

US court abolishes death penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled today that the death penalty is unconstitutional "cruel and unusual punishment." The decision spares the life of 600 men now on condemned row.

The momentous decision was by a 5 to 4 vote with all four of President Nixon's appointees dissenting.

The five others—Justices William O. Douglas, William J.

Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall—each wrote a separate opinion in support of the judgement.

In dissent, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist.

Each filed his own opinion. This meant that all nine justices spoke out on the issue.

The actual ruling came in brief unsigned opinion.

The striking down of capital punishment throughout the United States came in a ruling on three test cases which claimed the death sentence was "cruel and unusual punishment" which is barred by the Constitution.

Two members of the majority, Brennan and Marshall, concluded that the 8th Amendment prohibits capital punishment for all crimes and under all circumstances, because of the "cruel and unusual" features.

Douglas found capital punishment a violation of the 8th Amendment but did not seem to rule it out for all time.

Stewart and White relied heavily on the reluctance of judges and juries actually to impose the death penalty.

Stewart said, "These death sentences are cruel and unusual in the same way that being struck by lightning is cruel and unusual."

He said the men convicted of rape and murder in today's cases were selected to die on no particular basis.

"I simply conclude that the 8th and 14th amendments cannot tolerate the infliction of a sentence of death under legal systems that permit this unique penalty to be so wantonly and so freakishly imposed," Stewart commented.

Burger said in his dissent: "The highest judicial duty is to recognize the limits on judicial power and to permit the democratic processes to deal with matters falling outside of those limits."

He said pressure had forced the Court to go beyond those limits "while fortunately leaving some room for legislative judgment."

Burger said there was no clear-cut majority on the Court on the ultimate issue presented in the cases and "the future of capital punishment in this country has been left in an uncertain limbo."

Rather than providing a final and unambiguous answer on the basic constitutional question, the collective impact of the majority's ruling is to demand an undetermined measure of change from the various state legislatures and the Congress," he said.

Idaho law enforcement officers spoke out today against a U. S. Supreme Court ruling outlawing the death penalty while judges, correction officers and others expressed mixed opinions about it.

Although Idaho has not executed anybody since the state hanged Raymond Allen Snowden for murder, Oct. 10, 1957, many peace officers believe the possibility of death serves as a deterrent to capital crimes.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, who voted against abolishing the death penalty while serving as a state senator in 1961, said he has "mixed emotions" about the high court's ruling.

"My reaction to it is that once again we find ourselves in a position of upholding the law of the land as determined by the Supreme Court," Andrus said. "Sworn officials have no other choice in this matter."

But he said he hopes "that this same group of gentlemen will also come forth with recommendations that will act as deterrents with regards to capital crimes."

"There will have to be adequate protections some place to make life imprisonment life imprisonment," Andrus said.

At present, there are 25 life terms among the 375 men incarcerated in the Idaho penitentiary. There is "nobody on death row. The lifers are in both for first degree and second-degree murder."

Those sentenced to life for crimes of violence are not eligible for parole until they have served at least five years, according to Raymond May, director of corrections. Even then, May said, there must be psychiatric clearance before they can be released.

May personally leans toward life imprisonment and away from the death penalty.

Robert Clokey, now 65, was the last man sentenced to die in Idaho. He was given the death penalty at the request of the jury which convicted him—for slaying his ex-wife and her aunt on Halloween night, 1950 in Boise.

When appeals to then Gov. Robert E. Smylie and the Supreme Court failed Clokey turned to the Idaho Board of Correction and his sentence was commuted to life Oct. 26, 1961. Clokey was released on parole Aug. 17, 1970.

Nixon extends price controls

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, moving against rising food prices, today extended price controls to cover farm products and seafood after the initial sale.

The action by executive order means prices of vegetables, fruits, eggs, fish and other agricultural commodities will be controlled when they are sold by processors, wholesalers and grocery stores.

The effect will be to squeeze the profits of grocers and middlemen by limiting price increases that can be applied to these items.

The order does not cover meat prices, which are already covered by controls below the farm level. On Monday, Nixon suspended quotas on imported meat in an attempt to increase the supply available to consumers and thereby drive down prices.

In announcing the action at the White House, director Donald Rumsfeld of the Cost of Living Council said the tougher controls "cannot drive food prices down, only increased supply or reduced demand could do that, but they are designed to exert discipline on markups and margins at each step of the food marketing chain."

Together with the meat import action, Rumsfeld said, "There should be a cumulative effect which should help stabilize these volatile prices."

The food products affected by the order are those which retain their original physical form and include no processing.

They include eggs, all fresh vegetables, all fresh or naturally dried fruits, potatoes, nuts and mushrooms. In addition, all raw seafood products are covered including those which have been "shelled, shucked, iced, skinned, sealed, eviscerated or decapitated."

The action covers about $12 billion-worth of food transactions each year.

Prior to announcement of the new action, Rumsfeld called some farm state congressmen to the White House for a briefing, and representatives of about 80 food processing organizations were invited to a meeting at the Agriculture Department to discuss the policy.

New shopping center planned for east TF

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A new 40-acre shopping center east of Twin Falls may be in the works. Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, said no definite action has been taken, but his office has been asked about zoning requirements for such a development on the old Strunk property, now owned by Glom Jenkins.

Woods said the front quarter mile of the property is presently zoned for commercial use with the remainder under agricultural zoning.

Woods said he has been given no name of the prospective developer.

It was reported elsewhere that the development would be made by K-Mart, which operates shopping complexes in other cities.

Woods said the individuals who called him about zoning plans indicated an interest in eventual development of a full 40-acre area with a grocery store, dry goods store and other retail outlets to complete a full shopping center. The site is at the southeast corner of Addison Avenue East and Eastland.

Western Realty Co., Twin Falls, reportedly was handling the negotiations. Western officials were out of town and could not be reached for additional information.

Three existing shopping centers serve the north section of the city. The only major commercial area in eastern Twin Falls is the strip commercial development centering on Shelby's Market.

Audits could save Gem funds, Defenbach says

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach claimed today that legislative performance audits could have saved the state about $3 million a year.

Defenbach told the Legislative Fiscal-Budget Committee meeting in Twin Falls today that the estimates were "more subjective than objective."

He said despite the difficulty of estimating savings, he was willing to "stand behind the estimates as realistic." He stressed that many of the audit benefits are reflected in improved service, and not necessarily cash savings.

The legislative auditor has prepared a number of evaluations of state agencies in order to determine how effectively the agencies were carrying out the intent of the legislature.

Among the annual savings he estimated were or could have been made:

- $195,000 a year from the department of highways in misappropriated funds.
- An estimated savings of

- $25,000 a year in the fish and game department.
- $33,000 in interest from state liquor dispensary funds and about $100,000 per year from inventory investment reduction.
- $195,000 a year in the department of public works.
- $2,000 a year from the state plumbing board.
- $250,000 a year in investment of state funds from the state treasurer's office.
- $275,000 from the University of Idaho.
- $31,000 at Boise State College.
- about $800,000 for the state tax commission.
- $355,000 a year at the department of public assistance.
- About $1.3 million for the state land department.

Burley attorney Lowe dies

BURLEY — Kates Eldon Lowe, 62, prominent Burley attorney, died Wednesday at Holy Cross Hospital, Salt Lake City, after a long illness.

Mr. Lowe practiced law in Burley from 1936 until his retirement a few years ago. He was appointed district judge for the 11th Judicial District in 1948 and held the position until 1954 when he resumed his private law practice. He specialized in water rights and litigations.

He is survived by his wife, of Burley, and one daughter.

Most MV judges, officials oppose death penalty ruling

With one exception, court, law enforcement and prosecutor spokesmen of Magic Valley today deplored the action of the U. S. Supreme Court in abolishing capital punishment.

Gordon Nielson, Cassia County prosecuting attorney and president of the Idaho Prosecuting Attorneys Association, sharply rebuked the high court's action.

"The court is going outside its duties and its jurisdiction as a court," Nielson said. "They are actually legislating by determining that a particular crime can no longer merit the death penalty."

Emphasizing the court's specific duties involve interpretation of the U. S. Constitution and its application, Nielson said "the courts have ruled in the past that the individual states can set their own punishment. Now the or that even 15 years in prison for burglary was unconstitutional?"

Valley reaction

Supreme Court says that it has decided.

"I'm in favor of capital punishment for some crimes," Nielson said. The threat that a death penalty might be levied will act as a deterrent factor to major crimes, he added.

Now that the court has entered the field of legislating punishment, Nielson said "What's to prevent them from ruling in the future that life imprisonment could be deemed cruel and unusual punishment,

In Rupert, Magistrate LeRoy Blacker commented "We'll have to wait and see" what the effect on the crime rate might be with abolishment of the death penalty.

"It might be about as bad to give life imprisonment for major crimes," Blacker added. He said also that "it seems like the court is certainly tying our hands all the time."

Capt. Tim Qualls, Twin Falls chief of detectives, said the Supreme Court's action to abolish the death penalty is an invitation to more major crimes around the country.

He said the death penalty is needed on the books of every state whether or not it is ever used as a means of keeping some in line who fear the possibility of death.

Robert M. Nielson, who is running unopposed for the position of Minidoka County prosecuting attorney, said the ruling was "correct."

Nielson said that "I don't think the ruling will affect the crime rate very much. I doubt if we'll see much of an upsurge in crime."

Prosecuting Atty. Leon Smith, Twin Falls County, said the decision is "deplorable."

"Like any law that is not used it is there to be used if deemed necessary and this serves to remind some they could be required to pay with their lives for a major crime," Smith said.

Magistrate Court Judge Reed P. Maughan said the high court's action is a mistake.

"Unless we have harsh penalties to deal out to those who commit heinous crimes, we are going to see an increase in these crimes," he said.

Pound still skids

LONDON (UPI)—The British pound continued its downward slide today and the U.S. dollar remained weak on world money markets, reaching an all-time low in Tokyo. Gold prices soared again, a sure sign of world monetary crisis.

The pound dropped on the London market by another fraction to an effective devaluation of 5.4 per cent. The Hong Kong dollar is linked to the pound and Communist China entered the international monetary scene for perhaps the first time, revaluing its basic unit of currency, the renminbi, upward in relation to Hong Kong dollars.

Britain cut the pound loose from firm parity rates Friday, raising fears of a world-wide upheaval in currency exchange rates. European financial ministers met in Luxembourg Monday in an effort to avert a monetary crisis and pledged to continue their support for the dollar and the Italian lira, also weak because of Italy's poor economic situation.

Gem schools grade B minus

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News Managing Editor

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho State Department of Education got its report card here today. Its grade was about a B-minus.

"A legislative performance audit on the operations of the department during a six-year period ending in mid-1971 showed the department was generally well administered and often accomplishing its tasks in the administration of the state's educational system. But the report also found the fast-growing agency had begun to display bureaucratic symptoms.

Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach, who prepared the report, was sharply critical.

He cited:

- $75 per day consultant fees paid to Idaho University professors who skip classes to consult on state-administered programs.
- "Excessive" out-of-state travel by key administrators who are away from their desks more than half the time, often to the detriment of their executive performance.

"Flagrant misuse of sick leave privilege."

"Abuse" of annual leave.

The audit found the performance of both the Idaho Board of Education and the Idaho Department of Education hampered by the requirement that the board approve many routine administrative decisions.

The audit recommended greater delegation of decision-making on routine matters to Supt. of Public Instruction, D. F. Engelking.

S. Viet troops near Quang Tri

SAIGON (UPI)—A task force of more than 20,000 South Vietnamese troops backed by thunderous U.S. air and naval bombardments drove through North Vietnamese defenses today to within five miles of Quang Tri City in what was shaping up to be one of the key campaigns of the war.

The 20,000-man task force was joined today by 1,000 fresh troops flown in from Saigon aboard American helicopters and landed near the coast. Spearheads of the unit were reported to have advanced up to seven miles in a three-pronged offensive.

Quang Tri City fell to the Communist Spring offensive on May 1 and President Nguyen Van Thieu ordered his troops to recapture all lost territory. But whether the troops would actually enter the city or simply regain lost ground remained to be seen.

Field reports said the advancing columns have killed at least 500 North Vietnamese soldiers so far in the two-day drive and that government casualties were 15 dead, and 50 wounded.

A senior Allied military source said resistance was "surprisingly light."

Communist forces in Quang Tri, estimated at remnants of four divisions battered by constant U.S. air strikes and more than 10,000 tons of bombs dropped by B-52s in record raids, were estimated Wednesday at around 20,000 men.

Gen. Weyand described as Gary Cooper type

SAIGON (UPI)—Gen. Frederick Weyand is a big man with a quiet, determined manner—the type of strong, silent warrior Gary Cooper might play.

"I'll take all of his reserve and then some—to keep cool in his new job as commander of America's fighting men in Vietnam."

Weyand, picked to replace the gruff-talking Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, has the unenviable task of getting America out of Vietnam without losing either face or the war.

If he fails, he might wind up the scapegoat for allied loss. If he succeeds, an American tired of Vietnam isn't likely to give him much of a hero's welcome.

Weyand, Abrams' deputy commander since the fall of 1970, has had his own doubts in the past about the advisability of pulling all U.S. troops out of Vietnam—at least until the Soviets and Chinese stop shipping arms to the North.

"It seems evident that they (South Vietnam) could not fight alone in the face of forces arrayed against them," he said in an interview last March. "If we were to take our air force out now, the South Vietnamese undoubtedly would believe we were leaving them. That wouldn't be good."

Weyand, a light smoker compared to his cigar-smoking predecessor, said at the time the South Vietnamese would need at least some U.S. support

FBI arrests station attendant in hijacking

DETROIT (UPI)—The FBI announced today the arrest of Martin Joseph McNally, a former suburban Wyandotte service station attendant, in connection with the hijacking last week of an American Airlines jetliner that netted the hijacker $502,000.

McNally, 28, was arrested by FBI agents late Wednesday night on a Wyandotte street.

FBI agent Neil Welch said

McNally would be charged later today with violation of the federal air piracy statute.

A bushy-haired young man hijacked the American Airlines plane June 22 en route from St. Louis to Tulsa, Okla., shortly after takeoff from Lambert Airport in St. Louis.

The hijacker demanded and received $502,000 and two parachutes.

He bailed out over Peru, Ind.,

early Saturday morning.

The half-million dollars was found Monday by a Peru farmer. No trace of the hijacker was found.

"The evidence would indicate the money blasted loose by the tremendous shock when he jumped from the plane," Welch said. "I thought the jump would kill him. Somehow he eluded authorities and got back to Detroit."

NRA scores gun control

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Rifle Association said today that proposed legislation to greatly tighten gun controls would drastically increase local government costs and swamp the already overloaded judicial system.

Maxwell E. Rich, executive vice president of the NRA, told a House Judiciary subcommittee the NRA supports legislation to crack down on illegal use of weapons, but "to think that criminals would register their firearms defies logic."

Assistant Treasury Secretary Eugene T. Rossides, giving the official administration position on gun control, joined the NRA in contending that registration and licensing of firearms should be left to state and local governments.

"In this way, the pattern of laws dealing with the subject can better accommodate the great differences that obtain among the several states," Rossides said.

2 assault suspects ask preliminary hearings

TWIN FALLS — Two men charged with assault with intent to commit murder requested preliminary hearings in magistrate court Wednesday afternoon.

Jerry Grant O'Dell, 25, and Delbert Lee Crawford, 27, both Twin Falls, were arraigned before Judge Daniel H. Meehl. Both requested services of the public defender and the county's public defense firm of Webb, Pike, Burton and Carlson was appointed to represent the defendants.

Bond was set at $10,000 each. The two men were returned to the county jail in lieu of posting the amount.

Crawford is also charged in a separate complaint with a misdemeanor, disorderly conduct, involving an alleged fight in Jan's Lounge. The complaint was signed by Jack Teater, operator of the lounge. Crawford entered a plea of innocent and requested a jury trial. Bond was set at $50 and the public defender was appointed to represent the defendant on this count as well as the felony.

Crawford and O'Dell are charged with the assault charge in connection with threats and actions against Clifford W. Trammell, 257 Skelney St.

The aftermath of the threats, city police said, resulted in a shooting which hospitalized a third man, James O'Dell, 21, Twin Falls.

Power firm promotes Hanes

TWIN FALLS — William H. Wendell, district manager of Idaho Power Co., has promoted Hanes to the position of Boise district marketing supervisor.

Hanes, a Twin Falls native, has been appointed southern division marketing manager for Idaho Power Co.

Hanes will be based in Twin Falls. He succeeds J. W. Coryell, who was named supervisor of contracts and rates in the Boise general offices of the firm. Hanes' appointment is effective immediately.

E. E. Haroldsen, district manager, said Hanes has many years of experience in marketing, operations and management.

Hanes joined Idaho Power as a meter reader in the Kimberly district in 1937. He became a service man at Kimberly two years later and held that post until entering the Army during World War II. Discharged with the rank of captain, Hanes rejoined the utility in 1947 as a service man at Caldwell. He later transferred to the marketing department there.

After eight years as a residential and commercial-industrial marketing representative, he was promoted to district manager at Oakley in 1964. Later that year, he moved in the same capacity to Rupert.

Geer enters race for TF County job

TWIN FALLS — Robert R. Geer, Twin Falls, filed a declaration of candidacy Wednesday afternoon for the office of Second District county commissioner.

Geer, certified by the Twin Falls County Democratic Central Committee, will seek the party's nomination for the office now held by William L. (Bill) Chancey. Neither has opposition in the August primary election at this time.

Geer, who operates the Mod Barbershop, is a long-time resident of Twin Falls County. He was born in Pocatello but attended schools in Filor, and Twin Falls. He is a former president of the Idaho State Barber's Association, and former Jaycee president in Twin Falls.

ROBERT GEER candidate

Geer served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II as a pilot and has been in business in Twin Falls since that time. He established and operated the Five Points Sporting Goods Store for a number of years and operated a service station at the five-points location. He is a former president of the Petroleum Dealers' Association and has been active in the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association.

Geer and his wife, Marian, have three sons, the oldest a graduate of college this year and the youngest, entering college this fall.

Geer is the first candidate to be certified for the Aug. 8 primary election ballot on the county level. There was only one filing prior to the petition deadline on the Democratic Party at the county prosecutor.

"Like most other citizens, I am concerned about the increasingly high taxes at all levels and would like to work with the county in effecting economy wherever possible," Geer said.

Hospital addition bid date postponed

TWIN FALLS — Bid opening for remodeling and improving the Magie Valley Memorial Hospital has been postponed from July 6 to July 13.

Administration officials said the delay is at the request of contractors who say the July 4 holiday would make it almost impossible for them to prepare and submit bids. Many of the construction firms will be observing a four-day holiday because the holiday falls on Tuesday.

Bids will be opened at 11 a.m. in the county commissioners' office for remodeling on the first floor, including a new hospital entrance and changing of the admissions and business office area. An additional recovery room for the surgery department will be built and several other improvements covered in the contract.

Colorful name

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fannin County in northern Georgia has some of the most colorful names in the state—if not the country. They include Lickshin Mountain, Tearbitch Creek, Gravelly Gap, Black Ankle Creek, Wildcat Ridge, Frozen Knob and Fightingtown Creek.

Arms Package

The Nixon administration wants approval of the arms limitation agreements with Russia along with approval for the new Trident submarine and B-1 Bomber programs as equally essential to further progress with Russia on cutting down the arms burden. Without our new weapons projects, President Nixon told an impromptu press conference, Russia would have no incentive to continue negotiations toward further arms limitations.

Senator Jacob Javits, the liberal New York Republican, professed to be confused by the package deal urged by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird. Senator William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, contended that since Russia and the United States have "weapons quite adequate to destroy each other" a go-ahead on new weapons for the United States would "only trigger another arms spiral." Laird could only retort "that's your opinion, Senator."

Now, if you are confused by any seeming inconsistency in these variant views, take note that Admiral Thomas Moorer, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, warns that a halt in improvement of our arms, while Russia proceeds full-speed ahead, would relegate us to an inferior state that could invite aggression.

History supports Admiral Moorer, whose great concern is the security of his country. Laird repeatedly has said he would oppose the current limited arms agreements. If Congress does not approve the new weapons, because without them the arms agreements would be worthless.

Fulbright has often opposed what he likes to refer to as "American imperialism" but has been myopic if not blind to Russian imperialism which has gobbled up one country after another. We have sought only peace and freedom, not one inch of territory.

Fulbright's position is that Laird's policies "are seriously undermining, and therefore endangering our security" by spending money he thinks should be spent elsewhere. But adequate defense of the United States is a priority that can be second to none.

Fulbright's disappointment in the arms limitation agreements as not providing an immediate windfall for other purposes is understandable only if the disparity between reality and wishful thinking is recognized.

Fulbright is stubbornly unconvinced of the harsh fact that the United States can afford to disarm only if Russia disarms.

The President has proved his ability as a mover for world peace and deserves support in his policies with respect to better relations with the Soviet Union. He at least has made a beginning toward a goal that has eluded American statesmen for half a century.

Out Of Reach

Anyone who recently entered the housing market for the first time in, say, 10 years, may have been startled by the price appreciation which occurred in the interim. Not to mention higher interest rates and other costs incidental to purchasing a home.

Even so, according to one who has intimate knowledge of housing conditions elsewhere, young Americans in particular are very fortunate to have fine housing bargains within their reach. This is the opinion of Hans Peter Traub, a West German lawyer who is in the United States gathering material for a thesis.

The first impression Traub had of American housing was what a bargain it is.

A six-room home in his native Stuttgart, he notes, within commuting distance of the city, would be priced from $80,000 to $100,000. The high price is a result of land scarcity and population pressures.

MR. SPECTATOR

Look Who Came To Visit

It was a little embarrassing. This fellow walked up to our desk. We knew him right off - only thing we couldn't remember was his name. So we came right out and told him so.

He laughed and said "I'm Doc Hawkins."

Then we did feel silly. When we were a reporter L. W. (Doc) Hawkins was a commissioner of Twin Falls county. He was in that office for 12 years. And then he served a term as sheriff of this here county. And here we didn't remember his name.

Well, it developed into a good visit. We hadn't seen Doc for years. Seems as though our paths never crossed like they used to. We learned, for instance, that he still lives in the same house he lived in when he was sheriff - and before. In fact he's been there for more than 50 years. His spread is alongside Old Highway 30 between Filer and Buhl.

So it was nice to talk with him again. Brought back many fond memories of "beat" covering in the court house. And while we are at it, we would like to mention that the whole visit came about because Doc wanted to let us know of something that is happening to a granddaughter - she's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Wise who live in Spokane. Mrs. Wise is the former Norma Jean Hawkins and the granddaughter's name is Lora Lee, 16. Lora Lee is the youngest member of a dance performance and appreciation group now touring Europe with the Study Guild in ternational. Miss Wise is the acrobatic dance representative and with other members of the touring group will perform in town squares, theaters and aboard ship. The tour will take five weeks, and they will visit seven countries.

In addition, Miss Wise will perform with a group billed as "International Pom Pom Girls" and in a jazz dance routine. Performing in public is nothing new to the 16-year-old. She has been on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour in New York and Hollywood, performed at the New York World's Fair in 1965 and in Washington D. C. with the "Utah Rockettes." She is a junior at University High School in Spokane.

Her mother is a graduate of the Filer High School and Idaho State University.

And like we said, we're glad Doc came in to chat!

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

The old timers can remember when Washington's face was on our money. Now, Washington's hands are on it too.

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court's decision which ruled that the Justice Department could not bug or wiretap anyone without court approval has put a pull on Washington.

In a town where status symbols are essential, being bugged by the Justice Department was the highest honor the government could bestow on one of its citizens. It meant the person was important enough to warrant surveillance and his work was so meaningful that the FBI was worried about him.

One of the biggest gambits of a lawyer or lobbyist in Washington has been to say to the client, "We'd better not discuss this on the phone, I think my line is tapped."

The client would be immediately impressed and the lawyer or lobbyist would then double his fee.

The same went for newspapermen stationed in this town. A wise correspondent would call his editor and say, "Jeff, pass the word at the paper that if anyone at the office has anything important to say, not to call me at home. They've got me bugged. They're furious at the White House about the story I did on urban development, and

I hear the word is out to find out who leaked it. If I have anything important to report, I'll call you from a pay phone."

Most militant protest groups, are disturbed by the Supreme Court ruling.

Sam LaBarbe, the leader of the Students' Committee Against Students, told me, "The Supreme Court took all the fun out of protesting. We used to sit for hours making obscene phone calls to friends telling Nixon, Agnew, John Mitchell and Kleindienst where to go. Now it's hardly worth the dime." At cocktail parties almost everyone in Washington talked about being bugged. This is how the conversation would go:

"Helen, when I called you yesterday, I had the most terrible connection."

"Yes, everyone is complaining about it. Charles told me last night that he heard they had a 24-hour tap on his line and it was weakening the circuit."

"Why would they want to tap Charles? He's certainly a small fish in this town."

"I resent that remark, Ethel. Charles has a very important job as far as the authorities are concerned, and we've been tapped for over a year. When was the last time anyone tapped William's telephone?"

"We've been tapped through three different administrations."

"You made that up. Who cares what William has to say?"

"The host would then interject, 'I wish you girls wouldn't talk so loud. I know someone has planted a bug in the chandelier.'"

It was so important to be tapped in Washington that it is rumored many people used to install their own bugs in the wall and show them to friends as the real thing.

I know one columnist who always insisted we walk in the garden when we talked about anything, as he claimed all his paintings had been wired for the FBI.

It's going to be hard in Washington to find something to replace the status of being bugged or wiretapped. The only answer is that since the government can't do it, private industry will have to take over.

This could, in effect, be what the bugging attempt of the Democratic National Committee was all about. Thanks to the five men who were caught trying to bug the Democratic headquarters, the Democrats have more status now than they ever had before. Until the incident, no one in Washington had ever heard of the Democratic Party. But since the incident, its prestige has risen and, for the first time, the Democrats are being taken seriously in 1972.

OPERATION HEAD START

ROBERT ALLEN & JOHN GOLDSMITH

Parity Or Peril?

WASHINGTON — Those Congressional hearings by four different committees on the strategic arms limitation agreements are far from finished, but already one central issue is clearly evident.

In summary, it is as follows: That under these treaties, Russia can build up its land and sea-based missile armaments as it had planned to do. That is, the Soviet is not prevented from doing what it had contemplated anyway. All the pacts do is to legitimize their strategic weapons build-up.

On the other hand, the agreements signed in Moscow pit the U. S. in a straight-jacket that explicitly prevents it from further development of its strategic arms. Under this freeze, the U. S. is definitely put at a serious numerical inferiority in both ICBMs and submarines, while Russia is allowed to continue expanding its already huge arsenal of these cataclysmic weapons.

As a consequence, it is being argued, at the conclusion of the five-year duration of these accords, the U. S. will be perilously inferior and highly vulnerable in both land and sea-based missiles.

This key issue was sharply and forcefully spelled out by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., at a hearing of the Senate Armed Services Committee, as follows:

"Within the five-year life of these agreements, that is by mid-1977, we will be in the position of having to ask the Soviet for parity. In other words, we will be asking them to give up in SALT II what they have gained in SALT I. Yet what possible reason is there to expect that the Soviet will be willing to do that? Or more to the point, what political and diplomatic concessions will we be forced to make so that the Soviet will not further widen their margin of superiority?"

There was no answer from Defense Secretary Laird, to whom this penetrating question was addressed. Underlining the contention that under these treaties Russia has a virtual free hand in building up its strategic forces, this hearing produced the following significant corroborative testimony:

Secretary Laird and Admiral Thomas Moorer, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, maintained that had the arms limitation agreements not been reached, Russia over the next five years could have deployed 250 land-based nuclear missiles

ICBMs a year, and built eight missile-armed nuclear submarines a year.

But under close questioning by Sen. Jackson, the two Pentagon leaders acknowledged that there is authoritative evidence that the Soviet, instead of pursuing that policy, was modernizing its land-based missile forces — which already outnumber most of the U. S. by 50 per cent.

RAY CROMLEY

GOP In 1976

WASHINGTON — While everyone (almost) is giving rapid attention to this year's political campaigns, a group of rather influential Republicans is worrying about the presidential contest of 1976, when Richard Nixon will no longer be in the running.

The group has no formal standing as yet. And no funds. But they have a candidate — former Texas governor, ex-Navy and ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally. On the Republican ticket.

They are convinced the Texas Democrat has more political know-how than any other man on the horizon. They believe Nixon is inclined their way, though they have no convincing evidence as to the President's feelings on friend Connally as his successor at the White House.

Interestingly enough, this informal group of backers does not favor Connally as Nixon's running mate this year. For one thing, they believe he would not be happy as vice-president. Even more importantly, they're convinced the vice-presidency is not the best stepping stone to the White House.

"History is on the side of their argument. It is true that in the early years of the Republic, three of the first seven U.S. presidents after Washington had been vice-presidents — John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Martin Van Buren. But since them except for Nixon, eight vice-presidents have succeeded to the presidency only through death of the president. And Nixon was unable to make it directly from the vice-presidency.

The track record of those in Spiro Agnew's post is definitely not good.

Therefore, these backers would like Nixon to name Connally as secretary of state. They see at Foggy Bottom a much greater scope for their man's particular talents. Here, interestingly enough, they're not swayed by the statistics showing only six secretaries of state have become presidents — Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Van Buren and Buchanan.

They note that quite a few other secretaries of state have made names for themselves, either at State or the Supreme Court or elsewhere, including John Marshall, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, Elihu Root, Robert Lansing, Charles E. Hughes, Frank Kellogg, Henry Stimson, James Blaine, Cordell Hull, John Foster Dulles and Dean Acheson.

The thinking of these backers, therefore, is that Connally wouldn't get lost in the wings at State as he might as vice-president, though they admit it difficult in any event to conceive of Connally being out of sight, regardless of his official position.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Good Sense?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had a terrible hemorrhage from a peptic ulcer three years ago. He had been drinking for some years, but then stopped.

Well, at work a man told him he could have an occasional drink of whisky and water, and now he overdoes it, and also smokes a carton of cigarettes a week after his doctor had warned him not to drink or smoke.

I would appreciate it if you could set him straight. What could happen if he overdoes this? Mrs. E.M.S.

Do you think that if your husband takes his advice from somebody at work and ignores his own doctor, he would pay any attention to me?

There are enough things medicine still has trouble in treating, why patients tempt fate by refusing to make use of things we DO know how to do is one of life's frustrating mysteries. With an ulcer, an urgent requirement is to keep from provoking the stomach into releasing any excess acid which, of course, irritates the ulcer instead of letting it heal.

Among the things that provoke more acid are spicy foods, caffeine in coffee, tea, cola drinks, and alcohol. That's why milk and frequent feeds are part of treatment to ulcers to combat excess acidity.

Alcohol is so well known as an acid-stimulant that it is, in fact, used in some instances when it is necessary to analyze stomach acids. A solution of alcohol is given to stimulate the flow.

As for smoking, the exact physiological effect is not thoroughly understood, but I don't know of any ulcer routine that doesn't prohibit or at least restrict smoking. Certainly a carton a week is far from being "restricted."

There are physicians who sometimes allow an ulcer patient one small highball a day, if the patient will give up smoking entirely. The theory is that the one drink a day may calm the patient's nerves.

nervous tension being an important factor in ulcers enough to balance the increase in acid. The lesser of two evils, perhaps.

But the doctor has to know his patient pretty well to risk permitting that one drink. He has to know his patient is reliable enough so he won't make his one drink double strength.

You didn't give your husband's age, but a hemorrhage from an ulcer is serious at any time, and in older persons is highly dangerous.

All I can say is that your husband is asking for it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor said I have a spastic colon and should not eat hard foods. What would classify as hard foods? Mrs. R.H.C.

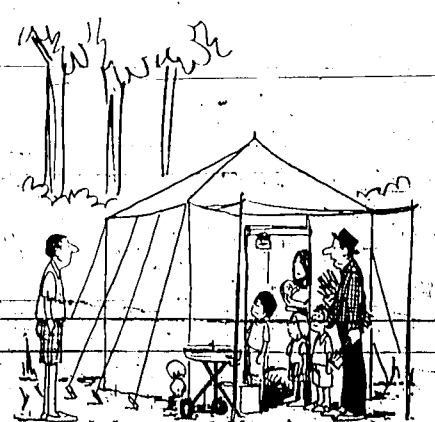

It's not a term that I use, so you had better ask him for his definition next time you see him. Generally, I would say nuts, food with seeds, bran products, items such as corn or others that have a high fiber content which is not completely digestible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true that drinking milk after eating lobster will poison us? How is it that eating lobster stew doesn't poison us? A.T.

There's no truth in that old wheeze that one shouldn't drink milk when eating seafood. Your own observation is the tipoff: lobster stew, fish chowder and other such dishes are perfectly healthful. It makes no difference whether you mix the milk into a stew, or do the mixing in your stomach after you've eaten the things.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers, and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

NJ official indicted

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—New Jersey Secretary of State Paul J. Sherwin, a power in an administration which swept into office vowing to "clean" out corruption, was indicted Wednesday on charges of extorting a $10,000 campaign contribution for the Republican party.

William C. Loughran, a top Republican fund raiser, and Michael J. Manzo, president of the Manzo Construction Co., also were charged. The state and federal indictments, alleged the three were involved in an unsuccessful attempt to secure a construction contract for Manzo's firm.

Sherwin, 53, a top aide and confidant to Gov. William T. Cahill, was the 131st public official indicted in New Jersey since federal and state officials launched an anticorruption drive three years ago. The charges against him were a major surprise since Cahill's administration had been credited with pushing the cleanup.

The four-count state and three-count federal indictments came the day before Sherwin's predecessor in the $38,000 per year post, Robert Burkhardt, 55, was to be sentenced in federal court in Camden on separate conspiracy and extortion charges. Burkhardt has pleaded guilty.

Sherwin was to appear today before Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield.

His lawyer, Adrian M. Foley Jr., said there was "no doubt" of Paul Sherwin's innocence. "Sherwin said he was taking a leave of absence without pay until the case is resolved."

Cahill said he was "convinced that Paul Sherwin is an honest man." He said, "This administration has been since its beginning, and is now being conducted on behalf of the citizens of New Jersey with absolute integrity and complete honesty."

Resolution urged

VIENNA (UPI)—Sweden pushed for a strongly worded resolution condemning U.S. policy in Vietnam today as the four-day Socialist International congress drew to a close.

The main theme of the congress was "the international situation" with Socialist party leaders from more than 20 Western nations giving their views on topics ranging from the Middle East crisis to the Vietnam war and women's liberation.

Congress sources said there was disagreement among the delegations on the wording of a main resolution which would include strong condemnation of U.S. policies in Vietnam. But, they said, most of the West European delegations wanted to keep the wording moderate.

Swedish Premier Olof Palme, a strong critic of Washington's Indochina policies, said the resolution should "condemn the mass destruction" in Vietnam.

The sources said the resolution would call for a European security conference as soon as possible and general East-West detente.

In a congress speech, Palme called for a ban on what he termed the "shocking" weapons used by America in Vietnam.

Damages viewed

ELICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew leaves his home state of Maryland today for Elmira, N.Y., on the second leg of a two-day tour of Eastern states ravaged by Tropical Storm Agnes.

Agnew visited both Maryland and Virginia Wednesday and termed the destruction "appalling." Maryland counted 19 flood victims and $62 million in damages, while Virginia suffered 17 deaths and $210 million in destruction.

"The damage is appalling, but it is heartwarming to see neighbor helping neighbor," said Agnew after walking briefly through the downtown section of this central Maryland city where water had been 10 feet deep only days before.

"The important thing is that we get the job done," the vice president told Adjutant General Edwin Warfield III after visiting disaster relief centers. "That's what the President wants."

In Richmond earlier, Agnew praised the Commonwealth's disaster plan as "the best in the nation," but added that "no matter how efficient we are, there is a tremendous amount of human grief and misery."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—California's park rangers will start carrying guns for the first time Saturday because of an increase in youthful disorder, petty theft and drug use at some parks.

NEA aides urge end to practice

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—A task force of the National Education Association Wednesday called for an end to corporal punishment in schools—a practice it attributed to poor working conditions.

The 7,000-member, association's Task Force on Corporal Punishment recommended a one-year phasing out period for corporal punishment beginning with the 1972-73 school year.

No teacher intentionally wants to inflict pain "either physically or psychologically," the committee said in its report to the 110th annual convention.

The panel asked NEA affiliates to help teachers in "securing minimal conditions for dealing with disruption and developing and identifying alternatives to inflicting physical pain on students."

The task force said that it had found physical punishment hindered learning. Rather, the "practice" may increase disruption.

Money crisis averted by holding Gem bills

BOISE (UPI) — State Auditor Joe R. Williams reported Wednesday that the state of Idaho has averted a financial crisis by stalling its creditors until July and may end this fiscal period with a half-million-dollar surplus in the general fund.

Williams had moved June 6 to meet the threat of an unconstitutional deficit by stopping payment of all bills. But before he ordered the embargo, state budget director D.E. "Skip" Chisler warned the state could be in the red by as much as $2.5 million when the fiscal year ends this Friday.

Idaho's state constitution requires a balanced budget each fiscal year — at least one balanced on paper — so Williams halted payment of outstanding bills.

He said, "Friday night at 12 o'clock we'll have a balanced budget. We could have as much as a half-million-dollar in the black. This is an estimate. I will know better on Friday."

"I am sure...we would not have been in a position to balance the general fund if I had not cut it (bill payment) off the sixth of the month."

"(But) thanks to the hold-back the crisis is over," Williams added.

Although the state auditor is confident the general fund will be balanced and even may show a paper surplus of at least $500,000, Williams said he could not be certain how many bills were delayed.

"Department heads, on his order, held their bills in their own offices rather than submitting them to him. The few bills that did come in were promptly returned," Williams said.

"There is no way to determine just how bad off the general fund was or was not because the bills were held up at the agency level."

Williams said the bills which come in next month may give a good indication — but he admitted nobody could say for certain just what the true state of the budget really will be Friday.

He said if his own office is any indication of what the rest of state government experienced, he believes the reported deficit could have been on target.

He said, "we're encumbering $26,000 in bills that ought to have been paid in this period — that's just my own office. We don't buy a thing we don't have to buy so I would say we are representative."

Republican legislative leaders questioned predictions from Democratic Gov. Cecil D. Andrus that the general fund was headed for a deficit.

The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, said he expected a surplus, not a deficit.

It may be one official's word against another's without a detailed breakdown on just how many bills were held up and what they totaled in dollars and cents.

"The state auditor said one of the reasons — besides the hold-back on bills — he believes there will be a paper surplus is an apparent increase in revenues beyond what officials expected."

Williams said, "they're a little more than I thought they'd be. This is counting the transfers and everything, too."

Cenarrusa plans to ask for 2-year initiative

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Secretary of State says he will urge the next legislative session to provide for a constitutional amendment so the people can legislate by initiative every two years, instead of four.

Pete T. Cenarrusa made the statement Wednesday after a petition with 27 valid signatures reached his office from Washington County concerning an initiative to make deputy sheriffs come under the merit system.

The state constitution provides that initiatives can be placed on the ballot — after enough valid signatures have been obtained on petitions — every four years because the vote must be based on how much a gubernatorial winner received.

"Before 1946, the governor was elected every two years, allowing initiatives every two years. But the chief executive's tenure period was changed to four years, and the constitution was not altered for initiatives."

The legislature this year failed to pass a measure concerning the deputy sheriffs and now Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright is promoting an initiative effort to put the matter before the voters.

Cenarrusa said 24,521 valid signatures would be needed to put the initiative on the ballot, based on 1970 voting figures for governor.

"My guess is that it would be difficult to get roughly 25,000 signatures. History has shown that it takes several months to do this and it takes an active issue," Cenarrusa said. He added the signatures would have to be in his office by July 7, or four months before the general election, according to state law.

The attorney general's office sent a letter to Bright saying it was not likely the initiative could be placed on the ballot this year because of the constitutional restrictions.

Cenarrusa said, however, "The people have the right to legislate by initiative. There is a question, though, as to whether an initiative measure can be placed on the ballot in this general election year."

He bases his opinion on a dredge mining case of 1968, when on party — represented by now Attorney General W. Anthony Park — sued the secretary of state for his non-acceptance of some signatures on an initiative petition to outlaw dredge mining.

Fourth District Court ruled with Cenarrusa, saying he did not have to accept invalid signatures, and also that the initiative could not be held in 1968 because of constitutional restrictions.

The case was taken to the State Supreme Court which upheld the district court decision as far as the non-acceptance of signatures. However, the court did not rule in a majority opinion on whether the initiative could be held in 1968.

Cenarrusa said he would confer further with the attorney general to see if an initiative measure can be put on the November ballot, and if not, could petitions received for the deputy sheriff's merit system issue be held if necessary until 1971.

He said, "the point is if the people are denied the right to legislate every two years, it will be because of an oversight when they made the governor's term four years."

Office stays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len B. Jordan said Wednesday he was told by the bureau of Reclamation that its regional office for the Pacific Northwest area will remain at Boise.

Alignment of the bureau's regional boundaries has been under review as a result of a departmental directive to facilitate interagency coordination, plan first outlined in 1969. Jordan organization plan first outlined in 1969. Jordan said.

Under the standard regional plan, federal field headquarters in the northwest are being concentrated in Portland, but the bureau is holding to its present river organization, with a few additional efforts, bureau commissioner Ellis Armstrong said.

Accused hijacker asked sister's aid

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The sister-in-law of suspected hijacker Richard F. McCoy Jr. told a Federal Court jury Wednesday how McCoy offered her $50,000 to help him hijack an airliner.

Mildred D. Burns then told the 12-member jury how McCoy "said he would kill me" if she turned him in following the commandeering of a United Air Lines jet April 7 over Colorado.

Miss Burns' tearful testimony came in the third day of McCoy's hijack trial on charges he diverted the Denver-to-Los Angeles jet to San Francisco, obtained $500,000 in ransom and then bailed out over Provo with the money after releasing the passengers.

At day's end, Assistant U.S. Attorney James F. Housley told the court he was ready to rest his case pending a ruling by Chief U.S. District Judge Willis W. Ritter on a defense motion to suppress evidence on grounds a search warrant for McCoy's home was improperly filled out.

Ritter said he would rule on the motion early this morning with the jury excused.

But the sister-in-law's testimony that McCoy confessed the hijacking to her and his wife the day after the incident and her statement that she saw "a large sum of money in a cardboard box" hidden at the McCoy residence proved to be the key to the prosecution's case Wednesday.

In 1834 American statesman Henry Clay died in Washington.

In 1946 British forces arrested more than 2,700 Jews in an attempt to put down terrorism in Palestine.

In 1964 the sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro defected to Mexico City.

In 1970 the last American troops were withdrawn back into South Vietnam from Cambodia.

A thought for the day: British poet Lord Byron said, "Speak out of men's creeds. They rest between man and his Maker."

Indian says flood first of US woes

DRAPER, Utah (UPI) — Mad Bear, a squat Tuscarora clad in a red smock and headband, acted as spokesman for the group, all leaders of the North American Indian Unity Caravan.

The purpose of the caravan, which this year for the first time will include non-Indians, is to spread the word and stop the flooding.

"The way to avoid this disaster is to return to the Indian spiritual way of life," said Mad Bear. "The Indians have the key to the problem in their sacred instructions."

Mad Bear and Rolling Thunder, medicine man for the Shoshone Tribe, Deerman Logan, Chief of the Seneca Nation and other chiefs from the Triquetra Nation, representing thousands of Indians in the East and the West, stopped in this community south of Salt Lake City, Wednesday.

Snag causes 2nd summit talk delay

SIMLA, India (UPI)—A snag developed today in the summit talks between Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan postponing a second meeting between the two leaders.

The problem cropped up during a morning meeting of the official delegations of the two countries. A Pakistani official said the Indians wanted to discuss a package deal which would settle the border dispute in the Kashmir area and include a no-war pledge by Bhutto. He said the Pakistanis want to discuss the issue one by one.

Asked if Mrs. Gandhi and Bhutto would meet during the day as planned, the official said, "I don't know. I don't think so."

Even if the two leaders did not meet for substantive talks, they did plan to appear together tonight at a dinner in Bhutto's honor.

The summit talks at this Himalayan mountain retreat began Wednesday with Bhutto and Mrs. Gandhi making a gingerly beginning in their attempt to settle national differences spanning a quarter of a century.

Bremer undergoes mental testing

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—Arthur H. Bremer, who faces up to 123 years in prison on state charges of trying to assassinate Gov. George C. Wallace, has pleaded insanity and been ordered to undergo mental testing.

Bremer, a former Milwaukee busboy, changed his plea from innocent to not guilty by reason of insanity during a hearing Wednesday before Chief Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers.

Bremer's attorney, Benjamin Lipsitz, objected to Powers' ruling that Bremer must take a mental examination at the Clifton T. Perkins State Hospital in Jessup, Md., in preparation for his July 12 trial.

Psychiatrists will examine Bremer and report to the court whether he is competent to stand trial. The tests were expected to take between four and seven days.

Powers also denied a defense motion to delay the start of the trial, rejecting Lipsitz's contention that publicity in the case would deprive his client of a fair trial.

Powers acknowledged that certain publicity can be prejudicial but said the defendant's rights must be balanced against "the public interest in getting these cases over and disposed with...getting the innocent free and the guilty dealt with."

Bremer also faces federal charges in connection with the case. A federal court trial in Baltimore is scheduled to start July 17.

GOP Senator reintroduces defeated busing bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate supporters and opponents of forced busing were caught off guard late Wednesday when Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., without advance notice, reintroduced his narrowly-defeated bill to bar federal courts from ordering busing in school desegregation cases.

However, he later withdrew the measure after a heated exchange with acting Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia. Byrd angrily accused Griffin of attempting to snarl expected approval of a $9.7 billion antipoverty bill.

Byrd said that a bill vital to the orderly operation of the government—a measure extending the national debt ceiling at $450 billion beyond its expiration at midnight Friday—would not be called up until the poverty legislation was acted upon. Griffin, the assistant GOP leader, then backed down but said he would offer the anti-busing proposal again as a rider to some other bill.

Griffin's fellow law-makers were stunned when he reintroduced his busing legislation as an amendment to the antipoverty bill.

The proposal, which was

Cool crickets

TOKYO (UPI)—During summer months, live crickets housed in bamboo cages are sold by street peddlers throughout Japan because Japanese consider the voice of the cricket as a cooling sound.

Cricket peddlers are called mushuri. The custom is said to have been started in Tokyo about 250 years ago by a vegetable shop proprietor who collected crickets to entertain his children.

Plans ministry

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Retiring Astronaut James B. Irwin, who says his flight to the moon on Apollo 15 made him a deeply religious man, said Wednesday he will form his own evangelistic group and hopes to work with Dr. Billy Graham in a worldwide ministry.

Irwin, 42, announced last month he will leave the space program in August to devote his time to "spreading the good news of Jesus Christ." Irwin landed on the moon last year with David R. Scott.

"The thing that really moved me was that I felt God's presence while I was on the moon," he said. "I think if we follow the principles of Jesus Christ, what a wonderful place we'd have to live, that it would be the answer to all of our problems on earth if we give our lives to Him."

Irwin said he hoped the organization will guide and direct his efforts in a world ministry. He met with Graham at the annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention last month.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices moved sharply lower in sluggish trading Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Around 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was off 7.37 at 923.47, its lowest level in months. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.43 at 106.59.

Declines outnumbered advances, 806 to 411, among 1,593 issues across the tape. Three-hour turnover amounted to 8,300,000 shares, compared with 7,420,000 traded during the same period Wednesday.

There was little in the news background to stimulate investors. Most of them reneged on the sidelines. Concern continued over the international monetary problems which have arisen since Britain floated the sterling last week. The dollar, however, was firm on European markets during the day.

Rexham was the most active issue, unchanged at 75 on 308,000 shares, including a block of 300,000 shares at 72.

McGraw-Hill was second, unchanged at 16 1/2 on 304,400 shares, including a block of 302,000 shares at 16 1/4. Gulf Oil was third unchanged at 24 1/4 on 164,000 shares, including a block of 119,000 shares at 24 1/4, off 1/4.

Chemicals, rails and airlines moved lower generally.

State employees misuse sick leave, official says

Thursday, June 29, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

TAR & ASPHALT!
REMOVED FROM ANY CARPET
PHONE 733-6036

The audit recommended the state drop its civil defense education program administered by the department of education because public apathy had rendered it ineffective.
As an alternative, the audit suggested that should the program not be dropped, it should be redesigned to provide civil defense training in high schools as an elective course.
Defenbach expressed alarm at the rapid growth in federal funding of the department's own staff. He recommended that the state gradually change over from dependency on federal funds to state funds where functions are outlined in the Idaho Code.
"The state's responsibility for education will not be preserved and furthered if it remains dependent to a major degree upon federal programs and funds."
The staff within the department should not be solely dependent upon federal funds in order to provide the services requested by local school districts," he wrote.

The audit was particularly interested in the administration of consultant services.
It said that the department has relied heavily on services of state university faculty and administrators to act as consultants. He said their average daily consultant fee is $75.
The audit said faculty members were paid special fees while absent from scheduled classes. Classes are either canceled or conducted by a substitute.
"Universities and colleges have approached the legislature for additional funds to hire additional faculty members (among other reasons) to reduce faculty workloads." If faculty members are overburdened with regular duties, we question how they can find time to serve as consultants.

An additional problem caused by the eventual adoption of similar consulting fees for members of the department of education who served in a consulting capacity, "while away from their regular assignment."
The audit called for a legal opinion from the attorney general on the matter, and asked that a special committee appointed by the superintendent of public instruction investigate the practice.
The audit said additional income is necessary if the state's driver training program is to be wholly funded by the state.
Defenbach recommended that the legislature should appropriate additional driver education funds.
One possibility suggested for raising the additional money was adding special penalty assessments to traffic fines paid by errant drivers. This special assessment could be $50, which equals the maximum amount paid to school districts for each individual satisfactorily completing the training course.

Defenbach said the special assessment "could be considered as a penalty for failure to use intelligently the special training received by them to enable them to become competent, safe operators of motor vehicles."
There are about 15,000 deer in the Argentine Andes.

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Employees of the Idaho Department of Education have flagrantly misused sick leave privileges, Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach said today.
In a report to the Legislative Budget and Fiscal Committee, Defenbach said that during the biennium ended last June 30 "we located numerous instances where sick leave was abused and misused."

Latin students view MV farming

TWIN FALLS — Thirteen foreign agriculture students from Utah State University are in the Magic Valley today studying irrigation problems and practices.

The tour is part of a short course sponsored by the Utah, Idaho, Washington, California and Arizona departments of higher education. Eleven of the students are from Brazil. Two are from El Salvador.

Because they can not speak English, two interpreters are traveling with the group.

Tuesday morning the tour began in the Magic Valley area with a study of the A and B Irrigation District around Rupert. A discussion of the different practices followed in the afternoon.

Wednesday's tour began at the Snake River Conservation Research Center, Kimberly. At the center they were given a review of the research being done at the center's soil and water research facility.

Discussion of the different projects was given by the different scientists at the center.

Today, the group toured the Twin Falls Irrigation project, this morning under the direction of Don Yontz, Twin Falls County agricultural agent.

The group toured the Ray Kohnstopp farm north of Filer, as an example of a family farm. Next they viewed weed control activities and water measurement structures north of Curry. Al Peters, manager of Twin Falls Canal Co., headed this part of the tour.

A tour of the Bell Rapids Project was on the afternoon schedule. The 13 were to be guided over the project by Larry Boyd, manager of the project. They studied the high lift pumping out of the river near Hagerman.

Friday the group will meet with Dorrell Larsen, extension irrigator, University of Idaho, in Boise for review of Idaho irrigation. In the afternoon program, they will tour the Canyon County farming area.

The group will leave Idaho Saturday for the state of Washington and a similar tour of that state's irrigation projects.

The Idaho part of the tour began last Monday at the Aberdeen, University of Idaho Experiment station and the American Falls Irrigation project.

Technical leader of the program is W. Kenneth Bach, Utah State University.

Poultry disease spreads

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — Newcastle disease, which has already caused the deaths of more than 2 million chickens and other birds in southern California, has spread into Kern County.

The state-federal Newcastle task force confirmed Tuesday that a flock of nine chickens had been found to be infected in Tehachapi, and was destroyed. All the chickens in three neighboring flocks, which had been exposed to the diseased flock, were also killed.

Gooding selects grassman

GOODING — Lloyd Ruckey, farmer residing north of Gooding, has been selected Gooding County Grassman of the Year.

Ruckey is sponsored by the Gooding Soil Conservation District and has farmed his own property the past 25 years.

His grasslands program involves an extensive pasture rotation system and he also maintains a strong conservation program for both land and water. SCS officials said

Elmore boosts fair premiums

GLENN'S FERRY — The Elmore County Fair Board has voted to increase the premiums to be paid for both 4-H and open classes at the fair to be Aug. 10-12.

Premiums will be $1.50 for first place; $1.25 for second place, and $1 for third place. It is hoped that this will encourage more people to enter items in the fair and for 4-Hers to complete their projects.

Mrs. Marilyn Jordan advises that there is still time to make items for the fair. The items in the art and needlework sections must have been made within the past two years by the exhibitor, who must live in the Elmore County area and not exhibited his project previously at the fair in either open class or in 4-H.

The canned goods items must have been made since the previous fair. Both the Kerr and Ball glass companies will present awards for fruits, vegetables, pickles and relishes, jams and jellies canned in its jars and lids. Entrants should use the same kind of lids and jars.

Kerr will present nine dozen wide mouth Mason quart jars and three dozen Mason half pint jars as prizes. Ball will present nine dozen Ball "sculptured glass" jars and eight units of Ball "quilted crystal" jelly jars. These will be given in addition to cash awards in the various categories.

Items will be checked in at the Elmore County Fair from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 8, except baked goods which will be entered from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on Aug. 9. Flowers, garden and farm produce and Grange, flower and garden booths from 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. on Aug. 10.

Area youth win Angus trophies

POTLATCH — Trophy winners at the Idaho Junior Angus Field Day included four Magic Valley residents.

Luan Howard, Buhl, took second in the judging contest for 14-20 year olds; Mrs. James (Jean) Brooks of Hazelton was first in the adult judging contest; Sidney Howard, Buhl, took first in the junior showmanship contest for 13 years and under; and Glen Brooks, Hazelton, was selected a delegate to attend the National Angus Showmanship Contest.

Brooks also received $150 from the Nonpareil Angus Ranch, Blackfoot, for the trip to Lexington, Ky., where the contest will be.

No drug threat seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is no solid proof yet that use of antibiotic drugs in livestock feed poses an important health hazard to man, but more research on the issue is needed, an Agriculture Department report said today.

The report, issued by the department's Agricultural Research Service, was labeled a "critical review" of past research on antibiotics in livestock and poultry feeds.

Earlier this year, the Food and Drug Administration announced plans under which many such drugs could be banned from agricultural use unless drug companies launched new research projects to prove their safety. The agency has not yet issued final regulations for the new studies.

The Agriculture Department report said a review of past research showed:

— Antibiotics are still effective in promoting faster growth of livestock and poultry.

Experts disagree on whether feeding antibiotics poses a health threat to mankind by leading to development of drug-resistant strains of bacteria.

— There are "indications from some sources" that use of antibiotics in livestock-poultry feeds pose a potential future danger to man, but no definite evidence that such use has resulted in increased drug-resistance in man or any untreatable human disease.

Tests in transferring drug-resistant bacterial from animals to humans showed the bacteria were unable to survive in human intestinal tracts.

Annual project

Heyburn sorority project under way

HEYBURN — The fifth annual "Cystic Fibrosis" play house is now being constructed by husbands of Alpha Psi Chapter, Epsilon-Sigma Alpha Sorority.

The philanthropic project is an annual event for members of Alpha Psi chapter.

This year's play house is a six-by-eight foot stucco type finish structure with a mansard roof. The inside will be paneled and have inlaid flooring. The outside will be finished with a machine-blown polyurethane foam which gives rigidity to the walls and also insulates the building. This design will fit into anyone's back yard.

Local merchants who have donated materials for the play house are McBride Furnace Cleaning and Insulation, Volvo Builders, McCaslin Lumber Co., Starrs Ferry Building and Supply, Skaggs Furniture, Halls Farm and Home Supply, NuVu Glass Co., Anderson Lumber Co. and Bestway.

The husbands of sorority members build the play house each year. The sorority members paint and decorate it. The play house this year will make its first public appearance in the Rupert Fourth of July parade. Other planned exhibits are the Cassia County Fair and rodeo parade and the Cassia County Fair in August and the Cassia Fairgrounds.

The play house will be given away during the Cassia County Fair. Four previous playhouses have netted about $1,200 which has been donated to the Cystic Fibrosis Research Fund. Donations will be accepted by any Alpha Psi chapter member.

Weekend outdoor shows set

BUHL — The Antique Festival Theatre gets its 55th performance tour under way this holiday weekend with a preview at Robinson Bar Ranch, east of Stanley.

Ranch guests, campers and folks from near by towns of Stanley and Clayton will be welcome to sit on the porch for the outdoor shows beginning Sunday evening with "Before the Flood," the A.A. Milne play about Noah.

On Monday evening it's "The Battered Bard," short scenes from Shakespeare presented in an unusual way and on Tuesday the song and dance "America, I Love You" will be done for the first time. All the shows start at 8 p.m.

Aldrich Bowler, producer-director, claims the 1972 company the most professional theater family he's ever assembled. Alleen Weil, veteran Twin Falls dance teacher, has choreographed; John Chapot, returned from 1971, arranged and directed the 26 musical numbers which are done in the three plays.

Tour begins

IN A SCENE from "America, I Love You," three actors returned to Antique Festival Theatre from previous seasons will be featured. From left are John Chapot, Fairfax, Calif.; Anna Marie Boles, former Hansen resident, and David Stifel, Yale Graduate School. The group's 55th performance tour will get under way this holiday weekend.

GLENN'S FERRY — Dean Anderson was elected president of the Three Island Livestock 4-H Club at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Grafe.

Other officers elected include Mark Anderson, vice president; Teresa Anderson, secretary, and Skip Owen, reporter.

A tour tentatively set for July 24 was discussed.

Gooding unit elects

GOODING — Welliver Miller, Gooding County courthouse and Gooding, was elected president of the Gooding County Historical Society in an annual meeting Tuesday night.

He succeeds Mrs. K. T. Sam Daniels, Jerome. The two prominent members of the Old Time Fiddlers Association, Hagerman, vice president, and Jean Stone, Gooding, secretary-treasurer. Thirteen board of director members were also elected.

About 50 members attended the annual meeting in the Gooding County courthouse and many new members were accepted.

Honorary memberships were given Mammie Shaw, Corral, and Sam Daniels, Jerome. The two prominent members of the Old Time Fiddlers Association, Hagerman, vice president, and Jean Stone, Gooding, secretary-treasurer. Thirteen board of director members were also elected.

Mrs. Faye Coates, Hagerman, displayed photographs of early time Hagerman and her son, Danny Coates, exhibited a collection of antique toys.

A Lovelier You

HOSTESS' DIET MENUS

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovelier writes: We have our first summer cottage and are about to have our first guests. There will be six of us in all, from Friday night to Sunday morning. I'm desperate about menus, low-calorie for the girls, not too complicated for me to prepare. Help!

The Answer: The following is a pattern for menus that are low-cal for the girls, forego the breads; many dishes can be prepared beforehand; frozen items cut preparation.

Friday Night: Shrimp cocktail, 8 to portion, chili sauce on side; New England clam chowder — homemade or canned (if canned add half-cream - half - milk) — serve in large, hot soup bowls and top with dollop of butter whipped with minced parsley and paprika; crisp oyster crackers; mixed green salad with dieter's Italian dressing; slices chilled cantaloupe; demi-tasse of iced coffee.

Saturday Lunch: a porch picnic: Sandwich makings (each person conceals own hero) from platter cold cuts: liverwurst, bologna, summer beef sausage, salami; divided dish with sliced tomato, onion, dill pickle, relish, mustard; diet bread and crusty rolls; variety whole fresh fruits; cooler no-cal soft drinks.

Saturday Dinner: Pre-cooked ham heated and crusted on outdoor rotisserie; individual vegetable kebabs, grilled over rotisserie charcoal on small skewers — such vegetables as cherry tomato, green pepper chunks, slices of pre-cooked potato and onion, zucchini, small bits bacon interspersed; French bread heated on grill in aluminum foil wrap; assorted ice cream balls; beverages of choice. Get the idea? Have fun!

POCKET CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our friend, POCKET CALORIE COUNTER, tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan—a way to eat and slim. DEAR ABBY: From the letters in your column, we "cold" wives should form a club. There are a lot of us around. We're easy to recognize. We're either sick a lot (headaches) or dead tired. We drink too much, smoke too much, and eat too much. I'm going on a diet tomorrow!

THE FATHER OF A C P IN HOUSTON

DEAR ABBY: If I read you right, it will take more than a message. It's time you straightened up and swam right. I hear there's awfully good fishing around Pompano Beach. Don't give your husband a good reason to junk his marriage license for a fishing license.

Problem? Trust Abby: For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 6970, L. A., CALIF. 90049 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to call up my postmaster and tell him a thing or two because I knew he ate my pension check, but I couldn't find his telephone number in the book. I called information and that's when I found out he had an unlisted number! That really made me mad, so since I knew where he lived, I drove over to his house and told his wife off.

Abby, as a taxpayer, I would like to know why a public servant like a postmaster would have an unlisted telephone number?

DEAR TAXPAYER: Probably to protect him from people who "know" he ate their pension checks.

DEAR ABBY: For the mother whose 16-year-old son pretends to be retarded to draw attention, and the father's encouraging reaction.

Obviously the boy is a good actor, but he probably is repeating himself, so I suggest the father do the following to inject realism.

Begin by using elastic bandages to tie the boy's elbows just slightly behind his back, so the elbows will remain bent. Next, wrap heavy rubber bands around the boy's fingers so that they may be used only with effort. Next, the father could have the boy lie on the floor where he could then wrap elastic bandages around his crossed knees. Then wrap more elastic bandages around his feet so they will be pointed inward.

Next, place a handful of large marbles into the boy's mouth, so he can neither close it nor control his saliva. Finally put a strip around the boy's head, and attach a rubber strip to it so the head is held up only with effort.

By this time the father is probably about to explode in anticipation of the boy's next performance. Then the father should instruct the boy to do some simple task, like turn on the TV and adjust the color and then try to sit in his favorite chair.

My analogy to simulate what it's like to have cerebral palsy (which isn't necessarily retardation) breaks down here: for the father is able to undo the boy's temporary condition. I wish to God that I had such power for my young daughter.

Next, wrap heavy rubber bands around the boy's fingers so that they may be used only with effort. Next, the father could have the boy lie on the floor where he could then wrap elastic bandages around his crossed knees. Then wrap more elastic bandages around his feet so they will be pointed inward.

Next, place a handful of large marbles into the boy's mouth, so he can neither close it nor control his saliva. Finally put a strip around the boy's head, and attach a rubber strip to it so the head is held up only with effort.

By this time the father is probably about to explode in anticipation of the boy's next performance. Then the father should instruct the boy to do some simple task, like turn on the TV and adjust the color and then try to sit in his favorite chair.

My analogy to simulate what it's like to have cerebral palsy (which isn't necessarily retardation) breaks down here: for the father is able to undo the boy's temporary condition. I wish to God that I had such power for my young daughter.

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to call up my postmaster and tell him a thing or two because I knew he ate my pension check, but I couldn't find his telephone number in the book. I called information and that's when I found out he had an unlisted number! That really made me mad, so since I knew where he lived, I drove over to his house and told his wife off.

Abby, as a taxpayer, I would like to know why a public servant like a postmaster would have an unlisted telephone number?

DEAR TAXPAYER: Probably to protect him from people who "know" he ate their pension checks.

DEAR ABBY: For the mother whose 16-year-old son pretends to be retarded to draw attention, and the father's encouraging reaction.

Obviously the boy is a good actor, but he probably is repeating himself, so I suggest the father do the following to inject realism.

Begin by using elastic bandages to tie the boy's elbows just slightly behind his back, so the elbows will remain bent. Next, wrap heavy rubber bands around the boy's fingers so that they may be used only with effort. Next, the father could have the boy lie on the floor where he could then wrap elastic bandages around his crossed knees. Then wrap more elastic bandages around his feet so they will be pointed inward.

At institute

A UNIQUE curriculum institute at the University of Idaho is being attended by four Magic Valley high-school teachers. From left are Richard L. Jennings, Burley; John A. Teeter, Wendell; Steven H. Sams, Twin Falls, and Richard K. Sparks, Richfield. The National Science Foundation institute on the "Man Made World" runs through July 21 and takes a look at pollution, population, health services, computers, traffic control and other problems in terms of decision making.

KH Grange welcomes new members

KING HILL — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis and Debbie Davis were welcomed as new member of the King Hill Grange at the Tuesday evening meeting.

Karl Anderson, past Pomona master, gave the fourth degree obligation to them.

Tamara Sherman, who had been given a scholarship to attend the Idaho Environmental Workshop at Alpine, gave a report of her three days at camp. This workshop has been held for 13 years, but this year for the first time, girls were allowed to attend.

A student must have completed his sophomore year of high school to be eligible to attend. Four hour lectures were given on land, water, air, trees, tree diseases, nature and wildlife. Then the group hiked and tried to fit the lectures to nature.

There were about 100 students and 13 instructors. The workshop is sponsored by the University of Idaho.

Dance set

JARBIDGE — The Jarbidge Improvement Club has scheduled a dance for 9 p.m. Monday in the old Commercial Club building.

Renovation of the building has just been completed by the improvement group. The building now looks as it did when it was constructed in 1910. The state of Nevada has given the building recognition as a historical site.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Ken Johnston orchestra from Jerome. The orchestra is well known throughout the Magic Valley area and recently returned from an engagement in Elko.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for the Jarbidge water system.

Book donated to area library

HAGERMAN — "Ghost Towns of the West," a pictorial guide to towns and mining camps that opened the west, has been donated to the Hagerman Library.

It was donated by Mrs. Gladys Keel in memory of Grace Stigler.

The book, with field photography and research by William Carter, shows what these towns look like today in photographs and in detail in beautiful modern photographs. It also offers maps and directions to each town or camp so others may enjoy exploring these places for themselves.

Of special interest to Hagerman readers is the page section on Silver City, Idaho, labeled the "Quixotic Queen of Ghosts."

There is included a full page color photograph of the town as it looks today and a detailed map of 24 points of interest. It also includes photos of the early days of the city and recent photos of the members of the Owyhee Castle men's Association, who hold their meetings in Silver City each year.

The city of Gilmore, Idaho, also has a two-page coverage of history and pictures.

For those interested in weekend ghost-touring, the map on pages 184 and 185 shows the locations of the Idaho ghost towns, according to Mrs. Stella Finch, librarian.

Take posts

NEW OFFICIALS of the Filer School District. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker, take over new duties Saturday. Baker succeeds Tom Turner as district superintendent and Mrs. Baker becomes clerk-secretary of the school.

Couple assumes duties at Filer

FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baker, will assume their new duties at the Filer High School Saturday.

Baker is the new superintendent of Filer School District and will replace Tom Turner, who retired this summer after 18 years of service to the schools.

Baker was former junior high principal of the Jerome school.

His wife worked at Buttegrays in Twin Falls for six years before quitting her job Friday to start Saturday as school secretary.

Mrs. Loren Farmer also retired this summer as school clerk and Mrs. Turner formerly held the position of school secretary.

The Bakers have moved to a house in Filer.

Registrars listed for Blaine

HAILEY — Precinct voter registrars for Blaine County have been announced.

According to county clerk Marie Ivie, under new state voting laws, all past voters as well as new voters must register for the Aug. 8 primary.

Precinct registration will be conducted until July 28, with the clerk's office, Hailey, taking registrations until Aug. 5.

Ketchum registrars include the following: East precinct,

Robert Wadsworth—Russ Horne—Real Estate and Insurance; northwest precinct, Norlene Brooks—Brooks Welding; southwest precinct, Everett DeCosta—DeCosta's.

Other precincts and their registrars include the following: Hailey 1, Mike Beltran The Place; Hailey 2,

Selja Model—Model's Trading Co.; Bellevue, Otis Dishenett Jr. Tinker's Grocery; Gannett-Picaboy, Betty Picaboy;

Silver Creek Supply, and Carey Ronda Hunt, Hunt's Service.

TWIN FALLS — The Fourth of July is one holiday still observed on the day it appears on the calendar.

Those who were looking forward to another long three-day weekend may as well forget it unless they work for one of the few firms which will be closed Monday and Tuesday.

All city, county, state and federal offices will be open as usual on Monday, but most will be closed on Tuesday, July 4. The Twin Falls City Council will meet Monday night as scheduled.

Paul conclave to study sewer

PAUL — The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will discuss sewage treatment proposals at a public hearing in Paul July 5.

Paul Mayor Robert Larsen said EPA representatives will be on hand at the meeting in the Paul Fire Department building to explain federal standards on pollution control, and to consider the city's proposals.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

The city has been advised that federal standards demand control of municipal waste-treatment plants to reduce pollution hazards. Health officials have said that "inadequately treated" effluent is being discharged into the Snake River.

The hearing is open to the public. Any interested person will be given an opportunity to express his views on the proposed sewage-treatment facilities. Oral and written statements will be accepted by the EPA spokesmen, Larsen said.

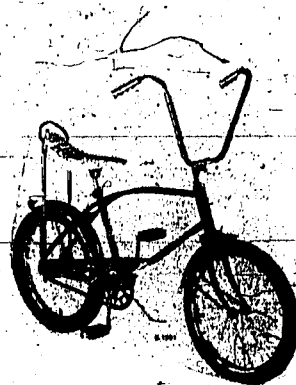

Written statements may be mailed in advance to the Regional Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency, Region X, 1200 Sixth Avenue, Seattle, Wash. 98101. The letters should be marked to Lloyd Libert, postmaster, said all mail deliveries will be made as usual Monday but the post office will close Tuesday and there will be no deliveries.

About 35 Twin Falls merchants have agreed to close their stores and business offices Monday and Tuesday to give workers a double holiday. All major department stores and chain stores will remain open Monday, but will close on Tuesday.

Banks, most lumber yards and insurance offices and some legal offices will be closed both days.

No holiday for sanitation crews

TWIN FALLS — There will be no holiday for sanitation crews making trash and garbage collections in Twin Falls and the regular pick-up schedule will be maintained.

Joe Coon, city sanitation superintendent, said Parks and Sons, contractor for the collection, will not observe a July 4 holiday. Residents of the city should make arrangements to have their solid waste collections available for the sanitation crews and trucks on the regular schedule regardless of the Tuesday holiday.

Idaho law officers rap death penalty decision

(Continued from P. 1) At present, Idaho has no capital cases pending. Chief Justice Henry F. McQuade of the Idaho Supreme Court, reached at a state bar convention in Sun Valley, said the decision of the nation's highest court is going to result in an "experiment in criminal justice." He said it will require a "great deal of additional expertise" in the area of corrections. There must be applications of more money by the legislature, Justice McQuade said, to provide greater correctional services. Judges also must receive more training in that area, he added. Robert C. Arneson, director of the Law Enforcement Planning Commission reached at a

Shoshone school needs outlined

SHOSHONE — Knowledge of drugs, occupational choices and use of leisure time for other than sports are among the critical needs of the Shoshone school system. This is among the data gathered by the Needs Assessment Committee and presented at a meeting here Tuesday night. Other areas listed as critical needs include applying knowledge to solve practical problems, more emphasis in the system in developing creative talents, promoting marketable skills, foreign language, understanding sexuality and consumer skills and respect for property. Areas termed extremely critical included reluctant learners, self evaluation, political and economic systems, self discipline and having students progress at their own rate, and learning disabilities. The data now will be presented to the original 12-member Quality Assurance Committee which will make final recommendations to the school board regarding areas where the school system may be improved.

Solon speaks on school aid

SHOSHONE — One third of state school funds go to universities and colleges while two-thirds remain for the public school system, state Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft said. He addressed the Shoshone Rotary Club Wednesday in the Legion Hall during a noon luncheon. Discussing school funding, Ravenscroft said the school tax base ranges between $400 and $600 per child with a difference of as much as $90 for the Pocatello child to $900 for a child in Midvale. He said $110 million of the state's total funds go to the schools, or 40 per cent of the total funds. Still schools need more money, he said. He proposed getting away from adding further property tax to raise the money. He suggested 80 per cent from the state level and a 14 per cent equalization as a proper formula. Ravenscroft said school funding is not 100 per cent from the state as has been indicated by some people. Decreasing numbers of students in a school system creates problems, he said.

Hailey sets Days of Old West

By TERRY CAMPBELL Times-News writer
HAILEY — A full slate of events has been scheduled for the annual "Days of the Old West" celebration July 3-4 in Hailey. Patrons will eat well at the barbecue set for 5 p.m. July 4, on the north side of the Blaine County courthouse. Three hundred pounds of potatoes and 35 dozen eggs will form the potato salad. A prime beef has been donated by John Povey, Rupert, and 16 lambs have been donated by Pete Cenarrusa and Associates. Button sales, allowing admittance to the barbecue, are showing good progress, according to Roberta McKeercher, secretary of the "Days of the Old West" committee. About 300 buttons were sold during the Hailey-Heller entertainment tour last Saturday through Magic Valley communities. Job's Daughters members currently have the buttons for sale. Special guests during the two-day celebration will include Lann D. Brackenbury, the 1971 Miss Rodeo America. She will ride in the parade and in the grand entry at the rodeo. Also riding in those two events will be the all girl Liberty Bell Riding Club, Gooding. A special competitor in the saddle bronc event will be Greg Garratea, Hailey, who is on leave from Camp Pendleton. The schedule for July 3 includes a sidewalk sale and street fair, Main Street; kid's parade, 1:30 p.m., Main Street; children's street sports, 3 p.m., Main Street; Hailey Heller "shoot out," 5 p.m., Main Street; rodeo, 7:30, Hailey Rodeo grounds, and a fireworks display after dark. Two cents a pound plane rides will also be offered from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Friedman Memorial Airport. Events July 4 include the following: Pancake feed, 7 to 10 a.m., Upper Big Wood River Grange Hall; Hailey Hellers "shoot out," 11:30 a.m., Main Street; main parade, 1:30 p.m., Main Street; rodeo, 2:30 p.m., rodeo grounds, and the barbecue, 5 p.m., courthouse grounds. Advance rodeo ticket sales will be conducted Friday and Saturday at the Wood River Dry Cleaners, Main Street, by Ruth Gardner. Officials of the "Days of the Old West" committee include president, Wally Young; vice president, C. W. (Andy) Gardner; secretary, Roberta McKeercher, and treasurer, Oliver Adams, who is also in charge of rodeo ticket sales.

Wendell to get new branch bank

WENDELL — The Farmers National Bank will open a branch at Wendell Monday in the old Idaho First National Bank Building. According to J. P. Hamilton, president of the bank, the branch at Hagerman will be closed when the Wendell branch opens. Lowell Shuler, manager of the Hagerman branch, will be the Wendell branch manager. The bank will celebrate its opening week Monday through July 7 with free gifts with all new accounts, refreshments and door prizes. The bank plans to construct a new building at Wendell in the future. The Farmers National Bank is one of the oldest in the area and has operated continuously under the same name since 1917. It is owned and controlled by Gooding and Twin Falls county residents. Members of the board of directors are John Black, chairman, Castleford; Dave Nicholson, Hagerman; Walter Olson, Clover; James Hart, and Hamilton, both Buhl. Nicholson said the bank will offer savings accounts, checking accounts, all types of loans, escrow services, BankAmericard, and safety deposit boxes, when the new building is complete.

Probe ordered in TF drug case

TWIN FALLS — Pre-sentence investigations have been ordered for three Twin Falls County men who pleaded guilty to drug charges in Fifth Judicial District Court. Michael W. Smith, 21, entered a plea of guilty to charges of delivery of a controlled substance June 23. Judge Theron W. Ward granted a request for a pre-sentence investigation and delayed sentencing until a report has been made. Todd Crosser, 19, also entered a plea of guilty to the same charges and will be sentenced following investigation reports. Charles William Turner, 18, entered a plea of guilty to charges of delivery of a controlled substance in February and was placed on 12 months probation by the court after a 120 day retained jurisdiction was ordered by the court on the earlier appearance. A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Ann Patricia Blake, 22, who pleaded guilty to forgery charges. Three men previously found guilty by the court on charges of burglary appeared before Judge Ward. Their case was appealed to the Idaho Supreme Court and returned to the district court for further proceedings. The three, Patrick Joseph Kinner, Ken Moen and Earl Sylvester Carter, all entered pleas of guilty when they appeared in court this week. Judge Ward ordered a five year sentence in the Idaho State penitentiary for each, to be served concurrently with other sentences. They were convicted of burglarizing the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course June 9, 1969.

Savings possible if rules followed

(Continued from P. 1) Defenbach said that the recommendations are implemented by agency heads. He said in some instances savings which would have been possible were lost because agency heads had not implemented the legislative recommendations. Co-chairman of the committee, Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, said the legislature should emphasize "follow-through" on the audit reports to guarantee implementation. He said Defenbach's report provided a review of "our own activities" on the fiscal budget committee, which suggested areas which the committee may have been overlooking in obtaining implementation of the legislative recommendations. Sen. John Reavey, R-Rupert, said legislation may be necessary to guarantee implementation of the legislative audits.

Burley band will make Canada trip

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News writer
BURLEY — The Burley High School marching band and Stepperettes will make their trip to Calgary, Canada, as originally scheduled. The decision to make the trip came at a meeting at the high school Wednesday evening. Tom Gruwell, Burley High School principal, reported at the meeting that all band instruments that were destroyed in the accident Monday night have been replaced on a loan basis from other schools and local residents, so the students will have instruments for their performances. The group also decided last night that it will have to regroup for marching due to injuries to members in the accident. All members able to march will take part in the scheduled events and those unable to march, but able to make the trip will go along. The first scheduled marching appearance following the accident is July 4 for the Rupert Fourth of July parade. Members of the group will leave July 8 at 8:30 a.m. for Canada where they are scheduled to march in the Calgary Stampede parade July 10. They will also play an exhibition performance and appear at the Stampede Rodeo July 11.

They will spend the night of July 8 at Helena, Mont., where they will hold a marching practice on the football field. On July 13, they will leave Calgary and visit Glacier Park. July 14 will be spent at Yellowstone National Park and on July 15 they will return home.

The group has worked at various projects and raised $4,500 towards expenses for the trip. Funds have already been sent to Helena, Mont., Calgary and Yellowstone toward lodging expenses. Tickets for the Calgary Stampede and the Chuckwagon races are waiting for the students at Calgary. None of the students' meals will be paid for out of the funds. The invitation to participate in the Calgary Stampede was accepted by the Burley band over a year ago and band members have been working and planning for the event since then.

Shoshone plans housing survey

SHOSHONE — A survey into available land tracts which might be utilized for housing development will be carried out by the Shoshone Development Corp. The decision came at a meeting of corporation members Wednesday night in the Manhattan Cafe. Chairman Robert Miller said he is pleased by support of the community and he urged all interested persons to attend meetings of the corporation and present their ideas for improvement in the area. Harrell Thorne was named chairman of the survey committee. After his selection of sites the group will tour the area before any definite action is taken, Miller said. Tom Miller, secretary of the Gooding Housing Authority, explained the formation and workings of the Gooding Senior Citizen Housing Project. An in-depth survey in Shoshone and Lincoln County will be made to determine the need for the facility, and how many units may be utilized. Ray Walker was named chairman of the needs committee. He will present a questionnaire in the Lincoln County Journal which may be answered by interested persons and returned to the development corporation. Returns will be compiled and the project will proceed based on these findings. Frank Danks, Fairfairs Home Administration, met with the group to explain financing procedures. Notice was received from the Small Business Administration listing support of the proposal and outlining their available programs. Financing is available for new businesses and expansion or improvement of old businesses. The next meeting will be July 20 at 8 p.m. in the Manhattan Cafe. Scott Brown, one of the three newly appointed Community Resource and Development specialists of the University of Idaho Extension Service, will be present.

Burley girl still listed as critical

BURLEY — A Burley girl injured when the Burley High School marching band was struck Monday evening by a car remains in critical condition today. Debbie Flowers, 17, was reported by Cassia Memorial Hospital officials to be critical, "but much improved" this morning. Deanna Winks, Mike Brown and Steven Woolstenhulme, three other Burley band members who remain hospitalized, were reported in good condition this morning. The car, which injured a total of 17 band members, was driven by Milb Hatt, 17, Burley. Neither he nor his passenger, Judy Reeder, 17, Burley, was injured.

Hansen favors control of dogs

HANSEN — A majority of residents at a meeting Wednesday night in Hansen seemed to favor some means of controlling dogs in the city. Mayor Harold Miller Jr. said a few of those attending were firmly opposed to such measures. He said the matter will be considered at the July Council meeting. About 50 Hansen residents attended the meeting. Mrs. Gordon Giusmann, Twin Falls Humane Society, spoke and offered to help the Hansen council in any way. Residents were reminded that dog bites must be reported to the county sheriff and a rabies test must be taken on the dog.

Death penalty outlawed

(continued from P. 1) Burger said he believes the legislatures under today's decision are free to "eliminate capital punishment for specific crimes or to carve out limited exceptions to a general abolition of the penalty, without adherence to the conceptual strictures of the 8th amendment." "The legislatures can and should make an assessment of the deterrent influence of capital punishment, both generally and as affecting the commission of specific types of crimes. "If legislatures come to doubt the efficacy of capital punishment, they can abolish it, either completely or on a selective basis. If new evidence persuades them that they have acted unwisely, they can reverse their field and reinstate the penalty to the extent it is thought warranted." He said the five majority opinions today share a willingness to make "sweeping factual assertions" about the effectiveness of capital punishment in this country. "Legislatures will have the opportunity to make a more penetrating study of these claims with the familiar and effective tools available to them as they are not to us," Burger said. The Chief Justice said he would not try to make a "definitive statement" as to the extent of the Court's ruling but he noted that the two "pivotal" concurrences — those of Stewart

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A new attitude is possible for you by getting advanced information on ways and means by which to expand your position in life. Be sure to be openminded and look into modern ideas which could increase your abundance and please your friends.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact personal advisers and figure out a way to solve your own problems much better. Make sure you follow advice given you. Evening is fine for study and relaxation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Impress on others that you are a fine citizen with a philosophical attitude toward others. Attend the social where you can meet interesting persons. This could aid you in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) New opportunities come your way now. Be sure to seize them before others do. A new contact has fine suggestions to make. Listen carefully and follow only the best ones.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you go through with any promises you have made. Show that you are a dependable person. An adviser can help you solve a problem. Contact this person early.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ask associates directly what is expected of you and then try to please them. Show that are loyal and efficient. Making radical changes around you is not necessary. Smile more and please others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Start early on the work you must do and the state will be clear for a big weekend. Fellow workers cooperate willingly and much can be accomplished. Take it easy tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A bigwig will now appreciate a particular skill you possess and you will benefit right away from this. The evening should be spent happily with mate. Forget going off on a tangent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look about the home and see what appliances are necessary to make it run more smoothly. A gentle word now and then could ease wounded feelings. Think along constructive lines.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to escape that dull routine now, meet new people and look into new activities if you want to succeed. Steer your efforts in directions that are productive and satisfying.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact a business expert for the advice you need to make a greater success of yourself. Go over your financial position and make a wise decision. Avoid one who wants to argue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make a point to be with persons you like and who can help you in your career. Make new contacts of worth and your future becomes more interesting. Show that you are capable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You need to study more data that will fit into your plan of living for the future. Assist those who are in a little unexpected trouble. Make good friends of them. Be generous.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those delightful young people who really likes people. For this reason success will follow since there is a desire to help and to be helped, which is what makes for a happy life. Direct the education along lines that mean dealing with the public in general and there is a good chance your progeny will become famous.

Hazel Eyes Persuasive

"When a woman is speaking to you, listen to what she says with her eyes."

Victor Hugo

Those whimsical theorists who insist the color of your eyes reveals something of your character contend: Blue eyes denote a dreamy optimism. Gray eyes suggest perseverance. Hazel eyes accompany a knack for entrepreneurship. Green eyes disclose a talent for making money. And black eyes show an ambition for power as well as a sense of humor.

Personnel listed in Sawtooth area

TWIN FALLS — Additional personnel assignments for the proposed Sawtooth National Recreation area announced today include Tom Kovalicky as assistant superintendent. He will work with Supt. Gray Reynolds and will have the responsibility for direction of all on-going forest service programs and activities. Edwin A. Fournier, Sawtooth Forest Supervisor, said today. The U. S. Forest Service begins the administration of the Sawtooth National Recreation Area as a single administrative unit effective Saturday. Reynolds' appointment as superintendent of the new unit was announced last week. Fournier said the administrative appointments are being made in anticipation of congressional establishment of the Sawtooth National Recreation area. He said Kovalicky will head up all operations, use and maintenance. The area covered by the recreation area formerly included lands in both the Sawtooth and Challis national forests. Supervisor Fournier also announced the selection of Jerry Green as Wood River zone manager and Dave Kimpton as Stanley zone manager to work with Kovalicky and Reynolds in management duties in the SNRA. Kovalicky is a graduate of Montana State University in 1961 and began his forest service career on the Bridger National Forest, Pinedale, Wyo. He moved to Stanley as district ranger prior to his new assignment. He has been active in community activities. His headquarters will remain at the new Stanley district ranger office. Green, a graduate of Utah State University with a degree in range management, began his career on the Dixie National Forest in Utah. He joined the Sawtooth forest as resource assistant in May, 1970. He, his wife and daughter reside in Hailey. Kimpton has served as range conservationist on the Stanley ranger district since August, 1971. He is a native of Twin Falls, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kimpton. Since moving to Stanley, he has been active in area organizations including the Stanley emergency clinic and ambulance service. He graduated from the University of Idaho in 1964 and served in the U. S. Army from 1964 to 1966. His first duty with the U. S. Forest Service was on the Dixie Forest in Utah and later the Humboldt Forest in Nevada. Fournier said statistics show the administration scope of the area now involves 1.25 million visitor days of recreation use in all categories of recreation pursuit. There are 30 campgrounds and picnic grounds and 1,000 family units; 133 summer homes, one large and several smaller, concessionaire operations; the Red Fish Lake Visitor Center, with 24,000 visits recorded last year. Thirty-three grazing allotments on which 38 permittees graze 3,800 cattle and horses and 24,000 sheep; two million board feet of timber and smaller products such as posts and poles and firewood; anadromous fish spawning beds representing a value of $4.5 million per year. Five of the major North American big game animal species including bighorn sheep, mountain goat, elk, deer and bear; a broad range of geological and oil types including eight major geomorphic land types. Five wildlife species including the rare, unique and endangered category; 800 miles of horse and foot trails, and one major ski area in the development state.

A thought for the day: Gen. Douglas MacArthur said, "In war, there is no substitute for victory."

Mental health official to speak at SV Hospital Auxiliary event

SUN VALLEY — A mental health official will be a guest speaker at the Sun Valley Hospital Auxiliary membership luncheon on July 12. The speaker — Elwyn Wenger — is regional director of region VI as well as director of the Gateway Mental Health Center, Pocatello, and the Wood River Mental Health Clinic, Hailey. Dealing with emotional problems of everyday life, Wenger authored the book "Are You Ready?" which discusses problems encountered with children, teenagers and in marriage. He has also published several articles, including "Value of Fear," and "Common Sense and Reality for the Seventies." Wenger has conducted seminars throughout the west and mid-west. He and members of his professional staff have also organized "Worry Clinics," which counsel participants on how to cope with problems of modern life, including the generation gap, drugs, divorce and the single parent. The luncheon will start at noon July 12 at the Sun Valley Lodge Dining Room. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Winton Gray at 622-3482. Auxiliary members are encouraged to bring guests and all interested residents are invited.

Wisconsin Senator will fight postal rate hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sought Wednesday to block what he described as an appalling increase in postal rates for newspapers and magazines. Nelson introduced legislation to freeze second-class rates for publications at their current level for the first 250,000 copies and require that additional charges for extra copies be phased in over a five-to-10-year period.

He sharply criticized the U.S. Postal Service for seeking an average 127 per cent boost in second-class rates. He said the increases could drive many small publications out of business and the result would be to stifle the free flow of ideas. "The strangulation of news and opinion through a single-minded concern for postal revenue is appalling," Nelson said in a statement. "That such actions are occurring in the United States at a time of great national controversy over the ability of this society's institutions to respond to the great issues of war and peace, and to the daily affairs which intrude ever closer on our individual lives, is a national tragedy."

Celtics sold for third time in '72

BOSTON (UPI)—New Jersey businessman Robert Schmetz became the third owner of the Boston Celtics in the last three months Wednesday when he asked the National Basketball Association's Board of Governors to approve his purchase of the club. Schmetz, part-owner of the NBA Portland Trail Blazers and the New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association, reportedly paid upwards of $4 million for the Celtics, regular season champions in the league's Atlantic Division.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy canvassed the governors by telephone and Telex. At least 13 of the 17 votes were needed for approval.

The Celtics said in a statement that Schmetz "has agreed in writing to divest himself of his ownership of the Portland club upon approval of his purchase of the Celtics."

The Celtics, who have changed hands more than a half-dozen times in the last decade, were purchased in April by Irving Levin and Harold Lipton of National General Corp., of Los Angeles.

But the Board of Governors rejected the sale at a meeting in West Virginia on June 15, apparently leaving the ownership of the club in the hands of Investors' Funding, owners of P. Ballantine & Sons.

Levin, nevertheless, took part in a meeting here Wednesday with Schmetz and Celtics General Manager Red Auerbach.

"It's a confusing situation," a spokesman for the club said. "We don't want to publicly get into the present ownership of the team because at this point we're not sure of what the legal ramifications might be."

It had been rumored last April that Levin and Lipton planned to keep the Celtics in Boston for one year, then move the club to San Diego.

But sale of the team to Schmetz, who already had ties in New England with the Whalers, appeared to settle the club's status in Boston.

The sale to Schmetz also increased speculation that the Whalers and Celtics might join forces to seek a new arena in which to play, or perhaps build it themselves.

We Will Be Closed July 2-3-4 Open on the 5th with more specials

Gem changes come July 1.

By GEORGE FRANK
BOISE (UPI) — When Saturday rolls around the Idaho Department of Health will get a new name, electricians will have to wait an additional two years to become licensed journeymen and 19-year-olds will be able to swivel on bar stools.

Saturday (July 1) marks the day when more than 250 bills passed during the 1972 Legislature go into effect.

The Department of Health becomes the Department of Environmental Protection and Health. The new law also includes provisions to consolidate pollution control functions in the department and provides for the gubernatorial appointment of the department's administrator.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has already made the appointment of James A. Bax, a former health, education and welfare administrator in Washington, D.C., but he will officially become head of the newly named department July 1.

The measure also calls for the addition of two members to the State Board of Health, increasing the number from five to seven.

Under the measure the members will be appointed by the governor as well as removed by him for cause.

The legislation separates the board from the administrator. The board will have the rule-making and hearing functions and the administrator will have the executive and enforcement functions.

About the electricians the lawmakers amended a law requiring an additional two years to the time before a person can apply for a journeyman electrician's license in Idaho. It will be increased from two to four years.

Under the provision a person would have to work as an apprentice or journeyman in the state for that length of time before he would be able to apply for the license.

Saturday will mark the day that 19-year-olds can begin buying beer, wine and liquor. The lawmakers passed three bills during the last session which allowed the teen-agers full rights concerning the consumption and purchase of alcohol.

One law will lower the age for alcoholic beverages, another lowers the legal age for wine and the third drops the age from 20 to 19 for the purchase and consumption of beer.

State law now allows 20-year-olds to buy and drink beer, but not wine and liquor.

The 19-year-old bill was a compromise measure following long and heated debates on a proposal which would have lowered the legal age to 18.

How to make fireworks was demonstrated by Pam Matthews, Elaine Turner and Renee Preston.

Beverly Hurst gave a demonstration on making baking powder biscuits.

Other demonstrations were given by Renee Preston on modeling, and Kathy Kuhl on science in clothing.

Opening exercises were directed by Kathy Jo Zollinger. Ten members answered roll call.

Refreshments were served by Pam Matthews and Elaine Turner.

ered the drinking age to 19, along with other rights. The Senate filled with young people when the bill came to the floor.

When school starts next fall, those who disrupt classes and the educational process may find themselves out on the sidewalk and unable to get in, according to another law which becomes effective which gives school trustees additional powers in this area.

The law also gives the board of trustees of each school district the power not only to remove those who disrupt, but those whose presence is "detrimental to the morals, health and safety of pupils."

Not only will the 19-year-olds be able to drink legally after Saturday, but they will be able to drink at ski resorts.

The last session of the legislature passed a law which will permit ski resorts comprised of 10 or more acres and a chairlift facility to sell liquor.

Ski resorts and golf courses are the only areas outside incorporated cities where liquor can be sold retail by the drink.

If a person between the ages of 18 and 21 wants to get married after Saturday he will no longer have to wait three days before a license is issued.

The old law required the waiting period and now it has been moved down the ladder to those under 18.

Lawmakers also changed another law allowing males between the ages of 16 and 18 to be married without parental consent.

Under the measure males between the ages of 16 and 18 can be married with parental consent. Before males had to be 21 or over to be married without the go-ahead from their parents and there was no provision for those under 18 to be married at all.

After Saturday, the Department of Parks will be renamed the Department of Parks and Recreation.

Also another measure which will go into effect will allow a written report of death to serve as a permit to transport, bury or entomb dead human bodies.

Before the change, all bodies needed a burial transit permit before they could be transported from the registration district where the death occurred.

Members of the Idaho Code Commission will receive increased per diem allowances. They will be raised from $20 to $25.

The law enforcement planning commission will be enlarged by adding two legislators and one city councilman as voting members and giving ex-officio status to the U.S. district attorney.

District court reporters will have their salaries increased from $14,400 to $18,000 per year. Lawmakers said the raise was to cover the cost of living increases.

And police vehicles around the state will begin using blue flashing lights instead of red lights.

"It has been determined that blue lights are much more visible either in day or night and at greater distances," the bill's statement of purpose said. "Also, it would distinguish between police emergency vehicles and other emergency vehicles."

Other emergency vehicles include ambulances, fire trucks and tow trucks.

Donaldson disagreed, saying the high court found there was sufficient evidence to enable a jury to find that a series of negligent acts were committed which, when taken together, "constituted gross negligence on the part of the defendant driver."

Appellant plaintiffs argued before the high court that the trial court erred when the judge viewed the accident scene by himself and without notice to the parties to the suit.

The supreme court agreed. "Persuasive reasons exist for requiring the court to notify the parties of its intention to view the property which is the subject of the litigation," Donaldson wrote.

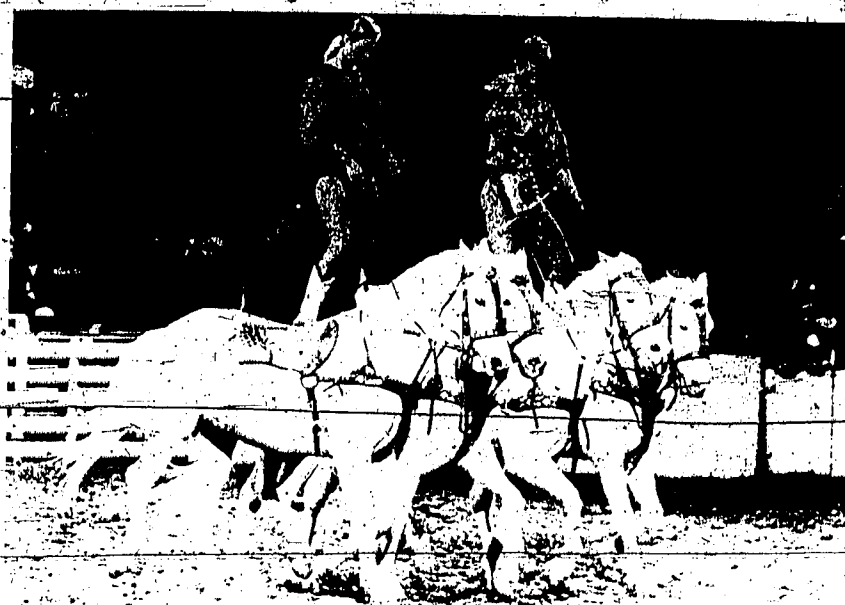

"First, notice to the parties provides them with an opportunity to be present at the time of the inspection, which in turn will insure that the court does not mistakenly view the wrong object or premises."

Family act for Rupert fete

Warvell family to give specialty act during Rupert July 4 events

RUPERT — The Warvell Family will furnish the specialty act during the Rupert Fourth of July Celebration at the three nights of rodeo.

The rodeo begins at 8:30 p.m. nightly, Sunday through Tuesday, July 24 at Minkoka County Fairgrounds.

The Warvells have been riding for over 15 years in every part of the U.S. and Canada.

The four Warvells are part-time performers on the rodeo circuit. The family owns and operates a 50-acre working horse and cattle ranch near Weatherford, Tex.

May through August the family is on the road. During the fall and winter months Jim and Jan Warvell buy, sell and train horses while the two girls attend school.

Tom Warvell will be a junior in high school this fall and Sonja will be entering the second grade.

Jim Warvell admits he is outwitted by his womenfolk but seems to like the situation.

Tom and Sonja both seem enthralled by the entertainment life. Both have been part of the riding act since the age of 3.

Horses are trained to respond instantly, and White Feather, the talented convertible jumper, was trained by Jim for a year before he became a part of the act. Only once when a wet spot caused White Feather to slip has he ever failed to clear a car.

The new rodeo queen will be crowned the final night of the rodeo.

Johnnie Jackson, Woodlake, Calif., will be rodeo announcer. Clowns will be Tim Oyer, Garland, Utah and Jim Parrish, Bonham, Tex.

The theme for the parade is "The Magic of Magic Valley" which will get under way at 11 a.m. July 4th. Parade chairman is Larry Edgar and individuals and organizations from throughout southern Idaho are welcome to enter a float.

Parade-musical horse racing will begin at 1 p.m. daily and will be Saturday through Tuesday, with 10 races each day.
