

Audit shows Gem agencies overspend appropriations

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News Managing Editor

BOISE — A legislative audit said today that net spending by state agencies exceeded legislative appropriations by $1.4 million last year.

The audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, prepared by Legislative Auditor James Defenbach, said "we question both the legality and constitutionality" of "overspending" appropriations.

The audit charges that nine agencies "on the basis of liabilities reported to us and recorded encumbrances, have obligated the State of Idaho beyond their current appropriations."

Defenbach said the overspending was possible "due to the method used by the State Auditor to handle receipts to appropriation and certain inter-account transfers."

"These items," Defenbach said, "should be treated as revenues and not as reductions of expenditures."

According to the audit, the state was able to remain in the black on a cash basis by withholding payment of certain bills at the end of the fiscal year, a practice the audit questioned.

Instead of withholding payment, Defenbach said, the state should have borrowed through tax anticipation warrants to pay the bills.

A key finding of the audit directly challenged statement by Gov. Cecil Andrus that the legislature had failed to raise as much money as it had appropriated.

The legislative audit said general fund revenues exceeded appropriations by $427,216.

In addition, the auditors found another $346,768 in "unrecorded revenues" which, if counted, would bring the excess of revenues over appropriations to $773,984.

On a cash basis, the state entered the fiscal year with a balance of $2.16 million and ended the fiscal year with $1.86 million.

But, when all unpaid bills were counted, Defenbach said, the state entered the year with a deficit of $397,836 and ended it further in the red with a $2.42 million deficit.

According to the audit, if certain illegal encumbrances of $242,032 were eliminated and if the unrecorded revenues of $346,768 were counted, the net deficit at year's end would drop to $1.82 million.

Defenbach said encumbrances deferred spending — were improper in a number of cases.

$193,173 of encumbrances were not supported by "required documentation. Another $10,143 was encumbered for travel despite a state auditor's policy that travel may not be encumbered.

And $38,716 of the encumbrances were reported over a year old and thus invalid.

The audit was laden with political implications in an election year.

Gov. Andrus has insisted repeatedly that taxes must be raised or spending cut back below appropriation levels to make ends meet.

The audit directly challenged Andrus' view, by claiming that enough money had been raised to support the state's budget, and that the additional debts accumulated during the year resulted from overspending by the Democratic-controlled executive agencies.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, cochairman of the legislative Fiscal-Budget Committee, which requested the audit said today new laws "with teeth" are needed to prevent agency overspending.

Roberts said "We've got to have closer adherence to the Standard Appropriations Act relative to not allowing state agencies any time to obligate beyond their current year's appropriation."

"We've got to put teeth in the act to set penalties against agency heads who obligate beyond their appropriations."

"We have a $2.4 million deficit but it could just as well be $10 — or $15 million," Roberts said.

Defenbach said some agencies have been subtracting income for services from expenses and not recording them as income.

He said if an agency was appropriated $100,000 and had $90,000 in income it could actually spend $190,000 under that procedure.

He said were income properly recorded it would return to the general fund at the end of a fiscal year.

The report also recommended that the state auditor should change to the accrual basis of accounting for liabilities as a means of preventing situations of over-obligating the state.

FBI eyes fires

SHOSHONE — The possibility of arson is being investigated in four range fires in the Bureau of Land Management Shoshone District.

The FBI was asked Tuesday to investigate the fires.

There have been 24 fires in the Shoshone district this year. Four caused by lightning burned 28 acres, while 20 man caused fires have burned 28,250 acres.

The four fires under suspicion in the Kimama Butte area, mostly in Lincoln County, have burned 18,850 acres.

Mike Green, BLM information officer in Shoshone, said one of those fires, brought under control Tuesday, burned more than 14,300 acres. He said the fire was extremely hot and because of the conditions, the BLM was lucky some of its firefighters were not injured.

The Kimama Butte fires started June 24 with a 2,000-acre fire. On July 5 another 500 acres were burned and 2,000 acres went up in flames Sunday.

Tuesday BLM officials flew over the area and later that day called the FBI in to investigate the burning of the federal land.

Thus far there has been no damage to anything but range land, but Green said the BLM is concerned there may be personal or property damage if the fires continue. He also said valuable and irreplaceable wildlife habitat is being destroyed.

Cost of suppression in the four Kimama Butte fires has been estimated at $50,000. This does not include any rehabilitation expenses, Green said.

Although 20 of this year's fires have been man-caused, the BLM believes the bulk of them were because of negligence or accident rather than being deliberately set.

Viets repel

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops Tuesday beat back a tank-led North Vietnamese force 500 strong that tried to cut Highway 1 south of Quang Tri City, a U.S. adviser said today.

Capt. Gail Furrow, 32, of Urbana, Ohio, told UPI Correspondent Donald A. Davis that 300 Communist artillery and mortar rounds exploded in and around dug-in positions of the government's 11th parachute battalion before the pre-dawn attack began. Allied artillery fire was called in immediately, pinning down the North Vietnamese infantry and causing the tanks to scatter and retreat, Furrow said.

Furrow told Davis the government troops killed 35 North Vietnamese at a cost of one paratrooper dead and eight wounded.

House panel limits racial school busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Education subcommittee modified and then approved today an administration bill that would ban any new busing of grade school children and sharply limit other types of court-ordered busing.

The bill would create a list of alternative methods of desegregating before a court could order busing. It also banned any new busing for children in the first six grades.

The measure also would allow any desegregation orders issued by federal courts in the past to be re-opened to determine if they comply with provisions of the new bill.

The subcommittee approved the bill on a voice vote with Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and Shirley A. Chisholm, D-N.Y., both black, protesting the it would "deny constitutional rights to minority children."

The original bill proposed by the White House was modified by adopting amendments of fered by Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn. One deleted President Nixon's proposal to channel already authorized school aid funds to disadvantaged students in an effort to equalize educational opportunities in existing schools and thus eliminate the need for busing.

The Quie amendment also deleted Nixon's proposal to end all present court-ordered busing five years from enactment of the bill and to eliminate all desegregation court orders 10 years from enactment. The full House Education and Labor Committee is expected to take up the measure Tuesday.

The subcommittee acted in response to White House prodding. Because it is an emotional political issue, many observers thought Nixon's proposals stood little chance of passage before Congress adjourns.

Subcommittee chairman Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said the bill was called up "at the request of the White House."

The President's legislation was only one of several antibusing measures that have been resurrected since Congress convened after the recess for the Democratic convention.

Rep. Albert Quie, R-Minn., said he planned to offer the House Education Committee his own antibusing bill as an alternative to the Nixon legislation when it cleared the subcommittee.

The chief difference in Quie's bill is elimination of reference to funds earmarked for poverty area schools. Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act achieves that purpose, Quie said.

Colmer said unless the deadline was met he would urge the Rules Committee to exercise its little used power to pull one of the measures to the floor.

But Rep. Jack McDonald, R-Mich., said he would meet with Colmer today to try to get the Rules chairman to insist on both measures reaching the floor.

Big firms get big tax break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five huge corporations with profits totaling $382 million in 1971 paid no federal corporate income taxes last year without violating the law, a congressman said today.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, a crusader for tax reform, presented Congress' Joint Economic Committee with a detailed study of corporate tax payments to back up his contention that the tax laws make it easier for big firms to escape taxes and give them an unfair advantage over smaller competitors.

He said five firms paid nothing. He listed the firms and their taxable profits as: Continental Oil, $109 million; McDonnell Douglas, $144 million; Gulf & Western Industries, $51.3 million; Aluminum Co. of America, $50.2 million and Signal Companies, $26.8 million.

International Telephone & Telegraph, he said, paid taxes at a rate of over 14 per cent in 1969, when it had a profit of about $360 million. Two years later, its profits rose to $410 million but the effective tax rate it paid fell to 5 per cent.

US sues NY on pollution

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — In its first attempt to bring into one courtroom "all those responsible" for allegedly polluting a major body of water, the federal government Tuesday sued New York City, New Jersey and several New Jersey communities.

The government asked for a permanent injunction to force those sued to strictly enforce their existing regulations and upgrade facilities. The federal Environmental Protection Administration also ordered New York and the PVSC to provide a plan within 180 days to adequately treat municipal wastes.

"I do not regard that this lawsuit will, in and of itself, bring an immediate end to all pollution in New York Harbor and its adjacent waters but I do believe that this is the proper place to at least begin," U.S. attorney Herbert J. Stern said.

Irish seek new truce

BELFAST (UPI) — A secret meeting between British opposition leader Harold Wilson and Irish Republican Army (IRA) leaders increased hopes today of another Ulster truce despite a new outbreak of violence.

Political sources said Wilson would probably meet today with William Whitelaw, secretary of state for Ulster, to report on his talks.

Spokesmen for Wilson's Labor party declined to give details on the five-hour meeting secretly held in London Tuesday, but political sources speculated that it could give thrust for a new cease-fire.

Gunfire and bombs meanwhile remained a constant theme of life in Northern Ireland.

Gasoline bombs struck a Belfast lumber yard early today, setting off a fire that threatened a major British army outpost.

CSI, state feud over funds

By DAVID ESPO

Times-news writer

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho wants the attorney general's office to umpire its funding dispute with the Bureau of the Budget.

At issue is the delivery of state appropriations for the state's two community junior colleges, CSI and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene. The school's 1972 fiscal year appropriations are $1.3 million.

Six weeks ago, state budget director Skip Chilberg notified the two schools the state would make its appropriations payments in two installments, with half the amount coming July 1 and the remainder Jan. 1, 1973.

CS and NIC officials protested to Chilberg, saying the schools had previously received their appropriations in single lump sum payments on Sept. 1.

Chilberg agreed Tuesday his decision was a change of policy, but defended it on both legal and financial grounds.

Financially, he said, the move was part of an effort to "tighten the state's cash flow," and in addition, he claimed the state stood to lose $30,000-$40,000 in interest payments if it stayed with the lump sum approach to funding. "Frankly," he said, "Dr. Taylor (CSI president, Dr. James L. Taylor) wants the money for the interest, too."

CSI business manager Herb Van Slyke said today, "Mr. Chilberg is working for the state and wants to save them a little money and we're working for the College of Southern Idaho and want to do the same thing." He denied there was a dispute over the funding checks, saying "It's a friendly discussion and will be resolved amicably, I'm sure."

Legally, Chilberg said, Idaho state statutes governing appropriations call for semi-annual payments, such as he wants initiated with the two schools.

Taylor and the CSI attorney, Robert Alexander, responding by citing the junior college statute of the state, which they said calls for one single appropriations check for their school each year.

In an interview Tuesday, Alexander said CSI and is Coeur d'Alene counterpart were a "specific exception" to the statute Chilberg had cited in his argument.

Elden Evans, vice chairman of the CSI board of trustees, countered Chilberg's financial argument Monday night by saying, "No matter how you look at it, it's going to cost the taxpayers of this district money if we don't get it" (when it's due).

Taylor estimated the interest loss to the college at about $8,000 if the single check weren't forthcoming.

In Coeur d'Alene Tuesday, NIC President Dr. Barry Shuler said the cost of the delay to his school in interest payments lost would come to approximately $2,500.

At their board meeting Monday night, CSI trustees directed Alexander to notify Chilberg they would not accept his decision. Alexander said Tuesday he had written the state budget office to set forth CSI's position.

Attica inmates refuse to eat

ATTICA, N. Y. (UPI) — A temporary state of emergency was put in effect Tuesday at Attica State Prison where hundreds of protesting inmates have refused to leave their cells to eat or work.

Superintendent Ernest L. Montayne said the emergency measure was essential for the orderly operation and "to assure the safety and security of the personnel, inmates and facility property."

He said the situation would be evaluated on a day-to-day basis and the order would be cancelled when, in his judgement, "the situation has reached its conclusion."

The strike began Monday apparently sparked when a popular nurse, Mrs. Mary Kingsley, was relieved of her position. She was rehired Monday night and back at her job Tuesday.

It was believed the inmates were also protesting the state's alleged failure to implement 28 prisoner demands issued during last September's bloody riot that claimed 43 lives.

Montayne met for a half hour with members of the prisoner's liaison committee and another meeting was scheduled for today. Montayne said "some progress" was made at the meeting but he would not elaborate.

He confirmed that "we have extra officers on duty as a precautionary measure."

A spokesman for the State Corrections Department in Albany said all visiting rights to the prison were cancelled during the emergency in order to limit unnecessary movement to and from the maximum security facility.

Lawmen squelch prison riot

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—While 100 deputies with shotguns guarded Arthur H. Bremer, lawmen restored order today in the third Maryland prison disturbance in four days. Bremer was in the Prince Georges County jail, about 12 miles southwest of Washington, awaiting his July 31 trial on state charges of trying to assassinate Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

Bremer, however, was far from the turmoil Tuesday night that engulfed during its peak 140 inmates who burned mattresses and briefly held three hostages, according to Sheriff Don E. Ansell. The hostages were released unharmed.

The inmates said they had grievances about medical facilities, legal material to the jail library and Warden John Shallick.

"Shallick lies to us," said inmate Larry B. Smith, a spokesman for the prisoners. "He doesn't listen to our problems."

Prince Georges County Executive William W. Gullett said the disturbance "can be attributed to the atmosphere—the humidity—the heat."

The U.S. Weather Service reported the humidity was 85 per cent Tuesday night and reached 91 per cent early today.

The concrete and metal cells, eight feet wide and 10 feet long, are not air conditioned.

At the start of the four-hour outbreak, fires were set in bedding. Damage was not extensive, Ansell said. Only one injury was reported, a prisoner who became ill.

Odd Money

Sometimes it's possible to do a job too well.

Take the government, which has always put great effort into making U.S. currency something very special in the physical sense, using the sturdiest paper and most indelible ink to guarantee durability and discourage counterfeiting.

The result is a currency uniquely resistant to wear and tear—something very special indeed, as any traveler who has had the self-destruct bills of many other nations crumble in his hands knows from personal experience.

Still, even the supertough greenbacks eventually wear out. Worn-out bills return whence they came, to the Federal Reserve, which in the past has disposed of them by the simple and efficient method of burning.

Simple, that is, until the environmental movement began to have an effect on public policies. With the widespread adoption of antipollution ordinances banning large-scale burning, the government is turning to other methods of disposing of its old money—currently about 2,500 tons a year with a face value of some $12 billion.

The Federal Reserve would like to join the current trend toward recycling, shopping up the tattered bills for reuse. Which raises a difficult question: What use?

After going through the shredders, the fluff that once was money is still green since removing that super-indelible ink would be a very difficult and expensive process. And truning it into paper again—not good enough for new bills but suitable for top-quality stationery—is ruled out as too tempting and convenient for counterfeiter.

The government is looking into various industrial and construction possibilities, packing and other purposes, but so far the market can absorb only a fraction of the supply available.

So, as it stands, the government faces a real and growing problem of how to dispose of money.

Considering how budgets and deficits tend to run, who would ever have believed it possible?

Four Day Week

All the talk about a national four-day work week being around the corner just isn't true. So says one student of the matter, anyway.

"Actually, business and industry are moving more slowly in that direction than the headlines would indicate," management consultant Roy W. Walters told an American Management Association workshop in Chicago the other day.

He points out that in the last 20 years, the average work week has been cut only 3.4 hours. The prospect is that it will be cut by only two or three additional hours in the next 10 years.

The whole idea of a four-day week seems to indicate that we are giving up on work itself as a source of engrossing interest and creative growth in favor of more leisure time. This is faulty reasoning, says Walters.

ANDREW TULLY

Major Question Of Amnesty

WASHINGTON — Since the question of amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters will be a major issue in the Presidential campaign, it seems only fair to consider an opinion emitted — as it were — from the horse's mouth.

This is a resolution at the convention of American Ex-Prisoners of War in Portland, Ore., strongly condemning those who, eluded the draft or fled the armed forces. Unfortunately, the action was little noted during the media's frantic preoccupation with the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, but from here comment seems mandatory.

The resolution, endorsed by 300 ex-POW delegates, was a swift kick in the pants to the "I Won't Go" crowd. It opposed any efforts to grant amnesty for "the crimes committed by draft dodgers and deserters who by their acts have willfully and perversely given aid and comfort to our enemies." The delegates were speaking for an organization of 3,000 active members which has an additional mailing list containing more than 9,000 names.

In using such strong language, the delegates spoke to a facet of the problem seldom mentioned by proponents of a soft approach to military fugitives. Their offense is not merely that they broke the law. It is also, more seriously, that they contributed to the cause of an enemy engaged in the killing of Americans in battle. In some quite civilized countries, this is considered treason — or next to it — and a few even impose the death penalty upon violators. Of course it is next to impossible to measure the extent to which our own draft dodgers and deserters contributed to the North Vietnamese cause, and incidentally to world Communism. But at the very least, they gave the enemy pleasure — and ammunition for its propaganda mill. Any country at war is pleased to learn that its enemy is having that kind of trouble, and usually cites such trouble in its efforts to influence world opinion.

The ex-POWs resolution comes at a time when both major political parties have acknowledged the amnesty issue. Both President Nixon and George McGovern have said that some kind of amnesty is in order, with Nixon taking a somewhat harder line by emphasizing that the fugitives would be expected to "pay the price" that anyone should pay for violating the law.

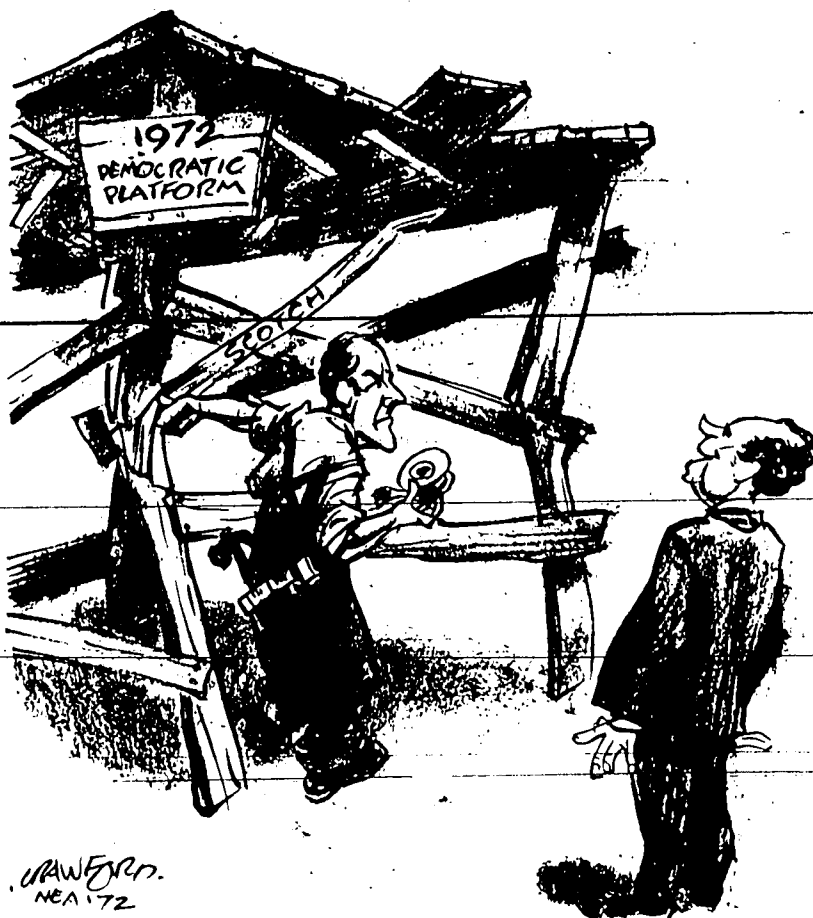

Clearly, sentiment is building up for some form of general amnesty. Indeed, the New York Times reports that in recent months the Federal Judiciary has gradually but dramatically reversed its policies in draft cases by granting amnesty to draft dodgers on the condition that they perform some kind of public service as penance for their refusal to serve in uniform. The defendants also are placed on probation, meaning they must report regularly to the court and in most cases may not leave the court's jurisdiction without permission.

This seems like a reasonable, even felicitous, policy for dealing with draft dodgers. Deserters, of course, are a different package, and their punishment has to be more severe. There is not much point in being overly vindictive, not because vindictiveness would be wrong but because it wouldn't serve any purpose. After all, the idea is to rehabilitate the fugitives if possible, not to wreak vengeance.

But the ex-POWs have made a good point. However you look at it, the draft dodgers did their country a dirty trick and they should not be permitted to get away with it. While they enjoyed their furtive freedom, some other young men were killed and wounded who might not have been called up if the dodgers had done their duty. And after all, the dodgers did thumb their noses at the law.

McGovern Tapes

TOP SECRET

Memo to C. White House
From H. Miami, Florida
I bugged the McGovern headquarters as per your instructions. Sorry for tardiness of transcript of tapes, but they were typed by Cuban refugees who planned Bay of Pigs operation.

Here in a nutshell is what we found out by listening in to his Dorset Hotel suite.

Despite denials, McGovern is still a stalking horse for Teddy Kennedy. The plan is for McGovern to campaign until November. Then, if he wins the election, he will ask Kennedy to be sworn in as President in his place. The McGovern strategists figure this is the only way Kennedy will accept the Presidency in 1972.

In exchange for bowing out as President, McGovern is going to be rewarded by being made secretary of agriculture. This will help him with his electorate in South Dakota. The Kennedy people have agreed to this in principle.

The tapes also indicate that the reason the McGovern strategists selected Tom Eagleton as the vice presidential candidate is that the American people are ready for a calm Administration after the excitement of Nixon's last four years.

They feel the people will buy the steady plodding manner of McGovern and Eagleton after living with the swinging glamorous Nixons.

This is a direct quote from the tapes by McGovern's top advisers.

"The people are fed up with style. We have to admit Nixon has charisma, but Americans want something more."

"Right. They're tired of reading about those wild bowling parties at Camp David and those raucous prayer breakfasts at the White House."

"You can say that again. They're sick of all the stories about Pat Nixon's clothes and her hairdresser."

"Not to mention David and Julie's high links in the Navy."

"Let's offer them a candidate — two candidates who may not set the world on fire like the Nixons do, but at least have substance."

The rest of the tape is blurred. The bugging also revealed that the McGovern people plan to make the big issue of the campaign non-union lettuce. They're going to claim Agnew has eaten 3,456 salads at fundraising dinners since he's been Vice President and not one of the leaves had a union label on it.

There were some serious brainstorming sessions on how McGovern was going to end the war in Vietnam. The plan is to announce just before November that if the Democrats are elected to the White House the President will promote Colonel Harlan Sanders of Kentucky Fried Chicken fame to general and put him in charge of the withdrawal of all American troops.

Also the tapes revealed it was no accident that McGovern and Eagleton made their acceptance speeches in Miami Beach at 3 o'clock in the morning.

This was part of McGovern strategy to put a coalition of minorities together to win the election. The only minority McGovern hadn't won over to his side were people who can't sleep at night.

By going on all three networks at 3 o'clock Friday morning the McGovern forces sewed up the insomnia vote. Nobody else ever paid any attention to insomniacs before and they could easily swing the election.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Tough Trail

MIAMI BEACH (NEA) — Triumphant Sen. George McGovern obviously will have all the organizing skills he needs for the campaign against President Nixon. What he has not yet shown is a necessary capacity for party bridge-building.

Of course he knows the need. Since late May, even before he won the California primary, he and his strategists have been talking "reconciliation" and trying to act it out.

But up to now he hasn't even begun to achieve it.

One evidence of this is the nature of his victory as the Democratic nominee. His overwhelming margin over his rivals tends to blanket one or two less impressive things.

On the one and only ballot, McGovern received 1,728.35 delegate votes before complimentary and essentially meaningless switches to him began. That total was smaller than the 1,760.25 votes given to Sen. Hubert Humphrey as the winner in the far more turbulent 1968 Chicago convention.

Moreover, in proportional terms, the McGovern figure suffers still more. He ran up his 1,728 from a grand total of 3,016. Humphrey got his 1,760 from only 2,622, the prevailing total in 1968. Humphrey got 448 more than he needed for nomination. McGovern just 219 more than he required.

So, even with the dramatic late hour pullouts by Humphrey and Sen. Edmund Muskie this time, the dam never broke to give McGovern the heartening flood of support that permits vital party bridge-building to begin. A surprising part of their backing went to hopeless remainders like Henry Jackson and Shirley Chisholm instead of George McGovern.

There is no point in dwelling here again on McGovern's difficulties with part regulars and big labor, which lay beneath this resistance to him.

But there is an element of that persisting disenchantment which has not had much attention. Generally the opposition is explained on grounds that his views and proposals are "too radical," his organizers too arrogant and vengeful, his labor record allegedly unfriendly. Little is said of his often unbridled use of intemperance and inaccurate language.

Here in Florida during the primary campaign months ago, a political figure told me:

"I know a man who almost went to work for McGovern but decided against it. But he said that if he had he would have asked for one thing: the authority to lock George up for 24 hours after any big event to keep him from making some foolishly impulsive statement."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Doctor Says

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In 1964 I developed chest pains and shortness of breath. I was told I had bronchitis and angina pectoris. Recently I entered a medical center and was told I had bronchiectasis and arteriosclerotic heart disease. Are these both the same diagnosis? — J. R. S.

The second was somewhat more precise.

Angina pectoris is chest pain, usually related to heart disease. Arteriosclerotic heart disease means hardening of the arteries in the heart. So those two fit properly together.

Bronchitis is inflammation of the bronchial tubes. Bronchiectasis indicates some pouches in the walls of these tubes — virtually always accompanied by inflammation and infection, so it acts like bronchitis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If the daily stool becomes black, is this normal or could something be wrong? — M.L.C.

Black (or very dark, or tarry, or red) stool can result from certain foods and medications, but more often it is a sign of bleeding somewhere in the intestinal tract. When it happens daily, it becomes a suspicious sign indeed. I can only urge you to get to your doctor at once for tests to see whether the cause is innocent or whether bleeding is responsible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me if it is possible for a girl to become pregnant without having actual intercourse. — L. S.

Yes — depending on exactly what you mean by "intercourse." You've heard of artificial insemination, haven't you? Well, women can get pregnant that way.

The sperm, hunting for an ovum with mating in mind, doesn't care how it gets there. So the fact is that some girls wind up pregnant after heavy petting. Remember that the male sperm, once it reaches the moist genital surfaces, can travel some distance in search of an ovum. If it finds one — pregnancy!

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is chicory in coffee harmful? I understand that it acts as a diuretic for edema, helping the body get rid of excess fluid. Is this true? — F.B.

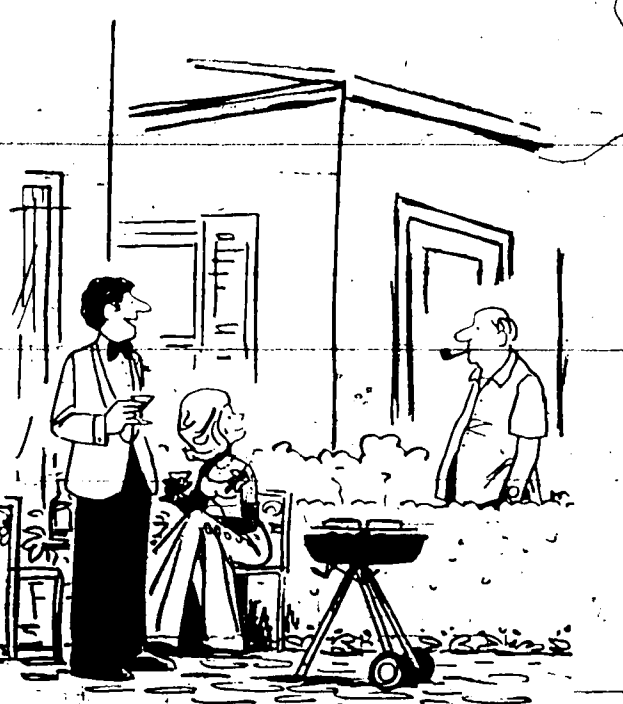

Chicory (a member of the endive family) adds color and flavor to coffee. Coffee itself has a certain diuretic property, but to my knowledge chicory does not. (Too much chicory can make coffee bitter, though.)

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I heard on the radio that cancer researchers suspect that cancer is communicable. Please explain this, as my mother-in-law has cancer. What should we do to avoid getting it? — B.B.

Better ask the radio gentleman to "explain" it. Doctors, nurses and others who take care of cancer patients don't have any higher incidence of cancer than anyone else, which to my mind sheds a lot of doubt on the idea of cancer being communicable. I'm not going to worry about it unless somebody comes up with some facts to the contrary, and I haven't seen any so far.

How does VD start? Why are teen-agers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How To Avoid It, How To Cure It." For a copy write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Why, yes, Fred, it is a special night for us. We're having steaks for dinner!"

Fischer accepts draw on 45th move in game

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) — Bobby Fischer all but danced off the stage. Minutes earlier the 25-year-old challenger had clasped Boris Spassky's hand after accepted a draw on the 45th move of the fourth game for the world chess championship.

Spassky appeared to have the game won, but a couple of mistakes in the 27th and 29th moves by the 35-year-old titleholder allowed Fischer to escape from his grasp and come out of the game with a draw rather than a loss.

With four games behind them, Spassky has won two, Fischer one, and one draw. That gives Spassky 2-1-2 points to Fischer's 1-1-2, with Fischer needing 12-1-2 points as the challenger to win while Spassky needs only 12 points to retain his title.

The fifth game in the 24-match championship is scheduled for Thursday at 5 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT).

Shortly before the 5 p.m. Tuesday start Fischer opened a new round in his battle against television cameras in the 3,000 capacity hall. Some 1,500 spectators waited while the temperamental American arrived seven minutes late. In fact neither player was present when German referee Lothar Schmid strolled up to the delicately carved board and started Fischer's clock.

Then Spassky walked in with the dignity of a champion. Finally Fischer appeared and rushed straight to the board to push forward his king pawn, his favorite opening.

The end came on the 45th move. Fischer, according to experts, had played a dubious 19th move only to escape through Spassky's blunders later in the game.

With the crowd noisy and excited, the "silence" sign flashing off and on, Fischer pushed forward a pawn and looked up. Spassky, sitting very erect in his simple wooden chair, nodded and offered his hand over the board. Fischer accepted with an almost imperceptible nod, indicating a draw had been accepted.

During the match the organizers fought an hour-long battle to silence the crowd both inside the vast dark hall and in the cafeteria on the first floor.

When Fischer played his 20th move, youngsters with oil cans moved out to oil doors to the hall.

Family income rises

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than half of all U.S. households had an income of more than $10,000 for the first time in 1971.

The Census Bureau in a report issued Monday also said family income rose 4.2 per cent last year. But it said that because of inflation the gain was deceptive as purchasing power remained about the same, despite the increase in dollar income.

And the number of Americans officially classified as "poor" by the government remained virtually stable between 1970 and 1971, the Census Bureau said.

There were 25.8 million citizens below the poverty level in 1971, a 200,000 increase from 1970. A Census Bureau spokesman said the increase in the number of poor persons was statistically insignificant because the income survey totals can vary as much as 1 per cent up or down due to sampling errors.

The government set the low income threshold at $4,137 for an urban family of four during 1971.

Black families, according to the survey, earned a median income of $8,440 in 1971, compared to $8,200 a year earlier. The median income for white families was $10,870.

About 3 per cent of the nation's families had incomes in excess of $25,000 and another 15 per cent more between $15,000 and $25,000.

About 19 per cent of the nation's families had incomes of less than $5,000 annually, the bureau said.

TF aide moved to Boise

TWIN FALLS — Darrell E. Smith, Twin Falls, fire dispatcher for the Sawtooth National Forest has been promoted and transferred to the Boise Inter-Agency Fire Center.

He will leave July 23 for his new assignment. Replacing him will be Richard C. Standley, who joins the Sawtooth staff from the Toiyabe National Forest of Nevada and California. He formerly served as fire control officer for the Alpine range district of the Toiyabe at Markleville, Calif.

Smith joined the Sawtooth forest in 1959 as a forestry technician on the Fairfield ranger district and worked there until transferring to Twin Falls in 1966 as fire dispatcher. Stanley will assume duties in Twin Falls on Aug. 6, but is spending a week working with Smith prior to the latter's transfer, and will then return next month.

The City of Allegan, Mich., was the home of Gen. Benjamin Pritchard, who accepted the surrender of Jefferson Davis, the commander-in-chief of the Confederate armies.

Mine said okay

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI) — The Sunshine Mining Co. had exceeded federal requirements as far as self-contained oxygen breathing equipment was concerned.

This was the report released today by the Bureau of Mines during the opening day of hearings on the fire in the nation's largest and richest silver mine May 2.

The Department of Interior is holding the hearings into the causes and origin of the fire which killed 91 miners.

"Although the federal metal and nonmetal safety standards do not require self-rescue respirators in metal and nonmetal mines," the preliminary report said, "they were available at each active working station and other places in the mine."

The report also said fire fighting facilities exceeded federal requirements.

It said the firm had a total of 140,000 gallons of water available for use in controlling fires and, in addition, had automatic fire doors and other fire fighting equipment available.

Comedy given at Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The Antique Festival Theatre players presented the comedy "Before the Flood" to an enthusiastic crowd Monday night at the Shoshone City Park.

The stage was set on the south edge of the park with seating arranged by the Shoshone Civic Club and the chamber of commerce. The AFT appearance was sponsored by the Civic Club.

Residents praised the acting ability of the players in the presentation. Aldrich Bowler, producer-director, of the group was present. This is the second year the AFT has played for Shoshone area residents.

Members of the cast and production crews were given lodging and meals by citizen's of the community.

Youth, 14, violates parole

SHOSHONE — A 14-year-old Minidoka County boy has allegedly violated his probation according to Lincoln County Sheriff Thomas W. Conner.

Investigating incidents in the Kimima area said Joe Taylor notified him Sunday that a Volkswagen belonging to Taylor's son had been damaged by the youth. Conner said a 22-caliber rifle had been used to shoot at the vehicle resulting in several hundred dollars damage.

Another Kimima rancher, Darwin Neibaur, reported the youth had been looting toward his house.

The incidents have been reported to the juvenile officer in charge of the youth.

Eighth son out of service

KIMBERLY — Aug. 25 will mark the first day in 30 years that none of the eight sons of Willet B. Whittekind, Kimberly, has been in the Armed Forces.

On that day Robert O. Whittekind will be discharged from the Navy. The oldest boy Forrest joined the Navy when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. He left for boot camp in January 1942. As the boys came of age they each joined the service. Wayne joined the army. Larry died while serving with the Marine Corps in 1968. James joined the Coast Guard. Kenneth the Marine Corps and Jay, Allen and Robert all joined the navy. All eight of the boys enlisted in the service.

Mrs. Reathel Whittekind lives in Spokane, Wash.

Floods rip Philippines

MANILA (UPI)—Devastating floods believed to be the Philippines' worst in 26 years stretched today from Manila 200 miles north across 14 Central and Northern Luzon provinces.

The two-day death toll rose to 19 in the northwestern province of Pangasinan with six more drownings reported. Officials said at least 14 others were still missing. They said 72 people have died in Central Luzon since July 7 in floods and landslides and in Southern Luzon, typhoon winds and rains over the past three weeks have left more than 100 people dead.

Red Cross Secretary General Mrs. Loreto Paras Sulit said 14 Central and Northern Luzon provinces had reported serious flood problems with Panganga and Tarlac, 40 to 80 miles north of Manila, the worst-affected from collapsed dams and dikes. She said she believed the floods were the most extensive she could recall in 26 years of Red Cross work.

Mrs. Sulit said 55,000 persons had to be evacuated from their homes in Tarlac and another 20,000 evacuated in Pangasinan. She said she had requested helicopters and amphibious trucks to rescue an undetermined number of residents of six villages in Tarlac who were isolated and without food for two days. She said 188 villages in Bulacan and Pampanga were under water.

Monsoon rains intensified by the lingering presence of Typhoon Rita off Luzon's northeast coast were forecast to continue. They had already hit Manila's water-logged port area beside Manila Bay with 16.2 inches of rain in the two-day period ending at 8 a.m. today, including 10.5 inches in the past 24 hours.

Treason charged

AMERICAN actress Jane Fonda pays visit to the Truong Dinh residential quarter in Nal Ba Trung District in Hanoi. Rep. Fletcher Thompson, Georgia, accused the actress Tuesday of giving aid and comfort to the enemy and asked the Justice Department to charge her with treason. (UPI)

Smog alert slows postman

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI)—Where rain, sleet, snow and dark of night failed, smog did it.

The postman will be kept from his appointed rounds throughout a vast area of Southern California, Southern Nevada and part of Arizona by smog alerts in the future.

All postal workers, both on foot and in trucks, will cease making pickups and deliveries where a smog alert is called "by a recognized government agency," the manager of the San Bernardino Postal District, Guy B. Hartsook, ruled Tuesday.

The district extends from Kingman, Ariz., to the Pacific north to Fresno, Calif., and south to the border between the United States and Mexico. It includes all of Southern Nevada. But it does not include the metropolitan area of Los Angeles and Orange counties, and the San Diego metropolitan area.

It includes such major California cities as San Bernardino, Riverside, Bakersfield, Fresno, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

The postal service said Hartsook's decision is intended to safeguard the health of postal workers.

Carriers out on the streets will be called back, and those in the post office kept inside whenever a smog alert is called, said Jack Lewis, sectional center manager.

Drinking again

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—A policeman given a year's leave at full pay because his work led him to heavy drinking was arrested for drunk driving.

Arthur Thomas Lord Jr., 45, smashed his car into a taxi cab and drove away from the scene. He was stopped a few blocks away.

The police report said Lord was "intoxicated beyond point of self care."

The San Francisco patrolman was booked into the Marin County Jail and posted $360 bail after a 12-hour stay.

He was given year's industrial leave at the full salary of $1,161 a month recently after maintaining that his occupational hazards led him to drink a fifth of whiskey a day.

Australian couple visits TF family

TWIN FALLS — A pen-pal friendship between Mrs. Mel (Helen) Quale and a young Australian girl while they were in junior high school is still paying dividends.

This week Mrs. Quale and her family are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Horsley of Bathurst, Australia. The visiting couple came to Twin Falls to visit the pen-pal of the young lady who is now their daughter-in-law. This is one stop on a nine-months tour which began last May and will end when the Horsleys return to Australia in January - mid summer there.

In addition to Japan and the United States, the couple has visited in Vancouver, British Columbia, and in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

From here they go to Salt Lake City, Chicago and Miami Beach with numerous stops along the way. Their entire trip in the United States and Canada is by bus and their trips across the Pacific Ocean are being made by boat.

Horsley is a retired saddle maker and spent his working years making English saddles and other riding tack. One of the places he found most interesting in Twin Falls was Vickers' Saddlery.

While the large western saddles of America are quite different from those popular in Australia, Horsley admired the work and especially the vast selection offered by the local shop.

"Our retail shops," he said,

"would never have so large a selection because of the cost. Most are made to order."

The handmade English saddles, made of hog's hide, Horsley said, sell for about $250 to $275 in Australia and he occasionally turns out one for a special purpose although he is retired.

Mrs. Horsley said she doesn't like the sales tax in the United States. In their native Australia only luxury items require a sales tax.

"We mark the price of the item and list the sales tax so when you buy something you know just what it will cost. Here, no mention is made of the tax until you pay for the purchase and they add it on," she said.

A saddle, for example is considered a necessity in Australia and as such has no sales tax. An automobile, however, is a luxury and is taxed.

Bathurst, the Horsleys explained, is near South Wales and has a mild climate, never colder than 20 degrees. It is a productive orchard area with fruit including peaches, pears, apples and other crops.

Livestock, including both sheep and cattle are also produced there.

Fashion's getting the first big vote for young people this politician season. The fashion in the front is election clothes, shoes, shirts, socks, jeans, belts, hats, pants and patches emblazoned with all varieties of the vote message.

Friends visit

LETTER WRITING, a few years back, resulted in a new friendship for Helen Quale, at right. This week Jeff and Phyllis Horsley, Bathurst, Australia, visited Helen and her husband, Mel Quale, and family. The Horsleys are parents-in-law of her pen-pal of many years.

three more tricks. He did try to save his contract by leading his queen of spades, but West was smart enough to duck and eventually South had to lose another club, spade and a trump and the good will of his partner.

South had the insurance play at his disposal. He should have played the jack of trumps instead of the king. This would have cost him a trick off West had held the queen, but it would not have been the contract trick.

Just give West the queen. He takes it happily and makes the best lead of another diamond. South ruffs; plays a high trump to pull the last one out against him and leads a club. West takes his ace, but can't get South from getting to dummy with the eight of trumps for two spade discards on the queen and jack of clubs.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

Churchill squelch not for everybody

DEAR ABBY: The late Winston Churchill had the perfect squelch for idiots who approached him with, "I'll bet you don't remember me, do you?" Churchill would look them squarely in the eye and ask, "Why SHOULD I?" FRANK IN WESTMINSTER, CAL.

DEAR FRANK: Sir Winston could probably get away with it, but I wouldn't recommend it for the ordinary Joe. He might promptly get something to remember the "idiot" by.

DEAR ABBY: I have had a problem bottled up inside of me for the last two years and I am so ashamed of it, I just have to tell someone.

I just HATE babies! I don't know why, but I want to hurt them. Isn't that ridiculous? I want to overcome this terrible fault, but I can't.

I kept a neighbor's baby today and abused her so badly I was disgusted with myself. I hit her and pinched her, and knocked her around, and just let her cry. I didn't want to feed her either. She's not the only baby I have treated this way. Afterwards I feel so bad, I just sit and cry.

Abby, what's wrong with me? Could it be that someone treated me that way once when I was a baby? If so, I can't remember.

I have a six-year-old child of my own and I swear to you when she was small I never mistreated her once. So why am I this way to other people's babies?

I am so afraid that as a punishment God will take my precious child away from me. Please help me, Abby. I am a 28-year-old, healthy, educated married woman.

TREMBLING

DEAR TREMBLING: You need to talk this problem out with a professional counselor. The fact that you recognize the problem and are seeking a solution, proves that you are a good person. Talk to your doctor about it, and he will recommend the proper counseling for you. And in the meantime, please stay away from babies! God bless and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a friend who accepted an expensive wedding present, then wrote to say, "The wedding has been called off for the time being," because I had some second thoughts—But the gift you gave me looks great in my apartment! And since I'm still dating the guy, we might still get married later."

She closed with, "I don't know what the etiquette books say in cases like this, but if you know, please tell me."

PUZZLED IN N. Y.

DEAR PUZZLED: Tell her the etiquette books say that when the wedding has been called off, the wedding gifts should be returned.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "A COUPLE OF CHUMPS" who had made a home for an aged and ailing parent for many years while their brothers and sisters who were better able financially contributed nothing, and looked out the window. The old gentleman didn't pay one red cent for his keep, altho he had plenty of money. Finally, when he died and his will was read it was, "Share and share alike."

Please advise the "Chumps" that they need not be chumps. If they promptly submit a bill for the old gentleman's care, they will be fully reimbursed out of his estate. This is exactly what happened to me, and after I was reimbursed for keeping my invalid father for seven years, there was practically nothing left for the brothers and sisters who also looked out the window. NO CHUMP

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Solid waste issue aired

TWIN FALLS — Solid waste is keeping Twin Falls County commissioners in a quandary. It is becoming one of the biggest phases of county government but the county has an absolute maximum of $120,000 per year under present levy limitations with which to handle the problem.

Darrell Heider, county solid waste director, said the county must act soon on one of two possibilities. The county must either award a contract or contracts for operation of the sanitary landfill or purchase equipment and hire personnel. Last month the county signed an agreement with Twin Falls City for the eventual takeover of the 180-acre sanitary landfill south of Twin Falls. Under deadline of the Idaho Department of Health, the county is attempting to consolidate the 14 dumpgrounds and upgrade them to landfill operations.

William Chancey, commission chairman, said at least four landfills will have to be maintained including the Twin Falls facility, one near Buhl, another in the extreme east end of the county and the other in the vicinity of Castleford.

If equipment is purchased to trench and cover at each of the sites, the cost would far exceed the funds available and if contracts are let, officials are not certain what the cost would be.

Heider said the county would still have to maintain caretakers at the major sites. State law allows counties to levy up to two mills for solid waste which in Twin Falls County would bring in $120,000 a year. This year the county budgeted $101,000 for solid waste.

Heider has been asked by the county to contact heavy equipment operators for quotations on landfill work. He is also investigating costs of used or surplus equipment.

Merl E. Leonard, commissioner, said the solid waste operation in Twin Falls County is or will soon be bigger than the total operation of the four highway district which are engaged in road building and maintenance in the county.

"And yet we have to somehow solve this problem with $120,000 per year," Leonard said. "We can charge the commercial haulers who use the landfill, but we must maintain a fair rate," he said.

The Black Bear grounds, donated to the county by the Buhl Highway District, is being cleaned up and will be converted to a landfill. Ed Woods, county zoning administrator with whom Heider works, said the county must make some long range plans and must decide if receiving stations with trucks to haul solid waste to the large Twin Falls landfill should be implemented or if separate facilities should be maintained in the major parts of the county.

One of the expenses being considered in the present plan is the hauling of bulldozer and loader equipment from one dump site to another, to cut down on over all cost if the county purchases and operates its own equipment.

Mrs. Roger Pollard, Red Cross chapter chairman in Twin Falls, said a special appeal nationwide for $5-million to finance the disaster program has brought in about $2 million to date.

"As our share of the remaining $3 million needed by these homeless and injured persons, we are asking Twin Falls residents for $1,300. We in Magic Valley should be thankful we have had no disasters here and our residents are not in desperate need of help. It is much easier to donate a small contribution to help those who need it than to cope with a disaster in our own area," she said.

Persons wanting to contribute may mail a check to the Twin Falls Chapter, American Red Cross, 164 Main Ave. N., or call 733-6464.

Loitering

TWIN FALLS — A porcupine was picked up here Tuesday, or rather knocked down for loitering in a neighborhood tree.

Keith Saville, Twin Falls humane officer, was called to the scene in the 300 block of Pierce Street about noon. With the help of the fire department, "Porky" was knocked out of the tree with a stream of water from a hose.

He was then arrested and confined in the bottom of a garbage can. Since no real harm had been done, "Porky" was released on his own recognizance at the bottom of Rock Creek Canyon.

Red Cross asks $1,300 from TF

TWIN FALLS — Residents of Twin Falls will be asked to contribute $1,300 as their share of a special nationwide effort by the American Red Cross to meet current disaster needs.

This year hurricanes, floods and other disasters have reached new record cost and the American Red Cross disaster funds have been overdrawn, but the Red Cross volunteers are still attempting to meet the needs of disaster victims. They are attempting to provide clothing, food, first aid care, emergency vehicles and other disaster relief for those left homeless or injured.

The nationwide Red Cross network of volunteers is being taxed to the greatest extent ever, local chapter officials said today. An estimated 130,000 persons in 15 states and the District of Columbia are still receiving Red Cross assistance. There have been 330 Red Cross shelters and stations established to help care for these people.

MV libraries get funds

TWIN FALLS — Participating libraries will each receive $150 under the terms of a grant to the Region IV Conference Center Library in the Magic Valley.

The money will go toward the purchase of new books. The remainder of the $5,000 grant will go toward reference center books to be housed in the Twin Falls library. The books will then be available for participating libraries for a three-month rotating period.

Increased interest was shown in the region IV Library Reference Center as the regional representatives set down to an all-day meeting in Twin Falls Tuesday. The Filer and Rupert libraries were represented at the meeting for the first time.

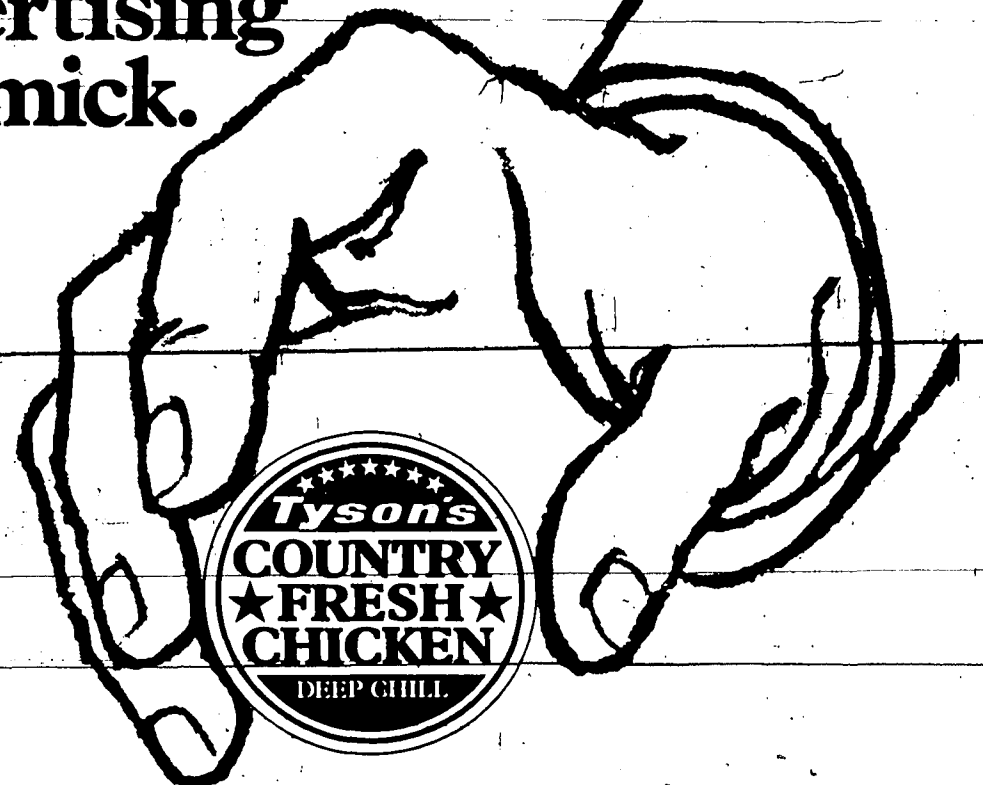

In action taken at the meeting, the directors agreed to a study of a pilot program at the Blackhawk Film Co. for regional distribution of eight educational and historical films.

Available funds for this year have already been allocated, but the board agreed to investigate a possible innovative grant from the state. The films would be checked out of the libraries by the viewing public.

This seal is not an advertising gimmick.

(Neither is the chicken behind it.)

Unless you live just down the road from a poultry farm, the fresh chicken you buy has quite possibly lost the very peak of its country-fresh flavor along the way to your shopping basket.

It's not the chicken's fault. And it's not your fault. It's Nature.

And, since you've probably never tasted true, country-fresh chicken in the first place, there's no reason for you to be dissatisfied.

You just haven't had a basis for comparison. Until today.

In selected fine food stores and supermarkets, you can now buy Grade "A" chickens and chicken parts that have been Deep Chilled—an exciting new process that locks in the freshest, most succulent flavor components of the natural chicken... without ever freezing it! Here's what happens:

Immediately upon processing, the chickens are chilled to about 28 degrees—which is just cold enough to "lock in" their true country flavor and freshness, without freezing the chicken itself. (Frozen poultry, as you know, is chilled to well below zero before shipping—an entirely different process from ours.)

In your supermarket, Tyson's Deep Chill Country-Fresh Chicken will feel a bit firmer to your touch. That's because your store's display case is also chilled to the "magical" 28 degrees that keeps all the fresh flavor and natural moisture in the chicken. Without freezing it.

So you can prepare it your usual way, refrigerate it, or freeze it for future use (without re-wrapping). We hope you prepare your first Tyson's Deep Chill chicken the very first day you buy it. And the simplest way possible—no fancy seasonings, no fancy gravy. The ultimate test!

Because the sooner you taste the difference, the sooner you'll be back for more.

Holden stars

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — William Holden will star in "Breezy", the movie that Clint Eastwood will direct for Universal.

The public is invited to try out for the performance.

not pull tight, however, and Abner Martin dangles between life and death, horrifying and amusing his wife and his best friend.

Activities of the Consortium for the next year will be outlined. Dr. Larry Blake, president of Flathead Community College, Kalspell, will host the meeting.

He will be in Kalspell, Mont., Aug. 2-6, for the Presidents' Conference on the Idaho, Utah, Montana, and Wyoming Consortium.

On July 27-28 he will attend a vocational education workshop at Lewis and Clark College, Lewiston. Implications of the Omnibus Education Bill, as relating to vocational education, will be discussed.

Heider said the county would still have to maintain caretakers at the major sites.

State law allows counties to levy up to two mills for solid waste which in Twin Falls County would bring in $120,000 a year.

William Chancey, commission chairman, said at least four landfills will have to be maintained including the Twin Falls facility, one near Buhl, another in the extreme east end of the county and the other in the vicinity of Castleford.

If equipment is purchased to trench and cover at each of the sites, the cost would far exceed the funds available and if contracts are let, officials are not certain what the cost would be.

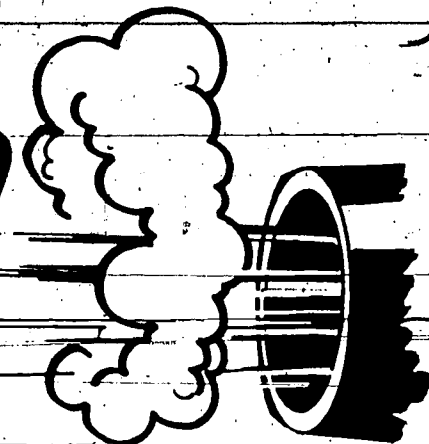

Heider has been asked by the county to contact heavy equipment operators for quotations on landfill work. He is also investigating costs of used or surplus equipment.

Merl E. Leonard, commissioner, said the solid waste operation in Twin Falls County is or will soon be bigger than the total operation of the four highway district which are engaged in road building and maintenance in the county.

It is becoming one of the biggest phases of county government but the county has an absolute maximum of $120,000 per year under present levy limitations with which to handle the problem.

Plant at Buhl re-opens to test deodorizing

BUHL — Cascade Commodities Corp. rendering plant in Buhl, closed by court action earlier this year, will reopen early next week to test deodorizing equipment.

Lloyd Webb, Twin Falls, attorney for the firm, said the Idaho Supreme Court which vacated the order of District Judge James M. Cunningham, will allow the firm to resume operation pending a ruling on a permanent injunction.

He said the plant installed costly equipment to do away with odors arising from the rendering of animal carcasses, but the plant was ordered closed before the equipment could be fully tested.

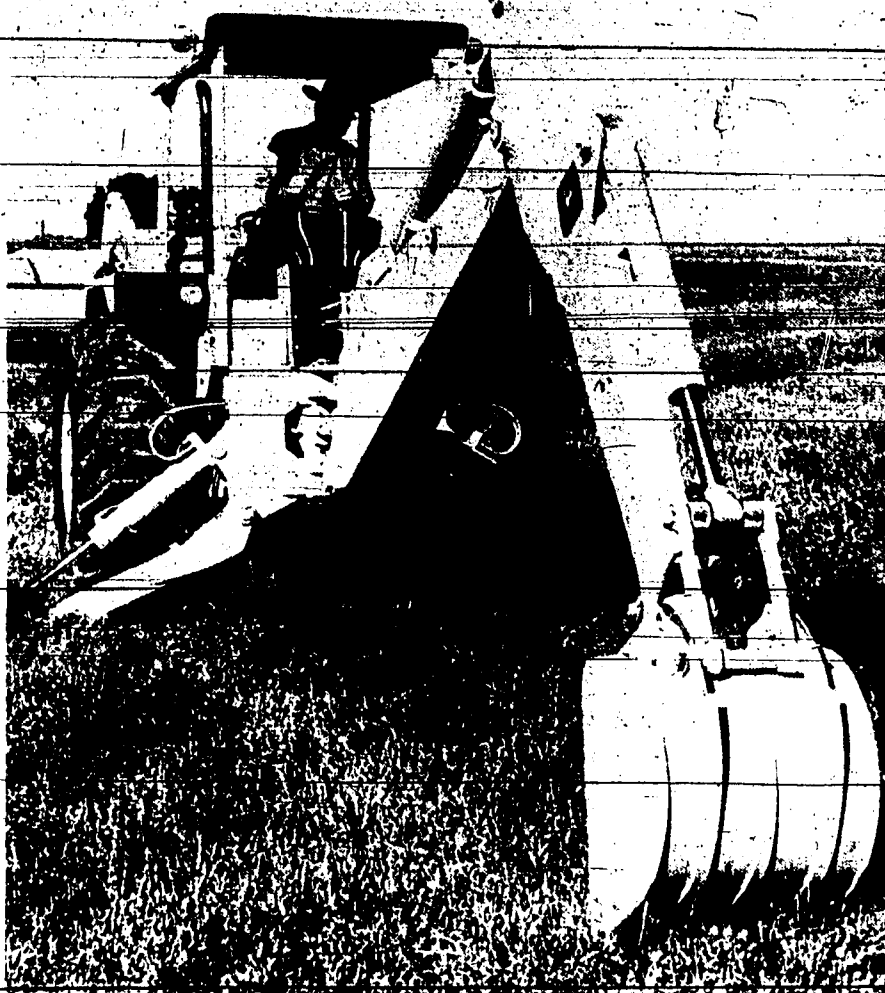

Operations next week will probably be on a limited test basis at least at the beginning to determine if the new equipment is ready for operation and will effectively remove odors.

Webb said Aug. 8 has been set as the date for trial in district court here in a request for a permanent injunction against the firm. Residents of the Buhl area where the plant is located took legal steps to close the plant because of alleged noxious odors.

Judge Cunningham granted an injunction on a temporary basis stating the firm could not emit noxious odors. When residents continued to complain of the persisting odors, Judge Cunningham issued an order to immediately close the plant. This order was vacated by the supreme court.

Webb said terms of the original temporary injunction preventing the plant from creating odors is still in effect and the plant can operate only as long as there is no noxious odor.

Bellevue woman burned

BELLEVUE — A Bellevue woman received burns this morning in an apparent explosion and ensuing fire at her trailer home in Bellevue.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Bill Hubbs. She was taken to Moritz Community Hospital, Sun Valley.

Witnesses at the scene said her hair, face and arms were singed in the blaze.

A neighbor, Mrs. Jack Barker, said Mrs. Hubbs told her that she had been cleaning her husband's trousers with gasoline when it exploded.

Hubbs was not home at the time of the fire.

Another neighbor, Mr. Harry Baird, said she heard a "bang" at about 8:30 a.m. and said she looked out her window and saw flames coming from the side of the trailer. She said she went to the assistance of Mr. Hubbs, to prevent her from going back into the trailer.

Fire Chief Mitchell Lee said when he arrived at the fire "it was blowing up like a balloon." The trailer and all of its contents were destroyed in the blaze.

The Bellevue volunteer fire department had the fire essentially out by 9 a.m.

Richfield plant ground broken

By DIXIE DIXON
Times-News Writer

RICHFIELD — Saying "cheese" brought smiles, but seemed to be the proper vocabulary to use when taking pictures Tuesday morning at Richfield.

The occasion was the groundbreaking ceremony for the new $400,000 C. W. and Jay Ward cheese plant on the west edge of Richfield.

Clifford W. Ward smiled broadly when a photographer quipped "say cheese" as he posed for a shot just prior to the first shovel of dirt dug for the facility. Ward used a new modern backhoe to move the first dirt because "everything in the plant will be modern and up to date."

On hand for the ceremonies were creamery officials, C. Jay Ward, corporation president and Curtiss Parke, member of the board of directors.

More than 60 Richfield and Shoshone area residents attended the ceremony. Architect for the structure was Fred Montgomery, Salt Lake City.

Richfield councilmen and county officials attended the ceremony as well as oldtimers Charles Giles and Dick Johnson, who recalled early days on the Richfield tract.

Director appointed at Hansen

HANSEN — Richard Vawser has been appointed to serve the unexpired term of L. D. Puder on the Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Association board.

The appointment was made at a Monday evening meeting of the association at the Hansen City Hall. Puder resigned because he is moving from the community.

Earl Tridle was appointed vice president of the board.

The association decided that any new sewer hookups installed from this time must be state inspected. Any fees charged for the inspection are to be paid by the owner.

New church planned at Jerome

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME — Plans for the construction of a new LDS Church in Jerome were presented to the Jerome City Council Tuesday night.

Gail Hendrickson, representing the Jerome LDS Church, presented the plans. He said the new church will cost between $450,000-500,000 to construct, and will house two wards.

He asked the council to consider annexation of the property, located east of town between B Street and D Street. Hendrickson told the council present plans call for the extension of B Street, but asked that C Street be closed. If that street were extended, it would run through the church's proposed parking lot, he said.

Council members told Hendrickson they would take the matter under advisement, and would notify him of their decision shortly.

A delegation from the Jerome Housing Authority, headed by Harold Livingston, spokesman, told the council the Housing Commission at its last meeting decided that an effort be made to build more senior citizens housing in Jerome.

He said at present the commission has a waiting list of 33, and with only 50 units at Heritage Homes, it would be some time before space would be available for these people.

Livingston said the commission would like to construct 50 more units, but that the present land at Heritage Homes is not large enough to add more than 20 units. He said the commission has no guarantee it could obtain federal money for the project, but that he is informing the council an effort will be made to obtain the extra housing.

The council asked to be kept informed of the progress of the project, and to be notified if a new location for the housing units is agreed on.

Red Somerset, representing the Northside Softball Association, asked the council for help in locating a playing field for the association. Somerset said presently there are 135 participants in the program, who are now playing on the LDS Church's diamond, causing problems between the association and the church.

Councilman S. N. Weeks advised Somerset to contact the Jerome County Commissioners, who, he said, are in a better position to help the association locate land for playing softball.

It was also suggested that Union Pacific Railroad might possibly let the association use part of the land at the old sugar beet dump.

A public hearing will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Council Room concerning assessment for irrigation water of city residents. The assessments must be certified and sent to the county for recording on the tax rolls.

A request to transfer a beer license from Larry Fleming to George Van Hoozer for the lounge at Wood Cafe was approved by the council. Also approved was a beer license for the Elks Club to sell beer at the county fairgrounds during parimutuel horse races Thursday through Sunday.

Weeks announced that the last period for swimming lessons at the municipal pool will be Aug. 1-12. Junior and senior lifesaving courses are being offered, he said. Interested persons may sign up at the pool during regular hours.

Balanced rock picnic Sunday

CASTLEFORD — The first annual Balanced Rock Park picnic is scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday in the park picnic area.

Benny Blick, president of the Castleford Men's Club, sponsors of the event, suggests guests should bring blankets to sit and picnic on. The event will be an old fashioned picnic with each family providing for their own needs.

A concession stand serving hot dogs, soft drinks and ice cream bars will be located at the site, according to Jim Wheeler, chairman. The Stutch n Stir 4-H Club will have popcorn for sale, according to Mrs. Tom Barron, leader.

"Candidates, Meet the People" is a new feature of the event. Candidates expected to be on hand include George Hansen, Jim McClure, Robert Smylie and Glen Wegner, Republican senatorial candidates; Sen. John M. Barker and Rep. William Roberts, and Merl Leonard AND Bill Chancey. Twin Falls County commissioners. The Democratic senatorial candidates are also expected to attend.

Hospital overflows

TWIN FALLS — For the first time since the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital went into service more than 20 years ago, it has been necessary to house a patient in the hallway.

For those who remember the last few years of the old hospital, it will bring back memories, Administrator Irene Oliver said. At that time the patients far outnumbered the available rooms and wards and hallways were lined with patient beds.

Last week the hospital was operating at capacity and one more man needed hospitalization. A bed was set up in one of the hallways and he received the needed care, Mrs. Oliver said.

Several times during the past four to five months the hospital's 110 adult beds have been in use but with no overflow. There are 126 beds in Magic Valley Memorial hospital, including the 16 pediatric cribs.

Carey phone project starts

CAREY — Carey area residents will have improved telephone service as the result of a major remodeling project announced this week by the Idaho Telephone Co.

Telephone Company officials announced recently a $168,000 remodeling project to begin next year which will provide private line service to urban area customers and four-party lines to rural homes.

Existing rural lines now handle as many as eight customers each.

Also anticipated in the project is the rebuilding of the plant facilities, installation of 18 miles of buried cable and removal of existing lines and poles.

C. C. Shipley, a company vice president, said the new construction would be completed without a rise in telephone rates for subscribers. The company serves over 200 customers in both urban and rural classifications, he said.

Federal escapee held in TF

TWIN FALLS — A federal escapee is in Twin Falls County jail awaiting transportation back to confinement at Safford, Ariz.

Robert W. Evans, special agent in charge of the Idaho-Montana division of the FBI, said Enriquez Ramon Vega, 34, was arrested last August on a charge of impersonation for admission to the United States.

Vega was arrested in Burley by Burley Police and transferred to Twin Falls where he will be picked up by a U. S. marshal.

Peavey attacks inconsistencies

CAREY — Inconsistencies in Idaho's new Democratic Party's support of Cesar Chavez's lettuce boycott were cited Wednesday by State Sen. John Peavey.

In a news release, the Rupert Republican said, although the Sun Valley Democratic convention boycotted lettuce, delegates selected there refused to verbally support the boycott while in Miami.

"Gov. Andrus and former Cong. Harding recognize the political expediency of not mentioning the lettuce boycott, as both realize that to support Chavez and the boycott and not a proposed potato boycott, is inconsistent," Peavey said.

The vote taken among Idaho's Democratic delegates at Miami, in support of Chavez, was extremely close, Peavey said.

Spray planes break lines

TWIN FALLS — Spray planes took a toll of power lines Tuesday evening.

Idaho Power Co. officials here and in Rupert reported two broken lines, both believed to have been caused by spray planes.

George Haynes, Rupert, said Idaho Power Co. crews were called out about 8 p.m. Tuesday when a spray plane apparently clipped a line about 20 miles northwest of Rupert in Jerome County. The line disrupted services to about 200 customers for 30 minutes and nine customers for about an hour. Complete repairs were finished by 11 p.m., Haynes said. Apparently there was no damage to the plane.

In the vicinity of the Hansen Butte, south of Hansen, James Johnstone, Idaho Power Co. superintendent in Twin Falls, said another similar incident occurred and a power pole burned. He said it may have been a spray plane which broke the line and resulted in the power failure. Johnstone said about one mile of line was involved and eight to ten irrigation pumps were out of service.

Sheriff's officers in Twin Falls said they had no information on a plane accident and aerial spray firms here said they had no accidents involving spray planes.

Alarms not hurt

RUPERT — Burglar and fire alarms at Rupert businesses are battery-operated and are not affected by general power outages, according to Police Chief Edward Culver.

An earlier news story indicated that the two-hour power cutoffs ordered by the Bonneville Power Administration Sunday and Monday mornings incapacitated the alarm systems. The chief denied this, saying that batteries take over when the power fails.

The report that the alarms would not operate came from Elmer Schenk, Rupert electrical department superintendent, who warned the City Council of the supposed danger when the BPA action was first announced.

Voters choice

TWIN FALLS — Democratic congressional candidate Willis Ludlow told Magic Valley area voters Tuesday the voters would have a "real choice" for president this fall.

Ludlow, who attended the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach last week as an alternate, praised the "variety of American citizens" who selected the presidential

Cassia pageant draws 1,000

BURLEY — Flashbacks in the history of Idaho and Cassia County entertained about 1,000 people Monday night at the "History in Harmony Pageant" at the Cassia County Fairgrounds.

Order of the Arrow Indian dances and the Burley High School band and Stepperettes provided pre-show entertainment.

The show opened with the flag raising ceremony by the 116th U. S. (horse) Cavalry with Clifford Jackson, soloist, singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

The play was in the form of an illustrated narration with "Henry Adams" telling his grandson "John Henry Adams, II" about Idaho history while on a walking tour. In act I, "Adams" told of welcoming soldiers home at the end of World War I in 1919. His son "John" told the Diamondfield Jack stories to some children and encountered difficulty with his sweetheart's mother over his plans to marry her daughter.

During Act II "Adams" tells about a battle between Chief Pocatelto and General Patrick Conner, and the lovers' difficulties continue.

In act III children at Oakley Academy helped "John" and his sweetheart achieve their dream of marriage.

The show closed with an epilogue in which "Henry" relates some of the dreams David E. Burley had for Cassia County and the progress made since the county was settled as well as hopes for the future.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the Cassia County Museum.

Kreilkamp resigns

TWIN FALLS — Dr. B. L. Kreilkamp today submitted his resignation as a member of the South Central Idaho District Health Board.

William Chancey, chairman of the board and also chairman of the Twin Falls County Commission, said the resignation was accepted with regret. Dr. Kreilkamp, Sun Valley, wrote that he was recently elected counselor for the Idaho State Medical Society and that his time for participation in activities other than his practice would be limited.

Burley ambulance firm to get help to reach sound financial basis

BURLEY — A committee appointed by the Cassia County Commissioners decided Tuesday night the Western Ambulance Co. needs help to get itself on a more sound financial basis.

Committee members reported they have discussed owner Roger Porter's request for a subsidy from the county with county residents during the last two weeks. The consensus of opinion, they said, was that there is not enough demand for the ambulance service in the county to support the amount of personnel and equipment Porter has invested in the firm.

Porter reported to the County Commissioners at their last meeting that he has been unable to collect about $9,000 in unpaid fees. The committee said that with better business practices, many of these could be collected.

The committee is made up of William Beck, chairman; Mrs. Irene Fuqua, secretary, and

At the last meeting of the Cassia County Commissioners, Porter requested $600 a month from the county to keep the ambulance service operating. He also operates Western Ambulance Co. in Minidoka and Elmore counties, both of which now subsidize the operation, he said.

When the Cassia commissioners were setting their budget back in January, he had asked for a subsidy of $7,200 for the year, but was refused. He told the commissioners if he does not get the subsidy he will have to quit business. Porter was not present at Tuesday night's meeting.

John Clark, chairman of the County Commissioners, said he thinks an ambulance service which must be subsidized by the county should go out on a bid basis.

Aerial spray completed in two counties

RUPERT — Aerial spray crews completed treatment of nearly 200,000 acres of range and cropland in Gooding and Twin Falls counties early Monday.

Roger Pollard, Twin Falls, acting supervisor of the animal and plant health inspection service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said planes have covered 143,515 acres in Minidoka and Lincoln counties, and will continue in that area for four or five more days.

Several other spraying projects are pending, including an area of about 98,000 acres in the Carey-Picabo region of Blaine County; 265,000 acres in southern Cassia County and about 110,000 acres north of Chesterfield in Caribou County.

In all, about 1.1 million acres will be treated, Pollard said Monday, including about 140,000 acres in smaller projects in Valley, Washington and Boise counties in southwest Idaho.

Initial inspection of the sprayed areas in Gooding and Twin Falls counties indicates the Malathion spray is highly effective in killing the grasshoppers which have infested Southern Idaho, Pollard said.

More than 21,100 gallons of Malathion spray have been used so far, at a rate of 16 acres to a gallon, or eight ounces per acre. With the rapid use consuming available supplies, stocks are getting low, but are being replaced by shipment from the East Coast.

The weather is an all-important factor in the success of the aerial spraying program. The slightest wrong-way breeze can drift the spray the wrong way, while heat from the ground can evaporate the spray before it hits the desired rangeland. Planes must spray in the very early morning in westerly air for maximum effectiveness.

NFO head to meet with area farmers

BURLEY — The national president of the National Farmers Organization, (NFO) Oren Lee Staley, Corning, Iowa, will confer with local members Thursday.

Staley will meet with NFO members at the Ponderosa Inn in a one-day meeting scheduled at 9 a.m. An NFO spokesman said today Staley will discuss financial and progress reports for the national organization.

The regularly scheduled Minidoka County NFO meeting, scheduled for Thursday evening has been postponed.

Butz tells farmers Nixon is 'best hope'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz told Missouri Republicans at a fund-raising dinner Monday night the best hope for farmers would be the re-election of President Nixon.

Butz said that while every facet of American society has benefited from Nixon's domestic and foreign policy through inflation cuts and employment increases, the farmer has particularly gained.

"When the President made his bold decision last August to meet inflation head-on with the wage-price freeze and subsequent economic controls, the nation's agricultural community benefitted directly," Butz said. "Farmers and all others have done much better, now that the inflation rate has been cut about in half."

The administration's farm policies, Butz said, have allowed greater freedom for farmers to determine the course of their individual businesses.

"The thrust of our commodities program for wheat and feed grains gives farmers maximum freedom to decide what will earn them the most profit," Butz said. "We want the farmer to make those decisions — not Washington bureaucrats."

Butz attacked Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern for espousing "tired old artificial farm price supports and rigid controls on farmers."

He also accused McGovern of virtually ignoring rural citizens in his acceptance speech at the Democratic National Convention.

Potato cellars being constructed

RUPERT — An air-conditioned potato-storage structure with a capacity of 100,000 sacks of potatoes is under construction at the intersection of Highways 24 and 25 in Rupert.

The large-economy-size "spud cellar" is the second large storage facility to begin construction in the area in the past few days. The J. R. Simplot Co. of Heyburn is building a 500,000-sack-capacity storage unit at Heyburn.

Both new storage facilities will allow temporary storage of incoming raw potatoes at ideal storage conditions until they can be processed. The new Rupert facility is being built by Rolland Jones Potatoes for the use of their subsidiary, Magic Valley Foods, according to Roger Jones, a partner in the firm.

Jones said the storage unit will allow storage of sufficient potatoes to lengthen the processing run by as much as a month. At present, Magic Valley foods processes potatoes 10 months of the year; by next year, Jones said, up to 11 months of processing can be scheduled.

The new unit will store 25,000 hundredweight (100-pound sacks) in each of four insulated, air-conditioned bins in which temperature and humidity can be controlled precisely for optimum storage conditions, Jones said. When needed for processing, the potatoes will be sent via an underground flume directly to the Magic Valley Foods line.

The facility should be ready for use by the end of August, when the next processing run is scheduled to start.

Sinatra accuses unit of character assassination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, bristling with anger, accused the House Select Committee on Crime Tuesday of committing character assassination by permitting a witness to link him with the Mafia.

Robinson bats Orioles past Rangers 2-1 in 15th inning

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Brooks Robinson celebrated his election to the all-star team Tuesday night by singling in the winning run in the top of the 15th inning to extend Baltimore's winning streak to six with a 2-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Robinson's hit brought in Bobby Grich, who doubled to open the inning and went to third on an infield out by Merv Rettenmund.

Texas had prolonged the game in the 12th inning by getting out of a bases-loaded and none out jam. Left fielder Elliott Maddox made the big play in that inning when he snared a line drive off the bat of Rettenmund and caught Don Buford at the plate with a throw from deep left field.

Walks help NY top Twins 6-0

NEW YORK (UPI)—Taking full advantage of Ray Corbin's third-inning wild streak, the New York Yankees broke a four-game losing streak with a 6-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

Home runs by Thurman Munger, Ron Blomberg and Bobby Murcer provided the power that carried Steve Klime to his ninth victory and fourth shutout, but it was bases on balls that really set up the Yankee victory.

He then held up a newspaper headline reading "Witness Links Sinatra To Mafia Figure" and exclaimed sarcastically: "That's charming. And that's all hear say testimony, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is," Phillips conceded.

Sinatra had been sought for questioning by the House group on grounds he was a vice president of the now defunct Berkshire Downs race track in Massachusetts. Committee investigators claimed Patriarca and other New England organized crime figures held a substantial interest in the Hancock, Mass., track.

Both Committee Chairman Claude D. Pepper, D-Fla., and Phillips quickly acknowledged that Barboza's claim that Sinatra served as Patriarca's front man at the Fontainebleau Hotel in Miami Beach was erroneous.

They agreed that Sinatra had never held any stock interest in the Fontainebleau.

Phillips and Pepper acknowledged the veteran show-world star had a right to complain about Barboza's public testimony. But they said they had not expected him to make his charges against Sinatra and had no way of knowing whether they were true or not.

When Phillips asked how they could have cleared Sinatra, the witness shot back: "Just call in the press and tell them it's a grave mistake. It was character assassination, let's face it."

Sinatra, accompanied by his attorney, strode into the hearing room in casual dress — a light brown sports coat, dark brown slacks and elevated shoes.

At his request, cameras and microphones were barred from the session. A line of approximately 100 stood outside the caucus room hoping to get in later at the hearing.

His public tongue-lashing of the committee drew gasps of astonishment from the spectators and a semblance of apology from committee counsel Joseph Phillips.

The movie star and singer, now retired, asserted that testimony by Joseph "the Baron" Barboza, a former underworld figure, on May 24 was hear-say. Barboza sought to connect Sinatra with a New England crime syndicate headed by Raymond Patriarca.

"This bum went running off at the mouth," the witness snapped.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus became the first two-time winner in the balloting for the 23rd annual S. Rex Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" Award Tuesday when he was selected as the June winner for his victory in the U.S. Open golf tournament.

Ali goes against Blue Lewis tonight

DUBLIN (UPI)—Muhammad Ali, fast running out of opponents while he awaits Joe Frazier's pleasure, pits his speed and defensive boxing skill against the slugging of Al "Blue" Lewis when they meet in a 12-round bout Wednesday night.

All, pro-boxing's travelling ambassador, is an overwhelming favorite to beat Lewis in the next stage of his comeback, which he hopes will lead to a second fight with Frazier.

In typical Ali fashion, the former heavyweight champion said: "Obviously he is not the best. I am. But I think Lewis is probably the most under-rated heavyweight in boxing. And he can hit. But I shall win."

The self-styled "champ" has cause to respect Lewis' punching power. Two years ago when he was preparing for his first fight with Jerry Quarry, Lewis sent him crashing during a sparring session.

He was duly paid off for taking liberties with the Boss. Lewis, who stands 6-foot, 4-in and expects to come in at around Ali's 218 pounds, said: "All that hollering and shouting inflates his courage. I heard it all before. He's gotta show what he can do."

The Detroit-based fighter who has knocked out 19 of his 34 opponents is known for the power of his punch. He has registered 13 one-punch knockouts, seven with the left hand and six with the right.

Even before he lost the undisputed championship to Frazier, Ali experienced some discomfort against fast left hooks. The 29-year-old Lewis maintains this is his best punch.

All looks in good physical condition. "I am in shape because I have not had time to get out of shape," Ali said.

GOODYEAR
40,000 Mile Tread Life Expectancy Policy

With proper care and normal driving, you will get at least 40,000 miles of tread wear from new, first-class Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires on your car.

If you don't get 40,000 miles — and provided you were the original buyer of the tires and they are still on the original car — bring the tires and the policy booklet (with recorded mileage readings) to any Goodyear Service Store or Dealer in the United States or Canada. They will give you credit for mileage not realized on the purchase of new Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires, based on Goodyear's "Pre-determined Price for Adjustment".

A small service charge may be added.

Copies of this policy are available at all Goodyear locations.

Goodyear builds it with two belts of steel cord for long-lasting resistance to impact and penetration (You wouldn't run over steel cleavers the way we did here — but the demonstration illustrates how tough the steel belts really are). Then Goodyear makes the long mileage easy to take, with a flexible polyester cord body to seal up the shocks.

FAMILY CIRCUS

"Mommy! Tennis racquets aren't REALLY made out of cat gut, are they?"

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You need to make sure of all your facts and figures now. For there is likely to be some misunderstanding with others. This applies also to using the wrong word that could give an impression different from what you intend. Search for errors in bookkeeping, and look to others' viewpoints.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Showing devotion to the one you love and doing your utmost to help him or her is your best bet today. A little time spent going over your bills and handling them properly is wise. Don't add to present expenses.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Talk that new deal over with associates and reach right conclusions. Showing more devotion to your good friends brings fine results now. Evening is excellent for social matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget other activities and busy yourself with duties at hand and get them behind you quickly, well. Free more future time. Take the right treatments that will give you the added strength you need.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Since there is nothing really important to do in p.m., get out and have the fun you want. Handle routine work early. Delve into hobbies you like during free time, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take care of basic matters in your life so you have a feeling of security and sureness. Do those small chores at home that are necessary. Evening is fine for rest and relaxation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Talking over some plan with associates during a.m. can bring excellent results now. Show you are most cooperative. Get that writing, reading and studying done that is of importance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Financial affairs should be first on your mind this morning and you can handle them well. Show you have good common sense. Get sound advice from a business expert about some liability.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to complete any personal affairs you have started and can be very effective at them. Take the treatments that improve health. Getting together with congenials for fun in p.m. is fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to plan the future better and can do so with the help of those who can give you the right advice. You have a good hunch about some fascinating situation not yet in evidence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Contact friends socially you have not seen in a long time and good things can come of this. Accepting invitations to group activities is wise. Dress your best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Gaining the backing of a higher-up where some public matter is concerned is quite easy today, especially in a.m. Pay bills and improve credit. Avoid one who argues.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can extend your outlets far beyond their present limits if you have to travel to gain the cooperation of others. Listening to the suggestions of clever people will be most helpful to you. Avoid one who argues.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people with a mind few can change once a decision is reached, so be sure while young to give the finest principles and tenets for directing the life, then your child can be a success instead of a failure. Teach early to cooperate with others, as there is a desire to make a great deal of money during the lifetime. Send to the finest college you can afford.

False Lashes, Little Eyes

That pinstripe personality George Raft, actor turned dancer turned man-about-the-world, waited until he was 76 years old before he revealed to anybody that his real name is Ruffalo.

THE CLAIM that no twin ever became famous definitely has been proved wrong. But the contention that no twin ever was recognized to be a genius remains unrefuted.

FALSE EYELASHES, it's said, make the eyes of some girls look smaller. Not every ingenu should wear same.

MENTAL

NEVER HAD these been enough single women in the 20-to-30 age bracket to match up with the available bachelors, not ever. This contradicts the widespread myth about a surplus of marriageable girls. Correct, there are more women than men, overall. And certainly far more unattached ladies of retirement age than such seasoned fellows at liberty. But under 35, the eligible bachelors outnumber the single girls considerably.

YOUNG LADY, if you're 5-foot-7 inches tall, it may interest you to know exactly 18 per cent of all girls in their 20s nationwide are likewise.

SO YOU'D like to be a big fish in the littles of ponds? Tut tut. Most important fish in the world, the herring, is a little fish in the biggest of ponds.

IF A WOMAN attempts suicide before age 35, it's most likely she'll fail. If she tries it after age 50, it's most likely she'll succeed. Statistically, statistically.

AND OH, exactly why is it smokers tend to lose their teeth at a much earlier age than nonsmokers?

Plane exits sealed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two major airlines say they have taken steps to stop the hijackings of Boeing 727 jet aircraft by sealing off rear exit doors used by parachuting hijackers.

A Trans World Airlines spokesman said Tuesday the rear exits on 72 of its 727s have been "permanently" sealed from the outside. An American Airlines spokesman said a modification has been made to the rear doors of 100 of its 727s.

The 727 aircraft has been a popular target of hijackers who have used the rear doorways to parachute from the planes.

Both airlines said there was no conflict with safety regulations because the rear door is not considered a prime exit in case of emergency.

Talks with chief

Navajos receive reservation offer

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UPI)—It's a historic offer to the Navajos, says a government official.

It's welcome, but not enough, says the tribe.

The offer is for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to turn over its operations on the huge Navajo Reservation to the Indians and let them use the BIA's annual $110 million budget as they wish. It was announced Tuesday by BIA area director Anthony Lincoln, who called it a historic and far-reaching proposal, that has the backing of the White House.

"Indian control has been advocated by the President, the secretary of the interior, the commissioner of Indian affairs and the chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council so I am taking them at their word," Lincoln said.

But tribe leader Peter MacDonald said Indian takeover of the sprawling reservation in Arizona and Utah would benefit the Navajos only if the BIA increased funds for them and resolved some other issues.

"For the past 100 years," he said, "the Navajo area office has been underfunded and understaffed."

MacDonald said it will be some time before the takeover can be accomplished.

"Although we welcome the offer and certainly will take advantage of it, it will be some time before we can come to terms on things that the BIA at present is not willing to give up," MacDonald said.

He said the BIA wants its present employees who are Civil Service employees to remain Civil Service employees, thereby curtailing the hiring and firing capability for the tribe. MacDonald also said the amount of money involved in the takeover was a factor.

"We believe that just taking over the programs at the area level is not sufficient because there are those operating and administrative costs which go all the way into the Interior Secretary's Office," he said.

"We must have that portion of funds used in operating and administrative costs in the Washington offices so that we can operate without any curtailment of programs in existence."

He said another area of concern is how much authority will be given the tribe. "We must have authority commensurate with responsibilities handed to us."

MacDonald said informal discussions were held prior to Lincoln's announcement with the BIA area office, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Interior Secretary and the White House.

"We all generally agree that this can be done, but we must sit down and hammer out the terms to make the takeover possible," he said.

No meetings have been scheduled, MacDonald said, and the tribal council will not act on the proposal until specifics are decided.

Contract awarded

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines Tuesday awarded Westinghouse Defense and Space Center of Baltimore a $178,838 contract to construct a western staging facility for mine rescue operations at Salt Lake City.

The facility will maintain all equipment necessary to respond quickly to any mine disaster west of the Mississippi River, according to Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah.

Oil-soaked seagull gets kind, humane treatment

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—

J. L. Gull was recuperating today in the home of Humane Society volunteer Carolyn Johns.

J. L. was in the company of another oil-soaked seagull, eight injured pigeons and a one-legged hawk.

Mrs. Johns took the seagull under her wing after it had waddled unescorted into the emergency ward of a Provo hospital unable to fly.

Officials searched for oil spills in nearby lakes and found a second oil bird in a tailings pond at U. S. Steel's Geneva Plant near Utah Lake.

Mrs. Johns took the birds home Tuesday, set up a guest room and laid out a buffet of catfood, chopped beef heart, bread and leftover hamburger. J. L. stands for Jonathan Livingston and was the name the hospital staff registered their unexpected patient under Monday morning.

The state division of wildlife resources was to release the bird Monday night, but decided instead to give J. L. to the Humane Society for further treatment.

Mrs. Johns said J. L. and the companion gull appear to be doing well and were being given frequent baths with detergents, rubbing alcohol and baby shampoo.

Tourists stranded abroad

LONDON (UPI)—A mixup over telegrams caused 41 American tourists Tuesday to miss their charter flight to Salt Lake City and left them stranded in London.

"This holiday has turned into an absolute nightmare for my mother and me," said Mrs. Angeletta Cox, 51, of Rochville, Utah.

She said her mother, Mrs. Ruth Howard, 75, suffers from heart trouble.

The Americans were the forgotten leftovers of a tour group organized by the Salt Lake City Mormon Church. Telegrams had informed most of the group their return flight was leaving one day early, but the 41 went unnotified and showed up Tuesday at London's Stanstead Airport as scheduled to find themselves stranded.

The tour's original charter airline was Lloyd International, which recently went bankrupt.

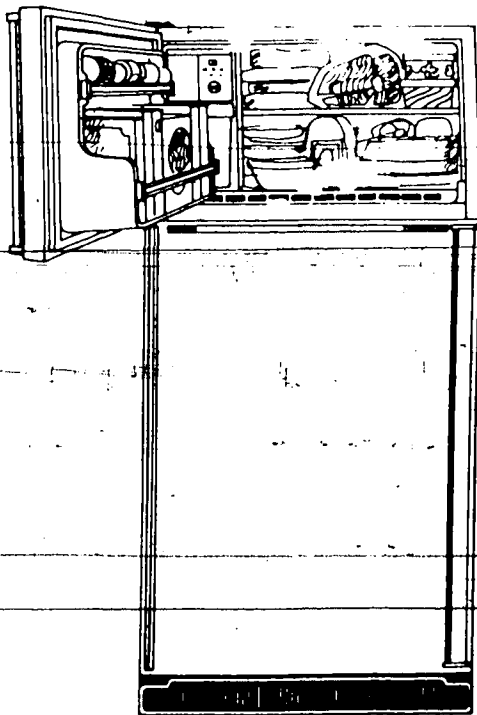

National Overseas Airways, which has assumed most of Lloyd International's bookings, said it would fly the 41 Americans home at no cost on Saturday. But some travelers were bitter.

"We paid $250 each for this holiday," said William Farr, 52, of Tillamook, Ore., traveling with his wife Margaret. "I think it is disgusting to be stranded like this 7,000 miles from home."

Robert Spencer, 34, also from Tillamook, on holiday with his wife Linda and six-year-old son Robert, said: "It stinks. There is obviously something fishy about the whole thing."

Most of the Americans said they would return to the homes of British relatives until Saturday's departure.
