Town menaced

WATCHING WATER pour through 200 foot wide break in San Joaquin River levee near Isleton, Calif., is unidentified resident of town. Officials today ordered 1,300 residents there to evacuate although temporary sandbag levees were holding against high waters. Town's water supply may have been polluted. US panel studies food price lids

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration is ready to fight rising food prices with an offensive that could lead to controls on meat, vegetables and other products and the lifting of meat import quotas. The first step was to occur today when the Price Commission recommends to its parent Cost of Living Council that price controls be extended to now exempt raw agricultural products. The decision, which is sure to provoke outcries from farmers, was made at a 10-hour meeting Wednesday after the seven price commissioners rejected less stringent measures. The proposals turned down included a freeze on meat prices and tougher cost controls on retail and wholesale food companies. After the session, the commissioners issued a vague statement declaring "their increased concern about the continued rise of food and other agricultural products." But a spokesman told reporters: "The commission feels the

British accept Ulster truce

DUBLIN (UPI)—The Provisional Wing of the Irish Republican Army today offered a cease-fire in Northern Ireland as of midnight Monday if Britain would reciprocate. The British Government accepted the offer. Northern Ireland Secretary of State William Whitelaw told the House of Commons in London, "If offensive operations by the IRA in Northern Ireland cease at midnight Monday (7 p.m. EDT) British forces will obviously reciprocate. The militant Provisional Wing offered to suspend all offensive operations in Northern Ireland "provided a public reciprocal response" is forthcoming from British forces. The more moderate Official Wing had problem exists because of the lack of control of raw agricultural products, as a result of the discussions, the Cost of Living Council will have before it the thoughts of the Price Commission," when the council meets today.

Britain defends pound

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today raised its bank rate, the key interest rate, by 1 per cent to 6 per cent in a bid to defend the ailing pound. The Bank of England announced the change at noon. Speculation on an early devaluation of the British currency had prompted heavy selling of sterling and driven its price down to its lowest since the Washington currency agreement last December. The higher key rate will increase interest payments on foreign funds held in Britain and should help brake the outflow of such international money. The bank rate has been held at 5 per cent since September of last year. Financial quarters had been predicting the move as part of the defense of the pound which Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber maintained earlier this week was still at a realistic exchange rate.

Voluntary political contributions OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled, 6 to 2, today that unions may legally make political contributions if they come from voluntary donations. The decision reversed the conviction of two deceased officers of a St. Louis union local who were convicted of conspiring to violate federal election law by contributing to the campaigns of several candidates. Despite the broad language of a section of the law pertaining to unions, the Court said it "does not prohibit a labor organization from making, through the medium of a political fund organized by it, contributions or expenditures in connection with federal elections, so long as the monies expended are in some sense volunteered by those asked to contribute." Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. dissented, declaring the opinion "opens the way for major participation in politics by the largest aggregations of economic power, the great unions and corporations." Chief Justice Warren E. Burger joined his dissent.

The opinion in the union case by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., vacated the convictions of John L. Lawler and Lawrence L. Callahan, who were each fined $1,000 and sentenced to a year in jail. It also reversed and remanded the conviction of a third officer, George Seaton, also fined $1,000 and local 562 of the Court bars dual school

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today barred states and local governments from cutting up school districts in a way that would maintain dual racial systems. In two opinions by Justice Potter Stewart, the Court ruled out such attempts in desegregation cases from Scotland Neck, Halifax County, N. C., and Emporia, Greenville County, Va.

Citing the Court's 1971 decision in a landmark North Carolina case, Stewart said "a new school district may not be created where its effect would be to impede the process of dismantling a dual system." The "informed judgement" of U. S. District courts must be relied upon to determine what the effect would be, he said. Stewart cautioned however that more disparity in the racial composition of the two systems alone would not be sufficient reason to bar the creation of a new district. But in the Emporia case, he said, there is more involved than "disparity" in racial percentages. The vote in the Emporia case was 5 to 4, with Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F.

Political replies unneeded

WARRENTON, Va. (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) ruled Thursday that broadcasters are not required to give opposition political parties the right to respond to presidential addresses on radio and television. Commissioner Richard E. Wiley announced the decision, which was to be revealed later in Washington, at a two-day symposium on electronic journalism being held here.

Finks gather in Texas today

FINK, Tex. (UPI)—Among the nearly 1,000 Fink Day celebrants last year was a family from Ontario, Canada, who had a problem with their 11-year-old son. This boy was upset because his name was Fink. Mayor Pat Albright said, "But attending this celebration changed that boy's entire outlook. I've heard from Mrs. Fink at different times, and she says the boy is now a different child. That right there is the meaning of Fink Day." Mrs. Albright was busy all day Wednesday hawking barbecue for sandwiches for today's eighth annual celebration. The barbecue and soft drinks are free. "We ought to have 1,500 this year. They come from all over. You never know what's going to show up," Mrs. Albright said. She said last year 57 of the celebrants actually were named Fink, and most of them clung from out of the state. "We had families from San Francisco, Michigan, and one from Man, W. Va., who just stopped by to see what Fink, Tex., looks like." The town, named for its original settlers, used to have a population of 15, but an Air Force base nearby closed in 1970 and the population has since dropped to eight. Downtown Fink has one store, owned by the Albrights, and the rest of the city consists of four houses. But Mrs. Albright said the town in North Central Texas, just south of Oklahoma, is expanding its area, and one of the highlights of the day will be the official annexation of West Fink, increasing the city limits by a quarter of a mile. "I'll give us more room to breathe in," Mrs. Albright said. She said the city has been lucky in that it has not suffered urban problems, with one exception. Discarded beef cans once littered the streets so badly that volunteer Boy Scouts came into town and cleaned up the mess. Fink Day celebrants said the volunteer scouts should be put on emergency alert until the end of the festival.

US aid scored

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church urged the Democratic Party today to reject bilateral foreign economic and military aid as "obsolete" to the nation's best interests. In testimony prepared for the party's platform committee, Church said "experience demonstrates that, at best, American aid has had only a marginal influence throughout the 'third world' in promoting either stability or development. He said it has had "almost no influence whatever on whether of country goes Communist" as Cuba and Chile have shown. As for military aid, he said the major preoccupation of the present U. S. program of massive "indiscriminate disbursement of munitions" should be drastically curtailed.

Berserk Jersey guard kills 6 in spree

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI)—A private guard described by his neighbors as a quiet churchgoer went berserk in an office building Wednesday and shot 12 men, six fatally, before wounding himself in the head. The gunman, identified as Edwin Grace, 42, a Pinkerton guard from New York City, seemed deliberately to avoid firing at the women he encountered during the 15-minute shooting spree which turned the normally quiet office building into a slaughterhouse. Grace, under heavy guard at Cherry Hill Hospital where his condition was called "critical," entered the Heritage Building building, at about 2:30 p.m., carrying two sawed-off 22 caliber rifles. Police said he roamed from office to office, shooting only men. Some were shot at their desks; others were gunned down in the halls. On the tree-lined street in Brooklyn where Grace lived when at home, neighbors said Grace "was always so quiet." "I'm totally dumbfounded by the whole incident," said Louis Zone. "It came to me as a total surprise. He was a quiet young man." Zone's wife said that Grace was "a fine kid and quite a churchgoer."

James Ashman, who also escaped being shot by jumping out a window of the colonial type building, said "We were just talking to one another and the guy walked in and shot the owner, Bernie Robinson, right in the head. After shooting two persons," Ashman said, "Bob and me were left and he shot Bob three times," hitting him once or twice. Ashman said the gunman shot at him, too, however, hitting a chair in front of him. A tan Volkswagen with New York license plates was discovered in a parking lot behind the building and was believed to be the suspect's car. Inside the car police found a Pinkerton security guard's badge on the front seat. Mayor John F. Holten told newsmen that Grace wore a uniform with a patch that read "Court Clerk, Essex County, N.Y." He said Grace also wore a dog tag with "Edwin Grace, white male, 1939," written on it. The six men killed were identified as Robert Bartone, 22, of Delanco, N.J.; Joseph A. DePalma, 44, and Charles Merkel, 37, both of Cherry Hill; Theodore G. Hall, 38, of Willingboro; Stephen B. Robinson, 42, of Cinnaminson; and Joseph Boyd, 48, of Morristown. Taken to Cherry Hill Medical Center in critical condition were: Wayne Stoup, of Cherry Hill; Maynard Bell of Marlton; Val Risco of Groveville; and Gary Davis of Moorestown. Injured slightly were Charles Collins, 24, of Pennsauken; and Walter Wilks, 46, of Levittown, Pa. A 15th man, Walter Wilks, 46, of Levittown, fractured his arm when he jumped out a window to escape the killer. President W.A. "Tony" Boyle of the United Mine Workers (UMW) and Secretary-Treasurer John Owens had told the high court they had been indicted under the same law. Their appeal could turn on disposition of the pipefitters' appeal. The Justice Department and the lower courts interpreted the law to mean that no union funds, voluntary or not, could be used for electioneering. But union attorneys said Congress meant only to bar use of union dues, not voluntary contributions.

14 die in storm

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tropical storm Agnes dumped up to a foot of rain as it moved up the Eastern seaboard today, forcing thousands of persons from their homes and creating the worst rainstorm in Washington in 44 years.

At least 14 persons were reported dead from the Carolinas to New York in the rejuvenated Agnes, which started out as a hurricane and, nine others were missing or believed dead.

Seven persons, most of them motorists, were killed in Virginia. Four persons were swept to their deaths in Pennsylvania, including a baby born from its father's arms. Two persons died in North Carolina and one in Maryland.

The 7.1 inches that fell at Washington's National Airport was the most since the record 7.31 inches Aug. 11-12, 1928. Twelve inches fell on Big Meadows, Va., and 11 on Dulles International Airport in the Virginia horse country outside Washington.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp mobilized the National Guard to cope with a "state of extreme emergency."

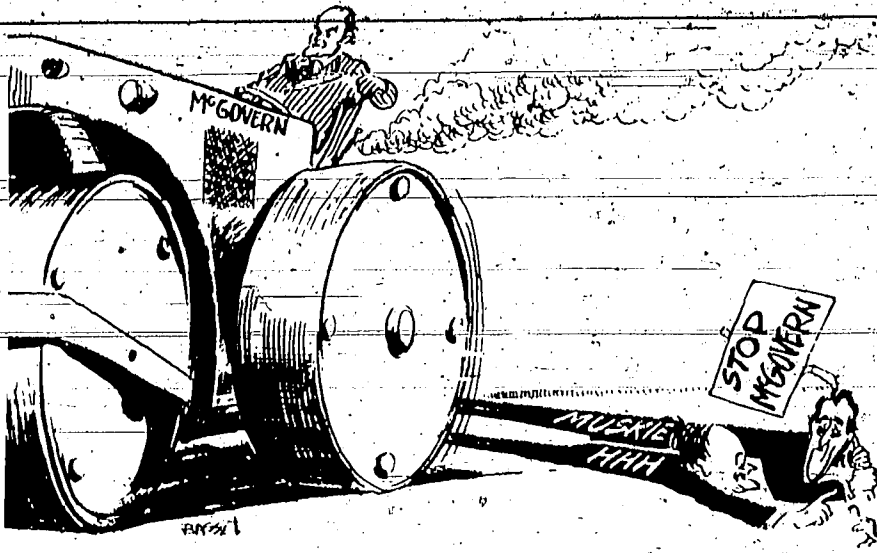

Agnes, which claimed 16 lives earlier in the week when it struck Florida as the nation's first hurricane, was centered off the Maryland and Delaware shore areas this morning and was expected to pass over New York City later in the day.

An estimated 10,000 persons were given temporary shelter in schools, fire houses and American Legion posts in Washington's, Virginia and Maryland suburbs.

Army draftees given options

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In an attempt to fill the depleted ranks of the National Guard and reserves, the Selective Service System announced today that for the first time Army draftees have the option of joining the standby services.

Draftees who accept service in the Guard or reserves need spend as little as four months on active duty. The Army draftee tour is two years. Those choosing the new option will have a military obligation of six years.

The new regulations go into effect July 1. More than a year ago, the Guard and reserves had waiting lists of well over 100,000 men as draft age men tried to get into standby units before they received draft notices that might send them to Vietnam.

But in the past year the draft has fallen to its lowest level since before the Korean war, removing the chief inducement men had to join the Guard and reserves.

Waiting lists have disappeared entirely. The Guard and reserves, which have an authorized strength of 1 million, are about 60,000 men short and continuing to slip. Officials have seen the manpower problem as a threat to their plans to eliminate the draft by June 30, 1973.

An estimated 70 to 85 percent of guardsmen and reservists are believed to have joined solely to avoid a long period of active duty in the military.

The regulations announced today allow a man up to 20 days after the date on his induction notice to find a Guard or reserve unit which will accept him for a six-year enlistment. However, he would have to spend only one to two months of that on active duty. The rest of the time he would have to attend weekly drills and put in two weeks active duty training each year.

Losers sue for votes
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Four defeated presidential candidates today asked a federal court for a slice of the 271 convention delegates Sen. George S. McGovern won in California's winner-take-all primary.

Through an attorney, McGovern insisted the losing candidates were asking the court to grant them what the voters would not and charged they were seeking to change the rules after the game was played.

McGovern doesn't believe he has the nomination locked up, but he now gives himself a 60-40 chance of winning on the first ballot.

"I think it's possible we could be stopped, but I don't think it's likely," McGovern said.

TWIN FALLS — Services for Phillip Walter Lively will be at 1 p.m. Friday at White Mortuary Chapel by Rev. James B. Hughes. Friends may call this evening and Friday until noon.

McGovern has sign of winner of fund

By United Press International
Sen. George S. McGovern had star quality the sign of a winner when he returned Wednesday to Capitol Hill from his triumph in the New York primary. Secretaries kissed him and youngsters begged for his autograph.

Before he came to Washington, McGovern said he hoped his chief rival, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, would endorse him. But Humphrey quickly rejected this notion.

"I'm staying in as a candidate," the former vice president said in Atlanta. "I will continue to seek to get delegates."

However, McGovern's strong showing in New York pushed him to within 100 votes of a first-ballot victory at Miami Beach next month. He captured at least 251 delegates in New York, bringing his total in a UPI tabulation to 1,328.15. He needs 1,509 to be nominated.

Reds attack S. Vietnam paratroops

News tips
733-0931

SAIGON (UPI)—North Vietnamese troops crossed the My Chanh River in regimental strength and attacked South Vietnamese paratroops today in the heaviest drive across the northern defense line since Quang Tri Province fell May 1.

One allied source said the Communist attack, backed by Soviet-built tanks and 130mm cannons, might be the start of the long awaited offensive against Hue, 20 miles to the south.

UPI reporter Chad Huntley said 100 North Vietnamese were killed by mid-afternoon. South Vietnamese officers said their own casualties were light. They claimed 16 Communist tanks and armored vehicles knocked out by tactical aircraft.

At the same time the North Vietnamese attacked the western half of the defense line, at least four of the six South Vietnamese battalions advancing into Communist-held Quang Tri Province on the eastern half fell back south of the river, which forms the province's southern boundary.

Huntley said the Marines pulled back after five days of fighting had been planned before the Communist attack. Even so, the pullback helped consolidate the South Vietnamese positions.

Huntley was told the Marines in their furthest advance yet into Quang Tri province up to six miles, but never closer than 10 miles to the city of Quang Tri) left behind some small "combat outposts" when they withdrew.

Heavy fighting which began around midnight was continuing at mid-afternoon, Huntley said.

U.S. jets supporting the marines reported knocking out three of the highly accurate 130mm guns with "smart bombs" along the South China Sea coast road that the French during their earlier Indochina war called the "Street without joy."

The Communists, in their attack on the western half of the defense line, fired six 122mm rockets into the paratroops' main base, Camp Evans, and blew up a 175mm ammunition dump. They also shelled Evans with 130mm guns for the second consecutive day.

Military sources said that if the Communist attack on the My Chanh river line signaled the start of the long-awaited offensive, it would have to be followed up with more than a regiment.

The line is defended by three marine brigades and two airborne brigades. A South Vietnamese brigade is the same size as a regiment and numbers about 2,500 men. In addition, they are backed up by the 10,000-man 1st Infantry division.

Far to the south government defenders battled North Vietnamese troops around An Loc.

Save The Work

There is an old lawyer's saying that one lawyer in a town will starve while two will flourish. In other words, it takes two to try a law suit.

However, the Dean of every law school in the land, and all attorneys, should take note of an imminently sensible request from Justice Byron White of the U. S. Supreme Court. He asked that the law schools undertake the job of finding ways of solving legal disputes out of court. Economic suicide? Far from it.

"The judicial system," said Justice White, "is in deep trouble, mired in tremendous dockets and ever-increasing case loads," although some problems are being settled out of court by government administrative agencies and private collective bargaining.

Streamlining judicial administration and court dockets is essential to the health of the old system of justice.

Justice White sees this as a task primarily for the nation's law schools.

"A surprising thing about this matter," he said, "at least for one who has not been a legal educator, is that the law schools have traditionally involved themselves so little with this aspect of the institution with which they otherwise have been so concerned."

The idea is worth giving the old college try.

Mansfield's Folly

Senator Mike Mansfield, Montana Democrat and Senate Majority Leader, is a peace-loving man who is not afraid of a fight and is capable of great statesmanship. He also is capable of stubborn folly, an outstanding example being his persistent efforts to get Congress to cut off funds for U. S. troops in Vietnam and end the war unilaterally.

Mansfield has suffered one defeat after another in trying to tack his end-the-war amendment to various bills and he has vowed to keep on trying, in spite of a direct and reasonable appeal from President Nixon.

Nixon wrote Mansfield: "I share with you the desire to withdraw our remaining forces from Indochina in a timely and honorable manner. But Congressional amendments which can only be construed by our adversaries to be hostile to my peace proposal... do not serve this objective."

Now, when North Vietnam is being hit where it hurts, is exactly the time when Congress should back the President to the hilt by letting the North Vietnamese know that Nixon's generous peace proposal is the only one America will make.

Then there should be improved prospects for getting the Communists to begin serious peace negotiations.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted to approve a resolution generally supporting the President's peace seeking policy to Vietnam by the narrow margin of 19 to 18. The resolution calls for a complete withdrawal of U. S. forces within 4 months after establishment of an internationally supervised ceasefire throughout Indochina, return of American war prisoners and an accounting of the missing in action. House opponents are promoting their own end-the-war legislation and the resolution faces an uncertain fate on the House floor and even more opposition from Senate doves.

Meantime, President Nixon is continuing his diplomatic efforts to gain support for his peace move from Red China and Red Russia.

What a pity he can't get the united support he deserves from Congress!

Everybody's Doing It

A second home may never be as common as a second car, but a growing number of American families are enjoying them. Especially the nearly five million vacation retreats rolling along the highways.

Campers, trailers and other recreational vehicles may not be lumped with homes statistically, but there isn't a whole lot of difference considering the way camping is enjoyed today. Those who envision camping as spreading a blanket on the ground near a campfire under the open sky with no one else within miles obviously haven't taken to the trails for a long while.

By roughing it today, the seasoned camper refers to campgrounds which have little more than hot and cold showers, flush sanitary facilities, electricity at each camp site and a trading post within walking distance.

He may also expect a swimming pool, recreation hall, tennis, horseback riding and, of course, automatic washing facilities. Recreation camping — in some cases, home — was never like this. No wonder vehicles with self-contained living accommodations are among the fastest selling items on wheels.

This summer is expected to see the largest turnout in public and private campgrounds so far, with perhaps a record number of campers turned away for lack of space.

"Workfare" Proposal Is Opposed

WASHINGTON — Welfare organizations — meaning mostly people on relief who want bigger monthly checks — are strenuously opposed to the "workfare" proposal in the Senate Finance Committee's omnibus Social Security bill and are threatening politicians with defeat at the polls if the provision is passed.

Their concern is understandable. The "workfare" provision would abolish welfare aid altogether for families with school-age children and instead offer the mother or father a guaranteed Federal job at $48 a week, plus wage supplements if the individual is channeled into a low-paying private job.

That is to say, on the surface the proposal would seem to make working for a living necessary if not pleasurable.

But — ho-ho-ho. Even if Congress in an election year should collect its wits and enact this quite sensible and equitable plan, the chances of a Federal bureaucracy making it work are remote. The record says so.

In fact, there is already a similar law on the books called the Work Incentive (WIN) program designed to remove able-bodied adults from welfare rolls. It has been on the books for nearly four years, and its results have been zilch. Of the 385,000 persons enrolled so far only 61,500 have been placed in jobs. Another 54,000 dropped out, 141,500 were terminated for other reasons, and only 127,800 are presently enrolled.

Nor has the Nixon administration acted to put any meaningful pressure on the able-bodied poor. It has spent only $444-million so far to implement WIN, which offers cash incentives to encourage welfare recipients to sign up.

And this year the White House is asking only about $250-million more — a funding request that is less than half that recommended by Federal designers and one-third the amount authorized.

In short, the record shows that nobody really takes "workfare" seriously. If they make sense, but those asserted "welfare organizations" control a lot of votes and even Richard Nixon, portrayed by his enemies as possessing a heart of stainless steel, has shown himself to be most prudent about getting the program off the ground.

In any event, the Senate Finance Committee's bill faces the roughest of going when it reaches the Senate floor next month after the Democratic National Convention. Northern Democrats, prodded by "welfare organizations," are determined to kill both workfare and President Nixon's $2,400 guaranteed income for an indigent family of four. Which they consider inadequate. Meanwhile, they will press for a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, compared with the 10 per cent boost voted by the Senate committee and the 5 per cent increase passed by the House.

That Social Security lot is rather a joker, too. Everybody is for increased benefits, but the taxpayer who digests the small print will lose much of his enthusiasm for the politicians' generosity.

For example, the Senate committee's 10 per cent raise would boost the Social Security payroll tax by $113.40 the first year. It would require 96 million Americans to pay a tax of 5.7 per cent on the first $10,200 they earn; the present wage base is $9,000. The tax rate would rise to 6 per cent from 1977 through 1980, and would continue to climb gradually until in the year 2011 the employee would be paying $754 a year compared to the present $468 a year. If a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits is passed, the tax of course would be doubled.

Meanwhile, despite all the talk about "workfare," Senate committee figures predict that the total number of welfare recipients will rise from 15 million now to 20 million in 1977 under current law; to 24 million under the administration plan; to 22 million under a bill introduced by Sen. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., and to 114 million under the National Welfare Rights Organization bill.

These figures of course include millions of low-income working families who would receive supplemental cash payments. The cost? From $1.3 billion under current law to $12.8 billion under the administration's plan, $41.7 billion under Ribicoff's proposal, and $80 billion under NWRO plan. I feel faint.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Sleep Talking

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 7-year-old walks and talks in his sleep. When I ask him about it, he remembers nothing. Is this something to worry about?

Mrs. A.G.
No reason why he should remember his sleepwalking, as this occurs only in the stages of deep sleep, and nothing is recalled.

Should you worry about it? I would say no, at this age, except for modest precautions against the risk of hurting himself.

Sleepwalking and sleep-talking usually have an emotional factor as a basis — family or school problems, some hassle with a playmate, loss of a pet, any of the things that youngsters fret about.

Psychologically, the unconscious purpose is believed to be an effort either to evade a problem or to seek solace. Sometimes it is quite easy to recognize what is bothering a child. And sometimes it is very difficult because, as you've perhaps noted, it isn't always easy to know what a child's worries are.

Such sleepwalking is usually seen either before puberty or during adolescence, and is commoner in boys than in girls, although girls do it, too, of course.

As they grow up, they learn to solve those problems, or learn not to worry so much about things, and that's the end of the walking. Except for this: sleepwalking in adults, if it occurs, is usually related to some deep-seated emotional difficulty. This may or may not approach the stage of mental illness.

For the youngster, unless there are other signs of emotional conflict, don't make a big thing out of sleepwalking. Don't chide the child. Don't try to probe into it, as you may create a greater conflict than already exists.

You should, however, take such steps as are necessary to keep him from hurting himself. A gate at the top of a staircase is an example of what I mean — even though youngsters have been known to get up, go downstairs and even unlock a door and go out, sleeping soundly all the while.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that there is a wax treatment that can be given for removal of superfluous hair. I would like to know more about it; the cost, and what kind of doctor would do this. — Mrs. R. W.C.

There is such a method, but it is a cosmetic matter, not a medical one, so don't expect a doctor to do it. It is not a permanent method of hair removal, but a treatment lasts longer than shaving since the hairs are drawn out, not just cut off. They grow again, though. It is a rather crude and somewhat painful procedure since the hair is pulled out when the hardened wax is removed.

RAY CROMLEY

The Bogdown

WASHINGTON — It is now known that a group of Hanol's top strategists forecast in advance their belief as to where and how their invasion of the South would bog down.

These ranking North Vietnamese military political men wrote down their analysis last December, four months before the drive across the Demilitarized Zone.

Yet Hanol went ahead, with the invasion.

These planners said they were going into battle dreadfully unprepared. They believe Saigon and other cities were ripe for uprisings. They were certain such uprisings were essential for the success of the invasion. They predicted these uprisings would not occur because adequate preparation had not been made. This is, they calculated, the local people, though dissatisfied, had not been properly motivated for action to support the "Revolution."

The Hanol strategist anticipated that when the invasion came the South Vietnamese army would pull back to defend South Vietnam, giving up land and cities to preserve mobility and not sacrifice the dream of the South's military forces in the first flush of invasion.

To counter this, the Hanol planners said, it was essential that Communist agents diligently penetrate South Vietnam's forces from within. The Saigon government troops would be demoralized before fighting began and therefore would not be able to stand up to the invaders.

But in their pre-battle analysis, these Communist strategists said that the task of enemy troop prosecuting and been handled very superficially.

Further, the Hanol analysts predicted success if, and only if, the Communist guerrillas in the South, by extensive coordinated small rural actions, could force the Saigon government to defend large scattered areas and thus spread the South Vietnamese forces so thin Hanol's troops would be able to drive through the weakened defense lines.

They noted also that Hanol's armies would require strong and efficient direct screening and intelligence support from the south — Communist guerrilla forces. But they complained the development of village and district armed units had been very slow. They said party committees had chosen to ignore this problem. And the reported recruitment of secret guerrillas was "totally inadequate."

Next, these North Vietnamese strategists said it was essential the underground party chapters be strong and well-organized for civil functions, able quickly to take over administrative and police operations in occupied territory to free Hanol's troops for rapid military advances, and to pacify the rear areas. But in their pre-invasion analysis they reported that recruitment had been slow and the task of strengthening party chapters had not been accomplished.

ART BUCHWALD

Ted Kennedy

WASHINGTON — No matter how you slice it, when people start talking about the Democratic convention, Ted Kennedy's name invariably comes up. Last week it was reported that he said he would take the vice-presidential spot if it meant the difference between victory and defeat for the Democratic Party. Then he spent the next day denying he was a vice-presidential candidate.

The one option that Ted Kennedy still has left open is his availability as conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra. It is no secret that Kennedy has been seriously considered for the leadership of the National Symphony, and it is rumored that if there is a deadlock at the next meeting of the National Symphony Board in July, Kennedy could be the compromise candidate.

I went to see Sen. Kennedy on Capitol Hill to discuss it with him. He seemed very relaxed, as he tilted back in his leather chair.

"Senator, are you running for conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra?"

He shook his head. "I have no interest in running for the National Symphony at this time."

"When you say this time, does that mean you might consider it later?"

"I have said on many occasions that I am very happy in the Senate and I have no musical ambitions."

"Does this mean you wouldn't even consider being first violinist with the orchestra?"

"No one has discussed the first violinist job with me, so I believe the question is hypothetical."

Sen. Kennedy said he was the only person who can bring the National Symphony together.

"I don't subscribe to that. I think we have many fine people who could lead the National Symphony, and I am prepared to support the candidate whom the board nominates."

"I know you have said this many times, Senator, but members of your staff and friends have said that while you would not openly seek the position as conductor, there is always a possibility that you could change your mind."

"My staff and friends are not speaking for me." "Could you possibly conceive of any conditions where you would accept a draft as conductor or run for first violinist with the orchestra?"

"I would not exclude the possibilities. If I believed my accepting the position as conductor or first violinist could have a dramatic effect on the orchestra, I would have to reconsider my position."

"What would make you change your mind?"

"Well, if, for example, the subscription series for 1973 did not sell out, or if I felt Lawrence Welk was going to get the job, I would then have to re-evaluate my stand."

"I notice you have a lot of musical scores on your desk, Senator. Can we infer anything from that?"

"No, I happen to like to read musical scores when I'm not working on new legislation."

TF solid waste deadline nears

TWIN FALLS — Efforts to meet new state standards in solid waste control by July 1 are continuing in Twin Falls County.

County Commissioner Merl E. Leonard said the present concern is one of costs. He said meeting now Health Department standards completely and following recommendations of a planning report the county obtained last year are not within the present financial means of the county.

A compromise program is being sought by the county to take care of the solid waste from rural areas and at the same time keep costs down.

In a meeting with city officials, Joseph Coon, sanitation officer, and Winston Jones, councilman, both Twin Falls, the two agencies explored possibilities of a single solid waste service for city and rural residents without double taxation.

Leonard said the cost of hauling the solid waste, either by contractor or by individual county residents from all areas to the Twin Falls City sanitary landfill would be prohibitive. Leonard said the county must consider central receiving stations or an auxiliary landfill in the west end of the county.

State regulations require the debris to be covered each day by dirt if deposited in a landfill. This represents a number of costs including labor, equipment and equipment maintenance.

R. P. Fasolino, planner, who studied the Twin Falls County solid waste problems last year, recommended bin or silo type collector stations which would be enclosed and where trucks could collect the solid waste deposits from various parts of the county and haul them to a central point.

Putting this system into operation by July 1 would be out of the question, cost wise and time wise. Leonard said in studying the advantages of pick up stations and county wide haul to a single area, the commissioners are considering part of the planner's recommendations with the county wide system to be established over a period of time as funds permit.

If the county purchases the Twin Falls City landfill, he said, a method of fee charges would have to be established which would help cover operation costs.

'Unfair' to farmer

MORTAUGH — The farmer in Idaho has been the target of recent "unfair" decisions and legislative acts.

That was the comment by U. S. Senate candidate George Hansen to Mortaugh Jaycees and invited guests Wednesday night.

He said steps "must be taken immediately to provide relief."

"This is another case where no representation on the senate agriculture committee has hurt Idaho," charged Hansen. "The west needs someone on that committee to speak out against actions detrimental to this area."

He attacked the Environmental Protection Agency's decision to ban DDT as "panic action which could force farmers to use more lethal, more expensive pesticides."

Innocent plea given

BOISE (UPI) — Richard D. Foster, 25, Boise, has pleaded innocent to a six-count charge of rape, robbery and kidnapping and is scheduled for trial in fourth district court beginning Oct. 30.

Foster entered his plea before fourth district Judge Alfred C. Hagan Wednesday after being bound over to the higher court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing before magistrate Gerald Schr.

He is accused of forcible rape, kidnapping, assault with a deadly weapon in the June 13 abduction of a Boise woman.

Platform spices Idaho campaign

TWIN FALLS — Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, thinks the newly adopted party platform will "spice up" the current campaign.

In Twin Falls Wednesday on a state-wide campaign tour, Davis said he does not agree completely with all planks of the platform — namely the legalization of abortions and complete amnesty for those who do not choose to enter the service of their country.

Dr. Davis, on leave as president of Idaho State University during the campaign, said legalized abortion for everyone would make "it a profit making business. He said there are two lives involved and it should be a medical decision."

"I oppose the blanket amnesty so long as the war continues. As long as we have a draft those who refuse to serve are willfully breaking the law of our country and should not be offered all-out forgiveness."

"Once the war is concluded then we can administer justice with compassion and judge each case on its individual merits," Davis said.

The candidate said he welcomes the youth activity in the Democratic Party. He said he is glad to see the young men and women taking an interest in political activities and they will help bring out the issues in the coming campaign as they did at the convention.

Davis said he plans to visit Burley and Rupert as he moves east out of this part of the state. He has been campaigning in Nampa, Boise and this area since the convention.

Discussing farm and livestock issues, the candidate said he is calling for a permanent program for rehabilitation of range land left void of vegetation by damaging range fires. He said only about half of the 40,000 acres blackened in 1970 have been rehabilitated.

While a well funded Interagency Fire Center is located in Boise to fight fires, there has been no planned program to restore the native shrubs and grasses burned out. The tendency is to over emphasize timber production and fire control at the expense of preserving quality environment on public ranges, he said.

TF CIA awaits legal aid word

TWIN FALLS — The Community Improvement Association is waiting for word from Western Idaho Legal Aid on a proposal for legal aid to low-income people.

The Boise legal agency voted Wednesday evening on the CIA's application to extend legal aid into the Magic Valley.

Prior to last night's meeting, all indication pointed to a favorable vote from Western Idaho Legal Aid.

The legal assistance committee of the CIA had two points in its favor going into last night's meeting.

The Twin Falls Bar Association has agreed to allow WILA jurisdiction in the area.

And, the CIA has indicated it will participate if WILA accepts its bid for free legal assistance to poor people.

The advent of legal aid in the Magic Valley would provide low-income people with counseling on legal matters in all civil cases. If approved, WILA would not administer counsel in matters that may result in jail sentences as penalty.

Still in the formative stages, the earliest possible date of implementation would be the first week in September.

Results of the Wednesday vote will be announced in a joint statement by WILA, CIA and the Twin Falls Bar Association.

50 tract farmers OK 'hopper funds

TWIN FALLS — Fifty Salmon Tract farmers and ranchers have committed about $15,000 for a grasshopper control program this year.

Don Youtz, Twin Falls County extension agent, said a few more farmers are expected to participate.

He said it will be a couple of weeks before the total amount of money committed and total acreage will be known because public land area totals and costs must be added to the private figures.

The area to be sprayed on the Salmon Tract will be plotted on a map to get the totals, Youtz said.

The Grasshopper Control Committee, composed of farmers and ranchers from the area, met Wednesday night to receive agreements and checks from the 50 participants.

Youtz said the number of farmers and ranchers participating makes it possible to have a good program this year.

The cooperative spraying program works in three phases. The individual farmer pays all the costs for spraying his private cropland.

The federal or state government pays all costs for spraying public lands.

Costs for spraying private rangeland are split three ways. The owner, state government and federal government each pay one third of the costs on this land, Youtz said.

Another meeting of the control committee is scheduled sometime next week, he said.

Laird spars with Senator

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., violating Capitol Hill etiquette by speaking simultaneously, have accused each other of damaging national security.

The verbal sparring between Laird and the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee overshadowed Wednesday's third day of hearings on the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty.

Laird presented prepared testimony that the Defense Department must have the missile-launching Trident submarine and the super-sonic B-1 bomber in conjunction with Senate approval of the SALT agreement signed in Moscow May 26 by President Nixon and Communist party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev.

The White House said, however, that Laird was speaking for himself about the need for both weapons and the SALT agreement. President Nixon believes the treaty will stand on its own, the White House said.

In the questioning period after the testimony, Fulbright said that Laird was trying to make the Russian Y-class submarine sound like Trident, although it actually has less striking power than the 12-year-old U.S. Polaris, with Poseidon missiles.

Japanese negotiator Masahiro Nisibori told the Geneva Disarmament Conference these tests only lead to increased tension and environmental contamination.

At the same time, Nisibori complained that the United States and the Soviet Union show no sign of readiness to consider a halt to underground nuclear testing.

While the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) agreements in Moscow have frozen the numbers of nuclear missiles, nothing has been done to prevent a continuation of the qualitative nuclear arms race, he said.

Canadian negotiator Georges Ignatieff said his country fully associates itself with the Japanese position.

The governments of the Peoples Republic of China and the Republic of France, while refusing to associate themselves even with the partial test ban treaty of 1963 prohibiting all but underground tests, and thus not observing the minimum moral duty as nuclear weapons states are endeavoring to reinforce their nuclear armaments, forcing the atmospheric nuclear tests despite repeated protests from the Asian and Pacific nations, Nisibori said.

Irish battle in Belfast

BELFAST (UPI)—Irish Republican Army (IRA) gunmen fought a three-hour gun battle with British troops in Belfast and killed a soldier in Londonderry Wednesday despite discussions earlier in the day between IRA chiefs and political leaders on a possible cease-fire.

An army spokesman said the gun battle in Belfast's Andersonstown Roman Catholic Housing Estate tapered off into intermittent sniping early today. At the height of the fighting Wednesday night, the spokesman said, troops saw two gunmen fall and watched them being dragged off by other gunmen.

The IRA claimed responsibility for the death Wednesday of Kerry McCarthy, 19, a British soldier shot in the chest by a sniper as he stood guard at the Victoria Police Station in Londonderry. He was the 323rd person to die in nearly three years of sectarian violence in the province.

Soviets still fear

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union still fears the possibility of nuclear war with the United States and is arming itself in spite of last month's nuclear freeze agreements, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda said today.

"The limitation of strategic arms does not eliminate the danger of nuclear war, although it goes in this direction," Pravda commentators O. Griev and V. Pavlov said.

Arrested

JOSEPH A. Landisi, 49, Beacon, N.Y., was arrested by the FBI Wednesday on charges of attempting to extort $350,000 from the Cunard Shipping Line. The arrest stemmed from a telephone call allegedly made by Landisi to Cunard vice president Charles Dickson, saying bombs had been placed aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth II. (UPI)

Mayors reject withdrawal from Vietnam

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The nation's mayors rejected a resolution demanding the United States withdraw its troops from Vietnam by Oct. 1 and passed instead a resolution Wednesday giving President Nixon gentle praise for the way he is handling the war.

The U.S. Conference of Mayors also passed a resolution urging federal gun control laws, but decided not to take a stand on busing.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago made a dramatic appeal to the mayors to reject the statement calling for an Oct. 1 troop withdrawal.

"No one will do more to defeat a Republican president than I will," Daley said. "But in the name of God, as fine American citizens, let us stand behind our President and hope and pray he can end this as soon as possible."

His words were followed by thundering cheers and cries of "move the question." The stronger antiwar resolution was overwhelmingly defeated.

The resolution passed later said, "The continuation of the Vietnam conflict badly distorts national priorities and the allocation of national resources."

Added, however, "President Nixon has taken encouraging steps to end the American involvement in the war. The resolution was approved by Mayor John Drury of Phoenix.

Schools question political influx

BOISE (UPI) — Superintendent of Public Instruction D.F. Engelking says he thinks a policy should be adopted concerning political candidates visiting high schools in quest of the youth vote.

The influx of political candidates into Idaho's schools has caused some problems, and guidelines concerning them may be on the way. Most high schools in Idaho have reported an increase in the number of requests from politicians to speak to the high school audience, this being an election year with 18-year-olds voting.

Engelking told United Press International he "definitely thought" that a policy concerning the political speakers should be adopted by the Board of Education and the Association of School Superintendents.

"It ought to state that we zealously guard our school time," Engelking said of the policy.

He said if political candidates want to talk to the 12,000 to 13,000 graduating high school seniors in state schools they could come in after school or at a time when school is not in session.

Engelking said he thought politicians should come to the schools because they offered educational material, but they should not take away time from the basic courses.

Darrel Reisch, principal at Nampa Senior High School, said individual teachers make the decision on what candidates will speak to their classes.

He said he has received at least one complaint from a parent of a student questioning what she considered a "political rally."

"I can see a potential problem in this area," Reisch said. "I can see the need for a policy developed on the local level."

Reisch considered the political speeches educational and added that there are risks but it is "better to let the politicians come in."

Kenneth Crothers, superintendent of Shoshone School District 312 said of the influx of political candidates into schools: "Off hand it seems all right to me but I think they should keep a balance of both political parties. It could become more time-consuming and their time should be kept limited," he said.

But he said young people, particularly seniors, should have the opportunity to see the candidates and the issues.

"The school should participate in providing this opportunity," he said.

Some schools have already developed policies for political speeches.

Parker Richards, superintendent of School District 25 in Portello, said officials have discouraged political speakers in the schools, especially in classes where the students are a captive audience.

"I can see a problem in this area and if you open the door to one you have to let them all in," he said.

Borah High School in Boise has honored all requests from politicians through the student political science club.

Students get to see the speaker on a "first come, first served" basis.

Principal William D. Jameson said many students have been turned away because the 196-seat facility was filled. He said students are allowed to leave other classes if they wish to see a political speaker.

Capital High School principal Donald Johnson said school officials had to start limiting the number of speakers because of the time element.

"I think there is an education purpose of letting the candidates speak in school," he said. "It teaches students to listen to concerned people and see what they are made of."

Highway funds

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Highway Board has been advised it will receive $2.8 million in unobligated federal funds for the fiscal year ending June 30.

State Engineer Ellis Mathes said Wednesday the Highway Department must distribute the funds among various projects before the June 30 deadline. He added that allocation will probably be made by the board within the next week.

According to the Federal Highway Administration, the $2.8 million figure represents the remainder of unobligated highway funds allotted the Pacific Northwest Region this year.

Death 'justifiable'

ST. ANTHONY, Idaho (UPI) — The shooting death of a Mexican National June 6 near St. Anthony was ruled a non-criminal, justifiable homicide Wednesday by a six-member coroner's jury.

Jose Luis Madrigal, 28, was shot and killed by an officer of the U.S. Immigration Service during a roundup of illegal aliens in the Upper Snake River Valley.

The officer was reportedly attacked by Madrigal at the time the fatal shot was fired.

Concession opens in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus today turned the key in the lock to mark the grand opening of Geno's Gift Shop for Genaro Arce in the Boise Federal Building.

This is the first independent concession awarded in Idaho to a small operator under a new minority concessions program, a joint venture between General Services Administration and the Small Business Administration.

The new shop, owned by Genaro Arce, will feature cards, gifts, magazines, sundry items and snacks for federal building patrons.

Arce is a member of the Idaho Migrant Council and an active worker in programs to improve the status of Mexican-Americans in southern Idaho. He and his wife, Olivia, have eight children.

The minority concessions program of GSA makes available facilities in federal buildings for the operation of independent concessions.

Arce's venture is a result of efforts by the E-Adar Community Action Agency and GSA, as well as management assistance and a small working capital loan from the SBA.

Benefit boost to aged sought soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, served notice Wednesday he will try to secure congressional action on a 20 per cent boost in Social Security benefits before the month is out.

Church said he would try to hook the benefit hike as a rider to a debt limit bill when it reaches the Senate, a measure that must be passed by June 30 if the government is to pay its bills.

The bill, extending the "temporary" national debt limit of $450 billion through Oct. 31, is scheduled for floor action in the House next week. Unless it is enacted by month's end, the ceiling will revert to a "permanent" level of $400 billion.

and the national debt as of June 16 stood at $427.5 billion.

The house has approved a 5 per cent Social Security hike and the Senate Finance Committee has recommended that be doubled to 10 per cent.

But that proposal is part of a massive welfare reform bill not scheduled for Senate debate until later this summer and Church said that was too long to wait.

Range burns in Elmore

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — Bureau of Land Management officials hoped a 240-acre man-caused fire eight miles southeast of Mountain Home would be declared out today.

The blaze was started about 3 p.m. Wednesday and contained in the evening. It was reported by a BLM lookout on Bennett Mountain northeast of Mountain Home.

Some federal and some private land was burned — sagebrush and grazing land — but no damage was reported to livestock or crops.

Gem man dead of smoke

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — A 61-year-old Idaho Falls man, Harold Heath, was found dead at his home early Wednesday, the victim of smoke asphyxiation.

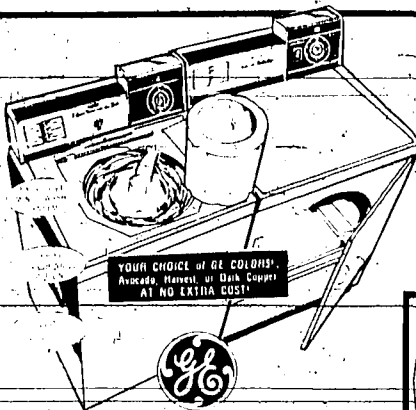

Bonneville County Coroner Vernal Rydalen said Heath was apparently smoking in bed and fell asleep, and a cigarette fell to a rug starting a fire.

Heath was found about 1:30 a.m.

Bean commission OK's special project funds

BOISE — Research, promotion and insect control head a list of special projects approved for 1972-73 by the Idaho Bean Commission, member Bob Corner, Twin Falls, said Wednesday.

Product, publicity, advertising and promotion received an appropriation of $16,500, Corner said. This category includes national promotion of Idaho beans to consumers and home economists.

The commission budgeted $5,000 for continuation of research into new consumer uses of beans at Stanford Research Institute.

A total of $9,000 was set aside for development of foreign markets.

Corner said the commission voted to grant $11,500 to the University of Idaho College of Agriculture for crop research during the coming year. Another $8,000 will go into research on problems affecting the bean industry, such as Halo blight, western bean cutworm and bean cleaning methods.

Transportation activities on behalf of bean growers and dealers received $7,500.

The remainder of the bean commission special projects will go to insect control, Corner said.

Five thousand dollars was appropriated for the Mexican bean beetle program to be conducted in cooperation with the Idaho Department of Agriculture, and another $5,000 will be spent in lupine efforts to control beet leafhoppers.

Will Demo youths continue enthusiasm?

BY RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Now that youth have a voice in decision-making, the next question is whether the Democratic Party can transfer their enthusiasm for the platform into action at the polls.

Youngsters had their day at Sun Valley last week when they virtually dictated to the old guard a campaign platform, some candidates already are finding a bit liberal for Idaho voters.

They came out for sex education in the schools, legalizing abortions, war amnesty and reinstatement of the "new" criminal code among other, perhaps less controversial, proposals.

After the smoke cleared from the convention hall, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said the platform expressed the views of the majority present when it was written. He said legislative candidates, for instance, would hammer out a finalized version in the campaign ahead.

He also said the platform is not intended to "handout" anybody in the party and pointed out he cannot buy the plank calling for legalized abortions.

Legislative and other candidates said privately there were portions of the platform they could not accept.

"If possible," they said, they will ignore those portions in the campaign. But they made it clear that, if pressed by constituents, they will repudiate those statements with which they do not agree.

It was the youthful contingent, primarily, which brought about the platform in the context in which it finally was adopted. And, if the youngsters really are as serious as they say they are about it, they should be the ones to help sell it to the electorate.

One of the weak points of Idaho's Democratic party in recent years has been its work at the grass roots in competition with a strong Republican precinct system.

Divided by their own conservative-liberal controversy in 1970, the Republicans slipped and the Democrats — especially the Frank Church team in Ada County — jumped into the breach. Its one of the things that helped elect Andrus governor.

Young people, if they pitch in and go about it the right way, can do a lot to bring about some of the changes they want to accomplish and they can do it.

It appears they may want to have their cake and eat it, too. But, if after finally getting the voice they sought in party councils, they leave the campaign work to their elders their sincerity is certain to be questioned.

In a curious footnote to the state assembly at Sun Valley the youthful delegates bent down a proposed resolution which would have abolished the

'Bugging' said in tradition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The comic opera attempt to bug the Democratic National Committee is right in the Washington tradition. Some of the goofiest things that happen in this town involve deliberate or accidental eavesdropping.

For example, the five bumbling operatives caught in the Democratic headquarters were not the first to be caught with microphones in their hands under suspicious circumstances. Back in the 1950s, a similar incident occurred during a congressional investigation into the affairs of New England industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

That time, a Goldfine aide pulled open one of the doors leading into his employer's hotel suite and discovered a private detective and a reporter crouched behind it with listening equipment. If memory serves, the joke was that the two were trying to eavesdrop on the space the Goldfine party was using as a press room.

Recently, a member of Congress from Florida moved into a new office in the Cannon Building vacated by a former member who had been involunlarly retired by his constituents. Finding an extra telephone in the office, one of the congressman's aides picked it up and was astounded to be greeted by the bartender of a saloon about three blocks from the Capitol.

The former member, it turned out, liked the joint down the street so well he had a private phone line installed so his staff could inform him when he was due on the House floor for a vote or a quorum call.

The Office of Economic Opportunity had a mysteriously leaked confidential document a few years ago that embarrassed it considerably. Only a few selected top officials were supposed to have had copies of the memorandum, and as it turned out, none of them was responsible for the document's disclosure.

What happened was the person who made the copies for distribution to the inner circle walked off and left the original in the copying machine.

The last episode illustrates that politicians are not always involved when people in Washington get their wires crossed.

Agency now to support Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An advisory panel to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has voted to back temporarily President Nixon's rejection of a White House commission's endorsement of abortion.

The White House Commission on Population Growth recommended in a report in April that the federal government urge states to allow abortions upon request.

But Nixon rejected the commission proposal, declaring on May 5 that "I do not support unrestricted abortion policies."

The HEW advisory panel, which met Tuesday, was prepared to oppose Nixon until intervention by Dr. Louis M. Hellman, HEW deputy assistant secretary for population affairs.

Hellman said he would be "uncomfortable" if the advisory panel endorsed the commission recommendation.

"There is no reason to hurry. Very little is going to be done between now and the election anyhow," Hellman said.

The 12-member panel, which advises HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson on family planning, then voted against unrestricted abortions for the time being.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

The war's over! Parents DO raise and rear kids

DEAR ABBY: I enjoy your stuff. When I attended Tulane University, I told my professor that I was raised in Shreveport, La.

He said, "You RAISE hogs and REAR children." You mentioned that you were raised in a small town. Tell me, Abby, were you RAISED or REARED?

Love mit kisses,
HENRY

DEAR HENRY: In "The Careful Writer," Theodore M. Bernstein (whom many consider the Supreme Court of American Journalism) put it this way: "At one time, a war raged (and some skirmishes are still going on) against the use of 'RAISE' to describe what parents do to children. The battle cry was, 'You raise pigs, but you rear children.' However, in this country at least, the war is over; we RAISE both pigs and children, and some parents will testify that you can't always tell the difference." Right on, Mr. B.!

DEAR ABBY: We recently had a death in our family and a local politician who was running for office called up and asked if he could be a pallbearer. He took the members of the family by such surprise they said yes. We had already selected the pallbearers but we were so upset at the time we weren't thinking.

This politician was the first to sign the guest register, and he went around shaking hands and slapping everyone on the back like it was a campaign rally. He sure got in the public eye at that funeral which is the only reason he wanted to be a pallbearer. He hardly even knew the deceased or any of the family.

When it was all over we realized how we had been used. What should this politician have been told when he called up and offered to be a pallbearer?

USED

DEAR USED: "Thank you, but the pallbearers have already been selected." (P.S. I'm curious. How did he come out in the election?)

DEAR ABBY: My parents are planning to send my ten-year-old brother to Europe this summer to visit his grandfather, whom the boy has never seen. Mother says it will be a "good experience" for him. But I'm not so sure.

I think to send a rather immature ten-year-old boy thousands of miles from home, alone, to a strange country to be with a strange man who speaks another language (which my brother has never heard) will hurt him psychologically. I am 23 and I know it would bother me. My brother isn't too keen on it.

This really troubles me, Abby. After all, how can a 10-year-old man take proper care of a young boy thru sign language? (Grandfather speaks no English.)

Am I foolish to worry?

DESPERATE SISTER

DEAR DESPERATE: If your 90-year-old grandfather speaks no English, and lives alone, I can understand why the lad isn't "too keen" on it. If there are others in the family (or in the community) with whom he will be associating, it might be a good experience for him. Don't become "desperate" unless all the facts are in.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WONDERING": FBI my eye! It's unwise for a girl to keep company with a man who is so mysterious. Tell the fellow that even FBI agents have friends, families, neighbors, co-workers, and clergymen—~~some~~ ~~who can vouch for their characters.~~ (P.S. The FBI office in your city can tell you if he is employed by them. And if he's an "undercover man," he shouldn't have told you that he was.)

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Jerome extension schedule released

JEROME — The extension homemakers' 1972-73 schedule for Jerome County was released today by Sharon LaFray, extension home economist.

The schedule will be: September, french cookery; October, clothing; November, wine cookery; January, blender basics; February, laundry lore; March, home drying of fruits and vegetables; April, food additives; May, decoupage, and June, food preservation.

Miss LaFray said the homemakers' council will purchase four floodlights for the stage of the 4-H building at the fairgrounds and is looking into the possibility of adding a dressing room.

She said basic sewing, home decorating clinic and lingerie workshops are on the agenda also.

The Jerome County Fair will be held from Aug. 23-26 this year and entry deadlines were set by the council for Aug. 22, with judging to take place Aug. 23. Checkout will be Aug. 26 by 8 p.m. and drawing for booths will be Aug. 19 at 10 a.m., Miss LaFray said.

"New changes in the fair rules include the requirement of framing or mounting pictures in the women's division including applique, embroidery, needlepoint, crewel embroidery, yarn (loom) and yarn (combination)," she said.

The Kerr Special Premium award will be given to further stimulate interest in home canning. Kerr is offering nine dozen wide mouth quart jars, three dozen half pint jars and eight Kerr Home Canning books to the two best exhibits from each class of fruits, vegetables, pickles and relishes and jams and jellies entered in Kerr jars and sealed with Kerr caps and lids. Miss LaFray said.

This year the pillow department will have a fancy category. Men's jackets and slacks have been added to the machine-home sewing," she said.

Laundry cleaning tips told

SHOSHONE — "Meat tenderizer and hair spray may seem out of place in the laundry room, but they are useful there when you need to remove stains," states Jean Amnest, home economist.

"Use meat tenderizer as the last step in removing salad dressing and mayonnaise stains," she advises.

First spray the stain with dry cleaning fluid. Let fluid evaporate, then cover the stain with liquid detergent or paste made from dry detergent and water. Last, sprinkle the spot with meat tenderizer and launder.

Use hair spray to remove ballpoint ink stains. Simply spray stains thoroughly before laundering, Mrs. Amnest points out.

Other laundering methods and techniques that she recommends are using hot water, as it does a better job of cleaning and kills germs better than cold water does. Add water softener to rinse water to prevent buildup of static electricity, wash white nylon with white fabrics only because it picks up color from colored fabrics.

Keep cotton and polyester fabrics white by washing them in hot (140 degrees) water.

Romeo, Romeo, wherefore played thou the queen of spades, Romeo?" asked Juliet. Juliet wasn't much of a bridge player, but she was a good kibitzer and did not ask her question until after Romeo and Mercutio had set Tybalt at track at his three day tramp contract.

Romeo had made his normal opening lead of the heart queen. Tybalt let it hold but won the second heart. Then he won his three of spades and Romeo had gone up with the queen. Tybalt had taken dummy's ace, returned to his hand with a diamond, led a second spade and played dummy's jack.

Mercutio scored the second spade trick for the defense and led his last heart. Eventually Romeo had taken the last two tricks with the ace of clubs and his last heart.

In case any readers feel the same way about that second hand high play as Juliet did, it really couldn't lose.

If South held the king of spades, Romeo's queen was as dead as Romeo himself was at the end of the last act of the Shakespeare tragedy.

The way the cards actually lay, if Romeo had played a low spade Tybalt would have jammed dummy's eight. This is the best play with the actual spade combination since it will lose only one spade trick any time West's original holding includes the 10 of spades and at least one of the higher honors.

A Lovelier You

FRAGRANCE FOR THE HOSTESS

By Mary Sue Miller

What can you take a weekend hostess who has "everything"? Of course, the only gift required is your most charming self.

Nevertheless, you would like to have a gay gift in hand. Well, then consider a fine perfume or eau de cologne. Admittedly, your hostess may have an empty stock of scents. Too, you may not know her preferences. Small matter — a Parisian house, famous for its fragrances, has come up with a new and fun way to select a scent!

All you need know is the lady's birthday — her Zodiac sign. The chart below cues the character of the perfume befitting
the sign.

Aries — brilliant perfumes are indicated here. Taurus — quality, both simple and artless. Gemini — give two perfumes, one light and one insistent. Cancer — feminine and fashion-y. Leo — a distinctive extract, bold and a bit violent.
Virgo — delicate, fragile. Libra — discreet, harmonious. Scorpio — primitive and earthy. Sagittarius
"green," ferny and woody. Capricorn — quiet, cool, illusive. Aquarius — modern, not flowery. Pisces — deep, and daring.

What, could be more fun to choose and to give than a perfume predestined for a lovely by the stars? What a conversation piece.

Filer sets levy meets

BY MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Public meetings will be Monday and Tuesday at Filer and Hollister to answer questions regarding a plant facilities levy election in School District 413.

Lawrence Knigge, chairman of the school board, announced today the meetings will be at 9 p.m. Monday at Hollister and at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Filer High School building so patrons may appear and ask questions on the proposed election from school trustees and members of a committee appointed to outline a program of needed improvements in the school district's plant facilities.

Members of the committee who are working with the trustees include Wayne Lincoln, J. C. Mills, Duane Ramseyer, Bruce Kunkel, Dick Parrott, Tommy Williams, Bill Olson, Roger Vincent and Virgil Wright.

A plant facilities levy election has been scheduled for July 7 and school patrons will be asked to approve a five-mill levy for a period of six years.

If approved by a majority of voters, it will mean only a net increase in the district's school levy of two and one-half mills. Bonds on the high school addition, were retired in full in December 1971 causing a reduction in the bond levy for the district this year of two and one-half mills.

A five-mill plant facility levy, therefore, would increase the total levy by the two and one-half mills for 1972.

Top priority will be given the heating systems at the high school and the Hollister school. A heating contractor has termed the condition of the three furnaces at Hollister as very serious and has suggested a complete replacement of the heating units at an approximate cost of $12,000 to $14,000.

Repairs on the high school plant have begun and will range in cost from $2,000 to $4,000, trustees said.

WINNERS CIRCLE

Cormick Ranch — So

Lone Demo seeks post in Jerome

JEROME — Foley Asher, 46, announced Wednesday he will be a candidate in the primary election for the Democratic nomination as Jerome County sheriff.

Asher, the only Democrat running, is the ninth candidate to announce for the office. Seven sheriff hopefuls will contest the GOP nomination while a single candidate campaigns as an independent.

Asher petitioned Tuesday and his name will appear on the August primary ballot. He is a 24-year Jerome resident having come to Idaho from Harlem, Ky. Asher attended schools in Harlem, then went into the Army Air Corps, spending 30 months in the Pacific theater of World War II and was a security guard in the service. Asher was stationed Mountain Home also.

He moved to Jerome in 1960 and worked 14 years for Northside Auto Wrecking, five years with Meyer Oil and is presently employed at a local service station.

Asher said he is running because he feels Jerome County needs better law enforcement than it presently has.

He says he wants to work with the young people of the community and wants to form a committee of young people to better improve communication between youth and law enforcement agencies.

Asher said he also feels the sheriff's office should have complete cooperation with the local police and state police as well as all other law enforcement agencies.

Asher also said he feels the sheriff's office should be a 24-hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week job with somebody available at all times when help is needed. He is married to the former Barbara Dean of Jerome and they have two children, David, 17, and Julie, 15.

Ex-Burley man heads new unit

OGDEN, Utah — Gray Reynolds, a former Burley man, has been named to head the proposed Sawtooth National Recreation Area in the Challis and Sawtooth National Forests.

Regional Forester Vern Hamre in making the announcement also outlined plans for the Sawtooth area which will be established July 1.

Reynolds attended the school of natural resources at the University of Michigan during the past year and received an MS degree in natural resource administration in June.

He began his career in the Hoback range district of the Teton National Forest. In 1965 he was transferred to the Carson range district, Toiyabe National Forest, Nev., to serve as principal assistant to the district ranger. He was promoted in 1969 and transferred to the Ogden regional office as public information officer. He served in this capacity until 1971.

Reynolds was born in Burley and then resided in Jackson, Wyo., where his father was district ranger for the Teton National Forest. He attended Idaho State College and Utah State University completing requirement for a BS degree in forestry in 1964.

Hamre said legislation to create the Sawtooth National Recreation Area has been passed by both houses of Congress and goes to a conference committee, where differences in the bills will be resolved.

He noted that the legislation provides for regulation of mining and said that priority will be given to determining the validity of mining claims.

The celebration, sponsored by the Hazelton Lion's Club, will begin at 6 p.m. with games and contests for youngsters at the Hazelton City Park.

Food booths, numerous concessions and entertaining activities for all ages are included. Highlight of the evening will be an elaborate fireworks display at the close of the celebration.

Debbie Skinner, twin Falls, was chosen county commissioner for Freedom County from the Nationalist ticket.

Utah man hurt at Ketchum

KETCHUM — A Utah man is listed in good condition this morning at the Sun Valley Hospital after a car-pedestrian accident early today south of Ketchum.

The man was identified as Kim Thedell, age unknown, Roy, who is staying with friends in Ketchum. He was taken by ambulance to the Sun Valley facility.

According to a Blaine County sheriff's deputy, a car driven by William Cimino, 17, Ketchum, was traveling north on U.S. Highway 93, two and a half miles south of Ketchum about 1 a.m.

Cimino told officers that he approached a vehicle which was stopped and was facing south in the southbound lane. The vehicle pulled forward as Cimino attempted to pass. Thedell, a pedestrian, ran across the road in front of the Cimino auto and Cimino said he did not see the pedestrian until he had been struck.

Thedell was thrown to the south side of the road into the borrow pit.

Jerome sets July 4 fete

JEROME — A full day of activities is planned July 4 during the annual celebration here.

Jack Morley, chairman of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce celebration committee, said Tuesday plans for the day-long event are almost complete. Morley said Shoshone will be honored during the celebration and the Shoshone chamber of commerce has made a financial contribution toward the program.

For several years the celebration has rotated between Shoshone and Jerome. Last year Shoshone hosted the celebration, Morley said.

The day's events will start with a parade at 9:30 a.m. in downtown Jerome. Chairmen for the parade are Earl Davis, Bob Watson and Dewey Cavin. The parade will be a hometown effort with everyone invited to participate, Morley said.

A patriotic theme will be stressed in the parade and children are invited to decorate their bikes and animals and join the parade.

The other activities planned will be held at the Jerome County Fairgrounds. Beginning at 10:30 a.m. races for children will be sponsored by the Jerome Jaycees and there will be many fun style events including a sack race, Morley said.

At 11 a.m. a beauty contest for youngsters will be held by the Jerome Jay-C-Ettes with prizes for winners.

A ball game is also set for 11 a.m. Two top Pony League or other teams are being sought to take part in a special exhibition contest, with Carl Stephens in charge of the arrangements, Morley said.

At noon a beauty contest and pageant, with prizes being awarded, is planned.

The girl crowned queen will have the title of Miss Jerome County and will be the local Jaycee nomination in future state competition.

Morley said full details on both the junior and senior beauty contest will be released at a later date.

He said that from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. a horse jamboree and races are planned, sponsored by the Jerome County Sheriff's Mounted Posse with Bill Bubak as chairman.

The jamboree will feature various riding skills.

The day's activities will end with a fireworks display. Jerome city and rural fire department, with Chief Lynn Bingham in charge, will arrange the display.

Individuals and groups have been invited to set up food and game concession stands at the fairgrounds for the celebration. Those interested in arranging for a concession should contact either Roland Reese or John Steil Jr.

Stelle, chairman of the Jerome County Fair Board, said Tuesday that a great deal of work has been done at the fairgrounds for this summer's planned activities.

"The concession stands and fairbuilding have all been repainted and last week 33 trees were planted at the fairgrounds. The beautification effort was a joint venture involving the county extension office, county commissioners and the Leaf and Petal Club of Jerome," Stelle said.

Drawing at Jerome

JEROME — The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Jerome on July 7 from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Moose Hall.

Mrs. Charles Parker, publicity chairman, asked Tuesday that everyone put a red mark on their calendar so they would be sure to be there.

Budget discussed by health board

JEROME — The South Idaho Central Health District has agreed to support legislative changes for budgeting of health districts in Idaho.

Dr. Wayne D. Carte said today the board has agreed to endorse recommendations in HB 412 that would change budgeting from 85 per cent state participation to 54 per cent of an ad valorem tax.

Carte said the addition to the measure would the budgets to specific dollar figures rather than the "vague" percentage basis now used to fund health districts.

The board informed Carte will propose the next budget to be figured on a $2.25 per capita basis for county participation.

William E. Chancey, chairman of the health board, said the board will consider Carte's request. Earlier in the year, various county representatives on the board considered the figure excessive as opposed to last year's $1.66 per capita assessment. Twin Falls County is currently in litigation over its participation in the district at the proposed rate.

The board authorized Carte to begin researching means of relocating the central offices of the district. Carte said the office lease expires in January, 1974, and the City of Twin Falls has asked the district to vacate the space.

"The city has been most benevolent in renting the space to us. Now, we have to find a place or means to relocate the offices," said Carte.

In other board business, Dr. B. L. Kreilkamp was appointed to continue as Blaine County representative to the board. When the board was formed Kreilkamp was appointed for a single year term. He now has a full five-year term starting this year.

Tom Nelson, attorney for the district, was instructed to attend a meeting Sept. 2 to talk with other health attorneys.

A state government spokesman will outline the proposed reorganization of the state executive department, which will be presented to the voters in the November general election.

Idaho Gov. Cecil B. Andrus, sponsor of the reorganization effort, has asked the support of county officials on the concept, in which the many agencies scattered throughout state government would be consolidated into 20 departments.

County officials set meet in TF

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Association of Elected County Officials will discuss the state reorganization plan at a meeting in Twin Falls July 7.

August Bethke, Rupert, Minidoka County auditor and clerk, and president of the association, said the meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. at the Twin Falls County Courthouse.

Opening slated for theater at Jerome

BY CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Plans to open the former Vortex-Frontier Theater in Jerome are announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sutterby. Jerome, new tenants of the building.

The theater will be named the Community Center and will feature old-time classics of the movie industry. They will be rated either G for general audiences, or PG, general admission with parental guidance.

Sutterby said that in addition to the movies, there will be rock concerts several days a week after regular movie hours, which will be attended by an off-duty police officer in a supervisory capacity.

They plan to have a grand opening for the theater June 29, depending on arrival of films. According to the schedule, there will be movies Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights with a special children's matinee Saturday afternoon.

Sutterby said that applications would be sought for use of the center Monday through Thursday by non-profit organizations, and that a minimal charge would be made. He explained that, eventually they hope to make the center a 24-hour recreation spot with such items as a juke box and pool tables available.

He noted that to keep admission prices down, a membership group will be formed. Membership cards for the movies will be sold at low cost, Sutterby said.

Formerly of Tempe, Ariz., Sutterby is chief pilot for American Helicopters, Twin Falls. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Donnelly, Twin Falls.

Little progress on route

PAUL — The Idaho Department of Highways has made little progress on planning a new route to Arco, according to a department spokesman.

Everett Kidner, Shoshone, district highway engineer, told members of the Paul Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night that the proposed route from Minidoka County to the vicinity of Arco would be "very low" on the list of priorities when the plan develops far enough to be given any priority.

The Paul chamber has in recent years advocated a route north of the community of Carey and Arco. An opposing proposal would place the route through Rupert, then northward to Arco.

No decision has been made on either route, Kidner said.

The Paul chamber has been inactive for about a year, according to President Orrin Taylor. Members are now trying to reactivate the organization and attract new members. Regular meetings are scheduled once a month, Wednesday of the month at the Idaho Bank and Trust Building in Paul, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The chamber has about 15 members at present, Taylor said. A membership drive is contemplated in the near future.

Jerome school upgraded

JEROME — Construction work at the Jerome Junior High School is presently under way on the front of the building.

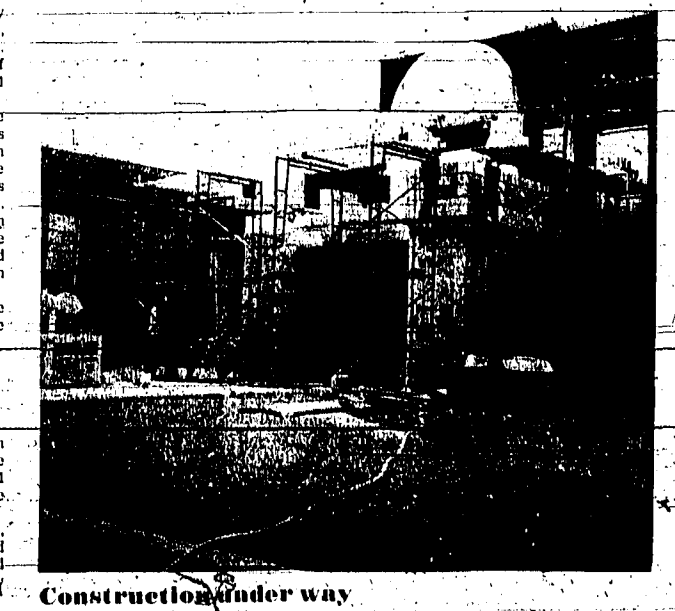

The work is being done to upgrade the appearance of the building so it will look more like the new annex which was added to the school several years ago.

Supt. John B. Campbell said that cutting the steps and enclosing them will offer more protection to the students during the winter months. In the past ice formed on the steps making them quite slippery, he said.

The work is being done as part of the school district's summer maintenance and remodeling program.

Construction under way

Jerome gets new food stand

CONSTRUCTION has begun on a new food stand at the Jerome County Fairgrounds grandstand. Lions club members are volunteering their help with plumbing, electrical work, painting and roofing. Members also agreed to furnish the stand with some of the fixtures as a community service. The new facility is constructed of cinderblocks and will be used at all functions held off the fairgrounds. The club will share use of the stand with other Jerome service clubs, according to Fred Clubb, Lions secretary-treasurer.

S.D. camps not hurt by flood

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Campers who had been planning to visit the Black Hills National Forest in western South Dakota need not change their schedules because of the catastrophic June 9 flood in the area, the Forest Service said today.

Most camp and recreation areas in the forest were not damaged by the flood, Forest Service Chief John R. McGuire said.

"We want the traveling public to realize that the direct effects of the storm were quite localized, and nearly all of the 1,000 camp and picnic sites in the Black Hills National Forest are open and accessible for public use," McGuire added.

The flooding affected only the east central portion of the forest, about one-fifth of its area.

Bremer murder charges dropped

TUPPER, MARYBORO, Md. (UPI)—The state of Maryland Wednesday dropped attempted murder charges against Arthur H. Bremer in the May 15 shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a Laurel, Md., shopping center.

State's Attorney Arthur A. Marshall said he would prosecute Bremer instead on a charge of assault with intent to murder, which carries a maximum 15-year sentence, because he was convinced he could not get a longer term on the attempted murder charge.

Attempted murder under Maryland law could draw the death penalty, but Marshall said he could find no precedent in which such a penalty had actually been handed out.

Marshall also dropped gun law charges which carry a penalty of 1 to 15 years in the shooting of all the victims except Wallace. Under the remaining counts the maximum sentence Bremer could receive would be in excess of 65 years. Chief Circuit Court Judge Ralph W. Powers also heard arguments on several other motions in the case, including one to delay Bremer's July 12 state trial until the completion of the federal trial, scheduled to begin five days later.

Bremer faces federal charges of interfering with the civil rights of a candidate.

The prosecution allowed Bremer's lawyer, Benjamin Lipsitz, to submit stacks of news reports as evidence in an attempt to show that the trial should be delayed until publicity quiets down.

Later in the hearing the judge was expected to consider whether to quash a defense subpoena of Attorney General Richard Kleindienst and other administration officials to testify on whether Bremer's federal trial would interfere with the state proceedings.

South, North Koreans celebrate historic event

By PHIL NEWSON — first, direct two-way talks since the United States and Russia divided their country into warring zones at the end of World War II. It was a first, halting step toward a form of unity achieved despite the fact that the truce village of technically the war touched off by the North's 1950 invasion of the South never has ended and successful conclusion of their despite, rather than because of, U.S. moves toward improved relations with China. As the United States moved toward détente with the Communists in Peking, it renewed fears in Seoul that agreement between the two big powers might leave the South naked to new aggression from the North. To meet the situation, President Park Chung Hee declared a state of national emergency in a move similar to Thailand's action abolishing parliament. The talks at Panmunjom had been proposed by South Korea and had begun last September between Red Cross representatives of the two sides. The purpose was to reunite families divided by the two Koreas.

Silent killer awaits millions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The sudden, unexpected heart attack, a "silent" killer which strikes with no warning symptoms—may be lying in wait for millions of young American men, a Navy doctor warned Tuesday.

Dr. Carl J. Pepine of the Philadelphia Naval Hospital told the American Medical Association convention that current screening procedures do not usually find heart disease in which "the first and final symptom is sudden death."

He relied on a two-year study which found that one out of 10 young sailors and Marines checked fell into a "high risk" heart attack group and that half of the "high riskers" had severe heart disease.

The severe heart problems, blockage of 50 to 75 per cent of two or three of the four heart vessels—were found in 19 men, aged 26 to 40, out of an original group of 200. If the 10 per cent figure held true for the 24 million American men between 25 and 44, more than two million men would be similarly affected.

Pepine said that two-thirds of coronary-artery disease deaths in the United States result from sudden heart attacks. "Most people who have heart attacks have only one symptom—sudden death," he said.

His study tried to find medical tests or factors which were common to men suffering from hidden heart disease.

"We have not been able to combine a group of factors which would indicate those who have the disease," he said, although "one combination of four in the same patient meant there was an excellent chance" he had coronary-artery problems.

The four were a family history of heart attack deaths, high levels of fatty acids in the blood, electrocardiogram abnormalities after exercise, and the presence of fatty lumps or deposits around the eyes or tendons.

Pepine used two of the factors—family background and high blood fats—to select the 41 members of his "high risk" group. He then used sophisticated surgical techniques to determine if they had heart troubles. He found the 19 with serious heart disease.

"We don't know how these patients can be asymptomatic (symptom free) with such serious disease," that's the crux of the problem," he said.

The Navy doctor said the 50 per cent predictive value of the two "high risk" factors wasn't good enough for screening—although it was better than the 35 per cent accuracy of the commonly recognized factors of obesity, high serum cholesterol, heavy smoking and high blood pressure.

"These factors only tell you who's a risk not who has the disease," he said. The technique used to single out the 19 men involves running a tube through an arm artery and into the heart, a surgical method which is too risky and complicated for routine screening.

Cancer specialists going to Moscow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five U.S. cancer specialists will leave for the Soviet Union Saturday to plan the first collaborative research under the joint health agreement signed by the two nations at the Moscow summit.

They are: Dr. Charles Zubrod, scientific director for chemotherapy; and Stephen K. Carter, chief of the cancer therapy evaluation branch, both with the National Cancer Institute; Dr. Oleg Selikow, chief of the NCI Veterans Administration medical oncology branch; Joseph H. Burchenal, vice president of Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research; and Dr. Louis Wasserman, chief of the Department of Hematology at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York.

Announcement of the week-long trip was made Wednesday by Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, special consultant to President Nixon on health affairs. In testimony for a House subcommittee, Egeberg said the agreement "has the potential to be of vast importance to the health and well-being of all people."

Kennedy says no

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Wednesday "there are no circumstances under which I would accept a nomination for any national office this year."

Kennedy issued a terse one sentence statement in response to a story in Thursday's New York Times saying some Democratic Party professionals might be concluding that "the hints Mr. Kennedy has been dropping about the vice-presidency in the last week were meant to be taken seriously." Kennedy said Monday he would have to give "heavy consideration" to an offer to be the vice-presidential candidate of his party if he was convinced it might mean the difference between defeat or victory for the Democrats in November.

SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS PRESENT THE COSMO PLAYBOY OF THE MONTH!!!!

It has come to our attention that some of the people in this area have been neglecting to read Swensen's Magic Markets' ad in this newspaper, while devoting their time and attention to the centerfold section in a certain women's magazine...a centerfold section featuring a full color, glossy pin-up of a handsome young sexy virile gorilla smoking a hot cigar.

Obviously, pictures of pickles and celery, and mention of mundane macaroni can't compete with glossy full color pictures of young virile gorillas. Therefore, Swensen's Magic Markets have decided to meet this challenge for our readers attention head on — with our own gorilla. Of course not every business organization in the area could field a candidate capable of drawing attention away from Hollywood talent, but this summer Swensen's are extremely fortunate in having just such a contender. However, instead of smoking a hot cigar, our man is posed eating a piece of Cold Watermelon, which is much more in season.

Petrocelli bats Boston to victory over Texas

BOSTON (UPI)—Rico Petrocelli drove in six runs Wednesday—including four via his sixth career grand slam home—as the Boston Red Sox came from behind to defeat the Texas Rangers 10-9 on Doug Griffin's bases-loaded single in the eleventh inning.

Griffin delivered his game-winning base hit after Reggie Smith was hit by a pitch, moved to second on John Kennedy's bunt and took third on an error by pitcher Horatio Pina. Pina walked Danny Cater intentionally to fill the bases.

Dick Billings doubled home two runs in the top of eighth to snap a 7-7 tie and put the Rangers ahead 9-8 after Boston had rallied from a 7-4 deficit to tie game on Danny Cater's two-run homer in the seventh.

Ben Oglivie hit a pinch hit homer for the Red Sox in the eighth.

Texas grabbed a 2-0 lead in the third on Don Mincher's sacrifice fly on a base hit by Billings. Billings slapped a two-run single to cap a four-run uprising in the fourth inning as the Rangers moved to a 6-1 advantage. They got another run in the fifth on Lenny Randle's sacrifice fly.

Petrocelli slammed a grand slam homer in the fifth inning to bring the Red Sox back to 7-5. It was his sixth homer of the year, and 100th career four-bagger at Fenway Park.

Texas' lead was short-lived. Billings hit a two-run homer in the seventh to tie the game. Griffin's bases-loaded single in the eleventh inning gave the Red Sox the win.

Phillies down Atlanta Braves

ATLANTA (UPI)—Catcher Mike Ryan, batting for the first time in the game, hit a two-run double in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 9-7 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Loser Cecil Upshaw (1-2), who worked the last 2 2/3 innings, loaded the bases with three straight walks before Ryan came up to bat with two outs and slashed a hit down the left field line that scored Greg Luzinski and Willie Montanez with the runs that broke a 7-7 tie.

Darrell Brandon picked up his third victory in four decisions by blanking the Braves over the last 3 2/3 innings.

The game was a free-swinging contest with the Phillies tying it in the seventh when pinch batter Roger Freed led off with his third homer of the season.

Indians defeat Minnesota 4-2

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Ray Fosse and Graig Nettles hit homers to back the eight-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry Wednesday night and power the Cleveland Indians to a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Perry boasted his record to 11-6 as he snapped a personal two game losing streak.

Fosse opened the Cleveland second with a 394-foot home run over the right centerfield fence to give the Indians a 1-0 lead. Frank Duffy followed with a triple to leftfield and later scored on Del Unser's sacrifice fly to increase the Indians' lead to 2-0.

Perry wild pitched Minnesota's Eric Soderholm home from third in the second inning for the Twins' first run. Soderholm had doubled and moved to third on an infield out.

The Indians increased their lead to 4-1 in the eighth when Nettles hit a 367-foot home run with Chris Chambliss, who walked, on base.

Reds edge Expos 6-1

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Pete Rose slammed a two-run triple and Tony Perez added a bases-loaded single to help the Cincinnati Reds beat the Montreal Expos, 6-1, Wednesday night to regain first place in the National League West.

Clay Carroll, second of two Red relief pitchers, came on in the ninth inning to cut short a Montreal rally and pick up his 14th save while preserving Gary Nolan's ninth victory against two losses.

The Expos had a 3-0 lead when Rose tripled in the second inning off loser Steve Renko after two out walks to Dave Concepcion and Nolan.

The Reds took the lead in the fifth inning when they scored three runs, two of them on Perez' single to right field.

Gary Hammond may need map for all-star game

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—It will be easy to forget Gary Hammond this Saturday if he takes a road map with him onto the field during the 12th annual Coaches All-America football game.

Hammond should be so confused from his collegiate playing days that it is surprising he did not give up the game because of dizziness.

He started his sophomore year at Southern Methodist as a flanker, moved to running back his junior year and played his senior year at quarterback the position he played in high school at Port Arthur, Tex.

So the main question is, when Hammond plays before a capacity crowd of 45,000 at Jones Stadium on the campus of Texas Tech Saturday night, where will he find up?

"It'll be out wide as a receiver and flanker," Hammond said, leaving little doubt that he would be at any other position during the game.

Detroit tops Oakland 5-2

OAKLAND (UPI)—Bill Freehan's bases-loaded double and an error by Reggie Jackson capped a three-run eighth inning rally Wednesday night and Tom Timmerman stopped Oakland on five hits as the Detroit Tigers held on to first place in the East with a 5-2 victory over the A's.

Ed Brinkman's groundout scored Detroit's first run in the fifth and a double by Tony Taylor and a single by Al Kaline produced another run in the sixth.

Then in the eighth, a single by Timmerman, another double by Taylor, an intentional walk to Kaline and Freehan's double chased across two runs. When Jackson booted the ball in right-center on Freehan's hit, another run scored to cap the Detroit scoring.

Single in 10th lets L.A. win

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A two-run pinch single by Jim LeFebvre in the 10th inning broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 5-3 victory Wednesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory went to Jim Brewer, 5-2, who pitched the last two innings in relief.

Frank Robinson and Wes Parker hit one out singles and moved up on a groundout before LeFebvre delivered the two out single to left off Divo-Giusti, who worked in relief of Bob Moose. Moose was tagged with his third loss in eight decisions.

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Robinson's triple following an error by leftfielder Willie Stargell on Bill Buckner's liner and a single by Willie Davis.

Bob Robertson's homer, his third of the year and first since May 10, following Jose Pagan's

White Sox throttle Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Ed Herrmann's two-run single and Luis Alvarado's tie-breaking single highlighted an eight-run eighth inning Chicago uprising Wednesday night as the White Sox downed the Milwaukee Brewers 9-3.

Herrmann's single came after the White Sox had loaded the bases, with none out in the eighth and scored Dick Allen and Bill Melton to tie the score at 3-3.

Jack Children of Oklahoma and Jerry Lange of Nebraska will handle the quarterbacking. I'll just be out there looking for one of their passes.

Hammond is the first to admit that he has had problems in the shuffle to fill needed vacancies in the SMU offense. But he is just as quick to add he enjoyed each position—and would play any one place assigned him if it meant staying in football.

Hammond, who hurled two touchdown passes in the East-West Shrine game to earn that classic's outstanding offensive player award and tossed the South's only touchdown pass in the Hula Bowl, heads for the New York Jets following Saturday night's game.

"The Jets want a quarterback who can run and throw on the run if he has to," Hammond said. "They want to try me at that position, and I hope I can handle it."

"But, if I can't, they said they would give me a chance outside as a receiver."

If college credentials mean anything, the former SMU star shouldn't have much of a problem at either position. As a split end, his sophomore year Hammond caught 51 aerials to lead the Southwest Conference receiving with 722 yards. It earned for him the sophomore of the year award.

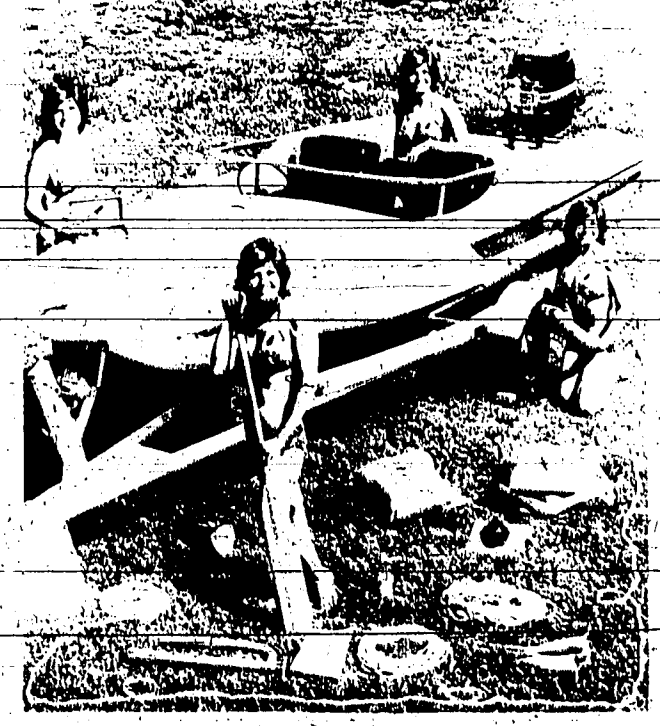

At tailback the following year he also led the league in receiving with 50 passes for 489 yards.

"I guess if I had to pick between the two I would say I enjoy receiving the ball more than throwing it," Hammond said.

BURLEY — Local residents toured three grass operations Wednesday on the annual Cassia County Grassman Tour. Candidates this year are Ted Mason, Artesian, south of Murtaugh; Jerry Conrad, southwest of Burley, and Spencer Black and sons, south of Burley and at Almo.

At the Mason ranch tall wheatgrass and 185 cows were viewed. The calves are kept until they weigh about 700 pounds. He has 13 sections of land for summer range along with forest service land. He has two cross fences in and expects to complete four miles of new fence this year. The cows are returned to the home place for calving and kept for the winter months.

Conrad has irrigated pasture which is three years old with 20 acres under two circular sprinklers. There is a cross fence in the middle. There is another 50 acres with one cross fence which is watered from a waste water pond. The smallest pasture is 14 acres which is also watered from a waste water pond.

A 15-acre field of native grass and sagebrush is used by Conrad for the cows when they are calving in the spring. The pastures are seeded with bromegrass and crested wheatgrass mixture. The calves are sold in December.

Conrad's property was taken out of sagebrush in 1964 and developed. His winter feed for the 200 head of cattle is green chopped hay, beet tops, beet straw and hay which he raises on the 13,600 acres.

Dozen Dudes meet

TWIN FALLS — The Dozen Dudes 4-H Club met at the home of Vickie Lampe Tuesday.

Club members talked about decorations for this year's fair and about a schooling show planned next month.

Lace loses out

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (UPI) — The American Textile Co. plant here will close June 30 because fewer women are wearing lace undergarments.

J. Arthur Oakland, vice president of the firm which manufactured lace, said Tuesday the closing was caused by the new trends in women's fashions.

He said 99 per cent of the lace made at the plant was used as trim on women's lingerie.

However, he said, most women are no longer wearing those items because of the shift in style to panty hose, hot pants, body suits and pant suits.

About 140 persons will lose their jobs because of the shutdown.

Mining claims top priority

BOISE (UPI) — Regional Forester Vern Hamre, Ogden, Utah, says examining validity of all mining claims will have top priority in the proposed Sawtooth National Recreation Area.

A single management unit is being established July 1 for the proposed recreation area land in the Challis and Sawtooth forests of central Idaho.

Both houses of Congress have passed legislation to create the recreation area and now are working in a conference committee to resolve differences in the bills.

The 11 members selected their club name.

The 4-H members set the next meeting for Friday at the courthouse.

Lee Keller is the club leader.
