By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News writer
BURLINGAME — Four persons died in two weekend traffic accidents in the Mini-Cassia area.

Two Idaho Falls teenagers died Sunday at the scene of a one-car rollover in Minidoka County. A Pocatello man was dead on arrival at Cassia Memorial Hospital following a second wreck at the same site.

The fourth victim was a 7-month-old Pomeroy, Wash., baby who died Sunday of injuries received in a two-car accident Saturday.

State Patrolman Tommy

Thompson said Kenneth Scott Twitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Twitchell, Pomeroy, was riding in a car driven by his father, age 25, when the accident occurred at 7:40 p.m. Saturday.

The mishap occurred three-and-a-half miles south of Declo on State Highway 77 when a car driven by Robert A. Burton, 17, Declo, entered the highway in front of the Twitchell car.

Thompson said Burton pulled from a private driveway into the path of the northbound car.

Riding in the Twitchell vehicle were Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell, the baby and Melinda Twitchell, 2, and Mathew Twitchell, 4. The surviving members of the family were treated and released from Cassia Memorial Hospital. The family is visiting relatives in the Mini-Cassia area.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Donna MacDonald, 16, and Susan J. Anderson, 17, both Idaho Falls, were killed when the eastbound car in which they were riding went out of control and rolled over three times. It came to rest in the median strip of Interstate 80N five miles west of Burley.

Mrs. Ruth Anderson, 55, Idaho Falls, was driving the

610 N. Idaho State Highway 706
Volvo 460 sedan, owned by Mrs. Anderson, 55, Idaho Falls. Others in the car were Mrs. Mueller, 16, and Cathy Clark, 16, also Idaho Falls. All occupants, except Miss Mueller, were thrown from the car.

Mrs. Anderson is listed in satisfactory condition. Miss Mueller in good, and Miss Clark in fair, at Cassia Memorial Hospital today.

The fourth victim, Elmer O'Dell Hatch, 47 Pocatello, was killed when he stepped from his pickup truck at the scene of the Anderson accident and was struck by an Ida-Cal Freight Lines truck, driven by Donald E. Hatch, 34, Twin Falls. Thompson said Hatch had stopped at the accident scene and had driven his pickup onto an emergency parking strip.

He said the victim had been assisting at the accident site and had climbed into his pickup. Thompson said Hatch then got back out of his vehicle and stepped into the path of the truck.

The four bodies are at McCulloch Funeral Home. Sheriff Theo Johnson was acting coroner in the three Minidoka County deaths.

McGovern sees quick pick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern claimed enough votes today for a first-ballot nomination for President at the Democratic National Convention on the basis of gaining almost 100 previously uncommitted delegates, mostly

The District of Columbia's congressional delegate, Walter E. Fauntroy, said the delegates were made up primarily of blacks from 12 states.

Fauntroy said the votes included: Connecticut 4; Louisiana 14; Ohio 8; Mississipin 16; Illinois 9; Missouri 8; New York 2; District of Columbia 12-3-4; Virginia 12; South Carolina 7; Georgia 6; Alabama 1; and New Jersey 3.

They added up to 98-3-4.

But Fauntroy later scaled the total down by one when he said the Alabama delegate already was included in the McGovern total. He said a final reconciliation of numbers would be made later in the day.

McGovern left immediately after the news conference for a three-day swing through the South, where his support is considered weak.

The United Press International tabulation, taken before the new addition, gave McGovern 1,340.65 delegates with 63 leaning.

There is no question that the 96-3-4 delegates who represent new additions are enough to put us over on the first ballot in Miami," McGovern said.

"What is most significant is that this is another major step in uniting all Americans in the political process," McGovern said.

"I make the same commitment to Mexican-Americans, Indians and all other minority groups."

Big floods pass crest

By United Press International Harrisburg.

The worst flooding in U.S. history was receding today and the tropical storm that caused it had died out. But hundreds of thousands of eastern residents still waited to learn when they could return home.

Tropical storm Agnes left at least 122 persons dead, most of them from flooding in north-eastern states, and damage approaching $2 billion.

The hardest hit state from the flooding was Pennsylvania, with at least 47 dead and up to 250,000 persons forced to flee their homes. In New York 21 persons died, in Virginia, 17, and in Maryland, 15.

Agnes left a few squalls Sunday before dying out over Canada where it caused no serious damage.

About 145,000 persons in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., stayed in emergency shelters. Although the waters of the Susquehanna River finally crested and began receding Sunday, the flood left behind a thick and slinky buildup of mud. Wilkes-Barre's water supply was contaminated and the city was without telephone service.

The Susquehanna had fallen Sunday from over 40 feet to 21 feet at Wilkes-Barre.

About 8,600 persons could not return to their homes in the Pennsylvania capital of Harrisburg. Debris still littered the streets, although the water level was falling.

"We're going to find more bodies now that the water is receding," said Jim Cox of the state police headquarters in

Gov. Milton J. Shapp said, "Without doubt it is the worst disaster in the history of Pennsylvania," even though 2,200 persons were killed in the Johnstown, Pa., flood of 1889.

Shapp said state officials have estimated damage in Pennsylvania at $1.25 billion, including $531 million in highway damage, $50 million to schools and at least $35 million to agriculture. Preliminary damage estimates from other states bring the total to more than $1.6 billion.

The death toll in upstate New York included three persons surveying damage who died when their helicopter crashed near Hornell.

An estimated 98,000 persons were homeless in New York state.

In Virginia, the Appomattox River was expected to crest at about 3 p.m. today and spare Petersburg and Hopewell from heavy flooding that had been feared earlier.

The James River brought record flooding to the business district of Richmond, Va., the state capital. The water was receding, but the flooding had polluted Richmond's water supply.

Residents of low-lying towns of West Virginia's northern panhandle and eastern Ohio left their homes as the Ohio River rose.

Residents on the Ohio side of the river, used to floods, waited to return to their homes and to what an observer called "a big muddy mess."

Quotas lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today ordered all quota restrictions removed on meat imports into the United States for the rest of 1972 in hopes of halting the spiraling cost of beef.

The president said his action alone might not solve the problem. He said further measures would be taken if necessary.

"I intend to monitor this situation closely and I want to assure every American housewife that this administration is firmly determined to prevent unjustified increases in the cost of food," Nixon said in a statement.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, briefing newsmen on details of the President's actions, ruled out for the present any price freeze on meats or other raw agricultural products now not covered by Phase II controls.

But the President earlier hinted price controls might be necessary if other measures do not work.

Dem planks score war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — debate on it, the proposed immediate U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia, postwar amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters, and abolition of the draft were proposed today as major planks in the 1972 Democratic presidential campaign platform.

The platform proposed to the 150-member Democratic Platform Committee by a 15-member drafting subcommittee also endorsed limited school busing to achieve quality education and taxpayer financing of most election campaign costs.

The subcommittee split 7-6-7 with Chairman Kenneth Gibson not voting — on the defense plank.

One version backed by supporters of Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., the frontrunner for the party's presidential nomination, called for less military spending.

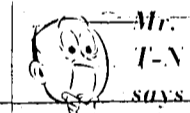

The other, backed by supporters of Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., called for "a program of national defense which is both prudent and responsible, which will retain the confidence of our allies, and which will be a deterrent to potential aggressors."

Even before the platform committee began two days of They're more interested in the exotic," Pelham said. "They're more interested in deserters than POWs. They talk about the right of homosexuals to marry. That's nonsense."

Pelham's latter reference was to a proposed platform plank saying Americans should have the right to conduct their private lives as they wish.

Ted Van Dyk, McGovern's representative to the Platform Committee, said the South Dakota supporters would seek "severe changes" in the defense plank. If they fail to get the changes at the full committee sessions, he said, they will take the fight to the convention floor.

N. Viet plants blasted

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. F4 Phantom fighter-bombers streaked to within sight of Hanoi over the weekend, destroying a major power plant that supplies electricity to the North Vietnamese capital and bombarding the country's only modern steel mill.

Phantom pilots bombed the Viet Tri thermal power plant 25 miles northwest of Hanoi Sunday, the U.S. command said today, "effectively destroying" the facility's boiler, electrical switching building and the coal conveyor. The plant was the sole source of electricity for a nearby chemical factory and other industries, a command spokesman said, and supplied power to parts of the capital.

A command communiqué issued Sunday said 20 Phantoms battered the two-mile-square Thai Nguyen steel works 30 miles north of Hanoi Saturday with 2,000-pound laser-guided "Smart" bombs, the same types used against the power plant. The bombs knocked out several warehouses in the plant's complex and its open hearth furnaces for making steel. The mill turns out mainly mortars and spare parts for vehicles.

Witnesses win right to silence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a narrow 5-4 ruling, the Supreme Court held today that witnesses may refuse to testify before a grand jury unless the prosecution proves its questions are not based on illegal electronic surveillance.

The opinion was written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr. All four appointees of President Nixon dissented.

Brennan said that the 1970 Crime Control Act gives a grand jury witness the right to challenge alleged electronic surveillance which may have led to his subpoena.

The Crime Control Act allows wiretapping with a judge's permission but provides that neither the contents, nor "evidence derived therefrom" may be used in any trial or other state or federal proceeding unless the parties are notified in advance.

Hunt for hijacker pushed in Indiana

PERU, Ind. (UPI) — The pilot of an American Airlines jetliner from whose plane a hijacker jumped with $502,000 said he believed the man is dead. The FBI brought the pilot to this wooded search area today to help pinpoint his flying route.

The FBI said Leroy Berkebile, pilot of the plane from which the hijacker jumped with a parachute early Saturday, came to the area to join the search. Berkebile said he believed the hijacker had "no chance" of surviving the jump. Before leaving here to join in the search, he said he showed the hijacker an air speed indicator that "gave a speed almost 70 miles an hour slower than our actual speed."

The plane, a 727 jet, was going 320 m.p.h., Berkebile said.

Demos ask 'bug' probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has asked President Nixon to name a "special prosecutor" to investigate the early-morning bugging raid on Democratic National Headquarters 10 days ago.

The investigator, O'Brien said, should be of "unimpeachable integrity and national reputation."

O'Brien revealed during a televised interview Sunday he had sent a letter to Nixon over the weekend requesting the independent investigation. He said the special prosecutor should be provided "with whatever resources he requests to investigate the facts surrounding this violation of first amendment rights and to prosecute those responsible to the full extent of the law."

Five men were arrested June 17 inside the 29-office suite of the Democrats' headquarters. One of the suspects was James W. McCord Jr., a former Central Intelligence Agency employee who was security chief for the GOP National Committee and the Committee for Re-election of the President.

O'Brien revealed during his interview on NBC's "Meet the Press" that McCord and the four other suspects had with them walkie-talkies exclusively licensed to the GOP National Committee.

He said additional details involving Republican officials would be forthcoming Tuesday when a hearing is scheduled on the Democrats' $1 million suit filed against Nixon re-election committee.

Supreme Court gives decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled, 5 to 4, today that 13 persons and groups which challenged spying by the Army on civilians failed to show that their constitutional rights had been violated.

In an opinion by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the complainants in a test case against Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had not shown they were injured by the practice.

Burger said the Court intimates "no view with respect to the propriety or desirability, from a policy standpoint, of the challenged activities of the Department of the Army."

"Our conclusion is a narrow one, namely, that on this record (the complaining parties) have not presented a case for resolution by the courts."

Burger ruled against the claim of those who brought suit that "the very existence of the Army's data-gathering system produces a constitutionally impermissible chilling effect upon the exercise of their first amendment rights."

Burger noted that the case reflects "a traditional and strong resistance of Americans to any military intrusion into civilian affairs."

Court rules unanimously

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that officials of a Connecticut college denied students their rights of free speech and association in refusing to allow organization of a chapter of the left-wing Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

The Court said officials of Central Connecticut State College acted unconstitutionally even though "SDS chapters on some campuses had been a catalytic force" during widespread campus rioting in the 1969-70 school year.

Hotel burns

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Firemen don't know how much water today poured into the smoldering ruins of the Desert Hotel, formerly the second largest in the city.

A fire Sunday night destroyed the 78-year-old structure with most of the floors of the building falling into the basement by morning.

Authorities said all those living in the 66-room hotel apparently escaped uninjured from the building which also housed the offices of the chamber of commerce, the athletic roundtable, a restaurant, an insurance firm and a real estate agency.

All available fire units from Coeur d'Alene, Post Falls and Hayden Lake were rushed to the scene to battle the blaze which at times threatened to spread to nearby structures.

TF barber shop closes up after 60 years' business

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — After 60 years of continuous business and cutting the hair of five generations of some customers, Knight's Barber Shop has closed.

The business closed its doors Saturday for the first time since June 8, 1912, when the late Albert Knight arrived in Twin Falls with $4, a wife and two sons, and started a barber shop. For most of the 60 years, the shop was located in the Fidelity Bank Building, now the Idaho First National Bank. About eight years ago the firm moved to the Rex Ulrich Building on Second Street East.

Sidney L. and Alvie Knight who have operated the barber shop the past several years both plan to retire.

Sidney Knight said the Knight barber shop, one time employed five barbers — Albert, Sidney, Alvie Knight, and Frank Green and George Van Tilberg. The shop also cut the hair of the late I. B. Perrine, father of the Twin Falls Tract, and four succeeding generations of the Perrine family, he said.

Sidney Knight, whose wife, Mary Ann Knight, has been teaching nursing at Idaho State University, Pocatello, until recently, plans to make his home in Twin Falls with some time out for traveling.

Alvie Knight and his wife, Ann Knight, now employed as a nurse at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, will move to Green Valley, Ariz., near Tucson in October. The couple is building a home there and expect to be able to occupy it this fall.

Both men expressed their appreciation to their many loyal customers over the years. Many of the shop's customers reside as far away as Hailey, Burley and other areas of Magic Valley.

Gem merger plan backed

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — The Idaho State Employees Association endorsed Saturday Senate Joint Resolution 132 calling for consolidation of the executive branch of state government into 20 departments by Jan. 1, 1975.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, upon receiving notification of the endorsement by the association meeting in convention here, said, "Certainly they realize the immensity of the problem. They work with it every day."

Idaho cities back reorganizing plan

POCATELLO (UPI) — The Association of Idaho Cities has endorsed passage of Senate Joint Resolution 132 which calls for state government reorganization.

The unanimous vote came during the association's state convention in Pocatello Saturday. The constitutional amendment which will be on the ballot in November would limit the executive branch to no more than 20 departments by Jan. 1, 1975.

American Falls Mayor Ralph Wheeler, the AIC's outgoing president, called the endorsement a "first step toward the type of state government necessary to better serve local officials."

In other AIC activity Saturday, the association adopted several resolutions, including one that said when property revaluation results in an upward adjustment of more than 25 percent, the impact should be spread over a three-year period.

Other resolutions were that the cities want to have legislation giving them some say in planning and zoning matters of county lands adjacent to city boundaries up to three miles in distance.

The association wants the language regarding definition of public employees bargaining units to be clarified.

Ruling on counsel called troublesome

BOISE (UPI) — A Supreme Court decision affording counsel in all criminal cases where a judge may impose a jail sentence is giving the Idaho Judicial system headaches.

Green Giant gives camp donation

BUHL — A $500 donation to the Snake River Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, for use at Camp Bradley has been made by the Green Giant Co., according to Coley Parrish, Twin Falls council president.

The money will be used in the construction of a dining hall in the final phase of the Camp Bradley improvement program.

Camp Bradley, located 20 miles northwest of Stanley, was purchased by the Snake River Council in 1957. The camp was formerly a dude ranch. The main building was converted into a dining hall when the camp was purchased by the council. Since that time the growth of the scouting program has made it necessary to build a new dining facility.

The Snake River Area Council currently stands as number two in America in the percentage of boys in the out-of-doors and participation in its summer camping program.

Wendell Young, Rupert, is chairman of the council camping committee.

Purse taken from auto in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Teresa Wambolt, Twin Falls, reported Saturday to city police that someone took her purse from her car at the Arctic Circle.

She said she was closing the drive-in for the night and went to her car parked on the lot when she noticed she had forgotten to turn out all of the inside lights.

She said she left the purse in the car and walked back to the building. When she returned she noticed the door was unlocked, but did not think anything about it until she returned home and began to look for her purse, finding it was not in the automobile. Loss of the purse and contents was estimated at $110.

COMMENT With Vengeance

Seattle Post-Intelligencer

"My brother's enemy is my enemy." So goes an old Arabic proverb. A newer proverb, first mouthed by a comic strip character, goes: "We have found the enemy, and they is us."

Perhaps Libya's 29-year-old premier, Col. Muammar El-Qaddafi, ought to try saying them both, one after the other. It might give him a clue to what he is doing.

What he says he is doing is sending money, weapons and volunteers to support "Irish revolutionaries," supporting Moslems against the government in the Philippines; supporting American blacks against American "arrogance," and he is promising money, training and volunteers to the Palestine guerrilla groups.

Thus spake the premier a few days ago. Ever since he led a coup in 1969 to set up a "democratic and free" republic, Col. Qaddafi has been making speeches designed to place upon himself the mantle of Arab leadership that fell from Gamal Abdel Nasser. He has not succeeded. His latest oration indicates the reason.

The real enemies of his Arab brothers are not the Americans and British — who are among Libya's principal trading partners — nor the Filipinos. The road to peace with Israel would be smoother without the verbal rocks strewn by the premier, who has gone out of his way to offend.

The real enemies are hunger, disease and poverty.

In fact about two million of Premier Qaddafi's brothers are fellow Libyans whose life expectancy is 37 years.

The illiteracy rate is 73 per cent. Only 3.8 per cent of the gross national product is spent on education, although Libya earns $3 billion a year, more than half of that from its immense oil fields.

No Arab leader has been able to unify the Arab countries by diverting their attention away from the conditions that do unite them in misery.

With much to do in his own land, with much to be done for his brothers in nearby Arab lands, Premier Qaddafi has instead chosen to align himself with vengeance, violence and death. He should be employing Libya's resources on the side of understanding, peace and life.

WASHINGTON — By now, I expect the working man in, say, Kalamazoo, Mich., accepts as one of the facts of lunatic America that so-called "political demonstrators" at the Democratic and Republican conventions in Miami Beach will be permitted to fornicate in the streets and parks, destroy public and private property and otherwise do their thing.

But that working man must be at the very least bemused by the frantic efforts of Miami Beach officials to ensure that the crazies are as comfortable and as well-fed as possible.

City officials apparently feel that if X millions of tax dollars are not spent to provide camping grounds, toilets, chow lines, medical care and possibly free marijuana, the woidsos will turn petulant and reduce Florida's bourgeois Xanadu to ruins. I suppose that's the way it was in another day when scouts for a European city reported that Attila was enroute with his

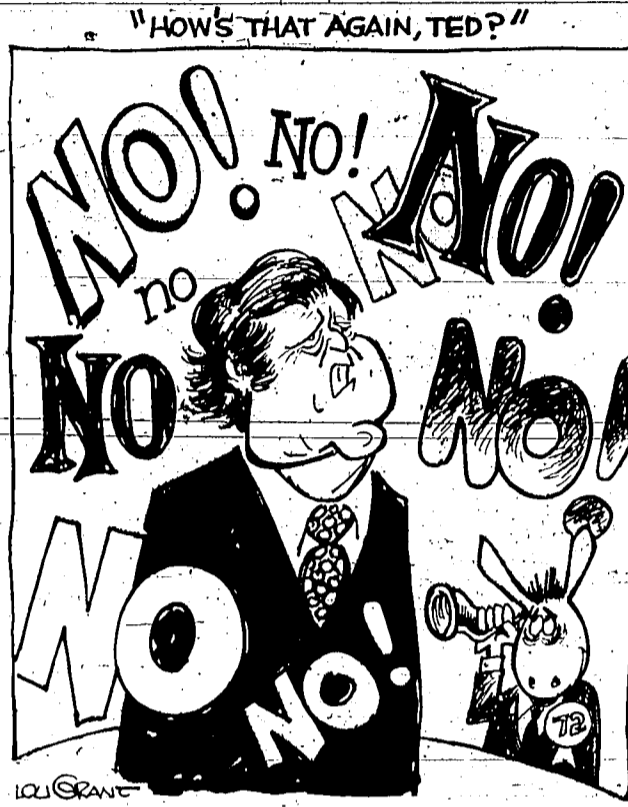

Huns.

At any rate, there seems no doubt that tax monies will be spent in large quantities to accommodate these tourists. The city fearfully expects about 30,000 for the Democratic convention opening July 10 and upward to 100,000 for the Republican show in August. If these estimates are accurate, the Miami Beach scene will make the Chicago of 1968 look like an assembly of the Epworth League; only 5,000 to 10,000 made it to Dick Daley's town. Steve Greenberg is "worried as hell." Greenberg is director of Operation Switchboard, a Miami outfit that serves as a clearing house between the nuts and city officials. (I refuse to refer to the invaders as "underground elements.")

"Let's face it," says Greenberg. "This could be the only scene to make this summer. There are no major rock concerts going on anywhere to siphon off some of this energy, and Miami is one of the major drug centers in the country. . . we may be getting bikers, addicts, curiosity seekers and troublemakers." George McGovern also should be worried as hell. So far, his youthful activists have behaved beautifully, but there could be trouble ahead. Most of the crazies are McGovern supporters, not because of any ideological rapport with the South Dakotan but because his platform is the nearest thing they can find to anti-establishmentarianism. If, as expected, they try to raze the town, the blame will not be borne by Ed Muskie or Rep. Wilbur Mills, but, unfairly, by George McGovern.

Moreover, although McGovern's nomination is virtually assured, debate on the party platform could bear violent fruit. Many of McGovern's delegates

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK Vann's Legacy

WASHINGTON — The irony of the military funeral for John Paul Vann at Arlington National Cemetery was the prominence of Cabinet members and four-star generals, symbolizing the very establishmentarians whose bungling in Indochina he battled for a decade.

Like the funeral, many eulogies have distorted Vann's unique role in Vietnam. Hawks have painted him as a superpatriot, bravely but simplistically questing after military victory. Doves have depicted him as a former critic of the war somehow corrupted by power into embracing what had once disillusioned him.

The facts are dramatically different. Besides being one of the very few heroic figures to emerge from the war, Vann from the first to the last was a non-conformist critic of tragically mistaken policies that moved Saigon and Washington. At the end, performing essentially military duties formerly entrusted to a lieutenant-general, Vann had changed his critical outlook as an obscure lieutenant-colonel a decade earlier. That hard, critical view is his legacy.

What changed was Vann's discretion. Although still outspoken, Vann realized in 1970 that Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker in Saigon would sack him at the next outburst. Knowing his influence would abruptly end if he became a dismissed rebel, Vann avoided public criticism. But talking privately to us late into the night at campsites in the Vietnamese wilderness, Vann left no doubt he felt anti-Communist forces in Vietnam had made a mess of it.

Most important, Vann deeply believed 50,000 American lives lost in Vietnam were tragically unnecessary. He felt that if President Johnson in 1965 had fixed as hard U.S. policy the prevention of a Communist takeover and nothing more, as a few as 100,000 U.S. troops would have sufficed.

But that would have required immediate strengthening of the South Vietnamese army (ARVN) — in effect, Vietnamization four years before it came. As a lieutenant-colonel in the early 1960s, Vann urged arming ARVN with M-16 automatic rifles in place of obsolete M-1 carbines. The Pentagon refused, forcing ARVN to lag behind well-equipped U.S. troops, who then did most of the fighting — and dying.

With the advent of Richard M. Nixon and Vietnamization in 1969, Vann's views became more respectable and his voice more powerful. But he criticized the slow U.S. troop withdrawal and argued unsuccessfully with Gen. Creighton Abrams and the

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Her Puzzle

Dear Dr. Thosteson I have received a lot of good advice from you I'm a diabetic and am on a 2,000-calorie diet and the doctor says I am fit as a fiddle.

What I want to know is the definition for carbohydrates. What are they? The dictionary just has something about animal growth that I can't define. E.R.

Let's see if we can take some of the mystery out of it.

By definition, carbohydrates are foods of a certain chemical makeup — a particular pattern of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, and they are organic, meaning that they come from a life form of some kind. So I

Fat in meat, vegetable oils; not much in fruit, although there are exceptions.

Now carbohydrates: for your purposes, consider them as being mainly various types of sugar (cane sugar, sugars in fruits, honey, etc.) and various starchy foods. Spaghetti, macaroni, white flour, corn starch are the main examples of foods that are almost entirely carbohydrate.

Carbohydrates don't "build cells."

Carbohydrates are the "fuel" of the body, giving us heat and energy, while protein "builds." (Some protein, however, is converted into carbohydrate in the body.)

Fats supply some needs that come from neither of the other groups, although fats, of which most of us eat too much, also supply energy. Fats are higher in calories than carbohydrates or protein.

Sugar is absorbed very rapidly. Starches, too, are absorbed more slowly. But if you eat more carbohydrates than you need, the surplus will be stored in the body as fat. (Same is true of fats.)

Many vegetables, useful for mineral and vitamin content, are mixtures of elements: some carbohydrate, usually little fat (but there are notable exceptions), usually little protein (but again there are occasional exceptions).

We need some of all the major elements — but be cautious of sugars and starchy foods of all kinds when you don't want to gain weight.

The Picture

Wenatchee World

The true horror of war was brought a little closer to Americans last week by a picture that will surely win a Pulitzer.

It showed children fleeing down a road after a napalm strike. One little girl was naked. She had torn off her burning clothes, but it was reported her skin was literally burned off her back.

The strike was an accident. It was flown by South Vietnamese bombers. The napalm was intended for North Vietnamese.

But would it have been more justified if the children had been of the north, instead of the south?

Thanks to American saturation bombing, the Saigon government appears to have been saved. We may "win" the war yet.

But looking at that picture, many an American must wonder what we've won.

Pollution

Christian Science Monitor

"Man has the fundamental right to freedom, equality and adequate conditions of life, in an environment of a quality which permits a life of dignity and well-being."

These are the opening words of the Declaration of Principles adopted by the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment in Stockholm last week.

This remarkable document then stresses that man bears "a solemn responsibility to protect and improve the environment for present and future generations."

That the Stockholm conference was able to reach a considerable measure of agreement on the issues before it and to adopt this charter shows that the nations of the world — both the industrial states and the developing states — have a new awareness of the importance of conserving their planet and protecting it from pollution and environmental neglect. Margaret Mead, the anthropologist, in an address to the conference on behalf of nongovernmental organizations, referred to this aroused perception as "a revolution in thought fully comparable to the Copernican revolution by which, four centuries ago, men were compelled to revise their whole sense of the earth's place in the cosmos."

In addition to its adoption of the charter, the conference also approved an action plan containing some 200 recommendations on pollution, population control and preservation of plant and wildlife, and proposals to set up a new environmental coordinating unit at the United Nations and an environment fund which will help finance international efforts not covered by existing UN specialized agencies. All these measures will have to be endorsed by the UN General Assembly at its next session in the fall.

It is most regrettable that the Soviet Union and other East European nations (with the exception of Romania and Yugoslavia) stayed away from the conference for a purely political reason — that East Germany was not allowed to attend as a full voting participant. However, the fact that all the conference's recommendations will have to go before the UN Assembly will give the Communist countries the opportunity to be included in them.

Surely they will not want to be left out of the "revolution in thought" that the Stockholm conference symbolized. There is no doubt that the Russians are genuinely concerned about the environment as the agreement they signed with the United States at the Moscow summit showed.

The People's Republic of China produced a few firecrackers at Stockholm but nothing strong enough to block adoption of the charter and other main recommendations.

To rally all the participating nations in support of the conference proposals at a meeting lasting only 11 days was something of a tour de force. Much of the conference's success was due to the extraordinary skill and untiring energy of its chief organizer, Maurice Strong of Canada. But the conference could only have succeeded if the desire to succeed was universal.

The measure of universality achieved at Stockholm is a measure of man's new concern for the future of his planet and the whole human family.

BRUCE BLOSSAT Heat Is On

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The discontents which so many Americans are exhibiting this year have an opposite side which almost no one in this country is talking about.

The reverse side is that, in struggling for something better, Americans may turn to leaders whose promise of easing their discontents will be harder to fulfill than the extravagant promises which have helped to create the frustrations in the first place.

Obviously, a lot of the grumbling is a response to what Americans see as a deterioration of the setting in which they live. Public services are poor; crime makes the streets unsafe; pollution sullies the air and water; traffic smotheres easy movement.

Yet it is a fair judgment that much of their unhappiness comes from measuring their condition in a more relative sense — against what they have actually been promised, or think they should be, by the politicians.

For a long time, Americans have been caught up in a "revolution of rising expectations." They have been looking for an end to poverty, for more and better jobs, schools, houses, recreation. But the critical fact, of course, is that these expectations have been only partly fulfilled. We all know the huge gap between promise or expectation and performance.

Like others, I have written often of the politicians' deepest habit of overpromising, which surely has come to fullest flower in recent decades.

In the unfolding summer of 1972, the consequences of all this threaten to be desperately serious. Explicit in the voicing of the citizens' discontents is their plea for leaders "who mean what they say."

Translated, that signifies a desire for leaders who will in fact deliver on things already promised by others, and maybe on much more.

Should Sen. George McGovern move in the months ahead to win the Democratic presidential nomination and then the fall election, this could prove to be the worst man trap ever prepared for a White House occupant.

For McGovern has been a superextravagant promiser and yet, in a time of great disillusionment, he has been believed. The burden upon him as president thus would be monumental.

Any measurable failure on his part could turn his present friends and supporters into far worse enemies than those who are trying futilely to block his nomination in these closing weeks.

Why? Because the strange chemistry of the "rising expectations" thing has destroyed almost all restraint in the disgruntled citizenry.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I feel so INVOLVED! I'm using the new rate paper I bought today—it's RECYCLED!"

Shipbuilder goes broke?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Litton Industries, which holds major ship construction contracts with the Navy, is on the brink of financial disaster, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today.

He said the firm is pressing the Navy for payment of $450 million in "an attempt to shift the costs of its own inadequacies to the American taxpayer."

The $450 million demand is a claim made by Litton on grounds that the Navy changed its contracts after they had been signed. Proxmire said Navy officials have testified that only a small fraction of the claim could be justified.

A spokesman for Litton Industries said the firm's "financial health has never been the issue." He said Litton "in every way" has carried out the requirements of standard accounting and reporting practices and full disclosure in accordance with government regulations.

The spokesman said the Navy had failed to pay for submarine modifications it agreed to in early 1970 and also had failed to pay for four ammunition supply ships, two of which have been delivered.

"Payment is long overdue and meanwhile Litton is subsidizing Navy shipbuilding," the spokesman said.

In a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate today and in a letter to Navy Secretary John W. Warner, Proxmire urged the Navy to declare Litton in default on a contract for helicopter-carrying vessels even though this would mean "the company could face a financial crisis of major proportions in the near future."

Proxmire wrote Warner that Litton is pressing for payment of at least $40 million on its claims by July 31, the end of the firm's fiscal year "when it will be required to demonstrate its financial solvency to its auditors and creditors."

"I urge you not to allow Litton to become the Navy's Lockheed," Proxmire wrote, recalling the need for legislation guaranteeing a government-backed loan to Lockheed to allow the nation's biggest defense contractor to avoid bankruptcy.

Proxmire also made public a letter to William J. Casey, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, questioning whether Litton's failure to report its claims to its stockholders violated SEC rules.

The senator said Litton was two years behind schedule in building the LHA, an amphibious ship carrying assault helicopters. He said delays on the LHA have also delayed the DD-963 destroyer for which Litton holds the contract.

"It is becoming increasingly clear that Litton is unable to perform any of its major shipbuilding contracts without running up huge cost overruns," Proxmire said.

McGovern backers challenge votes

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Angry supporters of Sen. George S. McGovern said Sunday they would challenge Washington State's 52 delegates to the Democratic National Convention after the forces of Sen. Henry M. Jackson stripped them of eight delegates.

McGovern backers said they would retaliate for the action at the state convention Saturday that gave all 52 delegates to the Washington senator.

Jackson forces dominated the dissension-torn meeting as they successfully challenged 70 state convention delegates nominated earlier at congressional district caucuses.

Even some of the pro-Jackson delegates expressed dismay at the treatment accorded the McGovern delegates. But they said the decision to take all the delegates came directly from Jackson, who was reported bitter over McGovern's candidacy.

McGovern delegates caucused at one point during the stormy proceedings and then decided against walking out. They said staying would boost their chances to challenge the Jackson delegates in Miami.

One McGovern delegate, Maurice Hugin of Spokane County, said much of the political bloodshed was unnecessary.

"It will take a long time to heal the wounds," he said. He looked toward some Jackson delegates and said, "Shame on you."

Viet withdrawal announcement due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon was back in the White House today preparing for a busy week that will see him announce a new troop withdrawal from Vietnam.

Nixon spent the weekend at Camp David, flying back to the White House by helicopter Sunday evening with his wife, Pat, and their daughter, Julie, and son-in-law, David Eisenhower.

Sometime this week, Nixon will announce the next U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam. The force level will be reduced to 49,000 by July 1.

Informed sources said Nixon was expected to maintain a residual force in Vietnam until the Communists agree to a cease-fire and the release of U.S. prisoners of war.

Nixon also plans to hold another news conference—probably Thursday. It is expected to deal both with domestic and foreign policy. A news conference, held last week, was restricted to domestic policy.

The President scheduled a morning meeting today with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, his special representative to the Vatican. Early in the afternoon he planned to greet Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the retiring Army chief of staff, and his family.

Friday, Nixon will fly to the California White House at San Clemente. He will stay there for perhaps as long as three weeks while the Democrats are holding their national convention in Miami Beach.

Rain slows bear hunt in Yellowstone wilds

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI) — A park official said today heavy rains and thick foliage may prevent rangers from ever finding a bear which attacked and killed an Alabama man Sunday as he camped near Old Faithful geyser.

"And if we find the bear, we may never be able to definitely identify it as the one involved," assistant park superintendent Vernon Hennessey said.

The National Park Service said Harry Eugene Walker, 25, of Anniston, Ala., was walking into camp in the darkness when the bear attacked. A companion, Phillip H. Bradberry of Oxford, Ala., escaped unharmed.

"The bear was just acting naturally," Hennessey said. "It was trying to protect what it thought was his and just charged the fellows when they came out of the woods. Any animal eating will do this."

The area where the attack occurred, one-half mile from Old Faithful, was immediately sealed off to visitors. Rangers patrolled the area on foot and by helicopter in an effort to locate the bear, but were unsuccessful.

The attack was only the fourth reported killing by a bear in Yellowstone National Park in its 100 year history. The last such incident occurred in the Northwest Wyoming Park in 1942, when a woman was attacked and killed.

Welshman, 88, freed

HONG KONG (UPI) — David Edmunds, an 88-year-old Welshman held by Chinese authorities since 1967, arrived in Hong Kong today "in fine spirits and excellent health," a government official reported from the Sino-British border.

Edmunds was accompanied by his Chinese wife, Bernadette, and their daughter, Margaret.

Edmunds had been living in Shanghai since the 1920's.

Hennessey said there was no way of knowing whether Sunday's marauder was a black bear or a grizzly. Heavy rain fell during the day, wiping out any possible trace of tracks.

Rangers also had difficulty in locating the campsite, which was in an unauthorized camping area. Bradberry fled a half-mile on foot to the Old Faithful Inn to report the attack, but he was unable to pinpoint the exact site, officials said.

Hennessey said it took rangers until 5:30 a.m. Sunday, nearly 4-1/2 hours after the attack, to locate the body. He said the victim had been badly mauled.

"The camp was pretty much of a wreck," Hennessey said. "The bear punctured cans of

Martha leaves John

THURMONT, Md. (UPI) — Martha Mitchell says she loves her husband "very much" but is "leaving him until he decides to leave" President Nixon's re-election organization.

Mrs. Mitchell told of her decision Sunday in a tearful telephone call to this reporter. She made the call from the Westchester Country Club at Rye, N.Y., her former home.

She complained that she had become "a political prisoner" and "can't stand" any more of the life she has been leading since her husband, John, left his job as attorney general to direct Nixon's campaign.

"It's horrible to me," she said. "I have been through so much. I don't like it. Martha isn't going to stand for it."

Mrs. Mitchell referred to an earlier call she made Thursday night from California.

She said a security agent for the re-election committee "pulled the telephone out of the wall" to stop her from talking.

"I hope you print that," she said. "To have this jerk...this character come in and pull the telephone out of the wall."

In the Thursday call, Mrs. Mitchell threatened to leave her husband unless he gave up politics. She said she was in her bed in her bedroom at her villa at Newport Beach, Calif., when the incident occurred.

"If you could see me, you wouldn't believe it," she said. "I'm black and blue. I'm a political prisoner."

Leone sets government

ROME (UPI) — Acting Premier Giulio Andreotti told President Giovanni Leone today he has succeeded in forming a government which at least temporarily ends a decade of center-left rule.

Leone signed appointment decrees for Andreotti and the new ministers. Aides said the cabinet would take the oath of office at 6 p.m. (noon EDT).

Dockmen's union agrees to delay

HONOLULU (UPI)—The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union agreed to a one-week delay in its threatened Hawaiian dock strike just three hours before more than 900 dockworkers were scheduled to walk off Hawaii's docks today.

Gov. John A. Burns said the ILWU and Hawaii's stevedoring industry had agreed to "stop the clock" and continue "intensive negotiations" for another week. The new deadline is 12:01 a.m. Monday, July 3.

The governor told a Sunday night news conference he has "every reason to believe that a contract will be reached" during the one-week extension.

The longshoremen have been working without a new contract for nearly a year. They said Friday the strike would be called for Sunday midnight (6 a.m. EDT) unless a new contract was reached.

The governor said he had called both sides to his home at 8:15 p.m. Sunday after learning that both sides agreed to an 82-cent wage increase. The proposal was the same formula used to settle the recent West Coast dock strike.

The governor's suggestion was that 42 cents of the pay hike be made retroactive from Dec. 25, and that the 40 cent additional increase be granted July 1.

Both sides agreed, Burns said, to return to the bargaining table today to work out a settlement.

The threatened strike would have paralyzed Hawaii's commerce, and would have been the first dock tie-up since 1949.

Mass murder probe continues

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI)—A continuing investigation into the June 21 mass murder at an office building here appears to hang on the condition of suspect Edwin Grace, who is unable to speak due to throat wounds, according to authorities.

Grace, listed in serious condition at Cherry Hill Medical Center, has been charged with the shootings that left six men dead and six others injured.

A spokesman for the Camden County Prosecutor's Office said Sunday that the investigation centered around finding a motive for the bloody spree in the Heritage Office Building here last Wednesday. He indicated this meant waiting for Grace to recover enough to talk.

The only connection uncovered so far between Grace and the two-story office building was that the suspect had submitted an application to a personnel agency on the second floor at one time. He failed to get a job through the agency.

Grace was employed as a Pinkerton guard at the time of the shootings. He had previously worked as a security guard for a private firm in Jamaica, N.Y., but had been dismissed because of "excess absences."

Cherry Hill Police Chief Frank Jones said the suspect, who was charged on 19 counts, including six of murder, may suffer permanent loss of speech. Grace was found critically wounded from what authorities believe were self-inflicted throat wounds.

The suspect was under a tight security guard at the medical center and will be questioned as soon as medical clearance is granted, Camden County Prosecutor A. Donald Bigley said.

WEISER (UPI)—The Weiser National Old Time Fiddlers Contest is over for another year, and Dick Barrett of Polkville, Texas, is the grand national champion for the second year in a row.

He made the victory a family affair, since his accompanists were his daughter Christy, 15, and his son Brett, 13.

Hearings open

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Banking Committee opened hearings today on controversial legislation which would revamp most of the nation's housing laws.

The committee, headed by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., was expected to spend several weeks considering the proposed Omnibus Housing and Urban Development Act of 1972. Sections of the bill would redraft federal codes on public housing, settlement costs and kickbacks, FHA credit, community grants and urban mass transit.

The panel's housing subcommittee, headed by Rep. William A. Barrett, D-Pa., made many changes in the original bill. Many of the alterations were opposed by the Republican leadership.

Miss Wisconsin

MISS APPLETON, Terry Ann Meeuwse, was named Saturday night as Miss Wisconsin for 1977 in Oshkosh. (UPI)

Remove valuables

ISLETON, Calif. (UPI)—Many of this flood-ravaged town's 1,300 residents returned home for brief visits today to remove valuable belongings and to view first-hand the havoc caused by a break in a levee last week.

Officials began permitting residents during the weekend to collect whatever possessions they could load quickly into cars and pickups under the watchful eye of police guarding against looting.

Castaneda killed

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—Oliverio Castaneda, vice president of the Guatemalan Congress, was killed Sunday night in an apparent political assassination, police said today.

Authorities released no immediate details of Castaneda's death, which occurred only seven hours after President Carlos Arana Osorio returned home from a vacation in Europe and the United States.

Castaneda, 46, was a deputy in the government's National Liberation Movement. He had been the country's chief of security, and opposition members of Congress charged that during that time he was responsible for numerous crimes, including assassinations.

The tiny Central American nation has a long history of assassinations.

IRA escalation precedes truce

BELFAST (UPI)—Irish Republican Army (IRA) militants escalated their attacks today, giving a final show of power before putting aside their arms for a cease-fire that could be an important step toward peace in Northern Ireland.

The cease-fire goes into effect at midnight (7 p.m. EDT). Both branches of the IRA and the British army have agreed to observe the truce. However, IRA sources said the militant Provisional wing of the IRA was going all-out in the final hours before the cease-fire, presumably to show they were not forced to observe it because of weakness.

Six persons were killed in a weekend of violence, including three British soldiers whose landrover touched off a mine. A 17-year-old Roman Catholic youth was shot from a passing auto in Belfast Saturday, and two men were killed in Belfast shooting incidents Sunday.

In all, 389 persons have been killed in the three years of Ulster violence.

IRA sources said the Provisionals, after going all-out in the final hours before the truce, would strictly enforce the cease-fire once it was in effect. They said Belfast IRA commander Seamus Twomey told militants who oppose the cease-fire the Provisionals would join with the IRA's Official wing in punishing those who did not observe it.

At the same time, the Provisionals warned Catholics to be prepared for attacks from militant Protestant groups after the cease-fire begins. Leaflets distributed in the Catholic Ardoyne area urged residents to stock up on canned food and milk and in an emergency do whatever their local IRA commander ordered.

A series of bombs went off early today, including one massive blast on a bridge of the main railway line leading north from Belfast. Although the bomb was so big it could be heard 18 miles away, it did not damage the line.

Typhoon moves toward China

HONG KONG (UPI)—Typhoon Ora moved toward the China mainland today after battering populous Luzon Province in the Philippines.

Unofficial reports in Manila put the death toll at 21 with at least 19 injured. The casualty list was expected to grow as communications are restored with some of the worst hit areas of southern and central Luzon.

Hong Kong, still recovering from the worst rainstorms in nearly a century, braced for a buffeting by the fringe winds of the storm.

A storm warning was issued at mid-afternoon today and officials warned the four million residents of this British colony to take all precautions.

While the storm approached, rescue workers searched for the bodies of 79 persons still missing as a result of four days of destructive rains a week ago. The number of confirmed dead stood at 102 with one other person presumed dead.

The latest report from the Royal Observatory said the storm was centered about 230 miles south of Hong Kong at 2 a.m. EDT. It was moving northwest toward the South China coast at 12 knots with center winds in excess of 75 miles an hour.

Winds up to 39 knots were recorded in outlying areas of Hong Kong in mid-afternoon. They were expected to increase as the typhoon moved closer.

Royal Observatory officials said up to four inches of rain could be expected if the storm maintains its present course.

If it stays on course it will hit the China coast about 120 miles west of Hong Kong Tuesday morning.

Top farm family

WELCOMED to White House by President Nixon were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dixon of Lonoke, Ark., chosen "Farm Family of Year." Nixon commended Dixon for his rise from sharecropper to man with earnings of $190,000. Farmers Home Administration made selection. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are parents of three children, (from left) Kimberly, 1; Anita, 8, and Stephen, 6. (UPI)

Sludge disposal test fertilizes farm fields

BY BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new Agriculture Department experiment may help find a new way to dispose of some of the millions of tons of sewage sludge which pour out of waste treatment plants all over the nation, officials said today.

The test began early this spring on a 75-acre plot at the department's research center at nearby Beltsville, Md. Tank trucks are being used to haul sludge from a big District of Columbia sewage plant to be mixed into the soil at rates ranging up to 500 tons per acre.

The goal of the experiments, which will continue for several years, is to find out how much sewage waste can be turned into farm and orchard soils with maximum benefit to crops and minimum hazard to the environment.

Spokesmen said the test was launched because sewage sludge has become "one of the great disposal problems facing municipalities battling to clean up the environment."

All current disposal methods have some drawbacks. Dumping in the ocean pollutes the seas; burial in landfills poses a threat of contamination to groundwater; burning pollutes the air and leaves 50 per cent of the solids as ash.

A new disposal system on farms, if it proved practical on a large scale, could ease the burden of handling sludge. In addition, scientists said, use of sludge in soil could provide more nutrition for crops and improved water-holding structure in the soil.

But there are potential dangers, too, which must be evaluated — the possibility of excess nitrate from human and animal wastes in the sludge, which could contaminate groundwater; the possibility of damage to crops from residues of metals which migrate from home plumbing and industries into sewage; and possible movement of bacteria into water supplies.

At the Beltsville experimental plot, most of the sludge is being buried in trenches and covered with soil. Test crops grown in the treated area include a wide range of products ranging from fruit trees to corn, soybeans, tomatoes, alfalfa and fescue grass.

To check the effect on water, drain lines were installed so that both groundwater and surface runoff can be collected and analyzed. Wells dotting the site also allow a check on possible nitrate buildup in groundwater.

Under the direction of Drs. James Menzies and John Walker, the team running the experiment includes microbiologists, agronomists, soil scientists, plant physiologists, biological technicians, pathologists and engineers. They are working in collaboration with specialists

Farm

Soybean prices remain strong

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Comparatively short supplies in comparison with a booming demand will keep soybean prices strong through the rest of the 1971-72 marketing season, agriculture Department economists predict.

The experts, writing in a "facts and oils situation" summary report, noted farm prices had risen from a harvest-season low of $2.84 a bushel last fall to $3.35 in May.

For the entire season which runs through August, the farm price should average $3 a bushel — up 6 per cent from 1970-71, the report said.

Production prospects for the 1972 crop probably won't have much impact on prices for old-crop beans through the rest of the marketing season unless the outlook changes markedly from early-season forecasts, the report added. Some buyers have already said demand in the 1972-73 marketing year is likely to be greater than the 1972 crop.

Looking at the current season in which the 1971 crop is still being sold, the department report predicted it would probably fall nearly 40 million bushels short of total domestic and export sales.

As a result, carryover supplies probably will be pulled down from 99 million bushels last fall to about 60 million bushels this September.

Economists indicated sales this season could have been greater if farmers had produced more last year. They said tight supplies are reducing total soybean disappearance about 4 per cent this season to an estimated 1.2 billion bushels. Soybean-planting conditions this spring have been "generally favorable," the report added. It said the planted acreage will be estimated in a survey due for release July 12.

Average US farm sales up

WASHINGTON — The average gross sales on U.S. farms showed a major increase from 1964 to 1969, according to Bureau of the Census report.

Gross sales on U.S. farms averaged $16,705 when the 1969 Census of Agriculture was taken compared with an average of $11,178 when the previous census was taken, in 1964.

The 1969 census also revealed that the average age of farm and ranch operators, which had been climbing steadily, turned slightly downward from 51.3 to 51.2 years of age between censuses. It had risen from 49.8 years in 1964 and 48.7 in 1945.

On the nation's more productive farms — those with $2,500 or more in annual gross sales, receipts in 1969 averaged $25,070, compared with $18,719 in 1964.

Chilean president facing difficulties

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Newly elected Marxist president, Salvador Allende Gossens Chile, is finding it easier to set up a Socialist state in principle than it is in fact.

Allende, who took office in November, 1970, has just reorganized his cabinet in an attempt to solve a crisis.

The split is between Allende's own Socialist Party and the Communists who are the main support of his government.

Of the two, the Moscow-oriented Communists are considered the more conservative.

Movement which is a splinter of Allende's own Socialists.

The Revolutionary Left or MIR has been a major force in the illegal seizure of farms and other private property.

Allende has criticized its actions but has taken no steps against it, presumably for political reasons.

A number of persons have been killed or wounded in clashes in which the MIR has been involved.

The Communists have been demanding action against the MIR, and apparently came out on top in Allende's latest cabinet reorganization.

A prominent figure dropped in the shake-up was the minister of economy, Pedro Vuskovic, a Marxist and former United Nations official who has been Allende's chief economic adviser.

Vuskovic has been prominent, coupled with price controls, by identified both with the accelerated rate of inflation and with the swift pace of government takeovers of private enterprise.

The inflation has wiped out the large wage increases which, in the state-owned enterprises, gave the country a temporary feeling of prosperity just after Allende took office.

That feeling has been replaced by mounting labor unrest brought on by printing press money and large deficits in the state-owned enterprises.

Agreement on oil likely

BEIRUT (UPI) — There is a "fair" chance that oil exporting countries and major western oil companies will reach agreement shortly on the question of participation, an economic bulletin said Saturday.

Ahmed-Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabian oil minister acting on behalf of major petroleum producing nations, met this week in London with company representatives to discuss national demands for a minimum 20 per cent share of the firms' operations.

"A good deal of progress was made — but by no means enough to clinch an agreement," the Middle East Economic Survey said in its weekly report.

"There is at least a fair chance that before a June 26 deadline, the companies will finally come around with an offer acceptable" to the countries, it said.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Do you know how this new idea of working a four-day week is going over? Several men where my husband is employed recently went on that four-day workweek and now my husband is considering going on it.

I suppose there are some advantages, but I'm not so sure how I would like that setup. It would mean having my husband around the house an extra day, and in the past some of those long holiday weekends have seemed awfully long to me.

I would like to discourage it in a subtle way, of course, but I don't want him to get the wrong idea. Anything you can tell me about it will be appreciated.

N. Y. POST
- READER

DEAR READER: If your husband gets the wrong idea, you're in the clear. It's the right idea you don't want him to get. Malcolm S. Forbes [Editor-in-Chief of Forbes magazine] says the men love the four-day workweek, but their wives aren't so crazy about having their husbands home that much. Malcolm must be reading your mind, Lady.

DEAR ABBY: Parents are warned repeatedly to keep cleaning fluids, drugs and poisons locked away where children cannot reach them. But nowhere have I seen a similar warning concerning iron tablets, which can be fatal if taken in large quantities.

Recently a beautiful 19-month-old child crawled up on to a chair and took a bottle of iron tablets out of the cupboard. Thinking they were candies, he screwed off the cap and before he could be stopped, swallowed some 50 tablets. He was rushed to the hospital but died 45 minutes later.

From iron tablets, Abby? But that child is just as dead as if he had swallowed rat poison. Please, please, warn others.

STILL GRIEVING IN HILLSBOROUGH

DEAR STILL GRIEVING: If your letter saves one child, it's well worth printing. Thank you for warning others.

DEAR ABBY: I just boiled when I read the letter from the mother who said, "A man should realize that he doesn't have to stop being a good son in order to be a good husband."

I wonder how many married sons are good to their mothers only because their wives insist upon it?

I've been married for 18 years, and my mother in law lives only a few blocks up the street, and I have to beg my husband to drop in and visit her. And he would never call her up and ask her how she is or if she needs anything if I didn't dial the number for him.

When it snows, I'm the one who makes him go to his mother's and shovel her sidewalk. And I'm the one who sends him to take off her storm windows and put on the screens even before he does our own. And I'm the one who always suggests we invite his mother to go out to dinner with us, or for a movie, or a ride. If it were up to my husband, he'd see her Christmas and Mother's Day.

I suppose all mothers want to think their sons are perfect. Well, I have news for them. In many cases, the daughter in law deserves the credit.

If you print this, no name or town, please. My mother in law thinks her son is perfect, and I wouldn't want to disillusion her.

ONLY A DAUGHTER IN LAW

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote in saying she didn't want to have anything to do with her husband at night because he came to bed smelling like a brewery. You sure didn't give her much help. You should have told that woman to put a glass of mouthwash by the side of his bed, and give a spittoon. The reason this world is so messed up is because we can't meet each other half way.

TORCH nets $351 in drive

TWIN FALLS — The "clown drive" by Teens Organization for Retarded Children netted $351, Vickie Smith, president, said Friday.

Proceeds from the drive will be used for local and state projects assisting the retarded, she said. The Twin Falls organization will use half the money for parties, recreation, dances and camps.

LOUISE SHADDUCK

Louise Shadduck sets S.V. speech

SUN VALLEY — Louise Shadduck will be guest speaker at a luncheon Thursday at the 45th annual meeting of the women's auxiliary to the Idaho Medical Association here.

The convention runs through July 1.

Miss Shadduck is well known in Idaho as former secretary of commerce and development, shattering all precedents as the first woman to head such a department in the United States. She edited a centennial year Idaho almanac which is now being used throughout the country as a reference work on the state.

She is now administrative assistant to Congressman Orval Hansen and resides in Washington, D.C. She is the only Idaho woman named by the Idaho Press Association as a lifetime member.

In 1971 Miss Shadduck was listed in "Who's Who in America," and "Who's Who in American Commerce and Industry" and "Who's Who, American Women." In 1969 she had conferred upon her the honorary doctor of laws degree by the University of Idaho, the citation listing journalistic works and public service.

Also Thursday will be the annual banquet honoring Dr. George Warner, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho Medical Association and Mrs. Warner and the state president of the

Hints

HOLLYWOOD — If last minute dinner invitations find your face-framing curls showing end-of-the-day "droop," famed beauty-fashion authority, Max Factor, has a simple suggestion.

In the short time it takes to touch-up your make-up, change into a different fashion ensemble and apply perfume, you can also effectively revive limp, drooping curls which have fallen out of place.

Simply spray them with Spray-A-Wave or Tried and True Soft Hair Spray, set them into the desired effect and allow them to dry. You will be amazed at how quickly hair dries when set in this manner.

Finally, rework your hair and spray the refreshed style lightly overall so that it will "hold" its renewed lines.

Marriage tip

SHOSHONE — "All too often we think there is one simple ideal marriage relationship for all couples to adopt," says Jean Annett, extension home economist.

This thinking causes many misconceptions about marriage. Some of these are "that there are two types of marriages — good and bad."

Each type of marital relationship has its mixture of success and failure, with some closer to one than the other. "Love is what makes or breaks a marriage." This statement overlooks the importance of knowing how to relate to a spouse. It is necessary to know how to communicate that love. "Marriages are satisfying as long as the two persons are compatible." This statement suggests that marriages are either compatible or incompatible. Every marriage is a mixed marriage because each spouse has different interests, values and needs.

"Relationships are well established by the time a marriage occurs." For most couples, nothing could be further from the truth.

A Lovelier You

SUMMERTIME BEAUTY CHORES

By Mary Sue Miller

Summer is the time to relax, to enjoy the sun, and to get a tan. But not a bad one.

Only a few weeks of a good tan can make you appear nice. And once the tan is gone, you'll look like a ghost.

So, to keep your skin looking lovely, you need to take good care of it. Here are some tips to help you do that.

• Protect your skin. If you're exposed to the sun, wear a suitable sun-protectant. It'll keep your skin from getting too hot and burning. You may acquire a good tan, but you can still get burnt. To ward off burning, use a good sun-protectant and a suntan for the lips. Both can be used under makeup when desired. Whatever you do, you will wish to protect the lips, your mirror will tell you when an eye stick is in order.

• Safeguard your hair. From sun with hats and scarves. Wear eyes with sunglasses.

• Keep the head-to-toe complexion silky with bath treatment oils and bubbles with body lotions.

• To avoid figure spread, get a daily workout, emphasize fruits and vegetables on your menus, and don't let your posture slump.

That way, you might just come through the summer looking lovelier in September than in June.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Everything you need to know about deodorants, anti-perspirants and depilatories is contained in my booklet, STRICTLY PERSONAL. All doubts are cleared up about why, what, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. Jim: "How about showing some really unusual plays this week?"

Oswald: I bet you have one in mind.

Jim: That I do. It is sometimes called the Coon Coup because it was played by Charles Coon of Boston a few years ago. South won the first trick with his ace of hearts, drew trumps with one lead, cashed dummy's ace of diamonds, and played a heart. Charles took his two heart tricks and led the jack of clubs.

Oswald: The only play to give the defense a chance and one that could not possibly hurt him.

Jim: "No. It couldn't. Charley had a perfect count of the distribution. He saw that if East held the club queen any club play would beat the contract. If South held the queen and 10 there was no hope for the defense while if South held the queen and East the 10 the jack play would give declarer a chance to go wrong."

Oswald: I take it South did go wrong.

Jim: He sure did. It never occurred to him that Charley held the ace. This whole "problem" was where the 10 could be found and he decided to play Charley for it. He let the club ride to his queen. Charley ducked the club return as a matter of course and East made his 10.

Ronald Hicks weds Kent girl

TWIN FALLS — Denise Joy Gunstone and Ronald Eugene Hicks were married in rites June 10 at the Grace Baptist Church, Kent, Wash.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Calvin Gunstone, Kent. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Hicks, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. C.A. Landgren, assisted by Neal Evans, Portland.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a high waisted A-line gown of white satin featuring a gathered chapel length train, fitted bodice, full length puff sleeves gathered into a wide cuff. Her dress was trimmed with candlelight French embroidered lace. The bride designed and made her own gown.

A matching Juliet cap held her floorlength veil. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias, lily of the valley and yellow baby rosebuds over a white Bible.

Debbie Gunstone, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. June Pearson, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Sandy Prem, Chris Boyd and Karin Johnson. Carole Pearson was flower girl.

John Evans served as best man. Donald Gunstone, brother of the bride, and Bob Lee, uncle of the bridegroom, served as ushers and candlelighters. Also serving as ushers were Don Mortenson and Gayle Bush.

Jennifer Glessner was soloist and Keith Pender was organist. A reception honoring the couple was held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with moss green cloth centered with a tiered wedding cake in the shape of a Maltese cross. The center cake was topped with yellow bells.

The bride attended school at Tybee High School and Seattle Pacific College. The bridegroom attended King's Garden High in Seattle, Seattle Pacific College and is a graduate of the University of Idaho. After a motorcycle trip to Montana and Idaho they will be at home in Seattle.

A reception was held June 20 at the Lynwood Chapel, Twin Falls, to honor the couple. Aileen Landmood was mistress of ceremony for a short program.

Rev. Ernie Neufeld gave the opening prayer. Alma Eastman gave a reading and Jolatha Nussbaum accompanied by her brother, Harold, was soloist. Sheryl Houston played a piano solo. Aileen Landmood also sang arsolo. The closing prayer was given by Ron Hicks.

4-H Bronco Busters Club meets

BURLEY — The Bronco Busters 4-H Club held its meeting Friday at the Cassia County Fairgrounds, and 21 members answered roll call. Terri Burch, president, conducted the business session and led the 4-H pledge.

Are You "The Other Woman"?

All women are not created even. Mother Nature doesn't do things to accommodate bra manufacturers.

If she gave you a 35 inch bust, why should you be squashed into a 31 bra? Or loosely into a 36?

After all, for every woman who happens to take an even size (32-34-36 or 38), there's the other woman who's 33-35-37 or 39.

Finally somebody has done something about it. Kayser Perma-Lift has made "The Other Woman" for the other woman. A great collection of beautiful bras that fit right down to the inch.

For the cups they used ultra smooth w.p. knit lace of Du Pont nylon with a designed in pattern of circles... for a superior mold plus stretch in every direction. The underbust, sides and back are silky smooth powernet of Du Pont's nylon and Lycra® spandex with tricot overweave.

The present system of welfare is simply not doing the job. To allow it to continue, would bankrupt this country, both financially and morally. We must develop a system that will encourage and train young people to become active, working citizens, rather than recipients of the Federal handout.

April, 1972

We must not throw out the baby with the bath water. We must continue to correct economic imbalances, but without a strong defense program, our country cannot maintain the commitment of a commonwealth, both within and without. All other problems could be irrelevant.

We must remain strong militarily, for there has been no significant change in the Communist objective of world domination.

The neighborhood school system has always been the backbone of the American education. It is the duty of the government to have the power to alter that system in the assignment of students and selection of faculty, then we have also bolstered the Government the right to regulate every level of education, including curriculum and test books.

October, 1970

Every single dollar spent for which there is no corresponding dollar coming into the treasury means more inflation. It is now the duty of each individual to elect a Congress which will hold spending within the limits of a balanced Federal budget.

Hollister plant levy meeting set

HOLLISTER — Hollister school patrons will attend a public meeting tonight to discuss a 5-mill plant facility levy.

The meeting will be at 9 p.m. at the Hollister school. A second meeting will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Filer High School auditorium to give voters a chance to discuss the levy with school trustees and members of the citizens' committee.

The Filer board has asked the voters to approve the five-mill levy each year for the next six years.

If the proposal is approved, the levy will produce about $37,500 each year to take care of plant facilities and maintenance.

Lawrence Knigge, chairman of the school board, said the board is trying to keep the tax load at a minimum and for this reason has spread the program over a period of six years.

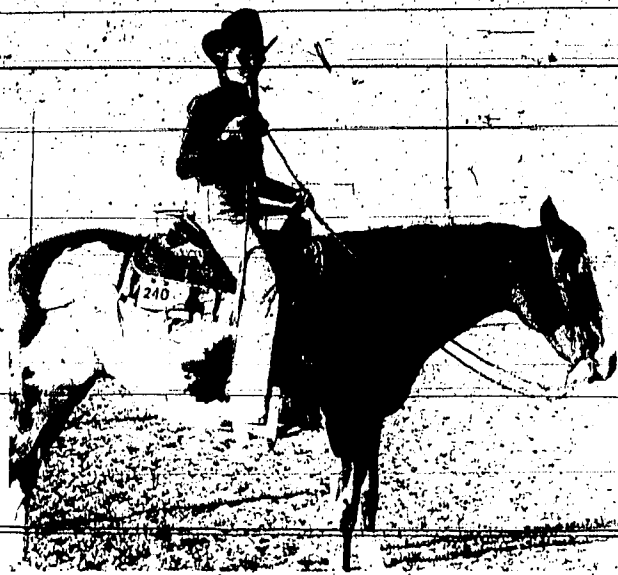

Knigge said the trustees did not want to ask for a plant facilities levy until the bond issue for the high school addition was retired. That issue was retired last December and Knigge said it is now important to proceed with a planned approach for some of the district's building needs.

A citizens' committee and trustees recently inspected the building needs of the district and have set the following priorities for the proposed levy income:

Present roofing repairs and annual upkeep on district buildings; heating facilities at Filer High School and Hollister School; renovation of classrooms; repair of doors, locks, and door closures in the high school; lavatories and shower facilities in need of remodeling to meet health standards; new curtains, paint and some provision for lavatories in the gymnasium; a vocational agriculture building for the high school and a pain job for the high school.

Also needed are new desks and chairs for the Filer Elementary School, new equipment in the industrial art department, new typing tables for the classroom, a computer for modern teaching in the mathematics department, new auditorium draperies, better lawn mowing equipment and electrical repairs and replacements.

Paint champ named

FILER — A paint gelding, Night Watcher, owned by Rose Acres Farms, Inc., was named silver supreme grand champion Sunday at the Paint Horse Show finals.

The gelding is owned by Dr. and Mrs. Lyle A. Wonderlich, Twin Falls. The owners were presented a sterling silver tea set as high point award after the total points for the four shows were tabulated.

High point stallion was Gill's Q-Ton, owned by Dr. Charles Bloomquist, Castle Rock, Colo. Silver supreme high point mare was Wyoming Doll, owned by Greenback Acres, McMahon Bear's Cove, Federal Way, Wash.

The high point youth award for horsemanship went to Kristi Beals, Phoenix, Ariz., and reserve high point youth competitor was Melanie Gilbert, Spanaway, Wash.

The Silver Supreme Paint Horse Show began Saturday morning at the Twin Falls County fairgrounds and ended late Sunday evening, according to Mrs. Lee Sharp, Filer, show secretary.

Judges for Sunday's show were Rocky Gooding, Hagerman, and Dan Ople, Laulen, Ore. Lee Sharp, Filer, was tie-breaker judge.

Miss Twin Falls reacts to victory

JEROME — "I was so excited, I did not know what to say," was the reaction of Sharon Lea Davis when named the new Miss Twin Falls.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Davis, Jerome, and this is the first time she has ever competed in any kind of pageant. She and Bonnie Sue Tronson had tied in the evening gown competition. Miss Davis presented a vocal solo from Cinderella for her talent number.

Sharon is the youngest of the four Davis children and has one sister and two brothers. Her mother and one brother, as well as her parents, attended the pageant. George Haney, Jr., served as master of ceremonies, assisted by Laura Vincent, Filer, the 1971 Miss Twin Falls.

JOHN VINCENT, Filer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent and a sister of Laura, was first runner-up and winner of the swimsuit division. Miss Tronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tronson, Gooding, was second runner-up.

Peggy Mead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Mead, Twin Falls, was talent division winner, and Jackie Hovey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry G. Hovey, Twin Falls, was named Miss Congeniality.

Gem land title group elects

SUN VALLEY — David J. Anderson, Pocatello, was elected new president of the Idaho Land Title Association in Sun Valley Saturday.

The other new officers include V. Lee Budell, Sandpoint, vice president from the panhandle region; La Vaugh S. Merrill, Idaho Falls, vice president from the southeast division, and Claire Vetherelli, Mountain Home, vice president of the southwest division.

Joe Gamboa, Caldwell, was the outgoing president.

About 150 title insurance agents from throughout Idaho attended the convention Friday and Saturday. T. W. Stivers, Twin Falls, and Bill McCampbell, Hailey, were co-chairmen of the meet.

Speakers came from as far as Virginia and Oklahoma.

Burley woman elected

BURLEY — Mrs. Cecil Gargill, Burley, was elected the new Commander of the Disabled American Auxiliary, Department of Idaho, during the weekend convention at Mountain Home.

Mrs. Iva Olson, Burley, was appointed patriotic instructor and Alvin Halsey, Burley, was appointed sergeant at arms at the DAV State Convention.

Burley store to close July 1

BURLEY — The Foodland Warehouse, Burley, will close completely by July 1, according to William McCurdy, Boise.

The store, located on East Main Street, which opened as a warehouse operation three years ago, was owned by Mountain States Wholesale Co., Boise.

Kirk Metzler has served as manager of the Burley Store. McCurdy is president of the Firm.

The Mountain States Wholesale Co. was purchased by Albertson's Inc. earlier this month in a joint venture with DiGiorgio Corp., San Francisco.

Mountain States Wholesale also owned the Banty Store retail outlet Rupert. This group of stores was sold by DiGiorgio to an eastern merchandise chain.

Mountain States Wholesale Co., which distributes food and dairy products, drugs, and sundries to independent retailers throughout the Intermountain region, will be operated as a division of the Boise-based grocery firm.

Albertson's indicated they will continue to provide a complete wholesale distribution service of foods and variety merchandise to the communities served by Mountain States Wholesale.

DiGiorgio Corp. is a diversified company active in marketing consumer goods and shelter products, and in developing land resources.

Sheriff's Posse names state queen

BURLEY — Barbara Lewis was crowned queen of the Idaho State Sheriff's Mounted Posse during the two-day meet over the weekend at the Cassia County Fairgrounds, Burley.

Miss Lewis was the Ada County contestant. She received a bouquet of long stemmed red roses and a trophy and was crowned by retiring queen Marlene Varin, Gooding.

First runnerup was Mary Ellen VanKaman, Cassia County, and second runnerup was Vicki Johnson, Bingham County.

The sportsmanship trophy went to Gooding County. The hard luck trophy was accepted by K. T. Butler, 82, and Hiram Lee, 78, both Gooding. The two men have been competing in events together for over 50 years.

The traveling trophy was awarded to Cassia County and the race event trophy went to Bannock County.

Winners in the events were: Inspection, Canyon and Ada Counties, tied for first, Twin Falls, second, Cassia third; parade, Canyon, first, Cassia, second, Ada third; drill, Cassia, first, Ada, second, Bannock, third; reining horse, Canyon, first; Bingham, second, Cassia, third; trailer races, Bingham, first; Bannock, second, Canyon, third; one-eighth mile race, Bingham, first, Bannock, second, Cassia, third; potato race, Ada, first,

Blaine victim 'good'

HAILEY — A Hailey man was listed in good condition this morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after a collision late Friday.

The man was identified as Lee E. Knode, 47, Hailey. He was transferred from Blaine County Memorial Hospital to Twin Falls Saturday.

According to Hailey Police Chief Roy Evans, Knode was traveling north on Main St. just before midnight Friday. Evans said Knode swerved to the right side of the roadway and collided with a trailer parked in front of the Bank of Idaho building site.

Knode's pickup truck sustained about $1,000 damage. Damage to the trailer was minimal.

Investigation is continuing.

Nixon rapped by American party

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The Nixon Administration was described as "immoral, characterless and timid," at the American Party Convention here Saturday.

John Steinbacher, Fullerton, Calif., keynote speaker for the state convention of the American party of Idaho, declared that "When any administration becomes this immoral it no longer deserves support."

Steinbacher spoke during a banquet at the Ramada Inn, closing out the party's one-day convention during which 23 delegates adopted a platform and a large number of resolutions.

Richard B. Kay, the party's Presidential candidate, spoke twice during the day, outlining his fears for the safety of the world, which, he said, hinge on the developing Middle East situation.

Kay also called on Idaho party members to take a new interest in politics and restore the party to a position of prestige.

Kay said a "true American" exhibits a number of noble characteristics, including opposition to "any dolt, any handout, insuring grad-to-grave security." "The American 'wakes up'; he is a self-made man. No police power made him what he is or gave him political status," Kay declared.

This is the year of decision, the candidate added. "The 'Third Party' will either be a vital force in 1972 politics or will fade away. It's up to you — will the party survive or will it become just another nail in the coffin of a dying America?"

Speaking of former American Party candidate George Wallace, now running as a Democrat, Kay said Wallace is still the "titular head of the (American) party," and will "keep his options open."

Earlier in a news interview, Kay indignantly denied that Wallace had "bolted the party," declaring that "he was given a leave of absence, that's all."

Saturday evening, Kay warned that the "welfare class" is "getting so numerous that they may take over our nation," via the ballot box. "They could vote any way they wanted," he said.

Steinbacher, in an impassioned 90-minute speech, called on party members to realize the problems that are daily growing more and more critical throughout the nation, centered in the "major political parties," the Republicans and Democrats.

The speaker recalled that "the counsel-general for Japan" has said that President Nixon's "dialectic was originated by the German philosopher Hegel, refined by Karl Marx and transformed by Mao Tse-Tung."

The present welfare system in the United States, Steinbacher said, is designed after "Fabian Socialism" to give the people a false sense of security by guaranteeing to provide the necessities of life for all.

"Fabian Socialism appeals to the 'seven deadly sins' in mankind," he said. "The liberal philosophy works hand in glove with this system to trap mankind in a web of its own weaving. 'All liberalism has to do is give men a little push and they will fall right into the trap. They've been heading that way anyway; it's basic human nature.'"

American churches are also "pandering to the seven deadly sins, by failing to 'preach a Gospel with affirmative hope,'" Steinbacher said.

Turning to another somber topic, the speaker warned that America faces a major crisis in the near future. A Swiss financier named Harry Schultz, writing to his fellow bankers throughout the world in a newsletter, warned recently that "America faces ruin." The American nation "is no longer of any importance as far as the civilized world is concerned," Schultz said, according to Steinbacher.

The world's financiers were warned to withdraw any investments in American industries so they would not be caught in a "collapsing civilization."

Expanding on the theme, Steinbacher emphasized that "The American people have turned their backs on everything they have stood for in past years."

There is yet hope, however, if the American people realize their danger and take the proper action, Steinbacher said, cautioning that the present political system cannot be reformed as it now stands, "any more than you can reform the Politburo."

Americans must take an interest in voting and becoming informed so they can vote correctly, he told the delegates.

TF man takes chairmanship

BURLEY — Nolan Victor, Twin Falls, was re-elected chairman of the Idaho American Party by delegates to the annual state convention Saturday in Burley.

Lane Blanchard, St. Anthony, was re-elected vice chairman and Alice Jackson of Kimberly was re-elected secretary. John Blackburn, Fremont County, was named treasurer by acclamation when no other names were nominated by the delegates.

Wayne Kinney was named national committeeman for the American Party. Mrs. Kinney was named national committeewoman.

Blanchard, presiding over afternoon sessions as chairman of the nominations committee, said state law requires that a political party must field at least three candidates for state and federal offices in order to retain status as a recognized political party in Idaho.

The problem is compounded by the fact that an opinion from the Idaho attorney general's office says that state legislative candidates may not be considered as "candidates for state office under the law." No state offices are up for election this year, Blanchard said.

Several candidates were suggested for U. S. representatives in Idaho's two congressional districts and for the U. S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho.

Candidates suggested by Blanchard included Joel Anderson, Pocatello; Alice Jackson, Kimberly, and Sterling Larson, Twin Falls, for U. S. representative congressional district number two. In the first district, now represented by Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested candidates include Wallace Hill, Boise; Shirley Ware, and Rudy Paulson current state treasurer who did not seek re-election.

Suggested senatorial candidates include Bernard Price, Idaho Falls; Paul Victor, Twin Falls, and Sterling Larson, if he were not named to the congressional race.

1,700 acres burn east of Shoshone

SHOSHONE — About 1,700 acres of federal land was blackened by fire Saturday near Kimama Butte lookout station east of Shoshone.

Michael Green, fire control officer for the Bureau of Land Management, Shoshone, said the 40 men on the fire had it under control by midnight Saturday, and it was declared out Sunday.

Cause of the fire is not known, Green said. One other small fire was reported over the weekend just north of Bliss, and is believed to have started from the city dump.

Gooding grassman tour set Tuesday

GOODING — The Gooding County Grassman's Tour is scheduled Tuesday with the bus leaving the Wendell Bank at 1:15 p.m.

Farms to be toured include those owned by Joe Hults, sponsored by the Wendell Chamber of Commerce; John Brooks, sponsored by the Gooding Chamber of Commerce, and Lloyd Rickey, sponsored by the Gooding Soil Conservation District. The Gooding Grassman of the Year is judged upon consideration of his standing in the community, improvements he has made on his farm, good irrigation water management, good crop rotation, good conservation practices. The farms considered must be family operations.

Doren Butler, Bliss, past Grassman of the Year, is chairman of this year's Grassman committee. Judges are Nelson King, Wendell, and Larry Hooker, Hailey.

Come home George!

BURLEY — "George Corley Wallace, please come home!" So said the American Party of Idaho in a resolution passed late Saturday by the central committee, during the one-day party convention at the Ramada Inn in Burley.

The resolution called on Wallace, the announced Democratic candidate for nomination as President of the United States, to return to the fold of the American Party. Wallace ran for the Presidency under the American banner in 1968, only to lose to President Richard Nixon.

The resolution asks Wallace to "inspect the platform of the American Party" and if it fits in with his philosophy to become the Presidential candidate for the party.

Wallace is still regarded as the "titular head" of the American Party, according to Richard B. Kay, Cleveland, Ohio, the party's current candidate for President. Kay told about 150 party faithful at Saturday night's banquet that "Wallace was the only one who had the guts to speak out" on important issues, both in the 1968 campaign and earlier in the 1972 election effort.

Kay admitted separately, in a news interview, that he is only "cunning" as the party's flagbearer to "give the party the 'strength it needs,' and he would be willing — though not all that eager — to step aside if Wallace returned to the fold. "Yes, I'd gladly serve as Wallace's vice-presidential running mate if he were to ask me," Kay said.

Green Thumb

The common purslane (portulaca oleracea) also called "pussley" is a salad vegetable in some countries, but in this country it is considered a bad weed.

Purslane or pussley is flat growing, has a succulent stem and is a problem in many home gardens. You can hoe it day and night and still get a new batch of seedlings.

How do new plants come up when you prevent the old plants from setting seed?

The answer is simple. Purslane seed is tough and has been known to live in the soil for as long as 40 years. So if your garden soil is peppered now, you might have to hoe the ground every year for the next 40 years to get rid of the weed.

Purslane survives because of its succulence, which makes it drought-resistant and enables it to regenerate new roots after being cut off from the soil.

CONTROL: Keep hoeing it. Or better still, eat it, as they've done in India; Persian and other countries for the past 2000 years. It's the favored food of millions of gourmets throughout the world.

The whole plant, stem, leaf and flower bud are edible. Purslane can be used raw, cooked, frozen or pickled.

Wash it well to remove grit. It has a mild acid taste and a rather unattractive factor making it ideal in soups, stews, etc. Or you can eat it as a plain boiled green as you would dandelions.

My wife cooked it in bacon drippings, seasoned with vinegar, lemon and salt.

EVERGREENS SHED NEEDLES: When Japanese Yew and other evergreens show yellow leaves now, is something wrong?

Not necessarily. Many yews are shedding yellow needles now, on the inside, and this is normal. Evergreens shed old foliage from the inside, while the outside remains green.

That's why an evergreen is called an evergreen. They have green leaves the year round, even while they are shedding.

However, if the foliage is brown on the outside now, it could mean trouble. Overall browning could mean that the plant did not come through the winter, or it has suffered from wind or sun injury. If the tissue has dried out too much, the plant is beyond hope.

If evergreens have a mottled or yellowish look, watch out for red spider mites. This microscopic pest has a rasping mouthpart and will cause the tissue to yellow. Spraying with Kelthane will check it.

When an evergreen is brown on one side, take note to see if it isn't from prevailing winds coming from that direction. If evergreens are well watered in summer, if foliage is syringed on hot days, it will do a lot to keep them healthy.

HOME-MADE COSMETICS: Since we're making a collection of "garden or kitchen" cosmetics, here's a dandy for witch hazel cream.

Stearic acid, 4 oz.; sodium carbonate, 1/2 oz.; glycerin, 4 fluid drams. Water, 16 fluid oz.

George Abraham

distilled extract of witch hazel, 20 fluid oz.

Dissolve the sodium carbonate in the water and add to the glycerin contained in a large enamel or stainless steel pan.

Now add the stearic acid and heat the mixture on the water bath until effervescence has stopped and a clear solution appears. Keep this near the boiling point for at least an hour, stirring frequently and making up for loss of water through evaporation by adding more water.

Avoid too much water. Now add the witch hazel extract, transfer the whole to a suitable dish and beat it until the proper consistency is apparent.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: S.D. of Twin Falls: This is a banal question, but your opinion will help to resolve a running 30-year-old argument.

To wit: Aside from messy, matted aesthetics, does mowing lawn grass when it is soaking wet hurt the grass in any real way? How about when it's wet with dew?

There's no direct damage to turf being mowed wet, except that getting the job properly done would be difficult. Soaking wet, the grass blades would apt to be lying flat, while others are upright.

Hence the blades (mower) might not cut the grass evenly. There are times when we have to mow when the grass is wet, but the machines seldom do as good a job as when the grass is dry.

Quite often there's enough of the squishy stuff under the deck of the machine to ball up and keep the mower from operating properly. When that happens you have to tip the machine on its side.

NOTE: Unhook the spark plug when you do this, and tip the machine away from the carburetor side when you clean out the matted clippings.

In short, it's more a matter of good mechanics rather than something biologic, although any time turf is soaking wet there's greater chance for disease to get started than when it's dry. In a nutshell, it's more efficient to mow when grass is dry, but if you have to mow when it's wet, go ahead.

B.F. of Murphy: "We have some flowering shrubs which never produce many flowers. Why is this?"

Failure to bloom is due to several reasons: Too much nitrogen makes all bush and no bloom. Slight root pruning now will encourage flower bud formation. Take a spade and insert it slightly within the outside limit of the branches at various places in a circle around the plant, so about 1-3 of roots will be cut.

A lack of phosphorus often is the cause. If suspected, make a shallow trench around the plant and add a cupful of superphosphate or two cups of bonemeal or a cup of 0-20-20 for every three running feet of the ditch, mix with the excavated soil and then return it to the ditch.

Iran buying modern armament

LONDON (UPI)—The Shah of Iran said Saturday he is shopping for millions of dollars worth of arms—"the best we can find anywhere, short of atomic weapons."

He told a news conference he is buying planes, tanks, missiles, laser-guided range finders and other weapons—many of them from Britain.

He said he also has decided to buy three Anglo-French Concordo supersonic airliners for an estimated $60 million each, including spare parts.

The Shah talked to newsmen for an hour at the end of a four-day private visit to Britain.

He was guest of Queen Elizabeth II at Windsor Castle, attended Ascot horse races and conferred with Prime Minister Edward Heath, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, and Defense Secretary Lord Carrington.

"We are shopping for the best arms we can find anywhere, short of atomic weapons," the Shah said.

He said he is doing so to enable Iran to have an "independent foreign policy" and also to safeguard it against the possibility of "some smaller country starting an adventure somewhere."

Answering a wide range of questions, the Shah made these other points:

—He is concerned by subversive activities of some Persian Gulf states, particularly "our good neighbor Iraq."

—He wants good relations with the new Arab states on the Persian Gulf. "Our advice to them is to get united," he said. "We have absolutely no designs against them."

—He is disturbed by increased activities of Urban guerrillas in Iran and other countries. But he was not worried by demonstrations during his recent Geneva visit. "I can laugh at them," he said.

Iran hopes Pakistan and India will patch up their quarrel. "We hope and pray they will find common ground for talks which will bring peace which is essential to the fate of Asia as a whole," he said. "We could not remain indifferent to the disintegration of our neighbor Pakistan."

President Lincoln was shot on April 14, 1865 and died on the 15th.

Have two doors kept you out of a Volkswagen?

Don't answer yet.

The car in the picture is a Volkswagen. And, as you can see, it has four doors. It's our new 411 4-Door sedan.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 gives the people in the back almost as much room as the people in the front.

Unlike most 4-door sedans, though, there's also room for luggage in the front as well as in back.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 has an engine.

Unlike most 4-door sedans, our engine gets about twenty-two miles to the gallon.

Like most 4-door sedans, our 411 offers a lot of options. Automatic transmission, radial tires, rear-window defogger, to name a few.

Gary Hall, Babashoff set records in meet

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI)—Shirley Babashoff and Gary Hall of the Huntington Beach (Calif.) Aquatic Club scored meet record victories and their third triumphs of the Santa Clara International Invitational swimming and diving meet Sunday to add a smashing conclusion to the three-day meet.

In all, four records were set on the final program and five swimmers produced 1972 world best times.

The 15-year-old Miss Babashoff, a junior at Fountain Valley High School, won the 800-meter freestyle in 9:01.5, which was a world best for the event.

Previously, she won the 100-meter freestyle in 1:00.3 and the 200-meter freestyle in 2:00.0.

Hall, five years older than his club teammate, took the men's 200-meter individual medley in 2:10.4 to also set a meet mark. Earlier, Hall won the 400-meter freestyle in the meet record time of 4:04.9 and the 400-meter individual medley in 4:39.6.

Claudia Clevenger of Cupertino, Calif., and 19-year-old Karen Moe of Santa Clara were the others turning in meet records on the final program.

Miss Clevenger won the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:16.1 while Miss Moe, a former world record holder, took the 200-meter butterfly in 2:19.6. Both times were world bests this year.

Another world best was turned in by Bob Lasfeller of Cincinnati, who won the 200-meter butterfly in 2:06.5.

Rick DeMont of Terra Linda, Calif., who turned 16 last spring, won the men's 1,500-meter freestyle in 16:16.5, the second fastest time this year for the event, while Lynn Vidali of Santa Clara took the 200-meter individual medley in 2:25.9, second best in the world this year and tops for an American.

The Santa Clara meet did not produce a world record this year but that was not surprising. With the Munich Olympics still more than two months away, the American stars just now are rounding into peak form with only the Los Angeles-Individual on July 6-8 remaining before the Olympic trials in Chicago starting Aug. 1.

Brian Job, who helped open the meet on Friday with an impressive performance in the 200-meter breaststroke, wound up third in the 100 breaststroke won by 23-year-old Peter Dahlberg, the world record holder from Bloomington, Ind., in 1:06.7.

A's sweep twin bill over Cal

OAKLAND (UPI)—Jim Hunter and John Odum, with relief help from Darold Knowles, stopped the California Angels on only nine hits and no earned runs Sunday as the Oakland Athletics swept their fifth straight doubleheader, 6-1 and 6-0.

Hunter, now 8-3, hurled a three-hitter in the Hot Pants Day opener and retired 15 straight Angels between the third and fifth innings, when they scored their only run of the day, and the ninth while fanning nine and walking only one.

In the nightcap, Odum picked up his fourth win in six decisions and was backed with home runs from Gene Tenace and Sal Bando. Odum had frequent control problems but never was in serious trouble until the ninth when the first two batters got on base and he was lifted in favor of Knowles.

Buchanan favored to retain title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ken Buchanan is an 8-5 favorite to retain his lightweight title Monday night against undefeated Roberto Duran in a 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Buchanan, a masterful boxer, will have to stay away from the hardhitting Duran, who has knocked out 24 of his opponents, nine within the first round. The 21-year-old Duran, from Panama, has plenty of confidence and has openly stated that he will stop the champion in nine rounds or less.

Duran's manager Carlos Eleta predicted his fighter would win by a knockout in the fifth round.

However, the smart money is going on Buchanan. The 26-year-old from Edinboro, Scotland, has lost only once in 44 fights—that to Miguel Velasquez for the European title in 1970.

Buchanan went down in that fight in Madrid, the only time he has been on the canvas in his career. Buchanan's jaw has been tested before. He has been rocked but when he's hurt he becomes a tiger.

In fact, Buchanan does his best fighting when he's counterpunching. Although he's not known as a "hitter" he can hurt you with either hand. He's KO'd 16.

While most people figure this fight won't go the limit, the champion wasn't taking any chances on losing a decision to Duran. He was offered $150,000 to fight the challenger in Panama but turned it down for the $125,000 guarantee he gets here.

"I wanted to fight here," said the Scotsman. "I think I got a square deal here before."

Buchanan has fought twice before in the Garden. He thrilled a Garden crowd two years ago when he'd decided Donato Paduano in a 10-round preliminary to the Muhammad Ali-Oscar Bonavena match.

Last September, Buchanan returned and retained his title against Emanuel Lugano on a 15-round decision. Buchanan was not happy with his last performance here and promised he'd be better this time.

"I didn't fight my fight," Buchanan said. "This time I will."

Duran made some promises himself. "Monday night we make war," said the Panamanian. "I gonna tear his head off."

Petty cops easy win in Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Richard Petty, overcoming track temperatures of 140 degrees, ran away from Bobby Allison and Bobby Isaac to score a relatively easy victory in the $91,395 Lone Star 500 NASCAR race at Texas World Speedway Sunday.

Petty led 186 of the 250-lap race over the two-mile oval to win his fifth major race of the year by more than a lap over the second-place Allison. Isaac was third six laps behind.

Petty, 34, of Randleman, N.C., drove a 1971 Dodge to victory for the first time in a super speedway event. His four previous victories were in a 1972 Plymouth.

The victory pushed Petty's earnings this year to $110,910, the fourth straight year he has won more than $100,000. This victory brought him $12,120 and Allison, also 34, of Hueytown, Ala., got $6,570 for second place, bringing his total for the year to $113,235.

Petty's average speed was 144.185, slightly off the track record of 144.277 by Isaac in 1969. Petty won this event last December in his Plymouth with an average speed of 144.000.

Dundee protests Nevada ruling

LAS VEGAS, Nov. (UPI)—The Nevada State Athletic Commission refused Sunday to waive an accidental butting rule despite a strong protest from Angelo Dundee, trainer-manager of Muhammad Ali.

The rule will be in effect when Ali meets Jerry Quarry, Southern California heavyweight, Tuesday night in a scheduled 12-round bout at the Convention Center.

Also on the card is a title fight between light heavyweight champion Bob Foster and Mike Quarry, Jerry's 21-year-old brother, scheduled for 15 rounds.

The accidental head-butting rule states that if a fighter injured in such a manner is unable to continue in the first round, the fight will be declared a technical draw.

If the accidental butt occurs in the second round or thereafter and the disabled

Jamieson posts 6-stroke victory in Western Open

NORTHBROOK, Ill. (UPI)—Chunky Jim Jamieson, faltering only briefly at the start, shot a two-under-par 69 Sunday and won the $150,000 Western Open, his first victory in four years on the pro golf tour, by a whopping six strokes.

Jamieson, the 5-foot-10, 210-pound local favorite, bogeyed two of the first three holes and appeared in danger of a total collapse, but he recovered from a sand trap to birdie the fourth hole and that seemingly settled him down.

He finished the 72 holes with a 13-under-par 271, and his victory margin was the widest on the tour in a year.

Labron Harris charged into second place on a six-under-par 65, matching the competitive course record, for a total of some hope.

At the first hole, Jamieson pushed his drive far into the rough, hit his second shot only about 40 feet, leaving it in the rough, and took a bogey. He salvaged par at No. 2 only by making a nine-foot putt after missing the green with his approach shot. Jamieson pushed his drive at the third hole far to the left again, among some trees, but had a shot to the green.

"I can fly it out," he said, surveying the situation.

He hit the green, but then three-putted, rolling a three-foot second putt by the hole, and suddenly his lead had dwindled to five.

When Jamieson then dumped his second shot in the short, par-5, fourth hole into a sand trap, his legion of fans who trooped across the state from his hometown of Moline, Ill., began to fret he might really be blowing up.

But Jamieson coolly blasted from the trap to within six feet of the cup, ran the putt in for a birdie, and the rout was on.

He added four more birdies and only one more bogey the rest of the way with nines of 35 and 33, his best performance of the tournament on the back nines.

Harris, whose round was highlighted by an eagle three at the 524-yard 10th hole had a chance to set the Sunset Ridge Country Club course record all by himself but bogeyed the final hole. He earned $17,000 for placing second.

Jamieson admitted he felt the pressure of starting the round with a huge lead but said it left him following the birdie on No. 4.

"I'd say that was the turning point," Jamieson said. "I really did feel the pressure—I'll be honest with you. I didn't feel it last night, sleeping or anything, and I didn't feel it on the driving range, but when I got to the practice putting green and when I got up on the first hole, I felt it."

The closest Jamieson had come to winning before Sunday was a pair of third-place ties earlier this year, in the Florida Citrus Invitational and at Philadelphia. He tied for fifth in the Masters.

Feeders' returns said up in May

BY BERNARD BRENNER
OF Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cattle feeders' returns in May were sharply above the average for the previous 21 months, an Agriculture Department study based on Texas and Iowa records shows.

But that average was — for some feeders, at least — low enough to draw a cautiously bureaucratic comment that "the feeders are not netting enormous returns."

The report showed a typical Texas feedlot operator, whose beef usually goes to Los Angeles, averaged a new return of only 99.4 cents per head on cattle fattened during the 20 months ending in March this year.

In 11 of the 20 months, data on costs of feeder steers, feed and other costs, and prices of finished cattle showed the feeder lost money on each animal he sold.

The hypothetical Texas feedlot, according to the report, had estimated net returns of $11.89 per head last December, $28.53 a head last January, and $33.97 in February. But for March, calculations showed a loss of $6.16 per head sold and for April a loss of $5.33 a head.

In May, however, with slaughter cattle prices up again, the data showed a profit of $9.21 a head compared with the 20-month average of 99 cents.

The "net return" profit figures given in the study do not actually represent full profit, experts explain. The calculations take into account most variable costs including feed, veterinary bills, electricity, and insurance — but they do not cover fixed costs including depreciation of feedlot property. These fixed costs would have to be subtracted from the reported "net returns" to produce an accurate "profit" figure.

Another calculation based on a typical but hypothetical Corn Belt feedlot in Iowa also showed sharp ups and downs over the past two years, but generally higher levels of returns.

Economists said this was partly due to use of a six-month feeding period — which means turnover of fewer head per year — in the Iowa example. The Texas study was based on a four-month turnover.

The typical Iowa feedlot, according to the study, showed an average net return of $5.34 per head in the 20 months ending in March, 1972.

But hypothetical tests show cattle losing money after all expenses checked

For May the report showed a new return of $35.26 per head, about seven times the 20-month average. The feeder had done even better earlier this year, however, with net per-head returns of $47.30 in January, $58.14 in February, $46.72 in March and $37.60 in April, experts indicated.

The figures through March for both Texas and Iowa feedlots were published here in an Agriculture Department magazine, "Farm Index." Later data for April and May were calculated by department economists Lawrence A. Duerwerf in response to a UPI request.

Duerwerf's study was made by following a typical steer through each stage of the production process until he was sold to a packer. In the Texas case, for example, Duerwerf gave this history of the steer which produced a $6.16 loss when sold in March, 1972:

In November, 1971, the feedlot owner bought a 700-pound calf based on Amarillo, Tex., prices at the time, for $37.75 per hundredweight or a total of $264.25.

Four months later, with the steer fattened to 1,020 pounds, he was sold at the Texas-New Mexico market price which then averaged $34.10 per hundredweight for a total of $347.82. This left a gross return on the steer of $83.57.

Out of that $83.57 gross, however, the feedlot operator had to pay $2.50 for transportation, $13.91 for "pencil shrink" weight loss in the steer between the feedlot and slaughterhouse, and $73.32 for feed and other production costs, including some overhead.

The costs add up to $89.73, which converted the $83.57 gross margin into a $6.16 loss on the steer.

In the typical Iowa case, a steer sold in March for slaughter in Omaha, Neb., and shipment to New York City dinner tables had the following history:

Purchased six months before slaughter at 650 pounds in Kansas City, Mo., for $35.25 a hundredweight, or $229.12; the steer was fattened to 1,120 pounds and sold to a packer for $35.21 a hundredweight or a total of $392.81. This left a gross margin of $153.69.

From the gross, the feeder had to subtract costs including $4.50 in transportation, $3.30 in terminal expenses, and $99.17 in production costs. These costs added up to $106.07, which cut the $153.69 gross margin down to a net gain of $46.72 per head.

The last monthly loss calculated for the Iowa feeder was in October, 1971, when he finished with a minus of $1.78 per head. In December, 1970, each steer sold by the hypothetical feeder was losing him $52.40 per head.

Mussels down

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Mussel fishermen have fallen on hard times in the Tennessee Valley area. During the 1960s, the industry dwindled from a $1.2 million enterprise to about $200,000.

The TVA says that in 1971, mussel shells, sold mainly to the Japanese for use in the cultured pearl industry, totaled only 150 tons harvested at Kentucky Lake and valued at about $25,000.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market moved lower over a broad range Monday in moderately active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones Industrial average was off 11.36 at 933.33 around 1:15 p.m. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was down 1.02 at 107.25.

Declines outnumbered advances, 1,026 to 204, among 1,641 issues across the tape. Three-hour turnover amounted to 8,240,000 shares, compared with 7,900,000 traded during the same period Friday.

The major factor driving the market lower was the uncertainty about the international monetary scene since Britain allowed its pound to float last Friday. This has raised questions whether the Smithsonian agreement will survive.

WAL Inc. was the most active issue, down 2 1/2 at 39 1/2 on 300,400 shares. Trading a block of 189,000 shares at 39, off 3 1/4, American Telephone & Telegraph was second, off 1 1/4 at 41 1/4 on 148,000 shares.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith was third, down 2 1/4 at 32 1/4 on 119,700 shares. The issue was delayed in opening by an order influx. The firm noted shareholders were eligible to sell their stock for the first time since the company went public June 23, 1971.

Glamco, electronics and computers generally were lower. Corning Glass lost 2 1/4, Schlumberger 3, Xerox 2 1/4, Walt Disney 2 1/4, Polaroid (ex-dividend) 2, Bausch & Lomb 1 1/4 and Winnebago 1.

IBM dropped 3 1/4, Burroughs and Motorola 2 1/4 apiece, and Sperry Rand, Litton Industries, Honeywell and Collins Radio; around a point each.

Rails and airlines headed lower. Steels, motors, chemicals, oils and aircrafts were mixed.

Successful Investing

By Roger E. Spear

Q—Could you give me some pointers on understanding a balance sheet? What are the most important figures? As you can see I am a stock market novice. —A.B.

A—Don't apologize; many long-time investors never take the time to learn about this important facet of a company's operations. Balance sheets often reveal some very vital information about a corporation's financial condition.

First, you should check the size of a corporation's long-term debt in relation to its stockholders' equity—value of common and preferred stock. The number of common and preferred shares multiplied by their price will give you the shareholders' equity.

In utilities and other capital intensive industries these figures are generally about 50 per cent 50 per cent; in other industries equity should predominate by a good margin. A second key figure is current assets to liabilities ratio.

Look what we got ourselves into.

If you need an excuse to get out of the house, drive by our new building, now in construction on Blue Lakes Blvd. North.

Those of you who are aware of our present situation on Kimberly Road can imagine what you have to look forward to in a few weeks.

As you drive by our future headquarters, imagine if you will our new facilities. A new Diagnostic Department. (Now we can spot minor ailments before they become major ones.)

Peek your nose into our parts department. (We have genuine VW parts to fit every Volkswagen model on the road.)

Walk over to our service department and ask about the special tools you see. (We had them made just for VW.)

Room around our used car lot and the rest of our outdoor property. (We have five square feet of land for each square foot of building. That's growing room. We expect to be around for a long time.)

And if you miss seeing something, having a question answered, or test driving the Volkswagen of your choice, please stop by 1133 Kimberly Road until we're moved.

We wish to thank the people of Magic Valley for putting up with our many inconveniences at our present location due to our big seven months ago.

TED EVERETT

Shoshone boy goes to Europe

SHOSHONE — Ted Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Everett, Shoshone, is busy this week preparing to leave for a six week visit in Switzerland. He is participating in the Youth for Understanding Program.

Ted will spend six weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Attila Olah in Baden, Switzerland. The Everetts and the Olahs have corresponded for some months as a part of the program.

He is set to leave Tuesday and will arrive in Baden on Thursday and will return to the United States in August.

Agency opens TF office

TWIN FALLS — The Department of Water Administration announced Saturday the opening of its southern district office at 1041 Blue Lakes Blvd.

R. Keith Higginson, director, said public meeting is scheduled at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Idaho Power Co. auditorium to introduce staff members who will be responsible for the district's operation. They will explain the functions of the department and its offices.

The Idaho Power Co. requests persons attending the meeting not to park in the firm's parking lot reserved for customers.

Youths ready big festival

GRANBURY, Colo. (UPI) — Thousands of youths equipped with field kitchens and tents have set up camp in a tick and mosquito-infested peat bog local inhabitants call Strawberry Lake for a July 4 religious festival the state would just as soon never see open.

The Colorado State Patrol early today manned roadblocks in the Grand County resort area of Northern Colorado under orders to thwart the planned four-day gathering scheduled to begin July 1 if court efforts failed. The patrolmen said they were on the highways to check vehicles for safety defects.

"I think it is impossible to call the whole thing off and send everyone home," said Paul Geisendorfer, son of the owner of the festival land. "By the time everyone left, it would be time for the thing to be over."

The youths now at the tent city site are part of the advance party to the festival, coordinated by a group called the Rainbow Family of Living Light.

The Geisendorfers have been in and out of court and Gov. John Love has warned that the state plans to enforce all laws to stop the festival.

Cattle groomed

FILER — Teresa Hurly presented a demonstration on grooming cattle when the Dirty Dozen 4-H Club met Friday at her home.

Members discussed building animal pens for the Twin Falls County fair.

The next meeting will be July 7 at the home of Val Anderson.
