family hearthside. If caught outdoors after 9 p.m., he presumably was picked up by the police. I say presumably because the penalty for missing curfew was never spelled out. There were merely veiled warnings that violation of the law would not be tolerated by the authorities.

Possibly there were children who were arrested for breaking the curfew, but I doubt it. That fire whistle carried authority, and in those days a boy was still scared of cops and jail.

Moreover, the curfew was backed up by a vanished brand of parent who was ready, willing and able to wield a switch at 9:01 p.m.

It wasn't so bad in the wintertime because what with school, homework and all a kid had to be in bed before 9 anyway, which is why I never got to hear radio's Chiquit Club Eskimos until I was 14. The Eskimos went on at 9:30 p.m. and in my house they played to adults only.

But, when summer came, rebellion stirred in juvenile breasts. The evenings seemed especially created for bad sessions on the street corner, and it was misery to have to break and run when the curfew sounded. Each kid tried to schedule these sessions at the corner nearest his home, and it was the athletes who always won out — meaning I never had to run less than three blocks to safety at curfew time.

There were, of course, the delicious exceptions when your folks reluctantly permitted you to accompany them to an evening movie. Walking home with them at the evil hour of 10:30, I used to run on ahead to show my worldliness — and once ran directly into the arms of the neighborhood cop, a gentle, fatherly man named Pat Donnelly.

"It's all right," I told him frantically. "My folks are back there." As a grownup, no dark street in Saigon, Singapore or Cairo ever offered such absolute security.

Then there was the time I found myself alone in the dangerous outdoors at 9:10 p.m., betrayed by a pretty girl named Betsy who had kept me in thrall to her charms and a pan of chocolate fudge. I sneaked through endless backyards alive with imagined footsteps and sinister Oriental assassins, eventually to burst into the house, breathless and sweating — to find a teenage sister in lone authority. I bought her silence with a week of dishwashing.

UP TIGHT

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Heart Beat

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have what I call a missing heart beat. I've been told that my heart is missing a beat and stops a little longer than it normally should, so I feel it.

All a doctor says is it's nerves. I'm not nervous and it still does it, even two weeks at a time. That keeps me upset and scared.

Is there anything that can be done? Is something wrong? S.C.

How's that again? You're not nervous, but the heart flutter keeps you upset and scared?

Since you've been told by your doctor that it is from nerves, I am inclined to doubt that you have any serious heart affliction.

These "missed beats" are quite common, but in most cases they aren't really missed or skipped beats. It is what is called an extra systole. Usually followed by a compensatory pause afterward, until the next heart beat comes through. No beat is truly missed. It's just that the order is deranged a bit.

Excess coffee, tea, cola, or other caffeine products, and smoking are common causes. We will fix nerves.

For your own peace of mind, I would think you should have an electrocardiogram to determine accurately the type of irregularity. However, such irregularities can and often do occur in normal hearts.

I suggest further that you cut down on caffeine in any form, cut down smoking if you smoke, and see if that, along with stopping being scared, doesn't help.

If not, your doctor can prescribe treatment, but a great deal of the time those simple suggestions do the trick.

Let's call it vaginal bleeding, not menstruation.

Such bleeding can occur if she is on hormone medication.

Vaginally more serious, however, is the possibility of cancer. Immediate examination is required.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain pulmonary tuberculosis. Can it be cured and is it contagious? I know someone who has been diagnosed as having it and am worried. — C.M.D.

Tuberculosis is caused by a germ. Pulmonary T.B. means that the germ has attacked the lungs, the commonest place, although the germ can attack other parts of the body.

Yes, it is contagious until a case has been brought under control but with modern drugs, control is possible in the majority of cases.

Current and proper practice is to keep a patient in a hospital or sanatorium until tests show absence of the germs in sputum. After all, the disease is transmitted only by an active agent, as a person with arrested T.B. will not spread the disease.

Periodic checks are essential to make sure that the condition remains inactive.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor found what he described as a "clogged duct" in my breast. He told me not to worry, but to come back in four months.

I am in the birth control pill and would like to know exactly what a clogged duct is, and whether I should stop taking the pill. Mrs. B.

A clogged duct in the breast is an obstructed milk duct. This may or may not cause discomfort and a lump of a cyst-like nature.

Your physician should advise you whether in your case you should stop taking the pill — you told him you were on the pill, didn't you?

In Cambodia

In the spillover war in Vietnam's neighbor nations, the significant news from Cambodia is what could be happening there, but isn't.

It is our unfortunate involvement in Indochina is to be anything less than a total tragedy, we must learn from it. The only conceivable benefit to be derived from this blunder requires that we learn from it.

And the main thing we must learn is what Douglas MacArthur tried to teach two wars ago, that land war in Asia is not for us.

Then, in subsequent wars, we came to rely more on technology, on ships and planes and sophisticated weaponry. Yet here we are in Indochina relearning the strategy of ambush, infiltration and sabotage, and getting our tails whipped because we are no match for Asia's numbers and because this war's fanatical, thrice quasi-religious purposefulness is all on THEIR side.

But they are not trying for a knockout. Neither in Saigon nor in Phnom Penh do they presently intend to invade.

They have not the least interest in having to administer another war-torn nation.

They know what we must learn. You're a much lesser target behind a tree than on a

Vet Pay Raise

WASHINGTON — There is now a gleam of hope that Congress will act on the long-sought recompensation of pay for nearly a million military retirees.

For the first time, a House Armed Services subcommittee is set to hold hearings on such legislation.

No date has yet been fixed. But it is expected the contemplated hearings will take place in the interval between the Democratic National Convention in July and the Republican National Convention in August.

By that time, the House is expected to have completed consideration of the multi-billion dollar military procurement authorization bill now being drafted by the Armed Services Committee. The subcommittee proposed to take up the recompensation legislation after the procurement measure has been disposed of.

Authoritative source of this cheering information is Rep. Charles Gubser, Calif., ranking Republican member of the subcommittee, and sponsor of the "one-shot" recompensation plan recommended by the Administration. Gubser is also co-author of the military retirees survivors benefits bill passed unanimously by the House last October — and gathering dust in the Senate Armed Services Committee ever since.

It is Gubser's belief there is a "good chance" the House will approve the "one-shot" recompensation proposal. He told this column:

"If we can hold hearings in the period between the two national conventions, I think the subcommittee will be able to agree on a sound and acceptable recompensation bill by the time Congress resumes work after Labor Day. If we can do that, the prospects are good this measure will be approved by the full armed-services Committee and reported to the House."

In that event, the chances appear very good that the House will pass this bill and send it to the Senate. What happens after that is in the laps of the gods.

In making this cryptic comment, the influential California legislator obviously was referring to the fact that the survivors benefits bill the House passed unanimously last October has been stalled in the Senate Armed Services Committee ever since.

In other words, the House may pass legislation, but that doesn't mean it will get anywhere in the Senate — which proceeds at a tortuous pace, if at all.

The "one-shot" recompensation measure, sponsored by Rep. Gubser, is primarily the work of a Special Interagency Committee headed by Assistant Defense Secretary Roger Kelley.

Hijacking action asked

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The U.N. Security Council's unanimous call for the world's governments to take "all appropriate measures" against aerial hijackings drew mixed reaction today. Israel said the effectiveness of the appeal would depend largely on Arab governments.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush said his country hoped the Security Council declaration and a resolution adopted in Montreal by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) will lead to effective measures against hijacking and other acts interfering with civil aviation.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoa representing the nation whose Lod Airport was the site of the May 30 massacre by pro-Arab terrorists said:

"The effectiveness of this consensus, watered down at the insistence of certain members of the council, will be tested to a large extent by the reaction of the Arab governments and their willingness to terminate the criminal activities of the Arab terror organizations which are responsible for the most dastardly and sanguinary of the attacks on international civil aviation perpetrated in the last few years."

The council president, Lazar Mojsov of Yugoslavia, in an unusual procedure appeared in the news briefing room to read the consensus statement reached after what he said was 10 days of private consultation by the council.

Although the statement carefully stipulated that the statement was an action of "members of the Security Council," Mojsov said it held equal weight with any resolution passed by the 15-nation Security Council.

Grounded

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The deaths of two flyers in a F111 crash Sunday has resulted in the Air Force grounding the swing-wing fighter bombers for the seventh time in four years. It was the 22nd crash involving the F111. About 215 planes in the United States were grounded in the action announced Tuesday at the Pentagon. The planes were last grounded 14 months ago.

Of the previous 21 crashes, five were due to pilot error, three to mechanical failures, one to a repairman's error, three to material failures in the aircraft structure and six from undetermined causes. Three planes that crashed have never been recovered.

Dismissal asked on Bremer

UPPER MERIDEN, Md. (UPI)—A Maryland judge will be asked today to dismiss all charges against Arthur Bremer and to delay the July 12 trial of the man accused of shooting Gov. George C. Wallace.

The requests were among five motions presented Judge Ralph W. Powers of Prince Georges Circuit Court by Benjamin Lipsitz, Bremer's court-appointed lawyer.

Other motions sought a jury trial, consolidation of the 24 state charges against Bremer and disclosure of state and federal evidence gathered against the former Milwaukee busboy.

Bremer, who was not expected to attend today's pretrial hearing, was also scheduled for federal trial July 17 on additional charges resulting from the May 15 wounding of the Alabama governor and three others at a Laurel shopping center.

Bremer was being held under combined state and federal bond of $400,000 at the Baltimore County Jail.

Observe anniversary

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon celebrated their 32nd wedding anniversary today.

They arranged a quiet family dinner party with their daughter and son-in-law, Tricia and Edward Cox.

Their other daughter and son-in-law, Julie and David Eisenhower, were expected to remain at Atlantic Beach, Fla. Eisenhower is stationed at a nearby Navy base.

The Nixons were married on June 21, 1940, at Riverside, Calif. He was a lawyer and she was a high school teacher. Both lived in Whittier, Calif., at the time.

Draft call for August large

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the largest monthly draft call in more than a year, the Selective Service system will call up 8,900 men in August.

Inducted in the draft call will be men born in 1952 with draft lottery numbers through 76.

Selective Service officials also announced Tuesday that men liable for the draft next year—those born in 1953—who hold lottery numbers 101 or higher can consider themselves free from the draft for all practical purposes.

Men with lottery numbers 101 or higher will be reclassified 1-F, an administrative holding category.

"This action assures these registrants that they will not be actively processed for induction unless there is a major change in expected military manpower needs," a Selective Service spokesman said.

The lottery cutoff number last year was 125.

Nixon remains aloof in case

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House asserts President Nixon "won't get involved at all" in the controversy over the arrest for burglary in the national offices of the Democratic Party of an employee of the Nixon re-election committee.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien filed a $1 million damage suit Tuesday against the Nixon committee and five men arrested early Saturday at O'Brien's headquarters. He said a "clear line to the White House" was developing in the incident.

The arrested men carried electronic bugging equipment and cameras. One of them, James W. McCord Jr., a former CIA and FBI employee, served as the salaried chief of security for the Nixon re-election committee and worked under contract for the Republican National Committee. O'Brien also said, without elaborating, that it had become apparent that "there's been more than one incident" of surveillance of the Democrats. He said the incident at his office was part of "a continuing, long-term activity."

But White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler responded to reporters' questions Tuesday by saying he was going "to reject every attempt to inject this matter in the White House."

"It's something we don't condone," Ziegler said. "We don't like to see people running around bugging offices."

Ziegler said he believed the President "has read with interest about this matter and is confident that the full process of law will run its course." But he said he would "leave the comment to Mr. O'Brien and other political types."

The O'Brien reference to a clear line to the White House was prompted by published reports that notebooks belonging to two of the suspects contained the name of Howard E. Hunt, a former CIA agent who has served as a part-time paid consultant to Charles W. Colson, a special counsel to Nixon and other White House officials.

O'Brien's suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Washington, charged violation of voting rights laws, invasion of privacy and illegal wiretapping by private citizens. It sought $100,000 for physical damages to the party's headquarters suite and $500,000 for the "willful and illegal violation of their (Democrats') constitutional, statutory and civil rights."

John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general who heads the Nixon re-election committee, said O'Brien's suit was "sheer demagoguery" and "a political stunt."

Ellsberg trial ordered

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The federal judge in the Pentagon Papers case, cutting his way through a stream of pretrial defense motions, has ordered the trial of Daniel Ellsberg to begin in two weeks.

It has been more than a year since the Pentagon Papers first appeared in the New York Times and Ellsberg surfaced as, by his own claim, the man responsible.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne Tuesday rejected three of the many pretrial motions entered by attorneys for Ellsberg and co-defendant Anthony Russo, and said jury selection will begin July 5.

He set another hearing on other pretrial motions for Friday and said he would try to dispose of any remaining matters next week.

Denied were motions challenging the one-year residency and the age (21) requirements for federal jurors and another to stay or sever Russo's case from Ellsberg's pending a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court on a defense appeal of a lower court ruling.

Russo had sought to have his case separated from that of Ellsberg, a former coworker at the Rand Corp. think tank from which the papers were taken. Both have been charged with espionage and other counts in the case.

Byrne also denied a government motion to be relieved of the obligation to search for any possible electronic surveillance of defense attorneys in the case. He said that if wiretapping exists, there "are substantial" chances it was illegal. He ordered the prosecution to search the records of various agencies to determine whether any wiretapping—in fact did occur, despite assurances by government attorneys that they know nothing of any such surveillance. They said they had checked with eight other federal agencies and found no evidence of any eavesdropping.

Agnes drenches seaboard

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI)—Tropical depression Agnes, a former hurricane that killed 16 persons in a $15 million swath through Florida and Cuba, pushed through the Carolinas today with heavy rains that threatened flooding as far north as Pennsylvania.

The National Weather Service in Washington warned of flash flooding along the Appalachian Mountain ridges from South Carolina to Virginia and extended a flash flood alert into Pennsylvania. Small craft warnings flow from Cape Kennedy, Fla., to Merrimack River, Mass., in deference to the remnants of the season's first hurricane.

Agnes was located north of Charleston and was expected to move close to Hatteras, N.C., around mid-day. It had peak coastal winds of about 35 miles per hour.

The storm dumped up to six inches of rain in parts of Georgia and the Carolinas and Lake Lure, N.C., reported eight inches within 36 hours. Mud and rock slides closed at least 10 mountain roads in North Carolina and destroyed some bridges.

Water pressure began tearing dirt away from the sides of the Land Harbors Dam on a 60-acre recreational lake in Avery County, N.C., Tuesday and sheriff's deputies warned families in houses and trailers below the dam to evacuate. Residents of the small community of Hogue Mountain, Tenn., were evacuated Tuesday night ahead of floodwaters from rain-swollen creeks.

Rough seas whipped up by the storm-endangered several yachts in the Newport, R.I., to Bermuda race and three were demolished by high winds. Coast Guard and Navy planes from Portsmouth, Va., were searching for a missing 35-foot sloop.

GEN. ABRAMS ... nominated.

Abrams chosen top Army chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, who won Gen. George S. Patton's admiration as a tank commander in World War II and rose to lead all allied forces in Vietnam, has been nominated as the Army's new chief of staff.

President Nixon announced the appointment Tuesday. Abrams, 57, must be confirmed by the Senate before he succeeds Gen. William C. Westmoreland, 58, who will retire June 30.

There may be some trouble over Abrams' appointment in the Senate. Senate sources said the question of whether Abrams played a role in the recently disclosed unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam could create a "potential explosion."

Nixon waited until almost the last minute to name Abrams, apparently holding up the announcement until there was a definite break in the Communist offensive against South Vietnam. U.S. officials said they believed the break has arrived, although there may be a second round of the offensive within a week or two.

If we're going to change commanders in Vietnam, now is a good time to do it," one official said. He said it was not known whether Abrams would leave Vietnam immediately or wait for the expected new round of attacks. Abrams is expected to be replaced by his deputy, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

Abrams, a native of Springfield, Mass., and a graduate of West Point, has held the top command in Vietnam since 1968. He succeeded Westmoreland in the job.

A gruff and rough-been man who smokes cigars, Abrams won a reputation in World War II as one of the best American armor commanders.

"I have one peer," 3rd Army commander George Patton said of him. "He is Abe Abrams." But Abrams also is noted for his love of classical music and is exceptionally well read. He once brought a roar of laughter from a group of correspondents in Vietnam when he noted with a straight face that he had just finished reading British novelist Evelyn Waugh's "Scorpio," a satire on foreign correspondents.

The Senate begins a 17-day recess on July 1. If Abrams' nomination has not been confirmed by that date, the Army will be forced to name Westmoreland's deputy, Gen. Bruce Palmer, as acting chief of staff.

BELLA ABZUG ... loses

Doctors liberalize pot stand

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The American Medical Association's ruling body took a cautious step Tuesday to liberalize its stand on marijuana use, but would not go along with recommendations to legalize private possession of the weed.

The House of Delegates, the parliament of the AMA, to which almost half the doctors in the nation belong, rejected recommendations that criminal penalties be abolished for private possession of marijuana.

Instead, the 241-member House of Delegates passed a watered-down recommendation stating that possession of insignificant amounts of marijuana should be considered "at most, a misdemeanor."

Celler, Abzug lose in NY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Emanuel Celler, 64-year-old dean of the House, and freshman Congresswoman Bella Abzug lost their bids for renomination Tuesday in New York's Democratic primary election.

Democratic Committeewoman Elizabeth Holtzman, 30, upset Celler in Brooklyn's 16th Congressional District. She charged that Celler, first elected to the House in 1922 during the administration of Warren G. Harding, was out of touch with the times and his constituents.

Celler, however, will be entered as the nominee of New York's Liberal party in the November elections and thus still has a chance to survive. Mrs. Abzug, whose floppy hats and gravelly voice became national trademarks during her one term in Congress, lost to veteran Rep. William F. Ryan in a contest forced by congressional redistricting.

Both are reform Democrats. A similar contest in the Bronx brought victory for Rep. Jonathan Bingham over incumbent Rep. James Scheuer in the newly redrawn 22nd Congressional District. Both men have also been reform leaders.

However, Rep. John Rooney, a veteran organization Democrat, withstood a stiff challenge from reform leader Allard Lowenstein, a former congressman and chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, in Brooklyn's 14th District.

Mrs. Abzug, whose race for the new 20th Congressional District gained national publicity, asserted during her campaign that she was an "activist" who had "spent years electing men like Ryan, only to have them do nothing."

Ryan, a six-term veteran, campaigned as a founding father of the reform movement, and his first representative in Congress.

In Rooney's district, Lowenstein claimed the election had been "stolen" through irregular voting procedures. Lowenstein ran the best organized campaign so far to unseat Rooney, first elected in 1944. In other races, Rep. Herman Badillo won an easy victory over Manuel Ramos to remain

Child care bill passes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After taking steps to insure that parents are not replaced with government babysitters, the Senate passed and sent a $2.6 billion child care bill to the House Tuesday.

President Nixon vetoed a similar bill Dec. 10 on grounds that child-care centers could lead to "communal" child-rearing.

The bill cleared the Senate on a 73-12 rollcall after conservatives sponsored language that federal day-care centers would not usurp the traditional parental role in child development.

Ceasefire said near in Ulster

BELFAST (UPI)—A ceasefire announcement from the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army (IRA) could come within the next 48 hours, Irish Republic sources said today.

They said any announcement involving a possible seven-day halt in hostilities would come from the Dublin headquarters of the Provisional Sinnfein, the political wing of the IRA movement, rather than from IRA leaders within Northern Ireland.

The almost three years of civil violence, which began in August, 1969, so far has killed 382 persons.

Soldiers wounded two gunmen who attacked army observation posts in the Brooke Park area of Londonderry early today, an army spokesman said. One man was seen to fall and the other was seen being dragged away. There were no army casualties, he said.

Time will stand still

LONDON (UPI)—Time will stand still for one second at midnight, June 30.

The pause is necessary to bring radio signals from the Royal Greenwich Observatory, which are used to set clocks all over the world, back to true Greenwich Mean Time (GMT).

When the observatory sends out its midnight time signal June 30, it will first send six short beeps to mark the five seconds from 55 to 60, then pause for one second before the long tone which marks exactly midnight.

Since the beginning of this year the radio time signals have been maintained in agreement with the atomic time scale, which is three-thousandths of a second a day faster than the rotation of Earth.

Idaho's minimum wage to increase

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said today the Idaho minimum wage will increase from $1.40 an hour to $1.60 per hour on July 1.

This is the first time since the original Idaho minimum wage law was passed in 1953 that it is the same as the federal minimum wage, he noted.

Although most workers are covered under the state minimum wage, there are some exceptions, such as domestic and agricultural workers, born-fide executive, professional or administrative employees, persons under the age of 16 working at odd jobs lasting less than four hours, and outside salesmen.

Concerning meals, Commissioner of Labor Bart Brown ruled that an employer may deduct up to $1 per day for one or more meals that are eaten by the employee. However, if the menu cost of the meal is less than $1, only the actual cost may be deducted.

Under the Idaho law, tips or gratuities may not be taken from an employee's wages, nor may they be applied to the employee's wages to raise them to the minimum wage of $1.60 per hour.

The governor further noted that only six states now have a minimum wage that is higher than Idaho's.

Kellogg mine cools Accused rapist ordered to stand trial in Boise

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — The rock walls had cooled down enough to allow the first inspection teams to enter the Sunshine Mine Tuesday to determine the cause of the fire that killed 91 men early last month.

The teams that entered the nation's richest silver mine included representatives of the Bureau of Mines, the Sunshine Mining Company, the state of Idaho and the United Steel Workers of America.

Mine General Manager Marvin C. Chase said the inspection is expected to continue for the next ten days, and hopefully the mine will return to production within two or three months.

BOISE (UPI) — Magistrate Gerald Schroeder has bound Richard D. Foster, Boise, over to district court for trial on six felony charges after two alleged rape victims identified him in court Tuesday.

Schroeder ordered Foster, a dairy worker, held for trial in the higher court on charges of forcible rape, second degree kidnapping, robbery and assault with a deadly weapon against Dinah Jackson.

He ordered him to be tried on charges of raping and robbing another Boise woman in a downtown business place.

Both women identified Foster in court during a preliminary hearing as the man who attacked and robbed them. Mrs. Jackson, the wife of Larry Jackson, Boise, a former major league baseball pitcher and presently state representative, said he threatened her with a gun, once firing it out a car window right beside her head. The other woman said he struck her at least three times—twice in the face and once in the stomach. Mrs. Jackson said Foster attacked her June 13 after he came to her home in the Highlands—in north Boise—in the morning and used her telephone while ostensibly trying to locate someone who lived in the area. She said he returned about 3:30 p.m. that day and asked to use the phone again.

Gem candidates active

Idaho Political Roundup by United Press International

A Republican candidate for Congress told a Emmett gathering Tuesday that he was not in favor of a total ban on DDT. Wayne Kidwell, First Congressional District candidate, told the Emmett Lions Club that total ban on DDT could cripple Idaho's economy this year.

Meanwhile, Democratic senatorial candidate William E. Bud Davis told Idaho Department of Highways engineers that tentative Interstate 15 project plans near American Falls would wipe out unique feeding grounds for whistling swans.

Meeting in Boise with deputy State Engineer Dean Tisdale, Davis said the damage would be caused by a fill of 40 feet from a frontage road in the Snake River in the area of Massacre and Register Rocks.

In Pocatello Tuesday, Dr. Gen Wegner, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, accused Republican Congressman James McClure of "playing politics with the people of Idaho." Wegner said McClure is trying to get back on the "good side" of Idahoans by "reversing his stand on many of the environmental issues."

Democratic candidate Byron Johnson told a Malad area group Tuesday that farm subsidies are making the American farmer a pawn of those who process, package and merchandise farm products.

He said in the past 25 years it has been proven the subsidy program doesn't work. Johnson told farmers the price of food in stores has risen 80 per cent while the price paid to farmers has increased only 23 per cent.

Republican State Chairman Majorie Miner said Tuesday that Democratic leaders in Idaho, including Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, have devised a curious double standard following their convention last week in Sun Valley.

She said they embrace their youthful delegates and encourage them to participate freely in drafting a platform — but now have said, in effect, "We'll take care of the real issues, children, when we get into the campaign."

Mrs. Miner noted that the governor has proudly stated that the young people were in Sun Valley writing the platform, but he has diluted his praise with a reminder that final positions on the issues will be hammered out in each legislator's district by the candidates themselves.

In other political news, Miss Jeanne Richmond, Coeur d'Alene, has been named state youth coordinator for the Purcell for Congress Committee.

3 women dead in Boise car wreck

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Three women employees of the Montana Army National Guard died early today when the car in which they were riding careened from Orchard Street into the New York canal near Gowen Field.

Police identified the victims as Spec. Joan Spencer, 25, Helena; Mrs. Marion Kruse, 45, also Helena; and Mrs. Michael Michael, 39, Bozeman. A spokesman for the Montana Army National Guard said they were on a visit to the guard training area near Gowen at the time of the accident, 1:41 a.m.

City police said the four-door sedan in which they were riding was going up Orchard Street when the driver apparently lost control and the vehicle went through a guard rail into the canal. Officers said there was no evidence of excessive speed. There were no witnesses to the accident, they said.

Sinatra secrets self at Palm Springs compound

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra would be a controversial figure on a deserted island off Cape Horn.

He abhors controversy and to that end has isolated himself as much as possible in Palm Springs, Calif., in a compound on the Tamarisk Country Club. His acreage runs almost the entire length of the 17th hole of that establishment—a long par 4.

Within the "compound" is Sinatra's home, several guest cottages, servants' quarters, the presidential wing which was added for JFK but never used, a swimming pool and tennis court, around which Sinatra sometimes jogs.

He purchased the house next door for his mother, Dolly Sinatra, who was until a few years ago a Democratic party functionary in his native New Jersey.

There are gates and guards to discourage the curious from invading this desert sanctuary. Nancy Sinatra, his first wife, continues to live in a Bel Air mansion, well cared for by her ex-husband. She, along with Sinatra's three children—Nancy Jr., Frank Jr. and Tina—are not infrequent visitors to the complex at Tamarisk.

Sinatra is 56 years old now. The sobriquet, "the thin singer," no longer applies. He has added girth. He is sensitive about his thinning hair and rarely is seen without a golf cap or with divots, (small hair pieces to camouflage the bald spots).

The former movie star, television personality, recording artist and nightclub entertainer, according to friends, is enjoying his retirement. He plays golf two or three times a week, but devotes much of his time at home entertaining a few close friends and reading volitionally.

One of his closest associates is Jilly "Tizzo," onetime New York saloon owner and restaurateur.

Sinatra has backed Jilly, who has sometimes been described as a bodyguard, in the restaurant business in Palm Springs.

Sinatra has become an active member on the desert community, helping raise money for a variety of civic projects, not the least of which is the Martin Anthony Sinatra Medical Education Center, in memory of his late and beloved father.

This Sinatra is a different man from the days of his so-called "rat pack." Deaf Martin is no longer a close friend. He does not speak to Peter Lawford, Sammy Davis is an infrequent visitor, Joey Bishop is not his pal.

Like The Godfather. In the book he despised, Sinatra is more than ever concerned with his family, past and present. In addition to Nancy and his children, Sinatra has quietly done what he can to help ex-wife Ava Gardner's career.

The exception is Mia Farrow, his third and most recent wife. That generation-gap marriage left Sinatra alone and confused. He doesn't speak of her. Nor does anyone else in his presence.

Yet Sinatra's loyalty cannot be underestimated. An old friend down on his luck can expect a generous loan with no expectation of repayment. He has sent one of his two private jets winging to bring a desperately ill child to a hospital.

His donations to worthy causes are generous beyond belief. Still, he flies into outrageous temper when his good deeds are brought to light.

The same loyalty Sinatra shows former wives and old associates has brought him trouble with the government.

The House Crime Committee wants to question him now about his ownership in Massachusetts' Berkshire Downs race track, since closed. The committee is interested in whether co-owners of the race track were involved with Sinatra in other ventures.

Those co-owners were Mafia bigwigs Raymond Patriarca and Gaetano "Three Finger Brown" Luchese, late boss of a New York Mafia family. Coincidence?

Spouses invited to camp

TWIN FALLS — Wives and families of 321st Engineer Battalion, U.S. Army Reserve members, Twin Falls, are invited to participate in the summer training program.

Major Dale E. Knox, commander of the unit headquartered at Boise, said residence areas for dependents of unit members are being set up in Silver Falls State Park. Ore., site of the two-week training program.

Silver Falls is about 20 miles from Salem, Ore. During free-time reservists will have access to the Pacific Coast, about 80 miles away, and to Portland, about one and one-half hours by car. Silver Falls is on the edge of the Willamette Valley, famous for its scenery and the abundance of good hunting and fishing found nearby.

Several members with mountain climbing experience plan an assault on nearby Mount Hood during the encampment.

"We'll have plenty of work to get done there," Knox said, "but it's been a long while since we've camped in an area with the recreational facilities of Silver Falls. We've got a good area where wives and families can stay at no cost. I hope as many of our people as possible take advantage of it."

In addition to the Twin Falls unit, the battalion includes line companies in Coeur d'Alene, Wallace and Ogden.

IRS tells of policy changes

BOISE — Calvin E. Wright, Internal Revenue Service district director for Idaho, has announced a new policy concerning economic stabilization matters.

Under the new policy, any person 21 years of age or over may represent others before the IRS in economic stabilization matters upon filing a properly executed power of attorney with the local IRS office.

Previously, only attorneys and certified public accountants could appear in a representative capacity.

Form S-58, which will be available in late July, will be used to file a power of attorney in stabilization matters. In the meantime, Form 2848, power of attorney, may be used, Wright said.

4-H camp ready for business

KETCHUM — Work is being completed on the Central Idaho 4-H Camp north of Ketchum in preparation for the first camping session Wednesday.

The 14-acre camp serves 4-H groups in 11 central Idaho counties and draws campers between the ages of 9 and 19. Set in a heavily wooded area, the camp is located about 15 miles north of Ketchum, west of the Russian John Ranger Station. About $23,000 in construction was conducted this year, using volunteer labor. New facilities include eight cabins, replacing camping tents, erected on rough lumber floors — a three-bedroom cooks' cabin and a two-bedroom caretaker's cabin; which will also house the commissary.

Construction costs were partially covered by a Farmer's Home Administration loan, with the remainder supplied by 4-H organizations and private donations.

Jaycees at Buhl hear candidate

BUHL — George Hansen told Buhl Jaycees Monday night there are "clear and decisive differences" between himself and the other candidates for the U.S. Senate.

Referring to his terms in the U.S. Congress and his service as deputy undersecretary of agriculture, Hansen said he has more combined experience in high levels of the federal government than any of his opponents. He said this experience gives him a first hand working knowledge of how legislation is passed and how it is administered after becoming law.

Hansen said that while many candidates talk about helping agriculture and saving the family farm, he is the only one pledged to work for a seat on the U.S. Senate Agriculture Committee, where the basic decisions are made.

"That committee is broad and better to Idaho," Hansen said. "It is ridiculous that not one senator west of Kansas sits on the agriculture committee to represent western agriculture."

Penance

DEER MOON, Iowa (UPI) — A patrolman who shot a dog whose barking, he said, kept him awake will remain on the force but will have to work two of his regular days off without pay.

Police Chief Wendell Nichols said officer Timothy Cunningham displayed "not the best judgment in the world." Cunningham was off duty when he used his revolver to shoot the dog, which belonged to the former wife of a fellow policeman.

Chamber at FG has pool data

GLENN'S FERRY — The Glenns Ferry Chamber of Commerce met Monday noon at Hansen's Cafe.

John Hiler, Mountain Home, presented figures and diagrams on the swimming pool that Mountain Home has constructed. Glenns Ferry is considering such a project and is gathering information.

Summer crafts program starts

JEROME — A summer marionette theater arts and craft program starts this week at the home of Mrs. R. J. Reichard.

The classes will be held twice a week for six weeks culminating in a special fairland production for the public, according to Mrs. Reichard.

Youngsters taking art, beginning glass violin or puppet theater should call Mrs. Reichard, 324-2195 after 5 p.m.

Mrs. Reichard said that Christine Bertus, Wendell, an art major at Pullman, Wash., will teach the art class. Mrs. Ronald Pippett will begin a pilot program in class violin.

She explained that a small fee will be charged for the violin lessons. No other charges will be asked for the other classes which are made possible by a grant from the Arts and Humanity Commission.

CIRCUS DAY at Sunrise Park brought out children of all ages in costumes of all types. Here some of the youngsters play games dressed in prize winning clown and other costumes. Phyllis Chaplin, director, leads the game in clown costume. This week is international week at the park playgrounds.

TF playground program becomes international

TWIN FALLS — Playground programs in Twin Falls parks this week have taken on an international flavor.

Each of the city's seven playgrounds will be observing customs of some foreign country each day this week. Children are encouraged to wear costumes and bring information and articles for display from other countries.

Frank Scherper, playground director for the Twin Falls City Recreation Department, said all parks have supervised programs underway daily Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

At Sunrise Park, Phyllis Chaplin, director, said she plans to climax the week with a special program on Friday. A Mexican pinata, fresh whole pineapple and coconuts and fortune cookies will be served for refreshments.

While most of the children participating in the program are of grade school age, there are no restrictions on program participants. Most of the pre-school children are accompanied by older brothers or sisters, she said.

Other playground directors include Janie Higgenbotham, Harmon Park; Bill McCaen, South Park; Mike Tinker, Drury Park; Cynthia Jensen, Harry Barry Park; Delana Crockett, Harrison Street Park; Connie Lewis, city park; and Marsha Foster, a roving director assisting at the various parks.

Jerome cable TV improved

JEROME — The cable television system in Jerome will be improved this summer, said Ron Schmidt, manager.

Idaho Video, which provides cable coverage to Jerome and Gooding, was purchased earlier this year by Bill Ross. Several months ago Idaho Video received permission from the Jerome City Council to mount a microwave dish on the east side of the city water tower.

Schmidt said the dish arrived Monday and should be mounted on the tower by the first part of July if Idaho Video receives approval from the Federal Communications Commission. He said delay in erecting the dish has been caused by the company not receiving final approval on its amended application to the FCC.

The original application asked for the dish to be mounted at the old Idaho Video office in the 200 block of South Lincoln. When the office was moved four blocks south, a 150-foot free-standing tower would have to be installed in order to get the dish high enough to make a direct frequency wave with the monitoring station presently located on the butte east of Jerome, Schmidt said.

Because of the cost of installing the tower, a two-year agreement was made with the City Council to mount the dish on the water tower, Schmidt added.

Schmidt said Ross, in addition to installing the dish which will greatly improve cable television reception in Jerome and Gooding, is planning to re-ramp the entire Jerome cable system. The cable official said new cable lines and amplifiers will also be installed.

The system will be expanded to include new local housing

Open house for center at Stanley

STANLEY — An open house for the Salmon River Emergency Medical Center is scheduled Saturday and Sunday in Stanley.

The new facility will be open from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on both days.

The facility is housed in the log house next to the Stanley Post Office, formerly the home of the C. A. Gregorays. It is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Larson who have donated the use of it until a more permanent location can be found.

The center is 80 per cent equipped. The center is staffed by Mrs. Marie Osborn, Boise, a registered nurse. She spent six months in Boise and Seattle at the University of Washington training to be an emergency nurse practitioner.

She works under the direction of Dr. Packer and Dr. Gwimer of Stanley.

Youngest White House aide deals with issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Douglas Hallet just turned 23 and already has made it to the White House — as one of the youngest persons to serve on a presidential staff.

He works in the office of Charles W. Colson, one of President Nixon's chief domestic advisers. Hallet is concerned, therefore, primarily (although not wholly) with domestic issues.

"Some of the projects we handle have to be done quickly for the President, special projects like congressional debate on Vietnam, or the campaign financing law, or the PTT case," Hallet said in interview with UPI.

"Then if the President decides he's not getting all the information he needs on special projects, like Spanish-speaking people or labor groups, youth or the elderly, we have to come up with suggestions for these."

But young Hallet adds, "I do a good bit of writing, drafting speeches and articles for Cabinet officers and the vice President."

It's hard work, he said. He arrives at his small office in the Old Executive Office Building next to the White House about 7:30 a.m. and stays he rarely leaves before 7:30 p.m.

"We do work very hard here, because the President does," he said.

Hallet graduated from Yale a year ago and had planned to go immediately to Harvard Law School. He decided to defer the law when he was offered a position on the White House staff.

He believes he may have attracted President Nixon's attention by a dispatch he wrote for the Wall Street Journal on a summer job because "he mentioned it at a press conference."

Hallet said he never has wavered in his political allegiance: "I've been a Republican all along, because it seems to me to be the party more likely to be libertarian."

His family does not present a united political front, however. His father, an Episcopal clergyman in Ross, Calif., a suburb of San Francisco, voted for Nixon in 1968 "but with not much enthusiasm."

"My parents had grave reservations about the war," he said, but reported they now are beginning to support Nixon more wholeheartedly.

Not his brothers. One is a conscientious objector, he said, and the other opposes the President.

Hallet's own confidence in Nixon is strong.

"The President promised to end the war responsibly, and I think he's doing that," Hallet said. "The President also indicated we should and will assist the Vietnamese in restoring their countries."

On the question of amnesty for draft evaders and deserters, Hallet, who is exempt from military service because of a heart condition, said that cannot be meaningfully determined while American troops still are involved in the war.

Save lives

Cassia Red Cross elects leaders, honors 2 youths

BURLEY — The annual Cassia County Red Cross Chapter meeting was held Tuesday at the Ponderosa Inn with reports, election of officers and awards.

Mike Matthews, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Matthews, Declo, was presented an engraved plaque for his actions in saving the life of Louise Moncur, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moncur, Declo.

Mike and Louise were among the students on a science field trip a few months ago. The class was looking over a gravel pit when the bank caved in and completely covered the Moncur girl. The Matthews youth was partly covered but he was able to free himself and dig the girl out.

Denise Savage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Savage, Heyburn, was also presented an engraved plaque for her actions in saving the life of a baby with whom she was babysitting. The infant was sleeping longer than Denise thought it should, help was summoned and the infant was taken to the hospital where aid was given.

William McGill, chairman of the Cassia County Red Cross Chapter, welcomed the group to the annual meeting. The colors were posted by Boy Scouts from Troop No. 20.

The financial report was given by Ormand Burch, treasurer. It was noted that $232 has been sent to assist with the Rapid City, S.D. disaster.

It was announced that William Wustein has been appointed as county Red Cross disaster chairman filling the vacancy of Rev. George Trobrough who moved from the area. Rex Stanley has been appointed assistant disaster chairman.

McGill reported briefly on the National Red Cross Convention he attended at San Francisco. (Continued on page 19)

Rupert council purchases pump

BY LEE TREMAINE

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council declared a threat of a "public calamity" Tuesday night in order to purchase a pump for a city well.

On advice of city attorney Bill Goodman, the council declared that an emergency existed in order to purchase a pump for one of the city's three water-supply wells which is out of commission.

Three bids were secured from suppliers without bids being advertised, due to the time element, the council noted. Goodman said Idaho law provides that equipment can be purchased without public bid in the event of an "extreme emergency."

The resolution adopted by the council noted that "one of the city wells used for fire protection and city water supply is inoperative," and that the council further "deems the situation to be a public calamity. In order to safeguard public health "the council authorized the purchase.

Bidders included waterworks Equipment Co., an out-of-state firm, quoting $7,004.80; Lesco Corp., Rupert, $6,595, and Layno Pump Co., Kimberly, bidding $6,113.

The Lesco bid was accepted by the council though it was second lowest of the bids, since the firm can supply the pump within seven days, service and repairs would be available locally and the firm is a local bidder.

The motion to purchase the pump from Lesco stipulated the pump must have a capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute and must be able to lift water 170 feet. In addition Lesco must be able to supply the equipment within seven days.

In other business the council heard a report on a poll of residents in the Grandview subdivision on a proposed street oiling project. A questionnaire had been sent to all residents in the area, asking whether they would approve the local improvement district charges necessary for the project.

An early tally indicated 18 residents have voted in favor of it opposing the project. The council tabled a decision pending completion of the poll.

Gooding girl runs for post

NAMPA — A young Gooding, delegate to Girls' State in Boise, Karole Greenawalt, is seeking election as Girls' State governor in today's elections.

Miss Greenawalt is a candidate for the Nationalist Party and is opposed by Karen Hunter, Roberts, hopeful of the Federalist Party.

Young women delegates from throughout Idaho are attending the annual governmental sessions and mock elections in Nampa. In addition to a governor, the girls will elect a lieutenant governor today.

Buckaroo rodeo set for Buhl

BUIH — Trophy buckles will be awarded winners in each event at the Little Buckaroo Rodeo at 8 p.m. today and Thursday at the Buhl arena.

The rodeo is sponsored by the Buhl Knight Riders. Highlight of the show will be the crowning of the new queen at the final performance.

Judges for this competition will be Justin Nowak, Buhl, and DeAnn Bell, Twin Falls.

Terri Stewart is the reigning queen and some 15 contestants are expected in the event.

Council of Governments hears plans at Jerome

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — During the Magic Valley Council of Governments meeting in Jerome Tuesday, county officials reported problems on three fronts.

Commissioners from eight counties examined the regional airport question, weed control and animal disposal.

Jerome County commission chairman John Van Orman read the group a letter from George Forschler. The letter asked the counties to pay for clerks and judges in the primary elections for Regional Airport Authority trustees.

Forschler, chairman of the Regional Airport Authority board, in the letter, said the authority would incur the expenses for legal notices and ballots. Van Orman said the counties will not hire extra clerks or judges especially to handle the trustee elections. Commissioners voted to prorate the cost of clerks and judges and bill the authority rather than absorb the entire expense.

Of the five counties that have agreed to participate in the regional airport concept, only

Jerome and Lincoln counties have paid their share of research and development money.

Ben Heggens, Jerome County weed control extension agent, met with the commissioners to discuss budgeting for weed control along Union Pacific Railroad rights-of-way.

Some counties complain they do not receive enough money from the railroad to do the job properly. Others said the money does not come in time to make weed eradication relevant. In some cases, counties have received the railroad money after weeds have gone to seed.

Currently, Union Pacific budgets money for weed control in the counties along its tracks. The counties accomplish the weed control at their own expense and then are reimbursed by the railroad.

Commissioners asked that a railroad representative meet with the group at the September meeting to discuss budget and payment delays. They also asked their own weed control agencies to clean up fields bordering the right-of-ways so they will have a bargaining lever when the group meets with the UP representative.

Van Orman told commissioners his county has decided to dig an animal pit for disposal of dead animals. The "pit" concept will be used on an experimental basis while the county evaluates public response to the idea. During the trial period, the county will not charge for disposal of animal carcasses.

Several county representatives said they were having trouble at public landfills where carcasses are being dumped without permission.

Cassia County has erected a fence and gate around its landfill but the new material has been crashed into and run over. They have asked for and been guaranteed, cooperation with the Cassia County sheriff's department in apprehending violators of the dumping regulations. Weldon Beck, Cassia County commission chairman, said he would personally sign a complaint against persons found dumping carcasses illegally.

General agreement among commissioners was that a permanent caretaker should be on duty at landfills to police the areas.

New enforcement plan

JEROME — The regional director of the food stamp program told Magic Valley County commissioners Tuesday he has a new enforcement plan.

Theo Murdock, Twin Falls, addressed commissioners from eight counties at the second quarterly meeting of the Council of Governments.

Murdock said the biggest problem with the food stamp program has been lack of staff and problems with policing eligibility of food stamp recipients.

He said migrant workers in the Magic Valley have been a problem to the food stamp agency because it is difficult to ascertain their incomes and work histories. Murdock said there is a need for new guidelines because the program has grown larger since its beginning two years ago.

Murdock told the group he is setting up a new program and will ask them to assist him in administering it.

Murdock's new plan calls for a trained staff member in each county who will have time allotted for checking into complaints of food stamp violations.

The staff member would check into work histories and eligibility of those who apply for the stamps.

He said most violations occur when fraud is involved, when overpayment is given and fathers not paying child support are absent from families applying for stamps.

The stamp man said his staff would be sent to locate absent fathers and when found, submit them for prosecution.

To make sure of his staff system, Murdock would have checkers collect $4 for $1 spent on search and location processes. If collections are not made, the staff member loses his job, said Murdock. He said, by charging the $4, the system could become self-supporting and return more money to the counties.

Murdock already has one enforcement plan in operation. He said his agency is currently taking applications for food stamps at the Twin Falls Labor camp.

This way, said Murdock, labor camp officials can verify residency, eligibility and work history requirements of applicants.

One eligibility requirement assesses a family's ability to work by the amount of money the combined family could make if working in a period of one month. On that criteria, eligibility for food stamps will be determined.

In the past, the eligibility requirement was based on the amount of money a family had actually made during the past 30 days prior to application for food stamps.

Murdock told commissioners this system had greatly reduced the number of migrant workers receiving stamps in Twin Falls County. He said the program has been expanded to automatically register stamp applicants with the Department of Labor if they are out of work at the time of application.

If the applicant is given a job lead and refuses to take the job, the agency refuses to give him food stamps for a period of one year.

Some features of the current program, said Murdock, allow those without a job skill to train for one. He said the agency is also working to find jobs for those applicants who already have a skill.

The training program is designed to allow applicants jobs so they will not have to depend on public assistance, welfare and food stamps for the rest of their lives, said Murdock.

SV facility renamed Hailey theft eyed

City Clerk Robert Ackerman reported numerous complaints have been received about dogs running around the city. As a result, the clerk said the council may have to enforce the law which sets a maximum fine of $100 or 10 days in jail, or both, for uncontrolled or unlicensed dogs.

A further law, Ackerman said, allows only two dogs per household. However, he said the licensing and impoundment ordinance exempts dogs owned by visitors, who are staying in Sun Valley for less than 30 days. But the dogs must be licensed by another municipality and be kept on a leash.

The clerk requested the council to consider establishing impoundment fines as well as authorizing the police to pick up dogs and place them in a temporary pound. Presently, the city shares a dog catcher with Ketchum.

Innes said Sun Valley may have to consider a joint pound with Ketchum because the Bellevue pound will not be available after July 1.

In other action, the council referred a traffic ordinance to the Sun Valley Co. for review. The ordinance would expand jurisdiction of the city police to private roads and property. Ackerman said the police were currently "handicapped" by not being able to work throughout the city.

HAILEY — Investigation is continuing today into the theft of about $200 from a Hailey motorcycle shop.

According to Hailey Police Chief Roy Innes, the theft occurred sometime between 2 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. The officer said a rear window had been "jimmied" and a safe broken into at the Sawtooth Cycle.

From $180 to $200 in cash was stolen, but no merchandise was taken.

Recommendations at the conclusion of Tuesday's hearing, McQuade said the testimony will be considered at length by the entire council before any conclusions are reached.

Members of the council, in addition to McQuade, include Charles (Chick) Jante, Buhl; Pat Woodworth, American Falls; C. L. (Doc) House and Tom Miller, both Boise, and First District Judge Dan Cogswell, Sandpoint.

Jerome hires director

JEROME — The Jerome City Council Tuesday night agreed to hire a city works director.

The council approved unanimously a request by Mayor Jack Russell to begin advertising in newspapers and the magazine Idaho Cities for a combination engineer-public works director.

Mayor Russell said he was not downgrading the work the council has done. "I feel that each member of this council has done an outstanding job over the last 10 months, with all members pulling double duty."

"Jerome is growing and it looks like it will continue to grow, and we need a city works director who is available at all times to help solve the problems which come up," he said.

He noted that before anyone is hired, a thorough investigation will be made of the man's background. It was pointed out by Councilman S. N. Weeks that the major problem is going to be finding a good, qualified person who will work for what we can afford to pay, and not leave in a couple of years for a better job.

Jerome has been without a city works director since Mel Morris resigned under pressure last year. The council also unanimously approved the permanent appointment of Howard DuBois as chief of police. DuBois was on a 90-day probation period.

The possibility of drawing up a city ordinance which would govern the old cars and other junk that have accumulated in several areas around town was discussed.

Chief DuBois reported on an ordinance which Twin Falls has noting it has been very effective in getting people to clean up their areas. DuBois said that the four cases that did go to court were won "hands down."

The council decided to investigate the ordinance and draw up definite conclusions at its next meeting.

A motion to change the next City Council meeting from July 4 to July 5 was approved.

The council voted to grant the Jerome swimming team $200 to cover expenses and provide a life guard. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nelson, who are in charge of the swimming team, met with the council, and said the team now has 50 members with more wanting to join.

Mrs. Nelson said the team is open to any child up to age 17 who can swim.

A request from Mountain Bell

Telephone Co. to bury telephone cables in the Hillcrest subdivision was approved.

Mayor Russell informed the council that the July 12 meeting with students from Idaho State University, Pocatello, who conducted a survey of Jerome and 17 other communities, will be held at the courthouse at 7 p.m. rather than at the city hall.

Chief DuBois asked the council to give serious thought to the problem of people jaywalking in the downtown area. "The traffic in the downtown area is steadily increasing, and if something isn't done about the jaywalking, I'm afraid we're going to have a fatality," DuBois said.

He requested that the city repaint the crosswalks in the downtown area, noting that he intends to start cracking down on motorists who are violating the pedestrians' right-of-way.

Magistrate system aired at Burley

County officials described an increase in costs they have experienced, paying the magistrates' salaries, which combined with a slump in revenue, is causing increasingly severe budgetary problems.

The problem of bail bonds came in for a good deal of criticism. James B. Lynch, Boise, reporter for the council and chairman of the Idaho State Bar Court Reform Movement, said too many people apparently misunderstand the purpose of a bond.

A bail bond is not meant to be punitive in nature, and must not be assessed as a penalty. Lynch said. Judges set bonds as a financial guarantee that a defendant will appear in court. Several at the hearings agreed magistrates frequently set bonds too low, and all too often, releases the defendant on his "own recognizance," accepting his word that he will appear in court as ordered.

"We spend our time and effort locating and arresting a suspect, only to have the judge release him without bond, and all our effort is wasted," was a comment heard several times. Burley Policeman Jim Higgins said the Cassia magistrate refuses to heed appeals from officers to set a high bond to hold a suspect in the area until he can be brought to trial.

The state's magistrates were appointed two years ago, with their records to be reviewed this year by the magistrate commission in each judicial district.

The commission is composed of a county commission chairman of each county, plus a mayor appointed by the governor and several attorneys for legal counsel.

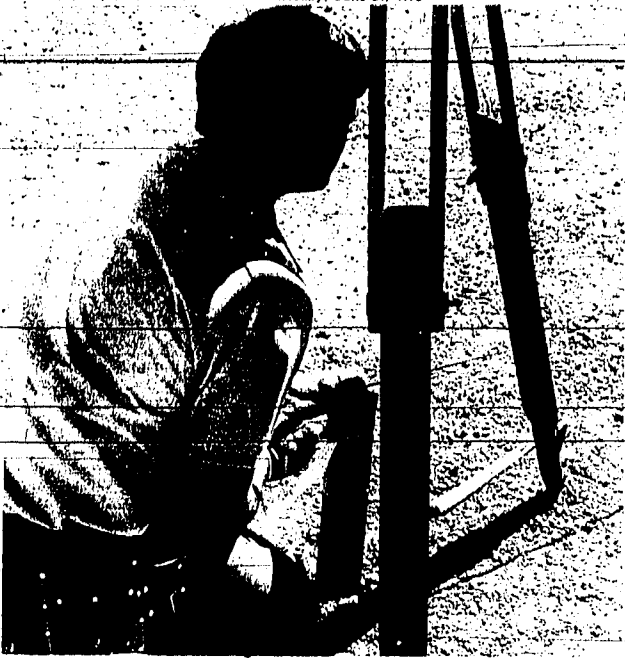

Wayne Hollenbeck, Mindoka County commission chairman and head of the magistrate review commission in the fifth district, said he has seen "no problems" with the operation of the system.

Many of the civic officials were asked whether appointment of a statewide court administrator to oversee the court system would bring objections from magistrate court personnel. Most officials said they could see no problem.

The council made no recommendations at the conclusion of Tuesday's hearing. McQuade said the testimony will be considered at length by the entire council before any conclusions are reached.

Surveys for center

THE NORTHERN PERIMETER of the new Skaggs-Albertson's shopping center in Burley is surveyed with care by Dennis Osterhout, employee of the Southern Idaho Land Survey Co. Contrary to the usual format of businesses facing the street, the new two-in-one store will face east, toward the nearby Snake River.

Ailing culvert repaired

WATERMASTER BRYAN WANZEL directs surgery on an ailing culvert. The A and B Irrigation District crew used a "scalpel" scoop bucket to cut away silt and weed growths hampering the flow of water through the culvert. The operation required the culvert to be lifted out, the ditch cleaned and then replacement of the culvert leaving a "small scar" that will dry and "heal" after a time. The operation took place northeast of Rupert Monday.

Big paint job

NEW YORK (UPI) Paint makers must face merger makers.

The nation's longest railroad, the 26,000-mile Burlington Northern, says it's spending more than $20 million to repaint its locomotives and 113,000 freight cars cascade green. That was the new corporate color selected when the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Great Northern and Northern Pacific merged two years ago.

What ham did for Virginia, Old Crow did for Bourbon.

Even before Virginia's George Washington became President, Virginia was famous for the good taste of her country hams. Not long after, the excellent Old Crow made Bourbon famous.

Before 1835, Bourbon was made every which way. That year Dr. James Row took it out of the hit or miss league and created the process that gave Bourbon its mellow taste and good name Old Crow.

Rico Carty is good bet to receive comeback of year award for Atlanta

BY DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — If Rico Carty doesn't get the "comeback of the year" award this time around, he ought to demand a congressional investigation.

You'll recall that the Atlanta Braves outfielder batted .342 in 1969 after spending the previous season in a tuberculosis sanitarium. But that the "ward" that year went to the Mets' Tommie Agee who hit .271.

And, of course, he didn't get it in 1970 when he led the majors in hitting with a .366 mark since by then the TB hit was two seasons old.

But the injury-prone Dominican got a second shot at the comeback award when he tore up his right knee in December 1970 and missed the entire 1971 season — and, when you take into consideration the fact that he is currently hitting at a .327 clip, you've got to figure Rico as the leading candidate for the title that eluded him three years ago. Missing out on honorary titles is nothing new for Rico Carty. Remember when Richie Allen was named rookie of the year in 1964 after batting .318 with 29 homers and 91 RBIs? Well, Carty was a rookie that year also and he hit .330 with 22 homers and 88 RBIs.

Despite missing one full season because of tuberculosis and another because of that torn up knee, despite suffering through the '68 season with a shoulder injury that say his average dip all the way down to .255; and despite the fact that he was plagued by three shoulder separations in 1969 (when he hit that .342 in 104 games), Rico Carty has the highest career batting average of all active players.

Look at the record: .330 as a rookie, then .310 and .326 before that bum shoulder dropped him to .255 in '67; up to .342 the year after the bout with TB and then, up to .366 — best mark in the majors in 13 years.

That averages out to .322 for six playing years and here's Rico, now 34 and launched on yet another comeback trail, hitting five points higher than that so far this season.

A lot of people felt that Rico Carty could not make another comeback; that the injury that tore up his knee finished his career.

Carty never agreed.

The outspoken but deeply religious outfielder stood before a microphone in Atlanta stadium last August and told a crowd on what had been billed as "the beeg boy is back" night:

"I am sorry that you have been misled. I am not yet ready to play again. But, believe me, with God's help, Rico Carty will play again. I will be back."

Spring drills answered few questions about Carty's condition. The knee seemed sound but other problems arose and Rico saw little action the first week of this season.

"We'll never know what I can do unless they let me play," Carty complained. "I can't just sit on the bench. I know I can do the job if they'll just let me in there."

The night of April 18, manager Luman Harris gave Carty the green light against the Los Angeles Dodgers — Rico's first starting role since Sept. 24, 1970, 19 months before.

The Braves were held to four hits that night — but Rico Carty got two of those and has been playing and hitting regularly since.

Twins sweep doubleheader

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Eric Soderholm hit a three-run homer in the first game and Cesar Tovar singled home two runs and scored another in the nightcap as the Minnesota Twins swept a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 7-3 and 3-1 Tuesday night.

The Twins got route-going performances from Jim Kaut and Dick Woodson, each of whom allowed six hits. Woodson did not allow a Cleveland batter past second base until John Lowenstein ruined his shutout bid with a one-out homer in the ninth inning. It was Lowenstein's first homer of the season.

Minnesota scored all three of its runs in the nightcap as the second inning as Tovar singled home Jim Nettles and Soderholm, then stole second base and scored on Panny Thompson's single.

Woodson, in evening his record at 5-5, struck out six batters.

In the opener, Minnesota jumped off to a commanding 7-2 lead with a four-run rally.

Home runs lift Expos past Reds

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Bob Bailey and Ron Fairly hit home runs to power the Montreal Expos to their second consecutive victory over the Cincinnati Reds by a score of 7-2 Tuesday night.

Carl Morton, with late-inning relief help from Joe Gilbert and Mike Marshall, gained his third victory in seven decisions as the Expos handed the Reds their fourth loss in the last five games.

Marshall came on with two runners on and gave out in the ninth inning and cut short a Red rally to gain his fifth save of the season.

Fairly's home run, coming after a leadoff single by Tim McCarver in the fourth inning, sent the Expos ahead 3-2 and they added two more runs in the fifth inning to send Red starter Jim McGlothlin to the showers with his fifth loss in eight decisions.

A triple by Clyde Mashore and Terry Humphrey's sacrifice fly gave the Expos a sixth run in the eighth inning and Mike Jorgensen singled home the final run in the ninth.

Joe Morgan's eighth home run of the season accounted for one of the eight hits Morton yielded before giving way to Gilbert in the seventh inning.

Movie shows effects of nitrogen

PORTLAND Ore. — A motion picture depicting nitrogen supersaturation conditions on the Columbia and Snake Rivers has been released by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

"They Will Survive," a 16mm color film that runs for 10 minutes, shows the effects of the Nitrogen Task Force to combat the nitrogen problem which threatens salmon. Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, in cooperation with the governors of Washington and Oregon, requested the research by the task force to cut the nitrogen saturation to safe levels.

Copies of the film are available from the North Pacific Division, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, 240 Custom House, Portland, Ore. 97209, for showing to service clubs, schools and general audiences.

Ball results

Paris Culligan topped Bill Lakes Volkswagen 12-1 Tuesday night in the city slushtech action. Rich Cooke homered for Paris.

In other action, Eyewood Standard beat Stan's Chevron 12-3; Ford Transfer beat Green Kimberly Seed 11-5; Maxie's Pizza blanked Twin Falls Bank and Trust 15-0; The Alby beat Honey Seed 17-2 and Royal Lounge beat Master Sheet Metal 21-6.

Earl Monroe has surgery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl "The Pearl" Monroe, star backcourtman for the New York Knicks of the NBA, was operated on Tuesday morning for removal of bone spurs from his left ankle.

The surgery, performed by team physician Dr. Andrew H. Patterson, was to remove two bone spurs which caused Monroe pain most of last season. He will remain in the hospital until Friday and will have a cast on his foot for about 10 days.

Cardinals nip San Diego 5-4

ST LOUIS (UPI) — Joe Torre hit a sharp grounder to second base that was bobbled by Derrel Thomas to allow Lou Brock to score from third base and give the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory in 10 innings over the San Diego Padres Tuesday night.

Brock, who had not got a hit in four times at bat, hit a one-out single up the middle and advanced to second on Ted Sizemore's single to left. Both runners then advanced on a wild pitch by reliever Gary Ross to set up the game-winning score.

Rick Wise, who pitched 10 complete innings before being lifted in the Cardinal half of the 10th, earned the victory, his sixth against seven losses.

Jerry Morales, who earlier in the game committed an error in center field which led to a Cardinal run, tied the game at 4-4 with a two-run homer in the top of the eighth. Morales' drive to the lower deck in left field scored Thomas, who was in the game running for pinch-hitter Curt Blefary, who had singled to right.

The Cardinals jumped out to a 3-0 lead with two runs in the second and another in the third before San Diego rallied to within one run in the fourth.

Morales' error in the seventh allowed leadoff better, Dal Maxvill to get on first and he eventually scored on Enzo Hernandez' error to make it 4-2.

Ted Simmons hit a leadoff triple to right-center in the second inning and Matty Alou bent out an infield hopper.

Bruins sign Rechie Leduc

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Bruins announced Tuesday that center Rechie Leduc, obtained from the California Golden Seals, has signed a multi-year contract with the National Hockey League champions.

Leduc came to Ter's with General Manager Milt Schmidt while he was in Boston for an examination of his injured hand.

Leduc, 21, became Boston property at the end of the 1971-72 season as the "other player" in the deal which sent Ivan Boldirev to the Seals last winter.

He spent most of the season on loan from the Seals to the Boston Braves of the American Hockey League, the Bruins' top farm club, where he scored 27 goals and had 31 assists.

Winds rip finish of yacht race

HAMPTON, Bermuda (UPI) — Towering seas and gusts of wind as high as 50 knots made a shambles of the finish of the Newport to Bermuda yacht race on Tuesday, but there were no reports of serious injuries.

The race winds' affected the stream-out fleet of 178, which had left Newport, R.I., on Friday.

Craft in trouble in the rolling waters included three dismasted. Napenthe, owned by Vincent Learson of Armonk, N.Y., had engine trouble after being dismasted and was being towed in by the tug Bermudun. Skylark also lost its mast 130 miles from port but was making headway under power. La Forra Del Deshine lost its rudder off North Rock and was using sails to steer.

Murcer sparks

Yankee victory

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bobby Murcer drove in three runs with a homer, and a sacrifice fly and Sparky Lyle picked up his 14th save Tuesday night as the New York Yankees edged the Kansas City Royals 4-2.

The Yankees, who now have won five straight games for their longest winning streak of the season, have won just 25 games all season and Lyle has had a direct hand in 16 of them with 14 saves and two wins.

He came on in the seventh inning in place of Mike Kekich with two on and two out and retired Amos Otis to end the inning. He was touched for an unearned run in the eighth inning on a run-scoring single by John Mayberry and then blanked the Royals in the ninth.

Murcer's homer, his eighth of the season, came off loser Dick Drago in the sixth inning. It boosted the Yankee lead to 3-0, after New York scored its first run in the second inning when Johnny Callison singled, stole second and scored on a single by Thurman Munson.

Murcer's sacrifice fly came in the seventh inning off reliever Tom Burgmeier.

Kekich, who allowed six hits in his 6-2-3 inning stint, picked up his sixth win. He allowed his only run in the seventh when Jerry May doubled and scored.

Texas defeats

Red Sox 5-2

BOSTON (UPI)—Dalton Jones clubbed a two-run homer and Toby Harrah stole three bases, scored twice and doubled in one run Tuesday night as the Texas Rangers whipped the Boston Red Sox 5-2.

Jones snapped a 1-1 tie in the top of the fifth inning by drilling Marty Pattin's pitch into the Boston bullpen in rightfield, scoring Harrah ahead of him.

Tommy Harper slammed his 10th homer of the year into the leftfield screen for Boston in the bottom of the fifth, but the Rangers extended their lead to 5-2 in the seventh as Harrah doubled to left to score Lenny Randle and pitcher Rich Hand scored on Don Mincher's ground ball.

The Red Sox took a 1-0 lead in the first inning as Harper hit for a base hit, stole second and scored on an infield out, and scored on Reggie Smith's sacrifice fly.

Texas tied the game two innings later on walks to Harrah and Jones, Harrah's steal of third base, and a single by Mincher.

Harrah's sacrifice fly in the seventh inning scored Mincher and put Texas ahead 5-2.

Houston dumps

New York 7-4

HOUSTON (UPI)—Lee May cracked a two-run homer to ignite a four-run rally and Bob Watson lined a two-run single to climax a three-run spree to give Houston a 7-4 victory over the New York Mets Tuesday night and vault the Astros into first place in the National League West.

The victory was the Astros' sixth straight and their ninth in their last 11 games.

May's homer, his 11th of the year, came in the fifth after Jim Wynn opened the inning with a single. Buzz Capra relieved loser Jim McAndrew and gave up two more runs on a walk to Doug Rader, a double by Tommy Helms and a single by Roger Metzger.

Houston, now a half game ahead of Cincinnati, had scored three runs in the third inning. Larry Howard opened with a single and, when Ken Forsch attempted to sacrifice, both runners were safe when the throw to second was too late.

Brewers topple

White Sox 7-1

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Jim Lonzburg scattered eight hits and George Scott batted in two runs Tuesday night as the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, and prevented Wilbur Wood from becoming the American League's winningest pitcher.

Wood, a knuckleballer who has won 11 games already this season, was touched for one run in the first inning when leadoff man Ron Theobald doubled, moved to third on Dave May's bunt single, and scored as Scott grounded into a double play.

Lonzburg coasted to his fourth victory of the season, striking out eight and walking one. Lonzburg, now 4-3, lost his shutout in the ninth on a run-scoring single by Jay Johnstone.

The Brewers scored again in the second off Wood when Bob Heise doubled and scored on a single by Rick Auerbach.

Wood retired the next 10 Brewers, but in the sixth, Theobald, May and Scott hit successive singles to make it 3-0.

Milwaukee added four more runs in the eighth on singles by Theobald, May and Scott, Johnny Briggs' infield error, and a two-run throwing error by second baseman Mike Andrews.

Flyweight champion retains title over Amores

TOKYO (UPI)—World Boxing Association (WBA) flyweight champion Masao Ohba of Japan Tuesday night survived a first round knockdown and knocked out challenger Orlando Amores of Panama in the fifth round of their scheduled 15-round title match.

Ohba, 22, succeeded in his fourth title defense before a capacity crowd of 10,000 at the Nihon University Auditorium.

Amores, 24, the WBA top flyweight contender, stunned the paragon capacity crowd by knocking down Ohba with a left hook to the jaw midway in the first round. He went hard for a knockout, but Ohba, who was not badly hurt, weathered the storm.

Although bleeding from a cut in his forehead, Ohba floored Amores for a mandatory eight count with a straight right to the jaw in the second round.

In the third round, Ohba scored with one-two punches to the face and body.

Amores began missing with wild overhead rights and right uppercuts in a desperate effort to score a knockout. Referee

Yanuku Yoshida, who had warned Amores for coming in low with his head in the first round, penalized Amores with a point in the third round for butting.

The two traded hard punches in toe-to-toe exchanges in an even fourth round.

Ohba became aggressive as the fifth round opened and sent the challenger reeling against the ropes with a hard right to the jaw. He then drove Amores, knockout in October, 1970 in against the ropes and held him there with a relentless two-fisted attack to the face and body. Amores was unable to take further punishment and went down.

He rose to his feet at the eight count, but was groggy and was counted out at two minutes of the round.

Ohba weighed 112, Amores 111.

Ohba succeeded in the fourth defense of his title which he won from Thailand's Berkrerk Chartvanchai with a 13th round knockout in October, 1970 in Tokyo. It was his 33rd win and 14th and one draw. For Amores, it was his second defeat against 28 wins in 30 fights.

After the fight Ohba told reporters "I didn't see the punch that downed me in the first. It exposed my weak defense. But the punch did not hurt me and I became confident I could get him in the later rounds."

Alabama is known as the Heart of Dixie or the Cotton State.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The last moved higher but narrowly Wednesday in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 5.55 at 954.77 shortly before 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was ahead 0.40 at 108.96.

Advances barely led declines, 669 to 591, among the 1,666 issues crossing the tape. The three-hour turnover amounted to 9,600,000 shares, compared with 9,140,000 traded during the corresponding period Tuesday.

Analysis noted much of the buying activity was centered in the glamors, electronics and computers. The rest of the list was relatively flat, they noted. American Airlines, which had a larger loss in May than in the comparable month last year, was the most active issue, off 1 1/2 at 40 1/4 on 161,000 shares, including a block of 127,000 shares at 40, off 1/2.

Monroe Auto Equipment was second-off at 43 1/2 on 155,000 shares, including a block of 153,000 shares at 43 1/2. Sperry (ind) was third, up 2 1/2 at 44 1/2 on 131,000 shares.

Among the glamors, Corning Glass rose 3 1/2, Avon Products 1 1/2, Walt Disney 1 1/2 and Polard 1 1/2. Winn-Dixie was off 2 1/2.

In the electronics and computers, point-size gamers included General Electric Westinghouse, Burroughs and Motorola. Control Data eased 1 1/2.

Fair, cooler through Thursday afternoon cloudiness. Lows tonight 32 to 42. Highs Thursday 62-65.

Outlook for Friday chance of showers.

Synopsis: A frontal system moving out of southeastern Idaho today brought scattered showers and thunderstorms to the mountains and was followed by strong gusty winds.

Partly cloudy skies will linger in the southeastern mountains.

Weather will be the rule over southern Idaho for the next few days.

Yesterday afternoon the high temperatures averaged 5 to 10 degrees warmer than Monday with 94 degrees at King Hill.

Lows this morning were mostly in the 50s but temperatures will return to the 40s tonight.

Rain was spotty during the past 24 hours and confined mostly to the mountains. A trace at Idaho Falls was the only valley rain reported.

The extended outlook for Friday through Sunday calls for partly cloudy skies Friday with a chance of showers as another fast moving front passes through the intermountain area.

Return to the 40s tonight.

MR. AND MRS. ARLO RICHARDSON

Christine Jensen, Richardson marry

TWIN FALLS — Christine Jensen and Arlo Richardson were married June 1 in rites at the Salt Lake City LDS Temple, with Florence Beesley officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne H. Jensen, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mattie Richardson, Las Vegas, and Albert Richardson, Greeley, Colo.

The bride wore an Alfred Angelo gown of polyester crepe, styled in a high rise princess line skirt which swept in to a chapel train. The Victorian fashion was carried out in the high-ruffled-neckband, pleated bodice and full sleeves. Alencon lace flowers and organza bow caplet held her elbow-length veil with a butterfly face veil of English nylon illusion.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompon daisies and pink roses with pink streamers.

Cynthia Jensen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Karen Larson, Provo, Utah, and Darla Richardson, and DeAnn Richardson, sisters of the bridegroom.

David Buell Heber, Utah, was best man.

The couple was honored at a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table was covered with white net trimmed with lace over blue satin. A three-tiered white cake was decorated with blue, pink and yellow roses, and was centered on a mirror encircled with pink carnations and white daisies. The cake was served by Mrs. Jane Tucker.

The guests were served at quartet tables covered with white net over pink satin and centered with spring bouquets with rainbow-colored ribbons in white baskets.

Raini Stoker, Roberts, Idaho, was in charge of the guest book. Vicki Lee Smith, Dubois, was in charge of the gifts. Scott Jensen, brother of the bride, served as usher.

Also assisting with the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. Donna Masoner, Mrs. Donnie Miller and Mrs. Phyllis Aarnott.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. James Thomas, Albion, Wyo.; Mrs. Mattie Richardson, Las Vegas, Nev.; Mrs. Kay Behn, Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine, Salem, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Blackfoot; Sheri Sifford, Provo, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Bateman, Shoshone.

The bride was graduated from Brigham Young University in May. The bridegroom also attended Brigham Young University and served two years in Vietnam.

After a honeymoon trip to Sun Valley, the couple will reside in Greeley, Colo., where the bridegroom is employed.

Bridal showers honoring the bride were hosted by her roommates at BYU, and also by Mrs. Laura Brown, Mrs. Mona Brown, Mrs. Catherine Ward, Mrs. Sophrona Bandy, Mrs. Donna Masoner, Mrs. Donnie Miller and Mrs. Roy Babbal at the home of Mrs. Laura Brown.

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS R. JONES

Mary Morris, Jones exchange promises

TWIN FALLS — The First United Methodist Church, Twin Falls, was the scene of the June 11 candlelight wedding which united in marriage Mary Elizabeth Morris and Douglas Raymond Jones.

Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Morris are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jones, all Twin Falls.

Rev. Mr. Morris performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with a candle arch and four branched candelabra, flanked by two baskets of lavender chrysanthemums and pink gladioli.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, John Carey Morris.

She wore an original gown styled by Edyth Vincent, made of silk organza over peau de soie, and trimmed with imported Chantilly lace. It featured a cathedral train of floor-length illusion, edged with lace, attached to a seed pearl crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Elfe roses and stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

Ruth Ann Morris, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridal attendants were Diane Parrott, Sandie Sharp and Mitzi Bryan, all Twin Falls, and Mimi Politt, Portland.

David Annis was best man.

Ushers were Ron Jones and Norman Jones, brothers of the bridegroom, and Gene Chilcote and Richard Chilcote, cousins of the bridegroom.

Scott McFarlane, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer, and his twin sister, Melissa, was flower girl. Mr. Henry Hoffman, Portland, was soloist, and was accompanied by Mrs. James Gibson, who also played the wedding marches.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church fellowship hall. Carolyn Barr, Portland, was in charge of the guest book. The gifts were received by Jean Burkhart, Molly Curtis, Patty Westbrook, Mary Pat Knight, Janet Parrott and Linda Gurrett.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length cloth overlaid with lace and centered with an arrangement of pink roses, carnations, and lavender chrysanthemums.

The four-tiered cake was decorated with pink roses and lilies of the Valley with silver accents. Arrangements of pink roses, lavender carnations and baby's breath in triple candelabra flanked the cake.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Louis Piggock, Mrs. John Burkhart, Mrs. Jerry Garrett, Mrs. Don Parrott, Mrs. Carl Boyd, Mrs. James Kelly, Mrs. James Vandenberg, Mrs. Ray Polly, Mrs. Russell Atcherson and Mrs. Betty Sharp.

Special guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.D. McFarlane, Graham, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. S.C. Morris, Sr., Denville, N.J.

Other out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Aldridge, Commancho, Tex.; Mrs. Lewis Pitcock, Graham, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Atcherson, Mrs. Ray Polly, Janice Polly, Steve McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Hoffman and Dr. and Mrs. Donald Chambers, all from Oregon.

After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will reside in Twin Falls.

The bride attended American University, Washington, D.C., where she majored in art. The bridegroom was graduated this spring from the University of Idaho where he majored in agriculture-business. He will do custom farming in Magic Valley.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn. Prenuptial showers and parties for the bride were hosted by Mrs. Howard Annis and Chris Annis and by Dianne Parrott, Mitzi Bryan and Ruth Morris.

Match fabrics

SHOSHONE — "You can end up with an unweavable garment if you don't match fabric to pattern."

This warning is given by Mrs. Jean Annett, Lincoln County extension agent.

If you buy a pattern labeled "for knit only," the suitable fabric to use with it is a stretchy knit. Stable knits (which have limited stretch) and woven fabrics will not work with this type of pattern.

For knits-only patterns have fewer darts and less ease than patterns designed for garments made from firm fabrics. They are often designed with few or no openings for buttons and zippers. Garments of this type must be made of stretchy knit so you can pull them on and off.

SCRUMPTIOUS CINNAMON ROLLS

- 1 cake yeast
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 1 cup lukewarm milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1 cup melted shortening
- 1 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cup sugar
- Cinnamon

Dissolve yeast in water. Add milk, sugar and one and one-half cup flour. Let rise until double in bulk.

Add eggs, salt, shortening and remaining flour to yeast mixture. Turn out on a floured pastry board and knead. Roll into a rectangle 9 by 25 inches.

Melt butter. Pour on just enough to cover dough thinly. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll like a jelly roll. Cut into sections and place in a greased pan. Let rise.

Cook at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Pour the remaining butter boiled with one-half cup brown sugar and one-fourth cup water over rolls. Bake 10 more minutes or until brown. Glaze with powdered sugar and milk while still warm. Makes 25 rolls.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor.

Bertha Bowlin, Keanaaina say vows

HAZELTON — Bertha Zetell Bowlin and Marcel Kalei Keanaaina were married in a double ring ceremony June 2 at the Hazelton LDS Church.

Bishop John Okelberry performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Hayden Bowlin, Hazelton, and Mrs. Ida Bowlin, Brigham, Utah, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keanaaina, Hawaii.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Clarence Bowlin, Twin Falls, wore a wedding dress of ivory tulle crepe fashioned as a haloku. Her white net veil was attached to a cap.

Mrs. Max Johnson, Brigham, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Nelson, Pat Shouse, Mountain Home, and Mrs. Bill McDonald, Hawaii, sister of the bridegroom.

Albert Medeiros, Hawaii, was best man. Ushers were Jack Bowlin, Shoshone, and Gene Bowlin, Hazelton, both cousins of the bride. Sonny Bowlin, Twin Falls, brother of the bride, and Max Johnson, Brigham, brother-in-law of the bride.

The chapel was decorated with white anthuriums for the ceremony.

Mrs. Barbara Udy provided organ music and Bishop George Mendenhall gave the wedding prayer.

For the reception after the ceremony, the gift table was covered with a white cloth and edged with small white orchids and decorated with two bouquets of red and pink anthurium. Mrs. Irene Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Louise Brutke, and Mrs. Dan J. Cooper cared for the gifts.

The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered white cake with malle at the base and topped with the traditional miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of lilies of the Valley and white lilies. Mrs. Max Johnson painted the bride and groom. The table was covered with a white cloth and draped in white lace tied with red bows.

Mrs. Lee Coulson, Mrs. Virgil Bowlin, Mrs. Eva Bowlin, Mrs. Clarence Bowlin and Mrs. Dan J. Cooper cut and served cake and served punch.

Guests were seated at quartet tables decorated with Hawaiian flowers. All flowers for the event were from Hawaii.

The newly wedded pair will reside in Brigham.

A Lovelier You

TAKE-OFF TACTICS

By Mary Sue Miller

If you wish to lose weight you have to cut calories. You know it, and there's no getting around it. You don't even have to take this column's word for it. More and more physicians are specializing in obesity.

But a Lovelier, often than calories, and equally vital to a successful outcome, are many behaviors. It is simply how to cut down without self-torture. Knowing the answer makes dieting less painful, and, that, of course, is what keeps you with it. You really could lose weight without a pang if you used these tactics while dieting.

Pin down the reason you want to lose. Is it for the sake of health, appearance, or morale?

Keep the reason in mind all the time, for it is the best means of stiffening your resolve.

Premise yourself a prize for losses, anything from a new dress to a smaller size to new shoes in a narrower width. (Your feet get smaller when you do it's a fact.)

Investigate the new diet foods. Don't stick up your nose at them. That is like cutting off your nose to spite your hips.

Exercise. Go on, do it! It's summer. Join the outdoor buffs. They're kinda cute and so healthy.

It's too late for this summer, you say? It's never too late. Start now and you would cut a fatter by August.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: "On the Verge" complained because his wife was "frigid." He described himself as "6 feet 2, well built, blond full of premature gray hair," etc.

Then "Sleeping Alone in Virginia" came back with the perfect rebut. She said, "There are no cold women only clumsy men."

I am a man in my middle 50s, and I am far from good looking. In fact, I'm a little heavy, not very tall, and you might even call me "homely," but I have been with plenty of women, and I have yet to find one that's frigid.

I am not saying this to brag, but once I was with a woman I had no trouble seeing her again. It's my opinion that if a woman is "frigid," it's because the man is selfish, impatient, inconsiderate or just plain stupid.

DOING ALL RIGHT.

DEAR DOING: You are living proof of what I have always contended. The ear is the most important organ in love-making. If a woman hears the right things from her lover, almost everything else is incidental. And you certainly say the right things, Mister.

DEAR ABBY: In this morning's paper there was another story about a child who was lost in the mountains while camping with his family. Why does this tragedy have to occur every year?

I would like to pass on a suggestion which we have used in years gone by because we too, were a camping family.

Each of us was equipped with a police whistle, which we wore around our necks. If one of us lost his direction or became separated from the others, he could just give a long toot, to let us know where to look for him. Children being children, there was a lot of miscellaneous tooting at first, but after the novelty wore off, our whistles became as important as our sleeping bags and sleeping bags.

Hopefully others can benefit from this idea.

EX CAMPER

DEAR EX: I'm sure many campers are aware of the toot method, but it doesn't hurt to remind those who don't. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to handle a problem that really upsets me.

My husband (44) and I (41) are a wonderful person, but when we go to visit my parents he walks in the door, says "Hello," and then he sits down and doesn't say anything else the rest of the time we are there.

My poor father tries so hard to make conversation with Dick, but he can't get a word out of him.

Dick has always been quiet, but this is inexcusable. He says he thinks the world of my parents, so what can I do?

HURT WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If he "thinks the world" of your parents, it's time he broke the sound barrier. For openness, suggest that he say something about the subject that interests both of them: Sports? Politics? Current events? Books? Entertainment? The person who sits in company like a wart on a pickle is making a statement. It's either, "I have nothing to say," or, "You aren't worth talking to."

DEAR ABBY: I have heard of a new father passing out cigars to celebrate the birth of a baby, but what do you think of a grandmother passing out cigars for a new grandchild? This really happened. In fact, she has done it twice already. Is it proper?

WONDERING IN WELLSBORO, PA.

DEAR WONDERING: I wouldn't criticize anyone for giving away anything in the spirit of joy and generosity.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Couple recites VOWS

BUHL—Sandy Sue LaPray and Armand Maurice Eckert were united in marriage June 9 in the Buhl LDS Church.

William J. Roberts performed the double-ring ceremony before background decorations of cathedral baskets holding yellow and white chrysanthemums and green Spier chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaPray, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Eckert, all Buhl.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Bridal Original gown of dacron and polyester organza. The gown featured an empire silhouette with scalloped lace forming the bodice and encircling the flounced hem and wattleau chapel train.

A lace camelot held her elbow-length veil with butterfly face veil of nylon illusion. She carried a bouquet of carnations and yellow roses.

Connie Rich was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Pamela Tordy and Kim Hahn. Collette Nelson, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Porter Nelson, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Normand Eckert, twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Richard Jagels, Richard Govin, Granville Eckert, Pat Elkin and Lyle Nelson.

Mrs. Don Mortenson, organist, accompanied Mrs.

MR. AND MRS. ARMAND M. ECKERT

Lyle Nelson, soloist. The wedding prayer was offered by Lynn LaPray, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in the LDS Cultural Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white embroidered cloth over lime green and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with green butterfies and yellow and white bells.

It was surrounded with green fern and yellow and white flowers, and flanked by two green candleholders. The green and yellow mints were made by Mrs. Dale Bell.

Round quarter tables were covered like the bride's table and were centered with satin bells. Lilies of the Valley and green net bows. In one corner of the hall was a white fountain with a background of topiary trees and flowering shrubs.

Mrs. Richard Cirtler and Carrie LaPray served the cake. Mrs. Max Clark served punch. Mrs. Granville Eckert and Mrs. Lynn LaPray received the gifts and Mrs. Lyle Nelson was in charge of the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the couple will reside in Buhl.

The bride and bridegroom will attend Boise State College this fall.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at Kay's Supper Club. Mrs. Olen Baggett and Mrs. Gordon Young hosted a shower for the bride at the Baggett home. Pamela Tordy and Kim Hahn hosted a shower at the home of Mrs. Emil Tordy.

National sewing contest starts

DENVER, Colo. — The 25th Anniversary of the national MAKE-IT-YOURSELF WITH WOOL (MIYW) Contest was launched recently with a kick-off luncheon at the Brown Palace Hotel.

Fabric Buyers and members of the press were on hand to learn more about the event which is co-sponsored by the Denver-based American Sheep Producers Council (ASPC) and the Women's Auxiliary to the National Wool Growers Association, Salt Lake City.

Susan White Sutherland, Neb., 1971-72 national winner in the Junior Division, was on hand to address the group, as were officials of ASPC.

The 1972-73 competition will for the first time allow young teen-agers to enter, following the same rules as those of the girls. Joyce Swanson, national director of the competition, announced the contest is now officially open for the thousands of teen-agers in the country who are adept with sewing, knitting or crocheting. Grand prize for the winners in the Junior and senior divisions will be a trip to Europe plus other prizes for district, state and national winners. The contest, which had 16,000 girls participating last year, is based on the contestant's sewing, knitting or crocheting skills with 100 percent wool loomed or spun in America. In addition contestants are judged on making garments.

Car show and swap set at TF

TWIN FALLS — A swap meet and car show sponsored by the Horseless Carriage Club will be July 9 at the Lynwood Shopping Center, Twin Falls.

Antique and "vintage" automobiles will be in the show, according to Kennedy Stuart, Jerome, general chairman for the event.

Stuart said anyone wishing to sell or swap parts or material can probably find a buyer or seller at the event.

He extended a special invitation to anyone desiring to enter the show to participate. "Prizes will include trophies for the best pre-1915 automobile and the best post-1915 automobile. A trophy will also be given to the car which traveled the longest distance," Stuart said.

He noted that plaques will be given to all entries of vintage or antique autos at the all-day meet.

"Biting concessions will be provided on the grounds," he said.

Stuart also said the club is planning a garage tour for July 18 at 1 p.m. Those wishing to participate are asked to gather at the Lynwood Shopping Center in front of Van's.

Jerome dog law in force

JEROME — Jerome Chief of Police Howard Dubois said Friday that the provisions of the city's leash law will be enforced.

Chief Dubois reminds residents that the provisions of the leash law are as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any owner or keeper of any dog whether or not the same has been licensed, to permit such dog at any time to run at large within the city. Violation of this section shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding $25 for each violation."

He noted that all dogs within the city must be licensed if more than 3 months of age.

"The officers of the Jerome Police Department will enforce this ordinance and will assist the dog catcher in the control of unlicensed or stray dogs," Dubois said.

Heliport at Nampa hospital

NAMPA — UPI — Mercy Medical Center has joined the "air age" to broaden its emergency capabilities by building a hospital heliport.

Back the third of its kind in Idaho, the heliport was laid out this month at the edge of the lawn bordering the southwest corner of the hospital. Workers put down a 10-by-40-foot pad for the "medicopter," its land, and painted it to the color of the hospital with a strip of sidewalk.

The jet heliport used is based at Mountain Home Air Force Base and has been involved in a number of local emergency rescues during the last five years. Should a disaster occur in the mercy area, the medical facility will have the landing area ready, according to a hospital spokesman.

Funds cut off

WASHINGTON — UPI — The federal government for the first time has cut off funds to a northern school district for failure to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Spokesmen for the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Department said Ferndale, Mich., a suburb of Detroit, would lose $350,000 in federal school aid unless it desegregates an all-black elementary school by the opening of the next school year.

The cutoff went into effect Monday but did not affect funds for the current school year, which is now ending.

Governor opposes festival

DENVER (UPI) — Lt. Gov. John Vanderhoof said Monday he had not changed his opposition to plans for a "religious festival" in the Colorado Rockies next month.

The Rainbow Family of Living Light originally planned to stage the festival on federal park land near Granby, but changed the site to private property nearby on Strawberry Lake.

The now land is accessible only on foot in an effort to temper objections to the July 1-4 festival. The family also has banned all drugs.

Vanderhoof, who is overseeing state security precautions for the festival, said the change in sites was "the worst thing they could have done."

The lieutenant governor said the fire hazard was "extreme" in the Strawberry Lake area and said the lack of sanitation facilities also posed a major problem. He noted the land was inaccessible in case of an emergency.

"There's no planning, no logistics," he said. "We're going to use every legal means we have to stop it."

The Colorado State Patrol announced that it would set up a command post in the Granby area Thursday and additional men would be sent into the area as needed. About 35 officers will be stationed at the site later this week.

Despite the state opposition, Paul Giesendorfer, a land developer from Granby, said plans were going ahead to stage the festival on a 350-acre site. Giesendorfer is negotiating with the Rainbow Family to sell the land for an estimated $1 million.

Office on rights to open

DENVER — Idaho and seven other western states will be served by a newly opened field office of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

The Denver office will provide commission staff a closer liaison with the seven states of the region, according to John A. Buggs, staff director-designate of the group.

The office will deal with problems of Indians and Mexican Americans who constitute large minorities in these states, as well as the continuing problem of blacks, said Buggs.

Field office director will be Joseph C. Muskrat, a Cherokee Indian born in Oklahoma and assistant attorney general of that state for several years.

Cowboy titlist pressed

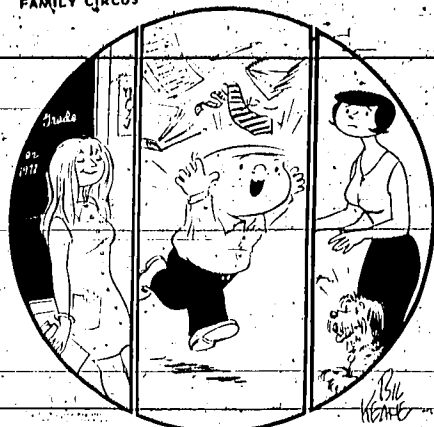

DENVER (UPI) — Defending all-around cowboy titlist Phil Lyne of George West, Tex., yesterday's runner-up in the rodeo, said he was "a little bit" behind those days. Former five-time champion Larry Mahan of Brooks, Ore., is right behind.

Lyne picked up $735 in prize money this past weekend at the Gladewater, Tex., rodeo, but he holds only a $1,107 lead over Mahan in the all-around title race — based on earnings in two or more events.

The Rodeo Cowboys Association said Lyne has won $21,432 for the year while Mahan is right behind at $20,325. Mahan did not compete in the Texas rodeo.

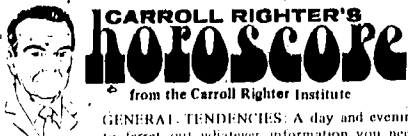

The two cowboys are making it a runny for the championship. Their nearest competitor is Ernie Taylor of Hugo, Okla., with $14,000.

The association said Mahan also leads the bidding for the title with $12,614 in winnings. Other current leaders include: J.C. Bohme, Hyattsville, Mont., saddle bronc riding, $11,468; Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., bareback bronc riding, $11,804; Don Oliver, Boise, Idaho, calf roping, $15,648; Roy Duvall, Warner, Okla., steer wrestling, $8,800; Gary Glas, Lakeside, Calif., team roping, $6,113; and Joann Day, Woodward, Okla., girls barrel racing, $8,300.

"SCHOOL'S OUT!"

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to ferret out whatever information you need to be more successful, or aware of what goes on where it particularly concerns you. Also, your emotional force can be directed toward gaining the objectives that are important to you and your future. Show strength and determination.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Your hunches are working accurately and can be very helpful in getting others to cooperate with you where your most important plans are concerned. Come to a far better understanding with mate in P.M.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get in touch with good friends and allies who can be helpful to you where career affairs are concerned. A public plan that is important to you can be discussed at length. Reach the right decision.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have much work to do and you find that co-workers are most cooperative, more so than they have been for some time. Get much accomplished. Do whatever will improve your vitality later on in the day. Take it easy tonight.

MOON CHILD DREN (June 22 to July 21) You are in the mood for summer fun, which is fine, so get congenials to go along with you to the recreations you enjoy. You are warm and affectionate and others will appreciate you more. Pay bills first.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study your surroundings and see what should be done so they will be more comfortable and attractive. Make them more streamlined so you need not work so hard there in the future. Think.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Perfecting routines during day is wise and then you have plenty of time left for being with good friends at whatever pleases you the most. Handle correspondence well. Take care of that transportation problem now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy making those improvements to your property that will add to its value and comfort. Plan to cut down on expenses also and have a bigger reserve. Being good to kin is fine, but take care you are not a doormat.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Keeping occupied during important work during day frees time for that recreation you want in P.M. with fine friends. Outline your plans for the future to them and gain their ideas, cooperation. Have fun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You know early what your true aims are and show us to go after them successfully now. Attend to those personal duties also. Show you have your feet on the ground and your head where it should be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can rely on that good and influential friend for the assistance you need to get your cherished aims that seem difficult to you right now. Make sure you know just what it is you want, though. Think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Bringing your talents to the attention of bigwigs now gains you the support you want for your aims. Get busy handling that credit matter that has been bothering you. Avoid that person who wants to gossip all the time.

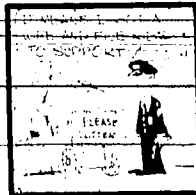

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can now play that trip that means so much to you, so get busy early and make accommodations, etc. Show you are open-minded and you get along better with others. Forget that negative attitude of the past.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those persons that few will be able to stop from going ahead with ideas and projects in mind, since there is good judgment and force of will here which will lead to success. Fine chart for whatever work requires understanding all the major factors first, and then working out the small details. Sports are a must here and so is the teaching of good ethics early in life. A fine family member.

Blinkers Are Over-Anxious

If you tend to roll your eyes a lot, you're thought to be opinionated. If you blink too much, you're prone to anxiety. But if your glances are fairly slow, your outlook on life is probably pretty realistic. Such are the earnest contentions of a medical fellow who purports to have made a study of how eyes reveal personality traits.

DON'T CALL that snowstorm a blizzard, degree the weather men, unless the temperature is below 20 degrees F. and the wind is whirling along at more than 35 m.p.h.

DIALOGUE

"I was married twice," said this old boy to a companion, "and I'll never marry again." My first wife died after eating poisoned mushrooms and my second died of a fractured skull. "What a pity!" said the friend. "How did that happen?" "She wouldn't eat her mushrooms."

IF YOU WANT to win your fortune in stocks, advises a Wall Street analyst, invest in 1. The chain link fence makers, credit rising crime. 2. The precision tool makers, credit the upcoming switch to the metric system. 3. And the newspaper groups, credit the computerization of composing rooms. Quite so.

BACHELOR

In Korea, I'm told, a bachelor is something of a social outcast. No matter what his age, he's not considered a man until he gets married—odd. Hereabouts, certainly, the bachelor is the most sought after citizen, socially.

Construction in valley continues upward

Jerome—Construction in the Magic Valley and 34 major Idaho cities, and two unincorporated areas continues on an upward trend.

A report released Friday by the First Security Bank showed total construction value for authorized building permit construction in 34 major Idaho cities and two unincorporated areas surrounding Boise and Idaho Falls during May was $16 million or 66.7 per cent above May of last year.

New residential construction for 432 dwelling units totaled $7 million an increase of 61.7 per cent in the number of units, and an increase of 42.5 per cent in value compared with May of 1971.

Nonresidential construction valued at $1.9 million was 67.5 per cent above the 1971 level. Alterations and repairs totaling $1.17 million were 131 per cent above May 1971.

The report also showed that total value of permit construction for the first five months at $59.4 million was 43.1 percent above a year ago.

Total construction for Jerome in May was $133,290 as compared to $14,700 in May of 1971. Of the 1972 total, $30,300 was spent on new residential construction and $2,990 on additions and repairs.

For the first five months of 1972 total construction is listed as $552,050 as compared to $276,965 for the same period in 1971. A total of $489,700 was spent on new residential construction in 1972.

Total construction for May in Gooding is listed at $69,900 as compared to $14,100 in May of last year. Total construction for the first five months of 1972 is more than double over last year for the same period with $608,666 being listed for 1972 and $75,300 for 1971.

Total construction in Shoshone for May is $21,300 of which $20,000 was spent on new residential construction. No permits were issued during May for Shoshone last year. For the first five months of May total construction was $26,700 as compared to $14,400 last year.

Construction for May in Twin Falls was up $109,346 over May of last year for a total of $399,118.

The five-month total for 1972 for Twin Falls is almost double that of the same period a year ago. The report shows that $2.1 million was spent in 1972 and of this $1.3 million was on new residential construction. $632,225 on new non-residential and $160,520 on additions and repairs. A total of $1.27 million was spent in 1971.

Construction in Burley for May totaled $167,004 as compared to $161,585. The five-month total shows a substantial increase over the same period last year with $564,270 in 1972 and $265,535 for 1971. Of the 1972 total $422,600 was spent on new residential as compared to $97,800 in 1971.

Coed dormitory

BOISE (UPI)—Boise State College will open an experimental coed dormitory for 78 men and women during the 1972-73 school year.

Selected upper division junior and senior men will be assigned to the west wing of Morrison Hall, while qualified upper division women will be assigned to the east wing.

The pilot project will operate under a set of guidelines developed by the State Board of Education as well as the BSC administration.

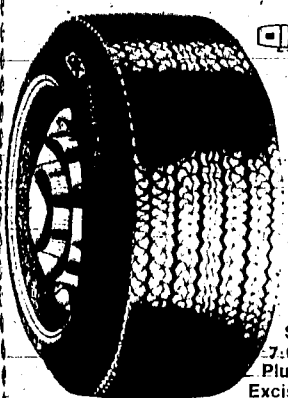

Applicants must have a grade point average of at least 2.00 and be in good social standing on campus.

Advertising recommended

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The Oregon Liquor Control Commission's Task Force on Advertising has recommended that liquor advertising be permitted on Sunday.

The task force, which met here Monday, also recommended abolishing two other restrictions on advertising.

One requires that all ads must be approved by the commission staff before being used. The other prohibits advertising hard liquor in places where it is sold.

"Think your Tires are REALLY ROUND?"

MOST PEOPLE DO... BUT THEY'RE NOT

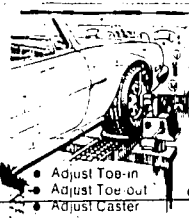

Contrary to the beliefs of 99 car owners out of 100, a very small percentage of tires—regardless of brand, grade or cost of the tire—are really round.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

1. Every tire is produced in a perfectly round mold. Upon being taken from the mold and in the cooling process, parts of the tire will expand, while other parts will contract, producing high and low spots in the casing.
2. Upon contact with the road surface, with every revolution the tire makes, the high spots set up a bouncing, vibrating action. This action produces a dangerous driving condition, damaging wear and tear on the car and fast tread wear on the tire.
3. O.K. Tire Truing corrects this condition. In a matter of minutes, Exclusive O.K. TRUMATIC planes off these high spots, producing a tire that is perfectly round to the wheel.
